ARMENIANS ARE DUPED BY IMMIGRATION AGENTS

Charged is Laid By a St. Catharines Man of Injustice to Them. Twenty Armenians Sent Back Through No Fault of Their Own.

[Canadian Press Despatch] MONTREAL, July 17.—That Armenians and other immigrants from central Europe are being systematically re-handled, was the claim of George H. Alexander, St. Catharines, who is a Russian who is here supervising the investigation into a case where a number of Poles, after they had been defrauded of their money by employment agencies, were compelled to walk from Quebec to Montreal.

Mr. Alexander says a committee representing some forty thousand Armenians in the United States has called to call the attention of the Canadian Government to the case of twenty Armenians on July 7, who, according to Alexander, were sent back to their own country through a misunderstanding brought about by agents. He states that tickets are often sent to Russians in their own country to bring them to the United States to work for contractors there. These tickets are distributed by prominent labor men, and their value is ultimately deducted from the men's wages. But very often Jewish agents meet these men before they leave Russia, and tell them it is far better for them to go to the United States via Quebec or Halifax than via New York. They inform them it will cost them something additional, but that it will be worth while as they declare that there is endless trouble and expense in entering New York. They secure from many an additional $45 or so for this give them a ticket to Quebec or Halifax, which the simple immigrants accept. The agent re-issues the ticket to New York to re-appear in the United States. He says that many immigrants must have $200 to cross the border. It is but a small sum, but the immigrants usually do not possess $200 and are therefore defrauded because they cannot explain their lack of money.

BRANTFORDITES AT THE RESORTS

Grocers and Butchers Affair Yesterday Proved Big Success.

On the Grocers' and Butchers' picnic yesterday, nearly 8,000 from Brantford and Hamilton journeyed to Niagara Falls, nearly 900 being from Brantford, and the rest from the Ambitious City. Nearly 800 excursionists went to Buffalo, over 500 from Hamilton and 200 from Brantford.

The Journey At 7.30, the train of 12 coaches left the station, after having stopped in West Brantford and at the Colborne St. station, and taken on quite a number of the passengers. The run to the Falls was made in good time, arriving there at 9.50, after a very pleasant trip.

The Committees Eight trains were run for the excursionists from Hamilton, four on the T. H. & B. and four on the Grand Trunk. The Toronto Retail Grocers' Association ran an excursion by boat, bringing 1,500. Although they were not associated in the picnic with Hamilton and Brantford, they joined in with the other excursionists, some taking part in the sports. At one o'clock the Niagara Falls grocers and butchers closed up and joined the visitors in large numbers. The committees of the several associations had dinner and lunch together at the hotel. The Brantford committee:

BRYAN'S DOUBLE ROLE BIZARRE COMBINATION

British Comment on the Commoner's Lecturing Tour Defence. LONDON, July 17.—The Pall Mall Gazette, commenting on Secretary Bryan's complaint that his salary is insufficient, says in an editorial this evening: "One would have supposed that a man of Mr. Bryan's moral courage would call upon the country to give him a 'living wage,' to which he is entitled, rather than go on the stump as a lecturer. The combination of the roles of Cabinet Minister and professional entertainer is the most bizarre imaginable to British ways of thinking, and we shall be surprised if even American opinion can reconcile itself to the increase in gratuity."

GERMANY'S NAVY AND THE BRITISH

LONDON, July 17.—The First Lord of the Admiralty made an important statement in the House of Commons last night respecting the armored ships, cruisers and destroyers which have been completed since January, 1911, for the British and German navies. The statement shows the growth of the respective fleets to be: Great Britain—Battleships, 9; battle cruisers, 4; light cruisers, 10; destroyers, 51. Germany—Battleships, 7; battle cruisers 4; light cruisers, 7; destroyers, 40. First Lord Winston Churchill explained that the British cruisers do not include the vessels belonging to the Royal Australian navy. There were only twelve ships of 5,000 tons abroad, he said. Repeating to J. T. Middlemore, a Unionist, who asked whether the First Lord was aware that in 1904 the number of such vessels on foreign stations was 35, Mr. Churchill said: "I am very much aware of it, and I hope to be able somewhat to increase the number of ships that we maintain in foreign stations." Next year he would have some proposals to make in this connection.

BRITISH AIRMAN FALLS 100 FEET AND MEETS DEATH

[Canadian Press Despatch] SALISBURY, Eng., July 17.—Major E. W. Hewetson of the Royal artillery corps, was killed at the army aerodrome here to-day by falling from a height of 100 feet from his monoplane. The accident was caused by the machine taking a turn too sharply and over-balancing. On striking the ground the motor exploded and burned the aeroplane to ashes.

BRITAIN BUILDS CANADA'S SHIPS

Announcement by Winston Churchill in the British House To-Day.

[Canadian Press Despatch] LONDON, July 17.—The British Admiralty has no intention of adding further warships to its construction programme for 1914-15, according to an announcement made by Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty in the course of a statement made in the House of Commons in the debate on the shipbuilding vote. Mr. Churchill said he knew of nothing in the international situation necessitating an increase and he did not think anything occurring in the Mediterranean in connection with the proposed Austrian and Italian warship construction would require Great Britain to depart from her present programme. As a result of the rejection of the Canadian naval bill, the British Government, said Mr. Churchill, would accelerate the construction of three warships, which would, therefore, be ready in the third quarter of 1915, and his would fill the gap which otherwise would be created. Mr. Churchill added that he did not think the question of Canadian contribution to the defence of the empire closed and there was no reason to suppose that Great Britain would be able to face emergencies in the future unaided. There was an overwhelming consensus of opinion in Canada, he declared that early action should be taken in one form or another. By next year, the First Lord told his hearers, the British Admiralty would be in a better position to judge whether further acceleration or a direct addition programme would be forced upon them. In the meanwhile, the British Government would be increased by a new destroyer every week for the next nine months; by a light cruiser every thirty days for the next year and by a super-dreadnought every forty-five days for the next eighteen months.

Arrested In Connection With Case of a Missing Brockville Moulder.

[Canadian Press Despatch] BROCKVILLE, Ont., July 17.—Sydney Empey, the man, who, according to his own story, was the last person in the company of Wesley Doran, the Brockville moulder, who has been missing since Saturday last, was taken into custody to-day by the police after a conference of relatives with the crown attorney. Empey's account of Doran, leaving him while they were rowing down the river, and getting into another boat, with two unknown men whom he vaguely described, is not considered satisfactory to the authorities or to those interested in Doran's welfare and hence the arrest. Empey takes his arrest coolly and so far has added nothing to his tale, maintaining steadfastly that he has truthfully related the circumstances. The police have no reports of men missing other than Doran, and a round of the public houses shows that there is no boat unaccounted for. The warrant upon which Empey was arrested was sworn out by Chas. Place and charges that the prisoner did unlawfully, but without meaning to kill, cause the death of one, Wesley Doran, and thereby did commit manslaughter. Empey is being held for hearing later in the day.

Late Wire

The-Row In River. BROCKVILLE, Ont., July 17.—John Quong, a Chinese sailor on board the Chinese steamer Thira Men-ter in port at Ogdensburg, reported to the police of that city last night that on June 15, while the boat was lying between Montreal and Quebec, a fellow sailor named, Ah Kiow, was thrown into the river by the chief and second engineers and drowned. Although the alleged offence was committed in Canadian waters the U. S. authorities will be asked to co-operate with the Canadian Government in conducting an investigation. Besides the complainant, there are six other Chinese sailors with the crew of the Menier which is engaged in the pulp carrying trade from Anticosti. Elusive Boy. WINNIPEG, Man., July 17.—John Larson, an eighteen year old boy who while being taken to Regina by Sergeant Watson of the R. C. N. W. M. P., escaped Tuesday night, has not been captured. The officer was giving the boy extra chances owing to his youth and at the C. P. R. station he bolted into the crowd.

ROYAL MOTHER AND DAUGHTER IN A LEGAL CONTEST.

PEARL NECKLACE WORTH $625,000 STOLEN FROM MAILS IN TRANSIT

A Loaf of Sugar Was Substituted for the Jewels and Fifty Scotland Yard Men are Engaged in Tracking Down Thiefs.

[Canadian Press Despatch] LONDON, July 17.—The theft of a pearl necklace, valued at $625,000, which vanished while in transit by mail from Paris to London, is engaging the attention of fifty of the best detectives of Scotland Yard, to whom the matter was reported yesterday by the owner of the jewels, Max Mayer, a Hattian Garden diamond merchant. The necklace is generally described as being worth $200,000, but it is insured at Lloyd's for $625,000. A diamond dealer who has been 30 years in the business, says it is the finest necklace he ever saw, and is worth more than the sum for which it was insured. Mayer has an office in Paris, and the necklace was sent from there last night. A postman delivered a registered package at Mayer's home at 8.30 this morning. The package bore the Paris postmark and French stamps, and on the back Mayer's initials were stamped. The housekeeper took the package in Mayer's absence, signed a receipt and placed the package in the safe. When Mayer arrived at his house at 10.30 he opened it and found only pieces of sugar of the same weight as the necklace. The seals showed no sign of having been tampered with. Mr. Churchill added that he did not think the question of Canadian contribution to the defence of the empire closed and there was no reason to suppose that Great Britain would be able to face emergencies in the future unaided. There was an overwhelming consensus of opinion in Canada, he declared that early action should be taken in one form or another. By next year, the First Lord told his hearers, the British Admiralty would be in a better position to judge whether further acceleration or a direct addition programme would be forced upon them. In the meanwhile, the British Government would be increased by a new destroyer every week for the next nine months; by a light cruiser every thirty days for the next year and by a super-dreadnought every forty-five days for the next eighteen months.

WISHES TO SPEAK ON HERESY CHARGE

Rev. George Jackson May Precipitate Debate in Wesley Conference

CLAMOR TO EXPEL HIM

LONDON, July 17.—Under the chairmanship of Rev. Luke Wiseman, the outgoing president, the Wesleyans Conference opened last evening at King St. Chapel, Plymouth, with over a thousand ministers and laymen in attendance. An invitation to meet at Leeds next year having been accepted, Rev. F. S. Collier, of the Manchester Mission, was elected president for the ensuing year. Last evening's business was largely formal. Some doubt is now being expressed as to whether the question of the appointment of Rev. Geo. Jackson, of Toronto, who has been accused of heresy, to a position on the teaching staff of Didsbury can be raised at all in the representative session, which is by its constitution debarred from the discussion of theological issues, but it is not unlikely that Mr. Jackson himself may ask permission to make a plain statement of his views, and if this is accorded, it is difficult to see how a general debate can be avoided. A section of the opposition is already clamoring for his expulsion from the ministry.

Convention of Canadian Law Municipalities at Saskatoon Closed.

Important Resolution Submitted Regarding Real Estate Business.

[Canadian Press Despatch] SASKATOON, Sask., July 17.—The Canadian municipalities convention will be held in Sherbrooke, Que., in 1914. Officers for the year elected are: President, F. P. Bligh, mayor of Halifax; first vice-president, C. M. R. Graham, Mayor of London, Ontario, second vice-president F. H. Herbert, Sherbrooke; third vice-president, F. E. Harrison, mayor of Saskatoon; honorary secretary-treasurer, W. D. Light-hall, K. C., ex mayor of Westmount, Que. (re-elected). The greater part of the evening session was taken up with discussion of minor subjects, such as sewage and pavements. Many delegates claimed that important subjects on the program were not dealt with. They held that they were sent here by their city councils to secure information regarding civic improvements and that very little of any value had been forthcoming. Secretary Lighthall declared this had not been because the executive had been negligent. Every effort had been made to secure leaders in civic matters but without avail. The convention is practically closed, the only remaining part of the program being a drive about the city to-day as guests of the corporation of Saskatoon. The resolution of Ald. G. H. Hay, of Edmonton, which was presented to the convention on Wednesday reads: "Whereas, development and expenditures of moneys on public improvements have been tremendous in all western Canadian towns and cities, whereas, the possibility of procuring money for the continuance of such public works is beginning to decrease because of the tightness of money all over the world, and whereas, these expenditures have been unreasonably enhancing the values of urban lots thereby affected by such improvements and adjacent thereto, and whereas, added values have formed the reason for a great deal of undue speculation and fostering of lines of business which fluctuate according to the chances of procuring moneys for public improvements, and have made it possible for land speculators to reap large profits by no effort of their own in the direction of development, but solely as the result of communities borrowing and spending on public improvements: "Be it therefore resolved that this convention believe the time ripe for an application of the principle of the increment tax on profits made on the sale of real estate in excess of the assessed value for which such realty may be taxed by the municipality in which it is located so that communities in the west who are making such real estate desirable and valuable by the undertaking of improvements may reap some of the values thereby lessening the debts which they have incurred in the progress of their public improvements."

BANK CLERK WAS SHOT FOR BURGLAR

Unfortunate Affair at London—Arthur Mertens is the Victim.

[Canadian Press Despatch] LONDON, Ont., July 17.—Arthur B. Mertens of Toronto, teller at the Dominion Bank at Seaford, was mistaken for a burglar by his friends late last evening, and shot through the lungs. He is not likely to recover. A motor cycle outside the bank had gone wrong, and the staff occupying rooms in the bank building mistook the noise for some one trying to get into the bank, and, taking the revolver, shot Mertens as he was coming into the building without turning on the lights. Mr. Mertens is the son of Mr. W. I. Mertens, the photographer, at 411 Yonge street, Toronto. His father arrived at Seaford right after a summons to his son's bedside. James Gillies, aged eighteen, the bank clerk, who apparently did the shooting, is in a highly nervous condition and hardly able to tell a connected story. It appears that Mertens saw the cellar door open and went into the basement to investigate. When coming out, the noise he made aroused Gillies, sleeping above the bank, and he went down with his revolver. Whether he called out to the man below is not known, but at any rate he apparently fired the revolver, with serious results. Mertens is resting easily to-day, but it is as yet by no means out of danger.

WANT AD HOROSCOPE
JULY 17.

Many of the great scholars and scientists were born under this sign. The governing planet is Luna and it gives changeable characteristics. It is difficult to understand people whose birthdate falls between June 21 and July 22 because they are given to extremes, apt to be stubborn, not easily managed and inharmonious in nature. In marriage they should seek one who is calm, with deep understanding, patience and love: They should not marry until late in life, however, as they will not settle down to domestic life easily. Their best and most harmonious companions are found in the latter half of October and the first of February and the latter part of February and the first of March. The planets favor the finding of good positions in housework, in office, in store. The Want Ads will be found useful during the coming week for finding much extra work to do at good money.

THE BRITISH SITUATION

Home Rule for Ireland, so long the stormy petrel of British politics is still living up to that reputation. From the time of Parnell up until the present day, there never has been one domestic issue in the Old Land causing so much waste of Parliamentary time, or damaging so many Governments and political reputations of individuals.

Late advices from London are to the effect that the Asquith Government intend to get the measure through and then appeal to the people early in 1914.

It is difficult at this distance to appreciate the deep feeling which exists in Ulster over the situation. The Winnipeg Free Press, the leading Liberal paper of the North West has a resident correspondent in the Old Land, and he thus describes the position of affairs:—

Triumph about Home Rule is checked by the growing uneasiness in Liberal circles concerning Ulster. Campbell's speech in the commons on the third reading of the bill, when he emphasized the determination of Ulster to resist Home Rule at any cost and reminded the government that there are occasions when treason becomes patriotism and rebellion a duty, was heard with profound attention. His closing words: "You have time to retrace your steps. I pray that God may give you both courage and wisdom to do so," thrilled both sides.

Outside of government circles, Liberals declare it is unthinkable that a campaign of active coercion can be started against Ulster.

The situation is made more difficult by the obstinacy of the Ulster leaders, who are deaf to suggestions of compromise. Repeated suggestions have been made to them recently to help formulate a middle plan which will protect them from possible dangers under Home Rule, but in vain.

That the Asquith Government will be defeated seems to be quite probable, and if so there are liable to be still more years of Home Rule acrimony and debate. It was Lord Randolph Churchill who used the words: "Ulster will fight and Ulster will be right" and this feeling manifestly still animates the residents of that section of the Emerald Isle.

HON. SAM HUGHES SPEAKS OUT.

Hon. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia in the Borden Government, has a habit of speaking out and saying what he means.

He is very strong with regard to the sobriety of the members of the Militia and of the permanent forces, and has issued very strict orders with that end in view.

On Friday night last, in Halifax, there was a military banquet given to a distinguished British officer, and the Minister gave instructions that no intoxicating liquors should be served. Some of the officers smuggled in whiskey in pop bottles, and not only that but a scattering of them took too much and in a most unseemly way interrupted the guest of the evening, while he was speaking.

Then the Hon. Sam waxed indignant and in plain language told those who were misbehaving what he thought of them. Instead of quietly taking their medicine, some of them have registered a kick and threaten to resign, and the Minister has come back with words to the effect that they had better get out while the going is good. He has also demanded explanations from the officer in command at the garrison town down by the sea.

And most people will agree that Hon. Mr. Hughes is right when he insists that almost more than any other class, there should be strict discipline in the conduct of those who wear the King's uniform.

THE GUARDIAN COMES BACK.

The Christian Guardian comes back at the Toronto Globe in part as follows:

"In the first place we wish to make our most humble apology for one thing, that is, for the title which was given to our former writing. It appeared thus, 'A Liquor Organ,' on the printed page, but as set down upon our copy paper there was a big interrogation mark following the last word. We are sorry that in this particular the item was not published as written.

"We scarcely think it necessary to say that our remarks had no more relation in our mind to the by-election in North Grey than they had to a volcanic eruption on the planet of Mars. Such is the fact, and we are ready to give any reasonable emphasis to the statement that a decent man may give. We were neither afraid nor ashamed to give endorsement to the candidature of Mr. McQuaker, the Liberal and temperance candidate in that riding, but unfortunately the exact facts as to the attitude of the two candidates were not known at the time of our writing. To appear in last week's issue our reference to The Globe had to be written early on the morning of July 5th, which was the day on which the letter was sent from the office of the Dominion Alliance, asking each candidate for an expression of his views on temperance matters. The replies to that enquiry were the only means we had of knowing the exact position of both candidates.

The Globe says that our writing was "a covert, unfair and unmanly attack on Mr. N. W. Rowell." So far Mr. Rowell has not told us that he sees it in that light, and we have had somewhat intimate relations for some years. Leaving the adjectives out of consideration for the time being, and speaking as straightforwardly as we know how, we wrote what we wrote not as an attack on Mr. Rowell, but as an "attack" upon what we thought to be the Globe's unfortunate and inconsistent method of supporting Mr. Rowell and his policy for dealing with the liquor evil, which policy has had our frequent and unqualified public approval.

But we are sorry that The Globe took so much space to tell what it thinks of us and so little space to answer the question which by inference we asked. That question is, and we would like it answered still, is the publishing of a page liquor advertisement in the Saturday, July 5th, consistent with the Globe's editorial attitude on the liquor question—which editorial attitude we greatly admire—and with its advocacy of Mr. Rowell's policy for the abolition of the bar? That is, to narrow the question still further, does The Globe think it is consistent? That ought to be an easier question to answer than to tell to a nicely how much virtue or vice there is in the make-up of the editor of this paper."

And in response to the above, the Rev. editor of The Globe comes back at the clerical editor of the Guardian in a manner after this kind:—

What difference would the query have made, except as a defence in a libel suit? Did the editor of The Guardian feel that if he was called into court to defend his position he would be able to say, "No, I did not say The Globe was a liquor organ. The query at the end of the line shows that I was merely asking a question, and not making an assertion." That is the method of controversy one would expect from some scandal-mongering, fly-by-night sheet living on its wits, and not from the official organ of the Methodist Church.

What an exceedingly happy family these Grits are to be sure.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

These days the initial letters of North Grey stand in the minds of extreme Grits for N. G.

How would it do to ship those two warring editors over to the British militant suffragettes.

At last accounts there was no message of condolence from Hon. Mr. McKay, with regard to the result in North Grey.

Mr. Proudfoot had better make the most of his remaining time in the Ontario House, for he is not likely to go back again.

Brantfordites are loyal supporters of any sport, but they expect some return for their money, at least once in a while.

When it comes to baseball, the Toronto and Brantford teams are not exactly in a stellar position, but the real word rhymes with that.

The Bulgarians have most emphatically shown that they are not fit to rule. They and the Mexicans evidently need the restrictive and regulating hand of some capable power.

A man named Fin has been appointed censor of moving pictures in Montreal. Some of the talking movies, if taboored, will be able to get back by yelling his own name at him.

Says the Woodstock Sentinel-Review (Liberal), with regard to the North Grey result:—

"Leading Conservative newspapers interpret the result as a blow at the temperance policy advocated by Leader Rowell, and there is little doubt that such an explanation will occur to many Liberals."

Joseph Martin, member in the British House for St. Pancras, has been censured at a meeting of his constituents. The pity of it is that John Bull, who is so free in electing Canadians, should have done that in the case of such a cranky and contrary individual as Joe has always proved himself.

Police Magistrate Jelfs of Hamilton told a delinquent scamp who had cruelly wronged a girl, that he was a "skunk," and added, "I date not sentence you now. I would be too severe. I remand you for sentence." And at that, it would be a good deal better for magistrates to sentence such scallawags right at the very moment their dander is up. There is altogether too much leniency in such cases.

What the Other Fellow Thinks.

With the Man
Montreal Herald: A Montreal man has left his wife because she liked a gramophone which made "so blamé much noise he could not sleep." The wife may be a worthy helpmeet, but we are bound to confess, that in this case, our sympathies are entirely with the man of the house.

Plenty of Room for the Plough.
Montreal Herald: Dominion census figures giving the agricultural development of Ontario show that exclusive of the 141,000,000 acres of newly added territory only fifteen and one-half per cent. of the acreage of the Province is under agricultural development, and this is the most densely populated and richest Province in the Dominion. Those who fear an early exhaustion of Canada's resources may be reassured.

Half-Yearly Matrimony
Vancouver Province: Toronto hands us an example of how to be happy though married, which must be set down on the list of unattainable developments of modern thought. Mr. and Mrs. Mason, of that city, only live together six months in each year. Mrs. Mason explains this state of affairs by remarking: "We believe that much of the divorce business that fills the courts is due to the endless companionship of man and wife. So we live together but six months in each year, so that we may not tire of each other." It must be a little confusing to the other members of the family, if there are any, to have a half-yearly mother and father.

North Grey By-Election
Ottawa Journal: The provincial by-election in North Grey has resulted in a remarkable victory for the Whitney government. North Grey has in Ontario politics been a Liberal constituency since 1900. In that year, a Conservative majority of 137 was registered. The record since reads: 1902 (by-election) McKay, Lib., 519; 1904 McKay, Lib., 271; 1908 McKay, Lib., 71; 1912 McKay, Lib., 741; 1913 Cameron (Cons.), 278.

The constituency thus has been pretty firmly Liberal for a good many years. Perhaps this was in part because Mr. McKay was an exceptionally popular man. Nevertheless a change so decided as occurred can not be quite explained by either a change of candidates, or by the fact that in a by-election in Canada, the government of the day anywhere has an advantage. Apparently the Whitney government continues to meet approval in the province in a general way.

LABOR MEETING HELD LAST NIGHT

Mr. Studholme Writes Re Mr. Brewster's Efforts in the House.

There was a very slim attendance at the regular meeting of the Trades and Labor Council held last night in the Labor Temple. In the absence of President Pearce, Delegate Brown acted as president.

After the City Engineer
Delegate Foran took a fling at City Engineer Jones in reference to a asking he said that was passed by the board of works in regard to work for the city being done in union shops and by union men. Delegate Foran stated that as there was trouble at the Hartley Foundry Company, it was up to those in favor of union labor to see that the city engineer paid strict attention to this matter.

Will Send Delegate
It was decided to send a delegate to the Trades and Labor Congress which meets in Montreal in September, and the delegate will be chosen at the last meeting night in August.

Building By-Law
Reference was made to the building by-law, but as the law is being pretty well observed in the city at present, no discussion took place.

Communications
A communication was received from Hon. Dr. Reaume, of the Public Works Department, stating that carpenters doing provincial government work were receiving 45c per hour.

The Manager of the Bank of Hamilton wrote, stating that the balcony in front of the Labor Temple was for ornamental purposes, not to be used as a place to sit on.

A communication was received from Allan Studholm, M.P.P., in reference to the measure introduced into the House by Mr. W. S. Brewster, M.P.P., to abolish property qualification for aldermen. Mr. Studholm said that Mr. Brewster introduced the bill, but received little or no support.

The election of officers was to have taken place, but on account of the slim attendance it was postponed until next meeting night.

Wires are not sufficiently fastened, and several other defects are mentioned.

Street Congested
Last night about nine o'clock two automobiles and a buggy became mixed up on Dalhousie Street, in front of the Overland garage with the result that a portion of the harness was broken and a wheel on the buggy smashed. On the north side of the street, opposite the Overland garage there is a pile of bricks next to the curb in the street. When there are several conveyances, there is not a great deal of room to pass. It is said a car came out of the garage and the other car and buggy came together.

Alexandra Church Excursion.
A crowd of about 300 including men, women and children went over to Orchard Beach, Port Dover on the G. T. R. on the excursion which was run under the auspices of the Alexandra Presbyterian church. The train left Brantford at 7.30 a.m. and arrived in Port Dover shortly before ten o'clock. After dinner, boating and bathing were enjoyed by most of the people who went on the excursion. Rev. D. T. McClintock, said this morning that the train left Port Dover for bathing that the children all went into the lake and they could not persuade them to come out until it was too late to hold the usual picnic sports. The children evidently preferred bathing to running races, jumping, etc. The train left Port Dover for Brantford at half past seven in the evening and all on board had a fine outing. There were no accidents to mar the pleasure of the day.

Yesterday was "Ladies' Day" on the Guelph street cars as well as at the O.A.C.—the proceeds going to St. Joseph's Hospital. The affair was a little unique, inasmuch as chap-men as well as conductors were appointed in each of the six cars, which had been especially decorated with flags and bunting for the occasion, and at the College grounds, various sports were the attraction in addition to refreshment booths, so that altogether it was a gala day and netted quite a considerable amount to hospital purposes.

On the return trip from Lake-of-Bays to Montreal this week, Mr. Cy Warman, of the Grand Trunk Pacific R.R., was the guest of the Toronto Women's Press Club during his stop-over in the Queen City. BULGARIA NOT TO RESIST ROUMANIA.

The Roumanian Minister to Bulgaria left his post after notifying the Bulgarian government that the Roumanian army had crossed the Bulgarian frontier. The declaration of war on Bulgaria is expected to assist in bringing an end to the carnage in the Balkans by forcing speedy action on the part of the Powers which have been invited to intervene. The object of King Charles of Roumania is assuming the part of a belligerent is to strengthen Roumania's claim to participate in the ultimate sharing out of territory in the Balkan Peninsula.

IT WAS AWFUL--IN FACT WORSE THAN AWFUL

London Beat Brantford Two Games Yesterday--First Game Was a Farce, Second Game a Comedy of Red Sox Errors--London Players Some Sluggers.

A large number of baseball fans... London simply played rings around the Red Sox and made them look like two cents. The first game was without any shadow of a doubt, the biggest fust ever seen in Brantford. The Red Sox were worse than useless, and the game went to such an extent that it became a joke and a laughing stock. London reached the stage that Manager Kane requested that he be stopped at the end of the 7th inning. The score then stood 17-2 for London. Just how long a number of those ball players wear Red Sox uniforms, and the patience of the poor unfortunates public, remains to be seen. It is a shame to see the people's money. Any lot of players who have the unadmitted right to call themselves professional ball players, after the exhibition they gave yesterday, should take something for their nerves. The Brants are going from bad to worse, and heading for the foot of the league as fast as they can go. They say, don't knock, boost. How in the name of common sense could any person with a sane mind, boost an outfit that made such an exhibition of themselves as the Red Sox did yesterday. Kane used Pitchers Winne, Coose and Sharp in the first game. Coose was excused for not showing up to any extent, as he has been working behind the bat for the last two days as for the other two they were like the famous business managers worse, the team behind them could neither hit nor field. Chapin pitched a good game for London in the first fizzle, but was taken out early in the second game. He tried to pitch two games on one afternoon, but was not equal to the occasion. After a comedy of errors and other things, the first game was called in the 7th inning before it got any worse, and London walked off with the game, 17-2. The second game was more or less of a burlesque on Brantford's part, and many fans became disgusted and left before the game was over. London took the second game quite handsily, the score being 6-3. Gero pitched for the Brants, and London took to his slants like ducks in water. Chapin started to pitch for London, but was soon replaced by Beebe, who made the local look like a bunch of amateurs. He had a hard time to burn, and it is a cinch that London management is not getting his services for 2 shillings six pence per week. The crowd came away from the stands thoroughly disgusted with the performances of the Red Sox. Scores:--

Two Defeats by Ottawa Help London Into First Place.

ROGERS PITCHED WELL

OTTAWA, July 17.—The Ottawa St. Thomas series ended here yesterday, when the locals took both games in a double-header from the Saints by the scores of 3 to 1 and 2 to 0. "Lefty" Rogers pitched both games for Ottawa, and held the visitors to six hits in the first game and four in the second. One of the largest crowds of the season witnessed the games. Scores:-- First game: St. Thomas 1, Ottawa 3. Second game: St. Thomas 0, Ottawa 2.

HAMILTON WINS AT LAST

Peterboro Went Down to Defeat by a Score of 2 to 1.

HAMILTON, July 17.—The Kolts truly and actually broke into the victory column here yesterday afternoon, when they defeated Peterboro in the last game of the three-game series by a score of 2 to 1. "Patsy" Dougherty, who heaved on Monday, was asked to work again by Manager Lee, and at all times he was master of the situation, allowing but four scratch hits, scattered through as many innings. The Kolts scored in the initial inning when Murphy received a pass, was sacrificed to second, stole third and came home on Killilea's sacrifice fly. Brant scored Peterboro's only tally in the fifth inning, and Chapdelaine broke the tie in the sixth with a run for the Kolts. Owing to injuries received in the game yesterday, Fisher was unable to catch for Hamilton, and the locals were forced to use Chapdelaine, a spare Peterboro catcher. Chapdelaine played better ball, and was largely responsible for the defeat of his team-mates. Tracy pitched good ball for the visitors, but errors at critical moments were disastrous for him. Score:-- Hamilton 2, Peterboro 1.

GUELPH BEAT BERLIN

Ragged Fielding Was Responsible for the Dutchmen's Defeat

BERLIN, Ont., July 17.—Ragged fielding by White's hopes lost the game with Guelph yesterday by a 7 to 5 score. The visitors did not get a clean hit off Bramble until the 5th when he issued two charities, which with two singles, netted a pair of runs. In the sixth the local infield went to pieces, and on three errors the Leafs counted two more. By bunching four hits and another rank error the last three were notched in the eighth. Dorbeck held the tail-enders to a pair of safeties up till the sixth, when a single and error and two passes forced in a run. By a ninth inning rally the locals chased four runs across on four hits and a pass. With two down and the sacks filled Fitcher Kirby was sent in and struck out McAvoy. The finish was exciting. Score:-- Guelph 7, Berlin 5.

CANADIAN BOWLERS WON BY FOUR SHOTS.

LONDON, Eng., July 17.—The Canadian bowlers played Galashiels, winning by four shots. The Galashiels: T. Rennie, 21; Hall, 15; Rice, 21; Watson, 16; Dr. Wood, 14; Dow, 21; Knowles, 18; Connochie, 21; Chapman, 12; Jagger, 30; McTaggart, 28; Riddell, 110.

FIREMEN'S FUNERAL COST MONTREAL $1,728

MONTREAL, July 17.—The public funeral of the four firemen who were killed at the Ste Cenege fire on a recent Sunday cost $1,728. One of the chief accounts is requiem high mass, St. James' Cathedral, $400. Archbishop Bruchesi informed Fire Chief Tremblay that he regretted having to send in a bill owing to unavoidable expenses. Newark, New Jersey, refuses to allow motor cycle racing, thus proving that the undertaking profession does not wield the balance of power in that flourishing Jersey metropolis. The fact that Hughie Jennings assures us that the Giants and Athletics will win easily, does not necessarily mean they won't.

Sporting Comment

Looking over the team, Lamond, Coose, Nelson and possibly Wagner look like the real ones. Gero should prove a good pitcher, with any kind of a club behind him. Burrill may find his true form by next year, but he has been far from it this season. The hitting ability of Ivers has been sadly shattered and split somewhere along the road. Duff Slemis has done well for the chance he has had to imbibed baseball knowledge.

An Amateur

Will Sail Lipton's Yacht in the Big Race.

LONDON, July 19.—W. P. Burton who has accepted Sir Thomas Lipton's invitation to sail the challenger for the American cup, is probably the most skilful amateur yachtsman in England. He has sailed in about a thousand races, and has won more than half of them. He joined the Orwell Corinthian Yacht club at Ipswich in 1888, and during the succeeding years was invincible in his half and one-raters. Sixteen years ago he started with bigger craft, and succeeded in getting 265 wins to his credit before he had a chance of winning a king's cup. However, he secured the first went in for. He had the distinction of winning the last cup offered by King Edward, while he captured the first offered by King George.

Excitement in Suffolk

LONDON, July 19.—The rural "workers" of Suffolk are in a state of great excitement because their country is being invaded by thousands of Dutch field laborers, who the English declare, are taking the bread out of their mouths.

President Nelson has been liberal in the treatment of his club, and the players have not produced the results. Perhaps the Brantford President is too good a fellow to handle professional ball players. Whatever else may be said, this may be with certainty, the team has been loaded up with ordinary, and worse than ordinary ball players all season, and this is where Kane has failed. Penalties are not won on sentiment or this player or that. They are all Mr. Good Fellows in a way. Penalties are won by ball playing—such as we have seen this week from London.

Starting out at the head of things, we believe a change of scenery would be a good thing for Amby Kane and for the Brantford club. Misfortune has dogged Kane at every turn this year. The present team is

Chicago Lost the Opener After Ten Innings Play by 1 0

HIT BENDER HARD

CHICAGO, July 16.—The White Sox and the Athletics broke even in their double-header to-day. The Athletics won the first game, one to nothing in ten innings. The Red Sox came right back, hammering Chief Bender in the eighth round of the second and won five to three. The first was a pitchers' battle between Ciootte and Brown. The latter allowed the Sox three hits in the regular nine innings, but gave way to a pinch hitter in the tenth and Chief Bender finished the game. Score by innings:-- R. H. E. Philadelphia 1, Chicago 1. Second Game: Chicago 5, Philadelphia 3.

WON IN THE NINTH

Washington Defeated St. Louis by a Score of 3 to 2

ST. LOUIS, July 16.—After St. Louis seemed to have the game virtually sewed up, having a lead of one run over Washington, with Boelching pitching, Leverniz weakened in the ninth inning and a base on balls to Foster, singles by Mta and Gandil, Moeller's sacrifice, and Agnew's error, the visitors put two runs across winning to-day's game by the score of 3 to 2. In the last half of the ninth, Walter Johnson went in to pitch for the Senators and retired the Browns without a run after Brief had opened with a double and been advanced to third on an out. Score by innings:-- Washington 3, St. Louis 2.

WAS AN EVEN BRAWK

Cleveland and New York Divided a Double-header

CLEVELAND, July 16.—Hans Welter, a nimble-limbed Yankee, whizzed over the green at Somers Park to-day in the ninth inning of a red-hot game, speared Turner's fly with his bare hand, robbed the Clevelander of a triple, and stopped the Naps from gathering both ends of a double bill with the Yankees. Score by innings:-- R. H. E. New York 0, Cleveland 0. Second Game: Cleveland 0, New York 0.

"Bill" Carrigan's Debut as Manager Was Most Successful

D'TROT, July 16.—Bill Carrigan made a successful debut as manager to-day, when the Red Sox easily defeated the Tigers by a score of 7 to 4. Detroit made as many hits as their opponents, but Boston had the faculty of securing them when they were needed, and drove Willett off the slab in the eighth. Score by innings:-- Detroit 7, Boston 4.

Knocked Ball Over Fence With One Man on Base

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—Gabby Cravath hit the ball over the right field wall in the eighth inning of today's game with one on base and scored the winning run for the Phillies, defeating St. Louis 4 to 3. St. Louis scored their runs on errors by Dolan and Lobert. Score by innings:-- Philadelphia 4, St. Louis 3.

Marchioness is Popular

LONDON, July 17.—The Marchioness of Tuillhardine organized the recent Royal Caledonian ball, one of the smartest events of the present London season. Previous to her marriage to the great Scotch noble and war veteran, she was known as Miss Katherine Ramsay, one of the acknowledged belles of British society. Since his fracas with Brennan of the Phillies, Manager McGraw has been seen much in the company of James J. Corbett. Is there a reason?

FITZ OUT OF GAME FOR THE SEASON

Tried to Save Himself After He Had Started to Slide.

THE SCORE WAS 5 TO 4

MONTREAL, July 17.—The Leafs won the seventh victory in the last nine games they have played with the Royals, yesterday afternoon, by a score of 5 to 4, and tied the Royals on the season with nine runs apiece, but it was a dearly bought success, for while scoring the winning run in the seventh session, Fitzpatrick broke a bone in his ankle, which will keep him out of the game for the rest of the season. Fitz started home when Northen dumped a slow roller to the box. The runner saw that the play could not be made to the plate, so tried to save himself after he had started to slide. His spikes caught, and a bone in his ankle snapped. He was taken to the Western Hospital, where he will probably be confined for some time. Score by innings:-- Toronto 5, Montreal 4.

JERSEY CITY BEAT PROVIDENCE

Schaff's Home Run in the Ninth Gave the Game to the Sketeers

JERSEY CITY, July 17.—Manager Larry Schaff's home-run wallop with two out in the ninth inning and the game tied up, broke up a hard-fought battle between Jersey City and Providence into a Skeeter victory this afternoon, giving the home team a 2 to 1 margin and an even break on the series. Bill Bailey held Jersey City to four hits, while the Greys got to Doerscher for six. Had it not been for Catcher Blair's wild throw to second base in the sixth, the Gray's second frame, which proved a disaster, to score all the way after his steal, the Skeeters would have scored a shut-out. The Jerseys have sold Jack Kelly, outfielder, to the Mobile Club in the Southern League. Score by innings:-- Providence 1, Jersey City 2.

ROCHESTER OUT-PLAYED BUFFALO

Truesdale's Sensational Fielding Was the Feature of the Game.

BUFFALO, N.Y., July 17.—After the Bisons had tied the Hustlers in yesterday's game, and Holmes held the Rochester batters in check until the ninth, he weakened, and the Hustlers scored three runs, enough to win by the score of 9 to 4. Fullenweider started for the Herd, but was driven off in the first. Martin started for Rochester, and lasted one and two-third innings; Hoff replaced him but he, too, gave way to Wilhelm, who was there. Truesdale's sensational fielding, his one-hand circus catch off Martin's bat in the ninth featured. The Bisons have signed George Matteson, a pitcher of the Erie, Pa., team of the Inter-State League. Score by innings:-- Buffalo 9, Rochester 4.

PRINCESS MARY NOW REPORTED TO BE ENGAGED

London Story Says Formal Announcement Will Be Delayed.

QUEEN LIFTS TANGO BAN

Young Dréxel Spending Time and Money in Study of Aeronautics.

LONDON, July 16.—Armstrong Dréxel has a splendid workshop in his mother's house at 59 Portland Place and spends many an hour in it planning air machinery, to which he devotes most of his time when he is on the ground. Both mother and son are constant visitors to Hendon, the London centre of aeroplaning, and Mrs. Dréxel cordially welcomes to her house all her son's friends among aeronauts. Like the rest of the family he is very good looking and rather genial and when he is in town he and his mother are always inseparable, always at the same parties, looking far more like brother and sister than mother and son.

Queen Mary has given another example of the strictness of her views of propriety. The queen is an excellent dancer and she has had both the prince of Wales and Princess Mary carefully taught in this art. Having recently of an excellent teacher of dancing, a Mrs. Marshall who lives in Kensington, the queen, after making enquiries, determined to send her daughter to her to take lessons.

Queen Mary gave the strictest instructions that her daughter, Princess Mary, should not be taught or even allowed to see danced any of those modern dances which may be grouped under two headings, the tango and ragtime, any approach to which is rigidly barred from Buckingham palace.

A few days ago, however, the dancing-mistress earnestly begged Queen Mary to see some of these dances. The queen saw half a dozen of Mrs. Marshall's pupils dancing the tango and some varieties of ragtime steps. The result was that the queen freely admitted that there was nothing objectionable in what she saw and the princess has been allowed to learn these dances.

Pugilist Has Titled Pupils The most aristocratic dancing class ever got together in London is the one which Jack Clifford, once a light-weight pugilist of some reputation, teaches the ultra smart set the tango, the bunny hug, the turkey trot, the grizzly bear, and in short, all those awful negroid dances so piously denounced.

His pupils, most of them women, are in such a feverish hurry to get his lessons that they have subscribed to provide him with an automobile to take him around quickly.

Princess Mary may become the consort of the ruler of only a little over 1,000,000 persons, for it is reported that an engagement will shortly be declared between Princess Mary and the hereditary grand duke of Mecklenburg Strelitz, who came to London some time ago in search of a wife, and who everybody thought was going to marry Princess Patricia of Connaught.

Princess "Pat," headstrong as ever, however, emphatically declared that under no circumstances would she marry a German, and Queen Mary then suggested a marriage between her young daughter and her German relative. King George readily consented, as did Princess Mary, who would probably marry any man, no matter of what nationality, just to get away from her royal mother and be allowed to have a word to say about the making of her dresses. The engagement will probably not be made public until Princess Mary celebrates her 17th birthday next April.

ENGLAND FINDS CITY OF CHILDREN

Novel Experiment of Commonwealth in Dorset Village.

BATCOMBE, Dorset, Eng.—A new world is coming into being in this isolated village, nestling in a cup of the Dorset Downs.

At the end of this month the children's commonwealth, a colony of young people whose rebel spirit has come in conflict with such stern facts of modern life as policemen, magistrates, the law's delays, the insolence of office and horny-handed parents, will start, as did the Ibsenite heroine, to live their own lives at Flowers farm.

It is to be a self-contained self-supporting community with its own parliament, its own police, its own currency and its own civic ideal—the idea of giving those whose moral outlook under the strained conditions of modern life has become warped a clearer and cleaner view of their duty to the great world, of which the commonwealth is but a replica in little.

NEW "REST GOWNS" ARE GORGEOUS AFFAIRS

Elaborate Negligees in London Not Meant for Bedroom or Boudoir.

LONDON—No smart woman can now afford to go to a country house without a few very beautiful "rest gowns." These were formerly known as tea gowns, but they are now so elaborate that they are worn in the interval before dinner after a day's motoring or sport and are not meant for the bedroom or boudoir.

Many of the kimono rest gowns come direct from Japan and the designs and colorings are gorgeous.

MOTHER TELLS POLICE

Two Men Who Made Purchase are Held by Police of Wisconsin City.

MILWAUKEE, July 17.—Accused of buying pretty Anna Goursou, 16 years old, from her mother for $30 and then shipping her to Phillipsburg, N. J., Henry Herzog, 34 years of age, and Paul Boy, 28, were yesterday arrested charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. In district court the case was continued until July 23, and the men are being held under bonds of $200 each. Mrs. Margaret Goursou, the mother, is the complainant. She asserts that the men who boarded with her so poisoned her mind against her daughter that she was willing to sell the girl, who was shipped East last Sunday night. Later she was sorry that she sold the girl and went to the police.

LONDON.—A sigh, deep, long-drawn and sonorous, has gone up through the length and breadth of England. Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader and prepress of the "Wild Women," said just casually the other day that she is thinking of leaving England.

Mrs. Pankhurst suggests that she is "thinking of leaving England because it is necessary for the world's interest in the cause of women that she see for herself its progress in lands where men are really men and women citizens in the enjoyment of full equal rights."

NEW YORK, July 16.—The Giants sent the Reds on their way unreluctantly by beating them to-day for the fourth consecutive time in the Midsummer season at the Polo Grounds. The score was 5 to 3. Although out-hit slightly by the Reds, the Giants cracked the ball with force and fervor in one inning, driving Suggs to the bench and finding the three runs which accrued enough to win.

A Story from Real Life

The Great Train Robbery in Which Charles Stevenson "Made" $75,000 and the Strange Part a Tornado Played in Restoring the Booty to Its Rightful Owner.

Copyright, 1913, by the New York Herald Co. All rights reserved.

BOARDING a swiftly moving train, creeping over the roofs of the cars until the end door of the mail car was reached, crashing in this door, overpowering the mail clerks, binding and gagging them, is a feat any yeggman would be proud to plead guilty to. That is what Charles Stevenson did. But after fleeing with the plunder, burying it and eluding capture for months, he forgot the location of the grave that held the little fortune. It lay mouldering in the earth for a period of seven or eight years until a tornado unearthed it and it was returned to its rightful owners, a trick of fate which would drive even the most stolid of yeggmen to the verge of suicide. This and other incidents almost as stirring have been crowded into the young but eventful life of a negro whom the police regard as one of the most remarkable criminals they ever had to deal with, yet, perhaps, he has served fewer years in prisons for his offences against the federal government than any yeggman who was ever caught blowing a safe.

Occupying a prominent place in government criminal records will be found the name of Charles Stevenson, alias Charles Savage, alias William Scott, alias "Tom" Kelly.

Duly and chronologically inscribed are the post office robberies in which he was concerned, to say nothing of the number of mail pouches he stole from baggage trucks in railway stations. Strange to say, in every case these pouches contained registered mail. It also is noted that Stevenson is a negro, exceptionally well educated, surprisingly cleanly in his habits, and the personification of neatness when he appears in public. Other notations concerning his record emphasize the desperate character of the man—his penchant for firearms and his skill in handling them—and for the benefit of those inspectors who might be seeking him a warning is given to be always well prepared, "for he can shoot quicker than lightning and if you don't get him he will get you."

A MURDERER AT HEART.

Inspectors who have had personal encounters with the negro have made these notations, while others were scribbled on the record by the wardens of prisons where Stevenson was incarcerated. All agree that he is a "clever thief, a smart crook, but an all round bad man and a murderer at heart."

Despite his good education and the laborious efforts of an old mother to instill in the son good principles, Charles Stevenson fell in with evil companions and seemingly all the benefit he derived from his early training was an aptitude to absorb knowledge of those things which the old mother had taught him to shun. From early boyhood the young negro was in front. His appearance was in his favor, for, born and reared in the Far West, where the prejudices against those of his race was nil, he was always able to procure good and remunerative jobs. Yet somehow these he never kept, for he invariably found himself in hot water, and when not openly accused of theft or some other crime equally flagrant the finger of suspicion pointed so accurately in his direction that he was discharged from the service of those who previously had been so kindly disposed toward him.

Soon realizing that Denver, his home

AFTER PROCURING THE POUCH CONTAINING THE REGISTERED MAIL THE BANDITS LEAPED OFF THE CAR AND MADE FOR THE WOODS.

city, was no safe place for him to remain, Stevenson took to the road, and it was not long before he had been taken into the inner circle of one of the many hobo or tramp camps that are to be found in the environs of every big city, especially in the West. From hobo to yegg was an easy stride, and this gap Stevenson bridged at a single bound, for very soon after his flight from Denver the police and Post Office inspectors detailed to run down the band of yeggmen operating on post office and bank safes were in possession of facts which left no doubt in their minds that Stevenson was one of the ring leaders in many robberies that for a time puzzled them.

UNCLE SAM "EASY."

But Stevenson was as resourceful as he was apt. He soon came to the conclusion that safe blowing was a risky business under the most favorable auspices, and since Uncle Sam proved such an easy victim whose his strong boxes were concerned he was equally easy in other directions. Stevenson in his brief but checkered career had been employed in the Denver Post Office. There he had an unusually good opportunity to observe that more or less lax methods are employed in handling mail in the big railway terminals and way stations, and that were a thief so disposed he could walk away with a registered pouch with little or no trouble, and if he was particularly shrewd he could do so without arousing suspicion until long after he had fled and covered his flight.

For a time "Charlie" worked alone. He was so blessed with his success in his new field of endeavor that he did not see fit to take any one in his confidence, for, among other reasons, he was not inclined to divide loot so easily procured single handed with another whose services were not really necessary to make the job a success.

A dozen or so of these robberies in widely separated localities in the West had the Post office department in a turmoil, and it was decreed that this thief must be apprehended at all hazards. A fair description was obtained of Stevenson, who he eluded capture, and fresh depredations cropped up every week or so, the thief cleverly doubling on his tracks and sometimes repeating a theft in the same railway station at a time within twenty-four hours when the detectives and inspectors had figured that he was hundreds of miles distant.

DECAPS FROM DENVER.

The detectives got so close on the trail of the fugitive on several occasions that he decided the vicinity of Denver was no longer healthy, so the next heard of him was in Salt Lake City. Arriving there, Stevenson was sufficiently well supplied with funds to bedeck himself in fashionable raiment, and his pleasing manner and marked intelligence made it easy for him to find employment. To illustrate how farseeing this young negro was, he procured a position as elevator attendant in the Dooley Block in which the Salt Lake City Post Office is located.

Very soon after Savage's appearance in the Dooley Building a series of robberies in the post office came to light. In every case it was a registered package that disappeared, and despite the vigilance of the attendants these robberies were repeated at frequent intervals. Strange to say, the young negro was not suspected. He manifested a lively interest in the robberies, often discussing various phases of them with the very men who were detailed to find the thief.

On the night of July 15, 1901, a package containing several hundred dollars disappeared and on the following night another estimated to have contained about $3,000 vanished. With it went Savage, for he then realized such a hot and dry fire would be raised that Post Office detectives from all parts of the West would be called into service, and in his mind he had long been seeking for other offences. Savage doubled on his tracks and went to Topeka, where he had no trouble in affixing an especially valuable pouch from a truck in the Union Station. The empty package was purchased and slashed and all of value missing, was found on the outskirts of the city near the railway tracks, where Savage had boarded a freight train for parts unknown.

TRAVELLED IN LUXURY.

But in one respect Savage differed from the yeggs who had trained him. While his fellows were content to ride the lumbering freight train or else secure themselves in an empty box car when they could not climb under and perch upon the rods of a passenger train, he scorned such modes of travel and invariably rode first class, always purchasing the steamer of his choice through express wherever possible. He travelled in state and the very best that money could procure was always his while in transit. He was lavish in his expenditures, and the negro Pullman porters who served him had reason to recall his princely tips with rare pleasure and discussed among themselves the "young Croesus" of their race who spent his money as lavishly and lived as royally as "Jack" Johnson himself.

Stevenson, or Savage, jumped to Portland, Ore., next and there found a fertile field for his talents. He had no sooner alighted from a train in that city than he saw at a glance that the mode of unloading mail pouches from trains and conveying them to the postal rooms in the terminal were just as careless and primitive as he had found them elsewhere. He was so easy that Savage decided to take his time, take it easy for a while and learn the lay of the land before he attempted fresh operations, inasmuch as he was liberally supplied with funds following a number of rich hauls in the immediate past, fruits of which even his reckless disposition had not exhausted.

In nearly all of Savage's jumps from city to city it was afterward learned he was invariably accompanied by a woman. That made it easy for him to procure staterooms aboard trains and bridal suites in those hotels where class distinction and the color line did not exist. The color line is not as sharply drawn in some localities as it is in the East, and this served the purposes of Savage and aided him materially.

TWO GOOD HAULS.

Savage arrived in Portland the latter part of July and, withstanding temptation as long as he could, he finally yielded on the night of August 3, when he stole a mail pouch in the railway station. There were several hundred dollars in the pouch, and seemingly this did not satisfy the negro, for he repeated the trick a night or two later, this time getting a sum approximating $2,500. For a time he disappeared, but a few weeks thereafter he returned to Portland and fell in with a thief by the name of Kelly Wiley, and for a time they went on a wild debauch.

Wiley exercised such strong influence over Savage that he soon separated him from his ill-gotten hoard, and as soon as this was all spent he interested him in a new means of procuring easy money. This proved an error of judgment on Savage's part, although he managed to escape the cell in which he was incarcerated for a while.

A jewelry salesman who frequently visited Portland had been marked by Wiley as one likely to yield a goodly sum were proper means taken to bring this about. Wiley knew all about the habits of this salesman, whose name was Lowenthal. He had frequently followed him while he was making his rounds from store to store, and he figured it out to a nicety that there were several lonely spots in his itinerary which would afford ample shelter in the event of a hold-up and which were ideally situated or a quick and safe "getaway." According to the Portland police, Lowenthal was held up and all went according to the schedule Wiley mapped out. The gems wreathed from a wallet in Lowenthal's inner pocket were worth $15,000, and apparently there wasn't a clem to the men who had beaten the salesman down while crossing a dark alley and, after seizing his jewels, left him unconscious in the street.

But Wiley and Savage had spent money heavily the few days preceding the hold-up of Lowenthal that they were hard pressed for funds and were anxious enough to dispose of the loot in Portland. This brought about their capture and both were speedily indicted.

On November 17, 1901, Wiley was convicted and sentenced to seven years in the Oregon State prison. Savage also was tried, but he was acquitted, although the police stoutly maintained that he had arranged the entire affair and that Wiley was in reality but his tool. Only a portion of the loot was recovered, and it was noted that Savage was again liberally supplied with funds shortly after leaving his cell.

The arrest of Stevenson served one good end. While in the hands of the police he was photographed and measured according to the Bertillon system, which gave the police their first line on him and enabled them to send his picture and description broadcast through the country. These photographs were seized with a view to the postal authorities, for in them they recognized the man suspected of the many mail pouch and post office robberies, giving them something real and tangible to work upon.

CONVICTED FOR THEFT.

Six months after his acquittal in Portland Stevenson was arrested in Denver by two post office inspectors. In that period he had improved every opportunity that came his way, and he demonstrated that it was far safer for him to stick to the beaten track and operate alone on mail pouch thefts and let accomplices alone. But the "mugging" he had undergone in Oregon proved his usefulness in the hands of the postal authorities, for he had long terms on a number of indictments. He was first taken to Salt Lake City, where he was tried and convicted for thefts from the post office of that city, and on December 8, 1902, he was put away for three and a half years.

No sooner had this term expired than he was rearrested, taken to Portland, where an indictment for a mail pouch theft awaited him, and once more he was convicted. Apparently he fared well as the hands of Oregon juries, for after being acquitted by one, he only received a sentence of two years for the same offense in the eyes of the federal government. Perhaps the fact that he pleaded guilty had something to do with the mitigation of sentence, but in any event he was sent to the United States penitentiary at McNeill's Island, which is just opposite the little city of Beechey.

It was on July 23, 1907, that Savage emerged from the federal prison. Thoroughly determined to make up for lost time and without any thought of turning back to the straight and narrow path, the young negro now entered upon a career of reckless crime that helped to make history for the Detective Bureau of the Post Office Department. Mail pouch snatching went unabated, and the authorities, while convinced "Charlie" was the culprit, were unable to lay their hands upon him. The chase extended from coast to coast and from one end of the country to the other, but still pouch thefts continued to be reported, with Savage still at large.

BOASTS OF PROWESS.

While in the East the wild young negro formed associations which proved of inestimable value to him. "Tipping his mit," as the police phrase it, to several clever post office thieves he met in New York city, he let it be known that he could steal any registered mail pouch that happened to be shipped West if he cared to do so. He reviewed his record to his new found friends and conclusively proved to them that this was no idle jest. All he wanted, he said, was a chance at some big shipment of currency that was really worth while. He would like an opportunity, he said, to get enough money at one fell swoop to enable him to retire from the road and settle down. In the event of apprehension, he thought, with sufficient funds in hand he could barter for his liberty, as he was tired of the hare and hounds game he had indulged in so long.

After making a deal with a clever sneak thief in New York, who apparently had means of ascertaining the dates of shipment of large sums in currency, Savage returned West to arrange his affairs so that he could take advantage of the tip as soon as his New York partner sent him the eagerly awaited information.

This coveted information was not long withheld. Secured in a small town not far from Denver, Savage received a telegram stating that on a date not far distant a certain bank in New York city would ship $50,000 in bills of small denomination to its Denver correspondent. He was told to be on the lookout for the pouch, which would be taken from the train at Denver and in all probability kept under heavy guard. Savage figured that this would doubtless be the case, so he outlined a campaign far more audacious, although it was one which required the united efforts of one or more confederates. That pouch must be seized in transit, if at all.

Accordingly Savage fled his hiding place and returned East to a point near Kansas City, where he figured he could board the train bearing the precious pouch. He took two yeggs into his confidence, and they were promised an equal share of the loot.

UNDER COVER.

Meanwhile Stevenson and his accomplices put as great a distance between themselves and the scene of the hold-up as possible. They dared not take to the railroad, for they knew that every passenger or tramp travelling over that road that night would be marked and made to give a good account of himself. Therefore their only safety lay in keeping to the woods and, furthermore, in the event of capture due care must be taken that no money should be found on them.

One of the smaller packages was ripped open and the cash taken from it was equally divided among the three. Stevenson agreed that he would "plant" or bury the major portion of the loot until such time as the hunt for the robbers had grown less eager, when they would meet at some designated rendezvous and return and "lift" the plunder and equally divide it.

After a lapse of several months the two men who participated in the robbery with Savage were captured. They confessed their part in the hold-up, but naturally shifted the blame for the whole affair to if he succeeded in extracting the pouch from the train.

Just where Savage, or Stevenson, boarded the express train does not seem to be known, but he and his two accomplices stowed themselves away from the prying eyes of the train crew until the train reached a lonely spot about fifty miles east of Kansas City. The records are equally hazy as to how Savage and his two companions forced an entrance into the mail car, but into the Kansas City terminal the train pulled and the mail clerks were found writing and squirming to free themselves from the thoughts that imprisoned them. They could only tell that three men sprang seemingly from the sky upon them, bore them to the floor of the car, with hands pressed over their mouths before they could make an outcry or reach for their weapons. It was all over in a flash, and the train was running at such a high rate of speed that the mail clerks were positive it was impossible for any human beings to have survived a leap from the car at that time.

THE BANDITS ESCAPE.

The supposition is that the three bandits forced an open door of the mail car and leaped upon the unsuspecting mail clerks as they were busy assorting their mail sacks preparatory to entering the terminal. After procuring the pouch containing all the registered mail they left the car by the same door, securing it after them to prevent possible pursuit. Then, climbing to the roof of the car, they rode on to a point where the train slowed up either at a signal tower or for the ascent of a steep grade and leaped off and made for the woods.

In the stolen pouch was $50,000 in one lot intended for a Denver bank, just as Stevenson's New York informant had prophesied. Better still, this shipment consisted of five, ten and fifty dollar bills with a few hundred dollar bills included. This was especially lucky for the negro, as he knew he would have no difficulty in passing the money without arousing suspicion.

In the same pouch were upward of fifty other registered packages, and these contained sums ranging from $100 to $1,500 each. It was estimated at the time that the robbery had netted the bandits a sum approximating $75,000 and, naturally, the government bestirred itself to find the thieves the moment the hold-up was reported upon the train's arrival at Kansas City.

UNDER COVER.

Meanwhile Stevenson and his accomplices put as great a distance between themselves and the scene of the hold-up as possible. They dared not take to the railroad, for they knew that every passenger or tramp travelling over that road that night would be marked and made to give a good account of himself. Therefore their only safety lay in keeping to the woods and, furthermore, in the event of capture due care must be taken that no money should be found on them.

One of the smaller packages was ripped open and the cash taken from it was equally divided among the three. Stevenson agreed that he would "plant" or bury the major portion of the loot until such time as the hunt for the robbers had grown less eager, when they would meet at some designated rendezvous and return and "lift" the plunder and equally divide it.

After a lapse of several months the two men who participated in the robbery with Savage were captured. They confessed their part in the hold-up, but naturally shifted the blame for the whole affair to Savage's shoulder, saying that they had merely been employed by him to aid in the execution of the plot, which had been mapped out weeks ahead. Immunity was their captors, and this chance they eagerly seized. Although a dilatory and careful search was made of every inch of the woods, and the negro was seen to bury his loot no trace of it could be found. The postal authorities, convinced of the sincerity of their prisoners' desire to make restitution, continued the search for weeks, but evidently the negro had chosen well the spot where he dug the grave for his plunder.

SHADOWED BY DETECTIVES.

Finally the two prisoners were set at liberty, the detectives determining to shadow them and keep them under constant surveillance in the hope they would lead them to Savage's lair. But apparently they were as much in the dark as to the whereabouts of the negro as the detectives themselves, so this lead was soon abandoned.

The two prisoners promptly vanished and all traces of them were lost. It was not until a year later that Stevenson was captured. The police and detectives were convinced they had a good case against him and took immediate steps to bring him to trial. After putting him through a rigorous investigation it was proposed that in the event of his leading the detectives to the hiding place of the mail pouch his captors would procure clemency for him when sentence was meted out to him. But the negro still protested his innocence, stoutly maintaining that the two men who had been liberated had sworn falsely when they implicated him, and, furthermore, he defied the two mail clerks to identify him. Their identification was not as thorough as the authorities had hoped for, and after being kept in a cell for several months Stevenson was released. But not for a second did the detectives allow him to get out of their sight. For months he was trailed and his every step dogged.

A WILY NEGRO.

Apparently the negro was either aware of this or else smart enough to anticipate such a move, for he was drummed out in his every action and not a clew did he provide for the men who so relentlessly trailed him. Weeks stretched into months, and still the negro made no move that led the detectives a step nearer the hiding place of the money. They figured that as long as Stevenson was at liberty there was always a chance of his returning to the hiding place in an attempt to flee with his loot. For this reason other charges that hung over him, any one of which might convict him on, were allowed to go unexpressed, and the negro was still free to go and come as he pleased.

But Stevenson was not to be caught napping. As dearly as he loved money and all the luxuries it brings he smoothed the desire to resurrect his buried as best he could, and set about to earn a living as he had done a stroke of work since he fled his job as an elevator attendant in the Salt Lake City Building, which enabled him to rob at pleasure the post office of the Mormon capital. He stuck diligently to his job and soon made himself invaluable as a captain of bell boys in a Denver hotel, where he was kept under close watch by the detectives.

FATE TAKES A HAND.

And now comes the queer prank of fate which prevented Stevenson from ever recovering his ill gotten plunder and at the same time robbed the many police detectives and postal detectives of the rich reward which was offered for the recovery of the stolen pouch and its contents. It was not until several years after the robbery that Dame Nature, while in a violent mood and causing a con- vulsion which laid whole cities and miles of once fertile countryside in waste and ruin, inadvertently solved the problem that had so long baffled the shrewdest detectives the country boasts.

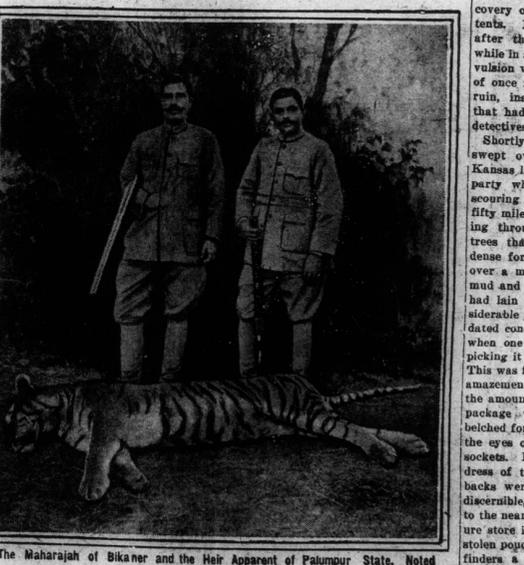

Shortly after the terrible tornado which swept over Nebraska and portions of Kansas last spring a group from a relief party while in search of victims were scouring the woods at a point within fifty miles of Kansas City. While trudging through the twisted and uprooted trees that once soared proudly in this dense forest one of the posse stumbled over a mail pouch. It was caked with mud and dirt and showed plainly that it had lain beneath the ground for a considerable period. It was in such a dilapidated condition that the finder demurred when one of his companions insisted on picking it up and inspecting its contents. This was finally done, however, and to the amazement of all present bank notes to the amount of $50,000 tumbled from one package while other similar packages belched forth greenbacks that fairly made the eyes of the finders start from their sockets. Even at that late date the address of the bank for which the greenbacks were originally shipped was still discernible, and when the party returned to the nearest post office with their treasure store it was readily identified as the stolen pouch. The bank, after paying the finders a liberal reward, recovered its stolen package and at small cost, while other packages in the pouch also were identified and claimed by their intended owners.

Stevenson was not rearrested. At last accounts he was still in Denver and apparently endeavoring to lead an honest life.

"What's titles?" she demanded jocosely after she had shaken herself free from one. "Wouldn't they give you the jumps?"

But even the most democratic must feel inclined to take off his hat to—

Colonel His Highness Raj Rajeshwar, Narendra Shiromani Sri Sir Ganga Singh Bahadur and Lieutenant Taley Mulhanna, heir apparent of Palampur State, are among the best shots in India. They have recently had remarkably good sport in the jungle. Palampur State, the seat of Lieutenant Taley Mulhanna, was the region explored in search of big game.

The Maharajah of Bikaner is one of the most English of the Indian rulers, according to the London Graphic. He commanded the Bikaner camel corps in China in 1901. He is aide-de-camp to the King and has attended the coronations of the present King and King Edward. He is only thirty-three years old, although he has been a ruler for twenty-seven years. He was invited with forty-seven others to the coronation of King George in 1908. He is an all round sportsman, fond of polo, croquet and tennis, as well as of shooting.

INTERESTING STORY

He Has the Ability
So That He Can Say

NEW YORK, July 17.—Alexander Bell is not so well known as the inventor of the telephone. He has taken up the difficult task of teaching deaf-mutes how to speak. He says that it is not as difficult as it seems, but the parrot's often seen to start with. The more advantage over the parrot is his throat and mouth as just like that of a human.

Prof. Bell's method consists in putting the voice producing organs of these animals. He uses a device because it is the one which with splendid results in curing stammering. He says that a young man and his father's classes I took up of the difference in the size of the mouth of a human and a dog was led to study the gags of persons who had a speech impediment. Incidentally, it came to wonder if the mouth would produce anything like late speech.

Terrier says "Mamma" and a sky terrier more than ordinarily intelligent. Taking zle in my hand, I tried to get his mouth, causing his head and close a number of the session while he growled. I had been taught to do so. The way he was made to give the syllables "ma, ma, ma."

"After a little practice I can make him say with perfectness the word 'mamma,' the English way, with the second syllable. I have my thumb under his lower lip between the two bones, and up the thumb passes across the muzzle twice in its way. He was able to say 'Ga, ma, ma.' This was rendered by like the word 'grandmother.'"
