NOTICE To Hydro Users

The present shortage of power has caused considerable discussion among the citizens of Brantford concerning the unsatisfactory street Railway service and street lighting. As a matter of fact every power user and many lighting circuits are at times affected. The Brantford Hydro Electric System at the present time cannot supply power over 75 per cent. of their previous maximum demand which means that all users of power must reduce their load 25 per cent. This naturally affects the Street Railway who, to curtail, either take off cars or run slower. As to the Street lighting outages this was ordered by Sir Henry Drayton and the price for lighting the streets as they are now which is approximately cut in two, is set by the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

The reason for this shortage of power is caused by the worst ice jam that the Niagara Power Companies have had to contend with in 15 years and has also caused the American Power plants even more trouble than the Canadian plants, due to different forebay conditions.

W. R. CATTON.

PRESENTATION LAST NIGHT

To Valued Citizens Leaving Simcoe

Simcoe, Jan. 30.—About thirty members of the Epworth League of St. James' church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Niedrauer, Head street, last night to say farewell to their president, Mr. Harry Ostrander, and to Mrs. Ostrander, who has been a valued member of the church choir. It was only 24 hours previously that the intended departure of the family became known. A very pleasant social evening was spent by all present. Mr. Ostrander received an address acknowledging recognition of his hearty co-operation and able and enthusiastic work in church work, and his general good citizenship, and Mrs. Ostrander received a cut glass fruit dish—well, in fact, it was a sort of joint address and presentation, but Mrs. O. will doubtless claim the dish.

The Ostrandersons leave to-morrow for Tillsonburg, their former home, and they will be deeply missed for some time by the people of St. James' and by others outside the church in which they both have so loyally worked since coming to Simcoe.

Mr. Ostrander was till recently salesman in the E. F. Best furniture store.

Not Expecting Much

The superintendent of the good roads system, with the assistance of the weather, is doing some educating. Mr. Marston learns that it is clear, not only for wheeled vehicles but also for threshing outfits on wheels. Before spring many Norfolk citizens will have learned something about good roads and snow storms.

Surely Not!

It has been suggested to the writer that very possibly the one mill Government war tax levied for the past three years, has been paid out of the $150 debentures issued for patriotic purposes. Be that as it may, the debentures were used to pay what was to be paid, patriotically or otherwise. But we hesitate to assume that Norfolk has been issuing debentures to pay the one mill provincial war tax. We have been told that our figures of last Friday are entirely false. Would he sincerely glad to learn that such was the case. But figures do not lie, they may be warped and twisted and re-arranged to suit purposes. But if this war tax has been paid out of the issue, we have done splendidly. But no, we will accept no such thing.

DAVIS QUIT GAME

Philadelphia, Jan. 29.—Harry Davis, captain and coach of the Philadelphia American baseball team, last night announced his retirement from the game in order to devote his entire time to business. He is a wholesale dealer in scrap iron and last November was elected a member of the city council. Davis, who is 45 years of age, began his professional baseball career in 1894, with the Providence team of the Eastern League. He joined the Athletics in 1901, and with the exception of 1912, when he was manager of the Cleveland Americans, has been with Connie Mack's team continuously.

SPIRITED COUNCIL MEETING

Takes Place in Simcoe—Account Goes Back to the Molson's Bank—Debentures Well Sold

Simcoe, Jan. 30.—There was a spirited meeting of the town council last night, members all present. His worship at the outset ruled that the motion at a previous meeting, which ordered the transfer of the general account from Molson's to the Bank of Commerce, was out of order, as the previous motion had been acted upon before the receding motion was proposed.

Rules of Procedure Antiquated.

Questioned motion could be introduced by members who voted against the original motion. His Worship stated which could be operated and which could not touch on the matter. He understood that the Board of Education Has Better Guidance.

The clause referred to in the board's rules reads, "no matter, once disposed of by the Board shall be reconsidered during the same year except by a two-thirds vote of the members present." and a motion to reconsider any decision of the Board must be made by a member who did not vote in the negative when the decision was arrived at.

Account Goes Back to Molsons

Messrs. Carter and Lea at once introduced a motion to transfer the account to Molson's. Mr. Langford observed that the chief objection raised against the former transfer was that the manager of Molson's had not been consulted. He thought this complaint childish and was sure that the manager of the Bank of Commerce would not raise the point in the present instance.

The motion carried on the same division as last week, Crabb, Jackson and Langford voting aye.

As no one expects Mr. King to appear across the railing at the next meeting, the matter is now settled.

It is probable that before the year is out members of council will be protected from such solicitation and embarrassment as some of them have possibly experienced in the matter, by a revision of the rules of procedure.

Debentures Well Sold

Deputy-Reeve Langford reported for the committee appointed in 1917 to sell debentures, and followed. There are still unsold a few of the long date school debentures. The $4840 issue of concrete roadway debentures re-Colborne Street have all been sold in various groups as follows:

Nos.	Am't.	Ac'd Int.
12, 13	$ 508.90	$ 13.56
8, 9, 10, 11	868.02	23.07
14, 15	566.43	15.43
2, 3, 4	459.31	12.87
20, 21, 22	378.44	11.76
16, 17	627.28	10.70
5	170.25	5.54
1 and 6	313.82	10.45
18	341.47	11.58
19	187.59	9.58
10	345.83	17.83
Less 1-2 per cent. com.	$4,767.04	$150.16
Net	$4,742.84

Loss, 97.16, or just 36 cents short of being a net sale at 98 per cent.

The report was, by resolution, placed on file, and the committee authorized to continue sale.

In Committee of the Whole

Council went into committee of the whole to discuss transient traders, street lighting, proposed dog by-law and other matters.

His Worship intimated that he did not care to know the details regarding every little matter with which the police and police committee had to deal, they could administer that matter by the ordinary course. Alderman Jackson thought that the police should have assistance in interpreting by-laws. Some than for enforcement to the letter. Later he got through a motion for the consolidation of the town's by-laws, which he suggested should be done in loose-leaf form so that they could be more easily kept up-to-date. Three copies, he thought were necessary. One for the magistrate, one for the police department and one for the clerk's office or the solicitor.

Alderman Jacques Protests.

Chairman Jacques of the Fire and Light committee, protested against the action of the utilities commission in that the commission had taken on themselves to designate what street lights should be cut off when a reduction of 25 per cent. was ordered. He thought the committee should have been consulted in the matter. His Worship agreed that the objection was quite in order and promised that the commission would report in the matter.

The Dogs Have Friends

There was diversity of opinion on the dog question. The by-law will be on hand at the next regular meeting providing the solicitor does not consider the prohibition beyond the powers of the council. Alderman Crabb wanted a better enforcement of the present by-law before a more stringent one is attempted. The committee arose at 10 o'clock, and council resumed sitting.

Allowance for Utilities Commissioners

A motion to fix the salary, or rather, allowance, of the commissioner heretofore, was withdrawn when it became evident that an amendment stipulating half that sum appeared likely to carry. His Worship protested against the fixing of the larger amount.

The Board of Works got $75 to finish out the month, and the special park's account was wiped off the slate by a grant of $17.06 to balance the overdraft.

Council adjourned at 10.30.

STATUS DEFINED OF MILITIAMEN

Officers Formerly With The C. E. F. Not to Serve in the Ranks

The much-discussed question as to the status of militia officers under the Military Service Act appears to have been settled for a time by instructions just issued from the Department of Militia which imply that these men cannot be drafted into the ranks unless the present act is changed, but which leaves it open to their inclination to volunteer if they see fit. A further distinction is drawn between the militia officer who has seen service with the Canadian Defence Force, and the officer who was not so employed, as the instructions are to the effect that the men once employed with the C. E. F. will not be permitted to serve in the ranks before being given an appointment as officer with the depot units, while the ordinary militia officer who has not seen such service will be expected to enlist as a private if he expects to receive an appointment later. The regulations state that any militia officer may relinquish his commission in the militia to serve in the ranks of the C. E. F., but that those who volunteer in this manner will be permitted to do so, and that they will be seconded from their militia unit, and their seniority in the militia will be maintained. Volunteers of this class will be permitted to choose any unit in the militia, including the University Training Company, which means they are to be given an opportunity to qualify for commissions with the Imperial Army. This is a concession to the militia officer, as an announcement was made some time ago that the regular recruiting for the C. O. T. C. has been stopped, and that only recruits wanted were those who were prepared to go overseas as private, and retain their rank without asking for commissions with the British forces.

May Be Replaced

Records are to be kept by headquarters of all qualified officers who join the ranks, in order that they may be available for posts as officers in case they are required in the depot units, and when openings occur the names of officers are to be given the preference. The militia officer with previous C. E. F. experience, who chooses to volunteer again will be recommended directly for an appointment as an officer with the depot units, subject to the usual conditions regarding the release of returned officers when the latter become available. Those militia officers who do not volunteer to serve in the ranks will be granted conditional discharge, without pay, until such time as their services can be utilized.

STANDARD FLOUR PASSED

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—Bread baked from the new standard flour was submitted for examination to the cabinet council yesterday and passed with flying colors. Sample loaves were placed before the ministers of Food and Controller H. B. Thomson and there was unanimity of opinion as to the splendid quality of the bread. The fine texture of the loaf, clean cutting in crust and middle was favorably remarked upon by the members of the cabinet. "We consider it first bread," said Hon. N. W. Rowell, president of the Privy Council.

The loaves were baked on an ordinary commercial basis at Montreal from "one grade flour" nothing which commenced yesterday in Canadian mills.

BLUNDERS ALLEGED

Declares Time Has Come for Ending of Military Clique's Rule

London, Jan. 29.—Lovat Fraser, whose recent article criticizing the military authorities has been the subject of ministerial depreciation in Parliament and endless newspaper criticism throughout the country, returns to the attack in to-day's Daily Mail with a two-column open letter to the Secretary of War, Lord Derby. He says the old Tory press stands for the vested military interests, its object being to prove that anything wrong in the conduct of the war cannot possibly be due "to the sublime intellects of the Staff College," but must be the fault of the politicians; therefore it attempts to throw the blame on the Ministry.

Fraser continues "this is a very grave issue, as it concerns the lives of men. It is an effort to ensure that before more homes are broken up the men now summoned to the colors shall be used to the best advantage. What is the answer of the chosen spokesmen of the General Staff? While the Government ask for another half-million men, the champions of the General Staff clamor for another million and a half.

"The idea that we are to put our minds and consciences into the hands of the military clique was tentatively accepted at the outbreak of hostilities, but it was an idea born in Germany, and we have had enough of it, if it is a democratic country, and it is time to look at the matter in a democratic way. We want to win this war. If the military experts who have had unquestioned control in the last two years have not made good and show no sign of making good, it is time they were changed."

"Why the Ypres Drive? After pointing out that the politicians do not plan the attacks or 'masterly evacuations,' therefore, they cannot win the war, the writer proceeds: 'But they are not protecting us sufficient men, is the resort of the apologists for the Imperial General Staff. That is exactly my point. I say they did provide sufficient men. And what was done tentatively by the Imperial General Staff blame the government for not having provided sufficient men in 1917. If we were so short of men, if our divisions were depleted, why did they inaugurate the great Ypres offensive?'

"Blame the Soldiers 'Having failed to achieve their full purpose at Ypres, the Imperial General Staff planned a fresh battle at Cambrai. That time they must, on their own showing, have known that we were desperately short of men. They had before them the wise and prudent example of Petain, who devised the policy of limited offensives in order to economize manpower. They must also have known that the French General Staff looked upon our reckless and wasteful methods with a positive dismay. They attacked again and in the end failed. Why? That is what we all want to know.'

"Mr. Macpherson, the Under Secretary for War said in the House of Commons last Wednesday: 'The moment a breakdown occurs it is always put down to the Higher Command. It is never the men who make the mistake.' To me that remark has an ugly sound. Has the blame been thrust upon the unfortunates company of officers and non-commissioned officers and men who had been worn out chasing a will-o'-the-wisp through the swamps of Ypres. I ask whether the French help actually placed close at hand was coldly ignored and not utilized. Did they rebuff the French?'

"The General Staff admit 900,000 casualties last year. I quote from one of their spokesmen in undertakings which were mostly unproductive and failed. They want to blame the Government. Did the Government plan the Ypres offensive and Cambrai, where the bulk of these casualties occurred? The point is not worth discussing.

"Secrecy About Man-power 'The organizers of the latest onslaught begin by complaining that the Government are not telling the country the truth. I have often said the same thing myself, but what is it that the Government are now accused of keeping back? Is it the truth about Cambrai? Or is it about the unforgivable attacks of October 12 and November 10? Is it the truth about the pathetic reliance upon cavalry? No. What these people say is that the Government are hiding the truth about the manpower. They charge the Government with keeping back millions of men in this country who ought, they declare, to be in the trenches. They say Premier Lloyd George is so-called. They have the colossal effrontery to appeal to Labor to join in attacking the Government because they are not raising millions more men for the front. Pacifist papers, which opposed the war and opposed conscription, military services and which have done their best to ruin recruiting, actually join hands with these people in their unscrupulous

"IT PUT ME BACK ON JOB" SAYS STEVENS

Way Tanlac Overcame His Troubles

The stomach regulates the condition of the blood and is the fountain head of health or disease as the case may be.

The experience of Albert Stevens, a well known employe of the Archibald and Holmes Construction Company, Toronto, as related in the following statement, very forcibly demonstrates the remarkable powers of the "Premier Preparation." Mr. Stevens says: "Off and on for several years I have been bothered with my kidneys and had frequent pains in the small of my back. So, during the past summer I had an attack which completely disabled me for simply anything in the way of work. I simply had to give up my job, which was paying me seven dollars a day, and to bed. If my back had been broken it couldn't have hurt worse. It was something like lumbar and extended all down through my hips and the muscles and leaders of my legs. I could hardly bear to turn over in bed, the pain was so severe, and the only way I could raise myself up in bed was by catching hold of the bedpost, and when I did get up I was barely able to hobble around. Well, I was laid up this way for two months and the best of the best things I knew of, I never did get up and out until I got Tanlac.

"One day I saw a Tanlac testimonial from a man I know personally, so I decided to try it. I was flat on my back in bed when I began on Tanlac and it may seem astonishing, but it's a fact, by the time I finished my first bottle I was able to go back to work and haven't lost a day from that time until now. My kidneys don't bother me any more, my back never hurts and I'm enjoying fine health. I have never found anything that did the work like Tanlac and I certainly appreciate what it has done for me enough to tell others about it."

"Tanlac is sold in Brantford by Milton H. Robertson & Co., Ltd., 104 York St. In Paris by the firm of J. A. Yodanis, in Middleport by William Peddie.

"I was laid up because they want to down the Government. When I venture to urge that the first thing to do is to make sure that the future levies will be properly and economically used, I am called a traitor, but it's a fact, by the time I finished my first bottle I was able to go back to work and haven't lost a day from that time until now. My kidneys don't bother me any more, my back never hurts and I'm enjoying fine health. I have never found anything that did the work like Tanlac and I certainly appreciate what it has done for me enough to tell others about it."

"The statement is made that we still have four million men of military age in civil life. Is that true? Labor knows it is not. Look at our depleted ranks. Look at the women everywhere doing men's work. Consider the effect upon France and the United States of it. The wanton allegation that the Government are holding back four million men of military age is allowed to go unchallenged. The French are told that we are keeping these men back, and the right way to get them is to back up the present General Staff. These allegations have two objects. First, it covers the mistakes of the General Staff by pretending that they never had enough men; second, it will mobilize foreign support for the present General Staff. It will allow millions more men will be forthcoming if the General Staff is backed up. Yet Labor knows, and I know, and the whole nation knows that already this country has been very nearly bled white.

"I have heard other figures, and I know the truth. I support you, Sir Auckland Geddes because it represents the utmost we are now able to furnish in reinforcements of men of military age and capable of taking their place in the front. Reinforcements are urgently required. They are not enough, but they are all we can manage. Had it not been for past military mistakes we should not be in the present predicament. There has been the utmost difficulty in getting this limited military service bill accepted in certain quarters, and yet these military madmen clamor for more men, more, more."

"The writer recalls Lord Kitchener saying to him: 'I have commanded 500,000 men in the field, and know what that means, yet that was a little force compared with what we shall see in the great war if it ever comes. Very few commanders are really fit to command more than a quarter of a million men in war. The human brain is not equal to it. I honestly believe that the number of such men in the world to-day is not more than the fingers on my two hands.' Then he paused reflectively for a moment, and added: 'Yes, I would say that are more than the fingers on one hand.'"

"Mr. Fraser concludes 'The longer the war lasts the more we are asked to put faith in numbers. Russia has had numbers enough to swamp the rest of Europe, yet they did not serve her. My aches and pains are for more brains, and right brains, yet.'"

"The article is certain to elicit a great discussion, probably an official reply.

THE SITUATION.

The Italians have scored a most notable success on the northern mountain front, breaking the enemy lines and taking fifteen hundred prisoners into the bargain. The fact that the Garibaldians have thus been able to effectively take the offensive constitutes good news.

General strikes in Berlin and the rest of Germany are undoubted. It is reported that many trades are at a standstill and that torpedo makers are among those affected. It begins to look as if the propaganda of the independent Socialists is commencing to bear fruit.

Troubled Russia is becoming still more that, with a threatened split in the Bolshevik party, the statement that Government troops have been defeated by the Ukrainians, an uprising in Finland and difficulty in handling the Roumanians.

The number of British ships sunk during the past twelve months is given at over one thousand, with 763 of over 1,600 tons. The record is one which well accounts for the present food difficulties in the Mother Land.

COUNTING THE SOLDIERS' VOTE.

An English paper of recent date gives interesting particulars of the counting of the soldiers' vote as follows: The counting of the votes cast in England by Canadian soldiers in the recent election began in London on Monday, and the counting of the votes polled in France began yesterday (Wednesday) in Paris.

In two weeks time, he has the doctor came the horses and Johnson Dr. Duncan made an examination, and informed Johnson that one horse was suffering from periodical ophthalmia.

The aggregate fire waste of Canada and the United States for the past forty years reaches the tremendous total of $6,420,267,560, or an annual average of $162,006,689. Expert fire adjusters concede that fully 65 per cent of the fire losses of this continent are due to preventable causes.

HENDRICK HAS A GOOD TIME

Newly Appointed Leader of St. Louis Nationals Has Enjoyed Success as a Pilot—Always in First Division

Jack Hendricks, the latest member to join the managerial ranks in the National league, comes into the majors with a record of remarkable success in the minors. For twelve successive seasons the new boss of the Cardinals has been proving his worth in the steels, spending four years in Class B, as many more in Class A and the past four seasons in the Class AA set. In all these years no club managed by Hendricks has finished lower than fourth place. He has won five pennants, finished in the first place three times, in the third place three times and fourth once. Such a run of success speaks volumes for the managerial ability of Hendricks. It indicates that he is a high order. Managing a club in the minors carries many handicaps which do not interfere with the work of the major league leaders. In the top set of baseball the best players are main with club year after year, as there are no higher fields to conquer. In the minors the stars sell out last for any great length of time. Those players who are not purchased outright up to a certain time are subject to draft by the owner of a minor league club to retain players who are stars.

KEEN JUDGE OF TALENT
Hendricks has built up his winners and runners-up in the minors and in turn these teams were drafted into the process which gives the ball player his opportunity to shine in faster company. To the new leader of the Cardinals this has meant the necessity of building up another winner or contender, and Hendricks' minor league record gives mute testimony of his success. Like other minor league managers he has done the players turned back to him by major league clubs and his judgment was severely tested in these cases in order that he might keep his clubs battling with those of other clubs who had working agreements with other major league clubs.

Hendricks showing as leader of the Indianapolis club stamps him as a manager who combines keen judgment of baseball work and a thorough knowledge of diamond tactics. Three successive pennants in Denver during the season of 1911-12-13 led Jimmy McGill to put Hendricks in charge of the Indians, a team which finished last in 1913. Through his new team was hit hard after they had the newly organized Federal league Hendricks went at his work with a vigor and his club finished the 1914 campaign in third place.

Again in 1915 the Indians finished third, and in 1916 Hendricks' team was nosed out by the Louisville club, but in the meantime Hendricks' team was in the midst of the greatest pennant fight the association ever produced. Last season Hendricks topped off his work by winning the American Association pennant and now he comes back with his well-deserved chance as a major league manager.

WILL BE POPULAR LEADER
Hendricks never developed into a star as a major league player, but it will be a surprise to some who know him if he does not enter the game as a manager of the first flight. He played with the New York Giants and was in Washington, with no great success at either city, but he has been travelling hand in hand with success ever since he turned his attention to the managerial end of the game. Hendricks took charge of the Springfield (Central league) club in 1906, remained there for two seasons, and then led the Fort Wayne club two seasons. Four years ago he completed his novitiate in the minor leagues.

St. Louis fans will quickly warm up to the new leader of the Cardinals. He is an aggressive leader who does not hesitate to enter into the argument stakes whenever opportunity affords a chance, yet he is no trouner. He can live up to a ball game as well as any manager and make a lot more noise than most of them.

Hendricks has the knack of making friends wherever he goes, and he is sure to be popular in St. Louis. He always has commanded the respect of his players and at the same time he has been recognized for his powers of baseball as a brainy leader and was prominently mentioned for his opportunity at St. Louis, now that he has arrived in the major he undoubtedly will remain for several years to come.

ONCE A GIANT, A BALL-PLAYER IS ASSURED OF FAME

Wherever They Wander,
McGraw's Hirlings Bear
Distinction

Once there is a certain impressive air of distinction that clings to New York Giants players, even after they have served their usefulness under John J. McGraw, that is the means of keeping them prominent in the baseball market many years thereafter. This may be because players in many instances, cease to be useful to McGraw at an early age and this can be said to be one of the several reasons for McGraw's success. He does not hesitate to rid himself of an athlete whose ability has receded only a certain extent, but whose interest in his environment has not waned considerably. But it is certain the reason why it may, that Giant cast-offs are the wanderers of the major domain.

Not because they were champions teams they have been in the New York uniform of the Giants, their reputations continue to live after their capabilities have long since commenced to slip backward. There are no less than seven players in the major leagues to-day where players who started their careers in the Giant regalia have played with three teams, but some are still considered as the latest instances are those of Larry Doyle and Arthur Wilson.

Doyle first saw major league action in 1908 with the Boston Braves, but by indifference sprang to the attention of Larry's system and his playing ability suffered greatly thereby. Now he is traded to the Chicago Cubs, which is reputation sufficient.

Arthur Wilson in a sense is an exception. He did not leave the New York club but he has been out of the club had outgrown himself.

He hopped from the National into the Federal league during those early days to be remembered. He was later re-centered the National league as a Chicago Cub. Now he is a Boston Brave.

MEYERS' NAME LIVES
Chief John Torte Meyers built a name for himself with the Giants that lived long after his major league skill had departed from him.

McGraw cut him loose and he got a job with the Brooklyn Robins and he passed on to the Braves and out of the league.

Fred Merkle went from the Giants to the Robins and thence on to the Cubs, where after 13 seasons of big time strife, he is considered good enough to convert into an outfielder.

At Demaree opened his big league career as a Giant wandered to Philadelphia to Chicago and now he is in the metropolis ready for the final leap.

Red Ames, the calamity king among diamond devotees, served the New York club and then fell from the commencement of his major league life.

Finally, he wandered off to Cincinnati, played there awhile, and is now with the St. Louis Cardinals and still pitching splendid ball.

HERZOG THE CHIEF WANDERER
But though there have been some excellent wanderers on the Giants, the blue sash award must be tendered to Charley Herzog.

It is now ten years since he first showed himself to the public in a Giant uniform, and in the stretch of days that have followed he has drifted to the Boston Braves, and back to New York, and to Cincinnati and ready again to Chicago another move.

The cases cited of New York wanderers embraces only those men who are playing the game to-day.

If the record books were closely scrutinized, it would be found that the past contains many other such cases, showing conclusively through numerous seasons.

BAGS 25,000 RATS A YEAR THIS EXPERT

Charms of Rat Catching Set Forth by Lover of the Art
40,000,000 RAT
"POP." IN BRITAIN
Rat One of Most Powerful of Nature's Creatures for its Size

Is it possible to eradicate the rapacious rat? Attention has recently been drawn to the serious loss of food consumed by the army of these rodents, an army estimated ten years ago at 40,000,000 strong in Great Britain alone. The difficulty of the problem may be realized by the total of the "bags" of the man who is, perhaps, the most successful rat-catcher in the kingdom—Mr. G. F. Overhill, a freeman of the city of London and head of the Abbot's Laboratory in the city.

"I have averaged 25,000 rats a year—roughly 500 a week—for the last 20 years," said Mr. Overhill to the Daily Express representative. "It is the finest sport in the world, and I would not change my occupation for a fortune. I have a farm of my own at Langley, and when I look at the rat and wonder what it is that is so good to eat. So much the better," I said. "I love them. He looked so surprised that I said I would give him a £10 premium on account of the rats—and I did. There are no rats on the farm now, and I have attracted all the rats from the neighboring farms as well. I destroy thousands, but I prefer to catch them alive, as there is a good market for the live animals. They are wanted by doctors, for flesh-eating birds, and for other purposes. In Germany pigs are regularly fed on rats, and were so long before the war. They were a considerable food value, every one remembers how the people were fed on them during the siege of Paris."

Mr. Overhill reached down to a large case containing a dozen rats, and caught one of them firmly by the loins. "They would not think of biting me," he said. "No one can be a rat-catcher who is not fond of rats. There are only five or six in the country who really count. I myself regularly clear the rats from most of the great hotels of London, the hospitals, and many of the leading stores and warehouses and factories, and I go to many of the large country manors for the same purpose. Our secret has been in the family for generations—at least 200 years—and my boy following after me, he would not dream of doing any thing else. I work, however, single-handed, and never allow any one to be with me during the night of a house or a factory. I use ferrets, stoats, and cats, but that is not giving away any secret. I have even told people how they may keep their mouse-traps, instead of losing them, as so frequently happens. It is a matter of feeding the ferret. I use a rat, but that is really not of the most powerful creatures of its size. The stories brought home from the trenches of rats as large as rabbits are of feeding, fables. I have offered £10 for a rat weighing 2½ pounds, but the average size is not more than 1½ pounds. I offered £100, that was at the rate of four a penny, but that is the rate of accepted. Farmers might get rid of their rats more easily if they were not wedded to the idea of an occasional ferret hunt, when many substances, to draw out the rats out of any stack and to clear any given area. I notice it is stated that rats have littered up to 17. I have never known a litter of more than seven—generally fewer, but there are five breeding times in the year."

TEAM WITH A FINE FUTURE BEHIND THEM

Connie Mack Now Aiming to Sign Wahoo Sam
Crawford

Report has it that Sam Crawford, erstwhile Tiger, will be seen in one of Connie Mack's uniforms next season. Crawford is spending the winter in California and has been spoken of as a possible addition to every club to the Pacific Coast league, but he is determined to come back into the majors, preferably the American league. Crawford has not been offered a contract by the Detroit club and consequently is a free agent. He has made all sorts of allegations of ill-treatment by the Tigers and gives expression to an all conquering desire to take a slam at Ty Cobb and the rest of that company.

Mack hasn't very many ball players under contract and if the International league comes through with its threat to open again, Cornelius will be up against the worst proposition of his long managerial career. Just now Mack is said to be depending on the market's becoming flooded with International leaguers, and he has his eye on Crawford of Federal league class—too good for the minors and too poor for the majors. He figures he can finish last with those just as well as he could with a higher priced acquisition. Mack seeks veterans. He wants no youngsters who may be taken into the army after he has drilled them and placed his dependence on them. Mack wants veterans and Crawford seems to be just the type he could use. Wahoo Sam might come through with flying colors.

Toronto Will Not Let Larry Lajoie Go.

"It is said that Mack has been counting on Larry Lajoie, but if the International opens his wages in that direction will be blasted. From time to time Lajoie has been assigned to various big league clubs. Only the other day the Cubs let it be known that they were after the old batting king. Her club also have sought Nap. He would lend any team a lot of color, but if the Internationals start again he will have to stick with Toronto. President McCaffery, of the Toronto club, sends word that the International will open and that Lajoie again will lead the Maple Leafs. He adds that under no circumstances will Lajoie be sold and that no offer for his release will be considered.

Suppose the Mackmen lined up with Lajoie on first, Evers on second, Byrne at short and Lohet at third, with Crawford, Murray and Bodie in the outfield? What a great future such a line-up would have behind it!

Broken Back Does Not Prevent Van-

His Bit

Lying on his back like a great Gulliver surrounded by legions of Lilliputians, Pte. G. M. Oliver, an invalided soldier in the Military Hospital, Commission annex of the Vancouver General Hospital, makes "Woolies" for the Red Cross.

Since he came to Vancouver he has made thousands of these miniature woolen dolls, Killies, Pollus, Tommies and the Army and Navy "Woolies" for the Red Cross.

The man himself is a particularly interesting case. He is a veteran of the first contingent and served with the third battalion. He was wounded in October, 1916, in the battle of the Somme when a flying piece of shrapnel struck his back. The spine was fractured, but the steel held it together and the doctors believe that by leaving the spine as is, just where it lodged, the man's life may be saved. Some has already been able to walk a few steps, and is making fine progress toward recovery.

Oliver is a tireless worker and takes great pride in his work, that he is still able to do his bit for the war in spite of his handicap.

DREADED NEURALGIA

Most people think of neuralgia as a pain in the head or the face, but neuralgia may affect any nerve in the body. Different names are given to it when it affects certain nerves. Thus neuralgia of the sciatic nerve is called sciatica, but the character of the pain and the nature of the disease are the same. The cause being the same, the cure to be effective must be the same. The pain in neuralgia is caused by an irritation of the nerves which carries messages to the brain and impure and no longer does so, and the pain you feel is the cry of the nerves for their natural food. You may ease the pains of neuralgia with hot applications, but you can really cure the trouble by enriching and purifying the blood. For this purpose we know of no medicine that can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills actually make new, rich blood and thus act as the most effective of nerve tonics. If you are suffering from this most distressing of troubles, or any form of nerve trouble, give these pills a fair trial, and see how speedily you will be restored to good health.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE CHEERFUL MEDIUM
It is fatuous to whop around, like wildly optimistic chaps, and say that Germany is bound, when we get busy to collapse. It's villainous to be a frost, a brooding pessimist or worse, and shriek that the outcome is lost, whenever we've a small reverse. It seems to me the gens I meet are one of 'em, all the time; one's optimism can't be beat, one's pessimism is a crime. Extremes are usually vain; from truth they lead our feet astray. I wish my friends were safe and sane, and they'd see things as they are. I'm optimistic when I think of what the outcome's bound to be; I feel quite sure we'll put a kink in autocrats across the sea. I'm pessimistic when I try to figure when the war will end, and think of legions who must die before the victors' hymns ascend. I'm optimistic when I view our soldiers, dauntless, full of fight, and know their hearts are brave and true, and that they're battling for the right. I'm pessimistic when I see the homes whence comes the ranks and files, where women with moans wearily, while wearing imitation smiles, I see so much that grieves, to-day, to-day I see so much that cheers, I'm smiling as I go my way, but I am smiling through my tears.

Germany Will Never be Willing to Surrender Military Occupation
 RETAIN U-BOAT BASES
 Von Tirpitz Has No Sympathy With League of Nations
 WORLD OF TWO CAMPS
 Continental Europe on the One Hand, Britain and America on the Other

London, Jan. 29.—Admiral von Tirpitz, in an interview with the Berlin correspondent of the Nieuwe Rotterdamse Courant, demands the military occupation of Belgium and submarine bases in that country. The correspondent's first question concerned the attitude of von Tirpitz toward the future of Belgium. From his answer, says the correspondent, it appeared that he had no special interest in the Walloon part of that country. With regard to Flanders, however, he said: "We desire, in the first place, that England shall in future no longer be able to use that country for carrying out predatory surprises. Further, we wish to free the Flemish people from painful suppression by French elements. You Dutch are not strong enough to give the Flemish support. That can only be done by strong Germany."

"Do you propose a solution of the question in the form of the annexation of Flanders?" asked the correspondent. "By no means. We do not wish to rob any nation in Europe of its independence. Do you regard as necessary for your object only military occupation and submarine bases?" To this von Tirpitz answered, "Yes, but that does not imply any aggressive attitude toward England. We only desire a position which would be sufficient to cause the Anglo-American world to cease from a renewal of its attacks."

The correspondent then enquired whether Antwerp would not then have to form a part of the maritime basis, and what was the attitude of Gemany regarding the Scheldt question. To this von Tirpitz replied, "That is all to remain as it is. None of the existing rights of the Netherlands must be touched."

World Policy of Future.
 Equally interesting were the statement of Germany's aims in relation to Belgium are thought to be due to pressure by Austria, as already stated. There is no expectation that his revelation of policy will advance the cause of peace. There is still a belief here that Germany's talk of peace is strategic, and must be taken in connection with her preparations for a big offensive on the west, which she wishes to convince German people and the army has been forced on her by the obstinate attitude of the Entente and the United States.

HEAVY MEAT EATERS HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Eat Less meat if you feel Backache or have Bladder trouble.
 No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forces acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly neuritis, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys. The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Epsom Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, which in no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications. Views of von Tirpitz on the world policy of the future. Not for him, evidently is a league of nations. What he pictures is a world divided into opposing camps, comprising continental Europe, on the one hand, England and America on the other. Since Belgium remains the test of sincerity of the Central Powers conference, and since it is known that Germany still intends to retain part of Belgium, including Antwerp, there is no expectation that a peace can be evolved out of Hertling's and Ceramini's proposals. That can be taken as expressing the view held in authoritative circles here as to the present peace prospects. It is not doubted that Austria is anxious for peace owing to her internal condition, but such anxiety cannot fruitfully so long as she remains bound to Germany's plans of annexation, and especially to Germany's schemes to destroy the integrity of Belgium. Premier Lloyd George probably will speak in the House of Commons on the war and peace situation when he returns from the Paris conference, but it is not expected that he will have much that is new to say. Hertling's promised definite statement of Germany's aims in relation to Belgium are thought to be due to pressure by Austria, as already stated. There is no expectation that his revelation of policy will advance the cause of peace. There is still a belief here that Germany's talk of peace is strategic, and must be taken in connection with her preparations for a big offensive on the west, which she wishes to convince German people and the army has been forced on her by the obstinate attitude of the Entente and the United States.

THE CHARM OF CHILDHOOD.
 A woman friend of mine was bewailing the other day the fact that her little girl was terribly shy. "She is so bright when she is alone with me and when strangers come in she is so shy she seems really stupid," she said. I could readily understand how it must exasperate her not to have her friends know how bright her daughter is, but I should think she would be so thankful that her child was shy instead of forward that she would bear the other cross with calmness. (Except that nobody ever is thankful for that sort of thing.) Why is it that everyone joins in resenting and often in disliking a forward child?

WE CANNOT TOLERATE ASSURANCE IN A CHILD.
 No matter how bright, how amusing, how pretty, a child is, if it is forward and self-assured we are not charmed by it as we usually are by childhood. Last summer I had an opportunity to observe a child of this kind. She was a very bright child, full of vitality and life, and rather pretty. She was also kind hearted and good, and she said amusing things. She would have been an unusually delightful child if she hadn't been so totally devoid of any trace of shyness. She rebounded from the hardest snub. She was always perfectly self-possessed, perfectly at home, she never seemed to question whether she were wanted anywhere but calmly joined any group which she saw on the beach and gave them the benefit of her opinion on whatever they were discussing. She had not the slightest fear of strangers, she rebounded cheerfully from the hardest snub. In a way she was a most likeable child and yet she wasn't generally liked. Shyness in a child is like the perfume of a flower. A perfectly self-possessed child is like some big flaunting flower utterly lacking in perfume; a tulip or a dahlia. It is Exasperating. I do pity the mother of embarrassingly shy children who hide their heads in their mother's skirts and become dumb before visitors. I once knew a little boy who for years had the trick of screwing his eyes tight shut when outsiders (even his aunts and uncles) came in. Mothers of such children with similar tricks will be glad to know that he has grown up into a young man just self-possessed enough and just shy enough to be charming. On the whole shyness is a fault that children are far more apt to recover from than its opposite. Shyness usually wears off where forwardness usually wears on.

Soldiers Kill Time Making New Worlds

Veterans Confined to Bed Fashion Everything From Nymphs to Fighters
 The wounded heroes in the Canadian military convalescent hospitals have found new worlds to conquer. They have invaded the movies and stolen away the picture stars, even raided Broadway and Leicester Square for the stage beauties as patterns for a new race in the making under their noble fingers. Shut away from the world of fit folks they are making a world of their own, a Utopia after a soldier's heart worked out in plasticene. Fashioned from the soft clay medium and enlivened by imagination the idols and loves of every wounded warrior are gathered together on his bedside table. Plasticene has put ennui to rout and the vocational instructors of the Military Hospitals Commission who have found men panacea for a problem with men panacea for all the ills of monotony. Make Friends Easily. Every man after his own heart. It is his fancy runs to movie queens he finds his star in the clay, a willing captive amenable to all his whims, as willing to dance in the night when the pain is bad as grace his dinner tray. If to-morrow he follows after a new love yesterday's sweetheart is demobilized by the pressure of his thumb and becomes merely "making." There are varying degrees of artistic ability to be found among the men, and as many degrees of faithfulness. Some lads have preserved every model they ever made, while others scraw their subjects like careless gods each night and start anew on another set in the morning. They model prize-fighters as well as nymphs, lean hunger-worn peasants, little children and generals. They reproduce their home folks, the family pets, the nurses, V. A.'s and each other. Sometimes they are clever enough to strike a remarkable resemblance but most often they do not. It does not bother them or detract from their enjoyment. Imagination fills the breach. Clever Caricature. Caricature is the forte of one man little suspected of a sense of humor. He copies the follies of everyone from the M. O. to himself and draws a laugh from every man in the ward even on the darkest days. Again real artists have been discovered who did things worth while. Their work has been handed from bed to bed in admiration and prized more highly often by the men who declare themselves "dubs" at the art than by the "sculptor" himself. Plasticene is not an expensive material. It can be used indefinitely because it does not harden. This is often regrettable for work well worthy of preservation is being turned out in many hospitals. Plasticene is in use in the bedside wards of Montreal, Toronto, and western centres of convalescence established by the Military Hospitals Commission.

69 U.S. VESSELS SUNK IN 12 MONTHS

Loss of Life Was More Than Three Hundred Persons
 New York, Jan. 29.—In the twelve months of unrestricted warfare launched against American and allied shipping by Germany one year ago Friday there have been sunk by submarines, mines and raiders 69 American vessels, totaling 171,001 gross tons, according to a careful compilation of records of sinkings which have been made public during the period. Offsetting this loss of American vessels, most of which were sailing under the United States flag, the United States since February 1, has added to her merchant marine by the seizure of former German and Austrian-owned ships, a total of 107 vessels having a gross tonnage of 830,649, leaving on the credit side of the American ledger in the account with the Central Powers a net gain of 515,425 gross tons. The loss of life caused by the sinking of the 69 American ships was more than 300 persons, however. The percentage of sinkings of American ships compared with the number of vessels which have sailed through the war zone successfully is small. Records of the Department of Commerce show that for the period beginning with February 1, 1917, and ending on December 1, there were cleared from American ports in the foreign trade ships aggregating 17,738,900 net, or approximately 24,834,460 gross tons. The number of ships making up the total of tons shipped was not made public by the department. 426 Vessels Requisitioned. Further offsetting the loss of tonnage occasioned by the submarine warfare, the United States through the Shipping Board requisitioned in American shipyards 426 vessels totaling more than 2,000,000 gross tons and contracts have been awarded for 884 ships, a large number of which are now under way and are being rushed to completion. In addition, the Shipping Board on October 15 last placed under Government requisition 393 American vessels of over 2,500 tons dead-weight capacity which were already afloat, and immediately assigned them to the task of carrying supplies to the allies and the American forces abroad. Included in these requisitioned vessels were 21 ships in the Great Lakes trade and in addition there were commandeered 23 steamers building for foreign account and ready for launching. Virtually all of these were brought to Atlantic Coast ports and immediately put into service. Almost one-half of them had to be cut in two to get them through the Welland Canal, but the task was accomplished and the ships rejoined in less than three months from the time the contract was awarded. Repairing German Ships. Another difficulty which faced the United States in the task of putting to sea vessels to offset the ravages of the U-boats, was the repairing of the "wilted damage" done to the former German ships by their officers and crews before the ships were seized. This cost millions of dollars, and in many instances called for the highest engineering skill to make and replace parts of foreign-built engines and boilers removed or broken. Indicating that the task has been attended by success, the statement was made to-day by a prominent official connected with the Shipping Board, that every seized vessel was now completely repaired and in service. Many of them have made as many as three and four round trips through the war zone. Three of the former German vessels have been the objects of successful attack by the submarines. The Actaon, formerly the Adamsturn, and the Owaco, formerly the Altemenia, were sunk, and the Armenta was hit by a torpedo, but was saved after being beached. Several other former German ships have been attacked, but escaped. The announced sinkings of British ships for the year up to and including the week ending January 23rd, had been 1,033 vessels, of 270 were under that figure. The joint losses of France and Italy have averaged three to four large material. It can be used indefinitely because it does not harden. This is often regrettable for work well worthy of preservation is being turned out in many hospitals. Plasticene is in use in the bedside wards of Montreal, Toronto, and western centres of convalescence established by the Military Hospitals Commission.

Flying Corps Cadets Know Their Guns and How to Handle Them
 Probably no soldier on the firing line in France receives a more thorough training in marksmanship and the use of machine guns than the man who soars above the battle line in the swift, far-darting scout aeroplane. His very name as a fighting machine is measured almost entirely by his skill in using the Lewis or Vicker's gun with which his aeroplane is equipped. Consequently, long before a cadet in the Royal Flying Corps has mastered flight, he begins to learn to sight both of these deadly weapons. He studies the mechanism and construction closely—knows them so completely that in the moments of combat he will not be at a loss when his gun jams, because he has been taught to adjust it almost automatically in a few seconds. Every aspirant to the great privilege of fighting the nation's battle above the clouds first learns the use of the machine gun—his only weapon—by target practice on the ground. The guns are fitted with compensating sights which in actual flight allow for the speed of both aeroplanes. Special targets have been devised to test the cadet's aim through these sights. To quicken the eye, every cadet also takes practice in shooting clay pigeons. The modern scout machines—incredibly swift machines which hover about the lines driving off the prying eyes of the enemy—carry Vicker's machine guns. These guns are fixed. To aim them the aviator must aim the aeroplane. To train cadets in this unusual method of shooting, a chair was invented called the "Rocking Noelle." This device is moved about like the aeroplane with rudder and "joy stick." If anything, aiming the "Rocking Noelle" is more difficult than the actual aeroplane. Aiming at pictures of aeroplanes painted on the ground or at towed

BENDER MAY COME BACK

Phillies Will Depend Largely Upon Indian Twirler This Year

Grover Alexander has gone from Philadelphia to the famous battery mate, Bill Killefer; Eppa Rixey is in the government service, or so, at least, it is believed in the Quaker City; Jimmy Lavender has told a team mate of his decision to retire from the pastime; and Joe Oscheiger is still something of an unknown. Phillies pitching staff this year will quite possibly that the star of the Phillies pitching staff this year will be Chief Bender, the Chippewa brave and in the event that this comes to pass, it will merely be another illustration of the uncertainties of baseball.

In 1915, the last year of the Federal league, Bender was released by the Baltimore club of that organization. He was apparently through, and had no place to go but out. It was believed that the Chief had made his last appearance in a major league game, and would have to go back knitting baskets or whatever it is Chippewa braves do in their leisure moments. The only one perhaps who didn't believe this was Bender himself, and that's the principal reason why he's where he is today.

The chief hooked up with the Phillies in 1916, and he broke into 27 games, but the form he displayed was far different from what he had shown in days gone by. The manager, Connie Mack, starts it a few years back. He allowed an average of 3.73 earned runs per game, and the end of the season seemed again his career. For a time last season he dubbed around the tank towns in Pennsylvania and Maryland, pitching for independent teams, and then began to show up regularly at the Philadelphia park to pitch to the batters in practice. The observant Pat Moran was quick to note that Bender was in excellent physical shape, and that he had much of the stuff that made him one of the game's leading pitchers in days gone by. He offered the Indian another chance to make good with the Phillies, and Bender was quick to accept the opportunity.

A Great Comeback

Then began one of the most startling comebacks in the old game known. The chief proceeded to hurl up victories in a row, of which three were shut-outs, and his great hurling put new life into the Phillies. Schump started them on a determined dash in pursuit of the Giants, whose lead had dwindled a bit. In the first week of September the Phillies came to the Polo Grounds for what was destined to be the toughest series the Giants played during the entire year, and in the first game of that series Bender opposed Perdic Schupp on the mound. The feeling between the rival teams was intensely bitter, and the pitchers settled down to one of the prettiest duels the local fans had witnessed in many a day.

The Phillies made a run in the fourth inning on an error and another in the seventh, and it looked like the victory for the scrappy Quaker City outfit. Bender was at the top of his form and inning after inning went by without the Giants being able to connect with his offerings with any degree of success.

Schump was removed to make way for a pinch hitter in the seventh, and Anderson replaced him on the hill. The "tooth dentist" turned the Phillies away from the plate in the eighth, and in the Giants' half of the ninth, when the storm burst. George Burns doubled, Herzog singled, scoring Burns, and Benny Kant hoisted the ball into the right field wing of the grand stand for a home run, putting the Giants in the lead. The Phillies were powerless before Anderson in the ninth, and the game was won. Moreover, Bender's winning streak had been broken, and the chief seemed to take the defeat very much to heart.

Finished with the Indian back against the Giants in that series, and Bender was beaten in the next game he pitched. His confidence returned, however, and he won two of three games he pitched during the remainder of the season. Bender through two years ago, finished the year in second place among those pitchers who did not complete as many as ten games, and his average of earned runs allowed per game was 1.67. It looks as if the chief has come back to stay, for a while at least.

GOT RICH QUICK.

By Courier Leased Wire. Toronto, Jan. 29.—To accumulate assets amounting to $106,061.44 in six months on a capital stock of $44,000, has been the fortunate history of the Striford Glovemakers, Limited, which was put in liquidation at Osgoode Hall this morning by the company from order obtained upon a winding-up Mr. Justice Masten, K.C. The company was incorporated on August 7, 1917, for the purpose of carrying out a contract with the United States Government. The contract was completed on January 13. The only liability is one of $27,500, owing to E. M. Ballantyne, the chief shareholder.

Do Your Glasses Tire You?

Brother Bill Gleason, shortstop of the old St. Louis Browns when they were in the habit of winning pennants back in the '80's, recently was run over by a 5000-pound fire truck in St. Louis and picked up for dead. He came to and is now on the road to recovery. Despite his fifty odd years he has a constitution like a cement foundation.

Friends called on Bill to offer condolences and prepare for the wake, if necessary. They found him with both hips crushed but talking about getting out in a few days.

"A little thing like being run over by a fire truck is nothing in my life," said Bill. "Why, I've had as much happen to me on the ball field as this and would be back in the game the next day, but of course I'm a little older now and not so tough."

"Why, once in a while a gang of them Jerseyites rough-housed me as bad as this and I strolled long enough to help old Chris Von Der Ahe save the gate receipts."

"You see, it was this way. I was away playing in New York and home came a Sunday. We players had planned for a day at the beach, but old Chris up and schedules an exhibition game across in Hoboken for our Sunday off. We were sore at that so we planned to give the Hoboken people plenty. I was selected to do the heavy work, and we agreed to spill the beans when I came to bat."

"Up I came in the third inning and I got to base on balls. I started for second, after laying the first base man out with my fist. I dug into second, cut down the second baseman, got up and made for third. We met 'em in the third sacker to sleep and started home, meaning to run for the club house, but the Hoboken crowd beat me to the plate."

"And then we had it. We beat 'em off with our bats, and got on our bus and made for New York. I had my face cut up one ear torn loose, one eye black and a thumb dislocated. Some of the other boys were beat up pretty much too."

"We were cussing Chris for our troubles when we got to the hotel. And who was there when we went up to the room but old Chris, and he had a pile of money stacked on his bed and was counting it."

"Oh, boys," he said, "vy for did you make that ride home. I heard 'em coming and I shud had time to stuff the money in my pockets and get me a galloping cab for der hotel. But I feel like Jesse James, taking der money, while you fellows was beating them out of der pill game dey paid for. Now vat should happen mit me if we got arrested?"

"We told Chris we would leave him in Hoboken if he ever booked another Sunday exhibition, and he promised, but he didn't keep the promise, and I think we had to pay our own doctor bills."

"That's only a sample of what we used to meet up with. Getting run over by a two-ton fire truck is nothing in my life."

WRESTLING.

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, Jan. 29.—The results of two wrestling bouts, which are to go to a finish at Madison Square Garden to-night are expected to open the mat to some other similar contest in the near future, which may establish a successor to the world's catch-as-catch-can championship title held by the late Frank Gotch of Humboldt, Iowa.

Wladislaw Zybako of Poland, who won the final match of a heavyweight tournament here from Strangler (Ed) Lewis, last December, will meet John Olin, the Finnish champion, in the other contest. Joe Stecher of Dodge, Nebraska, inventor of the "body seissors" hold will tackle Ysis Huskane, of the Balkans, another prominent competitor during the recent tourney here.
