A Real Lung Tonic

There are many preparations that will relieve a cough—few that will cure it. The first class, containing such drugs as Opium and Morphine, simply deaden the irritation and stop the cough, but do little or no permanent good.

Rev. Father Morrissey

"Father Morrissey's No. 10"

does not contain a trace of these dangerous drugs, but is an absolutely safe and scientific preparation of Nature's own remedies—Herbs, Roots and Balsams.

It entirely removes the irritation that caused the cough, by cleaning out the mucus, stopping the inflammation and healing the delicate membrane of throat and lungs.

Moreover, it tones up and strengthens the whole system, particularly the lungs, and protects against future coughs and colds.

Trial size 25c. per bottle. Regular size 50c. At your dealer's.

Tale of Mystery

CHAPTER IV.
A BRIBE.

But a moment's rapid consideration sufficed to let the girl's quick wit see that though there were reasons why she would be unwise to go to the police with her story, it was absolutely impossible for him to go. It was a piece of bluff in which she felt she would be quite safe in out-bidding him. She sat silent a moment as if considering the suggestion, and then rising, said deliberately:—

'That seems to be proof that would be conclusive; and, as you say, it can be obtained quite privately by us two alone. I will accept the offer. I will go and put on my hat, and will accompany you without loss of time. I quite see that it is unfair for me to leave this matter unproved a minute longer than necessary.'

'Certainly,' he assented, without changing a muscle of his face; and he held the door open for her as she left the room to get ready. She was as astonished and shaken by this; but she was not absent many minutes, and when she returned she found him ready with an excuse to flinch from the police.

'Something has occurred to me; and I fear it will be inexpedient for me to make the visit. A minute's reflection has caused me to take a much graver view of the matter. So much hangs upon the result to me that I cannot consent to keep it private merely to yourself and myself. Besides, when you come to think of it, it would be ridiculous to walk into Scotland Yard and say, "This young lady thinks I am a French murderer; please convince her I am nothing of the kind." They would laugh at us both and send us packing about our business to go and verify my identification in a proper way.'

'I knew you didn't mean to go, even when you proposed it,' said Dessie, curtly. 'But your reason is not what you say, and you know that perfectly well.'

Nerves at High Tension

Slight extra strain means collapse—Restoration obtained by using DR. A.W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

The successful men and women are often of the high-strung nervous type—keen and active—but with too little reserve force.

A little extra worry and anxiety and snap goes the nervous system. Weeks and months are often required before energy and vigor are regained.

Rest helps, so does fresh air and exercise, but the blood must also be made rich and red by use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. Wm. Branton, Victoria St., Stratford, Ont., writes:—My nervous system seemed all unstrung. I could not sleep, had no appetite, my digestion was poor and I had jerking of the limbs. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helped me and I continued until I had taken twenty-four boxes. This treatment has made a radical change in my condition, building up the system and strengthening the nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, all dealers or Edmas son, Bates & Co., Toronto.

'You make full use of your woman's privilege to say things a man dare not say,' said her antagonist, angry because of the defeat. 'I trust you will be as generous with your apologies when you know the truth as you have been with your sneers now.'

'I know the truth already,' retorted Dessie, sharply.

'I have engagements, but I am returning to this house again this afternoon. I am dining here again with Mrs. Markham. I shall then tell her what you have said, unless, indeed—this will be the best course—you tell me how this strange idea originated. I can then, perhaps, dust away the whole cobweb.'

'The knowledge is based on my own recognition of you. I myself know you to be the man I say.'

'It is quite enough for me,' returned

HA! HA! He! He!

That's the way to feel—EVERY ONE does that takes a CASCARET night BEFORE when he looks at the fellow who didn't. For OVER-EATING and DRINKING nothing on Earth cleans you out as a CASCARET, naturally—easily, without that upset sick feeling. Don't neglect—at bed time—9 P. M. or 4 A. M.—no difference. CASCARETS 10c. a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

ed Dessie, curtly. 'The proofs will be easily forthcoming. I can put my hand on them.'

'You are a difficult young woman to deal with; but I think I can see your motive, clever as it is. You wish to set Mrs. Markham against me. You are afraid that you will lose that control her money which your present influence gives you. You start this cock-and-bull story about my being some French criminal in disguise—not because you believe it yourself and think there is the remotest atom of truth in the accusation, but for a very astute reason nevertheless. You calculate that it will induce your friend and patron to institute some kind of exhaustive investigation into my character, and you reckon that in such a case there may be discovered some one incident or other which you can twist and distort and magnify until in your clever white hands it will be enough to separate us and allow you to keep your rich friend's riches for yourself.' He paused, screwed up his eyes, and looked at the girl through the little slits.

'Well?' said Dessie, in a plain matter of fact tone.

'You are judging others—me, that is—by your own standard.' Dessie could not wholly restrain a slight start at this unexpected thrust. 'You have secrets in your life that you don't wish exposed to every prying eye—not even your lover's eye. You reckon that if that be so with a young girl beginning life like you, it is much more likely to be the case with a man half through with it, like me. Well, it so happens, you are almost wholly wrong. With ninety-nine men out of every hundred the searchlight, if powerful enough, would probably find an ugly spot somewhere capable of a very sinister interpretation. But I don't believe even your pretty ingenuity could do much harm with the facts you would find in my life. Certainly not of recent years. But like most men—here the intensity of his vigilant watch of her face seemed to increase—'I don't want such an inquiry, either for my sake or that of others. It would do no good to anyone—though it could do no harm to me.'

'Well?' said Dessie, again, as he paused.

'You could do no good for yourself by it, Miss Merriam. You would not win in the end. You would not find sufficient to part Dora and me. I love her. She loves me. We conjugate every tense of every mood of the verb to love. More, she trusts me as I trust her. There is not an incident in all my life about which a word of explanation from me would not suffice to satisfy her. My heart tells me that. Therefore, you are bound to lose—lose her friendship, her patronage, her help, her money, everything. You must see that. You could not be the friend of a man and wife whom you had tried malignantly to part.'

'I see that,' said Dessie, when he paused again.

'Then let us three be good, firm friends, as Dora herself would wish. It will be better worth your while to do that, don't you think? I will see that it is so, indeed.'

'Worth my while? How do you mean?'

'I am frankness itself, and we are alone together. I do not wish to have these doubts poured into the ears of the woman I love and am to marry. For the sake of others, I would rather have no such inquiry. If, therefore, you agree to see this as I do, then, whatever you wish in reason, shall be done—after we are married.'

A craftily-worded bribe, but the girl intended to make him speak more plainly. She knitted her brows as if in thought, and then, after a pause, acting diffidence, she said slowly and hesitatingly:

'How am I to know that what would really do it? I do not wish to make mischief unintentionally.'

'You can name any sum that you would like to give to a charity up to five thousand pounds; and you shall have it.'

There was no mistake now; and Dessie's honest heart beat with anger and her cheeks flushed with shame as she bent her head down to hide her face from him.

In the pause that followed, while the girl was fighting for sufficient composure to find some sort of reply, the door was opened quickly and Mrs. Markham came bursting in upon them.

'I thought I'd give you a surprise,' she cried, laughing. 'You have been quite long enough together, too, I think, to get to know one another better. And I shall be jealous of you, Dessie, if you monopolize Godefrid longer. I hope you are getting on well?' And she looked a little doubtfully into Dessie's flushed face, which bore unmistakable evidence of the girl's agitation.

'Miss Merriam and I have had a most interesting chat,' said the Count, taking Dora's hands and kissing them both. And we are getting to understand one another most completely. I am beginning to admire Miss Merriam's cleverness almost as much as you, my Dora; and I believe we shall be the closest of friends. But you are looking radiant, Dora; and I was afraid you were suffering and ill. Even illness cannot dim your eyes or pale your cheeks, or hide your beauty.'

As Dessie watched her friend's face, she saw the cheeks colour with pleasure at this most fulsome compliment. She longed to speak out and tell all she knew, but feared to force a crisis at that instant and without further reflection as to her best line of action.

When she was silent, she caught the man's dark eyes fixed upon her with an expression of triumph.

Indigestion & Dyspepsia

In all its Forms can be Cured.

It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: 'Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything I have no heart to exert myself and at times I care for nothing. I often have a pain in the pit of my stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion. I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of getting going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable burden. Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like this when it is so easy to get cured by taking a Bottle of Dr. Stafford's Prescription. A sure cure for persons afflicted with stomach troubles. It can be obtained of—

Experiment on Living Fish.

There appears to be no limit to scientific curiosity, especially in Germany. Not long ago a scientist of Leipzig, wishing to ascertain whether fish are warmer than the water they live in, stuck a needle, connected with a thermoelectric circuit, into a living fish in an aquarium. The needle formed one element of the circuit, while the other element was immersed in the same water that contained the fish. The latter was not seriously injured by the needle, and quickly became indifferent to it.

Then, as the fish swam about, carrying the needle, the ingenious savant closed the circuit and kept watch of the galvanometer. It showed no deflection whatever; from which he concluded that the fish and the water were precisely equal in temperature, for had either been warmer than the other, a current would have been generated in the circuit.

Stabbed to Death.

PARIS, Sunday, April 2. An excited man-hunt took place today in the Latin Quarter. Screams were heard coming from a room in an apartment house, and neighbors who broke in, found a young girl stabbed to the heart. A barber named Bachelier, who had killed the girl in a fit of jealousy, took to his heels down the stairs into the street.

He was followed by a yelling crowd and took refuge in a church, where he barricaded himself. The crowd tore down all the barricades, but the murderer escaped from the church. He had not gone far when he was seized by two policemen.

Plucking a knife from his girdle, Bachelier struck down both his captors, one of the policemen receiving a wound in the hand. Before the murderer could make off again, the crowd was upon him and belaboured him with great violence. Had the police not interfered the man would have been lynched.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

I want to tell you something about a library which a friend of mine possesses.

It is not a large library—is contained in fact, in three medium sized bookcases.

It is not a rich library. It has no rare editions or bibliomaniac's treasures.

And yet I consider it a rather unusual library.

In this way—no, I'll let my friend tell you about it himself.

"No, Miss Cameron, this isn't a very large library, but I'll tell you why I'm sort of proud of it. Every book behind those glass doors, except the encyclopedias and the book of quotations and the dictionary, has been read from cover to cover. Yes, Miss Cameron, I read every book thoroughly before I put it there.

"That's my rule. I don't buy my books by the yard and get my pleasure looking at the titles through the glass doors, the way some rich folks and some others that I know do.

"You see, except for the Shakespeares and the encyclopedias and the Emerson—I have to have all of him because he's my best book friend—I haven't a single set of books. I don't believe in sets. There's some people take a heap of satisfaction in saying, 'I've got a set of Kipling, and a set of Thackeray and a set of George Elliot, and a set of Stevenson.'

"Well, me—I've got what I like best of all of them, but I haven't got a set of a single one. You see, I haven't time to read everything that those to-morrowers wrote, and so it seems to me that it's better to read the best of all of them than all of some and none of the rest. They can't any of them be at their best all the time, and why shouldn't I take the cream of each?

"And the same way with buying. I can't afford all the books of all the authors that I like. I can't afford all of Thackeray and all of Jane Austen, so it seems to me it's better instead of getting a set of Thackeray vice versa, to get 'Vanity Fair' and 'Pendennis' and 'The Virginians' of Thackeray's and 'Sense and Sensibility' and 'Pride and Prejudice' and 'Mansfield Park,' of Jane Austen's, because those are my favourites.

"I might want to look up something in one of the other books, you say? Of course, I might, but if I do, I go to the public library. I haven't the means to build up a reference library, so I don't try to.

"How can I afford to have the books I want? But I can afford to have all I need. Ever since I've had my salary at all I've put aside three dollars a month for books, and can just about keep up with myself on that. Do you know what I mean? I can manage in that month. See those three books on the table—there's Dickens' 'Nicholas Nickleby'—I haven't read anything of Dickens for a long time—and a volume of Stevenson's letters and a new book about a method for increasing the efficiency of the workman. During the rush season of our business I got a little bit behind my self, and those books are waiting for me to read them before they go onto my shelves.

"Yes, Miss Cameron, it isn't a very big library, but I certainly do have a sort of proud and friendly feeling for it which I think some of those folks that have the big ones don't."

A Poor Weak Woman

As she is termed, will endure bravely and patiently agonies which a strong man would give way under. The fact is women are more patient than they ought to be under such troubles.

Every woman ought to know that she may obtain the most experienced medical advice free of charge, and in absolute confidence and privacy by writing to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician of the Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., for many years and has had a wider practical experience in the treatment of women's diseases than any other physician in this country. His medicines are world-famous for their astonishing cures.

The most perfect remedy ever devised for weak and delicate women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG.

SICK WOMEN WELL.

The many and varied symptoms of woman's peculiar ailments are fully set forth in Plain English in the People's Medical Adviser (1908 pages), a newly revised and up-to-date Edition of which, cloth-bound, will be mailed free on receipt of 50 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only. Address as above.

Fads and Fashions.

The sack of the moment frequently has its long ends, or even its single one only gathered into a plique or pliable beaded or embroidered motif as a finish.

Sailor collars with or without jabots are being shown by all the leading blouse shops. Materials are varied, and trimming is applied in many ways.

Extremely large collars of heavy laces are being worn on many suits and dresses. Some are called the "Charlotte Corday" collars, and all are charming.

Lace gowns, lace coats, lace tunics, lace overwaists, lace scarfs and mantles—lace abundant is going to make a prominent part of the summer's wardrobe.

Bordure silks are extremely fashionable. Borders are of every width and design and suggest endless possibilities of applying them to bodice and skirt.

One of the new cotton voile waists embroidered in color and lace and trimmed with lace in the yoke has the entire lower part and sleeves laid in quarter-inch tucks.

Parasols of white silk edged with a narrow band of white ostrich feathers, with stick and handle of Parisian ivory, are charming, and will, without doubt, find great favor.

One of the new white serge gowns has emerald green marquisette chemisette and cuffs, green sash and closes in cross-over effect to below the knees with buttons.

In all the coiffures there is the same tendency to cover the ears. Sometimes just a deep wave in the hair fills this mission; again, a little curl or puff is employed.

The cobweb or shadow veillings are still very popular. But let the veiling with a blotch in the form of a butterfly or spider be consigned to the very back part of the shelf.

Cerise silk stockings will be worn with white serge suits and gowns when white slippers are added; they will also be worn with black patent leather pumps when cerise is added to the hat, or to the suit as a blouse.

Some collars are of linen, worked up in eyelet, drawnwork and solid embroidery. Colored thread is used, sometimes on the scalloped borders and in working the eyelets, the latter giving a new and attractive effect.

There is a great fancy for the moment to employ sash ends, one or two, and of any desired length. Very handsome ones are of velvet and satin with handsome silk fringe on the edge. These sash ends are worn directly in front or back or again at the side.

Children Had Eczema

Treatment prescribed had no effect—DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT made thorough cure.

Mrs. Oscar Vancott, St. Antonio, Sack., writes:—"I have found Dr. Chase's Ointment to be a permanent cure for Eczema and other skin diseases. One son, while nursing, broke out with running watery sores all over his head and around the ears. Many salves were prescribed to no effect. The child's head became a mass of scabs and he suffered agony untold. He became weak and thin and would not eat and we thought we would lose him.

"Providentially we heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment and it soon thoroughly cured him. He is seven years old now and strong and well. An older boy was also cured of eczema by this Ointment, and we hope more people will learn about it so that their little ones may be saved from suffering."

As a cure for eczema and itching skin diseases there is no treatment to be compared to Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment, 50 cents a box, at all dealers of Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Dr. Chase's Recipes sent free.

Three Sealers From the North.

Two With Small Trips—Typhoid Fever on the Neptune.

S. S. AURORA.
The S. S. Aurora, Capt. D. Greene, which arrived here at 1.30 p.m. Saturday had 9,200 young seals, which included 2,100 young harps, 4,100 young hoods and 3,000 old harps, equal to the weight of 20,000. The Aurora after leaving Westville with the rest of the fleet on March 13th met very heavy ice which greatly retarded her progress, and when she reached the patch which the steel steamers took their seals from it was pretty well cleaned out and she only secured about 2,000. Going off to the eastward the ship struck the hoods with the Bonaventure, there was plenty of old seals about and enough was killed to load the vessel but 57 pangs were lost or in-between 4,000 and 5,000. The ship then went after bedlamers and harps but could not do much the ice being open and the young seals had taken to the water. The past week the weather had been very stormy. The crew are well.

S. S. NEPTUNE.

The S. S. Neptune, Capt. Alpheus Barbour, arrived here at 5 p.m. Saturday with about 7,800 old and young seals. This ship also was delayed by heavy ice, had to do much butting and when she reached the harps secured only 5,000. The ship then searched for hoods, secured about 3,000 old and young and went after more. She saw many but the ice was loose, the seals were "wild" and very little could be taken. The ship bore up for home on Friday and had a good run up. The spring was very stormy and often the crew could not go on the ice. The ship went down as far as Round Hill Island on the Labrador Coast. After being sick for about 21 days one of the men, named Abel Crewe, of Ellison, died on Spy Wednesday, the 12th inst. Mr. Kennedy, the druggist, of St. John's, who was doctor on board, did all possible for him but without avail. The body was confined and was covered with salt as a preservative and will be sent home by the first steamer. Six others of the crew also became ill shortly after Crewe died, and not till the ship called at St. Anthony, on Thursday evening, and was visited by a doctor who rowed on board, was it found to be typhoid of a virulent type. One of the men has completely recovered and the others were landed at the King's Wharf yesterday forenoon and placed in the ambulance being then driven to hospital. Mr. Fred Kennedy, druggist, after the ship arrived landed, and he also is pretty ill; and was taken to his brother's residence where a doctor attended him. The men were allowed to come ashore yesterday afternoon and the ship will be disinfected to-day and allowed to discharge her cargo.

S. S. ALGERINE.

The S. S. Algerine, Capt. A. Bishop, arrived here at 9.30 a.m. yesterday. She has about 4,000 old and young, or the weight of 9,000. She was with the Eagle to the 27th March, could not force through the ice which was very heavy and close packed, and when they reached the rest of the ships all the harps had been cut up. She then went out to the Eastward after the hoods and secured 4,000. The ice was heavy in her subsequent search for seals but very few were taken. She went into Seldom, Friday last, for water, and also called at Westville where Dr. Jamieson visited her and found all the crew well. She was also visited on arrival here by Dr. Campbell and given a clean Bill of Health. The spring was very stormy and the ice heavy. When the Eagle was seen two weeks ago she reported for 5,000 young harps; the Ranger had 13,000; the Diana, 10,000 and the Erik, 14,000.

Mr. Kent's Speech.

We draw the attention of our readers to our copy of the official report of the speech of Mr. J. M. Kent, M. H. A., member for St. John's East, on the agricultural policy of the Government. It will be found a thoughtful and careful review of the deplorable abandonment of the Agricultural policy of Sir Robert Bond. This policy was based on the experience of Canada, Great Britain, Denmark and other countries, which are now leading in Agricultural policy. It has proved a success elsewhere, and everything pointed to similar success in Newfoundland. This policy has as its object the thorough scientific investigation of soil, climate and other natural conditions, the discovery by experience of the most suitable seeds and stocks, the dissemination of that knowledge and the providing of such seeds and stocks. Contrast this course of experimental farms, agricultural schools, scientific investigators, trained agricultural teachers, with the throwing away of money on such a commission as was appointed by the Government of men who can in no sense be regarded as scientific authorities. Canada has its Saunders, Robertsons and Zavitz, and Newfoundland its Seymours, Downes and Devereaux. What can Newfoundland expect under the circumstances?

Leaving the Country.

We are informed on good authority that one of our prominent business men intends leaving the country, and has given his handsome residence in the hands of a broker to dispose of. We can ill afford to lose such people as the one spoken of. He is one of our most charitable citizens as well as a large shareholder in nearly, if not all of our local industries. It is deplorable enough to see so many young men leaving the country, but it is still more regrettable to hear of capital and labour givers forsaking it.

The Durango Here.

The s.s. Durango, Capt. Chambers, arrived here at 11 a.m. to-day. She left Liverpool Thursday week at 4 p.m., and from the start had head winds from the S.W. and a very heavy sea, though she met no storms. To avoid ice she ran as far south as 43, and made Cape Race at 4 a.m. to-day. She brought 440 tons cargo and 18 bags and 4 baskets of mail matter. One passenger arrived by her—Mr. Rowe, a new chief engineer for the Bonaventure.

Football Up North.

We are pleased to hear that Dr. Jamieson of Wesleyville, is taking a great interest in the young people of that place as well as the older folk, he has taught them the noble game of football, during the winter and they have had quite a pleasant time. Just before the sealers sailed, a match was played between the Wesleyville and Brookfield teams, resulting in a victory of three to one in favor of the former. Captain William Tiller is goal keeper and Captain Edward Bishop fullback for the Wesleyville sports.

Personal.

Mr. A. J. Oake, special advertising manager for Cape Breton and Newfoundland for the E. W. Gillett Co. Ltd., Toronto, arrived by the Glencoe. Mr. Oake will remain all summer in Newfoundland.

T. T. Cartwright, general representative of E. W. Gillett Co. Ltd., Toronto, who has been in the city for several weeks in the interest of his company leaves by Tuesday's express for the West Coast.

Master Setton Willett, who has been studying for the past year at Bishop Fells College, returned to his home at Grand Falls by last evening's express.

ANOTHER BEAR SEEN.—Saturday we learn two residents of Petty Harbour saw another polar bear about 200 yards further down the shore than where the last one was shot. This animal was about the same size and if the men had a gun they could have killed it. They intend organizing a hunt to destroy it.

Councillor Martin Responsible.

In reference to an item contained in our paper last Tuesday about the Council meeting we wish to make a correction to remove a wrong impression that seems to be abroad, viz., that Secretary Slattery had turned down Councillor Channing when he called there to let him know that a meeting would be held that night. When Councillor Channing said "We will have a meeting to-night," Mr. Slattery did not say "I don't think so," but he said, "I'd rather you'd put it off till to-morrow, as I have an important engagement to-night." Councillor Channing is not the kind of a man to let any official of the Council turn him down. He felt sure when speaking to Mr. Slattery that the meeting would be held, as he had a requisition signed by the majority of the Councillors in his pocket. He had sent the requisition to Councillor Martin to attend the meeting and felt sure that he would not ignore the request of the majority of the Council. But Councillor Martin did this, and on him rests the responsibility of the meeting not being held. Substantially the report we published was given our reporter by Councillor Mulally, except a few humorous touches, and the verbiage may be a little different in one or two places, including the reply "I don't think so," alleged to have been used by Secretary Slattery.

The Portia Arrives.

The S. S. Portia, Capt. T. Fitzpatrick, arrived here from the westward at 6 p.m. yesterday. Leaving here on the 14th, she encountered a N.E. storm and she left Placentia on the 15th at 6 p.m., and St. Lawrence at the same hour on the 16th. She made a very good run after to Port aux Basques arriving at 6 a.m. on the 19th. She left there at 8 a.m. and had a good run to Cape La Hune but after leaving there had a N.E. snow storm and harboured at Francois until daylight Thursday. The storm lasted all that day and she did not reach St. Jacques until dark. A very high sea ran and she did not reach Grand Bank until 5 a.m. Friday. After leaving there she met N.E. gales and high seas until she arrived here. She brought a small freight and these passengers:

Capt. Dyatt, Messrs. W. F. Kelly, A. Hollett, M. Gibbons, M. St. Croix, Rev. Fr. Walsh, Jas. Edstrom, M. Rendell, O'Leary, M. P. Cashin, Carey, Messdames Costello, Chafe, Carey, Misses Wiseman, Badcock, Cashin, Muldowney, Kearney, Farrell; Masters Edstrom, Freebairn, Cashin (2) and 24 steerage.

Child Badly Scalded.

By to-day's train we learn that yesterday a terrible accident occurred at Carbonear. A little boy named Grandy, aged 7 years, was in the kitchen of his home while a boiler filled with scalding water was on the stove. In running about the floor he accidentally knocked it down, the scalding contents going over him, parboiling his stomach and legs, while his face and hands were also badly scalded. He suffered terrible agony and Dr. Stentford was called to attend him. It is feared he will not live as some of the vital organs are affected.

Sermon by Mons. Roche

Rt. Rev. Monsignor Roche preached a very beautiful and eloquent sermon at the R. C. Cathedral at Vespers last night taking his text from the third chapter of St. Paul to the Colossians, first and second verses: "If ye be risen with Christ seek those things which are above where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affection on the things above and not on things of the earth." There was a large congregation. Rev. Dr. Greene afterwards imparted Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

More Diphtheria.

To-day another case of diphtheria developed at the residence of No. 6, Cabot Street, this time a young woman aged 19, being stricken with it. She was sent to hospital. The other two children from the same house are doing well. A girl, a patient at the General Hospital aged 14, was removed to-day to the Fever Hospital for observation for diphtheria.

Bellaventure's Turnout

The Bellaventure finished discharging her cargo of fat Saturday evening. She turned out 23,802 seals, which weighed gross 411 tons, net, 382 tons, 6 cwt., 10 lbs. Net value $32,683.55. Her crew of 269 men shared $40.35 and were paid off Saturday evening.

The schr. Damaraland, Dean, master, arrived at Bahia on Saturday last, 28 days on the passage; all well.

MINARD'S LINIMENT FOR SALE EVERYWHERE.

Hand Bitten by Dog.

Mr. Geo. LeMessurier, chief accountant of the General Post Office, will likely not allow strange dogs to come into his office any more. He has a dog of his own which would lie quiet under his desk in the office till the Torbay Road would be repaired if strange dogs would keep away. Last Saturday Dr. Macpherson, who has a belligerent dog, called there on business, his dog following him up to the chief accountant's office. As soon as the canines eyed each other war was declared. Mr. LeMessurier succeeded to part them in the first round, and for his interference one of the dogs bit him in the hand and tore the flesh terribly with his teeth. The wound was so serious that he had to go home and call in a doctor, fearing that blood poison would set in. He will not be able to take the bandage off for several days. "Cave canem" will be the motto in the G. P. O. for the next few weeks.

Neptune's Patients.

The names of the Neptune's typhoid patients are:—Lawrence Hearn, Cove Road; Robert Tuik, Nathan Goodchild, of Newtown; Z. Drew, Elliston; Nathan Andrews, Cape Freels; and F. Kennedy, St. John's. The first named are all in hospital, and the latter who has a mild form of the disease is being treated at his home. The Neptune's crew are to-day discharging the ship's seals, and the ship has been disinfecting.

Banker Drowned.

By the Portia we learn that a man belonging to the schooner Gordon Hollett was drowned in Connaigre Bay, Thursday night last. Those on the ship cannot remember his name. He with a companion were on board another schooner and remained after dark; when returning to their own vessel they overturned their dory. One clung to the boat until rescued but the other was drowned.

New Rector Inducted.

In the presence of a large congregation at St. Thomas's Church last evening Rev. Canon Temple, Episcopal Commissary, inducted Rev. G. A. Golden, M.A., as Rector of St. Thomas's. Rev. J. Hewitt read the prayers and Rev. Canon White the lessons. An anthem having been sung, the new Rector proceeded to the chancel steps, accompanied by the Churchwardens, Hon. Mr. G. Winter and Mr. R. P. Goodridge, and was thereupon presented to the congregation by Rev. Canon Temple. Rev. G. H. Bolt, M.A., Registrar of the Diocese, read the Bishop's license to the new Rector, who repeated the declaration of assenting to the doctrines of the church and the resolution to discharge faithfully the duties that will devolve upon him.

The Rector was then presented with the keys of the church, signifying that he would henceforth be the custodian thereof and shepherd of the flock committed to his care. A short service of prayer followed after which the Commissary formally gave, on behalf of the Bishop, authority to Rev. Mr. Golden to preach the Word and administer the Sacraments, to be instant in season and out of season, to reprove, rebuke and exhort with long-suffering. The Rector then took his seat inside the Communion rail. A hymn was sung, thereupon Canon Temple preached a sermon of rare merit from Joshua 1: 2—"Moses my servant is dead, now therefore arise, go over the Jordan, thou and all thy people unto a land that I will give to them." He drew an apt comparison between the sentiments in this text and the removal of the late Canon Dunfield, especially in relation to the words in which the Lord called Joshua to fill the place of Moses—"As I was with Moses so I will be with thee; only be thou strong and very brave." The rev. preacher concluded by paying a touching tribute to the memory of the late Rector as well as saying a word of praise and encouragement to his successor, who as Joshua was now chosen by the people to lead them on to the Promised Land. We again congratulate the Rev. Mr. Golden on his elevation to the Rectorship and in common with his thousands of friends throughout the country wish him a long and useful life.

COFFEE CONGESTION

Causes a variety of ills. A happy old lady in Wisconsin says: "During the time I was a coffee drinker I was subject to sick headaches, sometimes lasting 2 or 3 days, totally unfitting me for anything. To this affliction was added, some years ago, a trouble with my heart that was very painful, accompanied by a smothering sensation and faintness. Dyspepsia also came to make life harder to bear. I took all sorts of patent medicines but none of them helped me for any length of time. The doctors frequently told me that coffee was not good for me, but without coffee I felt as if I had no breakfast. I finally decided about two years ago to abandon the use of coffee entirely, and as I had read a great deal about Postum I concluded to try that for a breakfast beverage. "I liked the taste of it and was particularly pleased to notice that it did not 'come up' as coffee used to. The bad spells with my heart grew less and less frequent, and finally ceased altogether, and I have not had an attack of sick headache for more than a year. My digestion is good, too, and I am thankful that I am once more a healthy woman. I know my wonderful restoration to health came from quitting coffee, and using Postum." Name given by the Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason," and it is this. Coffee has a direct action on the liver with some people, and causes partial congestion of that organ preventing the natural outlet of the secretions. Then may follow biliousness, sallow skin, headaches, constipation and finally a change of the blood corpuscles and nervous prostration. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason." Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

During investigation at the International offices of the Union, there were discovered in the basement of the building 64 sticks of dynamite, 200 feet of fuse, 500 dynamite caps, a dozen small alarm clocks, and a leather case made to carry a ten pound can of nitro-glycerine. Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

It's always pleasant to hear a girl, when she comes home from a social whirl. She tells a tale of the gowns she saw, of the hats of silk and the hats of straw; and Mrs. Jinks was a dream in white, and Mrs. WOMAN'S was a perfect fright. Would people listen if I should tell you of the rage men wore at a party swell? Old Col. Wiggs, as you know was there, and he made a batch when he dyed his hair. And old Bill Boggs was another guest; he had spilled some egg on his coat, and his trousers bled in a frightful way and he wore a hat that was too much gay. And Ezra Spink was among the crowd, with a cheap cravat that was far too loud, and his pantaloons were a total loss, and his whiskers looked like some Irish moss. Old Aaron Dingbe, the elderly flirt, was there wrapped up in a cheap blue shirt, with a plate glass eye on his manly breast and three buttons missing from his vest. The host, who stood in cheap cowhide boots, regaled his guests with some bum cheroots, and searched our coats and our trousers, through a baseborn fear that we swiped his spoons.

Able Sermon by Rev. J. K. Curtis

AT GOWER ST. CHURCH YESTERDAY MORNING.

The announcement of the text was in itself an assurance that what was to follow would be worthy such sublime words. We do not feel worthy to write such words. They are sacred in the extreme, and are such as make one feel like paying homage in silent adoration. They are as follows: "Jesus Christ, the same yesterday and today, and forever"—Heb. 13th. Chapter, 8th. verse. In opening the discourse the preacher was very clear in his enunciation, and every sentence was to the point, and led up to the great fundamental truth of the text. The epistle from which the text was taken had been written to God's ancient people, the Jews, commonly called Hebrews; and in it the author had dealt with their particular mode of worship as it was conducted by the priests in the temple. The greatness of the law, and the faith of all the Old Testament heroes were clearly depicted (Chap. 11). These all had their day and then passed away. But He of whom the text spoke was greater than them all. He had changed, but He abideth forever. He was the same yesterday, the same today, and the same for evermore. Among all the great men mentioned in the epistle, not one of them was the equal of the person of whom the text spoke. None before Him, none since, have held such a place in the heart of a burdened humanity. In every age since the days of the Son of Man, all people that have been best and worthy in the Church, have passed on His name and have rallied around His name to the children of succeeding generations. The Apostles stood by it at Pentecost, and the different nationalities who heard Peter preach his memorable sermon were unanimous in their ascription of Glory to God. From Judea the name of Jesus spread along the shores of the Mediterranean Sea, until in course of time it was wafted across the Atlantic by holy men and women, and was carried across the American Continent, and today it is becoming the power on both sides of the Pacific. Some had doubted the divinity of Jesus; but even those acknowledged the high ideal and perfection of His life and character. He met the wants of the children of men in the days of His flesh, and He healed all who came to Him. He is the same today. There is room for all who will come to Him and meet His conditions. Proof of this is to be seen by the great awakenings, or revivals, that have taken place at different times and in different countries, and under different conditions. Times and conditions change, yet the heart of man was much the same, the longing of the soul was the same, but in the character of Jesus there has ever been that divine power which led man higher than themselves. In life and in death He was the same, and when all that the world called great failed, whether in philosophy or science, His name was still the same. It was "The Name that is above every name," "Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, today, and forever." The entire discourse was one of simple faith and confidence in the great fundamental teachings of the Gospel. There was not any of the so-called New Theology in it, nor was it tainted by its twin sister, Higher Criticism. It was a sermon that appealed to the conscience, and showed that the preacher was in the same experience as the Apostle Paul when he wrote to Timothy and said, "I know whom I have believed.—I. C. M.

An Explanation.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—As there is much comment going the rounds of the city (especially in the various club rooms) about that regrettable incident which happened at the T. A. & B. Society's billiard dinner on Tuesday night last, over the singing of some "doggerel" lines which appeared in the Daily News of recent date, by which a respectable business man of Water St. was ridiculed by the present at the function as a guest; and as many who are talking are blaming the Society for such a "break of etiquette," permit me, on behalf of the T. A. & B. Society, to publicly protest against these rumours and to state that two gentlemen are solely responsible for the incident. And now that the public are in possession of the facts I trust it will refrain from blaming the Society as a body for the tactics of two of its members. Thanking you, I am, Yours truly, P. J. R. April 22nd, 1911.

Patrick Kiely Killed.

The many old timers who remember Mr. Pat. Kiely who left this city 25 years ago, and has since resided in Boston, will be sorry to hear of his death, which occurred recently in that city, as the result of being hit by a street car. Mr. Kiely who was a cousin of Sgt. J. Mackay, of the police force, was an old time resident of Holytown and a man of jovial and kindly disposition. He was a shoemaker by trade, having served his apprenticeship with the late Rev. Graham, on King's Road. To the friends of the deceased the Telegram extends its sympathy.

Mr. Kent's Speech

In the Assembly Criticising the Government's Agricultural Policy.

The interior, and also near the sea coast, you will never be successful in making the agricultural industry of this Colony anything but a mere accessory to the fishery. And that was the object of the Act which the present Government have nullified in the manner which I have pointed out. The fisherman of Newfoundland is a man of great adaptability, and if he devoted himself and his energies exclusively to farming, he would make as good a farmer as he is now a fisherman. But you cannot take from the sea and put him on the land unless you give him proper instruction and teach him how to farm in a modern and up to date manner.

If, Mr. Chairman, you have a class of farmers in this country, farmers who devote the whole time to farming you will have also an effect upon the fishermen who have their little farms as accessory to their fishing work. It is the same with the man in St. John's who is engaged in the fishery, but often has his little farm from which he relies on to provide supplies for himself and his family. But the men who are to supply the markets of the country must be farmers first, last and all the time. As to the present system of instruction, we have a wide distribution of stock and no attempt at instruction at all beyond the distribution of some pamphlets which it would require a professor of agriculture himself to expound. The act of 1908 provided for an experimental station. It provided also for the instruction of agricultural students, practical farmers; in other words, at that farm or station people would be trained from every district in the island, and their work would act in their neighborhood as a centre for the dissemination of stock and practical lessons from the farms which they would operate in the various districts. Besides, under that Act you would get the agricultural knowledge in the schools throughout the Colony. It would encourage the promotion of small farms for the purpose of exposition to the people of the principles of farming. Under the present system you have nothing like that. Under the present system practically all the country seeds and stock of all kinds, which, as I pointed out before, will have no other effect than to back agriculture in the condition in which it has been always in this country. There is no advantage, no progress in this kind of system, it can be called a system. We had the other day a bill before the House to regulate the sale of seeds. That Act is in my opinion a pointed instance of where the interior class of meagre results unless a station such as that called for in the Act of 1908 is established. There are important and certain conditions and requirements that Act but who is going to test or judge of their condition. We all know that if seeds are imported from a large portion of the world, and not the product which the purchaser of the seed intended. It was found that the rules governing the matter were absolutely useless. Unless they had a person who knew exactly how to test the seeds imported. The experience has been that farmers of years of experience cannot tell the unproductive seed in the seed which from that which it was the intention should when cultivated produce a valuable product. It was only through the proper and scientific testing as contemplated in the Act of 1908 that this difficulty was overcome in Canada, and to-day very little of the seed utilized by the farmers of Canada is not productive and good seed. But this Act here is entirely in keeping with the policy of the Government. It is simply a gross, unproductive and unproductive policy; a policy which, while pretending that something has been done, every person who has any knowledge of the subject is provided with an effective or efficient results will accrue from. Again, Mr. Chairman, the literature which has been distributed by the Government is not literature which is based upon any knowledge of the conditions of this country. The conditions of this country are different from the conditions of any other country. It is not because we are close to Nova Scotia or Prince Edward Island that the literature that applies to either of these places should apply to Newfoundland. Take the case of England and Ireland. Surely no person will contend that the literature relating to the agriculture of England would apply to the agriculture of Ireland. The soil of England is entirely different from the soil of Ireland, and for the same reason the soil of Newfoundland is different from that of Canada. The farther away you are from the mainland the more the conditions which exist on the mainland are altered. The soil is different; the climate is different and the whole circumstances of farming are different, and for that reason the literature which has been distributed throughout this Colony, if it is ever read, and I don't believe it is, is not only useless, but positively harmful. The Act of 1908 contemplated literature which would deal with our own conditions, and which would be a real instruction to those engaged in agriculture. You take a pioneer farmer, a man of experience from any agricultural country. If he came to Newfoundland he would not be satisfied with the knowledge he had gained from reading the literature of his own country. He would go to the place where he intended to farm, and he would acquire a knowledge of the conditions of the soil, the climate and other conditions, and he would govern himself accordingly. If we are ever going to have in this country a man who will seriously face the questions that will be necessary to produce these results and spread throughout the country in the fertile lands in the interior and other countries that are distinctively farmers. The present policy is never going to do that. It will never get past the state where it is now, and the longer it is in that state the more evident it will be to the people that if any progress is to be made in this respect, a change has to be made. We will have to go again where we began in 1908 and lay down the foundation of agricultural industries. Just as Canada, in 1906, courageously faced the problem, that it was necessary to get right down to the root of the subject and take hold from the beginning, we must do the same in this country. The agricultural policy of Canada, which has become one of the greatest agricultural countries in the world, and which are built up on the principle of scientific agriculture through the medium of experimental farms. We will have to go back to the beginning and we will have to remain where we are at present, absolutely devoid of any agricultural development beyond what we had 50 or 60 years ago. I quoted figures in this House last year which showed that the total amount of money of our agricultural products was the same in 1850 and 1860 as it is to-day. At that time I quoted from a pamphlet which I quoted from to-day, as it was compiled by the Hon. Patrick Morris. In 50 years hence, if the Government continue the present policy the people of this country will be able to refer back to the report of

Mr. Seymour, to show that the products of agriculture were the same in 1850 as in 1860. But I hope the policy will not be continued, and that the Government will still be open to the conviction that they are not taking the right course to establish in this country an agricultural industry on the lines which the Hon. Mr. Morris desires to see. If the Hon. members read the reports of these scientific gentlemen who visited this country during the last year or two, they will see there pointedly brought before them the fact that proper instructions and proper training under the conditions and in connection with the country and climate, and particularly of farming are necessary before any good results can be acquired. I would commend to the serious study of the Minister of Agriculture the reports of Dr. Robertson and Dr. MacPhail and others. The Minister of Agriculture in his report quotes from Dr. Robertson's report. I have not seen that report itself, though I have seen an address which Dr. Robertson delivered.

HON. MINISTER AGRICULTURE & MINES.—If you will permit me to explain, I might say that Dr. Robertson has not made different reports. In Dr. MacPhail's case, a letter was written to the Premier, and I think you have that there. Dr. Robertson gave a public lecture in the Minister's office, and I think that was copied verbatim. This is his report.

MR. KENT.—I was misled by the word report.

HON. MINISTER AGRICULTURE & MINES.—I have given the leader of the Opposition a full report.

MR. KENT.—I referred to this as the report, because it is called a report in the Minister's report. I was going to refer to the fact that if the Minister had examined these reports, he would have found that Dr. Robertson and Dr. MacPhail, Dr. Standish and Mr. Moore, and every other person who has made a report, has kept all the time before his department the necessity of a proper scientific handling and management of seeds. The distribution of seeds and stock, if not carried out in proper conditions, is harmful. Dr. Robertson in his report, after referring to the potatoes, says: "The first part of the process is the preparation of a seed. Thorough sanitation and adequate manure, or other fertilizer, will allow the young and tender plants to obtain their food and make a good start early. That is a great principle of agriculture. It is most important that a farmer should use good and reliable seeds; if he gets poor and inferior seeds, and if he plants them, he is not giving the future plants half a chance to thrive. Frequent cultivation during the growing season is beneficial. It not only breaks down weeds, but it makes conditions in the soil which stimulate the growth of the tubers." Now, any person reading these few sentences must be impressed by the fact that there is something else besides merely giving a man the seed and telling him to put it in the ground. Dr. MacPhail points out the factors which bring about results. He says they are, 1st, "Proper addition to the soil in the shape of fertilizer, to make it more pliable and easy; 2nd, The use of proper seed; 3rd, Instead of planting the whole potatoes, to divide the large one into three pieces; 4th, To set the potatoes three feet apart, instead of 18 inches. To gather the potatoes before the stalks become black at the roots." All these are points in a science with which the man who is engaged in agriculture, and which he hopes the Department of Agriculture will appreciate and put into practice. Then, if you are going to have any progress in this country, you must have in mind that the care of a farm doesn't merely consist in planting your potatoes and waiting for your harvest after it has become ripe, and in the meantime going away to engage in some other operation. A farm, to become productive, requires constant attention throughout the season, every day of the year, and without this, the object all desire to obtain can never be accomplished. I think it is a matter of regret that the Government has made this departure. I think that if they had followed out the policy which has proven so successful in every case in which it has been tried, that in a short time we would have in this country a large agricultural industry. Last year we voted $20,000, and the Government expended nearly $50,000. We are now being asked to vote $40,000. One of the facts which have been pointed to which are a testimony to the success that the Government has attended their efforts in the matter of agricultural development, was the exhibition, which was held here in St. John's last year. That was a very fine exhibition, but the products that were there exhibited were not the result of any exhibition taken by the present Government. We might have had a similar exhibition in Newfoundland ten years ago. I admit, and I think every person will admit, that the exhibition was very good illustration of what the country is capable of producing, and in view of the excellence of the products there exhibited, it is a pity that these products are not properly handled. The exhibition in itself placed it beyond doubt that we are capable of developing our agriculture to such an extent that the country will be able to produce all that we shall require, but that the success of the agricultural shows at the recent exhibition was in any sense due to the Government, or its agricultural policy, no person with any sense will believe. There were exhibits from all parts of the island, even the most remote districts, that showed that this power of production, if properly used, extends throughout the length and breadth of the Colony. Most of these products were produced not by the ordinary fisherman-farmer, but by those in the districts like St. John's and St. George's, where the farming industry is more developed than it is in other parts of the island, and by those who can afford, through having leisure and means to devote themselves to it. Now, Sir, as I said before, I think that the keynote of the Government's policy is indicated in the section which repeats as far as it goes the statute that is properly known as the "Placeman's Act," and I am convinced that the intention of the Government is not the improvement of agriculture, for it was the first thing that I would do if to appoint an agricultural board composed of men of science in Agriculture, or at least men who have spent their lives in farming. I am quite confident, Sir, that, unless the Gov-

John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalist Party, and Ellis J. Redmond also promised Irish assistance to whatever measure of self-government the Welsh and Scotch people desired for themselves.

John Passmore Edwards, formerly proprietor of the Echo, a publicist, philanthropist, and advocate of national peace, is dead at the age of over 88. He was a journalist of world-wide repute, and a co-worker with Cobden and Bright. Over 70 public institutions were founded by him, and he received the freedom of several cities. As far back as 1848 he was delegate to the Peace Congress at Brussels, in 1849 at Paris, and the next year at Frankfurt. Twice he declined the honor of knighthood.

The first instalment of the work of improvement to the Port of London, under the Act by which the Government took over all the docks and vested them in the control of the Port of London Authorities, is about to be taken in hand. The whole undertaking will occupy years, and is destined to place London on an equality with Liverpool, Southampton and other ports in respect to modern equipment. Commencement has been made on the construction of the South Albert Dock, the expense of which will be about $12,000,000. The dock is designed to accommodate the largest ships afloat. The scheme includes straightening of the River Thames.

A Terrible Accident.

By the Portia we get some particulars of the death of the man Levi Thorne, who was killed Friday last by a fall from the mast head of the schr. Portia. The man, who was mate on the ship, was up on the mainmast head and was reaching to grasp a block near him when he lost his balance and fell to the deck, a distance of 40 feet. He struck on his back and the crew who were about hasted to his aid. Despite the terrible fall the man was not rendered unconscious and did not seem to suffer much pain, but when being moved he suffered terribly, and suffered awful agony until death released him in a couple of hours. Both his legs and his back was broken and he was hurt internally. The body was taken by the Portia to Placentia to be taken home to Green's Harbor, T.B.

C. L. B. Parade.

The C. L. B. held their first Church parade for the season yesterday forenoon. Three companies turned out under command of Lt.-Col. Rendell and Major Warren, and the parade presented a very smart appearance as they marched through the streets. The Brigade was headed by its band under the command of Deputy Bandmaster Morgan and played some fine music. The Brigade attended Divine Service at St. Michael's Church where the Chaplain, Rev. J. Brinton, took the service and preached a very powerful sermon. The corps was viewed on the march and much admired by hundreds of citizens.

Frozen Halibut.

The s.s. Portia brought to St. John's from the west ward this trip about 7,000 lbs. halibut. It will likely be the last large shipment from the coast to St. John's for the season. The fishery has been a record one. The demand for it in St. John's was greater than ever before owing to a system of selling it from house to house inaugurated by some of the enterprising men of the West Coast, who made a good winter's wages selling the fish at 12 cents a pound.

Died of Hemorrhages.

Yesterday morning a sad death occurred in a residence on George Street when a child 3 years old, named Augustus Johnson, was seized suddenly after he had partaken of breakfast with hemorrhage of the lungs and bled to death before a doctor was called. The little lad had been ill, but not seriously, for a while during the winter but recovered and seemed to be enjoying good health for some time past. His mother noticed that he had become pallid before his death but thought nothing of it. The poor child lost much blood in a few minutes and his death came quickly.

Boy Broke Leg.

At 2.45 p.m. Saturday a boy named Chesley Hibbs, aged 8, of 28 Spencer Street, was playing about with other boys near the Central School, Queen's Road, when in running he fell and broke his leg just below the knee. People passing picked him up and brought him to the residence of Rev. G. H. Holt where everything possible was done for him. Const. Long, orderly at Government House, and Mr. Roberts were near when the accident occurred, and at Rev. Mr. Holt's house rendered "first aid," putting the leg in splints after which the ambulance was called and the injured lad was removed to Hospital.

The Pierrot Entertainment

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—A somewhat captious critic in your columns on Saturday takes exception to the evident enjoyment of the large audience who listened to the Pierrots on Thursday last. He stigmatizes the entertainment as "utter rot," and proceeds to draw the unwarrantable conclusion that because the audience manifested approval on this occasion they were unable to appreciate anything better. This is not logical, to say the least of it. Because a man likes a good novel one does not challenge his ability to understand Shakespeare. And one may listen to (say) "The Chocolate Soldier" without impairing one's taste for Oratorio. I question if any member of the "aristocratic" (sic) audience on Thursday evening was under any delusion as to the merits of the musical bill of fare offered him by the Pierrots, and I can perhaps enlighten your correspondent as to the reasons why this little concert gave so much pleasure. In the first place the Pierrots knew their limitations. They did not weary their audience with ineffectual attempts at rendering music of a severely classical type, but contented themselves with musical comedy. They were quite unpretentious and thoroughly natural, and their acting had all the charm of spontaneity. Also, they were for the most part personally well known to the audience, a fact which created a friendly interest in their efforts. And I think I speak for many of my brother and sister "aristocrats" when I say that the most attractive feature of this entertainment was the evident satisfaction of the Pierrots themselves. Such a pleasant, happy group of performers we do not often see, and their good humour was quite infectious and evoked a kindly sympathy in return from the audience. We were not listening to professionals, nor to amateurs attempting something that was beyond them, but to a crowd of jolly young people bent on amusing, and themselves amused.

Yours truly, "ARISTOCRAT." St. John's, April 24th, 1911.
