SWEEPING REDUCTIONS

Still Not Likely to go so Far as Free Traders Would Have—'Tariff For Revenue But no Industry Wiped Out'

(Special to Times and Montreal Star)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—For four weeks the house ways and means committee has had the Payne tariff under consideration. For four weeks the representatives of every important industry in the union have appeared to give evidence in person or to file a brief. Tonight, the public deliberations will be brought to a close and the committee, sitting in executive session, will next week begin the work of actually revising the tariff, paragraph by paragraph.

The rates which the democratic majority of the committee will recommend to congress are conjectured to be along broad lines the democratic intentions can be forecasted fairly accurately. During the hearing the evidence neither Democrats nor Republicans made much endeavor to conceal their views. From the outset the democratic majority made it clear that they were out for sweeping reductions and extension of the free list, but that these reductions will not go so far as the democratic platform would lead the optimistic free trader to believe. The conservative element in the democratic party, of which Mr. Underwood, chairman of the ways and means committee, is one of the chief spokesmen, is sufficiently strong to prevent any excessive fondness for the free list. It is believed that support of the imposition of a duty.

ROBBERY IN SUSSEX

Mills Eveleigh Co's Store Broken Into—Revolvers, Watches and Boots Stolen

(Special to Times)

Sussex, N. B., Feb. 1.—The Mills Eveleigh Company's store here was broken into last night. The robbers smashed the glass in the front door. They had evidently tried the cellar windows and found several iron bars but found this more than sufficient for them. They were more than two dozen, some carrying revolvers, some carrying watches and some carrying boots in sizes six and eight.

INDIAN RAILWAY BROTHERHOOD STRIKE IS BROUGHT TO END

St. John, Feb. 1.—The strike of the Canada Brotherhood of Railway Employees has been called off by the union. Instructions have been sent to the strikers to return to work. They have been notified, owing to union officials here, that they will be given an increase of pay ranging a ten to thirty per cent.

Monday all the men who went out on strike are still out of jobs and are expected to be back in their old positions, by the strikers resumed work today.

C. P. R. CHANGES

Several changes in the eastern division of the C. P. R. became effective today. B. May, formerly assistant superintendent of District No. 3 has been transferred to the position of superintendent of District No. 1 with offices at Barnham. J. K. Kelly has been appointed superintendent of District No. 3, having been promoted from his position as superintendent of Montreal terminals and Smith Falls division.

QUARTER MILLION IN WEDDING PRESENTS

In spite of the 'simplicity' of the Finlay Sheppard-Helen Gould nuptials last week, the array of gold and silver left by admiring friends was valued at $250,000 and required a force of special police to look after it. That shown in the picture is only part of the magnificent lot of gifts.

CHAMPIONSHIPS THIS AFTERNOON

Montreal to See The Speed Skating Events

SECOND HOCKEY PERIOD

McGraw Takes Thorpe on a Chance and it is Said Will Pay Him More Than $5,000—Late Sport

(Canadian Press) Montreal, Feb. 1.—There will be a strong international flavor to the Canadian outdoor speed skating championships this afternoon at the M. A. A. rink. The skaters who recently competed at Saranac Lake arrived here yesterday. Bobby McLean, who won the mile and two mile races in the majority of the events. E. Horton, a Saranac Lake boy, who established a new world's record in the 200 yard hurdle race, will start in the same event here.

The Canadian representatives are now at their best, as was shown by Wheeler and Lagan at Saranac Lake and at Cleveland. Wheeler has shown great improvement and is looked on to win several of today's events. The entry list is not only one of the largest ever assembled in Montreal, but includes the best of the speed skaters now racing in amateur ranks.

Montreal, Feb. 1.—Play in the second half of the schedule of the National Hockey Association will be commenced tonight. The three scheduled matches will mark the beginning of seven man hockey unless the decision at the commencement of the season is rescinded, about the seven man style not prove as popular as the six. For the first half of the season, the teams have finished well bonded with the Canadiens and Quebec clubs are tied for second place, with the Ottawa club in the lower positions in the standing. Ottawa has not done as well as expected, but the Canadiens have shown the strongest performance.

The Canadiens have scored more goals than any of the other clubs in the Ottawa club. The leading individual scorers are: T. Smith, 20; Hyland, 18; Malone, 16; Broadbent, 15.

Thorpe to the Giants

New York, Feb. 1.—With the signature of a contract to join the New York National League baseball club, James Thorpe will come into baseball under unprecedented circumstances. Detested as the world's amateur athletic champion, Thorpe is taken by Manager McGraw of the New York Giants at a salary reported to be more than $5,000 a year. Thorpe's record behind him in ability as a ball player.

McGraw never saw Thorpe play ball. As a matter of fact, it is doubtful that any of the managers of the other four major league clubs who bid for his services had ever seen him play, but all apparently trusted that he would make a valuable acquisition to major league baseball. Although Thorpe's records in the Eastern Carolina league are not noteworthy, McGraw, who pays little attention to averages, thinks the Indian has the making of a great ball player.

Thorpe played in the south as a pitcher, outfielder and first baseman. In the box he won a few more games than he lost and in fielding he had a percentage of more than 90. He was not a scientific batter, swinging at the ball freely and not being satisfied unless he hit it out of the lot. His average, however, was more than 250. He was regarded as a wonderful thrower and a speedy base runner.

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 1.—Victoria defeated New Westminster on Friday night in the Pacific coast hockey league, score 7 to 3. Lester Patrick played a great game for Victoria, scoring four goals.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 1.—Picked by motor cycle, Clarence Carman of Jamaica, I. I. last night, rode a bicycle two miles in two minutes and fifty-nine seconds, a world's record on a twelve lap track.

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 1.—Lester Patrick officially announced that Victoria would go after the Stanley cup if the team won the coast championship.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—President Ben Johnson of the American League last night checked to William Dineen, umpire, a appeal for $200 as winner of a prize offered by the league for the arbitrator who could show the least time average for games during the season.

Dineen umpired 150 games, the average time of the contests being 1:55. Frank O'Loughlin, who officiated in 142 games, was second with 1:57. The remaining six umpires had exactly the same average, 1:58.

Lone Train Robber Holds Up Express Man

STOCK YARDS SPECIAL

Daring Piece of Work in Chicago Last Night—Bandit Has Revolver Battle With Conductor But Gets Away

(Canadian Press) Chicago, Feb. 1.—Within almost a stone's throw of the loop district, last night, a lone train robber held up the stock yards special, an express on the Pennsylvania Railway, robbed the express car of $1,000 and $8,000 in cash, and after a revolver battle with the train conductor, escaped.

At 8:20 o'clock, as the train was passing Polk street at about five miles an hour, the front door of the express car was opened. The express messenger, John F. Effer, was busy at his desk, consulting his report.

The robber, who was wearing a dark suit, stepped into the open car and at the highwayman's demand, dragged out a sack containing the last receipts of the express office.

The highwayman opened the door and leaped to the rear platform. As he did so, he collided with Conductor L. C. Smith. The robber wrestled with him, and finally driving him to one side, leaped from the moving train to the ground, and was soon lost sight of.

Arrangements for two important events were discussed at a largely attended meeting of the executive of the Women's Canadian Club, held this morning at the home of the president, Mrs. E. A. Smith, Carlton street.

The president drew attention to the fact that it was nearly a year since they had given a benefit for the veteran poet, H. L. Spencer, and suggested that another might be in order. The members of the executive were unanimously in favor of the plan and February 27 was fixed as the date. Mrs. E. A. Smith will give her lecture, an evening with the poet Longfellow, which is particularly appropriate, as the date is the anniversary of Longfellow's birthday and Mr. Spencer is also an American by birth. The programme will include also songs and musical selections by the best local talent.

SEAPORT MISSION NOTES

About thirty seamen were present last evening in the Seaport Mission when several of the young ladies contributed to an enjoyable entertainment. Comfort bags were presented to the men and they were greatly appreciated. They were passed around by Miss Hamilton, Mrs. J. K. Livingston, Miss Agnes Hamilton, Miss Leona Ward and Miss Annie Johnston. The mission desires to return thanks to the Union Bakery and Brown's bakery for donations as well as to all who have assisted in helping the mission. Tomorrow evening a song service will be held with gospel readings. Z. Wilson acting as leader.

LEFT UNTIL MONDAY

Tenders for hay and oats for department of public works were opened this morning at City Hall, but no action was taken, and they were laid over until Monday.

IS NOW A MURDER CASE

Montreal, Feb. 1.—Michael Thivierge, suffering from ghastly wounds in his head, died early this morning in the Royal Victoria Hospital, after two days' unconsciousness, without revealing any clue by which the police might unravel the mystery surrounding his death.

James Clark is held with a charge of aggravated assault against him. Thivierge was found in a pool of blood on his home on Thursday morning with his head, split open. He lived alone.

EARL BEAUCHAMP FOR RIDEAU HALL?

E. N. RHODES TO A CABINET PLACE?

Will Be Solicitor-General, Says Report

IS CHOICE OF PREMIER

Mr. Boyce of Algoma, Ontario, However, Wants Position Which Has Been Vacant Since the Conservatives Gained Power

(Canadian Press)

Montreal, Feb. 1.—The maritime provinces may be awarded a cabinet plum soon by the appointment of Edgar N. Rhodes, member for Cumberland, N. S., to the position of solicitor general, according to an Ottawa despatch to the Herald today.

Mr. Rhodes, says the despatch, is Premier Borden's present choice for the position, which has been vacant since the present government came into power, and it is believed that the appointment will be made at an early date.

There is considerable objection to the appointment from various aspirants, among them being Cyril Boyce, of Algoma, who has had ambitions for the position for many months. Whether these objections will have the effect of upsetting the prime minister's present choice of Mr. Rhodes remains, of course, to be seen.

Ontario already has the lion's share of government offices, so that it is believed that the member from the premier's own province will, in all likelihood, be appointed.

Mr. Rhodes was elected to the House of Commons in 1908 and re-elected in 1911. He is a member of the board of directors of Acadia University, and a director of the Canada Rolling Stock Company, of the Montreal and St. John's, and of the Atlantic Auto Company, Ltd.

FRITZ SCHEFF IS GRANTED DIVORCE

Husband John Fox, Jr., Writer of Stories

New York, Feb. 1.—Papers granting an interlocutory decree of divorce to Fritz Scheff from her husband, John Fox, Jr., were filed in the office of the county clerk at White Plains today. The decree was granted by Justice Keogh.

The Allan degree of secrecy that has characterized all the proceedings leading up to the divorce prevailed with the filing of the papers. The papers were not made public. There has been talk of home difficulties between the writer and the singer, whom Federwsky called "the little devil of grand opera."

WINTERPORT NOTES

The Donaldson line Athens left Glasgow this morning for this port. She is bringing out 120 cabin and 140 steerage passengers.

The Allan liner Hesperian sailed this morning at 6 o'clock for Liverpool with seven cabin, thirty-five second cabin and steerage passengers, and a large general cargo.

The steamer Hafnia is due here tomorrow to load for Bermuda.

The S. S. Bengo Head will sail tomorrow for Dublin.

King's Printer Dying

Quebec, Feb. 1.—L. V. Pilon, King's printer of this province is reported at the point of death. He is a native of Levis. For several years he was a printer on Mr. Pilon's paper, L'Electeur, and subsequently moved to Montreal where he was connected with La Patrie for some time. About three years ago he was appointed King's printer with residence in this city.

Williams Hanged

London, Jan. 30.—John Williams, who murdered a police inspector at Eastbourne, and whose case attracted attention because he appealed to the home secretary for permission to marry his sweetheart, Florence Seymour, in order to legitimize a child who was born on December 30, was hanged yesterday.

BURIED TODAY

The funeral of Margaret May Brittain, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Brittain, took place this afternoon from her parents' home in Harrison street. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. J. McCaskill and interment was in Fernhill.

NEW YORK GANGSTERS SHOOT LABOR MAN

Hired For $50 Each, Shot Wrong One—An Arrest Made

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 1.—Thomas Conroy, prominent in the building trades council, was shot and mortally wounded last night by gangsters, who are believed to have mistaken him for another man. The shooting, at first regarded as a saloon row, is believed to have connection with a labor dispute.

The police made one arrest, that of a young New Yorker, Ernest Willhaber, who told them that a gangster known as "Kid Dynamite" had done the shooting. As-

Suffragettes Continue Their Campaign of Property Destruction—Letters Burned or Ruined With Acid; Golf Greens Torn Up

(Canadian Press)

New York, Feb. 1.—A London cable to the Herald says: Earl Beauchamp, one of the few Liberal peers, will succeed the Duke of Connaught as governor-general of Canada.

William Lygon, seventh Earl Beauchamp was born on February 28, 1872, and succeeded his father in 1907. He married, in 1902, Lady Lettice Grosvenor, daughter of the late Earl Grosvenor and sister of the second Duke of Westminster. He has two sons and four daughters. He was a member of the House of Commons from 1905 to 1906. He was lord steward of the household of King Edward.

The Suffragettes have hit upon a new idea in destruction which is likely to make all gulf their bitter enemies. The women have declared warfare on golf courses and yesterday in the neighborhood of Birmingham, they visited four links and damaged many putting greens beyond repair. Some of these were torn up, while others the suffragettes wrote with acid, the words "Voto for Women."

In London yesterday there was another outbreak of window smashing and two windows of the Labor Exchange, in Catherine street, Strand, were broken by a woman last night. The woman escaped but left a new hammer behind.

At Birmingham six pillar boxes were reproduced. A parcel containing a bottle of inflammable fluid was found addressed to the Hon. John Burns, at Cheltenham. The parcel was put into a pillar box with the result that the letters were found fastened by means of chemicals, many letters being destroyed.

Corrosive acid was used to destroy postal packets in some pillar boxes in Liverpool. Owing to the threats of the Suffragettes to wreck and ruin public property, the Royal Palace of Kensington, Hampton Court and Holywood have been closed to the public until further notice.

The palace are favorite resorts of the people, and their wrath, it is thought, will be visited on the Suffragettes whenever an opportunity offers. Public museums and similar institutions here, it is reported, to be closed.

This afternoon a Suffragette entered the tower of London and smashed a glass case in the jewel house.

Steamer Disabled

Manila, Feb. 1.—The U. S. cruiser Cincinnati of the Asiatic fleet, was ordered today to search for the British steamer Kinghorn, reported lying helpless off the Island of Luzon with 290 passengers on board.

A Diet For All

SCATTERED here and there over this country are countless women who would be overjoyed to know some simple, harmless way of gaining beauty of complexion and figure. To them I say—drink milk. The milk diet is a miracle worker, as it clothes the thin woman's painfully evident bones with flesh, paints pale lips a vivid scarlet, renders white the skin that is sallow and dull and lends a bewitching sparkle to tired eyes.

When beginning on this diet I would suggest that you start with one quart of milk and gradually increase the quantity until you find yourself taking three quarts of the liquid. "Three quarts!" in imagination I hear many voices exclaim. Yes, three quarts! Do not say you cannot take this amount of milk, because I know you can. Why, in various milk sanitariums here and abroad the doctors think nothing of having patients drink six or seven quarts a day!

When you see your bust developing as Nature originally intended it should, your skin growing a pretty pink and white and your figure filling out, you will think nothing of drinking three quarts of milk. I know, should I speak.

SAVE THE BABY

Baby's Own Tablets are the one safe medicine to make baby well and keep him well. They are guaranteed by a government analyst to be free from all injurious drugs and are absolutely safe to give even to the newborn babe. Concerning them Mrs. Oscar Beland, Mansan, Que., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets and have to thank them that my little one is living today. I know of nothing to equal them as a child's medicine. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

A copy of the Ulster County Gazette, issued on Jan. 14, 1890, is in the possession of E. P. Delameter of Augusta, Me. The paper was published in Kingston, N. Y. This is one of the few existing copies containing a detailed description of the funeral of George Washington, which occurred about a week before this issue. Mr. Delameter's great-great-grandfather was the original owner of the copy.

Daily Hints For the Cook

FISH CAKES.

Pare 3 potatoes and boil with 1 1/2 cups salt codfish, 1 1/2 hour or till potatoes are done, then pour off water and mash potatoes and chop fish, then add 1 egg, well beaten, 1 tablespoon of butter, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 gill of milk, form into small thin cakes and fry in salt pork fat till a lovely brown on both sides.

WHITE CAKE.

One cup sugar, 1/2 cup butter creamed together, 1/2 cup milk in which dissolve 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar and chop fish, then add 2 eggs. Flavor with any favorite extract. The yolk can be used for a gold cake or with confectioner's sugar and a little lemon extract for the frosting.

POTATO PUFF.

Two cups mashed potato, stir into it 2 tablespoons melted butter and beat to white cream, then add 2 eggs beaten very light, a teaspoon of milk (cream if you have it) and salt to taste.
Bake in a deep dish in a hot oven until nicely browned.

Take 4 eggs, add the yolks first, then fold in the whites as for omelet and it will be a delicious soufflé.

WHAT ANNE PITENHOUSE SAYS

(Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate).

Footwear is fascinating these days. It has been laid out of the commonplace with all the rest of woman's apparel and has taken on some of the eccentric effects, as well as the attractive ones, that dominate the clothes of the day.

Only two seasons ago the majority of women looked with contempt upon the fanciful shoes that the bootmen offered to a public that was learning to be his own master. Every one insisted that such fashions could not proceed and that the manufacturers of boots would lose their money. Well, the public was wrong and the bootmen were right.

Fancy shoes gained in fashion and the ordinary black kind is now considered very demure indeed. Conservative women wear plain leather and, on conventional shapes for the morning hours in the street, but even they have been won over to go and tan tops for the afternoon.

It is difficult to tell whether it is Paris or America that set the fashion for high heels on walking boots and suede, diagonal cloth and colored leather for the top instead of black. It makes little difference to the designer of the shoe, as long as the public has taken them up. They do not seem especially well fitted for the feet, but they probably go out when demure frocks come in.

THE COLORED TOPS.

At first only the gray top was worn with leather boots. It was followed by the white one of silk or cloth, and then came checks and stripes and cloth to match the gowns and even fur. The old-fashioned dictum that a woman must have a small foot if she draws attention to it is a dictum that is utterly forgotten in these days, and so the woman who wears a number seven has no hesitancy in adopting any kind of shoe that she wishes. It is the day of large feet and also the day of lack of concealment, and few women take the trouble to make a pretence about the size of their feet, their hands or their waists. The standards of beauty have changed and all the world does not bow down to small feet, as it once did.

That is why the colored top could be popular. In another day it could not, for it would have made the smallest foot look large. Possibly the white kid top, with its perforated pattern, rather vamp, is the most difficult to wear of all the fanciful shoes and therefore the woman who wears a small foot takes pride in showing it off by wearing such a boot. The mouse gray tops and the champagne colored, the golden brown and the light biscuit are the kinds most seen. They harmonize with every color and therefore are more economical than the more brilliant ones which the shoe display.

It is not as much the fashion as it once was to have the tops of boots made of the same cloth as the gown, simply because this is not a day of matching colors, but contrasting and harmonizing them. The woman who wears a purple gown once wore purple tops to her shoes; now she wears mouse gray.

Black and white plaid cloth is gaining in popularity and it looks well with the light kid clothes that the late spring will bring in. All white canvas shoes are better, but there are some women who cannot be persuaded to wear them, although they are the coolest kind for hot weather.

The fact that they were worn so much on the street last summer did much to dampen the enthusiasm for them. They looked very smart with dark blue serge suits in the beginning, but the whole world grew quite weary of them before the season was half over. This year they will return to fashion, but will they return to popularity?

AGAIN THE HIGH HEEL.

Twice as many women wear the high curved heel as when it first came out. The Spanish heel was a substantial help to walking, and it should have remained as the only high kind tolerated on the street; but somehow that curved heel made sharp inroads upon the straight one and women who looked as though they might be counted on for common sense appeared in them on the street with severe painful sores. Unhealthy and artistic and somewhat conspicuous. Yet the number has increased instead of decreased, and the spring will bring out hundreds of different kinds of shoes with this heel.

It will appear on pumps, on Oxfords, on buttoned boots and on Colonial ties. It is rather a shame, isn't it? It is all very well for women to be conspicuous, but why be unhealthy? No curved heel over two inches high can give a woman the proper balance in walking, and by its continuous use she is laying up trouble for later years. The low heel is not sensible either. Those who know how long ago proved this, it is not to strain the muscles in the back of the leg, no matter how much people talk about the fact that they were intended to walk with our feet flat on the ground. Possibly we were. We were also intended by the rules of the Garden of Eden to go about unclothed without danger of pneumonia; but protective civilization changed these conditions a few centuries ago, and in one present structure we are not intended to walk without the aid of shoes or go about without the aid of garments.

The Spanish heel will have its part in

The flesh gains on this limited milk diet will average one and a half pounds a week. Be careful, when drinking the milk, to sip it slowly and swallow it well before swallowing. If you disregard this warning, you may—I don't say you will—have a bilious attack, which is something you can dispense with. Am I not right? Take heed!

The milk diet is not for any one afflicted with organic heart trouble, as the increased quantity of blood makes too much work for an already weak heart.

Children's Colds From Wet Feet and Chilled Bodies.

A puddle of water or patch of ice is an irresistible temptation for every boy, and most girls. The result is usually wet feet, chilled bodies, coughs and colds.

The children must be safeguarded, for, if they do survive the frequent coughs and colds, it is often with the lungs so weakened that they become chronic sufferers from bronchitis or consumption.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will almost invariably cure a cold, and that quickly, if taken at that critical time when it is settling on the chest.

It kills the germs, for there is no greater germicide than turpentine. It soothes the irritation which causes coughing, clears the air passages, and positively cures the cold.

Being composed of simple ingredients of undoubted value, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is admirably suited as a treatment for children.

It is pleasant to the taste. So much so that children delight to take it on this account, as well as because of the quick relief it affords them.

Many mothers prize this medicine most because they have found it a cure for croup and whooping cough, ailments which seldom yield to other treatments.

Every bottle of the genuine bears the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author. 25c a bottle; family size, 50c. All dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

STYLES IN HOSIERY

Painted Stockings or Floral Design is Paris Problem

Paris, Jan. 31—A perplexing question Parisiennes are now trying to decide is whether in the matter of hosiery they shall adopt the American painted variety or the floral decorations from Vienna.

A well-known fashion writer says that pending a definite selection, Parisiennes are wearing their hose encrusted with valuable lace, a fine net-work of gold or silver embroidery, and uncut stones or diamonds.

The ordinary openwork hose is quite out of date. A young bride recently wore her hose exquisitely adorned with two motifs of Point d'Argentan lace mesh, and although the fashion was criticised as being on a par with the American rage for ankle watches and diamond-studded heels, the bride's friends frankly admitted they were green with envy.

I. C. R. MEN APPLY FOR BOARDS OF CONCILIATION

Two Matters in Dispute - Labor Leaders Cash in on Moncton

Moncton, N. B., Feb. 1 - The Eastern Labor News today says - "Owing to neglect of officers of the International Railway in opening the schedule, application for which was made six months ago, the men are now applying to the department of labor for a board of conciliation to investigate the dispute. The men are demanding a shorter work day at the same rate of wages. They have named James Simpson of Toronto as their representative with the case."

A second board has also been applied for in the case of Thomas Ryan of River du Loup, who was reduced from the office of master mechanic to that of locomotive foreman. The men demand his reinstatement on the ground that of locomotive foreman has been given to an unsatisfactory representative of five of the large international organizations in preference to practical disputes on the J. C. R. Louis Beaudry, vice-president of the I. C. R. M. W. G. Fowlesland, second vice-president of the I. B. Blacksmiths and president of the I. B. International vocation of the I. B. Blacksmiths and I. S. Builders; A. Chartrand, of the I. B. Carriers of America; J. W. Bruce, general organizer of the U. A. Plumbers and Steam-fitters will be here and it is expected that President J. C. Watters of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, and James Simpson, a labor leader of Toronto, will be in the city. Arrangements are being made for a public meeting.

SOME CHANGES MADE IN THE LANCASTER RATES SCHEDULE

The proposed increase of fifty per cent. in the water rates in Lancaster was again a subject for discussion at the noon meeting of the city commissioners. Commissioner Wigmore reported on the conference held yesterday with members of the Lancaster Water Board and the representatives of the Lancaster Board of Trade. He submitted to the other commissioners proposals regarding the new schedule which, while not for the recovery of the stolen funds of the bank, the ex-governor had had the confession of Kelher under investigation for confirmatory evidence.

In his confession Kelher confirms much of the testimony against him during his trial in the Federal Court as an accessory to the looting of the National City Bank. He admits that practically all of the money Coleman took from the bank was lost at brace games of faro in New York, and that Martin Walsh, who died about a year ago, was one of the principal conspirators.

Wedding at Presque Isle Presque Isle, Me., Feb. 1 - The pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Fowler, Park avenue, Guilfordville, was filled with friends on Wednesday to witness the marriage of Miss Etta May Fowler and John Walter Harmon of Woodstock, N. B. The parlor was effectively decorated with green and white, the flowers used being carnations. The bride couple, who were attended, entered to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Pearl White, and took their stand beneath an arch of evergreen, where the ceremony was performed by Rev. G. Edward Allan, pastor of the Methodist church, the singing service being used. The bride was very attractive in blue silk with overlay; she wore a veil and carried a bouquet of white pinks. Mr. and Mrs. Harmon left on the noon Canadian Pacific train for Woodstock, where they will make their future home. Mr. Harmon has been here for the last two years, his work as express messenger on the Canadian Pacific from Aroostook Jet, making this the end of his run. He has also been an efficient night operator at the telephone central, his genial manner and unflinching courtesy winning him many friends. His run has now been changed to Woodstock and St. Stephen, his headquarters being in the former place. The presents were numerous and valuable, including china, silver, cut glass, linen and money.

CONFESSION BY "BIG BILL" KELHER

Boston, Feb. 1 - William J. Kelher, "Big Bill," who is serving a sentence at the State Prison, has made a confession of his part in the fleeing of George W. Coleman of the $350,000, which the young man took from the funds of the National City Bank of Cambridge.

According to the Boston Post, which publishes what purports to be a copy of the statement which Kelher is reported to have made to Ex-Governor John L. Bates, the receiver of the bank, "Big Bill" has given Mr. Bates a circumstantial account of how Coleman was lured to New York and induced to risk thousands of dollars at a sitting in a fake faro game.

Ex-Governor Bates said that two weeks ago he received a statement from Kelher, furnishing him with information which he proposed to use in actions against several men for the recovery of the stolen funds of the bank. The ex-governor has had the confession of Kelher under investigation for confirmatory evidence.

In his confession Kelher confirms much of the testimony against him during his trial in the Federal Court as an accessory to the looting of the National City Bank. He admits that practically all of the money Coleman took from the bank was lost at brace games of faro in New York, and that Martin Walsh, who died about a year ago, was one of the principal conspirators.

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., FEBRUARY 1, 1913. The St. John Evening Times is printed at 29 Canterbury Street every evening excepted by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

IT IS AN INVESTMENT Among those who have been asked to become members of the board of trade were a few who seemed to think that they were being asked to make a contribution to an organization. In spite of all the literature that was sent out, there are still some who do not appear to have understood the purpose of this campaign.

Bank clearings at St. John show a steady increase. This is a healthy sign. It looks like a board of trade membership of eight hundred or more. Several important matters were dealt with by the Ontario synod of the Church of England this week. The synod will ask Hon. W. J. Hanna to take steps to secure a thorough inspection of all liquor sold, whether in public houses or licensed stores.

KEEP IT ALIVE The question of good roads should not be lost sight of, but should be kept very much to the front during the next few weeks. The Legislature will soon be in session and the movement for a new and progressive highway policy should be backed by universal sentiment, clearly expressed by representatives from all parts of the province. It will probably be found that the government is sympathetic, and if there is a full enough expression of public sentiment to convince the members of the legislature that they will be in line with public sentiment by adopting a bold and progressive policy, there will be less difficulty in securing their support.

CASTRO RELEASED ON HABEAS CORPUS Former Venezuelan Ruler, Out on $500 Bail Pending Hearing, Makes for a Luxurious Hotel. New York, Jan. 31.—The right to go and come a free man through the streets of New York was tonight the possession of General Cipriano Castro, but instead of exercising the privilege he went to bed. Released under $500 bail pending an argument on writ of habeas corpus from his month of confinement at Ellis Island, Castro made for an uptown hotel, engaged a luxurious suite of rooms and shut himself up. He sent out word that he was "having some lemonade" and intended to retire immediately. The general, whose announced purpose in coming to this country was to "see the sights" secretly looked out of the window of the taxi which drove him to his hotel. The only object of interest that he took notice of was the Washington arch. "My name is Washington," he said to the driver. "Castro in Spanish is his cab window under the arch." General Castro's week of freedom was granted him by Judge Holt after he had been agreed to postpone argument on the writ for one week.

BEATTIE NESBITT DIES AS INDICTMENTS IN CASE ARE QUASHED Toronto, Feb. 1.—Dr. William Beattie Nesbitt died yesterday afternoon, aged 46 years. He had been ill with heart disease for six months. An hour before Doctor Nesbitt died Judge Middleton quashed the five indictments on which he was to have been tried. The Lordship decided that the charges of making fraudulent returns to the government as president of the Farmer's Bank, upon which Doctor Nesbitt was extradited, were not cited in the criminal code. A LOVELY BABY BOY

This Mother is quite Enthusiastic over a well-bred baby.

Mrs. J. W. Pateman, 34 Harriet St., Toronto, in writing about Neave's Food says: "When I first knew one of my friends, her baby Jack was eight months old and dying by inches. She had tried three foods because her Jack could not digest milk. At last, I fetched her a tin of Neave's Food. At the end of a month, Jack was rapidly gaining flesh and was bright and happy. He is a lovely boy now and she declares Neave's Food saved his life. And it did. I then recommended it to a friend on Victoria Avenue. She had a baby 6 months old that was not getting a bit. She put the baby on Neave's Food and at the end of three months, the baby was twice as fat as he was before. I have never seen two bigger, stronger boys than mine for their ages and see over it all to Neave's Food. I have the utmost faith in Neave's Food." Mothers and prospective mothers may obtain a free tin of Neave's Food and a valuable book "Hints About Baby" by writing Edwin Wiley, 14 Front Street East, Toronto, who is the Canadian agent. (Mention this paper.) For sale at all druggists.

LIGHTER VEIN IN BUNGHERS

"It is an old saying," said the man with discouraging tendencies, "that riches have wings." "Oh, that's all right," replied Mr. Dast in Stax. "That's what enables me to keep them coming my way in flocks."—Washington Star.

IT OUGHT

"He's a man of few words," "That ought to make him popular."

STATING THE CASE

"Do I look like a fool?" "Well, I wouldn't say that. But I will say that you look like a man that he looks when the wind has blown his hat off and a crowd has gathered to watch him chase it down the street."

PARTLY RIGHT

"Say, Bill, you're a pedagogue?" "Same as hydrophobia, I guess." "Hydrophobia, nothing! You're way off." "Well, it's sometin' dops have, anyway."—Boston Transcript.

TWO SOULS IN HARMONY

"Daughter, you haven't known him long enough." "Father, I have known him intimately for a week."

WHAT A REAL TONIC WILL DO

Strikes at the Root of Disease and Gives New Health. If you look in your dictionary you will find the word "tonic" defined as a medicine that increases the strength and vigor of the system. That tells why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a real tonic. Thousands of men and women are ailing today, not sick in bed, but without strength and ambition, utterly tired out after a day's work. No one organ seems to be at fault, yet the whole system is lacking in health. They do not sleep well and are always tired and nervous, many have headaches, backaches and stomach trouble. All these people need the tonic help of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The beneficial influence of this medicine reaches the whole system. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do more than relieve the symptoms, they actually remove the cause of the trouble. The case of Mrs. J. H. Sharpe, London, Ont., is one in proof of the above statements. Mrs. Sharpe says: "I was so run down and weak that life was a burden. The least exertion would exhaust me so greatly that I could hardly breathe. If going up stairs, I would have to rest several minutes when I reached the top. My heart would palpitate until I felt as if it would choke me. I was extremely nervous, in fact a complete wreck, and would sometimes have to remain in bed for a couple of days or more at a time. I found no help from medicine until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and my experience with them was that they made a complete cure. I gained in weight and my friends tell me I look younger than I did ten years ago. Judge Middleton quashed the five indictments on which he was to have been tried. The Lordship decided that the charges of making fraudulent returns to the government as president of the Farmer's Bank, upon which Doctor Nesbitt was extradited, were not cited in the criminal code. BORDEN ACQUIRES BY SILENCE IN HOUSE

McLean Announces Policy of Navy Contributions as Permanent One—Some Sharp Attacks by Liberals

Ottawa, Jan. 31—After being in dry dock for two weeks the Borden naval policy was floated today into the house of commons for examination.

Manuel Devlin, the first speaker, roared the loyalty that would send empty ships to the empire's battle line.

Dr. Bellair, Liberal, declared that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in the face of the greatest opposition, had converted the province of Quebec to the support of naval aid.

"It is a permanent policy—the beginning of a permanent policy, a vote of money and a declaration of faith," thus spoke W. F. MacLean, the Conservative member for South York.

"So we are to continue contributions permanently," inquired Mr. Macdonald, of Pictou.

"Speak for yourself," responded the South York member.

"I say that the whole thing is converted into a permanent policy. We're in it now for good."

"Very interesting," commented Mr. McCraney of Saskatchewan. "And very frank," supplemented Dr. Michael Clark, of Red Deer.

The far-reaching resolution of Sir Wilfrid Laurier converts the whole thing into a permanent policy," continued Mr. MacLean, while Premier Borden continued to sit silent.

"Why not ask your government for one?" suggested Mr. Pardee.

Mr. Turgeon, of Gloucester (N. B.) declared that the Laurier naval policy was the best for the empire, the best for Canada and very much the best for the province of New Brunswick, especially the North Shore and the city of St. John.

HARD ON THE HUSBAND

She was a Suffragette, and her friend likewise belonged to the same peaceful order of English citizens. So, of course, their views were in agreement. There was one little point, however, "I am informed," said one severely, "that you actually permit your husband to carry a latchkey, think he's independent."

English, says Dr. Morrison, is becoming the second language of China. Men are paid to learn other languages, but they pay themselves to learn English.

SHE SUFFERED TEN MONTHS

Mrs. Blankenship Tells of Her Restoration to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elliston, Va.—"I feel it my duty to express my thanks for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was a sufferer from female troubles and had been confined in bed over one third of my time for ten months. I could not do my housework and had fainting spells so that my husband could not leave me alone for five minutes at a time. "Now I have been restored to health and it has come from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Whenever I see a suffering woman I want to tell her what this medicine has done for me and I will always speak a good word for it."—Mrs. ROBERT BLANKENSHIP, Elliston, Va., Montgomery Co.

Was Helpless—Now Well.

Trenton, Mo.—"About two years ago I had female troubles and inflammation so bad that I was literally helpless and had to be tended like a baby. I could not move my body or lift my foot for such severe pains that I had to scream. I was very nervous and had a weakness. "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me to such an extent that I think there is no medicine like it for female troubles. I am up and able to do my work again and I give you full permission to publish my letter for the sake of other suffering women."—Mrs. W. T. PUNNELL, 320-10th St., Trenton, Mo.

NOTED MEN IN RECREATION

Query in Parliament Makes Scribe Look About WRITERS AND OTHERS

Asquith, Balfour, Law and Others Put Golf First—Hunting and Cycling Suit Lord Roberts Best—Some Women's Hobbies

(Times Special Correspondence) London, Jan. 18.—Is a man to be judged by his recreation? This question is agitating us over here, having been raised in the House of Commons a night or two ago in connection with the resignation of Sir Sidney Olivier, who at present is Governor of Jamaica, to be secretary of agriculture, Deville Sturges, who sits in parliament for the division of North Southampton, and has some renown himself as an agriculturist, took exception to the appointment of Sir Sidney on the novel ground that his recreations, as set forth in that remarkable compendium, "Who's Who," are "loafing and dilettantism."

This proves to have been a misapprehension. Sir Sidney's recreations actually being given as "the normal forms of loafing and dilettantism" but on a small point, the speaker of the house promptly set on Mr. Sturges hard, and that closed the incident which, however, has not left one person to follow the Shropshire M.P.'s example and look up the recreations of other British celebrities, as set forth in the new "Who's Who for 1913," which is only slightly smaller than a family Bible and certainly is one of the most interesting books in the world.

The results are rather entertaining. Perhaps the most interesting man on this side of the water is that erratic genius George Bernard Shaw, and Shaw's recreations are quite characteristic. As "exercises," he sets down "driving an automobile, swimming and public speaking," while under the head of "recreation" he puts "anything except sport." He means, of course, "sport" as it is understood in this country—i.e., wearing a fox's heart out with hounds and dogs, slaughtering half-hens pheasants, or killing a few hundred grouse with the aid of shot-guns and expert "beaters."

Not all the celebrities enumerated in "Who's Who" give their recreations, by the way, though a lot of them obligingly furnish the numbers of their motor-cars. We had it on the lips of a certain "Who's Who" that "floor games" is one of them and playing with toy soldiers another. G. K. Chesterton is another recreationist notable, likewise John Galsworthy and John Galsworthy.

Perhaps the quaintest of all the "recreations" given in "Who's Who" are claimed by the Rev. E. J. Hardy, who perpetrates "How to be Happy" and "Wife's Happiness." They are as follows:—"Riding on horse, bicycle, top of motor-car, walking, looking at flowers and picking fungi, a garden, taking a sun-bath, thinking of the queer things of life, swimming, and Mr. Hardy, who, it seems, has written nineteen books besides "How to be Happy," gives us the following:—"Tea-table." Another, and still more famous Hardy—the author of "Tess and "Far From the Madding Crowd," tells us that his recreations are "archaeology, entomology and collecting book-plates," while Lloyd George and Winston Churchill, though neither of these latter owns up, in the pages "Who's Who," anyway, to ever going on the links.

Lord Roberts' recreations are "hunting and bicycling." Lord Kitchener's were "formerly cricket and rowing," while Lord Charles Bessborough, it seems, enjoys "turning, carpentering, cycling, hunting or any sport." John Balfour, the famous leader of the Local Government Board, is famous likewise for his skill with his fist, and besides boxing, gives as his recreations, "cricket, skating and rowing." In his biography by the bye, this labor man tells us that he was educated at Battersea and at night schools, and is still learning. And Ernest Jones adds:—"Come into the world with a struggle, struggling now and prospects of continuing it."

TORTURED FROM BABYHOOD

"Fruit-tives" Cures Constipation

MISS E. A. GOODALL Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 20, 1911. "I have been a sufferer since babyhood from that terrible complaint, Constipation. I have been treated by physicians, and have taken every medicine I heard of, but without the slightest benefit. I finally concluded that there was no remedy in the world that could cure Constipation. About this time I heard about "Fruit-tives" and decided to try them. The effect was marvelous. The first box gave me great relief, and after I had used a few boxes, I found that I was entirely well. "Fruit-tives" is the only medicine that ever did me any good and I want to say to all who suffer as I did—Try this fruit medicine and you will find—as I did—a perfect cure. (Miss) E. A. GOODALL. "Fruit-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit, and the only one that will positively and completely cure you of Constipation. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

of the companionship of dogs, collecting china; the society of her children; Mrs. Humphrey Ward does not bother with anything so trivial as recreation. Miss Brodwin's are "gardening music and literature," while those of Violet Vanburgh, an actress, are given as "reading, and sitting in the open air. Curiously enough, Lady de Bathe, who used to be Mrs. Langtry, is not mentioned in "Who's Who," except in her husband's biography, as "Emily Charlotte, widow of Edward Langtry," but then everybody knows that Mrs. Langtry's favorite recreation is the turf. Ellen Terry's recreations are "reading, yachting and motoring," and Mrs. Hodgson Bennett's is "improving the lot of children."

A colony of flying squirrels are making their winter quarters in the attic of T. G. Tucker's machine shop at Columbia, Conn. The squirrels are unusually tame, and approached with a lantern at night will come within reach of the hand, but they will not allow themselves to be caught.

The Old Way The old methods were wrong. I tell you; the whole scheme is wrong. I have proved to the world that nearly all human disorders can be cured by removing the primary causes, and if you read my book, which is free for the asking, you can learn something about this subject that will interest you. If you feel that your Health and Strength—your vital stamina—are on the wane, if your liver has got in your eye, your heart in your boots, if you are not the Man or Woman, physically or mentally, you would like to me, I can give you the means of getting back the Strength and Vigor you have lost, a process of treatment founded upon common sense; one in which the use of drugs in any form does not enter.

Do you want peace, Mr. Skeptic? I will give you an abundance of them. "An Ounce of Proof is Worth a Ton of Assertion." Below is a sample of the kind of evidence I have to offer. Write to me and I'll give you more. Dr. McLaughlin: Dear Sir,—A short time ago I purchased one of your Belts. I am very pleased to say that I have received great benefit from it in every way. My varicose is almost gone, and my back is much better. Before using your Belt my nerves were in pretty bad shape—so bad that it interfered with my work. Any man can easily know what this means to me, as my health is greatly improved and I feel better than I have for the last five years, and one which I had had one of your Belts before. I have spent a considerable sum of money one way or another for different drugs, and to tell you the truth I never thought there was a cure in the world for varicose except an operation, as that is what a doctor told me in London, England, hospital. I thank you for your kindness and all that you have done for me. You are at liberty to make any use of this you like in any of the papers, as I know it is all true, as I have proved it for myself. I intend to recommend your Belt whenever I get a chance, as I think it is a Godsend to any person to be in good health. Writing you every success with your Belt. I remain, Yours respectfully, ALBERT HALPHE. My Belt is a success. It is a remedy built upon scientific fact. Already it is proved that my Belt is a cure for hundreds of ailments that drugs and other remedies have failed to cure. For weak and broken-down men and women my Belt is the only logical remedy—the only effective remedy. My Belt has proved a complete, and lasting cure for Indigestion (Dyspepsia), Constipation, Headache, Drowsiness, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Sciatica, Weakness of the Back, Nervous Debility, General Debility, Sleeplessness (Insomnia), also Female Weakness, Menstrual Complaints, Inflammation, Bearing-down Pains, Dizziness. It improves the blood circulation, it restores lost vitality, it corrects every sign of mental impairment and physical breakdown in Men and Women.

THE FINDING OF WESLEY'S DIARY

Shorthand Notes of His Last Ten Years HIS LAST ACCOUNT BOOK

Further Details of Interesting Discovery Made in London—Valuable Letters Are Included in the Find—Many Others Believed Existent

Some days ago the Times' despatches made reference to the finding of manuscripts belonging to John Wesley. The London Chronicle says of the matter: In the old strong room in City-road, London, where the Wesleyan Methodist Book Room keeps the archives of nearly two centuries of Methodism, the Rev. Nehemiah Curcock, editor of the new official edition of John Wesley's Journals, has made a surprising discovery of Wesley's manuscripts. The chief of these is a diary in shorthand covering the greater part of the last ten years of Wesley's life.

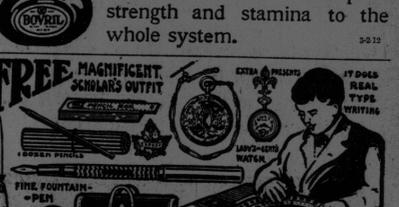

This diary has been hidden in the last pages of a little book known as "Wesley's Last Account Book," and until Mr. Curcock re-discovered it no one suspected that the hieroglyphics at the end were priceless notes written by Wesley himself in his old age. Mr. Curcock is the discoverer of the key to the cipher in which John Wesley wrote his early journal. Describing the latest Wesley find, Mr. Curcock says: The most important of these is a diary which fills the greater part of the last ten years of Wesley's life, what is known as the "Colman Collection." On August 8, 1741, the diary found in the book, and the story in this particular form remains untraced until it is resumed on a few stray leaves in the library of Headingly College, dated from February 15, 1790, and continued until within about 15 days of Wesley's death. The newly found diary carries the day-by-day story back to the close of the year 1762, thus covering a period during which the printed "Journal" is imperfect.

Medications While Shaving The vellum-bound volume in which this diary has been found is a curious illustration of Wesley's habits of economy. He never wasted even the small things of life. The earlier diaries which show the doing of the day hour by hour from 4 o'clock in the morning till 10 at night frequently note the moments spent in "shaving," as devoted to "meditation." He was a great peevish, but always his walks were marked by reading, conversing, singing, or making verses. Some of his finest original hymns and translations were made while walking. His note-books show that he was scrupulous in utilizing blank leaves and half-sheets. Many of these little books begin at both ends. His First Oxford Diary is also the account-book of a common-room steward of these little books begin at both ends. His First Oxford Diary is also the account-book of a common-room steward of these little books begin at both ends. FREE MAGNIFICENT SCHOLAR'S OUTFIT With an extra present of a handsome Watch to boys and girls who earn this grand outfit JULY 15th 1913. This is the opportunity of a LIFETIME. NATIONAL PRODUCTS LIMITED, SCHOLARS' DEPT., TORONTO, ONT.

Wesley manuscripts (Mr. Curcock continues), I have no doubt that in college libraries and family archives, probably also in America, Australia, Holland, and Germany, there are still a considerable number of autograph letters—possibly also some of the still missing diaries. Evidence now in course of elucidation shows clearly that while Wesley laid a loving hand on the very poor and on artisan and trading life, he was throughout his whole career on terms of pastoral and political intimacy with influential members of the aristocracy. The last diary is not the only discovery made in the City-road archives. Another Wesley note-book catalogue the letters received by Wesley in Oxford, and in his father's parish at Wrothe, from members of his family and certain of his more intimate friends. What he himself regarded as the most important of these letters, those from his father, he copied into this little notebook. They constitute a silent testimony against the harsh and unjust verdict of popular modern fiction on the character of a very remarkable man.

There are also among the papers found in the old strong room many letters of the utmost importance, together with large sections of Charles Wesley's Journal, in the form of letters addressed to John Wesley. The latter will become immediately available for inclusion in the new edition of Charles Wesley's Journal. Some portions of Charles Wesley's Journal were written in Byron's shorthand. The men who succeed best in life have been cheerful and hopeful men, who went about their business with a smile on their faces and took the chances and changes of their normal life like men, facing rough and smooth alike as it came, and so found the truth of the old proverb, that "good times and bad times and all times pass over."

The more a man knows the easier it is to keep his face shut.

A New Way To Regain Health and Happiness Long ago, when I first lifted my voice of warning against drugs and patent medicines and began my first fight in favor of Electricity as a curative agent, I found anything but smooth sailing against prejudice and knavery. I was on the right track, I pounded away, backing my judgment with money I had, and have lived to see the great change of sentiment that has now come over the public. I have done my part in showing that this whole scheme of taking something out of a bottle, a vest-pocket box, or to have something "rubbed on," in order to regain one's health and strength is principally pure superstition. I have taught that while the drug had a certain known direct effect, it had another and after effect that could not be foretold; that this after effect, or reaction, often causes other diseases, and produces complications and aggravations that require more drugs and still more drugs to mitigate; that this drugging habit, once entered upon, has no end this side of the grave. The New Way Do you want peace, Mr. Skeptic? I will give you an abundance of them. "An Ounce of Proof is Worth a Ton of Assertion." Below is a sample of the kind of evidence I have to offer. KILLED CHILD TO END SUFFERING

Sad Case of Mother In English Town

A WELSH REVIVAL

Spiritual Awakening Resembling That of 1904 - King George and the Late Chief Rabbi - Another Defender of the Bard of Aven

(Times Special Correspondence) London, Jan. 31 - A sensational tragedy, in which it is alleged that a mother strangled her thirteen-year-old daughter with a piece of rope, has been disclosed at Holloway. The woman was arrested, and in the course of a dramatic confession she put the rope round her child's neck "to put her out of her misery," while she was suffering from the effects of a fit.

A Welsh Revival

Remarkable religious revival scenes are being witnessed at Cwmtyrch, an obscure and remote industrial hamlet in South Wales, about twelve miles from Swansea. The scenes correspond with those which marked the religious movement of eight years ago associated with the name of Evan Roberts.

The movement started during the Christmas holidays in a series of meetings conducted by a collier named Stephen Griffiths, a collier, of Aberdare. From the outset the fervor of the villagers was intense, manifesting itself in those strange unorganized and weird outbursts which marked the origin of the Evan Roberts movement.

"There can be little doubt that the study of the action of ultra-violet rays, or of the silent discharge, is leading to interesting developments which may possess great practical importance," says the writer. "The application of ultra-violet rays to the sterilization of water supplies furnishes an example, although it appears probable that there still is room for improvement in this application in order to make the process a completely efficient one."

"The extension of this principle to the preservation of both liquid and solid food" (Continued on page 13, third column).

They Soon Cured His Kidney Troubles, and in Six Months There is No Sign of Their Coming Back

St. Anne des Monts, Gaspé Co., Que., Jan. 31 (Special) - "It is six months since I was cured, and I have had no return of my trouble," in these words, Napoleon Vaillancourt, a well-known resident of this place, gives evidence that Dodd's Kidney Pills not only give quick relief to sufferers from Kidney Disease, but clean that disease out, root and branch, and cure it permanently.

"I had my kidneys, and my limbs would camp," Mr. Vaillancourt states in giving his experience. Now all that is gone and he is a sound, healthy man. Do you wonder that he recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills?

Golden Youth Afflicted With Angomania - The Centenary of The Battle of Leipzig - New Kind of Bread Declared Better

(Times Special Correspondence) Berlin, Jan. 31 - In an article discussing achievements in the field of naval aviation the semi-official "Friedenliche Allgemeine Zeitung" says: "We are filled with pride and joy by the knowledge that the German navy possesses in 'L. 1,' the best airship that the world has produced, and that no airship belonging to any other power can accomplish anything like what this greatest of all the Zeppelin airships has achieved in its voyage of more than 800 miles over land and sea. The airship has a carrying capacity of nearly twenty-seven tons; it has a radius of action of 1,300 miles; and its own speed, without the help of air currents, is fifty miles an hour. Its wireless telegraphy apparatus can send and receive messages at a distance of 300 miles. The naval authorities are using every effort to maintain German superiority in this domain, and to develop this important arm of the service by acquiring new airships."

A Welsh Revival

Remarkable religious revival scenes are being witnessed at Cwmtyrch, an obscure and remote industrial hamlet in South Wales, about twelve miles from Swansea. The scenes correspond with those which marked the religious movement of eight years ago associated with the name of Evan Roberts.

"There can be little doubt that the study of the action of ultra-violet rays, or of the silent discharge, is leading to interesting developments which may possess great practical importance," says the writer. "The application of ultra-violet rays to the sterilization of water supplies furnishes an example, although it appears probable that there still is room for improvement in this application in order to make the process a completely efficient one."

The TRAIN LEVEL

New York, Jan. 31 - The opening of the Grand Central terminal, jointly used by the New York Central and the New York, New Haven and Hartford roads, gives New York the two most expensive railroad stations in the world. The Grand Central, located on the site of the old station at Forty-second street and Park avenue, though it covers much more ground than the old structure, has been erected at a cost of millions for buildings and grounds. The terminal has a floor area of seventy-nine acres, including both track levels. Local and suburban trains and through expresses will be on separate levels, and incoming and outgoing traffic will be entirely separated. Close connections will be made with the city subway, and 100,000 passengers can be handled in a day without serious crowding. The various waiting rooms, concourses, platforms and rest-rooms will hold 50,000 persons at one time. Over the tracks new buildings have been built, and other structures to be used as hotels, theatres, office buildings, etc., will be erected.

Incidentally the book shows that in several cases Prussian women were more capable as soldiers, able to command and ready to die, as well as being able to withstand the hardships of campaigning. Maria Warden, a woman of Silesia, was allowed to serve as a nurse in the same regiment as her husband, who was a wealthy landowner. She was wounded in several engagements, and saw her husband shot dead by her side at Leipzig. Elsewhere, Prushaska engaged under the name of "Carl Rens" in the Light Horse when only fifteen, and several poets have written of her courage and of her death just before the battle of Leipzig. A monument stands to her memory in the cemetery at Posen.

Augusta Kruger was the only woman, however, to receive the Iron Cross, as a reward for her services in the field.

The Centenary of Leipzig The year 1913 marks a notable passage in the history of Prussia. A hundred years ago Prussia rose against Napoleon, who was already weakened by the reverses from Moscow, and, with the help of the Austrians, and also of a very large body of Russians, they managed to drive the French army over the frontier, after defeating it in the tremendous two days' struggle at Leipzig.

Many are the centennial celebrations that are arranged for this year, and as a conclusion, it is hoped that the Centenary of Leipzig at the end of the year in co-operation with the Kaiser, the Russian emperor and the Emperor of the Russian Empire, was particularly strong, and at least 22,000 Russian troops were killed in the fight.

It is a curious fact that the golden youth of Berlin at present seems to be afflicted with an extraordinary attack of Angomania. The ailment shows itself in a hundred different ways, and crops up in many an unexpected corner. Truth to say, however, the leaders of the movement have not a very exact idea of what it is, and they are trying to copy, and often enough their idea of what is English might have been obtained in Paris, or even in Buenos Ayres. Nevertheless, the youth of Berlin today spends much time and money on trying to be a "gent."

He notes that considerable excitement has been aroused in the German press by the news that England is buying a Zeppelin airship. There really, he declares, no justification for such excitement, for "English airships will, in all probability, never be dangerous to us."

The airship "L. 1" cruising over Berlin and the suburbs has become a common sight; and since the passenger airship "Hansa," stationed at Potsdam, makes voyages to Berlin several times weekly, "Zeppelins" attract little more attention than electric cars.

Bavarian Government's Idea Will Be Blessed

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

From Two Villages 1200 Bandmen Sailed Forth Last Spring to Fill Air of Foreign Lands With the Blue Danube

(Times Special Correspondence) Berlin, Jan. 31 - If a new scheme which the Bavarian government is now considering goes through, the folk all over the world who have to listen to the music supplied by "little German bands" will have cause to give thanks. At present it is not butchering the "Blue Danube" waltz or making the latest "rag" melody more ragged still, but if the Bavarian authorities carry out their present scheme to start a state academy of music for aspiring instrumentalists, the "little German bands" of the future will be able to play better and more.

An official statement of this benign intention of the Bavarian government has just been issued, and besides telling about the state academy project it gives a lot of curious information about the little bands of alleged musicians from the Fatherland which begin to fizzle in foreign cities simultaneously with the appearance of flowers that bloom in the spring. Musical Germany, by the bye, is the last small state in Europe where the German band, as foreigners know it, would be tolerated. Perhaps that is one reason why it is so common in the Lower Pyrenees and in the Balkans.

One remembers reading, a while ago, that the dancing bears that perform the world over had their origin in the district in the Lower Pyrenees, and according to the official statement, it is in the district of the Bavarian Alps that the bears were first tamed. The bears were used in the three o'clock "Patrie" dances of living lampoons in the Fatherland, and those who had not seen them before he has been suffering only from a bad cold, and is now all right again.

The acclimatization dinner given by the Societe d'Acclimatation, of Paris, under the presidency of M. H. The Paris Municipal Council has voted a measure providing for the prolongation of the boulevard Haussmann from the point where it now stops in the rue Talbot to the Grande Boulevards, which it will cut at the junction of the boulevard Italien and the boulevard Montmartre. The boulevard Haussmann was begun in 1857 and reached its present point in 1889, when the war brought it to a standstill for more than forty years. The measure is to be sold for building, and will have to purchase at his own expense all the houses that will have to be destroyed, receiving a subvention of $200,000 and a certain percentage on all his expenses above $100,000.

TIMES' LONDON MAN SENDS OLD COUNTRY NEWS OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO THE PEOPLE OF CANADA

BEST IN MARITIME PROVINCES SAYS THIS ENGLISH WRITER

Western Farmer is Criticized - Britishers Eager for Canadian Travel Books

(Times Special Correspondence) London, Jan. 31 - More and more, the man who is "making up his mind" to go to Canada, consults the books that have been written by travellers, rather than emigration "literature" issued by railway companies, real estate firms, or even governments. Naturally he concludes that the compiler of the last named, with an interest to serve, do not emphasize anything except the advantages of the dominion, and, naturally again, he concludes that no country is completely lacking in disadvantages. With this in mind, he refers to what he terms disinterested opinions and sedulously devours works on Canada.

"We have never known," said a London librarian today, "such a demand for books dealing with Canada. This demand is so marked that instead of the usual two or three copies of a book which may find a fair number of readers, we are now ordered to obtain, we double the quantity in the case of books on Canadian life."

The natural result is that authors are paying more attention to Canada as a literary field, and this means that the dominion is under closer examination today than ever. Many of the works are written after a comparatively short visit; consequently they are all praise or the reverse.

It is, generally speaking, rare that a writer spends a year or two before he commits himself to paper. When that happens we are given something of interest, not only to readers on this side, but to those in Canada. In his latest work "Maid Goes Home," Frederic A. Talbot gives some decided opinions on the ability of the western farmer. His opinion is that, if the western farmer had to face less summer the Britishers would be a hopeless failure.

"The western farmer," he says, "is an over-rated personality. He knows nothing about even the rudiments of his craft; fertilization is an art beyond his knowledge, while how to obtain the maximum yield from the soil without exhausting it is a matter about which he is quite in the dark. After he has ploughed up the land with his much-belated steam or petrol driven plough, and has seeded it to wheat, oats, fax, and so on, he leaves it to its own devices to bring forth what it can. If he wishes to increase his aggregate production, he does not attempt to study the soil to consummate this end, but merely resorts to a further area of virgin prairie for cultivation."

His advice to the man who is thinking of going "pup" to learn the methods of Canadian farming is equally outspoken. "From my own observations of wasteful and ineffectual methods I would urge the British emigrant not to follow in the footsteps of the Canadian farmer as far as this home is concerned. He has practiced in his own home. If the Britisher wishes to investigate Canadian farming as it should be practiced, then let him amble through the maritime provinces, or, if he wishes to see a liberal communitarian, let him visit the British and French blood, with all the agricultural instincts developed to the finest degree, where the practice and produce are comparable with those of the most advanced of our own farmers."

It is a curious fact that the golden youth of Berlin at present seems to be afflicted with an extraordinary attack of Angomania. The ailment shows itself in a hundred different ways, and crops up in many an unexpected corner.

He notes that considerable excitement has been aroused in the German press by the news that England is buying a Zeppelin airship. There really, he declares, no justification for such excitement, for "English airships will, in all probability, never be dangerous to us."

The airship "L. 1" cruising over Berlin and the suburbs has become a common sight; and since the passenger airship "Hansa," stationed at Potsdam, makes voyages to Berlin several times weekly, "Zeppelins" attract little more attention than electric cars.

ANSWER CRITICISMS OF CANADA'S IMPORTS

Montreal Firm Take up in London Press Matter of Excess Over Exports

(Times Special Correspondence) London, Jan. 31 - One good purpose is served in giving the widest publicity in Canada to the "growls" of people on this side, if the result is that a defence is rarely done; but last week Messrs. Greenhills & Company, of Montreal, addressed a convincing article to the press in rebuttal of the assumption that Canada's excess of imports over exports constituted a financial danger.

Pointing out that probably every Canadian investment house with British connections has had the question presented to it by investors here, they state that in the last ten years that the balance of trade has been growing steadily against Canada, and that that period has witnessed her greatest growth. In a comparative undeveloped country imports are in the nature of capital expenditure, and the situation is comparable to a single industry important agricultural countries of Europe.

So much for the western farmer. Miss Ellis C. Sykes deals with his wife. This author serves as "home help" in the homes of western farmers, in order to get a copy for her book. It is preferable, she believes, to a typist or shop assistant in London, than the wife of a well-to-do British and French blood, with all the agricultural instincts developed to the finest degree, where the practice and produce are comparable with those of the most advanced of our own farmers."

CHESTER PATTERSON'S NEW BASEBALL SERIES GROUP OF 1913

The enormous crowds go to baseball games to see the players perform, and it is for that the fans give up their fifty or seventy-five cents admission, depending upon whether it is a cheap town or one that spends. Cities, from the baseball man's point of view, have individualities and characteristics just like men, and some are easy with money while others carry time locks on their bank rolls.

But does the fan ever realize that he is a part of the game just as much as the players? Without the crowd there would be no game. Of course, says the reader, there would be no game because the dearth of admission money "would put the club broke" in no time. Suppose that the club were endowed, still two ball fans and crowds make the game. I once went to a dress rehearsal of a Weber and Fields show, and it looked like the fattest thing I had ever seen. The two comedians did not play their scenes at all.

"What is the matter?" I asked Mr. Weber later. "You stop right in the middle of your scenes."

Must Have a Crowd

"We can't play with nobody out there," he said, pointing to the empty seats. "We must feel the response of the audience to get the results. Come around tomorrow night when we get out and work."

Much to my surprise, the play turned out to be very funny and was boosted to the skies in the newspapers. It was the difference between Weber and Fields working and not working. It is the same with a baseball game. The crowd affects the players and increases the tension. This helps some men and hurts others.

Excitable players are often completely upset by the basing of the crowd, and managers watch carefully to prevent this. Nearly all Big League leaders distrust their players not to argue with the fans in the stands, because they reason rightly that it diverts their attention from the game. Many hot-headed players, however, cannot resist a come-back when a spectator makes a crack that goes under their skin. Some of the boys have very thin skins, but frequently remarks that spectators make to ball players would pierce the thickest hide. Even a rhinoceros would not be proof against them.

Snodgrass and the Fans

Snodgrass was constantly in a wrangle with the fans, and they were continually booing him or hooting him so that he spent more time listening to come-backs than in playing baseball. As a center fielder, he was a success until the world's series, and it is the most important game in the Boston crowd which largely helped to beat the Giants.

I have never blamed Snodgrass for dropping that fly of Eagle's, which cost the Giants the deciding game. It was one of the "breaks" in the battle, and any player was liable to do the same thing. But, probably, if Snodgrass had held that ball, we would have won the game, and it is the attitude of the crowd that I attribute his error. As he stood there, waiting for the ball to come down, he had to listen to all sorts of comment. It is the toughest position which an outfielder faces, that strain of inactivity when a ball is hit so that he can set himself for it and then wait for it to drop. He has so many things to think about in that brief period among others the time-worn one, "Suppose I should drop it!"

Going After the Ball

To go back a little way from the last game of the world's series, I want to introduce an incident which few persons noticed and fewer remembered because none thought it was important at the time. But it was like a stone cast into a pond which causes circles of ever-increasing circumference to spread over the surface until at last the whole is disturbed.

The Giants were playing the fifth game in Boston on Saturday, the Red Sox having won two and the New York team one, while one contest had resulted in a tie. Both teams were on the field practicing before the game, and the Giant outfielders were chasing fly balls. One was knocked over the head by Snodgrass, rebounding in the center field, and he started to pursue it. Several spectators jumped the ropes and started for the ball, which was rolling slowly toward them, hoping to gather it as a souvenir of the series. Instead of abandoning the pursuit, as most players would have done and letting the ball go to the fans to scramble over, Snodgrass continued after it as if he had bought the ball or would have to pay for it if it were lost.

He plunged into the group of fans without slackening his speed and grabbed the ball, incidentally knocking down one or two with his run. This got the center field crowd worked up, and they never let up on Snodgrass after that. Every time he went for a fly ball they booed and, when he caught it he would turn around and answer them back. McGraw warned him against it. But that crowd was "on" him, as ball players say, for the rest of the series.

On Bad Terms With the Crowd

Fans do not realize what it means to a player in a series like that, when his name is new on the ends anyway, to have a section of the crowd constantly hounding him with the regularity of a siren beating on the beach. Snodgrass was the worst player on the club for such a thing to happen to.

Whenever a ball there was that dall, insistent about, punctuated by sharper calls which made personal references to his family name and ability as a ball player. When he caught the ball the about died—but if he booted a ground ball or footed any error, the crowd would give him a scream of many voices raised in exultation at the downfall of a common enemy.

The leader of the movement had a tantalizing tenor which he could and did use to express the most insulting references to Snodgrass. And the Giant center fielder would become worked up and answer back. The fans never forgave, and I am sure that this constant ragging helped to upset Snodgrass so that his mind dwelt on it. When that fatal error came floating at him, his thought must have been, "Suppose I drop it!"

It was the climax of a terrible week for Snodgrass. He dropped the ball. He has never told me how it happened or offered any explanation, for that is not the way of ball players. I expected none, and I do not blame him. I have not even seen him since the day of the game. In my opinion, Snodgrass is a great player who has his "glories" like the rest of us, for we all make our errors. But that is what the crowd apparently did to one ball player.

Once before the end of the series, he said to me: "Matty, I wish I had never got that crowd out there down on me. I never thought when I went after the ball what the results would be."

Big Crowd a Stimulant

Baseball crowds have peculiar effects on players, greatly improving the playing of some and entirely upsetting others. Many baseball players rise to the emergencies of important occasions, and they are the great stars of the game, men like Cobb and Wagner and Evers. The crowd and the importance of the battle and the reward for victory make them better. I believe that I am better myself when pitching in the most important games. The crowd is a nerve tonic and stimulant to me.

Frequently the immense throngs of the big league circuits have crowded promising youngsters back to the minors, because they cannot stand the nervous strain. They have all the mechanical ability to play ball, but they lack the stamina. In the Western League, one spring who came south with a gilt-edged reputation and looked like the goods. In the spring camp he was confident at first, being in the presence of big leaguers, but he soon got accustomed to things, the crowds watching him play our practice games being about the size of the groups of spectators he was used to—mostly the newspaper correspondents with the team, and all of these did not show up every day. Of course, some local spectators watched us practice, too, for I must admit we were the life of the crowd. This youngster was a wonder in the practice games, playing shortstop all over the diamond from second to first. I have signed as a ball player and not as a pugilist, and no matter what a fan may say to me, it does not move me to go into the stand, because I know very well that he would not say it if he were out in the open and were not protected by the cover of the crowd.

Many players have made good in the big leagues through the stimulation of the crowds. Some of them have looked laxy and lackadaisical in training and in preliminary games only to come to the front for the big emergency. Arthur Shafer is a good deal of this sort of player. He often looks sloppy in practice and drags around the field carelessly, only to play brilliantly when he is up against the real thing. He showed this in the last world's series, after he had gone into some of the games cold. He made stops that thrilled the New York spectators and saved us from defeat in the contest which resulted in a tie.

A Victim of Nerves

The recruit stuck all the way through the spring trip and finally got a chance in a regular league game when the season opened. He "booted" every ball that came near him and even went out of his way to "boot" balls that there seemed to be the least good, which was generally in the grand stand behind first base. Some of our batting figures resembled the hole in the doughnut. He did not even get a foul.

McGraw did not hang on to him for a time, and gave him some more chances. He was always a demon in practice when he was in the on-handled plays and spectacular at bats which he made. But let him get into a real game, and he was the most versatile boomer that it has ever been my pain to watch work behind me. He would come in on the bench so loquacious that he could not speak merely from nervousness, and his hand would shake when he took a drink of water.

"Yellow" was the stamp placed on him by the team. Many of the players refused to speak to him. His condition was pitiable.

"I just cannot get used to that howling, shouting mob," he told me one day in a burst of confidence. "When the ball is hit at me that through is always on my mind, and I know I am going to be roasted if I miss it. That is just why I do miss. I lack self-confidence in a pinch."

This youngster soon went back down the slippery trail, traveled by many, which leads to the minor leagues. He has returned from time to time to other large league teams because he continues to play sensational ball on the small circuits, but he never stays. He cannot get used to the crowds. This same thing has spoiled many a good young ball player.

Matty Ignores Crowd

Fans frequently ask me whether I notice the crowd. I know that it is there, but it acts as a secondary stimulant. It does not bother me. In playing the game I pay no attention to it, and when the shouting becomes so continuous that the conversation is impossible, I fall into the use of signs mechanically. The roar of the crowd does not upset me, for my mind is set on the game. The Giants, Herzog, Devore, Tarsan, Shafer, Murray and Meyers are the more pronounced of this type. They pay no attention to the crowd—do not know that it is there. They are never

"It may ruin him," replied McGraw, "but I'll try to get him." There was a double-header scheduled for Saturday afternoon against Cincinnati, when every game might mean the pennant for us. McGraw was up against it for pitchers, and he sent Marquard to the box in the first game. When "Rube" went out to warm up we were all watching him from the bench to get a line on him, and I saw his eyes sweep the stand and his jaw drop. He did not shape up well when he worked out before the game. "He's nervous," Brennan told McGraw. "It's a big chance."

McGraw glanced over the rest of his pitching staff. It was all right. He looked at Marquard, big and fresh. "Go in and pitch," he snapped at him, trying to get the ball on the plate, laid it over the heart with nothing on it, and the Cincinnati team knocked it to the farthest suburbs. It was taken out after the game was lost, and his confidence was never restored for two years. He was worthless and a dead weight on the team during that period.

When His Chance Came

His return to form came as suddenly as a man's loss of the winning punch. It was during a disastrous series in Philadelphia in July, 1911, when all the New York pitchers had been badly beaten.

"Let me go in and pitch," Marquard begged McGraw. McGraw looked at him and said, "Go in and pitch," he snapped at him, trying to get the ball on the plate, laid it over the heart with nothing on it, and the Cincinnati team knocked it to the farthest suburbs. It was taken out after the game was lost, and his confidence was never restored for two years. He was worthless and a dead weight on the team during that period.

That Eater "Take Him Out!"

Some smart managers use the crowd to rattle the opposing team. It is the throng that makes the tension, and this is well shown among big leaguers. The most deafening cry which a pitcher hears is that dirge of the fans—"Take him out!" McGraw is a very important ball game by employing the crowd to upset a pitcher. It was the first contest of the post-war series between the Giants and the Yankees in 1910, when Russell Ford pitched against me. It was a pitcher's battle, with Ford going at his best until the eighth inning. When the Cubs had caught the ball and then politely poked it to me, I let off in the eighth, and Ford, evidently thinking that I was not a hitter, eased up against me and handed me a nice one over the plate which I cracked for a single. Devore had beaten out an infield hit, and Doyle had bunted easily, filling the bases before Ford settled down.

That Eater "Take Him Out!"

He struck out Snodgrass, and Hemphill caught Murray's fly to near second base to let me count on the catch. Bridwell came to the bat, and it looked as if Ford were going to get out of the hole without being scored on. Ford had thrown two balls to Bridwell, when McGraw held up the game and hustened to the batter from the coaching line on third base. He whispered in Bridwell's ear, and Ford had time to hear the din raised by the crowd, to look at the three runners on the bases, and to grasp the gravity of his predicament. He could not weaken now with all those people there watching him and the reputation hanging in the balance. Then he hit Bridwell in the leg with the next pitched ball. The wise ap-

Afraid of Being Ridiculed

"I can go out and play ball before 30,000 persons," said "Joeh" and they never bother me, but I know that I could not face an audience. Somebody would laugh at me, and, if he did, I would throw a brick at him. No vaudeville for mine." Many other ball players can face enormous crowds on the field and neglect them, but when it comes to going into vaudeville they break out into a perspiration and tremble at the knees. I am not very much struck on it myself.

"Bobby" Byrne had a chance to enter the ranks of the baseball Thespians with "Larry" Doyle not so long ago and every thing was ready for the opening when Byrne refused to go on.

"Nix" said "Bobby." "I've got stage fright. You couldn't urge me on there with a derriek."

And you could not. Yet there never was a player more indifferent to a baseball crowd than "Bobby" Byrne. It upsets him so that he makes his most brilliant plays when the stands are jammed. That's part of the psychology of the game.

Marquard's Initial Fiasco

When Marquard came to New York he was the most expensive pitcher ever to break through the top crust of baseball. He was widely advertised, and this, in itself, was a big handicap to him, because he was sure to feel that he had to make good inasmuch as he had been so costly. McGraw brought him to the Giants in the fall of 1908, intending to let him absorb a little big league knowledge from the bench, but things were pressing in 1908, and the club was short of pitchers. McGraw, however, refused to start his new prize until Mr. Brush called his manager to him and suggested that he try Marquard. It is the only time on record that Mr. Brush ever interfered with McGraw's absolute control of the team.

"I would like to see Marquard in action," he said.

What McGraw Really Said

Ford thought the same thing, and even some of the players on the Giants suspected that McGraw had not urged Bridwell to get out of the way of a ball aimed at some part of his anatomy, which was not altogether. The Giants made a bunch of runs right after that and won the game easily.

"What'd Mac say to you, Al?" Doyle asked Bridwell, as we were walking back on the box-bats by the crowd and not by the club which he was facing. Many managers do not try to instill Lord Chesterfield when they are removing a "spigot," either. Frank Chance, lately of the Cubs, never considered a man's feelings when talking him out of the box.

Occasionally there is one individual in a crowd who will get on a player's nerves even though he does not mind the general part. All season just to abuse Cobb, Devin had the same experience with a fan in Brooklyn, and he went into the stand and made a big change in that man's personal appearance.

It seems as if some of the noisiest citizens are the loudest at a ball park and the most abusive, maybe because they are not able to assert themselves anywhere else, and it is human nature to want to abuse some one. They probably spend the rest of their time absorbing abuse.

"I am now going out and put on my uniform and listen to an eighteen-dollar-a-week clerk abuse me," said Walter Johnson, the great star of the Washington club before a game one day last season. I have heard that Johnson receives a salary of $10,000 a year, but the eighteen-cent fans become as excited as players a game. I have frequently seen men pay fifty cents to get into a ball park and sit in the scorching sun all the afternoon, left field for economy's sake, only to throw a new two-dollar straw hat at a victim in the hope of making him miss a fly ball. Fred Clarke nearly dropped several times when the spectators threw a new two-dollar straw hat at a victim in the hope of making him miss a fly ball. Fred Clarke nearly dropped several times when the spectators threw a new two-dollar straw hat at a victim in the hope of making him miss a fly ball.

Fund for British Athletes.

London, Jan. 31.—With a view to enabling Great Britain to make a better showing in the Olympic games in 1916 than they did at Stockholm last year, it is announced that the Amateur Athletic Association has arranged a financial plan to assist the English athletes systematically to train for that event. After the conclusion of the Olympic games last year at Desborough, providing a meeting of the athletic advisory club, held to consider the poor showing of Great Britain's athletes, proposed that a fund of £25,000 be raised in each of the next three years of £80,000 in 1916 to be used in preparing Englishmen to compete at Berlin. Arthur Conan Doyle suggested that a £125,000 be raised by public appeal.

THE RING

Tightening the Grip.

New York, Jan. 31.—That the State Athletic Commission intends to go to extreme measures to safeguard boxing, eliminate brutality and do away with the semblance of anything that might offend the public morals was evinced in its decision to reduce the present list of referees from 60 to 25 and place them under the direct jurisdiction of the commission, which will assign them to the various bouts. This is the method used by the baseball leagues with their umpires.

When the revision is made in the list of referees only those men of undoubted integrity will be found holding licenses. The commission will issue a license to no man who is not considered fully capable of understanding the rules and wishes of the commission, and fearless enough to execute faithfully the duties which will devolve upon him.

In all probability the commission will name the referees who will be under the direct supervision of the commission, and will be held responsible for everything which they have authority. Hitherto each club had its own referees.

BASEBALL

N. B. and Maine League.

The annual meeting of the New Brunswick & Maine Baseball League has been called to take place at the Queen Hotel, this city, on Saturday.

It is expected that D. B. Donald of the St. John Marathons and secretary of the league, will be here to attend the meeting, and there is also a possibility of St. Stephen and Calais being represented.

Local baseball magnates have not yet given up hope of completing the organization at an early date of a league for 1913 with a compact circuit which will include Fredericton and St. John. A prospective promoter of the St. Stephen-Calais club has turned up and, if he takes hold with "blades" in charge of the playing end of the team, the St. Croix border towns will be well represented.

THORPE FOR GIANTS.

Thorpe was to sign today a contract to play with the Giants. Manager John J. McEwain said that he first thought of engaging Thorpe when the publicity given by the Indian department from the Amateur Athletic Union and the statement that several western managers trying to sign him put the idea into his head. I got Thorpe on the long distance telephone in Carlisle, Pa., said McEwain, and he accepted my offer. Later I got a telegram from him confirming his verbal acceptance. He preferred to come to New York and I offered him more money than the others too.

Diamond Sparkles.

The signed contract of Shortstop Claude Derrick was received by the New York American league club yesterday.

The Vernon Pacific Coast League club has sold Roy Castleton, pitcher, to the Nashville team, of the Southern League. Castleton was formerly with the New York Americans and was traded to Atlanta for Russell Ford.

The National League annual meeting will be held in New York on February 11.

THE TURF

Races Arranged.

Representatives from the Celestial Driving Club of Fredericton, St. John Driving Club of this city and of the St. Croix Driving Club met in Fredericton last night and decided to run matinee races in St. John, St. Stephen and Fredericton during the winter. The first meet will be held in Fredericton on Feb. 12. Alderman Hugh O'Neil of Fredericton was appointed starter. The distance for each race is to be a quarter of a mile and the winning horse must take two not of three heats.

was for valor. For her bravery and presence of mind at Dannewitz she was promoted to sergeant. She was prominent in several subsequent engagements.
New Kind of Bread
Millers are generally heavily fined if they adulterate their flour with powdered chalk, but if one is to believe the doctors at Munich the sin is not a very venial one, indeed, that the chalky flour is to be preferred to the ordinary article. And so within the last few days some of the inhabitants of Munich have been enjoying chalk bread. Calcium chloride is the name that is given to the substance added to the flour, and apparently if the taste is not quite as much to the liking of the average man, most of those who have eaten it have been quite ready to ignore this point.
Apparently, to summarize a long technical explanation, the staple food and drink of Munich, bread, meat, and beer, are very deficient in the salts of calcium, although for several reasons it is desirable that these salts should enter into the nourishment of the normal person. They are useful in the case of the ill and convalescent, are helpful against fatigue and inomnia, and stimulate the addition of weight. They also increase the power of resistance and add to the chances of immunity from infectious diseases.

Added in the ordinary way the calcium chloride tastes too bitter, but, thanks to much research, Professor Emmerich and his colleague, Dr. Lowe, have found means to reduce the flavor without detracting from the beneficial properties. The adulteration is to the extent of roughly ten per cent. calcium chloride, and as the cost is small it is hoped that eventually bread will be made cheaply enough to be sold at the same price as the common article of food. Professor Emmerich especially recommends the bread for children, and is quite confident that sooner or later the whole world will bake no bread that is without a certain percentage of calcium chloride added to the flour.
MISSIONARY SOCIAL.
A very successful missionary social took place last evening in Leinster street Baptist church. Rev. W. Camp opened the proceedings with prayer. The programme included the following: Piano duet; The Misses Stevens; reading, Mrs. B. H. Dunfield; solo, Mr. Belyea; address on China, Mrs. J. H. MacVicar; solo, Mrs. Perry; selection, Leinster street church male quartette; address, Mrs. David Hutchinson; selection, Main street Baptist ladies' quartette; reading, Mrs. G. A. Horton. At the close of the programme refreshments were served. A collection amounting to $25 was taken during the evening.

PORTABLE FIELD WIRELESS APPARATUS

Alison, France, Jan. 31.—General Gillet today tested a new portable field wireless telegraph apparatus. The various parts of the apparatus are carried on the backs of three men and it requires only three minutes to put them together and begin operating. The apparatus is said to greatly facilitate communication between the various units of an army corps and power sufficient to send messages over a large area.

TRIBEMEN KILL FOUR FRENCH OFFICERS IN BATTLE IN DESERT

Paris, Jan. 31.—Despatches received today by the air of colonies from Adrar, an Oasis in the Sahara Desert, northwest of Timbuktu, report that a French detachment was surprised by turbulent tribesmen near Adrar, Jan. 30. The troops made a heroic resistance but all of their four officers were killed in the fighting. The other members of the detachment managed to cut their way through the tribesmen and finally reached Adrar. A punitive expedition has been sent in pursuit of the tribesmen.

ROOSEVELT ATTACKED AND DEFENDED IN AMERICAN SENATE

Resolution to Make a Single Six-Year Presidential Term Opposed by Coloner's Friends.
Washington, Jan. 31.—The senate defeated every attempt today to amend the 20th amendment, which provides for a six-year term for the president. When the vote was taken tonight it appeared certain that a final vote on the proposed constitutional amendment will be reached tomorrow and its opponents were mustering all possible strength to defeat it.
Progressives and Republicans, who declared themselves ready to support Roosevelt, again led a fight against the entire resolution. The Progressives declared it was against American governmental principles to limit the right of the people to choose a president.
Senator Crawford insisted it was aimed at Col. Roosevelt. "We are asking the American people to foreclose themselves from the right to call into their service the man of the hour during a crisis upon which the very destiny of the republic may be hanging," declared Senator Crawford. "We have no fear of a despot."
"No, we are not afraid of a despot," retorted Senator Williams. "Neither was any other fool nation that ever existed until after they had got him."

FOUND MUCH LOOT IN SAFETY DEPOSIT BOX

Was Stolen by Man and Woman Killed in Revolver Duel With New York Police Sometime Ago.
New York, Jan. 31.—Gems worth many thousand dollars, loot of two thieves who were cornered and killed in a revolver duel with the police last November, were found this afternoon in a lockbox in a downtown safety deposit vault. Thousands of dollars worth of stolen stocks and bonds and five life insurance policies also were crammed into the box. The box was rented by Henry Vogel and his wife and it was there they stored their booty. Vogel and his wife were killed and a detective seriously wounded in a fight which ensued when the police tried to capture the pair. The key to the lock box was found in their room last night when the box was not opened until this afternoon, when Mrs. Sidney Bernheimer procured a court order permitting her to do so. Among the gems she identified $4,000 worth as her property. The rest were taken to police headquarters. Seven $1,000 bonds, fifty-five shares of stock in various companies and the life insurance policies were claimed by Alfred J. Stern, from whom they were stolen more than a year ago.

Earl of Crawford Dead

London, Jan. 31.—James Ludovic Lindsay, twenty-sixth Earl of Crawford, died today. He was born in 1847 and succeeded to the title at the death of his father in 1880.

Men Are Getting Nearly As Much Sense As Women

By J. R. HAMILTON

Former Advertising Manager Wanamaker's, Philadelphia

(Copyrighted)

QUITE often now you hear a man say, "When do the stores begin holding their winter shoe sales? I want to lay in my year's supply of shoes."

Or, you will hear a man tell his wife, "Better look through the papers my dear, before you buy that stuff." And "my dear," who has never done anything else but look through the papers for the past ten years before she has bought any stuff, simply smiles tolerantly and continues with her own shrewd shopping by constantly following the advertising in her own shrewd way.

But it speaks well for the growing intelligence of most men to see that they are beginning to notice that there is such a thing as advertising.

A store can actually offer exceptional bargains, as quite a few stores are doing in this paper today, and expect to get a goodly crowd of men.

Not only that, but these men seem to be pleased at saving a good amount of money on the personal things they buy.

In other words, the old, Tom-fool idea about advertising has just about passed away.

Advertising is a low priced scientific selling method, which is used by all of the brightest business concerns. When a store can sell 200 pairs of shoes through advertising with the same amount of heat and light and rent required to sell one hundred pairs without advertising, there isn't much question about the value of that advertising to the stores nor about the extra profit to you.

Furthermore, when a store can come out with its Clearance Sales, as most stores are now doing, and by advertising reduced prices, can turn its entire winter stock into cash and be ready with a brand new stock for spring, there isn't much question of value of that advertising for them and there certainly isn't much question of that kind of bargains for you.

Don't worry about these stores. They have had to figure in season upon cutting their prices out of season, and if you do not get your share of these bargains now, you certainly are not getting what is coming to you.

There are some remarkable bargains being offered in this paper these days, and any man who doesn't watch the advertising and get his share ought to be ashamed of his stupidity.
