Jeanne of the Marshes

—BY—
E. P. OPPENHEIM

By his side sat Forrest, the Sphinx, more than middle-aged, a man who had wandered all over the world, and who had tried very many ways without ever achieving prosperity, and was searching always, with tired eyes, for some new method of clothing and feeding himself upon an income of less than nothing a year. He had met the Princess at Martien had years ago, and silently took his place in her suite. Why, no one seemed to know, not even at first the Princess herself, who thought him chic, and adored what she could not understand. Curious Fletman and Jeanne these four, of society which had something of a Continental flavor, permeated every one of them, with chain of recognition, but without any noticeable hallmark.
There remained the girl Jeanne herself, half behind the curtain now, her hair thrust forward, her beautiful eyes contracted with the effort to penetrate that veil of darkness. One gift at least she seemed to have borrowed from the woman who gambled with life as easily and readily as with the cards which fell from her jeweled fingers. In her face, although it was still the face of a child, there was the same inscrutable expression, the same calm language of one who takes and receives, and what life offers with the indifference of the cynic, or the imperturbability of the philosopher. There was little of the joy or the anticipation of youth there, and yet behind the eyes, as they looked out into the darkness, there was something of some such effort, perhaps, as one seeking to penetrate the darkness of life must needs have. And as she looked, but by six living breakers gradually resolved themselves out of the dark, their filmy phosphorescence, and the form of the lastest broke like thunders upon the pebbles beach. She leaned a little forward, carried away with her fancy—that the shrill priding of the breakers was indeed the scream of human voices in pain.

CHAPTER VI
With the coming of dawn the storm passed away northwards, across a snow-flecked and still panting with its fury, and leaving behind it some waste and empty places. A lurid sunrise gave little promise of better weather, but by six o'clock the wind had fallen, and the full tide was swelling the creeks. On a sandbank, far down amongst the marshes, Jeanne stood, bathed with her hair streaming in the breeze, her face turned seaward, her eyes full of an unexpected joy. Everywhere she saw the tall rushes lay broken and prostrate upon the ground, the beach was strewn with timber from the dismantled cottages and unroofed sheds, groups of still frightened and restive cattle, a snapped sparrows, a fallen tree. But Jeanne knew none of these things. Her face was turned toward the ocean and the rising sun. She felt the sting of the sea wind upon her cheek, all the names of the early morning breakers. Far out seaward the long breakers, snow-flecked and white, created, came rolling in with a long, monotonous murmur toward the land. Above the grey gey was changing into blue. Almost directly over her head, rising higher and higher in little circles, a lark was singing. Jeanne half closed her eyes, and stood still engrossed by the unexpected beauty of her surroundings. Then suddenly a voice came traveling to her from across the marshes.
She turned round unwillingly, and with a vague feeling of irritation against this interruption, which seemed to her so inopportune, and in turning round she realized at once that her period of absorption must have lasted a good deal longer than she had any idea of. She had walked straight across the marshes toward the little hillock, on which she stood, but the way by which she had come was no longer visible. The swelling tide had circled round through some unseen channel, and was creeping now into the land by many crevices and narrow ways. She herself was upon an island, cut off from the dry land

CLEVER DODGE OF LUNATIC ALLOWS CHUM TO SUICIDE

Montreal, Sept. 23.—Knowing that James Granger, a fellow lunatic confined at the Verdun Hospital, was tired of life and wanted to kill himself, a comrade hatched a scheme whereby the attendants of the asylum were outwitted and the would-be suicide had sufficient time to accomplish his design.
An inquest held yesterday at the morgue brought out the facts and the explanation of the Verdun asylum authorities in the death of Granger who drowned himself some time ago.
It is the custom for the inmates, 110 in number, to be allowed out in the hospital ground for an airing each afternoon, under the surveillance of six attendants. As the inmates pass out they are counted. On this day Granger passed out as usual, and strolled down the river and remained there, and when the inmates were gathered in that afternoon, there was no one missing, apparently, the same number entered the asylum compared with those that went out.
The patients are counted in sections and by cunningly placing himself in two sections, his own and Granger's, the accomplice to the suicide, was counted twice and the right count was thus made up. A resolution was passed protesting against public men holding half a dozen offices at the same time, also passed in an eight hour day for street railway employees.
The resolution was unanimously adopted protesting against the sale of the Intercolonial Railway to a private company.
At a meeting of the Trades and Labor Congress were adopted, one was on the strike at Glace Bay and another on the strike calls on the government to appoint a royal commission to investigate the situation.
The secretary's report showed that there were 1,000 members in the Trades and Labor Congress, made up of 467 trades unions and clubs.

TRADES AND LABOR CONGRESS DISCUSSES IMPORTANT MATTERS

Quebec, Sept. 23.—At this morning's session of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, child labor and long hours in the cotton factories of the provinces of Quebec were discussed. Delegate Ainsy, of Montreal, informed the congress that men, women and children were forced to work sixty hours per week, which, he said, was altogether too long for the health of the workers. It was decided to ask the legislature to amend the law, reducing the hours of labor and providing for improved sanitary conditions.
Delegate Robert, Iron Molders Union, Montreal, declared that the factory laws in Quebec are not enforced in finding, and requested that the executive of the congress be instructed to interview the government in this connection.
There was a lively discussion regarding the fair wage clause in public contracts. Delegate Banoroff, Toronto, stated that as no penalty for breach of contract was provided in the fair wage clause, it was decided to request the government to amend the law so that contractors should be made to live up to agreements. They were forced to put proper material into buildings and to pay the workers a fair wage. It was decided to ask the government to appoint sufficient fair wage officers for all the offices at the same time.
A resolution was passed protesting against public men holding half a dozen offices at the same time, also passed in an eight hour day for street railway employees.
The resolution was unanimously adopted protesting against the sale of the Intercolonial Railway to a private company.

BIG RECEPTION FOR PEARY; BANQUET TOO FOR DR. COOK

Portland, Me., Sept. 23.—Crowding, pushing, jumping, 20,000 eager men, women and children, their path ablaze with red fire, cheered Commander Robert E. Peary, the Arctic explorer, from the Maine Central Railroad station, a mile across the city, to the spacious auditorium here this evening, where a public reception, one of the greatest in the history of the State of Maine, was held. It was indeed a grand welcome home.
Tonight Commander Peary was the central figure at the only public function which the explorer will attend until the North Pole controversy is settled. It was a brilliant affair and some four hundred citizens from Portland and South Portland were present.
New York, Sept. 23.—Over a thousand men and women as he entered the banquet hall tonight on the arm of Rear Admiral Wainwright Scott Schley, (retired), Dr. Frederick A. Cook later told his story before the most brilliant and largest audience that has ever gathered in the Waldorf-Astoria. He toasted the Brooklyn explorer and listened attentively to his recital in the form of an after-dinner address.
The banquet was given by the Arctic Club of America, of which Dr. Cook is a member, in recognition of his latest polar venture which culminated in his announcement that he had reached the North Pole. While there was no official representative from either state or nation, the assembly was cosmopolitan and enthusiastic. Crowded in the great hall room of the Waldorf-Astoria they toasted the Brooklyn explorer and listened attentively to his recital in the form of an after-dinner address.

BIG SHIPBUILDING PLANT PLANNED BY CANADIANS

(Montreal Herald.)
A big Canadian Ship Building Company is being formed. Canadian defense warships will be built in Montreal. Canadian capital is to finance it; and Canadians are organizing it, and will carry it on. The officers of the company will be Canadians.
The men interested are for the most part Montrealers, prominent in shipping and commercial circles. After the return of Mr. Brodeur, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and the presentation of his official report on the Imperial Defence Conference, and how its decisions will affect Canada, some decisive steps will be determined on by those who are forming the new company.
For several months, rumors that certain English firms would establish plants in Canada to carry on shipbuilding work, and ultimately undertake the construction of the Canadian navy, have been circulated. There is no doubt that such projects are most seriously entertained by several of the big English builders.
The men behind the new Canadian shipbuilding company, however, have kept their scheme a secret so far, and it will come as a surprise to all Canadians to learn that a number of their fellow-countrymen are alive to the possibilities of action, both of whom are dead. He seemed to make lots of money and, I suppose, spent much of it.
"Scott was one of the characters of the financial district," said A. T. Kelley of the brokerage firm of Kelley, Howley & Co., No. 25 Wall street. "He hunted the bucket shops and when he made a few hundred dollars in them nearly everybody in the street knew Scott."
Richard E. Taylor, Jr., superintendent of the People's Baths, No. 9 Centre Market Place, supported Scott for the last six or seven months.
"I first met Scott six years ago," said Taylor yesterday. "He came into my office and said he was broke and wanted a bath. We let him have one. He came very often after that, and we helped him. He gave out cards, and at one time carried a large sign for us."
"Scott told me once that he had sent his wife to live in Minneapolis, and I suppose she is still there. For about six months I paid his board at the Mills Hotel. He said that some day he would return the money."
Unless relatives of Scott are heard from in a few days, he will be buried in a pauper's grave.

ONCE RICH BROKER MAY BE BURIED IN PAUPER'S GRAVE

New York, Sept. 24.—Thirty years ago Wallace Scott, a wealthy Virginia plantation owner, came to New York and opened a brokerage office at No. 33 Exchange place, with the intention of making himself a power in Wall street. On Tuesday he was found dead of apoplexy in Mills Hotel, at Irvington and Chrystie streets. He was penniless.
When Scott came here he was thirty-one years old. He had a beautiful wife, who came of an old Southern family. He bought a fine mansion in West Twenty-third street and entertained lavishly. A daughter who is said to have later married a wealthy man, was born to him here.
Finally Scott's fortune was swept away in grain and cotton speculations and his home was sold. Efforts to recall failed, and, to earn bread and butter, he carried a sign in the Bowery advertising a bathing house.
When Scott came here thirty years ago he was a fine type of the old Southern gentleman, said M. P. Halliburton, who was formerly employed at No. 33 Broad street. He had offices with Boryton and Richardson, both of whom are dead. He seemed to make lots of money and, I suppose, spent much of it.
"Scott was one of the characters of the financial district," said A. T. Kelley of the brokerage firm of Kelley, Howley & Co., No. 25 Wall street. "He hunted the bucket shops and when he made a few hundred dollars in them nearly everybody in the street knew Scott."

MONTREAL WITNESS SUFFERS BY FIRE

Montreal, Sept. 23.—The Montreal Witness office was completely gutted by fire tonight, which broke out about 6.30. The damage is estimated at from $50,000 to $75,000. Several neighboring stores and offices also suffered. The fire was discovered by men in the job room, but who originated it is a mystery. It is thought, however, that a match may have been dropped by a smoker as he was leaving the building.
The flames began their work on the top floor and in an incredible short time the whole upper floor was a wreck. The roof then fell in and added to the damage. The flames ate their way down through the other floors to the press room in the basement.
In addition to the damage by fire the loss by water will be considerable. For some time the Witness has been at work installing new presses and had everything arranged to run off their enlarged paper tomorrow. Formerly their paper was a small-sized sheet, but they had installed five new presses capable of turning out a large-sized eight-column paper.
The Witness was to turn out its first sheets tomorrow, but the fire has prevented this. Arrangements have been made to have the Gazette to publish the paper for the present.
There was an insurance of $150,000 on the building and contents.

CANADIAN FIRMS SWINDLER'S VICTIMS

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 23.—A remarkable series of frauds has been discovered here in which Vancouver firms are interested, but where eastern Canadian and American wholesale houses have been victimized.
Robert Kelly, head of Kelly, Douglas & Co., a wholesale grocer, received a letter a week ago from an eastern supply house, thanking him for a large order, and stating that the firm was favorably impressed with Kelly's buyer, Mr. Blank.
Kelly had no employee of that name, and investigation showed that some confidence operator had visited wholesalers in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Battle Creek, Chicago, and other cities, and given orders in the name of Kelly, Douglas & Co., and cashed thousands of dollars of expense checks.
The operations were very extensive from the number of checks now returned. It is evident that at least sixty have been cashed, from $100 to $500 each. The checks were of a special form with a photo of Kelly, Douglas & Co.'s building and marked "Accepted" with a fake stamp of the Bank of Montreal.
Lavis with orders, the confidence man had no trouble in securing unlimited cash from the bank. The timber lands referred to are important and valuable ones, and the news of their transfer will be read with interest by timbermen over the province. The firm of S. E. Vaughan & Co. was made up of S. E. Vaughan, of St. Martins, and William O'Neil, of Black River.

CANADIAN NEWS NOTES

Toronto, Sept. 23.—Pearl Ward, the eleven-year-old daughter of Thomas Ward, of Amherstburg, was driving along the river road when she was struck by a team. She drew up to the side of the road to give the animals room to pass. Instead, the team split and the pole of the wagon struck her, throwing her into the air. When she alighted she was stricken of the wagon tongue. She clung to her perilous position by grasping onto the side sills and in this position was carried nearly a mile before the team was stopped. ## Too Early for Details

In reply he only smiled and said it was a trifle too soon to discuss the question of a Canadian company capturing the proposed industry of building war vessels, even if they were for Canada herself, before the Canadian company was yet formed. Sir Montagu did not wish to say too much without consulting his colleagues.
Major Stephens refused to be interviewed on the subject, saying that he had nothing to say for publication. It is well known, however, that the Harbor Commissioners of Montreal would do all in their power to support any company, which promised to add to the equipment of the Lawrence route. The new company's first move will probably be to place before the government an offer to establish a dry dock, and the offer will be secondarily a petition that the government grant them the usual three per cent. subsidy. They will then enter into competition with other companies for the work of placing a dry dock, sufficient to accommodate any vessel visiting Montreal, in the St. Lawrence. With the financial backing promised, it is certain that the Canadian company will be able to compete on its own merits with any in the world. Some of the finest engineering experts of Great Britain and Europe will be appointed to supervise the work of the new company, when they have once established themselves in Canada. Canada has a great many competent engineers; but it is felt that men of long experience in shipping matters should be employed to superintend the great works, which the new company will eventually undertake, and men of long experience in shipbuilding are not to be found in a country where the art of constructing even small vessels is yet in its infancy.

PAUPER SPEAKS OF MATTER OF COSTS

In order to settle a difference of opinion as to whether the verdict in the Lowell vs. Grey case in the circuit court carried costs or not, a Telegraph reporter asked Mr. Justice White about the matter last evening. His honor said that an application would probably be made to him to assess the costs, and it was optional with him to order either of them to pay full costs of the suit, or direct that each pay his own costs.
In regard to the McDougall case, his honor said he had not yet decided definitely about the McDougall sentence. He was waiting to hear from the attorney-general whether or not the latter would demand a new trial on the two counts of the indictment on which the jury disagreed. He was also waiting to hear from the defence whether they intended to go on with or abandon the reserve cases laid for.

condition and there may be a strong closing in consequence of such activity. Professional tendencies are all bearish and general sentiment seems to be swinging toward the short side in a majority of cases.

We believe protected purchases of a conservative and discriminating character on business after recessions with preference for the industrials will give the most satisfactory results to those who are satisfied with reasonable returns. The Hudson-Fulton celebration is undoubtedly diverting some attention from the stock market and the holiday voted for tomorrow will accentuate this, according to our calculations so that curtailed activity is not unlikely until next week.

The latest reports as to the corn crop indicate that the government report next month should make for a better fall showing. Market literature seems to us to be more bearish, while present comment is bullish in most important cases.

ASNUG COTTAGE FOR $2,500. Designed by Chas. S. Sedgwick, Architect.

This "snug cottage" contains all the conveniences and comforts of many larger and more expensive houses; it fills a want where people require more rooms and can only afford a small outlay. The site on the ground is 20 feet in width, by 30 feet in depth, exclusive of front and rear piazzas, that are each 8 feet wide. These piazzas extend across the front and rear of the roof of the front piazza is shingled like the main roof and the rear piazza is carried up two stories, with a screened sleeping balcony on the second floor. The posts are 14 feet in height. The roof is high pitched, with wide projected eaves which brought out on a screen, and the timber rafters showing on the under side.

This cottage has a light and jaunty appearance; it is simple in outline and in detail. There are no expensive bay-windows or projections, everything being kept on plain lines. The first story is 9 feet high, the second story 8 feet high. The rooms being full square in height, the long spaces at the sides being cut off for closets. There is but one chimney, accommodating the kitchen and heating apparatus in the basement. A small hot-air furnace warms the entire house. The stairway to the second story leads up at the rear between the dining-room and kitchen, and is cut off from the living room with a sliding door. The piazzas, front and rear, are screened in and a portion of the rear piazza is enclosed with siding, making a good space for refrigerator and store-room in connection with the kitchen. On the second floor are three bedrooms, each provided with ample closets and a bathroom. The stairs are continued up to the attic space, that may be used for storage purposes. The first floor is finished in Washington fir and stained, with the same wood for floor; also for floor in the second story, the casings and finish being in soft wood and painted. The house is sided with narrow siding, and all the upper portion of the house painted white, and the roof shingles stained either a red-brown or rose. It is estimated that this house can be built, including heating and plumbing, for $2,500.

UNIQUE CITY CHARTER IS ADOPTED BY ST. JOSEPH, MO.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 23.—St. Joseph did not adopt the commission form of government. It did, however, hold an election Sept. 7th and voted to adopt a new charter which has so many good features in it that it aroused the vigorous opposition of the public service corporations and every ward healer and professional politician in the city.

It is the most important provision of the charter: It abolishes the old council composed of ward representatives and establishes a council of five members elected at large. Increases the power of the mayor and places the burden of responsibility for the city government directly upon him. Makes the mayor the executive head of the city and limits the council entirely to legislative duties.

ALL EUROPE MAD OVER AIRSHIPS

Every Auto Factory in France Has Added Aeroplane Plant—England Buys Dirigible—Big English Flyer

New York, Sept. 24.—"All Europe is airship mad." Every automobile factory in France has added an aeroplane department to its equipment and is building either complete machines or engines for serial production. It is amazing.

Sidney B. Rowman, who went to Rheims to represent the Aeroplane Club of America during the recent aviation week, thus summarized the foreign craze for this new mode of transport: "The dirigible is a lighter-than-air machine. It represents one of the longest steps in the new air age."

It can be used for commercial purposes, Mr. Rowman asserted. "It will be an absolutely practical automobile of the air. The dirigible will be 300 feet long and will carry twenty passengers at fifty miles an hour. Two engines of 220 horsepower each will drive the propellers."

Mr. Rowman described another marvelous machine, this one a heavier-than-air monoplane, invented by a man named Nani. It has planes which move forward and backward precisely like the wings of a bird, and has already been successfully operated. Nani, he said, intends to drive from Paris to London before the first of the year.

Fashion Fads for Fall

One of the latest new fall suits is of cheviot, with an extra long coat. The gown beneath is trimmed about the hips with a short tunic of cheviot, and it is cut on the panner lines or circular, being only evident when the coat is removed.

It is quite plain that there will be no simple skirts this fall and winter, and yet the trimmed skirts will not be so much in evidence, but pleats will be used in nearly all models. There will evidently be no hard and fast rule as to how the pleats are to be arranged as long as they are a part of the skirt design itself. The new models clear the ground, and the gored patterns are much preferred to the circular styles. Some skirts are pleated all around the waist from a narrow and plain front gore, and others display the pleats in groups, yet there is no definite rule for this.

The long coats will be worn, but the length is merely a matter of taste and becomingness, and the fit is to be a least bit closer than the models of last year. There will be more attempts to define the waist line, a little hint that the hips are to be fashionable again. The coats are cut with the same number of seams as before and at the same points. One of the newest effects is to trim with a Tuxedo collar in a contrasting color from the material and then add a collar made from

PLAYGROUND REGULATION

Following are the regulations for the new playgrounds as contained in a by-law passed by the Toronto city council.

The playgrounds will be open to the public daily, except Sunday, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 8 p. m., or at such hours as may from time to time be appointed by the council. The playground shall remain open for the entire day, and shall be open to the public during such hours.

During the hours at which attendance is required at the public schools, no child shall be permitted in said grounds who should be at school, and any such child may be ejected and given in charge of a trust officer.

It shall be the duty and power of the corporation to enforce and to insist on rotation in the use of the apparatus.

No liability shall be incurred by the corporation of the city of Toronto on account of injury to any person caused by the use of the apparatus by themselves or otherwise on the said grounds.

The general provisions of this by-law, respecting public squares and parks or grounds, shall, so far as they are applicable, apply to the said playgrounds.

BACK, WAY BACK TO THE FARM

Onto the ears of Thomas Knowles, a copper in his beat, there came a truly rural sound, most strange on Water street. It sounded like the good old farm where Thomas used to roam; it was the cry of chickens small, a long way from their home, New Thomas was a kindly man, most policemen go, so he started to investigate and found that down below in the cellar of a vacant house beneath some coals and sticks were three bags full of misery and also full of chicks. He took them to the station house and placed them in a box, and he was very much surprised to find that the birds were not as fat as he had expected, but they were certainly not as thin as he had feared.

After looking over all the machines at the station house, he was very much surprised to find that the birds were not as fat as he had expected, but they were certainly not as thin as he had feared.

Five wheels and a small battery virtually constitute the mechanism of a wonderful clock just invented in England. It will run three years without attention, and at the end of that time all that is required is to attach a new battery, according to the Cleveland Leader.

Another new English clock enables the possessor to ascertain at a glance the mean time the meridian and relative position of every part of the empire, besides being able to witness the actual speed and direction of the earth's rotation. The motive power is a clock, in the base of the stand, and the apparatus requires winding only once a week.

TRY SUGAR WHEN TIRED

The role and importance of sugar as a rapid reliever of fatigue is one which we are only just beginning to appreciate, and which goes surprisingly far already. It has been incorporated into the most hard-headed, cold-blooded, matter-of-fact diet on earth, the German army ration, especially the "forced-march" emergency ration. No other food of the bulk can take its place. It is the belief of careful observers of men, particularly in the tropics, that the large amount of sugar, and sugar-containing foods they are supplied with, will prove.

For instance, the United States government now buys the best and purest of candy by the ton, and ships it to the Philippines, to be supplied to the engineers and messes finding that its use diminishes the craving for native brandy and it has long been a matter of comment from thoughtful observers that the amount of drunkenness of a race or class is in inverse ratio to the amount of sugar it consumes.

A trained nurse says: "In the practice of my profession I have found so many points in favor of Grape-Nuts that I unhesitatingly recommend it to all my patients."

"It is delicate and pleasing to the palate (an essential in food for the sick) and can be adapted to all ages, being softened with milk or cream for babies or the aged when deficiency of teeth renders mastication impossible. For fever patients those on liquid diet, Grape-Nuts and albumen water are most nourishing and refreshing."

"This receipt of my own idea and is made as follows: Soak a teaspoonful of Grape-Nuts in a glass of water for an hour, strain and serve with the beaten white of an egg and a spoonful of fruit juice for flavoring. This affords a great deal of nourishment that even the weakest stomach can assimilate without any distress."

"My husband is a physician and he uses Grape-Nuts himself, and orders it many times for his patients."

"Personally I regard a dish of Grape-Nuts with fresh or stewed fruit as the ideal breakfast for anyone—well or sick."

"In any case of stomach trouble, nervous prostration or brain fog, a 10 day trial of Grape-Nuts will work wonders toward nourishing and rebuilding and in this way finding the trouble."

OPERA COMPANY'S WARM WELCOME

Fra Diavolo Sung in Fine Style Last Night—Principals Excellent Singers and Actors and Chorus Good

That the Robinson Opera Company has lost none of the popularity and favor which have marked former visits here, was amply testified by the rounds of applause and the frequent curtain calls which greeted the performers in the Opera House last night in their presentation of Fra Diavolo. The opera was well sung, the different members of the cast acquitting themselves admirably to their parts.

The soprano prima donna, Miss Lucie Nola, made a distinct hit in the first act, in her Diavolo solo, and it made her a favorite instantly. It is some time since a soprano voice possessing such a rich cultivation and excellent range as that of Miss Nola, has been heard in light opera, and the audience showed its appreciation by its numerous encores. Her solo in the second act, My Love is Like the Red, Red Rose, was especially well rendered, and displayed sweet qualities of her magnificent voice in a meritorious manner. She also is an excellent actress.

In the part of Lorenzo, the lover, John O'Donnell's tenor voice showed up to advantage, and his acting was admirably presented. He, too, won favor in an introduced solo.

Jack Leslie and Edward Beck, in the comedy roles of Beppo and Giacomo, amply filled the requirements of their parts, and their very appearance on the stage was the signal for uproarious laughter. The acting of both throughout the piece was certainly very comical, in words, expression and pantomime, and elicited much applause. Mr. Beck is the possessor of a bass voice, the equal of which is not often heard in comic opera here, especially in a comedy role. His rendering of the Robber Chief in the last act was repeatedly encored.

Miss Essie Barton as Lady Allcash, was heartily welcomed, and George Le Roy as Lord Allcash, her husband, on their honeymoon, made the most of parts which did not afford great opportunity or scope.

Kirk Newell sang and acted well, as Matteo, and Miss Allsworth was well received as Francesca. A pleasing feature of the evening was the introduction of the big sextette from Lucia, which was sung in masterly style by Misses Nola and Barton, and Messrs. Nelson, O'Donnell, Beck and Le Roy.

The company will present Fra Diavolo again tonight, and it will be welcome news that they will be here all next week, singing several operas.

NICKEL'S SHOW IS DRAWING BIG CROWDS

Owing to a misunderstanding, the film lecture on The Leopard Queen, booked for the Nickel yesterday, was not presented, but will be given later. Instead, that powerful temperance story, Ten Nights in a Barroom, was substituted and it proved a most engaging and helpful story, as told with pathos and force by Miss Grace Renard. Miss Kurtis sang I Love But You, in a pleasing manner, and Fred Driscoll was encored time and again in his

CANADA'S TRADE

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—This year the Department of Trade and Commerce decided on a new departure in the issuance of the annual report of the department in seven small blue books instead of a large one. It was thought by doing this, information of interest to the business community could be supplied earlier. That the supposition is correct is shown by the issue yesterday, three months ahead of last year, of Part II of the report, giving details of Canada's trade with the United Kingdom, the United States, France and Germany. Imports and exports from the countries mentioned for the year ending March 31, as compared with the previous twelve months, were as follows:

Imports:	1907-08	1908-09
France	$ 10,251,717	$ 8,028,866
Germany	8,250,745	6,061,454

FRILLS THE FAD ON SHIRTTWAISTS. Every other shirtwaist shown among the new models for fall has the fastening at one side of the front and a crisp frill running down the edge. For the woman who is planning an autumn journey nothing will be cooler or neater than one of these smart little frilled silk blouses in a color that blends with the traveling suit. The collar and cuffs are of heavy net banded with rows of soutache and the buttons, set along the side of the pleated frill, are also trimmed with soutache.

SUPERIOR PAINLESS DENTISTRY!

There is a world wide cry against the dentists that they torture their patients. Those of strong physique submit and endure the agony. With a second class this is simply impossible, and thousands of teeth are neglected and lost even though the patients may be able to pay for our most skillful services. Then there is a third class who, after months of mental torture in anticipation, finally come into our hands, and, with nerves strung to a hurtful point, pass through the ordeal, but at what a cost! We do not sufficiently consider the consequences of shock in the dental chair, yet undoubtedly many suffer for months and even years from injuries to the nervous system received whilst in our hands.

The greatest duty of our profession today is to discover and adopt a mode of painlessly performing our operations.

NOTE—The above is an abstract from a paper read by an eminent dentist of New York City before a society of dentists in Philadelphia.

The famous Hale Method of painless dentistry, for which we are sole agents for Canada is the best Method on earth.

In the police court this morning James Ramsey, charged with assaulting John Halpin on August 5 was allowed to go on his own recognizance as Halpin is out of the city. He was warned by Judge Ritchie as to his future good behavior and told that the charge might be taken up again on Halpin's return. One man was fined $4 for drunkenness but the fine allowed to stand.

Joe P. Edwards, freight agent of the D. A. R., met with what was nearly a fatal accident at Annapolis the other evening. While sealing freight cars he tripped over an air pipe, thus being lying on the ground, and fell striking his stomach on a bench upon which he had been standing. This rendered him almost unconscious; but he had consciousness enough to crawl away from the track upon which an engine was approaching. Mr. Edwards has since been confined to his house, but is improving.

SUBURBANITES

ON I. C. R. ARE WELL PLEASSED

I. C. R. Board Meets Their Wishes Regarding Train Service—May be Suburbanite Association Formed

Suburbanites living along the line of the I. C. R. are greatly pleased with the result of the interview granted yesterday afternoon by Messrs. F. P. Brady and E. Tiffin, of the I. C. R. board of management. The railway men decided to accede to the request for continuing through the winter the morning train from Hampton, arriving at 7.45, and also announced that this train would make the return trip to Hampton at 1.15 p. m. In the evening the Quebec express will leave at 6.30 instead of 6.40, and will make all the local stops.

This schedule is eminently satisfactory to the suburban residents, and they feel very grateful for the manner in which the officials have met their wishes. Several of the patrons of the morning train today expressed the view that J. C. R. had been very generous and fair in thus providing a service that meets all the needs of the people whose business requires their presence in the city, but who prefer to make their homes in the country.

A project is now being mooted to form an association of suburbanites living between St. John and Hampton with the object of promoting a greater interest in suburban life and also to take up with the railway any matters which from time to time may arise. The primary object of such an association would be to try to induce a larger number of people to live in the country the year around, so that the patronage of suburban trains would be of such a volume that it would pay the railway to give a permanent all the year service. Heretofore one of the great drawbacks has been the fact that the suburban service has been simply a summer arrangement, and many people would not undertake the responsibility of a permanent residence without being assured that they could get in and out of the city at such times as were necessary.

It is argued that an association of the kind proposed could do very effective work in interesting people who now live in the country only in the summer to make their homes there the year round. There are plenty of houses to accommodate a large number and with the surety of an efficient service all the year many would probably prefer the life in the country to that of the city.

The delegation before Messrs. Tiffin and Brady yesterday consisted of E. S. Carter, E. A. Schofield, T. E. G. Armstrong, Walter Fleming, John McAvity, J. S. Gibbons, H. Northrup, A. P. Paterson, George W. Ketchum and Messrs. Hornbrook and Trimble. After the delegation withdrew Messrs. Brady and Tiffin discussed their request with Terminal Agent L. R. Ross and then made their arrangements as here given.

WORCESTER TEAM HERE FOR GAMES WITH MARATHONS

Great interest centres in the game scheduled for this afternoon between the crack Worcester ball team, champions of the New England league, and the Marathons. The visitors are easily the best team that have come here in a long while, and it will be of interest to see how the locals compare with them, as to the fine points of the game. The starting hour is 3 o'clock. McAllister will be the umpire. The champions arrived on the Eastern line steamer Calvin Austin this morning. The teams will line up for this afternoon's game as follows: Marathons. Worcester. Catcher. Rootes. . . . .Laigne. Pitches. . . . .O'Connor. Batters. . . . .Bradley. First base. Bradbury. . . . .Logan. Second base. Cregan. . . . .Lorch. Titus. . . . .Short stop. Copeland S. S. . . . .Shaw. Left field. D. Malcolm. . . . .Burdett. Centre field. Small. . . . .Kiernan. NOW IS UNDERWEAR TIME

Cool nights and mornings, warm at noon-time. That's the weather program now, with occasional raw days thrown in to catch the unwary.

Only one way to guard yourself against colds and attendant ills and that is to be clothed properly. We've got the proper underwear in the proper weights and properly priced.

Wolsey Underwear retains its shape even after repeated washings. It never felts or thickens, and it greatly improves the set of the outer garments. It is made in many different weights, to suit all kinds of weather, $2.00 to $3.00 per garment.

"Oakley" brand underwear of pure lambs wool and unshrinkable, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 per garment.

Stanfield's unshrinkable all-wool underwear, in light, medium and heavy weights, $1.00 to $1.50 per garment.

"Penman's" celebrated n a e s of underwear, natural wool $1.00, $1.25 per garment. Lambs' wool $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 per garment. Merino 50, 75c. per garment.

"Dr. Deimel's" linen mesh underwear in light and heavy weights $3 per garment.
