PARLIAMENT.

Col. Domville Appears Before the Public Accounts Committee.

An Expensive Enquiry That the Government Now Admits Was Unnacessary.

Some More Light Cast Upon Blair's Iniquitious Railway Contracts-Sir Wilfrid and the Alaska Boundary.

OTTAWA, June 2 - Colonel Domville appeared before the public accourts committee this morning and demanded that investigation be resumed into the affair of the $300 cheque received by him in 1887, ostensibly as payment of armory rent to J. Milton Barnes. This investigation was carried on last session, but when the committee was about ready to report, Sir Louis Davies and other members asked that the final conclusion be not reached until Col. Domville be heard. The colonel was then in British Co-The colonel was then in British Co-lumbia, and it was not convenient for him to attend. It was therefore, exceed that the matter should stand over to give the colonel a chance. When he appeared today desiring to be confronted by both his accusers, he was informed that it was only necessary to get the house to refer the evidence back to the committee.

This afternoon Colonel Domville, in a manner displaying some new cause of excitement, offered his motion. He informed the house that Mr. Foster had made these charges against him, and that he would hold Mr. Foster responsible for them. Mr. Foster must make good these charges. The colonel declared that he would not allow Mr. Foster to escape. He would have to prove all the charges made by some newspapers, which spoke of the affair as the Domville scandal. Mr. Foster could not hide behind Colonel Markham, who had provided him with certain papers. These charges must be prosecuted to the end, for the sake of the grand name of Kings county, from which Domville said he had driven Mr. Foster. The colonel appeared to be rather jerky and hysterical in his

Mr. Kaulbach stated in a short speech his objections to the measure. He referred to the evidence to show the property could have been bought for less money. He was sure that this extension would not afford an escape from outlay by the government toward the construction of the bridge at Quebec. Mr. Kaulback would not be surprised if he house were this year or next asked to vote money for this enterprise. There were other large prospective expenses connected with this transaction. Incidentally, Kaulbach paid a high tribute to the advantages of Halifax as a winter

Mr. Pope (conservative), who always supported the Drummond bill, re-marked that he was still in favor of the extension to Montreal. He could not understand why Mr. Blair could not give the results of the first year's operation of the extension. He did not think the Intercolonial had ever been so well managed under other governments. He would be willing now to take over the road and pay the government $200,000 a year the first ten years, $300,000 a year next decade, and $400,000 for the third decade. He thought that the city of St. John had been greatly benefitted by the Canadian Pacific extension to that city by reason of the fact that the road was managed on business A purely business management of the Intercolonial would have the same result. In committee Mr. Blair stated that the Drummond County rolling stock had not been bought, except a snow plough and some tools. He did not appear to be clear as to whether by agreement the government was required to purchase this plant. Mr. Blair also explained that under his new agreement the $6,000 a year which by the first agreement was to be paid to the Grand Trunk for use of their property at Chaudiere, would not be payable. The escape from this charge

House adjourned at one o'clock in the morning.

On the motion to go into supply, Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper moved a resolution condemning the course of the government in regard to an alleged inquiry into the conduct of Judge Spink of British Columbia. This prosecution was undertaken apparently to satisfy the malice of certain politicians in British Columbia. It failed miserably. and Solicitor General Fitzpatrick admits that Spink came out without a stain on his character. But it cost a good deal of money, paid to the government heelers. The whole prosecution was abandoned for want of evidence, but not until some grit lawyers had got a fairly good thing out of it. Sir Charles Hibbert reviewed the whole circumstances during the afternoon and evening. Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick, replying, admitted that the charges were unfounded, but claimed that the charges were so serious as to justify the government in authorizing an investigation. Mr. Bennett of East Simcoe continued the debate. OTTAWA, June 5.—The first thing that happened when the house met today was the production and reading by the premier of the Alaska and Yukon boundary protocols. The statement read by him is the same as was presented last week by the im-perial government and printed in Canadian papers of Monday morning.

Sir Wilfrid referred to the documents only so far as to show the difference between the British and United States proposals. These differences are two. As to the tribunal of arbitration, the British commissioners proposed arbitration by three men, one chosen by each party and the third by the other two. The United States proposed a commission of six men, half appointed by each side. Objection is made to this tribunal that as there is no referee it would afford no guarantee of finality. The other difference relates to matters to be arbitrated. The British side was willing to account fifty years! States proposed that all territory now occupied by that country shall be assigned to the United States, whether conveyed by treaties or not. The British commissioners could not accept this preliminary and so the whole negotiations were arrested, and this subject removed from discussion by Sir Charles Tupper asked whether a modus vivendi had been reached as to the possession of disputed territory in the meantime.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that provisional boundaries had been established at White Pass and Chilcoot Pass, and it was proposed to establish one on Dawson Trail.

Sir Charles pointed out that the authorized statement at the time negotiations ceased was that the proceedings had been adjourned.

ings had been adjourned. More recently it had been discovered that the negotiations had been entirely arrested, with the intention of not resuming unless the Alaska boundary question was removed. This fact, now disclosed, placed the Canadian commissioners in a better light than their previous statement. Sir Charles could not possibly imagine why the United States should have declined to accept as a basis of negotiations the principles accepted in the Venezuela arbitration. His own fear was that Canadian interests would suffer by the adoption of the fifty years' rule. Last year Mr. Sifton, in spite of warnings on the opposition side, had admitted that the settlements on the Lynn canal coast had been in occupation adverse to Canada from "time imme-Sir Charles could not see that the United States or Russia could have acquired a just title by occupation of territory which the Russian treaty of 1825 distinctly assigned to

In all our intercourse with each other even as we have seen thrist in your public ministry, we have seen and felt His gracious presence in your private life and work. We desire to refer with deep gratitude to your work amongst the young. We believe to your deveted and untiring labors, a work has been done touching the heart and life of the young people of this congregation from which the fruitage is only beginning to be reaped. We rejoice in the rich promise of this new life as we look out upon the days to come and see in it a strength and hope of the future.

Since you came among is you have established a home for yourself, your children were born here, and most of them are now in communion with this church.

We would make special reference to the good work done in this congregation by your ar ner in life, Mrs. Bruce, and we desire to convey to her our heartfelt appreciation of the devoted service she has rendered in every feature of our work, and would in particular bear record to the great impetus she has given to foreign mission work in our midst.

And now in saying farewell, we assure you we shall ever cherish the memory of your work among its and pray that you may fully realize your most sanguine hopes in your new field of labors. May our fleavenly Father grant His richest blessing to rest on you and yours, giving you all things richly to enjoy both in this life and that which is to come.

On behalf of the congregation,

Rev. Dr. Bruce in response said that the occasion was altogether different from any previous one in which he had played a prominent part. When he came into the room, beautified as it has often been by loving hands, he forgot for an instant the reason for this gathering, but he immediately remembered its reference to himself and family; that it was not a welcome but a farewell. For sixteen years he had spoken in various forms to the people, and now he had nothing new come together he would express his affectionate farewell, and to those affectionate farewell, and to those whose feelings were expressed by the kind address he would give his warmest thanks. He would cherish the address, which contained so much. In its reference to increased financial prosperity they knew that he felt it was because of the deepening of the spiritual life. They had been pleased to refer to his presence at times of to refer to his presence at times of sickness, and he felt that the strongest cords which bound them were those entwined when wrapped together in the dark clouds of misfortune. While he regarded these things with deep gratitude, yet deeper than all was that with which he received the recognition of his work with the young. More valuable than a crown of gold is the thought that he had cared for the children and that the children loved him. He would implore parents to pray earnestly for guidance, for never would they write on a more sensitive tablet than the hearts of their children. He had taken up this work, the ministry to said that it was with deep regret that he responded to his name to say farewell to the retiring pastor. He knew that the genial pastor of St. David's was enshrined in the hearts of the people of his church, and they with him had thought that Dr. Bruce was foreordained to remain as pastor of St. David's, but it was evident that he had fallen from grace. If there had been trouble or failure his departure would have been taken differently, but now it was the cause of unfeigned regret. Mr. Read tendered the ed regret. Mr. Read tendered the heartlest wishes of himself and people to Dr. Brace and his family, and would ask nothing more for him than that he should be as successful Rev. J. A. Gordon, pastor of Main street Baptist church, said that he recognized in the movement of God's servants a plan deeper than human servants a plan deeper than numan mind could fathom. Therefore he heartily concurred in it, and wished Dr. Bruce all success in his new sphere of labor for the Master. No man cutside of the Baptist ministry, and very few in it, were more heartily es-teemed by that denomination repre-sented in this city than the ex-pastor of St. David's. Sometimes we can hardly understand, said Mr. Gordon, how these seeming reverses come, but nothing good does of can come without its shadowy background. He wished to express the hearty goodwill and God-speed of himself and people, but he pitied Dr. Bruce's successor. Rev. J. L. Gordon, pastor of the Congregational church, faid he presumed there were twenty preachers present, and if they would all tell what they thought of Dr. Bruce there would still be something good to relate, for sixteen years' work cannot be told in one hour. The doctor had given himself to a splendid work, work among boys. The boy is a unfulfiled prophecy, and he who lays hold of the youth lays hold of the future. He therefore congratulated Dr. Bruce on his new work, and he loped that God would bless him in the future as in the past. Rev. D. M. Gordon of Pine Hill sem-inary, Halifax, said he wanted to join in the kindly hopes for Dr. Bruce's the city of fog, and there they had clear views as to the value of Dr. Bruce's ministry. While here the pastor of St. David's had put his heart and hand into every department of church work. The grave responsibil-ities which he now assumes should be acknowledged. He had gone into a work second to none in its nobility and its consequent fruition. Dr. Gor-don desired to express his pleasure in being able to extend to the retiring success in the new department, and although he felt he was quite right in going, he deeply regretted to lose one whom he had learned to love.

Rev. J. W. Clark, pastor of Water-loo street Free Baptist church, said that no one would dispute the conviction that Dr. Bruce has in regard to being directed of God to this new field, and so we cannot do otherwise than bow submissively to the Providence which guides him away, but with Mr. (J. A.) Gordon he pitied the successor to the indefatigable doctor. For eight years he had known the pastor of St. David's, and now he deeply regretted his departure from the city and conveyed to

OTTAWA LETTER.

Mr. Blair's Amazing Drummond Counties Railway Bargain. -

The Case of Young Mr. Costigan and His Doings While Collector at Winnipeg.

The Raid That Sifton Made on the Treasury in Connection With the Bogus Manitoba Prosecutions.

OTTAWA. May 30. It is an inpocent looking notice which Mr. Blair has placed on the file in regard to the Grand Trunk railway, but innocent as it is, it involves a lose to the country of a clear two million dollars. As was suggested some weeks ago, the worst feature of the Drummond County bargain now before the house, is that it involves the permanence of the arrangement with the Grand Trunk, and Mr. Blair has a bill now under notice which will fix upon Canada that bargain for 99 years to come. If the senate has the same idea of duty that it had two years ago, it will not allow this Grand Trunk bill to pass.

Notwithstanding the fact that this transaction has been discussed and reported many times, it may be worth while to go over it again as briefly and tersely as possible. Let us see now what Mr. Blair proposes to do with the Grand Trunk. He proposes in the first place to obtain from that company the right to run trains over a piece of road between Montreal and the Drummond Counties line. From the end of the Drummond road at St. Rosalie to the St. Lawrence river at Montreal is 35 miles. It is a level country, and the cost of the road is estimated at $500,000 to $600,000. Instead of building and owning an independent line from St. Rosalie to Montreal, Mr. Blair buys from the Grand Trunk the right to use this property. He pays for it $37,500, or a little over $1,000 per mile. This is paid for the right to run trains over the road. Now the Grand Trunk uses the property at present twenty-five times as much as the Intercolonial, as Mr. Blair informed the house last week.

The rental was fixed in this way: It was assumed that the road was worth $1,500,000, and Mr. Blair agreed to pay 5 per cent. interest on one half the value. He does not get one half the use, nor even one tenth part, But he pays on the basis of half the use. Mr. Fielding borrows money at 21-2 per cent., but Mr. Blair pays the Grand Trunk 5 per cent. This road could be built for $15,000 a mile, and if we make the extravagant supposition that $15,000 a mile would have to be paid for the right of way, the whole uld be built for $1,050,000. Even if the government had to pay 3 per est it would only have a charge of $31,000 a year for the exclusive ownership of the road. This is for the one-twentieth part of the use of it. Moreover, Mr. Blair is not allowed to run suburban trains between Montreal and any part of this line, and therefore loses the immense and profitable local business which he would get if the government owned the road. Why should be pay onehalf the cost of the road figured at double the price for which the road could be built now, and five per cent. interest, when he gets only a small fraction of the use of the road and can borrow money at less than 3 per cent interest? Obviously if the road to be obtained it would be much bet-ter to pay the $750,000 in cash at once, instead of paying 5 per cent. interest on it. Then it would only cost $27,000 a year instead of $37,500.

The next transaction relates to the bridge at Montreal. Having reached the river Mr. Blair wants to take hi trains over. He pays the Grand Trunk $40,000 a year for the privilege of sending his trains across. The Canadian Pacific railway has a bridge at Montreal which cost a little less than a million lollars. It was built a good many years ago, when such structures are more expensive than they are now. Mr. Blair could prebuild one at the same price The cost of that to the country would at 3 per cent. be $30,000 a year, and at 21-2 per cent. $25,000. Then we would have had the whole bridge to use for the Intercolonial and get what revenue might be derived from selling running rights. But we are paying $40,000 a year, or a great deal more money, for a chance to use the Grand bridge, though the Grand Trunk Co. runs 25 trains over it for every train sent over by the Interco onial. An astonishing feature is that the Grand Trunk bridge only the year before last received a dominion subsidy of $300,000. The fact is the dominion government is bearing more than the whole cost of the bridge computed at the price for which it could now be built, and the Grand Trunk Co., which has 96 per cent. of the use of it, is saved clear of all expense and makes something besides.

Thirdly, Mr. Blair pays the Grand Trunk company $62,500 a year for the use of station buildings and grounds and yards at Montreal. This is made up by assuming a price of $2,500,00 for the property and allowing the Grand Trunk five per cent, on half the value It is stated that the government could provide itself with a terminus at a lower figure. I do not propose to go into that, but only to say that if there is $2,500,000 worth of property which the railway department of Canada wants to use it ought to pay in proportion to the use it has of this property. At present it has less than one-twentieth the use of it and is paying for half the use. At present also it is paying 5 per cent. on haif the cost when the interest charged should be only half that much, ment of half the cost of the property, then why not pay the $1,250,060 out-right and borrow the money at current prices. But by this bill we are not only paying 5 per cent now, but agreeing to do so for 99 years. The rate of interest on the Canadian debt in 25 years has gone down from per cent to 2 1-2 per cent. Where will it be in 39 years from now? Yet Mr. Blair is agreeing to pay 5 per cent for all this period, hough in 25 years the current rate will undoubtedly be less than 2 per cent.

The Grand Trunk has got a great bargain out of Mr. Blair. It is practically doing a bank business with With the Dominion government guaranteeing $140,000 a year, the company can float three per cent bonds above par to the extent of that interest charge. In other words, the company will borrow from English capi-talists at 3 per cent and lend to Mr. Blair at 5 per cent. If the senate has any perception of the value of its services two years ago, it will repeat its excellent record of that year if it cannot do better and induce Mr. Blair to make the same change in the Grand Trunk contract that he has made in the Drummond contract. A change from a 4 per cent guarantee to a direct purchase saved the country $490,000 in the Drummond transaction. A change from 5 per cent guarantee to a regular purchase in he Grand Trunk transaction will save oridge, which represents an excess capitalization of $500,000.

Sir Charles Tupper and the other opposition members had a sharp little controversy with the government yesterday over the matter of giving information. It arose over an extraorcinary prospectus of one of the British mining companies, which announced that the company had exclusive information from Mr. Ogilvie row chief commissioner of the Yukon concerning the location of mineral This announcement gave a lands great impetus to the sale of their stock and led to some sharp criticism. Mr. Colmer of the high commissioner's office at once wrote to the papers in London, stating that he had informa tion from the government at Ottawa that no exclusive information was given by government officers to any company. The question on the order paper inquired what explanation the government had to offer in regard to the matter, seeing that the prospectus appeared to quote Mr. Ogilvie's words. and the company asserted that the Ogilvie statement was given them with the express understanding that it should be used in the prospectus.

Mr. Ogilvie had made a statement to the government which would fill perhaps two columns of a newspaper. Mr. Sifton, replying to the question made no statement on behalf of the government, but threw Mr. Ogilvie's statement on the table, stating that it was too long to read. A statement of that kind is not much good on the table, where the public cannot see it, and the opposition asked that it read or taken as read, so that it might appear in Hansard. There was a sharp controversy over the matter, but the government refused to do anything about it. All the same the letter will be in Hansard, because on mo-Tupper read every word of it. It is an extraordinary statement, showing that Mr. Ogilvie did undoubtedly authorize the use of his name and the statement that he had given exclusive information to this company. He had gone over with Mr. Roche, one of the promoters, the whole matter, pointing out to him where areas should be taken up, explaining processes of operation, assisting him to perfect a sort of drilling or boring machine, of which Mr. Roche seems to have exclusive use, and generally giving the company assistance such as no other man could give and no other company ever got. Mr. Ogilvie says that he got no pay for it, and everybody will be lieve him. He is believed to be the kind of man who does not make money for himself out of his position It is probable that he would have given any other company the same assistance. If it came in his way, as he did this one. But there are hun dreds of companies in London, and it never came in Mr. Ogilvie's way to give them help. Nor would it be possible for more than one company to say to the investing world that it had exclusive information from the government officer who knows more about the Yukon than any other man in the world.

Sir James Edgar has an idea that on a mation to adjourn, circumstances made under as occurred yesterday, no ject may be mentioned but, the one originally taken up. But a subjected connected with the Yukon mining companies has wide possibilitie of travel, and it was only a short dis ance to a review of Sir Louis Davies' advice to the meeting he addressed in Wales. The minister of marine advised capitalists to exercise great prudence in Yukon investments, see that "a mine is a hole in the ground the owner of which is a liar." This view expressed by Sir Louis was followed a few days later by a letter recommending investments in a company promoted by Col. Domville, in which the colonel is set forth as a man of great capacity and trustworthiness. Naturally Sir Charles Tupper mentioned this matter in spite of the speaker's suggestion.

8. D. S. OTTAWA, May 31.-The public accounts committee did not make any further important discoveries in the cross-examination of Mr. Christie by the solicitor general, Mr. Fitzpatrick attempted to show that Mr. Christie had an imaginary grievance and therefore made complaint of the condition of the Winnipeg office under Mr. Costigan. He drew from the late deputy collector the fact that he had made no complaint, except to the department, of Mr. Costigan's conduc until after he had himself failed to secure the collectorship and had been transferred to Calgary, where he did not wish to go. Mr. Fitzpatrick contended that the change to a collectorship at Calgary from the position of deputy at Winnipeg was a promotion. Mr. Christie holds that an as-holds a higher position than a collecthat may be, it would appear that if the government regards the offer of the collectorship at Calgary as a promotion, it is hardly open to the solicitor general to contend that Mr Christie was not a good officer.

The financial irregularities in the Costigan case so far trought forward are four. First, he received a remittance by registered letter from an officer in Virden, and after making an entry in a little book kept for the pur-pose, took away the money and the Mr. Fitzpatrick undertook to book. show that on Mr. Costigan's return to the office, three weeks afterwards, he paid the money in and restored the book, and also showed that the book in which the entry was made was not a necessary part of the accounting in the office. It happened that the money was missed long before Mr. Costigan's return, and that it had been located with the collector, who, according to Mr. Christie, declared at first that he had not received it.

The second case is that of two payments of $20 each made to the offic and received by Mr. Costigan, who did not acknowledge them and kept the money during a two months absence at St. Paul and other places in the United States. In these cases Mr. Fitzpatrick undertook to show that the deposit of money and the filof bonds usually ter, and that the c send to Ottawa the bonds and the money together. Mr. Fitzpatrick undectook to show that in this case the bonds had not been filed, and therefore it was not necessary to hand over the money. Mr. Christie swore that the custom in all such cases was to place the money in the safe in the office, pending the completion of the transaction. In the particular case whether the transaction was completed or not, the persons who paid in the money secured their authority while Mr. Costigan was away, because it was proved that they had performed their part of the transaction. This was done by orders from Ottawa when proof of the payment had been forwarded Meanwhile the collector was appro-priating the payment to his own private purposes. Mr. Fitzpatrick's attempt to show that this was a pardonable proceeding was not very suc-

The third transaction relates to the payment of a sum of money by the city of Winnipeg for methylated spirits. Mr. Costigan got this money in the form of a cheque to himself instead of to the department, and endorsed the cheque to a saloon keeper in Winnipeg. Some time afterwards when the collector was away on one of his prolonged absences, the Winnipeg officers demanded their spirits, and then it was discovered for the first time that they had made payment In this case Mr. Fitzpatrick undertook to prove that certain formalities ought to have been performed by the city before the spirits were delivered The solicitor general did not say so but his suggestion appeared to be that it was the proper thing for the officer to make personal use of public money pending the completion of the transaction connected with it.

The fourth transaction relates to the personal use of $300 received by Mr. Costigan for contingencies.

government officer also exam ined Mr. Christie as to his previous relation to the collector, bringing out the fact that they had been intimate friends and had often played poker together, and that Mr. Christie had professed a desire to befriend his superior officer. Mr. Christie testified that he had such a kindly feeling for Mr. Costigan that he many times lent him money and had done all he could to get him home when he was away He denied that he had violated any confidence, and explained that he had written a full statement of the case to the department when it was claimed at Ottawa that the proposed change at Winnipeg and Calgary were in the public interest. It struck Mr. Christie that the government had not shown a tremendous desire to protect the public interest in the Winnipeg transaction, concerning which he

During the past two days Sir Henri Joly has been toiling over some bills he has before the house. The minister of inland revenue is a fine old gentleman, with a very excellent heart and an uncommonly bad head. His explanations are exceedingly prolix and very confusing. He veils the most commonplace bills in a dense cloud of obscurity, through which no human mind, not even his own, can penetrate. Yesterday he had a bill to amend the weights and measures act. The particular purpose of this amendment is to provide that apples should not be sold by the barrel, whether for exportation or local trade, unless the barrel is of a certain prescribed size and order of architecture. The bill says that all apples packed in Canada for by the barrel shall be packed either in cylindrical veneer barrels having an inside diameter of 18 1-3 inches and 27 inches from head to head inside mea surement, or else seasoned wood barrels 27 inches between the heads and 17 and 19 inches diameter. There was a prolonged attempt to discover from the minister what was meant "by cyl-indrical veneer" barrels. He did not now, neither did any other mini Sir Henri was sure it was all right because his officers put in the clause The solicitor general offered an explanation that a veneer barrel was made of two different kinds of wood, but the minister of militia, who comes from the apple country, objected to

Mr. Mills of Annapolis has an idea that the measure if enforced would be a great inconvenience to farmers and barrel makers in the apple dis tricts. They would be obliged to change their style of making barrels, even though the ones they make now are full size. He did not see why apples, for home consumption at least, should be packed always in one kind of a barrel. It was often convenient for a farmer to use such barrels as he might have convenient. A shrewd suggestion was made by some of the menibers that this was an attempt ent in making a market for the peculiar type of barrel known as eneer, which was probably patented. The confusion grew worse confounded as the discussion proceeded. Dr. Borden explained that it was usual for the farmers to sell their apples by the orchard, and the packers were the parties responsible for any dishonesty in packing. On the other hand Mr. Fraser of Guysboro plained gravely to the house that the custom in Nova Scotia generally was for the farmer to pack his own apples, This correction or contradiction has no relation to the fact that Dr. Borden had a portfolio to which Mr. Fraser may have had a better claim

Sir Charles Tupper did not offer many remarks in connection with the technical discussion of barrels, but he strongly impressed upon the government the necessity for protecting the credit of Canada in regard to exports to the English market. He advocated the greatest possible care in inspection and the use of every known means to preserve the quality of goods sent to the United Kingdom. He recalled a time when the price of hay was high in England and a Canadian article of high quality was procured by some of the people who kept large numbers of horses. They were well pleased with Canadian hay, and the beginning of a great trade was visle. At that critical point large shipity of hay, not at all fit for the purpose required, and thus the Canadian product was seriously discredited occasion of great loss to Canada. Sir Charles offers it as a warning for the future.

Mr. Bell of Pictou, the first member who brought the matter up, has succeeded in getting before the house a full report of the commission anpointed to inquire into the death of Macdenald and Fraser, two Pictou men who perished from neglect and exposure on the Crow's Nest Pass railway. Seldom has a more ghastly story been written than that of these two unfortunate men who in midwinter were, while in an advanced stage of diphtheria, conveyed for a hundred miles through storm by day and night in an open sleigh and then deposited in a box car, where they died. The deputy minister of justice has not been able to discover that any person is liable for this murder and torture, either criminally or in the way of damages So the matter stands

OTTAWA, June 1 .- When Mr. Sifton's friends and cronies in Manitoba had been operating their bogus prosecutions for some time they began to draw on the dominion government. Their bills were pretty hefty in view of the fact that they accomplished nothing. They did not render them straight to the department of justice. but sent them to Mr. Sifton, who forwarded them with his recommenda. tion to Sir Oliver Mowat's department. Sir Oliver did not take kindly to these bills. He said they were about three times too high. This was bad news to Mr. Sifton, who had obof the credit from the department and had done a little kiting of drafts for the mutual accommodation of him-self and his Winnipeg comrades, and the full payment of the bills, large as they were. Sir Oliver wrote a letter to Mr. Sifton about these charges. Apparently it was a pretty hot commurication. Mr. Sifton sent a copy to his friend, Mr. Howell, who was to have part of the money. Mr. Howell applied to Mr. Sifton, excusing the wild charge he made. In process of time this correspondence with the accounts went on the files of the auditor general's office. There it remained until Sir Oliver Mowat got out of the government and Mr. Mills took his place and an enquiry was instituted as to the financial transactions of Mr. Sifton and the other adventurers in connection with these bogus persecutions.

Then Mr. Sifton walked into the office of the auditor general and obtained an interview with Mr. Mc-Dougall. He informed the auditor that Sir Oliver's letter denouncing the piratical raid of Mr. Sifton's friends was a private and confidential communication, and he would like to have it taken off the file and given to him Mr. McDougall seems to have doubts. for he consulted the present minister of justice, Hon. David Mills. Now Mr. Mills, though he was an excessive eccnomist when in opposition, is not supposed to be a remendous obstacle in the path of any speculators of the liberal persuasion who have designs on the treasury. He is complacency incarnate and is only too willing that any unpleasant communication from Sir Oliver Mowat showing a less tractable disposition should be removed from public view. Mr. Mills agreed that Sir Oliver Mowat's criticism of payments demanded from his department out of the public money was purely a friendly grivate communication between inembers of the same family. Mr. McDougall accordingly handed the letter over to Sifton, and thus removed from the public record the statement of Sir Oliver Mowat in reference to the pre-datory instincts of the Siftonian gang in Manitoba.

But the course of robbery, like that of true love, does not always run smooth. When the investigation began an innoncent looking taxing officer from the fustice department gave some testimony about this Mowat letter. Solicitor General Fitzpatrick has now "ne hesitation in saying" that this officer went beyond his duties in giving this information. But the unfortunate man having been sworn to tell the whole truth, and knowing that this was an important clement in the case, did not see his way clear to commit verjury to the extent of withholding information Moreover, the papers containing the excuse for the charge as written to Mr. Sifton are also on the file, and they give a mild indication of what Sir Oliver Mowat said in his indignant protest. Last year the file of papers connected with these transactions was brought down in the public accounts commitsistant collector in a first-class port on the part of the manufacturer to tee. It was then discovered that the Mowat letter was missing The cer who produced the papers said that it had been abstracted from the file. But it was only yesterday that the facts were brought out as to the man-ner of its withdrawal. The discussion occupied all the forenoon, so that the day's business of the public accounts committee consisted of a refusal to obtain information of the most vital importance in the investigation of what looks to be a handsome steal from the federal treasury.

"What has the minister of railways to say to that ?" said Mr. McDougall of Cape Breton, yesterday, after reading an extract from his favorite paper. the Sidni Mac Tolla. The minister of railways had nothing to say, but replied with a laugh, in which the while house joined. Mr. McDougall had read the allegation in a very clear voice, but it was Greek to every member of the house, with two possible exceptions. The member for Cape Breton therefore, after waiting in vain for ministerial explanations, translated the article from Gaelic into English. If was then found to be a charge that the minister of railways is running Sunday trains in Cape Breton. Mr Charlton's ears moved in the direction of the ceiling, but he offered no remark, as it is not his cue at present to criticise ministers, even when they break the Sabbath. Mr. McDougall explains that this Sunday business is due to the dismissal of good railway men and their replacement by green horns, which has made it impossible or at least dangerous to run trains at night. Mr. Blair will obtain informa tion on the subject by and by.

Sir Louis Davies has gone into trance on the lobster question He still does not know when the lobster season will close. He knows that it will continue as long as usual, but has not yet decided whether he will carry out the recommendation of the commission extending the time in certain districts, nor does he know the length of the extension if there should be

As the lobster packers in these dis tricts have to supply themselves with material to arrange for the sale of their goods and the employment of labor it is important that they should know what the conditions are to be Sir Louis either does not know himself, or else the information is in the exclusive possession of others who may be interested. At all events the most strenuous exertions of Mr. Mc-Incrney, Mr. McDougall and others interested have not been able to elicit the information required.

The department of justice and the premier are equally in obscurity in regard to the alien labor law. It was discussed yesterday afternoon in the light of recent transactions. Grand Trunk company is said to be about to import aliens to take the place of the section men who are now on strike. Employers whose men are on strike in Hamilton have already made such importations. Sir Wilfrid Laurier says that the government cannot interfere because he has a bargain with the United States government that neither country will enforce the law during the progress of the international negotiations. Yet Mr De Barry of Buffalo, a United States government officer, turns men back with as much energy as if there was no stated that the United States law was not suspended and would not be De Barry declares that the story of the suspension is a Canadian invention and Ross Robertson of Toronto points out that though the bargain with the United States restrains Sir Wilfrid Laurier it has no restraint at all upon the American officer. He has no regard at all for high commissions or low ones

Mr. Lozan rather surprised the house by cebuking Mr. Blair for his laissez faire attitude. Mr. Logan held that it was the business of the gov-ernment to interfere if the matter could not be settled otherwise It was an outrage that men should be asked to accept 97 cents a day in these boom times. Mr. Logan went on to tell about the surplus in the treasury, the rush of business and the general signs of prosperity, and wanted to know what kind of an advertisement it was for the country to have it go out that 1,800 men vere on strike because they could not get any more than 97 cents a day. A mean and indecent salary it was, Mr. Robertson closed the discussion by remarking that Mr. Bertram of the contradictory deas, who claimed to have made the tariff, might also undertake to settle the strike. The debate ended with that suggestion, which Mr. Bertram is understood to have taken into consideration. S. D. S.

QUIET WEDDING.

There was a quiet but interesting wedding at Leinster street Baptist church Saturday morning at 6.30 o'clock, when C. Percy Humphrey, of Messrs. J. M. Humphrey & Co., was united in marriage to Miss Nellie A. Weldon, daughter of George C. Weldon of this city. The guests included only the families of the bridge and groom The bride was married in a very pretty fawn travelling dress. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Ira Smith, pastor of the church After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey drove to the depot and took the train for Boston. They will be absent for two months and will visit England and the continent before re-turning. They received many beauti-

THE RELIEF AND AID SOCIETY Premier Emmerson Says the Government Will Enact the Legislation Requested by the City.

The bills and by-laws committee of the common council had a session at the City hall on Thursday afternoon, The committee agreed upon a draft of the legislation they desired put through the legislature with reference to the funds in the hands of the Relief and Aid society. The bill provides for handing over to the council of the funds in the hands of the society. Provision is made for those who are beneficiaries under the fund. What is left is, under the bill, to be applied for the relief of the sufferers by the Indiantown fire. The committee instructed Ald. Macrae to proceed to Fredericton to lay the preposed bill before the government.

Premier Emmmerson, down from Fridericton Friday night, told a reporter of this paper that he had a talk with Ald. Macrae at Fredericton. He assured Ald. Macrae that whatever legislation the city promoted would be enacted by the legislature. Ald. Macrae and Attorney General White were considering the bill at the capital Friday night. Mr. Emmerson says the bill sent up by Ald. Macrae will with certain modifications be satisfactory to the govern-

A LONG, HARD DRIVE.

Flavien Chouinard, of St. Pamphile. P. Q., and a subscriber to the Sun, was in the city on Friday. Chouinard cuts logs within fifty or sixty miles of Quebec city, that are floated to the mills of St. John for manufacture. He has been operating for several years for Murray & Gregory, and he and his crew of stream drivers got into the corporation limits last Monday night with 2,500,000 feet of logs of his own, and Deschene's cut came along at the same time. The drive was thirty-six days in reaching corporation limits, and it was hard work. Kilburn, who operated on the same lands, got out one day later. The logs of Mr. Chouinard's drive came out from the Montmagny agency and the American lands along the bounlary, coming out by the Depot stream and the Big Black River. Until March the winter was very favorable for operations, and then came very deep snow. Chouinard has a camp each winter, but also had a lot of subcontractors cutting for him each sea-

DEATH OF REV. C. I. McLANE. A Native of Albert County, He Died at Barrington, N. S.

HOPEWELL HILL, Albert Co., May 30.—Intelligence was received last night of the death at Barrington, N. S. of Rev. C. Ingersel McLane, youngest son of the late Charles A. McLane of Albert. The deceased had been in a measure unwell for some months, but latterly had been much improved, and his sudden demise, which was due to hemorrhage, was a great shock to his family, as well as to his many friends and acquaintances, by whom he was most highly esteemed for his manly, Christian character and earnest and unwavering devotion to the work of the master. It may be truly said of the deceased that his life. though short, had been spent in doing good. At an early age he united with the Baptist church at Albert, and after a course of preparatory study was ordained to the ministry. He was engaged in evangelistic work in the west for some years, and later on removed to Barriagton, N. S. He leaves a wife and one child, also a mother. one brother, Aubrey A. McLane of Moncton, and a sister, Mrs. (Rev.) Geo. A. Lawson of Halifax. The re-mains will be brought here for inter-ment in the family lot in the Hopewell Accountant Henderson of Union Bank a Big Defaulter.

Blew in Two Hundred Thousand Dollars in Mining Stock Investments in Two Years.

OTTAWA, June 4.-The sensation of the hour is the departure of Accountant Henderson of the Union Bank, and his appropriation of its funds. The loss is supposed today to be $200,000, but as the transactions are intricate, ingenious and involving false entries in the books and various bogus ers of the bank, it is impossible to ascertain the exact amount. It is suggested that he had some accomplices, but the bank officials are reticent. Henderson was well connected His father is in the municipal service, of high social standing. BOSTON, June 4.-The followers of Christian Science today observed Communion day with four largely attended services at the Mother church, the first church of Christian Scientists

Thousands flocked into the edifice merely for the privilege of kneeling in silent communion for a few moments. of listening to the reading of a brief message and the exchange of kindly greetings with fellow members. As fast as the brief services were concluded and the congregation had departed, another great concours streamed into the church, and the simple, peaceful service was repeated. Even the knowledge that the beloved leader, Mrs. Eddy, would not be present, had little effect on those who joined in the services, and her mes sage, full of love and peace, was received with silent thankfulness.

The communion was devoid of sym bols. At each of the services the worshippers knelt for a few moments in silence, after which the first reader, Septimus J. Hanna, invited those pre sent to join in the communion.

After the silent prayer the annual nessage of the Pastor Emeritus, Mary Baker Eddy, to the mother church, was read by John W. Reeder, and listened to with great interest. In addition to the communion service, the fact that the annual church meeting of the mother church is to be held on Tuesday, June 6, also attracted many who night not otherwise have been in attendance. The present membership of the mother church is about thirteen thousard, and about twenty-five hundred new members were admitted to membership at this communion. It is estimated that over ten thousand of the followers of Christian Science are now in the city. The church where the services were held was built in 1894, as a testimonial to Mrs. Eddy, the founder and leader

Canadian Shipments Will be Unusually Large This Year.

BOSTON, June 2.—The seventh annual meeting of the Dominion Coa? Company was held in this city yesterday. President Henry M. Whitney occupied the chair. The following directors were chosen for the ensuing year: Henry M. Whitney, Boston; Hon. David McKeen, Cape Breton: Hugh McLennan, J. S. McLennan, E S. Pearson, James Phillips, jr., W. B Ross, Halifax; Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, Sir William C. Var for another year. It was announced at the neeting that Canadian shipments are expected to be large this will take 800,000 tons this year, against 690,000 tons last year. The Grane Trunk and Canadian Pacific take be tween 150,000 and 200,000 tons per year. The Boston and Maine would be very glad to use it were it not for the smoke, but the coke will do away with the smoke. President Whitney holds out hopes of a common stock dividend in the not far distant future. He stated that there were matters which he desired to bring before the stockholders, but they were not in shape to lay before the meeting, and an adjournment was taken until June 15.

HEARTLESS MOTHER.

NEW YORK, June 4.-Mrs. Johanna Schilling, 35 years of age, and her two young daughters, Gertrude, aged ten, and Edna, aged eight, were found dead this afternoon in their home at 305 East 84th street. All had been asphyxiated by gas, doubtless turned on by the mother with the idea of murdering her two children and then committing suicide.

The tragedy evidently grew out of a quarrel between the woman and her husband, Otto 3chilling, a tailor, On Monday week they had a misunderstanding and the husband left the flat. Mrs. Schilling had a warrant issued for his arrest. Schilling just returned home a few days before the murder and suicide, when a policeman went to the house with the order for arrest. Schilling escaped over the roof of the tenement and did not return again before he was summon to view the corpses of his wife and (Special cable to the Montreal Star.) LONDON, June 2.-The Times' and other New York and Washington telegrams continue to abuse Canada for daring to reject the agreement between Lord Salisbury and Mr. Choate, regarding the Alaskan boundary, after the rising of the joint high commission in February. What the British public would much like to know is whether Canada was fully consulted in the negotiations of this agree-ment. If not, Canada will receive much sympathy here. As the Outlook says today: "The British public feel that the day has gone by when any self-governing British colony can be dragooned into a settlement in which it has no say. She is a junior partner and has a junior partner's rights, the last word being always with the senior partner. Mr. Smalley and his Washington friends would ignore this if they could, but it remains a central fact in the administration of the British empire."

A full official Canadian statement is greatly needed to meet the allegations with which the Washington telegrams are prejudicing opinion against Can-

The Town of Antipolo Captured With But Small Loss.

The Troops Suffering from the Intense Heat and Hard Marching Over Mountainous Country.

MANILA, June 4, 8.35 p. m.—Gen. Hall's column, in the movement upon the Morong peninsula, completed a circuit of over twenty miles over rough and mountainous country, having two engagements with the insurgents, one of them severe, and keeping up an almost constant fire against scattered bands of rebels for nearly 24 hours from 4 o'clock Saturday morning, when the column left the pumping

The Flipinos were driven in every direction and the country through which Gen. Hall passed was pretty thoroughly cleared. At 10 o'clock this morning the column reached a point a few miles from Taytay, where Gen. Hall was met by Gen. Lawton, who had already entered the town and

Gen. Halls objective point was Antipolo, ten miles off, and there was lesultory firing all along the line of march. The gunboats could be heard shelling the hills in advance of the

The column, after driving the rel from the foothills near Maria Chino. about noon yesterday, with a loss of but two or three slightly wounded, proceeded with all possible haste toward Laguna De Bay, the Fourth Cavalry in the lead, the Oregon regiment next, and the Fourth Infantry last. At five o'clock these three regiments fought their second battle of the day, and it resulted like the first, in the complete rout of a large Fili-pino force located in the mountains and having every advantage of position. In this fight the American loss was four killed, three of the Fourth Cavalry and one Oregonian, and about fifteen wounded. The Filipino loss could not be ascertained yesterday, but the terrific fire which the Americans poured into them for half an hour must have inflicted severe punishment. In this engagement our troops made on of the most gallant charges of the war, and the enemy was forced to flee in the greatest dis-

It was the intention to press on to Antipolo last night, but this was found impossible owing to the two fights and constant marching for more than twelve hours, with nothing to eat since morning and no supply train in sight The troops, moreover, suffered from the intense heat, many being prostrated and all greatly exhausted consequently they bivouaced for the night on the second battle-field. The cavalry, the Oregonians and two companies of the Fourth Infantry had just crossed a small creek about five o'clock yesterday afternoon and entered upon a sunken road, from which they were emerging upon a small valley surrounded on all sides by high and heavily wooded hills, when the rebels, concealed in the mountains on the three sides of the plain, opened a hot fire and sent showers of bullets into the ranks of the Americans. The latter deployed immediately in three directions. Then followed a charge across the rice fields and ditches and up the sides, from which the shots came all the time pouring in a terrific hail, while the air resounded with the constant rattle of musketry.

The Fourth Cavalry, being in front, suffered the severest loss when the attack opened, two of their killed peing sergeants, and the other a private.

The Oregonian killed was a private. The natives were unable to stand the vigorous firing of the Americans and at the first sign of their wavering, the cavalry, Oregonian and Fourth Infantrymen broke into wild cheers and chased still faster up the hillside, pouring in volley after volley until the enemy left the places where they were partially concealed by thicket, fled over the summit in the wildest confusion and disappeared in the surrounding valleys. After the fight was over the firing was continued by the Americans for over an hour in clearing out the bush and driving away straggling Filipinos. The troops, after camping for the night on the battle field, started at five this morning for Antipolo, where it was expected a strong resistance would be made. Antipolo is a place far up in the mountains which the Spaniards had said the Americans could never capture. It has cost Spain the lives of 300 troops.

The progress of the column was considerably delayed while passing up the steep mountain grade, by a small band of insurgents, but these were effectually routed by the Fourth Cav-airy, which was in advance, and the troops reached Antipolo in a few

Our lines were immediately thrown around on three sides of the town and then the final advance was made. But it was found unnecessary to fire a shot. Not a rebel was visible and the town was entirely abandoned. Two hours later, after a conference between Generals Lawton and Hall, the column proceeded toward Morong

Hatch, marched, with stately step, and slow, up the middle aisle, to the music of the processional march. The front and the long line of black robed figures was an impressive sight. The opening exercises were conducted by

Rev. Mr. Hatch, pastor of the church. The Baccalaureate sermon was preached by the Rev. J. H. McDonald. Acadia, '91, pastor of the Amherst Baptist church, from the text: "I appoint unto you a kingdom, as my Father has appointed unto Me, that ye may eat and drink at My table in My kingdom and sit on thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel. In substance, the preacher said: As the disciples gathered around the table at the Last Supper, the request for the chief places made by James and John was not forgotten. They all desired the highest seats. The picture is intensely human. Many things combine to faster in the student the desire for worldly success. This is right if no unworthy element is allowed to enter our ambitions. The apostles desired, not so much to be chief, as to be considered chief-and empty honors are still in demand. There need be no doubt about the phrase, "Apostolic Succession," for all down through the ages men have sought to occupy places whose only qualification was their unfitness. Many a man would con-sent to remain an ignoramus, if some university would confer upon him doctor's degree, thus giving the impression that he was a man of letters. Christ taught that "He who is greatest must 'be your servant.' Greatness is conferred upon those who live to give, not on those who live to get. Christ also teaches that the reward of service is judgeship. shall sit or thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel." This is a great principle. He who serves, in the spirit of Jesus, shall in turn be served.

In closing, he said, young ladies and gentlemen, enter the door of usefulness and work out a specessful career. Be sure your service will be the measure of your success. Seek greatness but let it be the greatne a noble mind, a pure heart, and a useful life. Seek it from Him who transforms the love of greatness into the

It is to be hoped Mr. Blair's negotiations with the Grand Trunk will not have the effect of his offering only such terms to the CoP. R. as would be to the detriment of the trade of this port. The latter company have large interests here, and may fairly be expected to so comething substantial for the further development of through traffic. It will be most unfortunate if they and the government are unable to agree upon terms that will make to the advantage of the trade of St. John. The importance of having a definite arrangement made at once is obvious. The sooner it is made and the steamship services provided for, the stronger will be the position of St. John in the competition with United States ports for next winter's business. The announcement of a satisfactory adjustment of the differences patween the company and the government, in which the in-terests of St. John would be amply safe-guarded, would be hailed with satisfaction.

IN CHARLOTTETOWN.

The new liquor license law went into force in Charlottetown on June 1st. and on that day thirty-seven dealers, in the town took out a license for six months, each paying a fee of one hundred dollars. Others were expected to follow suit. Having complied with lede is of interest at this time. the law, the dealers, the Guardian observes, "feel quite the equals in point of respectability with the temperance premier," Mr. Farguharson. The Guardian does not anticipate that the new law will improve the quality of the liquor sold, or diminish the amount of drunkenness, seeing that there has been no change of heart on the part of lawless persons, and that unlicensed places will probably not be prevented from doing business in stronger liquid than ginger beer and such harmles beverages. But the premier has got his $3,700 revenue, and the thirty-seven are law-abiding citizens. The Guardian figures it out that from the revenue standpoint. AFFAIRS IN FRANCE.

In December, 1894, a French court nartial found Alfred Dreyfus guilty of high treason, and he was condemned to exile in a fortified place and to military indegradation. He had been charged with having delivered to a foreign power or its agents secret documents bearing upon the national defence. The friends of Dreyfus have never ceased to declare his innocence. and charge that he was the victim of intrigue. The most outspoken of his champions, Emile Zola, the famous novelist, found it necessary to cross the channel to England. But so great was the pressure brought to bear in the last few months that the Dreyfus case was finally referred to a court consisting of three presidents and forty-six judges. These reviewed the evidence and have now decided unanimously for a new trial. All but five are said to have been in favor of declaring the prisoner absolutely innocent. He will now return to France, and receive a new trial. His triumphant acquittal seems practically assured, and will carry with it restors tion of rank in the army and arrea of pay. Meanwhile Zola has returned R. The matter has remained an open to Paris, and we shall probably hear question for a long time, and according more of the prosecution directed no more of the prosecution directed against him. Those most likely to be put on the rack are high officials in the army, who are charged with having persecuted the unfortunate Dreyfus. The Jew-baiters of Paris have in the result of the investigation received will be with respect to through busi- a decided check, and the army will probably be relieved of the presence of some who are now in authority but

> While it has never been claimed for President Loubet that he was a man of brilliant attainments, and while his conduct since his elevation to the presidency of the republic has shown him to be averse to ostentation, he has proved himself a man of moral strength and character. These are attributes much needed in a leader in France at the present time, and are certain to have a good effect. If France loves a dictator, the sober second thought of the people will applaud the plain republican who declares that he did not want the office, but when it is dangerous to be the chief of state his duty to hold the post is clear.

M. Paul Deroulede, who is responsible for much of the agitation against the president and in opposition to revision in the Dreyfus case, is a political agitator who certainly does not lack courage and cleverness, but who nevertheless seems unable at times to save himself from being ridiculous. On the day of M. Loubet's election to the presidency, Deroulede and another urged General Roget to march his troops to the Elysee and "save France." For this he and his comand tried on a charge of treason, but were acquitted, the court preferring not to treat the escapade with seriousness. The following sketch of Derou-

In the battle of Stdan he saved his wounded brother's life and was severely injured himself. He escaped as a military prisoner from Breslau and served through the remainder of the war and against the Commune. A fall from his horse compelled his retirement from the army after he had wen the rank of lieutenant and the cros of the Legion of Honor. He achieved poli tical prominence by founding the League of Patriots in 1882. This had become a powerful organization when it championed the cause of Boulanger at its height. Through the efforts of the league Boulanger wa returned as a deputy from Paris in 1889 b a great majority. The government regarded the league as so dangerous that its dissolution as an illegal organization inimical the state was ordered. It was revived when the Dreyfus affair reached an acute stage, M. A Quebec special to the Chicago Times-Hersid says: French-Canadians in the prov-inceof Quebec are increasing in number at a rate that is singularly gratifying to not only the domininon government but to the British government as well. Last year the birth rate in the province was 38.57 per 'hou-sand-this against a rate of 20.9 in Ontario and 20.02 in France. While the French in Canada are rapidly multiplying their num-bers, the population of France itself is steadily decreasing, though slowly. Causes of this fact are various. In France the small land owner does not beget a fam-ily larger than his agricultural possessions will support. Economic conditions in France are averse to increasing population. In ily larger than his agricultural possessions will support Economic conditions in France are averse to increasing population. In Quebec the forces work in the opposite direction. Large families are encouraged by the priesthood and by patriotic considerations. Every pater families who can show twelve children is given a grant of 100 acres of land. Within nine years 2,552 such grants have been made: In 1898, 163 were given. Paul Belanger, a patriot of the rebellion, who has thirty-six children, claimed a triple grant on that account, and the claim may enlarge the bounties. Another man, who was out of work but who had only eight children of his own, married a widew with five little ones in order to secure his 100 acres. The origin of these grants dates back to the time of Louis XIV., who awarded profife garents with money. Then, as now quebec girls were usually married when be ween 13 and 14 years of age.

Took Paris Green and His Life-Destructive Fire-Suden Death of a Child

ELGIN. Albert Co., June 2.-John haffer, aged 60, committed suicide by taking paris green on the evening of the list uit. He leaves a wife and large family. Family troubles are said to have been the cause of the act. The house of Geo. Haskins was burned yesterday morning. The fire originated under the floor of an outside kitchen and with a heavy spread rapidly. Most of the furni-ture was saved, but a good part of their clothing was destroyed. Mrs Haskins lost a valuable diamond ring. It was with difficulty that the mill and a considerable quantity of lumbe and wood in the yard were saved. ACADIA COLLEGE.

Distinguished Visitors Attend the Closing Exercises Eloquent Address by Rev. G. O. Gates.

Synopsis of Mr. James Hannay's Able Address Before the Senate of the University.

WOLFVILLE. June 5.-Baccalan reate Sunday at Wolfville was an exceedingly interesting day. It was a perfect day in June and large numbers drove in from the surrounding country.

On Sunday evening, College Hall was filled with a large audience to listen to an account of the recent visit of the Rev. G. J. Gates to the Holy Land. The neeting was under the auspices of the College Y. M. C. A. and the talented speaker was introduced by the president, J. A. Glenenning of Moneton. Appropriate usic was furnished by the College

"Jerusalem as it was and is," was the subject announced by the speaker, and he kept the large audience enorn and died. All who listened were delighted and instructed

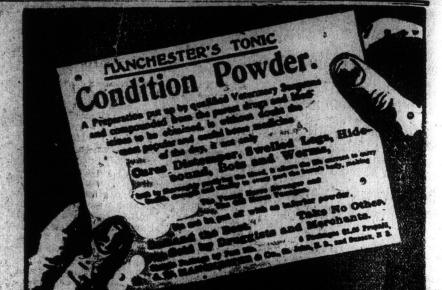

The Forward Movement at Acadia ems to have increased the interes of the Baptists of the maritime provinces in these institutions, for never before were so many visitors here for the closing exercises. Among the many who arrived on Saturday are: Hon. Governor McClelan and lady of New Brunswick, Hon. H. R. Emmerson and Mrs. Emmerson of Dorches ter, Hon. Mr. Farris, M. P. R., of White's Cove. N. B., and Mrs. Farris: James Hannay of the St. John Tele graph, Rev. G. O. and Mrs. Gates, Mr and Mrs. John Harding, Mrs. James Harding, Mrs. Peters, Charles Harding, Rev. J. H. McDonald, Dr. Saunders of Halifax, Mrs. (Captain) Rob bins of Yarmouth, Mrs. Burpee Witter and Mrs. Waddel and Miss Waddel of Halifax, Mr. and Mrs. J. Christie of Amherst, Mr. and Mrs. Hay of Woodstock, Mr. and Mrs. J. Clark of Bay View, P. E. I., Miss Harriet Morton, Acadia, '94, of Bridgetown, and Mrs. Ralph Trotter of Amherst.

The annual address before the senate of the university was delivered this evening by James Hannay, edi-tor of the St. John Telegraph. His sublect was:

The Duty of the College Graduate to the State It is with a peculiar degree of pleas ure, said Mr. Hannay, that I find my self to day, for the first time, in the college hall of Acadia university. Although I have for many years taken a deep interest in the history of this part of ancient Acadia, this is the first occasion on which it has been my privilege to tarry here and gaze upon this heautiful portion of our country, the scene of so much joy and of su much sorrow. Yet although this university is new to me and I have not before known its immensity in a tangible sense, Acadia college has mind. I was brought to a knowle of it, long ago, by hearing it spoken of as a college in which a young man of limited means could most easily obtain an education. It was said of it that no worthy and talented youth who had a sincere desire to become an educated man, was ever turned away from its doors. This to my mind is the greatest glory of Acadia college. and it places it in line with the ancient English universities which were founded, not for the benefit of the great and wealthy, not for the men of title or of ancient lineage, but for the poor youth of the country who could only hope to advance themselves by acquiring an education. The men of the sword, the nobles whose keeps and castles dominated village and town, and whose broad acres were tilled by the serfs of the soil, despised learning and boasted of their ignorance. The words which Sir Walter Scott puts in the mouth of the Earl of Angus when he thanks St. Bothan that no son of his save Garvin could pen a line, represents accurately the nobleman's idea of education, even at so late a period as the beginning of the sixteenth century. For them the sword was sufficient; war was their trade; learning might do well enough for clerics, but it was of no use to mc. of action. It was in such a state of society that the ancient universities were founded. Yet the time came when the rich and the titled flocked to them in such numbers that they became abodes of extravagance and luxury, and no place was left in them for the poor young man save as a servitor or a menial. Thus were the inten-tions of the founders of the ancient English universities frustrated and their endowments diverted from their proper uses so that it became necesary to establish other institutions of learning to do the work for which they were originally designed. Let us hope that this may never be the fate of Acadia university. Let it be always true to its ideal and remain for all time to come, what it always has been, the college of the people, its hospitable doors ever open to worth and talent, unspoiled by luxury and untainted by the pride of wealth.

After pointing out that there is nothing in all listory more remark-able than the growth and development of colleges and universities in the United States and Canada during the present century and emphasizing the fact that there is no department of human knowledge which a modern human knowledge which a modern university may not properly make its own, Mr. Hannay proceeded: The college graduate is a highly favored individual. He is the one person in some hundreds, perhaps in a thousand, who has received all in the way of learning that the educational institutions of this country can bestow. He has drunk deep of the fountains of knowledge and he has been equipped with the means of filling his mind with more learning than the schools with more learning than the schools and colleges can give. The advantages he enjoys in the race of life are great, and it follows as a matter of course that his responsibilities are equally great. This is a thought that

J. W. Manchester, veterinary surgeon has returned from Montreal. Those wishing to consult him inquire at Hamm's stable, Union street, St. John, should never be absent from the graduate's mind, yet I fear there are many who give the matter but little consideration. In the days of youth most of us are not apt to take too serious a view of our duties and responsibilities. Yet it is clear that if our highly educated men do not take the lead in good works, those who have not enjoyed the same advantages will feel themselves in a large measure excused for any neglect on their part. They will naturally point to the educated as examples for others to follow, and if the educated are not doing their duty the bad effect; of their neglect will be felt through every grade of society and will exercise a similar influence in the community. I am speaking now particularly of public affairs, which should not be treated otherwise than as matters which concern the well being of every man, woman and child in the country. If these affairs are neglected or allowed to fall into unfit hands every interest must suffer. Canada, with the exception perhaps of the Australian colonies, enjoyed the most democratic government on earth, far more so than the United States. The electors were the foun-dation of all authority, and as practically every man has a vote, Mr. Han-nay contended it became doubly necessary that the men who took the lead in public affairs should be men of character and education. In nine cases out of ten the elector will prefor as his representative the highly of the man above all others. Mr. Hannay did not wish to be understood as advising that every college gradu-uate should take up a political career. He would be very sorry to see any general movement in that direction, What he wished to impress on the minds of the learned men as well as the students within his hearing was the idea that educated men should not leave the business of politics to the ignorant and unfit, but should do their part in the work of choosing repre sentatives who would be most suit-able to legislate for the country with intelligence and ability. "Let them take their rightful positions as the natural leaders of public opinion, and before known its immensity in a they will have plenty of followers, tangible sense, Acadia college has long been a familiar figure to my and accept their guidance with rest to public affairs"

Mr. Hannay went on to say: But the ction of good men as representatives does not by any means cover the whole case, for worthy men in the legislatures of this country should be worthily supported. There is in Canada a very regrettable tendency on the part of the press and of the more addent of our politicians to treat public men who happen to be on the other side as criminals, especially if they are in office. I will not say that this is a growing tendency, because I have noticed it as existing for the past forty years, so that instead of speaking of it as a modern evil I prefer to regard it as a survival of a less enlightened age, a relic of the past with which we could well dispense." Mr. Hannay Illustrated his point by recalling the career of J. M. Johnston and Joseph Howe, who were vilified by their - litical opponents in their life, and whose ability and public worth were not generally recognized until long after the grave had enclosed their mortal remains. "This illustration of the evils of undiscriminating and bitter partizanship is as applicable to the present as it is to the past, If were to believe all that we see in the party papers and all that we hear spoken from political platforms, we would be forced, however reluctantly. to come to the conclusion that there is not an honest public man in Canada, that all are corrupt and depraved, that the public treasury is being looted and that the public are being robbed by the very men who have

Of what use, then, is our fine educational system, with its free schools and its excellent colleges, if it does not teach our people wisdom and moderation? And who shall be the leaders in the work of reform if it be not our college graduates, who, looking out upon the world from a loftier height than others, can see with a clearer vision the whole political field and do justice, if they will, even to those with whom they are not in political accord?"

Mr. Hannay pronounced the practice of bribery at elections as a more flagrant and more injurious evil, and called upon the young men, the colege graduates, to lead in raising the standard of public morality to that neight which is necessary to the well-being of the state. "The world expects the educated man to be superior to his fellows not only in knowledge. but in the soundness of his views on questions of state. . . . Slowly but surely the progress of education is changing the face of the world. Man after all, however successful, is but an episode in the life of any nation, while the stream of knowledge flows on forever. The man of battles and sieges is being replaced by the man of ience, and an Edison or a Huxley is of more account than a Von Moltke or a Kitchener. It is here that we recognize the triumph of the universi ties over the old order of things, for they are the nurseries of knowledge, the source of inspiration in every effort in the way of improvement and advancement. Let every man who graduates from the halls of Acadia recognize his duty and take his part in this noble work. Let each one be a model and an example of what is best in life, and an illustration of what education does for her children. Thus shall the world be made better and wiser and more humane. For the wisdom which comes from learning shall broaden into that higher wisdom which refines and ennobles the nature of man and which King Solomon has described in words that should be written in letters of gold in every college hall: "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom and the man that getteth understanding," etc.

There was a large audience present. Dr. Trotter was in the chair, and Rev. A. J. Chute of Halifax made the opening prayer. The thanks of the meeting were proposed by Hon. J. W. Longley in a humorous speech, seconded by Principal I. B. Oakes.

The athletic sports attracted a large number this forenoon, and every event was well contested. Some unusual records were made. The most points were won by Steele of Amherst, who gets the gold medal of the associa-tion Richardson the silver medal, and Rice of New Glasgow the third prize.

(From our own correspondent.) BOSTON, June 4.-While the entire estern country has been well soaked by heavy rains, vegetation in this section is slowly burning up for lack of moisture. In his annual circular with relation to shandoned farms in New Hamp-shire, Secretary Batchelder of the state board of agriculture says: The causes for the vacant houses upon these farms can be summed up under three heads:

"First-The children left the old iomestead for other fields of labor while the parents were in physical condition to manage the farm, and upon the death of the aged parents in later years had been become engrossed in ousiness upon other farms or in other occupations and could not return. The farms have passed into the hands of heirs and are for sale. "Second-Many farmers, either with children engaged in other vocations or without children, having received a competency by industry and frugal habits, have retired from the farm to the neighboring city or village to spend their declining years in a quiet manner, and the farm is for sale.

"Third-Sometimes the owners farms, seeing only the bright side in other occupations, and no dark side in theirs, have left the farm for some other business only to be disappointed, and having raised money to engage in other business by mortgaging the farm, the farm is for sale.

"To one of these three causes may be traced the vacant farm buildings to which the attention of people has reen so successfully called during re-cent years, and it is these places which form the basis of the information furnished to inquirers by this

Tommy Atkins Bang Must Go-Natal Day Celebration Abandoned.

HALIFAX, N. S., June 5.-There was a disturbance and some excitement in the Citadel Saturday night over an attempt to enforce a regulation as to the way a soldier must wear his hair. The soldiers did not take kindly to the order, ten of whom refused to carry out the command The men were more or less intoxicated, and a rew ensued. Missiles were thrown about, one of the soldiers was injured on the head and another on the body. Both were sent to the hospital. The guard quelled the disturbed on a refused the slice the turbance and refused to allow the mutinous soldiers to leave the barracks. One hundred and fifty other soldiers are confined to barracks for refusal to submit to the hair cutting rules, where they will be compelled to remain till they do so. The new regulation provides that the hair on front must not be more than one inch long.

Tommy Atkin's little curl must go.

The Natal Day celebration committee today decided to cancel all arrangements for the observance of the day and to abstain from asking that the 21st be produced as believed. the 21st be proclaimed a holiday. The teachers that objected to the loss of time will now have a chance to put in

Rev. J. A. Gordon and Rev. T. F. Fotheringham were appointed a committee. And stageoff and another following resolution was moved by Rev. George Steel, seconded by Rev. Job Shenton: The members of the St. John branch of the Evangelical Alliance hereby place on record their deep sense of appreciation of the excellent qualities of head and heart of the Rev. G. Bruce. D. D. For ten of the Rev. G. Bruce, D. D. For ten years his name has represented in this city all that is best in Christian citizenship and ministerial life. In all measures for the improvement of the citizens' highest interests he has taken a deep and active concern. His taken a deep and active concern. His fellowship with Christian churches outside his own has been frank and cordial, while his constant attendance and hearty interest in all matters that have engaged the attention of the alliance have endeared him to its members and led them to think of him as a brother beloved. The members of the alliance, in parting with him, trust that in another sphere he will find enlarged opportunities for successful work for our common Master, and pray that God will cause all grace to abound unto him, to Mrs. Bruce and family.

This resolution was spoken to, move or less briefly, by most of the clergy men present, and all bore stirring testimony to the great worth of Dr. Bruce as a pastor and a citizen, and all deplored his loss to the community. Rev. John Read presented the thanks of the members to Dr. Bruce for his services in the past, and conveyed to him the text of the resolution.

Dr. Bruce replied feelingly, after which the alliance adjourned. The Methodist ministers held a short meeting in the F. M. C. A. parler at the conclusion of the Evangeli-cal Alliance meeting. Dairy Supt. Mitchell has issued a statement to the patrons of the winter's business at the Central Creamery and Provincial Dairy School. One hundred and sixty-one farmers patronized the creamery, and supplied 921,781 pounds of milk. Of this quantity 2,021 pounds were sold by the quart from the creamery and the halance was manufactured into 40,204 pounds of butter and 1,701 pounds of cheese. The sum realized from the sales of butter, cheese and milk was $8,212.67, which, after deducting the charge for manufacturing, left the handsome balance of $6,774.12 to be divided among the farmers for their milk. This speaks well for the farmers in this section, as two years ago there was little or nothing realized from winter butter making. There were six skimming stations in operation during the past winter, and the cream was all churned here at the Central. There will be a number of new stations open next winter, and there will be a considerable increase in the output of butter, as farmers are out the whole years. Two courses each in cheese and butments for the Hillsboro band have ar-rived, and the members will meet for with the school, which brought nearly all the local cheese and butter make ers together, and they have now taken charge of their factories, better fitted to carry on what is rapidly becoming one of our most important industries.

UPHAM. Kings Co., June 2 .- A successful operation for hernia was performed on Chas. Titus of the Upper Mills this morning. The operating surgeons were Drs. Burnett of Sussex, Jas. Christie of St. John, Smith of Hampton and Allen of Barnesville. Latest accounts report the patient to be resting easily.

care of Dr. Allen. ST. STEPHEN, June 3.-An accident of a serious nature occurred at Milltown last evening. The town council has recently sold the old hand fire engine Torrent No. 1 to the town of Princeton, Maine. Some repairs had been made upon the machine. and members of the fire department had it out for a test. It is hauled by hand with ropes and a pole. On the return to the station house a number of small boys managed to get hold of the ropes along with the men in charge. The spirit of the old days seemed to inspire the haulers, and they were hustling the old machine along at a very lively rate. One boy missed his footing and fell. Two others fell over him and the engine passed over the three of them. Howard Blacktin had his leg broken near the hip, Frank Osborne's leg was broken below the knee, and Joseph Smith sustained injuries to his spine. They are all about eight years of age. Young Osborne is a son of Jas. E. Osborne the well known dry goods man and horseman. The boys are suffering considerable pain today, though all are in as favorable condition as pos-

Tramps continue to cause much trouble to residents on the back streets. One was arrested in a field last night, who had in his possession large number of begging cards printed with the customary verses. Another was arrested this forenoon. Like the three arrested last week, they were armed with razors.

The one arrested this morning met a boy on the street with a parcel, which he took from him by force. Conductor Murray Greene of the C. P. R. saw the transaction and made him give the parcel back. He notified Marshal Campbell by telephone, and the officer made the arrest.

RICHIBIUCTO, June 3 .- Maurice, the sailor who attempted suicide in the jail a few nights ago, has become quite vicious. This afternoon he set fire to his bedding, but the fire was discovered in time. He says he intended to burn the building.

John C. Brown and Wilmot Brown returned this evening from a ten days' trip to Ottawa.

James White died at the residence of his sister, Miss Mary White, in illness of seven weeks with lar, ngitis. The deceased had been identified with the fishing industry for nearly forty years. He and James Graham have been associated in the lobster business of late years, their factory being situated on the South Beach. The deceased was aged fifty-eight years and unmarried.

The Norwegian park Handy arrived on Wednesday, making the sixth arrival this season. J. & T. Jardine's barks Valona and Sagona and a Norwegien brigantine sailed this week.

Mrs. Graham, wife of Michael Graham, a prominnet resident of Molus River, is seriously ill. Dr. W. A. Ferguson of Moncton and Dr. Murray MacLaren of St. John arrived there last evening to hold a consultation.

MONCTON, June 2.-D. McCleave, whose stock of liquor was recently seized and destroyed by Scott act officer Belyca, has instructed his lawyer to take legal proceedings against the city for damages. The police court receipts in May, including Scott act fines and costs, amounted to $547.53.

The council has accepted tenders have the work completed by Septem- for supplies for the water and light MONCTON, N. B., June 4.-The body of an infant chill was found last evening on the roadside in the rear of the rural cemetery. It was in a box covered with earth. The body was wrapped in a pink night gown, and among the cotton wraps found on it was one with the initials "C. L. L." which may af-ford some clue as to identity. Part of a copy of the Truro Daily News was also in the box. A post morten indicated that the child was still born. BOIESTOWN, North Co., May 31,-

THE MARKETS.

Revised Every Monday for the Weekly Sun.

COUNTRY MARKET.

The stock of butter is so heavy that lower prices are probable before it is cleaned up. Possibly more will be packed away hereafter, and more of the milk converted into cheese. If so the market will be relieved and a better condition will result later. Ontario beef is firmer. Lamb is easier. Eggs are steady. The prices of new cheese will be governed by the west, and sales of finest western were made in Montreal last week at 8½ to 8¾c. The market is new well stocked with greens and green vegetables in bunches. In old vegetables there is no COUNTRY MARKET.

KLONDYKE HORRORS.

Many Deaths from Starvation and Privation on Edmonton Trail.

WINNIPEG, June 4.—Two men were killed yesterday in a land slide on the Crow's Nest Pass railway. LAGGAN, Alberta, June 4.—Between 25 and 30 Indians were drowned yesterday in Lake of Clouds while cross ing it in cances. They were on their way to Portage. VICTORIA, B. C., June 4.-A party of prospectors who attempted to get into the Klondyke over the Edmonton trail, have arrived here. They say that there have been many deaths from starvation and privation on the trail and that at many points men are sick and starving to death. Supplies have been sent in to them.

The body of one man was found in a sitting posture under a giant fir tree, which had the following inscription pinned on it: "If hell's any worse than this trail, I'm taking a chance."

PHILIP SAVAGE DEAD.

BOSTON, June 4.—Philip Henry Savage, clerk of the board of trustees of the Boston Public Library, died to-Hospital from appendicitis. He was the son of the Rev. Minot J. Savage, at one time pastor of the Church of the Unity on West Newton street, and now of New York. He was born at North Brookfield, Mass., Feb. 11, 1868; was graduated at Harvard in 1893; the next year studied in the divinity school, and a year later taught English composition in the college until appointed to the library. He had excellent literary tastes, and had issued several books of poems.

BUTTE CITY.

oke from the Mines as Thick as Halifax Fog.

Behind St. John in Its Street Car Serrice-Walter Allison Pays the Place

a Visit.

BUTTE, Montana, May 27.-What night be called truly "Queen's weather" greeted the twenty-fourth of May. The sun shone out brilliantly all day for the first time in a month. The day was celebrated by the Sons and Daughters of St. George by a banquet in the evening at which some five hundred persons were in attendance. After the bill of fare had been considered a round of toasts followed, the speeches of course by leading American and British citizens containing many good things about the Queen and the English people. Yesterday I had the pleasure of neeting and spending a couple of pleasant hours with Walter Allison, son of Joseph Allison of the firm of Manchester, Robertson & Allison. Mr. Allison has been in Denver for sevral months, where he is interested in mines. He took a run into Butte to meet some mining men, and while very reticent as to his business there is no doubt he has an eye on some Montana mining property. If was Mr. Allison's first visit to Butte, and he was much surprised to find it such a fine go-ahead city. He returns to St. John in July to spend the summer, and will return to Denver in the St. John residents were greatly interested in the press despatches of the north end fire. The Associated Press gave a very good account in the morning papers.

In probably only one respect is Butte behind St John, and that is in the electric car system The cars are mean and dirty. The seats have just a piece of carpet spread along them. You will find no richly upholstered vestibuled cars, the same as in St. John. The St. John system is as far above the Butte system as the sun is above the earth. The explanation of this was given me today by a prom-inent citizen, who said: Our car system, while not equal to the east, is all that the city demands, for the reason that the cars are only patronized by miners and laboring people; the other classes of citizens have conveyances of their own.

I have already made mention in previous letters of the remarkable changes in the weather. Today in the early morning the sun shone out brilliantly, by ten o'clock it was snowing heavily, and at noon rain was falling in torrents. On Thursday morning I had my first experience with the smoke and sul-phur from the mines. At eight o'clock the smoke, like Halifax fog, was so dense that buildings on the opposite side of a street could not be distinguished, while the sulphur in the air would make a person cough almost incessantly. However, it was all over in about an hour. One of the peculiarities of Butte life is the fact that people who do not keep house lodge in one place, and eat in another. Dining coms keep open night and day and do an immense business. The English custom is universal in regard to meals; that is, lunch at noon or one o'clock and dinner at six o'clock.

Mechanics and clerks start to work at eight in the morning, the former quitting at six and the latter at eight o'clock. But a man 'n business really works from almost daylight till anywhere from nine o'clock till midnight. This is necessary in order to close up the day's business and be ready with a clear sheet for the following day. WIND IN BUILDING

They say the ship will hold together probably for several days yet, and the salvors are busily engaged in getting out as much of the cargo as possible. All that is above the lower decks is likely to be saved undamaged, while the heavier goods-tierces of pork, hams and the like-stowed lower down will not suffer much from the immersion and in all likelihood will be got out before the wreck goes to pieces.

Canadians do Honor to the Queen's

The first annual banquet of the recently organized Canadian Association of Manchester, N. H., was held May 24th in Elks' hall, in honor of the 80th birthday anniversary of Queen Victoria. There were four tables and 154 diners, of whom 74 were women. Scotland, England and the United States contributed to the gathering, which was a model gathering of good nature. The commodious hall was latishly decorated with flags. Portraits of Queen Victoria and President William McKinley were so close to-gether as to make a family combination. toast, and the clergyman was greeted with applause. Speaking of the toast, Mr. Dockrill said: "I enjoy and endorse the sentiment therein expressed. Yes, I am never ashamed to acknowledge that I'm a New Brunswickan. But I've been looking around tonight among the provincials to see if I might recognize them by the descriptions usually given. I haven't seen even one blue nose (laughter), no, nor a high cheek bone. They say, you know, that their cheek bones are like the Indians'. So I have come to the conclusion that provincials and Americars look very much alike. No one can choose his birthplace, and it is not my fault that I was born in New Erunswick. I had nothing to do about it, but I am very well satisfied with the place where I first saw the light. We need not love Canada any less because we have learned to love the city and the land of our adoption. Back there we probably had crude and inadequate ideas of the Yankees. We had been told that they liked to orag; that they belived this was all of the world there was. But we have found noble men and noble women among them who are doing God's grand and appointed work connection with the church. Canada, however, is growing. She has a most excellent form of government and no country in all the earth is more free than the Dominion of Canada. I recall it as one of my most precious memories that my first vote was cast for the confederation of the provinces. If Canada was dispos- to her hair with a wreath of lilies of ed to braz, she could find things to brag of. She has more square miles than has the United States, but you musn't forget that Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines are on the way, and if you are disposed to brag do it quick. She has more Indians than has this country, too, though she has not the variety of climate and products.

My grandfather was in the employ of King George III. and had charge of the royal grounds and garden. He came to America and settled in Brooklyn as a gardener. When the thirteen colonies obtained their independence that man felt that he could never live and be happy in a republic, and so he was one of the loyalists of whom we read, and who, on the 18th of May, were landed at St. John. I admire the loyalty of that grandfather, although I feel that he was a man of mistaken ideas. These men suffered loss of property because they were loyal to their feelings and their own early education."

Mr. Dockrill said that one of the evils of Canada was the rising up of men of wealth who were indisposed to invest their capital in big undertak ings and manufactures, but who went to England with their money. Then he referred to the observance of the natal day of great men and women, as of Queen Victoria and George Washington. "Every British possespendence. Great Britain learned a lesson then that she never has forgot and never will forget, and so Canada and India and Australia enjoy a freedom which never would have been theirs had it not been for the success of Washington." Queen Victoria, he said, was the foremost woman of all the world. "A noble woman, who has given womanhood a character such as no leading woman in all the world has presented. We honor and revere her memory." Canada has given some good men to the United States, he said, mentioning Senator Gallinger and "Sockless" Simpson. "We are sometimes asked, 'What would we do in case of war between the United States and Great Britain?' Well, that is a strange question and a long ways off. It reminds me of the man who had a mania for auctions and who bid off the doorplate of Sam-uel Brown. He explained to his thrifty wife that they 'might' have a daughter, and the daughter 'might' marry one Samuel Brown. But I believe we will never quarrel over a few dozen of fish, or a little piece of ter-ritory out of Alaska. I believe America, Canada and England have clasp-el hands and will hold unitedly that

LEE-CLERKE.

Fashionable Wedding at 3t. Stephen.

The elite of the St. Croix were gathered together at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Clerke at high noon on Thursday to witness the marriage of their only daughter, Miss Mabel Dean Clerke, to Valentine Francis Lee, the popular accountant of the Calais National bank. The Rev. W. C. Goucher of the Union street Baptist church performed the marriage ceremony. As the strains of the wedding march sounded through the nouse the bridal procession came down the stairway. First came the groom and Rev. W. C. Goucher, who took up a position in front of the bay window in the ecception coom, where the ceremony took place. Then came six young ladies attired in pale pink and pale blue organdie, carrying wreaths of white flowers. Then the maid of honor, Miss Mae Jones, and lastly the bride leaning on the arm of her father The bride, who is very petite and pretty, looked charming in an elegant imported gown of white liberty silk covered with spotted silk tulle, with trimmings and girdle of pearls. She wore a tulle veil fastened the valley, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The maid of honor was attired in white organdle trimmed with white satin. The house was profusely adorned with flowers, smilax and potted plants. The bay window, where the ceremony was performed, was a floral bower. The house was darkened, and electric lights shone out. That emblem of "good luck," a horseshoe made of white lilacs, was suspended over the bay window where the bridal pair stood during the ceremony. Electric bulbs were hidden among the flowers, and the horseshoe was shining with the good luck it proclaimed. After the ceremony and congratulations a dainty dejeuner was served. The bride then changed her bridal robes for a stylish travelling gown of black broadcleth with white vest and sailor hat, and emid the good wishes of friends the bride and groom started on a carriage drive to Augusta, Mine, to spend the honeymoon. The bride from a child has been a great favorite with all her friends, and in consequence was liberally showered with rich and elegant wedding gifts. Her parents' gift was a handso residence in Calais, ready for occupation on their return home, and also a fine horse and carriage. Among the guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lee of Augusta Maine, parents of the groom; Mrs. John Hegan of St. John, Mrs. Melick of Dorchester, Mass., and Mrs. C. H. Newton and George Newton of Red Beach. On the return of Mr. and Mrs. Lee they will reside on Washing-

Ritchie spoke, congratulating the management upon having obtained such suitable quarters and upon the good work which has been done since the inauguration of the mission. The rest of the programme consisted of: Solo, Miss Manning; 'eading, Mrs. E. A. Smith; reading, Miss Baillie. The house was then thrown open to the guests for inspection and refreshments were served in the coffee room by the ladies' auxiliary.

The new quarters of the Seamen's The new quarters of the Seamen's mission are in the building formerly known as Belyea's hotel, which consist of four stories and a basement. The mission occupies the whole of it with the exception of an ell, which is at present tenanted, but which the management will take over next year. In the basement there are ordinary and shower baths, a smoking room and a room for games. On the first floor are the restaurant and the mission room. The second floor contains the parlor, office and reading room. The management deplore the lack of daily papers in this room. On the third and fourth floors are bath and sleeping rooms. Of the latter there sleeping rooms. Of the latter there are sufficient to accommodate forty men. The rooms are bright and cheery, and their neat cleanly appearance is especially apparent.

Facing upon Water street there is room upon which to build another ell, if it is found that funds are forthcoming to meet the necessary expendi-

The management have secured D. A. McLeod, formerly engaged in Y. M. C. A. work, to act as secretary, and the rest of the staff is also first class. The mission is now very comfortably housed, and those in charge are to be congratulated upon their move in this direction. The building and location are admirably suited for the

FRANCE AND DREYFUS. New Trial After More than Four

Riot on a Parisian Race Course on Sunday Last-An Assailant of President Loubet Promptly Thrashed and Arrested.

Years Exile.

KINGSTON, Ja., June 2.- Advices received here from Cayenne, capital of French Guiana, say that all preparations have been made for cransfer oring former Captain Dreyfus, Imprisoned on Devil's Island to the charge of officers from Paris, who are said to be coming on board the Brench steamer Lafayette, which, it is also leged, will take the prisoner direct from Devil's Island on her return voyage to France.

The advices add that Dreyfus has been in the enjoyment of good spirits since he was notified that he was to be taken back to France for the purpose of undergoing a new trial. According to these advices, a water famine prevails throughout the colony. LONDON, June 3.-The Daily Chronicle says that Count Esterhazy called at its office late Friday evening with a confidential friend, and after declaring that the time had arrrived when the whole truth should be told, although hitherto by reason of constant orders and inducements he had kept silence on the essential point, made the following statement: "The chiefs of the army have disgracefully abandoned me. My cup is full and I shall speak out. "Yes" (raising his voice and glaring around) it was I who wrote the Bordereau. I wrote it upon orders re-ceived from Sandherr." Esterhazy, the Chronicle says, then proceeded to explain that four months before 1893 formal proofs had been obtained of leakages which were only posssible through an officer belonging to the ministry of war, and it was necessary to catch the guilty party by material evidence. Hence the Bordereau. When asked what the chiefs of the French general staff would say to this confession, Esterhazy shrugging his shoulders, disdainfully replied:

"They will lie as they know how to lie; but I have them tight I have proofs that they know the whole thing and share the responsibility with me, and I will produce the proofs.

He then denounced the chiefs as a "set of scoundrels, who have abandoned me basely," and added "but at Madam Pays for her a Esterhazy asserted that quite re-cently the chiefs sent M. Laguerre, a former deputy, to London with seductive offers to him to keep silence 'Now they are using threats," he shouted, "but I will not be deterred." The Daily Chronicle got Esterhazy to sign the notes of the interview. LONDON, June 2.-The Paris correspondent of the Morning Post says: "The work of the court of cassation is practically finished. Each of the judges gave his opinion today (Friday), and only formalities remain.

"The councillors were almost un the decision to be given tomorrow (Saturday, about noon will be even more energetically in favor of Drey-fus than was the report of M. Ballot De Beaupre. It will declare that the Canaille De D— document is in no way applicable to Dreyfus. It will send Dreyfus to trial by a new court

PARIS, May 4.—The cabinet council this morning decided that the French second class sruiser, Sfax, now at Fort De France, Martinique, should proceed immediately and bring Dreyfus from the Isle of Devil's to France. The cruiser is expected to arrive a Brest about June 26, when Dreyfus will be handed to the military authoritles and lodged in the military prison at Rennes. His conviction having been annulled by the united chambers of the court of cassation, his military rank and title are restored to him. He will occupy and will be allowed on deck from one to four o'clock every afternoon.

The papers point out that the cour of cassation voted unanimously for revision and only debated the process whereby it should be carried out.

The decree of the court was communicated to Madame Dreyfus at the house of M. Hadamard, here father. She immediately sent the following despatch to her hubsand: "The court of cassation proclaims revision with a new trial by court martial. Our hearts and thoughts ar with you. Let us share your immen happiness. Kindest kisses from all.' The Figaro says that throughout the day congratulatory telegrams have een flowing in upon Mme Dreyfus, M. Mathieu Drefus and Mitre Moinard, their counsel. Lieut. Col. Picquart, on being in formed of the court's decision, said: There is nothing better to be hoped the decision as the triumph of truth, justice and law and express the hope that all France and all right minded men will bow before the decise.

They appeal for reconciliation and calmages.

The anti-revisionist papers cosider the duty of all to submit in order restore peace to the country. A few of them affect to "Await with confi-dence, the verdict of the new court martial, implying that this will be an-

PARIS, June 4.—President Loubet, accompanied by the premier, Mr. Dupuy; and the chief of the military household, Gen. M. C. Bailloud, drove to the Auteil races this afternoon, closely followed by Madame Loubet in a second landau. As they drove alorg the Avenue Des Champs Elysee the crowd bowed respectfully, but on arriving at Autel they were met by a violent demonstration, evidently organized, and directed against the pre-

THE RESERVE OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF

There was a storm of hoots, yells and cries of "Panama," 'A Bas Loubet" and "Vive l'armee." A few shouts of "Vive Loubet" were drowned in the clamor. A strong force of police kept order and arrested many of the disturbers, including a man who tried to force his way to the president's carriage. During the second race the clamor increased to violence, and was plainly directed by a committee of the league of patriots, collected with their sup-lorters both before and behind the presidential stand, around which a formidable affray proceeded. During the grand steeplechase many blows were struck and several police-men were injured in their endeavors to prevent an invasion of the presidential stand.

At the crisis of excitement, while shouts of "Vive l'armee" and "Vive Deroulede" were heard on all sides, Count Christian rushed toward the president, brandishing a stick, and directed a blow against him, striking The crowd rushed upon Christian, who only escuped rough handling by being taken under police protection. President Loubet remained all the while ouite unmoved, talking to the premier, while the officers of his military household were defending him against violence.

Finally, after thirty arrests had been made, the prefect of police ordered the republican guards to surround the stration were M. Joseph Lasis, antipresidential stand.

Police Inspector Grilliero had his head seriously wounded in the melee, and President Loubet has since decorated him with the Cross of the Legion of Honor in recognition of his devotion to duty.

On returning to the Elysee Palace, M. Loubet received many sympathizing callers.

It seems certain that the demon stration was organized by the Jeunesse Royaliste, the Ligue Des Patriotes and the anti-Semites, the rallying sign being a carnation in the buttons hole.

Count Christian is a member of the Steeplechase Society, a very select body, and his conduct has produced the greatest indignation.

A special cabinet council was summoned at nine o'clock this evening to consider the situation, and important measures were concerted to be submitted to the president at another council tomorrow, for the preservation of order. The ministers, who were in session until 11 o'clock, maintain strict reserve as to the nature of their measures, but a semi-official note has been issued which says:

"The government will act with the greatest energy and will impose respect for the president and the state." The events of the day will lead to an important discussion in the chamber of deputies, where the government will demand a vote of confidence.

Further accounts show that the whole race course, particularly the wildest excitament. Comte De Dion, when arrested, resisted and fought with his came, smashing it on a policeman's head and causing the jewelled top to fly off, striking a journalist. He was detained in custody. Altogether about 130 arrests were made, one being that of M. Dansette, deputy mayor of Armen-

Demonstrations and counter del strations continued until M. Loubet left the race course at 4.20 p. m., the arrival of his carriage being the sig-nal for an indescribable tumult. The mounted guards with difficulty opened a passage through the crowd, the president being pursued to the last with hoots and yells. Even eggs were thrown.

the people generally cheered him loudly, the cheers increasing as he drove toward the Elysee, which he reached safely at 4.45 p. m. During the demonstrations a num ber of hats labelled "Resignation" were picked up. Count Christian was thrown, tramp-led upon and severely bruised in the melee. He is a grandson of a general who was well known during the em-

It seems that it was intended to give the "Marchand mission" a big ovation. The government got wind of the affair and kept Marchand out of the way, although Captain Baratiere and other members of the expedition were there. Draft of the Scheme for Mediation Discussed

PEACE CONGRESS.

By the Members of the Arbitration Committee at Yesterday's Session.

It is Adopted With the Stipulation That Will be Subject to Modification at the Second Reading.

THE HAGUE, June 5 .- The arbitration committee of the peace conference held a meeting today under the chairmanship of M. Leon Bourgeois. Andrew D. White, head of the Ameri can delegation, Sir Julian Pauncefote, head of the British delegation, M. De Staal, head of the Russian legation, with all the members of the committee, were present. After M. Bourgeois had made a sympathetic reference to the death of Miss Roth, daughter of Dr. Roth, head of the Swiss delegation, who was killed in a railway accident last Thursday at Flushing, the secretary of the drafting committees read the draft scheme of mediation. Articles one and two are declaratory—to the effect that the signatory powers, in order to prevent a recourse to force, have agreed effect pacific solutions of differences, and will, except in exceptional cir-cumstances, before an appeal to force, have recourse to the mediation of one or more friendly powers. Article three: "Independently of a recourse to such amicable means, the signatories deem it expedient that one or more powers not concerned in the conflict should offer, of its or their own initiative, and, so far as circumstances will permit, its or their good offices of mediation to the states at variance The right to offer good offices of mediation belongs to powers not concerned in the conflict, even during the course of actual hostilities; and the considered by the parties at variance as an unfriendly act." Article four provides that the role of mediator shall consist in the reconciliation of conflicting claims, and the allaying of bitterness between states at variance

BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

Grant to Lord Kitchener Occasions a Lively Debate.

John Morley Leads the Opposition to the Grant, Because of Kitchener's Treatment of the Mahdi's Head.

LONDON, June 5.-Mr. Balfour, in Lord Kitchener in the house of commons today, said the fact that the power of Mahdism was crushed was due to the genius of the man they desired to nonor and reward. Continuing, the government leader expresse the hope that these who objected to the policy of Soudan advance would not think that a reason for resisting the vote, as such a course would be introducing politics into military affairs. He then dwelt with admiration on the way the sirdar had surmounted difficulties and organized victories by "his unswerving and almost super-human industries,"deserved a signal mark of gratitude and honor, and he, Mr. Balfour, believed that in propos-ing the vote of £30,000 he was only carrying out the wishes of the house

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the opposition leader, cordially supported the motion, while expressing regret at the treatment of the Mahdi's body, which he regarded as an error of taste and judgment. Mr. Balfour did not refer to the incident of the Mahdi's head except indirectly, when he said he conceived that there was only one question before the house, namely, military merit. In connection with his reference to mixing politics in military matters, Mr. Balfour declared that those who wished to withhold from a successful general a merited reward because he had carried out a policy of which they disapproved, were virtually telling him and his soldiers who had faced death that they would have not only to obey orders, but to know whose orders they were obeying. Mr. Balfour added that the country whose army concerned itself with politics was on the verge of military despotism.

John Morley, the former liberal chief secretary for Ireland, opposed the vote on the around of the treatment the Mahdi's head, to which Mr. Balfour replied that he did not be-lieve the element of vengeance had influenced General Kitchener in the smallest degree, Jointing out that he had reated the Mahdi's family with the utmost consideration. The removal of the body, he also said, had been public, as publicity was an essential part of the policy dictating the act. It was the first duty of the man responsible for the safety of the men and officers left in charge of Omdurman to root out the fanatical super-stition which had been the strength Mr. Belfour of Mahdism for years. admitted, however, that perhaps the re-interment of the remains might have been conducted in a better man-

Lord Kitchener, Gen. Lord Roberts of Kandahar and the Duke of Marl-borough were in the gallery of the house of commons during the debate.

LATE LONDON, June 5.—The house voted Gen. Lord Kitchener a grant of £39,-
