Chas. Marcell, M. P. of Bonaventure at Brussels

ELOQUENT ADDRESS.

The Brussels Post and Herald So State—Ottawa Notes

Mr. Marcell M. P. addressed two meetings last week in the East Riding of Huron, Ont. in company with Dr. McDonald M. P. Deputy speaker.

The "Brussels Post" which describes him as "the eloquent French Canadian M. P. for Bonaventure" says:

Mr. Marcell was called for and showed at length that the Liberal government was one of deeds rather than words in giving wise and progressive legislation in clean business methods in administration and in the broad and hopeful outlook for the future of this young nation. He concluded a fine address by a patriotic reference to the feelings and ambitions of the people of Quebec Province in doing their share to aid in the advancement of Canada. Mr. Marcell is a fluent, pleasing speaker with good command of the English language and his visit to Brussels was greatly enjoyed. He will be welcomed back again.

The "Brussels Herald" says:—The evening session was late in commencing, but finally Mr. J. Leekie in the chair, after a few remarks called on Charles Marcell M. P. for Bonaventure, for the speech of the evening.

Mr. Marcell who is an eloquent and attractive speaker, spoke on two subjects, first to show that the Liberal party was a party of Government capable of managing the affairs of the country, and secondly to show the position of the Confederation.

OTTAWA NOTES

Messrs Champoux and Merritt of the Bay Chaleurs Mills, Restigouche Que. were here last week on business with the government.

THE BUDGET

Canadian Affairs in a Sound Condition

TARIFF CHANGES

Oil Duty Cut in two. English Woollens Pay 6 and one half per cent more

Ottawa June 7.—Finance Minister Fielding presented his eighth budget this afternoon. He congratulated the country on the increased prosperity. There were strong fears in the minds of some manufacturers that the period of depression now passing over the United States may extend into Canada. It was remarkable that depression existed in the highest protected country in the world, as protection was supposed to be a panacea for all trade evils. Canada's position, however, was sound and there was every reason to look for a continuance of that prosperity. Our estimate of the revenue last year was exceeded by over a million dollars, while the expenditures were close to the estimate, but the surplus of over $14,000,000 was the largest in Canada's history. Mr. Fielding gave details to support this statement. There was a comfortable increase in the revenue all along the line, it being nearly fourteen per cent, over the previous year.

Among the proposed tariff changes are the following:—Oil, present duty 5 1/2 per gallon, proposed duty 2 1/2 cts; printing presses, present duty 10 per cent; proposed free; pails, present duty 20 per cent, proposed duty 25 per cent; wax candles, 25 per cent, proposed duty 20 per cent.

The following are the changes in the preference tariff.

Woolen goods, present duty 35 per cent; preference 23 1/2 per cent; proposed preference 30 per cent. Twine and cordage, present duty 25 per cent; preference 16 2/3; proposed preference 20 per cent.

China etc., present duty 30 per cent; preference 20 per cent; proposed preference 15 per cent.

Window glass, present duty 15 per cent; preference 10 per cent; proposed preference 7 1/2 per cent.

Molasses, present duty 1 1/2 cents per gallon; preference 1 1/6 cents per gallon, proposed preference free

DALHOUSIE.

Commissioners Consider Water System Tenders.

ENGINEER'S REPORT.

Sufficient Water Available for Town—Dalhousie's Improvements.

On Saturday evening last a meeting of our town Commissioners was held. The subject of the meeting was to open the tenders received pursuant to notice published for several weeks in the Events and the Montreal Star and by circulars addressed to contractors in different parts of the Dominion by A. G. McKenzie, Sec'y, to Commissioners Town of Dalhousie, inviting proposals for furnishing materials and performing the work necessary for the construction of certain portions of a water system for the Corporation of Dalhousie N. B.

The tenders were opened by A. G. McKenzie, Secretary, before Messrs Ferguson and LaBilios, Commissioners, Capt Powell, the third Commissioner, being unavoidably absent. Two tenders were received with deposits of $500 on amount of tender and proposals most complete. Those who tendered are Thos Cook & Son, North Sydney, N. S., and the Maritime Contracting and Mining Co. with headquarters at Charlottetown, P. E. I.

Your correspondent is not in a position to give the figures, but he has been impressed with the fact that the Commissioners were satisfied with the reasonableness of the tenders and in order to make the proposition clear to the ratifiers before they are asked to vote on the question it was resolved at the meeting to secure the services of Daniel McMillan, Esq., Deputy Crown Land Surveyor of Restigouche Co., to make a test of the McNeish Brook before the 22nd inst, and make a report to the Commissioners. In the meantime your correspondent has obtained permission from the authorities to publish the report of Mr. T. A. McLean, Jr., the Engineer, employed by the Town of Dalhousie last winter to make a survey of the town for a water system and to prepare plans and specifications. When the survey was made in February last, the water was very low in this section. The following report speaks for itself.

Messrs. The Water Commissioners Dalhousie, N. B.,

Gentlemen, I beg to submit the following preliminary data on the water situation.

The quantity of water at present flowing in the McNeish Brook is 83,500 gallons every 24 hours. Placing the population of your town at 1200 this gives 69 gallons per head, an ample allowance for any ordinary commercial town.

Assuming the dam to be 8 feet high the effective head at inlet as compared with the street level in front of Murphy's Hotel is 188.4 feet. Equivalent to a discharge of 775 gallons per minute with a velocity of 5 feet per second or four good fire streams through one inch nozzle throwing streams about 65 to 70 feet with short hose.

At the Convent Basement I find a head of 70 feet, representing a delivery of 450 gallons per minute at a velocity of about 2.5 feet per second, or equal to two very weak fire streams.

Sees No Harm in Going Fishing on Sunday or in Watching a Ball Game

Boston, June 2.—Some of the churches here have been endorsing the question of fishing and playing golf on Sunday. When appealed to for an opinion Rev. Albert B. Shields, rector of the Episcopal church of the Redeemer, South Boston, and a native of Nova Scotia, said: "There is no reason why a man after going to church and doing his duty to his God, should not be allowed to spend a few hours fishing without being stopped. A person fishing, certainly, is not doing any harm. I also think that a man should be allowed to witness a game of ball on Sunday afternoon. Golf and tennis should be enjoyed, as all of those games are healthful. I speak only for the God-fearing man. Those people who do not spend a short time in a church on Sunday I do not answer for."

ENERGETIC MINISTERS

Hon. Messrs. Farris and LaBaillois to Address Series of Meetings

Good Roads and Fruit Growing Will be Intelligently Discussed

It is the purpose of some members of the local government to address a series of meetings throughout the province during the present summer. Arrangements for these meetings are now being perfected.

The first meeting will be held in Albert County on June 16th and 17th. The principal speakers will be Chief Commissioner LaBaillois, who will speak chiefly upon the important topic of good roads, and Commissioner for Agriculture, Farris, who will give particular attention to the matters engaging his Department, especially fruit culture.

When at Wolfville last week Hon. Mr. Farris visited several of the large orchards in that fruit growing section. His Department in addition to having planted model orchards in several sections of the Province, is doing all possible to promote fruit production, there being a great future for New Brunswick in fruit export especially apples.

Too Great a Risk

In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of cholera morbus, often before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. A reliable remedy for these diseases should be kept at hand.

The risk is too great for anyone to take. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has undoubtedly saved the lives of more people and relieved more pain and suffering than any other medicine in use. It can always be depended upon. For sale by A. McG. McDonald.

A CANADIAN CHRISTMAS POEM.

Across the crowded Christmas night,
The shadow darkness and the cold,
I saw the City crowded with light,
And every window twinkled with gold.
Their new gods come, their old depart,
These strange creeds into dust have died—
Yet the same lives, O troubled heart,
Who gave to men this Christmas tide?
He dies not, for still clear His star
On such a night shines for a race
Who remember how the Christ we are
And watch the man that He would be!
And through the dubious mist of night,
Across the gloom, and far below,
I see glad homes re-ward with light,
And each light swings its star of joy.

IN THE NICKLE BELT.

Comparison of Prices of Little Things Here and in England.

It was at Brandon Fair that we first realized that one of the drawbacks of this country is the total absence of useful things of small value. We have learned that lesson a hundred times since then. In the old country a penny is a very appreciable buying power. Here ten cents, or fivepence, is practically the smallest coin in use, and is certainly of no more worth than twopence at home. At Brandon Fair the "side shows," which at home would charge a penny, twopence or at the very utmost threepence, for admission, charged invariably 15 cents, or 7½d., and they were crowded. I was in a shop where a mother was buying a little candy for a fractious and peevish child, and she gave 5 cents, or 2½d., for an amount that would have been purchased in England for a halfpenny. It costs you fivepence to get your boots blacked, and a shilling for a shave in a hotel. Any drink, in the smallest of tumblers, such as a couple of tablespoonsful of gin and a squirt of stone ginger beer, costs 15 cents. I had a little ammonia sweetened with a small bottle of German, but locally brewed. The cost was two shillings. If you ask for lager beer they give you a small glass, one-third of a half-pint bottle, for fivepence. A bottle of lager beer, which I could get for sixpence in Sheffield, cost me two shillings in a Canadian hotel—not larger brought from Germany, but locally brewed. The latter is the better plan. It seems to me that "living" in Canada is quite twice as dear as living in England, but in Canada the food would be somewhat more varied and a single working man has to pay thirty shillings a week for food and lodgings on the average, and he can easily spend another pound a week on such luxuries as smoking and drinking. I suspect that a good deal of the saving which goes on here is made possible by men robbing without things that are unnecessary. The strong temptation feeling of the country has, in no inconsiderable degree, an economic basis.—John Derry, one of the visiting British journalists, in The Sheffield Independent.

Not a Canadian bird.
As the robin is with us but half the year, it is not right to claim him as a Canadian bird, as is sometimes done. He is of migratory nature, and leaves us at the end of October, returning early in April. This bird is the finest songster that visits us, and he gives unmistakable proof that he has many kinds of birds, but not one of a more attractive and pleasing disposition than the robin. What I would particularly draw attention to is a remarkable illustration of this bird losing his own natural song and learning from talking something altogether different. Having got possession of him when he dropped from the nest, I whistled to him, or in his hearing, repeatedly from day to day, and when not at home one or other of the members of the family did the same, so that now he cannot be recognized by his song as a robin. Sweet as his natural song is, what he has acquired is sweeter still. In reality it is not a song, but a melodious and changeable whistling, interspersed with variations of many and peculiar noises. When spoken to by one of the family he invariably answers in bird language, and he gives unmistakable proof that he knows one person from another. The first footstep that reaches his ear in the morning brings from him a welcome salutation, and no matter how late at night the last one home is greeted with a cheerful "good night." He is particularly fond of water. For food give him neither meal nor any kind of prepared stuff, but simply fresh meat in very small pieces. This is as near his natural food as you can get. When fruit is in season give him a few berries, or even now a few table currants is a welcome and wholesome addition to his bill of fare.

Oldest Trade Secret.
The two oldest secret trade processes now in existence are considered to be the manufacture of Chinese red, or vermilion, and the method of mixing the hardest steel with gold and silver, which seems to have been practiced at Damascus ages ago and is known only to the Syrian smiths and their pupils even to this day.

Believe Japanese Will Keep The Date

Propose to take the Strong Russian Fortress in at least Fourteen Days

St. Petersburg, June 6.—Interest has been aroused to the keenest point by the announcement so coolly made from Tokio that the Japanese propose to take Port Arthur in fourteen days.

What is more, among those strongly pessimistic minded Russians it is admitted pretty generally that the enemy after what he has shown himself to be is likely to make good his word. Something has happened to Kuroki according to the latest report—something which prevents him moving forward as Kuropatkin would like to see him do, but one of the shrewdest military experts here believes Kuroki is merely remaining where he is to prevent any attempt to rescue Port Arthur.

The entire scheme of the Japanese at the moment is to reduce Port Arthur at whatever price.

Kuroki's and Kuropatkin's outposts are in touch all along the line. Skirmishes mark the time of the movements of both armies in a most interesting manner.

Wonson, June 6.—A strong Cossack scouting party is reported thirteen miles north.

A courier from Ham-Huang states that the Governor there provided the Russians with thirty-seven hundred bundles of fodder, and also repaired the roads to the north at the Russian Commander's request.

This indicates the presence of a considerable body of cavalry in that neighborhood. The Russians paid well for the fodder, supplies and work.

Rumors here are that the Russian force previously reported at Kapsan has abandoned its march southward turning to the west toward Ping-Yang. Seven guns accompany the force.

The first steamer arriving here since the sinking of the Goyo Maru reached Port Friday.

Gun Boat Sunk

Russian Ship Supposed to Have Been Blown Up

Tokio, June 6, 11 a. m.—The destroyer flotilla engaged in watching Port Arthur from the eastward reports that at 7:40 p. m. on June 4 a Russian gunboat of the Giliak type was seen to explode and sink near Chentao Shan. The vessel with another gunboat and other steamers were evidently engaged in clearing the vicinity of mines. When the explosion occurred the others hurried back into Port Arthur. Vice-Admiral Togo expresses the opinion that the explosion was caused by a Japanese torpedo. The name of the gunboat sunk is unknown to the Japanese, but it had been seen on several occasions acting as guard ship at the mouth of the harbor.

Kuropatkin to Czar

Friend Nick: I have your postal, dated April twenty first.

Of all the jobs I ever struck, this surely is the worst.

We had a skirmish yesterday with 80,000 Japs.

That lasted from reveille till the solemn call of taps.

Say, Nick, you should have seen the way your Cossacks bit the goos; their backs were bullet riddled, yet their thoughts were all of you.

Alexis sends his best regards, but on the strict Q. T.

I think he has his hammer out for you. I've your query, "What Success?" and in reply would say

That crops are looking up a bit—it is raining some yesterday.

I sent a bunch of Cossacks out to scout around New Slang

And heard this noon that they were nailed near Chuey Sang Kiang

Please send my utter, G. O. D., by Adam Zad Express

The nights are mighty chilly here—I've got the gripe I guess

And by the way, Nick, when you go to check the water through

Just slip a quart of vodka in the inside pocket, too

For it isn't so much to write about; we have a day to-day

And lost 800 rookies in a busy little fray

But they died game, I tell you! We are winning heaps of fame

Around these parts by reason of our knack for dying game

Don't let the Nihilists get gay and put me to the test

And when you write again Nick, tell me more about yourself

Don't mind me in the least old boy I'll take good care of that

The Japs are here, I'll have to run Yours very truly,

PAT.

Applicant in the Wrong Room

During the excitement of a physical examination of candidates for places on the police force in city hall a mild mannered man wandered into the room and somewhat got mixed up with the aspirants for places on the force. He was instructed to remove his clothes partly, and in a few minutes was hard at work with the other men in the room, raising dumbbells, inflating his chest and undergoing a general physical examination.

"Run around the room," he was commanded, and on a trot, he made the circuit of the room a dozen times.

Almost out of breath, he stopped and inquired:

"Look a-here, what else have I got to do to get my license?"

"What license?" queried the surgeon in surprise.

THE INTERCOLONIAL.

"LOOK at the Intercolonial" for three decades has been the cry of the Canadian friends of the private ownership of railways. Let us look at the Intercolonial; but let us look at it, considering all the facts. Perhaps we may not find it quite such a horrible example after all. At the very outset, we might ask those who sit the evil case of the one State railway of Canada; how many privately owned railways built in North America about 1870 have absolutely satisfactory financial records. Our own unfortunate and bedevilled line has plenty of company, for the great majority of the railways of the United States have attained their present strength through the wiping out of the original capital invested in them. Even the Grand Trunk has owed the country a few millions for half a century or so. It is a favorite amusement of some publicists to figure out what the unpaid debts of the Grand Trunk amount to at simple and compound interest.

The Intercolonial was not planned as a commercial line. Is it fair to be indignant because it is not a commercial success? It is a political and military line. For express military reasons it was exposed to water competition otherwise unnecessary. It has on the whole done satisfactorily the work for which it was designed. Thirty years before it was constructed, a Lieutenant Governor of Upper Canada found it necessary to go to England in winter. His course in office had angered certain people in the United States. He could follow no other route than that through the United States to New York; and high as his official position was, he was insulted, and even pursued and threatened with bodily violence. Upper Canada was not in an independent position when for months absolutely her only communication with the outside world lay through the neighboring republic. Moreover the Maritime Provinces admittedly have gained little from Confederation. The Intercolonial is of immense service to them. In certain particulars its commercial success has been sacrificed to local convenience. Under the circumstances that is not wholly unjustifiable. Why then be scandalized because it does not pay commercially?

Yet the line actually does pay where it has a chance, and actually is well managed. Its commercial disadvantages are written across its face. The older portion of the line, from Levis to the ocean, falls into three divisions:—
In Nova Scotia (about) 400 miles
In New Brunswick (about) 325 " " " " " "
In Quebec (about) 300 "

Of these three sections, that in Quebec is barren and unproductive. That in New Brunswick skirts the water-edges of a rugged Province. That in Nova Scotia traverses a country fairly rich in mineral and agricultural resources. A railway which has only forty or fifty per cent of its line in desirable territory and which must carry one long unproductive stretch amounting to one-third of its whole length can scarcely be regarded as having a brilliant prospect. Until a few years ago, at the end of the barren stretch was the commercially impossible terminus at Levis. This does not exhaust the tale of difficulties. The sixty mile stretch from Halifax to Truro cuts across the Nova Scotia peninsula, and offers a shorter route than can the coasting trade. Everywhere else the railway parallels the coast. The lines from Truro to Sydney, from Truro to Moncton, from Moncton to St John, and from Moncton to Quebec, at every point are only a few miles from tide water. Few private roads would pay which had to work under natural conditions so disadvantageous.

In the one portion of the line where it has a chance, the Intercolonial does pay. It is in direct competition with a great corporation railway for the Canadian Pacific has running rights over its St John to Halifax road. It is exposed to the competition of the coasting trade. Yet, as Mr. Borden has pointed out, the Nova Scotia traffic is profitable, and the general deficit is caused by the need for carrying long unproductive stretches. It is instructive to note that the Government railway does well in Nova Scotia by virtue of its management. So far as the freight rates go, it treats the people exceptionally well. So far as passenger service is concerned, the service of the Intercolonial is at least quite as good as that furnished by the Canadian Pacific over the same route. The disbeliever in Government ownership must get over the fact that in Nova Scotia the Intercolonial (1) gives low freight rates, (2) gives a good passenger service, and (3) pays.

DOMINION DAY

JULY 1st is Canada's Natal Day, and it is usually the custom of patriotic Canadian towns to plan a fitting celebration for that day.

It is now some time since Campbellton has had a demonstration on Dominion Day and we think that this year should not be allowed to pass without some effort being made to fittingly pass the day here. Why not call a special meeting of the Outing Club and discuss the matter and see what encouragement will be offered. Such a celebration is a good thing for the town. It brings strangers and natives in and advertises our business interests and advantages. A large amount of money is spent and put into circulation and the cost is small, although there is much hard work for those who have charge of the undertaking, but it pays. Coming so soon after the celebration at St John we might be able to induce tourists here if a few special features were added and well advertised. Nothing brightens up a town more than to have such a celebration, with a trade procession, aquatic sports, etc. and in the past Campbellton has shown that when the occasion demands it she can do things up in the right way.

Let committees be appointed at once, there is plenty of time if a start is made now, and have a monster demonstration. Other towns will help make it a success as we hear of no preparation being made except in Chatham where horse races will be held in the afternoon. Who will start the ball rolling?

CHURCH UNION

THE question of a union between the Presbyterian and Methodist churches of Canada is being discussed in the general assembly and although there appears to be a majority in favor of such a union there are a number of prominent men who are opposed to it. This is what may be expected from the nature of the grounds of difference which exist in the creeds of the two churches. At first sight it would appear as if such a union was impossible, because the doctrines of the Presbyterian Church are Calvinistic, while those of the Methodist church are Armenian, but practically these doctrines do not at present make much figure in the practical theology of either church. Doctrinal sermons are seldom preached and the number of Presbyterian ministers who would hold to "Holy Willie's" interpretation of Calvinistic doctrine that God might have condemned him to eternal damnation ten thousand years before he was born, are but few in number. Still there is enough of this ancient doctrine existing in the minds of some of the older ministers to make the question of union a difficult one. Indeed the only way in which such a union can be effected is by constructing a new theological form of doctrine which shall be altogether silent in regard to such matters as election and predestination. There is no doubt that both the Methodist and Presbyterian churches are wasting their strength by maintaining congregations in small communities where one church would suffice, and this is the strongest argument in favour of union that can be put forward.

The discussion in the general assembly shows that the forces working in favour of union are powerful and that its accomplishment is among the possibilities at no very distant day.—Gleaner.

WE notice that as yet no move is being made to supply the necessary accommodation on the deep water terminus for the handling of freight bound to the Gaspe coast by steamer. It can hardly be expected that the steamer will run from this port if we have not the necessary facilities.

This matter should be looked after and in just such matters as this does Campbellton feel the need of a live Board of Trade with an executive to look after such things and see that they are attended to. A Board of Trade backed up by the Maritime Board carries more weight with the "powers that be" than any local body and we think it would be a move in the right direction if the business men would meet and discuss the matter.

Storage capacity of dam about 200,000 gallons.
Signed,
T. A. MacLean, Jr.,
Civil Engineer.

Our town is now presenting a very neat and tidy appearance. Our Streets Commissioner has had all the streets cleaned and the action of our Commissioners preventing cattle from running at large, is having a beneficial effect on the cleanliness of our streets and sidewalks.

We still have some people who think that the streets of a town are proper places for the running at large of horses, cattle, swine and sheep. Fortunately they belong to the small number. This subject has been the topic of conversation here recently and the question put by one of the ladies of the town to a person who was complaining about his cow having been put in pound, tells the whole story. Mr. ... what would you think if you were walking up Campbellton's main street and you saw here and there cows and horses running at large and a flock of sheep taking charge of a narrow sidewalk?

The Town of Dalhousie has made considerable progress during recent years and it is encouraging to see how anxious our citizens are to put a willing shoulder to the wheel of progress and keep pace with other towns. Your correspondent remembers well when people had to drive to Ed River Crossing or to Dalhousie Junction to take the I. C. R. Thanks to the energetic efforts of the late Robt. Moffat, Ex. M. P., the Dalhousie Branch Railway was built and now we have a magnificent railway service which connects our growing town with other parts of the country.

The old dingy post office has been replaced by a fine stone structure. Thanks to the influence of Geo Moffat, Ex. M. P.

The old wharf at the upper end of the town has been replaced by an immense block with large freight shed thereon secured also by the Moffats and Mr. James Reid, M. P., is now completing arrangements for a call for tenders for an addition to the I. C. R. wharf of 30x35.

It is not very long ago when the only means of travel for the people on the Quebec side who wished to trade or visit Dalhousie was the little open boat or a ferry by sail boat, with great difficulties experienced in landing on both sides of the river. Thanks to the influence of the local members for Restigouche Co. and the valuable assistance received from W. H. Clapperton, M. P. P., and Charles Maclell, M. P. for Bonaventure Co., we now have a perfect steam service making three trips per day between Dalhousie and Migouasha and one trip per day to Campbellton, with ferry landings built at Dalhousie and Migouasha. It is said further that it is the intention of the Bonaventure Co. members to apply for assistance to build a small wharf at Fleurant's Point to accommodate the people from that section and from Escuminac.

Police protection was considered an impossible thing some time ago, now that we have been a few days without a policeman, everyone is crying out for police protection.

On Sunday, 29th ult., two moose made their appearance on the beach above the town. After a while they were seen swimming in the harbor and people say that the intention of the animals was to cross to the Quebec side. If so their plans were deranged by several parties who followed them with boats and turned them towards the New Brunswick shore. The poor animals were tormented by parties till a late hour in the night. One of our game wardens notified the authorities as to what had taken place and your correspondent has not been able to find out if sufficient evidence could be secured to convict anyone. The game laws seem very strict as the expression "land" means and it includes any chasing, pursuing, worrying, following, stalking or lying in wait, with a double fine for hunting or chasing game on Sunday.

We understand that parties are negotiating with Mr. Jas Alexander for a lot of land on Ramsay St. on which to build a conservatory. We trust that this proposition will be carried through successfully.

Word was received on Tuesday that Joe Price of this town, son of Supt. Price of the I. C. R. was one of the graduates in medicine at McGill University. We extend our congratulations to Dr. Price on his success.

Game Warden Duncan laid a charge against two young men, Brown and Good of Dalhousie for hunting and worrying two moose in Dalhousie Harbor. The case was dismissed as the evidence was not sufficient for conviction

The New England Rep Co will give a concert in the Curling Rink, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday evenings. This Company has the largest collection of views in Canada and a large Edison Phonograph and a pleasant evenings entertainment will be given.

Great preparations are being made for the concert in the Curling Rink June 24th. Two special features of programme will be a fancy drill by 12 young ladies in Grecian costume and the pantomime "Parade and the Peri". Sale of seats will open Saturday at McDodald's Drug Store.

While Warman's special was entering Ed River Thursday evening about a quarter of a mile west of that station a large moose appeared on the track. When seen first it was on the driver's side of the engine only three rods away. Driver William Ferze applied the brakes but too late to save the animal's life and it became entangled in a small wooden culvert, could not clear itself, and was killed.

Two local base ball teams the Stars and Clippers played a practice game on the base ball field last evening. Nine innings were played and a score of 6 to 8 in favour of the Stars was the result. This was the first game of the season and the boys find it difficult to get the teams together. This should not be the case as no team can play without practice. All ball players and those interested in ball playing should meet early each fine evening at the field.

Mr. Jas Alexander is making extensive improvements to his property on the corner of Water and Ramsay Sts. Several buildings have been moved. The large Store on the corner has been moved from the corner and turned end on to Water St. and the corner left vacant. This large store is to be brick cased and fitted up in modern style, and will be one of the best in Campbellton. The corner lot is to be graded and ornamented trees will be set which will add much to the appearance of that important locality. Masons are at work on the building.

George Gautreau on trial at Chatham for having in his possession an illicit still has been sentenced to six months in jail and also to pay a fine of $250. Gautreau was first taken before the magistrate of Richibucto, but he claimed he lived in Northumberland Co. After the correctness of the statement was ascertained, he was taken to Chatham.

The Currier's Rink here has been fitted up for an opera House. A large stage has been erected with scenery, etc and seats for about six hundred are provided. There is plenty of reserve space and the building would easily hold 2000 people. We understand that efforts are being made to induce several good companies to play here at an early date. Campbellton is a good show town and if the right class of shows would come they would reap a harvest

The annual procession of the Blessed Sacrament took place on the church grounds adjoining the Church of our Lady of Snows here on Sunday evening last, commencing at 7 o'clock. The way had been lined with trees and decorated with flags for the occasion and a repository had been neatly set in a cluster of evergreens on the edge of a rising wood of second growths of spruce and fir.

A convincing and practical explanation of a June evening the hill in its gay attire and well-dressed thousands looked its best. The cross-bearer and acolytes who led the procession were well followed by the A. O. H., about 80 in number, who appeared in public for the first time, headed also by a very artistic banner. Then came about 100 members of the C. O. F. with banner, followed by the societies of the Sacred Heart, Children of Mary and Holy Childhood, each with its own banner. The choir sang appropriate hymns and a rest was made at the repository where the A. O. H. and C. O. F. lined up as a guard of honor on each side.

School Board Meeting.

The Board of School Trustees met in regular session on Monday evening. Applications from teachers and persons seeking the position of janitor were received. The present staff of teachers was re engaged for the ensuing year at the same salaries. A change however was made in the janitorship. Mr. Robert F. Barclay a former janitor of the school received the appointment, his term to commence July 1st.

Miss Rogers of St. John, was unanimously accorded the use of a room in the school building for her classes in Elucution and Physical Culture—Seven of the trustees in fact emphasized the urgent necessity which exists at the present day for such instruction. Miss Rogers is a graduate of one of the foremost Schools in America and comes highly recommended for the position. Her classes are maintained by private tuition. Several of the regular teachers purpose taking both courses with the object of personal improvement, as well as to qualify for higher salaries which will necessarily follow.

Other matters such as the fencing and improvements of the school grounds were briefly discussed and a committee appointed to make enquiries concerning prices of fencing, etc. and report at next meeting.

At their concerts this family will show the smallest violin made as an instrument, the same one that was used by MISS BESSIE REDDEN at the age of three years. This the youngest child on record to play violin in concerts. She is still with the family—age now thirteen years. She is already quite a musician and also a good elocutionist. For all round work in Violin, Mandolin, Piano, Singing and Recitation she is probably ahead of all other children of her age in this or in any other country, she could entertain an intelligent audience for an hour all alone, not only her performance but her appearance is most interesting.

Commencing so young and being naturally adapted to the stage she is more at home there than almost anywhere else. Don't fail to see and hear her.

MISS MAIE REDDEN two years older, is equally as good. She will perform at these concerts.

A Tangled Web

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

Author of "Beaton's Bargain," "His Perfect Trust," "By Another Name," "Her Hea's Idol," "Half a Truth," "His Rival."

At length she tried to think what she had better do to hide herself from the kindly inquiring eyes of her step-mother. She could think of nothing more original than the in-exhaustible excuse—headache; but it would not do to lie down in the safe solitude of her own room. No; she dared not so indulge herself. She would go out and shop. There was plenty to do in that way. She rang, and called for the ever-ready Watson, and explained that she thought the air would do her good, and sallied forth, leaving a message for Mrs. L'Estrange to the effect that Mr. Winton had called and could not come to tea.

It was dusk when she returned, feeling utterly worn out. "My dear Nora," cried her step-mother, "here is a letter from Mr. Marsden. I wonder what he would say if he knew that you had let the beautiful ring he gave you drop and had not taken the trouble to pick it up?"

"Did I?" with a bewildered look. "Yes! Dear Ned on it as she came in. It is fortunate she is so light."

"Ah! my fraulein, it is not a good omen!" cried the little German governess.

"Oh! we must not talk of omens! How did Bea behave at the dentist's, Helen?"

"Like a little heroine!" cried Mrs. L'Estrange proudly, "and she has been chosen a proportionate reward—a monstrous Noah's ark, with the most accurately correct animals ever made out of wool, and fur and papier-mache. But, Nora, were you wise to go out?"

"Yes, quite. My head ached fearfully, now it is better."

"It may be, but you look wretched. I do not know what Mr. Marsden will say to me when he comes back. I wish you would read his letter. I am anxious to hear what Lady Dorrington says."

"Nothing very pleasant, I fear," said Nora, with a sigh. "Why couldn't Mr. Winton come this afternoon?"

"Oh! he was obliged to go somewhere else. I imagine he is going away to see his uncle to-morrow."

Marsden had braced himself up for a stormy interview with his sister. After carefully reviewing his position, and assuring himself there was no flaw in his armor, that the accounts of his trustworthiness were perfect order, he determined to announce his intended marriage to the world.

The first person to be informed was Lady Dorrington. That done, there was nothing more to fear. He did not reach Chelworth till just in time to dress for dinner. There were one or two country neighbors to share the repast, and the conversation Lady Dorrington wished to have with her brother was postponed till the next morning.

Marsden observed that his sister looked very grave and portentous; but that in no way dampened his spirit or lessened his efforts to amuse and interest his sister's guests, which were peculiarly successful. He listened with lively attention to the details Lady Dorrington poured forth respecting Mrs. Ruthven's sufferings and tedious recovery. She feared that the poor invalid would scarcely be able to see him. Marsden begged she might not be asked to do anything not quite agreeable to her.

"It is no question of what is agreeable," said Lady Dorrington severely. "It is of what will be safest for Mrs. Ruthven. You cannot imagine the weakness to which she is reduced. Any relapse now would be fatal. She is anxious to go away to the south of France, or the Riviera, but I trust she will not go alone."

"No; she had much better get some pleasant companion. You will find her one, I dare say. You always have such a supply of admirable persons of hand fitted to fill every possible position."

Lady Dorrington darted an angry, warning glance at her brother, and addressed him no more that evening.

When breakfast was over next morning, as the frost was too hard for hunting, Marsden sauntered into the billiard-room, and was knocking the billiard-balls about by himself, when the inevitable message reached him:

"My lady would be glad to see you, sir, in the boudoir."

"I have been waiting for you this half hour, Clifford," said she, like to intrude on you till you sent for me. He returned, looking up to the fireplace, and leaning easily against the mantelpiece. "Do you know you are looking wonderfully well, in spite of your nursing worries?"

"My looks are of small consequence," said Lady Dorrington, sternly. "I want some serious conversation with you, Clifford; your conduct is very unaccountable and unfeeling. What, may I ask, is your motive for staying in town all this time?"

"Oh, because—because I like it."

"There is something more than that—or rather there is some strong attraction—which I do not understand, to keep you in London! Pray, has it anything to do with Mrs. L'Estrange and Nora?"

"They are very agreeable relatives, and I see a good deal of them," returned Marsden, in a lazy, indifferent way, most irritating to his sister.

"Why, Clifford, you surely would not be so unprincipled as to delude Nora, your own cousin, with the notion that you are in love with her, and you could not be so insane as to think of marrying her? I shall certainly warn Mrs. L'Estrange against you; you are too regardless of everything except your own amusement."

"In this case, I have thought more of my own happiness."

"What do you mean?" in a tone of alarm. "Do you mean to say you have taken one of your wild fancies to poor, dear Nora?"

"I do; and what is more, I have persuaded 'poor, dear Nora' to take me for this purpose. I have a 'Good God!' cried Lady Dorrington. She sat a moment staring at him in silence, as if dazed. Marsden was quite unmoved. Clifford, gasped Lady Dorrington at last. "Your conduct is most dishonorable toward Mrs. Ruthven."

"How do you make that out?" "When she was at Evesleigh, every one thought, judging from your manner—your attentions—that you were engaged."

"Then every one was mistaken."

"I, myself, believed that you were determined to marry Mrs. Ruthven."

"Why couldn't I flirt with her?" "Don't you understand that she is the sort of a woman to whom the end and aim of existence is to flirt?"

"Yes, I understand that she is the sort of a woman to whom the end and aim of existence is to flirt."

"I never intend to marry Mrs. Ruthven."

"Then you have behaved abominably, and just the sort of your own interests. Nora L'Estrange has nothing, or next to nothing."

"She has nothing you really want; she is a mere distant relative, a nobody, before six months are over, you will be sick of her, and wonder what madness induced you to tie yourself to her."

"I think the madness will last a couple of years," put in Marsden in a low tone, but his sister did not heed him.

"Do be advised by me, Clifford! Break off with Nora L'Estrange; she can not care much about you in so short a time; she is reasonable and unselfish; she would not like to condemn you and herself to the horrible fate of becoming pauper gentry."

"You drive me to my wit's end; you will disgrace yourself whatever you do. I assure you you have contrived to impress Mrs. Ruthven with a conviction that you intended to marry her."

"I cannot help her being highly imaginative, can I?" asked Clifford quite unmoved. "I never said and certainly never meant to do anything of the kind."

"Hesitation! Good heavens!" ejaculated Lady Dorrington. "As to poverty, well, we shall not starve. I have almost come to an arrangement to let Evesleigh, with the shooting, etc., for five hundred per annum; that will help to keep the wolf from the door, eh sister mine? Then, after a few years' wandering in pleasant places, I shall return a free man, and hold high revels in the hall of my fathers."

"Let Evesleigh!" said Lady Dorrington, aghast, as if this was the lowest depth.

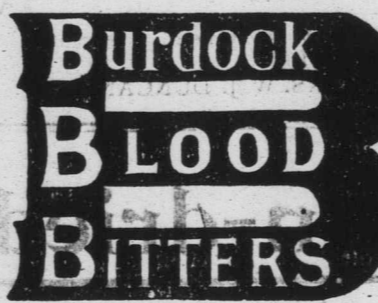

"Yes! Nora quite approves," continued Marsden serenely. "She is prudent, and very resolute for so youthful and charming a wood nymph. She will reform me, and my estate, depend upon it."

"And what—what am I to say to round a trap, I want to catch the three-thirty up-train at Rockingham. Send my man to me."

Lady Dorrington rose in Mrs. Ruthven's room, and Lord Dorrington had gone down to the Home Farm, when Marsden set forth. So he left without leaving-taking, save from the stately butler and his satellite footmen, with whom the easy-going, open-handed, affable squire was a prime favorite.

"Tant mieux," said Marsden to himself, as he looked up the rain and drove off sharply. "I wonder if Mrs. Ruthven scents the battle from afar? Her message sounded warlike."

Turns Bad Blood into Rich Red Blood.

This spring you will need something to take away that tired, listless feeling brought on by the system being clogged with impurities, which have accumulated during the winter.

Burdock Blood Bitters is the remedy you require. It has no equal as a spring medicine. It has been used by thousands for a quarter of a century with unequalled success.

HERE IS PROOF.

Mrs. J. T. Skine of Shigawake, Que., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a spring medicine for the past four years and don't think there is its equal. When I feel drowsy, tired and have no desire to eat I get a bottle of B.B.B. It purifies the blood and builds up the constitution better than any other remedy."

TER-CENTENARY.

Great Preparations Being Made and a Good Programme Promised.

St John, June 4.—Everything points to the fact that during the time of the tercentenary celebration and old home week St John will be crowded with visitors from many parts of the United States and Canada. Mrs. Olive, Secretary of the New Brunswick Tourist Association, has received many hundreds of letters of inquiry, some of these from far away California. Each has been answered and when in addition to that it is remembered that the burden of the very large amount of advertising has rested on the Secretary's shoulders it will be seen that she is and has been a very busy woman.

Preparations to accommodate the expected visitors are being pushed forward as rapidly as possible. It is estimated that the hotels will be able to receive between 2,500 and 3,000 guests. In response to a call made by the association to citizens who could take in either boarders or roomers, 124 names have been received at the office. Some of these can accommodate more but on the average they can take about seven guests. It is very desirable that all information on this point be sent in as early as possible so that it can be tabulated for reference. Mrs. Olive will always be glad to receive the addresses of citizens who are willing to help, as well as a statement of the number of people for whom they can find rooms.

On Wednesday afternoon, June 23rd, there will be games of base ball and horse races at Moosepath track under the auspices of the St. John Driving Club.

On Thursday a regatta will be held on the harbor by the Neptune Rowing Club, when it is hoped outside crews will compete in the races. The Lieutenant Governor will be asked to hold a levee in the court house at 11 o'clock of this day. The approaches to the court house will be decorated for the occasion and all citizens and others who take part are requested to appear in morning dress. On Thursday afternoon the new library building will be opened and the memorial tablet unveiled. The school children will be massed in front of the building and will probably sing patriotic songs. In the evening a public literary and musical entertainment will take place in Centenary Church. This, it is expected, will be a rare intellectual treat.

Friday will be a very busy day. In the morning will take place the landing of Champlain, DeMott and Poutincourt at the market ship. The arrangements for this event are in the hands of the Neptune Rowing Club who will have a ship of the period, the 16th century, and a whole flotilla of canoes manned by Indians. Both sides of the market slip will be lined by militia, and altogether this feature of the celebration will be as it is intended to be the best spectacular function of the week.

It is proposed after the landing to have a procession through the principal streets of the city. At the same time the military will take part in the ceremony of unveiling the memorial statue in Riverview Park. The programme for this function has not yet been definitely settled but it will probably include addresses by His Worship, the Mayor, Dr. Gilchrist, President of the Park, and Lient Col. White, D. O. C.

In the afternoon of the same day there will be a navy and military parade, and in the evening the harbor will be illuminated, there will be bonfires on some of the more elevated points around the city and a procession of firemen in which the departments of the outside places have been asked to participate and which will no doubt be a grand success.

Mr. J. R. McKenney is away on a trip up the bay.

Smelts are very thick in the brooks now.

The lobster fishing this year is the best for many seasons.

The herring are about done for this season. They were hardly as plentiful as usual.

Messrs Milton and Charles Scott spent last Saturday in Bathurst.

SATURDAY.
Saturday will be a comparatively quiet day. The forenoon will no doubt be devoted to sightseeing, and in the afternoon there will be band concerts and base ball games. Sunday there will be special services in all the churches. All the Blue Lodges of Free Masons will attend divine service in a body. This will be very fitting as the two greatest events in the history of St John, the landing of the Loyalists, and the discovery of the St. John River by Champlain, both happened on Sunday. On Monday the members of the Royal Society and other affiliated societies will be entertained by an excursion on the river.

This is but an outline of the programme of what promises to be one of the most enjoyable weeks in the history of St. John. As, however, there will be some who may prefer the quiet of the country to so much strenuous enjoyment in the city it is well to know that Rockwood Park is within easy walking distance, offering all the varied features generally considered essential to Sylvan solitudes. The public gardens will be looking their very best then and it is safe to say that there are not many more inviting spots to rest in than these gardens. Special efforts are being made to have all the squares and open places about the city looking their best and credit is due to gardener Beatty and his men because everything points to the fact that their well directed efforts will be crowned with unqualified success.

Martello Tower is one of the things St. John is justly proud of and the view from the top down the bay is one of unrivalled beauty anywhere. Information of riding, walking and cycling tours to beauty spots within easy reach of the city will be supplied by the tourist association.

The Best Liniment.

"I have derived great benefit from the use of Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism and neuralgia," says Mrs. Anna Hagelund, of Tuckahoe, N. J. "My husband used it for a sprained back and was also relieved. In fact it is the best family liniment I have ever used. I would not think of being without it. I have recommended it to many and they declare its merits are wonderful." For sale by A. McG. McDonald.

This Company, after testing Ligozone for two years in the most difficult germ diseases, paid $100,000 for the American rights. That is by far the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery.

We publish this fact to show you the value of Ligozone. Men of our class don't pay a price like that save for a product of remarkable worth to humanity.

Ligozone goes wherever the blood goes, destroying every germ in the body. In this way it cures diseases which medicine never cures. It will do more for sick humanity than all the drugs in the world combined.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Ligozone kills the germs, wherever they are, and the results are inevitable. By destroying the cause of the trouble, it invariably ends the disease, and forever.

Not Medicine
Ligozone is not made by compounding drugs. Its virtues are derived solely from gas, made in large part from the best oxygen producers. By a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time, this gas is made part of the liquid product. Ligozone has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research.

The result is a product that does what oxygen does. Oxygen is the very source of all vitality, the most essential element of life. Ligozone is a vitalizing tonic with which no other known product can compare. Its effects are exhilarating and purifying. But germs are vegetables; and Ligozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetable matter.

Ligozone goes wherever the blood goes, destroying every germ in the body. In this way it cures diseases which medicine never cures. It will do more for sick humanity than all the drugs in the world combined.

Contradiction in Reference to Recent Rescue Home Case

GLOUCESTER COUNTY. BATHURST NEWS

Sad Drowning Accident. Fire at Teteagouche.

A sad drowning accident occurred here Monday morning at eight o'clock when Mr. Arthur Donnelly, a young man of nineteen years of age, and employed on the reconstruction of the Village bridge, suddenly fell backwards over the side of the bridge and without a struggle sank to the bottom of the channel, and was drowned. As can be imagined the unfortunate tragedy which was witnessed by many persons at various points caused great excitement and alarm. A boat was rowed to the spot within two minutes from the time of the accident, but no trace could be seen of the body. As the victim was subject to fainting fits the supposition remains that he had been seized by a turn of this kind and was helpless, as otherwise he had the reputation of being a strong and powerful swimmer, and under ordinary circumstances would have saved himself. Four boat crews with grappling irons were at once commissioned to grapple for the body, which they brought up from the bottom after two hours tedious labor. The Coroner was present when the body was recovered and gave permission for its removal for burial.

The funeral took place Wednesday morning to the Sacred Heart Church, and was largely attended. The pall-bearers were Messrs A. White, F. Wilber, Jr., A. O'Donnell, M. Power, C. Hall, and J. White, Jr.

Mr. Joseph P. Chamberlain of North Teteagouche sustained a very serious loss by fire last week. Shortly after noon Mr Chamberlain noticed his barn to be a sweeping mass of flames, from which he had not time to save, even his valuable live stock which consisted of one pair of draught horses and a number of fine young cattle. His loss otherwise consisted of his spring seed and all his farm machinery, besides a buggy and truck wagon.

A picnic is announced to take place at Perit Rocher on or about June 24th. The proceeds to be used for church purposes.

Dr. R. G. Duncan has purchased the Donnelly estate in the town of Bathurst. The price paid is said to be $1000 and it is understood that the Doctor intends to remove the old building and to construct a fine residence on a modern plan.

Another larger property has been transferred from Mr. David Leashey to Mr. Robert Branch at a figure which is said to be $1800. This property is situated on the Bathurst Village Basin Road.

Miss Agatha Melanson is home from Shediac after an extended visit of several months. Her many friends are glad to welcome her back.

The marriage of Miss Bridget Doucett, of Robertville to Mr. Gilbert Innhoff of S. Teteagouche, took place in the former district Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. W. E. Sormany, the parish priest. The bride was most becomingly attired in a dress of blue cloth with hat to match. Her sister assisted as bridesmaid and the groom was supported by his brother Cornelius. After the ceremony the wedding party drove to the home of the groom's parents, where a sumptuous bridal breakfast awaited them and their guests.

Miss Josephine Meahan has returned home from Montreal after spending several weeks in that city.

Librarian, A. J. Melanson.

Conductor, Peter P. Burton.
Directors, N. A. Hachey, Ed. Baldwin, J. Melanson, Jas. H. Doucett, M. Landry.

Mr. John P. Legere is advertising his Schooner "Phantom", twenty tons for sale. This is an opportunity for anyone requiring a good schooner at a bargain as owner desires to dispose of same at once. Bathurst, June 8th 1904.

Hon. C. H. LaBillicois, Chief Com. Public Works, arrived here to-day with a R. Wetmore, Pro. Engineer. They were met by Messrs Burns, Poirier and Young M. P. S. An examination of the repairs being made to the Bathurst Basin bridge was made. The Engineer took the levels and gave instructions to Mr. Davis Lorden, the Inspector, so that the job be made complete. The contractor is Albert P. Smye, the well known bridge and wharf Contractor, of Albert Co. and his foreman is Joseph Goulette, the bridge builder of Charlo Station, Restigouche Co. The amount of contract is $6,484.00. The sidewalk will be removed from the side of the bridge and made permanent near the roadway on the bridge itself. This will make the sidewalk perfectly safe for pedestrians.

The members for the County were in consultation with the Chief Commissioner for several hours. The subject of wharves, bridges, roads, smallpox bills was taken up and resulted in arrangements being made for the Provincial Engineer to make a thorough examination of several bridges in the lower end of the County. This trip will be made in July and Mr. Wetmore will be accompanied by John Young, M. P.

In August or September Mr. LaBillicois accompanied by Joseph

Poirier, M. P. P., will visit Miscou and Shippigan Islands. It is also proposed to hold several public meetings in Gloucester Co to agitate the question of great roads.

Mr. Burns, M. P. P., drew the Chief Commissioner's attention to the condition of the flooring of the Nepisiquit Steel Bridge and it is probable that repairs will be ordered shortly.

New Carlisle

Farmers have about finished planting and sowing. The prospects for a good hay crop are especially bright.

"The 'Blenheim' Capt McPherson called here last week on her way to Campbellton to discharge a cargo of anthracite coal. Among the crew was Mr. Rex Hamilton who looked wonderfully well considering the fact that he had, about three months ago fallen a distance of over 30 ft from the rigging to the deck of the vessel.

After discharging in Campbellton the Blenheim comes down the coast to load fish for the Brazilian market. Mr. E. W. LeGrande has loaded a couple of schooners with fence posts for Prince Edward Island.

Dr. Carcaud is having a fine building erected where he will practice his usual dentist business, besides carrying on a general business in drugs, patent medicines etc. We wish him every success.

The usual closing examinations of the New Carlisle schools are now on. They reflect great credit on the teachers Miss Sever and Miss Gole.

LIFE INSURANCE?

Why not insure with the New York Life.

It is a purely mutual Company. There are no stockholders. All its assets and earnings belong to policy-holders, who incur no personal liability. It has an honorable record of fifty-nine years, during all of which time it has steadily increased in strength and prosperity.

Its policies are incontestable from date of issue. Its policies as now issued contain no restrictions as to residence, travel or occupation, as to habits of life or as to manner, time or place of death.

The SOL-ER condition is that if the premiums are paid, the company will certainly pay the policy immediately in the event of its becoming a claim by death, either in one day, or instalments (at option of insured), thus leaving to the widow or estate a legacy not a lawsuit.

Its policies cannot be forfeited after once being in force, the insured receiving extended insurance, or, after two years, either extended insurance or paid up policy.

Its policies will be reinstated within one month after non-payment of any premium without medical examination on payment of the premium due with interest. The policies may also be reinstated at any time prior to two years before the end of the Accumulation Period, on satisfactory medical examination and payment of all back premiums with interest.

You can borrow money from the Company at 5 p. c. per annum, after your policy has been in force two years, if the premiums are daily paid to the anniversary of the insurance next succeeding the date when the loan may be obtained.

You do not have to die to win. If you live 15, 20, 25 or 30 years, you can settle your policy in any way that best suits your circumstances at the time—for cash, paid-up insurance, annuity or other option.

If you live to the end of the term, you will have made a most substantial provision for yourself in old age, and if you die before the end of the term you will leave a substantial provision for your family or your estate.

It is the most valuable estate you will leave behind you, more certain in its results than land, horses, stocks or bonds, as its value does not raise and fall with the market. The New York Life Insurance Company is the ONLY Company in which you can get all of these benefits.
