Eight Persons Known to Have Perished -Four Missing-Seven Injured.

New York, April 7.-Eight lives are known to have been lost by the fire which destroyed the homes of Wallace C. Andrews and Alfred Adams, on East Thirty-seventh street this morning. The injured number seven, and four servants are missing, whose names may have to be added to the list of the dead. Following are the names of those

KNOWN TO BE DEAD:

Wallace C. Andrews, president of the New York Steam Heating Company. Margaret Andrews, nis wife. Mrs. Georgian C. St. John, sister-inlaw of Mrs. Andrews, and wife of G. D. St. John.

Austin B. St. John, 7 years old. Wallace St. John, 3 years old. Frederick St. John, 15 months old. The last three are children of Mrs. St. John.

Jennie Burns, a servant Mary Loughlin, a servant. MISSING.

Mary Boland, kitchen maid; Mary Flannigan, parlor maid; Ann Neary, servant; Eva Peterson, servant.

THE INJURED. Mrs. Elizabeth Adams, shock; Evelyn Adams; Kate Downing, servant, slight burns; Maria Roth, slight burns and asphyxiation; Olive K. White, cook, contusion and slight burns; Mamie Boggue, servant, shock; Nellie Quinn, servant, internal injuries, serious.

PARTICULARS OF THE DISASTER. New York, April 7 .- By fire in two residences in the wealthiest part of this city, eight lives were lost today.

Before the day is over it may be found that the death list has been swelled to fourteen; for during the early morning hours four persons were missing and two so badly injured that they may die. Of the eight victims known three were children. The last bodies from the Windsor Hotel horror were buried only a day or two ago. This latest fire was in some way almost a repetition of that holocust.

The fires were in the homes of Wallace C. Andrews, president of the New York Steam Heating Company, at No. 2 East Sixty-seventh street, and in the home of Alfred J. Adams, at No. 3 East Sixty-ninth street.

HOW IT STARTED. The fire started in the Andrews house, and the Adams residence caught later in the morning, from the flying sparks. The fire was discovered at sparks. The lire was discovered at about 2 a.m. Policeman McKnight says he was at Fifth avenue and Sixty-sixth street, in front of the Havemeyer house, when he heard an explosion and saw a great flash of light in Sixty-sayonth street. He ran light in Sixty-seventh street. He ran thither with all speed, and when he arrived the flames were shooting out of the upper rooms of the Andrews house. leaped half-way across the street. McKnight tried to get into the house to arouse the tenants. He was driven back by the flames. He then turned in an alarm, and returning, got the people out of V. H. Rothschild which is close by. Mr. Rothschild is a millionaire merchant. Around the corner of Sixty-seventh street and Fifth avenue are the homes of New York's richest and most famous men. Next to the Adams house, which was a handsome four-story, brown stone affair, is the splendid home of H. O. Armour, of the Chicago firm of packers. Next to that is the home of Perry Belmont. Directly opposite this is the home of George Gould. TOO LATE. While some of the firemen fought the flames with hose and chemicals, others rushed into the Rothschilds' house and from there into the Andrews' home by way of the rear windows. But they were even then too late, for in the middle room of the third floor the firemen stumbled over the bodies of Mrs. St. John and Wallace, her three-yearold child. The child was dead, but Mrs. St. John was still alive and gasping for breath. Fireman Fay picked her up, and staggered with her to the Rothschild house, where she died in his

Mrs. St. John, her three children and two servants, Kate Downing and Maria Roth, were all on the third floor. Mr. St. John, who is treasurer of the New York Steam Heating Company, and a brother of Mrs. Andrews, was not at home during the fire, and had been notified of his affliction at 6 o'clock. Mr. Andrews and his wife occupied the middle room on the second floor.

There, two hours later, their bodies were found CLASPED TIGHTLY TOGETHER. They were so charred as to be almost beyond recognition. The servants of the Andrews' were on the fourth, or top floor. Alice White, the cook, leaped from the window to an extension, which rose to the third floor. She was found there unconscious by firemen.

Mary Holland, the kitchen maid; Mary Flanagan, the parlor maid; Ann Neary and Eva Peterson, the four remaining servants, were on the fourth floor. It is feared they are lost.

FIREMEN POWERLESS. After the firemen had taken Alice White and Jennie Burns from the roof of the extension, just before the flames reached that locality, another desperate effort was made to get into the Andrews home. Like the Windsor Hotel it burned like tinder. The conflagration had gained an extraordinary hold and it was impossible to force an entrance. The firmen were impotent and cine. could only wonder how many human beings were perishing. The rattling of the fire engines, the ringing of gongs and the shouts of the firemen and police had aroused the people of the neighborhood. Excitement was intense. Fashionable women, half clad, rushed into the street and men jostled and gesticulated. The flames shot up over a hundred feet high and a strong wind swept them north.

THE ADAMS HOUSE IN FLAMES. On the north side of Sixty-ninth street is the handsome home of Alfred J. Adams, the millionaire sporting man, better known as "Al. Adams." His family had been aroused by the tumult. A servant opened the front window to see what it was all about. Just then a gust of wind swept in burning brands through the open window. The Adams house was on fire in a second and began to blaze fiercely. The inmates were panic stricken by this sudden blaze. Nellie Quinn and Mamie Vogel, two servants, tried to rush down the stairway, but that avenue of escape was already cut off. The two appeared at the front window. Then they jumped to the roof of the bow window, a story below, where they crouched in terror. The crowd below watched and shouted that help would

THE WORK OF RESCUE.

The flames got hotter and nearer to the women. Policeman Louis C. Wagner and several citizens ran into the next house and up to the third floor of that building, on a level with the women. While the oitizens held Wagner, he leaned far out of the window and lifted the women one at a time, and swung them to safety. They were carried down to the street. The crowd cheered loudly. In an hour the fire in the Adams house was out. But it had done its work, for the firemen found the body of Mary Loughlin. She was 60 years old. She lay at the bottom of the stairs leading to the roof. She had been smothered by the smoke and was been smothered by the smoke and was not much burned. Clasped tightly in her arms was the body of a pet pug

By 6 o'clock the fire in the Andrews' house was sufficiently under control to permit of a search of the ruins. Then it was that the bodies of the two remaining St. John children were found. A SAD VISIT.

Soon afterwards L. C. Bruce, of this city, who is married to a niece of Mr. Andrews, arrived and identified the andrews, arrived and identified the bodies. He said Mrs. Andrews came from Willoughby, a suburb of Cleveland, Ohio; Mr. St. John was in Wilmington, Delaware, with some friends. Mr. Andrews was in Albany yesterday and returned home only last night. Mr. Andrews was in Albany yesterday and returned home only last night. Mr. Borden, a brother-in-law of Mr. St. John, said that the entire family had planned a trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas, and were to have started tonight. George Gould was not in his home at the time of the fire.

Pledges for the Coming Year-Liberal Thankoffering.

The twelfth annual meeting of the W. A. M. A. of the Diocese of Huron was brought to a close yesterday. At the morning session Mrs. Boomer spoke of the proposed memorial to Bishop Sullivan-a sustentation fund for the Diocese of Algoma-and asked the co-operation of the auxiliary.

Some minor committee reports were received, and resolutions of sympathy, congratulation and thanks moved.

At the close of the address by the bishop the free-will thank offering was presented, the amount being $401 75, which was further increased by $50 from two of the members. The bishop decided that this should be applied against the diocesan mission fund WORK TO DO.

In the afternoon arrangements were made to raise the $200 promised to-wards the salary of Miss Young, lady missionary in Japan.

The three diocean pledges for lady missionaries in Japan, Northwest and Grand River Reserve were renewed, the fourth pledge, that of Lion's Head, being replaced by a pledge of $400 to the mission fund of the diocese, and a fifth diocesan pledge was assumed, viz., the salary-$500-of Huron's lady missionary to China, to be paid into Zenana mission funds. The branches will provide the salary of $150 for a deaconess to work among the Indian women of Walpole Island, one member promising $50 towards the Bright Prospects for a Canadian Six-Club Baseball League.

Bacing at San Francisco and Wash. ington-Fistic and Other Sporting Matters.

BASEBALL.

CANADIAN LEAGUE PROSPECTS. Hamilton Times: The feeling in Canadian Baseball League circles today is much easier than for some time past, for the prospect for a successful sixclub league is very bright. Last night the Stratford people-about twenty substantial men, who are willing to put money into the game—got together after a well-attended public meeting and completed plans for the organization of a company, with a paid-up capital of $1,000. A representative committee of eight was appointed to secure the subscriptions, and the members Basseda 1, Tarhill 2, Burdoc 3. #### A "PIG-TAIL" CLUB.

New York, April 7.-Female baseball clubs, Indians and colored men have been touring the country playing exhibition games of ball for several seasons, but they are all outclassed this season, as a New Yorker has an ag-gregation of "Chinks" that is open for games in all parts of the country. The pig-tailed laundrymen have been practicing in a gymnasium, and the manager promises a very fair article of baseball when they get on the field next month.

near Chicago. The Colorado boxing bill has now passed both houses, and it is said that the governor will sign it. "Spike" Sullivan has challenged La-vigne, and claims that he has won enough fights to entitle him to battle for the championship.

The New England League has been reorganized and will consist of an eight-club circuit, with a salary limit of $900 per month for each team. Earl Peabody, the crack bicycle rider who was declared professional by the racing board of the L. A. W., has asked the new board to restore him to the amateur ranks. The Temperance organ, the Lever, has taken an interest in baseball since temperance clauses have been inserted in players' contracts, and suggests that abstinece is good for the players it is also good for the spectators. ### THE B. E. LEAGUE

Discuss the Matter of a Naval Reserve and Fast Atlantic Line-Officers All Re-Elected.

[G. N. W. Telegraph to Advertiser.] Ottawa, April 7.-The annual meeting of the British Empire League was held yesterday in the railway committee room, House of Commons. Lieut .-Col. C. T. Mr. Denison, in his remarks, said Mademoiselle stakes; May 13, Frank that nations would enjoy liberty and freedom just in the proportion that they were able to defend them. It was only wisdom for Britain to consolidate its power and conserve its wealth. He said the safety of the empire depended on its food supply, and held that if the United States and Russia put on an embargo on foodstuffs, Britain could be humiliated and defeated. Mr. Dobell seconded the report, holding that Britain was mistress of the seas, and would always find food for her people. The chairman then read a telegram he had received from Sir Robert Herbert, president of the executive league in England, expressing the heartiest wishes for a successful meeting.

Sir Charles Tupper moved a resolution urging immediate steps to secure a fast Atlantic line.

Mr. Bertram, M.P., Toronto, said there was possibly a blessing in disguise in the many delays that followed the steps taken for a fast Atlantic service. Shipbuilding, for instance, was very much higher in England than on this continent, and therefore there was a possibility of the proposed steamers being built in Canada as a result of the delay. This might be the beginning of a great industry in Canada. Johnson, vice-principal of Mc-Gill College, also spoke on the fast Atlantic service. He showed that even $1,000,000 subsidy would be taken up entirely by insurance premiums, as the rate on vessels coming up the St. Lawrence was 10 per cent, and estimated the cost of the proposed vessels at $10,000,000.

spoke briefly. Mr. Davies said the naval reserve matter was under consideration. If Britain supplied the necessary guns there would be no difficulty in getting up the reserve. Col. Denison, the president, and all the officers of last year were re-elected. Gen. Hutton declined to become a member of the league council.

The Rectory street called, to consider the question of lock line was not a paying one, and crossing gates in the dam. Fourth race was run as the sixth, the G. T. R. tracks caused much annoyfected unless some connection between the south and north ends of the ward were continued. He urged that the company be asked to build a spur from Dundas street south on Egerton street to the G. T. R. tracks, and thus connect with the proposed extension in the south end of the ward.

Mr. Showler, another petitioner, did not think east end merchants had gained anything by the Rectory street line. There were 300 voters in the southern district without a car service.

Ald. Parnell had much sympathy with the petitioners. The belt line, he now saw, was not the best, although he originally favored it. He was op-posed to Ald. Wilkey's suggestion, because of the danger in crossing the railroad tracks on Egerton street, where there were about 30 tracks.
Ald. Wilkey moved that the chairman, the mayor and himself lay his scheme before Mr. Carr. Ald. McPhillips thought the request of the netitioners should also be submitted to the company.

The mayor opposed Ald. Wilkey's suggestion. Ald. Carrothers said the loop at the fair grounds would have to be taken up in the fall. Then the company would probably ask permission to build around the block east of the fair grounds. Ald. Wilkey's motion was lost. A motion by Ald. Parnell was adopted, referring the question to the chair-man, the mayor, Ald. Wilkey and Ald. Garratt, to obtain information and report to the committee next week, when any opposition to the petition already in will also be heard.

Ald. Jolly's permanent sidewalk scheme was again entered into fully by the committee, with the result that Ald. McPhillips, who at the last council meeting was neutral regarding it, became an ardent supporter. He moved that the former action of the committee in indorsing the scheme be confirmed. Carried, Ald. East end residents complained that a drain near the corner of Dundas and Egerton streets was not laid deep enough. They asked to have the tile lowered two or three feet.

Ald. Wilkey said that by lowering the drain the committee would add to the value of the property interested one-third. He suggested that the committee visit the place as early as possible. The property of the petitioners had been flooded three or four times this winter, and the city was threatened with suits for damages. Assistant Engineer Ironside said the drain did not cause the flooding of the property. It was in the county that the trouble originated. The committee will go over the ground on Monday afternoon.

There is a dullness, drowsiness and inaptitude for work on account of the whole system being clogged up with im-of a thorough cleansing. Of all "Spring Medicines," Burdock Blood Bitters is the best.

It stimulates the sluggish liver to activity, improves the appetite, acts on the bowels and kidneys, purifies and enriches the blood, removes all poisonous products, and imparts new life and vigor to those who are weak and debilitated. Mr. Wm. J. Hepburn writes from Centralia, Ont .: "I can sincerely say that Burdock Blood Bitters is the best spring medicine on the market. Last spring my blood got out of order, and I had seven or eight good sized boils come out on my body, and the one on my leg was much larger than an egg. I got a bottle of Burdock Blood

Bitters, and inside of six days, when only half the bottle was taken, there wasn't a boil to be seen. I have recommended B.B.B. to different people in our village, and all derived benefit from it. I wish B.B.B. every success, as it is indeed a great medicine for the blood. Every

The Battle of the Books.

The members of the Legislature in the closing hours of the session indulged in the usual frolic of pelting each other with books and stationery. Some of the starch-necks frown on this kind of sport as being beneath the dignity of the House, but the man who hasn't a little juvenile fun left in him, lacks something in his make-up. After the tension of political warfare it is good to see the old boys relax into their normal good nature and assert their rivalry in the friendlier fashion of hurling around paper instead of hard

If this battle of the books could be substituted for the war of words at Ottawa it would save the country a good deal of time and money. Parliament has been sitting for two weeks and has done nothing but talk. If Sir Charles Tupper had put his elongated speech into a volume of print and fired it at Sir Wilfrid Laurier's head, he might have scored a hit and made a far deeper impression than by his five hour's drip of declamation. The combined leakage of Sir Charles Tupper, Mr. Davin and Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper filled 217 columns of Hansard, enough to make a fat duodecimo, which would certainly floor any one of the Ministers if it were accurately aimed.

The United States House of Representatives have been compelled to adopt a somewhat similar plan in order to get through any business at all. Instead of orally discharging his ideas a member is obliged to commit them to paper and his "speech" is then dumped into the Congressional Record, which corresponds to the Canadian Hansard. In this way, the Honorable Tom Johnson, of Ohio, got the whole of Henry George's great work, "Protection vs. Free Trade," embodied in the Record, and he scattered it broadcast over the country by means of the franking privilege. The Republicans confessed that this clever scheme helped to elect Grover Cleveland in 1892 by educating the republic in favor of tariff reform.

Some new method should be adopted to remove this clog of language from the wheels of parliament. A time limit cannot be enforced so long as the two Tuppers and the bard of Regina are in good voice. We have an idea which might work a remedy, and we give it | British floating capital has trebled for what it is worth. It is this-that in 36 years, and British wealth has each member be required to pay the doubled in the same period. Mr. Mulexpense of recording his speech in Han- hall, however, points out that the rapid conveying, as it were under the very

Motives for the Yukon Slander.

What, probably, are the real motives back of this Yukon Slander outburst against the Dominion Government?

Perhaps there might be a suggestion in asking, What was the motive in the persistent Steel Rail Slander against Alexander Mackenzie-one of millions. the honestest men who ever lived? Now that he is dead, former foe, as well as friend, admits that the Steel Rail Charges, which for a space filled Opposition platforms and newspapers had never so much as a tittle of justification. The sole object was to create, by slander, an unfavorable impression.

Another object of the Yukon Slanders probably is to divert attention from the necessity of such reform of the Senate as will prevent that body from continuing to be the irresponsible government of the Dominion.

And still another object probably is to so waste the time of the House as to prevent the repeal of the present infamous Dominion gerrymander.

A Good Omen.

The Chicago Times-Herald classifies the Windy City's new Board of Aldermen as follows:

Proved honest aldermen .....40 Tried and found wanting ......12 Untried and unknown ......16

Total ......68 The Board is pronounced the first clean one that Chicago has had for years. The 40 proved honest aldermen were nominated or indorsed by the Municipal Voters' League, an organization formed for the purpose of trying to rescue Chicago from the gang of boodiers who made the city the opprobrium of the continent. The result is full of encouragement to social and political reformers. It shows that even in a community like Chicago, with its hybrid population, Mulhall also suggests that capital there is a reserve of moral sentiment the civic consciousness which is allpowerful when it is once aroused. It transcended politics in the recent contest. Mayor Harrison, a Democratic and a free silver man, won the support of the great Republican newspapers, and of a large section of the Republican party, because he fought single-handed against the aldermen who had contracted with the street railway corporation to put through an outrageous franchise. While Harrison swept the city, the Democrats lost heavily in the aldermanic fight. The return of Harrison is the more gratifying, because it was not by the grace of demagogues. The demagogues had a candidate after their own heart in the notorious Altgeld. The triumph of Mayor Jones, of Toledo, over the regular forces of both political parties is another sign of the times. Municipal government is at a low ebb in the United States, but when the evil is brought home to the people honesty and corruption, honesty will win every time. If this can be done mingles with his wit and satire a good his father replied, "because he's so in Chicago it can be done anywhere. deal of shrewd observation and com-

which are denied them over the border. The Power of British Gold.

"Widespread and vast as is the colonial empire of England, the rule of British capital is still more extended." With this statement, Michael G. Mulhall, the eminent statistician prefaces a very interesting article on British capital in the April number of the North American Review. There is hardly a nook or corner of the globe, he says, where we are not confronted with docks, railways, shipping, banks, newspapers. waterworks, tramways, factories, etc., bearing the hall-mark of British gold, as conspicuous as the letters "S. P. Q. R." in Ancient Rome.

Under the head of floating capital he includes all stocks and shares of whatever kind, that may be transferred at a moment's notice. This comprises not only every variety of joint stock companies, but also all public debts, national and local, and hence may be considered apart from public wealth, since a fresh issue of public debt does not add to a nation's wealth. The wealth and floating capital of the principal states of Europe are given, in round millions:

increase of floating capital is not an since a country may be ruined by over-capitalization, as well as by over-banking.

In the creation of new capital, Great Britain still leads, the figures for 1897 being: Great Britain, 650 millions; Germany, 455 millions; Russia, 148 millions; France, 80 millions; Austria, 52

In some countries, notably in Great Britain, the increase of floating capital has been more rapid than the requirements of internal industries, and for this reason there has been an overflow of capital which has not only been beneficial to neighboring countries, but has fertilized many of the remote and hitherto unproductive parts of the earth's surface. Mr. Mulhall estimates that the overflow capital of Great Britain is $9,300,000,000, that of France $2,-340,000,000, and that of all Europe, 17,000,000,000. The growth of foreign investments by British capital has been unprecedented. The Stock Exchange estimate for 1860 was 700 million dollars, whereas it is now 9,300 millions, as already stated. Of the latter sum, 3,200 millions is invested in foreign loans, 2,300 millions in coloniai loans, 2,100 millions in railways, and 1,700 millions in banks, mines, etc. For the last 14 years the average annual amount of British home investments has been $200,000,000, while $350,000,000 has annually emigrated. Mr. Mulhall maintains that if British capitalists would content themselves with less interest, home investments would increase faster than foreign. There are numerous desirable undertakings in England for which capital is not forthcoming. The eminent American hydraulic engineer, Mr. Corthell, reported, in 1898, that in a few years it would be necessary to deepen all the harbors and docks of Great Britain and other countries of Europe. Mr. should be employed to build cheap and sanitary buildings for the poor, even though the return would be only 2 per cent. But the writer affirms that British capital in foreign countries has been on the whole a powerful agent of progress. Like the overflow of the Nile, it has fertilized lands that would otherwise be arid and unproductive. It has opened fresh channels of commerce and made all nations in some way tributary

This boast was have been encouraged by the bettered especially intended for John Bull's conditions here to return to this land ears. A French admiral has since taken some of the conceit out of M. Lockroy by telling him that "if his gushing speech should convince England of the the United States who see in our newer lands opportunities for making a living advantage of this type of vessel, she, with her seventeen dockyards, could easily produce twenty in six months and one hundred in twelve months."

The man who writes the smart things for the Chicago Evening Post chaffs "Rev. Mr. Kenyon, of Syracuse, himself a poet," for saying that Kipling is a fad and "makes me tired," but adds, "it is only fair to our other magnanimous poets to say that they do not indorse Mr. Kenyon's sweeping assertion." Pegasus Shelly is reported to have said that it is not so much the average poet tired. "The reflection that Kipling is paid at the rate of 13 cents a word, while he experiences great difficulty in getting a cent for thirteen words, brings on that feeling of lassitude which is supposed to yield only to sarsaparilla." Another minor poet admits that there is no white man's burden more grievous than a bundle of unmarketable poems clamoring for a friendly publisher, while Kipling has no trouble in disposing of his entire stock at boom prices. The result is that the critic advises Mr. Kenyon to go and become "a fad," but unfortunately he cannot give any specific rules for the attainment of that most desirable object.

The Parisians have a new sensation. It is provided by the Matin newspaper. The matin has moved into new premises and opened a free and continuous exhibition, the beginning of which is thus described: "The facade and the immense awning that projects over the boulevard are inundated with the electric light. The great hall is wide open to the passerby and from the Boulevard Poissoniere itself, where the new offices are situated, as well as from the spacious and always accessible hall, you may with a single glance see every part of the complex modern institution known as a great newspaper. The great rotatory engines, the composing and stereotyping department, the employes coming and going, the work of folding and dispatching the paper, the editorial rooms, the telegraph and telephone, eyes of the public, the events which are taking place all over the globe-in a word, the whole busy ed in a high degree the curiosity of Parisians, and up to 4 o'clock in the morning thousands and thousands of persons went in and out of the brilliantly-lighted building, profoundly interested by this new departure in French journalism."

LEPROSY IN OHIO

A Young Woman Died of the Dread Disease.

Junction City, Ohio, April 7.—Hannah Garey, aged 22, the older of the two Garey sisters who have been afflicted with leprosy for the last seventeen years, died at their home three miles from here last evening after two weeks of intense suffering, the result of the dread disease invading the vital organs—probably the heart and lungs. About two months ago the Garey sisters were examined by a prominent specialist on the class of diseases who diagnosed their disease as genuine leprosy. The family live on an isolated farm in Perry county, which is shunned by all the natives; no one can be persuaded to put their foot within the limits.

The Battle of the Books.

The members of the Legislature in the closing hours of the session indulged in the usual frolic of pelting each other with books and stationery. Some of the starch-necks frown on this kind of sport as being beneath the dignity of the House, but the man who hasn't a little juvenile fun left in him, lacks something in his make-up. After the tension of political warfare it is good to see the old boys relax into their normal good nature and assert their rivalry in the friendlier fashion of hurling around paper instead of hard language.

If this battle of the books could be substituted for the war of words at Ottawa it would save the country a good deal of time and money. Parliament has been sitting for two weeks and has done nothing but talk. If Sir Charles Tupper had put his elongated speech into a volume of print and fired it at Sir Wilfrid Laurier's head, he might have scored a hit and made a far deeper impression than by his five hour's drip of declamation. The combined leakage of Sir Charles Tupper, Mr. Davin and Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper filled 217 columns of Hansard, enough to make a fat duodecimo, which would certainly floor any one of the Ministers if it were accurately aimed.

The United States House of Representatives have been compelled to adopt a somewhat similar plan in order to get through any business at all. Instead of orally discharging his ideas a member is obliged to commit them to paper and his "speech" is then dumped into the Congressional Record, which corresponds to the Canadian Hansard. In this way, the Honorable Tom Johnson, of Ohio, got the whole of Henry George's great work, "Protection vs. Free Trade," embodied in the Record, and he scattered it broadcast over the country by means of the franking privilege. The Republicans confessed that this clever scheme help- Eight countries .$227,500,000 $49,630, ed to elect Grover Cleveland in 1892 by educating the republic in favor of tariff reform.

Some new method should be adopted to remove this clog of language from the wheels of parliament. A time limit cannot be enforced so long as the two Tuppers and the bard of Regina are in good voice. We have an idea which might work a remedy, and we give it British floating capital has trebled for what it is worth. It is this-that in 36 years, and British wealth has each member be required to pay the doubled in the same period. Mr. Mulexpense of recording his speech in Han- hall, however, points out that the rapid conveying, as it were under the very

Motives for the Yukon Slander.

What, probably, are the real motives back of this Yukon Slander outburst against the Dominion Government?

Perhaps there might be a suggestion in asking, What was the motive against Alexander Mackenzie-one of millions, the honestest men who ever lived? Now that he is dead, former foe, as well as friend, admits that the Steel Rail Charges, which for a space filled Opposition platforms and newspapers had never so much as a tittle of justification. The sole object was to create, by slander, an unfavorable impression.

Another object of the Yukon Slanders probably is to divert attention from the necessity of such reform of the Senate as will prevent that body from continuing to be the irresponsible government of the Dominion.

And still another object probably is to so waste the time of the House as to prevent the repeal of the present infamous Dominion gerrymander.

A Good Omen.

The Chicago Times-Herald classifies the Windy City's new Board of Aldermen as follows:

Proved honest aldermen ..... Tried and found wanting ......12 Untried and unknown ......16

The Board is pronounced the first clean one that Chicago has had for years. The 40 proved honest aldermen were nominated or indorsed by the Municipal Voters' League, an organization formed for the purpose of trying to rescue Chicago from the gang of boodlers who made the city the opprobrium of the continent. The result is full of encouragement to social and political reformers. It shows that even in a community like Chicago, with its hybrid population, there is a reserve of moral sentiment the civic consciousness which is allpowerful when it is once aroused. It transcended politics in the recent contest. Mayor Harrison, a Democratic and a free silver man, won the support of the great Republican newspapers, and of a large section of the Republican party, because he fought single-handed against the aldermen who had contracted with the street railway corporation to put through an outrageous franchise. While Harrison swept the city, the Democrats lost heavily in the aldermanic fight. The return of Harrison is the more gratifying, because it was not by the grace of demagogues. The demagogues had a candidate after their own heart in the notorious Altgeld. The triumph of Mayor Jones, of Toledo, over the regular forces of both political parties is another sign of the times. Municipal government is at a low ebb in the United States, but when in Chicago it can be done anywhere. | deal of shrewd observation and com- often served with eggs.

The Turned Tide.

That the tide of population has now turned in favor of Canada is shown in the trade and navigation returns. Here last year in which the Conservative papers, the book should sell wellparty held power, and for the fiscal year ended June 30 last:

Imported. Exported. 1896 .....$2,234,457 $1,237,293 1898 ......2,828,675 907,989

A very considerable portion of the increase in 1898 is due to the return of the United States for a time, and who have been encouraged by the bettered of promise. They are accompanied in many instances by settlers from the United States who see in our newer lands opportunities for making a living which are denied them over the border.

The Power of British Gold.

"Widespread and vast as is the colonial empire of England, the rule of British capital is still more extended." With this statement, Michael G. Mulhall, the eminent statistician prefaces a very interesting article on British capital in the April number of the North American Review. There is hardly a nook or corner of the globe, he says, where we are not confronted with docks, railways, shipping, banks, newspapers, waterworks, tramways, factories, etc., bearing the hall-mark of British gold, as conspicuous as the letters "S. P. Q. R." in Ancient Rome.

Under the head of floating capital he includes all stocks and shares of whatever kind, that may be transferred at a moment's notice. This comprises not only every variety of joint stock companies, but also all public debts, national and local, and hence may be considered apart from public wealth, since a fresh issue of public debt does not add to a nation's wealth. The wealth and floating capital of the principal states of Europe are given, in round millions:

increase of floating capital is not an eyes of the public, the events which are unqualified blessing, since a country may be ruined by over-capitalization, as well as by over-banking.

In the creation of new capital, Great Britain still leads, the figures for 1897 being: Great Britain, 650 millions; Germany, 455 millions; Russia, 148 milin the persistent Steel Rail Slander lions; France, 80 millions; Austria, 52

In some countries, notably in Great Britain, the increase of floating capital has been more rapid than the requirements of internal industries, and for this reason there has been an overflow of capital which has not only been beneficial to neighboring countries, but has fertilized many of the remote and hitherto unproductive parts of the earth's surface. Mr. Mulhall estimates that the overflow capital of Great Britain is $9,300,000,000, that of 'France $2,-340,000,000, and that of all Europe, 17,000,000,000. The growth of foreign investments by British capital has been unprecedented. The Stock Exchange estimate for 1860 was 700 million dollars, whereas it is now 9,300 millions, as already stated. Of the latter sum, 3,200 millions is invested in foreign loans, 2,300 millions in colonial loans, 2,100 millions in railways, and 1,700 millions in banks, mines, etc. For the last 14 years the average annual amount of British home investments has been $200,000,000, while $350,000,000 has annually emigrated. Mr. Mulhall maintains that if British capitalists would content themselves with less interest, home investments would increase faster than foreign. There are numerous desirable undertakings in England for which capital is not forthcoming. The eminent American hydraulic engineer, Mr. Corthell, reported, in 1898, that in a few years it would be necessary to deepen all the harbors and docks of Great Britain and other countries of Europe. Mr. Mulhall also suggests that capital should be employed to build cheap and sanitary buildings for the poor, even though the return would be only 2 per cent. But the writer affirms that British capital in foreign countries has been on the whole a powerful agent of progress. Like the overflow of the Nile, it has fertilized lands that would otherwise be arid and unproductive. It has opened fresh channels of commerce and made all nations in some way tributary

The French Minister of Marine, M. Lockroy, was so tickled with the recent experiment of his submarine boat that he could not refrain from telling the world how easily the little craft could Canadians who have been resident in shoot holes through the biggest battleships of an enemy. This boast was especially intended for John Bull's conditions here to return to this land ears. A French admiral has since taken some of the conceit out of M. Lockroy by telling him that "if his gushing speech should convince England of the advantage of this type of vessel, she, with her seventeen dockyards, could easily produce twenty in six months and one hundred in twelve months."

> The man who writes the smart things for the Chicago Evening Post chaffs the "Rev. Mr. Kenyon, of Syracuse, himself a poet," for saying that Kipling is a fad and "makes me tired," but adds, "it is only fair to our other magnanimous poets to say that they do not indorse Mr. Kenyon's sweeping assertion." Pegasus Shelly is reported to have said that it is not so much the average poet tired. "The reflection that Kipling is paid at the rate of 13 cents a word, while he experiences great difficulty in getting a cent for thirteen words, brings on that feeling of lassitude which is supposed to yield only to sarsaparilla." Another minor poet admits that there is no white man's burden more grievous than a bundle of unmarketable poems clamoring for a friendly publisher, while Kipling has no trouble in disposing of his entire stock at boom prices. The result is that the critic advises Mr. Kenyon to go and become "a fad," but unfortunately he cannot give any specific rules for the attainment of that most desirable object.

The great hall is wide open to the passerby and from the Boulevard Poissoniere itself, where the new offices are situated, as well as from the spacious and always accessible hall, you may with a single glance see every part of the complex modern institution known as a great newspaper. The great rotatory engines, the composing and stereotyping department, the employes coming and going, the work of folding and dispatching the paper, the editorial rooms, the telegraph and telephone, taking place all over the globe—in a word, the whole busy scene has aroused in a high degree the curiosity of Parisians, and up to 4 o'clock in the morning thousands and thousands of persons went in and out of the brilliantly-lighted building, profoundly interested by this new departure in French journalism."

Distress in Porto Rico-Many Deaths From Starvation-Gen. Stone's Proposal.

New York, April 7.—The Herald of the Austrian emperor, is dead. ays: "Brigadier-General Roy Stone The Welland Canal will be rea will go to Washington tomorrow, where he will call the attention of the president to the starvation and distress in Porto Rico. He thinks that the desperate state of the people may lead to insurrection if relief is not forthcoming. He has just returned from a journey of ten days through the interior of the island.

Persons are dying from starvation all through the interior," said Gen. Stone, last evening. In the district of Aguas Banas there were many deaths. The judge in the district of Comerio showed me a book in which he had recorded the names of many who had died from lack of food.

Gen. Grant reported 39 deaths from starvation in one district. I saw hundreds of natives emaciated and weak. When I left Porto Rico there were 100,000 persons there who had neither bread nor meat for two weeks.
"This state of affairs is largely due to the short coffee crop and the ruinous competition of Brazil. Porto Rico coffee is selling at from 7 to 8 cents at the seaports, and the transportation takes nearly all of this sum. There is no profit for the owners of the plan-

'Another element contributing to the distress of the Porto Ricans is the fact that the United States continues to levy duty upon them. They had free trade with Spain. Their com-mercial relations with Spain are now cut off by the duties which Spain has levied since the war.

"Porto Rico is the home of the orange, yet oranges are rotting on the trees. They are sold at 50 cents a barrel. I bought them five for a cent. They are as good as the Indian River oranges.

"Yes, with all their sufferings, the Porto Ricans are patient and loyal. They are making no complaint against United States. I am informed, though, that there are Spanish emissaries among them who are constantly endeavoring to stir up enmity toward the United States. By removing the duties, giving employment to the people, developing the means of transportation and giving liberal franchises, I think that much can be done to improve the state of Test Case Regarding Claims of a Discharged Employe on the Superannuation Fund.

Detroit, April 7.-A test case of interest to every employe of the Grand Trunk Railway Company was partially tried before Justice Degaw yesterday morning. Charles H. Hunter, former city district ticket agent for the Grand Trunk in Detroit, sues the company for recovery of $183. This sum represents deductions of 21/2 per cent of his salary, which have been made monthly since about 1890 and paid into the Grand Trunk Railway of Can-ada Superannuation and Provident Fund Association, with headquarters at Montreal.

The purpose of the present action is to test the right of the company to do this. To draw anything from the fund an employe of the company must have been in its service until he is 55 years of age. Then he receives an annual allowance for the remainder of his life equal to one-sixteenth of his then salary. Mr. Hunter was released by the company some months ago and is thereby barred from ever realizing anything on the money paid into the association, he not having reached the Strathroy Age: Having leased his farm and disposed of his stock and implements, C. A. Paul, of the 9th con. of Lobo, proposes discontinuing farming. Many friends and neighbors deemed that his departure from the farm should be marked by a tribute of their friendship, and, accordingly, upwards of 200 gathered at his home on Monday evening to express their good-wishes for the future of himself and family. Among the guests invited, but unable to be present. was William Tanton, of Strathroy. The chief feature of the evening's proceedings was the presentation to Mrs. Paul of eostly silver tea set, handed her by Peter L. Graham, and to Mr. Paul of handsome onyx clock, handed to Mr. Paul by Wm. Hambly. Dr. D. A. Stewart, of Poplar Hill, at the same ne read an address, which gave utterance to the regret of the entire neighborhood at their departure. An entertaining programme was given, interspersed with speeches from a number of Mr. Paul's warm friends. C. M Simmons eloquently voiced the general regret at losing Mr. and Mrs. Paul and their bright young family of three children. Egerton Stonehouse and Col. W. H. Vanderburg also spoke briefly, the latter maintaining his well-won reputation as an eloquent wit.-Strathroy Age.

THE LADIES' ORCHESTRA TO-NIGHT.

The Fadettes women's orchestra, of Boston, appeared at Massey Hall, Toronto, last night. The Globe today says: "The orchestra, which numbered about 20 musicians, all women, even to the conductor, was an agreeable surprise to the audience who, it is safe to say had not expected so much merit as was shown in an organization about which only moderate claims had been made in the advance announcements. It can be authoritatively stated that the Fadettes is the best women's organization which has ever appeared in this city, and there is little doubt that it is not equaled by any similar orchestra on the continent. The distinguishing characteristics of its playing last night were refinement of style, beauty of tone and accuracy of intonation and precision of execution.'

The Globe also speaks highly of the solo artists and the conductor. This famous organization appears tonight at the Auditorium, and should have a

The interior of the Grand Opera House has been transformed into a brilliant bower of beauty. And London society is tapping the floor with its daintily-slippered toe, impatient for the arrival of the moment when it can step out of the cold, gray April evening into the warmth and color and light and laughter of the ballroom, where dull care cannot enter the door, and the hours

Three Hundred Hands Thrown Out of Employment-Loss $50,000.

[G. N. W. Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, April 7.-The trunk factory of the M. Langmuir Manufacturing Company, situated on the north side of West King street, just east of Niagara street, was badly damaged by fire early this morning, together with the machinery and much manufactured goods, in the shape of trunks, bags, etc. The fire started at 3:15 o'clock, and within an hour the building was badly gutted. The outer wall on the west side fell in at 3:50 a.m., and a number of firemen had a narrow escape from death. The Niagara street public school also had a narrow escape, as had a num-ber of residences in the neighborhood.

The Langmuir building is owned by the H. E. Clarke estate.

About 300 people of both sexes are thrown out of employment by the fire The Langmuirs' loss is about $40,000 The building was damaged to the extent of $10,000, and the stock and machinery to the extent of $30,000. The insurance carried amounts to $60,000 of which $22,600 is on the building, and $33,650 on the stock and machinery. This is the second fire within five years which this firm has sustained.

She refused to give her name.

W. A. Allston Brown said his wife had seen Mr. Andrews alight from the Grand Central depot last night. She had talked to him. This confirms the belief that Mr. Andrews' body was one of those recovered.

Later .- The body of Mr. Adams was positively identified.

CITY HALL NOTES

The sewer committee will hold a special meeting shortly for the purpose of becoming familiar with the large amount of information gathered by Chairman McPhillips on the subject of sewage disposal. The septic tank system, which he favors, would necessitate the construction of four or five hermetically sealed concrete tanks, in which the sewage would be purified by bacteriological action. The microbes, which multiply under such conditions very rapidly, are killed by the action of the light, and leave the discharge from the tanks free from any deleterious matter. Ald. McPhillips' condemnation of the McDougall system at the meeting of the committee last night elicited comments from some of the aldermen, to the effect that it appears they had reason to be thankful the system was not adopted.

The drawbacks of the ward system seemed to present themselves to Mayor Wilson with peculiar force this morn-"There's no use talking," he said, "the ward system must go eventually."

The corporation laborers were paid today, the pay roll totaling $336.

AN EASTER NUMBER.

Magnificent illustrations make the Easter number of the Canadian Magazine very attractive. The cover is appropriate, and the colored illustrations for Theodore Robert's poem are something new for a Canadian periodical. The stories are contributed by Joanna E. Wood, W. A. Fraser, Bleasdell Cameron, Clinton Ross, H. J. O'Higgins, and Margaret O'Grady. Sir Louis H. Davies writes feelingly of the late Lord Herschell in an article which shows the national character of this magazine. Judge Ermatinger gives many interesting facts about Major Rogers, commander of the famous Rogers' Rangers of revolutionary times. There is also a full-page portrait of this man, who was afterwards governor of Michilimackinac and was tried by courtmartial in Montreal in 1768. Major-General Strange writes of the Nicagagua Canal, and William Thorp on the possibilities of closer union the West Indies and Canada. There is a two-page article on Thomas Shaughnessy, the famous railroad magnate; a short article on Easter and many other attractive features.

"Yes, to the Beeches," said Mr. Stretby, imperatively. "Because you have done one wrong thing, are you to drift away and lose yourself hopelessly? Not if I can prevent it. After this, no more could be said; and the young men followed Mr. Stretby to his carriage, relieved, when they reached the Beeches, to find that they are neither avoided as atrocious criminals nor received as honored guests, but treated in every respect as members of the family, over which their misdeed had perceptibly thrown a

Mr. Stretby, after a conference with Flip, in whose abilities he believed devoutly, made it a personal favor that his visitors should assist him in his study, in assorting and copying a large number of letters written by a deceased friend, a general officer, and from which he intended publishing a selection. Ensign Whiting was only too thankful for the occupation; but Frank Lyssendon, though he dipped his pen in the ink, and sat with the papers before him, was unable to collect himself sufficiently; his head would sink on his folded arms, and if any attempt was made to rouse him it either passed unheeded, or he looked up with such intense misery depicted on every fea-ture that his companions were fain to let him alone.

He was sitting thus, towards the evening of the third day, long after Mr. Stretby and the ensign had left him to take a turn in the grounds, when the door opened; someone came quickly forward, and his mother's tears and kisses fell on his bowed head. His first impulse was to rush from her presence. How could he bear to see her sweet, kind face, furrowed with the grief and shame that he had brought upon her? But he could not shake himself free of her tender embrace, and ere long he was kneeling at her feet, pouring out his heart to her, and finding comfort in the knowledge that her love would never fail him.

"I should have come to you sooner, she said, when he had been persuaded to seat himself beside her; "but could not leave your father." 'Then he is ill? Is this my doing,

"He heard the news so suddenly, jor Halliss wrote the kindest of letters to prepare us: but, unfortunately. in his haste to learn whether there was anything fresh respecting his eastern question, poor papa examined the news-paper before he read his letters, and there was such a highly-colored account of what had happened that it distressed him greatly."

"And so I have the prospect before me," was the bitter comment on this, "of being my father's murderer, as well as Eden's."

His mother shuddered. 'Hush, Frank-hush! If we cannot undo the past, we may surely try to retrieve its mistakes." "If that were possible; but it is not.

Can I bring back Eden's happiness, or regain my lost honor? I can atone for what I have done, but only in one way, and that is by pleading guilty, and enduring whatever punishment the law awards me with patience; but, even while I make this resolve, I am forced to remember that you and my father, as well as Whiting, must bear the burden of my sin. You are trembling sadly, poor little mother-trembling and weeping; and it is for me, and through

Mrs. Lyssendon struggled hard to subdue her emotion; but she was hor-rified whenever she pictured her son a prisoner for many months, compelled to herd with the basest and vilest, and when the term of his imprisonment was over, emerging from confinement only to bid her farewell and hide himself in some distant country, where alone he could hope to regain something like his former position. ## tears. "Is there nothing I can do to comfort my boy?" "Ah. yes, dearest mother. You 'might learn for me whether Eden is recover-ing. I cannot bring my lips to put the question to anyone here, for though they are very kind, their looks stab me. I know Flip goes to see her daily, for I have watched her cross the lawn; and yesterday when she came back she had been weeping. Her tears have haunted me ever since. Why were they shed? Oh, mother, learn all you can for me. If I can hear that she is bet-ter, it will take a load off my heart." He did not confide to Mrs. Lyssendon how the piteous cry Eden had uttered when she saw him at the mag-istrate's often came back to him in the silence of the night, and made him startle Whiting by leaping from his bed, and striding to and fro like a madman. But Mrs. Lyssendon saw and heard enough of the agony he was enduring to give the promise he demanded. 'You do not ask after Verna," she said, when she had persuaded him to shave and change his clothes, and he came back to her looking a little more like the gallant, handsome militaire of happier times. "She is far from well, and sadly depressed in spirits." Frank winced.

'Need you have told me this? Of course, my disgrace reflects on all my relatives, and to Mrs. Merstham's haughty spirit it must be intolerable." "But it is not for herself she frets. She is too unselfish. It is for you, Frank

-for you,"

"I do not know why she should," he retorted coldly. "Unless what I have heard hinted is true, and she knows herself to have been, in some measure, the cause of the act I was tempted to commit. I don't say this to extenuate my own offense," he added hasily. "I ought to be the last to accuse others. Verna is very kind to trouble herself about me; she may be thankful now that our liking for each other was not revived.' "She has most generously placed her purse at my disposal," Mrs. Lyssendon told her son, "and she bids me spare no expense to secure for you the cleverest counselors that can be found to defend your case."

"I thank her for her consideration, but, mother, I have already resolved to confess that I am guilty. It is true I did not know the nature of the message that drew Eden into the snare. but I permitted it to be sent, and I am the cause of all she has gone through in consequence."

"But Frank, there are surely extenuating circumstances which might be pleaded in your favor," Mrs. Lyssendon timidly urged. "Verna assures me that this young girl was frivolous and coquettish, eager to get up a flirtation with you or any of your brother

"Then Verna lies!" was the passionate reply. "I beg your pardon, mother, but only by the plainest language can Halliss—he is impartial enough to be trusted—and let him tell you whether Eden Aubrey deserved this slander. Mother, I have often thought that she is likew hat you must have been in your girlhood, just as innocent in her gaiety just as pure-minded and sweet-temper-

"Why did you not tell me that you loved her so?" the anxious mother could not resist asking. "When I questioned, Frank, you put me off with evasions. Why did you do this?"

"Because my prudence, or, to call it by its right name, my worldliness, was at war with my affection; and you cannot but remember that your every word revealed to me how eager you that, I think I should have told you

Mrs. Lyssendon smiled bitterly. "It was my first essay at matchmaking; my first effort to grasp wealth for my boy, and I am punished for my folly. I then fancied Verna's affection for you would hallow the act; but now I see that I was in error.'

Another Conquest for Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mr. G. A. Coulson, of the Empire Furniture Company, Brockville, Ont., says: "For years I have been troubled with my kidneys. The disease gradually grew worse until I had terrible pains across my back and shoulders, dizziness, headaches, etc. My feet would swell. The urine was of a thick consistency and muddy color, and the desire to urinate very frequent. I suffered intense pain both from my back and from the retention of urine, and for weeks at a time could not do any work. "The doctors who attended me did all they could, and I took every kind of medicine advertised to cure kidney troubles, but none seemed to do me any good until I tried Doan's Kidney

"The doctors stated that I had diathe furnace a wiser and a better man, betes. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills reat the next her consciousness that no commended and got a box at Curry's drug store. I commenced to get better right away, and the improvement continued constantly. I have only taken four boxes, and my weight has increased 28 pounds. My back is all right, the dizziness and headache are all gone and the urine is perfectly natural and

> "When I started to take the pills I could not stoop or lift as much as ten pounds. In fact, I was unable to lift anything. Now I can lay carpets, do upholstering and work right along all day, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. "I have told a great many people in Brockville of their wonderful powers, which cured me when all else had failed. I highly recommend them to all sufferers from kidney trouble in any form.

> Doan's Kidney Pills are a prompt and positive cure for backache, lame or weak back, Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, gravel, puffiness and dark cir-cles under the eyes, rheumatism, weakness of the kidneys in children or old people, female complaints, dizzy and weak spells, etc. Sold by all druggists at 50 cents a box, or three for $1 25, or sent by mail on receipt of price. LIFE SAVED—Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I containly believe it saved my life. It certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good.

NO END IN SIGHT

The Talking Match at Ottawa Still in Progress.

Young Mr. KcCarthy Makes His Debut -Dr. Montague Heard From.

Ottawa, April 7.-The debate upon the address dragged its weary length through the afternoon and evening sittings yesterday with comparatively empty benches. The speakers numbered six, but the end is not yet in sight, apparently, as Sir Charles Tupper, in reply to a question by the premier, expressed the opinion that the debate will not be concluded this week. The speak-ers on the government side were Mr. Maxwell (Burrard), Mr. McCarthy (North Simcoe), and Mr. A. Campbell (Kent), and on the opposition side, Col. Prior (Victoria), Mr. John Ross Robertson (East Toronto), and Hon. Dr. Montague (Haldimand). The adjournment of the debate was moved by Mr. Henderson (Halton).

The new members for North Simcoe showed that a very considerable portion of his lamented uncle's oratorical ability still lives in him. With modesty and yet with certainty, the member for North Simcoe showed that the trade policy of the government was acceptable to Ontario's great agricultural interests and that the steady progress towards a di-minution of the customs imports had been hailed with satisfaction by the men who furnish by far the greater proportion of our Canadian exports. As to the Trent Valley Canal and other local interests, the member for North Simcoe indorsed the policy of the administration. The successful settlement of the Manitoba school question, which the present government had been instrumental in bringing about was pronounced to be thoroughly satisfactory to the people of North Simcoe, who may justifiably be considered to be typical of the great agricultural mass-es of the Province of Ontario. Further than this, as an independent member, which Mr. McCarthy announces himself to be, the representative of North Eimcoe held himself in thorough accord with the government's policy in respect of making the country's municipal boundaries the lines of delimitation of electoral divisions for the House of Commons. He would oppose any attempt to make French an official language in any province outside of Quebec.

Dr. Montague contributed a moderate speech, in which he had the good taste to disregard Sir Hibbert Tupper's innuendoes, and Mr. Archibald Campbell, of Kent, followed in an able analysis of the tariff question. On Monday Mr. Clarke, of Toronto, will move the Conservative amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Two Little Children in Detroit Meet Sad Fate.

Detroit, April 7.—Two little children of Frank Jankowski, a Polish laborer, lie dead at 140 Thirty-third street. In baby innocence they ate insect poison from a box they had found while in play Wednesday morning and died in the afternoon. Marian, the girl, was 6 years old. Her brother Vincent

Neighbors, who had moved away in the morning had thrown into the street, with other refuse, a tin box of electric paste, labeled "Sure death," and intended for troublesome insects. The children found it, and with tiny sticks ate the yellow mixture, which tasted so good that they offered some to Stanisalus Konestki, a little play-

At noon the children complained of illness, and soon after dinner Marian was taken with convulsions, and died before Dr. S. A. Kulick could arrive. Vincent became unconscious, and died about 4 o'clock. Coroner Forth de-cided that an inquest was unneces-

SEVERAL SCORCHERS

at Orangeville and Other Points.

Montreal, April 7.—Montreal was visited by another big fire last night. Shortly before 11 o'clock a general alarm called the firemen to Garth & Company's foundry, Craig street. The fire had made great headway, fiames were shooting out from all parts of the building. The structure extended from Craig street to Fortification Lane, and it was a regular furnace, on which the streams seemed to have little effect. The entire brigade was called out, and after an hour's struggle managed to control the blaze, but not before the whole foundry had been destroyed. Loss estimated at $150,000. Owen Sound, April 7.—Fire yesterday partially destroyed Graham Bros.' confectionery store. Loss, $500.

Orangeville, April 7.—Fire broke out Tuesday in Marshall, Green & Co.'s large general store. The stock was partially saved, but a heavy loss will be sustained through smoke and water.

Damage, about $7,000.

Maxwell, Ont., April 7.—The dwelling house of William Buckingham was destroyed by fire Wednesday. Loss, Rosseau, Ont., April 7.-On Wednesday morning the house occupied by Thomas Draycott, township of Humphrey, three miles from here, was completely destroyed by fire. Loss, about $1,000.

Rev. Canon Richardson Presented With a Valuable Silver Service and Oak Case.

The congregation of Memorial Church gathered in the lecture room of that edifice last night and tendered Rev. Canon and Mrs. Richardson a farewell reception, prior to their removal to the crown rectory at Arva. The place was crowded to the doors. Bishop Baldwin opened the meeting, and in a brief speech congratulated the congregation on the advances made during the past 22 years. During that time Rev. Canon Richardson had been faithful to his duties, and by his sympathetic and generous disposition had endeared himself to his people, who now must feel deep regret when their pastor is called into a new field. The bishop highly eulogized Canon Richadson.

Mr. V. Cronyn followed, and informed Mr. Richardson that he had been requested by the churchwardens and congregation to present the canon with a tangible token of their sincere regard. Mr. Cronyn then handed Canon Richardson a handsome oak case, silver-mounted, the plate bearing the fol-lowing inscription: "Presented to Canon and Mrs. Richardson; a token of affectionate regard from the congregation of the Cronyn Memorial Church, 1899." Interesting Paper on "The Academic Qualifications of the Public School Teacher."

At the meeting of the inspectors' section of the Ontario Educational Association, Mr. John Dearness, I.P.S., East Middlesex, of this city, read a paper on "The Academic Qualification of the Public School Teacher." He argued that unless the model school sessions are considerably lengthened, the work there ought to be confined to strictly professional limits; second, that an intending teacher should enter the model school with a liberal education, not limited to the subjects of the public school curriculum; and third, that it is indispensable that his academic qualifications should include a thorough and extensive knowledge of the sub jects that he is required to teach. Reading and some other academic subjects have been taken out of the model school course; no harm in that, if they had been put on the academic Theoretical psychology should to show that on the academic side, reading, arithmetic, geography and natural science receive inadequate attention. It is all very well to have foreign language and ancient history, but if the public school teachers cannot have these and also a sound knowledge of reading, arithmetic, and other necessary public school subjects, then let the foreign languages go. Modern languages, and particularly classics, are of very great educational value, but the learning of these that stops with the requirement of a junior leaving certificate usually represents a lot of misspent time. The paper was a strong plea for a more thorough and extensive course in the public

Ald. McPhillips Gathers Interesting Information About Sewage Disposal.

Condemnation for the Scheme the Council All But Adopted Last Year -- Mayor Wilson's Pet Shown Up.

Chairman McPhillips laid before the sewer committee last night a lot of information respecting sewage disposal. He had sent 197 letters to towns and cities in England, Ireland, Scotland, the United States and Canada, and had received 132 replies. From this mass of correspondence he gathered that the bacteriological system was most in favor throughout the world at the present time. Ald. Mc-Phillips reviewed the several systems in use, and of the McDougall system, which the council almost adopted last year, he said he had information from English engineers that a great deal of trouble was experienced in disposing of the sludge, which was practically value-less as a fertilizer. The "Dibbin," or "septic tank system," was the one Ald. McPhillips favored. It was by all means the cheapest and best, he said. It could be constructed here for about one-half the funds at the disposal of the committee, and as it worked automatically, the annual cost would be trifling. A unanimous vote of thanks to the chairman was passed by the committee, and the large collection of letters plans, pamphlets, etc., were laid on the table. The chairman also presented the following statement of receipts and disbursements of the sewerage committee since the inauguration of the works: Receipts— Proceeds of sale of $55,000 of

The chairman said a deputation of the men had called on him, and he had ordered Contractor Brown to resume the work, which was done the following day. Work was stopped from March 16 to April 4. The question of repairing the support
