London, Nov. 1 .- It was announced today in a special dispatch from Ladysmith that the Boers again closed around that place on Monday night, sending shells into the British camp. The two guns landed from the British cruiser Powerful opened fire on the Boers at dawn, Tuesday. The Boers brought up more guns, but some of them were silenced. It is added that the Boers' loss must have been heavy. The garrison of Ladysmith is described as being in good spirits and confident, and the troops are said to be full of fight. Gen. White Describes Monday's Battle.

London, Nov. 1.-The British war office has made public a dispatch received from Gen. White, describing the operations of Monday. It was as follows: "Ladysmith, Oct. 31-7:50 a.m.-I took out from Ladysmith a brigade of mounted troops, two brigade divisions of the Royal Artillery, the Natal Field Battery and two brigades of infantry, to reconnoiter in force the enemy's main position to the north, and, if the opportunity should offer, to capture the hill behind Farquhar's farm, which had on the previous day been held in strength by the enemy. "In connection with this advance, a column, consisting of the 10th Mountain Artillery, four half-companies of the Gloucesters and six companies of the Royal Irish Fusiliers, the whole under Lieut.-Col. Carton and Major Adye, deputy assistant adjutant-gen-eral, was dispatched at 11 p.m., on the 29th, to march by night up Bells Spruit and seize Nicholson's Nek, or some portion near Nicholson's Nek, thus turning the enemy's right flank. The main advance was successfully carried out, the objective of the attack being found evacuated, and an artillery duel between our field batteries and the enemy's guns of the position, and Maxims, BOER STRATEGY. The dispatch further says: enemy are again closing in and the situation is one of grave anxiety. Beyoud doubt the Boer retirement yesterday (Monday) was a ruse to draw. Gen. White into the hilly country and are said in military circles of the British tactics, which have made possible the ambush of the 18th Hussars at Glencoe and now the loss of two fine regiments. An interview is pub-lished with a British officer, whose name is withheld, but who is described as a "well-known general, with a distinguished record during the Indian mutiny." "Yesterday's disaster," said the general in question, "is a case of serious blundering. I regard the Glencoe affair as another example of blundering," Proceeding to describe the battle at Glencoe, he observes: "Some of the enemy were allowed to occupy and plant guns on Talana Hill. was done to stop this until the Boers began to shell Glencoe on the following morning. As for yesterday's casuthe personnel of the artillery, seized a alty, it seems inexcusable that the two regiments should have been allowed to separate themselves from the main body. I am expressing the opinion of many military officers." Sir George White's honest admission of full responsibility and the terms of his dispatch are regarded in some places as virtually placing his case in the hands of the home authorities, and it is even rumored that the war office has already decided to supersede him.

PRESS COMMENT.

The tone of the editorials can be summed up in the following statement of the St. James' Gazette: It is evident that the patriotism and fortitude of the nation are to be tested in real earnest by these operations of ours in Natal against odds. Gen. White had a difficult task set him, and we must take the disaster with the dogged "The enemy treated our wounded with coolness which Britons know how to display. We shall await the final re-courage and dignity." There is no general desire evinced on the part of the morning papers to criticise Sir George White harshly pending the arrival of further details. On the contrary, the disposition is to admire his manly courage in assuming full responsibility.

THE FEELING ABROAD. Abroad, especially in France, no pains are taken to disguise the satisfaction felt in consequence of the British rebuff. The Berlin papers have had very little to say, so far, regarding the British disaster at Ladysmith, but they show a disposition to magnify it, and to criticise Sir George White's tactics severely, particularly what one paper styles "his endeavor to deceive the British public." There is little doubt, however, that in view of Emperor William's coming visit to England, the opinions held in high quarters will influence the newspaper comments.

AMERICAN VOLUNTEERS.

The British consul in Chicago, W. Wyndham, has addressed a communication to the Times-Herald, saying what the number of applicants who wish to serve in the British army is so great that he is unable to answer them, and for the information of those still in ignorance of the fact, he states that no volunteers have been called for. He also denies a Minneapolis report that he advised two men who wished to enlist to go to Canada to join the REINFORCEMENTS TO REACH CAPE TOWN ON SUNDAY.

About 6,000 fresh troops will arrive at Cape Town on Sunday next, and will be available to reinforce Sir Geo. White. Transports will arrive there daily after Sunday, until, by the end of next week, 20,000 troops will have landed in South Africa. These men are intended for Gen. Sir Redver Buller's British army, but they will un-doubtedly be dispatched to Natal if the situation there should become perilous. The British force will eventually reach the huge total of 89,634, of which 69,634 will be regulars and the other 20,000 miscellaneous, but excellent colonial troops.
GEN. BULLER'S ENTHUSIASTIC

RECEPTION.

One announcement yesterday was received by the British with unfeigned satisfaction, namely, the arrival of Gen. Bullear at Cape Town. But it is pointed out Gen. Buller cannot end the war without an army corps, and some of the companies which are to comose it have not even left England for South Africa. Dispatches from Cape Town show that Gen. Buller's reception there was most enthusiastic. He was welcomed by Gen. Sir Fred-erick Forestier-Walker, after which they both entered a carriage and drove to Government House, escorted by nounted police and mounted volunthe throngs of people lining the route. There were cries of "Avenge Majuba!" and wild cheers for the general. Gen. huller's face was impassive as he rewried military salutes for the cheers.

GEN. YULE PROMOTED.

The Gazette announces the promo-ion of substantive Lieut. Col. W. A. the rank of major he staff to command the Eighth Brigade of the South African field force, with the substantive rank of colonel in the army.

The news of disaster will have the effect of giving a strong impulse to the popular movement to raise funds for the benefit of the wives and chil-dren of the men at the front. The war floe, under the signatures of the Marquis of Lansdowne, the secretary of state for war, and Gen. Lord Wolseley, commander-in-chief. has issued a long statement including British methods of distributing the money thus received.

Shipping Suffered Severely Along the Atlantic Coast-Highest Tide of the Year.

New York, Nov. 1 .- A hurricane came up from the Caribbean Sea and swept over New York yesterday and last night. Its fury is expected to expend itself today. At times the wind blew between 50 and 60 miles an hour, and was accompanied by heavy rain, that ceased about dawn today. Hurricane signals were set yesterday from Maine to the Carolinas, but notwithstanding this warning, Amusements.

"THE AMEER." No other comedian has ever enter-tained a London audience who is so absolutely sure of his audience as Mr. Frank Daniels. The only reason more people did not see him in his new extravaganza," The Ameer," presented at the Grand last night, was because the building could not possibly accommodate more people. It was not "The Ameer" they went to see. It was Frank Daniels-the grotesque, the unsmiling, the imperturbable, the unique, the magnetic Frank Daniels. They went, certain of being entertained, and they were not disappointed. Seldom has so large and so fashionable a London audience given itself up so readily and so unreservedly to the enjoyment of an entertainment. Seldom have they been so demonstrative in their enjoyment. Unquestionably "The Ameer" is the best vehicle Mr. Daniels humor has yet been provided with. The opera is by Victor Herbert, whose wonderful fertility is shown in three marked successes produced this year, namely, "The Singing Girl," "The Ameer," and "Cyrano de Bergerac." The libretto of "The Ameer" is by Frederic Ranken, and Kirke La Shelle. It is bright, catchy, and has a most refreshing spontanelty of humor. The scene is laid in Afghanistan, and the main conceit of the story is that the Ameer has to pay an annual tribute of one million rupees to the British Government, which he is wont to raise by marrying an heiress each year. The story has to do with his attempt to marry a rich American girl who is in love with a British officer. The loss of his kingdom, bankruptcy, death by assissination, death by poison and the ardent wooing of a love sick maid are a few of the troubles that pursue him. Ample scope is given for that laughable mixture of plaintiveness, insolence and sang-froid, which is the distinguishing feature of Mr. Daniels' work. The score abounds in pretty harmonies and pleasing accompaniments. Miss Helen Redmond and Miss Norma Kopp, well known favorites of the Daniels company, sang very prettily. They were more charming and enjoyable than ever in boys' costume. The duet "Old Maids Are Willing to Please," by Miss Kate Uart and W. F. Rochester, made one of the hits of the evening. "The Little Poster Maid," by Miss Kopp, was equally well received. "In Old Ben Franklin's Days," a topical song, with a slow gavotte and a simple but delightful accompaniment, was probably the greatest success of the opera. The chorus girls were exceedingly pretty and fresh voiced. The costuming and stage mounting were rich, dazzling and beautiful to a wonderful degree.

HALL CAINE'S GREAT PLAY. The principal dramatic event of the year will be the production here of Hall Caine's great play, "The Chriswhich comes to the Grand next Tuesday, for an engagement of one night only. The company numbers over 50 people, and two cars are necessary to transport the massive scenery. Effic Ellsler will appear as Glory Quayle, in which she has made the success of her life. J. M. "FAUST" TONIGHT. A good play needs no eulogistic introduction. To announce the coming of Lewis Morrison's "Faust" is sufficient. With it comes the positive assurance that the entire presentation this year is the grandest and, most extensive ever given this classical gem. While many have tried "Faust," Mr. Morrison many have tried "Faust," Mr. Morrison is the only one who has made the play famous, and from a financial standpoint, profitable. "By merit it won success, and by merit it retains it." and it is truthfully said that the management adheres rigidly to that precent. This will be the forever. cept. This will be the farewell visit of the play in this city. The company presenting it is one of exceptional merit, and includes an augmented chorus.

"SIDE-TRACKED" ANNUAL VISIT. One of A. Q. Scammon's excellent companies will be the attraction at the Grand matinee and night Saturday, presenting "Side-Tracked." There are more realistic situations in the play of "Side-Tracked" than perhaps any other show of its class on the road, and yet they are so ludicrous that one cannot fall to be amused by them. The company presenting the play contains such old favorites as E. H. O'Connor, R. E. Vance, Gertrude Barnes, Marguerite Mayfield and others.

THE CHRISTIAN" NEXT TUES-DAY.

No doubt London will show substantial appreciation of the management's enterprise in securing the much-discussed play of Hall Caine's, founded on his famous novel "The Christian," which is announced as a special engagement of one night on Tuesday next. Tunis F. Dean, of Klaw & Erlanger's staff, arrived in this city last night as the representative of "The Christian," and will remain for a few days to complete all the arrangements with Manager Root. "The Christian" will be seen here with the same completeness as that which characterized its remarkable success in New York and Boston, and to that end two agrams. The marriage was a quiet one.

A SIGN OF CONFIDENCE.

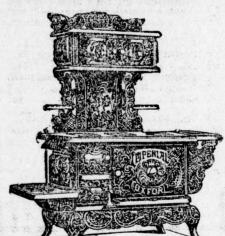

On Aug. 22, 1899, the first sale was made from the present block of 50,000 (fifty thousand) shares. Today only some six to eight thousand shares are left This is conclusive proof that the investing public of London and vicinity have confidence in the manner in which the management are conducting the affairs of the company. It was decided at a recent meeting of the board to place the company's stock on the English market and an official of the company is ex. pected to leave on Nov. 16 for that purpose. Stock is vastly cheaper now then it will be a little later on. Advance takes place shortly.

Sending of a Second Canadian Contingent Is Suggested.

Sardinian Spoken at Several Points-Favored With Fine Weather-Contingent Notes.

Quebec, Nov. 1.—It is seriously suggested here in military circles that the Canadian government, in view of the recent disaster in South Africa, and the number of Canadian volunteers anxious for service abroad, should offer a second contingent of Canadian troops. If this is not done, it is at least said that a dozen or two of the officers who want to go should be sent.

Capt. A. L. Howard, of Gatling gun fame, who arrived in the city on Monday, is a disappointed volunteer. He arrived here just in time to be too late, and consequently does not form one of the contingent on board of the Sardinian, now salling for the seat of war in South Africa. Mr. Howard proffered his services to the military authorities to act in any capacity in the ranks, and allow his salary to be devoted to the ambulance corps, and on last Saturday morning started for Quebec, from where he was located about 100 miles north of Lachute. He drove in a team for many hours as far as Calumet. but unfortunately missed his train at this point, and consequently was unable to reach the Ancient Capital until Monday evening, but until he reached this city he had hopes that the steamer would not leave until Tuesday morning.

The cathedral was crowded and hundreds were unable to gain admission. Rev. 'Arthur H. Baldwin, of All Saints', who preached, referring to the condition of affairs, said: "If we are defeated we will lose not merely the Queen's power in South Africa, but we shall find the empire weakened in other lands." A fierce cry of "Never!" from an over-wrought worshiper startled the congregation, but there were no further Interruptions, save the sobs of women, many of whom were intensely af-

New York, Nov. 1 .- At the Broadway A. C. last night, Joe Gans, the colored light-weight of Baltimore, received the decision over George Mc-Fadden, of New York, after one of the hardest fights witnessed at this club in a long time. This was the third meeting of these men, the other two resulting in a decision for McFadden on a knock-out and a draw.

ERNE AND O'BRIEN. New York, Nov. 1 .- Frank Erne, the light-weight champion, has been matched to meet "Jack" O'Brien, of this city, at the Coney Island Sporting Club on Nov. 29, for a purse of $5,000. The men were previously matched to meet on Oct. 26, but Erne caught a

They Have Implicit Confidence in Their Former Standard-Bearer.

Representative Gathering of the Residents of the Riding.

Election of the Association's Officers -Able Addresses by Mr. F. F. Pardee M.P.P., and Others-Rousing Annual Meeting at Dresden.

The Liberal workers of Bothwell met at Dresden yesterday and nominated a regular annual meeting of the Liberal Association, and delegates from all parts of the riding were present in large numbers. As the meeting was so well attended, and the gathering so thoroughly representative, the time was considered opportune for the selection of a candidate. Hon. David Milis was chosen by a unanimous standing vote. The meeting was held at 2 o'clock in the Dresden opera house. Dr. Galbraith, of Dresden, occupied the chair.

THE DELEGATES. Among the other delegates present were the following: Dresden-J. C. Tassie, Thomas Laird, Alex. Cuthbert, Dr. McDonald, Dr. W. D. Wylie, A. J. Davis, Wm. Rudd, P. Gilroy, I. Webster, L. J. Wright.

THE DOMINION HOUSE. The choice of a candidate was next in order. It was a very important step for the convention to take, said Mr. Nesbitt. The representative of the riding now in the Dominion house was not in sympathy with the views of those present. At the last election they had been defeated. It was the first time in the history of the grand old riding of Bothwell that the Liberal standard had to be lowered. For many years there had been as representative the Hon. David Mills, the superior of whom could not be found throughout the whole length and breadth of Canada. It was the speaker's earnest wish that Mr. Mills again be their candi-

Mr. Colin Reid, of Bothwell, second ed the nomination, and it was carried by an unanimous standing vote. The executive committee will endeavor to obtain Mr. Mills' acceptance.

MR. PARDEE'S ADDRESS. Mr. F. F. Pardee, of Sarnia, West Lambton's talented representative in the Local Assembly, was then called upon. On rising, he was greeted with hearty applause. He complimented the association upon the selection they had made. It was reason for gratification that the Liberals of Bothwell had a candidate in whom they could take such pride. The speaker praised Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and dwelt upon Can-ada's present prosperity. A govern-ment by its acts, by its neglect, by squandering the public's money could retard the progress of the country. Another government by wise legisla tion could assist in the prosperity of the country. The Liberal government had done more than any other to bring Canada before the other nations of the world; they had done more for he prosperity of the country. The elections were not far off, and there were many cogent reasons why Sir Wilfrid Laurier should be returned to office. In six months he had settled the vexed Manitoba school question, which threatened Canada's national existence. He had established a pref-erential trade with England and brought Canada before the Old World. Prior to that it was not thought Can-ada had anything to sell which the Old Country could buy. Now Great-Britain's trade with Canada was increasing every year and decreasing with the United States. In support of this Mr. Pardee gave a number of interesting figures. In 1897 United States exported to Great Britain apples to the amount of $2,443,000, Canada, $1,355,000. In 1898, after the preferential tariff, the figures were: United States, $1,954,000; Canada, $2,179,000. The United export of bacon in 1896 was $26,018,000; Canada's, $2,542,000. In 1898, Canada's increase was 100 per cent, and the United States, 25 per cent. The value of fresh beef sent by the United States to Great Britain in 1897 was $22,400,000; by Canada, $55,000. In 1898, United States, $22,632,000, Canada, $1,682,000. The change was even more marked in the butter export. the figures of which are: By United States, in 1897, $3,079,000; by Canada, $2,162,000; in 1898, United States, $2,386,-000; Canada, $3,217,000. The Conservatives had retorted that the party was merely continuing the National Policy.

It was a good cry now. But what did they say when the government brought down the tariff? They prophesied disaster. For 18 years the Conservative party had administered the affairs of the country, and what was the result? An annual deficit of six million dollars, as compared with two million dollars a year by the Reform party.

The Liberals' financial record was one to be proud of, in spite of the fact that the government was now carrying on public works which the Conservative Government never dared to touch. The deepening of waterways, etc., was pointed out to the credit of the government.

The speaker criticised the action of the senate in throwing out the Yukon railway project. Sir Charles Tupper, Hon. David Mills as their candidate in when first interviewed regarding the the coming Dominion election. It was scheme, commended the government for it. But after being directed by his followers, he had changed his opinion. He was like the turtle seen by an Irishman for the first time. "Bedad, it hasn't a leg to stand on," said Mike, "and every now and then it swallows its head." (Laughter and applause.)

OTHER SPEAKERS. Mr. Robert Ferguson made a pleasing and hopeful speech. He voiced the feeling of the convention when he said they were determined to wipe out the disgrace of defeat at the next election. There had been many a hard battle in Bothwell. The result of the last one had been a surprise. It was due, he thought, to over-confidence, and lack of organization. He bespoke great-er enthusiasm in the next contest.

Mr. E. E. Parrott was then called upon, and made eulogistic reference to Mr. Mills and the other principal Reform leaders. Looking back to the early history of the country, he pictured the heroic acts of the first leaders of the Liberals in Canada. Four Zone—George Schott, Phillip Facey, Robert Birr.

Hon. David Mills and Bothwell. The Liberals of the electoral constituency of Bothwell, in convention yesterday, assembled at Dresden, unanimously tendered the nomination for the House of Commons to their old representative, the Hon. David Mills, Minister of Justice. Mr. Mills is now a member of the Dominion Senate, and leader of that body. A man cannot be in two places at once, hence his acceptance of the Commons nomination would necessarily involve his resignation from the Senate—a step, we should ay, not to be taken lightly; particularly as the Minister of Justice has shown himself exceedingly capable and astute in his management of the Upper House. Whatever the decision to which Mr. Mills may come in regard to the acceptance of the nomination, it is just such a manifestation of regard as might have been expected from those who know his worth. It will be gratifying, too, to all Western Ontario, in which Mr. Mills is its most outstanding public man and recognized leader. The Minister of Justice occupies an equally honorable position, in the Dominion of Canada as a whole. No other man on the continent possesses so great a wealth of constitutional and general knowledge, and the views of no other Canadian public man in his own special subjects command as much attention in the most thoughtful and influential circles in the United States and Great Britain.

Pittsburg Dispatch, Chicago Journal and Boston Adver-

This division of opinion in the United States is in marked contrast to the unanimous support which the British gave their kinsmen in their war with Spain, but it is a matter for congratulattion that so large a body of American sympathy is on the side of Great Britain when we remember the old time hostility of our neighbors. Beyond a doubt, British friendliness to the United States has already borne good fruit. If there had been no Spanish-American war, and consequently no proffer of British support, It is safe to say that the American eagle would today be screaming egainst Great Britain, as it did four years ago on the Venezuelan question. The present emergency reveals the wonderful change for the better which has since ensued. Official sentiment in the United States is entirely with Great Britain. Many of the leading American newspapers, as we have seen, are on the same side. This would have been impossible two years ago. It an immense gain for both countries and for civilization.

"The Great Round World" is one of the most useful of our exchanges. It presents a weekly review of the world's happenings in terse and attractive style, suited for the busy reader, who thus gets the very cream of the news. In the daily newspaper dispatches there is necessarily much that is scrappy and fragmentarymuch that looks big one day and is discounted the next, or swept aside by more important matters. "The Great Round World" is able to classify rents according to their relative immance, and put them in proper perspective. The publishers (the "Great ound World" Company, 150 Fifth avenue, New York) have just completed eleven volumes of a "History of Our Own Times," beginning Nov. 12, 1896, and carrying the reader down to the present day. The volumes are composed of the weekly editions of "The Great Round World," copiously illustrated and handsomely bound.

Who is the Ottawa cable correspondent of the London Times? From the almost invariable tone of the dispatches one might suspect the correspondent to be our old friend Sir a crisis. There is a real pathos, too, Charles Tupper himself.

In a letter to the Stratford Beacon, bristling with details, Mr. James Pringle, of that city, points out some outrageous discriminations against Canadian shippers, practiced by Canadian railways. Wheat is carried from Chicago to the seaboard at the rate of 8 cents per 100 pounds, while from this district the rate is 121/2 cents to Montreal and 151/2 cents to Portland. The result is that wheat is 6 to 8 cents higher in Chicago than it is here, and the Ontario farmer who wishes to export to the European market is at a great disadvantage. Mr. Pringle's charges are specific, and are based on his own experience. The same charges. quarters in his ability to use his forces have been made year in and year out, and they have not and cannot be denied. The railway problem is one of the most vital in Canadian politics, and yet we have politicians so enslaved to corporate interests that they fight against any redress of the present shameful conditions. A railway comknown, it will be found that his plan mission could be made an effective inwas well conceived, but that his substrument in compelling fair play for ordinates blundered in executing it; Canadian shippers and producers, but but Gen. > An Incident of Majuba Hill. [London Chronicle.]

Here is a story of Free Masonry on Majuba Hill. A slightly wounded commissariat officer was being covered by the rifle of a Boer sharpshooter, when the former made the Masonic sign. The Boer lowered his rifle, and, stepping over to the other, made him a prisoner, but treated him in a specially hospitable fashion as a brother publishes the Peterboro Examiner, and member of the craft. The commis-sariat man ascertained that Mr. Kruger and Gen. Joubert were also Free Masons.

Annual Meeting Guelph of the Provincial association.

Guelph, Nov. 1 .- The 22nd annual meeting of the Ontario Women's Christian Temperance Union opened yester-day in the Congregational Church about 100 delegates from all parts of the province being present. The morning trains brought in about 50 additional delegates. The president. Mrs. May R. Thornley, of London, presided, and with her were Mrs. Jennie Cavers, of Galt, vice-president; the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mary Wiley; Richmond Hill; the recording secretary, Mrs. Alice Saunby, London, and the urer, Miss Jennie MacArthur. of Cornwall. Almost the entire day was oc cupied in devotional exercises and in the presentation and discussion of the reports.

The report of work among sailors was presented by Mrs. Eliza J. Lawrence, or Sarnia, and adopted. An interesting report was that dealing with work among railway men, presented by Mrs. B. C. Britton, of Gananoque.

The treasurer's report showed a very gratifying state of the union's funds. The other reports were adopted. A reception was given to the delegates in the First Baptist Church in the evening, when addresses were delivered by F. S. Spence, Toronto; Mrs. (Rev.) Harrison, Granton; Miss L. Wiggins and others.

WEEKLY REVIEW. The deliveries of wheat were moderately good this week, and prices held Good wheat sold at $1 10 to $112, and poor, thin, stock at $1 to $1 05; demand good. Oats have been a little unsettled this week; sales ranged from 85c to 88c, and closed at 85c; both the supply and the demand were fair. Peas were scarce, and sold at 95c to $105; the latter price was paid only for No. 1 stock. Corn-A few small lots of Flint sold

Barley brought 75c to 80c, generally 77c: deliveries were light. Rye was scarce and sold at $105; the demand for sowing is almost over, and buyers look for a decline.

Buckwheat is coming slowly and in small lots; the quality is poor; prices range from 90c to $1; demand good. Hay-Sales ranged from $950 to $11 for the week; the market was easily affected by receipts; $10 to $10 50 were closing values. Dressed hogs opened at $5 25 to $5 65, and closed at $5 25 to $5 50, with very few sales at $5 50. Live hogs were steady, at $4 for singers; deliveries were good; heavy hogs and sows find a slow market, the latter going at $2 50; the trade in young pigs was about as slow as usual, the range of prices being $2 to $4 a pair.

FLOUR We sell all the leading makes, besides our own superior brands, Puritan, Pearl and Triumph, and believe you can save money by dealing with us. All goods put up in 1-16, 1/2, 1/4 and 1/4 barrels. A. M. HAMILTON & SON.

U. S. SQUADRON FOR AFRICA

Secretary Long Announces a Change in the Navy Department's Attitude.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Rear Admiral Schley will be ordered to East African waters. His squadron will be increased to whatever extent the situation demands, says Secretary of the Navy John D. Long. The South Atlantic squadron has been ordered, or soon will be ordered to the scene of the South African hostilities. It is the second great development from this country's standpoint in the European crisis and, strangely enough, follows the notification by Great Britain of Germany's proposition for the parti-tion of the Samoan group.

The attitude of this country, one of hostility to the German proposition and German pretentions as to Samoa-cannot fail to be regarded as of the greatest significance. The European concert, evidently desirous of getting a practical illustration of this country's attitude, is credited with having impelled Germany to make the first test. The result is that the United States has demonstrated her friendliness to Great Secretary Long was found at his apartments at the Portland. 'Yes," said Secretary Long, in response to a question, "Rear Admiral Schley will be ordered to East African The squadron will be increased to whatever extent the situation demands. I do not think, as at present advised, that a larger squadron than the Chicago, the Montgomery and the Wilmington is necessary, but, as I have said, there may be contingencies which would make it advisable to largely add to these vessels."

THE FEAR OF HUMBUG.

Prevents Many People From Trying Good Medicine.

Stomach troubles are so common and in most cases so obstinate to cure that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such pride themselves on their acuteness in never being humbugged, especially in medi-This fear of being humbugged can be carried too far, so far, in fact, that people suffer for years with weak digestion rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims made of a preparation so reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines for the reason that they are not a seceret patent medicine, no secret is made of their ingredients, but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure asceptic pepsin, the digestive acids, Golden Seal, bismuth, hydrastis and nux. They are not cathartic, neither do they act powerfully on any organ, but they cure indigestion on the common sense plan of digesting the food eaten thoroughly be fore it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure indigestion and stomach troubles because they act entirely on bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after meals digest the food. That is, all there is to it. Food not digested or half-digested is poison, as it gas, acidity, headaches, palpitation of the heart, loss of flesh and appetite, and many other troubles which are often called by some other name.

They are sold by druggists every where at 50 cents per package. dress F. A. Stuart Company, Marshall, Mich., for little book on stomach diseases, sent free.

BIG HAUL OF HERRING.

St. Johns, Nfld., Nov. 1.-Twenty American fishing vessels from Gloucester and Princetown have arrived at the Bay of Islands in quest of herring. These fish have struck along the coast in great numbers, and all the vessels are expected to load speedily. There is also a plentiful supply of herrings in the southern bays of the islands, where great catches are being made.

DEANERY OF

Ruri-Decanal Chapter, Sunday School and Lay Workers' Association at Thorndale.

A meeting of the ruri-decanal chapter, Sunday school and lay workers associations of the Deanery of Middlesex, was held yesterday afternoon and evening in St. George's Church, Thorndale, of which Rev. R. S. W. Howard, B.A., is incumbent. The rural dean, Rev. Canon Smith, presided, and Rev. G. B. Sage acted as secretary. There was a good attendance from London and other parts of the country. The afternoon session was devoted to the rural dean's address, deanery business matters and Sunday school reports, followed by an excellent paper by Rev. H. A. Thomas, of Lucan, on the "Personal Profit of the Teachers." discussion was opened by Mr. J. H. A. Beattle in a practical address, Rev. J. H. Moorhouse also speaking on the same topic. Dr. F. T. Harrison then gave an admirable address on "Influence." The discussion was opened by Rev. G. B. Sage, followed by Archdeacon Davis and others. The question drawer was then opened, and answers given by Rev. Canon Richardson in a satisfactory manner. An adjournment was made at 6 o'clock to the hall, where a splendid supper was prepared by the ladies of St.

George's Church. The evening session was devoted to an address on "Lay Work" by Dr. Harrison; an address on "Wall Building" by Rev. C. C. Owen, followed by discussion, in which Revs. Archdeacan Davis, J. H. Moorhouse, Canon Richardson, A. H. Rhodes, H A. Thomas, Dr. Harrison and others took part. The principal address was given by Rev. Health Food Company: "Gentlemen .- You do not advertise your Granola Flakes as an infant food, and yet, unless my experience has been exceptional, you should do so. When my baby was five weeks old I became unable to nurse him, and having the Granose Flakes in the house-for we like them as a supper dish—I prepared some for him, till I could decide upon permanent supplemental diet for him. But he relished it so well, and it agreed with him so perfectly that I soon decided to look no further. He is now seven and a half months old, and has been fed on the Flakes three times daily for over six months. A looseness of the bowels, which had troubled him from birth, disappeared within a few days when I began using the Flakes, and has never returned. He is a model baby, healthy, happy and thriving. I never dose him for colic. constipation, or, indeed, any trouble, for he never has them. I prepare the Flakes by pouring boiling water on a cupful of them, mixing up and adding little cream or milk and sugar. It makes a very inexpensive baby food, and in my opinion a perfect one. The bride, who was attired in a fawn traveling suit, was assisted by her sister, Miss Hattie Loranger, while the groom was supported by Mr. John Marr, of Montreal. Numerous presents evidenced the esteem in which the young couple are held by their large circle of friends. The employes of the groom, who is a well-known contractor of Montreal, sent a beautiful silver tea service. After the ceremony a tasty wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Ballantyne left on the Grand Trunk at 4:40 this afternoon to spend their honeymoon in Buffalo and other eastern cities, after which they will take up their residence

Nothing of interest is to be seen until the Klip River (so named from its stony bed and banks, "klip" meaning stone in Dukch) is recrossed. Then one of the most magnificent and impressive mountain views in the world suddenly comes into view-the long and lofty serrated stretch of the Berg, Kahlamba, as the Kaffirs call it, signifying ough's fighting regiments. It fought at that the Supreme Being has hurled or Ramilies, was at Quebec in 1759, at cast down its weird and fankastic peaks from the skies. In the vicinity of Beilter's Station, fourteen miles from the Orange Free State Junction Station, there are many large grazing farms, and from this point to Brakwal Station the nature of the land changes. Instead of bare and level plain, there is broken country, consisting of lofty kopjes, or small isolatgrand cover for the Boers. It is by no means improbable that Sir George White found them occupying this spot when he moved out from Ladysmith. Brakwal Station, a trim building of stone, is perched on one of these kopjes and is of extremely picturesque appearance. Straight ahead is the zig-zag of a reversing station-that device of engineers to surmount steep gradients— and less than eight miles from Brakwal one is 1,000 feet above its station on the kopje. The hill slopes are clad with what takes the place of homeland heather, and the train toils through cuttings, below which grow the oddshaped sugar bush trees, with their firlike cones. SHOOTING SOLDIERS

It Takes a Ton of Ammunition to Hit

One Man. Englishmen, whose sons are now facing the Boers in the Transvaal, are getting what comfort they can from stastics showing that there is only one chance in a thousand that a soldier will be killed in battle, and that, on an average, a ton of ammunition is expended for every man shot.. In the Crimean war, for example, a total of nearly 95,000,000 shots were fired, with a resulting loss of life amounting to less than 100,000, or one soldier killed to every 1,087 shots fired. During the late civil war in the United States it took 22 cwt. of ammunition, on the average, to kill a man. Further statistics show that of the wounds received in battle 45 per cent occur in the legs, 33 per cent in the domen, 21 per cent in the chest and only 1 per cent in the head.

UITLANDERS' TRUE POSITION

Impossible for Him to Get Justice-By John A. Cook, U. S. A.

Writing as one who has spent three years in South Africa, I utterly fail to understand the attempts to arouse indignation against the English with regard to their treatment of the Boers. I spent six months in Johannesburg, and Dr. Jameson's raid was one of the many flascos I witnessed during my African experience. Two weeks before that raid broke out one of my friends was pegging away down Commissioner street on business bent, when suddenly, and without any provocation, a long, uncouth Boer turned toward him and spat directly in his face, saying, 'Yea fur domed Englesman' My friend had no alternative but to bear it. Had he knocked the Boer down he would have been arrested and forced to take the consequences; but, on the other hand, had he called a "zarp," or policeman, the Boer would have sworn he assaulted him, and no matter what my friend might say when before the judge, he would have received a heavy fine, and probably a term of years' imprisonment. Is that justice? This, I assure you, is only one small instance of the numerous grievously unjust treatments the Uitlander has to put up with at the hands of the Boers.

The true situation is this: The Boers had the country for many years without any attempt whatever as a so-called civilized nation to develop its mineral and other resources; the gold lay idle, in fact almost unknown, and even in farming each family was too lethargic to cultivate more land than that which would raise just enough for its individual consumption.

The Englishman-yes, and not alone the Englishman, but many a good American-came to the knowledeg of the untold wealth which lay hidden within the Transvaal. They visited that country and settled there with the full consent of the Boer population. worked as only the Englishman and American know how to work, and the results are known to all.

Extortionate taxes were levied through jealousy by the Boers; alien laws were enforced, so that it required fourteen years to become naturalized, with all its attendant liberties; and everything that the narrow-minded republic could do to oppress the Roi

TEA CARAVANS

The Enormous Business Lone on the Caravan Route Through Siberia

The newspaper published in Tomsk, called the Siberian Latest News, gives some curious details about the Russian tea caravans that transport thousands of tons of tea from China and distribute it in various parts of Siberia and Russia. During the first twenty days of January last 19,00 sleighs laden with tea passed through the city of Tomsk. The ordinary size of these tea caravans is from 50 to 70 sleighs, though sometimes from 200 to 300 are included in one caravan. The average load is five bales, each weighing from 70 to 120 pounds. Five sledges are fastened together. drawn by one horse, and one man attends to the detachment. To the rear sledge of each group are tied a bundle of hay and a measure of oats, so that the horses may feed during the march. This facilitates progress, for the caravan does not need to halt for the purpose of baiting the horses. As the horse in front, however, does not have anything to eat before him, his place in the caravan must be changed occasionally to give him an opportunity to

The caravan travels night and day. The only halts during the 24 hours are in the villages, where the weary horses are exchanged for fresh animals. The drivers sleep on the sledges while traveling, in spite of the severe cold.

'I was going to say I was engaged," said the doctor; "but there's something under this I must understand. Come in, whoever you are."

And the door, opened softly and Chawner stepped meekly in; he was rather pale, and breathed hard, but was otherwise quite composed.

"Now then, Chawner," said the doctor impatiently, "what is it. Have you something on your mind, too?" "Please, sir," said Chawner. "Has Bultitude told you anything, yet?"

"No; why? Hold your tongue, Bulti-tude! I shall hear Chawner now—not "Because, sir," explained Chawner, "he knew I had made up my mind to teil you something I thought you ought to know about him, and so he threatened to come first and tell some falsehood (I'm sure I don't know what) about me, str. I think I ought to be here, too." "It's a lie!" shouted Paul. "What a villain that boy is. Don't you believe a word he says, Dr. Grimstone-it's all

"This is very suspicious," said the doctor; "if your conscience were good, Bultitude, you could have no object in preventing me from hearing Chawner. Chawner, in spite of some obvious defects in his character," he went on, with a gulp (he never could quite overcome a repulsion to the boy), on the whole, a right-minded, and-ah conscientious boy. I hear Chawner

"Then, sir, if you please," said Chawner, with an odious side smirk of triumph at Paul, who, quite crushed by the horror of the situation, had collapsed feebly on his chair again, "I thought it was my duty to let you see this. I found it today in Bultitude's prayerbook, sir." And he handed Dick's unscrawl to the doctor, who took it to the lamp and read it hurriedly.

After that there was a terrible moment of dead silence; then the doctor looked up and said, shortly: "You did well to tell me of this, Chawner; you may go now." When they were alone once more he turned upon the speechless Paul with furious scorn and indignation. "Con-temptible liar and hypocrite," he thundered, pacing restlessly up and down the room in his excitement, till Paul felt very like Daniel, without his sense of security, 'you are unmasked, un-masked, sir. You led me to believe that you were as much shocked and pained at this girl's venturing to write to you as I could be myself. You called it, quite correctly, forward and improper; you pretended you had never given her the least encouragementhad not heard her name even-till today. Paul made some faint and inarticulate remark about being a family man always most particular, and so forth; luckly it passed unheard.

"What shall I do with you?" continued the doctor; "how should I punish such monstrous misconduct?" "Don't ask me, sir," said Paul, desperately, "only for heaven's sake, get it

"If I kinger, str," retorted the doctor,

"He can't want to torture me," Paul

"Yes," said the doctor again, "the doubt has prevailed. On a mind so hardened the cane would leave no lasting impression. I cannot allow your innocent companions to run the risk of contamination from your society.

I must not permit this serpent to glide uncrushed, this cockatrice to practice his epistolary wiles, within my peace-ful fold. My mind is made up—at whatever cost to myself—however it may distress and grieve your good father, who is so pathetically anxious for you to do him credit, sir. I must do my duty to the parents of the boys intrusted to my care. I shall not flog you, sir, for I feel it would be useless.

"I have said it," the doctor said, sternly; "no expostulation can move me now." (As if Mr. Bultitude was likely to expostulate!) "Mrs. Grimstone will see that your boxes are packed the first thing tomorrow morning, and I shall take you myself to the station, and consign you to the home you have covered with blushes and shame, by the 9:15 train, and I shall write a letter towight, explaining the causes for ter tonight explaining the causes for your dismissal.' Mr. Bultitude covered his face with nis hands, to hide, not his shame and distress, but his indecent rapture. It seemed almost too good to be true. He saw himself about to be provided with every means of reaching home in comfort and safety. He need dread no pursuit now. There was no chance, either, of his being forced to return to the prison-house; the doctor's letter would convince even Dick of the impossibility of that. And, best of all, this magnificent stroke of good had been obtained without the ignominy and pain of a flogging, without even the unpleasant necessity of telling his strange

But, having gained some experience during his short stay at school, he had the duplicity to pretend to sob bitterly. "But one night more, sir," continued the doctor, "you shall pass beneath this roof, and that apart from your fellows. You will occupy the spare bedroom until the morning, when you quit the school in disgrace—forever."

I said in another chapter that this Sunday would find Paul, at its close, after a trying course of emotions, in state of delicious ecstasy of pure relief and happiness—and really that scarcely seems too strong an expression for his feelings. When he found himself securely locked in a comfortable, warm bedroom with curtains and a carpet in it, safe from the persecutions of all those terri-ble boys, and when he remembered that this was actually the last night of his stay here—that he would certainly see his own home before noon next day the reaction was so powerful that he could not refrain from skipping and leaping about the room in a kind of hysterical gayety.

And as he laid his head down on a fielding lavender-scented pillow, his thoughts went back without a pang to the varied events of the day; they had been painful, very painful, but it was well worth while to have gone through them to appreciate fully the delightful intensity of the contrast. He freely forgave all his tormentors, even Chawner, for had not Chawner procured his release? And then he closed his eyes at last with a smile of Sybaritic satisfaction and gentle longing for the Monday's dawn to break. And yet some, after his experiences, would have had their misgivings.

CHAPTER XIII. Blithe and gay was Mr. Bultitude when he opened his eyes on Monday morning and realized his incredible good fortune; in a few hours he would be traveling safely and comfortably home, with every facility for regaining his rights. He chuckled—though his sense of humor was not large-he chuckled, as he lay snugly in bed, to think of Dick's discomfiture on seeing him return so unexpectedly. He began to put it down, quite unwarrantably, to his own cleverness, as having conceived and executed such a stroke of genius as procuring his own expulsion.

He remained in bed until long after the getting-up bell had rung, feeling that his position insured him perfect immunity in this, and when he rose at length it was in high spirits, and he dressed himself with a growing toleration for things in general, very unlike his ordinary frame of mind. When he had finished his toilet the doctor entered the room.

"Bultitude," he said gravely, "before sending you from us, I should like to hear from your own lips that you are not altogether without contrition for your conduct."

Coldwater, Mich., Nov. 1.-An infant daughter of Mrs. Cora Case, niece of ex-Governor Luce, had a narrow escape from being bitten by a rattlesnake. The child is just large enough to walk. She saw the reptile lying in the yard and tried to pick it up. Two small companions playing near her just in time to prevent the little one getting hold of it. The snake was somewhat numb with cold and unable to move quickly, and to this slone the child's life is due.

[From the Toronto News, Oct. 21.] We read every day of narrow escapes from death, but few persons, if, indeed, there are any, have had the terrifying experience of pretty, vivacious, industrious little Laura Sheehan, of this city, who has actually been in the awful presence of Death, who has felt the grip of his icy hand, and who yet lives to tell it. Not soon, it is safe to say, will the pretty, blueeyed maid forget that awful struggle with the grim King of Terrors, and years hence, when she sits, a silveryhaired grand dame, among her sturdy Canadian grandchildren, she will tell them, and, with bated breath, they will listen to, the story of the tragedy of her garlhood's days, of how she bat-tled with, and by the timely assistance of a true friend, overcame the grim Reaper.

There is rejoicing today in the snug little home at No. 93 Armstrong aven-ue, where Laura lives with her parents NOLD'S ENGLISH TOXIN PILLS and her brothers and sisters. John Sheehan, her father, is an employe of the Warren-Scharffe Co. Laura, though only 16 years of age, is her mother's right hand, cheerful, industrious and ambitious. Previous to the event that marks an epoch in her life, she was in the employ of Mrs. Ward, 581 Dundas street, learning dressmaking. A re-ponter called vesterday to get her story, and was kindly received by Mrs. Sheehan, by whom the details were given. Laura indorsing her words.

MISS LAURA SHEEHAN.

"Laura mas always been a social favorite," said Mrs. Sheehan, "and among her friends and acquaintances no party was complete without her. She made many friends among her work-mates and neighbors, and was much sought after. In fact, sne tried her strength too severely, and it gave way. Shortly before the Queen's Birthday, this year, she complained of being out of sorts. We did not think there was anything serious wrong with her, but on the 24th (of May last) went with her to St. Michael's Hos-

"When the doctors had examined her, however, ithey told me she was in a very serious condition-dangerously ill, in fact-and advised me to leave her in their care. I did so, and she was put to bed, and placed under treatment. A day or two later I went to see her, and was amazed and terrified at the change that had taken She lay absolutely speechless, and incapable of moving any portion of her body. She seemed to me to be completely paralyzed. The doctors appeared not to know what was wrong with her, but said she was very ill. She tried to speak to me, but could not. I was nearly distracted. Day after day I visited her, but instead of improving, I found that she was growing worse every day. After remaining there for some weeks and finding that she was gradually sink-ing, I determined that if she was going to die, she should die at home, and had her removed from the hospital. I firmly convinced that if she had remained there much longer, she would have come home in her coffin. I asked the doctors if they could not tell me what was the matter with my girl, but they could not. All their skill, all the care, attention and kind-liness of the sisters and nurses, had failed to help her.

"Well, we brought her home and gave her every care. Old and reliable home remedies were used, we bought medicines of nearly every kind, but still she grew worse. She failed to a skeleton almost, and lay unable to move hand or foot, as helpless and speechless as a new-born babe. Even her digestive organs were paralyzed, and she could not swallow her food. had to cut it into small pieces and force it down her throat. We called in doctor after doctor, but none of them could help her; none gave us the least hope of her recovery. They all said she was 'incurable.'

"At last, we, too, gave up hope. We had tried every means we knew of to restore her to health. Everything had failed, and there seemed to be nothing to do but wait for the end, which we all thought was very near. It was hard to watch her slowly fading away-she who was once so bright and strong and happy. But we were powerless to help her; and all we could do was to watch her as she day by day grew thinner and thinner, with her ter-

"One day a friend came to see Laura, and could not realize that the poor, helpless, voiceless, form, was all that was left of the once bright, healthy, robust girl. Before leaving this friend asked me if I had tried DR. ARNOLD'S ENGLISH TOXIN PILLS. I said: 'No; they are the only medicine we have not tried.' Later in the day, in sheer desperation, I bought a box of these pills, and began giving them to the poor girl, according to the direc-tions. A few days afterwards I was amazed and delighted to hear Laura call me. She had recovered her speech Then she could tell me how she had suffered; how she had heard the doctors discussing her case at her bedside in the hospital, and speaking of the hopelessness of it. Soon her appetite came back, and strength followed. In a few days she was able to walk across the room, and two weeks after she had ta-ken the first one of DR. ARNOLD'S ENGLISH TOXIN PILLS she walked to Parkdale and back, a distance of four miles. The improvement was marvelous. Our neighbors could not be-never that Laura was so nearly well again. They had the evidence of their own eyes for it, however.

"On the day Laura walked to Parkdale and back I fell ill myself. I remained in bed for two weeks, and during this period Laura waited lovingly upon me, and cared for her three

ASKIN STREET ANNIVERSARY. The Askin Street Methodist Church school room was crowded last night on the occasion of the anniversary entertainment, and the affair was a most successful one. The musical and literary programme was excellent, and was rendered altogether by scholars, officers and teachers of the school. "Aunt Jerusha's Album," was one of the features. It was under the direction of Miss Winnie Atkinson, and some 30 "pictures" were shown, creating much merriment. An instrumental overture was given by the Misses Phelp, the Messrs. Phelp, Miss Boake and Mr. Howe, and provoked hearty The choruses of the choir applause. of young folks, under the direction of Prof. Phelips, were excellently rendered. A kindergarten class, directed by Misses Boake and Johnstone, gave a very clever number. Other numbers were a quartet by Messrs. W. and H. Nettleship, T. Bonser and C. Turner; recitation, Master Earl Lawson; in-strumental duet. Roger Phelp and Tony West; kindengarten class, directed by Miss Brenton; solo, Miss Elliott. The superinterdent, Dr. Reynolds, made a few happy remarks, in introducing the programme.

FORMAL OPENING NOVEMBER 15

Victoria Hospital To Be Completed by That Date-Rushing the Work.

The hospital building committee met in regular session last night, and after discussion decided to recommend to the council that the new Victoria Hospital be opened on Nov. 15. The building is not yet completed, but it is hoped that it will be by that time. The building committee will push everything to completion. The council will appoint a committee to make arrangements for the opening. On motion of Ald. Carrothers the committee decided to place men at work on the hospital. Chairman Jolly and the mover were empowered to put the men at work this morning. The contract of Malloch & Co. for putting in elevators will be canceled, as they were to have had them in some time ago.

On motion of Ald. McPhillips, the following names will be submitted to the council from among which to select a second engineer at the hospital: James F. McLean, W. A. Howard, J. H. Foden, W. J. Harding and George Rose.

Ald. Carrothers moved that Mr. Rose be accepted. Motion lost. Martyn & Hammett made application through Mr. James Magee, for the payment to them of $1,200, on account of an architect's certificate given in August. Payment will be made as soon as certain odds and ends are completed A number of small items in conection with the building were attended and the committee adjourned at 10:30.

A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good.

Lady Spectators Were Present in Force-The Winners.

The field day of the Western University is now eagerly looked forward to by everyone in the city who is interested in keen struggles for athletic supremacy, and judging by the large numbers of young ladies who attended the sports yesterday, it would seem as though they took greater interest in the contests than did their gentlemen friends. The fact that the three courses of the 'Varsity-arts, medicine and divinity-were represented, added greater zest to the sports, because each one did his utmost to maintain supremacy for his class.

Mr. P. H. Thom and S. A. Brigham were close opponents throughout the afternoon, and when the points were counted they stood tied for the cham-pionship, and each will receive a gold medal. In a few words Dr. James told of his pleasure at the large number who had come to witness the sports, and also on account of the spirit of generous rivalry with which they had been contested.

In the hall the boys all showed an abundance of wisdom, especially in etiquette, and showered advisory messages upon those who had to go to the front to receive their prizes. All the old college songs were sung in lusty style, and proved that although the boys had worked hard at the games they were certainly not winded. The following were the successful contest-

· ______ MUNICIPAL STREET RAILWAY

Proposition Before Detroit Voters at

Next Election. Under a law enacted by the last Michigan Legislature allowing the city of Detroit to change its charter by amendments submitted to the people, two propositions are to be brought before the voters at the coming election, relating to the city ownership of street railways. One, of course, will be Governor Pingree's plan by which a commission may buy out the present roads at a valuation of $17,000,000, and run them for the city until direct city ownership is authorized by a constitutional amendment. Immediately, the advo-cates of this plan claim that the citizof Detriot would save threequarters of a million dollars a year through the adoption of three-cent fares, and in a few years even those fares would yield a profit sufficient to extinguish the debt. The enemies of the plan, however, including conservatives as well as radicals, point out that the present street railway system could be duplicated for about $8,000,000, and object to the city's paying $9,000,000 for the right to run street railways along its own streets. The conservatives urge that municipal ownership should either not be tried, or at least should be deferred about twenty years until most of the existing charters expire The radicals, however, demand that the city shall at once be given the right to build a street railway system of its own, and have secured more than the requisite 5,000 signatures to a petition for a charter amendment authorizing direct municipal construction and operation. The city attorney and the committee of the board of aldermen to whom this proposition was referred attempted to prevent its submission to the voters, on the ground that the Supreme Court would hold municipal construction unconstitutional: but as the advocates of the amendment merely wished to demonstrate the demand of the people for such a privilege, they insisted upon their legal rights as petitioners. They informed the aldermen that those who refused to obey the law and submit a proposition demanded by 5,800 voters would be remembered by the voters on election day, and the board overruled its committee by a majority of 27 to 2. Of course the submission of two somewhat similar propositions is likely, in some degree, to divide the vote of those who favor the municipal ownership of the street railway monopoly, but the vote on both the proposed amendments is likely to be regarded in the future as more significant than those recorded upon any of the state issues to be presented at the coming election.
