The Besieged Forces in Pekin Believed to Be Short of Water, Provisions and Ammunition—Report That Admiral Seymour Has Been Wounded-Women Who Escaped Bullets in the Legations

Dying of Starvation,

m .- Couriers, who are arriving at the seats of government of the southern at the capital, tried by means of a viceroys from their agents in Pekin, the legations so that they might be give vivid but fragmentary pictures of what is being enacted in the capital. These couriers seemingly left Pekin a day or two later than the messenger of Sir Robert Hart, the inspector-general of customs, who started on the night of June 24. They report that the heads of some of the legation guards were being borne through the streets at the top of spears, followed by zealots, chanting "Tapi yang kuei tse, tapi, tapi" (kill the foreign devils, kill, kill). The city's millions have been roused, breaking out into the wildest excitement, while over half the city could be heard defiling around the lega-

FIGHTING FOR THEIR LIVES. Sir Robert Hart's runner, who was interviewed by the correspondent of the Express at Shanghai, supplements the tragic sentences of the dispatch he bore by a narrative of something he saw. He says the foreigners were making their last stand in the extensive building and inclosures of the British

MANY DEAD AND WOUNDED. They had many dead and wounded. children. All were short of food, even of the commonest necessaries. The women were starving, as they gave a part of their small allowance to the children. The foreigners, nevertheless, were holding out under a terrific fire, upheld by the hourly expectation of relief. They knew that they would not be abandoned, and that the armies of their governments were advancing. Sometimes they thought they could hear artillery in action beyond wall. They were unable to return the fire of the Chinese except at moments when an assault seemed imminent. Then the machine guns and repeating rifles tore the storming parties to

The messenger expressed the belief that it would be impossible for the foreigners to resist much longer, as the Chinese were preparing to batter down the walls of the courtyard, and their ammunition was running low. Orders were given by Prince Tuan, the messenger says, that since some had been killed, not one other foreigner should be left alive. The Chinese soldiers were exhorted to sacrifice their lives without hesitation if by so doing they could help exterminate the "Wang Kuel Tse.

BODIES MUTILATED.

Extreme precautions had been taken to prevent the foreigners from communicating with anyone outside the city, and a number of runners who had been sent out were killed by the Chinese. This messenger succeeded in getting through by smearing his face and clothes with blood and joining in the outcries against the "devils." He passed the remains of foreigners of Admiral Seymour's force, who had been killed between Lang Fang and Lo Fu. Their bodies had been cut to pieces, and their heads were carried at the ends of bamboos. A large army of Manchu Chinese imperial troops, with 70 guns, is reported to be advancing in the direction of Tien Tsin. Reliance is placed in Shanghai in most of the statements made by this messenger, as he is known to be faithful to the foreigners.

SHORT OF FOOD AND AMMUNI-TION.

The consular body at Shanghai is of the opinion that the food and ammunition of the besieged legation force at Pekin have become exhausted, they must be dead or imprisoned, and that it would be futile to make a desperate effort for their relief with an inade-quate force. The inability of 1,600 men the latest estimate of the number landed-to advance is explained by the statement that the Chinese army between Tien Tsin and Pekin has been heavily reinforced, that it has abundant artillery and numerous cavalry, giving it large advantage over the London, Wednesday, July 4-2:30 a. Baron Von Ketteler reach Shanghai. The correspondent of the Express says that Prince Tuan, who is the dictator massacred by fanatics, thus evading governmental responsibility for their death. The American, British, French and Russian ministers suspected a plot and refused to leave the legations. Baron Von Ketteler, however, accepted the invitation and left the German legation with a small escort of German marines. Another account has it that all the ministers were invited to a conference with the Tsung Li Yamen, and that Baron Von Ketteler started out first and was murdered. The other ministers then refused to venture upon the street. A British officer and some sailors were wounded while trying to defend Baron Von Ketteler. German sailors, this account says, set fire to the Tsung Li Yamen buildings.

CONFIRMATION. A courier from Sir Robert Hart, inspector-general of customs at Pekin, who left there June 25, confirms the report that Baron Von Ketteler, the German minister, and his secretary attempted to visit the Tsung Li Yamen. The minister was shot four times, and died at the rooms of the Tsung Li Yamen. His secretary succeeded in making his escape.

Capt. McCalla, commander of the United States cruiser Newark, esti-mates that 50,000 soldiers will be re-quired for the rescue of the ministers. SHORT OF WATER.

tional forces at Tien Tsin are suffering from lack of good drinking water, owing to the Pei Ho River being choked with the corpses of Chinese and other victims of the bombardment. According to the same dispatch the international troops, so far from being strong enough to advance towards Pekin are not sufficiently numerous to attack the Chinese still surrounding Tien Tsin, and keeping up a desultory fire on the place. Thousands of Chinese are said to be arriving from Lutai, and to be desperately attempting to reoccupy the bridge leading to Taku.

ORDERED OUT OF TIEN TSIN. It is reported at Che Foo that all foreigners have been ordered out of Tien Tsin. The situation is considered desperate. The Chinese are pushing their entrenchments under the wall. The railway between Tien Tsin and Lutai is in the hands of the Chinese.

SEYMOUR WOUNDED. London, July 3 .- Repeating the story of renewed severe fighting at Tien Tsin, a special dispatch from Shanghai adds that reports are current that Vice-Admiral Seymour has

CHRISTIANS WOUNDED. A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph from Shanghai, dated July 2, says that the chief pastor at the Moukden mission has been killed, together with a number of native Christians. CONSULS UNDER FIRE. Washington, July 3.- Secretary Hay has received a cablegram from Con-sul-General Goodnow, at Shanghai, dated July 2, which is practically a condensation of the report brought to Shanghai by a courier from Sir Robert Hart, inspector-general of customs. The dispatch says: "The diplomats and missionaries are in the British legation, under rifle fire. Cannon command the legation, but they are not being used. The English, German and Italian legations are still

Secretary Hay has received cablegrams from Consul Goodnow, at Shanghai, dated today, and United States Consul McWade, at Canton. The one from Goodnow is as follows: "On the 27th there were two legations standing. The emperor and empress are prisoners in the palace. The city gates are closed. Prince Tuan and his force of Boxers are in control of everything. Complete condition of anarchy in streets."

WOMEN STARVING.

Shanghai, July 3.—According to the latest Pekin news from Chinese sources, the legations are at such exremities from lack of provisions that the women who escaped the bullets are perishing of starvation. Prince Tuan is said to be publicly beheading all the legation guards captured by the Chi-

MORE MURDERS. A special dispatch from Shanghai says

Chinese reports are current that two other foreign ministers were murdered the same day as Baron Von Ketteler. Rumors are current in Paris that the British embassy has received notifica-tion of the massacre of the French and British missionaries at Pekin, but there is no confirmation of the report. MESSAGE FROM MISSIONARIES.

New York, July 3.-The Rev. Dr. A. B. Leonard, secretary of the Mission-ary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, received a cablegram today which was sent yesterday from Che Foo. It was not signed, but it is supposed to come from the Rev. Fred Brown, of the Tien Tsin station. It was as follows: "Think they are all safe at Tien Tsin. There is doubt about those at Pekin. Not a Single Foreigner Now Alive in Pekin Is the Latest Chinese News at Shanghai.

London, July 4.- "Not a single foreigner is now alive in Pekin," is the latest Chinese report which has reached Shanghai. Earlier reports from the same sources describe the condition of the British legation as SOMETHING AWFUL. It is said that the rooms of the legation were filled with sick and wounded, the killed lying unburied in heaps. It is believed that many of the members and officials of the Chinese foreign office perished, when the German Guard, maddened by the murder of Baron Von Ketteler, the German minister, set fire to the building. SET AFLAME THE PROVINCES at present quiescent. Advices from Shanghai today say that there is continued fighting at Tien Tsin, while the German consul at Che Foo telegraphs to Berlin confirming the report of the renewal of hostilities. He says the foreign settlement at Tien Tsin is again surrounded and is being bombarded, and that the women and children are to be removed. He adds that the Chinese troops have again advanced against the railroad, and that the bridges have been destroyed, but that communication by water with Taku is maintained. The consul confirms the report that the mission buildings at Mukden have been burned, and that many native Christians have been killed.

Statement of the Chinese Situation Made to the Commons-The Government in a Maze of Uncertainty-Mr. Astor Makes a Stir.

Berlin, July 4.—The Berliner Tage-blatt says: "The decision of the kaiser to send the first division of the battle-ships to China is a resolution of a very serious military character. This divi-sion consists of four battleships, the Bayern, the Wurtemburg, the Baden and the Sachsen. Each of these is of 7.400 tons displacement, and carries a crew of 440 men. There is no doubt that the kaiser, by the choice of those four battleships, which bear the names of the four greatest states of the empire, desired to give proof to the powers of the solidarity of the German London, July 4.—The parliamentary secretary of the foreign office, Mr. William St. John Brodrick, in the House of Commons, said he was able to add but little to the previous infor-mation about China. A telegram has been received from the British consul at Tien Tsin, dated June 28, saying the allied forces had burned three arsenals, with an immense quantity of stores, powder and ammunition.

Mr. William Pritchard Morgan (Liberal), who has large concessions in China, urged that the government should be most energetic in taking steps to rescue the legations at Pekin, and claimed it should insist that Li Hung Chang be appointed regent.

Mr. John Dillon (Irish Nationalist) said he wanted to know if America was acting in concert with the other powers at Taku.

Mr. Brodrick, in a general reply to previous speakers, referred to the in-tense anxiety concerning the fate of the legations, but he insisted that it evening. was useless at the present moment to attempt to draw the government into a discussion of its policy. The govern-ment was in a maze of uncertainty. The suggestion that Li Hung Chang be appointed regent merited consideration among many possible alternatives. He had no reason to suppose the American admiralty dissented from the others regarding the attack on Taku. The government hoped Japan would supplement the considerable contingent of troops already landed, and the gov-ernment did not think any power discouraged the idea of Japan undertaking the work. In conclusion, Mr. Brodrick informed the house that the government could not now discuss the future government of China, its sole pre-oc-

INSULTED BY ASTOR.

London, June 4.—Mr. William Waldorf Astor has set all London talking by publishing in his own paper, the Pall Mall Gazette, the following paragraph: "We are desired to make known that the presence of Capt. Sir Berkely Milne, of the Naval and Military Club, Piccadilly, at Mr. Astor's concert last Thursday evening, was uninvited." As Capt. Milne is one of the most distinguished naval officers, and a member of the best clubs, and a former commander of the royal yacht Osborne, no end of speculation has been caused by the remarkable announcement. The Astors' concert was largely attended, but so far as can be learned nothing occurred during the entertain-ment to justify Mr. Astor's present action. The general opinion is that Capt. Milne is not likely to submit to such a slur without taking some ac-

GERMANY AS A SEA POWER. Berlin, July 4.-At a banquet at Wilhelmshaven of the officers of a club yesterday, subsequent to the launching of a warship, Emperor William made some most emphatic declarations upon the subject of Germany as a sea power, asserting that the ocean was indispensable to Germany's greatness and that it had been demonstrated that and that it had been demonstrated that no great decision could ever again be reached in respect to sea without consulting with Germany and the German Emperor. "Germon people," said he, "did not conquer and shed blood 30 years ago in order to be thrust aside when great foreign problems are being when great foreign problems are being settled. If that had happened then, the position of the German as a world power would have been at an end. I am not inclined to allow matters to reach such a pass. It is the emper-or's duty and highest privilege to employ suitable and even the sharpest methods to prevent it." The German emperor expressed it as his conviction that in this matter the princes of Germany and the entire people were closely arrayed behind him.

MONUMENT TO LAFAYETTE. Paris, July 4.—The unveiling of the statue to the memory of the Marquis De Lafayette occurred today in the Garden of the Tuileries. The menument was unveiled by two boys, representing the schools of France and America, Gustave Hennrique, greatndson of the Marquis De Lafayette, Paul Thompson, son of the proof the monument. After a few words by Paul Thompson and the read-ing of a dedicatory poem by Miss Voss, representing the Daughters of the American Revolution, Archbishop Ireland delivered an address. Ambassador Porter was president of the day's ex-ercises. President Loubet accepted the monument on behalf of France.

Debate on the Prohibition Question-Mr. Flint's Resolution and Two Amendments Before the House-The Premier's View.

Ottawa, July 3.-The debate on the question of prohibition was resumed in the house this afternoon. On the 23rd of April, when the debate was instituted and adjourned, a resolution and two amendments were before the chamber for consideration. The main motion, which had been submitted by that steadfast champion of prohibition. Mr. Flint, of Yarmouth, N. S., called for the enactment by parliament without delay of such measures as would secure the prohibition of the liquor traffic for beverage purposes in at least those provinces and territories which had voted for prohibition. To this an amendment was moved by Mr. Mc-Clure, of Colchester, N. S., also a prohibitionist, declaring in favor of national prohibition out and out. Then there was an amendment to the amend-The Strathroy and Forest teams ment by Mr. Parmalee affirming that played a couple of games of ball here the results of the plebiscite showed on Monday, morning and afternoon. there was not an active prohibition. The score in the morning stood 6 to 12 sentiment sufficiently pronounced to justify the expectation that a prohibition law could be successfully enforced, and, therefore, such a prohibition The handsome residence of the late law should not be enacted at present. William Rapley, on Carrie street, has been purchased by Mr. John Johnson, it was unfair to say that the Dominion Alliance and the friends of prohibition had changed their ground or altered their opinion because they were advocating something which fell short of total prohibition. The resolution which he had submitted would gain the support of those who were well dispose toward a prohibitory law but yet did not believe in total prohibition, and he thought it was best calculated to catch the ear of parliament. At the same time, however, he strongly believed in Mr. McClure's amend-ment and would accord it his support. Mr. Clark Wallace declared that a more insane proposition than Mr. Flint had submitted was never presented to any deliberative assembly. He charged that it was a humbug resolution, and would accomplish no good purpose. The prohibitionists, he said, had been humbugged and deceived by the grown and by the grown and be a long to the said. ed by the government, who had promised to grant prohibition if a majority pronounced in its favor. He believed in the principle of compensation, and intended to move, if an opportunity was accorded him, that fair and reasonable compensation should be granted to hotel owners, hotel keepers and other interests that would be financially affected by compensation. Dr. Macdonald, in a thoughtful speech, briefly affected by prohibition. Dr. Mac-ment for prohibition, and asserted his belief, in view of the result of the plebiscite, the temperance sentiment of the country was not sufficiently strong to carry into effect and enforce a prohibition law. He thought it would be unwise and not in the ntierests of temperance to pass such a law at present, but suggested that the scope of the Canada temperance act be enlarged and its provisions perfected. By means of this they would be able to bring groups of counties under the operation of prohibition, and in the Prince Edward Island it would mean a prohibition law for the whole of that province. Mr. Craig, in a speech that was on the whole fair in tone, ex-

> The premier next enlightened the house as to his views, and there was an eager rush of members to the front benches, the better to hear him, when he rose. Sir Wilfrid's manner had that unmistakable earnestness and sincerity which carries conviction to the listener. He had taken the position, as soon as the result of the plebiscite became known, that public opinion was not in favor of prohibition, and he now re-affirmed that view. The attitude assumed by the government was justi-fied by what had just transpired in the house. There was not unanimity of opinion among those members of the house who professed to be prohibi-tionists, and no two agreed in their views. He did not believe parliament favored so radical a measure as that proposed by Mr. McClure, and as to Mr. Flint's proposition, no more dangerous legislation could be placed upon the statute book. Could there be a more dangerous principle, he asked, than that parliament should legislate, not upon broad national lines, which should apply to all parts of the country, but only in the interest of certain sections of the community? We were engaged in building up and uniting the country, and nothing should be done would tend to disunion or intenready accomplished much, because Canada was one of the most temperate

Jealous Young Man Shoots a Girl and Kills Himself.

Schooner Goes Down With All on Board-Fatal Elevator Accident.

Orangeville, Ont., July 4.-Maddened by jealousy, Ottaway Hunter, a young man, shot Miss Gertie Nixon, on Monday afternoon, and then killed himself. The tragedy took place at Idlewylde Park about 5 p.m., while numbers of spectators were watching the lacrosse match between the Dufferins and Tuscarora Indians. Suddenly the sharp crack of a revolver was heard at the south end of the grounds. A second later the report rang out again, and the horrified people saw a young woman and a man fall to the earth almost at the same time. There was a wild rush for the spot, and a scene of great excitement ensued. Hunter died where he fell, and his lifeless body was taken to the town hall to await the coroner's verdict. Miss Nixon was carried to a near-by residence, where she now lies in a precarious condition, with a bullet lodged in one of her lungs. Gertie Nixon is the only daughter of Mr. Thomas Nixon, and is very pretty.

ATHLETICS.

WILLIAM B. CURTIS DEAD.

New York, July 3. — William B. Cur-tis, the veteran athlete who perished in a storm on Mount Washington, N. H., was often called the father of American athletes, and was universally known as 'Father Bill' Curtis. He was in his 64th year. Mr. Curtis was a conspicuous figure at most of the leading amateur athletic meets. He was probably the best posted man on amateur sport in the country. He had re-cords at his finger tips, was thoroughly conversant with the rules that govern-ed the sports and did a great deal for when a younger man Mr. Curtis was an athlete of fine ability himself, and possessed rugged health. He was a man of splendid physique and there were few when he was in the hey-day of his powers could equal him at weight-lifting. Mr. Curtis was one of the leading officials of the amateur athletic union. His supartiality and benesty and ability made him much

Toronto, July 3 .- The junior championship lawn tennis tournament was played yesterday on the courts of the Canada Club, and was marked by strong and steady playing. M. J. Kent, of London, Ont., succeeded in winning the title of junior champion of Canada. The other competitors were: Williamson, of Lindsay, and Chown, Locke, Paterson and Pardoe, of Toronto. The score is as follows: Preliminary round—H. Paterson beat Locke, 6-3, 6-1; Kent beat Williamson, a win for Detroit by about ten feet in 6-1, 6-8, 6-4. First round—Chown beat Pardoe, 8-6, 6-4; Kent beat H. Paterson, 6-1, 6-8, 6-4. Final round—Kent beat Chown, 6-1, 6-4, 6-3. 9:45%. Toronto, July 2.—The yacht race for the Queen's cup this afternoon resulted in an exciting contest and the fastest time for light air in the history of the club was recorded. The race was sailed over a 15-mile triangle course, five miles to a leg, and the yachts went twice around. The wind was light The yachts which entered were the Merry Thought (cutter), Clorita (schooner), and the Verda (cutter), and all of them were sailed by their owners-A. E. Jarvis, G. H. Goodernam and A. G. Peuchen respec-tively. Although the Verda crossed the line first, the Merry Thought won by minutes, 35 seconds, this being subject to a reserved decision by the judges. The time was 5 hours and 40 seconds. The Clorita is the vessel purchased by Mr. Gooderham in New York last season, and it was expected that she would prove much better than she did this afternoon. During the race a telegram was received at the Royal Canadian Yacht Club house to the effect that the Gloria, which is being brought out by Mr. N. C. Mc-Leod, has arrived at St. John, N. B., resident of Glen Miller, Hastings county, Ont., was afflicted with kidney trouble for ten years. So pleased is he at having found in Doan's Kidney Pills a cure for his ailments, which he had begun to think were incurable, that he wrote the following statement of his case so that others similarly afflicted may profit by his experience: "I have been afflicted with kidney trouble for about ten years and have tried several remedies, but never received any real benefit until I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills. My back used to constantly ache and my urine was high colored and milky looking at times. Since I have finished the third box of Doan's Kidney Pills I am happy to state that I am not bothered with backache at all and my urine is clear as crystal. I feel confident that these pills are the best kidney specific in the country.'

Sad Stories of Heartlessness and Disregard for Human Life

In Connection With the Terrible Catastrophe at Heboken on Saturday.

New York, July 3.-When a vessel is abandoned at sea and a steamer tows her to harbor, if the risk is great, the salvage allowed may be as high as 75 per cent of the value of the prop-erty saved. Within Sandy Hook this sort of salvage is not allowed, but there is salvage for fire. The courts will pass upon the claims in connection with the Hoboken catastrophe, and as more than 60 steamers were more or less concerned in the salvage, the litigation will be interesting.

Along with the stories of heroic rescue come others of greed and disregard of human life. John Lupth, a painter, employed in decorating the first cabin of the Saale, was alarmed by the cry of fire and rushed from the cabin to the deck just in time to see a great sheet of flame sweep over the forward part of the vessel and envelop Capt. Mirow, who was standing between the bridge an the fore-hatch giving orders to a panic-stricken group of laborers to batten the hatch down. The fire wrapped around him, and in an instant he was crumpled into a shapeless mass, falling where he stood. "At that," says Lupth, "half a dozen tugs blowing their whistles steamed up toward the Kaiser Wilhelm, which was lying on the opposite side of the dock. A tug came within hailing distance and we spoke her, but the only answer we got was "No time now, will see you later." There were not less than a dozen tugs close by us then, but no one would do anything for us. The hawser which held the lighter to the Saale burned through and parted, and we drifted out into the stream, and floated down along shore. A tug coming up the river saw us, and gave us a tow to a point below Hoboken, where all hands got ashore."

"HAVE YOU ANY GELT?" John Voss was on the pier when the cotton burst into a blaze. well out upon the end of the wharf and saw the fleet of tugs coming toward the Kaiser Wilhelm.

"I saw three men swimming, and trying to get away from the burning pier," said Voss. The hair of one of them was on fire. He ducked his head to put it out. When he came up he shouted 'Help! help!' in German. A man on a small tug leaned over the side and yelled out, 'Have you any gelt? We are not here for our health. The man in the water must have been burnt in some way, because he could not make any reply. Then he threw up his hands and sank.

'I could not tell what became of the others. One of them cried out 'For God's sake! for God's sake!' two or three times, but nobody would do anything for him. I guess he must have been struck on the head by one of the tugs. The crew on board kept calling out, 'How much have you got? Where is all your money?" "For four hours and thirty minutes

Wilhelm Meyer, a fireman of the Main, clung to a spile on the front of the pier where the Saal was, unable, by reason of burns, and his exhausted Buffalo, N. "I called 50 times to tugboats that came near me," said he, "but they would not throw me a line. After a while I got so weak that I could hardly keep my head above water, but I kept calling all the time. Big blazing pieces of wood fell around me, and I had to keep dodging out of the way. I saw five or six men swimming around, as if they did not know what they were doing. Whenever they saw a tug they made for it, but I suppose they had no more money than I had, for I did not see one of them picked

The second storekeeper of the Main, Alphonse Ubrukka, jumped into the water. He found a place to cling to and shouted for help until he was exhausted. Tugs were within 50 yards of him, but no one made an effort to take him aboard.

"One of the crew of a tug offered me a rope if I would give him $3, but how could I?" Ubrukka tells. "After a while a small yawl boat came by and I was pretty near gone, but I hailed her and the man pulled me in and took me ashore.

Gen. James A. Dumont, supervising inspector of steam vessels, said his de-partment would take immediate action in the case of the tugboats who are reported to have declined to save drowning men. Before the guard was placed about the Bremen Sunday afternoon thieves clambered aboard and looted the staterooms.

Lessons From British Military Casualties.

As a result of one day's army mansuvers at Aldershot, England, recently, four persons were killed and 100 disabled by sunstroke or exhaustion. The Lay was one of extreme heat, the men but half an hour in which to take breakfast and prepare for drill. Before the day was done, wagonloads of men in a state of absolute collapse were taken to the hospital. It was a natural conclusion for the coroner's jury to hold that a substantial meal ought to be served to the men before beginning a hard morning's drill. One furyman remarked, sarcastically, no doubt, that the broad-rimmed hat worn by colonial troops was far too sensible a headgear for the War Office to adopt. This stricture was warranted by the evidence that many of the men wore only forage caps, and were thus unprotected from the stifling rays of the comment in England, and has given rise to much comment in the press. The whole management of the military forces of Great Britain, indeed, is being hauled over these days, as is evident by such arraignments of the War Office as we find in the National Review for June. Dealing with the bungling that characterized the incepand early management of the war in South Africa, the writer of the article on "Britannia and the Colonist" says:

The iron shard and reeking tube' the while such ruthless econwere effected by the mandarins of the treasury in the expenditure on secret service that Lord Salisbury could not afford sentinels. Competent men existed, and spoke their minds. They detected the signs of the Warnings were and power were so assured that efficiency ceased to be looked on as ployment, especially in the army, where has to be paid for civilization. polo was more highly considered than scouting, private means than military aptitude, while 'hunting leave' was The officer sent to represent the navy on the staff of the commander-in-chief in his rank. important duties appertaining to the deputy judge advocate general in South Africa an inexperienced barrister of three years' standing was chosen by the English judge responsible appointment. Only the departments that conferred no social status on their employes did really well. The gain.

"Incapacity, even sheer stubidity, were suffered to wield power, while the plain men, who knew what was wanted-the colonials-were met with the same cold and supercilious stare of re-sponsible officials, which bred colonial disaffection 140 years ago."

This severe criticism of the inefficienev of the War Office service is having one good effect-it has aroused the authorities to take means for applying remedies, at all hazards, wherever necessary, and no doubt the later-day complaints of the last two weeks will secure a remedy for the undoubted carelessness or worse that led to so

This severe criticism has been made of the British War Office, who are constantly engaged in war or preparing for it. If they could have been applied to the Militia Department of Canada, where our normal condition is that of peacefulness, it might have been excused. But no such sweeping charges can be made against our military authorities, whether permanent or otherwise, and instead of that we have had the warmest approbation from the imperial authorities, as well as from our citizens generally, of the efficient manner in which the force of close on 4,000 Canadians was equipped and sent to the aid of the Empire. Only extreme partisans, bound to and fault in any case, grumble.

A Great Event.

A great event has recently taken Scotland, which has not remuch attention from the Canbetween two great branches of the Presbyterian Church in Scotland, the United Presbyterian and the Free Church. The movement, which failed once before, has been going on for some time, but the final debate was held on Friday, June 1, of the present year; in the end 592 voted for union and only 29 against. The debate is said to have been of a very high order, thoroughly permeated with the true spirit of Christianity. The British Weekly thus sums up the situation:

"No higher eulogy on the Free Church Death of Hon. A. R. Dickey, Ex-Mindiscussion can be passed than to say that it fitly matched that in the United Presbyterian Synod. Both churches, without doubt, sacrificed a great deal in entering the union. Both were happy and presperous in the life and work; both cherished a legitimate pride in their history; both loved with a true affection their ways and their tradins: both were fully aware that in entering into union they would have to make concessions which would cost much, to face a very real hostility, to dangers that might well dreaded; both, as we believe, entered into this union in simple obedience to he overwhelming conviction that they were doing the will of Christ, that they ald not without disobedience remain

This is a strong testimony, and we reason to doubt its truth. We

practical steps in that direction. There have been in the past plenty of schisms and splitting up on small points, but it is well that there should be a good healthy movement in the opposite direction.

Prophesying Not Their Forte. It is best not to pay much attention to the wailing of the disappointed Opposition chiefs. We have Mr. Foster once more professing to feel very bad for the future of Canada unless he and for the Dominion if the electors fail to take him at his word. But prior to the general elections of 1896, and even as late as 1897 Mr. Foster was in the foretelling line, and we all know how dismal a failure he made of it. Take his prophecy with regard to the woolen mills. As a consequence of the establishment of preferential trade with the Motherland, Mr. Foster in 1897 alleged that the woolen factories would be ruined and the operatives rendered

What a dreadful future the ex-Finance Minister saw for the woolen mill-

But in 1899 these woolen mills manufactured 7,105,619 pounds more wool than in 1895, and there has been no shut-down; indeed, many have had to work overtime to keep up with the demands of their customers.

Mr. Foster is no more entitled to be accepted as a prophet than is his leader, Sir Charles Tupper, who before the recent Nova Scotia elections asserted that he was cocksure the Conservatives would sweep the province, where less period were good enough than half a dozen of them were return-Cabinet Committee of ed in a house of 40

But we believe that there is still more truth in the nobler form of statement, that the truth, that we are members one of another, is becoming to be more fully realized. The unknown desert places of the world are becoming fewer. Those who are on lower planes of civilization cry, "Let us alone," and it seems as if it would be less trouble to comply with that request; but it cannot be, as there are so many forces bringing the different parts of the world nearer together. Men may laugh at the phrase "manifest destiny" on the lips of a politician, but there is a great deal of true meaning in it. The English-speaking world has had many of its forward movements thrust upon it and has found no way of escape, though such way has been sought with painful diligence. The point now, however, is that those who rule have to suffer and the suffering falls often upon the poor, who have no consolation except the thought that they have served their country. When we feel what a precious price is paid for empire we should be more eager to see that the rule is pure

Sir Charles Tupper's parting shot at Montreal was a statement that he expected to win the next Dominion election because "all the best people were Conservatives." Dear, dear, how very shocking must this intelligence be to the majority of the Canadian people. Once a young man in this community gave a similar excuse for his belonging to Sir Charles Tupper's party, but when he essayed to get a seat in Parliament on a platform of "we are the best people," the sturdy electors snowed him under and elected the Liberal candidate by a majority of two to one. The Opposition leader's "best people" fake will be found to be equally ineffective in the ensuing contest.

THREE BATHERS DROWNED

and a Windsor Boy Lose Their Lives Detroit, July 4.-Fred Adams, the 17year-old son of W. H. Adams, of Windsor, was drowned at Bois Blanc Island Monday. He had been playing baseball, and, becoming overheated, at the suggestion of his companions, went in swimming. He was suddenly seized with cramps, but his friends, knowing him to be a good swimmer, thought his calls for help were intended as a joke, and failed to assist him. The family were just preparing to leave for Chatham for the summer when the sad news was broken to them.

He had apparently gone in to bathe, and was taken with cramps. His clothes were found on the bank about a hundred yards away.

Hon. Arthur Rupert Dickey was the second son of Hon. R. B. Dickey, sena-tor for Cumberland. He was born at Amherst in 1854, and was called to the bar of Nova Scotia in 1878. He was re-turned to the House of Commons for Cumberland on the resignation of Sir Charles Tupper in July, 1888. He con-tinued to hold that constituency in the Conservative interest up to the general election of 1896, when he was defeated by Mr. H. J. Logan, Mr. Dickey was vice-president of the Dominfon Prohibitory Alliance. He became secretary of state under Sir Mackenzie Bowell on Dec. 21, 1894; was transferred to the department of militia and defense on March 26, 1895, and to the department of justice on Jan. 5, 1896, continuing as head of the latter in parliament under Sir Charles Tupper until 1896, since which time he had not taken an active part in politics, but at a convention of his party, held in Amherst some months ago, he was nominated to contest the county of Cumberland at the next general elections. He was respected and esteemed by men of all parties.

Will Make Peace Only on Two Conditions,

London, Wednesday, July 4-4 a.m.-Nothing decisive has yet been heard from the column seeking to hem in Gen. Dewet. All of Lord Roberts' field transport is engaged, apparently, in supplying these columns. Operations elsewhere are necessarily relaxed. One thousand Boers are hanging on Gen. OOM PAUL'S TERMS.

President Kruger, replying to a corresdondent at Machadodorp, who inquired if there was any truth in the report that he had opened peace negotiations, wrote: "The president and people of the South African Republic most earnestly desire peace, but only upon two conditions-the complete independence of the republic and amnesty for the colonial Boers who fought with us. If these conditions be not granted we will fight to the bitter end."

CORP IRWIN.

St. Catharines, Ont., July 3 .- The death of Corp. Robert Irwin, of the 19th Regiment, at Bloemfontein, caused very sincere regret in this city. He was the son of Mr. Robert Irwin, of the Great Western Hotel, and it is only two or three weeks since a brother of young Irvine was drowned in Twelve-Mile Creek. Robert was one of the first to volunteer for service in South Africa. He was accepted as a private, but since arriving in South Africa was promoted. This is the first death to occur among those of the contingent who went from here. The flags on all the public buildings are at half-mast as a mark of respect.

Montreal Recruit to Ewell the Ranks of Cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Montreal, July 2 .- Robert S. Thomon, employed at Auld's Cork Factory, 642 Laugchietiere street, is the latest recruit to the army who have indorsed Dodd's Kidney Pills in this city. Gradually but surely all prejudiced persons are being won over to the side of the conqueror of Bright's Disease and Diabetes, the two former tyrants of the human race.

Mr. Thomson says: "I used several remedies and consulted some of Montreal's best doctors, but they could not give me any relief. I read of Doid's Kidney Pills, bought a box, and tried them. Before this I could not sleep, having to get up so often, but now I am all right in this and every other respect.

Recovered from the North River Up to 10 p.m. Yesterday.

Emperor William Sends a Sympa thetic Message-Incidents of the Great Fire.

New York, July 4 .- Up to 10 o'clock last night 102 bodies had been recovered from the waters of the North River, this being the list of fatalities positively known. The list is growing hour by hour, and today, when the tide is at its lowest, it is believed that a great many more will be recovered. The officials of the North German Lloyd Line are doing everything they can to bring things into some sort of tangible shape. Their main efforts are directed to taking care of the survivors and to securing an accurate list of the missing. They have looked after the transportation to Germany of the survivors who were in condition to go. They also gave them clothing and fed them. MESSAGE FROM EMPEROR WIL-LIAM. Bremen, July 4.-The officials of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company have received a telegram from Emperor William, expressing sympathy with them in the calamity which has befallen the company through the destruction by fire of three of its steamers on the Hudson River, and the burning of its wharves, and hoping the directors will manfully face the trial confronting them. A director of the company estimates the losses falling on the company at about 5,000,000

OF THE GREAT FIRE.

Hidden in the propeller shaft tunnel of the ill-fated Main, a place seven feet broad by seven feet high, running half the length of the great ship, fifteen of the crew saved themselves, and were finally rescued alive. Among them was Fourth Engineer Alfred Petersen, who

"After last night I think I could go through hell without getting scorched. A SCORCHING FURNACE.

"The Main was a furnace for eight hours. You could have broiled a steak on the side wall of the shaft tunnel we were in. There wasn't air enough down there for a snow bird, and if the fifteen of us who endured that un-speakable torture for eight hours had not been hardy and well seasoned, none of us would have lasted fifteen min-

there as the only place to go. It is a nasty place to be in even on a nice day, with the ventilators all working. It seems incredible that a man could live there with fire all over the ship except in that little lane, with the sides of the ship so hot they were "We didn't know what minute would be the end of us. Every time we heard a sound we thought the ship was gone. When, after we had been in the place for hours, and were frantic from noke, our light went out and we got desperate. I made up my mind to get another one at the risk of being smothered to death outside. When I got out of the tunnel I nearly fell, the smoke was so thick about me. I got into the stokehold and groped about for a lamp until I found one.

Then a breath of air from the coal bunker caused me to look up.
"Merciful heaven! There was a gleam of light! The port was open. The bunker was full of smoke, and I stumbled back and brought the others. It took us a long time to get a tug to come to us, and we were nearly burned up half a dozen times

"I wouldn't go through another such experience for all the ships in the world. Ten minutes in such a black hole would kill an ordinary man."

WHAT A REPORTER DID. Capt. Fred Bouchard, of the immigrant barge Forest Home, who was instrumental in saving 40 lives on the

"Besides helping to save these 40 men Foster kept alive a man who was doomed-kept him alive as long as he

A STRIKING SCENE. One of the striking scenes of the great horror was the benediction to the dying administered by Rev. John Brosnan, a Catholic priest. As a spectator he stood upon the Battery sea wall, horrified, when upon a fire boat he saw the forms of victims brought to shore. Remembering his duties, he bravely accepted the offer of a tug captain, who took him as near the burning wrecks as he could. Going from porthole to porthole he administered the last offices to the miserable victims, until there were no more to be seen, receiving for his courageous devotion the unspoken thanks of men who knew their doom.

A stewardess of the Saale, discovered at a port by a crew of life-savers, too late to rescue her, sent by them a message to her mother in Rothenberg near Hanover, every word of which was fixed in the memory of those who heard it. It was her will, and by it she gave her little property to her mother, and sank back to certain death.

In the second attack on the east arsenal on June 27, the Russians had to retire for reinforcements. A force of British, one company of Germans and 80 Americans then engaged the enemy, who with four guns made a determined resistance until the whole allied force supported the artillery. The ailies advanced and stormed the west end of the arsenal. Fifty Chinese were killed. The remainder retired. Lack of cavalry prevented the capture of the whole force. As soon as the allies had occupied the arsena, 1,500 imperial troops made a flank attack from the The British and the Russian guns drove them back. The British casualties numbered 5 killed and 21 wounded. The Americans had only 1 wounded, while the Russians lost 17 killed and wounded. CHINESE IMPERIAL PROCLAMA-

BOER STAMP BOOM.

How the War Enhances the Value of These Pieces of Paper.

There is a big boom in South African stamps. The war has enhanced their value and has enormously increased the demand for them. Several dealers whom a Daily Mail representative consulted yesterday agreed that there has never been such a rush on South African issues. Mr. F. R. Ginn of the Strand said: "The great demand just now is for Free State stamps, commandeered by Lord Roberts when he entered Bloemfontein, and converted with the letters 'V.R.I.' stamped upon them in black, They are rare at present, for the curious reason that most of them were lost in the Mexican.

"The soldiers in Bloemfontein bought them up as soon as they were issued and were sending them to friends in England. There were all sorts, from halfpenny up to five-shilling stamps. I have sold one of the latter, unused, for £5. The 'Drie Pence Oranje Vrij Staat,' converted into a 'V.R.I,' 21/2d,' fetches 7s 6d. Possibly these stamps will soon be worth as many pounds. "So far no Mafeking stamps have got on to the market, but they will fetch high prices when they come here. The V.R.I. Free Staters are in huge demand, and so will the converted Transvaalers be when Lord

Roberts issues them. "A complete set of Transvaal stamps would cost over £1,000, for a great variety has been issued. Free State, on the other hand, has kept much in the same groove all along."

Some of the old Transvaal stamps, of the British regime of 1877-80, and of the First Republic, now fetch from £20 to £50 .- London Daily Mail,

Returning to England From South Africa, After Recovering From

A cablegram from Capt. Stuart, to his brother here, says:

"Resumed command at the Vaal. Fought at Klipriversburg. Fever bet-England, Canadian Commissioner. This would imply that he had been attacked by fever after that battle, but had recovered, and was returning to Wyatt, Gordon Thomas, Dorothy had recovered, and was returning to England. Whether the regiment is returning or not is not clear. It would seem that Capt. Stuart is not returning on account of illness, and his address being at the Canadian commissioner's office would seem to imply either that the regiment is also returning, or that he is going there on some duty connected with the regiment.

MANITOBA WHEAT.

Winnipeg, July 4.—Mr. James Oborne, superintendent of the C. P. R., when seen today by a reporter, stated, that his department had received reports on the crops from all parts of the province, and all agreed in saying that the late rain had done incalculable good to wheat and other cereals. While the immediate improvement was apparent, it would not be possible to estimate the amount of good done to the crop for about ten days yet.

Six Prominent Railway Men Instantly Killed-Some 25 or 85 Injured.

Parkersburg, W. Va., July 4.-Six prominent railway men were instantly killed and between 25 and 35 persons terribly injured by the explosion of gasoline tank cars in the yards of the Ohio River Railroad here today. At 7:30 o'clock a yard engine passing down with a train at a good rate of speed ran into an open switch. The engine struck a train of gasoline tanks. Several officials of the road happened to be here, and, as usual in an accordent of the kind, they fired a cannon shot at the remaining tanks of oil The result was a terrific explosion.

THE DEAD.

The dead are: J. H. Hamilton, general superintendent; Blakeley, Reeves, engineer; Edward Shannon, telegrapher; Yardmaster Carr; Master Mechanic Laline and Conductor Bradford. London is being troubled by a plague of rats. The infested quarter lies principally in the Strand, where some houses built a couple of hundred years ago have recently been puiled down. As the workmen demolished the walls rats came out from the crevices and holes by hundreds and fled in all directions. Some of the hotels have harbored them, it is said, to the disgust of visitors. I talked to an official of the London County Council on the subject yesterday "There is no fear," he said, "of any trouble taking place. The truth is the buildings in course of destruction at one time communicated with the river by a secret passage, which, of course, accounts for the rats. We are doing our best to exterminate them by means of traps and poison, and a large number are daily destroyed by a mixture of plaster of paris and meal. There always have been rats in London, and there always will be, for the food daily wasted in Loadon is enough to feed an army of rats ten times as big as the present British army in South Africa.'

Boston has an ordinance restricting the height of buildings, which has re-cently been put to the test and suctain-ed by the courts.

maid was there waiting to dress her for the evening. She looked up in surprise at Lettie's quick entrance and flurried air.
"Oh, Miss Douglas, I could not imagine what had become of you. I have been waiting here so long to dress you!" she said. "It was none of your business," Lettle answered, rudely; then, seeing the girl's astonishment, she added, in less offensive tones: "My head ached and I went out with my intended husband for a little fresh air, but you need not mention it again." "Certainly not, ma'am," was the smooth reply, but the maid knew all the same that Lettie had told her a falsehood. Tracy Tempest was with his mother in her own room, where she had been confined all day with a sick headache. This the maid knew well, but it was not her business to contradict her mistress. So she combed and braided Lettie's shining black tresses into the usual imposing coronal above her brow, and robed the plump figure in a white lace dress, with ruby Jewelry and bloodred roses. The imposter shivered as she looked into the mirror. The jewels and flowers against the snowy dress looked like blood to her excited fancy.

"My headache has made me very

CHAPTER XLVI.

She would not have felt so secure of the success of her dark deed if she could have beheld what was transpiring at that moment at the lily pond. She had deemed herself all alone at the scene of her crime, but she had been mistaken in the supposition.

At the opposite side of the pond, hidden also among the thick, overhanging willows, was another person, bent like Lettie on the commission of a crime—the terrible crime of self-

That person was the father of Tracy Tempest—the proud, ambitious man who had sinned so deeply for his son's sake, and who now, tormented by remorse for his sins and overwnelmed by their cruel consequences, was about to explate his evil deads with his life. He had witnessed until he could no longer endure it the silent unhappiness of his own son and the ruined life of Virginia Douglas, whose happiness he had sacrificed to secure Cedarhurst for

Seventeen years ago he had incar-cerated her in the ruined wing, with no confidentes to his crime but the old housekeeper and his wife. Then Vir-ginia had been as lovely and almost young as was Dawn Douglas now. After fifteen years of sorrow, suspense and imprisonment she had come forth again, lovely still, but aged beyond her years, wan and fragile looking, with "silver threads among the gold" of her hair, and such a look of hopeless and pathetic despair in her large blue eyes that their silent reproaches stung him more deeply than the bitterest

Over and over again he wished that Satan had not tempted him to the wickedness that had blighted so many lives, and he would have given a year out of his life could he have found Carl Douglas, whom he had so bitterly wronged, and restored him to his sadeyed, unhappy wife.

"But he is dead, he must be dead, or he would have returned to his daughter long ere this. The misery that I wrought is irreparable, and neither God nor those I have wronged will ever forgive me," he thought, sadly, and the gray hairs crept more thickly into his iron-gray hair and beard, and the lines of thought and anxiety cut deeper and deeper into his face. He had lived but for his wife and child, and his plans for their pros-perity had but spoiled their lives. Mrs. Tempest had been sinking into invalidism ever since the cruel wrongs they had committed against Virginia Douglas, and he had always believed that it was the burden of remorse lying heavy on her soul that stole the light from her eyes and the elasticity from her step. Now he saw his noble, selfsacrificing son growing, wan and wretched in the despair of his soul, and the sight was hard to bear.

"If I were only dead all would go well," he thought, often. "Tracy could throw over the imperious heiress then, and wed the lovely girl of his choice. He could take his mother and his wife far away, where the disgrace of my sin could not follow them. Yes, It were better, far better, that I were

THE CONCILIATION MACHINERY. My honorable friend (Mr. Davin) little while, then tore himself away asks me to explain the machinery of with a fond, lingering kiss on his wife's the conciliatory portion of this bill. I pale lips. He went down to the parmay say that it is not anything new, lors, where the guests were all assembled, passed a few commonplace words that is an echo largely of the conciding the bled, passed a few commonplace words with them, then went out with a heavy Great Britain for some four years. heart and a grim smile to what he Prior to any legislation whatever providing for conciliatory methods of adjusting such disputes, there had grown up in Great Britain a number of voluntary conciliation boards, which had been able to accomplish a great deal in the way of preventing strikes and lockouts. The number of these boards in England had increased, and their work had become so important and useful that at last, in 1896, the Imperial Parliament gave recognition to conciliation boards by passing the conciliation act of 1896. The act provides for the board of the conciliation boards and arbitrafor the ensuing year will be 20 mills tion boards throughout Great Britain, and in that way being in connection with the machinery of concillation, which machinery can be set in motion whenever the occasion arises. conciliation boards are selected by the interests concerned. The act provides that if the interests desire it the board of trade in England-it will be the minister charged with the carrying out of this act in Canada-may, if requested, appoint conciliators or arbitrators. (Cheers.) There is nothing from beginning to end of the act of a coercive character, but the whole principle rests upon the theory of consent both in the organization of the board, in their taking any part whatever by way council meeting. The position was of intervening in disputes and ulti-filled by the appointment of Constable mately arriving at decisions. Failing conciliation, the Imperial act—and so will this bill—provides for reference to arbitration. (Cheers.) There is, however, a wide difference between determining a dispute by a board of conciliators and determining it by a board of arbitrators. In the case of the reference of the dispute to a board of conciliators, the concillators are the party to the dispute themselves. The em ployers or their representatives and the employes and their representatives constitute the board. (Hear, hear.) There is not, as in the case of arbitra-tion, the delegation of powers to settle dispute to an outside tribunal, which may or may not be composed of persons in any way arrectly interested in the trade concerned, but the persons directly interested in the difference are the persons to settle that dif-ference. (Cheers.) If the conciliators arrive at a conclusion it is a consent conclusion. The parties concerned meet together, employers and employes, around the same table; they exchange better spirit is evoked, and the result is that ultimately consent is reached. In the case of ambitration, it is a delegation of authority to an outside tri-bunal, whose decision, not being the decision of the parties concerned, is ac-cepted perhaps as binding, but not

PUTTING THE MACHINERY IN MOTION.

Mr. Davin-Who puts the machinery in motion? Mr. Mulock-It will be possible for the machinery to be set in motion either by the parties to the difference themselves or by the department of labor. Any of the parties can evoke it, endeavor to secure its good offices for the bringing about of a settlement.
(Cheers.) There will be no cast-iron rules; one method might be effective in one case and another in another. Honorable gentlemen will find on reference to the reports of the board of trade to the Imperial Farliament ample justification for our adoption of this measure. It will appear that it has been effective in England in settling trade disputes of far-reaching importance, and I think that there is no reason to anticipate less gratifying results from the principle being adopted in Canada. (Cheers.) In Great Britain long before 1896 this system was in force; since then, I think, the records show that six-sevenths of all disputes have been amicably settled by the consent of the parties themselves, whilst the boards were in deliberation, coming to an agreement. (Hear hear.)

THE LABOR GAZETTE. With reference to the Labor Gazette I think it may be stated that Canada is behind other countries in not having long since adopted a journal of the kind for the dissemination of use-ful information in the fields of labor. the kind for the dissemination of useful information in the fields of labor. (Cheers.) Great Britain established a gazette some years prior to the conciliation act, and that journal has been district Passenger Agent. "Clock" corner Richmond and Dundas. M. C. DICKSON. and is of very great importance in doing the work of concillation. I ven-ture the opinion, Mr. Speaker, that there is no subject more deserving of our consideration, no subject of so far reaching importance, as the one that concerns the peaceful, satisfactory and harmonious adjustment of trade disputes. Strikes and lockouts are perhaps inevitable, and may have been necessary, but they are an extreme course. In dealing with such contro-versies sooner or later an adjustment is arrived at, after great cost, to all the parties concerned, and considerable injury to the general welfare. (Hear, hear.) If an arangement can be arrived at after a strike, and after such cost, does it not seem reasonable that we should endeavor to arrive at such a happy state of affairs without such cost, if at all possibble, and that gradually it should be recognized that the resort to the extreme course of a strike or a lockout should only be regarded as justifiable when all the more peaceful and more satisfactory methods have proved ineffective. (Cheers.) I had not contemplated making any observations, except merely to state the two objects of the bill, but since honorable gentlemen have asked me to speak further on it I have done so. (Cheers.)

At the Auditorium.

The most important and successful of the closing recitals of the Conservatory of Music was that given in the Auditorium last evening, it being the graduating recital of Mr. Charles Percy and Miss Agnes Templeton. Both of these young musicians acquitted themselves in a manner which spoke well alike for their own abilities and for the excellent training to which they have been subjected. Mr. Percy is the winner of the gold medal presented by W. Caven Barron, principal of the conservatory, for the best planist of the year, and he is also winner of the $50 scholarship, donated by the Heintzman Piano Company, of Toronto. Mr. Percy is a pupil of Mr. Barron. He possesses the tech-nique and the individuality to enable him to do still better things than he has yet done. Miss Templeton is possessed of a rich full contralto voice, of great compass and flexibility, which shows careful and excellent training. She uses it with excellent control and great feeling. The sympathetic quality of expression was deeply marked in her rendering of Schira's "I Dreamt," and

WANT A BAND STAND

Water Commissioners Will Consider the Erection of a New Stand Near nancial Statement-Other Matters

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the water commissioners was held yesterday afternoon, those present being Chairman Jones, Commissioner Little, Mayor Rumball, Superintendent

Moore and Secretary Ellwood. Ald. Brener and Jolly, representing the London Old Boys' reception committee, urged upon the commissioners school, be suspended for one month the desirability of erecting a band stand in front of the Springbank pavilion, before the date of the Old Boys' reunion, Aug. 6, 7 and 8. Several American bands will be present, and next was advocated vigorously by Trusthat it would not be right to take them to the park and have no place for them to play. The cost was estimated by Ald. Jolly at $200, of which the street railway company pend Miss O'Brien for only two weeks. would pay $50. Superintendent Moore's estimate of the cost was $500, and reference to the council minutes showed that the stand in Victoria Park had cost $686. The commissioners were of opinion that they could not afford to spend the money this year, unless the council were willing to accept a reduction in the department's revenue. They will consider the matter. Walter Bradford, lessee of the pavilion, was present with his counsel, J. M. McEvoy, in regard to the ex-pressed intention of the commissioners to have the second story of the pavilion open to the public, except when being used by private parties. Mr. McEvoy stated that Mr. Bradford was willing to keep the pavilion open, except on holidays or other special occasions, provided a policeman was stationed there to prevent disorder and damage. The commissioners wanted it opened when there was a large crowd at the park, as well as at other times, and the matter was referred to Chairman

CHANGE OF NAME.

By Act of Parliament,

assented to June 14th, 1900, the name of THE ONTARIO MUTUAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY was changed to THE MUTUAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

As the only purely Mutual Life Company in Canada, and as its business extends from Ocean to Ocean, a more NATIONAL AND COMPREHENSIVE NAME was found desirable. Under the new name the management will aim to perpetuate and extend the SAME POPULAR FEATURES AND SOUND PRINCIPLES which have made the Company what it is today and to which the

Board of Education Will Not Withdraw Its Suit Against the Council

The Recommendation in the Punishment Case Adopted.

Springbank Pavilion-Quarterly Fi- Recriminations Resulting from Action of Trustees Blackwell and Teasdall -Mrs. Boomer's Plan for Guarding Against Undue Severity.

At a meeting of the board of education held last night the trustees considered No. 1 committee's recommendation that Miss O'Brien, of Aberdeen without pay for punishing Alice Pugsley with undue severity. That this suspension be continued until Feb. 1 supported the motion. Similar action was taken in the plan suggested by Messrs. Logan and McRobert, to sus-Trustee Jones commented upon the committee's action in refusing to allow reporters to be present during the investigation. The report was adopted. In the matter of the council-school board action, Trustee McRobert moved that the latter withdraw their suit, as the postponement of the case pro-hibited the use of the money this year even if it were secured. The chief justice had said that they were entitled to their estimates if properly made. A continuation of the fight would be expensive to the citizens, and as a ratepayer he was prepared to swallow some dignity in order to keep money in his own and the people's pockets.

Then followed some criticism of the action of Trustees Blackwell and Teasdall, whose affidavits had nonplussed the board for the time being. The form-er's statement that he had been unable to get details of the proposed expenditure of $17,400 for repairs was char-acterized by Chairman Bayly as un-true, as he could have got them at the architect's office.

Trusteer Morgan had gone for them, and was told that he must get an order from the chairman, which he did not feel disposed to do.

During further discussion, Dr. Teas-dall said that his action had been purely voluntary, and had been altogether in line with the course that he had fol-lowed throughout the matter. Everyone knew that the money could not be expended for repairs even if secured. The vote was a tie, and the responsibility of continuing the suit devolved upon the chairman. The division was:

To stop the motion at law—Messrs.

MacRobert, Morgan, Ziegler, Teasdall, Blackwell, Hamilton, and Mrs. Boomer

To continue the action - Messrs. Logan, McCormick, English, Boyle, Jones, Evans, Macpherson, Bayly—8. Two notices of motion were given, one by Trustee Logan, to appoint Mr. Charles Carson, B.A., as model school assistant, in place of Mr. Walls; and one by Mrs. Boomer, to amend the rules relating to corporal punishment, so that it shall all be done by the princi-pal, who shall record the number of

Forest City Business And Shorthand College

The most progressive schools in Canada some three years ago formed themselves into an association, with the object of elevating the standard of business and shorthand education. Individual schools no longer issue certificates, but instead, the work of the pupils of the affiliated schools is examined by an independent examining board, composed of some of the forechartered acco tered stenographers in the Dominion. Candidates write monthly under a number assigned by the president of the association, so the examiners are in total ignorance as to the identity of the pupil or the school from which he writes, so that no favors are shown. A few of the less progressive schools still adhere to the old method of granting diplomas, but a discriminating business public are becoming rapidly educated to the fact that the holder of a business educators' diploma possesses something which represents the combined wisdom and experience of the leading schools of the Dominion, granted without fear or favor. Young men and young women now realize that to get a fair start on the road to success they must attend a school in affiliation with the B. E. A. of Canada.

The Forest City Business and Shorthand College of this city, located in the Y. M. C. A. building, has just handed us the report on the work of their pupils for the month of June, and erican bands will be present, and next was advocated vigorously by Trus- we take pleasure in publishing it, so it was felt by the reception committees Evans and Jones, but no others that the friends of the candidates may learn of their success, and that the people of London and the surrounding country may know of the good work being done by this practical business training school. Candidates write monthly, all papers being forwarded to the president. The college sent up in June 14 candidates—10 in business and 4 in shorthand and typewriting. The following is a list of the successful business pupils, with the total marks made, 700 being the maximum and 467 the minimum. Bookkeeping, business penmanship, commercial arithmetic, rapid calculation, commercial arithmetic, rapid calculation, commercial law, business plaper, correspondence, business and office practice and spelling are the subjects embraced in the business course: G. E. Wooldridge, London, 560; B. T. Rapley, Burford, 556; J. A. McNevin, Kippen, 547; W. A. Damen, London, 515; A. T. Wilson, Petrolia, 511; J. V. Langford, London, 500; N. McVicar, Stratheyer, 49; Of the remaining Vicar, Strathroy, 492. Of the remaining three, one secured the required total, but failed in one subject; the others failed on total and in two subjects each. In the shorthand and typewriting department 550 marks are possible, 367 necessary for a pass. The candidate has to write on three tests of 500 words each, five minutes allowed each test. General matter, business let-ters and legal matter; transcribe each test in 45 minutes, properly punctuated, capitalized and spelled; a separate spelling test is required of 100 words, 94 of which have to be correctly spelled:
Miss Edythe Hockin, London, 456; Miss Blanche Brock, London, 422; Miss Blanche Friend, London, 409. The remaining candidate failed in the spelling test, but made over the required min-

Mr. Westervelt, the principal, tells us that in the shorthand department a gold medal is given to the pupil making the best record for the year before the examining board, and a silver medal to the next highest. This year the for-tunate pupils are Miss Edythe Hockin, and Miss Alice Flynn. In the business department a scholarship valued at $45 is offered, the test being the same in each department. This year, Mr. G. E. Wooldridge, of London, and Mr. W. G. Nethercott, of Science Hill, are tied for the prize. Both of these gentlemen are now engaged with prominent business firms in the city. With such a record added to the already long list of notable successes in the line of examinations, we feel that the citizens of London are justly proud of the Forest City Business and Shorthand College, and of the young men and young women who are now entering upon the battle
