AWFUL EXPLOSION

Causing the Death of Twenty or More Persons.

Pueblo, Mex., June 8.—A boiler exploded yesterday in the print works of Norogabros, in Pueblo, causing the death of twenty or more persons, the number not being positively known, as it has been impossible to remove the debris caused by the explosion.

A part of the boiler was carried high in the air and precipitated upon the roof of a house in the neighborhood, killing an old man and three children.

An iron beam from the works was hurled through the roof of another house, carrying away a portion of the front and balcony, and literally burying it. A fireman three blocks from the explosion had his head completely torn off.

LIGHTNING'S WORK.

Ball of Fire Rolled Into a Michigan Sunday School.

Howell, Mich., June 8.—The Presbyterian Church was struck by lightning, while Sunday school was in session. A ball of fire rolled into the gallery, knocking two boys, Vern Ackley and Roy Cook, from their seats. Several girls were shocked.

Pontiac, Mich., June 8.—A bolt of lightning on Sunday split the flagstaff on the high school, throwing the greater part a distance of 300 feet.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging, mostly at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue, tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. Swayne's Ointment stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. All druggists, or by mail 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman Sons & Co., Montreal.

ALARM IN RUSSIA.

London, June 8.—The correspondent of the Times at St. Petersburg says: "The Russian papers show that they are greatly alarmed by the reports that an English firm is about to overhaul the Turkish fleet. They declare that Russia must steadfastly oppose such an extension of English influence."

BAYONET VS. BAYONET.

London, June 8.—The final event of the "bayonet vs. bayonet" bouts, dismounted, at the military tournament in the Agricultural Hall, London, was won by Private Stewart, of Canada, who defeated Private Wasson, of Canada, thus winning the first prize of $25. It will be remembered that on Saturday four Canadians—Stewart, Wasson, Williams and McLean—defeated four members of the New South Wales Mounted Rifles.

JAPAN AND UNCLE SAM.

London, June 8.—The St. James' Gazette, this afternoon, commenting upon the dispute between Japan and Hawaii, which it describes as a "corrupt little republic run by a handful of American filibusters," says: "As Hawaii has no resisting power, the question arises, will the United States Government see its protege through its trouble? The Japanese may land an armed party at any moment. Then what will the Philadelphia do? Japan, since she smashed the Chinese, is believed to be spoiling for a fight with a white power, and she may find America ready to oblige her sooner than she expects."

THE EARTH 20,000,000 YEARS OLD.

London, June 8.—Lord Kelvin, in an address upon the age of the earth as an abode fitted for life, has summed up the evidence into what must be accepted as the latest dictum of science. He affirmed that geologists and biologists no longer consider the question of absolute dates outside their province. The old idea was of a solid earth nearly 20,000,000,000 years old. Modern science makes an immense reduction in this estimate.

He was able to declare with confidence that the earth solidified between 20,000,000 and 30,000,000 years ago. The latest estimate of the time required for the formation of all strata since the beginning of the Cambrian rocks is 17,000,000 years.

Lord Kelvin asserted that the earth could not have been habitable more than 30,000,000 years.

PROGRESS OF RITUALISM IN ENGLAND.

London, June 8.—Since last year's discussion about the possibility of a reunion of the Churches of Rome and England, and the quietus put on the talk by the Pope's decision on the Anglican orders, nothing has been said about the progress of the movement steadily going forward inside the Established Church toward the assimilation of Roman forms. Hardly a word was said about the new Bishop of London displaying a mitre, the first one seen in St. Paul's since the reformation. The annual report of the High Church Union shows now, however, that the daily Eucharist is celebrated in 500 churches; that the incense is used in 337, and that ritualistic vestments are worn in 1,032. A large advance in the employment of the confessional is reported, though the figures are not given, but a regret is expressed that prayers for the dead and extreme unction are not making the headway that could be wished. Much that is being done, however, is not mentioned in these public meetings. Last week at the early morning service in a parish church in the small Sussex town of East Grinstead, were seen twenty nun-clad women of a Church of England order, who, during prayers bowed at the name of Jesus, but knelt at the name of the Virgin Mary. Sixty years ago an indignant "No popery" mob would have smashed up such a performance, and the performers along with it, probably. Of all the changes wrought in the Victorian era, none is more curious and unexpected than this.

NOTES.

It is announced that the Turks have committed serious excesses in Epirus and in the vicinity of Larissa, defiling churches and engaging in general pillage.

A special from Corfu says: M. Zamados, the war minister, is leaving Athens for Lamia. Turkey is still reinforcing Thessaly and the ambassadors are demanding an explanation from the Porte.

FEARS OF A PANIC.

The Queen Apprehensive of Trouble on Jubilee Day.

The New York World's cable dispatches say that the Queen is in an agony of apprehension for fear some terrible accident might mar the celebration of jubilee year, and by her orders Col. Carrington is making daily a most careful survey of the route, with a view to discovering whether there are any points at which a panic might occur or an attack be made on the Queen. The Queen's sight is very bad now, and she wears darkened glasses.

The eight cream ponies which are to draw her landau are being exercised daily in the noisiest, busiest thoroughfares to accustom them to crowds.

Five million visitors are expected, and even the police are nervous, as the route of the procession will only be seven miles long. Only 1,500,000 people can see the procession from the pavement, windows and stands, so that a frightful crush has to be provided against. The whole route will be lined with a double row of soldiers, shoulder to shoulder, while ingress to the route from the sides streets will be controlled by 18,000 policemen. Their places will be taken in the suburbs by 5,000 police pensioners, who are to get $3 pay for the day and night's continuous duty. All vehicular traffic is to be stopped in a great part of inner London from 9 a.m. Tuesday until 7 a.m. Wednesday.

The sale of seats along the line of parade has not been a success. The speculators depended upon Americans to pay big prices. Americans are finding it next to impossible to find accommodations, and are planning to spend the time they had laid out for London on the continent.

An interesting feature of the sale of seats is that every church along the route has built most elaborate stands. In some cases the upper tiers even encroach on the lower part of the spires. St. Martin's-in-the-Fields makes enough by the sale of privileges to pay for a complete and elaborate new interior and the decoration of the church.

The display will be sentimental rather than spectacular. The Indian section will be the most striking of all. Prince Victor Duleep Singh, who would be the Emperor of India if Queen Victoria were not empress, will be in a royal carriage at its head.

Walled Up Alive.

Extraordinary Affair That Occurred in Russia.

Fanatical Sect Sought Salvation by Self-Immolation.

London, June 8.—The Daily News recently sent a special correspondent to investigate the circumstances of the dreadful immuring tragedy near Tirasopol, Southern Russia, where the police recently discovered the bodies of six persons, members of the fanatical sect known as the Raskolniki, who had been walled up alive by Feodor Kovaleff, that they might secure salvation by self-immolation. In his first letter, which is published today, the correspondent says:

"The Emperor Nicholas is taking a strong personal interest in this extraordinary affair. I have not as yet visited the actual scene at Ternofka, but here (Tiraspol) I learn that Kovaleff, the executioner in the tragedy, is quite convinced of the sanctity of his act, and awaits his fate with the utmost indifference. It is probable, however, that he will not be tried, but will be confined in a monastry as a madman, though there is no evidence of insanity.

"One of the chief figures, largely instrumental in this whole terrible drama, was a middle-class, well-educated spinster, Vera Makaveyeva, who, as Sister Vitalia, was a sort of priestess of this fanatical set. She was of commanding figure, with wonderfully lustrous and expressive eyes, an attractive and persuasive eloquence, and an absolute influence over her followers. Last year she predicted the final cataclysm of a misgoverned world. When the census was taken she persuaded the sect that it was ordained that she should take the roll call of those who were to be summoned to the judgment seat. All went to prison for their refusal to give the census particulars. In jail they refused to eat, and they were not liberated until they were almost dead.

"It appears that the wife of Kovaleff was persuaded that the census was intended to compel them all to embrace the orthodox faith, and she determined to sacrifice herself and her children. Kovaleff, who was really among the least fanatical of the sect, sought the audience of Sister Vitalia. The latter commended the mother's laudable sacrificial resolution with such eloquence that Kovaleff consented to wall up his own family and Sister Vitalia with them."

BRITAIN'S BIG TRADE.

The Month of May Shows an Increase of Over $17,000,000.

London, June 8.—The Board of Trade report shows an increase in exports for the month of May of $2,435,000, and an increase in imports of $14,932,000.

GOOD WORDS FOR CANADA.

The Marquis of Lorne Reviews the Progress of Britain's Premier Colony.

London, June 8.—The Marquis of Lorne, son-in-law of Queen Victoria, and former Governor-General of Canada, is the author of a lengthy and eulogistic review of the progress and present position of Canada, published in the Daily Graphic today. Dealing with the vast mining resources of the Dominion, he says: "The half-veiled proposal to repudiate debts owing to the British investors, heard from the platforms of some of Bryan's supporters in the election contest, should make us cherish more than ever the field of investment in our own colonies."

Distress in Cuba.

Appeal on Behalf of the Starving People.

English War Correspondents Released From Jail and Banished.

Gen. Weyler to Stay — The Queen of Spain Supports Canovas.

New York, June 8.—A special from Havana, Cuba, says: An appeal on behalf of the starving and dying reconcentrados in Matanzas, who excited pity in the hearts of Gen. Lee and Mr. Calhoun, has been made to the people of the United States. Since the United States Government has begun measures for the relief of its citizens in Matanzas, the desperate plight of the Cuban reconcentrados there has resulted in a petition, signed by hundreds of them, in which they beg in the name of common humanity that they may be included in the charity. The petition is headed: "An appeal to the United States." It is on its way to Washington.

Wendell Phillips, the Cuban war correspondent of the London Chronicle, was, with several other newspaper men, released from prison at Matanzas yesterday, where he had been confined ten days, on condition that he will leave Cuba and never return. Phillips avoided Spanish censorship by sending his letters to the Chronicle through the British consul at Havana.

Madrid, June 8.—The queen regent has confirmed Senor Canovas, the premier, in his ministerial powers, and the cabinet will remain in office with its personnel and policy unchanged.

The solution of the crisis is a general surprise, as it was thought that the counsels of Marshal Campos, Marshal Blanco and Marshal Dominguez would have inclined the crown toward a radical change of policy in Cuba. It is understood that the government does not contemplate any immediate change in the supreme command in Cuba.

At a Spanish cabinet council, the minister for foreign affairs, the Duke of Tetuan, read a dispatch from Washington, which announced that President McKinley had given assurances of sympathy with Spain.

Havana, June 8.—The Spanish public is delighted at the retention of Canovas as premier. Floods are prevalent in Santiago and Pinar del Rio.

Havana, June 8.—A Spanish captain and two lieutenants were tried by court-martial in La Cabana fortress and sentenced to be shot for cowardice in having, after eleven days' siege, surrendered the Government forts at Cashorro, in Eastern Cuba, to the patriot forces of Gen. Galixto Garcia.

The Plebiscite.

Why the Measure Has Been Postponed Till Next Year.

Premier Laurier's Absence and Opposition to New Franchise Bill the Cause.

The Question Will Be Fairly Presented to the Electors.

Ottawa, June 8.—Sir Richard Cartwright and Messrs. Fisher and Davies were last evening waited upon by a large deputation from the Montreal Conference, now in session here, in regard to the prohibition question.

Mr. W. H. Lambly headed the deputation.

Rev. Dr. Courtice was called upon and made a vigorous speech. He said about a third of the people of Ontario were Methodists, and a very large proportion of the people all over Canada. Some of these people were in the habit of saying that politicians had a way of shelving this question of prohibition. The Royal Commission was regarded as a way of shelving the question. They would not like to fall into that way of looking at the action of the present Government. If the Government took the view that the plebiscite was a proper thing, and had put that in the policy and platform of the party, the Government must go forward. He had thought that the bill for taking the plebiscite would be passed this session, as it was promised in the speech from the throne. They were honestly disappointed that it would not be introduced owing to the absence of the Premier and to political exigencies. They, however, did not desire to jump to hasty conclusions or to blame the Government for deciding to postpone. The fact that this was the jubilee year and that the Premier had been called to the celebration constituted a set of circumstances that were peculiar.

THE TAXATION ISSUE.

As to direct taxation, Dr. Courtice said that it would be a double burden to place upon the prohibitionists the labor of two important campaigns. The whole trend of public thought had been to run away from direct taxation and towards tariffs as a means of raising revenue. Sir Richard Cartwright had spoken out on that matter, but not many public men had the strength and courage to discuss the subject. If the vote was not to be taken this year they desired that the new franchise which the Liberal party were expecting to adopt would govern the vote. If this were not possible the provincial or municipal voters' lists might be used. The worst thing of all would be to fall back on the old Dominion lists.

Mr. Hilliard and Dr. Manley Benson spoke briefly, the latter saying that there was no desire to embarrass the Government, but they held strongly that the question must be presented directly to the people without any other issue.

SIR RICHARD'S REPLY.

Sir Richard Cartwright in his reply said that nothing could be more reasonable or courteous than the action of the deputation in laying their views before the Government. He wished to say that the Government shared with them the disappointment expressed that the plebiscite bill could not be introduced. The Government shared with the deputation also the opinion that it was of great moment that the vote should be taken on a franchise representative of the people. The first step taken this session, before even the tariff had been brought in, was to introduce a franchise bill having a view to the plebiscite. It proved to be a very contentious measure, and the Opposition threatened the Liberals with a dose of their own medicine, and promised to talk till September to keep it from being passed. Again her Majesty's Government earnestly desired the presence of the Premier in London to talk over matters of great importance affecting all the colonies of the empire. The plebiscite bill had been withheld because of these things, but it would most assuredly be introduced at the coming session, which would be called at an earlier date than heretofore.

NO EXTRANEOUS MATTER.

He agreed with the deputation that the vote should not be weighed down with other matters of a political nature. Direct taxation was not an unmixed evil, but there was a great deal of force in the view that it was not fair to ask them to educate the people on a question as to which a good many people were behind as well as on the important question of temperance. The Government were alive to the importance of the matter, and desired to give full and fair play in order that the will of the people should be ascertained.

Mr. Lambly—Then we go away with the assurance that the ballot will not be loaded up with the question of direct taxation?

Sir Richard Cartwright—We do not desire that it shall be mixed up with other questions.

Mr. Lambly—You said political questions.

Sir Richard Cartwright—I fully recognize the force of the arguments presented by you in regard to this measure, and I shall place them carefully before my colleagues. We are fully determined that the plebiscite shall be had, and if the will of the people be in favor of the views of the deputation the Government would apply the legislation.

Mr. Fisher said very emphatically, amid applause, that there was no desire to play fast and loose with the question, and the conclusion not to present the plebiscite bill this session had been reluctantly come to.

Mr. Davies briefly pointed out that Mr. Laurier's personality was greater than that of the leaders in most Governments, and the members from Quebec relied very much upon him. Because of that it was very desirable that he should be in the House when the bill was brought in, because the Government wished to have it considered under the most favorable auspices. The deputation saw the point and left very well pleased.

Disciples' Convention

In Session at St. Thomas—Progress of the Denomination.

How the College Has Grown and Prospered—Interesting Facts and Figures—The Officers.

St. Thomas, June 8.—The Disciples' convention, in session here, opened at 1:30 Saturday afternoon, with devotional exercises, led by A. C. Gray, B.A., now of Hiram, Ohio.

The financial report was presented by the treasurer, John McKinnon, and considering the stringency of the times, was very encouraging. A comparison of the past five years shows that more churches have contributed during the past year than in any previous year, and with the payment of a few unredeemed pledges will enable the board to meet all obligations.

Jas. Tolton, chairman, presented the report of the committee on missions. Financial assistance was promised to Toronto, London, Hamilton, Guelph, Owen Sound, Collingwood, Glencoe, Harwich and Picton.

Prof. T. L. Fowler, president of the Disciples' College, gave a very encouraging detailed account of the institution from the beginning of its history to the present time. The college was instituted in Toronto in 1894. It opened with an enrollment of five students, and a very successful session ensued, in which the students made very marked strides in every department of their study. The Co-operation then it deemed it best to transfer this college to St. Thomas, and on the strength of this the college was opened in the basement of the Church of Christ in this city, Oct. 1, 1895, with an enrollment of fourteen. In the opening term of 1896 the enrollment had grown to 28. The fall session opened on Oct. 1 last, with 28 enrolled, and after the first of 1897 this had grown to 33. The examinations were pleasing both to faculty and students. There were no failures, and the entire school made an average of 81 3-5 per cent, which was far above the failure mark of 50 per cent.

MONDAY MORNING.

Convention opened with the usual devotional exercises. The committee on enrollment reported: Number of churches represented, 46; Sunday schools, 14; Christian Endeavor, 9; Junior Christian Endeavor, 2; life members, 13; annual members, 28; auxiliary (ladies), 7; visitors registered, 81; not registered, 30; total, 180.

Ridgetown sent an invitation to the convention to be held there in June, 1898, which was accepted.

Among other resolutions adopted were the following:

"That we hail with satisfaction the coming plebiscite on prohibition. That we protest against complicating the plebiscite with the fiscal policy of our country."

"That as loyal subjects of the great British Empire we do hereby greatly rejoice that it has pleased God to so graciously spare unto us our noble and gracious Majesty Queen Victoria for the 60 years she has so lovingly governed us, and we do also pray that the continued blessing of the Almighty may rest upon her and hers for a long time to come."

THE OFFICERS.

The committee on nominations recommended that the personnel of the board of management be as follows: President, John Campbell, St. Thomas; vice-president, Thomas Whitehead, Walkerton; recording secretary, J. W. Kilgour, Guelph; corresponding secretary, P. Baker, Everton; treasurer, John McKinnon, Guelph; board, Hugh Black, Rockwood; Wm. Tovell, Everton; Joseph Thompson, Hillsburgh; S. Woolner, Marsville; E. S. Kilgour, Toronto; E. Graham, London. The report was adopted unanimously.

The following members were apointed to attend the annual meeting of the American Missionary Society, to be held in Minneapolis in October this year: James Tolton, Hugh Black; as alternatives, John McKinnon and John Campbell.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the retiring president, Hugh Black, for the many labors of love and devotion he has extended to the Co-operation. Mr. Black replied in very feeling terms.

The convention closed its labors at 12:30, to meet in Ridgetown in June, 1898.

TIPS.

The 22 standard performers by Allerton, 2:09¼ are, with the exception of one, out of dams by standard sires. The exception noted is Bird Allerton, 2:29½, dam Bird, by Mambrino Royal, who was one of the first foals sired by Allerton.

The famous old race track at Goshen, N. Y., is just now the center of attraction for match races. The latest contest, arranged for 2-year-olds, is between E. H. Harriman's bay filly, Sindalia, by Stamboul, and James H. Cooke's filly, Belcka, by Potential. The match is for $1,000 a side, and will be trotted on Tuxedo day.

A horse may trace to every sire of note found within the covers of the Year Book, and still be a complete failure. There is a young stallion in whose pedigree can be found the names of five or six mares that are the dams of over 30 standard performers, and yet the colt is about as poor a piece of property—in the horse line—as one can well imagine.—Western Horseman.

Among the horsemen there seems to be a growing feeling against the starting gate. Some want to return to the old system, of breaking in motion. Others in the majority believe that the gate is a vast improvement over the old methods. So long as horses must be ridden by jockeys, just so long will the horses act badly at the post. It has been noticed hundreds of times that a field at the post will be restive, dancing here and there, seemingly without a chance of lining up and getting away. Suddenly some girth needs tightening and a jockey dismounts. Then comes a transformation. The restive field is at once changed into a quiet, docile lot of horses, seemingly quite easy to manage. Once the dismounted jockey is again ready for business the dancing recommences. Nine times out of ten bad starts are due to the jockeys and not to the starter or the machines. This has been proven often.—Exchange.

THE WOODSTOCK CLUB.

The Woodstock Quoit Club decided to open the annual tournament on Monday, Aug. 9. The following are the officers for the year: Honorary president, James Sutherland, M.P., and Andrew Pattullo, M.P.P.; president, M. Virtue; first vice-president, Wm. Farrell; second vice-president, D. Grey; secretary, James Forbes; treasurer, P. Irving; committee, George Vance, L. Walper, J. Collins, Geo. Douglas, R. Floyd, B. Miller, V. L. Francis, John Horseman; official scorer, W. G. Mackay. The annual report of the directors showed the club to be in flourishing condition. One clause reads: "The playing of the members has greatly improved. As an evidence of that one of our number is now holding under his fostering care the championship medal of the county of Oxford."

WHEEL.

MICHAEL UNDER THE BAN.

Cambridge, Mass., June 8.—It is now certain that James Michael, the champion long-distance bicyclist, will have to cease racing in this country unless he settles with the English authorities at once, a cable having been received to that effect. It will be remembered that he was suspended by the National Cyclists' Union of England, and it was supposed that this suspension had been raised. In consequence Michael has been racing recently all over New England.

SPOKES.

Wheelmen in New York are now petitioning for seats to be placed along the boulevards for the accommodation of the tired rider.

Two bicycles can be solidly coupled together by a newly-patented coupler, consisting of three X braces, one set being attached to the rear hubs and the lower braces of the wheels near the crank shafts, a second from the back upright braces near the top to the heads, and the third set across the heads of the machine.

Rev. J. Randolph is the pastor of Shiloh Baptist Church, Trenton, N. J., and somewhat surprised the members of his flock by announcing that next Sunday he would establish a bicycle-checking system in the lobby of the church for the convenience of men and women, and furthermore he solicited the members of his congregation to appear in bicycle costume, as he believed that "the bicycle was a gift from God."

CRICKET.

OXFORD VS. PHILADELPHIA.

Oxford, England, June 8.—The visiting team of the Philadelphia Club faced an eleven of the Oxford University Cricket Club. The wicket was in good condition. F. H. Cunliffe and J. C. Hartley, of the Oxford team, are considered the best amateur bowlers in England. Bardswell, captain of the Oxfords, was unable to play because of a sprained thumb. Christ Church College cricket ground, on which the match was played, is the only ground here where gate money may be charged, and the present match is the only one of the season of 1897 where the university dons will allow money to be takes. Oxford won the toss, and made 363 runs.

THE OIL BOOM.

Extending from Bothwell Toward Oil City—Numerous New Wells Struck.

Bothwell, June 8.—The oil boom which has recently been revived here bids fair to extend over all the field lying between Bothwell and Oil Springs. The wells which are being struck almost every day now in the vicinity of Bothwell are not in the same district as the old wells, the position of the wells now being southeast of the town. There are now some 60 or 90 wells in the immediate neighborhood which are averaging about 80 barrels each per day. This gives employment to some 85 or 100 men, and Bothwell is a much busier town as a result.

In addition the department takes charge of nine creameries which have been in operation, but have fallen into financial difficulties. The creameries are located at South Edmonton, Wetaskiwin, Red Deer, Innisfal, Calgary, Maple Creek, Moosejaw, Regina, Prince Albert, Qu'Appelle, Indian Head, Wolseley, Grenfell, Whitewood, Moosomin and Yorkton.

GIANT FIR TREES.

They Will Advertise British Columbia in England.

Vancouver, June 8.—Mr. J. Sprott, superintendent of roads for the district of New Westminster, has just received, for immediate consignment to Kew Gardens, London, England, the great botanical, horticultural and forestry display center, officially maintained by the British Government, a splendid cross section of one of British Columbia's giant Douglas firs. The section measures 6 feet 9½ inches in diameter, and is without knot or blemish. The fir, whence it came, stood 268 feet high, and the selected specimen was sawn at a point 11 feet from the base. The tree grew in the valley of the Squamish in the Vancouver coast district. This section of giant fir will, at Kew Gardens, be seen during each year, by several hundred thousand visitors, including botanical and forestry experts from all parts of the world, and should, together with the giant flagstaff of Douglas fir which is to float the Canadian flag over the rifle shooting camp at Bisley this year, give Englishmen a better notion of the magnificent timber of the Dominion Pacific Province.

Our fire department were out for practice and testing new hose Friday evening. Everything was very satisfactory, and it would seem to be next to impossible for a fire to make any headway in the face of our waterworks and the excellent fire brigade.

We regret to say that Mr. Wm. Ewing, late of the firm of Ewing & Sons, grocers, is confined to his bed, and little hope can be entertained for his recovery.

Mr. David McKenzie, tax collector, who has been ill for the past six weeks, is improving, but not as fast as his many friends would like to see.

Mr. Harry Angle, ticket clerk at our station, is in Wyoming, relieving the agent there, Mr. Myine, who is sick.

A cricket club has been formed here which promises to make it very interesting for outside cricketers the coming season.

The different committees appointed are working like tigers, and on July 1 and 2 Petrolea will see two of the biggest days she has witnessed for a long time. There will be band concerts, balloon ascensions, fancy drill, baseball, fireworks, and a grand display from our waterworks, just completed. Everybody welcome.

Yesterday (Sunday) about 30 of our citizens took a spin to Sarnia on their wheels, but before they were ready to return home a heavy rain storm set in, and fortunately Mr. Carson happened to be in Point Edward with his engine, getting it cleaned out. Mr. Frank Riddle, of the Imperial Oil Company, has been making several improvements on his residence on Princess street, such as painting, bay windows, etc., which add greatly to the appearance of the building.

Rev. A. A. Graham, B.A., preached in the Presbyterian Church last Sunday, and made a very good impression on the congregation.

Considerable talk is going on just now in regard to the county buildings, which at present are situated in Sarnia. The general opinion is new buildings are badly needed, but it seems strange why they should be located in Sarnia, which is in one corner of the county, and considerable dissatisfaction is expressed. Petrolea is the center of the county, and easily reached from all parts via two railroads. Many think it will be a great injustice to the residents of this county if the county buildings are not situated in our flourishing oil town.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

The regular meeting of the Petrolea Public School Board was held Thursday evening, all the members present, with Mr. Buchanan in the chair.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid: F. W. Stone, 50 cents; B. F. Hathaway, $10; James McCairn, $2 50; R. A. Jones, $2 17; John Buchanan, $2 63; W. Kelly, 50 cents; John Smith, $1; Wm. Van Camp, $1; Globe Furniture Company, $24; J. Knight, $9 25; Dawson & Greenizen, $15; R. C. Johnston, $7 50; J. & J. Kerr, $17 25; Baptist Church, rent, $10. The acounts of Vantuyl & Fairbank and B. Colborne were laid over, not being properly vouched for.

Communications were received as follows: From W. E. Langford, tendering his resignation as secretary-treasurer of the board. From Oliver Simmons, James Cochrane and T. Vandelinder, applying for the position of secretary-treasurer. All were laid over for one month.

The principal's report was read, showing attendance for May averaged: Girls, 473; boys, 490; total, 963. This report shows 77 of an increase over the same month last year.

Dr. McAlpine then addressed the board in regard to diphtheria being in our midst. The board did not consider it to be of sufficient importance that the schools should be closed, but Maude street school was ordered to be disinfected.

Several minor matters took up the remainder of the time till adjournment.

SENSATION IN WASHINGTON.

Attempted Murder and Successful Suicide by a Patent Attorney.

Washington, June 8.—The throng of Government clerks and others hurrying up Pennsylvania avenue about nine o'clock Monday morning were startled by the attempted murder of Miss Dorothy E. Squires and the suicide of Chas. Barber, a patent attorney who had gained much notoriety of late by his eccentric actions. Barber shot Miss Squires and then turning the revolver on himself put a pistol bullet through his brain causing almost instant death.

Miss Squires was shot in the back of the head, but the wound probably will not result so seriously.

Barber had considerable patent practice, but had been growing more and more eccentric for several years and of late many of his friends had thought him mentally unbalanced.

Miss Squires formerly worked for Barber as a stenographer and upon leaving his employ he annoyed her with his attentions, threatening to injure her if she did not permit him to call. Finally the matter became so serious that she had to appeal to the courts for protection and he was placed under bonds to keep the peace. Barber came to Washington from Plattsburg, N. Y., and was associated in a few cases with the late Ben Butler, of Massachusetts, the one time presidental candidate.

At Cacouna, Que., on Friday night, the store of Mr. Sirosis was destroyed by fire. A little daughter of Mr. Sirosis was burned to death. Mr. Sirosis himself, his clerk and a farmer were badly burned.

Last Day of Conference

Good Showing Made by Alma College.

Strong Appeals to the Denomination for Its Support.

The Prohibition Plebiscite and the Action of the Ontario Liquor License Law Discussed.

MONDAY AFTERNOON.

Rev. Dr. Carman presided over the London Methodist Conference during the early part of the session. A letter from Principal Austin, of Alma College, respecting his resignation, was read by the secretary Prof. Warner, at present secretary of the college, but who has been appointed to succeed Rev. Mr. Austin in the principalship, then read the sixteenth annual report, which was particularly gratifying as to the work accomplished during the year, and the number of students in attendance. One notable feature was the large proportion of students from denominations other than the Methodist. One-half of the patronage was from other churches. The total attendance was 134—an increase of 10 over the preceding year. Of this total, 43 were day students. The graduating class numbered 13. Twenty students came from the United States. During the sixteen years the college had been established, the contributions had amounted to $63,000. The report contained a strong appeal for the sympathy and co-operation of the conference. Prof. Warner added expressions of deep regret at the loss to the school of Principal Austin.

Colin McDougall, Q.C., of St. Thomas, one of the board of managers, also spoke of the work at the college. It was a purely Methodist institution, but the attendance of people of other denominations showed that there was no proselytism there. Still, it was denominational, and the speaker would not be so favorable to it if it were not. He highly praised the work of the institution.

Secretary Salton, of St. Thomas, was another member of the deputation. He emphasized the fact that the college was controlled entirely by the Methodist Church, and therefore the members of the conference should be as loyal to it as to any of the other denomination's institutions.

On motion of Dr. Hannon and Rev. J. Philp, a resolution was passed expressing hearty sympathy and co-operation in the work of the college and regret that Principal Austin had seen fit to resign his position. The resolution congratulated the board of management on such an appropriate appointment as that of Prof. Warner to the charge of the institution.

Rev. G. F. Salton was chosen as representative on the board for the year.

Rev. Walter Rigsby, secretary of the temperance committee, again read the committee's report, which had been laid over from Saturday for discussion, and discussion was not lacking.

To the first clause, previously published, and which expresses the opinion that the Dominion plebiscite on the question of prohibition should not be complicated with any other issue, Mr. Wm. Bowman offered an amendment, to add the following: "Inasmuch as this is in accord with the sentiments expressed by Hon. Wilfrid Laurier when waited upon at Stratford in June, 1896, by a deputation from this conference, on which occasion he said, 'Up to this moment that question has never been approached by the electors free from other considerations. Whenever it has been submitted it has always been submitted with others that affect the public mind. We deem it wiser to separate it from all other considerations, and test public feeling on the matter, and that we shall do when we come into office, as we believe we shall.'"

The vote was taken, but was undecisive, and Rev. Mr. Gundy called attention to the weak vote.

Mr. McKenzie said before he voted he wished to know how they were going to vote for the quotation.

Mr. Bowman said he was one of the deputation, and remembered Mr. Laurier to have voiced the sentiments expressed in the quotation.

Rev. Mr. McDonagh, also one of the deputation, said he was likewise convinced.

Rev. Mr. Gundy, the other member of the deputation, said that when he saw, on the day after the interview, the newspaper report from which the quotation was taken, he noticed that those were the words used. The temperance people ought not to relax one iota. They ought to stand by men who were willing to stand by their pledges. But if they were to whiffle and waver the politicians would say the temperance people did not care about their demands.

Rev. Mr. Fansher raised the question as to what was meant by other considerations. Did they refer to questions of revenue or of a political nature?

Mr. Rigsby—We do not know what Mr. Laurier meant, but we do know what the committee means.

The clause was again voted upon, and this time carried almost unanimously.

The next clause that was objected to related to the question of a deficit in revenue resulting from a prohibitory law.

Rev. Mr. McDonagh thought they should not admit that there would be a deficit.

President Bond suggested that it be put in problematically instead of emphatically. The resolution might read, "In case it be found necessary to discuss the question of a deficit."

Mr. Rigsby held that though there was no fear of the ultimate outcome they must recognize that there would be a deficit in revenue, and their opponents would force them to meet that question.

Mr. Haynes agreed in this. To say there would not be a deficit would simply indicate that we shut our eyes to that fact or are not willing to admit it. We can fairly argue that it will be met the same as all other deficits.

Rev. Mr. Baker moved to strike out the clause.

The chairman ruled that the motion was negative and should not be submitted, but upon pressure he did so, and it carried by a large majority.

The following clause, "We also note with pleasure that a slightly larger measure of restriction has been added to the Ontario License Act, and have reason to believe that the electorate of Ontario is quite ready to support more stringent legislation," was substituted by this: "We cannot but express our dissatisfaction with the legislation of the Ontario License Act, it being only in one direction a slightly larger measure of restriction than before. The temperance sentiments of our church, as presented to the Premier, having been by the said act all but ignored, and the main evils of the system still continue in full force."

Mr. Gundy seconded, and said that although they were very thankful for the restrictions that had been placed by the Government, there was a feeling of disappointment that the restrictions did not meet the requirements. Laid over.

Rev. W. H. Butt presented the report of the contingent fund, and was re-elected secretary. The following were elected members of the examining board: Revs. C. T. Scott S. Bond, A. L. Russell, G. Cobbledick, J. R. Gundy, W. G. H. McAllister, J. Wilson, G. W. Brown, J. Philp and W. Williams. Adjourned.

MINISTERIAL SESSION.

In the ministerial session the following young men are continued as probationers this year:

Ridgetown district—Joseph Coulter.

St. Thomas—J. E. Millyard, T. A. Steadman.

Probationers of one year—Wm. J. Mortimer, H. A. Graham, W. A. Smith, A. Rapson and S. L. Tole.

F. Fansher, a probationer of one year, asked for letters of standing, and his request was granted.

MISSIONARY.

The conference missionary anniversary was held last night at the Dundas Center Church, and was largely attended. Rev. J. W. Holmes, of Mitchell, presided.

Rev. Byron Snell, who was ordained last Sunday morning, spoke on behalf of the Students' Missionary Society. He described the origin and work of the movement, and earnestly and ably urged the young people of all the churches to take up the work. In the St. Thomas district, over which he had recently traveled, the membership was 1,629. The society asks a unity of prayer, for some mission field, the reading of the missionary library, and systematic giving—2 or 3 cents a week.

Mrs. Gordon Wright, representing the London Conference of the Women's Missionary Society, was cordially received. She said the work did not need any introduction, it had become such an established branch of the church work. From a small beginning sixteen years ago they were now able to state in their annual report that the society had 663 auxiliaries, with 14,600 members. They supported 32 missionaries, and the year's income was $38,747. Japan was their first field, and Miss Cartnell the pioneer missionary. Mrs. Wright made a most pathetic reference to the death of Miss Jennie Ford in China on May 17. The speaker urged the need of proportionate and systematic giving. Fifty-one auxiliaries had adopted this plan, and put superintendents in charge. Referring to the need of home missions, Canada's contributions to the foreign missionary work in a year would not pay her liquor bill for four days. She appealed to the ministry, as they had presented an unbroken front, to stand firm against all inroads, and see that the plebiscite vote should be a straight issue. Mrs. Wright gave a touching description of the work of the rescue homes on the Pacific coast, and made a telling appeal for support.

DR. ANTLIFF.

Rev. Dr. Antliff, a former pastor of Dundas Center Church, but at present connected with the Wesleyan Theological College of Montreal, was warmly greeted by his many old friends, who formed a large part of the congregation. He spoke of some of the general principles of missionary effort. Their purpose was in harmony with the New Testament. He believed it possible to civilize without Christianizing, but it was not possible to Christianize without producing the fruits of civilization. It was not their purpose to promote trade, yet statistics showed that the money expended had been a first-class investment, even from that sordid aspect. So that incidentally those ends were accomplished better than without Christianity. Man's condition is a lost one, and he must have light. Still there was another principle. All men are redeemable. None so degraded but the Gospel could uplift. The speaker could not believe that those without the law would be judged by the law. He could not think that some of the great heroes of the heathen world would be eternally lost. Salvation from all sin for all sinners, and just now, was the basis of their doctrine. These he termed some of the theoretical principles of missionary effort. A practical principle was that we are responsible for others—we are debtors to all men. He emphasized the urgent need of home missionary work. True charity begins at home, but if it stops there it will get rheumatism. Referring to the need of Quebec, he said there were 30,000 Protestants in Quebec and the United States who owed their religious liberty to the missionary agencies of Protestants in the French province. It was difficult to conceive of the ostracism which converts to the Protestant faith suffered there. Within the past two years a man had secured legal judgment against another for between $200 and $300 because he had been called a Methodist. But a change was taking place. The recent elections showed there was a restiveness under the heel of Rome.

Turning then to foreign fields, Dr. Antliff spoke in words of warmest praise of the work conducted by other denominations.

DR. HENDERSON.

Rev. Dr. Henderson, of Toronto, began by giving a history of the missionary movement from the early days of Christianity leading up to the present day. There are 6,000 missionaries now at work in various fields. Christianity alone holds in her hands the only solution for all industrial and social problems. We are approaching a great social crisis. As Carlyle would say, "We are shooting Niagara." The world could not realize the awful depth from which the human race had been raised by the power of Christianity. The very soul of all improvement is the improvement of the soul. "The supreme cause of hard times is overproduction," said Dr. Henderson. "Send missionaries to foreign fields and make an outlet. Open up Africa and Asia, and it will add untold millions to the commercial receipts of civilized nations." To the missionaries the world was indebted for much of its geographical information. "Their biography is creating a new literature, their example a new human race," said the eloquent doctor. The heroism, the spirit of martyrdom, was worth more than all that had been paid. He did not believe the church was in touch with the burning enthusiasm of the age. The pendulum of existence never oscillated more violently than it does at the present time.

In a magnificent peroration the speaker stated that he believed Christ's second coming was near at hand.

A selection by the church quartet and a solo by Mr. Carroll were agreeable features of the evening.

The great lung healer is found in that excellent medicine sold as Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and air passages, and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hoarseness, pain, or soreness of the chest, bronchitis, etc. It has cured many when supposed to be far advanced in consumption.

RAILWAY RUMBLINGS.

M. C. R. Employes to Run an Excursion to the Falls—New Coaches.

The employes of the Akron, Bedford and Cleveland Railroad, at Akron, Ohio, were notified that their wages will be increased from 17 to 20 cents per hour.

The employes of the Michigan Central Railway will again run their annual excursion to Niagara Falls. The committee in charge are determined that theirs shall be the excursion of the season, and are sparing neither time nor trouble to insure a pleasant day to their excursionists to the great gorge.

Something new in railway coaches has been on exhibition at the Windsor station, Montreal, where it was inspected by the Canadian Pacific Railway officials. The new car, which was built at the Hochelaga shops, is a compartment, or rather stateroom, car, and is intended for C. P. R. transcontinental travel, connecting with the Empress steamers of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Victoria. The coach, in addition to having an "observation" end with tables and chairs, and a place for heavy baggage and the porters' quarters at the other end, has four staterooms, two of which are en suite. The staterooms are separated from each other by partitions of oak. Each stateroom has its own lavatory. The staterooms are all on the same side of the car, the passageway through the coach being at the side, not down through the middle. The whole is most handsomely finished, and will make the long trip across the continent as luxurious as it can be made. It is the intention of the railway company to build four such cars.

DEATH OF SCHLATTER, THE HEALER.

Denver, Col., June 8.—A special from El Paso, Texas, says that Francis Schlatter, who claimed to perform miracles by divine power, was recently found dead in the foothills 35 miles southwest of Casagrade, in the State of Chihuahua, Mexico. He had been fasting, and apparently starved to death. While in Denver, from Aug. 22 to Nov. 12, 1895, about 200,000 people visited Schlatter to receive treatment.

A Baby's Perilous Sail

On the Waters of the Erie Canal.

The Mother's Frantic Efforts to Save Her Little One—Two Brave School Boys.

Lyons, N. Y., June 8.—Mrs. Saxon G. Palmeter called upon Mrs. N. D. Hatch here, and left her 18 months' old daughter Marguerite in a perambulator on the street. A gust of wind caught up the perambulator, and blew it down the hill into the Erie Canal. The child was thrown out, and its clothing spread out on the water, and the child floated.

Some children alarmed Mrs. Palmeter who rushed down and jumped into the canal. Her splashing in the water carried the child to the middle of the canal. Mrs. Palmeter struggled frantically to reach her baby, but would have drowned, had not Michael Henry and Edward Roberts, two school boys, jumped in after her. She was going down the second time when she was pulled out of the canal. Little Marguerite was rescued after considerable effort none the worse for her trip on the canal.

PROCLAMATION:

ABERDEEN.
CANADA.

VICTORIA, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, QUEEN, Defender of the Faith, etc., etc., etc.

To all to whom these presents shall come or whom the same may in anywise concern,—GREETING:

A PROCLAMATION.

O. MOWAT, Attorney-General, Canada.

WHEREAS, it seems to Us fitting that a day should be set apart for the purpose of affording Our loving subjects, the people of Canada, an opportunity of celebrating the sixtieth anniversary of Our accession in such a manner as to manifest their devoted attachment to Our Throne and Person, and their thankfulness for the prosperity which, under the blessing of Almighty God, they have enjoyed during Our reign:

NOW KNOW YE, that We, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council for Canada, have thought fit to appoint, and do appoint, TUESDAY, the TWENTY-SECOND day of June, A. D. 1897, to be observed throughout Our Dominion as a day of general thanksgiving and rejoicing on the occasion of Our Diamond Jubilee.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent and the Great Seal of Canada to be hereunto affixed. WITNESS, Our Right Trusty and Right Well-Beloved Cousin and Councillor, the Right Honorable SIR JOHN CAMPBELL HAMILTON-GORDON, Earl of Aberdeen, Viscount Formartine, Baron Haddo, Methlic, Tarves and Kellie, in the Peerage of Scotland; Viscount Gordon of Aberdeen, County of Aberdeen, in the Peerage of the United Kingdom; Baronet of Nova Scotia, Knight Grand Cross of Our Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, etc., etc., Governor-General of Canada.

At Our Government House, in Our City of OTTAWA, in Our said Dominion, this TWENTIETH day of APRIL, in the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, and in the sixtieth year of Our reign.

By command,
R. W. SCOTT,
Secretary of State.

The Opposition Leader in London.

James Pliny Whitney, barrister, Morrisburg, leader of the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature, opened his campaign in London last night, addressing a meeting in the Music Hall, along with his lieutenants, Messrs. Matheson, of Lanark, Miscampbell, of Simcoe, and Magwood, of Perth.

Mr. Whitney is a fluent talker, a plausible arguer, but not even his friends will say that he is a man of the ability of Wm. R. Meredith, who attempted the task that he now essays, and failed. Indeed, Mr. Whitney consoled his friends in his address last night with the assurance that if he failed to displace the Liberal Administration at the ensuing general elections, better men have failed.

The address of the Opposition leader was mainly a series of complaints. He lamented that the Ontario Government had not conducted the affairs of this province on the lines followed out by a Dominion Conservative leader. Instead of that being regarded as a fault by the large majority of the electors of Ontario, it will be placed to the credit of the Liberal Administration of Ontario that its policy was not on the lines of the late Conservative Administration of the Dominion. Mr. Whitney's leaders at Ottawa, whose policy he thinks should be our model in Ontario, gave away the timber limits of the country to their political friends on their own terms. The Liberal Government of Ontario sells every stick of timber that it disposes of by public auction to the highest bidder. It was an unfortunate suggestion that Mr. Whitney, in the exuberance of his admiration for his party friends at Ottawa, permitted himself to make.

Mr. Whitney makes another peculiar complaint against the Government. It is that where the Opposition members have shown a wrong to exist, the Administration have applied the remedy. Because of this readiness to perfect the management of public affairs, even on the advice of a political opponent, Mr. Whitney intends that his policy shall not be made public till after he gets into power! Then, Mr. Whitney, the public will be a long time in the dark. Mr. Whitney complains of the expense of public school education, but he is surely aware that the people manage their own schools and control their municipal exchequers. He says there are too many examinations, and that the Minister of Education is responsible. There are today far fewer examinations than there were in the days of Dr. Ryerson; the policy of the Government, indeed, is to discourage multiplicity of examinations.

Mr. Whitney cavilled at the record of the Government with regard to the administration of the license law. Does he not know the variety of policies which his party has proposed in the Legislature? Will he now tell the province what the policy of his party is with regard to the liquor traffic? He refused to give the Legislature any information on the subject. Perhaps he means to treat the people whose support he seeks in a similar manner. The public like a courageous man.

Ever since the present Government took office, the Opposition have alleged that we were on the eve of direct taxation—that the province was spending too much. When asked in the House where the expenditures should be curtailed, they have generally been unable to point to an item that could fairly be cut off. Take the management of our public institutions. There is not one of them that is not more economically managed than similar institutions in other provinces, or in the adjoining states. And Dr. Tuke, the Australian expert, who visited this country some time ago, asserted that the Ontario asylums for the insane were the best equipped and the most economically managed of the many that he had inspected in both the old and the new world. We believe that with careful management of our forest resources, the day of direct taxation in this province is in the far distant future. Whether the forests are to be managed on the economical, careful lines laid down by the Ontario Government, or are to be controlled on lines laid down by men more anxious for the success of the Conservative leaders at Ottawa than for the welfare of this province, remains for the electors to say. As vitally interested in the welfare of this great province, we do not doubt that their verdict will be for Canada First!

Commend us to Mr. Huddart, the steamboat line promoter, as a man of assurance. He is not at all well pleased with the Canadian and British Governments for arranging with Petersen, Tait & Co., for an ocean steamship service, and he asserts: "I believe if Canada is to receive a fast Atlantic service she will receive it through me, or it will be deferred indefinitely."

The False Information Sender.

Persons who think it a good joke to send bogus news to newspapers, with the intention of injuring their neighbors, apparently do not understand the risk that they run; but if caught in their malicious transactions a plea of ignorance would be no excuse for them. Under section 429 of the Dominion Criminal Code, it is enacted that "everyone is guilty of an indictable offense and liable to two years' imprisonment who, with intent to injure or alarm any person, sends, causes or procures to be sent, any telegram or letter or other message containing matter which he knows to be false." Those who are tempted to write bogus marriage notices, or to write other false information about their neighbors, ought to reflect on the risk they run. No one would seriously endeavor to save from the penitentiary the man or woman who would engage in despicable business of this kind.

The Rochester Express says that in the City of Mexico first-class American butter is sold at retail at 56 cents a pound. Canadians ought to take a share of that gilt-edged trade

The Two Policies.

Mr. Magwood, M.P.P., complained at the Ontario Opposition meeting last night that the policy of the Government has for years been a continuous one. In that respect it is unlike the policy of Mr. Magwood's friends. For one campaign, as we all know, the Ontario Conservative policy was founded on "Facts for Irish Electors," when the cry was that the Irish had not been properly treated by the Administration—that not enough of Catholics were in public office. That cry, ill-founded as it was, failed. Then Mr. Magwood's friends tried an opposite tack. They asserted that the Catholic population had been too generously treated—they were opposed to making separate schools more efficient, and they made a campaign against the Government of Ontario on an anti-Catholic cry. That outcry being equally ill-founded, the Opposition were worsted. Now they are in great trouble as to how to shout, and their former supporters in the constituencies are at their wits' end to know how to assail the Administration. Some of the leaders argue that all past "principles" advocated by the Ontario Conservatives should be declared hereby left alone, and the simple formula presented, "We want the offices." In view of this extraordinary condition of affairs in the leadership of the Opposition, it is interesting to note that the men in power are steadily proceeding with their policy of effectively aiding in the development of the great natural industries of the province—the agricultural, mining and timber-growing. On the prosperity of these callings depends the welfare of all the others.

The Canada Baptist, in its notice of the recent convention of that denomination in London, says:

"London is an ideal convention city. Its broad avenues, extensive parks, gardens, terraces, and trees, are now in all the glory of spring verdure, and all the appointments of this city of 35,000 people are most inviting. In all directions around the city, there spreads the broad acreage of one of the most fertile districts of Ontario."

Strangers are always charmed with London. No more agreeable place in which to live, do business, or spend a holiday is to be found on the continent.

A Cry for Praise.

Among the complaints made by Mr. Whitney, Opposition leader, at last night's meeting in London, was one to the effect that while the newspapers supporting the Government had always had high praise for the Ministers, the newspapers supporting the Opposition had no warm praise for himself and his friends.

This is very sad, and we hope that our city contemporary the Free Press will proceed at once to gratify Mr. Whitney and his associates in the manner craved by him.

If Mr. Whitney reflects a little, he will probably reach the conclusion that he and his friends may be blameworthy.

The trouble is for the press of the country to know just who the Opposition leaders are.

When Mr. Meredith was leader, of course he was known to all. He was succeeded by Mr. Marter, who was praised as heaven-born by the Opposition press. But he held office for a brief year, and then was dropped out of sight, though he still sits in the House.

In the last Provincial campaign in this city, Dr. Ryerson and Mr. Howland and Mr. E. E. Sheppard were brought here as prospective Conservative Ministers. Mr. Whitney now introduces in their places Messrs. Magwood, Miscampbell and Matheson.

With so much of the hide-and-seek about the Opposition leaders and their policies, Conservative editors may be pardoned if they remain somewhat non-committal.

The following companies are incorporated this week, showing that new enterprises are being gone on with in various parts of Ontario:

The Brantford Water Chute Company, capital $2,000, in $50 shares.

The Windsor Specialty Manufacturing Company, capital $10,000, in $10 shares.

The Ontario Mercantile Agency, capital $2,000, in $2 shares.

The Patent Cloth Board Company of Parry Sound, capital $100,000, in $100 shares.

The Harrison Flax Manufacturing Company, capital $6,000, in $20 shares.

The Sturgeon Falls Pulp Company, capital $100,000, in $100 shares.

The Wingham Farmers' Flax Company, capital $7,500, in $25 shares.

The American Remedy Company of Ontario, capital $1,000,000, in $10 shares.

Not Overpaid.

One of the speakers at last night's Opposition meeting in London complained that too much money was paid to the men who conduct the Ontario Agricultural College. It is doubtful if any more money is paid to the energetic staff who are charged with promoting the staple industry of the province than is necessary to retain their services. We do know that when the late Dominion Government desired to appoint a dairy commissioner at Ottawa they chose one of these over-paid Ontario officials and paid him some $2,000 a year more than he was being paid by the Government now denounced as extravagant. It is also well within the knowledge of many people in this province that expert teachers at the Guelph farm have been taken away by States governments over the border, and given much larger salaries than they could get here.

The college, under the oversight of Hon. John Dryden, is doing a good work for Ontario agriculture. It has produced most important results in the development of the cheese and butter industries, and our progressive farmers have not been slow to avail themselves of its aid.

TYPHOID EPIDEMIC AT RAT PORTAGE.

Winnipeg, Man., June 8.—The provincial health authorities have received information that there are at present 97 cases of typhoid fever at Rat Portage. Seventeen fever patients from that place are now in the General Hospital here. The chairman of the health board has notified the authorities of the hospital of the danger of infection to other patients and attendants. He has also notified the railway authorities of the danger involved in carrying fever patients on cars, and the mayor and health officer of Rat Portage have been notified that no more will be admitted to the General Hospital here.

MINE DISASTER.

Gas Explosion—300 Men Barely Escape With Their Lives—Several Injured.

Monongahela, Penn., June 8.—By an explosion of gas in the Black Diamond mine of the Brown Coal Company, two miles south of here, several men were injured and 300 barely escaped with their lives. The explosion occurred about 7 o'clock, and a rescuing party went immediately into the mine and all of the men were taken out before they were overcome by the deadly after-damp.

CAREFULLY MANAGED.

Good Showing Made by the Merchants and the Montreal Banks.

Montreal, June 8.—The Merchants' Bank has issued a report of the year's business. The net profits of the year, after payment of interest and changes, and deducting appropriations for bad and doubtful debts, have amounted to $542,439 92. The balance from last year amounts to $79,277 30, making a total of $621,717 22. This has been disposed of as follows: Dividend No. 56, at the rate of 8 per cent per annum, $240,000; dividend No. 57, at the rate of 8 per cent per annum, $24,000; total, $840,000. Amount carried forward to profit and loss account of next year, $141,717 22.

At the Bank of Montreal's annual meeting, which was held yesterday, satisfactory reports of the year's business was presented. General Manager Clouston, in addressing the shareholders, took a hopeful view of the situation, but urged extreme caution. Senator Drummond urged the necessity of a staple fiscal policy. The old board of directors was re-elected.

ELEVATOR'S BIG DROP.

Six Persons Injured in New York Postoffice.

New York, June 8.—The elevator on the Park row side of the postoffice, used for carrying freight and employes, fell from the fifth floor to the basement yesterday. The accident was caused by the breaking of the elevator rope.

The injured: Capt. J. J. Cox, postoffice examiner, internal injuries; Geo. W. Daly, postoffice clerk, internal injuries; John Murphy, laborer, broken ankle and other injuries; Joseph Luffer, broken back; Thomas McGovern, Brooklyn, broken back; Frank Birdsall, railway postal clerk, broken leg.

LOSS ABOUT $20,000.

Waterford, Ont., Has a Scorcher—Several Buildings in Ashes

Waterford, Ont., June 8.—Early yesterday morning it was found that the store belonging to Henry Serles, and occupied by W. C. Lundy & Co., general merchants, was in flames. Soon the adjoining buildings caught fire. Henry Teeters' hotel and barns, Wm. Perkins' shoe shop, and a house occupied by Mrs. Pickhaver were also totally destroyed.

The fire started in the oil room of Lundy's store. It is the general opinion that it was set on fire, as there had been no fire there for some days. Total loss about $20,000; insurance on Lundy's stock, $4,000, and $1,000 on the building; Teeter's, $2,000; others not insured.

COLLISION IN THE THAMES.

The Ystroom Foundered and Two Passengers Drowned.

London, June 8.—The steamers Bittern and Ystroom, both bound for Amsterdam, collided in the Thames early Sunday morning. The Ystroom foundered, two of her passengers being drowned. The remainder of her passengers and her crew were taken on board the Bittern, which was damaged. The Bittern's second officer and carpenter were drowned.

EARTHQUAKE IN IOWA.

Lansing, Iowa, June 8.—An earthquake startled many citizens of Lansing between 4 and 5 a.m. yesterday. The shock, which lasted several seconds, was accompanied by a rumbling noise heard at Waukon, eighteen miles away.

Instantly stops the most excruciating pains, allays inflammation and cures congestions, whether of the Lungs, Stomach, Bowels or other glands or mucous membranes.

Radway's Ready Relief
Cures and Prevents Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Influenza, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, Asthma, Difficult Breathing.

Moberly, Mo., Jan. 21, 1896.
Radway & Co.

Dear Sirs: I have been keeping in the house your Radway's Ready Relief for the last six years. I have used it in every way, and found it to be the best on earth. Six years ago I was sick: I tried all kinds of medicines, but they did me no good. My father saw the advertisement in the paper, he told me to try a bottle. I did so, and by using it three days I was able to be out. I have kept it on hand ever since, and I have told my neighbors about it. My wife had been troubled with toothache. I gave a trial of the medicine and it cured her pain instantly. I was gathering corn and got my hand caught between the wagon-bed and standard, and mashed it badly. I ran to the house and poured on a lot of Radway's Ready Relief, and had no more pain. I tied my hand up with a piece of flannel, poured on more Radway's Ready Relief, and in an hour I was ready to take hold of my work again. I cannot be thankful enough. I could write a great deal more, but this paper would not hold half of what I could write. Yours truly,
JACOB J. KAPPLER.

THE "GRIP."

Dr. Radway & Co., Gentlemen: I have used your Ready Relief for more than twenty-five years with much satisfaction—have used it for La Grippe, Pneumonia, Pleurisy and all sorts of aches and pains and have found it unfailing every time. Respectfully,
D. W. RAYMOND,
31 Crescent street, Middletown, Conn.

Dr. Radway & Co.: One bottle of Ready Relief and one box of Radway's Pills cured five in my family of that terrible complaint, La Grippe or influenza. J. W. BREWER,
Ashburn, Pike County, Mo.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF USED ALSO INTERNALLY—A half to a teaspoonful in half a tumbler of water will in a few minutes cure Cramps, Spasms, Sour Stomach, Nausea, Vomiting, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Diarrhœa, Colic, Flatulency and all internal pains.

Malaria in its various forms cured and prevented.

There is not a remedial agent in the world that will cure Fever and Ague and all other fevers, aided by RADWAY'S PILLS, so quickly as RADWAY'S READY RELIEF.

Prevention of Chills and Fever.
Hudson River Brk Mfg Co.,
Verplanck Point, N. Y.

Dr. Radway: My family are in the habit of trusting entirely to your Ready Relief and Pills as our household medicine, rarely requiring any other remedial aid. I myself follow closely your directions in taking the Ready Relief as a preventive for Chills and Fever, say a teaspoonful in some water before my breakfast on an empty stomach when I visit my yard, as I am accustomed to do at that time. The result is a perfect success, as I never take the fever, although I am located in a most malarious district, in which few of the residents escape malarious attacks, particularly of Chills and Fever.

My men and those who have come from Mr. Frost's yard experience the same beneficial effects by following a like practice as myself.
Very truly yours, JOHN MORTON,
Proprietor.

MONTREAL.

Montreal, Que., June 7.—About 700 head of butchers' cattle, 400 calves and 600 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End abattoir today. Trade was good, but the prices of both beef and mutton critters were lower than last week's markets. Very few were bought by shippers, but the unusually large number of persons taking passage on the steamships sailing for Britain require a much larger supply of beef than usual, causing the active demand and good prices that are being paid for good to prime butchers' cattle. Mr. Geo. Nicholson bought 23 prime beeves today, paying 4¼c per lb for the greater part of them. Pretty good stock sold at from 3¾c to 3⅞c per lb, and the common half-fatted beeves brought from 2¾c to 3c per lb; calves sold at from $2 to $3 each; shippers are paying from 3½c to 4c per lb for suitable sheep. Lambs sell at from $2 to $3 50 each. Fat hogs are rather scarce, and sold today at $5 35 per 100 lbs.

EAST BUFFALO.

East Buffalo, N. Y., June 7.—Cattle—Receipts, 170 cars, including 55 cars of Canadas; about all stock and feeding cattle. The market opened extremely slow and draggy for all kinds of cattle; prices were all off 10c to 15c lower for the best heavy shipping steers, with other classes of medium steers and good, handy butchers' kinds that were at all common or grassy brought fully 20c to 25c, while the common, or in-between, as well as grassy cows and heifer stock, were all of 25 to 40 per cent lower; stockers and feeders were in liberal supply and all off 10c to 15c lower.

Fresh cows and springers also in good supply, and $2 to $4 per head lower.

Veals in heavy supply, and ¼c to ½c off, but in fair demand.

Choice finished smooth fat steers, $4 85 to $5; choice to prime do., $4 60 to $4 85; coarse rough steers, $3 60 to $4 10; choice smooth fat heifers, $4; fair to good mixed butchers' stock, $3 15 to $3 85; fair to good butchers' cows, $2 70 to $3 25; native stock steers, good to choice, $3 55 to $3 75; do., light stockers, $3 to $3 35; do., feeders, good to best, $3 85 to $4; Canada stock steers, good to choice, $3 90 to $4; do., light stockers, $3 65 to $3 80; do., feeders, choice to prime, $4 to $4 10; export bulls, smooth and fat, $3 40 to $3 65; strictly fancy milkers, $34 to $42; good to fancy springers, $30 to $42; good to choice veals, $4 75 to $5; prime to extra veals, $5 25 to $5 50.

Hogs—Receipts, 80 cars; there was a fairly active demand and the market ruled a shade stronger; good to choice Yorkers, $3 75; mixed packers' grades, $3 70 to $3 75; medium weights, $3 70; heavy hogs, $3 60 to $3 70; roughs, $3 15 to $3 20.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 71 cars of fresh arrivals, but there were 10½ cars holding over from Saturday's trade; the market ruled exceedingly dull, less being done in this branch of the trade than has been known in months before, and prices for both sheep and lambs were fully 15c to 25c per cwt. lower than Saturday's prices at the start, as a rule, while later sales were even more off, and very dull for all kinds, quite a number of both going over unsold; native lambs, choice to prime, $4 75 to $4 85; good to choice, $4 50 to $4 75; common to good do., $3 75 to $4 25; culls to common lambs, $2 75 to $3 50; fair to choice mixed sheep, $3 75 to $4 15; culls and common sheep, $2 25 to $3 25; export sheep, $4 to $4 35.

NEW YORK.

New York, June 7.—Beeves—Receipts, 3,842; active and generally firmer; native steers, $4 50 to $5 15; stags and oxen, $3 to $4 75; bulls, $3 to $3 70; dry cows, $2 to $3 65.

Cables quote American steers at 10c to 11c; sheep, 11c to 12½c; refrigerator beef at 8¾c to 9¼c.

Exports—862 beeves, 1,310 sheep, 3,000 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 4,922; veals active and stronger; buttermilk calves lower; veals, $4 to $6; buttermilk calves, $3 50 to $4; city dressed veals, 7c to 9c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 15,971; sheep slow; good grades steady; others weak; yearlings and lambs lower; sheep, $3 25 to $4 50; yearlings, $4 20 to $5; yearlings, $4 20 to $5.

Hogs—Receipts, 12,194; firm, at $4 10 to $4 25.

Our Neighbors.

The Methodist Sunday school will hold their picnic on June 22.

HOWLETT.

Garden Party and Strawberry Festival—Epworth League Annual Meeting.

Howlett, June 4.—A garden party and strawberry festival, under the auspices of the Sharon Epworth League, will be held on the grounds of Mr. Wm. Bignell, lot 12, con. 3, Delaware, on June 14. Great pains are being taken to make this one of the most pleasing and profitable events of the season. A first-class programme is being provided, and the Oneida Brass Band is expected to be present and eliven the evening with their excellent music.

The Sharon Epworth League held their annual meeting on May 15. The following were installed in office to carry on the work for the coming year: President, Edith Ryckman; first vice-president, Fred Bodkin; second vice-president, Priscilla Adams; third vice-president, Frank Willsie; recording secretary, Wm. Howlett; corresponding secretary, Clara Adams; treasurer, Jos. Pearn; organist, Nellie Scott; assistant, Mary Adams.

TILSONBURG.

Improvements in the Oatmeal Mill—A Coming Concert.

Tilsonburg, June 7.—The Tillson Company has just placed in position a large boiler 5 feet 6 inches in diameter, at the oat mill for the purpose of drying oats by steam.

The Simcoe and Tilsonburg lacrosse teams will play a match here on Thursday, the 10th inst.

The bicycle races under the auspices of the Rovers come off tomorrow evening on the race track. A number of good prizes are offered, and if the weather is fair some good racing may be expected.

The choir of the Avondale Church will give a sacred concert on Friday evening next. About 30 voices are in training for the occasion. Miss Buck, of Brantford, and Rev. Mr. Currie, of Delhi, will also assist. An excellent programme will be furnished and Friday night should be kept clear.

Mrs. E. J. Leach and children left for Chicago last night, where she will join her husband, Mr. Ed. Leach.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith have issued a large number of invitations to a jubilee garden party to be held at their residence on the afternoon of the 15th inst.

GRANTON.

Rev. A. N. Ranton, evangelist, has conducted a very successful series of meetings in the Methodist Church here. Great good has been accomplished, and the church has been crowded. The addresses are logical and delivered with energy and power, carrying conviction.

WOODBANK.

On the Way to Recovery—Improvements at Springbank.

Woodbank, June 5.—Mr. D. Burnum has had a very critical operation performed at the city hospital, and is in a fair way to recovery.

Mrs. Duncan Car, of Brick street, is visiting among the different members of her family, in Strathroy and Sarnia.

Mrs. Nathan Griffith, jun., of Lobo, is on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Player, of Brick street.

Some of the children of the school here are taking their turn at measles. Just now a part of the family of Mrs. George Norton, jun., is very ill with them.

At Springbank the work of beautifying the grounds is still going on under the supervision of Superintendent Sumner, who has made and graveled a number of nice walks. Across the lower pipe line a road swerving to the right from the main road, and running along the river west to the new pond has been graded and graveled, and the men are overlaying the bottom of the pond with nice clean gravel. A large, commodious shed has been erected for the benefit of those who drive, and an extension branch T has been added to the road for the benefit of those who wish to go no farther than the theater.

Mr. Carling, of the city, has taken up his residence at the Cooper villa.

Mrs. Byron Kilbourn and her daughter, Miss Reta, are on a visit to their old home.

The County Council.

MONDAY AFTERNOON.

The County Council continued its session yesterday afternoon from until 5 o'clock, and during the three hours they waded through many communications and petitions, relegating them to their respective committees.

The report of the special committee re the Kilworth bridge, was submitted. The committee, which consisted of the warden, James Murray, John Morgan and Commissioner Talbot, reported that a large number of the ratepayers of Delaware, Lobo and Caradoc townships would be greatly benefited by the erection of a bridge, which would probably cost $12,000 or $13,000. Referred to the board.

The first report of the House of Refuge committee recommended that a woman be procured to do the laundering, at a cost not to exceed $10 per month, and that the salary of the night watchman be increased to $6 per week. The cesspool trouble was also dealt with, and Chairman H. Hardy recommended the matter be referred to a committee. He asked that a new milch cow be purchased. The accounts for the year amounted to $886 09. The report was adopted as read, and the accounts ordered to be paid.

Silas Connelly petitioned the council for $76 70, the amount of expense he claimed to have been put to while in the discharge of his duty, when Squire Regis and Duncan Degraw are alleged to have endeavored to free a prisoner, which led to the trouble and the expense. Finance committee.

R. K. Cowan, local Master in Chancery, petitioned the council to refurnish the office or purchase the present furniture from the executors of the late Col. Shanly, as most of it belonged to him. The matter was referred to the jail committee.

L. W. Cuddy, secretary-treasurer of the West Middlesex Teachers' Institute, applied for the usual grant of $200, to assist in conducting the promotion examinations in the inspectorate. Referred to finance committee.

The board of arbitrators, consisting of Judge Edward Elliott, H. D. Johnson (Strathroy), John Waterworth (Glencoe), George C. Elliott (Ekfrid), and Henry Gough (Metcalfe), who were appointed to consider the establishment of a union school district of portions of Ekfrid, Mosa and Metcalf townships, recommended that no action be taken, and the cost, $66 63, be paid equally by each of the interested townships. Five ratepayers in the three sections concerned, have appealed against the award. They are: Donald McKellar, con. 14, and Alex. McAlpine, Oddfellows' Hall on Thursday, June 10. Tea served from 6:30 to 8 o'clock, after which there will be an excellent programme. The admission is 20c.

Several fishing parties from this town intend going over to the point on the 15th and return on the 16th of June.

The Methodist Sunday school will hold their picnic on June 22.

Parliament.

Cowan and Casey of the West Get Bills Through.

The Bicycle Bill and the Alien Labor Measure Are Passed.

Mr. McMullen's Bill Affecting Cheese Sales Discussed.

Ottawa, June 8.—In the House yesterday afternoon Mr. Davies, who was spokesman for the Government in the absence of Sir Richard Cartwright, made the announcement that the Government intended to drop the franchise and plebiscite bills in the compulsory absence of the First Minister. The sacrifice of both Government and private members' bills this session has been made upon a wholesale scale, and a feeling is growing in favor of a good, long business session next year to relieve the congestion, which has grown for several years. It is probable Parliament will meet early.

It was private members' day in the House, and the attendance was extremely small. In the afternoon Mr. Bryan, ex-Presidential candidate, had a seat on the floor for a time, and heard Mr. Oliver discuss the taxation of the railway grant lands of the plains. At the present time the railways succeed in avoiding taxation by refraining from patenting the land grants given them as part of the public aid for construction until these lands are sold to private owners.

In the evening two very important bills were passed. Mr. Cowan succeeded in steering his alien labor bill past a third reading. He is to be congratulated on the steady persistence with which he has fought for his bill and on the successful result. The bill is Canada's answer to the disgraceful treatment of Canadian workmen going into the United States.

Mr. Casey also landed one of his bills, that to provide for the free carriage of bicycles as baggage by railways. The wheelmen in the Commons have succeeded in helping Mr. Casey's bill through, but it still has to run the gauntlet of the Senate, and there are those who declare that it is doomed to an untimely end there.

Replying to Mr. Lemieux, Mr. Davies said: The question of appointing an immigration agent at New York is under consideration. The Department of the Interior has appointed immigration agents at the following places in the United States: One at Detroit, one at Reed City, Mich., one at Watertown, S. D., one at St. Paul and one at Salina, Kan. There are four traveling immigration agents traveling in Michigan and Dakota, who are paid by results.

Mr. McMullen moved the second reading of a bill to amend the general inspection act. He explained that the practice was to buy cheese subject to inspection, and where that inspection took place some days later if the market had dropped some buyers might take advantage of the clause in the bargain and say this cheese is not up to the standard. If the market rose and there had been an advance in quotations there were no disputes. This bill provided for the appointment of an arbitrator to whom disputes should be referred, the decision of such referee to be final. At a meeting Mr. McMullen attended, where 57 cheese factories were represented, a resolution was unanimously passed asking for some legislation of this kind to protect the industry.

Mr. McLean opposed the bill and read resolutions of the Ingersoll and Brockville cheese boards against it. This whole trouble originated in the improper feeding of turnips, apples and rape and rye to the cows. For that reason $25,000 less had been paid last season for cheese in Stratford than would otherwise have been paid.

Mr. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, said he had received a number of telegrams and resolutions respecting this bill. He concurred in a good deal of what Mr. McMullen had said, as to the cut made in price on the ground that inspection did not bear out the quality it was sold for. He referred to the usefulness of the Government inspector at Montreal as a voluntary referee in disputes. He did not know where the Government could lay their lands upon a competent man such as was contemplated by the bill, as nearly every such person was now engaged in the cheese trade. He suggested the reference of this bill to one of the standing committees of the House, because it was important, even if the bill did not pass this session, that it should come before the great dairy conventions of the country.

Sir Charles Tupper thought this would indorse the principle of the bill, and Mr. Fisher's speech had been against it.

Sir Richard Cartwright agreed that it was important to have this matter brought before the dairy parliaments, and after its discussion here he moved the adjournment of the debate.

Mr. Craig believed the principle of the bill was vicious and should be condemned at once.

Mr. Sutherland pointed to the cheese boards of Oxford county passing resolutions against this bill, and thought that as these resolutions were unanimous the House should pay heed to them.

Mr. McMullen said his desire in introducing the bill was to promote the cheese industry, and in view of the meeting in Harriston he could not help but think that it would do so.

Mr. Cochrane supported and Messrs. Gilmour and McMillan opposed the bill. The motion to adjourn the debate was carried and the House adjourned.

Mandrake and Dandelion are two of the articles entering into the composition of Parmelee's Pills.

The funeral of Dr. Fred W. Strange, at Toronto, Monday afternoon, was attended by all the military bodies in force, and by a large number of prominent men from Ottawa and Toronto. The casket was carried on a gun-carriage, headed by a band playing the Dead March and followed by a long line of troops. Thousands of spectators lined the route to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, where the body was interred with the usual military honors.

Report of the Sabbath Observance Committee—Resolution Regarding Fight Pictures.

TUESDAY MORNING.

The final report of the stationing committee was not ready to be presented during the morning session of Conference, and the time set apart for it was 3 p.m. No opportunity offered for the introduction of the amended report of the temperance committee.

The report of the Sabbath observance committee was read by Rev. F. Swann, secretary, and adopted. They deplored the result of the recent vote on Sunday street cars in Toronto, and would encourage the Christian people of that city to keep up their organization to preserve the sacredness of the Lord's Day, and as many rising towns and cities may be contemplating the introduction of electric cars, they recommended that the example of the city of London be followed, "whose wisdom and foresight," the report says, "we commend in making it a fundamental part of the agreement with the company supplying the electric plant that cars are not to be run on the Sabbath Day." Railway corporations were urged to reduce the amount of Sunday labor connected with their works to a minimum. The church members were urged to make their purchases early on Saturday. They were pleased to learn that since last conference many of the cheese factories have ceased to manufacture on the Sabbath, and asked every one to do all in their power to check the evil; they commend the action of Hon. John Charlton in his endeavors to secure reforms in Sabbath observance, and regret that his efforts have not received the support they should in the House of Commons. But as Sunday newspapers are being brought over from Detroit, Buffalo and other points in the United States, they are pleased to know that there is a strong consensus of opinion in the Senate and House of Commons insuring the passage of a bill in the near future prohibiting the entrance and sale of the Sunday newspapers. Continuing, the report recommended that the Sabbath be not desecrated by bicycling, visiting, or in any other way. They greatly desired that the landing of American excursion boats on Walpole Island on Sundays be prevented, and also urged that the ministers preach one sermon a year on Sabbath observance.

A resolution was moved by the secretary and Rev. B. Clement as follows:

"Having been informed that the disgusting exhibition of the Nevada prize fight is advertised for London at an early date, and recognizing the influence of this city upon Western Ontario, this conference respectfully urge upon the mayor and City Council of London to prevent its presentation to the inhabitants of this city."

This was carried enthusiastically.

The report of the Epworth League committee was read by Rev. A. K. Birks, and proved exceedingly gratifying.

Mr. George Robinson, London, was elected representative of the central board.

Hail and Earthquake.

Great Damage Done by a Storm in Texas.

Crops Cut Down, Buildings Wrecked Lives Lost.

Rogers, Texas, June 8.—A destructive hail storm yesterday completely destroyed crops of all kinds north of here, and great damage was done to houses.

Granger, Texas, reports all crops east and north of that town badly damaged. Bryan Farris and his wife and three children, and Wm. Ashforth were in a house on the Allen farm, two miles north, which was blown to pieces. All were more or less injured, and one of the boys may die.

INNOCENT STORY TELLING.

Babyhood.

A child with a vivid imagination always drifts into story telling. He is delighted with your look of wonder, and keeps on with his wonderful tales, no matter if you do call them "lies." He is pleased to discover that he can attract you in that way.

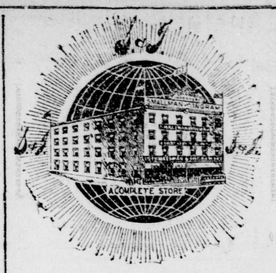

We tried a new way with Dee. The first impossible tale was told to mamma as a fact. Mamma smiled, and said in an interested way: "Why, that's a story, isn't it, Dee?" "Yes," answered the 4-year-old, thinking it a very lovely thing to be able to bring that look of delight into mamma's face. Since then all the made-up tales are prefaced with the remark: "This is a story." This she never says when stating a fact, and we feel happy to think that she has learned to distinguish the difference between fact and fancy, without learning the word "lie."

"What do you think of having to pay $48 a pound for steak, as those fellows did in Alaska?" asked the shoe clerk boarder. "They must have found it pretty tough," said the Cheerful Idiot.

LUCAN CROSSING CASE.

Decision Reserved in the Appeal of the McKenzies.

The Court of Appeal reserved judgment upon the defendants' appeal from the judgment of Q. B. Divisional Court, reversing the judgment of Chief Justice Meredith. On Feb. 8, 1895, Wm. McKenzie and his wife were in London, and the weather being very stormy, it was decided that Mrs. McKenzie should remain in London, and the husband return home to Ailsa Craig, to the children, who had been left alone. He had a return ticket from Ailsa Craig to London. When starting back at London he was warned by defendants that the trains on the main line had been cancelled, and that he would not be able to reach his destination. He got off at Lucan Crossing, where there was not a station, but tickets had been for many years sold to the crossing, and passengers got on and off there and walked along the track to reach the highway. The night of that fatal 8th of February will never be forgotten by the McKenzie family. The snow storm raged furiously. The bairns waited in vain for their father. The bread-winner never returned. He was killed on the track by a freight train coming along behind him. The question reserved for the decision of the Divisional Court was whether there was any evidence of any neglect by the defendants of any duty which they owed to deceased, which entitled the plaintiffs (the personal representatives of the deceased) to have the case submitted to a jury. If there was, $3,000 was the sum agreed upon as damages. That court held that the deceased was lawfully upon the track, and that the omission to ring the locomotive bell as required by section 256 of the Railway Act was a neglect of a duty owing to the deceased. Chief Justice Armour delivered the judgment of the court in one of his able and closely and clearly reasoned disquisitions of the law bearing on the subject.

THE TRAIL OF DEATH

It begins at the Throat and ends at the Grave. How many a human life is unnecessarily sacrificed.

There are many remedies on the market for the cure of consumption, but consumption, once it reaches a certain stage, cannot be cured. In professing, therefore, to do what is impossible, these remedies prove themselves to be simply humbugs.

Consumption is a disease which destroys the tissue of the lungs. Once gone, no medicine can replace that tissue. Good medicine may arrest the disease even after one lung is wholly gone, as long as the other remains sound. Once both are attacked, however, the victim is doomed.

Just why people should risk their lives to this dread disease and go to great expense afterwards to check it, it is hard to conceive. It is much easier prevented than cured. Throat troubles and severe colds are its usual forerunners. A 25-cent bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will drive these away. It is, without doubt, the best medicine for the purpose to be had anywhere.

THE UNITED STATES TARIFF BILL.

Washington, June 8.—The Republican Senatorial caucus today voted to stand together on all schedules in the tariff bill.

The great fight pictures as presented by the Periscope will be carried out in every detail at the Grand Opera House, Thursday night. b

THE Kalaa of Beni Hamad, which in the eleventh century was a town of 80,000 inhabitants, the capital of the Barbary States, Morocco, Algiers and Tunis, and had long completely disappeared, has been rediscovered by M. Blanchet, a French archaeologist. Among the buildings brought to light are a mosque 65 by 55 meters in area, covered with green enamel and containing pink marble columns, a palace, a public fountain and a tower, which even in its present condition is nearly 50 feet high. These buildings date from 1007, and are the oldest Moslem monuments in Algeria.

Topics of Today.

Oxford County Council will make a strong endeavor to wipe out the toll gates in that county. The wonder is that so progressive a people have not abolished the expensive system long ago. A commission will prepare a report showing what proportion of the purchase price each municipality shall pay after considering all the circumstances therewith.

Vice-President Shaughnessy of the C. P. R. says that if the Crow's Nest Pass Railway agreement goes through this session, as is now likely to be the case, he anticipates the company will have the line completed to the summit of the Rockies by the end of the year, and to Kootenay Lake by the end of next year. Until such time as the Columbia is bridged there will be a ferry car service up the Kootenay Lake to Nelson.

General Manager Hays of the G. T. R. is most emphatic in his statement that Canadians will be employed to man the Wabash trains which begin running through London next week. "We have too many men in Canada who need work," said Mr. Hays, "to allow outsiders to take their places. It is no part of our policy to discriminate against Canadian labor. I have, as you have doubtless seen, made that point quite clear previously."

Around the City

—Mrs. (Dr.) Smith, of Windsor, formerly of London, is on a visit to the city.

—Dr. George C. Davis has returned home after a three weeks' visit in the Western States.

—George Cooley, a vagrant arrested a week ago, and remanded by Squire R. F. Lacey for a week, was brought up again yesterday afternoon and committed for one day.

—Kron, of Buffalo, London's new first baseman, failed to arrive this afternoon, as expected, and Sam Lee, of the Pastimes, will fill Ward's place at short in today's game.

—Mr. Frank B. Clarke, Richmond street, next door to The Advertiser office, has on view in his window specially imported English medals and the Victoria Hospital (city) medals.

—Rev. J. G. Stuart, Knox Church, South London; Rev. R. W. Leitch, Delaware, and Rev. Mr. Wier, also of this Presbytery, left today for Winnipeg to attend the meeting of the General Assembly of the church.

—The City Council meeting has been postponed until Monday night, on account of the jubilee chorus practicing at the City Hall tonight. The chorus and the council together would make too much melody for one building.

—The new Wabash trains over this division of the G. T. R. will pass through London four times daily, the earliest going east at an early hour in the morning, the second going west in the morning, the third going east about noon, and the fourth returning west in the afternoon.

—Mr. Thomas Moffatt, of Moffatt, Hutchins & Co., formerly a resident of London, now at Cape Town, South Africa, sends The Advertiser a renewal of his subscription for two years. He says: "Your paper is invaluable to us, and especially on account of its complete market reports."

—Mrs. Rodner has taken out a permit to erect a story and a half brick cottage between Ontario and Rectory streets, to cost $1,200. Mr. Henry Betts, South London, will also erect a story and a half dwelling on the Wharncliffe road between Euclid and Byron avenues, to cost $500.

—Mr. S. H. Milling, C. P. R., left yesterday morning for Owen Sound, to commence his new duties at once. Previous to his leaving a number of the C. P. R. employes presented him with a handsome umbrella and silver-tipped pipe and tobacco pouch, expressing their regard for him in kindly spoken sentiments.

—A hitch has arisen which may postpone the building of the electric railway to Pottersburg. The township council want the company to guarantee to keep the roadway in repair, and to insure the township against damage from accident. The company have not consented to this, and neither side shows signs of yielding.

BANKS AND LAWYERS.

Mr. L. C. Wiltbank, of Cincinnati, O., the able representative of "Sloan's List of Banks and Lawyers," is in the city. The list is popular, and promises to be the most valuable yet prepared.

LAID AT REST.

The remains of the late William Humpidge, father of Mr. J. W. Humpidge, of the London House, were laid in their last resting-place this afternoon. The cortege left the London House, which for many years had been the home of the deceased, at 3 o'clock, and proceeded to Woodland. At 2 o'clock many of the deceased's most intimate friends gathered at the house to pay in sorrow their last respects. The pall-bearers were: John Puddicombe, John Platt, Arthur Somerville, J. B. Cox, D. Bouldrey and B. A. Mitchell. The services were conducted by Rev. Prof. Burgess.

A DINNER PILL.—Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment, it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convert the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

THE TURF.

SALE OF THOROUGHBREDS.

New York, June 8.—An auction sale of 125 thoroughbred yearlings from the leading Kentucky studs, including the Woodburn, Runnymede, was begun in the American Horse Exchange last night. Forty-five colts sold for $24,200, or an average of $538 apiece. The highest price realized for a yearling was $3,725, paid by J. E. Madden, of this city, for Gleinheim, a brown colt, by Hanover. J. H. McCormick, paid $1,250 for a bay colt by Falsetto. A brown colt by Hindoo brought $1,050. T. J. McMeehan of this city, was the purchaser. A chestnut colt by Himyar was sold for $1,550 to David Gideon.

TIPS.

A turf club has been formed at Kingsville, with Dr. Perdue, as president; Capt. Dease, vice-president; James Pastorius, secretary, and Atkinson Wigle, treasurer.

CRICKET.

THE INTERNATIONAL MATCH.

Oxford, England, June 8.—When the stumps were drawn yesterday evening in the cricket match between the Philadelphia eleven and an eleven representing Oxford University, H. H. Baily and F. W. Ralston, jun., of the American team, were at the bat, the former having scored five runs, and the latter one run, or a total of six for the visitors. The Oxford men, in their first inning, were all out for 363 runs.

Heavy rain fell all night long, and this morning it was impossible to resume the match at noon. Play began at 3 o'clock, and the American score soon reached 16.

Middlesex June Session.

Verdict for Plaintiff in Brown Vs. Kettlewell.

True Bill Found Against Squire Wm. Regis and Duncan Degraw, of Newbury—The Getty-McEvoy Case.

MONDAY AFTERNOON.

The remainder of the afternoon was taken up with the hearing of the case of Robert Brown vs. George Kettlewell, farmers, in the township of Caradoc. The defendant is alleged to have rented a 60-acre farm from plaintiff for three years, the defendant agreeing to give plaintiff half of all the crops raised on the premises, to furnish plaintiff with teams and all farm implements, etc., necessary for the working of the farm, and, furthermore, that Kettlewell was to pay plaintiff $2 per week for his board. Brown claims that Kettlewell failed to carry out his agreement, in that he neglected to put in a well, that he did not pasture the cattle as he promised, and was indebted for five weeks board; that he refused to allow plaintiff a fair share of the crop of corn, and did not give proper notice with the termination of the agreement. Plaintiff claims $200 and costs. Kettlewell's defense was that Brown had on several occasions used threatening language, and in consequence he (Kettlewell) was afraid to go on the farm to carry out the agreement. Defendant denied all the claims of the plaintiff, and entered a counterclaim for $25. The balance, he alleged, was overdue and unpaid on a promissory note. He claimed another $25 for the pasture of ten head of cattle, also $30 for the use of defendant's team, and claimed damages because plaintiff had failed to deliver to him his proper share of produce of the farm.

The court adjourned at 5 o'clock until 10 this morning.

TUESDAY MORNING.

In the case of Brown vs. Kettlewell, the jury went out at 11:30 to deliberate.

True bills were returned by the grand jury against Wm. Regan and Duncan Degraw, of Newbury, for alleged attempt to set at liberty a prisoner in the custody of Silas Connolly, constable.

The court resumed at 10 o'clock, when argument was continued in Brown vs. Kettlewell. The case was given to the jury at 11:30, and after being out exactly one hour they returned a verdict for plaintiff for $100 damages, each party to pay his own costs. With reference to the latter clause the judge held that the question of assessment of costs was a question with which he alone had to deal, and not one for the jury. The judge reserved his decision regarding costs and dismissed the jury. Bartlett for plaintiff; Folinsbee for defendant.

Della S. Getty vs. Thos. McEvoy, an action for damages, was the next case called. The plaintiff resides in Caradoc with her husband, where they have been in possession for some time past of the southeast half of lot 14, con. 4. On Feb. 15, 1897, plaintiff claims that the defendant unlawfully entered the premises, refused to leave, and obstructed her in the use of chattels and goods on the premises. Plaintiff further alleges that when she went to the stable for a horse defendant opposed her and struck her. As a result plaintiff claims to have suffered great inconvenience, mental and physical pain, and been put to trouble and expense, and claims $200 damages.

Mr. Magee examined Mrs. Getty at great length and asked:

"Did you call Mr. McEvoy a thief?"

"Well, he looked like one to me?" responded the witness.

"But did you call him a thief?"

"Yes."

"Wasn't it a white-headed Irish thief you called him?"

"No, sir."

Mrs. Getty was questioned concerning the effects of the blow from McEvoy.

"How many teeth did it loosen?"

"Two."

"Now, I don't want to be personal, Mrs. Getty," said Mr. Magee, "but were they not false teeth?"

Witness—No; not both of them—only one.

The defendant denies all the allegations contained in the statement of claim, and says that if he was on any premises occupied by plaintiff he was there upon the orders and instructions of County Constables Ward and Northgreaves for the purpose of assisting in the execution of a search warrant in their hands, which had been issued for a large quantity of farming implements. These required the use of a team, and while he went to get the team Mrs. Getty opposed him with a club, when the assault is said to have taken place. On this charge he was summoned before Squire J. B. Smyth, and the case was dismissed. He therefore claims the benefit of sections 865 and 866 of the criminal code of 1892, which provides that when a case is dismissed by a magistrate there is no civil remedy.

The case is in progress.

FIRE BRIGADE TESTED.

Called Out by the Inspector of the Fire Underwriters' Association—Good Time Made.

An alarm was turned in from the corner of Ridout and Fullarton streets at 11 o'clock this morning. The central fire brigade arrived on the spot and had a stream of water playing in 3 minutes and 45 seconds from the time at which the alarm sounded.

The box had been pulled by Inspector Howe of the Fire Underwriters' Association, who was accompanied by Mayor Little and Ald. McCallum. The brigade had had, of course, no intimation of the call, and the time made was very satisfactory, considering the fact that the men had to handle the new team of bays. It was the first run of these horses, and they behaved admirably.

REBELS DID THE ROASTING.

Terrible Outcome of the Hostilities in the Philippines.

Vancouver, June 8.—Further interviews with officers of the steamer Hupeh, now in port, elicit the fact that 25 Catholic monks were roasted by the rebels in the Philippine Islands, and not by the Spanish troops, as previously reported. The information was furnished by a prominent resident of Iloilo, in the group of islands, and corroborated by a foreign consul.

In consequence of cruelties perpetrated by the Spanish troops on the rebels, or those suspected of being in sympathy with the rebel cause, the rebels in revenge perpetrated acts of cruelty on the hapless monks who came in their clutches. The customary mode of roasting sucking pigs in the island is by thrusting a bamboo through the pig, and then fastening it over a slow fire. This was done to the monks, the bamboo being thrust through them while they were alive.

DURRANT'S CASE

Continues to Excite a Great Amount of Public Interest.

San Francisco, June 8.—The peculiar status of the Durrant case is exciting an unusual amount of public comment. Since the postponement of Worden's execution, the opinion is generally expressed that Durrant will not be hanged on Friday next. Attorney-General Fitzgerald says, however, that unless officially notified or restrained, Warden Hale stands ready to carry out the sentence. Warden Hale has asked for the opinion of the attorney-general, who will render his decision tomorrow.

So confident is Durrant of the outcome of his appeal to the court of last resort, that he is already making plans for the future. It is generally believed among the legal fraternity that, pending the action of the Supreme Court, Gov. Budd will grant a reprieve in order to prevent the necessity of re-sentencing the prisoner, and the endless litigation in which it might result.

GAMBLERS GET THE GOSPEL.

Students of the Moody Institute Holding Meetings in the Black Hills.

Deadwood, S. D., June 8.—The "Gospel team," consisting of five young Chicago men, students of the Moody Institute, who are traveling over the Black Hills in one of the several Gospel wagons sent out by Chicago people, are creating much interest throughout this section. They arrived here last week, and at once opened a series of meetings on Upper Main street at the head of Dead Man's Gulch. Those in charge are: Wilbur Anson, A. E. Steurnagie, Charles Walsh, F. H. Chamberlain and A. D. Weir. Their big wagon contains an organ and many other facilities for carrying on extemporaneous revivals.

All the local ministers took part in their meetings here, and several hundred miners, gamblers, Indians and other classes that never attend religious services, were present, and gave the most respectful attention. When the contribution box was passed around, one gambler placed five $20 gold pieces in it, remarking that he had not heard such kind words since he left the old farm in New England.

The Gospel team is now at Lead City, and the crowds in attendance indicate the great interest awakened. The novelty of the affair has attracted the attention of the cowboys and miners of Yellow Gulch, and they have sent a request that the wagon be driven over there, asserting that they will cheerfully bear the expense. The students are working Spearfish Canyon, and propose to give a series of meetings for the next three weeks in the hills to the north. Then they will gradually make their way overland, holding regular meetings at any point where they can secure a crowd until they reach the eastern part of the State, where the wagon will be abandoned, and the young men return to their studies at school. The experiment has proved a great success.

STRATHROY.

Strathroy Baseballists Defeat the Bothwell Team—Lawn Tennis Club Organized.

A Lover's

GERALDINE:

Romance.

Geraldine could not pretend to arrive at a clue to the mystery unaided; but by the time the dinner-bell rang she fancied that she would be able to grope her way to one by means of a letter she intended to write.

In the meantime, braced up by her new resolution, she could give her attention to studying the man who had acquired such a mysterious and dangerous influence over James, and who seemed also to have established some ascendency over her husband. But her wits felt blunted by the so-called doctor's stolid impenetrability. He spoke very little, he said nothing remarkable; his manners were, to her critical eyes, rather too studiously courteous; he listened very attentively to everything that was said; he drank a great deal, but wine seemed to have no effect upon him whatever. He was just the same cold, handsome, courteous, dignified statue as he held open the door for the ladies at the end of dinner as he had been when it began. But Miss Eleanor, who had seen him before, noticed a change in him, and remarked upon it as soon as the three ladies reached the drawing-room.

"What a strange man Dr. Ledbury is, Elizabeth!" she said. "You know how terribly afraid of him I was last time. Well, this time he doesn't frighten me at all. He seemed so much more assured, so much more commanding, when he came in his professional capacity than he is now, that he comes simply on a visit. He impressed me so much when I first saw him; and, if I had never seen him before today, I don't think I should have thought him anything extraordinary, except that he is very handsome, very handsome. Don't you think so, Geraldine?"

"Yes, he is handsome," she replied; "but I don't like his face; there is no feeling in it. I think I should like him better in marble than in flesh and blood."

Elizabeth took no part in the discussion; she seemed rather restless and uneasy, snubbed her elder sister two or three times for "fidgeting," and kept a close watch upon Geraldine's slightest movement. The young lady was expecting every minute to hear the arrival of Dr. Crosse, who had promised to come after dinner; but then the Waringham party had dined earlier than usual, and she was afraid that the gentlemen would come in before the old doctor made his appearance. Not only was her fear fulfilled, but the evening passed without his coming, and Geraldine, who had in some measure depended upon him for advice in the maze of doubts and difficulties in which she found herself, retired to her room filled with a new anxiety; for, if Dr. Crosse deserted her now, how was she to prove that foul play was her strong card against the self-styled physician?

She locked her door, and, leaning over her writing-table with her head in her hands, tried to mature the plans she had projected to herself that afternoon; but she was both too weary and too much excited for any work of that sort. Fear of her husband, fear of his accomplice, anxiety lest James should still be within their reach, despair at the isolation in which she found herself, with no ally in the whole household but the stolid Johnson, who respectfully but firmly declined to trust her with the secret of his late master's hiding-place—all assailed her by turns; and, after trying to clear her thoughts by the feeble expedient of opening her window and putting her head out into the chilling air of the November night, she gave up the attempt, and broke down into sobs and tears. She still stood at the window, looking piteously up at the moon and the floating clouds, and down at the lawn and the misty trees, with the dull whining of the wind round the corner of the house, filling her ears and deadening her sense of hearing, when a sound from her door, as if someone had pushed against it, drew a cry of fear from her. She turned from the window to watch and to listen, without, however, leaving the place where she stood. Anything might happen in this house while it was haunted by the presence of a cold-blooded poisoner like the so-called Dr. Ledbury, and of a madman as dangerous as her husband had seemed to her that night. Both gentlemen had stayed long over their wine; but, when they came to the drawing-room, Dr. Ledbury was as cold and as hard of face as ever, while Capt. Morrison's pale, dark face had been flushed, and the sullen gleam of his eyes had prepared his frightened wife for a possible outbreak of fury.

She still stood by the window, therefore, and glanced out to note the distance from the sill to the soft lawn underneath, in case of an emergency; but no attempt was made to force her door, or even to open it; and in a few minutes she heard the soft sounds of footsteps creeping away. Then she went round the bed toward the door to listen; but, as soon as she approached it, she saw what the object of the soft-footed visitor had been. On the floor was a piece of paper that had been pushed under the door. She snatched it up and carried it to the candles. With a great shock of terror and joy and tenderness she recognized, at the bottom of a scrawl in pencil which filled both sides of the half sheet of paper, the signature "James Otway." For a moment her eyes swam and she could not read; then she recovered herself and made out the following words:

"My Dear Deldee,—I can't leave this old dungeon for the last time without saying good-bye to you somehow; and, as I must not see you, I have to do it by means of a scrawl which you will scarcely be able to read, the light is so bad now on the top of the house, where I have passed the day like a carrier-pigeon ever since Johnson bundled me up here this morning. He said that your husband had come—that he had heard where I was found, was jealous and swore he would shoot you if I was really James Otway! Johnson said he was going to say I was a burglar. I can't make head or tail of all this; but he was in such an awful fright, trembling from head to foot, that I had to humor him, though I told him I didn't at all like being chivied about in this fashion. Your husband must be very unreasonable if he can be angry at my coming to see you, since we were brought up together, and the doctor can prove that I was under the influence of a narcotic when I instinctively made my way to my old room. I think there has been some curse upon me from the time you left England to go to Havre, Deldee. You have always lived since in my thoughts as my good fairy; but you have been too far away to save me from my wretched folly and ill-luck. For it is ill-luck. I left Waringham after my uncle's death, resolved to fight myself free from the awful charge brought against me, and to come back and tell my story; but your sweet faith in me was not all unfounded. But I have been sucked down in spite of every effort, and heaven knows that what strength I have in me I have used in the face of broken health and ruined hopes, but without one breath of success. I shall try once more, Deldee. I am going back to my one only friend besides you in the world to pull round a bit before I make my last effort to go to Ireland and get to the root of this wretched mystery. I must see your sweet face again now; but, if I only succeed in getting this infamous charge disproved, and Lindley Fielding brought to book for an attempt which is, I am sure, his doing, I will come boldly to Waringham in my own proper person and show your husband that there is no disgrace on the head of your unlucky brother. "JAMES OTWAY."

"No disgrace? No disgrace? Then perhaps my husband has been deceived about his sister, after all!" was Geraldine's first thought, on reaching the last line of this letter, which she pressed to her lips and against her breast, with thanks to heaven in her heart. Then she sprang up and unlocked the door, and slipped quickly down the back staircase. James had gone that way—she could tell by the slight sound of his footsteps in descending. A rush of cold air at the bottom directed her to one of the doors at the back of the house in the west wing. He had left it ajar, for fear of making a noise in shutting it; but the wind blew it backward and forward with a screaking and banging which would certainly have roused attention if anyone had slept near. These sounds frightened Geraldine at first; but, gathering courage when she recognized the cause of them, she ran lightly along the stone passage and looked out. In front of the door was a path, which turned sharply to the left round one of those great clumps of untrimmed evergreens which are planted at the backs of big houses to hide the unornamental walls and windows of the outbuildings. To the right was the walls of the stable-yard. She crept out to the end of the evergreens, shivering, and looked eagerly down the path as far as she could see the faint light band of gravel in the deep shadow cast by the rustling trees. She cried, in a whisper, "James!" but got no answer—she had waited too long over his letter; and, with a heavy sigh, she turned back toward the house. She did not dare to search the grounds further, on the chance of finding him, to give him the comfort and warning without which it seemed so terrible for him to go forth again to court the very danger he had just escaped. If the wind should shut the door through which she had come, she would be more fatally lost than James, without having done anything to save him. So, with teeth chattering, she returned.

As she reached the door, she saw a light in the passage. For one moment she thought it might be James who was carrying it. On the impulse she started forward, and the candle, raised suddenly, showed her the dark face of her husband, looking more menacing than ever in the flickering light.

"Where have you been?" he hissed.

With a sharp cry she staggered back, rushed wildly into the garden again, and buried herself among the evergreens to the left of the path. She heard him come out quickly, heard the door close sharply behind him, heard his oath, and then his quick steps on the gravel. He passed her, going slowly and listening as he went. For a moment she felt relieved; but the next she remembered that it was still impossible for her to regain the house, as the door was shut. Then a thought caused her to start, and almost to cry out, for Capt. Morrison, having rapidly made up his mind as to the course she would pursue, began running down the path toward the gate at that end of the park. As this was probably the way James had gone, he must come upon him sooner or later if he continued. So she rushed out of her hiding-place and called "Philip!" He turned and came back to where she stood still, waiting like a child for some awful punishment of which she did not know.

Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believed it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good."

Fired His First Gun.

Mr. Whitney Opens His Campaign in London.

Conservative Opposition Leader Lays Down His Policy,

Before a Rather Small Audience in the Music Hall.

The Government Attacked in All Its Departments—Mr. Beattie Predicts a Funeral—Speeches by Messrs. Magwood, Matheson and Miscampbell.

J. P. Whitney, of Dundas, the new leader of the Conservative party in the Ontario Legislature, opened his campaign in this city last night, London being the place in which the first guns on both sides have been fired in the past few years.

The audience that greeted Mr. Whitney was comparatively small—in sharp contrast with the overflowing multitude that always welcomed his predecessor, Mr. Meredith—but it was not lacking in cordiality. The speakers were greeted with a patient hearing and were stimulated by frequent applause. Music Hall was about two-thirds full, about a dozen of those present being ladies. The interior was prettily decorated with flags and bunting, and a streamer bearing the words, "Welcome to Whitney, Ontario's next Premier," decorated the north end of the gallery front.

Mr. Beattie, M.P., filled the chair, and behind him were Mr. Whitney, Mr. J. H. St. John, M.P.P., of West York; Col. Matheson, M.P.P., of South Lanark; Dr. W. A. Willoughby, M.P.P., of West Northumberland; Mr. A. Miscampbell, M.P.P., of East Simcoe; Thomas Magwood, M.P.P., of North Perth; Ald. Carrothers, Wm. Gray, Ald. Winnett, Hume Elliot, Ald. Turner, I. F. Hellmuth, Dr. Fred Guest (Shedden), John Dromgole, Dr. Roome, John R. Minhinnick, P. McPhillips, P. H. Bartlett, E. H. Johnston, T. H. Smallman, Malcolm Bremner, Walter Evans, B. J. Nash, Ben Higgins, and other local Conservatives.

Mr. Beattie, who was applauded on rising, said the Provincial election was not far distant and every Conservative should be ready. The moment the Liberal party were ready, and believed victory was in their grasp, they would bring on the elections, but he did not believe victory would rest on their banners. He claimed that the Liberal party, since they came into power, had introduced the American spoils system. Good officials had been dismissed, and bitter partisans appointed to their places. Mr. Beattie said he was sorry, but the Conservatives would have to adopt the same policy when they came in again. They had to fight the devil with his own weapons. Conservatives should make a note of every civil servant and Asylum official who was found working in the next election. "And we will have one of the most wonderful processions outside the asylum gates that ever went through our streets," concluded the speaker.

MR. MAGWOOD.

Thomas Magwood, M.P.P., was the next speaker. He taffied the audience on its intelligent appearance, and said he was glad to be in London, because Londoners had the reputation of being fighters. Mr. Magwood said there was a lot of lawyers and doctors, and those kind of fellows behind him, so that he would talk as a farmer. Whenever the Ontario Government talked of spending money in aid of agriculture you could bet your last dollar it was to help their own friends or put some of them in office. The Opposition was glad the province had an agricultural college, but it objected to the expenditure increasing every year. Of $192,000 spent annually for agriculture $97,000 went to the Guelph college, most of it going into officials' pockets, and not to aid the farmers. Some one part of that farm should be self-sustaining, but it was being run at a loss. In the dairy school there $3,000 was spent every year in purchasing milk. If their object was to show how farming should be done to make it pay, they should at least make the dairy or some part of the farm clear expenses. He promised to come back and tell them more about the college and farm.

COL. MATHESON.

Col. Matheson, M.P.P., the Opposition financial critic, was next introduced. The Conservatives, he said, always regarded two cities with special pride, London and Kingston. London had returned Sir William Meredith and Kingston had returned Sir John Macdonald. London had always been faithful to Mr. Meredith, whether he was at home or fighting abroad, though he regretted to say that Kingston once went back on Sir John Macdonald. The speaker dwelt on the alleged extravagance of the Government and its unlimited powers, which even enabled them to tax men, after they were dead. He maintained that the Government had a deficit of $400,000 annually. It mixed and muddled things so that it required an expert to find anything out. Three years ago the Government had $1,000,916 68 in the bank. Now they had only $226,820 53. The outstanding annuities of the Government, with principal and interest, amounted to $5,000,000, and yet the Government claimed there was no debt. The estimated expenditures for the present year were $2,882,000 and the estimated receipts $3,215,000, showing a deficit of $653,000. The revenue of the province was almost stationary, and the Government did not fulfill its responsibilities when it failed to bring the expenditure down to the receipts by a course of economy, as the Opposition believed they should, or by levying additional taxes necessary to bring the revenue up to the expenditure. In public institutions expenditure had enormously increased by buying goods without tenders, and by filling them with officials at increasing salaries. By such means the annual expenses of government had increased $690,000 in ten years. He had heard within the last two days how the Government intended to meet the deficit. It was by another sale of timber limits. In a few days they would see advertised for sale 275,000 square miles of timber limits, almost the only remaining timber preserves of the province.

Col. Matheson was so prolix that the chairman and others who were to follow became fidgety, and gave the colonel two or three hints to close up. The speaker, in concluding, warned the audience that the coming fight, which might be in December, would be the bitterest ever known in provincial politics.

MR. MISCAMPBELL.

Mr. Miscampbell, M.P.P., in opening, paid a warm compliment to Sir William Ralph Meredith. There never was such an agitation in Ontario as there was today, and he asked all to raise the principle of patriotism and Canadianism above mere partyism. Turning to the timber limits, he said the Opposition had before the House a simple motion, asking that the timber of the province be manufactured within the province. If this were done they would have dollars in the country today where they had only a few cents. Ontario held the key to the situation. The speaker railed at the alleged extravagance of public institutions, claiming that the cost of Asylum officials for each patient had increased from $25, in 1871, to $37 at present.

MR. WHITNEY.

Mr. Wm. Gray, on behalf of the Conservative Club, read an address to Mr. Whitney, as the latter rose to speak. The address expressed confidence that Mr. Whitney would be elected Premier, and congratulated him on being chosen the leader of the party.

Mr. Whitney, who was received with cheers, acknowledged the address as another evidence of good feeling he had experienced in London. After warmly eulogizing Sir William R. Meredith, Mr. Whitney said that when John Sandfield Macdonald went out of power he left a large surplus in cash, but immediately the Liberals came into power that surplus began to disappear. He repeated Col. Matheson's statement, that the Government would in a few days advertise another sale of timber limits to fill up the gap caused by the deficit of the present year.

As to the succession duties, he considered such a tax only justifiable when all other resources failed. It was an abnormal and unnatural tax, and should not be resorted to unless in extremity.

Turning to the audit system, Mr. Whitney said an audit of provincial accounts must either be perfect and correct or it was no use at all. He charged that one of the Ontario officials had his life insurance premium paid by the Government and another had the Government pay for a fieldglass. Both these accounts were passed by the provincial auditors, and they went to show that there was absolutely no control over officials in the matter of expenses. The public accounts committee was a farce, and he had never set foot inside the door for years, as he found it was useless. There was nothing like it in heaven above, the earth beneath, or the waters under the earth.

The people, he said were becoming more interested in the affairs of the province, by the spectre of direct taxation, which would be a reality of the near future, if the present extravagance was not checked.

Mr. Whitney denied that he had ever spoken against high schools. No member in the House had spoken stronger than he in support of the high school system. But 95 per cent. of the pupils of the province finished their education in the public schools, and the speaker had urged that something be done to remedy the condition of those schools which were the people's universities. Mr. Ross had pooh-poohed his suggestions as mere platitudes, but those platitudes had had this effect: That continuation classes had been instituted in the public schools. Those classes would do a great deal of good, but would be of little benefit in the rural schools. Although Mr. Ross was undoubtedly an honorable man, he was an autocrat and czar in his own department. In the Normal School, no man dared drive a nail without first consulting Mr. Ross. There was a general feeling of dissatisfaction and unrest among his employes. The department was rotten at the head, and the rottenness had filtered through it.

The speaker claimed that Toronto University would prosper if cut free from Government control, and he instanced McGill and Queen's. In fact, the great majority of the best men of the university had petitioned Mr. Ross to cut the institution loose from the Government, but he was loth to relinquish his control.

Mr. Whitney ridiculed the new license bill, and charged that the Cabinet were divided upon it. The Opposition had been asked to state its position, but it had declined. It was the Government's funeral, and the Opposition did not propose to help the Cabinet out of the hole into which it had tumbled.

The speaker dwelt at length on the mining question, and claimed that the Opposition's policy was to give the individual prospector the advantage, instead of corporations and syndicates. The Engledue deal, which the speaker called the Engledue steal, came in for a long discussion. He charged Mr. Hardy with swallowing his principles, Mr. Hardy having previously announced that large tracts of mineral land should not be locked up. It was a shameful and iniquitous transaction. All stories of landlordism and tyranny anywhere were flat beside this act, which took from the people of Ontario their gold-bearing lands, of which they needed all, and gave them to a syndicate from the Lord knows where.

Mr. Whitney assailed Mr. Hardy for his alleged change of attitude on the question of junior county judges. He also denounced the action of Mr. Hardy and Mr. Conmee in reference to the latter's candidacy for the Dominion House while a member of the Ontario Legislature. Mr. Hardy, before Mr. Hobbs' election, had asked a London audience to give London a chance, to give Mr. Hobbs a chance, and the Government a chance. Mr. Hardy had requited London by running a knife through the bowels of the city of London bill in reference to the carshops bonus. Mr. Hardy had used similar language at Owen Sound, in advocating Mr. Paterson's election. Mr. Whitney condemned such appeals to the selfish motives of the people as unworthy of a public man, and tending to corrupt public morals. He waxed indignant at the idea of the Ontario Cabinet ministers being lauded as such fearful and wonderful men, while it was claimed the Opposition had none to compare with them. "I could cast a drag-net into the streets of the city," he said, in a lofty burst, "and in an hour haul in eight men with as great capacity as the members of the Ontario Cabinet."

THE OPPOSITION POLICY.

The speaker concluded by outlining the "policy" of the Opposition, reading it carefully from manuscript. The Opposition, he said, pledged itself to husband provincial resources; to stop the creation of new offices; to curtail expenditure, so that direct taxation might be avoided; to introduce a system of auditing which would be a protection to the treasury; to formulate a liberal mining law, by which the interests of the individual settler and miner would be considered before the interests of the corporations and syndicates; to improve the facilities and enlarge the scope of the public schools and maintain the high standard of the high schools; to sever all connection between Toronto University and the Government; to exercise more care and watchfullness in the expenditures for agriculture; to have the license laws in line with common sense and public opinion, and not to shirk the responsibilities thrust upon them; and to investigate the question of the timber limits with a view to their protection.

Mr. Whitney made a running commentary upon the paragraphs. He explained that he did not think too much was spent in agriculture, but he thought it could be more judiciously spent. The Opposition did not propose some magic scheme which was to cure all the evils to which the Government had left the province heir, but their policy would be, in short, a policy of honesty, economy and efficiency. They might fail of election, though they did not expect to; but they were not merely looking for success for the sake of success.

When Mr. Whitney sat down, a general rush was made for the door by those who still remained. Mr. Beattie tried to stem the tide, but failing, announced that several others who had intended to speak would forego the pleasure. Cheers for the Queen, Mr. Whitney, his colleagues, and Mr. Beattie closed the meeting.

Home testimony is more convincing than that from far-off places. Here is some London testimony about Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. A. M. Strongman, 564 Colborne street, London, Ont., says: "On account of close application to study, my daughter Annie became much run down in health and strength.

"I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for her at W. T. Strong's drug store, and their results have been remarkable. Strength has been imparted to her physical and nervous system through their use, and I am highly pleased to recommend them.

"Since last December I have, myself, been suffering with a terrible pain in my back, so severe that I could hardly walk across the room. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me, for, since using them, I have not had any trouble or pain in my back.

"From the great benefit derived by my daughter from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and by myself from Doan's Pills, I cannot do less than highly recommend them to those suffering as I did."

Finch's Faithful Friend

A Dog That Kept the Police at Bay and Created Amusement.

A Violent Prisoner Who Tore His Clothes—Drunk and Vags Sent Down for 90 Days.

Wm. Finch was oblivious to the gaze of spectators as Magistrate Parke called out his name, and looked over his glasses, exclaiming "Drunk!" Finch, the chief said, was arrested by P. C. McDonald, at the corner of King and Clarence streets, at noon yesterday, where he was found lying in a vacant lot. By his side lay a large Newfoundland dog, who refused to allow the officer to molest Finch until the policeman drove him away with a big club. A crowd of about a hundred people collected to see the fun.

"This isn't your first time, Finch," said the police magistrate, and as the prisoner answered "Nay," the magistrate fined him $1.

James Nevale, a crippled vag, who was remanded for a week last Tuesday, was today fined $5 or 20 days in jail.

Sarah Butcher looked rather neat after her week in jail, and in order that she might recuperate still further, she was sent down for 20 days in default of a $5 fine.

Sarah Spence, the woman who came all the way from Hamilton to look for a lost hubby, got drunk to drown her despondency, and was run in. She pleaded hard for a chance, and was allowed to go on condition that she left town.

Mike Riley, a big boiler-maker from Toronto, paid the city another visit. He was arrested at 11:30 last night, and has been so violent ever since that he could not be "presented at court," he having torn his trousers and shirt to ribbons. It is only about a year ago since Riley got into trouble here before, when he was alleged to have had an attack of the "D. T.'s." He will likely come up in two or three days.

Arthur W. Short, an alleged vagrant, was allowed to go.

George Cowie and George Herrick were bound over in $100 to keep the peace for one year towards Ernest Parson.

David McLean, who was summoned for breach of the bylaw, failed to appear, and the case stands over until tomorrow.

In the Dining-Room.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 9.

BREAKFAST — Sliced oranges. Mixed croquettes. Sliced tomatoes. Corn muffins. Honey. Tea.

LUNCHEON—Cold tongue, rhubarb jelly. Stuffed eggs. Beaten biscuit. Iced tea.

DINNER—White soup. Boiled trout, cream sauce. Iced cucumbers. Peas in cream dressing. Biscuit. Rhubarb custard. Coffee.

Cut out these recipes and paste them in a scrap-book.

Mixed Croquettes—Take bits of cold meats of any kind, steaks, roasts and hams, and with scissors cut in very small pieces enough to fill a pint cup; sprinkle it with salt; add a teaspoonful of celery seed, some black pepper, two cold mashed potatoes and a third of a cup of milk. Grate enough cold bread to fill a large cup, and beat an egg thoroughly. Mix the meat with the hands, form into balls, roll in the egg, then in the bread crumbs and fry an even brown in hot lard. Lay on green leaves and serve hot.

Cold Tongue, Rhubarb Jelly—On each piece of sliced tongue put a spoonful of rhubarb jelly made as follows: Cut up and wash the rhubarb and put on to boil with a little water. Let boil briskly, take off and strain through flannel bag, measure and put back to boil. Allow it to boil low, then add three-fourths as much sugar as juice. Boil hard for a few minutes, then turn into glasses and put in the sun. It should be a golden yellow.

White Soup—Quart of sweet milk, pint of cold water, large tablespoon of butter; two mashed potatoes, a small onion, two tablespoons tapioca. Let all boil before adding tapioca, which should be soaked in a little milk, then boil all together, adding one teaspoonful of salt and a quarter-teaspoonful of pepper; a quarter-teaspoonful of celery seed and one beaten egg added make a richer soup.

Peas in Cream Dressing—Put one pint of peas in three cups of boiling water with a thin slice of bacon and boil until tender. Pour off nearly all the water, sprinkle with a saltspoon of salt, add a cup of cream, tablespoon of butter and let all boil up. Sprinkle well with pepper.

Rhubarb Custard—Make a custard as for custard pies, using the yolks of two eggs, pint of sweet milk and sugar to taste. Line a deep pudding dish with a light crust and place in it a layer of chopped rhubarb covered with sugar. Pour over this the custard and bake. Beat the whites, add sugar and lemon juice, spread over the pie when done, and set in oven to brown.

—Lieut. H. R. Poussett, of Sarnia, is taking a special course at Wolseley Barracks, and Lieut. Fred Gorman, of the same place, returned to Sarnia Saturday after a short course.

—Mr. H. C. Pooler, of J. H. Chapman & Co.'s, was attacked by a vicious bulldog while riding on Clarence street, between South and Hill streets, Sunday afternoon. The dog bit Mr. Pooler in the leg, and he has laid an information against the owner.

—The soldiers at Wolseley Barracks put in the time these fine days preparing things for their comrades, who come into camp on Monday next. The lumber for the canteens is being deposited, and the various limits staked out. The tents will be put up on Thursday, and on Friday and Saturday everything will be completed.

—The L. E. and D. R. R. officially announces, through their general agent here, Mr. C. C. Young, that in consequence of extensively refitting the steamer Flora, which is to run between Port Stanley and Cleveland this season, the said boat will make her first trip, leaving Cleveland Wednesday evening, the 16th inst. This information is positive.

—The McClary Manufacturing Company contemplate the establishment of a branch of their works at Montreal. In any event the works would be very small, and would not interfere with the staff here. The idea is to manufacture some of the heavier stuff for that district and thus save freight charges. Messrs. Frank Neilson and Peter Grant, of the Montreal agency, have returned to the city.

—Superintendent E. A. Gould, of the eastern division of the Wabash Railroad, which includes all the track of that company east of the Indiana-Illinois state line, will have charge of the operation of the Wabash train service over the Grand Trunk road, under lease from Detroit to the Suspension Bridge. The distance is 229 miles, and will make the mileage under Mr. Gould nearly 1,000. He is now making a trip over the line arranging for starting the trains next Sunday.

—The annual closing exercises of Hellmuth College began last night before a large and appreciative audience. The pianists in the first part were Miss Dorothy Andras, Miss Miriam Hellmuth, Miss Mildred Salisbury and Miss Ethel Pigot. The vocalists were Miss Lucie Southam, Miss Pigot and Miss Florence Abbott, and the elocutionist Miss Ruth Matthews. Miss Min-Ell Sherley provided a piano recital for the second part, and distinguished herself in a classic programme. Mr. Thomas Martin, the musical director, played the orchestral parts to the concertos on a second piano.

—The June meeting of the London branch of the Leper Mission was held in Somerset Hall yesterday afternoon, the president, Mrs. Robertson, occupying the chair. The opening devotional exercises were conducted by Miss Williamson, who gave an inspiring talk on the Scripture text, "Time is short." Letters from India giving encouraging accounts of the work among the lepers, were read by Mrs. Ferguson and Miss Black. An interesting letter from Miss Lottie McLeod, a former member of the London society, who is now doing missionary work in Telugu, was read by the secretary, and much appreciated by the society. An appropriate missionary solo was excellently rendered by Miss Harwood.

—At a meeting of the Epworth League of Christian Endeavor of Centenary Church, held last evening, Miss Marguerite Baker, president of the league, who is about to leave the city, was presented with an address by the members. The reading of the address was accompanied by the presentation of a beautiful basket of flowers. After the presentation speeches were made by Rev. Dr. Smith, W. M. Doxsee, D. Moore, E. S. Hogarth and others. Miss Baker is one of Hamilton's best-known elocutionists, and has successfully taught elocution here for a number of seasons. She will spend the summer with friends at a distance and resume the study of her art in New York in the fall.—Hamilton Spectator. Miss Baker's parents reside at Lambeth, and she has numerous friends in this city.

Ransford, Judge Ermatinger, Sidney Smith.

After the opening services, the minutes of last meeting were confirmed.

The report of the mission fund was read. The vestry of Emmanuel Church, London township, applied for separation from St. Matthew's. Recommended that the bishop be requested to appoint a commission to visit and report. Carried.

The Government was stated to have withdrawn its aid from the Indian missions at Muncey and Walpole Island. The bishop was requested to appoint a commission to examine into the matter, and report, it being stated that the synod would be unable to pay the amount withdrawn by the Government. The amount granted to the teacher at Oneida will be withdrawn after July 1.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the congregation at Point Edward for a large voluntary increase in the amount of their assessment.

In the matter of the reorganization of the parish of Tyrconnell and Dutton, a deputation was heard, and the matter again laid over for three months. This will also lay over the separation of Port Stanley from St. Thomas, and a special grant of $25 for additional services by students was made.

Archdeacon Marsh appeared before the committee in regard to his claim upon the archdeacon fund. A long discussion took place, but no action was taken.

The finance committee presented their report, showing the accounts paid during the quarter. Report adopted.

The land and investment committee reported the funds well and safely invested. Adopted.

Matters referring to the synod expense account were considered at some length, and certain changes ordered in the arranging of the accounts.

An application was received from Wareham, but no action taken. Several applications in regard to assessments could not be entertained, as being beyond the time. An application from Blyth was referred to a commissioner to be appointed by the bishop.

A committee was appointed to consider a leave of absence case.

The report of the committee on income and expenditure was read by Canon Young, and the necessity for a pro rata reduction pointed out. The secretary-treasurer was requested to carry out the clause of the canon relating thereto. Matters relating to reorganization in Essex were reported upon, and the same referred to a commissioner to be appointed by the bishop.

The committee on the case of Rev. A. Fisher recommended that he be superannuated under the canon, and that an annual grant of $425 be made. Carried.

It was recommended that Beachville be attached to Old St. Paul's, Woodstock, as soon as practicable.

The vestry of Mitchell asked leave to borrow $1,000 on security of the parsonage. Granted on usual conditions. A sum of money held in trust for the same was directed to be handed over.

The vestry of Dungannon asked leave to sell the old parsonage, and to apply the proceeds towards a new one. Granted on usual conditions.

The annual report to the synod was then read, and will be printed in due course.

The application of Rev. Dr. Beaumont for superannuation was granted, on certificate of Dr. Moorhouse.

The application of W. E. Scott for superannuation was referred to Dr. Moorhouse to examine and report at next meeting.

An application from Millbank for rearrangement of services was referred to a commissioner to be appointed by the bishop.

An application from the vestry of Port Burwell for leave to sell a portion of lot was granted.

Applications from Desboro and Maxwell for leave to sell were granted.

The sum of $120 towards the repairs of the church in Dover East was granted out of the trust fund belonging to said church.

The widow of the late Rev. John Jacobs was placed upon the list of widows and orphans for the usual allowance, and a special grant was made to the widow of the late Rev. E. Hutchinson.

After some further business the committee adjourned.

A Happy Reunion.

Annual Meeting of the Huron College Alumni Association.

Forty Members Present—Officers Elected—A Paper by Dr. Sykes.

The annual meeting of the Huron College Alumni Association was held in the college dining hall last evening, 40 members being present. The president, Rev. Rural Dean Hicks, of Simcoe, sat at one end of the table, having as invited guests on his right Rev. Provost Watkins and Rev. Prof. Burgess, Rev. W. Johnston, of Wardsville, second vice-president, occupied the other end of the table, having also as invited guests on his right, Rev. Canon Richardson and Rev. G. B. Sage, and on his left, Prof. F. H. Sykes. After an enjoyable discussion of the menu the annual meeting was immediately convened, as a number of the members were obliged to return to the synod executive committee meeting.

The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President—Rev. W. Johnson, Wardsville.

First Vice-President—Rev. M. S. Freeman, of Tyrconnell.

Second Vice-President—Rev. H. R. Diehl, of Florence.

Secretary—Rev. A. H. Rhodes, of Hyde Park (re-elected).

Treasurer—Ven. Archdeacon Davis (re-elected).

A paper was read by Prof. Sykes on the poets, Watson, Kipling, and Austin. It was a literary treat, and was heartily enjoyed. A cordial vote of thanks was tendered Dr. Sykes, and there were many expressions of sincere regret at his leaving the institution. The association acknowledged with gratitude his excellent work in the university.

The reunion was very happy, and broke up at an early hour.

THERE is not a more dangerous class of disorders than those which affect the breathing organs. Nullify this danger with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—a pulmonic of acknowledged efficacy. It cures soreness and lameness when applied externally, as well as swelled neck and crick in the back; and, as an inward specific, possesses most substantial claim to public confidence.

A PRESBYTERIAN CLERGYMAN

Takes Up a Popular Subject.

He Writes About Paine's Celery Compound.

STRONGLY RECOMMENDS IT.

Like scores of other clergymen who have been made hearty, vigorous and strong by the use of Paine's Celery Compound, the Rev. J. D. Leishman, of Angus, Ont., with all honesty and candor acknowledges the blessings that the great medicine confers on those who make use of it.

Such testimony as the following should prove helpful and encouraging to every weak, ailing and broken-down man and woman.

Rev. Mr. Leishman says:

"I have always found Paine's Celery Compound an excellent nerve tonic, and have frequently recommended it to persons suffering from nervous debility and sleeplessness. I believe it to be a most powerful medicine. It also purifies the blood and revives the system. Give it a fair trial and it will in these cases be found helpful."
