Signing of Contract Releases Troops From Strike Zone

BUILDING MAY START IN 90 DAYS

Immediate Construction of New Hotel Depends On Transfer of Sites.

CONFERENCE IS HELD

Construction Company Vice-President and Tenant Will Meet Council Today.

Construction company representatives, local interests and city officials all reported progress in London's new hotel plan at the conclusion of this morning's conference at the London & Western Trusts Company office.

Six local stockholders in previous hotel companies were appointed as a committee to confer with John G. Trainer, vice-president of the Lynch Construction Company, 100 East 42nd street, New York, and his associates this afternoon concerning the site of the hotel and draft something definite to lay before the council at a special meeting called for 5:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Little or no change was advanced by Mr. Trainer this morning in the construction company's plan as already outlined by John M. Moore to No. 1 committee of the city council, and this plan was heartily and entirely endorsed by the Benson-Hines and Lloyd George hotel stockholders who attended the meeting in goodly numbers.

J. J. Lussier and son, Russell Lussier, both of New York, who are here with Mr. Trainer as prospective operators of the hotel when completed will have considerable to say as to what site will finally be chosen, though there is little doubt but that it will be the federal square. No opposition will be raised by the two former hotel stockholders to a transfer of the Richmond, Fullarton and Queen's avenue property if such be the ultimate decision.

Promoter Satisfied.

Speaking to the Advertiser at the close of the conference Mr. Trainer stated that as vice-president of the company he has full authority to complete the whole proposition and added that he is fully satisfied with the measure of co-operation extended to his company by the local investors whom he met this morning.

"Within 90 days after we secure a clear piece of ground," said Mr. Trainer, "we will commence construction. We are to provide 75 per cent of the total investment for a 250-room hotel costing $1,000,000 or more by means of a serial bond issue while local capital will be subscribed for the balance, to be taken as 7 per cent preferred stock in the hotel company. We will secure a reliable tenant who will pay an annual rental sufficient to retire the carrying costs of the investment from year to year and besides any and all agreements that we make in connection with the hotel will be guaranteed by responsible surety companies."

Mr. Trainer indicated that he per-

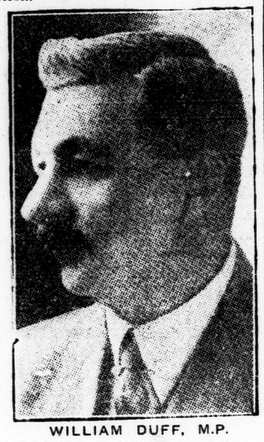
Duff Is Liberal Choice As Fielding Steps Out

Canadian Press Despatch.

Bridgewater, N. S., Aug. 7.—William Duff, M.P., was chosen by the Liberals of Queens and Lunenburg counties yesterday as their candidate in the next federal elections at the first convention to be held since the two counties were joined by redistribution.



WILLIAM DUFF, M.P.

Right Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance and member for Queens county, sent a letter to the convention, in which he expressed regret at his inability to again offer himself for election and urged that Mr. Duff be chosen.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—Intimation that the Right Hon. W. S. Fielding will not be a candidate in the next general election is in line with what had been expected in political circles. Last session parliament voted Mr. Fielding an annuity of $10,000, and the interpretation placed on the vote was that his retirement from office as minister of finance would be a feature of the next cabinet reorganization.

During Mr. Fielding's illness, Hon. J. A. Robb, minister of immigration, has also been acting as minister of finance. It is probable that Mr. Robb will be appointed minister of finance in the next cabinet reorganization, with another appointee as minister of immigration.

Summers of 1926 and 1927 May Be Cool, But Dangers of Freezing To Death Few

Dr. H. R. Kingston, F.R.A.S., Offers Solace to Predictions of Stormy Weather.

SUN SPOTS BLAMED

Movements of Solar Cyclones Bring Reactions in Weather On Earth.

Canadians will not freeze to death during the summers of 1926 and 1927, is the opinion of Dr. H. H. Kingston, F.R.A.S., director of the summer school of the university, speaking this morning on the cold, stormy summers promised one or two years hence by Toronto scientists.

"It is true that sun spots do cause depressions of temperatures on the earth," said Dr. Kingston. "They reach their maximums every 11 years. I do not understand the statement about a maximum reached 262 years ago. It may have been a particularly bad year. We get the maximum every 11 years."

Dr. Kingston describes the sun spots as cyclones travelling about the sun. They are either pushed up or sent downward. This causes a depression and colder weather. Such action might and probably would mean greater rainfall and cool days.

Continuing, Dr. Kingston said: "The most conspicuous markings ever seen on the sun are relatively dark spots. They appear in the atmosphere. They last from a few days to several months. The average duration is a month or so.

"The typical spot consists of a round, relatively black nucleus. Around this is a dark belt. The black part is 500 to 50,000 miles across. Sometimes this may be seen with the naked eye, using a smoked glass to relieve the glare of the sun.

"Though the spots appear dark, they are ablaze with brilliance. The sun is so much brighter that it makes the spots appear dark," he said.

KLANSMEN GATHER IN WASHINGTON

Fifty Thousand To Hold Demonstration in U. S. Capital Tomorrow.

Associated Press Despatch.

Washington, Aug. 7.—By train and motor, Ku Klux Klansmen arrived in the capital from far and near today as the advance guard of more than 50,000 visitors expected for the Klan demonstration here tomorrow. A government reservation of twenty-three acres has been assigned as a camping space for the Klansmen on the outskirts of the city.

The program of events tomorrow will lead off with a parade, forming at peace monument, and passing down Pennsylvania avenue to the Washington monument grounds.

The police authorities, in explaining an order calling the full force on duty tomorrow, said they expected no trouble, and the order was merely a precautionary step against it.

Red Flags On Street Cars, Owner of Cart Advocates

R. Riozzi was this morning's police court star entertainer. In his matiness performance, critics declared him worthy of the "big time." With his eccentric manner, foreign accent and novel suggestions, he convulsed a crowded courtroom, police officers and the magistrate himself.

Riozzi drove a horse and wagon past a standing street car the other day and for this breach of a city by-law appeared in court this morning.

It was a one-man act. Riozzi, without the slightest hesitation, took the center of the stage the moment his name was called. In a fluent flow of Roman-English he denounced law, the police and everything that had to do with his personal interference. Five times he was interrupted and told to be quiet, but his mouth continued to operate. He interjected and exclaimed, muttered in English and then in Italian.

Riozzi became exasperated after his voluble outburst and much gesticulation and when the magistrate learned that he desired a counsel to explain his arguments, adjournment of the case was readily granted.

Riozzi's prize suggestion, and one that Chief Birrell recommended be taken up by the department of public highways, was that all street car conductors should be equipped with red flags in order to halt wagon drivers when a car stopped to take on or let off passengers.

WET STEP PLANNED BY TORIES

Plebiscite On Local Option or Election With That As Issue Likely.

4.4 BEER A FAILURE

Pap to Wets Would Fill War Chest—Even Government Control Mooted.

The definite abandonment by the Ferguson government of the present Conservative policy in relation to liquor laws in Ontario will be informally announced to the party's provincial organization at the Tory picnic to be held at Springbank on Aug. 19.

While the political pow-wow is designed to stimulate interest in the federal situation and to give Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen an opportunity to stump in Western Ontario it has been recognized that the wets who have aided the return of Ferguson to power have been greatly disgruntled and that it will be necessary to feed some further pap to the hard liquor group if they are to fill the party war chest, even in a Dominion election.

"The Ferguson government will come out very soon with a frank admission that 4.4 beer is a frank admission of the most prominent of the party leaders in Western Ontario told The Advertiser today. "The hotel men are up in arms against Hon. W. F. Nickle personally and against the party's liquor policy generally. Even in Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa, London and the larger centers most of the bars are not averaging a gross of $10 a day. In Windsor where one of the largest hotels took in $10,000 in the first ten days, the average receipts have fallen to between $12 and $15 a day, and when the weather is cool the sale is next to nothing. The bars of Ontario as a general thing are not paying expenses."

Licenses Worthless.

"The grievance heard on every side is that the hotelmen were forced to clear out good revenue tenants from ground floor space, to alter windows and doors and make other costly changes before they could get a license that has since proved to be worthless. The government has now decided that the people cannot be pleased and tourist traffic cannot be induced by a temperance beer. Beer of stronger than 4.4 per cent will be intoxicating in some instances. Therefore the government has been forced to make a decision between wet and dry. Premier Ferguson and his cabinet are disinclined to force wet laws on the drys or dry laws on the wets. Therefore a positive and final decision has been reached to go to the country with a local option plan. Those places that vote wet will be given admittedly intoxicating beverages and those that vote dry will have the privilege of banning even 4.4."

May Be Early Vote.

The government still has a couple of years to run and for that reason has a further choice yet to make between an early plebiscite on local option or a provincial election with the government's local option plan as the issue. It is understood that majority opinion in the party ranks favors the latter course. A prominent Conservative worker of London made the statement that Premier Ferguson might even go to the country on a government control liquor ticket. There is some pressure from the federal wing of the party organization for a very early provincial election. It is hoped that if the Conservatives could gain an endorsation in Ontario it would strengthen Meighen's campaign in the country at large. This morale election might be sprung with voting a fortnight before whatever date may be chosen for the next general election in the dominion.

HOIST DROPS SIXTY FEET, TORONTO MAN KILLED

ATTEMPT TO WRECK PLANE POSTPONES LONG FLIGHT

Associated Press Despatch.

Rome, Aug. 6.—Reports from Brisbane, Australia, to Rome newspapers today say that Commander Francesco De Pinedo, the Italian aviator, who is attempting a flight from Australia to Japan, has been obliged to postpone his departure from Brisbane, where he arrived today, owing to a criminal attempt to damage his hydroplane.

Merger Not Considered

Hon. George P. Graham Denies Proposals Being Discussed.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—Hon. G. P. Graham, minister of railways, today emphatically denied that proposals for amalgamation of the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific were under consideration.

"What is being done," said Mr. Graham, "is in line with my statement to parliament when the railway estimates were brought down." He then said he was going to ask the two railways to get together as much as possible and try to co-operate as much as possible.

MASKED ROBBER NOT FOREIGNER

John Trehuker Has Good Description of Armed Midnight Marauder.

That the masked and armed burglar who has terrorized the people of the vicinity of William, Philip and Nelson streets by a series of raids in the dead of night, is a Canadian or American of sturdy build, has been brought to light by the investigations conducted by detectives.

John Trehuber of 50 William street who caught the armed man in his house at 2:15 in the morning and who struggled with the intruder for ten minutes until Mrs. Trehuber's screams frightened the burglar away, has a very good description.

The burglar, he said, is about 5 feet, 10 inches in height, thick-set and broad in the shoulders. He gave his commands in clear English with no foreign accent. He wore a black mask with slits for his eyes, but the mask did not cover his nose or chin and showed him to be of quite fair complexion. His hands, too, were quite white skinned, Trehuber told The Advertiser. It was the hands and nose particularly that Trehuber noted when the burglar rushed him through his house, with drawn revolver in his right hand and an electric flashlight in the left.

The man had a gray tweed suit and a gray cap. Police believe that the pronounced ashy whiteness of the nose, which caught Trehuber's especial attention, may have been one of the marks of a cocaine fiend.

LABOR CONDEMNS CADET MOVEMENT

London Locals Will Submit a Resolution to Trades Congress.

Sentiments of London labor on problems of the day will be made known to the Dominion Trades Congress, which opens it annual session in Ottawa on Aug. 31, in ten or more resolutions. The executive of the Trades and Labor council will hold a special meeting in the Labor temple tonight to sanction and arrange the formal views of the various locals desirous of bringing certain questions into the limelight.

The resolutions will be taken to the congress by R. Foxcroft and G. B. Brewer, accredited delegates from the local council.

Among the resolutions offered for the approval of the executive are, that the congress go on record as condemning the school cadet movement, that corporations and factories be denied the privilege of maintaining private armed police, and that the sending of armed troops to strike zones be made unlawful. These were introduced by A. Graves at Wednes day night's meeting of the trades council. Mr. Graves gave notice that he would also submit about six more resolutions.

AUSTRALIAN YOUTHS ARE TO BE SENT BACK TO HOMES

Canadian Press Despatch.

Hamilton, Aug. 7.—Three Australian youths headed west as harvesters, were found stranded in an ancient car at the eastern entrance to the city today. They said they had come from their home on a tramp steamer, landing at Montreal, and had reached Toronto by train. They had bought the car and headed west. As they had no passports, the trio was given ten days in which to dispose of the car and get back to Montreal en route to Australia.

Associated Press Despatch.

4.4 BRINGS NO HONORS FOR O.T.A.

Local Convictions For Liquor Law Breaches Jump Again in July.

FINES ARE $1,270

Amount Unusually Large On Account of Cuts in Minimum Penalties.

Two months of 4.4 beer has had no lessening effect on the illegal use of liquor in the city, according to July's police court statistics. On the contrary, the number of O. T. A. convictions in Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon's court shows a slight increase over other months of this year.

There was an average of a drunk a day in the city for July. Thirty-two in all paid fines for their insobriety. Forty-one O. T. A. cases brought fines totaling $1,270—a larger amount than usual when it is taken into consideration that under recent new O. T. A. amendments the minimum fine for having liquor in a public place was reduced from $200 to $50. Five men contributed $250 for breaches of this section of the act, whereas they would have been forced to pay $1,000 before the amendments came into effect.

Total Fines $2,250.

Total penalties imposed for all offences amounted to $2,250, an average amount in comparison with the two former months of May and June.

The statistics reveal that the county jail is not regarded as a pleasant summer resort for many Londoners. Wherever possible, jail terms were avoided upon full payment of alternative fines. Only $375 of all fines imposed remained unpaid. The amount of unpaid fines for the preceding month totaled $1,035.

Highway traffic act breaches for July were numerous. Many speeders were summoned and fined. More than $635 was collected by the court from 64 motorists who fell before speed cops and traffic officers.

Five Sent to Jail.

Five were sent to jail for driving their motor cars while drunk. In each case, the minimum term of one week was imposed.

Two wife deserters were convicted and sentenced. Until the beginning of this week five have been convicted for breaches of the wives maintenance act.

Crime in the city for the past month shows a remarkable decrease. Only a few cases of theft or petty pilfering came before the attention of Magistrate Graydon and Deputy Magistrate F. W. Gladman.

The monthly police report, compiled by Police Court Clerk John Moule and his assistant, Miss Ida Jackson, shows that of $2,250 in penalties imposed, the municipality will receive $1,675 and the federal government $200.

SIR ROBERT HORNE,
former British chancellor of the exchequer, is one of the chief critics within the Baldwin government's own ranks, of the mining subsidy. He is expected to assail it during debate on the subject in the commons.

HATHEWAY GOES TO PRISON CELL

Thorndale Bank Robber Leaves To Serve Six Years at Kingston.

Just a little over a month ago, G. Leslie Hatheway entered a bank door with drawn revolver. This afternoon he entered another door and, vanished behind the grim gray walls of Kingston penitentiary. He will not see that door again for six years.

Acceding to Hatheway's request that he be sent to Kingston as soon as possible, Sheriff Graham made arrangements late last night for the transportation of the Thorndale bank robber to Kingston on the 5:20 C. N. R. train this morning.

Arriving at the station, provincial Constable Lloyd Mennie and County Constable Ed. Guest found that the train was an hour and 30 minutes late and took their man back to the jail, leaving once more at 6:45 for the station.

It was not until the journey to the station had been completed, that Hatheway seemed to realize just what the sentence of six years imposed by Magistrate Gladman yesterday morning really meant. The confident smile that he carried during his incarceration at the Middlesex jail was conspicuous by its absence. His shoulders drooped perceptibly as he crossed the sunlit platform to the first coach, handcuffed to Constable Mennie, the man mainly responsible for his capture.

With face pressed to the window, he took his last look at London as the train steamed slowly out.

London will never see Leslie Matheyaw again. He will never return to this city, if he carries out the statements made to friends yesterday afternoon.

Veniot On the Home Stretch Heading For Own Riding

New Brunswick Premier Will Make Final Appeal in Gloucester.

BOTH SIDES HOPEFUL

Campaign Has Been Fought Over Waterpower Development.

Canadian Press Despatch.

St. John, N.B., Aug. 7.—Premier P. J. Veniot of New Brunswick, who on Monday will appeal to the electorate of the province for a renewal of confidence, was today en route to his own constituency of Gloucester, where he will spend the closing days of the campaign. Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, leader of the opposition, was booked to speak at Fredericton.

Last night the premier spoke in St. John and Dr. Baxter addressed two meetings in Albert county. The campaign has been fought for the most part over the government's proposal to proceed at once with the development of Grand Falls, the most potential waterpower in the maritime provinces, as a publicly-owned enterprise.

Both sides expressed confidence in the result of Monday's balloting. The opposition contention that the contracts already let for the Grand Falls development should be cancelled pending a more exhaustive study of the project won the active support of Angus McLean, president of the Bathurst Lumber Company, Limited, and a former supporter of the government.

Swampscott, Mass., Aug. 6—If Calvin Coolidge wants the presidential nomination in 1928 he can have it. R.C.R. MEN COMING IN FEW DAYS

Signing of New Contract Today Scatters Danger of Further Trouble.

OPERATE AT ONCE

London Soldiers Expected To Quit Strike Zone Monday or Tuesday.

With the settlement of the coal miners' strike in the Glace Bay district, it is expected that the members of the Royal Canadian Regiment here will leave the Maritimes on Monday or Tuesday for London.

In the absence of General King, Col. W. T. Lawless, D.S.O., assistant deputy and Q. M. G., headquarters, said today that as yet no official word had been received at Piccadilly street concerning the troop movements. This would likely take place from the Halifax end. He looked for the early arrival of the soldiers.

It is thought likely that the officers and men will leave for their respective districts as soon as the miners return to work. Despatches from Halifax today say that it is the intention of the men to enter the mines Monday morning.

At 8 o'clock in the morning of June 13, eight officers and 92 men left London for the strike area in Nova Scotia. They belonged to C Company of the R. C. R., with headquarters at Wolseley barracks.

Col. E. A. Seely Smith, commanding officer, was in charge of the train. The company was met in Toronto by 900 soldiers from Largest Niagara camp and other points. They at once entrained for the Maritimes to prevent any further disturbances similar to the New Waterford riots which occurred shortly before their arrival.

In 1923, the R. C. R. was called out for the same purpose. The regiment was away more than six weeks. The stay this summer will total eight weeks.

CONTRACT SIGNED.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 7.—Immediate resumption of work in the mines of Cape Breton was made possible by the conclusion of a contract between the British Empire Steel Corporation and its striking workers today.

A contract based on the compromise wage agreement recently adopted by both sides was signed here this morning after a brief conference between representatives of both sides.

6 MONTHS' CONTRACT.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Glace Bay, N. S., Aug. 7.—The district board of the United Mine Workers met with officials of the British Empire Steel Corporation at Glace Bay today to draw up a six months' contract as provided in the strike settlement proposals of the government. Should this contract be signed this week, it is expected that work will be resumed in the five-months-idle coal mines of the province on Monday.

The contract, in which was embodied the Rhodes wage proposals, the 1922 scale of rates and conditions as under the 1924 agreement, is for six months.

The conference adjourned shortly after noon to meet again this afternoon. The discussion after luncheon will involve the manner in which the miners are to return to the pits. It is expected that the whistles will blow at several of the collieries for work on Monday morning.

Firebug Suspected When New Building Is Burned

Two Houses Badly Damaged in Fires of Mysterious Origin.

BOTH HOUSES VACANT

All Circumstances in Both Cases Point To Incendiarism.

For the second time on Wednesday fire of mysterious origin, believed to be incendiary, partially destroyed vacant buildings, when a combined dwelling and store, in the course of erection at the corner of Adelaide and Cheapside street, was attacked by flames at 5:30 yesterday afternoon. John Waide, 1010 Adelaide street, was the owner, and his loss will be several thousands of dollars, uncovered by insurance.

Early in the morning an untenanted dwelling at 310 Wharncliffe road was the scene of a fire. Here rags were found.

The second building was nearly finished, and the plasterers declare everything was all right when they left, shortly after 5 o'clock. Later a neighbor noticed smoke and phoned the alarm. When the firemen arrived the whole interior was a mass of flames. The partitions and woodwork were destroyed and several holes burned in the roof. The rapid spread of the flames, combined with the fact that the wiring had not been connected with the hydro, give credence to a theory that someone deliberately set the place on fire.

FREE BEER FOR PICNIC, SUPPLY IS ORDERED

I. B. S. To Be Pioneers in Procedure As Result of Nickle's Ruling.

Protected by the ruling from the attorney-general's department that 4.4 beer may be distributed free on picnic grounds, the refreshment committee of the Irish picnic, to be held at Port on Wednesday, Aug. 12, has carried out its original plans and has ordered a supply of 4.4 for the outing.

The desire of the Irish Benevolent Society to include free beer on its picnic program brought provincial-wide attention as both License Commissioner Ross, of St. Thomas, and the Board of License Commissioners ruled that the procedure was illegal. This decision was reversed, however, by the attorney-general's department.

STAY IN CANADA, WOODS DECLARES

Conditions Far Better Here, the C. of C. Secretary Tells Lions Club.

W. H. Woods, secretary of the chamber of commerce, brought a cheerful message to the Lions' club last night in comparing Canadian conditions with those of the United States as he saw them on his recent visit in that country.

"Canada has several thousands of unemployed and some idle factories," observed Mr. Woods, "but there are more than 1,000,000 men unemployed in the United States at the present time, and there are hundreds of factories that are not turning a wheel over there.

"Canada is encouraging immigration of men and women of British stock, and thousands of Canadians are making their way back to the dominion from the states," pursued the speaker, "while on the other hand, United States is discouraging immigration and refusing entrance to foreigners and actually Britishers. More than 15,000 Canadians returned home the first eleven months of last year because they were not doing so well in the republic to the south.

"War, its aftermath, world conditions and economic law," concluded Mr. Woods, "are responsible for the situation in Canada today. But, at that, conditions are not so bad compared with other countries, and London conditions are not so bad compared with other centers, and they will improve if everyone and every organization does its bit collectively rather than individually."

Mr. Woods' address featured the luncheon, at which arrangements were made for the sacred band concert to be given by the Salvation Army citadel band in Victoria Park next Sunday night. Not being able to participate in the military tattoo which the club staged recently at Tecumseh park in aid of the Victoria park bandstand fund, the Salvation Army band has undertaken to put on a series of concerts in the park, at which collections are taken in aid of the fund, next Sunday's concert being the second in the series.

Fred Gill provided some excellent entertainment.

Demand That

Their Customers Be Offered Same Opportunity

This is our reply to manufacturers who request that we refrain from offering their products at cut prices, even though, as occasionally happens, some of our competitors have previously done so. We demand that you, our customers, be given at least one similar opportunity. The fact that our prices are usually considerably lower is a matter between you and ourselves. This advertisement contains many rare opportunities to "save money." You will do well to take full advantage of them.

WOMAN BATHER DROWNS IN PORT ELGIN HARBOR

Port Elgin, Aug. 6.—In view of a number of campers sitting along the beach, Miss Ethel Diegel of Port Elgin was drowned in the dangerous waters of the channel in the harbor here tonight.

About dusk, Miss Diegel left the Lakeview inn, where she had been working, to go in bathing, and had been in the water alone for about 15 minutes when suddenly the campers noticed that she had disappeared, although no cry for help had come from her.

The alarm was quickly given and, with the aid of the motor cars throwing their headlights on the water, the body was recovered in about 15 minutes with rowboats and poles.

First aid was rendered and two doctors worked over her for an hour, but life was extinct.

GOOD DISTRICT OUTLOOK, REPORT TO BRADSTREETS

Reports to Bradstreet's say that the good agricultural outlook in this province is well maintained. The crop of fall wheat and other grains which are now being harvested is turning out well and in some cases better than was expected earlier in the season. Wholesale and retail trade are moderately active with warmer weather stimulating the demand for some lines of goods materially. Sports goods, cold drinks, etc., are all moving better than they were. Demand for hardware continues active. Advances have been quoted in certain lines of tarred papers and roll roofings. The employment situation here is fairly satisfactory. Collections are fair. Sentiment for the fall is good in view of the promising agricultural conditions.

Associated Press Despatch.

Boulogne, France, Aug. 7.—Announcement was made this morning that the attempt of Miss Gertrude Ederle to swim across the English Channel from the French to the English coast has been postponed until Aug. 17. Although there was a change in the weather this morning, making conditions for a channel swim none too suitable, Miss Lillian Harrison, the Argentine girl, may start in accordance with her plans tonight.

BENGAL'S LIBERAL CHIEF IS DEAD IN CALCUTTA

Associated Press Despatch.

Calcutta, India, Aug. 7.—Sir Surendranath Banerjea, leader of the Liberal party in Bengal, and the father of Indian nationalism, died yesterday. Although he was in his 77th year he recently resumed the editorship of his old organ of liberalism, The Bengali, which position he had previously held for many years.

Sir Surendranath Banerjea was taking an active part in the efforts to revivify the Liberal party in India in its fight against the Swarajists or home rulers, and his death is regarded as adding complications to a condition of affairs that is already very difficult.

CANADA HIGH IN 'PHONE CENSUS

Dominion Has Second Largest Number of Instruments Per Capita.

In the development of telephones and telegraphs, according to the latest statistics on world conditions in these important industries compiled by the statistical department of the Bell system, Canada occupies a very creditable position. Only the United States, of all the nations of the earth exceeds this dominion in the number of telephones per hundred of population, and next to us comes Denmark and then far-off New Zealand. The figures for the leaders in telephone development are:

United States, 13.7 telephones per hundred inhabitants; Canada, 11.0; Denmark, 8.7; New Zealand, 8.3; Sweden, 6.7; Norway, 6.1; Australia, 5.0; Switzerland, 4.6; Germany, 3.8; Netherlands, 2.7; Great Britain 2.5.

In the matter of miles of telephone wire in use per hundred inhabitants, our position is even more favorable, added, no doubt, by the great distances our western telephone systems must traverse. The figures here are:

Canada, 28.0 miles per hundred inhabitants; New Zealand, 22.2; Denmark, 20.5; Sweden, 14.7; United States, 37.0.

Toronto Is Ninth.

Among fifty of the world's larger cities, as of Jan. 1, 1924, Toronto stood ninth in point of telephone development, being credited with 21.0 telephones per hundred inhabitants. In this list San Francisco, with 28.8 is given first place. Ottawa, with 17.4 telephones, would be well up, but is apparently too small in population to be included in this particular list. Montreal, with 11.4 telephones per hundred of population, is in fourteenth place.

Of the eight important nations from which the returns for the fiscal year 1923 are quoted, Canada is the lowest in point of earnings per telephone. The national currencies of the various countries have here been converted into United States currency at average rates of exchange for that year. The figures are: Australia, $50.71; Canada, $43.14; Great Britain and Northern Ireland $58.18; Japan, $54.46; Netherlands, $61.17; Sweden, $48.71; Switzerland, $48.69; United States, $48.49. It would seem a fair inference here that on the average throughout the dominion the amount paid by telephone users for the service furnished them is not unreasonable when compared with other lands.

9.2 Phones Per Hundred.

The figures show that in communities of less than one hundred thousand population, which would embrace the rural sections, Canada's telephone development is 9.2 phones per hundred inhabitants. The next lowest under this head is New Zealand, with 8.2; Denmark, 8.3. The United States heads this list with 11.5 phones per hundred.

Dr. Shields Not Supported In Attack On Rockefeller; Fund Pays Baptist Deficit prominent Toronto barrister, of the firm of Malone, Malone & Montgomery, who died suddenly while sitting at his desk in his office Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. Dr. Bowley Green and Rev. R. J. Murphy Do Not Accept Accusation of Modernism.

WANT MORE DATA

London Baptist clergymen are not convinced, as is Rev. T. T. Shields, D.D., Toronto, that the Rockefeller foundation is interested wholly or chiefly in the propagation of modernism.

Rev. Bowley Green, D.D., Talbot street church, and Rev. R. J. Murphy, Wortley road church, were disinclined to accept as final and complete Dr. Shields' assertion, made in an address to his own congregation last night. They agreed, however, with Dr. Shields that, if such be the purpose and desire of the Rockefeller fund, then not a single dollar should in future be accepted by the Baptist church from the foundation. Both local ministers strongly condemned modernism, denouncing it whether promoted by Rockefeller money or by any other institution.

Dr. Green was inclined to be critical of Dr. Shields, whom he observed is "not a sane man," and whom, he charged, is trying to "make capital" out of his recent flying visit to the United States and the Northern Baptist convention.

Questions Accusation.

"Dr. Shields is only one man," continued Dr. Green, "and he has not sufficient data to make such an unqualified charge against the foundation. I want to know more about it myself, and until I do, I am not prepared to accept Dr. Shields' accusation.

"John D. Rockefeller has made up the deficits of Baptist missionary boards and other departments of the work for ten or fifteen years now, and he has given millions in doing so. It must be remembered, to, that Rockefeller gave of his millions long before the controversy of modernism and fundamentalism ever entered into the life of the Baptist church.

"I will say," concluded Dr. Green, "that if what Dr. Shields claims is true, then I would certainly not accept any gifts from the fund, nor would any true Baptist be willing to do so."

While admitting that Dr. Shields, as president of the Baptist Bible union, an organization formed for the express purpose of combatting modernism, should know what he is talking about before he speaks, Mr. Murphy would like to have a wider inquiry into the whole question before anything definite is done in refusing aid from the Rockefeller Foundation.

Rockefeller a Baptist.

Mr. Murphy is of the opinion that John D. Rockefeller, Jun., is a modernist, but he does not venture any opinion whatsoever concerning Mr. Rockefeller, Sen., and, as a Baptist, was at one time a member of one of the Cleveland Baptist churches.

"Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick D.D., has accepted the pulpit of Park Avenue Baptist church, New York," explained Mr. Murphy, "which church, it is well known, is run by Mr. Rockefeller, Jun., while Dr. Fosdick is also known as an out-and-out modernist. Formerly a Baptist, Dr. Fosdick was asked to resign his pastorate as minister of First Presbyterian church, New York, because of his modernistic views, and the only condition he accepted the Park avenue church on was that members should be received into it with or without Baptism, according to the wishes of the individual. Dr. Fosdick is a modernist and that's heretic; accepting members without baptism is letting down the bars, and that is making Park avenue church not a Baptist church at all.

"I am opposed to modernism in every shape and form," concluded Mr. Murphy, "and if Rockefeller funds are devoted to promoting modernism, then I am absolutely opposed to the Baptist church making use of any of those funds."

CITY PROMINENT IN NEW BOOKLET

Windsor-Niagara Highway Brochure Is Full of Valuable Information for Tourists.

Replete with features not usually found in booklets of the kind, 10,000 copies of the brochure compiled by the Windsor-Niagara highway association are now ready for distribution and are being sent out from the office of the local chamber of commerce to all points of the United States. Copies will be distributed to all members of the Kiwanis club, Lion club and Rotary club with a request that they forward them to fellow-members in Uncle Sam's territory, and any citizens of London who have friends to whom they would like to send booklets may secure them free of charge on application at the chamber of commerce office.

Two full pages are devoted to a description of the attractions of London and two excellent illustrations help to convey the invitation at the top of the page for the tourist to "Linger in London". The citys fine drinking water is mentioned, and its parks, tourists' camp, University buildings, golf courses all are included in the chapter. An invitation in red in large type conveys a hearty invitation to tourists to visit London on the occasion of the centennial celebration next summer.

Unusual features of the booklet include a list of service club meetings in the various cities and towns along the route. The list gives the name of the club, and also its time and place of meeting. Another list tells tourists just where they may play golf at each stopping place. Names and addresses of American Consular officers are also set forth and accurate logs of routes, maps, speed regulations, information re hunting and fishing round out a compilation of information designed to be of the utmost attractiveness and usefulness to intending tourists through Ontario. The beauties of the Windsor-Niagara Falls route during autumn months of September and October is commented upon in the hope that the booklet will be the means of attracting many tourists this fall.

ODDFELLOWS' OUTING SET FOR TOMORROW

Big Turnout of Lodgemen Expected at Springbank on Saturday.

Arrangements have been completed for the Oddfellows' picnic at Springbank tomorrow afternoon, and indications point to the largest crowd of Oddfellows ever assembled in this district.

The picnic this year takes the form of a joint affair between London District No. 14 and Strathroy District No. 6.

George Haylock, general chairman, London, states that he has just returned from a visit to several of the lodges in Strathroy district and the members of the order in that district are very enthusiastic.

Oddfellows and their friends will be present from London, Dorchester Ilderton, Strathroy, Kerwood, Watford, Melbourne, Mount Brydges and a number of other local districts.

A splendid program of sports has been arranged, a feature of the afternoon being the championship baseball game for the Borland trophy between Eureka and Chorazin lodges of this city.

There will also be an exciting softball game between a team from Forest City and Dominion lodges, representing London district, and a team from Strathroy district.

The thrill of the afternoon will be produced when the ladies of each district battle for the softball honors of Western Ontario. This game promises many exciting plays and some wonderful fielding, and is being looked forward to with no slight degree of interest.

Refreshments will be served in the pavilion and an enjoyable time is assured to all who attend.

DEATH OF RALPH HAMILTON.

The death of Ralph Gordon Hamilton, aged 3 years and 7 months, son of Charles R. and Lottie Hamilton, 30 Maitland street, occurred yesterday in the War Memorial children's hospital, after an illness of a few days. The funeral will be held from the family residence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock to Mount Pleasant cemetery, where interment will take place.

PROVOST WOULD MAKE EXCELLENT BISHOP

Rev. C. A. Seager Favored For Kingston Post by Local Clergy.

Rev. C. A. Seager, D.D., provost of Trinity college, Toronto, would make an excellent choice as bishop of Ontario, in the opinion of Rt. Rev. David Williams, D.D., bishop of Huron, in succession to Bishop Bidwell, who recently resigned that see.

Commenting upon the Brockville despatch to the effect that Provost Seager is prominently mentioned for the position, Bishop Williams stated this morning that as an outstanding churchman Dr. Seager would render great service to the church should he be given the see. The bishop of Huron added that he is personally well acquainted with Dr. Seager, as well as with Rev. H. H. Bedford-Jones, D.D., Perth, who is the other one of the two men referred to in the despatch.

Dr. Seager is well known in London, having delivered the university sermon at the University of Western Ontario on at least one occasion in recent years, and has in addition to that conducted special services at the Church of St. John the Evangelist and also at St. James' church, South London.

BUSINESS WANTS COLLEGE GRADS

Enrollment in Commercial Economics Class at University Heavy As Result.

Registrations already received for the commercial economics class at the University of Western Ontario indicate that this year's attendance in that department will far exceed that of any year since the class was started. Professor Ellis H. Morrow, head of the department, stated to The Advertiser this morning that registrations were coming in rapidly from all over Western Ontario for the fall term, and the prospects are for a very much larger class than ever before.

Increasing recognition by big corporations and business concerns of the value of college training for their future executives is given by Prof. Morrow as one reason for the big increase in the number of students.

There has been created both in this country and the United States an insistent demand for the college graduate in business, because experience has proven to business executives that the young man with college training can be more quickly and thoroughly developed and has greater potential abilities for the handling of intricate executive duties than the man who lacks such training.

"The keenness of the demand is shown by the fact that every one of last year's graduates is now occupying a responsible position," Prof. Morrow said. "I could have placed three or four times the number of graduates we had, in fact a number of firms have expressed disappointment at being unable to secure one or more of them. The boys who have gone into industry or business are already making good, several of them to a remarkable degree. One is already head of a department in a very big Canadian corporation and several others have had good promotions since starting in. They are creating a very favorable impression among their business associates and are a credit to London and to the university. Their success will inevitably result in an increased demand for college-trained men in business and industry, a demand which we hope eventually to overtake owing to the increasing number of young men enrolling for training."

Greatest sunspot maximum in 262 years is due next year, scientists affirm. How about 1914, when Kaiser Bill made his celebrated bid for a spot in the sun?

* * *

Minimum sunshine in coming summers will probably mean lower necks and shorter skirts, so as to benefit by what little sunshine there is. Ah, well, the outlook is not so dark at that.

* * *

Florists convention has discovered that the credit system is the curse of their business. Hereafter their slogan will be: "We said it with flowers, now you say it with cash."

* * *

Flower merchants have themselves to blame. If they persist in selling fresh-cut flowers there should be no surprise at finding that there is a little due on them yet.

* * *

Normal summer weather has at last been restored. The well-known sea serpent has put in his annual appearance, this time off the coast of B. C. Yet they say government control is a success out there.

* * *

The boy who was passing a Montreal restaurant when a pail of flaming lard suddenly landed on him must have been as surprised as the aviator when his parachute failed to open.

* * *

Rubber exports have jumped a thousand tons a month. This ought to make the market more elastic.

* * *

Sarnia is rejoicing over unexpected income from police court fines. So far this year they are $3,000 over the estimate. Yet one hears crime doesn't pay.

* * *

Twelve thousand applications were received by a New York man who advertised that he wished to adopt a little girl. Of course the fact that he was extremely wealthy had nothing to do with it.

* * *

Fire insurance is receiving close attention of the Anglican church these days. Excellent. We always thought that was what church membership was for.

WOULD PROHIBIT SWEATSHOP GOODS

British Labor Party Will Recommend New Plank in Platform.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Aug. 7.—The report on the British Labor party's committee on fiscal policy, to be issued soon, recommends the adoption as a plank of the Laborite platform, prohibition of the importation into Great Britain of all foreign goods produced under "sweated" conditions. Such goods would be treated like foreign prison made goods.

The prohibition is said to be subject to the stipulation that if goods are not made in Great Britain and are only obtainable from places where "sweated" conditions exist, the embargo is not to apply.

The report is to be submitted to the annual conference of the Labor party at Liverpool in September.

NEW YORKER COMMITS SUICIDE DURING HOLIDAY

Canadian Press Despatch.

Brockville, Ont., Aug. 6.—Fred Thomason, aged about 60, an insurance broker of New York city took his life by shooting himself over the heart this morning at his summer home on Lancaster island in the St. Lawrence river. He was discovered in a dying condition by his wife and the caretaker. Thomason frequented the Thousand Islands for the past 20 years and was well known in the summer colony.

KIWANIANS' FUN GOES ON THE AIR

Roaring Vaudeville Is Broadcasted Today at Weekly Luncheon.

First class vaudeville was given the Kiwanis club at noon today by B. A. MacDonald, Frank McLaughlin and J. J. McHale and the program was adjudged the best yet this summer. The R's, T's and Mc's of the club put on the program and it will run strong for the prize being given for the best meeting during the off-season by the president of the club.

John G. Trainer, vice-president of the Lynch Construction Co., New York, J. J. Lussier, and Russell Lussier, New York, here in connection with the proposed new hotel on federal square, were all introduced to the club. Mr. Trainer replying said that his company hoped to carry out two mottos of the Kiwanis club, first to build by erecting the hotel and second to serve by operating the hotel and serving the people of London and Western Ontario.

J. J. McHale, of Scott & McHale, Ltd., was the booster for the day and the prizes, orders for shoes, were won by Frank Homer and Colin French. The Ronnie Hart orchestra from Springbank dancing pavilion was on hand and contributed to the day's program.

The Windsor-Niagara highway booklets, just published this week, were tabled, as were London stickers issued by the Hay Stationery Co. for use on automobile windshields advertising London as the half-way point on the highway.

Harry Langford was tendered a vote of thanks for his capable management of refreshments and entertainment at his house last night when 48 cars of Kiwanians carrying 150 patients of the Westminster hospital stopped there at the conclusion of a motor drive throughout the city and surrounding country.

Kiwanians MacDonald, McLaughlin and McHale, assisted by Mrs. Fair at the piano, put on a blackface comedy skit that was really amusing and which scored round after round of applause.

The program was broadcasted by radio and as such is one of the first of London service club programs to be sent out by radio.

SPEEDER PAYS $10.

The daily speeder on the Springbank drive chose 11:30 last night to demonstrate the ability of his car to travel over the pavement between London and Springbank. He was nabbed by Special Speed Officer Waddell of the county force and paid $10 and costs in county traffic court this morning before County Magistrate Hawkshaw.

ADOPTIONS WILL BE INVESTIGATED

New York Commissioner Declares Browning Transactions "Highly Immoral."

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Aug. 7.—Sylvia Mullen, 12 years old, nosed out by Mary Louise Spas, 16, for the post of playmate to Dorothy Sunshine Browning, may yet join the circle of adopted daughters, which Edward W. Browning, millionaire realtor, has gathered about him.

Sylvia, a blue-eyed girl, with flaxen bobbed hair, who disappeared from her home yesterday morning, returned in the small hours of today. She explained her long absence by saying that she had been the guest of Mr. Browning and Mary Louise at a party, and then with flushed cheeks and sparkling eyes announced that "Daddy" Browning had promised to adopt her within two weeks.

While Sylvia was on her party the authorities were threatening prosecution of Mr. Browning and Mary Louise's parents under the law which prohibits barter and sale of children. Mr. Browning frankly admitted giving each of Mary's parents $500 after the formal adoption, "to express his goodwill toward them."

Bird S. Coler, commissioner of public welfare, branded the adoption as "highly unmoral" and a "merchandising transaction." He said he would investigate all the details.

BICYCLES MUST CARRY LAMPS

High Constable Serves Notice On All Who Use County Highways.

Declaring that bicyclists who ride on the highways and country roads at night without lamps attached to their bicycles are running grave chances of being killed, High Constable Arthur J. Wharton served notice today on all bicycle owners that from now on he will carry out the provision of the highway traffic act, which says that all bicycles must carry a red light or lamp reflector after dark that can be clearly visible to drivers of vehicles from the rear.

"Bicycle riders without lights are one of the worst menaces on the roads today," said the high constable. "I am going to check up on all bicycles on the county highways. There have been several narrow escapes brought to my notice lately by motorists. One man had to turn his car into the ditch in order to avoid a bicycle entering from a cross-road, and it cost him $60 to fix his car."

County Magistrate C. W. Hawkshaw agreed with the statements of the high constable.

"There are some bicycle riders who show absolutely no judgment," said his worship. "I have seen riders deliberately cut across the road in the paths of motor cars, and then laugh when the motorists had to swerve to avoid hitting them. I quite agree with High Constable Wharton that this clause in the highway traffic act should be vigorously enforced."

HAMILTON BOY IS FOUND DEAD, HANGING IN CELLAR

Canadian Press Despatch.

Hamilton, Aug. 7. — The lifeless body of 13-year-old Thomas Muirhead was found late yesterday hanging in the cellar of his parents home. Straps of a dog harness were wrapped tightly about his neck. A box, evidently kicked out from beneath the boy's feet, was found nearby.

The boy had gone into the cellar a short time before to play with his dog. When he failed to respond to calls, his father investigated and found the body.

Coroner Dr. Theo. Coleman, in investigating the case, declared that from the evidence the lad's death was purely accidental. No inquest will be held.

Public Danger At Springbank.

Overcrowding of city street cars will be discussed when number two committee of the city council meets again. Such action, if followed by a prompt solution, is well taken since the situation has become aggravated.

But there is another and more dangerous situation which requires the attention of both council and street railway company. It is the manner in which passengers are permitted to board Springbank cars between 11:20 p.m. and 11:30 p.m. returning from the dancing pavilion to the city.

On Wednesday night, for example, in the midst of the usual stampede at the car entrance, a little girl was crushed flat on the car steps, and had not the motorman intervened successfully in holding back the pressing crowd the whole bedlam would have passed over the girl's body with probably fatal results. While the girl lay helpless, screaming piteously, there came from the edge of the pushing swarm a strident voice: "Well, pick 'er up; let the battle go on."

This is thoughtlessness, the thoughtlessness of a mob which destroys individual consideration, but it does not alter the fact that the situation at Springbank has become criminally dangerous. The recent disaster on the Springbank line, in which one man was killed and others injured, has apparently directed little attention to risks in the Springbank service, either on the part of the company or the passengers, beyond the placing of red lights on the rear of cars. If the present nightly mobbing and unchecked overcrowding of late cars is not dealt with promptly and efficiently the city may expect another serious accident before the summer is over.

In finding an immediate remedy there should be no quibbling as to who is responsible or who should pay the bills. The public, the council, the police department and the company should co-operate in prompt action. At least one policeman should be stationed at the Springbank platform and he should be assisted in assuring safety by the erection of a number of alleyways through which the crowding passengers will be compelled to board cars in single file and only in such numbers as to render the trip home reasonably safe for all parties concerned. The Advertiser urges city and company officials to remedy immediately a menace to the safety of the public.

London's Fire Losses.

The losses sustained by London's two fires on Wednesday night are a misfortune to the whole city and The Advertiser joins in expressing to the merchants and manufacturers directly affected a genuine regret. It is perhaps not out of place, however, to find a certain thankfulness that under the circumstances it was possible to confine the losses to slightly over $150,000.

The fire department was delayed in attending the larger fire on Bathurst street by the necessity of controlling an almost simultaneous outburst on Dundas street. The buildings and lumber piles on Bathurst street provided ready fuel for the flames and thirty houses in the immediate vicinity were threatened to the extent of being scorched and actually breaking into blaze at various points. Had the electrical storm been accompanied by wind, there is no doubt that these houses would have been completely destroyed and a fire of disastrous extent would have swept through a considerable area of the city.

The Advertiser's first estimate of $150,000 loss from both fires has since been confirmed with only minor qualifications. The spectacular nature of the Bathurst street blaze undoubtedly encouraged the publication of an estimate elsewhere which placed the total at half a million dollars. It should be the tendency to underestimate rather than to exaggerate such figures, even though a certain amount of news sensation be sacrificed, since such errors add unnecessarily to the city's reputation as a fire hazard and consequently assist in increasing fire insurance rates for London enterprises.

Leslie Hatheway's Punishment.

Leslie Hatheway is to spend the next six years of his life in Kingston penitentiary as the penalty for entering a bank and, at the point of a gun, stealing some six thousand dollars.

Hatheway broke the law with an offence which the court described as second only to murder in its gravity; his punishment is necessary and deserved. The great pity is that Hatheway's penalty may not be limited to that imposed by the law; there is danger that Hatheway may suffer a greater punishment imposed both by himself and by society.

If Leslie Hatheway is to be branded a criminal by his fellows for the rest of his life, and if in his soul he is to regard himself as irretrievably a criminal, the six years which he is to spend at Kingston are a small part of his punishment. It is to be hoped that this greater penalty may not be inflicted. It is to be hoped that when Hatheway leaves Kingston six years from now his fellow-men will feel that he has atoned for his crime, wiped clean his slate, and that Hatheway himself will have succeeded in regaining his self-respect and his will to succeed.

Hatheway is a young man and he will still be a young man when he leaves Kingston. His career of crime, so far as is known, is all contained in one short month between the robbery on July 3 and his restitution of the money and plea of guilty on August 1. He has in his favor a pleasing personality, an attractive appearance, an intelligent brain and a vigorous physique. And, greater than these, he has the unfaltering faith and sympathy of a good woman, his wife, who has worked without wavering since his arrest, not merely to make his plight less severe but to right the wrong which he committed.

Hatheway has made a mistake, but not an irretrievable mistake. He may redeem himself if he will accept his present circumstances as a challenge to prove to himself, to his wife, and to the world at large that it was a mistake and that he possesses the character and ability to return to the honorable course from which he slipped. If he is so able, the greater will be the credit due.

Laws For The Air.

A case in New York has opened the way for a series of new laws to tax the ingenuity of legislatures, courts, and the great mass of the American people who delight in evading them.

An Elmhurst aviator was arrested for flying low over roofs in the Bronx. The prosecution said that the flier had frightened women and children by his antics and wanted him punished. The stage was all set for Mr. Aviator to spend the summer in jail when unfortunately the court discovered at the last minute that no law had been broken and the prisoner was freed.

There is no law against low stunt flying, although British army regulations prohibit it as dangerous. The American army has a similar order, but it is not applicable in civil cases. The flier of the Bronx has served to rouse public interest in New York state, however, and a code of air laws is now to be expected.

Laws for the air will be difficult to devise and even more difficult to enforce. How are police going to measure an aviator's distance from the ground or his speed in the air? How are they going to apprehend a lawbreaker without crashing the police machine? And how is the judge going to disregard an aviator's plea that his machine was out of control and he was merely trying to avoid an accident?

Today's Hotel Conference.

Today a second important step is being taken toward the realization of the city's hotel plan in conferences between representatives of the construction company, local financial interests and the city council.

The chief subject of these conferences is the proposed exchange of properties by which the city will acquire the old Merchants Bank location on Richmond street as a prospective city hall site and the hotel company will receive a similar area in the Federal square on Dundas street.

The exchange of properties is the basis of the whole plan. The hotel requires Dundas street in order to accommodate on its ground floor the retail stores and offices which are essential to its successful maintenance, and which could not operate profitably on Richmond street hemmed in by public buildings. The city hall, on the other hand, finds an equally suitable site on Richmond street, both from the standpoint of architectural advantage and accessibility and from a financial point of view in that it is free from occupying unnecessarily high valued property on Dundas street, where it would retard rather than assist the growth of the shopping district.

The Advertiser believes that the proposed exchange is distinctly to the city's advantage from every point of view and that it should proceed without quibbling as to present abstract property values.

Note and Comment.

Winnipeg has had a heavy wind storm, but it would probably be too unkind to remark on its coincidence with Arthur Meighen's speech.

Now that Clinton's successful old boys' reunion is over perhaps we'll remember that Toronto is the capital of the province. Or is it Kitchener just now?

The chamber of commerce is helping every citizen in London by its efficient encouragement of tourist traffic and the goodwill which it is creating for London in other cities.

An American osteopath says that good feet make one handsome and "happy feet mean happy homes." What a lot of corns and bunions there must be among the city council some evenings.

The fabled continent of Atlantis may rise again in the middle of the South Atlantic ocean, according to an eminent French scientist. The first inhabitants will undoubtedly be life insurance agents.

The Prince of Wales, on his way to South America, stopped off at the Island of St. Helena, where he greatly admired the scenery. History does not record that Napoleon found it particularly pleasing.

Rev. John Roach Straton of New York is going to take Bryan's place by challenging Darrow to twenty debates. Dr. Straton is apparently out to assist Darrow in making monkeys of them both.

Premier Ferguson is coming to visit Sir Adam Beck. Will the premier explain to the city's member why London and Western Ontario were ignored in that $60,000 tourists' booklet the government produced?

The impressive nature and general enthusiasm of Kitchener's reunion celebration do credit to even that progressive community, and the splendid 32-page special edition published by the Kitchener Daily Record last Saturday does full justice to its enterprise.

Build the Bridge

(Canadian Motorist.))

Twenty years ago the building of a bridge from Windsor to Detroit would have been primarily a local concern. Now, owing to the intensive and increasing motorization, it affects car owners throughout the entire province, and economically through the revenue derived from tourist traffic, every citizen of the Dominion more or less. While the ferry service from Windsor to Detroit is undoubtedly good, yet the very thought of ferrying is a mental obstacle which prevents many motor tourists from crossing from the United States to Canada or vice versa. Nothing is heard of the fine daily service of the ferries, until there is a jam. Then despatches appear in the papers to the effect, probably, that two miles of cars were lined up to cross from Windsor to Detroit. The result is that many car owners throughout the United States and Canada in general and Michigan and Ontario in particular believe such congestion to be the normal condition. The proposed bridge, if constructed, would be productive of great benefit to both sides of the river, and to the Border Cities and Ontario particularly.

With the completion of the Isle Perrot bridges last month, it is now possible to motor from Montreal or—indeed Quebec and beyond through to Windsor without ferry. Soon there will be five bridges open to passenger cars spanning the Niagara and negotiations are well under way for providing motor ways on the famous Quebec bridge across the St. Lawrence. The time is surely ripe for a bridge linking Ontario with Michigan for the one break in Canada's most heavily trafficked highway, Ontario's great paved front street, is the water gap lying between Detroit and the Border Cities.

Detroit is keen for the bridge. This is partly due to the fact that the proposed viaduct will help solve the motor city's centralized congestion problem, the debouching of the ferry loads at the foot of Woodward avenue to add to the converging streams of traffic in Cadillac square (a demonstration of the folly of coterminous radial streets under modern conditions).

Recently a joint meeting of the mayors, aldermen and officials of the cities interested was held in the city hall, Detroit, in furtherance of the bridge project. Following the conference those present proceeded to Windsor and made a tour of the river front with a view to selecting the site most suitable for the Canadian approach to the proposed bridge.

It is estimated that the bridge will cost about ten million dollars. The mayors of the interested cities have approved a self-financing plan to meet its cost. A toll less than the ferry fare will take care of the sinking fund requirements and eventually defray the entire cost of construction, it is said, without imposing upon the taxpayers on each side of the river a penny of impost or expense of any kind.

A joint committee was chosen some time ago, with Mayor Smith of Detroit as chairman, Mayor Mitchell of Windsor as vice-chairman, and M. E. Brian, Windsor city engineer, as secretary, to formulate plans for the financing of the proposition. It is to be hoped that the proposed bridge will be constructed as expeditiously as is consistent wtih efficiency and economy. The time to start is now.

25 Years Ago Today

(From The London Advertiser, August 7, 1900)

An immense throng turned out at Victoria park to honor the old boys. Magistrate Frank Love was at his best as chairman. Mayor Rumball gave an address of welcome. When Mr. Nicholas Wilson arose to speak, hundreds of old Central school pupils cheered and cheered again. He showed the cane he had carried for 34 years and the bell he had used in the Central school. Sir John Carling received a hearty greeting from the gathering. Other speakers were Dr. Frederick Winnett, Thomas Weston, Ald. McConnell of Windsor and Dr. Fred Guest of St. Thomas.

Heat killed eleven in Chicago. Rev. Canon Hincks was overcome while preaching at Windsor. The temperature was 100 in the shade in Michigan.

The beautiful cross surmounting the tower of Mount St. Joseph, the gift of Fred Henry, architect, was illuminated for the first time, the occasion being the first anniversary of Right Rev. Bishop McEvay's consecration.

Harrismith surrendered to the British. Kitchener is with the forces south of the Vaal river. Kruger is reported to be willing and anxious to surrender.

London street car employees are on strike. Labor sympathizers held a demonstration at Queen's park.

A bylaw to grant $20,000 bonus to the James Bay Railway Company has been carried at Parry Sound by a majority of 185.

Major Faulds of Aylmer is in London as an old boy. He discovered the fire in London in 1844.

About 3 o'clock this morning there was an exciting foot race between Wm. Hunter, who has a mark of seven seconds, and Joseph Goodbourne of this office. The result is not announced.

Shabby Old Dad!

By ANNE CAMPBELL.

His collar is frayed, and his trousers unpressed;
He's not a bit fussy the way he is dressed,
But he's always ready to help out the rest,
Shabby old Dad!

His shirts have queer stripes, and they're old-fashioned quite;
His ties are in strings, and they're never tied right,
His last year's straw hat is a terrible sight,
Shabby old Dad!

His shoes need a shine, his cuff links are tin,
He does sometimes shave, and his top hair is thin;
You hardly would say he was neat as a pin;
Shabby old Dad!

Shabby old Dad, with his heart full of woes,
And so much to think of besides buying clothes;
The kids needing food, and the money? God knows!
Shabby old Dad!

If there is a heaven where peace can enfold
A life lived for others, a heart that's pure gold,
He'll find it, and live there in glory untold,
Shabby old Dad!

PUBLISH CRIME.

(Springfield, Mass., Union.)

Nothing would be more pleasing to the criminal elements of society than to have the newspapers enter into an agreement not to mention their evil deeds. This would not stop crime, nor would it prevent the public from knowing about it. It would, however, greatly facilitate criminal operations and enable many a criminal to escape who is now caught through a widely diffused knowledge of his crime. Evils that are ignored are never corrected.

ROCKEFELLER WOULD RULE BAPTISTS DECLARES SHIELDS

Funds Leave Blight Wherever Accepted, Says Toronto Pastor.

PART OF MODERNISM

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Aug. 6.—That the Rockefeller foundation leaves its blight wherever it falls, and the Baptist church must be constantly on its guard against accepting any of the funds and becoming entangled by such acceptance, declared Rev. T. T. Shields tonight at Jarvis street Baptist church.

Dr. Shields said that the menace of the funds of the Rockefeller foundation is not to be found in the money which has already been distributed but in the funds which remain. He said that there is a persistent campaign under way to get control of the various church colleges both in Canada and the United States, with the aim of spreading the doctrines of modernism instead of those of fundamentalism.

"I have sat at meetings of the governing body of McMaster university," he continued, "and I do not care if it is reported that I have heard them discussing how they could get their hands on some of the Rockefeller money. Well, I can tell them how they can get some of the funds, and that is to bow down before the dictates of the Chicago college and become modernist through and through. If they do as they are told, they can get the money without any trouble."

The trend of the educational system in the United States, Dr. Shields declared, is to become standardized, and the standardization in the religious colleges is towards modernism. If the Canadian colleges will accept the same doctrines and bow down before the will of the businessmen with money, they need have no worry over finances. In this connection, Dr. Shields felt that a good many preachers are being turned out of the colleges who have no message for the people, who are men, not seeking to preach, but seeking for a preaching or teaching position. Even the missionary field was becoming saturated with men of that sort, and Dr. Shields felt that there is a menace which must be fought.

"We must carry on the war," he declared, "fundamentalism against modernism; and so long as we are able to fight, our university will not become wholly modernist. It is not altogether a battle of fundamentalism against modernism; it is Christ against anti-Christ, and it seems to me that as long as we have Christ in our church, we, as Baptists, have no need of John D. Rockefeller."

Radio Finds 30 To Offer Blood

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Aug. 6.—A call for volunteers for blood transfusion broadcasted by a local radio station last night was answered by 30 offers. Eight-year-old David Burgess was suffering from serious head injuries received in an automobile accident late yesterday, and in an effort to obtain more volunteers the boy's father broadcasted his appeal. Two of the 30 volunteers were found to have a suitable test.

Welsh Authorities Ask Military Aid To Suppress Disturbances.

Special to The Advertiser.

London, Aug. 6.—Strike troubles grew more serious in the anthracite district of Ammanford, Wales. Twelve police and 106 miners were injured in riots during the night at Ammanford.

Authorities in the Ammanford anthracite district have asked for military aid to prevent further disturbances in the Carmenthenshire coal field, where the miners are on strike.

LONDONER AGAIN IS BEST CAMPER

Marion Cameron Wins Honors —Finest Camp Has Just Closed at Orendaga.

The honor of being the "best camper" has come once more to a London girl, when Miss Marion Cameron, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Cameron of Queen's avenue, this city, was elected to the post at the conclusion of the third Y. W. C. A. camp at Orendaga, Port Bruce.

The third camp was declared the best camp by the leaders. In every respect its standard was higher than that of several seasons. The large number of girls enjoyed the program arranged to the fullest extent, and many were reluctant to leave the hospitality of Orendaga at the conclusion of the fortnight of pleasurable instructions.

First in the points was the Tankyu tribe. In camp spirit, code marks, sports, etc., it stood highest, with the other tribes following closely. With Miss Verona Rhodes of Point Edward and Miss Olivia Tilton of Alma college, St. Thomas, as leaders, the following girls formed the tribe which now boasts the coveted "O. C.," the shield awarded to each member; Grace Barker, Jean Howie (sports leader), Jean Campbell, Florence Moritz, Margaret Plewes (secretary), Mary Moran, Margaret Scace (nature study leader), Ruth Westland (little chief), Lillian Bacon, Florence Wellington, Helen Cosford, Jean Saville and Audrey Darling.

Miss Dorothy Moore, sports leader, presented the shield for highest number of points in water sports to Pat Manuel of London, and Mary Bolton won like honors in land sports, receiving her shield at the hands of Miss Mary Powell, assistant sports leader. Florence Moritz of Guelph won the greatest number of points for diving.

Mrs. F. E. Reed of St. Thomas, who for the past three camps has been the "camp mother," and who has won the real affection of the girls, was honored by the campers at a farewell evening prior to her departure for St. Thomas. Special tribute was paid to Mrs. Reed's success in harmoniously carrying along the largest camp yet registered at Orendaga. All the leaders came in for a share of the hearty approbation of the girls.

L. A. OF B. OF R. T. ENJOYS OUTING

Day Is Much Enjoyed and Program of Sports Is Run Off.

Though the number in attendance was small at the L. A. of B. of R. T. picnic, held this week at Springbank, a most enjoyable time was spent in games and contests. The afternoon was a splendid success as far as the pleasure was concerned.

The program of sports resulted as follows: Little tots race, all received allday suckers. Girls, 5 to 7, Eleanor Moisse, Marion Phillips and Eleanor Boyce. Boys, 5 to 7, Iner Boyce, Charlie Bryer, Ross Buckle. Girls, 7 to 10, Eleanor Moisse, Dorothy Phillips, Ellen Crosby. Boys 7 to 10, John Tilford, Donald Forbes and George Buckle. Girls 10 to 12, Mary Crosby, Margaret Webb, Barbara Buckle, Luanna Moisse. Boys, 10 to 12, Don Higgman, Don Forbes, John Tilford. Girls, 12 to 16, Margaret Webb, Mary Crosby, Barbara Buckle. Boys, 12 to 16, Jim Crosby, Frank Kelley, Don Higgman. Bean contest, Jim Crosby. Driving race, Mrs. Watson and Jim Crosby, Mrs. Boyce and Fred Boyce. Married ladies' race, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Dryman and Mrs. Boyce. Draw for L. A., Mrs. Kelley, Mrs. Wichman, Mrs. Crosby. Largest family present, Mrs. Phillips with her four children. Bean guessing contest, D. Murphy. Feeding the elephant, Mr. and Mrs. Boyce. Trainmen's drawing, G. Dryman, C. Bryer and W. Watson.

The storm on Wednesday afternoon arrived at Springbank before the sports were quite completed and necessitated a hasty retreat to the pavilion, but this slight interruption by no means spoilt the pleasures of the day.

PEASANT FROCKS ARE FASHIONABLE

Modistes Obtain New Style From John D., Jun.'s, Bills.

By AILEEN LAMONT.
Special to The Advertiser
Copyright.

New York, Aug. 8.—When John D. Jun. recently brought to America a wonderful chime of bells, he started something in fashions without knowing it. Some milliner who always answers a hint, if not a bell or a knock, glimpsed the tocsins of the oil magnate and immediately adapted the flaring rims to the fairly wide fall hats. A dressmaker with a stylish clientele did exactly the same thing with her skirts, but neither has a connection with 26 Broadway, the S. O. headquarters.

Rupert Hughes, who is an author credited with knowing much about women, once wrote a story called "Long Ever Ago." But he did not say a word about "skirts" in it, figuratively or actually. The reason is obvious. Skirts are not long and have not been for long. In fact, those worn by the younger set are so brief that a brief case will carry a wardrobe of them. They are gauged to fall just between the two sets of garters, one above and one below the knee.

The great majority of the inhabitants of New York are tenants, but there are few peasants among them. None the less, many of the female tenants are wearing peasant sleeves. The reason is obvious. One may take a dark, simple and obviously old frock made without sleeves and transform it into a charming and characteristic creation by the addition of peasant sleeves of bright hued crepe or satin.

GARDEN PARTY IS HELD BY ST. LUKE'S WOMEN

Successful Event Takes Place at Mrs. B. H. McLeod's Pretty Home.

A lovely sunken garden, surrounded by purple flox and spruce trees, made an attractive setting for a very successful garden party last night when the Ladies guild of St. Luke's Anglican church, Broughdale, acted as hostess of a lawn fete at the home of Mrs. B. H. McLeod, Richmond street north. Chinese lanterns also added a gay note to the decorations.

A number of booths, at which were sold attractive and tempting wares, were scattered about the lawn. Mrs. W. White and Mrs. Hutchinson were in charge of the candy booth; Mrs. Lindsay and Miss Adcock, the fish pond; Mrs. Ward, Sen., and Mrs. Stockwell, the punch; Mrs. Webber and Mrs. West, the work table; Mrs. S. Adams and Miss Stockwell, refreshments; Mrs. C. Ward and Mrs. Bush, home-cooking; Mrs. W. Dodd, Miss M. Smith and Mrs. J. Burston, soft drinks.

Mrs. Wilson, president of the guild, was the general convener of the evening.

WEDDINGS

KRUPP—LYONS.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Aldridge, Sen., Jacqueline street, Chelsea Green, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday afternoon, when Miss Lottie Maud Lyons of this city became the bride of Mr. Louis August Krupp of Detroit.

The bride was prettily gowned in mauve georgette and old lace, with tulle veil and orange blossoms, and wearing a corsage bouquet of bridal roses and sweet peas. She entered the living-room on the arm of Mr. P. Aldridge to the strains of "The Bridal March," played by Mr. Howard Vinc. Miss Beatrice Lyons, her sister, was the bridesmaid, wearing a smart gown of ashes of roses silk crepe with hat to match and corsage of Sunset roses and sweet peas. The groom was attended by the bride's brother, Mr. Arthur Lyons of St. Catharines.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Crawford of Wilton Grove, under a decorated arch in the presence of many intimate friends, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McComb of Paris, Ont.

During the signing of the register, Mr. Frank Aldridge sang Because, after which the wedding breakfast was served.

The bride was the recipient of many useful gifts, filling the table in the drawing-room. Her gift from the groom was a white gold wrist watch, while the groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a ring set with sapphires and brilliants, and to the best man a bloodstone ring.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Krupp left on a short honeymoon trip, the bride travelling in a costume of green with hat to match. They will reside in Detroit.

Seaforth, Aug. 7.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. L. Edmonds, Goderich street, was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding at high noon on Thursday, Aug. 6, when their daughter Mary was united in marriage to Dr. David Lloyd Curtis of Marmora, son of Mrs. S. E. Curtis.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in a French frock of poudre blue georgette, with hat to match. She carried Ophelia roses and baby's breath. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. D. McDonald.

The wedding march was played by Miss Marion Scarlett.

Dr. and Mrs. Curtis left on a trip up the lakes, the bride travelling in a dress of honey dew flat crepe, with hat and coat to match.

SLAUGHTER—WALDEN.

A quiet wedding took place at the Metropolitan United parsonage on Thursday, August 6, at 2 o'clock, when Miss Marjorie L. Walden, of Penzance, Sask., became the bride of Mr. Joseph A. Slaughter, of Lenore, Man. Rev. E. H. Robinson read the marriage service.

After an extended honeymoon in the east, Mr. and Mrs. Slaughter will take up their residence at Lenore, Man.

NEED FOR DRIVE ON RADICALS DOES NOT EXIST IN LONDON

Human Shield Killed In Duel

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, Aug. 7.—Used as a human shield by one of a gang of truck thieves with whom the police were engaged in a gun-fight, Mrs. Mary Connelly, 35, the mother of four children, was shot and killed yesterday as she stepped to the street from her home.
Detective Richard Heneberry, of the truck squad, who with several uniformed patrolmen and a department chauffeur were exchanging shots with the truck thieves in West 34th street, was shot through the abdomen and taken to a hospital in a critical condition.

FAST LIVING ENDS IN PRISON TERM

Former Londoner Is Sent To Ionia Reformatory For Eighteen Months.

Associated Press Despatch
Detroit, Mich., Aug. 7.—"An example of a young man trying to live too fast."
This was the appraisal of Judge Harry B. Keidan, in recorders court, following the sentencing of Raybourne Parkinson, formerly of London, Ont., to eighteen months in the state reformatory at Ionia, on a charge of grand larceny.
Parkinson, a window trimmer, is accused of having stolen $20,000 worth of merchandise. Specifically he was convicted on one count, covering goods said to be worth $840.
"I was all right as long as I worked at the store," Parkinson said, "but when I went into business for myself I began running bad. I thought it would be easy for me to take what I wanted from my former employers and sell it. The owners finally learned they were being robbed. I voluntarily reported it to the owners later, but there was a patrol wagon waiting for me. I'm not a natural thief; and I'm not a very good one."
Parkinson's wife, with whom he lived a year, is in London, Ont.

Communism Is Least of Worries of Local Machinists' Union.

NO "REDS" IN LODGE

Communism is the least of the worries of the local machinists' union and members of the city organization declare that the announcement by the International of a new drive on radicals will not be reached in London as the need does not exist.
T. W. Burrows, secretary of the local lodge, has received no notification of the reported edict from headquarters that all union machinists holding membership in any communist organization are given 30 days to sever their connection with them or stand suspended from the International association of machinists.
"In any event the ruling will not affect the organization here," Mr. Burrows declared. "As far as I know, there isn't one Communist in our lodge and the membership is in the neighborhood of 75.
An editorial in a recent issue of the Machinists' Bulletin, published in Winnipeg, declares that the solution to the problem can only be found in the exercising of broad-minded tolerance on the part of those who are not Communists. It further says, "From the Communist brothers is required a speedy realization of the limitations of an economic 'organization such as this, and to what extent it is possible to seek its fnuctioning along such class lines without disrupting its economic utility."

WINDSHIELD STICKERS TO ADVERTISE LONDON

Michigan Tourists, Visiting City Today, Will Receive a Supply.

New windshield stickers advertising London will be used for the first time extensively today, when about 75 cars of the Michigan automobile tours organization will receive the labels for their cars. This tourist company will travel 2,000 miles through Canada and United States and the stickers advertising "London, on the Windsor-Niagara highway," will be given to them.
The London Motor club and the chamber of commerce will look after the distribution of the stickers and they urge that all Londoners making trips out of the city carry the labels. Automobile salesrooms and gas-filling stations will also distribute the stickers.
On the back of the label, with London in the center, are shown the distances from London to Sarnia, Toronto, Hamilton, St. Thomas and Niagara Falls.
J. R. Hunter of the Hay Stationery Company is the originator of the new innovation, and through the support of J. B. Hay and J. D. Isaacs the manufacture of the stickers was effected.
The labels are of a showy blue in color and should be very attractive. There have been several thousand printed.

HOW SHOULD I WEAN MY BABY?

This is a serious problem to many mothers. Weaning should always be done gradually, beginning about the seventh month, giving one or two bottle feedings during the day, increasing the number of bottle feedings gradually, until weaning is accomplished. Borden's Eagle Brand Milk is so like mother's milk in taste and ease of digestion that it can be given alternately with breast milk without causing abrupt weaning.
In this paper from time to time you will find an advertisement of Borden's Eagle Brand Milk, a food that has raised more healthy babies than all the prepared infant foods combined. Cut out the advertisement and mail it to the Borden Company, Limited, Montreal, and they will send you, free of charge, instructions for feeding your baby, and a Baby Welfare and a Baby Record Book. Or just write the company, mentioning this paper, and they will be sent.

BOY HURT BY SWING AT BIRKETT'S PLAYGROUND

While playing at the Birkett's playground, Douglas Fluhrer son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Fluhrer, 25 Grafton street stepped in front of a swing on which some children were swinging. He was struck and thrown some distance, resulting in a severe gash in the head which required five stitches to close the wound. He was taken to Victoria Hospital outdoor department where his injuries were attended to.

SIX LARGE PICNICS AT PORT STANLEY

Several London Firms Will Make Merry at Lakeside Tomorrow.

Six big industrial picnics, the annual outings of the employees of H. J. Jones & Sons, the Somerville Box Company, the London Rolling Mills Company, the Kellogg Corn Flake Company and the Murray Shoe Company, and the members of the Lathers' and Plasterers' union, all of London, will hold the fort at Port Stanley tomorrow for one of the busiest days of the season. Most of the picnics have made reservations for special cars on the London & Port Stanley Railway, while the Rolling Mills contingent will have a special five-car train from Philip street at 10:20. All of these picnics are to be handled out of London on the 9:20 and 10:20 schedule, and from the minute of their arrival at the lakeside the day will be enlivened with all the funmakers the ingenuity of the picnic committee can devise.
All of these picnickers, as well as the general pubilc, will share tomorrow in the rain contests held every Wednesday and Saturday. Tomorrow, under the usual conditions, the management of the L. & P. S. will offer a $88.50 Hoover electric suction sweeper, to be supplied and guaranteed by the London Hydro Shop. If it rains a tenth of an inch in Port Stanley between 2:30 and 5:30 p.m. a drawing will be held to select the winner at the beach movies show at 9 p.m. L. & P. S. passengers out of London and St. Thomas and patrons of the Port Stanley cafeteria and Bridge street restaurant will all receive lucky numbers for this drawing free.
Saturday evening is to be marked by the fourth of the big series of Saturday night amateur theatrical contests at the Beach Movies Airdrome. Already a number of entries have been secured, and others will be received up until 8:45 at the stage door. Last Saturday's amateur bill is a fair sample of the exceptional entertainment value of these programs: Rose Zankin, child toe dancer; Eric Brown, baritone; Mercy Tingey, Spanish dancer; "Jolly Jack the Sailor" in a dramatic sketch of his own composition; Billy Bending, boy violinist; Violet Gilmore, soft-shoe costume dancer; Stanley Kelleher, Irish jig; Florence Morley, oriental dancer; Grace Folletteх, mouth organ; Edna Ridley, coon songs; Jack Kelleher, buck and wing dancing; Hazel Partridge, comic character number; Jean and Jewel Spencer, piano and saxophone. Billy Bending carried off the first prize, Violet Gilmore and "Jolly Jack" were awarded duplicate seconds, and Jack Kelleher won the third. All contestants receive generous prizes, whether they rank with the victors or not.
The 49th annual Irish picnic is looming up for next Wednesday as the greatest outing of the year. The program teems with interest and entertainment, the committee have collected the most generous array of valuable prizes ever offered in the history of the society. Irish music will furnish the rollicking spirit that the Irish always achieve, and to cap it all the L. & P. S. is providing another of the series of rain-contest drawings. The prize for Wednesday will be a splendid Columbia phonograph of the console model, supplied in either mahogany or walnut, by Pudney Bros., "the music store on the corner" of Dundas and Waterloo streets, London. This prize will be subject to the usual conditions.
Saturday of next week the rain drawing comes round to a family award—$100 in tickets for Belvoir milk, the new pure Jersey product produced by E. Syd Little's fully-accredited herd of pure-bred Jerseys, at his big 800-acre Belvoir farms at Delaware. This table dainty, rich beyond comparison in cream and body-building butter fats, will be divided into prize allotments for many family winners, and the tickets will be honored by Silverwood's of London, who have the distributor's rights for Belvoir milk.

AT THE THEATRES

LOEW'S THEATRE

The White Desert.

Rarely, indeed, have London movie fans had the opportunity in recent months of viewing such an intensely thrilling and such an entirely spectacular picture as The White Desert, which is playing at Loew's theatre for the last half of the week, Starring Claire Windsor and Pat O'Malley, the feature, adapted from the novel by Courtney Riley Cooper of the same name, defies words to adequately describe the precedent-setting scenes filmed in the Colorado district during the stupendout task of blasting a sixteen-mile tunnel through the Great Divide.

The program includes also Loew's minute views of Navy Blue Days, a Stan Laurel comedy and three very fair acts of vaudeville. The initial act, Russell and Hayes, consisting of a series of clever acrobatic stunts, is one of the best of its kind seen here for some time. Sam and Blanche Ross followed with an act embracing songs and dancing, their light footwork being to the fore and winning for hem a cordial reception. The headlin eact was styled Variety of Revues, and consisted of music, songs and dancing by a troupe of six smart young women, pianist, violinist saxophonist and three dancers. Snappily attired in different mannish costumes, the toe and step dancers predominated the act and won prolonged applause from the audience, which at last night's performance was in an appreciative mood.

The effect of the picturesque scenery, quiet and peaceful, at the commencement of the picture, is outweighed only by the even more realistic storm scenes in the latter part. Tons and tons of snow cascading down a mountainside resembled Niagara Falls more than anything else. Perhaps the most gripping scenes, however, were those depicting the relief train forcing its way up the mountain through veritable hills of snow.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Beyond the Border.

Full of action and romance, "Beyond the Border," with Harry Carey taking the leading role, is billed as the main attraction at the Capitol theatre the last part of this week. Supported by a fully capable staff Carey makes a real hit in his latest picture, adapted from Meredith Smith's sensational magazine story "When Smith Meets Smith."

Carey, playing the role of Bob Smith, sheriff of a border town, trails a bandit named Bob Moore, who has robbed the pay roll. On his return the sheriff finds that his enemies have elected a new sheriff, but Smith gives up his prisoner. The new sheriff with Nick Purdue, the town "boss," prove to be the real robbers and have used Moore as a tool, who is found guilty and sentenced. Moore's real name is Bob Smith, too.

Carey faces all sorts of dangers to free Moore, who is unjustly accused and finally has the real offenders brought to justice.

Playing opposite Carey is Mildren Harris, who plays the part of the bandit's sister, and is made to believe that Bob Smith, ex-sheriff, is her brother.

Tom Santschi plays the part of Nick Purdue, and William Scott that of the prisoner.

"Boobs in the Woods," a Mack Sennet comedy, a Ford educational picture and Pathe news concludes an enjoyable program.

DRIVER BLAMELESS IN DEATH OF CHILD

John Murdoch of Detroit Completely Exonerated by Coroner's Jury.

John Murdoch of Detroit, driver of the car which struck and fatally injured Mabel Gifford, aged nine, near Tempo on the Lambeth highway Tuesday afternoon, was completely exonerated from any blame in the fatality by a coroner's jury at Lambeth last night. The jury, after being out but a few minutes, found that it was an accident.

Dr. Colling, coroner for Westminster township, presided at the inquest, while Crown Attorney Albert M. Judd questioned the five witnesses subpoenaed by High Constable Wharton.

Dr. Gregory, the first witness called, stated that the child had died from a fracture at the base of the skull. She died 20 minutes after the accident and ten minutes after the doctor reached the scene.

Roy Davis, in whose car the little girl had been riding, stated that he warned her when she got out of the car to be careful and watch the road. She darted round the back of the car directly in the path of Murdoch's machine, Mr. Davis declared. He estimated the speed of the American machine at 25 miles an hour.

Murdoch's evidence was the same as Davis' with the exception of the speed, which he stated was eighteen miles. He stopped his car in fifteen feet, he declared. The girl was ten feet in front of him when he first saw her. Jamming on the brakes, he did all he could to prevent an accident.

Thomas Terry, automobile expert, said he had examined the Murdoch car and found the brakes 35 per cent perfect. The amount of leeway given a car to stop, travelling at 25 miles an hour was 32 feet, Mr. Terry stated.

High Constable Wharton also gave evidence.

Members of the jury were R. W. Bogue (foreman), C. M. Tye, Neil Campbell, Gordon Blackman, Charles Bunt, Fred Scott and James Kelly.

DESERTS FAMILY TO PLAY PONIES

Grey Street Man, in Court, Has Income Transferred to Wife.

Edward Winter, 399 Grey street, had Chief of Police Robert Birrell and Mayor George Wenige agin him when he arose in the prisoner's box of police court this morning to answer a charge of wife desertion and failure to provide his family with the necessities of life. When Chief Birrell related Winter's activities of the past week, the man not only had to justify himself against the mayor and chief of police, but he had to face an antagonistic crowd of courtroom spectators and an unsympathetic magistrate.

On Saturday Winter forsook his wife and family of four children, one an 11-day-old baby, to play the ponies. He left them with no money, and only a little food, taking with him his month's earnings of $75. That amount was gobbled up by energetic bookmakers and Winter returned from the races without a cent.

"You're not much of a man," Mr. Gladman told Winter after listening to Chief Birrell's story. "Any man that would leave an 11-day-old child his sick wife, and three other children besides, the way you did, deserves no consideration."

Mrs. Winter appeared in court with her four children. They were all under the age of 7 years. She carried two of the children in her arms. One was the new-born babe, the other a child a little more than a year old.

"I went away to play the ponies to get out of a hole," Winter declared defensively. "I was desperate and there was one chance in a thousand that I would win."

"You should have looked at it in the light that there were 999 chances that you would lose," the court remarked.

Chief Birrell declared that Mrs. Winter had come to the city hall yesterday for relief. She begged that her husband be arrested.

Winter replied that he didn't believe his wife would take action against him. She was prompted by someone, he said. He then commenced to analyze his own character, declaring that he had a streak in him which was responsible for his fascination with the races.

"I've done it before and won," he declared. "I've got to get money, that's all. I'm in debt all over the city."

Upon Chief Birrell's suggestion, Winter was bailed in his own bond of $100 to appear in court on Wednesday. He gave his promise that future pay checks would be endorsed to his wife that she might control the family budget and spend the monthly allowance with wisdom.

STORM SEWERS LAID AT UNIVERSITY PLANT

Grading Also Completed At Entrance to the Grounds.

Workmen at the university are engaged in laying brick and stone for storm sewers along the road leading to the university buildings. In addition to this a road is being cut through the base of the hill in front of the college of arts.

Colonel Brown executive secretary, said today that the road was of a temporary nature at present. As soon as possible it will take the form of a splendid drive, leading to the race track to the south of the buildings.

The grading around the entrance to the grounds has been completed. The sodding, which was done during the dry weather, has taken on a splendid green, owing to the recent rains.

The large area to the southwest of the university, where the sods were taken up for the hillside will be seeded so that it will get a good start before fall.

Two Girls Used Needles To Discourage Advances Of 25 Youths, Court Told

Revelry on Sunday Night Brings Six Boys to Court—Fun Cost $26.50.

JAIL NEXT TIME

Mt. Brydges Residents Tell How Lads Serenaded Pretty Visitors.

Half the population of the village of Mount Brydges swarmed down on the courthouse this morning to attend the trial of six youths of the village who were alleged to have turned last Sabbath evening into a regular carnival night. When the verbal combat between J. G. Gillanders appearing for the village trustees, and Howard Cluff, for the sextette, had died away in silence, the court fined one youth, C. Glover, $10 and costs amounting in all to $26.50, while he informed the others, M. Wilton, M. Campbell, M. Snelgrove Wm. Fisher, Christina, and Tom Howe of Melbourne, that although they would go free this time, if they ever appeared in his court again they would receive jail terms.

The boys then adjourned to the hall and took up a collection for young Glover, 18 years of age, and the fine was paid over in small bills, nickels and dimes.

That there was considerable revelry by night, interspersed with language that was anything but becoming to the Sabbath was easily gathered from the evidence of three witnessee.

25 in the Crowd.

Apparently, beautiful young flappers in Mount Brydges are few and far between, for further evidence went to show that a crowd of at least 25 boys tried their best to make friends with two visiting girls and were rewarded with needle thrusts which are now used for protection purposes instead of the old-time hatpins of the early 20th century.

Thus the riot started and pebbles and hefty rocks fell with the profusion of hail on the main street of the village near the Methodist church, and forced one witness, W. G. Bancroft, to crouch lower in his cornfield. It was no new occurrence for the village, prominent residents informed Magistrate Hawkshaw. However, it will stop now, or the county police, headed by High Constable Wharton, will know the reason why.

John Mann, the first witness called by Mr. Gillanders, said Wilton, Fisher Glover and Howe were in front of his house about 9:30 Sunday night. They were using rough talk and he advised them to move on.

W. G. Bancroft said he lives close to the Methodist church and after four or five rigs arrived near the church he saw the boys.

Made Them Mad.

"They called to the girls to come out and the girls wouldn't come," related Mr. Bancroft. "I guess that made them mad and they started to throw stones. There was some hollering and swearing. It is not the first time they have done it. They have been carrying on like that all winter."

Mr. Bancroft said that he had been watching them from a corn field and that some of the stones had almost hit him.

"Were the boys attending church that night?" asked Mr. Cluff?"

"Not them. I don't think they saw the inside of a church," replied witness with considerable warmth.

"Were the girls good looking?" queried Mr. Cluff.

"Well, they weren't homely," replied Bancroft cautiously. "I will say that they were respectable."

Mr. Gillanders objected to this line of questioning by Mr. Cluff and the court agreed with him.

"Did one of the girls on the street that the boys were following, stick a needle into one chap?" persisted Mr. Cluff.

They Used Needles.

"Yes, but I don't know where," came back witness amid the laughter of spectators. "I think the boys were trying to get the girls."

"Yes, and one or two of the applicants were rejected via the needle route," assented Mr. Cluff. "What are you, a Methodist?"

"No, a Baptist."

"All right, I didn't mean to insult you," continued counsel as Mr. Bancroft gave him a dark look.

Carman Bancroft, age 15, stated that he saw Glover grab two girls.

"They stuck a pin in him" announced Carman with a smile. Later on Glover told him he would knock the deuce out of him, if he were older.

Mr. Cluff announced that the defence would offer no evidence.

"There was some conversation between the boys and girls" he said "Apparetnly the boys were anxious to take them out."

"Just because there were two girls there, it is no reason why 25 boys should try to pick them up" declared the magistrate. "This has been going on for years, I have been told by resposible residents of the village.

Two Much Freedom.

"The boys have been getting away with it and came to the conclusion they could do as they liked. I think there is enough evidence to convict them all. You don't put any of the defendants in the box to deny that they were there and it looks as if you were hiding something."

"An innocent man will often be twisted up by a clever lawyer" replied Mr. Cluff. "I don't want to give my learned friend Mr. Gillanders an opportunity of practicing on my clients."

Mr. Gillanders bowed acknowledment to Mr. Cluff and then asked the court to inflict a severe penalty on the youths as such rowdy actions must be stopped.

Magistrate Hawkshaw then fined Glover $10 and costs, declaring that only slight technicalities saved the others from similar treatment.

"A village like Mount Brydges must be protected" said the court," and should not be pestered with the actions such as have been recounted here today. All those boys will be closely watched in future, and if they come here again, they will face a jail term. The case against all the boys except Glover ie dismissed."

The storm only lasted 15 minutes. It struck a Canadian National freight train and tore the roofs from three cattle cars.

MAY START HOTEL WITHIN 90 DAYS

sonally is fully impressed with the Federal square corner as the most desirable hotel site ni the city on account of the retail business possibilities, heavy traffic on Dundas street, and the proximity of the theatres and other places of amusement. Believing that London needs a modern hotel and being interested in construction, Mr. Trainer concluded that his company had decided to come to the city to discuss the proposition and see what could be done to go through with the plan of building an up-to-date hotel here.

Mayor Pleased.

Mayor G. A. Wenige, who is chairman of the stockholders' committee appointed, is enthusiastic concerning the accomplishments of this morning's conference and is optimistic of the whole scheme.

"I liked the type of men we met," observed the mayor. "Everything went through sailing. I never saw anything go through as well and so quietly. The different investors present asked questions of Mr. Trainer and he answered them clearly and to the satisfaction of all concerned."

The local committee to confer with Mr. Trainer concerning the site includes: Mayor Wenige, Richard Ivey, John M. Moore, John S. Moore, Gordon Ingram and Col. W. G. Coles.

In addition to the committee, some of those present at the conference were: Col. Ibbotson Leonard, Tom Allan, H. E. Boomer, and T. G. Eggett.

Favors Special Vote.

"While it might be possible to arrange for an exchange of the Federal square property for the Lloyd George hotel site without taking a vote of the ratepayers, I would not consider doing it without such a vote," stated Mayor Wenige this morning, in discussing the meeting of No. 1 and No. 2 committees this afternoon. "We want the people behind this move and have no fear of an unfavorable vote. The advantage to the city of a good new hotel is too obvious."

"But would it not have the effect of delaying the negotiations unduly?" he was asked.

"Not at all," he replied. "A special vote could be held inside of three weeks, and I am in favor of calling a special election right away if it is necessary."

No Move in Crusade Until Meeting Is Held Next Monday Evening.

There have been no new developments during the week in the board of health's crusade to secure the cleaning up of the Thames river. Chairman Mitchell has called a meeting of the board for Monday evening next, at which the situation will receive attention, but until that time, at least, there is unlikely to be any new move to end a condition which is held to be a menace to the public health of the city. Dr. W. S. Downham, medical officer of health, is absent from the city on holidays at the present time.

BRITISH TEACHERS TOURING PROVINCE

Miss Williams Declares Fashions in Canada Are Somewhat Backward.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Aug. 7.—Forty-six British educationists arrived in Toronto today in two parties, one of twelve from the National Union of Teachers, and the other of 34 women from the National Union of Women Teachers.

Miss Anne Williams, from Nottinghamshire, leader of the women's party, expressed the opinion that fashions in Canada were backward, to say the least. Miss Williams, however, was delighted with the spontaneous manner of Canadian girls, compared with the more reserved English girl.

A tendency in the British school system, as described by one of the visitors, is to separate the brighter groups and let them work mostly on their own, permitting the teacher to give most of her attention to the more backward pupils.

That there was a movement toward union between a section of the Methodist church and a section of the Anglican church was the opinion of J. Brown of Runcorn, Cheshire.

The Merry Little Breezes Blow Danny's Raft Back To the Shore

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Not all the huffing and all the puffing and all the blowing in the world by the Merry Little Breezes could get Danny Meadow Mouse and his raft, which you know was a piece of old board, any nearer to the shore. There were too many big green lily-pads in the way. So at last the Merry Little Breezes had to give up huffing and puffing and blowing.

"We are so sorry," cried the Merry Little Breezes to Danny Meadow Mouse. "We thought we could blow you away to shore. We didn't remember about these big green lily-pads. We are so sorry."

"Never mind," cried Danny. "It really doesn't matter at all, and I am ever and ever so much obliged to you for blowing me over here. It was ever so good of you. And now I'll show you why you needn't worry because you couldn't blow me away to the shore."

Danny ran along to the end of the old board and jumped to the nearest big green lily-pad, and away he went, run, jump, jump, run, from one big green lily-pad to another big green lily-pad. He was using those big green lily-pads as a sort of bridge.

At last he reached a big green lily-pad which did not have another one near enough for him to jump to. Danny simply plunged in and swam. When he reached the next big green lily-pad he climbed out on it, and once more began running and jumping. And so at last Danny made one final jump and there he was on shore again, safe and sound.

"Now," cried one of the Merry Little Breezes, "we hope you will go right straight home, Danny Meadow Mouse, and never again be so foolish."

Danny looked a little puzzled. "I don't know just where home is. But I guess I will be able to find it," said he.

And then it came to one of the Merry Little Breezes that they had blown Danny Meadow Mouse ashore on the wrong side of the Smiling Pool. His home, the home where he had left Nanny Meadow Mouse, was on the other side of the Smiling Pool. How those Merry Little Breezes did wish that they needn't tell Danny. But they had to, of course. There was nothing else for them to do.

Such a funny look as there was on Danny's face. Then he grinned. "Never mind," said he. "It is a whole lot better to be on the wrong side of the Smiling Pool than to be on the right side of it in the stomach of Longlegs the Heron, or Snapper the Snapping Turtle, or that big fish. I guess I'll find some way of getting back across the Smiling Pool or across the Laughing Brook."

He was using those big green lily-pads as a sort of bridge.

When the Merry Little Breezes saw that Danny really didn't feel so badly they felt a great deal better about it themselves, and they once more began to dance. One after another they rumpled up the hair of Danny Meadow Mouse, and then, bidding him good-bye, they danced away to see what more good they could do in the Great World. As for Danny, the very first thing he did was to go look for something to eat. He really didn't seem to be at all worried because he was on the wrong side of the Smiling Pool.

Nervousness, melancholia, backache, headache and pain in the side are all nature's danger signals which indicate some ailment peculiar to a woman. When such warning symptoms appear women may avoid much pain and suffering if they will rely upon Lydia E. WOMEN and THE HOME

GOLDEN WEDDING UNIQUELY CELEBRATED NEAR LONDON

Rev. and Mrs. A. Lucas Were Fifty Years Married Yesterday.

FAMILY UNBROKEN

Golden sunshine reigned yesterday for the golden wedding anniversary of Rev. Aquila Lucas and Mrs. Lucas, of concession 4, London township, where an unbroken family circle met for the outstanding occasion. On the spacious lawns at Harbert Gardens was a long marquee, hung with fifty bluebirds and sheltering a golden canary which piped a happy tune.

Here the fiftieth anniversary was delightfully and uniquely celebrated. Fifty sat down to dinner in the big marquee at 1 o'clock as guests of Mrs. Lucas' sisters, the Misses Bridges, of Malden, Mass. The 11 children of the unbroken family circle were present and also 24 of the 25 grandchildren.

Golden Decorations.

The tables formed a hollow square. They were covered with cloths of silvery tissue, banded in gold ribbons, and in the center of the square, on a smaller table, the wedding cake had a place of honor, golden ribbons falling over the cloth. On either side of its frosty whiteness were miniature golden ladders, the rungs representing happy years of married life, and it was topped by a quaint little toy bride and groom. Low bowls of golden California poppies and marigolds were used and the favors were tiny golden baskets. Small boxes of sweets were tied in gold ribbons bearing the dates 1875-1925. At the bride's cover was a circular box, tied with gold ribbons, and a big rosette was filled with sweets, also wrapped in gold.

The toastmaster of the program was Frank Lucas of Toronto, eldest son. The program of the after-dinner hour opened with the singing of the old hymn, Blest Be the Tie That Binds, and this was followed by old songs, including In the Gloaming, When You and I Were Young, Maggie, Home Again, and Auld Lang Syne. The blessing was asked by the eldest daughter, Mrs. E. W. Halpeny, of Charleston, West Virginia.

Family Gift.

A poem, written by Edgar Guest to celebrate the golden wedding of intimate family friends, was read and the presentation of the family gift was made by the eldest son. This was a purse of gold, which Rev. Mr. Lucas acknowledged in a feeling speech. A handsome victrola, with many records, was the gift of Mrs. Lucas' four sisters. It was presented by Miss Minnie Bridges.

Greetings and gifts came from a host of relatives and friends all over the continent. From Miss Hope Jackson, missionary on service in Mexico, came the dainty cards, cleverly etched in tiny gay-colored birds with real feathers, that marked the place of each guest at the table. Many of Mr. Lucas' former associates in the ministry and in the Sunday school work, which he carried on for a number of years in Central and South America, also sent greetings.

Among the gifts to the bride of 50 years ago was a sheaf of 50 lovely roses, tied with ribbons.

In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Lucas held an informal reception, many London friends going out to offer greetings. Dainty refreshments were served and the house was attractive with flowers, and in the garden were strung gayly-colored lights.

Children All Present.

The family reunion was unusual from the fact that there has been no break in the large family circle. Mr. Lucas came to Canada in 1871 from London, England, in company with 11 young Methodist ministers, for work in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia conference. His first circuit, he recalled, covered an area of 50 miles. His bride, Hattie J. Bridges, of Charlottetown, P.E.I., was but 17 years of age at the time of her wedding. Her youngest sister, who was among yesterday's guests, is younger by some years than Mrs. Lucas' eldest son. The grandchildren range in age from 18 months to 25 years, and the members of the family travelled from 500 to 3,000 miles to attend the golden wedding celebration.

Among the 50 who sat down to dinner yesterday were the 11 children, Mrs. E. W. Halpenny, of Charleston, West Virginia, with her son and daughter; Frank E. Lucas and Mrs. Lucas, of Toronto, with their son and three daughters; Mrs. John Bullivant, with Mr. Bullivant and their two daughters, of this city; Robert Lucas, Mrs. Lucas and their two daughters and son, of Gary, Ind.; John and Mrs. Lucas, of Wallace, Idaho, with their son and three daughters; Mrs. Thomas Layfield, with her two sons and one daughter, of Missoula, Montana; Mrs. Arthur Bussard, with her daughter and three sons, of Missoula, Montana; Mrs. Arthur F. Baker and two sons and daughter, of Arcadia, N.S., and Albert E. Lucas and Miss Ruth D. Lucas, of London township.

Other guests included a nephew, W. S. Matthie, of Malden, Mass.; the Misses Minnie, Alberta, Hazel and Beatrice Bridges, of Malden, Mass., sisters of the bride; Mrs. T. Bullivant, of London; Miss Sutton, of New York, and Miss Margaret McFee, of Newburyport, Maine.

Mr. Bruce Wells of this city, brilliant young violinist, who is studying in the United States, appeared recently on a program given by the Waunita society at Waunita Hot Springs, Colorado, playing violin solos. Mr. Edgar Guest, the noted writer, was also on the program, giving readings.

Mrs. R. Mills was the hostess of a delightful lawn party on Wednesday evening, when she entertained on the spacious lawns of her home on Brydges street in honor of Rev. A. C. Bingham and Mrs. Bingham and their family, who are in the city from Edmonton. Musical numbers, rendered by an orchestra led by Mr. Taliaferro and lawn games were much enjoyed. A dainty supper was served and the evening closed with a sing-song led by Mr. Bingham.

At Vancouver, B. C., Mrs. Harry Kingsmill and Mr. Sidney Kingsmill found large numbers of tourists visiting the Sunset City of the west. They visited the tomb of Pauline Johnson in Stanley Park and spent an evening with Mrs. Arthur Kingsmill, who is visiting her mother in Vancouver. Taking the boat at Vancouver and Seattle, as the Canadian highway is not completed, they return via Minneapolis and Chicago, visiting Banff, Lake Louise, Calgary and Winnipeg, before leaving for Chicago.

In honor of Mr. and Mrs. Colon Russell, the latter formerly Miss Lena Bacon, about forty of their friends of the Grove community held a miscellaneous shower at their home on the 3rd concession of London township, recently. During the evening an interesting program, consisting of violin selections, vocal solos, readings and speeches, was given. Rev. Mr. Johnson, pastor of the Siloam Circuit, presided and at the close of the program tendered the congratulations and good wishes of their neighbors to Mr. and Mrs. Russell, to which Mr. Russell responded very suitably. At the close of the evening a dainty lunch was served by the ladies.

Dorothy Dix

Stop Whining Because You Aren't Rich Enough to Give Your Children the Advantages of Wealth.

Among my acquaintances is a woman who is always bemoaning the fact she cannot give her children "advantages." She sheds barrels of tears over their not having the "advantages" that the children of the rich have.

She beats upon her breast and laments that she cannot send her boys to college, and give them high-powered motor cars, and when she thinks of not being able to dress her daughters like fashion plates and send them off to summer and winter resorts, she melts down into a perfect pulp of self-pity.

After listening to this wail for a number of years, I grew exasperated, and said to her:

"What are these advantages which you cannot give your children that you bemoan so loudly? Let us sit down and consider them dispassionately, and see if your children really are so unfortunate, and so handicapped in life as you think they are. Let us begin with your not being able to send your boys off to college.

"I grant you that we would all like to give our children every possible opportunity to acquire a good education. But not all knowledge comes put up in school-book packages. Furthermore the degree a man takes who graduates from the university of Hard Knocks has a lot of practical, available information, and a working knowledge of life that is worth a bushel of M. A.'s and Ph. D.'s, and that it will take the college graduate ten or fifteen years to acquire.

"Many of the best-informed, best-read men that I know never saw the inside of a college. In these days of cheap books, and magazines, and newspapers if a man wants an education he will get it.

"Nor is the lack of a college education any bar to success. The men who are running things in America today spent their formative years, from 18 to 24, in learning about mines, and railroads, and stores, and banking, instead of being grounded in Greek and Latin. And they are hiring college graduates to work for them.

"Moreover, while you can lead a boy to the Pierrian Spring, you cannot make him drink from it, and you know well enough that the great majority of boys who are sent off to college idle away their time, and come back with nothing but a college yell, the latest thing in Klassy Kut Kollege Klothes, and a maddening air of superiority.

"So comfort yourself with the knowledge that if your son has it in him to take an education he will get it. If he yearns for culture he will acquire it, and that if he is just a boy who has good hard horse sense, and is not intellectual the sooner he gets to work after his high-school days the better for him.

"Of course, mother-like, you want your children to have everything that multimillionaires have, but in your heart you must know that money is a curse to a boy instead of a blessing. To begin with, wealth paralyzes ambition. We are all poor, weak creatures who take the line of least resistance, and when we don't have to do things we become slackers. We have to have necessity to spur us on to achievement.

"Call over the roll of the rich men of today, of the men who sit in high places, of the men who are famous inventors and writers, and artists. They were almost all poor boys. There is scarcely the name of a millionaire's son in the whole list.

"And riches lead a boy into temptation from which the poor boy is safe. The boy who has to work for his daily bread has his mind and his hands occupied. He has something interesting and exciting always to do. The idle rich boy must make his own diversions, and find some way of killing time, and he does it only too often by the booze and the gambling route, and in the company of wild women. For adventuresses and gratters fasten themselves like leeches on the man with a fat pocketbook. There is nothing like lacking the price as a first aid to virtue.

"As for not being able to give your girls advantages, do you really think it is any advantage to a girl to be brought up to be nothing but a fashion plate, to have no duties and responsibilities, to have no object in life except amusing herself and to be taught merely to be a waster and a spender?

"So," I said to my lachrymose friend, "stop whining because you aren't rich and can't give your children 'advantages.' You are giving them the necessity of standing on their own feet and fighting their own battles, of developing all that is best in them, and that is the greatest advantage that you could possibly give them.

WOMEN and THE HOME

STARVED HEARTS

By MILDRED BARBOUR.

CHAPTER XXXV.

Revelation.

Next morning they left for San Francisco and sailed at noon the following day.

Madelon, leaning on the deck rail, with Chandler lounging indolently beside her, watched the shore line of California slowly receding from view.

Then, with a little sigh as of one who sees a chapter closing, she turned and went forward, raising her eyes to the promise of the horizon beyond the Golden Gate.

Throughout the days that followed she was content to lie in a steamer chair, watching the blue, undulating waves with half-closed eyes. Her thoughts would drift back to the life she was leaving far behind, despite her effort to look ahead. In spirit, she was crossing the continent with Barbara, she was in London with Julian Barton. Even Duane Farley claimed her thoughts briefly. Of Ann Ordway she mused frequently. She had written to Ann before she left, announcing her marriage. She wondered what Ann's comment would be when she received the letter.

She withdrew from the friendly advances of her fellow-passengers. They were a motley crowd, mostly bound for the Orient. She found them quite uninteresting.

It was not until the third day out that she suddenly awoke to the realization that Chandler was raely at her side.

Usually she breakfasted in her stateroom where the stewardess brought her tray, but Chandler made a point of joining her when she came on deck an hour or so later. They lunched together, and then he would vanish until dinner time. After the meal, he would again disappear, and late at night, long after she had retired, she would hear him come down to his adjoining stateroom.

It seemed to her that he walked haltingly as though he felt his way along the corridor. Sometimes he stumbled.

One night, he stooped at her door and knocked.

She pretended not to hear but he persisted and called her name softly.

She climbed out of her berth, flung a light wrap around her shoulders and opened the door an inch or so.

He was standing directly under the electric light. His face was terribly flushed, and he swayed from side to side with the rocking of the ship.

Inexperienced as she was with such things, her instinct told her that he had been drinking, and she shrank back and made to close the door, but he was too quick for her and inserted a foot in the opening. The action almost lost him his balance. His eyes were mocking, malicious.

"Oh, you needn't be afraid of me," he assured her, abit thickly. "I only want to show you something . . . . "

He thrust his hand into his pocket and drew from it a roll of bills which he waved before her.

"See this? Not a bad haul for one evening, eh what? . . . . Unlucky in love, lucky at cards," he quoted and laughed sardonically.

With that, he lurched across the corridor to his own stateroom and banged the door.

She closed her own door and crept back to bed. She was trembling with fear and disgust. She knew now where and how Chandler spent his days and nights. Often, as she passed the cardroom door, she had thought she heard his voice. Was he really a drunkard and a gambler? Was that why he roved the wide world over, seeking new companions, new prey? Was that how he earned the money? which supported him in ease?

She recalled Duane Farley's face when she had told him who her husband was? Did he know? Was that why he had looked and acted so strangely?

She recalled too, Chandler's evident agitation when she had mentioned Farley to him. Was Farley one of his victims?

These and other questions crowded through her mind, torturing her throughout the still watches of the night. She heard the ship's bell strike quarter hour after quarter hour, while she lay shivering in the darkness.

Alone in a drifting world of black water and starless sky, she faced a dark impenetrable future. Gone was the exultant sense of adventure and, in its place, had come forboding menace, the uneasy prescience of evil.

When the dawn came, a greyish smudge through the staring portholes, she was still awake and staring with wide-open eyese into the gloom.

To Be Continued.

ENGLISH GIRLS SELL ICE CREAM

Young Women Are Competing Against Men in Motherland.

The "hokey pokey" girl has appeared in London, England,—hundreds of her. The hokey pokey ice cream man arrived three or four years ago, by leaps and bounds, and is now a familiar sight in any part of London, every afternoon and evening during the warm weather. One firm alone has 1,500 men, on three-wheeled bicycles, who sell ice cream sandwiches for a penny, and recently another firm, with the same conveyance for carrying the ice cream packs, started with young women as dispensers.

The contention is made that girls naturally take more interest in their work, and are capable of making more sales because of their ability to make friends more quickly and to handle the hokey pokey more daintily than their men and boy competitors.

NORTH OXFORD W. M. S. HAS SUMMER SESSION

Members Answer Appeal To Assist in Furnishing Home at New Liskeard.

Ingersoll, Aug. 6.—A well-attended meeting of the North Oxford W. M. S. was held at the home of Mrs. J. Knox, this week. The president, Mrs. Eyre, presided.

A letter had been received from Mrs. Robertson, Brantford, asking for any assistance in helping to furnish the new school home at New Liskeard, which is to be opened on Sept. 1. A number of donations were offered.

The ladies were then favored by a very nicely given solo by Miss Stella Knox. Mrs. J. Pirie gave the Bible reading. There was present Mrs. (Rev. Dr.) Smith of St. Catharines, who gave a very inspiring address, touching on points of extreme interest that have not been clear to many in the great question that the Presbyterian church has been facing so recently.

A special meeting on the evening of August 26 will be held at the home of Mrs. Cawthorpe, Thamesford, at which Rev. Dr. Smith of St. Catharines will speak. All are very cordially invited to attend, both men and women. The next regular meeting is to be held at Mrs. W. Sutherland's, Banner, on September 5, the roll call to be answered by using the word "Joy."

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

CHILDREN HEAR LIGHTHOUSE TALK

Vacation Bible Schools Have Many Interesting Features.

A special feature at one of the daily vacation Bible schools on Wednesday morning was the novel and interesting "Lighthouse Talk" by Miss Serminia Simpson. It was illustrated by a beautiful tin lighthouse built on a rock. The whole was symbolic of the Christian building on Christ.

The beginners' department, under Miss Vera Mantle, began in earnest their missionary scrapbooks. The Juniors are busy with a relief map of Palestine, while the Senior Boys are working on artistic mottoes and the girls are sewing.

The beginners' attendance contest has already increased the attendance by 14.

MRS. WARNER HONORED BY HALE STREET CLUB

Members Gathered at Her Home To Present Her With Gift.

The members of the Hale street mothers' club had an enjoyable time on Wednesday evening, when they gathered in front of Mrs. Warner's home on Dundas street east and surprised here with a gift, prior to her leaving the city.

Mrs. Warner has been a devoted worker in the club for some time and will be greatly missed. It was but a slight token of appreciation on the part of the members. Mrs. Warner has unselfishly given much of her time to clinic work as well as to the club, and it was at the close of the evening, following a kindly worded address read by Mrs. E. Henshaw, the secretary, that she received a lovely shower bouquet of dainty handkerchiefs from Mrs. T. Lashbrook on behalf of the other members. Mrs. Warner made a charming little reply, thanking the women for their thoughtfulness.

A dainty lunch was then served by several of the ladies.

SHOWERS WILL HELP WESTERN GRAIN CROPS

Regina, Aug. 7.—Coming in time to give the grain crops a greater opportunity to fill out before the harvest begins and brightening prospects for a yield higher than the average, heavy local showers, accompanied by thunder and lightning, fell at many southern Saskatchewan points yesterday.

The showers fell between Moose Jaw on the west and Carlyle on the east, and from points ten miles north of Regina to a few points along the international boundary. The storm lasted from ten to forty-five minutes.

Experts were of the opinion that where the rain fell, while not heavy in volume, it would increase the yield per acre.

TAILORESS FOUND DEAD.

Toronto, Aug. 7.—Margaret Walker, 81-year-old tailoress, was found dead in her room on Kent street east today. Police express opinion she has been dead for a week. Death is believed to have been caused by hemorrhage.

George Johnston, of south Hamilton, is a relative.

Clouting Bee In Seventh Proves Deciding Factor In Tecs' 6-4 Win Over Bay City

Harris Keeps Wolves At Bay As Mates Pound Out Victory

Series of Safe Smacks in Seventh Shatters Visitors' Chances.

TRIPLE DOES IT

"Now you see it and now you don't," now you see it and now you don't," the Bay City Wolves will be telling themselves in their sleep for the next few nights because that's the way yesterday's game went—for them. According to Breen's ballplayers neither umpire could see anything, and in keeping with the facts of the case the above-mentioned ballplayers couldn't see Pete Harris' shoots at all when a hit was needed, so between the two it was a merry afternoon, and Pete put another nick in his gun handle. Oh, yes, the score, 6-4 for London.

Nearly every inning saw the poor, old downtrodden pair of arbiters made the butt of acrimonious remarks from one or several of Mr. Breen's employees. Each of them, except Monsieur Jacques Beauregard Lahaie, took a hand in it. M. Lahaie would have tried it, too, but as he converses almost exclusively in the habitant, and Messrs. Kober and Vanluven broadcast their wishes and thoughts in rare old Indiana American, and since also east is still east, and west is still west, they didn't meet.

Things looked gummy for the Tecs before the first frame was over, as the invading jaw-players had banged the bell twice. Hughes went out, Sandquist to Cross, but Fielder drew a walk, went to second on a passed ball and made third when Prysock was safe on a choice. He scored when Cozington singled. Then Prysock went to third as Cozington was being put out at second on Tomer's choice. Pete Harris uncorked a wild one and Prysock came over with the run number two. Then Brown altruistically flied out to end it.

Get One Back.

The Tecs got one of these back in their half, however. Sandquist hit safely and stole second, going to third when Prysock let the ball get away from him. Stimpson brought him in with a sacrifice fly, after Baker had lofted an easy one to center. Cross singled and likewise stole second, but was left stranded when Brower flied out.

Three hard smacks and a wild pitch gave the Londoners two more in the fourth. Stimpson hit safely to start it, going to third on Brower's drive to left, after Cross had fanned. Klein got his second single of the afternon to score Stimpson. Kernan grounded out, Brower crossed the plate when Marty heaved a wild one, Klein stopping at third. Klein attempted a steal of home, but it didn't work.

Two-Gun Pete was breezing along in fine form, having been appreciably heartened by his conquest of Cozington in a little joust of wits in the third. Cozington had reached first on a choice and obviously Pete intended to make the southpaw flycatcher camp right there. At more or less regular intervals Mr. Cozington would playfully hop off the sack, give Pete a dirty look and then gleefully hop back again, mentally patting himself on the back all the while.

But Pete chewed on.

The windmill wind-up started and the left leg went up in the air just a little further than ordinarily. But this time the ball got to first before any part of Mr. Cozington's anatomy did, and Slicker Cross was in another out.

Pete chewed on.

With two out in the Wolves' half of the fourth, successive safeties by Rawlins and Patterson went for nought when Marty hit one right into Brower's glove. They missed another big chance in the next frame when with two gone again Prysock smacked a fast one out to Stimpson's gully for a triple, but was left on third when Cozington lifted an easy one to Vermilyea.

Big Seventh Inning.

The birds chirped and the peanuts disappeared and the game wore on. Then came the seventh. "Batter up—smack; batter up—smack." That was the way it went after Vermilyea, first up, had flied out. Harris golfed a smoker which Rawlins stopped backhand but was unable to hold. Sandquist singled. Then came the Mighty Mite to the plate and in about half a minute the ball was out where the young hay smiles in the post-meridian sunlight. Sandy and Pete came in and Baker followed them right after Stimpson had complied with the rules which govern such occurrences by looping the sphere safely to center. Cross got on by popular consent when he stopped one of Marty's benders with his vertebrae. However, Brower flied out and Klein whiffed.

In an eleventh hour rally the Wolves crystallized a brace of hits, a fielder's choice and an error into two counters, but Joseph Paul Klein pulverized their hopes completely by taking in Cozington's fly for the final out.

Soccer Champs May Make Tour

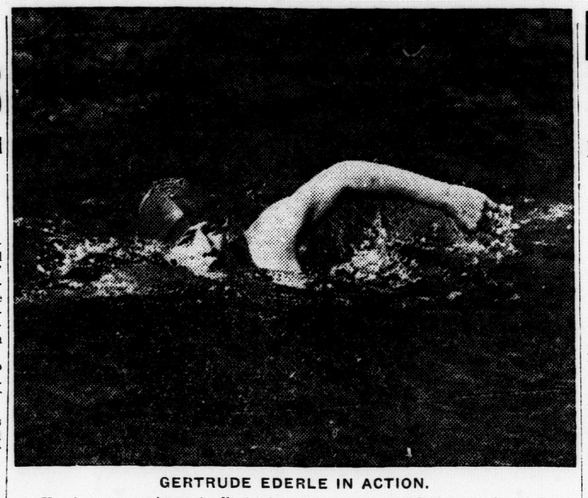
Plans Under Way For Trip To British Isles.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Aug. 6.—A series of matches between Ulster United soccer football club of Toronto, Dominion champions and holders of the Connaught cup, and leading first-class teams of Great Britain and Ireland is in prospect. If arrangements with the British and Irish clubs can be made so that the proposed games would not interfere with league schedules, the Ulster club are prepared to send over the team that won the Connaught cup at Winnipeg last month with one exception, and accompanied by leading players of other local soccer clubs.

Departure of the team for Ireland is scheduled for Dec. 10, the tour to last for about 10 weeks.

The trip, if made, would be reciprocative of the tour of the Corinthians amateur team some time back.



GERTRUDE EDERLE IN ACTION.

For her cross-channel effort, she will wear greased cap as shown here, pins a pair of stout glass-and-linen goggles to keep the salt water out of her eyes. Her whole body will be larded with a greasy substance, as protection against the cold.

Youthful Mermaid Is Determined To Conquer Channel On Eve of Test

Gertrude Ederle, American Champion, To Make Attempt Early Today.

IS CONFIDENT

Will Leave Cape Gris-Nez at 10:30 This Morning.

By CAPT. RUTHERFORD.

Cape Gris-Nez, France, Aug. 6.—Indications tonight were that Miss Gertrude Ederle, the American swimming champion, would start her cross-channel swim tomorrow night under excellent conditions of wind, weather and temperature.

The hop-off is scheduled for about ten o'clock in the evening (five o'clock in the afternoon, eastern standard time). If successful she will land at Dover the following afternoon. Tidal conditions are such that she must reach England by two o'clock in the afternoon, as otherwise an adverse tide will sweep her off again into the channel.

By CAPT. ALEC RUTHERFORD.
Special Correspondent of The Advertiser

Cape Gris-Nez, France, Aug. 6.—On the eve of the date set for her cross-channel attempt, Miss Gertrude Ederle, the 18-year-old American champion, retains her quiet confidence and plucky determination.

"I shall do my best," she said when I asked her again what she thought of her chances. I think she has grown more and more calmly confident during the past days of actual encounter with the tides and currents of the obstreperous channel. "It really isn't as bad as I expected," she remarked as she returned from today's light practice swim.

Everyone who has seen this cheerful American girl during her training period here is confident that she will make a remarkable effort. If she does her best, it is bound to be a good performance. She has made an excellent impression on everyone, both by her attractive personality and by her swimming technique. Her beautiful proportions and athletic figure, her power and her complete mastery of the eight-beat crawl, and above all, her will to win, have convinced the British experts here that with reasonable luck as to tides and weather, and ap absence of accidents, she has an excellent chance of securing the honor of being the first woman to conquer the channel.

Whatever happens during the final effort, she has the satisfaction of knowing that she has won a host of admirers. Her two rivals, the Egyptian champion, Helmy, and the Argentine champion, Miss Harrison, are her good friends, and will wish her all the luck possible when she sets out. The old-time channel veterans—Burgess, who swam it successfully in 1911, and Jabez Wolfe, who tried unsuccessfully so many times that he long ago lost count—have been at her feet since she began her workouts at Gris-Nez.

Cheerfulness an Asset.

Miss Ederle's natural cheerfulness is a great asset in her forthcoming attempt. Perhaps the worst enemy of the channel swimmer is the depression that comes at various stages of the long-drawn physical strain. Even she will need encouragement and inspiration at times, but it will not be lacking. Often the most useful encouragement is provided by physical companionship in the water, and this will be provided for by having several swimmers ready at all times on board the accompanying tug to dive overboard and pace the contender for a half hour or longer.

During Burgess' successful channel swim in 1911, he was accompanied in the water for the last six hours by his friend, Jack Weidman of Dover. Burgess himself later helped Charles Toth of Boston through the last few hours of his successful effort by swimming with him until triumph was secure. Toth had a terrific fight to get ashore, and it was only Burgess' knowledge of the under-water conditions along the Dover cliffs that made his success possible.

There is no dispute as to Miss Ederle's endurance. It was something more than luck that enabled her, just before she left America for England, to swim 21 miles without nourishment from the Battery to Sandy Hook, in 7 hours, 11 minutes. Obviously she is a serious aspirant to cross-channel honors.

Stroke Reduced.

Jabez Wolfe, whose early comment was that her only failing was that she was "too fast to last," has only partially succeeded in reducing her speed. He has got her down to 24 strokes per minute instead of her normal 28, and he hopes to decrease this at times to 23 or even 22. This makes for endurance, and while there is a corresponding loss in pace, the swimmer must always have a reserve in hand should a spurt be necessary in order to catch a tide or get past a troublesome current.

Miss Ederle swims well out of the water, with a double trudgeon stroke, which has never before been adopted by a channel swimmer. It is probable that she will use the 6-beat kick instead of the 8-beat which she has used in her sprints.

I have received several inquiries from friends in America as to the greasy substance which is used to cover the body of a channel swimmer, in order to insulate the body and counteract the effect of a long, soaking in sea water. The nature of the substance varies according to the whim of the swimmer or coach. Pure lard was used by Captain Webb, the first successful cross-channel swimmer. Tiraboschi, the Argentinian, and Toth of Boston, used a dark mixture which had almost the appearance of a soft leather casing over the skin.

During the past two years most swimmers have favored a mixture of lard and lanoline, which seems very efficacious, remaining on the body throughout the entire distance, and requiring a scrub with gasoline and hot water to remove it after the finish of the ordeal.

Protect the Eyes.

Protection for the eyes is as fully necessary as for the body. Otherwise the continual wash of the salt water is almost certain to blind the swimmer. The standard protection against this danger is a pair of goggles, fitted into a waterproof linen case and glued to the face with tar or some similar substance.

Men aspirants for channel honors have usually made the swim without any bathing suits. Women wear a very fine and light silk bathing suit.

Miss Ederle started her training at Brighton, England, with the costume and goggles which she will wear on the final effort. But for the first two weeks, she was oiled, not greased, so as to accustom herself gradually to this somewhat uncomfortable phase of the contest. Since her arrival at Gris-Nez she has been greased daily with the mixture, which has been approved for her swim, in order mainly to accustom her to the somewhat unpleasant odor.

Feeding Important.

The question of feeding a Channel swimmer is always important. In Miss Ederle's case, chief reliance will be placed on beef juice, chocolate and grapes, although other foods will be ready if she wishes them. A meal will probably be offered her at half-hourly intervals, although she may not desire food as often as this. Meals en route are a new experience to her, as she took no food at all during her most strenuous previous effort, the New York swim from the Battery to Sandy Hook.

While some Channel swimmers take very little food, others eat and drink even more heartily than on land. Burgess was an example of the latter. He never missed his half-hourly meal-time, sitting up and treading water while he ate a fairly hearty meal from plate. He usually began his meal with fluid, following this with a leg of chicken, and finishing with a good helping of red-currant tart—the British equivalent of pie.

WOODSTOCK QUARTET QUALIFIES FOR FINALS

A. H. Wilson's Rink Wins District in Dominion Tourney Eliminations.

Special to The Advertiser.

Woodstock, Aug. 6.—F. A. Smith, secretary of the local bowling club, has been notified that A. H. Wilson's rink of bowlers has won its district in the Dominion championship tourney elimination and has qualified to meet the winners of the seven other districts of Ontario in the final series. It is understood that there is a likelihood of these games being played at Woodstock next week, owing to the central location of the city.

A Woodstock rink skipped by E. W. Lick, and with John Vance, Dr. Sneath and D. H. Stevenson as the other players, won four straight games and took the first honors at a one-day tournament held yesterday by the Plattsville bowling club. The tourney was a very successful one, and was not completed until early this morning. A rink skipped by L. W. Appel of Tavistock was in second place.

Senators Close On Leaders By Beating St. Louis Twice

Hospital to Meet Thistles, Saturday

Other Game On Bill Scheduled For St. Thomas.

Saturday's soccer bill calls for two games, London and St. Thomas each having one. The London game is between the Thistles and Westminster Hospital, and should be an interesting tilt. The game will be played at Springbank and the kick-off is at 3 o'clock with A. Noble officiating.

The Thistles are showing splendid form of late and are making many friends by their splendid display. The Hospital has also done well on its first season's showing, and is at present the league leader. This team played more games than most of the other teams, but they will make a big bid to hang on to the leadership.

The game in St. Thomas is between the C. N. R.'s and the United Vets. The Vets invariably show good form against London teams, but the Railroaders, who are playing consistently this season, should garner full points at the Vets' expense. The kick-off is at 5:30 p.m., and the game will be played at the Athletic grounds, with E. Duckworth in charge.

TOURNEY POSTPONED.

Exeter, Aug. 6.—Owing to the heavy rain the ball tournament to be held on Wednesday had to be postponed. The rain came down in torrents, and soon the hollows along the streets were miniature rivers. The event will be held on Wednesday, Aug. 19.

LONDON APPRENTICES HOLD STRATFORD 2 TO 2

Game Called After Six-Inning Struggle For C. N. R. Title.

Special to The Advertiser.

Stratford, Aug. 6.—In the first of a three-game series to determine the Ontario championship of the C. N. R. baseball league, the Stratford apprentices and the London apprentices played a tie game here this evening, the game being called at the end of the sixth inning with the teams deadlocked at 2 all.

The rival hurlers, Martin and Roberts, heaved a great brand of ball, the game being a pitchers' battle throughout. Both runs scored by London materialized as the result of Stratford errors. One of Stratford's runs came in the first inning, when Pugh walked and scored on Snider's double. St. Thomas Takes First Series Title

Second Team Beats Strathroy in Sudden-Death.

By defeating Strathroy by an 18 to 4 score in a sudden-death game at Sunshine park yesterday afternoon the St. Thomas intermediates won the championship of the first series of the Western Ontario intermediate league's eastern group.

Hard hitting by the Millers put four runs across in the first frame, and this was the sign for Arlein's exit. He was followed in the box by Vaughan, who held the opposition well in check all the way, although he didn't have to extend himself much, as his mates soon gathered a comfortable lead for him to work on.

Borchert, who started for Strathroy, lasted until the seventh, when Fiddler replaced him. The batting features of the day were provided by Sterling and Vaughan. The latter hit a home run out of the park with one runner on.

Batteries—Strathroy: Borchert, Fiddler and McCandless; St. Thomas: Arlein, Vaughan and Udell.

GUELPH PLANS TO STAGE RALPH PEQUEGNAT DAY

Special to The Advertiser.

Guelph, Aug. 6.—A thunderstorm which broke over the city shortly before 5 o'clock this evening forced a postponement of the Leafs' last home game with Brantford in the inter-county series. Both teams were ready to take the field, but the rain was so heavy that the diamond was converted into a miniature lake in a short time, and although the weather cleared within half an hour, it was impossible to proceed.

An effort is being made to have the Brantford team transfer their remaining home game with the Leafs to Guelph for a double-header Saturday, when it is the intention to hold a Ralph Pequegnat day in honor of Guelph's popular young catcher, who is leaving Guelph to take up his permanent home in Port Elgin.

SEA SERPENT IS SEEN OFF BRITISH COLUMBIA

Children's Tale of Strange Monster Verified by Settlers.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 6.—Children of the Queen Charlotte Islands, off the northern British Columbia coast, who for two months told their parents of a sea serpent they had noticed disporting itself off shore, had their stories verified last month, when a strange marine monster was seen by settlers of Graham Island, according to a report received here today by John P. Babcock, deputy commissioner of fisheries, from John J. Van Valkenburg.

"When I saw the animal going down the inlet he was travelling with the tide with the slow wriggling motion that a large snake employs when swimming at leisure," Mr. Van Valkenburg wrote. "The head and about six feet of the body were above the surface. When it submerged its body came up in a long spiral like a rope being dragged over a submerged object. Its tail did not come out, so that I was unable to see its size precisely.

"The body was round, or a short oval, dark green, almost black, and growing lighter underneath with spots of black. The head was rather long and I could see knots that I took for eyes and nostrils."

There are not likely to be any changes in the line-ups. Norman Perry, who did not make the trip to Windsor and whose presence was sadly missed, will be in harness, and, working with Glintz, Kerr, Boettger and McPhedran, he should give the 'Burg defence something to worry about.

O. B. A. A. Meeting Tomorrow To Untangle Local Juvenile Mix-Up.

PLAY 10-10 TIE

The local juvenile baseball situation was brought to a very unsatisfactory ending last night as far as the fans are concerned by the announcement from Dr. Johnston of Strathroy, president of the Elgin-Middlesex league, that the local Pirates have been awarded the play-off series and title on the grounds that the Orients have been using a player alleged to be over the age limit.

The two teams have been fighting tooth and nail since the play-offs started, and such an announcement has the effect of bursting a bombshell in the Orient camp. After being beaten in the first game the downtown youngsters have held the Pirates to two tie games, counting the 10—10 tilt last night at Queen's Park.

Now the whole aspect is changed. If the protest is allowed at the meeting of the O. B. A. A. in Hamilton tomorrow night then the Orients' hard fight is all for naught. They will be definitely out of it.

Taking the other games of the series as a standard, the tilt last night was away off color. Boots were the chief features and these along with poor work on the mound had the effect of making the game open in which both teams are guilty of blowing up.

It was the Orients' home game, so the Pirates had the first chance at the willow and obliged with three runs on two hits, two free passes and a couple of errors. The mix-up also brought about the retirement of Mahon, who started on the mound for the Orients. Osmond took up the relief duty. The other half of the frame was even worse, three miscues, two walks, two-hit by pitcher, a wild pitch and three hits, giving the Orients six runs and a nice big lead. It also brought about showers for Evans, the Pirates' starting hurler, Rumble relieving.

The Pirates crawled up within a run of the Orients' total in the second, singles by Buskard, Bennett, a double from Hendry's bat and Drake's sacrifice bringing in two. The downtown youngsters did not score in that inning, but came back in the next with three runs, a base on balls to Bonk, Moralee's sacrifice, Lindsay's single, an error by Drake and White's triple over Armstrong's head in center doing the trick.

Two hits and two errors gave the Pirates two runs in the fourth, and the Orients got one in their half of the same frame on three blows and a boot. After that the Orients can't do a thing with Rumble, who tightened up while his mates, with himself assisting, staged a three-run rally in the final frame to tie the game.

FINES SHOW BIG JUMP AT SARNIA

Six Month's Estimate For Police Court $2,000—Actual Income $5,000.

Special to The Advertiser.

Sarnia, Aug. 6.—The income of the corporation of the city of Sarnia for the half-year ended June 30 last exceeded the estimates on several items, according to a statement furnished to each member of the council. The gain in receipts was particularly noticeable in police court fines. The revenue from that source for the period from January 1 to June 30 was estimated at $2,000, whereas the actual income amounted to $5,000.

Another unexpected gain was on interest earned. The estimated revenue from that source was $3,000, but the returns showed receipts totalling $4,800. Poll tax also ran over the estimate by $618. A comparison of the appropriations and expenditures of the various committees shows that a few are slightly over their estimates. Salaries exceeded appropriation for the first six months by $1,160.

MEIGHEN ASSERTS KING FEARS ISSUE

Rail Solution Subterfuge To Evade Tariff Problem, He Says.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Shoal Lake, Man., Aug. 6.—In Marquette, the constituency of Hon. Thomas Crerar and hotbed of Progressive activities, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, in the presence of 2,000 farmers, today challenged what he termed the Liberal-Farmer alliance, and denounced them for what he proclaimed was a conspiracy to destroy the fiscal structure of the Dominion. Incidentally, the opposition leader scored the government for its extravagance in the railway administration, and said he now hears rumors that Liberals were proposing to present what is reported to be some sort of a railway merger, and declared that, in his opinion, Premier King was raising this new issue to evade making the tari ffpolicy the feature of the approaching contest.

Promises Farm Aid.

In the course of his two hours' speech, Mr. Meighen said that agriculture is on of the basic industries of the country, but not the only one that must be considered. He thought one chief thing to be considered for the farmer was a chilled meat trade, so that they can get their cattle to the export market on the hook and not on the hoof. He pledged that if he was again called to administer the country, he would lend government financial aid to this great economic problem of moving the cattle of the country to the market on a more profitable basis. He thought it could be accomplished with a minimum of government support.

Attacking the government, he exclaimed:

"We really have no government in Canada today; all we have is a collection of office handlers who talk the language of government, but never administer anything. They are political hacks."

The government of the day, the speaker insisted, is the most grotesque thing that ever passed by that name, and its action as an individual in the throes of delirium tremens. Since Sir Lomer Gouin and Mr. Fielding left the government who, he asked, is there left of statesmanlike qualities to guide the ship of state, and he answered by asserting, no one.

COMMONS BACKS SUBSIDY ON COAL

$50,000,000 Estimate For Mine Relief Passed by Overwhelming Vote.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Aug. 6.—By a vote of 351 to 16 the House of Commons approved the government's supplementary estimate of £10,000,000 for subsidizing the coal mining industry.

Premier Baldwin said that the first consideration which finally influenced the government to reach its decision in the coal situation was the fact that all Britain was suffering from unprecedentedly bad trade. The government, he said, could not honorably allow the country to be plunged into a struggle which must not only paralyze all the trade for a time but must throw back for months and possibly for years any solid chance of a trade revival.

Besides this, the premier said, the government concluded that the people who would suffer most would not be the miners' leaders but the rank and file of industry, whose personal sufferings would be incalculably greater than any sufferings which might be caused to the country by the amount of money which would be involved in the subvention plan. Finally, he said, the cabinet thought it due the people of the country before allowing them to be plunged into the consequences of a stoppage in the coal industry, to give them time to think what such a thing meant and to understand it.

So great a triumph in its endeavor to settle the controversy, which seemed a short while ago likely to culminate in a nationwide coal strike, had not been expected by the govment, although victory had seemed assured.

SCOTT IS INSANE, ESCAPES GALLOWS

Long Fight To Save Life of Ex-Canadian Financier Brings Success When Jury Brings in Verdict of Insanity After Deliberating For More Than Three Hours.

WILL FACE DEATH IF EVER ADJUDGED SANE

Associated Press Despatch.

Chicago, Aug 6.—Russell Scott today won his last fight to escape the gallows. A jury in the court of Superior Judge Joseph B. David found him insane.

The jury reached its verdict after deliberating 3 hours and 40 minutes. Its first vote was reported to have been 7 to 5 for insanity, and thereafter the vote gradually swung to the insanity verdict. Seven ballots were taken.

Scott immediately was committed to the Chester asylum for the insane

Hears Verdict.

Scott sat tensely in his chair while the jury filed into the box. He turned eagerly to the foreman when he announced to the court that a verdict was ready, and as the bailiff passed the verdict to the clerk, Scott's eyes followed the slip of paper that might mean life or death. When the verdict was read, "Scott's mouth twitched nervously and he shifted his position in the chair. He sat motionless at the side of his attorney while the court entered judgment on the verdict, and then was hurried out of the room as the bailiff adjourned the session.

Mrs. Catharine Scott, the young wife of the prisoner, leaned forward in an attitude of prayer after the verdict was read. Scott's mother, at his side, wept and embraced Scott's wife, while Thomas Scott, his aged and crippled father, received the verdict without show of emotion.

Scott, while going to the asylum as insane, still faces death on the gallows should be ever be found to have regained his sanity.

Scott, convicted of murder of Joseph Maurer, a drug clerk, was saved from death three weeks ago, six hours before he was to have been hanged, by a week's reprieve from Governor Small.

Saved Second Time.

Two weeks ago tonight, less than four hours before he was to walk on the death trap, he was again saved from the noose by a petition filed before Judge Davis at two o'clock in the morning, declaring him to be insane.

The hearing which saved his life was the sanity trial concluded late today, and which started Monday. Had Scott been found sane, he would have been sentenced to death once more, this time by the judge who presided at the sanity hearing.

Team of Horses Drown In River

Canadian Press Despatch.

Chatham, Aug. 6.—John Crow, well-known farmer who resides near Prairie Siding, lost a valuable team yesterday a peculiar manner. Mr. Crow was assisting at the threshing on the Dover side of the river. Grain had been stacked on the wagon, ready for hauling to the elevator, when a clap of thunder startled the team of horses. One of the reins broke in Mr. Crow's hands, and he was unable to hold the horses. They dashed over the Prairie Siding ferry, into the river and drowned. Eight teams have drowned at that spot during the past few months, it is reported.

LITTLE SUNSHINE NEXT FEW YEARS,

Very Severe Winters With Practically No Summers Foreseen by Scientists.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—Are 1926 and the two or three years immediately following it going to have very severe winters with little or no summer?

This is the question scientists are trying to answer. They state that the likelihood is that next summer, and the two or three summers immediately following it will be periods of many storms, much rainfall, and a minimum of sunshine.

Dr. R. E. Delury, assistant director of the Dominion observatory, states that the reason is that during the next two or three years sunspots will reach a maximum number, and the sunlight coming through to the earth will be reduced to a minimum not achieved since about 262 years ago, when the last sunspot maximum was reached.

LAW MAY SHATTER LUCK OF LITTLE GIRL

Millionaire's Adoption To Be Investigated by Welfare Officials.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Aug. 6.—An investigation by the district attorney of Queen's county into the adoption of Mary Louise Spas, young daughter of immigrant parents, by Edward W. Browning, wealthy divorced realtor, was sought today by Commissioner of Public Welfare Coley.

The commissional said the investigation was prompted by charges that Browning had given money to Mary's parents in return for their signing the adoption papers. He added, however, that it was a violation of long-established precedent for a divorced man to be permitted to adopt a child in this city.

Mary Louise was the successful applicant for adoption out of 12,000 answers received by Mr. Browning when he advertised for a child to become a companion to nine-year-old Dorothy Sunshine Browning, whom he earlier adopted.

MINE HEAD HOPES TO AVERT STRIKE

Owners See Necessity of Averting Tie-Up in Anthracite Field.

Associated Press Despatch.

Philadelphia, Aug. 6.—Samuel D. Warriner, chairman of the anthracite operators' conference, in a reply made public tonight to the last communication of president John Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, said that "in spite of the terms of his letter and the breaking off of negotiations, he was hopeful that means will be found to compose the difference between them and avoid suspension of production."

"Every consideration demands that this be done," Mr. Warriner added.

Mr. Warriner wrote that Mr. Lewis' statement that the operators' negotiating committee is under instructions to refuse concessions is untrue, and said that "the operators' committee is no more bound by instructions than your committee is bound by the demands adopted by the Scranton convention.

Work May Be Resumed Next Week in British Mills.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Aug. 6.—A more reasonable feeling prevails in the textile industries' wages dispute, to such an extent that a further meeting has been arranged for tomorrow, when there will be a renewal of the discussion of points of difference.

The Yorkshire miners recently voted the textile strikers a thousand pounds, and also offered them a six-months' loan of five thousand pounds free of interest.

It is possible, however, that work may be resumed next week.

A thousand Yorkshire textile mills have been idle, involving 200,000 workers.

PORTUGAL PROTESTS SEIZURE OF VESSELS

Spain Is Rebuked For Action Concerning Three Portuguese Ships.

Associated Press Despatch.

Lisbon, Portugal, Aug. 6.—The Portuguese government has forwarded to Spain a note concerning the Al Garve incident of August 1, in which a Spanish gunboat seized two Portuguese fishing vessels and pursued another, firing three shots at it after it had reached Portuguese waters.

The Spanish authorities compelled the Portuguese vessels, which were seized, to unload their cargoes of fish and also to pay heavy fines.
