LADY IRIS' MISTAKE;

Hero of 'Surata'

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

He said to himself that he must leave London. He was followed wherever he went; he was the "lion" of the day, and ladies were enraptured with him. He longed with his whole heart to go down to Chandos, not with any hope, but to look once more at the place where he had passed the happiest hours of his life.

He read one day in the "Morning Post" that the Earl of Caledon and his daughter Lady Iris were still staying at Penton Woods. And it seemed to him a strange coincidence that the letter she had written to him, which had reached his club after he had sailed for India, and which had been travelling about ever since, was put into his hands on the very same day. He read her story—how she had no foundation for her pride in her ancient lineage, how her mother had been a governess, the daughter of a poor artist. He read words that made his heart beat as it had not beaten when he had dashed into the midst of the Indian hillmen; they were—"If I had known this, I should never have sent you away."

"That letter had been traveling about while he had been seeking death in India and had not found it, and she had received no answer. His silence must have led her to conclude that he no longer cared for her.

Oh, if he could fly! Penton Woods was in the North. How long would it take him to reach it from London? Alas, the quickest train took many hours to perform the journey! He procured a "Bradshaw." Stainer was the nearest station to Penton. An express train left Euston Square for Stainer at a very early hour, and reached its destination in the afternoon. He should be compelled to wait for that.

How the night passed he could not tell. Morning came at last and he had soon made all necessary preparations. He was at Euston Station half an hour before the time, waiting for the train; and, when he was seated in it, he thought steam must have lost its power, the train seemed to go so slowly. How would she look? What would she say to him? Would she be pleased or angry? He asked himself these questions over and over again, and was not able to answer one.

The little incident that had happened at the theater when it was discovered that the hero of Surata, as Major Osburn was called, was present, was told in nearly all the newspapers; and Lord Caledon read it to Lady Iris.

"It delights me, Iris," he said; "it brings the old days of chivalry back again. If I have to travel three hundred miles to shake hands with him, I shall do it. He will not come here—that is certain."

"No, I am sure he will not," she replied in a melancholy tone. "I should like to see him once again, though, papa; but I suppose I never shall. I have talked a great deal about heroes, but I never thought I should know one. Papa, give me the 'Mail,' and let me read the story for myself."

It was the end of autumn then, a fair and fruitful autumn. The sun shone with warmth and the flowers were still rare. She walked, with the newspaper in her hands, down to a little river that ran through the woods. It was her favorite resort, because it reminded her of the river Rille. The long months of quiet and seclusion, the fresh bracing air, the exercise, the early hours, the freedom from all care, had given new and fresh beauty to her face. The light in her eyes was deeper, her complexion was of the most dainty and delicate hue, her beautiful figure had more of the fullness of womanhood.

She sat down by the river-side. A broad hat shaded her face, and she reclined on the grass as she read and re-read every word of the incident at the theatre. Her tears fell upon the paper. This was the man she had dismissed because his parentage was not equal to her own. What weak vain pride it seemed to her now that she knew that her own mother had had to work hard for her daily bread! She read on, all unconscious that while the afternoon sun was shining over the woodlands a carriage had driven rapidly up to the Hall. A tall bronzed man had alighted from it and been received with a hearty welcome by the kindly earl.

"I am like the moth, Lord Caledon," he said. "I return to the taper, even though the flame of it consumes me. You will let me see Lady Iris?"

"When you have talked to me for a few minutes and have taken some refreshments, you shall seek her," replied the earl. "She has gone for a stroll by the river. Now let me shake hands with you again and welcome you home."

Half an hour afterward Allan was walking with rapid steps toward the river, to which the earl had shown him the way. As he drew near he saw through the trees a woman's dress, and then Lady Iris' fair face bent over a newspaper. He could not control himself, though he tried hard to do so; he gave one cry, dashed across the long grass, and the next moment was by her side. He fell upon his knees, and, clasping her hands in his, bent over them.

Lady Hutton's Ward.

CHAPTER III.

Still, her love never abated, never wearied or grew less; she hoped against hope. But a greater trial was coming. Stephen Hurst seemed all at once to lose his good luck. He never touched a card without losing; he grew moody and irritable, then desperate, and in an evil hour he fell into the lowest depths. He forged the name of a young nobleman who had frequently played at his house. The forgery succeeded, and the sum of money he obtained was a large one;

but as favorably happens, detection followed the crime closely. He was watched, arrested, and tried. The gay, dashing Stephen Hurst, who had purposely thrown off all principle, and hated all restraint, found himself now a prisoner for one of those crimes which the law punishes most severely. Then, when the world justly fell from him, when good and bad alike looked with abhorrence upon him, he learned the value of a wife's love.

Magdalen Hurst clung to him still. Others might believe him guilty—he might be condemned and punished—it made no difference to her, he was her king, though a fallen one. Woman-like, she loved him even more tenderly and truly in his adversity than she had done in his prosperity. Others blamed him; she knew how he had been tempted, she made a hundred excuses for him, even while she deplored his crime. When the day of his trial came, men gazed with wonder on the beautiful white face, so full of anguish and despair. Her eyes never left him, and her lips quivered with every word that told against him. When the sentence of ten years' transportation was given, one long, cry, never forgotten by those who heard it, rang through the court, and Magdalen Hurst fell as one dead.

Something like a sharp quiver of pain passed over Stephen Hurst's face as he saw this; but even the heavy sentence had not power to quell his light, trifling, thoughtless spirit. He bowed almost gayly to judge and jury, and left the dock utterly unmoved; he could not even understand the light in which Magdalen viewed his crime. To him it was a piece of "unheard-of bad luck"—an "ill turn of the tide"—a "misfortune!" but he never called it a sin or an error. He thought her notions narrow and bigoted. What could such a man, utterly devoid of all honor, understand of a religious, loving, sensitive nature like Magdalen's?

She spent every moment with him. There were whole nights when she never left the prison gates—standing there, content to gaze upon the walls that held him. She was of the nature that makes heroines. Her love, in its grand self-forgetfulness, was simply heroic; but his heroism was all wasted upon him.

Five weeks before Stephen Hurst left England little Hilda was born; he only saw her once. What there was of a better nature in him was touched when his fair young wife laid the little babe in his arms. He half wished he had been a better man; but the good impulse vanished almost before he kissed the little face. He made his wife promise that she would come to him if she could, and she intended at any cost to keep her word.

Magdalen Hurst never knew how the day passed that took her husband away. It was one long dream of unutterable anguish. Awakening from it, she found herself alone in the great city of London—alone, save for her little child. She would not go home, where they would talk continually of the man she loved, where every idle word uttered against him would pierce her loving, faithful heart; so for three years Magdalen remained in the great city, working hard to maintain herself and her child. During that time Donald Burns and his wife died. Miss Erskine, who married Lord Hutton, returned with him from abroad, and went to Brynmar.

Then Magdalen received a letter from her husband, begging her to go out to him; but she had not the means. She tried to save money, but found it impossible out of her small earnings. Another year passed, and then Magdalen put aside her pride and went back to Brynmar. She found her foster sister, Lady Hutton, in the bitterest depths of sorrow; her husband and little child, to whom she was passionately attached, were both drowned by the upsetting of a boat upon the lake. She stood upon the bank and saw them die before her eyes, unable to render them the least assistance. She saw her little daughter's golden head disappear in the dark, cold waters; she saw her husband struggle in vain to save himself and his child.

Many suns rose and set before Lady Hutton saw anything again; and on the very day that her husband and child were brought home to Brynmar to be buried, Magdalen Hurst reached the little cottage where her simple, happy childhood had been spent. She waited there many long weeks until Lady Hutton was able to see her; then taking little Hilda by the hand, she went to the Hall.

Viceroy of India.

SIMLA, INDIA.—In opening the autumn session of the Indian Legislature here, Lord Reading, Viceroy of India, spoke gratefully of the pacification of the Mohammedan elements and the establishment of cordial relations with border powers. He also emphasized the need for financial retrenchment, and spoke optimistically of the future of the Reforms. Referring to the Mohammedan question of the Khalifat, Lord Reading said: "In the domain of external affairs, the subject uppermost in our minds is the proposed revision of the treaty of Sevres. I can now add little to the statement I made at Peshawar in April last, save to assure you that every stage in the developments is followed by my government with keen and watchful interest, and whatever reasonable aspirations of the Moslems of India regarding these developments we have taken, and shall not fail to take. It is gratifying to observe that the activities of my government have not been without effect upon the Moslem population of India, who have readily acknowledged and appreciated that my government has done its utmost to impress the Indian Mohammedan view upon His Majesty's government. At this moment negotiations are proceeding with the object of arriving at a solution of this difficult and delicate problem, and it is therefore undesirable for me to discuss the situation. I will only remind you that, as already stated by His Majesty's government, the representations will be fully considered and due weight will be attached to them by His Majesty's government in so far as these are compatible with justice, their obligations to their Allies and the adequate safeguarding of minorities. It is most earnestly to be hoped that these efforts of His Majesty's government and its Allies will shortly result in the complete restoration of peace to the Near East."

The Viceroy's words aroused frequent expressions of approval from various parts of the assembled houses.

Hallifax, N.S.
 Minard's Linctment Co., Ltd. Gentlemen—I have used Minard's Linctment and have found it a good remedy. After the explosion I was pretty well shaken up having quite a number of bruises and cuts, but thanks to Minard's Linctment I am my old self again. It healed the sores and bruises and gave me much relief. It is true to its name as the King of Pain, for it stopped the pain almost at once. I first noticed the ad in the Montreal Standard and decided to invest in a bottle, for which I am not sorry, but can say with truth that I am thankful for it having done all it claimed to do, and in my case much more, and a satisfied customer is the best ad one can possibly find. That is my view of it and I think you will agree with me too.

A visit to depths of Rock-Salt Mine.

There's a thrill in being lowered down through a black hole into the earth 600 feet. One becomes used to it, they say, but, believe me, not at once.

One morning recently, the big elevator lowered in the shaft at the salt mines on Avery Island, nine miles southeast of New Iberia, La., having on board a camera man, who was going down on a special assignment to try out a new light.

There are no preliminaries nor ceremony about the descent. The shaft is a very uninviting affair, and has an appearance of "come down if you wish; I'm not promising you anything." The elevator is not a handsome brass or steel-netted cage, nor is there a boy in attendance. After all got on, it just went down.

It's very quiet. There isn't much laughter, nor talk; the others feel about the same way you do. All the jokes have been left up on the surface of the earth. Then in that black downward drop there comes a rush of cool, salt air. One member aboard exclaimed, when he felt the weird change of temperature come up his legs, "My goodness! I believe my pants came off!" He had the correct sensation, all right.

But, when the bottom is reached, what a change! And what a surprise to find down there that the temperature is pleasant, standing around 72 degrees. The atmosphere is as balmy as early summer. A cleaner spot could hardly be imagined.

A minute or so after we landed at the foot of the shaft, there came a rumbling noise as of distant thunder. It seemed to roll on and on, reverberating down the long corridors, in and out of those tall arches, sometimes increasing in its growl, and then diminishing as it entered one of the lower-roofed cavities. It was not a noise that would fill anyone with dismay, fear, or anxiety, but something that seemed, in a way, to be expected in this strange underground cavern. It was all so new and different that it thrilled one with a pleasing satisfaction of having entered upon an adventure worth while. No questions were asked. The natural supposition was that the summer-like thunder storm had been caused by a blast away back in one of those dark channels.

The camera man wanted to "shoot" a scene showing how the salt was torn from its bed. This led the party down one of those long avenues, with the small lights strung alongside, just as though they were so many tiny street lamps, and the tall arch glittering overhead. A narrow-gauge railroad ran down the centre, reminding of satisfaction of having entered up-laid flat in the hard, dry salt that crushed under the foot—Popular Mechanics.

Admiral's Flags.

An Admiral of the fleet flies from the fore-mast-head of his ship a Union Jack; but occasions are few and far between when that is seen. A ship carrying an admiral is known by a white flag with a red St. George's Cross flying from the foremast. A vice-admiral's flag is similar, the only difference being a red ball in the top left hand corner; whilst a rear-admiral's flag contains two red balls in each left-hand corner. All other naval ships fly a long white pennant with a red cross in its widest part.

Nerves So Bad That She Would Sit and Cry

Mrs. Mary Hocking, Madoc, Ont., writes:—
"Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me a wonderful lot of good. I suffered from general weakness and was so run down and my heart and nerves were in such bad shape that I would sit down and cry and not know what I was crying about. I also used to have weak spells. Thanks to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, however, I am real well now. I shall always keep a box of the Nerve Food in the house, and recommend them to my friends; they are a wonderful medicine."

Produce and Provisions.

(From Saturday's Trade Review.)
Codfish—The long spell of inactivity in codfish handling was broken this week along the water front when the merchants agreed to give $4.50 per quintal for Labrador fish and the Government rescinded the export tax. It is estimated that there were about 30,000 quintals in the port. The first day of the release 20,000 quintals were sold to three firms, since then others have fallen in line and are buying, so that it is likely all will be sold by the end of this week. The exports for this week totalled 31,970 as follows:
From Outports—By schooner Nellie T. Walters from Gaultois, shipped by Thomson Garland, 3,600 quintals to Oporto. By schooner Gladys M. Hollett from W. & T. Hollett, Burin, 4,500 quintals to Oporto; by schooner Humourist from Strong and Murcott, Little Bay Islands, 5,000 quintals to Malaga; by S.S. Kriton from Union Export Company, Ryan Bros., and Job Bros., 15,860 quintals to Carthagena.

From St. John's—By schooner J. E. Conrad, 981 quintals to Kingston Jamaica from A. H. Murray and A. E. Hickman Co., by S. S. Silvia to New York for transhipment to the West Indies, 4,917 quintals from A. H. Murray, C. F. Bennett, Phillip Templeman, Monroe Export Co., Bowring Bros., James Baird Ltd., T. H. Carter. The Goodridge Export Co., A. E. Hickman Co., T. Hallett, Geo M. Barr, Harvey & Co., and E. R. Chaffer, by S. S. Belvernon to Boston 154 quintals from Geo. M. Barr, A. E. Hickman and G. Butler; by schooner Democracy from T. H. Carter, 2,008 quintals to Trinidad.

Cod Oil—The cod oil market is in a healthy condition and there is a good demand from the New England States leather manufacturers. The exports for the week to New York and Boston totalled up 77,026 gallons, the largest in any week for the season. The S.S. Silvia took out 11,842 gallons to New York from Messrs. Job Bros., Ebsary and Newfoundland Atlantic Fisheries Co., and the S. S. Belvernon's to Boston was 6,584 gallons from Messrs. A. H. Murray, W. A. Munn, A. E. Hickman Company, Tessier Co., J. Ebsary, Monroe Export Co., Baine Johnston & Co., Bowring Bros. Ltd., James Baird Ltd., T. Hallett and J. B. Orr.

Cod Liver Oil—This is the only article that shows no sign of improvement in price, but with the present good demand for cod oil at greatly enhanced prices there can be no question but we will see higher values in the near future. At the present time the Drug Trade in London expects to get the finest medicinal oil at a lower price than the Boston tanners are ready to pay for the common oil used for industrial purposes. The quantity of refined oil made this year is the smallest for many years. We hear that every effort has been made by our principal manufacturers to follow the instructions of Dr. Zilva of the Lister Institute, London, who visited here this summer, and that some remarkably fine oil is now to be had. Speculative tests are now being made at the Research Laboratories and although we are not in position to give any further information, we know that some very large orders are being negotiated for delivery as soon as possible.

Herring Oil—There is always a market for this at a price under that of common cod oil. It is pleasant to note that we are likely to see a very much increased production owing to the activity of one of our Government inspectors.

Flour—Wheat advanced another 3 cents per bushel this week making a total of ten cents since the first week of November. All the millers are asking higher prices and the near approach to the close of navigation on the Lakes and the St. Lawrence aggravates the situation and is a strong factor in the tendency to higher prices. The importations were heavy this week and consisted of 500 barrels by the Sable L, from Sydney; 16,290 by the S.S. Belvernon from Boston. The city price is $9 per barrel wholesale for leading brands and $8.75 for No. 2.

Pork—Prices remain about the same as last week with a tendency however to a weaker market in Chicago and other packing centres, following a seasonable run of hogs customary this season. Exchange difficulties among European importers of hog produce is retarding the export of pork to Europe. This exercises a depressing condition on the market. The imports for the week are 362 barrels. Ham But continues almost unobtainable. Small lots only have been available the past few days. There is therefore no quotations. Fat Back is $38.50; Family Mess $38; Spare Ribs $25.50, in barrels wholesale.

Beef—There has been a strong advance in beef this week especially boneless which is now $18.50 per barrel wholesale as compared with $18.50 in October. Other grades also go to show important advances during the same period. As beef has been relatively low all the season as compared with pork, this adjustment is what had been expected. The Sable I. brought in 100 barrels this week and the Belvernon 465 barrels from Boston. There is little stir this week filling out orders. The quotations are Box Flank $21.50; Family $18.50; Extra Family $20.50; Special Family $22.00.

Molasses—The Eliza Rodway is on the way from Barbadoes with 200 puncheons which will probably be the last of the 1922 stocks to arrive here. Choicer molasses, which is having a big run this week to supply the outports is getting scarce and will be practically cleaned out next month. The price in consequence of scarcity advanced to 80 cents per gallon in the barrels and to a level with Fancy molasses. The total imports to St. John's since April last will be 10,000 puncheons as compared with 6,500 last year.

Sugar—The markets for early shipments continue firm in the United States and the local price had advanced to a parity with New York prices making the St. John's quotation $11.75 per 100 pounds in the barrel for White American Granulated. In spite of the present strong market there is a feeling amongst the trade that sugar will be easier after Christmas. An indication of this is that raw sugars are now offering at a half cent a pound less for New York delivery. The S.S. Sable Island brought in 100 sacks this week and the S.S. Belvernon 60 sacks and 125 barrels.

Potatoes—The market is quiet and there are very few transactions. The old custom of householders stocking in full supplies for winter is gradually giving out and most householders seem satisfied with a hand to mouth policy. None arrived from Canada during the week but there are some heavy consignments due from P. E. I. by the last trip of the Manoa. The St. John's price is $3.50 per barrel according to quality, for home grown and $4 for the 180 lb. sack of imported. The Conception Bay price is $2.20 to $2.75.

Hay—The hay situation is stronger this week with an increase of about $1 per ton on last week's quotation in this market. The quotation is $37.50 to $38 per ton for stocks h'd and $38.50 to $40.00 for hay to arrive. The S.S. Manoa, which brought in 2173 bales from Montreal this week will make a special trip to Charlottetown on her return here from Montreal and will bring down a large freight of hay, cats, etc., the last from P.E.I. direct for the season.

Oats—The imports this week were 600 sacks by the S.S. Manoa and S.S. Silvia. The quotations in the local market are about the same as last week. Black Oats $9.90 per sack for P.E.I. and $2.70 for Western Canada. White Oats are $3.70 for P.E.I. and $3.55 for Western Canada to arrive. No mixed oats on the market. S.S. Manoa will bring a large quantity from Charlottetown about the close of the month.

ANOTHER SETBACK FOR SIKI. PARIS, Nov. 21.—Batting Siki's rise to pugilistic fame received another setback to-day when his license was cancelled by the French Boxing Federation. This action reinforced the nine months suspension which Siki received from the Federation on November 9. When the suspension expires the Senegalese who has also been deprived of the title he won from Georges Carpentier, must apply for a new license, which the Federation can refuse. The license was cancelled by a vote of 12 to 2, upon charges of various escapades brought by twenty-five sportsmen. It is said that the Federation is considering further action against SIKI.

Jackson Won The Truro Road Race in Easy Fashion.

RAN UNDER THE WORST POSSIBLE CONDITIONS.

The annual road race for the Dunlop Tire & Rubber Company trophy, was held last Wednesday at Truro, N.S., under the auspices of the local Y. M. C. A. The road and weather conditions were the worst possible, the mud being ankle deep, and a blinding snowstorm beat down on the runners during the five mile grind. Only two teams were entered, the Crescents of Halifax, and a Y.M.C.A. team from the same place. The former beat out their opponents by six points, the final standing reading 16 to 22. Laurie Jackson of the Crescents, finished in first place with Hanson of the Y. M. C. A. team in second place. The remarkable time of 28 minutes shows that Jackson can run exceptionally well under difficult conditions, and well deserved the silver cup offered for the first man to cross the final line. Hanson received a gold medal for second prize.

It would be well that our sporting public act wisely in procuring their tickets as quickly as possible, as the meet between Bell and Jackson, this night week, over a course of ten miles in the Princes Rink, gives every promise of being a "hum dinger." Jackson and his trainer are leaving Halifax by S.S. Silvia tomorrow.

Holyrood Residence Burnt.

AGED WOMAN HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

On Tuesday last the residence of Mrs. Ellen Kelly, of North Arm, Holyrood, was razed to the ground by fire, the cause of the conflagration being due to a defective stove pipe. The blaze occurred in the still hours of the night, and Mrs. Kelly, the sole occupant of the house, who is greatly aged in years, narrowly escaped being burnt to death, having been rescued from the burning house just in the nick of time, by residents of the neighbourhood, who rushed to her assistance. Mrs. Kelly did not save a particle of her belongings and was removed at the time clad only in her night attire. No insurance was carried.

GRAND CARNIVAL.—Prince's Rink on to-morrow, Tuesday, Nov. 28th, from 8.30 to 12 o'clock. C.C.C. Full Band; also the Mount Cashel Brass Band. Don't miss this last big event. Admission 20c. See Trappnell's Window with beautiful prizes. Over 20 Dance Numbers; also Concert selections.—nov27,11

Early Morning Fire.

HOUSE ON CASEY STREET GUTTED OUT.

The Central and West End Fire Companies were called out to an alarm of fire on Casey Street at 3 o'clock this morning, where the firefighters found a very serious blaze in progress at the residence of Mr. Moses Kealey. The premises, formerly a store, had been converted into a dwelling house, having been purchased by Mr. Kealey some months ago, who was living in the house alone at the time. The cause of the blaze was due to the overheating of a stove pipe, which soon ignited the ceiling, and when the firemen arrived it was difficult for them to get at the seat of the flames, and for a time conditions looked very serious. Two good streams of water were soon playing on the building, but all danger had not passed for upwards of an hour, the firemen being greatly handicapped in their work owing to the flames spreading between the adjoining walls of the residence, occupied by two families named Cullen and Carrigan. The "all-out" sounded an hour and a half later. Mr. Kealey, whose residence was badly gutted, had the house and contents covered by insurance in the sum of $900; but no insurance was carried by the occupants of the adjoining house, which suffered from fire and water.

MONEY IN THE HEART.

"We men should have money in our hearts," said the man who had not in his heart.—Swift.

Do you wonder what that quotation means? I think I might if I had not recently come into contact with a woman who has let money get into her heart.

She is a woman of ambition and her husband is a shrewd man. They were forging ahead very rapidly when her husband had a cut in his income just at the time when some of her friends were enjoying more prosperity than usual. The effect of this deprivation seems to have been to focus the wife's thoughts upon money as the one thing she desired in the world.

"I say money I don't of course, but I say money itself, but the money will buy."

But she won't be happy. She talks continually about money and how much this one can be making. She says how much income tax another man paid. If she reads a story and the heroine falls to marry the wealthy man and marries for love, she says she would not be at all surprised because her husband is a very rich man. But unless she gets into a different frame of mind she will never have a great deal of happiness. She is one who cares too much about money ever will.

Someone Will Have More. No matter how much money you have someone else will always have more, and as you climb up the ladder of prosperity your vistas widen and you see more and more things to desire.

Never made a man happy. "There is nothing in its nature to bring happiness. The more a man has the more he wants. If it satisfies one want it doubles and trebles that want another way."

A man I know used to think he would be able to live like a prince if he could earn $25 a week. He earns $10,000 a year now and is less contented than he was when he earned $10 and looked forward to $25 as a goal. And the reason, as he acknowledges himself, is because he has let the craving for the things money will buy get too close to his heart. He is trying to root it out because he is convinced that is not the way to get happiness.

How Is This For An Ideal?

Of course the things money will buy—travel, comfortable and beautiful homes, beautiful clothes, education, music, the theatre, delectable and well served food, are worth desiring, but not when you let that desire dominate your life. The man of whom I spoke above puts his present ideal something like this. To get as much money as one can without concentrating one's whole life upon that purpose, to spend money wisely and get as much as it will buy of the things one really wants the most, never let the wish for any luxury drive one to spend to the point where one has to suffer money anxiety; to train oneself to get more and more pleasure out of the little things and the things money does not buy at all—sunshine and sunsets, simple outdoor sports, books, open fires, friendship, the companionship of children.

A pretty good ideal don't you think?

The Brazilian Market.

A city business man who keeps in weekly touch with Bahia, Pernambuco and Macao, informed the Trade Review yesterday that all the fish stocks held in these cities will be cleared out by the first week in December. Most of these stocks were Norwegian and Canadian fish and of poor quality. The poor financial condition of Brazil compelled the people to use this fish, which they got very cheap.

This Norwegian and Canadian fish got into the market in the war years and the Canadians and Norwegians are now making strenuous efforts to hold on.

Now that conditions are getting better it is up to Newfoundland to prepare to send to Brazil the fish that they want and the fish that Brazilians prefer.

While doing this we must not expect fancy prices. Living costs here must be reduced to enable our fishermen to catch fish at about the present prices for shore fish. Otherwise our competitors will undersell us and

First Prison Demolished.

It was in the early November days that a prison called "The Fleet" was built on the banks of that river, which flows near King's Cross, now into the Thames where Blackfriars now stands. The prison stood upon the east of what is now, Farrington Street, which thoroughfare practically follows the river bed. Little is known of its early history, but it was certainly a "King's prison" as far back as the twelfth century, and in the sixteenth century the religious martyrs—both Protestant and Roman Catholics—were brought there when Mary and Elizabeth respectively occupied the throne. In the days of Charles I, the prisoners who suffered under the Star Chamber, were placed in the Fleet prison, and Puritans were taken there later. It was burnt to the ground in the Great Fire, but was rebuilt, and became the place of confinement for debtors, bankrupts, and those whose crime consisted of contempt of court. In the eighteenth century it became a debtor's prison pure and simple, and was the scene of every kind of brutality and ferocity. Soon after this time the scandal of the Fleet marriages commenced, and assumed its greatest dimensions about the time of the Gordon Riots, when the prison was again burnt. The Fleet Prison was abolished in 1842, and by November 27, 1845, the building was completely swept away. Part of its site was occupied by the newly erected Congregational Memorial Hall. During the period it existed, the Fleet Prison held many notable persons.

PASSING OF THE ALLAN LINE.

With the re-naming of the ships of the late Allan Line that old Company—so long associated with the romance of Glasgow shipping—may be said to pass quite out of existence and to be merged in the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. The turbine liner Victorian, becomes the Marloch, the Coriscan is to be the Marvale, the Tunisian the Marburn, and the Scotian the Marglen. Thus there is abolished the "lan" of the Allan Line, and in its place we have the "M" class of the C.P.R. Glasgow will have the service of the vessels all the same, but the old associations have now been quite broken.

GUILTY!

Death Penalty Imposed on Wo Fen Game.

Chief Justice Horwood Sentences Murderer to be Hanged -- Conclusion of Sensational Trial.

"The sentence of the Court is, that you, Wo Fen Game, be taken hence to the place from whence you came and from thence to the lawful place of execution there to be hanged by the neck until you be dead, and afterwards let your body be buried within the precincts of the prison from which you were taken, and may the Lord Have Mercy Upon Your Soul."

The above sentence, the extreme penalty for the crime of wilful murder, was passed by his Lordship Chief Justice Horwood, at 5.30 Saturday evening last, upon Wo Fen Game for the killing of three of his countrymen...

CHARGE OF CHIEF JUSTICE.

His Lordship the Chief Justice summed up as follows:—It is a very rare occasion in this country for a jury to be called to consider a murder charge, said his Lordship, and it is almost unique here or elsewhere for a jury to be called to consider a charge of three murders as well as that of shooting with intent to kill. There are four charges against the accused: first, the indictment for the murder of Hong Leon; second, he is indicted for the murder of Ho Ho Ki; and third, he is indicted for the wounding with intent to kill, of Hong Wing. On each of these counts a verdict is called for at your hands. In the case of the three murders you will be asked to say "guilty or not guilty." If you do not find a verdict of "guilty" before you find a verdict of "not guilty" you will have to consider whether he is guilty of manslaughter, which is the lesser form of homicide, and is always included in indictments for murder.

JURY BRINGS IN VERDICT.

The jury retired at 4.30, and after a half hour's consideration returned to the court. Wo Fen Game who had been held manacled in an ante-room was brought in and placed in the dock. Registrar Lloyd called the roll of jurors and then asked if they had agreed upon a verdict. There was a tense silence in the crowded court room, as foreman McManara rose and said "Guilty. Guilty on all counts."

"Just Mickey."

On Saturday night the Mac Edwards players still further increased their initial success. In the repetition of the play "Just Mickey." The usual large audience was present to greet the performers and the applause evoked left nothing to be desired. Miss Edwards was at her best in the most difficult role, but was ably supported by the other members of the cast.

(Before Chief Justice.) John Bishop vs. Alan Prichard. This is an application on the part of the defendant for an order to set aside the judgment by default, and writ of execution, on the grounds that the defendant is not in debt to the plaintiff, and that he has a good defence in this action.

Date of Execution Not Set.

Three Sundays usually elapse so far the Justice Department has not set a date for the execution of the murderer Wo Fen Game. In all probability the execution will be carried out before Christmas, possibly on or about the 17th. It is usual for condemned murderers to be given three Sundays after sentence has been passed.

Children View Corona Chocolate Works. 1600 PACKAGES CANDY DISTRIBUTED. The Majestic Theatre was thrown open to the kiddies of the city on Saturday afternoon, when they had the pleasure of witnessing the film of the far-famed Corona and Dorothy Kingston Chocolate, manufactured right in the factory at St. John's, N. B. When a package of Corona chocolate appeared on the screen the children cheered, justly for some minutes. Before the interesting event had concluded the agents of these well known chocolates made provision for the distributing of 1600 packages of the toothsome variety, and the children, as they passed out of the theatre, were presented with a bag each. The theatre was crowded to the doors. Mr. O'Neill stated that a larger attendance was present than on any previous Xmas occasion.

Fatality at Twillingate. YOUNG MAN DROWNED. According to a message received by Mr. H. W. LeMessurier, on Saturday, from the Sub-Collector at Twillingate, a drowning fatality occurred at that place early Saturday morning. The victim was a young man named Clyde, arrived at Lewisporte at 2 p.m. yesterday, sailing to-day. Robert Lambert, aged 18 years, who was out boating when in some unaccountable manner, the little craft capsized and before aid could reach him he was drowned. The message did not say if the body had been recovered or not.

A Shameful Waste. The fishermen at Wood's Island port herring as being very plentiful but very hard to sell. In a report the sub-collector to the Marine Fisheries Department he said that the fish are being sold on account of no market.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES

IMPERSONATOR DEPORTED.
QUEBEC, Nov. 27.
Richard Banbury, impersonating Lord Rosemore of the British peerage, on a visit to Canada, was placed on the S.S. Montclare to-day, for deportation back to England, as in addition to the attempted impersonation of a British Peer, he had not the required sum of money to immigrate.

BOTTLE MESSAGE SAVED CREW.
NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 27.
"For God's sake save us, we are starving" was the message contained in a bottle, picked up off Westport

Point, and was the means of saving the crew comprising a captain and three men of a lumber laden schooner ashore off Westport. They were four days without food, before a rescue crew got lines aboard and took them off. Their only dory was lost before the schooner grounded. The ship will probably be a total loss.

DEBS ACCLAIMED.
CHICAGO, Nov. 27.
Eugene Debs, Leader of Socialists in United States, made his first public speech, since leaving Atlanta penitentiary here, yesterday, and was given an ovation that delayed his start more than one hour.

CHEAPER FARES.
BRUSSELS, Nov. 27.
Sharp reductions in first and second class passenger rates on vessels plying in North Atlantic waters are to be announced soon, according to agreements reached at a conference of North Atlantic Steamship Companies, just ended here.

RATTLED THE DISHES.
LOUISVILLE, K.Y., Nov. 27.
Slight tremors of the earth, continuing for more than a minute, were felt in western and eastern portions of the city last night, rattling dishes in houses. At Eldorado, Illinois, chimneys toppled during the quake.

DON'T WANT IT.
ADRIANOPLE, Nov. 27.
The establishment of complete prohibition will be the first care of Turks upon entry to the city Friday, and following a proclamation of the sovereignty of Turkey throughout all Eastern Thrace. The people are disgruntled with the proposed prohibitory measures.

K.K.K. FOR CANADA.
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.
The first steps toward an international organization of the Ku Klux Klan will be made in Canada. It was announced yesterday, by Rev. Oscar Heywood, national lecturer of the Klan. He said he had received five hundred applications from Canada and the British Isles, and that the campaign would begin in Canada as soon as officers found time to go there.

Poor Asylum Inmate Missing.
An inmate of the Poor Asylum, named Lorenzo Penney, is missing from that institution since last evening, and those in charge are anxious to know of his whereabouts. The man who has been in the institution for the past three or four years, is about 35 years old. He was last seen at Wesley Church yesterday evening. Any one knowing of his present whereabouts should communicate with the Superintendent.

Asthma is Not a Vagary of Climate

(Monday . . . Health Talk No. 11)
(By Wm. H. MacPherson, D.C., Ph.C.)

Asthma is not a product of climate, nor will a change of climate affect a cure. Change of climate may ease the condition, but the cause is in the spine and "the asthmatic hump" as it is called is a well recognized spinal accompaniment.

The above information was given an asthmatic sufferer who went to the dry climate of South Dakota and found some measure of relief. He says, "the asthmatic attacks did not stop when I came, but I was soon rid of them under chiropractic spinal adjustments." Then he asked whether he could take a chance on returning to his home town, and the chiropractor assured him that he could. If climate caused Asthma, then all residents of the states south of the great lakes would have it.

Circuit Court Leaves.

OPENS AT BRIGGS.

The next criminal session of the Supreme Court opens on Jan. 23rd and closes on 28th. Mr. Justice Johnson left by train this morning for Bay Roberts to hold Circuit Court. Sub-Sheriff Carroll, and Mr. S. Butler, accompanied the court. It was understood that Mr. Leo Carter will proceed to Harbor Grace to represent the Crown in the case of the King vs. Josiah Gosse. Mr. J. G. Higgins has also gone out by train to act as Counsel in some of the cases that will come before the court.

Battery Resident Suffer Painful Injury.

WHILE MR. WM. MORRIS of the Battery was proceeding over the Court House steps from Water Street at 12.45, he was suddenly seized with an epileptic fit, and fell heavily to the concrete platform in a face downward position. In the fall his forehead struck the edge of the concrete step, inflicting a very serious wound, rendering him in a semi-unconscious condition. The unfortunate man was picked up by a constable, and several bystanders, and tenderly carried into the Police Station, where the services of Dr. J. B. O'Riely was sought. The doctor found the man in a very weak condition, having suffered much from loss of blood. After the wound had been dressed, Mr. Morris remained at the Police Station until such time as his condition permitted his being removed to his home.

The Pipe And Easy Chair

In almost every home, there's one place sacred to the head of the house where he is accustomed to settle down and take his comfort.

There is a big, comfortable chair—a Morris chair, or some sort of an upholstered, shaped-to-his-figure seat such as used to be called an easy chair.

It's usually lodged near the fireplace.

At any rate, it's always stationed at just about the most comfortable spot in the house.

And right near at hand you inevitably find—what?

Pipes and tobacco, don't you?

Men are likely to be just as comfort-loving as they are hard-working. They know that rest is necessary to renew their powers. They know that after a pipeful and a short rest in the old easy chair, their minds work more clearly; they can think things out that baffled them no little during the pressure and confusion of the day. And so they take their comfort, wisely take it.

And so—his pipe and tobacco have become necessary. So is one other thing. A man must have the kind of tobacco that absolutely suits his taste.

If you happen to lack this, it may be Edgeworth.

You be judge and jury and allow us to submit our case. There will be no appeal from your judgment.

Edgeworth Plug Slice is pressed into cakes, then cut by sharp knives into very thin, moist slices. Rub a slice between the hands. It makes an average pipeful.

Edgeworth Ready-Rubbed is ready to pour right into your pipe. It packs nicely, and burns freely to the very bottom of your pipe, getting better and better.

Give one of your pipes a thorough going over and load it to the brim with Edgeworth. Drop into the little old easy chair, stretch out, letting your feet rest high or low, and light up. Pull—pull—pull—now you know whether or not Edgeworth is the pipe tobacco absolutely suited to your taste.

You can decide with your first pipeful.

Edgeworth is sold in various sizes to suit the needs and means of all purchasers. Both Edgeworth Plug Slice and Edgeworth Ready-Rubber are packed in small, pocket-size packages, in handsome tin, humidor, and glass jars, and also in various handy in-between quantities. Sold everywhere.

Quakes Shake Chili With Dead 886, Injured 2,410.

PACIFIC'S BED STILL UNSETTLED, WATERS REcede AND ROOM BACK THREE TIMES AT ANTOFAGASTA.

SANTIAGO, Chili, Nov. 14. (Associated Press.)—The number of known dead in the earthquake disaster, as shown by the reports thus far received by the Minister of the Interior, is 886; the injured 2,410. These figures by no means cover all casualties, as many places which suffered severely have not reported losses.

The reports to the Minister give the following casualties:—

Vallenar, dead, 600; injured, 1,000.
Copiapo, dead, 150; injured, 200.
Coquimbo, dead, 80; injured, 600.
Huasco, dead, 20; injured, 50.
Charral, dead, 18; injured, 50.
Freirina, dead, 18; injured, not known.

Chili was again visited by earth shocks late last night. Severe tremors were felt at La Serena, capital of the Province of Coquimbo, and at the seaport Constitución, capital of the Province of Maule.

The Pacific Ocean seems not yet to have recovered its equilibrium, or else there have been some new movements under the ocean bed. Antofagasta reports say the sea ebbed and then came booming back upon the shore three times yesterday.

Outlawry broke out last night in the town of Yallénar, chief matters from the quake, while reports of robberies and hold-ups came from other places.

Reports indicate that a large territory along the coast has been and to a depth of twenty miles has been almost completely uninhabited. Witnesses of the paralytic earthquake of 1907, destroyed most of that city, and starved worse.

Grand Falls Supports United Fishermen.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir—A public meeting was held in the Parish Hall last night. The object of the meeting was to ascertain "public opinion" re the Resolutions presented to the Government by the United Fishermen, and their supporters. This matter was outlined by Mr. K. Brown, who was appointed Chairman of the meeting, also by Mr. J. St. George who was appointed Secretary. Speakers were then called for.

Mr. B. Scott availed of the opportunity and made an excellent impression, pointing out the absolute necessity for reduced taxation.

The next speaker was Mr. A. G. Duggan, who unmistakably voiced the sentiments of the United Fishermen, by heartily declaring himself in accord with the movement.

The next speaker to address the citizens was Mr. J. Davis. He contended that the time was opportune for reformatory action, on the part of our representatives in the Government, as the people were loud in their protests against the intolerable conditions existing, as a result of unjustifiable taxation.

Chairman K. Brown, came next and gave an interesting speech on the movement, referring to the Winsors, and their efforts to help the fishermen during the period of the Fishery Regulations, which wrought such financial disaster, practically ruining the fishermen and suppliers, amongst them the Winsors.

The Secretary then read the resolutions adopted by the United Fishermen.

Mr. B. Scott proposed that they be endorsed. This was seconded by Mr. A. G. Duggan and carried unanimously.

The next was a motion by Mr. B. Scott: "That copies of the proceedings of this meeting be sent to the Press, also to Mr. Jesse Winsor, Chairman of the United Fishermen's Committee." This was seconded by Mr. J. Davis and carried unanimously.

The subject-matter contained herein is an obvious and demonstrated fact that all is not well in "Our Island Home", that the people are awakening to the realization of their duties, and are determined to prevent as far as possible the criminal waste of their money, by the Trustees of the people's confidence, by demanding retrenchment, by reducing expenditures, salaries and taxation as a means to make the prosecution of the fisheries a paying proposition, and not what it is today a cause of emigration, that is probably unprecedented in our history. The same may be said of our other industries—wages going down, and taxation up—future?

If the future citizens of our country on reaching manhood and womanhood come to the conclusion that as Star of the Sea Association.

The Star of the Sea Association held their monthly meeting yesterday afternoon and was largely attended. Vice-President F. Kenny took the chair at 2:45 p.m. Nine applicants were admitted, fees collected showed a substantial increase. Many important matters affecting the Society were brought forward and allotted considerable discussion. Chairman Rolls outlined a very interesting programme for the season and the members are assured of a series of pleasant entertainments. Rev. Dr. Greene was present and thanked the members for their interest in the night school. He announced that the school will be in readiness in a very short time.

Lewis Meets a Tough One.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Ted "Kid" Lewis, of England, to-night defeated Roland Todd, also of England, in a 20 round fight for the middleweight championship and the Lonsdale belt. Lewis won on points. The men fought at Holland Park Hall. Lewis, who is the holder of the British, European and Empire middleweight championship, was installed the favorite in the betting, but his backers soon realized that the Yorkshire man was a tough proposition for him. Todd was superior in physical make-up; he was cool, and showed excellent defense.

The last two rounds of the bout were the only two in which Lewis had a shade the better of the milliner. Winning the fight on points. During the last round the betting shaded in favor of Todd.

Chinese Murderer

MAKES HOMICIDAL ATTACK ON PRISON WARDEN.

PRISONER BECOMES VIOLENT AND HAS TO BE MANACLED.

On Saturday morning a report was quickly circulated throughout the city that the Chinaman, Wo Fen Game, whose trial had attracted such wide spread interest, in the Supreme Court all last week, had attacked Warden Rose early Friday evening, having been taken from the Court to the Penitentiary only a few hours before, suffering from nervous prostration induced by the grueling examination prisoner had undergone at the hands of Counsel. The complete details of this homicidal attack on the prison warden are as follows:—

Superintendent Parsons made the usual inspection of the prison at 7:30 p.m. Friday, accompanied by Chief Warden Manning, and during his rounds paid a visit to the cell occupied by Wo Fen Game. The Superintendent spoke to him, as he appeared to be still suffering from nerves, as pronounced by the doctors only a few hours before. He did not answer at the time, and was lying quite comfortably in his bed. Supt. Parsons found everything in order for the night and returned to his residence, which is near the penitentiary. At about 8 o'clock, Warden Rose rushed into the Superintendent's home and reported that Wo Fen Game had attacked him. The Warden had a cut over his left eye from which the blood flowed freely. Supt. Parsons immediately phoned the General Hospital that Warden Rose needed attention at once.

The warden left the home of the Superintendent and walked unaided to the hospital, where he had three stitches inserted in a gaping wound in his forehead. Dr. Fox attended him. When the alarm had been given, Supt. Parsons immediately returned to the prison, where he learned from the Chief Warden how the trouble had occurred. Chief Warden Manning stated that while Warden Rose was doing his duty on the ground floor of the main corridor, Wo Fen Game, confined in a cell in the same ward, knocked at his door, which was responded to by Rose. He then asked for a drink of warm tea. The Warden went to the kitchen, secured the tea, and returned with it to the ward. He then unlocked the cell door and opened it.

HOMICIDAL ATTACK.

Immediately he did this, Wo Fen Game rushed out and struck Warden Rose a violent blow with a brick which he evidently had taken out of an air shaft in his cell. The blow inflicted a nasty wound on the right side of the Warden's forehead. Rose then grappled with the prisoner and they both fell heavily to the floor, in the main ward, outside of the cell door. In the struggle that ensued, Wo Fen Game managed to again get hold of the brick and struck the Warden a second blow; this time on the back of the head, causing a painful scalp wound. Meanwhile, Warden Rose gave the alarm and the Chief Warden, who was in the kitchen at the time, ran out and caught Wo Fen Game, who was then between the first and second doors of the main ward, leading out of the prison, meaning, it is presumed, to make a quick get-away. He was closely followed by Rose, the latter, in spite of his injuries, sticking to his man, and would, no doubt, single handed, have got him back to his cell, if the Chief Warden had not come to his assistance. The Chinaman was placed back into his cell by the Warden, and, fearing he might do bodily harm to himself or the wardens he was immediately handcuffed. Up to the time of the occurrence Wo Fen Game had shown no disposition to be either violent or disobedient.

EVERY ATTENTION PAID PRISONER.

After he had been brought back to the penitentiary from the Court House in a state of delirium, as pronounced by the doctor's in their examination, the Superintendent and Warden felt no fear whatever of the man, and, judging by his condition, considered he could be looked after single-handed. He appeared to be very weak when he was placed in bed upon his return, and complaining of being cold, two bricks were ordered to be heated on the kitchen stove for him, which were placed at his feet, while he also drank some hot milk. As to what has already been stated by Superintendent Parsons, when making his usual rounds, when he called on Wo Fen Game in the early evening it was very surprising to all the officials in charge how he became so violent in such a short time. Wo Fen Game's plans, no doubt, meant a bold attempt to secure his freedom. Although he might have been subject to a nervous breakdown, still he could not have been as bad as he made out, otherwise the blow he inflicted on Warden Rose would not have been so severe. He however, would have been felled in his attempt to scale the walls of the prison, because the main door of the jail was securely locked at the time, and there was no other means of his getting out. Warden Rose is still suffering from the effects of the blow received, but is able to make visits to the hospital to have his wounds attended to. He will probably he able to return to his duties in few days.

After Wo Fen Game received the sentence of death he was removed from the Court House to the jail and was placed in the same cell that he previously occupied, which is on the main floor. He spent a very poor evening on the first night of death hanging over him, but yesterday morning, upon arising, he walked his cell, and appeared very active. His breakfast was brought to him at the usual hour, but when the warden went to see how he was feeling a short time after, it was noticed that the murderer had acted strangely, and found that the wash basin had been broken in pieces, the enamel food pan crumpled, while the spoon which he used was doubled up. He did not eat a particle of food, and all the edibles were found in the receptacle in the corner of the cell. The Superintendent asked him to explain his actions, but he mumbled some words to himself in his own tongue, which could not be understood. Wo Fen Game was then manacled for safety, with a light weight placed on his leg-chains. The handcuffs which were placed on him, were not tightly drawn and gave him lots of room to move about, while the chain from the weight on his leg was long enough for him to walk his cell without inconvenience. Being placed in this position, he could not do any bodily harm to himself. At noon hour yesterday the condemned man did not eat any dinner.

SECOND ATTACK ON WARDEN.

It is learned on good authority that Wo Fen Game made an attack on the Superintendent and walked unaided to the hospital, where he had three stitches inserted in a gaping wound in his forehead. Dr. Fox attended him. When the alarm had been given, Supt. Parsons immediately returned to the prison, where he learned from the Chief Warden how the trouble had occurred. Chief Warden Manning stated that while Warden Rose was doing his duty on the ground floor of the main corridor, Wo Fen Game, confined in a cell in the same ward, knocked at his door, which was responded to by Rose. He then asked for a drink of warm tea. The Warden went to the kitchen, secured the tea, and returned with it to the ward. He then unlocked the cell door and opened it.

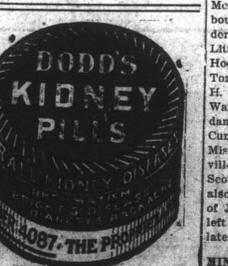

VICIOUSLY KICKS DEPUTY SHERIFF.

On Saturday morning, while Mr. L. E. Emerson was addressing the jury, the Court was interrupted by the moaning and groaning of Wo Fen Game in the dock, which made it very difficult for the jurors to hear what was being said. It was ordered that he be removed outside of the court room, in the hallway, but within hearing distance of the court. Sometime after he had been comfortably seated outside, Sub Sheriff Carroll, went over and placed an overcoat around him fearing he might be cold. While the Sub Sheriff attempted to place the garment on him, which was purely out of kindness, Wo Fen Game made a deliberate kick at Mr. Carroll, aiming at the lower extremities of his body, though fortunately not doing any injury. A second incident occurred during recess hour on Saturday, when the prisoner, while seated in a room in the Justice Building, made a bold attempt to jump through a window, which had been left slightly open. The constables on guard, however, frustrated him quickly, and he was manacled securely.

Prospero Arrives.
EXPERIENCED STORMY WEATHER
S.S. Prospero, Capt. J. Field, arrived from the northward on Saturday afternoon last, at 4:30. The trip was marked by gale after gale, with blinding snow storm on several occasions, made the passage a very uncomfortable one, occupying 17 days. In Capt. Field's report, he states that on Monday last the storm experienced at White Bay was the worst experienced there by the oldest inhabitants, and considerable damage had been reported. An old land mark, so long familiarly known as "Coney Head," was split in two by the terrific force of the seas. The rocks dimensions were 25 feet in height and 7 feet in diameter. It was split completely down through the centre. In the height of the storm around the White Bay district, two schooners were left to the mercy of the sea, one of which, owned by Mr. E. Breen, having been driven from her moorings at Bear's Cove and dashed on the rocks, while the other, owned by Mr. Jas. Adams of Jackson's Arm, became a total loss. In each case very little of the belongings of the crews were saved.
The Prospero brought a part cargo and the following passengers:—Messrs. M. Alock, E. Maddon, Clarke, Moore, Davis, Gaulton, Rev. Fr. Thibault, A. Dover, A. Canning, S. Hender, J. Wellman, W. Duggan, F. J. Little, J. Gillispe, Rev. Fr. Nolan, W. Hodder, Mr. Millem, W. Millem, H. W. Torrville, J. Farthing, J. Fitzgerald, H. Baxie, A. Parsons, C. Morris, M. Walsh, Brown, J. Stone, Lodge, Messrs. Alock, Neville, Martin, Millem, Cunningham, Dorres, Brown, Stone, Misses Ryan, Williams, Herder, Neville, Brothers (2), Power, Edwards, Scott, and G. Sturgeon. The Prospero also brought up the shipwrecked crew of John C. Mercer, Bay Roberts, who left for their homes by the shore train later in the evening.

from a railway. Water is scarce and has to be packed in on burros. It is very costly to mine in such a land. Millions have been spent in pioneer work, and the total cost of getting the ore out is heavy.

There is no exorbitant profit in digging out carnotite tress, for they are scarce, and in order to dig one out, hundreds of tons, of low-grade ore and rock must be moved out of the way.

HARKING BACK.
Another style set in fiction, we go back to the pioneers, whose lives were full of blood and friction, who broke the sod with branded steers. From grocers and piano tuners from cities and their wild unrest, we journey now in prairie schooners, to conquer kingdoms in the west. From south seas, we turn our faces, and sigh in gladness as we turn; and for a time that desert races our gifted novelists may spurn. We'll have a rest from Six and Passion, and Problems that expel our tears; I thank the boys who set the fashion of writing up our pioneers. We go back to the mode of Cooper, to Leatherstocking, strong and hale, who waits in ambush for the snooper who pads along his twig-strewn trail. From superheated rot and pizen, from long drawn annals of despair, we journey to the far horizon, where we may breathe untainted air. I'm glad again to roam the forest, my trusty tomahawk in hand, and sweat the Injun where he's sorest, and declaim his savage band. The newer books I have my clutch on, and I send forth a loud hurrah for Herbert Quick, for Hough, McCutcheon, and others who have shown the way.

GAINS 35 POUNDS; RHEUMATISM IS GONE

The wonderful reconstructive powers of Tanlac are again very forcibly demonstrated. In this instance the grateful beneficiary is John H. King, locksmith, living at 229 14th Ave. West, Calgary, Alberta, who declares:

"Tanlac built me up to good health, with a gain of thirty-five pounds in weight, over a year ago and I have been feeling fine ever since. Just after coming back from overseas, about two years ago, I was taken down with an attack of rheumatism that crippled me up so I couldn't work and sent me to a hospital for about ten months.

"During this long siege of rheumatism I lost fifty-five pounds in weight going down from one hundred and sixty-five to only one hundred and ten. I was just a shadow of my old self and had no strength or energy. I was terribly run down and felt tired out and exhausted all the time.

"Finally I resorted to Tanlac and got back on my feet so quick that it surprised me. It proved to be so well suited to my needs that by the time I finished the fourth bottle I was feeling a hundred per cent well. As a medicine and tonic to build a person up and make them feel right, I don't believe Tanlac has an equal."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Why Corns?

Just say Blue-jay to your druggist

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in a colorless clear liquid (one drop does it) and in thin plasters. The action is the same.

THE MUSHROOM EXPERT.
Bill is a mushroom expert, and Bill is a friend of mine. He has studied the amanita and all its ancestral line. He goes to the fields each autumn to harvest a dinner treat. For he knows which are deadly fungi, and which are the ones to eat.

Bill can talk by the hour on mushrooms and he laughs at my timid fears. He is still in the land of the living and has eaten the things for years. He is wise in the love of the meadow, the swamp and the dark ravine. And I'd say, of the mushroom experts he's the best that I've ever seen.

If ever I gathered mushrooms I'd carry them back to Bill. And ask him to look them over and pick out the ones that kill; I'd trust to his certain knowledge, and bank on his judgment, too. For he is a shark on that stuff and can spiel it right off to you.

Bill knows 'em and loves 'em and eats 'em, and all through the days of fall with his little basket, in search of the snowy ball; And never I doubt his knowledge, I grant he surpasses mine— But during the mushroom season I don't go to Bill's to dine.

Young Society Matron Missing.

MRS. JAMES BRUNTON, JR., MISSING SINCE LAST WEEK. HER WHEREABOUTS UNKNOWN.

Mrs. James Brunton, Jr., the former Molly Fairfax, who is well known as the leader of the young smart set, suddenly left her home a week ago, and her whereabouts are not known. Mr. Brunton volunteers no information as to where his wife is and what was the cause of her sudden disappearance.

It will be remembered that when Molly Fairfax was the most popular debutante her hand was sought not only by Jim Brunton but also by Bob Standing. It has often been rumored that since becoming Mrs. Brunton, Bob Standing was still paying her court. A strange coincidence with Mrs. Brunton's disappearance is the fact that on the same day Bob Standing left for parts unknown.

The gripping story of Molly Fairfax and James Brunton will be shown as "Suspicious Wives" the feature attraction at the Nickel Theatre tonight featuring Mollie King. Be sure and see it.

Turkey for Turks Cry of Kemalists.

PARIS, Nov. 11 (By A.P.)—"Turkey for the Turks," is the cry which the Turks gave as their watchword to Mark P. Prentiss, special representative of the American near east relief, who was sent by headquarters to make a survey of the work in the orient, and who has just reached Paris from Constantinople after going through the Smyrna fire. He is returning to the United States to report on the future possibilities of refugee work.

Mr. Prentiss conferred with the American ambassador at Rome, Richard Washburn Child, and will see Ambassador Herrick here and Ambassador Harvey at London, and finally report to the state department at Washington.

Ought to Get Out.
"The allies," said Mr. Prentiss, ought to get out of Constantinople immediately, to avert disaster; otherwise they will be turned out, for they face a careful Turkish plan."

There is certain to be an explosion in Constantinople shortly, which, in his opinion, "would be another Smyrna, but several times worse."

Three quarters of a million people must be evacuated from Constantinople pell mell if the impending disaster was not anticipated.

The Turks, Mr. Prentiss declared, have a list of 8000 Greeks and Armenians in Constantinople, with their photographs, and "they are going to get there and kill them."

If the Americans want to help Turkey, Noureddin advised, they could send technical men, but no more mission schools.

The Turks during their first retreat, according to Mr. Prentiss, dropped off secret agents, and these agents took photographs of Greeks, particularly officers, and investigated all outrages. They attached memorandas to the pictures, and the Turks when they made their recent

New Harbour Notes.

This place and vicinity in common with many other places has within the past 12 months seen the worst times in its history. There has been very little lucrative employment, and the fishery the past summer has been a failure. But times seem to be getting brighter. Quite a few men have lately left to go to work in different parts of the island. The shopkeepers too, say there is a little more cash in circulation than there has been for some little time. We hope times will continue and increase in brightness and profit to one and all.

On Monday, the 6th inst, the Rev. E. M. Bishop, Rector of Bay Roberts, arrived here on Monday night at New Harbour and Tuesday night at Dilido. Mr. Bishop spoke to the Church of England congregations on the subject of "Christian Stewardship." In company with the Incumbent he went to Chappel and Norman's Coves on Wednesday and spoke to the congregations there, returning to New Harbour at midnight. He left for his home at Bay Roberts on Thursday morning. Mr. Bishop is one of the several clergymen of the Diocese who have been requested by the Executive of the Synod to go through the Diocese on an educational campaign of Christian Stewardship. His section comprised Random, Smith's Sound and New Harbour. Mr. Bishop's words could not fail to impress and inspire those who were privileged to hear him. Unfortunately the congregations were small, owing partly to the recent exodus of men to fields of labour.

A very successful concert was held at Green's Harbour on Thursday last under the management of Miss Sharpe the teacher. The sum of $17.00 was realized which, we hear, will go towards something for the school.

Mr. Parrott, Principal, and Miss Miles, assistant, of the High School here are planning a children's concert for Christmas. We wish them success.

Mr. and Mrs. George Woodman left by Monday morning's train to spend a few days with friends and relatives in the city. Mr. Woodman, who has the reputation of being a "keen shot," was very successful on the barrens since the opening of the game season this year.

Roundheads (some call them Pot-heads), a large fish of the whale species, from 15 to 25 feet in length, have been very plentiful around here this year, particularly at Chappel Arm, where some of the men were successful in beaching about 100 of them. The men made a fair week's pay considering the low price of the oil at present. It is interesting to an eyewitness to watch the men driving those harmless creatures ashore. To those engaged in it, it is a very exciting exercise. Fishing punts well supplied with stones and pebbles stampered them and pen them up in the bottom of the Arm. As soon as they ground in the shoal waters of the beach, the chances of capture are almost always certain. Here the men spear them until they die. They are then pulled ashore and beached and their carcasses left to rot. A few years ago 400 of these mammals were in this way driven ashore at this place. This fact is still evident to the senses of sight and smell of the passer by in the bottom of Chappel Arm.—COR. Nov. 24th, 1922.
