CHAPTER IX.

"My dear fellow, anything!" Clarence Clifford nodded carelessly, and looked around with calm indifference.

"Will you be my second in a duel with Lord Harcourt, Dalton?"

The young fellow's face fell, and he rose with genuine alarm.

"By Jove, Clifford!" he said—"I quarrelled with Harcourt! You could not have picked out a worse man. He is a dead shot and as clever at the sword as the pistol. Can't it be arranged?"

"No," said Clarence Clifford, sternly. "There is only one settlement possible, and that is to fight. I would not have it arranged if I could, and the apology must come from me if it come at all."

"Oh, apologize, there's a dear, good fellow, do; it is certain death; he never misses; he—"

Clarence Clifford cut short the flood of persuasion by ringing the bell.

"Norton entered with the pistol and sword cases.

At the sight of them the young fellow changed his tone and rose with alacrity.

"All right," he said. "I am your man, if it must be, but on my honor, I would rather it had been anyone else, for I owe you a debt of gratitude, Clifford, and—and—there! Ah, good swords, these! Do you fence tolerably?"

Clarence Clifford nodded.

"Tolerably, and now let us go and hear the Mariana sing. You will sup with me to-night; to-morrow, hail! Calais Sands!"

Young Dalton sighed, and the two gentlemen strolled to the opera.

Clarence Clifford's companion studied him closely but carefully, for Mr. Clifford was not a man to be watched with impunity. A strange sort of excitement, not bravado, lit up his face, and Mr. Dalton, with only half an ear for the grand music, could not help wondering what had been the topic of disagreement. He wondered, but did not ask, for Clarence Clifford was chary of answers to questions of a personal nature, and could meet the questioner with a glance of haughty displeasure that was, to say the least, discomfiting.

The house was full, the stalls crowded with men of fashion and rank. Dalton looked round and saw Lord Harcourt leaning against the partition, talking to an iron-gray, restless-eyed man, whose fingers were fingering at his enamelled buttons with a dissatisfied, hungry movement. Teaching Clarence Clifford's arm, Dalton whispered:

"There's Harcourt, and that is Hawksley; he is telling him and asking him to be his second. I know the width of Hawksley's thumb, he is the most bloodthirsty fellow in the regiment."

with him they took their departure, leaving Clarence Clifford to his meditation.

Strange ones they were, but first and foremost was the remembrance of the lady's face and the musical, agitated ring of her voice.

How wonderfully they had moved him!

What strange revolution of fate's wheel had brought about that first meeting which was doomed to end in a tragedy?

Facing the floor, revolving all this in his mind sadly and with all that callousness bred of a disappointed life, he was about to close the reverie with a scornful laugh when the valet, who had been waiting for his bell, entered with a small note.

"Who brought it and who waits?" asked his master, his quick eyes scanning the superscription and failing to recognize it.

"A servant in livery, sir, and he was not directed to wait. He has gone."

Clarence opened the note and read with a slight start:

Noble Sir: I have but an hour since learned your address. I thank you for your chivalrous protection, but I deplore it. Oh, sir, you are young; your men, your words proclaim you generous and noble-hearted; do not be led into any rashness as a consequence of the blow you struck for an insulted and outraged woman. Lord Harcourt is implacable, revengeful—a demon in hate and bloodthirstiness. He will before this reaches you have sent you a challenge. I implore you by all you hold sacred on earth not to meet him. Let him but induce you to meet him and you are dead. Oh, sir, by the sacred name of mother, who will, if on earth, weep for your wasted life, I beseech you to balk him of his unholy, inhuman revenge!

There was no signature. Clarence Clifford sank into a chair and sat with the letter in his hand with one word ringing its changes in his heart—"mother."

"By the name of that mother who, if on earth, will weep for your wasted life," ran the note, and the sentence worried him through the sleepless hours of the night.

CHAPTER X.

A dazzling rain was falling through the dark, raw coldness of the morning and cutting rivulets in the moist sands of Calais.

From dawn the rain had been falling and now, when the sun should have broken through the thick, gray mist, it was raining still with a noiseless, quiet persistence, than, taken in conjunction with the mist, the raw cold and the mournful plash of the outgoing tide, was suggestive of the utmost misery and discomfort.

It was not a morning for anyone save amphibious boatmen and coast-guardsmen to be out, yet there were two figures pacing along the damp stretch of sands, shrouding themselves in thick cloaks, and keeping the rain from their faces by dint of forcing their hats low on their foreheads.

"Six o'clock," said one, with the voice of Clarence Clifford. "They are late."

"But they will be here, never fear," said Dalton. "Lord Harcourt never breaks his engagement. What a morning! This fine rain wets one through. I hope—oh, how I hope!—that beast of a Hawksley will catch his death!"

"The tide is going out!" mused Clarence, listening. "There is a sea-bird; he cries as if he were in pain. Ah, look! yonder come our men over the rocks."

The colonel, who was close, behind the servant's heels, stepped in, made his bow, and said with a smooth, polite voice, that contrasted with his restless and well-known fire-eating disposition:

"Mr. Clifford, I have the honor of bearing a message from Lord Harcourt."

"Do me the honor in return, my dear colonel, of supping with us. Norton, set a cover for Col. Hawksley."

The colonel took off his gloves, consigned his overcoat to the valet, and taking his seat prepared to make himself pleasant.

Clarence Clifford would have realized then at that moment, if he had not so long before, what a hollow world he was trifling in.

The pleasant-voiced man at his side, enveloping them with laughter—prooking anecdotes and flashes of ready wit was looking forward to the hour when he might place the weapon in the hands of his adversary, and wondering even while he drank his wine whether Lord Harcourt would "drop him for dead" or only wing him.

The last course was removed before Clarence Clifford opened his missive, and then, glancing at it carelessly, threw it over with a smile to Mr. Dalton, saying:

"My dear Dalton, here is an invitation: pray accept for me, and arrange with Col. Hawksley," and he bowed with an easy smile to the restless-eyed officer.

"Ah, now, this is friendly and comfortable," said he, as Dalton read the curt challenge and bit his lip.

"This is as it should be, Mr. Clifford. Dear me, why should not these little affairs d'honneur always be got through as pleasantly. Hock, please. And as I was about to say"—and he concluded, his anecdote as if the letter had been but a simple invitation to a supper or dinner party instead of a challenge to the death.

At last the colonel rose to go, and Dalton proposing to walk a little way

Montreal's New Traffic Code

PROHIBITS PARKING IN FRONT OF HOUSES.

When the city council convenes next Tuesday for one of their final gatherings before the summer holidays the aldermen will be agreeably surprised to find copies of the revised traffic code on the table all set for their consideration.

This Code has taken years to prepare and is a complete revision of all existing traffic by-laws and regulations, and is as up to date as it is possible to make. If under the circumstances, a special commission having incorporated all the best points of other city's laws into the document. In all there are thirteen chapters and ninety articles, while it repeals forty former by-laws heretofore on the books.

Definitions of thirty-five terms used in traffic regulation are contained in the first chapter. There are complete designations of avenue, street, curb, intersection, ordinary and "despatch"—the name given a corner graced by a traffic cop, parking, speed, zones, peak hours, and vehicles of different types.

Peak or rush hours are defined from 8.45 to 9.30 a.m. and 5 to 6.30 p.m. Parking is remaining stationary more than three minutes. A parade is a procession of more than twenty persons or ten vehicles under a common leader. This does not include funerals.

Any speed under 16 miles is considered slow while twenty miles is considered "speed."

One important clause eliminates the old directional appellations which are succeeded by the four cardinal points, north, south, east, and west. The Code contains charts showing the proper way of turning corners with a complete list of one way streets is shown in a separate chapter. Weights of loads and vehicles are specified, these being revised to meet provincial statutes.

Speed limit of pleasure vehicles is limited to twenty miles an hour and automobiles sixteen. Commercial vehicles with pneumatic tires cannot travel more than twelve miles when loaded and fifteen when light. Non-pneumatic tires reduce the limit to eight when loaded and ten when light. Eight miles is obligatory for all cars on steep descents, intersections, bridges or within 300 feet of a railroad crossing. The maximum weight of a car is set at 24,000 pounds. Overlight Parking Taboo

A clause forbidding parking of cars on the streets overnight will come as a jolt to many car owners, especially in districts such as Notre Dame de Grace and other outlying wards. It is well to take cognizance of this clause as the maximum penalty for any infraction of the by-laws is forty dollars and costs at sixty days in jail.

While cars are at a standstill the motor must be stopped and the engine locked. Parking is forbidden fifteen feet from the crossing or traffic stop; 25 feet from a hydrant or entrance to public buildings; 50 feet from the end of any excavation or other obstruction to traffic; 75 feet from intersections where trams meet; 100 feet from any train intersection between 5 and 6.30 p.m.

The streets on which parking is permitted are detailed.

Certain crossings will be marked off as crossing zones for pedestrians, in these areas pedestrians will have right of way over all other traffic.

Steam trucks are forbidden to use coal or wood; rich mixtures of gas are forbidden by the edict that no car shall emit dense smoke; and by a general article children are forbidden to play in the streets.

Motor repairs, including changing tires, shall not be done in the thoroughfares, but vehicles shall first be pushed into side streets. Penalty provisions of this Code also apply to any person who shall break a police cord on a fire, or shall refuse to give a fire vehicle right of way when going to or from a call.

MINISTER OF LABOR TO TAKE NO FURTHER ACTION

OTTAWA, July 2.—Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, has decided that in view of the attitude of the parties to the Cape Breton dispute, no good purpose would be served by his visiting the mining area again. The present attempt at conciliation by the department of labor may therefore be regarded as closed. Advice received here from the mining area are far from reassuring. They indicate that the strike has settled down to a long struggle with the strongest to win. Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Premier-elect of Nova Scotia, who is in Ottawa, has had a conference with Mr. Murdock over the Cape Breton situation.

HELENE CHADWICK IS STARRED IN GRIPPING STORY BY ETHEL M. DELL

A conflict of will between a man and a woman is always interesting. Nan and her husband have a whale of a battle in "Her Own Free Will." Helene Chadwick's first starring vehicle, playing at the Nickel Theatre. This screen dramatization of the Ethel M. Dell story is a mighty good picture. The plot is a rather unusual one. Nan is one of those impulsive, warm-hearted girls who leap first and look afterwards. She marries a man she does not love, to save her father from bankruptcy. Fate seems to reward her by separating them even before the honeymoon but of course he comes back and then the trouble begins. The story works up to a dramatic climax which we are not mean enough to give away.

away. Suffice it to say that it holds you breathless and to use an expression of the sweet young things, "thrilled to death."

Helene Chadwick gives a splendid portrayal of Nan. It is a real treat when a girl who is so easy to look at can act too. She certainly deserves her promotion to stardom. Holmes Herbert with whom husband roles seem to be a specialty, is good as the masterful Peter Craddock and Allan Simpson is convincing as Jerry Lister, the young chap who goes a little too far in helping Nan forget that she is married.

Queue Up at the Park

Editor Evening Telegram,
Dear Sir,—Now that people are beginning to frequent Bowring Park, I think its about time some rule or system should be adopted whereby persons would not run the risk of breaking their necks getting in and out of the various Busses.

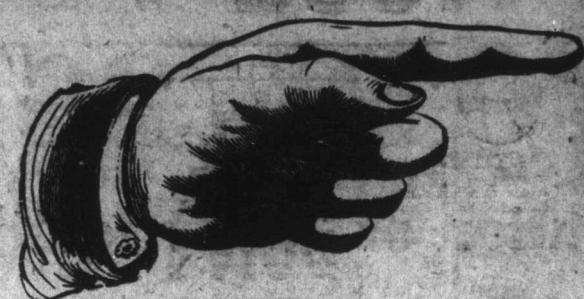

Leaving the Park (myself and family) yesterday evening to get in the Bus was equal to a prize-fight. Now, Mr. Editor my suggestion for remedying the above is for people to line up (queue style) I think this would be the means of avoiding a lot of confusion and crowding such as we witnessed last evening.

I think most lovers of Bowring Park will agree with my remarks relative to the above.

Trusting I have not taken up too much of your valuable space, Mr. Editor, and hoping you will publish these few remarks at your earliest convenience.

I am yours truly,
FAIR PLAY.

(This method is invariably followed elsewhere in pleasure resorts or at busy transportation centres, and is effective. Further the people themselves rigidly insist upon its observance.)

"The Medical Services"

THE FIRST VOLUME OF THE OFFICIAL HISTORY OF THE CANADIAN FORCES IN THE GREAT WAR.

TORONTO, Ont., June 30.—(C.P.)—Veterans of the War and the Canadian public generally, who followed with thrilled interest the story of that great adventure of its manhood, will welcome the news forthcoming from Ottawa that the first volume of the Official History of the Canadian Forces in the Great War is to be published very shortly. Official histories of other nations are in a more advanced stage. Good progress has been made with that of the British Armies, and the story of the Australian Expeditionary Force is well toward completion. But it there has been delay in the Canadian official history it has been for good purpose. In the width of its survey and the completeness of its details it promises to set a standard for works of this kind to the entire world. In the endeavor to make it accurate, to clear up points of conflict and illuminate the whole picture, research has been carried on in every quarter, including the great mass of material available at the War Office and the enemy records as now collated in Berlin. All records of the Canadian Corps and its auxiliary services are being searched, including battalion and company war diaries.

Under the able direction of Colonel A. Fortescue Duguid, the Historical Section of the Canadian General Staff was re-organized in June, 1921, charged with the task of collecting and safeguarding all papers concerning the Canadian Forces, and with the reduction of the mass of evidence into a comprehensive history for official publication. The work has advanced steadily; material has been assembled and classified, but much is still to be obtained. Maps which form the basis of the design, and which will prove a very wonderful feature of the whole, have been compiled from documents, and are being gradually completed from the testimony of officers who took part in the operations. And here it may be noted that while the operations from Vimy in April, 1917, on to the Armistice in Mons, present no great difficulty by reason of the careful records made at the time, the earlier operations, before proper provision had been made, present a very tangled problem to be unravelled if proper credit is to be apportioned all lighting and auxiliary units.

Some of the voluminous material is general history; some will be devoted to particular arms, branches and sections; all will be based on official documents. Maps sufficient for the general reader will be bound with the text; more detailed maps issued separately will provide for more profound study.

It is fitting that the first of the series should be devoted to the Medical Services, for whom a worthy historian was found in Sir Andrew Macphail, soldier, surgeon and man of letters. The 28 chapters of this volume completely cover its field. Opening with "The Genera Theme," successive chapters are devoted to "Preparation for War," "The First Contingent" (wherein fall the great names of Ypres, 1915, Festubert and Givenchy), "The 2nd Division," "The First Winter, 1915-16," "The Somme" (with which is included the battles of Vimy and Passchendaele), and so on. Chapter XXVII dealing with the operations "From Amiens to the Rhine," and the final chapter with "Demobilization."

Controversial subjects are impartially reviewed in the two chapters, "The Year of Controversy, 1916" and "The Vindication of the Service," and other chapters of special interest to the laymen deal with "The Civilian and the Soldier," and "The Service in Parliament."

The Canadian Medical Services achieved and merited distinction and honor in both France and England. Here the full story is set forth, and chapters are devoted to such themes as "The Field Ambulance," "The Surgery of the Front," and "Development of the Service in the Field." While the Hospitals, Nursing Service, Dental Corps and so on receive their proper recognition. This initial volume, indeed, makes an admirable beginning of a work which promises in the best sense of the word to be monumental to the deeds and progress of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces.

St. Thomas's Bulletin

Have you got it?—"Morbus Sabbaticus-Sabbath-Sickness." This is a disease peculiar to church goers. The attack comes on suddenly every Sunday; no symptoms are felt on Saturday night. The patient sleeps well, eats a hearty breakfast, but about church time the attack comes on and continues until services are over for the morning. Then the patient feels easy and eats a hearty dinner. In the afternoon he feels much better; he is able to take a walk, talk about politics, etc., but about 3 o'clock he gets another attack and stays at home. When he retires he sleeps well and wakes up Monday morning refreshed and able to go to work, and does not have any symptoms till next Sabbath day. The following remedy will effect a cure: On Sunday morning arise at seven, use plenty of fresh water. Then mix up and take internally a dose composed of equal parts of the following ingredients, namely: Push, Energy, Determination, Self-Respect for God's Day, for God's Word, for God's House, Struggle with prayer, then add a little love just to make it sweet. Repeat the dose every three minutes until church time, unless relief comes sooner. If the day is stormy, application of overshoes, rubber boots and an umbrella will help.—Dean Jones.

The Ban of Alien Communists
HOME SECRETARY DEPENDS HIS POLICY—NO FOREIGNERS
 The Home Secretary was questioned in the House of Commons, recently, as to the Government action in excluding from this country foreign Communists who proposed to attend the Glasgow Conference.
 Mr. Lansbury asked the Home Secretary whether the order prohibiting the entry into this country of aliens desirous of attending conferences was intended to apply to all persons known to the authorities as belonging to the Communist movement or the advocates of Socialism or any other political creed.

Sir W. Joynson-Hicks said the special instructions which he presumed the hon. member had in mind referred to the exclusion of aliens proposing to attend a Communist Conference at Glasgow. While their application was limited to that special purpose they reflected the general policy which he had explained to the House.
 Lieut-Commander Kenworthy.—What is the use of that policy if the Home Secretary is unable to prevent these people coming here? (Labour cheers).
 Men Who Were Stopped.
 Sir W. Joynson-Hicks.—I am not at all certain I was not able to prevent aliens coming. (Ministerial cheers). A very well-known Communist was prevented coming from Berlin, and others were also stopped. (Ministerial cheers).

British Communist's Arrest.
 In a previous question Mr. Lansbury asked the Home Secretary by what right Mr. Harry Homer was arrested and brought from Ramsgate to London by police officers and interrogated by other police officers at New Scotland Yard, who authorized the police officers to enter and search Mrs. Homer's house; whether it was now the established practice for police officers to examine prisoners arrested in this manner; and whether statements made by such prisoners might be used against them; and whether a person so charged could be penalised for refusing to answer.
 Sir William Joynson-Hicks replied: "The information having been received that an official document had without authority been sent to Harry Homer, the well-known Communist, for transmission to the other side.
 Mr. Lansbury.—What other side?
 Sir William Joynson-Hicks.—He admitted it was Moscow. The Assistant Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police issued a warrant under the Official Secrets Act, 1911, authorising his house to be searched, and the document having been found in his house he was arrested under Section 6 of the same Act.
 Mr. Jack Jones (Silverton Town Lab.) asked if similar steps would be taken with regard to reactionaries from foreign countries who came to attend conferences in London.

Get Rid of Fear
 "I'm afraid—I'm afraid—I'm afraid!" A million times a day we say it—"I'm afraid." And then we wonder why we have so little Success and so little Happiness!
 If you spend your whole life looking for Safety, then you'll get Safety, perhaps, and you'll find out how little it amounts to.
 Safety isn't Success and it isn't Happiness. Safety is a negative thing. It isn't worth a bear by itself. It's not getting hurt—that's all. Yet millions of people waste their whole lives trying to be safe.
 The world of business is filled with fears. It is filled with people who are hiding, dodging, running for dear life.
 In business life, as well as on the battlefield, men have shell-shock and spasms of fear—blind, mad, unreasoning fear.
 Most business men have these spasms of fear in times of depression. Then they cancel orders, and sack employees, and stop advertising, and dig themselves in.
 Generally, it is not what does happen that frightens men, but what might happen. Most men squeal before they are hurt.
 The truth is that no man can escape either criticism or risk. You can never be blameless and you can never be safe, so why worry about it?
 Face your fears. Walk towards them. And you'll be surprised to see how small and weak they are.
 Do what you're afraid to do.
 Be brave enough to buy in a slump.
 Be brave enough to sell in a boom.

 Courage! It is the rarest and most precious of all our real possessions. It is not taught in schools nor in churches. Every man must learn it for himself.
 Danger is a tonic. It is a necessity of the inner life. You can never learn to be a good loser until you lose.

Reply From His Excellency the Governor to Earl Haig

The following telegram has been sent by His Excellency the Governor, to Field Marshal Earl Haig in reply to his message published in the Telegram yesterday:— "People of Newfoundland are profoundly touched by kind message from yourself and Lady Haig conveyed in your telegram received on the anniversary of the unveiling of our National War Memorial. The pleasant memory of your visit to us last year and the honour thereby conferred on Newfoundland soldiers and sailors have endeared yourself and Lady Haig to all Newfoundlanders for all time."

Two Dozy Mates Adrift

FRAIL SKIFF MAKES PORT THIS MORNING.

Two fishermen named Herbert Dimmer and Austin Antle, belonging to Fox Cove, Burin District, reached port at six o'clock this morning in an exhausted condition after battling with the seas in an open dory for four days. A representative of the Telegram had an interview with the men shortly after their arrival, and received the following story. The two men with twenty others of a crew belonging to the Lunenburg schooner Grace Bouchner, had been fishing on the Grand Banks all the spring with much success, and it was only on Monday last that they returned to the fishing ground from Cape Broyle on a third trip.

At daylight Tuesday the crew put off in their dories to set the trawls, and after this had been done, they returned to their vessel for a further supply of bait. About ten o'clock the crew including Dimmer and Antle put off in their dories to haul their traps which would be about two miles to the S.E. of their vessel, but before they had reached them a dense fog came on, and the dories got scattered. Dimmer and Antle, after rowing and sailing all that day, failed to locate their vessel, and fearing a storm might come on they decided to make for the nearest land. The two men were equipped with a compass, 2 sets of oars and carried a good sail, but the only provisions in the boat was a pound of soft biscuit, and 1 pint of fresh water. All that night the wind blew from the S.W. with dense fog, and the men grew anxious, as they had lost their bearings. On the following day the fog lifted, when they again managed to pick up their position, but during that evening the wind increased, and when darkness closed in a heavy rain storm came on, and the men were exposed to the greatest discomfort. At times the seas came in over the little craft and almost submerged it, and the men, weary and tired from having been so long without sleep, were obliged to allow the boat to drift with the wind, while they kept bailing her out. By daylight yesterday they were practically exhausted, and during the day they gave up hopes of either being picked up or of making the land, shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the weather cleared and hopes revived when Cape Spear was sighted about 20 miles distant. It took them all night to make the Cape and at daylight they reached the Narrows in an utterly exhausted condition. Here they were picked up by some fishermen on the local grounds and brought to port. Later they proceeded to the British Home and had breakfast. During the morning Hon. J. J. Long, member of Burin, got in touch with fishermen and made arrangements to send them to Cape Broyle, by train, which left here at 11 a.m. Both Dimmer and Antle had a very trying experience, and one which they shall not soon forget, but they feel thankful that Providence was kind to them.

The schooner Grace Bouchner is in charge of Angus Tanner.

Memorial Service on Sunday Next

The annual Memorial Service will take place at the National War Memorial on Sunday and the parade will consist of the following units:—

- (a) C.L.B. Band, C. of E. War Veterans, C.L.B. Cadets, C.L.B. Old Comrades, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides. (b) C.C.C. Band, Roman Catholic War Veterans, Catholic Cadet Corps, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides. (c) M.G.B. Band, Methodist War Veterans, M.G.B. Old Comrades, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides. (d) Nfld. Highlanders Pipe Band, Presbyterian War Veterans, Newfoundland Highlanders, N. H. Old Comrades, Congregational War Veterans. (e) No. 1 S. A. Silver Band, Salvation Army War Veterans, Girl Guards.

The parade will form up in the square at Fort Townsend and proceed to the different churches via Long's Hill. Following service the units will assemble at the Sergeants' Memorial where a short service will be held before moving off to the National Memorial. Arrangements have been made to accommodate all school children who are not in the parade as Girl Guides or Boy Scouts in the enclosure opposite W. E. Beaumont street, Duckworth Street. This space will be open at 11.15 a.m. Entrance will be at the foot of King's Road. Tickets are not required and parents and guardians will be admitted. It is hoped that as many children as possible will be present, as theirs will be the duty of keeping green the memory of those who gave their lives in the Great War. Disabled veterans who cannot walk to the Memorial should communicate with Acting Dominion Secretary Parsons of the G.W.V.A. Next-of-kin who have not received their tickets for the ceremony should call at Dominion Headquarters for them. Wreaths to be placed on the Sergeants' Memorial will be received at the room on the ground floor of the Synod Hall, and to be placed on the National Memorial, at the Mechanics' Hall. The sidewalks on the north side of Duckworth Street will not be roped and tickets will not be required for this space. All information concerning the Service may be obtained from Secretary Parsons, phone 609.

PEPYS BEHIND THE SCENES

July 2nd—Up this day and abroad, the weather still fine, and seems here there is yet hope for a good summer. Comes Mr. Anderson to see me and with him his son, Mr. H. Anderson, who has been in New York three years past, and do assist Mr. Murray Anderson in the production of his reviews. He tells me of the great heat which the Americans do now experience, and how this do affect the theatrical season albeit his brother has 4 reviews to be produced soon. Meeting Povey, he tells me a drol tale of a teacher that did ask a pupil who were the Pharisees, to which the child did make answer that they are people who fasted in public and in secret did devour widows' houses. Mr. Blandford, he tells me of some mighty pretty motor roads that I have not yet driven on, yet am constrained to try by the enthusiasm of his description.

Magistrate's Court

A stoker charged with the larceny of a piece of cloth, valued at $5.00, the property of Wm. Gladney, on the 2nd of July, was convicted and fined $10 or in default 30 days imprisonment. The accused admitted he was drunk at the time, but had no intention of stealing the goods. A domestic taken in for safe-keeping was sent down for ten days. A defendant in an assault case was convicted and fined $10.00 or in default 30 days imprisonment. JUVENILE COURT. An 18-year-old labourer and a 14-year-old school boy were arraigned before Mr. McCarthy, J.P., in the Judge's Chambers, and were charged with the larceny of the sum of $50.00 in cash from the store of J. J. Ward, Water Street, on the night of July 1st. From the evidence submitted by the detectives engaged on the case, the youths gained an entrance to the office at the rear of the premises, and forced open a safe from which they took fifty dollars in notes and cash. A portion of the money was later found in possession of one of the accused, when an arrest followed. They used a four pound axe, a steel nail drawer and several large spikes in smashing the bolts of the safe. The elder of the two was sent down for three months, while the second was given the option of a fine in the sum of $50.00 or in default three months imprisonment, on account of his tender age.

Fatal Burning Accident

The ignition of a quantity of gasoline on board the American schooner Gladstone on Sunday afternoon, resulted fatally for Edward Pettipas, one of the crew. The unfortunate man had been sprinkling gasoline about his bunk in the fore-castle, when the liquid, which he carried in an uncovered can, ignited and set fire to his clothing. He managed to bludge his way up the companion to the deck where he was met by the cook, who endeavored to extinguish the flames. Ere this was accomplished, the body, arms and face of Pettipas had become terribly burnt. Medical aid was quickly obtained, and efforts made to alleviate the sufferings of the poor fellow, who lapsed into unconsciousness soon after the accident, and only had brief spells of recovery ere he died. Through the courtesy of the Hospital Board, the patient was admitted to the new hospital at Corner Brook on Monday, but despite the kindly attention and treatment he passed away that evening. The deceased, who was about 55 years of age and unmarried, was a native of Ayr, Nova Scotia, but had resided in the United States for over forty years.—Western Star.

40 Pounds an Hour Fines

£230 from 75 MOTORISTS IN ONE SITTING. Owing to the great increase in the number of motoring accidents in East Surrey the police has organized regular control, and as a result 75 motorists have appeared before the Oxford Bench recently on speed summonses. Fines amounting to £230 were inflicted—at the rate of £40 an hour, roughly.

MARRIED.

On June 23rd at the Church of St. Michael and All Angels by the Rev. R. Fowling, Emma Deer, of this city, to H. J. Brown of Trinity East. IN LOVING MEMORY of my dear brother, Pte. John Barton, who was killed at Beaumont Hamel on July 1st, 1918. May the sacred heart of Jesus have mercy on his soul.—Inserted by his sister.

TO THE MEMORY

of my dear brother Pte. Stewart M. Boone, who was killed in action somewhere in France, July 1st, 1918. When the evening shades are falling, And I'm sitting all alone; In my heart there comes a longing, If he only could come home.—Inserted by his only sister, Susie Boone.

IN FOND AND LOVING MEMORY

of our dear sons and brothers, Pte. Stanley Abbott, also his brother, Pte. George Abbott, killed in action July 1st, 1918. Their faces no more on earth we'll see. No more their voices will we hear; Oh, who can take their place with us Or fill the vacant chair. They were His servants, in His steps they trod, Following through death the martyr's road; Victorious heroes, victorious they too shall rise. They who have drunk His cup of sacrifice.—Inserted by their Parents.

REPORT OF CONFERENCE BETWEEN WEST INDIES AND U.S.A. DENIED.

OTTAWA, July 2. "I do not believe there is anything in the statement," declared Sir Alfred Sherlock, Vice-Chairman of the Canada West Indies Trade Conference, late to-night in commenting on a report that the West Indies would treat with the U.S. Government in the event of the present negotiations which are now taking place here between representatives of the Islands and the Dominion being unfavorable to them. Sir Alfred is the official representative of British Guiana at the present conference.

PREMIER PAINLEVE'S CONDEMNATION OF THE COMMUNIST AGITATION WITH REGARD TO MOROCCO AND HIS POLICY IN THE WAR AGAINST THE RIFTS WAS APPROVED TO-DAY BY THE SENATE, WHICH GAVE THE GOVERNMENT A UNANIMOUS VOTE OF CONFIDENCE.

PARIS, July 2. Premier Painlevé's condemnation of the Communist agitation with regard to Morocco and his policy in the war against the Rifis was approved to-day by the Senate, which gave the Government a unanimous vote of confidence. The Premier in repeating to the Senate the declarations he made in the Chamber emphasized his desire for peace, which, however, would require "delicate negotiations." He explained that Abd-el-Krim, the Riffian leader, was difficult to handle. The Riffian armament was popularly overestimated, he asserted, Abdul Krim's chief strength being in brave and well manoeuvred infantry.

ECONOMIC WAR DECLARED.

BERLIN, June 3. Economic war between Germany and Poland has been declared with the issuance of a decree by the Reichstag imposing prohibitive duties on Poland's main agricultural and industrial exports.

FRENCH DEBT COMMISSION TO VISIT U.S.A.

PARIS, July 3. A council of ministers to-day approved of a plan to send a French Debt Commission to the United States during this summer.

ANTHRACITE MINERS DEMANDS.

SCRANTON, July 3. The 153,000 Anthracite miners yesterday decided upon the terms they will serve upon the mine owners for the renewal of the contract expiring August 31. They announced negotiations would open at Atlantic City July 15th. Ten per cent. increase for tonnage men with additional $1 a day for day workers two year contract and complete union recognition, described as another way of saying "check off," featured in the demands. These stipulations are understood to be wholly unacceptable to operators.

Magisterial Enquiries

During the past few days two Magisterial enquiries in connection with recent motor accidents have been held before Mr. McCarthy, J.P. In the Kelly enquiry five witnesses gave evidence. In the Simms enquiry four persons were called and gave evidence. An enquiry into the O'Neill fire which occurred on Patrick Street sometime ago will very likely commence this afternoon.

NEW HOSPITAL AT ST. ANTHONY

Col. Arthur F. Cosby, executive officer of the International Grenfell Association, who is at present in the city conducting some business arrangements with the Government, will leave next week on a tour of inspection to the various northern branches. St. Anthony will be his summer headquarters, and whilst there he will superintend the work on the new Hospital being erected there. The hospital foundation has been started. It will be a modern fireproof concrete block structure 84 x 42 feet, two story high with full basement. A wing 30 x 40 feet, 3 story and basement will be used as hospital headquarters staff. Lighted by electricity from self-contained plant, the building will also have running water secured from a reservoir. The architect is Wm. A. Delano of New York, who also designed the Seaman's Institute, the Twillingate Hospital, the R. C. Cathedral Palace, St. John's, and the New Orphanage at St. Anthony. The structure will be a fifty bed hospital that will care for 70 patients in summer. Its cost is estimated at $80,000 and it will be built entirely with Newfoundland and Labrador labor. The mission is its own contractor and builder. One novelty in construction will be the steel frame work. Quite a lot of the material has been conveyed to the site by a 1100 ton schooner, which the Mission has chartered. Roughly it will take about 2000 barrels of cement to complete the structure. As no sand or gravel is to be had at St. Anthony, a rock crusher with engine and costing about $2,000 had to be purchased for furnish this material. An eight ton boiler, smokeless burner of soft coal, has also been purchased for the hospital equipment. A number of American oblige students are spending their vacation at St. Anthony and are engaged in the work of digging the foundations, the walls of which will be completed this fall and covered in for the winter. Inside the work of making blocks will be carried on until spring. It is hoped to have the building completed early in 1928. The Grenfell Association hope to start a small training school in connection with the new hospital and anticipate having it run by the Medical Association as an A.I. Hospital. Part of the funds for the erection has been collected, but a large amount remains yet to be secured. This morning, Col. Cosby received a wireless message stating that the new ship, Strathcona II, would arrive here to-night. He will sail by her next week and proceed to Battle Harbor where she will be handed over to Dr. Grenfell. The latter left Sydney for the northward a few days ago with the MacMillan party.

TO THE MEMORY

of my dear brother Pte. Stewart M. Boone, who was killed in action somewhere in France, July 1st, 1918. When the evening shades are falling, And I'm sitting all alone; In my heart there comes a longing, If he only could come home.—Inserted by his only sister, Susie Boone.

IN FOND AND LOVING MEMORY

of our dear sons and brothers, Pte. Stanley Abbott, also his brother, Pte. George Abbott, killed in action July 1st, 1918. Their faces no more on earth we'll see. No more their voices will we hear; Oh, who can take their place with us Or fill the vacant chair. They were His servants, in His steps they trod, Following through death the martyr's road; Victorious heroes, victorious they too shall rise. They who have drunk His cup of sacrifice.—Inserted by their Parents.

NOTE OF THANKS.

St. Mary's Garden Party Committee wish to extend their sincere thanks to the numerous friends who so generously contributed to the success of the Garden Party. The Committee would like to write and thank all personally, but as this would entail much time and labor, we trust that this note of thanks will be sufficient. G. F. PIKE, Secretary.

Editor Ev Dear Sir I read to-day in your paper a notice from the Bureau of Agriculture suggesting that a Commission should be appointed to investigate the conditions of the streets in St. John's. I am sure that the Commission would be a most valuable one, and I am sure that the Government would be glad to have it. Co-Operation in Cleaning Up

 Dear Sir—May your efforts with regard to a Paint Campaign be taken to heart by all who wish to have a brighter and cleaner city. As a Tourist Bureau has been established, I beg to suggest that they add to their numbers a Committee on City Improvement Propaganda. The cost would be but little, more especially as much of it could be done through articles to the city press whom I am sure would be only too glad to help on the good work. In connection with the filthy condition of the city, could not people be compelled to burn all paper and scraps, which can be burnt, as at present one sees paper flying about the streets, much of which has been distributed by the sanitary carts. With the warm weather, if we are not very careful, we shall see disease rampant, and we should not wait until we are faced with the problem of curative measures, but rather take such steps as will ensure safety. What about the use of salt water to allay the dust? It has been tried with great success in other countries and surely St. John's takes an easy first place for dust, and we have no shortage of water.

Yours etc.,
 CITIZEN.

Dean Pearce Tells Value of Clean Up and Paint Up

Head of Department of Chemistry, North Dakota Agricultural College, Says Campaign is Developing All Over His State.

Dr. W. T. Pearce, Dean of the Department of Chemistry of the North Dakota Agricultural College, in a recent address to the North Dakota Master Painters and Decorators said: "The Secretary of the Clean Up and Paint Up Campaign recently said that the human being is a creature of habit which may be changed by suggestions or broken by the development of other habits. Less than 100 years ago bath tubs were forbidden in more than one state and heavily taxed as a luxury in others. Now we find them installed in nearly every home and daily bathing the custom of many. "What has brought this about? If you will investigate, you will find that it was due to successful campaigns in which the value of cleanliness was taught. "In a similar way you will find that not very long ago, little attention was paid to clothes. The value of being dressed (which you may think has been carried to an extreme), resulted from an educational campaign. "We wish to render a service which is many more times valuable than the fees cited. In this case you have only a part of the work to do, for the master painters are doing a real piece of work in their efforts to teach people to beautify and protect their property. "The Clean Up and Paint Up Campaign is being taken up in North Dakota, and the work is developing all over the state."

Next Convention in Nova Scotia

War Veterans' Association of Canada Will Meet in East Next Year.
 Ottawa, June 28.—The business sessions of the annual convention of the Great War Veterans' Association, sometimes referred to as the "Soldiers' Parliament of Canada," were brought to a close here Saturday afternoon after one of the most successful and largely attended gatherings in the history of the Association. It was decided to hold the next convention in Nova Scotia, but the city was not named.
 A session will be held on Monday afternoon when General Sir Richard Turner, V.C., will be formally installed in office as President, and at a mass meeting of returned soldiers and dependents, to be addressed by Field Marshal Earl Haig on Tuesday night, the convention will be adjourned.
 It was decided to continue the executive and adjustment service bureau of association, operated since 1919 on behalf of all war veterans and dependents. The report of the ways and means committee was received and showed that if the Dominion Command functioned on behalf of its members only, the current revenues would be sufficient. The general service work available to all affected by war service, regardless of membership in the G. W. V. A., made it necessary to find more than $200,000 over normal revenues yearly.
 More than 3,000 adjustment cases were now in the hands of the adjustment officers, it was said, and an average of three new cases were received daily. Supplementary adjustments in the past three months totalled $45.

GOOD FOR LITTLE TUMMIES

Life Savers are the ideal candy for youngsters whose tummies are so easily upset by richer sweets.

Take a few rolls home for that expectant moment when some little feller says: "Daddy, did you bring me anything?"

Safe for little teeth, too. No sticky debris to cause tooth decay.

It is much better to give children the right kind of candy regularly.

Six flavors displayed at all good stores so you may help yourself.

Peppermint, Wint-o-green, Cham-o-moon, Lic-o-ri-cice, Cit-o-ve, and Vi-o-let

Municipal Council

WEEKLY MEETING.

The regular meeting of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Cook presided and Councillors Martin, Outerbridge, Collier, Ryan and Dowden were present. The Deputy Colonial Secretary informed the Council that their communication with regard to Gill's Cove would be given consideration by the Executive Government.

Following this a letter was read from the City Solicitor, in which he stated that apart from the common law rights of any member of the public in respect of any interference with the free enjoyment of the public coves, the Municipal Act clearly defines that persons who shall make erections across any of the public coves are liable to a penalty, and that the Council may prosecute such persons.

The City Engineer reported that there were three sewers discharging into the Cove; that the Marine Agencies, Limited, had obtained a lease of same from the Government for a certain number of years, subject, however, to termination at forty-eight hours notice; that the Company were prepared, at their own expense, to extend in concrete the storm sewer to his satisfaction.

Considerable discussion took place and Councillor Ryan strongly protested against the rights of the public being interfered with or acquired by any individual or corporation in such a manner. He pointed out that at the present time this was the only cove in St. John's East which could be utilized by citizens generally as well as an outport craft, and he proposed that a petition against the granting of the lease mentioned be presented to the Government. The other members of the Council concurred, and unanimously approved his proposition.

J. O'Neill Conroy, Barrister at Law, drew attention to Section 96 of the Municipal Act which provides for the appointment of a Conciliation Board in the matter of the relation between Landlord and Tenant. Application had been made to the late Government in this connection, and in view of the many communications recently received it was decided that the Government be asked to appoint such a Board as quickly as possible, so as to adjust matters to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Application was read from Messrs. Benson and Martin for permission to vend ice cream, soft drinks and confectionary in Bannerman, Victoria and Bowring Parks. The request was not acceded to.

The residents of Cabot and Pleasant Streets wrote asking that the present cobbled drains on these streets be replaced by concrete. The Roads Department are now attending to a number of similar applications received during the early part of the year, and it was decided that as soon as same are completed the above mentioned will be given consideration.

Mr. J. Barter, Inspector of the S.P.C.A., wrote with regard to the King's Beach, which he stated was in such a condition as to be a hardship to the many truckmen bringing their horses over this thoroughfare to Water St. He also asked that some repairs be made to Signal Hill Road and Temperance Street. The several requests will be attended to.

Reference was made to the need of having the thoroughfare in the vicinity of the War Memorial cleaned up and generally put in a presentable condition for the Memorial Services on Sunday next, and the City Engineer and Sanitary Supervisor were instructed accordingly.

The complaint of Peter Byrne, of damage to his property, Alexander Street, through overflow of surface drain, was referred to the City Engineer.

Mr. George Westcott, Windsor Lake, asked permission to use a portion of Council property for the purpose of raising gravel for road repairs. This was refused.

Permits.

Permits are to be issued the following, subject to the approval of the City Engineer:—

J. H. Roberts, repairs to residence, Sudbury Street.

B. Dunfield, erection of a sign at offices, G.W.V.A. Building.

E. G. Cousins, repairs to dwelling, Springdale Street.

P. Wall, erection of a workshop, 6th Street.

Mr. A. H. Richard's application for permission to erect dwelling, Mayor Avenue, was deferred until location plan is submitted.

The residents of Livingston Street petitioned for the removal of some posts along this thoroughfare. As same were placed there in their interest, namely to prevent horse owners from using the sidewalk, the petition was not acceded to.

The City Engineer reported generally on the work performed by the Water Works, Roads and Sewerage Departments for the past week. He particularly referred to the condition of concrete sidewalk along Water St. and stated that he had served notice on several property owners, as required by Section 131 of the Municipal Act, to put some in good repair, failing which legal proceedings will be taken.

In the matter of the complaint made by Mr. Rennie, Director of the St. John's Gaslight Company, re overflow of gully, he stated this had been satisfactorily arranged.

Following the Notice of Motion given by him at last regular meeting, Councillor Outerbridge introduced resolutions fixing the rate of speed of motor vehicles within the Municipality at fifteen miles per hour instead of twenty miles as provided for under the Highways Act. Councillor Martin considered that the Council should take a step further in this direction and reduce the speed limit to ten miles per hour as formerly. The Council, however, decided to accept the resolutions as introduced by Councillor Outerbridge which will be published in the Royal Gazette in due course.

LONDON, NEW YORK AND PARIS ASSOCIATION OF FASHION.

The cleaning and flushing of drains, etc., was ordered to be given special attention during the present warm weather.

Road repairs and other minor improvements were discussed and ordered to be proceeded with as soon as possible while the weather is favourable.

The Medical Officer of Health reported no cases of infectious diseases in the city during the past week.

The Park Committee reported that many improvements had been effected in Bannerman and Victoria Parks of late, but that, as yet, no steps had been taken by the Government as regards the fencing off of the Colonial Building property from Bannerman Park. As a result considerable damage has been done of late owing to the indifference on the part of those responsible.

The Sanitary Supervisor reporting on the work of his department for the week stated that a large number of gullies and hoppers had been flushed and cleaned, and that the motor and horse sprinklers had been in service practically every day. In this respect while it was not possible to give attention to every street within the city, the best possible had been done in the interest of the public.

Of late several large improvements have been made at Bowring Park. The Council will in the course of a few days make their usual periodical visit for purpose of inspection, etc.

It was decided that the interior of the Municipal Offices be renovated, and tenders are to be called for the work.

The sections of the Act dealing with the licensing of cabmen, truckmen, peddlers and hawkers, etc., doing business in the city are to be published, and also the Section dealing with the Poll Tax. After due notice has been given all delinquents are to be proceeded against.

With the disposal of usual routine business the meeting adjourned.

Mauretania Rams Pier

Hundreds Escape Death -- Tide Swings Giant Cunarder Into a Big Steel Upright.

Hundreds of persons, massed on the dock, were thrown into a near panic this afternoon when the giant liner Mauretania smashed into a heavy steel stanchion on the pier at the foot of 14th Street.

The vessel was being warped to its berth when the accident occurred. There was a strong tide running at the time and the ship, caught in this, rammed the pier with tremendous force.

A heavy steel upright on the pier was struck by the port side of the bridge and twisted as it made of paper.

There was a loud, grinding sound, and the screams of passengers and those gathered on the dock could be heard for blocks.

Nobody, however, was injured, and a cursory examination of the Mauretania led officials of the line to believe she suffered no great damage.

"Cat Burglar" on Liner.

Among the passengers were Detectives Sent and Carr of Police Headquarters, with their prisoner, Jack Schottenfeld, known to the police of Scotland Yard, London, as the "cat burglar," because of his skill and daring in scaling house walls. He is wanted here on a charge of slaying Emory Chachowitz in 1921. Schottenfeld recently completed a nineteen months term in a London prison for burglary.

The Mauretania experienced unusually rough weather and one of the crew was slightly injured. For twenty hours the big liner was forced to run at half speed because of storms, and on Wednesday a mountainous wave smashed windows in the bridge, injuring Quartermaster W. J. Fennell.—Graphic, June 19.

Star Movie To-Day

"MARRIED LOVE," THE WORLD FAMOUS MOTION PICTURE, WILL OPEN AT STAR MOVIE TO-DAY.

The motion picture is a lavish and spectacular film production. The story is a powerful one, blending drama, romance and pathos. The central figure is that of the heroine, Maizie Burroughs, the eldest child of a family of fourteen. Brought up in the equality and misery of ignorant parenthood, Maizie has come to look upon romance as a myth and marriage as a dreadful evil. On the other hand, the case of Dick Reading, the hero, is exactly the reverse, Dick being an only child and brought up with the kind and intelligent care of a mother who had learned to discriminate what was best in life.

The story takes these two simple figures and plunges them into the whirlpool of life, that threatens to tear their moral foundations to pieces, that rides them on the crest of the foam of happiness and dashes them on the rocks of dissipation and sweeps them on towards the haven of knowledge and marital felicity.

The film production is a tremendous one, no money being spared staging cabaret scenes, the under-world and the big conflagration.

The cast is full of numerous stellar performers, some of whom have played leads in previous big pictures, and others who have been quite prominent on the legitimate stage.

MINARD'S LINIMENT FOR THE GRIPPE.

That Trouble on Labrador

The revenue cruiser Daisy returned to port Sunday afternoon from a cruise along a portion of the Canadian Labrador, where she had been on a special mission with Hon. Capt. Winsor, Minister of Marine and Fisheries. Some two weeks ago the Newfoundland Government was apprised by a number of our fishermen, who had gone to that coast, that they were debarred the customary fishing rights unless they paid a license fee of $20 per trap, which would be $10 in excess of the fee paid other years. This action on the part of Quebec authorities necessitated immediate steps being taken by our government. When Capt. Winsor reached the coast he got in touch with the Canadian revenue officers, who informed him that there was to be a fee of $20 per trap berth exacted this year. Upon writing to the authorities at Ottawa, he was told that the fee would be $10. This was ignored by the Quebec officers, who still persisted in their claim for a license fee of $20 for every cod trap berth secured. Realizing that a great hardship was about to be imposed upon the colonial fishermen resorting to that part of the Labrador, Capt. Winsor informed the Canadian authorities that, if they persisted in their demands, the Newfoundland government would adopt retaliatory measures, and prohibit the sale of all bait fishes by colonials to the Canadians. This had the desired effect, so soon the reply was given that for this year the usual license fee of $10 would be collected and our fishermen enabled to carry on their customary fishing operations without being molested. Capt. Winsor is to be congratulated upon the successful issue of his negotiations, and it is confidently realized that his timely action has meant a saving of thousands of dollars to Newfoundland fishermen.—Western Star.

Improving the Lakeside

Greater enthusiasm than ever is prevailing over the coming Regatta as, following our last report, a large number of citizens have viewed for themselves the splendid improvements now being effected at the lakeside. The funds of the Regatta Committee have been entirely depleted in the good work, and now that the collectors are about ready to call on subscribers it might be wise to suggest an increased subscription from those public minded citizens who can afford it. It is understood that the Regatta Committee this year have appointed collectors to call on those parts of the city which previously have been untouched, as they feel sure that no one will refuse a small donation, more especially now that so much finance is needed to complete the splendid work being done. One has only to pay a cursory visit to the lakeside to witness the great value of the work accomplished, and it is only reasonable to expect that every citizen would want to bear a small share of the cost of the work of which he is already a part owner.

Lunenburg Bankers on Southern Shore

Within the past few days, 63 Lunenburg fishing vessels visited Cape Broyle, Caplin Bay to secure bait. After about ten days fishing on the Banks, the vessels averaged about 1000 qts. codfish each. Caplin bait is purchased from our fishermen at $10.00 per dory load or 40 cents per barrel. Only about 25 local bankers prosecute the fishery on the Grand Banks. About 30 years ago our fleet numbered 150 sail.

Missionaries at Canton Escape

HONG KONG, June 28.—All the foreign missionaries have escaped from Canton, but there are grave fears concerning the fate of some of those in the country districts from whom nothing has been heard since the outbreak of the anti-foreign movement. This is the report of O. W. McMillen and W. W. Creighton, Presbyterian missionaries who arrived here to-day from Canton.

The Romance of a Drop of Oil

An interesting account in the National Review of a visit to the oil-fields in South Persia contains the following picturesque description of "The Life of a Drop of Oil," from its beginning far below the surface at Maidan-i-Naftun, "The Plain of Naphtha," to its arrival on the British market. From the settlement at Maidan-i-Naftun five million tons of oil gush out in a year. The writer adds:

It would be impossible, without confusing the reader, to describe in detail all that is to be seen at Maidan-i-Naftun, but a clear idea of the main operation can perhaps be obtained by tracing the life of a drop of oil. For years—how many years we will not stop to guess—this drop of oil has led a quiet existence, two or three thousand feet below the surface of the ground, in its chosen haunt, a porous rock known as Asmari limestone. Then comes a time when this colony of oil to which it belongs becomes troubled by the noise of hammering above; it is the drilling plant forcing its way through two thousand feet of rock. For months this noise draws nearer and nearer, until finally the hammer breaks through to the rock where the oil lies. Then beneath the earth there is a scene of wild confusion. Strongly pressed by neighbouring gas, which sees in this penetration of its long hidden fastness a chance to escape to the outer world, the oil finds itself rushing wildly up a pipe which has been following the hammer down into the earth. Arrived at the top, it is not allowed to see the light of day, but continues its headlong course in a pipe across the ground which separates the well from the pumping station. Here, before it has time to recover from the hurry of its flight, it is given a great shove, which sends it over the hills to a valley which conducts it down to the plain. It is now set on its course of one hundred and fifty miles down the pipeline to Abadan, to prevent it resting on the way, every fifty or sixty miles it passes through a pumping station, which speeds it on; and every two miles there is a station where watch is kept in case a pipe bursts and the oil escapes, and in that event a tap is turned to divert it into another line. Eventually it reaches Abadan, and there it may rest awhile in a storage tank; but from that rest it will soon be disturbed and pumped either straight on to a tanker vessel or into a distillery, where it goes through a process of distillation and then of condensation, and emerges, leaving some of itself behind as oil fuel, as a drop of petrol. It is then pumped on to a tanker, and goes down the Persian Gulf, up the Red Sea, through the Suez Canal and the Mediterranean Sea to Llandarcy, in South Wales. There it is put into a tin, and it may end its days by being blown to bits in a flaccidly in the engine of a Ford car. Such is the miserable end of a drop of oil that has for centuries, perhaps, been a proud dweller in the heart of the Persian hills.

Port Authority Ready to Aid Super Dry Dock

Proposed Equipment Capable of Floating Largest Ships Would Cost $3,500,000.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Julian A. Gregory, chairman of the Port of New York authority, announced yesterday that the Port Authority was ready to co-operate in building a dry dock in the harbor large enough to accommodate the largest commercial and naval vessels which now must go to Boston and other ports for repairs.

Mr. Gregory's statement follows the suggestion of Captain H. T. Wright, construction engineer at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, that such a dock be built here by Federal, state and city governments.

"An adequate dry dock would be a great benefit to this port, and the Port Authority is glad to join in any movement to the interests of the port," said Mr. Gregory.

As a doubt has been expressed whether such a project would be self-supporting, a suitable guarantee would, however, have to be given to the Port Authority to take care of all operating deficits.

The recent experience of the Panama-Pacific liner Mongolia, which was unable to find a dry dock available here for repairs, has caused much comment among shipping men.

T. H. Rosbottom, general manager of the United States Lines, when told of Mr. Gregory's statement yesterday, said that each trip of the Leviathan to the Boston dry dock costs many thousands of dollars more than it would cost to repair the big ship here, if facilities were available.

William T. Donnelly, designer and builder of dry docks, said recently that a floating dock of suitable size could be built for $3,500,000, and expressed the belief that it could be made self-sustaining.

Big Men Cannot Bequeath Brains

Our Rocketeers, Carnegies, Fricks, Vanderbilts, Goulds, Hills, Harrimans, Astors, Eastmans, Stillmans, Pullmans, Fields, can bequeath enormous fortunes, but they cannot bequeath brains. Not one Napoleonic son has sprung from these Titans, not one son who is doing gigantic things in the world of finance, railroading or business. And news comes from Germany that the many-columned monument spectacularly erected by Hugo Stinnes, the German Colossus, is tottering, with no son fit to hold it together.

To-day 90 per cent. of the biggest jobs in America are filled by first-generation leaders. Such as Ford, Gary, Thayer, Schwab, Grace, Edison, White, Wilson, Sloan, Willys, Durant, Nash, Young, Swaps, Farrel, Tripp, Crowley, Willard, Gary, O. P. Van Sweringen, Baker, Dillon, Mitchell, Sabin, Wiggins, Lamont, Carry, Doherty, to name only a few.

Is there not encouragement in this for the millions of earnest, diligent, ambitious American workers who are studying, striving, sweating to reach the top? Does it not mean that brains, not birth, not money, win? May it not be, after all, that Providence is no fool?—Forbes Magazine (N.Y.).

LAST NIGHT'S GAME.
Guards 3; Felldians 1.

The football game last night, between the Felldians and the Guards, had been awaited with interest, as both teams are strong aggregations and the result of their clash was pure conjecture. The Guards won by a margin of two goals and it must be conceded that this was due to the more effective measures they adopted throughout.

First Half

The Felldians, with the wind and sun in their favor, pressed the Guards during the early part of the game, but were weak on the goal. After four minutes of play, however, J. Withers sent Joyce a beauty which, travelling low and with the speed of a shell, hit the boards behind the goalkeeper with a resounding whack. They were back again almost as soon as the ball was centred and the Guards defence were for some minutes hard put to it to keep them out. Several fine shots were made, one of which hit the crossbar, but it failed to materialize. Then came the Guards rally and Voisey, in the Felldian goal, and the backs, had a busy time. Again and again their attack was beaten back but eventually W. Halfyard, playing left half, sent in a shot which passed just under the crossbar and the score was equalized after twenty minutes of play.

During the last few minutes the Felldians were, for the most part, in the Guards' territory, but the whistle sounded for half time without any further scoring.

Second Half

The sun had for the most part disappeared and the wind had dropped slightly when the ball was again centered and play opened with a strong attack by the Guards, but was repulsed, Morris and Dawe putting up an able defence. In one of these attacks, which resulted in a melee round the goal, a foul was given against Voisey and matters looked serious. The free kick, however, bounded out of danger, and the close call seemed to awaken the Felldians, and from then to the finish they put far more fight into their play. Several times they made their way west, but to no effect. Ellis and Halfyard, the defence, were ready for all attacks and their forwards were equally on the alert to attack. About twenty minutes passed before any scoring took place, when Nelson Halfyard sent Voisey a slow one along the ground, which he misjudged and the Guards secured the lead. Just before the close a drop shot was sent down by Macklin and skimming the bar, landed safely in the net. No further scoring took place and the game ended as already stated.

BELVEDERE GARDEN PARTY.

A meeting of the committee was held yesterday to arrange further for the garden party at Belvedere, on July 15th. The committee, both ladies and gentlemen, are leaving nothing undone to make this year's affair a signal success. Football fixtures for the Junior League are already drawn and some interesting games may be expected. Gold medals will be awarded the winning team. All that is required for a most successful outing now is the friendly influence of the weather man. Over two hundred children are housed at Belvedere and it means a lot to them in a financial way to have a successful garden party.

TO-NIGHT'S FOOTBALL.

ROSENBERG TO MEET SHEA IN TITLE GO.

Charley (Phil) Rosenberg, bantam-weight champion, will risk his title for the first time since he won it from Eddie (Cannonball) Martin, when he tangles with Eddie Shea of Chicago in the feature bout of a card arranged for July 15 for the benefit of the Hunt's Point Jewish Center Building Fund. The match will be staged in the New York Velodrome.

Low Raymond is promoting the match. Both fighters have posted $2,500 in forfeit money. Rosenberg is to receive 37½ per cent. of the gate and Shea 12½ per cent.

GREB IN TRAINING AT O'BRIEN'S GYM.

Harry Greb, middleweight champion of the world, who is to defend his title against Mickey Walker in a fifteen round bout which features the Italian Hospital Fund card at the Polo Grounds on July 2, arrived in town yesterday and immediately went into training at Philadelphia Jack O'Brien's Gym.

Harry confined his activities to a little handball, which by the way is his favorite pastime, but starting tomorrow he will be hard at it with three sparring partners. Greb intends to use Billy Britton, Cuddy DeMarc and Eddie Bitzell. For the next few days Greb will work indoors, but next week it is likely that a ring will be erected on the top of O'Brien's gym, eight floors above the traffic maze of Broadway.

In the boxing bouts at the New York Polo Grounds last night, Greb outpointed Walker, Slade knocked out Slattery and Weinert was knocked out by Wills in the second round.

Slightly Exaggerated

One of the recent batch of Florida stores had it that Brown, a former resident of Columbus, Ohio, had made a killing in Florida real estate. He had cleaned up $50,000 in three months at Miami, Florida, so the story went.

A former neighbor, hearing about it, became quite excited and hustled into Brown's brother's office and said, "By George, that's great about Bill making $50,000 in Florida in three months. It's just great, now, isn't it?"

Brown's brother said, "It wasn't in Florida, 'twas in California and they got the story mixed just a little. It was three years and got threemonths

"That doesn't make any difference," interrupted friend neighbor, full of enthusiasm. "By George he made the money!"

Brown's brother continued: "They also got the amount wrong. It was $5,000 instead of $50,000 and—and he didn't make it—he lost it."—Forbes Magazine (N.Y.).

THE ATTICS OF YESTERYEAR.

What are the attics of yesterday and what is being done with the things that used to be stored in them? You sometimes hear people wondering whether the furniture of to-day will ever be collected as antiques. It seems incredible that anyone should want to collect it, though no more incredible than the present craze for the pressed glass of 50 years ago. But even if we stretch our imagination and try to convince ourselves that a hundred years from now someone will want to furnish his house with furniture from the living rooms of to-day, we must admit he will have an awful hard time finding any, if attics disappear at the rate they have been disappearing for the last 30 years.

A Feeble Flavorless Substitute.
In some of the first apartments there were storerooms, a feeble flavorless substitute for the old attic, but how seldom any room can be spared for a storeroom in these days of crowded living accommodations. A friend of mine is living in a city in a four room apartment. Her two children have the one bedroom, and she and her husband sleep in the living room. They looked round hopefully for a larger apartment at the same money they are paying. There was no such thing to be found. In that city apartments rent according to the number of rooms. It would mean $20 added to their rent for one more room! Imagine keeping a storeroom in a place like that!

The Chairs With the Broken Legs.
Of course when people have less storage space they must keep fewer things hanging around, and as a woman I appreciate the simplification of life. In the old days we did not throw things away as soon as they ceased to be actively useful. The chair with one broken leg, though not quite worth fixing was still too good to be thrown away, so up into the attic it went to gather dust for 20 years or so. The Nubian girl's head that was something one could not live without at 12, came down from the wall when one took fine arts at 20, and travelled up attic to sit in the lap of the chair of the broken leg. Bundles of old letters and mementoes—the dance order, the menu, the programme of the amateur play—finally overflowed our bureau drawers and were stowed away in boxes under the eaves. Trunks filled with clothes too much out of style to wear and too good to be given or thrown away stood against the chimney and under the skylight.

To-day the pressure of small space forces us to be more sensible about such things and all that is not actually useful is crowded out of the house into the second hand shop or the ash can or the charity bag.

Common Sense But Not So Much Fun.
And as a sensible person who knows how seldom anything came out of the attic to be put to use again, and as a housekeeper who knows what a job it is to clean out such glory holes and how heavy they lie on the heart if they are uncleaned, I realize that this is common sense and progress.

But as a lover of romance and as a descendant of the child who once spent many happy hours playing in our attic (especially on stormy days when the rain made music on the roof) I mourn for the attic of yesteryear, and pity the child of to-morrow who will never find trunks of old clothes to dress up in and piles of old magazines to browse over, who will never when he grows up have the thrill of dragging down antiques from the attic to help furnish his home, or of retrieving bundles of old letters and reading in them the romance of a past generation.

West of the Water Tower

Starring May McAvoy, Geo. Fawcett, Glen Hunter, Ernest Torrence.

To-day at the Majestic

Doesn't side-step the truth in its revelation of what goes on in a small town. Made from the novel that brought storms of praise from readers, clergymen and newspapers everywhere.

Recognized as the Big Picture Sensation of the year. A picturization of the most widely discussed novel of recent years. A pulsing story of reckless love and its consequences.

concerning the liberation of Kurdistan. Certain members urged acceptance, but the head of the Kurdish Association refused to collaborate with "the sworn enemies of religion and nationality."

Moscow Plots in Turkey

Bolshevik intrigues against Turkey are revealed in police documents published to-day regarding the recent Kurdish revolt.

THE GOOD NEIGHBOR.

WALY MASON

"He was a splendid neighbor," the pastor said to-day, extolling Silas Sabre, who lately passed away. "He had no talents glowing, no great renown he drew, but in his to-and-froting he found some good to do; when men were in disaster he'd come and ploy their soil; he always had a plaster when some one had a boil. If men were pale and drooping beneath misfortune's stings, old Silas came kerwhopping with healing in his wings. But here's the greatest glory in Silas Sabre's crown: He listened to no story that ran a neighbor down. Once, summoned to a marriage, to make two lovers one, I pushed my choo-choo carriage as fast as she could run. A speed cop overtook me and summoned me to court, and all my friends forsook me and called me timhorn sport! A parson pitched for speeding! Was ever such a crime? Men hoped they'd seeme weeding the jail yard for a time. And sundry grouchy deacons insisted I resign, for parsons should be beacons to keep the good in line. But good old Silas Sabre, he was a sight to see, when he went forth to labor with those who roasted me! Then all the grumbling flivvered, canned was the harsh remark, and I was thus delivered from trouble dire and dark. To be a neighbor splendid! What better praise-is there, now that his life is ended, his history laid bare?"

Car Brake Tests

M.P. on Accidents Caused by Unpunctual Women.

A deputation of M.P.'s, headed by Commander Kenworthy (Lib. Central Hull), urged upon the Home Secretary at the House of Commons the necessity for the strict enforcement of the motor speed limit.

Great stress was laid on the danger of motorists who drive quickly over cross-roads, and periodic tests of skill for drivers and tests of braking power on heavy vehicles were advocated.

Capt. Brass, who previously led a deputation of motorists M.P.'s in suggestions for improving the present system of trapping by the police, is also in favour of tests of the braking powers of all cars, and of uniformed policemen on dangerous cross-roads to ensure careful driving.

Sir Gerald Strickland expressed the view that many accidents were caused by unpunctual women, who urged their chauffeurs to hurry so as to make up their own lost time.

The Situation in China

On the shores of the Pacific Ocean, and especially in the neighbourhood of Shanghai, Communist agitation, playing upon local conditions, has led to outbreaks that threaten to render acute a dangerous aspect of the Far Eastern situation. The outbreaks seem to have been inspired in part by anti-Japanese feeling in China—a feeling which may draw some encouragement from recent activities on the part of the American fleet. The American Government is stated to desire the convocation of a new conference to consider the Chinese outlook as soon as the Nine-Power Treaty, which was concluded at Washington in February, 1922, has been its object. For instance, language attributed to the new American Ambassador in London on the subject of Germany and of the union of Germany with Austria, has made an unfortunate impression. However much his previous residence in Berlin may have inclined him to take a German rather than an Allied standpoint, it would be regrettable were he not to understand that there are two sides to every question, and that the bulk of public opinion in this country is emphatically not pro-German in the sense of wishing to close its eyes to German shortcomings; though it is pro-German and Pro-European in the sense of desiring frank and friendly co-operation with and between European nations. Allied and ex-enemy alike, for the advancement of peace and security. As the late Dr. Page discovered, an understanding of English views and instincts has to be acquired by patient observation and by sustained intercourse with all classes of Englishmen. Nothing is easier than for a foreign diplomatist, who may come here with a predisposition in favour of this policy or that, to take it for granted that the feelings of England are what he may wish them to be. Matters, as between Great Britain and France, and Great Britain, France, and Germany, have now been placed upon a footing that promises fruitful developments; and the real friends of Germany are those who seek to persuade her that the firmness of Franco-British policy is by no means disjointed from a fundamental friendliness and a desire to bring Germany back on an equal footing into the family of European nations.

Racial War Feared, Says Missionary

HOBOKEN, N.J., June 27.—(United News)—The world is overshadowed by a war between the races, involving practically all nations, according to the Rev. Dr. John McWilliam, of Toronto, for the last 33 years a missionary in Hang Chow, China.

Dr. McWilliam, who left China two months ago, for a leave of several months, arrived in the United States Friday and expressed grave concern at the situation in the Orient.

"The present situation is the most serious since the Boxer rebellion and more menacing even than that, said the missionary. "We who have lived in China and do not have to depend on cable reports to understand the situation, are keenly aware that the progress of civilization is menaced by a 'war of races.'

"That something must be done at once, is the consensus of opinion among foreigners in China to-day."

Man Was Never Monkey or Ape

DECLARES NOTED VANCOUVER SCIENTIST.

PORTLAND, Oregon, June 22.—(A.P.)—That man never was either monkey or ape and that assumptions to this effect are erroneous and foolish was the declaration of Dr. Charles Hill-Tout, of Vancouver, B.C., Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada, lecturer and author. In his address to the naturalist division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, now in session here.

"We have indisputable records of man which go back before the time of the ape," said Dr. Hill-Tout. "Probably both ape and man came from some former ancestor in the phylogenetic series further back. It is true that we may say that man has ape-like characteristics but it is equally true that the ape has man-like characteristics which does not mean unless interpreted correctly. In fact, nearly all living organisms have points of common likeness.

"The oldest skeleton records of man go back about 500,000 years, but we know that man was relatively high in intelligence two million years before this time. We have found excellent stone tools fashioned that long ago and with which man worked. The ape as yet has no brainpower to make even the most crude implements for his own use."

Dr. Alexander Findley, professor of chemistry at the University of Aberdeen, Scotland, speaking at the closing meeting of the association, said that those who find conflict between religion and science are neither good religionists nor good scientists.

CAREW—KEEFE

A pretty wedding was solemnized at Cape Broyle on Tuesday by Rev. Fr. Greene, when Elizabeth, daughter of Mary and the late (Cap.) J. Keefe, was united to Holy Bonds of Matrimony to Henry, son of Johannah and the late Arthur Carew, Shores Cove, Cape Broyle. The bride was becomingly attired in a navy blue costume with hat and veil to match, and was assisted by her sister, Mrs. M. Tobin. M. J. Cashin ably supported the groom. The young couple are highly esteemed, and we wish Mr. and Mrs. Carew many years of wedded happiness. ONE AT THE CEREMONY.

CLARK—COOK.
Gower St. Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Tuesday evening when Miss Sadie Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Cook, Kings Road, was united in Holy Bonds of Matrimony to Mr. Geo. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Clark, Allendale Road. The bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father, while the wedding march was played by Miss Elsie Talk, the bride's gown was of white crepe de chene and she wore a veil and orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white carnations and lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern. The bridesmaids were Miss Helen Clark, sister of the groom and Miss Marion Cook, cousin of the bride. Their dresses were of pink and blue satin and black picture hats and carried bouquets of pink carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. Richard Cook, brother of the bride.

After the ceremony the wedding party motored to the residence of the bride's uncle, Mr. George Cook, South Side Road, where a buffet lunch was served to some 50 guests. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful presents, including several pieces of gold, showing the esteem in which both were held. Mr and Mrs. Clark left by train for Heart's Content, where the honeymoon will be spent. Their many friends wish them every happiness.

Osteopathic's Convention in Toronto

Toronto, Ont., July 2.—"A great deal of deafness is due to improperly fitting teeth or jaws and not to anything the matter with the ears at all," said Dr. Jerome M. Watters, of Newark, N.J., in his presidential address, opening the annual convention of the American Osteopathic Society of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology, here this morning. "This society is opening a four-day convention which will be followed next week by the international convention of the osteopathic profession." After that there will be a group of osteopathic physicians will visit Scotland, England and France.

Now as to this theory of deafness, said Dr. Watters. If you will put your little finger into your ear and open and close your mouth, you will get a better idea than you would from a quotation from the technical language he used.

Improperly fitted artificial teeth may force the lower jaw back some distance. The same effect may be produced by fear on natural teeth or by malformation of the jaw. Dr. Watters' subject was: "The relation of dentistry to head conditions."

Another interesting thing he said was "Never take out a child's tonsils and adenoids to cure mouth breathing without first examining to see that the lower jaw fits properly against the upper."

Other mouth conditions affecting hearing, according to Dr. Watters are impacted third molars, abscessed roots and unfilled cavities— even in cases which do not seem to be giving any trouble.

"Don't let your patients' teeth be pulled promiscuously because it's hard to find out what's the matter," he warned. "Fight to a finish to save teeth if in your judgment they should be saved." But on the other hand, he insisted on a thorough examination and on elimination of things that cause trouble.

Dr. E. P. Millard, of Toronto, was another speaker on the programme. "When the sinuses fill like reservoirs, look well to the drainage tubes or channels below," he said. The sinuses are hollow spaces within the bones of the jaws, cheeks and skull and a great deal of discomfort and disease is caused by their congestion. They are drained chiefly by the lymphatic system.

One of the many causes of headache may be disease of these same sinuses, according to Dr. E. C. Brann, of Wichita, Kansas. He showed how very small are the openings through which these sinuses drain and how easily they may be blocked up, which is one of the many possible causes of their making trouble.

Dr. L. S. Larimore, of Kansas City discussed the use of the X-ray for predicting the duration and outcome of diseases in the sinuses, and said that an important part of this work was an X-ray examination of nearby teeth.

Dr. Glen S. Moore, of Chicago, editor of the official journal of the organization, spoke on "Errors of Refraction in Relation to Suboccipital Pain."

Dr. Carl Johnson, of Louisville, Ky., demonstrated methods of making osteopathic adjustment in the neck and upper spinal region with the patient seated on a stool.

Dr. Kent L. Seaman, of Fort Wayne Indiana, urged the use of a general rather than local anaesthetic in removing tonsils.

All day yesterday, the opening day of the convention, the osteopathic physicians were busy examining patients in the clinic, and in many cases operating. Although osteopathic physicians are thoroughly trained in surgery and apply it whenever necessary, it was noticed that in most of the early stages, conservative osteopathic adjustment was recommended rather than the removal of structures.

Which Tap Are You Like?

When you go to wash your hands you sometimes turn on both taps to find out which is hot and which is cold. At first both may be exactly the same. But soon the water from one begins to become warmer and by and by comes out red hot. The contrast between the two then is very great. Many people, including many employees and many employers, are like water taps; you can't tell right away how they are going to turn out. Two young men may enter an organization equally equipped in the matter of health and education. At the start the employer notes little or no difference between them. After a while, however, one begins to show more enthusiasm, more ability, more aptitude than the other. As time passes the difference between them becomes as great as the difference between hot and cold water.

In the one case the young man has been exerting himself to the utmost both at work and by study during his own time to fit himself for more important tasks and responsibilities. There burns in him ambition to qualify for advancement. In the other case the young man has no white-hot enthusiasm, no unquenchable determination to get on. He fritters away his evenings. Towards his work he is stone-cold.

Our Dumb Animals

Report Chief Agent S.P.A. For Week Ending July 3rd, 1925.

Called by the police about a horse which was lying down in the old railway yard; it belonged to J. Diamond, truckman. I found the horse in a very sick condition, sent for Dr. Bishop who did all that was possible to do for it. After a time we got it home where it perished next morning. Attended to two car loads sheep for the Harris Abattoir Co. The sheep were all in good condition and well cared for; also thirty (30) head cattle, and thirty-five (35) sheep, and ten (10) lambs at A. E. Hickman Company's. I wish to thank Capt. Snelgrove and Mr. Henry, who took such an interest in seeing that the animals were well cared for. I put to death a very valuable horse for a resident of the West End, the horse had been suffering from a disease very prevalent among horses. It was attended by a Veterinary Surgeon, but the disease had taken too great a hold on the animal. Put to death a dog, belonging to a lady on Lime Street, which had killed some poultry. Put to death another at the head of Mundy Pond and another on Summer Street. Received a long letter from a resident of the East End,

The Prince of Wales Meet a Newfoundland-lander in Nigeria

During the visit of his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales to Kano, Northern Nigeria, amongst those presented to him were Capt. R. and Mrs. Oke, formerly of St. John's. They were invited by the Government of Nigeria to Kano, and were present at the dance, Durbar, and other festivities held in honor of the visit of his Royal Highness. Capt. Oke holds a high and responsible position in the Civil Service, and his military career in the army was such as to merit well-deserved promotion, and reflect the highest honor on himself, his parents, our people and our country. Mr. and Mrs. John C. Oke, the well-known citizens of St. John's, may well feel proud of their son, and so say we all.

Voyaging Through Space

In figures that dazzle the imagination by their magnitude, a doctor of science, in the Daily Express, computes the speed at which we earth-borns travel—with the earth rotating on its own axis at a speed of a thousand miles an hour, or voyaging round the sun at a speed of more than a thousand miles a minute. The earth has five other movements, none of which is perceptible to the senses: With the sun and moon and the whole planetary system the earth is moving through space at a speed of 64,800 miles per hour. Precisely where this movement is leading our solar system astronomers are not prepared to say. The general view is that we are following an orbit of incalculable immensity round another great central sun whose position is unknown to us, and that other planetary systems, possibly far greater and more extensive than ours, and not yet definitely revealed even by the largest and finest telescopes, are following the same path. All that we know is that in the vastness of space there are a thousand million suns and an unguessable number of dark bodies which may be planets like the earth, or may be dead worlds like the moon, or may be something which the finite and earth-tied imagination of man is wholly unable to conceive.

The Metropolitan Police of Great Britain

Expenditures on account of the metropolitan police of Great Britain in the year 1924-25 amounted to £7,227,000, according to information received by Bankers Trust Company from its British Information Service. The principal items were: £5,071,000 for pay, clothing and equipment of the force, and £1,447,000 for pensions.

The number of persons belonging to the metropolitan police force in the year 1924-25 was 19,960, dividend as follows:

Six Chief Constables, whose salaries ranged from £500 to £1000 per annum; 35 Superintendents, with salaries ranging from £550 to £700 per annum; 651 Inspectors, with salaries of from £236 to £543 per annum; 2986 Sergeants, with salaries ranging from £260 to £320 per annum; 12,732 Constables, with salaries ranging from £132 to £258.

Each class of men is entitled to certain allowances, for instance the chief constables have a boot allowance of 1s per week, 28 superintendents receive £20 a year for uniform and clothing, 7 receive 15s per week detective allowance and £18 per annum for plain clothes allowance. All men below the grade of superintendent have an allowance for clothing and boots, and also a detective allowance. There are also allowances for rent and taxes to married men for whom no quarters are provided, and allowances are made for special service, including 3s per week to C.I. shorthand writers.

The revenues from which these expenses are met come partly from the national government and partly from local taxation, and other miscellaneous sources including some £153,000 received for services of the police specially employed, as for example those employed at the British Museum, House of Lords, House of Commons, War Office, Yards, Hospitals, and Royal Naval College.

Graduation Exercise

AT ST. BRIDE'S COLLEGE, LITTLEDALE.

On Monday last, Graduation Day at St. Bride's College, Littledale, the pupils presented a very pleasing entertainment in honor of the Tenth Anniversary of His Grace the Archbishop's consecration. Amongst the large number of visitors present on the occasion were Rt. Rev. Monsignor McDermott, V.G., and many of the clergy from the city and suburban parishes. Mrs. Walter Monroe, wife of the Prime Minister, Miss Cherrington, Principal of Bishop Spencer College, Dr. V. P. Burke, Deputy Minister of Education, Rev. Dr. Curtis, Superintendent of Methodist Schools and Dr. W. W. Blackall, Superintendent of C. of E. Schools.

The programme, consisting of an Address, Operetta, "The Epheant Rose," Valedictory, read by Miss M. Roche, Vocal Quartette (Misses Lynch, Roche, White and Abbott), Orchestral Selections by Misses O'Connor, Roche, Abbott, Fenny, Power and Cantwell, and a chorus "Away to the Woods," by the class, was very charmingly rendered. The music for the occasion was under the direction of Miss T. Power, A.T.C.L., who was assisted by Miss Cantwell and Mr. Cronin. The singing of the different members of the Operetta was very tuneful, whilst the action throughout was well sustained, each performer suiting "the action to the word and the word to the action." Those taking part were: Miss M. P. Kennedy (King Merryheart), Miss M. Casey (Queen Truelove), Miss M. Roche (Prince Braveheart), Miss A. Lynch (Princess Charming), Miss E. Barrett (Spotlall), the Wicked Fairy, Miss I. Warren (Rosebud, the Fairy Queen), Miss M. E. Kennedy (Phunny the Jester), Miss A. Kent (Lord Chastabertain), Rose Fairies, Fays, Attendants, Courtiers, Maidens and the populace.

Before the close of the Entertainment His Grace the Archbishop addressed the pupils, thanking them for their address and entertainment. He congratulated the Sisters and the pupils on the excellence of the programme just rendered which, although little time was given on account of the Examinations just over, was up to the usual high standard of entertainments given by the pupils of St. Bride's College. The examinations for which they had recently sat, were not the only test of their work in the College, but he was confident that when the results were announced their work in those also would be satisfactory to their teachers and friends. He had a special word to say to the Graduates who were that day leaving College to go out into the world. A great deal was expected of them, and he felt that they would be true to the lessons they had learned in the College and would put them into practice in those larger spheres of influence in which they might move. That they realized these problems he could see from the Valedictory just read, and it was the hope and prayer of their friends that they would do credit to their College in whatever portion of the country they might live. He was pleased to see amongst the visitors, Mrs. Walter Monroe, wife of the Prime Minister, Miss Cherrington, Principal of Bishop Spencer College, a sister institution, Rev. Dr. Curtis, Superintendent of Methodist Schools, Dr. W. W. Blackall, Superintendent of C. of E. Schools and Dr. Burke, Deputy Minister of Education. His Grace concluded by asking Drs. Curtis, Blackall and Burke to say a few words to the pupils. They briefly addressed the gathering adding words of a congratulatory nature to what the Archbishop had already said of the excellent entertainment which they had been privileged to witness. It was a pleasure for them to visit such an institution where so many of the girls of Newfoundland were receiving a training in culture and learning and where they had the care of such devoted teachers as the Sisters of St. Bride's College.

The names of those to whom the Graduating Diploma of the College was awarded were: Misses Mary Doyle, Mary Cooke, Mary Barrett, Mary Wiseman, Irene McCarthy, Annie McCormack, Barbara Abbott, Mary Flynn, Mary Gillis, Bride Connolly, Fanny Marshall, Lottie Collins and Kathleen Dunne.

A gold piece, presented by the Very Rev. P. J. O'Brien, for General Good Conduct, was awarded, by vote of the pupils, to Miss Mary Roche.

The Veteran

An advance copy of the Veteran, which will be on sale to-morrow, is on our desk, and throughout, it reflects great credit on the Editorial Committee, not only because of the general excellence of the magazine, but because it is replete with information and anecdotes of interest to tourists. In addition there is an exhaustive treatise on the Labrador Boundary Question, poems by such well known writers as the late Archbishop Howley, Miss Florence Miller, A. J. Carroll, a serial story by G. A. England, and several pages devoted to matters of particular interest to the G.W.V.A. In complimenting the management on the issue, we feel certain that the Veteran will be in great demand as soon as it is available by the public.

The Athanasian Creed

LAYMEN REMOVE DAMNATORY WORDS.

The House of Laity of the Church of England resumed consideration of the Revised Prayer Book at Westminster, on the 15th of June.

Mr. C. Marston, Lichfield, proposed to leave out from the Athanasian Creed the words, "which faith, except a man keep whole and undefiled, without doubt he shall perish eternally."

He said he wanted to take out of it the most terrible sentence which he believed had ever appeared in all history. And this in a book which pretends to supply the gospel of salvation of sinners.

He was only proposing to do in spiritual matters what had already been done in earthly matters. They no longer sent earthly heretics to the flames of Smithfield; why were they consigning them to far worse flames?

Mr. J. T. Cohen (London) seconded. Sir Edward Clarke, K.C., said the Athanasian Creed had spoiled the happiness of services for him on the great festivals of the Church for years and years.

"I have never said it," he added, "and would never dream of saying it. It has been a distress to me to hear choirs singing at the top of their voices these awful words, which I do not believe, and which I am sure ought not to be in our service."

Sir Robert Williams said he thought it was quite time the laity made their protest against the use of these damnatory clauses.

Mr. Marston's proposal was carried, but the question will come up again before the House for final approval. The House adjourned.

The present Prayer Book version reads: "They that have done good shall go into life everlasting; and they that have done evil into everlasting fire. This is the Catholic Faith: which except a man believe faithfully he cannot be saved."

Two Pupils of Newark School Have Leprosy

Drastic Measures Taken to Prevent Spread of the Dread Disease.

NEWARK, N.J., June 25.—The Board of Education here last night took drastic measures to protect children at the Avon Avenue school where two pupils were yesterday found to be suffering from leprosy. This came after eight teachers of the school threatened to resign unless preventative steps were taken. As a result 1500 school books were ordered destroyed and all rooms and corridors in the school thoroughly fumigated to prevent spread of the disease.

Meanwhile Hale and Frank George, 11 and 13, respectively, are at Soho isolation hospital while their home has been ordered closed. In view of the fact that the father is not a United States citizen, having come from Bermuda about six years ago, Federal authorities are taking a hand in the case and it is stated will probably deport the entire family.

The two boys suffering from the malady will be sent to the leper colony at Carrville, La.

New Wireless Marvels

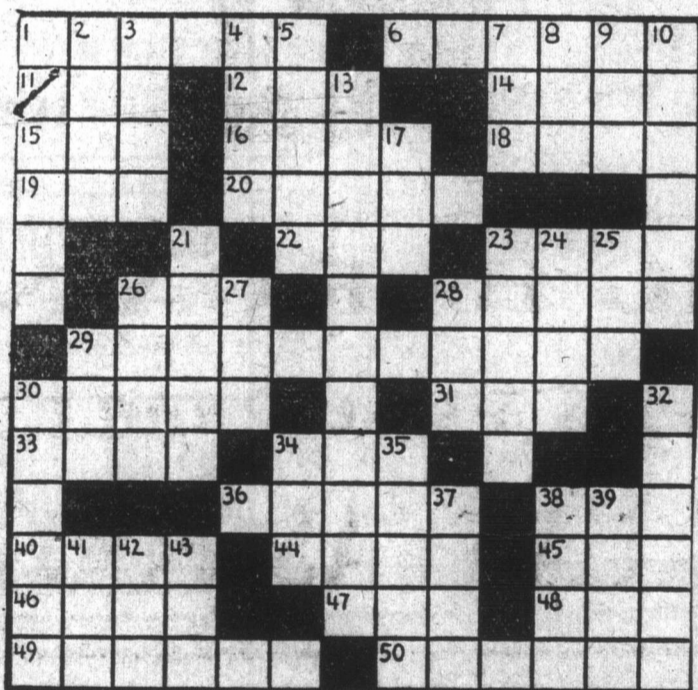

Senator Marconi, in the Wireless Magazine, opens up a vista of tremendous possibilities from the newly discovered properties of short electric waves:

I am now firmly convinced that the day is fast approaching when beam stations, using short waves end employing a fraction of the power utilized in the present high-power stations, in with much lower and fewer masts, will be able to carry on communication at practically any time between any two points of the earth's surface. We may be on the threshold of a day when broadcasting also will have its range enormously increased. Within a year or two the voice of the King of England, for example, may be easily and clearly heard by millions of his subjects as far apart as India, Australia, Canada, and South Africa.

French Trade Surplus of Exports Over Imports

The official figures concerning France's foreign trade during April last as compiled by the French customs authorities and transmitted to the Bankers Trust Company of New York by its French Information Service, reveal a surplus of exports over imports of 568,778,000 francs. This figure represents an increase of 51,232,000 francs over the figure for the favorable balance for February.

Exports for the month were 3,557,744,000 francs and imports were 3,050,968,000 francs. Exports show a decrease of 204,500,000 francs over the month of March and of 459,442,000 francs over April of 1924. Imports are 255,732,000 francs lower than in March of this year and 222,241,000 francs lower than in April of last year.

Calculated by weight, France's imports and exports during April this year show a decrease of 289,402 tons and 410,933 tons respectively as compared with March.

For the first four months of 1925 French exports totalled 14,477,664,000 francs as against 14,990,141,000 in the same month of 1924 while imports totalled 12,876,608,000 francs in 1925 as against 13,490,347,000 in 1924. The excess of exports was 1,601,056,000 francs in 1925 and 1,499,794,000 in 1924.

France's trade with the United States is growing in value as regards imports but shows a decrease in exports, according to French official trade figures for the first four months of the present year. These figures indicate that France imported 2,208,070,000 francs worth of goods from the United States as against 2,199,568,000 francs worth during the same period last year. This increase places the United States at the head of those countries exporting goods to France, the second place being held by Great Britain whose exports to France for the period January 1 to April 30 of this year totalled 1,562,491,000 francs as against 1,785,292,000 francs for the corresponding period last year.

An analysis of the figure representing France's exports shows however, according to advice received by the Bankers Trust Company that the United States holds only the fourth place on the list of countries importing goods from France, coming after Great Britain, Belgium and Germany with purchases having a total value of 1,043,029,000 francs for the first four months of this year as against 1,251,573,000 francs for the first four months of this year as against 1,851,573,000 francs for the first four months of last year.

The First Official Visit

OF THE VICE-REGAL PARTY TO TREPASSEY.

His Excellency the Governor and Lady Allardice arrived here by special train on Friday, June 28th. On Saturday Trepassey was en fête with flags flying from the principal houses. At 8 p.m. His Excellency and Lady Allardice arrived at the Parish Hall and were received with salvos of guns and cheers from the attendant residents. At the entrance of the hall His Excellency and lady were met by Dr. Giovannetti, the resident magistrate, and Mrs. Giovannetti, and conducted to the seat of honour. The hall was quickly filled by a large representative body of citizens, in which the ladies occupied a prominent part. An address of welcome to His Excellency was then presented by the Magistrate, expressing sentiments of deep loyalty to His Majesty the King and to His Excellency as his gracious representative. The address was artistically engraved by Sr. Teresa of the Presentation Convent, Trepassey. The Governor expressed his appreciation of the beautiful way it was illuminated.

In reply he stated how pleased he was to visit the ancient and loyal settlement of Trepassey. He briefly referred to its colonization by Sir William Vaughan in 1617 and the nomenclature of Trepassey referred to in the Magistrate's address as Trepassey, meaning three passages, was further elaborated upon by the Governor, who said the name given it by Sir Wm. Vaughan was Golden Grove, in remembrance of his old home in the motherland.

His Excellency referred to the many phases of industrial life at the present time. The new modes and methods that are every day applied to our industries, and said that if we wished to be abreast of the times we had to abandon the old and put on the new, thus qualifying ourselves to compete with the ever changing conditions of social and commercial life.

He said, to-day, in a moment, you can speak with the city of St. John's by telephone, in a moment you can communicate with all parts of the world, not only by cable but by wireless. You can sit in your homes in Trepassey and listen to some of the best musical entertainments in America and to speeches of some of the greatest men of to-day. That is where science has brought us, and this being so, it beholds us to be up and doing and avail ourselves to the full of all these modern improvements which go to lighten the burden of life.

In conclusion His Excellency said, "I summarize our duty in three words: For God, for King and for Country. It is up to that standard we shall not only be carrying out the traditions of our ancestors, who have given us such a glorious heritage, but we also will be taking our place in the great progressive movement which is enlightening our great Empire, over which the sun never sets."

At the conclusion of His Excellency's speech Lady Allardice was called upon to preside at the meeting, which she did in a most graceful, eloquent and dignified manner. It was the first time in the history of Trepassey that the Governor's lady, or in fact any lady, had addressed a public meeting. "It was unique in its way and was highly appreciated by the large audience, but most especially by the boys, who seemed to realize it was a new epoch in their lives. Her address was uplifting and her advice on the various aspects of home life was most inspiring. She was eloquent to a degree because of her sincerity, and the most humble present seemed to be capable of appreciating all she said. Apart from the fact of her being the first lady in the land, her talk to the women was so natural, so comprehensive and full of suggestions for the betterment of home life that its appeal went straight to the heart, and there is no doubt it will be fruitful in future. Bursts of applause greeted her at the conclusion. The audience then arose and, as with one voice, sang God Save the King.

The Vice-Regal party then proceeded to the Magistrate's home and were most hospitably entertained by his good lady and himself. The day was fine, the evening beautiful and this was brought to a close a day of historic importance in the lives of the people of Trepassey.

On Sunday afternoon at 8 o'clock the Vice-Regal party visited the good Sisters of the Presentation Convent, and after social amenities had been exchanged His Excellency, Lady Allardice and suite visited the girls' school and were received by some fifty happy and smiling children who, immediately on His Excellency's arrival, poured forth their joy and gladness in a hymn of welcome, which was followed by an address expressive of their appreciation of the high honour paid the school by a visit from His Excellency, bidding them a welcome to Trepassey, conveying their loyalty as school children to our Most Gracious Majesty and to His Excellency as his representative, and wishing him and his good lady all happiness and success. The visit was concluded by the singing of the National Anthem, after which our beautiful church was visited by the party. The boys' school was then visited and another address of welcome was presented containing expressions of

Charming Ladies

Invariably use Three Flowers toilet requisites. They are supreme. The last word in fashion. The dainty odor of THREE FLOWERS, fragrant with the most appealing scent, will immediately single out the user. It is a mark of good taste to use Three Flowers. Cheap powders and creams may have done once upon a time, but today, women want the best! No lady would care to indulge in the use of inferior cosmetics. Both the Cream and Powder in Three Flowers are excellent aids to a beautiful complexion. July 21

Man's Blood Gift

44 Transfusions for Hospital in Five Years—Made Life Governor. The devotion of a man who on forty-four occasions had given a pint of his blood for patients was referred to by Lord Knutsford at a meeting of the London General Hospital.

In five years, he said, the volunteer, Mr. B. Tibble, had attended hospital on seventy-two occasions in readiness in case of need.

The hospital had always paid volunteers five guineas for their services, but Mr. Tibble, although a poor man, had always refused to accept payment.

In order to express their thanks the committee appointed Mr. Tibble a life governor.

A gift of 10,000 pounds from Mr. Bernhard Baron, for a new pathological department, was announced.

What is the Use of Living?

What is the use of living when a woman gets up in the morning as tired as when she went to bed at night, with headache, backache, dragging-down pains, nervous, irritable and despondent? These are all symptoms of ailments peculiar to her sex which make life a burden. Every woman in this condition should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a good old-fashioned remedy made from roots and herbs. It contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and for fifty years has been restoring women to health and strength and the joys of living.

Walking "Speak Easy"

PACKS 200 HIGHBALLS IN GLASS CYLINDERS.

NEW YORK, June 22.—(A.P.)—A "walking speak-easy" is vying with the New York Giants as a drawing card at the Polo Grounds, a police investigation has disclosed.

Serving ready-made highballs from an improvised Mexican cartridge belt at 25 cents a "shot" the bootlegger has been doing a big business among baseball fans, according to the police, who have been unable to capture him.

The belt is said to contain 200 highballs, which are served in individual glass cylinders.

Rotary Luncheon

At yesterday's luncheon of the St. John's Rotary Club, Rotarian Gerald Harvey introduced C. E. A. Jeffery, Editor of the Evening Telegram, who gave a most interesting address in connection with the "Clean Up" campaign which is at present being inaugurated. Mr. Jeffery's address is as follows:—

Mr. Chairman,
My intention in accepting an invitation to address your Club on the matter of cleaning and beautifying St. John's is to seek your co-operation and to receive suggestions, rather than to submit to you a cut and dried plan of campaign. To beautify it means that it will have a more stimulating and elevating effect on all of us; cleaner, it will be healthier, and by improving its appearance generally, we shall awaken among ourselves a civic pride and make it a place which will appeal to rather than offend the senses of those who from time to time visit our shores.

If in describing the town at present as ragged, tattered, slovenly, neglected, dirty, I trust that no one will be offended at the blunt terms, which in fact could be even blunter without in any way exaggerating the actual conditions. On the other hand, its approach from the land side or from the sea, is picturesque and striking and the scenic effect from such a viewpoint as Signal Hill never fails to evoke the greatest admiration of the spectator even though the view is by no means new to him.

In brief, gentlemen, we have one of the most beautiful homes in the world which we ourselves have been guilty of disfiguring, and it is up to ourselves to acknowledge our sins of omission and commission, and as resolutely to set about rectifying the wrong, as a man would who discovers that he has been neglecting a principle vital to the success of his business, or practicing in the bosom of his family methods which are fatal to their health and happiness.

How can such a radical alteration in the appearance of the city, and again to speak plainly, in the habits of many of the citizens, be brought about? I for one do not believe that people can be made, in these democratic days at any rate, to adopt clearly habits by law any more than I believe they can by law be compelled to be temperate. Both the one and the other are moral issues, and the desire for better conditions must be brought about by moral suasion. Moses, it is true, could force the Israelites to observe the ordinary rules of decency, but they were demoralized by years of slavery, broken in spirit, ignorant and devoid of any of the elevating virtues. We can plead no such handicaps. We are educated at least in all essential matters; we have a national spirit, right to us is right, and wrong, wrong; we have opportunities to read of, or to see places where conditions are different, and above all we are in possession of all the privileges of the freest and fairest form of democracy that the world has ever seen. If we are to change existing conditions, it must be of our own will and accord, through action decided upon and taken by ourselves because of conviction that such action is vital.

With such ideas I have made some attempt through the Telegram to awaken public interest in one of the first steps to be taken by individuals in this direction, namely, to paint and beautify generally with the premises. I have begun with the individual, because I feel convinced that when they have made such an effort, they will not be content to allow the civic authorities to fail to do their share. It is not as I have already said with the idea of outlining a plan of campaign to carry the movement through that I am addressing the Rotary Club, but rather in the hope of hearing their suggestions, and securing their co-operation in organizing the movement.

In many towns of America, such campaigns have been successfully conducted, and with most of them Rotary has been prominently identified. Rotary here I know has many matters of public interest on its hands, and in suggesting that it should assume this further responsible task I am reminded of the rooster, which having rolled an ostrich egg into the chicken coop, remarked to the hen, "I do not wish you to think I am dissatisfied with what you are doing, but I just want you to see what is being done elsewhere." Gentlemen, the City owes much to your Club, and I feel that to ensure the success to the movement which is to be launched, the active participation by Rotary is essential to success.

Roughly I have sketched what I think must be in such a campaign the chain of responsibility. No doubt further consideration will improve and amplify it. Here it is:—
Organizing Unit—Rotary Club.
Educational Units—Press, Pulpit, Movies, Schools, Radios, Brigades, Girl Guides, Boy Scouts, Child Welfare Association.
Directing Units—Municipal Council, Constabulary, Unions, Government.
Working Units—All Citizens.

In conclusion I may say that I have interviewed the various firms handling paint and other renovating materials and implements, and their ready response has proved the greatest encouragement to go ahead. One word and I am finished. This is not a campaign which may be completed in a week or a month. To be a success the slogan must be "Clean Up, Paint Up and Keep on Cleaning Up, until St. John's reflects in its appearance the sterling characteristics of the people of the Oldest Colony."
Mr. Jeffery was accorded a hearty vote of thanks for his timely and practical address.

Included in the guests were Capt. Olsen and C. E. Hudson of Montreal.

An Opportunity to Earn 375% PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT IN ITALIAN GOVERNMENT 5% BONDS
★With an Attractive Interest Yield

AN INVESTMENT made to-day in Italian Government 5% Bonds (Consolidated Loan of 1920) presents an unusual opportunity for profit on any advance in the value of Italian money (lire). Profits up to over 375% on the principal alone may be realized.

Italian Government 5% Bonds, as a result of the depreciation of the Italian lira, can now be bought for $41.00 per 1,000 lire (19.3 cents per lire) these bonds would have a value of $195.00 (1,000 lire Bond) 10 cents before very long. International banks, which the Italian lira will sell for 10 cents before very long. Bond will have a value of $100.00—every $41.00 invested to-day will have earned $59.00, almost 150% profit. When the lira reaches 15 cents every 1,000 lire Bond will be worth $150.00—every $41.00 invested to-day will have earned $109.00, more than 265% profit.

Italian Government 5% Bonds (Callable at option of Government after 1931) are the best medium through which to purchase Italian lire for maximum profits. These bonds represent to Italians precisely what British Government Consols and Canadian Government Victory Bonds represent to us, i.e., legal investments for Trust Funds and Savings Banks. They constitute a strictly high-grade gilt-edged government investment.

Italian Government 5% Bonds may be sold again instantly as they are listed on the Italian Stock Exchange and traded in throughout the financial centres of the world. They are exempt from all present or future Italian taxation. Interest coupons are payable January and July 1st, and can be cashed in Montreal, New York and London, through this house, banks or other financial institutions; each interest coupon is valid for 5 years from its maturity date, thus permitting conversion at any time exchange rates may be favorable.

Italian Government 5% Bonds will unquestionably come back to normal ($193.00 per 1,000 lire Bond). The financial history of the world affords numerous instances wherein Government Bonds depreciated temporarily in value only to regain their losses during periods of recuperation. The United States were on the verge of bankruptcy after the Civil War; their securities could be bought for a mere fraction of their normal value, yet in a few years the Americans were on their financial feet again and to-day are considered the richest nation in the world.

The aftermath of the Franco-Prussian War is within the memory of living men. The French people were compelled to pay heavy indemnities to Germany; the finances of the country were in a sorry state; French Government Bonds sold down to 7% of their normal value. They appeared hopeless—yet in a few years they had recovered 95% of their normal value, bringing fortunes to those who have bought them at a small fraction of their normal value.

Even Great Britain once faced what seemed to be a financial catastrophe. With Napoleon virtually pounding at her gates, British Bonds sank steadily in value but the Victory at Waterloo sent prices sky-rocketing. The Rothschilds, for many generations the richest family in the world, accumulated the major portion of their wealth by investing in British Government Bonds and selling them when Wellington's victory was proclaimed.

These precedents support our contentions that (1) The most difficult thing in the world to destroy is national existence; (2) When millions of men and populations of nations lend their collective efforts to the task, nothing is impossible; and (3) That the greatest fortunes were made by those investors who in times of pronounced political and financial darkness possessed enough grit and enterprise to enter the markets as purchasers of Government Bonds when they went begging for buyers. History will repeat itself—Italian Government 5% Bonds at their present price indisputably present a life-time opportunity to reap handsome profits.

The Kingdom of Italy ranks among the first-class military, naval, and commercial powers of the world. With an enterprising population of 41 millions, her industries show a remarkably rapid recovery and expansion since the close of the war. Foreign trade figures, recently made public, record wide improvement in all branches of her economic life.

Reparation payments from Germany, under the Dawes Plan are further enhancing the Italian Treasury. An official statement covering receipts from Germany and payments to the Allies and powers to February last shows Italy as having received $7,192,577 Gold Marks—close to 10 Million Dollars for the first six months.

The expansion of territory as a result of the peace treaties has added considerably to the natural resources of the Italian nation. Her investments abroad reach a large figure, moreover, she receives a large revenue annually through remittances of her nationals in foreign lands, and this income has been reliably estimated at close to One Hundred Million Dollars annually.

All of these conditions are being reflected in a steadily improving rate for the Italian lira, which improvement in turn enhances the value of Italian Government 5% Bonds. These Bonds, at their present price, are a genuine investment bargain. We urge immediate action, otherwise what is a great opportunity to-day may be diminished to-morrow by the rise of the lira. The return of the Gold Standard in Great Britain cannot do otherwise than exert a favorable effect on the currencies of other countries and this is particularly true of Italy for economic reasons too exhaustive to discuss here. In view of this fact, therefore, the only safe procedure is to BUY TO-DAY!

Table of Present Prices and Future Values: As the Lira rises the value of these Bonds will increase as follows:—

Denominations	Present Price	With Lira at
		10 Cents	15 Cents	Par (19.3c.)
1,000 Lire Italian Government 5% Bonds...	$ 41.	$ 100.	$ 150.	$ 193.
2,000 Lire Italian Government 5% Bonds...	82.	200.	300.	386.
5,000 Lire Italian Government 5% Bonds...	205.	500.	750.	965.
10,000 Lire Italian Government 5% Bonds...	410.	1,000.	1,500.	1,930.
25,000 Lire Italian Government 5% Bonds...	1,025.	2,500.	3,750.	4,825.
50,000 Lire Italian Government 5% Bonds...	2,050.	5,000.	7,500.	9,650.
100,000 Lire Italian Government 5% Bonds...	4,100.	10,000.	15,000.	19,300.

★Tax-Exempt Interest Income
Each bond of 10,000 lire yields an income of 500 lire per annum. At the present rate of the lira, holders of Italian Government 5% bonds, receive interest at the rate of 5% per annum.

With the lira rising to 10 cents (or $100 per 1,000 lire) the holder of 10,000 lire Italian Government 5% Bonds will receive $50 in Canadian money for each 500 lire yearly interest income, being equivalent to over 12% interest return for his investment of $410.

With the lira quoted at 15 cents (or $150 per 1,000 lire) every 500 lire will be worth $75.00 in Canadian currency; this return represents an interest rate of OVER 18% on the original investment of $410.

With the lira at par (19.3 cents or $193. per 1,000 lire) the ANNUAL INTEREST in Canadian currency will be $96.50 for every 500 lire invested. This return is equivalent to an interest rate of OVER 23% on the original investment of $410.

The investor can follow the trend of the lira through the financial columns of the press. He is thus constantly informed on the behaviour of his bonds.

As remarked elsewhere, the investor does not have to cash his interest coupons as soon as they fall due. Each interest coupon is valid for five years after redemption date. This enables the holder to dispose of them at any time during that period.

The most important fact to remember, however, is that the PRINCIPAL INCREASES IN VALUE AS WELL AS THE INTEREST COUPONS, as the lira rises.
It is obvious that these high grade, attractive, gilt-edged bonds of the Italian Government will not be available at present prices for long. You must act quickly.

Little Jack Rabbit by David Cory
Uncle Dave has often told his stories to happy, wistful children. Then hurrying into the kitchen, he came back in a few minutes with a glass as big as a pail and a pitcher larger than a flower waterpot.

"What shall I do for lunch," sighed Little Jack Rabbit, looking into the face of the Ragged Rabbit Giant, who was sitting beside him, holding the Yellow Bird on his great forefinger.

"Knapsack empty?" enquired the big man, with a chuckle.

"Nothing but a dried raisin and a lollipop stick," answered the bunny boy.

"Dreadful, eh?" murmured the giant. "Maybe I should not have said murmured, for even when a giant speaks in a low voice it sounds like distant thunder. 'How would you like to come to my castle for a bite? Guess there's something in the lollipop,' and without waiting for the bunny boy's answer, the big man carefully placed the little rabbit in his coat pocket and started to climb up the mountainside.

How the rocks and stones, loosened by his big shoes, rolled and rattled down the steep path. But the big giant kept right on without stubbing his toe and by and by, after a while and a great big smile, he unlocked his front door with a key as large as an anchor and set the bunny boy down in an easy chair as wide as three pianos placed close together, one at the back and two at the sides. "There, you just wait till I look about," and with the pretty Yellow Bird perched on his shoulder, the big man walked into his kitchen. In a few minutes he returned with an apple pie as large around as a carriage wheel and two buns each as big as a pillow. "Guess we won't starve," he chuckled, setting them on the table, which was as wide as the platform of a high school auditorium, from which, dear little readers, your

"So have I," agreed the Ragged Rabbit Giant. "But I'll find it again, and so will you, so don't feel sad and don't get blue."

"Sorry to leave you, but Mother will be waiting for me at the little gate in the white picket fence," all of a sudden cried the little bunny. "Thank you for all you've done for me," and away he hopped into the next story.

THE QUICK AND GENTLE WAY TO END A CORN

Could you confess a Corn without embarrassment?
There isn't anything unbecoming in one's desire to hide a corn. A corn is unbecoming. One feels instinctively that it is not a possession a well-bred woman should have. A dainty woman will not tolerate a corn. She is so careful of her feet as of her face. She feels that it is unpardonable to neglect those parts of her body which are usually unobserved. A woman who has a corn is not a woman. But it is bad form to keep one. Especially when Science has provided the way to get rid of it so easily, surely and pleasantly. 45,000 druggists have Blue-jay.

TWENTY-ONE.

The years are long as you look ahead, but short when you've lived them through.

And the yesterday's in the past lie dead.

And gone are their pleasures, too, for the joys to be seen far away, and swiftly they join with some yesterday.

And youth looks out with an anxious eye, the great world's changing stage, and it longs to share, as the days go by.

In the care of the older men; but age leans back with a grin and cries: "How swift is time and how soon it flies!"

Youth says slowly the long years drift and age in the goal to gain, but the old man tells you the years are swift.

And sharp with the touch of pain, for yesterday's child who romped in play, is a man, full-grown for the world to-day.

Twenty-one! Oh, it cannot be. For counting the long years, I see a few short months in the past, I see when I romped with him on the floor.

A bright glad boyhood and college then, and now he stands in the ranks of men.

"WEST OF THE WATER TOWER," A GRIPPING STORY.

A jewel of priceless value, a human story, so big, so vital, so full of pathos and human interest and dramatic suspense is the Paramount production, "West of the Water Tower," starring Glenn Hunter which has its premiere at the Majestic Theatre last night. The picture is based on a successful novel by Homer Croly.

Mr. Hunter is one of the biggest players on the screen. Ernest Torrence as his father, wins new laurels. George Fawcett, as the girl's father, and May McAvoy as the girl, have made new history as far as remarkable performances on the screen are concerned. And Zasu Pitts, as the other girl does a perfect bit of acting. The minor players, too, are excellent, including Charles Abbe, Anne Kober, Kirby Hatch, Allen Baker and Jack Terry.

The story is "The Miracle Man," "Over the Hill," and "Mimosee," rolled into one. It is the tale of a tragedy, grim, real-of the rapid rise to favor and decline of Junction City's prize smart boy, portrayed as only Glenn Hunter can do it.

There is nothing sensational in the makeup of the production. It is an absorbing story drawn from life and charmingly told. A film like "West of the Water Tower" is rarely found. It is filled with humor, pathos and thrills happily blended.

Every lover of a strong melo-drama feature should see "West of the Water Tower" which will be repeated to-night and to-morrow afternoon and night at the Majestic Theatre.

Unable to Explain Cromwell Drowning

Passengers on the Veendam Declare They Did Not See New York Girl Fall From Ship.

PLYMOUTH, England, June 25.—The drowning at sea last Tuesday of Miss Elizabeth Mary Cromwell of New York City, a passenger on the steamship Veendam from New York, was not explained to-day when the ship arrived here.

A number of passengers said they saw Miss Cromwell standing by the ship's rail at about 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. Some said they thought she appeared ill. Many said they heard her body strike the water, but no one saw her fall. Mrs. Stocks Millar, Miss Cromwell's cousin, with whom she was travelling, has no explanation.

It is understood Miss Cromwell complained of being depressed Monday night and that the ship's surgeon gave her a bromide. She was to have seen the physician again Tuesday morning, but the tragedy occurred before the time of the appointment. Miss Cromwell had breakfast in her room with Mrs. Millar that morning, and then went to the deck. She was last seen leaning over the rail on the starboard side, and then her body was seen in the water. Life preservers were thrown out and a life-boat was lowered. A search for the body was continued for ninety minutes, but it was not found, and the Veendam resumed her voyage.

The captain ordered the bands to cease playing for twenty-four hours, whereas the ship's routine was continued.
