CHRISTMAS TREAT AT MUNICIPAL HOME. The annual Christmas celebration was held at the Municipal Home yesterday and was attended by about 100 invited guests in addition to those who live in the home. The guests were shown over the building and were given an opportunity to see how comfortable and well kept all were. Visitors and residents then gathered in the school room. George A. Knodell, chairman of the Alma House Commissioners, presided.

Mr. Knodell referred among other things to the fact that oil lamps were the only means of lighting and urged the advantages of a more convenient system and also the necessity of something better as a protection for those in the home.

Commissioners Agar and Wigmore explained that the reason why a better lighting system had not been installed was the fact that the present location might be needed for other purposes and a further expenditure on the present building might be wasted. They promised that, if a new building were erected, all modern improvements would be included.

Addresses were also made by Rev. A. J. O'Neil, Hon. R. J. Ritchie, Rev. Dr. W. O. Raymond, and Rev. J. H. A. Andrews, all of whom commented on the comforts of the home and the apparent contentment of those there and congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Wood on their successful management.

A programme of songs and recitations was given by the thirty-four children of the institution. An immense Christmas tree, laden with gifts and prettily decorated, was then dismantled and the gifts distributed to the people of the home, the children receiving toys and playthings and the older people presents of clothing and similar comforts.

Commissioners Schofield, Agar and Wigmore, who visited the Home, and attended the celebration, afterwards expressed their pleasure at the way in which the institution is conducted and the provision which was made for the comfort of those there.

Mrs. William Rolday of Acadia street was terribly burned about the face and body in her home last evening. She was lighting the fire and her clothing caught fire. LETTERS OF INTEREST IN SACKVILLE COURT HOUSE. Action For Food and Lodging Smacked of Breach of Promise Suit. (Sackville Post.)

The case of Estabrooks vs. Campbell which recently occupied an entire day in the Sackville police court before Police Magistrate Dull and a jury, while being an action for food and lodging, was in great deal in the nature of a breach of promise suit.

The plaintiff sued the defendant for food and lodging, driving, and sundry services furnished at his residence in the parish of Sackville during periods extending off and on from 1910 to 1911. The evidence developed that the defendant, who is a widower, had a daughter, who is the plaintiff's unmarried daughter and seemed to have been his only child. The defendant had a son and the other, generally visiting the home of the plaintiff on a Saturday evening remaining over Sunday at the separate chamber guest on such occasions. Either his suit was unsuccessful or his ardor had cooled since later these two young ladies had become the wives of other parties, and the defendant himself has chosen a help-mate elsewhere. But, the plaintiff evidently not satisfied, sued the defendant for board and lodging and other benefits expended to the defendant during the period he was paying his amours.

The evidence of the plaintiff led his wife, who was attached and largely met by the defence, through the production of correspondence between the defendant and the daughters of the plaintiff during the period of courtship, which went to show that the defendant, was at all times interested and welcome guest at the home. The contents of these letters afforded the spectators considerable amusement, and the defendant at Harcourt, was relaxed into smiles. "Come home when they are done saving, dear kid," addressed to the defendant as a fairly pressing invitation, and "Ma says to tell you that she is keeping a duck for you," seemed to indicate that at that date at least the defendant was not without favor in the eyes of his prospective mother-in-law. "Mother sends her love to you," was another expression of esteem which the plaintiff's wife related in court, in no uncertain tones. A picnic dinner at Cape Tormentine, while amounting to only a small charge, was a great deal of attention. The defendant admitted the superior quality of the cookery, but he little thought that later the report was to occupy the attention of a jury.

The jury, after due deliberation, returned through their foreman, Francis Siddall, a verdict of "no cause for action." Raleigh Trices appeared for the plaintiff and G. R. McCord for the defendant.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

Rev. R. W. Weddall, pastor of the Woodstock Methodist church, received $150 in gold at Christmas and Mrs. Weddall $50. Miss Edna Lane, matron of the Woodstock hospital, received a handsome ring from the medical staff, nurses and directors of the institution.

While getting ready to drive to Ottawa on Christmas morning, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Curran, of Edwards Station, Carleton county, Ontario, lost their house and three children by fire. The children were in bed when the fire caught, and neither parent saw the flames until it was too late to save their lives.

The belief is held in Ottawa that several prominent Canadians will figure in the New Year's honors. It is thought there will be knightships for Hon. R. L. Borden, Hon. J. D. Hazen, and Hon. G. E. Foster. Angus Fisher, second engineer of the steamer Atlantic, and a son of Captain William Fisher of Port Mouton, was drowned at Liverpool, N. S., yesterday while boarding the steamer Anita.

DEMAND THAT BORDEN MAKE EXPLANATION

Nationalist M. P's Are Enraged Over Speech of Hon. Mr. Foster. INSULTED, THEY DECLARE.

Nantel and Pelletier to Lay Matter Before Premier—Thrown Aside, They Say, New That Conservatives Are in Power.

(Ottawa Free Press) After the great speech of Hon. George E. Foster in the house yesterday on the national question, there gathered in the parliamentary restaurant around a few glasses of soft drinks a company of a dozen French Canadian Conservative members. With them was Hon. Mr. Nantel, minister of inland revenue in the Borden government and the nominee of Henri Bourassa for that position.

The company talked fast. They had but one subject of conversation—the treachery of George E. Foster. The said Foster had in his speech gone out of the way, they thought to keep insult upon them. He had, to all intents and purposes kicked them out of the Conservative party, and as they were lumping down the stairs and hurled nasty expressions at them, expressions relative and descriptive of the word "whore".

Foster had admitted the "unholy alliance" of the Nationalists and the Conservatives, but he laid stress on the fact that the policies and principles for which the Nationalists stood had been deliberately ignored by the government in which they were given seats. There might have been an "unholy alliance" but it was apparent that the weaker ally had been swallowed up by the big fellow, he pointed out, and that there wasn't anything left of him.

Continuing in picturesque imagery, Foster said: "Does it make much difference whether it be rich fruit comes from one soil or another, provided that the apple itself in its flavor and quality is all right? (Loud Conservative laughter.) My right hon. friend (Sir Wilfrid) had better favor the apple instead of chemically or otherwise analyzing the soils out of which it is grown. (Prolonged Conservative laughter.) This was the subject of the heated discussion of the French Canadian Conservatives in the restaurant-restaurant."

"What did Foster mean?" they asked of one another excitedly and of any friendly newspaperman that happened to be around. "Did he not go out of his way to insult us?"

"Did he not do it deliberately; does Foster ever say anything that he has not made perfectly sure about beforehand?" "Those delighted cheers from the great body of Conservatives in the house, what did they mean?"

These were the questions that were considered. They had heard rumors of and seen confirmatory statements in the press that the Ontario and the Conservative party were urging upon Premier Borden that he must throw overboard Pelletier and Nantel and their French supporters. Foster's insults seemed to show conclusively that the premier had acceded to these demands.

What next? they asked. One of the French members declared, with a great deal of heat, that he would not sit in the house again until the gross insult had been retracted, and the statement seemed to find a whole lot of sympathy.

Finally, it was decided that Hon. Mr. Nantel, with Hon. Mr. Pelletier, if he could be got away from the flesh pots long enough, should wait on the premier and demand an explanation. It was also agreed that that explanation would have to be good and strong before the insult to their people and their race was forgotten.

To have allowed themselves to become the bait of their constituents and their people in order to help out a Tory government was bad enough, but to have that government turn around when the goods had been delivered and unceremoniously tell them to get to a hell-place, now more than human nature could stand.

Wall Street Notes. New York, Dec. 27.—Copper metals dull and no change are expected until the New Year. In the London settlement a small bull account is shown; Centago 6 1/2 per cent. The government started suit against the "Cox Field Co." yesterday, and that will lead to no end of suits against other companies. Money yesterday was up to 12 per cent, and today prospects are for as high, if not higher. Money is coming here from all around, but big rates will prevail until around 10th.

FINE WHOLESALE AND MANUFACTURING HOME ABOUT READY

Scovil Bros., Ltd. to be in New Germain Street Quarters Next Week. On Thursday next the new wholesale department of Scovil Bros., Ltd., in Germain street, will be thrown open to the public, and another up-to-date manufacturing plant will have been added to the list of industries. The work on the building is now practically completed, and it is one of the most modern manufacturing plants this side of Montreal. Several months ago the firm decided that on account of the rapidly increasing business they would have to secure larger quarters for their wholesale and manufacturing departments. They purchased the Hutchings building in Germain street, opposite Trinity church, immediately after the fire, which practically destroyed the building. Carpenters, masons and others were put to work and the whole building had been transformed and renovated, and the firm has now one of the finest buildings in business use in the city. It is three stories in Germain street and five stories in the rear. On entering from Germain street one walks into the men's clothing department. On the left of the entrance are situated the general offices which have been handsomely fitted. The floor space on this floor is 75 by 55. The lighting facilities are excellent, in fact the whole building is admirably lighted. Another feature is the sanitary conditions, each floor being fitted with modern toilets. Access to the upper floors is obtained by means of a large passenger and freight elevator. The second floor will be used entirely for men's furnishings, the floor space being the same as on the ground floor. The top floor will be used for the manufacturing department, forty-five of the most modern manufacturing machines have been installed and it is the intention to add more. The premises have also ample accommodations on this floor. The lighting in this department is exceptionally good, several skylights having been put in, besides the windows and electric lighting. The two lower floors will be used for the shipping and store rooms. Entrance to these floors will be from an alleyway leading off Church street. The employees entrance will also be here. Special precautions in case of fire have been taken. The electric lighting is done by means of piping, and not by sockets. The fire hose is in the whole building. Then again the doors all have been made fireproof, and every precaution for the safety of the employees has been made. In all there will be about sixty employees in the building. Another modern convenience is an inter-communicating telephone system, connecting all the departments. Each floor will also be equipped with a direct telephone service. The heating appliances have also been well looked after. The heating pipes have been placed on the ceiling, but there are a few running along the walls. The workmen are busily engaged in putting on the finishing touches to the building and it is expected that by Thursday next it will be all ready. Quite a lot of stock has been moved in already, however, and today a cartload of shirts is being moved in. When everything is complete, Scovil Bros., Ltd., will have a building admirably adapted for the manufacturing plant and wholesale business and will be able to cope with their largely increasing trade.

PRINCIPLES AND MEN

James Whitney has gone to war with the editor of the Conservative Occident over the tax reform question and now he must take on the editor of the Journal. Whitney tells Sir James that it would be unfortunate to lose yet "this tax question is of such importance in these days of real estate boom and civic growth that the province is liable to be driven into the necessity of preparing a principle to a man."

PENSIONS FOR MOTHERS

It is proposed to form in Canada a country-wide organization to press for pension fund for the mothers of dependent children. The agitation has been born and will be extended all over Canada. Mr. W. Henderson, of Montreal, is the head of the movement, and in a recent interview said: "It is a crying shame, when the government can at once contribute $38,000,000 for naval defense, that it could not set aside an amount to be used for the protection of the motherhood and childhood of the nation."

THE OLD AND THE NEW

The teacher asked: "When did Moses live?" After the silence had become painful she asked the Trinity Church Young Men's Own yesterday on "Crime and its Prevention," from the point of view of the juvenile law-breaker. Boys he said had a remarkable fund of energy and the great thing was to turn it into the right direction. Many of the lads who came before the Juvenile Court had been born and brought up in the country, and it was not until they came into the cities, and met with bad companions, that they began to go wrong. Home influences, again, were sometimes very bad. That the boys themselves were often made of the right stuff he showed by anecdotes of lads who had gone wrong but had been thoroughly reformed by a term at the Boys' Farm at Shawsbridge. Many of them were clever youngsters and often made five or six dollars a day by stealing coal and grain receiving most attention in the activity of the juveniles.

MAKING OF THE CRIMINAL

Environment, Not Heredity, Responsible Says Owen Dawson (Montreal Witness). Ninety-nine out of every hundred young criminals are made by environment, not heredity. That was the assertion of Owen Dawson, clerk of the Montreal Juvenile Court, who addressed the Trinity Church Young Men's Own yesterday on "Crime and its Prevention," from the point of view of the juvenile law-breaker. Boys he said had a remarkable fund of energy and the great thing was to turn it into the right direction. Many of the lads who came before the Juvenile Court had been born and brought up in the country, and it was not until they came into the cities, and met with bad companions, that they began to go wrong. Home influences, again, were sometimes very bad. That the boys themselves were often made of the right stuff he showed by anecdotes of lads who had gone wrong but had been thoroughly reformed by a term at the Boys' Farm at Shawsbridge. Many of them were clever youngsters and often made five or six dollars a day by stealing coal and grain receiving most attention in the activity of the juveniles.

THE SIGNIFICANT PRESCRIPTION SIGN

It is quite interesting to know that the "R" usually seen on a prescription is a cross through the tail of a modification of the almanac sign of Jupiter who by the ancients was regarded as the mythological god of health. It also stands for the latin imperative word "Recipe" (Take thou), under this sign your doctor writes for your health's sake. We follow his instructions to the letter. "We take" of each drug just as much as he orders and no more. The cure we use in the filling of your prescription is significant. It is a sign of a signal safety service.

Roosevelt on Woman Suffrage Colonel Roosevelt was entertained by Jane Addams as the honor guest at a luncheon for the women of the National Progressive Conference in Chicago recently. He made an address which, according to the press reports, was devoted chiefly to woman suffrage. The colonel said that the progressive literature prepared by Frances Kellor had had a tremendous circulation and proved one of the important influences of the movement, while the speech of Miss Adams in according the Roosevelt nomination was the most widely circulated speech of the campaign. And yet, Colonel Roosevelt laughingly pointed out, the two women who could produce these highly important documents were not allowed to vote. It was absurd.

DIVIDES US INTO PINKS AND BLUES

Work of Clever Young Authors in England Attracts Attention

SHE IS ONLY TWENTY-TWO

Miss Murray, Daughter of Brainy Parents But Seeks Fame on Her Own Merits - Literary Gossip of the Old Country

(Times Special Correspondence.)

London, Dec. 27.—Have you a pink character or a blue one? Perhaps you don't know, but it's quite easy to tell, really. If you are sensitive and imaginative and inclined to be upset by little things, you may be sure that you possess a character of some kind, but if, on the other hand, it takes an earthquake or an explosion to jar you out of your wonted calm, then you have a pink nature and it is useless to deny it.

There are only these two character colors according to Rosalind Murray, a clever girl of twenty-two, who is responsible for the classification of humanity into blues and pinks. Miss Murray, who is a daughter of the Countess of Carlisle, and the most intellectual woman in England, so the young writer claims, usually by the unusual mental which beyond a doubt is hers.

She published her first novel when she was only seventeen. It was called "The Leading Note" and one of the most eminent English reviewers declared that it "left the reader face to face with a really significant outlook of life."

Perhaps her original outlook on the world and its inhabitants is partly due to the fact that she has not been taught in schools. Most of her childhood was spent abroad with a governess, and rubbing up with many different types and nationalities went a long way toward developing a strong latent power of observation.

Incidentally, she is determined to stand on her own feet, the last thing she prepared to do being to trade on her father's distinguished position. With this firm determination, she came to London to live and work alone, and it was in a modest "bachelor-girl's" establishment that she was found the other day.

"I think," she said, "that all women ought to come in contact with actual life, as independent personalities. So many women are all their lives long mere accessories of their relations to somebody or the wives of somebody. Since I have come to London I have discovered how very differently one treated by strangers when all social supports are taken away. It is not a pleasant realization, but it is an extremely interesting and instructive one."

Miss Murray mentions her pink and blue theory briefly in her last book, and the interviewer asked her to be good enough to expound it. The girl-author laughed.

"Of course one can't take an idea like that absolutely seriously," she said, "but I always, in my own mind, divide people into two classes—pink and blue. No, it is nothing to do with aura or astral bodies or anything theological.

ITALIANS TAKE PLACES OF BULGARIANS IN RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION WORK HERE

(Fredericton Mail.) An influx of Italians is reported by contractors on the St. John & Quebec Railway, large parties having been forwarded by agents as soon as they have come from Italy. These laborers will take the place of the Bulgarians who, during the autumn, left in large numbers, having been called back to their native land by the summons to serve in the army against the Turks. The fact that the war between Italy and Turkey is over has released a large number of men from military service and they are returning to the United States and Canada to obtain employment. Whenever possible work of construction on the St. John & Quebec Railway is being pressed. Four steam shovels are at work and an equal number are at work between this city and Woodville. Above the latter town construction is also in progress. It has been found necessary during the winter in order to have construction sufficiently advanced in the spring. The laying of steel is expected to begin about the middle of April. With the end in view of eight thousand tons of steel to be ordered. Of that amount, 4,000 tons are to be delivered at Fredericton and the rest laying in both directions from the city will be begun as early as the weather will permit. Construction teams on the Hibbard Company's contract west of the city will probably be running in May.

RECENT WEDDINGS

At the United Baptist church, Gibson, on Tuesday, Mrs. Alice Steel, of Upham, Kings County, was united in marriage to Arthur Watts of Maryville.

On Christmas evening at the home of Mrs. L. H. Canning, Sunny Bree, John H. MacKay and Agnes C. Young, both of Moncton, were married.

On Christmas night at the home of David W. Goodall, Memramook, his daughter Beatrice was united in marriage to Elmer Hayward, of Amherst.

RECENT DEATHS Mrs. Elizabeth McGill, wife of John McGill, passed away at the Home for Incurables yesterday morning after an illness of a year's duration. Besides her husband, who is at sea, Mrs. McGill is survived by her father, John Williams. Mrs. McGill was in her 80th year.

Mrs. Mary M. Abernethy, one of the oldest residents of the Nashwaak Valley, died on Tuesday at Durham Bridge. She was ninety-five years old. The death of Mrs. Rufus Oulton, occurred at her home on the Baie Verte Road on Monday, at the age of sixty-eight. She was a daughter of the late James Wells, of Bonaventure, N. S. Her husband, six sons and daughters, four brothers and two sisters survive.

THE WEST AND THE EAST

(Business Record) Former residents of Kings who are returning to their old home from the west are unanimous in their feeling that things out there are becoming more and more time-proven. The old days when men could make fortunes from small investments have disappeared and large capital is required in these times to buy and hold property. The cost of living is going up and the great influx of people from all parts of the world is having its effect on the oversupply of labor. That is natural. We have passed through the same stage but have emerged from it, until instead of the steady stream of our young men to the west some of them are returning to their first love in the hope that they may better their position. And the start has only been made. The long number coming east will have swelled to considerable proportions and we shall then find relief for the big shortage in our labor market. It is a fact that people are just beginning to realize that there is a shortage of thousands of men in the maritime provinces and when spring comes up this lack of help will be still more apparent. So many big works are being carried on and so many more will be started when the winter closes that thousands of additional hands will be needed. In fact the man who wants work can find all he wants of it right at home and at good wages too. The tide is turning. Young men during the next few years will find many openings for themselves, right at home, if they are awake to their opportunities.

FORTY YOUNG AUSTRALIANS COMING TO ST. JOHN

Australia may boast of many things and many famous personages, but beyond a doubt the thing which delights the greatest number of people and which the whole world willingly acknowledges supreme, is her prodigious contribution to the realm of theatricals. The Pollard Juvenile Opera Co., which is composed of some thirty-five or forty of the cleverest children imaginable whose work upon the stage equals and even surpasses that of the most highly trained divas of our musical stage. It has taken twenty-seven years for the Pollard organization to attain the height of perfection attained in the present Pollard company, and the work of the management in training, calling and choosing the best and most proficient of Australia's youth, talent and beauty combined in each of the young folks of the present company has been arduous, to say the least, but the rewards both in monetary ways and gratifying to a great degree. The Pollard Juvenile Opera Company is at present engaged upon its fifth world tour and will be seen at the opera house for one week commencing Monday, December 31. Seat sale opens today.

CARE IS NEEDED. Andrew Stephens, assistant gardener at the Public Gardens said today that thoughtless people en route to Lily Lake were doing a lot of injury to the grass beds in the garden by walking on them. He hopes people passing through the garden will be more careful. Mr. Stephens also recounted the Times to say that he is not the Andrew Stephens who was reported to the police court yesterday.

JOHN IRVIN AT EVERY DAY CLUB

John Irvin, K. C. of Bridgetown (N. S.), was a visitor to the Every Day Club last evening. There were about seventy boys and young men in the hall, and Mr. Irvin was highly pleased with what he saw. He addressed the club briefly, and concluded with a story contrasting the career of two men of his acquaintance, one of whom was a good student and the other a truant in his boyhood. The boys listened with eager attention and heartily applauded the speaker. With Mr. Milligan of the Y. M. C. A., at the piano, the boys, led by Walter Brindley, sang O Canada, The Maple Leaf and the National Anthem before going home. John G. McInnes, who is home from Acadia for the holidays, was also a visitor to the club last evening. Mr. Irvin will be the speaker at the club next Sunday evening.
