Causes of Unrest.

There are many who believe that the present industrial unrest in all countries is due to the abnormal circumstances arising out of the war. To a certain extent this is true. They wave been aggravated ...nd in-ensified by them, but it is not all the truth. We have had in Great Eritain an old fendal landed class shich owned all the land, and not have he had, but vevey individual in it. crafe the Samuel Gompers of Canada of All Blame. When, some weeks ago, it became publicly known that Mr. P. M. Draper had received from the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railway Shop Laborers a check for $50,000 to be used for special organization purposes, the "Reds" and other ememies of the International Trades Union Movement saw in this the early downfall of the Samuel-Gompers of Canada. Mr. Draper stated at that time that there was nothing to hide. The organizations involved were satisfied with the meanner in which the transaction was performed and that it was done by him as a private citizen and not as secretary-treasurer of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. Ex-President Barker, of the Maintenance of Way Employes, is involved in a civil suit with that organization for an accounting of monies expended by him, but the present officers of the Maintenance of Way Employes make it quite clear that the suit in no way concerns the $50,000 check given Mr. Draper and that they are perfectly satisfied with the manner in which it was received and expended under the direction of ex-President Barker. At the Windsor Convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada a resolution from the Toronto District Trades and Labor Council calling for an investigation into the expenditure of the $50,000 was ruded out of order by President Moore. At the time Secretary Draper stated that he had in his possession a document from the Maintenance of Way Employes exonerating him from all blame. The letter published below is a copy of the one in Mr. Draper's possession. All "Reds" and other enemies of Secretary-Treasurer P. M. Draper, of the Trades and Labor Congress, and of the movement he represents, argespecially invited to read it carefully.

A WEEKLY NEWS LETTER.

LET US FINISH THE JOB.

OW that the annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada is over and the conservative element still in control, there is reason to believe that the same insidious campaign against the elected heads of the Congress will continue and the accomplishments of the progressive body discredited by the enemies of the International trades union movement both inside and outside our organizations.

Canadian workers at the Windsor convention made a house-cleaning in that they refused to endorse or subscribe to a policy of destruction. The assembled delegates in an almost unanimous voice told the world that they had faith in British institutions, and while there are many defects in our present social and economic fabric Canadian workers are firm in their belief that these can be remedied by constitutional methods, and they purpose to use that weapon. However, we have a few in our movement who do not believe in bringing the change in this manner and openly advocate revolution and mass action leading to civil war. Canadian workers are determined to put an end to bis tomfoolery and house-cleaning will be the order of he day in some industrial centres.

Every local union should see to it that all those who advocate secession, destruction, revolution, etc., are disciplined. There is no place for such men and comen in the International trades union movement.

Because the "Reds" and political opportunists vere defeated at the Windsor convention don't take hings for granted and rest on your oars. There is ork yet to be done and progress can only come by trict adherence to the policies the workers themselves ormulate and by faith in constitutional methods. Let s carry on with more determination than ever, and I we do so we shall seeure the goal we have set out

During the week of September 13, the 35th annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada was in session at Windsor, Ont. Five hundred and twenty-nine delegates from all parts of Canada were in attendance. All sessions were open to the public and the press tables were free to the cust of all writers. were open to the public and the press tables were free to the use of all writers. Even the One Big Union scribes were on hand and Gordon Cascadden was a regular attendant, and his despatches, colored to suit the whims of his followers, were sent to the revolutionary press. The convention was addressed by the Premier of Canada, the Minister of Labor for Ontario, a Labor member of the British House of Commons, a representative of the American Federation of Labor, the Mayor of Windsor, and others. Policies were formulated that are in keeping with the times, and faith was pirmed in British institutions and constitutional methods.

OUR WEEKLY BRITISH LETTER LONDON. England, (Saturday).—A final settlement of the coal dispute next week, as a Tesuit of the conference between the miners and the mine owners, commencing this morning at the Board of Trade offices, is now regarded by the moderate miners, leaders and their colleagues in the railwaymen's and transport workers' unions as almost certain. It is expected that the mine owners will readily agree to do their part in improving the output by providing equipment necessary for the miners and by opening up for exploitation immediately profile seams, which in some mines, have been closed pending decontrol of the industry.

Robert Smillie and his co-leaders, on the other hand, will be willing to undertake to put pressure on all slack workers in the mines to help wholeheartedly in the effort to produce coal which both Great Britain and the Continent sorely need. If this agreement is reached, it is anticipated that the owners will support the miners in the proposal that an advance in wages shall be conceded immediately in ocder to create an atmosphere of good will mecessary for the success of the output scheme. WOMEN AND THE LABOR MOVE-MENT IN AUSTRALIA.

The history of women in the trade unions of Australia has not yet been written. It cannot be truthfully said that it has yet been tions of work possible.

The population of Australia is less in 1920 than it was in 1914: in actual figures there are only 4,455.005 people in Australia today as against 3,630.031 in 1914. Of this total population, 564.187 are members of the 147 different trade unions making up the industrial organizations of the Commonwealth. Of the men over 20 years of age employed in industry, 55.9 per cent are uniogists, but only 18.6 per cent, of the women over 20 years old in industry belong to unions.

Of the 232,857 women workers in belong to unions.

Of the 232,857 women workers in Australia, 23.1 per cent are employed in industrial division group 3 (food, drink, etc.), 37.5 in group 4 (clothing, hats, etc.), and 41.2 in group 13 (domestic, hotels, etc.).

3 (tood, drink, etc.), and st. 2 in group 13 (clonking, hais, etc.), and st. 2 in group 13 (domestic, hotels, etc.).

How slowly the trade union idead appealed to women can best be judged by the fact that the first trade union canged by the fact that the first trade union canged by the fact that the first trade union canged by the fact that the first trade union can see to the union of the fact that the first trade union can see to the union of the fact that the percentage had grown to 8.7 (nearly double); and in 1919-1920, 18.6 per cent were unionists. The percentage of women who take any active part in the work of the union is much smaller, moreover, than is the membership percentage. There are very few women organizers, still fewer secretaries, almost no women delegates to conference, and no "women's programme" formulated anywhere. If this much of my article sounds pessimistic, I can only plead that it is past; for the future I am confident that the individual work of such women as Adela Pankhurst Walsh, Miss Hughes and Miss Wilcox in Sydney, Misses Kathleen Trossel, Northam, and Miss Adlice Cogah in Broken Hill, and Miss Kathleen Hotson in Adelaide, will result in a very gratifying awakening of women to an active interest in trade union values. All of these women may be said to belong to the "younger set" who can see today that the aufrage promised women a good deal more than it actually gave them, and that full citizenship rights is a question of economic status rather than political juggiery.—From the Monthly Newsletter of the International Congress of Working Women.

Our steamer traverses a little bay, and we gaze spelibound at Cape Trinity—the lowest of its three-clevations graced by a buge statue of the Virgin—which for 20 years has gazed with seening compassion on the waters below—impervious to the elements, a thank-offering of a devout Catholic.

TO SEEK INCREASES.

It was learned this week at the City Hall that municipal employes both unionized and others, are preparing a scale of wages which they propose to procent to the municipal authorities. This is a question which, in view of what the employes consider to be extremely low rates of pay has become acute.

A great finany men and women on the civic staff are leaving on this account, it is stated, and a departmental superintendent admitted recently that he had extreme difficulty in obtaining staff for a new department which had to be organized, with the result that the work had been much delayed, and there was difficulty in getting the quality of assistance required. An instance is quoted of an advertisement new exposed on the walls of the City Hall, calling for a serior stenographer at a salary of $840 per annum.

The proposed scale of wages is to be submitted to the Civil Service Commission and to the Administrative Commission and to the Administrative Commission and to the Administrative Commission.

SAFETY WEEK-OCTOBER 10-16, 1920.

Fire and Accident Prevention-Makes Yours a Safer City.

The executive committee of the Ontario Safety League has approved a plan by which the public will be treated to a week of safety. The week of October 10—16 has been designated "Safety Week," and in that week the Safety League and the various organizations co-operating plan an intensive drive against accidents.

Slimilar large scale campaigns have been held in other cities and have been a notable success. The Safety Week, held in St. Louis in the autumn of 1918 is the most conspicuous example, as fatal accidents in the corresponding week in 1917 are 24 and in "Safety Week" there was one fatality. Cleveland cut its fatalities in its "Week" last year from 15 in the safety week "here was one fatality. Cleveland cut its fatalities in its "Week" last year from 15 in the safety week of the previous year to 6 in "Safety Week," Pittsburgh cut its fatalities from 25 to 16. These facts are vital to a community and experience has shown that the good effects of the safety propagands have been continued month by month ever since. Similar intensive drives against accidents have been a success in industry and on the railroads, and the league looks forward with confidence to success.

During Safety Week, the various committees plan to teach accident and fire prevention to men, women and children in a spectacular educational campaign in which various forms of publicity will be used. The
