

TALES OF HORROR FROM FIRE ZONE

Refugees from New Ontario Recount Awful Experiences.

Total Loss of Life, it is Now Thought, will Not Exceed 100-- First Reports were Greatly Exaggerated -- Measures of Relief.

North Bay, Ont., July 14.—Hundreds of refugees are coming out of Porcupine on special and regular trains, and all tell harrowing stories of fierce fights for life and many bodies seen along the trails.

At the big dome mine a splendid fire fighting apparatus was available with big pump and plenty of hose, but nothing could withstand the flames. 260 men were working at this mine and it is thought all escaped but ten.

The list of deaths at the big Dome includes James Walsh, of Cache Bay; Harry Hardy, of Bath, England; H. Jackson, Archie Johnston, Sudbury; Thomas King, Stanley Fritzmaas, Sydney, Australia; Solomon, an assayer from England. When the fire struck the big Dome men ran in all directions, some went down the shaft, others ran to Edwards Lake, and one man, A. M. Young, of Ottawa, fell exhausted in a deep ditch and by keeping his face covered with mud, managed to save his life, after three hours in this position.

Those who went down the shaft were suffocated, as the shaft house and even the timbers of the shaft were burned. Six bodies have been recovered from the big Dome shaft. Twenty seven bodies have been recovered at West Dome.

A Terrible Scene. Reports from South Porcupine grow in horror. One survivor says that twenty-two people were swept off a raft in Porcupine lake in the raging storm. Hundreds of people stood for five hours in the water where the only breath available was close to the water's edge between waves which dashed madly over their heads. The survivors say that the scene was terrible, and it seemed as if every one must perish from suffocation in the lake. Many sank beneath the waters to death and the first search brought out nine bodies from Porcupine lake. Estimates of the drowned range from twenty upwards. Seven bodies were found on the trail between Hollinger and McIntyre Mines, half a mile distant, and five bodies have been found on the Vipond property. Relief trains with provisions, tents, and blankets are being rushed in over the government railway and with the food supply at Porcupine there will be no hunger. Hundreds are coming out of the zone and some are being crowded with refugees waiting for trains to their homes.

AN AVIATOR DASHED TO PROBABLE DEATH

"Bud" Mars Very Badly Injured During Flight in Erie, Pa.—Once Carried King of Siam as Passenger.

Erie, Pa., July 14.—"Bud" Mars, the well known aviator, was probably fatally injured here today when he lost control of his machine and dashed to the ground.

He took up aeroplaning with Glenn Curtiss a year ago, and on his second day's practice made 25 flights. He left San Francisco last December and came back last month laden with trophies of 250 flights in Honolulu, Manila, Sumatra, Japan, Korea, Java, Siberia, Russia and on one occasion carried a royal passenger, the king of Siam. His young wife, who accompanied him everywhere, has been his companion in many of his flights. Should Mars succumb he will be the fifth victim to the science of aviation, the first being Lieut. Thomas E. Selfridge, U. S. A., Sept. 17, 1908. In 1909 four lives were lost, in 1910 34 fatalities occurred, while so far this year 36 lives have been sacrificed.

HAD A FINE GRAFT BUT OVERDOID IT

New York Health Officer Charged Tennis Balls And Piano Tuning up to Cholera Scare Account.

New York, N. Y., July 14.—The special commissioner appointed by Gov. Dix to hear complaints against health officer Alvah H. Doty, disseminated at today's session, a batch of so-called emergency bills paid by the state in December of last year. A letter from Dr. Doty to State Comptroller Williams which was attached to the bills, certified that the total indebtedness—more than $20,000—had been caused by the cholera emergency which then caused apprehension in western Europe.

The bills attached to the letter were for groceries, dry goods, coal, milk and other items, among them being piano tuning, tennis, rackets, and tennis balls. Maurice Doyle, Dr. Doty's chief clerk, was asked if piano tuning at $25 was necessary to keep cholera out of the report. He replied that he could not testify as to that, nor could he testify as to tennis balls and rackets were necessary either. "It is assumed that they were not," commented Judge Bulger. "In all these bills there is no cholera evidence or cholera. The only cholera is in the health of this letter."

M. K. Wash, Dr. Doty's secretary, said that Dr. Doty had used $15,000 since last October to pay long standing bills for food supplies. These bills, he said, were termed "emergency bills." George Marsac, formerly employed as a laborer on Hoffman Island, testified that immigrants suspected of having incipient cases of cholera or smallpox, were allowed to mingle with visiting relatives. The immigrants were compelled to take their meals in unsanitary surroundings, he said. Marsac admitted that he had tried to bus an immigrant detained there, but declared that he had been exonerated.

A MONKTON MAN ILL FROM HEAT

Douglas Nichol Was Stricken During 35-Mile Drive—He Is Now In a Precarious Condition.

Special to The Standard. Monkton, July 14.—Douglas Nichol, of Monkton, who for some twenty years past was employed in the I. C. R. shops, drove to Albert with his wife a few days ago to visit his daughter and other friends. Notwithstanding he had a covered buggy with the top up, Mr. Nichol, in the thirty-five mile drive, became ill from the effects of the heat and on reaching Jones' Hotel here, did not improve. Dr. Murray was called, and pronounced his case serious. He at present lies in a precarious condition with but slight hopes entertained for his recovery. He is 78 years of age. Isaac C. Prescott and Mrs. Prescott and their family left yesterday in their touring car for Sussex where they will spend a few days with friends and relatives.

NEW YORK POLICE WILL SUPPLY MEN TO HELP LOAD ICE

New York, N. Y., July 14.—The police department of the city of New York is willing to come to the aid of the Knickerbocker Ice Company and supply it with all the men it needs to load ice barges in hot weather. There will be no difficulty in procuring as many men as the ice company wants and they will work at the ice company's scale of wages. This was the answer tonight of Police Commissioner Waldo to the claim of President Clear of the company, that he could not get sufficient men to load ice during an abnormal hot spell. Commissioner Waldo also announced that he had sent detectives up the Hudson river to the Knickerbocker Company's various ice stations to see if there were a scarcity of labor at any or all of them. This was the reason assigned by the company for refusing to sell ice to independent dealers during the hot spell.

GREAT BRITAIN AND JAPAN RENEW THEIR ALLIANCE

United States Omitted from List of Britain's Possible Foes.

Life of Alliance Has Been Extended Six Years-- Special Clause Provides Britain's Neutrality in Event of Trouble Between Japan and U. S.

London, July 14.—The Anglo-Japanese alliance has been modified to exclude the United States from Great Britain's possible enemies and the life of the alliance has been extended nearly six years by the new version of the treaty which Sir Edward Grey, the British Secretary of Foreign Affairs and Count Kato, the Japanese Ambassador at London, signed yesterday. The original agreement which was signed August 12, 1905, included eight articles and a preamble. The only practical difference between that and the new version is embodied in article four, which reads: "Should either high contracting party conclude a treaty of general arbitration with a third power, it is agreed that nothing in this agreement shall operate so as to prevent such party, an obligation to go to war with the power with whom such treaty of arbitration is in force.

"The government of Great Britain and the government of Japan having in view the important changes which have taken place in the situation since the conclusion of the Anglo-Japanese agreement of August 12, 1905, and believing that a revision of that agreement responding to such changes would contribute to the general stability and repose, have agreed upon the following stipulations to replace the agreement above mentioned: Then follow the objects of the alliance as set forth in the previous draft. These include the consolidation and maintenance of general peace in the regions of eastern Asia and India, the preservation of the common interests of all the powers in China and the maintenance of the territorial rights of the contracting parties in the regions of eastern Asia and India and the defence of their special interests in these regions.

Article three, four and six in the revised version. Article three of the old version, stipulated that "Japan possessing paramount political, military and economic interests in Korea, Great Britain recognizes Japan's right to take such measures for the guidance, control and protection of Korea as she may deem proper and necessary to safeguard and advance those interests, providing the measures do not infringe upon the principle of equal opportunities for the commerce and industry of all nations." Article four related to the recognition by Japan of Great Britain's rights to safeguard her Indian possessions. Article six stipulated referred to the war between Japan and Russia at that date and Great Britain's neutrality. The revision of the treaty is known to have been largely the result of the discussion of foreign affairs at the Imperial Conference and was responsive to the wishes of the colonies, particularly Australia. That it was consummated so soon was a surprise to the diplomats. The extension of the life of the alliance is another surprise.

A SERIOUS FIRE IS REPORTED IN CANSO

Several Houses Were Burned Yesterday Afternoon And With a High Wind The Village Was Threatened.

Canso, N. S., July 14.—Fire, which started here this afternoon, has assumed a serious aspect. Places already destroyed are: Goodwin's house and bakery, a house belonging to Mr. Wetmore of the Western Union Cable staff; the house of H. P. Moffatt, town clerk; all with barns attached. Other houses are threatened. Willing workers are hauling water from the harbor to fight the flames. A light wind is blowing.

Later. Dicho's house and barn have been burned. There is no water system. Houses are catching fire in every direction, and there is every prospect that the whole town will be wiped out. The Western Union Cable Station is somewhat out of the way of the flames and is not yet in danger.

Winnipeg, Man., July 14.—Rev. Fr. Mathias of Montreal, formerly rector of Laval University, was today appointed Bishop of Regina. This is the first bishop for that diocese.

CHAMP CLARK PREFERS HOODLUM VOTERS TO FINE HAired AMERICANS.

In an address before an audience of six thousand Christian Endeavorers at Atlantic City recently the Hon. Champ Clark, Speaker of the House, said: "The hoodlums who run nine-tenths of our elections, cast their own ball lots, and perhaps other ballots, are better American citizens than the fine haired business men who are too busy to go to the polls. I would like to see a federal law passed disfranchising every man who fails to cast his ballot at two general elections."

MAN KILLED MOTORMAN FELL ON THE C.P.R. OUT OF TRAIN

Aged Man Sleeping on C. P. R. Track Four Miles From McAdam, Struck And Instantly Killed Yesterday.

Special to The Standard. St. Stephen, N. B., July 14.—The C. P. R. Express, due here at 11 o'clock this forenoon, struck and killed a man who was sleeping with his head on the rail about four miles this side of McAdam. The man's body extended at right angles from the track and was partly hidden by the grass. Engineer Keener saw the object as his train was swinging around a curve, but did not recognize it as a human body until it was too late for the emergency brakes to stop the train before the fatal blow was struck by the pilot.

The body was brought to St. Stephen and an inquest held by Coroner Lawson. Several identified the victim as one Jos. Perkins, about seventy-five years of age, who had been a peddler in this section for many years. A verdict was returned exonerating the trainmen from blame in the matter.

STRIKERS SENT UP FOR TRIAL IN CHARLOTTE CO.

Case Against Six Men Charged With Intimidation Heard Yesterday in Magistrate's Court in St. George.

Special to The Standard. St. George, July 14.—The case against some strikers charged with intimidation was brought up today before Stipendiary Magistrate Capt. Chas. Johnson, J. B. M. Baxter, K. C., appeared for the prosecution, and Daniel Mullin, K. C., for the defence. Gratia E. Cook is the plaintiff, and the accused are Edward Mullen, Joseph Howe, Christopher Wren, James Morrison, Raymond Morrison and Charles Blaney. Cook, who was a strikebreaker, charges that the accused interfered with him.

Three witnesses, Cook, himself, E. G. Murphy, the manager of the pulp mill, and Geo. Hooper, were examined on behalf of the prosecution, but the defence did not call any witnesses. After the evidence of the three witnesses had been taken, Mr. Mullin, acting for the defence, argued that the case should not be dealt with in summary fashion and requested that it be treated as an indictable offence. The magistrate decided to let the case go over to the Charlotte county court and remanded the accused. All were admitted to bail on their own recognizance with the exception of Edward Mullen who was required to furnish bonds to the amount of $100.

DATE FIXED FOR VOTE IN U. S. SENATE

Definite Understanding Has Been Reached That Vote on Canadian Reciprocity Will be Taken on July 22nd.

Washington, D. C., July 14.—The senate will vote on the Canadian reciprocity bill July 22, on the wool tariff revision bill July 27th; on the free list bill August 1; congressional re-appointment bill, August 3; statehood bill for Arizona and New Mexico on the legislative day, August 7, and will adjourn, according to general understanding, quickly thereafter. This voting programme decided upon after prolonged conference today and resulting from conferences that have covered many days, was agreed to by the senate. The agreement contained no specific provision regarding adjournment, but it is understood generally that adjournment will follow immediately the disposition of the statehood bill. All the measures mentioned have passed the house. President Taft was quickly acquainted with the senate's action and expressed his gratification particularly over the precedence given to the reciprocity bill in the programme.

The understanding forecasts the end of a long struggle in the senate over the reciprocity and the Democratic tariff measures. The final votes will not be taken on the bills named until the dates fixed, but amendment can be disposed of from time to time.

The Canadian reciprocity bill, proposing additional amendments to the bill, providing for a reduction of the duty on steel beams, girders and like products, and the other for a reduction of the duty on oil cloth and linoleum. With the fate of reciprocity predetermined in favor of that measure, Senators already are speculating on the possible result of the promised votes on the two tariff bills—wool and free list—included in today's agreement.

No one would undertake to predict the outcome but all agreed that the success or failure in the measures depends entirely upon whether the democrats and insurgent republicans can get together on any line of action. The insurgents have no idea of accepting the House bills and some of the democrats are disinclined to permit them to dictate the terms of legislation. There have been no formal conferences and already it is apparent that much effort will be necessary to bring about an understanding. It has been intimated that if Congress should pass and the President veto the woolen and free list bills the democrats would insist upon the continuation of the session for further tariff legislation. The republican leaders fear no such result, however, because they say democrats and senators are quite as anxious to end the session as are the republicans.

THE "MAGIC WAND" IS AGAIN IN EVIDENCE

Mr. Pugsley to Make Garden of Eden Out of Fort Howe—Ye Gods! What Next?

The Times announces that Hon. William Pugsley will transform the rocky promontory of Fort Howe into a "beautiful park." An engineer from the militia department is expected at any moment to consult with Mayor Frink and Mr. H. Estabrook as to the most approved method of converting this "bald eminence, treeless and frowning, into a place of beauty, cool, restful and in every way delightful."

According to the Times: "The news will be heard with the greatest pleasure by the citizens, and is another evidence of the desire of the minister of public works and of the government to do whatever may reasonably be done for the benefit of St. John." A prominent Liberal, of somewhat independent views, after reading the announcement, pointed out to The Standard that no mention was made of a moving platform to convey the citizens from Main street to the top of the hill. He regarded this as an oversight on Mr. Pugsley's part. A stream of water, he thought, would also add to the beauties of the park and suggested that an underground conduit from Lily Lake would meet this deficiency without much additional expense. "There's a sure enough election coming this fall," he added with a wicked wink, "if I'm any judge of the signs of the times."

Hon. J. K. Fleming Thinks Reciprocity Would Mean This.

It Would Especially Subject the New Brunswick Potato Producers to Keener Competition -- How it Would Work in Lumber Trade.

Hon. J. K. Fleming, acting premier of the province was at the Dufferin yesterday. Asked as to what he thought would be the effect upon the reciprocity agitation of the report that there had been a considerable slump in prices on the American lumber market during the past month, he said he did not credit the report.

"The American market is dull," he said, "but I have not heard of any slump in prices such as was reported in one of the evening papers." "What are the causes of the dull market in the states?" Mr. Fleming was asked. "Well, general business conditions have apparently not been very good," was the answer. "There has been no liberal buying for quite a while. American dealers are not carrying large stocks, and only send here for supplies when they have a specific demand. Orders or requests for quotations come in bunches and mostly for small quantities."

"The lumbermen of this province do not put as much faith in the opportunities of the American market as some of the advocates of reciprocity seem to think they do. They attach a great deal more importance to the English market where the demand is more constant and prices are not liable to much fluctuation. About all we ship to the American market is the smaller sizes of lumber such as scantling and laths, and that is not a specially profitable class of business."

"Probably it is not generally known," added Mr. Fleming, "that New Brunswick is beginning to develop an important market for lumber in Montreal and further west."

"How can we compete in that market against the lumber that comes down the Ottawa to Montreal? Well the Ottawa output is all pine lumber. Quite a number of shipments of lums from New Brunswick have been sent to Montreal recently, and a modification of freight rates would enable us to do a large business with Montreal and cities further west."

"Do you think the American lumber trust is responsible for the fact that the United States has not been buying as much lumber from New Brunswick during the past year as they have taken in other years?"

EMPLOYEES OF THE G. N. W. WIN IN THEIR APPEAL

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, July 14.—The board of investigation and conciliation appointed last March to investigate the dispute between the G. N. W. Telegraph Co., and its employes, has now makes an unanimous report, though each member reserves his opinion on one or two small points. The report as a whole is a compromise.

The company has advanced wages during the sitting of the board and the report recommends the reappointment of a number of the employes whose dismissal was one of the questions in dispute.

ASEPTO LIMITED Corner Mill and Union Streets ST. JOHN

WILL INCLUDE ST. JOHN IN THE ARTILLERY TEAM

Local Men will be in the Party which will Take Part in the English Artillery Competitions.

Major Beverly Armstrong stated yesterday that the report that St. John had been overlooked in making selections for the All-Canadian Artillery team which goes to England to compete in the Empire competition in the latter part of August was in error, though owing to the fact that the commanding officers of the Artillery batteries were at Petawawa, there had been delay in choosing the men who would represent St. John.

St. John will have three representatives, one from each of the heavy artillery batteries, and it is expected that a man from Newcastle will be chosen to represent the field artillery companies of the province.

The men selected to form the composite team will assemble at Halifax on the 18th inst., where they will be given some training. On the 28th inst. they will go to Petawawa for further drill, and on the 8th of August they will go to Montreal, and take passage on one of the boats of the Royal Line. They will land at Bristol on the 18th and proceed to Salisbury Plain, where they will put in some more drill.

The Field and Heavy Artillery competitors will take place on Salisbury Plain on the 25th and 26th of August, and the Coast Defence competition will take place at Cliff End on the Isle of Wight on the 21st of August. Artillery teams from the different parts of the Empire as well as from the United Kingdom will take part in the competitions.

These competitions are not annual events, but are held at intervals of not less than four or more than seven years.

The commanding officers of the Artillery batteries select the men who compose the team, and as the officers of the local batteries are at Petawawa the names of the men who will be chosen to represent St. John are not known here.

Ontario Against Reciprocity.

Ald. W. A. Wilson, of London, Ontario, is visiting friends in the city. He came to St. John to cool off his temper having been unduly heated by a row with the Free Press of his native city. To a reporter he said the sentiment in Ontario was strongly against the reciprocity agreement, and he had no doubt the Conservatives would sweep the province.

A CHANGE OF AN HOUR WOULD MEET THE CASE

Police Magistrate Ritchie Expresses an Opinion in Connection With The Early Closing By-Law.

As a result of the common council having voted to retain the early closing by-law without amendment, each of the adjourned cases in the police court will be decided by Judge Ritchie on its merits. Defendants who are found guilty of violating the by-law will then have the opportunity to appeal on the ground that the law is ultra vires.

The Standard last evening Judge Ritchie said he was surprised at the action of the council in making no change in the hour at which stores must close. He saw no reason when the cases were before him after hearing the arguments of counsel, why the hour for closing should not be extended from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m. and had reason to believe that the council would make a change in the by-law to that effect. If he had supposed the council would meet and not reconsider their former action, he would have delivered judgment two weeks ago.

"The additional hour in the evening," continued his honor, "would, I believe, meet the difficulty in nearly every case. From inquiries I have made I find the small stores do very little business between 5 p. m. and 7 p. m., but after supper until 8 o'clock there is quite a trade done in provisions required for the early breakfast. This additional hour would undoubtedly be a great convenience to many hardworking people and an amendment to that effect might very well have been adopted.

"Had this been done," added his honor, "there would have been no need for me to give judgment in the cases in court. As it is, I shall now go over each case separately and judge whether or not, on its merits, the defendant is guilty. The defendant if found guilty can then appeal to ascertain if the by-law is ultra vires."

WILL NOT WORK WITH NON-UNION MEN.

At a meeting of the Building Trades council last evening it was decided to notify the contractors that after September 1st the members of the unions affiliated with the council would refuse to work with non-union men. Representatives of all the unions in the building trades were present at the meeting and the resolution to take steps to force all the workers in the building trades into their union was adopted unanimously.

LOWER PRICES TO THE FARMER

Continued from page 1. "Some of the potato dealers are reported to be in favor of reciprocity," Mr. Flemming. "What do you know about that?"

"Well, I know the potato producers of New Brunswick are not in favor of reciprocity, whatever some of the dealers may be. If there is any one thing more certain than another, it is that reciprocity, so far from benefiting the potato growers of New Brunswick, will operate greatly to their disadvantage. In the last few years considerable quantities of American potatoes have been shipped into the markets of Upper Canada and sold there in face of a duty of 25 cents a barrel. Some of the best potato growing areas of the United States lie in close proximity to the markets of Montreal and Toronto, and under reciprocity the New Brunswick producers owing to the longer haul, would not be able to compete in those markets at all."

"On the other hand under reciprocity New Brunswick potato growers would have an opportunity to sell their products in the United States, but in view of the American market which prevailed in the American market in recent years that opportunity would not be worth anything to them. Last season while New Brunswick dealers were paying from $1.00 to $1.25 per barrel for provincial potatoes shipped to the Montreal and Toronto markets they were buying potatoes in Aroostook at a much lower price, bringing them to St. John and shipping them to Cuba. At one time last winter New Brunswick potatoes were selling for $2.00 a barrel in the St. John market, while the price across the border was at various times as low as 50 cents a barrel.

"Every year the markets of Montreal and Toronto, as well as of other Canadian cities are calling for a larger volume of products of the farm especially the class of products which can be raised with most success in this province, and it would be poor policy to turn those markets over to the Americans. New York and Michigan are two of the greatest potato raising states in the union; both are able to send their products to Toronto and Montreal by water, and our farmers in this province, having to ship by railway, could not begin to meet their competition.

"Some dealers in this province may favor reciprocity, because they can buy on both sides of the border if necessary. But most of them believe that the effect of reciprocity would be a reduction of prices to the farmer. Only a while ago a well known dealer admitted this to me, saying that he had been storing New Brunswick potatoes and wanted to make an offer to the buyers of the potato pact into effect as he thought there would be a slump in prices."

WOULD REDUCE PRICES.

"Speaking of the Valley Railway, Mr. Fleming said the negotiations looking to the construction of the road were proceeding favorably, and that he hoped to be able to make an announcement that a contract had been consummated before long.

Most of these trades are now pretty well organized, and it is not anticipated that there will be much trouble in carrying out the resolution adopted last evening. The master builders have recently formed

PRESIDENT ANTOINE SIMON.

A courier who has reached Monte Oristo, Santo Domingo, from Port-Liberte, Hayti, says the situation there is grave. There is a good deal of uneasiness also because of the capture of Valliere and other points by the insurgents.

LORDS WILL YIELD ON THE VETO BILL

British Politics Have Peculiarly Interesting Aspect at Present Time--Veto Bill Must Pass.

London, July 14.—British politics at the present moment bear a peculiarly interesting aspect. Nobody doubts that the veto bill will become a law. Lord Lansdowne himself has spoken on that assumption in the last debates in the House of Lords. The only question is whether the lords will carry their opposition to the extent of forcing a wholesale creation of peers.

Alighting from the machine, Atwood walked to where the president stood and was presented by him with a gold medal from the aero club of Washington.

The chief damage was among a large quantity of hay stored in the sheds, a thousand tons of which was destroyed.

TALES OF HORROR FROM FIRE ZONE

Continued from page 1. "I don't know about that. I suspect the Americans have been hanging back in the expectation that if the reciprocity pact goes into effect they will be able to secure lumber at lower prices. You may rest assured that the reason why the Americans wait free trade in forest products is that they expect to be able to buy them at lower prices."

Lumber is one of the items upon which the reciprocity pact will do the most, and it is the Americans and not the Canadians who will profit by a reduction of the duties on lumber. Experience shows that after the reciprocity pact is in effect the Americans reduced the duty on rough lumber a few years ago there was a readjustment of prices, but the Canadian lumbermen did not get the benefit.

Night Hawk district was also caught by the flames and deaths there are reported. Many are coming out with bandaged arms and heads, suffering from severe burns, and all tell of the fearful death roll and many injured. Days will pass before anything like accurate estimates of dead can be made.

Death List One Hundred.

Toronto, July 14.—Secretary Magee of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway Commission after a long distance telephone conversation today with Chief Engineer Clement, issued the following statement: "Mr. Clement who returned from Porcupine last night, says that the reports in the newspapers as to the number of deaths, are greatly exaggerated. When he left Porcupine, the Porcupine relief committee could only account for fifty-two deaths. The reports that 28 or 40 have been drowned in the lake are not authentic. From information gathered from the men running the launches and taking people away, he would say the most by drowning would be six or eight."

"While no doubt the affair is horrible, Mr. Clement says that the dead will be about seventy and he feels sure in assuring us that at the very most the death list will be one hundred. He has good reason to believe that most of the prospectors now in the bush and not yet heard from, will be found to be safe."

"Mr. Clement says as an illustration of the exaggerations, due to the people being excited and blinded with smoke, while at the Frederick House River he had a report that five bodies were waiting on the bank of Redstone River. He was in the boat of the relief committee, on sending for the bodies, could not find any."

Not As Bad As Reported.

"The reports as to the large number of people now waiting to be taken out of Porcupine are not true, as Mr. Clement came out on the last train last night, and there were two empty

BOBBY WILL PROBABLY TAKE ANOTHER "THINK" BEFORE HE MAKES TRIP

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 14.—Bobby Leach's barrel in which he intended going over the falls on the 15th inst., was sent over the falls yesterday afternoon about 5 p. m., on a test trip. The barrel hugged the Canadian side pretty closely and plunged over the cataract about 150 feet from shore, landing clear of the rocks about 100 feet east of the Ontario power house. The barrel was then caught in an eddy and floated in between the Canadian Niagara power tunnel and the falls, where it was held, and this morning not a trace of the barrel could be found, and it is thought that the continued pounding on the rocks under the falls weakened the seams letting in the water and causing the barrel to sink.

THE POWER QUESTION.

A member of the committee appointed to consider the proposals of the Hydro-Electric Company has intimated that a special report governing the granting of franchises is in course of preparation and will be submitted to the Council at an early date. This rather sweeping announcement gives no indication as to methods the committee will pursue or what evidence, if any, will be taken on which to base a report which to be of any value requires the most careful preparation. Ald. Elliot, who makes the announcement, merely says: "We are not considering the power question from the point of view of the Hydro Electric or any other company. We are making recommendations as to what we think the city should do in the way of laying down conditions protecting its interests and the rights of the citizens."

Theoretically, of course, a committee of the Council has but one duty to perform—to protect the interests of the city and the rights of the citizens. It will be a comparatively easy matter to draw up a case from the report on these lines, but it is safe to say that if the report deals only with one side of the case no power company would accept its conditions. St. John needs cheap power and in view of the fact that there are now two companies in the field, one or both of which may, at an early date, be in a position to do business, the committee would do well to give a wider scope to their deliberations.

In protecting the city's interests there should be no disposition to stipulate for impossible conditions as to the price of the current, the conduits and other details. To demand a definite price before permitting a company to enter the city limits is an unreasonable proposition for which no precedent can be found in other cities. It is also fair to assume that the price of power will adjust itself in competition.

The power question is something entirely new to St. John, and should be considered from the broadest standpoint. Before any development can take place it is obvious that a large amount of capital must be provided. Capitalists in these days do not have to go begging for their investments, and in financing an undertaking of this kind they naturally look for a greater return than can be secured from gilt-edged securities. So far the Common Council has not shown a very friendly attitude to the proposals which have been made. The committee which has undertaken to prepare a report on the granting of franchises has a great opportunity to thoroughly and fairly investigate the whole situation. If the fact is realized that no company will deliver power to St. John for commercial purposes without a fair return for the money invested and that favorable consideration does not necessarily mean that the city will fall a victim to a gang of speculators, something definite may be accomplished which will lead to future applications being treated on a more business-like basis.

SIR WILFRID'S RETURN.

Discussing the return of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the political situation, the Toronto News remarks that an ancient knight once prayed God for a strong right arm and a vigorous foe. Sir Wilfrid's vigor, it thinks, will be needed. He is entering upon a fight that will test every muscle. It will be a satisfaction to the victor to know that the Premier was well trained.

Aside from the health of the Liberal Leader there is little ground for satisfaction. He went to England as the avowed advocate of Reciprocity with the United States, a policy that tends to weaken the ties uniting Canada to Great Britain. There can be no questioning this fact. President Taft has urged the adoption of the agreement because it may prevent the consolidation of the British Empire. For the first time Sir Wilfrid found himself strongly criticized in London—and deservedly so. As a matter of fact he did not represent the mass of Canadian opinion in this respect at least.

The attitude he took at the Imperial Conference was an apparent defence of autonomy. But autonomy was not attacked. The Asquith Government, whatever its faults, is not an advocate of undue centralization. The Canadian Premier shied easily. Every drifting leaf, every butterfly in the path awakened his apparent nervousness. He was a good show horse, but not much for work. The wild fears expressed by Hourassa and the Nationalists seemed to be his inspiration. He played to the gallery a gallery of Montreal law students and disappointed politicians. Perhaps also the gallery included the constituency of Drummond-Arthabaska.

It is apparent that when Sir Wilfrid Laurier left Canada he found his chief danger politically in Quebec. He fancied that the West would accept the Reciprocity bargain with rejoicing. His great task therefore would be to mend the fences in his own Province. While he has been attempting this Mr. Borden has been in the West. His audiences have been large and sympathetic. Reciprocity will not sweep the prairies, and the anti-Imperial attitude of the Premier in London will add materially to the strength of the Western Conservatives.

So far as the health of the Prime Minister is concerned, "as the ranks of Tuscany will scarce forbear to cheer." As for his record abroad—it will provoke only an eloquent silence, and an accession of voting strength to the leader of the Opposition.

PREPARING FOR THE SUMMER SESSION.

As the time for the re-assembling of Parliament, on July 18, draws near, reports from Ottawa indicate that preparations are proceeding apace for the comfort of the members during the hot weather. If anything like the present oppressive spell be in store—and it is too much to hope that the weather man will relent to such an extent as to leave no grounds for complaint—the members of Parliament may prepare themselves for a hot time, meteorologically if not politically.

Officials of the House of Commons, however, are leaving no stone unturned to provide what alleviations they may of the almost certainly torrid time to be experienced. Electric fans are being installed in the chamber of the House and throughout the Parliament buildings. Currents of cooled air will blow their great ful breezes over the perspiring brows of the wearied parliamentarians. The Public Works officials responsible for these artificial mitigations of a summer session are said to realize the absolute necessity of providing these cold air zephyrs as an antidote to the sties of "hot air" with which the Government speakers will attempt to flood both Parliament and the country. One ton of ice will be used daily in this cold air system.

The present ventilating apparatus is quite unscientific, the chamber being shut off on all four sides from direct communication with the sunlight and fresh air. Without some hygienic improvements, the very thought of two hundred members sitting day and night during Old Sol's busy time might well fill the hapless representatives with dismay. But this is one of the penalties of greatness, and the nation's representatives will not allow these light afflictions of an adjourned session to becom as the people's voice.

The session will be made still more tolerable not to say positively inviting, if a proposal now being discussed is carried through. The flat roof of the new wing, it has been pointed out, would make an admirable roof garden if properly equipped. Accordingly the roof will in all probability be covered with awnings, and when plants, tables, and suitable resting places are added it will be a pleasant place to catch an occasional length of the ozone of the third heaven. While not a circumstance compared to the far famed roof gardens of New York and elsewhere, yet it may be regarded as a good start for Canada.

NATIONALIZING BRITISH TELEPHONES.

On December 31 the British post office department will take over the business of the National Telephone Company with its capital of $80,000,000, its 18,000 employees and 500,000 instruments. The plant, lands and buildings will be paid for at a price to be fixed by arbitration without any allowance for goodwill or for compulsory sale or for past or future profits. In a recent explanatory statement made in the House of Commons, the postmaster general, Mr. Herbert Samuel, said that under Government control future rates will be fixed on the same principle that the service must be speedy and accurate, that it must pay its own way and provide for interest and sinking fund on capital. Any surplus should, he said, go to reduction of the rates and improvement of the service.

Ten years ago the number of telephone instruments in the United Kingdom was only 200,000—now there are 600,000 including both the postal and company instruments. The postmaster general, however, hopes that the number will be quadrupled within a very few years and is prepared to spend $30,000,000 for extensions and new equipment. The post office is taking over all the employees on fair, even generous terms, Mr. Samuel stating that the pay would in many cases be greater than that allowed by the company, and in no case less unless the rate of pay had been abnormally raised within the last few years in view of the transfer to the state. It is not the intention of the government to throw the telephone system into the routine of the post office department and responsible officers in the various districts will be given a large measure of local control.

LOYALTY TO THE LOW.

(Ottawa Citizen.)

Loyalty must be all-inclusive. It must include the King and Queen, but not more than it must include the commonest and lowest man and woman. We must guard with greatest care the lives of royalty, but what man dare say that we should guard with less care the lives of the lowest?

A charming story is told of Queen Victoria. Going through the wards of a military hospital, she paused by a soldier who was dying in great pain. With the pity that ever characterized the good Queen, she asked him if there was anything she could do for him. He replied, "No, madam, unless you will think for me the nurse who has cared for me." And the Queen, with ready perception and fine spirit, said to the nurse in tones that all might hear, "I want to thank you for your kindness to my son."

In this there was more than a queenly compliment. It voiced the fact of facts in democracy. There is closest intimacy of relation between royalty and what we call the common crowd. It is the same unity that binds every man of us to every other man. It is the oneness of life that makes the high one with the low. "For King George and the People!" We have learned the first well. Let us not forget the second. Now that we have crowned our King, let us to the task of uplifting the people.

Current Comment

(Stratford Herald.)

No better endorsement of Hon. Mr. Hanna's prison farm scheme at Guelph could be desired than the recommendation made to the Presbyterian General assembly at Toronto, that there should be a prison farm in every province. Even a Liberal newspaper hasn't the assurance to sneer at the success of this institution of a conservative government.

(Kingston Whig.)

The Presbyterian church laments a shortage of six hundred workers in the ministry because it cannot grant them the living to which they are entitled. The almighty dollar is cutting a big figure in the world, outside of the church. The number that lendeth to the Lord does not increase very fast.

(Beaumont Journal, Texas.)

That Pittsburg preacher who invites the women members of his congregation to attend church without hats, and his male members to come without coats, may not be the greatest preacher in the Smoky City, but it's an even break he has as much common sense as any of them.

(Bobcaygeon Independent.)

Now would be an opportunity for the churches to have an old time bell revival. A hundred and three in the shade, gives an idea of what an eternity would be, with the addition of a flavor of sulphur on the side.

The theory of criminologists that crime is affected by climate is supported by facts. You never hear of a snowshovel being stolen in summer or a lawn mower in winter.

AT LAST, A CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

"Fruit-a-lives Cured Me" Says Mrs. Baxter.

"I was a helpless cripple from Rheumatism for nearly a year. All down the right side, the pain was dreadful and I could not move for the agony. I was treated by two physicians without help. I saw 'Fruit-a-lives' advertised in 'The Telegram' and decided to try them. After I had taken one box I was much better. When I had taken three boxes, I could use my arm and the pain was almost gone. After taking five boxes I was entirely well again. The cure of my case by 'Fruit-a-lives' was indeed splendid because all the doctors failed to even relieve me. 'Fruit-a-lives' cured me."

MRS. LIZZIE BAXTER,
4 Home Place, Toronto, Dec. 15, '09.

In hundreds of other cases, "Fruit-a-lives" has given exactly the same satisfactory results because "Fruit-a-lives" is the greatest blood purifying medicine in the world. "Fruit-a-lives" the famous fruit medicine regulates the kidneys, liver, bowels and skin, and prevents the accumulation of uric acid which is the prime cause of Rheumatism. "Fruit-a-lives" will positively cure every case of Rheumatism, when taken according to directions, 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Deformation and Reformation or the Conversion of an Occult Scientist.

S. S. Lesson by Evangelina.

July 16th, 2 Chron. 20: 1-20. Manasseh was crowned at twelve. He began by doing "like unto the heathen, to burn incense, and to bow long was doing "worse than the heathen."

Where did the law of heredity come in? The law was all right but the father was all wrong. He had grown failed to see what so many fathers fail to see that.

"A partnership with God is fatherhood. What strength, what purity, what self control, what love, what wisdom, should be long to him. Who helps God fashion an immortal soul."

Briefly summarized the sin of Manasseh was the amalgamation of the false with the true religion, the establishment of a national theodolatrie religion in the British kingdom of Judah preserved a pure, unadulterated, God-given religion she was able to stand before the overwhelming forces of Assyria, and the true she invariably went under.

Adam Smith in his "Wealth of Nations" says: "The false, medieval church may be considered the most formidable combination ever formed against the authority and security of the liberty, reason, happiness of mankind." The same applies to every religion having a measure of truth and two measures of falsehood.

Never was there a time when the experience of Manasseh should be more emphasized in our Sunday schools and churches than at the present, when as Guinness says, "Every weapon, political, civil, religious and even the principles and practices of false systems, not only Papal but Protestant, are introduced into the bosom of the Protestant church and planted securely within its walls and are working most disastrously for its corruption and overthrow of man."

Reverting to the text, what do we read? "He built altars for all the host of heaven in the two courts of the house of the Lord. He caused his children to pass through fire. . . . He set a carved image, the idol which he had made in the house of God. . . . Altars to false gods in the temple! An idol in the house of God! Blasphemy!"

Is not the same thing being done today? Has not ritualism established its altars, its worship of "The Holy Eucharist," and set up its "carved images" (crucifixes) in the house of God. Losing sight of the spiritual, they perform their paltry round of observances and insist in walking by sight, and not by faith, and "the priest," says Hon. S. H. Blake, "is so determined to claim reverence for making food out of a piece of bread that he seeks to surround himself and the ceremony with Tawdry Spectacular Arrangements to the dishonor of God and His service."

But the introduction of heathen practices into the temple of God was not the only sin of Manasseh.

"He observed augury and used enchantments and used witchcraft, and dealt with familiar spirits and with wizards, he wrought much evil in the sight of the Lord to provoke him to anger."

The introduction of heathen worship into the temple, bad as it was, was surpassed by the introduction of the occult sciences—"Sorcery, necromancy, witchery," or in the language of our day—spiritualism, theosophy, Christian Science, clairvoyance, palmistry.

"While men of highest scientific ability admit a large percentage of fraud in the phenomena of times, (fortelling events by signs, as the Pope did last week when a plaster column supporting the lion of St. Mark at the Ethnological exhibition fell and killed two workmen, which he took as a premonition of his own downfall, the lion of St. Mark figuring on the Papal coat of arms), or an exorciser (one who gains control by magical words and rites) or a witch, (one who has supernatural power by compact with the devil) or a charmer (a magician) or a consulter of familiar spirits (the dead departed) or a necromancer (one who reveals future events by means of communication with the dead).

Against The Black Art "There shall not be found among you any one that maketh his son or his daughter to use divination (the pretended art of discovering secrets or future things by supernatural means) or an observer of times, (fortelling events by signs, as the Pope did last week when a plaster column supporting the lion of St. Mark at the Ethnological exhibition fell and killed two workmen, which he took as a premonition of his own downfall, the lion of St. Mark figuring on the Papal coat of arms), or an exorciser (one who gains control by magical words and rites) or a witch, (one who has supernatural power by compact with the devil) or a charmer (a magician) or a consulter of familiar spirits (the dead departed) or a necromancer (one who reveals future events by means of communication with the dead).

When Manasseh professed to worship God and at the same time went to these mediums of Satan concerning his affairs he was serving Satan. Had he lived on the present he would undoubtedly have been a Christian Scientist. Such a declaration is for every delusion of the devil. No one knows better than Satan how much men think of physical life and health and what the devil does to relieve suffering, and knowing this, he found in a weak, effeminate, irascible woman an easy medium for floating the same old lie so readily believed by the first woman of Eden—"Thou shalt not surely die." Christian Science, which is neither Christian nor Science, but pagan nonsense, denies the reality of matter.

One of its exponents, the daughter of a Cabinet Minister, and a college graduate, declares that such a catastrophe as the burning of the General Slocum and the loss of one thousand passengers "never occurred except in the imagination of the people."

Mrs. Slocum affirms that "there are no intoxicating properties in alcohol but only in mortal mind. Alcohol is intoxicating because people think so, they thought the same about milk they were not intoxicated on milk as on alcohol."

How easily the smart set is hypnotized by a smart set of devils, made to believe the smartest lies even fabricated!

How infamous to find a "Church of Christ" planted in every fashionable suburb which denies the personality of God, denies the reality of Jesus Christ, denies the reality of Satan, denies the reality of sin!

Their text book says: "A lie is all the devil there is." So long as he can delude people into such a belief he is quite willing to heal their bodily ailments by mind cure or any other cure.

"And the Lord spoke to Manasseh and to his people but they gave no heed, whereupon the Lord sent the King of Assyria which took Manasseh and bound him with fetters, and carried him to Babylon."

I am not a prophet nor the son of a prophet but

Mark My Words, as sure as the theodolatrie religion is allowed to flourish, like spruce trees in New Brunswick, which were made to feel the clear steel of the sword of the Spirit, we too, like Judah, shall be compelled to grant to an alien, intolerant, antagonistic power, supremacy over us.

It is not many years since Sir Robert Peel in speaking of the deformation of the established church in England said: "The day is not far distant when we shall have to fight the battle of the reformation over again."

"And when he was in distress, he besought the Lord his God and humbled himself greatly before the God of his fathers."

He appealed to the supreme court of heaven—not through any medium or priestly mediator this time. The way to the mercy seat was not blocked by mortal man claiming Pecuniary Considerations For Healing Or Forgiveness, or if it was he hurried them out of the way and went directly to headquarters.

And God was entreated of him, and heard his supplication and brought him again to Jerusalem into his kingdom."

The experience of Manasseh reminds one of that of Philip Mauro, attorney at law, New York. He said, "My mind had been much occupied in efforts to pierce the veil of the material universe, and to discover what, if anything lay concealed behind it."

"The question had arisen in the domains of science, philosophy, occultism, theosophy. All the pursuit had yielded nothing more reliable than conjecture and had from the inquirer after truth wearied, baffled, intellectually starved. Life had no meaning, advantage or purpose, and the powers of the much vaunted human intellect seemed unequal to the solution of the simplest mysteries until God in His wisdom sent me to learn the way of everlasting life from a number of humble people who possess that knowledge for which one of the most scholarly men of his day was willing to sacrifice all his brilliant prospects to attain."

"I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord."

MORNING SESSION OF BAPTIST CONVENTION

Considerable Business Transacted by the New Brunswick Association in Session at Hartland, Yesterday.
Hartland, N. B., July 14.—The association met this morning for the last day's work, with a large attendance and much interest. The corresponding secretary's report was read and the ordination of two candidates to the ministry was decided on.
Rev. Dr. Phillips, assistant moderator, presided at the business session, after devotional exercises led by Rev. W. H. Jenkins, of Gibson.
Rev. Everett Johnson, colored, of Ottonob, on being called on, briefly addressed the association on his work among the colored people of Queens and York counties.
A letter was received from Rev. Mr. Lennon, stating that he had withdrawn from the Baptist denomination and united with the Presbyterian, which had been his original church.
Rev. J. B. Belyea, for the committee on ordinations, recommended that Mr. J. P. Crabtree take a course of study and be granted an association license; that the ordination of Mr. S. Johnson be delayed four months and that a council then be called by the denomination to examine him for his examination; that Mr. D. C. Clark and Rev. F. E. Bishop represent this association; that a committee be appointed to draw up a constitution for candidates for ordination; that Mr. J. A. Corey be ordained.
The examining committee was enlarged by the addition of Revs. H. H. Saunders and T. D. Bell to further examine Mr. S. Johnson for ordination.
Rev. J. G. Belyea, corresponding secretary, reported that there were 294 churches enrolled; 229 reported; 219 had pastors. There were 765 baptisms; 166 churches contributed to the annual offering; there were 293 church edifices; 82 parsonages. The value of church property is $876,688. The amount raised for pastors' salaries was $60,487; total expenditures, $72,400. Denominational work, $11,031.68; total moneys raised, $163,914.36. Most of the offerings were less than last year, with the notable exception of pastors' salaries, in which there was an increase.
Rev. C. T. Clark was chosen assistant secretary; Rev. J. G. Belyea, corresponding secretary.
The following were appointed: Rev. J. A. Cabill to preach the association sermon; alternate, Rev. D. Patterson.
Delegates to Reformed Baptist Alliance—Rev. Dr. McIntyre, Dr. Hutchinson and F. S. Porter.
The following were elected: Rev. C. W. Walden, G. B. McDonald and D. Patterson.
Delegates to convention—D. C. Clark of St. John and D. W. Keith, Hartland.

PARALYZED BY LUMBAGO.
Manual labor or even light exercise is impossible with lumbago. The muscles stiffen out like steel, to move is to suffer. Only a powerful remedy can penetrate deep enough to help. The surest relief comes from Rubbing in Nerviline. It sinks into the very root of the trouble—penetrates where an oily liniment cannot go. To prevent lumbago returning, put on a Nerviline Porous Plaster which removes inflammation and strain from the muscles, and acts as a guard from drafts and exposure. Nothing will so quickly cure as these remedies. All dealers sell Polson's Nerviline and Nerviline Porous Plasters. Refuse all substitutes.

SHERBROOKE RY. AND POWER COMPANY

Montreal, July 14.—At a special meeting of the shareholders of the Sherbrooke Railway and Power Company held today, the presence of the Eastern Townships Electric Company and the Standard Electric Company was ratified. The acquisition of these companies is an important step to the Sherbrooke Company, as it thus obtains control of the major part of the electric lighting business in the thickly populated district between Sherbrooke and the United States border.

The Eastern Townships Electric Company furnishes electric light and power to North Hallow and several other adjacent towns and the Standard Electric Company controls the business at Lennoxville. The Sherbrooke, Plain and Derby Line, Beebe and Derby Centre, Vermont. It was stated at the meeting by the purchase of these concerns the company would be able to sell a much larger proportion of its power twice over than was originally anticipated and would in addition receive very satisfactory rates for the power retained for lighting purposes.

A very satisfactory report of the progress made was submitted showing that the old street railway system had been entirely reconstructed and that the greater part of the extensions had been completed, but had not yet been in operation owing to a delay of the city council of Sherbrooke in deciding with regard to the paving of Wellington street, which has delayed the double tracking of these streets. This matter, however, has now been decided and it is anticipated that the new line will be in operation by about the end of the present month. The new power plant which has been in operation since April, has been giving excellent results.

While only the original street railway nucleus has been in operation, the gross earnings have been showing a large increase and operating expenses were reduced from 68.4 per cent in May, to 58.96 per cent in June.

CLOSING COTTON LETTER. By direct private wires to J. C. Mackintosh and Co.

New York, July 14.—Our market opened steady at a decline of 3 to 6 points and was moderately active during the first fifteen minutes with trade buying at the initial decline. Philadelphia interests were buyers of the old crop.

Room traders seemed to be buying back the cotton sold during the first hour. Market showed a very good tone with prices working up. The appearance of trade buying in the afternoon resulted in a sharp advance regarding the situation in the old crop months and this, together with the uncertainty which must always exist when the crop is still susceptible to unfavorable weather appeared to account for the stealer tone of the market.

SUNSHINE FURNACE

NOT SHAKING. JUST A GENTLE ROCKING OF THE LEVER.

Shaking is a hard, back-breaking exercise, peculiar to common furnaces, while you can stand erect at the Sunshine—and moving the lever, to add fire, about half the length of your arm, a few times, is mere play. A child can easily do it.

Grates of the Sunshine are in two sections—right and left. By gently rocking the lever, a few times, the ashes are released from the right. Repeat the operation on the left and the ashes from that side drop into the ash-pan, too. You couldn't wish for anything easier than the Sunshine Method.

When this lever is not in use it can be disconnected from the grates and the opening capped. But when connected it fills up the opening so snugly that no dust from the falling ashes can escape.

Every detail is thought of on the "Sunshine"—that's what makes it the best.

EXHIBITION GAME WON BY WOODSTOCK

Defeated the Marathons Yesterday Afternoon by a Score of 12 to 5.

Woodstock, 12; Marathons, 5.

It was an exhibition game of ball, between the Marathons and Woodstock on the Marathons grounds yesterday afternoon when the two teams made a total of 24 hits in a game that lasted only seven and a half innings. The game was called at five o'clock to allow the Marathons to catch the western train. When the game was called at the agreed time the score was 12 to 5 in favor of Woodstock.

The victors were the first to bat and no less than 11 Woodstock men faced the Marathons pitchers in the first inning and managed to make six hits, one a home run and six scores.

Upham, the new twirler for the Marathons, made his first appearance on the local diamond and whether his arm was bad or it was one of his days off, the visitors certainly went after him. He gave a base on balls and was touched for five hits, one being a home run. When the sixth score had been tallied up, the Marathons manager took the new find out of the box and put Nesbitt in. One hit and Nesbitt and the next man out fled out and an awful inning was brought to a close.

In this inning Allen, the Woodstock first baseman made the home run. It was a drive to the centrefield fence and while the fielders were looking for the ball in the grass, it crossed the plate. Two hits and a stolen base gave the Marathons a run in the first inning.

In the second inning two hits and a stolen base gave Woodstock another run.

In the third inning Winter opened with a three base hit and he scored on Pitcher Morris falling to handle one from Riley. Then Keeney made an error. Nelson hit safe to left and Riley scored. Botes hit to center, scoring Donnelly and Nelson, giving the Greeks four runs.

The visitors with the aid of a single, a sacrifice and an error, got another run in the fifth.

In the sixth the visitors with four hits, one a two bagger, two stolen bases and a base on ball netted four more runs. This finished the scoring for the teams.

Mayo was put in to hit in Morris' place in the 6th inning and struck out.

Urquhart pitched the 6th and 7th innings for Woodstock and held the Greeks down to two hits and no score.

FREDERICTON AND MONCTON PLAYED A TIE

Special to The Standard.
 Moncton, July 14.—Managers of the Moncton Exhibition Speedway have arranged for three days of circuit racing following the Fredericton and St. John meets. The dates fixed are Aug. 10th, 11th and 12th.

The four or five hundred fans who turned out this evening to see the game between the Fredericton pros and the All-Moncton team, were not disappointed. They saw some good ball but whether the visitors were doing their best or not will not be decided until tomorrow.

Travers of Halifax, who was to have pitched for Moncton, could not come and the locals fell back on Shorty Tritles who has but few curves and depends on his judgment. He was hit for eight, while the locals secured four. Bates was in the box for the visitors.

When the seven innings had ended, the score was a tie, 2 to 2. Moncton scored one in the 2nd and one in the 3rd inning when Fredericton evened it up by scoring two. After that nobody reached third, though but for a splendid catch by Edington in the 5th, the result might have been different. Each team had one error. Tomorrow McKie will be in the box for Moncton.

O'NEIL MAY COMPETE IN SARATOGA

Special to The Standard.
 Halifax, July 14.—The many friends and admirers of John W. O'Neil, champion amateur sculler of America, will be glad to learn that he has sent in his entry to the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen's Regatta, which takes place at Saratoga, N. Y., on July 28 and 29. Although Mr. O'Neil has entered he has not definitely made up his mind whether he will compete or not. He has been training for several weeks and is in good condition. If he can possibly get away he will be one of the starters in the championship race. It will be a pity if he does not take part in this event, for he is considered by America's best critics as the ablest amateur sculler in this country.

ST. JOHN AND WOODSTOCK PLAY TODAY

Today's game in the N. B. and Maine League series will be between the St. John and Woodstock, and if the local team can get at all an even break in the batting they should give the Charlton County men a hard fight for the victory. On the showing the team made in fielding in St. Stephen the other day it is certain that Woodstock will have nothing on them in that department, and if they can hit as well as their opponents they should pull out a win. However it goes it will be a good contest. It is likely that the game will be called off at 2 o'clock sharp. The game will start at 2 o'clock sharp. The batting order for the St. John team will be in the following order: 1st base, Goode; 2nd base, Dolan; 3rd base, Ramsay; 4th base, Dolan; c.f., Pinkerton, s.s., Sabourin, lf., Brunson, rf., Mulvey; 3rd base, Britt, 1st base, Ford or Paquette; pitchers: White, catcher, Woodstock; Black, cf., Wilder, lf., Keany, s.s., O'Donnell or Mayo, catchers; Allen, 1st base; Goode, rf.; Paquette 2nd base; Wessinger, 3rd base; Stinson or Warwick, pitchers.

The Westfield Outing Association has planned an attractive programme for today's half holiday. Races will be held this afternoon and in the evening there will be a dance on the pavilion. At 3 o'clock a sailing race will be held off the wharf, which the entries include the Breadnought, Rosmond, Clip II, and the Louise. YACHT CLUB CRUISE WILL END TOMORROW.

The annual cruise of the R. K. Y. C. will terminate tomorrow when a service will be held at Rocky Point. The yachts that have been away on the cruise will probably reach the point tonight and will anchor until the service is over. A number of boats whose owners were unable to join with the fleet in the cruise and others that spent only a portion of the week up river, will go to Rocky Point. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. G. M. Campbell, chaplain of the fleet. The fleet will return to the city tomorrow afternoon.

WILL BE GREAT GAME IN CALAIS TODAY.

The supreme test of the ability of the Marathons to win the N. B. and Maine League will come today when they meet the Calais team at Calais. Manager Murdoch's ball players have been cleaning up everything in sight. They have won eight games out of eleven played. If the Marathons can win today it should be a fairly safe proposition that they will land very near the top at the end of the season. One thing is sure and that is Calais wins they will defeat the fastest ball team which has left St. John for many days. The players went to Calais last evening so as to be in the very best shape for the game today. It is likely that Sweet will pitch the game today and Connolly will be behind the bat. The full Marathons team was taken along.

TWO DAYS' RACING AT THE CAPITAL.

Fredericton, July 14.—The directors of the Fredericton Park Association at a meeting held last evening decided upon the programme of racing for the mid-summer meeting to be given in this city. There will be two days racing on July 26th and 27th. With three races on the 26th and on the 27th, which will be Thursday, a half holiday, there will be two good classes, and probably Gallagher, 2:03-14, will try to break the track record. The 2:15 class and the free-for-all did not fill and have been declared off, and a new race will be put on, probably a 2:12 class, in which all the 2:15 class horses will be starters, and it is thought a full 2:11-12 will make a field of five sure starters and ensure a great race. Frank Powers of Halifax will probably be engaged as starter for the races.

CURE FOR SICK WOMEN.

When pains gather around the hips and lodge in the small of the back—when to stoop or bend seems impossible, when dizzy spells and bearing down pains are ever present,—that is the time to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Irregularities disappear, vital energy is restored, back trouble is forgotten. The ailing sick woman gains strength, improves in looks, increases in spirit by using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They cure the conditions that rob her of health and vigor. No medicine so helpful as Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c, at all dealers.

PLAY ON THE GOLF LINKS TODAY

The July handicap will take place this afternoon on the golf links. There will be match play against bogey eighteen holes. The semi-finals for the Stetson cup will probably be played next week.

HERE ARE TWO EXQUISITE TRANSPARENCY GOWNS

Paul Pairet, the artistic Parisian gownmaker, created the frock on the standing figure. It is constructed of three layers of chiffon in orchid hues shading from pale lavender to deep magenta, over a printed slip of pale lavender satin. Its sole trimming consists of two bands of ribbon embroidery with ribbon buckles in orchid shades about the skirt, and a narrower band at the high waist line.

How It Feels To Be Crowned

There has hardly been time for George V. and Queen Mary to tell how they felt when the final act of the Coronation was performed, but the Strand has collected the expressions of other kings and queens on the subject. About 30 years ago there was discovered a letter from Anne Boleyn to her father in which she writes: "I said to myself on that Whitsunday, when his Grace did do unto me so mighty honour, that I was all in a dream and that it could not last, but I should awake out of my sleep into my own pettiness. And from the moment when the Mayor and Aldermen did greet me and her Grace of Norfolk did bear my train from Westminster Hall to the Abbey did I say to myself, a thousand times 'It is no true. The King's Grace would ne bend to so unworthy as I. And God knows and his Grace of Canterbury can tell and Pitar Robert, whether or no I shied tears not of joy but astonishment when the rozen bande of St. Edward was put upon my forehead."

when the ring was put on it was too small and caused me much pain in the endeavor to make it pass. The should have provided two, and so I told Somerset to tell the Duke. You will believe that I had more need for rest than food and further ceremony, but these duties were not to be withstood and I endured them to the end without complaints, as you have heard.

CHEMISE EFFECT IN PARTY GOWNS

SACKVILLE

Reception to New Pastor—An Accident—Annual Meetings of Schools and Churches—Social and Personal.

Sackville, July 12.—A pleasant reception as a welcome to the new pastor of the Methodist church, Rev. B. Howard, recently of St. Stephen and his family, was held on Thursday evening in the church school room. Pretty floral decorations made a pleasing appearance on entering. Principal J. M. Palmer occupied the chair and appropriate addresses were given by Dr. Allison, Dr. Inch, Rev. A. B. Dickie and Rev. H. H. Hunt. A solo by Mrs. James added to the interest. Mr. Howard addressed a few well chosen words to his old as well as new friends. A social hour followed with light refreshments served by the ladies of the congregation.

This photograph shows the quality chemise bodice which was in high favor in grandmother's girlhood days. The broad flat bands of ribbon-embroidered chiffon add to the drooping shoulder effect so popular just now in these chiffon evening frocks.

The simple culture is decorated with a soft fold of the chiffon, with two large satin ribbon roses above one ear, and a cluster of smaller roses in the same orchid shades is worn at the surplus front of the waist line.

MILE SWIM BEFORE BREAKFAST IS "EXERCISE" FOR THIS NYMPH

MARY MILLER.

When some men swim a hundred yards and don't have to yell for a life saver to come and tow them ashore, Mary Miller, of New York, who has not yet reached her tenth year, would not consider this distance more than a couple of strokes, and does not really start in showing her ability in the water until after she has passed the mile mark. What is more, when she reaches the mile post, many of the so-called long distance swimming experts of the Hudson, who start out to try and stay abreast of the little prodigy, are ready to quit when they find it impossible to keep up with the little water nymph.

An Enthusiastic Meeting Applauds Condemnation of Reciprocity

CROSS CREEK HAS GRAND GATHERING

Conservative Association Formed and Splendid Banquet Given.

Cross Creek, July 8.—What was undoubtedly one of the greatest political demonstrations ever held in York county, and far eclipsed any ever known in the Conservative stronghold in the Parish of Stanley, was held here last night and marked the organization of the Conservative party in the new polling sub-division of the Parish of Stanley at Cross Creek.

Upwards of 600 people assembled, and the gathering was more of the proportions of what would be seen at the Stanley Fair than anything else that ever happens about here to which it could be likened. People were present from all over the country within a radius of many miles, some coming from as far away as Bloomfield Ridge, a distance of twenty miles, while others came from Woodlands, Tray Creek, the village of Stanley and elsewhere. It was such a grand turnout that its proportions can hardly be realized by persons who were not present. The public meeting was held in the fine Orange Hall here, and that building was not in any way able to accommodate the vast crowd. As many as possible crowded into the building, while others stood outside the doors and windows and every possible place from which the speakers could be heard was occupied. The audience was widely enthusiastic in its reception of the speakers and their applause was long and loud as the proposed reciprocity agreement with the United States was condemned and its disadvantages to the farmers of York county pointed out in a most convincing manner by the various speakers.

Mr. Joseph Thorburn, president of the Liberal Conservative Association of Stanley, presided at the meeting, and the first speaker was Mr. Oswald S. Crockett, M.P., who received a tremendous ovation and who spoke at some length, and was followed by Mr. H. F. McLeod, solicitor general, who was the next speaker, and he was also received with a tremendous ovation. Mr. Crockett's speech was the longest and most interesting of the evening.

Mr. Crockett after complimenting the Conservatives of Stanley upon the splendid work which they had accomplished for their party in the past, and congratulating them upon the favorable auspices under which the new organization of the new Cross Creek sub-division was being started, proceeded at once to the discussion of the Washington trade pact. This agreement, he said, had been negotiated and concluded by Mr. Fielding and Mr. Patterson with the representatives of the United States Government without any mandate from the people and against the explicit pronouncement made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1904 in his speech on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway proposition that Canada today is not in a time of reciprocity. There was a time when Canadians, beginning with myself, would have given many things to obtain the American market, but thank Heaven those days are now over. "I have found in the short experience during which it has been my privilege and my fortune to be placed in any of the affairs by the will of the Canadian people, that the best and most effective way to maintain friendship with our American neighbors is to be absolutely independent of them."

And still a later declaration made by the same authority at the Imperial Conference in 1907:—"There was a time when we were wanting reciprocity with the United States, but our efforts and offers were put aside and negated. We have said good-bye to that trade and we now put all our hopes on the British trade."

Violating its Pledges and Ignoring the People.

Notwithstanding these declarations of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and notwithstanding that in the month of November last during the present session of Parliament Sir Wilfrid Laurier had stated that there would be no revision of the Canadian tariff until a tariff commission was appointed to investigate all interests that might be affected, his Finance Minister, Mr. Fielding, had brought down in the House of Commons on January 26th this year a reciprocity compact, sealed and closed with the United States, embodying nearly five hundred items in the existing Canadian tariff, and affecting nearly every important industry in the Dominion. Mr. Fielding declared that he and his colleague, Mr. Patterson, had pledged the honor of Canada to its adoption and that the Canadian parliament must pass it just as it was without the right to amend or alter it. To this extraordinary conduct of the Laurier Government, Mr. Crockett said the Liberal-Conservative party was absolutely and unqualifiedly opposed, and the opposition had determined to use every means in its power to force the Government to which were made in those campaigns by Liberal candidates and stumpers from one end of the country to the other that Canada was enjoying unexampled prosperity and that this prosperity was the result of the trade policy of the present Government. The Conservative party had not denied that prosperity was abundant in Canada but they took issue with the Liberal claim that the great progress and development which were being achieved were the result of any policy which was inaugurated by the Laurier Government, notwithstanding the denunciation of the national policy by its members and by the Liberal party in opposition, had themselves, when they attained power, recognized its wisdom and continued its operation.

The fiscal policy which was in force today in Canada was precisely the same in principle as the policy which was in force before 1896 with the exception of the provisions which were introduced for the purpose of reducing the duties on Great Britain and her colonies reduced rates of duties as against all other countries, and which provision they had been forced to adopt by the attitude of the Conservative party in opposition.

But putting aside this question altogether Mr. Crockett said he would base his argument upon the trade policy which had been in operation since the adoption of the Laurier Government. If this policy was satisfactory and successful, as no Liberal in Canada was in a position to deny, he asked, was it that just at the time that the Dominion had first put upon its feet when it was enjoying unexampled prosperity with the brightest possible future before it, that the Laurier Government had concluded this trade agreement with the United States, and thereby committed itself to the adoption of a policy which was diametrically opposite to its tendencies and effect to that policy which had given us such splendid results.

Reciprocity Will Destroy the Work of Years.

The Conservative party was opposed to the agreement because it believed that the policy embodied in it is a complete reversal of the policy which has been persistently pursued by both the great political parties of the country since 1878 and under which Canada has achieved a growth and development which has not been equaled by any other country in the world. These remarkable results had been accomplished by promoting and encouraging trade and communication between the different provinces of the Dominion on lines running east and west and west and east. The Intercolonial Railway had been recognized by the fathers of Confederation when the Confederation of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario was effected as the first essential for the proper development of that great scheme and for the consolidation of the union of British North America. It was the policy of the fathers of Confederation that the great project of the Transcontinental Railway in the House of Commons in 1903 "that it be not already too late," and "that what we carry and without paying the price which is levied to other channels, and that an ever vigilant champion does not take to himself the trade that properly belongs to those who acknowledge Canada as their native or adopted land."

The National Policy and the Liberal Party.

Then there was the National Policy, the fundamental principle of which was the encouragement of home industry and the manufacture and development of Canada by Canadian labor of the raw material and great natural resources with which our country is blessed. The result of the consistent pursuit of this policy had been, notwithstanding the misgivings of many honest Canadians in its inception and earlier stages, that new cities and towns had been planted in all portions of the country and that a great home market had been established in which the farmers of the Dominion could sell their produce within the bounds of their own province at prices which for the past few years had reached the highest point in the history of the country. As an illustration of the value of home market to the Canadian farmer, Mr. Crockett quoted the declaration of Mr. Lloyd Harris, one of the most conscientious and able Liberal members of the House of Commons, who, with Hon. Clifford Sifton and hundreds of thousands of others of the best thinking Liberals of Canada, were joining hands with the Conservative party in opposition to the Washington reciprocity pact, that of the $432,000,000 worth of field crops and farm produce raised in the Dominion of Canada in 1909 only $82,000,000 worth had been exported, leaving $350,000,000 worth which we sold and consumed within the bounds of Canada itself. In other words the home market consumes 80 per cent of the total agricultural produce of the Dominion. Mr. Crockett asked if there was any Liberal present who would declare that the trade policy which had been in effect in this country since 1896 had not been satisfactory and successful. If so, he would direct the Liberal's mind and the minds of his audience to the declarations of the Liberal party in the elections of 1909, 1904 and 1903, and ask them to recall the loud claims which were made in those campaigns by Liberal candidates and stumpers from one end of the country to the other that Canada was enjoying unexampled prosperity and that this prosperity was the result of the trade policy of the present Government. If this policy was satisfactory and successful, as no Liberal in Canada was in a position to deny, he asked, was it that just at the time that the Dominion had first put upon its feet when it was enjoying unexampled prosperity with the brightest possible future before it, that the Laurier Government had concluded this trade agreement with the United States, and thereby committed itself to the adoption of a policy which was diametrically opposite to its tendencies and effect to that policy which had given us such splendid results.

Reciprocity Will Destroy the Work of Years.

The Conservative party was opposed to the agreement because it believed that the policy embodied in it is a complete reversal of the policy which has been persistently pursued by both the great political parties of the country since 1878 and under which Canada has achieved a growth and development which has not been equaled by any other country in the world. These remarkable results had been accomplished by promoting and encouraging trade and communication between the different provinces of the Dominion on lines running east and west and west and east. The Intercolonial Railway had been recognized by the fathers of Confederation when the Confederation of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario was effected as the first essential for the proper development of that great scheme and for the consolidation of the union of British North America. It was the policy of the fathers of Confederation that the great project of the Transcontinental Railway in the House of Commons in 1903 "that it be not already too late," and "that what we carry and without paying the price which is levied to other channels, and that an ever vigilant champion does not take to himself the trade that properly belongs to those who acknowledge Canada as their native or adopted land."

The National Policy and the Liberal Party.

Then there was the National Policy, the fundamental principle of which was the encouragement of home industry and the manufacture and development of Canada by Canadian labor of the raw material and great natural resources with which our country is blessed. The result of the consistent pursuit of this policy had been, notwithstanding the misgivings of many honest Canadians in its inception and earlier stages, that new cities and towns had been planted in all portions of the country and that a great home market had been established in which the farmers of the Dominion could sell their produce within the bounds of their own province at prices which for the past few years had reached the highest point in the history of the country. As an illustration of the value of home market to the Canadian farmer, Mr. Crockett quoted the declaration of Mr. Lloyd Harris, one of the most conscientious and able Liberal members of the House of Commons, who, with Hon. Clifford Sifton and hundreds of thousands of others of the best thinking Liberals of Canada, were joining hands with the Conservative party in opposition to the Washington reciprocity pact, that of the $432,000,000 worth of field crops and farm produce raised in the Dominion of Canada in 1909 only $82,000,000 worth had been exported, leaving $350,000,000 worth which we sold and consumed within the bounds of Canada itself. In other words the home market consumes 80 per cent of the total agricultural produce of the Dominion. Mr. Crockett asked if there was any Liberal present who would declare that the trade policy which had been in effect in this country since 1896 had not been satisfactory and successful. If so, he would direct the Liberal's mind and the minds of his audience to the declarations of the Liberal party in the elections of 1909, 1904 and 1903, and ask them to recall the loud claims which were made in those campaigns by Liberal candidates and stumpers from one end of the country to the other that Canada was enjoying unexampled prosperity and that this prosperity was the result of the trade policy of the present Government. The Conservative party had not denied that prosperity was abundant in Canada but they took issue with the Liberal claim that the great progress and development which were being achieved were the result of any policy which was inaugurated by the Laurier Government, notwithstanding the denunciation of the national policy by its members and by the Liberal party in opposition, had themselves, when they attained power, recognized its wisdom and continued its operation.

The fiscal policy which was in force today in Canada was precisely the same in principle as the policy which was in force before 1896 with the exception of the provisions which were introduced for the purpose of reducing the duties on Great Britain and her colonies reduced rates of duties as against all other countries, and which provision they had been forced to adopt by the attitude of the Conservative party in opposition.

But putting aside this question altogether Mr. Crockett said he would base his argument upon the trade policy which had been in operation since the adoption of the Laurier Government. If this policy was satisfactory and successful, as no Liberal in Canada was in a position to deny, he asked, was it that just at the time that the Dominion had first put upon its feet when it was enjoying unexampled prosperity with the brightest possible future before it, that the Laurier Government had concluded this trade agreement with the United States, and thereby committed itself to the adoption of a policy which was diametrically opposite to its tendencies and effect to that policy which had given us such splendid results.

Alex. Moore, Esq., in one of many hundreds who knew that GIN PILLS will cure Rheumatism. He writes from Newburgh, Ont.

"My father had been troubled with Rheumatism for a number of years. He tried two doctors but got no relief, when my uncle insisted on him trying GIN PILLS. He purchased a box and after taking GIN PILLS for a week, found that they were giving him much relief. He then bought three boxes, which were the means of curing him. He is now a strong man—in good health and able to attend to his daily work—and all the credit is due to GIN PILLS."

They know about GIN PILLS down in Nova Scotia too. In fact, GIN PILLS are the old standby all over the Maritime Provinces because GIN PILLS really cure Rheumatism. An old gentleman in Yarmouth, N. S., says:

"I have been bothered with Rheumatism for the past year and have taken a good many kinds of medicine, but found no relief. One day, a friend advised me to try GIN PILLS and after taking a few boxes, I felt

CONDENMATION OF RECIPROCI- TARY

at Columbus, Ohio, on February 10th that "the greatest reason for adopting this agreement is the fact that it is going to unite two countries with kindred people and lying together across a wide continent in a commercial and social union to the great advantage of both" and by his later declaration made at Atlanta that "When we entered upon the negotiations I asked the Secretary of State and his commissioners to offer free trade in everything, but Canada could not grant us this, because she has a protective system and she was afraid of the competition of our better organized industries" and his still later declaration made at New York on April 29th last, "I have said this was a critical time in the solution of the reciprocity question. It is critical because unless it is now decided favorably to reciprocity it is exceedingly probable that no such opportunity will ever again come to the United States. The forces which are at work in England and in Canada to separate her by a Chinese wall from the United States and to make her part of an imperial commercial band reaching from England around the world to England again by a system of unrestricted tariffs will derive an impetus from the rejection of this treaty and if we would have reciprocity with all the advantages which it necessarily brings, we must take it now or give it up forever." What did the report of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives upon this agreement declare in its opening paragraph? "The bill takes a long step towards establishing for the continent of North America a policy of unrestricted reciprocity and commerce, recognizing natural conditions that have been too long ignored." There was a flat, clear and unambiguous declaration from Congress itself that this agreement was but a step and a long step towards unrestricted reciprocity and commercial union. A long step actually made if this agreement is ratified by the United States and the United Kingdom.

The organizers had done everything to make the event a national one. All the buildings were gay with flags, but the sky was grey, and the wind, which was fairly strong gave some anxiety to the organizers whose greatest wish was that the beautiful laurel wreaths and trophies which had been prepared for the victors should not wither before they had been won. However, telegrams had barely arrived from Liege to announce the second arrival. This was the beginning of one of the most superb spectacles that aviation has yet provided. First Vidart, then Garros, then Beaumont, then Weyman appeared on the horizon, all within the space of 20 minutes. Vidart whose name has been made popular by his flight to Liege took Gilbert's place at the writing table and signed away whilst giving an account of his journey. I have left my handkerchief behind. My

Perhaps the most interesting step made by the European circuit air racers in their whole international trip just ended, was at quaint and beautiful old Utrecht in Holland. In the story of their experiences there the correspondent of the London said:—"The picturesque and gaily decorated aerodrome at Soesterberg, was a centre of pilgrimage for hundreds of sportsmen from all parts of Holland, who joined the inhabitants of Utrecht in giving an enthusiastic reception to the aviators from Liege. The ground is a square patch of heather. The grand stand and sheds line two sides of it, and thick pine woods stand opposite. The tall tower of Utrecht Cathedral, six miles away, shows on the horizon, a small finger of violet gray. The organizers had done everything to make the event a national one. ### TWO PARTICIPANTS IN EUROPEAN CIRCUIT RACE SOARING OVER PICTURESQUE LOWLAND COUNTRY

Rare in the annals of photography is the picture shown here of Mons. Gibert in flight above an old windmill in the plains of Holland. It shows the ancient and modern handiwork of man in close juxtaposition.

Mons. Gibert and Mons. Garros were among the leaders in the European circuit all the way from Paris to London.

diminish their admiring enthusiasm as second by second the speck grew and gained definite shape. Was it a Bleriot, Deperdussin, Nieuport, or Morane? "Each question was asked, until finally, when the machine was over the grand stand, it was seen to be one of the red R. E. P. monoplanes, with Gilbert's number painted on each wing. The band at once struck up the Marseillaise, while the pilot made a graceful curve above the field and landed with the utmost ease on the far side, a quarter of a mile away. "A general stampede to the sheds was made to welcome the aviator, and whilst the men cheered and waved their caps, the women handed him post cards and autograph albums for signature. But my hands are all oily and dirty," he protested. "No matter," they replied, and instantly he bent down to sign all that were presented to him leaving a characteristic thumb mark in spite of all his care. "An impromptu reception was followed by the presentation of laurels by Gen. van Hout, representing Queen Wilhelmina. "It was while this ceremony was proceeding that another bomb announced the second arrival. This was the beginning of one of the most superb spectacles that aviation has yet provided. ## A WILD ROSE CENTERPIECE

CIDA FERRIS

HOW do you like it? The commendable feature that I wish to bring to the notice of my large circle of embroiderers is the beautiful effect that can be produced by little work.

One-half of this design is shown. It is a swing design. When you trace the pattern on medium-weight linen, arrange it so that the stem that runs into the border is swung around from the lower to the upper part of the circle.

This design is effective in pink and pale greens on white or tan. An all-white scheme is also good. In this design coarse thread should be used, as the work is on a large scale. You will see that the flower is worked in long-and-short stitches, as shown in the detail drawing. Make the center in French knots, and the turned-over edge is worked solid, using stitches across the space.

The stems you will do in stemstitch, and the leaves are shown in outline stitch, with the turned-over edge solid and half done in seed stitches or, in other words, backstitches.

The broad bands that break into the design are very effective when outlined on coarse thread and filled in with seed stitches or French knots. Work the edge after padding with darning cotton, in buttonhole stitches, and reinforce your edge by double treatment of the stitches. This will prevent fraying.

Broad lace in olive or turquoise can be applied on the edge, attaching it quite far in, so that the little curved-in parts of the edge will be filled in with lace. If you do not care to hide so much of the lace, fill in the space first with lace and then add the lace as if the circle were unbroken.

Some women are adding French knots in color to the face edge, using the color of the blossoms. Try this wild rose design. It is too pretty to miss, and will be more valuable when worked by you in your leisure hours.

DRAWNWORK HINTS

WHEN making drawnwork be careful not to put too many different stitches in one piece of work. If possible, use a wooden frame to hold it firmly. Beginners should try for the first piece a dolly made of butcher's linen, with a hemstitched border.

Decide the depth you wish to work and carefully cut the threads to that depth on all sides, next to the hem at the corners. Draw out the cut threads.

Use one-half-inch squares for dollies and one-quarter-inch squares for handkerchiefs, making three rows of work in depth.

Cut one-half inch, leave one-half inch, and repeat until the squares are formed. Draw three rows from side to side. If you desire a complete border, the remaining squares to be drawn have their threads cut at the edge of the center square and pulled from center to the hem. With a fine cotton sew around the inner border and center square. Now you have the linen in small blocks of thread and holes. It is well to whip over all the edges of the solid blocks to make them firm. Paste the thread in the middle of the lower edge of the right-hand corner and proceed with the simplest stitch.

Divide the strands on each side into three portions. Carry the needle over to the side, catch into the middle of the side and throw the thread over the point of the needle, making a twisted loop.

Next, carry it directly above and separate one-third of the strands from the rest; throw the strand over the needle point to make another twist. It is a loose, underdrawn buttonhole stitch. Go to the left side in the same way and finish at the bottom of the square by twisting the needle about the first thread and fastening to four edges of the hem. Oversew the edge finely until you come to the next vacant block. The spider stitch is made by using a darning stitch and weaving in a circle twice around the little square and knotting the thread when it goes over or under. The flower stitch is made by taking two strands of one side of the square and two on the next side and with a darning stitch weaving them together six times. Take the two middle threads of the four you have been using and draw them together three times; this will make one petal of the flower; the other six are merely repetitions of the former stitch. Each block of linen, if this stitch is used, must be made into a flower before another stitch is used. Butterflies are woven in by using the darning stitch. Begin with six for the body and widen until the wings are the desired size; curve slightly.

In drawnwork the number and combination of stitches are almost endless. You can secure designs, patterns and directions for working at any of the large stores that sell art needlework.

At the present time, besides using drawnwork dollies on polished tables, it is one of the best decorations for fine towels.

This embroidery is put upon damask-designed huckaback, mummy cloth, basket weave, Irish linen and birdseye linen.

One and is embroidered. The best taste inclines to a plain, hemstitched border. Fleurs-de-lis and vines are sometimes embroidered on the hemstitched borders.

The towels are drawn from Mexican insects, and solid embroidery is used with this.

Many beautiful effects are thus obtained.

To Prevent Sagging Skirts

SUMMER dress skirts when made of thin material will always sag after they are hemmed and finished if care is not taken to prevent it. A good way to do is to have the skirt sagged first, before it is turned up to be hemmed.

This is done after the skirt is completely finished excepting the hem, from the band to the final fitting and the last hook and eye is in its place. The skirt is now hung in a closet or, better still, put upon a full-length dress form, raised from the floor by placing it on a box, and the bias portions of the gored weighted so they will stretch to the fullest extent.

After several days of this strain the material will have sagged to its fullest extent, and the hem may be measured and turned up. Anything will do for weighting. The smallest weights from the kitchen scales, put in temporary coverings of muslin and pinned on, are excellent. Any other small objects of uniform heaviness will do for other weights.

Apron Pockets

SEW the pocket of your apron on the inside, a little in from the right-hand edge. Nothing will drop from it then, it will stay clean and a great deal can be carried in it without showing any ugly fullness.

To Hem Napkins

IT is very difficult to turn a narrow and perfectly even hem in table napkins by hand.

Try the experiment of attaching the hemmer to your sewing machine and running your napkins through it without using the thread. They, of course, will come out evenly creased to the desired narrowness and ready to be sewed by hand.

New Veil

YOU can keep a new veil from stretching by threading the sewing machine with silk of the same color and stitching carefully along each edge. The stitching will not show and the veil will remain always in good condition.

Woolen Crochet on Velvet

"IF possible," ask the bored embroiderer, "that there is anything new under the sun in the way of fancywork?" Yes; it is very true, and very pretty as well. It is woolen crochet on velvet.

The larger photograph of the two reproduced here shows the work in detail. A dull velvet with not too thick a pile is chosen for the foundation, and on it are sewed clusters of little flowers, crocheted in Berlin wools in a contrasting and appropriate color. The relative size of each flower can be gathered from the fact that, as shown in the other photograph, the example given here is a girde with ash ends.

The flowers are crocheted separately—it is the simplest form of the work, being only in single crochet, though shell stitch, if preferred, and if carefully manipulated, will give the raised edge even better. Start the work, of course, from the center, thus leaving the little opening through which the flower is sewed to the velvet. A few radiating stitches, doubled so as to give a heavier effect in the topmost blossom of the cluster, are all that is necessary. There remains to add the stems and leaves.

The former, naturally enough, are done in stem stitch, with rather long stitches. Use silk or mercerized thread for this, as for all the work except the flowers themselves, since wool would be too heavy. Besides, the contrast increases the attractiveness of the effect.

For nearly all the leaves a heavy back stitch will be sufficient. But the leaves at the base of the central cluster on the girde and of the cluster at the ash ends must be treated differently.

They are marked either entirely in Japanese chain stitch, or in seed stitch with a chain stitch outline. Even French knots, with a buttonholed edge, would be quite in order, especially as the leaves on the ash proper reach quite to the edge of the velvet. They will be the better, therefore, for a little fortifying with satin-stitch.

The prettiest part of this quaint work and, I think, its real reason for being, is the lovely color contrasts obtainable. The piece shown here was in a soft salmon pink on dark brown velvet, with olive green stems and a slightly darker green in the lower leaves. I have seen, with harmonizing shades of green for leaves and stems, peacock blue on white, purple on gray, straw color on terracotta, navy blue on crimson. Each was as pretty as it could be; the soft shades of the wools (the same wools of which they are making artificial flowers for street wear at Paris), the velvet and the silk contrasted so charmingly.

This form of ornamentation is adaptable to almost any article of dress; not only girdles, but ties, tunic edges, scarfs, hairbands and hat bows are amenable to this treatment.

And then there are all the minor articles of dress and household use: bags of all sorts, fans, candleholders, lampcovers, sofa pillows—their name is legion.

Certainly it is a very well worth the learning—and it is very easy to learn.

Three Ways to Transfer

HERE are suggestions for transferring the pattern before you to any material before working.

Perhaps the easiest way is the "window-pane" method. This is successful when the material is thin, like linen, batiste, etc. Pin the sheet of paper and the material together and hold them up against the glass of a window. With a sharp pencil draw on the material the design, which can be easily seen through the goods. If one-half of the design only be given, unpin the paper and turn the other side to the fabric. The strong light behind will make it plain.

If you have carbon paper, you should place the sheet between your fabric and the newspaper. This latter is on top. With a sharp pencil go over the outline of the design. The impression will be left in fine lines and will last until worked. This method is successful on heavy material.

The last way is also easy. On wax paper or ordinary tissue paper trace the pattern before you. When the design is completed, turn over the paper and outline the pattern with a heavy lead pencil. Then place the design down on the fabric and redraw the outline, pressing hard with the pencil. The pattern will be transferred without difficulty.

Surely the way is easy.

Handkerchiefs

FROM a French review comes the news that the handkerchief does not come from CHINA, as is generally believed, but from ITALY.

Only 200 years ago the handkerchief of a Venetian woman was considered a great curiosity. The style of carrying a lot of lace and linen crossed the Alps and was received with great favor at the court of France.

Handkerchiefs were then made of cambric or lawn and bordered with venetian or alençon lace. Under Henry III of France the sachet was introduced. A little later the handkerchief was taken into Germany and was known as the "facioletin," after its Italian name. Only persons of quality used it, and an edict of 1796 was published at Dresden interdicting the use of the handkerchief among the trading classes. It then reached England, and naturally followed its introduction into this country.

MAJOR GORDON TELLS WHY HE IS LEAVING ST. JOHN.

Unfair Treatment from the City the Reason He is Moving the Maritime Nail Works to Calgary.

"It's impossible to do business in this city—that is why I am going to remove my plant to Calgary," said Major Gordon of The Gordon Nail Works to a Standard reporter who interviewed him yesterday. "Any outsider who comes here with any kind of a proposition gets a glorious welcome, but the man who belongs here and is trying to develop a local industry—well, there seems to be a lot of people anxious to make it impossible for him to earn a living."

Five years ago I had a dispute with the city over the matter of a lease. I had made some improvements which the city did not want to give me credit for, but after some discussion I arrived at an agreement with the Board of Works. Thereupon a section of the press and some of the people made an uproar and stampeded the aldermen. The council turned down the proposition which the Board of Works had agreed to after careful investigation, and on the advice of their legal advisor. As a result I was involved in litigation and have had to make five appeals to the Supreme Court, and the end is not yet in sight. Every decision has been in favor of my company, but the city has kept up the fight and put me to a lot of trouble and expense.

"St. John has a reputation for the way it treats its own industries. Even Halifax laughs at St. John. I was there the other day, and quite a number of people asked me if the city had succeeded in putting my company out of business yet."

"But the law suit is not the only reason why I am leaving. There is not a slip on the West Side to receive raw materials, and the C. P. R. has recently increased freight rates from St. John to Carleton by ten cents a ton. The I. C. R. carries steel rods from Sydney to St. John, a distance of 400 miles for $1.75 per long ton; but we have to pay 60 cents a short ton to get the same material from St. John to Carleton. That is a serious handicap. If I was stopping here I would take the responsibility of bringing the matter before the Railway Commission."

"Everybody here in Carleton is handicapped in the same way, but nobody has enterprise enough to take the matter to the Railway Commission with a view to securing a reduction of rates from the East to the West Side. For my company this rate is a serious matter, as our principal competitors in the maritime provinces are located on the East Side, and have the advantage over works in Carleton."

Asked when he intended to leave St. John Mr. Gordon said he had considerable material to work up before he removed his plant, and could not say definitely when he would make a start. The new buildings in Calgary would be sufficiently advanced for occupation in about two months. "We will have a much bigger plant in Calgary than we have here," he added. "I was only there a week, but I got lots of encouragement and believe we will be able to do a big and successful business."

HOW ST. JOHN'S WATER SUPPLY IS WASTED

Ten Million Gallons a Day Drawn from Supplying Lakes, and Fully Half of this is Lost.

It will come as a surprise to a good many people, even in these hot summer days, to learn that it takes 10,000,000 gallons of water every twenty-four hours to supply the city's needs. It must be supposed on this account that St. John is an unusually thirsty city—less than half this enormous quantity would be sufficient for all purposes, if many of the mains were not old and leaking or were not being subjected to a pressure which causes millions of gallons to run to waste. The records show that 10,000,000 gallons are drawn every day from Lake Latimer and the Loch Lomond. Where the half that is wasted goes to no one knows. It is hoped that extensive renewals of the mains which are to be made this season will have the effect of reducing the waste, but nothing less than a thorough overhauling of the distribution system will enable the city to get the full benefit of what is, fortunately, an almost limitless source of supply.

Residents on Mount Pleasant and other summits were without water for some hours yesterday on account of repairs being made on No. 3 main near the junction with the Hickey road. A leak had developed at a man-hole and a new gasket, equivalent to a "washer" on a large screw, had to be installed. The work took longer than was anticipated and considerable inconvenience resulted from the weak pressure. Repairs were completed last evening.

The water department is continuing the examination of the water extension this season, and the condition of the wood stave pipe on No. 1 section is now being investigated. Trenches are being dug to drain off the ground water and ascertain if any extensive leaks exist. It is thought probable that a weakness may be found beneath the bed of Little River, which may account, in part, for water now running to waste.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Blanche White, of Fall River, Mass., is in the city, visiting Mrs. W. A. McInley, 74 Meeklenburg street. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harrison arrived in the city on their return from England. S. W. Smith and Mrs. W. G. Smith leave for Yarmouth this morning.

BAHAMAS ISLANDS FAVOR ANNEXATION TO CANADA.

Nassau Business Men Say Such a Course Would Lead to Great Development Between Two Countries.

The idea of annexation to Canada is very popular in the Bahamas," said Ralph G. Collins, of Nassau, who was at the Victoria yesterday. "It is believed that the islands could develop a fine market for fruit in Canada, and also for other products. Owing to the duty on fruit entering the United States the fruit raising possibilities of the Bahamas have hardly touched. That prevents the islands making the progress they ought to, though we have no particular reason to complain of present conditions. Our people raise considerable fruit now, and ship it to New York, whence some of it finds its way to the Canadian market, but owing to the American duty in favor of Porto Rico and Cuba they don't make much profit on their exports of fruit. If we had good connections with Canada we could supply this country with all kinds of tropical fruits, for the Bahamas can raise fruit with any of the West Indian islands."

"Then we could supply Canada with the best kind of sisal for making binder twine. Some of the islands are raising considerable quantities of sisal. We ship it to New York, and some of it is sent on to Canada, and to other parts of the world. But we get practically no direct orders from Canada, which means, probably, that we get smaller prices than we ought to, and the Canadian consumer pays higher prices than he should do, and all for the benefit of the New York middlemen."

"We have sufficient hard pine to supply Canada with a million feet per month for the next fifty years without reforesting, and as the trees attain a good growth in 25 years we could export our pine indefinitely and increase the output by careful reforesting. The islands produce a fine quality of hard pine, suitable for ceiling and flooring. The pine takes a beautiful polish. While in Montreal the other day I saw some of the dealers, and arranged to make a number of shipments of hard pine by the Elder Dempster Steamship Company. Canada has been buying considerable hard pine from the American states, and there is no reason why we should not supply her with this article."

"What kind of products would the Bahamas take from Canada?" Mr. Collins was asked. "All kinds of agricultural products—grain, hay, oats and foodstuffs of all kinds," was the reply. "At present some Canadian farm products find their way to Nassau by the Elder Dempster Line, but we get about four-fifths of our food stuffs from the United States. That is due to the fact that dealers do not like to order from Canada, because the steamship service is so irregular. Our dealers do not carry large stocks, and prefer to order small lots frequently from New York, as they can get shipments from there much quicker and with more certainty that they will arrive when they want new stores."

In reply to further questions Mr. Collins said the great drawback to the development of trade between Canada and the Bahamas was the lack of a good steamship service. The Elder Dempster boats which are calling there under a government contract, do not keep to any schedule, and only call once in a while on the return voyage to pick up fruit for the Canadian company which is in the fruit raising business there. "I'm afraid," he added, "that the people of Canada are less interested in establishing a commercial or political union with the Bahamas and developing their trade with us than we are in getting into closer relations with this country."
