DR. BAXTER SMASHES GLOBE'S CONTENTION REGARDING PORTLAND

FALLACIOUS CONTENTION OF GLOBE REGARDING PORTLAND SHOWN UP BY THE HON. MINISTER OF CUSTOMS

Electors of Carleton Cheered to Echo as Hon. Dr. Baxter Made Reply to Misrepresentation of St. John's Evening Paper — Accepts Globe's Challenge and Reads to Audience Hanna Letter.

Dr. Baxter Asks Editor of Globe to Make Study of Statutes Covering Railroads and Secure First-Hand Information If It Desires to Play Fair—Colonel MacLaren and L. P. D. Tilley Make Eloquent Pleas in Support of the Honest Administration of Premier Meighen.

Citizens of Carleton packed their City Hall at the meeting held yesterday evening, which developed into a rousing rally in support of Hon. Dr. J. B. M. Baxter, Federal Minister of Customs and Excise and Dr. Murray MacLaren, Conservative standard-bearer in this constituency, the other speakers were L. P. D. Tilley, K. C., and F. A. Dykeman. No more convincing proof of the intense interest which is being taken in the candid, honest and straightforward campaign of Hon. Dr. Baxter and Dr. Murray MacLaren was strikingly afforded, than the presence of such a large number of the best and most intelligent people of Carleton. The audience was most responsive and interspersed the remarks of the speakers with round after round of applause. A very large percentage of ladies were present, and the chairman for the occasion was W. D. Thompson. The chief feature of the meeting was the eloquent and masterly address of Hon. Dr. Baxter, who, not only replied to the extraordinary and absolutely unfair criticism of the St. John Globe in regard to the Grand Trunk Railway, over which the Government has no control, as that system has not yet come into its possession, and the shipments of grain ever that line to Portland, Me., but simply supported each argument with the most tangible evidence which he produced to the audience. Time after time the Minister of Customs was cheered to the echo, and it is safe to say that there was not one member of the large gathering who did not leave the meeting with a feeling of admiration for Hon. Dr. Baxter, who, in a fair, clean and frank manner, again proved the fallacy of statements published recently in the opposition papers, and which, intentionally or otherwise, is a misrepresentation of the facts.

Pres. Hanna's Telegram
In support of the many previous statements which he has made on the subject, Hon. Dr. Baxter read the following telegram received from Dr. B. Hanna, President of the Canadian National Railways, dated Toronto, November 28th, as follows:

"Please give flat contradiction to report that National Railways is diverting grain to Portland, Maine, National Railways including Grand Trunk Pacific have not shipped one single car of any commodity to Portland this season that has not been so routed at the direction of the shipper."

The Minister of Customs also pointed out that, under the agreement entered into between the Government and the Grand Trunk Railway on March 8, 1920, and ratified by Act of Parliament on May 11th, 1920, it was stipulated that after the ratification of the agreement, a committee of management was to be appointed consisting of five persons, two by Grand Trunk Railway, two by the Government, and those four to choose a fifth member. The committee was to work the railway so far as possible in harmony with the Canadian National Railway and the Grand Trunk Railways, and as necessary for the usual and ordinary business of the system except with the concurrence of the managing committee and the approval of the Governor in Council. This committee was authorized to act until the preference and common stocks are transferred to, or vested in, the Government, when it shall be discharged. The value of the preference and common stocks was to be submitted to arbitration.

This has been done and the award was made in September. The award consisted of Sir Walter Caswell, Sir Thos. White and Chief Justice Tait, of the Supreme Court of the United States, and was in accordance with the contention of the Government. The Grand Trunk Railway, however, have the right to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada or to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, and this right they are exercising and until the appeal is settled the Government does not get control of the stock in any way whatsoever, nor does it have to pay the value of the same. But when these stocks in question are transferred, the Grand Trunk Board of Directors must vacate their offices and not until then does the Government take control.

In referring to the insinuation, published in the St. John Globe, to the effect that part of the letter dated Nov. 16, 1921, which was received by him from Dr. B. Hanna, President of the Canadian National Railways, had been suppressed, Hon. Dr. Baxter proceeded to read the communication in full, and declared that he would be glad to exhibit the original for inspection at any time to the Editor of the Globe, or any other person. The opening part of the letter merely declared that the question of the movement of grain to St. John had been considered by a committee of the House at the last session; and concluded with the following paragraphs:

"The point we have been endeavoring to stress from time to time is that the railway company cannot divert grain from one port to another—we must in every case respect its bill of lading."

"As perhaps you may know, the management of the Canadian National Railways has no jurisdiction whatever over the Grand Trunk Railway and I am, therefore, not in a position to give you any information respecting the movement of traffic on that line."

Liberals at Fault
At the present time any grain that was going over the Grand Trunk railway to Portland, Me., was going there as the result of the conditional clause which was inserted in the legislation enacted by the Liberal Government which provided that any grain going over that line should go through Carleton.

DE VALERA PLACES FAULT AT DOOR OF ULSTER THAT PEACE HAS NOT COME

Ennis, Ireland, Nov. 30.—Damnon De Valera today delivered an address in the Town Hall here in which he declared if peace in Ireland was not brought about it would not be because "there is not the will on the part of Ireland to make it, but because those opposed to us in Ireland do not want to make peace with us."

"I may tell you," Mr. De Valera continued, "that we stand today, no matter what other people say, exactly where we stood, and for the principles for which we stood four years ago. We have gone as far as we can go consistent with those principles for peace; we cannot, and will not go any further. If we go further it would be for us to betray those principles which have been fought for by generations of Irishmen for the past six or seven hundred years."

PRES. HANNA OF C. N. R. MEETS CAMPAIGN-LIE OF LIBERALS

J. B. M. BAXTER, Toronto, Nov. 28, 1921. Minister of Customs, St. John.

Please give flat contradiction to report that National Railways are diverting grain to Portland, Maine, National Railways, including Grand Trunk Pacific, have not shipped one single car of any commodity to Portland this season that has not been so routed at the direction of the shipper.

D. B. HANNA.

ONLY MIRACLE CAN AVERT COLLAPSE OF IRISH PARLEYS AND RENEWAL OF WARFARE

All British Government Business Suspended The Cabinet May Devote Its Energies to Dealing With Irish Affairs—Sinn Fein Has No Intention of Altering Its Attitude Regarding Either the Unity of Ireland or Allegiance to the Crown.

London, Nov. 30.—All government business is giving way to the gravity of the Irish situation. Both government and Irish circles express the feeling that only a miracle can avert the collapse of the conference and a renewal of warfare.

Cabinet Drops Business.
It had been intended to hold a cabinet council tonight to consider German reparations in connection with the visit of Dr. Walter Rathenau, but this had to be postponed in order to deal with Irish affairs to hold a sitting. Lord Birkenhead, due to speak at a political meeting in Liverpool, was obliged to stay in London. He sent a message of apology, explaining that his absence was owing to "grave public affairs."

Premier Lloyd George wired to the meeting, explaining that "such a move on the part of the Premier would not be viewed with patience or without suspicion for the reason that, if Irish support in the United States was weakened in consequence of the Premier's visit to Washington, the Sinn Fein might be forced to modify its demand, upon which it now feels in a position to persist."

The impossibility of maintaining the truce long after the breakdown of the conference is realized. The view expressed by the Sinn Fein is that there would be no formal denunciation of the truce by either side, but that it would "quickly decay." It is pointed out that such provocative acts on both sides, as have been occurring recently in Ireland, would probably be regarded as definite breaches of the truce and cause its speedy collapse if it were not for the fact that the conference still has being. When the conference finally fails, such acts must inevitably lead to renewed warfare.

British Column Overpowered By Wazeri Raiders

Two British Officers and Party of Troopers Were Killed—Moplahs Rounded Up.

London, Nov. 30.—The India office reports that on November 25 a small British column, consisting of two British officers and eighty-two Indians, were overpowered and cut up by a band of Wazeri raiders from Afghan frontier, north of Quetta, British Beluchistan. The fighting lasted four hours. Both the British officers and about twenty Indians were killed, and the other members of the column either were wounded or made prisoners. It is announced by the Indian office that the round-up of the Moplah insurgents in Malabar is continuing.

McGill University Professors Figure in Interesting Court Case.

Montreal, Que., Nov. 30.—The case of Professor Herman Walker, of McGill University, who charges his colleague, Professor J. E. Lanphere Morin, also of that institution, with attempting to poison a well, was taken on for trial here yesterday before the Court of Sessions.

The case has been before the court since September and took an unexpected turn yesterday when counsel for the accused applied for a writ of prohibition to prevent Magistrate O-

PREMIER KEPT ON THE JUMP IN ONTARIO

Says People Must Decide Whether We Shall Have Candor or Treachery in Public Life.

OPPOSITION POLICIES MUST BE AVOIDED

Both King and Crear Pledged to a Conduct Which Would Paralyze Our Industrial Life.

(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent) Ingersoll, Ont., Nov. 30.—Three more constituencies were covered by Premier Meighen today when he addressed large meetings in Ingersoll, Woodstock and Ingersoll. By holding the first meeting early in the afternoon, and the second from six to half past seven o'clock, the Premier was enabled to crowd his three meetings into the latter half of the day. It is probable that at least eight thousand people heard him at the three meetings. At the Woodstock meeting, F. W. Nesbitt, former member and candidate in North Oxford, occupied a seat on the platform. The former representative of South Oxford, Donald Sutherland, who is again carrying the standard of the National Liberal and Conservative party, preceded the Premier in a speech at the Ingersoll meeting.

People Must Decide.
The Premier's speeches followed the lines which he has followed in previous addresses. "The people are called upon to decide, not only whether we shall have protection or no protection, but also, whether we shall have candor and honesty, or trickery and chicanery in public life," he remarked in discussing the attitude of his opponents on the tariff. The policies which both Mr. King and Mr. Crear were pledged would "paralyze the industrial life of Canada," he declared.

The Premier said that a Government must always expect opposition and criticism—genial, fair criticism—should be welcomed by a Government as tending to clear the air and shed light on difficult problems. Error in the matter of policy, he asserted, was the nation and every class in the nation. Consequently such errors must be avoided.

Canadian Nickel.
The Premier recalled the charge made some years ago that the Government had allowed Canadian nickel to be made into bullets to shoot Canadian soldiers. He declared that every ounce of nickel sent out of Canada was supervised and assurance obtained that it was going to the Allies and not to Germany. The only nickel that Germany obtained was procured by a submarine which broke through a cordon of the British fleet, he said. This, and a small quantity manufactured before the war, was all that Germany had procured.

"There is no leader who will dare to increase the income tax on big incomes," Mr. Meighen insisted in discussing taxation. The reason was that any increase might dry up the source of these taxes. There was always a danger that wealthy people would leave Canada. Then the amount raised by taxing them would have to be procured from other sources.

Teacher Fined $10 For Excessive Use of Strap On Pupil

Alleged to Have Struck Boy Fifteen Times in Punishment for Telling Untruth.

Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 30.—Because Miss F. Cuthbert, a school teacher at the Hess street school, strapped Sydney Painting, pupil in her class, she was fined $10 and costs in police court this morning. The magistrate held that the punishment administered was "a barbarous way of assaulting a boy, and never should be used."

"BIG THREE" NAVAL POWERS OUT OF ACCORD IN FIXING JAPAN'S NAVAL STRENGTH

Japanese Experts Insist That Basis of Calculation Agreed Upon by Other Experts Is Not Proper One — They Would Disregard All Ships Now in Building by Either Power in Determining Relative Naval Strength.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Experts of the "big three" naval powers agreed today that they could not reach an accord on the basis of calculation to be used in measuring Japan's existing relative naval strength. They gave up the task and turned the problem back to their respective delegations to the arms conference. Upon its solution hangs the fundamental principle of the naval limitation proposal, the "five-five-three" capital ship ratio. The experts were substantially in agreement as to the accuracy of estimates of naval strength of each power, originally submitted by the United States conference group, if the plan of including all ships actually under construction in arriving at the ratio was followed. The Japanese experts, however, insisted to the last that this was not the proper basis of calculation, proposing, instead, to disregard all ships now building by either power in determining relative naval strength.

The plenary delegates of the two powers will continue the discussion from this point, illuminated by such light as the studies of the experts have been able to throw on its technical questions involved.

United States Insistence.
Firm determination of the United States delegation to insist upon the five-five-three ratio, and inclusion of ships building in any estimate of naval strength, was reiterated tonight on authority. The purpose of the Japanese delegation was not disclosed. Since no call for an executive session of the conference delegates, or for further meetings of the experts was issued, it was assumed that an attempt to settle the point by informal interchanges between the delegates themselves was in progress and might last several days.

Violence Attempted On Gov't Candidate

Police and Plain Clothes Men Save Wilfrid Lamare in Montreal.

Montreal, Nov. 30.—Only the intervention of police constables and plain clothesmen, saved Wilfrid Lamare, Government candidate in Westmount-St. Henri division this city, from personal violence at the hands of members of the audience who had gathered at his meeting in what is known as the "swamp" district in St. Henri ward here tonight.

MOST MAGNIFICENT RECEPTIONS ACCORDED PRINCE OF WALES

London, Nov. 30.—(Canadian Press Cable)—The welcome accorded the Prince of Wales upon his arrival at Jodhpur was the most magnificent of the receptions so far given His Royal Highness in his tour of India from a spectacular point of view, according to Reuters' correspondent. There was a great assemblage of brilliantly attired native chiefs awaiting the Prince's arrival at a wonderfully decorated railway station. The Prince drove thence, in the centre of a glittering escort, along a gorgeously festooned route which was flanked with lighters to the palace. In the compound of the palace a veritable canvas city had been erected, amidst which a completely furnished durbar tent was located. Camel teams harnessed to former state carriages of emirs and nobles, formed a baggage train, which rapidly transported elegantly dressed guests to the durbar.

CONTRADICTORY EVIDENCE IN THE MAULEY MURDER TRIAL YESTERDAY

Several Witnesses Contradicted Themselves, Evidence Directly Opposite to That Given by Them at First Trial—Policeman Boss Testified Chief Fraser Gave Wrong Evidence.

After taking a strong course for the day, the evidence in the trial of John Paris yesterday took an equally strong course in support of the crown. Several witnesses contradicting themselves, and the evidence given by them was at times directly opposite to that given by them at the first trial, or by other witnesses. The first witness of the evidence will be in tonight.

Archie Paris

Archie Paris, colored railway porter, was called on the morning of the trial in the morning. He identified Donatone Capron, who was in Paris's car, as the conductor who was on No. 3 on her trip from Truro August 21.

When he got on the train at Truro, the witness said he sat down with John Maxwell and went to sleep just before getting to Moncton he said Paris was in the seat with him, and when he got up the accused was dressed in a dark suit.

After leaving Moncton the conductor took up his and Maxwell's tickets. The accused started searching for his ticket, but the conductor did not wait.

John A. Maxwell

John A. Maxwell, colored, Truro, said he first met Paris last May in Truro. He passed him on the street and they both said "hello." Later he saw him near Donatone's shoe store on August 2, and again on the night of August 3 on the train at Amherst. The witness said he did not remember seeing Paris on the night of July 31 but did not remember seeing him on the night of August 1.

Norman Green

Norman Green, colored, of Truro, chauffeur for F. S. Patisse & Co., said he saw Paris in Truro on August 2, between 12:30 and 1:00, coming from William Byrd's. That night there was a robbery at the Oddfellows' hall. The witness said he left the hall about midnight and he saw Paris when the witness reached "the island."

Paris was seen again on the morning of the 3rd and on the afternoon of the 4th. He did not see Paris on the night of the 5th. The witness said he first told Mr. Vernon about Paris last August 5 when he went to Mr. Vernon's office about a week before the first trial. He did not know Paris at all.

Afternoon Session

On the opening of the afternoon session the names of those of the Paris jury were called. Judge Chandler dismissed them till Wednesday afternoon at 2:30.

Norman Green, again took the stand and the trial was resumed. Green said at 12:30 on the night in question, he saw a man come out of the William Byrd house referred to by Chief Fraser and Stewart Fraser. Green said that he was with Marie Byrd when she was taken from the William Byrd house when a man came out and said she said that man looked like John Paris, and he agreed. Another spoke to the man, he said he went into the Byrd house at 11:30, Paris was not there then and he did not see Paris on any day, he did not see Paris on any day, he did not see Paris on any day.

Green knew Oscar Clark and Mr. McQuay. He saw the doctor on Truro street on August 1. It was before he saw Paris. The doctor was coming out of the post office. He said he saw Paris on August 3, at about 7:30. Paris was there in front of William Byrd's.

Witness remembered the 4th by a street he had to deliver, 118 1/2 feet to the island about 1:30 and he saw Paris there and he did not see Paris on any day, he did not see Paris on any day, he did not see Paris on any day.

Scope Far From That of The League of Nations

Harding Plan Would Free States of Obligations Imposed by League.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Much importance must be attached to the announcement made by President Harding at the present conference the other nations, including Germany, in order that they should ratify such agreements as may be arrived at.

On the contrary, the first of the two ideas put forward by the President reserves the most careful and serious attention. The American Government is quite aware that the present conference cannot last long enough to be able to solve all the problems of the Pacific. Some of these problems, such as the question of extra-territoriality in China, which has been approached in the last sitting of the Far Eastern committee, will require a long examination and possibly an inquiry made on the spot. The useful initiative taken by America in convening the conference would, therefore, be of no avail unless some means is found to renew in the future the Washington negotiations.

How can this means be found? The most simple would be indeed to convene each year the necessary conference similar to the present one. This seems, indeed, to have been the idea which President Harding had in mind. Such large conferences could not, however, be held more than at the utmost once a year, whereas more frequent consultations may in the meantime become necessary. For instance, if it were regrettable that one should have to wait a whole year before taking a single decision on the various questions connected with extra-territoriality in China.

Under these circumstances, one wonders whether it would not be best to create what might be termed a special conference on the Pacific, composed of a reduced number of experts and representatives of the various governments, who would meet in Washington each time it became necessary. This special and so to speak permanent conference to which might be added a standing secretariat would not prevent a more imposing assembly similar to the present one, but more numerous and more representative from meeting in Washington from time to time.

Hughes and Balfour To Help China and Japan Get Together

Their Good Offices Accepted in Effort to Bring About Settlement of Shantung Question.

Washington, Nov. 30.—The good offices of Secretary of State Hughes and A. J. Balfour, of the British delegation, to bring the representatives of China and Japan together for settlement of questions of Shantung and the leased territory of Kia-Chow, has been accepted by the delegates of both nations. Conversations will begin immediately, and the first meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon.

Japan, it was announced, agreed to withdraw her share of the Shantung railway as soon as a Chinese police force could be substituted, but Japan objected to withdrawing her guards along the South Manchuria railway. Searching Train Wreckage For Bodies of "Catch" Riders

Casper, Wyo., Nov. 30.—Wreckage of a southbound Burlington freight train, which piled up near Lost Station, forty miles west of Casper, last night, was searched today for bodies of unauthorized riders believed to have been killed. It is known that between 20 and 30 were riding the train and only four, who were injured, have been accounted for.

Under these circumstances, one wonders whether it would not be best to create what might be termed a special conference on the Pacific, composed of a reduced number of experts and representatives of the various governments, who would meet in Washington each time it became necessary. This special and so to speak permanent conference to which might be added a standing secretariat would not prevent a more imposing assembly similar to the present one, but more numerous and more representative from meeting in Washington from time to time.

I'm So Tired

Fatigue is the result of poisons in the blood. So when the kidneys fail to purify the blood one of the first indications is unusual and persistent tired feelings and pains in the back.

Neglected kidney troubles lead to years of suffering from rheumatism or develop into such fatal ailments as Bright's disease.

The kidney action is promptly corrected by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills—the best known regulator of kidneys, liver and bowels.

Mrs. John Ireland, R.R. No. 2, Kings, Ont., writes: "I was a great sufferer from severe headaches and bilious spells. I read a number of remedies without obtaining any benefit until I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These completely relieved me and made me feel like a new person. I am very grateful to Dr. Chase's medicine for what they have done for me, and you may use my letter for the benefit of others."

Camp Borden, Ont., Nov. 30.—The flag of the Canadian Air Force was consecrated and officially unfurled here this afternoon. The training depot station formed three sides of a square around the flag pole. On the arrival of the Inspector-General, Sir Willoughby Gwatkin, the parade was called to attention by the commanding officer, Lt. Col. J. L. Gordon, A. F. C. The consecration of the colors then took place. The chaplain, Captain the Rev. J. S. Tupper, officiated.

KING'S COLLEGE FACING THE CERTAINTY OF CLOSING ITS DOORS

Expenses Far Exceed Its Revenue and Appeals for Financial Assistance or Endowments Have Not Met Ready Response.

Because the expenses of King's College exceed her revenue, because her campaigns have failed, she is faced with the possibility, nay the probability, nay the certainty of closing her doors. While she looks back with pride to the days when she alone, in this vast Dominion of Canada, offered to Canadians university education, while she remembers the illustrious names of her Alumni, she must remember that this avails nothing against the pressure of economic fact. She may recall that of her sons who have won fame in arms or law, she may remember those whose lives in lonely parishes, in the outskirts of civilization, bear the mark of heretism, she may rejoice in the service they have done the church, but she must remember that these do not avail against the pressure of economic fact. Neither may she forget that all these do not avail against the pressure of economic fact.

For she invites students, her living records, her life, but she has no roof to cover them, no money to build a house. They respond to her call in ever-increasing numbers; they offer her a magnificent loyalty and cheer for her tender affection and love. She sees them gladly enduring discomfort and hardship and recognizes their sterling worth. They are her gift to Canada and Canada's future. They are the fulfilment of her promise to the church, its future guardians and pastors. They are the earnest of her hopes for an awakened church, a spiritual nation, a purer witness to Christ. These do not avail against the pressure of economic fact.

As for the students, what of them? They have no criticism, no sneers. They understand and bear witness to her ideals. They uphold the good name of King's and their unspoken testimony is the high respect in which King's is held by her sister universities. By their honor and fairness, whether in the field of athletics or the field of the world, they uphold her motto, "For God, for law, for King and Country." They create a tradition of good fellowship. They inspire ideals. This does not avail against the pressure of economic fact.

What is this economic fact, so potent to destroy? It is an annual deficit of some three or four thousand dollars. It is insufficient funds to discharge all the work of a modern university. It is lack of money to erect the buildings so earnestly needed. These it seems, do avail against the pressure of economic fact.

But King's is bankrupt. Forget her glories; remember her miseries. It is fashionable. She has served the Church of England in the Maritime Provinces and in Canada and the Church of England is quite indifferent to her. Quite indifferent to her. She is tired and weary, and here she has a hostile. It remembers how it has subscribed, aye, and paid in, no less than a hundred thousand dollars. It remembers that there are other colleges to which its sons can go. They can go to Acadia, to Mount Allison and Dalhousie; they can go to Montreal, to Wycliffe, Bishop's Trinity. It is useless a man's buying a lawn-mower when he can borrow his neighbor's.

So the Church of England remembers her failures and calls them curses; she is blind and indifferent to our success, unless she can call it hers. The college is to survive, let the Carnegie Trust do it; let rich Americans do it; let the Chief Justice of Nova Scotia do it; let the President, let Mr. Spurr do it. And then it is whispered, "It is High Church." Its textbooks may be standard, its ornaments may be simpler than those which have suited St. Simon or Venn, its professors may be men of learning and piety, its students may worship God as their father, but if it is called

SALOON MEN BUYING MANY DRUG STORES

600 New Places Opened in New York Last Year, Say Federal Agents.

New York, Nov. 30.—Since prohibition one-third of the drug stores in Brooklyn have changed owners and most of the new proprietors are former saloonkeepers. This is the estimate of Charles H. Heimerstein, secretary of the Kings County Pharmaceutical Society, who has been a druggist for twenty-five years. Mr. Heimerstein said that in the last six months fabulous offers have been made for drug stores. He asserted: "Saloonkeepers have invaded the drug store field. They are supplying the capital and have a drug clerk as their chief aid. I regard them as a menace and a disgrace to the profession. They are not concerned with medicine. Established druggists have a hard time to get a small quantity of alcohol for legitimate purposes, but some of these newcomers start right in with a good supply, and they don't

Americans To Visit Failing Drink In Dear "Ole" London

Arguments Ueod Before Licensing Board to Get Permission for Longer Serving Hours.

London, Nov. 29.—Hotel and restaurant men who are trying to make London brighter are using the American thirst in their arguments before the licensing justices in asking for longer serving hours for liquor. One of them with greater earnestness told the justices that it is remarkable how the London controversy is being watched on the other side of the Atlantic. "I have provisionally arranged," he said, "for some 600 business men from the United States to visit London in the spring, but their spokesman makes it a condition that during their stay here they must be able to enjoy wine if required with every meal until midnight."

He said that in view of the recent decisions stopping the selling at ten o'clock he feared he could not guarantee his prospective clients what they asked and added: "I am in no way interested in drink, but this visit would mean a lot of money for London and probably a considerable volume of orders. I am afraid the business men will go to France instead."

DAVID MAKES PSLAY T

Rushing West to Use Arms Limitation—Spiriting Curzon's Attain

Washington, Nov. 30.—David Lloyd George not only will come to Washington. He must come. Mr. Brumley's dramatic eleventh hour victory makes the British premier's presence inevitable. That now is the crisis of the Conference opinion. Constancy of vital moment for the security and prestige of the British Empire are at stake. With complete unexpectedness the Conference has taken a turn that is completely unexpected for one of those political coups for which "the Lloyd George genius" is famous. The story of the hour is that a formidable breach between Great Britain and France due to the Curzon-Lloyd George feud, may be patched up at the last moment. Lloyd George for the purpose of saving the day, Conference statesman, has rushed west to Washington. "The Lloyd George" are full of his penchant for using knots cut by his mighty sword at the biological moment. Not only are issues vital to Great Britain pending, but on their solution in a sense favorable to Britain depends largely Lloyd George's prestige. The rivalry between Curzon and Lloyd George is intense. They have been at each other's throats ever since Curzon, for the seventh time, following Clemenceau's fall after the armistice, became French premier. Lloyd George has come out on top.

Lloyd George Sleaked Curzon On Last week in Washington, with world looking on as never before when they were at grips, Briland triumphed. His success in frustrating Curzon's plan designed to limit France to reduction of land and sea armaments, in a sense, made Briland the first statesman of Europe to triumph. His success in frustrating Curzon was electrical. Immediately Lloyd George, British foreign minister, of an inconspicuous public meeting in England as the occasion for a speech back at the Curzon Curzon could have blurted out the statements made without the authority of the chief, Premier Lloyd George. Briland's pliancy indicated that the supreme sea power, was giving the ghost at Washington, France, supreme military power, was obting the Washington Conference's effect of his victory in Washington. It was as certain as the fact that Lloyd George would not be under such a challenge to British supremacy in Europe. He had Curzon into the breach to fling a challenge back in France's teeth. Now, with the gulf between Briland and French yawning as hardly a month ago, David of Wales coming to stay, David of Wales, a stable Conference crisis. It is his and his opportunity.

The British in Fine Frenzy. Soothing communiques to the contrary, it can be stated unequivocally that Curzon onslaught has affected the French in Washington. Privately they are gasping at the news. Probably the rancor Curzon has injected into the situation has its effect in connection with the submarine controversy. But the economic situation is developing into a bitter one. The British only find themselves combating American position, but Curzon whetted French determination to stick to the position that national equity demands strong submarine tonnage for France. With America and France jointly insisting on heavy submarine quotas, French statesmen may be backed upon not to overlook the opportunity of avenging themselves the Curzon episode. It is altogether a pleasant piquant state of affairs. "Piquant" puts it mildly. We could be reproduced, if they were troubled waters, that would reveal British in a fine frenzy over the submarine "pretensions."

David Rushes West With His Bill. Now enters upon the stage of the brilliant events the wizard of common sense, David Lloyd George. The king has been tied, British and France at large. The moment is ripe for his favorite brand of statesmanship—removal of snags by a wave of his magic wand. Many angles of Washington situation afford him chance to be fond of talking. A deadlock over submarines already at hand. Great Britain has made reservations to the Hughes naval programme apart from wanting armaments reduced in number or abolished altogether. The British are querulous mood about replacement of obsolete ships after the ten-year holiday. They are anxious for military auxiliary ships. If the United States remains inflexible on the Hughes programme, a deadlock on either of the other issues is not only conceivable but probable. If the deadlock proved obdurate, the curiously the state of affairs would be in which Lloyd George is skilled in procuring to the centre of the armaments race, and with inevitable augmentation of personal prestige and power, rescue the situation. The Conference, would be made to appear, was served from the rocks by the advance resuscitated Prime Minister Briland. He would use the media that have kept him in office, despatches that have overthrown half a dozen other premiers. It is to five years the second week in power since Lloyd George became the head of the British Government. It would not be unlike him to e-

WHAT IS TO BE CANADA'S DESTINY?

Shall it be that through the destruction of the Tariff as proposed by both Crerar and King, the development of Canada is to come under the domination of the United States, to be followed by gradual financial domination and as a consequence, political domination?

—OR—

Is Canada's destiny to be that of a great free nation within the British Empire group of Nations, developing her boundless resources of mine, river, water power, forest, and cultivating her millions upon millions of acres of arable land? Is her development to surpass that of any other nation?

Shall her manufacturing industries develop her minerals and raw materials into implements and goods for the benefit and comfort of her people and for foreign trade?

Shall she become a self-contained nation within the Empire, her great railways interchanging the products of factory and farm among her own people, and her ships sailing every sea?

Shall she maintain her integrity within the Empire and protect her farms and factories against unfair competition from foreign countries?

IF THIS IS TO BE CANADA'S DESTINY, THEN CANADA NEEDS MEIGHEN.

On December 6th, Canada should once again protect her farms, her factories and her workmen against the unsound theory of Free Trade, and should hold fast to her reasonable Protective Tariff, her national entity and her British connection.

On December 6th Canada should declare with no uncertain voice that she will not tolerate the false trade theories of visionaries and group leaders which tend toward her economic destruction, toward the separation of her people and the weakening of the ties that bind Canada to the British Empire.

On December 6th Canada should demonstrate unmistakably to the outside world her fixed determination to keep Canada for the Canadians.

On December 6th Canada's destiny is at stake.

New York, Nov. 29.—Vincent Esposito, a longshoreman, of 28 Carol street, Thirty-first street, South Brooklyn, with such an awkward gait yesterday that Customs Guard Gatewood stopped him on the pier. He is alleged Esposito had strapped around his waist forty-five bottles of morphine, seventy-two of cocaine, twenty-two syringes and a box of needles, valued at $4,000. Gatewood was about to take his prisoner to the Federal Building when a limousine drove to the pier. Several Italians jumped out. When they learned of the Esposito was under arrest they were greatly agitated. Federal Commissioner Hanansey held Esposito in $7,500 bail for a hearing on December 2nd.

To the Editor of The Standard, Dear Sir,—The people gave their voice and the danger which hung on our borders went by like a cloud.

The anxious hearts of the nation of the world beat with deep expectancy. What would be the answer? Would they be disappointed? No!

Yes, Lloyd George has a grand and glorious opportunity. He can make or break the Conference—men are saying. They have read the "inspired" editorials in the Sunday newspapers of London, urging the "L. G." to make a dash for the Atlantic and strike a blow for "England, Home and Beauty."

Before answering we would suggest to Mr. Caldwell that he look up the trade statistics and thus discover that even before the Borthwick tariff came into effect, and Canadian farm products entered the United States free of duty, the United States farmer was able to dispose of more of his surplus farm products in Canada than the Canadian farmer was able to sell of his, in the United States.

ST. JOHN, N. B., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1921

STUMP ORATORY VS. STATESMANSHIP

When Mr. Mackenzie King spoke at the Imperial Theatre a few weeks ago, it was generally admitted that he made a fair campaign speech, flowery and flamboyant and all that sort of thing, that takes very well with and sounds convincing enough to an audience that knows no better, but which has really "nothing to it," as the saying is.

Mr. King has been making quite a lot of speeches in different parts of the country since he spoke here, but he seems never to have succeeded in getting out of the rut he was wallowing in while here. People who have been looking for some pronouncement respecting any constructive policies he might have had in mind, have looked in vain, for none have been forthcoming.

For instance, he has talked a lot about the tariff, but with all his talking, has any one ever been able to understand, or even find out, what his tariff policy really is, or what he will do about it should he ever become Leader of the Government? He has talked Free Trade in some parts of Canada, Tariff for Revenue in others, moderate Protection in yet others again. The Liberal party has a definite platform which it pledges to carry out if ever returned to power; but Mr. King now says he regards this merely as a chart of general directions, and whatever policy he might adopt would be along lines suggested by his advisers. Those of the latter who have most influence with him therefore may be expected to dictate what he shall do.

Then again there is the railway question, regarding which the platform is silent. Mr. King himself says that public ownership should be given a fair trial; the Toronto Globe endorses this view. On the other hand, Sir Lomer Gouin and most other prominent Quebec Liberals, are dead against public ownership, and would turn the National Railways over to the C. P. R. for operation if they had their way.

Then again there is the Mercantile Marine, in regard to which he has no policy except one of adverse criticism. Yet in 1919 the Liberal Convention condemned the Government for not providing more Canadian tonnage, and as soon as it did provide this extra tonnage, Mr. King and his friends condemn the Government even more strongly than they did before, for doing so. Some of the Liberal party supporters are advising that this mercantile marine be sold to private interests, even if it has to be done at a financial loss.

Another question which must necessarily take a prominent place in public affairs for the next few years at any rate, is that of the returned soldiers. When asked his views on this subject, all Mr. King can be got to say is that he would advise the appointment of a Parliamentary Committee to look into it. He is so ignorant that he does not know that there has been a standing Parliamentary Committee on this subject for the last four years, which has dealt very fully with soldier matters and all its recommendations have been accepted without question by the House?

And so it is with everything else; Mr. King has not a single, solitary constructive policy on any subject. He is a fluent chatterer, and a versatile critic, but he has shown no sign of statesmanship, not even of an elementary type. Is this the sort of man Canadians want to see at the head of their Government? We should say not.

WHERE WILL THE REVENUE COME FROM?

It is just as well for the electors to bear in mind that if by any mischance the Meighen Government should not be sustained—and Sir John Macdonald declared that an election was as uncertain as a horse-race—the Government that will take its place will be a combination of the King-Crerar parties, with Mr. Crerar in command, because the support of his faction will be needed to provide the Liberal party with a majority sufficiently big to enable it to carry on.

Mr. Crerar is an avowed Free Trader, and when confronted with the question as to how he would make up the loss in the revenue which would be sustained if any considerable reduction were to be made in the present tariff duties, protests that he would make up this loss by economy and other taxes. What kind of taxes? Whom would he tax, and how? Could he increase the Income Tax, now so high as any similar tax anywhere? Could he restore the Business Profits Tax? Could he increase the Corporation Tax? He knows that he could do none of these things.

Nor could he economize more than is being done. He could not, for example, economize on the national debt. He could not economize on pensions. Nor on re-establishment. Nor on land settlement. Nor on the fixed charges on our railways. He could not, in truth, take last year's estimates and eliminate ten million dollars from them. Nor even five.

No. Mr. Crerar, with all the new taxation that he could possibly devise—and there is a limit to taxation in a country such as Canada—could not make up one-fourth of the revenue he would destroy. Deficits, deficits of tens of millions, deficits which would run this country into financial chaos, if not into financial ruin, would be the only result.

Can the Canadian people, with heads just above the financial waters, risk such a peril? Can they afford to gamble with a party motivated by visionaries, and with a policy that would inevitably bring ruin? Can they afford to abandon a well-tested course for a tack in the night over an uncharted sea?

This, after all, is the one great, vital, transcendent issue of this campaign. It is the one solemn consideration which should govern the electors when they mark their ballots on December 6th.

Remember, it is not alone Big Business that would suffer from a policy of Free Trade. The whole country would share in the loss. The small merchant, the small manufacturer, the corner store, the modest business man, the professional man, the farmer and the laborer—all would go down in the smash. The catastrophe that faddists and visionaries and fanatics have visited upon North Dakota would be ours; Canadians would become hewers of wood and drawers of water, for the rich, protected United States.

THE MISREPRESENTATIONS OF THE GLOBE

The Globe is doing its best to fix on the Government the blame for the traffic going to Portland to the same extent this year as it did in the past. It knows that the Liberal Government is responsible for the present state of affairs, and tries to draw a red herring across the trail, by yelling Portland! Portland! The Telegraph knows the truth of the matter. It cannot forget the election of 1904.

The Hon. Mr. Baxter in his speech at Carleton last night gave a clear and correct statement of the situation. The Grand Trunk today is operated by a Committee of Management consisting of five persons, two appointed by the Grand Trunk, two by the Government, and these four have chosen a fifth. This committee is to act until the ownership of the Grand Trunk is vested in the Government. In the meantime they are trustees, and must operate the road as such, while carefully safeguarding the Governments' interests under the award. The Globe says the word trustee is purely a legal term. Legal terms in this country are binding. They are not mere scraps of paper. The draughtsmanship of the agreement with the Grand Trunk Pacific was found to be so faulty that it cost the present Government $5,000,000 to implement to pay the amount the G. T. P. received from the sale of its first mortgage bonds. This was a "legal" agreement effected by the Laurier Government. Somebody said that if you throw enough mud, some is bound to stick. This seems to be the Globe's attitude in this case. To the people of St. John, Portland has been, and rightly so, like a red rag to a bull. Laurier is responsible for this more than any other man in Canada. Laurier made Portland, as A. G. Blair and the Telegraph predicted in 1904. The Meighen Government is trying to right the wrong done to St. John in 1903. As soon as the Meighen Government straightens out the railways mess left to it by the blunders of the Liberal Government, St. John and Halifax will come into their own, and not until then.

The death of Lord Mount Stephen yesterday removes a man who spent the most active part of his life in helping forward the development of this country. To his efforts, in conjunction with those of the late Lord Strathcona and Mr. James J. Hill, Canada is largely indebted for the existence of the C. P. R., the railway which opened up half a continent to civilization. Born in Scotland in humble circumstances, on coming to this country when a young man, he speedily showed that aptitude for business which leads to success, a goal which he duly reached, while still in the prime of life. Besides the C. P. R., he was closely connected with the Bank of Montreal, with both of which institutions his name will ever be linked.

Fredericton Cleaner:—"According to the St. John morning organ of the defunct Liberal party, 'Dr. Broderick and Mr. McLellan, the Liberal candidates, were given a great reception at Fairville. But is this beyond expectation? Was it not to be expected?'"

The efforts being used to prove that Paris was not in St. John on the day little Sadie Mackay was done to death, reminds me of another alibi story I know heard. In that case a colored individual was asked if he knew the meaning of the word alibi. That he came pretty near knowing may be seen by his answer, which was: "Dat's provin' you was prayer meetin' whar you wasn't, in order to show dat you wasn't at the crap game whar you was."

One of our chaps who hasn't long been married, started in to smoke to show his wife what he could do. However she asked him to stop smoking 'for my sake.' The only answer she could get from him was that he was not smoking "for her sake" at all.

Uncle Dick showed me a photo of one of his "nieces" yesterday and asked me if I wanted a sweetheart. She was a snap-up sort of a girl, about 16 I should say, and was sitting on horseback, looking fine. And then the man thing wouldn't give me her name and address!

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Chance for the Reds. (Hamilton Herald.) The Soviet Government at Moscow has issued an appeal for financial aid to the workers of the world. It wants only a hundred million dollars. Now is the chance for our local Reds to show their sincerity by chipping in and helping the crippled Soviet machine to run.

Our Fame Abroad. (Hamilton Herald.) Dave Loughnan, Progressive candidate in Ottawa, is having rather hard luck with his election sensations. Fired by the interest aroused by the discovery of his friendillard that the Florida Company had paid its taxes with promissory notes, Mr. Loughnan began digging for something rich in the way of tax scandals and unearthed what he thought were two prizes. Promptly he revealed what he had discovered—the Cookshut Plover Company had given promissory notes to the amount of over $700,000 for its taxes, and the Steel Company of Canada had done the same to the extent of a million. But, alas for David's hopes of glory and reward! sharply and promptly come denials from the managers of both these corporations. They assert that they have paid their taxes to the Government in cash. David must start digging again.

A Pertinent Enquiry. (Edmonton Journal.) Mr. Crerar is still trying to convince his auditors that they should pay no attention to the proceedings that were taken in connection with the grain commission simply because, as he alleges, the commission was instituted from political motives. Take the following from the report of his address at Basswood, Manitoba:

Mr. Crerar said that the injunction of the grain enquiry commission had only been brought about when it seemed to become evident that its purposes were merely political. The United Grain Growers, with their 86,000 shareholders, did not intend to become the political football of a discredited party.

What would be thought of the president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association if, after that body had been similarly accused, he used Mr. Crerar's language? Would not the average elector have replied to him that it was for the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to clear itself regardless of the motives of its accusers?

A BIT OF VERSE

THE TRAIL THAT IS ALWAYS NEW. There's a whisper down the field where the year has shot her yield.

And the ricks stand grey to the sun, Singing: 'O'er them, come over, for the bee has quit the clover, And your English summer's done.' You have heard the beat of the offshore wind, And the thrush of the deep-sea rain; You have heard the song—how long, how long, Pull out on the trail again!

He's done with the tents of Shem, dear lass, We've seen the seasons through, And it's time to turn on the old trail, Our own trail, the out trail, Pull out, pull out, on the long trail, The trail that is always new.

Or east all the way into Mississippi Bay, Or west to the Golden Gate, When the border bluffs hold good, good, dear lass, And the wildest tales are true, And the men bulk big on the old trail, Our own trail, the out trail, And life runs large on the long trail, the trail that is always new.

Fly forward, O my heart, from the foreland to the start— We're steaming all too slow, And it's twenty thousand mile to our little lazy isle, Where the trumpet orchids blow! You have heard the call of the offshore wind, And voice of the deep-sea rain, You have heard the song—how long—how long? Pull out on the trail again! —Rudyard Kipling.

SOVIET ADOPTS NEW TAX PLAN FOR RUSSIANS

Citizens Must Pay in Proportion to Their Year's Earnings.

Moscow, Nov. 30.—An elaborate taxation system, reposing chiefly upon "direct" taxes on income, profits and production, has been worked out by the Soviet government and will be inaugurated soon, as a result of the return to capitalism, Peter Bugdanoff, president of the Supreme Economic Council, announced today.

Part of the scheme—taxes in the form of business licenses—has already been put into operation.

Exactly what proportion of the government's revenues will be derived from taxes will depend, Bugdanoff said, upon the profits yielded by the four big industries which the Kremlin retained when it instituted its new economic policy.

"Indirect taxes" will be resorted to if the industries proceed to run low and if the present system of taxation does not produce sufficiently. Luxuries will be the first personal property to be taxed, he said.

Confronted with the necessity of reconstructing a tax system from the beginning, the Soviet economists decided to work first upon the principle of "ability to pay," gauging each citizen's annual tax bill by his year's earnings.

In the country, for instance, Bugdanoff said, there will be no land tax. Peasants will pay their taxes in the form of a percentage of their crops. The actual grain will be turned over to the tax collector, who will redempt it on the market.

In the cities, business will pay several taxes. First, there will be a general license for the privilege of running a store or office, similar to the system in France and in some American cities. Second, a graded profits of income tax based upon the year's sales of gross returns.

Concessionaries will pay an additional levy or lump sum for the concession or monopoly itself. Thus an American firm operating oil fields would deposit a certain sum every year in the Bolshevik treasury for the privilege of operating in Russia on a "favored" basis.

As yet no taxes on buildings or land are planned either in the cities or country. This, it is hoped, will place a premium on improvements.

Another source of direct government income will be the monopoly of foreign import and export, which the Kremlin will retain—in addition to the four big internal industries. All Russian importers will be obliged to pay through the government.

An exception will be made for foreign capitalists, operating in Russia, Bugdanoff said, permitting them to dispose of their output freely and through private agencies on foreign markets, without dealing through the government. The government will only retain the privilege of being considered a priority purchaser.

It promises to pay the regular market price.

Activities At St. Joseph's College

Prospects Bright for Strong Teams in Basketball and Hockey.

The fall term of St. Joseph's College which at its opening seemed to stretch so far ahead, has passed with a swiftness causing us to wonder how we could ever have thought three months a long period.

The lateness of the baseball season which continued well into the fall and brought many visiting teams to the college interfered seriously with the football activities; added to which the lively interest shown in basketball caused the gridiron to be somewhat neglected.

Before the middle of November an excellent sheet of ice covered the fine artificial lake situated in the college park and the wooters with the shouts of happy boys and the clash of sticks and runners as the hockey enthusiasts mingled once more in their beloved sport.

The prospects for a strong quintette are very good. The loss of Herve LeBlanc, last season's leading performer, is to be regretted. However, the college is fortunate in the number and quality of the men who aspire to represent it.

The lovers of the game are looking forward to see, in former years, the stirring encounters between the college boys and the Dorchester and Mount A. representatives. The Saint Thomas team of last year were outclassed on the local rink, but came back strong in their native environment.

Dorchester showed up well and seemed stronger than in other years fighting hard against their time-honored rivals. The real test was with the Mt. A. team, who on their own ice found no difficulty in administering a defeat to St. Joe's, but in the return game exhibited a corresponding facility of being overcome.

For the last two seasons the two colleges have broken even. Mt. A. exhibited superior organization and team work, but evidently being used to meet the sort of work on the opposing side, were somewhat nonplused by the superior organization and team work, but evidently being used to meet the sort of work on the opposing side, were somewhat nonplused by the superior organization and team work.

The games were real exhibitions of sport, clean and manly, and it is the general desire to see their return.

The house league in basketball was won by St. Prosper, with St. Basile a close second, and was warmly contested up to the last whistle.

Already several interesting debates and musical soirees have been given, but the first big event of the season was the play presented by the "Societe St. Cecilia," on Monday, Nov. 22nd, at Lefebvre hall, before a large and attentive crowd.

The play was excellent and made a fine impression which was shared also by the orchestra. The real and surpassing feature of the evening was a remarkably fine exhibition of calisthenics by a class instructed by the Rev. Brunson, C. S. C. Father Brunson was a prize winner at Rome, so the wonderful precision and speed with which the various tableaux, drills and pyramid formations were executed is not to be wondered at. The exhibition was such as would be hard to surpass.

The bilingual entertainment, a unique feature in which the aspirants to membership in the society deliver an initiation speech in both French and English marks the close of a very successful term in the line of literary and musical talent.

The examinations which approach with insidious swiftness to the unprepared.

Abdul Baha, Leader of Bahai Movement, Dies At Haifa

London, Nov. 30.—Abdul Baha Abas, leader of the Bahai movement died at Haifa, Syria, Monday, according to a despatch to the London Times.

Abbas Effendi, well known throughout the world as Abdul Baha, was born in Teheran, Persia, May 23, 1844. He was leader of the Bahai movement, which has as its aim world religious unity. The Bahai belief is said to be that universal peace is possible only through harmony of all religions.

The Bahaiists teach that all religions are basically one; that differences in them have arisen through the corruptions of theology and dogmas.

He was the third of the leaders of Bahaiism. For many years because of his teachings, Abdul Baha was a prisoner of the Turks and Persians.

Elliott, barrister, of Parth Junction, N. B., who delivered a long peroration in a very able manner, which was listened to with great attention by the large audience. The speaker of the evening, the Hon. F. B. Smith, was then introduced by the chairman, and was listened to with rapt attention as he expounded the political situation and the aims of the Meighen Government, dwelling at some length on the terrible conditions prevailing in Europe, and, in fact, all parts of the civilized world, and claiming that under the Meighen administration Canada enjoyed better conditions of living under existing conditions socially and economically than almost any country in the world, and at the conclusion of his address received a hearty and unanimous vote of thanks from the large crowd assembled.

Health Talks

...people talk of rheumatic gout... a little girl concluded about Santa Claus, that "there ain't no such person," so there is no such disease as rheumatic gout. Rheumatism is an infection, due to an essential, a specific germ. The essential feature of gout is the deposition into and around the joints of "chalky" sodium bicarbonate crystals from blood that has, by reason of abnormal metabolism, become saturated with uric acid. Gout is a disease of the life-sustaining gas-plus fluids and the foodstuffs that are digested into healthy blood and healthy body tissues. Not to venture into these mazes of organic chemistry it will suffice to note that the "purin bodies" in food—those which contain considerable nitrogen and which tend, therefore, to an excess of uric acid in the circulation—should be minimized if rheumatism is to be entirely avoided. Who tend to gout? For 25 centuries past, at least, this podagra has always paralleled, in medical annals, high and gloomy living. There was no end of gout during the height and decline of the Roman Empire. Galen, Celsus (Nero's doctor) and their colleagues, thrive on this gout, "dropping of morbid material from the blood into the joints."
Apart from high living there is an heredity in gout; there are those among us who spring from a gouty stock. The comparatively rare cases of gout in women are thus in a large part explained. One may be spared this manifestation if other causative factors are prevented from adding their weight to this factor of heredity. If anyone with such an inheritance but live the hygienic life, will guard against excess in food and drink, will drink tea, coffee and cocoa moderately will guard carefully against sudden temperature and elemental changes, cold and wet, and against chilling of the skin.

Pernicious Anemia.
Secondary anemia is blood poverty resulting from sudden or profuse bleeding, or bad living conditions, such as organic diseases as hobbled liver or kidney disease, or cancer or consumption, or slow poisoning, as from mercury, lead or arsenic fumes in dangerous trades. One must also think of "blood disease" and of congenital heart troubles.
Besides the symptoms of simple anemia the skin is blanched, the lips

Drugs Excite Your Kidneys, Use Salts

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Drink Lots of Water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 gallons of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.
Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; to keep their kidneys clean and active, try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what becomes of your kidney trouble and backache.

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

By HELEN ROWLAND

A Women Will Voluntarily Confess Secrets to Her Hairdresser, that She Wouldn't Admit in Her Prayers, Much Less to Her Doctor, Her Lawyer or Her Clergyman.

NO DOUBT, when Rip Van Winkle awoke from his little nap, he declared that he had only been "resting his eyes," and had "heard every single word that was said."

That placid look on a man's face, when his wife accuses him of something she has discovered, is not a sign of conscious innocence, but of self-congratulation at the thought of the things she DIDN'T discover.

Love is what makes a man appear blissfully happy, when a woman is nursing up the precious wisp of hair across his bald spot.

Love is what makes a woman laugh delightedly, when a man is telling her for the second time, a story which she knew by heart before he told it to her the first time.

All this "sex-antagonism" must have started when Adam brought in the first rabbit and ordered Eve to make it into Chicken-a-la-King.

The fascinating thing about psycho-analysis is that it gives a woman a chance to sit and talk about herself, for hours and hours. And if that isn't HEALING, what is?

Infatuation is like wine, which goes to a man's head, robs him of his senses, and fills him with delirium; real love is like religion, which goes to his heart, robs him of his egotism, and fills him with wonder and humanity.

No matter how young, how old, how bald, how fat, how insignificant or how funny a man may be, he is always "somebody's darling!"

Have You This Habit?

THEOPHILUS JONES.

The guests had had hors d'oeuvres and settled down to the heavy work of dinner when the conversation turned on the importance of little things. The hostess, the wife of the great artist, the actor, whose new gallery just opened in New York was a kind of national event, mentioned Theophilus Jones. "That young man," said this charming, ripe, and well-to-do woman, "that young man has the makings of a great painter, but he will never succeed. He doesn't know how to shake hands."

"But surely," someone objected, "hasn't he painted some of the most beautiful pictures in the world?" "I have seen some of his pictures," said the hostess, "and I have seen some of his paintings. They are very beautiful, but they are not his. They are the work of other people. He is a great painter, but he will never succeed. He doesn't know how to shake hands."

"Sure enough, before the winter was over people received cards 'To meet Mr. Theophilus Jones.' Everyone was there whose name ever figures in the first paragraphs of the society columns in New York newspapers. The affair was at its height, the music was playing and the guests were laughing and talking at once and gesticulating. Over in one corner stood a solitary figure, shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, tossing back his somewhat long hair, and then running his fingers through it wildly.

At this point the hostess seized a new comer. "I want you to meet Mr. Jones," she said, and held out her hand. He got no further with her compliments. A wet, limp piece of human flesh was put into her grasp. She held it as if a water-soaked glove had been offered her. In disgust she dropped the object and her interest in Mr. Theophilus Jones.

As she turned away she watched her hostess bring up another person after another. Time and again she saw the same process. Every new arrival approached with a smile and a hand, a guest of honor with smiling cordiality. But the extended hand met the same nerveless response. Interest cooled visibly. Some turned away immediately; some struggled for a few sentences; others, however, met the same nerveless response.

For a cure we have to remove the cause. Of course, hemorrhages must be stopped. The dangerous trade must be given up for a healthful one. Cod liver oil is good, but plenty of milk, cream and butter are just as good. Tonics must be prescribed by the doctor. However, a simple mixture of one ounce of the syrup of hypophosphites will be made up by any druggist. A teaspoonful three times a day before meals. The diet must be very nourishing—roasted or broiled beef, mutton or lamb, plenty of eggs, green vegetables and the like. For those who can afford it a change of climate and some will work wonders. The stomach should rest a great deal and should in any event exercise moderately. Easy working (no hikes) and golfing would be right. Massage once or twice a week will prove salutary. Such is the way to manage most cases of anemia.

SELECT LAXATIVE MEDICINE WITH GREAT CARE

In debility and weakness, medicine should be mild and far-reaching. Many pills and purgatives are too harsh, are drastic instead of curative. Excessive action is always followed by depression, and knowing this Dr. Hamilton devised his pills of Man Drake and Butternut so as to mildly increase liver and kidney activity, so as to flush out the system by toning and regulating the bowels. Thus do Dr. Hamilton's Pills eliminate poisons from the body, thus do they restore cleanness to the skin, thus do they renew health and strength. To keep your system in healthy, good working order, regulate it with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. See all dealers, or The Cataract, 25c. Co., Montreal.

FASCINATING FLAPPERS' FACES ON FACETIOUS MODERN ADS.

Are Disliked by Mature Women — Head of Advertising Club, in Address, Claims Women Are Foolishly Jealous of "Pretty Girl Ad."

Has the vogue for the "pretty girl ad" passed? Mrs. Christian Fredericks, speaking before the associated advertising clubs of America, declared that it has. People no longer buy toothpaste, toilet soap, coffee or breakfast food, because the faces of pretty girls adorn the advertisements of those articles, but because they have a practical "done to clean their teeth, wash their faces or eat breakfast, as the case may be."

Women Should Improve. The woman who imagines herself for the moment to be the gainer, it would be only a little while, however, until they realized what they had lost. Until a woman is well past fifty she should not allow herself to be older than 35. Despite the tendency of her hair to thin, her complexion to grow pale, her greying hairs, lustreless skins and middle-aged spread, they cannot bear the sight of youthful beauty. The immaturely prejudiced against an article, says Mrs. Fredericks, that suggests the contrast of age with youth.

What could be more foolish, more wasteful, than for a middle-aged woman to spend her time, thought and energy to hating the sights of youthful beauty, instead of trying to improve her own maturing charms. Evil thoughts dim the eyes and make wrinkles; they generate a poison in the body that makes for sallow complexion, sagging muscles, general debility and a hastening of the processes of oncoming old age. Envy, hatred and malice are the sworn enemies of womanhood. No woman who indulges in such destructive emotions and expects to keep young.

How can a middle-aged woman lose the charm of young woman when she was young once upon a time herself? Would she not be more successful in retaining her own youth and attractiveness if she cultivated the friendship and companionship of young women, if she slipped with them the wine of youth's enthusiasm, if she refrained from sympathy with their laughing outlook on life? While young women have much to

Fashions Are Funny Things

Fashions are funny things. The more I see of them the more I try to analyze the power that sends a hundred million women walking about the world with clothes cut on certain lines one winter, and the next winter finds these same women with different lines. And why? They cannot have a new set of clothes cut on certain other lines the more marvelous, the more uncanny that power seems to be.

In the first place the fashion instinct is made up of two contradictory states of mind. A new fashion comes in a color, an odd style of belt, a new material for hats, immediately you have it or I want a blouse of that new color, a belt like that, a hat of that material. Why? Because everyone is wearing it. Time passes. We get the blouse, the belt, the hat, and we wear it on all occasions for awhile and then behold we do not want to wear it any more. The reason, immediately you have it or I want a blouse of that new color, a belt like that, a hat of that material. Why? Because everyone is wearing it.

I suppose when we put the magnifying glass of analysis on the contradictory state of mind which we find in the fashioner, we shall find that everyone has it, but because everyone has it, by the by, when everyone (speaking in the broad meaning of the term) can have it in some cheapened form or other, then we do not want it.

We want to do what the other woman is doing, but do it first. The only things that are always in fashion are things that cost so much that everyone can't have them. Surely seal and ermine and sables and pearls and diamonds will never go out of fashion. And yet, even as I write, I remember that a visitor who came to my home from the big city said to me when I asked why she no longer wore a certain ring: "Oh, nobody (again feminine word meaning 'nobody who is anybody') wears diamonds nowadays. Everybody has them, so they are just spoiled."

One of the many interesting things about coming back to earth 100 years from now would be to see to just what further extremes fashion had led women. Anyone who has lived through the past 50 years has seen the pace of style changing quicker year by year as the jazz music quickens when the players get warmed up. Soon "bedroom season" clothes added to winter and summer clothes. Seen sport clothes become one more necessity in the wardrobe of any decently equipped woman. Seen fur coats, once an institution in the life of the well-to-do and wealthy become a commonplace in the life of anyone who can rake up $5 down and thinks she can rake up $5 a week.

What will the person who lives through the next 60 years see? I should hate to live that long (or think that long) but that, at least, would be a compensation.

Sliced Cranberries. Five pounds cranberries, three and a half pounds brown sugar, scant pint of cider-vinegar, two tablespoons cinnamon, two tablespoons allspice, one tablespoon cloves. Mix all ingredients and cook slowly for two hours. Use with cold meals.

"Waltham" Means Assured Quality

UNLESS you are an expert watch-maker, competent to dissect a watch and judge of its quality, you must buy on "faith." And your faith must be reposed chiefly in the maker of the watch. For more than sixty years the name "Waltham" has been inseparably associated with the highest quality in watch mechanism. If you are buying a watch for yourself, or are selecting one to present to a valued friend, see the comprehensive array of Waltham styles and sizes at your jeweler's.

THE DAY IS DONE.

Read from some humbler poet, Whose songs gushed from his heart, As showers from the clouds of summer, Or tears from the eyelids start. Who, through days of labor, And nights devoid of ease, Still heard in his soul the music Of wonderful melodies. Such songs have power to quiet The restless pulse of care, And come like the benediction That follows after prayer.

Then read from the treasured volume The poem of thy choice, And lend to the rhyme of the poet The beauty of thy voice.

And the night shall be filled with music, And the cares that infest the day Shall fold their tents, like the Arabs, And as silently steal away.

Two egg whites, one cup grated cheese, half white American cream and half yellow cream. Beat the egg whites until stiff and then fold in the cheese, which should be gently removed from the grater by using a knife. Add one teaspoon baking powder. Pipe the cheese lightly on rounds of bread, freshly toasted on one side, place the cheese mixture on the untoasted side. Toast slowly.

IF TORMENTED WITH CORNS USE GOOD OLD "PUTNAMS."

It's really a simple thing to remove your corns, and without pain, if you apply Putnam's Painless Corn Extract. It acts like magic, lifts out the corn root and branch, leaves the skin smooth as silk. No failure with "Putnam's," 25c. everywhere.

PLAYING GAMES THE PHYSICIAN

Does Strenuous Sport for the Advantage of the Many Young Men?

(By H. S. Murton.) The great popularity of lacrosse, hockey and football, our leading sports in Canada, justifies the question of their eventual effect upon the player—be it beneficial or injurious. Being so strenuous they can only be included in at top pace for a limited number of years, when the competition of younger players drives out the older. The question is: Are the games, which demand such breaking pace, worth while for a few years from the standpoint of the physique of the nation?

If the theory be accepted that every person at birth has a given amount of natural vitality, then it can be understood that regular moderate exercise, which does not make excessive drain upon the given fund, is beneficial. On the other hand, any violent demand for a short period of years demands so exacting that it can only be sustained for a limited time, might well be visited by disaster, in ten or years and cut down longevity into precarious areas. A great many men who crumple all at once in middle life, though up to the fatal time they have carried a healthy exterior, might trace their disaster to this expenditure of overdone sport, though more often the reason is given as too great devotion to business.

The best exercises, of course, are those which are moderate and moderate continued far into middle life. There is no doubt that, other things being equal, men who were in the life has a better chance of long life than one who takes it all up for five or six years of lacrosse or football, and then sits at a desk for the balance of his life. Crises in valuable game from this standpoint as it makes at no time an excessive drain on the player's powers and is indulged in until late in life. Besides possessing for the player extra special to make it at all times a recreation.

But our general temperament is not satisfied with the speed of our feet. The crowded tempo of our games and the youth's ambition toward the enthusiasm of crowds. Few athletes choose the without waiting for a chance in them. They could not be expected to approach a sport with the calculating sagacity of a middle-aged man. If he was of this nature, he would scarcely be likely to excel in the sport. Still, his father and athletic and college directors should exercise some circumspection. In a matter, just as one would advise a chief against the without waiting for it to be burned. In other words, the individual, if he runs the chance of being injured, should not be encouraged to do too much for the sake of it. It is a mean demand to make of a youth who has "blood."

Field sports in general are beneficial because the vital organs are heart and lungs and these are benefited by open air exercise if not overdone. Muscle is a secondary consideration, and I could never understand why gymnastics occupy the place they do as a serious consideration in most schools and universities. It is far better to enlarge the chest cavity by outdoor sports than to plaster muscles on a body. The nerves of which the without waiting for it to be burned. In other words, the individual, if he runs the chance of being injured, should not be encouraged to do too much for the sake of it. It is a mean demand to make of a youth who has "blood."

The danger of sports of high pressure such as our three favorites is in two directions—playing without sufficient training and quitting too abruptly. The latter case is responsible for a great deal more disaster than the former, for it is obvious that a player out of condition is physically unable to undertake a great deal of work. He may, however, be dangerous by playing on his nerve all the time, forcing himself by will power to hang on when all his physical nature cries out against it. No case of any experience would allow the best of the competition and demand for speed in field sports is a guarantee against the playing of a man out of condition, for he cannot measure to what is required of him.

But it is in the release after strenuous training that the damage is done. The student feels it when he embarks on his studies after a severe outdoor campaign. He can hardly sit still in his lecture seat while his body craves for the habit it has formed of late replacing worn-out tissue and filling him full of physical energy. It takes some time before the transition made to the restful condition of brain and body, and he wonders in the meantime why he cannot concentrate. But this is a simple case, and easily overcome. The restlessness of youth. The different when a man has engaged in the most exacting sports for five or six years and then quite suddenly his physical being has been cut off, as it were, his heart and arteries have become permanently distended.

THE STANDARD'S SPORTING SECTION

PLAYING GAMES AND HEALTH THE PHYSIQUE OF THE NATION

Does Strenuous Sport for a Few Years Work to the Advantage of the Many Young Men Who Are Engaging in It?

(By H. S. Murton.)

The great popularity of lacrosse, hockey and football, our leading sports in Canada, justifies the question of their eventual effect upon the physique of the nation. Being so strenuous they can only be indulged in at top pace for a limited number of years, when the competition of younger players drives out the older. The question is: Are these games, which demand such heart-breaking pace, worth while for a few years on the standpoint of the physique of the nation?

If the theory be accepted that every person at birth has a given amount of natural vitality, then it can be understood that regular moderate exercise, which does not make excessive drain upon the given fund, is beneficial. On the other hand, any violent demand for a short period of years, a demand so exacting that it can only be sustained for a limited time, might well be visited by disaster in future years, and cut down longevity unless precautions are taken. A great many men who crumple all at once in middle life, though up to the fatal line they have carried a healthy exterior, might trace their disaster to this spell of overdone sport, though more often the reason is given as too great devotion to business.

The best exercises, of course, are those which are moderate and may be continued far into middle life. There is no doubt that, other things being equal, a man who walks all his life has a better chance of long health than one who takes it all up in four or five years of lacrosse or hockey or football, and then sits at a desk for the balance of his life. Crises are valuable games from this standpoint, as it makes at no time an excessive drain on the player's powers and may be indulged in until late in life, besides possessing for the player enough spice to make it at all times a recreation.

But our general temperament is not suited with the speed of crises. The crowd demand spectacular games and the youth's ambition leads him into games which are favored by the enthusiasm of crowds. Few athletes choose their games for the exercise in them. They could not be expected to approach a sport with the calculating sagacity of a middle-aged man. If he was of this nature he would scarcely be likely to excel in the sport. Still, his father and athletic and college directors should exercise some circumspection. In the matter, just as one would advise a child against the use of a knife or a gun, so it is better to warn him of the danger of being injured, should he be encouraged to do too much for the sake of the club. It is a man's duty to make of a youth who has "blood."

Field sports in general are beneficial because the vital organs are the heart and lungs and these are benefited by open exercise if not overdone. Muscle is a secondary consideration, and I could never understand why gymnastics occupy the place they do as a semi-compulsory part of the school and university. It is far better to enlarge the chest cavity by outdoor sports than to plaster muscles on a body. The nerves of which many are all wrong, besides the competition and demand for speed in field sports is a guard against the playing of a man out of condition, for he cannot measure up to what is required of him.

But it is in the relapse after strict training that the damage is done. The student feels it when he embarks on his studies after a severe athletic campaign. He can hardly sit still in his lecture seat while his body carries on the habit it has formed of late of replacing worn-out tissue and filling his body of physical energy. It takes some time before the transition is made to the re-establishing of brain tissue, and he wonders in the meantime why he cannot concentrate. But this is a simple case and easily overcome if the restlessness of youth. The case is different when a man has engaged in the most exacting sports for five or six years and then quits suddenly. Here his physical being has become accustomed, as it were, his heart and arteries have become permanently distended to handle the supply of blood his protracted exercises have made necessary. Then too to him if he seeks a life of ease. It is here that golf performs its greatest service. As a transition from violent exercise to a life of ease, golf is invaluable as a safeguard against deterioration. Tennis or any other such game also fills the neck. The thing is that the specialized athlete must taper off until he can lead a normal life again. He cannot stop without danger from a life of great athletic activity to one of physical rest. Football is a short season and does not exact so much toll of the vital supply as lacrosse and hockey. Those who will suffer later as a topnotcher in his sport if he relaxes and rests in the off-season, provided, of course, he does not break training abruptly once the final game is played.

The recent controversy by Naughty Three and Four to my mind was quite beside the point regarding college football. It seems ridiculous to imagine games being played for any other purpose except to win. It is only in this way that there can be any recreation which makes sport beneficial. Games played from a sense of duty would be drudgery. The rules prescribe limits to the means players may take to win, and referees have control of keeping the game within those limits. I think coaches can do a great deal of good, with their experience, in getting teams into condition and preventing immature players who glory in their strength from hurting themselves. The study of tactics and the study of the game and a coach can do no harm in initiating players into these. Toronto was fortunate this year in having a most excellent amateur coach, but they may not always have one available and in general a good professional coach will do a team as much good as a good amateur coach, no matter how great a player the latter may have been.

Smith's Manager After The Belt

Stirs Up Trouble for Himself When He Writes Letter to La Presse Sporting Editor.

Montreal, Nov. 30.—La Presse, a French language newspaper of this city, prints today a letter from Al Lippe, manager of J.F. Smith, who is scheduled to fight Mike McGuffie in New York Thursday, asking for the return of the middleweight championship belt belonging to Smith, which Lippe says he handed to the sport editor of La Presse, "when I was in Montreal last week." Lippe adds that he cannot understand why Smith should be barred from bouts in Montreal, since the latter did not break his contract to fight in this city until Mike McGuffie had rendered it null and void by signing another contract to fight in New York. He declares further that Tommy Conway, local promoter of the McGuffie-Smith fight, had agreed to release Smith from his Montreal engagement.

Replying to this letter in an editorial note, the sport editor of La Presse defines emphatically that Lippe ever handed Smith's belt to him. In connection with the other statements of Lippe, he states that McGuffie signed a contract for a bout with Smith on a Sunday at the Windsor Hotel here and intimates that a contract signed on that day of the week is not binding. Tommy Conway, gives an unqualified denial to the statement of Al Lippe that he (Conway) had released Smith from his Montreal engagement. He adds that if such were the case it is remarkable that Lippe should write to the sport editor of La Presse for Smith's belt, since he must have been well aware that it was in the keeping of Mr. Conway.

Morley Bruce On Ottawa Hockey Team

Ottawa, Nov. 30.—The Ottawa Hockey Club's roster for the championship season of 1921-22 in the national Hockey League, was awarded today by the addition of Morley Bruce, a graduate of the city league, who has been with the Senators for the past two seasons. Bruce signed his contract and returned to Ottawa on Monday. He has the following under contract: Broadbent, Benedict, George Boucher, Dunsany and Bruce, Gordon Roberts has accepted terms and will be here for the opening of the race on the night of Saturday, December 17, if he can do so. Gerard is negotiating with the Ottawa management and will likely be back in line in time for the opening practice the latter part of this week.

Frank Boncher will be here from Trois Rivieres in a few days and there is said to be a possibility that Jack Darrach will reconsider his decision to retire, though the Senators are not counting on him.

2,000 Harvard Men Are In Ticket Mixup

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 29.—Nearly 2,000 Harvard men are expected to be called before a representative of the Harvard Athletic Association to explain how they happened to the game with Yale happened to be used by other people Saturday afternoon, if they are unable to do so these men will be placed on the Harvard blacklist and will not be allowed to apply for any seats to future athletic events, including football, for a period of years if not for all time.

Frank Knapp, who is in direct charge of the ticket station at Harvard, is authority for the statement, as well as Fred W. Moore, graduate manager of athletics, that out of the 7,000 names taken at the game Saturday there are likely to be between 1,500 and 2,000 which will prove to the men to whom the tickets were given distributed them contrary to the rules, and are therefore candidates for the blacklist.

Already appeals have begun to descend upon the Athletic Association. Immediately after the game telephone calls rang in, some from as far as New York city. The work of the ushers and their banks asking for signatures and seat numbers had begun to take effect. The proverbial excuse of being suddenly called away on business, or suddenly becoming sick, or of having one near and dear becoming seriously ill, have all been put forward, and many more besides. The association, through Mr. Moore, has set up a court, judge and jury in the form of Judd Dewey of the class of 1909, a Boston lawyer, who will hear all appeals and endeavor to mete out justice to all. The immediate and certain reason is, though, that the recipients of tickets agreed that they would use at least one of them before they would be unable to use them, they would return them to the association.

Mr. Knapp says that in many cases permission to transfer tickets at the last moment was given to those who made application, and whose requests were thought to be legitimate, and Mr. Moore adds that cases of legitimate swapping of seats will not bring the swappers into disfavor. Only those who deliberately violated the agreement will be prosecuted.

Best Horses In Belmont Classics

Sports in Keeping With Character for Popular Track is Guaranteed.

New York, Nov. 29.—Sport, in keeping with the character of the course, is guaranteed for Belmont Park next year through the number and quality of the entries which have been received by Racing Secretary Earlechoer for the various stakes to be run under the auspices of the Westchester Racing Association. It is an indication of the healthy condition of the turf that the entries for 1922 surpass those of 1921 in practically every instance, and that special part in the events over a distance of ground. Events like the Belmont, Lawrence Realization, Coaching Club American Oaks, and the Jockey Club gold cup, which played a special part in the building of the turf, and the maintenance of the thoroughbred at its pristine best, have closed in a manner which must be gratifying to President Belmont and those associated with him in the management of the superb plant at Queens, which is still being embellished and will present new beauties when its gates are thrown open next spring.

The Belmont stakes of 1924 will have a value of $50,000, making it the most valuable prize of the year for three-year-olds in the United States. There were 443 entries came to hand. For the Belmont of 1923 there were 428 nominations. The choicest product of every breeding farm in the United States is included in the list just received. The Lawrence Realization for 1923 received 386 entries, it is a substantial increase over previous years. The Coaching Club American Oaks, which is a stake deserving of the patronage of every owner with the best interests of the turf at heart, as it is a superlative test for the fillies of the year, and points the way to breeding excellence, closed with 131 nominations for 1923, one more than was received for 1922.

Another race which is rich in promise is the Jockey Club gold cup, which shows an increase from 55 this year to 70 in 1922. In the list is a dazzling array of class. The name of Purchase is found among the Rancocas nominees and it is the only one for which he is named at Belmont Park. As it is a stake to be run in the autumn it is evident that Mr. Hildreth is going to make one more attempt to try the Rancocas horses after the close of the breeding season next spring. Hildreth has always maintained that Purchase at his best is without peer, and is a knockout to give it in a real test of the thoroughbred.

The fact that geldings are ineligible for the gold cup keeps out Yellow Hand and Exterminator, two of the best horses the turf has at present. While their absence is to be deplored, there is still an abundance of quality in the race, the nominations in addition to Purchase, including Playfellow, Haunter, Kater, King, Sang, Torvick, Starke, Audacious, Whiteaway, Bunting, Boniface, Bit of White Black Servant, St. Henry, Modoc, Sporting Blood, Pully, Bob Buck, Hour, Pal Sang, Sunstar, Missionary, Priority, William A. Modoc, Rummy, Rumbust, Runtell, Ma Homma, Runstar, Monday Morning, and the list goes on.

The entry of Playfellow in the gold cup, Suburban and other events at Belmont Park in the name of the Rancocas stable, would indicate a detour from the part of Mr. Egnolair and his trainer to keep the horse alive as a racing asset, once his ownership has been decided by the courts. The case in which the $100,000 beauty is involved will be fought to a finish during the coming winter. It is possible that the non-participation of Playfellow in some of the stakes of 1921 was intended, will be a feature of the trial, which is bound to engender a lot of feeling.

Morvich is going to have a genuine test of his qualities as a three-year-old, his name is found in every thing at Belmont Park to which is eligible. He will meet a stout lot of three-year-olds in the handicaps as well as the favorites for his own age, as a look at the list of the Rancocas stable is encouraging to find the fine sportswoman who races under that name taking an ever-increasing interest in the turf. Her nominations include Gallant Man and Ledderman, which ran in the name and colors of Lawrence Waterbury in 1921, and these, together with Touch Me Not, Idle Del, Sedge and Black Rascal will give the Rancocas a strong representation.

Among the other horses which the three-year-olds must overcome in the spring handicaps at Belmont Park are Grey Lag, Yellow Hand, Exterminator, Thunderclap, Mad Hatter, Audacious, John B. Ceter, Sanings Park, Naturalist, Tryster, Carrol Blaine, Bit of White, Behave Yourself, Mile Dell, Touch Me Not, Boniface, Dunboye, Nassy Lee, Sporting Blood, Smoke Screen, Bankers, Obsolete, Tubery, Capt. Abcock, Georgia and Our Flag. Prudery is among the missing and is probably to be bred next spring. Prominent among the non-nominees to the juvenile, Keene Memorial and other stakes for two-year-olds of 1922, and of the three-year-old mares of

Two Basketball Games Last Night

High School Defeated Y.M.C.A. A. 27 to 8—Alerts Trimmed Trojans 22 to 19.

A very large crowd attended the basketball games in the Y.M.C.A. last evening. About 300 people were present, evidencing the keen interest which is being taken in this sport. The first game, which was an Intermediate League fixture, was played between the Y.M.C.A. and High School, the latter winning by a score of 27 to 8. This game was very rough at first, resembling a football rather than a basketball match. However, as time progressed, some good combination work developed among the High School team and Y.M.C.A. fought hard for victory. The game in the City League between the Alerts and Trojans, being the first game of the season between the two teams elicited considerable interest on the part of their respective followers. During the first half play was pretty even, but both teams showed lack of practice, as their passing and shooting were not the best they might be expected to show. The period ended with the score 12 to 12. In the second period things brightened up considerably and the Alerts played an excellent combination game, managing to get seven points over their opponents in very short order. The Trojans bucked up, however, and by some exceedingly good defense work and accurate long passes, succeeded in tying the score. The Alerts managed to nose out at the close of the close score of 22 to 19. For the Alerts, Ketchum, Ryan and Millidge played a good game, while Kerr, Malcolm and MacGowan showed up to advantage for the Trojans. Geo. Hudson handled the referee's end in a very satisfactory manner. The line-up follows:

Alerts	Edwards	Trojans
Ketchum	Cross
Fleming	Urquhart
.....
Ryan	Malcolm
.....	Defence
Christie	MacGowan
Millidge	Kerr (Capt.)

Calls Off Bout With Tremaine

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Pal Moore, ban lightweight boxer, today called off his fight with Carl Tremaine, scheduled for Memphis, Tenn., on December 5. The bout was called off, Moore announced, because of his championship and Johnny Buff of Milwaukee on December 17.

1923 and 1924, is the name of August Belmont whose entries total 17. In the list are Mirabelle, the lovely sister of Man of War, and Belle Hour, a handsome daughter of the great Hourless and the peerless mare, Beldane. If there is anything in breeding this pair should be heard from. The colts of the chairman of the Jockey Club, which have not been seen for the past few seasons, the output of his nursery stud having been sold privately, will be welcomed in the spring of 1922.

Harry Payne Whitney leads in the number of Belmont Park nominations with a total of 157. The Rancocas stable is second with 92, and Willis Sharpe Kilmer, third, with 87. The Greenvale stable comes next with 75. It is encouraging to find the fine sportswoman who races under that name taking an ever-increasing interest in the turf. Her nominations include Gallant Man and Ledderman, which ran in the name and colors of Lawrence Waterbury in 1921, and these, together with Touch Me Not, Idle Del, Sedge and Black Rascal will give the Rancocas a strong representation.

Toronto, Nov. 30.—Canada will have the honor of entertaining a team of Australian lawn bowlers during the coming summer. A team of six rinks, accompanied by sixteen ladies—forty in all—sailed from Sydney about the end of March last, for a tour of Britain.

The Canadian bowlers have extended an invitation to the tourists to play a series of games in this country before sailing for England. They will arrive in Vancouver early in May, and if they accept would play in Toronto about the middle of May.

Basque Is Back
New York, Nov. 29.—The Basque is back.
No less a person than Paul Poiret is accentuating this fashion from the Pyrenees—taken up and discarded by many generations of fashion devotees.
The Basque, of course, requires courage—and corsets—for unless one is evasive and youthful the supporting outlines of corsets are very necessary.
The Basque of today is of a different worn over a green tulle skirt.
It is edged in fur.
Being sleeveless and low-necked, it is, when combined with an artistic skirt, an exceptionally striking dinner or theatre costume.
Basque effects are developed, also, in many of the Paris street gowns where the waistline is accentuated.
It has now been many years since the Basque held sway. Long has its cry been: "We will not wear them."
But when they are developed in a fascinating material by an artistic hand—of course every woman will be basque in fashion's favor in a Basque.

Bonds Only Stable Feature of Active Session On N. Y.

Oils, Steels, Equipments and Chemicals Made Recessions of 1 to 5 Points.

New York, Nov. 30.—Bonds were the only stable feature of today's active but inconclusive session of the stock exchange. Liberty issues, almost without exception, added to their sustained rise and other bonds continued to show strength, but the share list was hesitant or reactionary.

Oils, steels, equipments, chemicals, fertilizers and food specialties made recessions of 1 to 5 points.

A more hopeful feeling in industrial circles was indicated by the declaration of the regular dividend on railway steel spring common, despite the admission that the dividend had not been earned.

Money Rates Firm—Money rates were firm in connection with December disbursements, call loans opening at five per cent and advancing to 5 1/2 per cent in the final hour.

Some easement of time funds was indicated by more liberal offerings of 50 and 60 day accommodations. Leading foreign exchanges rose substantially on announcement that the United States intends to participate in the proposed meeting of European bankers which has for its object the stabilization of international credits.

Sterling demand bills rose a fraction over 1/4 and all the Continental quotations were higher by 7 to 15 points, the Dutch rate alone receding.

Liberty bonds ranged from ten cents per $100 to over $1 final prices, ending, however, on profit taking. The same was true of the general bond list. In which realizing seemed a strong temptation. Total sales (par value) aggregated $2,850,000.

Canada's Collection of Taxes Compares Well With Others

Greater Percentage of Business Profits Tax Collected Than in U. S. or Britain.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 30.—Appropos criticism that have been made, as a result of the floundering arrears in taxes, of the Government's collections of the business profits tax, the following comparative figures of the collection of business profits taxes in Canada, England and the United States are illuminating.

Canada—Assessment 1917 and 1918 accounting periods, $34,000,000. Amount unpaid $149,631. Assessments 1919 accounting period $38,500,000. Amount unpaid not in excess of $1,050,000.

United States according to statements in American Financial Journal, an "unimpeachable authority," outstanding income taxes and excess profits taxes assessed but unpaid, $400,000,000.

Great Britain—"In his budget speech last year Mr. Chamberlain estimated that on March 31st last he would have £400,000,000 (two billion dollars) of excess profits duties arrears to collect."

Finance and Commerce (prints February 5th, 1921), thus Canada's collection of business profits and income taxes is more efficient, more thorough and more complete than collection of similar taxes in either the United States or England; this despite the much greater experience that Britain has had in the collection of this kind of taxation. Canada is short a little over a million; the United States six hundred million; England two billion.

Easier Tone But Less Activity On Montreal Market

Declines Predominated, Ranging from Fractions to Three Points.

Montreal, Nov. 30.—An easier tone developed in the local stock market today with less active trading. Declines predominated, ranging from fractions to 3 points and only five issues showed advances.

Montreal Power again led the market and despite alleged profit taking maintained firmness and closed at 1 1/4 gain for the day at 88 1/4. Penman's moved up to another new high for the year with a point gain at 104. The best gain of the day was B. C. Fishing which sold 3 1/2 points higher at 35. Brazilian was in fair demand, closing 7 1/2 points up at 28 3/8.

Canadian Pacific Railway was one of the features of the market opening 3 1/4 points up at 135 3/4, but later easing off to a close of 132 1/2 fractionally above yesterday's close.

Strength in this stock is attributed to short selling while there are rumors that in common with other railway issues it is to be advanced to a six per cent basis.

Canadian Cotton Lost—The most important loss of the day was recorded in Canadian Cottons which sold 3 points lower at 52. Dominion Textile eased off to 140 1/4.

The papers were neglected and generally easier with Spanish preferred the most active of the group. Both issues sold down 1 1/2 points. Brompton and Laurentide both closed lower also.

The steels were easier in sympathy with the general market. Steel of Canada closed a point lower at 63. B. E. Steel was 1 1/4 and 9 and the first preferred lost 1 1/2 to 53 3/4 while the second preferred sold 1 1/2 down to 25. The traction issues were weak. Toronto Railway and Detroit both selling down a point.

Wheat Market Easier Throughout Day's Trading

Oats Were Strong as Short Interest Appeared to be Larger.

Winnipeg, Nov. 30.—The local wheat market which was easier during most of today's session, showed a little strength near the close. November showed a break of two cents at one time, the low being at 1.10, but it later reacted and remained fairly steady. The deferred positions were weaker but not to the same extent as November. This was the direct result of poor buying in the pit. Futures closed half lower to 7/8 cent higher. An excellent demand was evident for November 1 and 2 and November 2 northern in the cash wheat market and quite a flurry took place in the premiums, as high as six cents over November being paid for No. 1 northern, which was an advance of 3 cents over yesterday's close. The premiums of No. 1 northern at the close was 4 1/4 over November.

Data were very strong as short interest appeared to be large, the same appeared in rye, while barley was about steady. Prices generally were rather erratic.

Kraft takes the title from J. C. Mitchell, of Delinda, Sask., who had held it for two years.

Prov. Estimate of Yield On Field Crops For 1921

The provisional estimate of the yield of field crops in 1921 and the number of animals at or about the 15th of June, and the final estimate of the areas sown to field crops, for the Province of New Brunswick issued for publication Nov. 25th, 1921, shows the acre yield of potatoes to be 216 1/2 bush.

The highest in years, and compared with other provinces higher than any, Prince Edward Island being second with an average acre yield of 20 1/2 bushels.

The hay crop is less than last year by approximately 25 per cent. A fractional decrease is shown in the number of horses, cattle, sheep, swine, and poultry, though live stock, particularly sheep, are more numerous than in 1918.

Wheat Values Took Sharp Turn On Chicago Market

Close of Trading Left Market Firm, 2 to 2 1/2 Cents Higher.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Record breaking low estimates of the condition of the crop of winter wheat had much to do with a sharp turn in wheat values here. The close was firm, 2 to 2 1/2 cents higher. Corn gained 3/4 to 1 1/4 cents. Oats finished 1/4 cent off to a like advance, and provisions varied from ten cents decline to a rise of thirty cents.

Commission's Offer To City of St. John

Hydro-Electric Can Supply 6,107 Horse Power—Price About $30.

The following is a copy of the letter received by Mayor McDevitt from the Hydro-Electric Commission in reference to the amount of power available and the proposed cost:

His Worship, the Mayor and Members of the City Council.
St. John, N. B.

Dear Sir,—In reference to various conversations between yourselves and the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission in regard to disposal of electricity required for the proposed development, we now wish to place before you as completely as possible the information as to the amount of power available and the cost of the same.

The terms of the New Brunswick Electric Power Act contemplate that the Commission shall not act as a distributing agency to individual consumers, but rather as a wholesale agency supplying power to bulk purchasers directly to municipalities.

The Commission contemplates that all the operations of the Commission in so far as its relations with municipalities are concerned, shall be carried on on a basis of cost. It has developed in various conferences that there seems to be some little difficulty in fully comprehending this idea. The idea is not new and public utilities everywhere today are operated fundamentally on this basis whether under public utility regulation or direct municipal organizations. The New Brunswick Electric Power Act contemplates that the adjustment of cost shall be made directly between the parties interested, in the intervention of public utility commissions or other bodies. It is thought wise to emphasize this point in view of the fact that no municipal corporation to date has entered into it. It might further be stated that this system has been in successful operation for about fifteen years throughout the Province of Ontario, and is giving entire satisfaction. Its successful operation requires a full measure of confidence between the Commission and the municipality concerned and indeed there should be no difficulty in this since the interests of both are identical.

Section 27 of the New Brunswick Electric Power Act states as follows: "(1) Any municipality may apply to the Commission for the transmission and supply to the municipality of electrical power or energy for the use of the municipality and for the inhabitants of the municipality for light, heat and power purposes."

"(2) The Commission shall thereupon furnish to the municipality a statement of the price per h. p. at which the electrical power or energy will be supplied to the municipality and an estimate of the cost to construct or provide a transmission line by means of which the electrical power or energy required by the municipality is to be supplied etc."

So far the Commission has not had any application from the city for a definite amount of power although in view of the various conferences which have been held it is assumed that the city is desirous of applying for electrical energy. From information available it would appear that the amount of electrical energy now supplied to the citizens of St. John by the existing central generating station is about twelve million K.W.H. per year with a peak load of 4300 kilowatt, equivalent to 5760 h. p. It is also evident from reports available, notably that of Mr. Knapp, that a very considerable market in St. John for electrical energy not now being met by the existing central station. It would seem therefore that the city of St. John could make no objection to constructing for a supply of at least fifteen million k.w.h. per year at a maximum rate or peak demand of 4500 k. w. (6107 h. p.), that this amount would be held in reserve to supply the city if it required the same. The estimates which follow therefore are based on this amount of energy being taken by the city of St. John.

While the Act specifically states that estimates shall be given on a basis of horse power it seems preferable that they should be given on a basis of kilowatts and K.W.H. as electrical energy is invariably measured on this basis and the terms are readily interchangeable if so desired. From the standpoint of the public it is thought that a k.w.h. is a unit which is now readily understood and it is desired that the whole matter should not be confused any more than is necessary. For practical purposes, 3 k. w. are equal to 4 h. p.

With the Musquash development now largely completed it appears certain that the total capital cost of this development including not only construction but also payments for all property, will not exceed two millions ($2,000,000). On this basis it is estimated with certainty that the total annual charges for the whole development will be about two hundred and fifty-five thousand dollars ($255,000). This includes interest on the capital investment over a period of thirty years, depreciation of the plant, and to completely renew the perishable items, of the development at the end of their normal period of usefulness, all operating and maintenance charges such as labor, oil, waste, minor repairs, taxes and insurances, and including an amount for special provincial taxes on water power developments and a portion of the overhead expenses of the Commission.

Details of the capital cost and of the actual operating charges can be supplied if the city desires the same and will be supplied from time to time in the adjustment of cost if a contract is made between the city and Commission.

The Musquash development will supply at the station at the out-

New Brunswick Wins Honors In Agriculture Work

Awarded First Place in Live Stock Judging Competition—105 Contestants.

New Brunswick is again proud to acclaim the success of one of its brilliant students in the person of F. Waldo Walsh, of Miramichi, who, as fourth year student at the Ontario Agricultural College, who has covered his name with glory, and has demonstrated, beyond contradiction, the high standing of our Canadian colleges by winning first place in the Live Stock Judging Competition of 105 students from twenty-one Canadian and American colleges at the International Live Stock Show held at Chicago Nov. 26 to Dec. 3, in which the team of which he was the star member won second place.

Mr. Walsh entered upon his studies of agriculture at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College, Truro, N. S., and his success at college reflects credit on the institution which has provided him with such a sound training, and is also a tribute to his inherent ability and sound judgment.

Having obtained a second year diploma with honors, Mr. Walsh joined the staff of the Provincial Department of Agriculture and, subsequently, became an official of the Live Stock Branch, Ottawa, in which department his ability has always been recognized.

stirke of the city after all transmission losses have been deducted, at least twenty-one million k.w.h. a year at a maximum rate or peak load of 4500 k.w., equivalent to about 5,900 h.p. Assuming that the city contracts for fifteen million k.w.h. as is suggested, the commission already has an application to supply at least ten million k.w.h. per year. There is on this basis, that is to say, a supply of fifteen million k.w.h. per year to the city at a maximum rate of 4500 k.w. (6107 h.p.), the total actual charges to the city would be $183,210 (one hundred and eighty-three thousand, two hundred and ten dollars) or at the rate of about 12c per k.w.h. equivalent to thirty dollars ($30) per h.p. per year.

The Commission desires to point out that while the present demand for power will utilize the total capacity of the Musquash development, the Commission will undertake to supply the needs of the city for any amount on reasonable notice being given as there are other power sites in the vicinity which may be developed and used economically as the Musquash development; and the Commission's transmission line from Musquash to St. John has been designed with this view.

In order to place this matter before you in as definite a manner as possible a draft of the terms and conditions which the Commission would accept to be embodied in a contract is enclosed herewith. These terms and conditions are the result of careful study of contracts in force under similar conditions elsewhere.

For purposes of discussion we have filled in the amount of power in accordance with the suggestion already made in this letter but the amount is a matter for your consideration. While it is necessary for the purpose of making a complete and definite contract to use certain technical terms as to maximum rate in k.w. and kilowatts amperes, it is suggested that all practical purposes will be saved by confining your attention to k.w. hours.

It is further desired to point out that maximum prices and minimum power capacities are given in Canadian currency.

Yours truly,
NEW BRUNSWICK ELECTRIC POWER COMMISSION,
(Sgd) G. A. SMITH, Chairman.

St. Andrew's Society Celebrate The Day

Members and Friends Hear Address by Rev. J. A. MacKeigan in Pythian Castle.

The feast of St. Andrew, patron saint of Scotland, was royally celebrated by the St. Andrew's Society and a number of their friends last evening in the Pythian Castle, Union street, where an enjoyable concert and dance were carried out.

The decorations were of a high order of artistic merit. The president, S. Rutherford Jack's chair was backed by a large white St. Andrew's cross illuminated by red electric lights. The cross had as its background the Union Jack, and surmounted the coat of arms of New Brunswick, which was flanked on one side by the flag of St. Andrew, and on the other by the royal Scottish standard.

The first part of the evening was devoted to a pleasing programme of vocal solos which were interspersed by the faithful adherence to the psalm 'O the mull, the old Scottish custom, which will endure so long as they love.

The Rev. J. A. MacKeigan was the speaker of the evening. His message to his brother Scots was a most eloquent message, and a forceful appeal to the Scots of St. John to be true to the grand heritage of their race—love of freedom, culture, and brotherhood.

In his address, "The Day An' a' Wha Honor It," Mr. MacKeigan referred to St. Andrew as the first to recognize the Kingship of Christ, and to leave all and follow Him.

He showed that the characteristic of the saint found its counterpart in the Scottish race, whose chief characteristic was a readiness to recognize the supreme values in life and to sacrifice all for these three things, Liberty, the oldest and brightest jewel in the Scottish crown, often assailed but never lost from the time of earliest history down through the ages. Their idea of Liberty being the thought that all men are born free. And in the furtherance of that belief he related how the sons of Scotland had been sacrificed in church and state to preserve the idea.

The second characteristic, the brightest diadem of the nation, was his intellectual life. Scotland, said the speaker, had her parish schools four years before they were established in the rest of Britain. Since then, in literature, law, philosophy and medicine, Scots had maintained the lead.

The last great jewel, was Brotherhood, the cleanness of the Scot being but an expression of his love of his virtue. It was in this love that the world must get its strength to win to that much desired goal, the Brotherhood of Peace.

Mr. MacKeigan admonished his brother Scots to cherish these gems of priceless truth and emulate the spirit of sacrifice which marked the history of Scotland.

The only emulation which would prove worthy of the heritage would be a determined effort to prevent the recurrence of fratricidal strife and hasten the time when man to man the world over shall "brithers be an' a' that."

The programme carried out in the early part of the evening, and which was followed by a dance of Scottish and modern dances follows:

Empty Stocking Fund Growing. Business Men Are Sending in Cash Donations—Names of Families Held in Confidence.

The "Empty Stocking Fund" continues to grow and several merchants yesterday sent in cash donations which were thankfully received. It is the intention of the "Empty Stocking Fund" editor to print the names of those donating, but immediately after Christmas a statement will be published giving the grand total amount received and expended, also the number of poor children who were cared for through the generosity of "Those Who Care."

Another important matter was brought to the attention of the "Empty Stocking" editor yesterday, and that was the names of the families who are to be provided for, and it might be stated that every name that is handed in will be kept in strict confidence. It is not necessary that because some families are unfortunate on account of hard times that their names should be advertised all over the city, which is the only persons who will know the names will be the ones sending the names into The Standard, the editor, and those who will deliver the stockings. The stockings will be delivered on Christmas eve, or perhaps the day before, and parents of the children are requested to hang up the stockings Christmas eve so the children can receive them on Christmas morning and get the same enjoyment as the children who are better off.
