

ry, and we pray you to change the system. But the member for Gloucester says no—all is right. When they asked advice in 1833 at the Crown Land Office, they received consideration; and he would ask the Committee, should they be forever kept in such ignorance. In 1831 Lord Goderich said, that something ought to be done to prevent large tracts of land from being given to persons whose intention was not to improve them. They were told that was a copy of a document by Lord Goderich and sent out to Upper Canada in answer to a petition. That was his reason for saying that the practice of the C. L. Office was at variance with the Royal Instructions. And are they to get instructions in U. C. which the cast-offs of New-Branswick are not worthy of receiving. All instructions in this country must lie where no eye can see them—it was a most extraordinary way of proceeding. And when we ask for information—they say we have given you all we possess. It was well known they sent an address to His Majesty in 1833, is it but fair to presume that the instructions since 1833, is it but fair to presume that the instructions have not been observed, or that we are governed by rules which we cannot see. We are bound (said the learned gentleman) to take the Government at their word; they told us they had no instructions—we ask them and they say there is none since 1833;—they profess to have laid before us all the instructions they had—we only want them to give us the same chance which they have in Upper Canada, and let us see whether the rules will suit the circumstances of the country. The member for Gloucester said, we never returned thanks for our blessings and prosperity, and that we are always adverting to the evils of the country, but he says we, and includes himself. So much good had been done, and the country is so prosperous, we are to blindfold our eyes, and not to look at oppression. The hon. member for Gloucester asked—were they to make a walking auctioneer of the Commissioner of Crown Lands. If the land was to be sold at Fredericton, why not adhere to it. He contemplates the sale of land in the district—then mark again—after that regulation came out, there were sales of land in different places. At Grand Lake and in the county of Charlotte sales took place, and why did he not do it at Fredericton, if that was the proper place. Either one or the other was wrong. So much with regard to that rule. With regard to the 15 per cent. discount, his hon. friend had made the most extraordinary calculation he had ever heard of; he was mixing up the evils of the sale with the interest of the money, saying the member for York expressed great concern for the Casual Revenue, and that there was no reason for discontent; but the learned member for Gloucester tells us, if the King has lost the people have gained. Was that argument? The mode of 15 per cent. discount was not for the benefit of the country or the poor man but for the benefit of the rich capitalists, who would take the timber off the land. He would only trouble the committee with a word on the changes. Mr. Wilnot here cited a great number of sudden changes and fickleness in the Crown Land Office, and said it there was a necessity for breaking the regulations there was no necessity of making them. It comes to that. He was then speaking to the first resolution. One word more. In no case was a man to get more than 1200 acres but now he can get 5000 or 100,000, and six months to select them. If the change was a good one, we ought to say so—either pass a resolution saying it is beneficial or injurious. The second resolution related to the sales of waste lands made last year, at variance with the Royal Instructions. If the Government spoke the truth in 1833, the resolution was correct, and we are sorry to take them at their own word. We asked them and they said there was no further instructions, and in the regulations of 1833 there is nothing to justify their practice. They must confess they have got no rule, or that they have not told the truth to the House of Assembly—that is the dilemma. If they would look at the 4th page of the Journals of 1833, there is an intimation that there should be district sales—the upset price fixed to each lot in accordance with the rule, 5 per acre. According to his view of the rule, they were to fix the upset price to every lot—which they did not. Mr. Wilnot made further remarks, to show several instances where the Crown Land Commissioner had lately sold land in different counties, acting on the regulations of 1833. The house adjourned.

Great anxiety for the safety of the New York and Liverpool packet ship Roscoe, Capt. Delano, had been felt, in consequence of her coming in contact with the British barque Majestic off Sable Island. The Roscoe did not sustain any material damage; but by a letter dated off Liverpool, 26th Jan. it appears that on the Banks in lat. 46 she encountered a violent snow storm. Capt. Delano writes—

"The sails and rigging were covered with ice. The thermometer fell to 19°, the wind increased to a gale—but so loaded with ice were the ropes that I found it impossible to clew up the sails—the seamen became chilled and one poor fellow could hold on the yard no longer and fell overboard. I was therefore obliged to look on and see the sails blow to ribbons. We were sounding under bare poles at the rate of 6-12 knots about 20 hours before we got the sails bent."

As a proof of the estimation in which the passengers held the character of Capt. Delano as a navigator and a gentleman, they presented him with a tea service of silver on their arrival at Liverpool. Amongst the passengers names we perceive that of Mr. F. A. Babcock of this place, W. Elmonds Esq. of Montreal, Alexander Craig Esq. of Edinburgh and the hon. Joseph Masson. The Roscoe made the short passage of 13 days. —Editor Standard

COMMUNICATION.
FOR THE STANDARD.
MR. EDITOR.—If you choose to print the following letter, it may serve to shew the very profitable way in which some young ladies employ their time to fit them for high life, instead of their wasting the precious season of youth in acquiring those insipid habits which are vulgarly known as "domestic duties."
Yours, &c.
CHRISTINE.
Lisetta Nanina to her Cousin Christine.
Never begin a letter again, sweet coz, like that you addressed to me last moon—Dates, and places, and dear this, and dear that, are all very low and unfashionable expressions, and now quite exploded from genteel epistles. I was really much ashamed that our Governor should see your stiffarched, antiquated, little, left-hand line, calling me your "Beloved Cousin Eliza Ann." To be sure you do not speak Italian, or else you would prefer the soft sounds of that mellifluous language as I do, and not continue the gothic English names which every gentleman of any pretensions would avoid. I apologise for you, believe me, and Governor in a very handsome manner endeavoured to relieve my embarrassment by protesting that your letter contained "much good sense expressed in a plain, unaffected style." This, you know is what well-bred people will say, although at the same time they are aware they fib; for polished manners require that we should disguise our contempt for the defects of the vulgar. Do not think that in letting you into this secret I mean any disparagement to your merits. For I assure you "good sense" is not held in any estimation by the fashionable world.
Ah! Christine—what do you think? Our principal Assistant, a splendid specimen of female accomplishments to whom I am under the deepest literary obligations for her inestimable instructions ever since I was placed in this (now to me wretched) seminary—this amiable lady has been called on to tender her resignation: that is, in the vulgar way of speaking, she has been dismissed! You will naturally ask "why?" Alas! "for every why there is a wherefore," and "the why is plain as way to parish Church." These quotations you must know are from Shakespeare, one of the poets. Our talented Assistant knew them all, and expounded them all to me from the nurse of Juliet to the babies in the eyes of little Moore! She discovered, what I had not before the least idea of, that I have a great poetical genius; and she proved it by the verses she taught me to make. By taking part of any poem you choose and putting in new words, you get what is called a parody, which is counted a very smart thing to do, and is often thought more of than the original. But then the parody derives its relish from applying to what is going on at the present time, which is better than old fashioned lines, like the wrinkles in grey grand mother's forehead. Now, you know a little, but very little of the heavy obligation I am under to our ever-to-be-regretted, and exceedingly-to-be-admired, late-principal Assistant, Miss Aminta Belvidera Circassia Dollings. Her very initials you perceive were prophetically indicative of her future philological celebrity. But "the course of true love never did run smooth" and so it fared with my esteemed friend. The simplicity of your rural reflections may induce you to ask, "what have boarding school misses to do with love?" But I have the experience of Dollings to prove that there is more pure, immaculate, real love in the hearts of young ladies of pretensions, whose passions are unbiassed by interest, than ever was shewn by spinsters who supercede the predilections of nature by the artificial considerations of rank and etiquette at the expense of sincerity, erroneously called prudence.

But I must throw myself on your indulgence, cousin Christine, for this digression; although I can plead in extenuation of my error, the common practice of our best modern essayists, whose inimitable productions in the annuals of the day, have stamped our times as the age of intellect; rescued fashionable life from the imputation of literary inadequacy; diffused the lustre of learning through the drawing rooms of the great; placed nobility on the pedestal of fame; and rendered high life the envy and admiration of an applauding world! Well, I must now tell you how it happened that we were deprived of the unappreciated instructions of the never-to-be-sufficiently-prized-and-esteemed Aminta Belvidera Circassia Dollings.
With the Arcadian simplicity of Aminta were blended the graces of the Apollo Belvidere and the symmetry of the celebrated Circassians, altogether at variance with the crude idea of vulgarity implied by her unavoidable Dollings! Merc on us! How often have I heard the interesting Aminta lament this cruel bequest of her ancestors; which the amiable creature, with an extraordinary degree of civility, would elegantly excuse by observing, "since Dr. Young said 'we only wish as dutious sons our fathers were more wise, so daughters should shew their wisdom by getting rid of names they dislike, as quickly as possible.' There is sense for you—and wit and knowledge and foresight besides!"
You should not be so very pragmatical as some of your late letters prove you to be. I must send you my Album to shew you the reigning tone of morality fit for the present improved State of Society. You will there find by the autographs of every dashing beau worth a smile on the Mall, in what superlative estimation Aminta was held; at the same time justice calls upon me to proclaim, (almo Modesty is standing by, with her nervous finger compressed upon her cautious lips,) that the majority of the contributions pointed me out as more her rival than her pupil. Be that as it may the truth remains the same. Some of the dashing young spirits of this place—don't mistake me Christine—these are elegant young gentlemen, most stylishly dressed, just as if they had jumped out of a band-box, with long gilt spurs screwed into their heels, and whips in their hands, which is quite genteel altho' they may not go a riding, and segars in their mouths, which makes them look very graceful when they meet a lady, for the want of the conscious blush of innocence is not perceived when they bow through a cloud of smoke, which curls and disperses away leaving the pale countenance of their sallow countenances to be seen enveloped in peaked linen, fringed with ample whiskers and their hats bent aside in tip toe style and poised upon three hairs.

ERRATA.
A partially corrected proof having been by accident substituted for the proper one, and the whole impression having been worked off before the mistake was discovered a number of literal errors will be found in the present first page. It is requested that the following misprints may be corrected.—In the Temperance report end of second paragraph for "bitter, read victory"; next paragraph for "dashed read ready"; for "poppley read poppley".
In Mr. End's speech, below the columns of figures for "Rumours if Mr. Hill &c. read Resolutions; and if Mars Hill, &c."

Two important appointments had been made viz. Sir Charles Pepys to be Lord Chancellor, and Mr. Pickersleth to be Master of the Rolls.
The new Lord Chancellor and the Master of the Rolls, have been raised to the Peerage the former by the title of Baron Cottonham, and the latter by Baron Longdale. The lady of Sir J. Campbell, a daughter of Lord Abinger, lately known as Sir John Scarlett, has been raised to the dignity of Baroness, with the title of Edendale.

Commissioner next Week—D. Morrison.

By an arrival at New York on the 27th ult, English news has been received from London of the 3d and from Liverpool of the 4th Feb, the day on which Parliament was to meet. Such is the superiority of the New York and Liverpool packets, and the regularity with which they make passages in the most boisterous months, that the Advertiser and Advocate says "Answers to letters written in New York on the 10th of January were received from England, this day viz. 29th February."

There is no political intelligence of importance.

An adjourned debate on the state of the Province (which will be found on first page) turned wholly on the management of the Crown Land Sales. The debate has been again adjourned, so that no conclusion was come to. Mr. End's speech made a great impression on the House, and it is very remarkable that Mr. Wilnot's exertions were not met cop amore with that support which the noisy patriotism of three years past might lead people to expect. We defer making any lengthened remarks until the resolutions are decided on.

The TEMPERANCE CAUSE has extended its influence in Saint Andrews, as is shewn by the lucid and gratifying Report of the last quarterly meeting, inserted in our first page. At that meeting Mr. Samson delivered a harangue which, independently of its intrinsic value in a moral point of view, was considered a successful effort of eloquence delivered with admirable force and pathos. Mr. John Young also advocated the views and principles of the society; and several new names were enrolled among the numerous members.

The Steam Boat began to ply hither from St. John last week, and will continue to arrive on Thursdays until the weather will admit of more frequent trips.

Deer are abundant in the woods this season. Mr. Price and two companions brought in 7 from the Digdequash last week, and several parties are now preparing for similar excursions in hopes of similar success.

On Monday Jan. 25, a public dinner was given to Mr. O'Connell in Dublin, at which 350 persons were present. On Wednesday the 25th a splendid entertainment was given to him at Liverpool, when 800 persons were assembled. On Thursday he was welcomed to Birmingham, and another public banquet given to him. On all these occasions he delivered powerful speeches, which are detailed at amazing length in the English Prints.

The speech he made at Liverpool on Wednesday appeared in the London Sun on Thursday evening!

The Lord Mayor of London had called a public meeting to express the deep sympathy of the metropolis of England in regard to the configuration at New York.

The American ship Sampson, left London Jan 29, with Passengers, wheat and flour for New York! The Antoinette sailed the same day with a similar cargo.

Great rejoicings took place at Boston on the 1st March, when the Warren Bridge became free of toll. It was built over Charles River in 1786; is 1470 feet long and 42 feet wide.

The American papers have taken particular notice of the address of our Legislature to His Majesty on the timber duties, the concluding paragraphs of which are of great interest to the United States.

THE SALMAGUNDI,

or News of the Day.

THIS DAY is published, a SPECIMEN NUMBER of a new periodical, of a novel character, bearing the above appellation, will be commenced on the beginning of January 1836. It will contain the latest intelligence from all parts of the world, its principle object will be to give up a humorous compilation of the numerous lively and pungent articles which are daily floating along the tide of literature, and which for the want of a proper channel for their preservation, are positively lost to the reading world. Original wits and humorists of every time will here have a medium devoted to the faithful record of the acclamations of their genius. It is not necessary to detail the many attractions which this journal will possess, as the publisher will furnish a specimen number to every person who desires it—(those out of the city will forward their orders, postage paid)—It and he pledges himself that no article on his part shall be received, to make each succeeding number superior in every respect to the preceding ones.

The SALMAGUNDI, will be printed on large imperial paper, equal in size and quality to that which is at present used for the Gentleman's Vade Mecum. It is calculated that more than 500 ENGRAVINGS will be furnished in this Journal in one year—these in addition to an extensive and choice selection of Satire, Criticism, Humour, and Wit, to be circulated through the columns, will form a literary banquet of a superior and attractive order; and the publisher relies with perfect confidence on the liberality of the American public, and the spirit and tact with which this expensive undertaking will be prosecuted, to bear his successfully and profitably along with it.

The terms of THE SALMAGUNDI will be two guineas per annum, payable in advance, and no paper will be furnished unless this stipulation is strictly adhered to. Clubs of three, will be supplied with the paper for one year by forwarding a five dollar note, postage paid.—If the paper that are sent out of the city will be carefully packed in strong envelopes, to prevent their rubbing in the mail.

If THE SALMAGUNDI will be published on alternate weeks—otherwise it would be impossible to procure the numerous embellishments which each number will contain—and the general interest it will afford must be enhanced by this arrangement.

All orders must come from the publishers, Athenaeum Buildings, Franklin Place, Philadelphia.

Subscribers' names received at this Office.

PROSPECTUS OF THE NEW-ENGLAND GALAXY.

THE GALAXY has been published eighteen years.—The nineteenth Volume will commence with the coming year and be conducted by HENRY F. HARRINGTON, Assisted by several popular and well known authors.

The columns of the paper will be mostly filled with STERLING ORIGINAL ARTICLES; Of which Tales, Poetry and essays.—Notices of New Publications, and of the Times—Sketches of Foreign and Domestic Character and Scenery—Biographical Notices of eminent individuals, and letters from Correspondents, etc. will form prominent features.

The publishers will endeavor as far as practicable to support American Literature and Character—to sustain a manly and unyielding criticism on Literature, Men and Manners and the drama, without regard to friends or foes—to exercise a surveillance over all matters of local interest by exposing all nuisances and abuse to the public view, and to handle Quakers under its various galls, without gloves.

This course, a rapid and continued accession of subscribers has already proved eminently popular and successful, the Galaxy promising soon to possess a larger list, than any weekly paper in this state. Determined therefore, still more to merit support and in furtherance, of a promise that the paper should increase in literary merit as it gained in public favor the Publishers have engaged correspondents in several parts of our own country and in Europe.

In addition to which they offer prizes—ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS As follows—FIFTY DOLLARS for the best and TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS for the second best TALE and TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS for the best POEM. The subjects and length of the several articles to be at the option of the competitors. Manuscripts can be directed to the Editor of the Galaxy, post paid, to June 1st 1836, and the award will be made by a literary committee during the month following. The address of the writer should be enclosed in a sealed note marked Name and the direction of the successful author only will be opened. All the manuscripts to be at the disposal of the publishers of the Galaxy.

TERMS. The Galaxy is published every Saturday at THREE DOLLARS PER ANNUM IN ADVANCE. Postmasters or others forwarding twelve dollars shall receive Five papers or a reasonable commutation.

THE NEW YORKER.

QUARTO EDITION.
The Publishers of The New Yorker, aware of the great and steadily increasing patronage which has hitherto rewarded their exertions, propose to issue, from the commencement of their third Volume on the 26th of March ensuing, a new Quarto Edition of their journal, not only in respect of size, but in the matter of its contents. Advertisements, excepting a few of a strictly literary character, will be entirely excluded; and in addition to all the matter presented in the former Volume, the Quarto will contain a large and valuable Table page and comprehensive Index at the close of the Volume.

The general feeling of the New Yorker will be most sensibly gratified by the new edition. It is a General Literature—Official Table, Essays, Reviews, Poems, &c., with corresponding illustrations from the Quaker, Monitor, and other leading papers of the day. Foreign and American, and choice extracts from new works of authorial excellence. The Editor acknowledges with pride and gratitude his obligations to his regular contributors, and is confident that the new edition will be found to contain more matter of interest and value than any other journal published in the United States. The new edition will be published in the month of March, and will be sent to the subscribers by the first of the month. THE ALBION.

PROSPECTUS OF THE FOURTH VOLUME.
A JOURNAL OF THE NEWS, POLITICS, AND LITERATURE OF EUROPE.
The fourth volume of the New Series of THE ALBION commenced on the first Saturday of the present year, 1836.

This Journal, which embodies the News, Politics and Literature of Europe, more particularly of Great Britain, has been published weekly for nearly three years, and has obtained a reputation and circulation far exceeding the most sanguine expectations of its founders. This history of encouragement has enabled the Publishers, as three separate occasions, to improve, enlarge, and embellish the work, and to thus give it an importance and interest far beyond its original scope. The new volume will be published in the month of March, and will be sent to the subscribers by the first of the month.

THE GENTLEMAN'S VADE MECUM.

ON THE SPORTING AND DRAMATIC COMPANION.
MULTITUDE OF ENGRAVINGS.
Portraits of celebrated Writers, Philosophical and Natural Phenomena, Legends, &c.

It is now six months since this publication was commenced in Philadelphia—and although the Publishers have used no extraordinary means to draw into its knowledge of its merits, yet such is the satisfaction manifested by the portion of the Public who have been made acquainted with its character and contents, that it is fast becoming a household word, and rapidly increasing. This paper is now distributed regularly every week over a wide portion of the Union, and the most satisfactory assurances are received that it will eventually become one of the most popular among the numerous excellent periodicals which issue from the American press. No exertions will be spared to establish its permanent reputation more extensively; and if the liberal sanction of those for whom it is especially designed shall warrant its future improvement—both as regards its originality of matter and embellishment—it will be gratefully appreciated.

The different PLAYS and FARCES that will appear in the course of the year, of themselves will amply repay the time and labour of the subscriber. The following is a list of the works which are to be published:
