THE OLD COUPLE.

They sat in the sun together. Till the day was almost done, And then, at its close, an angel Stepped over the threshold stone

He folded their hands together. He touched their eyelids with balm, And their last breath floated upward Like the close of a solumn psalm.

Like a bridal pair they travefeed The unseen, mystical road, That leads to the Beautiful City, Whose Builder and Maker is God.

Perhaps, in that miracle country They will give her lost youth back, And the flowers of a vanished Spring time Shall bloom in the spirits track.

One draught of the living waters Shall restore his manhood's prime And eternal years shall measure

But the shapes they left behind them-The wrinkles and silver hair-Made sacred to us by the kisses The angel imprinted there.

We'll hide away in the meadow, When the sun is low in the West, Nor the wind disturb their rest

With its age and date arise O'er the two who are old no longer In their Father's bouse in the skies.
