Mrs. Elizabeth Miller

Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, wife of Thomas Miller, and one of Millgroves most highly respected residents, passed away at her home on Saturday last following an extended illness.

Deceased was in her 78th year at the time of her death, and leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, two daughters, Mrs. J. Carey and Mrs. A. Cummins of Millgrove.

Deceased had resided in Millgrove practically all her life. About a year ago she contracted an illness, gangaric developing and an operation was deemed necessary, from the effects of which she never fully recovered.

The late Mrs. Miller was of a cheery disposition and bore her sufferings cheerfully and without complaint. She was greatly respected by all who knew her, and her death comes as a great shock to her many friends.

The funeral took place on Monday afternoon from her late home to Millgrove cemetery. Funeral services at the house and grave being conducted by the Rev. Mr. Albright, pastor of Millgrove Methodist church.

Only a Dad

Only a dad with a tired face
Coming home from the daily race,
Bringing little of gold or fame
To show how well he has played the game;
But glad in his heart that his own
rejoice
To see him come and to hear his voice.

Only a dad of a brood of four,
One of a million men or more,
Plodding along in the daily strife,
Bearing the whips and scorns of life
With never a whimper of pain or hate
For the sake of those who at home await.

Only a dad, neither rich nor proud,
Merely one of the surging crowd,
Toiling, striving, from day to day,
Facing whatever may come his way;
Silent, whenever the harsh condemn,
And bearing it all for the love of them.

Only a dad, but he gives his all
To smooth the way for his children small,
Doing, with courage stern and grim,
The deeds that his father did for him;
This is the line that for him I pen,
Only a dad, but the best of men!

Garnham-Alton Wedding

A very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the Methodist parsonage, Burlington, on Wednesday, June 16th at 2 p. m. by Rev. G. W. Barker, when Miss Mabel Rela Alton, daughter of Mr. J. C. Alton, Nelson, was united in marriage to Mr. William Roy Garnham of Burlington. The bride was becomingly gowned in a nut grey serge suit with picture hat to match and wore a corsage bouquet of white roses. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Lou Alton. Mr. Mark Alton, brother of the bride, supported the groom. The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond necklace, to the bridesmaid a turquoise brooch, and to the groomsmen a pearl tie pin. The wedding party, amid showers of confetti and rice, left by motor for Toronto and intend visiting Marine City, Mich. On their return they will be at home to their friends at Port Credit.

Base Ball

(By the Sporting Editor)

They who stand on lofty places boastfully are bound to fall. Such was the fate of the Carlisle Juniors last Saturday when they stacked up against the all around superior playing of the Waterdown Juniors. The boys are sure deserving of great credit for the kind of ball they are putting up right now, hitting and fielding to suit the severest critic. Individually there is no distinction, and as a team they are doing all that could be asked of them considering their youth and experience. In the absence of Herb. Slater, who was on the sick list, Gordon Foster took up the catcher's duties and showed up well. Ribson again featured, batting in the winning runs in the last of the eighth and pulling the game on ice. Keep up the good work. Success means the top.

Mr. Geo. Potts has taken over the management of the team, which will mean more victories.

The Seniors displayed improved form on Saturday last and trimmed the Tungstans to the tune of 29 to 5. Newstedt showed a great reversal of form, while the infield played errorless ball. Roy Willis featured with a bare handed stop of a hard hit ball to centre. Still the boys are not playing the ball that they can, as will be seen later on. They are a fast, brainy bunch, but lack good team play. Their batting is good. With Kirk leading off, and Gordon and Torrance following always looks good for a run. Ash. Gordon thinks they can give any team "twenty" and win. "Jerry" Burns secured the first home run of the season. The score indicates that the boys never let up, which shows good baseball.

An illustrated lecture will be given in Millgrove on June 29th, in Freeton on June 30th, and in Rockton on July 2nd. These lectures are held under the auspices of Premier Drury, the Women's Institutes and the Navy League of Canada, and are of an educational and Patriotic nature. The lecturer Captain Morris, a returned soldier, will bring with him a very fine collection of lantern slides, illustrating the development of farm life. The importance and development of Canadian Merchant service to carry our surplus products from the farm and factories to foreign markets will be illustrated by pictures showing the building and launching of these ships and the training of men to man them, also the training ship now in use on Toronto Bay. A set of fine slides of the British Navy in war time will also be shown. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone in the welfare of our country, to be present and help make these lectures a success. Admission is free.

DRINKS FOR HOT WEATHER

In making cold beverages it should be remembered that they are always much better if put together with a sugar syrup instead of using plain sugar. This provides a rich, smooth sweetening, and as the syrup can be prepared in advance and "canned" ready for use, a jar or two should stand ready on the pantry shelf for the making of these delightful summer beverages.

PLAIN SUGAR SYRUP.

Boil together for five minutes two quarts of water and six pounds of granulated sugar; then can as for canned fruit in hot sterilized jars. Allow one tablespoonful of the SYRUP to a glassful in sweetening any fresh fruit beverage.

LOGANBERRYVADE.

Use one quart of loganberry juice and add the juice of two lemons, one sliced orange, sufficient of the syrup to sweeten and dilute to taste with chilled carbonated water, poured from a height. Pour into tall glasses, half filled with cracked ice.

TURKISH PUNCH.

Rub a quart can of apricots through a puree sieve, and add half a cupful of the sugar syrup, the juice drained from the apricots, the juice of one orange and one lemon, two cupfuls of canned apple juice or cider, one quart of chilled water and a pint of cracked ice. Serve with straws.

GRAPE CUP.

Place in a large bowl one cupful of strained tea, three-quarters of a cupful of two oranges and two lemons. Stand on the ice for three or four hours to ripen and when ready to serve add one quart of unfermented grape juice, a bouquet of fresh mint and a pint of chilled vichy. Pour slowly over a small block of ice that has been placed in a punch bowl.

GINGER ALE FRAPPE.

This is delicious and well worthy to serve as a party beverage. Mix together a pint of large, strawberries, cut in halves, add the juice of one orange, one lemon and a small cupful of the sugar syrup. Chill on the ice, turn into a punch bowl, place a quart over enough iced ginger ale to nearly cover the ice. Serve immediately in sherbet cups.

Great Britain's Recovery

In spite of the fact that Great Britain's imports during March totalled £177,000,000, which was an increase of £6,700,000 over the preceding month and included £58,000,000 worth of raw cotton, its excess of imports over exports for the month dropped sharply to a new low figure, amounting to only £28,000,000. In February the United Kingdom's unfavorable visible trade balance was more than double this, or nearly £62,000,000.

The exceptionally good showing made by the British foreign trade figures for March thus is seen not to be the result of decreased imports, but rather of the new high record of its exports, which totalled £149,000,000 in March, as against £109,000,000 during the month preceding. The March exports, moreover, included a high percentage—namely, £122,000,000 worth—of strictly British goods, indicating the extent of the revival in British industries. Re-exports for the month amounted to £27,000,000, which also is

Sergeant Halliwell's Feat at the Siege of Lucknow.

During the siege of Lucknow in the Indian mutiny there was afforded what was probably the most notable instance of the record in war of a crack shot.

The rebels were endeavoring to mount two eighteen-pounders, which they had hauled up to the flat roof of one of the palaces surrounding the residency, and it was necessary to prevent this being done, or they would have been able to pour down a heavy fire on the defenders. Sergeant Halliwell was chosen for this duty. He was a crack shot of the Thirty-second foot.

Being given the best rifle that could be found, his orders were to prevent the guns being mounted. He took up his position behind some battered down masonry where there was only cover for him to lie at full length. His only chance was to roll over from his back to his stomach. His eyes were ever kept on the dismantled guns, and whenever the Sepoys attempted to mount them his snoring rifle played havoc among them and prevented their object being accomplished. Food was brought to him at night by men who crawled to his position.

After some time a sortie was made, and the Sepoys were defeated. For this brave work Sergeant Halliwell received the Victoria Cross.—Harpers Weekly.

a heavy increase over previous months and is equally significant of the progress being made by the United Kingdom in its efforts to recover its old-time supremacy as a market place for the world.

The fact that England is contriving, and thus far with quite conspicuous success, to correct its heavy adverse trade balance without reducing its imports is coming to be looked upon in this country as a particularly satisfactory revelation of British recuperative powers. Were the United Kingdom to be forced by circumstances—and it was feared in many quarters not so long ago that such would be the case—to curtail its imports substantially, the chances of recovering its pre-war trade and eventually working its way out of the burdensome financial obli-

With the single exception of coal, the industries of England are dependent almost entirely on imports for their raw materials; so that any marked reduction in British imports would entail a proportionate reduction in the activities of British exports. That the United Kingdom has been able to maintain and even to increase to new high levels its imports, in spite of heavy foreign debts, adverse exchange rates and preponderant adverse trade balances, accumulated since 1914, speaks well for the foresight, courage and resourcefulness (on which in the final analysis a nation's future depends) of British merchants as a whole.—From The World's Markets, published by R. ## ALTER STUDIES AT THE O.A.C.

Will Be Two Distinct
Courses in Future.

One for Farmers, One for Experts.

Toronto despatch: According to changes which have been made in the courses offered students at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph there will in future be two distinct training courses in order to supply the needs of agriculturists, teachers of agriculture and the various other features of farm activity. In making an announcement of the changes yesterday, Hon. Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture, pointed out that an agricultural college is expected to satisfy two distinct demands. The first is to train and educate men who intend to make farming their occupation, and the second is to train and educate men who will become professional agriculturists, that is teachers, investigators, agricultural representatives, journalists and administrators in agricultural departments. Up to the present, it has been the practice for the Ontario college as well as other institutions of the kind in Canada to try to combine the two aims, but now courses have been planned to serve the two distinct needs. With this in view, there will be a two-year course for the man making farming his occupation and there will be a four-year course for the other classes. Any candidate for the two-year course will be admitted if he is at least 18 years of age, and has had one year of farm work. Candidates for degree course must be 18 years old, must have had one year's farm experience, and must have passed the examination for junior university matriculation, or they must be experienced farmers—years of age who lack not more than one year's study of the matriculation standing. The latter will be required to complete their matriculation before entering the third year at the college.

In commenting upon the changes yesterday, Hon. Mr. Doherty pointed out that the two aims are so different that the attempt to combine them in the same course has lessened the value of the course for either purpose. He added that about 25 per cent. of those entering the O. A. C. go on to finish the B. S. A. course, and of this 25 per cent. only a small percentage ever become farmers. The fact that a man starts a two-year course will not prevent him from going on for degree work.

Hon. Mr. Doherty pointed out that practical training will be necessarily limited, this including actual work in handling horses and implements, feeding live stock and many other operations that can be given to advantage only on a smaller farm. When a man young man without farming experience applies to be taught farming, he will be advised to work on some good farm for a time.

For the two-year course the college will teach any practical work which can be given to a large number of students at the same time, this will include judging live stock, poultry and grain; identifying weeds and weed seeds; feeding milk; making and judging butter and cheese; simple carpentry and blacksmithing and operating tractors; the principles of pruning and grafting fruit trees, and the composition of animal foods and fertilizers. The students can also learn in class what kind of feeds are best to produce growth or meat or milk, what methods of cultivation are recommended for various crops and the best methods for other farm pests. The two-year course is based on the belief that a farmer should have some knowledge of business, banking, credits, loans, markets and marketing, transportation, tariff and taxation, planning farms and farm work, and the right relation between capital investment, maintenance cost and revenue.

So far as the four-year course is concerned, Hon. Mr. Doherty pointed out that it might not make the student any better farmer than the two-year course would, but it would give him a better chance of becoming a prominent citizen and a leader in his community. The four-year course is specially devised to meet the demand for specialists in field husbandry, animal husbandry, horticulture, dairying, poultry, agricultural chemistry and biology. The demand comes from colleges which require teachers and investigators, while departments of agriculture frequently require men to administer their various branches or to carry on experiments, and the four-year course is planned to supply the men required.

USE MORE BEANS

(Experimental Farms Note.)

The ripe bean is a form of food very much neglected in Canada. Lack of variety is one of the serious faults in our national diet. Many people seem inclined to use a very limited number of foods and, as far as possible, to make each day's meals resemble those of the day before; while, in other cases, the dull routine of a fixed seven-day cycle prevails. It is well known that a varied diet is more wholesome than a restricted one, and, especially in these times when good food is scarce and high in price, it is really deplorable to note the neglect of some of the best Canadian-grown food materials, such as beans, peas, Indian-corn and barley, while an imported product, rice, remains quite popular in spite of its inferior quality as food and the commercial objection that a hard money must be sent to some foreign country to pay for it.

Of all the neglected foods, the bean is perhaps the most important. It contains a large percentage of protein (approximately double the amount found in cereals) and protein is the most expensive ingredient in the materials which we consume. The bean may fairly be said to rank first among the common foods of vegetable origin; peas are of almost equal value, but wheat and barley fall below. Oats also are distinctly inferior on the whole, though they contain much more fat than beans. While it is not true, as has sometimes been assumed that vegetable protein, as found in beans, can entirely take the place of animal protein, as found in meats, eggs and milk, nevertheless the vegetable proteins have a high food value and the bean could, in many instances, be advantageously substituted for part of the meat ration. Considerable economy would be attained in this way, as beans are very cheap indeed in comparison with most animal products. It must be noted, however, that beans cannot be eaten freely by everyone. There are a few individuals for whom they seem quite unsuitable; but the vast majority of people would have better, cheaper and more enjoyable meals if beans were used more often. Matters of diet are so often settled by customs of the country rather than by intelligent thought that it is very hard to bring about changes, however desirable. Yet there seems no good reason why the regular use of beans should be limited almost to Massachusetts and a few other favored localities. In these days when, owing to the high cost of living, many individuals are inclined to break away from some of the older and more expensive customs, the introduction of the bean as a regular article of diet offers an opportunity for the display of a little originality and the exercise of judicious economy at the same time.—Olas. E. Saunders, Dominion Cerealist.

Edmonton, June 2.—Crop conditions in central Alberta are absolutely ideal. I have never seen anything like it," declared James McCaig, Commissioner of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, yesterday.

"This moist weather is bringing the grain along in wonderful style. The wheat and oats are growing rapidly, and the blades are plump and luscious. They look like onion shoots, so fat and full of moisture are they."

Only in one small district in the south of the province, that lying immediately north and east of Lethbridge and Macleod, has there been any damage reported. This has been due to the high winds there during the last week.

THE HEEL FLY

Patrols report says: A fly new to this country and designated "heel fly," has appeared in many parts of Manitoba, and is causing stockmen and farmers much anxiety. It attacks cattle so savagely that they stop feeding and gallop precariously across the fields.

It appears to hatch in little drops of a white frothy liquid that adheres to the blades of grass. In some pastures these froth-like drops seem numerous.

Little appears to be known even by expert cattlemen of the life history, habits or origin of this new terror to the herds. It is said to attack the "heels" of the cattle, but evidence of this feature is not conclusive.

RESTOCK OUR FARMS.

Duty On Cattle From U. S. is Removed.

Ottawa, June 2.—With the object of restocking Canadian farms which have suffered through excessive drought of the past two years, an order-in-council has been passed which, in effect, removes the duty from cattle entering the Dominion from the United States from the present time to February 7, 1920. The order was passed several days ago, but has been held up to some extent by the Customs authorities, who have had to arrange minor details and issue instructions.

Interviewed on the matter tonight, Hon. Dr. Tomin, Minister of Agriculture, said the move was solely for the purpose named and the Government hoped to get the southern portion of Alberta and some parts of Saskatchewan back to normal within the present year.

"This year the prospects are excellent for grass on the prairies and the order should provide cheap cattle for the Canadian farmer, yielding him a good profit and prevent the grass from going to waste," said Dr. Tomin. "The grass prospects in many sections of the West are better this year than in a decade," he added.

Wireless Takes Melba's Song All Over Europe

London, June 2.—Madame Nellie Melba the opera singer, sang yesterday to an audience spread over the British Isles and a large part of Europe. By arrangement with the Daily Mail, the prima donna, standing in a small room at the Marconi works at Chelmsford, sang several songs into a microphone, when they were transmitted by wireless telephone on a wave length which should have enabled them to be heard within a radius including Rome, Madrid, Berlin and Stockholm.

Telegrams have been received from Paris and The Hague reporting that the songs were heard there very clearly, while numerous owners of wireless apparatus in Great Britain also heard them with distinctness.

PROFIT-SHARING FOR EMPLOYEES

International Harvester Co.
Has Big Plan.

Big Plum in Common Stock
Dividend.

Chicago despatch: Stockholders of the International Harvester Company in Canada and the United States will meet on July 22 to consider a proposal to increase the common stock of the concern to pay a 12 1/2 per cent. stock dividend, and to take action on a profit-sharing plan for employees. The meeting was called by the directors of the company, who yesterday increased the rate of cash dividend on the common stock from 6 to 7 per cent.

The increase in the common stock to be considered by the stockholders would be $30,000,000, of which one-third would be used to pay a 12 1/2 per cent. stock dividend on the present $30,000,000 of common stock, the balance to be available for the payment of two per cent. semi-annual stock dividends.

The proposed stock dividend, which applies to the amount of cash dividends not paid during the four years of war on $10,000,000 of common stock, according to company announcement, an announcement said the dividend would be paid as soon as possible after it was ratified by the stockholders.

The profit-sharing proposal calls for the setting of $10,000,000 for preferred and $20,000,000 of common stock for ownership by employees.

Lightning struck the tug Strathmore at Port Arthur, and so electrified the steel hull that the use of the compass aboard has become impossible.

CORN SMUT

The smut of corn is well known to farmers. The smut masses which usually appear as swollen outgrowths may be found on the ears, stems, or leaves. These outgrowths are sometimes quite large and make the smut very conspicuous. They are at first covered by a thin membrane, which soon breaks away and exposes the black mass of spores. The mass soon becomes powdery and the myriads of spores which each mass contains are readily blown about by the wind. In these spores that spread the disease during the growing season and carry the smut over the winter to the next crop.

In many of the smuts, as the smut of oats and the sticking smut or burnt wharf, the spores get on the seed and when the seed is planted begin growing with it and attack the young seedling. Treatment with a solution of formaldehyde is effective in killing the spores on the seed and preventing infection of the young plants. In the case of the loose smut of wheat and the loose smut of barley the spores are blown about at blossoming time and grow into the very young seed. The hot water treatment of the seed is used to kill the smut inside the seed. In the case of corn smut seed treatment of any kind has been found to be of no use, as the smut spores live over in the soil or in manure rather than in or on the seed. So the only way to control the corn smut is to prevent the smut spores getting into the soil or the manure. Not only do the spores live in the manure pile for some time, but they may actually increase rapidly in number if the conditions are favorable.

Corn smut is found in all parts of Canada where corn is grown, but is more common in Eastern Canada. Generally it is not very prevalent and the losses are not great. Where it is common measures should be taken to prevent its spread. The smut masses should be cut out during the growing season. They should be removed before they have broken open and spread their spores. They should not be left lying where they may reach manure or refuse and be carried back to the soil, but they should be gathered and burned. Rotation of crops is also valuable in preventing corn smut. The smut does not live long in the soil, and will not attack any other crop, so time should be given for the smut to die out in the soil before another crop of corn is planted. Seed treatment has not been found to be of any use in corn smut.—W. P. Fraser, Plant Pathologist.

LAST BIG BLOCK

Of Canadian Pacific Reserve Farm Lands
In Central Alberta and Saskatchewan

We would call your attention to these lands, the last large block of good virgin farm land in Western Canada, which marks the end of wholesale prices for virgin farm lands in the Prairie West.

News of this block being opened up is being advertised throughout Europe and the United States, and is being read by hundreds of thousands of people every week.

The American farmers have been quick to see the opportunities offered in the Western Provinces of Canada in the past, and I am sure that they will see this last opportunity as quickly as any, and that there will be thousands of them going to see these lands as soon as the snow begins to thaw in the spring. It is, therefore, up to us in Eastern Canada to make arrangements to visit the West and see these lands at the earliest possible opportunity, and I cannot urge you too strongly if you are at all interested in getting a farm of your own, to take advantage of this last opportunity. Those who act now and secure some of these lands will reap the benefit of quicker increase in value than at any period in the past, and the land will pay for itself from the crops in a few years. can pay in full at any time.

Those who do not wish to improve the land at once may purchase land on our ten year contract, one-tenth cash, balance in nine equal payments at 6%, which does not require improvement of the land, or you can pay in full if you choose.

Those who get there first will get best selection and best location.

What Is Jobs Ministers' Fate?

PICTURE a bunch of cheerless Cabinet Ministers stranded on the beach, the tide of popular favor having receded over the horizon, leaving them high but not dry, with their clothes stolen and a chill wind whistling unkindly round their shivering bodies and flapping with mournful cracks through their political bathing suits. A sad scene, and heartrending too, were it not for the knowledge that most of them are secure in the possession of a private stock of most excellent B.V.D.'s.

What, though, does happen Cabinet Ministers when they lose their jobs? Have the recent Conservative rulers at Queen's Park joined the ranks of the unemployed? Are their eager eyes scanning nightly the help wanted columns in an anxious search for something to tide them over till the spring comes and work opens up? Waste not your pity in advance. They are all well fixed, or have hopes.

Take Sir William Hearst, for instance, their leader. He can't really complain. It's time he lost the right to consider himself king-pin of Ontario but he had not to wear out his own pins looking for work or to advertise: "Wanted by ex-Premier suitable employment. Good appearance and agreeable manners. Knowledge of law. Big connections. Willing to consider himself the servant of the people and work up. Wages to suit." No, the cheers of the farmers had hardly died away before Sir William found himself appointed a member of the International National Waterways Commission with a salary of $6,000 a year. It's a big drop from $12,000, but there is a lot of dignity in being a member of the I. N. W. C. and it is better than moving the family to the Soo and starting that law practice there again.

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, was in a way the luckiest of the bunch. All his clothes were not stolen though there was little left but the shirt and socks. Still it was enough to make him leader of the party. There is not much money in it apparently, though there are hopes, in spite of heartless U. F. O. threats, if Mr. Ferguson becomes the officially recognized leader of the Opposition. Still Mr. Ferguson has no need to worry. He has a good law practice in Kemptville and another in Toronto.

But what about the masterful McGarry of the big physique, doughty litter, erstwhile Provincial Treasurer? Surely he is not going to bury his brains and his brawn. Surely the clever tongue of him is not doomed once more to beguile the Renfrew Board of Education or twist itself in petty pleading as the town solicitor. By no means! It is whispered that McGarry has big financial interests and that his capable handling of the provincial moneys, combined with his legal knowledge, has qualified him to set up as an expert financial adviser to big business.

And I. B. Lucas, the Attorney-General, another lawyer, what of him? Will he go back to his early task of helping settle disputes about rail fences between Markdale and Owen Sound? Of course, he might once again become a law partner of Hon. W. E. Raney, but two men of Attorney-General's rank in the one firm might make it top heavy. So he still practices law at Markdale and he still stays on the Hydro Commission. But it said he will resign the latter; and it is again whispered that Mr. Lucas, who "keeps his ear to the ground," has heard that there is a shortage of houses and that he intends to help supply the demand by the erection of choice homes to suit select purchasers.

Hon. W. D. McPherson and Hon. Rev. Dr. Cody won't have much trouble finding their B. V. D.'s. Both knew exactly where they had laid them. And they hadn't left them very long! From the Provincial Secretaryship to his old seat in his Toronto law office is for Mr. McPherson as smooth and frictionless as a duck taking the water. Dr. Cody simply steps down from the education rostrum and up into the pulpit of St. Paul's.

Hon. Finlay Macdormid, ex-Minister of Public Works, and Hon. George S. Henry, ex-Minister of Agriculture, may also be classed together. They have turned their backs on the city and for them it is back to the land. They will wake at cockcrow and hurry out to watch the grass grow, and when the evening falls they will sit in the quiet country and philosophize about the shortcomings of their fellow-farmers now sitting in the seats of the mighty in Queen's Park. But, both Macdormid and Henry are farmers in a big way, the former at Rodney, the latter at Todmorden. Henry was credited with being the richest man in the late brook-herhood, with a 300-acre farm and half a million dollars. He is also president of the Farmers' Dairy Co. Neither need worry.

There only remains Hon. R. F. Preston. He had no portfolio in the late Government so he had none to lose when the crash came. Thus he has merely gone back quietly to his medical practice at Carleton Place and continues to keep an eye on his investments.

"Reds" Like Canada.

All that remains of the Finnish Foreign Legion, which, under British leadership, fought the Germans on the Russian frontier, but would not fight the Bolsheviks because they were revolutionaries themselves, want to come to Canada. Away up in the Baltic are these would-be Canadian citizens, who helped the allies against the Teutons, but have been a problem ever since. These are strange allies since the legion was recruited from none other than former members of the Finnish Red Guard who were expelled from their country after the last change of Government there. Men without a country, they were formed into a foreign legion, 14,000 strong, and under British and Canadian officers did good work against the Germans, who tried to cross the Russian frontier to reach Murmansk. After the armistice, however, they refused to fight the Bolsheviks. They were all but Bolsheviks themselves. Through the efforts of Britain most of the legion was finally repatriated, but there was a certain element too steeped in revolutionary ideas for the Finnish Government to allow re-entry. They were blacklisted men. They were formed into details and placed under Lieut. T. S. Wetton, of Winnipeg, a Canadian who went out with the Serbian force as an officer in the Devonshires. Wetton protests they are not Bolsheviks, although a little radical in tendency. He says they are anxious to come to Canada, and he has made representations to the Dominion immigration authorities in that respect. However, it is scarcely likely that Canada will see the matter in the same light. Wetton's following are the very cream of Finnish revolutionaries, Oskari Tokoi, former Prime Minister for Finland, being an N.C.O. and a number of other prominent wavers of the red flag ranking as mere privates.

"Autumn" or "Fall."

Both are correct, "autumn" being rather more classic and generally used in England, while "fall" is now distinctly American and more expressive in its reference to the time of falling leaves. In England, the autumn is still sometimes called "the fall of the leaf." An English writer says: "Fall is better on the merits than autumn, in every way; it is short, Saxon, picturesque; it reveals as revelation to everyone who uses it, not to the scholar only, like autumn; and we once had as good a right to it as the Americans, but we have chosen to let the right lapse and to use the word now is no better than larceny." But if "fall" is more expressive, "autumn" has sanction of long usage and classical approval. The poets all give it the preference. Different ones speak of "coagulated autumn," and "yellow autumn," weather with nodding corn.

Prince an Indian Chief.

"Dawn of Day" is the latest distinctive title to be conferred upon the Prince of Wales, who was invested with a chieftainship in the Six Nations (Iroquois) in the course of five hours spent in Brantford. At the Mohawk camp the prince signed the register which contains the signatures of his grandfather and great-uncle, the Duke of Connaught. He was particularly interested in the Bible presented to the Six Nation Indians by Queen Anne. The women of the tribe requested that he convey to his great-aunt the Queen an autograph from him. The prince unveiled a special tablet inscribed with names of the 26 members of the Six Nations and of overseas.

NATURAL GAS.

History of the Wells, Ancient and Modern.

The use of natural gas is not in any sense a discovery of modern times as many people believe. Natural gas was used by the ancients in foreign countries.

In the days of the illustrious Julius Caesar there was a gas well in France that was called a "flaming fountain" by the people and was a source of much mystery to them.

The city of Genoa was illuminated centuries ago with gas and in China the gas was transported from place to place through bamboo pipes, the Chinese giving our gas company an indication of how to transport their article.

It has been worshipped by fire worshippers in places it bubbled from the ground.

The first well to be developed on this continent was discovered not far from Buffalo. This was a well at Fredonia that went down 37 feet in 1831 and was used to light the hotel there when Gen. Lafayette visited Fredonia.

The development of natural gas was begun in earnest in 1876 and the state of Pennsylvania became a leader in producing the gas. Gas follows oil naturally and oil was first discovered in large quantities in this country in the Keystone state.

Gas wells average from 25,000 cubic feet a day to 10,000,000 cubic feet a day. The smallest well, one of 25,000 feet, would only be enough to supply three average households a day.

Gas company officials in Canada say that natural gas must be conserved or else the supply will be exhausted in a few years. This remedy for conservation is higher prices so that gas is not used as commonly and as unthinkingly as it is now.

The biggest gas wells ever discovered are those discovered within the past few months at McKeesport, Pa., and there is a likelihood that the McKeesport field will prove a big boon to the natural gas industry in that section of the country.

There was considerable gas in Canada, but we have no record wells on this side of the line. In Texas gas was found in huge quantities coincident with the discovery of oil, but in Texas industries are so few that the product is almost useless. The Texas gas is being kept in the ground until such time as it may be used and in the meantime plans are under way to extract gasoline from it.

Glass factories are especially heavy users of natural gas. This is because of its high heating units. During the war special lenses were only made possible with the use of the heating of natural gas.

It is the opinion of many gas authorities that the next big gas field will be found in northwest Canada, which so far is practically an undeveloped country for a natural product.

Decorated Graves.

June 29 was fixed by the Imperial Government as Tribute Day, when the British school children placed flowers on the graves of Canadian soldiers interred at Shorncliffe Camp.

Searching Autos.

Canadian automobilists crossing to the United States at Detroit are complaining that federal authorities have been "unreasonable" in inspecting their machines. It has been announced that the reason for the action of the custom officials was a discovery that considerable liquor was being smuggled into the United States in automobile radiators.

Scarcity of Pulp Wood.

The bulk of the world's supply of paper is made from spruce and other soft woods, the supplies of which are steadily diminishing. The quantities of soft woods available within the Empire are comparatively small, and so it has come about that the Empire is largely dependent on foreign countries, especially Scandinavia, for its supplies of paper or the wood pulp from which it is made, the chief source of supply within the Empire being Newfoundland and Canada. The Imperial Institute has therefore given special attention to the possible substitutes for wood which are to be found in the grasses growing in tropical and sub-tropical countries. Among these is the tannin grass of South Africa. This, on examination at the Imperial Institute, was found to give a yield of about 33 per cent. of paper of excellent quality, and the prospects of a paper industry in South Africa based on this material are now being carefully considered. Tannin grass is by no means the only paper-making material obtained in South Africa, and from the information available it seems likely that the range of materials will enable several classes of paper to be made.—Family Herald.

GRAND SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON XIII, JUNE 27TH, 1920.
The Noble Life of Samuel—Review.
1. Samuel 12:1-6, 13-25.

Summary.—Lesson 1. Topic: God working through national leaders. Place: The land of Canaan. Joshua delivered an affectionate and impressive address to Israel shortly before his death. They served the Lord faithfully for many years after Joshua died.

II. Topic: The service of women in national leadership. Place: Northern Canaan. After the Lord had delivered Israel from the king of Mesopotamia, they fell again into sin and the Canaanites were permitted to oppress them. Deborah was a prophetess. The Lord sent her and Barak to defeat the Canaanites.

III. Topic: God with God a majority. Place: Plain of Jezreel. The Midianites became distressingly troublesome to Israel. At this time the Lord raised up Gideon to deliver his people from their enemies. Gideon called for an army. Thirty-two thousand responded. The army was reduced to three hundred and gained the victory.

IV. Topic: The power of personal influence. Place: Moab; Bethlehem. Elimelech, Naomi Moab on account of the famine. The sons married Moabite women, Ruth and Orpah. During the ten years of residence there, Elimelech and the two sons died. Naomi returned to Canaan and Ruth persisted in going with her.

V. Topic: Religious capacities and training of children. Place: Shiloh. The Lord promised Hannah, the wife of Elkanah, a son. She said that she would devote him from his early infancy to the Lord. At an early age she took him to the house of the Lord, the priest and judge.

VI. Topic: Responsibilities of parents and children. Place: Aphek; Ebenezer; Shiloh. Philistines Israel was defeated and it was decided to bring the ark of the covenant into the camp. This was done and the Philistines defeated Israel again and captured the ark.

VII. Topic: Qualifications for leadership. Place: Kirjath Jearim, Mizpeh; Ebenezer; Ramah. The Philistines had oppressed Israel many years. Samuel had tried to bring about a reformation and the people were turning toward the Lord. They confessed their sins, gave up their idols and vowed to serve God only. The Lord gave Israel a great victory.

VIII. Topic: The selection of leaders. Place: Ramah. The people of Israel desired a king so as to be like other nations. They were displeased with Samuel's sons, whom he had employed to help him in judging Israel. The Lord granted them their desire.

IX. Topic: The value of initiative in Christian work. Place: Gibeah; Michmash. The Philistines were still troublesome and were encamped at Michmash. Saul had six hundred men at Gibeah. Jonathan, Saul's son, proposed to his armor-bearer that they two go to the stronghold of the Philistines. They gained a signal victory for Israel.

X. Topic: The strength and weakness of Saul's character. Place: Gilgal. The Lord sent Saul a message by Samuel to go and utterly destroy the Amalekites. Saul went out with his army and defeated the enemy; but disobeyed God and was rejected.

XI. Topic: The possibilities of youth. Place: Ramah; Bethlehem. The Lord sent Samuel with a horn of oil to Bethlehem to anoint one of the sons of Jesse as king of Israel. A sacrifice was offered, then the sons of Jesse were called one by one and David, the youngest son, was anointed.

XII. Topic: Our divine Shepherd. Place: Probably Jerusalem. As David was a shepherd, it was natural for him to present the life of the godly under the figure of a sheep in relation to the shepherd.

Sneezing from remote times has been held ominous. Our forefathers went to bed again if they sneezed while putting on their shoes. A sneeze to the right was deemed lucky; to the left of evil portent. To sneeze near a burial place was unlucky.

STORIES OF "BIG" PEOPLE

King Victor Emmanuel rarely smokes, and when he does it is usually a cigarette.

The favorite pastime of Vice-Admiral Sir David Beatty is writing letters to his friends.

During his active career as a professional pianist, Paderewski, the present Premier of Poland, could play from memory more than 500 compositions.

Ernest Charles Drury, the new Ontario Premier, is a practical farmer. His 250-acre farm near the town of Barrie is the same plot that was first tilled by his grandfather a century ago.

Musicians are often singularly superstitious. Paderewski once engaged an expensive apartment in London, but refused to enter when he found it was No. 13 of a certain street, although he paid for it.

Thomas A. Edison is of opinion that the human body is a machine which, if properly treated, is capable of sustaining life in comfort, and enjoyment for 150 years. He adds that he himself hopes to live to that age.

The backers of the United States Senate include Boies Penrose, one of the influential members; David Walsh, of Massachusetts, one of the handsomest; Davis Elkins, of West Virginia, one of the wealthiest, and Frank B. Brandegee, of Connecticut.

Among the German people there are many who believe that the former Kaiser is, and always has been, a convinced Spiritualist. Spiritualistic tendencies, it is said, have always been in the Hohenzollern blood. In a book published in Germany some years ago it was declared that the Kaiser not only was inclined to Spiritualism, but accepted it as an objective truth, and even went so far as to carry in his watchcase a fragment of the garment of a medium.

At the age of sixty-five, Sir Arthur Pinero holds sway as the leading English playwright. Few dramatists have had so many successes since he took London by storm with "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," a quarter of a century ago. Sir Arthur takes immense pains over all his plays, is exceedingly patient, and will coach the dullest actor for hours at a time until his performance expresses the author's conception.

King Albert of the Belgians continues a custom inaugurated by the late King Leopold of becoming godfather to every seventh son born in Brussels. In carrying out the old usage he once had some difficulty because the seventh and eighth sons were twins. He could not stand as god-father for both boys, because that would give the family two Alberts. The remedy was found by Queen Elizabeth, who suggested that the crown prince should be the godfather of the eighth boy, who consequently received the name Leopold.

Good for Father and Good for Son

MR. C. ROY PRAISES DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

He States That They Relieved His Son of Bed Wetting and Himself of Bladder Trouble.—Ask Your Neighbors About Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Thiverge Office, Bonaventure Co., Que., June 25.—(Special)—That Dodd's Kidney Pills have been successfully used by both old and young as a remedy for kidney ills is again shown by the statement of Mr. Cleurent Roy, of this place.

"I am glad to be able to state," Mr. Roy says, "that Dodd's Kidney Pills relieved my little boy of bed wetting. They also helped my bladder trouble. I cannot say too much in praise of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are a kidney remedy pure and simple. But bladder and urinary troubles come as a result of weak or disordered kidneys. The natural way to treat such troubles is to strengthen or help the kidneys.

Mr. Roy acted on this principle when he used Dodd's Kidney Pills for his own and his son's troubles. The satisfaction he got is voiced by his statement.

If you have not used them yourself, ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the remedy for kidney ills.

It is a Liver Pill.—Many of the ailments that man has to contend with have their origin in a disordered liver, which is a delicate organ, peculiarly susceptible to the disturbances that come from irregular habits or lack of care in eating and drinking. This accounts for the great many liver regulators now pressed on the attention of sufferers. Of these there is none superior to Parlee's Vegetable Pills. Their operation though gentle is effective, and the most delicate can use them.

UTTERLY HELPLESS FROM ST. VITUS DANCE

THE SUFFERER RESTORED TO HEALTH THROUGH THE USE OF DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

St. Vitus dance is a disease of the nerves brought on by a morbid condition of the blood. It is a common disease with children, and attacks girls more frequently than boys. Irritability is frequently one of the first signs noted. The child frets, it is quarrelsome, and does not sleep well. The jerky movements that characterize the disease come a little later. The patient becomes pale, languid and often constipated. The limbs and sometimes the whole body jerk spasmodically, and in severe cases the power of speech is affected. Such a child should not be allowed to study, but should be kept quiet, given a nutritious diet, remain out of doors as much as possible, and above all things given a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood and restore the shattered nerves. Without this treatment the trouble may become chronic and the patient a life-long sufferer. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is shown by the following statement by Mr. Frank J. Scriben, Acton, Ont., who says: "In January, 1917, when I resided at Milton, Ont., my daughter Gertrude, then aged fourteen, had a bad attack of rheumatic fever, which left her after effects a severe attack of St. Vitus dance. For weeks she was confined to her bed under the doctor's care. She was utterly helpless, being unable to even hold a spoon to feed herself. For a time she lost the power of speech almost entirely, and only with great difficulty made herself understood. The twitching of her muscles was so bad it was painful to see her. After a long time and taking a lot of medicine, she seemed to improve. But she did not seem to get along as she ought to. In November, 1917, we removed to Acton, and in January, 1918, she was again confined to her bed with St. Vitus dance. She was again in a terrible state and quite helpless. She was under a doctor's care, and while there was an improvement, she was still very nervous, did not look well and was always tired. In May, 1918, we decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and see what they would do for her. She took them regularly according to directions, and after taking several boxes there was a decided improvement. After a further use of the pills she is now as healthy a girl as you would wish to see. She is fat, with a fine, healthy color and is strong and lively. The neighbors to whom she is well known remark on the wonderful change in her appearance since taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Both her mother and myself are convinced that the pills have done her a world of good as she is now far healthier than we at one time thought she ever would be."

For all trouble due to poor blood and weak nerves there is no other medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You can get these pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Red Walls in Factories.

One of the causes of Germany's present position is declared by some observers to be the red paint on her factory walls. According to John Taylor, the Germans, keenly alive to the effect of environment, painted the insides of their factories bright red in order to stimulate energy in the workers, says the London Daily Mail. "An aggressive environment, however," Mr. Taylor thinks, encouraged the spirit of forcefulness which lured them to destruction.

In a letter addressed to the Prime Minister, and duly forwarded to the housing authorities, Mr. Taylor pleads that the health and aesthetic feelings of the population may be fostered through the proper coloring of the new houses. "I believe," he writes, "that a lot of depression in domestic and business life is due to irrationally and inartistically colored surroundings."

Wise and experienced mothers known when their children are troubled with worms and lose no time in applying Miller's Worm Powders, the most effective vermifuge that can be used. It is absolute in clearing the system of worms and restoring those healthy conditions without which there can be no comfort for the child, or hope of robust growth. It is the most trustworthy of worm exterminators.

A JEWEL IN THE ROUGH

CHAPTER I.

Night had fallen over Alaska—black, uncompromising night; a veil of impenetrable darkness had dropped upon the snow wastes and the ice-fields and the fettered Yukon, sleeping under its ice-chains, and upon the cruel passes where the trails had been made by tracks of blood. Day by day, as long as the light of day—God's glorious gift to man—had lasted, these trails across the passes, between the snowy peaks, the peaks themselves, had been the theatre of hideous scenes of human cruelty, or human lust and greed, of human egotism. Day by day, a slow, terrible stream of humanity had wound like a dark and sluggish river through the passes, bringing with it sweat and toil and agony, torture and suffering and death. As long as the brilliant sun in the placid azure of the summer heavens above had guided them, bands of men had labored and fought and struggled over these passes, deaf to all pity or mercy or justice, deaf to all but the clamor of greed within them that was driving them on, trampling down the weak and the old, crushing the fallen, each man clutching and grasping his own hoarding his strength and even refusing a hand to his neighbor, starving the patient beasts of burden they had brought with them, friends who were willing to share their toil without sharing their reward, driving on the poor, staggering, strengthless brutes with open knives, and clubbing them to death when they fell beneath their loads with piteous eyes, or leaving them to freeze slowly where they lay, pressing forward, hurrying, fighting, slaughtering, so the men went into the gold camps all the summer, and the passes were the silent witnesses of the horror of it all and of the innocent blood shed. Then Nature herself intervened, and winter came down like a black curtain on the world, and the passes closed up behind the men

LETTER FROM MRS. WAKELIN

Tells Remarkable Story of Sickness and Recovery.

Toronto, Ont.—"I suffered greatly from weakness, seemed to be tired all the time, and had no ambition to do anything or go any place. My nerves were in bad shape, I could not sleep at night, and then came a breakdown. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and several of my friends advised me to use it, and it surely put new life into me. Now I am quite able to do all my own work, and I would strongly advise every suffering woman to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial."—Mrs. CHARLES WAKELIN, 272 Christie St., Toronto, Ont.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for more than forty years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

noible plague and fever, the gold fever that was eating into their brains.

At one end of the bar counter, between it and the back wall, a girl was standing idly surveying with indifferent eyes the animated crowd that moved and swayed round her, the men jostling each other in their efforts to push up to the thickly surrounded counter. She was tall rather than short, and her figure well made, showing good lines even in the rough dress she was wearing; long rubber boots came to her knees, where they were met by her short buckskin skirt, and above this, in place of bodice, she wore merely a rough straight jacket drawn into the waist by a broad leather belt, in which was stuck, not ostentatiously, but still sufficiently conspicuously, a brace of revolvers. Her hair was cut short, and only a few dark, silky rings showed themselves beneath the edge of her seal-skin cap, pushed down close to her eyebrows.

The dark eyes beneath looked out upon the scene before her with a half-disdainful, half-wearied expression, which deepened into scorn now and then as she watched the bar-tender take over the counter double and three times the price of a drink in the generous pinch of a drink in there by some miner almost too drunk to stagger to the bar. She had a very attractive face, to which one's eyes would wander again and again, trying to reconcile the peculiar resolution, even hardness of the expression with the soft, well-moulded features and the sweet youthful lips, full of freshness and color. The miners took very little notice of her, and she certainly made no effort to attract it, leaning listlessly against the bar with one elbow on the counter, a silent and motionless spectator of all this excited, eager humanity. There was no thought in their mind, no word on their lips just then but gold. Gold! gold! The thought possessed them with a grip on their brains like the grip of fever on the body, and the word sounded pleasant as the sweetest music to their ears. Gold! The syllable went round and passed from mouth to mouth, till the very air seemed to be getting a yellow tint above the gray lumes of tobacco.

Among the last batch of incomers was a slim young fellow of twenty odd years, and when he had worked his way with difficulty up to the crowded counter, he found himself near the girl's corner. She looked at him, letting her dark eyes wander critically over his face. He formed a strong contrast to the figures around him, being slight and delicate in build, with a pale, good-looking face that had a tender, sympathetic expression like a woman's. Feeding the girl's gaze upon him, he glanced her way, and then having looked once, looked again. After a series of blank faces, the furtive looks began to amuse the girl, and the next time their eyes met she laughed openly, and they both spoke simultaneously.

"You're a new-comer, aren't you?" she said.

"I haven't seen you here before," was his remark.

"You might have done, I should think," answered the girl, carelessly; "but I don't come here very often, although my father is running this place."

"Are you Poniatovsky's daughter?" he said in surprise, unable to connect the splendid young creature with the ugly little Pole he knew as the proprietor of the saloon. "Yes, Katrine Poniatovsky is my name—what is yours?"

"Stephen Wood," he answered, meekly.

"What have you come here for—mining?" she asked next. Although her queries were direct, there was nothing rude in the fresh young voice making them.

The young fellow colored deeply, the rush of blood passed over his face up to his light smooth hair and deep down into his neck till it was lost beneath his coat collar.

"No—yes—the is—well, I meant—I do mine now," he stammered, after a minute.

"The girl said nothing; and when Stephen glanced round at her he saw she was regarding him with astonished eyes under elevated eyebrows. This expression made the pretty, oval face fairly beautiful, and the young man's heart opened to her.

"I came with the intention of doing some good here among the people—in a missionary, religious way, I meant; but—" and he stopped again in painful embarrassment.

Katrine laughed.

"For the present you've laid religion aside and you're going to do a little mining and make a fortune, and then the religion can be taken up again," she said.

The young fellow only flushed deeper and turned his gaze round nervously on the counter.

"That's all right," the girl said, soothingly, after a second. "This place is a corner of the world where we all are different from what we are anywhere else. As soon as men come here they get changed. They forget everything else, and just go in for gold. It's a sort of madness that's in the air. You'd be able to mislead someone else all right, but here you are obliged just to dig like the rest—you can't help it. Got a claim?"

The young man's face paled again.

"Yes," he answered in a low tone.

"It was the claim that tempted me. It's one of the best, I believe—over in the west gulch, only about ten miles from here."

There was a pressing movement round them as some fresh miners came pushing their way through to the bar, and Stephen and Katrine moved away, to make room for them, toward the wall of the room; they put their backs against it and looked

A Witness Testifies SHE WAS WEAK AND NERVOUS

Brampton, Ont.—"About five years ago I began suffering with woman's trouble. I became all run-down weak and nervous. I was so completely down and out that I could not do anything, could scarcely dress myself. I had the doctor and took other medicine but without getting better until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and his Golden Medical Discovery. It was only necessary for me to take about three bottles when I was completely restored to health and strength and I have been in better health than I ever was before. I have had no use for medicine since, but should I know it I would take these same remedies, knowing them to be excellent."—MRS. HARRY KNIGHT, Jessie St.

OWES HER LIFE

Pt. Saskatchewan, Alta.—"It is with great pleasure that I write the following and I hope it will help the many sufferers who do not know the good Dr. Pierce's medicines would do them if they would try them.

"In regard to my condition, I will say that I suffered from childhood from a very weak back; I had the misfortune of having spinal meningitis when I was one year old, but a very kind lady told my mother about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and she got a bottle to try it. It did me so much good that mother got me 6 bottles. Recently I happened with a car accident and hurt my back badly. My doctor gave me up and said I would not live, but I still stuck to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and to my surprise in three weeks I was out of bed and better. I owe my life to it and nothing else, and shall never be without it.

"If any sufferer wishes to write I will answer with pleasure."—MRS. NOEL BARTHOLOMEW.

over the mass of moving heads toward the door.

"Look at this fellow coming in now," Stephen said to his companion suddenly, as the door swung open, to a mist of whirling white snow, and two or three men entered. Henry Talbot. He has the claim next mine in the gulch. He has just struck a fresh lot of gold, and he'll soon be one of the richest men here.

The girl craned her neck to get a good view between the intervening heads, and though she had not been told which of the incoming figures to look at, she fixed her eye as if by instinct on the right one—a man of rather tall, slight figure, pale face, and marked features. He made his way toward the bar, and then catching Stephen's glance to him, he smiled and came their way.

"What are you doing down here?" he said, speaking to Stephen, but looking at Katrine, who in her turn was scanning his face closely.

"Why, enjoying Miss Poniatovsky's society," answered Stephen, with a bow.

A Hymn of Empire.

Lord, by Whose Might the Heavens stand,
The Source from Whom they came,
Who holdest nations in Thy hand,
And call'st the stars by name,
Thine ageless ones do not cease
To mould us as of yore—
The chiselling of the arts of peace,
The anvil strokes of war.

Then bind our realms in brotherhood,
Firm laws and equal rights,
Let each uphold the Empire's good
And freedom that unites;
And make that speech whose thunder rolls
Down the broad stream of time,
The harbinger from pole to pole
Of love and peace sublime.

Strong are we? Make us stronger yet;
Great? Make us greater far;
Our feet antarctic oceans fret,
Our crown the polar star;
Round earth's wild coasts our batteries speak,
Our highway is the main,
We stand as guardians of the weak,
We burst the oppressor's chain.

Great God, uphold us in our task,
Keep pure and clean our rule,
Silence the honeyed words which mark
The wisdom of the fool.
The pillars of the world are Thine,
Pour down Thy bounteous grace,
And make illustrious and divine
The sceptre of our race.

Canada's Helium Gas.

Helium gas rising out of the ground in Alberta and other parts of Western Canada, and now used, in some localities of that country, to do the family cooking, may one time be carrying Britain's lighter-than-air flying machines in all parts of the world. It has been stated that there is enough of this gas, which makes a satisfactory substitute for the highly inflammable hydrogen commonly used for airships, to supply the entire British Empire for many years. The wells in Western Canada are the only sources of the gas in the Empire. Its weight-supporting ability is 90 per cent. that of hydrogen. Aviation is occupying a good deal of attention in Canada, and this natural supply of the filler for gas bags of dirigibles promises to advance interest in air navigation.

Dry Dock In St. John, N.B.

Work is being pushed on the Courtenay Bay dry dock and breakwater by the St. John Dry Dock & Shipbuilding Co. An appropriation of $700,000 for the contract has just been made by Parliament. It is anticipated that a British shipbuilding firm will establish a mammoth plant in the vicinity of the dry dock.

Bears Kill Trees.

Hundreds of trees in the Northwest, including Douglas fir, white fir and western white pine—the wood of all of which is used more or less in airplane construction—have been seriously damaged by bears peeling the bark. About 100 trees to the square mile have been peeled.
