

LUSITANIA BREAKS HER OWN RECORD.

Crossed Ocean in Four Days, Eighteen Hours and Forty Minutes.

Made Several New Records--Brought Over $12,000,000 in Gold.

New York, Nov. 8.—The marvellous record established less than a month ago by the giant turbine Cunarder Lusitania, when she cut several hours from the passage time across the Atlantic, already has been broken. But the Lusitania still retains the title of queen of the seas, as it was she herself that established the new low mark and incidentally she added several new records to her credit.

The voyage ended to-day over the same course was completed in four days, eighteen hours and forty minutes, thus clipping one hour and twelve minutes from the previous low mark. And this was done in the face of conditions none too favorable. From the start the weather was stormy and on the last two days, when the big steamer was on the home stretch, where the greatest burst of speed might have been expected, she drove straight into the teeth of a strong wind, high, confusing seas, and occasional sharp squalls. The days' runs were 21,600, 618, 618, 610 and 310 knots.

LONDON PRESS DISCUSS BANK OF ENGLAND RATE.

Approve of the Bank Discount Increase--Berlin Bank Boosts Rate.

London, Nov. 8.—The newspapers this morning give much attention to the rapid advance in the discount rate of the Bank of England. They reflect also some anxiety regarding the serious handicap thus placed on British trade and enterprise, but they recognize that the directors of the bank had no other course to pursue.

of the Imperial Bank of Germany was raised to-day from 6 1/2 to 7 1/2 per cent. The increase in the bank rate had an unfavorable influence on the market, depressing stocks soon after the announcement was made. Prices, however, partly recovered later, but business was meagre.

THE FAMOUS DRUCE MYSTERY AGAIN BEFORE THE COURTS.

Were Thomas Chas. Druce and the Fifth Duke of Portland the Same Person?

London, Nov. 8.—Hundreds of persons vainly fought for admission to the Marlborough Police Court this evening when the hearing of the famous Druce mystery case was resumed. Herbert Druce, son of the late Thomas Charles Druce, is charged with perjury by his nephew, George Hollambay Druce, who alleges that the defendant "on the 28th day of March, in the year 1898, at the Beeches circus road, St. John's wood, did commit wilful and corrupt perjury in an affidavit" and that he also did so in the Probate Court on the third and fourth day of December, 1901. The charge is incidental to the Druce claim to the estates of the Duke of Portland, and dates back to 1893. At every step the case has been vigorously contested by the present Duke of Portland. In brief, this remarkable case centres about the old question whether Thomas Charles Druce, at one time owner of the famous Baker street bazaar, who was said to have died forty-three years ago, was or was not the same person as the eccentric fifth

Duke of Portland, who died in 1879. Interest in the proceedings to-day was heightened by the alleged fact since the previous session of the diary of Miss Robinson, the daughter of a Southern tobacco planter, who was employed as an amanuensis in the Baker street bazaar, and who says she frequently went to Welbeck Abbey, the Portland seat, where she saw the late T. C. Druce, father of the late George Druce, who in turn was father of George Hollambay Druce, the claimant to the estates as the Duke of Portland, whose identity with T. C. Druce she claimed to be able to establish. "There was a buzz of excitement when Mr. Caldwell stated that in conjunction with the Duke he arranged the death and mock funeral of "Druce" so that his dual personality could finally be buried. Mr. Caldwell further declared that at the Duke's request he employed a carpenter to make a coffin, purchased two hundred pounds of lead and put it in the coffin himself. The funeral occurred on the following day. The witness further testified that he saw the Duke on the morning of the funeral at the Baker street bazaar.

NOT INTENDED AS A THREAT.

John Nevilles Acquitted at Police Court To-day.

William Tomlinson Gets Five Months On Vagrancy Charge.

One Watch-Stealing Case Disposed of—Other Stands.

John Nevilles, who was charged with assaulting Mrs. Catharine Nevill yesterday morning and remanded till to-day, was charged, in addition to the assault with attempting to defeat the ends of justice by threatening and assaulting a witness. George S. Kerr appeared for him, and elected to be tried before the Magistrate, and pleaded not guilty. Mrs. Nevill said that she had gone into Nevilles' room yesterday morning to wake him. She told him to get up, and he refused, and a dispute ensued in which the Brooks case was mentioned. She said that Nevilles told her that she had better not say anything against Brooks, and that if she did it might be the worse for her. She said she intended to say all she knew, and Nevilles got up and kicked her and threw her out of the room. Complainant's husband was called, but did not remember anything, he said he had gone out early yesterday morning, did some drinking, and going home again, got into bed.

Nevilles took the stand and said that he had not kicked the complainant, and had not threatened her. He had merely told her it might not go right with her if she squealed on a man who lived in the same house. He did not intend it as a threat, but merely as a statement of facts, as all the boarders were friends of Brooks.

The Magistrate also took this view of it and dismissed the charge. The Crown then tried to hold Nevilles on the assault charge, but Nevilles' brother took the stand and said he was in bed with his brother, who did not get out of bed all the time Mrs. Nevill was in the room. She was under the influence of liquor, he said.

The Magistrate dismissed this charge also, as Nevilles had told the same story while he was in the box.

William Tomlinson, who was acquitted of the charge of stealing some brass from the G. T. B., but was held on a charge of vagrancy, as he said his back was sore if he was unable to work, was found guilty. He was not able to satisfy the medical examiner that his back was sore, and he was sent to Central for six months. He asked that the 12 days that elapsed since his arrest be taken as part of the sentence, and the Magistrate cut off a month from the six.

William Brooks, charged with the theft of some hides from a T. H. & B. car, was remanded till to-morrow, as the owner of the hides, George Stroud, is out of the city.

Harold Gray, convicted of stealing a watch from W. A. Walters, was allowed to go, as he has borne a good character till the present.

Thomas Gallagher, who was convicted of stealing a watch chain and charm from George Parvis, and who was to have been sentenced to-day, was remanded till to-morrow, as the police are looking up his record.

John McMunn, 15 Case street, was charged with leaving some building material on Tisdale street without red lights on it. He did not appear, and will be asked to show a similar fine was imposed on G. H. Barker, for driving his wagon across the sidewalk at the T. H. & B. station.

Harry Month, Elgin street, was assessed $2 for over indulgence.

FROM NEW YORK. Savoy's Vaudeville Connections Will Be Stronger Than Ever.

Manager Jack Appleton, of the Savoy Theatre, returned from New York this morning. He says great things have been going on in vaudeville circles at Gotham. Mr. Appleton spent almost a whole day with Mr. Erlanger, and came home with the assurance that the changes made by the western circuits mentioned would make the Savoy's connections stronger than ever.

NOT THE MAN. Woodstock Chief Says Lawrence is Not Wanted There.

Woodstock, Ont., Nov. 8.—(Special.)—Chief of Police Thompson said that he did not think Louis Lawrence, who is under arrest at Hamilton, and is suspected of having been concerned in the hold-up of Harry Walcott, the C. P. R. operator, of Woodstock, is the man wanted. The Chief says he had heard of Lawrence and had investigated his record and found out that he was not in the vicinity at the time the robbery was committed. He said he has strong evidence against the man he wants and believes to have been concerned in the affair, but he so far has been unable to locate him.

SAFETY DEPOSIT BOXES. To rent at $2 a year, and upwards, for the storing of deeds, bonds, stocks, wills, silver and other valuables, at the TRADERS BANK OF CANADA. AT THE ARMORY.

MOUNTAIN HOLD-UP. But This Time it Was Near Beamsville.

Beamsville, Nov. 8.—(Special.)—A daring hold-up was perpetrated near here last night, and the only reason why a haul was not made was that the victim did not have the money about him which the highwaymen evidently thought he had. Alga Lindabery, driver for Fair-brother & Sibby, left about 8 o'clock to go into the country with some goods. It was very dark. About three miles south of the village, on the mountain road, three men jumped out from a thick bush, sketched by a gully, making a fine hiding place. They stopped the outfit and went through Lindabery's pockets, but he had nothing of value. The driver then whipped up his horses and got away without the load being molested.

The Man In Overalls

If rents have come down the landlords haven't heard of it.

The Hamilton Herald appears to have a select assortment on hand of candidates, both Grit and Tory, for all sorts of offices. No trouble to show goods.

Fred. Kellond will make a good enough factory inspector. Was his appointment a surprise to Mr. Studholme?

The doctors' visit will now have to be few and far between.

In view of the doctors' boost of prices, how would it do to try the absent treatment plan?

Then again we might try the faith cure.

Now that Capelli's sentence has been commuted, Sunfield need not lose hope.

This barbers' strike ought to be settled before to-morrow night.

But then the purse-snatcher is not a myth.

Another question—Has Provincial Detective Miller a clue to the Barton murder?

Hon. Mr. Hendrie bravely battled to secure Fred Kellond a job, the Spec. tells us. If he could only have been roused to do things to prevent the steal of our Normal College!

I thought it would have paid as well to give Sam Weaver a chance to say his piece.

It's not so much justice we want from Mr. Whitney as mercy. But he seems to hate the place.

Another thing, can you tell a union from a non-union shanty?

Yes, Maude, a man may come of poor but dishonest parents.

But wait till you see the Spec. booming Mayor Stewart for Parliament! Oh, my!

Leave your purse at home and fool the purse snatcher.

Take your girl up to the art exhibition. It's cheap—not the exhibition, the admission. It's free.

If bread goes up in price again we will have to take the French Queen's advice and eat cake.

I need to think that the Brockville Times was a marvellous little sheet. But here's the Dundas Star fighting with itself.

The Board of Works has the feeling that if the civic overcoat was taken as read or got the six months' hoist, it could declare a dividend or at least prove its innocence.

The trouble with the Hydro-Electric power is that it can't turn on the light.

The honest yeomanry of the Grit persuasion of the County of Wentworth have an important duty to perform on Saturday afternoon, and I am willing to leave it in their hands.

Now, imagine, if you can, all the coal dealers of the Province threatening to sue for libel all the newspapers that have published complaints of consumers as to prices!

DOCTOR'S CHARGES. Local Physicians Laugh at Reports of Their Meeting.

Some of the doctors are having a hearty laugh at the expense of one of the local papers, which published a story last night to the effect that the members of the Hamilton Medical Association had adopted a graded scale of charges. The paper said that the patients were to be classified as A, B and

CROWN POINT WANTS TO BE INCORPORATED

Petition Has Been Sent to County Council and Early Consideration Asked For.

Probable Opposition From Barton--Some Advantages That Would Follow.

County Clerk Jardine has received a petition drawn up by Martin Malone of this city, asking that a village be incorporated in the township of Barton. Mr. Malone is acting on behalf of a number of freeholders of land in Barton. He also asks for a census return of the lands in which the village may be incorporated. Mr. Malone requested that the petition be brought before the County Council at the December session.

Barton street to the place of beginning. Within those boundaries there are upwards of 700 people, of whom about 100 are freeholders and tenants who are over 21 years of age. Mr. Malone also asks in the petition that the boundaries be extended to include the lands used or occupied by the Hamilton Jockey Club. There will in all likelihood be strenuous opposition from the members of the County Council who come from Barton. At the present time Barton has the right to send a reeve and a deputy reeve to the Council. In the event of the village being incorporated, the township would send only one representative.

The boundaries of the proposed village are as follows: Commencing at the corner of Trolley and Barton streets, thence to the dividing line between the Township of Barton and the City of Hamilton, thence north to the Beach Road, thence east to Ottawa street, thence south to Barton street, thence east to the side road, thence south to Main street, thence west to the Delta, thence along King street, to Trolley street, to

If granted incorporation the people of that section known as Crown Point, and including other rapidly filling surveys, would be a separate municipality, with power to negotiate with the city to secure, or to provide their own water, sewer and fire service. These are things which the Crown Point people have long been trying to secure, but so far, without success.

TIMES REPORTED SERMON; LIBEL SUIT THREATENED.

All Because Rev. Mr. Hollinrake Talked of the Price of Bread.

On Sunday last Rev. Mr. Hollinrake preached the annual sermon to the Orangemen, and in the course of its duty as a live newspaper the Times reported it on Monday. And thereby hangs a tale—a tale composed of law phrases which go to make up a threat to do us up in the courts and take the contents of the big box which every editor keeps in the coal bin to hold the extra money which he has over after feeding his brood of nurslings and paying the landlord and such. To take our readers fully into our confidence we reproduce the formidable-looking document, in extensio, as the lawyers would say, and here it is:

notice complaining of the libellous statements therein referred to. Mr. Hollinrake states that a pound and a quarter loaf of bread at present prices meant somewhere in the neighborhood of sixty per cent. profit for the baker. Mr. Hollinrake characterized it as infamous in the manner in which bakers made their gain on the staff of life and asked the question, "Has wheat gone up 60 per cent. in value and has labor demanded an increase of sixty per cent. that the price of bread must be held up?" Our client, Mr. Ewing states and is prepared to prove the following facts and his books are open to yourself or any chartered accountant in order that you may if you see fit, verify his statements. Mr. Ewing says first, that his profit on a loaf of bread is one-eighth of a cent which amounts roughly speaking to a little over three per cent. Second, that the price of labor has gone up sixty per cent. and that flour has increased forty per cent. within the last two years. Third that the quality of bread has been very greatly improved.

Specifying libellous statements before action under R. S. O. 1897, chapter 68, section 6, sub-section 2. To the Times Printing Company, Limited.

Mr. Ewing is one of the bakers who has never been before the Magistrate for selling light weight bread and he feels very keenly the imputation cast on his character as a baker by the publication of the article complained of. You will readily see that if the statements made by the Rev. Mr. Hollinrake were made without sufficient inquiry or from incorrect information on a very serious wrong has been done to our client and others in a similar position. Our client states that the profits in making bread instead of being large are very moderate and that it is only by his possessing the most improved and up-to-date machinery and competent workmen that he is able to make the small profit which he does. He has asked us to demand that you give this letter as prominent a position as the libellous statements complained of.

Take notice, that I complain of certain libellous statements which were published of and concerning me with others in the issue of the Hamilton Evening Times newspaper, published on the 4th day of November, 1907, which statements are as follows: "No Place for the Poor man." "This is the Age of Hold Up Declares the minister." "Referring to the excessive prices of commodities, Mr. Hollinrake said that they have come to be a peril in our midst. Goods of any description are held at almost prohibitive figures. He figures that a pound and a quarter loaf of bread at present prices meant somewhere in the neighborhood of 60 per cent. profit for the baker. Mr. Hollinrake characterized it as infamous, the manner in which bakers made their gain on the staff of life." He asked the question, "Has wheat gone up 60 per cent. in value, and has labor demanded an increase of 60 per cent., that the price of bread must be held up?"

Mr. Hollinrake was of the opinion that this was an age of "hold-up" in which far too many were out to see how much they could make or get out of everybody else. It is really amounting to the fact that this world is no place for poor people.

This notice is served under the act respecting Actions of Libel and Slander, R. S. O., 1897, chapter 68, section 6. Dated at Hamilton on the 7th day of November, 1907.

A. M. Ewing, By his solicitors, Chisholm & Logie.

And there you are! The Times has just a few remarks to make regarding the matter, and it will make them briefly:

It published a very fair report of the sermon preached by Rev. Mr. Hollinrake. It was its duty to do so. It was protected by the law in doing so.

It never occurred to it to connect Mr. Ewing with the preacher's remarks, which, as the extracts show, were quite general—like the complaints so often heard against epal dealers, ice dealers, etc. It had no remarks of its own to make. It had nobody in mind when it printed the report.

It has no desire to inspect Mr. Ewing's books. His word is quite enough for us.

We print the letter—which, as we have said, is an excellent advertisement—not because a firm of solicitors demand it; we know too well our own rights and duties to be coerced—but because we hold Mr. Ewing in respect and admire his skill in thus seeking publicity as a challenge to pulpit criticism of the trade, and because the Times is confident enough of its position in public esteem to be just, even to generosity.

And this is how we deal with the matter.

Messrs. the Times Printing Company: Dear Sirs.—Our client Mr. A. M. Ewing has had his attention called to a sermon of the Rev. F. W. Hollinrake as reported in your paper of Monday, Nov. 4th, under the heading of "No Place for the Poor Man." This is the Age of Hold Up Declares the Minister and we are to-day serving you with a

Along with this the Times has received a letter from Chisholm & Logie, Mr. A. M. Ewing's solicitors. It shows that Mr. Ewing, for whom we always have held the highest esteem, is as appreciative of a first-class advertisement as he is a mighty good baker—and that is paying his judgment a high compliment—when he puts so much prime publicity into a letter in connection with this matter. We admire his shrewdness and appreciation of Times advertising so much that we publish it in full, free gratis and for nothing.

According to income, and that the scale of day visits would be $1.50, $2 and $2.50. One prominent physician—a Conservative—said that "the article is the least nasty of the many foolish articles published by the silly Spectator for a long time."

The doctor explained that the increase would be about 60 per cent. all around—just as the Times stated last night. In the past the minimum charge in confinement cases has been $8, and now the lowest charge will be $8 cash, or $10 if settlement is not prompt. "Of course," said the doctor, "there are physicians who will not take confinement cases at that price."

Love and Crime

"Are we going to sit here until we turn to stone, I wonder?" she thinks, irritably; and discerning through the open door the figure of her little groom as he crosses the hall, she calls to him eagerly.

"As soon as the rain stops, get out the phaeton, please," she says, hurriedly. "It must be getting toward luncheon time. Why!"—with an incredulous glance at her watch—"it can't be Mr. Lindsay, what is the right time? My watch gains so!"

"Half-past one, Lady Christabel," Roderic says.

"Is it really? I did not think it was quite so late. We lunch at two," she says, striving to speak composedly. "Bring around the pony and phaeton at once! I cannot wait for the rain to be over. Miss Surtees will think herself quite deserted this morning," she says, smiling nervously, and hastily drawing on her gloves.

"The rain's been over some time, my lady," the groom says, with the inevitable flourish, but with an unnaturally stolid, unconscious expression on his face. "It's quite fine and the sun's shining, my lady."

"Nonsense!" Lady Christabel says, quite sharply, when, on looking through the far-off, narrow, mullioned window, she sees enough to see the glint of the sunlight through the diamond pane lattice. "Dear me! That was a very short shower! She mutters, crossly, tugging at her gloves, when, looking up, and seeing the smile in Roderic's eyes, she bursts into laughter.

"The time has flown," he says, gravely and sententiously.

"Indeed it has," she says, frankly, the pretty flush burning in her cheeks as she laughs again.

Then the pressing groom breaks in: "His Lordship and Miss Surtees have just driven past, down the Ashurst road, my lady."

"His Lordship and Miss Surtees?" Lady Christabel repeats. "Are you sure?" This very slowly, and Roderic sees quite plainly that the rose-red flush has faded as quickly as it has come, faded, until Christabel's very lips have paled.

"Yes, my lady," the groom answers. "His Lordship and Miss Surtees were in the brougham."

"And did not my father know I was here—I mean, he would have a message for me?" she falters.

"No, my lady. His Lordship didn't see me. I was in the garden."

"It is so strange—that is, rather strange—for my father to go out before luncheon! I cannot help wondering if there is anything wrong," she says, trying to explain easily to Roderic the cause of the curious tremor in her voice, the curious pallor in her cheeks, that she knows he cannot but notice. "I never knew father do so before!" she repeats, when, having bade adieu to the old caretaker, she and Roderic walk down the grass-grown avenue to the entrance gates opposite the great chateau. "Something very unusual must have induced him to go out so early in the day. Father dislikes driving through country lanes so much that he will scarcely ever come out with me!"

"A fastidious gentleman, surely!" Roderic mutters to himself, scornfully. "He may have been going to transact some business matter," he suggests, aloud; "perhaps some business of your guest's, Miss Surtees?"

"Even so. It is most unusual," Lady Christabel says, in a low tone, biting her lip nervously. "My father is in rather delicate health, and never leaves his study before luncheon time. He sends to his lawyer when he wants any business transacted. I had no idea Miss Surtees wanted to go to Ashurst! Why should she go to Ashurst, I wonder?" she repeats, as if partly to herself, the agitation and trouble very visible still in her clouded eyes and the anxious lines about her lips. "Good-by," she says, as she gathers up the whip and reins, and extends her little, gloved hand.

As their hands clasp, their eyes meet, and their spirits are in close touch, and Roderic knows that Christabel is suffering—that she is alarmed, agitated, pained—it may be, all three. Involuntarily he presses the warm, little hand tight and close in an earnest clasp in his strong fingers, and involuntarily it may be, earnestly and gladly it is—Christabel returns the pressure.

The troubled, frightened look in the sweet, wistful eyes haunts him as she drives away, and he stands to watch the light, little carriage bowing along through the green lights and shadows, with a golden dapple of sunshine here and there, down the long hill toward St. Cray's.

Along time he stands there, silently watching, until the last glimpse of the slim, girlish figure in the distance disappears from sight in the distance of the woodland road, and then the word "Darling!" rises from Roderic's heart to his lips.

"I wonder," he muses, as he sets out for St. Cray's, "if his lordship, the Earl of Cardonnel, is a very tender and loving father, or an exacting, selfish, hypochondriac? His daughter seemed curiously frightened and distressed at learning that her father had taken a morning drive with his guest. Why shouldn't he, I wonder? And only that it would make matters more incomprehensible, I should say Lady Christabel seemed afraid of Miss Surtees' poor! But that's absurd, of course. Poor Miss Surtees!" he adds, with a grim smile. "She was very much in love with me on the continent, or at least I thought so. Yet she didn't know me the other day when I met her, leaving on Lord Cardonnel's arm. She 'dears' me, I know, like all the wealthy English middle-class folk. I rather wonder she didn't question me about my relationship to the Lindesays, if she knew them so well!"

But, next moment, he dismisses all thought of Lydia Surtees from his mind. He wants to think of Christabel Lindesay, and her sweet, kindly kindness, and her pure, high-bred face.

"And she is poor! They are very poor for their rank, I have been told," he muses, in a reverie so deep that it lasts him all the way from St. Cray's to London that same evening.

"What chance have I?" he mutters, bitterly. "What is the use of my singling out 'a bright particular star,' and beginning to wish and sigh for it in this idiotic fashion! She is sweet, and fair, and kind, and true; she is the first woman I ever loved for; she is the first woman I ever felt I could adore and die for. And she is as high-bred and well-born as she is lovely. She is an earl's daughter, and Roderic, my man, you've about as much chance of winning her as you have of being Emperor of China!"

After the delirium of hope and despair, of joy and misery, gladness, jealousy, tenderness, and hatred have raged for about thirty hours—that is, counting day and night from the hour he has stood under the wide-awninged vestibule to watch Lady Christabel drive away—the fever burns itself out in quiet, cold hopelessness.

A sadder and a wiser man, poor Roderic returns to St. Cray's.

"Just to keep my promise," he says to himself. "I was a fool to say anything about it, or hope for anything, when there can be only a cruel disappointment waiting for me and my presumption! I promised her, and I am bound to keep my promise. Only for that I neither would nor should have come back here in the way of temptation!"

For Roderic Lindsay knows quite well, and looks the knowledge in the face of endurance wears slowly away, with the chiming hours. But he never crosses the threshold, though it is a glorious summer day.

"Here I am, and here I'll stay until his lordship, the Earl of Cardonnel, will come out to make a morning call on you at half-past nine, you fool!"

But when half-past five chimes out through the quiet streets, where the cool, shadows are lengthening now, Roderic leans up, and begins bundling his belongings into his big Gladstone. In the midst of his labors the door is flung self-determinately forward and backward, and a functionary, inclining his head self-determinately toward and backward, announces in tones of sonorous satisfaction:

"His lordship, the Earl of Cardonnel!"

Roderic can never afterward quite remember that first interview with Lady Christabel's father, whether the early began by being frigidly condescending or not.

His impression is that this long-waited-for interview began with a good deal of stiffness on the one side and awkwardness on the other, but by degrees the young man's gentlemanly respectfulness toward his noble kinsman, his manly expression of gratitude and admiration for his lordship's goodness to him on the night of the railway accident, and the earl's evident pleased recognition of the Lindesay face and figure of the young Australian stranger, mend matters wonderfully.

There are, it is true, deeper feelings than mere surface amiability working secretly on both sides.

The interview ends as Roderic's highest hopes have scarcely ventured to conjure up in vision.

"I promised my daughter, Lady Christabel, that I would bring you back to London, Mr. Lindsay," the earl says, graciously. "We dine at seven. I am going to the club now, and will call for you at a quarter to seven. Merely a dinner in the family," he adds. "At least, there is but one guest, a lady, a friend of my daughter's, who is staying with us at present, Miss Lydia Surtees."

CHAPTER IX.

"It is so odd, so strange," Lady Christabel murmurs, half to herself, and sighing deeply. "I will try and like her, and be friends with her, since father seems to wish it so much, but—"

"What's odd?" Lady Flora says, solemnly.

"Oh, I wish she had never come!" means Christabel, as she flings herself on the couch in her room. "Yet for father's sake I must be friends with her. How can I? How can I? Little matter it will make anyhow to Lydia Surtees, but I am anxious, with her or not. It will not prevent one of her schemes from being carried out. I know it well! What is my influence against her? An acquaintance of a few days. Nothing. Less than nothing, if I attempt to thwart and annoy my father. She has supplanted me!" Christabel says, and bursts into bitter weeping. She says it. Not the first tears, by a great way, which the earl's daughter has shed since that fatal, stormy evening, when, in her gentle charity, she brought home her strange guest to her father's house.

Lydia Surtees, by the witchery of her wild beauty of face and form, the siren charms of her silvery voice, her glittering, magnetic gaze, and smile, has won, in those few days, a place far beyond his fair daughter's place in the earl's selfish, shallow soul; nay, a place which the wife of his youth—the fair girl, whose memory he has cherished so fondly, and whose tenderness of heart as a precious and holy possession—never attained. This white-faced, white-armed siren, whose seductive glance and soft, whispering tones have set his calm pulses thrilling and glowing, as if filled with liquid flame—she has inspired him with the first passion of his life! And that first passion, felt at fifty-four years of age, for a beautiful woman about thirty years his junior, is verily "the cruel madness of love" for Lord Cardonnel.

He is her slave—her victim, bound, enthralled, fascinated, beyond the power of even wishing to escape. He is a little ashamed of himself, and alarmed at himself, and blissfully, miserably happy and wretched, and hopeful and despairing, ever since that drive to Ashurst two days ago, the blissful drive through the pouring rain—pattering through the slick foliage of the overhead boughs with a soft, marmurous sound—as he sat by her side in the soft gloom and was sheltered from the close carriage, and her hand, fair and soft, and rosy-pinked, and glittering with gems like dew-drops, came sliding down on the soft, silken folds of her dress, and touched his thin, pale, high-bred fingers with a touch that made his heart-strings tingle.

On the Ashurst home, at the very afternoon, the earl explained to his daughter, with the most unvarnished simplicity and frankness, the pressing necessity there had been for him to transact some business through his bankers, Lady Christabel, as she listened to her father in startled silence, knew intuitively, as well as if it were blazoned in letters of fire before her eyes, what Lydia Surtees knows, that she may be the Countess of Cardonnel as soon as the earl's headstrong passion prompts him to woo from her her ready consent!

Lady Christabel saw confirmation of what she suspected in every one and in every glance of the woman to whom her husband had innocently opened the door to enter into her dead mother's place.

She saw it in the gleams of stealthy brightness in the half-shut eyes beneath the long, brown lashes; in the curves of soft satisfaction around the delicate, cool, pink-tipped lips; in her every attitude, as Lydia Surtees—tall and stately, and dazzlingly fair in her rich, carriage toilet of myrtle-green silk—stood, perfectly poised, on the background of the massive, old, marble mantel that night.

She stood, revealing her slender, elegant form, her perfectly shaped arms, her beautiful, white hand, with the long, pink-tipped fingers, which held her cap, perfectly self-possessed, serenely assured of the victory she had won; and the earl's admiring gaze grew more ardent as he reclined in his chair and watched her with adoring eyes, until his daughter, having asked him a question twice without eliciting anything but a vaguely incoherent reply, walked out of the room with a hot flush on her face and a choking feeling in her throat.

"I never thought I should feel ashamed of my father!" Christabel muttered, angrily, with that vexed, mortified flush burning hotter and deeper in her cheeks, and the tears welling up in her eyes. "He is like a man bewitched!"

Lord Cardonnel was indeed bewitched, under that most fatal and potent of all spells—the spell which an evil woman's mighty influence casts over the sensuous soul of a weak man.

Since that afternoon, Christabel has avoided her father, and he has avoided her. She, on her side, cannot meet the tacit strangeness; she cannot meet that changed, restless manner, that curiously novel amiability and sprightliness, and smiling talkativeness, so startlingly different from his usual manner, with any feelings of pain and impatience.

But this morning, when Christabel had briefly told him of Roderic Lindsay's presence in St. Cray's, adding, with quiet self-possession, a statement of how she came to recognize in the stranger who was hurt in the railway accident the son of her father's Australian relative, the earl surprised her by the readiness with which he agreed to her suggestion.

"Certainly! Certainly! You'd like me to call on him. This young Australian—ah—cousin of yours? Eh, Christabel?"

"I am sure Mr. Lindsay would be very much pleased and gratified if you would, father," Christabel says, the ingenious flush tinting her face, her lips relaxing into softer curves in spite of herself as she speaks.

INDIAN'S DEATH. Reported That He Died of Injuries Got in Fight.

Richard Bastiste, Indian, lies dead at his home, third concession, Tuscarora Township, about four miles from Hagersville, as a result of injuries which are said to have been sustained in a fight.

According to meagre details received here, one of the Indians came home drunk and got into an altercation with the result that blows were exchanged. The doctor in attendance states that in his opinion no weapons were used, and that death resulted from a fist blow inflicted on the head. The encounter took place some time this week, and death ensued last night, after a period of delirium. The deceased was married, with a wife and family of two or three children. Dr. Fissette, Coroner, this city, left for the scene at noon, and will probably open an inquest. Stories as to who struck the fatal blow are conflicting, so far, and names are not available.

WON'T SUBMIT BY-LAW AGAIN. Ratepayers Can Give Their Verdict Though, on Debeatures.

Mayor Stewart is Satisfied With Information He Received. Dundas Wants Only Fifteen Million Gallons of Water.

Mayor Stewart, who headed the Hamilton deputation that went to Toronto yesterday to discuss with the Hydro-Electric Commission and representatives of other municipalities the Government power scheme, seemed quite pleased to-day with the way things were shaping, as outlined at yesterday's conference.

The only two questions that are delaying the signing of the contract between the Government and the power companies, he explains, is the stand of the latter that it will not be responsible to municipalities, preferring to deal direct with the Government and the matter of the 120,000 voltage required to send power to Windsor, Walkerville and that district.

The Mayor takes a very cheerful view of the situation. If the companies will not sign the contract to give this voltage he claims the Government will close the deal as at present, and leave Windsor and the other places out. The question was brought up yesterday if Hamilton contracted for 1,500 horse power, and used only 1,200, would it have to pay for the remainder. In answer to this it was stated that other municipalities might, with emphasis on the "might," use the surplus. The Mayor admitted to-day that if all the municipalities fell short and could not use what Hamilton contracted for, but did not use, the city would have to pay for it. He says it is provided for in the contract that to begin with the Government will get 6,000 horse power; with a proviso that the company will deliver 30,000 horse power in the first two years if required; 60,000 the next three years, and so on. The ratepayers will have no chance to vote on another by-law, the aldermen taking the stand that the by-law approved of before empowering them to enter into the contract is a fair expression of opinion. It was stated in that by-law that the highest price Hamilton would pay for power would not be more than $17.50. The figures are the same now. The ratepayers, however, will have a chance to vote on the scheme out if they desire to bow to the by-law. To issue debentures for $175,000 to install a municipal lighting plant. The by-law, however, will probably be for a larger amount than this, as the estimates are only for a civic lighting plant, and do not include the carrying of the power to the pump house, asylum and other places that might be supplied by the by-law. It was stated that the municipalities should meet again after the by-laws were voted upon and consider the matter further before binding themselves to anything. This precaution is taken as a number of municipalities in the only change of Hamilton being liable for anything outside of its own case, is the danger of any other municipality becoming insolvent, something he thinks is most improbable.

Those who accompanied the Mayor were: City Solicitor Waddell, Secretary Brennan, Aldermen Lewis, McLaren, Jutten and Sweeney.

Mayor Moss, of Dundas, and Waterworks Commissioner Bertram had a long conference yesterday with City Engineer Barrow regarding the proposal to have Hamilton supply the water for the city. The town at present gets water by gravitation and as this is the cheapest system it wishes to continue this. The supply, however, is not always sufficient and it wants Hamilton water to make up the deficiency. It would require about fifteen million gallons a year, which would figure out at $125 a year. Mayor Moss thought this was too much. Mr. Barrow, however, will be supplied with the figures as to the height of the reservoir and the estimated cost of laying pipe to the Valley Town. He thinks a meter could be placed on the water at the city limits which would not retard the flow.

The City Hall is a hub of activity this afternoon. Besides the Court of Revision, which is listening to legal arguments, the Sewers Committee meets at 3 o'clock, the House of Refuge, Board of Works and special Board of Education committees re the Technical school each meet at 4 o'clock.

The Board of Health last night after listening to the argument of the St. Catharines dealer who owns the furs found in a King street west store declined to take any further action, and handed over the keys. The St. Catharines man wanted the city to destroy the furs and reimburse him for the proceeds. In the Court of Revision matter was to have been discussed, but was laid over on account of the solicitor being unable to attend.

While the Finance Committee last night was discussing the question of appointing A. T. Neil, assistant tax-collector, some of the aldermen took exception to Tax-collector Kerr being paid his salary for the three months that he was absent during the summer. It was explained that this was the first holiday trip he had in several years, but this did not satisfy Ald. A. J. Wright, who was in the room and promised to divide the Council on the question at its next meeting.

The Finance and Fire and Water Committee did not spend much time last night dealing with the proposed new waterworks by-law, which was shelved from the first of the year. It was explained that the reason it was held over was because it might interfere with the arrangement of civic finances at the beginning of the year. The committee's decision to send it on to the Council.

Engineer McFarlane of the Beach Pumping station, has arranged with City Engineer Barrow to close down the old Killey pumps for a while so that they can be overhauled.

Mr. Barrow says the work of cleaning out the James street reservoir will be gone on with next week.

John Gillard was granted a permit this morning for a cement block house on Ferguson avenue, between Forest and Charlton avenues for Charles Anderson to cost $2,000.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 8.—(Special.)—City Solicitor Waddell and Mr. W. W. Osborne, of Hamilton, waited upon the Ontario Board of Health and Municipal Board this morning. They were present in reference to the signing of an order in regard to the application of the city of Hamilton against the Hamilton Street Railway. The subject of the order was the Herkimer street track.

The order referred to disposes of the Herkimer street matter, under the agreement made between the Street Railway and the city.

Some of the members of the Board of Health, who were present at the Finance Committee meeting when the question of filling in the Coal Oil Inlet was being discussed. The City Solicitor advised that the sub-committee's report be made in private, as it might prejudice the city's case if they found there was a nuisance. He then went on to tell of the arrangement the Radial power were ready to enter into. The Board of Health had already taken this matter up, and conferred with the Radial Company. The members were evidently offended at the way they were treated, and headed by Chairman Ontario, they went up and walked out. Later two of the members and Dr. Roberts returned, and waited while the doctor made the request that the smallpox hospital be built.

Mr. F. J. Sutterby, Murray street, is circulating a petition to be presented to the Board of Health and the City Council, protesting against the opening of a race and metal business in the old Dowling building, corner of Murray and Bay streets. He interviewed several aldermen this morning, and says the neighbors are indignant.

THE HAMILTON TIMES

FRIDAY, NOV. 8, 1907.

AN ENJOYABLE OPENING.

The Liberal Club rooms were opened for the season last night under most auspicious circumstances. The attendance was large, and the entertainment excellent. Seldom is an audience privileged to listen to such an intellectual treat as the admirable address delivered by Mr. W. H. Wardrope, K. C., and which was very much enjoyed. In matter, language and spirit it was all that could be desired, and its educational effect could not but be great. Mr. Wardrope dealt largely with the historical attitude of the parties, tracing briefly and entertainingly the cleavage, from the period when the people with no small expenditure of effort and blood began to wrest their natural rights from their rulers. Very properly he presented the radical difference in the party ideas as basic, the Tory party being the party of Privileges, and the Liberal party the party of Rights. Where some enjoy privileges, others must be getting less than their rights; and the history of the conflict of parties was largely one for restoration of rights to the people. All down the years the historian records the long struggle, until thanks to the Reformers' efforts and sacrifices, the people of Canada enjoy to-day such a measure of liberty as few, if any other, countries boast. Through this great work the idea that the people exist to serve their rulers has given way to the truer and more intelligent one, that the rulers have no powers or rights save those given them by the people, and that the object of all government is the welfare of the people. Mr. Wardrope handled his subject in a spirit of fairness—even generosity—to those who differed from him in party fealty, and his references to present generation and our own country political events and politicians were moderate and free from rancour, but forcible and convincing. It was a speech that appealed to reason and conscience from the record of the facts of experience and the standards of first principles. It was a patriotic speech from a broad, hopeful Canadian, and of that sort Canadians do not hear too much at party gatherings.

STILL MORE DELAY.

Absolutely no new light was shed on the Hydro-Electric power scheme at the conference in Toronto yesterday. The contracts which municipalities entering will have to sign were not ready, and there will be a further delay before the public will know the exact terms. It is to be expected, however, that they will follow the statute, which requires the contracting municipalities to agree to pay the price the Commission pays for current, plus their share of cost of transmission line, management, operation, etc., whatever it may amount to at the end of the year. It has been suggested by the Hydro Commission that the voltage be raised to 120,000 instead of 69,000, to make cost of transmission cheaper; but the company regards it as impracticable. A pressure of 80,000 volts has, indeed, been used, but 69,000 to 90,000 is a high standard. Mayor Bowley, of Brantford, declined to vote approval of the submission of a by-law, because, he said, the information given was insufficient. He seems to be one of those men, so inconvenient to promoters, who wish to see what is ahead before they plunge a city into a scheme involving great risk and a large liability.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Engineer Barrow still wears his head on his shoulders, and that inquiry committee begins to see that he has no sinicure. Last night Hon. Geo. E. Foster told Ward 3 Tories that no obstacles should be placed in the way of Asia's coming to Canada. "No creed nor color should debar anyone from coming in," he averred. That is not what Borden has been saying in British Columbia. The two local Tory organs should get together. The Herald would run Col. Hendrie against Mr. Zimmerman, and the Spec. and Mr. Hendrie say no. The Herald booms Mayor Stewart for a Tory nomination, but the Spectator exhibits no eager enthusiasm to nurse His Worship's boom. Oh, yes! Hon. Mr. Hendrie may have been very powerful in securing an office for a Spectator employee and a Tory worker. If he had been as powerful in protecting Hamilton's interest against the Government's desire to gratify Toronto in the Normal College matter it would have been more to the taste of Hamilton people. Harvey Hall, agent for the railway labor organization, says they will ask to have the Lemieux Act amended so that railway men will be exempt from the clause prohibiting strikes during investigations under the act. Is that wise? Ought it to be asked or granted? Is it in the public interest that strikes or lockouts on railways should be when they are not at all necessary? Ald. McLaren wanted to know where the city's share of the transmission line was coming from, and was informed it was included in the $175,000. That appeared in the Times' report of Tuesday night's meeting of the Board of Works. The Herald says that "the foolish statement" was never made. The Herald's statement is untrue, and it knows it. The statement was made, and repeated. Now it is said that the maker had not grasped the import of the question which he answered to that effect.

WHITELAW REID.

Discusses at Nottingham Anglo-American Trade Relations.

Nottingham, Eng., Nov. 8.—Whitelaw Reid, the U. S. Ambassador, delivered a speech on Anglo-American trade relations at a dinner here last night given by the Nottingham Chamber of Commerce, of which he was a guest. Referring to the amount of trade carried on between the U. S. and Great Britain, Mr. Reid said: "Neither of us is trading with the other out of benevolence or philanthropy; we are doing it on both sides mainly because we think we are thus getting the most for our money. This being the case, should not he who for spleen or petty political demagogism utter a word or does an act to interrupt the present friendly relations between such customers be criticized as one of the most disagreeable as well as one of the most pernicious of the public enemies?"

They have nearly caught up now and Oak Hall is stocked with the best assortment for the season.

At Bennett's Theatre.
 Large audiences are the rule at both the afternoon and evening performances at Bennett's this week, and the bill met with general favor. The fact that this is Independent Order of Foresters week is proving an extra drawing card. Volta, the electric marvel, is proving his claim to the title and at the same time is bewildering those who witness his wonderful performance. It seems almost incredible that a man could allow such heavy currents of electricity to pass through his body unharmed, as Volta does, and the best proof that he does it is to be found in the fact that the men who go on the stage are affected by the electricity from his body. Interest is becoming keen in the apple eating competition, and already a couple of winners have been selected who will be eligible to compete in the finale on Saturday night. Willie Eckstein, the boy from Toronto, is arousing the wonderment of the theatre patrons and is also the object of their undivided admiration.

Patrons of the theatre will be pleased to learn that in future street cars will be waiting on Catharine street, beside the theatre, after every night performance to convey them to their homes without transferring. Manager Driscoll has arranged with Traction Manager Green, of the street railway, for this added convenience for the benefit of the theatre patrons.
 Tom Waters To-night.
 The inimitable Tom Waters will be seen at the Grand to-night and to-morrow afternoon and evening in "The Mayor of Laughland," a musical comedy that has made a big hit everywhere. At prices this should be one of the most

Next Week's Bill.
 The O'Kabe Japs, seven in number, who will be seen heading the Savoy's bill for the coming week, have the most wonderful acrobatic act imported by ad-

Miss Marian McDonald was sweet and winsome as Flora Campbell, and the other parts were fairly well taken. Flora and Winnie Bennett, as the children, did their work well. The quartette, the piano and the dancing rounded out the play, and the performance, as a whole, pleased.

MISS BESSIE MERRILL,
 In "Mayor of Laughland," Grand Opera House, Friday and Saturday.

vaudeville this season. The work is thrilling from first to last, and wherever the attraction had appeared it created a furore of enthusiasm. It is exceptionally well staged for an acrobatic act, it is said. The Meredith sisters, who will be a strong feature next week, need no introduction here after the hit they made last season. It is the greatest sisters' act in vaudeville.

The show this week continues to attract good business, the Yoseary trio of acrobats, with their wonderful turn; Alice and Henry Taylor, in a fine composite offering; the woman doing remarkable feats with a rifle, and the man displaying great cleverness in his juggling, with Al Shean in his burlesque on "Quo Vadis," leading the comedy end of the bill, are the big drawing cards. There has been a big sale of seats for both performances to-morrow.

Mr. Sherwood's Recital.
 Hamilton Conservatory of Music was the scene of a large gathering of Hamilton's music lovers last night, when Mr. William H. Sherwood, of Chicago, the noted pianist, gave a recital. Mr. Sherwood gave the entire programme, which was one of rare merit, and a charming variety. He showed marvelous technique and great skill, handling the softer passages with softness, and the stronger parts with splendid freedom and power. He won the unstinted praise of all the critics present. The programme was:

Senata Assonata, Op. 57. Beethoven
 Allegro Assai. Andante con Moto. Allegro ma non troppo.
 Nocturne in F. Schumann
 Preludes in B flat Minor and F Major, Op. 28. Chopin
 Grande Polonaise in A flat, Op. 53. Chopin
 Rhapsodie in G Minor, Op. 79, No. 2. Brahms
 Minuet from String Quintette. Bolzoni
 (Arranged by Wm. H. Sherwood.)
 Bourree Fantasque. Chabrier
 Allegro Patetico, Op. 12. Scherzer

Those who have attended James Street Baptist Church this week must have been delighted with the singing of Mrs. Calder Leonard. Mrs. Leonard, who resides in Detroit, has been visiting friends in this city during the past week, and they prevailed upon her to sing. She is the possessor of a magnificent soprano voice, of wide range and beautiful quality, combined with splendid enunciation, making her singing a delight. She is the soloist of the First Baptist Church, of Detroit, and is at the head of the musical world of the City of the Straits.

Miss Holliday's Recital.
 Miss Gwendolen Holliday, whose singing has so delighted all who have heard her during her short residence in this city, will give her first recital in the Conservatory concert hall on the evening of

AMERICA'S GREAT PIANIST.

W. H. Sherwood's Opinion of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos.
 His letter to Mr. Gerhard Heintzman reads as follows:
 "It gives me much pleasure to be able to speak very highly of your pianos. The Concert Grand Pianos used by me for several years of concert playing in the United States are now supplanted by a Canadian make, in your piano; of high grade excellence throughout. In action, strength, sonority and sweetness of tone you have achieved success. The reliability of your piano under very hard usage, on tour, is also a cause for congratulation. With best wishes."
 Mr. Sherwood played at the Hamilton Conservatory of Music last evening.

OBITUARY.

Death of Old Resident of Hamilton in Toronto.
 Miss Catharine Pearson, one of the old residents of Hamilton, although she had recently been living in Toronto, died yesterday at the residence of her niece, Miss Maria Christian, 141 Adelaide street east, that city. Miss Pearson was a native of County Kildare, Ireland, and was 82 years of age. She came to Hamilton in 1832, when but a child, and resided here all her life. For many years she was with S. G. Treble, in the shirt department. She was one of the oldest members of Christ's Church Cathedral, having been connected with it before the present church was built, and when the congregation worshipped in the old Court House. She was an aunt of Mr. Isaac Christian, of this city, and had always resided with some of the members of the family. Her illness was of only about ten days' duration. She will be brought here for burial, the funeral taking place from Christ's Church Cathedral to-morrow at 2.30.

The funeral of Mrs. W. J. Anderson took place from her late residence, Dundas road, yesterday at 2 p. m., and was very largely attended. The services at the house and grave were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Cameron, and the pall-bearers were Robt. Buttrum, Frank Buttrum, Thomas Simmons, Chas. Cottner, Andrew Baxter and Wm. Renton. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, and consisted of the following: Pillows; crescent, commercial form Caroline street school; wreaths, Mr. and Mrs. W. Renton; Mr. and Mrs. D. Smith; sprays, T. W. Heintzman, Miss Bamberger, Mr. and Mrs. W. Shipman, Mr. and Mrs. Venor; Mr. B. McKee, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Arms; Mr. and Mrs. McBride; Union Sunday school, Mr. and Mrs. T. Symons, Mrs. Dorman and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Irvine, Mr. and Misses Foxies, Mr. and Mrs. J. Pitt, Mr. and Mrs. Fowles, Mr. and Mrs. A. Fowles, Miss Anderson, Dr. Bertram and Mr. and Mrs. R. Buttrum.

The death took place at the City Hospital this morning of Mr. Arthur Reynolds. Deceased was 23 years of age, and was a native of Dublin, Ireland, and although he had been in this city only a short time, he had a wide circle of friends, who will learn with regret of his death. The funeral will take place Sunday at 3 p. m. from the residence of his brother, 302 Hughson street north.

An aeronaut school is in operation in France, and a similar one is to be opened in Germany.

AS GUESTS OF CONSERVATORY.

OVER 1,000 ATTENDED THE AT-HOME YESTERDAY.
 The Event a Great Social Success—Beautiful Decorations, Fine Music and Thorough Enjoyment Everywhere.
 Hamilton Conservatory of Music gave the first "at home" to its friends, under the new management, yesterday afternoon, when throngs of charming and beautifully gowned ladies of Hamilton and a good many from a distance, and their escorts, filled the spacious halls and corridors of the institution, James street south, and enjoyed what was pronounced by all to be one of the most delightful functions of the year. The attendance during the afternoon must have passed the 1,000 mark by a good margin.
 The decorations were carried out principally in the colors of the Conservatory, gold and blue, and were on a most elaborate scale, and designed very artistically. The ground floor corridors were draped in bunting of these colors, from the ceiling to the door of each classroom, and these rooms also showed artistic taste in the prevailing colors. Palms, ferns and chrysanthemums banked at the corners around the doors and desks, added their delicate sweetness to the scene. Over the entrance door was the emblem of the Conservatory, a gold treble clef and staff, on a blue background.
 In this corridor visitors were received by Messrs. W. H. Hewlett, J. E. P. Aldous and A. G. Alexander, representing the honorary and managing board, and Mesdames S. Barker, C. R. McCullough and R. A. Lucas.
 The main hall of the Conservatory and adjoining rooms and corridors were magnificently decorated. From the centre of the ceiling was suspended a huge basket of drooping wisteria and autumn leaves studded with electric lights. From this basket were chains of autumn leaves also with miniature electric lights. At the corners of the room were clusters of wisteria and grapes. The platform was daintily arranged with palms, ferns and flowers. From the ceiling was lattice work interwoven with flowers and leaves. In this room, for the enjoyment of the guests, a continuous programme of instrumental and vocal music was given by the faculty and pupils of the Conservatory.
 In the teachers' room on this floor was arranged a display of the pictures of Miss Matlock and her pupils, those of Miss Mabel Sheppard being most numerous and greatly admired.
 Many were the expressions of delight as the visitors reached the top floor, where the dainty refreshments were served. At the head of the stair were two most inviting cosy corners, respectively in Japanese and Oriental effect, and the two large class rooms were also in Japanese and Oriental style.
 In the Oriental room wisteria and red chrysanthemums were the flowers used, the walls being draped with red and green tapestry, and the tables being adorned with baskets of red chrysanthemums and drooping ferns. The Japanese room was in pale pink and green, with pink and white chrysanthemums and wisteria, fans and umbrellas.
 The tea rooms were presided over by Mrs. P. D. Crear, Mrs. Hewlett, Mrs. Bruce Carey, Mrs. Aldous, Mrs. Watkins, Mrs. Gordon Henderson, Mrs. Walter Bruce, Mrs. Dunn, Mrs. S. O. Greening, Mrs. McLagan, Mrs. Southern, Mrs. Wm. Hendrie, Lady Taylor and Mrs. Turnbull. They were assisted by Mrs. Fraser, and Misses Ruth Griffin, Olive Ball, Merriam, Catherine Sutherland, Edith Gladys and Beatrice Marshall, Dexter, Drina Patterson, Murray, Spencer, Stella Carey, Smith, Jessie Wood, Gwelda Piquet, Towers, Bateman, Margaret Ogil-

WANT TO FIGHT.

Russians Anxious to Fight in U. S. Army Against Japan.
 St. Petersburg, Nov. 8.—The talk of the possibility of a war between the United States and Japan, which throughout has been taken seriously in Russia, is now bringing many volunteers to the American embassy, who say they are anxious to serve in the U. S. army in case of hostilities. A report is also circulated in military circles here that the American army in the Philippines needs instructors, especially for the artillery and engineer corps. Five or six Russian officers of these branches of the service apply daily at the embassy for commissions, and are much disappointed by the assurance of the charge d'affaires, Montgomery Schuyler, jun., that there is no likelihood of Japan and the United States going to war.

HAROLD EMORY'S CASE.

Toronto, Nov. 8.—In regard to the case of Harold Emory, of Hamilton, reported yesterday, inquiry at the University and Education Department disclosed the fact that the loss of Mr. Emory's certificate was a local oversight. "The results and certificate were forwarded at the time to the principal of the school from which he wrote," said Mr. J. A. Houston, Registrar of the Education Department.

NORTH ENDERS TO BE JUDGES.

Want Mayor, Chairman of Civic and Independent Boards

To Render Account of Stewardship at Open Meeting.

Say Mayor Stewart Has Broken a Pledge Given Them.

The North End Improvement Society last night at its regular meeting, presided over by W. G. Long, decided to hold an opening meeting on the evening of November 21 in the school room of St. Luke's Church, at which Mayor Stewart, the chairman of the different civic committees and the chairman of the Parks Board, and of the chairman of the Board of Health will receive an invitation to attend and "render an account of their stewardship." The object is to have these officials explain what they have and have not done during the year. There is a good deal of dissatisfaction by the northenders with some of the things that have been done during the reign of the present Council and they would like to hear the explanations before election time comes around. There was considerable discussion over the way the workmen have to plow through mud puddles to get to the West-End shops and other industries in

FOR LEPERS.

Annual Meeting of the Local Society Held Yesterday.

The annual meeting of the Mission for Lepers was held in the Y. M. C. A. parlors yesterday, and there was a good attendance. The business did not take long, and consisted of the adoption of reports for the past year and the election of officers. The officers were all re-elected, as follows: Mrs. Watson, President; Mrs. Fletcher, First Vice-President; Miss H. Buchanan, Second Vice-President; Mrs. Fennell, Secretary; Miss Leila McKenzie, Treasurer. The secretary-treasurer for "Without the Camp," the society's paper, was re-elected in the person of Mrs. Boyle. Secretary-treasurer of the fund for the maintenance of untainted children, Miss C. Brown, at the report showed that the receipts for the year amounted to $236.08 and expenditure $214.89, leaving a balance of $21.19 on hand. Most of this money was sent to India to the General Secretary, W. C. Bailey, and goes for the maintenance of lepers and untainted children of tainted children. The society will meet, as before, on the first Thursday of each month at the members' houses.

GIRL KILLED AT CROSSING.

Evelyn Adisbury Cut Almost in Two at Point St. Charles. Montreal Nov. 7.--Evelyn Adisbury was the victim of a fatal level crossing accident at the Grand Trunk tracks on Biberia road, Point St. Charles, this afternoon. The girl, who was only thirteen years old, was cut almost in two by a passing train. She did not notice the train coming on account of a freight which was lying at the crossing, which had been cut in two to enable people to pass. An inquest will be held. The American Graphophone Co., employing 3,500 hands at Bridgeport, Conn., posted notices yesterday that the factory would shut down for an indefinite period because of the present financial conditions.

CHURCH SMOKER.

First of Winter Series in Cathedral School.

The first of a series of smoking concerts was held last evening in the lecture hall of Christ's Church Cathedral. There was a large attendance and a very enjoyable evening was spent. A short programme of songs and instrumental music was presented, the following taking part: Mr. A. L. Garthwaite, Mr. R. McLelland and Mr. J. Peacock. The feature of the evening was the singing of Mr. Garthwaite, his number, "The Mighty Deep," by Jude, bringing down the house. His resonant and powerful voice was heard to good advantage, and the audience was insistent in its demand for an encore. Canon Abbott was present and gave an illustrated address on John Gilpin. The funny situations of this splendid story were well brought out. It was decided to keep the hall open every evening in the week, with the exception of Tuesday and Saturday, for the purpose of letting young men who live in boarding houses have an opportunity of having a night's entertainment at draughts and other games.

A Prosperous Colony.

In the State of Victoria, Australia, the railway revenue for 1907 fiscal year was $20,030,000, the highest on record, while the working expenses were less than 52 per cent of the revenue, the lowest for twenty-eight years. The number of savings bank depositors increased by 27,000. Forty per cent of the entire population has deposits. The amount at their credit on June 30th last was $64,000,000, an increase for the year of $5,140,000. Overseas exports, exclusive of gold, amounted to $62,000,000, an increase of 250 per cent over 1903. The colony's overseas imports amounted to $75,000,000. The exports to other States were nearly $25,000,000. The Government revenue for the year was $41,565,000, and the expenditure only $37,505,000, creating a surplus of $4,060,000.

DUNDAS LIBERALS.

Delegates Elected at an Enthusiastic Meeting in Dundas.

Dundas, Nov. 8.--There was a very nice turnout of Liberals last evening to appoint delegates to the nominating committee, which meets to-morrow in Hamilton. William Clark, President of the Dundas Association, presided and B. A. L. Clarke was appointed Secretary pro tem. Five delegates and two alternates were appointed from each polling sub-division, 25 delegates in all, and more alternates should be needed, the president and J. W. Lawerson were authorized to make all necessary arrangements. A very hopeful, optimistic feeling prevailed and Dundas may be expected to do its full duty whenever the election takes place. Frank H. Pearson, the jeweller, who a few days ago opened business in Dundas, took suddenly and seriously ill yesterday, and, being wholly unknown in the town, was in danger of being neglected, but his condition becoming known to Rev. Mr. Irving and Mrs. Beggs, he was properly cared for during the night, and this morning was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital.

CHINESE SMUGGLED THEMSELVES.

Ogdensburg, Nov. 7.--Six Chinese were captured in the woods near here to-day while attempting to smuggle themselves into the United States from Canada. Government officers found the Chinese suffering from exposure in the storm which raged while they were crossing the St. Lawrence River last night. The Chinese had their queues cut off and wore American clothes. They were taken to jail to await hearing.

CUBS WILL PLAY Y. M. C. A. COLORS.

O. R. F. U. Requests Tigers III. to Change Their Name.

Hawkes Defeated in Roller Skating Race Last Evening—Jockey Foley Hurt at Dallas—Riding Club's Races To-morrow.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. J. B. Hay, Secretary of the O. R. F. U., telegraphed Mr. Guy Long, manager of the Hamilton III, requesting that the team drop the name Hamilton and play as the Y. M. C. A. team, which name they originally held. The Hamilton men are in the O. R. F. U. junior semi-finals, and are scheduled to play here to-morrow. He explained that the C. A. A. U. is almost sure to suspend all the players in the Inter-Provincial Rugby League, and that Berlin College would not play unless the Cubs agreed to the O. R. F. U. conditions. He said he would let Mr. Long know definitely to-day if the C. A. A. U. insisted on the change of name. Mr. Long consulted with officers of the Hamilton Rugby Football Club, and they agreed to allow the Cubs to play in the name and colors of the Y. M. C. A. for the rest of the season.

The Cubs will have their final workout to-night in preparation for their game to-morrow with the fast St. Jerome's College team. Starting reports are that the Cubs are going to do with the Cubs, and as they have yet to be scored against, while they have run up 130 points in their games, the local team are taking no chances, and promise to play the fastest, strongest game they are capable of. Under the watchful eye of some of the seniors, they went through with some trick plays that they think will open the eyes of the College boys and gain many points for them. The back division is in great shape, and they have a trio of kickers and tacklers that are not equalled in the junior ranks of the O. R. F. U. The wing line is fast and the scrimmage is heavy enough to stop a coal wagon. The whole team is well balanced, and they should give a splendid account of themselves to-morrow.

The Berlin team will bring a big bunch of supporters with them, and there will be all kinds of enthusiasm. The Cubs were just noised out of the championship last year, and they are making desperate and apparently successful efforts to be champions this year. This will be their last appearance on the home grounds, and judging by the interest being shown in the result of the game, there will be a tremendous crowd to cheer the boys on to victory.

The game will start promptly at 2.45. The result of the Ottawa-Montreal game will be announced.

At Britannia Park to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Y. M. C. A. will play the Grimsby-Wilona team. This is one of the City League games.

FOR THE MULLOCK CUP. Toronto, Nov. 8.—The second game of the Mullock Cup series was played yesterday afternoon at the Athletic Field, with Senior S. P. S. and Senior Meds. occupying the limelight. The school representatives proved just a trifle too strong for the Senior Meds. The Cubs won out by the close margin of 14 to 12. The score by quarters was 8 to 0, 8 to 4, 14 to 4 and 14 to 12, with S. P. S. in the lead all the way. The teams: Senior Meds.—Jackson, Marshall, Clark, Brown, Edeleson, Duff, McFie, McFie, McFie, Jamieson, New, Brandon, Campbell, Morgan, etc.

Senior S. P. S.—Cory, Chestnut, Gordon, Hunter, Shilling, Stirrett, Bryce, Daroch, Charlois, Redlick, Proctor, O'Riady, Gerroll, Marlott.

TO-MORROW'S BIG GAME. To-morrow the Tigers will have a rest, but the Montreal and Ottawa teams of the Inter-Provincial Rugby Union will play at Montreal. If the home team wins it lands the championship, but if the Rough Riders turn the trick the Tigers have a chance to tie the Frenchman. Following is what Ottawa and Montreal papers have to say about the game:

Ottawa Citizen: "With perhaps but one practice loss their strenuous game against the Hamilton Tigers, the Ottawa was mustered out at Montreal Saturday to meet one of the best fourteen that Montreal has ever been able to boast of."

Monday and Tuesday it rained and snowed and yesterday the rain came down in buckets full, preventing the Ottawa from having the practice which all had been requested to attend. Most of the men turned up, although there were a few absentees, accounted for by the miserable weather, and just as the men were preparing to get out and chase the pigskin around, the storm broke afresh and King Clancy decided to call the work-off. Clancy gave the men a good football talk yesterday. The players recognize that they are going up against the most difficult proposition of the season at Montreal, but they are determined to lower the colors of the red and black, and so noticeable has been the improvement in their play that quite a lot of local money will be put up on the game. Even money rules, but few wagers have been put up so far. The locals take little stock in the reports from the Montreal camp that all the winged-wheel men are on the hospital list and expect to go up against a bunch of athletes every bit as sound physically as they are themselves."

Montreal Star: "The committee of the Montreal senior Rugby team held a meeting last evening to pick the fourteen for the match with Ottawa on the local grounds on Saturday next, but no final selections were made, and the composition of the team for the next game is problematical. It is just possible that there will be a little change around, owing to the fact that Kelly, the star inside wing man, is still suffering from a sore thigh and leg. Last night Dr. Irvin has charge of the big fellow and made him run around the gymnasium instead of taking part in the signal practice. Whether Kingstone will play is not definitely known. The club officials wired last night asking him to make an effort to be in the line-up Saturday, and it is just possible that Kingstone will be allowed to come to Montreal to take part in the contest. The back division of the team will remain intact."

PHYSICAL LECTURE.

Prof. D. M. Barton's Address at Y. M. C. A.

A good crowd attended the lecture by Prof. D. M. Barton, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., in Association Hall last evening. The lecture was both helpful and interesting. The chairman, Mr. John E. Brown, in his remarks expressed his appreciation of the good attendance, and called upon Mr. Barton for his remarks on physical training. Mr. Barton expressed himself pleased to present his lecture. He explained that a business man who had brain work, needed exercise, to keep the heart and other organs of the body in a healthy condition, so that fresh blood would flow and keep the brain in condition for the work it had to do. There is no need for any man in Hamilton exposing himself to these dangers of life when there are classes at the Y. M. C. A. for the boy of twelve to the man of any age up to sixty. He spoke of exercise, for the strengthening of the fingers so that one can tear a pack of cards, and of the need of exercise for the prevention of consumption, of which nine cases out of ten could be prevented if proper exercises were used to promote deep breathing. The cause of stomach trouble was explained to be fast eating and not allowing the saliva to mix properly with the food. Proper dieting and proper exercises would overcome the trouble.

The Y. M. C. A. gymnastic team, under the direction of Nathan Keefe, was called upon and did some very good work on the parallel bars, after which Mr. Barton demonstrated the different exercises with the wand and light dumb-bells, as are used in the gymnasium, and also used the 100-lb. and double dumb-bells.

J. Syme and F. Stevenson engaged in a fencing bout, which received the hearty applause of the audience, and Mr. Barton then spoke of "Best hints on diet, sleep, air, exercise and breathing."

The poses by A. J. Taylor and F. Stevens were as follows: Boxers on guard; boxers guarding swing at head; hammerthrower before and after; fencer on guard; fencers' attack and wounded; Chin and Abel; athlete at rest and dying gladiator.

To-night Mr. Barton will again give his lecture for the benefit of those who did not hear it last night. Next week there will be a lecture for boys.

WON BY RIGG.

Hawkes Beaten in Race at Alexandra Rink. In a two mile handicap roller skating race last evening at the Alexandra rink between Gordon Rigg and Elmer Hawkes, much interest and excitement was manifested. Both have won several similar events, but they never met in a race until last night, and, of course, both were confident of winning. So confident was Hawkes that he gave his opponent a handicap of one-half lap, but long before the finish he found he was a beaten man. Rigg kept the same distance ahead till the last two laps, when he tired a little, and Hawkes gained half the handicap, but could not overtake him. The judges, George Tuckett and James Callahan, awarded the race to Rigg amid great cheering. Hawkes' time was 6:27 for the full distance, while Rigg's was about four seconds slower.

Colin Greater Than Grandsire, Mighty Domino.

A career that is little short of marvelous was rounded out when Colin poked his nose under the wire in advance of the field in the Champagne stakes, recently.

To win 12 straight races, 11 of which were stakes, extending over the full season, is a record that will make a bright page in turf history.

Comparisons are odious, perhaps, and it is not intended to belittle the great horses before Colin's time, but James R. Keene's horse has firmly established himself as the greatest horse ever bred and raced in this country.

His lot was cast in a year when there were many other good two-year-olds, but he has outstepped them all with consummate ease, and goes into retirement better to all appearances than when he scored his first triumph last May.

It is true that Tremont was unbeaten as a two-year-old and won 13 straight races, one more, in fact, than Colin, and that Domino earned more money in eight straight races, but old-time racers go to great lengths to concede the superiority of Colin over both Tremont

"Cyclonic disturbances are more numerous than usual," says the London Daily Mail. The explanation is easy. Tommy Burns, the champion pugilist, has arrived in London.—Exchange.

Toronto Telegram: Before going east last night to Montreal, Tom Longboat was discovered emerging from the barber shop, which recalls to mind those well-known words of the poet: "Lo the poor Indian, in his untutored mind. Shaves off his whiskers and disappoints the wind."

This is the 27th day since Ernie Russell did not resign from the captaincy of the professional hockey team.

New York Telegraph: No jockey riding in the season has the record of Stone, who perhaps alone of all the professionals, has kept the absolute confidence of the public. Stone has ridden in forty-one seasons. He won fourteen of these, was second six times, third seven times, and out of the money only fourteen times. Truly a remarkable record.

Well, indeed, it is for some newspapers which deal with affairs of sport that they are not bound by the Supreme Court's decision in the Winnipeg Free Press case. At the rate at which they publish ghost stories a penalty of $1,000 each, as in the case of the Free Press, would break the Bank of England.—Exchange.

It's the same old story with Montreal. A team of cripples on paper and a pretty healthy outfit on the field. They kind of like the "possum" game down East.

The Montreal Federation and its press agents keep hammering away at organized athletics. First the semi-professional idea, then affiliation with the American Union, and now pulling for favor at the Olympic games, some of which give the C. A. A. U. worry. Chances are there will be no Federation when Longboat and the rest of the champions leave for London. You know a fool institution like this is the same as the individual: Give it rope enough and it will surely hang itself.—Toronto World.

Toronto Globe: Newspaper readers are expected to stand for a lot in Montreal when you find one paper giving publicity to this statement: "Suspension by the federation will be a serious matter for Montreal athletes, as it will prevent them from taking part in athletic meets in Great Britain."

The Star is supporting to-morrow's race, which is sufficient to induce the Herald to circulate the "fake" story above. Of course, the British Olympic Committee will cable to the Montreal professional lacrosse and hockey clubs, asking who should represent Canada. That is particularly demonstrated by the fact that the English Lacrosse Association has refused to accept a visit from the Shamrocks or any other professional lacrosse team from this country. This course was based on the conviction, arising from the old country tour of the Capitals, that such a visit would not be in the best interest of the game in England.

The delegates to the convention were Miss Coutts, of the Mission School, and Miss McMenemy and Dymond, of the uptown school, all of whom presented their part of the proceedings of the convention in a most capable manner and the information given is bound to be of help to the seventy-five who were present.

Dr. Nelson made a few remarks at the close and called upon Mr. C. E. Kelly, the leader of the newly organized men's Bible class, who responded in an able manner.

The meeting came to a close at 10.30 and all went away feeling they had a most enjoyable and profitable time. Hearty thanks were extended to W. H. and Mrs. McLaren for their hospitality.

FOOTBALL IN CHINA. KNOX Y. M. U.

"The first game of football I witnessed upon my arrival in China," said a recent visitor in Toronto, "mistook for a very serious riot, and you wouldn't have blamed me, either."

In the first place, I was not aware that the Chinese had any such game, but later found that it is very popular in Northern China. It is not played as is the Canadian game, and instead of eleven players to the side there are fifty. These Northern Chinese are almost giants, and every man on the team will be six feet or over in height and weigh on an average 200 pounds. There are no goals, side lines or halves. The game lasts until one side is the winner, and frequently this is not accomplished before two or three days. "The idea of the game is to force a small wicker basket, which takes the place of our ball, into the territory of the other side—this territory being outside of the town—and up and down the streets the fight rages. Each man is equipped with a whistle with which to summon assistance when too hard-pressed. "Stealth as well as main force may be used in getting the 'ball' into the enemy's country, and I know of one clever player who did so by passing over the roofs of the houses. As you may imagine, 100 giants yelling and fighting in the streets create some excitement."

Old Time Spelling Bee at Last Night's Met ing. Knox Church Young Men's Union held its regular meeting last night and there was a large attendance. The president, H. Truscott, was in the chair and considerable business was transacted. It was decided to enter the oratorical contest for the Spectator medals and a strong representative was appointed. The programme consisted of an old-time spelling bee, and it made some of the members think of school days, the way they got caught on the pass words. Harry Truscott was the winner. T. M. Wright gave a very humorous reading, which was much enjoyed. The programme committee has mapped out a series of programmes up to the end of the year, which should prove instructive as well as entertaining. Arrangements for a couple of inter-city debates are about completed, which should renew the interest along that line. Next Thursday night Prof. D. B. McKellar will give a lecture on "A Trip Around the Mental World," and the evening two weeks hence will be devoted to a talk on Dickens. Harold Peace was the critic of the evening, and his remarks were very timely.

Receipts of the "Streets of Paris" bazaar at Ottawa, in aid of the Tuberculosis Hospital fund, have totalled for the first three days about $3,500. A White, one of the men injured in the dynamic explosion at Bird's Hill last Friday, will lose the sight of both eyes.

Monday and Tuesday it rained and snowed and yesterday the rain came down in buckets full, preventing the Ottawa from having the practice which all had been requested to attend. Most of the men turned up, although there were a few absentees, accounted for by the miserable weather, and just as the men were preparing to get out and chase the pigskin around, the storm broke afresh and King Clancy decided to call the work-off. Clancy gave the men a good football talk yesterday. The players recognize that they are going up against the most difficult proposition of the season at Montreal, but they are determined to lower the colors of the red and black, and so noticeable has been the improvement in their play that quite a lot of local money will be put up on the game. Even money rules, but few wagers have been put up so far. The locals take little stock in the reports from the Montreal camp that all the winged-wheel men are on the hospital list and expect to go up against a bunch of athletes every bit as sound physically as they are themselves."

Montreal Star: "The committee of the Montreal senior Rugby team held a meeting last evening to pick the fourteen for the match with Ottawa on the local grounds on Saturday next, but no final selections were made, and the composition of the team for the next game is problematical. It is just possible that there will be a little change around, owing to the fact that Kelly, the star inside wing man, is still suffering from a sore thigh and leg. Last night Dr. Irvin has charge of the big fellow and made him run around the gymnasium instead of taking part in the signal practice. Whether Kingstone will play is not definitely known. The club officials wired last night asking him to make an effort to be in the line-up Saturday, and it is just possible that Kingstone will be allowed to come to Montreal to take part in the contest. The back division of the team will remain intact."

PHYSICAL LECTURE. Prof. D. M. Barton's Address at Y. M. C. A. A good crowd attended the lecture by Prof. D. M. Barton, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., in Association Hall last evening. The lecture was both helpful and interesting. The chairman, Mr. John E. Brown, in his remarks expressed his appreciation of the good attendance, and called upon Mr. Barton for his remarks on physical training. Mr. Barton expressed himself pleased to present his lecture. He explained that a business man who had brain work, needed exercise, to keep the heart and other organs of the body in a healthy condition, so that fresh blood would flow and keep the brain in condition for the work it had to do. There is no need for any man in Hamilton exposing himself to these dangers of life when there are classes at the Y. M. C. A. for the boy of twelve to the man of any age up to sixty. He spoke of exercise, for the strengthening of the fingers so that one can tear a pack of cards, and of the need of exercise for the prevention of consumption, of which nine cases out of ten could be prevented if proper exercises were used to promote deep breathing. The cause of stomach trouble was explained to be fast eating and not allowing the saliva to mix properly with the food. Proper dieting and proper exercises would overcome the trouble. The Y. M. C. A. gymnastic team, under the direction of Nathan Keefe, was called upon and did some very good work on the parallel bars, after which Mr. Barton demonstrated the different exercises with the wand and light dumb-bells, as are used in the gymnasium, and also used the 100-lb. and double dumb-bells. J. Syme and F. Stevenson engaged in a fencing bout, which received the hearty applause of the audience, and Mr. Barton then spoke of "Best hints on diet, sleep, air, exercise and breathing." The poses by A. J. Taylor and F. Stevens were as follows: Boxers on guard; boxers guarding swing at head; hammerthrower before and after; fencer on guard; fencers' attack and wounded; Chin and Abel; athlete at rest and dying gladiator. To-night Mr. Barton will again give his lecture for the benefit of those who did not hear it last night. Next week there will be a lecture for boys.

WON BY RIGG. Hawkes Beaten in Race at Alexandra Rink. In a two mile handicap roller skating race last evening at the Alexandra rink between Gordon Rigg and Elmer Hawkes, much interest and excitement was manifested. Both have won several similar events, but they never met in a race until last night, and, of course, both were confident of winning. So confident was Hawkes that he gave his opponent a handicap of one-half lap, but long before the finish he found he was a beaten man. Rigg kept the same distance ahead till the last two laps, when he tired a little, and Hawkes gained half the handicap, but could not overtake him. The judges, George Tuckett and James Callahan, awarded the race to Rigg amid great cheering. Hawkes' time was 6:27 for the full distance, while Rigg's was about four seconds slower.

Colin Greater Than Grandsire, Mighty Domino. A career that is little short of marvelous was rounded out when Colin poked his nose under the wire in advance of the field in the Champagne stakes, recently. To win 12 straight races, 11 of which were stakes, extending over the full season, is a record that will make a bright page in turf history. Comparisons are odious, perhaps, and it is not intended to belittle the great horses before Colin's time, but James R. Keene's horse has firmly established himself as the greatest horse ever bred and raced in this country. His lot was cast in a year when there were many other good two-year-olds, but he has outstepped them all with consummate ease, and goes into retirement better to all appearances than when he scored his first triumph last May. It is true that Tremont was unbeaten as a two-year-old and won 13 straight races, one more, in fact, than Colin, and that Domino earned more money in eight straight races, but old-time racers go to great lengths to concede the superiority of Colin over both Tremont

FOOTBALL IN CHINA. KNOX Y. M. U. "The first game of football I witnessed upon my arrival in China," said a recent visitor in Toronto, "mistook for a very serious riot, and you wouldn't have blamed me, either." In the first place, I was not aware that the Chinese had any such game, but later found that it is very popular in Northern China. It is not played as is the Canadian game, and instead of eleven players to the side there are fifty. These Northern Chinese are almost giants, and every man on the team will be six feet or over in height and weigh on an average 200 pounds. There are no goals, side lines or halves. The game lasts until one side is the winner, and frequently this is not accomplished before two or three days. "The idea of the game is to force a small wicker basket, which takes the place of our ball, into the territory of the other side—this territory being outside of the town—and up and down the streets the fight rages. Each man is equipped with a whistle with which to summon assistance when too hard-pressed. "Stealth as well as main force may be used in getting the 'ball' into the enemy's country, and I know of one clever player who did so by passing over the roofs of the houses. As you may imagine, 100 giants yelling and fighting in the streets create some excitement."

DEVELOPMENTS
SOLD AT 90.31.

Finance Committee Disposes of Local Improvement Issue.

A. T. Neill Appointed Deputy Tax Collector.

Next Year's Council Asked to Build Isolation Hospital.

Only two bids were received last night by the Finance Committee for the $150,000 of civic debentures offered for sale. These are the debentures for the new annex sewer and disposal works, costing $120,000 and $30,000 for the proposed new east end fire station.

The Aemilius Jarvis Company offered to purchase out of the $150,000 debentures $25,000 of the $120,000 in thirty annual instalments, paying for the $25,000 $21,820, with a 30-day option on the balance at a price of $7.25, with accrued interest.

Wood, Gundy & Co., of Toronto, offered to buy outright $75,000 at 90.31, with an option for a month on the balance of the $150,000 at the same price, or to take the whole $150,000 for $9.65. The committee decided to accept Wood, Gundy & Company's offer for the $75,000 at 90.31 provided that it would take the whole $30,000 in twenty annual instalments, and $45,000 of the $120,000, thirty annual instalments, the bonds of the latter to be accepted by the company, and take a one month option on the balance at the same price.

Appoint Deputy Collector.
The committee appointed A. T. Neill, chief clerk of the tax office, deputy tax collector, with power to act in the absence from the city of Tax Collector Kerr. This was done on the suggestion of Alderman Kirkpatrick, who pointed out that the department was practically without anyone in charge during the three months spent in the old country by the tax collector this year. He thought that some one should be in charge and responsible when Mr. Kerr was not present. Some of the other aldermen did too, although Mayor Stewart was inclined to object on the ground that it might lead to confusion by Mr. Neill dealing with something in Mr. Kerr's absence when the latter had made some other arrangement.

City Clerk Kent said the statutes did not recognize a deputy collector, and if any power was to be given Mr. Neill it would have to be through a resolution from the council. In accordance with this the above resolution was passed.

Hesitated Making Grant.
The aldermen thought it over a long time before they granted the request of the Women's Wentworth Historical Society to make a grant towards the patriotic celebration in October, when the Lieutenant-Governor was entertained here. Even the fact that the $50 asked for to pay for the band was in connection with the entertainment of the Crown's representative, some of the aldermen could not see their way clear to make the grant. The grant was made before the celebration took place. Others wanted to give only $25.

Chairman Dickson and Ald. H. G. Wright said it was the first time the Lieutenant-Governor had ever visited Hamilton in his official capacity, and $50 was a small matter. The Crown's representative was a small matter. They finally succeeded in getting the committee to make a grant of $50.

Fill in Coal Oil Inlet.
The Board of Health will be asked to furnish an estimate of what it will cost to fill in the westerly arm of the Coal Oil Inlet, and City Solicitor Waddell was instructed to report at once regarding the application being made by the Radial Company for a patent to an arm of the inlet, with a view to the city withdrawing its application for the same, and in connection with the offer made by the company to fill in the inlet with garbage.

Ald. Peebles reported on behalf of a sub-committee that the company agreed to fill in down to the T. H. & B. bridge within two years. The Fowler Canadian Company and the Freeman Company, was explained, had already done some filling in.

Want Smallpox Hospital.
Dr. Roberts, the Medical Health Officer, on behalf of the Board of Health, asked that the Finance Committee provide money to build a permanent smallpox hospital in the west end, on the site of the present temporary building. He referred to the fact that the people voted $75,000 for an isolation hospital, and asked that a portion of this be granted. He estimated that it would cost about $40,000 to erect the building, and suggested that debentures be issued for this amount. Enough money was being squandered now, he said, in temporary arrangements, to pay interest on many thousands of dollars.

The Mayor said he agreed with what Dr. Roberts said, but there was no money this year. On the other hand, the next year's Council was recommended to have the building erected, without delay.

Can't Issue Certificates.
City Solicitor Waddell reported that there was nothing in the statutes authorizing the tax collector to issue certificates, freeing a property owner from all further liability, by the owner paying a fee for a search.

In connection with this, Ald. Lees said that a case point, which the aldermen should consider, was that of a man named Simpson, in the east end. He purchased a piece of property off a frontage of some 200 odd feet on Grant avenue. The property had changed hands three times since a sewer was built on the street. Mr. Simpson had always paid all bills presented by the city. This week he desired to sell forty feet, and was told at the City Hall that there was $14 arrearages in sewer rates owing, and he could not get a clear title until this was done. Mr. Simpson, who was present, said this was the first he had heard of it in ten years, and he admitted that it was not fair to charge him for the whole 200 feet frontage. It was left with the City Clerk and the Tax Collector to apportion Mr. Simpson's share.

Other Business.
Kerr & Thomson presented an account for $132 for services rendered before City Solicitor Waddell was appointed. On the suggestion of Ald. Peebles, the account was laid over to see if this is all the city owes.

LIBRARY BOARD.

Board Talks of Installing Natural Gas For Lighting.

The Library Board spent some time in discussion of the increased cost of the electric light, when the present contract runs out, yesterday afternoon, and although no definite action was taken, it was thought by some of the members that the question of lighting should be looked into. Quite a few favored the use of the natural gas, saying it has been shown that it gives a more effective light. It was decided to leave the question open until the present contract expires.

A letter was received from the manager of the Bank of British North America, stating that he would like the board to go down to the Barton street branch and place an estimate on the present fixtures that are now in the building. Chairman Milne, Dr. Lyle and J. M. Brown were appointed a committee to look into the matter and report. It has been decided that the east end branch will have open shelves for the use of the public. That means that one may go in and pick out the book that is wanted, and can have the opportunity of looking it over before taking it. The question of the branch will be settled at the next meeting of the board, as it was decided that the location will be the report of the Library Committee showed that a donation of 97 bound volumes and 18 paper volumes of the "History of South Africa" had been received from Mr. E. B. Biggar, of Toronto. The committee recommended the purchase of 261 volumes at an estimated cost of $470. The librarian's report showed that 290 books had been added to the library. There were 11,709 books issued during the month of October, an increase of 977 over the corresponding month of 1906. The general receipts amounted to $109,011.

The report of the Finance Committee showed that accounts had been passed amounting to $85,113. The committee recommended that the tender of George Hoggack of $80 for improvements to the basements be accepted.

RIOT INQUIRY.

NO FEELING AGAINST JAPANESE SHOWN BY THE PEOPLE.

General Alarm at the Sudden Increase of Oriental Immigration as a Whole Aroused the Disorders—Japan's Position as an Ally of Britain.

Vancouver, Nov. 6.—The commission to investigate the anti-Japanese riot was adjourned this evening for about two weeks.

This morning Detective Waddell was examining the questions bearing more or less directly on the recent resolutions submitted to the City Council, declaring that the Japanese had taken forcible possession of the streets. The detective stated that had not the Japanese Consul seen in the city on Sunday night the police would not have been able to control the situation. With the exception of Sunday night he could not say positively that people were molested.

Mr. Cowan spoke at length, declaring that the investigation was picturing a condition showing that the sudden influx into the country of people who do not share the burdens of Canadian citizenship had engendered the feeling entertained by ninety per cent. of the citizens.

Mr. Duncan, counsel for the Japanese Government, addressed the Commissioner and declared that the matter had been broached by Vancouver subjects of the Emperor of Japan with the greatest consideration for the good feeling between themselves and the other residents. They looked on the recent trouble not as a result of racial feeling, but as a result of agitation by people who had not the same regard for maintaining good feeling.

Mr. King, in closing the inquiry, paid warm tributes to Consul Morikawa and Legal Counsel Duncan for the assistance received.

A gratifying feature of the investigation had been that it brought from the city officials the unanimous statement that the attack made on the night of September 7th was unwarranted, unjustifiable and greatly to be deplored; moreover, that the attack was not directed against the Japanese particularly, but against the Japanese as a whole, occasioned by the alarm in certain quarters at the sudden and large increase in the number of immigrants from the Orient.

Oriental Immigration Inquiry.
Vancouver, Nov. 7.—Mr. Mackenzie King opens an extended inquiry into the whole question of Oriental immigration on Monday. He states he will be glad to hear all persons who can throw light on the question. It is expected that the City Council and the Asiatic Exclusion League will be represented by counsel. The league will offer evidence.

LIBRARY BOARD.

Board Talks of Installing Natural Gas For Lighting.

The meeting of the Internal Management Committee of the School Board held last night the establishing of a banking system was under discussion for a long time, and was talked up, down and sideways. The Bank of British North America sent Mr. Harrison to the meeting to lay the scheme before them, and he did it in a very able manner, explaining all the details. The scheme was that the teacher in each class should take a part of one day, probably ten minutes, once a week and receive all the money the pupils wanted to deposit. The teacher was to enter it into a book and total it up and pay it to the head master, who would deposit it in the bank under his own name. When a pupil got a dollar on deposit the account was to be put in his own name. To prevent wastefulness the pupils had to have the cheques for withdrawals signed by their parent or guardian, and initiated by the teacher. Mr. Harrison pointed out that this plan, if inaugurated in the schools, would breed a spirit of thrift and economy in the pupils and a manly spirit of independence. His bank was willing to supply all stationery needed, and in return wanted the money from the schools, for which they would pay 3 per cent.

One of the members thought that this extra ten minutes a week might be taken by some teachers as an excuse for more remuneration. Dr. Carr, however, who they already had the remuneration, and it was Mr. Howell's opinion that they did not wait for excuses to ask for more remuneration.

Dr. Carr stated that in his opinion the bank who were at present before the committee deserved to have the account, as they were the oldest established firm in the city, and they had gone to the trouble of working up the scheme and getting the opinion of all the cities where this scheme was in vogue, which showed that it was a very popular and successful one. A motion made by himself and seconded by Mr. Wodell was to get all the details of the scheme together and present them at the next meeting of the Board. It was moved by Mr. Lazier and seconded by Mr. Grant that a committee be appointed to look into the matter and report on it in full at the next meeting of the committee, and that it then be passed on to the Board.

Mr. Callaghan stated that it was too serious a thing to give to the Bank of British North America all at one jump, and he thought it might be advisable to look into what interest the other banks were prepared to pay before they closed the matter. He was informed that the Government had fixed its maximum rate of interest at 3 per cent., and that this was the best that could be done. He then advanced the theory that the teachers might object to the extra work.

"Do you think that the teachers are going to throw up their jobs on account of this?" asked Mr. Wodell. "We have served them up in plush too long, and seem to forget that they are kind to do what we want them to do. It is absurd to take into consideration what they think," he added.

The two motions were put to the meeting, and Mr. Lazier's was carried. The committee appointed was Messrs. Lazier, Grant, Wodell, Carr, Howell and Ward.

Mr. Hunter, of St. Kitts, asked that some books be forwarded be placed in the schools at the price of $2 each. They were Dickens' "Charming Children," Trustee Wodell passed expert opinion on the poor quality of the paper in the books and laughed at the price put on them. The Secretary was instructed to write the owners and get more details and to make sure of the prices.

The examination of the children in the schools by Dr. Roberts was next taken up. Dr. Roberts reported that he had found 317 children with defects of one sort or another in the past two months. The system was discussed and the members were of the opinion that the M. H. O. was not thorough enough in his examination, and ways and means to get the thing properly fixed were discussed.

Mr. Grant read an extract from the Toronto Telegram which stated that the New York schools were inspected every day by a band of nurses and an army of doctors. Their plan did not seem to fit the Hamilton case, however, and was not discussed. The matter was placed in the hands of a special committee, consisting of Messrs. Carr, Wodell, Grant, Allen and Ward, which will report on it at the next meeting.

L. Berowitz and Nicholas Erdos were given permission to use some old school desks and seats in St. Mary's Hall, where they intended to teach the beginners the English language and manners.

The attendance in the school districts for the past month of October was as follows: Central 886, Ryerson 863, Hess 1,379, Cannon 1,294, Victoria homes 2, 138, Queen Victoria 1,011, Homes 95; total, 7,712. Collegiate Institute, boys 327, girls 228.

PASSED CENTURY MARK.

An Ottawa Man Celebrates His 100th Birthday.
Ottawa, Nov. 7.—Doing business at 102 years of age is the unique record of James McEvey, of 11 Pine street, Ottawa. He was born, November 2, 1805, in the County Tyrone, Ireland, and to-day quietly celebrated his one hundred and second birthday. Yesterday Mr. McEvey boarded a street car and came up town alone to transact some business at the bank. He is still in possession of his faculties, is in good health, and is enjoying life.

He came to Canada during the rebellion of 1837, and cleared a farm in Cataraugus district, removing to Ottawa some years ago. Though only ten years of age at the time, he distinctly remembers news of the battle of Waterloo reaching the north of Ireland.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-West Provinces, excepting a 20, 30, 40, 60, 80, 100, 120, 140, 160, 180, 200, 220, 240, 260, 280, 300, 320, 340, 360, 380, 400, 420, 440, 460, 480, 500, 520, 540, 560, 580, 600, 620, 640, 660, 680, 700, 720, 740, 760, 780, 800, 820, 840, 860, 880, 900, 920, 940, 960, 980, 1000, may be homesteaded by any person the sole head of the family, or male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for homestead entry must be made in person by the applicant at the office of the local Agent of Sub-agent. Entry by proxy may, however, be made on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

An application for entry or inspection made personally at any Sub-agent's office may be wired to the local Agent by the Sub-agent, at the expense of the applicant, and if the land applied for is vacant on receipt of the telegram such application is to have priority and the land will be held until the necessary papers to complete the transaction are received by mail.

In case of "personation" the entry will be summarily cancelled and the applicant will forfeit all priority of claim.

An application for inspection must be made in person. The applicant must be eligible for homestead entry, and on application for inspection will be received from an individual until that application has been received.

A homesteader whose entry is in good standing and not liable to cancellation, may, subject to the provisions of the Act, relinquish it in favor of father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister, if eligible, but to no one else on filing declaration of abandonment.

Where an entry is summarily cancelled, or voluntarily abandoned, subsequent to institution of cancellation proceedings, the applicant for inspection will be entitled to prior right of entry.

Applicants for inspection must state in what particular the homestead is in default, and if subsequently the statement is found to be incorrect in material particulars the applicant will lose any priority he may have, should the land become vacant, or if entry has been granted it may be summarily cancelled.

DUTIES—A settler is required to perform the conditions under one of the following (1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of the homestead.

(2) If the father or mother, if the father is deceased, of a homesteader resides upon the land in the vicinity of the land entered, for by such homesteader the requirement as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon the land, the requirement may be satisfied by residence upon such land.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST COAL—Coal mining rights may be leased for a period of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,500 acres shall be leased to one individual or company. A royalty at the rate of five cents per ton shall be collected on the marketable coal mined.

QUANTITY—A person eighteen years of age, or over, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1,500 x 1,500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5. At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locators may, upon making a survey made, and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 per acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 5% per cent. on the sales of mineral. Royalty mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5, renewable yearly. Application for mineral rights may be made to a druggist for gold or five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each inch of water. Rental $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2% per cent. collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. COBY, Deputy of the Minister of the Interior. N.B.—No portion of the land in this advertisement will not be paid for.

LAYMEN'S OBJECT TO EVANGELIZE WORLD.

Hope to Preach the Gospel to Every Creature Within Next Twenty-Five Years.

Movement for Missions Explained by Dr. J. Campbell White to Representative Gathering.

Probably the most thoroughly representative gathering of the Protestant denominations of this city ever gathered together was held in First Methodist Church last evening for the purpose of conferring with Dr. J. Campbell White, of New York, general secretary of the Interdenominational and International Laymen's Missionary Movement.

At 6:15 the gathering sat down to a supper prepared by the ladies of First Methodist Women's Missionary Society. Mr. Hugh Murray, president, and several laymen were present without formality. The proportion was probably four laymen to one minister, and the good ladies of "First" had the satisfaction of seeing complete church union in regard to the disposition of what they had prepared.

Supper over a little before 7 o'clock, Rev. Canon Forester voiced the sentiments of all in proposing a vote of thanks to the ladies, and also to the young ladies who had provided music. Mr. Murray, the chairman, made a few introductory remarks. Although he had presided at a great many meetings in that regard, he had never before been chairman of one for men only. He was greatly pleased to see representatives of every Protestant denomination present, as it showed the solidarity of the movement.

At the conclusion of his address, Dr. White showed a number of charts which brought out vividly the magnitude of the work and the proportion of it which should be done by the people of the United States and Canada. They showed the total giving of a year for foreign mission work to be $21,800,000. Of this the United States and Canada contribute $8,000,000; Great Britain, only half the population, $8,400,000; and as much as the United States and Canada; all other countries, $3,200,000. Eighty-five per cent. came from the English-speaking people. The number of Protestant church members in the world was placed at 40,000,000; the number of heathen, 1,000,000,000. At the rate of last year's contributions he said it would take 100 years to spend $2 on every individual heathen, and that was the amount estimated to be necessary to give each one an opportunity to learn of Jesus.

Dr. White estimated that Canada, on the basis of population, would be responsible for sending the gospel to 40,000,000 souls, if the work was to be accomplished, and the cost would be $80,000,000. Yet he challenged any one to show that there was any possible chance for any other investment that would yield such a profit—the evangelization of the world in twenty-five years.

At the conclusion of the address the gathering, after such as found it necessary to leave to attend other meetings at 8 o'clock had withdrawn, settled down to a heart to heart talk on ways and means. The upshot of the meeting was that a decision was reached to double the missionary giving this year. A rough estimate of what was contributed for home and foreign purposes last year placed the figure at $50,000.

A committee was also appointed to devise a plan to cooperate with the central committee, which consists of Messrs. J. J. Greene and F. W. Coote, representing the Methodist body; W. R. Leckie and Capt. Harty, the Presbyterians; and Morris and Sutherland, the Baptists. Rev. Forester, Mr. Murray and Rev. F. C. Howitt will be asked to name a representative from the Church of England. This committee will undertake to organize a committee that shall represent every Protestant church in Hamilton, the idea being to have one member from each upon it.

SUN DIAL PRESENTED TO PRINCETON.

NEWSPAPER OF THE JUNGLE

Big game shooting promises to take the place of bridge as the amusement of society in British East Africa is, in fact, the big game hunter's paradise. Since the building of the Uganda Railway tourists can reach the only large tract of country in the world where wild animals have been carefully preserved, and are about as plentiful as rabbits in Essex, says the London Daily Express.

The tourist can travel by comfortable steamships through the Mediterranean, the Red Sea, and the Red Sea, and land at Mombasa, where he finds a modern railway with dining and sleeping cars and all the other accoutrements of civilization. This takes him to Nairobi, where he is in the heart of the lion and elephant country. Leopards are as plentiful as toby cats and lions are three a penny.

British East Africa is on the edge of a boom as a pleasure resort, and David Garrick Longworth, the proprietor and editor of the "Globe Trotter," a paper published at Nairobi, has come to London to start the boom. Mr. Longworth has had experience in booming countries as pleasure resorts, for he was editor of the "Sphinx" at Cairo for ten years, and conducted a publicity campaign for Egypt which helped to make the mean old over the world as the ideal place to spend a winter. Lord Cromer has written to Mr. Longworth complimenting him on his work for the development of Egypt and the "Globe Trotter" has decorated him.

The "Globe Trotter," which is Mr. Longworth's latest venture in journalism, is unlike anything else in the way of a newspaper that has ever been published. Its society columns are occupied with the doings of lions, elephants, chimpanzees and other inhabitants of the jungle, and what little space is left after describing their doings is devoted to stories about parties and individuals "on safari."

Safari, by the way, promises to become a recognized addition to the English language before long. It is quite unfamiliar, but any one who has ever been on a hunting expedition in British East Africa knows all the terms that the word calls up. It is derived from the Arabic "safara," which means caravan but as used in British East Africa it means a big game hunting expedition with all the comforts of modern civilization.

The "Globe Trotter" is full of advertisements by enterprising gentlemen who wish to provide outfit for safari parties. Mr. Longworth is a guide for them or to sell them mules or donkeys or zebras, for the tame zebra is almost as familiar a beast of burden in the safari country as the horse or ass.

"Big game is our staple industry," said Mr. Longworth to an Express representative. "You can shoot it from the wing, or the Pullman cars on the Uganda railway or from the steps of your hotel, which, by the way, is equipped with electric light, lifts and everything else that you would expect in the centre of civilization. Occasionally, if the attentions of the lions and leopards are a little annoying; but, after all, that only adds a spice of excitement to life in Nairobi."

"We don't try to hush up such little matters out there. In fact, our town authorities make the most of it when a lion makes a little raid in the main street and carries off a coolie. They want to advertise the fact and to let all the world know that there is still a big game can be had for the shooting."

"Come," they say to the shooter. "Pay us $20 for a game license and we will allow you to kill or capture the following animals: Two elephants. Two rhinoceroses. Two hippopotamuses. Two zebras. Two gems. One roan hippopotage. Two kudus. Two taptis. Two hartbeestes. One lion. One sable. Two cheetahs. Two aard-wolves. Two marabouts. Two egrets. Ten antelopes of certain species. Ten chevatians."

"We have all these in stock," they say. "Where can you find a better collection outside Regent's Park, and all ours are running wild and in inexhaustible numbers."

Mr. Longworth is looking forward to the time when the news of the lions and hippos will be crowded out by the news of new arrivals to hunt them. At present the editor of the "Globe Trotter" finds his news a little monotonous sometimes, although it must have been rather exciting to those engaged in making the lion and elephant country. Leopards are as plentiful as toby cats and lions are three a penny.

PLENTY OF BABIES IN EGYPT

There is no race suicide in Egypt. From Alexandria to Assouan this country is filled with babies, round faced, solemly little tykes, who look out upon the world with great eyes that are painted with kola.

As in all Oriental countries, children in Egypt are welcomed. The more the mother, says Leslie's Weekly, the wife is not even considered a true wife until she becomes a mother.

So highly are babies esteemed in that strange country of the Nile that in the days before slavery was abolished a slave who contributed to her master's family circle a child which he acknowledged as his own thereby earned her freedom, according to the law; and in the majority of instances she was further honored by being taken as her master's wife, or one of them, and becoming entitled to the luxuries of the harem.

So frequently do babies come and so numerous are their deaths that the Egyptian Government has never been able to procure a census that was at all satisfactory, and even that recent attempt made this year cannot be accepted as an official statement of the country's population. In Egypt births and deaths are not recorded, except in the memories of those immediately concerned.

Three characteristics of Egyptian babies impress themselves upon the tourist. The first is their beauty; for, although many of them are blind or nearly so from uncleanness and ophthalmia, they are all round faced and exquisitely modeled, their features are classically beautiful and their color is exactly like bronze.

Schooling is the next most impressive feature about these little folk, for it is a most unusual thing to hear an Egyptian baby cry. Noticeable, also, is these little ones' usefulness. It would take a very indifferent person indeed to fail to notice the infant toddlers in Egypt. Not so much in Cairo or in the other large settlements, but in the stretches of country between.

From the boat on the Nile or the railroad one will see babies of two and a half and three years tending flocks of goats and herds of oxen. Too small to make known their wants in intelligible language seem to be pattering about, assisting in their small way in whatever task their elder relatives are engaged in.

In Cairo little boys of 10 and 12 years are seen in the weaving mills working the old-fashioned looms. These require considerable strength as well as skill. Also, in the furniture or turners' shops are small boys, agile like their fathers, both hands and feet in the chiseling and turning of table and chair legs, all of which is done in the most primitive manner, and by hand. The articles look like the result of skilled workmanship.

With all their earnestness and solemnity the young toddlers are happy to a degree and they apparently enjoy themselves as much as do the children who do nothing but play. In Cairo children ranging in age from 7 to 12 years are employed in carrying baskets of rubbish from the temples in Karnak, which are being cleared of the accumulation of sand and broken rock burying some of the pillars, and these children sing at the top of their voices as they struggle to and fro with their burdens tilted upon their heads.

One would be inclined to feel sorry for them were it not for the fact that the honor of being so employed is greatly coveted by the children. These children in Cairo are from 2 to 3 pence a day, and out of this trifling amount some of them have saved up quite a sum, which they bury in sand where no one but themselves knows where to find it.

Another thing which attracts the eye of the stranger in Egypt is the manner in which Egyptian babies are dressed, a Southerner expressed it. They are not cradled in their mothers' arms as are the babies of this country, but they are hoisted upon the shoulders of those carrying them, and they are dressed in simple, straight, and only scant clothing worn by any.

Although Egyptian parents of the poorer and middle classes believe in their children being useful, they are still extravagantly indulgent to them in every way. But however they are dressed and fed, the most profound respect for their parents.

Disobedience to parents is considered by the Moslem one of the greatest of sins and is classed among the seven great sins. While ignorance is more in evidence than learning there are many schools in all of the large cities and the majority of the small ones. The most important branch of education is that of religion.

The first lesson that the "waddoo," or boy, learns is that of the Koran, and how to perform the ablutions previous to prayer, and the prayers, or one of them, is generally taught by the father to his son. The girls are seldom taught anything unless they belong to a wealthy or an unusually enlightened family, when a private tutor is engaged to teach them.

An Arab school is one of the most interesting places in Cairo to visit. The children, with the schoolmaster, sit upon the floor or the ground in a semicircle, and each has a tablet of wood, which is painted white and upon which the lessons are written. When the lessons are learned they are washed out and replaced by other lessons.

During study hours the Arab schools remind one of the Chinese, for the children sit all study about, and as they chant they rock back and forth like trees in a storm, and this movement is continued for an hour or more at a time. The schoolmaster rocks back and forth also, and altogether the school presents a most novel appearance as well as a sound. Worshippers in the mosque always move about while reciting the Koran, as this movement is believed to assist the memory.

The desks of the Arab schools are odd contrivances of palm sticks, upon which is placed the Koran, or one of the thirty sections of it. After learning the alphabet the boys take up the study of the Koran, memorizing entire chapters of it until the sacred book is entirely familiar.

LONGUE POINT CHURCH.

One of the Oldest in Canada, Destroyed by Fire.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—The old and historic church at Longue Point, a suburb of Montreal, was destroyed by fire to-night. When the caretaker passed through the sacred edifice at 7 p.m. he saw nothing unusual, but an hour later the whole structure was discovered to be on fire by the villagers, and their feeble efforts could do little to stop the flames. The church was burned to the walls, and its bell fell with a resounding crash. Several attempts were made to save the sacred vessels on the altar, but every attempt had to be given up. The fire spread into the presbytery and partly destroyed it. The loss will be $75,000, which there is an insurance of $10,000. Some fifteen years ago the same church was partly burned. It was one of the oldest churches in Canada, having been built in 1729, and contained several valuable vestments and a silver altar service that was brought out from France.

Illustrates the Learned Professions.

Maston Doty lived in Cedar township forty years ago. Preachers were scarce and the demand for preaching was great. Brother Doty was a member of the Primitive Baptist Church and often filled the several pulpits on Saturdays and Sundays. He was a fluent speaker and often gave eloquent in some special cases. A lawyer who could not read was Captain William Callaway. It has not been more than a quarter of a century since he practiced in the Justice of the Peace Court in Cedar Township. He was a politician as well as a lawyer. His title was acquired during the civil war, where he was an officer in the Confederate army. Mr. Callaway could not write or draw up any papers, but he was wonderfully strong before a jury of his neighbors. He had a remarkable memory. His daughter would read him the law until he could repeat it by heart. When in court afterward he has often been seen with his law book upside down reading the statute to the jury verbatim. His argument was such as to be most convincing to the jurors, especially if the jury was packed.—Columbia Herald.
