MR. AND MRS. BOWSER.

"Humph!" suddenly ejaculated Mr. Bowser the other evening as he sat reading his paper.

"What is it?" "Nothing, except that I've been a fool."

"Why, here we've been roasting all night every night this summer in our bedroom, when the exercise of a little common sense and natural philosophy on my part would have made me comfortable."

"That's a better thing than ice. I propose to sleep in this hammock after this."

"But what was that awful noise?" "I didn't hear a sound. I got out of the hammock to lower it a bit. Go back to bed and stay there!"

"Jehikittah! but what on earth is that?" "Gawped Mr. Bowser as he sat up."

"Mr. Bowser, is everything all right?" "I asked for the window."

"Go to your mother's. My lawyer will open a correspondence with you there. I shall instruct him to deal liberally with you, can see our child two or three times a year."

FEAR INDIAN TROUBLES.

The Oregonian's special from Boise City, Idaho, says that Mr. White, an old frontiersman and Indian fighter of the Meadows, the upper end of the Long Valley,

On the 17th inst. the Nez Percé Indians under Chief Joseph and the exiles of the Indians for ten years, they were permitted to return to the reservation at Lapwai, near Lewiston.

Gov. Shoup despatched Murray to the Nez Percé reservation, as far as possible, to set a check on the Indians. He has also despatched an agent to Lewiston, giving a full account of the situation, the fears of settlers, etc.

When I first came here and had to go to the Indian reservation, I was very nervous. The Governor expressed his sympathy and caution, and says he hardly thinks affairs will come to open hostilities, but is taking every precaution to avoid trouble.

Buildings and other works are now constructed at such express speed that it becomes necessary for the workmen engaged to labor at night, as well as during the day.

Girls to be successful to-day must have something more than pretty features. The men who are worth marrying are looking for something else than pretty faces, coy manners or fetching goods.

An interesting centenary will be celebrated in the town of Parvaneck, Rhode Island, where Samuel Slater on 21st of December, 1790, virtually began cotton manufacture in this country.

How blind some persons are, to be sure! Standing in the railway station the other day, we heard no less than a score of people say, "Is this car going?"

A HINDOO MARRIAGE.

As it was growing late we felt that we had waited long enough, and prepared to proceed to bed.

The Pacific mail steamship Colon arrived, bringing some of the passengers who were on board the steamer Acapulco at the time when Barrundia was killed by Guatemalan officers.

NOT ALL IN ONE BASKET.
Reciprocity with the United States is greatly to be desired by Canadians and it is the duty of every patriotic citizen to do what he can to bring it about. Both political parties in the Dominion have declared themselves favorable to it, and among our neighbors the bulk of the democratic party and a large section of the republicans look upon it with approval. Perhaps one might say that the people in the Dominion are not in favor of it; but it has not suited the convenience of the political leaders to give effect to this desire. The tendency of public opinion on both sides of the line is towards free trade relations, and it is only necessary to exercise a little patience in order to witness the results of the strong agitation now being made.

THEY ARE LIBELLED.
There is a side to the Gregory falsehood about the purchase of members of the legislature, with money to be taken out of the Tobique Valley railway subsidy, that has not been touched upon. It is this, that it is a grave imputation against the honor of Messrs. LaBelle, Murray and Theriault. An insinuation that it is proposed to buy a member of the legislature is not very different from a direct assertion that the member in question is purchasable. When Mr. Gregory tells the people of Arthurton or Stanley that Mr. Baird proposes to buy him, Murray, he leads the people who hear him to believe that Mr. Murray is willing to be purchased, and so also in the case of the other gentlemen named. Men do not talk of buying such things as seats in the legislature, and the public will not stop to think that there is no express charge that the members referred to could be bought. It is a public scandal that a person aspiring to a place in the legislature of the province should thus scatter broadcast grave insinuations against the honor of his colleagues, which no one would be thought to be so reckless as to invent. If any one has been deceived thereby, we have only to tell them that they do not know the depths to which the Gleaner-Gregory tribe will descend.

It is to be hoped that the St. John common council will think twice before changing the name of any of its older streets. Marsh road, City road, Strand shore and some others ought to be handed out to succeeding generations. The names of streets are a part of the history of the country. Suppose the city council of New York should change Wall street to Grant avenue in honor of their mayor, or the Boston aldermen should convert Tremont street into Germania street, which no one would be thought to be so reckless as to invent. If any one has been deceived thereby, we have only to tell them that they do not know the depths to which the Gleaner-Gregory tribe will descend.

POLITICAL NOTES.
The political meeting held by Messrs. Blair and Wilson and invaded by Messrs. Gregory and Crockett afforded the two last named persons an opportunity of exhibiting a very great deal of bad taste. Why George F. Gregory should have felt called upon to hurry with headlong speed to obstruct himself upon the constituents, whom Messrs. Blair and Wilson invited to meet them Saturday evening, was a question which the thoughtful people present at the meeting asked themselves, but to which they could suggest no really consistent with respect for Mr. Gregory. It is already so thoroughly understood that the only object the latter person has in living, is to revenge himself upon Mr. Blair for not having succeeded in the impossible task of electing him to the house of commons in 1887, that it did not need his unsolicited attention at the Stanley meeting to further demonstrate the fact.

A mistake has been made by many of our Canadian journals in that, while discussing this subject, they have talked only about the financial benefits of such a treaty to Canada. This is not the way men discuss business questions. No one enters into a commercial transaction in the ordinary course of business without the expectation of profit. Usually the expectation is mutual. If it were not, people would cease to do business. It is taken for granted that each party knows that the other expects to make something, and neither takes up his time in asserting how much benefit the transaction will be to him. In this reciprocity discussion most of our Canadian papers have been content with telling what an excellent thing reciprocity would be for Canada and how in fact that without it we would go to the wall altogether commercially. This is not the way to go to work to make a good trade with your neighbor.

Reciprocity will be an excellent thing for Canada, but it will likewise be an excellent thing for the United States. When it comes to a matter of necessity, we must not be in a hurry to assert that it is more essential to us than to them. Canada does not absolutely need reciprocity; but the United States will shortly do so. Business men in the republic, the boards of trade, and public men, who are not mere party leaders, realize this. A VERY wet September is a bad thing for the country, and the present month will have to be assigned a place in that category. The wet weather has been almost universal on the continent, at least in the lower and middle latitudes. The class of products as the eastern provinces do. It is said by the Gleaner that Mr. Gregory captured the Stanley meeting and that until he appeared upon the platform there was not the slightest applause. We do not know what it is to capture a meeting, if the feat was accomplished by the great upholder of purity in elections at Stanley. It is true that after the meeting had accorded Messrs. Blair and Wilson for four hours a hearing which was both close and attentive in the highest degree, and testified to the respect with which the excellent speeches they made were received. Mr. Gregory's usual fiery eloquence, exquisite wit and side splitting humor, did appear to excite the enthusiasm of a portion of the audience to a high pitch; but the fact ceased to be surprising when it was observed that the lads of the village had been organized into an applause squad and no doubt they did their work right royally. The cue was not always rightly followed and it happened that quite accidentally most vociferous cheers came in at inopportune moments; but we do not think any reflection should be cast upon the lads on that account. If such success in capturing meetings pleases Mr. Gregory and his followers, it would be a pity to deprive them of the innocent amusement. They can continue to capture meetings after this method, but when the time arrives it will be found that Messrs. Blair and Wilson have captured the vote.

A glance at the report of Mr. Gregory's speech at Stanley, as reported by himself in his evening organ, will serve to show how timely and appropriate the applause was which the youngsters of Stanley accorded Mr. Gregory. He was applauded by the lads when he told them that Mr. Baird was to get $3000 from the Tobique Railway company and when he asserted that it was agreed that Messrs. Murray, LaBelle and Theriault were to be bought with the amount; but it was when he made the strikingly lucid assertion that Mr. Stewart would not allow him to use the statement about Baird's coming from him but he (Stewart) would contrive some way that Albert Brymer should see him (Gregory) and Brymer would tell him the same thing and then he (Gregory) could use it, that the cheers became tumultuous. This last calmly convincing declaration appeared to have been received with the most rapturous applause by the boys, but just where the point came in, the adult portion of the audience were not able to conjoin.

Canada's eggs are not all in one basket. We can produce the prime necessities of life more than we can possibly consume for generations to come. On our ocean frontiers and in the great lakes of the North-western States we have the greatest fish supply in the world. We can grow millions upon millions of bushels of wheat. We can pasture millions of cattle. We have coal, timber and iron in abundance. Such a country ought not to be a beggar among nations. If our neighbors knock at our doors to us we ought to remember that the world is wide.

The health of Princess Louise of Wales, Duchess of Fife, is giving her husband and royal relatives great uneasiness. She has recently recovered from the effects of her late illness, and suffers from almost daily fainting fits.

But while we seek for markets outside the continent, we need not cease our labors for reciprocity. We will be none the worse for two supports to our prosperity.

There is not much that the government can do directly to build commerce; though it may do much indirectly. Great Britain's commerce developed since when the cost of raw materials of manufacture, food and clothing were cheapened by free trade, and a system of postal communication was established embracing every quarter of the globe. Free trade is out of the question for Canada; but the government ought to be on the alert to see if there are not means whereby the development of our commerce can be facilitated. Australia, China, Japan, South America, the West Indies, are fields in which Canada ought to be able to do business to advantage. Our country produces what those countries require.

THE LAST SCANDAL.
We refer our readers to the Provincial Secretary's letter to be found in another column and also to those Messrs. Baird, Connor, and James and Alexander Straton. The scandal mongers will have to try again. The story told by G. F. Gregory has every appearance of having been made by him out of whole cloth; but if some one did tell it to him we venture to think it would not have been credited by any other person without some evidence to support it. We have been furnished in the report of Mr. Gregory's Stanley speech with a statement in detail of how he came to learn of this dreadful scandal, and we must confess the recital does not increase our respect for Mr. Gregory's shrewdness. Making all allowance for a keeness of appetite, which disqualifies a consumer of scandal from discriminating between an absurd and a plausible story, we must still wonder at a person of ordinary intelligence falling into such a trap and making such an exhibition of his glib tongue as Mr. Gregory has done. No person with any sense of responsibility would lend himself to the circulation of a grave and serious charge against a respectable man like Mr. Baird, without the best of evidence. Mr. Gregory says Mr. Stewart told him the story, but if he did, and this Mr. Stewart emphatically denies the telling of it to him, according to Mr. Gregory's own narrative, was attended with such funny circumstances, and coupled with such grotesque conditions, that only a person very grossly inclined for a scandal would have thought of the story a second time. This is the latest revised edition of the affair as furnished at Stanley.

It is simply deplorable that so much virtue as is embodied in this patriotic party should be allowed to languish while vicious and corrupt men like Messrs. Mitchell, Murray, Blair, O'Brien, Wilson, Ryan and the government supporters generally, are the repositories of the people's confidence.

It is stated by the Gleaner that "it was owing to the lateness of the hour and the approach of the Sabbath, that Mr. Allen did not get an opportunity to speak." That the speaking did not continue into Sunday morning, was not Mr. Gregory's fault. He told the people present that he was not averse to speaking on Sunday and if they would stay and listen he would gladly confine. But the people had some respect for the day if Mr. Gregory had none. We doubt if Mr. Allen would have spoken if the chance had offered. He was not observed at the meeting and it is not unlikely that after he had arrived on the scene he began to realize the unseemly situation into which he had been led.

THE GLEANER'S methods are pretty well exposed in a letter from Edward Jack published in another column. This taken in connection with the letters of the provincial secretary, Mr. Connor, and Messrs. James and Alexander Straton, will enable the public to judge of the value of the alleged facts, which the Gleaner publishes from time to time. The indecently publishing a manufactured interview attributing statements to a gentleman, which he never expressed or thought of expressing, is exactly on a par with the circulation of vicious slanders in regard to members of the legislature such as Mr. Gregory stands convicted of promulgating. A reference to the letters above referred to disposes of the slander against Mr. Baird. Two out of three Straton's said to have given Baird the written pledge, were in the city yesterday, and have availed themselves of the opportunity to nail the falsehood. Mr. Connor, another director, has done likewise. Mr. Baird being here also, has sent us a letter of denial. It can scarcely be said hereafter that the slander has not been emphatically denied.

THE TORONTO GLOBE has moved into new, spacious and admirably equipped quarters. This sign of prosperity is very gratifying. Our contemporary is a vigorous organ of liberal principles and is gaining strength and vigor. It has got out of the Ontario net in dealing with dominion issues and now voices the sentiments of its party ever where.

Delegates representing various foreign colonies in Manitoba and the North-west will be sent to their native countries this autumn in the interests of immigration. They will go to Norway, Sweden, Germany, Finland, Denmark, Hungary, Austria, Romania, Bohemia, Belgium and France. Free transportation will be given them by the Canadian Pacific railway and the steamship lines.

Cheap Excursions to St. John.

LOCAL NEWS.

GONE ELDERLY.—Mrs. J. A. Lynch has been able to resume her trip to Woodstock which demonstrates that it is an ill wind, etc.

THE RAIN DID IT.—The Fredericton has been able to resume her trip to Woodstock which demonstrates that it is an ill wind, etc.

SCENIC HOLIDAY.—Friday, Oct. 3rd, is to be a public school holiday, to enable pupils to visit the St. John exhibition.

DEATH OF DR. McALLISTER.—A telegram from Australia to F. C. Bristowe announces the death of Dr. McAllister, formerly of this city.

A GENEROUS GIFT.—John McKee, of Danville, has given $100 to the Victoria hospital, and says that he means to give that sum every year.

THE SOAP FACTORY.—The directors of the Fredericton soap company have decided to build their factory in St. Mary's near the end of the bridge.

THE BALCON.—McDowell's presentation of the new play, "The Balcon," will be given in the city hall on Monday evening. It will be put on.

THE SALVATION ARMY.—The Salvation Army will hold a picnic at the mouth of the Tay on Thursday, going via the N. & W. The train will leave the foot of Brunswick street at 8.30.

ELECTION PETITION.—A petition has been filed against the election of Mr. Porter in Andover. It is said that the petition falls to see as much fun in this as they did in the petition against Mr. Baird.

ON THE SCOUTS.—Messrs. Gregory and Crockett went to Andover this (Saturday) morning by early train. The object of their visit is to ferret out matter for an offset in the Victoria election protest case.

ADMITTED TO BATH.—Rairdon, who was committed to stand a few days ago for the poisoning of cattle at Canterbury, has been admitted to bath, Fred. Hale, M. P., and C. S. Ingraham being the sureties.

Y. C. R. A.—The annual meeting of the York county rifle association will be held at the range next Friday. The matches are open to every resident of York on payment of one dollar. Shooting will begin at 8.30.

THE JAPS.—The Japanese exhibition at the rink is very interesting, but nothing to go into much more. The stage performance is laughable, but below mediocrity. Of course much must not be expected for ten cents.

BITTEN BY A SPIDER.—Minnie Gregory, of Smyth street, was bitten on the arm by a black spider on Tuesday, and on Friday night there was little hope of her recovery. Her condition is attributed to the spider's poisonous bite.

DEATH OF MRS. EVERETT.—Much sympathy is expressed for B. Everett, of Long's hotel, and family on account of the death of Mrs. Everett, which occurred at Boston on Thursday. She has been absent for some time undergoing medical treatment.

RETIRED.—Boyd Hamilton has retired from the exciting world of bill sticking and bartering in the casinos, and has accepted a more congenial field. He is expected to leave his future address, Peter McGowan, has opened up Hamilton's business.

A HORSE, A HORSE.—John Edgewood & Sons have received one of those splendid imitations of a grey horse, that every one who has been in the large American cities has seen and admired. Harnessed to one of their carriages it makes a fine show in their warehouse.

MERRY RECOGNIZES.—Miss Ingram, matron of the Victoria hospital has presented each of the nurses in the institution with a very neat silver hunting case watch, in recognition of their willing services performed under pressure of an unusual demand upon them.

POSTPONED.—The show and fair to have been held in this city by District 34, on the 17th and 18th inst., has been postponed, on account of the unfavorable weather, until October 15th. All entries already made will stand good, and few ones will be received up to Oct. 11, by Harry Brockwell, treasurer.

WE HOPE IT IS TRUE.—If Samuel Napier, formerly M. P. P., and previous to that an Australian gold miner, is not astray in his conclusions, there is a large silver bonanza on Alexander Gibson's timber lands in the shape of a gold mine. It is alleged that there is an enormous quantity of very rich gold bearing quartz, which is not, in fact, by any means confined to Mr. Gibson's property. Everybody hopes this is true.

A TROUBLESOME BOY.—The lad, Myhrall, who was lately in trouble in this city for stealing, went to St. John where he passed under the name of Knight. The other evening he got into a bedroom in a Union street boarding house and hid under a bed, probably with the intention of going through the house when the inmates were asleep. Fortunately, the gentleman who occupied the room, found him and had him put out of the house.

Literary Notes.
C. D. G. Roberts has almost completed for Appleton & Co. a story of the fall of Quebec, by Philip Aubert de Gaspé.

Under the title "In the interest of peace," Mr. Lagrén will present in an early issue of the Citizen, some reasons for the removal of the censure barrier on this continent. He will also discuss some phases of the retaliation of the United States and Canada in the Chicago Interior.

Much as the militia department maintains the integrity of the dominion with as much precision as it insists upon retaining that little strip of land on George street, they offer to give the little bit of ground, which they claim, on the condition that it may be taken anytime it is needed for military purposes, the city to pay 30 cents a year rent and pay all damages sustained by the contractor who was building the fence. Such an offer is ridiculous. The land is no good to the department and never will be, while it mars the uniformity of the street. How could it do for some of the citizens to raise the question as to what rights the militia department have to land here any way?

On a Matter of Title.
Without expressing any opinion as to the truth or falsity of the charge against D. G. Smith of the Advocate, that he collected illegally his neighbor's ancient clock, it may be observed that if there is anything that a Miramichi man might be justified in appropriating, it is the clock. In the time of the new clocks and watches never ago, and a man can never tell what time it is when he is in the classic waters of that far famed branch of the St. John, as the London News calls it. A recent visitor to that locality said that there were no less than seven distinct standards of time recognized in Chatham and Newcastle, viz. C. R. time, Telegraph time, Chatham time, Newcastle time, Northern & Western time, dinner time and a high old time. He probably had the latter and stated the case somewhat strongly, but there's variety enough no doubt to make any man covet one of his grandfather's clocks, which would be more in harmony with the revolution of the earth if he is in accord with modern innovations. Seriously, if the account given in the Advocate is correct, Mr. Smith has been most scandalously treated.

SLANDERS REFUTED.

G. F. Gregory Shown to be a Malicious Libeller.

EMPHATIC DENIALS OF AN INFAMOUS CHARGE.

Edward Jack Tells of a New Gleason Outrage.

What Jas. Stratton and John Connor say.

To the Editor of the Herald:

Notwithstanding the emphatic denial of the Gregory charge against Mr. Baird in reference to the Tobique railway, which one of the undersigned made in the St. John Gazette, we find to-day on your arrival in Fredericton that Geo. F. Gregory renewed that charge at Stanley, and said that three of the directors of the T. V. R. Co. had given a written promise to the effect alleged by him during the Victoria contest.

Two of the three directors, we explicitly declare that no such promise, either written or verbal, was either asked for or given by us, or either of us, to Mr. Baird or any other person.

JAMES STRATTON,
JOHN CONNOR,
Directors of the T. V. R.
Fredericton, Sept. 19th, 1890.

Letter from Mr. Jack.

To the Editor of the Herald:

I have read since I returned home what purports to have been an interview between a Gleason reporter and myself. This is incorrect. I informed him that a large purchase of timber land had been made on the Miramichi and that the stumpage of spruce logs on that river was worth $1.25 per thousand, and that I had not yet got parties to give this if the government would take it. I also said that American lumbermen condemned the Miramichi style of log sawing.

The concluding part of the interview, which is made to consist of questions and answers, is not mine. If it had been I would have done a very ungentlemanly, improper and impertinent thing in dragging an individual's name before the public in an insulting manner.

When a person disapproves of an act done by a government, he has no right to select one individual member of that government for an attack, since the act complained of must have been the act of the whole government and not of that individual only.

EDWARD JACK.
Fredericton, Sept. 18th, 1890.

G. F. Baird Caps the Claim.

To the Editor of the Herald:

Sir,—During the election campaign in Victoria county, Mr. Geo. F. Gregory charged the Tobique Valley railway company with signing an agreement to pay me $5000 to buy the support of certain members of the legislature for a subsidy towards building said railway.

At the time I gave it a most positive denial. I supposed that as the election was over and the purpose was accomplished for which this unfounded charge was made, the matter would end. But upon my arrival in Fredericton yesterday, I learned that Mr. Gregory had at a meeting in the county of York repeated the charge, and the Gleason, which I am credibly informed is Mr. Gregory's organ, is repeating such charges. I feel in duty bound, in justice to myself, and in order that no reflection may be cast on other parties concerned, to say in the most emphatic manner possible that the whole story is an utter falsehood.

No director or any member of the Tobique Valley railway ever made such an agreement, nor was any such agreement ever made or contemplated by anybody.

Yours truly,
Geo. T. BAIRD.
Fredericton, Sept. 19th, 1890.

Letter from the Provincial Secretary.

To the Editor of the Herald:

I find the following in the report of a speech delivered by Mr. Geo. F. Gregory at Stanley, referring to what is now known as the charge of Gregory against Baird:

"After he (Gregory) had finished speaking, Mr. Mitchell addressed the meeting at Birch Ridge and there said, apparently forgetting that he had denied all knowledge of the matter, that he would tell them all about the agreement which the railway had seriously damaged the highway in building the railway and that the government had paid this $3,000 to be paid to Mr. Baird out of the subsidy to repair the damage. Now (said Mr. Mitchell) you can judge whether there was such an agreement or not. If there was, it is a pretty clear case, and I think it is a pretty clear case that there was an agreement to pay $3,000 out of the subsidy."

The above is as gross, and I believe, as willful a misrepresentation of what was said by me at Birch Ridge, as it is possible for a person to make, and I am surprised that Mr. Geo. F. Gregory should have been guilty of making it. What I did say at Birch Ridge was this: That I did not believe there was a syllable of truth in the charge which Mr. Geo. F. Gregory had made against Mr. Baird; that there was nothing in the transaction, which, I believed from my knowledge as a member of the government, would afford the slightest pretext or justification for any such charge. The only thing I said there about a $3,000 appropriation being made out of the subsidy, and which had been distorted and twisted by Mr. Gregory was this: That in consequence of the condition in which the railway company had left the highway road between Peter station and the mouth of the Tobique, the government had in its order-in-council relating to the subsidy stipulated that three or four thousand dollars, if that amount would be required, should be reserved by the government out of the subsidy to be laid out by the chief commissioner of the board of works in restoring the highway road to its former condition. It is utterly false to my knowledge that I stated that $3,000 would be paid to Mr. Baird for the highway. The statement is too absurd to have been repeated by Mr. Gregory.

Yours, etc.,
JAMES MITCHELL.
St. Stephen, N. B., Sept. 17th, 1890.

Alexander Stratton Declies It.

To the Editor of the Herald:

Sir,—In the Gleason of the 15th inst. I see a report of a speech made by G. F. Gregory at Stanley on Saturday last in which he made some statements which it would not think be well to allow to pass unnoted. Mr. Gregory is reported in the Gleason as saying:

"In speaking of the Victoria election, Mr. Baird said a charge had been made that there was an agreement signed by the directors of the Tobique Valley railway company that $3,000 should be paid out of the subsidy to Mr. Baird to buy the votes of Messrs. Lallibert, Murray and Theriault in the house; this was not made a charge against the government but against Mr. Baird, and he had authority to say there was nothing whatever in the charge. He, Mr. Gregory, would tell them what he knew about the matter, and they could judge what there was in it and whether the government was a party to it or not. On the 8th July, Mr. Stewart, president of the railway, said to him and told him that he had signed such an agreement that $3,000 was to be paid out of the subsidy to Mr. Baird that he had signed it on Sunday the 29th June and when he signed it had already been signed by three directors who were directors of the company. Mr. Stewart said he would not like him (Mr. G.) to use it as coming from him. He told Mr. Stewart he had better not have told him at all if he did not want it used. Mr. Stewart then said he would bring Albert Bryner to him or he could see Albert Bryner and Bryner would tell him the same thing and then he (Mr. G.) could use it. (Mr. G.) said to Mr. Stewart that would be of no service; he still could not prove it and he would use nothing he could not prove. Mr. Stewart then said when Bryner tells you you can use it and it has to be proved all you need do is call me as a witness and I will tell you the same thing and then he told him Mr. Stewart had told the same thing to other persons in opposition to the government and at that time Mr. Stewart

AT STANLEY.

Blair and Wilson Address a Rousing Meeting.

MAKE CAPITAL SPEECHES AND RECEIVE A SPLENDID RECEPTION.

What was intended as a gathering of a few political friends of the government at Stanley has been magnified by the opposition into an event of quite mammoth proportions.

The attorney general and Mr. Wilson, having occasion to visit Stanley on a bridge business, sent notice in advance to some of their friends that they would be glad to talk over the political questions of the hour before as many of their constituents as could conveniently get together in the agricultural hall. The result was a splendid gathering of voters. Dr. Moore took the chair, called the meeting to order and requested Mr. Wilson.

Mr. Wilson to begin the evening's discussion. That gentleman complied, speaking from 7.30 until 9 o'clock.

He said his conduct as his representative, in some particulars, had been criticised very severely, but he thought without much reason. One of the most frequently repeated charges was that he was chairman of the board of directors of the Northumberland members and that he was chairman of the board of directors of the Northumberland members and that he was chairman of the board of directors of the Northumberland members.

Mr. Blair went on to say that on examination of the record would show that the government had not taken the extreme position on the stumpage question as it is now alleged it did, and that it was not inconsistent on its part to relieve the industry. The matter settled down to whether they should fix the stumpage at a dollar, or the opposition should make in power and make it 80 cents. There was no matter of policy involved; it was a mere question of detail, and was similar to questions which frequently deal with by the federal government, which puts on and takes off, increases and diminishes the taxation on the same class of imports, as pressure from their friends and the condition of the finances from time to time may warrant. Dealing with the so called whitewash bill, he showed that the legislation was in line with what had been.

Enacted in Ontario, and although it had been said that the act was passed to kill out existing election petitions, there was not a syllable in the act to that effect, and its provisions were very much less objectionable than similar acts which had been passed in the dominion parliament by both liberal and conservative governments, expressly declared to be applicable to proceedings that were then pending.

He then took up the finances of the province, and showed that they were in a healthy condition, and that the public expenditure had been economical. He said he would be remembered that the opposition had accounted for the bringing on of the elections in January by the dread of the government to have their expenditure for the previous year discussed. This expenditure, however, which the government had all critically examined by the public accounts committee at the recent session. The vouchers, details and full information were laid before the committee. Officers were examined and everything minutely gone into, and although that expenditure covered thousands of items, was disbursed through hundreds of different hands, and amounted to the sum of $650,000. The only item that could be found to object to, was

The price of some poultry, purchased by the clerk of the asylum for the Christmas dinner. He said he was sure that that institution. Better evidence could not be forthcoming of the absence of extravagance than that.

After the speech of Mr. Gregory, who in company with W. K. Allen, John Moore and J. H. Crockett, who had driven from Fredericton, arose and said that he wanted to make a speech. The chairman said he could not do so without the permission of Messrs. Blair and Wilson, which being promptly accorded, Mr. Gregory began his speech and only stopped when midnight came and the chairman told him it was Sunday morning. Mr. Gregory said he was not particular about such things; but it turned out that the people were, and the untimely guest told him a number of young lads, marshalled by Crockett, kept up a fusillade of applause during Mr. Gregory's speech. They did not always come in at the right time; but it was better than nothing.

How to Cure a Corn
It is one of the easiest things in the world to cure a corn. Do not use acids or other caustic preparations, and don't cut a hole in your foot. It is simply to apply Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, and the corn can be removed without pain. Take only Putnam's Corn Extractor.

Toronto Takes the Cake.

Advertisement of Dever Bros. remnant sale to take place Thursday, Sept. 25th.

THE ADMINISTRATION FELT JUSTIFIED in ascertaining if a reasonable basis of agreement with Northumberland could be arrived at, and after conferring with the representatives and endeavor to remove the grievances, it had been charged that the government had refused to consider at all the northern section of the Province were agitated over this issue and had repeatedly made a question at the polls. The county consists of the four northern counties had memorialized the government on the question, and in reply to numerous delegations, and in the discussions which had taken place in the house, the government invariably stated that it would favorably consider the application as soon as the state of the revenue would permit. The revenue from the stumpage for the year 1888 had increased over the preceding year, and that for 1889 had still further increased, so that it was apparent that with a large outlay of 25 cents per thousand might be made and the revenue was still increasing from that source at as high an amount as was realized the previous year.

The Situation Then was This.
The revenue would not be less; the grievance was still as great as ever, and it was perfectly apparent that if the government declined to make any concession and give place to the opposition, a still larger reduction would be conceded than that proposed. He pointed out that no one questioned the fact of the evidence adduced that the opposition would not scruple at any cost to get possession of the seals of office. Every leading member of that party, and other members who were not leading members, were by personal assurance and by written communication urging the Northumberland members to go into opposition, and that they would do so generously by them in the

SELECT STORY.

THE PIONEERS.

By J. Finmore Cooper
AUTHOR OF "THE LAST OF THE MOHICANS,"
"THE PATRIARCH," "HOMeward BOUND," ETC.

For one instant the skiff was drawn through the water, but in the next the canoe glided below, and Natty, bending low, passed his knife across the throat of animal, whose blood followed the wound, dyeing the waters. The short time that was passed in the last struggles of the animal was spent by the hunters in bringing their boats together and securing them in that position, when Leather-Stocking drew the deer from the water and laid it lifeless from in the bottom of the canoe. He placed his hands on the ribs, and on different parts of the body of his prize, and then, raising his head, he laughed in his peculiar manner.

"So much for Marmaduke Temple's law!" he said. "This warms a body's blood, old John; I haven't killed a buck in the lake after this for many a year. I call that good venison, lad, and I know them that will relish the creature's steaks for all the betterments in the land."

The Indian had long been drooping with his years, and perhaps under the clamorous of his race, but the invigorating and exciting sport caused a gleam of sunshine to cross his swarthy face that had long been absent from his features.
It was evident the old man enjoyed the chase more as a memorial of his youthful sports and deeds than with any expectation of profiting by the success. He felt the deer, however, lightly, his hand already trembling with the reaction of his unusual exertions, and smiled with a nod of approbation, as he said, in the emphatic and sententious manner of his people:

"I am afraid, Natty," said Edwards,
when the head of the moment had passed, and his blood began to cool, "that we have all been equally transgressors of the law.
But keep your own counsel, and there are some here to betray us. See, how careful those dogs at large? I left them securely fastened, I know, for I felt the things and examined the knots when I was at the hut."

"It has been too much for the poor things," said Natty. "To have such a buck take the wind of them. See, lad, the pieces of the buckskin are hanging from their necks yet. Let us paddle up, John and I will call them in and look a little into the matter."

nouncing their walk on the mountain.
Male attendants on such excursions were thought to be altogether unnecessary, for none were ever known to offer insult to a female who respected herself. After the unpleasantness created by the parting discourse with Edwards had dissipated, the girl maintained a conversation that was as innocent and cheerful as themselves.

"The path they took led them but a short distance over the hut of Leather-Stocking and there was a point in the road which commanded a bird's eye view of the sequestered spot.
"I would give all my other secrets, Louisa," exclaimed Miss Temple, laughing and shaking back her dark locks, with a look of childish simplicity that her intelligent face seldom expressed, "to be mistress of all that those rude logs have heard and witnessed."

"I believe he accounted for their close intimacy by some story about the Leather-Stocking saving the life of John in a battle."

"Nothing more likely," said Elizabeth, a little impatiently; "but what is all this to the purpose?"

"You have heard him yourself, then?"
said Louisa.
"Other," but not on this subject. Mr.
Richard Jones, you know, dear, has a theory for everything; but has he one which will explain the reason why that hut is the only habitation within fifty miles of us whose door is not open to every person who may choose to lift his stick?"

"I have never heard him say anything on this subject," returned the clergyman's daughter; "but I suppose that, as they are poor, they very naturally are anxious to keep the little that they honestly own in the most secure manner possible. You know, Miss Temple, but you cannot know how hard it is to be very poor."

"Nor you, I trust, Louisa; at least I should hope that, in this land of abundant, no minister of the church could be left in absolute suffering."

"But it is all over now! Your father's frivolous dash at the equal to his want-it must be—it shall be—"

compliance with this unexpected order, that caused the head of our heroine to sink on her bosom; when she heard the report of the rifle, the whizzing of the bullet, and the mangled cries of the beast who was rolling over on the earth, biting his own flesh, and tearing the twigs and branches within its reach. At the next instant the form of the Leather-Stocking rushed by her, and he called aloud:

"Come in, Hector, come in, old fool;
it's a hard-lived animal, and may jump again."

"Natty fearfully maintained his position in front of the females, notwithstanding the violent blows and threatening aspect of the wounded panther, which gave several indications of retreating strength and ferocity, until his rifle was again loaded, when he stepped up to the enraged animal,
and, placing the muzzle close to its head, every spark of life was extinguished by the discharge.

"The wedding guest he beat his breast,"
and our friend came in, and beginning at
one extreme of the circle, asked questions
of each person in turn. She was allowed to ask any sort of question she pleased,
and the person questioned, in his or her reply, was given opportunity to bring deftly, and
with as little emphasis as possible, the
word which had been assigned for each of us had taken a word in order. Thus, No.
1 had "the" No. 2 "wedding" No. 3
"guest" and so on. The questioner was permitted three separate guesses as to the word on hearing the answer of each, and
you would hardly believe that the familiar
line went twice around the circle before it
was finally discovered.

Such an exercise is very much to be commended for an evening's pleasure, and pleasantry, and for the purpose of exercising those who take part in the game gather up a sheet of poetical lines which linger in the memory. Odd bits of information come to hand, and even what is not so generally known is brought to light. The Captain of Spanish America, by William Elery Chirney, has proved delightful, enlightening the attention of everybody, and giving the pleasant experiences of travel without going away from the fireside.

In summer, when the conversation on the piazza flags such quiet amusements as these come in very well to put the listless mood to flight. It is worth while to plan a little for an evening's enjoyment, so that to young and old there may be no place like home.

Improvements in Central Africa.
Letters from the missionaries in Uganda say King Mwanga has been almost wholly stripped of the despotic power which he and his fathers for some centuries have exercised. He is now of little importance in his own country. While influences are in complete ascendancy. The king can get nothing that he does not ask for from his chiefs, who are under control of the Protestant or Catholic religion. This is a great change for the young king, who a while ago killed a Bishop, imprisoned white missionaries and slaughtered native Christians by the score. No heathens are allowed to hold any office in the new government. Many of them are permitted to remain in the land, but there is not a chief among them. The great offices, of which there are six important ones, have been equally divided between the two Christian parties, and there has been great danger of serious clashing between the Protestant and Catholic sects. By the advice of both Catholic and Protestant missionaries they have, however, decided to bury their differences and work together for the good of the country. The parties have taken on each signed by the leaders, agreeing that, whatever their disputes may be, they will not spill one another's blood, but will depend upon sober arguments and arbitration to settle all their quarrels. The Mohammedan party seems to be the most defiant. Thus a remarkable change has been wrought in Uganda, where a while ago the Mohammedans ruled everything, and by their influence upon Mwanga and his successor Karema, drove the whites out of the country, and threatened to retard the progress of white enterprises and of civilization in central Africa for half a century to come.

Cholera and Grip.
News as cheering in another sense comes from Vienna where reports send word of a fine specimen of Asiatic cholera. A man, who died at Most, has been examined by the second official visit of a gripe with colic yellow. The public will be pleased to know that several modern improvements have been added, making it quite superior to the well-remembered plague of last year.
The chief feature hereafter is to be a tremendous swelling of the tongue, which will fall hardest on glutons and Zostips and will establish a suspense of their habitual operations for three days and nights. As a chose between that and the cholera, fastidious connoisseurs may choose the latter, on the principle that to die with dignity is preferable to living in ignominy for 72 hours, like gagged shrews of the fourteenth century.

NOT HARD TO LEARN.
"I suppose if I should try to ride that machine I'd break my blasted neck," said a gawky-looking fellow sitting on the dry goods box in front of the country store, as he looked at the bicycle which a city wheelman on a tour had leaned against the hitching-post, preparatory to enquiring for a bottle of soda-pop.

"No, you wouldn't," replied the bicyclist, winking at the bystander. "It's the easiest thing in the world to do. Anybody can ride one of these machines if he only thinks so."

"I want to know?" exclaimed the gawky-looking youth. "I've got to could stay on if I got on?"

"I know you could,"
"An' make'er go?"
"Of course."

"Sho! You're trying to fool me."
"Don't you want to try it?"
"An' the tourist in knickerbockers winked only once more at the interested spectators.
"How do you keep from fallin' off the darned thing?"
"An' you've to do is to climb on, start it going, and keep going. Take it out and get on."

The gawky chap climbed down from the dry-goods box, shut up his jack-knife and put it in his pocket, took hold of the bicycle awkwardly, and trundled it out into the middle of the road.
"Isn't it quite as good as one I've got at home," he said, as he mounted it and started down the road at a rattling pace.
"An' I can follow directions on it. I can start it and keep it going. It's only four feet from the ground, and I can get up for you at the pump. Good-bye."

For Over Fifty Years.
Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP has been used by mothers for their children while teething. It is not a medicine, but a rest for a sick child crying with pain of Cutting Teeth each with one and get a bottle of "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for Children Teething. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures Diarrhoea, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, cures Wind, Colic, softens the Gums and reduces Inflammation. It is pleasant to the taste. The prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is sold at 25 cents per bottle, in all drug stores throughout the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winsow's Soothing Syrup."

TALMAGE ON CHURCH CHOIRS.
My chief objection to church choir singing is that I am a firm believer in a congregation doing the singing. To me a singing church is always a triumphant church. If a congregation is silent during the services, or scarcely silent, it is the silence of death. If, when the hymn is given out, you hear the faint hum of it and there a father and mother in Israel, while the vast majority are silent, that minister of Christ who is presiding needs to have a very strong constitution if he does not get the chills. He needs not only the grace of God, but nerves like walrusbone. It is a constant source of amazement to me how some people with voice enough to discharge all their duties in the world, when they come into the house of God have no voice when they hear their duty of singing. I really believe that if all our churches would rise up and sing as they ought to sing, that where we have a hundred souls brought into the kingdom of Christ there would be a thousand.—Ladies' Home Journal.

AN EVENING'S AMUSEMENT.
We were seated in the pleasant parlor of a town house, and F—— with his violin, and mamma and little sister at the piano, had given us some very charming music. There was still an hour before the children's holiday bed time should arrive, and some one proposed that it be spent in a pleasant game of word-guessing.

The sweetest and the dearest, obliging as usual, volunteered to go out of the room while a line of poetry was selected. The line, from a stanza of "Ancient Mariner," was, "The wedding guest he beat his breast,"
and our friend came in, and beginning at
one extreme of the circle, asked questions
of each person in turn. She was allowed
to ask any sort of question she pleased,
and the person questioned, in his or her
reply, was given opportunity to bring deftly, and
with as little emphasis as possible, the
word which had been assigned for each of
us had taken a word in order. Thus, No.
1 had "the" No. 2 "wedding" No. 3
"guest" and so on. The questioner was permitted three separate guesses as to the
word on hearing the answer of each, and
you would hardly believe that the familiar
line went twice around the circle before it
was finally discovered.
