Our Grit contemporaries are exulting over the "victory" in Charlevoix, P. Q., on the 28th ult.
The facts of the case seem to be about as follows: At the general election in 1891 the late Mr. Simard, a supporter of Mr. Laurier, was elected by a majority of 307 votes, over Mr. Cimon, clergy, pointing out that the electors should support only such candidates as were in favor of remedial legislation, this session, regardless of political party. Mr. Angers who had announced him-self in favor of Mr. Laurier's commission, at once turned a somerof remedial legislation this session. In this way he gained his election : but with a majority reduced from fort they can extract from such "victories" as these.

wheat acreage in Manitoba this year as compared with la t. With barely twenty-five per cent. of the usual quantity of fall ploughing, it is not considered possible that the farmers will be able to overtake the work in the hurry of spring preparations. This we shall be disposed to regard as an evil, but like many other great evils that afflict us, it may not be without its compensating good. There will be a rush of work in the spring. Manitoba had to draw on Ontario last fall for five or six thousand laborers to assist in harvesting the immensuorops; we may have to draw on the east crop, which the increased demand of the last one made impersible at the usual time. Farmers will be loath to see their acres remain idle, and no doubt many will engage such help as may be necessary or available. If this help cannot be secured on the spot, they will have to lock abroad for it, and the department might do worse than make enquiries in the meantime issues as they present them. department might do worse than make enquiries in the meantime issues as they present themmake enquires in the meantime and put into operation the agencies at its command to assist in supplying it. Our compensating good, therefore, is likely to be an influx of the laboring population. But this is not the chief one, with all the re-

If this exceedingly great probability were made known in the proper quarters in the eastern provinces. with the insinuation that fields of ten, twenty or forty acres might be obtained at a small rental, who knows but it would be the means of inducing a number of small farmers and laborers to try their fortunes in Manitoba.
