"It has been discovered that cattle with a small touch of tuberculosis in one gland which does not in any way affect the milk producing organs, will react to the tuberculin test, whereas cattle that are completely covered with it do not react to that test at all. We have been slaughering thousands of animals which were perfectly safe milk producers, and passing over others that are a real menace. We assumed that the tuberculin test was infalible, but we now find that a physical examination of the animal is more reliable. The same applies to human beings."

"ROBIN HOOD" COMING TO THE ORPHEUM

To the character Robin Hood in Douglas Fairbanks' newest photoplay sensation for United Artists release, entitled, "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood," the star and producer has given of his best. As Robin Hood he is the embodiment in all ways of that notable personality of eight hundred years ago as we of this ultra-modern day would understand and appraise him, while the production itself, coming to the Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, realistically presents the vivid color and stirring atmosphere of that romantically adventuresome past.

"Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood" represents a real literature of the screen, genuine and historically accurate in costume and setting, and truthful in every small detail as well as in important basis.

It blends facts and fantasy, history and legend, and combines the glories of poetic and artistic beauty with an authoritative interpretation of the spirit of romance and adventure prevailing in the Twelfth Century.

It gives a vividly real impression of the romance, the conflict of emotions and the aspirations which made so memorable the period in which "Richard the Lion-hearted" ruled.

It presents a clear vision of the fundamentals that actuated the leaders of thought and action of a time when the spirit of chivalry dominated as never before nor since.

It visualizes the drama of life and its living when Robin Hood was confronted by supreme tests of his admirable valor in behalf of the Maid Marian, and the downtrodden unfortunate victims of a feudal age.

It gives, above all, the utmost in entertainment replete with all those qualities of enthralling drama, breath-taking suspense, and wholesome relieving, diverting humor.

It is a scenic replica as nearly accurate as humanly possible, present a re-creation of life and its environments in those days of knighthood.

It presents an historical background gleaned with deftness from all available records in months of the most exhaustive research, both in this country and abroad, that ever has been devoted to any cause.

AUDITORS' REPORT TO SHAREHOLDERS:

We report to the Shareholders of the Imperial Bank of Canada—

That we have audited the above Balance Sheet as at October 31, 1924, and compared it with the books and vouchers at Head Office and with the certified returns from the Branches. We have obtained all the information and explanations that we have required, and in our opinion the transactions of the Bank which have come under our notice have been within the powers of the Bank.

In our opinion the Balance Sheet discloses the true condition of the Bank and is as shown by the books of the Bank.

The above Balance Sheet does not include monies which have been set aside by the Shareholders from time to time for the purpose of a Pension Fund, a portion of which is invested in shares of the Bank.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

"Except a living men there is nothing more wonderful than a book. A message to us from the dead — from human souls we never saw, who lived, perhaps, thousands of miles away. And yet these, in those little sheets of paper, appeal to us, arouse us, each us, comfort us, open their hearts to us as brothers." — Charles Kingsley.

In an upper room, above the Liphardt jewellery store, is located the Fernie Library. If you ascend the stairs leading to Mrs. Colton's Millinery rooms, turning to the right at the top, you will see at the end of the passage the portal to our library. Twice a week, on Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9, and Saturdays from 4 to 6, the library is open with the librarian in attendance. The membership fee for one year is two dollars for adults and one dollar for children. This library contains over 1100 books—a very varied selection from which adults of children may satisfy their literary tastes. Twice a year a large number of these books are changed by the Provincial Lending Library at Victoria, thus assuring fresh books to choose from.

If you have not visited the library yet, do so. Go up and look it over. The visit will not cost you a cent. You are welcome. See first for yourself if it is worth spending $2 on.

The season of Christmas presents is approaching. Why not buy your children or friends a year's membership in the library as a Christmas present? It is big value and lasting enjoyment for the recipient. You can get a membership card from the librarian or from Mr. Moffatt at the city office.

You may contemplate giving a book for a Christmas present. Why not give a whole year full of books out of our library? In other words, turn your child or friend loose among a roomful of books for twelve months to browse or feed as individual taste prompts. This will be far better than trying to choose a book for them. Even if you do choose just the right one, it is only one, which will be read in a few days and then laid away. Buy them over a hundred books for the price of one.

The old book reading habit with all its joys, its culture, its elevating and stimulating influence is more and more squeezed to the background. The picture show, with its skimming, superficial highlights, and the radio with its varied program, concise and brief, are taking our time, but most of all, the flood of magazines, with a very deluge of short stories, stories mostly, even when at their best, too short to acquaint the reader with the characters they portray depending often on some surprise ending some peculiar literary twist, that the reader is purposely led to, so that it may be sprung. They are usually only sauce, very seldom a real meal.

Good books have time and space to develop their characters, to get the reader really acquainted with them. The characters live for him in the realm of fiction and of reality years after the book is laid away.

Do not let these newer novelties altogether push out the book reading habit. Subscribe to the Fernie Library.

FUNERAL OF MRS. CADOO

Michel, Dec. 3.—The death of Mrs. Cadoo in Michel hospital on Saturday morning at 4 a.m. caused a deep sensation throughout the camp. The previous evening she had been very happy with friends and had suffered no unusual pain. Mrs. Cadoo was a native of Scotland but came to Michel a few years ago to visit her son James, now in Fernie, and has continued to live here with her daughter.

Although a genuine Presbyterian Mrs. Cadoo was so well pleased with the spiritual food which the Rev. Mr. Garlick supplied that she attended St. Paul's English church until the night she fell and broke her leg three weeks ago. The love and respect for her was shown in the large assembly of friends who met in St. Paul's church on Tuesday morning, when Rev. Mr. Garlick conducted the service over her remains and the whole congregation felt the strain deeply.

The pallbearers carrying the casket to the station were Messrs. Leroy, Elliot, Scott, Frew, Huntley and Wright. The burial took place in Fernie cemetery and the services there were conducted by Rev. Mr. Garlick.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cadoo of Fernie, and Mr. and Mrs. Orr, of Michel, were the principal mourners. Mrs. Cadoo has left two sons in Scotland, John and Tom, and one daughter in Montreal, Mrs. Margaret Ralston, with Mrs. Orr here in Michel.

FREE LECTURE ABOUT TEETH

The Local Council of Women announce their next Well Baby Clinic will be held on Monday, Dec. 8, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the city hall. All mothers of Fernie are invited to come to this meeting and to bring their babies and children under 7 years. The children will be weighed and measured and standardized. Free health literature will be given out.

At 3 p.m. Dr. Ewart Gee has kindly consented to give a short popular talk on Dental Prophylaxis, that is, on the prevention of decayed teeth and dental deformities. Either before or after the lecture by Dr. Gee, he will examine the mouths and teeth of all the babies and little children present at the clinic.

Any mother who wishes to prevent suffering for her child is urged to take this opportunity to have the mouth of her child examined by an expert. According to modern science we cannot begin too soon to look after the teeth of a child. Also, modern science tells us that many diseases are caused by decayed teeth.

The Well Baby Clinic is for the good of the citizens of Fernie, so anybody interested in the welfare of Fernie is invited to come. It is hoped that mothers will come as soon after 2 p.m. as possible but they will be welcome any time between 2 and 4 p.m. at the city hall next Monday afternoon.

HOME BANK MEN TO JAIL

Toronto, Dec. 1.—C. A. Barnard, of Montreal, director of the defunct Home Bank, was this morning sentenced by Judge Coatsworth to 18 months and six months less one day in the Ontario reformatory following his conviction on three charges arising out of the failure of the bank. Unofficial legal comment was to the effect that the sentence was imposed in that form to avoid the necessity of sending Barnard to the penitentiary.

The sentence on Barnard is imposed in this form:

"Eighteen months imprisonment in the Ontario reformatory with an indeterminate period thereafter of six months less one day."

"Lieut. Col. Clarence F. Smith, of Montreal, another convicted director, was sentenced to six months in the Ontario reformatory and an indeterminate period thereafter of six months.

Sydney H. Jones, of Toronto, auditor of the defunct bank, was sentenced to four months in the reformatory and an indeterminate term of four months thereafter.

The four men were convicted on various charges arising out of the finding that false returns had been made to the government regarding the condition of the bank's affairs in the two years which preceded its suspension in August, 1923.

When court adjourned there had been no explanatory comment from the bench on the sentences.

A motion that the serving of the sentences by Barnard and Smith be deferred pending the hearing of appeals will be heard by the appellate division at Osgoods Hall this afternoon.

Toronto, Dec. 2.—Discussion here of the exact significance of the sentences imposed yesterday by Judge Coatsworth on C. A. Barnard and C. F. Smith, of Montreal, directors of the defunct Home Bank, and on Sydney H. Jones, its chief accountant, has evolved a concensus of opinion that the fixed sentences of 18, 6 and 4 months, respectively, cannot be shortened except by the clemency of the department of the ministry of justice. The additional indeterminate sentences of six, six and four months, respectively, however, can be shortened, legal men believe, by the parole board on its own authority.

Barnard and Smith are at liberty today on temporary bail, pending hearing of their application for permanent bail tomorrow morning. An appeal against their sentences is being entered at the higher provincial courts.

Jones is in the city jail here. It is expected that he will be sent to Guelph reformatory to serve his sentence and that the other two, if their appeal fails, will also go to that institution.

MALNUTRITION

We said last time that we would talk about causes of undernourishment which were to be found in the home. Now a child may be underweight because it has some disease of the blood, lungs, heart, or kidney. Such a case should be under the supervision of a qualified physician, but if you have taken your child to a doctor and know that your child has no such disease mentioned above the nutrition expert, Dr. Wimmiam Emerson says the cause of undernourishment may be one or all of the following causes:

1. Presence of physical defects, such as decayed teeth. Defective breathing through throat trouble, nose trouble or narrow chest. Air is as necessary to the body as food, and the air passages must be open wide to let in the air. Also, defective eyesight in time affects a child's breathing. All these defects can be repaired.
2. Lack of home control. Dr. Emerson says that some parents are no longer the directors of their homes. The children do as they please.
3. Over fatigue. Some children do more than play and go to school. They are up late, going to too many shows, etc.
4. Insufficient food taken by the child (probably has plenty offered him); or incorrect food taken or irregular food habits.
5. Faulty health habits — too numerous to tell.

Dr. Emerson also gives these ten "contributing causes of malnutrition" :

1. Fast eating.
2. Improper food.
3. Too many sweets.
4. Irregular food taken.
5. Not enough food taken.
6. Uneven amounts taken at various times.
7. Washing down food with liquids.
8. Using milk to quench the thirst. (Milk is a food and should be taken with food solids).
9. Too long between meals.
10. Insufficient breakfast.

It will be seen from the above that the home causes given by Dr. Emerson can easily be remedied and that with very little trouble those interested can raise the standard of health of future Canadian citizens, and thus be doing important national work.

IN MEMORIAM

Hall—In Loving Memory of Stephen Hall, who was killed Dec. 3rd, at Nordegg, 1923.

Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Tears in silence flow,
For the memory that keeps you near us,
Though you left us a year ago.
Friends may think that we forget you
When at times they see us smile,
But they little know our sorrow
That the smile hides all the while.

R. W. Wood is in New York on business.

W. R. Wilson arrived home today from a trip to the coast.

A. B. Trites attended the big mining convention in Spokane this week. He was one of the presiding officers.

Mrs. R. W. Wood, who is in Vancouver, will leave in a few days for Toronto, where she will spend the winter.

Supt. Caufield of Coal Creek says the fire in one of the mines there has been fully extinguished and the place closed up.

There will be a whist drive and dance in the basement of Christ Church, Tuesday, Dec. 9, at 8 o'clock. Admission 50c.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society will be held on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. Corrie.

W. A. Ingram is holding the opening dance of the season in his hall on Tuesday, Dec. 9. Dancing from 10 p.m. till ? 50c admission. Evans four piece orchestra.

Remember the date, the time and the place, Tuesday, Dec. 9, at 10 o'clock, Ingram's Hall. Good floor, peppy music. "Oh! you know the rest."

The monthly meeting of the Past Noble Grands will be held in the I. O.O.F. Hall on Wednesday, Dec. 10, at 2.30 p.m. Election of officers. All members please attend.

The remains of the late Mrs. Cadoo, whose demise was reported last week, were laid to rest in the Fernie cemetery on Tuesday, Rev. Garlick, of Michel, officiating.

It is expected that the curling ice will be ready for service in a day or two. There are only 16 regular rinks in the draw this year, but there are some ten unattached players.

A quiet wedding took place on Saturday last when Mr. Edward R. Blake, of Saskatchewan, was married to Miss Helen Rudnicki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Rudnicki, of Fernie.

Bishop Doull of Kootenay was the speaker at the Rotary luncheon on Monday last. He took for his subject the motto of Rotary, "Service Above Self," and for twenty minutes gave a most impressive and eloquent talk.

The government road work up to date is employing about forty men from Fernie. There has been quite a lot of dissention among those seeking employment, but now it is done by drawing lots and is working out more satisfactorily.

St. Agatha Girls Club, of Christ Church, and the Girl Guides, always ready for service and good deeds, very kindly made beautiful posters for the Well Baby clinic; some for the stores to advertise the clinic and some to decorate the walls of the clinic.

The Women of Mooseheart Legion will hold their installation of officers on Friday, Dec. 12 in the lodge room at 7.30 p.m. All members of the Loyal Order of Moose are cordially invited to attend. A social evening will be held after the installation.

Business: Nomination and election of officers for the coming year. Our M. E. C. will provide refreshments after the meeting in honor of little Irene.

Unsatisfactory evidence for the prosecution led to the dismissal of the charge laid against J. E. Wilson of Kimberley of exposing intoxicating liquors for sale in the Glen Cafe, on information laid by operatives of the B.C. Liquor Control Board. The finding of His Honor Judge Thompson upsets the decision of Police Magistrate John Leask, who previously sentenced the accused to a six months term in jail. — Cranbrook Courier.

Dr. A. S. Lamb, Government Hospital Inspector, was in town over the week end, when he inspected and approved the private hospital opened recently by Dr. Asselstine.

The Elks Christmas Cheer dance held on Monday evening was a real top notcher. Unfortunately the floor space was inadequate to accommodate the patrons. All credit is due the committee in charge.

Reports from Vancouver state that Bishop Wilson, under expert tuition there, has developed a wonderful tenor voice and that it will not be long before he makes a name for himself as a singer.

Robt. Livett, International Board Member of the U.M.W. of A., was in the city on Wednesday. Bob is not very enthusiastic over the coal mines situation and has no solution to offer for the present trouble.

Philip Carosella says that Cokato is the finest place in the country for growing vegetables and his crop this year bears out his statement. He says any man can make a good living there with a small acreage.

The house formerly occupied as a Nurses' Home has been opened as a private hospital by Dr. Asselstine for the accommodation of those depending on him for hospital treatment. This hospital has been approved by the Workmen's Compensation Board.

A pretty wedding took place at Holy Family church Wednesday morning last when Rev. Father McKenna united in marriage Elizabeth eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Sloan of this city, to Homer Joseph eldest son of Mrs. M. Bishop of Missoula, Mont. Ernie Bishop, brother of the groom, was best man, while Miss Catherine Sloan, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid. After a sumptuous wedding breakfast the young couple left on the morning train for Southern points.

This district is being flooded with men from the prairies, who are coming into East Kootenay by the hundreds. While conditions are good throughout the district with more men working in the woods than ever and the Sullivan mine at Kimberley employing over one thousand men, this district cannot absorb all the surplus labor from Alberta. The statement that the Fernie mines will be closed indefinitely has also caused many from that section to flock to Cranbrook and Kimberley. Vancouver also has its share of unemployed. In one week eighteen hundred men from as far east as Winnipeg found their way to Vancouver and Victoria, with the result that the government is again being asked to resort to the dole system. Whilst there are many deserving cases at the coast, the habit has been established of pan-handling all winter by many. The dole system compels a man to lose all self-respect and ultimately makes a bum out of him.—Cranbrook Courier.

WOMAN ESCAPES FROM RUSSIA

"She came into the room looking like a frightened bird that has come out of the night and in at the window of a home." So writes Stephen Graham, a London Times correspondent, in telling the story of one Russian refugee he was asked to help. Here is his story of how it happened and what he did:

Rowno is in Southern Poland, 30 miles from Soviet Russia. I was there one night, and seeing that the cathedral in the midst of the town was all lighted up, I went inside. A wedding of two Russians was being solemnized, and it lasted an hour and a half. Two tall men held crowns above the bridegroom and the bride, while they with bent heads supported a large Bible upon their brows, the priest holding it with one hand and reading the appropriate gospels. I liked the fine old face of the priest and all his movements; so when the service was over, about 10 o'clock, I followed him to his house in the cathedral close.

This was Father Rogalsky, a wise and gentle personality; to use his own words, not only priest but, as it were, counsel and lawyer and adviser and friend for all sorts who come to him for help.

I think he had the true Russian faith that everything is arranged by God, and he therefore accepted a tiresome visitor, late as it was, gladly and freely.

"Perhaps you can help," said he with inspiration. "I have a lady here just out of prison. You know Z——; ah, well, his niece. She escaped from Soviet Russia; tramped through the big Shepatowka forest, was robbed on the frontier, but got here and came to me. Within an hour of her arrival she was arrested. She was 24 days in the administrative prison, and we have just managed, with God's help, to get her out. Her trouble now is to get a passport to go to Siberia, where her husband, an ex-officer of the Guards, is earning a living by lumbering."

He went out and called her. There came into the room a young woman, scantily dressed, looking like a frightened bird that has come out of the night and in at the window of a home. The priest left us, and she told me her story.

She became separated from her husband in 1919. He was on Denikin's staff. With the White Army he retired to Noverossik, and later, with Wrangel, retired to Constantinople. Then he was transferred to Serbia. She remained with her child in the capital, and, thanks to a false passport, was unmolested, got work as a clerk at six chervontsi a month. Lived on hope. Then her little girl took scarlet fever and died. There was nothing to hold her in Russia. She felt terribly lonely, and decided to run for it. So she sold all she had and realized all that was laid away, and with a hundred-dollar note set off for the south, got out two stations before the frontier, and bravely struck westward for Poland. She entered a great forest, and all went well till the second night, when she met a man in sheepskins with a gun on his back. He called two others, and they robbed her of all she possessed.

"It was a terrible ordeal for me," she said. "They pointed to a bush and made me take off everything. They took away the note I had tied round my waist. They tore out the lining of my cloak. They took my blouse, my undergarments. It might have been worse. I have to thank God. They did not destroy me. They gave me back my skirt and the lining of my cloak and told me I could go. 'Who are you?' I asked. 'We are the forest chiefs,' they said. No one else attacked me. I lived on apples for a while, but was obliged to go into villages for bread. The peasants all recognized an escapee; gave me food; told me which way to go to escape the police, to escape being asked questions. So late one night I got into Rowno. I could not think to whom to go. So I went to the cathedral, came here. How thankful I was! I had some food. I had a bath and had just got to bed when the police arrived. I put on the skirt and the lining again and they took me away."

"You must have wept," said I.

"I wept, oh, yes, I was in despair. Twenty-four days I was in that prison with a crowd of other Russians, all starving. Many had been back and forth several times on the Russian frontier. One old woman, Anysia, over 60 years old, has been seven times taken to the frontier at night and left there, and come back again."

What an impression of heroism and misery! The strange frightened bird sat on the divan and was silent. Then the priest rejoined us. He had that faith in God which repels all pessimism. He knew no reproach, praised the Poles for their kindness, and with a mild, radiant look calmed the woman, who had got excited and freshly alarmed by the telling of her story.

The upshot was I stayed a day longer in Rowno than I had intended, and wrote a letter to the Serbian government. Incidentally we paid a visit to the prison in the muddy street behind the town and took a loaf of bread and some meat for the unfortunate Anysia.

NEW MEXICO'S BIG CAVE

An underworld wonderland surpassing in size, sublimity and beauty anything of the kind hitherto known is reported from New Mexico by Dr. Willis T. Lee who has just returned to Washington after a summer spent in surveying and mapping a portion of the caverns which run under the Guadalupe mountains near Carlsbad, in that State. We read in Daily Science News Bulletin:

"Dr. Lee and his associates, working under the auspices of the National Geographic Society, traced the ramifications of the main cavern, an underground avenue about a half-mile wide, for two miles under the mountains. How much farther it extends is unknown. A great number of smaller avenues branch off.

"There is every indication, Dr. Lee said, that the discovery of the Carlsbad Cavern is just a start of the wonders which further exploration of the Guadalupe mountain region in southeastern New Mexico and western Texas will disclose. Texas has already taken steps to set aside her section as a State Park. It is probable that the mountains are honeycombed with subterranean recesses, Dr. Lee said.

"Dr. Lee found the caverns of Guadalupe mountains the home of a prehistoric civilization. Two skeletons have been sent to the Smithsonian Institution for identification. Other skeletons, buried in baskets, were found on shelves in the walls. The people who inhabited the caves are believed to have been close relatives of the basket-weaving people further west. The caverns are a geological and biological treasure-house. There are literally millions of bats, blind crickets, and worms and spiders of hitherto unknown species.

"Entrance to the cavern is now very difficult. It is necessary to climb 1000 feet up a mountain side and then go down through a hole in the roof in a guano bucket for 170 feet. A walk of about two miles is then necessary over very difficult flooring before the end of the main cavern is reached. The avenue leads downward through great chamber after chamber until one is 800 feet below the surface of the earth outside. At this point the avenue drops off abruptly 90 feet. This has to be negotiated with a wire ladder. Mr. Lee explored a series of basement chambers never before seen by human eye.

"The cavern is in dense darkness. The temperature remains all the time at 50 degrees Fahrenheit."

TROTSKY NOW TAKING THE BACK TRACK

Emma Goldman has recanted; Lenine recanted a great part of his original soviet program; and now Trotsky is attacked by high officials of the soviet government for having departed from pure bolshevism and party idealism. Trotsky has written a book, "Lessons of the 1917 Revolution," and it is branded as hersey by his critics. As it is published under the ostensible protection of the communist party and comes from a member of the party's political bureau that directs the work of the communist internationale, it is condemned as creating a danger for the bolshevist party.

Trotsky is accused of attempting to take Lenine's mantle for himself. But Trotsky was reluctant to come to Lenine's readjusted point of view. Even Trotsky held out for defiance of immutable economic laws. The Russian bolshevists tried to repeal those laws and failed. Lenine and Trotsky had the understanding to see that they were attempting the impossible and the courage to confess their errors. They saw that the soviet government of Russia could not repeal economic laws and if they persisted in the impossible attempt those economic laws would destroy Lenine and Trotsky. Hence their readjustment; hence the repeated compromises which the Russian soviet government has made with capital and private property; hence the absurd and impossible position of the soviet government, with one foot on communism and the other on the principle of private property. — Spokesman.

A SURVEY OF BUSINESS

President and General Manager Address Annual Meeting of Imperial Bank of Canada

BANK HAD A GOOD YEAR

Mr. Peleg Howland, the President of Imperial Bank of Canada, in addressing the Annual Meeting of Shareholders on 26th November, said in part—

It is with considerable satisfaction that we lay before you the Report which you have just heard read, for the year we have passed through excelled perhaps in difficulties the previous one. There has been a shrinkage in business, which has meant a reduction in commercial loans, besides a curtailment in the number of transactions from which banks derive a share of their revenue.

Taxation

There has been no reduction in taxation. The taxes paid during the year by the Bank to the Dominion and Provincial Governments exclusive of Sales Taxes and Stamp Taxes were in excess of $220,000, or more than three per cent on its capital—this is taking no account whatever of the very large Municipal and Real Estate Taxes paid.

Canada's Crops

Field crops in Canada this year, taken all in all, have been good, in Ontario particularly so. With the prices prevailing this Province rurally can seldom have been better off and the effect must soon be felt in the demand for goods. Quebec and Eastern Provinces, too, are agriculturally favoured. In the Prairie Provinces there has been produced a moderate crop, much short of last year, except in Manitoba. With the good prices some headway will be made, and part of the load of debt incurred from overprosperity will be lifted. The growth in the production of Dairy Products and Eggs and Poultry in these provinces continues, and is of the greatest importance in making the farmer less dependent for existence on grain alone.

Further Readjustments

Altogether, I am under the impression that we are approaching a period of improved business, but I cannot convince myself that that lengthy period of prosperity for which we are all hoping will begin until further readjustments downward of price levels; until production costs in the old and the new world are nearer together and until there is a more unhampered exchange of commodities between the nations of the world.

Moderate Sized Banks

There have been two more Bank mergers or absorptions recently consented to and which will be completed shortly. The number of chartered banks will then be twelve. Will this movement go on? It is hard to say. Surely there is room for moderate sized Banks carefully conducted. The Public has the matter in its own control, and can by its patronage or the withholding of it determine the question.

The Dominion Government, too, which professes to oppose as a policy further reduction in the number of Banks, can do something by distributing its business. We all pay proportionate taxes and provide certain services gratuitously as provided by law, and are equitably entitled to a greater share in the benefits derived from Government finance.

Just here I would like to emphasize that greater size does not always indicate greater strength. Take our own case—we are in an exceptionally strong position.

Fifty Year's Service

Finally perhaps I may be permitted to repeat in effect, what I took occasion to say last year. This Bank will within a few months have been established half a century. It has reached the respectable dimensions it now has without the absorption of any other Bank, except the Niagara District, and that was part of the original plan when starting. It has progressed by the diligent and careful work of those associated with its management. It has not been backward in the Pioneer work as evidenced by its early reaching out into the great Northwest country and the mining districts of Northern Ontario. Its management is now in my opinion aggressive and progressive, but not lacking in the necessary conservatism. I believe the Bank has given service to the community which has been for good and that it will continue to do so. I do not expect or believe that it will lose its identity in any movement in the future and I expect and believe that those that replace us, whom time must before long remove from active participation in its affairs, will be faithful to the traditions of the past.

The General Manager—Mr. A. E. Phipps, following the President's Address, then said in part—

In view of the adverse conditions it is with a great deal of satisfaction that we are able to bring forward today a statement showing that the earnings of the bank have amounted to the substantial sum of $1,107,889.99 and that after making the customary deductions for Pension Funds, etc., and providing for heavy Dominion Government taxes we are able to carry forward a somewhat larger sum than was carried forward last year.

Strengthened Reserves

During the period of deflation since 1920 which we hope is soon coming to an end, we have not been immune from losses, but you will be gratified to know that we have not only provided for all bad and doubtful debts without drawing on the substantial inside reserves held by the Bank at that time, but have materially added to them during the period.

Deposits Satisfactory

The deposits, which of course are the portion of the bank's business most likely to be disturbed by untoward conditions and which last year showed a shrinkage of $1,650,000 are again somewhat less, the total being $88,123,096 compared with $89,442,750 in 1923 or less by approximately $1,300,000. I am glad to say that whereas last year the falling off was in our public deposits the decline this year is altogether in the balance maintained with the bank by the Dominion Government, which is actually some $1,315,000 less than it was a year ago. Our ordinary Current Account and Savings Deposits, which, following the Home Bank disaster, were shrinking a year ago and which continued to shrink until the turn of the year, since that time have shown improvement and, notwithstanding the fact that we have closed a number of offices, are actually some $500,000 more than they were last October, and I feel they will continue to grow. Our returns show that there has been a substantial increase in the number of our depositing customers during the year. The deposits of all the banks, according to the Government Return of September, show a decrease for the year of $27,564,581 or 1.5%; the deposits of the Imperial Bank of Canada have decreased 1.4%, so that we fully held our own, something which we construe as a well-merited mark of public confidence.

Cash and Liquid Assets

Turning to the other side—that is, the Assets: In Cash on Hand and at Bankers, Notes and Cheques on Other Banks, Deposits in the Central Gold Reserves and other instantly available assets of that kind we have $27,153,070.69, practically the same sum as a year ago, although our Liabilities are nearly $3,000,000 less. It equals 28% of our total Liabilities to the pubic compared with 26% last year. When we include our secondary Reserves such as Government and other Bonds, Call Loans, etc., we have $58,951,118.69 of readily available Assets compared with $55,785,358.66 in October, 1923, an increase of over $3,000,000, a percentage of 58.5% compared with 54% in 1923, a very strong position indeed I think you will agree

WATER NOTICE

(Use and Storage)

TAKE NOTICE that The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. of Canada, Ltd., whose address is Kimberley, B.C., will apply for a licence to take and use 1,000 cubic feet per second and to store 14,000 acre feet of water out of the Elk River, which flows southerly and drains into Kootenay River about 3 miles south of Waldo, B.C. The storage dam will be located 2770 feet south of, and 70 feet east of the south west corner of 6677. The capacity of the reservoir to be created is about 14,000 acre feet, and it will flood about 300 acres of land. The water will be diverted from the stream at a point about 2770 feet south of and 70 feet east of the S. W. corner of 6677, and will be used for power purpose upon the Sullivan Mine, described as Lot 2999 and Lot 6626. This notice was posted on the ground on the 28th day of October, 1924. A copy of this notice and an application pursuant thereto and to the "Water Act, 1914," will be filed in the office of the Water Recorders at Fernie and Cranbrook, B.C. Objections to the application may be filed with the said Water Recorder or with the Comptroller of Water Rights, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., within thirty days after the first appearance of this notice in a local newspaper. The date of the first publication of this notice is Nov. 7th, 1924.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

POLL TAX PROPOSAL

Mr. Charles Woodward, one of the Vancouver members in the provincial legislature, advocates a $10 poll tax on all men in British Columbia. Are the Liberal members of the legislature so bankrupt in ideas that every proposal that emanates from them must involve some new or increased tax? The people are surfeited and bludgeoned with taxation as it is. They are bled white with the manner in which their money-making powers are milched, and, indeed, to give purpose and meaning to a statement made by the Minister of Finance, they are so stupefied by loss of the red corpuscules of finance that they would not know they were heavily taxed without constant reminders from the Conservative party of the province. That is, of course said in derision. The people know, by the economics, they are dragooned into practising because of governmental demands, that taxation is depriving them of incentives to develop their fortunes. They know that much of the money collected from them is wasted in unbusinesslike ventures, and that too large a proportion of it is passed out to keep friends of the party in power loyal in their allegiance to Liberal policies. The people know that they are taxed to keep the wheels of the party machine well oiled, and that is one of the reasons why the heavy burden is so much resented.

Perhaps Mr. Woodward is simply trying to be facetious in suggesting added taxation at this stage of British Columbia's problems. If he is, he has chosen a subject that is a poor one upon which to exercise his wit. The poll tax is notoriously and historically unpopular. It led to rebellion in England when it was first levied there. It was finally abolished by William III at the period of the Revolution because it was recognized as a grievous impost and one that went against the grain of the people. In the same breath as that in which his proposal of this tax was uttered, Mr. Woodward expressed regret that the personal property tax was not abolished. He and his fellow members could have accomplished that abolition in caucus had they been so minded, so that pious regrets expressed in the open, especially when accompanied with a new taxation proposal, hardly illustrate any very benevolent desire to relieve the people of British Columbia of the taxation incubus which is stunting the development of the province.—Colonist.

Here and There

A contract has been let in Alberta for the erection of fifty cottages for Hebrideans who are coming in the spring, on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, between Edmonton and Red Deer, and on the Hardisty line, as far east as Strome.

The dances, customs and folklore of Old Quebec are still alive and show no signs of decline. Thousands of persons recently witnessed a performance of these at the Monument National, Montreal, and joined heartily in the well-known choruses which have made the picturesque aspect of Quebec world-famous.

The piledriver Tarzan is rapidly nearing completion at the B.C. Marine, Vancouver, B.C., and will be ready for launching soon. This piledriver will be the largest in the world. It is being built for the Sydney Junkins Company for use in the construction of the new pier B-C for the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Erected at the cost of $200,000, one of the handsomest marine terminals of the Canadian Pacific Railway was recently completed at Victoria, B.C. The terminal houses the general offices of the British Columbia Coast Service of the Canadian Pacific. The main building is 122 feet long, 54 feet wide and three storeys high, with a fourth storey erected centrally over the structure.

Russia will never again rival Canada as a wheat exporter, according to L. W. Lyde, Professor of Geography at London (England) University. He believes that grain growing in future lies with the Canadian farmer. Russia cannot properly supply its own needs. Prewar export of wheat was purely artificial, drawn, not from a natural surplus, but from the needs of a very poor and ignorant peasantry.

A twenty per cent increase in the business over the Dominion Atlantic Railway, serving Nova Scotia, was the approximate summary of the summer's travel recently given by F. G. J. Comeau, General Traffic Agent of the line. This is attributable to the growing appreciation of the beauties of the Annapolis Valley and the charm of the Evangeline county among tourists everywhere.

Mother, does the young man next door have a godfather?

Not that I know of, dear.

Well, that's funny. Last night I heard him having an argument with somebody and he kept on saying, "My godfather."

THE FIRST NEGRO JUDGE

An epochal scene will presently be enacted in one of the divisions of Chicago's Municipal Court, point out several editors, when there will ascend to its bench Albert Bailey George, the Negro just elected Municipal Judge on the Republican ticket by 470,000 votes. In the past a Negro here and there has been appointed judge, notably Robert H. Terrell of Washington, we are told, but this is the first election of one to a regular judicial office.

At a time when religious and racial hatreds in the United States are a red heat, says Lester Walton in the New York World, this marks far more than a victory for the Negro race. It is regarded in Chicago by white and colored voters alike, says he, as a victory for tolerance. The enrolled Negro vote of Chicago, he points out, does not exceed 60,000. Yet George's plurality over his nearest opponent ran up to 78,000. It proves, according to the World, that the majority of white voters considered the candidate's eligibility for office "lay in fitness and character —not the color of his skin." It was "a victory for the American spirit of fair play."

The career of the tall, broad-shouldered man of 51, with the "fine high forehead, deep eyes alight with intelligence, and straight hair, gray at the temples," thus brought into the limelight, is etched in by Philip Kinsley of the Chicago Tribune, as follows:

"He did not mix in partizan politics in a ward which is the most highly organized, politically, in the city, where the political power of the Negro has won preferment for many of his brothers. But there came political opportunity last spring when the county central committee of the Republican party sought a man who would arouse no antagonism and who had a record that could not be touched. George accepted their offer."

No superman, even to his own people, as he would be the first to admit, continues this writer, he is of that middle class that is the bulwark and hope of Afro-American life—"a Christian with the motto of service in his heart." Born in Washington, D.C., Oct. 23, 1873, of approximately half-white blood on both sides of his family, we read, George graduated from public school and high school there, from the Northwestern University Law School in Chicago, in 1897, and has since worked hard at the practice of law in his dusty little book-littered office. He has identified himself, says the writer, with the Provident Hospital, the Masons, the Urban League, and every movement for better understanding between the races. He has been superintendent of the Grace Presbyterian Church Sunday School. His candidacy for judge was indorsed by the Bar Association.

That he will probably sit in a court where most of the prisoners will be of his own color, seems to be assumed. The Negro Louisville News quotes Chief Justice Harry Olsen of Chicago to the effect that "the colored people of Chicago are entitled to have one of their own number hear their cases."

Judge George's ancestors were slaves in old Virginia. His success, says the Chicago Tribune, "has sent a thrill of hope through the black belts—a new incentive to work and decent living." It is considered "a milestone in the journey of the negro race out of the wilderness of slavery, an application of the principles of democracy which may point the way to better things for both races."

WHAT'S THE HURRY?

At a meeting to discuss the safety of pedestrians a witness remarked: "In the old days if anybody missed a stage coach, he was contented to wait two or three days for the next. Now he lets out a squawk if he misses one section of a revolving door." It's the truth. We are in such a hurry that half the time we don't know where we are going. We would rather stub our toes than take the time to pick up our feet. We dodge through traffic in the middle of a block rather than spend thirty seconds in reaching a street crossing. Men go from Toronto to Vancouver and write back that they made the trip in three hours less than last time. We jump on and off moving trains. We eat fast, ride fast, talk fast, walk fast, dance fast, sleep fast—and die fast. What's the hurry? There are still 24 hours in a day even with daylight saving. A straight line is the shortest distance between two points, according to the mathematicians, but why confuse life with geometry? Wait a minute.

Economical for Cooking

THERE is no waste with Carnation Milk. It stays fresh in the can indefinitely and for several days when opened. It serves in place of cream at breakfast and later in the day will add richness to your cooking.

Carnation is just pure fresh milk, evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization. By adding a little more than an equal part of water you have milk of natural consistency for every milk use.

Order several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans from your grocer.

DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE: 4 egg yolks, 2 cups sugar, ⅔ cup water, ⅓ cup Carnation Milk, ⅔ cup butter or substitute, ¼ teaspoon salt, 4 egg whites, 2¼ cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 4 squares unsweetened chocolate, ¼ teaspoon vanilla.

Cream the butter or substitute, add the sugar gradually, then the well-beaten egg yolks. Add alternately the milk, diluted with water and flour mixed and sifted with baking powder and salt. Add melted chocolate and vanilla, then the stiffly-beaten whites of eggs. Bake in a loaf from 45 to 50 minutes. This recipe serves from twelve to fifteen people.

Most headaches due to lack of internal cleanliness

WHEN you are constipated, poisons form in the accumulated food waste and are carried to all parts of the body. Headaches follow. Biliousness, insomnia, lack of energy, all result from constipation, which if unchecked will lead to serious results.

Avoid Laxatives—Say Doctors

A noted authority says that laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition.

Medical science has found in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative, and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

WHY MEN MURDER IN THE UNITED STATES

Chicago is beginning its greatest drive against crime. Every thief, gunman, burglar and confidence man is to be rounded up and punished, according to news reports.

All that may help. But the real reason for violent crime in the United States is the lassitude of American courts. And the reason for the lassitude of American courts is a tradition of internecine murder that hangs over the whole country like a cloud and will not be dissipated until time does its work.

Illinois in general and Herrin in particular are first-class examples of this murder tradition that to a greater or lesser degree in common throughout the whole country.

Herrin is not a foreign settlement. In blood and genealogy the people of Herrin are no different from the people of those English cities where crime waves are unknown and crime records fall to their lowest ebb.

But three or four generations of pioneering and a generation devoted to the civil war, have implanted in the psychological inheritance of South Illinois people a tradition of murder unrebuked that only generations of peaceful progress can work out.

"Bloody" Williamson County, in which Herrin is situated, was settled by the descendants of Englishmen. Once across the Alleghenies they passed beyond the reach of law. They were a law unto themselves. They settled their differences with the Indians by the rifle. In time they came to settle differences among themselves by the same means. At the close of the civil war, Williamson County, near the border between the North and South, was rent by feuds. These feuds were carried on into politics.

And today the tradition of not punishing men guilty of murder lies like a curse over the whole community.

The tradition of like killing like created by the civil war, by the exigencies of pioneering and by the necessity for primitive justice in the earlier days, lies like a curse over the whole of the United States.

At heart, Americans are decent, law-abiding and devoted to justice.

But the curse of Cain is one of those sins that seems to be visited upon the children even into the third and fourth generations. And only time will wipe it out.

IS THIS FERNIE?

Sir—The above question was asked at the depot last week and at present seems to be a good one. Looking back a few pages, I find the following in the Fernie Free Press, February, 1911: The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. last month paid out their record pay roll, viz., $180,000. What town is there in Canada of the size and population of Fernie that can boast of a steay pay roll of from $130,000 to $180,000 per month. Today people ask, Is this Fernie? Strange what changes time brings. A few years ago the G.W.V.A. petitioned the provincial government for a raise in the wages of the road workers and were successful in having them raised from the Fernie rate of $3.50 to the Vancouver rate of $4.00 per day, or 50c per hour, after a one day strike. But what do we find now? What I am about to term legalized scabbing. It appears some supposed responsible government has handed out a few thousand dollars of the B.C. taxpayers money to be snowed under in the Fernie district. A joint committee has been formed to deliver the goods. Now, Mr. Editor, they have or are trying to draw in the Vets to assist in placing men on the roads in the district until the taxpayers' money is exhausted. This to take the form of relief for distress cases, and the first list of eight men for Crow's Nest contains three that have just been working and are not hard up, but in the clique. These men, along with other Onion men—I almost said Union—did not want their war time wages reduced, so they decided to come out on strike with disastrous results to Fernie and the industry. We now are finding them falling over themselves in an effort to scab on the poor road man, whose war time wages have been reduced from $4 to $3.75 per day, and find your own blankets. No wonder Sherman smiles. When Mr. Murdock was at Calgary, Sherman said he would soon have the operators eating out of his hand. What about the men? Whose hand would they eat out of today or what job would these so-called union men not scab on. It is about time the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. stated what terms the mines can work on at a reasonable profit, and let the men sign on again that wish to work on those terms and resume operations. The law could look after any undesirables around town. A few bottles of free beer amongst the minority is responsible in a large measure for the state of Fernie today and the suffering of the women and children. Yet you still find official live guys coming round town saying: Do not vote for him, but vote for me. These men toil not, neither do they spin, so get them off your backs as soon as you can. Their cancer has too good a hold in the district; it can and will cripple everything but their own aims. Then after you release your hold the benefit will soon be found in your city, in your home life and throughout the community. Throw out this scabmakers union and leave the taxpayers money where it belongs. You will need no man's charity.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Our hockey team are putting in strenuous practice these days in contemplation of joining the Fernie city league. Some very clever stick play was witnessed on Sunday last.

The aroma of venison permeates the atmosphere as the result of the prowess of our local nimrods.

Bishop Douall of Kootenay held confirmation service in the Anglican church up here on Tuesday evening, there being eight candidates for confirmation. An enjoyable social evening, with the usual tea and cake, was held after the service.

This camp has added its quota to the number for employment on the government road work, the local committee choosing out the most needy cases for preference.

Jim Robson of Fernie was a visitor to camp on Wednesday.

Our hockey team sure look neat in their new uniforms.

The hockey game between Coal Creek and the Fernie Bluebirds scheduled for Wednesday afternoon had to be abandoned owing to three of the Bluebirds not arriving. A good practice game was held, resulting in a win for the Coal Creek representatives.

Owing to the present state of the camp financially and otherwise, the board of management of the Club has perforce to postpone the kiddies annual Xmas tree distribution indefinitely.

All members of the G.W.V.A. are requested to attend the annual meeting and installation of officers on Sunday evening next at 7.30 p.m. The executive will meet at 3 in the afternoon.

The regular meeting of the W. A. of the G.W.V.A. will be held in the Vets rooms on Tuesday at 7.30 p.m.

Installation of officers of the Women of Mooseheart Legion will take place on Friday evening, Dec. 12, to which all brother and sister Moose are invited. There will be a social evening held after the ceremony. Be on time at 7.30 p.m.

International Dog-Sled Derby For February

In a guide to "The City of Quebec" one reads that among other things Quebec is celebrated for its horse races, which for more than a century were organized and kept going by the wealthy officers of the British crack regiments stationed there on garrison duty, and that the organization of the Quebec Turf Club dates back to 1789. Horse racing is still a seasonal attraction to the Ancient City. The Fall meet brings horses and racing enthusiasts from practically all over the continent, and has done for years, but the native Quebecer is inclined to enthuse more over the trotting races that take place when the snow is packed hard on the course. Then there are horses he knows and really belong to him. Horses from "way back", perhaps.

One has only to attend a trotting meet in Quebec to know just how much of the true sporting spirit is inherent in the French-Canadian. It is not always the one who has placed most money that is the most vociferous as the trotting nags near the post. Racing is in their blood. They excitedly shout their favourites name, and wave their arms for its encouragement, and if it wins,—all right. If not,—all right, it's a darn good horse, anyway.

It is perhaps the enthusiasm for the race shown by the people of Quebec that is responsible for the continuance of the Eastern International Dog-Sled Derby, held annually in that city. The Derby is supported by winter sportsmen from all over the continent, and entries are made from all parts of the continent upon which snow falls to stay for the season; but without the support of the people of Quebec the event could not be the great success it is. On the three days for which the Derby is scheduled, everyone who can declares a holiday and gets as close to the starters' stand as is possible for the crowd, and when the dogs come panting home, it is not so much the visitor at the Chateau as it is Jean Baptiste of Quebec who cheers them in.

This season's Eastern International Dog-Sled Derby has been definitely scheduled to take place February 19, 20 and 21st. As in former years the distance to be covered will be 120 miles, at the rate of 40 miles more or less each day. Earl Brydges, winner of last year's Derby with the Ontario Paper Company's team, will defend his honors in the face of much competition. An American team won the gold trophy in 1922, and it is expected that several teams will try to regain it for the United States. Possibly fifteen or more teams will try to keep it from going across the border, including one of five Alaskan huskies which is being entered by two McGill students. This is headed by "Dan Jo" which led three teams to victory in three sweepstakes in the Yukon district last year.

The upward path is naturally difficult; you may know you are going down hill when your way is easy.—W. E. Orchard.

Patience and strength are what we need; an earnest use of what we have now; and all the time an earnest discontent until we come to what we ought to be—Phillips Brooks.

MINERS BREAK FROM U.M.W.A.

Since our last issue local mining circles have undergone some very drastic upheavals, with the result that the outlook for an early resumption of work in the Coal Creek mines is much brighter, the opening up of operations now practically awaiting the arrival of a confirming wire from Mr. Wilson, who is now negotiating for big outside contracts.

The movement among the men, which commenced some time ago, culminated last Friday when a petition containing the names of over 150 miners was presented to Mr. Wilson requesting that he attend a mass meeting of the Company's employees in the Isis Theatre on Saturday, and explain the situation now existing in the coal markets.

Complying with this request, Mr. Wilson attended the meeting and addersed the men, more as fellow citizens than employees. He spoke for nearly 45 minutes, giving a very enlightening talk upon the whole situation. He pointed out that owing to the very low cost of fuel oil, this product had supplanted steam coal on many of the markets. Steam coal markets which remained were being supplied from West Virginia and the Pacific coast, where the cost of production was much lower than in Fernie, allowing the operators to quote lower prices for their product and consequently buyers had not renewed contracts for Fernie coal. He also stated that owing to industrial strife employees of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. had lost over two million dollars in wages during the past ten years. Answering a question, he stated that he was unable at present to give any definite statement as to what a lower wage scale would do for the local miners, but added that if this Company was able to compete in the coal markets on a reasonable basis, the coal mining industry could, without a doubt, be stabilized within the next twelve months.

A unanimous vote of thanks was given to Mr. Wilson for his address, following which he left the theatre and Chairman H. A. Bryant then opened the meeting for discussion.

A resolution reading, "That we, the miners of Fernie and Coal Creek, sever our connection with the United Mine Workers of America and organize a Canadian Union, and appoint a committee from this meeting to negotiate an agreement with the management of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., Limited," was regularly moved and seconded and ballot papers passed around so that a secret ballot could be taken. The vote resulted in 294 voting for the resolution, 15 against and 12 spoiled.

The committee appointed by the meeting, Messrs. Bryant, Sawyers, Bella, Wheeler and Lees, got in touch with the management of the Coal Co. that evening and were presented with a proposed scale of wages which the Coal Co. believed would allow them to recover contracts and resume operations at Coal Creek. This scale which carries a considerable reduction over the present scale, is based upon a 55 per cent increase over the wages in effect during 1914, and was presented to the men at a subsequent meeting held on Tuesday, and received the unanimous approval of the men, who invested full power in the committee to carry on negotiations.

Immediately after Tuesday's meeting, the miners committee communicated the result of the ballot to the management, and commenced signing on the men as members of a new organization which will be known as the Miners Association of British Columbia, and up to the present time they have the signatures of over 400 Coal Creek employees who by signing have shown their willingness to accept the proposed agreement and return to work. This number represents a big majority of the miners at present in Fernie, and it is expected that when the men who have left the city to seek other employment return, without a doubt, they will fall in line wih the action of the local men.

GOMPERS DIES IN MEXICO ?

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 11.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, died this morning near San Luis Potosi, according to a dispatch to El International, a Spanish language daily published in El Paso.

The dispatch stated that the veteran labor chief had succumbed to illness resulting from a severe cold and his overworked condition.

The message to the paper came from Mexico City and was not confirmed from any official source. Officials here questioned the reliability of the information contained in the message.

DIES FROM INJURIES

Thomas Puckey, aged 17, died at his home in Coal Creek early Wednesday morning from injuries received in an accident at the Coal Creek mine tipple Monday afternoon.

While there was no eye-witness to the actual accident, the unfortunate lad was found pinned between two cars of coal on the tipple, where he was employed. Apparently he had been working one car when the other came from behind, crushing him severely just below the waist. An effort was made Tuesday evening to save his life by an operation, but this proved unsuccessful.

Puckey was a member of the Fernie Boy Scout Troop, acting as patrol leader to the Coal Creek patrol, and for the past three years has been a member of the troop's prize winning first aid team. He was working on the Coal Creek tipple aiding in the support of his widowed mother, his father also having been the victim of a mine accident.

The funeral will take place on Monday. Service in the English church at 2.30 p.m.

WELL BABY CLINIC

The council chamber at the city hall on Monday was transformed beyond recognition. Where the city fathers sit around an austere looking table in artistocratic arm chairs and work out the destinies of Fernie, were to be found future citizens of Fernie. On the massive table where the worthy city clerk reads the minutes of the city archives, one saw a white sheet and several little future citizens lustily voicing their objections to the weighing and measuring done by the School Nurse and her able volunteer citizens from the Local Council of Women and the associated women's organizations of Fernie.

The walls of the council chamber were decorated by artistic posters by the C.G.I.T., the Girl Guides, the St. Agatha Girls and the Little Mothers League Clubs of Fernie.

In the middle of the afternoon Dr. Gee came and gave a very instructive and interesting talk about children's teeth. He stressed the importance of caring for the milk or baby teeth, for they served as guides for the permanent teeth. He said that many irregularities of jaw and teeth were due to two things. First, neglect of the baby teeth and 6 year molars; and second, bad habits of children from babyhood in putting their hands to their mouths and faces while resting, thus causing the jaws to crowd in a peculiar way.

After the talk Dr. Gee very kindly examined the mouths of the babies and little children and gave individual instructions to each mother. Many interesting pictures, X rays and literature about teeth were handed around to those present.

Seventeen babies attended the clinic and about 30 mothers. Although owing to the hard times the School Nurse will not be here next time, the Local Council of Women will hold the clinic as usual on the second Monday in January, 1925.

For many little ones last Monday will be a turning point in their lives, for defects were found which can easily be remedied at little or no cost, and thus give them a good start in life and in school.

The School Nurse said that while performing her duties at the school she often came across cases which would have been a thousand times better if they had been taken to a well baby clinic before starting school. This well baby clinic is surely a great part of school education, for it helps at the very foundation of the school, with pre-school children.

The warm wave and heavy winds yesterday and last night have brought the river up close to high water mark. The East Kootenay Power Co. dam in course of construction at Elko has been badly damaged.

SHERMAN DON'T LIKE IT

Calgary, Dec. 10.—The negotiation of a new agreement between the Fernie miners and W. R. Wilson of the C.N.P. Coal Co., was a direct violation of the agreement entered into by W. R. Wilson and the U. M. W. A., said Wm. Sherman, president of District 18, in the course of an interview with the Lethbridge Herald's representative on Wednesday. an agreement which was witnessed and signed by the Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor.

"Of course we shall do everything possible to retain our organization in that region," he said.

Asked what steps the organization would take, Mr. Sherman said it would be for them to decide.

"I can hardly yet believe that Mr. Wilson has gone so far as to openly violate the agreement entered into with the U.M.W.A., and has negotiated a separate agreement with his employees," said Mr. Sherman.

"If it is exactly true it is the most flagrant breach of contract we have had in the history of the district. We will certainly continue our efforts to reorganize the men there."

R. M. Young, commissioner of the Western Canada Coal Operators' association, in the course of an interview, stated he had no information from the company regarding the action taken at Fernie between the employees of the C.N.P. Coal Co. and the company. "The only information I have," he added, "is that in press dispatches. I may say, however, that during the negotiations preceding the settlement of the strike in this district, Mr. Wilson, the president of the C.N.P. Coal Co., and his representative, Mr. Caufield, made it plain that the Coal Creek mines would not be able to operate on the basis of the reduction of $1.17 per day. This was repeatedly emphasized not only to the miners but to the minister of labor, Mr. Murdock, as well as to Premier Greenfield at the concluding sessions of the negotiations.

"In spite of this," said Mr. Young, "no special consideration was given to the situation in Fernie, and the inability to secure a market was confirmed by the notice posted some time ago by Mr. Wilson that the mines at Coal Creek would be closed down indefinitely. Apparently the men at Fernie preferred to ascertain from the company on what basis the mines could work and to negotiate on that basis for their reopening than accept as final the association's wage scale, which meant the permanent closing of the Coal Creek mines."

Mr. Young added that Mr. Wilson was quite within his rights to close his mines if he could not find a market for his coal at a figure at which he could operate, in fact it was the only course left open to him. The subsequent step was taken by the men themselves and the making of a new scale at Fernie was preceded by the men withdrawing from the U.M.W.A.

WELL KNOWN COUPLE WEDS

St. Maries (Idaho) Gazette: Miss Edna Harrison and A. Tipton Smith were united in marriage at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Smith, on Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock. The bride came in on the arm of Dr. O. D. Platt, who gave her away. The bridesmaid was Miss Florence Smith, sister of the groom, and the best man was Carol Clawson. The wedding march was played by Sidney Darst and during the ceremony soft violin music filled the room. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles E. Gibson of the Methodist church, the solemn and impressive ring ceremony being used.

The bride was charming in blue and silver chiffon brocaded velvet and carried a beautiful bouquet of pink rose buds. The bridesmaid was prettily attired in a blue and cream colored dress.

The house was artistically decorated for the occasion with cedar boughs, Oregon grape vines and pink rose buds. Lights were all covered with pink wedding bells. The wedding took place in a cedar bower in one corner of the parlor.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served in the dining room. The same decorations were also carried out in this room. The wedding cake was prettily decorated with pink and white ornaments and was surrounded by smilax.

Those present for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Smith, parents of the groom; Dr. and Mrs. O. D. Platt and daughter Agatha; Mrs. Perry Jasper and daughter Helen of Cusick, Wash., sister and niece of the groom; Miss Florence Smith, Mrs. Frank Hamm, Charles Gibson, Carol Clawson and Sidney Darst.

Miss Harrison came to St. Maries from Fernie, B.C., about nine months ago and has been employed as nurse at Platt's hospital. She is a graduate of St. Eugene hospital at Cranbrook B.C.

Mr. Smith is well known in St. Maries, having come here about 11 years ago. He is employed by the St. Maries Mill Co.

The young couple left for Spokane Wednesday evening and from there will go to Fernie, B.C., where they will spend their honeymoon visiting relatives of the bride. They expect to be gone about two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are planning to make their home in St. Maries upon their return.

B.C. CABINET DECIDES ON RELIEF VOTE

Victoria, Dec. 7.—Premier Oliver has announced that a supplementary estimate for $151,000 to be spent by the public works department in unemployment relief, will be introduced in the house tomorrow.

The situation in Fernie, to which Tom Uphill, Labor member for that district, drew attention in the house late Friday, will receive special consideration, the premier said, after yesterday's emergency cabinet meeting to deal with unemployment.

"Most of the money will be spent in works," Mr. Oliver said, "but in instances of real distress, where no work can be done, we may have to resort to the dole system. We cannot expect more than 50 per cent of efficiency on work done under this vote under the circumstances.

HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

The Literary Society held one of the best sessions of the term on Friday, Nov. 28. The program consisted of a recitation by Edward Coughlan and a play entitled "Wanted—A Servant." The parts were well prepared and well acted. Those taking part were: Helen Sewell, Mary Easton, Verdant Snow, Gladys Bean, Dorothy Corrie, Jack McPhee and Alex. Fisher.

E. S. Martin, the President of the B.C. Teachers' Federation, made the presentation of prizes won last term by two first year pupils who were in the public school at the time of the competition. He stated that out of six prizes offered by the Forestry District, four were won by the Public School of Fernie. Audrey Mills received a diploma and John Carlson a silver medal. Mr. Martin made a short and telling speech in connection with the presentation. He referred to the splendid co-operation that had existed between the High and Public school pupils during the term.

The next speaker was A. I. Fisher. In his usually eloquent manner, Mr. Fisher drew a picture of life in the real and imaginary troubles which are encountered in the freshman year. The hazing he said was best met by a very humble spirit. There was also, he explained, a lack of personal relationship between the students themselves and also between the students and the professors. The burden, too, of understanding the lessons and remembering them was placed upon the learner himself. Work was given in large assignments, and larger fields were covered in each lesson. In some universities students who did not make good were not permitted to continue their course. Much valuable advice was also given by Mr. Fisher on the value of the opportunities in the High School.

Sincere appreciation of the address was voiced on behalf of the Literary Society by Albert Markland, in moving the vote of thanks, and Havelock Fleming, who seconded it.

The Thursday evening basketball practice will be omitted for the remainder of the term.

Christmas exams. start on Dec. 15 and will last for one week.

Jas. Davidson, of the P. Burns staff at Lethbridge, is spending a couple of weeks with his parents here.

James Wilson, who robbed the Union Bank at Foremost of $10,000 in cash and other securities, got nine years in the pen. Directors who defrauded the Home Bank of Canada out of millions got 18 months.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

THE will to pay is hereditary, just as red hair or buck teeth. It is a common fallacy that a man pays his debts because he has money. This is not necessarily true. On the contrary, the matter of paying has only a remote relation to money.

On the one hand is your friend with abundance of money, who can not be cajoled, threatened, beaten or gassed into paying the most ordinary debt.

On the other hand, the poor fellow without a visible dollar—you know him—who is Johnny on the Invoice. Money has little to do with either case. It is the breed of the man.

The man who pays is the man who thinks in advance. He never flashes a roll; he does not drive a car and carry a mortgage at the same time; he does not hang up the butcher, or the grocer, for food that he cannot afford to eat; he never lights the fire without wondering where the coal man gets off. He never throws the Bull, nor pitches the Bull, nor gives notes nor writes checks dated tomorrow, but when the bills come in, he is there with the coin of the realm, God bless him.

Sometimes he feels sore at the rest of us. He does not see that he gets on any better than the fellow who skins as he goes. Still he goes on and on, pays and pays, simply because it is in the breed.

And after all, the world does think a lot of his breed. The man who pays is the bulwark of society. He is the balance wheel of civilization. He is the mainspring of commerce. Business blesses him and he has honor among men for all time.

A certain editor of a paper in B.C. was threatened with a libel suit some time ago and made a thorough investigation of the libel law, coming to the conclusion finally that he could be sued for libel for almost any item of news.

He began looking for a way out. Gradually, ye editor wrote up his item in a manner to comply with the letter of the law.

One morning ye editor's subscribers were greeted with this account in their favorite journal, of a swell reception given by one of the grand ladies of their home town:

"A woman giving the name Mrs. J. C. Jones, who is reported to be one of the society leaders of this section, is said to have given what purported to be a reception yesterday afternoon.

"It is understood that a considerable number of so-called guests, reported to be ladies noted in society circles, were present, and some of them are quoted as saying they enjoyed the occasion.

"It is charged that the firm of Bower & Black furnished the refreshments and Stringham the alleged music.

"The hostess is said to have worn a necklace of alleged pearls which she declares was given her by her husband."

COAL CREEK NOTES

The special late train from Fernie on Saturday night proved a great boon to the Creekites as it enabled them to attend the evening show.

The whole populace, augmented by a large number from Fernie, assembled at the rink on Sunday last when the local hockey team played the Fernie Bluebirds. After a well fought game the visitors retired victors by a score of 5 to 1.

The visitors to the rink on Sunday last were loud in their praises of the splendid sheet of ice up here and compliments were lavishly paid to the committee in charge.

We are pleased to report that Mrs. A. Atkinson is progressing favorably after her recent accident which resulted in a broken arm.

"TOURIST BRIDES FROM JAPAN"

Sir—The following is presented to British Columbians as an illustration of what the Japanese will do to evade the immigration laws.

The provisions of the new U. S. immigration law excluding aliens ineligible to citizenship was intended to prevent, among other things, the continued entry of new wives who did their part in increasing the Japanese population of the U.S. by becoming mothers of average families of five.

But the Japanese have already found a way to evade this intent of the law by sending over women as tourists, who play the part of wives while here for the six months stay permitted as such tourists, then return to Japan, to come again next year as tourists. So in turn we had "Picture" brides, then "Kankodan" brides, and now "Tourist" brides. Doubtless the visits will be so timed that the children will be born here and thus acquire American citizenship.

The following translation is from the Seattle Japanese newspaper, Taihoku Nippon, Nov. 5, under the heading, "Instead of wives being sent for, Tourist women coming to America increasingly:

"Since the new American immigration law went into effect last July, the Japanese in America have been absolutely unable to take their families with them to America, and so they have been carefully studying the matter and as a result have discovered that there is a provision of the law under which women of proper character may visit America as Tourists. Recently mates for Japanese in America, under the name of tourists, have been appearing one after another, expecting to spend six months or a year in America. The other day the S.S. Arabia Maru took an excursion party of nine women of this class. When the fixed period of their stay in America ends these women will leave their husbands and return to Japan to await opportunity to return to America again. From now on this class of women will be going back and forth across the Pacific in considerable numbers." H. T.

THE COST OF WESTERN COKE

Trail, Dec. 7.—Denying that the Trail smelter is guilty of "the attempted murder of Fernie," or that the 100 or 150 tons of coke used by the smelter daily make or break, or are even a major factor in the operation of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. mines, S. G. Blaylock, general manager of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. of Canada, stated today that there was something radically wrong with the situation in the western coal fields when British Columbia coke cost more than three times Pennsylvania coke at the ovens. With only a double price, the Crow could supply every western smelter, he said. The Trail business lost by the Crow's Nest company, he intimated, was a minor item compased to the loss of the G.N. patronage in steam coal, and the loss of the prairie market.

Developing these points, Mr. Blaylock said:

"From press dispatches it would seem that many politicians were conveying the impression that if the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. could be induced to buy Crow's Nest coke, the Coal Creek mines would be reopened.

"The Consolidated company only use from 100 to 150 tons of coke per day. As far as I can make out, the Fernie coke ovens were shut down five years ago, since which time this coke has been furnished from Michel. Consequently, it is a question whether buying the coke from the Crow's Nest would affect the Coal Creek situation.

"The price of coke in the Crow's Nest Pass at the ovens is $9.48 for a product which is not one bit better than can be bought in Pennsylvania for from $2.50 to $3.20. There is evidently something radically wrong with the whole situation in the western coal fields. There is no possible reason why it should cost more than three times as much to produce a ton of coke in B.C. than in Pennsylvania.

"From statistics published during the last two or three years it is quite evident that far too many local mines are being operated, and this undoubtedly is the main reason why the price of coal and coke is so exorbitant.

"The average coal miner in B.C. is working less than half of the week days, and the price of both coal and coke is more than 100 per cent higher than it was prior to the war.

"The high prices of coal and coke in B.C. are probably the greatest single detriment to industrial life in the province, and are one which must be overcome before the province can take its place as a producer.

"Undoubtedly Fernie's situation is serious and is worthy of very careful consideration. If Fernie could produce coal and sell it for even double the price that is received for it in Pennsylvania they could supply all the Western American smelters with coke. On the other hand, these same western smelters, particularly the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., have got to produce metals and sell them in the open markets of the world.

"The loss of Trail's 100 tons of coke is not of much importance when compared with the loss of the coal for the G.N. railway and the prairie market. All of these losses are due to the high cost of production.

"One or two hundred tons per day would be far too small to consider the opening up of a mine for, particularly when Michel is not working up to tonnage."

HOMESTEADS ARE BEING FILLED UP

Free grant homesteads and soldier grants taken up in the four western Canadian provinces this year, up to the end of October, represent well over half a million acres—to be exact 592,480. In Manitoba 475 homestead and 62 soldier grant entries were recorded; 1500 homesteads and 281 soldier grants in Saskatchewan; 980 homesteads and 176 soldier grants in Alberta; and 195 homesteads and 27 soldier grants in B.C. In the number of homesteads taken up the figures show an increase over those for last year of 402, and soldier grants were 553, compared with 462 for 1923.

Head and Chest Colds Relieved In a New Way

Inhaled as a vapor and, at the same time absorbed through the skin like a liniment, Vicks VapoRub reaches immediately inflamed, congested air passages.

This is the modern direct treatment for all cold troubles that is proving so popular in Canada and the States where over 17 million jars are now used yearly.

BUMP IN N. S. MINE

Amherst, N.S., Dec. 7.—Twenty-seven miners were entombed and one man killed, in the No. 2 slope of the Springhill mines yesterday afternoon following one of the worst bumps in the history of the mine.

The earth tremors occurred shortly after 12 o'clock. The heavy fall of earth that imprisoned the party of miners took place on the 500-foot level east, in the top pillar on No. 4 decline.

Four bumps in quick succession brought down the roof of the mine, cutting off the miners working at this point, and crushing John Sweeney beneath the debris.

Volunteers immediately endeavored to rescue the men, but were driven from their task by another bad bump.

After this tremor subsided the miners returned to their work, and cleared the way through the fall effected the release of the imprisoned men, many of whom were badly bruised by the falling stones.

The body of John Sweeney was not recovered until late this morning. He was found buried in rocks and dirt. The bumps caused earth not only to fall in No. 2 slope, but on the surface as well, and it resembled an earthquake.

Numerous bumps have occurred within the past few weeks and on three occasions men have been injured.

A "bump" in a mine gallery is one of the most dreaded of the lesser difficulties that beset miners, and the tunnel in which Saturday's accident occurred has been subject to these occurrences. Through some disturbance of the earth, the carefully walled and propped tunnels are choked up by earth from all sides, accompanied by earth tremors. Only a few months ago Premier Armstrong of Nova Scotia, who is also minister of works and mines, brought an expert on "bumps" from Washington to try to ascertain the cause of these frequent occurrences at the Springhill mines.

NOTRE DAME LINKED WITH ROMANCE

Many interesting and little known facts about the romantic history of the ancient Cathedral of Notre Dame were brought to light during the exhaustive research work conducted as a prelude to the filming of Victor Hugo's classic, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," which is booked for a limited engagement at the Orpheum Theatre, starting on Wednesday next.

One of the most interesting of these legends is concerned with the monarach Prudentius. Notre Dame stands on the site of the oldest basilica of the capital, constructed even before the Cathedral of Sainte Etienne Martyr, which was long considered to be the most ancient. Excavations made under the present Cathedral and on the Place de Parvis Notre Dame, especially those of 1847, confirm this fact.

The original edifice consecrated to Notre Dame was built by Prudentius, and was a basilica without a transept, the roof being sustained by columns of marble and pavements decorated with mosaics. At the end of the sixth century the both churches were standing, so near each other that they almost touched. The basilica of Sainte Pierre and Sainte Paul, built by Clovia, was on the summit of the hill on the slopes of which stood the Palais des Thermes.

The legend relates that Prudentius, having selected the site, measured the ground to be devoted to the church by hurling his francisque, or double-headed battle axe, to the utmost point his strength permitted. He did not live to see it completed but the work was finished by his widow, Clotilda. It was Maurice de Saully, Bishop of Paris who in 1163 demolished the ancient basilica and laid the first stone of the present structure. Pope Alexander III presided at the ceremony.

Ask for Crown Brand Corn Syrup—the first Corn Syrup manufactured in Canada and still the first in quality today. No Syrup on the market has a more attractive flavour.

If you prefer a light coloured Syrup, more closely resembling honey, ask your Grocer for — Lily White Corn Syrup—not only a table Syrup, but valuable for preserving, using half Lily White and half Sugar—Write for pamphlet covering also its use for infant feeding.

(Both packed in 2-5-10 and 20 lbs. tins.)

There are no more wholesome or digestible Sweets than these Syrups and children thrive on them; for they both contain a large proportion of the essential food element "dextrose", which, food experts admit, supplies fuel to the body and puts energy into the blood and tissue cells.

THE action of the miners of Fernie in breaking away from the U.M.W. of A. and forming a new organization in an effort to negotiate an agreement with the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. whereby the Company would be able to compete in the coal markets of the west with other companies, deserves the deepest commendation of the citizens of this town. These men, who have suffered long and bitterly at the hands of the U.M.W. of A., have shown that they still have some good hard horse sense and are prepared to get down to brass tacks and talk business. Existing conditions made it absolutely impossible for this company to carry on at the old scale and Sherman and his crowd refused to recognize this condition, but the men have finally taken the matter in their own hands and with the assistance of W. R. Wilson will doubtless find a solution to the whole trouble.

The business men of Fernie owe every consideration to these men who have been brave enough to come out in the open against the U. M. W. of A. They have made it possible by a huge sacrifice for Fernie coal to meet any honest competition in the open market, and it will not be long before our mines are operating again at a greater capacity than ever. It may take a little time to secure a market but W. R. Wilson will never rest until Coal Creek mines are operating six days a week.

COMMUNICATION

Fernie, Dec. 11.

Dear Sir—It has happened at last, the irresistible force has run up against an immovable object, or the U.M.W.A., and by the look of things the farce is going ahead. The starvation policy of the U.M.W.A.,; its relief work on the government road in which only members of the beer club's headquarters of the union get the chance for a few dollars to prolong the agony and the closed shop to enable the officials only to prosper, has stampeded the men into thinking for themselves, something they are not used to. This has given birth to the B.C. Miners Association. While the wage scale of Mr. Wilson is not as much as we expected, everyone is guaranteed a decent wage if we can work anything like steady time, with one exception, the outside men. Their scale of wages is low indeed. They have to suffer a 25 per cent cut over and above the cut of 82 cents a day received in the Calgary agreement. I being a digger in a fair place, can make $6 or $7 a day in spite of the cut we have taken; but, working the number of days in a month as the outside men, I earn nearly double the money, so in consequence my standard of living is that much higher, as we all have to trade at the same place. Mr. Wilson has been very generous. He gave $500 a little while ago to help the families of those who did not get started when the mines opened up. The union, with great generosity, handed it out to everyone whether they had worked or not. Mr. Wilson has helped a god many cases privately—I don't mean bought them some beer. He also promised at the meeting last Saturday night that if anyone was badly in need, he would help them. I would like to see Mr. Wilson be still more generous and give the low wage men the same as the tracklayers helper and timberman helper. I think if Mr. Wilson is shown the expense the outside man has to incur to fit himself up in clothing to meet all weathers, he will not hesitate in doing what is right and just, even if we diggers have to take another half of one per cent cut to give them it.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space for this letter and hoping the spirit of harmony may last through the life of the agreement and bring us a fair measure of prosperity, outside men and all. Yours truly, Miner.

Talking about malnutrition, if one looks at the government report one finds that New Westminster reports 367 suffering from it. Fernie is to be congratulated.

Gordon Ross, a carpenter's helper, employed at Coal Creek, was badly injured yesterday when he fell from the roof of a snow shed which he was repairing.

High winds at Michel on Thursday morning blew down a house and damaged the tipple. One or two of the inmates of the house were injured.

W. R. Ross, formerly of Fernie, has opened an office at Kimberley. Billy has been working over time trying to rescue several bootleggers from the toils of the law.

All Elks of Fernie Lodge, No. 81, are requested to meet at the I.O.O.F. Hall on Sunday afternoon at 1.30 to attend the funeral of our late brother, Wm. Mills.

The curling season opened in Fernie on Wednesday night with two competitions. The Beavers were decisively defeated by the Thistles, every rink being defeated. The contest between the Shamrocks and the Maple Leafs was a tie.

President Sherman of the U.M.W. of A. arrived in the city yesterday to look into the labor situation. The recent breakaway in Fernie is causing considerable anxiety. The U.M.W. of A. had no money for relief but will have thousands no doubt to defeat the new organization.

It is little wonder that the government of B.C. is anxious to have the federal authortities cut off a reasonable part of the duty on liquor coming into this province. Last year $2,923,000 was paid in taxes on such liquor, meaning that every time a man spends $5 for a bottle of liquor at a government store the officials at Ottawa get $1.68 of it.

Hon. Wm. Sloan, provincial secretary, is strongly advocating the establishment of old age pensions. He asked the legislature to favor a resolution to Ottawa calling for such a step to be taken by the federal authorities. The minister claims that old age pensions are paid in many parts of the world and their adoption has lessened unemployment.

Death again called one of our well known old timers in the person of Wm. Mills, proprietor of the Kings Hotel, on Sunday last, after a short illness from pneumonia. Deceased, who has been a resident of Fernie for nearly twenty-five years, came here from Moyie, where he was a quartz miner and was famous throughout the mining camps of the west as one of the best rock men that ever handled a drill. Wherever a rock drilling competition was held Billy was always a champion. During his many years residence in Fernie he has made a host of warm friends, who were deeply grieved and shocked to learn of his sudden death. He leaves a widow, two daughters and a son to mourn his loss. The funeral will take place from the family residence, Victoria avenue, on Sunday at 2 p.m., to the United Church, where Rev. Wm. Burns will conduct the service.

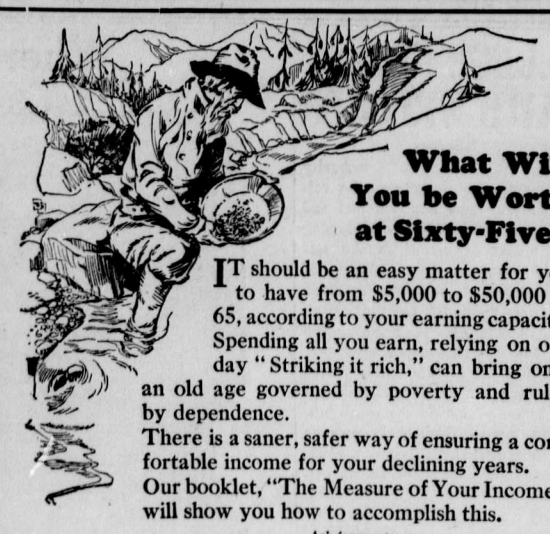
"We should not try to collect our pound of flesh from the timber industry just because we have the power under the law to do so," declared Hon. T. D. Patullo, minister of lands, in the legislature when discussing the new timber royalties. He claimed that the new levy would provide an increase in government revenue, but at the same time it will not "kill" the lumber industry, an event which might have occurred had the anticipated increase in royalties gone into effect after Jan. 1.



The Fernie Co-operative Society Women's Guild held a social evening in Victoria Hall on Tuesday. Prior to the opening of the whist games Wm. Dickenson, president of the Society, gave a few appropriate remarks, eulogizing the good work done by the Guild since its inception ten months ago. Prizes for whist were won as follows: Ladies, 1 Mrs. J. Eckersley, 2 Mrs. Mogelka; men, 1 A. Lees, 2 W. Pennington. Consolation prizes, Mrs. Davidson and W. Slain. Refreshments were served, and songs and parlor games were indulged in.

COLLEGE NOT FAITH WRECKER

College atheists are in a minority is the comforting assertion of a college professor who has watched and studied the fermentation of learning in the minds of youth as she lectured to them on the problems of philosophy. Such religious derelicts as she finds were, for the most part, made at home, and in a discussion of the subject she reaches the conclusion that those who have been well grounded in faith will not forsake it when education opens up new vistas to them. Frequently parents have much trepidation in sending their sons and daughters off to college, lest they come back with faith shattered and moral standards lowered, writes Dr. Georgia Harkness, associate professor of philosophy and education in Elmira College, Elmira, New York. Such fears, she tells us in Zion's Herald, "have been unduly aroused by the lurid and distorted pictures of college life set forth in certain modern novels, and by the equally unfounded alarms of theological calamity howlers who see in the advance of science the wreckage of religious faith." To be sure, tragedies sometimes occur in college, as elsewhere; but, we are told, the outlook is not so dismal as it has been painted, and parents may rest assured that the faith and morals of their children are at least as safe in college as in any ordinary environment.

Yet it can not be denied that something is wrong, for, we are told, the Church has not a strong hold on the loyalty of the average college student. Dr. Harkness believes that the college student of today is not less religious than in the past, though to a greater extent he is giving expression to his religious interests through channels other than the Church. The Church, meantime, is losing its greatest opportunity for moral and spiritual progress. As Dr. Harkness sees it, the attitude of the college student toward religion usually takes one of four forms: 1. an immature but genuine religious experience and an acceptance of the principles of Jesus without much regard for their ecclesiastical dress; (2) uncertainty, confusion and suspension of judgment regarding religious beliefs; (3) open hostility to religion—a cock-sure adolescent atheism; (4) in difference. Regarding the first group, she finds little cause for alarm. "A broader spirit of tolerance is constantly being fostered in the colleges which will make for more united action among the churches in days to come. Students are impatient of any denominational or doctrinal haggling which obscures the main issue, and in increasing numbers they are making the application of the spirit of Christ to their own lives and to social problems the dominant element in religion." Those in the second group will emerge from their "growing pains" with no impairment of their faith. If they do any thinking for themselves they will usually come through with a stronger, more intelligent basis for their faith. Dr. Harkness has no desire to blink the fact that some professors, in some colleges, "do exert an anti-religious influence from both an academic and a personal standpoint." She goes on:

"I believe much materialism is taught, and too little attention given to the shaping of positive religious beliefs. But I believe also that the faith-destroying, heresy-indoctrinating college professor has been advertised out of all proportion to his real importance. No student has any reasonable excuse for losing his religion under the instruction that is given in most of our colleges, whether denomination or non-sectarian. If he fails to emerge from the 'yeasty period' with a wholesome religious faith, we can not lay all the blame at the door of the college."

It is the atheistic group that has caused the chief alarm, but Dr. Harness finds that there are no more atheists, proportionately, in college, than elsewhere. Of these some are sincere, and in anguish because of their sincerity. Others are merely exercising the flamboyant spirit of youth. The real danger, says Dr. Harkness, lies in religious indifference.

Where They Play Golf All the Year Round

Famed for a mild, equable climate, a scenic setting equalled to the choicest English beauty spots, a resemblance which has led to the appellation of "A Little Bit of Old England," and the up-to-dateness of a modern western city has combined to make Victoria, the Evergreen City, one of the principal tourist cities of the North Pacific coast throughout the entire year.

Victoria, which with its suburbs has a population of 60,000, is also the capital of British Columbia, the legislative buildings forming an attractive picture for the new arrival disembarking in the inner harbor.

The city, located on the southeast extremity of Vancouver Island, is practically in the same latitude as Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and other eastern cities, yet because of the warm Japan current that fringes British Columbia's coast, Victoria enjoys the year round a climate unsurpassed in the Dominion. The mean temperature in winter is 42 degrees and in summer 61. Coupled with this is an average yearly rainfall of only 27.45 inches, less than half the average precipitation on the adjacent mainland.

With this salubrious climate outdoor sports are possible the entire year, five or six golf courses being available in and around the city.

For the motorist, not only Victoria but the entire Vancouver Island provides drives of varying lengths into a territory that has been named a "Thousand Miles of Wonderland." Greatest of all these is the famous Malahat Mountain drive running north from Victoria and rising to more than 1,250 feet above the sea level, affording a view of sea and mountain unexcelled.

In and around Victoria are sufficient tourist attractions to keep the newcomer busy for many days. These include the Butchart sunken gardens, transformed within the last decade into a veritable fairyland of flowers, shrubs, lawns, roses, waterfalls and lake; the astrophysical observatory with the second largest telescope in the world, and 1,600 acres of beautiful parks featuring Beacon Hill Park virtually in the heart of the city.

In the summer more than a hundred shady beaches and romantic little bays dotted along seventy miles of water frontage lure the holiday-maker. Some face the Straits of Juan de Fuca and open to the sweep of the Pacific Ocean tides, while others are almost landlocked, with clear, unruffled waters.

Travelling to Victoria from the mainland is one of the joys of a holiday spent in the capital city. An 82-mile trip through landlocked, sheltered waters past evergreen islands, brings the traveller from Vancouver. Frequent service on palatial steamers of the Canadian Pacific Railway is afforded to Victoria from Vancouver and Seattle direct, while a further steamer to Nanaimo affords an optional route. Rail connection is made between Nanaimo and Victoria.

As a further development of Victoria as a winter resort, The Crystal Garden, an elaborate amusement center, is being erected near the Empress Hotel. It will be opened for Victoria Day Celebration next May, a steel and concrete structure with 36,000 square feet of glazed roof surface. The central feature of the Crystal Garden will be a huge salt water swimming pool, the largest on the Pacific Coast.

Nearby the Empress Hotel, overlooks the inner harbour. Located in spacious grounds, beautiful alike in winter and summer with roses, holly trees and other shrubs and flowers. This deservedly popular hostelry has been the temporary home for thousands of visitors.

To the tourist from the inland cities especially, Victoria affords a splendid opportunity to view the ever-interesting scenes of an ocean port. Practically all in-bound and out-bound Pacific liners make Victoria a port of call on their way to Vancouver and Seattle. In this way, the Victoria visitor is brought closely in touch with the movements of shipping to and from Australia and the Orient.

ROUMANIANS LIKE CANADA

D. Kapeller, of Bucharest, Roumania, has been visiting many of his fellow countrymen, who are now making their homes in Western Canada, to ascertain whether or not they are happy in this country. He states that he finds them invariably happy if they stay on the land. Acjects of Queen Marie are anxious to come to Canada to settle as fast as opportunity can be given them on Canadian farms. During the first six months of this year 2000 Roumanians came to Canada and most of these men have since brought out their families.

MOOSE AND CARIBOU ARE PLENTIFUL

Information received by the Canadian National Railway shows that in the country drained by the upper waters of the Liard river in Northern B.C., moose are so numerous they are killed to feed dogs. It is estimated that at least one thousand are shot every year; nevertheless their numbers are increasing, according to reports by mounted police officers. Mineral prospectors now depend entirely on moose for their meat supplies. The caribou herds are said to be increasing, with sheep and goats also numerous in that part of the country. The sheep, it is reported, have a black saddle, which is not a characteristic of the mountain sheep found further south.

Would you put yourself out for me?

Surely, dear.

Well, then, please do. It's after 12 and I'm awfully tired.

THE VANISHED YEARS

By Walt Mason

I said to Jinx, "How goes it?" "I'm waxing old," said he; "man's youth before he knows it has skipped the tra-la-lee. Some morning when he rises he finds his whiskers gray — the saddest of surprises to meet at break of day. Some morning when he'd shoulder a meal sack at the store, he finds that he is older, his arms are stiff and sore. This morning in my attire when I sat up in bed, I found my feet rheumatic, they hurt me when I'd tread. I found my eyes were rheumy, my careworn head was bald; discoveries more gloomy I never have recalled. My wintry years are coming, we nearly reached three score, and wolves will soon be chumming around my cottage door. Full soon the poorhouse keeper will lead me to his gate, and hand me fodder cheaper than ever mortal ate. How ghastly is the morning, how bitter and how cold when one receives the warning that he is waxing old!" "Indeed that morning's bitter," I said, "unless a guy has been a prudent critter and put the kopeks by. If he has wisely salted the kopeks in a crock, his pleasures are not halted, when age comes up the walk. He may be just as happy as in the bygone time, when he was young and snappy, and thought old age a crime. But age is surely fearful to any wintry jay, whos thinking, sad and tearful of money thrown away."

WATER NOTICE

(Use and Storage)

TAKE NOTICE that The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. of Canada, Ltd., whose address is Kimberley, B.C., will apply for a licence to take and use 1,000 cubic feet per second and to store 14,000 acre feet of water out of the Elk River, which flows southerly and drains into Kootenay River about 3 miles south of Waldo, B.C. The storage dam will be located 2770 feet south of, and 70 feet east of the south west corner of 6677. The capacity of the reservoir to be created is about 14,000 acre feet, and it will flood about 300 acres of land. The water will be diverted from the stream at a point about 2770 feet south of and 70 feet east of the S. W. corner of 6677, and will be used for power purpose upon the Sullivan Mine, described as Lot 2999 and Lot 6626. This notice was posted on the ground on the 28th day of October, 1924. A copy of this notice and an application pursuant thereto and to the "Water Act, 1914," will be filed in the office of the Water Recorders at Fernie and Cranbrook, B.C. Objections to the application may be filed with the said Water Recorder or with the Comptroller of Water Rights, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., within thirty days after the first appearance of this notice in a local newspaper. The date of the first publication of this notice is Nov. 7th, 1924.

75% of disease avoided through internal cleanliness

WHEN you are constipated, poisons are formed in the accumulated food waste, and reach all parts of the body. The first results, headaches, biliousness, a feeling of "heaviness", etc., serve as warnings of graver diseases to follow if this intestinal poisoning continues unchecked.

This is why intestinal specialists state that constipation is the primary cause of three-quarters of all illness, including the gravest diseases of life.

Physicians Advise Lubrication for Internal Cleanliness

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste, and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless. Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

CANADA MAY FIND LARGER BRITISH MARKET

It is very probable that as a result of the adoption of a resolution by the British Empire Producers' organization a few days ago, Canadian wheat will find a much greater market in Great Britain. The resolution stated it was desirable that the home production of wheat should be materially increased and strongly urged that the wheat which must still be absorbed should be purchased from the wheat growing centres of the Empire. The resolution further urged that steps be taken to organize and make fully available the wheat supplies of the Empire, and that the government institute an enquiry with the view of fixing the minimum quota of Britain's annual requirements which should be grown on home soil.

CANADIAN NATIONAL STEEL PURCHASED IN CANADA

The Canadian National Railways purchase in Canada all steel used by the system in the Dominion," declared Sir Henry Thornton, president of the C.N.R., in an address a few days ago to the Sydney, N.B., Board of Trade, in response to a request that further orders for steel be placed as soon as possible with the steel company at Sydney. Sir Henry added that this policy is one which the National Railways propose to adhere to, and gave the promise that as much steel as their circumstances would permit would be ordered from that section of the country, but that the other companies in Canada manufacuring the same product must receive equal consideration in the matter.

HUNTERS GO NORTH

With the opening of the big game season on Dec. 1, Northern Manitoba saw a large influx of hunters bound for the districts where deer and moose are known to abound.

A CHICAGO GANGSTER

The leader of a Chicago gang died a "natural" death—that is to say, he was shot by other gangsters—so his friends put him in a $10,000 coffin, contributed flowers enough to fill 25 motor trucks, turned out an array of motor cars unequalled in many a day, gathered a six-piece orchestra, and buried him while the police alternately held back the crowds and searched the mourners for "gats." "The picturesque event of the week," Arthur Brisbane calls this funeral, and the country in general, and Chicago in particular, seems to agree with him. There is quite as enthusiastic agreement also among the rum-runners, hi-jackers, gunmen, gangsters and other assorted thugs of Chicago, as revealed by this killing and funeral, is a challenge to any community calling itself civilized. Chicago, following the funeral, started a crusade among its numerous and well protected banditry. The repercussions are being felt in New York, Philadelphia and San Francisco. Dion, or Dean, O'Banion may not have been responsible for any large service to the public during his life, but in his death, at least, he has pointed a moral as well as adorned a tale.

He had been a choir boy once, "this Sentimental Tommy of murderers," as one biographer calls him. He "sniffed flowers as he planned new outrages," says another, and he dressed his gangsters in evening clothes when he sent them out to commit their assorted crimes. Also he helped crippled children, gave money to hungry newsboys, was fond of talking about his mother, and all that she had done for him. Incidentally, he made in the neighborhood of half a million dollars at his various trades of bootlegging and hijacking. When his body "was hauled out of a wild disarray of potted chrysanthemums, roses, jonquils and violets," says a Chicago correspondent, news carrying telegraph wires were hardly excited at all. O'Banion did not present a problem in the psychological sense. Chicago criminologists kept their attention on other matters. In fact, "as he lay back among the heaps of flowers and plants, bleeding to death upon carefully selected hot house violets that had been arranged to tempt lovers and their ladies, this fat little thug, worth hundreds of thousands of dollars, reputed to be the killer of eight men," seemed to be chiefly another colorful story for newspaper reporters. Nevertheless, since that time, evidence a-plenty has appeared that Dion O'Banion is important from the psychological and ethical standpoint as a dangerous and typical product of our American civilization. The shortest possible summary of his life would run something like this:

He was born 35 years ago in an anonymous village of an anonymous country that was probably Ireland. History, however, sets in and shows him as a child in a small Illinois town, the son of a plasterer, the usual bekissed and beloved baby of a mother whose influence was as strong in the man's life as the mother influence accredited to our most successful heroes. He was sent to church. He piped, in a soprano, the hymns of the choir. His environment as a child was utterly religious.

When his early boyhood came to a close he drifted into Chicago, knocking about much as Napoleon Bonaparte before the opportunity came. Bonaparte looked hungrily into bakery shops and planned robberies. Dion O'Banion, not living in so blazing an era, had to force issues a bit. He cracked a safe, or so the police thought, but escaped punishment and only once, for three months, did a jail door swing upon him. His life at this time was the usual life of a young man without money, without the experience which qualify a man for profitable work, and without the essential thing, an opportunity.

That opportunity came when the U.S. voted the prohibition amendment. Having sucked at the breast of crime, prohibition and its broad avenues to illegal wealth was to this hitherto small-time crook just the sort of chance which Bonaparte got when Paris rose for the last time against the Assembly. The moment was ripe, the opportunity was there, and Dion O'Branion, having heard of that which knocks but once upon the door, seized it by the tail.

He organized his gang. With the sentimentality of a Prussian lieutenant of Uhlans, he had a fondness for rose perfume, or the gentle scents of lilies of the valley and springtime lilacs. Say it with flowers, said Dion O'Banion, and so he embowered himself in a floral shop, a rather short man, growing plump, set in a frame of tulips, begonias, petunias and the seasonal charm of the garden. On his desk a tube of water would hold a sprig of forget-me-not. Under a heap of arbutus he kept an automatic pistol.

Here and There

Agricultural products harvested in British Columbia during 1923 were nearly $4,000,000 in excess of the 1922 total, according to the annual report of the provincial department of agriculture. Total production for 1923 was $59,159,798.

The ninth winter carnival at Banff, Alta., will be held from February 7 to 14, 1925. The curling bonspiel in connection with the carnival will run concurrently from February 9 to 14. Revelstoke has fixed its carnival dates for February 3, 4 and 5, 1925.

Tourists to the number of 100,000 are estimated to have entered the Province of Nova Scotia during the past season. These people have left approximately $7,500,000 in the province, an increase of 25 per cent. over the previous year. The number of motor cars entering the province during the tourist season exceeded 11,000.

Canada Book Week was held from December 1 to 6 this year. Addresses, radio broadcasting and special displays in stores throughout the country drew attention to the objects of the week, which are to promote the reading of good books generally and to foster Canadian literature. The week was, as usual, a distinct success.

The foolhardy recklessness of certain motorists was recently strikingly illustrated at a public crossing on the Canadian Pacific Railway line at Blind River, Ontario, when a speeding auto approached the crossing so rapidly that the driver was unable to pull up, and ran his car into the side of a train which was passing at the time. Fortunately, no one was injured.

In recognition of its excellent exhibits at the 1924 exhibition at Toronto, the Canadian Pacific Railway has been awarded one of the medals specially struck off for presentation to the Dominion and Provincial governments, and to a limited number of other exhibits whose high class entries in the live stock and agricultural departments won them championship prizes.

B.C. CULTIVATING NUTS

Various sections of B.C. have been found suitable for nut culture. Walnuts, almonds, chestnuts and filberts do well, and there is an opportunity for the successful development of a permanent industry in this particular line. At the present time nut trees in B.C. are practically free of pests, and the Dominion department of agriculture, realizing that the nut-growing industry of the province is becoming an important one, is doing its utmost to maintain this standard by prohibiting the importation of nut trees from infected regions in the United States. Excellent crops of filberts are being produced, they being easily grown, struggling along in spite of neglect. A shipment, in the husks, sent to the Calgary market this season netted the grower over 44 cents per pound.

ALASKAN FOXES FOR N.S.

Black foxes, consigned from ranches in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island as foundation stock for new ranches in Western Canada are becoming fairly frequent visitors to Winnipeg; but one morning last week the Canadian National from the west carried a new type of fox; two representatives of the Alaska blue fox tribe, bound for Boylston, N.S., where they are to be used as breeding stock by a prominent fox rancher. Other animals handled by express on the same train were a pair of elk from Wainwright Buffalo Park en route to London, Ont., to grace the civic zoo there.

DANCE HALL BYLAW PASSED

The city council held their last meeting for the year in the council chamber on Thursday evening. Mayor Henderson, who returned from Ottawa on Wednesday morning, was in the chair. Ald. Lees was the only absentee.

A resolution from the Knights of Pythias requested that the city council consider ways and means of re-opening the Fernie hospital. This resolution was tabled until another meeting.

A letter from the Inspector of Electrical Energy requested full particulars of the accident causing injuries to City Electrician Longdon. The city clerk will forward the necessary information.

The regular accounts and the Bishop contract accounts were passed for payment.

Three motions were passed regarding the elections as follws:

That nominations for all elective civic officers must be filed with the returning officer on Monday, Jan. 12, 1925, between the hours of 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. local time.

That should a poll be necessary the same will be held on Thursday, Jan. 15, between the hours of 12 a.m. and 8 p.m. local time.

That City Clerk Moffatt be appointed returning officer.

The proposed bylaw governing dance halls was again up for discussion and with a few minor changes from the outline given in the report of last council meeting, passed through three readings and will come up at the next meeting for final consideration and adoption. This bylaw will require the manager or person in charge of any public dance to secure a license to run the dance at the nominal fee of fifty cents. All public dances must close at or before 1 o'clock in the morning. No person will be allowed to enter a dance hall who is under the age of 16 years unless accompanied by one or both of their parents. It also will make all public dances subject to police inspection.

FERNIE WILL GET BEER

Victoria, Dec. 17.—Beer by the glass will be granted in districts which gave affirmative majorities on the June plebiscite, the legislature decided at midnight last night by defeating a motion from Dr. E. J. Rothwell to delete the beer caluses from the Liquor Act. The formal vote was recorded in the house today as 26 to 14.

Attorney General Manson voted against beer, saying the whole issue was raised by the breweries and not the people.

Premier Oliver broke down as he announced he must vote for carrying out the terms of the plebiscite submitted to the people in good faith.

R. H. Pooley reminded the government he had last year predicted such an impasse.

The house also defeated by 27 to 13 a later motion by Chris McRae to have the beer sold only in government dispensaries.

Victoria, Dec. 17.—Dr. E. J. Rothwell, M.P.P. for New Westminster, has filed notice that he will introduce a motion to strike beer by the glass clause out of the Liquor act when the bill now before the legislature comes up on report.

Attorney General Manson stated today that he had no policy to announce yet in regard to the procedure to be followed in considering applications for beer licenses.

The act provides that the liquor control board shall consider applications for licenses, which must be publicly advertised for 30 days so that objectors may lay representations before the board as to the morals and good standing in the community of such applicants.

The measure allows licenses to be issued in any polling divisions, group of polling divisions, or electoral ridings where the vote favored beer by the glass. Thus, inVancouver, licenses could be issued in the downtown wards which voted for beer, but not up town.

While 23 ridings gave beer majorities, which means that licenses can be issued in the polling divisions of these ridings where the majorities were recorded, it is possible under the act that an individual town which voted for beer, although the vote over the entire riding was negative, may receive licenses.

PROSPECTS FOR DEPOSITORS

Mayor G. G. Henderson on his return from Ottawa, where he has been acting on behalf of the Home Bank depositors, stated that he was practically certain that the federal government would very shortly make a very substantial reimbursement to the Home Bank depositors for the losses they sustained in the failure of that institution.

Questioned as to the possibility of his seeking re-election as mayor in the forthcoming civic elections, he stated that he had definitely decided to allow his name to be placed as a candidate for the Fernie mayoralty honors for 1925. He had previously decided not to become a candidate but since his last visit to the east he felt it his duty oseek re-election so that he may carry the endorsation of the citizens of Fernie when he returned east to carry on the fight to secure 100 cents on the dollar for the unforunate Home Bank depositors.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Just Arrived—A nice line of Cameras for Christmas Gifts at Barton's.

The wind was so strong at Elko on Monday that several buildings were partly wrecked.

The Trites-Wood store will be closed on Christmas day and the following day. Open on Saturday.

The Crow's Nest Trading Co. store will be closed on Christmas Day and the day following, Friday.

Rev. Burns is spending a couple of days in Corbin where he will unite a young couple in the bonds of matrimony.

Harold Barger and Wm. Johnston returned Monday from a four days' hunting trip, bringing in three fine white tail bucks.

You are missing the time of your life if you don't attend the Mount, Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. dance on New Year's eve. There will be some pleasant surprises.

Cranbrook has two ladies hockey teams. Fernie has not yet commenced to organize for the season, but will likely get into the game before long.

Mayor G. G. Henderson returned on Wednesday from a month's visit to Ontario. Mrs. Henderson did not return with him, but will spend a few days in Winnipeg. Mayor Henderson is much improved in health.

Who said no New Fear's dance in Fernie. Yes, we are going to dance the old year out and the new one in with a spirit of optimism. Come and join the merry throng in Victoria Hall, Dec. 31.

The need of a public hospital here was fully illustrated on Friday last when Fred Young had to be removed to Michel hospital for immediate operation. It is surely time our city fathers got busy.

R. M. Young, of Calgary, Commissioner of the Coal Operators Association, was in the city over Sunday. Bob says he misses the Fernie curling. He has never had time to get into the game seriously in Calgary.

We have been wondering for the past few months how it was that so many young couples had the coin and courage to get married in the face of the present hard times. We have been enlightened. One of the local clergy informed us recently that for five weddings in succession his net fees amounted to $5.70. It looks as if they had been short changing the preachers.

The Mothers' Union of Christ Church will hold a social on New Year's eve in the church basement. Every member is cordially invited to attend and bring along friend hubby. There will be refreshments and a short program, commencing at ten o'clock and finishing in time for all to attend the Watchnight service at 11.30.

MEN SIGNING ON TODAY

It is now certain that the Coal Creek mines will resume operations not later than Monday, Dec. 22. This was the information imparted to the special committee of the newly formed British Columbia Miners Association by the management of the C.N.P. Coal Co., following the signing of the new agreement here last evening.

The decision to accept the reduction in wages as embodied in the new scale was finally reached at a mass meeting in the Isis theatre on Thursday afternoon, when a capacity house listened to a full explanation of every clause in the agreement and then in secret ballot voted almost unanimously for its acceptance. The vote stood: 385 for, 21 against, and 9 spoiled.

Immediately after receiving the endorsation of the miners, their committee went into session with the management of the Coal Co. and formally accepted the proposition made by the company, and signed on behalf of the employees.

The new agreement is slightly better than the original offer made by the Company, outside men receiving an increase of 25c per day over the 55 per cent increase over the 1914 scale.

Through the men signifying their willingness to accept a lower wage than that stipulated by the U.M.W. of A., and their breaking away from that body, the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. were able to go into the coal markets and offer their product at a price which was able to compete with the product of other fields, and have secured contracts which it is believed will allow the Coal Creek mines to run steadily for the next three or four years at the very least. The agreement has been signed for a period of three years and three months and carries a clause which stipulates that negotiations for a renewal of agreement will commence not later than 90 days prior to the termination of the old agreement.

Up to the time of going to press hundreds of men have signed on or are in line waiting their turn.

EXHIBITION SCHOOL WORK

Without exception all remarks were favorable about the Christmas Exhibition at the Central school held on Thursday last. All the visitors were delighted and surprised with the work shown on the walls of the various class rooms. Many had no idea that so much work was done in the schools. Of special beauty was the sand table in the second grade, which showed a lesson in geography. The sand table depicted Japan and showed Mt. Fugi with its cap of snow, and also were to be seen cherry blossoms and bridges as in the gardens of Japan. In the receiving room was to be seen a real fireplace, modelled in placistine by the little tots, with miniature stockings hanging on the chimney piece ready for Father Christmas to fill. All the rooms had many specimens of the pupils' work shown in drawing, writing, map making, etc. The school nurse's office was quite different from the rest of the rooms. In one corner was an exhibit showing the work of the class in Infant Hygiene. The celluuloid doll was in the baby's bath, while near by were the baby clothes as designed by Dr. Josephine Baker. The patterns of the same clothes were also on exhibition. The walls of the nurse's office were decorated with posters made by the children at home. These posters showed what the school nurse had taught the children. Naturally, good things to eat figured largely on the walls, but also were to be seen tooth brushes, milk jars, open windows, clean houses, clean clothes, children taking baths, children playing in the open air, children standing upright, children breathing through their noses, children swatting flies, and children sleeping ten or eleven hours.. Fairy "Health" and her enemy, bad witch "Ignorance" were also depicted and pointed out to the parents by the delighted children. It will be a long time before the exhibition at the Central school will be forgotten by the teachers, parents or children, for it was certainly a great stimulus to the efforts of modern education.

THE BIG BLIZZARD

The worst blizzard that has visited the Crow's Nest Pass since 1911 struck Fernie shortly after 9 o'clock on Sunday evening. For three days a strong warm wind had prevailed from the south and over two feet of snow disappeared as if by magic, in fact flowers were beginning to show their noses, when suddenly Sunday night the wind veered to the north and within a few short hours the temperature dropped from 44 above to 21 below, a change of 61 degrees. As the day advanced the wind increased to a hurricane with snow falling. Before many hours our lighting system was put out of business by poles being blown down and trees falling across the lines. All day Tuesday the power company men battled with the storm and finally about 9 o'clock in the evening the line was cleared and the power turned on.

Not a great deal of damage was done in the city although a large number of telegraph and power poles were blown down, but at Elko the wind played havoc with a large number of business houses. Store fronts all along the main street were blown in and several roofs raised and shifted. Damage aggregating many thousands of dollars resulted.

Since Monday the thermometer has continued to drop and Thursday morning the low level of 34 below zero was reached. Following is the official reading for the past week.

Saturday 42.0
Sunday 44.0
Monday ..... —19.0
Tuesday ..... —21.5
Wednesday ..... —29.5
Thursday ..... —34.0
Friday ..... —32.0

The storm has been general throughout Western Canada and the Northern States, the thermometer dropping in some places to 60 below zero. Red Deer, Alberta, seems to have been the real cold centre of the storm, the thermometer dropping to 62 below. Trains were delayed and telegraph and telephone lines were put out of commission.

KILLED BY TRAIN NEAR CROW'S NEST

A man named Tony Doras, who had been holding down the position of watchman near The Cave at Crow's Nest Lake, where the C.P.R. are doing some rock work, was hit by the local eastbound passenger train and killed instantly.

The man had been walking the track and hearing the train approaching stepped to one side. A heavy gust of wind, however, swayed him towards the passing train so that his head came into violent contact with one of the cars.

The body was picked up and taken to Blairmore, where it was prepared for burial.

The man was of Polish nationality.

District President Wm. Sherman called a mass meeting of the members of Gladstone Local on Sunday last but only about sixty of the old stand-patters attended and all of these did not appear to be very faithful. Bill was the main speaker and proceeded to tell those present what he intended to do. The organization would be kept alive in Fernie and would support those who were unable to get work and would remain faithful. The meeting passed a vote of confidence in Sherman.

WAR OVER UNION LABOR

Two of the greatest unions in America—the United Mine Workers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers—are engaged in a tug-of-war. The Brotherhood, headed by Warren S. Stone, is said by the Manchester Union to be the richer organization, while the miners boast the larger membership. The Mine Workers, with John L. Lewis at their head, however, are affiliated with the powerful American Federation of Labor, while the railroad brotherhoods stand alone. Both principals in the present fight, which started last April, own and direct many financial, industrial and commercial enterprises. Besides being at the head of the Engineers' Brotherhood, Mr. Stone is chairman of the board of directors of the Coal River colleries, which lie in West Virginia and Kentucky.

Among the accusations made against the mining company in the numerous accounts of its tribulations published in the newspapers are refusal to pay the union scale, rejecting the check-off plan of collecting union dues, operating on a non-union basis, hiring armed guards, excluding union organizers, evicting striking miners and their families from their rented homes, and discharging miners for joining the union. In view of these facts, and as a "further constructive effort," the Committee on Boycotts of the American Federation of Labor, at their recent El Paso conference, unanimously adopted a resolution, of which the following recommendation is part:

"That the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor be instructed to exercise its good offices to secure a settlement of this unfortunate controversy at the earliest possible date; that in the event of the failure of such negotiations the Executive be instructed to advise the membership of the American Federation of Labor of all the facts in the premises."

According to an El Paso dispatch to the New York Times:

"Advising the membership of 'all the facts in the premises' is a euphemism for a boycott. To warn the organized workers of the United States that Mr. Stone is unfair to union labor in his capacity as director of the Coal River colleries would be followed by the withdrawal of trade unions from association in all capacities with the engineers' financial enterprises, such as banks and mines, according to leaders of the Federation."

Following the meeting, Mr. Lewis, of the Mine Workers, commented on the adoption of the resolution as follows:

"The refusal of the Coal River colleries to deal with the United Mine Workers of America and employ union men in its mines has been a scandal to the entire organized labor movement of this country; it appears that he prefers to continue to profess trade union principles and at the same time employ scab labor in the mines of his company."

There is nothing new or original about these contentions of the United Mine Workers; they are usually made in one form or another during every coal strike; but it is out of the ordinary, several editors remark, for one noted exponent of unionism to say such harsh things to another. While Mr. Stone, a union head who employs non-union labor, defends what is sometimes referred to as "the capitalistic position," observes the Boston Herald, "as a union leader he presents the Brotherhood's demands to the Railway Labor Board and states that whether the railroads of the country earn any profits for their shareholders or not, the wages must be paid." As the Newark News sees the situation:

"What the American Federation of Labor in effect says to President Stone of the Brotherhood, in demanding that he unionize the coal mines, is this:

"You must either pay more for the mining and loading of your coal than you can get for the coal in the market, or you will be blacklisted by union labor, so far as the Federation controls union labor."

"Faced with the competition of non-union mines, which by reason of lower labor costs are able to undersell union mines in a slack coal market, the Brotherhood mines, as they are called, have sought to persuade their union miners to accept wage rates which would enable them to resume operations. This being refused, non-union miners have now been brought in to start the mines upon a wage basis that would enable them to operate, which, as Mr. Stone pointed out, they could not do when the union wage scales required them to pay $1.63 a ton for getting out and loading coal that could not be sold for more than $1.50 a ton."

Another defender of the Brotherhood official is the Nashville Banner which says from its vantage point near the coal mines:

"Mr. Stone contends that Mr. Lewis is laboring under the misapprehension that the coal mining industry is being run solely for the benefit of the United Mine Workers of America. He also claims that it is only just that investors should get a fair return for their money. The coal operators have said the same thing a thousand times in the course of the last six years or so. Whether the claim is just or not, it ought to convince the more sober and intelligent members of the mine workers' organization that there is another side than their own to the question of wages they have been debating with such vehemence for so many years."

There are some editors who, while defending neither Mr. Lewis nor Mr. Stone, are philosophical over the present complex state of union labor's affairs. Says the New York Herald Tribune, for example:

"What has happened is really very simple. The 'war chests' of earlier days, raised by the unions to enable them to fight their battles with the capitalists, have become important aggregations of capital themselves, and are beginning to follow the usual history of capital accumulations.

"The unions are here to stay, but the philosophy upon which they are apt to conduct their disputes appears to be facing a considerable alteration in coming years."

She's walked back so much that she smokes Strollers.

According to recent advices activity in placer mining is being renewed on Perry Creek. The scene of operations is at Old Town where six men are now engaged in sinking to bed rock on the ground formerly held by Gus Theiss. That the work is being carried on with expediency is evidenced by the utilization of a steam hoist to lift excavated material from the shaft which is being rapidly sunk to alleged gold-bearing ground. It is expected that drifting along the pay streak will begin as soon as bed rock is reached. Further information is to the effect that the gravel in which the men are working at present is holding out the promise of the existence of alluvial gold in paying quantities. — Cranbrook Courier.

PYTHIAN SISTERS OFFICERS

At the meeting held on Dec. 11 the Pythian Sisters of Trinity Temple No. 7 elected the following officers for the coming term:

P.C.—Mary Galloway.
M.E.C.—Margaret Markland.
E.S.—Janet Lees.
E.J.—Jessie Starr.
M. of T.—Minnie E. Williams.
M.R.C.—Mary A. Loyns.
M. of F.—Ada E. Howarth.
Pro.—Josie Wallace.
G. of O.T.—Betty Loyns.
Pianist—Bro. R. Billsborough.
Trustees—Sisters Billsborough, Hamer and Turnbull.

THE largest and most representative mass meeting of the employees of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. ever held, last night decided by a vote of 385 to 21 to accept the proposition offered by W. R. Wilson, and thus brought to a termination the longest labor dispute which has ever existed between the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. and its employees. The cessation of labor which has tied up the wheels of industry at Coal Creek mines for nearly nine months and very nearly wrecked the industry entirely, has been ended and a new order of affairs has been established or is about to be established, in which the coal business of Fernie will be given a fair chance to meet its competitors in the open market.

Fernie has come through the long ordeal with its colors still flying. Many reports of starvation and failures have been heralded throughout the country, but as a matter of fact the benevolent organizaions have had comparatively little to do, and hardly a failure has resulted. With the men working full time again confidence and credit will be fully restored and the city of Fernie will have a fair chance to crawl back to its place in the sun. In fact, if reports are to be credited and if Manager W. R. Wilson is given half a chance, he fully intends to put Fernie on the map as an industrial center that will rival some of the best cities in the west.

MOOSEHEART OFFICERS

The Women of Mooseheart Legion held their installation of officers on Friday, Dec. 12. There was a good attendance of Moose members and sisters. After the installation supper was served and a social evening was spent up to 12 o'clock. Miss M. Wilson and Master Harry Harrison supplied the music. Sister Billsborough, Past Regent, was the Grand Installing officer, and Sister Murray acted as Grand Guide. The following were the officers installed:

Past Regent—Sister Wilson.
Senior Regent—Sister Davidson.
Junior Regent—Sister Rutledge.
Chaplain—Sister Quince.
Recorder—Sister Iannucci.
Treasurer—Sister Chivers.
Sentinel—Sister Pugh.
Argus—Sister Derbyshire.
Organist—Sister Fawley.
Ass. Organist—Sister Luke.
Guide—Sister Vanbuskirk.
Ass. Guide—Sister Sirianni.

PUBLIC HEALTH

If one reads any report of public health, one will always see that the workers invariably mention two things, namely, that they desire an enlightened public, and that the public health workers are always a little bit ahead of the general public. The same remark appeared in the last annual report of the B.C. Provincial Board of Helth and the annual report of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association.

Expected results are not to be had in a minute from public health work, but some results are startling. Anyone who has travelled or read books on travel, knows that a large percentage of the Swiss have a goitre. One sometimes sees an old man whose goitre almost touches his knees when sitting. In 1918 the authorities in Switzerland ascertained that in St. Call school there were 87 per cent of the children with goitre. Preventative treatment was started, using iodine in the salt or by giving iodized chocolates. In 1922 the goitre survey was again made and it was found that only 13 per cent of the children were goitrous. In four years a big drop from 87 to 13 per cent was achieved by public health authorities.

Miss Donald, who worked so hard in Fernie that she may be said to have died at her post, will not see the results of her work amongst the school children in Fernie. But she, who has died herself, has saved many a child from unnecessary suffering. The present school nurse at the Fernie schools tells us that several children have had their defects corrected and have, like the Swiss, been taking something to cure their goitres, after having the need pointed out to them by Miss Donald.

Of course it is early yet to ascertain the exact anticipated results of Miss Donald's work, but anyone who makes inquiries can feel certain that her work here was of great benefit to the children of Fernie.

E. A. Lilly, of Calgary, is in the city adjusting several fire losses.

Mrs. D. Corsan returned home on Saturday after spending a month's holidays at the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Appleyard left on Wednesday for Minneapolis, where they will spend the holidays.

The Orpheum Theatre will give its annual Free Christmas Matinee for children next Wednesday at 2.30 p.m.

Francis White, for 25 years a resident of Fernie, is dangerously ill and little hope is entertained for his recovery.

The Loyal Order of Moose will hold their dance on Christmas Night instead of Christmas Eve as formerly advertised. Time and prices as usual.

Say Merry Christmas to your friends and sweethearts with a box of Chocolates from the Crow's Nest Bakery. Look at the prices. You will save money.

Tom Prentice arrived home on Saturday after a two month holiday at the coast. Tom is much improved in health and says he is prepared to clean up any rink in the curling club for fun, money or marbles.

Robt. Alstead, who recently moved from Coal Creek to Corbin, lost his entire household furniture on Tuesday night, when the company house in which he was living was destroyed by fire.

Let us all go to Victoria Hall New Year's eve and dance out the old year and the new one in. A good time will be assured. Admission $1.50 a couple.

All children of members of Fernie Lodge No. 31, Knights of Pythias, are requested to attend at the I.O.O.F. Hall on Tuesday, Dec. 23. Supper will be served at 5 p.m. Come and have a good time.

The water connections under the river were completed last Sunday and all the work is finished with the exception of filling in some of the ditch. There is still a danger that the intense frost of the past few days may heave the ground under the pipe and cause some further trouble.

W. R. Wilson returned on Wednesday from a business trip which took in Winnipeg, St. Paul and Spokane. W. R. was looking for coal business and he got it. It is well for Fernie in these trying times that it has a man of the calibre of Mr. Wilson at the head of its chief industry. Give him a chance. He will yet put this town on the map right.

The funeral of the late Billy Mills was held on Sunday afternoon, under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias, of which order the deceased was a member for many years. A large representation of L.O.O.M. and Elks attended; also representatives of the business section. Rev. W. Burns of the United Church held service in that edifice, which was filled to capacity. Graveside service was held by the L.O.O.M. and K. of P.

Cranbrook made a profit of over $7000 on its power last year. An effort will be made to have the rates cut. Owing to the large amount of money spent this year in Fernie on the Elk River crossing, it will not be possible to cut light rate next year, even though our profits on power is much larger. However, provided the Dominion government reimburse the Home Bank depositors, the city's finances will soon be in good shape again and the light and power consumers should receive some consideration in the way of a reduction.

A meeting of the local Council of Women was held on the regular day in December. Mrs. S. Herchmer gave an interesting account of the Social Service convention in Vancouver, and there was general discussion on matters of special concern to Fernie at this time. Mrs. Alfred Cummings the convenor of Child Hygiene, gave a report showing the phenomenal success of the Baby Clinic since its inception eight months ago. The attendance showed as many as 26 babies and over 30 adults present at one time. There was a doctor in attendance each day who examined the children and sometimes gave helpful talks on "Prevention of Goitre," "Care of the Teeth," or other subjects pertaining to health.

Born—At Fernie, B.C., on Dec. 12, to Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Beaubier, a daughter, Gwendolyn.

The house of James Stockwell in the Annex caught fire on Tuesday morning. Considerable damage was done before the flames were subdued.

There will be a special meeting of Fernie Lodge, No. 81, B.P.O.E. on Monday night at 8 o'clock in Ingram's Hall. All members are requested to attend.

All children of members of the G.W.V.A. and Women's Auxiliary are requested to assemble at the Vets Rooms not later than 5 p.m. on Dec. 24. Illuminated Christmas Tree and everything.

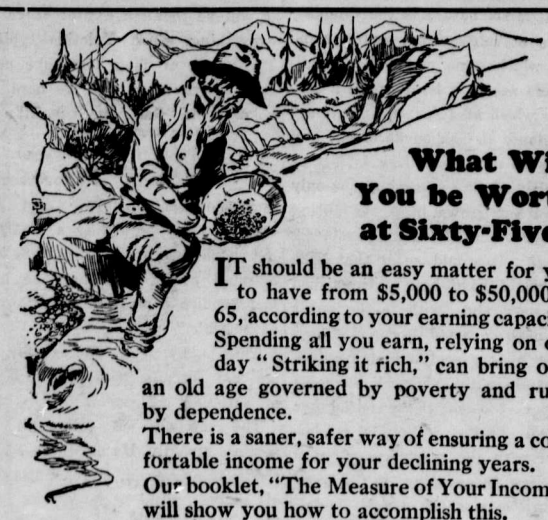
Christ Church Christmas services will consist of carol singing at 7.30 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 21 and services on Christmas day, Dec. 25, at 8.30 a.m. and 11 a.m. There will be special Christmas music and the church will be decorated.

The news of the passing away of Fred Young during the past week end cast a gloom over the community. Fred was a quiet, unassuming young man with true devotion to his parents and sisters, to whom the sympathy of the community is extended.

Cranbrook city council is considering seriously the purchase of the Hyde Baker estate of some 7 acres for a city park. The amount asked is $8000 for land and buildings. Chas. Edwards is holding the estate at present.

Yes, the annual dance of Mount Fernie Chapter, I.O.D.E., will be a grand novelty, in Victoria Hall on New Year's eve, Dec. 31. Good music and excellent refreshments. Come and bring your friends. All welcome. Admission $1.50 a couple.

Fire broke out at the residence of Wm. Stockwell on Tuesday morning and resulted in damage to the extent of about $500. The blaze started from a fire which was being used to thaw some frozen water pipes. The fire brigade was quickly on the job and soon had it under control.



The fire brigade was called out at 2.30 Thursday morning to the home of Angelo Petovello, son in law of A. Rizzuto. The fire was well advanced by the time the alarm was rung in and all the effort of the firemen could only save the frame of the building, the entire contents being a total loss. The loss was estimated at $3000, which was covered by insurance.

Constable J. C. Smart, of Yahk, spent several days in the city this week on official business. Constable Smart is one of the giants of the provincial force. He stands nearly 6 feet 6 inches and is built in proportion. He is a wonderful athlete and on one occasion stood Jack Dempsey off for three rounds in an exhibition bout. Judging from the looks of him Jack was lucky to have lasted the three.

F. W. Adolph, formerly of Baynes Lake, is making arrangements to move into this city, and will take over the district agency for the Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada. This well established company has always enjoyed a good business in this district, and in the hands of Mr. Adolph it is expected their connection will grow considerably. Mr. Adolph was formerly in the lumber business at Baynes Lake, but has lately been devoting his time to oil interests which he has and is still retaining in the Montana field. — Cranbrook Herald.

The men of East Kootenay do not all work very steady but according to official records the bees of this district are on the job all the time. East Kootenay and Creston Valley are the only places in the province where the honey averaged 100 lbs. to the hive. The average throughout the province was about 50 lbs. to the hive. While Creston has been a honey district for some years, it was astonishing to beekeepers to see East Kootenay, in which no bees had been kept until this year, equal its record. It was in East Kootenay that the Wolf Berry, only known to grow in that district, proved such a wonderful honey plant, producing honey almost light enough in color to be graded in the white class, and of such consistency and flavor that it won a gold medal at the Vancouver fall fair, as well as several prizes at New Westminster.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

IF HUMAN nature is the combination of self-seeking, ambition and greed which some materialistic philosophers assert it is, if life is a contest in which all finer sentiments are subordinate to self-advancement and success at any price, how is it that the spirit of Christmas has not only endured but grown in power during nearly 2000 years? If the pessimists are right, it would seem that the light would have been extinguished long since and with it the spirit would have departed.

Were history and our daily lives not replete with evidences — noble evidences too—of the unselfishness in men's hearts ,we might be impressed with the teachings of the sordid, and the carping of the morbid. Christmas is the symbol and a celebration of love—love which is synonymous with charity and which our purest teaching tells us is the finest attribute of the soul. We, who during the past few weeks have watched the Yuletide preparations, are prepared to say that they represent a beautiful manifestation of that attribute.

We have noted the working girl taking home at night her parcels, contributions wrung from the dole of her necessities, in order that she may testify to her love and bring a measure of cheer to some child, some relative, some friend. Tired from her daily toil mayhap, but in her eyes that something which transcends all fatigue; transcends, in fact, everything else in the world and comparable only to that which shone from a mother's eyes upon the Bible in Bethlehem. Friends, in the face of these and so many other manifestations which we are witnessing during this season, what right has any one of us to say that the Light of the World grows dimmer?

Our hearts tell us there is no dimming. Let us be thankful for the extra radiance of Christmas. Let us seek to carry it into our daily lives. Our wish is, that this occasion, at least, will help all of us to forget our tribulations and sorrows, our complaints an danimosities, and that it will be to all a day of cheer and everything which Yuletide typifies. The words of Tiny Tim have never been improved on and we here invoke them: "God bless us all!"

ADVERTISING and turnover. These two go together in good store management. And turnover may be defined as a policy of merchandising which says, "Sell at a small profit, and carry as little merchandise over from year to year as possible."

This policy spells success for the merchant because it creates hundreds of satisfied customers.

The merchant who follows it, advertises steadily. He must use advertising to move his merchandise off his shelves. And to get results from his advertising, he must offer the public better values and better lines of goods.

Thus the policy of advertising and getting rapid turnover benefits you, the buyer, in two ways.

It means lower prices.

It means more seasonable merchandise. You are not sold stuff that has been hanging around on shelves from the year before.

This makes it look as though there is no common sense back of the old idea that the advertiser puts the cost of his advertising in the price of the merchandise he sells.

The merchant who doesn't advertise really has to charge more. He has his money tied up in old merchandise when he needs it to buy new stocks. He suffers a real loss in carrying old stuff over from year to year, and this loss has to be made up by the public.

Mrs. J. T. Dixon, of Fort William, arrived in camp on Saturday last to attend the funeral of the late Tom Puckey.

Harold and Billy Puckey arrived from Canton City, Ohio, on Sunday, to attend the funeral of their brother.

Out of respect to the late Thomas Puckey all scheduled hockey games were cancelled until after the funeral.

The many friends of Mrs. Branch will be pleased to know that she is able to get around after her recent accident.

The board of management of the Club up here announce that Santa Claus will visit the Club Hall at 2.30 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 24, and will be pleased to see all children of Coal Creek and children of members residing in Fernie, up to and including the age of 13 years.

Jim Fawley has arrived back in camp after spending a two week holiday with relatives at Kimberley.

Owing to the severe weather of Monday the funeral of the late Tom Puckey was held over until Wednesday. The Coal Co. kindly provided a special train for the mourners and friends.

Philip Mankuso arrived back in camp on Wednesday after an extensive tour of the U.S.

The school up here was closed on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Puckey and family of Coal Creek desire to thank their many friends and the Boy Scouts for the kind expressions of sympathy and floral tributes in their recent sad bereavement. Also the Coal Co. for train facilities.

All local members of Fernie G.W.V.A. are notified that all active members and families, also the Women's Auxiliary and families, are invited to a feast in the Vets rooms on Wednesday, Dec. 24, at 5 p.m. Presents of wearing apparel will be given to the children; also the usual bag of goodies. Xmas Tree and everything.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. M. Puckey and family desire to thank all those who were so kind to them during their recent bereavement; also those who contributed floral tributes.

THE COST OF OUR CANADIAN LEGISLATORS

The statement made by Premier Ferguson of Ontario that Canada pays more per capita of population for the upkeep of her politicians than any other English-speaking country has struck public attention.

It is probably true that she pays more in this respect than any democratic country. Here is her bill in the Dominion field alone:

18 cabinet ministers, one at $15,000 and 17 at $10,000, plus sessional indemnity of $4000	$ 229,000
235 M.P.'s at $4000	940,000
96 senators at $4000	384,000
Annual total	$1,644,000

In addition to this tidy sum, the provinces pay as follows as salaries of members and ministers:

Ontario	$218,000
Quebec	286,000
Nova Scotia	121,000
New Brunswick	66,000
Manitoba	127,000
British Columbia	135,000
Prince Edward Island	23,000
Alberta	160,000
Saskatchewan	142,000

The combined total cost for the whole in a single year is $2,922,000, or approximately 35 cents per head of population per annum.

BREEDING R. I. REDS

(Vernon News)

Among Rhode Island Reds there is no poultry fancier more enthusiastic about any breed, nor are there very many quite as successful, as is Chief R. N. Clerke, of this city. Mr. Clerke has repeatedly won awards of various kinds against exceptionally strong pens, and is justly proud of the fine strain of birds which he has gradually developed in this class.

There are other fanciers throughout British Columbia, and at a time when poultry matters are so prominent before the people of the district, the following descriptive article by E. W. Mahood, of Webster Groves, Mo., taken from the Rhode Island Red Journal, should prove interesting:

The first thing we must do before aspiring to be a skilled breeder of Rhode Island Reds is to get well fixed in our minds the standard requirements of a Red, not just so that we know the qualities by note, but so that we have the practical knowledge which enables us to know standard quality when we see it and also to recognize the lack of it.

For example, we may know the whole standard description of a wing by heart, and yet not note when a wing with excellent black markings is spread out before us that the wing lacks in red color in the web. We must have a fair idea of ideal color, not forgetting undercolor, and be sure that we recognize Rhode Island Red type, for while there is not the dispute about type, there is about color. We really do not know a Red till we can recognize true Red type or the lack of it in each and every section. We must not only know length of back when we see it, but we must remember the width which should go with it from shoulders to tail. Perhaps the forward body shape of a Red is overlooked the oftenest, yet this is one of the striking characteristics of a Red. To put it all in a few words, we must know Reds in every detail and to attain this knowledge, it will be necessary to study the standard description in connection with the standard picture, going back to it over and over, till we are sure we have missed nothing, and also to handle all the good Reds we can.

When we can recognize all the standard qualities of a Red or the lack of them, and with this knowledge have the sense of proportion we have been talking about, we should at least be able to pick out the best exhibition birds in a flock. However, we must go a little farther; we must be able to pick out a good breeding bird. For our best exhibition birds are not always our best breeding birds. The best exhibition bird is the one which, when conditioned for the show room, comes nearest to standard requirements, and the best exhibition bird in our yards today may not be our best exhibition bird a month from now.

Let us try, then, to get some idea of what sort of a bird we would call a good breeding bird. Suppose we were asked to go out into a yard in which were numbers of good Reds, and pick out what looks to us the best breeding bird, what sort of bird would we be likely to choose?

Our good breeding bird above all must be vigorous, alert and active, with legs of good size and well apart. We will choose a bird of as good type and bone as we can find. We would like him to have good length and breadth of back and good breadth in breast. He will have at least fair head points. When it comes to color, we will not pay so much attention as to whether this bird has the ideal deep red color or not, for we are not looking for standard requirements, but for material which will help us produce birds nearer standard requirements than any birds we now have. Thus, we do not care whether this bird is a shade lighter or one or two shades darker than the ideal color, but we will choose one as near the same shade of red on back, breast and wing bow as possible. The bird we choose may be a lighter shade in hackle than back, but he will be sound in undercolor of hackle. That is, we will choose a bird a little light in hackle, but sound at base, in preference to one with a darker hackle, showing white at base. However, while we are not so particular about the shade of color of this bird, we are more particular about the quality of the color. This quality of color, which is stamped as breeding color in the eyes of the skilled fancier is not easy to describe accurately, but it is of a soft, silky appearance, lustrous rather than brilliant, and without shaft. This good breeding bird will have at least medium depth of undercolor and the undercolor will be sound, that is, without grey or white, but it may or may not show a bar of slate. Here again we will look for a silky, soft quality of color, which is maintained not only throughout the length of the feather, but in every section of the bird.

As for wing flights, we will pay more attention to the color of the web than to the black markings, choosing a bird with a good red web, while the tail will be well spread and sound at the base. Again, we will pay less attention to the color than to the soundness; that is, the tail may be more or less black, but it will be as sound as we can find, the other sections of the bird receiving due consideration.

Now, in spite of all the latitude we have allowed we have chosen an extremely valuable bird, from a breeding standpoint, one which can not be bought for $3, but which none but an experienced breeder would be likely to pick out as the most valuable breeding bird in the yard.

As far as we can, we will choose for him mates which balance him both in type and color. They will have at least fair length of back, fair head points and fair size. They will have good length of keel bone and depth of breast, for the male bird is deficient in these respects. His surface color is lighter than ideal, and he is a shade lighter in hackle than in back and breast, so we will select to mate with him, females a shade or two darker than ideal, with necks as dark as, or darker than, backs. Their undercolor will be as sound and as rich as possible, with a little slate showing in the undercolor of the back, for the male bird, we will remember, is only of medium depth of undercolor. They will have good, black low-carried tails to balance the color and tail carriage of the male, and good black markings in wings, or perhaps a little pepper in wing bows. These females may or may not show a little pepper on back and breast and black in fluff. Both the male bird and the females will, of course, be as much better than these described as we have or can get, but just as I have described this mating, it is a mighty good one, capable of producing winners for any show, provided these birds have the breeding behind them to transmit their own characteristics to their descendants. Also, it is a mating, the individuals of which are valuable and can be bought for a small amount of money.

I want to emphasize here that the sound bird, that is, the one showing no trace of white or grey in any section, is always a very valuable one. Neither, let me say again, can we always discard birds not absolutely sound, especially if they are over one year old.

Now this mating of course might be reversed and the male bird be of the quality and markings of the females described, and vice versa.

As I have said, we cannot always discard birds from our pens, should they lack some of the qualities in the birds we have selected. We may have a splendid male bird of excellent breeding quality but not sound in some section which we can not afford to discard. We will mate him with a female sound in the section where he is weak.

While the ideal mating calls for a male bird without black in hackle, it is not everyone who has, or can afford to purchase, good breeding birds without black in hackle, so we will mate our male birds of this description with females without ticking, if we have them or can procure them, and if not, we will choose females to mate with him, with as little ticking as possible, with red wings and with no slate showing between the shoulders.

But we must remember not only that we must not discard from our breeding pens birds such as we have mentioned with surplus black in back, fluff wing bows and breast, but that these birds have a great breeding value. It has been explained how black and slate or excess color is used to deepen the shade of red in Red birds, so I will not go into this any further, but the fact that these birds have this value cannot be emphasized too strongly or too often. However, we must remember that this slate and black surplus or excess color is not enough in itself to recommend a bird for the breeding pen. It is also necessary that these birds would have a certain degree of soundness. There are pitfalls, of course, for all of us, which we can not be warned against, but which only experience can teach us to watch. For example, we must use this excess color with discretion, and not in the same section on both sides of the mating. How much to use, and when to use it, we will have to learn, mainly by experience.

To sum up, let us remember we must see our birds right — good points and defects—and then balance their defects in their mates, making one strong where the other is weak, remembering every detail of type and color whenever possible, but keeping as much quality on both sides of the mating as we can.

Let us remember, too, that we can not accomplish everything in one season or in ten. The skilled Red fancier is the one who makes the best of what he has and can get, and is content to improve his flock point by point. Indeed, the skilled Red fancier is both a thinker and a doer. He must use patience, time and brains without stint, and occasionally a little money.

Carnation Milk
"From Contented Cows"

Twenty-five Years of Better Cooking

FOR twenty-five years the Carnation label has guided housewives to a pure and most convenient milk supply. Carnation is just pure fresh milk, evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization.

Use Carnation in place of cream in coffee, or on cereals and fruit, etc. Use it diluted in tea, (one part Carnation, three parts water.) For milk of natural consistency for general cooking add a little more than an equal part of water. Order several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans from your grocer. Send for copy of our book of 100 tested recipes.

CHOCOLATE LAYER CAKE: ⅛ teaspoon salt, 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ⅛ cup Carnation Milk, ⅓ cup butter or substitute, 4 eggs, ½ cup water, 1½ cups sugar, 5 tablespoons boiling water, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 2 oz. unsweetened chocolate.

Dissolve chocolate in the boiling water. Cool. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, creaming constantly. Add the chocolate. Beat yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add them to the creamed sugar and butter; then add the liquid and the sifted dry ingredients, alternately. Add vanilla. Beat the whites of the eggs until stiff and cut carefully and lightly into the mixture. Turn into 2 greased layer cake pans and bake in a moderate oven 30 to 35 minutes.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS AND OUR FRIENDS :

The hours of the old year are numbered, the candle burns at both ends and in its lingering light we like to think of things that money cannot buy—Your Friendship and Goodwill.

In all the world there is nothing greater than friendship in business, nothing better than a friend to rejoice with you in prosperity and to stand by you inadversity: nothing finer than a friend who is for you when you are right and who refuses to desert you even when you are wrong.

And as the New Year comes again, we wish our old friends and the new and all those whose friendship we would deserve, unmeasured happiness, with the hope that through all the highways and byways of the coming year you will find success at every turning.

Happily yours,

The Crow's Nest Trading Co., Ltd.

Christmas Entertainment

The annual entertainment and Christmas tree of the United Church Sunday school was held on Tuesday evening of this week. Although the weather was cold children with their parents and friends turned out in such numbers that the church was filled to capacity. An entertainment consisting of choruses, songs, recitations, sketches, etc., lasting over an hour, was followed by the arrival of Santa Claus and the distribution of gifts to the children of the Sunday school. Throught the generosity of W. R. Wilson, each child received a Christmas remembrance which brought much joy to young hearts. Those present testified to the fact that it was one of the most successful entertainments ever held in United Church.

COAL CREEK RESUMES

Coal Creek mines resumed operations on Monday after being idle for nearly nine months—to be exact, 8 months and 21 days—the longest idle period in the 26 years which the company has operated. The first coal to come down the hill arrived on Tuesday and it is expected from this time forward that Fernie mines will be operated steadily.

The first cheering news of the week was that the C.P.R. had ordered 30 cars for immediate delivery. The Company will make every effort to secure a permanent order from this company and now that they are able to get down in price to something reasonable there is every reason to believe that a portion of their business can be secured. Present orders will keep the mines working at capacity for a month and it is hoped by that time that sufficient new business will be secured to keep them running at capacity.

We understand it is the intention of the company, if sufficient coke business can be secured, to start the coke ovens here at an early period. These ovens have now been idle for nearly four years and it will be a joyful day for Fernie when they are put in operation again.

There has been quite a lot of kicking about discrimination against old employees, but men who persist in sticking to the Sherman crowd can have little objection if the company asks them to look to Mr. Sherman for work. It is the intention of the company to try and operate the mines steadily for at least a period of three years and three months, the life of the new agreement, and they are persuaded that the only way this can be done is to refuse to employ a number of those who have been the source of nearly all their troubles for the past twenty years.

SHERMAN'S STATEMENT NOT WINNING FAVOR

(Lethbridge Herald)

Little attention is paid here to a report Saturday from Calgary foreshadowing another general strike in District 18, U.M.W. of A., as a result of the recent developments at Fernie. The domestic coal mines are working full blast in this camp, the miners being too busy to think about a strike.

In a statement to the press, Wm. Sherman, president of District 18, who has been spending much time lately among the miners at Fernie and Coal Creek, said:

"The action of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. constitutes the most serious breach of contract in the history of District 18. Their attitude toward the starving miners and their families has been exremely brutal, and by such action they have certainly left the road clear for many serious industrial conflicts in that region in the near future.

"Some locals," stated Mr. Sherman, "have demanded that the miners' executive board be called together for the purpose of discussing the situation, with the hope that a general strike will be called, with the object in view of forcing the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association to bring severe pressure upon its members to comply with the contracts honorably entered into."

Sounds of merriment permeated the I.O.O.F. hall on Tuesday evening, when the families of members of the local Knights of Pythias were entertained to a supper. After a splendid repast to which all did ample justice, each child was presented with a bag of delicacies and a cash present. Bro. D. Alton acted as master of ceremonies for the evening. Musical numbers were rendered by A. Markland and C. Lees. The four hours of enjoyment spent by the kiddies will long be retained in their memories. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the committee in charge.

MORRISSEY SCHOOL

Standing of Morrissey Mines School for month of December, with marks obtained: Annie Dvorak 3276, Mary Chudik 3098, Lizzie Dvorak 3022, Mary Doman 2969, Frank Chudik 2959, Ehha Chudik 2956, Bessie Chudik 2936, Gabriel Cortese 2514, Margaret Doman 2370.

The Christmas tree and social evening held at the school on Tuesday last was well patronized and a most enjoyable evening spent. The pupils had decorated the room very prettily for the occasion. The first part of the evening was spent playing games and dancing; then the candles on the tree were lighted and Santa arrived, presenting each child with a gift and a box of candy. At 11 refreshments were served, after which a short program of songs and recitations, followed by dancing, occupied the rest of the evening until midnight. Among those present were Mrs. Dvorak and family, Mr. and Mrs. Doman and family, Mr., Mrs. and Alvin Vansacker, Mr. Edmunds, John and Gabriel Cortese and Mr. and Mrs. Macklin.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

While on the surface everything seems to be dead in connection with municipal politics, there is a strong undercurrent at work which no doubt will result in a lively fight for the mayoralty chair for 1921. Mayor G. G. Henderson has announced that his hat is in the ring, but there is a strong feeling throughout the city that it is time for a change. Ald. Irvine, who has served four years under Mayor Henderson, most people feel is entitled to the position, but he absolutely refuses to be a candidate if Mr. Henderson desires the position. However, we have it on good authority that Harry Douglas, who also served a number of years in the council, has no such scruples in the matter and that he might easily be prevailed upon to run. Either J. S. Irvine or Harry Douglas would be strong opponents to Mayor Henderson, who is none too popular. In the event of either of these gentlemen not taking the field, here is still two candidates in the offing, viz., Neil McCallum and Wm. Dicken, so it looks as if Fernie was due for a contest.

Ald. Irvine has also announced that he will not again be a candidate for the council, which will be a severe loss to the city, as he has proved his worth many times over in the last four years as a keen and faithful servant of the people.

Wm. Barraclough, we understand, will be a candidate for aldermanic honors.

LICENSES FOR PREMISES

Victoria, Dec. 19.—When licenses to sell beer are issued they will be issued for individual premises and forfeiture of the license subsequently will mean that beer can not again be sold on those premises.

This cardinal rule was laid down today by Attorney General Manson, who, while stating that the general scheme and regulations for the sale of beer would be left largely to Commissioner Davidson, declared that this was one of the principles on which he should insist.

Mr. Manson stated that as soon as the decision of the House was made he had instructed Mr. Davidson to take the matter under advisement at once.

The form of application for licenses will be one of the first things settled and they will be made available as quickly as possible.

ELKS CHRISTMAS CHEER

Fernie Elks had the pleasure of handing out about 35 hampers of Christmas cheer to the unfortunates of Fernie. The hampers consisted of wholesome food, with a few additions of fruit to cheer up those who are unable to enjoy more substantial food. Taking into consideration that the Fernie Lodge of Elks has only been organized about ten months, their services to the community at this time was a pleasant surprise to all, and the Elks can feel proud of their record in supporting so worthy a cause. A special vote of thanks is extended to Mrs. J. S. Irvine and Mrs. C. O'Neil of the Ladies Benevolent Society, who kindly assisted the Elks. Also to Chief Anderson for his help, the Salvation Army and the ministers of the different churches. The Elks also wish to thank all who assisted them in making this fund possible, assuring one and all that the Elks' motto is at all times "Service to the Community."

FRANCIS WHITE PASSES AWAY

Francis White, for twenty-five years a resident of Fernie and for forty-three years a well known old-timer in the west, on Sunday last crossed the great divide after an illness of nearly a month.

Deceased, who was approaching his 81st birthday, was born at Birmingham, Eng., on Jan. 26, 1844. When he was 17 years of age he emigrated to Canada, where he took up railroad work with the old Grand Trunk Ry., serving as agent at Arthabaska, Lennoxville, Sherbrooke, Hamilton, Lewistown, Pt. Levi and Sarnia. In 882 he answered the call of the west and journeyed by wagon train to Alberta, coming in by way of Butte, Montana. For many years he was manager of the great Cochrane cattle ranch near Macleod, and in 1886 he located the Merino Ranch, the largest sheep ranch in Alberta. In 1889 he took a position as coal inspector for the C. P. R., and his first visit to Fernie was in connection with his duties as inspector. In 1899 he took a position with the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., and brought his family here, where he has been a faithful employee of that company till the day of his death.

Francis White has been one of our best citizens and Fernie has suffered a real loss in his demise. He possessed a kindly and loving disposition which endeared him to all who knew him. His work in connection with the Church of England will remain a monument to him as long as Fernie remains on the map.

The funeral, which took place on Wednesday from Christ Church, was largely attended. Rev. Oswald, who conducted the service, paid a wonderful tribute to the departed.

(Calgary Herald)

Mr. White was well known to many members of the Southern Alberta Pioneers' and Old-timers' Association. He was associated with Colonel James Walker in the early days when he ranched in the vicinity of Cochrane. Calgary old-timers express the deepest regret at the passing of Mr. White.

According to Col. James Walker, president of the Southern Alberta Pioneers' and Old-Timers' Association, Frank White was highly regarded by many friends in the Calgary and Cochrane districts. He arrived in Calgary during the fall of 1882 and succeeded Col. Walker as the manager of the Cochrane ranch. Several years later he and James Robertson went into partnership and founded the Moreno ranch. Prior to his coming to the west Mr. White was employed as a station master in a Quebec town and upon the arrival of the steel in Calgary became engaged in the work of the railway again.

Prior to moving to the Crow's Nest Pass in the capacity of an inspector, he married Miss Anderson, a daughter of Thomas Anderson, of Edmonton, and a sister of Vic Anderson, one of Calgary's pioneer building contractors, for whom the present Anderson block is named.

Mr. White was an enthusiastic member of the Southern Alberta Pioneers' and Old-Timers' Association, which has sent a splendid memorial wreath for the funeral.

Chicago's Chief of Police is doing all he can to make 20 miles an hour the accepted habit of motor driving on the streets. The acceptance of the gospel that good judgment on the part of a motor car driver is the best speed limit has not found sanction in the United States, where 22,000 people were killed and 678,000 injured in motor accidents in 1923. Ultimately, without a shadow of doubt and by force of arguments for the protection of life and limb, definite speed limits for motorists will be perpetuated elsewhere. The traveling public must have protection, rigid and assured, so far as it can be assured, against motorists who do not exercise good judgment and who are not skilful in the handling of their machines.

FORT STEELE HOTEL BURNED

(Cranbrook Courier)

Originating, it is believed, from a defective chimney in the garret of the Imperial Hotel, Fort Steele, a fire broke out at 6 p.m. to utterly destroy the place in the space of two hours. At the time of the outbreak no water was available other than what could be carried in buckets. All that was humanly possible was done to save the building, willing hands assisting the proprietor, Ben Werden, in saving a few pieces of the furniture downstairs.

A phone message reaching the Cranbrook fire department at 6.15 p.m., Chief Adams, with the permission of the city fire commissioners, set out for Fort Steele in a car loaded with six chemicals, making the 12 mile run in 15 minutes. On arrival at Fort Steele, however, the flames had gained such headway as to make the saving of the hotel itself an impossibility. The best the firemen could do was to confine their attention to the outbuildings, also threatened by the flames and which they succeeded in saving. It is understood that some insurance was carried on the building, although the furniture of the place will be a total loss other than the few pieces rescued from the fire. Mr. Werden has the sincere sympathy of the entire community in his loss.

THE RED PERIL IN FRANCE

"The government will combat Communism," declared Premier Herriot in the Chamber of Deputies on the day he received a vote of confidence of 318 to 196, and he added: "We are for the Republic with its principles and doctrines, and have confidence in the virtue of the people." For all that some Paris press correspondents speak of the danger menacing the Herriot government because of the revival on a big scale of Communist agitation simultaneous with the coming to France of the first Bolshevik envoy, Ambassador Krassin. Herriot is not suspected of having Communist sympathies, but there is a feeling that he is not strong enough to meet the new onset of the Reds, which is linked up with France's recognition of Soviet Russia. According to some, Mr. Herriot's weakness is that at every turn he must depend upon the unified Socialists in the Chamber, for although the Socialists and Communists are opposed to each other, the Socialists in principle repudiate repressive methods of any government. Meanwhile, we are advised that Mr. Herriot's position is further endangered by the opposition of the Clericals, who resent his policy toward the Vatican, and Brest dispatches relate the following:

"Many thousands of Catholics of Finisterre, grouped according to localities with mayors and priests at the head, paraded at Le Folgoet under the escort of war veterans as a demonstration protest against the government's alleged anti-clericalism. The paraders sang hymns to the accompaniment of several bands.

"Following the parade the demonstrators listened to addresses by Breton members of parliament, who urged resistance to Freemason persecution. Resolutions were adopted expressing the determination of the Catholics to have religious peace. Maintenance of the Vatican Embassy was also demanded, as was the observance of the pledge that Alsace-Lorraine be allowed to continue under the arrangement which provides subsidies for churches and religious teaching in the schools.

"Speakers declared the Catholics who fought in the late war would not accept class legislation and demanded the abrogation of unjust laws. The Catholics were exhorted to organize in defense of their liberty."

But just as Mr. Herriot was being pictured as caught between the Communists and the Clericals, we learn from Paris dispatches that the heavy defeat of the Communists in the German elections is calculated to hurt their cause everywhere, especially in France. French government circles are reported as declaring that the Communists are not nearly so strong in France as the Opposition press would have us believe, and the "highest government sources" are said to have indicated emphatically that the Communist movement is "of very small importance." According to some correspondents this statement is confirmed by the police and by general observation. The Herriot government is said also to be pleased with the defeat all sorts of extremists suffered in German elections, which one of its officials is reported as calling "a justification of the peace policy which the present French government has pursued, and of the work done by all the nations at Geneva."

THE GOVERNMENT SHIP

Sydney Bulletin: A government ship costs twice as much to build as there is any hope of earning interest on, and at least twice as much as an average outside price, so that it is largely relief work. Then any kind of Australian vessel costs twice as much to run as an ordinary sort of outside ship. There being no protection on the high seas, there is practically nothing save costal work to do, except in the case of a government line run at a heavy loss. Shipbuilding, however, is a pet industry, because it belongs almost entirely to the big, pampered capitals. It can't wander inland, and iffuse itself among the little towns, and promote the spread of population as the woollen or linen or cotton business could do under a more rational policy. And government shipowning not only centres its activities in the big cities but offers large opportunities for job control, so it is another petted undertaking. Yet the business is a persistent dud.

Discussion which has been in progress for some months on the desirability of police reform is reflected in a bill introduced in the legislature by Attorney General Manson. The bill makes it possible for any municipality to enter into an agreement with the superintendent of provincial police, subject to approval of the lieutenant governor council, whereby the provincial force will take over the policing of the municipality.

CONSERVATIVES AND EMPIRE

Louisville Journal: The Macdonald government antagonized Australia when it refused to construct the naval base at Singapore. It antagonized this Dominion by approving the protocol. On both of these questions the Baldwin ministry has now reversed the action of the preceding government, looking toward cementing the relations between the British Isles and its possessions, rather than allowing any friction to exist between them. It has long been feared that Canada, separated so far from the Mother Country and so close to the United States, might more and more be alienated from trade with England. But world trade is the first consideration of the modern Tory, who builds all his hopes of the Empire on this one idea.

Here and There

Rex Beach, the eminent American author, was recently in New Brunswick as a guest of W. G. McIntyre. On leaving for his home in the United States at the conclusion of his visit, Mr. Beach expressed himself as a strong booster for the hunting and fishing possibilities of the province, charmed with its scenic beauties, delighted with its people and solemnly proposing to return with his gang next year.

The largest and one of the most valuable shipments of foxes ever to pass through Montreal, Que., by Dominion Express Company, was handled by that organization recently. There were 35 animals in the shipment, valued at $17,000, 30 being silverblack foxes and the rest black foxes. The former were destined for exhibition at Minneapolis, while the latter went to different points in the Canadian West.

The Eastern International Dog-Sled Derby, which was so successful last year, will again be held at Quebec in 1925, the dates set being February 19th, 20th and 21st. As on former occasions, the distance to be covered will be 120 miles, at an average rate of 40 miles a day. Earl Bridges, Le Pas, Manitoba, now holds the handsome trophy awarded for the race and is expected to defend his honors. Many teams are already working out.

A decided acquisition to Trois Rivieres, Que., is the new Canadian Pacific Railway station, which was opened there on November 8th. The building is Italian in design. Rose and Macdonald, of Montreal, were the architects. Remarkable speed was made in the construction, as the contract for the work was only signed on June 2nd last. The opening ceremony was performed by Grant Hall, vice-president of the company, in the presence of many notables.

Three moose and one deer was the total bag of W. B. Leeds, jr., young American multi-millionaire, and his friends, Nils Florman, Albert Hopkins, Paul Smith and Mortimer Davis, jr., as the result of their recent hunting trip into the Kipawa district. The leader of the party expressed himself as delighted with the results, as he had not hoped for such luck. Great quantities of game of all kinds were seen.

That the Land of Evangeline (Nova Scotia) now ships over 2,000,000 bushels of apples abroad annually was the recent statement of F. G. J. Comeau, general freight and passenger agent, Dominion Atlantic Railway. A number of British apple growers and buyers are at present putting large tracts of land under fruit. With the apple growing industry increasing from year to year, at the rate of two to three hundred per cent per decade, only twenty per cent of the orchard land available in the province is yet under fruit.

Perhaps the most remarkable, certainly the first aerial stowaway in history was discovered by Pilot Caldwell of the Laurentide Air Service, operating in the neighborhood of the Rouyn gold-fields, the other day. Caldwell, on rising for a long flight, found his machine so badly balanced as to be almost unmanagable. Cigarette butts and other clues led to the uncovering of the extra weight, which turned out to be a miner. As the man had taken this cheap but decidedly dangerous way of reaching civilization in order to see his sick wife, he was not detained or punished.

Martha Ostenso Gave Best First Novel of Year that Setting

Miss Martha Otenso, who was awarded the $13,500 prize and royalties on the book for the best first novel submitted during the past year in a contest organized jointly by Dodd, Mead & Company, Pictorial Review and Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, is a twenty-four-year-old school teacher from Manitoba. Miss Ostenso's novel will be serialized, filmed and published in book form in 1925. The story, which is called "The Passionate Flight," deals with the farmers of the Western Prairies and portrays the romance of one whose ambition to soar beyond the black loam led to dramatic consequences.

More than 1,500 manuscripts were submitted. The judges state that Miss Ostenso's was so far superior that no other story seriously rivalled it.

A brief sketch of her life and the circumstances which inspired her novel, as related by Miss Ostenso, follows:

"Where the long arm of the Hardangerfjiord penetrates farthest into the rugged mountains of the coast of Norway, the Ostenso family has lived in the township that bears its name since the days of the Vikings. The name means 'Eastern Sea,' and was assumed centuries ago by an adventurous forbear who dreamed of extending his holdings over the mountains and through the lowlands of Sweden eastward to the very shores of the Batlic. Although his dreams never came true, the family name recalls it and the family tradition of land-holding has persisted unbroken; the part of the land that borders the lovely fjord is still in its possession, handed down from eldest son to eldest son.

"My father, a young son, was free to indulge his roving disposition. A few years after his marriage to my mother he decided to emigrate to America.

"My mother's parents lived high up in the mountains, remote from the softening influence of the coast towns. At their home it was, near the little village of Haukeland, that I was born. This, the first of many small towns in which I have lived, is known to me only through hearsay, for when I was two years old we came to America.

"The story of my childhood is a tale of seven little towns in Minnesota and South Dakota. Towns of the field and prairie all, redolent of the soil from which they had sprung and eloquent of that struggle common to the farmer the world over, a struggle but transferred from the Ostensos and Haukelands of the Old World to the richer loam of the new. They should have a story written about them—those seven mean, yet glorious little towns of my childhood! In one of them, on the dun prairies of South Dakota, I learned to speak English. What a lovely language I found it to be, with words in it like pail and funeral and alone, and ugly words, too, like laughter and cake and scratch! What strange sounds the new words made to me.

"Later, in another of the little towns, I learned that it was fun to make things with words. It was while living in a little town in Minnesota that I became a regular contributor to the Junior Page of the Minneapolis Journal, and was rewarded for my literary trial-balloons at the rate of eighty cents a column. In the public school of that little town there still hangs, perhaps, a large print of a rural scene in a resplendent frame, with a neat name-plate at the bottom of it. That also came from the Journal, in recognition of an essay which, in my eleven-year-old opinion, placed me abreast of Emerson.

"When I was fifteen years old, I bade good-bye to the Seven Little Towns. My father's restless spirit drove him north to the newer country. The family settled in Manitoba.

"It was during a summer vacation from my university work that I went into the lake district of Manitoba, well towards the frontiers of that northern civilization. The story that I have written lay there, waiting to be put into words. Here was the raw material out of which Little Towns were made. Here was human nature stark, unattired in the convention of a smoother, softer life. A thousand stories are there still, to be written.

"My novel lay back of my mind for several years before I began to write it. In the intervals of those years, spent as a social worker in a great city, I often compared the creaking machinery of skyscraper civilization with the cruder, direct society of the frontier. Slowly, as my work among the needy brought me nearer and nearer to the heart of the city, the border life began to be limned clearly against the murkier background of my work-a-day scene.

"A year ago last summer I returned to Manitoba. The approach to remembered scenes renewed my interest in my story, the character stood out clear-cut at last, and I made the first draft of the novel.

"I was not satisfied with the result and laid the manuscript aside, with no definite purpose regarding it. It was not until spring that I returned to the city and learned of the Curtis Brown contest. It was with diffidence and reluctance that I was persuaded by friends, who thought well of the early draft and its possibilities, to rewrite it in time to submit it for consideration. At best, I felt, if it were as good as my friends said, it might not be wholly ignored.

"I leave it to the scientists and pseudo-scientists who argue interminably about the relative influence on men of heredity and environment to decide the responsibility for what ever merit my story may have. The blood of the Norsemen! The Seven Little Towns? Perhaps—I do not know. No—but I have my own very unscientific opinion. It won't bear stating, but this much may be said of it: It has something to do with magic and fairies and all the other impossible, beautiful things that I believe in."

Carnation Milk
"From Contented Cows"

Aids Bake-Day

CARNATION Milk will come as a delightful surprise to any housewife who has never known its convenience and safety and richness. Always on hand—on your pantry shelf; always ready for use; none wasted because it keeps sweet for several days when opened. Sold by grocers everywhere at moderate prices.

Carnation Milk is just pure fresh milk, evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization. Order several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans. Try this recipe and write for the free Carnation Recipe Book.

CUSTARD PIE.—2 eggs, ⅛ teaspoonful salt, 3 tablespoonfuls sugar, 1 cup water, ½ teaspoonful vanilla, ½ cup Carnation Milk, few grains nutmeg. Beat eggs slightly, add sugar, salt and milk, diluted with water. Line a pie tin with pastry; pour in the mixture to which the vanilla has been added. Sprinkle the top with nutmeg. Bake in hot oven at first to set the rim, then reduce the heat as egg and milk in combination should be cooked at a low temperature. This recipe makes one pie.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

BARBERS AND PUBLIC

The Barbers' Bill now before the Legislature of B.C., drastic as its provisions appear to be, does not go so far in its purport as the attitude of the Associated Master Barbers of the United States. That organization has decided to boycott all films in which a moving picture actor — Rudolph Valentino — appears, because he has grown a beard. The attitude of the barbers is that the said Valentino by growing a beard will make the practice fashionable in the United States and therefore the ancient and honorable profession of barbering will suffer in proportion. There is no suggestion in our own Barbers' Bill of an attempt to dictate to the public at large as to whether or not its members shall wear hirsute adornments. Indeed, there is perhaps something to be thankful for that legislation does not propose going so far as that. It has interfered so much in domestic economy that there is always the danger that the powers that be may interfere and decree when and how and by whom a man may be shaved or not shaved, and a woman bobbed or un-bobbed. The action of the Associated Master Barbers possesses this one good point, and it is noted by the Montreal Star namely, that if it is efficacious and it prevents the people of the United States from following the example of the moving picture actor there will be no facial adornment of Americans to the extent of making them undistinguishable from Russians.

The recent civil strife in China has affected the fortunes of the Manchu Emperor. He has taken refuge in the Japanese Legation in Pekin. The Chinese capital is now in the military occupation of rival forces—in part of the troops of General Feng and in part of the troops of Marshal Chang Tso-lin. The former was supposed to have countenanced a violation of the Manchu Agreement whereby the boy Emperor would be stripped of his titles. Until the situation clears in Pekin the Emperor has placed himself under the protection of the Japanese government.

CANCER TOLL NEARLY NINETY THOUSAND

Washington, Dec. 21.—Deaths from cancer increased in the United States in 1923 while the fight against tuberculosis made progress.

A total of 86,754 deaths was reported to the census bureau as having resulted from cancer last year, in a registration area of territory containing 87.6 per cent of the total population. This reported an increase of 5816 deaths over 1922. The rate per 100,000 population was 89.4 against 86.8 in 1922.

In the same area tuberculosis caused 90,732 deaths, against 90,452 in 1922, but the rate per 100,000 decreased from 97 to 93.6.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

NO longer will they poke fun at the small town, for it is coming into its own. Small towns can rejoice at every increase in population of the big town, because with such increase in population of the big town comes a pushing out of its population into the smaller communities, and especially is the lesson driven home that the small town is ideal for free breathing and for clean and joyous living. The reason is plain. Congested cities are not as desirable for homes as suburban localities, unless one is able to own a home along millionaire row. Smokestacks and tall buildings make for efficiency but not necessarily for virtue.

The day will come—is coming, has come—when the smaller community can provide for the needs of citizenship as well or better than the great city. It has great open spaces, while the city has not. Its libraries, schools, churches, are more accessible, just as efficient, and are without the distractions common to more populous areas. Greatest of them all, the small town provides an opportunity for friendship, for knowing and meeting and greeting the other fellow, that always will remain an unchallenged asset over that of the city. It is the eternal struggle of quality over quantity.

A CHURCH prints on the back of its program of services these words:

"I will not worry.

"I will not be fraid.

"I will not give way to anger.

"I will not yield to envy, jealousy or hatred.

"I will be kind to every man, woman and child with whom I come in contact.

"I will be cheerful and hopeful.

"I will trust in God and bravely face the future."

Read them again; they are worth while.

Cut them out and paste or pin them where you will see them often. About all there is in life worth striving for is suggested in these few lines.

Houses, lands, bonds, automobiles are fine possessions. But far more precious still to anyone, in any station, are the measures of the mind and soul—composure, courage, cheerfulness, tolerance, kindness, hope — all these and faith in something higher than that which the eyes see and the hands hold.

******

POPULARITY contests, beauty contests. Cats have teeth and claws. A mouse in a cat's mouth, tossed this way and that, is no worse, we fear, than a steer bulldogged to earth. The cat doesn't know the word "cruel" from a juicy bird; has no alphabet better than God's alphabet of the wilderness. What withers a girl more than a beauty contest? We do not profess to know. We merely look on as schools and colleges engage in a form of cruelty too highly refined for animals to be able to take a jump at. A beauty contest or a popularity contest? with the winner perhaps a bit bold and not so very much more popular, after all, than some old-fashioned girl who has a picture of motherhood in her eyes. For one glad girl, why make a dozen sad? Youth deserves better of us.

IT seems that almost everything has its uses. Static, that burglar of all radio fans, has now been put to work, and is proving of real value to naval aviators, who are using it in the warmer climates to detect brewing thunderstorms and follow their movements. They tune in on the static to its maximum intensity and by changing their loop secure the loction of the storm and the direction it is going, together with its speed. Not only for aviators but for seafarers is this use of static and the radio of exceptional value.

HAVE you ever had a vision of what the world would be had there never been a Christmas-time, and no reason for one? We do not like to think of it, for it surely would be a black time in the world's history were we to go back to the day when the Christ child had not been born.

A good many things we have to pass quite unappreciated, until through some wrench of fortune they are snatched away from us. Lovely things, beautiful things, things we could scarcely do without far too often lie in our hands without bringing to us a single thrill of joy or of thanksgiving. We have them; we enjoy them, but we are not grateful for them. Only when we wake up some morning and find that our treasure has been taken away from us do we cry, "Oh, bring it back! I must have it; I cannot live without it."

Now, we have our Christmas treasure. It has been ours all our lives, so long that we have been accustomed to it. We accept it and all that comes with it, as a mater of course; and it means so little to us! We give, we get, and we do not stop to think why.

What if a new vision of the Christmas time were to come to us in this year of our Lord 1924? What if we were to take down a Book which has lain on the shelf so long that the dust is deep on its covers and read once more the story of that first Yuletide, the brightest and the best day that ever came to this old world, and lingered over it until our souls beat warm once more, and our hearts filled again with the love which was on that day manifest toward all the world. What a new day that would be in the lives of us all!

And it may be so. A stone has too long lain at the doorway of our hearts. Let us roll it away now, and let its glory flood our lives and make us once more little children with all a child's innocence, goodness and longing for the happiness of everyone he knows!

ON the average of at least once a week the mail contains an epistle from an individual with a hobby or a grievance. Part of the time these epistles emit wrath about something that has been printed in the newspaper; part of the time about something that hasn't been printed. But they have an unvarying conclusion, which is a threat to "stop the paper."

Of course every editor respects the opinions of his fellow men, whether they chance to be readers of his particular paper or not; if he didn't he couldnt expect his fellow men to respect his opinions. But the editor who undertook to vary the policy of his newspaper to suit every complaint or humor every hobby of several thousand readers would soon find himself in the poor house or the padded cell division of the lunatic asylum. For this reason an editor is obliged to keep a special corner of his waste basket ready for the communications of the heated individuals who feel the impulse to "stop the paper."

People have been "stopping papers" for a great many years, but for some inexplicable reason newspapers continue to be published. The answer probably is that where one individual with narrow conceptions and hidebound prejudices takes offense at some truthful article, several hundred more are inclined to applaud it. Another reason why editors are more or less contemptuous of the "stop the paper" bulldozers is that the great bulk of citizens respect a newspaper which is frank and courageous, even when they disagree with its policies, while they have only disgust for one which trims its sails to catch every passing breeze.

This is a free country, and nothing is freer than the privilege of taking a newspaper or leaving it alone. Editors would be the last of all persons to wish it otherwise. But the dear reader who imagines that "stopping the paper" also stops the presses is the victim of a childish illusion. He hurts himself far more than the offending editor or newspaper.

HE who fights and runs away lives to write memories of the fray.

DO you want to be shot?

"Can't say that I do," chances are, would be your reply. Then be cautious with firearms and warn those around you to be likewise. Carelessness is the cause of the great majority of accidents with firearms and yet how many of us handle firearms as they were the most harmless weapon used by mankind. The Free Press hopes it will not have to report a single shooting accident in this district in 1925, and in order to carry out this wish, for your own sake as well as that parents and friends, pay strict attention to he following:

Never have a loaded gun in the house, automobile or vehicle.

Make sure at what you are shooting. A man's life is a sacred thing and if you take it you will never forgive yourself for it.

Never walk along with your gun cocked—not even when you are alone.

Unload your gun when you come out of the bush and see that your companions do the same.

Never point a gun at a person under any circumstances. Fate often spoils fun of that kind.

HOME BANK MONEY WAS GIVEN FREELY

Toronto, Dec. 19.—R. P. Gough, former vice president and director of the Home Bank, startled the court at his trial this afternoon, by saying that several million dollars loaned by the bank to business concerns and others had never been authorized or considered by the board of directors.

He told about numerous loans which he stated he had never heard of, although on the board until A. E. Calvert presented them in a statement to the directors just before the bank closed its doors in August, 1923.

"I often came a long way to attend board meetings," said Mr. Gough, "and I looked after as much detail as I could, but now I know I was only being fooled. The large transactions never came before the board at all."

Witness said that the $650,000 loan to the Manufacturers' Holding and Investment Company was an example. The minutes of the board read that this loan had been considered.

"That is absolutely untrue as it never came before the board," declared Mr. Gough. Loans had been made to men he never had seen or known until the Home Bank trials commenced a couple of months ago.

SANTA CLAUS USES THE RADIO

UNTIL this year little boys and girls could only write to Santa Claus; post their letters and trust to the postman to deliver them. But this year the radio department of the Canadian National Railways made an arrangement with Santa Claus and letters from boys and girls all over Canada have been broadcast from the C.N.R. radio stations to Santa in his workshop in the far north. Santa has acknowledged each evening by radio that he is hearing what his little friends have to tell him.

Although he is a very busy man, Santa Claus visited every broadcasting station of the Canadian National Railways, in Moncton, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Regina, Calgary and Edmonton, telling his ltle friends to write him, care of the C.N.R. Radio, and thousands of letters from boys and girls have been received and broadcast to Santa.

The picture you see here was taken in one of those stations as Santa was speaking to his boys and girls through the microphone, which is the instrument used to send the sound of the voice dancing out over the world on the radio waves.

Below you see one of the big engines that the Canadian National Railways are lending Santa Claus to carry his bags of toys if there is not enough snow for his reindeer. These are the biggest and most powerful freight engines in the whole of the British Empire. They can easily pull a train of 150 loaded freight cars; so you see, Santa Claus will have no trouble bringing all his toys, no matter if there isn't any snow on Christmas Eve.

LOCAL & GENERAL

D. LaRochelle left on Monday night on a visit to Montreal.

W. R. Wilson spent Christmas with Mrs. Wilson at their home in Vancouver.

Wm. Johnston gave a free matinee for children at the Orpheum on Wednesday.

The passenger train from the East on Christmas day was 15 hours late owing to a bad freight wreck near Blairmore.

Mrs. E. K. Stewart and her son Kenny arrived home from Vancouver on Monday after an absence of several months.

Jack McKay, of Elko, was in the Fernie hospital several days this week, the result of being struck on the head by a falling pail of mortar.

J. A. McDonald, customs officer at Newgate, was a patient in the Fernie hospital for two or three days this week.

Mrs. Hartley Wilson and children, who have been spending several months in sunny California, arrived home on Monday. Mrs. Wilson says the good old Canadian winter appeals to her morethan California.

U. S. Consul F. Brand, who has been touring the Central States for the past three months on a lecture tour, arrived home on Sunday. His brother, Archie M. Brand, of Fairbault, Minn., returned to Fernie with him on a short visit.

The members of the Fernie Old-Timers Association has been running in bad luck during 1924. At least seven of these pioneers have answered the last call and crossed the great divide during the past year. They were R. T. L. Galbraith, John Todhunter, Geo. Hoggarth, Wm. Reynolds, Harry Dunlap, Wm. Mills and Francis White. R.I.P.

An organization meeting of the B.C. Miners Association will be held at the Isis Theatre on Sunday, Dec. 28, at 6.30 p.m. All members (those men who have commenced work and those who have signed for work with the Coal Co.) are requested to attend. Nomination for officers and checkweighmen.—The Committee.

All members of the L.O.O.M., Women of Mooseheart Legion and their families are invited to attend a supper and social evening on Tuesday evening, Dec. 30, in the lodge room, Victoria Hall. Supper will be served at 6.30 p.m. An energetic committee is at work to make this event one to be long remembered.

The District Bonspiel will open in Fernie on Jan. 19. Already eight local skips have lined up their teams for the spiel and it is expected that there will be at least four others. Fernie club is not as strong in numbers this year as usual, but the quality has not been impaired any and the local boys will give a good account of themselves against the visitors.

The Vets hall was thescene of much enjoyment on Wednesday evening, when the members and their wives and children assembled to participate in the annual Xmas celebration. The room was tastefully decorated and there were two large trees illuminated by many colored lights. A splendid repast was indulged in, after which Santa Claus presented George Bowen with a Past President's jewel and afterwards dispensed suitable wearing apparel to the children and Christmas cheer to the widows of departed comrades.

In order that the children of the members of the Fernie Literary and Athletic Association may have a good time this festive season, the members unanimously decided to forfeit their monthly dance. In consequence of which all members are requested to bring their wives and all their children to Victoria Hall on Monday evening. There will be a short whist drive, after which the evening will be given over to the children's enjoyment. Refreshments will be provided and each child will receive a bag of delicacies. Whist drive at 7 p.m. sharp.

Born—At Fernie, B.C., on Dec. 22, to Mr. and Mrs. Alberto Erei, a son.

Mrs. Wm. Johnston left for Proctor on Wednesday, being called away by the serious illness of her father.

Jimmy McNicholas, of Wallace, Idaho, is spending a few days in the city with Alex. Sherwood.

The Cokato school takes this opportunity to thank everyone who contributed to the children's Xmas tree.

A meeting of the Fernie Hockey Club will be held in the 150 Gym on Tuesday, Dec. 30, at 8 p.m. All those wishing to play this season will please be on hand or send in their names.

Delbert Ward, an employee of the E. Kootenay Power Co., was brought to the hospital on Tuesday. While working at Elko he had fallen 17 feet, landing on his head and shoulders.

At the home of the bride's parents, Corbin, B.C., on Friday, Dec. 19, Mr. George Cleough and Miss Edith Gammie, both of Corbin, were united in marriage, Rev. W. F. Burns officiating.

Johnny Dufour returned on Saturday from a trip to the Couer d'Alene country. Johnny had just secured a new job when the joyful tidings arrived that Coal Creek was about to resume operations. He immediately packed his turkey.

The day before Christmas the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., in order to meet the hard times situation prevaling, offered all their married employees an advance against their wages. The offer was eagerly accepted by a large number.

Inspector Dunwoody of the provincial police spent several days in the city this week. The provincial authorities were looking for more or less trouble in connection with the opening of the mines, but were pleasantly disappointed.

Fruit Inspector A. McL. Fletcher was here on an official visit the latter part of the week and his records show that up tilll Dec. 15, 299 cars of apples have been shipped from Valley points. He estimates there are at least five cars in the cellars of the growers and about six cars in the local warehouse.—Creston Review.

The Circus Maximus, near Rome, which is to be excavated, was the earliest place of public amusement of the Imperial City. It dates from between 616 and 578 B.C. It was a somewhat primitive structure until the time of Julius Caesar, who increased the number of travertine benches and enriched the whole with marble. It was further improved by Augustus Caesar, who built a special imperial box. The Circus remained in use until the fall of the Gothic Kingdom of Theodoric in the middle of the sixth century. By 1580 it was buried in "24 palms of soil," and it is considered possible that after its abandonment it may have been pillaged to an extent that will mean that little but structural ruins will be uncovered in the excavations.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Young and family desire to thank all those who were so good to them in their recent sad bereavement; also thank the doctors and nurse who attended to their son; also for the special train from Coal Creek.

ANNUAL DOG DERBY AT THE PAS

Upper photograph shows C. B. Morgan's team, winners in the 1923 derby, with W. Grayson driving. In the centre is Shorty Russick, with his 1924 winners, which finished the 200-mile non-stop run in the record time of 23 hours 52 minutes. The lower photograph shows a sleigh loaded with 100 pounds weight, ready for the two-day freight race, which is an added feature of the 1925 derby.

DOG mushers in Northern Manitoba are out on the trail every day grooming their teams for the eighth annual 200-mile non-stop dog derby, which is being held on February 3rd, 1925. Although the race is still some time away, more than 100 dogs are being given their daily stint of trail work in preparation for the grind. Several new teams, composed of young, well-bred wolfhound huskies are being trained and this introduction of new blood is expected to lead to a new and startling pace being set in the 1925 contest.

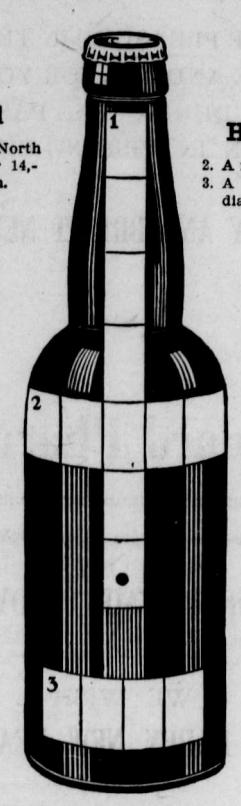
This year the teams will race over a new course, the Herb Lake gold camps having been set as the turning point. The starting point will be at the Hudson Bay Railway bridge over the Saskatchewan River, and the teams will follow a route which is served with telephone communication so that frequent progress reports will be available.

A five-dog team freight race has been added to the programme this year to provide a new feature. In this sleighs will be required to carry a load of 100 pounds and the team will race 30 miles each day for two days. The object of this is to promote the breeding of good freighting dogs.

The Carnival Queen contest is already attracting much interest with entries having been made from several western cities and towns. The queen and members of her court are the young ladies who secure the highest number of votes and these have all their expenses paid to and from the derby, and are also guests of honor during the entire week that the carnival is held.

SEEKING PROTECTION

Nova Scotia is beginning to realize better than ever before that protection for its industries is necessary. A deputation, headed by the Liberal Premier of Nova Scotia, has recently waited on Federal Ministers, asking for higher duties on coal and steel products. Of course the present government will not give such protection, because it would not be favored by the Progressives in parliament. Premier Armstrong of Nova Scotia, pointed out as one instance of the need of protection that the duty on slack coal is now exactly what it had been in 1897, but the value of the coal had risen from 25 cents to $3.63 per ton. Nova Scotia, he said, wanted fair play for her slack in the markets of Quebec, but these markets were being invaded by the United States product in ever-increasing quantity. It appears that in the last twelve months 1,403,000 tons of slack coal were imported into Canada from the United States and in the year before the importations were more than 2,000,000 tons.



The Montreal Gazette, alluding to Nova Scotia's attitude, says there should be an increased duty on bituminous coal, and, for revenue purposes, a tax might well be placed on anthracite coal as was done in 1897. Of bituminous coal, of which there are large deposits in the country, there were imported in the twelve months ending October 31 last, 12,709,000 tons, valued at $31,268,000. The year before the importation amounted to 16,713,000 tons, valued at $57,088,000. It is claimed that with proper protection there will be an extension of the market for the Nova Scotia product. The request from his Liberal supporters in that province will place Mr. Mackenzie King in a quandray, but it is a quandary into which he landed himself when he truckled to the demands of the Progressive element in parliament.—Colonist.

THE AGE OF COMBINES

Louisville Jouurnal: The Royal Dutch Company, it is reported in Paris, has passed entirely into the control of British financiers and an oil trust rivaling the strength of the Standard Oil Company is expected to result from the transaction. Heretofore Yankee enterprise has had almost a free hand. It could invade all parts of the earth as Standard Oil has done, and make the world pay tribute. Its steel mills could compete with Germany and England and build up an enormous trade. Likewise the American sewing machine, the American plow, the American automobile, the American camera. The coming age promises keener competition, American companies to be opposed by combines built along similar lines. It will not be unlike the competition of Germany in world trade in the days before the war and on a greatly enlarged plane.

How would you like to be called upon to prepare a meal for 125 or more people in a kitchen 21 feet long and a little over 6 feet wide, in which four other than yourself were working, and in which all your stores and supplies were kept? You might consider it a fairly tall order, and yet day after day many men are doing this very same thing at least three times a day in the kitchens of the railway dining cars which render travelling hotel service across the continent. In addition to the space mentioned, the kitchen and dining room staff have only a pantry seven feet by six in which to work, yet who has not wondered at the seeming magic with which the waiters produce at very short notice the choicest of foods and drinks, cooked and garnished to tempt the most dainty appetite and appease the most hungry?

The key note of this remarkable service is, of course, system, and then training. Investigating, one finds that each class of food has its own refrigerator, and that each refrigerator and ice-well, each drawer and each of the innumerable lockers are so arranged as to permit of ready access with the minimum amount of lost motion. Everything has and is in its place, the seperate refrigerators being provided in order to avoid absorption of odors from the pungent variety of foodstuffs by those of a more delicate quality. The cooking is done on a broiler in the case of steaks, fish and ham, etc., or on the large coal range. Dairy products and fruits are stored in the pantry where silver, glass-ware and crockery is kept.

The preparation of the menu card is done under the personal supervision of the superintendent and a full set of bills of fare covering all meals to be served on the run, are handed to the steward and chef. They make out a requisition for the necessary quantity of supplies, basing their estimate on the average travel, and all foodstuffs are checked and examined as to quality by the Chef personally as they are placed in the car, and put into the receptacles provided. Everything is then ready for the preparation of the meal. There is, however, a great deal of work to be done before the "first call" is made.

Stock has to be prepared for soup, poultry and fish cleaned, garnitures cut, vegetables cut and many other things. The Chef sees that everything possible is prepared ahead, but will not permit the preparation ahead of such items as require to be prepared as ordered. All broiled foodstuffs and such things as toast and eggs for instance must be prepared only as ordered.

As to the division of duties, the Chef prepares soups, sauces, cooks all roasts, frys and grills all meats and generally supervises the work of the kitchen staff. Second cook makes all pastry, puddings, cakes, muffins and coffee; third cook peels all vegetables and assists the second cook with the other work; fourth cook is a general utility man and does the washing of dishes, pots and pans. The fifth cook, cometimes called the pantryman cuts bread, butter and prepares salads, grape fruit, oranges, etc. This division of labor permits of the service of meals just as quickly as passengers can partake of them, and very often one kitchen staff in the Canadian Pacific dining car service will turn out nearly 400 meals in the course of one day.

PRINCE ALBERT

the international joy smoke

is the real tobacco for jimmy pipes and makin's cigarettes

Back up and get a fresh start!

For men who got away to a false start on a pipe or home-made cigarettes Prince Albert has a word or two for what ails their smokeappetites! Forget you ever tried to smoke, for Prince Albert is so different, has such a fine flavor, and is so cool and cheerful and friendly, you'll get a new idea of smoke joy! The patented process cuts out bite and parch! Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!

This little talk is also for men who think they're on the right track. All to be said is that the sooner you lay out the price for a supply of Prince Albert, the sooner you'll make a discovery that'll be worth a lot to your peace of mind and tongue! If your dealer cannot supply it, ask him to secure Prince Albert through his wholesaler. Get the idea of smoking all you want without a comeback—that's P. A.!

Prince Albert is sold throughout Canada, generally, in the ½-lb. tidy red tin, also in pound and half-pound humidors.

On the reverse side of this tidy red tin you will read: "Process Patented July 30th, 1907," which has made three men smoke pipes where one smoked before!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO., Winston-Salem, N. C., U. S. A.

The extraordinary claim comes from Sweden of a process for extracting pure steel and forge iron from iron ore direct without the use of smelting furnaces. The success of laboratory experiments has been followed by arrangements for tests on a very large scale. It is almost impossible to exaggerate the effect of such a discovery if the claims for it are made good. That it would revolutionize the iron and steel industry is certain, but it would not do to take it for granted that such a change is to be brought about at once. The discoveries of the present are so many and so varied that the world almost needs a breathing space to review them impartially and decide on their benefit to mankind.

Fond Mother: Yes, John is such a good boy. You know he is taking a medical course, and he is working so hard it even affects his sleep. Why, the other night I heard him say in his sleep: "Let me get to work. For Gods sake give me those bones."

Waiter: What will it be today?

A SPIKE FOR THE ONE-HAND GUN

Murder by mail is to be stopped so far as Sears, Roebuck and Company are concerned, for that well known Chicago mail order house has announced that it has discontinued the sale of all forms of firearms. "Our action in limiting the sale of firearms to officers of the law and finally discontinuing the sale of them altogether," says Julius Rosenwald, chairman of the board of the firm, "is based on the desire to protect our good name and maintain the public good will. We feel the moral side of all public questions is the right side, not only because we want to be right, but because it is good business." This action is worthy of the commendation it has already received and deserving of all praise, remarks the New York Daily News, which has long been in the campaign against pistol-toting. The voluntary action of Sears, Roebuck and Company is not legislation, we are told; "but it is indicative of a growing public opinion against the sale of pistols and revolvers; it is a move toward spiking the one-hand gun. It is a shining example for other mail-order houses to follow." Observing that the times are changing, that men don't go about the streets armed with deadly weapons any more if they have no criminal intent, the Washington News asserts that even homes don't need guns for protection as they once did. "For every home that is saved from marauders by the presence of a gun, there is probably at least one into which tragedy came because some one 'didn't know it was loaded.'" The remedies, asserts the Washington paper, are two: "Maximum sentences for every one found to be carrying a gun on the street, strict regulation of the sale of weapons only to those who can show responsible character and actual need for the weapon."

A day or two after the announcement by Sears, Roebuck and Company, notes the Columbus Dispatch, it was published that one of the well known firearms manufacturing companies, which had been closed down since July, had resumed operations and would soon be working with its entire force on a 48 hour week. "So," says the Dispatch, "somebody is still to sell firearms, whether mail-order merchants continue to handle them or not." However,

"The revolver still has its legitimate uses, and if private manufacturing companies did not produce it, the state or national government would be obliged to do so. Otherwise, the murder of policemen would be an easy job, of every day occurrence, to say nothing of the murder of ordinary citizens, and we would soon see crime waves in comparison with which those, now complained of would be mere ripples.

"But the move of the mail order house was in the right direction for all that, and it should be followed by such federal action as will take firearms out of the mail bags altogether. By all possible means, it should be made harder and harder for actual or possible criminals to acquire possession of firearms and carry them about."

However, the agitation over indiscriminate pistol-toting may, or may not, be ended by the mail order house's announcement, thinks the El Paso Times. For, we are told,

"Like liquor, pistols will be obtained by those who want them as long as they are made. And the more prohibitory laws we pass regarding them, the more difficult we make it for law abiding citizens who intend to use them properly to get hold of them."

The plans for the construction of an immense amusement centre at Victoria, B.C., to be called the Crystal Gardens, have just been announced by the Canadian Pacific Railway, which is responsible for the scheme. The gardens will include a salt water swimming pool 150 feet long, and a series of dancing floors, with tea rooms and gymnasium. Great quantities of plants, vines and shrubs will be grown in the structure, which is on the lines of a vast conservatory, containing 36,000 square feet of glazed glass roof surface.

A considerable increase in the sheep population of Canada, which has declined since 1920 from 2,255,020 to 1,575,000, is expected as a result of the recent importation by Alberta ranchers of 400 Rambouillet rams. These animals are merinos, with fine wool, bred in France from Spanish merino stock. Louis XVI obtained the first flock as a gift from the King of Spain. A harem of 20,000 western range ewes will be provided for the Alberta purchase. The enterprise is important, on account of the prevailing world shortage of wool.

A NATIONAL PROBLEM

Ottawa Citizen: The problem of business conditions, as Sir Henry Thornton said at St. John, is not confined to the Maritime Provinces. It is a national problem. But the people of the Maritime Provinces feel that they are particularly handicapped. The opinion is held by some that they would be better off outside of the Canadian confederation. They have the only open ports in the east of Canada during winter. They are rich in natural resources, have an industrial population and are favorably situated near some of the most important foreign trade routes. The Maritime Provinces should be prosperous. One first step towards better times is to definitely get at the main reasons why the wheels of industry are retarded. They can do much better by meeting in conference, as Sir Henry Thornton put it, with tranquility and without prejudice, to discover where the commercial difficulties of the community are rooted and how to eradicate them.

Here and There

Of the 20,000 harvesters who went west this summer over Canadian Pacific lines, 14,000 are known to have returned east, according to C. B. Foster, Passenger Traffic Manager, Canadian Pacific Railway, and it is thought that many others have returned, while several thousand are believed to have accepted positions in the west for the winter.

An indication of the increase in the value of effects being brought into Canada by settlers from the United States is shown in the latest report to the Department of Trade and Commerce. From April 1 to September 30, effects so classified were valued at $3,129,333, as compared with $2,666,467 in the same period last year, an increase of $462,872.

A feature which will add greatly to the attractions of Vancouver, B.C., as a winter resort, to say nothing of increasing its summer allurements, will be the new golf course to be laid out there at a cost of $120,000, exclusive of land. Work on the course will commence next spring. Fees will be merely nominal, fifty cents being charged for an 18-hole round, $2.50 for a month's play and $20 for a year. Play will be open to any member of the public.

Immigrants entering Canada during the 12 months ending October 31, 1924, totalled 134,189, as compared with 126,744 in the corresponding period of 1922-1923, according to the Department of Immigration and Colonization. These figures are more encouraging in view of the fact that the number of Canadians emmigrating to the United States has to some extent decreased, while the number returning from the United States is on the increase, according to the department.

On November 29th, Hon. Marguerite Shaughnessy, daughter of the late Lord Shaughnessy, chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway, performed the launching and christening ceremony at the Clydebank yards of John Brown and Co. when the new Canadian Pacific S.S. Princess Marguerite, named in her honor, was slipped into the water. The Princess Marguerite is the second of the two vessels recently ordered by the Canadian Pacific for the company's British Columbia coastal service.

An entirely new service between Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg, operating on the fastest schedule yet established for these cities, was instituted by the Canadian Pacific Railway on December 4. The new train, leaving Montreal at 6.15 p.m. daily, and Toronto at 9.45 p.m. daily, reaches Winnipeg at 9 a.m., 39 hours, 45 minutes after leaving Montreal and 36 hours 15 minutes after leaving Toronto. Express shippers are especially benefitted, as shipments reach the terminal cities in time for delivery on the second day after leaving, instead of on the third as formerly. Passengers gain a business day and earlier connections for more distant points, on reaching their destinations. As the eastbound train of this service connects direct with the Frontenac for Quebec city, passengers and express bound for that point also gain greatly by reduced time.

The Tokio correspondent of the London Times says the Japanese cabinet is to follow the British lead in regard to the Arbitration, Security and Disarmament Protocol. It is considered that the signing of the Protocol would be of no service to Japan if Great Britain decides not to sign.

TRUSTEE AND REGISTRAR: THE ROYAL TRUST COMPANY.
Transfers may be effected at the Registrar's offices or agencies in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Vancouver.

Mr. E. W. Beatty, K.C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, has summarized his letter of December 8, 1924, as follows:—

These Note Certificates will be direct obligations of the Railway Company and have priority over $93,335,254 Preference Stock and $260,000,000 Common Stock, representing an equity at present market prices of approximately $460,000,000. The Preference Stock has received 4% dividends without interruption since its issuance in 1895. The Common Stock has paid dividends continuously since 1882, with the exception of the year 1895, the rate since 1912 having been 10% per annum.

In addition they will be secured by the assignment to the Trustee, by way of security, of all unpaid purchase money or deferred payments owing or accruing due to the Railway Company in respect of lands in the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, sold or contracted to be sold by it prior to December 1, 1924. The amount due or accruing due to the Railway Company on December 1, 1924, in respect of said sales was $66,000,000. The Railway Company will covenant to pay to the Trustee all monies, both principal and interest, less expenses and taxes paid to protect the security, received by the Railway Company in respect of the said contracts. The Railway Company covenants that it will not charge the lands in respect of which such deferred payments are or shall be due, so as to prejudice in any manner the security hereby created.

All monies received by the Trustee will be utilized for the payment of interest on these Note Certificates and thereafter as a Sinking Fund for the purchase and cancellation of these Note Certificates at the best price obtainable up to the call price prevailing at the time of such purchase. If Note Certificates cannot be so purchased the Trustee shall redeem the Note Certificates by lot at the prevailing call price. The Railway Company will covenant that in the fourth and each succeeding year the annual amount available for the purchase of Note Certificates will be at least $300,000.

The Note Certificates will be issued under, secured by and subject to a Trust Agreement between the Railway Company and The Royal Trust Company as Trustee.

The net earnings for the last five years, after paying all fixed charges, including interest on Consolidated Debenture Stock and all other obligations, have been as follows:—

" " " " 1920	32,844,083
" " " " 1921	33,169,867
" " " " 1922	33,545,140
" " " " 1923	34,899,409

Yearly interest on these Note Certificates amounts to $1,350,000. The average yearly net earnings for the last five years as above set forth amount to $33,155,873, or over 24 times annual interest requirements on these Note Certificates.

These Sinking Fund Secured Note Certificates are offered if, as and when issued and received by us, and subject to the approval of all legal details by Messrs. Meredith, Holden, Heward & Holden. Trustee Certificates in interim form or Note Certificates in definitive form will be available for delivery on or about December 30, 1924.

BREAK RECORD FOR MINERALS

Vancouver, Dec. 21. — British Columbia mines have this year broken all records for mineral production in the history of the province. With an output valued at more than $45,000,000, they show an increase of nearly 10 per cent over the 1923 figures.

The monetary value of the mineral output of B.C. for the year 1924 is officially estimated to be $45,116,285. This is an increase over 1923 figures of $3,811,965.

The gross coal production declined to the extent of about 484,456 tons. Figuring loss both in coal and coke, there is a total monetary reduction of approximaely $2,872,863, or 32 per cent.

The explanation of this is that the Crow's Nest Pass field, one of the most productive of the province, was idle for six or seven months.

The distribution of coal production in the province for the year was as follows:

	Tons
Comox colliery	304,9660
Extension	219,478
No. 5, S. Wellington	19,596
Total for Canadian Col.	544,034
No. 1 mine	293,693
Reserve mine	135,200
Wakesiah	112,681
Total for Western Fuel	541,474
Granby Consolidated	208,954
Nanoose-Wellington	84,380
East Wellington	52,225
King & Foster	15,841
Total for Vancouver Is.	1,451,908
Keystone Coal Co.	5,108
Middlesboro collieries	61,654
Coalmont rolleries	154,839
Princeton colleries	10,287
Tulameen Coal Co.	1,130
Total for Nicola-Princeton	232,910
Coal Creek Collieries	105,573
Michel colliery	149,368
Corbin Coal Co.	29,368
Total for Crow's Nest	284,309
Grand total, province	1,968,767

These figures are based on actual production up to Nov. 30, and estimated production for the month of December.

Coke production for the year reached 33,635 tons, as compared with 58,919 tons for 1923. The value of the 1924 coke production is given as $235,445, and that of coal was $9,570,240.

BARTHELMESS BRINGS NEW TYPE TO SCREEN

With "The Enchanted Cottage," Richard Barthelmess' newest production under the direction of John S. Robertson, Mr. Barthelmess adds another type of motion picture to the long and varied list which he has already made.

In "The Enchanted Cottage," which will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, Mr. Barthelmess plays the role of a broken down war veteran, a youth who has lost all interest in life as the result of the war. This role not only gives the star an opportunity to add another character portrait to his gallery, but "The Enchanted Cottage," with its whimsical comedy and its subtle theme that love makes all things beautiful, promises to be the sort of picture which has a general appeal to all types of movie fans.

In May McAvoy, who plays opposite Mr. Barthelmess, "The Enchanted Cottage" finds an exceptionally well cast heroine. Miss McAvoy possesses the acting ability to appear in the double role of a plain, almost homely, and colorless girl, and a beautiful woman, rich with youth and fire.

Furthermore, the direction of John S. Robertson is a guarantee that "The enchanted Cottage" will be one of the finest of the year's productions. Its theme has something in common with "Sentimental Tommy" and it has been said of Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, when he wrote "The Enchanted Cottage," that for the first time in his life he turned aside from the society plays he had been in the habit of writing, and attempted to do something along the lines of Sir James Barrie, author of "Sentimental Tommy."

Every day is a little life, and our whole life is but a day repeated. Those, therefore, that dare lose a day are dangerously prodigal; those that dare misspend it, desperate. — Bishop Hall.

COMMUNICATION

Editor Free Press, Fernie, B.C.:

Sir—A great tragedy was enacted at Victoria on Dec. 17, when the legislature handed over to the Timber Interests our children's birthright without even receiving the proverbial "mess of pottage" in return. What object can possibly lie in petitioning Ottawa seven years in succession praying for the right to prohibit the employment of Orientals on Crown granted lands when, as on this occasion, the province was in a position to compel the operators to employ white labor before consenting to reduce the proposed royalties?

The debate has exposed the two hypocrites on the question, i.e., the leader of the Opposition and the gallant General. The former will rave and rant over matters that have no significance but he obeys "His Master's Voice" as quick as the next one, whilst the General has again proven his willingness to sacrifice the province and his fellow operators (whose lands are not Crown ganted) that he may reap huge profits. If the members had stood pat on demanding the full payment until the operators consented to employ white labor, the General's arguments would have acted as a boomerang and he would hve been caught on the same hook.

Ex-service men will require some explanation from their representatives in the House re their action in the matter. The Timber Industries Council have carried a series of misstatements and untruths in the press for months and it will be interesting to learn what pressure was brought to bear on these men in the face of the fact that the State of Washington operates and pays big dividends though employing white labor only.

"MISSOURI BILL" HELD HIS COAL BIT TOO LONG

Macleod, Dec. 22.—"Yes," said one of the old timers, "it was the winter of 1886 and 1887 that we had cold weather such as the past week has been, only the snow was deeper, and the only way we had of getting coal was by teams from the Galt mines, or the Coal Banks, as it was called. The string teams would make a trip every ten days or so, and after loading what freight there was for Macleod would finish up their load with coal; occasionally they would make a special trip of coal.

"At that time the price of coal delivered in your coal shed was $5.00 per ton, but it was real coal. It was during this winter that coal was higher than wheat is today and 'Missouri Bill' W. Banning pulled in with a trainload of coal.

"During the night the thermometer went 45 degrees below zero, and Bill camped out a mile from town. In the morning a customer visited Bill's camp, as he was getting breakfast, and offered him $20 a ton for his load. 'No,' said Bill, 'I reckon it is worth $25,' and another offered him the price he asked, but he wanted $30. In the evening the wind came in from the west, and next morning a chinook was blowing, the snow melting and the price of Bill's coal dropped. Another train came in, and on the following morning Bill sold his coal for $10 a ton. During that same time some sold for $29 per ton, and wood was $10 per load, and cut it yourself. But we lived through it, and this is not so bad, as we can now get gas, coal, or wood, and oil to burn."

Here and There

At the close of Montreal's 1924 season of ocean traffic on December 3, the Harbor Master announced that 1,222 ocean and coasting ships arrived in the port during the year as against 1,114 in 1923 and 1,194 in 1922, the best previous season. It is believed that a new record has also been established in the number of lake vessels visiting the port.

The service operated by the Laurentide Air Service to the goldfields of Rouyn, Que., which was successfully inaugurated this summer, will be continued during the coming winter. Travellers will make the journey in luxury, closed machines with plush seats and a carrying capacity of six passengers being employed.

Canada stands out to the intending British emigrant as the most attractive of the Dominions, according to General Bramwell Booth, head of the Salvation Army, who has just completed a tour of this country. The army is now considering the establishment in western Canada of a training school for boys who wish to take up farming there.

SURPRISING FACTS

It takes 3,600 persons to make the boots worn by the people of British Columbia and only 168 in the boot making industry are at work here, says Mr. W. L. Macken. Five thousand garment workers are needed to clothe the British Columbia population, yet only 384 find employment at their trade here.

In these two lines the loss to this province is nearly $6,000,000. It is obvious why Mr. Macken is urging patronage of local industry.

To repent is to begin over again in devotion to the better thing we should have done. This is the very alpha of the gospel. And we begin over again not with tears but with joy. The very sins and blunders of the past may be caught up into some divine atonement that may make grace and joy to abound. That is the omega of our gospel. When sin abounded grace did much more abound.—Biblical World.

he Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. e the city the best New Year's it has received in five years by ting up a number of coke ovens New Year's eve.

is now five years since the s here were closed down and the has felt keenly the loss of this stry. The new agreement has made possible the securing of coke contracts which it is hoped will before many months have elapsed put all our ovens in operation. At present for a start some 54 ovens are being heated and put in shape to make coke. It is expected that this work will take a week or ten days to accomplish, although the experts who have examined the ovens state that the plant is still in excellent shape after an idle period of five years.

An effort will be made at once to secure the Trail smelter order, which has been handled for some time from Pennsylvania. This order alone, if secured, will put another hundred ovens into action, and this means the employment of at least fifty or sixty men, all of which will help the city of Fernie.

FERNIE IS FINED $2800

Victoria, Dec. 30.—Liquor profits to the amount of $372,404 for the six months ended Sept. 30, and pari-mutual taxes totaling $308,512 have been sent out to the municipalities.

Other Kootenay centres receive from liquor and racing respectively: Cranbrook, $943 and $808; Fernie, $2111 and $3365; Grand Forks $1264 and $1138; Greenwood, $322 and $287; Kaslo $1015 and $736; Slocan $219 and $245; Trail $3211 and and $2340; and Tadanac, $208 and $151.

Victoria, Dec. 31.—The government has charged Vancouver $22,-219 and Victoria $3542 for the cost of enforcement of the liquor laws within the boundaries of the two municipalities by the provincial police. The money was deducted from the amounts sent to the cities when liquor profits were distributed this week.

In the case of Prince George and Cranbrook, the cost of law enforcement absorbed the municipalities' total share of liquor receipts.

If the municipalities wish to avoid this expense, they must enforce the law themselves, Attorney General Manson said today.

(Ed.—The deduction from the Fernie allotment was $2800. There was only one conviction in Fernie city and three in the entire Fernie district. It seems that Mr. Manson's enforcement of the Liquor Act is rather expensive. If his provincial force is not competent to handle law enforcement throughout the province he should get a new one. His spotter system is too expensive and when convictions are secured they are side stepped. Only a few weeks ago one, Mrs. Henderson, was sentenced to six months in Nelson jail, but has since been released. How they get around the law is hard to understand, but apparently they do.

The Trites-Wood Co. New Year's annual treat for the kiddies drew a tremendous crowd of youngsters on Thursday morning.

Recent changes in the Municipal Elections Act give certain aldermen, a two year term. In case of a poll, the three aldermen obtaining the highest number of votes will sit for two years, the others elected one year. In case of an acclamation the term for all will be one year. There is no change regarding the mayoralty.

Despite the difficulty of the situation, Attorney General Manson is rapidly working out a solution of the beer question. Throwing everything into the hands of the new liquor commissioner, Hugh Davidson, he has shown that the liquor problem shall be taken out of politics and before the New Year is very far advanced a plan will be announced which should meet with the approval of the electors.

DUNWOODY GOES TO NEW YORK FOR BERYL G. SUSPECT

Victoria, Dec. 29.—Inspector W. R. Dunwoody of Nelson, in charge of "B"division of the provincial police, will report to the headquarters here tomorrow, and leave immediately afterward to bring back Owen Baker, held by the police in New York on a Canadian warrant, charging him with complicity in the Gi'lis double murder case.

MUNICIPAL SITUATION

The municipal situation has again changed in the past week. Mayor Henderson, who had signifed his intention of running again for 1925, has withdrawn from the fight upon the positive command of his physician.

Ald. Irvine's friends, immediately upon learning of Mayor Henderson's withdrawal, besieged him in an effort to get him to take the field and he finally consented.

Four years on the council and long business career has certainly fitted Mr. Irvine for the mayoralty chair, and it is not thought that there will be any opposition to his candidature.

We understand that all the old aldermen will stand for reelection, which will leave one vacancy to be filled, and it is said that Wm. Dicken will run for this position. No other candidates have yet announced themselves.

There are four trustees to be elected this year. The retiring trustees are Messrs. Herchmer, Phillips, Cummings and Dr. Garner.

G. G. Moffatt is the retiring police commissioner.

THE BEAVERS ARE ON TOP

The standing in the local Curling League to date is as follows:

Beavers	9
Th[illegible]les	6
Shamrocks	5
Maple Leafs	4

The Beavers, captained by Billy Baldrey, with a draw and four straight wins, have come right up from the cellar and taken their place at the top.

The next draw will not take place until Monday night, Jan. 5.

In the first game of the season the Beavers' four rinks were all defeated, but they have had their revenge by winning all their games two nights in succession.

The practices for the District Bonspiel are going on every day. The following local skips will enter teams: A. C. Liphardt, S. Herchmer, Dr. Pickering, M. A. Kastner, F. C. Lawe and Tom Beck. There are at least four or five others who are lining up and it is expected that at least twelve from Fernie will be entered.

Seventeen entries from out of town have already been received so it looks like a real bonspiel.

NELSON OLD RESIDENT PASSES ON CHRISTMAS DAY

Stephen Robinson, aged 70 years, an old resident of Nelson and district, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Sewell, of Proctor, on Christmas day. He is survived by four daughters and two sons: Mrs. John Sewell, of Proctor; Mrs. Wm. Johnston, of Fernie; Mrs. E. Burnham, Long Beach, Cal.; Mrs. Wm. Pound, Millinocket, Me.; John C. Robinson, Nelson; and Harry C. Robinson, Millinocket, Me.

The funeral was held at Nelson on Saturday, Dec. 27, the services being conducted by Rev. F. R. G. Dredge, of St. Paul's Presbyterian church.

BEER REGULATIONS WILL BE SIMPLE

Vancouver, Dec. 28.—Regulations for the open sale of beer will be aimed at guaranteeing that the beverage will be of good quality, to be sold in a limited number of hotels and restaurants, at a price which will make bootlegging unprofitable.

Hours of sale will be extended to discourage night beer clubs and blind pigs.

These were the main points brought out at conference of city representatives with Hugh Davidson, new liquor commissioner at the court house yesterday.

TO PUT LIFE IN BOARD OF TRADE

The Fernie Board of Trade will meet on Wednesday evening, Jan. 7, when the election of officers will take place. It is proposed to canvas the town for members and make the Board a real live institution in this city. Too many people are always willing to let the other fellow do all the work in connection with the business affairs of the city and the result has been a rather sickly Board of Trade, but in future it is proposed to make an effort to get every live citizen busy in connection with this work. The conditions prevailing at the present time call for a thorough investigation into the cost of living and nobody is in a position to do this better than a Board of Trade. The miners of Fernie have accepted a big cut in their wages and if it is possible for the cost of living to be reduced in this town it should be done.

NEW UNION ELECTION

A mass meeting of the miners of the new union was held in the Isis Theatre on Sunday night for the purpose of selecting officers for the ensuing year.

H. A. Bryant was elected by acclamation for president, and J. Sweeney, vice-president.

Recording Sec.: H. Biggs, J. Charnock, Chas. Hesketh.

Executive Committee: D. Alton, J. Bella, H. Blinston, E. Hesketh, A. Lees, W. Lewis, J. Manning, E. Morrison, J. Rigg, G. G. Sawyer, J. Ridyard, J. Roberts, H. Wheeler.

In the course of discussion after the election of officers the following points re the U.M.W. of A. were brought out:

At a meeting held for the nomination of district officers of the U.M.W. of A., 1924, the following question was asked: Can we keep the per capita for relief work locally? The answer by President Hunter was: If we did we would be struck off the International at the end of the third month.

The following question was asked President Hunter: Would you, as a local president, accept a resolution along these lines: That we break away from the U.M.W.A. Answer: No.

The following question was then asked: What was the feeling of the membership throughout the district towards the U.M.W.A. Answer by President Sherman: None too favorable.

BLAKE WILSON NEAR TO CRISIS

Vancouver, Dec. 29.—The condition of W. J. Blake Wilson, manager of P. Burns & Co., formerly of Nelson, was declared tonight to be critical. The crisis is expected before morning. He is suffering from pneumonia, which dropped into a relapse after he had made some progress.

HOCKEY IS ORGANIZED

At a meeting of the Fernie Hockey Club held on Dec. 30, three teams were picked from Fernie and one team entered from Coal Creek, making four teams. The Fernie teams are made up as follows:

Northern—R. P. Colton, Swedeberg, R. Dudley, T. Wilson, G. Sofko, K. Colton, O. Logan.

West Fernie—G. Paton, M. Commons, A. White, J. Cairns, R. Smolik, R. Smith, A. and J. Thomson.

Negotiations are under way with the Rink Co. to secure Tuesday and Thursday nights for games from 7 to 8 p.m., as in previous years it was found inconvenient for players and spectators to get the games going on the time allotted, 6.30 to 7.30 p.m.

The teams are evenly matched and should produce a good brand of hockey.

The Benedicts have challenged the Bachelors to a game on Friday night for an oyster supper. Both teams are lining up strong and a battle royal should ensue. The following are the teams:

Benedicts: R. Colton, R. Kirkpatrick, H. Swedeberg, A. Dicken, W. Biggs, H. McLachlan, C. Commons.

Bachelors: D. Coste, J. Shand, S. Commons, J. Thomson, A. Thomson, J. Cairns, F. Hovan, T. Wilson, Geo. Sofko.

BILL SHERMAN'S PURE BUNK

The following from the Calgary Albertan of Wednesday shows the kind of pure bunk Sherman has been in the habit of handing out to keep his men in line:

A large number of miners in Fernie are staying in District 18 of the United Mine Workers of America, declared W. A. Sherman last night, in discussing the position of the miners in the employment of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. at Fernie. The U.M.W.A. is going to continue very strenuously to reorganize the miners at Fernie, so that they will stay in the organization. While there had been reports that the men had gone back to work on terms of the agreement which had been entered into, Mr. Sherman did not think they had actually commenced to work. The officials of the U.M.W.A. were of the opinion that there will be important developments at Fernie in a very short time.

"The sentiment of the bulk of the miners," declared Mr. Sherman, "is against the agreement that has been forced upon them by the Crow's Nest company. The general sentiment is that they desire to be again united with the U.M.W.A. district 18." So far as the district administration is concerned, they are confident that they can reorganize that field and bring it into district 18. "A local union in that district still remains," stated Mr. Sherman.

KOOTENAY'S PRODUCTION

Figures of production in the basic industries of the Kootenay for the year 1924 give renewed reasons for the people of Kootenay to be optimistic regarding the prospects for this rich territory, and to be thoroughly "solid on the Kootenay," as to the inherent soundness of its business enterprises. A territory that turns out nearly $40,000,000 worth of products in a year has no reason for doubt as to the future. The figure for 1923—$37,825,057 — has been appreciably exceeded.

The individual feature of the year is the great increase in production of metals by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada, this following, of course from increased production of the Sullivan mine, whose ores are now concentrated in the big Kimberley mill, erected and brought into operation in 1923. Against a value of metal output for 1923 of $11,402,004, the past year Trail produced an estimated figure of $16,931,620, this not including about $900,000 worth of Kimberley concentrates marketed to other smelters. The year ends with Trail in the middle of an expansion program that by next June will almost have doubled its capacity in regard to lead and zinc.

From the ore table in this issue it is seen that the mining activity has been widespread. Nearly 40,000 tons of customs ore, from 80 shippers, mostly in the Kootenay, was received at Trail, a large percentage being concentrates from Slocan mills. Mining is undoubtedly on the up grade.

While the coal production has been the lowest for years, owing to the strike in the coal fields of which the B. C. Crow's Nest Pass is a part, the year ends with a wage adjustment on a basis that gives the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. an opportunity to compete with other territories, with a long term steam coal conract in hand, and a three-year agreement between the company and the men which assures the industry stability, and the men the advantage of any price rises that may occur—and gallant Fernie, security in which to resume its march of progress. Corbin Coals, the other operator, has reduced its production cost and graded up its product, and is out to compete aggressively in the wide open markets.—Nelson News.

CONFIDENCE VICTIMS

No matter how much its has been exposed, the old confidence game still stretches out its net, and there are still fishing grounds where the bait of the glib tongue gathers in its victims. Manitoba has reason to remember this in the number who made ripe picking for the company started by Joseph X. Hearst and who, as alleged, after being fleeced to the extent of some hix or seven hundred thousand dollars, are now left lamenting with the disappearance of Hearst, the promoter, for whose arrest a warrant is out.

The lure of the get-rich-quick is what is seized upon by artists who have explained this frailty of human nature to the full. It is evident that there are still a considerable number of people who have yet to learn that after all honest toil pays and that there is more to the solid securities known as gilt-edged, though the interest is comparatively small, to what the bogus company promoter and his army of slick solicitors dangle speciously before their eyes. The old fable of the dog dropping his meat for the shadow still has its value in spite of its antiquity, and there are people, evidently, who have yet to learn the intrinsic difference between the shadow and the substance.

It is one of the wiles of the bogus company promoter to attach to his directorate men whose names are presumed will create confidence among those who are to be victimized. It is assumed that this was the case with the Hearst company. It is the stock in trade of those who are out to take in the gullible, as is shown in the experience of men of such notoriety as Ernest Terah Hooley, who is now relating the system he adopted in promoting his companies after coming out from three years' seclusion in one of His Majesty's prisons. Men who lend their names to these directorates are in a way responsible for what follows. In many cases they may be the victims themselves, but at any rate they need to exercise the utmost scrutiny before they allow their names to be used for what might easily be a fraud.

It is time that individuals should use what common sense they may possess before parting with what is oftentimes hard earned cash by the glamor of names, which may mean nothing, and before succumbing to the appeal of the glib tongue of the slick stranger. The plight of those who trusted in the Hearst company should be sufficient warning to all others when they are being induced to part with their money for what has frequently proved to be for the advantage of others, with themselves left holding the empty bag.—Lethbridge Herald.

IF CANADA WERE QUOTAIZED

Canada will cease to be a flag station for European emigrants en route to the United States, it is said, if the recommendation of the Secretary of Labor at Washington to apply quota restrictions to immigration from other countries in this hemisphere is approved by Congress. This is a logical step in the selective immigration policy of the United States thinks the Regina Morning Leader, but it reminds us that a similar proposal was negatived by Congress at a previous session, and goes on to say:

"As far as Canada is concerned, a sentimental regret will be felt that it is proposed to make the invisible line separating the two countries more acutely visible; but we are beginning to get used to that sort of thing. Armed guards to keep out Canadian whisky and a tariff wall to keep out Canadian wheat have prepared the way. Arthur Meighen will applaud Secretary Davis' proposal, as a discouragement of Canadian emigration; and there will be many who feel much the same way about it. At the same time there will probably be many in the United States who will not regard with favor a proposal to materially reduce immigration from Canada, which appears to have been acceptable to the American people, while permitting a large immigration from certain countries of the Old World, whose people are not so readily assimilated. Assuming that the basis of any quota that may be established will be the number of Canadians already in the United States, a fairly sizable quota, sufficient for all ordinary purposes, will be fixed. Canadian citizens will still find it easier to get through the needle's eye than Canadian agricultural products do. A good many Canadians who might otherwise emigrate will stay at home and assist in developing their own country; and Canda will cease to be a flag station for European emigrants en route to the United States. That will not do this country any harm."

YOUTH RETURNS TO FAGGED WOMAN

New York, Dec. 30. — Dr. Paul Kammerer of Vienna, biologist and philosopher, who is in New York preparatory to beginning a lecture tour of the country, has aired some novel ideas which he says may revolutionize medical practice. Among these is the following on rejuvenation:

"There ought to be a national organization which would take from men recently killed in accidents or executed by law, certain portions of the body.

"These portions might then be either transplanted immediately in living men, or preserved until they are needed by patients."

He has worked for years with Prof. Eugene Steinach, of Vienna. "The diathermia treatment," Dr. Kammerer said, was proving successful in treatment of women in 85 per cent of the cases in which it is used. He explained this treatment as "merely the use of heat rays and X-rays in combination or separately. We heal certain parts of the body, the blood is freshened and invigorated. Then when the woman becomes fagged out again and feels old and worn, she has only to submit to the heat and once more her blood pulses freely in her veins and she is young again."

WHAT WILL 1925 BRING YOU?

Was 1924 a good year for you? Do you look back over it with pleasure? Or are you glad it has gone into eternity forever, and a new year is at hand that may bring better things?

Many will contemplate 1924 with satisfaction. It brought to them increased money or wisdom or happiness. Others were less fortunate.

An admirable institution is New Year's Day, on which we take stock of our condition and, tearing the old calendar down, start anew with fresh enthusiasm and ambition. It is the time to forget, as well as the time to make good resolutions.

We can profit by experience, especially by our mistakes. Errors teach us what not to do again. They pilot us safely through the future if we have learned our lesson. Experience is to the individual what capital is to a business. Experience also teaches us what NOT to do. That is quite as important as knowing what TO do.

It is unfortunate that so many people see in New Year's Day only a reminder of errors. There is too much "resolving not to do," too little "resolving to do." Ideal is the combination of both.

Good resolutions need not be all negative.

New Years day is quite as much a time to start as a time to quit.

What a man is today compared with a year ago is far less important than what he will be a year from now.

Others will resolve to improve their knowledge and wisdom.

Still others will primarily seek greater happiness, and a few will realize that it is found in greater abundance by making others happy.

Let mistakes and weaknesses die with the old year. Let renewed ambition, determination and kindliness arrive in 1925. Ahead into the unknown!

ENDURANCE FIRST

The asphalt of pavements travels back and forth, highway engineers discover. If you put a tack in the asphalt surface and watch it, you will find it moves as much as six or eight feet in a year.

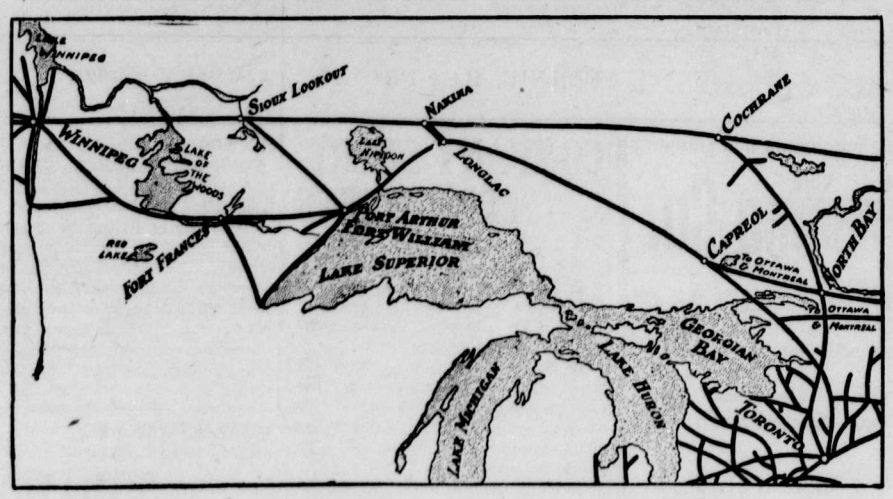
The theory is that motor traffic shoves the asphalt forward, just as a rug tends to move under a child's feet when he slides over it.

Naturally, the flow of asphalt is mostly in warm weather when the pavement is softened by the sun's heat.

Take an east-west street. Traffic is heavier or faster, as a total, in one direction than the other. Suppose this traffic exerts its greatest shove westward. The asphalt moves in that direction. Heavy trucks, eastbound, reverse the flow. This is the only plausible theory the engineers so far have figured out.

It may seem at first glance that the engineers are wasting time and money by such observations. Not so. It is part of a widespread endeavo to learn the causes that make pavements go to pieces prematurely and in spots.

Why does a pavement wear out, sink or break up in scattered places instead of uniformly? The engineers are trying to find out. They'll succeed. Then we'll build beter pavements.



The good roads movement has been crippled by a desire for mileage rather than for endurance. It pleases us to know that so many thousand miles of road are surfaced in a year. There is little public interest in how long the surfacing will last.

In other words, our road building has been rather on an emergency basis, for the time being.

It is realized now that we'll have to have good roads permanently, not just for today and the next few years. Accordingly, the engineers are devoting their abilities to devising pavements that will endure. That is the way to spend taxpayers' money —endurance first, mileage second.—Vancouver Sun.

Dr. Charles Sarolea, a widely known authority on the Russian people and on Russian conditions under the Bolshevist regime, explains the continued maintenance in power of the Soviet as due to a lack of tenacity and will power among the Russians. It is a regime, in his opinion, due to terrorism and force. So far as its principles are concerned it is essentially a religion that wars against all other religions, especially Christianity. He is certain that the doom of Bolshevism is inevitable. It has failed now and there only remains the process of its actual extinction. The process may be protracted, but it is certain, and he points out that even now the various leaders are intriguing desperately against each other for power.

Bringing East and West Several Hours Closer Together

A FURTHER cut in running time between Winnipeg and Toronto has been announced by Canadian National officials at Winnipeg in connection with train schedule changes which became effective recently. Last year, with the opening of the Long Lac cutoff connecting the north and south main lines of the Canadian National Railways in Northern Ontario, five hours was sliced from the running time of the Winnipeg-Toronto service, and with the new train now running, another five hours' reduction has been made. The National now leaves Winnipeg at 5.30 p.m. daily and arrives in Toronto at 7.20 a.m. From Toronto, the train leaves at 8.45 p.m, arriving in Winnipeg at 8.45 a.m. of the second day, making a 37 hour run. In each case passengers between the eastern and western cities will lose only one business day in their journey, as the train leaves after business hours and arrives at its destination in time for a full day's work. Equipment of the train will be the same as formerly, including express and day coaches, lunch counter colonist car, tourist and standard sleepers and radio observation car.

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

The United Kingdom Alliance claims that the elimination of the liquor traffic in Britain would lighten the financial burden of workers, reduce unemployment, and raise the standard of living. These are statements easily made but not so easily proved. If Britain had prohibition the national exchequer would be $1,000,000,000 short annually in its collections. It is hardly conceivable that the people at large would be willing that the duties lost by liquor elimination should be imposed on tea, sugar, coffee and cocoa. The lost revenue would have to be made up, and it would not be made up by any greater production in the country, or by any improvement in British workmanship which is now admittedly the best in the world.

Buy Your Milk With Your Groceries

YOU can pick up your phone and order a week's or a month's supply of Carnation Milk if you want to. Put it on your pantry shelves and it will keep indefinitely—just as fresh and pure and sweet as the day it was put in the can. You are then assured of milk for any use. No matter what the day or weather, there's your milk supply. Could anything be more convenient?

Carnation Milk is just pure fresh milk, evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization. Order several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans from your grocer.

Try this delicious recipe and write for your copy of the Carnation Recipe Book. It contains 100 others and it's FREE.

CARNATION BISCUIT.—2 cups flour, 4 tsp. baking powder, 2 tbsp. shortening, ½ tsp. salt, ½ cup water, ¼ cup Carnation Milk. Sift dry ingredients together. Mix in shortening with knife or fingers; add liquids, mixing to a soft dough. Roll lightly to one half inch in thickness, cut and bake in hot oven about 15 minutes. EDITORIAL ECHOES

A CONCERTED drive is to be made at once, we are told, against the automobile driver who insists on mixing his gasoline with a bit of the stuff that is said to cheer—but doesn't. Now, that is commendable, and the Free Press favors it heartily, but why should it just be a drive? Why not a continuous warfare upon this type of malefactor?

The greatest manufacturer of automobiles has well said that we can't have booze and motor cars and long exist. Likewise it is said by the epigrammatist that "Booze and Gasoline won't mix." It's a shame that it's true. They will mix—and the mixture is usually injury or death to the "mixers" or "more often, it is sad to relate" to innocent pedestrians or fellow motorists. The man who attempts to operate so potentially dangerous a piece of machinery as an automobile while under the influence of liquor is a dangerous character, and his felony should be severely punished at all times. Give us the "drive" and then let us keep on "driving" until the drunken driver is driven from the highways.

A FEW WORDS ON 1925

The Home Bank directors are getting their just dues,
At least the papers say so; to some of us it's news.
The directors' fate don't trouble us; our faith is kept alive

The strike that has just ended, to begin with was a crime;
The sufferers are the families without money—not a dime.
The relief from the Union was, to say the least, a joke,
And in answer to questions told the Union was broke.
You had got to make a change to keep your families alive;
May you always earn good wages in 1925.

A word about the B.C. Union it's as well to mention here;
Let common sense be the ruling power throughout the coming year.
Avoid free kegs of beer and rodyism if you intend to thrive;
Then good luck will bless your efforts throughout 1925.

Old Timer.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Kielty & Co. provided the music for the big dance held in the Club Hall on Christmas night. The hall was tastefully decorated and refreshments of high standard were served. The affair lasted till 5 a.m.

We learn that Jack Brown, one of the old timers up here, has made arrangements for departure to his home town in Lancashire, Eng., in the near future.

Mrs. R. Glover and children left for Vancouver during the week.

The reopening of the mines up here is responsible for a large influx of strangers and also the return of former residents.

The skating fraternity of this camp have sure taken advantage of the recent cold snap, the condition of the rink being all that can be desired.

Ira Brown, provincial constable, of Fernie, was in camp on business on Friday last.

Bob Schram, our genial pick sharpener, has taken up his residence in French camp.

The school will reopen on Monday next, Jan. 5.

Several cases of sickness are reported up here.

The spirit of good cheer seemed to pervade the atmosphere of the camp during the festive season. Several family parties were held.

The New Year was heralded in by the blowing of the siren at the power house and the usual firecrackers.

A large crowd assembled at the Club Hall on New Year's eve to indulge in the light fantastic. Music and refreshments were of the usual high standard. The passing of 1924 and the dawn of 1925 were ceremoniously conducted.

Some of our residents were the recipients of Christmas hampers from Fernie.

Ye scribe wishes all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

THE HOME BANK TRIALS

Toronto, Dec. 30.—Judge Emerson Coatsworth this morning delivered judgment in the case of J. F. M. Stewart, Toronto, director of the Home Bank of Canada, which failed n August, 1923, finding him guilty of negligence in approving, signing and concurring in false statements of the bank's financial affairs to the department of finance at Ottawa. On other charges of making a wilfully false statement and of wilfully using a false statement, he was found not guilty. Judge Coatsworth said he would sentence Stewart on Jan. 15. N. W. Rowell, K.C., counsel for Stewart, applied for a certificate for leave to appeal. Argument on this application will be heard tomorrow.

Stewart is the third director of the Home Bank to be convicted of charges under the Canadian Banking Act. C. A. Barnard, Montreal, was found guilty on all three counts, and Clarence F. Smith, Montreal, of negligence. They have appealed their cases and are now on bail pending the result of appeal. Two officials, Ocean G. Smith, chief accountant, and Sidney Jones, auditor, were also convicted. Sentence on Ocean G. Smith was suspended and Jones is serving a term at the jail farm. The trial of R. P. Gough, Toronto, vice-president, is proceeding before Judge Coatsworth on similar charges to those faced by other directors. Casey Wood, and J. B. Russell, Toronto, will be tried after the Gough trial is completed.

As in the other convictions, his honor finds that the annual statement for the fiscal year 1923 of the bank is false. He finds that Stewart was a regular attendant at the directors' meetings. He points out that when the bank failed Stewart had deposits of $4382 in the bank and that the Mercantile Trust Co., recognized mainly as Stewart's company, had a credit of $18,487. His honor points out that although Stewart was only on the board a little over a year he was intimate with the bank for several years previously and associated with other directors as a large borrower.

"On looking over these transactions the painful impression is received that the directors acted for their own benefit and the interests of their companies and subsequently tied up the funds of the bank, instead of carrying on the bank's business in the interests of the shareholders, the depositors and the public," stated Judge Coatsworth, "therefore, although the accused did not become a director until 1922, he had long before going on the board seen much of the unfortunate policy which ultimately wrecked the bank.

"An extraordinary combination of companies, in all of which the directors and the accused were largely interested and which were, so to speak, feeding off the bank, came into existence one by one and became more or less interlocked.

"A few of them paid up finally but most of them failed to pay and involved the bank in enormous losses. The depositors' money was loaned to these and other companies, many of them unreliable concerns, instead of being used in a legitimate banking business. The accused was interested in many of these companies and consequently well aware of the manner in which the bank's funds were being distributed into risky speculations."

12th DAY OF JANUARY, 1925, AT TWELVE O'CLOCK NOON COAST TIME

(One o'Clock p.m. Local Time) for the Purpose of Electing Persons to Represent them as Mayor and Aldermen, and as School Trustees, and as Police Commissioner.

THE MODE OF NOMINATION OF CANDIDATES SHALL BE AS FOLLOWS:

The candidates shall be nominated in writing; the writing shall be subscribed by two Electors of the Municipality as proposer and seconder and shall be delivered to the Returning Officer at any time between the date of the notice and Two P.M. Coast Time (Three P.M. Local Time) of the day of nomination; the said writing may be in the form numbered 5 in the schedule of the Municipal Elections Act and shall state the names, residence and occupation or description of each person proposed, in such manner as sufficiently to identify such candidate; and in the event of a poll being necessary, such poll shall be opened on Thursday, the 15th day of January, A.D. 1925 (from 9 A.M. to 9 P.M. Local Time) at the Council Chamber, City Hall, Pellatt Avenue, Fernie, British Columbia, of which every person is hereby required to take notice and govern himself accordingly.

QUALIFICATION FOR MAYOR

The persons qualified to be nominated and elected as and to hold the office of Mayor of any city shall, save as otherwise provided in the Municipal Act, be such as are British subjects of the full age of twenty-one years who have been for the six months next preceding the date of nomination and are registered in the Land Registry Office as owners of land or land and improvements within the city of the value, as assessed on the last assessment roll, of one thousand dollars or more over and above all registered judgments and charges, or who are the holders of lands within the city asquired by them by agreement to purchase under the "Soldiers' Land Act," or the "Better Housing Act," or the "Soldiers' Settlement Act, 1917," of the Dominion, or the "Soldiers' Settlement Act, 1919," of the Dominion, and have paid the sum of one thousand dollars or more upon the principal of the purchase price under such agreement to purchase.

QUALIFICATION FOR ALDERMEN AND POLICE COMMISSIONER

The persons qualified to be nominated and elected as and to hold the office of Alderman of any city shall, save as otherwise provided in the Municipal Act, be such as are British subjects of the full age of twenty-one years who have been for the six months next preceding the date of nomination and are registered in the Land Registry Office as owners of land or land and improvements within the city of the value, as assessed on the last assessment roll, of five hundred dollars or more over and above all registered judgments and charges, or who are the holders of lands within the city acquired by them by agreement to purchase under the "Soldiers' Land Act," or the "Better Housing Act," or the "Soldiers' Settlement Act, 1917," of the Dominion, or the "Soldiers' Settlement Act, 1919," of the Dominion, and have paid the sum of five hundred dollars or more upon the principal of the purchase price under such agreement to purchase.

QUALIFICATION OF TRUSTEES IN MUNICIPAL SCHOOL DISTRICTS

The qualification of candidates for election as trustees for any municipal school district shall, mutatis mutandis, be the like qualifications as are prescribed by law for persons eligible for election as Aldermen or Councillors of the municipality comprised in the school district, except that every candidate shall be actually resident in the school district. The wife or the husband of every person who is qualified to become a candidate for election as a trustee under the foregoing provisions of this section shall, if he or she is of the full age of twenty-one years and is actually resident in the school district, be qualified also to become a candidate for election as a trustee for the school district.

LOCAL & GENERAL

Mrs. R. Billsborough has been on the sick list all week.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Graham, of Cranbrook, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Watson on New Year's Day.

Now is the time to secure the Latest Hats at wonderfully reduced prices, at Mrs. Colton's. J2-1m

The regular meeting of the W. A. of the G.W.V.A. will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 6, at 7.30 p.m.

New Years callers were very much in evidence yesterday. It began to look like old times again.

The I.O.D.E. New Year's eve dance was a brilliant affair, although the attendance was not as large as usual.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Benevolent Society will be held at the home of Mrs. A. I. Fisher on Tuesday, Jan. 6, at 3.30 p.m.

The G.W.V.A. wish to thank W. R. Wilson, the I.O.D.E., Trites-Wood Co., the Crow's Nest Trading Co., the Fernie Meat Market, 41 Meat Market, John Podbielancik, T. C. Smith and Geo. Hearn for donations to their children's Christmas tree.

Mount Fernie Lodge, No. 47, and Esther Rebekah Lodge, No. 20, I. O. O. F., will hold a joint installation of officers in the Odd Fellows Hall on Wednesday next, Jan. 7. A social evening will follow the ceremonies. All Odd Fellows and Rebekahs are cordially invited.

W. R. Wilson returned on New Year's day from Vancouver, where he spent Christmas with his family. Talking about W. R. and Christmas just reminds us that if it had not been for the generous donation made by Mr. Wilson to the different Sunday School Christmas trees in Fernie, they would have looked pretty slim this year.

The Fernie School Board, we understand, will not employ a school nurse during the coming year. Miss Wade, who had charge last year, has gone to her home in Kelowna. While the services of a nurse are very necessary they are not indispensable as the schools got along very well for years without one and just now economy is a good slogan.

Over 200 children assembled at Victoria Hall on Monday evening as the guests of the members of the Fernie Literary and Athletic Association. Parlor games and frolics were the order of the evening, the committee in charge sparing nothing to make the event one to be long remembered by the children. Refreshments were served and each child received a bag of delicacies before going home.

In accordance with the Christmas spirit, the Girl Guides of Fernie made 27 little children happy on Christmas day by donating seven lovely hampers. They contained prettily dressed dolls, toys, nuts and candies, home cooking, clothing, etc. A very welcome donation of $18 was received from Rev. M. McEachren, of Bellevue, which comprised the major portion of the proceeds of a concert given by the United Church Sunday School of that town.

Quite a number of those who were refused work at Coal Creek last week have, upon investigation, been allowed to sign on. One hears quite a lot of criticism about discrimination, but when it is considered that there are dozens of men working at Coal Creek who have never raised their voices or cast a single vote except in an endeavor to crush the life out of our local coal industry by impossible wages, we thing the Company has been very considerate.

For many years the city of Fernie was considered on the outside as a sink hole of iniquity, and has been pointed out by evangelists and others as the horrible example, but how different today. Only one case, a solitary vagrant, has been before the local courts in six weeks. During the three years in which Chief Anderson has been in charge there has not been a single case from Fernie come before the assize court. That is a pretty good record for a tough baby. All through the long strike, when one might think there was more or less excuse for stealing, there was hardly a case before the city courts.

Esther Rebekah Lodge will hold a Valentine Dance in the I. O. O. F. Hall on Feb. 13.

The annual meeting of the Ladies Aid of the United Church will be held at the home of Mrs. James Marshall on Monday, Jan. 5, at 3 p.m.

Wm. Barraclough has leased the Ferguson building, No. 83 Pellatt Ave., and expects to open a business there about Jan. 15, after the building has been thoroughly overhauled.

The local Salvation Army wish to thank W. R. Wilson for supplying the necessary funds to make a success of their Sunday School Xmas concert, held on Monday, Dec. 29.

Tommy Fitzgerald, who has been working around the U.S. for several months, arrived back in Fernie on Saturday night. Tommy says Fernie is still the best town in the west.

The regular Baby Clinic for children under seven years will be held on Monday, Jan. 12, in the council chamber from 2 to 4 p.m. Dr. Burnett will examine the children and give a talk to the mothers on "Diseases of the Skin."

The annual meeting of Cokato Farmers Institute will be held in Cokato school on Saturday, Jan. 3, at 4 p.m. Business: Annual report and election of officers for the coming year. Members are requested to attend.

The High School will open Monday morning, Jan. 5. The Composition exams., which were postponed due to the enforced closing on Dec. 15, will be held Monday morning. Grade 10 Chemistry exam. will be held in the afternoon. R. G. Dunbar, B.A., is taking the place left vacant by Mr. Wallace.

The big District Spiel will be held in Fernie, commencing Jan. 19. The entry fee for local curlers has been fixed at $5.00. All those who intend entering the spiel are requested to attend a meeting at the curling rink on Sunday, Jan. 4, at 2 p.m., when committees will be appointed and arrangements made to carry on the spiel.

The members of the Fernie Club gave a stag party on Tuesday evening in honor of their secretary, Harvey Brown, who on that day celebrated his 50th birthday. The members gathered at the Club after the curling was over for the evening and went in a body to the Brown home, where they had a wonderful time.

The annual general meeting of the Fernie Board of Trade will be held in the council chamber on Wednesday, Jan. 7, at 8 p.m. Business: Election of officers for the coming year. Matters of importance will come under discussion. All those interested in the prosperity of Fernie should attend. If you are not a member come in and join us. The membership fee is $1.00.

Looming largely upon the horizon of Canadian affairs at the present time is the freight rates issue. Many times during the past year the question has been commented upon in these columns, but a solution of the problem has not yet been found. However, today the entire freight rates tangle is closer to an untanglement than ever before and it has been clearly proven that the West has won an important victory. The restoration, temporarily, of the Crow's Nest Pass Agreement rates might appear upon the surface as a set-back for B.C., but to experts it seems that the removal of all discrimination against the West will shortly be accomplished.

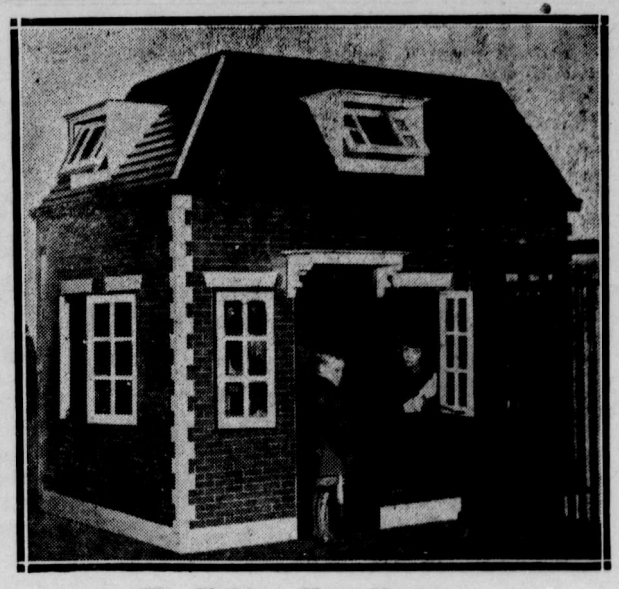
CARE OF THE SKIN IN WINTER

"How To Wash Your Hands" is the intriguing title given to an article contributed to the Popular Science Monthly by Dr. Charles M. Williams. Dr. Williams, however, gives us much more advice than this. The man who suffers tortures in cold weather from chilblains, itching arms and legs, cracked and chapped hands and lips, and all the rest of it, is simply troubled with lack of knowledge. He not only does not know how to wash his hands in winter, but he does not understand the general care of the surface of his body at this season. Dr. Williams' advice, reduced to lowest terms, is simply keep your skin warm and keep it soft and flexible. To frequent bathers in cold weather he gives the celebrated advice of Mr. Punch to persons about to marry, namely—"Don't." Hot baths remove the natural oils from the skin and facilitate dryness with the accompanying scaling and itching. Persons who suffer in this way should avoid getting dirty as much as possible, and wash or bathe in cool water, as infrequently as sanitation permits, and with sparing use of soap. Writes Dr. Williams:

"One cold day last winter a man came into my office complaining of troublesome itching of his hands.

"'I suffer this way whenever we have a cold spell,' he told me. 'At other times I am not bothered. I don't know how to account for it.'



"On examining him I found the skin very dry, with a few tiny scales where he had scratched. The skin was extremely irritated,, but there was nothing radically wrong with the man. He simply didn't know how to wash himself in cold weather. He had exposed his hands to the cold and wind until they had become dry and scaly. Then he aggravated this condition by further drying his skin with hot water and strong alkaline soap.

"Few people understand how to protect and care for their skin in the cold of winter. The result is evidenced in the increasing prevalence of chapped hands and wrists, cracked lips, itching legs and chilblains in these days of silk hosiery, low shoes, liquid soap and paper towels.

"What happens when you go out into the cold? First, the blood vessels contract, causing pallor; the skin feels cold and shriveled. Then, if you are fortunate enough to have good circulation, the blood vessels dilate again, causing a flushing and a feeling of warmth. At the same time the secretion of sweat is checked to prevent loss of heat that would be caused by evaporation of the water. The skin becomes dry, partly because less sweat is secreted, and partly because what little sweat still is formed is evaporated rapidly by the warmth of the body and the dryness of the winter air.

"If the exposure is repeated often, the outermost layer becomes more horny than usual, and probably there are changes also in the oil glands. All these alterations are increased by wind. The skin of the hands, especially over the knuckles, becomes a little thicker than usual, and feels dry and harsh. Fine scales appear on the surface, and if these are not shed as they normally would be if they had not been toughened by the cold, they turn a dirty grey.

"This change in color appears especially over the elbows and knees, and on the skin of the legs just above the shoe tops. You needn't try to wash the dirty color off, for you will only make the skin tender and help to chap it. The dry, thick skin is not so flexible as usual. Cracks appear over the joints, especially the knuckles, and there begins an itching that may make your life a burden."

Children Keep House

In the nursery of the Canadian Pacific S.S. Montlaurier. You might be content to lay upon the decks, but the young ones must have something to keep them out of mischief—hence their own special recreation quarter.

Lord Balfour, speaking of the true spirit of sport, says: "After all we do not play games to improve either our body or our mind; we play them because we like them. The world is getting gradually to accept our views of what a game should be. It is not an exercise in which one triumphs over an opponent, not a method in which one shows one's own superiority in any arrogant or aggressive sense, but a combat between two equals, done for the pleasure of the combat, and done in such a way that, after the struggle, the friendship between those who have taken part in the struggle is increased rather than diminished whatever the event may be. That is, after all, the true spirit of sport."

Surprise packets in the shape of crates containing two lions, a male cub and a full grown female, constituted the most interesting shipment handled by the Montreal and Toronto offices of the Dominion Express Co. this year. The animals, exchanged for specimens of Canadian deer, recently arrived from Dublin and were dispatched over Canadian Pacific lines to their destination the zoological gardens at Toronto. Needless to say, they were carefully handled.

The Singapore Free Press says: "Of all the great centres of Anglo-Saxon dominion which it has been the good fortune of Great Britain to establish over the world, none is showing now a greater virility than Canada, and, as time goes on and we watch the yearly expansion of her capacities, the huge out-turn of crops and cattle, the persistent extension of lumbering, mining and heavy industrial enterprises; the eagerness for modern application of power in factory and transport, the growth of harbors and shipping; we cannot escape the conviction that she is well ahead in the great race of the Imperial Dominions towards status of nationality. With life conditions less easy perhaps than Australia, her people, continually reinforced from home, are pushing outward every hour and whilst she can boast her great cities, she can boast also that her development of population has a strength and volume unequalled in any other Dominion of the Empire."

"Hello, is this information?"
"Yes."
"What's good for a cold?"

SOMETHING IS WRONG WITH THE LIQUOR LAW

According to an officer of the Liquor Board detective force, there are 7000 bootleggers in Vancouver.

That means that there are 7000 reasons for believing the present liquor control system is wrong.

If British Columbia's liquor law were even remotely parallel to the will of the people, there would be no need of this supplementary battalion of liquor peddlers to supply the liquor requirements of the province.

And if there were no market for the bootleggers' wares, there would be no bootleggers.

The bootlegger competes in price with the government and he competes in the matter of office hours.

The government can end that competition, so far as price is concerned, by encouraging the native wine industry. It can end the competition, so far as office hours are concerned, by keeping one liquor store open all night.

Why not do these things and make 7000 bootleggers go to work?—Vancouver Sun.

75% of disease avoided through internal cleanliness

WHEN you are constipated, poisons are formed in the accumulated food waste, and reach all parts of the body. The first results, headaches, biliousness, a feeling of "heaviness", etc., serve as warnings of graver diseases to follow if this intestinal poisoning continues unchecked.

This is why intestinal specialists state that constipation is the primary cause of three-quarters of all illness, including the gravest diseases of life.

Physicians Advise Lubrication for Internal Cleanliness

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste, and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless. Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

RUSSIA'S FEAR OF REACTION

Russia does not change in her attitude to other countries, but we are told that changes in other countries give Russia a new position in facing the world. The most conspicuous changes to affect the international situation of the Soviet government have happened in Great Britain, France and the United States. France, we are reminded, which has hitherto been the bitterest enemy of the Red regime, under the leadership of Premier Herriot has become a "friendly Power." On the other hand, a former friend of Soviet Russia, Great Britain, has rejected the Anglo-Russian treaties drafted by the recent Premier MacDonald, and the new Conservative government of Mr. Baldwin has shown other signs of unfriendliness toward Moscow. Then, as various Russian editors note, the election of Mr. Coolidge seems indicative that the attitude of the United States will not be any more favorable to the Soviets than it has been in the past. The official Moscow Isviestia is decidedly dissatisfied with the "growing tide of Conservatism and reaction" as evidenced in the above named lands, and it observes:

"The problem of the unity of the world-proletariat has become the problem of the day, thanks to the developments that are taking place all over the world. It could easily be predicted after the parliamentary elections in England and the Presidential elections in the United States that the world reaction would gain in vigor. Prophesies that have been made to this effect are now confirmed by facts. The offensive started by capital is progressing in almost all bourgeois countries, in the political as well as in the economic sense of the word. Thus, the bourgeois governments themselves prompt the proletariat to realize the urgent necessity of the formation of a united proletariat front. The Communist International and the union of the Red Trade Unions have long been aware of the necessity of working in this direction.

"England is the strongest capitalistic state in Europe, while the British Empire as a whole in still the greatest World Power. Consequently British policies influence inevitably the policies of other countries, some of which are dependent upon England, while others are in close relationship with her. The moral influence of the English elections is already felt in a number of countries. First of all, enemies of the Soviet Republic are celebrating a victory. They forecast the weakening of Anglo-Soviet relations with other countries, and calculate in advance the advantages they will derive from it. Typical, indeed, is the triumphant tone of the press in Poland, Roumania, Finland and other lands."

This Soviet organ goes on to say that the victory of the Conservatives in Britain is being celebrated by the reactionaries in all countries as a victory for themselves. In Czecho-Slovakia, it asserts, the reactionary elements, such as the National Democrats, Clericals and Agrarians are taking the upper hand, but "so far they dare not declare themselves openly because they are still too dependent on France." This journal maintains, however, that they impatiently await the downfall of Herriot in France, and are hoping that the reactionaries there led by Poincare and Millerand will soon return to power. In connection with this wish of theirs they are said to be working to postpone the establishment of normal diplomatic relations between Czecho-Slovakia and Soviet Russia. It is further alleged by this newspaper that:

"In Jugo-Slavia reaction is also celebrating a victory. The black reactionaries of Pashich have won the fight, while Radich's democratic group is retreating and giving in. The influence of the British elections has expressed itself in that country by the weakening of democratic elements and by the reenforcement of the reaction. The continuous political conflict in that country seems to be taking a turn favorable to the Conservatives which, undoubtedly must be ascribed to the success of the Conservatives in England."

A similar change, we are told by the Isviestia, is occurring in Roumania and in Hungary, and all this "renders the international situation of the Soviet government delicate and complicated." Then it asks:

"Will the international proletariat prove able to withstand the rising future alone can answer this question. As to us, we must be prepared to meet any contingency. We must not be surprised if we are attacked by the international reaction, and we must be ready to oppose it in a dignified way."

Quite different is the opinion of the anti-Soviet Russian press. Prof. Miliukoff's Poslednia Novosti, Paris, thinks that the fear of Bolshevism does not mean reaction:

"In England the Labor government had frightened the nation by coquetting with the Bolsheviks, while in America people were frightened by La Follette's possible victory. This was the cause of the turn in public opinion. Now the situation of the Soviet is much more complicated than it has been. They can not expect any favors or credit from the two strongest and wealthiest Anglo-Saxon powers. Their rosy dream of a loan from England is shattered. Nevertheless the resolution to oppose Bolshevism with a clearly shaped policy of resistance must not be interpreted as a sign of a growing tide of reaction."

The Berlin Rul, another Russian anti-Soviet journal, is of the opinion that the Soviet government will profit but little by its recognition by France. It is true, this paper says, that the Russian embassy in Paris has been officially handed over to Rakovsky and that the remnants of the Russian Black Sea fleet, which had been taken from Russia in 1920 by General Baron Wrangel, and has since been under the French control at Bizerta, have been returned to the Soviets—

"But Mr. Rakovsky will not succeed in achieving his main purpose. As has been already stated by the Paris Quolidien, which voices the opinion of the Radical Coalition, he will get no loan. And yet it must be admitted that Mr. Herriot has gone too far, much farther than has been demanded by circumstances, even as he interprets them. He has declared that he does not want to ignore the Russian people any longer and therefore he recognizes the usurpers of their rights. He has declared that France has found again her old Allies; and he shakes hands with those who have never denied that at the moment of the greatest danger they had betrayed the Alliance. He wants to work in the interests of the general peace, hand in hand with the Soviet power, which has as its ultimate purpose the propagation of anarchy throughout the world."

Here and There

Another fine new station was made available to the public by the Canadian Pacific Railway when the company's new building at Schreiber, Ont., was opened by H. J. Humphrey, general superintendent of the Algoma district, on December 11. This structure, which replaces the former frame building, is of modern fireproof construction. It will also house the superintendent of the Schreiber division and his staff.

Three times winner of the world's champion wheat prize at the Chicago Live Stock Show, including this year's prize, J. C. Mitchell, Agoma, Alta., sailed for the Old Country on a demonstration tour aboard the Canadian Pacific steamship "Montlaurier" on December 12. Mr. Mitchell states that prize wheat is improving each year and that exhibits which would have won first prize twelve years ago now seldom take higher than fifteenth place.

Within a radius of forty miles from Taber, a small town in the heart of the settled southern district of Alberta, antelopes estimated to number 1,000 are running wild. The prairie antelope was once almost extinct but protective measures put into force have saved the species and present indications are that this splendid game animal may soon increase to an extent rendering an open season possible and adding greatly to Alberta's attraction for sportsmen.

One of the heaviest rushes ever experienced by the Canadian Pacific Railway in connection with its traditional Christmas sailings to the British Isles was experienced this year. A special train from the West to Montreal was required for the accommodation of passengers for the company's steamship, the "Montlaurier," sailing December 12 from St. John, N.B., while one or two specials or extra sections from Montreal to St. John and extra sections on the Imperial, the Canadian Pacific transcontinental, were required daily for steamship passengers during that same week.

SNAPPY FOX-TROT DEDICATED TO JACQUELINE LOGAN

"Jackie," a lilting fox trot dedicated to Jacqueline Logan, featured in the George Melford Paramount production, "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," at the Orpheum Theatre next Monday, and gave Miss Logan her greatest thrill during 1923.

For the dedication of the song in her name made the Paramount actress retrospective. Four years ago she confesses being a merely ambitious dancer in Kansas City, Mo., and now guided by a kind destiny she is a featured luminary of the silent drama.

"Jackie" was composed by a member of a Kansas City hotel orchestra and was played in Miss Logan's honor when she made a personal appearance in that city.

"So you see one can never tell what 'The Dawn of Tomorrow' will bring," declares Miss Logan.

David Torrence and Raymond Griffith are featured with Miss Logan in the production. Alma Bennett is also in the cast.

MACHINERY TO OFFSET HIGH CORBIN COSTS

Corbii, Dec. 30.—That recently installed motor compressor, shovel loaders, shearing and drilling machines will help to offset the comparatively high wages and labor costs of mining at Corbin, is stated by E. L. Warburton, mine manager of the Corbin Coals, Limited, who says that these installations have been made with a view to cheaper coals. The work underground is only in the experimental stage, but he hopes to work out some system of mechanical mining and loading of coal to cheapen production and help the marketing of coal. It is stated the mining people realize this is a big problem owing to the extremely difficult physical nature of the coal seams in the Rockies.

As the mines were idle from April 1 until October 20, due to the miners' strike the company finds that the long duration of the strike, and the uncertainty of the final settlement so lae in the fall, forced the large steam coal users in "the Inland Empire" to book their contracts with Washington, Wyoming and other coal fields. Therefore now it finds the available markets for coal from District 18 much restricted, and only sufficient business showing to operate two and three days a week.

THE BANKRUPTCY ACT

Notice is hereby given that Stanley Lowden of the City of Fernie in the Province of British Columbia, Butcher, did on the 29th day of November, 1924, make an authorized assignment for the benefit of all his creditors, and that H. BOARD TRADE ANNUAL MEET

The annual meeting of the Fernie Board of Trade was held in the council chamber on Wednesday evening with about 75 members present and Mayor G. G. Henderson in the chair.

The minutes of the last two meetings were read and adopted and several accounts were ordered to be paid, after which the election of officers took place as follows:

Hon. President—E. K. Stewart.
President—Harry Douglas.
Vice-Pres.—N. E. Suddaby.
Sec.-Treas.—Chas. Hunsley.
Executive Committee—S. Herchmer, Wm. Dicken, Jas. McLean, Dr. Gee, J. S. Irvine and Wm. Johnston.

All the officers were elected by acclamation and the executive committee was increased to seven instead of five.

A committee consisting of H. Bryant, J. Sweeney, E. Hesketh, Harold Wheeler, A. Harrison and John Bella, representing the B.C. Miners Association, waited on the Board to see if something could not be done to reduce the high cost of living.

Mr. Bryant was the chief spokesman for the delegation. He went into local conditions in detail. The miners of Fernie had been out on strike for nine months and the town had been gradually slipping into a condition of permanent decay when the miners of Fernie decided to take a big cut in their wages, a cut of 40 per cent, and thus saved the town from going into bankruptcy. In view of this big sacrifice on the part of the men, he believed it was up to the business men of Fernie to try and reduce the high cost of living, and he called upon the Board to make an investigation along these lines to see if anything could be done.

E. Hesketh also spoke at considerable length. He said that thousands of dollars were being sent out of town every month to the mail order houses, which should be left in the city. He believed that this was the result of high local prices. The men of Fernie and Coal Creek were determined if it were possible to bring down the cost of living. It was absolutely imperative that this should be done as the present wage scale was too low to pay present prices. If the business men of Fernie were not prepared to take a cut, the miners thmeslves would have to take some steps to establish community buying or open a public market.

J. Sweeney, Harold Wheeler and A. Harrison also spoke on the matter.

E. K. Stewart was one of the principal speakers on the discussion which followed. He said he believed a committee should be appointed to go thoroughly into the matter and compare Fernie prices with other towns in the west, and if local prices were too high it was up to the business men of the town to rectify them.

Tom Prentice thought the whole trouble could be solved by introducing the cash and carry system.

Sherwood Herchmer also took a leading part in the discussion that followed, and it was finally decided to ask the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., the Retail Merchants and the Miners to each appoint a representative to be a committee of three to go thoroughly into the matter of the cost of living and report back to the Board of Trade at as early a date as possible.

H. Bryant then took up the matter of a city hospital and asked the Board if they could not use their influence either to bring the local doctors to an agreement in the matter or to try and have the city take over the hospital. It was a crying shame that a town of the size of Fernie, with at least six hundred men at work in one industry, should not have hospital accommodation.

The matter was discussed at length and a committee consisting of Dr. Gee, S. Herchmer and G. G. Henderson was appointed to reach a solution of the question.

The meeting then adjourned.

BLAIRMORE CHINK DRAWS SIX MONTHS

Blairmore, Jan. 8.—Six months in jail and a $200 fine, with the option of an additional three months, was the sentence meted out to a local celestial, Chin Nam, arrested under the Narcotic Drugs Act. His mate, Chin Chang, also arrested on a dope charge by the R.C.M.P., fared much better, as the case against him was dismissed.

B.C. MINERS' ASSOCIATION ELECT OFFICERS

The election of officers for the B.C. Miners' Association took place on Sunday last and resulted as follows:

President—H. Bryant.
Vice-President—J. Sweeney.
Fin.-Sec.—A. Harrison.
Rec. Sec.—H. Biggs.
Checkweighmen — Simpson and Whalley.
Executive Committee—G. G. Sawyer, John Bella, E. Hesketh, J. Manning, and A. Lees.

CRANBROOK VS. FERNIE

Five rinks of Fernie curlers visited Cranbrook on Wednesday afternoon and played a friendly match with five from that town. The Cranbrook boys won three out of five of the games, but the total score was very close, there only being a difference of three points. The Fernie rinks were made up as follows:

S. Herchmer, skip; W. Baldrey, W. Thomas, Wm. Ingram.

M. A. Kastner, skip; G. Johnston, A. Walde, C. Glover.

E. K. Stewart, skip; A. Corrie, P. Bean, J. J. Harrington.

T. Beck, skip; R. Kerr, J. Gates, J. McDonald.

T. Prentice, skip; J. Johnston, A. Sanborn, C. O'Neil.

Herchmer and Stewart were the Fernie teams who won their games.

The boys, who were chaperoned by Harvey Brown, report a fine time, and speak highly of the new Cranbrook Curling Rink.

FERNIE MILLIONAIRE WILL GRUBSTAKE PROSPECTORS

Vancouver, Jan. 6.—Mining interests that bemoan the passing of the old-time prospector have a friend in A. B. Trites, who announces today that he is willing to grubstake bona fide prospectors, and send them into the hills, with wages and a share of whatever they find.

In a statement he regrets that Americans are allowed to come into B.C. and own mining property, which he says should be kept for Canadians.

The eight-hour day has gone into effect in British Columbia industry as satisfactorily as could be expected, state officials of the provincial labor department. No serious effect upon business has been reported as the result of the inauguration of the law and no cases of non-observance have been noted. Any instance of failure to live up to the new regulations will be dealt with promptly, it is stated. Further exemptions under the law are being considered, but none has been made as yet, states J. D. McNiven, deputy minister of labor.

That the government is fully determined to put a stop to bootlegging in British Columbia, so far as that is possible, is evidenced by the drive on the illicit trafficker in Vancouver recently. Attorney General Manson gave the new liquor commissioner, Hugh Davidson, full powers to proceed as he saw fit. The round-up of alleged bootleggers is the greatest in the history of the province.

CITY COUNCIL FINAL SESSION

The retiring city council held their winding-up meeting for the year 1924 in the council chamber Tuesday evening, when all accounts due were passed for payment.

Mayor Henderson, who stated he had reconsidered his decision to again be a candidate for mayoralty honors in the forthcoming election and that he had definitely decided to retire, made the following report to the council covering the five years he had been in office:

I have a few notes I would like to submit for your consideration.

Five years ago, January, 1920, at this time when I assumed office the city had an overdraft at the bank of $30,000, and in addition thereto two or three thousand dollars in unpaid bills, some of them two and three years old.

In addition to these debts and overdraft, I found there was at that time scarcely any equipment of any kind to do anything with. The city hadn't a wagon that was safe to hitch to, and not a horse under 20 years of age. Today the city owns the best team of horses in the city, two first class service wagons which cost $700, two high class motor trucks worth $7000 and a $3700 fire truck which has more than paid for itself in horse feed alone.

In addition to this equipment the city now has an electric motor as power for its rock crusher and a first class concrete mixer, the two costing $2350.

To house this equipment it was found necessary to provide a storehouse, and an addition was built to the fire hall which cost $2700.

Soonafter taking office as mayor, I found that the city's waterworks system was completely worn out. The old wooden water mains had become so decayed and leaky the pressure at the fire hydrants in the business section of the city had dropped to 30 pounds, a pressure entirely inadequate for fire fighting purposes. Fire insurance underwriters were continually warning the city that unless something was done to remedy this and done at once, all insurance rates would be at least doubled.

During the past four years approximately $130,000 has been spent in renewing the waterworks system and today the city has one of the best waterworks systems in Canada, with a hydrant pressure of 100 lbs., and instead of a big increase in fire insurance rates there has been a reduction, especially on residential properties, in many instances the rate having been reduced almost a half. The Central School now has a rate of 50 cents, or three years for $1.00.

Since assuming the duties of mayor in 1920, the city's electric light system has been extended for several blocks in the North end and the whole of West Fernie has been supplied with electric light. These extensions and conversions cost approximately $10,900 and have all been paid for. With the advent of hydro power the cost of light to consumers in the city has been reduced to less than two-thirds its former cost and still leaves the city a profit.

During my term in office as mayor that portion of the city known as the Annex has all been supplied with a sewerage system. During the same period the streets in that part of the city have been put in better shape than ever before.

During the past four years the city has bought back over $60,000 worth of its own debentures. This will ultimately result in a saving to the city of not less than $50,000. Had this not been done the defunct Home Bank would have had this money.

When one considers that all this with the exception of the Annex sewer has all been accomplished without the issuing of debentures or the borrowing of money in any way, the citizens of Fernie are to be congratulated, to say the least. Had any other city in Western Canada double the size of Fernie accomplished half as much under the same circumstances, it would have been published far and near. Some will doubtless say that all this outlay should not have been incurred without issuing debentures, but those who argue this way are doubtless not aware of the fact that the city's borrowing power was almost entirely used up some years prior to 1920, which fact, in conjunction with the fact that the city for another 14 or 15 years will still be paying for debentures sold at the time the wooden waterworks system was installed, would have made it almost impossible to sell other debentures for the same purpose.

The past year was not in any way a normal year insofar as the city of Fernie was concerned. The long continued labor troubles caused the receipts in almost every department to fall below those of former years. One striking example of this is in the tax receipts, which were some $10,800 less than in 1923. As a consequence there is at present $21,400 taxes outstanding, whereas at the end of 1923 there was only $12,800.

All departments of the city are today in better condition than ever before. The fire department is run at less cost and the present head of this department has done more during the time he has held the position many times over, to earn his salary than any former chief.

The city today is cleaner both morally and physically than ever before. I doubt very much if there is another place of its size in Western Canada today with a better record for morality. The city's police department is the best in the history of the city. The head of this department is one of the best police officers in Western Canada, and I take considerable pride in having been one of those who secured for the city the services of Chief of Police Charles Anderson.

The electric light and water departments are in charge of capable men and are today costing less than ever before. Never before has the waterworks been in charge of a capable plumber.

In A. J. Moffatt as city clerk and treasurer, the city has a valuable man who would be hard to replace. His assistant, Miss Murphy, is also giving splendid satisfaction.

Again I would say, the city is to be congratulated on what it has accomplished since 1920.

The year 1925, I believe, will be an important one in the history of the city, and the mayor and council will be called upon to decide many important questions. The heavy expenditures of the past few years for waterworks renewals made it impossible to do many things I would have liked to see done. With this outlay all provided for and a likelihood that the city will eventually get all the money due it by the Home Bank, the new council will be in a much better position to carry out needed improvements than has been possible during the past few years.

I understand that Ald. Irvine has consented to allow his name to be placed in nomination for mayor. I am very glad of this, as I am confident Mr. Irvine will fill the position with credit to himself and honor to the city.

I hope to see all the members of the present council in the council for 1925. You are familiar with the requirements of the city and should be given an opportunity to carry them out, which was not the case in late years owing to the necessarily heavy outlay to replace an almost useless waterworks system, an outlay that would not have been necessary had the city been well advised in the first place.

Again, I sincerely hope to see you all in the 1925 council. I will not be a candidate for re-election.

Following the reading of the Mayor's report, a motion was unanimously passed, with Ald. Markland acting as chairman, that:

The report of the Mayor be accepted and placed in the minutes; also that the 1924 council express to the Mayor on behalf of the citizens of Fernie its appreciation of his work for the city during his regime.

Bylaw No. 262, the Dance Hall Bylaw, was brought up for final discussion and passed and will now be entered on the city statute books to become effective immediately. From now on all public dances will require a license from the Chief of Police, and must close at or before 1 o'clock in the morning. No one has the authority to extend this time limit. The fee for licenses will be 50c. No person under the age of 16 years will be permitted to enter a public dance unless accompanied by one or both of their parents.

Premier Oliver is in Ottawa to attend the Federal railway conference, which opened there today. His chief aim is to dispose of the P.G.E. railway, a thankless task at the best, he points out, but every effort will be made to make some arrangement whereby the province will be relieved of this burden.

"SNOW BIRDS" AND COAL

Calgary, Jan. 5.— The definition of a "snow bird" was sought at the opening session here on Monday of the commission appointed by the federal government to inquire into an alleged coal combine at Winnipeg. The inquiry was instituted under the Combines Investigation Act of 1923 and was lodged at the instance of C. Courtney and other coal dealers in Manitoba. The commission, which is composed of Commissioner David Campbell, K.C., Counsel M. G. McNeil and W. A. McIntosh, secretary, has already held sittings at Winnipeg and Edmonton. From Calagry, it will proceed to Drumheller, Saskatoon and Regina.

At the outset of the inquiry, which is being held in the court house, Counsel M. G. McNeil took strong objection to an Edmonton dispatch which appeared in the morning paper here on Monday which contained the sentence that "not a tittle of evi dence of any combine to control prices came out at the closing sessions of the Winnipeg coal commission here Saturday," and also to an editorial comment in the Calgary morning paper which read: "If there is any combine which causes the high price, there is no evidence of the same."

Commissioner Campbell said he quite appreciated what had been said by Mr. McNeil and had noticed the same references himself. It was somewhat embarrassing, he said, because it was his unfortunate duty to decide what was evidence, and he would like very much if the press would bear that in mind. Up to now he said, the press had treated the commission very fairly.

The only witness examined on Monday was F. Naylor, of the firm of Naylor and Hesleton. He said his firm handled the output of the Excelsior mine at Wayne and of the Capitol mine at Drumheller. So far as Winnipeg was concerned he said his firm did their business with brokerage firms.

"What is a fair profit on a ton of coal?" witness was asked.

"As a retailer, if I made 65 cents a ton I think I would be doing exceedingly well and would be perfectly satisfied," said the witness.

One point brought out by Mr. Naylor was the considerable loss in weight of coal between the time it was loaded into cars at the mine and delivered. He cited two cars last week, one of which was 8000 pounds and the other 6000 pounds short upon arrival here.

"This is the greatest discrepancy I have ever heard of," commented the commissioner.

On the question of "snow birds" in the coal business, Mr. Naylor was asked by the commissioner what his conception was of a legitimate dealer.

"A man who is in business the whole year round and has equipment and outfit to handle his business," he said in reply.

A "snow bird," according to Commissioner Campbell, was a man who entered the coal business during the winter months and undersold the dealer who was in the coal business the year round, leaving the latter with a stock of coal on his hands in the spring. This definition was concurred in by F. Naylor of the firm of Naylor and Hesleton of Calgary, in his evidence on Monday, and who added there were "snow birds" here as well as in other points on the prairies.

Placed in a few brief sentences what Britain did in the Great War has seldom been more aptly summarized than in the following from the London Daily Mail: "Alone of the great Allied nations, Great Britain fought from start to finish in the air, on land and at sea, and in each case on the largest possible scale. It is true that at the outset her army was small, but it yet had an appreciable part in defeating the great German thrust to Paris, and it held up and defeated the German effort to reach the coast, which would have meant the doom of the Allies. Moreover, Great Britain fought not in one field, but in every field; and at the close of the war, despite the fact that she was maintaining an enormous navy, her army was the strongest existing. Add that her merchant seamen defied the submarines and fearlessly transported food and supplies to our Allies; add that they brought to Europe half the United States army; and add that the British people provided £1,787,000,000 to finance the Allies; and we have an example of energy and achievement that has never been paralleled."

Had an accident up at our house the other night.

Yeh? Anybody hurt?

Naw. The old man was just about asleep when the pillow slipped, the bed spread, he fell through the mattress and almost drowned in the springs.

SYMPATHY AND CRIME

Another example of the sympathy for the habitual criminal and the results thereof took place in a small town in Ontario last week when a young woman was killed by a supposed admirer. In 1922 this man was was brought before the courts for attempting to take this young woman's life. Through representations made he was sentenced and the sentence suspended. In October of the same year he was rearrested and sentenced to from 8 to 23 months in the reformatory. In August, 1923, he was, through the sympathetic interference of well-meaning but not too intelligent persons, released. He went away to the harvest. He then came home and shot the young lady. Thus, this sympathy for the habitual lawbreaker has caused another death, a young life has been snuffed out, and the state will be put to the cost of another murder trial, which may cause the prisoner to be hanged, but more likely he will be given a short sentence.—Sidney Review.

FOR SAFE DRIVING

After working for months on a device to make the streets safe for pedestrians, an inventor has just committed suicide. "And can you blame him?" asks a paragrapher, emphasizing the hopelessness of the task of making the highways and streets of the nation safe for motorcar drivers and pedestrians alike. Reckless, careless, drunken, and incompetent drivers of automobiles and trucks; faulty brakes; negligent pedestrians of "jay-walkers"; and the deadly grade crossing—all these figure in the appalling list of automobile accidents of 1923; a total that has resulted in a nation-wide drive, headed by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, for safety on the highways.

The traffic conference called by Mr. Hoover just before Christmas is considered by the Baltimore Sun the sanest movement that has come out of Washington in months. Mr. Hoover recognized, we are told, that automobile accidents are increasing at such an alarming rate that they no longer constitute a community problem, or even a State problem, but a national problem. At the Conference on Street and Highway Safety, we are informed by the Washington Post, Mr. Hoover pointed out the need of acting through state and local agencies, and arousing authorities all over the country "to the imperative need of stopping this yearly slaughter." To this end the conference was attended by representatives of police departments, insurance companies, safety councils, chambers of commerce, labor unions, automobile associations, manufacturers, dealers, and by various other organizations. Said Mr. Hoover at one of the meetings:

"When we consider that in 1923 street and highway accidents caused 22,600 deaths, 678,000 serious personal injuries, resulting in $600,000,000 economic loss, and that 85 per cent of these accidents were incident to automobile traffic, it will be seen that the problem is a serious national one.

"A very large portion of these deaths and personal injuries happened to men, women and children on foot. The next largest group who suffered are the motorists themselves, who are the victims of reckless driving upon the part of a small minority of vicious or ignorant.

"There are three broad methods of approach to remedy. First, through prevention and safeguard; second, through much stronger punishment for violation of the rights of others; third, through public education as to its responsibilities.

The time has come when every accident must be examined and punishment meted out that will impress the mind of the reckless for the balance of their natural lives."

"What are your hopes for the future?" asked the solemn man.

"I have none just now," replied the youth. "Tomorrow is my girl's birthday and I am worrying about the present."

Calgary and Banff to Unite in Carnival

Top left, Banff Springs Hotel in winter garb; below, a dog sled team. Stoney Indians attend the Carnival in full force and regalia, and figure skating, snowshoeing and ice yachting are but a few of the many seasonal attractions to the famous mountain resort.

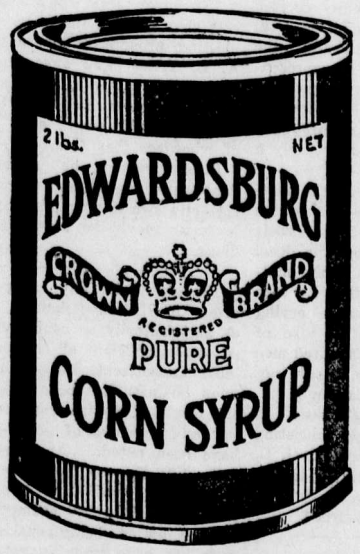
Banff. Immediately one conjures up visions of the Bow River, the Valley, sunny skies, warm days, summer dresses, ponies, excursions into the snow capped mountains, swimming in the pools, hiking boots, breeks and bathing suits. There are a thousand pleasant memories of Banff in summer time. Comparatively few however, have any idea of this mountain resort in Winter. The thought at this season gives us a chilly feeling perhaps. Yet, after all, having leisure, what better place could be found in which to spend a long or short vacation after snow has fallen. Cold? Certainly no more so than down on the plains where what winds there are sweep uninterrupted.

Sheltered by the rocky slopes on practically all sides, high and with a drier atmosphere, the frost there gives an invigorating touch that stimulates life and activity where elsewhere the country sleeps through the winter. As Quebec is to the East, so, perhaps even to a greater degree, is Banff to the West. The home of Winter Sports.

Instead of going to sleep, the little town of Banff comes to life with the coming of snow. One event and community effort follows the other, and a long list of sporting activities culminates in February with a huge seven day carnival in which all citizens and hundreds of enthusiasts from all parts of the World, take part.

It will only be the case of a very few years until tourists arrange their trips to take in the Carnival at Banff as they now visit New Orleans in March for the Mardi Gras, or Pasadena for the Rose Tournament. Apart from the glorious scenery, it is a perfect Winter playground.

Preparations are even now under way for the next Winter Carnival. This, to be held from February 7th to 14th inclusive, is planned to be the greatest yet. Calgary enthusiasts have decided to cancel their own carnival arrangements and to unite with the Banff citizens to make it a success. A very comprehensive program of sports has already been drawn up covering events in curling, skating, snow-shoeing, ski running and jumping, ski-joring, tobagganning, trap-shooting, sleighing, and swimming in the hot sulphur pools. For none of these sports could the setting or the conveniences be excelled.



For the adventurous visitor Lake Minnewanka offers ice-yachting. Dog-sled races are a never failing source of interest. These races are often run down the main street, and, as in other sports, it is often a case of the best dog being beaten as a great deal of comedy is played. It often happens that an over anxious or jealous contestant grabs an opponent in any convenient place and in the ensuing mixup any old hound can waddle home an easy winner. But its all in the game; and the game at Banff the out-door game—with dancing, cards or concert which each one plays a part in the evening.

CROWN BRAND CORN PURE SYRUP

The old reliable table syrup that has been on the market for

Over a Quarter of a Century

This well known brand was always "GOOD"
Our constant endeavour has been to make it "BETTER"
Today we claim it is "THE BEST" Corn Syrup on the market.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Mothers especially like it for children as it takes the place of internal medicines.

Local Druggists Have Modern Remedy for Colds

A Vaporizing Salve which is Rubbed Over Throat and Chest for Colds.

When Vicks VapoRub, the "external" method of treating sore throat, bronchitis, deep chest colds, or croup, is applied over throat or chest, the ingredients are released as vapors by the body heat.

These vapors, inhaled with each breath carry the medication directly to the affected air passages, loosening the phlegm and relieving the congestion.

Colds are usually relieved over night.

OVER 17 MILLION JARS USED YEARLY

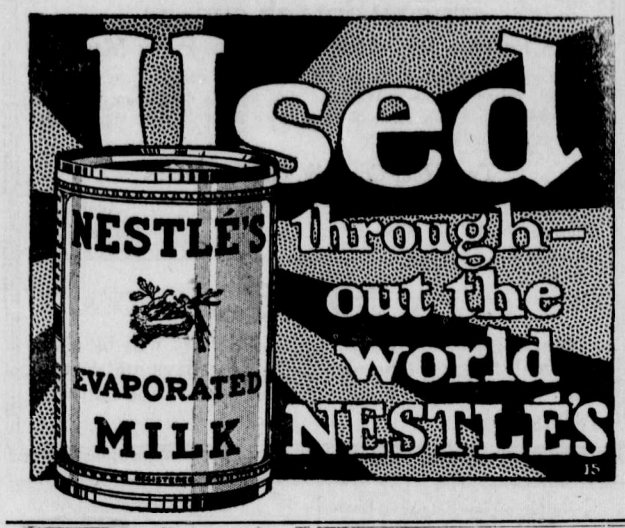
Women are braver than men. Who ever heard of a man marrying a woman to reform her?

SCIENCE AND DIVORCE

"If you want to end divorce," Prof. E. A. Kirkpatrick tells the American Association of Science, in Washington, "let scientists frame the marriage laws."

There is nothing wrong with the marriage laws. It is the way they are applied that causes the trouble.

Any two healthy normal people, reasonably fond of each other, can live and flourish under the institution of marriage as it exists today. But the trouble starts when the institution of marriage is applied to the sub-normal and the unfit.



You can no more expect two people with the mental development of seven year old children to live up to the institution of marriage than you should expect an orang-outang to live up to the Athanasian Creed.

Let the marriage law continue as it is. But let science determine, not what marriage is to be, but who are to marry.

Let science determine, not under what terms children are brought into the world, but who are to bring them into the world.

EXAMINATION OF R. P. GOUGH NEARS FINISH

Toronto, Jan. 5.—Cross-examination of R. P. Gough, vice-president of the Home Bank, which failed in 1923, on charges of making false statements of the bank's affairs, was concluded just after noon today. Mr. Gough, who took the witness stand in his own defence, was cross-examined for over 22 hours by D. L. McCarthy, K.C., crown prosecutor, for a period extending over several days. It was one of the longest cross-examinations in the history of Toronto courts. W. N. Tilley, K.C., defence counsel, started re-examination. It is not expected that he will take long.

D. L. McCarthy, K.C., crown counsel, this morning examined Mr. Gough again as to the happenings at the directors meeting in August, 1923, after which the bank closed its doors. Mr. Gough repeated his statement that the late H. J. Daly, president of the bank, had admitted that he had been deceiving the other directors.

"I asked him about the manufacturers holding account and he told me to go to the devil; that he had more money than I had and could pay it off," said Mr. Gough.

"Why, as vice-president, could you not find out if you wanted to?"

"There were many things I have known nothing about," was the reply.

"For instance what?"

"I did not know the profits of the property sale were taken into back earnings."

"You had information available?"

"Yes."

"How did you get your information for the declaration of dividends?"

"I took the assurance of other men."

"You took the assurance of Z. A. Lash?"

"Yes, through Mason and Daly."

"They are now dead?"

"Yes."

"Was there anyone else who assured you?"

"Yes, I believed my fellow directors were conscientious."

"Is there any living man from whom you got assurances of the bank's position?"

"Yes, from Mr. Calvert the last time I moved a dividend. He told me the bank was making profits."

The instein theory, among other implications, tended to intimate that we are within measurable distance of a definition of "infinity." If it can be defined, the paradox will be that there can be no such thing as infinity. The earth and the moon together, it is estimated (probably inaccurately) absorb only one-two-thousand-millionth part of the heat and light radiated from the sun. In discussing the bounds of "infinity" apparently no attention is paid to the case of Sirius and his Solar system, which is immensely more capacious than ours.

PRINCE ALBERT

the international joy smoke

is the real tobacco for jimmy pipes and makin's cigarettes

Copyright 1916 by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

Back up and get a fresh start!

For men who got away to a false start on a pipe or home-made cigarettes Prince Albert has a word or two for what ails their smokeappetites!

Forget you ever tried to smoke, for Prince Albert is so different, has such a fine flavor, and is so cool and cheerful and friendly, you'll get a new idea of smoke joy! The patented process cuts out bite and parch! Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!

This little talk is also for men who think they're on the right track. All to be said is that the sooner you lay out the price for a supply of Prince Albert, the sooner you'll make a discovery that'll be worth a lot to your peace of mind and tongue! If your dealer cannot supply it, ask him to secure Prince Albert through his wholesaler. Get the idea of smoking all you want without a comeback—that's P. A.!

On the reverse side of this tidy red tin you will read: "Process Patented July 30th, 1907," which has made three men smoke pipes where one smoked before!

EDITORIAL ECHOES

THAT coal will again come into its own is borne out by recent statements made by President Coolidge regarding the oil supply.

That the United States is becoming anxious concerning its oil supply is plainly revealed by President Coolidge's announcement of the creation of a "Federal Oil Conservation Board."

The American president has instructed this board "to study the government's responsibility and to enlist the full co-operation of representatives of the oil industry in the investigation of the problem of oil conservation."

Mr. Coolidge added:

"The problem of a future shortage in fuel oil and lubricating oil, not to mention gasoline, must be avoided, or our manufacturing productivity will be curtailed to an extent not easily calculated" . . "oil of which our resources is limited, is largely taking the place of coal, the supply of which seems to be unlimited, but coal cannot take the place of oil in most of its higher uses on land or sea or in the air." . . .

AN American exchange says: It used to be said that prohibition would drive all the old soaks to the use of opium, but statistics show that while there has been an increase in the number of habitues a large percentage of them are young boys and girls under twenty who could not have been long addicted to the whiskey habit if at all. The cause lies elsewhere, and it seems that we have not found it, nor have we hit on a method to effectually reduce the traffic in opium, notwithstanding the fact that our government annually spends a quarer of a million dollars for its restriction. One-fourth of the prisoners in the federal penitentiaries are able to get all the opium they want. State convicts are probably in the same file. We have tried to regulate the production of opium and control its source of supply, but have made very little progress along that line.

WE shall pass through this world but once; if therefore, there will be any kindness we can show or any good thing we can do to our fellow being let us do it now; let us not defer nor neglect it, for we shall not pass this way again."

BIG GAINS BY ROYAL BANK

One of the most impressive features of the financial statements of some of the larger institutions of Canada that have been made public recently is the exceptionally strong liquid position that is indicated in the balance sheets. The report of the Royal Bank of Canada for the year ending Nov. 29, 1924, is an excellent illustration of this. Out of total assets of $583,789,509, no less than $278,024,739 are classified as immediately available liquid assets, representing 47.7 per cent as compared with 43.3 per cent for the pervious year. These liquid assets comprise also 54.5 per cent of the bank's liabilities to the public as compared with slightly over 49 per cent shown in the statement of the previous year, a gain of over five per cent.

While this bank has always maintained a policy of providing itself with an abundant amount of liquid reserves, in order that it might be in a position to provide cash for the various periods of the year when special demands are made upon it, such as the financing of the Canadian wheat crop and the intensive buying of the business community in the spring and in the fall, the investments of the bank in high grade securities have been rather larger than usual this past year. This has been due partly to the fact that current loans have still shown a tendency to decline, and also the lack of normal activity in business. Thus the holdings of government have increased by $24,256,775 to a total of $53,039,825, and the holdings of municipal and British and foreign securities have gone up from $15,900,363 to $25,634,914. The total increase in the two classes of securities amounted to $33,891,326. The current loans of the bank showed a decline of slightly over $9,000,000 in the year, standing at $148,499,355 as compared with $157,738,785.

As the situation stands, the Royal Bank is in an unusually favorable position to provide assistance to the industries of the country at such time as these may require to call upon it.

A study of the deposits of the bank indicates not only a continuance but a strengthening of the confidence that is felt in the Royal Bank throughout the country. One year ago savings deposits amounted to $311,759,127, and on Nov. 29, 1924, they had increased to $338,291,427, a gain of $26,532,300. Demand deposits also showed a substantial increase, making a total gain in all deposits in excess of $40,000,000, the total increasing from $411,334,000 to $461,828,000.

The Profit and Loss Account shows that the bank has been able to maintain its profits in spite of the greater difficulty of lending its money at profitable rates of interest. The net profit for the year ending Nov. 29, 1924, was $3,878,976, compared with $3,909,316 for the previous year. After meeting the regular dividends and bonus, and also appropriations of $400,000 for bank premises and $100,000 for the Officers' Pension Fund, and providing $465,000 to take care of Dominion government taxes, there was carried forward to Profit and Loss Account for the new year $1,143,806 as compared with $1,085,830 with which the bank had commenced the fiscal year of 1923-24.

CUP DONATED BY LETHBRIDGE BREWERY

(Lethbridge Herald)

The Lethbridge Breweries, Ltd., have presented a new cup for competition in the Crow's Nest Association Bonspiel, and are supplying first prizes for ten years. The firsts are miniature cups that go to each member of the winning rink. Blairmore and Bellevue clubs will be supplying 2nd, 3rd and 4th prizes in this event.

The Macleod trophy is being dropped from competition play. This leaves the Grand Challenge supported by Cranbrook, the Magrath supported by Lethbridge, the Trites-Wood supported by Fernie, the International supported by Coleman and Pincher Creek, and the Brewery supported by Blairmore and Bellevue.

The bonspiel this year is at Fernie and the first draw will be made immediately after the westbound train arrives on Monday, Jan. 19.

Fernie has nine sheets of ice and are wonderful hosts and know how to win bonspiels.

They expect a good turnout, and Lethbridge will be among those present with at least three rinks.

COAL CREEK NOTES

The children of the United Church Sunday school gave their annual concert on Friday evening last in the school room, under the leadership of Mr. Glass, principal of the school. A lengthy program was arranged, consisting of solos, readings, recitations and sketches.. Recitations were given by Melba Worthington, Olive Millar, Evelyn Lee and Douglas Alexander; reading by Miss Emily Fawley; solos by the Misses M. Arrowsmith, G. Leyland and Jean Fleming. The Thespian abilities of the young performers in the sketches "Morning After Christmas" and "Whitewashing," drew loud applause form the audience. Mrs. Larmont ably officiated at the piano and Rev. Burns occupied the chair.

The children of the Anglican Sunday school up here were entertained on Monday evening by an illustration of various nursery rhymes depicted by the means of lantern slides, manipulated by Thos. Ferneaux. The children were regaled with candy and nuts and refreshments were served.

Tom Mitchell, an old time resident of this camp, is reported missing from his home at Cumberland, B.C. It is feared that he has been overcome by the severe weather prevailing recently.

Miss Annie Billsborough was called home from her occupation in Fernie in order to nurse her mother, who has been seriously ill.

A quota of men from this camp left on Thursday to work on the government road at Crow's Nest.

All roads will lead to the local rink on Sunday next when our local puck chasers entertain the Fernie Bluebirds in the city league.

The school reopened on Monday last.

Examinations in proficiency in mining were held here on Thursday afternoon, Messrs. Miard and McDonald, mine inspectors, being the examiners.

Notices have been posted warning all and sundry of the dangerous practice of jumping on and off the M. F. & M. trains whilst in motion. In future anyone found disregarding this order will be severely dealt with.

Mike Micheluck was in camp this week removing his furniture to Corbin, where he has secured a position.

Mrs. R. Alstead is officiating as teacher at the Corbin school during the temporary absence of the regular teacher.

In spite of the great abundance of snow the tipple crew have been able to keep traffic moving.

Thos. Uphill, M.P.P., paid a business visit to the camp on Wednesday.

Teepee—Room and board $8.50 per week. Electric light, steam heated; all modern conveniences inside. — R. Johnstone, Prop.

JOINT INSTALLATION OF LODGE OFFICERS

Mount Fernie Lodge, No. 47, and Esther Rebekah Lodge, No. 20, I.O. O.F., held a joint installation of officers in the Odd Fellows Hall last evening. Immediately after the installation ceremonies were concluded refreshments were served by the combined Good of the Order committees, and then dancing was carried on until [illegible].

GOT IN BOILER TO SAVE LIFE

The following rather improbable story appeared in Sunday's Spokesman-Review. The Flathead Valley, where the oil wells are located, is about 30 or 40 miles from Fernie, where the lowest temperature recorded was 34 below zero. It hardly seems probable that it would be so much colder a few miles to the south of us, and why a man should crawl into a boiler to get warm with lots of fuel oil and good wood around is hard to understand.

"Life was saved by Jack Rickard, an engineer, W1414 Clark avenue, when he crawled into a boiler at the plant of the Crow's Nest Oil Co., in the mountains of Sage creek in southeastern B.C., during the recent drop in temperature. He was saved from death there by the arrival of the crew who had been struggling in snow for three hours to reach him, according to R. H. Greene, secretary- treasurer of the company.

The temperature dropped to 55 degrees below zero. How much lower it went is not known, as the mercury congealed at that point, but it is believed to have descended far below.

When the wind drew the fire out of the stove, Rickard took refuge between the boilers, but the temperature was so low that he was unaware of warmth. When it became obvious that he would die unless something else was done he drew the fire from the lesser of the boilers and crawled into the firebox.

The relief he obtained there lessened as the boiler cooled. When confronted again by death he stood it off by burning small quantities of crude oil, taken from the well in the course of bailing.

On reaching the plant the rescuers were unable to find Rickard until one opened the door of the firebox to see why the fire was not active. The man they drew out was black with the soot of the oil and too weak to help himself.

Three of the eight men, including Rickard, collapsed in the cold and were taken the remainder of the distance on sleds when the crew escaped to the port of Flathead at the international boundary, several miles distant. George Reiling and John Errington, foreman, came to Spokane with Rickard. Bob Jones, cook, and another man, went to Columbia Falls and the other three to Kalispell.

Abandonment of the camp, which is a mile from the plant, was forced by extremes of temperature. A chinook removed three and a half feet of snow in six days. It was succeeded abruptly by a blizzard, during the activity of which the temperature dropped to 40 below zero. The ice that formed on Sage creek was raised by the flood and piled up until a breast was formed by it. This changed the channel of the creek to a route between the cabins. Not until water reached the floors did the men retreat."

PIT-HEAD STRIKE AT DRUMHELLER IS OFF

Drumheller, Jan. 7. — The snap "strike" of the coal miners in the Drumheller district is over. At a mass meeting of 800 miners held at Drumheller last night the men voted to return to work at once, with the understanding that officials of District 18, U.M.W.A., will take up their various grievances with the operators in the meantime. As a result all mines in the Red Deer Valley, with the exception of one, will be working today, a short 24 hours after the pit-head strike had been called off.

FIRST HOCKEY OF THE SEASON

For the opening game of the 1925 hockey season the local fans were given a fine exhibition of the winter pastime when the Married Men and the Single Men crossed sticks last Friday evening, the Benedicts securing the verdict by a score of two goals to one.

The score was no closer than the game itself. Right up to the last couple of minutes it was impossible to forecast the winners. Both teams played splendid hockey throughout. They were very evenly matched and consequently the rubber was kept travelling from one goal to the other all the way through.

The opening goal came about half way through the first period, when the bachelors sent three men up the ice and with good combination all the way. M. Commons parted with the puck to J. Thompson close to the goal and the latter beat Colton with a fast shot. The single men held on to their lead until well on in the third period, when Dicken crowned a solo run by getting the puck past Coste for the equalizer. This goal certainly livened things up and some real hard knocks were exchanged. At one time, with the exception of Colton the two teams were piled up in front of the Bachelors goal and the referee had to ring the bell to find the puck. From the face off, Biggs secured and catching Coste unsighted banged the puck into the net for the goal that won the game and an oyster supper for the Benedicts.

Benedicts — Colton, Kirkpatrick, Swedeberg, McLachlan, Biggs, Dicken, J. Commons, C. Commons.

Bachelors — Coste, M. Commons, Shand, Dyson, J. Thompson, A. Thompson, Smalek, Cairns.

Referee—Cy. Walker.

It takes money to run a league and the boys will need all the support the fans can give them. A collection will be taken up at every game.

The following is the line-up for the Coal Creek team, which was omitted in last week's issue:

O. Corrigan, D. Alexander, P. Corrigan, J. Smith, D. Smith, J. Lamont, B. Glover, F. Atherton.

The opening game of the City Hockey League, played Tuesday evening between the West Fernie Bluebirds and the Northerns, resembled a battle royal more than a hockey game and there was a constant stream of players wending their way to the penalty box. Good hockey and rough stuff do not combine and consequently the game suffered considerably, players paying more attention to getting the man than the puck.

The Bluebirds started out under a handicap owing to the nonappearance of some of their players, and owing to the time limit being reached for the start they had only five men on the ice to the Northerns six during practically the entire first period, but managed to hold their own very nicely. The Northerns opened the score when Sofko got through on his own for the first goal. From the face-off the Bluebirds went hotly into the attack and Thompson gave Smith a goalmouth pass which that player easily converted. In the second Swedeberg and Dudley put on a couple of goals for the Northerns, and in the third Colton scored a fourth goal for them. When he shot from the corner the rubber hit the goaltender and glanced off his pads into the net. Close to the call of time, Dyson and Smalek collided with the result that Dyson had to be carried off the ice and had to receive medical attention for internal injuries.

Bluebirds—Paton; Commons and Smalek; Smith, Thompson and White.

Northerns—Colton; Swedeberg and Dyson; Wilson, Sofko, Colton and Dudley.

Thursday evening's game was of a different class altogether when the 150's defeated the Northerns by the score of six goals to five, 10 minutes overtime being required to decide the issue. The players on both teams paid more attention to the puck and the fans were treated to one of the best games played here for some time. The penalties handed out by Referee Walker were mostly for technical fouls rather than rough work.

The opening goal came within one minute from the start. Dicken passed the puck to Commons, who made no mistake. This goal seemed to give the Northerns a lease on the puck, and they kept up a continuous bombardment on Coste. Three goals came to them in quick succession, Sofko getting two and Colton one in the last few minutes of the first period. In the second period the order was reversed. Sofko netted for the Northerns, then Commons, Biggs and Dicken scored for the 150's, tying the score. Sofko put the Northerns one up in the third period and then Commons bulged the twine for the 150's, making the score five all at the end of the third period. In the ten minutes of overtime Biggs scored the winning goal, taking a goalmouth pass from Dicken and gave the 150's the game.

150's—Coste; Kirkpatrick and J. Shand; Dicken, Biggs and Commons.

Referee—Cy Walker.

ELECTION PROSPECTS

The belief is growing that a federal election will be held during the coming year and that the session to open on February 5 will be the last of the present parliament. The Liberal government believes that the verdict recently given by West Hastings in a by-election is symptomatic of the opinion held throughout the country. During the past few years the political fortunes of the Progressives and the Liberals have been drawing together. The former have, in tariff matters, dictated the policy of the government and for the favor they have received there is undoubtedly a price to be paid. Part of that price is evident in the continued support they give to the administration on the floor of the House of Commons. The balance will probably be noted in a reciprocal arrangement regarding contests when the next election is held.

The next election will conceivably be fought on the tariff issue. Most of the by-elections held since the latest tariff reductions have gone in favor of the government, and Mr. Mackenzie King doubtless concludes that the Progressive-Liberal policy is favored by the country as a whole. The issue then will be to decide whether or not Canada wants a lower tariff still, because the Progressives will unquestionably press forward to their avowed goal of free trade.

Ontario's policy of reforestration is being expanded. In 1923 the government provided 2,000,000 young trees for planting in the province. Last year more than 3,000,000 were supplied. For years past the goversment has encouraged the protection and improvement of privately-owned woodlands. In what it is doing the Ontario government is ahead of any other provincial government in the country.

Assistant—But she said we were swindlers.

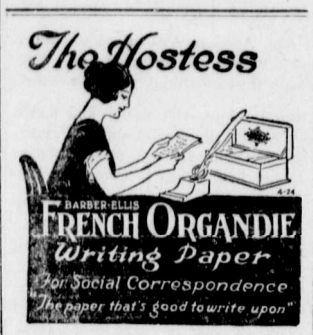
BIG SEA THRILLS IN NEW INCE FILM

Thomas H. Ince, himself a lover of the sea, has again brought its compelling influence to the screen in "The Marriage Cheat," a vivid drama of emotions to which the ocean contributes many thrilling moments, for its setting is on the romantic island of Hiti Huti in the South Sea.

Spending every possible hour of his spare time at sea aboard his yacht "Edris," Mr. Ince is particularly fitted to make the most of the sea sequences that chance to enter into his productions. And in the production of "The Marriage Cheat," under the direction of John Griffith Wray, no effort was spared to make the various sea "shots" gems of thrilling action.

One of the most exciting incidents in the story occurs when the yacht "Sultana" is wrecked on a jagged reef as it leaves the shelter of Hiti Huti. "Octavia Canfield," played by Leatrice Joy, and her baby are put in a lifeboat and lowered away from the side of the yacht, which is being pounded by the heavy seas and listing badly. As members of the crew are lowering the boat, a huge wave breaks ovoer the deck of the yacht, washing everything in its path and forcing the men to relinquish their hold on the ropes. Bow first, the lifeboat drops into the ocean, rights itself and, with Miss Joy and the baby huddled in the bottom of it, is swirled away by the mountainous waves. "Bob Canfield," enacted by Adolphe Menjou in the picture, is forced to make a thrilling leap into the sea and is struck by a falling spar as he plunges into the ocean.



Another thrilling bit of action falls to Percy Marmont, in the role of "Paul Mayne," lone missionary on the island of Hiti Huti, whose amazing romance with "Octavia Canfield" is terminated by the appearance of her husband. Seeing the distress signals from the yacht, he has only one thought—the safety of Octavia and the baby. Shoving a flimsy outrigger canoe into the roaring surf, he jumps in and, single handed and with almost superhuman strength, forces it through the huge breakers and out to the wreck.

There are many other striking glimpses of the sea in "The Marriage Cheat" and its influence is felt throughout the picture.

Filmed with the closest regard for correctness in details and convincing characterizations, this newest Thos. H. Ince dramatic feature, a First National attraction, will be shown at the Orpheum theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

Henn—Dreams go by contraries.

Peque—Don't I know it. I married one.

QUALIFICATION FOR ALDERMEN AND POLICE COMMISSIONER

The persons qualified to be nominated and elected as and to hold the office of Alderman of any city shall, save as otherwise provided in the Municipal Act, be such as are British subjects of the full age of twenty-one years who have been for the six months next preceding the date of nomination and are registered in the Land Registry Office as owners of land or land and improvements within the city of the value, as assessed on the last assessment roll, of five hundred dollars or more over and above all registered judgments and charges, or who are the holders of lands within the city acquired by them by agreement to purchase under the "Soldiers' Land Act," or the "Better Housing Act," or the "Soldiers' Settlement Act, 1917," of the Dominion, or the "Soldiers' Settlement Act, 1919," of the Dominion, and have paid the sum of five hundred dollars or more upon the principal of the purchase price under such agreement to purchase.

QUALIFICATION OF TRUSTEES IN MUNICIPAL SCHOOL DISTRICTS

The qualification of candidates for election as trustees for any municipal school district shall, mutatis mutandis, be the like qualifications as are prescribed by law for persons eligible for election as Aldermen or Councillors of the municipality comprised in the school district, except that every candidate shall be actually resident in the school district. The wife or the husband of every person who is qualified to become a candidate for election as a trustee under the foregoing provisions of this section shall, if he or she is of the full age of twenty-one years and is actually resident in the school district, be qualified also to become a candidate for election as a trustee for the school district.

THE STRENGTH OF CIVILIZATION

Mr. H. G. Wells' new book, "A Year of Prophesying" has been adversely criticized by some of the London newspapers, and has furnished a text for some general denunciations of the author's frequently expressed views as to the present danger of civilization and his own theories for its betterment. One reviewer says that Mr. Wells' arrogance is comical, that in a world of beetles he considers himself a Titan, and that the mechanical Utopia of his prophecy is a soulless conception of a state of society in which all the joy of life would be wanting.

During the past few years we have been afflicted with the wailings of many gloomy prophets who can see nothing but ruin and disaster for the present system. The same might have been said of any other period in hsitory. Nations decay and pass into oblivion, but civilization has always persisted. The warring elements in society that are the cause of so much gloomy apprehension in the minds of some people, are but a proof of the vigorous vitality which animates it.

Civilization constantly adapts itself to the ever changing ideas of mankind, and change will always disturb the serenity of some particular class in the social system, but such contingencies cannot be avoided in the evolutionary progress of the race.

We too often measure our advancement by our material possessions, whereas civilization is only to be estimated by our outlook and emotions. Failure to judge it by other than spiritual standards is to miss the heart of the whole matter; in the final analysis, civilization is the measure of a man's spiritual evolution to which material possessions are but the outer trappings. The vital and constructive forces in the evolution of civilization reside in the moral consciousness of mankind. Good-will, self-denial, and all the higher aspirations that sweeten life are not the product of the scientific laboratory. The strength of civilization lies in the moral qualities with which man is endowed and which are an integral part of nature's contribution to the human race.—Vancouver Sun.

A school mistress only 24 years of age has just won a $13,000 prize for her first novel in a competition with 1500 other manuscripts. The feat accomplished by Miss Martha Ostenso shows that there is no handicap in locality or in lack of experience for a successful writer of novels. Of her the St. Louis Post-Dispatch says: "She has only known small towns and sons of the soil, who would confuse Freud with some new kind of fertilizer. She has only seen the ploughman treading the level fields and known the smell of new-turned soil, and watched the harvest come and go. Society to her has only meant the "social" at the country church, the sewing circle on the porch. And yet, drawing on the little she has seen and known, she has told a story and won a prize. Why know 'life' at all, or 'love,' or Freud, if such things be?"

BY CANOE DOWN THE COLUMBIA

Down the Columbia in a canoe has been accomplished again. Amos Burg, 22 year old Portland youth, has traveled in his 17-foot craft from Canal Flat, B.C., on the shores of Upper Columbia lake, to Bridal Veil, near Portland, where he was forced to delay the completion of the trip until the ice cleared up in the river.

Burg stopped several days at Pateros, where he visited with Captain Fred McDermott on the steamer "Bridgeport." He is a representative of the National Review magazine and is doing photographic work for the publication. While there he said that Rock Island rapids were the worst he had shot.

Neither the canoe nor Burg were novices at the game. This same staunch craft served him well over a 4200-mile trip from the source of the Yellowstone to the mouth of the Mississippi.

The Columbia was first traversed from source to mouth in 1811 by David Thompson, an early explorer. He was locating likely spots to establish trading posts for the Hudson Bay company. A trip similar to that taken by Burg was chronicled in 1889 when the New York Mail and Express, according to a statement of E. W. Wright, sent Elbert Rapples on a canoe trip from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Louis Freeman did it a few years ago for a magazine feature.

During all of Burg's trip he carried a crutch with him, as upon occasion he was bothered by an injury to his knee. He left Canal Flat on Oct. 22. For 200 miles he traveled north to Boat Encampment, the apex of the bend where the Columbia swings south. From Beaver Mouth around the bend to Revelstoke, a distance of some 170 miles, he was accompanied by a trapper.

Burg continued on south alone, coming through upper and lower Arrow lake before reaching Waneta, B.C., where the Canadian customs station is located, and crossing into the United States. The British Columbia part of the journey covered 516 miles. Burg arrived at the mouth of the Pend Oreille river, with its fall just as it empties into the Columbia on the northern boundary of the United States, Nov. 18.

The trip was one of excitement, Burg declared, as he told of his canoe being swamped at Rickey or the grand rapids or coming through canyon and the White Gap rapids just before the former was reached. In all he shot 101 rapids, portaged three times, once for 40 feet in B.C., at Kettle Falls and Celilo swamped four or five times and dropped 2654 feet in the 1000 miles so far covered.

At Box canyon Burg had one of his most thrilling experiences. While standing up in his canoe to take a picture the craft struck a rock, throwing him into the icy water. He managed to catch the canoe and climb aboard none the worse for his experience. At the lower end of Rock island also he was swamped.

Priest Rapids afforded no end of excitement. In 11 miles there are seven drops and on the sixth Burg had the most trouble. In shooting the Umatilla rapids he also had difficulty and tore two holes in his canoe. Burg carried his own repair outfit, extra canvas and marine glue, and he patched his canoe whenever it was necessary.

In British Columbia he struck the first ice and snow. Upon several occasions ice coated his paddle until its diameter was a foot or more. In coming down the river after he had reached the mouth of the Snake he frequently had to beach his canoe and run up and down on the sand bank to get warm. He found he was able to make about five miles between these warming up exercises before his feet became too cold for him to stand it.

As he neared Calilo his craft began to leak so badly that he was forced to put in at Arlington. The water seeping ino he canoe froze and it was impossible to chip it out. At Arlington he turned the boat over sawhorses and built a fire beneath, clearing it of ice.

Little trouble was experienced from Big Eddy, where he again took to the water after portage around Celilo falls to Bridal Veil, except for the ice, which finally forced him to abandon the trip until the weather moderated.

Burg carried a camping outfit in his canoe as well as supplies and camped on the shore, sleeping in the canoe whenever night overtook him. He also carried his repair outfit, a .30 rifle, a fishing rod and camera. Spokesman.

Carnation Improves Home-Made Candy

Creamy, full-bodied fudge, crispy nut-crackle, smooth, velvet-like chocolate creams all follow the use of Carnation Milk in candy recipes. Carnation adds a smooth richness to your candy, for Carnation Milk is just pure, fresh milk, evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization. Economical—it keeps indefinitely in the can, and for several days when opened. Order from your grocer several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans.

What Shall I Fix for the Children's Party Today?

Let Mary Blake help you. Send in the coupon below and we will gladly forward—free—Mary Blake's Carnation Recipe Book. Many years experience and study in the kitchen at your disposal. Over 100 delightful and helpful recipes. Try these recipes.

FUDGE

2 squares chocolate, 2 tablespoons butter, 3 cups sugar, ½ cup water, ½ cup Carnation Milk. Melt butter and Chocolate in saucepan, add sugar, Carnation Milk and water. Cool until mixture forms soft ball in cold water. Cool without stirring, beat until creamy, mold on buttered plate or waxed paper.

CARNATION CARAMELS

1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup white sugar, ½ cup corn syrup, ⅝ cup Carnation Milk. Mix well and boil, stirring often until the mixture makes a firm, though not brittle, ball when dropped in cold water. Pour into a pan which has been rinsed with cold water and allow to cool without stirring or disturbing. When nearly cold, mark into squares and cut when cold. If liked, nut meats or cocoanut may be laid in the pan before pouring in the candy. If chocolate flavor is liked, add one square of melted chocolate before the candy has finished cooking.

The British-American of Chicago says: "We often hear young fellows who scan the horizon for money-making chances, bewail their lack of experience in farming. Otherwise they would go to Canada. Now comes, for the third time, an Englishman named Mitchell, former factory hand in Manchester, who captures the Grand Championship for the best bushel of wheat. He left the big Lancashire city seventeen years ago for far-off Saskatchewan. His 160-acre homestead of untilled land seemed a drear enough prospect when he took it up, no doubt, but he possessed the right kind of mettle, and by hard work and intelligent cultivation he made his little farm a profitable asset. For three successive years he has won the prize as supreme wheat grower of this continent.

Sir Subramanyia Aiyer, of Madras, who attained considerable notoriety at the close of the Great War by writing a letter defamatory of British rule to President Wilson, the head of a friendly state, is dead at the age of 81. He was a Theosophist and was a staunch follower of Mrs. Besant throughout her different changes in political outlook. He has been thrice Chief Justice of the High Court Bench, and it was because of his past services to the Empire that his notorious indiscretion was forgiven. At the time Lord Chelmsford's government informed the offender that his action was viewed with surprise and regret, "but that in view of his age (76), failing health, and past judicial services, it was proposed to take no further action." He continued to draw a substntial pension from the government he villified and no notice was taken of his ostentatious "renouncement" of the title of knighthood that had been bestowed upon him a dozen years before.

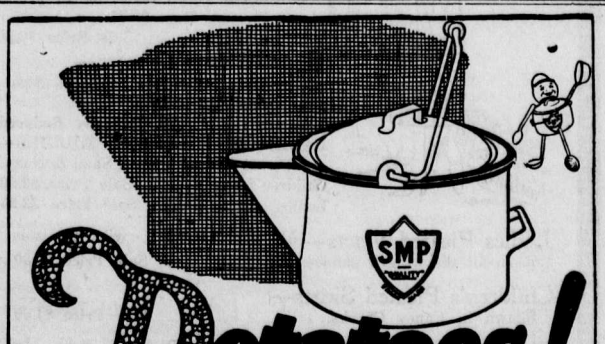
"No one," declared a high school miss, "can doubt that this book has a happy ending."

Her father picked up the book and examined it. It was a treatise on algebra.

"Where does the happy ending come in?" inquired he.



"Look at the back of the book."

He looked and found the answers to all the problems.

Faith is the great motive power of the world—faith in God, in oneself and in one's fellow mortals lies back of all our hopes, our comfort and our activities in life. It begins in practice long before we even know the world, and it carries us through every endeavor and every situation of existence. We are trusting to somebody or something at every turn of the way.

ALL SET FOR DISTRICT SPIEL

With the man who regulates the weather from Fort Simpson promising cold weather for next week, the stage is set for one of the most successful bonspiels ever held in the Crow's Nest Pass. Commencing Monday, the Crow's Nest Curling Association's bonspiel will bing to Fernie the cream of the curling fraternity from all points between Taber and Cranbrook for an entire week of real good sport. It is understood that over 25 outside rinks have signified their intention of taking part in the many competitions, and the Fernie club, who have carried off the bulk of the prizes in the last two bonspiels, will have to look to their laurels to retain possession of the coveted silverware.

One new trophy will make its appearance for open competition at this bonspiel, the Lethbridge Brewing Co. Cup, a splendid piece of silverware presented by the firm whose name it bears, to take the place of the Macleod Trophy, which was withdrawn from competition this year. The other events in open competition are: The Grand Challenge, the Magrath, the Trites-Wood and the International. The Consolation Trophy, the Cameron Cup, is up for competition among rinks not winning any prize in the open events. The Inter-Provincial event between selected rinks from Alberta and B.C. is also on the program with the Liphardt Cup as the prize. The rink winning the most games in the open events will be awarded the C.N.P. Coal Co. Grand Aggregate Trophy.

In every event the rink winning the cup will receive four miniature cups as first prize, while approximately 75 different prizes will be divided among the other rinks reaching the semi-finals in the various competitions.

To provide for the many events the skating rink has been charatered for next week and will be transformed into an auxiliary curling rink, giving a total of nine sheets of ice which should give ample accommodation and allow the games to proceed without delay.

The local curling cub is making extensive preparations for the entertainment of their visitors and will hold a big banquet in the Odd Fellows hall on Wednesday evening. All curlers who are not taking part in the bonspiel will have the privilege of attending this banquet by making application to the local secretary. A fee of $1.00 will be charged local curlers.

Fernie only has the privilege of welcoming the curlers here for their winter classic approximately once in four years, so it is up to the citizens of Fernie to give them a hearty welcome to our city.

JAMES A. RENNIE DIES AT NEW WESTMINSTER

James Alexander Rennie, in the early days of Fernie connected with the Crow's Nest Trading Co., passed away at his home in New Westminster on Sunday last, Jan. 11, after an illness of several weeks.

The deceased was born in Scotland in June, 1863, and when 23 years of age came to Canada, settling at Winnipeg. There in October, 1893, he was married to Miss Ellen Jane Shepherd. After a residence in Manitoba of about 15 years, Mr. Rennie came west, living successively in Fernie, Vernon and Nicola before going to New Westminster 17 years ago. Being a chartered accountant he became identified with several financial concerns in that city. For some years he acted as city treasurer for New Westminster, and was later secretary treasurer of the Westminster Trust Company. A life long Presbyterian, he took an active interest in the affairs of the church there and became an elder of the congreagtion. He was prominent in Masonic circles and was past master of King Solomon Lodge.

Mr. Rennie is survived by his wife and six children. The sons are Walter and Robert; the daughters, Mrs. Bruce Sutherland, Patricia Rennie, recently called to the bar, and Marion and Dorothy, the latter being natives of New Westminster.

HOME BANK DIRECTORS' TRIAL IS DELAYED

Toronto, Jan. 13.—Trial of Home Bank officials and directors, including M. J. Haney, former president of the defunct institution, on charges of conspiracy to defraud, was traversed until the spring assizes by Chief Justice Meredith when the winter assizes opened here this afternoon. D. L. McCarthy, K.C., crown prosecutor, formally moved the adjournment.

ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION

For the second year in succession Fernie has had no election for mayor and aldermen and for the first time in many years has had no election for any elective office to be filled for the year 1925.

Returning Officer Moffatt, following the close of civic nominations for mayor, aldermen, police commissioner and school trustees, held in the council chamber on Monday last, announced that there had just been sufficient nominations filed with him to fill the vacancies in the various departments and consequently there was no necessity for a poll.

Mayor—
J. S. Irvine.
Aldermen—
W. M. Dicken.
R. A. Kerr.
Andrew Lees.
D. F. Markland.
E. K. Stewart.
Matthew Tully.
School Trustees—
Wm. Barraclough.
Alfred Cummings.
L. S. K. Herchmer.
R. S. Phillips.
Police Commissioner—
G. G. Moffatt.

WATSON'S RINK WINS THE INGRAM CUP

The final games in the Ingram Cup competition were played on Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week. At the finish of play the teams stood as follows:

Thistles	15
Maple Leafs	13
Beavers	13
Shamrocks	7

A. Watson's rink wins the Ingram Cup and the individual prizes with a win of 9 games and only 3 losses.

The four rinks composing the Thistle team, Watson, H. Johnson, Lancaster and Kastner, will now have to play down for possession of the Walker Cup.

NOTED STAGE PLAY NOW IN PICTURES

"A little stenographer is a dangerous thing."

For proof of this perverted proverb we direct your attention to "Why Men Leave Home," a First National picture. produced by John M. Stahl, which is scheduled to open a two night engagement at the Orpheum theatre on Wednesday next. It was personally directed by Mr. Stahl from the famous stage play by Avery Hopwood.

In this picture Alma Bennett, a stunningly beautiful young actress, plays the role of a stenographer, her employer being impersonated by Lewis Stone. The employer, John Emerson, was happily married — that is, he thought he was—but his wife did not see much joy in being neglected by her husband, and was forced to seek recreation and enjoyment with her women friends..

It was while she was on a week end trip to a resort that John discovered that he missed his wife considerably. He found a way to relieve his lonesomeness by taking the stenographer out to dinner. All would have been well if his wife had not returned unexpectedly — and smelled perfume on his Tuxedo. The journey to the divorce court was a swift one—and John found himself married to the type-tapper.

They had been married but a few hours before fate intervened and separated them for good.

Helene Chadwick plays the part of the wife in this picture, others in the cast being Mary Carr, Wm. V. Mong, Hedda Hopper, Sidney Bracy, Lila Leslie, E. H. Calvert and Howard Truesdell.

POLICE CHIEF MAKES REPORT

To the Chairman and Board of Police Commissioners of the City of Fernie, B.C.:

Gentlemen—I herewith beg to submit my third annual report, being for the year ending Dec. 31, 1924, containing statistics and work performed by this department during the year.

The total number of persons arrested was 59; those summoned 25; making a toal of 84 cases for the year. Classification of the foregoing is as follows:

Assaults	4
Breaking and Entering	2
Fraudulently obtaining board & lodgings	4
Gross indecency	1
Grevious bodily harm	1
Govt. Liquor Act	32
Health By-law	1
Motor Vehicle Act	8
Manslaughter	1
Narcotic Drug Act	1
Poll Tax Bylaw	2
Pound Bylaw	2
Public School Act	1
Receiving stolen property	1
Theft	6
Vagrancy	9
Creating disturbance	5
Support by gaming	1
Total	84

The number of cases before the court in the year 1923 was 171, the year 1924 showing a reduction of 87 cases.

Property to the value of $313 was stolen, of which we recovered $247, leaving a balance of $66 to be recovered.

Property to the value of $77 was reported to the department as having been lost. We recovered the whole of this property and returned same to rightful owners.

We conducted 12 raids during the year, in each instance being successful in securing convictions. Our efforts have again been directed against the private dwellings which deal in illicit sale of beer. Until we have stamped this evil from our midst no good can ever be accomplished. No liquor agents have assisted this department in our endeavors.

Only two automobile accidents were reported during the year and neither of these were of a serious nature.

Nine ambulance calls were answered by the night policeman, this department attending to all calls after 9 o'clock in the evening.

Seventeen transients were given a bed for the night. Doors found open 16. Eight dogs were destroyed. Impounded: Six horses and four cows.

Sixteen prisoners served their sentences in the city jail. We received 26 prisoners from the provincial police and from the R.C.M.P., 5. Total meals served to prisoners 1777, at an average cost of 12c per meal.

During the year a juvenile court has been established in our city. This is a step in the right direction. Work already done in this court has more than justified its inception.

Your attention is again drawn to the fact that there has been no serious crime during the year. We pass our third year without one case being sent up to the supreme court. Surely this is an enviable record, when we look back over the past year with labor trouble in our very midst. One must commend the citizens who have given every assistance to make such conditions possible.

I desire to express my sincere appreciation of the officers who are connected with me in this department. Their work has been most commendable indeed. Our relations with the other police forces, the Provincial and the R.C.M.P., have been of reciprocation at all times during the year.

Keep of prisoners	232.50
	$9100.35

Sanitation and Health—

The sanitary conditions of the city have been much improved over last year. The householder has done much to assist in this regard. The inspection of butcher shops, restaurants and dairies was regularly carried out during the year.

Milk tests have been taken from each of the dairymen who are supplying milk to the citizens. We have kept the record of all tests taken. It might be added that there was only one test taken which was below the standard required.

Fifty places were quarantined during the year: Chicken-pox 2, mumps 1, measles 33, scarlet fever 8, smallpox 1, whooping cough 5.

Truancy—

Only six cases of truancy were reported from the school, though through the persistency of one of the parents keeping his child from school we were forced to prosecute.

In conclusion I desire to thank your honorable body for the valuable assistance rendered to me during the year in the work of the department and the courtesies shown to me at all times.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,
Your Obedient Servant.
Chas. Anderson,
Chief of Police.

NEW MYSTERY OF TROTZKY

When first he vanished into the Caucusus, Soviet Russia's War Minister, Leon Trotzky, was said to have gone thither because of a serious bronchial ailment. This happened months ago, we are reminded, and the reported repetition of a journey to the Caucasus lately was ascribed to a recurrence of the same ailment. An added complication, according to Berlin press dispatches, was that "bloody riots followed Trotzky's departure, which was forced upon him because of his quarrel with other Soviet leaders." Now comes a flat denial to Berlin from Moscow, not only of the alleged rioting but also of Trotzky's alleged exile. He is said to be seriously ill, in fact so ill that he is unable to leave Moscow, but is "well enough to receive visitors." We read further in the Berlin dispatch that:

"The reports of rioting and Trotkzy's banishment were branded as attempts to produce economic troubles in Russia, probably by foreigners residing in Berlin. Today's denials from Moscow not only come from the official Soviet Press Bureau but also from the Berliner Tageblatt's special Moscow correspondent."

Meanwhile an examination of the Russian press freshens our memory of the fact that although Trotzky has to his credit the organization of the Red Army, the victory over anti-Bolshevik forces in Russia, as well as other undeniable achievements, which on many occasions have safeguarded the very existence of the Soviet government, he has long been looked at askance by such Communist leaders as Zinoieff, Kameneff, Stalin and others. The reason for their antipathy to him, it appears, is that Trotzky is not an "old Communist," but joined the party only on the eve of the Bolsheviki Revolution of 1917. Previous to that date he was a Menshevik and an opponent of the Bolshevist doctrine. The importance he assumed in the party from the very first days of the Soviet regime naturally excited the jealousy of Communists less talented but of older standing. But, we are told further, as long as Lenin was alive, these Communist leaders did not assail Trotzky, nor did he venture to aspire to take first rank in the party. However, it appears that as soon as Lenin became disabled by disease, Trotzky began to act.

The first spit in the Communist party is said to have been started by him a year ago when he accused Zinovieff, Stalin and other Communist leaders of having grown to be dictators, who scorned to take into consideration the wishes of the average members of the party. Consequently, he advocated the "democratization" of the party machinery, as for instance, the election of the main party officials by all members of the party, instead of being appointed from above. Still it would seem that a year ago Trotzky's game was lost. His enemies proved to be stronger than he thought, and for a time he was removed under an honorable pretext from Moscow. Then, it appears, he apologized, thus admitting his defeat, and the unity of the party is said to have been re-established.

But according to the Moscow Pravda, in November Trotzky renewed his attack on the leaders of the Central Committee of the Communist party. This daily charges him with having made unwarranted accusations against the Committee in the preface of his recently issued book entitled "The Year 1917." These accusations, the Pravda adds, may be summarized as follows:

"If anything useful was done in 1917 by the Bolshevik party, it was rather against the will of the Central Committee than in accordance with it. . . Is this not true also of the time we live in? Is there any guaranty that the party will be led in the right direction? Are we following the right course at present? Can we trust the men who failed 'to pursue the right policy in October, 1917?'"

MOSES' HANDWRITING

One of the stone tablets discovered in the ruins of the ancient temple at the foot of Mt. Sinai may possibly have been inscribed by the hand of Moses himself. The message, which is in primitive Hebrew, reads: 'I am the son of Hatshepsut, overseer of the mine workers of Sinai, chief of the temple of Mana and Jahu (Jehovah) Thou, O Hatshepsut, was kind to me and drew me out of the water of the Nile; and thou hast placed over the temple which is on Sinai." It is well known that Hatshepsut was a great queen of Egypt who ruled about 1500 B.C. and who opened copper mines on Sinai. The date, moreover, corresponds with that which Jewish tradition assigns to the lifetime of Moses.

WHY INDIA SWALLOWS THE WORLD'S GOLD AND SILVER

One of the strangest of the many curious problems presented by India "is her perpetual accumulation of the precious metals," we read in The Outlook. At this very time, "while gold and silver have been flowing in upon us in an embarrassing stream, India is the only country to divert a part of that stream, and also import gold and silver directly from us in considerable quantity. Recently India drew from us $1,760,000, in a single gold shipment, and last year she took 36.7 million fine ounces of silver, double the amount forwarded from the United States during the previous year." Now the serious part of this, we are told, is the fact that probably "none of the gold and silver we send to India will return." The same thing is true of gold taken by India from other nations, both at the present time and for centuries past. "India has always been a world harvester and hoarder of the precious metals." What accounts for this accummulation of gold and silver in a country "so poor that education can be given only to the few, while a great number exist on the border of starvation." Here is the explanation as it appears to the writer in The Outlook:

India has always been able to export a surplus of valuable raw materials, and until recently world-famous hand made textiles. But, owing largely to the hot climate, hitherto her needs from foreign markets have been almost nil. Hence a trade balance in her favor payable in the precious metal. Accumulations of this incoming wealth went on for the reason that, except for the upbuilding of costly palaces, temples, and tombs development of the country remained in abeyance. The furious hand of repeated conquerors, internal wars, religious prejudices, caste restrictions, have each operated to restrict progress. Indian capital, then, with little encouragement to work freely, presumably took the natural course of seeking hiding places or being beaten up into personal ornaments as preferred security. Recent accumulation of this idle wealth is shown by figures which report that, while in 1906 the hoarded wealth of India stood at $1,800,000,000, today it is computed at $2,500,000,000, an increase of $700,000,000 in 17 years. Incidentally it has been stated that there are 1,263,000 goldsmiths in India working day and night in reducing her capital to uselessness.

NATIONAL INSURANCE

The British government's policy in deciding to construct a naval base at Singapore has been outlined by Mr. W. C. Bridgeman, the First Lord of the Admiralty. There is nothing aggressive in the move, he says; it is a policy of defence and economy. It will mean that British ships in those waters will not have to return thousands of miles for repairs. They will have a base where every kind of naval repair can be done on the spot. The intention of the government is to maintain whatever British fleet may be in Eastern waters in greater efficiency and with greater economy. It is a measure of insurance, and here is what Mr. Bridgeman says:

When you go in for other forms of insurance, when you insure your life or motor car, you do not do it because you think your motor car is going to be smashed tomorrow, or because you think you are going to die tomorrow. You insure to provide not for what is expected but for what is unexpected. Therefore, to say that what we are doing at Singapore we are doing because we expect either attacks on other countries or to be attacked by them is perfectly ridiculous. We are doing it to provide against the unexpected. Nobody can tell what the future has in store for us. At present there is no cloud on the horizon as far as we can see in these quarters. It would be folly, however, to suppose that in the future we can be quite certain that we are to be free from any unexpected calls to defence any more than we have been in the past.

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

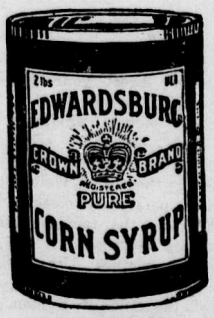
THE INVENTOR'S CHANCE

Victoria Times: Would any person have selected a store in this part of the world for the sole purpose of displaying dictionaries twelve months ago? It is safe to say that he would not. It might be different today. A Boston publishing house reports, on the other hand, that the usual output of 10,000 dictionaries a year has grown to a monthly production of that number and orders on hand at the present time are compelling the firm to make special arrangements for their filling. All this is due to the cross-word puzzle.

It is astonishing how a craze will turn a business of ordinary proportions into a big money maker. This latest example should encourage the man who has the idea of making automobile tires hold their air and defy every form of puncture. A great public in many lands awaits his arrival.

PROTECTION IN GREAT BRITAIN

Brooklyn Eagle: The question is one of great interest for this country and for every manufacturing nation doing business with Great Britain. American criticism of it must, however, be tempered by the knowledge that this country, under successive administrations, Democratic as well as Republican, has committed itself to the doctrine of protection. With us the principle is fairly well established, our differences being those of degree and not of kind. If Great Britain should undertake any broad scheme of protection under the guise of amendments to the Safeguarding of Industries Act, our manufacturers, at least, will have no reasonable ground for complaint. Britain would be merely taking a leaf out of their book.



OVER-TAXATION

Unquestionably one of the causes of the widespread unemployment which prevails today is over-taxation, so devised as to deprive the business man of every incentive for launching out. If he succeeds he knows that the state will in one way or another take a good half of his profits. If he fails, it leaves him with his losses. The odds are fatally weighted against enterprise.—London Daily Mail.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Treat Colds Externally

For sore throat, bronchitis or deep chest colds, rub Vicks VapoRub briskly over throat and chest and cover with warm flannel.

Vicks acts in two ways—both direct: absorbed like a liniment and inhaled as a vapor. A quick relief for the cold troubles of all the family.

Here and There

A recent survey of prospective expansion among the mines of Northern Ontario shows that many millions of dollars will be spent on mills and mill supplies in 1925. According to this survey, mill expenditures totalling $7,350,000 are contemplated.

Hunters patronizing territories in the Algoma district of the Canadian Pacific Railway had a very successful season in 1924, according to a report recently issued. Moose numbering 173, deer numbering 2,183 and approximately 7,050 partridge were secured and the number of hunters ran into several thousand. The figures quoted include those for Kipawa, Temiskaming, Mattawa, Sturgeon Falls, Pakesley, Sault Ste. Marie, Chapleau, Sudbury, Schreiber and Nipigon, all exceptionally good game areas.

More Christmas trees were shipped from Nova Scotia for the 1924 festive season than ever before, according to figures just compiled. Twenty-two car-loads from territory bordering the Dominion Atlantic Railway alone were shipped to outside points and approximately 150 car-loads left the province generally.

A splendid season of winter sports is expected at Quebec this year, as more and more people are becoming interested in these healthy recreations in Canada and the United States. In connection with the activities of the Chateau Frontenac, the Canadian Pacific's great hotel in the Ancient Capital, a number of new features will add to the attractions Quebec has to offer. These include inter-club, inter-collegiate and international competitions in all winter sports, to be held under the auspices of the recently formed Frontenac Winter Sports Club, which will award the successful participants with trophies of various kinds and attractive gold, silver and bronze medals.

The names of the winners of the David prizes for literature, awarded to the writers of the best French and English books entered in the competition for these prizes, have just been announced by the committee of judges. In the French section the first prize, $1,500, went to Abbe Camille Roy for his book "A l'Hombre des Erables," while in the English section Marjorie Grant Cook won first prize with her book "Another Way of Love."

The most successful year enjoyed by the Canadian Pacific Great Lakes Steamship Service in freight shipments since 1913 is reported by Mr. Duff, manager of that service, for the season lately closed. The whole fleet of package freighters for the first time since the outbreak of the Great War, has been constantly employed during the seven months in which the lakes are open. A feature was the very large increase in the export flour business, some 75 per cent of the 300,000 tons of flour carried eastward by the service having been destined for export. October was a particularly good month, the ships having transported in that month 58,000 tons of eastward bound milled stuffs and grain alone.

Depend on Gin Pills to relieve Rheumatism

"Ten years ago, when a victim of rheumatism, I found great relief after taking Gin Pills. In fact, they put me on my feet. Ever since that time, when I have the slightest kidney trouble or an appearance of my rheumatism, I take Gin Pills and find they do the work." R. K. Faulkner, Lower Economy, N.S.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

MANY visitors to a town get their first impression from the appearance of the buildings around the railroad station. If these structures are not attractive, the visitor may get a wrong conception which is difficult to remove.

It is a fine thing when the owners of property near the railroad station realize that they are in a sense "on parade," and that the conditions existing on their property are subjected to the close scrutiny of a great many people. If they can brighten up and improve their property in cases where it needs attention, they will not merely make it more valuable, but they will accomplish a stroke for the reputation of their home community. Their townspeople will appreciate whatever they do to make the city's front door look like the entrance to a homey and a wide awake advancing community.

A WORSE menace than that for which we went to war now confronts us at home, says a United States exchange.

Indifference to law, the daily making of thieves and murderers, the breaking down of our social structure, license not liberty, indulgence not ceremony, carelessness not security.

Millions were subscribed by our business men to win the war. Long hours at work were given with $1.00 a year as the sole monetary reward for the most intense service. But we are now menaced at home, and a like devotion and a like labor are needed if life is to be at all worth while. The law of the jungle is replacing the laws of sanity and reason. The health, the morals, the very life and liberty of all are at stake.

Real patriotism is sincere service for the good of our country, which means service to fellow citizens more than to ourselves. Every man and woman in this country, for sheer safety's sake, must enlist their greatest efforts to uphold the law and solve the vexing problem.

THOUSANDS of lives have been saved from ruin by a definite work in life; others have been wrecked for want of it.

Boys and girls should choose for themselves a life work they will enjoy. Nothing will prepare them better for the coming years than a good wisely chosen work, whether for wages or for the love of doing it.

They should be proud of the gifts which enable them to win their own way when their efforts have straightened themselves to any task they may undertake. There is always something with which to fill up the spare hours of a person who has an aim in life.

"Our time," said Sir Walter Scott, "is like our money. When we change a dollar, our dimes escape as a thing of small account; when we break a day by idleness, the rest of the hours lost their importnce in our eyes." Idle hours are temptations, but idle years are worse.

The real wages of good work are not made at a mint.

ON a road at the foot of the Rockies is a sign that reads: "Danger; Sharp Curve—You Might Meet a Fool." Such a sign is calculated to make a driver sit up and take notice. The latter sees at almost every sharp turn a notice to proceed with caution, or to blow his horn, and comes to be little impressed by them. He has confidence in his ability to avoid running into another car. But if there is a fool in the other car the efforts of the most skilled driver to escape may be futile.

There would be far fewer automobile mishaps if every driver would bear constantly in mind the possibility that there may be a fool ahead, not only on sharp curves, but on the stretches of straight road. It is unwise to assume that each car on the highway is in charge of an experienced driver who knows the traffic rules and will obey them. You may think that inasmuch as you are keeping your side of the road there is no danger in running your car at a high rate of speed. But you might meet a fool who will not stick to his side of the road.

FRIENDSHIP—the jewel beyond price, that yet may be purchased with a single act of thoughtfulness.

There is no element in life that can contribute so much to brighten the pathway or ease the burdens and sorrows of life as real friendship. When the true friend comes to you in your hour of trouble, lays the kind and sympathetic hand on your shoulder and says, "I am sorry, can I help you?" it means much, and the unsolicited and timely deeds done with a willing heart, dispels the gloom that overshadows you.

It gives you courage to take up the lines of your duty and a new resolve finds lodgment in your heart to look at the future calmly and with a steady and firm purpose to forge ahead.

The being is to be pitied who lives self contained and spurns the need of friends.

The candle loses nothing of its light by lighting another candle. We do not lose, but increase our capacity for friendship by being friendly.

Thus as we pass through life let us use the opportunities that may come to us to be a real friend. The best securities to own are the bonds of friendship.

MOST of our ills are balanced by our blessings. It is tough to get up before daylight but it is great to go home before dark.

THE road hog is the worst kind of a two-footed animal, if he may be called such. The motorist dislikes to meet a road hog. He cuts in on the corners at a neck-breaking speed without regard for life or property. Such a driver is a dangerous menace to the public. The man who thinks he is the only one on the road, and the one for whom everybody else should turn out, does not get the sympathy that he likes when he meets with an acident.

BEER BY THE GLASS SECTIONS READY

Vancouver, Jan. 12.—Regulations for issuing a licence for sale of beer by the glass under the plebiscite of last June, will be ready soon, stated Hugh Davidson, liquor commissioner, today. Promulgation of the new sections of the Liquor Act probably will be signed this week, he said. The proclamation will reveal the districts in which the government considers the vote warrants the issuing of licenses.

The bringing of the act into operation will to a large extent mitigate the evils of the illegal conditions that the authorities have been contending with for some time past in Mr. Davidson's opinion.

EX-SERVICE MEN ATTENTION

The local branch of the G.W.V.A. are contemplating a large membership drive. Below is appended their appeal, which should be read by all ex-service men:

Fernie, B.C., Jan. 10, 1925.

Dear Sir and Comrade—Let me stress the vital need of sustaining the G.W.V.A. in the invaluable work it is engaged in. By reason of its wide experience no other agency could replace the service that is still required by thousands of war sufferers.

Without its protective strength the hardly-won benefits may be lost in the near future. Unaided by its Dominion wide organization many would be at a complete loss in securing adjustments and claims. Particularly is this true of widows and orhpaned children of our fallen comrades. Hence it devolves upon each one of us to preserve intact the full measure of service heretofore given.

Our organization is known from coast to coast as an organization of ex-service men who for over seven years has acted as advocate for the widows and orphans of the fallen, and the disabled veteran, the man who had a claim against the government department, independent as to whether he was a member or not; 85 per cent of the cases taken up by this branch alone have been for non-members.

The organization is today standing up for the ex-service men of Canada in securing just and equitable interpretation of the Pensions Act. The organization has secured three parliamentary committees and a royal commission into Soldier Civil Re-establisment, resulting in benefits amounting to millions of dollars for the ex-service men and dependents.

The organization is officially recognized by Dominion and provincial governments as the premier effective and active agent on behalf of Canada's ex-service men. The organization must live because thousands of men and women require its service and support. It is founded on right and justice, on sacrifice and service. At no time has any man been refused service because he was not a member. This service has been made possible at the expense of those men who had the vision to see the necessity of maintaining such an organization. They have faithfully played their part and devoted their time to the advancement of the interests of all ex-service men.

If you are not a member and desire to share in the responsibilities and the satisfaction of duty well done, put in an application for membership without delay.

It is the easiest thing in the world to stand at one side and criticize. Those ex-service men who have joined up and have experienced the joy of having accomplished an unselfish object, have found no time to criticize.

Free from the taint of selfishness, and made strong by reason of its high objectives, the G.W.V.A. of Canada will continue year by year to grow stronger and to establish for itself a permanent place in the national life of Canada.

It is incumbent on every returned man to support both the Association and its general policy of unceasing vigilance on his behalf, for it is putting all its weight, effort, resources and ability into securing a square deal for all ex-service men and dependents.

Therefore, I appeal to you to do your bit to help us carry-on. Send in your application without delay.

Yours fraternally,
D. F. Markland, Sec.-Trea.

LOCAL & GENERAL

Billy McKay was in the city over the week end.

Miss Hudson, of Sault Ste. Marie, is visiting in the city the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Smith.

Dr. Green, of Cranbrook, was a professional visitor in town this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Uphill spent Sunday visiting relatives in Cranbrook.

Mrs. Garvin, who has been suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia, is reported to be improving.

Now is the time to secure the Latest Hats at wonderfully reduced prices, at Mrs. Colton's. J2-1m

Saturday last was pay day and the busy scenes around the Imperial Bank and the stores were reminiscent of pre-strike days.

A large party of the Fernie young folks enjoyed a pleasant evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Alexander last Friday evening.

Henry Minton was brought from the G.N. bridge gang to the hospital on Saturday last, suffering from an adze wound in his foot.

The many friends of Mrs. (Dr.) Corsan will be pleased to learn that she is now recovering from her illness, which confined her to the house all last week.

Remember the social and dance in the Catholic Hall on Friday, Jan. 16; also one on Jan. 23. Cards from 9 to 10.30. Dancing from 11 to 1. Admission 50c.

Fernie Junior hockey team defeated the Fernie High School team by a score of four goals to two in a keenly constested game on Wednesday evening.

A. Macdonald, of Winnipeg, stopped off in Fernie on Monday and left for Nelson on Tuesday morning, on a tour of inspection of his firm's western branches.

The prizes given annually by Mt. Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. to the school students for highest marks in Canadian History were presented this afternoon at 2.30 before a large number of parents and citizens.

Miss Dahlia Schagel of Fernie is captaining a team of girl hockeyists this winter at Pincher Creek. With Dahlia at the helm the Pincher Creek Felix Club should make a name for itself.

It is learned that the C.N.P. Coal Co. has appointed one of their staff to act as chairman of the High Cost of Living Board, as requested by the Board of Trade at their last meeting. The miners will possibly appoint their member on Sunday, and it is understood that the retail merchants are holding a meeting at an early date to appoint their representative on the Board.

Owing to a misunderstanding a collection was taken at the Mount Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. New Year's eve dance to defray enpenses of the orchestra for an extra hour. The Chapter begs to state that the orchestra had been hired to play for five hours, which was the full time the musicians played. The I.O.D.E. does not feel that the money collected at the expiration of the 4th hour should accrue to either the musicians or the Chapter and voted at the last meeting that the $13.35 collected should be placed to the credit of the Children's Swimming Pool Fund. The Chapter hopes that this disposition will be satisfactory to the contributors.

The Fernie Swastika hockey club wish to inform the public that they intend giving a tea on Saturday, Jan. 24, time and place to be announced later. Owing to the short hockey season last year the girls were unable to meet their obligations and are taking this opportunity to raise funds to help clear off last year's debt. They hope for a good attendance and the usual support the Fernie citizens have given them on other occasions. Judging from the dances they have given in former years one will not be disappointed in attending their tea. A cordial invitation is also extended to the children. Watch next week's issue for further particulars.

The court of revision to receive complaints on the assessment for the year 1925 will sit in the council chamber on Monday, Feb. 9, at 8 p.m.

The East Kootenay Power Co. camp at Elko has been closed down, the employees finding accommodation in the town.

Hugh Davidson, liquor commissioner, is making a tour of the interior and is expected in Fernie within the next few days.

A special meeting of the Ladies Aid of the United Church will be held at the home of Mrs. Ingram, on Monday, Jan. 19, at 7.30 p.m.

A special meeting of the Robert J. Black Chapter of the I.O.D.E. will be held at the home of Miss Margaret Duncan, Tuesday, Jan. 20, at 7.30 p.m. sharp.

Do you like real good tea? The best on the market and one that never loses its flavor, is Shamrock Tea, served annually in the Catholic Parish Hall by the members of the Sodality.

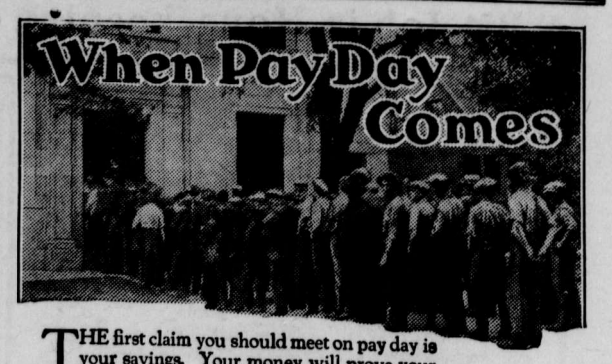
The regular meeting of the B. C. Miners Association will be held in the Isis theatre on Sunday evening at 6.30. The executive committee will meet at 2.30 p.m. in the secretary's office.

The Well Baby clinic will be held on Monday in the council chamber from 2 to 4 p.m. All women interested in child welfare and children under seven years of age are invited. Dr. Burnett will give a talk on "Diseases of the Skin."

The East Kootenay Power Co. are preparing to move their headquarters from the Johnson-Falconer block to the Bank of Hamilton building, where they will occupy the premises recently vacated by the McLean Drug & Book Co.

It is understood that the Fernie Swastikas will not participate in the hockey championship games at Banff Carnival this year. It is rumored, however, that some of the Fernie stars will play under the Coleman Shamrock's colors in this tournament.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Diffendafer, of Mooseheart, Ill., were the guests of honor at a social evening held by the L.O.O.M. and W.O.M.L. on Thursday evening. Bro. Diffendafer gave a brief resume of the work done at Mooseheart and Moosehaven. Dancing, interspersed with vocal selections was the order of the evening. Refreshments were served.



The committee in charge of the whist drive held in the basement of the English church on Tuesday evening are to be congratulated on the satisfactory arrangements made for their patrons. Fifteen tables were occupied. The winners were as follows: Lady, 1st, Mrs. J. Edgar; gentleman, 1st, Master A. Clarke. Consolation prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. McDonald. The prizes for the lucky chairs were won by Mrs. R. Thornton and E. Fisher. Refreshments were served and a few vocal solos rendered.

This is great weather for the radio fans. Clear frosty nights seem to allow splendid reception of concerts. Local reports are that stations as far distant as Mexico City and Havana, Cuba, have been heard in Fernie. It pays to send applause cards to the broadcasting stations. One fan reports winning $5 and another a pair of headphones in prize drawings from applause cards. KPO in San Francisco is conducting such a contest tonight. They have over ninety prizes to be awarded to lucky listeners-in who send them applause cards.

BOOT-BLACKING and polishing as a steady diet is to most people more objectionable than dishwashing. Yet there are some who take a pride and pleasure in this occupation and actually shine in it. A little blacking goes a long way and gives a high polish, but knowing even this, the bootblack on the Empress of France, now stocking up for the round-the-world cruise she will commence on leaving New York January 15th did not quail when he saw a hundred-weight of boot polish being run up the gang plank for him. As a matter of fact he beamed. Each task is but a means to an end and although he may be called upon to see that many square miles of shoes are shined, he will have an opportunity of wiping the dust of many lands from them, and seeing something of these lands beside. His office was sought after, as were all others on the ship.

But dealing with huge figures, one would think that at least the chefs on this giant Canadian Pacific Steamship would be to some extent awed by what is before them. Think, Madame Housewife, of having to prepare 185,000 pounds of vegetables, of having to roast 53,000 pounds of beef, 37,000 pounds of lamb, 27,200 pounds of other fresh meats and 2,750 pounds of sausages. Would it not tend to take some of the joy out of a four month cruise? Yet this is the task of the stewards' department of the cruising Empress. Supposing that with the necessary assistance you had to prepare 12,000 pounds of chickens, 7,000 of capons, 4,000 of ducklings, 2,000 of goslings, 8,000 of turkeys, 2,300 of guinea fowl, pigeons, quail, etc., and innumerable game fowl for the table en route; would you be so keen on your trip?

All joking apart, the unattached young ladies who figure on the passenger list will be thrilled to know that the aggregate weight of the nuts aboard totals 1600 pounds, and the unattached young men will be equally pleased to learn that on all the ship there are only 40 cases of lemons. But the little boys! It will indeed go hard with them. For some hard hearted purchasing agent, with no little boys of his own, has ordered 16,650 tablets of toilet soap, 17,700 pounds of soft soap, 55 gallons of liquid salt water soap, and two tons of scouring soap, and soap powder! He thinks that 6,000 Polar Bars and Esquimaux Pies are going to compensate for all this!

It seems that Dad has been looked after very well. Canadian Pacific cruise officers tell us that for the round-the-world trip of the Empress of France, some 59,170 bottles of various shapes and sizes have been taken aboard, and in addition 54,700 bottles of mineral waters.

A few other outstanding figures in connection with the four months supplies for the 450 or 500 passengers are as follows: 750 cases of Canadian apples, 250 cases of grape fruit, 36 barrels of grapes, 500 pounds of dates, 890 lobsters and crabs, 20,000 pounds of fresh fish, 3,864 pounds of coffee, 30,150 pounds of sugar, 2,280 of tea, 250 gallons of olives, 5,600 pounds of salt, 1,780 bottles of sauce, 120,000 pounds of flour, 10,000 pounds of butter, 22,350 pounds of bacon and hams, 50,000 drinking straws, 43,000 menu cards—and so on. Fresh fruits, vegetables, fish, milk and eggs will be purchased in considerable quantities to meet requirements as the cruise progresses. Fifteen thousand, four hundred tons of fuel oil will be used by the cruising steamer.

CONSERVATIVES ALL

The Conservative Association of Manitoba is to be congratulated upon dropping the "Liberal" section of its hyphenated designation and coming out under the simple and honored party name. The hyphen has been there a long time but there was never any real justification for it. The Conservative party in Canada has no reason to be ashamed of its record or its name, and no reason to adulterate either with a pretense of a "Liberal" mixture. The sooner the federal Conservative party recognizes the fact the better for all concerned.

Party names, as names, mean nothing in Canada. Presumably the adoption of the "Liberal" section of the Conservative party's designation arises from a desire to indicate that it is not reactionary or lacking in progressive tendencies. But since the record of the Liberal party in Canada is strongly tinged with reaction—since some of the most reactionary governments Canada has had have been officially known as Liberal, the name cannot well carry the significance the Conservatives apply to it. Surely after the record of 60 years the name Conservative should carry all the appeal the party requires.—Winnipeg Tribune.

OWNING A BOND

During the past few years the bond business in Western Canada has grown in volume to the extent of millions upon millions of dollars.

And every dollar's growth in the bond business has represented a valuable lesson in saving to the wage earner.

A man's purchase of his first bond has often been the turning point in his financial career. He begins to take a pride in his financial sagacity. Money commences to mean something more to him than a means to entertainment.

Every bond owner gradually becomes an investor. Any man who owns a few bonds, no matter how small, will usually start, sooner or later, investing his accumulation of interest.

One enterprising bond firm in Vancouver has started giving a year's free rent of a safety deposit box. This is a progressive move.

Nothing makes a good table citizen more quickly than a few hundred dollars in bonds tucked away in a nice safe steel box. It makes a man feel that he has a real stake in the community. It gives him self-respect.

The verage man's pride in owning a bond is something that should be encouraged for the sake of industry and good citizenship. — Vancouver Sun.

The old saying had it that "there's nothing like leather if well put together," but you could never prove it by some of the beefsteaks we have met.

UMBRELLAS WERE VERY RIDICULOUS

A fair damsel of Windsor, Connecticut, walked forth one rainy day less than 200 years ago bearing above her haughty head an umbrella that had been brought to her from the West Indies. The good townspeople, shocked and dismayed at such frivolity, thronged about her, open mouthed, and to show their disapproval, hoisted their large sleeves on long spoon handles, and followed her with ridiculous, mincing steps.

In 1797 there was but one umbrella in Cambridge, Mass., and the owner of it made many a good penny renting it out by the hour to cautious persons who happened to be caught in the rain. The reason why umbrellas were so slow to become generally adopted probably was because the people of means did not travel on foot, so had no great need of umbrellas, and those without means did not possess clothing so fine that it must be protected from rain.

Women carried umbrellas long before men would deign to adopt them. It was considered effeminate and rather below the dignity of the hardy man to go about under the shelter of a flimsy umbrella.

Writing on the subject of governmental economy, The London Free Press points out that the Maritime Provinces of the Dominion have three governments to look after the administration of a population of but slightly over 1,000,000 at most. The four Western provinces each have parliament buildings worthy of the capital of the Dominion as well as expensive governments, whereas united departments could administer more effectively. The Free Press says: "Too much government and too many laws is one of the troubles of Canada today. For a population no greater than the State of New York we have a federal government and nine provincial legislatures. There is too much machinery and it takes too much oiling to keep the wheels moving. We in Ontario have no control over the affairs of the other provinces; but let us at least set a good example and keep down the cost of government and the size of our legislature."

The Canadian grain and hay crops last year were worth $65,000,000 more than those of 1923. It is a tidy sum to help in giving 1925 a good start.

MINING FOR A METEOR

A huge mass of meteoric iron somewhere near half a mile across, which may be buried benath a crater in Arizona, believed to mark the place where it struck the earth after its flight from the sky, is now being sought by a mining company who want it chiefly because they think it contains a valuable percentage of platinum. Its existence is not absolutely certain, as there are other plausible theories of the crater's origin; but the adventurers are hopeful. Charles P. Mason, editor of the Winslow (Ariz.) Mail, writes in that paper of the supposed celestial visitant, and of the efforts to unearth it, as follows:

"Work will soon be resumed at Meteror Mountain along different lines from any employed in the past to locate the gigantic meteor which is supposed to lie somewhere beneath the enormous pit in the earth's surface which constitutes the crater of Meteor Mountain.

"A big concern now expects to do regular mining exploration by the running of tunnels and drifts into the region where the meteor is supposed to rest. Information gained by the drilling of the hole into the south side of the crater is said to be of such an encouraging nature that the new company has every expectation of locating the prize.

"Indications are that the meteor, if a meteor exists, fell to the earth from the heavens of the north, striking at a tangent, caused the mile-wide, 1000-feet deep pit, imbedding itself and coming to a halt many hundreds of feet beneath the surface and a considerable distance south of the awful hole it left in the ground.

"The fact that meteorites or broken fragments of the strange metal of which the meteor is thought to be composed are found only on the north side of the mountain is another indication that the aerial visitor approached from the north, and that these little meteors are portions of the tail which scattred and fell to earth separate from the main body.

"Another indication pointing to the premise that the crater is the work of a gigantic meteor and is not a 'blow-out' or volcanic crater similar to the hundreds of craters in northern Arizona is that absolutely no molten rock or lava is found for a great many miles of Meteor Mountain, and the bottom of the crater is hundreds of feet below the surface of the surrounding country.

"The Indians in this part of the country have a legend concerning the visit of a god from heaven, who came in a great chariot of fire which illuminated the heavens of the entire country and rocked the whole country. The legend adds that the god disappeared into the ground. The formations surrounding the great pit have every appearance of being a recent geological age.

"It is said that the lease-holders have been offered a contract of $12 a pound for the metal composing the meteor, if the meteor itself is found. To handle the metal, special and new methods will have to be devised, new tye of mills erected, new smelting process employed, and that unless the main meteor is found it would be impracticable to attempt extracting the valuable portions from the fragments, many hundreds of which have been found, however.

"Analysis of the pieces found indicate that its platinum content is very high, and diamonds have been found in profusion in some pieces."

JAPANESE IN BRAZIL

Brazil has served notice that the grant of vises for intending Japanese immigrants will shortly be suspended. Japan is overpopulated and it has become a serious problem with the government how to dispose of the surplus. It is forced to recognize the right of other nations to restrict immigration to conform to their own standards. Japan has looked toward South America as a solution for its population problem. It is stated that it had under consideration the colonization of 500,000 Japanese in Brazil. Although this has no official confirmation, it may have had something to do with Brazil's recent action. There is a possibility that other South American nations may adopt a similar course, in which event Japan may as well turn its eyes from the West towards the East in its efforts to dispose of its surplus people. It is no reflection on the Japanese that the countries of America feel called upon to place these restrictions. It is simply a matter of assimilation. Their ways are ours are different and that is all there is to it.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Here and There

That Hollanders who have located in Alberta are making good and are satisfied is the statement of Baron W. Van Heeckeren, of Rotterdam, after a recent tour of investigation.

The forming of a mining bureau as a branch of its activities is announced by the Winnipeg Board of Trade. The bureau is to collect data on the mining situation in the province and will do everything possible to foster greater mineral production in Manitoba.

Tourist traffic in Canada this year is likely to constitute a new record, in the opinion of the Commissioner of Parks. No estimate has been compiled as yet but the figures for 1923, which were carefully estimated at $136,000,000, indicate the value of this traffic to the Dominion

Up to the end of October, 1924, more than 1,000 circulating libraries were in operation in Saskatchewan, as compared with about 800 at the same time in 1923. The average number of families reading each book is 17. More than half a million volumes were circulated by these libraries during the year.

A huge wooden, tar-paper lined shell erected over the space provided for the structure and heated by thousands of feet of steam coils connected with 380-horse power boilers, which provide a summer-like atmosphere for the carrying on of construction, is an interesting and novel feature of the arrangements made to combat the difficulty of building the new wing of the Chateau Lake Louise, the Canadian Pacific Railway's famous Rocky Mountain hotel, under winter conditions. Thanks to this innovation the wing, despite frequent drops in temperature to far below zero, is progressing excellently and the company expects it to be ready for next summer's tourist season.

Sweeping changes in the Canadian Pacific Railway's service of great benefit to the communities concerned are scheduled for January 11. They include revision of the timetable of the Vancouver express (Toronto-Vancouver), to reach Fort William and Port Arthur between 10 and 11 p.m., instead of 2 and 3 a.m., and Winnipeg at 10 a.m., instead of 2.30 p.m., as heretofore. The new times are more convenient to the Twin Cities than the old and a half-day is gained for business in Winnipeg. Regina is to be reached by the same train at 11 p.m. instead of 1.20 a.m., and Moose Jaw at midnight instead of 2.45 a.m., Regina-Saskatoon connections being thus radically improved, while arrival at Calgary at 4 p.m. enables Edmonton to be reached that evening. Vancouver is reached at 7 p.m. instead of 9.30 p.m. as previously. The Toronto Express (Vancouver-Toronto) reaches Winnipeg more conveniently, while arrival at Toronto at 8.40 a.m. will make possible connections with early morning trains for Ontario points and with day trains for American cities, thus saving more time. Gains on other trains between Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Chicago and Winnipeg are also scheduled. These arrangements follow the cancellation of the recently inaugurated train between Winnipeg, Montreal and Toronto, which is to come off January 10.

DYING BIRDS LEAVE GEM HEAPS

Little heaps of semi-precious stones, scattered over the plains and hills of New Zealand, mark the last resting places of the moas, gigantic ostrich birds, only recently extinct. The moa, which was the largest bird that ever existed, carried pebbles in its gizzard, just as ordinary chickens do, to grind up its food, says Science Service. Since it lived largely on tough twigs of bushes, it needed especially hard stones. Where it lay down to die at last, the pebbles endured even after its bones had disappeared. Hence the little heaps of rounded chalcedony, quartz, chert, jasper and quartzite, ranging in size from 2½ inches in lengthand two ounces in weight downward. Prof. W. T. Lee, of the U.S. Geological Survey who calls attention to this phenomenon, comments on the good judgment of these extinct birds in choosing jewel stones for use in their lapidary mills. "By judicious selection of material, these first families among diamond cutters handed down lasting memorials to admiring posterity," is the way he puts it.

GERMAN PROPAGANDA

Toronto Mail and Empire: It is unfortunate that propaganda has become such an important matter in the world, but since it has there is little prospect of it being abolished in the near futre, the wise thing is to be prepared with a supply quite as good as the foreigners'. The art of modern war was taught to the Allies by Germany, and the art of propaganda is as German as heroin and beer-drinking contests among university students. When the war ended it was obviously a matter of enormous importance to Germany that the world which she had convulsed, and which was ready to treat her like a leper, should be persuaded that the present generation of Germans and particularly the German people who would have to bear the weight of world hostility, were not altogether to blame for precipitating the war. Therefore, German authors proceeded to flood the market with their excuses and counter charges.

There are 53 Thursdays in 1925. The year came in and will go out on that day.

TWO WAYS OF LOOKING AT IT

English newspapers "view with alarm" the increasingly independent attitude of the Dominions in Imperial affairs. Some of them warn the Dominions that they can only reach maximum development under the Empire.

Most Canadians believe in Imperialism. They believe that the Empire, as an organization of free nations for purposes of trade and defense, is of real benefit to all the Dominions.

But while Imperialism may take care of the external relationships of the Dominions, it does not, nor never has, attempted to take care of their internal problems of development.

Great Britain has got to get over the idea that flamboyant Imperialism is a panacea for every economic and political ill that Dominions are heir to.

And the best way to weaken the Empire is to deny the Dominions' right to a vigorous nationalism.

The bigger and more prosperous Canada is, the bigger and more prosperous will be the Empire.

What Canada needs is not political advice from Great Britain, but economic assistance from the industrial world of Britain.—Vancouver Sun.

o

The Chicago Tribune says: "The currency of the only debtor nation which is paying up is the currency which maintains its old relation to the dollar. The franc is down and the pound is up. The British economic policy is sound to the core and the French isn't; but the British taxpayer has been cut to the bone to do it, and the French taxpayer does not seem to be much more than scratched. Naturally the British will say that if the United States can get money out of the other debtors Great Britain also can get it. The British are not asking the United States to collect for them, but they say they will get as much as we do; and we have an idea they will. It may, as Washington suggests, cramp our style a bit, but we do not see where a protest from us can lie."

Health and good looks
—the reward of internal cleanliness.

IF YOU do not keep clean internally your looks and health are undermined together. A clogged intestine breeds poisons that reach every part of the body. These poisons ruin the complexion and undermine health. Constipation brings on such ailments as headaches, bilious attacks and insomnia, each of which saps your health and vitality.

Avoid Laxatives—say Doctors

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

THE LEAGUE HOCKEY GAMES

Coal Creek 1—West Fernie 3.

The Coal Creek Cougars received their baptism into the Fernie City Hockey League last Sunday afternoon when they met the West Fernie Bluebirds on their own ice. The Bluebirds had a harder task than they anticipated in gaining the points from the newcomers to the league, and were extended to the limit to win by a score of 3 goals to 1.

The feature of the game was the goal-keeping of Corrigan for the Cougars. He was here, there and everywhere and the way he turned the rubber aside was really more like the work of a seasoned player than a newcomer.

The Bluebirds opened the count half way through the first period. J. Thompson worked close in and slipped the puck to Commons, who gave Corrigan no chance to save. Before the end of the period Glover worked his way in and beat Paton for the equalizer. Corrigan must have thought it was raining pucks in the second period so hard did the Bluebirds press around his charge, but it was not until well on in the period that Commons broke through on his own and put the West Fernie team one up. A combination rush in the third period gave the Bluebirds their third tally, J. Thompson scoring on a pass from Commons.

Bluebirds — Paton; Commons and Smalek; A. Thompson, J. Thompson, Cairns, Smith and White.

Cougars — O. Corrigan, Alexander and Glover; J. Smith, J. Larmont, D. Smith, P. Corrigan and Atherton.

Referee—Cy. Walker.

Northerns 7—Coal Creek 1.

On Tuesday evening the Coal Creek team made their first appearance on Fernie ice when they were defeated by the Northerns by a score of 7 goals to 1 in a rather one-sided game. The Creek team are a bunch of hard workers and with a little more experience they will make a team that will make their presence felt in the league. The chief fault at present lies in their inexperience. The defence players are not aiding thir goaltender enough with the result that the bulk of the Northern tallies were scored when the city players grabbed up loose pucks in front of the goal after rebounds from shots on goal. The defenders should watch this closely and be ready to get the puck away from the goal-mouth after a rebound.

The first period was fairly evenly contested, the one goal lead gained by the Northerns being fairly reflective of the run of play, but in the second the Coal Creek boys were unable to withstand the onslaughts of the Northerns and were lucky to only be two goals down at the end of the period. In the final encounter the Northerns were continually buzzing around the visitors' goal and Corrigan had no chance whatever of preventing the four goals scored against him in this period.

Coal Creek — O. Corrigan; Larmont and Atherton; D. Smith, Glover, Corlett, P. Corrigan.

Northerns—R. Colton, Swedeberg and Dyson; Sofko, K. Colton, Wilson, Dudley and Logan.

Referee—Cy. Walker.

150s 4, Bluebirds 2.

Ingram's 150s secured a very lucky win over the West Fernie Bluebirds on Thursday evening and can certainly credit their victory to the brilliant work of Danny Coste in goal. He was invincible and gave the finest exhibition of goal tending seen on local ice for many years. The Bluebirds are having a hard struggle to get a full team on the ice in time for the scheduled start. Last evening they were without a goaltender and Jimmy White had to don the pads for them.

From the start the Bluebirds set up a fast pace and inside of a couple of minutes were one goal up. This leeway was soon cut off when a rush by the 150s gave them the equalizer. A few minutes later the 150s got a rather easy goal when White failed to stop an easy roller.

In the second period the 150s had a little more show in the run of play and gained another goal. In the final session it was all Bluebirds. They had four men in front all the time, leaving only one man in front of their goal tender. Coste was called upon to defend his goal incessantly and the shot that gave the Bluebirds their second goal was one that no goaltender could stop.. The Bluebirds continued their four forward game and it proved their downfall, as one of the 150s broke through and netted for them. To the end of the game the Bluebirds continued their desperate efforts to get the puck into the net but Coste was invincible.

Bluebirds — J. White; Commons and Smalek; A. Thompson, J. Thompson, A. White and Paton.

Referee—Cy Glover.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Miss Peggy Arbuckle of this camp was united in marriage to John Eckersley of Cedar Valley, on Thursday evening last. Rev. M. Burns tied the nuptial knot. On arrival at Coal Creek they were serenaded by the shivaree band. The young couple have taken up their residence in Welsh camp.

Rev. W. Burns conducted divine service up here in the United Church on Sunday last.

The school boy hockey team, coached by Mr. Glass, the school principal, matched wits with Fernie Juniors on Saturday morning at Fernie. A drawn game, 3-3, was the result.

Owing to a cave-in occurring at No. 2 mine the employees of that mine had to return home on Friday morning.

A deputation from the Fernie G.W.V.A. interviewed Supt. Caufield on Monday in regard to the members of the Association who had not yet got started.

A large number of Coal Creek and Fernie people witnessed the hockey game at the local rink on Sunday lost when Coal Creek team played the West Fernie Bluebirds in the city league schedule. Lack of ability to shoot was the downfall of the Creek aggregation. Bluebirds 3, Coal Creek one.

Michel hockey team played the Coal Creek team here on Wednesday afternoon, proving too much for the local boys. Michel 10, Coal Creek 1.

Lagrippe has chosen this camp as a settling place during the past week. There are a number of cases.

All local members of the W.O.M.L. are requested to attend lodge meeting on Tuesday evening, owing to Victoria Hall being engaged for Thursday.

The officers of the K. of P. and Pythian Sisters will be jointly installed on Tuesday, Jan. 27. Sisters' ceremony at 7 p.m. sharp. A social evening will follow the ceremonies.

NEW COUNCIL HOLD MEETING

The new city council held their first meeting in the council chamber on Thursday evening Mayor Irvine occupied the chair and all the aldermen were present.

After the adoption of the minutes of the last meeting held by the old council, Mayor Irvine appointed the following committees for the year 1925:

Finance—Aldermen Stewart and Lees.

Public Works—Aldermen Kerr and Tully.

Fire, Water and Light—Aldermen Markland and Stewart.

Parks—Aldermen Lees and Dicken.

Health—Aldermen Tully and Markland.

H. A. Bryant, President of the B.C. Miners Association, waited on the council on behalf of that body and requested that in view of the fact that the Fernie miners had accepted a big cut in wages, that when considering the estimates for 1925 the council review the charges made on citizens, especially those for water and light, with a view to making a reduction for this service.

Mayor Irvine stated that these estimates would be considered in February and that the request would be given every consideration at that meeting.

A motion was passed appointing Ald. Stewart as Acting Mayor for the year 1925.

It was decided that council meetings be held on the first and third Thursdays of every month, commencing at 7 o'clock in the evening.

A motion was passed instructing the city electrician to install circuit breakers on all guy wires on electric light poles in the city's lighting system at an approximate cost of $80

Bylaw No. 263, being the Temporary Loan Bylaw, providing for the borrowing from the Imperial Bank at such times as required of a sum not to exceed $57,700, being 75 per cent of the assessment roll collected during 1924, went through three readings and was then left over until next council meeting for final consideration.

A letter of thanks from the I. O. D. E. for the use of the council chamber during the past year was read.

A motion was passed authorizing the city clerk to accept the offer made by George Vincent of $800.00 cash for the property owned by the city and at present being used for a storehouse by the public works department on Baker Ave.

W. R. DUNWOODIE IN NEW YORK TO GET PRISONER

New York, Jan. 19.—Inspector W. R. Dunwoodie of the B C. provincial police, has arrived in New York to press the extradition of Owen Benjamin Baker, ex-convict, who was arrested here as leader of a band of hijackers that murdered the captain of a small vessel and his son off Sidney Island, last September. Baker has been a prisoner in the Tombs since his arrest in December.

Inspector Dunwoodie said the murder of Capt. Wm. J. Gillis and his son, William, Jr., aboard their auxiliary schooner, the Beryl G, in the early morning of Sept. 16, was one of the most ruthless crimes he had ever heard of.

Awakened in the middle of the night, when the pirates boarded the schooner from a smaller boat, Capt. Gillis fought to protect his cargo of liquor, consisting of 300 cases. He was first fired upon and then beaten with iron bars, Inspector Dunwoodie said, and when his son went to his aid he also was attacked.

Then father and son were trussed up with ropes, fastened to the anchor chain and dropped overboard. The attackers then started the schooner's engine to drown the groans of their victims. Gillis and his son were drawn and churned about in the water as the schooner strained at its anchor After their groans ceased, the bodies were torn from the chain and sank and the robbers removed the liquor and escaped. Baker was arrested here in a sailor's lodging house. He is to have a hearing here on Jan. 28.

BABY CLINIC

A meeting of the Baby Clinic was held at the council chamber on Monday, Jan. 19, and was well attended. There were 14 babies measured, standardized and had a physical examination. A great number of the mothers took advantage of Dr. Burnett's talk on skin diseases, and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Dr. Burnett for his instructive talk.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, Feb 9.

The committee present were: Mesdames Stewart, ex-officio; Cummings, convenor; O'Neil, Ingram, S. Podbielancik, Herchmer.

MICHEL MEN COME IN

Owing to the slack time at Michel the employees this week decided to call a mass meeting and request W. R. Wilson, General Manager of the Coal Co., to come and talk the matter over with them. A meeting accordingly was held on Wednesday, when the situation as it exists was placed fairly before them by Mr. Wilson.

On a motion being put to the meeting, at which over three hundred employees were present, it was decided to vote on the Fernie agreement the following day, and this was done, the employees deciding by a large majority to accept the new agreement.

I.O.D.E. PRESENT HISTORY PRIZES

The assembly room of the Public School was the scene of a pleasing ceremony last Friday afternoon, when Mount Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. presented the annual Canadian History prizes. A prize is given to the pupil of each division, grades 7 and 8, obtaining the highest marks in Canadian History for the school year.

The ceremony commenced with the singing of "O Canada" by the pupils and visitors. Mr. Martin in a brief introductory speech welcomed the I.O.D.E. and explained that these prizes were given every year Mrs. J. L. Gates, the Regent of Mount Fernie Chapter,, addressed the pupils, exhorting them to be "Patient in all their work and above all to play the game," and complimented them on the efficiency of their teachers. Mrs. G. Moses, the Educational Secretary, addressed the gathering next. She reminded the pupils that the best teachers in the world could not obtain good results if the pupils did not work for thmselves; that it was a case of 75% pupil and 25% teacher.

The books were then presented to the following pupils:

Division 1—Hilda Brown.
Division 2—James Bushell.
Division 3—Tom Miard.
Division 4—James Fisher.
Division 5—Gordon Snow.
Division 6—Jack Baker.

Mr. Martin thanked the I.O D.E. on behalf of the teachers and scholars for the interest in school work and particularly in Canadian History, and called on Mr. Herchmer, Chairman of the School Board, to speak. Mr. Herchmer also thanked the Chapter on behalf of teachers, pupils and school board, for the handsome prizes which had been presented.

The singing of "God Save the King" concluded the program.

CRESTON IS PROSPEROUS

Creston, B.C., Jan. 19. — The arrival on Jan. 14 of a cheque for $790.67, being Creston's share of the provincial liquor and betting machine revenues, enabled the village to close its year on Jan. 15 with all liabilities met and a cash surplus of over $2500.

Assuming the 1925 revenues will be as buoyant the village commissioners are planning a big year in civic improvements with special attention to providing adequate sidewalks to residents on the outer edges of the incorporated area, and now that the pound law is working splendidly it is possible the council may co-operate with the Women's Institute in planting out trees on Barton Avenue at the head of which is the war memorial granite pillar and re-naming the thoroughfare Memorial Avenue.

THE BIG SPIEL NEARS THE END

The Crow's Nest Pass Curling Association annual bonspiel got away to a belated start on Tuesday afternoon with an entry of 27 rinks. Only four sheets of ice were considered playable that afternoon, so the first four games in the new Lethbridge Brewing Co. event made the formal opening.

Prior to play the Association held its annual meeting in the council chamber, at which it was most enthusiastically decided to continue the Association as it now stands instead of subdividing as had been suggested. The following officers were elected for the ensuing season:

Prsident—H. Bossenberry, Pincher Creek.

Vice-President — W F. Cameron, Cranbrook.

Sec.-Treas. — Sherwood Herchmer, Fernie.

Weather conditions have been anything but suitable for good curling during the week. The weather man slipped up rather badly on his calculations and sent along a chinook which has made good curling out of the question ,and a strong arm has been the dominating power in all games played up to the present time.

It was with unanimous consent, not to mention many sighs of relief, that the curlers put away their rocks on Wednesday evening and wended their way to the Odd Fellows Hall to participate in the banquet tendered the visiting curlers by the Fernie Club. The going had been extremely hard, slushy ice making hard work for the rinks, so the break was heartily welcomed by everyone.

Shortly after the final game of the 6.30 p.m. draw the skirl of the bagpipes, played by J. Strachan and Sandy Watson, was herd coming up Victoria Avenue, and the curlers came pouring out of their hotels, lined up in procession and marched with the crowd to the hall, where a most enticing banquet was served by the Fernie ladies. During dinner several interruptions were called "a la Rotary" for lively songs and choruses.

After everyone had satisfied the inner man and smokes had been passed around, Chairman Sherwood Herchmer proposed a toast to the King and the gathering rose and sang God Save the King A toast to the visiting curlers was then proposed and was ably responded to by Messrs. Kirkham and Baalim, of Lethbridge. Alex. McMurdo, of Pincher Creek, entertined next with a number of Scottish songs and the following progrtm was then followed, carrying the entertainment well on into the morning:

Bagpipe Selections—Pipe Major J. Strachan.
Song—Chief Anderson.
Song—Mrs. T. R. Lawes.
Song—Mrs. A. Watson.
Recitation — "The Murderer's Dream," Jimmy Johnston.
Song—Alex. McMurdo
"Levinsky at the Vedding," J. Barberis.
Song—Jas. Cadoo.
Song—Ward Thomas.
Violin Solo—Sandy Watson.

The musical part of the program was interspersed with many toasts from both local and visiting curlers and a feeling of good fellowship was manifest throughout the evening, and at the close the visitors gave a rousing cheer of thanks to the Fernie Club and the Fernie ladies for the splendid evening's entertainment, which was voted one of the finest ever tendered the curlers on their annual outings.

Sandy Watson was the first skip to pilot his rink into the prize list when on Thursday's 7 p.m. draw he defeated Ringrose of Claresholm in the eights of the Lethbridge Brewery event and entered the semi-finals. Kelly, of Pincher Creek, who had been undefeated, lost his first game on the same draw, when he went down after a hard fight to Gare of Coleman by a score of 10 to 9 McGraw of Bull River on the next draw also took Kelly into camp for his second defeat.

Commencing with the 2 o'clock draw on Thursday, all games were cut by mutual consent to eight ends in a special effort to get through the bonspiel by the end of the week, and the games are now proceding at a much brisker pace. The jewelry class was reached by Spence of Cranbrook in the Lethbridge Brewing event, Liphardt of Fernie in the Grand Challenge and Morgan of Blairmore in the International in the 9 p.m. darw Thursday evening.

The following rinks entered for the spiel:

BILL TO INDEMNIFY DEPOSITORS LIKELY

Windsor, Jan. 21.—Some measure of indemnification for Home Bank depositors will probably be brought down in the house this session, A. F. Healy, M.P. for North Essex, stated today.

He declared that the government had practically admitted its moral responsibility for the loss suffered by the depositors, at the last session.

DISPUTES ACT IS NOT VALID

London, Jan. 20. — The Ontario Hydro Electric Commission's appeal to the privy council with regard to the constutionality of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act was allowed by the judicial committee of the privy council today.

The judgment delivered by Lord Haldane, opened as follows:

"It is always with reluctance that their lordships come to a conclusion adverse to the constitutional validity of any Canadian statute that has been held for years as hving been validly enacted, but the duty incumbent upon the judicial committee of the privy council now, as always, is simply to interpret the British North America Act and to decide whether the statute in question has been within the competency of the Dominion parliament under the terms of section 91 of the British North America Act.

"In this case the judicial committee has come to the conclusion that it was not. To that conclusion they find themselves compelled, alike by the structure of section 91 and by the interpretation of its terms that now have been established by a series of authorities. They have had the advantage not only of hearing the full arguments on the question, but having before them the judgments of the Ontario courts from where this appeal to the sovereign in council came directly. Some of these judgments are against the view which they themselves take; others favor it, but all are a high degree of thoroughness and ability.

"Whatever else may be the effect of the enactment of this act (the Industrial Disputes Act) it is clear that it is one which could have been passed so far as any province was concerned by a provincial legislature under section 91 of the British North America Act, for its provisions were concerned directly with the civil rights of both employers and employed in the province. It set up a board of inquiry which could summon them before it, administer oaths, call for papers and enter premises. It did no more than a provincial legislature could have done under heading 15 of section 92 when it imposed punishment by way of penalty in order to enforce new restrictions o n civil rights. It interfered further with civil rights when by section 56 it suspended liberty to lock out or strike during a reference to a board.

"It does not appear that there is anything in the Dominion act which could not have been enacted by the Ontario legislature excepting one provision The field for operation was the whole of Canada."

UNEMPLOYMENT IN GREAT BRITAIN

Toronto Telegram: Great Britain is at present importing foreign manufactured goods at the rate of 24 million pounds per month. There is still great unemployment in Great Britain. Millions of pounds worth of these imported manufactures are commodities that compete directly with English factories. The home market is being flooded with foreign products. French cloth is underselling British cloth in England; Italian boots and leather goods are appearing in London, and the Italian printed cottons threaten to drive Lancashire prints from the market unless something is done to reduce the price or otherwise protect the English industries from foreign competition.

COURAGE AND WILL

London Daily Express: The ex-town clerk of Guildford, a young man of talent and capacity, has been sentenced to penal servitude for three years on a charge of uttering and converting a number of checks to the value of £2400. It is the age-old story of a man with bright prospects and an enviable record for bravery in the field, losing all by a betrayal of trust which seems almost incredible in a person whose every instinct should have prompted him to choose the straight rather than a crooked career. Yet this man of physical courage had no moral courage He backed a friend's bill, and when things went wrong he resorted to moneylenders and eventually to theft. The inevitable downfall came. His fate is regrettable, but his punishment is just. It is a tragedy of weakness, a weakness that became a menace to society.

PROVINCE AND CITY DEPOSITED TO HELP BANK

Toronto, Jan. 20.—New and detailed evidence concerning city of Toronto and provincial deposits in the Home Bank in the years 1922 and 1923 was given this afternoon at the trial of S. Casey Wood, K.C., Home Bank director. From the books of the Tronto branch it was shown that the treasury of the province withdrew $150,000 from the Toronto branch, Aug. 16, 1923, the day before the bank closed its doors.

It was also shown that in 1922 and 1923 the city of Toronto made huge deposits in the bank on May 31 of each year, and withdrew on the following day. The fiscal year of the bank ended on May 31, and the extra deposit was shown in the return to the government.

G. L. Chapman, who was assistant manager of the Toronto branch, gave the evidence concerning the deposits. From the books he showed that on May 30, 1922, the city had $28,734 in the Home Bank. On May 31, the deposit amounted to $528,734, and June 1 it was back to $28,734. On May 30, 1923, the city had $14,391 in the bank. On May 31, the amount was $264,391, and on June 1 it was $14,391. In 1922 $500,000 was deposited on May 31, and in 1923 $200,000 was deposited.

During the latter part of May, 1922, $1,000,000 was deposited in the Toronto branch by the Ontario treasury, and early in June of the same year $632,000 was withdrawn On May 26, 1923, there was a deposit of $1,000,000. The withdrawals were as follows: Late in June $100,000; July 12, $300,000; August 13, $400,000; August 16, $150,000. The bank closed its doors on August 17. The meeting at which the directors heard the disastrous reports on the bank's condition was on August 7.

Sydney Stevens, who was on the inspecting staff of the Home bank, said he made a routine inspection of Toronto branch in 1920, but did not inspect the liabilities. He was stopped by Col. Mason from making another inspection.

THE LIQUOR EXCISE

Ottawa is said to be considering the reduction of excise duty on liquors in order to give the wet provincial governments a chance to compete with bootleggers on the basis of price.

Thebootlegger smuggles his liquor into the country and pays no excise at al. British Columbia pays an excise of roughly $2.00 a bottle. This is a $2.00 handicap against the government.

The proposed excise reduction would probably help the government to successfully compete against the bootlegger.

But the real fundamental solution of the bootlegging problem is not merely excise reduction, but also measures that will encourage the manufacture of B.C. fruits into wines, whiskies, brandies and liqueurs, and that will enable those native products to be sold cheaply.

In the first place, B.C. fruit manufacturers should be given the same 99 per cent refund on sugar duty as is given to the grape wine manufacturers of Ontario.

In the second place the B.C. government should definitely legalize the manufacture and sale of fruit wines in the province by amendment to the Liquor Act.

And in the third place, the Liquor Board should be given a general mandate to purchase and stimulate the sale of native fruit products above all imported brands.

The way to discourage the illicit sale of hard liquors is to make pure, wholesome products of native fruits so cheap as to render the imported hard stuff intolerably expensive by comparison.—Vancouver Sun.

KENNETH HARLAN PLAYING WITH LA PLANTE

Kenneth Harlan, "The Virginian" in the film of that name and a leading man of many notable performances in the last year or two, plays the role of Craig Spaulding in the film version of "Butterfly," Kathleen Norris' novel, which comes next Wednesday and Thursday to the Orpheum theatre.

"Butterfly" was directed by Clarence L. Brown and released as a Universal-Jewel Clarence Brown production. The all-star cast, chosen with an eye for ability already proven in successive achievement, includes Laura La Plante, Norman Kerry, and Ruth Clifford. Kerry, who is remembered for his portrayals in "Merry-Go-Round," "The Acquittal," and "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," plays Konrad Kronski, the violinist; Miss La Plante, who has made three starring vehicles, will play "Butterfly." Miss Clifford plays Hilary, Butterfly's older sister

"Butterfly," in the short period since its publication, has been accored widespread popularity with all classes of readers. It is neither a typical "best seller" nor a "highbrow" story, being rather a book appealing to everyone. Olga Prinzlau wrote the continuity.

The picture was filmed with careful fidelity to the novel and is rated as one of the best modern screen dramas of the year, having balanced comedy situations with a series of strong dramatic situations.

AMATEUR SPORT

East Kootenay sportsmen were hoping that towns in this immediate territory would be the better for linking up with the B.C. Amateur Athletic Association and following along strictly amateur lines. Recent developments in hockey circles have somewhat dampened the hopes of many, Kimberley playing a number of questionable men. The result today is that Kimberley has a far superior team to either Wycliffe or Cranbrook, reflecting in one-sided scores and interest lagging on the part of spectators. One of the great fundamentals of amateur sport has, by many backers in this district, been entirely overlooked. Unless there is a decided change within the next few weeks it is probable that the hockey league will go to pieces and there will be no alternative than to resort to sémi-professional playing. —Cranbrook Courier.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

BABY'S COLDS

Children's delicate digestions are easily disturbed by too much "dosing." Still, the little ones' cold troubles cannot be neglected.

At the very first sign of croup, sore throat, or any other cold trouble, apply Vicks VapoRub over the throat and chest. There is nothing to swallow—you just rub it on. Colds go over night, croup is usually relieved in 15 minutes.

GOUGH GUILTY

Toronto, Jan. 20. — Richard P. Gough, vice-president of the defunct Home Bank, was found guilty by Senior Judge Emerson Coatsworth on three counts land under the Bank Act, as a result of the failure of the bank. The charges all hinge about the annual report of the bank for its fiscal year ended May 21, 1923, and the monthly statement for December, 1922 They were that he did "make a wilfully false or deceptive statement; unlawfully issued a false or deceptive statement and negligently signed, approved or coniurred in an account containing false or deceptive statements."

The vice-president of the bank was the fourth of the directors to stand trial and the first to give evidence in his own behalf. C. A. Barnard, of Montreal, was found guilty on similar counts, while Lieut.-Col. Smith, of Montreal, and J. F. M. Stewart, were convicted of negligence.

The trial of S. Casey Wood, another director, is proceeding.

His honor read his judgment and first stated that Gough was guilty on three counts. D. L McCarthy, K.C., crown counsel, pointed out that there were six counts and his honor stated that he had intended to say six counts instead of three. Gough's bail was renewed until Jan. 27. He is the fourth Home Bank director to be convicted under the Bank Act.

As in previous judgments his honor found that the statements were false and did not set forth a clear and full statement of the affairs of the bank as required by the act.

GIRLS! WHITEN YOUR SKIN WITH LEMON JUICE

Make a beauty lotion for a few cents to remove tan, freckles, sallowness.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply you with three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Squeeze the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle, then put in the orchard white and shake well. This makes a quarter pint of the very best lemon skin whitener and complexion beautifier known. Massage this fragrant, creamy lotion daily into the face, neck, arms and hands and just see how freckles, tan, sallowness, redness and roughness disappear and how smooth, soft and clear the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless, and the beautiful results will surprise you.

Baby's restless nights might be avoided

Scalded skin and other skin troubles are common causes of restlessness, and often could be avoided by careful bathing with Baby's Own Soap.

Its fragrant lather cleanses and heals Baby's skin, and prepares for restful sleep.

"Best for you and Baby too" 22-23

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

THE U.S. national House of Representatives has passed a bill designed to prevent the transportation of deadly weapons by mail. Prohibiting the use of the mails for the transportation of pistols and other firearms that be concealed on the person, will not stop the traffic in those deadly weapons, of course. Other means will be found for their distribution. Still, the action of the house in passing a bill barring such weapons from the mails is a step in the right direction. It puts the government on record as opposed to the traffc in pistols, and at least discourages that traffic

"Now, if business interests would follow the lead of one of the great Chicago mail order houses and cease selling pistols, the country would be well on the way to relief from the pistol menace. The handy pistol is one of the causes of our notorious murder record. Hundreds of men would not be behind prison bars today, and thousands of other murderers who are free, though guilty, would not have the blood of their fellows upon their hands, had they not been in possession of a revolver in a moment of anger."

It is, of course, impossible under the present condition, to prevent those who want them from securing deadly weapons, but there is no doubt that the enforcement of wise and proper legislation would greatly restrict the number. If it could be made impossible to get them through any or all transportation agencies the solution of the problem would be brought very much nearer.

IT is wicked to dig up graves and disturb the dead.

It is almost as wicked to go into the place of a business firm that does not advertise in the home town paper—for that also is equivalent to disturbance of the dead.

Why wish to disturb the dead?

There are plenty of live people in this old world without trying to resurrect those who have gone to rest, both spiritually and physically.

A non-advertising man is a dead one.

Some folks may tell you that this statement is prompted by selfishness on the part of publishers of newspapers.

That is not true.

You point out a firm of any kind—little or big—that goes on a non-advertising policy—and we will show you one that is dead in the shell every time. Its policies being wrong in this respect is pretty conclusive evidence that it is wrong in all others and that is an evidence that in time it will go down in failure. Not alone beacuse of failure to advertise, but because of false standards and unsuccessful policies.

When a business firm is right in one great fundamental, it is generally correct in all of its policies—and that is what wins success When it is wrong in one, it is usually found to be equally as far off in all others.

We have yet to see this rule fail.

There have been some apparent successes by disregard of this rule, but the rare exceptions only prove the rule. Sometimes unusual conditions prevail which sweep them along to success in spite of their polilies. If you fall into a swift current you are sure to be carried down stream whether you can swim or not. But it takes a swimmer to go up stream in either still water or swift current.

UNEMPLOYMENT

Mr. Mackenzie King says there will be no dole system applied in the matter of the unemployed. What the Dominion government could do to solve this problem would be to apply such policies as would promote industry and stimulate commerce. The way to cope with the unemployment problem is to provide the work through ordinary economic channels and then there will be no unemployed in such a country as Canada, which has tremendous resources and which is sparsely peopled. It used to be the motto of British peoples that "what we have we'll hold." In the political dispensation that prevails in this Dominion at present we seem to have departed from that motto As one observer has put it: "Our water powers, our industries and our people appear to be gradually drifting into other lands or other hands, and if no government is strong enough or capable enough to lay down a steady and progressive policy which will prevent the present emigration of our people, surely it is time that Canadians took the bit in their teeth and decided to work out a platform for themselves."

Unemployment in a country such as Canada is the result of lack of political vision in encouraging the investment of capital in productive effort. It is folly to say that the problem is a world-wide one. There is practically no unemployment in Germany, and that country suffered a good deal more than did this Dominion through the processes of the war. In France, which also suffered out of all comparison with Canada, there is not even an infinitesimal proportion of unemployment. In Italy there is very little. Why should it be that the English-speaking countries are the greatest sufferers from unemployment? They have the greatest money power on earth. They claim to be the most progressive of all nations. They are numbered among the chief industrial peoples but are apparently not versatile enough in that respect to provide employment for all who dwell in their lands. It is a curious problem, and that it should exist is probably due as much as to anything else to a lack of political sagacity in the rt of government. Here in Canada, by a policy which seems to defy the first principles of conservation, we are kissing away our resources. We let others reap benefits which should be ours, and the power of putting an end to a practice which causes our unemployment rests with the Federal government, but it will not act. It is small wonder that the chief industrial and financial leaders in the country should be raising their voices in protest.—Colonist

MAKING WOMEN "FREE"

Mrs. Helena Normanton, England's famous woman barrister, talks glibly in New York about "setting women free."

She says that women in business can do more for the emancipation of their sex than women in politics.

More utter nonsense has been talked about the "emancipation of women" than about almost anything else in the world.

You can't "set women free" because they are free already. They have been free since the beginning of time.

The right to vote, the right to hold office, the right to get drunk and smoke cigarettes in public — these things do not constitute freedom.

Real freedom is simply power The person with the most influence to make things happen as she wishes is the one with the most freedom.

How many women on this continent don't rule their households and their families? About 90 per cent do. And the other 10 per cent could if they wanted to.

That doesn't mean that 90 per cent of all husbands are henpecked. It simply means that women know how to run their husbands and make them like it—and at the same time make the husbands think that the lordly male is the king of the household.

Women like Mrs. Normanton are really not looking for more freedom. They are simply looking for other worlds to conquer.—Vancouver Sun.

A person who pays as he goes doesn't care how many months they put on the calendar.

WATER RIGHTS BRANCH

FURTHER

CERTIFICATE OF APPROVAL

1. WHEREAS the East Kootenay Power Company, Limited, on the 23rd day of February, 1923, was granted a Certificate of Approval of its undertaking relating to the diversion, storage and use for power purposes of water from Elk River, a tributary of Kootenay River in the Fernie Water District, and the transmission of the power generated from such water;

2. AND WHEREAS the said Company has made application to the Comptroller of Water Rights for a licence to divert and use for power purposes one hundred cubic feet a second of the water of Line Creek, a tributary of Fording River, which is a tributary of said Elk River, and to store 15,000 acre feet of the said waters in Grave Lake in connection with its operations under the said Certificate of Approval;

3 AND WHEREAS the said Company has, after due notice by petition filed on the 16th day of October, 1924, petitioned for a further approval of its undertaking relating to the said application;

4. AND WHEREAS the period within which objections to the said petition may be filed has expired and no objections are on file;

5. THIS IS TO CERTIFY that the undertaking of the East Kootenay Power Company, Limited, as set out in its said petition (in so far as the said undertaking relates to the diversion, storage and use for power purposes of water under its said application, and the transmission of power generated from said water) is hereby approved subject to the terms and conditions of the "Water Act" and to the following additional terms and conditions;

6. Any licence or licences which may hereafter be granted in pursuance of the said application shall, notwithstanding the issue of this Certificate, be subject to readjustment by the Board of Investigation.

7. The construction of the works for the diversion, storage and use of the whole of the water shall be commenced on or before the 31st day of March, 1925, and shall be completed to the satisfaction of the Comptroller of Water Rights on or before the 31st day of December, 1925.

8. The territory within which the Company may exercise its powers, in so far as the same relate to the undertaking hereby approved, consists of the Fernie Water District and the Cranbrook Water District in the County of Kootenay.

9. The term of any licence or licences which may hereafter be granted in pursuance of the said application shall be fifty years.

This Certificate shall not in any way be deemed to be an approval of the plans of any works covered by the proposed undertaking, or to authorize the construction of any such works, but shall have the effect only of a certificate issued under the provisions of section 36 of the "Water Act," and shall be subject to such provisions.

Minister of Lands.

More Than Economy in Carnation

Housewives merely thrifty see real economy in using Carnation Milk regularly. But housewives, both thrifty and resourceful, see besides economy, a pure, nourishing, ever-ready supply of wholesome milk. For your grocer has Carnation, so you need never run short. Carnation Milk is just pure, fresh milk, evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization. Economical because it keeps. Pure, rich milk in a modern package—that's all. Order several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans.

Tasty, Wholesome Dishes at Low Cost

The coupon below will bring you—free—Mary Blake's Carnation Recipe Book. Mrs. Blake's suggestions will be found helpful and stimulating because of her long experience in home cooking. Over 100 tested recipes packed in its 32 pages. Try these recipes:

COCOANUT LAYER CAKE

4 eggs, 2 cups sugar, ½ cup Carnation Milk, ½ cup butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ⅔ cup water, 2¼ cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder. Cream the butter, add sugar and well beaten yolks of eggs. Mix and sift the flour and baking powder and add alternately with the milk, diluted with water. Add the vanilla and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Bake in three layers in a hot oven.

COCOANUT FILLING

1 cup sugar, ½ cup water, 1 egg white, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup cocoanut. Boil sugar and water until it threads, pour onto stiffly beaten egg white, beating constantly. Add vanilla and one-half cup cocoanut. Beat until thick enough to spread. Sprinkle the remaining cocoanut over the cake when frosted.

EIGHT HOUR LAW

Cowichan Leader: The eight hour day has gone into effect with the New Year. It has been found necessary to make exemptions such as that for all who follow fishing but, in the lumber business and all connected with work in the forests, the eight hour day rules.

Apparently the change is not welcomed by the workers engaged in the reconstruction of the great mill at Chemainus. It is not unlikely that mill workers, as other plants open up, will regret the new measure.

Two shifts will be more generally employed in lumber mills and opportunities for earning additional money will be considerably curtailed. Again, it seems probable that no distinction in the matter of wages will be made as between the different shifts.

In a new country, such as this, while the eight hour day for everybody is to be desired, the counsel of prudence would be to apply the curtailment in such manner that the best interests of employers and employees be safeguarded.

True, a species of determining body is operating under the act and it may be that this board will eventually do much to nullify the aims which the promoter of the measure, Major R. J. Burde, M.L.A., Alberni, has had in view.

For long many trades have been working under the eight hour plan. One at least has come down to 44 hours per week. These arrangements have been reached without governmental interference. Spite and party politics had much to do with the enactment of the eight hour law. These factors are calculated to hinder rather than to help the business development of the province.

COMMUNISM AND BRITISH LABOR

One of the strangest instances of the irony of fate, we are told, is the penalties the British Labor party has suffered from the conduct of the Communists. Labor's toleration has not only been misplaced but wasted, it is said, and the Communists have treated the Labor party in England as though it were the worst enemy of the workers. This indictment of British Communism is drawn by no less important a Labor authority than the Right Hon. J. R. Clynes, M.P., who declares in the Labor Magazine that the attitude of the aristocratic London Morning Post has been one of respectful mildness in comparison with the virulent and vulgar misrepresentations of the Labor party to be found in the Communist prints and to be heard from their platforms Mr. Clynes assures us he is not thinking of criticism of questions of policy or principle, but he avers:

"In sketch and caricature in the newspaper press, and in conference, the character and personal honesty of the leaders of Labor have been the subject of gross misrepresentation."

"Example: The Central Executive Committee of the Communist party met in conference in Manchester on Sept. 28, 1924, and the report shows that toward the close of the conference Mr. Thomas Bell, editor of The Communist Review, said:

"The Communists must not content themselves with saying that Messrs. MacDonald and Henderson and Clynes were "twisters and fakers"; that was understood; but they must crystalize their views into definite political opposition to the (Labor) Government, and to the middle-class leadership of the Labor party."

Mr. Clyne goes on to say that he is not embittered by any recent defeat, and that he has been as tolerant toward the Communists and as silent as one could be. We can praise their good intentions in relation to human suffering, he says, and we understand their purpose with regard to social and economic reconstruction. Also, he disclaims any resentment or protest merely because of the Communist's sustained villification of men who for a generation have been working hard to lead the workers toward the goal of liberty and justice, both at home and abroad. We read then:

"No denunciation which Labor leaders have had to suffer would be a sufficient reason for settling relations or attitude toward any party. We have grounds more relative than this, and we are convinced that the successful emergence of Labor, in the struggle for political authority, will not take place until the public mind is purged of the mistaken impression that the party entertains a measure of approval with Communist objects and policy. Our party has been built up after hard and continued service, and thousands of us have worked for a generation to forge a political weapon with which we are convinced social reconstruction can be won, and the national life saved from the wrong and suffering whch unrestricted capitalism involves. We are on the threshold of success We have created a new type of political outlook. Millions who have no former guidance other than party prejudice, and no spirit of leadership beyond the color of their side, have been transformed from the useless partizans of Liberal and Tory organizations into enlightened and conscious fighters for a new social and industrial era. Communist talk and tactics have in the last few months been the most precious possession of the unscrupulous political forces ranged against Labor. If we let the Communist alone we could not ignore their value to other parties, who in all forms of hostility to us would make the fullest use of them. We can not afford longer to endure the confusion which has fastened in the mind of the public that the Communists are part of our party. However absurd may be any alien idea which Communists loudly applaud, that idea can be fastened upon Labor by our opponents as though it were our official label."

That is why the Labor Party Conference, says Mr. Clynes, by an overwhelming majority, refused to admit the Communists to the party, and decided that a Communist could not be eligible for indorsement as a candidate for parliament or a local authority. All who owe a sense of loyalty and a duty to the party, he declares, should respect these decisions, not by sustained attacks upon the Communists, but "by marking in every way our complete detachment from them." They number but a few thousands, he tells us, and if doomed to work outside the great political movement, they can do little harm. Meanwhile, he further tells us:

"A preposterous 'Red Letter,' whether a forgery or not, can in the circumstances which have been created, be used to frighten a few million British citizens out of their wits, and turn electoral values in the direction of our enemies. We must, therefore, leave our position in no doubt, for if we do it will add a generation of time to that short period in which we may fairly hope to change the one-third of the sixteen million people who have just voted into the two-thirds or more required to insure the enduring success of our cause.

"We have, by overwhelming majorities, tried to make it clear to the country that Communists are not wanted in the party, and are not eligible to fly the Labor flag as parliamentary candidates. We have taken this stand because only those should be in the party who genuinely can accept both the principles and methods, and who can regard the party as good enough for them honestly to join. Men who do not believe in the program and methods of our party should keep away from it, or be effectively resisted, when they approach for purposes of avowed mischief

"Friendly phrases, such as 'We are working for the same end,' and 'The Communist is the left-wing part of the movement,' obscure the issue. A Communist is no more a left-wing part of the Labor party than an atheist is a left-wing member of the Christian Church. An advance guard to any movement must work in the spirit of that movement, believe in its method, and at least refrain from trying to cover its official representatives with disgrace. The Independent Labor party has, in many respects, been such an advance guard to the National Labor party, and has led much of the educational work which has strengthened and developed the party. Communists have acted, not as a left-wing, but as a poisonous claw clutching less at the enemy than at tried and sincere friends of the workers. . .

"If government by agencies of fear, operating through an army, and symbolizing the dominion of a wealthy class over the poorer class, is indefensible tyranny, it is no less tyrannical when the dominating class calls itself the proletariat and employs the same instrument which is violently denounced when employed by others."

"Where are you going with that goat, little boy?"

"Down to the lake. Come on if you want to see some fun. This goat just et a create of sponges, and I'm goin' down to the lake to let him drink."

Internal cleanliness protects against disease

IN CONSTIPATION, say intestinal specialists, lies the primary cause of more than three-quarters of all illness, including the gravest diseases of life.

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favour Lubrication

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

COMMUNICATION

Editor Fernie Free Press:

A casual observer, visiting this town not more than seven weeks ago, would very likely have considered Fernie as doomed to early extinction and even the cheerfullest optimist among our old-timers would hardly have contradicted him. Like the famous mythological giant who regained all his strength whenever his adversary forced him to the ground, Fernie simply cannot be held down. The city's fortune having reached its lowest ebb changed with a rapidity that would have done credit to the cleverest of the fairies.

The most intricate of all the barbed wire entanglements that, in the past, retared our progress towards prosperity, has been swept away by the miners' common sense. Instead of delegates pouring supplications for doles into woefully deaf ears at Victoria, we have now 600 men working steadily and some 130 coke ovens lighted, which in itself fully justifies the steps taken to save this community from disruption. Fernie is gradually regaining the place from which it should never have receded and, if credit for this remarkable state of affairs is to be apportioned, the lion's share should go to that stroke of the magician's wand that united the Company and the men in defence of their common interests.

The destinies of the new union have been entrusted to a group of level headed men from whom a wise and prudent policy can be expected. Nevertheless, the new ship will have a few storms on her maiden trip and there are still some dangerous waters to navigate It is hardly to be hoped that the disturbing element, of which we have until recently experienced all the malignity, will submit to such a defeat with lamblike meekness. Those responsible for the direction of the miners' affairs will do well to stand ready to repell the attacks of the enemy from without, the possible traitor within their own gates. For some time to come eternor to curb the nefarious activities of al vigiliance will be the price of safety.

Much has been done to restore Fernie to its former status, but there are two very important matters still requiring immediate attention, and it is to be hoped that the spirit that made the new working agreement possible will contribute to their solution, by permeating all classes of the community. The hospital must be placed in commission again without the slightest unnecessary delay and this is a problem in which the municipal authorities, the Company, the miners, and in fact all the residents of Fernie are vitally interested. No industrial town such as ours can remain without hospital accommodation for any length of time.

Some form of action has already been taken regarding the second of the above mentioned important points, and a local cost of living commission will soon be studying the various features of the case. In this matter also, Fernie has taken a step the result of which will be well worth watching. The resumption of business has been made possible only at the cost of an important reduction of the miners' wages, and the men who accepted it are entitled to all the assistance that can be given them in extending the purchasing power of their reruced earnings. Let us hope that the commission will begin its work as soon as possible and that its efforts will be crowned by the highest measure of success. On this subject the writer will abstain from tendering any advice, although very much tempted to do so, for he might be told by some one that he understands nothing at all about the retail business, which, unfortunately, would be lamentably true.

HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

Lit. was held on Friday, Jan. 16. A recitation was given by James Bushel. A play entitled "A Wonderful Scholar" followed, those taking part being Jessie Starr, Gladys Ash and Osborne Kennedy. Following this came the main part of the program, a debate between the second year boys and girls: Betty Podbielancik, Agnes Maltman and Alice Haigh, and Douglas Wallace, Arthur Littley nd Tom Malsbury. The judges were Lloyd Johnson, Albert Markland and Havelock Fleming.

Edna Charnock was elected President of the Literary Society on the resignation of Helen Sewell.

Jams Strachan was elected President of the High School Athletic Association in place of Howard Corrie.

We are sorry to find that the following will not be with us this term: Helen Sewell, who is attending school in Nelson; Jack Smith, who is working at Coal Creek; Esther Swanson, who is recuperating at home from a serious illness; and Frank and Norman Bushel, who have moved with their parents to Port Coquitlam.

Will all those who wish to take 4th year in case a class is organized next term, kindly notify the Principal before Jan. 31, stating the options selected.

The leaders in the various classes during the Xmas examinations were:

Div 1—Alice Haigh, Clarice Woodhouse.

Div. 2—J. Stropky, Albert Aiello.

Div. 3—Wm. Duncan, Audrey Mills and Henen Polak, tie.

Div. 4—Wm. Duncan, Havelock Fleming.

Div. 5—E. Pennington, Andrew Wallace.

Beatrice Coughlin, of Coal Creek, is back at school studying for her sups., which she intends to write in June.

The students have formed a hiking club and intend to make at least one tramp a month The first hike will take place on Saturday.

MRS. MARTIN'S LETTER

Several days ago a letter came from Mrs L. A. McGregor of New Westminster blaming the failure of local people to buy Made-in-B.C. goods for a part of the unemployment. This letter brough one from Mrs. George Martin of Vancouver who said that her husband has steady work in a factory that is kept going entirely by the purchases of local people.

THE LATEST HITS FROM BROADWAY READY IN NEW EDISON RECORDS

THIS season has produced some of the greatest song and dance hits in years—Broadway theatre audiences find themselves humming or whistling these tantalizing tunes long after the White Lights are dimmed, for the catchy rythm of the newest music is irresistible.

Come in and hear these hits on Edison Records—each one has nearly twice as much music as is given on ordinary records. Edison Records are ideal for dancing, because you don't have to stop and turn them over or change them nearly as often. Hear them today.

THE FINALS IN THE BONSPIEL

The District Bonspiel was brought to a brilliant close last Saturday, after a week of almost continuous curling. The mild weather which had prevailed during the elimination contests, gave way to almost zero weather and the ice was in perfect condition for the finals in all but the Magrath event.

As Cameron of Cranbrook wished to leave on Saturday morning's train, it was mutually agreed that Beck and Cameron play off the Magrath final Friday evening. The ice was still very wet at that time and after a closely contested game, Beck secured the point necessary for a win in the last end, the score being six points to five. Only eight ends were played.

On Saturday with keen ice, the finals all went to 12 ends and provided some real stirring encounters. one semi-final in the open events remained to be played, Stewart vs. Watson in the Trites-Wood event, this was one of the first games played Saturday, Stewart winning by a score of 13 to 8, making his position as leader for the Grand Aggregate unassailable.

On the same draw Liphardt, of Fernie, defeated Kelly, of Pincher, in the final of the Grand Challenge by 13 points to 11.

On the 2 p.m. draw two finals of the open events were completed, Watson, of Fernie, gaining a rather easy victory over Gare of Coleman in the International, winning by a score of 14 points to 1. The final of the Trites-Wood was a game well worth watching. Both Kirkham of Lethbridge and Stewart of Fernie pulled some brilliant shots and the score zig-zagged down the board until at the end of the 11th end the score stood eight all. With Stewart lying shot Kirkham pulled a fine draw shot with his last rock and lay close to the button. Stewart made a brilliant effort to pick this rock and was only a scant 10 inches short. Kirkham's rock lay shot and won the game 9 points to 8.

Stewart remained on the ice and Kelly of Pincher came on for the final in the Lethbridge Brewery, with Corrie skipping Stewart rink. Stewart, with the Grand Aggregate tucked away, was still without a cup in the open competitions, but was rarely in trouble during this match and won out by a score of 13 points to 9.

This victory in the Lethbridge Brewery event gave Fernie one notch on that trophy. It is a ten year cup and the club winning it the greatest number of times in the ten years gains permanent possession of it when withdrawn from the District competition. This also was Stewart's 15th victory in the open events, one of the highest records made in any District Bonspiel to win the Grand Aggregate.

In the meantime play in the Consolation and Inter-Provincial events had been narrowed down to the semi-finals and these were now played off. Bossenberry of Pincher defeated Prentice 10 to 0, and Warwick of Natal won from Billy Gates 9 to 8 in the Consolation; while McPree of Cranbrook defated Lawe 13 to 3 and Prentice defeated Herchmer 15 to 10 in the Inter-Provincial.

Warwick got a runaway lead on Bossenberry in the final of the Consolation for the Cemeron cup, but the latter put up a stern uphill battle against defeat, as the final score of 7 points to 6 in favor of Warwick will show.

The last game of the spiel, the final in the Inter-Provincial for the Liphardt cup, was a real thriller and brought the competitions to a glorious finish. McPhee got a good lead at the start and coming home was four up on Prentice. "Stoney" Olson was skipping for Prentice and lay two in the last end. He needed four to tie. McPhee had third and fourth shots while Olson had fifth and sixth. With his last rock Olson made a beautiful shot, picked out McPhee's two rocks and lay four, sending the game into its 13th end. In this end Olson lay shot and had it well guarded. McPhee, with his last rock, came down with a runner that scattred the guards and when the smoke cleared away McPhee lay shot to win the game.

Comments made by visitors curling in the spiel are to the effect that they certainly had a splendid week of sport despite the fact that the ice was somewhat slushy, and they appreciated greatly the splendid spirit of friendship and welcome that was extended to them by the local curlers. Much of the success of the spiel is due to the remarkable handling of the draws by Norman Reid. Never at any time during the entire week was there a complaint on the handling of this important work.

BEER BY GLASS ABOUT MARCH 10

Vancouver, Jan. 27.—Unless some changes are made at the last minute, the beer regulations to be gazetted Thursday will provide hours for sale as 10 a.m. to 11 p.m., save Sundays. Thirty days will be required for advertising, so the first licenses are expected March 10, with sale five days later.

The draft regulations are very drastic. No woman shall be employed where beer is for sale, and there must be no bar. Purchasers must be seated at a table.

Nothing else shall be sold on the premises. This is taken to mean sandwiches, cheese, tobacco and other accompaniments. No restaurant or dining room licenses can accompany. The limit strength of beer is 4½ per cent alcohol by weight.

There must be only one entrance to the saloon, and that from the street. A full view of premises must be given from the street during closed hours.

The licence fee is $1000 in Vancouver, less in smaller centres.

Victoria, Jan. 27.—The first demands from wet districts for adequate facilities for the sale of beer by the glass were heard here today, when Thomas Uphill, member for Fernie, announced that his city alone expected 11 licences. Mr. Uphill is waiting for the return of Hon. A. M. Manson so that he may ask him whether Fernie's requests are to be met.

"There are 11 hotels in Fernie, and they all will expect licences," Mr. Uphill stated. "On the face of it I would think that it would make administration easiest if all these licences were granted, and then if any hotel disobeyed the law, its licence could be cancelled."

Mr. Uphill said he had not heard anything about the government's beer plans, but he understood that no premises but hotels would be granted licences.

"In Alberta," he said, "the hotels have special rooms for beer sale. One sits at the table and is served with beer in glasses or in open bottles. A man in charge of the establishment opens the bottles even before the watiers are allowed to handle them, and in this way patrons are prevented from taking bottles out in their pockets. I was very much impressed with the Alberta system indeed."

Victoria, Jan. 27. — The cabinet was called into session today to whip the new beer regulations into shape if possible for issuance in this week's Gazette. Final action, however, will be postponed until Hon. A. M. Manson returns from the mainland.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Follow the crowds to the Elks dance, March 2.

Enoch Baddeley is undergoing an operation in the Military Hospital at Vancouver.

All those who attended the curlers banquet and who were not curling in the bonspiel are requested to pay a fee of $1.00 to the secretary.

The local bonspiel will commence on Monday, Feb. 2, at 6.45 p.m. There will be two draws a night and ten end games will be played.

Constable Lawton of the Mounties has been confined to the Fernie nospital owing to an injury to his right ankle.

The Fernie Swastikas are journeying to Cranbrook tomorrow, where they will play the Cranbrook ladies, the Canucks.

The regular monthly meeting of the Robt. J. Black Chapter of the I.O.D.E. will be held at the home of Miss Dorothy Nelson, Monday, Feb. 2, at 8 p.m. sharp.

Mrs. W. R. Wilson and Bishop Wilson arrived in the city on Monday from Vancouver. Wm. Wilson, of Great Falls, was also a Fernie visitor this week.

The Board of Trade has arranged to hold a luncheon at the Fernie Hotel next Monday at 12 o'clock. A special effort is being made to have all members present who can possibly attend.

Miss D. Schagel, of Pincher Creek, and Mrs. Roy Kirkpatrick expect to play with the Coleman ladies hockey team at the Banff carnival. Miss Dahlia Schagel was the carnival queen at Banff last winter.

E. C. Olson, of Spokane, in a letter to Sherwood Herchmer, sends two years curling fees and expresses the great pleasure it gave him to attend the bonspiel this year. He says he will sure be back next season to visit Fernie and to attend the District Bonspiel at Coleman.

Jos. McGowan, Jas. Anderson and Jas. Sterling, who have been in the hospital here on account of injuries, have returned to their homes at Elko.

A report from Vancouver says that B. Tognotti, of Trail, and Miss Florence Larmont, of Vancouver, both formerly of Fernie, were united in marriage in that city last week.

A tea sponsored by Mrs. Dr. Asselstine and the Fernie Swastika Hockey Club, will be given next week in aid of the Fernie Intermediate club. The date and place will be announced later.

Oh Tarranounce, Pat, are you going to see "The Princess of Meath" on March 17? Sure and I am, Mike. I'd give one half of me life to see her, and the other half to take in the winning grace of the purty colleens in the cast.

A most enjoyable time was spent on Tuesday by patrons of the social evening held in the basement of the English church. Thirteen tables were occupied at whist, the prize winners being: Lady, Mrs. E. Fisher; gentleman, A. Clarke. Consolation prizes were awarded to Mrs. McIntyre and Rev. Oswald. Refreshments were served after which a splendid program of vocal and instrumental numbers was enjoyed. Those contributing were Miss Charlebois, Miss Jessie Beck, C. Andrews and T. Beck.

The city fathers will not have that nightmare, the Elk River crossing, to worry them this year, but they have a very important problem to grapple with in connection with the paving of Victoria Avenue. The sample cement work done at the south end of Victoria Avenue three years ago has apparently stood the test of time, and an effort should be made to continue the pavement at least as far as the public school. The main street has been a disgrace to the city for a long time and if it is possible to finance the work at all it should be done this year. If, as everyone expects, the government makes good the Home Bank losses, the city should be in good shape financially. Some statement of the intentions of the government regarding the Home Bank affairs is expected early in February.

Kimberley plays Fernie in the first game of the B.C. playoffs, on Tuesday, Feb. 3, in Fernie. Fernie goes to Kimberley on Feb. 5. Home and home game total goals to count.

Coming, Coming, Coming—W. F. Salter, the Canadian manger of the International Bible Students Association; a world wide traveller and lecturer. It will be seats free and no collection. See next week's paper for full particulars.

The Pythian Sisters are holding a measuring social on Thursday, Feb. 12, which will commence with cards at 7 p.m. Instructions on this novelty social are contained in the small satchels handed around by members of the Pythian Sisters. Ask for your bag. Have a good time.

The agile hoop artists of the Catholic Boys' Club defeated one of the teams of the Altar Boys' Club, Tuesday night. The score was 41 to 28. Some close contests between these two clubs in both basketball and hockey are promised for the near future.

Miss Melissa Vanbuskirk, sister of Henry Vanbuskirk, of the P. Burns staff in Fernie, was badly burned about the feet and legs when the Windsor Hotel, at Moncton, N.B., was destroyed by fire on Tuesday of this week. Miss Vanbuskirk, who was part owner of the building, received her injuries while trying to rouse guests who were asleep in the hotel.

For the next few weeks the Catholic Boys' Club will meet on Monday evenings at 7 o'clock, and the Altar Boys' Club on Saturday evenings at the same hour. On Tuesday and Thursday evenings the hall will be occupied by those who are preparing for the big St. Patrick's entertainment to be given by the Sodality on March 17.

Another Fernie oldtimer crossed the great divide on Wednesday of this week in the person of John Shearer, who died in a Calgary hospital while undergoing an operation for stomach trouble. Deceased had been a resident of Fernie and Coal Creek for 25 years, and his death came as a shock to his many old friends. The funeral took place at Calgary. Deceased leaves a wife, who resides in Seattle.

UPHILL ASKS FOR MORE RELIEF WORK

Victoria, Jan. 26.—Thos. Uphill, Labor member for Fernie, today urged the government to take steps to provide more public works in that city. Unemployment there, he stated, is serious, and 100 men have been unable to secure jobs despite the fact that about 500 miners have gone back to their jobs. He asked that more men be employed widening the Crow's Nest Pass road.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY SHOULD HAVE SUPPORT

It should not be necessary in a town like Fernie to appeal so often to th epublic for more generous support of the library. That the support has not been forthcoming is surely due to lack of knowledge of the existence of the library rather than to ignorance of the benefits to be derived therefrom.

All knowledge is for all men, and as as public libraries are becoming more and more centres for adult education, we should have greater recourse to the library to attain this advantage.

Books can be a source of relaxation as well as education, a pleasure as well as a benefit, and the habit of reading should be developed with both these objects in view.

It is a misfortune to lose all the joy that reading can give; a misfortune that can be avoided by cultivating the advantages the library can give.

Take a little time from the busy day to refresh the mind as well as th body and so bcome acquainted with the good things that have been left to us in the books of the great.

RESERVE OF OFFICERS AND RETIRED LIST OF OFFICERS

Canadian Militia—Officers on the Reserve and Retired List C.M., residing in the province of B.C., are notified that they should report in writing to the D.O.C., M.D. 11, Victoria, B.C., on or before the 1st April in each year, giving address for the current year, this in order that their names be retained in the Militia List. This also applies to officers formerly R.O. and R.L., C.E.F., as those lists have been absorbed into the R.O. and R.L., C.M.

B.C. ECONOMIC PROBLEMS

To the Editor:

Sir—A program of exceptional interest has been prepared in connection with the forthcoming annual general meeting of the B.C. Division of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy. The Institute, as is well known, is a national organization composed mainly of technical men, whose aim and purpose is the promotion, chiefly by educational means, of the best interests of the mining industry in this country. Essentially it is actuated by disinterested motives. It is on this account that it has exercised so wide and so admittedly beneficial an influence during the past 26 years throughout Canada. In this province the tradition of useful service has been adequately maintained by the B.C. Division. Having in mind the idea of service, and recognizing that the province at present is confronted with economic and industrial problems, whose successful solution is of common concern, the Division at this meeting is subordinating its technical or class interests to the major demands of community interests. In other words, instead of dealing with questions that exclusively and directly affect mining, it will deliberate issues that inclusively, if indirectly, affect every individual, class and industry in B.C.

Of these problems that of government finance, involving taxation, is not the least pressing. The tax burden now imposed is a heavy one. Its effect is to deter investment and to discourage any considerable increase of population. But with factors favorable to the extension of industry, to the acceleration of settlement, and to increases of population, the problem would soon cease to exist; it would solve itself. Hence the importance of concentrating effort on the improvement of basal conditions.

The liability of the P.G.E. is a cause of high taxation. So long as this railway continues to be owned by the province it will continue to be a public liability and a burden on the taxpayer unless a way can be found of operting it profitably. It can ony be operated profitably by increasing settlement and by an accelerated development of resources in the territory served by it. The Division will devote a day to a survey of the potential and actual resources of this territory, with a view to stimulating interest in the opportunities that may exist for enterprise. The information to be submitted will be authoritative and comprehensive.

On the third day of the meeting, under the general head of "Economic and Industrial Conditions in British Columbia; How They Can Be Improved," a discussion covering a wide range will take place. The inter-relationship of industries will be indicated; the conditions obtaining in each described; and means of bettering them canvassed. This, of course, involves questions of taxation, markets, labor, transportation, etc., etc. The point of view will be obtained of the agriculturist, the lumberman, the manufacturer, the engineer, the mine operator, the prospector and others. As a result of such a conference it is hoped that some constructive ideas, capable of application, may be evolved.

The meeting will be open to the public, and representatives from every section of the province wil be welcomed.

H. Mortimer-Lamb, Secretary.

KIMBERLEY MAN DEAD IN THE SNOW

On Thursday of last week the body of William Thompson, who had been working for the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. at Kimberley, was found lying a short distance from the cordwood road at that place, wit ha bullet wound through the head. A verdict of suicide was returned.

According to report, J. Dobson, also working for the Consolidated, saw the body as he was coming to work on the mrning of Jan. 22, and notified the police.

Constable O'Halloran, with another man, went out to the place indicated and found the body lying in the deep snow about 12 feet off the road, with a revolver in the right hand and a bullet wound in the forehead.

Investigations made by the constable showed that another shot had been fired and had evidently gone wild. There were no tracks of anyone else near the body.

Thompson was a laborer working for the Consolidated, 22 years of age and single. He had been born in Winnipeg. Relatives were notified by the police.

The coroner's jury brought in a verdict of suicide without assigning a cause.

The body was found sitting up in the snow, leaning against a tree, a revolver with two shots fired being found beside him.

RADIUM SPRINGS CLAIM SLASHED BY THE COURT

Vancouver, Jan. 24.—Concluding expropriation proceedings in the exchequer court of Canada, Mr. Justice McLean has awarded Roland Stuart, a resident of Southern France, $24,200 compensation for the Sinclair Springs and surrounding acreage on the Banff-Windermere road in the Kootenays.

The springs, known as Radium Hot Springs, because an analysis revealed radium in the waters, were discovered by a prospector 30 years ago, although the Indians from time immemorial had used the mineral water on account of their medicinal qualities.

Mr. Stuart acquired the site and at one time planned to erect a large hotel and develop the place along the lines of Banff.

Following the acquisition of other property in the district, the Dominion parks branch of the department of the interior instituted expropriation proceedings for the taking over of Mr. Stuart's holding. The government offered $22,000 and actually paid Mr. Stuart this sum several years ago, but he claimed $500,000.

Evidence was heard here last fall by Mr. Justice McLean, and the court held sittings, also, in Banff, and on the spring site.

Mr. Justice McLean has decided that the government's offer was a fair one; but he holds that Mr. Stuart, under the Expropriation act, is entitled to an additional 10 per cent on the tender. The total therefore, is $24,200 and interest.

COVETING EAST KOOTENAY'S MEMBER

From time to time there have been broad hints dropped and thinly veiled references made to prepare the way for the expected announcement that it is deemed expedient for Dr. King to be given representation from a coast riding rather than from such a district as East Kootenay where the distribution of any ministerial larghesse cannot be expected to bring any response in the way of support that it could in a more thickly populated riding with more opportunities for a paternal interest on the part of the government. Dr. King's name has already been mentioned in connection with the New Westminster seat, but a much more probable line-up comes from Vancouver where Liberal nominating conventions are already being talked for the federal elections that are thought to be coming some time during the next summer. Naturally with the three Vancouver seats, New Westminster and Victoria in the possession of the Conservatives, the government is going to lose no opportunity of putting up the strongest possible candidates. Dr. King is being mentioned as a possibility for Liberal candidate in North Vancouver to oppose Leon Ladner, sitting member, while in Vancouver Centre, Hon. H. H. Stevens may have J. W. DeB. Farris as his Liberal opponent. R. G. McPherson, formerly Vancouver postmaster and federal member, and now a police commissioner there, is regarded as a likely choice for Vancouver South, now represented by Gen. Clark.—Cranbrook Herald.

"You certainly are crazy about women."

"Why shouldn't I be? Half my parents were women."

THEME IS GREATEST PHOTOPLAY ASSET

Probably most motion picture lovers are unaware that the greatest factor in the success of a photoplay is its theme. They may be unaware of its presence, or unable to describe it in so many words, but if the picture stirred up a heart throb, made one gasp or sent a thrill chasing up and down one's spine it is safe to assert that it had a theme.

Themes must be unobtrusive, but they must be there. Otherwise the critics will assail the production as one which is implausible and utterly untrue to life.

"The Woman on the Jury," a First National picture which is coming to the Orpheum theatre on Wednesday and Thursday next, possesses one of the strongest themes that have ever been conceived in the mind of an author. Briefly, it is this: There is no sacrifice too great for a woman to make for the sake of love.

In this picture, which was directed by Harry O. Hoyt from Bernard K. Burns' stage play, Sylvia Breamer is cast in the role of a young bride who is called upon to make the greatest sacrifice of which a woman is capable—that of ruining her own reputation—and the situation which evokes this tremendous ordeal is gripping with emotion and dramatic power.

Others in the cast of this most remarkable picture are Bessie Love, Frank Mayo, Hobart Bosworth, Henry B. Walthall, Lew Cody, Mary Carr, Myrtle Stedman, Roy Stewart, Ford Sterling and Stanton Heck.

The history of the fountain pen is very like that of the telephone, the telegraph, the radio and a host of other present-day conveniences.

Fifty years ago no one thought a satisfactory fountain pen would ever be an accomplished fact. Scores of pens had been invented, but not one of them would write properly. They only worked at times; the ink flow could not be controlled.

But in 1883 came Waterman's Ideal—the perfect pen—one that would always work properly, one that would not leak, one that would meet the peculiar requirements of every man's hand.

From a beginning of 200 pens in a year—made by hand—Waterman's has developed into a great industry. To-day there are millions of Waterman's Ideals in service in all parts of the world.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Appetizing!

The rich, tempting flavor of OXO Cubes stimulates jaded appetites and makes everything taste better.

They give increased food value to soups, stews, meat-pies, croquettes hash and many other dishes, and make them more appetizing.

ART IN AMERICA

Minneapolis Journal: Art is supposed to be international. Great art may be, but all art is national, too. Shakespeare is Anglo-Saxon, as Wagner is Teutonic. And suppression in America of Anglo-Saxon drama, encouragement of Latin music and Teutonic opera, is deleterious to the American genius. Naturally, how could it be otherwise? The cultivated American for a generation has been striving to become a cosmopolite, aesthetically. But there really isn't such a thing, and all he has managed to achieve is a sorry melange of Italian, German, French, Russian and what not reflections. Curiously, he is neither fish, fowl, flesh, nor good red herring. He is culturally a frean, or better, a scream.

A CASE FOR CONSIDERATION

London Daily News: The British government has done well in determining to withhold for the present their signature to the Opium Convention, the forlorn result of the labors of the First Opium Conference. There can be no advantage, and may be a positive harm, in committing this country formally to a pure sham. But we hope they will go a step further and use their influence to press the proposal for an International Commission to examine the whole subject. This will at least give time for the facts in a scandal almost inevitably little known in disinterested circles to become known to the general public.

FEBRUARY ROD AND GUN

Brimful of interesting reading is the February issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, which every sportsman is sure to enjoy. The Snow Barrier by Raymond Thompson is an exciting narrative of adventure in the frozen north country. Other interesting stories and articles, including E. R. Kerr's The Migratory Birds Treaty and Cause of Decrease in Numbers of Wild Fowl, will also attract the reader's attention. The regular contributors of stories, F. V. Williams, J. W. Winson, Bonnycastle Dale and Martin Hunter, have all lived up to the reputations they have won for themselves in their different lines of sport. And the departmental editors have their departments up to their usual standard of excellence. Published monthly by W. J. Taylor, Ltd., Woodstock, Ont.

This Lassie Has Her Colds "Rubbed Away"

The mother of this attractive little girl, Mrs. E. E. Emmans, of 215 Seventh Ave., N. E., Portage La Prairie, Man., is one of the many Canadian mothers who are enthusiastic about the vaporizing salve, Vicks VapoRub, for treating children's colds. Mrs. Emmans writes: "My little girl had croup at night pretty badly and Vicks did her a lot of good. I have also used it with very satisfactory results for head and chest colds."

Vicks is just "rubbed on" for sore throat, tonsilitis, bronchitis, croup or deep chest colds. When so applied, Vicks has a double direct action: internally medicated vapors are inhaled while, at the same time, externally, it is absorbed through and stimulates the skin.

In all the world
no food like Fry's
for growing children

They're brighter at school,
They're stronger at play—
Red cheeked and happy
When fed the Fry way.

What a wonderful difference it makes in the home, when the children are brimming over with health and vigour! Yet, as any doctor will tell you, health is so largely a matter of feeding.

FRY'S Cocoa contains nourishment in rich concentrated form, for every department of the human body—for muscle, tissue, flesh, nerve, brain and bone. It furnishes in rich abundance, energy for work and play—and materials to build the body with. And all this in such delicious form that every child takes FRY'S eagerly.

Be sure you get FRY'S—made in Canada and famous the world over for purity and quality. Cheap, unknown cocoas haven't its purity and richness.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

A HAMMER is a most useful and necessary tool in the hands of a carpenter or anyone who has a legitimate use for it. With it you may drive a nail or bruise a finger. When one needs a hammer he needs it badly. It is really a household necessity. To bring to the hammer is a term often used when one is compelled to sell at auction his personal property. The carpenter then and the auctioneer as well use the hammer. The miner uses a hammer to drive his drill. The circus man uses a hammer to drive the stakes for the tent ropes. The stonecutter uses it to guide his chisel. There is the riveting hammer, the tack hammer, the blocking hammer, bricklayer's hammer, steam hammer, trip hammer. Hammers of stone are still found in the relics of antiquity and are still in use among barbarians. There is the piano hammer, the gun hammer and the dental hammer, the horseman's hammer, the blacksmith's hammer and the forger's hammer. There are more kinds of hammers than anything else in the world. In mythology there is Thor's hammer by the throwing of which thunder and lightning was caused. Every one of these hammers, even the mythological one, has some good and legitimate purpose, but there is just one hammer in the world that is the opposite of all these others, and that is the hammer which the professional knocker wields with such malicious and fatal results. That is one hammer which should forever be cast out from the line of ancestral hammers of fame and dignity. If you are toting a hammer like this, throw it away. Bury it so deep that you will have to go around on the other side of the globe to resurrect it. This kind of a hammer should never be used. The man who wickedly and wantonly wields the knocker's hammer should be forever silenced with a well directed blow on the head with a sledge hammer. Boost—Don't knock.

AS long as liquor is kept in the home, so long will it show up in the possession of youngsters at dances and other social affairs. The youngster knows it is wrong and unlawful for him to take liquor to a dance, but he reasons that it is no more unlawful for him to do that than it is for his father to patronize bootleggers or blind pigs. He argues that he is no more a lawbreaker than his "old man" and the latter in a show down has not a leg to stand on. When liquor is gotten out of the house in Canadian communities it will not show up so plentifully in the possession of schoolboys at dances and parties. Responsibility for this thing may as well be placed right where it belongs — in the home. There is the place to hunt for the explanation of the mystery as to how high school boys get their booze.

JOINT INSTALLATION

The local K. of P. and Pythian Sisters spent a very enjoyable evening together on Tuesday in the I.O. O.F. Hall, when over one hundred members assembled to participate in the joint installation of officers for 1925. Sister Galloway as Deputy Grand Chief, performed her duties in a creditable manner. The grand charge was given by Sister Morris, and the floor work was under the direction of Sister Turnbull. After the sisters' ceremony, Bro. Markland gave an interesting resume of the four triangles of the Pythian sisterhood. He then assumed the role of Deputy Grand Chancellor, and assisted by Bro. D. Alton and Bro. A. Lees, as Grand Chaplain and Grand M. of A., installed the officers of the brothers' lodge. Refreshments were served and dancing indulged in, the music being provided by A. Markland and J. Robson.

MINERS ADVERTISE

During the coal strike of last year attention was repeatedly drawn to the loss of the Manitoba market that would assuredly follow if American coal regained a dominating position in that province. At the time the amazing reply was made by some of the more extreme spokesmen of the miners that wether markets were lost or not they would stand out for their terms.

In their failure to recognize the great value of the home market, these leaders were adopting a course very different from one now being taken in certain coal mining districts of the United States.

For the last few months the United Mine Workers of America, District No. 13, which takes in the State of Iowa, have been advertising to promote the sale of coal mined in Iowa. They have raised a fund of $11,000 to be spent in advertising coal mined in Iowa. They have financed the advertising as a result of their own initiative, except in one county, where mine operators have co-operated on a fifty-fifty basis. They are asking Iowans to buy coal mined at home in order that they may have more, and steadier, employment. This appeal, however, is made essentially on a straight business basis, viz.: that Iowa coal contains just as many heat units as any coal mined. They are carrying on in spite of the fact that operators, with only a single exception, have not co-operated with them either morally or financially. Finally, as if to convince advertising men that they are not absolute novices in the technique of distribution, they are merchandising their advertising and following it up with calls on the coal trade of their state.

This campaign of the Iowa coal miners is in remarkable contrast to the position so widely taken in the Alberta district. The former recognize the importance of marketing and are willing to assign to it a place equal at least to the production of the coal. They have already demonstrated that by inducing the people of their own district to buy their coal they can increase the number of days of employment for the men engaged in the mines. Employment would be stabilized and the general condition of business improved in Western Canada if the miners of Alberta would have the same vision of the possibilities of better marketing that the Iowa miners have.—Calgary Herald.

BANFF CARNIVAL LOOKS GOOD

Banff, Jan. 28.—Norman Luxton and Gordon Standish, of Banff, are visitors in Calgary just now. Both are enthusiastic over the forthcoming Carnival at Banff. They say that entries from as far east as Montreal, west to Vancouver, south to Montana and north to Edmonton have already been received by the management for the numerous contests being held in connection with the big event. Fancy skaters are coming from Montreal, speed skaters from Montana and Edmonton, and a hockey team and several speed and fancy skaters from Vancouver. Revelstoke is sending a contingent of ski jumpers and a number of Calgary knights of the steel blades will also be seen in action.

The C.P.R. has arranged to run a special excursion to Banff on Wednesday, Feb. 11. The train will leave Calgary at 8 a.m., returing leaving Banff at 8.50 p.m. and is scheduled to arrive in Calgary at 11.35 p.m. This will allow close upon 10 hours to take in the carnival. An excursion fare of $3.35 has been arranged.

LOCAL & GENERAL

Chief Greenwood paid a visit to Cranbrook and Kimberley this week.

George Moses, who has been ill since the first of the year, is gradually recovering.

The Fernie Old Timers missed their annual banquet this year which they usually hold on Burns night.

Born—At Santa Monica, Cal., on Jan. 26, to Mr. and Mrs. Stafford Wilson, of Fernie, B.C., a daughter.

Keep in mind Feb. 24. What now? Why, a Japanese dance in the I.O. O.F. Hall.

A. C. Liphardt leaves tonight for Vancouver, where he has been called owing to the serious illness of Mrs. Liphardt.

Don't miss "A Princess of Meath," the play to be given by the Sodality girls on St. Patrick's Day at the Grand Theatre.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid of the United Church will be held at the home of Mrs. A. Currie on Monday, Feb. 2, at 3 p.m.

Will the person who took the plunger out of the I.O.O.F. Hall please return the same and avoid further trouble.

J. L. and Wm. Gates received the sad news on Sunday of the death of their sister, Mrs. Whetstone, at Harrison, Ont.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Benevolent Society will be held at the home of Mrs. Suddaby, on Tuesday, Feb. 3, at 3.30 p.m.

Miss H. DeCew, of the public school teaching staff, has resigned her position and is leaving today for Vancouver, where she has accepted a position on the staff of that city.

Do not forget the social and dance in the Catholic Hall tonight, Jan. 30. Cards at 9 o'clock sharp. Dancing from 11 to 1. Admission 50c. Come and have a good time.

The Fernie Swastikas desire to thank all those who helped to make their tea a success, especially the following: Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Biggs, Mrs. Dudley, Miss M. Herkins, Mrs. J. Connick and the United Church.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Wilson upon the death of their little daughter, Florence, which sad event took place on Saturday, Jan. 24. The funeral service, which took place at the family residence on Tuesday, was conducted by Rev. Wm. Burns and was largely attended.

At a meeting of the local retail merchants on Tuesday evening, E. K. Stewart was appointed to represent them on the committee to investigate the cost of living. The meeting also discussed the formation of a permanent organization of retail merchants but nothing definite was done in the matter.

Rev. Will Burns was the principal speaker at the Rotary luncheon on Monday, when he gave a very fine talk on the life of Robt. Burns. Nearly all the Rotarians have a little Scotch blood in them and those who have not would like to have, and the Rev. Will's address was greatly appreciated. It has been truly said "the man who is not overcome with admiration for the patriotism and humanity of Burns, to the forgetting of his frailties, has something amiss in his clay. Burns indeed heralded the emancipation of men and sounded the end of a positive intellectual serfdom that Scotland suffered from owing to too long a dictation by so-called "superiors." Burns gave short shrift to any aristocracy that was not of a mental calibre. During the Edinburgh visit, when intellectuals and "gentry" vied with each other to do him honors, his manner remained the same and not an inch lower did he bow to one than the other. Burns, extremely national though he was, belongs to the world at large. Your "Burnsomaniac" imagines because fate occasioned his birth north of the Tweed that he has some special divine understanding of the poet's message. True, a knowledge of the Scottish language is helpful, but who will say that Shakespears is a closed book to all but of Anglo-Saxon stock? Burns is everyman's poet, that is why on the anniversary of the birth the toast to his memory is heard in every clime and in every language."

The annual congregational meeting of the United Church was held on Tuesday evening.

The regular meeting of the W.A. of the G.W.V.A. will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 3, at 7.30 p.m. All members are requested to attend.

Demand for motor licenses for 1925 has already commenced. Up to date in January the local government office has issued 34.

The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. has a supply of soft coke on hand which makes fine fuel for furnaces. Put your order in early.

Don't forget the Rebekah Valentine Novelty Dance. I.O.O.F. Hall, Feb. 13. Refreshments and the best music. J16-4t

Come, sip tea and have a laugh with old friends over the tea cup at the Catholic Hall on Saturday, March 14.

The Fernie Chapter of the I.O.D.E. entertained the girls of the Entrance Class at a dinner in the basement of the United Church last evening.

The winter term at the city Public Schools commences Monday, Feb. 2. Children who are six years of age before that date will be admitted to the receiving classes at all the city schools.

The financial statement of the city for 1924 will be presented at next Thursday's council meeting, Auditor G. F. Johnson having completed his work in connection with it.

The Ladies Guild, English Church, Coal Creek, will hold a whist drive and dance in Coal Creek Club Hall on Tuesday, Feb. 10. Cards 7.30 to 9.30. Dancing to follow. Admission 50c. J30-2

Wm. Sherman, president of District 18, U.M.W.A., held a mass meeting of the miners in Michel on Sunday evening in an effort to hold the men of that camp in his organization. It is said that he did not meet with very much encouragement.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McTeer are back from Calgary again and Gordon has taken up his old position with the Coal Co. To baseball fans the return of Gordon is the most cheerful news they have had for some time and it is to be hoped that Manager W. R. Wilson will take the same keen interest in baseball that he did last season.

Something along the lines being followed in Cranbrook in regard to the purchase of out of town bread, would be a good move in the city of Fernie. There is no reason in the world why a dollar of Fernie money should go to Lethbridge or Calgary for bread. The following from the Cranbrook Herald will be of interest: A commendable move among the local grocers to keep local business for local firms is seen in their willingness to sign a petition to confine their bread purchases to the three local bakeries, so long as the quality remains at a sufficiently high standard to suit the demands of their customers. The matter was brought to the notice of the public through the columns of the Herald just before Christmas, and only last week, one of the local bakers conceived the idea of approaching the city grocers on the subject, and ascertaining just what their attitude was. Somewhat to his surprise, perhaps, he found he was able to get all the grocers to sign a petition to use local bread, and it is now for the public to do their part by stimulating the demand as much as possible for the local product, being assured that the bakers will do everything possible to maintain the quality of it.

MONEY IN TOURISTS

The press of Ontario has put forward a scheme to extract from tourists, preferably American, enough money to pay the national debt of this Dominion. The Border Cities Star of Windsor adopts the unofficial estimate that tourists left in Canada upwards of $150,000,000 last season, and is possessed of the idea that governments, and especially the Ottawa government, should push the advertising of Canada abroad so that this stream of wealth may be increased and made permanent. Whatever the amount derived from these visitors, there is no doubt that their spendings were very large and that it is good business to add as much as possible to the income from this source. The Star says:

"Attraction of tourists and new citizens is one of the most important tasks facing our governments today. Nor is it entirely the work of governments. Districts, counties, cities, towns, townships, villages and private individuals should feel the necessity of co-operating in every possible way. It is within the power of almost every person to accomplish something along this line. Individual effort of this kind, no matter how seemingly small and unimportant, becomes a tremendous factor when considered from an aggregate point of view. One hook-and-line thrust into a lake full of fish would not amount to much, but if several million individual lines were thrown in by several million fishermen, the mortality among the fish would be exceedingly heavy. In the same way, if every public-spirited Canadian would do what he or she can toward building up Canada's tourist industry and attracting new population — our greatest need—we shall acomplish something very much worth while. Let us stop leaving it all up to the other fellow; instead, considering such work for the nation and for each community as being something in the nature of an individual responsibility."

The movement to interest governments in the tourist trade is not by any means confined to Ontario, and it has taken firm root even in this far-off quarter. Considering the millions proposed to be spent in making Canada known in Europe in the hope of attracting settlers from that impoverished quarter, it is suggested that a fraction of the attention of the immigration department might be diverted to our rich neighbors, so that they may be educated as to the pleasure and profit of holidaying in Canada. There will always be movement of permanent population from the United States as from everywhere else, and if it be possible to stimulate attention to Canada, the Ottawa government should give careful consideration to this tourist drive, which national advertising will help.—Columbian.

Princess Kathleen Makes Maiden Voyage

On her preliminary trials the "Princess Kathleen", built at the Clydesbank yards of John Brown and Company for service on the Canadian Pacific run between Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle, accomplished all that was expected of her, and the Canadian engineers and other officers who conducted the trials and who will bring this and a sister ship, the "Princess Marguerite", still under construction to Vancouver, expressed themselves as being entirely satisfied. With a speed of 22½ knots the new steamships will considerably reduce time between ports. Built with the object of speeding up and affording even better and more convenient service than is now offered, the two Princesses will be, without a shadow of doubt, the most elaborate yet tastefully beautiful vessels operating on the Pacific Coast. Three hundred and sixty-eight feet in length, their lines were specially designed for the service to which they will be put and those who have seen the new vessels describe them as being beyond comparison with any others of their kind. Five decks are given over to the accommodation of the passengers, whose private quarters and public rooms are most spacious and luxuriously fitted up. The "Princess Kathleen" sailed from the Clyde on January 15, expecting to complete the journey to Vancouver in about thirty days, her route being via the Azores, the West Indies and the Panama, where she will pick up fuel oil. She will be placed in passenger service soon after her arrival. The "Princess Marguerite" is scheduled to leave the Clyde on March 15.

PUT CANADIANS TO WORK

During 11 months in 1924 Canada exported 1,180,777 cords of pulpwood, worth $12,886,192.

The cost of turning that wood into paper was seven times the price paid to Canadians for it.

In brief, where Canadian industry made $12,886,192 out of that product of Canadian forests, United States industry made just seven times as much, or $80,203,344.

The pertinent question is this:

Why should United States mills and United States workmen make this profit instead of Canadian mills and Canadian workmen?

For every thousand dollars we thus hand over to United States some good Canadian goes with it.

Neglect to enforce the pulpwood embargo is simply helping to create a condition of industrial prosperity in United States that is depopulating Canada.

Thus, every dollar's worth of raw materials that goes out of Canada not only makes Canada a less attractive place to live in, but also makes the United States a more attractive place to live in.

How long can Canada afford to pay this tribute in men and money to United States?—Vancouver Sun.

FURTHER

CERTIFICATE OF APPROVAL

1. WHEREAS the East Kootenay Power Company, Limited, on the 23rd day of February, 1923, was granted a Certificate of Approval of its undertaking relating to the diversion, storage and use for power purposes of water from Elk River, a tributary of Kootenay River in the Fernie Water District, and the transmission of the power generated from such water;

2. AND WHEREAS the said Company has made application to the Comptroller of Water Rights for a licence to divert and use for power purposes one hundred cubic feet a second of the water of Line Creek, a tributary of Fording River, which is a tributary of said Elk River, and to store 15,000 acre feet of the said waters in Grave Lake in connection with its operations under the said Certificate of Approval;

3 AND WHEREAS the said Company has, after due notice by petition filed on the 16th day of October, 1924, petitioned for a further approval of its undertaking relating to the said application;

4. AND WHEREAS the period within which objections to the said petition may be filed has expired and no objections are on file;

5. THIS IS TO CERTIFY that the undertaking of the East Kootenay Power Company, Limited, as set out in its said petition (in so far as the said undertaking relates to the diversion, storage and use for power purposes of water under its said application, and the transmission of power generated from said water) is hereby approved subject to the terms and conditions of the "Water Act" and to the following additional terms and conditions;

6. Any licence or licences which may hereafter be granted in pursuance of the said application shall, notwithstanding the issue of this Certificate, be subject to readjustment by the Board of Investigation.

7. The construction of the works for the diversion, storage and use of the whole of the water shall be commenced on or before the 31st day of March, 1925, and shall be completed to the satisfaction of the Comptroller of Water Rights on or before the 31st day of December, 1925.

8. The territory within which the Company may exercise its powers, in so far as the same relate to the undertaking hereby approved, consists of the Fernie Water District and the Cranbrook Water District in the County of Kootenay.

9. The term of any licence or licences which may hereafter be granted in pursuance of the said application shall be fifty years.

This Certificate shall not in any way be deemed to be an approval of the plans of any works covered by the proposed undertaking, or to authorize the construction of any such works, but shall have the effect only of a certificate issued under the provisions of section 36 of the "Water Act," and shall be subject to such provisions.

Your doctor advises internal cleanliness

HE WILL tell you that the first results of constipation — headache, sleepless nights, biliousness, backache, etc.—warn that the body is flooded with intestinal poisons. In time these poisons may cause the breakdown of health and lead to serious disease.

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favour Lubrication

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. For sale by all druggists.

Prince Albert is sold throughout Canada, generally, in the ½-lb. tidy red tin, also in pound and half-pound humidors.

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO., Winston-Salem, N. C., U. S. A.

I.W.W. LEADER PITIFUL WRECK

A Russian alien, convicted at Superior, Wis., of swindling operations and ordered deported to Russia, is begging the authortities to let him go to the penitentiary. He declares that he would rather pass the rest of his life there than be sent back to Russia.

Perhaps he has heard of the distressin g experiences of "Big Bill" Haywood, a former revolutionary agitator in the United States and for many years head of the I. W. W. Haywood was convicted of violation of law during the war and was sentenced to the penitentiary at Leavenworth, but "jumped his bail" before incarceration and fled to soviet Russia. He is now a broken and pathetic figure, longing to return to the United States.

The most recent chapter of Haywood's sorry experiences with soviet Russia is recorded in a special news dispatch from Constantinople to the New York Times. A week ago, the dispatch reports, a ragged, starving tramp came to the Near East orphanage in the soviet republic of Armenia and begged for food, clothes and shelter over night. "I am Bill Haywood, but I am not a bolshevik any more," he said apologetically. "I wish I had never run away from Leavenworth. I would rather live in Leavenworth any time than in bolshevist Russia. It is not a white man's country."

The further information is conveyed that the communist internationale paid Haywood a small salary for a long time to act as adviser to its American propaganda section, but when Zinoviev ordered him to return to America in disguise a year ago and direct the revolutionary propaganda among negroes, Haywood refused and the bolsheviki kicked him into the street. They wanted to smuggle him into Georgia on a rum-runner and organize a negro uprising in the south. A year on the road between Moscow and the Caucasus not only made a physical wreck of Haywood, but utterly disgusted him with the bolshevist government, and he cried like a baby when he talked of returning home.

The dispatch from Constantinople gives this last pitiful glance of "Big Bil" Haywood: "The next morning he packed up his ragged kit and started off all alone through the mountains toward the Turkish frontier. A violent snowstorm started the next day, and peasants saw him dragging himself through the snow that night. No one has reported seeing him since then."

CAMPAIGN AGAINST RELIGION

The recent Christmastide was again seized upon by the Bolshevists of Russia to give a new impetus to their war against religion. They mobilized the "Youthful Communists" to divert the Christmas celebrations into anti-religious channels, but these were ordered to avoid the crude obscenities which have marked their conduct in the past. M. Zinovieff, who appears to be one of the leaders of the anti-religious war, admits that the campaign has failed hitherto, but he says the Communists are undaunted and issues the following appeal:

"We will grapple with the Lord God in due season. We will vanquish Him in His Highest Heaven and wherever He seeks refuge and we will subdue Him forever. But we must understand that in our backward peasant country, where we are only yet at the beginning of our work of culture and education, we must be cautious—much, much more cautious than hitherto."

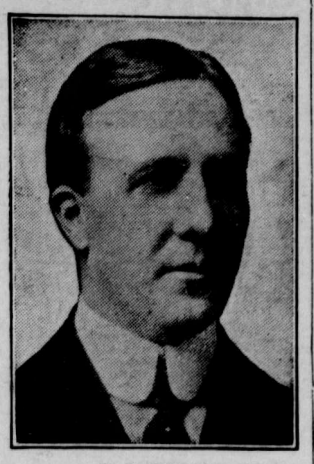
The Christmas campaign was carried out by the Soviet press in a species of propaganda in which stress was laid on the impossibility of abolishng deep-rooted popular holidays and the advice was tendered that the Communists should make efforts to gain control of these and convert them into Communist holidays. There were large quantities of anti-religious agitation literature distributed in the villages of the country and a society of anti-God workers was formed to bring the movement under one central authority. Up to date all the efforts of the Communists in this direction have been responsible alone for mere anti-religious hooliganism which has tended to produce the opposite results to those sought. It has had no effect whatever on the peasantry, and there is no longer a cultured class in Russia, as it was necessary that this class be wiped out prior to the campaign against religion.

ROOSEVELT WAS RIGHT

Theodore Roosevelt made a speech in the Guildhall, London, in 1910, in which he discussed the Egyptain situation with undiplomatic candor. He declared that Britain had only two courses open in regard to Egypt —"either govern the country or get out." The former President was severely criticized at the time, both by English and American papers.

In recalling this incident the Boston Transcript points out that Egypt's wanton abuse of the larger freedom accorded since the war has shown conclusively the wisdom of Roosevelt's comment and the folly of any intermediate policy:

"Not only Great Britain, but the whole world at large has an interest in seeing the order, productivity and welfare of the Sudan enforced and protected."



The lady shopper had ordered about everything hauled down from the shelves.

"I don't see just the right thing," she decided at last, "I want to surprise my husband on his birthday."

"Why don't you hide behind a chair and yell 'boo' at him," gasped the exasperated clerk.

Are you acquainted with Mrs. Styles, your fashionable neighbor? Only in a roundabout way. Her cat boards at our house.

Passenger Man Appointed to Railway Executive

W. B. HOWARD

W. B. Howard, whose appointment as General Executive Assistant has been announced by E. W. Beatty, Chairman and President of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. Howard, who has been Assistant General Passenger Agent, succeeds F. L. Wanklyn, whose retirement was announced at the end of the year.

Mr. Howard is one of the younger of the Company's officials although he entered its service twenty-five years ago. Born in Chatham, N.B., he joined the Canadian Pacific forces as junior clerk at St. John, N.B., in 1897, and two years later was promoted to the position of travelling passenger agent. Since that time his promotion has been rapid and he is well known throughout the east as a very competent officer. On two occasions Mr. Howard has been in charge of the train placed at the service of the Prince of Wales by the Canadian Pacific.

ONE DOLLAR A POUND FOR TEA PREDICTED BEFORE LONG

The tremendous increase in the popularity of tea as a beverage has been such that the producing countries have been unable to satisfy the demand. The price of tea has been steadily increasing for a number of years. Since, however, you can make from 250 to 300 cups of tea to the pound, even at the price of $1.00 the cost per cup is only one-third of a cent.

AN AMERICAN ARGUMENT

Indianapolis News: While one can sympathize with the desire of England to knit more closely the Empire in an economic sense, a reliance on high tariffs is a doubtful expedient. The United States is hardly in a position to criticize, in view of the tariff schedules it now enforces, but the British proposal brings into focus import duties as an international problem. If England were to succeed in preventing the use of commodities not of British origin, there would be a reduced market for our raw materials, foodstuffs and manufactures. It would be better for all concerned, the United States as well as others, that there would be more general dependence on merit and less on artificial barriers. Special privileges always create dangers.

FERNIE WINS FROM MICHEL

In a real hard fought encounter, Fernie gained the verdict over Michel in an exhibition hockey game played here on Wednesday evening, by a score of 6 goals to 4.

There was no doubt but what the Fernie players underrated their opponents in the first period and it did not take the Michel boys long to show them their mistake. With a whirlwind rush they were around the Fernie goal and Coste was called upon to stop a shot from Anderson in the first second of the game. Fernie returned but three defence men in a line baulked their efforts to gt through. Three minutes from the start J. Littler waded right through and bulged the twine for the opening goal. Five minutes later R. Littler put Michel two up, scoring on a pass from Anderson.

Fernie was a determined team when the second period opened. Kirkpatrick and Swedeberg were bottling up all Michel attacks and the forwards were harrassing the Michel defence continually. After five minutes of play Commons got through on his own and scored Fernie's first goal. Twelve minutes later on a nice combination rush, J. Thomson passed to Dicken, who beat McInnes for the equalizer. Fernie livened by this success swarmed around the Michel goal and Swedeberg after 18 minutes of play put the locals up one; then before the 19th minute had been reached, Dicken and J. Thompson had each scored a goal for Fernie, making the score 5 to 2 at the end of the second period.

Both teams started at an exceptionally fast clip for the final session and the rubber was continually travelling from end to end. Four minutes had elapsed when J. Littler got through on his own and reduced Fernie's leeway. Half way through the period during an attack on the Michel goal, A. Thompson sent out a goal-mouth pass from the corner and Wilson getting the puck made no mistake. Towards the close of the game R. Littler sent up a high shot and Kirkpatrick in endeavoring to pull the rubber down to the ice, deflected it into the net for the last goal of the match.

Michel—McInnes; Jenkins and T. Littler; J. Littler, B. Littler and Anderson. Subs., Parsons, W. Littler, Hall.

Referee—Cy. Walker.

Bluebirds 6, Northerns 2.

The only game in the City hockey league played this week was between the Bluebirds and the Northerns on Tuesday night.

The staying power of the West Fernie boys, which has been evident in practically every game they have played this season was again a big factor in their victory. The first two periods were very evenly contested and the score of two all at the end of the second session was indicative of the run of play. In the third period the Bluebirds took the upper hand and back checked the Northerns all the time, giving them little opportunity to reach the danger zone. The Northerns did very little back checking and consequently their defence had their work cut out to hold the Bluebird attackers, and the West Fernie team netted four times during the 15 minutes of play.

Bluebirds—Rushcall; Commons and Smalek; White, J. Thomson, A. Thomson and E. Colton.

Northerns — R. Colton; Swedeberg and Dyson; Sofko, K. Colton, Wilson and Dudley.

Referee—Cy. Walker.

HOCKEY GAME AT MICHEL

Bellevue Intermediate hockey team played the Michel team at Michel on Sunday, Jan. 25. Michel proved a litte too strong for them. In the first period R. Litter scored 2 and J. Anderson 1, for Michel. Bonne scored Bellevue's lone tally on a pass from Allsopp. The first period ended 3-1 in favor of Michel. In the second period Michel adopted the three man defensive, which the Bellevue boys could not solve. The second period ended with the score unchanged. In the third both teams opened up and R. Littler scored on a pass from J. Anderson. The game ended with Bellevue having all their team on the offensive but the Michel defence held firm. Michel 4, Bellevue 1.

Michel—McInnes; H. Jones, J. Jenkins; R. Littler, J. Anderson, J. Littler. Subs.: H. Parsons, W. Littler, T. Littler.

Referee—H. Gullet.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Owing to the indisposition of several of the Old Stiffs the hockey game scheduled for Sunday last did not take place.

Mr. Rotheray, one of the old timers of this camp, recently arrived here from Voncauver Island.

Jonty Gaskill returned on Saturday from a tour of the area comprising District 18. He reports conditions bad all over.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Turner, of Cokato, have taken up their residence in Welsh camp.

The French and Welsh camps are contemplating having some musical evenings, as evidenced by the piano deliveries during the past week.

The Ladies Guild of the English Church, Coal Creek, will hold a whist drive and dance in the Coal Creek Club Hall on Tuesday, Feb. 10. Cards 7.30 to 9.30. Dancing to follow. Admission 50c.

A large number of the K. of P. and Sisters attended the installation ceremonies in Fernie on Tuesday evening.

The Club Hall was filled to capacity on Tuesday night at the hockey dance. The appeal made for refreshments was largely oversubscribed.

Although the hockey boys have met with reverses at every encounter during the season, they are always ready to fulfil their engagements, thus showing the true sporting spirit.

Owing to the unsatisfactory condition of the ice in the Fernie rink the 150s vs. Coal Creek league game for Thursday had to be postponed.

Wm. Howarth, of the Fernie Music Store, was in camp on Thursday demonstrating the De Forest-Crossley radiophone.

Billy Tynchuck received an injury to his foot on Monday in 1 East mine.

Tommy Cairns, night watchman, has recovered from his illness.

News of the passing away of one of our real old timers in the person of Jack Shearer, was received in camp on Wednesday. His demise took place in Calgary after an operation.

MICHEL LADIES PLAY HOCKEY

A very interesting game of hockey was played in Michel on Wednesday, when the Ladies All Star team met the Duds, meaning the men learning to skate. The game ended in a draw, 2 all, after 20 minutes of over time. The teams:

Ladies—Miss Stevens; Mrs. R. Winstanley, Mrs. H. Reed; Miss M. Beech, Miss H. Coma, Mrs. R. C. Weldon. Sub., Miss L. Stevens.

Duds—W. Jenkinson; J. Malbon, B. Penman; T. Shilton, W. Holmes, H. Sanders. Sub. P. McGovern.

$7,000,000 LOST

Chiefly through lack of pay roll British Columbia last year saw 10,000 people leave the province. This meant, said Mr. W. L. Macken, of Chilliwack, in a recent address before the Vancouver Board of Trade, a loss of about $7,000,000 in purchases of foodstuffs, clothing and other goods.

CITY FATHERS IN SESSION

The city council held a three hour session last evening, going over many of the public works and general business matters thoroughly.

Mayor Irvine occupied the chair and all the aldermen were present.

The city clerk reported that Geo. Vincent had deposited $800 with him to cover the purchase of the Baker Avenue proptrty from the city.

The auditor's report for the year 1924 was read and tabled until each alderman receives his copy of the report for perusal.

A motion was passed authorizing the purchase of an emergency supply of wood and coal for the Isolation Hospital.

A long resolution from the Prince George civic administration protesting to the provincial government against the levying of costs of enforcement of the Liquor Act against the municipalities, was read, and after some discussion a motion was passed that the city council of Fernie send a strong protest to the government against the deduction of $2800 from Fernie's share of the liquor profits for the past year, and stating that this council was of the opinion that such costs should be charged against the gross revenue as expenditure, and that the net profit be divided between the government and the municipalities.

The temporary loan bylaw passed at the last council meeting was considered and finally passed.

A bylaw was passed confirming the sale of Lot 4, Block 9, to George Vincent for the sum of $800.

The electric lighting system of the city came in for considerable discussion as to ways and means of reduction of the large line loss, which last year amounted to approximately $3000. Finally a motion was passed giving the fire, water and light committee power to secure expert advice as soon as the weather would permit of a complete inspection.

Salaries of the civic officials were reviewed and the following changes made: Magistrate Hendetson, up to the present receiving no salary as magistrate, will now be paid $100 per month. Miss Murphy, who has been receiving $75 per month for the past three years, will receive $85 per month, as from Feb. 1.

It was also decided to appoint one of the fire department staff to act as relief to the fire chief on not more than two evenings per week.

ROBT. DRINNAN MADE GOOD

There are other paths to success in Canada than passes through the farm, as is attested by the many brilliant, inspiring, but oft-times unwritten life stories of Canadian immigrants, who have found fame and prosperity along every line of the Dominion's many phased activity. The development of Canadian finance and business, mining and the lumber trade, fishing and the fur industry, has been wrought largely at the hands of immigrants, and the history of these prosaic appearing industries furnish the most romantic reading, and are replete with stories of human interest testifying to the wide latitude of Canadian opportunity when brought into proper combination with personal attributes and intelligent application.

One of these engrossing stories is that of Robert G. Drinnan, whose name is a familiar and honored one in mining circles in the Canadian West, and in fact, throughout the Dominion. As an individual he has without doubt been more responsible than any other for the development of the coal industry of Western Canada, the progress of which is manifested in a very concrete way in the growth of production in Alberta from 311,000 tons in 1900 to 7,000,000 tons in 1923, and from a purely domestic sale to the export of more than 2,000,000 tons outside of the province. Just to have been the largest single agency in bringing this natural development about is sufficient honor for one man's lifetime,

PROMISES EARLY ACTION

While there was no mention of Home Bank affairs in the Speech from the Throne in the Dominion House on Thursday, the following wire from Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, would seem to indicate early action.

Ottawa, Feb. 5.

A. I. Fisher, Fernie, B.C.:

Replying to your wire, you can assure Home Bank depositors they have my personal sympathy, and that as indicated by the Prime Minister, the government policy will be announced early in the session.

J. H. King.

BOARD OF TRADE HOLD LUNCHEON

The first Board of Trade luncheon to be held in Fernie took place at the Fernie Hotel on Monday last with about seventy members present.

President Harry Douglas occupied the chair and briefly outlined the objects of the gathering. He stated that for some years the affairs of the Board of Trade had been drifting along in a sort of haphazard style and it was now proposed to see if a little more pep could not be instilled into the organization; hence the luncheon.

U. S. Consul F. Brand and Sherwood Herchmer were the principal speakers for the occasion. Mr. Brand took for his subject "Pessimism." He dwelt upon the feeling which had permeated the town for many months previous to his departure for the east and the wonderful change which he found upon his return a couple of months later. He spoke of the bright future which seemed to be ahead of Fernie and the general feeling of optimism which seemed to pervade the whole west. He noticed the big change in the business returns which reached his office in the last few months and he had every reason to believe that this was just a beginning and that the year 1925 would see a vast improvement and that 1926 would be a record broken for business.

FATAL MISHAP LAST SATURDAY

Frank Murray, a resident of Fernie since 1908, was accidentally killed while at his work in the C.P.R. coal chute last Saturday afternoon. He was alone in the engine room at the time of the accident but it appears that he had shut off the engine and had gone across the room to throw in the clutch to release the hoist cables, when in some manner his clothing caught in the flange of the still spinning shaft and he was whirled around until his clothing gave way under the strain and he was thrown in a nude condition to the back of the engine.

The accident must have occurred some time in the late afternoon, but it was not until after the departure of the evening train that it was discovered. Mrs. Murray, wondering why her husband had not come home to supper, sent her son up to the chute to find out what was delaying his father. The boy found everything in darkness and returned home for a light. On the second trip his mother accompanied him, and when they entered the chute the boy lit a match and discovered his father lying on the floor, apparently dead.

An inquest was held in the court house on Thursday evening before Coroner Duthie, and after hearing all available evidence the jury brought in the following verdict:

"Frank Murray came to his death on the 31st of January, 1925, in the engine room of the C.P.R. coal chute in the Fernie yard, through his clothing being caught on a broken flange on the driving shaft and his body being whirled around the shaft and beaten against the flooring.

"We consider that negligence is shown by the C.P.R. in not providing protection to the man operating the engine. We recommend that sufficient light be installed in the engine room and chute and that full protection be afforded to the operator against revolving parts."

GIRLS CLASS ENTERTAINED

The Entrance Class girls and their teachers were the guests of Mt. Fernie Chapter, I.O.D.E., at a banquet given on Thursday, Jan. 30. There were 46 girls present and over 50 members. The Ladies Aid of the United Church catered abundantly to the inner man—or woman. The tasteful decorations, carried out in the I.O.D.E. colors, and the smiling faces of those present, made a very gay and animated scene.

The Regent, Mrs. J. L. Gates, welcomed the guests on behalf of the Chapter, then all joined in singing "O Canada." Next, grace was said by the Regent and the diners sat down to a most delicious repast.

Community singing was an attraction between courses. The songs, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and "Some Folks Do," were followed by an address given by Mrs. G. G. Moffatt, by special request. Mrs. Moffatt addressed the audience as follows:

"In times gone by we were told that 'The hand that rocked the cradle ruled the world.' In other words, a woman's influence counted just as much toward the progress of the world as a man's vote. But all the while you were growing from babyhood to girlhood there was also growing among a certain faction of womanhood a feeling that they wanted something more tangible and practical than mere influence in sharing the destiny of the world (or that's the way they expressed it) and they began to clamour for woman's suffrage and to be on an equality with men. Considering that they had the same mental grasp of the big issues of the day as most men and no voice or vote in which to demonstrate their proficiency, they made rather a clatter about it but no one paid much attention. At last some of the more determined of these clamourers decided that if they could not get the ear of parliament and the powers that be, by fair means, at least they could get the attention of the public by foul ones. So armed with hammers, matches, acids, etc., they smashed shop windows, burned churches, destroyed letter boxes and marched through the streets with banners and posters demanding votes for women. They were known as the militant suffragettes and succeeded in making a frightful nuisance of themselves and got nowhere. It was a common sight in London, England, the headquarters of these emancipated females— thank goodness Canadians were too sensible to do that sort of thing—to see a kicking, screaming woman with her hammer being hustled along as gently as possible between two grinning policemen, who did not take them very seriously at first. People shrugged their shoulders and thought, 'Good Heavens! Fancy! Irresponsible, hysterical creatures like that having a vote. What would the country come to?'

"So it went on. Women had themselves chained to gate posts and palings, went on hunger strikes, tried and succeeded in many cases in destroying pictures and other valuables in public buildings. But to no avail, except the loss to the nation and discomfort and inconvenience to the public. Museums and picture galleries had to be especially guarded. One could get into Westminster Abbey only by special permit. I remember myself walking into a public building with an umbrella in my hand. It was very politely taken from me by a uniformed commissionaire—'Sorry, madam, but the suffragettes have made it necessary to take every precaution,' and that's as far as 'the shrieking sisterhood,' as they were called, got with the public with their destructive methods—just unsympathetic indifference.

"Then, like a bolt from the blue, war was declared. In the stress of the times the militant suffragette was forgotten. As the men joined the fighting forces in France. quietly, one by one, women filled their places at home. Mothers, wives and sisters took on their jobs in banks, factories and business of all sorts. even as public servants such as tram and bus conductors, porters, ticket agents, etc., all very quietly and unostentatiously, but so effectively and efficiently that parliaments and people in general began to think. Soon one began to hear what splendid work women were doing; and later, surely if women have the constructive ability to pick up and carry on like this, they are entitled to their vote. Why shouldn't they? First thing we knew before we could say 'Jack Robinson' we were enfranchised. And here we are, rocking the cradle with one hand and casting a vote, as good as the best man's in the country, with the other—and how are we going to use it?

"Men for all ages have known as soon as they could realize it, that as soon as they are 21 they could vote, and naturally took an interest (at least we hope they do) in civic, provincial and federal affairs. So that when the time came they could vote intelligently—but it has been sprung on women. Notwithstanding we have been rocking the cradle successfully for generations we can come jolly near 'rocking the boat' with our votes. Our influence (expressed by the metaphor 'rocking the cradle') was a matter of daily domestic discipline in our own homes and families and in comparison voting (so suddenly thrust upon us) is a sort of diversion like something exciting happening in somebody else's house—interesting in an abstract way but not personally or vitally. Because you see lots of us didn't want to be given the right to vote. But we have got it and as I said before what are we going to do with it? Well, in the first place, we have to make it part of that daily discipline. Because to vote intelligently we must before everything be good citizens; if we are not good citizens ourselves we can't possibly appreciate good citizenship in others. Therefore, when the time comes for us to vote (and you have all got to, every one of you, in a few years) for some man or woman who is to represent you, in your town, in your province or in your Dominion, you must be prepared to do so intelligently, for your own good as well as the public's. What on earth would you be good for (as far as citizenship is concerned) if you voted for a man because he had a kind face, or turned down a perfectly splendid woman because you didn't like her little girl when you went to school with her. I've heard just as silly reasons as that given for and against. So you must begin now to learn to vote intelligently.

"You are too young to understand party politics and that sort of thing; but you are not too young to begin trying to be good citizens. What is a good citizen? Supposing anyone asked you bang off like that, 'What is a good citizen?' What would you say? Well, I think a good citizen improves his own property and respects other people's property and especially respects public property. By public property I mean the streets you walk in, the boulevards people have carefully made in front of their houses, the trees planted in the streets and the public buildings, post office, schools, city hall and places like that. Therefore if we go into a shop and buy some candy or a banana and come out and throw the paper bag or banana skin in the street, we are not good citizens, because we are making the streets untidy and not considering other people's feelings. When we take short cuts across boulevards (they are not meant to walk on, you know) or break the branches of trees, we are destroying what some citizen has gone to great trouble and expense to construct in order to make his city beautiful. If we deface the walls of public buildings with chalk or pencil or make unnecessary noise in them we are not good citizens, because we are making a nuisance of ourselves and putting the government to extra expense. And we are frightfully bad citizens if we throw tin cans and ashes and all sorts of rubbish we want to get rid of in the streets and alleys. It is a great want of respect to public property and inconsiderate of other people's feelings. It is so easy to have a big covered receptacle or even a barrel to put rubbish and tin cans in and the city will take it away at regular intervals.

"Now we come to personal property. As I said, a good citizen improves his own property. Season upon season, year upon year, he plants trees and shrubs and lays or makes a lawn. He adds a verandah here or a sleeping porch there until his house is a real comfort to himself and an ornament to the town in which he lives. You can understand how badly he or she would feel to come out some morning and find a choice shrub broken or a whole bed of flowering bulbs pulled up or a tree cut down. I'm not suggesting for an instant that any of you would do it, but these things do happen. People's property is not always respected. As I told the girls before, I myself saw a grown up man and woman wreck in a few minutes a beautiful flowering shrub that had taken years of cultivation to bring to perfection, and I have seen a man drive his delivery cart up on a boulvard, stand on the seat and break the top off a tree to use as a whip. While I think of it there is that little matter of Xmas trees. How often we grown ups have said or heard said, 'Xam tree, of course, but aren't you big enough to get one for yourself this year? You try,' thinking quite rightly to encourage self-reliance and initiative, and quite forgetting that we are also encouraging trespassing and want of respect for other people's property. No matter where they grow they belong to somebody and they must have some value or they wouldn't be in such demand. All these things do not tend to good citizenship.

"If I have time there is but one more thing I want to speak of. All of us do not live in our own houses and therefore think there is no incentive to improve our surroundings. In that too I can speak of my own experience. When I was hardly as big as any of you girls I remember my grandmother, who had a great deal to do with my bringing up, saying, 'My dear, some day you will probably marry and go out into the world and as young people do not begin where old ones leave off, you will probably start your married life in rented houses or you may be moving about from place to place. I want you to remember this piece of advice that I am going to give you. Always leave a house in just as good condition when you go out as when you came into it, and if possible a little more attractive to the passer-by. If it has a garden keep it up and improve it. It will give you an outdoor interest and make you healthy and happy. If there is no possibility of a garden have window boxes and remember the rent you pay for a house does not make it yours to deface or abuse should you be so inclined. It is still the property of another person and demands your respect. Therefore, if by accident or carelessness, a paling gets knocked off or a window broken, or the gate sags, put it right at once. It is your obvious obligation to repair all damage done by you to other people's property.' Well, I did marry and went to live in a very dingy city and had lots of experience to put into practice my grandmother's advice and to profit by it. It paid. It always does pay to be a good tenant and a good tenant is a good citizen.

"So you see it is your legal as well as your moral duty to respect all public and private property and to form your ideals along constructive lines, if you would be a good citizen and vote intelligently and continue, as women began, to rule the world."

The next items on the program were:

Song—"It Was a Merry Lad and Lass."

Recitation—"When Father Shaves',' by Marion Mangan.

Song—"Li'l Liza Jane."

Recitation — "Larry O'Dee," by Mary Campbell.

Song—"Kentucky Babe."

Song—"John Peel."

Closing remarks by Mrs. Gates as follows:

"After such a splendid address from Mrs. Moffatt, which we all enjoyed, and the excellent program from the girls, I will add but a few remarks.

"The motto of our Chapter is 'Our Country First.' We have been told that women have not been great artists, poets or musicians, but we know that for every man who has become famous, some faithful woman watched by his side, giving her love, service and sacrifice. Abraham Lincoln said, 'God bless my mother. All that I am, or ever hope to be, I owe to her.' Women have a great influence in the home and in the nation, but we must accept our duties. No woman can afford to neglect them, be it either her home or her children. She must do the tasks that lie nearest at hand.

"Unless we make good in our school duties and our future life work, we cannot make good in our homes as a wife or mother. Home is the dearest spot on earth and you girls will some day have your own homes, and no matter how humble they may be you must play your parts to make them happy. The home which fosters clean minds and kind hearts is God's temple; and the pure spirit of a good home, whether it be rich or poor, is one of the grandest things in the world.

"As Mrs. Moffatt said in her address, 'The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world,' but we don't rock the babies any more. However, there was a big meaning to that saying. Women did not have the vote in our grandmother's day. But we can begin from infancy and set an example to our children; we can teach them to realize the duties and blessings of Canadian citizenship. We all need a deeper love and loyalty to the land in which we live; we must have unity of aims and action; we must back Canadian institutions. True patriotism runs deeper than self-interest, party feelings or flag waving. We can revere and obey the laws of our land; we can do our part by instilling the good old principles into our children. We need more faith in God, our country, our fellow men and women. We need to think soberly and act courageously; we need both vision and fearlessness. We can teach national unity. Let us all work and strive together to this end, for in so doing we will make our country greater and more beautiful. What a Canada we would develop—a joy to the other nations of the world. You girls, who are on the threshold of womanhood, you will have to take your parts—so far you are having an excellent chance. Resolve to rise, nothing can hinder your success. Don't make excuses; make good. Don't, by wishing and dreaming, waste your time, but go earnestly on with your work. Refuse to be defeated. You as Canadians have a right to all this land has to offer; you can aspire to the highest and greatest.

"We are glad to have you here as our guests tonight. This Chapter is very interested in your welfare and education. We hope you will all pass on to the High School with honors, and we sincerely hope that you will be able to complete your High School course. You will then be fitted to take your place in the world.

"In conclusion I may add on behalf of Mt. Fernie Chapter that the members wish you every success in your school work and hope that your future life and work may be happy and successful.

"I wish to express my thanks to Mr. Martin for the lovely program, to Miss Wolfden and Miss Dicken in preparing such an excellent program, to the girls for their kind assistance, and to the Ladies Aid of the United Church for the splendid dinner provided, which we all thoroughly enjoyed."

A speech of thanks on behalf of the girls was most capably given by Dora Starr. She spoke as follows:

"Madam Regent and Ladies of the I.O.D.E., I feel very much the honor of being chosen this evening to express the feelings of the Entrance Class girls, who extend to you their most cordial thanks for the very delightful time enjoyed so much by all of us.

"Since we first heard about the banquet we have been looking forward to it with great excitement, and, I am sure, our expectations of a good time have been more than realized. In the past we have had many opportunities of becoming acquainted with the members of the I.O.D.E., through their repeated kindnesses to the pupils of the Public Schools of Fernie. This banquet, which has become an annual event eagerly anticipated by the girls, will indeed be a happy memory in days to come.

"I should also like to say how much we have appreciated Mrs. Moffatt's splendid and instructive address, and I am confident we shall go away tonight feeling inspired by the very helpful words of Mrs. Gates.

"I am sure I voice the feelings of every girl present in saying how much we all enjoyed the kindness of the members of the I.O.D.E., and I am now going to call upon the girls to rise and join me in very hearty applause to the ladies."

The last item was a song, "Good Night," followed by "God Save the King."

LIFE AND BUSINESS

Glasgow Herald: The essential feature of the business man, of any type, is that he has a sense of actuality and is not a fool, a fanatic or a doctrinaire. He has come to close quarters with every day life, and in the struggle has developed character and wisdom. Struggle has not been lacking in the careers of the men who rule Russia, but they have struggled with the abnormal and have intensified their own abnormality. There is not one of them who can be called a business man, for the business man gets business done. The abnormal type of active man is a good deal worse than those "luxury idiots" to whom Sir James Crichton-Browne referred in a lecture on the causes of mental activity or atrophy. For the "luxury idiot," the product of a long line of lazy and self-induugent ancestors, is merely a passive and effete burden on society, and his doom comes naturally by economic pressure. Struggle is essential to healthy existence. Is it not in its ultimate intention of eliminating this struggle, and of producing a whole race of "luxury idiots," that the fundamental fallacy of Socialism consists?

"Distant Relatives" are not invariably distant, however, unless you are poor.

ROBT. DRINNAN MAKES GOOD

and the name of Robert G. Drinnan stands high among those honored individuals who have aided in the development of the raw resources of the Canadian West.

Though he may not be considered an outstanding wealthy man, he is prosperous, and what is more, contented and satisfied. His object has never been the aggregation of personal wealth. His success in life is the greatest of all successes, because he has directed his energies, and lent all his capabilities, toward a national end and Dominion prosperity rather than along selfish lines. No one in Canada holds more elevated and influential positions in the particular line of work he selected for himself, and this is the accomplishment of 35 of his total of 53 years.

Mr. Drinnan was born in Linlithgowshire, Scotland, on the 12th of October, 1872. At the age of 16 he became an apprentice mining engineer in Glasgow, where he remained from 1888 to 1894. He apparently had no doubt about his life work, and once turning his mind to mine engineering he did not swerve from it. He completed his apprenticeship with a thoroughly equipped knowledge of his profession, and when this period was over, went to work in coal mines in the southern area of Yorkshire, where he spent three years from 1894 to 1897.

In the latter months of 1897, he came to make a study of Canada, and was impressed by its wealth of undeveloped mineral resources, becoming particularly interested in the vast coalfields in Western Canada, upon which some attention was being directed, and some exploitation taking place at the instance of the Canadian Pacific Railway. He decided that the future held greater opportunities for his profession in the Canadian West, and in the beginning of 1898 he sailed for Canada.

In the first place he travelled across Canada to the Kootenay district of British Columbia, where he secured work in the metalliferous mines and stayed for the remainder of 1898, going at the beginning of the following year to Vancouver Island. Here, at Nanaimo, he was engaged as a mine surveyor, and remained until the end of 1901. He then became superintendent of Fernie mine of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., which position he held until 1907, leaving to take the position of manager of the Hosmer Mines, Ltd., of the Canadian Pacific Railway. From 1909 to 1913 he was engineer for the North Alberta Coal Syndicate, and following was the manager of the Hillcrest Colleries, and then for a year general manager of the Codomin Coal Co.

At the present time Mr. Drinnan is managing director of the Mountain Park Colleries, Ltd., managing director of the Luscar Colleries, Ltd., director and consulting engineer of the North American Colleries. For the past seven years he has been established in Edmonton as consulting engineer, and has been largely instrumental in the opening up of the big bituminous area of Northern Alberta.

For himself, his make-up is largely that of the man who has made an outstanding success of his life and reached the supreme degree of satisfaction through the knowledge that his efforts have benefited his country and his fellow man rather than tended towards personal aggrandize ment. He is of a most genial disposition, and has created a reputation in labor circles for his peculiar ability in equably dealing with his workmen and for the faculty of drawing able lieutenants and subordinates about him. In every respect his life has been an outstanding success. He has given to Canada as much as Canada gave to him.

WHY BRITAIN FALTERS IN THE AIR SERVICE

Chicago Tribune: Great Britain has begun a huge program of aircraft building. She will treble her forces. Before the end of 1925 she will have 52 squadrons. That will make Britain a great air power. She will be almost half as strong as France in the air. We congratulate Britain on her energy and sacrifice for the good of her air fleet. We wish our Congress could see the value of air power, too. But air power costs money. Congress thinks we can't afford it. Britain, too, is much restricted in her air development. Britain is paying her debt to the U.S.A. That takes money that might go into airplanes. Only France can afford an air fleet two or three times the size of anything on earth. France is not paying her war debt to America. She can put it into air power while Britain struggles to pay her honest debts and build what air fleet she can. It is only fair to debt-paying nations that America insist on the French payment of debts. It is not right that the price of paying honest debts be military insecurity.

CIVIL SERVICE SALARIES

Announcement has been made that the civil service salaries are due for revision, and that a commission has been appointed to take this matter up with department heads. It is also reported (and no doubt this will be a relief to many) that they are not liable to be reduced, for most of them would not stand being much lower.

But there is undoubtedly room for some change in the number employed. During the past year, particularly during the session of last year, there was considerable complaint that the number of civil service employees was out of all proportion to all requirements; that many of them had a hard time putting in their hours; that numbers of them merely reported in the morning, and then spent the greater part of the day in outdoor games of various kinds.

Probably some of these stories were exaggerated; most of them no doubt referred to isolated instances; but there was evidently considerable truth in the reports, and the investigation at present under way is the outcome.

It would therefore seem that the civil service lists might quite properly be reduced somewhat, and that thus considerable saving would result without the necessity of reductions, which, as stated, would inflict a hardship on at any rate a great many, who even now are not getting more than a scant living out of it.

It has been frequently said, and with some truth, that it is hard to get men to be honest who are inadequately paid, and that thus the loss to the country is much greater than a less amount paid in better salaries would represent.

But, as intimated, there is no doubt considerable truth in the statement that the service is overmanned, and that an equal amount of work could be done with a considerably smaller number of employees.

Many will await the report with interest and anxiety, and it remains to be seen whether or not the commission will be able to bring in a recommendation which will have the effect of making such changes as will materially affect the cost of administration so far as this branch is concerned.—Vernon News.

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

Teach your child Internal cleanliness

THE mother who permits constipation in her baby or older child is risking the health, even the life, of her little one.

Fretfulness, feverishness, night terrors, grinding the teeth in sleep, biliousness, coated tongue, loss of appetite, any of these may indicate constipation. Poisons from the child's stagnant intestine are flooding the little body, and if left unchecked may lead to serious consequences.

Avoid Laxatives—Say Doctors

A noted authority says that laxatives do not overcome constipation, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition.

Medical science has found in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and hastens its passage through and out of the body. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Let your infant or child have Nujol regularly, and see rosy cheeks, clear eyes and happiness return once more.

Nujol is used in children's and general hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 10 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

MOTHERS LIKE TO TREAT COLDS WITH VAPORS

Direct Treatment with Vaporizing Salve Immediately Reaches Inflamed Air Passages.

It is no longer necessary constantly to dose the children in treating croup, bronchitis, sore throat, or deep chest colds. Many Canadian mothers now use the "outside" remedy, Vicks VapoRub, for the cold troubles of all the family, because it is just rubbed over throat and chest—there is nothing to take. When so applied Vicks gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled directly into the inflamed air passages, loosening the phlegm and making the breathing easier.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed and stimulates the skin like a liniment or plaster and thus aids the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

AN American exchange says: The consensus of opinion with throughtful men and women is, that a firmer hand will have to take hold of the bootlegger. He is resorting to the same tactics of the old-time saloon keeper, who cultivated the appetite of the youth so that his supply of customers would not be exhausted in time. This greed of the saloon keeper for the youth of the land had more to do with wiping out of the the saloon than any other one agency. Not all of the salon keepers were guilty of this practice, neither are all bootleggers trying to contaminate youth; but those who are guilty are uniting men and women of liberal minds around the idea of strict law enforcement and the punishment of the bootlegger. There are men who like to take their drink on the side; this is not strange for they were reared in a day when the brewery was a legitimate industry and the saloon a commercial house just as other business houses. A generation ago the liquor traffic was differently regarded from now. Today the mind revolts against a drunken youth. This revolt is earnest because it is undermining manhood.

BOARD OF TRADE LUNCHEON

Mr. Herchmer spoke at length upon matters pertaining to the Board of Trade. Hitherto the citizens of the town seemed to be content to let George do all the work, but now a big effort was going to be put forward to get the whole town behind that body and see if something could not be done to put Fernie on the map. W. R. Wilson, a man of great wealth, was spending years of his life in an endeavor to make a success of the biggest industry, and also to push Fernie into the front ranks among the live towns of the west. The miners of Fernie had accepted a big cut in wages and sacrificed a great deal in order that Fernie might not become a decadent city, and now it was up to the business men to get busy and all pull together. There was no reason in the world why there should be any difference of opinion between the miners of Fernie and the business people, and the quicker everybody realized this the better for the town. Let us all get together and boost for Fernie.

Mr. W. McPherson, of Vancouver, who was in the city in connection with Home Bank affairs, spoke briefly of affairs at Ottawa in connection with the present session of the House and strongly advised that as many telegrams as possible be forwarded at once to the Hon. Dr. J. H. King in order to strengthen his hands in his efforts to secure reimbursement for Home Bank depositors.

A resolution along these lines was accordingly passed and a committee of seven with G. G. Henderson as chairman was appointed to take charge of the campaign.

On motion it was decided to make the Board of Trade luncheon a monthly affair.

The meeting then adjourned.

NO man has harder people to serve than the minister of the gospel. His critics are many, and the criticisms varied. A Texas paper comments as follows: "The preacher has a great time. If his hair is gray, he is old. If he is a young man, he has not had experience. If he has ten children he has too many; if he has none, he isn't a good example. If his wife sings in the choir, she is presuming; if she doesn't she isn't interested in her husband's work. If a preacher reads from notes, he is a bore; if he speaks extemporaneously, he isn't deep enough. If he stays at home in his study he does not mix enough with the people; if he is seen around the streets, he ought to be home getting up a good sermon. If he calls on some poor family, he is playing to the grandstand; if he calls at the home of the wealthy, he is an artistocrat. Whatever he does, someone could have told him to do better."

* * * * * *

A CALIFORNIA girl shot her mother to death for chiding her on going out at nights. A little chiding with a slipper a few years ago would probably have made a difference.

CHANGE OF MANAGEMENT

The retirement of Mr. Johnson from the management of the Fernie Meat Market is announced. Mr. Edgar Davis, for many years connected with the Cranbrook Meat Market at Cranbrook, has been appointed to the management of the Fernie Market. Mr. Davis is a practical butcher and comes to Fernie conversant with every branch of the trade.

Mr. Davis assumes charge on February 15th.

THE BEER REGULATIONS

Vancouver, Feb. 2.—The beer regulations are not all overwhelmingly satisfactory to the local hotel men, who are already planning to send a delegation to Commissioner Davidson requesting modifications.

They claim the regulations are not of a nature that will make the hotelmen anxious to conform strictly to the law.

They are not so greatly concerned regarding the prohibition of meals in beer parlors, but are incensed at the prohibition of soft drinks and cigars, claiming many men entering beer parlors with friends would likely take soft drink instead of beer.

The $1000 fee is stated to be so high that it will not permit many hotelmen to carry out the building improvements planned.

Victoria, Feb. 2.—British Columbia's new beer halls will operate from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m.; there will be no bars or bar maids; dancing will be taboo and the rules are designed to prevent any return to the "beer cabaret" so prevalent in Vancouver some years ago, according to the beer regulations announced by the Attorney General today.

"We have applied ourselves to the single instructions of the legislation. It is a straight case of relief to a parching thirst in the simplest manner possible," said Hugh Davidson, sole liquor commissioner.

It is specified that patrons may enter halls from a door opening on the street. Beer premises in practically all cases will be part of an hotel, but there must be no door connecting with the hotel.

Before patrons enter they may glance in through the window if they wish, for no blinds or screens are to be allowed; the inlook, like the outlook, is open to the public.

The room will contain chairs, tables and waiters. Only young men who are British subjects and otherwise eligible to get on the voters' list can be employed. The commissioner thus hopes to head off an invasion of foreign ex-bartenders.

The proprietor likewise must be British and eligible to vote.

The upstanding bar and brass rail will be conspicuous by their absence, and this is expected to eliminate the system of wholesale treating in vogue in the old days. Beer, and beer only will be sold. Licenses do not provide for light or heavy wines, or for porter or ale or even soft drinks and sandwiches.

Draught and bottled beer will be on sale with as high as 4½ per cent alcoholic content, and not lower than 3½, it being considered by experts that this strength will give the best tasting and most wholesome drink.

The commissioner may at any time question the licence holder regarding particulars of loans or mortgages against his property, put on either before or after the licence is issued.

Provision is being made for sale of beer in the "wet spots" only of those electorate districts which voted for beer in the June plebiscite. Thus, whatever licences are issued in Vancouver will be in downtown polling divisions which voted "wet."

Twenty-three electoral districts in the province voted "wet," and 17 "dry."

There are no provisions in today's regulations for the issue of licences in any of the 17 districts, though there were some definitely "wet" sections in these "dry" areas. In this particular, as in others, it is claimed that Mr. Davidson has steered rather to the "dry" side of the channel in the inauguration of B.C.'s experiment in beer.

Vancouver hotelmen mustpay $1000 each for beer licences. It is unknown how many will be issued, estimates running from 30 to 70.

Applications will be considered in detail by the commissioner. He will examine the various premises, study the neighborhood's needs, and then decide how best to meet requirements of workingmen and others who may wish to patronize the emporiums.

Victoria, New Westminster and Kamloops voted against beer, so that the next class of city to obtain the glass system will include Nanaimo and Fernie. They will pay $500 for licence privileges.

The $300 licence class will include industrial towns up to 2500 population.

Then comes hamlets, where fees will be as low as $150 per year.

The commissioner will have very wide powers. His judgment is final in connection with cancellation or suspension of licences, for which no compensaton is allowed.

Municipalities cannot add other fees against licence holders. Provincial licence fees and profits will go into "general liquor profits account" and municipalities will share in these.

Applications must be advertised, and if neighbors object to any proposed licence, the commissioner will consider such objection before granting the licence.

Though freely urged in some quarters that serving of soft drinks and cigars, and especially of sandwiches and crackers, would be advantageous to the public, a number of objections to this course decided Mr. Davidson against them. He decided to keep as close to the letter of the plebiscite as possible; and it was also felt that the introduction of bottles containing soft drinks would multiply chances of promiscuous sale of hard liquor in the guise of soda pop.

In the case of soft drinks, objection was also taken by regular dealers in these wares.

Against the serving of sandwiches the same objection was urged by restaurants, who, of course, will have no beer licences.

No communicating door between the beer parlor and the rest of the hotel will be permitted.

Holders of beer licences will have no direct dealings with brewers. A chief beer vendor for the government will be intermediary, buying from brewers and selling to licencees.

A system of account has been worked out which is expected to provide an accurate check on beer taken from breweries.

WORLD EVENTS!

THEIR SIGNIFICANCE IN PROPHECY

WALTER F. SALTER
Canadian General Manager
International Bible Students' Association, Toronto, Canada.

Viscount Grey of Falloden: "Unless a definite disarmament policy is followed, the country will face a worse war than the last."—Montreal Daily Star.

Professor Angell: "There is no refuge from deadly gases. Over 1000 kinds are now available for warfare."—Daily Province, Vancouver, B.C.

E. D. Morel, M.P., England: "French finance is making Europe into a powder magazine and treaties are being openly violated."

Sir John Simon, M.P., England: "A million additional bayonets are available in Europe, more than were available before the war."

A PUBLIC LECTURE

The meaning of world events is of interest to all people at this time. A lecture will be given on the above subject by Mr. Walter F. Salter, Canadian general manager of the International Bible Students' Association. He is well qualified to deal authoritatively with his subject as he couples a broad knowledge of Bible prophecy with first hand information about world conditions.

Mr. Salter has travelled extensively in both the old world and the new; has recently returned from a visit to Europe where he investigated conditions in twelve of the principal countries, and comes to you with a message which arouses thought and carries conviction.

You owe it to yourself to hear a presentation of truth unbiased by national prejudice or political interest.

A snowslide one thousand feet long and many feet deep at Morrissey on Monday closed traffic on the G.N. for four days this week. The slide was cleared on Thursday evening. The mines have been sending their output for the past few days over the C.P.R.

When the local hotelkeepers discovered that the government had fixed the fee for Fernie beer licenses at $500, a lot of them nearly had heart failure. However, they are all applying. The fee charged is out of all reason and the regulations make it almost impossible, barring as they do soft drinks and cigars, for a house to make it pay. However, later on when the government has time to look into the matter thoroughly they will doubtless get down to business and arrange the regulations and licenses so they will look something like a business proposition.

CLEAN PICTURES UP TO PUBLIC

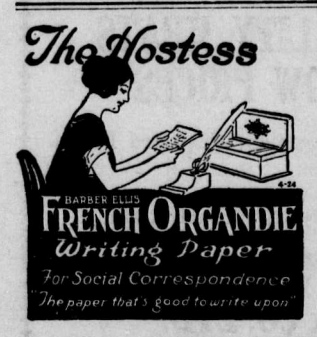
Vice pays—on the screen, virtue often doesn't make expenses. This summarizes the verdict of movie-theatre owners, and is in line with the experience of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America and of the Motion Picture News. It is, however, in contradiction to the usually expressed theory of reform agencies that the producers are responsible for placing degrading pictures before the public. Certainly some of the producers and owners care more for money than morals, according to the recent report of the New York State Motion Picture Commission. While acknowledging that the majority of pictures are not objectionable and that reputable producers recognize their obligations to society, the report states that "there is, however, a class of producers who apparently care nothing for anything except the returns which they receive from their product." This class of producers attempts to appeal to the sex instinct and is continually depicting crime and educating the youth of our land in the frailties of the human race. . . . The effect is to glorify vice and lawlessness and to make unattractive decent living, virtue and the observance of law." In proof, the Commission relates that during the year it eliminated 3214 scenes and 566 titles from 627 films out of a total of 9063 films examined. The grounds for elimination were: Indecent, 624; inhuman, 924; tending to incite to crime, 1318; immoral or tending to corrupt morals, 816; sacrilegious, 66; and obscene 32. In declaring for State censorship and criticizing the proposal that exhibitors or theatre owners be made responsible for the viciousness of films, the report declares: "What those who make objectionable pictures desire is a license to put anything upon the screen which, in their judgment, will produce box-office receipts, regardless of its effect upon the morals of our people or society in general." Again, The Bulletin of the Massachusetts Parent-Teacher Association states that the National Congress of Parents and Teachers has withdrawn from the Committee on Public Relations of the motion picture industry because of "the continued release of films of undesirable character and of screen adaptation of books and plays for general circulation." However, from a sheaf of observations gathered and broadcast by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors we learn again that the public can get what it wants.

Sex pictures, according to J. A. Snyder, of Bessemer, Alabama, are no less popular than they have been in the past, although he believes that the trend of popularity is swinging in so far as Bessemer is concerned, toward the "flapper" or "jazz" type of picture. He regrets to report that many of the strictly higher type of pictures have been "dismal flops" in Bessemer. Writing in The Motion Picture News, he continues:

"We have tried our level best to give our patrons the better pictures, but they have not taken advantage of them in the past. We have played a number of them at a big loss to ourselves in our effort to give the public the type of pictures which we would be glad to do our largest business on, but we can not give them very many of that type when we lose money on them.

"You will notice that the tendency toward pictures in Bessemer is toward the 'sex' or 'flapper' type of pictures as only one or two exceptions to this class can be noted. We have not yet given up hope in trying to cultivate a love and appreciation for the better type of pictures such as 'Three Wise Fools,' 'The Old Nest,' 'Smilin' Through' and 'If Winter Comes.' We did very excellent business on some other pictures, but on an average it was unsatisfactory.

"Whenever the public of Bessemer will turn out in any appreciable numbers to see the better kind of screen offerings then is the time that we will concentrate our efforts on that kind of pictures, but under the circumstances we can not afford to discontinue the exhibition of the pictures of the 'jaz' or 'sex' type."



THE RAILROAD WORM TURNS

Winnipeg Tribune: An American newspaper gives an account of a new turning of the worm. In this instance it is the railroad worm that has turned. Weary of the aggression of reckless automobilists, it has struck back. The Chicago and Eastern Illinois brought suit against a Danville business man—or, rather his estate—for bumping into a locomotive, and has won the suit.

The offender, it was held, had no business driving on the track at the moment when a passenger train was passing. His carelessness resulted in the derailment of the locomotive and the death of the engineer. The fact that the automobilist and his car were smashed up was held to be of no consequence, as far as the railroad was concerned. That may have been moral justice, but the railroad wanted material justice in the form of a cash payment for damages sustained. And got it.

It is high time to halt the brutal violence inflicted on railroad trains by motor cars, and especially by flivers. Even a locomotive has some rights that an automobile is bound to respect.

The idea of taking action against trespassers on railroad tracks may be new in respect to automobiles. However, several years ago Sir William Mackenzie told members of the press gallery in Ottawa of a conference he and Sir Donald Mann had regarding cows that got past the cattle guards. The farmers caused the two railroad builders much annoyance by actions for damages when their cows were killed. Mackenzie and Mann started suit first the next time a cow was killed, claiming damages for a broken cow-catcher, and they won the case. The farmers were thereafter more careful with their cattle.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CRIME ANTIDOTE

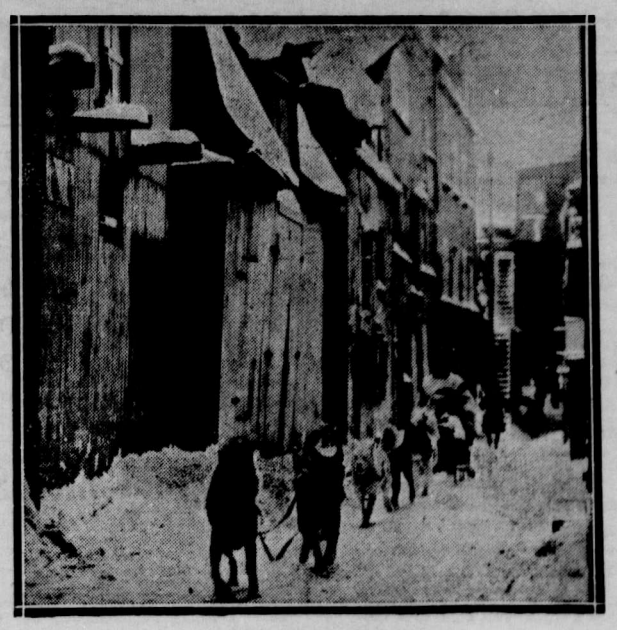
Regular attendance upon Sunday School during the period of character formation would cause the criminal courts and jails to close, for there would be no "raw material" to work on. This is not a platitude from the pulpit. It is an expression of belief of a judge who has had long experience. In the 18 years that he has sat on the bench in two courts, Supreme Court Justice Lewis L. Fawcett, of Brooklyn, has had more than 4000 boys less than 21 years arraigned before him, charged with various degrees of crime. But of this large number only three were members of a Sunday School at the time of the commission of their crimes. And, says Judge Fawcett, as he is quoted in the New York Herald Tribune:

"Even these three exceptional cases were technical in character and devoid of heinousness, so that they are scarcely worth mentioning. All three cases had a girl in them. In one, a young man who wished to make a pleasing impression on a new sweetheart, and not being well clad, stole an overcoat. In another, the young man was arrested for carrying a pistol without a permit. He said that he wished to protect himself against a gang member, who had become aggrieved because he had taken his girl from him. In the third, the young man drew a penknife on his opponent in a quarrel over a girl.

"In view of this significant showing, I do not hesitate to express the conviction that attendance by young men at Sunday School or other regular religious work, with its refining atmosphere, is signally preventive against crime and worthy of careful study by those who are dismayed by the increase of crime on the part of the young men of America.

"In 1092 suspended sentences, only 62 of the young men were brought back for violation of the conditions of their paroles. In each suspended sentence case I insisted upon the return of the youth, if he was a Protestant, to a Sunday School; if a Roman Catholic, to attendance at mass, and, if a Jew, to attendance at a synagogue or a temple. In each instance I had the earnest cooperation of the minister, the priest or the rabbi, and in each case I saw to it that the young man had a job to go to as soon as he was freed on parole. In virtually all of the suspended sentence cases the reform was quick and, I believe, permanent."

And the method that will produce the desired results in Brooklyn, believes Justice Fawcett, will produce them anywhere. Moreover, he is assured that what is good for the youth would be equally salutary with the adults. He asserts:



"The sustained, wholesome, moral atmosphere imparted through habitual attendance upon Sunday School and church will expel criminal impulses.

"Any man not contributing to support some church or organized religious work is living on charity—riding on some other man's transportation. If he really desires abatement of crime he should ally himself with those agencies which prevent or abate crime."

BACTERIOLOGY

The annual report of the British Medical Research Council is in part an admission that in some branches of disease but little or no progress is being made in the matter of locating causes and combatting them. Bacteriology is apparently stagnant, as the following paragraph from the report would indicate. It says: "While British workers abroad have made many advances of primary importance in the study of malaria, sleeping sickness, Malta fever, kala-azar and other troplical diseases, not one of the casual organisms of the common communicable diseases in this country (Great Britain) has been discovered in any of our university laboratories." The report points out that the next great step must be a step downward from the infinitely small to the infinitely smaller. The bacteriologist is seeking new eyes and until he finds them he has to content himself with speculations about a world which it is his mission to conquer.

The report speaks of the "invisible viruses which we have good ground to believe are the causative factors of many of our commonest diseases, such as measles, whooping cough, mumps, infantile paralysis, encephalitis, lethargica, possibly the common cold, influenza and many others." In this connection it says: "All over the world men are trying to find means for seeing, manipulating, and controlling these organisms, of whose existence we have at present only indirect proof. Our position in relation to them may be compared with that of the last generation towards the organisms now easily visible by ordinary microscopic means, before the work of Pasteur and Koch produced the method for their detection, isolation and artificial culture on which the whole modern science of bacteriology has been built."

Mush! Mush!

Through the streets of Quebec. Even driving through these historic by-ways in the calèche does not have the charm of a run through them in a husky-drawn carriole. There's a tang in the air and such an atmosphere as could be found nowhere else. Exhilarating and full of color and life. This is the Chateau Frontenac team.

SCOTLAND YARD AND CRIME

At a meeting of the senior officers of the Criminal Investigation Department (C.I.D.), New Scotland Yard, held recently, the discussion turned on criticism of the institution, which one critic had said should be reorganized from top to bottom. Such criticism to those afar off seems farfetched, inasmuch as New Scotland Yard and its methods are regarded as the last word in police efficiency to be found anywhere in the world, Paris not excluded. The refutation of the criticism was complete and there was one item of special interest, for critics have been endeavoring to point out that Scotland Yard should follow some of the very dubius methods which unfortunately are employed on this continent. In this connection Mr. Travers Humphreys asked if the meaning of an attack on the C.I.D. was that the police should alter the principle on which they acted in the investigation of crime. If it was, then he ventured to say that such a proposal was absolutely and dangerously wrong. Here are his remarks in this connection:

The principle had been—and long might it continue — that every man was innocent until he had been proved guilty. The method was not to arrest a man and then try to twist the evidence against him, but to ascertain the real truth, whether it told against the accused or in his favor. That was, broadly, the method of the present day and it was the admiration of the whole civilized world. It was approved by his Majesty's Judges and trusted by the British public, from which were drawn the juries who had to try the cases brought by the police. As long as that method continued, so long—he spoke as a member of the public—would the police continue to receive, as they would continue to deserve to receive, the confidence of the public.

TEA SUPPLY INADEQUATE —PRICES HIGHER

Tea prices are going up mainly because tea is being demanded by millions more people. Tea is the cheapest and certainly one of the most palatable and satisfying beverages known. But the tea growers have been unable to meet the tremendous demand. It takes three years for a tea bush to mature to the plucking stage.

"Ah see yo' is housecleaning," said Mrs. Snow White.

"Yes," replied Mrs. Marsh Green. "Day is nothin' like moving things 'round once in a while. Why I des come across a pair of slippers under de baid Ah hadn't seen foah five yeahs."

MR. WELLS' PHILOSOPHY

It would never do for Mr. H. G. Wells, the English novelist, to live in this Western portion of the New World. He seems to lack wholly and absolutely that optimism which is regarded as an essential to material progress. The admirers of Mr. Wells describe him as possessing vivid and penetrating vision, as having prophetic intuition and as being saturated with remedial speculations and suggestions. No doubt he is an original thinker, and so is Mr. Bernard Shaw. Mr. Wells is a Socialist, so that it is his metier in life to express dissatisfaction with most existing things. In his latest writings he has summed up his own attitude toward life, which tends to indicate that he wants a "Wells World" all his own. Here are his words:

I am against the clothes we wear and the food we eat, the houses we live in, the schools we have, our amusements, our money, our ways of tarding, our ways of making our compromises and agreements and laws, our articles of political association, the British Empire, the American Constitution. I think most of the food bad, the houses wretched, the schools starved and feeble, the amusements dull, the monetary methods silly, our ways of trading base and wasteful, our methods of production piecemeal and wasteful, our political arrangements solemnly idiotic. Most of my activities have been to get my soul and something of my body out of the customs, outlook, boredom and contaminations of the current phase of life.

Mr. Wells is consistently defiant of existing conditions. He can even spring blithesomely into the arena to weigh his opinion against Providence. Like Mr. Bernard Shaw, he has pride in himself, and, perhaps, a great well of pity, if not contempt, for everyone else. What mankind in the mass does is apparently all wrong in his conception of what ought to be. Far from subscribing to the doctrine of Nature as enunciated by Pope that "whatever is, is right," Mr. Wells gives the impression by his writings that he would were the power granted him,

Instruct the planets in what orbs to run,

Correct old time, and regulate the sun.

Mr. Wells, however, cannot be said to be making much headway in his undivided efforts to change the nature of man. He would perhaps have a uniform type that would subscribe to his own ideals. He does not believe with Persius that "There are a thousand kinds of men, and various is the nature of things; each man has his own inclination, and no one lives by the same ideal." The excerpt from his works we have quoted betrays the operation of his mind. He is a would-be social reformer whose writings a wide circle read with delight, but whose purely fantastic romances have a far greater circulation than his economic "rescripts." While he is a popular writer he has, as yet, failed to be elected to the British parliament. — Colonist.

FUDGE

2 squares chocolate, 2 tablespoons butter, 3 cups sugar, ½ cup water, ½ cup Carnation Milk. Melt butter and chocolate, in saucepan, add sugar, Carnation Milk and water. Cook until mixture forms soft ball in cold water. Cool without stirring; beat until creamy. Mold on buttered plate or waxed paper.

CARNATION CARAMELS

1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup white sugar, ½ cup corn syrup, ⅔ cup Carnation Milk. Mix well and boil, stirring often, until the mixture makes a firm, though not brittle, ball when dropped in cold water. Pour into a pan which has been rinsed with cold water and allow to cool without stirring or disturbing. When nearly cold mark into squares and cut when cold. If liked, nut meats or cocoanut may be laid in the pan before pouring in the candy. If chocolate flavor is liked, add one square of melted chocolate before the candy has finished cooking.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Mrs. R. Alstead has arrived back in camp from Corbin where she has been doing temporary duty on the teaching staff.

The management of the mines has posted a notice that they have got the required number of employees for the present and also a full waiting list.

Erick Benson has arrived back in camp after an absence of many moons.

The patrons of the English church whist drive and social to be held up here on Tuesday night are assured of a real honest to goodness time.

A very enjoyable radi oconcert was enjoyed on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fleming. Wm. Howarth was the manipulator.

The salubrious surroundings of Coyote street are proving attractive to residents of other streets as evidenced by the rush for houses in that district.

Bags containing instructions in connection with the Pythian Sisters measuring party to be held on Thursday evening next, have been freely circulated around the camp.

The Women's Auxiliary of the G. W. V. A. will hold a cake and apron sale on March 7.

The bachelor boys and girls of the camp gave a linen shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Eckersley.

Members of the G.W.V.A. and their wives, and members of the Women's Auxiliary are invited to a whist drive and social in the Vets rooms on Monday evening at 7.30.

Harold Wheeler received injuries on Thursday morning which necessitated his removal home.

The hockey committee desire to thank all who assisted in any way towards the success of their recent dance, especially the ladies for their generous supply of delicacies.

MORRISSEY MINES

A social evening and dance was held at the school last Saturday in honor of Mr. Lafek, of Merritt. Over thirty were present and all had a most enjoyable evening.

FERNIE LOSES AT KIMBERLEY

Fernie hockey team were defeated by a score of 7 goals to 2 at Kimberley last evening in the first of a two game series for the the Intermediate championship of East Kootenay. A Kimberley report on the game says that it was a more evenly contested game than the score would indicate but that the breaks were against the Fernie boys.

Kimberley comes here tonight for the second and deciding game of the series. The game positively must be played and will commence promptly at 8.45. Fernie team is strating out under a big handicap of five goals, but will be out to wipe off this deficit if it is humanly possible.

Bred to win and lay. Big boned, dark red, winter layers. Record in December, 20 hens layed 372 eggs. In January 20 hens layed 411 eggs.

I guarantee every egg shipped out to come from the matings as ordered and as represented by this ad. All infertile eggs will be replaced free if tested out not later than the 14th day and returned to me in the same package in which they were sent. By infertile eggs I do not mean eggs with dead germs. I take special pains in packing eggs in the very best possible way to assure safe arrival. Eggs are not sent out from pens that are not running strong in fertility, as proved by tests in my own hatchings. However, there are hundreds of things that may happen to eggs after they leave my hands, which will result in poor hatches, and if not what you consider a satisfactory hatch, entire order will be replaced at half price. Order from this ad.

CREATE LARGER PAYROLLS

Mr. W. L. Macken, of Chilliwack, past president of the Associated Boards of Trade of B.C., in a recent address before the B.C. products bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade, stated that the farm and manufacturing plants of British Columbia have a surprising variety of products.

Mr. Macken was urging home consumption. Millions in money that now goes away can be kept here, creating larger payrolls. That helps everybody.

FERNIE MUST WORK HARD

The Fernie mines, since the new agreement went into effect on Dec. 22, 1924, have been working fairly steady. This has become possible through the Company being able to reduce selling prices commensurate with the voluntary reduction in wages which the men accepted, retrieving a large proportion of the coke trade they lost six years ago through labor strife and high selling prices.

The Company realize that if permanency of operations at Coal Creek mines and Michel mines has to be brought about, it is imperative for them to regain every possible ton of business geographically available to them, both in the West and to the South. The market to the East is more favorably available to mines East of the Pass, and to the Central and Northern Alberta steam coal districts.

The Eastern markets have for several years been overwhelmed by ovr production of steam coals in Alberta and by the injudicious dumping of cheaply produced coal from Virginia, Pennsylvania and the State of Ohio. These uncontrolable circumstances have not only helped both to retard the progressive growth of Fernie for the last ten or more years, but have been a considerable factor in the creation of instability in current operations of both mines and coke ovens at the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company organization.

RELIEF WORK ON ROADS

The relief work provided by the provincial government in the Fernie district is in a fair way to being completed this month.

The work at Crow's Nest of widening the hill road around the south end of the lake will be finished on the 26th. Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather some valuable work has been done. The entire road has been widened until two cars can pass at any point. The cost of the work at Crow's Nest will be $10,000.

Good work has also been accomplished at the hairpin turn. The smaller turn on the far side has been completely filled in and the foundation for the trestle across the big cut is in place and the bridge will be rushed to completion before the snow goes. Just about $9000 has been spent on this work; the trestle will cost $3500 and another $1500 will complete the job. The original appropriation for relief work was $15,000, but the total amount spent will be in the neighborhood of $25,000.

The total amount of money spent in the district during 1924 was $85,000—$40,000 on bridges and $45,000 on roads, and it is to be sincerely hoped that we will be able to receive at least this amount for 1925. Fernie has 426 miles of roads, 125 gravel and 301 dirt, and it takes a lot of money for upkeep. In Supt. Hayne the district has a man who is a hustler and if given half a chance would make our roads a credit to the province.

It is stated that Ben Werden, pioneer hotelman of Fort Steele, whose place, the Imperial hotel, was burned down just before Christmas, intends to rebuild the hotel and have it ready for occupancy about the middle of May. It is not expected that the hotel will be rebuilt quite as large as formerly, but it will be large enough to take adequate care of the tourist troffic that reaches the historic town to remain over night. Fort Steele would not seem quite the same without the Imperial, and though it will have to be a new hostelry that arises, it will be the same name and the same genial proprietor.—Cranbrook Herald.

HOME BANK ANNONUCEMENT

Ottawa, Feb. 11. — An announcement with regard to the Home Bank depositors' relief is coming from the government soon.

This afternoon at the start of proceedings in the House E. C. St. Pere, of Hochelaga, put a query about it. When might something be expected? "I may say," the premier answered, "that I expect to make a statement on the subject to the house very shortly after the conclusion of the present debate."

KIMBERLEY LOSES TO TRAIL

Trail, Feb. 11.—Trail Intermediates tonight won the Intermediate Hockey championship of the Kootenays, when in the second successive night they turned back the Kimberley Intermediates by a one to nil score. Trail is now the holder of the Larson cup, having copped the Kootenay honors. In the two deciding games for the championship the locals were winners taking the series by a two to nothing score.

WANTED AT OTTAWA

Calgary, Feb. 12.—As a result of the wire sent to I. E. Weldon, chairman of the national committee of Home Bank depositors, by the Calgary executive, urging that pressure be brought to bear upon the government to announce its policy and assume its moral responsibility toward the depositors, H. H. Higginbotham, chairman of the local committee, and exMayor Henderson, of Fernie, have been invited to go east immediately.

A meeting of the national committee will be held Feb. 18, to decide on the depositors' next move.

Mr. Higginbotham leaves tomorrow evening, and it is hoped by the local committee that he will be asked to carry on similar work to that which he did in Ottawa during parliament last year.

The local bonspiel commenced on Wednesday night with 17 rinks in the draw. Eight games were played in the Grand Challenge on Wednesday and eight in the Burns last night. The Fernie Club competition will be on tonight. A full schedule of the games up to date will be published in next week's issue. The ice is in splendid shape and the interest in the competitions is very keen.

Up to date 21 hotelkeepers in the Fernie district have signified their intention of applying for beer licences. There will probably be two or three others from the western end of the district. How many will be granted its is hard to state. Quite a number are of the opinion that all applicants will be granted licences and that the number will be gradually reduced every time there is a violation of the law. If there are eleven licences granted in the city of Fernie it is a cinch that some of them are going to lose money as there will not be sufficient business to warrant that number.

Ernest Wood, for many years local manager for the Canadian Bank of Commerce, has received word that he has been appointed assistant inspector for the bank in the province of British Columbia. The promotion will necessitate the removal of the family to Vancouver. During their stay in Fernie, Mr. Wood and his amiable wife have always taken a prominent and active part in every move for the good and welfare of the city and their departure will be keenly regretted. They expect to leave in about two weeks time. C. G. Bennett, of Creston, has been appointed to Mr. Wood's position with the bank in Fernie.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Archie McLeod has again been elected mayor of Blairmore.

Phil. Christopher, M.P.P. for the Rocky Mountain division of Alberta, is in the city today.

Mrs. R. M. Young and two children, of Calgary, are the guests of Mrs. H. J. Johnson.

W. J. Twiss, of Vancouver, general agent for the Mutual Life, was a Fernie visitor on Wednesday.

A. Pisciol, a rockman in Mine No. 3, was brought to the hospital early Thursday morning with a comminuted fracture of the pelvis.

There will be a sale of home cooking in connection with the Valentine Tea which is being held in the basement of the United Church on Saturday, Feb. 14.

Mrs. Fraresso, of Natal, who has been in the Fernie Hospital for a major operation, returned to her home this week.

Miss Hilda Podrasky, of Michel, who recently underwent a successful operation for appendicitis at the Fernie Hospital, returned to her home on Sunday.

A tea sponsored by Mrs. Dr. Asselstine and the Fernie Swastika hockey club will be given at the home of Mrs. Asselstine on Wednesday, Feb. 18, from 3 to 7 p.m., in aid of the Fernie Intermediate hockey club. Gentlemen are especially invited.

The B.C. Miners' Association are considering very seriously the purchase of the old Methodist church building for a union hall and general meeting place. The property can be bought, we understand, for $10,000, which is a great deal less than half the original cost, and a prominent citizen has offered $1000 toward assisting the men in the purchase.

The regulations governing the sale of beer are to decide not only the character of the fixtures in the premises where beer is sold, but also the furniture with which such premises are equipped. This opens up the possibility of the development of a new British Columbia industry in the construction of Liquor Board chairs and tables.

The annual meeting of the Fernie-Fort Steele Brewing Co. was held in Fernie on Tuesday, when all the old officers and dierctors were re-elected. A dividend of 5 per cent was declared, payable on March 2. This is the second dividend in the history of the company and is largely due to the hard work and ecenomical methods of the manager, Harry Cox. A dividend of 2 per cent was declared once many years ago.

Joe. Aiello, who sent a telegram to Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, on behalf of the Italian depositors of the Home Bank, received the following letter in reply this week: Dear Sir: I have your telegram of the3rd instant on behalf of the Italian citizens of East Kootenay who suffered in the Home Bank crash. Let me assure you that I sincerely sympathize with them and that the matter will receive most earnest consideration.

The success attending the efforts of the committee in charge of the whist drives and social gatherings in connection with Christ Church received another upward leap on Tuesday, when twenty tables were occupied for cards. Vocal selections were rendered by Dr. G. Kelman and Mrs. Wood. Sandy Watson rendered his quota with the violin. The accompaniments were played by Miss Charlebois and Gordon and Evelyn Austin.

Alfred Cummings and Geo. Quail were on Monday appointed a committee from the Rotary Club to get busy on the swimming pool proposition and stir up the general committee who are supposed to have the matter in hand. At a public meeting held last summer a committee was appointed to choose a site and get the work going, but owing to the unsatisfactory condition of the industrial situation it was not thought advisable to proceed with the work. However, the site was selected and as the industrial situation has cleared there is no reason in the world why a start should not be made just as soon as the frost is out of the ground. The public are behind this worthy and badly needed community proposition and hope that there will be no further delay in the matter.

Come, meet all your friends and pass the most enjoyable evening you have ever spent at the Japanese Dance, I.O.O.F. Hall, Tuesday, Feb. 24.

John Garbutt returned on Wednesday from Nelson and other points in West Kootenay, where he was demonstrating the wonderful qualities of Fernie coal for steam purposes.

The United Church has secured the services of N. F. Brand, U. S. Consul, for a lecture to be given on Feb. 26, the proceeds to be in aid of the United Church Sunday School.

The annual meeting of Mt. Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. will be held in the council chamber on Saturdey, Feb. 14, at 3 p.m. A full attendance is requested. Fees for 1925 are now due.

The public is invited to attend the presentation of music certificates to Miss West's pupils in the United church on Thursday, Feb. 19, at 8 p.m. The pupils will give an interesting program. Admision free.

The next and last social to be held at the Catholic Hall before Lent will be given on Friday, Feb. 20. Whist from 8 p.m. to 10.30 p.m. Refreshments. Dancing from 11 to 1 a.m. Your patronage is kindly solicited.

A number of representatives from the Blairmore and Coleman unions have been in town this week seeking to secure information on how to keep their mines working when their markets are gultted by cheap eastern coal. They should ask Bill Sherman.

The Liquor Control Board has appointed Ed. Duthie liquor vendor in Fernie, to take the place of James McLean, resigned. The appointment will meet with general approval as Ed. is very popular and has been in the service for a number of years. No appointment has been made for the junior position.

There was a meeting of the Rod and Gun Club in the council chamber on Tuesday evening. Quite a number were present and important steps were taken to liven up the work for the soming season. The Rod and Gun Club did splendid work last year in stocking the lakes and streams of the district with trout spawn.

As announced last week, a play is to be given in the Grand Theatre, April 15 and 16, by the Fernie Players. The Fernie Players is an amateur dramatic culb which has been formed by a number of young people in town. They are working hard under the direction of Mrs. Connick and intend if this play is successful to attempt others from time to time.

On Thursday, Feb. 19, at 8 p.m., Miss West's pupils will meet at the United Church to receive the McGill University certificates in music (practical piano and theory) won by them in 1924. There are 33 of these certificates. There will be an interesting program of pieces played by the pupils of various grades. The general public is invited to attend on this occasion. Admission free.

Rotarian John Springer, of Spokane, sole agent in that city for the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., was the chief speaker at the Rotary luncheon on Monday. Mr. Springer says that Fernie has the best coal in the world and that the people here are not advertising it anything like they should. "Why," says he, "if they had these coal fields down in Southern California they would have been known all over the world."

The Pythian Sisters and a large number of guests assembled at the I.O.O.F. Hall on Thursday evening, where the Sisters staged a novelty. The prizes for whist were awarded to Mrs. Blinston and Dick Phillips, the special prizes given on the measuring rod going to Miss E. Cartledge and A. Arrowsmith. Refreshments were served after which dancing was indulged in until midnight. The K.P. three-piece orchestra supplied the music.

Road Supt. Hayne will commence the work of building a new road into McBain's Lake as soon as spring opens. The new road will strike the southern end of the lake and a branch will run along the shore on each side. It is expected that the work will cost about $2500. Quite a number of Fernie people have bought property along the lake front and the new road will be a godsend as the one big drawback to McBain's as a summer resort has been the poor road into it.

DIRECTORS SENTENCED

Toronto, Feb. 10. — Richard P. Gough, vice-president of the Home Bank of Canada, who was found guilty on six counts of charges laid under the Bank Act in connection with the failure of this institution in August, 1923, was sentenced by Judge Coatsworth this morning to one year determinate and one year less one day, indeterminate, in the Ontario reformatory.

J. F. M. Stewart, director, who was found guilty on one count of negligently concurring in a false statement, was sentenced to one month in the provincial reformatory with four months indeterminate sentence.

S. Casey Wood, K.C., of Toronto, who was found guilty of negligently concurring in false statements, one for the month of February, 1923, and the other for the year 1923, was sentenced to six months and six months indeterminate in the reformatory.

Bail was renewed in the supreme court in the cases of the Home Bank directors sentenced by Judge Coatsworth earlier in the morning. Bail for R. P. Gough was fixed at $150,000, while J. F. M. Stewart and S. C. Wood were released on bonds of $100,000. After the formalities had been complied with the three men were liberated by the sheriff's officers until their appeals are heard.

Toronto, Feb. 10. — "I suppose there is nothing more to say in these cases, beyond that I concluded to do as I did in the others, pronouncing moderate sentences," remarked Judge Coatsworth, when he took the bench today to pass sentence upon the convicted directors of the Home Bank.

Pale and nervous, Mr. Gough arose and read a statement to his honor, his voice breaking at intervals. The statement said, in part: "I do not wish for a moment to be considered as arguing with your honor, but with the greatest respect I must state that I still think that I should no be branded as a criminal because I was deceived; because I did not discover conditions which your honor has pointed out I should have discovered, and which in the light of subsequent events, I might have discovered had I been more of a suspicious and less of a trusting state of mind. It would appear that the position I find myself in is due to my having relied on and believed in the integrity of men whose honesty and ability I had up to the last moment, and until it was all too late, no reason whatever to doubt."

Mr. McCarthy then asked for sentence upon J. F. M. Stewart. The prisoner, who was sitting at the lawyer's table, rose and in a distinct voice, punctuated by an occasional tremor, told the judge that he had been a director of the Home Bank for just one year when the crash came. He had been on a large number of directorates and on none of them had he ever done anything other than what he considered to be his honest duty as a director. The Home Bank mess had been made before he went on the board, and since he joined the board no depositor had lost a single dollar. Stewart referred to his chief business as that of a "citizen."

INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION

Canadian teachers and university students are planning a 65-day tour of Europe in June, with the idea of learning something about European university methods.

This is good business. But it is only a very small part of the picture.

Instead of small groups touring Europe every year or so and rushing from place to place trying to snatch up a few odd crumbs of information, Canadian university students should be registered by the hundreds in every university in the civilized world.

No better machinery for the advance of international understanding could exist than a carefully worked out student exchange system among the educated nations of the world.

Before the war Germany was the Mecca for post-graduate students in British countries. German students stayed at home.

One of the great contributing factors toward the Allied victory was the complete knowledge of German psychology and German thought processes brought back and spread by these British post-graduate students.

If the Germans had had as complete a knowledge of British and American psychology as British and Americans had of theirs, the war might never have been started.

The University of British Columbia should have quotas of students from Europe, from the Orient and from every nation of the world. It is as much the business of a university to turn out trade missionaries and peace missionaries as to turn out doctors of philosophy and bachelors of art.—Vancouver Sun.

OLIVER CABINET VIOLATES MANDATE

Vancouver, Feb. 7.—War on "beer by the glass" has been formally declared by the general ministerial association of Vancouver.

In a carefully worded resolution the association protests the action of the government as "a violation of the will of the people of the province."

Objection is taken to granting of licenses in Vancouver and Burnaby on the ground that the majority of only 78 in the former and only one in the latter were obtained, "by means of the highly questionable absentee vote."

It is pointed out that these were the only two constituencies of the Lower Mainland giving a wet majority.

General objection is taken on the ground that the vote of last year was indecisive.

Here and There

Mineral production in Canada for 1924 is estimated at $203,194,000, as compared with $214,079,331 in the preceding year, according to a preliminary statement issued by the Department of Mines. Metallic minerals accounted for $96,034,000 of the total, followed by fuels and other non-metallics with $73,830,000, and structural materials and clay products with $33,330,000.

The Port of Montreal created a new world record in 1924 for the amount of grain handled by any one port in any one year, namely, 165,139,396 bushels, while from January 1 to November 30 she handled 94,366,508 bushels more than her nearest competitor and 17,332,709 bushels more than the seven next busiest ports combined.

Described as the finest coastal vessel in the world, the "Princess Kathleen," recently launched by Lady Mount Stephen, widow of the late Lord Mount Stephen, a former president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, left Glasgow on January 15 on her ten thousand mile journey through the Panama canal to join the Canadian Pacific's fleet of coastal steamships plying the seaboard of British Columbia.

A historic pageant of some proportions is being planned by the Calgary exhibition board for this year, its object being to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the city by the old North-West Mounted Police in 1875. In the period which has since elapsed, Calgary has grown to be an extremely busy, modern city, having a population of 75,000. A stampede similar to those held in Calgary in previous years is also planned for this summer.

The itinerary of the "All Blacks," New Zealand's wonderful rugby team, hitherto unbeaten, in their tour of Canada, was announced by the Canadian Pacific recently. Landing at St. John, N.B., on January 31, from the company's steamship "Montlaurier," the team will proceed across the Dominion via Canadian Pacific lines. They will make short stays at Montreal, on February 1; Toronto, February 2; Niagara Falls, February 3; Calgary, February 6; Banff, February 7-9; Vancouver, February 10-21, and sail from San Francisco on the 25th. Calgary is giving them a ball and dance at the Palliser Hotel, they will take part in the Banff winter carnival, and will play teams from Vancouver and Victoria while on the coast.

Very heavy summer travel is anticipated by the Canadian Pacific Railway during 1925, especially to conventions on the Pacific coast of Canada and the United States, C. B. Foster, passenger traffic manager of the company, announced recently. Canadian and American railroads expect 150,000 persons to attend these conventions, some of which will be very large. At least thirty westward bound special trains, and as many eastward bound, will be provided by the Canadian Pacific to handle the delegates, Mr. Foster stated, and Banff and Lake Louise expect great seasons, as so many of the travellers will stop off at those famous mountain resorts. There will also be a very heavy movement to conventions in eastern Canada and the eastern United States.

SUBSIDY SOUGHT FOR COKE PLANTS

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—With the object of having coke made from Canadian coal to replace American anthracite in Canada, efforts are being made to induce the government to subsidize coke plants at Halifax, St. John, Quebec, Montreal and some Central Ontario points. The British Empire Steel Corporation is much interested in the scheme. In the plan, which a memorial to the government sets forth, subsidy is sought along the lines of the subsidy now granted to dry docks. This subvention, based on a percentage cost of the plants, is asked for a period of forty years. The government has come to no decision on the proposal.

THE COAL OPERATORS MEET GOVERNMENT

Edmonton, Feb. 9.—Coal operators of Alberta, representing practically mit representatives of the press, which coal is being mined, are in session with the provincial government today, for what appears to be an all-day discussion.

Premier Greenfield declined to admit representatives of the prss, stating that the conference was in the nature of a private discussion between the government and the operators, but that he would give a statement to the press on the conclusion of the conference. At noon, the premier had nothing to say and the meeting renewed its discussion after an interval for lunch.

Coal operators stated that the discussion was on the marketing of Alberta coal, the marketing in Winnipeg and Manitoba of Alberta steam coal, the anti-dumping act and other phases of the coal business of the province.

His Hearing Restored

The invisible ear drum invented by A. O. Leonard, which is a miniature megaphone, fitting inside the ear entirely out of sight, is restoring the hearing of hundreds of people in New York city. Mr. Leonard invented this drum to relieve himself of deafness and head noises, and it does it so successfully that no one can tell he is a deaf man. It is effective when deafness is caused by catarrh or by wholly destroyed natural drums. A request for information to A. O. Leonard, Suite 436, 70 Fifth Ave., New York City, will be given a prompt reply. [Adv.

THE LAST STATE OF RUSSIA

The system (Sovietism) from beginning to end is a failure. It is admitted that pure Communism has broken down, and the government has been forced to yield and allow a measure of private trading. State concerns are run at a loss. There is no capital for the development and maintenance of industry. The revenue is unequal to expenditure. The State, at its' wits' ends for money, is bankrupt. Foreigners who attempt to co-operate with the Russian government in trade find obstinate officialism thwarting them at every turn. The White Star Line, for instance, which opened offices in Moscow, were compelled to shut down. Fanatisism, blundering incompetence, despotism, and brute force have left the country sterile, with its wealth destroyed, its credit gone, its good name smirched, its future desperate.

It Looks Just as Well as it Rides and Performs

The final test of any automobile is performance and this is particularly true of the Chrysler Six.

To appreciate Chrysler riding ease, Chrysler roadability, Chrysler power and Chrysler agility, you must drive the car or ride in it.

Then you begin to understand why it is the talk of the country, why motorists invested $50,000,000 in its superior qualities the first year, why the factory built and shipped 32,000 cars during the same period.

But a visit to the Chrysler display rooms is a profitable experience in itself. You will observe at once that both the open and the enclosed models are far in advance of conventional ideas of design and beauty.

The low hung comfort of the Chrysler, the low roof, the graceful lines, the conservation of space, weight, height and length—all these are assets which every motorist is entitled to enjoy.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan. Dealers everywhere.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Fine for catarrh when melted in a spoon or snuffed up the nose and vapors inhaled.

Head and Chest Colds Relieved In a New Way

Inhaled as a vapor and, at the same time absorbed through the skin like a liniment, Vicks VapoRub reaches immediately inflamed, congested air passages.

This is the modern direct treatment for all cold troubles that is proving so popular in Canada and the States where over 17 million jars are now used yearly.

Splendid for sore throat, tonsilitis, bronchitis, croup, head and chest colds, catarrh, asthma or hay fever.

Just rub Vicks over throat and chest and inhale the medicated vapors. It quickly loosens up a cold.

You Can Get Windsor Iodized Salt From Your Grocer

Goitre—one of the most common and certainly the most disfiguring disease is now the most easily preventable.

Health authorities have recommended the addition of a minute particle of Iodine to the purest of table salt—Windsor. Your own physician will approve of Windsor Iodized Salt for table use and for cooking as the safest way to safeguard your family from dreaded goitre.

Windsor Iodized Salt may cure some cases of goitre if they are not of long standing, but it will prevent goitre in nearly every instance if used regularly.

Don't neglect a sane safeguard another day. At your grocers.

MAY HEAR HOME BANK DIRECTORS' APPEAL IN TOTO

Toronto, Feb. 10.—It is considered probable in legal circles that the appeals of the Home Bank directors against their conviction by Judge Coatsworth will be heard consecutively by the appellate court. The chief justice, it is stated by a lawyer who was engaged in the defence of one of the directors, may order all the appeals before the court "in toto" on the ground that much of the evidence to be considered and much of the argument to be heard would be along similar lines.

ZEPPLINS AND DISARMAMENT

In all probability the three-day crossing of theZR-3 will stimulate the many schemes on foot for the development of dirgibles as commercial vehicles. That Germany obtains better results from these craft than any other country is unquestioned. There seems no vaild reason whatsoever why she should not be allowed to construct them under supervision of foreign orders, and many reasons why that concession should be made. To enforce the decree for razing the Zeppelin factory at this time would follow too closely a policy which has proved a dismal failure since the war. That is the effort at one and the same time to crush Germany beyond recovery, and to demand from her a reparations bill which she has no hopes of paying without resuscitation of her commercial power.—Baltimore Sun.

PROTECTION FOR PEDESTRIANS

Springfield Republican: At the Battle of Gettysburg the total Federal losses in killed and wounded were 16,543; in Massachusetts the total automobile casualties in 1924 were 20,288. Of the 700 killed 260 were children, and of the 19,579 injured 5,548 were children. The casualties last year exceeded the casualtis of the previous year, of course. The casualty curve is always rising. Pedestrians get the worst of it, whether or not they are chiefly to blame. Of the 709 killed 450 were pedestrians, and of the 19,753 injured 11,160 were pedestrians. The streets are not only becoming unsafe for them, as never before in all time, their legal rights in the streets are being more and more questioned.

"Call me for the 3.15 train," ordered the guest, retiring early— to sleep soundly until awakened by a loud hammering on his door.

Even in Canada, contiguous and similarly populated, the chances of being murdered are as one against six in the United States. In England and Wales in 1921, according to the census bureau, there were only 202 murders, while in this country in the same year there were more than nine thousand. DANTE'S TRIP TO HELL DESCRIBED IN "INFERNO"

The name of the great Italian poet Dante Alighieri is known to almost everyone and is associated with his greatest work, which, for want of a better term is called Divine Comedy. or, in Italian, Divina Commedia. The "Divine Comedy" is composed of three great allegorical poems "Inferno," "Purgatory" and "Paradiso," which describe the poet's journey through the realms of the Hereafter. Although his works, according to Encyclopaedia Britannice, include 78 genuine poems, eight doubtful and 54 spurious, the Divine Comedy is by far the best known and by it alone Dante holds place as one of the half-dozen greatest writers of all time.

Upon the poem "Inferno" has been based the motion picture of that name which will be seen at the Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, and which has been creating something of a furore throughout the country. The picture is a William Fox product, directed by Henry Otto, who will be remembered as the guiding spirit in "The Temple of Venus."

"Inferno" describes that part of the poet's journey wherein he sees the souls of people who have sinned on earth undergoing eternal punishment in the various circles of Hell. This highly imaginative poem lends itself admirably to picturization and the production is accounted as one of the finest achievements of motion pictures. It is expected to arouse great interest in this locality.

LARGE FAMILY PARTY FOR ALBERTA FARMS

MANY more inquiries are being made in the United States for farm homes in New Ontario than ever before, according to a Dominion Government official stationed at Detroit, but Manitoba and northern Saskatchewan and Alberta is the objective of most of those now being sent north or who are negotiating to cross the line.

"I am sending a number this spring to northern Alberta, around Lac Labiche," said this agent. "In June, 1923, I sent from here to that place 35 people in one car, ALL THE FAMILIES OF THE FOUR PLAMONDON BROTHERS. They lived at Provement, Mich., and their parents originally came here from Quebec. These people were experienced farmers, had a little money and prospered from the first. They have written their friends and relations and are responsible for many more going into Alberta. There are many Quebec French in Ohio and Michigan and many of them are returning to British soil. I do not think it is an exaggeration to say that fifty per cent of all those now crossing the line both to the prairies and New Ontario, are former Canadians going home or Americans who have previously resided on Canadian farms."

THE city council has fixed the salary of the city magistrate at $100 per month. It is not such a great while since ex-Mayor Henderson did his utmost in the interests of economy to have the salary of Magistrate Whimster cut to $50 per month. In view of the fact that in 1925 there were only 84 cases, or one for every four days, $100 a month would seem to be at least $25 per month more than the job is worth.

ALD. Robt. Kerr, who is serving his first year on the council, does not evidently favor cutting salaries.

IT is to be sincerely hoped that the city will this year make a substantial grant to the public library. The library is recognized in every civilized country as one of the greatest educational institutions that exists and in the public interests the Fernie library has been too long neglected by the civic administration. A committee of citizens waited on the council last year to request assistance for the library, but were turned down cold by Mayor Henderson, but it is to be hoped that they will meet with a different reception this year.

ABRAHAM Lincoln was a plodder. He did not cry for opportunity. He accepted as his opportunity the simple materials God placed in his hands, and he hewed success out of them.

Many another man has done the same thing. Many a man and woman who is now looking for opportunity can find it in the same way.

Lincoln's educational library was composed of the Bible and the dictionary—a solid foundation today for any person's career.

One of the most eloquent lawyers this country ever produced owes his power of eloquence to the simple fact that years ago he was winter-bound in a hut in the mountains with nothing but Webster's dictionary for a companion. Through the long hours of the weeks and months he studied Webster's dictionary to divert his mind from monotony. Webster's dictionary became a passion with him. He learned its pages by heart.

And when spring and relief came, he found himself such a master of words that he is able to sway the multitude with his eloquence.

Too many men want to start at the top. They want to build the tower before they build the foundation. They are all front door; when you open the door you find yourself in the back yard.

Rather, should they seek a place in the sun, like the great Lincoln, use the simple materials they have at hand to fashion for themselves reputation.

IN Great Britain, in Canada, and in all parts of the British Empire, murderers are hanged. In France murderers are beheaded by a machine. In some parts of Germany murderers are beheaded with an axe. In some states of the American Union murderers are hanged; in other States murderers are electrocuted; in one or two States murderers are shot, and in one State murderers are poisoned with gas. In all the States many murderers are never punished. Almost every part of the world has its own peculiar methods of dealing with murderers.

The United States, being a comparatively new country, is most inclined to lethal experimentation. It is going to try a new and very interesting experiment. One criminal has been delivered to the medical authorities of a certain city, with power to deal with him as they seem inclined. The medical authorities are going to examine the brain of this murderer for the purpose of finding out whether there is anything abnormal about it. If they discover an abnormality they think that by removing it they can cure the man of his homicidal impulses.

If this interesting experiment should prove successful the eminent surgeons of the United States should have very busy times ahead of them, for there are many murderers in the United States, most of them yet to be adequately dealt with. Not that in saying this we have any intention of reflecting upon the general moral state of the United States. Those conditions are probably inevitable considering the fact that people from all parts of the world have been attracted to the Republic as a land of boundless freedom and equally boundless opportunities. The descendants of the old stock of the United States have quite as deep veneration for law and order as the people of any country in the world.

QUEEN DAHLIA STOLEN

Banff, Feb. 9.—The "All Blacks" took Banff by storm on the opening day of the 9th annual winter carnival. Their enthusiasm over everything won the hearts of the local people and visitors. Their part in the swimming meet helped put that event across.

From the moment they stepped off the train a state of war existed in Banff. A number of young ladies greeted them at the station with the first scrimmage of the snow battle. Taking them unawares, the young ladies won the first battle. But soon the New Zealanders stole the carnival queen, Miss Dahlia Schagel, and carried her off, a willing captive, it must be admitted, to the Buffalo park to see the animals and then to the Upper Hot Springs.

In the afternoon there was a running battle from town to the Cave and Basin, where the opening of the carnival was to take place.

The big stalwart rugby players waded through the deep snow banks, their faces beaming with enjoyment of it all. Both sides declared a truce while the opening of the carnival was in progress. R. S. Stronach introduced the delightful young queen, Miss Dahlia Schagel, of Fernie, who started the ball rolling by a speech of welcome to everyone.

COAL CREEK NOTES

The residents extend their sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Hartley on the loss of their first born, after a life of only 24 hours.

One was reminded of old times by the busy scenes up here on Saturday, it bing pay day at the mines.

Steve McNally has secured a position as watchman under the Company.

The girls sewing class in connection with the English Church held another of their delightful social evenings on Monday last.

The committee in charge of the whist drive and dance staged in the Club Hall on Friday night are highly pleased at the success attending their efforts, a very large number being present. A generous response was made to the appeal for refreshments. Mrs. Stewart and A. Mankusa won the prizes for whist, the consolation prizes going to Miss B. Coughlan and Percy Oakley. The Kielty aggregation supplied the music.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Hartley desire to thank the neighbors for their assistance and sympathy in the loss of their first born, Robert Edward; also the Coal Co. for train facilities for the funeral.

Coal Creek hockey team played a league game with the Bluebirds at Fernie on Tuesday night. Bluebirds 3, Coal Creek 1.

The Fleming Bros. appear to be getting good results from their radio outfit. Another enjoyable evening was spent on Wednesday.

All members of the L.O.O.M. and their wives and members of the W. O.M.L. are invited to a social gathering in the lodge room on Friday next, Feb. 20. Cards at 7.30 p.m. Refreshments and music.

Don't forget the date of the Vets lades sale of aprons and home cooking—March 7.

Watch the notice board for particulars of a social event to be held shortly by the Ladies Aid of the United Church up here.

An Italian employed in No. 3 mine received injuries to his thigh early Thursday morning. He was conveyed to Fernie.

A large number from here attended the novelty social given by the Pythian Sisters in Fernie on Thursday evening. The first prize at cards was won by Bill Suart, and Arthur Arrowsmith won the prize for being the shortest gentleman in the assembly. Both are residents of this camp.

Jack Quigley, another old timer up here, was renewing acquaintances during the week.

HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

"Lit" was held on Friday, Jan. 30. Havelock Fleming opened the program with a recitation entitled "Lodgings for a Single Gentleman." Following this was a play in two acts, "A Matrimonial Advertisement." Those taking part were Norah Harper, Ruth McIntyre, Edna Charnock, Eddie Pennington and Johnnie Ross.

Leon Rushcall was the chief speaker. He took for his subject Physical Fitness. In the course of his spirited address he pointed out that the finest scholarship will fail a student if he does not have good health. A retiring professor of an American university when asked what quality he would recommend as necessary in his successor, replied, "Health is the supreme qualification."

The High School has recently held two very enjoyable hikes to Elk camp. Teachers have come along with the students and entered into their fun. On one occasion a weiner roast was held and the next time a bean feed. After supper the benches were cleared away and to the music of the High School Symphony Orchestra an hour's dancing was indulged in.

The girls have formed an interclass basketball league. The winning class will receive a pennant.

A snappy hoop game was played in the somewhat limited quarters of the Scout Hall on Thursday, Feb. 5, when the High School boys downed the ex-Highs to the tune of 35 to 14. The game was fast and fairly clean throughout, with the exception of a slight fistic encounter in the second period. The teams were:

High School—A. Markland, P. Kasmar, A. Greenwood, E. Pennington, J. Lukas. Spares, A. Wallace and C. Steele.

Ex-Highs—B. Mills, L. Rushcall, H. Corrie, B. Kerr, J. McPhee. Spare, J. Ross.

Mr. Chell handled the whistle admirably.

LOCAL & GENERAL

A. Walde was on the sick list several days this week.

Mrs. W. R. Wlson and her daughter, Mrs. F. Smith of Toronto, left on Tuesday morning for Vancouver.

A. F. Anderson, of Spokane, and his son Oscar, of Medford, Ore., spent several days in the city this week visiting old friends.

Drumheller mines are gradually increasing their output. Last week they turned out 740 cars of coal, compared with 730 the week previous.

Don't forget the Valentine Tea in the basement of the United Church tomorrow, Saturday the 14th, from 3 to 6 p.m.

Don't forget the Rebekah Valentine Novelty Dance. I.O.O.F. Hall, Feb. 13. Refreshments and the best music. J16-4t

A. Mutz, of Vulcan, and Al. Doyle, of Fort Steele, were Fernie visitors on Tuesday, attending the annual meeting of the Fernie-Fort Steele Brewing Co.

Ed. Stewart has been appointed a delegate to represent the local Rotary Club at the annual district gathering to be held at Portalnd, Ore., on March 22, 23 and 24.

The Waldorf Hotel has been undergoing considerable improvement and a number of important changes made in order to comply with the new Liquor Control regulations.

D. Rossi, for permitting drunkenness in his home, was on Tuesday fined $50 and costs. Charles Schuck was sentenced to 30 days in jail for drunkenness.

Stafford Wilson and his eldest son, William, arrived home on Monday from a two months stay in Southern California. Staff says he reduced twelve pounds and attributed it to swimming in the salt water.

St. John Ambulance Association—Doctor Asselstine will give the first lecture to the First Aid Class on Sunday next, Feb. 15, at 2.30 p.m. in the Mine Rescue Station. Everybody interested invited to attend.

We regret very much to inform the public that the report in circulation that the Fernie golfers had been notified to vacate their present course as the Company intended to use it for industrial purposes, is untrue. There is not a golfer in Fernie who would not willingly sacrifice a whole lot, even the golf course, in order to see Fernie grow.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Appleyard, who returned last Friday from a trip to the Eastern States, are selling their household effects and will shortly leave for New York, where Mr. Appleyard has purchased a seat on the New York stock exchange. It is said the price paid was something like $100,000. We understand Mr. Appleyard will represent large interests in Minneapolis and St. Paul. During their residence here Mr. and Mrs. Appleyard have made a host of friends who sincerely regret their departure.

Jack Gates is sore as a dog, in fact Jack is so sore he refused to play in the local bonspiel, and it is not over that $500 beer licence either. About a week ago Jack was doing a line of housecleaning and worked up a little heat rash on his body which he thought should be attended to. He decided to have it painted with iodine and called on his wife to handle the brush. Instead of iodine she used a solution of carbolic acid. Before the doctor could arrive Jack had licked three men and a bulldog and smashed up most of the furniture. He has been living in a straight jacket lined with cotton batten ever since. Talking about carbolic acid, this seems to be becoming a standard remedy with some of the women. Only a short time ago Joe Hall, of Cranbrook, who thinks quite a lot of his beauty, was having his regular weekly shampoo, and when he was ready for the operation called upon his wife for the shampoo bottle. She gave him the carbolic acid bottle instead. We refuse to print what followed; suffice to say that Joe won't pose for any more magazines for quite a while or pack any more beauty show medals.

Mrs. Robt. Winstanley, of Michel, was a Fernie visitor this week.

Born—At Fernie, on Feb. 8, to Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Bossio, a daughter.

Born—At Fernie, on Feb. 9, to Mr. and Mrs. John Vecchio, a daughter.

Born—On Friday, Feb. 6, 1925, to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McLachlan, a daughter.

A. Rizzuto has the agency for the Chrysler, the new car which created such a sensation last year.

There will be a Valentine pie for the children at the candy table tomorrow (Saturday) in the basement of the United Church.

Max Belecky is having the Napaneee Hotel thoroughly overhauled and several changes made in the down stairs plans.

Mrs. Mack, of Los Angeles, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Brown, here for several months, left on Tuesday for California.

Chief Greenwood of the provincial force was up in Kimberley this week in the interests of law and order, and while making a raid on a gambling joint there had the misfortune to break three ribs while trying to force entry into the place. He is able to be around again.

Johnny Hovan, who has been down in Southern California for the winter, is expected home tomorrow. Johnny, who had a system worked out for beating the racing game when he went south, will tell you how it worked out and why he is not a millionaire.

George Ptucka, who runs a local pool room, was on Tuesday fined $300 for giving away three dozen bottles of beer. The man whom he gave them to was Nick Kovalevich, and he was caught on the street with the beer. He was fined $50. Magistrate Henderson tried the case.

The local auto garages have signed an agreement not to give any further credit. This is a move in the right direction. If business could only be conducted in this town on a cash basis prices could easily be cut from five to ten per cent. Last year a local arrangement among the garage men put gasoline and oil on a cash basis, but this year they intend to include other supplies and repair work as well.

George R. Lally, of Spokane, travelling freight agent for the Great Northern railway, was in the city on Monday on business. Mr. Lally is a great booster for Fernie coke and coal and says the one big drawback to selling these products across the line has been the long strikes that have so freqhently tied up the industry here. He is confident now that a long term agreement has been secured between the Company and the employees that a new era of prosperity is in store for this district.

One of the new beer regulations reads: "No blind, curtain, shutter or obstruction shall be placed on, kept over, or so as to obstruct the view through any window of the salesroom of the licensed premises; but an uninterrupted view of the interior of the salesroom from without shall be made and continuously kept possible." Presumably this regulation will apply night and day so that the possibility of burglarizing such premises becomes proportionately enhanced. Can it be that this regulation is for the particular benefit of tourists so that they may have a full view of the operation of one stage of the liquor law in British Columbia?

Miss Elaine Ross, of Edmonton, formerly a player on the Fernie Swastikas, is making a name for herself on the Monarch team of that city. In a write-up of a game the Edmonton Bulletin makes the following remarks about that young lady's play: "Miss E. Ross, defence player on the locals, is the big noise of the team. This young lady does everything well and earned the name of "Joe Simpson" from the gallery that was on hand last night. A number of times she rushed the opposing goal, and was rewarded with two dandy goals and just missed scoring a flock more. One goal that she scored was the result of a pretty bit of play. Going down in the second period, she was forced out towards the left boards, she took a back hand shot at the net and the Camrose goalie never had a chance."

LOST—A bunch of keys attached to a chain with a tag marked J. P. Finder will be rewarded by returning to Joseph Perry, Central Hotel.

MINER LIKES KOOTENAYS

Every once in a while one of the pioneer prospectors of the vast mineral fields of British Columbia enters into the reward of his toils and privations among the hills and fastnesses of the extensive country. Some of the earliest prospectors have been the most tenacious in holding onto their first finds and prosecuting development work on their claims, always hoping that their great day will come.

Among these latter is John Black, a veteran of 1885, who has spent many years in search of mineral wealth. Though a pioneer of the Yukon and the first man to drive a wagon over the Chilcoot Pass, Mr. Black has pinned his faith consistently to the mineral resources and placer grounds of Southern British Columbia. Associated in the early days with the late Thomas Dunn and Pellew Harvey, he maintains that there is mineral wealth around Harrison Lake and in some parts of Lillooet that rivals the most prosperous developments in the Kootenays and in the Far North. He maintains, too, that it requires only the erection and operation of a smelter at some suitable coast point to bring these more local finds into the same prominence.

Not confining his activities to lode prospects, Mr. Black has done extensive prospecting of placer fields and he pins his faith to several locations on the Thompson River. It is in connection with one of these that he has succeeded in making satisfactory financial arrangements for extensive placer development. He left for Eastern Canadian financial centres on Thursday night to complete these arrangements, select and ship the machinery necessary for hydraulicing, returning in a month to instal the machinery and carry on the work.

While in the East he will discuss with his principals the great opportunities of smelter construction on the coast, believing that he can convince them of the immense possibilities of Lillooet prospects. Unwilling to disclose too much of the intentions of his principals until he has conferred with their eastern colleagues, he affirms that he will be in a position to make announcements on his return which will aid in bringing about greater attention to local fields.

GERMANY AND GENEVA

Although it is desirable on every ground that Germany should become a member of the League of Nations, with full rights and responsibilities, the great changes that her entrance will bring about in European policy should be carefully considered beforehand. It would, for instance, be a misfortune if, in order to facilitate the admission of Germany to the League, the issues upon which the war was fought were to be relegated to obscurity, or if the attempts now being vigorously made, to the advantage of Germany, to obscure the origin of the war, were to prove successful.—London Times.

CANADIAN SELF-RELIANCE

Sorely tried as Canadians' faith in their country has been, it has remained unwavering. A bad trade and fiscal policy has closed hundreds of factories and sent out of the Dominion hundreds of thousands of people to seek a living in the United States, but it has failed to shake the confidence of the mass of Canadians in their country. Public expenditure that is scandalously wasteful and a taxation system that draws blood do not move the people from their belief in the greatness of their country's destiny and in the certainty that a better order of things is at hand.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Here and There

The following apt comment on the careless motorist and his ultimate fate comes from the Boston Transcript:

"If a freight train at a crossing
"Hits an auto fair and square
"There's the freight train—Where's the auto?
"Echo answers 'Where?'"

Trees at the rate of 20,000 a day have been planted by farmers in Western Canada during the last 20 years, according to a report of the Federal Department of Agriculture A total of 150,000 000 young trees, the report shows, has been distributed to farmers in that section in 1905.

Canada has entered into negotiations with Germany for a trade agreement which will give her the benefit of the most favored nations agreement. Exports to that country very nearly doubled during 1924 and at the close of the year Germany was practically in the position of being Canada's third best customer.

A co-operative shipment of poultry to New York City, encouraged and handled by the Dominion Poultry Service, Alberta branch, brought good results. The shipment consisted of two refrigerator carloads of turkeys and the shippers received 25 cents a pound for their birds, the New York selling price being 41 cents a pound.

Among the interesting books of the season is "Canada's Great Highway; from the First Stake to the Last Spike," by J. H. E. Secretan, C.E., (published by Thorburn and Abbott, Ottawa). Dealing with the early history of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the volume contains racy reminiscences of life in construction days as experienced by the author, who was a member of the company's engineering staff.

Sailing from New York on January 14, the "Empress of France," palatial Canadian Pacific steamship, began her 'round-the-world cruise, which is to last 130 days. The vessel was gaily decked with flags and filled with happy passengers eager to enjoy the experience of a lifetime. F. L. Wanklyn and Mrs. Wanklyn, were among those on board. Mr. Wanklyn recently retired from his position as executive assistant of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The most novel Christmas card handled by the Montreal post office this year was one prepared for the redoubtable Colonel George Ham, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, by a number of internationally known newspaper artists, creators of famous comic strip characters. In the centre of the card is a photo of the Colonel, while grouped around him, commenting on his good qualities, are signed drawings of Pa Perkins, Tillie the Toiler and Mac, Barney Google and Spark Plug, Our Gang and Dumb Dora. Colonel Ham is naturally very proud of the card.

SUNDAY USE OF PLAYGROUNDS

The question whether public playgrounds should be open on Sunday has come up again and again both in this country and in England. And the question, we read in The Survey, "is still decidedly an open one." At a meeting of superintendents of recreation last fall there was a general feeling "that Sunday offers an opportunity for providing wholesome recreation, though the form of recreation is often of a different character from that of other days and there is a different emphasis." The Survey recalls that when the Playground and Recreation Association of America some time ago asked for the facts on the actual use of public playgrounds it was learned that playgrounds are open on Sundays in 56 cities and closed in 55—a fairly even division. There was no sectional variation reported. But, it seems, "in the cities where playgrounds were in use on Sunday, less than half provided leaders and supervisors on that day; in 35 the grounds were open for unsupervised use." Most of the supervised playgrounds are closed in the morning so as not to interfere with church service, while the unsupervised playgrounds are, in general, open all day. As The Survey proceeds:

"The majority of cities having Sunday recreation under leadership report that their programs are less formal than for week days; noisy games not being included. Sacramento, Denver, Baltimore, New Orleans, Vincennes (Ind.), and Fresno, (Calif.), state that their Sunday programs are practically the same as the week-day program.

"Only twelve cities report a definitely unfavorable reaction to Sunday recreation activities from church forces. However, a number of cities have not attempted Sunday programs because of unfavorable sentiment existing in the community.

Some of the playgrounds were found to be in use because there was no way to keep people out, a Southern supervisor adding:

"But there is no supervision on Sunday. There is more of a moral hazard due to opposition by churches due to Sunday supervision, than the other six days of supervision."

"Some recreation workers gave their opinion that public recreation facilities should be open for the sake of working people who have only this one day for play. But that there are obstacles in the way of such views is evident, says The Survey, from comments like these:

"I believe that the municipal recreational activities should be a reflection of what the people who constitute the community want, and it is quite evident that the playing of soccer football, rugby football, tennis and golf are thought to be quite proper in our community. However, it is contrary to the State law and we have been obliged to violate the law to do what we think is the proper thing.

"Any activity on Sunday—wholesome, Imean—is good if the ministers approve, but no organization that I know of can afford to go against the wishes of the ministers. It is good for the people, but it is hard on the workers to be deprived of Sunday."—Literary Digest.

NEW BOOK MAKES ROMANCE OF HISTORY

Tells Story of Canadian Pacific Railway and Building of Dominion

R. G. MacBETH

A facetious American once referred to the Canadian Pacific Railway as "Canada on Wheels." Great as it is, the Canadian Pacific would be the last to appropriate such an appellation. It can be truthfully said, however, that to understand the recent history of the Dominion one must know that of the Canadian Pacific. Now at last comes a volume, well illustrated with photographs, which presents that history in its most palatable form—that is, in a form emphasizing the human factor,—"The Romance of the Canadian Pacific Railway," by R. G. MacBeth (the Ryerson Press, Toronto, $2.50)

The author, who has a number of historical works to his credit, is singularly well equipped. Apart from his literary skill, he has the advantage of having lived in the Canadian West all his life. He has always been in close touch with the Canadian Pacific, though he is careful to point out that he has never been connected with it and has written and published his book independently.

Mr. MacBeth here traces the amazing story of the company's development into the world's greatest transportation system; of the steamships, of the telegraph and express; colonization; irrigation; hotels and bungalow camps; of its war service and of all its activities, with a wealth of interesting detail which illustrates the brilliant administrative and organizing ability of its executive.

Canadians should be proud, as Mr. MacBeth reminds them, that their country approved the construction of this pioneer transcontinental when the population was only 4,000,000, though the United States had not dared to undertake a similar road till she had ten times that number. The frightful difficulties, political, technical and financial, through which the company's sponsors and founders fought their way to victory are well summarized. For instance, it is recalled that sections of the line north of Lake Superior cost $500,000 a mile to build, and a muskeg east of Winnipeg swallowed seven tracks before it was conquered. The author shows that the triumphant accomplishment of the work was especially creditable because it took place in a period of immense depression.

Sir William Van Horne, general manager and later president, that man of tireless energy, vision and determination, is the central figure in the volume and there are many anecdotes illustrating his versatile character. But all the other great men of the company — Mount Stephen, Shaughnessy, Beatty, Angus and a host of others—receive their due. Lord Shaughnessy's fine words: "The shareholders and directors of the company have always been impressed with the idea that the interests of the company are intimately connected with those of the Dominion and no effort or expense has been spared to help in promoting the development of the whole country" are amply backed by the company's deeds. And the author makes a statement which is very a propos when he says: "The country and the railway, in such a case as this, must stand or fall together. Each is necessary to the prosperity of the other. Hence for one to attempt the destruction of the other is practically a roundabout but effective way for that one to commit suicide."

VOLCANOES RUN BY STEAM

Volcanoes and boilers blow up from the same cause — too much steam pressure; volcanoes are not "safety valves" to the molten interior of the earth, for the earth's interior is not molten; the lakes of boiling lava in volcanic craters are hotter at the surface than they are in their depths. These and similar astonishing statements, in some cases reversing accepted ideas, were made recently before the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Dr. Arthur L. Day, director of the geophysical laboratory of the Carnegie Institution and expert on volcanism. We read in Science Service's Dail Science News Bulletin:

"The data and observations on which Dr. Day based his statements were gathered in volcanic regions all over the globe, but attention had been centered especially on two fire-mountains: huge Kilanea in Hawaii, and Mt. Lassen in California, the only active volcano in the United States proper. The former was studied as a laboratory of lava reactions, and the latter for the lessons of its peculiarly explosive eruption of nine years ago. At Kilanea it was found that the surface temperature of the lava lake was variable, rising as high at 1185 degrees Centigrade, or 2165 degrees Fahrenheit. Twenty feet below the surface, the temperatre was 100 degrees Cntigrade lower. Dr. Day is of the opinion that this peculiar effect, which is the reverse of what naturally would be expected, is due to the chemical reactions of the gases that bubble through the lava, giving off heat as they unite and rise.

"The Lassen eruption of 1915, as well as the lesser eruptions that have occurred from time to time since then, appears to have been due mainly to a great steam explosion. Dr. Day believes the water for the generation of this steam came from the lava itself. Molten rock, he found in laboratory experiments, can dissolve considerable water in itself, but as it cools and crystallizes the water is given off again and turned into steam."

"This is a dirty trick," said the frog turning a flip in th emud.

Laxatives do not overcome constipation

LAXATIVES and cathartics provide temporary relief only. Their continued use leads to permanent injury. In time, says an eminent physician, an almost incalculable amount of harm is done by the use of pills, salts, mineral waters, castor oil and the like.

Physicians advise lubrication for Internal Cleanliness

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt the habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

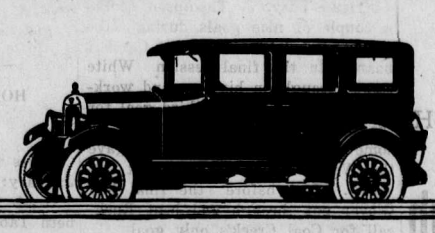
MAXWELL

Excels All Other Fours By Right of Excess Values

Stated in the simplest terms, the reason why the new good Maxwell deserves to outsell all other cars in its field is because it offers the greatest value on the market.



It took a great organization, great plants, great facilities and resources to create such values at Maxwell prices, but it also took the engineering genius of the Maxwell-Chrysler staff to develop in a four-cylinder car the qualities you find in the new good Maxwell.

No other four has ever been able to combine 58 miles an hour, an acceleration that sweeps the car from 5 to 25 miles in 8 seconds, a fuel economy that carries you an average of 30 miles with a gallon of gasoline.

No other four produces so much power with so little effort, with such a complete absence of vibration. No other four carries you so comfortably at all speeds and under all road conditions. No other four handles so easily.

These excess values that set the new good Maxwell apart from all other fours cover every phase of performance and ownership. Many of them a single ride reveals.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Maxwell's attractive plan.

CITY LEAGUE HOCKEY GAMES

Bluebirds 3, Coal Creek 1.

The City hockey league resumed its interrupted schedule Tuesday evening, when the West Fernie Bluebirds played Coal Creek on rather heavy ice at the Fernie rink.

The game was delayed owing to the refusal of the Bluebirds to start the game with McTeer and Coulter on the Coal Creek line-up. Both men had not played with any of the city league teams this season and were therefore open to play for any team who secured their services. The Coal Creek club showed real sportsmanship in starting the game without a sub, in order that the large crowd of fans would not be disappointed.

Play was rather slow during the first fifteen minutes with very little to choose between the teams. Toward the end of the second period Jack Smith got a hard knock and was forced to leave the ice. Coal Creek was forced to put on one of their new men to get a full team on the ice. McTeer went on and almost scored before the Bluebirds noticed his presence, and they ceased play. Aftr considerable argument the Bluebirds consented to Coulter going on in place of Smith, but absolutely refused to continue if McTeer was not withdrawn.

In the second period the Bluebirds had much of the play and kept Corrigan busy. J. Thompson scored a couple of nice goals during the period with long shots from the left boards. In the final session White came through on his own and working close in scored the third goal for the Bluebirds. Coal Creek picked up somewhat after this goal and gave the West Fernie defence a lot of worry. Just before the final bell Glover got through and beat Rushcall for Coal Creek's only goal.

Bluebirds—Rushcall; Smalek and White; Colton, J. Thompson, A. Thompson and Commons.

Coal Creek—O. Corrigan; P. Corrigan, Atherton; Smith, Glover, Corlett and Coulter.

Referee—Cy. Walker.

Northerns 3; Ingram's 150s, 2.

Ingram's 150s were defeated for the first time this season on Thursday evening when the Northerns won a closely contested game by the odd goal in five. The ice was in a rather heavy condition for hockey, and made the puck perform all kinds of irritating tricks on the players.

Play was fairly even in the first period, although rather slow. Sofko opened the scoring after six minutes of play, working close in to beat Coste. A few minutes later Wilson put the Northerns two up, getting a rebound and firing the puck into the net. Ingrams put on a spurt but Colton was on with a vengeance and kept out everything that came his way.

In the opening stages of the second period the Northerns kept the 150s defence busy but were gradually sent back without making any addition to the score. Toward the end Dicken got away on his own and rounded the defence, then gave Colton no chance to save when he scored Ingram's first goal.

Both teams were showing the effect of playing on soft ice in the final encounter and there were frequent stoppages for offsides and kicking the puck. With only three minutes left to play, Smith scored a nice goal for the Northerns with a fast shot from the right boards. From the face-off Dicken got the puck, pushed it through the defence and scored the 150s second goal. The 150s tried hard to equalize during the last few seconds but the Northern defence held up all their attempts and the bell came without any further scoring

Ingrams—Coste; Kirkpatrick and Shand; Commons, Biggs, Dicken and Brown.

Referee—Cy. Walker.

MINERS BEATEN BY LONE GOAL ON TRAIL ICE

Trail, Feb. 10.—The final contenders from the Kootenay for the Coy cup, emblematic of the intermediate hockey championship of British Columbia, were not definitely decided tonight, when the Trail team took the odd point from Kimberley, 1 to 0 being the score, in a game that was fast from start to finish.

The game was played on the toughest kind of ice, so that the spectators did not see either team in its best form. But what they did see was two aggregations working at top speed for victory.

There was not a minute in the 60 minutes of play but was full of action. Ttking the game throughout, perhaps the visitors from the greatest lead town in Canada were the aggressors, but any shot that was dropped on the mat was capably handled by Marshall, the custodian of Trail's goal.

After the beginning of the game there were many pieces of ice covered with water. As a consequence, as play progressed, the going became heavier.

It was in the second period, within one minute of the end, that Gravilik, for Trail, grabbed a rebound from the board, shot the puck home and thus gave Trail the lead of one point in the series of two games, total goals to count. Kavic had just previously shot wide of the net, hence the rebound.

Play throughout was clean, notwithstanding the heavy going.

CITY COUNCIL HOLD SESSION

The city council, with all members present, held their second February meeting last evening.

Several samples of fire hose were placed before the council for examination but the matter of purchase was left over pending receipt of some further information.

The question of window and verandah lights on the flat rate basis came up for considerable discussion and a motion was passed, in view of the fact that the city was now required to pay for all electric light on a kilowatt basis, that all window or verandah lights in the city now on a flat rate must be changed over to the meter rate on or before the end of August, 1925.

The city clerk informed the council that an old shack on Lot 10, Block 40, owned by the city, had become a nuisance, and its destruction was authorized.

The school board estimates for 1925 were placed before the council. They amount to $41,666 for ordinary expenditures, teachers' salaries, etc., but on deducting last year's surplus of $6,666, make a net estimate of $35,000. This makes a rate of 17½ mills for schools as against 19½ mills last year.

A payment of $2000 odd was authorized to Bishop & Co., of Montreal, re the laying of the water pipe across the Elk river.

A reply to the letter sent by the council to the Attorney General's department asking for information as to how the deduction of $2800 from the city's portion of the liquor profits was arrived at, was received from the Liquor Control Board. They stated that all accounts had been verified by the Comptroller General's department and that it was not the policy of the Board to make public the activities of secret service agents. It stated that Board officers had been in the city during the fical year from Oct. 1 1923, to Sept. 30, 1924, at various times and had secured substantial convictions for breaches of the Act. It also stated that it was the policy of the Board that when they believed the Act was not being satisfactorily enforced in a municipalty, Board officers were sent to do the work.

Before placing the letter before the council, Mayor Irvine had requested Chief Anderson to go carefully over the records and make a report. The Chief's report showed that during the time stated Liquor Control Board officers had only secured two convictions in the city of Fernie, while during the same period the city force had conducted raids and had secured 57 convictions under the Liquor Act. The city clerk was instructed to write the Board and point out this fact to them.

A motion was passed authorizing the procuring of tracings of the waterworks and sewer system plans, the same to be placed in safe keeping in case the originals should be destroyed.

CURLERS VISIT MICHEL

Two weeks ago Skips Warwick and Littler, representing Michel and Natal Curling Club, were successful in defeating Tom Prentice and E. K. Stewart, local defenders of the Fleishman Cup, at Fernie, and packed it off in triumph. This was the first time the cup had been out of Fernie in many years, and the nice things that local curlers said about their skips must have got under their skins, for last Saturday night, accompanied by Jimmy Johnston as coach, with a rink of his own, they sneaked out quietly to Natal and after a terrific battle on Sunday succeeded by the narrow margin of two in regaining possession of the trophy. Jimmy, just to demonstrate how the game should be played, took on three Natal rinks, defeating each in turn. The boys are all loud in their praise of the entertainment provided by the Michel & Natal Club. This was the first visit of Fernie rinks to that city and they certainly showed the boys a good time, winding up with a banquet which would have been a credit to any city.

NEW MANAGER ACTIVE CITIZEN

Creston, Feb. 18.—C. G. Bennett, manager of the Creston branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, left Monday to assume charge of the Fernie branch. Mr. Wood, of Fernie branch, goes to the coast, and D. MacDonald,, accountant at Cranbrook, comes to Creston to temporarily replace Mr. Bennett.

The departing manager has been in Creston since early in 1914, when he took charge following the moving of P. B. Fowler, then manager, to Fernie, subsequently going to Nelson, thence to the coast.

Mr. Bennett is a past president of Creston board of trade, and has been prominently identified with the agricultural association since its inception, being a poultry fancier of some repute locally. He has also been treasurer of Christ Church for many years and a great worker in almost every branch of community effort.

He will be returning in a couple of weeks to take Mrs. Bennett and the two children to Fernie.

AUDITOR'S REPORT CITY OF FERNIE

To:
His Worship, the Mayor, and Aldermen,
Corporation of the City of Fernie, Fernie, British Columbia.

I beg to report that I have examined the books and vouchers of the Corporation of the City of Fernie for the year ending December 31st, 1924.

The Balance Sheets referred to me in this report are signed by me, and, in my opinion, are properly drawn up so as to exhibit truly and correctly the state of affairs of the Corporation as at December 31st, 1924, as shown by the books of the said Corporation.

Revenue and Expenditure shows a deficit of $666.45, this being due to the sum of $31,403.03 spent on Waterworks renewals and charged to General Revenue.

The Electric Light and Waterworks Departments show a net profit of $13,071.98 and $9,861.98, respectively.

The School Department kept within its estimates to the amount of $2,436.17, and to this sum is added the balance of Surplus forward from 1923, making a total of $6,666.66 to be applied to the relief of taxation for 1925.

Taxes in arrears at December 31st, 1924, were $21,660.12, including interest and penalty charges, as against $12,969.81 at the close of 1923. The percentage of 1924 taxes collected was 87%. In view of the fact that the Mines were not operating for the greater part of the year, and that the collections were approximately only $10,000.00 less than the previous year is not at all surprising.

Cash Receipts for 1924 were $173,277.91, and Disbursements $174,029.26. This is a very favorable showing, as $31,403.03 of this was spent for Waterworks renew ls out of General Revenue.

During the years 1923 and 1924 there has been charged to General Revenue and General Surplus the sum of $110,531.49 for relaying Waterworks Mains. This I consider a very large sum to be paid out of current revenue for this purpose, and, in my opinion, the whole, or a substantial part, should be Capitalized, and the surplus from Waterworks applied to the reduction of the Capitalized Account.

Due to the suspension of the Home Bank of Canada on August 17th, 1923, the Corporation has been obliged to borrow large sums of money from the Imperial Bank of Canada, to complete the work already in progress, interest on these borrowings for 1924 being $3,788.39.

I found the Books and Vouchers in perfect order, receipts supporting all cash received, all accounts certified by the proper officials, and payments made by check through the Imperial Bank of Canada, Fernie, B.C.

In conclusion I wish to thank those officials with whom the performance of my duties brought me in contact for their assistance and courtesy on all occasions.

Respectfully submitted,
G. F. JOHNSON,
Auditor.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE I.O.D.E.

Mount Fernie Chapter, I.O.D.E., Annual Report for 1924:

Motto—"Our Country First."

Executive—

Regent—Mrs. J. L. Gates.

1st Vice-Regent—Mrs. Wm. Ingram.

2nd Vice-Regent—Mrs. J. R. Wallace.

Secretary—Mrs. H. E. Miard.

Treasurer—Mrs. F. Perry.

Educational Secretary — Mrs. G. Moses.

Echoes Secretary — Mrs. A. I. Fisher.

Standard Bearer—Miss M. Corsan.

Councillors — Mesdames Bonnell, Digby, Herchmer, Kastner, Markland, D. Mitchell, G. G. Moffatt, E. H. Wood, Workman and Miss Olive Brown.

To the Regent and Members of Mt. Fernie Chapter, I.O.D.E., this 12th Annual Report is respectfully submitted:

The past year has shown a steady increase in membership. There were 76 members in good standing at the close of 1924, and 13 new members have joined this month. There were ten regular monthly, and two special meetings during the year, with an average attendance of 16 members. In the Chapter there are five National and two Primary Life Members. The National and Provincial Chapters per capita fees were $38 and $57 respectively and $6 additional for Provincial Officers' Fees. The Chapter was represented at the National Annual Meeting by Mrs. de Pencier and at the Provincial by Mrs. A. I. Fisher.

The activities of the Chapter have been directed chiefly twoards educational work and in helping various worthy organizations both local and general. The Chapter contributed $150 to the National Memorial Fund. (This is strictly educational). Six Canadian History prizes were given. The local Boy Scouts Association was helped by the sum of $125. There was a donation of $25 to the local library and a similar amount to the Canadian Institute for the Blind. $5 was sent towards the "Save the Children Fund"' and $1 for work in India. $25 was contributed towards the G.W.V.A. Christmas Tree.

The Chapter catered for the "Old Timers' Banquet," given by Mr. Wilson; also the banquet given in honor of Premier Mackenzie King, realizing the sum of $265 from these affairs.

The refreshment booth at the 1st of July sports was in charge of the Chapter. The proceeds were $60.60. This money was banked by the Chapter in a separate account, namely, "The Children's Swimming Pool Fund," and was augmented by $13.35 proceeds of a collection taken at the New Year's dance. The New Year's dance was very successful from the social standpoint and netted the Chapter about $75.

The University of B.C. Players Club staged a play on May 24, from the proceeds of which they received $103 and the Chapter $96.15 net profit.

The total gross financial proceeds of the year amounted to $1405.65.

The Chapter presented a basket of flowers to Lady Byng, and some supplies were sent at Christmas to an ex-soldier and family. The Chapter attended the G.W.V.A. Memorial Service on Armistice Day, and a wreath of flowers was placed on the cenotaph. The Graves Committee did good work in keeping floral tributes there. The Visiting Committee cheered the sick by their visits and contributions of flowers and fruit.

During the year the former David Thompson Chapter (Junior) became a Girl Guide Company, under the guidance of Mrs. J. S. Irvine, assisted by Mrs. N. E. Suddaby. This Company is under the patronage of Mt. Fernie Chapter.

The Chapter has developed socially this year to the great enjoyment of all. Mrs. R. W. Wood, our National Councillor, entertained the Chapter at her home, so that all might have the pleasure of meeting Mrs. de Pencier, the Provincial Organizing Secretary and our delegate to the National Annual Meeting. Later in the year, the Executive gave an "At Home" to the Chapter. These affairs have developed a wonderful feeling of good-fellowship. The annual dinner, which was given the Entrance Class girls provided an-

BABY CLINIC

A very successful Baby Clinic was held on the regular clinic day. A number of children were given medical examinations.

The Convenor introduced Dr. G. F. Young, speaker for the afternoon. He had had experience overseas, where such wnderful things were done in medicine and surgery. In addition he had worked in conjunction with Dr. Collip of Edmonton University. Dr. Collip was a co-worker with Dr. Banting in the discovery of insulin and had shared equally with him in the $40,000 Nebel prize awarded for that great discovery.

Dr. Young gave a lucid account of the nature of those glands known as the tonsils and adenoids; their function in the human body; and the manifold ills attendant upon their being out of order. The latest treatment for disease of these organs is by the X-ray.

The score or so of adults who attended the clinic showed keen appreciation of the doctor's lecture.

The next clinic will be held on Monday, March 9. Dr. Pickering will be in attendance and will talk to the mothers about the influence of diet on the teeth of young children.

RELIEF FOR DEPOSITORS

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—A measure for relief of the depositors of the Home Bak was foreshadowed by the premier in the house this afternoon.

On the order of the day he said:

"On July 17, 1924, this house unanimously adopted the report of the committee on banking and commerce with respect to the losses sustained by the depositors of the Home Bank of Canada. The concluding paragraph of the said report is as follows:

"'Your committee consider that the facts brought out in the interim report submitted by Mr. Chief Justice McKeown, and the evidence therein referred to establish that the depositors of the Home Bank have a moral claim in equity for compensation by the country on account of any loss they may suffer by reason of the failure of the Home Bank.'

"In the circumstances the government has decided to introduce this session a measure recognizing, with respect to the depositors of the Home Bank 'the moral claim of equity for compensation' as referred to in this paragraph of the report. The proposed legislation will be brought down in due course."

Mr. Meighen: "I wish to make a statement with reference to the first sentence in the prime miniser's remarks. I make it without regard at all to what the attitude of the opposition may be towards the measure. The reference was to the 'unanimous adoption' of a report. There was many reports adopted in this way hastily last session against my vigorous protest and I stated at the time, on more than one occasion, that I did not consider such adoption as in any way binding the house to the terms of the report. That is the position I still take. May I ask whether the amount will be in the supplementary estimates and why it is not in the main estimates?"

The prime minister: "There is no reason why this information should be given before the bill is presented."

Mr. Meighen persisted in his question as to the method of making the provision, the premier said, finally, "I am afraid my honorable friend will have to wait and see."

This ended the discussion.

"PONJOLA" FILMED IN SINCERE FASHION

Fiction lovers are often disappointed when they see their favorite stories on the screen. Perhaps they cannot understand the technic of the movies which makes it necessary in many cases, to change parts of a story, which for one reason or another, cannot be screened.

But those who read and enjoyed "Ponjola"—and all who did read it, enjoyed it—are not going to be disappointed in the film version of the famous Cynthia Stockley story, which is to be shown next week at the Orpheum theatre.

"Ponjola" has been described as "fool proof film material," and such it is. In adapting the story to the screen First National kept to the story in its entirety. The film is the popular novel brought to life.

Telling a story of intrigue, adventure and love, it centers about a young noblewoman who masquerades as a man and lives among the hardened characters of the South African veldt, fighting the curse of ponjola, the soul destroying drink of that country and fighting those who seek to destroy the man she loves.

It is a powerful picture of virile men and romantic women ,of lust, hate and love — a highly dramatic picture that contains every essential of a perfect photodrama.

Its interpretation is in the hands of a most brilliant cast, including Anna Q. Nilsson, James Kirkwood, Tully Marshall, Ruth Clifford, Joseph Kilgour, Edwin Sturgis, Claire McDowell, Claire Du Brey and Bernard Randall.

REACHED BY SUN LIFE

M. A. Kastner, the hustling local agent for the Sun Life, is jubilant over the annual report of the Company for 1924. He says:

New standards have been set in Canadian life assurance records by the 54th annual statement now presented by the Directors of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada. Acceleration of the rate of progress is noticeable, even as against the surprisingly rapid growth in previous years of this great institution. Resources have been considerably augmented while the expansion of operations has been equally pronounced.

Policyholders in this popular international Company and, in fact, all who are interested in the growth of Canadian institutions, will regard with satisfaction the advances made in all branches through the aggressive policy of the Sun Life under a careful and conservative management.

Strength in resources is exemplified by the assets of $274,130,407, an amount which increased by $64,873,094 during the year 1924. This gain alone is equal to the total assets held by the Company only 11 years ago.

Income for the year totalled $62,245,681 and represents an advance of $15,280,042. No sums received as consideration for reassurances are included in these figures.

Very gratifying results were experienced in the earnings from the Company's investments. Increased market values of securities held yielded a gain of $6,331,377, while sales made in order to capitalize the improved value of others showed a net profit of 2,891,250.

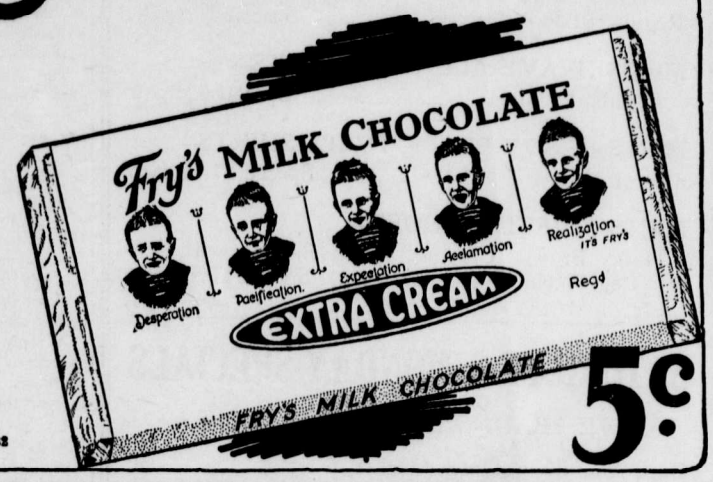
Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries have been made on a generous scale and amounted to $31,881,639 for the year. This represented settlements of death claims, matured endowments, profits, etc.

There were 384,113 policies in force representing assurances of $871,636,457, an advance over the previous year of $167,871,214.

For the fifth year in succession, policyholders is announced.

Interest earned during the year, has been shown as 6.38 per cent, exclusive of profits from sales, a substantial increase due to reinvestment in securities yielding better returns.

FUNERAL OF LITTIE PHYLLIS HOME



(Cranbrook Courier)

The remains of little Phyllis Home, beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Home, of this city, were interred in the family plot here on Friday afternoon, death having occurred on the 6th inst. The Rev. F. V. Harrison, rector of Christ Church, officiated at the funeral service held in the family residence and also at the graveside. The funeral was strictly private, immediate friends and relatives of the family being present when the services were read. Little Phyllis' passing is being mourned by many, the child being possessed of a sunny, cheerful disposition that made friends for her wherever she found herself. Around the family hearth she was known as the war baby, being born on the 2nd day of August, 1914. The deep sympathy of the community has gone out to he bereaved family in their sad affliction.

A Statement of Remarkable Progress

Extracts from Directors' Report

Your Directors present their fifty-fourth Annual Report with unusual satisfaction. The rapid expansion of operations, and the steady upbuilding of resources, which have so markedly characterized the Company's transactions in previous years, have continued during the past twelve months, and at a greatly increased rate of progress. . . .

. . . . These figures [herewith quoted] show the growth which has taken place in the volume of the Company's operations, and in its resources. The figures as to profit-earning power and financial strength are even more impressive.

As to profits actually paid, the sum of $6,681,052.49 has been disbursed during the year to policyholders under this heading.

As to provision for the future, the Company's position has been materially strengthened in all directions.

There has been a further upbuilding of the life policy reserves. Heretofore policies issued prior to 1903 have been valued on the basis of assuming three and a half per cent. interest, as the discounting rate for the Company's obligations, but this year the entire life assurance contracts have been valued at three per cent., the extra amount thus set aside being $1,111,032.

There has also been a strengthening of the Annuity Reserves. Recent investigations have shown a progressive increase in the average lifetime of annuitants. A special annuity reserve of $750,000 has this year been set up beyond the amount required by the Government standard.

The Company's Head Office and branch buildings and other real estate, have been written down by $750,000.

The Contingency Reserves have been strengthened by the addition of $4,000,000 taken from the earnings of the year, $3,000,000 of this amount going to the fund to provide for possible fluctuations in the market value of our securities, raising that fund to $5,000,000, and $1,000,000 going to General Contingencies account, raising that to $2,500,000. These contingency accounts thus amount now to $7,500,000.

After making these heavy allocations, the undivided surplus has yet been increased by $4,234,490, bringing it to a total of $22,107,358.

The Company is, of course, in a position to increase its already generous scale of profits to policyholders, and your Directors have pleasure in announcing, for the fifth year in succession, that such an increase will be made.

While many factors have contributed to this remarkable showing, the most noteworthy has been the large earning from investments. As has been mentioned in previous reports, it has for many years been the policy of the Company to invest in long-term bonds and similar choice securities, in order that by this means the high rates of interest then prevailing as a result of the abnormal conditions produced by the war, might be projected into future years. This policy is now bearing fruit. Current rates of interest, though still very satisfactory, are materially lower than those of former years, and as a consequence there has been a marked rise in the quotations for most of the securities owned by the Company. During the past year some of these increased values have been capitalized by sales, and a net profit of $2,891,250.48 has been realized from this source. In addition there has been an increase of $6,331,377.69 in the market value of the securities still held. Although most of this increased value is undoubtedly permanent, and due merely to the readjustment of interest rates to a more normal basis, it will be noted that the Company has carried $4,000,000 of the amount to contingency accounts, as already explained.

The rate of interest earned during the year on the mean invested assets has been 6.38 per cent., exclusive of profits from sales. This is a substantial increase over the rate of the previous year, and has resulted from our having realized on some of our holdings of government and other bonds which had risen to high figures, the proceeds being then reinvested in securities yielding better returns.

3 Qualities No Other Four Possesses

Before Chrysler engineers achieved the new good Maxwell, every car buyer had to determine whether to pay a high premium for power and performance, or to pay less for mediocre performance.

In the good Maxwell of today, Chrysler engineers, working with Maxwell's fine manufacturing facilities, have solved the problem completely and unquestionably.

They have solved it by engineering into the good Maxwell a combination of four-cylinder performance capacity and operating-maintenance economy wholly new to the motoring public.

In this latest product of the great Maxwell organization and factories expect a new degree of four-cylinder power, speed, flexibility and vibrationless operation which surpasses these qualities even as Maxwell previously expressed them.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

THE real joys of life come from the natural forces of things rightly used. Artificial joys are never satisfying.

Plain, simple food gives strength and a feeling of elation and power. Foods mixed to tickle the palate and to make one overeat, leave one with an unsatisfied and distressed feeling. The joy comes from the pleasant sensation of taste. Proper foods are tasteful, when properly eaten, and leave one with the glow of health.

The mingling of men and women in groups or crowds, with laughter and the flow of wit and humor, with music and joyous dancing, leaves an afterglow of happiness and beautiful memory. These are the natural outflow of the human crowd.

The mingling of men and women in groups and crowds and all vying with each other to see who can make the most hideous and unnatural noises, pelting each other with dirty paper or being as near insulting as the occasion allows, drinking stuff that will cause an unnatural condition of the mind, cannot leave an ennobling feeling or even a real joy. These are the artificial joys and not lasting or satisfying.

HOURS go by and the magic instrument is used to bring into the country home music, song, speech, from widely separated centres. In fact, the world comes and goes in a marvellous way over the radio. And the lonesomeness of the farm has been vanquished. Instead of being isolated and apart after the sun goes down, the iountry home is at once in touch with the world, through the air. That is the "dream realized, and the question answered." sun goes down, the country home is

A BOY in Quebec writes to the Department of Agriculture:

"Five years ago I joined a pig club. I had a pure-bred pig then eight months old. Since that time she has farrowed about 100 pigs. She paid for my clothes, three years in high school, and gave me spending money also. I am now in my second year in college and she is still doing the same."

He didn't mean the pig had entered college. He meant he realized when he had a "good thing." The fabulous goose of the golden egg fame had not a thing on this porker.

Miss Retta Young, of Ocean Falls, B.C., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Neil Young, who is a patient in the Fernie Hospital.

Turkey Dinner at the Northern Hotel, Sunday, Feb. 22. Brasch 5-piece orchestra playing from 6 to 7. 75c per plate.

The musical recital given by the pupils of Miss West in the United Church last evening was a most successful affair, the church being crowded to the doors.

"Hello, Barney, what's the hurry?" "I'm going to get a ticket for the 'Princess of Meath.'" "You seem to be in such a rush that if you fell down you wouldn't wait to get up."

Those interested in the Co-Operative stores movement will hold a meeting on Sunday afternoon in Victoria Hall to discuss the high cost of living.

Esther Rebekah Lodge will hold four whist drives and dances, on March 6 and 20, and April 3 and 17. Refreshments and Evans full orchestra. Admission 50c. Remember the dates.

R. G. Bennett, of Creston, the new manager for the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, arrived in the city on Monday. Mr. Bennett has been a popular resident of Creston for the past ten years.

Mrs. John Wallwork and two children were called to Calgary on Saturday evening on account of the illness of Mrs. Wallwork's mother, Mrs. D. Gash, who is suffering from cancer.

You can's simply afford to miss the Japanese Dance to be given at the I.O.O.F. Hall on Tuesday, Feb. 24. Loads of fun! Trucks of amusement! Freights of pleasure! This dance is not a masquerade.

Mrs. W. W. Brown had the misfortune to meet with a distressing accident on Tuesday morning when she fell and broke one of her legs. She was emptying a pan of ashes in the back yard and slipped and fell on the steps.

Come one, come all, to the whist drive and dance at the Catholic Hall. Have a jolly good time, forget your cares, and ne'er have a worry of business affairs. Whist from 8 p.m. to 10.30 p.m. Refreshments. Dancing from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tonight (Friday). Admission 50c.

Notice—Leatha, Princess of Meath, leaves dear old Ireland, accompanied by fairies. She will reach Fernie for the Shamrock Tea on Saturday, March 14. On Tuesday, March 17, you will have a glimpse of Ireland in the long ago. Tickets now on sale. Secure these on time.

The Fernie hockey boys wish to express their sincere appreciation to Mrs. Dr. Asslstine and the Fernie Swastikas for their kindness in holding a tea last Wednesday afternoon for their benefit. The amount realized practically cleared off the deficit of the club.

Sherwood Herchmer left on Wednesday morning for Vancouver, where he will act for the Canadian National Railways in a suit brought against them by Loeb, the B.C. government spotter, who became notorious as a witness in several liquor cases in Fernie a year or so ago. Loeb is charging the Canadian National with false arrest.

The following telegram has been forwarded to the Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works: Fernie, B.C., Feb. 18: Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, Ottawa: I am instructed by the Grand Lodge, Ordinie Independente Fior D'Italia, which represents six hundred Italian citizens in Britsh Columba and Alberta, to express appreciation on their behalf for your splendid efforts to secure compensation for the Home Bank depositors. Frank Santoni, G.M., Fernie Headquarters.

Down in Blairmore the pot has been boiling for the past week over the situation created by the scarcity of work in the coal mines in that neighborhood. Phil. Christophers and his followers are strongly in favor of sticking with Wm. Sherman and his U.M.W. of A. supporters, but there is another strong element who are in favor of taking a cut in wages in order to give the coal operators a chance to do business. A meeting was held on Sunday last in which the Sherman crowd predominated, and another meeting of those in opposition was held on Wednesday. The affair at present is at a standstill, while some representatives of the Alberta government are making an investigation of the whole situation.

Will the person who took the pair of ladies brown rubbers by mistake from the I.O.O.F. Hall kindly return same to D. F. Markland.

The Odd Fellows will give a social evening on Friday, Feb. 27, starting at 8 o'clock. All Odd Fellows and Rebekahs are invited.

Herbert Lanfear, of Yahk, was in the city on Tuesday. Mr. Lanfear is applying for a beer licence for his old hotel premises in Newgate. Robt. Williams is also applying for a licence for Newgate.

Instead of playing a return game at Michel, the Michel Intermediate team expressed a desire to play this game at Fernie, and will come down by special train, bringing with them a large crowd of supporters, Saturday evening. As an added attraction the Michel Juniors and Fernie Juniors will stage a preliminary game at 8.15 p.m. The Intermedate game will start at 9.30 p.m.

A whist drive and dance will be held in the Club Hall at Coal Creek on Monday, Feb. 23, by the members of the English Church Ladies Guild. Cards from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. Dancing from 10 p.m. till 2 a.m. Admission 50c. Refreshments will be served.

Esther Rebekah Lodge, I.O.O.F., held their annual ball in the Odd Fellows Hall last Friday evening and it proved to be one of the most successful affairs of the season. The ball took the form of a novelty Valentine dance, the hall being very attractively decorated to suit the occasion, showing that the ladies had spared no efforts to make the affair very attractive. Fancy hats, flowers and strings of hearts were given to the dancers during the evening, and entering into the celebration of Valentine Day the large gathering passed a most pleasant evening.

LOCAL & GENERAL

Mrs. E. K. Stewart returned on Tuesday from a trip to Spokane.

G. G. Henderson left on Friday evening for Ottawa on business in connection with the Home Bank.

W. R. Wilson is spending a few days in Vancouver. He is expected back in a day or two.

All arrangements are completed. You will have a big time at the Elks Dance, March 2nd.

Come, have refreshments and a cup of tea like mother used to make at the Catholic Hall on Saturday, March 14.

All Patrarchs of Kootenay Encampment are reminded that the next meeting will be held on Monday, Feb. 23.

The annual meeting of the Library Association will be held in the council chamber on Thursday, Feb. 26, at 8 p.m. All members of the library are earnestly requested to attend.

The I.O.D.E. girls are leaving no stone nturned to give everyone a whale of a time at the Japenese Dance on Tuesdy, Feb. 24, at I.O.O. F. Hall. This is not a masquerade.

Rev. Father McKenna was the principal speaker at the Rotary luncheonon Monday. He took for his subject "Service," and gave a very able and instructive address.

Ernest Wood leaves Saturday for Vancouver, where he will assume his duties as assistant inspector for the Bank of Commerce. Mrs. Wood and the family expect to leave some time next week.

Where do we go from here, boys? Why, to the Catholic social. Whist from 8 p.m. to 10.30 p.m. Dancing from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m. Good prize, music and refreshments. Admission 50c.

The annual meeting of the Fernie Club was held last night. The officers for the ensuing year are: President H. Cox; 1st Vice, Jos. Austin; 2nd Vice, H. E. Douglas; Secretary, Harvey Brown. The old directors were re-elected.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Appleyard, who have been residents of Fernie for the past three years, left on Sunday evening for New York, where Mr. Appleyard will go into the brokerage business as a member of the New York Stock Exchange. Previous to coming to Fernie he had considerable experience in the bond business in Minneapolis.

N. F. Brand, American Consul, will deliver his lecture, "The Philippine People," in the United Church on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. This lecture has been given to large audiences in colleges and churches in the United States and has always met with favorable reception. A short musical program precedes the lecture.

We regret that the names of the prize winners at the measuring party given by the Pythian Sisters on Feb. 12 were not properly stated. Winners of prizes for whist should have read, 1st prizes, Mrs. Marshall and Mr. Stewart. Consolation prizes, Mrs. Blinston and R. Phillips. Of course Dick had the ready excuse that given good partners he would have won first prize.

This evening the Cranbrook Canucks ladies hockey team, strengthened by members of the Cranbrook Bluebirds and the Kimberley ladies, will play a return game here with the Fernie Swastikas. This will probably be the only chance Fernie fans will have of seeing the ladies in action on the ice this winter, so don't miss the opportunity.

The numerous telegrams arriving in Fernie from the Hon. Dr. J. H. King Minister of Public Works, would indicate that our member has been very busy and that his efforts have not been without results. The following wire to A. I. Fisher conveys the impression that the depositors have every reason to expect full reimbursement from the Dominion government: "Premier announced today that with respect to depositors of Home Bank, government has decided to introduce this session measure recognizing moral claim in equity for compensation as referred to in concluding paragraph of report Committee of Banking and Commerce. Proposed legislation will be brought down in due course. Don't worry.—J. H. King."

Geo. Roo, of Roosville, is applying for a beer licence for that village.

Come, join the happy circle at the Japanese Dance, I.O.O.F. Hall, Tuesday, Feb. 24. Refreshments served.

Born—At Hosmer, B.C., on Feb. 16, to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Huric, twin sons.

Turkey Dinner at the Northern Hotel, Sunday, Feb. 22. Brasch 5-piece orchestra playing from 6 to 7. 75c per plate.

The mild weather has again tied up the local bonspiel. The Fernie Club is out to the finals and the Grand Challenge and the Burns to the semi-finals. The schedule as played to date appears on page 8.

The reguar meeting of the Local Council of Women will be held in the council chamber on Friday, Feb. 27, at 3 p.m. A full attendance is requested.

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 24, at 8 o'clock, there will be a whist drive and social evening in the basement of Christ Church. This will be the last whist drive until after Lent. Admission 50c.

A contingent of government liquor spotters have been visiting the district for the past couple of weeks. No prosecutions have yet been reported. Local blind pigs will have that pleasure to look forward to.

Word has just been received by the Fernie District Rod & Gun Club from the Dept. of Fisheries, of the allotment of 300,000 Eastern Brook Trout eyed eggs for the stocking of streams n the Fernie district this spring. This is a part of an extensive program for restocking the streams tributary to the Elk river, undertaken by the Club in cooperation with the government.

Alf. Cummings reported progress at the Rotary luncheon on Monday in connection with the swimming pool. An expert in Calgary was preparing plans and specifications in connection with the proposed pool. The present idea is for a pool 105 feet long by 35 feet wide, the top of the concrete structure to be about two feet above the ground. Mr. Cummings stated that the work would be commenced as soon as the frost was out of the ground.

The city police are looking for the man who forged an endorsation on the back of a $25 check made out to W. A. Ingram. On Saturday afternoon one of the United Church ladies in charge of a sale of work had occasion to get change and made out a check on the Imperial Bank to Mr. Ingram. When she arrived at his store she found she had dropped the check on the street. The bank was notified to ston payment, but a few days after the check came through the Bank of Commerce with Mr. Ingram's endorsation and cashed by How Foon. The latter is not absolutely clear as to the description of the party who gave him the check so it is a difficult matter to trace the party who committed the forgery.

For the past year the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. and the Great Northern Railway Co. have been negotiating with a view to using one line of track from Elko to Natal. This would be a saving of half the upkeep on a line over 50 miles long. Recently engineers for both lines have been making a complete survey of the situation and it is quite possible that an early announcement will be made. One line could easily handle all the business on this stretch of road without working any particular hardship upon the settlers in the valley. As the Great Northern has a much better grade than the C.P.R., the chances seem to favor it as the permanent line. If the idea is carried into effect, the abandoned right of way would make a wonderful trunk road for autos through the valley. It would be a real speedway for fifty miles.

SWASTIKAS WIN

Cranbrook, Feb. 15.—The Fernie Swastikas, the champion lady hockey team from the coal city, were visitors in Cranbrook Saturday evening, when they met the Cranbrook Canuck team in a hockey game. Though the team was heavier, they were not as fast on the ice, with the result that the Swastikas were able to recover quickly from the rushes on their goal, and carry the puck back to the Cranbrook end. The game ended three to nothing for Fernie.

There was no scoring in the first period, but Fernie got two in the second and another in the third. But for the good work in goal by Frances Drummond, the score would probably have been much heavier. J. Fred Scott refereed the game, which was fast and vigorous all the way through.

After the game the visiting players and a few friends were entertained at a social time in one of the homes.

The ladies' game was put on at the Arena rink as part of the hockey week which was organized by the Amateur Athletic Association, during which teams have been playing from the smallest kiddies who can keep skates on, to the big boys and girls' teams. The idea is to stimulate as much as possible the interest of the community in hockey.

MRS. GARDOM IS CARNIVAL QUEEN

Banff, Feb. 16.—In the close race for the queen's crown for the 1926 carnival, Mrs. Gardom, of Lake Louise, defeated Mrs. Foley Martin, of Calgary, by the narrow margin of 8,000 votes. During the early hours of the dance the fever heat of the contest was so intense that few thought of dancing. The polling booth in the corner of Cascade hall was the scene of frantic excitement as each side bought votes for their favorite. Posted approximation of the results kept each in touch with the progress of the race. The voting closed at 11 o'clock.

The official returning officers with scrutineers for each candidate counted the votes while the crowd tried to dance through the tenseness of awaiting for the final announcement. Shortly before 12 the music stopped and the throng of dancers and spectators gathered in a huge circle about the throne. Then the judge announced that Mrs. Basil Gardom had won with 247,000 votes, as against Mrs. Martin's 239,000. Universal acclaim to the new queen announced the pleasure of the winners and the co-operation of the good losers.

Miss Dahlia Schagel the retiring queen, took her place on the throne, then the stately procession, led by the new queen with the Vancouver Amazons as guards of honor, passed up the centre of the foot of the throne. In a touching speech of farewell Miss Schagel thanked all those who had relped to make "her" carnival a success. Amidst thundering applause she graciously stepped from the throne to make way for the new favorite. Miss Dahlia Schagel was an ideal queen. Her pleasing personality won many friends for herself and for the Banff winter carnival. Then the new queen stepped to the raised dias to face the eager throng. Mrs. Gardom was a stranger to many in the audience, but she at once won their hearts by her speech of appreciation for the honor which had been conferred upon her.

Mrs. Newrich was fond of flowers and especially liked salvia, but was not very reliable in getting names right. She was giving directions to her gardener. "On this side of the walk," she said, "I want you to put out some salivas. Now what would you suggest for the other side?"

"Well, madam," answered the gardener solemnly, "maybe it would be a good idea to put some spittoonias there."

THE MAGIC OF PUBLIC SPIRIT

There is a city not far from Vancouver that was practically created by the devotion of twelve men. Their enterprising spirit caught the population and the city's welfare became first in the public mind. Everything manufactured in that city was given the preference and the city grew. It's a spirit of this kind that the Made-in-B.C. campaign is trying to awaken in British Columbia.

Get rid of constipation by internal cleanliness

HEADACHES, biliousness, sleepless nights, heaviness, are Nature's warning that intestinal poisons are flooding your system. If this is allowed to continue, you may become a victim of serious organic disease.

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favour Lubrication

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

"Carrying coals to Newcastle" would not have been thought more supererogatory than would the shipment of Canadian flour to Russia before the war. Russia was in prewar days our greatest European rival in the world's wheat market, but today she is contracting with Canadian mills to grind Canadian wheat to feed her hungry people. It is a very vivid illustration of the extent of her economic disorganization. One Canadian company has just received a Russian order for 1,300,000 barrels of flour to be shipped to Batum, on the Black Sea, whence Russian ships, in other times used to sail for Great Britain laden with Russian wheat or flour.

It is said that this is the largest single contract for flour ever awarded. It is a matter for Canadian pride that it is an order obtained in competition with the world, and that it was received because the Russians were well pleased with the quality of Canadian flour previously supplied them. The financial details are not disclosed, though the price is about $12,000,000. Financial reconstruction in Russia has preceeded further than industrial recovery, and the new Russian currency has been stabilized on a basis of gold, in accordance with the "bourgeois" economics which Lenin tried to overthrow until the cold logic of facts convinced him of his error. It is fortunate that Russia is now able to make such purchases to feed millions who are suffering from the effects of a crop shortage and from inadequate facilities for grinding and transporting bread grains. Experts say it will be years before Russia will again be a serious competitor in neutral markets, and that by that time the United States will have no surplus for export.

BARE ARMS IN POLAND

In Poland it is now unlawful for girls to expose their bare arms. It is even an offense for stores to exhibit sleeveless dresses in their windows.

Bernarr Macfadden, foremost enemy of prudery on this continent, should be interested in that.

Macfadden says the nude body is a beautiful thing and only the filthy-minded can object to its exposure.

One thing is certain, the "sex lure" so widely exploited in current fiction is highly over-stressed, in spite of Mr. Freud and his disciples. And if the beautiful girls of Poland have been found guilty of disrupting the even tenor of Polish life with their dimpled elbows, those elbows must have more than usual potency.

If any law is necessary to regulate clothing,, it should operate in beautiful.

According to the statistics of those who know, only one woman in fifty has beautiful arms.

Perhaps the new Polish law is designed to protect the sensibilities of the artistic rather than to protect public morals.

THE WORLD AND THE CAVE MAN

A world insuspense[(of hourly bulletins from the Kentucky cave where Floyd Collins battled for life again points to the general interest in human adventure. A hundred lives may be snuffed out in a twinkling by a mine disaster, and no thought given to it on the morrow by the world at large. Yet a single life in a remote natural underworld, where all the forces appear to work in league with Death, excites unending interest, moving to the climax as success or failure approaches.

Man never loses his zest for a trial of his wits or strength against great odds. Strong men spend quiet, perhaps secret, hours in reading adventure stories written mainly for boys. We all follow breathlessly the movements of Livingstone in Africa, Scott and his companions over the Antarctic Barrier, or Hearne or Franklin over the Canadian northern wilderness. As long as men will greatly dare, and their fellows follow and applaud, the race is not deteriorating.

Conan Doyle pictured in "The Lost World" the fate of an exploring expedition which fell into a valley inhabited by prehistoric animals, such as the dinosaur, and somehow the unplumbed depths of the caves of Kentucky seem, in our imagination, to hold some such secrets in their keeping.

Order from your grocer several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans.

What Shall I Prepare for Dinner Today?

Mary Blake can help you. We will gladly forward—free—Mary Blake's Carnation Recipe Book on receipt of the coupon below. Over 100 delightful and helpful recipes at your disposal. Try these recipes:

CARNATION CARAMELS

1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup white sugar, ½ cup corn syrup, ⅔ cup Carnation Milk. Mix well and boil, stirring often until the mixture makes a firm though not brittle ball when dropped in cold water. Pour into a pan that has been rinsed with cold water and allow to cool without stirring or disturbing. When nearly cold mark into squares and cut when cold. If liked, nut meats or cocoanut may be laid in the pan before pouring in the candy. If chocolate flavor is liked, add one square of melted chocolate before the candy is finished cooking.

CARNATION FONDANT

½ cup Carnation Milk, 3 cups sugar, ½ cup water. Boil to soft ball stage without stirring, cool without stirring, beat until creamy. Pack in bowl covered with damp cloth until ready to use.

Again—Do Not Expect Long Trading Allowances on Any Used Car When You Come to Buy a Chrysler

This statement of eight months ago is repeated in justice to Chrysler distributors and dealers, who cannot in fairness be expected to penalize themselves by making long allowances, merely because the Chrysler may have depreciated the value of other cars.

A car may be a very good car indeed and still it will lack the riding, driving, braking, accelerating, power and speed qualities which thrill the owner of a Chrysler Six.

As we said in June of last year, those qualities are so valuable and mean so much in efficiency and economy that you could well afford to discard the used car without compensation for the sake of the amazing activity of performance and the saving the Chrysler will bring you.

Even if another car originally cost you twice as much, the burden you escape when you acquire a Chrysler—the substitution of more agile and satisfying performance and the stoppage of waste—will more than compensate you.

Months ago we said that because of these unusual Chrysler qualities, the Chrysler was invading all markets and especially those of much higher price.

We also said that the enthusiasm of the public over the Chrysler was certain to affect all motor cars and ultimately all motor car design.

The change in (internal) design has not yet come. Until it does, there is no possibility for anyone who wants Chrysler results to make a comparison between the Chrysler and other cars, whether they be used or new.

It is all a question of whether you want the qualities which the Chrysler alone provides.

If you do, then it is perfectly clear that you cannot compare the value of another used car or any other new car with the value of the Chrysler.

Neither higher prices nor lower prices nor long allowances have anything to do with the fact that there is still only one Chrysler and that it delivers results which no other car delivers.

This is no reflection on any good car. It is simply a statement of facts which every Chrysler owner knows.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan. Dealers everywhere.

COAL CREEK NOTES

A trio of local sports had a great experience on Friday evening last. Being desirous of attending the Rebekah dance, they borrowed a horse and cutter, but after leaving camp the animal refused to proceed further and the three had to take turns in leading. Thus they emulated the Irishman who took a cab and walked. Harry's sugar trick induced the animal on the homeward journey.

Born, during the week end, to Mr. and Mrs. Fleming, a fine baby girl.

Geo. Bradshaw has returned from his trip east after spending a few days with his partner.

The Ladies Aid of the United Church up here held a congregational social on Tuesday evening. Rev. W. Burns presided and addressed the gathering. Mr. and Mrs. W. Owen and Miss Dicken of Fernie rendered solos. Harry Sharpe entertained with one of his humorous monologues and the vocal efforts of Miss Emily Fawley and Miss M. Arrowsmith came as an agreeable surprise.

Owing to the I.O.O.F. Hall being engaged on Tuesday, Feb. 24, there will be no session of the K. of P. lodge.

Ernest Neidig, tipple foreman, was removed to Fernie suffering injuries to his back, the result of a fall.

The Fleming Brothers gave a good radio concert in the Club Hall on Wednesday evening.

Dr. Young, of Fernie, paid a professional visit to camp during the week.

We are pleased to report that Mrs. T. Arbuckle is again able to be around after her long serious illness.

Rev. W. Burns of Fernie will conduct divine service up here on Sunday next.

N. E. SUDDABY—DRUGGIST

A large number of residents journeyed to Fernie on Thursday evening, the big picture at the Orpheum and the recital by Miss West's pupils being the attraction.

Mrs. Hurst of Trail, was visiting this camp on Thursday. She is an old time resident of this burg.

THE WEEK'S HOCKEY GAMES

Waldo hockey team visited Fernie on Monday evening and met the local Intermediates on rather heavy ice. They were hopelessly outclassed, Fernie taking no chances of having a repetition of last year's affair, when they sent a weak team on the ice. The final tally was 13 to 2 in favor of Fernie.

In the City League game, at Coal Creek on Sunday, the 150s defeated Coal Creek, on rough ice, by a score of five goals to one.

On Fernie ice on Tuesday the Coal Creek team again went down to defeat at the hands of the West Fernie Bluebirds by a score of four to nil, in one of the roughest games of the season, J. Thompson of the Bluebirds drawing the first match penalty handed out to any player this season for cutting down Corlett of Coal Creek.

On Thursday evening the Northerns gave the Bluebirds a bad setback in their race for league honors and strengthened their own position when they won a hard fought game by a score of three goals to one.

NEWS FROM COKATO

Seven months ago a Poultry Club was formed here by the youthful members of this burg, under the auspices of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, who supplied to each member at a nominal cost a sitting of eggs from pure bred White Leghorn utility stock, offering prizes to those producing the best results. Mr. Good, of Nelson, the poultry instructor, supervised the efforts of each competitor. The following is the list of prize winners:

1st, $4—Bernard Anderson.
2nd, $3—Henry Anderson.
3rd, $2—Gustav Oman.
4th, $1—Miss Nellie Sadler.

A meeting of the Cokato Farmers Institute will be held in the Cokato school on Friday, Feb. 27, at 4 p.m. prompt. Business: It is desirable to plant certified seed potatoes. Members are requested to be on time. Ladies are cordially invited.

HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

A very interesting debate took place at the High School on Friday, Feb. 13, by the third year students. "Resolved, that women should receive the same wages as men for the same work." Those taking the affirmative side were Margaret Irvine and Bill Duncan; and the negative, Jessie Robertson and James Venables. The judges, John Polak, Arthur Littley and Eddie Pennington, had a hot time judging the debate, but finally decided in favor of the negative.

Following this was a recitation, "She Never Gave Me a Chance," by Erwin Taylor.

John Corlett and Paul Kasmar are back at school studying for their sups, which they will write in June.

ELECT OFFICERS

At their annual meeting held at the home of Miss D. Nelson, the Robt. J. Black Chapter of the I.O. D.E. elected the following officers for 1925:

Hon. Regent—Mrs. E. K. Stewart.
Regent—Miss M. Duncan.
1st Vice Regent—Miss G. Bean.
2nd Vice Regent—Miss D. Dicken.
Secretary—Miss D. Corrie.
Cor. Secy.—Miss J. Strachan.
Echoes Secy.—Miss N. Murphy.
Treasurer—Miss D. Kelman.
Standard Bearer—Miss K. Bean.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

F. Brand gav a very interesting lecture to a large audience in the United Church last evening on "The Philippine People." Mr. Brand, who is a keen observer, has travelled extensively and his lectures are famous throughout the United States, and it is a rare treat to the people of Fernie when they have an opportunity of hearing him.

A couple of weeks ago we published a news item reporting the marriage of Miss F. Larmont and B. Tognotti, of Trail, at Vancouver. We have received a letter from the young lady stating that the report was untrue. We may be pardoned for the error when we state that our information was received from an apparently good source.

The meeting held by those interested in the co-operative movement in Victoria Hall on Sunday was attended by about 150 citizens of Fernie. The principal speaker was Mr. Smith, of Natal, who is manager of the Co-operative store in that town. He is a fluent speaker and seemed to have his subject well in hand. Hitherto Fernie citizens have not taken much interest in the movement Mr. Smith made a very strong appeal for their support in future.

Tuesday's Nelson News says: William Burns, president of the Fernie Rotary Club, spoke briefly at last night's meeting of the Nelson club, held in the Hume rotunda. Mr. Burns spoke of his pleasure of being at a club meeting, and of hearing Mr. Hamilton's speech on the Canadian constitution. He thought the senate was out of date, and that the system of appeal was poor as compared with Australia's, where only cases of international bearing were taken to the privy council. But, he explained, he was not a lawyer, and was only voicing a personal view.

COMMUNICATION

Fernie, B.C., Feb. 26, 1925.
Fernie Free Press:

Sir—One of the most deplorable things to occur in any town is the closing down of a general hospital. It is a thing almost unheard of, but sad to say is a reality in the city of Fernie, and more sad still to hear of men meeting with accidents and having to be taken home, owing to no hospital accommodation. This mode of treating a patient may mean a prolonged illness and may cause other complications to arise which probably would not have arisen if the patient had been put in a proper institution with the required facilities to enable a more speedy recovery.

However, now as springtime is approaching and perhaps the usual ill winds, (meaning sickness amongst the kiddies), it is high time the live wires in this town called a public meeting on short notice and devised ways and means to get the hospital opened up at once.

As regards the doctors, if there is any ill feeling amongst them and don't want to work together, well, the sooner they bury the knife the better it will be for them and the public. For in every profession there is always one better than another, and in any institution they are all needed, as the builder is no use without the laborer, and so on.

The people of Fernie are looking forward to Fernie increasing in both trade and population, and with the ill winds (again) that may eventually come along, there may be enough work along with educational lectures to keep the doctors moving and forget their animosity. If I am right in surmising their grevance, let me remind them they only live once and animosity is not healthy.

The medical profession is one we cannot do without and they are needed by almost everyone, and when called on it is come at once, and I am sure everybody would like to see the hospital opened up at once, and all the doctors working amicably together.

Perhaps one of our leading townsmen, who is out of town at present, if he were approached on the hospital situation, would surely come to the help of strengthening the financial end of it up immediately. Hoping this communication will meet with the approval of all the citizens of Fernie. Yours respectfully,

Thomas Kennedy.

A. B. SANBORNE TALKS POWER

(Calgary Herald)

Business conditions and the attitude of the people of the towns of Fernie and Michel are better than for the last four years as a result of the recent agreement made between the miners and the mine operator, W. R. Wilson, according to A. B. Sanborne, manager of the East Kootenay Power Co., Ltd., of Fernie, who was a visitor in the city on Monday.

Mr. Sanborne stated that more steady work had created a distinctly better feeling among the miners and other residents of Fernie and Michel, and that the outlook for the future was much brighter than for some time. With regard to other towns in the Crow's Nest Pass, Mr. Sanborne stated that he had not been so closely associated with those towns and hesitated to express an opinion as to conditions there. He was in the city to deliver an address to the members of the Calgary branch of the Engineering Institute on hydraulics and the development of his company.

In his address to the engineers, Mr. Sanborne stated that the East Kootenay Power company has about 225 miles of transmission lines running from Hillcrest to Kimberley. These are served by two plants located at Bull River and Elko, and the lines are duplicated so that all customers are provided with duplicate service from the hydro-electric plants.

These two plants generate about 22,000 horse power, which is distributed to the coal mines of Southwestern Alberta and the metal mines of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting plant at Kimberley. In addition to this, the company provides power for the municipalities of Cranbrook, Fernie, Coleman, Blairmore and Bellevue, with retail power furnished to the towns of Bull River and Elko.

After outlining the scope of his company, Mr. Sanborne went into a number of technical problems in hydraulics, drawn from the experiences of the East Kootenay Power Company in its work.

MAKING SURVEY OF PASS COLLERIES

Edmonton, Feb. 23.—The Alberta government is making a careful survey of the deplorable conditions in the Crow's Nest Pass coal fields, trying to arrive at some plan to open up the mines on something like a regular steady schedule and probing the need of relief.

John Stirling, head of the department of mines, is in the field and looking into the prospect of having the mines re-opened. Walter Smitten, commissioner of labor, is also in the Crow's Nest considering the necessity for supplying relief to the needy miners.

Alex. Ross, minister of public works, left on Saturday for Ottawa to interview the government in respect to highways and the government grant for highways.

FEW BEER LICENCES FOR CRESTON DISTRICT

Creston, Feb. 24.—Although the season for applying for beer licences has been open at least two weeks so far only one license has been asked for in the Creston district. The sole applicant is B. Johnson of the Kitchener hotel at Kitchener, 10 miles east of Creston, which is one of the polling places at this end of the riding that voted "wet" on the beer plebiscite. Due to the liquor commissioners adhering to a policy of refusing licenses to "dry" spots in "wet" ridings, no licenses will be issued in Creston village. The license fee in hamlets such as Kitchener is but $150.

Rumors that the C. N. R. tests of Wainwright oil for locomotive fuel purposes have caused a slight flurry in Edmonton oil circles. There has been an active demand for British Petroleum stocks for some days, with Vancouver orders being largely in evidence. It is claimed that the Vancouver oil interests have a favorable report on the railway tests and that has caused a spurt in buying.

COMMUNICATION RE THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

West Fernie, B.C., Feb. 23, 1925.

Sir—I must acknowledge that Mr. Smith made out a good case for co-operation, especially in criticizing the many non-producers, middlemen, including an army of clerks, etc. In the course of his speech, he spoke of including the wholesale end of the business in the co-operative scheme, which, I think, is where he spilt the beans. It naturally follows that he will have to take over the railway system of transport, also clerks, etc.

I must say I felt rather cheap at being branded one of the boarders whom the miners are supporting, but on reflection I realize I'm in good company, as the worthy chairman at the meeting could be classed under the same category; also the doctors, banks, including officials, etc., builders, insurance business men and real estate agents.

There is another side to his argument as to competition. Rivalry in business seems the only way prices can be brought to a fair and proper level. When he spoke of the large number of stores in so small a town and the wearing of boots and shoes by the hunters in quest for the cheapest market, I was reminded of Mr. Robert Blatchford in "Merrie England," published in England about forty years ago. Further, if the profits on retailing goods, whether hardware or foodstuffs, is excessive, why not start a business of his own, with his own money, and so make a speedy fortune for himself, instead of getting other people's money to work with and making profits for others. One word more. If it comes to that we are all parasites, or boarders, as we cannot eat the coal for food nor wear it for clothing. We have to depend upon the farmers for the former and the native cotton growers for the latter. Likewise the farmer depends upon the manufacturer and the lumberjack for his farm implements and his lumber for barns, etc. I am of the opinion that much of the trouble which we are going through would be lessened if we could only practice the Golden Rule.

Yours truly,
One of the Boarders.

SCORING SHERMAN

(Cranbrook Courier)

William Sherman, president of District 18, U.M.W. of A., and Thos. Uphill, M.P.P. for Fernie, have both had their innings and both fanned. They should in good grace retire to the bench and allow others to guide the destinies of Fernie, after its wonderful "come back" from a knock-out blow delivered by the aforementioned gentlemen, who held high carnival until the lights went out. Mr. Sherman is making a "last stand" for Fernie miners, and incidentally his job. Should the miners hold fast to their newly formed organization, and they undoubtedly will, William Sherman is unquestionably out of a job. Then what about Tommy Uphill? Where is he going to come off with the miners in their new organization? Can he make a right-about turn and don the garb of the New Federation in spite of his stand with Mr. Sherman? Tommy Uphill has played many a political game in the coal city to our knowledge, and it must be said to his credit that he played his hand well. But in this last jumble he has lost the confidence of the miners, the business people and the honest-to-goodness union men. A large number of the Fernie miners are opposing Tommy for his asking the provincial government to resort to what they consider the dole system. They are emphatic in their statements that they want work and will have nothing to do with the "red" element of Fernie. They are satisfied that William Sherman and his lieutenants led them into the avenue of short shifts and hard times, with their credit impaired and the outlook dark. They formed a new organization as a means of improving their condition and have dropped Willie and Tommy from supreme command. It will be interesting to watch events in Fernie for the next month. Indications are that the few remaining Shermanites will be given the G.B.O.

BARRACKS AT FORT STEELE

(By R. G. Macbeth)

Efforts are now being made to have the Historical Sites Society of Canada take up the matter of restoring and preserving Fort Steele, the pioneer fort of the Mounted Police in this province. So far as is known it is the only fort built by that famous corps in this province. It is called after one of the most distinguished officers of the frontier force and it is beautifully situated in the high banks along the Kootenay not far from Windermere, where a year or so ago a fine monument to the memory of David Thompson, the noted explorer, was dedicated.

Fort Steele was built in 1887 by Superintendent Samuel B. Steele (aftreward Major General Sir S. B. Steele), and his (D) division of the Northwest Mounted Police. Besides being one of the most distinguished and best known of Mounted Police officers, Supt. Steele was perhaps more closely associated with the early history of B.C. than any other officer of the force, for not only did he build Fort Steele and restore order in the Kootenay, but he also commanded the Mounted Police, maintaining the law on the lien of construction of the C.P.R. in B.C. in 1884-85, and was in command in the Yukon Territory during the great gold rush of 1898.

Fort Steele was built as a direct result of the trouble between the white settlers and the Indian Chief Isadore in 1887, and it was from this fort that Supt. Steele restored order and good feeling. On account of all these facts, and because it would stand as a monument to Supt. Steele and the N.W.M.P., and would give the future generations some tangible idea of pioneer conditions, it is thought that what remains of the fort might well be taken over by some official organization for perpetual preservation.

The story of the settlement of the Chief Isadore difficulty, an important chapter in B.C. history, is well told in details in Steele's biography, "Forty Years in Canada." Briefly, the trouble began when in 1886, Chief Isadore of the Kootenay tribe, with part of his band, broke open the jail at Wild Horse Creek and released Kapla, one of his men who had been arrested, charged with murder, in 1884, of twe white placer miners, at Deadman's Creek, on the White Horse-Golden trail.

Colonel James Baker had purchased from Galbraith Bros., of Galbraith's Ferry, (now Fort Steele), land occupied by Isadore and his forbears before him for generations, and had ordered Isadore to vacate. This was an additional grievance in the eyes of the Indians and they flatly refused to obey. There was no organized power in B.C. capable of enforcing Col. Baker's wishes, and when Isadore broke open the jail at Wild Horse Creek matters came to a head and the white settler appealed to the Dominion government for help. As a result Supt. Steele and his division were sent from the prairies to the scene of the trouble. They came by train via Golden, where they camped for some time and then marched, mounted, the rest of the way, establishing themselves on a site near Galbraith's Ferry, on August 1, 1887. R. L. T. Galbraith rented the ground to Supt. Steele for the modest sum of $1.00.

Supt. Steele investigated the charge against Kapla but had to release him on account of insufficient evidence. It took 12 months of patient diplomacy to induce Isadore to stay on the land allotted him, but this was eventually accomplished without serious trouble or any bloodshed In July, 1888, all difficulties having been smoothed out, Supt. Steele was ordered to withdraw from B.C. He left on August 7, by the Crow's Nest Pass, that being the first time that route had been used by a military force.

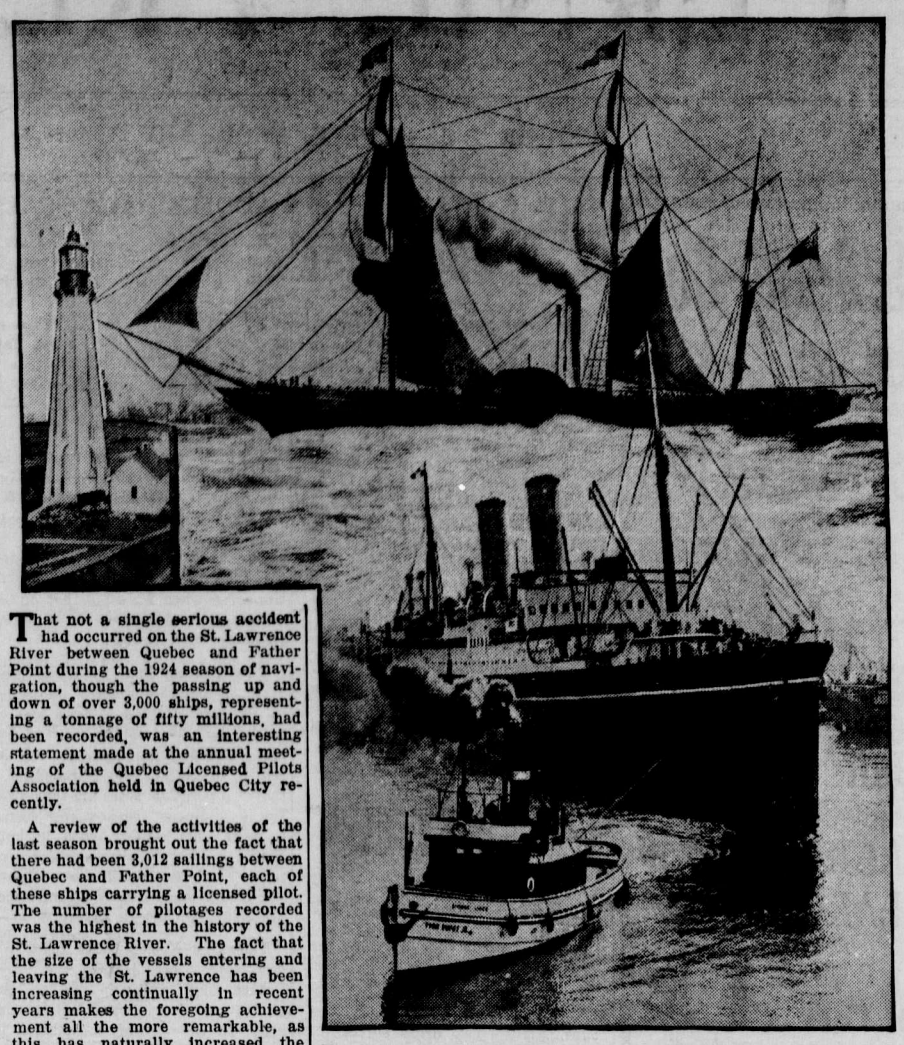
Before his departure, Isadore came to him and, at a sports meeting attended by all the whites and Indians of the district, informed him that he was thoroughly satisfied. He spoke in the highest terms of the manly and moral behavior of the Mounted Police, adding that when they came into the district the Indians did not know them and very naturally were in doubt, but all had changed and he hoped that when they returned to the Northwest Territories they would look back with kindly feelings towards them.

When they arrived, Isadore continued, the whites and Indians of the district had mutual distrust, but that had disappeared, never to return, chiefly owing to the good advice given to the Indians by the officers of the force and the kindly and honorable behavior of the men. He added that, if in future, there was any cause for complaint, instead of taking the law in their own hands, they would visit Fort Macleod to obtain advice from the "Great Mother's Redcoats."

This promise was faithfully kept; there has never been any trouble with the Indians of Kootenay since. The great alarm of the settlers was allayed thenceforward.

There are now only two of the original buildings of the old fort standing. The others were torn down from time to time, the material being used for the construction of an Indian school at St. Eugene Mission. It is entirely due to the late Mr. Galbraith that all have not been dismantled, and he, alone was entirely responsible for their preservation in good order up to the present time.

At present, the two buildings are in an excellent state of preservation, as Mr. Galbraith kept them in good repair and they are entirely habitable, and if looked after, will stand for a number of years. Though only two in number, the buildings are the most important of the original barracks, i.e., the commandant's quarters and the jail, to which is attached the orderly room.



It is now suggested that the buildings might be taken over by an official organization thus assuring their preservaton for many years. When necessary, they might be reconstructed in concrete, as was the David Thompson memorial at Windermere, recently opened, but that time is still distant. It will cost next to nothing to preserve them for another decade or more, in their present state. The grounds surrounding the buildings could be nicely laid out with flowers, etc., and the buildings might be used as a museum for the housing of historical objects connected with the old N.W.M.P. and with the Kootenay.

Fort Steele lies in one of the finest scenic districts of British Columbia, on good roads, as well as in important mining districts. Thus there is considerable traffic in the district at all times and especially in the tourist season. Advantage might be taken for its own upkeep by means of a voluntary subscription box placed in a conspicuous place in one of the buildings, as many hundred tourists from the United States and Canada would undoubtedly take the beautiful scenic run to the fort in order to see it, especially if it were a museum.

To those who knew something at first hand of "Sam" Steele's great work for Canada and the empire through forty strenuous years, it seems highly fitting that the present occasion be used to preserve a special landmark as a tribute to the service of this remarkable man. He was known to most people, perhaps, as a fighter on many fields and no man could more swiftly become the embodiment of irresistible energy when occasion demanded. But to those who know the history of this country more intimately, Steele was a diplomat and an administrator whose extraordinary ability saved the frontier from many an expensive and dangerous complication.

It is breaking no confidence to say that after all his opportunities on the frontiers, he had kept so close to his duty that he made nothing for himself and died in comparative poverty. It may be that people will see in this proposal to preserve Fort Steele an opportunity not only to commemorate an important historical event but an occosion to honor the memory of an illustrious and singularly devoted Canadian.

St. Lawrence Route Claims Pilotage Record

That not a single serious accident had occurred on the St. Lawrence River between Quebec and Father Point during the 1924 season of navigation, though the passing up and down of over 3,000 ships, representing a tonnage of fifty millions, had been recorded, was an interesting statement made at the annual meeting of the Quebec Licensed Pilots Association held in Quebec City recently.

A review of the activities of the last season brought out the fact that there had been 3,012 sailings between Quebec and Father Point, each of these ships carrying a licensed pilot. The number of pilotages recorded was the highest in the history of the St. Lawrence River. The fact that the size of the vessels entering and leaving the St. Lawrence has been increasing continually in recent years makes the foregoing achievement all the more remarkable, as this has naturally increased the draught of the liners, some of which, as in the case of the Canadian Pacific steamships, reached thirty and at times thirty-three feet.

Advance bookings to date, indicate that the St. Lawrence route during 1925 will prove even more popular than heretofore. A large number of Holy Year pilgrims to Rome will enjoy a trip down the River on the Canadian Pacific S.S. Melita early in May, and when the more general movement of tourists to Europe begins later in the year, large numbers of them, whether from the United States or Canada, will leave from Quebec or Montreal. With but four days on the open sea, this route to Europe affords advantages other than scenic which are responsible mainly for the increase in traffic and the corresponding increase in tonnage and size of vessel operated over it.

CORINNE GRIFFITH DANCES TO STARDOM

Corinne Griffith, co-featured with Conway Tearle in First National's picturization of "Lilies of the Field," coming next Wednesday and Thursday to the Orpheum theatre, got her start in pictures by dancing her way to fame.

It was at Santa Monica, Calif. On the dance hall floor celebrities of the film world mingled with bankers and business men of Los Angeles. The intoxicating strains of the music carried an enchanting rhythm that inspired a slip of a girl dancing with a tall young man. Together, like twin saplings bending gracefully before a March wind, they danced until the crowds gathered at the side of the floor and stopped dancing — so that they might watch the picture of perfection.

At the end of the dance an announcer mounted to the musicians' platform and called through his megaphone:

"Miss Corinne Griffith is unanimously voted the most graceful dancer in California, and I take great pleasure in presenting to her this beautiful silver cup."

After the ball was over a man asked Miss Griffith to work in pictures. Since then her rise has been rapid. Her name is known the world over.

But "Lilies of the Field," taken from William Hurlburt's play, is the first photo drama in which Miss Griffith has been given an opportunity to use the terpsichorean grace that brought her fame.

B.C.'S LOSS

At a recent meeting of the B.C. products bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade surprising figures showing the loss to this province through the purchasing of imported products were given by Mr. W. L. Macken, of Chilliwack, past president of the Associated Boards of Trade of B.C.
The $7,000,000 sent out of British Columbia last year would have kept several hundred people here working. That's important.

SEATTLE MAN BUYS MINE AT LUNDBRECK

Development of the Estill Mining company property just south of Lundbreck on a large scale is promised as a result of the sale of the mine to H. M. Hoard and associates of Seattle, Wash. The announcement of the sale was made today by the Cox Land company.

Mr. Hoard has been connected with the Bellingham Coal company, of Bellingham, Wash., for a number of years, and it is understood the development of the Lundbreck mine will be for the purpose of supplying coal to the Washington market. The property will be developed this summer. There are 480 acres of land in the property, and six seams of coal have been discovered, giving it a large potential value. The mine will continue to be run under the name of the Estell Mining company.

MINING LEADS IN CANADIAN INDUSTRY

British Columbia holds a key position in the future of Canada's development, said Dean R. W. Brock of the University of B.C., speaking Wednesday night at the convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

Despite all popular ideas of the basic industry of Canada, it is a fact that agriculture is only 15 per cent of the Dominion's wealth activity, said Dean Brock.

Opening of the potential mining resources of the country would give a greater value to the other natural resources of the country, he said.

Dean Brock, in his illustrated address, showed slides of Canada's great mining properties, including in the British Columbia field Sullivan, Anyox, Brittania and others.

Local Druggists Have Modern Remedy for Colds

A Vaporizing Salve which is Rubbed Over Throat and Chest for Colds.

When Vicks VapoRub, the "external" method of treating sore throat, bronchitis, deep chest colds, or croup, is applied over throat or chest, the ingredients are released as vapors by the body heat.

These vapors, inhaled with each breath carry the medication directly to the affected air passages, loosening the phlegm and relieving the congestion.

Colds are usually relieved over night.

The Standard Four-Door Sedan

The same engineering and manufacturing genius which in the Chrysler Six produced results heretofore unknown, has now in the new good Maxwell scored its second great triumph.

Here, in the simple, economical four-cylinder principle, has been attained a degree of speed, power, flexibility and quick acceleration which literally amazes those used to paying a high premium for comparable performance.

Thus the great Maxwell organization and its wonderful plants have brought within the buying-ability of new thousands, unequaled pick-up and speed, combined with unexampled economy—long life and a distinguished exterior which wins sincere admiration.

To produce such a car at the astonishingly low Maxwell prices is possible only with such complete and splendid manufacturing facilities as Maxwell's.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

BILL SHERMAN and his district officials have at length discovered it. They have found out that the Americans have been dumping coal into Western Canada until the steam coal mines of Alberta are practically out of business and they are calling loudly upon the Dominion government for protection. The consumer in Ontario must be made to pay for the exorbitant wages demanded by Sherman and his crowd. Mr. Sherman knows that the government will not cosider his resolution for a moment, but it is fine dope to make his followers believe that he is working hard for them. Following is the text of the resolution passed by Bill and his officers:

"The greatest amount of work can be provided for the miners of Canada by placing restrictions on American coal, and consuming coal mined in the Dominion of Canada," the resolution reads, which goes on to point out that in the year 1923 approximately 2,000,000 tons of steam coal were shipped west of the Great Lakes, and which represented two-thirds of the steam coal mined in Alberta in spite of the fact that that transportation cost was greater than in the case of Alberta coal.

The resolution requests that the federal government now in session "adopt measures that will protect the coal industry of the Dominion of Canada by placing restrictions on all foreign coals entering Canada."

SHOULD the calendar be changed so we would have thirteen months of 28 days each, with a "leap year" at the end of each year? Don't throw up your hands and say it's foolish, for some pretty learned men have been figuring it out—men who have devoted far more study to such a proposition than anyone around Fernie, and they declare there is merit in the proposal. In fact, there is an organization known as the International Fixed Calendar League, with hundreds of members scattered over the world, and they are advocating the change to a 13-month year with 28 days in each month.

A RULING by the Connecticut motor vehicle commission that "any person who drinks and then operates a car must be considered drunken," may sound drastic and will be certain to provoke controversy, but its universal adoption as a standard for the guidance of magistrates would as surely tend to eliminate one class of drivers which is a menace to life and limb on the public highways.

There ought to be no difference of opinion on the proposition that the person permitted to operate a powerful motor on the highways should be required to keep his faculties keen and alert; and there ought to be little dispute over the fact that the use of alcohol as a beverage is at least a contributing cause of reckless and incompetent driving.

If it were possible to enforce the Connecticut rule, there would be fewer auto fatalities.

IT is generally accepted that 1925 will be a year of reasonable prosperity. Such an expectation, of course, assumes that the general public—the consuming public—will be in an optimistic frame of mind and will not arbitrarily hold back its buyng. This assumption is justified, yet a word of caution seems timely.

Past experience shows that hand in hand with prosperous conditions comes careless business habits. The downward pressure on the expense of doing business on the part of many manufacturers and retailers eases up. In many instances, there is a tendency to advance prices. In this, there may be an element of danger. We believe the public, which is in a favorable mood now, would be inclined to change to a less favorable buying attitude if it sensed a general movement in the direction of increased prices.

The play for the retailer at this time is to make the most of the present opportunities and at the same time carry on his operations in such a way as to safeguard the continuance of the feeling of optimism which prevails.

ALBERTA MINES YIELD EIGHTEEN MILLIONS IN 1924

Domestic, sub-bituminous and bituminous coal to the value of $18,173,953.25 was mined in Alberta in 1924, representing 5,203,713 tons altogether.

Of this amount 3,096,660 tons of domestic coal were mined in 29 districts, valued at $10,216,978.

In five sub-bituminous districts, 591,946 tons were mined at a value of $2,515,770.50, and in five bituminous districts 1,615,107 tons were mined at a value of $6,429,204.75.

Following are the districts by name and the amount produced by each. The value is based on the price at the pit mouth, which was $3.30 a ton for the domestic and $4.25 for the sub and bituminous coals:

Domestic District

The Vancouver Province in an editorial declares that illicit liquor traffic, a large part of which is with American smugglers, was a "menace to British Columbia." The editorial stated that "these export houses" are "of so little value to the province and Canada by way of trade that there is no good reason why they should be permitted to continue."

COAL CREEK NOTES

Saturday was pay day up here, the usual animation attending these events being noted.

A number of visitors from outside points were noticed in camp during the week end.

Jack Bracken is under the doctor's care, suffering from cracked ribs, sustained while following his employment.

The Club Hall was filled to capacity on Monday night on the occasion of the whist drive and dance held under the auspices of the ladies of the Anglican church here. Mrs. Workman and Walter Haile won the first prizes, the consolation prizes going to John Eccleston and Mrs. J. Graham. A special prize was awarded to Dan McRitchie.

All local members of the Moose and their wives are invited to a social evening in the lodge room on Thursday, March 5, given by the Women of Mooseheart Legion. Refreshments will be provided. Members may bring a friend.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary will take place on Tuesday evening in the Vets rooms. Election of officers.

One of our residents is being held pending an investigation into the charge of bigamy.

The radiophone at the Fleming Brothers continues to make some enjoyable evenings.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander of Fernie and Mrs. H. Hartley of Cedar Valley were visitors on Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hartley.

A number of the United Church people here attended the the lecture in the Fernie United Church given by Mr. Brand on Thursday night.

Mrs. Greenough was the guest of Mrs. W. Atherton during the past week.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Remembrance of our dear daughter, Mrs. Annie Gaskell Wilson, who passed away at Ladysmith, B.C., on Feb. 26, 1924.

A year has passed; we still retain Fond memories of a daughter dear.
She sleeps in peace, now free from pain,
Still mourned by we who linger here.

LETTER RE HOME BANK

Joseph Aiello has received the following letter from the Hon. J. H. King:

Ottawa, Feb. 18, 1925.

Dear Sir—Premier King yesterday announced in the House of Commons that, with reference to the depositors of the Home Bank, the government has decided to introduce legislation this session to recognize "the moral claim in equity for compensaton," as referred to in the concluding paragraph of the report of the Committee on Banking and Commerce. The proposed measure will be brought down in due course.

I can assure you I am very pleased at this decision of the Prime Minister and his cabinet, and I am quite sure that the matter will be fairly adjusted. Yours very truly,

J. H. King.

STATION CNRW, WINNIPEG, "ON THE AIR"

RADIO Station CNRW, operated by the Canadian National Railways at Winnipeg, Manitoba, has found an admirable studio in the Concert Room, located on the seventh floor of the Fort Garry, the company's hotel in the western Gateway City, according to opinions expressed by listeners in all parts of Canada and the United States. The acoustic properties of this room lend themselves splendidly to microphone transmission; plenty of space is available for properly placing musical aggregations of any size, even to brass and pipe bands, symphony orchestras and large choirs, and the broadcasts, which are conducted by remote control through station CKY, have "gone across" splendidly since this location was secured. Photograph shows the scene in the studio on the night of Thursday, January 22, when the photographer interrupted the broadcast for a few minutes with his "Look pleasant, please."

From left to right the photograph shows The Winnipeggers Male Sextette, who contributed vocal numbers: R.H.R. at the "mike"; Miss Helen Huggard, contralto; The Melody Three and Mr. Gus Hughes, assisting violinist; Al Kilgour, popular soloist, and Miss Orean Hogan, soprano.

CNRW broadcasts each Thursday evening from 8 till 11 o'clock, Central Standard time, beginning with livestock market reports; Kiddies' Travel Tales; studio vocal and instrumental program, and Frank Wright's Country Club dance orchestra in dance program from the main dining room.

WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY, MARCH 4 & 5

Corinne Griffith and Conway Tearle in "LILIES OF THE FIELD"

A powerful drama of true mother love. The stirring story of a woman, pure and sweet, whose husband deserted her in a rage of unreasoning jealousy, whose baby was torn from her arms, who in the agony of her grief cried out: "There is nothing worth while left in life for me. Life has cheated me! Life is a cheat! You are a cheat! I'll be a cheat! We'll all be cheats together!" But—in purity of her heart she could not—and finally life made amends with a wondrous love. A beautiful romance of a woman saved from folly by a great love.

LOCAL & GENERAL

Mrs. R. M. Young, of Calgary, is visiting friends at Waldo.

W. R. Wilson arrixed home on Monday after spending a few days in Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Potter and son, of Cranbrook, spent Sunday in the city.

Owing to Victoria Hall being engaged on Monday evening the local Moose lodge will meet on Tuesday.

Supt. Barney Caufield of the Coal Creek Colleries is thinking of moving his family to Fernie.

Mrs. E. Dunlap and daughter Ruth, who have been visiting in Spokane and Portland for six weeks, returned home on Tuesday.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A. are holding a sale of aprons and home cooking in the Vets rooms on Saturday, March 7.

Dainty refreshments will be served at the Shamrock Tea, Catholic Hall, on Saturday, March 14. Come. All welcome.

A. Haddad, formerly of this city, had his delivery truck destroyed by fire on the Kimberley road on Tuesday of this week.

The local Pythian Sisters will hold a sale of aprons and home cooking on Thursday, April 9, in the I.O. O.F. Hall. Particulars later.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid of the United Church will be held at the home of Mrs. J. McIntyre, Howland Ave., Monday, March 2, at 3.30 p.m.

Dr. S. J. Schofield, of the University of British Columbia, hopes to lecture in Fernie about April 17, on the subject, "The Origin of Ore Deposits." Further particulars will be announced later.

Mrs. J. R. Wallace received word on Monday of the death of her mother, Mrs. A. Walker, of Toronto. Deceased, who was 85 years of age, had lived in the city of Toronto for 79 years.

W. C. Vanderburgh, C.P.R. telegraph operator at Crow's Nest, who has been sick in the hospital here, left for his home in New Westminster on Monday.

Mrs. A. K. Leitch and daughter Asenath were week end visitors in Fernie, leaving on Friday and returning on Sunday. Miss Miller, of Jaffray, accompanied them. — Cranbrook Herald.

The regular monthly meeting of the Rob. J. Black Chapter of the I.O.D.E. will be held at the home of Miss Jenny Strachan, Tuesday, March 33, at 7.30 p.m. sharp. Business very important.

F. G. Perry, of Fernie, is in the city for a few days. Fred has just returned from Ottawa and other eastern points, where he has been in attendance on the meetings of the federal fruit commission, whose report was recently tabled in the House.—Cranbrook Herald.

The marriage took place in Edmonton on Feb. 18, of Miss Viola Gertrude Williams of that city, to Henry Joseph Kelly, of Smithers, B.C. Miss Williams was on the staff of the Fernie hospital for 16 months, six of which time she was matron of the institution. Her many friends in Fernie join in wishing the happy pair every success.

Liquor spotters, who have been very busy in the district west of Fernie and around Kimberley, descended upon this city this week an on Tuesday night raided two local hotels and a pool room. No liquor of any kind was found, but a couple of ten-cent rummy games were closed and the players' names taken. In one of the games there was no money in sight, but the other was a rich haul for the spotters, nearly six dollars in silver being obtained from a few working men. It is not known for sure whether the government will proceed against the players, but they will have sufficient reason now for charging the city up with several thousand dollars' expenses and the amount will be regularly deducted from the municipal end of the liquor profits. The city would give a good sum to get a glimpse of some of those expense bills charged up against it in past years, but Mr. Manson says nothing doing.

Wm. McKay, of Elko, spent several days in the city this week.

Johnny Miscisco has moved his shoe hospital into the rear of the J. J. Harrington & Co. store.

Mrs. Jas. Camilli, of Hosmer, who has been a patient in the hospital, returned to her home this week.

Born—At Fernie, B.C., on Feb. 25, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marasco, a son.

The regular meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A. will be held in the Vets rooms on Tuesday, March 3.

Follow the crowd to the Elks dance, Monday night, Victoria Hall. Dancing will start promptly at 9 p.m. Come early and have a good time.

The Rotarians on Monday had the privilege of listening to a very interesting talk on Australia by a native of that country in the person of G. Dingle, who is spending a few days in the city.

Miss McGregor, travelling secretary for the Women's Missionary Society, will speak in the United Church on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock on Home Missions. The Women's Missionary Society will hold a social hour after the address in the church basement. All are welcome.

Guy Johnston, for nineteen years head of the grocery department of the Crow's Nest Trading Co., has severed his connection with that firm. Rumor has it that he will shortly go into business in Fernie for himself. Guy is very popular and would no doubt do well.

"Say, Jiggs, have you bought your ticket for 'The Princess of Meath,' the play to be given at the Grand Theatre on St. Patrick's day?" "Well, Dinty, do you hear that? Who could play the miser with joy so rare, when all can see 'tis wiser to spend than spare?"

The Women of Mooseheart Legion invite all sisters, members of the L.O.O.M. and their wives, to a social evening to be held in the lodge room on Thursday evening next. Opportunity will be taken to present the Senior Regent badge to Sister Wilson; also to unveil the new Moose head. Each member may bring a friend. Commence 7 p.m. The regular meeting will be held on Wednesday.

The whist drive and social evening held in the basement of Christ Church on Tuesday evening was a huge success. Twenty tables were used for whist. Prizes: Gentlemen, 1 Joe Foster; 2 Tom Beck; ladies, 1 Mrs. J. Foster; 2 Mrs. Fleming. Consolation, Mrs. Barraclough and Gordon Austin. Lucky chair prizes, Robt. Strachan and Mrs. Shaw. A splendid program was given and refreshments served afterwards.

The second annual dance of the Robt. J. Black Chapter of the I. O. D. E. was held in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Tuesday, Feb. 24. Great credit is due the members for the delightful manner in which the decorative scheme was carried out, which was probably the best which has been accomplished in recent years. There was an excellent attendanie and an early start was made, everyone without exception expressing themselves as delighted with the evening's enjoyment. After the dancing was over refreshments were served, and many expressed the wish that they might have gone on for a few hours longer.

Time was when old Doc. Shearer of the Lord's Day Alliance, when he returned to Toronto the Good after a visit to Fernie, never failed to make a speech wherein he dilated at length upon the wickedness of that sink of iniquity, that Sodom and Gomorrah combined, in fact that very hell hole which he lately visited, but alas, the horrible example has failed, and when Doc. learns that the combined efforts of seven policemen on a raiding expedition only succeeded in discovering two ten-cent rummy games, he will surely come to the conclusion that the world must be getting better and better.

THE MACNEILS RODE THE FLOOD IN THEIR OWN BOAT

If we are willing to accept the positive assurances of extremely high authority we need speculate no longer as to the very first family in the world.

The Macneils lead us all.

The Macneil of Barra, chief of the Clan Macneil, one of the most distinguished antiquarians of Scotland, has finally settled the matter after years of research. He has publishe d scholarly volume so that the world may share his secret.

In the first place the Macneils were a distinguished family at the time of the flood. Noah, his family and the animals occupied the Ark, but the Macneil family had its own boat. Furthermore, it was the only family that did. This is no joke or pleasantry but a tradition in which the Macnel family believes, and handed down through all the generations of the Macneils.

Furthermore, the Macneils, according to the head of the clan, were the real founders of the Gaelic race.

Niall of Scythia went to Egypt and became prime minister. He performed such important work in regulating the flow of the great river that it was named the "Nile" after him.

He married the Princess Scota, member of the royal house who rescued the infant Moses in the bullrushes.

They named the first son born of the union "Gael." Thus the Gaelic race gets its name.

After various migrations, a descendant of Gael set up a kingdom in Spain. Another descendant, Milesius, went back to Egypt from Spain and his sons later headed an expedition into Ireland, where Herewon became the first Milesian monarch of Ireland. A later descendant of the line Nial Mar led an expedition into Alba and conquered the country. He named it Scotland in honor of Queen Scota the wife of Milesius.

From that time on there is an illustrious line of Macneils. The Macneils and the O'Neils are the same family.

How illustrious the Macneils are and how well they knew of their premier position in the world is shown by the fact that for centuries and down to comparatively recent times, it was the daily custom for the herald of the Macneil family to mount the battlements of the castle at Barra and after a preliminary toot of his horn, to cry aloud in Gaelic:

"Hear, oh ye people, and listen, oh ye nations, the great Macneil of Barra having finished his meal, the princes of the earth may dine."

That ought to prove it. — Boston Post.

CENSUS FIGURES

Although Canada's last census was taken in June, 1921, the first volume giving the results was only published in December last. The total population as counted in 1921 was 8,788,483. According, however, to an estimate of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the figure has now risen to 9,226,740. In the ten-year period from 1901 to 1911, the population growth was 1,835,328, whereas in the ten-year period from 1911 to 1921 the increase was 1,581,840. So far in the census returns there is no particular classification of Canadians as distinguished from those of British birth, but there is a classification accounting for Canadian, British and foreign born, the figures in connection with which run as follows:

Canadian	6,832,747
British	1,065,454

DEFEMINIZATION OF THE CHURCH

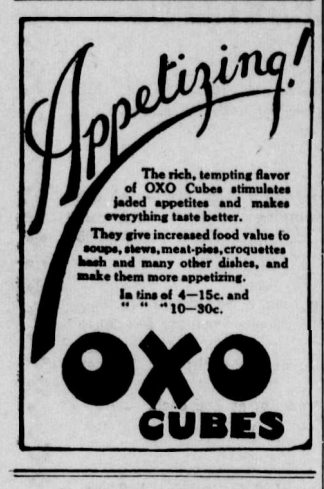
Woman is leaving the church and man is returning to it, notes a woman who finds the change not altogether bad for the church, however it may be for woman. Whether it is the new freedom, which may be seen untrammeled by convention in almost any metropolitan restaurant, or the new education, which has harnessed woman to new energies, which is responsible for her apparent backsliding is a matter of opinion. Looking at it through some minster's spectacles, woman has simply unleashed herself from church ties, and gone to the world, the flesh and the devil to enjoy herself. But a woman says that her sex is educated out of the old rut, and has gone into new fields of endeavor just as good as any that the church has opened to her.

Whatever the reason, the fact remains, reports Martha Bensley Bruere in Collier's, and she writes that the change is most marked in the six largest Protestant denominations — Baptists, Congregationalists, Lutherans, Methodists, Presbyterians and Episcopalians. The Roman Catholic chrch, we are told, has always had about as many women as men. Eight other churches, which include the Greek church, the Jewish congregations and the Volunteers of America, have from 52 per cent to 90 per cent of men, reports Mrs. Bruere. But in the six evangelical churches in 1906, she writes, the women outnumbered the men nearly two to one. By 1916 the majority was reduced to three to two, and the inequality is still diminishing. Minsters she approached admtted to Mrs. Bruere that they are preaching to more men than women. At the Episcopal church office in New York she looked into the year books of the 84 dioceses into which the country is divided. Only a few show the membership by sexes. In Connecticut she found that in 1924 nearly 46 per cent of those who joined the church were men. This, we are told, is almost the same proportion that the 1924 Methodist Year Book gives for the new members from 29 States—45 per cent were males. The Lutherans, says the writer, claim about the same proportion. And in 1906 the average of men in the six largest denominations was about 36 per cent. Further evidence of the change is furnished in figures being prepared by the Institute for Social and Religious Research of New York. As to the reason: Mrs. Bruere met Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Southern Methodist church, and from him and from other ministers she talked to in the offices of the Federal Council of Churches, she got a picture of what they think is taking women away from the church:

"This picture shows the restaurant in almost any of our great metropolitan hotels; the lights dimmed by colored shades; the waiters made velvet-footed by thick carpets; flowers and green things banked about; and a multitude of little tables where many women and a few men are punctuating the pause between afternoon and evening with tea — and cigarets and dancing!

"Sometimes there is the faint smell of alcohol — surreptitiously served or privately brought in. A band dispenses jazz, and the empty space in the centre of the floor is filled with dancing pointedly different even from that to which the church used to object. The whole place has an air of gaiety and beauty that is as artificial as a stage setting. Those who drink and smoke and dance quite frequently can't afford to be there regularly. It is for them an extravagance and a rest, a danger and a delight.

"The flavor is not the flavor of religion. The Bishop is undoubtedly right; this and all the related activities, worse and better, are dangerous rivals of the church for the attention of women. We are in a maelstrom of new freedom and interests.



"Another minister told me that it was the fact that the women were leaving that brought the men in.

"'They feel that it's a valuable thing in the community, and if their wives don't stay with it, they will.'"

But what reason do women give for their leaving the church? A women who is working with men on the church problem says it is the change in the status of the sex. "Especially," she told Mrs. Bruere, "it is the war. There are so many things we can do now besides go to church. Our whole status has been changed."

And writes Mrs. Bruere,

"That's what they all said — the women doing church work. We have far more education than we had, and that makes us critical; we have been forced into new work, and we've forced ourselves into nearly all the professions, so we have more interests. We've the Federation of Women's Clubs extending virtually everywhere. Modern invention has given those of us who keep house plenty of free time. And then in that new profession of social work we can do all the charitable and palliative work which was once only to be done through the church. Our whole status has changed!"

Most headaches due to lack of internal cleanliness

WHEN you are constipated, poisons form in the accumulated food waste and are carried to all parts of the body. Headaches follow. Biliousness, insomnia, lack of energy, all result from constipation, which if unchecked will lead to serious results.

Avoid Laxatives—Say Doctors

A noted authority says that laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition.

Medical science has found in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative, and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

Canadians Make Pilgrimage to Holy City

St. Peter's, Rome.

His Eminence Cardinal Begin who will head the Canadian Pilgrimage to Rome, leaving Montreal and Quebec on May 5 next on board the Minnedosa.

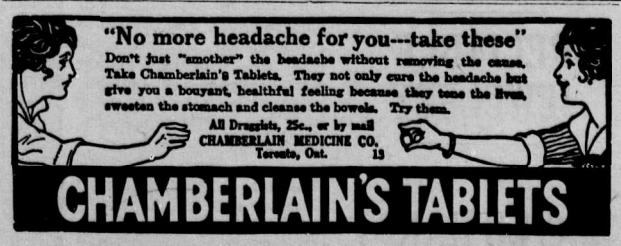
Canadian response to the Papal Bull promulgating the "Holy Year Universal Jubilee" is, according to reports of transportation companies operating between this continent and Europe, assuming unexpected proportions. Canadian Pacific officials report that applications for accommodation on the "S.S. Minnedosa", chartered by the Hone Tours Incorporated to carry Holy Year pilgrims to Bordeaux this summer, are steadily pouring in from all over Canada and the United States and that the Canadian contingent will be accompanied by many distinguished members of the episcopate, clergy and religious orders. His Eminence Cardinal Louis-Nazaire Begin, of Quebec, has signified his intention of sailing on the Minnedosa as have several other high dignitaries of the Church in Canada.

The opening rites of Holy Year have already been performed and the Papal Bull, formally announcing its commencement and inviting Catholics the World over to assemble in Rome has been issued. The purposes of the Great Jubilee as set forth in the Papal Bull are to live the year in expiation of sin, and to achieve peace through the unity of all men in divine charity. The opportunities to assist in the impressive Pentecostal ceremonies and the special audience afforded them by His Holiness Pope Pius XI, are powerful factors in the decision of many to visit the Holy City.

The Minnedosa sails from Montreal and Quebec on May 5th next, one of the first sailings from the St. Lawrence season for Bordeaux where the pilgrims will disembark and continue their journey by rail, stopping at Lourdes, Carcassone, Marseilles, Nice and Genoa en-route to Rome. This vessel has accommodation for seven hundred passengers and in view of the special low rate quoted for the tour, it is expected that the Minnedosa will carry a capacity passenger list.

Although born in Levis, Quebec, in 1840, Cardinal Begin is well known in Rome as it was there in 1865, that the present head of the Roman Catholic church in Canada was ordained to the priesthood. In 1888 he was created bishop of Chicoutimi and, in another three years, Archbishop of Cyrene and coadjutor of His Eminence Cardinal Taschereau. In 1894 he took over the administration of the diocese of Quebec, being elevated to the Cardinalate in 1914.

Canadian Pacific S.S. Minnedosa which will carry pilgrims from Canada in May.



The Montreal Star says that for years past the town of White River in Ontario has had the doubtful glory of being the coldest place in the Dominion. On January 27, however, it points out that this "glory" passed to Doucet in Quebec, which registered 54 below zero. The Yukon has temperatures lower than that of Doucet and probably can claim the Dominion's record for cold. On Saturday, Jan. 31, it was 58 below at Dawson, and on Jan. 28 the thermometer there registered 62 below. The latter is believed to be the lowest reading ever recorded there, though it is said that the mercury once went down to 64 below. It would be interesting to know if there is any place in the Dominion where lower temperatures have been recorded.

"Is the boss in?" asked the bill collector.

"No," growled the office boy.

"You're a liar," retorted the bill collector. "If he wasn't in you'd be doing cross-word puzzles instead of being so dern busy."

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

MICHEL-FERNIE HOCKEY GAMES

A special train brought over two hundred and fifty hockey enthusiasts from Michel to Fernie last Saturday evening on the occasion of a double header hockey bill between Michel and Fernie teams that evening.

The first game was played between the Fernie and Michel Juniors and provided a splendid preliminary for the big game. The Michel Juniors, although not quite as heavy as the Fernie boys, soon showed up to advantage and had a two goal lead on the locals in a very short time. The score, however, was tied before the end of the period, and during the entire game it was a case of Michel going one goal ahead and Fernie tying the score, but when the final bell came the regular routine had not been completed and the Michel Juniors gained the verdict by a score of five goals to four.

The ice was in a little better condition when the senior teams started at 9.30, but it was still very heavy.

Michel started with strong attacks on the Fernie defence and pressure was relieved and McInnis was called upon to do some heavy work for a few minutes. It was twelve minutes from the start before scoring commenced, J. Littler sizzling the puck into the net from well out.

The second period had just got under way when Thomson sent the puck across to Commons, who beat McInnis with a high fast shot to tie the score. Two minutes later Michel again assumed the lead, B. Littler going through on his own and beating Coste. Fernie took up a heavy offensive after this reverse and kept Michel hemmed in their own ice for nearly five minutes. The pressure was not to be denied and Wilson scored a long overdue goal when he picked up a pass from Dicken and equalized. In a scrimmage near the Fernie goal Swedeberg hit the puck with his hand. Referee Walker behind the mass of players was in no position to see the foul and ignored the Michel players' protests, when he refused to penalize Swedebrg for something he had not seen. Play was resumed and Fernie proceeded to give the Michel defence a hard time of it. Before the end of the period Wilson and McTeer scored a goal each, putting Fernie two up.

Michel refused to continue in the third period unless Swedeberg was penalized, so with the consent of the Fernie manager, Fernie played the first two minutes with five men. Michel was tiring fast on the heavy ice and the Fernie team keeping up a steady pressure forged further ahead, their combination methods bringing results, two goals being scored by this method, boring right in on the goaltender before shooting. Wilson got both tallies on goalmouth passes from Dicken.

Michel—Goal, McInnis; defence, Jenkins and T. Littler; forwards, Anderson, B. Littler, J. Littler, Parsons, Jones and Shingala.

Fernie — Goal, Coste; defence, Kirkpatrick and Swedeberg; forwards, Thomson, Commons, Sofko, Wilson, McTeer and Dicken.

Referee—Cy. Walker.

CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE

The only City Hockey League game this week was played Thursday evening, when Ingram's 150s defeated the West Fernie Bluebirds by a score of five goals to one.

The Bluebirds were playing under a heavy handicap, Commons and White failing to put in an appearance for the game, and consequently the West Fernie team had to play the full time without a sub.

By winning this game the 150s practically put West Fernie out of the running for the League championship, and greatly improved their own chances. It now appears that the two remaining games between the Northerns and Ingrams will be the deciding factors in the City League winners. The standing to date is as follows:

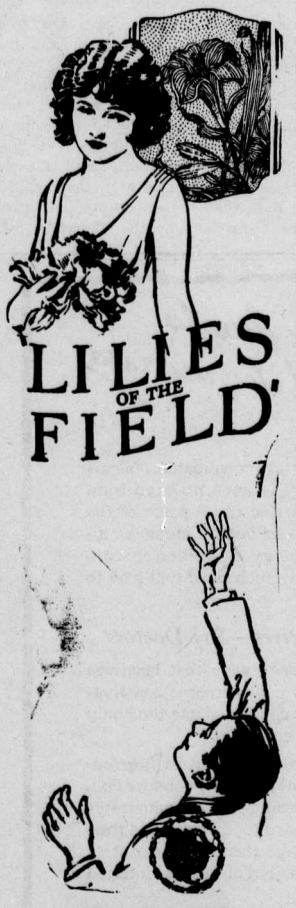
	W.	L.	P.
Ingrams	4	1	8
Northerns	4	2	8
Bluebirds	4	4	8
Coal Creek	0	5	0

SWASTIKAS BEAT CANUCKS

The Fernie Swastikas were too big a puzzle for the Cranbrook Canucks to solve in the second game of a home and home hockey series played here last Friday night, the local girls winning easily by a score of eight goals to nil.

It was apparent from the start that the greater experience of the Fernie team was much in their favor. The Cranbrook girls are practically a new team this season and although they put up a game fight all the way through, lack of proper understanding between the players brought about their heavy downfall.

Miss Drummond started seeing "red" right from the face-off. She would no sooner dispose of one shot from a player sporting a crimson sweater than another would bob up to worry her. Continued pressure by the Swastikas was not to be denied and before the end of the period Mrs. Kirkpatrick had scored three goals and Miss Hammil one.



In the second period the Fernie girls continued to give Miss Drummond a busy time while their defence was taking care of the few scattered raids the Cranbrook girls pushed through into the Fernie goal area. Three goals were scored this session, Miss Graves the first, Mrs. Stevens the second and Mrs. Kirkpatrick the third on a fine solo run up the wing.

The Canucks perked up considerably in the third period and for a while kept the puck well into the Fernie ice but what shots got by the defence Mrs. Commons disposed of easily. The only goal of the period came after ten minutes of play when Miss Coste finished a nice run up the ice by shooting the puck into the top corner of the net.

Swastikas — Goal, N. Commons; defence, J. Richardson and B. Graves; forwards, M. Steeves, E. Donaldson, E. Kirkpatrick, A. Coste, F. Hammil and A. Schagel.

Canucks — Goal, F. Drummond; defence, E. Wright and S. McMullen; forwards, D. Greaves, A. Moir, A. Wallinger, E. Patterson and M. Burton.

Following the game the Swastikas entertained their visitors at the Catholic Church dance. On Saturday afternoon both teams were given a tea at the home of Mrs. Kirkpatrick and in the evening a delightful informal dance was given in honor of the Canucks at the home of Miss Graves. The Cranbrook girls left for home on Sunday morning, expressing themselves as very grateful for the splendid reception given them by their Fernie hockey rivals.

COUNCIL MEETING

The first March meeting of the city council was held last evening. Mayor Irvine occupied the chair and Ald. Tully was the only absentee.

Mothly reports by the city foreman and the fire chief were read and accepted.

Quotations on the $67,000 of 1934 Victory Bonds held by the city and making offer of 1944 Dominion Government 1944 Bonds in exchange, were made by the Royal Financial Corporation and the Imperial Bank of Canada, but after due consideration the council decided that they would not make the conversion at present.

A letter was received from the Union of Municipalities enclosing a copy of a resolution passed by the city council of London, Ont., claiming that the stamp tax should not be imposed upon municipalities and requesting that the city endorse the resolution and forward it to the local parliamentary representative.

The council was of opinion that should municipalities be exempt from stamp tax the loss of revenue to the government would have to be raised by some other tax upon the public, so did not endorse the resolution.

A motion was passed that tenders be invited for all property obtained by the city through tax sale. These tenders will be received up to April 15 by the city clerk, who was authorized to consider any reasonable terms offered.

The auditor's report for the year 1924 was thoroughly examined and after a lengthy discussion a motion was passed accepting it.

LOSING GOOD CITIZENS

(Creston Review)

In the transfer of C. G. Bennett to assume the managements of the branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Fernie, Creston loses a citizen of whom it may be fairly said that his place will be hard to fill.

As to his qualifications as a banker there may be some who will question his ability, but that he has been a success in that line, and gives promise of still greater usefulness is indicated in his promotion to the rather important branch at Fernie.

But it is as a citizen that Mr. Bennett will always be long remembered, for in a residence of over ten years one is hard pressed to recall any field of local activity where the departing manager has not played a generally conspicuous and successful part.

One of those fields that is apt to be overlooked is the service rendered by him in patriotic work during the war, and later as one of the committee in charge of the soldiers' memorial erection.

He has held every office in the gift of the local board of trade and seldom missed connecting up for a place on all the board's important committees.

In the fall fair he was equally as hard and effective a worker, and no man has given more time in promoting the varied activities of Christ church.

In the preliminary work in connection with incorporating the village of Creston, Mr. Bennett was no inconspicuous figure. At community work he was just about 100 per cent efficient and as thorough and agreeable as he was willing.

If one may be permitted the Review would also like to pay a similar tribute to Mrs. Bennett, who was almost as equally active in all departments of community life where the ladies have had opportunity to lend a hand, whilst in social affairs she was equally prominent and welcome.

In their departure Creston loses a couple of citizens of whose kind the village has altogether too few. All will wish them the best that's going at Fernie, or wherever else they may be located. Like the Irish, the best is none too good for them.

"COME OUT OF THE KITCHEN"

The Fernie Players are busily engaged on the comedy "Come Out of the Kitchen," to be given in the Grand Theatre on April 15 and 16.

This play has had a remarkable run in London and New York, and special permission for its production locally has been obtained from Samuel French, publishers, New York.

The different parts have been carefully allotted to experienced amateurs, who can be depnded upon to do full justice to the many amusing situations which arise.

An added feature of this effort on the part of our home talent will be the elaborate scenery now being prepared, and patrons of the stage are assured a most enjoyable treat.

Further announcements will appear in succeeding issues of this paper.

LOEB CASE DECIDED

There has been considerable interest shown locally in the action for damages of F. Loeb against O. J. Wheatley, the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern Pacific. Loeb was arrested by Wheatley at one of the railway stations in Vancouver as the result of what turned out to have been a faked phone message to Wheatley that Loeb was implicated in a theft at Hope, B.C., from a railway car there. Loeb had been in the employ of the railway companies up to March 4, when he was suspended by Wheatley, who was his senior officer. The arrest on the faked message took place on March 13.

Loeb brought action for damages for false arrest against Wheatley and the railway companies and was represented by J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., former attorney general. The railway companies and Wheatley were represented by Sherwood Herchmer and R. W. Huntington.

The case was tried last week by Judge Murphy and a special jury, who brought in a verdict for Loeb of $6000. Argument was afterwards heard by the judge as to the companies' liability for Wheatley and the judge early this week gave judgment dismissing Loeb's claim as against the railway companies. In the result Loeb has a $6000 judgment against the constable and has to pay the railway companies' costs. Loeb was in Fernie as a spotter or liquor agent in 1922 for the Liquor Control Board and gained some notoriety here. He was formerly with the Mounted Police and specialized in his last year or so with that force in narcotics and stills. He then went to the Liquor Control Board as a spotter, and then engaged with the railway companies as a constable, his duties being practically confined to escorting liquor shipments.

SITUATION AT COLEMAN GROWS WORSE DAILY

Coleman, March 2.—The miners at their largely attended meeting on Sunday afternoon took no action in regard to work offered at a reduction to the present scale of wages.

The million ton offer with the prospect of steady work for a few months is likely to be passed up by their inaction.

The men naturally are not enthusiastic about reducing their wages, but the prospect of long drawn out idleness is not very comforting either. Quite a few men are making for the States and more will move out if the union declares to hold on to its present policy.

The need for relief is increasing. The Women's Institute is investigating needy cases and supplying the needs. Individuals are generously coming to the help also. Never before have the Pass people had to face such a situation and it will take fortitude and courage and perhaps a great deal of self-sacrifice to do the thing that is best under the present circumstances.

AGREEMENT TO TERMINATE

At a meeting of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association held in Calgary on Wednesday, it was unanimously decided to give notice to the United Mine Workers of America, on March 31, terminating the present agreement on Sept. 30 this year.

This was the official information given out at the office of the association after the meeting adjourned at noon.

"This notice," said R. M. Young, commissioner of the association, "is in accordance with a clause in the contract entered into on October 10, 1924. The operation of the mines since October last," he said, "has been anything but satisfactory. Many of the mines have operated only one or two days a week, and other mines, after remaining closed for more than two months after the October settlement, resumed work on a part time basis, and are now running on that basis, with crews redued far below normal.

"The domestic mines produced little more than half the tonnage of the preceding year nothwithstanding a depleted market when work was resumed in October, and they are again practically idle. Taking the district as a whole, conditions are probably worse than at any previous period in its history.

Mr. Young stated that if the agreement ran to maturity in October, it meant that the present conditions would continue during the summer months, and it would be impossible during the summer for buyers to forecast what the conditions would be after termination, buying would be continued from the same sources which were at present competitively able to keep the district idle.

"The separate agreement made at Fernie," said Mr. Young, in reply to a question, "has certainly had an effect on the situation, particularly in the south. The mines of the Fernie company are running practically steadily, and their ability to do so is a striking indication of what can be done by taking the action which the Fernie company, in common with the other operators who were in October last parties to the agreement then negotiated, made plain was necessary to remedy the situation which then existed and which has continued to exist at the association mines on this side of the B.C. boundary line."

L.O.O.M. HOLD CELEBRATION

The L.O.O.M. with their sister order and invited friends assembled in Victoria Hall on Thursday evening for the purpose of unveiling a beautiful moose head presented to the sister lodge by Bro. Geo. McQueen of Nordegg. John Sweeney as Dictator, in a few well chosen words performed the ceremony, after which he presented Sister Wilson with the official Past Regent Jewel on behalf of the Women of Mooseheart Legion. Vocal selection were rendered by Bro. R. Sampson and Sisters Wilson and Hulbert and pianoforte selections by Miss Minnie Wilson. Miss Tina Thompson and her troupe of juvenile character dancers entertained the audience. Piper Strachan accompanied. Refreshments were served and dancing to the music of the juvenile orchestra brought to a close a happy evening.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Women's Missionary Society of the United Church spent an interesting and instructive evening, Wednesday, when they were addressed by Miss McGregor, Field Secretary for Home Missions.

The meeting opened with devotional exercises and a solo by Mrs. Asselstine, followed by Miss McGregor's address on Home Mission Work in Canada. For 15 years she had been travelling constantly, from small hospital units, miles from the railroads, to mission schools and school houses, many among the New Canadians on the prairies, and back to the Woman's Missionary Society, reporting their needs and progress in ministering to the spiritual and physical welfare of the people around them. She laid stress on the work among the New Canadians, which term she preferred to that of foreigner, citing their ability and thrift in helping to develop our country, and the necessity of lending them a helping hand spiritually and morally. Miss McGregor also spoke of the fine type of young people who were in training as missionaries.

At the conclusion of the address a social hour was spent in the church basement.

FERNIE ELKS DANCE

Well over 300 people had the pleasure of attending the Fernie Elks dance held last Monday, again proving the popularity of the local Elks.

The hall was neatly and tastefully decorated with the Elks colors, purple and white, and Bro. Vanbuskirk's idea of the B.P.O.E. light decorations was well conceived. Elko, Waldo, Roosville, Michel and Coal Creek were well represented and all had a real good time.

The Brother Bills are already planning on making their second annual ball, which will be held on Monday, May 25, one of the most brilliant affairs ever held in Fernie, and no expense will be spared to make this ball the most successful ever put on by the Fernie Elks.

COMPETITION OF COAL FROM U.S.

(Calgary Herald)

A resolution from the executive board of the United Mine Workers of America for District 18 has been sent to Premier King. It sets forth some significant facts. One is that in 1923 there were shipped into Western Canada from the United States 2,000,000 tons of steam coal. Another is that this is equal to two-thirds of the total output of steam coal mined in Alberta. Still another is that the transportation cost on this American coal was greater than in the case of Alberta coal.

What the miners' executive board asks is that the Dominion government shall protect the Canadian coal industry by placing restrictions on all foreign coals entering Canada.

Here is surely a strange state of affairs. Assuming the facts as above stated to be correct, we see a foreign product no better in quality than your own, paying a higher freight charge than our own, and at the same time driving our own product out of its own home market. And let it be said right here that the same union of mine workers negotiates wages, which are the big factor in the cost of coal production, in both home and foreign fields.

If it is true that the American mine operators are dumping steam coal into Western Canada at less than production cost, thus forcing idleness and poverty upon Canadian members of the international mine workers' organization, one would imagine the spot to enter protest would be the American headquarters of the mine workers. Why should members of the union in one mining field lend their aid to an unscrupulous effort to impoverish fellow members in another field?

On the other hand, if this foreign coal is coming from non-union mining fields, underselling the Alberta product in its home market, there would seem to be at least as much responsibility resting with the mine workers themselves as with the government in relieveing the situation. There is a point beyond which it is unsafe for a government to go in limiting the right of the people to buy in the most advantageous markets. Where such restrictions are enforced there has to be good reason given.

In certain sections of the Alberta coal field miners who have broken away from the U.M.W.A. and have negotiated a reduced wage agreement with their employers, are in steady employment. This fact alone is likely to make the government hesitate to follow the recommendations of the executive board's resolution.

And there is still another phase of the situation that must be considered. It is not altogether certain that steam coal users of Western Canada are favoring the foreign product solely because it happens to be a little cheaper. The matter of the certainty of regular supply is of even greater importance to them than the saving of a few dollars in cost, and they prefer to contract with certainties rather than tie up with an uncertainty. The Alberta coal field has earned an unsavory reputation for uncertainty through its many strikes and labor disputes. This fact may, to a considerable extent, explain the evident ease with which operators of foreign coal fields are able to invade this field and capture a trade that should, by all rights, be the exclusive perserve of this province.

EMPLOYMENT IN MINES INCREASES

Edmonton, March 3.—Employment in the mines of Alberta increased from 11,477 men in December of 1923, to 12,061 men in December of 1924, but the total production of coal for the yaar fell off from 6,866,923 tons in 1923 to 5,203,713 tons during 1924. The falling off of production for the year, of course, was due to the mine strike during the summer, which accounted to some extent for the increased employment in the subsequent winter.

Of the total production of 5,203,712 tons during 1924, 1,431,327 were sold for consumption in Alberta, 1,830,906 tons in other Canadian provinces, 39,142 in the United States, 1,613,574 tons to railway companies, 195,420 tons used under colliery boilers, 4,618 tons by colliery railways, 70,104 tons to stock, and 64,559 tons on the waste heap; of the total amount disposed of, 45,277 tons were lifted from the waste heap.

Importations of coal from United States to points east of B.C. in Western Canada including Fort Frances, Fort William and Port Arthur, says the report, show a decrease of 518 tons as compared to the importations during 1923, and the shipments of coal from Alberta to all points in Canada except B.C., show a decrease from 1923.

INCREASING THE DUTY ON COAL NO SOLUTION

(Coleman Journal)

According to some people locally and in other parts of the province, the one and simon pure cure for the present slackness in the coal mining industry throughout Alberta, is to put up the duty on American coal coming into Canada. Make the tariff on coal so high that it will shut out the American product is their demand. It listens good, as the fellow says, but let us try and see just how it would work out in practice.

The present tariff arrangements on coal between Canada and the U. S.A. is on a reciprocal basis, that means if Canada adds a dollar or two dollars per ton on coal coming into Canada from the States, the U. S.A. adds a dollar or two on every ton of coal going into the States from Canada. Thus to raise the tariff to prohibit American coal entry into Canada we, at the same time, stop Canadian coal from entering the States.

Now is it reasonable to expect that any government in Canada would take the responsibility of increasing the price of coal several dollars a ton to the people of Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec, where millions of the voters reside, in order to please a few thousand voters in Alberta?

Then again, what would happen to the mining industry of Nova Scotia, where much of her coal goes to Maine and other states across the line. Also the mines on Vancouver Island and in the interior of B. C., whose output is largely disposed of in the States, if their market was cut off by a prohibitive tariff?

The prohibitive tariff will work out all right for Alberta whenever we can convince the big bulk of our population in Central and Eastern Canada that it is a loyal and praiseworthy act to pay four or five dollars more a ton for Alberta coal than they are now paying for bituminous coal from across the line. Knowing the people of Eastern Canada as we do, there is about as much chance of this coming about as there is of the Atlantic ocean becoming dry over night.

Grote Stirling, M.P. for Yale, is getting his hand in early at Ottawa, having joined C. H. Dickie, M.P. for Nanaimo, in representations to the Minister of Customs urging the extension of the period of one month for allowing American tourist cars in British Columbia. The action seems timely and there appears no good reason why the time should not be extended for cars coming across the line, thus enabling motorists to make a longer visit with corresponding advantage to British Columbia.

CANADA'S NEW LINK WITH ALASKA

IT is not many years since Alaska was one of those countries whose geographical location was indicated with a grandiloquent sweep of the arm northwards. It has always been a land of mystery, romance and adventure. It has provided the theme for the thrilling tales of novelists and the stirring poems of northern bards. But even though the days of the chechako and the sourdough is done, the brief but active span of the Dangerous Dan Magrews and the Lady Lou's, matters of historical reference, the lure of Alaska has not waned, but is as appealing as ever to the hearts of men and women wherein a bit of romance lurks, and that means to everyone.

Alaska is no longer a far off country. It is a very near neighbor to Canada. It will be even nearer this summer. Mr. J. E. Dalrymple, Traffic Vice-President of the Canadian National Railways, has announced that commencing on June 22nd, the company will inaugurate a weekly steamship service between Prince Rupert and Alaska and that the oil-burning steamships, "Prince George" and "Prince Rupert," which have already established a reputation as being among the best-appointed vessels on the Pacific Coast, will be engaged in this new service.

Going northward the ships will reach Prince Rupert at 10.30 on Wednesday morning, following the Monday of sailing from Vancouver, and tourists will be given an opportunity to see something of this new Pacific port, as the steamer does not continue on its northern trip until four o'clock that afternoon. After passing Old and New Metlaktla and Port Simpson, an old Hudson's Bay Post, calls will be made at Ketchikan, a typical Alaskan town built at the foot of the mountains. Proceeding from that point the steamships will touch at Wrangell, beautifully situated near the mouth of the Stikine River and possessing many associations with the period when Alaska was a Russian possession. The next point touched will be Juneau, the capital of Alaska, and a modern city with good motor roads and many points of interest, including the Mendenhall Glacier and mines which have made this country famous. On the way from Wrangell to Juneau there will be an opportunity to see the grandeur of Taku Inlet and the famous Taku Glacier, over a mile wide and 90 miles long.

Some of the scenes along this magnificent sea voyage are shown in the photographs:

(1) A view of Skagway, Alaska, where visitors will be given ample time to see this famous town and also to visit White Horse and the Atlin Lake district.

(2) A beautiful sunset scene on the Lynn Canal, which the steamships Prince Rupert and Prince George will thread on their journey into the Land of the Midnight Sun.

(3) The Taku Glacier, one mile wide and ninety miles long—one of the largest and most beautiful glaciers in the world.

(4) The Prince Rupert, which, with the Prince George, will be used in the Vancouver-Prince Rupert-Alaska service this summer. These boats are oil-burners and are among the finest appointed vessels in the Pacific Coast service.

Inset is one of the curious totem poles to be found in the business section of Wrangell, Alaska.

The ships will arrive at Skagway at seven o'clock Friday morning and will remain there until seven o'clock Saturday night, thus giving ample opportunity to passengers to see this famous town and to visit White Horse and the Atlin Lake District. On the south-bound journey the steamers will reach Vancouver at nine o'clock Wednesday morning, making a complete ten-day round trip.

In addition to the Alaskan trip, the tri-weekly service between Vancouver and Prince Rupert will be maintained and also a semi-weekly service to Anyox and Stewart on the Portland Canal, which service has been in effect for some time past. The establishment by the Canadian National Railways of this Alaska steam-boat service will meet the demands of many tourists, and will be a fitting climax to the famous Triangle Four, comprising Jasper National Park, the Rockies, the Coast Range and the water voyage through the "Norway of America."

SABATINI'S "SCARAMOUCHE" WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY

"Scaramouche," a Rex Ingram production for Metro Pictures Corporation, adapted from Rafael Sabatini's novel of the same name, will come to the Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday. This picture, a feature in ten reels, has played special engagements in the larger cities and comes to Fernie acclaimed by critics as one of the masterpieces filmdom.

"Scaramouche" is a story of the French Revolution. It tells the romance of Andre-Louis Moreau (Ramon Novarro) and Aline de Kercadiou (Alice Terry). Andre-Louis has been brought up as the ward of Aline's uncle. The Marquis de la Tour d'Azyr (Lewis Stone), a haughty aristocrat and man of fashion, killed Andre-Louis' friend, Philippe, because of his revolutionary sentiments, and on the Marquis, Andre-Louis has sworn eternal vengeance. To make matters worse the Marquis is courting Aline.

Andre's seditious speeches cause him to be sought for the gallows, and in escaping from the pursuing gendarmerie, he joins a strolling band of players and becomes Scaramouche, the clown. Bitterness against Aline leads him into an affair with the leading lady of the troupe, but he ends this when the girl accepts attentions from the Marquis.

Skilled in fencing, Andre-Louis Moreau is persuaded to become substitute deputy in the National Assembly for a deputy who was killed in the series of duels brought by the aristocrats against the people's representatives. In a duel with La Tour d'Azyr, that is the culmination of his activities in the Assembly, and Andre's misunderstanding of Andre-Louis wounds the Marquis, Aline's actions after the duel, further widens the breach between them.

The fires of rebellion among the lower and middle classes of Paris are finally fanned into open revolt. The patriot Danton (George Siegmann) leads the mob to the Tuileries, where the monarchy is overthrown. The Marquis escapes from the massacre at the Tuileries, and seeks shelter at the house where also is Aline, who has been unable to escape from the city. Andre-Louis comes to save her, and finds the Marquis there. The two men are on the point of killing each other when revelations are made that disclose Andre's real identity.

The thirty principal characters in "Scaramouche" include, beside Ramon Navarro, Lewis Stone and Alice Terry, who were the triumvirate that appeared in Ingram's "Prisoner of Zenda," Lloyd Ingraham, Julia Swayne Gordon and Edith Allen.

THE HOME BANK AND FARMERS' BANK

The King government, it is said, is trusting to the senate to kill its proposed reimbursement of Home Bank depositors. This would enable it to say to the depositors: "We did our best to help you, but those hard-hearted Tories in the senate wouldn't let us—they are always against the people."—Ottawa Journal.

The Journal's insinuation is no doubt inspired by what happened when the Borden government after 1911 sought to reimburse the Farmers' Bank depositors. The measure was slain in the senate and the Grit majority there was blamed. Now the Journal anticipates that the Tory majority will play the Grit tricks. Probably the Tories sent the Farmers' Bank legislation to the senate with the same wih in their hearts that the Ottawa paper intimates possesses the present government on the Home Bank case. — Lethbridge Herald.

WHY TAXES ARE HIGH

Complaints against high governmental expenditures are gathering volume as it is more and more realized that there must be national, provincial and municipal economies to bring about reductions in taxation. The Brandon Sun has taken up the cudgels and in an emphatic way draws attention, not only to the duplication of governmental machinery which exists in the Dominion, but also to the top heavy character of our administrative efforts. It says:

All Canada is paying too much for its whistle. We have over many laws and are over-governed. Our legislatures are too large and too costly for the limited population. We are paying for the maintenance of governments and public utilities for a population of thirty millions. We need to centralize and consolidate our administrative machinery and departments. We have too large an army of government employees duplicating each other's work. The income tax departments of collection are notorious examples of waste and duplicted effort. The whole population of Canada is about the same as that of the State of New York. To govern and regulate that limited number of people Canada has an extravagant federal government at Ottawa, ensconced in costs, and nine free-spending provincial legislatures. The four Western provinces have parliamentary buildings equal to the requirements of a Dominion capital and top-heavy legislatures that try to live up to the bloated ideals so encouraged. The cost of government is telling upon the people, upon business, upon industry, upon the farmer, and hits the wage-earner hard. We have too much machinery to oil, too large a number of legislators and an oppressive cost of government which does not give its money's worth. That is another reason why our population is neither satisfied nor stable.

A Milkman Who Takes Water Out!

One of the favorite themes of the jokesmith is the milkman who waters his milk.

Though the joke has little basis in fact, yet you have heard it many times.

But have you ever thought of the milkman who does exactly the opposite—the milkman who takes water out?

That's what the Carnation milkman does—and here's why he does it:

Millions of people, all over the world, use Carnation Milk regularly; it comes to them from some of the finest dairying sections of Canada.

It seems foolish to pay transportation on all the natural water in this milk, so most of the water is removed.

Such removal serves to concentrate and enhance the food values in the milk, making it richer and smoother.

It also explains the satisfaction with which so many people use Carnation Milk undiluted in place of costly cream, in coffee or on cereals and fruits.

Remember, Carnation is simply pure milk, evaporated, sterilized; nothing is added, no sugar or preservative of any kind.

You can restore it to its original strength and consistency merely by putting back the water that has been taken away.

Order with the groceries—several tall (16 oz.) cans or by the case of 48 cans.

CARNATION CREAM PIE

1 cup Carnation Milk, 1 cup water, 3 eggs, ½ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons flour. Heat Carnation Milk and water. Mix together yolks of eggs, sugar, flour, salt, pour hot liquid over this and cook until stiff. Pour on to stiffly beaten whites of eggs, fold together, add vanilla, pile lightly in baked crust and brown in moderate oven.

RICE CREAM

1 cup Carnation Milk, 1 cup water, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups cooked rice, 2 eggs, ½ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Scald Carnation Milk and water, add rice, egg yolks, sugar and salt. Cook until thick in double boiler. Remove from fire, add stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Add vanilla, cool and serve with cream. This serves six people.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

OSBORN Wood, son of the famous General Leonard Wood, who won a fortune from Wall Street, is now nearly reduced to poverty. For almost a year he has been in Europe living at high speed. Months ago his wife became disgusted and returned to the United States and now rumor has it that she will divorce him.

Like thousands of men who were once parvenues but who are now derelicts, Wood could not stand the possession of money. When he made his sensational clean-up he was the envy of many. Today he is the envy of none. Most of us have the energy to make money, but how many of us have the character to keep it along with our self-respect?

He has lost the love of his wife and the esteem of his fellows. He exchanged these for what he thought was a good time.

He is now qualified to write a book on what comprises happiness.

THE bootlegger got another jolt the other day when the president of one of the largest western insurance companies collected his 150 eastern representatives at Philadelphia and told them to quit issuing policies to men who patronize bootleggers.

"The rotten stuff, on the market by illicit dealers," he declared, "endangers the health of the drinker, and even if it does not kill or blind him immediately, it lowers his vitality, makes him more susceptible to disease, and therefore a bad insurance risk."

EVERYBODY should ride a hobby. Most of us need the stimulus of the actual horse and of pretending we are going somewhere on it.

But whether it is a horse, hobby or real, a garden, a collection, books, a farm, radio, sport, or, in the last resort, even jazz, cross-words, or bridge—make it something besides your business.

Anybody can do two jobs better than one—especially if he makes his living at one of them and spends it on the other.

TWO boys recently ran away from their homes. They were picked up by the police in another town and sent back to the home of their parents. When found they carried an agreement they had made before starting out. It pledged them as follows: (1) Once we leave, we stay together. (2) Not to fight. (3) Not to smoke or steal. (4) If dispute arises on any matter toss up to settle it. (5) Fifty-fifty on everything. (6) To keep going south and not back. (7) Play the game square. Not such a bad agreement for two youngsters to make. It is no doubt best for them that they were found and returned to their homes. Education and a little more wise discipline should help rather than harm them. But if they retain their adventurous spirit along with their ideals of comradeship, fair play, honesty and stick-to-it-iveness they should go far on their journey toward success.

A TOWN that never has anything to do in a public way is on the way to the cemetery. Any citizen who will do nothing for his town is helping to dig the grave. A man that curses the town furnishes the coffin. The man who is so selfish as to have no time from his business to give to city affairs is making the shroud. The man who will not advertise is driving the hearse. The man who is always pulling back from any public enterprise throws bouquets on the grave. The man who is so stingy as to be howling hard times, preaches the funeral and sings the doxology. And thus a town lies buried from all sorrow and care. So mote it be.

THE bob seems to have made about as much progress in England as it has in America. At any rate it is accused of having seriously affected the barber trade and the tonsorial artists of the country are talking of inaugurating an advertising campaign to stir up more interest in their business among men. It appears that the bobbing industry, instead of helping the trade has hurt it. Women in considerable numbers patronize the shops, but because of the more intricate nature of the ministrations which they demand they are not as profitable customers as were the men. And they are driving the more profitable customers out of the shops.

I.O.O.F. SOCIAL EVENING

Mount Fernie Lodge I.O.O.F. held their regular social evening on Friday last.

The educational feature of the evening was a talk by Bro. Ben Davis on "The Most Wonderful Macine in the World—the Watch." He minutely described the component parts of a watch, stating that there were some 175 parts requiring upwards of 2400 seperate and distinct operations in its manufacture. The working of a watch, he stated, substantiated the claim he made for it in his caption. Most machines run for a time, then are given a rest, and require constant attention. The watch, with its tiny balance making 18,000 vibrations an hour, travelling 1.43 inches at each vibration, is expected to keep going with infinite precision day and night. There is no other instrument, he stated from which you expect so much as your watch, and there is no other worker who keeps on the job so constantly without going stale or taking a vacation.

He then described the many different kinds of watches from the first invention down to the modern articles. He also enumerated many of the causes of erratic time-keeping by a watch, and gave many good pointers on their upkeep.

At the csole of the paper a few musical numbers were renderd and these were followed by refreshments and dancing.

NOVA SCOTIA MINE OUTLOOK VERY SERIOUS

Halifax, N.S., March 2.—Hon. E. H. Armstrong, premier of Nova Scotia, has received a telegram intimating conditions exist in Cape Breton threatening the "gravest possible situation" through lack of work. The message is signed by J. W. McLeod, president, and A. A. McKay, secretary of District No. 26, Unitd Mine Workers of America. A virtual lockout is alleged in the southern collieries areas and Sydney mines. The premier wired T. J. Brown, minister of public works, in Cape Breton, to make an immediate investigation.

The replies of the British Empire Steel Coroporation, and of the mine workers to Premier Armstrong's proposals for an investigation looking to a settlement of the present dispute, show the company willing to accept a royal commission and accept its findings, but the men, while accepting the inevitability of the investigation and undertaking to place no obstacles in its way, claim they are "without authority and without inclination to accept in advance the findings of such a commission."

HOCKEY

Last Friday evening the Fernie Intermediates sustained their first home defeat of the season when the Coleman Juniors won by a score of four goals to one. Ferko, Evans (2) and Johnson scored for Coleman and Dicken for Fernie. The Coleman team played a completely different style of game to the locals. If the forwards are forced into the corner or the puck goes behind the opposing net they rush back and five men are on the defence when the puck is brought up the ice again. Although Fernie seemed to have the best of the play the Coleman style was the one that got the goals.

A meeting of the directors of the Fernie Board of Trade was held in the council chamber on Tuesday, March 3. It was decided to hold a Board of Trade luncheon at the Fernie Hotel on Monday, March 9, at 12 noon sharp. A request was made that W. R. Wilson be asked to address the gathering.

The biggest problem of the next twelve months will be finding positions for officials who have successfully tied up the coal industry in Alberta for the past year. The U.M.W. of A. remnants in the United States should pension the bunch off. —Blairmore Enterprise.

In addition to nominating Rev. Dr. Pidgeon as moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly, Rev. W. F. Burns of Fernie, and Rev. W. R. Walkinshaw, of Greenwood, were nominated as commissioners for the assembly by the Kootenay Presbytery. Rev. Mr. Burns was elected moderator of the Presbytery.

Our old college chum Jack Volume has taken to the pen for a living and is contributing sketches to the Sunday supplement of the Vancouver Province. He also occasionally breaks into poetry. Jack always had an idea that he would some day take to journalism and he may yet become as well known as that famous poet of bygone days, J. Peck McSwain. He has a wonderful imagination and a long career of ups and downs—mostly downs—should have cultivated that imagination to the point where he can capitalize it and make it pay dividends. The trouble with Jack always was that when he got a few dividends he got the idea that he had too much money and the bright lights of New York or the lure of far off Honolulu were irresistible, and he would not wake up till his pipe went out and he was looking for the price of a meal. However, we hope that time has taught Jack a few things.

Various solutions of the difficulties confronting the miners are being suggested, the most amusing being that about fifty men be allowed to work steadily for the old scale of wages and that every cent of their earnings be handed over to a bolshevik committee to be distributed among the "I Won't Works."—Blairmore Enterprise.

It is funny how some people discover the great importance and influence of their local newspaper when they get into a scrape. They live for years without subscribing, and when asked to advertise say "it don't pay." But the minute they get into some trouble things look different, and they cannot get to the editor quick enough to ask him not to say anything about it in the paper. Why?

AWAKENING PUBLIC OPINION

Twelve men some years ago took it upon themselves to awaken public spirit in the city of their adoption. Among other things local manufactured products were strongly urged and to the profit of the population given preference. The city grew. Today it has a great name. It is this sort of spirit the Made-in-B.C. campaign is trying to awaken in British Columbia.

STRANGE

By Dr. Frank Crane.

"What fools these mortals be!" said Puck.

And we are inclined to agree with him when we observe:

That men toil their life long to lay up money for their children when the worst calamity that can befall a youth is to be relieved from the need to work for a living.

That a man pride and aim seems to be to keep his wife in idleness and luxury, and he considers himself disgraced if she engages in useful work, when the greatest foe to female virtue is idleness.

That all our greatness comes from struggle and danger, while we devote our lives to avoiding these things.

That the only faith that is worth anything is the product of wrestling with doubts, yet doubts we consider to be irreligious.

That all the world is convinced of the waste, stupidity and madness of war, while each nation impoverishes itself still in the endeavor to prepare for war.

That individually we love our children better than anything in the world, while collectively, as a city, we leave no spaces for their playgrounds, but compel them to romp in the streets among the horses, street cars and automobiles.

That we lock men up in prison as an antidote to crime, and when they come out they are more hardened criminals than before.

That we gather in churches and worship Jesus, yet consider as perfectly absurd and irrational the teachings He most insisted upon, deriding His faith in human nature, His law of love and his principle of non-resistance; while the thing against which He warned us most strictly, the heaping up of money, is the one thing after which we are all mad.

That those of us most favored by fortune are in the heated pursuit of happiness, while we know very well that nobody who pursued happiness ever found it.

That we easily believe in selfishness and hate, which render us unhappy, while it is hard for us to believe in love and goodness which makes us happy.

That man should "put an enemy into his mouth to steal away his brains."

That politics is universally despised among us, while the only possible way to make a demorcracy successful is for every citizen to take an active interest in politics.

That the accepted method of preparing our sons and daughters for life is to send them to institutions sooted with medievalism, and while but one person in a hundred is by nature fitted to become a scholar or literary person, we continue the useless effort to make scholars out of those who are to become merchants, hand workers, salesmen and housewives.

That while we all believe in majority rule, our cities are still governed by a compact minority composed of men of deficiet character.

That we exert the greatest effort to be pleasant to strangers and mere acquaintances, for whom we care little or nothing, while we are neglectful, indifferent and often cruel to those we love most dearly.

That most of our worry is about the past, which is gone forever, and the future, which may never come, while we omit to enjoy today which is all that we have to enjoy, and

That those who observe customs and conventions are called wise and safe, while those who believe in their reason, listen to the dictates of their heart, and trust their instinct, are considered dangerous, if not wicked.

GREAT NORTHERN NOW COMPLETELY "PULLMANIZED"

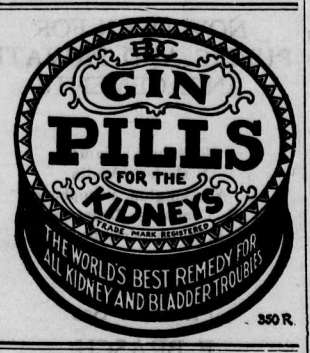
With the providing this week of new Pullman service on its OWL trains between Seattle, Bellingham and Vancouver, B.C., and on two night trains between Seattle and Wenatchee, the Great Northern Railway system became completely "Pullmanized." All sleeping cars on Great Northern trains are now furnished by the Pullman Company through an arrangement made between the sleeping car company and the railroad. Prior to the inauguration last June of the famous new Oriental Limited trains between the Pacific Northwest and Chicago, the Great Northern owned and operated its own sleeping cars.

The new arrangement means that people who travel between Northwest cities served by this railroad will have the advantage of the very highest grade sleeping car service, and enjoy travel comforts and conveniences unexcelled on overnight trips. Simultaneously the Great Northern has added new Pullman service to its other owl runs in the Middle West.

Here and There

An unusual consignment passed through Montreal recently in the care of the Dominion Express Company when six Rocky Mountain sheep were shipped to Austria to form part of a zoological exhibit there. The animals, which are valued at $600, came from the National Park at Banff, Alberta.

Alberta farmers have recently been shipping a new commodity to the market. During the past few years there has been a considerable increase in the number of bee-keepers and last year 160 keepers had a total production of nearly 60,000 pounds of honey, valued at approximately $15,000. The exact number of bees is not known.



Contract for aeroplane spruce has been made between Vickers Limited, manufacturers of aeroplanes, and Frank L. Buckley, of Vancouver, B.C The spruce will be logged on the Queen Charlotte Islands and milled at the Buckley Mill at Port Clement, on Graham Island and at Burrard mill, in Vancouver. The contract calls for the delivery of two million feet during 1925.

Canada leads the world in automobile exports in proportion to production, domestic sales or ownership of motor vehicles or to population. Not relatively but absolutely the automobile exports of the Dominion are only exceeded by those of the United States. Since 1920 the motor vehicle exports of Canada have nearly doubled, the increase being from 9.8 per cent. to 17 per cent. of the automobile export trade of the world.

A special train of forty-two cars containing nearly 900 head of stock for export to Great Britain, arrived at the Canadian Pacific Railway's East End stock yards, Montreal, recently. These, added to shipments from Packingham, Ont., Toronto and other points in Ontario and Quebec, made up what cattlemen claimed to be the greatest concentration of Canadian cattle for export in the history of the trade. From the yards the cattle were shipped by special train to the ship's side at St. John, N.B.

When the round-the-world cruise passengers aboard the Canadian Pacific steamship "Empress of France," reached Egypt recently, they were entertained by Enani Khattab, a prominent sheik holding authority over a large number of villages along the Nile. Unfortunately, the sheik succumbed to a sudden attack of heart failure. The visitors from across the Atlantic before returning to their ship were permitted to attend the funeral, which was conducted in the desert with weird and impressive religious rites, an experience few world-travellers have known.

Between 300,000 and 400,000 Canadians and Americans of Norwegian origin will gather at Minneapolis and St. Paul in June next to celebrate by a great national gathering the hundredth anniversary of the landing of the first organized party of Norwegian settlers on this continent. President Coolidge, King Haakon of Norway and Lord Byng, Governor-General of Canada, have been invited to attend. Meetings of some forty Norwegian organizations, divine service by the Bishop of Oslo (formerly Christiania), field sports, musical contests and historic pageants will make up the programme.

A TIP FROM THE SOUTH

.... (Financial Post)

Canada's tourist industry is bringing millions of new money into the country. We doubt if any other business returns such a satisfactory margin of net profit in relation to the drain upon the country's resources. Tourists are usually satisfied to look at our natural attractions without depleting them—even the activities of the enthusiastic fishermen and hunters are not serious in relation to the total populations of our streams and forests—and they are more anxious to exchange their dollars for service and entertainment than for raw materials.

The tourist business is only in its beginning for Canada — if proper methods are employed to encourage it. Undoubtedly we can learn something from the experiences of other countries; the following item is from a Florida newspaper:

The tourist can be a profitable person indeed. The only thing that must be avoided is the overcharging of the willing spenders. This is indeed all too prevalent and will always react, sooner or later, to the detriment of the resort so overcharging. Auto tourists, especially, are a clannish bunch, and once a location gets the reputation for "milking" the passing public then the tourists avoid that locality as the plague.

This is a tip from Florida which should be taken seriously in Canada. Not only do we want our visitors to come back again, but the most effective advertising our resorts can have is the spoken good word of those who have been there. And on the other hand nothing will be more effective in killing off the tourist crop if our visitors go away disgruntled and spread the story that they have been overcharged for supplies or entertainment.

THE EYE AS A RADIO RECEIVER

That the eye was the first wireless receiving set employed by man was asserted by Sir Oliver Lodge, when he propounded a new theory of vision in a recent presidential address before the Radio Society of Great Britain. Says the London correspondent of the New York Times in a dispatch to that paper:

"Radiation, said Sir Oliver, is purely a phenomenon of ether. There is no mechanical connection between the latter and matter. The only link between them lies in electricity and magnetism, but neither electric charge nor magnetic field generates radiation. There must be, he said, both electric charge and magnetic field superposed at right angles to each other. They then had radiation, traveling with the velocity of light at right angles to both. Atoms emit not only radiation but also electrons.

"There is something in the retina of the human eye which responds in this way, Sir Oliver held, flinging away the electrons at characteristic speed when it feels luminous tremors, and it is to that strange and at present hardly accountable emission that vision is due. He said he doubted if electric tremors affected the nerves directly. They stimulated something especially adapted to respond to vibrations. What stimulates nerves is the shock of electrons shocked by atoms which strike them with the speed of some thousand miles a second.

"'This is a theory of vision,' said Sir Oliver, 'which is in process of being born, and which I feel sure contains a clue that has to be worked out by physicists and physiologists in combination.

"'The eye is like a receiving instrument for detecting radio waves of an extremely short and definite length. It was the first wireless receiving set employed by man. Vision is a photo-electric phenomenon. I make the rash statement and say that the burden of proof, and especially the burden of disproof, rests upon future experiments.'"

In its editorial columns, The Times comments as follows:

"When Sir Oliver Lodge talks on a subject purely scientific, whatever he says must be heard with the respect due to his high attainments. So, when he says, as a dispatch quotes him as saying, that the eye is a 'sort of radio receiver' and that vision is the result of an electronic emission something like the one taking place in the vacuum tubes which are the soul of most receiving sets, denial that he is right would be rash.

"The statement, however, somehow doesn't sound plausible, but that may be because Sir Oliver did not make himself thoroughly understood by the reporter. That sometimes happens; most often, perhaps, when the talker himself has failed to get very clear in his own mind just what he means and wants to say.

"As presented, the radio-eye theory is about as convincing as are the assertions occassionally heard about somebody's 'fiery eyes' and the 'sparks' that come out of them."

75% of disease avoided through internal cleanliness

WHEN you are constipated, poisons are formed in the accumulated food waste, and reach all parts of the body. The first results, headaches, biliousness, a feeling of "heaviness", etc., serve as warnings of graver diseases to follow if this intestinal poisoning continues unchecked.

This is why intestinal specialists state that constipation is the primary cause of three-quarters of all illness, including the gravest diseases of life.

Physicians Advise Lubrication for Internal Cleanliness

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste, and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless. Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

NORWEGIANS TO GATHER AT TWIN CITIES

Fifty Thousand Canadian-Norwegians Will Attend Norse-American Centennial at Minneapolis and St. Paul in June.

King Haakon, President Coolidge and Lord and Lady Byng Invited.

Professor Gisle Bothne

In June next, between three and four hundred thousand Canadians and Americans of Norwegian origin will gather at the twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul to celebrate by a great national gathering the hundredth anniversary of the landing in America of the first organized party of Norwegian settlers on the Continent. It was in 1825 that the little sloop Restaurationen, of 45 tons, set sail from Stavanger carrying a little band of adventurers who settled in New York state and ever since that time there has been a steady stream of newcomers to this continent from their homeland.

The coming gathering and its purposes were recently discussed at the head offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal, by Professor Gisle Bothne of the Minnesota state University at Minneapolis. The professor stated that the Legislatures of Minnesota had endorsed the gathering and had forwarded through the Secretary of the State of Washington invitations to President Coolidge, King Haakon of Norway and the Governor General of Canada. President Coolidge had already accepted and Lord and Lady Byng have given assurance that they will attend. It is expected that about 50,000 Norwegians now living in Canada will attend the Norse-American Centennial.

The gathering will be opened on June 6 next and about forty "Bygdelags" or Norwegians Clans will hold meetings during the first day. On Sunday June 7 the Bishop of Oslo, which until recently was known as Christiana, will hold a divine service and the succeeding days will be given up to meetings, field sports and musical competitions, and an historical pageant depicting the Viking activities of one thousand years ago and the history of Norsemen at home and abroad up to the present time, portraying their contributions to civilization, in discoveries, science, agriculture, industry and commerce, in art and literature will be staged. The costumes will be magnificent and in brilliancy of technique, in magnitude and splendour the whole array will rival anything of its kind that has heretofore been produced. The other features of the Centennial are being prepared on the same elaborate scale.

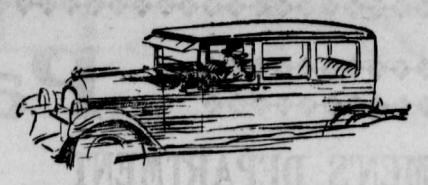
It is already arranged that a large delegation from Norway's parliament will be present and there is some hope that the Norwegian Crown Prince may attend. Five Norwegian-American universities are closing for the summer early so that their faculties and students may be present. Professor Bothne pointed out that the Norwegians had done much in the building up of the central western states and their influence was shown by the fact that the governors of no less than five states were of Norwegian birth or descent. It has been proposed that the Canadian Department of Colonization shall have an exhibit at the convention.

In the course of the interview professor Bothne stated that undoubtedly the new United States immigration laws would result in large numbers of Norwegians coming to this country during the next few years.

QUIT YOUR KNOCKING

It is claimed that a new anti-knock gas has been produced in ethyl. Used in the rickiest old car, it is said to quiet the engine and remove all knocks.

Among motorists and garage mechanics knocking indicates carbon in the engine cylinders. Knocking in the human mechanism may be taken to indicate a clogged liver, a fagged brain, tobacco heart or overloaded stomach.



You never hear a knock in a smooth running engine. It functions noiselessly and with very little vibration. It has a cheery and efficient hum and it works satisfactorily and restfully.

If you are prone to knocking, look over that human engine of yours, and tune it up if necessary. Back up your pessimistic brain, your cold heart, your disordered stomach, your overworked kidneys or your bilious liver. Perhaps a dose of castor oil will have the same effect upon your knocking vitals that ethyl gas may have on your automobile engine.

Give the wonderful mechanism within you a chance. Man was not born to be a knocker. The Almighty intended every one of us to be healthy, happy, constructive boosters, free from knocks and engine trouble, and running smoothly with our fellows on life's well-paved highway.

An old fashioned doctor is the kind who tries to find out what's wrong with you, instead of calling in two or three of his friends to discuss the matter.

Results as Different and Desirable Today as They Were a Year Ago

When the Chrysler Six was introduced early in 1924 it was apparent at once that its engineers had advanced far beyond conventional conceptions of performance and riding qualities.

The results were not only so different, but so desirable that it took more than 32,000 cars in the effort to satisfy the first year demand—a record.

Chrysler results are acknowledged to be as different and as desirable today as they were in 1924 and the public is as eager to possess them. For where else can you find a 3-inch motor that develops 68 horsepower, better than 70 miles an hour, with a gasoline economy of fully 24 miles to the gallon?

Where else can you find the complete absence of vibration and the elimination of sidesway and roadweaving? Where can you find all these things and many more, such as the oil-filter that cleanses the oil as the car runs, the air-cleaner for the carburetor, the Chrysler-Lockheed hydraulic four-wheel brakes that assure perfect control at all speeds?

Only in the Chrysler Six.

We are eager to give you a practical demonstration of these remarkable results and thereby establish to your satisfaction that the Chrysler Six is the best built car the industry has yet produced.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan. Dealers everywhere.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

FERNIE IN ALBERTA !

It is—for sure—according to the Federation of British Industries. This organization recently published a book of reference on empire mining, one of the many glaring inaccuracies being the placing of Fernie in Alberta.

Premier Greenfield took the publishers to task in a letter to the Times, concluding with the words: "I think the publishers should withdraw this volume until it has been thoroughly revised."

COAL CREEK NOTES

Fred Reeves, timekeeper, has taken over the management of the horse barns. Tom Caufield is now timekeeper.

Sam Heaney and Joe Milburn have returned to camp, having been employed on the road work at Crow's Nest.

The school up here opened on summer schedule on Monday. Studies now commence at 9 a.m.

Miss Annie Billsborough is spending a few days with her parents prior to her departure for other parts.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jones, formerly of Trail, were visiting in camp during their honeymoon. The young couple expect to take up their residence here in the near future.

The Chancellor Commander of Fernie lodge K. of P. requests the attendance of all local members on Tuesday next. Conferring the second degree rank.

Mrs. J. Ogden has had the misfortune to sprain her ankle, which necessitates her laying up.

Steve Fleming left on Wednesday for Kimberley in the hope of securing a position there.

Jack Campbell left camp on Thursday for other part.

Gus Rudd was conveyed to Fernie by special train on Wednesday suffering from a badly lacerated ear, sustained while following his occupation as a driver.

Quite a number attended the Elks dance in Fernie on Monday night.

The Moose Lodge will be held on Tuesday of next week, the hall being engaged for Monday.

Notice has been served on several of our ex-service men to appear before the Travelling Pensions Board in Fernie on Saturday.

During the season just closed the Fernie and Coal Creek school boys played a series of eight hockey games, Coal Creek winning 5, losing 2 and tying one. Unfortunately one of Fernie's best players was injured at the first of the season and in the majority of the games the Fernie boys were outweighed. Coal Creek boys take this opportunity to thank the local hockey club for use of equipment and the rink management for liberal use of the rink. They also wish to thank Frank Ingram for supplying them on three occasions with "good eats" at his father's lunch counter.

This sufferer literally covered with skin disease—15 years of suffering—then his whole body cleared off in 45 days—a new skin grown—no pain, no itching, no irritation.
This story seems incredible as do hundreds of other cases relieved by the powerful liquid for the treatment of skin diseases.

MORRISSEY MINES SCHOOL REPORT

Standing in order of merit for February—Annie Dvorak, Lizzie Dvorak, Mary Doman, Mary Chudik, Bessie Chudik, Emma Chudik, Frank Chudik, Gabriel Cortese, Margaret Doman.

Punctuality and Attendance: Mary, Bessie, Joe, Emma and Frank Chudik; Margaret and Mary Doman; Gabriel Cortese; Lizzie and Annie Dvorak.

Teacher, parents and pupils all wish to thank Mount Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. for their kindness in putting a library in the school. Its value to a rural school, isolated as we are for so many months each winter, cannot be estimated.

Does your pen Qualify? Yes, it's a Waterman's

Gold Tips

You do not have to get used to a Waterman's. You simply select the proper model to fit your hand and it works satisfactorily the instant it touches the paper.
In addition to buying the pen you buy a service such as Waterman's alone maintains. It is world wide. It is thorough. It ensures satisfaction.

Exquisite designs at higher prices

Any fountain pen's usefulness depends upon three things—the nib, the ink supply and the flow.

The nib must conform—the ink supply must be generous, the flow must be steady and continuous.

There is a Waterman's nib to suit every possible style of handwriting. The ink supply in every Waterman's is greater than that of any other pen of similar size. The "spoon" feed—exclusive to Waterman's—is the one method by which a steady flow of ink is assured.

It is because of these features — because of its ability to write properly at all times—that there are more Waterman's in use than all other makes of fountain pens combined.

UNITED CHURCH OF FERNIE — VICTORIA AVENUE

Calendar for Week Begin ning Sunday, March 15, 1925.

Sunday—
Senior Tuxis Boys at 10 a.m.
Combined service at 11 a.m.
Evening service at 7.30 p.m.

Wednesday—
Junior Tuxis Boys at 7.30 p.m.

Friday—
Choir practice at 8 p.m.
C.G.I.T. at 7.30 p.m.

The church and the world alike demand that those who profess to love the Lord should be careful to love their brethren also. It is for them to have in essentials unity, in non-essentials diversity, in all things charity. Only so can the church realize the ideal of its Divine Founder, and foreshadow its future excellence and beauty.—Holmes.

Whatever makes men good Christians makes them good citizens. — Daniel Webster.

BOARD TRADE LUNCHEON

The regular monthly luncheon of the Fernie Board of Trade was held at the Fernie Hotel on Monday at 12 o'clock noon. There were nearly 70 members present and a most pleasant and profitable hour was spent.

W. R. Wilson was on the program for the speech of the day but owing to a slight indisposition asked to be excused on this occasion, and A. B. Sanborne, manger of the E. K. Power Co., was asked to substitute, and he complied by giving a short general history of hydro-electric in Canada and a more or less detailed account of the development of the two plants operated by his company. Hydro-electric was a very modern business but already some 4,000,000 horse power had been developed in Canada and this was constatnly being added to. It had taken a tremendous lot of hard work and capital to accomplish this, but the business was now on its feet and the future looked very bright. Nearly all the hydro-electric companies throughout the United States and Canada were in good financial shape and were paying good interest on the invested capital. The local company had started in a small way at Bull River, developing some 7000 horse power, but it was found the plant was altogether inadequate to supply the demand for electric energy and arrangements were immediately made to develop the power at Elko, which took nearly two years to accomplish but the company were now able to supply 22,000 horse power. Mr. Sanborne told of the many troubles their employees had to contend with during the winter months in an endeavor to give 100 per cent service over a line covering some 225 miles of territory. When other people were in their comfortable homes with the thermometer hovering around 30 below zero and the wind blowing a hurricane, that was the time when trouble always developed and it was then their business to get out and fight the storm in an endeavor to give that 100 per cent efficiency which the public demanded from the Power Co.

After the luncheon those present were invited to the Isis Theatre as the guests of Percy Bean, local agent for the Ford car, where 2000 feet of reel depicting the great business established by Henry Ford at the town of Ford, Ont., where 80,000 cars were being manufacturing every year, were shown.

SUPERLATIVE CAST IN FILM OF FAMOUS NOVEL

Native picture-goers, whose fiction reading includes the popular works of Ethel M. Dell, will soon have the opportunity of seeing this author's greatest novel on the local screen. A picturization of her widely read story "The Top of the World" was recently completed for Paramount under the direction of George Melford. It will be the main film attraction at the Orpheum theatre for two days beginning Wednesday next.

Anna Q. Nillson, James Kirkwood, Raymond Hatton and Sheldon Lewis are the featured quartet of favorite players who appear in the leading roles and the strong supporting cast includes Joseph Kilgour, Mary Mersch, Charles Post, Frank Jonasson and Mabel Van Buren.

The story is a vivid melodramatic romance involving a girl and two men in darkest Africa. Briefly, it concerns Sylvia Ingleton, the proud and spirited daughter of wealthy English parents. To escape a loveless marriage she runs away to South Africa, fully determined to marry Guy Ranger, a childhood sweetheart whom she hasn't seen for several years.

Arrived there, she learns that the passing years have worked a great change in Guy. He is a physical and moral wreck. Helpless and thousands of miles away from home and family, Sylvia is grateful to Guy's cousin, Burke, who makes her welcome at his farm. Shortly afterward. to avert malicious gossip, Sylvia marries Burke upon the agreed understanding they are to be just pals.

What happens when Guy tries to claim her and she finds her heart torn between the old love and the new and how in the end husband and wife are reunited is dramatically developed in a series of tense, gripping situations that lead to a startling climax before the picture comes to a happy and satisfactory close.

Aside from the notable cast, and dramatic strength of story, the photoplay is distinguished by reason of its unusually picturesque backgrounds, colorful pictorial settings and some unique photograph effects.

MAINTENANCE MEN STILL OUT OF N. S. MINES

Sydney, N.S., March 12. — Up to noon today the district maintenance workers' executive had made no decision as to whether to maintain their 100 per cent strike, or order the maintenance men back to the engine room and boiler house to pump and fan the mines, according to President John W. McLeod, who also maintains that his executive has as yet no instructions on the subject from International President Lewis. He declared previously published statements that Lewis had ordered the maintenance men back to the mines unfounded.

At the British Empire Steel Corporation headquarters it is stated that good order prevails throughout the mining district and that the situation is devoid of new developments. The same claim is put forward at the mine workers' headquarters at Glace Bay.

McLeod refused to comment on a dispatch in which it is claimed that the miners are breaking their agreement.

LAST GAME CITY LEAGUE

After an unsuccessful attempt to break the tie for leadership in the City Hockey League, in a game which went 30 minutes overtime last Friday night to a 4-4 score, the Northerns and Ingram's 150s met again Monday evening, and this game also required overtime before the Northerns scored the goal necessary to win.

Monday's game ranks as the fastest witnessed on the local ice this season. The surface was in perfect condition and with both teams determined to secure the verdict there wasn't an uninteresting minute during the entire game. It was marred, however, by a couple of accidents towards the close of play. Just before the end of the third period Swedeberg collided with Shand while both were travelling at full speed, and Swedeberg had to be carried off the ice. In the overtime Dyson tore head-on into Kirkpatrick and in falling on the ice gave his wrist a severe twist, resulting in one of the bones being cracked.

Play was fairly even in the opening stages, both goals being called upon in quick succession, and end to end play was kept up continuously, but it was only after 18 minutes of play that scoring started, when Dicken faked a shot and passed to Biggs who, with an open net in front of him, gave Ingrams the lead.

The pace was maintained in the second period, the Northerns exerting themselves to equalize and were rewarded when Swedeberg got through on his own and sent in the equalizer. Ingrams tried desperately to regain the lead during the closing minutes of the period but the Northerns defence withstood all attacks.

The third period was a thriller. With the terrific pace set the inevitable collisions were frequent and stoppages were necessary to allow players to retire for repairs. Aften ten minutes of play the Northerns assumed the lead when Dyson batted in a pass from Dicken. Ingrams set up a vigorous offensive following this goal and with the Northerns playing a strong defensive game the time was dwindling away and it looked a sure thing for the Northerns. The collision between Shand and Swedeberg occurred just two minutes from time and the loss of Swedeberg considerably weakened the Northern defence with the result that the 150s came all out for the equalizer, which came with barely five sceonds left, Commons snapping up a loose puck after a scrimmage and scoring.

In the overtime the 150s had the bulk of the play but Colton was giving a great exhibition of goal-tending and disposed of anything that came his way. Just before the final bell Sofko bored his way through the 150s defence and scored the winning goal.

Northerns—R. Colton; Swedeberg and Dyson; Wilson, K. Colton, Sofko, Dudley and Smith.

Ingrams—Coste; Kirkpatrick and Shand; Dicken, Biggs, Brown, Commons, and Mills.

Referee—Cy Walker.

JOHN LEWIS DEPOSES

There will be strikes and unemployment in the coal fields for many years to come, in fact till about 150,000 unnecessary coal miners get out of the business and until 40 per cent of the unprofitable mines shut their doors.

That gloomy prediction came from John J. Lewis, powerful president of America's most powerful labor union, the United Mine Workers. Out of an apparently blue sky Mr. Lewis had seen a revolt organized among 60,000 miners in the hard coal fields and a strike threatened at a time when existing contracts seemed to guarantee perfect peace. That strike threat was outlawed and crushed by the unlon leaders only after a terrific struggle. And now peace seems to have settled over the coal regions until August in the anthracite fields and for two years more in the bituminous fields. But the questions loom "Will there be another strike in the hard coal fields in the fall ?" "Will there be another strike in the soft coal country when its present contract expires." The whole thing boils down to this question, "What is wrong with the coal mines ?" That is the question I put to Mr. Lewis.

"The coal mines have been sick ever since the war," Lewis continued in his deep voice, "when the demand for coal was so great that every one horse operator with a hole in the ground worked it. Coal mining like every other industry at that time, was over-developed, and when the war ended all these young coal mines were left high and dry.

"Mr. Hoover estimates that there were, and I believe still are, from 30 to 40 per cent more coal mines than we need to supply the country's needs. And along with them are about 40 per cent too many miners, who are working part time or not all.

"That is not healthy for the nation.

"Some of these mines have got to close down and a good many miners have got to hunt new jobs. The problem is who? It sounds very simple on paper to say that the fellows who own mines with thin and unprofitable seams or who are distant from market or who are using antiquated methods of production should simply quit. But it is another problem to make them believe it.

"Would Government co-operation help there?" I asked.

Mr. Lewis laughed.

"Can't you imagine," he replied, "the hordes of mine owners rushing to Washington and threatening their particular congressman if their mine was closed ?

"No, in my opinion the remedy for the coal mining industry is through the operation of the old but pretty infallible 'law of supply and demand' Let the mines which are poor in quality and with thin seams, or which are distant from markets, close down simply because they are not able to sell coal for the same price that richer mines can. This requuires no Government compulsion or interference at all."

"Why hasn't the law of 'supply and demand' shut down these mines long ago ? I asked.

"Because it has been the unwritten law in the coal mining industry to work awhile and stop awhile. The stops were due to strikes, lockouts, or car shortage. During such a stop the entire country was usually without coal, and prices naturally went up to a point where operators and miners pitched in and made enough during the coal famine to tide them over the lean period. The public paid, of course.

"When an owner has an idle mine it costs him a lot just to keep it idle. He has to employ engineers to pump the water out and kee psteam in the engines. He has to keep his props repaired,his passages ventilated and his pits clear of shale. This will cost---to select an arbitrary figure--$200 a day. Now if there is a period of four months idleness, he spends $24,000, which must be got back in an increased cost of coal. The public pays that extra $24,000.

Mr. Lewis had been rattling off figures at me almost faster than I could absorb them, and I still did not understand why the 'law of supply and demand' since it had failed to close the surplus mines during

COME OUT OF THE KITCHEN

Come Out of the Kitchen and see this excellent comedy presented by the Fernie Players in the Grand Theatre on April 15 and 16.

The role of the "Poet," the "Lawyer," the "Butler" and the "Scheming Mother" with an eligible daughter, all are portrayed by local artists and artistes particularly selected for their adaptability to the different parts.

Burton, the eminent authority of the stage, prophesies that in the near future the professional stock company and itinerant road show will give way almost entirely to such institutions as "The Little Theatre," which have their inception in amateur initiative.

The identity of "Boots," "Mandy" and the other funny characters will be disclosed in due course, and in the meantime the public are requested to reserve the above dates.

ICE GAMES AT THE RINK

"Just a minute, Mr. Walker, my nose is shining too much," was the statement that greeted the referee last night when he started to face off the puck in a thrilling hockey duel between the Swastikas and a team of nondescript looking "females," and the said nondescript centre proceeded to procure a mirror and puff from somewhere in the region of "her" knee and powder her nose before "she" would consent to play hockey.

Finally the game got under way and the beskirted tribe started to show their one hand stuff, but found the Swastikas were not easy marks by any means. The girls checked hard but before the end of the period the nondescripts had a lead of three goals to one. That was all the goals they got however, and before the end of the game the Swastikas had run their total up to seven.

A classical exhibition of the ancient and historical game of broomball was staged by a couple of teams, the Fats and the Leans, chosen from the ranks of the B.P.O. Elks, the periods alternating with the periods in the hockey game. This game was a real comedy. There were about a dozen players on each side, so the football was kept going all the time even when a few on both sides, after taking a mighty swips at it, sat down rather hard on the ice and forgot to get up for a few minutes. The game ended in a tie, both teams managing to score a goal, although it must be stated that on both occasions it was the defenders and not the attackers who lodged the ball in the net.

The two games were staged under the auspices of the Elks as a benefit for the players who were injured in the City Hockey League games during the past season.

CECIL NIXON AND HIS SIX SOCIAL SYNCOPATERS TO PLAY FERNIE, MARCH 20

On Friday night, March 20, the music lovers of Fernie and vicinity will have a real treat presented them when Cecil Nixon and his Six Social Syncopaters from Whitefish, Mont., appear at Victoria Hall in Fernie. The concert will consist of a thirty minute vaudeville act which has been presented by this orchestra in the largest theatres of the northwest. This is a fast act of exceptional merit and will be given immediately preceding the dance, starting at 8.30 p.m.

This orchestra is the pick of the best musicians from Montana, who have played together for over two years without a change in their membership, and judging from list of engagements that have been played by this orchestra it is safe to say that their concert and dance will long be remembered by the music lovers of Fernie.

This orchestra is uniformly attired in tuxedo evening dress at all engagements.

The concert will start promptly at 8.30 and the dance follow immediately after the concert, starting at 9.10 p.m.

JOHN LEWIS DEPOSES

the five post-war years, should now suddenly begin to operate. When I pressed him for further explanation he replied:

"Hitherto the law of 'supply and demand' has been defeated by a strike practically every year. Wage agreements were signed for one year's duration, and at the end of that time it was customary to stage a strike which helped both miners and operators and hurt only the public. But at Jacksonville last year we signed a wage agreement not for one year, but for three years. Which means that no strike and no accompanying boost in prices can take place for three years.

"This also means that uneconomic mines unable to take advantage of periodic famines and increased prices must gradually be forced out of the field. They can't stand this three year stretch.

"This may sound like harsh medicine, but it is just as harsh for the miner who has to find a new job and move his family as it is for the owner who has to abandon his mine. I have been cussed by my own men for this, but it is unsound national economy to keep 40 per cent too many mines in operation and 100,000 extra men in an industry which does not need them."

Mr. Lewis glared at me from under his big bushy eyebrows, and I could well understand why his powerful face crowned with its fighting red hair, had dominated so many coal conferences. Mr. Lewis took his third cigar, and I asked him this question

"What will happen to all these mines when they are deserted? Can they be reclaimed?"

"Probably never. A deserted mine fills up with water. The roof falls in, and its coal can probably never be used by future generations. This sounds like a ruthless waste in a way, but some of the war time mines were of such low value that they never should have been opened.

"It is a general practice among all companies to leave about 36 per cent of the coal in the mines, simply because it is unprofitable to take it out. Coal can be sold on the market for only a certain price, and when veins get too thin they must be abandoned. Markets are so glutted that in order to sell coal at the prevailing price only the cream can be skimmed from the mines.

"Put yourself in the position of the mine manager. You recieve orders from the owners to produce coal at a profit of ten cents a ton. All right you come to a seam which slopes up and another which slopes down. You work the first because the cars will come down by gravity but you abandon the second which contains perfectly good coal, because the cost of pulling the coal up hill would eat up your ten per cent profit.

"Could government operation or ownership save this coal?" I queried.

"Only at a greatly increased cost. You can't get away from the fact that thin veins or deep coal cost money to mine whether done by governments, mine owners, or the miners themselves.

"The United Mine Workers, although they came out in favor of nationalization of mines some time ago, are really against such a nebulous sort of thing as government ownership. Our American life and our American system of doing business has been built up around the principle of competition and the United Mine Workers believe in competition just as much as the executives who guide business.

"Personally I am not worrying about the coal we abandon in the mines, because scientists estimate that we have only scratched from one-tenth of 1 per cent to 4 per cent of our total resources."

When I reminded Mr. Lewis that most of our remaining coal was located in the Rockies and could be hauled 2000 miles to eastern markets only at a prodiguous price, he replied:

"Yes but in a few years we won't be hauling coal at all. We'll burn it at the pit mouth and save the teriffic burden that the railroads have to carry. By that time the coal derivatives will probably prove more valuable than coal itself. No one can tell what a few years of need and science will bring forth."

The Communist doctrine is to kill those who are regarded as enemies. In the recent trouble in Esthonia a list was discovered giving the names of 143,000 persons, representing 10 per cent of the population, and of all classes, who were to be shot when the Communists obtained control of the country.

WILD HORSE PIONEER PASSES

Invermere, B.C., March 7. — With the death of Daniel L. Drumheller, of Spokane, who passed away lately at Los Angeles, the last known survivor of the early days of the placer mining gold rush to Wild Horse Creek, of the East Kootenay, which took place in 1864. has gone. It cannot be ascertained locally just at the moment, but it is thought that Mrs. Harry Mather, who was also amongst the pioneers, still survives. Until a late date she was residing in the Okanagan country.

While not actively engaged in taking out gold in the Wild Horse rush, yet the late Mr. Drumheller was very directly and indirectly interested in the luck of that roaring camp. He supplied on the hoof most of the beef that was consumed by the several thousand husky beef-eating miners who then called Wild Horse Gulch their home. These cattle were driven up from the south by way of Bonner's Ferry, Idaho, crossing into Canada by way of Tobacco Plains, on the old pack trail which follows the Kootenay river. The entry port of that part is now Newgate.

Incidentally, the name of Mr. Drumheller stands connected with the famous coal mines of Alberta and the thriving town which bears that name, it being carried there by a son and a nephew of that early pioneer.

Here and There

He tried to cross the railroad track,
Before the rushing train;
They put the pieces in a sack,
But couldn't find the brain!

One hundred British farm families are due to reach British Columbia early next spring. These are the fore-runners of 3,000 families that are to come out to settle in Canada on the land. Provincial and British Government assistance is being given them to get started.

A remarkable statue modelled entirely in ice is to be seen at Quebec. It represents one of the latest or 2300-type locomotives of the Canadian Pacific Railway, about one-fourth full size and is perfect in every detail. Ice statuary has been brought to a fine art in the Ancient Capital.

Skaters from New York, Boston, Montreal, Toronto and Ottawa will compete with Quebec champions in a great international amateur figure skating contest, to be held in Quebec city February 23-24, for handsome trophies and medals donated by the Frontenac Winter Sports Clubs. A record attendance of spectators is expected.

Skiing parties over the week-end are being conducted by the Laurentian Winter Club in different points in the Laurentian Mountains, the tours being superintended by a competent skier. To those remaining in Montreal the big six-chute toboggan slide on Mount Royal has an added attraction in toboggan races every Saturday, winners receiving prizes.

That Canada is on the verge of a trade boom which may last until the end of this year was the statement made in Toronto recently by Richard Conway, Vice-President of the Brookmire Forecasting Service of New York. The main factor responsible for the upswing of Canadian business, he said, is the opening of the foreign markets to the grains of the past year.

Federal control of United States railroads, adopted as a war measure during the period December 31, 1917, February 29, 1920, cost the country $1,674,500,000, of which $1,123,500,000 was total loss, $536,000,000 estimated expenses and $15,000,000 was required to reimburse small deficit roads, according to James C. Davis, Director General of Railroads, who has just submitted his annual report.

Remarkable absence of timidity is being shown by wild animals in the neighborhood of Banff, Alberta, it is reported, as a result of kindly treatment. Heavy snows recently brought elk and deer into the main part of the town, where a parade by these animals is not an uncommon sight. They make the rounds of the houses, looking for tit-bits, which are not denied them. One big elk, with a magnificent set of antlers, is as regular on his schedule of calls as the milkman.

The Pulpwood Commission cost Canada $75,672. It accomplished nothing, leaving the main purpose for which it was brought into existence exactly where it stood before the Commission was appointed. The government might have saved the money for the taxpayers of the Dominion.

"FAMILY DOCTOR SOON TO VANISH"

Chicago, March 10. — Conflict of opinion developed today at the annual congress on education of the American Medical association concerning the cause and remedy for what leaders agreed to be an ominous shortage of family doctors.

"The increased number of medical graduates cited from this platform," declared Dr. Wm. Allen Pusey of Chicago, president of the association, "means no more to the needs of the ordinary citizen than does the increased output of $10,000 automobiles. Medical service is tobogganing toward breakdown or revolution. This is to be expected when the preparation for our profession costs 75 per cent more than preparation for any other profession. As a result, medical graduates are preferring the better rewarded careers of specialists to ordinary service for the ordinary sick. The country doctor has almost vanished and the family doctor of the cities will vanish, too."

Dr. Pusey took issue with previous speakers who had warned against "lowering educational standards." He declared that medical education, "once the poor relation, now the spoiled child," of education, had become too luxurious to live within its inflated income. He insisted that three years of collegiate residence and a fourth of apprenticeship, rather than four or five years of collegiate residence, were ample for training ordinary practitioners and that medical college requirements must be made less exacting.

THE DEAN NOT GLOOMY

Toronto Globe: Dean Inge says that in the future Pacific trade will be as important as Atlantic trade, and for that reason nothing can prevent North America from being the centre of the world's commerce. This prediction has not the gloom which is commonly ascribed to the Dean's utterances. Certainly Canada has no reason to be alarmed over the growth of Pacific trade, even at the expense of the supremacy of the Atlantic. Canada has a long coast line and splendid ports on the Pacific. British Columbia is a province of rich and varied resources, and back of it is one of the granaries of the world. The shipment of wheat through an easy grade in the Rocky Mountains is the beginning of a movement fraught with tremendous consequences, not only for Pacific trade, but for the development of British Columbia and the adjacent prairie country. Canada is just as well equipped for trade on that side of the continent as on the east, and can look forward cheerfully to the fulfilment of the prediction of Dean Inge.

LONG LIFE

Both the United States government and life insurance companies have spent much time and money in research work as to what sort of living conditions cause long life. These investigations indicate that wealth tends to a long life. But they also show that women in wealthy or well-to-do circumstances live longer than men of the same class. One of the reasons for this is what is called "broken habit," to which men are more subject than women. A man becomes successful in business, lives in comfortable circumstances, and at the age of 60 retires. This is the most dangerous thing he can do to his health, as a rule, unless he acquires or works at some hobby. The interruption of a lifetime of mental and physical habits, with no further goal for which to strive, generally proves fatal.

Women are not as apt to undergo this kind of change, nor to suffer from "broken habit." Therefore they live longer. There are other reasons also. One is the lowering of the birth rate and the much better medical care of women at the time their children are born.

SCANDAL

A whisper fell with scarce a sound,
Of something a friend had done,
And a tendril clung to fertile ground,
When brought to the light of the sun.
Then it flourished and grew, and was added to, and accepted as bona fide,
Till it spread like the seed of a noxious weed, o'er city, plain and tide.

'Twas idle talk; no sense at all.
"Have you heard? I think it's so!
We heard it all at a friendly call."
"Enough is said! I'm sure you know!"
Then the bow was bent, and an arrow sent to travel far and wide,
And strike in its flight with a withering blight, brave heart with no guile to hide.

Kind words are sweet and easily said;
Sweet as the perfumed rose,
They leave in their trail no drooping head,
Nor thorns where the lily blows.
Adown the years through a mist of tears, martyrs to tongues have died.
For the sad remorse there is no recourse, this side of the Great Divide.

His Hearing Restored

The invisible ear drum invented by A. O. Leonard, which is a miniature megaphone, fitting inside the ear entirely out of sight, is restoring the hearing of hundreds of people in New York city. Mr. Leonard invented this drum to relieve himself of deafness and head noises, and it does it so successfully that no one can tell he is a deaf man. It is effective when deafness is caused by catarrh or by wholly destroyed natural drums. A request for information to A. O. Leonard, Suite 436, 70 Fifth Ave., New York City, will be given a prompt reply. [Adv.

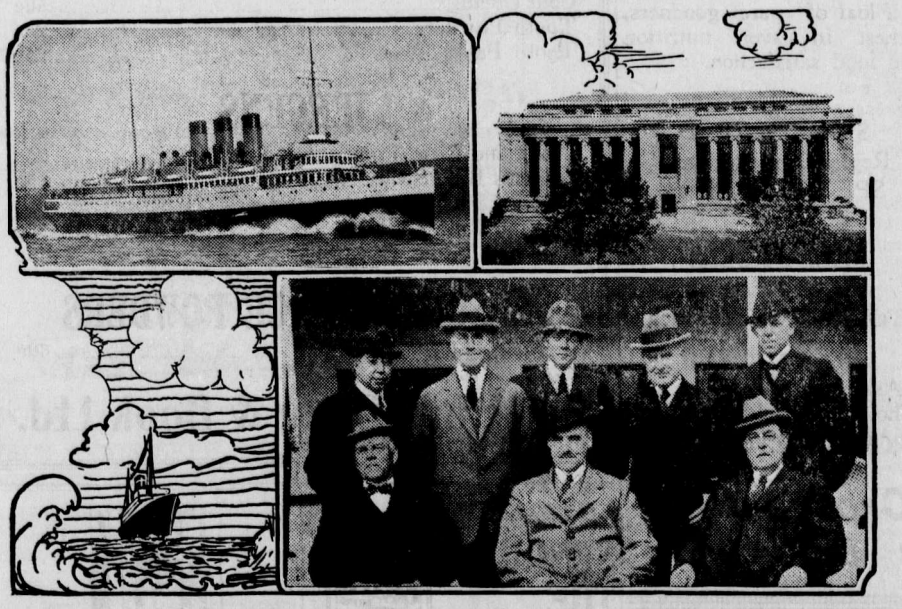
Children's delicate digestions are easily disturbed by too much "dosing." Still, the little ones' cold troubles cannot be neglected.

At the very first sign of croup, sore throat, or any other cold trouble, apply Vicks VapoRub over the throat and chest. There is nothing to swallow—you just rub it on. Colds go over night, croup is usually relieved in 15 minutes.

STEVENS WOULD CHANGE NATURALIZATION LAWS



Ottawa, March 10.—Hon. H. H. Stevens intends to move in the house for an amendment of Canadian naturalization laws. He would limit the right of natural citizenship to those children born under the British flag whose parents are deemed to be fit and proper persons for naturalization.

Mr. Stevens will also advocate such other amendments as "will restrict the right of naturalization and to citizenship to such persons as are able, legally, to abandon or relinquish all allegiance to the government of the country of their origin, or former residence, and who are capable of being readily assimilated into the normal life of Canada and who are able to read and write the English or French language."

Victoria Marks New Steamer's Arrival by Dinner to Pioneer of Coast Shipping

Group of Canadian Pacific Officials photographed on board the S.S. Princess Kathleen at Victoria, B.C.—Left to right, top row: W. H. Snell, general passenger agent, Vancouver; Charles Murphy, general manager western lines, Winnipeg; Captain R. W. McMurray, who brought the Kathleen from her builders on the Clyde to her home port at Victoria; J. J. Scully, general manager, eastern lines, and Captain C. D. Neroutsos, marine superintendent B.C. Coast Services.—Seated: Captain J. W. Troup, manager of the company's B. C. Coast Services; Grant Hall, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal; and C. H. Temple, chief of motive power, Montreal. Above, Princess Kathleen in action, and the Canadian Pacific Marine Terminal Building, Victoria, B.C., a handsome new building which does not detract from the beauty of the water front.

The arrival of the new Canadian Pacific coastal steamer "Princess Kathleen" at Victoria, B.C., at the end of her lengthy trip from the Clyde, Scotland, where she was built, was made a public event by the residents of that city. Crowds met the ship when she steamed into the harbor, and the occasion was marked by a civic dinner to Captain J. W. Troup, manager of the Canadian Pacific British Columbia Coast Service, which was attended by two hundred citizens. The Mayor and aldermen of the city were present, as well as representatives of the Provincial Government. The company was represented by Vice-President Grant Hall, J. J. Scully, general manager eastern lines, and C. H. Temple, chief of motive power and equipment, who crossed Canada from Montreal to be present, and Charles Murphy, general manager western lines, Winnipeg. As a recognition of his many years' effort in contributing to the upbuilding of Victoria, Captain Troup was presented with a massive silver tray suitably engraved.

In returning thanks, Captain Troup told the history of the company's coastal steamship service since 1901, when he had taken over its management. At that time it represented an investment of about $250,000, whereas, he said, it now amounted to well over seven million dollars, while its expenditures in Victoria for equipment and supplies amounted to $43,000 monthly and Victoria's share of the monthly pay roll was $65,000. He told of the building up of the fleet, ship by ship, as growing trade warranted. Captain Troup concluded by remarking that the officers and men of the Canadian Pacific were partners with Victoria and other Canadian cities in building up the tourist traffic and general trade of Canada, and that the future of the country could be assured by co-operation with the company in its national work.

Mr. Grant Hall, who represented President E. W. Beatty, told of the company's history and of its building as a national institution at the time of Confederation when it contracted to build the line and operate it in perpetuity. He told of the steady improvement of the property by the expenditure of many millions until it represented an investment of considerably over a billion dollars, and he referred to the company's reputation for efficiency and courtesy of its officials that has gone round the world. "The Canadian Pacific," he said, "is the largest contributor to the finances of the nation through taxation, and we expect to be judged and patronized on justification given in service."

Mayor J. C. Pendray, speaking of behalf of the city of Victoria, acknowledged the work done by Captain Troup and the company for Victoria and the Pacific Coast generally, while C. P. W. Schwengers, president of the Chamber of Commerce, in presenting the silver plate to Captain Troup, paid a tribute to the vision and determination of the men who had founded the Canadian Pacific. Dr. MacLean, Provincial Minister of Finance, spoke on behalf of the Government and referred to the company's war record which, he said, was one of the brilliant illustrations of the readiness of the company to co-operate for the public good.

Health and good looks

—the reward of internal cleanliness.

IF YOU do not keep clean internally your looks and health are undermined together. A clogged intestine breeds poisons that reach every part of the body. These poisons ruin the complexion and undermine health. Constipation brings on such ailments as headaches, bilious attacks and insomnia, each of which saps your health and vitality.

Avoid Laxatives—say Doctors

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition.

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

IL must give W. R. Wilson, President and General Manager of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., a lot of quiet satisfaction when he reads the remarks of prairie coal operators who are pointing to Fernie coal activities as an example of the benefits to be derived from a readjusted wage agreement with the miners. When Mr. Wilson withdrew from the Operators' Association very few of the members of that organization thought for a moment that the miners in this locality would enter into a separate agreement with the company, and they also expressed themselves as being very skeptical about the company being able to secure a steady market even if an agreement was entered into. The result, however has been all that Mr. Wilson anticipated, and the operators who laughed at his suggestions are now pointing to Fernie as the one bright spot where the steam coal industry is flourishing.

A number of men in a local club the other evening were discussing justice as it is administered in Canada. One remarked that it seemed strange that a man of the standing of the late government spotter, Loeb, should be awarded $6,000 damages for false arrest in Vancouver, while a prominent citizen who was recently arrested in Regina in a very similar manner, was only given $200. Dr. Bonnell, who was present, remarked that it reminded him of one time some years ago when he was a witness on a case in Nelson.

He said that at that assize there were three murder trials. One was a case of a big man who, while under the influence of liquor and lying on the street asleep, was kicked to death by a little runt who had a grudge against him. The case was absolutely clear, but the accused was declared "not guilty" by the jury.

The second case was a hotelkeeper from Jaffray, who placed a roublebarrelel shot gun at the breast of a man who had kissed his sweetheart and literally blew him to pieces. This man was also acquitted, notwithstanding it had been clearly shown that the hotelkeeper deliberately went to his room and secured the gun, went to another room and secured two shells and in the presence of others deliberately killed the man.

The third case was from Michel, in which a Swede was charged with shooting and killing a man at a dance. It was known by nearly everybody who the real murderer was, but the arrest of the Swede had given this fellow a chance to escape and justice must be carried out, so the jury brought in a verdict of manslaughter and he was sentenced to five years, but was later released by the Minister of Justice when the case was fully explained to him.

case were questioned

Some of the jurors in the last case when questioned about their verdict, said that the Swede was a foreigner and it was time these foreigners were taught a lesson.

So we, who are so prone, when we go across the line, to boast of our Canadian justice, must feel somewhat guilty when we consider the past history of some of our jury trials.

MENTAL and physical tests for certificates to drive automobiles are in their annual agitation. Decidedly, they are needed. There are persons driving cars now who are half blind, or deaf or crippled. These are the easy cases. There are those who will not keep sober. And that means, for automible safety, dead sober, and not mere "not drunk." And there are those whose mental, emotional or physical reactions are too slow or uncertain. Tests for all these disabilities exist. And, if it were a matter of engineers or motomen, they would be applied. For a few hundreds or thousands it is easy.

But with automobiles, it means millions. Where are the competent experts or equipment to do it on such a scale? They simply do not exist. The automobile has swamped our scientific facilities quite as certainly as it has jammed our highways.

CONDITIONS IN THE COAL AREAS

(Calgary Herald)

The decision of the coal operators to terminate in six months the agreement made last October could hardly have been unexpected by anyone familiar with the conditions in the coal industry since the agreement was made. What must interest the men more than the formal announcement of cancellation is the question: What are the mines going to do in the period between now and October?

Admittedly a makeshift compromise, the present agreement has given the men neither work nor wages. The conditions in the Crow's Nest Pass have been particularly deplorable. Running about a day a week, the earnings of the men have reached almost a vanishing point. The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company at Fernie, after a brief attempt to operate under a scale which it had already protested was unworkable, closed down. Its employees, preferring work to idleness, made a new agreement which gave them what they wanted, with a subsequent degree of prosperity which their previous agreement completely prevented.

Indications are not wanting that the union officers as well as the men now realize that an adjustment is necessary. The arguments of the coal operators in the negotiations last summer have been duplicated by statements credited to the union officers themselves during the past six weeks. It has become increasingly apparent that no fine-spun theories will operate in the face of incontrovertible fact. In other words, the buyer of coal, like the buyer of any other commodity, will, all other things being equal, buy in the cheapest market.

A ray of sunshine in the form of the promised order for 100,000 tons from Ontario lightens the gloom somewhat. It is, however, after all, only an experimental order in which the transportation loss, if any, is to be made good by the federal and Ontario governments. The necessity of securing a permanent satisfactory freight rate, and of reducing costs of production at the mine, still exists. The order interests only the domestic mines, and, the annual production of these mines being about three million tons, the additional working time afforded is apparently not more than from ten days to two weeks.

Henry Johnson, Jr., who has been up at Stewart for the past year or two in the employ of the Premier Mining Co., arrived home on Wednesday on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson. Henry says one grows tired of a place where it rains all the time.

There is a persistent rumor afloat that the officers of District 18, U. M.W. of A., have made overtures to the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association for a joint conference in Calgary this week, for the purpose of discussing the question of wage reductions in order to secure the large amount of work in sight this year.

A small crowd turned out to hear Sam Scarlett's lecture "Unite or Perish" in the Grand Theatre. Sam is a good advertiser. He seems to think his crime record is a big drawing card. He claims to have been sentenced to 37 years in the U. S. prison at Leavenworth, but after serving six was deported to Scotland.

The members of the Pythian Sisters gave a surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Smith on Saturday night last, as a farewell to Sister Wallace, who left on Thursday evening on a visit to her old home in Belgium. During the evening Sister Markland presented Sister Wallace with a white ivory jewel casket on behalf of the order. The recipient replied suitably.

Rumor has it that there are likely to be developments at the McNab townsite, near Elko, before long, there being some likelihood of the plans long cherished for a pulp mill for that section materializing. It is understood there is some possibility of the townsite changing hands, and C. D. McNab is believed to be willing to put in a sawmill there to take care of the timber unsuitable for pulp manufacture. According to government estimates, there is something like 1,200,000,000 feet of lumber in that vicinity which could be taken off government lands, most of this timber being suitable for that if it is ever found possible to pulp purposes. There is no doubt proceed with the project, it will be a great industrial incentive to further activity in East Kootenay. — Cranbrook Herald.

The medical committee of the B.C. M.A. has been in session every night this week in conference with doctors on the question of opening the hospital, and will meet the Board of Trade committee Friday night, March 13, and will report progress to a mass meeting of the employees of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., Fernie and Coal Creek, on Sunday night.

Skips Warwick and Littler, of Natal, again visited Fernie with their rinks on Sunday last in another effort to seize the Fleishman Cup. Skips Stewart and Prentice defended the trophy and they had to fight hard to retain it as they only defeated the visitors by four points. Michel and Natal, considering the short time they have been in the game, are certainly developing some fine curlers.

Jas. Cronin, veteran B.C. miner, died at Spokane. The story of Cronin's discovery of the St. Eugene mine at Moyie is one of the real romances of the west. It was in 1892 that Father Cocola, who had been informed of the lead by an old Indian, took Cronin to the spot. They staked a group of claims which came to be known as the St. Eugene, the greatest silver lead producer in the Kootenays in its day. Peter, the Indian, received $1500. To Father Cocola he made a gilft ten times or more greater and the devoted missionary built the beautiful Catholic church of St. Eugene, which is today one of the show places of the Kootenay. About $25,000,000 in lead and silver was taken out of the mine.

J. H. Bricker, of Vancouver, is in the city on business.

Mrs. Harvey Wallace and daughter left on Thursday evening for a visit to her old home in Belgium.

Born—In West Fernie, on March 7, at the home of Mrs. J. J. Hughes, to Mr. and Mrs. D. McGregor, a son.

Mrs. R. Billsborough is in Michel as installing officer to the newly organized chapter of the Women of Mooseheart Legion.

A marriage license was issued on Monday to Gussipe Salimando and Miss Giovannina Sabatino, both of Michel.

The many friends of Dr. S. Bonnell will be pleased to learn that he has decided to come back to Fernie. He will go into partnership with Dr. Asselstine.

The regular monthly tea of the United Church will be held at the home of Mrs. William Johnston, 7 Victoria Avenue, Tuesday afternoon, March 17, from 3 to 6.

The miners and the doctors are working hard to reach some solution of the local hospital and it is expected that something definite will develop within the next few days.

The Fernie Literary and Athletic Association held another of their social evenings this week. Cards and dancing were indulged in and refreshments served. Brasch's orchestra supplied the music.

If you want to find your friends on Saturday afternoon, March 14, come to the Shamrock Tea at the Catholic Hall. That's where the crowd will be. Tea served from 3.00 p.m. to 6.00 p.m. Sale of delicious home cooking.

The tax rate in Cranbrook for 1925 will be ten mills less than in 1924. Some day Fernie will have a real cut too, but just at present our citizens are more interested in seeing a lot of permanent work done on the roads and sidewalks. The people of this town are always ready to pay if they get results.

The regular monthly meeting of Mount Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. will be held on Saturday at 3.30 p.m. in the council chamber. Subscriptions to "Echoes" must be paid by this date to Mrs. Kelman, Sr., Echoes Secretary, in order to include the March issue.

After seeing "The Princess of Meath" at the Grand Theatre on St. Patrick's Night, March 17, follow the crowd to the Catholic Hall and enjoy a real Irish night. Good eats, dancing, good music, novelties. Bedad everything will help you to have a rale ould time. M6-2

The Waldorf Cafe has this week been moved into the new quarters immediately in the rear of the office. The new rooms have been beautifully fitted up and decorated, and no expense spared to make it the leading cafe of the city. There are two entrances to the new quarters, one from the office and a separate street entrance from the north door of the hotel. In the past two years the manager, Leslie Mills, has built up a fine cafe business.

A dispatch from Vancouver says: "A. E. Warren, general manager of western lines, Canadian National Railways, reached Vancouver Friday on a trip of inspection which will keep him in British Columbia for a month. Before returning east, Mr. Warren will visit Vancouver Island and Prince Rupert, and may make some important announcements in regard to the development in the west before his return to Winnipeg." It is too bad that Bert Warren could not pay a visit to Fernie, where years ago he was station agent and later bookkeeper for the Trites-Wood Co. The people of this city would be glad to do honor to one of its old-timers who has made a great name for himself in the railroad world.

CANADA'S RED MEN

The only Indians generally seen by a visitor to Canada are said to be those vendors of moccasins and other souvenirs who meet the trains and try to sell their wares to tourists. So the common idea is to place all Indians in the same category, we are told, but as a matter of fact there are many peculiar phases of Indian industry in Canada and several spheres of Dominion life in which they take an active part. In particular, Agricultural and Industrial Progress in Canada (Montreal) notes the contribution of the Indians of Canada to the nation's chief industry of agriculture. Under wise leadership and intelligent encouragement it is related that this contribution is increasing yearly and reaching important proportions. It appears that:

"The total number of Indians in Canada is 106,000, of which number 30,000 are to be found in the three prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. The Indians of Canada own 5,000,000 acres of land, and the amount of bank funds held in trust for them is almost $12,000,000. They own live stock to the value of $4,500,000, and personal property to the extent of $65,000,000,000. There are 326 schools provided by the government for their education — day schools, boarding-schools and industrial schools — and the average attendance at these is 13,000 pupils out of a possible 16,000 of school age. About 10,000 Indians still cling to their aboriginal beliefs, and of the remainder about half are Protestants, and half Roman Catholics."

We are further informed that while the Indians of Eastern Canada are engaged in a variety of occupations, being in demand for hunting, guiding, bush work, etc., the majority of those in the Prairie Provinces follow agriculture almost exclusively. It is related that in the year 1923 they had 68,456 acres of land under crop, an increase of 15,942 acres over the previous year. On this they produced 1,276,579 bushels of grain, an increase of 531,569 bushels over the year before, and we read:

"A very fine example of the intelligent encouragement which is being given by the Canadian government and the progressive work being accomplished through the active and enthusiastic cooperation of the Indian population is noted in the case of the File Hills Indian Reserve in Saskatchewan, where W. M. Graham, Indian Commissioner, has achieved wonderful results. Under his progressive policy a portion of the reserve was set aside for graduates of boarding and industrial schools, and this surveyed into farms of 80 acres each. Each pupil was given a grant of $125 to buy lumber, etc., for his log shack, and a yoke of oxen, harness and plow, to be paid for in four years.

"This was in 1903, when three colonists enlisted under the scheme. Despite hardships and discouragements of various kinds their number was added to yearly and increased by marriage until in 1915 there were 36 farmers, 28 of whom were married, and the children of the colony numbered 96. In that year they had 3016 acres in crop, and an anticipated crop of 100,000 bushels was reduced by hail to 20,000 bushels."

The war work of this colony was particularly notable, we are told, "and every able-bodied man, with one exception, enlisted for overseas service." The farms were taken care of and production speeded up by those who remained. It appears that the Indians were able to buy $10,000 worth of Victory Bonds in addition to having $15,000 in the bank in accounts, the savings being attributable entirely to the efforts of the 163 cononists. It is further stated that:

"Their per capita contribution during the war years was higher than that of any white community in the province. The older squaws made and sold bead-work; the younger ones knitted and sewed for the Red Cross; the men gave grain, sold wood and pickets, and raised money in other ways.

"In 1918 Mr. Graham suggested to the Minister of Indian Affairs, the institution of Greater Production farms on the reserves in the Prairie provinces, with the object of more intensively utilizing much of the vacant land to produce more grain and meat in response to the call for greater production. His suggestion was acted upon, and he was transferred from the File Hills Indian Reserve, Sask., to the position of Indian Commissioner in charge of the work of greater production on the reserves in the three Prairie provinces, with headquarters at Regina. Under the stimulus imparted, grain production was increased from a four year average of 3,586,938 to 5,363,339 bushels; the acres of new land broken from 28,228 to 70,147; the acres broken by Indians alone from 28,228 to 33,003; and the acres seeded by Indians alone from 184,102 to 263,335. In 1923 these Greater Production farms were handed over to Indian farmers who were in a position to handle them, and to white farmers who have rented them until such time as there are Indians available to take care of them."

Here and There

In conjunction with the further loan of $3,000,000 for colonization to be authorized by the Quebec legislature this season, it is also intended to raise the bounty to settlers on the acreage cleared. At present the government gives a bonus of $6 an acre. It will be raised to $8 an acre. The province spent $30,000 in this way in the last fiscal year.

The amount of butter exported to Japan through Vancouver during 1924 was nearly twice that of 1923, according to figures supplied by the Japanese consulate at that point. The report shows that in 1924 the quantity was 476,454 pounds, as compared with only 299,695 pounds in 1923. Total cheese shipments to the same destination last year amounted to 2,685 pounds, as against only 40 in 1923.

A recent analysis of immigration according to occupation of immigrants arriving in Canada since 1920 shows a steady increase in the ratio of agriculturists and domestics towards all others. In 1921 the figure was 35 per cent. It was 44 per cent for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1922, 47 per cent for the fiscal year 1923-24 and 51 per cent for the nine months April to December, 1924

One of the outstanding features of the Grain Commission Board's report for the season 1922-23, was the tribute paid to the excellent service rendered by the Canadian Pacific Railway in handling the western crop. Though the company handled 105,000 cars of grain, it received only six complaints about lack of cars from the railway and commission combined. In 1923-24, with an even larger number handled, there were only eight complaints.

Orchestras from the Canadian Pacific steamships "Empress of France" and "Empress of Scotland", when they arrived recently at New York and before sailing on their round the world and Mediterranean cruises which the company starts annually from that port broadcasted through WJZ a forty-five minute programme of selected Scots, English, Welsh, Irish and Canadian airs, while the "Montroyal", on her return from the company's cruise to the West Indies, broadcasted British and Spanish music through WJY of New York.

Information furnished by J. Frank Callbreath, packing contractor and general merchant, shows that during the 1924 hunting season, parties secured 12 moose, 25 caribou, 26 goat, 31 sheep, 15 black bear and 11 grizzles in the Telegraph Creek district of British Columbia. Of the caribou, the largest, shot by J. J. Sartori, of Brooklyn, N.Y., has a spread of 47 inches, is 39⅛ inches long and has 27 points. The largest sheep horns were 41¾ inches long, with a spread of 31 inches, and were secured by A. D. Stewart, of New York.

The third annual Eastern International Dog Sled Derby, run off at Quebec on February 19, 20 and 21, was a tremendous success. Twenty-two mushers and their teams from many parts of Canada and the United States competed over the 120-mile course, the race being won by Emile St. Goddard, of Le Pas, Man., who also won this year's derby at that place. The last day's lap was run through a blinding snowstorm, which gave the thousands of sports visitors from Canada and the United States who witnessed it, a vivid impression of normal conditions experienced by these outfits.

WOMEN AND CIGARETTES

Consumption of cigarettes has increased four times in the past decade. The big growth in the demand was first noticed when the world war came. Cigarettes and tobacco were given away by almost everybody that wanted to be a friend of the soldiers, both in training camps and on the field of action. Other countries show gains in cigarette smokers also. The decade has added women as general consumers. Twenty years ago you were shocked were you to hear of a woman taking a puff of a cigarette. You'll see her now, with the unconcern of the inveterate male user, light a fag over her demitasse and throw out the curls of smoke as if she had been a user since childhood. You will hear women defend smoking on the ground that if it is healthful for a man to puff a cigarette it is similarly beneficial to those of the so-called delicate sex.

Just the same, no matter what your argument in the presence of strangers may be, you don't plume with pride if you see your mother or wife or sister light up a cigarette at the home dinner table or at the table in the home of a friend. There is a mannishness about the woman's cigarette smoking that doesn't set up well with the male and it is the wise woman who will refrain in his presence. If she must smoke, let her do it in secret. It may sound like a jolt to her independence, but you'll notice that the girl who is noted for her independence isn't doing very well with men casting about for a sweetheart for a wife. Wise girls will see this if they but keep their eyes open.

Notwithstanding the discoveries of pseudo-scientists for the prolongation of human life, and the hopes of pseudo-scientists and religious enthusiasts that human life may be made everlasting, we note that people persist in dying just as usual. But there is some consolation, if not actual satisfaction, in the fact that billionaires and millionaires also persist in dying just as usual. Their wealth cannot purchase any of them immortality to snatch enjoyment from their great possessions. They live their allotted span and then go hence. Therefore "gather sunshine while you may," and try to distribute some of it.

WATER NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE that John Gibson Todhunter, whose address is Elko, B.C., will apply for a licence to take and use 140 cu. feet of water out of Burton Creek, which flows Southwest and sinks on Block "J" near the South-east corner of Lot "B." The water will be diverted from the stream about 900 feet South and 1600 feet East from the N.E. corner of Lot "B" and will be used for irrigation purposes upon the land described as Lot "B" of Block "J" of Lot 4590, K. D., and containing about 114 acres. This notice was posted on the ground on the 24th day of February, 1925. A copy of this notice and an application pursuant thereto and to the Water Act of 1914, will be filed in the office of the Water Recorder at Fernie, B.C. Objections to the application may be filed with the said Water Recorder or with the Comptroller of Water Rights, Parliament Buldings, Victoria, B.C., within 30 days after the first appearance of this notice is a local newspaper. The date of the first publication of this notice is February 28, 1925.

GOVERNMENT LIQUOR ACT

Notice of Application For Beer Licence

NOTICE is hereby given that on Tuesday, the 31st day of March, 1925, the undersigned intends to apply to the Liquor Control Board of the Province of British Columbia, for a licence in respect of premises being part of the building known as the Michel Hotel, situated at Michel, B.C., upon the lands described as follows: Being situated in the town of Michel, S 21 degrees 52 minutes E. from Iron Post No. 17 of John McLatchie's Traverse of the British Columbia Southern Railway, and distant therefrom 4736 feet (to N.W. corner of Bldg.) more or less; adjoining the main Government Road South of the Canadian Pacific Railway Station, and about 60 feet distant therefrom, and being the first building East of Michel Opera House, Kootenay Land Registration District in the Province of British Columbia, for the sale of beer by the glass or by the open bottle for consumption on the premises.

Dated this 6th day of February, 1925.

William James Fowler,
F27-30d. Applicant.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

OUTPUT SHOULD BE TAXED

Conversation recently heard on a street car between two men who gave appearance of being of the professional class indicated that they derived considerable personal comfort from the announcement that a large estate, through the death of an aged man and his middle-aged son within a year, had been reduced to much less than half. A large portion of the reduction had been due to the imposition on both occasions of inheritance taxes.

The opinion of the two men appeared to be: "This is as it should be."

On cannot help but wonder if they took into consideration the destructive inroads thus made on the resources of wealth that create opportunities for gainful employment and make possible investments for the starting of new enterprises or the enlargement of old ones.

Another effect that, had they thought of it, might have tempered their gratification is the fact that the laws governing most of the inheritace taxes are such that the possessions on which they are levied frequently are subjected to heavy loss in market value due to forced sales. The effect is bad enough when it is confined to the particular property under levy, but it is not always so confined. Something is radically wrong with a system of taxation which, in order to reach a dead man's till under the law, penalizes a lot of living men—by loss of occupation or similar deprivation—from whom no inheritance tax is due. It becomes another case of the innocent by-stander, hit by a strange shot, just because somebody has died, leaving behind an estate that must be settled in order to satisfy the inheritance tax requirements.

To have the hands of the federal or provincial government in a dead man's pockets savors rather more of the ghoul than the collector.

High inheritance levy is tantamount to government seizure of private capital, camouflaged socialism. Aside from the question of unfairness of this procedure, the money, if left to produce taxable income, eventually would yield more to the government. Such elimination of tax-producing sources is of the same type of false economy as beheading the goose that mothered the golden eggs.

Too many tax-free channels remain open for the acute investor to endanger his future by courting semi-confiscation.

LIQUOR LAW ENFORCEMENT

(Colonist)

The Liquor Control Act permits the Attorney General's department of the provincial government to intervene in municipalities where it is alleged the law is not being enforced and to take from the municipalities' share of liquor profits whatever sums are spent through such intervention. The point is that before there is such intervention the attention of municipalities should be directed to their shortcomings. As matters now stand money is being expended uselessly. We are having dual police control in certain municipalities and, among others, in Victoria, and we do not see wherein law enforcement is benefiting. The municipalities are quite competent to conduct their own police administration and the provincial government has a sufficiently heavy task on its own hands in looking after the unorganized districts without intervening and putting municipalities to expenses that are unwarranted.

Under the dispensation of a new Liquor Commission it is to be hoped that there will be more cordial relations between the government and the municipalities in the matter of the enforcement of the Liquor Control Act. The municipalities are spending enough money on their police forces for all practical purposes. They do not require the assistance of the provincial police or of the operatives of the Liquor Control Board, and if they should at any time need such aid then it should be by a process of mutual arrangement not through governmental interjection without any consultation with the municipalities concerned. The Liquor Control Board seems to have built up an army of secret operatives and there are those who maintain that this has been done for party political purposes. The best way to disabuse the public mind of such a suspicion is to disband an army which is serving no useful purpose, and which is, indeed, bringing law enforcement into disrepute. In the unorganized districts the provincial police are amply sufficient to enforce the Liquor Control Act, just as the municipal police are within organized territory.

Do what you like with the navy, but there are too many fellows around dark alleys elevating their guns.

PUSHING OR JUST BLOWING?

Ever notice what an important job the big whistle has on a steamboat ?

If there is any signaling to be done, the whistle does it. If bridges are to be raised, other vessels passed, landings made, fogs encountered, it is the whistle which says "Open up ! Get out of my way ! Here I come ! Look out for me !" A mighty important fellow is the whistle.

But the whistle just blows—that's all. He has no other function than to make as much noise as possible on a second's notice.

Out on the end of a tail shaft, buried under green water where you can't even see him, is the propeller. He has the he-man job on any steamboat, for it is his pushing that makes the vessel move. Should he hit a rock and lose his blades the entire fabric of the ship he serves must wait his replacement.

Are you on your job, just pushing or just blowing off steam ?

Don't answer this question flippantly, as did the man when told that a camel could go three weeks without a drink: "Who in Sam Hill wants to be a camel ?"

The business world is made up pretty well of the pushers and blowers. Very often the pusher is a very quiet guy, with a reputation for not being very wide awake, or fond of detail, or serious-minded. All too often some wisenheimer brands him as a drudge, with his nose to the grindstone.

He may not be a brilliant fellow and may have few of the social graces. Aa a mixer he is often decimal aught aught one. But when he is asked to do something, or of his own violition sets out to do it, he comes through.

Every complete voyage—every successful business venture — is an achievement of the propeller type. All the credit goes to the whistle which toots so loudly in celebration.

Next time you see a steamboat remember that down out of sight is a hard-working hunk of steel continually thrusting tons of water backward with its mighty arms, while up above the whole ship rides the whistle. Both are connected to the same prime mover in the vessel's boilers, only the propeller does all the work and the whistle does all the talking.

Moral : You can't drive any ship very far on the whistle alone.

PLANT A TREE AND SAVE A TREE

(Public Opinion)

"In some faithful hearts, we are glad to learn, the good resolutions for this year are not yet forgotten," says the Telegraph. "There is a movement in Canada which has produced a solemn league and covenant to save the forests. Those three last words, printed in vernal green and surrounded by a border of foliage, are its slogan. The faithful adherents set their hands and hearts to some seven 'New Year's Forest Resolutions,' and are still urging others, even us in this benighted land, to do likewise.

"The new forester resolves, among other things, to plant at least one tree during 1925, and to do all that in him lies to conserve the trees now growing. Coming from the general to the particular, he undertakes to reflect before felling any tree that it will take a mighty long time for another to grow. Lest this should not appear to him a very fruitful meditation, he vows to direct his attention to the fact that if he leaves it to grow a little bigger it will be worth a great deal more. The next article in the new forester's covenant pledges him to use up every bit of a tree which he does cut down, 'even the smallest tops and branches,' not only to avoid the sin of waste, but to clear away any rubbish which may feed a forest fire.

"We modern folk cannot, like the farmers and squires of Nelson's time, go out and plant acorns and feel that we have done something to help Britannia rule the waves. But the most urban of us are likely to find in the course of the year some occupation on which we can, according to our intelligence, either help to make the country uglier and more naked, or prevent waste and injury and foster the growth of copse and wood."

Writing on paternalism in government, the Los Angeles Times says: "In the days of Moses ten laws were considered ample for the regulation of the people. Since then we have had more than 1,300,000 enactments of various kinds in this country alone, and there are still thousands of citizens who are clamoring for more laws. And in the mighty flood of legislation the original ten laws appear to be in danger of being submerged."

MAXWELL

More for the Price Than You Ever Bought Before

The popularity of the new good Maxwell has simplified the buyer's task, for such marked public favor is sure indication of definite superiorities thoroughly demonstrated.

Some of these superiorities you will see at a glance the first time you look at a new good Maxwell. You'll note, of course, that in good looks, fine appointments and roomy comfort the new good Maxwell gives more than you were ever able to buy before at the price.

You'll learn, also, how the new good Maxwell is made and built, almost to the smallest detail—all in the great Maxwell plants. You'll appreciate how much that means in greater quality, reliability and economy.

But neither we nor any good Maxwell owner can give you an adequate idea of how much finer this car is in results than any four you have ever known. You must experience these results for yourself.

When you have driven the new good Maxwell 58 miles an hour, rushed from 5 to 25 miles in 8 seconds and enjoyed its remarkable ease of riding, you will begin to understand how superior in values this car really is. We are eager to prove these Maxwell superiorities in a demonstration.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Maxwell's attractive plan.

COLEMAN WINS AT THE COAST

Vancouver, B.C., March 9.—Coleman boarded the C.N.R. train tonight en route for Winnipeg and further Allan cup competition, having defeated Rossland 8 to 4, giving them a lead in the two games series of 13 goals to five for the interior championship.

The Coal Diggers proved better hockey players than the puck chasers of the Nelson country. That's what beat the B.C. boys. They did chase the puck, but they couldn't manipulate themselves or the disc into strategetic positions like Wasnie, Lefty Sheppard and Thorstinson, who again proved themselves about the niftiest amateur forward line seen in Vancouver this year. They skate fast, know how to get into position and can drop passes to each other with the precision of veterans.

Swede Johnson in goal for Rossland is all that saved tonight's contest from being a complete route for the interior boys. He stopped five shots in a row, missed one from Sheppard and then stopped another half dozen with his feet, his stick, his pads and his face ere the Albertans got by him for more. Wasnie showed flashes of the form which, possibly, made Harry Scott tout him as a comer, but only flashes. Thoristinson looks the best of the lot, and he is not causing any rush on the part of Frank Patrick to sign him up. Sheppard too is a likely youngster. Comber and Daly are good on defence and the Coleman boys played the entire game without changing a man. They had one spare but he was not used.

In the first frame Rossland held the score even 1-1; in the second Coleman had a 2-1 edge. The third was a continual procession toward Rossland and with the latter breaking away only in flashes. There is too much mid-ice play among the amateurs. The game is slowed up because the puck cannot be kicked and the offside rule is bewildering to those unaccustomed to its manifold possibilities.

First Period — Singer, Rossland, 6.05; Sheppard, 2.45.

Second period—Norris, Rossland, 2.05; Thorstinson from Sheppard, 7; Sheppard from Wasnie, 5.21.

Third period—Wasnie, 4.01; Thorstinson from Wasnie, .48; Marsters from Melinsky, Rossland, 2.46; Sheppard from Thorstinson, 1.05; Thorstinson, .25; Singer from Melinsky, Rossland, 8.20; Wasnie, 1.10.

NAVAL RESPONSIBILITY

London Daily Telegraph: We bear a heavier naval responsibility than our forefathers, because we are far more dependent on overseas supplies of food and raw materials, the movement of which must be protected in time of war. No island people situated as we are at the centre of a world-wide commonwealth, has a right to deny the officers and men of the fleet efficient ships in adequate numbers and thus leave them at the mercy of any foe who may place himself in their path when they are performing their duties. If the navy is the servant of the nation the nation must also play its part and see to it that the crews are not sent to almost certain death.

Dealing with the federal government's proposal to reimburse the depositors of the defunct Home Bank, the Quebec Chronicle says: "The question arises, what would be the attitude of those members who represent counties where people suffered severely when the Farmers Bank and other institutions collapsed some years ago. There was an attempt made at that time to have the government come to the assistance of the depositors of the Farmers Bank, but they got no satisfaction. However, if the government now decides to help the depositors of the Home Bank, those who placed their savings in the Farmers Bank will have a strong claim for equal treatment If the depositors of the Home Bank are to be assisted out of public funds, why not those of the Farmers Bank and other similar institutions? When the matter comes up before parliament, there is sure to be a demand that all be treated on equal footing."

ELKO NOTES

Elko, March 9.—Mr. and Mrs. F. Ingham opened up their charming home Friday evening for the young folks to have a good time, which they did in true regal style. Dancing and games were much enjoyed. Miss Lonia Kennedy and Thos. Baker contributed some classical solos and Mr. Hubberstey sang a comic song. The accompanists on the piano were Florence Billsborough and Mrs. Verle Moore. Elaborate refreshments were served. Those present were: Mrs. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. Hubberstey, Dorothy Hild, Kate McKay, Lonia Kennedy, Mary Belle, Bertha Swanson, Florence Billsborough, Virginia Swope, Esther Swanson, June Swope, Irene Hubberstey, Reatha Ingham, Edith Windsor, and Messrs. Duncan, Hubberstey, Jr., Winsor, Jr., Vette, Baker, McGowan, and Broster.

R. Gardiner, who has been employed for some time by the E. K. Power Co., has left with his wife and family for Nelson.

Mrs. H. Warner and family left Saturday morning for Nelson, where she will join her husband.

Friends of Mrs. M. Johnson will be pleased to know she is much better, and has returned to her home here.

The trustees visited the schoolhouse Thursday morning to chastise some of the boys who were reported to have been damaging school property. The boys got off with a severe lecture, promising they would behave themselves in the future.

A very enjoyable surprise party was enacted at the home of Mrs. R. Hubberstey, in ronor of their daughter, Irene. Music and games were played throughout the evening. Elaborate refreshments were served. Those present were Royston Wilkinson, Norman Wilkinson, Bill Duncan, Orval Barker, Bob Hubberstey, Virginia Cassidy, Virginia Swope, June Swope, Peggy McKay, Jean McKay, Agnes McKay, Isobel Duncan, Lottie Roberts, Reatha Ingham, Edith Winsor, Irene Hubberstey, Nina Winsor, Ruth Barker, Mrs. Barker.

Mrs. Lou Foisy held a complimentary party for the Misses Fanny and Nettie Bernie, who are leaving shortly for their home at Regina. The latter spent six months at the coast prior to coming here. They are the nieces of Alex. Birnie of this town. Those present were Mrs. Miller, Lonia Kennedy, Mrs. Hockley, Mrs. Alex. Bernie, Miss Fanny Bernie, Miss Nettie Bernie, Mrs. Freethe. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all, Miss Lonia Kennedy enchanting the guests with her beautiful voice. Dainty refreshments were served during the evening.

DESPERATE CONDITION

The desperate condition of many of the Coal Mining Districts in the United States is explained as follows by one of the most prominent coal mining authorities and writers of that neighboring country:

Since last April, Creditors, Committees, Receiverships, and Bankruptcy actions among Coal Companies have informed the public vividly that the Jacksonville Scale is all wrong, but the public as yet has no conception of the extent of the disaster which this forced wage agreement has caused.

Part of the disaster was concealed by the fact that some mines have been kept alive by contracts made a year ago, and within a few weeks of the signing of the Jacksonville Agreement.

Buyers did not know then how far the Union Operators of Mines were going to be out of line with the selling prices of the non-Union Mines. Today, these old contracts are expiring; the Union Operators would like to renew them, but cannot, because, in the meantime, the non-Union Mines have received their market. The Union Operators, therefore, are finding themselves with no contracts and with no chance of getting any at a living price, while they are compelled to pay the high rates of Union Wages. They have no assured markets which will yield a living price, so the Union Mines are forced to shut down.

The canvas of the situation, which we have made, reveals that the following situation has been brought about: The inconsequential Mines poorly financed, have already disappeared, like mosquitoes, they lived an inglorious hour, caused much suffering, and finally died. Now, the more substantial companies are caught in the undertow that has been caused. The trying situation now presents itself as follows: If Coal Properties are worth saving for future use, ten or possibly fifteen years hence, the working places in the Mines are being protected by concrete ceilings, and by sustaining crib and excess timbering. The Machinery, Rails, Pumps, Piping, etc., all taken from the Mines. This is a desperate finality; it is the abandonment of investments running into hundreds of millions of dollars. Where the properties are not so valuable, the Operators are merely pulling out the Machinery and Rails. They are letting the mines cave in and go by default. The resultant restruction, which is being visited upon the Mining Communities is awe-inspiring, and may be taken, as a lesson for this Country. Villages that heretofore had thriving populations in some cases amounting to 2500 or more people, have been wiped out, only Postmasters and Mail Carriers remaining, who make enough to feed themselves. The others are fleeing from poverty as they would from pestilence. Men who were employed at the abandoned Union Mines have been driven out to find employment some place else, many of whom are sick of the methods that have brought ruin on the occupation of their choice, so they are going into any other industry that promises even an approximation of the misleading Jacksonville scale of wages.

The destruction of these communities and of the buying power that was created by those Mines has crippled general business. Those who looked to the old coal communities for a market — Stores, Jobbing Houses and Manufacturers—are now without these desirable customers. They in turn are in grave financial distress. The whole presents a picture of calamity, not duplicated since the wild speculative boom which involved the Country in ruin fifty years ago.

Those who are responsible for the appalling conditions as set forth should be looking upon the unsavory situation with grave concern. Students of the industry are blaming John L. Lewis, and C. Hoover, the Secretary of Commerce. The Coal Operators know that the Alliance between and the concerted action of those two gentlemen put the industry in a dilemma. They now fear that the industry cannot have a sound footing under their leadership. They inspired the recently proposed conference. The Operators opposed the Conference until those who made it necessary, dissolved their alliance, the fusion of politics and labor.

It is far from pleasant, the writer goes on to state, to revert to unsavory history, but in 1922, the United States government was faced with the responsibility of Liquidating part of the War Cost — War working conditions and the consequent participation of Government in the making of wage contracts for Mine Labor. The Coal Mines are the largest industrial employers of labor in the States. Their wage scale is therefore a determining factor because it is exemplarary in all industries. Certainly their rules and working conditions are to the extent that they are dictated by Government determining. If encouraged by Government, the Coal Miners have in the past pursued a policy studiously hostile to their employers, and when this mode of policy is pursued, labor relations in the rest of the country can be neither sound or healthy.

Now, when a strident call is made to rescue American Business, and to save many communities that have always been friendly to his organization from devastation, it is fair to imagine that Mr. Lewis would approach the question just a little chastened by the knowledge of the destruction he has wrought. Instead, Mr. Lewis is letting the questions drift, and in the meantime those who have depended upon him for intelligence and help and guidance are slowly but surely becoming further immersed in despondent anxiety, and gloom. The safe remedy for this unpleasant outlook is for all those engaged in the coal industry to meet in friendly accord and with the determination to both better understanding each others interests, and to ascertain what the proper thing to do is after making an intelligent study of all the economic factors that the industry is based, and must be continued on.

"COME OUT OF THE KITCHEN"

Tickets for this performance will be on sale in the course of the next few days, and judging by the interest displayed in all quarters the Fernie Players will be greeted by capacity houses on the evenings of April 15 and 16.

"Come Out of the Kitchen" is a clean, hilarious comedy that will appeal strongly to a community like Fernie.

Mrs. Connick, who has successfully directed the efforts of amateurs in the city on several occasions, will be seen in the leading role and will be supported by a strong cast, of whom more will be told in next week's issue.

At the Grand Theatre, April 15 and 16.

CITY FATHERS IN SESSION

The regular meeting of the city council was held last evening with Mayor Irvine in the chair and all the aldermen present.

A report from the Medical Health Officer was read in which he stated that there were some conditions existing in the Chinese laundries about which he wished to consult with the Health committee. This committee was instructed to meet Dr. Corsan and discuss the matter.

The city electrician reported that there were on hand one transformer and several meters which should be repaired; also that full data had been furnished M. L. Wade of the East Kootenay Power Co., who was going to make a thorough inspection of the lighting system throughout the city. The report was accepted and the needed repairs authorized.

A new set of harness for the work team was ordered purchased from Riley & McCormack of Calgary.

The question of the contract between the City of Fernie and the East Kootenay Telephone Co., which calls for a reduction in telephone rentals after a cretain number of phones had been installed in the city, was brought up for discussion, and the city clerk was instructed to write the company notifying them that the council was of the opinion that the time is now opportune for a reduction in phone rentals as per contract.

A letter was read from the E. K. Power Co. that Supt. Wade would make a complete inspection of the lighting system and that there would be no charge for this service.

A grant of $25 was made to the Salvation Army for their Rescue Work.

A number of accounts were ordered paid.

The city clerk was instructed to notify the chief of police to prosecute any flagrant cases of the disregard of the by-law which prohibits the dumping of ashes and garbage on the streets.

The fire chief reported that he had tested the city fire hose and that 2600 feet had tested to a pressure of 200 pounds. The law stipulates 2000 feet as the minimum requirement so that the city is well equipped with hose at present.

GOLF CLUB MEETING

The annual meeting of the Golf Club took place in the council chamber on Friday night.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

The financial statement for the year 1924 showed total cash receipts of $2,538.52; disbursements of $2,-610.21; and unpaid accounts amounting to $546.25.

The assets of the Club amount to $535.01.

It was decided to arrange for a loan of $550 at the Royal Bank and that all outstanding accounts be paid.

The election of officers then took place as follows:

Hon. President—W. R. Wilson.
Hon. Vice-President—A. B. Trites.
President—S. Herchmer.
Vice-President—J. S. Irvine.
Executive—E.K. Stewart, N. E. Suddaby, H. L. Hayne, T. Prentice, A. Watson, J. L. Gates.

A letter was read from A. McKenzie, of Blairmore, thanking the club for the work done and hospitality shown at the tournament.

A letter was read from Robert Smith, professional, offering lessons at $1.50.

It was agreed to employ T. E. Kitchen as groundsman at a salary of $100 per month, with free house and light, service to commence about April 1.

There was no change made in the fees from last season, but it was decided that they must be paid in advance.

It was agreed that a list of the membership be posted on the board, with a notice that no other persons may use the course.

It was decided to renew the lease from the C.N.P. Coal Co., which expires March 23.

Four ball foursomes will be held every Wednesday afternoon with an entrance fee of 25c for men and ladies free. Prizes will be awarded.

The club will buy a gramophone for music for dances at the club house.

It was decided that no improvements would be made to the course until later in the season.

NEGOTIATIONS ARE ALL OFF

Calgary, March 18.—Hopes that had been raised of bringing about some more satisfactory situation in the coal mining industry of the province were ruthlessly dashed to the ground on Tuesday afternoon after about an hour's conference between the operators' and miners' officials in District 18 by the latter stating that they were not prepared to consider any change in the wage agreement.

For some time past negotiations were under way, but these were kept a strict secret so fas as the public were concerned. As a matter of fact they commenced on March 9, when certain overtures were made to the operators that a conference might be arranged. This request was the outcome of a communication from the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association drawing the attention of the miners' officials to the conditions of the Coal industry in District 18 whereby mines in the Crow's Nest Pass were working one day a week with little prospect of doing any better under the present scale, and more than a strong likelihood that the present contract would not be continued after March 31.

From what can be gathered there was every reason to believe up to Tuesday morning that some satisfactory solution would be found, based mainly on the agreement entered into between the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., Fernie, and its employees, and which has given the men at the Coal Creek and Michel mines steady employment.

(Calgary Herald, March 17)

As forecast by the Herald on Monday, negotiations are now under way between the operators and miners' officials here in order to arrive at a solution of the economic problems facing the industry.

From what can be gathered, there would appear to be a very earnest desire on the part of the miners' officials and operators to get together in an effort to bring about a better state of affairs and to reach a point where the coal can be mined at a sufficently low price ln order to secure a market and at the same time give steady work to the men. It is understood that this is the basis of the present negotiations and efforts are being made to bring about a mutual agreement with that end in view.

As already stated, it is surmised that orders for close upon one million tons of steam coal would be placed immediately if the price was similar to that now in effect in Fernie.

No meeting, it was ascertained,took place during the morning between the operators and miners officials. At the request of the latter it was arranged that the conference should be postponed until later in the day.

William Sherman, president of District 18 of the United Mine Workers of America, refused to make any comment on the situation when seen by the Herald, neither would any of the other officials make any statement for publication.

Whatever the negotiations for settlement are based on, both sides at the present time are preserving the utmost silence so far as any press interviews are concerned. They refuse to deny or confirm that it was the Fernie scale that will be discussed. All that can be said with any degree of certainty is that both sides realize the necessity of something being done to bring about a better condition in the coal mining industry of the province than has existed ever since the present agreement was signed.

A REAL OLD TIMER

Carrying his four score years with a sprightliness truly remarkable, A. C. Cooke, formerly one of the best known residents of this district, was in the city last week on a few days' visit to old friends. Mr. Cooke is one of those who has watched the towns of Fernie and Cranbrook take shape and grow from frontier villages into thriving towns of commercial importance. He dates his coming into the Kootenays from Ontario back to the early construction days when M. J. Haney was pushing the steel on which rolls the traffic of an inland empire over the Crows Nest Pass and through the forested defiles of the Elk River.

There is not one of the old school of hardy lumberjacks from mill owners down to the "tiehack" of an earlier day who does not remember and respect A. C. Cook. Closely identified with the lumber life of the district for more than twenty-five years he is known throughout its length and breadth. As long ago as 1899 he was camp accountant for C. D. McNab and John Cameron, contractors on the identical spot on the Kimberly branch where the mammouth concentrator of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company now stands. Later in a similar capacity he served the East Kootenay Lumber Company and afterwards became postmaster at Jaffray, a post he held until a few years ago when he went back to his old home in Ontario, to learn that the east no longer held out any attraction to himself or Mrs. Cooke For the last four years the aged couple have made their home in Grand Forks May their days be long in the land and the evening of their life be filled with happiness and content.—Cranbrook Courier.

ITALIAN GOVERNMENT ASSISTS IN BIG FILMING

For the first time in moving picture history, a government has officially assisted in the making of a photodrama. More than that, its ruler, a king, and the premier are seen in the finished production.

The photoplay is "The Eternal City," a First National picture produed by George Fitzmaurice from the noted story by Sir Hall Caine, which will open a two day engagement at the Orpheum Theatre on Wednesday next.

In order to insure accuracy in atmosphere and backgrounds, Mr. Fitzmaurice, following the acquisition of the film rights to the novel one of the cinematic prizes of a decade, determined to produce it in the locale of the tale. But he wanted particularly to be able to use the historic ruins for which Rome is famous, such as the Coliseum and the Roman Baths, for settings.

A less courageous man would have hesitated to seek such a privilege. But Mr. Fitzmaurice boldly approached Premier Mussolini, who was elevated to the prime-ministership by the triumph of the Facisti, and laid before him the proposition. It took some effort to induce the premier to acquiesce ior the request had the appearance of sacrilege, but when he became convinced that it would be to Italy's advantage to broadcast on the screen "shots" of its beauty spots, he agreed. He even went further than Mr. Fitzmaurice had anticipated—he issued orders to the army and civilian authorities to assist in every way in the production of the picture, of which Barbara La Marr, Lionel Barrymore, Bert Lytell, Richard Bennett and Montagu Love are the principals.

CARBON MONOXIDE

Miners are not the only ones who should take care against poison by carbon monoxide, the gas which plays so tragic a part in all mine disasters such as occured recently at Sullivan, according to this week's bulletin issued by the Publicity Bureau of the diana State Medicial Assoication. Many individuals who never have seen the inside of a mine work daily in the presence of this deadly gas.

Carbon monoxide poisoning is caused by breathing atmosphere that contains carbon monoxide. This gas is a proudct of incomplete combustion, and is an ever present danger about blast and coke furnaces and foundries, flues, oil refineries, in exhaust gases from automobile and other gasoline engines. In mines it is found after fires, after explosions and after the use of explosives. Miners sometimes call it white damp or sweet damp, but carbon monoxide its self is without color, odor or taste. The sweet odor, sometimes attributed to it, is not due to the carbon monoxide, but to other substances in the atmosphere which accompany this gas.

Hospitals receive a great number of victims who have been poisonby carbon monoxide. The exhaust gases of gasoline automobiles contain from 4 to 12 per cent of carbon monoxide and in closed garages men are not infrequently found dead beside a running motor. A similar dangera may arise from gasoline engines in lauunches. Carbon monoxide exerts its extremely dangerous action on the body by displacing oxygen from its combinaation with hemoglobin. Hemoglobin is the coloring matter of the blood which normally absorbs oxygen from the air in the lungs and delivers it to the different tissues of the body. The effinity of carbon monoxide for hemoglobin is about 200 times that of oxygen. Because of this effect, when only a small amount of the poisonous gas is present in the air breathed into the lungs much of the hemoglobin is locked up in combination with carbon monoxide and so can not keep up its usual work of carrying oxygen to the tissues.

These tissues because of the lack of oxygen, can not do their work properly. If the tissues are smothered long enough the cells of the tissues become damaged and injury to the cells may be permanent even if the patient survives.

The victim of acute carbon monoxide poisoning usually experiences certain definite symptoms. Yawning, sleeplessness, weariness, and a feeling of constriction across the forehead, frontal headache, at first dull and intermittent, later continuous and more severe. This headache is replaced or masked by the typical headache of carbon monoxide poisoning at the base and back of the skull, which cauuses the sufferer to hold his head as far back as possible in an effort to obtain relief.

Prevention for carbon monoxide poisoning are :

1. Good ventilation, as this will carry away and dilute the gas when present.
2. Avoiding as much as possible any exposure to air known to contain carbon monoxide.
3. Keeping calm when you must enter the gas or expose yourself to it. Do not hurry, but get to fresh air as quickly and with as little exertion as possible.

In case of carbon monoxide poisoning it is of great importance :

1 To send for a physician at once.
2. Administer oxygen as quickly as possible and in as pure a form as possibie, preferably from a cylinder of oxygen through an inhaler mask.
8. Remove the patient from the atmosphere containing carbon monoxide gas.
4. If breathing is feeble at once start artifical respiration by the prone posture method.
5. Keep the victim flat, quiet, and warm until orders are given by the physician.

At one step, the new good Maxwell creates an immeasurably higher conception of the dollar's buying power in its relation to motor car speed and power.

The owner of this new good Maxwell finds in it an ability for sustained speed which wins his respect no matter how powerful the cars which he has driven before.

He becomes used to leading traffic in the city because of a flashing acceleration which is not surpassed by any car built today.

He finds himself enjoying these advantages at an operating and maintenance cost which owners declare is lower than any previous motor car experience has ever taught them to expect.

For the cause of this revolutionary achievement, credit the engineering genius which produced the Chrysler Six, the wonderful plants in which the new good Maxwell is manufactured from wheels to body, from radiator to rear axle.

In this new good Maxwell, Chrysler engineers and Maxwell's fine workmanship have advanced the ability of four cylinders beyond anything the industry had previously produced. We enthusiastically invite you to let us prove Maxwell's superior quality and value.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

The mother of this attractive little girl, Mrs. E. E. Emmans, of 215 Seventh Ave., N. E., Portage La Prairie, Man., is one of the many Canadian mothers who are enthusiastic about the vaporizing salve, Vicks VapoRub, for treating children's colds. Mrs. Emmans writes: "My little girl had croup at night pretty badly and Vicks did her a lot of good. I have also used it with very satisfactory results for head and chest colds."

Vicks is just "rubbed on" for sore throat, tonsilitis, bronchitis, croup or deep chest colds. When so applied, Vicks has a double direct action: internally medicated vapors are inhaled while, at the same time, externally, it is absorbed through and stimulates the skin.

POOR SHOWING AT HILLCREST

There was a sharp decline in the earnings of the Hillcrest Collieries during the past year, according to the reports submitted at the recent annual meeting in Montreal. Of the meeting the Montrel Gazette has this to say :

The sharp contraction in the earnings of the Hillcrest Collieries, Limited, for the year ending December 31, 1924, as shown in the annual financial statement just made public, is explained by the fact that the company mines in that district were closed for almost seven months of the year under review, due to a strike over the question of wages, the men demanding an increase and the operators demanding a decrease from the peak wages of war times The president, Sir Charles Gordon, in his remarks to shareholders, explains that the outcome was a reduction of wages, but at a substantil loss to the company, as shown in the balance sheet.

Net profits from operating, after providing for all expenses, are shown in the current report at $4,787, as compared with $117,958 in 1923. Miscellaneous revenue, however, shows an increase, standing at $52,194 in 1924 as compared with $37,704 in the previous year Total net was $56,991 while deduction of bond interest at $16,250 prefered dividends at $49,399 and common dividends at $60,000 left a deficit for the year of $68,658, which compared with a surplus of $15,013 in the previous year, when there also had been transferred to contingent reserve a sum of $15,000. In the statment under review previous balance was brought forward at $284,188, which left profit and loss balance at $215,530.

Here and There

Southern Alberta is to have another addition to its growing list of titled ranchers, according to report. The Duc de Nemours, a descendant of Louis Phillipe of France, it is stated, is sailing in April to visit Lord and Lady Rodney, who have a ranch at Fort Saskatchewan, and, later, to acquire a homestead near the establishment of the Prince of Wales.

The Nova Scotia Technical College assays under direction of the Dominion Council of Scientific Research indicate Nova Scotia oil shales to be the richest in the world, giving fifty gallons of high-grade paraffin to a ton of shale. One hundred million tons of the shale are readily accessible, and vast oil industries similar to those of Colorado and the Western States might well come into being in this province.

"I find general business conditions quiet but improving throughout Canada and undoubtedly the increase in the price of farm products will prove very encouraging to the west," said Grant Hall, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, on his return from a recent tour of the Dominion. "Large orders for hardware shipped over our lines of late to the west indicate that the crop money is now beginning to circulate more readily, which in its turn is a mark of the farmer's confidence in the country."

There was a general increase in all phases of the lumbering industry in Canada during 1923, as compared with the previous year, according to the latest report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The average value of the output in that year amounted to $139,894,677, as compared with $114,324,580 in 1922, an increase of 22.4 per cent. In this respect the lumbering industry comes third on the list of manufacturing industries in Canada, with the pulp and paper industry first and the flour and grist mills second.

Passengers aboard the Canadian Pacific steamship "Empress of France," now touring the world, had a unique experience recently while visiting Ceylon. Returning from a run out to Kandy, the old capital of the Cingalese Kings and Site of the Temple of the Tooth of Buddha, a train-load of the travellers was held up by a herd of wild elephants which, hemmed in on either side by the jungle, ambulated along the track ahead. This was a feature of the journey which delighted those of the tourists who were not anxious about missing the ship.

Viola Dana, the famous motion picture actress, whose work has delighted millions, is to be the star of a drama to be filmed at Banff, according to a recent report. Miss Dana journeyed from New York to Montreal and then across the continent via Canadian Pacific Railway, in order to join her company for the film. The remainder of the cast are proceeding to Banff from Los Angeles and it is expected that shooting of the scenes will commence shortly. A very considerable number of big pictures have already been taken at Banff, which seems to have a great attraction for discerning stars and directors who appreciate the beauty of the scenery.

Internal cleanliness protects against disease

IN CONSTIPATION, say intestinal specialists, lies the primary cause of more than three-quarters of all illness, including the gravest diseases of life.

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favour Lubrication

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

SCOTCH WHISKEY COSTS FIVE CENTS A DRINK

A man by the name of McPherson, and by his name McPherson should know what he is talking about—says the cost of manufacturing a quart of Scotch whiskey is but five cents. The man by the name of McPherson made this startling statment in the Imperial Parliament, a fact which lends additional gravity and importace to his statement. The cost of this whiskey to the British consumer who is foolish enough to consume the whiskey is $$3.10 a quart. McPherson says such a charge is an outrage to the British whiskey consumer, but he does not blame the whiskey distiller. He says the outrageous price of whiskey is due to high rates of taxation. He says the American cansumer, who apparently has not lost his appetite for Scotch whiskey notwithstanding prohibition, can buy his favorite drink from the bootlgger at much lower rates than the British consumer can buy his tipple from the authorized dealers.

We are not interested in the problems of the British whiskey drinker nor in the problems of the American whiskey consumer. But we suspect that some of the whiskey drinkers of Canada, of whom their must be a considerable number, basing our estimate on the number and size of whiskey cargoes landed here and in other ports of Canada, even in the out ports of Ontario, must be interested in the statement of McPherson that the cost of manufacturing Scotch whiskey is but five cents. A reputed quart of Scotch whiskey of unquestioned repute costs the British Columbia consumer five dollars. That is a tremendous spread and the Canadian Scotch whiskey drinker surely has a legitimate ground for complaint.—Victoria Conolist.

"Any part of the city for fifty cents !" yelled the taxi driver. "You can't stick me again !" retorted Silas I bought the city hall last year and they wouldn't give it too me."

There is a very strong feeling among the consumers of electric light that the city council have made a serious mistake in putting verandah lights on meter. Our streets are quite dark enough without having this source of lighting cut off. In Vancouver the city council propose to give verandah lighting free of charge in order to encourage citizens to assist in lighting the streets. It might be wise for the city fathers to go a little deeper into this matter than they have apparently done.

The members of the G. W. V. A. and their wives held a very enjoyable social evening in the Vets Hall last night. Cards were played from 7 to 8.30 p.m., the prize winners being: Ladies, 1, Mrs. Lawrie, 2 Mrs. A. Hilton; consolation, Mrs. McRitchie. Gentlemen: 1 Tommy Bohill; consolation, John Cairns. Refreshments were served by Comrade Bowen and a capable staff. Comrade Brasch's four piece orchestra supplied the music and dancing was indulged in until 1 a.m. It is the intention to hold these affairs more frequently.

Provincial Police Inspector Dunwoody, of Nelson, was in town this week on business in connection with the straightening out of certain disputes between the provincial and city police. Mr. Dunwoody has just recently returned from New York, where he went to secure the extradition of "Cannonball" Baker, one of the alleged murderers in connection with the Beryl G. affair. He was in New York seven weeks, but finally secured his man and brought him back.

NEGOTIATIONS ARE ALL OFF

mined to resist any further reduction in their wage scale, according to Pat Conroy, their local secretary. They say they are simply moving in a vicious circle. Every time wages are reduced here the price of American coal will also be reduced and finally the men here would be compelled to work for two dollars per day. When the miners accepted a wage cut last fall steadier work was promised them, but this did not materalize.

Mr. Conroy contended that Winnipeg was the logical market for American coal and no wage reduction would secure it for Canada. Other miners interviewed with Mr. Conroy, added that steady work in the mines would only be obtained when there was a larger population in Alberta and Saskatchewan, and that only would come about through better agricultural conditions in the west.

Lethbridge, March 17.—While the feeling among the miners is distinctly antagonist to anything in the way of wage reduction, the reasonable assurance of steady work may go along way toward making them agree to it. It is felt here that the vote against the wage reduction will be out-voted by the districts outside in favor of the cut. A meeting was held on Sunday to discuss the situation, and this was the sentiment expressed as far as can be gathered.

It was held that in number six mine, the contract miners are not in so good a position as in the neighboring mine at Coalhurst, owing to the seams not being so thick and with the roof of the mine not so favorable for working conditions. With the amount of rock that has to be taken out, two days' work, so far as the coal mined, is said to be equivalent to what can be mined in a day and a half in other mines. With these conditions prevailing the wage cut will be felt more acutely here, and the miners can stand it least. However the consensus of opinion seems to be that if there is a reasonable assurance of steady work the wage cut will be accepted.

LOCAL & GENERAL

Mrs. Russel Dudley is visiting friends in Victoria.

Mrs. A. Cummings, of Fernie, underwent a major operation at Mayo Bros. hospital in Rochester, Minn., on Saturday last.

Principal Martin, of the Public Schools, returned on Monday from Vancouver, where he attended a meeting of the B.C. Teachers Association.

Dr. S. Bonnell left on Saturday morning for Vancouver, but expects to return and resume his residence here in about a week's time.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Wilson, who have been spending a couple of weeks at Rochester, Minn., returned home on Wednesday.

There will be a special meeting of Fernie Lodge No. 81, B.P.O. Elks, on Sunday, March 22, at 5 p.m. in Ingram's Hall.

The regular meeting of Kootenay Encampment will be held in the I.O.O.F. on Monday, March 23, at 7.30. All Patriarchs are requested to attend. 4th Degree.

W. C. Elkins, teller at the local branch of the Royal Bank, has received word that he is to be transferred to a Vancouver branch. R. H. Mawhinney, of that city, will take his position here.

C. G. Bennett, who was here most of last week packing his household effects, got away on Tuesday to Fernie to reside permanently. He will be back in May to take his McLaughlin car with him. — Creston Review.

The Women's Guild of the Fernie Co-Operative Society are holding a whist drive and dance in Victoria Hall on Tuesday next. Substantial prizes are being offered. Good eats, good music. Cards at 7.30 sharp. For particulars see manager.

The city fathers are making a move along the right lines when they propose to make a new contract with the Telephone Co. Telephone users have had to pay through the nose in this town for many years for a service that has been, to say the least, far from satisfactory and it is time we had a new deal.

At the regular monthly meeting of Mount Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. it was decided to give the Fernie Annex school and the West Fernie school three pictures each. A library is also to be given to the Morrissey Mines school. Fernie will again have the pleasure of hearing the Players Club of the U.B.C. this year in May, their play being the great comedy, "You and I," by Philip Barry.

Bill Dunwoody tells a story of an experience he had in New York a few days ago which gave him a jolt. He was attending a picture show and dozed off to sleep; awakening suddenly the first thing he saw on the screen was a picture of Miss Dahlia Schagel, late queen of the Banff carnival. Bill thought he was back in Fernie.

The city police have been busy during the past week rounding up a number of boys who broke into the city warehouse and stole ten sticks of dynamite. The kids had staged a Fourth of July celebration and blown off seven sticks before they were discovered. The other three sticks were recovered. It was miraculous that none of the lads were injured as they were handling the stuff in a most careless manner. A kid yould attach a fuse to a stick, holding it in his hand while lighting it and then throw it at a stump.

A special general meeting of the Fernie Branch G.W.V.A. will be held on Sunday afternoon, March 22, at 2.30 p.m.

Will the party who borrowed the blow torch from the Longdon Electric please return the same as soon as possible.

All P.G.'s of Mount Fernie Lodge I.O.O.F. and visiting P.G.'s are requested to meet at the I.O.O.F. Hall on Sunday, March 22, at 3.30 sharp, for practice.

The Trites-Wood Co. unloaded a straight carload of printed and inlaid lineoleums, floor oilcloths, etc., on Tuesday last. All the latest designs and colors.

The buildings on Lot 8, Block 64, and on Lot 8, Block 65 are for sale to anyone who will tear them down at once and clean up the lots. Send tenders to the City Clerk.

The members of the Sodality wish to thank all those who aided in making the St. Patrick's Day concert a success; also Mr. Hunter for courtesy shown during the past two weeks.

"The Canadian Constitution" was the subject of a fine address at the Rotary luncheon on Monday. The speaker was Sherwood Herchmer, and he gave a most interesting and instructive talk on Confederation and the causes which led up to it.

Joseph H. Bricker, pioneer merchant of Fernie, but now traveling out of Vancouver with a line of boots and shoes, was covering the district this week in the interests of his firm. Mr. Bricker alwaysmakes the most of his visits to his old haunts in exchanging reminiscences with old friends of railway construction days. —Cranbrook Courier.

The Loyal Order of Moose held their annual dance on St. Patrick's night in Victoria Hall and a large crowd attended. A real Irish night was enjoyed by all present. Miss Tina Thompson and Miss Arbuckle danced the Irish Jig in costume. Miss Thompson, by special request, danced the Highland Laddie and the Tambourine dance.

The C.P.R. are putting on several gasoline passenger cars at different points in British Columbia. One passed through Fernie the other day. The car, of steel construction, is a standard car with standard equipment. It has a seating capacity for 44 passengers and has besides the engine and passenger compartments a smoking and baggage compartment. The officials state that the trip from Calgary was made without mishap, and that the car performed well. It was viewed with interest by spectators. It is very similar to the one tried out here by the M. F. & M. a couple of years ago. It was not a success on the hill and later was sold to the P. G. & E.

The mass meeting of the employees of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., held in the Isis Theatre on Sunday evening last, was largely attended. The subject under discussion was the hospital question. The committee who had the matter in hand reported that they had been unable to arrive at a satisfactory solution of the problem. The matter was discussed at length and it was decided to appoint a new committee to deal with the question. The following were named: C. McNay, Jas. Wilson, Jas. McLean, D. McLeod, R. Phillips, E. Rutledge, with R. Johnstone, of Coal Creek, to act as chairman. The committee have been instructed to secure a hospital for the men and they propose to do it, let the chips fall where they may.

A Milkman Who Takes Water Out!

One of the favorite themes of the jokesmith is the milkman who waters his milk.

Though the joke has little basis in fact, yet you have heard it many times.

But have you ever thought of the milkman who does exactly the opposite—the milkman who takes water out?

That's what the Carnation milkman does—and here's why he does it:

Millions of people, all over the world, use Carnation Milk regularly; it comes to them from some of the finest dairying sections of Canada.

It seems foolish to pay transportation on all the natural water in this milk, so most of the water is removed.

Such removal serves to concentrate and enhance the food values in the milk, making it richer and smoother.

It also explains the satisfaction with which so many people use Carnation Milk undiluted in place of costly cream, in coffee or on cereals and fruits.

Remember, Carnation is simply pure milk, evaporated, sterilized; nothing is added, no sugar or preservative of any kind.

You can restore it to its original strength and consistency merely by putting back the water that has been taken away.

Order with the groceries—several tall (16 oz.) cans or by the case of 48 cans.

Baking That Fairly Melts in the Mouth

Mary Blake's free 32-page Carnation Recipe Book tells you how and a lot more besides. Over 100 tested recipes—beautifully illustrated. Send the coupon below today. Meanwhile, try these recipes:

CARNATION CREAM PIE

1 cup Carnation Milk, 1 cup water, 3 eggs, ½ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons flour. Heat Carnation Milk and water. Mix together yolks of eggs, sugar, flour, salt, pour hot liquid over this and cook until stiff. Pour on to stiffly beaten whites of eggs, fold together, add vanilla, pile lightly in baked crust and brown in moderate oven.

RICE CREAM

1 cup Carnation Milk, 1 cup water, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups cooked rice, 2 eggs, ½ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Scald Carnation Milk and water, add rice, egg yolks, sugar and salt. Cook until thick in double boiler. Remove from fire, add stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Add vanilla, cool and serve with cream. This serves six people.

A NEWSPAPER MISTAKE

As long as newspapers are run by men and not by some super machine, mistakes will occur. It is, or should be, however, the effort of every newspaper staff to free itself from the comebacks of the public by elimination as far as possible, errors that are the result of carelessness or hurry. When one realizes that the making of a newspaper is admittedly one of haste, often the surprise is not that the mistakes are so many, but that they are so few.

The story is told of Sir Walter Raleigh, when writing his history of the world, witnessing from his cell in the Tower of London a brawl in the street. Questioned at a following enquiry as to the incident, he found that he could not swear to certain particulars that should have been observed by him The tale goes that he returned discouraged to his colossal task and asked himself the question how, if he were so unsure ofwhat he himself had seen could he be sure of that mass of matter that had come down by word of mouth or by writing, through so many different mouths or pens.

Much of what the newspaper gathers is at second hand, hence the proneness to inexactitude. The fact written of maybe immaterial as news; an error in it may annoy or sadden those most interested. While the newspaper staff cannot be too careful, still fiction will invariably appear instead of fact.

One simpathizes with the eastern editor who recently wrote :

We made a mistake in last week's issue. A good subscriber told us about it. The same day there was a letter in our post office box that didn't belong to us. We called for 98 over the telephone and got 198. We asked for a spool of No. 50 thread andwhen we got home we found it was No. 60. The train was reported 30 minutes late . We arrived at the depot 20 minutes after train time and the train was gone. We got our milk bill and their was a mistake of ten cents in our favor. We got sick and the doctor said we were eating too much meat. We hadn't tasted meat for two months We ordered a tin of brown shoe polish and later found they gave us black. The garage man said the jitney was missing because it needed a new timer. We cleaned a spark plug and it ran fine ever since. Yes we made a mistake in last week's paper.—Kamloops Sentinel.

STOOL PIGEONS SHOULD ONLY TAKE ONE SIP

Magistrate Shaw, of Vancouver, thinks it is necessary for the Government or the municipalities to employ that peculiar species of the feathered tribe known as the stool pigeon. The magistrate believes that only by the employment of stool pigeons can illicit sellers of liquor be detected and convicted. At the same time the magistrate does not think it should be necessary for the stool pigeon to exceed the bounds of moderation when he buys liquor in order to secure the conviction of the illicit vendor. The magistrate says that just a sip of the illicitly sold liquor should be sufficient to satisfy the stool pigeon as testimony based upon a mere slip would be perfectly satisfactory to the court.

Surely Magistrate Shaw seeks to impose a great hardship upon the species of the featured tribe known as the stool pigeon. We submit that the stool pigeon is entitled to all the privileges as well as some of the compensations of his peculiar and honorable calling. There is nothing very stimulating about a mere sip of bootlegged liquor—at least not as far as we know—and the stool pigeon needs some stimulant to ensure enthusiasm in his trade.

The practical case with which the magistrate was dealing when he made his interesting comment thoroughly illustrates the point we desire to make in favor of the stool pigeon. The bird in this case had bought $8 worth of bootlegged liquor and downed one-third of it at one sitting. The magistrate thought that was going too far. He said even a stool pigeon need not sit down and drink continuously in order to complete his case against the alleged illicit vendor.

This peculiar stool pigeon indulged too well but not too wisely. Consequently his testimony was not quite clear, owing to the resulant condition of his head. The magistrate dismissed the case.

Therefore a new and interesting issue has arisen from the employment of detectives who object to being described as stool pigeons. One of the chief attractions of the profession has been condemned by the bench. The privilege of imbibing unlimited quantities of liquor and charging the cost against the community has been withdrawn, provided the decision of the Vancouver magistrate is accepted as a precedent by the courts, and courts have a deep respect for precedents. Some courts have been known to base their judgements upon the precedents that are almost as hoary as the very latest king excavated from anywhere in Egypt. The case of the stool pigeon is almost as unhappy as the lot of the ordinary policeman.

PICK AND SHOVEL POET

The pick-and-shovel man stands aside for the limousine to pass. The man inside may think the "Dago" is having as comfortable a time in life as he is on rubber tires. Life is apportioned out that way. We have an insight, perhaps for the first time, into the real lives of these, for the most part inarticulate, laborers in our vineyard in a recent book in the form of an autobiography which bears the title "Pascal D'Angelo, Son of Italy." How he grew up in his native Italy, how the poet in him, for h eis one of those heaven-endowed poets is revealed in his memories of his earliest years; how he left his native land and came with his father, following the rainbow that lures so many of his countrymen to anything but the pot of gold ; how he struggled even to get a bare foothold here and found his place as a pick-and-shovel man," and how, by a will that yielded to no discouragement, he placed his name before the reading public as a poet writing in an alien tongue—all this is told briefly and in the simple language of sincerity by the author. The pick-and-shovel man he still remains, and it is his conviction that this may always be reckoned as the measure of his social status. Poetry does not pay the bills in these days, and outside of poetry Pascal D'Angelo finds his readiest instruments to be the pick and shovel. But his verse cast in the modern form, without meter which he cannot or does not care to master, is now to be found almost broadcast. In the volume published by Macmillan we get this picture of his youth in his native land :

Both my parents worked out in the fields and received a small pittance for wages. And I, too, had to help them intermittently from the time I was very young And I can safely say that work rather than school was the important element in my boyhood. We were very poor people. We rarely had mat, and our food was of the poorest kind. Yet we were happy. There was no such thing as sickness among us. In fact the inhabitants of our valley are among the tallest and most finely developed people in all Italy. Many of our women who work out on the fields at the side of their husbands are stronger than the men.

I was at twelve a large nimble boy. I would have liked to play. And while toiling in the hot sunblaze of the fields I would dream of the cool upper reaches of the mountains. And of the plump yellow lizards that we boys hunted by the hedgerows. And the games and escapades dear to the hearts of boys. But when the excessive work of spring and harvest time was over, then I would pasture my sheep up on the mountains I loved. And I had no cares, and I would sing to myself, pausing perhaps to hear my own echo descending upon me

The inspiration of Mount Majella above, I later sought to express in a poem, which after many vicissitudes was finally printed in The Nation.

Angelo tells us that his first four years in America were a monotonous repetition of laborious days, yet he can call them happy years if only the foreman is kind and work not scarce. His philosophy is summed up in the observation that "Monotony does not hurt when people are satisfied." It might be "in the flooding blaze of the sun or in the slashing rain—toil. "He was set down at Hillsdale, Poughkeepsie, Spring Valley, New York, in Falling Water, Virginia, in Westwood or in Remsey, New Jersey, in Williamsport Maryland, where the winding Potomac flows, in Utica, New York, or White Lake Corner, Tappan. ,Staatsburg, Oneonta, Glen Falls,—"always as a pick and shovel man—that is what I was able to do and that is what I work at even now."

Lady—"I suppose you nave been in the navy so long that you are accustomed to sea legs."

Sailor—"Lady, I wasn't even looking.,,

Kriss—Do you suppose it will take long for your wife to learn to drive a car ?

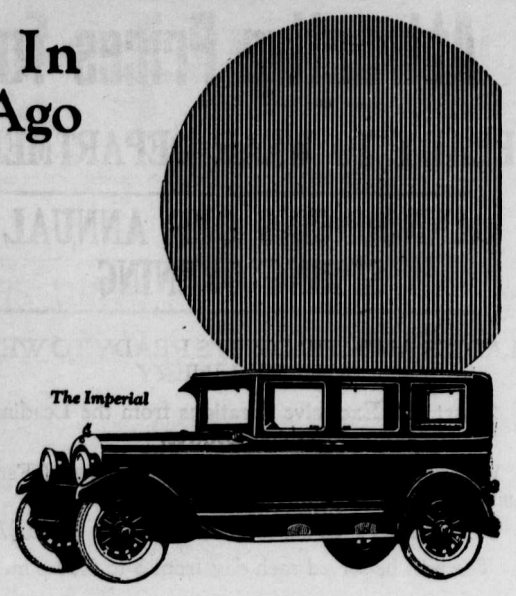
As Utterly Different In Results Now As a Year Ago

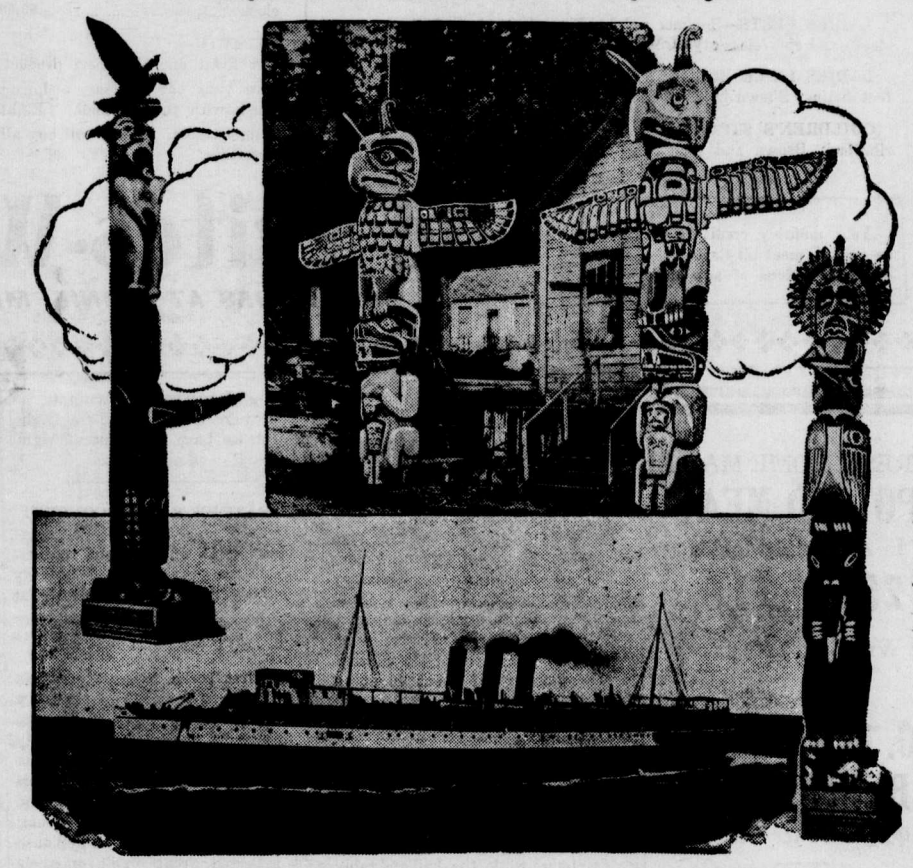


To the best of our knowledge there had never been a 3-inch motor capable of producing 68 horsepower, a speed of 70 miles an hour, with gasoline economy safely over 24 miles to the gallon, until the Chrysler Six arrived on the market last year. There is no other today.

That is what scientific engineering in the way of perfected gas distribution, special combustion chambers and heat distribution does for the Chrysler Six.

There has never before been a motor in which all sense of vibration has been so completely eliminated, never before a car in which side-sway and road-weaving are absent, never before a car with an overall length of 160 inches that afforded so much usable space—generously roomy for five large adults.

Examples might be cited by the score. But you can see for yourself how utterly different the Chrysler Six is and why the eager public bought more than 32,000 Chrysler cars the first year, if you drive the car but a few minutes. We are anxious to give you a Chrysler ride, to prove it the best-built car you ever sat in.



We are pleased to extend the convenience of time payments. Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan. Chrysler dealers and superior Chrysler service everywhere.

Keynote of Northland is Mystery

Mystery it is said, is the keynote of the north. Mystery and silence. And because of its mystery there will always be an attraction, something to draw men on and hold them. For it is no mere legend that the north ever calls back those who have once lived in the snow and the mountains, or through an Alaskan summer. What is true of Alaska is also, to a very great extent true of the east and western shores of Vancouver Island and of the northern mainland shoreline. Scarcely has one left Vancouver or Victoria than there dawns the feeling that here is a new life opening out. As everywhere there is charm, so also is there mystery. One stops off at little coastal villages to explore, or perhaps to fish or hunt, or study native life or industry, and the first thing that one runs into is the mysterious totem pole, that Indian "family tree", which has great significance in the aboriginal history and life of the Indians of the Coast, but which conceals its strange tales from the uninitiated white man.

Two striking examples of Indian art, totem poles which are said to be among the best on the Pacific Coast because of their excellent design, legendry and historical importance, have been brought from the west coast of Vancouver Island to Vancouver, B.C., where Mr. C. Bannister, who secured them from the Indians, has erected them in front of his home. They were made by the Hesquiat Indians and illustrate native legends and tribal history.

The Hesquiat Indians lay claim to being the first natives to see the white man in British Columbia. The tribe's legend of the seeing of these men dates back to 1788. The story told by these Indians is:

"Two Indians were travelling along the west coast in canoes and in a light mist. Suddenly out of the mist there loomed a giant canoe with white wings and skulls hanging from them. All over the decks of the boat scrambled strange-looking creatures such as they had never seen before. They had white faces and stone feet.

"One of the strange palefaces took a long stick and pointed it in the air and it spurted fire. Immediately a seagull fell dead.

"The two Indians in the canoe never recovered from the shock of this quick succession of strange and terrifying scenes and died on the spot."

The totems which Mr. Bannister has secured exceed twenty feet in height and have been set in concrete bases. The Great Eagle on the top of one of the poles was looked upon by Indians as a deity and is seen bringing the whale, which is also an emblem of great strength, to the powerful chief, Cee-Ta-Ka-Nim who was famous as a whale hunter.

When a potlatch, or great giving away feast was held, all of the people of the tribe would gather in the lodge of the chief and a human skull thrown in amongst them. The man who was able to get out of the lodge with the skull was the hero of the potlatch and received the greatest measure of gifts and attention. Cee-Ta-Ka-Nim evidently accomplished this feat as he is seen holding the skull in his hands. The large killer whale beneath is part of his family crest or emblem.

On the other pole the top figure is the official dancing mask of the Hesquiat chief. Beneath is depicted the legend of the Kingfisher and the Great Bear.

The kingfisher was looked upon as a great prevaricator and boaster. One day the bear was walking by a creek where the kingfisher was fishing. The Great Bear said 'Tam-Moo-Kee, you are always boasting to everybody of what you can do, yet you never seem to do anything. Now you never hear me boast, but I will show you what I can do.' He stood up on his hind legs and started to draw a serpent out of his stomach much to the astonishment and amazement of the kingfisher.

In nearly all Indian legends the characters took on a dual personality, and were able at any time to change themselves into birds, animals or fishes.

BANQUETS BENNETT

(Creston Review)

The best that Creston has ever seen in the way of a complimentary banquet was the affair on Thursday night last when C. G. Bennett, Creston's Bank of Commerce manager, who has just been transferred to Fernie, was the guest of the citizens to the number of about 40 at a sendoff-spread in the Parish Hall under the auspices of the Creston Board of Trade.

The catering for the affair was in the hands of a committee of the Women's Institute and the ladies certainly did themselves proud. The menu was a splendid one, the service excellent, while the hall and table decorations all added to the all round success of the evening.

President C. W. Allan was toastmaster and handled things splendidly throughout. One of the features of the occasion was the presentation of a mantle clock suitably engraved, the gift of the Board of Trade, which was presented in a few well chosen remarks by Mr. Allan, and suitably acknowledged by Mr. Bennett.

The toast list, though brief, produced an array of oratorical talent that spoke well and always to the point, Major Mallandaine, to whom was assigned the task of proposing the toast to "Our Guest," speaking in particularly happy fashion, and it is doubtful if Col. Lister was ever heard to better advantage than in his remarks on the toast to "Our Province."

In addition to the speechmaking the function was made the more enjoyable by the able efforts of A. A. J. Collis at the piano and the vocalists in attendance, who greeted all the speakers with specially adapted selections of "How Do You Do," samples of which follow:

How do you do, Mr. Bennett, how do you do,
How do you do, Mr. Bennett, how do you do,
Going to Fernie, right near by,
Where thy sell both beer and rye,
Well, you are the lucky guy,
How do you do.

How do you do, Colonel Lister, how do you do,
How do you do, Colonel Lister, how do you do,
We're glad you're here tonight,
Tho' we're told the road's a fright,
So please have them put all right,
How do you do.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY CONCERT

After weeks of strenuous rehearsing the members of the Sodality produced "The Princess of Meath" at the Grand Theatre on Tuesday evening last, the theatre being filled to capacity.

The first scene represented dawn in Ireland and opened with the frolic of the Shillalahs and Shamrocks, performed by pupils of Holy Family school. Appropriate pieces were played by the orchestra during their performance. The fairy dances and general deportment of the young performers received loud applause and reflected great credit on their tutors, especially the Rainbow Sprites with light effects.

Scene two opened up with the lady attendants of Princess Meath bemoaning the imprisonment of King Malachy, in which the thespian abilities of Miss M. Sedrovich as Nana the Nurse, and Miss K. Nee were given full scope. The character of King Malachy was ably portrayed by Miss N. Murphy, and the splendid acting of Miss A. Janos and Miss J. Pachara as the Princess and Ingomar respectively, showed the keen interest taken by the artistes. Special mention should be made of Miss A. Shulaika, whose representation of Turgesius showed up remarkably well, the clear enunciation allowing her words to be heard in every part of the hall. The various scenes were interspersed with musical numbers. Mike Kasmar reminded the audience of his contemplated departure from the distressful country for Philadelphia in the morning. Miss Charlebois sang two appropriate songs, which were received with loud applause. Mr. Thomas in "Danny Boy" gave of his best and was loudly applauded. Everyone was carried back to the old days by the splendid dancing of Miss Rose Caufield in Irish jigs with M. Kasmar as partner. The military precision shown by the troop of Danish soldiers evoked surprise. Kielty's orchestra supplied the music for the occasion, with Miss Charlebois and Miss Douglas accompanying the vocal turns. The efforts of Sister Agnes and Sister Bernard must not be overlooked as the training and worries in connection with the production were on their shoulders.

The evening's proceedings concluded with a dance in the Catholic Hall. Micky Berigan acted as floor manager. The united efforts of all have resulted in a substantial addition to the exchequer.

An effort was made to have the play reproduced on Wednesday but owing to other attractions it had to be abandoned.

COAL CREEK NOTES

A meeting of the members of the Dramatic Order of Knights of Khorassan is called in the Club rooms for Sunday afternoon next. Important business will be discussed.

Jimmy Brennan has been under the doctor's care all week.

Kielty's orchestra received a great boost by the efficient manner in which they conducted the musical numbers at the St. Patrick's concert in Fernie.

Members of the G.W.V.A. are asked to attend a special meeting in the Vets rooms on Sunday at 2.30.

A large number took in the concert at Fernie on Tuesday night. A special late train was run from Fernie.

Ed. Caufield and family leave on Saturday on a trip to England on a holiday.

The whist drive and dance given by the G.W.V.A. on Thursday drew a large crowd from this camp.

Second and third degree work will be put on at the K. of P. lodge session on Tuesday next. Session starts at 7 p.m. sharp.

WAGES DROP OR MINES CLOSE

Blairmore, March 24.—Conditions in the Crow's Nest Pass steam coal field are rapidly moving to a crisis. The action of the Hillcrest Collieries in shutting down their mine until the men are willing to accept the Fernie scale will be followed by the mines at Blairmore, Bellevue and Coleman. As a matter of fact the Greenhill miners here have been advised that operations will completely cease unless a wage reduction is negotiated. A month's notice to this effect will be given the men at the other camps immediately, it is learned this morning.

The operators are firm in their resolve to close their mines and a show-down has been reached. That is the opinion freely voiced throughout the Pass. In the meantime, the situation among the miners remained unchanged. The radical element among the men is still in control, the rank and file willing to settle and go to work on the Fernie scale, leacking the necessary leadership to break with the officials of District 18, U.M.W. of A. They are still the dominating factor in the situation, but how long their mastery will continue is problematical. Many say it cannot long endure under the dire conditions existing in the home of scores of miners destitute after nearly a year of comparative idleness.

That there is a Red element at work through the Pass is not doubted. Meetings of the men have been "packed" by this group. It is claimed that this is what occurred at Hillcrest when the offer of the company was rejected. The majority of the men in the camp are said to have been favorable to a settlement but they were overruled by the "standpat" wing, many of whom were recruited in other camps.

Coleman, March 24. — Mines at Coleman will probably follow the lead of Hillcrest in shutting down until the men are in a mood to accepting a wage cut.

Calgary, March 23.—Wm. Sherman, president of the U.W.M. of A., District 18, received word from Hillcrest Monday to the effect that the Hillcrest colleries had been shut down indefinitely and the miners notified that the mines would not resume operations until the miners are willing to accept a cut in wages.

According to Mr. Sherman, "this mean a 100 per cent lockout and is a distinct breach of the existing agreement."

Hillcrest, March 25.—The miners of this camp are seriously weighing the proposition submitted to them by the Hillcrest Colleries in a letter directed to each of their employees by the company. The company lays its cards on the table putting the situation squarely up to the men. The mines, the statement declares, will be reopened when sufficient men sign contracts carrying the Fernie wage scale, to justify operation. There will be no resumption of work, however, under the higher District 18 agreement. Officials of the company are at the mine office here signing up men as rapidly as they appear. The number already signed has not been given out.

WHAT'S THE TROUBLE?

The never ending disputes in the coal fields of District 26, Nova Scotia, and District 18, Alberta, U. M.W. of A., in contrast to the harmony which prevails in the coal fields of Vancouver Island, where they are not affiliated with the international organization, forces the average thinking person to the conclusion that there must be a nigger in the woodpile of the international organization.—Coleman Journal.

ENFORCE VACCINE STATUTE

Vancouver, March 24.—A provincial statute requiring every man, woman and child to be vaccinated against smallpox, will be enforced in Vancouver, and a segregation camp will be established where conscientious objectors who have been exposed to the disease will be placed under guard for 14 days, it was announced, following the meeting of the civic health committee yesterday.

When this was made clear, Dr. F. T. Underhill, minister of health, immediately called upon the health committee to authorize him to secure accommodation to lock up contacts who refuse to be vaccinated.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Fisher, of Chase, B.C., are visiting in the city this week.

Mrs. Ray Mahandro left the city Wednesday morning for Portland, Ore.

Don't forget to see "The Private Secretary" at the Grand on Friday, April 3.

Oscar Wilfred Higgins and Miss Mazie Victoria Schram were quietly married at the United Church manse on Wednesday morning, Rev. W. F. Burns officiating.

The annual District Conference of Rotary was held this week in Portland. J. R. Wallace has been representing the local club at this meeting.

There is a movement on foot to reorganize the Fernie Cricket Club. It is also hoped that a league may be formed to include the towns along the Crow line.

The executive committee of the Fernie Boy Scout Association, at a special meeting held in the council chamber last evening, decided to hold the annual meeting of the Association on Tuesday, April 7, when a proposed reorganization of the troop will be brought up for discussion. It is requested that members of the Association and all citizens interested in boys work will make it a point to be present at the annual meeting.

Thos. Jones, employed as a digger in No. 2 mine at Coal Creek, sustained serious internal injuries in an accident which occurred just as the morning shift was about to come off duty last Monday. He had loaded his last car of coal and was putting in a set of timber when, in some manner, a large lump of coal became dislodged and fell, crushing Jones against the loaded car. He was brought to the local hospital and is now reported to be progressing very favorably towards recovery.

HOSPITAL WILL REOPEN

The citizens of Fernie will be pleased to learn that the committee appointed by the employees of the C.N.P. Coal Co. to investigate the hospital question and endeavor to come to some arrangement whereby the Fernie Hospital could be reopened, report that they have reached an agreement with the doctors, which will result in the opening of the hospital before very long, probably before Easter Sunday.

While we have as yet not been informed of the exact arrangements made, we are given to understand that they are such as will meet with the hearty approval of the public in general and should receive their best support.

WILL VISIT IN EAST

Elko, B.C., March 22.—R. Bernie, of Elko, has just left for Regina, where he will enjoy a visit with his brother John and family, after which they expect to leave for Winnipeg to visit two sisters whom they have not seen for years. Miss N. Bernie accompanied Mr. Bernie to her home in Regina.

INAUGURATION OF W.O.M.L. AT MICHEL

The newly organized Chapter of the Women of Mooseheart Legion got away to a good start on Saturday evening last when there were fifty candidates present, which spoke volumes for the work done by Mrs. Fawcett as organizer. Mrs. R. Billsborough, of Fernie, was the installing officer and performed her duty in a creditable manner, ably assisted by Mrs. Fawcett. After the ceremony the men's lodge L.O.O.M. were invited to participate in a little social gathering. Bro. Billsborough gave a brief resume of Mooseheart and Moosehaven. Brothers Wals, Talbot and Travis Bros. contributed to the program. The following officers were installed:

Senior Regent—Sis. Fawcett.
Past Regent—Sis. Walsh.
Junior Regent—Sis. Hughes.
Chaplain—Sis. Mangel.
Guide—Sis. Kometz.
Asst. Guide—Sis. Gallo.
Argus—Sis. Beranie.
Sentinel—Sis. Ball.
Recorder—Sis. Dixon.
Treasurer—Sis. Billy.

MRS. BROWN PASSES AWAY

Fernie lost one of its oldest and most respected citizens Wednesday evening, when Mrs. W. W. Brown passed away peacefully, following an illness of several weeks' duration, brought on by an accident she sustained on Feb. 17.

Mrs. Brown was 70 years of age, and was born in Brampton, Ont., on July 9, 1854. She came to Fernie with her family during the fall of 1906 to join her husband, who had located here some time previously, and since that time has been a continuous resident of the city. She is survived by her husband, four daughters, Myrtle, Olive, and Mrs. M. A. Kastner, of Fernie, and Mrs. Mack, of Oakland, Calif., and four sons, Harvey of Fernie, Frank of Indian Head, Sask., Walter of Seattle, and Robert, of Lucknow, Ont., who have the sincere sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

tomorrow, Saturday, at 2.30 p.m., at

The funeral service will be held the family residence, the Rev. Wm. Burns officiating.

THE LATEST DISPATCHES

Washington, March 27. — Senator Wheeler of Montana, Gordon Campbell and Edwin S. Booth have been indicted by a federal grand jury on conspiracy charges arising out of oil deals.

Sioux Falls, S.D., March 27.—The prairie fires in South Dakota were extinguished early today. A large fire is still burning in the Rosebud Indian reservation. Six deaths and destruction of three villages are reported but not confirmed.

Paris, March 27.—Two priests were fined and given suspended sentence on a charge of inciting resistance to the government's religious policy.

Chicago, March 27.—Exhumation of the bodies of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, mother, and Dr. Oscar Olsen, adviser of William Nelson McClintock, millionaire orphan, whom William D. Sheppard is accused of killing with typhoid germs, took place today.

Washington, March 27.—The Association against prohibition amendment announces unprecedented activity on the part of Canadian rum-runners has begun.

Paris, March 27.—An American woman has started a defamation action against Colonel Dennistoun, lately sued by his divorced wife in London. The feature of the case is alleged to be hundreds of letters in Dennistoun's handwriting containing derisive references to Lady Carnarvon, defendant's present wife.

New York, March 26.—A police search today revealed $300,000 worth of stolen goods hidden in the vicinity of Brooklyn Bridge.

Quebec, March 26.—Various and sundry methods of blending liquors as employed by the Quebec Liquor Commission were told of in the legislative assembly today. In many cases the blending varied for whiskies of the same brand. Malt, prune wine and distilled water are among common ingredients mixed with straight Scotch whisky to produce "Commissions Costs."

Le Metz, Lorraine, March 26. — Fears that all forty men coming to the surface in a lift in the Merlbach mine were killed, when the lift dropped into the pit this afternoon, were expressed by rescue workers this evening.

Uniontown, Pa., March 26.—Representative C. J. McCloud, of Detroit, suffered severe injuries here late today when an airplane in which he was flying to Washington crashed a moment after taking off.

Ottawa, March 26.—Robert Forks, Progressive leader in the House of Commons, tonight moved a sub-amendment to the Conservative amendment to the budget. The Progressive amendment calls for a downward revision of the tariff. The speaker ruled the amendment out of order.

"COME OUT OF THE KITCHEN"

The Fernie Players are putting the final touches of this high-class comedy, which is being presented, by special arrangement with Samuel French, New York, in this city for the first time on April 15 and 16.

The management have overlooked none of the many intricate details, the strict observance of which contribute so greatly to the comfort and pleasure of patrons.

The scene is laid in the chivalrous State of Virginia, and the plot reveals the amusing attempts of the Daingerfields to preserve the dignity of the family name.

The cast includes: Miss Marion Corsan, who has delighted Fernie audiences in the past; Miss Dorothy Nelson, who will excel even her former efforts in theatricals; Mr. Wes. Owen, always a strong drawing card; Miss Marion McAllister, who will have full scope for her dialectical talents; Jack McPhee, whose every antic will evoke mirth;; Mr. Lovell, an irresistibly funny, lovesick poet. Mrs. E. Kirkpatrick as the object of the poet's affection, is a fascinating ora. Mr. Hunsley, as the butler, will be the cause of many laughs. Mr. Mead masquerades as a persuasive real estate agent and still finds time to pay his respects to the "Kitchen," much to the annoyance of the cook's other admirers. Mrs. Connick is directing the play and taking the part of Olivia, whose resourcefulness finally saves the situation, and Mr. Connick bears his sudden accession to wealth in a becoming manner.

It will thus be seen that local talent entirely will assist in staging "Come Out of the Kitchen" in the Grand Theatre on the above dates.

The proceeds are in aid of Christ Church, Fernie.

FEW CHANGES IN THE TARIFF

Ottawa, March 24.—Taxation and tariff clauses in today's federal budget, introduced by Hon. J. A. Robb, briefly are:

1. Export duty on electricity of 3-100ths of a cent per kilowatt hour upon power. Duty payable from April 1, 1925. Rate will be equal to $1.95 per horsepower year.

2. Few tariff changes. Principal change will be bituminous coal. Item "slack coal" is repealed, putting it into class of "coal not otherwise provided for." Slack coal imported from the United States will be dutiable at 50 cents a ton instead of 14 cents as at present.

3. Reduction in tariff rate on well-drilling machinery for deep wells, and on engines for the propulsion of boats by individual fishermen.

(Oil drilling rigs are included in the classification of deep well-drilling machinery and are, consequently, subject to a reduction in tariff charges.)

4. Duty on rolling mill rolls to be restored. During recess these were placed on the free list by order-in-council.

5. Amendment to the customs tariff with regard to the dumping duty.

6. Amendment of Special War Revenue Act to give a better definition of a cheque, bill of exchange, etc.

7. Well-drilling machinery and engines for the propulsion of boats owned by individual fishermen will contiuue to be exempt from the sales tax.

8. Bill to be introduced aiming at the prevention of smuggling.

Estimated increase in revenue from taxation charges will be about $1,000,000.

10. The budget makes no changes in the income tax or sales tax rates.

11. Mr. Robb did not announce the details of the Canada-Australian treaty.

Other tariff changes are:

Grapefruit when imported direct to a Canadian port, per 100 lbs., free under the British preference; 50c under the intermediate, and $1 under the general. They are now dutiable at 50 cents British preference; $1 intermediate and general.

The duty on engines to be used exclusively in the propulsion of boats owned by individual fishermen for their own use will be 10 per cent British preference; 12½ per cent intermediate; and 15 per cent general.

SPOOFING OUR COUSINS

Spoofing, when opportune — and not overdrawn — may be a pleasing diversion. It may be regarded, for a brief period, as apropos when a spirit of levity and jocular remarks are the rule.

But this spoofing about Canada has been carried to far in the Motherland. The direct descendant of he who was about to tell of the hemittance man who came to the Canadian West and started a gopher farm now writes home and tells about the hardships in the West, which the half-breed and aborigine may be able to appreciate in the close pressing desolation.

To the credulous English mind all this talk about the rough citizens is gospel truth. The native Canadian must appear to the English imagination as one who constantly dodges death and destruction or starvation whilst clad in buckskins and gripping a death-dealing revolver in each hand not to mention clasping a keen knife between his teeth.

Even the inoffensive little potato bug, with which we were so well acquainted down on the farms of New Brunswick, must have been meligned until it looked, in English imaginations, like a superb cross between a tarantula and a scorpion.

In order to prevent the ravages from the Colorado beetle, as the potato bug was classified, an embargo has been placed on potatoes from Canada, thereby dealing a serious blow to one of the few prosperous industries in the Maritime provinces.

Spoofing has had its effect and the embargo is just as vicious as was the ban maintained under a fatuous pretext against Canadian cattle. Only when strong representations were made to the home government at a time when Canada was contributing her best in men and money at a time of world crisis was a promise made that this embargo on cattle would be removed. With the end of the war, fulfilment of this promise was delayed long beyond common honesty on one fragile pretext and another.

How unfortunate it would be if English manufacturers of fine woollens, probably as good as any in the world, were to put an embargo on the export of their product to prevent it going to the crude and boisterous Canadians! It would be equally as alarming to the English manufacturers were the Canadian commons to place an embargo on English woollens.

Embargoes, based on misinformation, are not in keeping with British repute for fair play and should be discountenanced and discontinued. —Canadian Finance.

B.C. QUALITY AND PRICE

Recently we received a letter from a lady living in New Westminster in which she says two months use of B.C. manufactured products had brought her home goods of merit, moderately priced. Even though we believe the people feel assured of the high order and economy of British Columbia made goods—for they are buying them—it is still pleasant to hear folks say so.

Beauty That Equals Its Comfort and Riding Ease

Just as surely as you know a beautiful car when you see it, you'll be entranced by the Chrysler Six.

In every Chrysler model you sense at once the beauty, the good taste, the smartness which we in Canada have been in the habit of describing as "French," or "European."

More than 32,000 times last year, buyers expressed, in terms of their motor car choice, the preference for the Chrysler kind of beauty—giving Chrysler Six a first-year sales record never before equaled.

Remember that while Chrysler engineers were scientifically building beauty of appearance, they were building with relation to human comfort. After a brief test you'll agree with Chrysler owners that it is the most perfect riding, most accurately comfortable as well as the best built car you ever drove.

You will find us eager to prove Chrysler quality, fineness and performance in a comprehensive demonstration.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan. Chrysler dealers and superior Chrysler service everywhere.

Direct Treatment with Vaporizing Salve Immediately Reaches Inflamed Air Passages.

It is no longer necessary constantly to dose the children in treating croup, bronchitis, sore throat, or deep chest colds. Many Canadian mothers now use the "outside" remedy, Vicks VapoRub, for the cold troubles of all the family, because it is just rubbed over throat and chest—there is nothing to take. When so applied Vicks gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled directly into the inflamed air passages, loosening the phlegm and making the breathing easier.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed and stimulates the skin like a liniment or plaster and thus aids the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

A Violation of the Law Which Many Criminals Have "Saw"

I saw a good man sitting, yesterday
A juror in a case where an offence
Was charged which shocked this citizen's sense
Of morals in a most astounding way.
After the verdict he was heard to say—
The punishment for the crime should be intense—
Hard labor sentences, plus the expense—
As a deterrent guilty hands to stay.
This morning as I walked along the street,
And turned the corner where the great crowds stay,
Who do you think it was I chanced to meet,
Driving my good friend's car most recklessly?
My good friend's daughter, who is not sixteen!
Now you vile criminals, go vent your spleen.

Your doctor advises internal cleanliness

HE WILL tell you that the first results of constipation — headache, sleepless nights, biliousness, backache, etc.—warn that the body is flooded with intestinal poisons. In time these poisons may cause the breakdown of health and lead to serious disease.

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favour Lubrication

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. For sale by all druggists.

A TRIBUTE TO CANADIAN BEEF

A tribute to the excellence of Canadian cattle that are shipped to Great Britain appears in a recent issue of the "Review of the River Plate," published in the Argentine Republic. The Canadian cattle, the writer states, are finished on grain and their flesh is of better flavor than Argentine alfalfa or grass fed cattle. The Argentine's beef, he points out, has a splendid appearance, but it does not equal in thickness or flavor the Canadian grain fed bullocks.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

AT Ottawa parliament drags on as as usual with much time wasted in the early days of the session. The closing days will see important legislation hurried through when members are fatigued with the heat of summer and the sound of their own voices. We have often wondered if it would not be possible to apply more practical business methods to the conduct of business when the House is in session.

* * * * * *

We are pleased to note, however, that the budget has been introduced some days earlier in the session than last year. It contains no startling announcements. The present government is not one that can be blamed for being over-progressive. Last session was a particularly barren one and the present session promises little better results. Those who have looked for the fulfillment of pre-election promises to the effect that there would be a gradual revision downward in the tariff will again be disappointed. True, a slight beginning was made in this direction last year, but some days ago the Premier hinted in parliament that this course would be halted for the time being. The present budget has confirmed this. Those who have followed affairs in Canada for the past twenty years have now come to realize that no matter what election promises are made or not made, so long as industrial Ontario and Quebec have such commanding influence, the tariff is not likely to get serious revision downward.

* * * * *

A .R. McMaster, of Brome, has given notice that he will introduce a resolution providing for the appointmentment of a committee to devise means for the abolition of the right of appeal from the decisions of the Supreme Court of Canada to the Privy Council.

Surely such a movement is timely. This system of appeal may have been necessary in the early days of Confederation, but we do not believe that it is necessary today. Canada has grown to the status of a self-governing nation within the Empire. Our system of appeal through the various courts within the Dominion provides ample scope for justice to all. Surely our Canadian Supreme Court judges are competent to deal with ordinary cases arising within our own country. For many years Australia has made her own Supreme Court the highest court of appeal. This method has worked well in that Commonwealth. Why do we still adhere to the tedious and costly system of appeal to the Privy Council? Some two years ago a case came up in Winnipeg regarding the interpretation of a clause in the Lord's Day Act. Our Canadian courts gave their interpretation of said clause. But it was appealed to the Privy Council. It took eight months for that court to render a decision. This extra appeal cost one party $8000, and we know not what it cost the other. The decision was in keeping with what the Winnipeg magistrate had decided and what the Canadian courts afterwards confirmed. Our point is, why all this waste of time and money? Our contention is that our Canadian judges are "competent by training, practice and tradition" to interpret our laws. We trust that something may come of Mr. McMaster's resolution.

"LAME JOE" DIES AT CHERRY CREEK

Invermere, March 23. — In the passing of "Lame" Joe, the Kootenay Indian, at his home at Cherry Creek, near Cranbrook, there leaves one of the best known of the middle-aged of the Kootenay tribe.

Joe Eaglehead was born to have distinction amongst those of his associates, and he was well known throughout all the reserves of the tribe from Tobacco Plains on the south, to the Columbia lakes reserve on the north, and to the Creston and Burton City reserves on the west. He was born at Lower Kootenay or Flat Box on the Creston reserve some 57 years ago, but the exigencies of his life were such that he moved his residence freely from one reserve to another. It was during ceremonial events he was seen to best advantage.

In the David Thompson celebration and in the conferring the honor of chieftainship at the opening of the Banff-Windermere motor highway and the succeeding ceremonial dances he officiated in the capacity of herald and master of ceremonies.

Years ago, while hunting, he broke his leg, the accident happening at a distance that made good setting an impossibility, and since that time he was badly handicapped by the deformity in the broken limb.

Mrs. Hugh Harden, of Trail, is a visitor with friends here.

Mrs. Grant Smith, of Toronto, is the guest of her father, W. R. Wilson.

Mrs. Arthur Pugh, who has been visiting relatives in the east for the past month, returned home on Thursday.

Mrs. M. Sorkie, of Hosmer, who has been sick for the last two months, is now in the St. Eugene Hospital at Cranbrook.

As Monday next will be nomination night for officers in the Loyal Order of Moose, all members are requested to attend.

The Blairmore Elks Dramatic Club will present the play, "The Private Secretary," at the Grand Theatre on Friday, April 3.

The monthly tea of Christ Church Ladies Guild will be given on Wednesday afternoon, April 1, by Mrs. Bean, Mrs. Lamb and Mrs. Carnwath in the basement of Christ Church.

The first of a series of monthly social welfare gatherings of the Knights of Pythias will take place on Tuesday evening. The good and welfare committee have arranged a surprise.

There will be a meeting of the Labor party in the south room of the Miners' Hall on Tuesday at 7.30 p.m. to make final arrangements for the whist drive and dance to be held on April 9.

The junior members of the English church assembled in the basement of the church on Thursday last to hold a farewell social in honor of Miss Hilda Taylor, prior to her departure for England.

Mrs. Ada Young, of Newgate, B.C., died last Sunday night in the Fernie Hospital after an extended illness. She was 48 years of age and is survived by her husband, a son and two daughters. The funeral was held from the Fernie Undertaking Parlors on Thursday afternoon, the Rev. H. U. Oswald officiating.

The executive committee of the local branch of the G.W.V.A. take this opportunity of thanking the local Elks lodge for the fraternal spirit shown by relinquishing the night of May 25 and Victoria Hall in their favor, thus allowing the Vets to have their annual Empire Day dance.

The new auto drivers' licenses have arrived and are now to be had at the government office on payment of $1. Separate lincenses must be taken out for every member of a family who drives, this being according to amendments of the Act this year by which it is planned to keep closer watch on infractions of the motor regulations. All offences are registered against the licence, and continued offences lead to the cancellation of the driver's license.

Radio fans are getting the worth out of their sets these days. They can sit and listen in to play by play stories of the Stanley Cup hockey series. Tonight's game will be sent out on the air from Victoria Arena by CFPT Fletcher Bros. of Victoria, while CFQC at Saskatoon and CJCA at Edmonton broadcast play by play as received by telegraph from the arena. Victoria has won two games, so tonight's game will finish the series should Victoria win. The game will be played under Western rules, a style which seemed to puzzle the Canadiens in the first game of the series.

Do not fail to read the full page advertisement in this issue.

Nelson Smith, of Cranbrook, was a visitor in town for a couple of days this week.

Dr. Wilson Herald, Ear, Nose and Throat specialist, will be in Fernie from April 7th to 13th inclusive. tf

The local Pythian Sisters are holding a sale of aprons and home cooking in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Thursday, April 9, from 2.30 p.m.

Dave Clowers of the M.F. & M. staff, who underwent a serious operation, has returned from Whitefish, where he has been recuperating for the past month.

It has been definitely arranged for Dr. Schofield, of the University of British Columbia, to deliver his lecture on "The Origin of Ore Deposits" on April 17, at 7.30 p.m. in the upper hall at the Central School.

A reunion of the Pioneers of British Columbia, who were in the province on or prior to May 1st, 1875, is being held at Vancouver on May 7, 8 and 9 next. The names and addresses of all who are eligible are requested and should be sent to F. C. Aubrey, Birks Bldg., Vancouver, B.C.

Contractors Dodge & McLeod are at present busily engaged in preparing a camp at Crow's Nest Lake to house in the neighborhood of fifty men. This force will be employed for about six weeks on road work south of the lake, where a considerable amount of rock work is to be done in widening and lowering the grade on this part of the All Red Route.—Coleman Journal.

Dr. Bonnell arrived in town on Tuesday and Mrs. Bonnell and family will return after the schools close to take up their permanent residence again. The host of Dr. Bonnell's friends will be glad to see him back again, especially as he intends to take up general practice. The doctor has the confidence of the public generally as a professional man. He came to Fernie in the construction days of 1898.

A very quiet wedding took place at the United Church, Cranbrook, on Saturday last, Rev. Freeman officiating. The contracting parties were George E. Moreton and Miss Marie Carrolla, of Fernie Annex. The newly weds returned here on the evening train and on arrival at the home of the bride's parents were received by a large crowd of relatives and personal friends. After a sumptuous repast musical instruments were brought into play and dancing was indulged in. The young couple have taken housekeeping rooms at the Wilkes apartments.

The best ever was the unanimous vote of the patrons of the Co-Operative Society whist drive and dance held in Victoria Hall on Tuesday evening. Two hundred and twelve people (53 tables) participated in whist, for which useful prizes were awarded as follows: Ladies, 1st Mrs. W. Shorthouse; 2nd, Mrs. Shaw. Gentlemen, 1st Joe Hamer; 2nd, G. Bowen. The consolation prizes went to Mrs. G. Perkins and J. Cole respectively. Brashch's 5-piece orchestra furnished the music for dancing. Refreshments were served during the evening. The Co-Operative committee desire to thank the Women's Guild, the L.O.O.M. and the F.L. & A.A. for their valuable assistance; also the ladies who kindly loaned tables for whist.

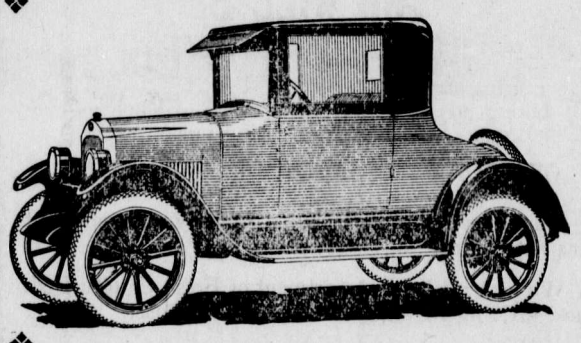
DISC CLUTCH



The New Star was first with Smooth Disc Clutch

A smooth, easy disc clutch. No jerking or bucking, no discomfort or strain on your motor. That's another Star achievement. Only the higher priced cars enjoyed this feature until the Star placed it within reach of the buyer.

ENGINEERS SAY–

FULL FORCE FEED to all bearings and cam shaft berings is absolutely essential to the life of the motor.

It Costs More—but STAR has it.

A car so far in advance of other cars, even its competitors acknowledge its superiority

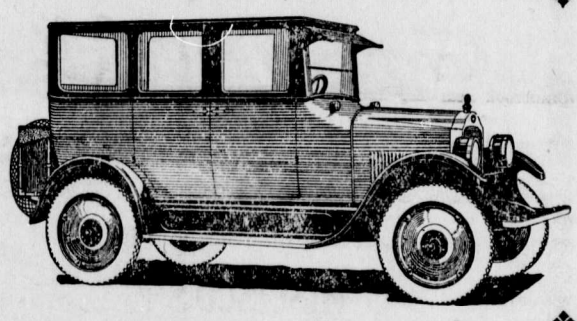
A car built for the millions who are entitled to the best there is in automobile values.

Don't think of buying a car until you have seen this New Star. It is the last word in comfort, appearance and economy in a car built to sell at such a low cost.

Now on display. Come in, see it, drive it. There is no question about it, it's the greatest value on wheels --- and when you spend your money, you want value.

But you be the judge. All we ask is that you, yourself, put this New 1925 Star thru its paces.

SPENDING A MILLION



to give you a better motor

More than a million dollars have been invested in special machinery, tools and equipment devoted exclusively to the production of this New Star motor.

A Red Seal Continental Motor, a flexible giant of power that takes almost any hill in high..... Hills are the real test of power in a motor car and this new Million Dollar motor simply astounds you with its power.

Take it on any hill. Throttle it down — the powerful pull gently eases you over the top in high at 15, 20, 35. Power is its middle name.

See it, ride behind it, drive it yourself—it's a power revelation. It cost a million to produce, but you'll say it's worth it.

COMPARE THESE UNITS WITH ANY CAR AT TWICE THE PRICE.

Continental Red Seal Motor

This is a motor built to stand abuse and at the same time to give the greatest power. When such concerns as the Yellow Taxicab Co. choose it, against all other motors, it should be sufficient endorsement of its reliability.

Force Feed Lubrication.

No other car but the Star, in the lower price field, has this positive forced feed lubrication system to all its bearings. This system adds 100% to 150% to the life of the motor. A film of oil is forced between all bearing surfaces, constantly.

Morse Silent Chain and Timing Gears.

Morse Silent Chains do away with noisy timing gears. They can be adjusted from the outside without removing radiator. So thoroughly have Morse Silent Chains established their worth, that such cars as Cadillac and Lafayette use them.

Warner Transmission

Gears are easily shifted without noise or grind. Set amidship, the Warner Transmission provides accessibility, equalizes weight, and helps to shorten the propeller shaft. A cheaper type of construction might have been used, but the good Warner was selected.

Stewart Vacuum Feed

With this feed, every drop of gasoline in your tank can get to the carburetor. That there is no comparison of economy, dependability, of any vacuum system feed with the Stewart, is borne out by the fact that such cars as the Packard, Lincoln, Wills Sainte Claire use it.

Parish-Bingham Frame.

The frame is to your car as is the foundation to your house. It must be sturdy, strong, rigid. So well thought of is the Parish-Bingham frame, that such cars as the Locomobile, Packard, Jordan, Chandler, Rickenbacker, and others use it in their construction. No better frame is known to Automobile Engineers.

Tubular Backbone.

Twisting, weaving and shifting are some of the common faults of the average light car frame. The tubular backbone, a patented unit, acts as an additional brace to the five cross members, and gives the Star frame a rigidness that is found in no other light car.

That Good-Looking Car

THIS 1925 "STAR" IS A CAR OF CHARACTER. IT LOOKS ITS STURDY BEAUTY IN EVERY LINE.

BEHIND ITS SMART APPEARANCE IT CARRIES THE STURDIEST POWER MOTOR EVER BUILT — THE NEW MILLION DOLLAR MOTOR THAT DEVELOPS 20 P. C. MORE POWER — REAL POWER — THAT BUZZES YOU OVER THE STIFFEST HILLS IN HIGH AND WITH POWER TO SPARE.

FULL FORCE FEED LUBRICATION TO ALL BEARINGS AND CAM SHAFT. NEVER A BURNED OUT BEARING IN A "STAR" CAR. OIL UNDER PRESSURE TO ALL BEARINGS ABSOLUTELY PREVENTS BURNED-OUT BEARINGS.

Timken Bearings Throughout

POWER

JUST SMOOTH POWER. AND THAT'S NOT ALL. "STAR" HAS, FROM ITS INCEPTION, AIMED TO DEVELOP THE FINEST LOW-PRICED AUTOMOBILE IT WAS POSSIBLE TO BUILD. THE NEW 1925 "STAR" TODAY, IN THE LOW-PRICED FIELD, OFFERS A GREATER NUMBER OF ADVANCED FEATURES THAN ANY CAR IN ITS PRICE CLASS.

THIS ONE STUMPED THE RADIO EXPERTS

What's wrong with this hook-up? Perhaps you can aid the Philadelphia fan who sent this letter to the chief of a government radio office in Washington:

"I wish to describe my radiocast receiving set and ask your advice for getting better results.

"I have a rubber aerial 674½ feet long (not including the insulators), but this stretches and touches the roof in the middle. I think this maybe grounds the signals. I am not using any lead-in because I bring my aerial to the edge of the roof and let the signals slide down the lightning rod to my window. A friend of mine loaned me a wave-length last week, as mine isn't working so good, and I wired it up in series with the grid of my tube; but even this does not work so well. I was advised to use a set of vernier binding posts and I went all over town trying to get them. In each store the salesman looked funny when I asked him. Do you think that maybe I was too technical?

"I even tried grounding my aerial but that doesn't do any good at all. It even weakens the signals I get. For a time I thought I didn't get enough filament voltage, so I hooked up my B battery to the filament. The tubes lit up fine for a minute and then went down. Do you think the battery is dead? It won't light them any more.

"I have tried the tubes out with a magneto and they spark fine.

"I put a wire from the primary of megohm to the rotor of my microfadar and even punched the latter full of holes. Even this doesn't do any good.

"Mr. Foster told me a negative bias on the grid would help the set. I could not locate any in the city, but the telegraph operator in New York sent three of them to the telegraph operator in Philadelphia, who gave them to me. I connected the three in series and put them on the grid, but it produces an awful howling. Is that what it is supposed to do?

"For a time I thought the diaphragm on the phones kept the sound from coming out, so I took them out. This gave me no results either.

"If you could only make my set work I would do for you almost anything.

"P.S.—Do you think a radio frequency ammeter in the plate circuit, or some Pannestock clips in the ground circuit would improve the reception?"

IMPORTATION INTO B.C. OF NURSERY STOCK

In connection with the resolution re the importing of nursery stock as discussed in the District Convention of Farmers Institutes last October, it is worthy of note that this matter has now been attended to satisfactorily and nursery stock may be imported from Patmore Nursery at Brandon, Man.; Boughen's Nursery, Valley River, Man.; and Pine Grove Nursery in Manitoba. Catalogues of these three nurseries can be made use of in the Agricultural office or at A. B. Smith's.

By special permit regulations permission is granted a consignee to import direct to his address.

"Yes, this happened in 1914 B.V."
"What do you mean by B.V. ?"

$1,000 In Cash Prizes

How Many Objects in This Picture Begin With the Letter "B"?

HOW TO PLAY!

After you read the simple rules, sit down and find all the objects in the picture beginning with the letter "B." A little patience and a few hours' work, with qualifying subscription, may bring you $500 in cash. A very nice little nest egg for someone. If you are not fortunate enough to win the $500, there are fifteen other cash rewards. The one who submits the nearest correct solution gets the first prize; second best, second prize, etc.

The Vancouver Sun "B" Word Picture Puzzle

Never in your life will you have a better chance to win such a splendid sum of cash—$500, $200, $100, $75, $50, or one of the many other splendid cash prizes, amounting to 15 in all.

Invite the entire family to help—two, three or four pairs of eyes are better than one, and they all want to play this alluring game. Interest never lags while you are playing, and it is good for more than one evening of educational entertainment.

There is nothing difficult about the "B" Word Puzzle Game. There are no tricks or catches in the picture, and everyone is on the same basis. It is a test of skill and observation. The rules are plain and clear. Look them over; take a slant at the BIG PRIZE LIST OF FIFTEEN CASH AWARDS. Sharpen up the old pencil and START IN.

Observe These Simple Rules

1. Any man, woman or child resident of British Columbia, except employees of The Vancouver Sun or member of employees families, may submit a list of names. It costs nothing to try.
2. All answers must be mailed on or before Saturday, April 4, 1925.
3. Only such nouns commencing with "B" as appear in the English Dictionary will be counted. The nouns must be names of some objects seen in the picture. Do not use obsolete words. Do not use hyphenated words. When the plural is used the singular cannot be counted and vice versa. Do not use compound words or words formed by the combination of two or more complete English words, each of which in itself is the name of an object.
4. Words of the same spelling can be used only once, even though used to designate different objects. An object can be named only once. However, any visible part of an object may be also named.
5. You may write your list with ink or typewriter—not pencil. You must, however, only write on one side of the paper and number the words consecutively. Write your full name not address on each page in the upper right-hand corner and on the first sheet. Place the total of words contained in your complete list. Do not write subscriber's name or anything else, except as noted above, on the same paper with list of words. Use a separate sheet. After your answer has been filed no corrections or additions can be made. Type or write the words in columns, not across the page. Leave ample space between.
6. The list having the largest number of correct names of visible objects shown in the picture beginning with letter "B", according to the judges' solution list, with the least or fewer number of errors, will be awarded First Prize. The second largest list, with the least or fewest number of errors, will be awarded Second Prize, and so on through the list until all prizes have been awarded. Mis-spelled words will be counted as errors. The prizes will be decided and awarded on percentage basis, and in case of a tie, neatness and accuracy will determine the winner.
7. Workers may co-operate in answering the Puzzle, but only one prize will be awarded to one household or to any other group where two or more people have been working together.
8. Do not send renewal subscriptions as new. Half of your subscriptions must be new to qualify for highest award.
9. A NEW subscription is one who is not receiving The Vancouver Sun by mail or carrier on the day this announcement is made—March 8, 1925. A change of delivery address or a change of name covering subscriptions already being delivered will not constitute a new subscription. Changing from Morning to Evening or from Evening to Morning does not constitute a new subscription. All subscriptions are payable in advance. See table on subscription rates.
10. New subscriptions may be sent by mail and can be paid for at the mail rate to addresses on R.F.D. Routes to rural districts and to towns outside Greater Vancouver. New subscriptions for addresses in Greater Vancouver must be paid at the carrier delivery rate and cannot be sent by mail.
11. All answers will receive the same consideration regardless of whether subscription for The Vancouver Sun is sent in or not.
12. Three or more able and well-known residents of British Columbia will act as judges and decide the winners. They will use Webster's New International Dictionary in making their decision. All participants in sending in their list thereby agree to accept the decision of the judges as final and conclusive. The judges will meet as soon after the close of the contest as convenient, and announcement of the correct list and names of prizewinners will be published as soon thereafter as possible.

PRIZE LIST

Winning answers will receive prizes as follows:

	Prize if no subscriptions are sent. (Morning or Evening)	Prize if 12 months' subscription by mail is sent, new or renewal. (Morning or Evening)	Prize if two 12 months' subscriptions by mail are sent, half of which must be new or all may be new. (Morning or Evening)
First Prize	$25.00	$175.00	$500.00
Second Prize	12.50	100.00	200.00
Third Prize	10.00	50.00	125.00
Fourth Prize	7.50	37.50	50.00
Fifth Prize	5.00	25.00	40.00
Sixth Prize	4.00	17.50	35.00
Seventh Prize	3.00	10.00	30.00
Eighth Prize	2.00	7.50	25.00
Ninth Prize	1.50	5.00	20.00
Tenth to Fifteenth Prize	1.00	2.50	10.00

Qualify for the Highest Award

Along with your own subscription make one of your neighbors, friends or relatives (not now getting The Sun either morning or evening) a subscriber by just sending their name and address along, with required remittance, then you are qualified for the highest award—$500.00.

COAL CREEK NOTES

The local members of the D.O.K.K.'s entertained their brother votaries up here on Sunday last. The machinery was set in motion for one of their famous frolics, further particulars of which will be given later.

Tom Arbuckle received injuries to his foot on Thursday last which has necessitated confinement to the house during the week.

Rev. Mr. Redmond, of Michel, occupied the pulpit at the United Church here on Sunday last. He performed the baptismal ceremony on the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Fleming.

A large number of friends and well-wishers assembled at the depot to bid Godspeed to Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Caufield on their departure for a trip to England.

As some of the participants of the whist drive and dance held on Tuesday were returning home they noticed one of the power poles on the government road was alight. The alarm was given and the fire subdued.

Tom Jones, a miner, was removed to Fernie on Monday suffering injuries received from a fall of coal. His injuries are not as serious as at first feared.

Watch the board for notice of the Pythian Sisters sale of aprons and home cooking.

Owing to a cave-in in No. 1 South mine on Wednesday about 30 men were idle for the day.

Mr. Golightly of Fernie will occupy the pulpit at the United Church up here on Sunday evening next.

Nomination of officers in the L.O.O.M. will take place on Monday next.

Wash That Itch Away

There is absolutely no sufferer from eczema who ever used this soothing wash, and did not feel immediately that wonderfully calm, cool sensation that comes when the itch is taken away. It penetrates the pores, gives instant relief from the most distressing skin diseases.

HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

"Lit" was held on Friday, March 20. This week the program took the form of a contest. Recitations were given by two students from each room. Those taking part were Evelyn Austin, Verdant Snow,, Jenny Derbyshire, Agnes Maltman, James Strachan, Alex. Greenwood, Tony Kobus, Wellington Irvin, Harry Murray. Verdant Snow took first prize with "A Reverie in Church." Alex. Greenwood and James Strachan tied for second, their respective recitations being "You're the Next Man Up," and "The Shooting of Dan McGrew." The teachers were the judges.

Following this Dr. Kelman gave a very interesting talk on "Goitre." The various types of this malady were illustrated by diagrams on the blackboard. The causes and treatments were explained in simple language. The address was very educational and helpful.

The standing in the various rooms for the February tests were as follows:

Room 1—Alice Haigh, Pearl Boklaschuk.

Room 2—W. Duncan, J. Venables.

Room 3—May Tully, Helen Polak.

Room 4 — John Stropky, Nelson Wallace.

Room 5 — Tony Kobus, Andrew Wallace.

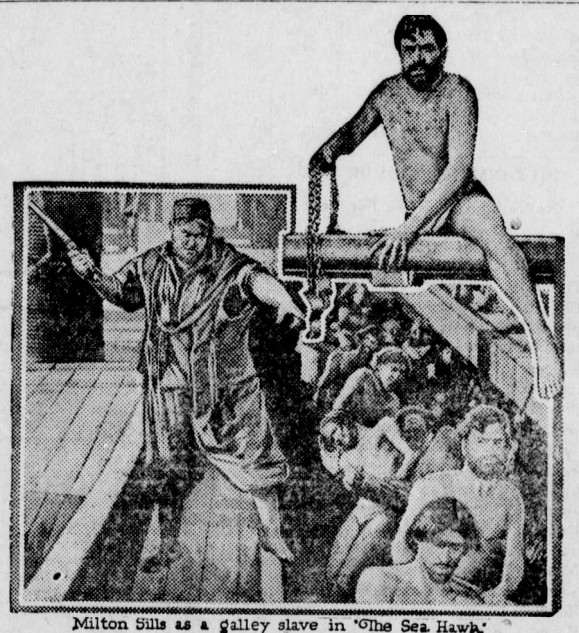
TORONTO HAS SOME VIRULENT FLU CASES

Toronto, March 23.—Four members of one family here have died from influenza in two days. On Saturday afternoon while the double funeral of William Toms and Edward Toms, father and son, who succumbed to influenza on Thursday, was in progress,the disease claimed Stewart Toms, a second son, and in a few hours later, Charles, a third son, also died. The influenza which caused their deaths was of a virulent type and was contracted about eight days ago. A fourth son is now suffering from the disease but his condition is not considered dangerous.

MORE THAN ONE THOUSAND PERSONS IN PICTURE

Orpheum Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, April 1 and 2.

Sabatini's brilliant novel, "The Sea Hawk," one of the three best sellers of 1923 and regarded as a more spirited narrative than even "Scaramouche," has at last made its way to the screen and the Orpheum theatre presents Frank Lloyd's First National picture version of the adventure of Sir Oliver Tressilian among the Barbary corsairs.



In book form "The Sea Hawk" has been regarded as a modern gem and in relating the story pictorially Mr. Lloyd has enhanced its value. To transfer the big drama to the screen it has been necessary to build an entire Algerian city with its quaint slave market, winding streets, mysterious courts, four gigantic ships of the 16th century design and to us emore than a thousand people actively in the several big sea battles.

Milton Sills has been given the dominant role of Sir Oliver, later Sakr-el-Bahr, the hawk of the sea, and Enid Bennett is cast as Rosamand, his sweetheart. Lloyd Hughes, Wallace Beery, Frank Currier, Marc MacDermott, Wallace MacDonald, Mme. Medea Radzina, who recently left the Moscow Art Theatre to cast her fortunes with the cinema; Kathleen Key, Christie Montt, Claire de Brey, Lionel Belmore, Fred de Silva, Bobbie Bolder, Albert Prison, Kate Price, Louis Morrison and others equally as well known.

VACCINE ORDER IS EXTENDED

Victoria, B.C., March 26.—Every person in British Columbia must be vaccinated forthwith or produce to medical health officers of the various cities and municipalities proof of successful vaccination within two years, according to the regulations advertised by the provincial board of health. The only other exemption clause is the production of a certificate that a person is at present insusceptible of vaccination or a certificate of physical unfitness for vaccination.

The order provides that a person violating the regulation shall be subject to a fine of $100 or to six months' imprisonment, with or without hard labor, or both fine and imprisonment.

COUNCIL HOLD LONG SESSION

Fernie tax rate for the year 1925 will be 38 mills, a reduction of two mills compared with last year. This was the decision of a full meeting of the city council held on Thursday evening.

Thursday's meeting was the longest session on record, commencing at 7 p.m. and not adjourning until after midnight.

The order in council regarding compulsory vaccination and a letter from the Provincial Board of Health requesting the co-operation of the council in the carrying out of this order, were read. Medical Health Officer Corsan explained the order in council and requested that the same be published in the local paper. The city clerk reported that he had wired the Provincial Board of Health regarding conscientious objectors to vaccination and for information as to how they would be affected by the order, and that he had received a reply stating that conscientious objectors would be exempt providing they made the proper statutory declarations.

Messrs. Bryant, Johnstone and McLean, on behalf of the hospital committee of the employees of the C.N.P. Coal Co., waited upon the council and requested a grant to assist them in re-opening the Fernie Hospital at the earliest possible date. They stated that they had rented the hospital at a rate of $150 per month, including all equipment, and that they required funds to carry on pending an accumulation of a fund which would be raised by 40 per cent of their regular medical fees being placed to the credit of the Hospital Board, and the other 60 per cent to the doctors. The hospital would be open to receive any patient and the patient would have the privilege of calling in any doctor he wished.

After a lengthy discussion later in the evening, a motion was passed granting the sum of $500, which would be paid to the Hospital Board when properly constituted.

The fire, water and light committee recommended that J. Hunt be appointed assistant fire chief to relieve the chief and driver not more than two nights per week, and that the vacancies on the fire brigade be filled. This was adopted.

The fire chief submitted a report on the fire at D. Picco's residence on Dalton avenue last Friday morning; also fire hazard reports on several business premises. The report was accepted.

The estimates for the year 1925 were brought up and discussed at length. Ald. Kerr strongly advocated that a reduction be made in the water and light rate to consumers, but Ald. Stewart stated that he was of the opinion that it would not be good policy to do so as the loss of revenue in this department would have to be made up by an increase in rates. The portion of the mill rate set aside for city work was so slight, he added, that when any extensive work was to be undertaken the necessary funds had to be procured from other sources. With the present water and light rates in effect, the burden was not so heavy on the taxpayer and the cost of city upkeep was more evenly divided. In view of the extensive road program for this year, Ald. Kerr concurred, in this view but stated that the water and light rates should be revised as soon as these operations were completed. The rate was then struck at 38 mills.

The council decided on an extensive program of road work and will employ a road expert to give advice upon the matter of rebuilding Victoria avenue.

An application from the C.N.P. Coal Co. baseball club for the use of the city park was granted., and the parks committe will investigate the possibility of making a football and cricket field outside of the baseball diamond in the park.

The resignation of Fire Chief Johnson was accepted and the city clerk was instructed to advertise for a successor.

A letter was received from the Kootenay Telephone Lines requesting one month to consider the council's request for a reduction in telephone rates was received. The council will meet representatives of the company at the next meeting of council.

The chief of police was instructed to rigidly enforce the dog licensing tax, and that owners who requested that their dogs be destroyed should either do it themselves or pay the cost.

A fee of 50c will be charged for all statutory declarations made before the city clerk in his capacity of a notary public.

The health committee reported that they had visited the Chinese laundries in the city in company with the Medical Health Officer and had found some very unsanitary conditions. The Medical Health Officer and the Chief of Police will take the necessary steps to enforce sanitary conditions.

SIX LICENCES ARE GRANTED

On Tuesday six beer licenses were granted to Fernie hotels as follows: King Edward, Northern, Queens, Napanee, Waldorf and Kings.

It has not been stated whether any more licenses will be granted for Fernie or not, but if not rank discrimination has been shown.

In Fernie we have two leading commercial hotels, with an investment in each of at least $50,000. Why one of them should receive a licence and the other be turned down is hard to say. If it had not been distinctly stated that the Liquor Control Board had been removed from the range of politics it would be easy to understand.

Then, again, there seems to be grave discrimination against our hotelkeepers who are of Italian birth but all of whom are British subjects. Four of these applied but not one has been granted to dote.

STAGE SILENT DEMONSTRATION

In the past week a strong effort has been made by a number of U.M.W. of A. supporters, including Wm. Sherman and Thos. Uphill, to bring influence to bear upon the B. C. Miners' Association to have them put forth a demand that the C.N.P. Coal Co. reinstate those old employees who have been refused work owing to their attitude toward the company in past years.

Several efforts had been made to hold meetings but without success, and on Thursday they staged a silent demonstration when the 4 o'clock train came down from the mines. Twenty-one of the men in question, led by Thos. Uphill, stationed themselves in a conspicuous place carrying banners of various kinds, and stood silent while the seven or eight hundred men from the Creek passed by. The men paid not the slightest attention to the demonstration, hardly pausing for a second to even read the inscriptions on the banners. We heard one man remark "that it was hard work to raise any enthusiasm or much sympathy for a bunch of men who were mainly responsible for their being out of work for at least five months of the nine that the strike was on. We could have had a much better settlement and steady work months ago if it had not been for Sherman and his friends."

On Friday this 22 again paraded, but without apparently any result. one has been granted to date.

EMPLOYEES' MEETING

The hospital committee recently appointed at a meeting of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. employees, have decided to call a mass meeting of the men to present their report. This meeting will be held in the Isis Theatre at 7 p.m. on Sunday. All employees at Fernie and Coal Creek are requested to attend so that they will be conversant with the arrangements as made by the committee. The committee will meet in the Johnson & Falconer rooms at 6 p.m. Sunday, and a full attendance is requested.

MINERS WANT MORE WORK

(Calgary Herald)

A Bellevue dispatch to the Herald states that a special meeting of miners was held at Bellevue on Monday night, when it was decided, after a lengthy discussion to appoint a delegation from the meeting to interview the management of the Western Canadian Colleries to ascertain if there was anything that could be done to give the miners more work.

The mines at Bellevue and other camps in the Crow's Nest are continuing to work only about one day a week. The Greenhill mine at Blairmore has posted a notice giving the men two weeks' notice of stoppage of work.

William Stevenson, manager of the Hillcrest Collieries, informed the Herald over the long distance phone on Tuesday that there was not any change in the coal mining situation there, and that the 400 odd miners were still idle and had not made any effort to negotiate an agreement on the basis of the Fernie scale which would give the men fairly constant work.

In the meantime the mines operated by the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., at Michel and Coal Creek, are working full time, and from what can be learned there is every indication that they will do so all through the summer. Between 5000 and 6000 tons of coal a day are turned out from those mines when running to capacity.

Owing to the fact that carloads of coal from those mines are being routed east, local coal men state that the company has succeeded in securing a portion of the 100,000 ton order that the Canadian Pacific were prepared to place some little time ago if the price was based on the Fernie scale. What orders may have been placed by the company for West Virginia and Kentucky coal is not known locally, as this business is dealt with in Winnipeg. It is reported, however, that unless a competitive price can be offered by the mines in the Crow, that the bulk of the order will go to the American fields.

In connection with the statement made in the provincial house on Monday by P. M. Christophers, the Labor member for Rocky Mountain House, that "despite the fact that starvation stared the miners in the face, the coal operators had advertised in the old country for more miners, who had never been able to obtain a day's work after arrival in this country, and were now a charge on the province," R. M. Young, the commissioner of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association, when shown the dispatch, stated that about twenty years ago one of the companies in the Crow's Nest Pass brought out a number of miners from Britain, when a real need existed for them. He did not know, however, of any company in District 18 who had advertised for miners or had brought any of them out, since that time.

INCOME TAX AND PERSONAL PROPERTY RETURN

These returns should have been made to the assessor at the court house, Cranbrook, by the end of last month. If these returns are not made immediately the result will be that the taxpayer will find himself in an awkward position as, in case of default, 25% will be added to last year's assessment. No family or insurance premium deductions will be made beyond the $1200 in the case of unmarried and $1500 in the case of married persons. Any application for dependents will have to be made at the Court of Revision and Appeal and allowed, or disallowed, as the case may be, at that court.

AMERICAN REGULATIONS

Fernie Consular District.

Fernie, B.C., March 30, 1925

European Emmigrants to U. S. — Persons born in Europe, irrespective of length of residence in Canada, can as a rule be admitted to the United States only upon the quota of their respective countries of birth. The Austrian, British, Czechoslovakian, Finnish, Italian, Norwegian, Polish, Russian and Syrian quotas are closed until July 1, after which new waiting lists will be opened. Certain classes, i.e., ministers, professors, students, relatives of American citizens, and skilled agriculturists are either exempted from or granted a preference on the quota; but strong proof is required in all such cases.

North American Emigrants—Where the emigrant is born in North America—whether he be Canadian born or naturalized—he is not subject to the quota, but may call at the consulate without previous notice to secure Immigration Visa. He must bring with him: (1) birth certificate North America; (2) testimonial in in duplicate, establishing birth in duplicate, on printed letter head from last employer, pastor or the police certifying to length of residence, occupation and character; (3) two photographs of each person, at least 1 inch face; and (4) the visa fee of $10.20 per person.

His wife and children, if accompanying or following to join him, are exempt from the quota, even though of European birth.

Each emigrant, large or small, must procure a separate visa, which can be obtained only by appearing personally before the consul — the term "visa" meaning "seen."

American Citizens Returning to the United States—American citizens residing in this district sometimes encounter difficulty at the boundary, through inability to satisfy the immigration officer of their nationality. This possibility may be obviated by carrying a Registration Certificate. Such certificates are granted, however, only to Americans who register at the consulate. Americans desiring a certificate should accordingly first procure their birth certificate — without which their application cannot be considered — and forward it with two photographs and a fee of $1.02 to the consulate. A registration certificate will then be mailed them upon approval of their registration by the Department.

Visitors to the United States: Persons owing foreign allegiance and British subjects who have resided less than 12 months in Canada, are admitted to the United States only upon valid passports from their own consular officers, vised by the American Consul at Fernie.

American citizens, Canadian citizens (native born or naturalized) and other British subjects who can show 12 months residence in Canada, may visit the United States without passport or visa. It is unnecessary to apply to the consulate in such cases, as the consul is without authority to grant testimonials or letters of introduction to visitors of these classes.

CLASS LEADERS AT CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The following pupils led their classes in the various divisions of the City Public Schools for the month of March:

Div. 7—Ralph Baker, John Anderson, Amy Wallwork, Wm. Costanzo.
Div. 10—Hazel White, John Kaleta, Eva Papworth, Johnny George, Eileen Jones.
Div. 13—Kathleen Hutson, Jack Bennett, Alice Rasmussen, Lily Drew.
Div. 16—Grade 2A: John Gates, Mary Fabe. Grade 2B: Garth Wade, Mike Wakulchuk, Florence Morgan.

A. F. OF L. OPPOSES SOVIET

Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, courageously faced a hostile and stormy meeting in a public forum at Boston Sunday night. He told the deluded radicals some truths about the soviet government. He declared that the communists in Russia were in the minority and did not represent the Russian people as a nation. That is a fact that is not denied in Russia, and it was silly and childish for radicals in the audience to hurl at Mr. Woll the epithet "liar." There are not more than 700,000 members of the communist party in soviet Russia. The membership is strictly guarded by the ruling caste and the vast population of soviet Russia is under a dictatorship of a small minority of politicians.

Mr. Woll, who shows a clear understanding of conditions in soviet Russia—conditions that would not be tolerated in any free country—declared that the American Federation of Labor stood for "the voluntary co-operative system of bringing about the just claims of labor and would not tolerate the compulsory cooperative system of socialists, communists and syndicalists."

An erratic, ignorant, prejudiced or embittered minority in this country would plunge the American people, if they had the power, into the horrors of a red revolution and bring American labor down to the depressed condition of Russian labor, and American agriculture to the plight that is suffered by the Russian farmers. They keep up an incessant agitation that is fomented and fed by agents on the payroll of the communist internationale at Moscow, a radical organization that is interlocked with the soviet government.

While the generous American people were sending relief to the starving Russians, the soviet communists were sending funds to their agitators in this country.

It is fortunate that leaders of organized labor have a clear understanding of the designs of the Russian communists and are on guard against their purpose to bore into the ranks of organized labor in this country.—Spokesman.

BY EXAMPLE

Year in and year out for a long time Canadian business men have carried on a campaign preaching the gospel of "Buy Canadian made goods," exhorting the people of Canada to help make Canada prosperous for Canadians.

But with what results ?

In 1923 the Canadian people bought $61.00 per capita worth of American goods, against $4.00 per capita the U.S. bought in Canada. Very little of our purchases from them were in "raw" form. Practically every dollar's worth was "finished" and the American workmen enjoyed the pleasure of spending our good Canadian money. The American plays both ends against the middle by freezing out our manufactured and agricultural proudcts which do not benefit American prosperity; but assiduously courts the importation of our raw products such as pulp and nickte, etc., so that American workmen can manufacture these into finished products and sell them back to us, thereby enriching America's industries and reducing substantially the Canadian payroll and bank deposits.

What is the cause of this condition and what can we do to correct it ?

The minister of the gospel who does not practice what he preaches does not garner in a very plentiful harvest of converts.

So it is with the preaching of the Canadian business man.

He asks Canadians to buy "Goods made in Canada"and yet when he buys a motor car or motor truck, tools, machinery and hundreds of other items he does not practice what he preaches. How can the Canadian business man conscientiously expect his friends and customers to buy "Canadian made goods" when they see him daily buying American and other foreign products under one pretext or another.

If the campaign "Buy goods made in Canada" is going to bear fruit permanently, it has got to be put into practice by the leading industries to convince our people of their sincerity.

It is hard to reconcile the attitude of a great many manufacturers, wholesalers an dothers who so strongly advocate "Buy goods made in Canada" and who at the same time are violating not only the slogan but the very principle of their motto by purchasing American and other foreign products themselves.

Obviously there can be only one answer to this paradox and that is that the yell for others to buy "Made in Canada goods" is simply a selfish outburst, having as its object the exclusive promotion of their own selfish interests.

Every day one sees large and small corporations, together with others who always yell "Buy Canadian goods," delivering their products in American made trucks. The wholesale grocer, oil and gasoline producer, newspapers, lumberman, retailers and countless others of our so-called staunch supporters of "Buy made in Canada goods" are constantly doing the opposite to buying goods made in Canada.

Let the people who buy Canadian made goods see to it that those goods are delivered to them in Canadian built vehicles and refuse to accept delivery of goods in anything else but a Canadian built motor truck.

If this is done assiduously and conscientiously the effect will soon be discerned by a marked increase in Canadian trucks, which will tend to increase employment in Canada and add to our payrolls and bank deposits.

And let this not be applicable to trucks alone, but to the furniture we buy, the clothes we buy and every other article or service which every Canadian uses.

It has been said that demanding Made-in-Canada Goods is a tangible expression of confidence :

First—In our country.
Second—In our people.
Third—In the products of our country.

Without this confidence, the greater portion of our people will always be "hewers of wood or drawers of water."

In a recent issue of the Satevepost there appears a cartoon. A mother is holding an infant in her arms as the husband enters with the announcement: "I just paid the doctor ten dollars." The mother's face lights up as she replies: "Goody, just two more payments and the baby is all ours."

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

FACTS ABOUT TEA SERIES—No. 1

Tea as a Beverage

Tea first became known in China nearly 3000 years before Christ. In that country tea was greatly prized, both for its remarkable qualities as a beverage and for the almost religious ceremony attached to the drinking of it. Up to the sixth century, tea was used only for medicinal purposes. Even in the seventeenth century it cost $25.00 to $50.00 per pound. All tea caddies were constantly kept under lock and key. Today when even fine quality like "SALADA" costs less than one-third of a cent per cup, it is not surprising that the consumption of tea is increasing tremendously.

Teach your child Internal cleanliness

THE mother who permits constipation in her baby or older child is risking the health, even the life, of her little one.

Fretfulness, feverishness, night terrors, grinding the teeth in sleep, biliousness, coated tongue, loss of appetite, any of these may indicate constipation. Poisons from the child's stagnant intestine are flooding the little body, and if left unchecked may lead to serious consequences.

Avoid Laxatives—Say Doctors

Medical science has found in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and hastens its passage through and out of the body. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Let your infant or child have Nujol regularly, and see rosy cheeks, clear eyes and happiness return once more.

Nujol is used in children's and general hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world.

Carnation Has the Taste of Purity

Why is Carnation the purest and safest milk you can buy? Because it is hermetically sealed, then sterilized.

And that accounts for that distinctive taste—the taste of purity.

This characteristic taste is not evident in your cooked foods, but you will find a greatly improved flavor in all dishes in which this wholesome milk is used. It adds a creamy smoothness and improves texture, because Carnation is pure, fresh milk evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization.

Sold by grocers everywhere at moderate prices—order several tall (16 oz.) cans or by the case of 48 cans.

Many Tempting, Savory Dishes

Mary Blake's Carare to be found in nation Recipe Book. Thirty-two packed pages of delightful recipes yours for the asking—free. Send the coupon below and try these recipes:

FISH CROQUETTES

2 cups cold cooked fish, 1 cup white sauce No. 2, salt, pepper. Pull fish apart in small pieces, using fork. Season with salt and pepper and add to white sauce No. 2. (See recipe below). Then put on plate and cool. Shape, roll in crumbs, then in slightly beaten egg and again in bread crumbs and fry in deep fat. Drain and garnish with parsley. This serves six people.

CARNATION WHITE SAUCE No. 2

4 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, ⅔ cup water, ⅔ cup Carnation Milk, ½ teaspoon salt. Melt butter until it stops bubbling, stir in flour and mix thoroughly. Add milk and water, stirring until thick and smooth. Add seasoning.

GOODS THAT MERIT PATRONAGE

Mrs. M. J. Turton, of New Westminster, in a letter dated January 31, 1925, says she has bought Made-in-B.C. goods for the past two months. Price she finds in many cases lower; quality exceptionally good.

Mrs. Turton touched upon a vital point. The B.C. Products Bureau is behind the goods that have price and merit and patronage of the people is asked only for the best.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

WE are satisfied that the major portion of the little and big troubles that come to us are the result of misunderstandings, or in other words, too much static.

You do something we do not understand, and we immediately charge you with being crooked, or if we are inclined to be halfway fair about it, we at least ascribe to you wrong motives.

We have made a rule, and this one we are going to live up to. We are never going to charge anybody with anything until we thoroughly understand the situation.

If anything happens that seems to us to be wrong, we are going to see the party personally if possible and talk it over, but if the distance is too great for personal contact, we are going to write him and give him an opportunity to explain before we fly off the track and undoubtedly lose a personal or business friend.

In this way we know we are going to tune out of our life very much by way of static or misunderstanding.

THE common or garden variety of householder is now coming into his own. Others may shine in the various other seasons, but when April comes, with its promise of May, June, then the man who knows how to do things around the yard becomes a citizen of paramount importance. You may know a great deal about stocks and bonds, but what do you know about seeds and bulbs? You may know much about a straight business policy, but can you plow a straight furrow? If you cannot manipulate a hoe in the spring time, of what avail is it to you as a citizen that you can pilot a straight eight? But if you can make two potatoes grow where none grew before, or can induce a green onion to bob itself above the green sward where before was only grass, you are entitled to the distinguished service cross of domesticity.

RIDDLECOME, riddlecome rocket! What does a small boy carry in his pocket? A recent inventory of a Fernie boy's trousers pockets, which were bulging almost to the bursting point with a collection of curious articles, revealed the following: Nine peanuts, a motor cycle wrench, a rubber band, a radiator drain plug, a pair of pliers, two ornamental harness rings, a tire valve core, a stub pencil, large button, a pair of leather gloves, ditto cotton, a celluloid hairpin, two lead weights for fishing lines, and an illustrated page from a magazine, a button from a marine blouse, a leather shoelace, a small stove bolt, a large flat washer, a stove hinge rivet, a tenpenny nail, two matches and a spring from an oscillating magneto.

* * * * * *

SEVENTY million towels were stolen from Pullman cars last year and all by passengers. What an underhand overhead!

HOT X BUNS
35c PER DOZEN.

Good Friday comes but once a year and no one would consider the day complete without Hot X Buns to serve on your table, especially those the Crow's Nest Bakery make, for they are delicious. Those who had them last year know and those who did not missed a treat. Get some this year.

Nothing but the BEST goes into them—Raisins, Currants, Peel, Butter, Eggs, Spices, etc.

We start to bake them tomorrow—will be fresh every day.

With our BEST we give away one Easter Basket with Eggs and Chicken to everyone who pays for an order of Four Dozen Hot X Burns on Saturday.

Leave your order any time now, so that you will be sure of your Hot X Buns. Last year we could not supply the demand, so get your orders in early.

Don't forget the Children because they like Hot X Buns on Good Friday morning.

We have a good shipment of Easter Chocolate Eggs so send your kiddies to get value for their money.

LOCAL & GENERAL

Mrs. W. R. Wilson is spending a couple of weeks in Fernie.

Miss Jean Corsan, who has been ill, is able to be around again.

Mrs. G. G. Moffatt is visiting her brother, who is seriously ill at the coast.

Harry Cox, manager of the Fernie-Fort Steele Brewery, spent several days this week on business in Michel.

"Come Out of the Kitchen," April 15 and 16. Tickets selling fast. Procure yours now. Plan at McLean's Drug Store, April 11.

The Rebekah degree team will meet for practice in the I. O. O. F. Hall on Sunday, April 5, at 7.30 p.m.

Stafford Wilson left on Wednesday for Seattle, where he will meet his family, who have been spending the winter in California.

All Past Grands of the I.O.O.F. Hall requested to be present in the lodge room on Sunday next, April 5, at 4 p.m. sharp.

Mrs. F. Waters, of the Crow's Nest Trading Co. staff, has resigned her position and will leave in a few days for Spokane, where she will reside in future.

Grant Smith, of Vancouver, who has been in the city visiting relatives, expects to leave in a few days for Montreal, where he will go into the cotton and silk business.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Trites arrived in town on Sunday from the coast. They came in with M. Costello, Great Northern Traffic Manager, of Seattle. They left again on Thursday for Vancouver.

Easter Dance, under the auspices of the Loyal Order of Moose, in Victoria Hall, on Monday, April 13. Refreshments. Dancing 9 to 1. Evans 5-piece orchestra. $1.50 per couple. Single gents $1. Extra lady 50c. 2t

The regular monthly meeting of the Fernie District Rod & Gun Club will be held in the council chamber on Tuesday next, April 7, at 8 p.m. A hearty invitation is extended to all interested to attend. All members are requested to be present. Business: Annual meeting, election of officers, and other important matters.

On Wednesday, April 8, the Past Grands and Third Degree members of the I.O.O.F. will compete in putting on the Initiatory Degree. After the competition supper will be served and a short program of songs will be rendered. All members and visiting brothers are requested to be present.

On Monday, April 13, the One Four Periott Troop will appear at the Grand Theatre. This organization is composed of selected artists, many of whom have appeared before His Majesty the King and other crowned heads in Europe, and while they are comparatively unknown here, those who have seen them are loud in their praises. Their performance is one of the biggest laughs ever put over, so don't fail to take it in.

We are advised by W. H. Gates, local collector of customs and excise, that persons and firms who are required to file income tax returns will now file their returns and make their payments at the local customs office. This arrangement will be more convenient to the public, as heretofore returns had to be forwarded to Vancouver. Income taxes are due and payable on or before April 30 and payments and returns should be attended to this month if penalties are to be avoided.

Editor W. J. Bartlett of the Blairmore Enterprise is in the city today. He says that the miners of the Pass, Coleman, Blairmore and Hillcrest, are quietly negotiating with their different companies for a new wage agreement and it will not be long before work will be renewed with a rush in that district.

All those hotels which have been granted beer licenses are being put in shape as rapidly as possible. The King Edward and the Napanee have almost completed arrangements and all the others are under way. Some of those who did not receive licenses have spent a lot of money in anticipation, for instance, the proprietor of the Royal is reported to have spent nearly $1000 on repairs and equipment for the proposed beer parlor.

While Mrs. Wm. Huric, of Hosmer, was bathing her five weeks old baby boy last Saturday morning, an open safety pin fell from her dress into the baby's mouth and before it could be recovered had passed down his throat. He was rushed to the Fernie Hospital, where the doctor succeeded in extracting the pin from his pharynx, leaving him none the worse for his adventure.

We understand that the C.N.P. Coal Co. employees and the local doctors have reached an amicable arrangement and that the Fernie Hospital wil be opened as a public hospital under the Act on or about April 15. The committee who have had the negotiations in hand will report to a meeting of the employees in the Isis theatre on Sunday evening. The hospital will be in the hands of a local board of trustees appointed by the government. The settlement of this vexed question will be a source of relief to every citizen of the town, as we have been too long without the services of a public hospital.

LOST—Lady's gold wrist watch. Finder will be rewarded by leaving at this office.

FOR SALE OR LEASE—90 acres of Farm Land between Fernie and Hosmer. Easy terms. Apply George Quail.

"MERCIFUL" KILLING

Sufferers from incurable, or supposedly incurable, disease may be pardoned if they feel a bit nervous or fidgety when they see a loving relative approaching, if they have been reading the papers. News items of the past few weeks have featured instances where pity for suffering, which it appears could be ended only by death, has led several people here and abroad to kill their loved ones, who were in agony. These cases revive the question whether it is morally right to take the life of one suffering from a torturing and incurable disease. It was at his own request that Mlle. Stanislaw Uminska, a young Polish actress, shot and killed her fiancee, Jean Zinowski, as he lay in a bed in a Paris hospital, slowly dying of cancer. "I killed him through mercy and pity for his sufferings," she testified in court. "Often when he realized that all hope for recovery must be abandoned, he begged me to put an end to his martrydom. I always refused." But when, day after day, she saw him writhing in pain on the bed that she felt would eventually be his death bed ,she could not longer resist his plea. The jury acquitted her in three minutes. Now, we are told, Paris is realizing the truth of the legal argument that there is danger in the precedent of acquittal, for closely upon the heels of the Uminska "crime of charity" came a second. Anna Virginie Levasseur, a dressmaker, shot and killed her sister, who was suffering from a disease doctors had pronounced "incurable." Not long afterward a similar "pity murder" occurred in Cresco, Iowa. Will Duncan, a West Point graduate, shot and killed his aged parents because they were a "burden to themselves and to their relatives," and then ended his own life. Those who are influenced by strong religious convictions are, of course, unalterably opposed to the thought of taking human life for any such reason as influenced Mlle. Uminska, comments the Philadelphia Record. However, we are told, many men of science approve the act of "benevolent annihilation." But the Record thinks that no country, not even France, will ever pass such legislation as would legalize the taking of life when science has failed to relieve suffering and effect a cure. The question has come up countless times.

It may seem humane to many that suffering, especially when death is imminent, should be relieved as it was relieved in these cases, observes the Jersey Journal. "But if this were to be the rule, one can readily see that 'crimes of charity' would broaden. There would be many loopholes through a murderer at heart could escape punishment." "Those who have pains," cautions the Indianapolis News, "had better be careful about mentioning them, because some tender-hearted husband or wife may get the revolver or shotgun rather than call the doctor or see what sort of home remedy is available."

In spite of what it terms the overwhelming arguments in favor of legalized death in particular cases, the Hartford Times thinks that the risk is too great to make this solution a matter of general acceptance. "The feeling that life is sacred and that nobody has a right, in any circumstances, to limit the allotted span of another human being is too strong to be set aside—for the simple reason that it is a feeling based upon sense and reason." It is possible, says the New York World, to mistake the conditions which may seem to justify the arbitrary ending of a life. "And a mistake here is irrevocable." The Columbus Ohio State Journal remarks that "we are having enough of murder in these days without trumping up any excuses for it." Other papers caution us against the grim possibilities which woud be opened up if such a method of dispensing mercy were permitted and became general, and the Pittsburgh Times says, "it is a matter of grave doubt whether the point will ever be reached where society will concede the right of hastening death as an act of mercy, though juries may adjudge not guilty those who may usurp the authority."

HOW TO TAKE A CALL DOWN

A story from life that has a big kick in it for the man or woman who grasps its moral which is nothing more nor less than that Anything one has to do—whether it be the so called little things of office work, the routine of the drafting board, selling, or the details of steam fitting—is worth doing well. Carefulness, neatness, intelligence pay big dividends.

When Jimmy Wise got called down by the boss for carelessness in pinning papers together, he didn't get mad or sulk, but said:

"I'm going to be an expert in this paper-pinning business. I am going to specialize on paper-pinning."

And he did. He learned just how to pin papers neatly in the upper left-hand corner of the sheet so that the papers underneath could be read without removing the pin. He learned to fasten the pin so that it would stay fastened. He learned how to handle it so that it would be least likely to scratch an innocent hand which in routine of office procedure was forced in immediate juxtaposition with it. He learned when a clip was necessary, when a binder post, when an envelope, when a manilla folder, when one of the numerous devices available for fastening papers would be best adapted to the purpose on hand.

He saw that he could not be a real expert at pinning papers unless he knew just how to place them in order, so he studied the science of filing—anyone or anything to the contrary notwithstanding, filing is an intricate, interesting, and important science—and he became an artist at not merely the alphabetical and territorial and numerical files, but in decimal systems, symbols and classifications, and other programs. He soon found that in order to be a master of filing he had to develop a logical mind and a knowledge of logic, as well as a knowledge of many other things in the penumbra of filing knowledge.

He early saw the need for speed in pinning papers and acquired it. He saw the need for acquiring accuracy. He acquired it by pains-taking care and attention. He developed neatness. A sense of responsibility came next. Then he learned to respect and to like to do the work. Strange, isn't it, that folks like to do what they can do very well?

Then the whole world began to notice Jimmie the office boy, Jimmie the Wise. Incidentally, the boss who had called him down began to get a vision of the precision and dispatch with which Jimmie worked, and of the skill and accuracy and interest and reliability and energy that displayed themselves in everything that he did.

He had become an expert.

He had developed the ability to execute orders—one of the best ends of executive ability.

He had learned to control himself.

He had learned how to pin papers.

He had learned how to take a calling down.

Such Facts as These Are the Buyer's Best Guide

Wherever you go the number of new good Maxwells in the hands of contented owners is a common sight. The car's popularity and success are beyond question, for the facts that substantiate them are in evidence everywhere.

What makes one car so obviously favored over all others in its field? Naturally there must be factors in its performance, there must be exceptional dependability and economy, to commend it so heartily to the buyer.

Let's see what you get out of the new good Maxwell. Three things alone indicate how far Maxwell-Chrysler engineers have advanced beyond ordinary conceptions of four-cylinder results and they can be found combined in no other four. They are: 58 miles an hour, 5 to 25 miles in 8 seconds and 30 miles to a gallon of gasoline.

Then there are, in addition, riding qualities you have never before experienced in a car of this class. The car rides and drives so easily and comfortably you can remain at the wheel all day without fatigue.

Summed up, it is really a question of values—superior values that only a great organization with exceptional experience and resources can create at the new good Maxwell price. These superior values can be quickly demonstrated if you will give us the opportunity.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Maxwell's attractive plan. Maxwell dealers and superior Maxwell service everywhere.

I guarantee every egg shipped out to come from the matings as ordered and as represented by this ad. All infertile eggs will be replaced free if tested out not later than the 14th day and returned to me in the same package in which they were sent. By infertile eggs I do not mean eggs with dead germs. I take special pains in packing eggs in the very best possible way to assure safe arrival. Eggs are not sent out from pens that are not running strong in fertility, as proved by tests in my own hatchings. However, there are hundreds of things that may happen to eggs after they leave my hands, which will result in poor hatches, and if not what you consider a satisfactory hatch, entire order will be replaced at half price. ROD & GUN CLUB MEETING

The annual meeting of the Fernie District Rod and Gun Club was held in the council chamber on Tuesday evening and was well attended by local sportsmen. The main feature of the meeting was the reading of the secretary's report for the season of 1924, outlining the work done, which was probably one of the most successful years in the history of the organization.

Through the persistent efforts of the local Club they were successful in having considerable work done in the way of restocking the streams and other waters of this district. In co-operation with the officials of the Dept. of Fisheries, close to half a million eyed eggs and fry were placed in the water of the Fernie district, comprising the following species: Eastern Brook Trout, Cut Throat Trout, and Kamloops Trout, commonly known as Landlocked Salmon. This work was done at considerable expense, the funds being raised by public subscription and membership dues. More or less difficulty was experienced in raising this money owing to adverse conditions existing at that time, but in spite of this there was only a small deficit. The membership for the past year was probably the largest in the history of the organization, being over the hundred mark, thus showing that the work undertaken by the local Club is appreciated by our local sportsmen. Taking all matters into consideration the year just closed was one of the most successful from all viewpoints.

Hon. President—A. B. Trites.
Hon. Vice-President—T. H. Cox.
President—J. C. Carnwath.
Vice-President—W. Baldrey.
Secretary—F. Denison.
Executive Committee—T. Prentice, A. Frearson, G. Larner, R. Crowe, W. Reid, Harvey Wallace, Harry Page, Coal Creek.
Fish Committee—M. Tully, chairman, T. Prentice, Guy Johnston.
Game Committee — W. Baldrey, chairman; G. Larner, A. Frearson.

A very considerable program of restocking of streams is to be carried out again this year, it being hoped to place a million fish in local waters, which will mean considerable work and expense. An energetic membership campaign is again being started, and it is up to every sportsman to help the good work along by becoming a member. The annual fee is only $1.00.

CYTHEREA NOTABLE FOR ITS PICTURE ART

Preceded by a chorus of praise such as few pictures can boast, "Cytherea," Goddess of Love, a First National picture, is coming to the Orpheum Theatre on Wednesday next for a two day engagement. This picturization of Joseph Hergesheimer's renowned novel has been characterized as the most notable contribution to the cinematic art because of the unique touches which have been injected into it by George Fitzmaurice, who produced and personally directed it for Samuel Goldwyn.

Among these unusual features is a color scheme that is used to emphasize the emotional efforts of the players. Three different hues are employed to bring out the moods of the episodes, vitalizing them to a degree heretofore unknown.

Then there is the story. So unusual was the plot and so difficult to visualize did it appear to the ordinary director, that Mr. Fitzmaurice was the only one with courage enough to attempt the task. The result is that there are innovations of acting and direction that will make the picture talked of for years. Delicate situations have been handled with an uncanny skill. "Cytherea" proves that the motion picture possesses a scope of delineation that hitherto had been unexplored.

In the cast are such popular favorites as Lewis S. Stone, Alma Rubens, Norman Kerry, Irene Rich, Constance Bennett, Betty Bouton, Charles Wellesley and Lydia Yeamans Titus.

Coal Creek people may reserve their seats for "Come Out of the Kitchen" at either of the following places: McLean's Drug Store, Fernie, or Trites-Wood Co. store, Coal Creek. Seats on sale Saturday, April 11.

THE MUSICAL ECKHARDTS

The Musical Eckhardts, Swiss bell ringers and variety entertainers, will appear at the Grand on Friday evening, April 17. Since their last visit to Fernie about eight years ago the Eckhardts have been touring Eastern Canada and the New England States, where they secured some new performers, who will be seen with the company here in an entire change of program. Besides the large peal of bells (160 in number) the company perform on xylophones, saxaphones, brass and string instruments, musical glasses and other novelties. Bernard Eckhardt, comedian with the party, will entertain with songs, monologues and character sketches.

CROW'S NEST COAL COMING

(Vancouver Sun)

Since the settlement of the coal miners' strike at Fernie and work at the mines has been resumed, Fernie coal has been coming into this city in large shipments.

Fernie coke is also finding a market here, in competition with coke from various foreign ports.

Despite the fact that the Crow's Nest coal is paying $4.20 a ton freight, it is being loaded in this city and sold in competition with coast coals.

W. R. Wilson, president of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, is developing the Western route for this coal and has been very successful in expanding business on the Coast.

To assist in the bringing of Fernie coal to the coast the Great Northern Railway Company has reduced the freight a little and it now goes through the United States in bond, coming back here by way of Blaine.

Representatives of the Fernie coal interests are negotiating to put bunkers in this port for the coaling of ships.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor Fernie Free Press:

Dear Sir—It is not very often that I have the pleasure of writing to your paper but I would like to inform some of your readers and others of the amount of gall that our represenative of the Fernie Electoral district has got. Of course we all know that he had a little or he would not have run for this seat as a labor member after already contesting it as a Conservative. Not many months ago we could observe our representative shaking hands with Bill. and saying, that's the way to give it to them. This, of course, after a meeting of miners in the Orpheum theatre in June, and it seems to me that Tommy has thrust himself into the limelight ever since, but I would warn him that the said light is beginning to grow dim, and he will grow dim with it. Of course he did get away with getting relief for a few members of a foreign organization in the shape of road work, and of course it was the supporters of Tommy who got the jobs. Now, after all the ado about the strike, and when things are getting nicely settled in and around Fernie as regards work, he is up in arms again. He stages a silent so called demonstration, but Tommy could not keep quiet; he had to spoil it and shout: Remember, boys, when you stood in this same position in 1911. Now, I wondered for a time just what he meant by those words. It sure got me guessing for a time, but I think I got his meaning, and if the men of Coal Creek mines had understood it right, I think Tommy could have looked out for trouble. Now again he takes a trip to Michel and suggests to the men that they throw down their tools for a matter of 48 hours to try and force the hand of the Coal Co. in a matter of Fernie local affairs, and I think the men of Michel deserve every credit for turning down such an outrageous proposal from the representative of this district. Now, Mr. Editor, don't you think it time that this was put a stop to? Why not business people and employees get together and remove the obstruction out of the path of prosperity. I think we have stood for this long enough. If this man thinks he is going to run this district for a few of his supporters, then he will find himself much mistaken. Hoping I have not taken up too much space in your paper, I will sign myself,

Man on the Fence.

PASS CAMPS BREAK AWAY

Blairmore and Bellevue have broken away from the United Mine Workers and signed separate agreements with the companies operating those camps. The agreements are practically the same as the ones in operation at Fernie and Michel, with the exception that the day men receive a little larger wage and the contract miners a little lower rate than in Fernie and Michel.

The vote at Blairmore was: For acceptance 150; against 58; spoiled 4; not voting 100.

At Bellevue the vote was: For acceptance 157; against 101.

The miners at Hillcrest and Coleman have turned down the proposition in their respective camps.

New unions will be formed at Blairmore and Bellevue and the men are looking forward to about five days' work a week.

The only remark that President Bill Sherman would make about the break was that those operators would be sorry.

CENTRALIZING THE INTERIOR

Cranbrook Herald— Under the proposals now being considered by the government, ostensibly for the more central administration of the affairs of the district Cranbrook seems in a fair way to lose two of the branches offices that have hitherto been charged with the administration of business in connection with their affairs, being responsible only to Victoria. In the case of the forestry office, there does not seem to be any economical grounds upon which the proposed change can be recommended. An office will have to be maintained here, and the only advantage apparent is that at least a degree of the authority that has hitherto had to be sought from Victoria may now be had in Nelson. Against this can be set the fact that less authority in the conduct of affairs will be persumably be left here. Nelson is a long way from Cranbrook when an emergency arises, and further still from Fernie, and considering that this district is one of the biggest revenue producers from forest products in the interior of the province, it would only seem reasonable to suppose that it would justify slightly higher expenditure in administrating it. But after all, if economy with no less efficiency can be shown from the change, it would show poor spirit to question the wisdom of any such change.

MINERS REFUSE TO RUN THIS MINE

London, April 7.—No fewer than 120 colleries in England and Scotland have closed down since the beginning of the year involving the acceptance of the unemployment dole by 20,000 workmen. The latest to cease operation is the Weyerly colliery in Staffordshire, employing 700 men.

Wm. Davies, of Liverpool, owner of the Little Nelson colleries in Cheshire who lost £250 weekly and a total of £60,000 on the operation of his mines, made an offer to the men to let them work the mine for themselves for nine months, the workers to keep any profit that might be made, while he would contribute £50 weekly toward any possible loss. The district miners' federation looked interestedly at the offer but apparently they intend to refuse it.

There has even been some talk of organizing guarantee funds amongst the loyal tradesmen, etc., to help the miners accept the offer, for the closing of the mine involved a weekly wage loss to the village of £700. Meanwhile the pit is already being dismantled. The joint committee of owners and miners representing the whole industry are resuming their conferences next week.

PROGRESS OF PREMIER MINE

British Columbia's most profitable mine and the only one of its kind in Canada, is always a subject of paramount interest with those engaged in the mineral industry. The annual report of the Premier Gold Mining Co., Limited, is to hand, and the home of the company appears on the title page as "Vancouver, B.C.,"

The report covers the fiscal year to December, 1924, and is signed by Mr. H. A. Guess as vice-president and managing director. A Canadian by birth and education, Mr. Guess began his active mining career in Southern British Columbia, where he still owns a prospect that he believes will yet prove to have possibilities. Since those days he has climbed to the topmost rung of the mining ladder, and controls the operations of the American Smelting and Refining Company and its subsidary companies from the Yukon to South America.

The Premier Gold Mining Co., Lt'd is one of these subsidiaries, and the best profit-earner of the twenty-five mining and metallurgical companies controlled by the A.S & R..

The production of the Premier Mine for the year was 159,014 oz. gold, 3,0455,382 oz. silver and 452,-000 lb. lead—the second highest in the history of the company . The following are the figures showing the values taken out since 1918 :

1918	$3,816
1919	135,560
1920	122,909
1921	1,900,000
1022	4,782,885
1923	3,252,917
1924	3,857,328
Total	$14,051,599

Persistent reports have been in circulation that a large body of rich ore has been struck in the new No. 6 level, run from the site of the old Bunting tunnel, and giving a depth of 1,500 feet on the ore zone. The company's report specifically refutes this statement, so commonly circulated by promoters of companies interested in adjacent mines.

Additional ore has, however, been found along the main northeastern ore zone, on which the company has carried on its operations from the beginning and at the intersection of the northwest vein with the main ore zone. These discoveries have not, however, increased the ore reserves, merely compensating for the amount of ore mined from year to year.

Exploration in the Pictu and other claims to the south failed to develope any ore. The southwestern extension of the main ore zone will be explored during the current year.

The ore reserves are placed at $11,936,706.

Diamond drilling indicates 146,000 tons more, averaging $7.80 in gold and 3.2 oz in silver.

During the year a regrinding and retreatment plant was added to the mill to take care of the table concentrates formerly shipped to the smelter, reducing freight and smelting costs. An improvement in recoveries was also effected by the new flotation reagents. The mill treated 61,965 tons of ore during the past year as compared with 57,796 tons for the previous year.

A raise of 550 feet has been put through to No. 4 level from the low level known as No. 6, and an intermediate between that level and No. 4 is to be driven to explore that ore zone at a depth of about 1150 feet.

During the year15,838 feet of diamond drilling was done. Drifts and raises aggregated 7,333 feet. Underground workings now aggregate about five miles, while 51,382 feet of diamond drilling has been done.

Plans for this year include the extension of the mill and power plant. While the report does not say so the writer knows the company will produce this year the largest output of gold and silver in the history of the mine.

A notable fact about the Premier is the concentration of the mineral values in the main ore zones within the limits of the property. While the company had options and made large payment on adjoining claims, it has not been able to find any ore of commercial value outside its present boundaries.

This is the usual experience in mining. Nature concentrates her efforts in ore deposition at one place, and that the most favorable. It is rare that extensions on veins or ore zones prove of value in developing other mines.

British Columbia has only one Le Roi-Centre Star group, only one St. Eugene, only one Knob Hill, only one Surf Inlet, only one Hidden Creek, only one Nickel Plate in their respective localities, though it is a popular fallacy among prospectors and promoters that where there is one good mine others most be found immediately adjacent thereto. The history of mining teaches a contrary lesson.

Whether the Sullivan Mine ore deposits will be repeated to the north west remains to be seen, and an English company is taking steps to ascertain.

No mine in the province has distributed so large a portion of its production in dividends. These aggregate to date $7,049,125.

The directors and officers of the company are Mr. R. W. Wood, Fernie, president ; Mr. H. A. Guess, New York, vice-president ; Messrs R. K. Neill, Spokane; W. R. Wilson, Fernie ; I. Untermeyer, and W. E. Bennett, New York, directors ; Mr. H. C. Hewetson, of Toronto General Trusts Corporation, Vancouver, assistant secretary ; Mr. Dale L. Pitt, general manager ; Mr. Bert F. Smith assistant general manager.

Here and There

A total of 1,003,672 barrels of apples have been shipped to the English market from Halifax since the beginning of the shipping season up to February 24. London took 354,715 barrels and Liverpool and Manchester came second and third with 267,-823 and 172,685 barrels respectively.

Eighty-four thousand automobiles are now being operated by citizens of the Province of Quebec equivalent to an average upkeep of $300 per year each, a total expenditure for maintenance alone of $25,000,000 every year, according to figures supplied by the Montreal Automobile Trade Association.

Around 16,000 horses were shipped from western Canada to eastern Canada in 1924, most of them coming from Saskatchewan. This province is maintaining its lead as the greatest horse-breeding centre of the Dominion, with a total of 1,170,745 head, an increase of 33.44 per cent over 1923.'

The steamship "Princess Marguerite" successfully passed her trials on Clydebank when she developed an average speed of 22.56 knots and a best run of 23.2 knots per hour. Together with the "Princess Kathleen" she will be used on the Seattle-Vancouver-Victoria route this coming season.

Monsignor Heylen, Bishop of Namur, Belgium, and permanent president of the Eucharistic Congress, arrived at St. John, N.B., last week on the "Montrose." His Lordship was on his way to Chicago where he will make preparations for the Congress, to be held there in June, 1926.

Ivan Shvegel, Canadian Pacific Railway representative in Jugoslavia, interviewed here recently, stated that his countrymen were 88 per cent. agriculturists and that he felt "certain that in the mutual interests of both countries the future will, in the field of immigration, lead to closer and closer relations between Canada and the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes."

A romance of the peerage and the steerage was personified by F. E. Bailey, grandson of the late Lord Glanusk, who arrived at St. John, N.B., last week among the third-class passengers on the "Montrose." Bailey, who is just 17 years of age, was so struck with Canada that he ran away from Bray Court College at Maidenhead and after a number of adventures realized his ambition by sailing on the "Montrose."

The largest batch of Clydesdale horses that has ever sailed from the Clyde, valued at £10,000, was embarked recently on the "Marloch." It consisted of 14 stallions and 3 fillies, and there were also ten Percherons from Antwerp on the "Marburn," while ten more Percherons and Belgians will be shipped at a later date. The horses were purchased by Mr. W. J. McCallum, of Brampton, Ontario, and Brandon, Manitoba.

George E. Buchanan, of Detroit, believes in romance. He believes in it so much that last year he took 48 Detroit boys for a trip to Alaska. This year he is going to take a good many more and he will include Canadian youngsters. He has been visiting in Toronto and his object is to find some boys willing to take a holiday in the Far North next July. Mr. Buchanan, who was born near Chatham in Ontario, has developed this unique hobby owing to having himself been taken on a trip to Alaska forty years ago when he was a boy.

TARIFF COMMISSION

The tariff changes announced in the latest Federal Budget will add about $1,000,000 to the country's revenue. In order to explain these and to review the finances of the country in a general way, Mr. Robb, the acting Finance Minister, made a lengthy speech which was mostly confined to generalities. One critic says "the mountain laboured and brought forth a mouse," and the virdict is that the latest budget will in no sense help the situation. There is no relief for income tax payers. There is no remedy proposed to prevent the leakage of population to the United States. On the tariff question, so far as any future radical alterations may be anticipated, the government admits impotency because it provides an appropriation to have a tariff commission in order to tell what it should do.

It was a feeble budget in every respect. The government does not accept the responsibility of deciding what its future actions will be in the matter of tariff changes. It prefers to shelve that responsibility on to a commission, just as it shelved the responsibility of deciding whether there should be a pulpwood embargo, or not. As in the latter case, the new commission, probably one of the most costly to be appointed, would be well within its rights in reporting that the question of deciding on taxation and tariff changes is one inherent in the elected representatives of the people. Presumably too, it will be a Liberal Commission, or perhaps one whose personnel is drawn from the Liberal-Progressive ranks, so that it will conduct an "impartial investigation" of taxation and tariffs with preconceived notions and prejudices as to what should be done. There never was a Prime Minister of this country so prone to ask others to do do what is strictly and rigidly the right and the duty of the government itself. — Colonist.

His Hearing Restored

The invisible ear drum invented by A. O. Leonard, which is a miniature megaphone, fitting inside the ear entirely out of sight, is restoring the hearing of hundreds of people in New York city. Mr. Leonard invented this drum to relieve himself of deafness and head noises, and it does it so successfully that no one can tell he is a deaf man. It is effective when deafness is caused by catarrh or by wholly destroyed natural drums. A request for information to A. O. Leonard, Suite 436, 70 Fifth Ave., New York City, will be given a prompt reply. [Adv.

DOBBIN ON SNOWSHOES IN ROCKIES

Taking heavy load to Phoenix Mines. Inset, Horse on snowshoes. Right Top, Country that Trail Riders Traverse.

IT looks funny and it sounds even funnier, but after all why not? It is bad enough to carry 140 pounds on two feet in deep snow. Figure for yourself what it would be like to quintuple the poundage even though it is distributed over double the human allowance of footage.

This genial idea was put into practice by Walter J. Nixon member of the Council of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies and it was found to work out quite well. In the particular instance shown in the cuts, the task was to break the trail through deep snows to the Phoenix mine in British Columbia and this onerous task would have been impossible without some such device as the one depicted.

The idea of the Trail Riders Order came into being one rainy day last summer on a bed of white heather under a tent in the Canadian Rockies about 7,000 feet above sea level. There were present or nearby about 28 saddle or pack horses and 14 trail riders who had ridden or fished along the Kootenay from the Crossing to the river's unmapped source in Warfield Basin and had landed on the plateau beside Tumbling Glacier at the head of the Wolverine Pass. It was there and then decided to form the Order and buttons were awarded to those who had travelled distances on the trail from 2,500 miles down to as low as fifty miles. Among the 2,500 mile button holders is Mr. Nixon.

The first Pow-Wow of the Order was held last summer in the Yoho Valley and with the co-operation of the Canadian Pacific Railway accommodation at the Bungalow Camp at Takakkaw Falls was supplemented with twenty Indian tepees and a large circular tent decorated as a Sun Dance Lodge. It was expected that 150 people would be present, but actually no fewer than 207 were counted at the inauguration. It was at this function that the bronze plaque of Tom Wilson, one of the outstanding old-time guides of the Canadian Rockies, was unveiled.

The next Pow-Wow will it is stated take place early in August of this year beside Wapta Bungalow Camp after a three day (45 mile) cross-country ride from Marble Canyon on the Banff-Windermere Road. The trail to be used calls at the Vermilion Paint Pots, climbs up Tumbling Creek to the Wolverine Plateau where it connects with a new trail over the High Alps east of Helmit and Goodsir, and after dropping down to Goodsir Creek rises again alongside McArthur Pass to Lake O'Hara and so to Wapta. This route traverses some of the most spectacular scenery in the world.

Membership in the Order of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies has increased greatly in the first year of its formation. At the August Pow-Wow there should be nearer a thousand than the 200 odd participants in the function last year.

Organized and civilized society must have been terribly schocked when it read that story about the doings of certain aboriginal tribes in the frigid north. Those pagans, or sun worshippers, or whatever they may be from a theological point of view, kill off their girl babies as soon as they are born. Boy babies are not treated so harshly, it seems. Boy babies are likely to prove more useful, probably are considered more capable of fending for themselves. Therefore they are permitted to live and take their chances in the battle which is constantly waged against the elements and conditions up there.

At the same time we read a day or two ago another story which did not originate in the far or the frigid North. It was a story about a meeting of a society of learned men and wise women, and that meeting took place in one of the centres of modern civilization. The members of that learned society discussed the delicate question of birth control. Learned and wise women took as prominent a part as learned and advanced men in that discussion. They proposed to avert wars and famines and all the ills that beset humanity by killing babies, boys and girls alike, before they were born instead of after they were born. Now, as the fool said, what is the difference between the theories of highly civilized society and the conduct of the benighted barbarians of the frigid north.

FACTS ABOUT TEA SERIES—No. 2

Tea Production Today

If the Chinese, who first discovered tea, had realized the possibilities of the trade and had studied the nature and requirements of the plant, China might still be the largest tea producing country. Centuries of neglect, however, stunted the growth and caused the quality to deteriorate. In the mountains of Ceylon and India, tea was found to flourish. Scientific methods of cultivation and manufacture were introduced with remarkable results. Now the finest tea grown in the world and by far the largest quantity comes from these countries. "SALADA" is mainly blended from flavoury India and Ceylon teas.

His aching back relieved

"I suffered with aching back which interfered with my work on the railroad. It was so bad that I had to give up my work for about two months. Then I started using Gin Pills. I got relief in four days so that I could go back to work."

Delbert Page,
169 Masten St., Buffalo, N.Y.

Laxatives do not overcome constipation

LAXATIVES and cathartics provide temporary relief only. Their continued use leads to permanent injury. In time, says an eminent physician, an almost incalculable amount of harm is done by the use of pills, salts, mineral waters, castor oil and the like.

Physicians advise lubrication for Internal Cleanliness

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt the habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

VACCINATION REGULATIONS

The regulations passed by the Provincial government for the protection of the community against smallpox are briefly stated below:

Whenever any householder knows or suspects that any person within his household has smallpox, he shall immediately, by special messenger when possible, give notice to the Medical Health Officer.

Whenever any physician knows or suspects that any person whom he is called upon to visit is infected with or has died of smallpox, he shall immediately notify the Medical Health Officer.

Whenever a teacher in any school has reason to suspect that any pupil is suffering from smallpox, or that smallpox exists at the house of any pupil, he shall notify the Medical Health Officer immediately, and shall prevent the attendance of such pupils until medical evidence that no danger of infection exists has been obtained.

When smallpox is present in the Province, any householder who knows or suspects that any person within his family or household has chickenpox shall immediately notify the Medical Health Officer.

No milk-container shall be returned to any dairy or milk-vendor from a house while under quarantine.

No person from a house in which there is a patient suffering from small-pox shall handle milk, butter, or any other dairy product which is to be sold or given to any party, delivered to any creamery, or butter factory, nor any utensil or container used in connection therewith. Any of these products may be distributed under precautions to be laid down by the Medical Health Officer.

No person shall enter any infected or quarantined house, isolation hospital, or suspect station without the permission of the Medical Health Officer.

Any person refusing to comply with the regulations as to vaccination or revaccination shall be quarantined in his house at his own expense for the full period of the quarantine, then disinfected and released, except in the case of a transient or an occupant of any hotel, rooming house, public lodging house, apartment-house, or other public place,who may be removed to a detention station and detained there. In this case, however, the city, town, or village, or municipal district shall provide the detained person with the necessities of life.

Every resident of this province shall forthwith be vaccinated or produce to the Medical Health Officer of the district or municipality where he or she resides a certificate or proof ofsuccessful vaccination within the preceding two years, or a certificate that such person is at the present insusceptible of vaccination, or a certificate of physical unfitness for vaccination Such certificate shall be from a duly qualified medical practitioner.

It shall be the duty of the school trustees and teachers of all schools (public or private) to see that the provisions of the preceding subsection are forthwith complied with by teachers, janitors, all employees of the school board and by all children attending such schools, high schools or colleges.

The trustees and teachers of all schools (public or private) shall provide that no child shall be permitted to attend school without producing a certificate of succesful vaccination, or that the child is insusceptible to vaccination, or a certificate of physical unfitness.

Section 29 provides that any person who violates any regulation of the Provincial Health Board shall, unless it is otherwise specially provided, be liable for every such offence to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, with or without costs, or to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a term not exceeding six months, or to both fine or imprisonment, in the discretion of the convicting court.

The Provincial government supplies vaccine free of charge and everyone should arrange at once with their own medical attendant to be vaccinated.

Conscientious objectors must make a statutory declaration in order to obtain exemption.

LOCAL & GENERAL

W. R. Wilson returned this morning from a business trip to the coast.

E. Linn, Canadian immigration officer at Newgate, was in town today.

Mrs. Robt. Winstanley, of Michel, underwent a serious operation at the Fernie Hospital last evening.

W. E. Beaudry has recently leased the Central Hotel and has had it thoroughly overhauled and repainted.

Mrs. Thos. Biggs, of Seattle, is spending a couple of weeks in the city, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. L. Donaldson.

H. P. Cann, of the Imperial Bank staff, leaves tonight for Redcliff, Alta., where he will spend the Easter holidays with his parents.

Miss Mary Bell, of Elko, was brought to the city on Wednesday, suffering from a badly sprained ankle.

Don't forget the whist drive and dance at the Catholic Hall, Friday, April 24. Cards from 8 to 10.30. Dancing 11 to 1. Refreshments. Admission 50c.

Mrs. G. Smith, of Toronto, and her son Grant, who have been visiting Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Wilson, for several weeks, left on Wednesday evening for the east.

Max Belecky returned on Monday from Chicago, where he was called owing to the death of a sister. The sister's husband died about a year ago, and Max brought home with him three small children.

A meeting of the Board of Trade is called for Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. in the city hall. Considerable business of importance is to be brought forward and an opportunity will be given to bring any matter of importance to Fernie and district before the board. All members are requested to attend and an invitation is extended to anyone desiring to be present. Th membership fee for the year is $1.00.

Five of the six beer parlors granted licenses under the new Act opened for business on Saturday night last. It was pay night and they all seemed to be doing a rushing business, in fact we have not seen so much hilarity for a long time. However, it is up to the license holders to see that they live within the law or their beer privilege will soon be cut off. The regulation in regard to boys under 21 years will get some of them into serious trouble if they don't be careful.
