SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

POOLEY LEADS CONSERVATIVES

Vancouver, Aug. 10.—R. H. Pooley, member for Esquimalt, was selected leader of the Conservative party in the legislature, by a meeting of 15 out of 17 of the Conservative members yesterday. The other contestant was J. W. Jones of South Okanagan.

Mr. Pooley has been a member of the legislature for many years, and is one of the most popular and respected members of the house.

Decision to co-operate whole-heartedly with the Conservatives and other government opponents in Nelson in opposing Premier Oliver if he ran in Nelson was reached unanimously.

That the Conservative party was determined to oppose any attempt by Premier Oliver to find a seat in the legislature was the announcement made by R. H. Pooley, the newly elected head of the Conservative party, at the conclusion of the meeting.

"The Nelson, or any other bye-election called by the present government will be opposed," declared Mr. Pooley.

He said the meeting was unanimously determined on that point.

"This decision," he continued, "was based on the manner in which the last election was conducted by the government, especially in regard to the absentee vote. The government received only 32 per cent of the votes of the electors, and it is clear that the public want to be rid of Oliverism as speedily as possible."

W. J. Bowser, K.C., attended the opening session, and announced his retirement as leader.

Beyond the statement that Mr. Pooley had been selected as leader, no information was given out.

The Mexican government is reported to be desirous of securing information concerning the latest and most approved methods of conducting elections. For efficiency in getting desired results the system in vogue in this province during the recent election is commended to the consideration of the Mexican officials.

CARE MORE FOR A PUP THAN FOR A CHILD

If a man had a $50 pup he would look after it carefully and not let it have the run of the town day and night. But if he had a child that is different. They are turned loose at a tender year to go where they will and do as they please. People wonder where the great army of tramps, dead beats, gamblers, and disreputable women come from. They are germinated from the seed gathered in countless homes and sown broadcast upon the streets of our cities and towns. There are thousands of children who are heading in that direction, who as far as care is concerned are not given equal showing with a valuable pup.—Stavely Advertiser.

SHADOWS THAT STICK

Freak shadows that do not fade away at once when the objects that cast them are removed, are described by S. Leonard Bastin in St. Nichols (New York.) We read:

"In the great oil-regions of California, pools of crude petroleum are quite commonly seen. Here the oil is allowed to remain until it is stored away in barrels. One of the curiosities of the district is the freak shadow which these ponds of crude oil produce. If, when the sun is shining brightly, a person stands so that his shadow falls across the surface of the petroleum, a very remarkable thing happens. Should the individual change his place, strange to say, the first shadow remains on the oil, while the person casts a second shadow from his new position. The longer the individual has been standing by the oil pond, the longer will the original shadow remain. The explanation of the mystery is simple: Under the influence of the hot sun, gas is freely produced in the crude oil. This rises to the surface in the form of millions of bubbles far too minute to be noticed by the human eye. When a shadow is cast over the surface of the petroleum the temperature is reduced, and this has the effect of checking the production of bubbles. The result is that the shaded area looks different from the part which is exposed to the sun. Now, when the person moves, the temperature of the oil which has been shielded from the sun does not at once get back to its former warmth. It takes a little time to heat, and, until this actually happens, the shadow effect persists, giving the curious appearance which has been described."

Join the Millions of Men who today enjoy better shaves

Less time is used in the Dominion, now, for shaving. And the millions of men who save that time, are also saved sore, irritated faces.

Now we offer you the means to join these millions. To find out what they found out about shaving creams. No expense to you. We pay for the test.

And you will discover why we worked for 18 months, making 130 experiments, perfecting Palmolive Shaving Cream. You'll at once appreciate the 5 distinct ways in which it gives better shaves:

By multiplying itself 250 times in richest lather.

By softening any beard in one minute—without "rubbing."

By the lather that lasts 10 minutes, if necessary.

By that cool, soothed after-feel—the result of carefully blended palm and olive oils.

Millions of men could tell you. But it's more satisfactory to find out for yourself. If the test should fail—we are the only losers.

ONE YEAR TO LIVE

Mary Davis Reed, Hagerstown, was awarded second prize of $25 in the contest recently conducted by the Baltimore Evening Sun. She received the prize for the following answer to the question, "What would you do if you had only one more year to live?"

"If I had but one year to live;
One year to help; one year to give;
One year to love; one year to bless;
One year of better things to stress;
To brighten earth a little while;
One year to sing my Maker's praise;
One year to fill with work my days;
One year to strive for a reward
When I should stand before my Lord,
I think that I would spend each day,
In just the very self-same way
That I do now. For from afar
The call may come to cross the bar
At any time, and I must be Prepared to meet eternity.
So if I have a year to live,
Or just one day in which to give
A pleasant smile, a helping hand,
A mind that tries to understand
A fellow-creature when in need,
'Tis one with me,—I take no heed;
But try to live each day He sends
To serve my gracious Master's ends."

SPEED

(By Walt Mason)

Now and then I meet disaster as I drive my chooing scow, and the surgeon's sticking plaster may be seen upon my brow—the result of going faster than the traffic laws allow. Now and then my speed increases as I scorch along the lanes, and the laws are shot to pieces, with their penalties and pains, and my loving aunts and nieces gather up my torn remains. Nothing happens when I sanely travel at a lawful gait, when my chugmobile is plainly keeping the commandments straight, but there's trouble when I vainly bust the statutes of the state. When I send he old bus rolling fifty-seven miles an hour, I can hear the deathbells tolling in the icy-mantled tower, and the pharmacist, condoling, rubs me with his ointment sour, I go splashing in the ditches when so merrily I spin, and the surgeon sews some stitches in my forehead and my chin, and the undertaker itches for a chance to cop some tin. If we all drive sedately where the stream of traffic flows, going forward slow and stately, as the truly wise man goes, it would surely lessen greatly heavy tasks the sexton knows. But the long white road's before us, we have gasoline galore, and the speed laws only bore us, weary us and make us sore; and the mourners sing in chorus, "They're not lost, but gone before."

The Hostess

WHEREAS under the provisions of the Royalty Act, Chapter 76, Statutes 1914, the royalty on timber to be collected beginning January 1st, 1925, will, from information now available, be more than three times the royalty now being collected,

AND WHEREAS urgent representations have been made that this increase in royalty is much heavier than the industry can bear,

AND WHEREAS the representations made have gone so far as to say that any attempt to collect this royalty beginning January 1st next as upon the basis of the present Royalty Act would immediately result in a shutdown of the entire industry in the Province,

NOTICE is hereby given that a public hearing will be held in the Executive Chamber, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, before the Executive Council or such members thereof as may be then present, beginning at 10 o'clock Wednesday, September 3rd next.

Anyone who has any evidence to submit or representations to make on the question of timber Royalties will be given opportunity to be heard and the public is requested to take notice accordingly.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

BUGS Baer, a well-known newspaper humorist, has written and published a series of "road signs," probably merely intended to entertain. But many of them might be erected with benefit to the safety of traffic.

"Don't run up your mileage with skids," contains a lot of real caution in tabloid form. "Don't do your thinking with brakes," will strike a responsive chord in every man who has had near-nervous prostration at the sight of the reckless driver stopping in a hurry. "There are three grades of eggs, but only one grade of crossing and that's dangerous," ought to be pasted in the hats of all those who try to "beat the train" across its right of way.

"The glass in your windshield is the same stuff they put in hospital windows. Which will you look through?" is a very pertinent query, and "Fifteen miles an hour may be a chill, but fifty is fever," is not too medical to be understood.

To towns troubled with too much speeding by tourists, Mr. Baer suggests "Speed limit in this town fifteen miles an hour. One day for every mile over that!" or "we have seven hotels and one jail, take your pick!"

"Don't try to scare locomotives with your horn," "the minute you save may be your last one," "you wouldn't travel on a freight train, so don't try to travel under one," are all good to remember.

Mr. Baer intended to be funny, and succeeded; he may not have intended to be serious, but many can take his cleverness seriously with benefit to themselves and the general public.

In other words (Mr. Baer once more), "Accident insurance is a good thing to have without the accident."

BREAKING FROM THE UNION

The people of Herrin, Illinois, who are mostly miners, held a mass meeting recently to say that the Union Miners are out of work because their wages are too high. They called on the Union and Operators to get together and revise the Jacksonville agreement.

Last week the Union Miners called a meeting at Harrisburgh, Pennsylvania — that is where Clifford Pinchot lives temporarily—to reach the same conclusion and to make the same recommendations. These things have started the inquiry: Can the Jacksonville agreement endure for three years? If not, when will it be changed? and on what terms? The Labor Tribune, of Pittsburgh, an old labor paper, has been saying with great vigor for weeks that the Hoover agreement cannot survive. It has recommended a downward revision. It has been saying that the Union Operators will be bankrupt if this wage is paid. The Kentucky-Tennessee Association have made, under these trying conditions, a reduction of 20 per cent. The Kanawha Virginia operators and men, after failing to secure a reduction in mine wages from the Union, have abandoned the Union in that district and 15 mines in that district are now operating Non-Union. Forty mines in Oklahoma have discarded their Union connections and are now working Non-Union. The wage scales in these fields are now $6.60 per shift for 8 hours' work at the face, the equivalent of $5.55 in this district, when the shorter working time in these mines is taken into consideration. Unskilled labor in the same fields reduced to $4.40. These districts to some extent at least compete against this district.

THE Sunday of today begins at the edge of dawn with a race to the country and the fishing places. It developes through the morning into a stream of automobiles, another stream of park-goers, a third stream of folk intent on going somewhere, except to church, by any means possible. By noon the golf courses are crowded. A few hours later the baseball players are entertaining the largest audiences of the week. Quiet, rest, meditation, worship—these have almost departed from our Sunday.

GOLF NOTES

Play for the Herchmer Cup will be started on Aug. 19. This competition is for the best net score for 36 holes on handicap. Eighteen holes, no more and no less, must be played on one day, the whole 36 holes to be completed by Aug. 29.

Before starting any 18 holes, the players must notify the Secretary, A. J. Moffatt, or J. S. Irvine, of their intention to play that day, and score cards, properly signed by each, must be turned in promptly. Heavy rain commencing after a game is started will be the only excuse considered for not completing the 18 holes.

The member making the lowest net score will be given possession of the cup until next season.

The following have signified their intention of taking part in this competition: G. S. Appleyard, W. F. Burns, J. S. Corbett, S. Herchmer, H. L. Hayne, J. S. Irvine, G. F. Johnson, G. F. Moses, N. S. HELP TO SAVE THE FISH

Fishing and hunting are the most ancient industries of man. They existed long before agriculture. When a man fishes, he answers the call of the wild inherited from barbaric ancestors.

No real sportsman ever catches and kills more fish than will be eaten. To do so is vandalism.

All anglers know that the streams and lakes of our continent are gradually being "fished out." Restocking is unable to keep up with catches. Accordingly, good sports will make use of this fact:

When you catch a fish too small to keep, always handle him with wet hands. A dry hand is almost certain to kill the fish, for it ruins the oily protective film over the scales.

Another thing: An angler, enraged because the fish isn't large, often hurls it viciously far from the boat. This is apt to kill the fish within a few days. A fish isn't made of iron. And water is hard, as you know if you ever hit it flat with your stomach in diving.

FRUIT TREATMENT FOR CONSTIPATION

What a glorious feeling it is to be well! What a relief to be free of cathartics, salts, laxatives and purgatives that merely aggravate constipation and are so unpleasant to take and so weakening in their effect!

What a satisfaction to know that the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes will absolutely and permanently relieve constipation. By a certain process, the juices of these fruits can be concentrated and combined with tonics—and it is these intensified fruit juices that correct constipation, relieve headaches and biliousness, and make you well and keep you well.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold everywhere at 25c. and 50c. a box—or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

A little more thought for the other man's rights,
A little less self in our chase for delights,
Are all that is needed to make the world great.

A little more patience in trouble and pain,
A little less willing at times to complain,
A little more kindness worked into the strife,
Are all that are needed to glorify life.

A little more honor, a little less greed,
A little more service, a little less creed,
A little more courage when pathways are rough,
A little more kindness by you and by me,

HOW TO MAKE HIM STUPID

It is a wonder children ever accomplish anything when they grow up, considering how they have "Don't do that" and "Don't do this" dinned into them all through babyhood and early youth.

It is bad phychology on the part of parents, this endless stream of "don't." It leaves a lasting impression on the young developing mind —generates a tendency to draw back and hesitate whenever instinct prompts the child to take the initiative.

Take a baby, prowling into everything. This is not a spirit of mischief, as most people believe. Rather, it is a manifestation of the inquisitive instinct that prompts to investigation, discovery and progress.

The child approaches the unknown. He wants to learn. His brain craves knowledge of the thing that has attracted his eye. Just as he reaches for new knowledge, he is startled by "Tut, tut!" or "Mama spank."

A child naturally cannot be allowed to pry into everything. Nor can he be permitted to tear the house down and wreck its furnishings to gratify his curiosity.

But when he exhibits interests in something that has never attracted him before, his lazy parent should join him and assist in the explora tion.

Encourage him to "do" instead of curbing his every move with a "don't."

"Don't" plants the seed of timidity and laziness.

When a lad with a tool chest begins sawing up the furniture, it is usually because his father has not given him boards and suggested that he try to build something.

Children are extremely susceptible to suggestion. "You bad boy!"—repeatedly spoken to a child—implants in him a belief that he really is bad. Later he decides that he might as well have the game as the name.

A great many children can be made good simply by drumming into them the convincing statement that they are good.

Children have a highly developed instinct for believing what they are told. This confidence can be capitalized.—Vancouver Sun.

Two Reel Mermaid Comedy "High Life"

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 20
Jacqueline Logan and Rod La Rocque in
"CODE OF THE SEA"
The chief ingredients of this picture are roaring, slashing action and intense dramatic situations. It contains far better storm stuff than has ever before been shown on the screen. You'll see ships buffetted by mountainous waves, a little yacht riding the tempest like a cockle-shell until it grinds itself to pieces against a sabre-toothed reef. You'll see a cringing coward become a red-blooded, fighting he-man, and when you see La Rocque disappear beneath the waves after the Neroid goes down, you think sure there's an unhappy ending,—But what a surprise!

B.C. SCHOOL SYSTEM

Thanks to the general efficiency of the educational system of British Columbia, the long sought educational survey, now in progress, is disclosing few weak points. Drs. Putman and Weir have held public meetings in Victoria, Vancouver and many other centres, where they have listened to the complaints and suggestions of all who cared to appear before them. However, while there will probably be several minor changes in the system, little improvement can be made on the present policy without the expenditure of vast sums of money, and even then it is accepted that there is little but praise due the splendid school system in this western province.

LOCAL & GENERAL

Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Fisher spent the week end at McBain's Lake.

Mrs. J. J. Harrington and Mrs. Roy Kirkpatrick are camping at McBain's Lake.

Mrs. Hugh McLachlan is home after a pleasant outing at the Ingham ranch near Elko.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Crookston, of Penticton, are spending this week in the city.

A general meeting of the Ladies Golf Club will be held tonight at the home of Mrs. E. K. Stewart at 8 p.m.

Don't forget the social and dance in the Catholic Hall tonight, Friday, Aug. 15. Cards from 8.30 to 10.30. Dancing from 11 to 1. Admission 50c.

Jim and Tom Graves have purchased an acre of land at McBain's Lake and are having a cottage erected on it.

J. W. Corning, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Moffatt for some time, left for the east on Wednesday evening.

All parties having seemingly agreed on a site for the swimming pool, the committee in charge are having levels taken and plans and estimates prepared.

At the United Church Manse, on Thursday, Aug. 14, James Hartland and Christina MacLennan, both of Blairmore, were united in marriage, Rev. W. F. Burns officiating.

The Golf Club intend holding a dance on Saturday, Aug. 30, in the I.O.O.F. Hall. Tickets $1.00 per couple. This dance is not for Golf Club members only. All are welcome.

A Pythian picnic will be held in the city park on Wednesday, Aug. 20. All members and families are cordially invited and will please meet at the I.O.O.F. hall at 2 p.m.

The annual tournament of the Crow's Nest Pass Golfing Association will be held Aug. 30, 31 and Sept. 1. An excellent program of events is being arranged and prizes will be on view shortly. A dance will be held on Aug. 30 in the I.O.O.F. Hall.

The Secretary of the School Board has received the High School Entrance certificates from the Department of Education. Those who were successful in passing or who passed on recommendation may obtain their certificates by calling at the City Office.

The C.G.I.T. girls to the number of forty-five are camping at McBain's Lake. The camp is directed by Miss Fountain, a specialist in girls' work, who is supplied by the Religious Educational Council of B.C. She is assisted by a number of local leaders in girls' work. Wednesday was visitors' day and a number of cars went down from Fernie. All report that the camp is well conducted and that the girls are enjoying a profitable holiday.

The U.M.W.A. officers have fallen down in their negotiations for a settlement at Calgary. It is now up to the rank and file to look into the matter and see if they cannot reach some understanding. The district has been tied up too long by irresponsible men of the type of Wm. Sherman. The mines in this district have got to be worked on a competitive basis with other districts and this is absolutely impossible under the high scale of wages. If the men in the metaliferous mines throughout the west can work for wages a great deal lower than Fernie, there is no reason why they cannot accept reasonable pay here. Talking with Fernie miners employed at Wallace and Kellogg this week, we were informed that they were very well content to work for $5.50 a day. Why should these same men when employed in this district insist on making from $7.50 to $12 a day? Our mines are idle and our market has been lost owing to the impossible wages which Sherman and his crowd are trying to insist on.

Chas. Walde returned to the city on Sunday evening after spending two months at Vulcan, Alta.

The subscription list to the Dominion Day sports published last week should have contain the item: S. Lowden, $2.00.

Christ Church Sunday School picnic will be held in the city park on Wednesday afternoon. Cars will leave the church between 1 and 2 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Minton and family, of Trail, are spending two week's holidays here, with Mr. Minton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Minton.

Mrs. Hartley Wilson and children and Mrs. Stafford Wilson and children left for California on Thursday morning. It is understood that they will spend the winter there.

The delayed golf competition between Fernie and Blairmore will take place here on Sunday next. About twenty players are expected from Blairmore.

A small fire occurred in a woodshed at the rear of Peter Lundy's property on Howland Ave. early on Wednesday morning. The fire brigade turned out promptly and little damage was done.

E. J. Henderson, relieving agent of the C.P.R. Telegraph Co., who has been taking the place of the local agent for the past month, left Fernie for Revelstoke on Monday evening.

George Vincent, of Morrissey, has for sale his household effects, also goods in the store, as he intends to go west at once and take up a business. George is an old timer, having resided here for 22 years, and his many friends will be sorry to see him leave the district.

At the Conservative meeting held in Herchmer & Mitchell's office last Friday night progress was made in the organization of the Association. It is the intention of the party to form a real live and vigorous organization and a further meeting will be held at a later date to complete the work under way.

There was quite a large turn out to the G.W.V.A. decoration service. Besides the G.W.V.A. members, representatives from the Elks, K. of P., I.O.O.F., K.C. and Moose placed floral tributes. Rev. H. U. Oswald, assisted by Rev. H. P. Humphreys, conducted the service at the soldiers' plot in the cemetery.

The Loyal Order of Moose will hold their picnic at Hosmer on Sunday, Aug. 24th, leaving the lodge room, Victoria Hall, at 10 a.m. All members and their families are requested to bring their own eats and cups. Coffee and tea will be supplied on the grounds. All members and their families who wish to take part in the picnic are requested to hand in their names to Bro. A. Harrison, Miners' Hall, or to the Secretary on or before Monday, Aug. 18.

IDLENESS AND PROGRESS

(By Dr. Frank Crane)

Idleness is the mother of progress. So long as men were busy they had no time to think of bettering their condition.

Idleness is the mother of art. It was when men had leisure from the chase that they decorated the handles of their hunting knives and the walls of their cave dwellings.

Idleness is the mother of religion. It is in the relax and the rebound from toil that men think of God.

We talk of all men's right to work. There is a deeper right than that. It is the right to idleness.

The value of what we put upon the page of life depends upon the width of the margin.

The great, useful, redeeming and lasting work of the world is that work which is a reaction from idleness. The continent of labor is barren. It is the little island of labor that is green and fruitful in the sea of leisure.

The curse of America is its deification of labor. Our little gods are the men who are ceaselessly forthputting.

Most of all we defy capital, which never rests, but goes on producing day and night.

We are so occupied in getting ready to live that we have lost the art of living.

With us a man is a fool if he sets about to enjoy himself before he has laid up a fortune. We count the woman happy when she has married money and the child accursed when he has no inheritance.

Every morning we arise from our beds and charge bloodthirsty into the struggle. We all do it, millionaires and paupers. In his office the trust magnate sits at his scheming until his nerves are loosed, his arteries hardened and his soul caked.

"After the Semitic fashion," says Remy de Goncourt, "you make even the women work. Rich and poor, all alike, you know nothing of the joys of leisure."

There ought to be two leisure classes, yea, three; all children under 21, all women and all men over 60.

The work of the world could be easily done by males between the ages of 21 and 60. To accomplish this, all that is needed is to abolish militarism, that insane burden of men in idleness, abolish all piled up wealth units that keep husky males workless, and abolish our absurd worship of activity.

Then there would be plenty of work for every man to keep him from want and plenty of leisure for every man to preserve in him a living soul.

If I were czar of the world no woman should work except as she might elect for her amusement; no child should do aught but play.

Among savages the women do all the work. In the coming civilization they shall do none. The progress of the race is the progress of the female from toil to leisure.

Every woman is a possible mother. She should have only to grow and to be strong. She should be the real aristocracy, the real upper class, to give culture and beauty to life. She should have time to attend to the duties of her eternal priesthood.

As for man, little by little, he also would fit himself from the killing grind of monotonous exertion. For he would make steam and electricity, and other giants not yet discovered, do the dirty work.

To bring all this to pass, you do not need to devise any cunning scheme of government, nor to join any party or speciousism. You need do only one thing.

And that is to establish justice.

The end of fraud and wrong is fevered toil. The end of justice is the superior product of skill and genius, and their mother, leisure.

SAVED

Some lawyers seem to have no sense of honor in the means by which they try to discredit the testimony of those opposed to them; in illustration of which we need only adduce the following specimen of cross-quesyou have the goodness to answer me, tioning. Counsel: "Mr. Jenkins, will directly and categorically, a few plain questions?" Witness: Certainly, sir." "Well, Mr. Jenkins, is there a female living with who is known in the neighborhood as Mrs. Jenkins?" "There is." "Is she under your protection?" "Yes." "Do you support her?" "I do." "Have you ever been married to her?" "I have not." (Here several jurors scowled gloomily in Mr. Jenkins.) "That is all, Mr. Jenkins." Opposing Counsel: "Stop, one moment, Mr. Jenkins, is the female in question your mother?" "She is."

ENGLAND WILL SUPPORT CANADIAN ENTERPRISES

Before leaving England recently after a short visit to that country, E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway said "I cannot help but regard Canada as the greatest actual potential asset in the Empire, and when exchange is at parity I feel quite confident that England will support Canadian enterprises and Canadian development will be very extensive." The photograph reproduced above shows Sir Thomas Fisher, general manager, Canadian Pacific Steamships, (left); Sir George McLaren Brown, European General Manager of the Canadian Pacific, Mr. Beatty and Captain J. Turnbull, commander of the Montlaurier.

EAT WHOLE WHEAT BREAD

The Bulgarian peasant who eats rye bread and the Highland crofter who lives largely on oat meal and oaten cake are better nourished than the well-to-do townsman for whom miller and baker combine to make the whitest possible loaf.

And that is one reason why peasant and crofter escape cancer, while people who live in luxury show an ever-increasing liability to the disease.

Wheat and other cereals are ideal foods when left in their natural condition ;they become debilitating and dangerous when all the husks and body-building material have been extracted.

For these husks contain substances which promote the natural process of digestion and enable the body to throw off the poisons that accumulate in the intestines as a consequence of the artificiality of much of the food eaten by civilized mankind. Equally, possibly more important, are the vitamines of which the flour is robbed by the miller.

Ellis Barker, the well known English writer, in a recent book, has shown that while it may not be possible to cure cancer, it is possible to prevent a great deal of it.

Mr. Barker is not a doctor, but his book is likely to do greater service in the prevention of disease than dozens of medical works. He demonstrates first of all that cancer is a disease of civilization and the more civilization progresses, that is the farther away people get from foods in their natural state, the greater the spread of the disease.

Then he goes on to show how we remorselessly kill of the vitamines, the lifegivers, by overrefining and overcooking, and how, if we are to extirpate cancer, we must abandon the white loaf for the whole-wheat loaf and our overboiled vegetables for green stuff in salads and other forms.

"Eat whole wheat bread," he says. "That is the way to ward off cancer and other diseases." And Sir Arbuthnot Lane, the great British surgeon, who probably knows more about the human digestive tract than any living man, agrees with him absolutely.—Vancouver Sun.

THE MAN WHO IS SQUARE

"Passing the buck" when you're out of luck, started long ago; when Adam blamed Eve for the apple she gave the time he "stubbed his toe." Ever since then, in the ranks of men, taking them high or low, the coward at heart, who shirks his part, has tried to dodge the blow.

The man who aims but fails to get by, and blames the fellow below, need never aspire to climb any higher —he's geared to travel "in low." There's always a place for the man with the grace to admit it when he is to blame;who says, "It's on me but, by Jimmy, it never can happen again!"

If you would succed, there is no better creed, than that of the man who is Square: "I'll take what is mine, without whimper or whine; above all else I'll be fair; so happen what may, at the close of each day, I can say to my God, "I've been Square."—By F. W. Jameson in "Forward."

Here and There

Radio stations are to be established near Montreal and Vancouver as links in the Empire wireless station program as the result of arrangements just completed between the British Government, the Department of Marine and Fisheries of Canada and the affiliated Marconi companies.

The Manitoba Pulp and Paper Company will, it is understood, shortly establish a plant at St. Boniface, near Winnipeg, Man. The company plans to expend $3,600,000 of its $5,000,000 capital on immediate operations, and to build a 200-ton newsprint mill, employing about 700 men.

Canada's trade is growing at a faster ratio than ever before, despite the war. She now sells to 100 and buys from 77 countries. Her total foreign trade, in the calendar year 1923, reached $1,918,264,789, an increase of 16 per cent in one year, and her interchange of commerce increased 70 per cent between 1913-14 and the past year.

John B. Thompson, noted sportsman and writer on the out-of-doors, widely and popularly known by his pen name of "Ozark Ripley," is visiting the Canadian Pacific bungalow camps in Ontario, giving demonstrations of his skill as a fly and bait caster, as well as free casting lessons to guests and informal talks on fishing and other outdoor subjects.

Creating a new record for the 15 years it has been in business, the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company will have handled 50,000,000 bushels of grain through its commission department in the 1923-4 season, it is announced. The estimate of grain handled through terminal elevators for the 1923-4 season is 58,000,000 bushels.

The steel superstructure of the new Ste. Anne de Beaupre Basilica, which is to replace the destroyed edifice at the famous shrine, has now been completed and it is expected that by next July the exterior of the church will be nearly finished. It is not anticipated, however, that the building will be entirely ready until July, 1926. In the meantime, thousands of pilgrims continue to visit the shrine and several miracles have been recently reported.

Figures issued by the Department of Agriculutre for the Province of Quebec show that there has been a marked improvement in the condition of farmers of the province over last year, due to good crops, to such an extent that, instead of distributing grain seeds to the value of over $125,000 as was the case last year, only $60,000 worth was necessary to meet this year's requirements. Hon. J. E. Caron, Minister of Agriculture for the province, basing his anticipations on present crop prospects, expects a still further improvement in the near future.

"Never has the opportunity for Canadian business in the Orient been so good as it is today," said Allan Cameron, Oriental Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in Montreal recently. "It is true that the general volume of business in China and Japan is somewhat below normal owing to both local and world conditions but if Canadian manufacturers and producers now fail to make an effort to secure the large share of Oriental trade that would naturally come to them, the opportunity will pass and someone else will get the business."

Following its success at the British Empire Exhibition, the Canadian Pacific Railway is arranging unusually fine displays for fall exhibitions in Canada. At Toronto, the exhibits will include a Northern Ontario hunting scene, having a painted background sixty by sixteen feet, a feature of which will be moose and deer moving through the forest and an attendant guide to give information to enquirers. A full-sized model of the front of a Canadian Pacific engine and other displays illustrative of the Company's many activities will also be shown in Toronto. Wonderful electrical models depicting Canadian winter sports, round-the-world cruises, etc., are slated for Quebec, Sherbrooke, London and North Bay.

A PRICELESS RELIC

Philadelphia, Aug. 11. — What Babylonian scholars have regarded as the clapper of a bell since it was found at Nippur in 1907, has proved to be a priceless treasure—the bronze sceptre of King Dungi, or Ur, who ruled in 2270 B.C., the University of Pennsylvania announced today.

The sceptre was fouund by the archaeologists of the University museum. It was supposed to be a bell clapper with a broken shaft. It in length with cuneiform inscriptions weighs ten ounces and is six inches at the enlarged end. When the bronze piece was held as though it were suspended in a bell none of the scholars could read the inscription. The object was placed in the vault of the museum with other Babylonian material for further study, remaining there 17 years.

Recently Dr. Leon Legrain, curator of the Babylonian section, was cleaning the collection. He chanced to pick up the supposed clapper and hold it as though it were a blackjack. He instantly recognized the word "Dungi." Then he began the task of decipering the entire inscription, which states that it is the royal sceptre of the rule of Ur. This is followed by the name of the king—Dungi.

HARRY GRANFIELD GIVES TANLAC FULL CREDIT

"My health has undergone such a wonderful improvement that I must say Tanlac is an unusual medicine and tonic," states Harry Granfield, 153 Havety St., Toronto, Ont.

"For two years past I have been troubled with indigestion to such an extent that I felt unfit for anything. My nerves became all undone and my sleep was unsound. My energy had about all left me and I would tire out easily.

"Since taking Tanlac I have a wonderful appetite and my stomach never troubles me any more. My sleep is sound and restful and I get up mornings with renewed energy and really feel like active work for the first time in two years. I am strong for Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million Bottles Sold.

WORKING THEM TO DEATH

There is such a thing as being wickedly good. Rodger Dolan, back from a trip up in the North Country to inspect what he thought were gold mines when he bought the stock, brings this story:

"In a backwoods district where there is considerable tourist traffis—mostly fishing parties—we found a family running a hand laundry. The wife was famed for 50 miles as a 'good woman, an angel of mercy.' Fully half of her time was devoted to going to distant settlers' cabins to nurse the sick. Seldom did she get pay. Her reputation for goodness and charity seemed well grounded—until I looked under the surface.

"I found that, when she went away on her errands of mercy, she turned the laundry work over to her two daughters. They were about 10 and 12 years old, and actually hunchbacked from overwork.

"My own laundry was late, and one of the wan little girls said: 'Mother's been gone a week. She left us with 30 washings to do.'

"Angel of mercy? My own idea is that this system of 'being nice' at the expense of others is wicked."

But real charity and good deeds involve personal sacrifice. They are not the saolen work of others, hogged and masqueraded under an exploiter's name to satisfy his vanity.—The Sun.

PREVENT FOREST FIRES -- IT PAYS

ZINC POISON FROM BUCKETS

Four thousand galvanized iron buckets were recently distributed as premiums in Washington, D.C., and this was followed, we are told, by an epidemic of zinc poisoning. "Galvanized" iron is simply iron coated with zinc, and a good deal of food material acts chemically on this metal, producing poisonous salts. Care should be taken not to use such containers for any food containing fruit-acids, or even for milk, we are told by J. W. Sale and C. H. Badger, of the Federal Bureau of Chemistry. These writers report as follows:

"The Navy Department recently transmitted to the Bureau of Chemistry for analysis several bottles of root beer, which the naval station at Guam had reported unfit for human consumption. It was stated that some of the shipment, which consisted of 1200 bottles, was sold to at least 12 people at Guam, and upon drinking the same they immediately began vomiting. Chemical examination showed that zinc was present to the extent of 3.3 grains of zinc chloride per bottle containing 15 fluid ounces.

"At about the time the examination of the root beer was completed, 4000 galvanized iron buckets were distributed as premiums in the District of Columbia by a chain of grocery stores. A short time previous at a large institution near London over 200 persons developed zinc poisoning immediately after a meal consisting of bread, margarine, stewed apples, and tea. Subsequent investigation showed that the apples had been cooked in galvanized iron buckets placed in iron steamers, and that the fruit acids had dissolved the zinc from the buckets. It seems quite probable that some of the buckets being distributed in the District of Columbia and elsewhere would be used for holding semi-solid or liquid food, such as cider, lemonade, etc. The matter was considered of sufficient importance for the United States Department of Agiculture to issue a warning against the use of galvanized iron utensils for making preserves or jellies or as containers for cider or other fruit juices, and to conduct some experiments of a preliminary nature to ascertain the degree to which ordinary galvanized iron buckets are corroded by some of the commoner liquid foods.

"The galvanized iron pails used in this test were obtained from the supply room of the Bureau of Chemistry. They had been manufactured from 22-gauge galvanized sheets. Quantities of one gallon each (except milk) of Washington city tap water, distilled water, carbonated water, milk, orangeade and lemonade were placed in the galvanized iron pails. The quantit yof sweet milk used was one quart.

Tap Water	21
Distilled Water	27
Carbonated Water	181
Milk	1054
Orangeade	854
Lemonade	2700

"The galvanized iron pails which contained the milk, orangeade, and lemonade were visibly corroded. The visible corrosion was especially marked on the galvanized iron pail which contained the lemonade. The base metal was exposed in one place about the size of a circle having a diameter of 2.5 inches.

"Aside from the general interest attaching to the apparent solution of a case of food poisoning, these experiments serve to bring freshly to mind the always important question of the metallic contaimination of our food."

NATIVE WOMAN FORECASTS TRAGEDY

How the body of a lost Indian in Fiji, missing for a week, was found at the moment that a native Fijian woman named Na Dau Rairal, or the "One Who Sees," forecast, is told in an official report of the Suva police.

Khmal, an Indian motor driver, went on a shooting excursion off the main trunk road from Suva one day recently. He failed to appear next day at work and search parties were sent out for him. They penetrated the bush in many directions but without finding a trace, and a week later abandoned hope that he was alive.

Then Na Dau Rairal, who is credited with witchcraft by the superstitious natives, said that his body would be found at 4 o'clock the following afternoon. Almost to the minute a search party discovered it in a water hole in dense undergrowth and two miles away from where he had left the road. Searchers had passed the spot previously withouut seeing the body.

The jaw was smashed, and while it is possible the Indian may have fallen over the hig bank of the water hole, stunned himself and then drowned, the police suspect foul play. Na Dau Rairal has frequently recovered articles stolen by telling the owners their whereabouts.

THE RED ARMY

British delegates have been attending the recent congress of the Third (Communist) International at Moscow and have been royally entertained by the Bolshevists. They took with them to Russia a special letter from the British Communist Party, which expressed a desire on behalf of that party to become patron of certain units of Red troops. The offer was accepted enthusiastically. By this patronage system the British Communists, with a patriotic fervor for the mercenaries of a foreign land which is wholly lacking for their own fellow citizens, will guarantee certain units of the Red Army with the maximum of comfort, supplying them with clothing, literature, money, etc., in fact, anything they may lack. The Red Army is an international weapon, as was outlined by M. Frunze, the deputy of War Minister Trotzky, who said:

The Red Army is the fighting instrument not only of the Soviet Union, but also of the Commuunist International. . . .The moment is approached when the Communist International will lead the proletarian millions to desperate battle. The International of Communist Youths has issued an appeal to the Red Army and Fleet in which it declares that the Red Army is the army of a world revolution and will help other countries as well to revoluntionary victory.

It is with the masters of this army that the British Labor Government has entered into a pact to define economic and financial relations between the two countries. Premier Macdonald evidently is quite satisfied to play with fire.—The Colonist.

HOW VOLCANO TRAVELS

The study of volcanoes is important because the most probable solution of the earthquake mystery is to be found in the fire mountains, says Harry A. Stewart in The American Magazine. When we understand the lava writhing underground we shall be a long way advanced toward understanding how the earth writhed in California in 1906 and in Japan in 1923. Great earthquake belts are also volcanic belts.

The old idea was that each volcanic mountain was separate and distinct from every other, and with no relation to it. We now believe, however, that there are not so many volcanoes as there are volcanic peaks. There seem to be volcanic chains along which the volcano travels, and the different peaks are merely outlets, or blow holes, for it.

The new compulsory voting law in Australia provides a fine of $10 for electors who fail to exercise their franchise. The penalty is expected to eliminate absentees.

Early last July a small party of riders was encamped on the plateau which lies between Tu nbling Creek Glacier and the gap in the Vermilion Range of the Canadian Rockies known as the Wolverine Pass. The day was warm and conducive to sleep, and, because on this account one of the party dozed and dreamed and later caused the other members of the party to enthuse over his dream, there gathered in the Yoho Valley of British Columbia a week since, two hundred and six prominent Canadians, Americans and Europeans, calling themselves Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies. Each had qualified for membership in the Order by riding at one time or another not less than fifty miles through the Rockies on horseback.

This unique gathering, recording as it did the first attempt to form an association of mounted mountain climbers was characterized by Dr. Charles W. Walcott, head of the Smithsonian Institute of Washington and honorary president of the Trail Riders, as a step which will prove one of the greatest international attractions.

The attendance at the First Annual Ride of the Trail Riders exceeded by far the most sanguine hopes of the organisers, but fortunately, Yoho Camp, that beautiful village of chalets a mile above the sea, had been reinforced with twenty Indian teepees and a huge Sun Dance Lodge which had been erected as camp headquarters by Stony Indians under the supervision of Chief Walking-in-the-road.

Only one trail rider ieft this camp with what could be termed a legitimate grouch. This was Dr. Walcott who believes that bears stole the side of mutton which was hanging at the back of his chalet when he last saw it.

Riding was, of course, the order of the day, and many of the riders, enchanted by the scenery, fell far behind the main group and lingered on the heights till night fall. In the evenings the mountain enthusiasts gathered in the Sun Dance Lodge to talk over the day or to sing and dance and otherwise amuse themselves. After the whitemans pow-wow on the second night a real Indian pow-wow was danced by Chief Walking-in-the-road and Chief Buffalo-child Long Lance, to the accompaniment of Indian singing and the beating of tom-toms by a group of Stony braves.

Altogether the first annual pow-wow of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies was a huge success, and the organisers believe that henceforth the Canadian Rockies will receive the recognition and appreciation which is their due.

CIVILIZATION NOT DECADENT

Our most cheerful optimists are not infrequently those whose span of life is nearly passed. Secure in experience and a long retrospect, their faith in humanity remains unimpaired. Among them is Anatole France, famous French author and member of the French Academy. His fourscore years as an observer of humanity convince him that civilization is not near the breaking-point, as so many believe, and that there is yet no sign of decadence. In an article in Les Annales, tranlated in Public Opinion (London), he writes:

"For my part I see no sign of decline in humanity. It is in vain that I hear decadence spoken of. I do not believe it. I believe that the evolution of humanity is extremely slow, and that the changes occurring in our customs from one century to another are, if carefully examined, less important than is imagined. But they are distinctly apparent to us, whereas we pass unnoticed the innumerable resemblances we share with our parents.

"The progress of the world is slow. The genius of imitation is strong in man. He invents very little. There is, in psychology as in physics, a law of gravity that attaches us to the old soil.

"Theophile Gautier, who was a philosopher in his way, with something in his wisdom, pointed out, not without a certain sadness, that man has not even succeeded in inventing an eighth deadly sin.

"As I walked in the street this morning I saw a house in process of building and masons heaving up stones like the slaves of Thebes and Nineveh. I saw a bride, a bridegroom and their guests coming out of church on their way to their wedding-breakfast; they accomplished as a matter of course the many secular rites. I met a poet who recited to me his verses, which he thought immortal; and in the meantime riders passed wearing a casque, the helmet of the legionaries and of the hoplities, the brass helmet of the Homeric warriors, from which still hung, to terrify the enemy, the moving mane that so frightened the child Astyanax in the arms of his nurse. These riders were 'Gardes Republicains.'

"Watching them, and thinking too, that the Paris bakers still baked their bread in ovens as in Abraham's time, I whispered the word of the Book, 'There is nothing new under the sun.' And I was no longer surprised at being subject to civil laws which were already old when Caesar Justinian compiled them into a venerable whole."

By way of a burnt offering, tobacco consumers in the United States contributed $309,000,000 to the internal revenue of the country in 1923.

A RUSE THAT WORKED

A lawyer was once defending a man accused of housebreaking and in his address to the judge said: "Your lordship, I submit that my client did not break into the house at all. He found the parlor window open and merely inserted his right arm and removed a few trifling articles. Now, my client's arm is not himself, and I fail to see how you can punish the whole individual for an offense committed by one of his l'mbs."

'That argument," said the judge, "is very well put, and, following it logically, I sentence the arm to one year's imprisonment. He can accompany it or not, as he chooses."

BALL TEAM MADE TOUR

Score by innings—

Fernie ..... 300 000 002—5
Wallace ..... 000 220 000—4

At Kellogg, Fernie turned in another snappy win by timely hitting and playing errorless ball behind Heine, turning in a 6 run to five victory over the Kellogg aggregation, the score showing Fernie 6 runs, nine hits, no errors; Kellogg, 5 runs, eight hits, 1 error.

The boys then journeyed to Spokane, where they met the two top notchers in the Spokane City League. The following is the Spokesman's report on these two games:

First game—

Spokesman: S. T. Wilson, manager of the Fernie championship baseball club, and one of the superintendents of the C.N.P. Coal Co., may well feel proud of the class of ball put up by his proteges, who yesterday took a hard luck 2 to 0 defeat at the hands of Slim Smith's city league club. For six innings Merle Ault, former Lewis and Clark star, who later played with the S.A.A.C. club in the old city league held the Oilers hitless and scoreless in the twilight game at the Nat.

The first run, registered by Cecil Downs, clattered across when Downs was safe and went to second on Shand's overthrow of first and then counted on Skaaden's sacrifice fly to deep center.

Magee's double, followed by a stinging single by Bill Hatch, sent Magee across with the only other score. And that sized up the three hits that won for Smith.

Four hits gathered by the Fernie club included Ault's triple, two singles by Barger and Shand's single. The game was called in the eighth by Umpire Daniel, who confessed that he "could no longer see the ball."

The husky Fernie champions wear the mysterious insignia "C. C." on their white uniforms. It may mean Canadian Club, Canadian Clowns, Champions of Canada or Cheerful Cherubs, but, whatever its significance, the team made a striking impression.

If a moose, referring to the denizen of the forest, ever had funny things come up in his throat that he couldn't swallow, became afflicted with chills and ague with danger in sight—then he experienced a sensation similar to that when the Fernie champions had them trimmed 3-1 in the eighth after the score had been tied at 1-1 for seven innings. Fernie, incidentally, had been shut out 2-0 the day before. Had the Moose not rallied and chased three across to win in the eighth, what fickle bugs would have said about them would have been unfit to print. The final count was 4-3 for the Moose. The last ball was pitched in the dark. Six boots by the Carrigan crew helped tighten things up while the pitchers battle was being waged.

Hanson doubled and scored in the first on sacrifice hits by Reynolds and Altman. Then Reynolds' single, a passed ball, a bobble by Second Baseman Ault of Fernie, three stolen bases and a sacrifice sent the winning three across. For the coal miners, Hardy, formerly of the Wallace club, doubled and counted when Sorenson, then at second, kicked the ball around. In their half of the eighth, Fernie took the lead when Hovan was safe on Dutch Altman's wild throw and Steinert clinked a wicked triple to the left scoring on an infield out. McTeer spoiled things when, with nobody down, he tried to steal home standing up when Ault missed the squeeze signal.

The Fernie Baseball team are deeply thankful to W. R. Wilson, who made it possible for the boys to take the trip.

At every game we met a bunch of old time Fernie rooters, who came from far and near to see the old home town team perform. At Wallace, Pat Whelan, Billy Dunlap, Frank Hollingshead and Jimmy McNicholas were very conspicuous among the rooters and were tickled to death to see Fernie win.

Bob Nearing, at one time C. P. R. engineer here, was at the Kellogg game. Bob says he has been in that district for the past 20 years and is doing fine. One of his boys, who was a kid when the family left Fernie, is very prominent in fighting circles and has a big match on for Aug. 17.

Billy Dunlap, who took in both the Wallace and Kellogg games, also works at Kellogg. He says there are 1700 men employed in the mine there and they work every day. The wages range from $4.50 to $5.50 pe rday and they all seem to be getting along well and are contented.

The roads between here and Spokane are good with the exception of possibly 25 miles, ten miles this side of Bonners and fifteen the other side of Sand Point. The State of Idaho is spending a lot of money on these sections and it will not be long before it will be a real pleasure to make the drive.

Spokane was the quitest city our boys visited on the trip. In all the other towns business seemed to be good, but in Spokane work is hard to get.

Merle Ault, our star pitcher, has accepted a position pitching with the Couer d'Alene nine. Salty has been with Fernie for over three years and has placed Fernie on the baseball map of the west and it is sincerely hoped that industrial conditions here will soon be changed and he and his amiable wife will return.

The town of Wallace with a population of 3500, raises the sum of $2000 a month to support its ball team, and believe me they have nine real ball players.

Kellogg has 1700 men working in the mines there and they all help to support their ball team, all the members of which are paid.

HOLY FAMILY SCHOOL 5; MICHEL 0

Michel is a town noted for the quality of its coke and coal. This fact is almost universally known. Something not so well advertised is the brand of ball played by the Michel Juniors. The Holy Family School boys will admit that Dr. Buckley has a promising young team under his wing at the present time. Five hits were all that Pitcher Holko would yield to our boys, who claim to be able to bat—nothing els ebut. W. Littler on 2nd is a comer. He handled chance after chance without a miscue. In the pitcher's duel, Joe Kasmar, however, was the outstanding star. He struck out 6, gave three hits and knocked out a brace of two-baggers—a good day's work. J. Stropky caught a good, brainy game.

Next Wednesday, Holy Family School boys will journey to Michel to try another encounter with Dr. Buckley's pets.

The fact that the price of pork is following the advance of the price of corn is a natural movement. Following corn is a porker's favorite exercise.

A few million bushels are neither here nor there with the crop experts when estimating the prairie wheat yield. They do not believe in hiding their lights under a bushel.

He that knows only how to enjoy and not endure is ill-fitted to go down the stream of life through such a world as this.—Henry van Dyke.

A ray that could be operated like a flashlight to check reckless motorists or halt jaywalkers in their tracks would be a valuable safety device.

CALGARY BEAT CORINTHIANS

Calgary, Aug. 18. — In a game in which two distinct styles of football were noticeable, the touring Corinthians had their colors lowered on Saturday afternoon by an all-star Calgary eleven by 2 to 1, a result which was distinctly flattering to the home team and hardly represented the run of play.

The play of the Calgary team, while often reaching a high standard, was marked by more vigorous passing than that of the tourists, whose combination play was at times a revelation to the fair sized crowd of spectators present, who marvelled at the accuracy with which their passes went from one player to another without apparent effort.

The Calgary team were also excellent in their combination work, but they had not the uncanny control of the ball as had the famous amateurs.

OFFICIALS ARE SCORED

The minister bitterly scored the miners' officials in District 18 for adopting the policy they had and thus prolonging the strike indefinitely.

The minister did not mince matters in speaking his mind freely at the attitude of the miners' officials in District 18. "I think they have not a proper regard for the rights and interests of the public in this matter," he said. "I asked them to submit a referendum vote to the striking miners, but they declined to do so, and I think they should have done that."

Mr. Murdock said that from a public viewpoint there were many features hard to appreciate when they found common above ground labor at those mines striking for a wage that approximated 82 cents an hour, while the current, or fair wage for such common labor was established in the government's fair wage policy as 45 cents an hour. It was stated, he said, that many of the common laborers on strike at the mines for a wage of 82 cents an hour were at the present time, and had been for the past few months, taking work that might properly belong to other laborers, not connected with mines, at the current rate, whatever it might happen to be, and certainly not more than 45 cents an hour.

The minister stated that in the case of carpenters, the wage which mining carpenters had struck for was better than $1 an hour, while the curent and fair wage for carpenters in various parts of Canada was 80 cents an hour, running, of course, somewhat lower and in certain cases a little higher at some points. A similar comparison might be made, he said, with other classes of labor.

"The proposal I made to both the mine operators and the miners' scale committee last Wednesday morning," continued Mr. Murdock, "was that they went into separate session and consider my proposal that the strike be settled on the basis of one-eighth reduction of the wages existing as at March 31 last.

"One reason for making that suggestion was that in the central competitive region, upon which the miners in this territory base their claim, the miner's day is eight hours from face to face, while the day in District 18 is eight hours from bank to bank. That means that the total elapsed period in which a miner in the central competitive field required to complete a day's work is at least nine hours, for the reason that there is one hour deduction for the lunch period in the middle of the day, and to this time should properly be added such time as was necessary for the miner in the central competitive field to go from bank to face and return from face to bank before and after completing his day's work.

"The operators' committee," said Mr. Murdock, "in their reply to my proposal, stated that the suggestion made of one-eighth reduction, if applicable to all employees, was for all practical purposes their proposal of $1.75 per day reduction, and they felt that they could agree to an immediate settlement on that basis to March 31, 1925.

"The miners, in a letter received by me on Thursday," said the minister, "stated that my proposal was regarded by them as an unjust basis for settlement and should not be conceded, and they later confirmed this view verbally on more than one occasion and absolutely declined to submit the proposal to the striking miners in the form of a referendum, basing their position on the statement that their mandate from the men at the commencement of the strike provided that the men were not to vote upon anything which contemplated a reduction in wages existing as at March 31, last.

"Personally I regret the attitude of the miners' committee," said the minister, "and it is unfortunate and entirely unfair that these workmen should be engaged in a strike which has now lasted for four months, for the purpose of insisting upon a retention of a war-time bonus, which amounts to approximately $1.17 per man per day. It is, I think, conceded that other classes of labor generally, farmers and business men, have been compelled to relinquish peak war-time bonuses."

Mr. Murdock added that one of the distressing features of the situation appeared to him to be the fact that American coal was, as a result of the strike, being shipped further into Western Canada this year than ever before, and it was stated that certain large piles of coal had been stocked west of Winnipeg that was mined in American mines. That situation must be changed, he said. Canadian mines, mined by Canadian miners, asking fair and equitable wages, should be providing the coal for use in Canada wherever that coal could be placed, having regard to transportation costs.

Mr. Murdock stated he was leaving for the east on Friday night.

MURDOCK OFFER WAS REFUSED

Calgary, Aug. 18.—"The miners' conference committee, after very careful deliberation and consideration has come to the conclusion that such an unjust basis for settlement cannot be conceded by our organization, and such is our decision."

These were the exact words used in a letter signed by W. A. Sherman, president of District 18 of the U.M.W. of A., on behalf of the miners' conference committee, in replying to the suggested settlement of the coal miners' strike by Hon. Jas. Murdock, federal minister of labor.

It is stated in some quarters that Mr. Sherman did not flatly turn down the suggestion of Mr. Murdock, but several local business men who have been following the situation closely state Mr. Sherman's official letter is self-explanatory and definite. Mr. Sherman is not in the city just now. It is said he is at Fernie and other officials of the miners' organization are also at various mining camps.

SHAREHOLDERS MUST PAY NOW

Toronto, Aug. 19.—Tomorrow is the last day set by the liquidators of the Home Bank of Canada for shareholders who reside in Ontario to make arrangements to meet their double liability. If they fail to do so by tomorrow their accounts go into the sheriff's hands for collection, and the sheriff's costs will be added to their bill. Messrs. Clarkson and Weldon, liquidators, have notified each shareholder in Ontario to this effect.

The liquidators have set August 25 as the date for those residents in Canada and outside of Ontario. With the letter is a statement of the indebtedness of the shareholder with the interest to date on the account and the notification that after the date set the account will be placed in the sheriff's hands for execution.

SHERMAN'S PURE BUNK

For pure bunk and downright misrepresentation the statements by President Sherman contained in the following interview given to the Coleman Journal, certainly get the money:

Yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon, the Journal was favored with an interview with President Sherman of District 18, U.M.W. of A.

On Monday and Tuesday meetings were held at Fernie and Michel and on Tuesday evening at Blairmore. On Wednesday morning President Sherman addressed the miners at Hillcrest, and at Bellevue in the afternoon.

The Journal: "What is the general attitude of the men?"

President Sherman: "General reports received at head office indicate that District 18 is united against any reduction in wages. I have addressed meetings in the Crow's Nest Pass and have found that 100 per cent of the union men are united behind the policies of the conference committee and there is every indication that they will remain so until a satisfactory agreement is negotiated on a basis of no reduction in wages."

"Is it not correct that Hon. James Murdock suggested a settlement on a reduction of one-eighth per day?"

Mr. Sherman: Murdock's compromise plan meant a reduction of $1.25 to contract miners and an average of 86c to day men. Where the minimum wage for contract miners is $7.50 per day, the terms of settlement as suggested by the Federal Minister of Labor would mean a reduction of 93 cents per day. Mr. Murdock's plan was rejected by both sides."

"Is it not true that some of the miners favor going back to work on one-eighth of a reduction in wages as recommended by Mr. Murdock?"

Mr. Sherman: "There is no sentiment to indicate such a thing."

"How do you find public opinion?"

Mr. Sherman: "Public opinion is more or less lined up as in favor of the miners in spite of the fact that Murdock issued such an unjust statement in respect to the situation. Mr. Murdock's statement being an interview which appeared in the Calgary Herald and was to the effect that the miners' officials and conference committee were responsible for breaking off negotiations. The facts of the situation being that the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association rejected Mr. Murdock's so-called compromise proposal as did the miners' conference committee."

"Is this prolonged idleness liable to cause a loss of some markets for our coal?"

Mr. Sherman: "We anticipate that the operators will suffer as a result of the strike. There is no question about that."

"If a loss of markets, won't a loss of future work for local miners also be the result?"

Mr. Sherman: "We recognize that in the Crow's Nest Pass there is a quality of coal which is second to none on the North American continent, and when the settlement is finally reached I anticipate that the coal operators of this district will have but very little trouble in reestablishing themselves in their former markets."

"Won't the men be given a chance to vote?"

Mr. Sherman: "The miners' special scale convention which convened at Calgary prior to the strike instructed their conference committee to negotiate the best agreement possible on a basis of no reduction in wages and when arriving at that point to submit same to a referendum vote of the rank and file of the district for ratification."

"Will District 18 be financially supported by the International? If so, to what extent?"

Mr. Sherman: "That is a question of importance to the organization only and not a matter that we desire to make public comment on."

The President of District 18 concluded the interview by stating that he believed the miners would eventually win their demands, although he would not say how soon he thought the strike would be settled.

OPERATORS TAKE AN EMPHATIC STAND

Drumheller, Aug. 20.—At a meeting of the Red Deer Valley Operators' association, at which practically every mine in the Drumheller field was represented, Tuesday, a resolution was unanimously passed that the operators would carry the strike to a finish. The resolution stated that the association had made its last effort to effect a settlement and that any further move in that direction must come from the miners. The association's mines are all closed and will remain so indefinitely.

THE LATEST DISPATCHES

Berlin, Aug. 22.—The Reichstag session convened to hear Chancellor's statement on reparations but was adjourned because of communist disturbances.

Piedmont, Aug. 22.—President Coolidge is understood to hold that it is useless to call another disarmament conference until the reparations problem is settled. The question of debts to the United States is also contingent on this settlement.

Cape Farwell, Greenland, Aug. 22.—The Italian world flier did not reach here with the U.S. aviators and anxiety is felt for his safety.

New York, Aug. 22.—The men's clothing stores here announce that the Prince of Wales, who sails tomorrow for the United States, will set fashions for this season. His arrival is eagerly awaited.

Seagirt, N.J., Aug. 22.—John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for president, denounced the Ku Klux Klan by name and calls on President Coolidge to do the same.

London, Aug. 22.—Speaking on the new immigration agreement between the British government and Canada, Hon. J. A. Robb says the former will allow £300 as minimum for purchase of farm equipment.

Paris, Aug. 21.—Premier Herriot tonight won assurance of a favorable vote in the Chamber of Deputies after he had read a long declaration describing his negotiations at the London conference. The danger that the senate would take hostile action seemed very remote.

SCHOOL MUSIC IS VALUABLE

"The public schools have always been the bulwark of this nation," writes Philip Gordon, director of music in the South Side High School, Newark, N.J., in the Music Trades. "And it is in the schools that something is being done which will, in time, develop a generation of music-loving citizens, whose tastes will be higher than the savage and degenerate 'music' which now fills us with joy. The teaching of musical appreciation is rapidly reaching the point where the understanding of this art will be on a level with that of literature among high school graduates.

"The writer admits that the class in musical appreciation gives him more pleasure than does any other class he teaches. For the results achieved are the most far-reaching. Pupils enter the course with no notion whatever of the difference between good music and bad, except what they have learned in their own piano or violin playing. They finish their work with a keen understanding of the great masters and a good sense of judgment regarding pieces that are new to them.

"In order that the course may be conducted on as high a plane as possible, we enquire into the previous record of students who desire to take musical appreciation instead of the required study of theory and sight reading. Such pupils are questioned regarding their knowledge of music (most of them make excellent material because they have studied some instrument) or their general interest in music. We find a number of pupils with keen minds and a great love of music, who have never attained any executive ability whatever. To these pupils music is a very great pleasure and they learn to listen with the greatest understanding, but they have no ability as performers. The point is important as showing that the ability to play a musical instrument is in no way necessary to a very keen appreciation of the beauties of musical art.

The course itself is conducted as a combination of the study of musical history with musical appreciation. Because most of the pupils are seniors (though their ages run from 15 to about 17 years in this city), the course as given by the writer takes the pupils' knowledge of literature as a background and employs the methods of literary study in the study of musical appreciation. We begin with Matthew Arnold's essay on "The Study of Poetry" and analyze the substance of the poet's judgment. Then musical examples are given, developing the same standard in our own art.

"Next we put into practice our recently established standards of good music by an intensive study of the works of Beethoven, the greatest of all composers. This fixes firmly in the minds of the children the very highest principles of musical judgment. The only trouble is that, once the class has tasted the music of Beethoven it is difficult to interest them in the works of lesser men.

"After the life and works of Beethoven have been done with satisfactory thoroughness, including not merely the analysis of his themes, their development, and the general study of the formal elements, but also the difficult and elusive problem of subject matter or content we take up the chronological development of music. The origins and the elements in modern music which we derive from the impulses of primitive man always make attractive subject matter. Folksong is also very interesting especially as it can be correlated with literature and history. The pupils have studied Chaucer and the old epics and they have a good knowledge of general history.

"By this time the minds of the pupils are ready to receive Bach's works, which are administered, however, in homeopathic doeses. Then we take up the period of Hydn and Mozart, leading up to Beethoven, whom we now view in a new light. The historical events of the eighteenth century and the social changes of the time add a new interest to the musical studies.

"Of great value to the students is the survey of modern music, beginning with the romantic composers of the 19th century. By comparing them with the poets whom they have previously studied, the pupils are able to get a firm grasp on the essential characteristics of the style of the period and aims of the composers. Many interesting discussions take place regarding the problems of musical appreciation that arise as we approach the composers of the present day. Especially with regard to music that illustrates a story and the harmonic vagaries of contemporary composers, there is always a diversity of opinion, and we have many enlightening remarks on the part of the young listeners.

"Altogether, in the course in musical appreciation we manage to get a general view of the whole development of instrumental music, especially for piano and for orchestra. We learn to distinguish the great music from the mediocre. A class that finishes an intensive study in this manner will never be satisfied with anything but worthy music."

TRANSPLANTS LIVING HEART

A living, beating heart has at last been transplanted from one living body to another. Into a body already supplied with a heart, Dr. Ph. Stohr of Wurzburg placed a beating heart taken from another body. And he succeeded in keeping both hearts alive, functioning in the same body. Dr. Stohr has also succeeded in isolating the heart system from the organism and developing it outside the body for a considerable length of time. We read in Science Service's Daily Science News Bulletin:

"The experiments were on embyro salamanders. Although there is a wide gap between salamanders and man, it is the ultimate hope of all such experiments that the same thing may eventually be accomplished in the case of man. However far the present discovery may be from such an eventuality because of the numerous intricate problems that must first be solved, it is of great interest and import.

"Dr. Stohr first attempted to confirm the findings of another scientist named Ekman, who had demonstrated successfully that the undeveloped embyronic heart of the salamander is capable of not only remaining alive outside the organism but also of developing into several parts. Stohr succeeded in the case of salamanders and tritons in 70 cases and kept hearts alive for as long as three weeks.

"In other cases Stohr transplanted the heart from one embyro to another ,thus producing larva or tadpoles with two hearts each. These tadpoles successfully kept alive for a period of time, long enough to show the result of an extra heart on the development of the animal. During these experiments Stohr learned several noteworthy and interesting facts. He found that the power to perform regular contractions is the inherent property of each heart cell and not a function of the nervous system or of the immediate surroundings of the heart.

"He also learned that there was an extraordinary regularity of pulse-beat in the excised hearts. In only five cases out of the 70 were there irregularities, and these exceptions were capable of explanation. He also noted that each heart cell or entire heart has a rythm all its own and can not be influenced by the rhythm of another heart in the same body. Neither heart cares what the other heart is doing. A rise of temperature causes the pulse rate of both to increase, but in the same proportion in each case.

"In successfully implanting hearts there are three possible arrangements: 1. The new heart may send the blood stream in the same direction as the regular heart; 2. The new heart may work in the opposite direction, causing a conflict in the circulation; 3. The heart is only joined on at one end after the manner of an appendix. It is also possible that the new heart may find no connection at all in the common blood-stream and build for itself a new circulatory system.

"Stohr also learned that the heart is extremely jealous of its functions. When a new heart was implanted in a body where there was already one, without being properly oriented, they got along about as well as two roosters in one barnyard. The two hearts battled for the blood-stream. If both were fortunate enough to obtain enough blood there was no danger to their existence and both developed. In most cases, however, the original heart being first on the spot gained the supremacy over the new heart, and the development of the latter ceased.

"In some cases the new heart proved stronger and little by little destroyed the weakening heart originally there. When a new heart was first implanted in an embyro salamander it was noted that development was at first distinctly arrested on the side where the implantation was made. But after several weeks symmetry was again established and normal development apparently occurred."

Prospects now are that the fall session of the Legislature will open on Tuesday, Oct. 27 and be of brief duration. There is little contentious legislation on the agenda and between six and seven weeks should be sufficient to dispose of all the business that will come up.

The law courts are a repositary of wit, wisdom, and humor, too, but the latter is not always discernible to the learned judges and lawyers who are themselves not seldom the perpetrators of the jokes which amuse the multitude. A woman in New Jersey has been asked to show cause why she should not be considered legally dead. Of this The Baltimore Sun says: "The Surrogate who makes this ruling might also be asked to show cause why a woman who is visibly alive should not also be so legally. If the law can be used to uphold any such foolishness as calling a person dead in the face of his own denials, there is no telling how many men will be collecting their own life insurance and dodging the payment of income taxes. And it would be very difficult to hold a so-called dead man to account for his behaviour, for apart from the difficulty of convincing a jury that a defunct individual drove an automobile recklessly or persisted in playing a mechanical piano at two a.m., it is generally agreed that one should speak and think as charitably as possible of the departed. This game of becoming dead by law is a dangerous one to introduce."

EXPORTS INCREASE AND IMPORTS DECREASE

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—A decrease of more than forty million in the value of goods imported into Canada for consumption in the Dominion in the first four months of the fiscal year, as compared with the same period in 1923-24, is shown in the trade statement issued through the customs department. Total importations during the four months ended July 31 were valued at $271,288,586, while a year ago they amounted to $314,-153,440, a decrease of $42,864,854.

Despite this decline the decrease in the grand total of Canadian trade for the four months period as compared with the same period a year ago is only $22,579,852. An increase of $20,-954,204 in domestic exports in the four months offset to a certain extent the decrease in imports which so markedly affected the grand total. The total value of domestic goods which left Canada during the four months under review was $327,309,-594 as against $306,335,390 a year ago. The grand total of Canadian trade for the four months was $602,666,714 as against $625,246,566 in 1923.

Figures for July alone show a decline in the total Canadian trade of $700,235. Domestic exports were $37,-059,218 as against $82,997,748 in July 1923. Domestic imports were $72,631,-365 as against $77,074,230 a year ago.

It is noticeable that the exports of agricultural and vegetables rose in value from $101,569,671 in the four months period a year ago to $131,-994,825 in the four months just ended.

SCREEN PLAYERS OF NOTE IN FINE KIPLING PICTURE

Jacqueline Logan, Percy Marmont, Sigrid Holmquist and David Torrance are featured players in George Melford's Paramount production, "The Light That Failed," from Rudyard Kipling's famous story, which will be on view at the Orpheum theatre on Wednesday next.

Jacqueline Logan, who heads the cast, is one of the best known heroines of the screen. She has appeared in many Paramount pictures in roles which called for unusual ability and has a large following. Fourteen pictures in two years is the medium through which this popular player has won her way to public favor. Among them are "White and Unmarried," "Ebb Tide," "Java Head" and "Mr. Billings Spends His Dime" and "Salomy Jane."

Percy Marmont, who plays the role of "Dick Heldar," opposite Miss Logan's characterization of "Bessie Broke," is an English actor whose appearance and experience render him especially fit for this role. Mr. Marmont is well known in England where he has achieved distinction in motion pictures and on the stage.

David Torrance, who plays "Torpenhow," is a brother of Ernest Torrence of "Covered Wagon" fame and has many successes to his own credit.

Much of the story action in "The Light That Failed" is located in Port Said and the Soudan country. This is one of the most ambitious pictures yet produced by George Melford. It shows the terrible hardships of the Soudan campaign which avenged the death of General Gordon at Khartoum. Among the big scenes is a surprise attack by desert tribesmen on the British camp. Several thousand minor players participate.

The love interest between two of the strangest sweethearts ever seen on the screen has as a background a passage in 19th century history which is filled with color and drama. Luke Cosgrave and Mabel Van Buren are in the supporting cast.

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

GET THIN IN SUMMER

Summer is "reducing-time," according to Marion Bailey, who writes on this subject in the "Home Hygiene and Economics" department of Good Health (Battle Creek, Mich.). Individuals burdened with an excess of avoirdupois should greet the coming of summer with delight, she says, rather than with dread of discomfort. The reason is that summer time is an ideal time to "reduce," for the body requires less food than in winter, fresh fruits and vegetables are easily procured; and walking and swimming are pleasant. She writes:

"Diet, of course, is the most important feature, and since the overweight is usually caused by taking an oversupply of food, the first essential is that the amount of food taken be materially reduced. This would, of course, be unwise in the case of elderly people or children, and no attempt at rapid reduction should be made in their case then. For the average individual who is considerably overweight, the diet may be reduced in amount to three-fourths of the normal intake without discomfort, and by careful planning, reduced to one-half the usual amount with only slight discomfort.

"Fasting is not a safe way to reduce—in this method the proteins, lime, iron and vitamins are all neglected, and the starving body must utilize not only its excess fat, but must draw upon the muscles and other body tissues, thus lowering the vitality and weakening the heart and other important organs. Frequently, too, rapid loss of fat is not accompanied by equally rapid loss of tissue, particularly skin tissue, and sagging folds of skin will be left. Reduction may be rapid for a week or two at the beginning—amounting even to a pound a day—but then reduction must be gradual, and depend upon exercise, sweating or sun baths as well as diet regulation.

"When the diet is decreased, the lessened tmount of food causes the fat reserves of the body to be attacked first, and reduction starts at once. Only a small amount of salt should be taken. When an individual who is overweight eats salt in excess, water is retained in proportion, and excess weight is thus caused.

"Bulk must occupy a very prominent place in the reducing dietary for two reasons—bulk gives a sense of fulness which is usually associated in our minds with being 'well-fed'—it satisfies the appetite, thus avoiding that most objectionable feeling of hunger, and also regulates the action of the eliminative organs.

"Constipation is apt to prove a serious menace when the amount of food eaten is so materially decreased, and bulk will prove of great value here. Good elimination must be obtained in order to achieve desired results. Gluten bread is useful in this connection, as is also the coarsest bran bread, for they supply bulk with a low amount of food value.

"The vegetables eaten should be steamed or boiled, and served with as little butter as possible—cream sauces being entirely restricted.

"In order to promote variety in a necessarily rather restricted diet, salads may be used if made of fresh vegetables or fruits and served with a 'special' mayonnaise. This is made by substituting paraffin oil for olive oil, and the taste is not the least objectionable—it will, in fact, pass unnoticed. Raw cabbage can be used liberally in salads in this way, and also string beans and asparagus.

"When the diet is supervised as above laid out—lowering the total intake—substituting bulky foods for those high in carbohydrate and fat (the fat-producing foods) and lowering the salt intake, a safe and sure reduction is accomplished, and four or five pounds a week may be lost with perfect safety."

Some of the best American newspapers are waxing vividly sarcastic over the sentimental dispensation of justice in the United States. Here is an excerpt from the Kansas City Star: "This pretty prattling babe in Chicago who beat a companion to death with a chisel, poured acid over his face and stuffed his body in a sewer, has wrung our hearts again. He has lisped a request for some stick candy to eat in jail. That the judge did not instantly discharge the prisoner, or at least take him on his lap and rock him to sleep, is past understanding. It shows how the miserable technicaltities of the law are, in the solemn words of Mr. Darrow, sapping the founts of human sympathy and of common human kindness. . . Let us have done with this barbarous attempt to snatch two young lives in their bloom. . . Oh, snatched away in beauty's bloom. . . Snatched away with red striped candy in their chubby fists, cooing and gurgling in the hangman's face. Ah, no! Let us preserve them for society to sob over, for Mr. Darrow to point a moral and adorn a tale with, for lady reporters to psycho-analyze and for human sympathy to lave itself with as in a soft, lappy ocean of bottomless goof." We do not know what "goof" is, but it sounds in unison with the sentiments expressed, though sarcastically, by the Kansas City Star.

Use Palmolive PRINCESS SOAP FLAKES—and see fragile crepes, silks, laces, come from laundering absolutely unharmed. Colors brightened and freshened, if anything.

The great foam of suds contains nothing to hurt the daintiest fabric, the most delicate coloring. It dissolves the dirt, however, most thoroughly—and washes it away.

These snowy, crinkly flakes contain nothing but pure soap. So they go farther, cleanse more efficiently. That makes it economical to use them in the washing machine, for all laundering, and for every general household purpose.

WHAT YOU CAN NEVER KNOW

It is amazing, the vast number of things that have been learned by the world's people through the centuries. The sum total of human knowledge is so gigantic that the brightest brains would have to live thous---ands upon thousands of years to master it all.

For instance, the carpenter has knowledge that is entirely unknown to the chemist. Every different line of work requires a great amount of knowledge that is unknown to the outsiders.

It takes a man an entire lifetime to begin to learn about farming, chemistry, statesmanship or any of all the other long line of human activities.

We have barely scratched the surface of human activities. And yet a man could live thousands of lifetimes, in each one following a different line of work, and at the end he would only have acquired a fraction of the knowledge that has been found out by the human race at large.

To succeed, a man must specialize on some one thing. In that field he needs all the facts he can soak up.

But when it comes to general knowledge, it is futile to attempt to learn everything. It simply cannot be done. The important thing is to be taught how to find knowledge when occasion arises for using it. A dictionary is just as useful to the average person as several years' study of foreign languages—unless the languages will be used in his life's work.

A warning is issued that at the present time this country and the United States are being flooded by literature dealing with alleged cures for cancer. That warning is summarized in a statement made by Dr. George A. Soper, Managing Director of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, who says: "I say with all the emphasis at my command, with the assurance that it represents, not my individual opinion alone, but that of an overwhelming number of the men who have studied cancer most deeply, that at the present moment nobody should be believed to have a medical cure for cancer. Nothing has occurred during the past few months, no statement has been made, no demonstration has been given, no evidence has been put forward through the press or before any society of medical men, to convince the scientific world that any new discovery of a helpful character has been made in connection with the cause or cure of this disease."

EDITORIAL ECHOES

THE public has been much absorbed in reading the proceedings in Chicago pertaining to the Leopold-Loeb hearing.

As the case has proceeded the guilt of the parties who confessed the kidnaping and murder of the Franks boy seems all the more firmly established. There seems no doubt that the accused are guilty not alone of deliberate and wilful murder but of the heinous crime of kidnaping as well.

There was no provocation to the slaying of the child and the only motive back of his seizure was to obtain ransom funds. Either offense is in and of itself sufficient proof that the perpetrators thereof are desperadoes of the first magnitude, yet there is a plea a-plenty for leniency in punishment.

Seldom if ever has such brazen crime been committed and only occasionally has there been the effort to spare the offenders from the prescribed penalty. Meanwhile the public looks on discouraged and suspicious.

Crimes such as Leopold and Loeb admit can not be dealt with too quickly nor too severely. If hanging by the neck was ever justified, and most of us believe such is the case, there is certainly no other disposition to be made of these two human perverts. The dual turn of their vicious ambitions make their case an exceptional occasion for summary punishment.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Robt. Billsborough returned this week from a trip to Vancouver.

The regular meeting of the city council was called off last night owing to lack of business.

M. A. Kastner and family motored to Banff on Saturday last. They will be gone about a week.

A Russian employed in Frank Gallagher's timber camp had the misfortune to break a leg yesterday. He is in the Fernie hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Stewart, Mrs. Robertson and Harvey Brown are away doing the Banff-Windermere trip this week.

Don. McLeod, who has been visiting in Trail for several weeks, returned to Fernie on Tuesday. Don. says there is lots of work at Trail, but seven days a week is a tough grind.

Chief Anderson is on the rampage for certain parties who are alleged to have sold doped liquor to customers. He states that there have been four hospital cases lately and he intends to put a stop to the evil or know the reason why.

Father Kennedy's kid baseball team will go to Michel on Wednesday next to play a double-header with Coleman and Michel. For really snappy baseball you should see the little lads perform and Father Kennedy is jolly well proud of them.

Mrs. F. E. Alexander and children, while motoring to Fernie from Pincher Creek early in the week, were crowded off the highway by a road hog and the machine badly damaged. No one was hurt and the road hog will have to settle for the damaged car.

Walter Williams, accused of having carnal knowledge of a child, came up before Judge Thompson on Wednesday for speedy trial. Before the case had proceeded very far the Judge ruled it out of court as there was no corroborative evidence.

Owing to the absence of five or six of our best golfers on Sunday last, the Blairmore team had no trouble in pulling off a decisive victory over the locals. It rained very hard in the morning but in the afternoon the weather cleared and the golfers all had a fine match. Fernie will visit Blairmore shortly for a return game.

VOTE ON CONVENTION BEING TAKEN BY MINERS

(Calgary Herald))

William Sherman, president of the coal miners' organization here, who returned on Thursday from camps in the Crow's Nest Pass, stated that at all the camps the miners were determined to resist any cut in wages and that they "would fight to a finish."

Asked if that were the case how it was that some of the camps had demanded a district convention, Mr. Sherman said that was merely to discuss methods of carrying on the strike.

Replying to a further question he said that there would have to be a two-thirds majority of the whole of the membership before a district convention was called. That matter was now before all the locals.

DEATH COMING AT EARLY AGE

London, Aug. 18.—While 1923 was a record year in Great Britain in the matter of health, as pointed out by Sir George Newman, chief medical of Health, he calls attention to the officer, in his report to the Ministry excessive mortality among the people under 50 years of age and urges the carrying out of popular education in hygiene and also a systematic research.

The report makes note of the fact that sinre 1921 there has been an increase of smallpox which apparently has not yet reached its zenith and of the further fact that tuberculosis and cancer continue to be formidable foes of the people. Sir George urges healthy habits among the people as a means of fighting cancer and tuberculosis.

The births in the United Kingdom in 1923 totalled nearly 20 per 1000 of population, according to the report. The death rate and infant mortality last year were the lowest in the country's history.

Notwithstanding the unusually healthy year, the loss of time in 1923 due to sickness, the report adds, cost the country at least 10 times more than the loss owing to labor trouble.

Crimean Veteran Praises "Fruit-a-tives"

MAJOR GEO. WALKER

Major George Walker, now a familiar figure in Chatham, Ontario, is one of the men who went through the terrible Indian Mutiny. As he says: "I am a veteran of the Crimean War and the Indian Mutiny, serving under Lord Roberts. Fierce hand-to-hand fighting and continual exposure left me a great sufferer from Rheumatism, so much so that my legs swelled up, making it impossible for me to walk. My bowels were so constipated that I was in terrible shape until I began to use 'Fruit-a-tives.' They relieved me both of the Rheumatism and the Constipation. Today, I enjoy perfect health—no more Rheumatism or Constipation."

And in another letter, written December 1st, 1923 (eleven years after), Major Walker says: "'Fruit-a-tives' are keeping me in the best of health and I shall never be without them."

"Fruit-a-tives" are the famous Fruit Treatment — intensified fruit juices combined with tonics—that make you well and keep you well. 25c and 50c—at all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

BEER VOTE IS STILL AN ISSUE IN B.C.

Much public curiosity has been aroused as to what has become of the beer plebiscite taken last June. Some time in the course of the count of the ballots the pubilc lost interest and nobody but officials of the Moderation League and Prohibition Association has latterly been keeping track of the progress of events by which will be determined whether certain towns and cities in the province are to have beer sold by the glass.

It has been ascertained that out of 40 constituencies in the province 23 voted for beer and 17 against it. Vancouver is in the "Yes" column along with Nanaimo, Prince Rupert Fernie, Cranbrook and a few other centres, while Victoria, New Westminster and Kamloops voted "No."

The total vote for the whole province was almost exactly evenly divided, the total majority being little less than 1000 against beer but as it is the local vote, and not the general vote which counts, little significance is attached to that.

While the general public has more or less lost sight of the outcome, it appears that the pros and antis have been watching the situation closely and action on establishing licenses in places where the plebiscite carried is being held up pending outcome of a recount of the vote in Vancouver at the request of Rev. W. W. Peck, prohibition organizer. This recount cannot take place for a week or 10 days yet as the returning officer and his staff are busy on the count of the election ballots cast on the same day.

In the meantime summer, the thirsty season, is passing and nobody knows what action the government will take. In view of the plebiscite having been of the local option variety moderationists are strongly urging that localities which voted in favor of beer are certain to have their experssed wish gratified, while phohibitionists are preparing to leave no stone unturned to prevent what they describe as a return of the bar.

The matter will probably come before the government for action almost immediately after the Nelson by-election, which is in the meantime holding so much of the government's attention as to preclude serious action on any other problem Owing to the manner in which the legislation for the plebiscite was prepared the matter calls for no further action by the House. The whole question will be settled by the government, as all legal machinery for putting beer by the glass on sale has been provided already. The Liquor Control Board, however, will have to draft the regulations under which the sale will be conducted.

COLONIZATION WORK

Colonization work carried on by the railway department under Hon. J. D. McLean, is showing good results. Twelve families have taken up residence on lands along the P.G. E. railway and 28 prospective settlers are choosing homes. Hon. Dr. McLean states that 1500 prospective new settlers have been communicated with. They are chiefly farmers with savings of $1000 to $5000, and many of them intend to come to B.C. this year. The minister maintains that every effort must be made to secure settlers for the P.G.E. lands. This is the only method, he believes, by which the country can be opened up and the railway put on a paying basis.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR STRIKE IS FIXED

From the official statement, made on Friday, by Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor, it is clearly evident that the onus for the continuance of the strike in District 18, U.M.W.A., rests entirely upon the officials of that organization. It is not the men themselves who are blamed by Mr. Murdock, but those who have been appointed by the miners to direct their affairs. The responsibility resting upon these officials is very great. The strike has already lasted four months and has cost the miners a huge sum in wages, has cost the operators another huge sum, and has cost the province a great deal more; for the market that had been built up in Manitoba and the East after laborious and expensive efforts, has been swept away, with American coal replacing the product formerly mined in Alberta. Mr. Murdock states explicity that the operators were ready to compromise, but that the miners' officials showed no such disposition, and he makes the very serious charge that these officials "have not a proper regard for the rights and interest of the public in this matter." He could hardly have arraigned the miners' leaders more severely nor exposed the impropriety of their attitude more impressively nor more resolutely.—Calgary Herald.

LOCAL & GENERAL

W. R. Wilson left this morning on a trip to Toronto and New York.

Fred Kennedy returned on Saturday from a six weeks visit with old friends in the East.

The fall assize court will open in Fernie on Sept. 3. There are no criminal cases on the docket yet.

Mrs. Fred Johnson, who has been spending the holidays with her husband here, will return to Vancouver on Monday.

A Trites-Wood truck collided with a bicycle ridden by a boy named Hughes yesterday. The lad was injured and taken to the hospital.

You are cordially invited to the whist drive and dance to be held in the Catholic Hall tonight, Friday, August 22. Cards from 8.30 to 10.30. Refreshments. Dancing from 11.00 to 1.00. Admission 50c.

The C.G.I.T. girls who have been camped at McBain's Lake for the past ten days, broke camp yesterday. Although the weather during the past week was wet the girls report a fine time.

Jack Gates and Billy McKay are up in the Kimberley district rustling funds for work on the Beck well. Jack returned on Saturday from Shelby and says conditions look good at the well.

Word received in town yesterday says that S. F. Wallace, our well known townsman, is lying at the point of death in Calgary, the result of an operation to remove a cancerous growth.

William Ryan, vice-president of district 18, U.M.W. of A., is in the general hospital suffering from internal injuries and severe shock, and Rod McDonald, of Calgary, international representative; John Johnston, of Blairmore, and Alex. Susner, of Nordegg, are suffering from body bruises and shock which they received when a big Studebaker automobile, driven by Ryan, overturned on the Bowness trail, Calgary, last Friday afternoon.

A quiet wedding took place in Michel on Saturday when two well known Fernie young people were united in the bonds of matrimony in the persons of Mr. Gordon McTeer, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. McTeer, of Calgary, and Miss Devina Small, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Small, of Fernie. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Redman. The young couple have the best wishes of a host of Fernie friends.

The Rotary committee who are inspecting the city gardens with a view to awarding the A. B. Trites prizes for the best kept gardens, etc., are having a difficult time this year. They report that there are so many places that are really in top notch condition that the task of selecting the winners will be very difficult. A. Klauer, who is chairman of the committee, says that never in Fernie before has he seen so many beautifully kept gardens.

Bill Sherman is spreading a lot of propaganda in the press about the solidity of District 18 in the matter of the strike. There is a widespread spirit of discontent prevailing in every camp, which keeps the henchmen of Lewis on the jump all the time and which one of these days is going to break out and smash the Union to smithereens. Trying to win a strike on miserable little doles of fuor or five dollars a month is a tough proposition and is bound to end in a fizzle.

Blairmore Enterprise: The poles for the East Kootenay secondary power line are being erected along the north side of the river. A gang of 17 men are camped across the river opposite Sixth avenue. Rumor has it that this gang will follow up the erection of poles as far as Macleod, and possibly Lethbridge. The towns through the Pass are enjoying excellent service from the East Kootenay Power Co., who have sufficient power at their disposal in the Bull River and Elko plants to electrify the entire district from Cranbrook to Medicine Hat.

W. Watmough left on Sunday for a few weeks holidays at the coast.

The heavy rains of the past week have been bad for haying operations in this neighborhood.

Mrs. S. F. Wallace and Miss Edna left for Calagry last evening, where they were called owing to the serious illness of Mr. Wallace.

Merle Ault knocked out a home run at Spokane on Wednesday playing with the Coeur d'Alene team against the Eagles of Spokane.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Marsh, Miss Blanche Labelle and Arnold Orneby, of Kalispell, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Meade over the week end.

Thomas Beck, a well known insurance man, resident of Fernie, was in Cranbrook this week on business connected with his profession.—Cranbrook Courier.

L. Edwards, a tourist from Florida, drove his car into an Indian, who was also driving a car, over near Bull River. The Indian's outfit was badly smashed and he phoned to the police at Fernie to hold the tourist until he paid the bill.

A. Macdonald, of Winnipeg, head of the famous wholesale concern of that name, with branches throughout Western Canada, was a Fernie visitor on Saturday last. He and his local manager, Thos. Prentice, paid a visit to the Company's timber operations at Galloway.

The joint Memorial Day services of the Pythian Sisters and Knights of Pythias will be held in the I.O.O.F. Hall at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 24. After the service all members and Sisters will proceed to the cemetery for the purpose of decorating the graves of the departed Brothers and Sisters. All Sisters and Knights are requested to bring flowers for the purpose.

Three of our local nimrods appeared before Magistrate Stenson on Monday charged by Chief Greenwood with breaking the Game Act. They all pleaded guilty and were sentenced accordingly. One offence was for carrying a gun without a license and another for carrying firearms in an automobile during the close season for game birds. Chief Greenwood pointed out that a fine of anywhere from $10 to $300 or imprisonment may be imposed for the above offence.

Wm. Sherman, President of District 18, addressed a mass meeting of the Fernie miners on Monday last. Intense indignation was expressed by a large number of the men at the tardy way in which the strike was being handled. A resolution was passed demanding that a convention of the district be called immediately, and another one to the effect that President Lewis be informed that unless adequate strike relief was provided before the end of the month that the men themselves will seek to reach some solution of the trouble.

RADIO REVOLUTION PREDICTED

Lecturing in the Capitoline Building at Rome, Senator Marconi said recently that developments of wireless had been following a blind alley by the constant use of long wavelengths. He prophesied that soon nothing but stations of very small power will be in use, due to the application of recent discoveries on short wave-lengths and the means of directional waves, like beams of light, which have been patented by himself and his engineer, Franklin, of the Marconi Company. By short wavelengths he said he meant waves with length measured in feet, or even inches, instead of in thousands of feet. We read in the New York Times:

"For his system, which consists in the use of waves of very short length and directing them in beams toward the receiving station, Senator Marconi claims the following advantages over the old system:

"First, that it works efficiently with only a fraction of the power necessary hitherto, and that, therefore, the first cost of sending stations will be greatly reduced;

"Second, that it permits greater speed in sending, and that, therefore, each station will be able to do a greater amount of work in the same time;

"Third, that short wave-lengths are almost never affected by atmosphesic disturbances, and that, therefore, it will be possible to guarantee a continuous service every minute of the twenty-four hours;

"Fourth, that the greater range of wave-lengths available will permit a larger number of stations to be installed without any danger of their interfering with each other.

"The result of these four factors working together, he said, will certainly lead to the schapping in the near future of all the high-power stations at present in existence and the substitution of small, cheap stations doing a greater amount of work better and at small cost. Thus, in its turn, will lead to a notable reduction in the rates now charged for commercial wireless messages, he said.

"Senator Marconi reminded his audience that in a lecture he delivered in the same hall in 1903, immediately after having established the fact of wireless communication, he said that communication between the most distant parts of the globe would soon be possible. He added that this, at twenty-one years distance, was now accomplished and that short wavelengths would in the future permit these communications to be maintained more regularly, more easily, more efficiently and at lower cost.

"At first twelve kilowatts were used at the sending station of Poldhu, England, and signals were picked up by Marconi on his yacht Elettra at a distance of 4,000 kilometers. The signals were so strong that they drowned out all station discharges and atmospheric disturbances, and the results thus obtained were far superior to those which could be obtained with 200 kilowatts on an ordinary system.

'The power at the sending station was then reduced to one kilowatt, and this was found amply sufficient to maintain regular service between two points at 2,000 kilometers' distances.

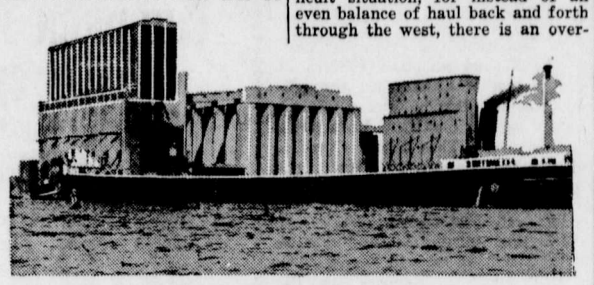
'With a wave-length of 90 meters, he said, two or three kilowatts would be quite sufficient to communicate regularly across the Atlantic ocean.

"His most notable achievement, he stated, was the experiment he performed on May 30 of this year. Using only twenty-eight kilowatts, the human voice broadcast at Poldhu was picked up in Sydney, Australia. He confessed that it was a surprise even to himself to receive the report from the manager of the Australian Wireless Company stating that the message was clear, loud and uniform, in spite of the fact that the receiving apparatus was improvised and of the most simple description. "The fact that under these adverse conditions twenty-eight kilowatts were able to span the greatest possible distance on the globe, he said, was of first-rate importance.

"Among the unexplained curiosities of wireless phenomena Marconi mentioned the fact that free wireless waves, if sent from Poldhu, England, in the morning, reach Australia via the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, covering in all a distance of 22,000 kilometers while if they are sent in the afternoon or evening they travel over Europe and Asia and cover a distance of only 17,000 kilometers.

"No adequate explanation of the different behavior of waves in the morning and afternoon has been found.

"Senator Marconi also announced his discovery that the intensity of wireless signals varies with the mean height of the sun over the region between the sending and receiving stations. What effect the sun has on the wireless waves is also still wrapt in mystery, he concluded."—The Literary Digest.



WESTERN CANADA'S RIVER OF WHEAT

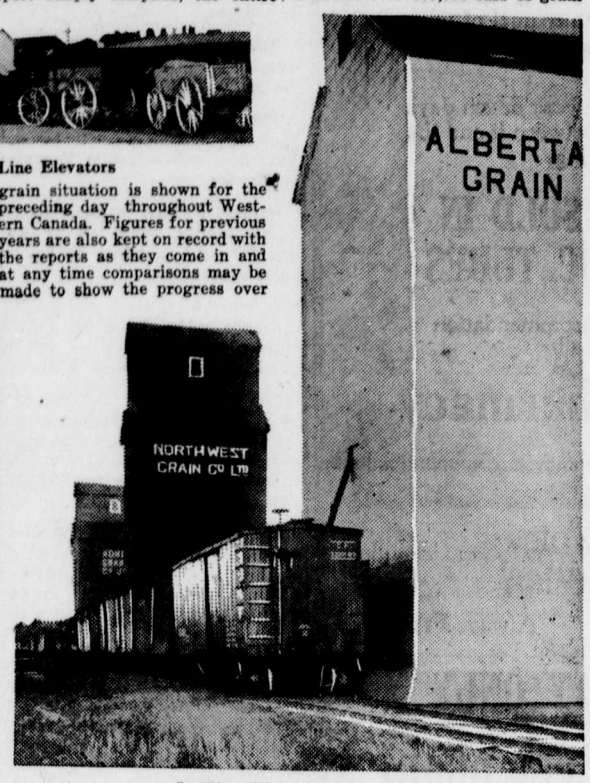
A NEVER-ENDING stream of gold, flowing from the farms of the Prairie Provinces to the consumers of bread stuffs in all parts of the civilized world, is represented by the movement of the farmers' grain to the world markets. Beginning in August each year and in some years flowing constantly forward until August of the following year, this everlasting river of wheat is Western Canada's contribution to the feeding of the civilized world. In the movement of this crop from the country elevators and loading platforms of the Prairie Provinces, the Canadian National Railways year by year are playing a more important part.

Farmers' Grain at Line Elevators

Long before the western farmer has finished his seeding in the spring, preparations have been begun by the railways to move his crop. Cars must be ordered, for each year more equipment is needed for the movement of the grain; other cars, which have been in service, must be brought into the repair yards and overhauled or rebuilt according to their needs, for the movement of grain is a strenuous work and grain cars show the effects of a season's haulage. And, since cars could not move forward without motive power, new locomotives of immense hauling power are necessary and must be ordered, while those which have already seen service in this strenuous work must also be brought in to the huge repair shops and overhauled and made ready.

Lake Carrier Loading at Terminal

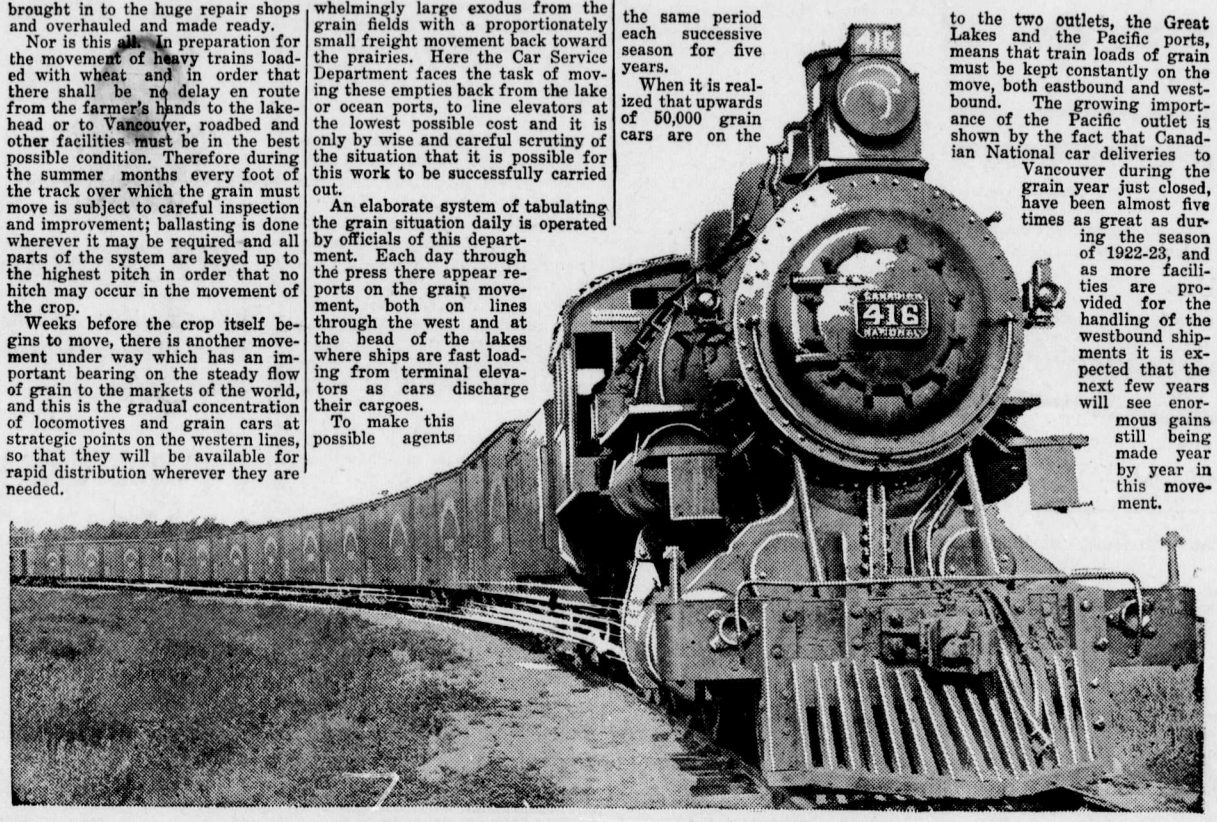
Nor is this all. In preparation for the movement of heavy trains loaded with wheat and in order that there shall be no delay en route from the farmer's hands to the lakehead or to Vancouver, roadbed and other facilities must be in the best possible condition. Therefore during the summer months every foot of the track over which the grain must move is subject to careful inspection and improvement; ballasting is done wherever it may be required and all parts of the system are keyed up to the highest pitch in order that no hitch may occur in the movement of the crop.



Weeks before the crop itself begins to move, there is another movement under way which has an important bearing on the steady flow of grain to the markets of the world, and this is the gradual concentration of locomotives and grain cars at strategic points on the western lines, so that they will be available for rapid distribution wherever they are needed.

So, as the season approaches for the hum of the binders to be heard across the prairies, everything is being prepared for the rush of the harvest work. Constant vigilance in this, as in every other great movement, is the price of safety and nothing is left undone to ensure that the movement forward shall be rapid, even, and unhampered. An important department, whose work is little seen outside of railway circles, is the Car Service Department, whose eye is watching night and day to see that grain cars are properly distributed and that once loaded, they move forward rapidly to the lake or ocean port from which further shipment is to take place.

During the grain rush each fall the Car Service officials meet a difficult situation, for instead of an even balance of haul back and forth through the west, there is an overwhelmingly large exodus from the grain fields with a proportionately small freight movement back toward the prairies. Here the Car Service Department faces the task of moving these empties back from the lake or ocean ports, to line elevators at the lowest possible cost and it is only by wise and careful scrutiny of the situation that it is possible for this work to be successfully carried out.



An elaborate system of tabulating the grain situation daily is operated by officials of this department. Each day through the press there appear reports on the grain movement, both on lines through the west and at the head of the lakes where ships are fast loading from terminal elevators as cars discharge their cargoes.

To make this possible agents of the company through the western region, compile a report on the loadings and movements of grain cars at the close of each day. These reports are telegraphed to Winnipeg where, with advices from the lakehead and Vancouver, they are assimilated. Hence, with one single report simply compiled, the entire grain situation is shown for the preceding day throughout Western Canada. Figures for previous years are also kept on record with the reports as they come in and at any time comparisons may be made to show the progress over the same period each successive season for five years.

Loading Wheat into Box Cars

When it is realized that upwards of 50,000 grain cars are on the Canadian National lines in the Western region almost continually, and that every movement of these cars must be checked in order that there shall be no confusion or delay in their handling, the enormity of the work of handling the grain movement may easily be realized. And to handle over 175,000 cars of grain to the two outlets, the Great Lakes and the Pacific ports, means that train loads of grain must be kept constantly on the move, both eastbound and westbound. The growing importance of the Pacific outlet is shown by the fact that Canadian National car deliveries to Vancouver during the grain year just closed, have been almost five times as great as during the season of 1922-23, and as more facilities are provided for the handling of the westbound shipments it is expected that the next few years will see enormous gains still being made year by year in this movement.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Conducted by the Canadian Forestry Association

Answer: About 6000—and 5400 are set by human recklessness. This year was much more favorable and the forest rangers are led to hope that public patriotism is at last getting a foothold in the forest.

Q.—Why is it that with our elaborate fire prevention services, we don't put forest conflagrations out of business?

A.—Because the public menace is desperately hard to catch up with. The first business of a fire ranger is not to watch the forest, but to watch the people. More people are entering the woods than ever before. This is partly a result of convenient roads and a multiplicity of automobiles. The Forest Services are doing splendid work and discover and extinguish thousands of fires that are never heard of by the general public.

Q.—I have heard it said that Sweden makes every lumberman plant as many trees as he cuts?

A.—The idea is right, but the details are misleading. Sweden makes it obligatory to have every square mile reproduce as good a forest as was cut down by the loggers. But this is not usually done by planting. area is re-seeded by Nature. This is sometimes supplemented by artificial planting.

Q.—Should not our Governments stop the cutting of little spruce and balsam trees for Christmas decorations?

A.—It all depends on where the trees come from. If they are from a farmer's pasture field, the business is quite legitimate. If the cutting ruins a landscape or clears off a watershed it is to be condemned. Please remember that a single forest fire can sweep away more 'Christmas trees' than would decorate a hundred thousand homes.

Q.—We Canadians have an impression that Japan is a deforested country. I think this is mistaken.

A.—Very much mistaken. Japan has not the magnificent big timbers of British Columbia or the Pacific Northwestern States, but she owns 90 million acres of good forest, a larger area of forest than exists in B.C. Japan is now keenly interested in forest conservation and has staffs of trained forester.

Bears are reported to be so numerous and daring in the Bella Coola district that the natives would not be surprised to see a big grizzly call at the postoffice and ask for "any mail for the Bruin family."

QUEER KINKS IN BRAINS

"Do shoplifters steal for the love of stealing or are they subject to a form of kleptomania?"

Storekeepers and police officials are unable to answer the question and cannot account for the queer kinks in the brains of some of the persons who are caught in the act of lifting goods in stores, things which in many instances are absolutely useless to the thieves.

"There is no way of accounting for the mania," said a police official. "They seem to steal just because they cannot restrain themselves, picking up objects which are practically worthless and which they would never think of buying."

A study of cases wherein light-fingered visitors to department stores have been apprehended with the goods in their possession shows this to be an apparent truth, the loot obtained by the thieves being of the most varied description.

Recently a poorly clad aged woman was caught in a store in the act of stealing a small article from one of the tables. On being taken to the office and searched, a number of comparatively worthless toys were found in her possession, all of which she admitted stealing.

She had no small children and no reason for purloining the goods, her only statement to the police being, "I don't wnow why I took them; I just saw them and picked them up."

In another case a married man walked into the "cash and carry" department of a store and lifted a can of vegetables, placed it in his poket and was walking out when arrested. He also was unable to account for his lapse from grace, as he had no use for the article he had stolen.

There are, however, a number of cases where the person stealing goods is imbued with a desire to possess a certain specific article, one such being investigated by the authorities some time ago, where a young girl was caught while attempting to get away with a silk dress from a store.

"My chum had a nice dress and I could not afford to buy one," she said. "So when I saw a chance to steal this one I did so."

How many thousands of dollars are lost yearly from stores through the machinations of shoplifters cannot be estimated, but the total is very high.

In many cases they are taken to the office of the store when caught and after they have disgorged their loot are allowed to go, but in some instances where it is believed they are professionals the police are called in.

Some years ago a quiet looking woman, plainly dressed, was found in one of the stores with a number of articles concealed about her clothing. They were apparently stolen from various stores and the police were called to investigate.

Search of her home, a small shack outside of the city, brought to light a collection of goods, from valuable cut glass articles, pieces of jewelry and dress goods to shoes and toys, valued at several thousands of dollars.

The goods were packed away in a rude basement beneath the house and much of the loot could never be of the slightest use to the thief, or of the slightest benefit, as it was not saleable.

One of the strangest forms of mania which has come under the notice of the authortities for some years was the case of a prominent man, who some years ago was suspected of a number of thefts.

A search of his home situated in the residential district where he was held in high esteem, revealed dozens of pairs of boots and shoes.

His one aim had apparently been the possession of footwear, which he had stolen irrespective of size or make and which he had stored away in boxes in his home.

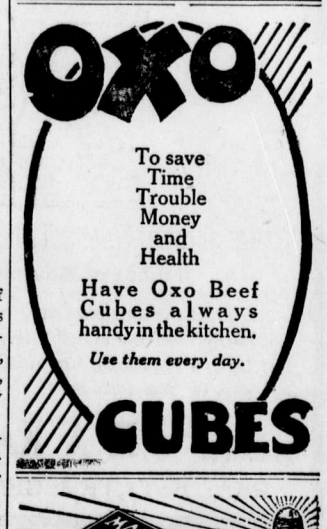
It was found that he was possessed of passkeys and would operate by watching the police constable along his beat at night, after which he would enter a shoe store and gather in his harvest, yet, until discovered, he had borne an exceptionally good character and held a high position.

The president of the French Aero Club says that German works are now capable of turning out 3,000 all-metal machines a month. These machines are nominally for civil flying, but they could be transformed into bombers of the most formidable pattern. France is worried over the situation, but conditions do not appear to exist now where the Allies can exercise any supervision over German aircraft.

WHEREAS under the provisions of the Royalty Act, Chapter 76, Statutes 1914, the royalty on timber to be collected beginning January 1st, 1925, will, from information now available, be more than three times the royalty now being collected,

AND WHEREAS urgent representations have been made that this increase in royalty is much heavier than the industry can bear,

AND WHEREAS the representations made have gone so far as to say that any attempt to collect this royalty beginning January 1st next as upon the basis of the present Royalty Act would immediately result in a shutdown of the entire industry in the Province,



NOTICE is hereby given that a public hearing will be held in the Executive Chamber, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, before the Executive Council or such members thereof as may be then present, beginning at 10 o'clock Wednesday, September 3rd next.

Anyone who has any evidence to submit or representations to make on the question of timber Royalties will be given opportunity to be heard and the public is requested to take notice accordingly.

PREVENT FOREST FIRES -- IT PAYS

B.C. EMPLOYS 3118 TEACHERS

Teachers employed in British Columbia numbered 3118 at the present time, Harry Charlesworth, general secretary of the B.C. Teachers' Federation, reported to the Canadian Teachers' Convention.

"This total is made up of 729 men and 2389 women," said Mr. Charlesworth. Out of approximately 3000 available, the Federation last year secured 1830 paid up members—this constituting a record for the organization and being an increase of 270 over the previous year. A further important and pleasing feature was that 265 members were what are known as "unattached" members, being teachers in the isolated communities where the formation of local associations is not possible.

"General progress during the year has been well maintained, and as a result the federation is now generally recognized throughout the province, both in professional and lay circles, as a most important factor in the development of our educational system, and also in the future destiny of our province. The main idea underlying the year's activities was to encourage all of our members to become more vitally interested in the new educational movements which are so rapidly changing pedagogical methods in most of the civilized countries of the world, and by study, discussion, observation and experiment, to keep abreast of the times. While of course many did not respond, yet some remarkable progress was made, particularly by the high school teachers of the Lower Mainland and by many public school principals and teachers. The ideal of "service" was stressed and appeals for membership were based on "what you can put in to the federation?" not "what can you get out of the federation?" The membership record shows that the majority of teachers were impressed by the larger and less selfish viewpoint. The year has been singularly free from difficulties or disputes and the usual good feeling and mutual support has obtained between the Provincial Trustees' Association and the Teachers' Federation. In addition there has been very close co-operation with the Provincial Parent-Teacher Federation.

"One of the outstanding successes of the federation's year was the granting of the request for a provincial survey of education. Over two years ago the federation first asked the department for such a survey. Through the very great assistance of the Truestees' Association, the Parent Teachers' Association, city councils, boards of trade, service clubs, etc., sufficient public opinion was at last obtained to convince the government of the necessity of a survey.

"So far as future activities are concerned, our most important problems at present are: (a) security of tenure; (b) super annuation; (c) the fitting of our curriculum to the needs of the individual child; (d) teaching and living conditions; (e) chair of education in the University of B.C.; (f) extra-mural course in the University of B.C.; (g) a higher standard of requirements for entrance to and graduation from the normal schools. These are all being pressed at the present time.

"Salaries and salary schedules have been maintained in almost every instance, the only notable exception being in the municipality of Saanich, where reductions were brought about and salaries less than $700 were given to recent normal graduates. As a result of this reduction, the older and more efficient teachers are moving to other parts as opportunity offers. There is every indication that there will be an excess of trained teachers in the province this September, as over 500 normal graduates passed out recently, and resignations seem to be less than usual. As a result of this situation three things will be necessary: First, the most complete organization of teachers, and secondly, a recognition by all concerned that this is the logical time to bring about the much needed raising of the standard necessary for entrance to normal school, and thirdly, the inauguration of a much more thorough "weeding out" by the normal staff of the students who obviously will never make successful teachers.

"The finances of the federation are in very excellent condition, for in spite of the fact that special expenditures were made of $1600 to the Canadian Federation Western Compensation Fund, of over $600 to special legal expenses and $500 for delegates to the World Conference on Education, yet the year finished with a cash balance in the bank of $3150. The membership fees gave receipts of about $14,000.

Here and There

A remarkable report comes from Brockville, Ont. Harry Church, a farmer residing five miles north of that town, is the owner of a Holstein cow which has just given birth to three calves. All are alive and thriving.

On July 11, Her Majesty the Queen of Spain and her two daughters visited the Canadian Pacific Railway's pavilion at the British Empire Exhibition. Her Majesty evinced deep interest in all she saw and declared the exhibit to be "perfectly lovely."

Although the present season of ocean travel has reached the period usually associated with a falling off in the number of passengers, steamship companies report that little decrease is apparent this year and that the total volume of passenger traffic in 1924 will probably be the largest of any year since the war.

World production of silver for the first half of 1924 is 117,650,000 ounces, as against 118,250,000 ounces in the first six months of 1923. Canada accounted for a production of 10,800,000 ounces in 1924, as against 10,500,000 ounces in the first half of 1923, being the third producer after Mexico and the United States, both of which showed a decline.

Saskatchewan's output of creamery butter in June amounted to 1,787,056 pounds, as compared with 1,746,000 pounds in June, 1923, an increase of 41,056 pounds or 2.4 per cent. From January to June, 1924, the province has produced 5,109,090 pounds of butter, as against 4,423,016 pounds in the same period in 1923, an increase of 686,074 pounds, or 15.5 per cent.

Among the tributes to the late Sir Edmund Osler, of the Canadian Pacific Railway's directorate, was one from C. R. Hosmer, for many years a fellow-director. It was addressed to Vice-President Grant Hall and read as follows: "He was the last living of the great men who organized our great railway."

The late Sir Edmund became a director of the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1885, the year of the completion of the transcontinental line.

A most interesting and attractive volume entitled "Here and There in Montreal" has just been published by the Musson Book Co. of Toronto. The book is well illustrated with maps and pictures in color and brings out many noteworthy facts, such as that the city's total population is 900,000, that two-thirds of this number are French-Canadians and that Montreal is the second port of importance in North America. The author is Charles W. Stokes, Asst. Gen. Publicity Agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The first annual Pow Wow of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, held at Yoho Camp, was a great success. Over 200 internationally known writers, artists, etc., rode in to gather round the sacred fire in the Sun Dance Lodge. Charles D. Walcott, secretary of the Smithsonian Institute of Washington, D.C., honorary president of the Trail Riders, addressed the gathering, a poem written specially for the occasion by Bliss Carmen was read and Chiefs Walk-in-the-Road and Buffalo Child Long Lance performed an Indian dance.

MANY RULES FOR POLICE

If a member of the British Columbia Provincial Police meets the Lieutenant Governor or a cabinet minister, or a judge of the Court of Appeal, Supreme Court or County Court, the constable, non-commissioned officer or officer, must salute.

This formality is set out in the regulations published with a manual in book form by the King's printer. There is a saving clause to saluting, and it reads "whenever and wherever they may recognize them."

The superintendent, according to regulations, is empowered to remove from the force any member who manifests either a quarrelsome disposition or want of courage ,talent, or zeal, or shall evince continued apathy in the discharge of duty.

Regulation 6 reads:

"No member of the force shall receive from any inferior member or members any present, complimentary address or other congratulatory expression."

However, the provincial police can comfort themselves with Regulation 52, which reads:

"The superintendent may reward extraordinary diligence or special meritorious acts of members of the force by pecuniary recognition out of the funds provided by section 17 of the Police and Prisons Regulation Act."

Inspectors, in charge of divisions, are directed to acquire an accurate knowledge of the inhabitants within their jurisdiction, and to visit various parts of the district regularly in uniform so that the inhabitants may recognize them and make complaints to them.

A task sufficient to tax the brain of a full-fledged lawyer is imposed by Regulation 31 on the non-commissioned officers. The N.C.O's, it states, must "be thoroughly acquainted with the Criminal Code and Provincial Statutes."

Qualification for the appointment of police constable require that "he is generally intelligent, according to the judgment of the superintendent," and that he is "able to read and write understandingly."

In the event of a magistrate awarding a member of the force costs to reimburse him for damage to his clothing, "no claim upon the government will be entertained."

Varied and extensive are the duties of a constable, according to the manual. In addition to being responsible for life and property and the preservation of peace and good order in his district, particularly places where breaches of the law are likely to occur, mark places where thieves might break in, pay attention to foreigners and strangers, and at the same time be civil and courteous to all, whether they be rich or poor.

The constable is cautioned to keep a close watch upon low lodging-houses, haunts of thieves and houses frequented by disreputable persons.

"Whenever a crime is committed there must of necessity be the criminal," according to a section dealing with criminal investigation, which, it is explained, is a kind of science, being the means whereby evidence is obtained which will prove who is the criminal and how the crime was committed. A sentence points out that this requires skill, knowledge and much perseverance.

When a murder has been committed the constable must get to the spot as quickly as possible. A close examination of the scene of the crime should be made. He should take possession of the body and not move it, at the same time noting points of interest about it, examining the teeth and hands and searching the pockets for papers and money. Should a shoe print be discovered it should be covered up and guarded until a cast can be made of the imprint.

CHINESE PIGEON WHISTLES

The Chinese lover of birds, says Herbert Beardsly, writing in The Nature Magazine, does not permanently confine his pet in its prison cage, but he takes it out with him on his walks, carrying it on a stick, to which one of its feet is fastened by means of a thread long enough to allow it ample freedom of motion. Where the shade of some stately tree bids him welcome, he makes a halt and permits the bird to perch and swing on a supple twig, watching it even hours after with interest and appreciation. We read further:

"One of their most curious expressions of emotional life is the application of whistles to pigeons. These whistles are very light and are attached to the tails of the pigeons by means of fine copper wire, so that, when the birds fly, the wind blowing through the whistles sets them vibrating and produces an open-air concert. On a serene day it is possible to enjoy this aerial music while sitting in one's room. The instruments carried by each bird of a flock of pigeons are all tuned differently.

"The whistles are manufactured with great cleverness and ingenuity in Peking. There are two distinct types, those consisting of bamboo tubes placed side by side, and a type based on the principle of tubes attached to a gourd body or wind-chest. They are lacquered in yellow, brown, red, and black to protect the material from the destructive influences of the atmosphere. The tube whistles have either two, three or five tubes. The gourd whistles are furnished with a mouthpiece and small apertures to the number of two, three, six, ten, and even thirteen. These variations are distinguished by different names; thus, a whistle with one mouthpiece and ten tubes is called 'the eleven-eyed one.' The materials used in the construction of the whistles are small gourds that serve for the bodies, and several kinds of bamboo for the large and small tubes. The smallest whistles are the most difficult to produce, as the work requires time and skill."

The restless old planet to which we belong appears to be undergoing another of its periodical disturbances. Floods in China, earthquakes in Japan, revolution in Honduras, revolt in Egypt and a by-election in British Columbia.

CANNIBALS LIVED IN THE SOUTH OF FRANCE

The discovery of a pile of human bones dating from the Neolithic period—at least 6000 years ago—in a cave near Auch, in the South of France, has given rise to the theory that prehistoric men at that period were undoubtedly cannibals. The bones all bear marks of teeth and apparently form the remains of some gigantic cannibal feast.

The crop shortage in the corn belt is likely to affect the price and quality of meats. A Chicago packing house expert says: "The meat of cattle fed on soft foods and alfalfa lacks the "kick" imparted by corn. The cuts are pleasing to the eye but have no taste. Corn is used as a finishing process for cattle and corn already is too high this year." Lamb and mutton, he declares, are virtually unobtainable.

COAL STRIKE CAUSE OF LOSS

Unless an unexpected settlement is made in the meantime, the coal strike situation in Alberta will be viewed with considerable anxiety in the August report for Alberta of R. G. Dun and Company, issued soon after Sept. 1, according to M. E. Knirck, local manager for the mercantile agency.

Quoting from statements made to him by an official of the coal operators' association, Mr. Knirck states that the production of coal from Alberta mines not members of the association, will be able to provide for the needs of Alberta consumers, but that one of the distressing features in the situation is found through the partial loss, at least, of markets in Saskatchewan and Manitoba, which local operators have been fighting to attain for several years.

Mr. Knirck declares that he has been informed that Winnipeg is being flooded with West Virginia coal and that Regina is being invaded with a price on coal from this state which is 50 cents per ton cheaper than that quoted by Alberta mine operators. After striving for several years to gain a foothold in the two prairie provinces, he points out that the temporary failure to be able to supply the demand there will prove a serious handicap even though a settlement is made within a reasonable length of time.

It is more than intimated by officials of the coal operators' association, states Mr. Knirck, that they do not anticipate a settlement for several months. It is also stated that one of the large Canadian railway companies has a sufficient supply of coal to last nearly six months.

DEFEATED THE CORINTHIANS

Nanaimo, Aug. 19.—The Nanaimo football team reinforced by two players from Cumberland and three from Ladysmith, Monday evening defeated the touring Corinthians 2 to 1. The score at half time was one to nothing in favor of the tourists, but the local boys opened up a notch in the second half and while holding the visitors scoreless, registered twice. Eight hundred persons saw the game.

The report of the Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines and commissioner of fisheries, shows that last year B.C. again led all the Canadian provinces in the value of her fisheries.

ELKS STAG—OH ! BOY

Hello Bill! Were you at our stag party last Monday evening? She sure was some party.

After the regular initiation of Bros. Greenwood and Eswick, the evening entertainment began.

1st Opening Chorus — the whole bunch.

Exhibition Club Swinging: Prof. Longdon. Say, Joe, we didn't think it was in you, boy.

Parody Song, Secretary Edgar, "Let the Rest of the World Go By." Not too bad at all, we'll say.

More songs by the gang: "Yip-I-Addy-I Ay" and "I know Where the Flies Go," etc.

Refreshments. Both kinds. We needed them after that.

Boxing Exhibition, Hughes Bros. Three rounds. Getting better and better, these boys.

More pleasure. Highland Fling. Bros. McLean and McLaren. A wee bith of Scotch. Oh, no. Not the bottled kind, just the regular thing.

Laughing Song in French. Bro. LaRochelle. Awful funny Bill, but what did he say?

Recalled encore. Hughes Bros. 2 more rounds. The coming champions. They sure are good.

Little Egypt. A couple of them. A demonstration how it should be done. Bros. Murray and McLachlan. Have you seen it? A soccer; a knockout. Boy, it sure was funny.

Our Own Orchestra, all Elks. Music kindly donated by the following brethren: Evans, piano; Worthington, violin; Harrison, cornet; Tarr, saxophone; Commons, traps and drums.

During the evening our orchestra worked hard playing for all numbers on the program, including a few dance numbers enjoyed by all. We sure vote them our appreciation and thanks, as music is the life of the party.

Closing chorus: When are we going to have another one?"

Auld Lang Syne at 3 a.m.

God Save the King.

MULLAN IS SAFE AT THE LEAGUE TOP

Couer d'Alene, Idaho, Aug. 17.—In one of the tightest pitching duels here this season Left Ed. Brandt won out for Wallace over Merle Ault, recently of Fernie, B.C., who has been signed by Manager Hart. The score was 2 to 1, and all runs were earned.

Doubles by Stockton and Garrity accounted for the first visitors' run in the fifth, while Goforth's triple and Pecarovich's single scored the winning tally in the eighth. Despite frequent periods when he was in trouble, Brandt held Cour d'Alene scoreless until two were out in the ninth, when Skippy Stivers caught one of his slants for a homer to deep left center.

Ault pitched good ball, fanning 11 and walking none, while Brandt fanned the same number and flanked six. Brandt, however, was tight in the pinches. Couer d'Alene had 12 men left on bases.

THE CORINTHIAN GAME AT LETHBRIDGE

T. Hotchkiss, Miners ....Goal
J. Jenkins, Michel ....Right Back
R. Lillie, Vets .... Left Back
A. McGovern, Michel .... Right Half
W. Reeves, Vets ..... Centre Half
J. Dunlop, Coleman ....Left Half
M. McLukie, Miners .... Outside Right
W. Linning, Can. All-star..Inside Rt.
L. Irwin, Callies ....Centre
L. Rimmer, Med. Hat ....Inside Left
N. Gurr, Callies .... Outside Left

Reserves—Walton, Callies; Campbell, Callies; McKenna, Miners.

Billy Linning will captain the local team and no doubt this choice will be a very popular one.

Four outside players have been selected: Les. Rimmer, Medicine Hat; A. McGovern and J. Jenkins, Michel; and J. Dunlop, Coleman.

The trainer for the local team will be W. McKenna, who acted as trainer for the teams in the trial game.

The Lethbridge and District team will strip in the Vets headquarters and will wear the white knickers and maroon colors of the Vets team, this being in good contrast to the white strips and blue knickers of the Corinthians. The referee appointed is Jimmy Gurr, and the local linesman Bobby Clark.

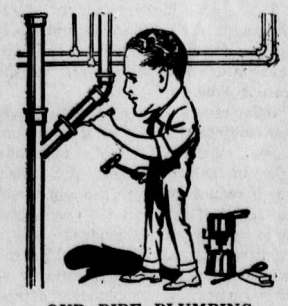
The selection committee was composed of the following: W. Hawkins, chairman; R. Farris, W. Hutton, W. Holberton and R. Clark.

Paris, Aug. 21.—President Doumergue today received Senators Raoul Dandurand and Belicourt, of Canada. They were accompanied by Phillippe Roy, Canadian Commissioner in Paris.

SOME MINES ARE NOW OPENING UP

Calgary, Aug. 18.—Relieving in a certain measure the coal famine which threatens Alberta as a result of the deadlock between striking miners of District 18 and the operators, two mines in Drumheller valley field are expected to resume operations immediately. It is understood these mines have arrived at individual agreements. Mines in the Carbon field, many of which have not yet come within the scope of the U.M.W.A., are now producing more coal than they have for years.

No hope was held out last night for any immediate negotiations looking to a settlement of the strike. Both sides are sticking tenaciously to their declared position, and the strike may continue for many months.



HAZEL

In going through a file of letters a day or so ago we found one more than a year old written by a little girl who lives in Vancouver. She praised Pacific Milk, praised it enthusiastically. In doing so she used these words, "There are a million reasons why Pacific Milk is good." "A million reasons." Thank you, Hazel, for those good words. Thank you very much.

BANDITS COMPLIMENT BANK MANAGER

Vancouver, Aug. 27.—George Bonnallie, manager of the Bank of Commerce branch here, who made a plucky fight against the bandits recently when $19,000 was taken from the bank, has received a letter from the gang bearing a Vancouver postmark. It states:

"We have made $19,000 in one day, while you, who have been working hard all your life, have probably not made that much altogether. But you are the bravest man we have met, though we were just a little bit braver."

The missive, which is being held secret, bears four signatures, all in the same handwriting.

READY FOR ACTION

As we remarked recently, the miners have concluded that the Jacksonville agreement—forced upon the coal industry by a politician—was an economic mistake and a union blunder. They have a magnificent scale but no work. They really prefer a little earning power.

Recently the American Federation of Labor met at Atlantic City. Between sessions on political action, they discussed the whole state of the union movement. They decided that the Mine Labor Agreement is the strongest recruiting officer the non-union forces could possibly employ. They advised Mr. Lewis to try for a modification of the Jacksonville Agreement.

Recently, reports have poured into Republican headquarters that union miners, who have been idle since the first of April, are beginning to get hungry and want work. It makes a campaigner feel foolish to tell these men that their wages are higher than ever in our history, etc., only to have them reply: "Yes, but so high nobody will pay them." Disappointed and sour, these miners are turning radical; they didn't have far to go. The campaigners who hit that snag make a hurried and undignified raid on the telegraph office to tell Mr. Butler that the coal miners must be put to work. So, politically, it appears that the great Jacksonville agreement forced to avoid a strike this year, is having a worse effect than a strike could possibly have had. Therefore, political forces are keen to end the unemployment in the union fields.

When the operators are asked what can be done to get the miners back to work, their laconic reply is: "Reduce the wage schedule."

Everybody knows what is wrong and how to set it right. The resulting pressure is said to be a little too strong for John L. Lewis, the miners' president. He was in New York this week and is headed towards Washington. This casual visit, plus what is known, inspires the interesting story that a conference to modify the wage schedule is impending. If it is to be held soon, the leading operators know nothing about it.

Politically, it will not be enough merely to reduce the miners' wages. The union miners must be given something to do; coal production will have to be increased. That may mean a created demand for storage piles of coal. That finally explains the recent agitation for a buy-now campaign which started with the Commerce Commission and spread to the railway associations and press — including Sam Dunn.

The operators squint at this uproar but don't jump. They merely hold their hats. They want wages reduced but ——. Their prices since April 1st have been ruinous due to the excessive stock piles created for the threatened strike. They have learned, finally, that to mine coal for storage, today, destroys their market, tomorrow. Any profit they make on the coal sold for storage today is more than eaten up by the idleness and low prices which prevail while the stored coal is being burned. Any stock piles created today, will be useless for two years. And, so long as those stock piles are on the ground, coal prices will drag as they have dragged through the last six months. Therefore, if the operators agree to a storage campaign now, they will demand protection while those stock piles are being eliminated.

Another of Fred Spalding's pictures appears in this week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post. This picture is of five wild mountain sheep which Fred photographed on the Banff-Windermere road last year. He sent the picture to the Post (with three others which were reproduced last February and April) and the title they published it under, "Wild Mountain Sheep in their Native Haunts, near Fernie, B.C.," is one which will doubtless cause wild game hunters to look somewhat to the Fernie district for some hunting at some time.

LABOR DAY CELEBRATION

Arrangements are pretty well completed for the Labor Day sports to be held under the auspices of the G.W.V.A. The affair will rank as the best ever held in Fernie.

The various fraternal societies in town have signified their willingness to enter representative floats in the parade. The Vets committee ask all auto owners and other conveyances to join in. The parade will leave the school grounds at 11 a.m.

For the baseball event the Fernie all-stars will match their wits against a team chosen from Coleman, Blairmore and Hillcrest.

Five teams have entered for the football competition. A half hour each way will be played. Football fans will sure get their money's worth.

The program for the day is published in another column.

The finance committee of the G.W.V.A. sports desire to thank the business people of Fernie for their generous response to the subscription list. Below we publish the list of donations to date:

AWARD IN NORTH MINES

Ottawa, Aug. 25.—The report of the board of conciliation investigating the dispute between the coal operators of northern Alberta and the Edmonton & District Miners' federation recommends that all mines in the operators' association continue to pay standard wages in all company mines.

The scale of wages, which is the same as that now paid in the Pennsylvania mines, was: Miners on company work, $5 for eight hour day; brushers, track layers, drivers and chief cager, also $5 a day; pushers and assistant cagers, $4.50 a day; couples (under 18 years), $3.50 a day; assistant track layer $4.50 a 35 cents an hour; outside labor, 50 cents an hour; blacksmiths, 65 cents an hour.

Both parties wished to arrive at a standardized scale.

The board recommended that contract rates in the different mines be continued as they were in the agreement that expired on June 30, 1924, with provision for no overcrowding of contract miners during busy seasons.

The miners are protected by extra pay for work in wet mines.

The report was signed by James Smith, chairman; R. G. Drinnan, and Rowe.

Bootlegging promises to become an international industry. It is reported that Kentucky brands are being smuggled across the Canadian border.

FERNIE WILL BE GOLF MECCA

(By J.S.K. in Lethbridge Herald)

Westward Ho for the golfers of Southern Alberta and Southeastern British Columbia over Labor Day.

The Crow's Nest Golf Association is in the third year of its existence. Formed in Blairmore in May, 1922, the first tournament was held in Cranbrook over Labor Day of that year. In 1923 Blairmore staged the golf festival and by energetic work and enthusiasm established the young association in the minds of all present as a necessary part of golf throughout the district. Everybody positively decided to be at every golf tournament possible.

This year the Fernie club act as hosts for the meeting of the golfers throughout the Crow line and if their system of handling curling bonspiels is any criterion, golf is assured of an added impetus, as they do everything right when it comes to handling sport events.

There will be golf for everybody Saturday morning; the men tee off at 8 a.m. in the open event.

The players turning in the best 16 medal scores are divided then into two flights of eight and play down. The first eight for the open championship.

The ladies open starts at 11 a.m.

In the afternoon there will be mixed foursomes.

Sunday morning the second flight of the men's championship will be played and also for the ladies' championship.

Also there will be started the handicap event for men and also for ladies who are not in the championship flights. That is all those men or women who do not make the first 16 in each of these chompionship can play in this event.

In the afternoon the 3rd flights of the championships.

Monday all competitions will be in play and the finals will be completed by 4 or 5 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Monday afternoon will also see the approaching and putting and the long driving competitions for both men and women also staged. These are very interesting events.

Saturday night the Fernie golfers are to be hosts at a dance, free to all visiting golfers.

Sherwood Herchmer, the secretary of the association, reports the Fernie course as rounding into ideal shape for the tournament with the greens in splendid shape.

It has been the writer's privilege we assure all that it is a beautiful course, not as tough as Blairmore to play over the Fernie course and with beautiful wide grassy fairways and practically level with enough trees to make it pay to keep on the fairway.

They also have a large, comfortable club house, all situated close to the town.

Splendid prizes are being presented for winners and runners up in all events, and there will be representation from every town on the Crow.

Three days splendid golf in prospect.

Lethbridge is entitled to stage the tournament for next year if the club feel they can undertake the job. It is a problem that requires both the enthusiasm and co-operation of the men and women of the club.

Cranbrook and Blairmore both staged wonderful meets, can Lethbridge handle it in 1925?

BIG MISSOURI BONDED AGAIN

Stewart, B.C., Aug. 22.—Another chapter is about to be written in the history of tht Big Missouri, a property that has caused as much comment, and excited almost as much interest in this camp as the Premier itself.

George Collins, interested in mining and other enterprises in this province, and with headquarters now in New York city, has bonded the Big Missouri, and development will be resumed at once. The property was under bond to the Trites and Wilson interests, who made payments totalling $43,000 and did considerable work, but relinquished it for reasons not divulged, though guessed at by people familiar with the property, the guesses being in nowise detrimental to the mineral showings.

The information in regard to the new deal is contained in a letter from Dan Lindeborg to J. A. Hall, president of the Salmon River Bank in Hyder. Dan and his brother Andy are the owners of the property. The new bond calls for a total payment of $250,000. A minimum number of eight men must continuously be employed and work was to have started today. The principals to the deal have not arrived however, so there will be a few days delay. This is a matter over which there will be no quibbling. Harry Howson, who opened up a big shot of high-grade on the property two years ago, will be in charge.

DEATH CALLS S. F. WALLACE

Death called one of our best known citizens and one of the 1898 old guard, on Saturday last, in the person of Stephen F. Wallace. Deceased who was a victim of an operation for cancer, had only been ill a short time and his death was a real shock to all his old friends, who unite in extending their sympathy to the bereaved widow and children.

Stephen Wallace was a real pioneer, having lived in the west all his life. He was born in Polk county, Oregon, on Sept. 1, 1859, the son of Francis A. and Mary A. Wallace, who crossed the plains in 1852 and settled in Oregon among the pioneers. Both have passed away. He was educated at Blue Mountain University and came to Fernie in 1898, where he opened a feed store in the old town. When he discontinued the feed business he opened a butcher shop. Later he moved to the new town, sold his business, and on June 16, 1899, opened the first hotel in Fernie. This was destroyed by the fire which wiped out the business district in 1904. A large new frame hotel was then built, which was in turn destroyed by the fire of 1908, which devastated the whole town. A large new brick hotel replaced this. He was for a number of years a member of the city council and school board, which positions he filled with credit to himself and the city.

Deceased is survived by a widow and seven children: Orville, Benjamin, Harvey, Edna, Bruce, Merle and Nelson, and by two brothers, Robt. W. and John.

He was buried in Lethbridge cemetery beside his mother, and elder brother James, who died on July 1, 1924.

DISTINGUISHED MOTORISTS

Austin F. Bement, the Vice-President and Secretary of the Lincoln Highway, accompanied by E. S. Evans, reached Fernie at 2.30 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 28, driving a large Packard.

These gentlemen are trying to drive through from Winnipeg to Vancouver without entering the United States. Their plan is to follow the route that the final connecting link in the Provincial highway connecting the coast with the interior of the province is to take, that is, by way of Spence's Bridge, across the Fraser River and down the Fraser canyon to Rale. There is no road at present between Spence's Bridge and Yale, nor is there, as far as I know, an semblance of one over which they might be able to drive. They were referred to me and hoped that I could have given them enough encouragement to raise their hopes. I could not, so now they have decided that when they get to Spence's Bridge if they can find no other way they will get permission from the C.P.R. to run on the tracks from there down to Yale, but this will only be done as a last resort. They are experienced pioneers, having spent most of the past fifteen years in finding out ways of driving between points where there are no roads. The Lincoln Highway is the result of one of their adventures. Hardships cut no ice with them; all that counts is the achievement of their object.

I understand that this trip is taken with the intention of including from Winnipeg to the coast in subsequent issues of the Official Road Guide of the Lincoln Highway, as a very desirable northern connection with that highway. They are making a complete mileage log showing every turn of the road, which will be a great help to all motorists of Western Canada because there has never been a more complete log of Western Canada than the one I compiled several years ago, and that only took in from the boundary between Manitoba and Saskatchewan at Moosomin,

LETHBRIDGE AND CORINTHIANS DRAW

Lethbridge, Aug. 26.—Lethbridge and the touring Corinthians played a scoreless draw yesterday. The score about represents the play, which was marked by close checking on both sides. The game was marred by a nasty cross-field wind which disturbed combination on both sides.

The Corinthians had three hard shots on Lethbridge goal against five which Reed, between the posts for the visitors, had to stop. A feature of the game was the appearance in a Lethbridge uniform of W. Linning, who arrived only at noon from his trip with the Canadian all-stars to Australia. The Lethbridge team was picked from players between Medicine Hat and Michel, and while there were a number of individual stars, their combination suffered from lack of practice together. The Corinthians on the other hand played a strong passing game but lacked the dash of the locals.

"MANHANDLED," STARRING GLORIA SWANSON, COMING

Three cheers and a couple of tigers! Gloria Swanson is coming to town! No, dear reader, not in person, but in her latest Paramount picture, "Manhandled." It's due at the Orpheum on Monday next.

Listen, folks, we have some inside information on this production and being of a generous disposition, we are going to let you in on it. Some of you have a look of intense concentration on your faces as if you are trying to recall, where in the name of common sense your heard the name "Mandandled" before. Stop worrying about it and we'll tell you. It's dollars to doughnuts you saw it in the Saturday Evening Post, because that's where this Arthur Stringer story first saw the light of day. Frank Tuttle adapted it to the screen and Allan Dwan produced it.

Shhhhhhhh! Don't breathe a word of this—it's supposed to be a-b-s-o-l-u-t-e-l-y confidential. We found out that in the picture Gloria does an imitation of Charlie Chaplain! Holy mackerel — we're so gosh darn anxious to see the picture we are itching all over!

Those of you who read the story know that it's about a girl, who starts life in a New York department store—a regular girl, the kind everyone likes — with the average girl's dreams and longings. Just like the rest of us she wants money, beautiful clothes, good times and of course a Prince Charming. She has youth, beauty — is clever and attractive, and it doesn't take her long to get everything her heart desires. But—there's always a "but," you know—in the end she comes to the bitter realization that she has lost more than she has gained. And then she wins for herself a great and wonderful victory in a very startling manner. Her Prince Charming turns out to be a poor hard working mechanic, whose honest love helps her in finding out what the worth while things in life really are.

Tom Moore, Lan Keith, Arthur Housman, Lilyan Tashman and the famous Ziegfeld stars, Ann Pennington and Brooke Johns, appear in the supporting cast.

THE POINT GREY SIGNALS

Whatever may be the cause of the mysterious signals that have been received at the Point Grey wireless station, it may be assumed that it is something quite out of the ordinary.

The reception of the signals did not come as a sudden and isolated interruption to the daily routine of the station but it has been going on, according to the operators, with increasing clarity for five weeks. Even if it should be proven that Mars is not the source of the mystery there is still something to elucidate, for the interruptions are not able to be tuned out and they are said to be excited by some sending method yet unknown to the regular science of radio despatching.

If they are caused by an earthly agency they point to the conclusion that some unknown experimenter has achieved something that is destined to have a tremendous influence on the progress of radiology in the perfection of a master voice, insistent and compelling for use in emergencies; a voice that can not be stilled and one that is not dependent on the adjustment of receiving instruments to make itself heard.

If, however, this wandering voice has come to us from the outer confines of the universe, it will remain for a race that solved the linguistic and caligraphic riddles of Assyria and Egypt to read a meaning into it.

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

YOUNG GIRLS AND DANCES

The "Mothers of Drumheller" appealed to the council of that town to bring about legislation to prevent girls under 18 from attending dances. The council felt that better results could be realized by disciplinary action on the part of the mothers themselves. Commenting on the matter, however, the Drumheller Review remars:

"It is well to remember that there was never any question of keeping young men from dances. Why pick on the girls? Only one way exists to make a dance hall as perfect a moral institution as a Sunday school, and that is to bring up the boys in a manly open way. Teach them to respect all women, whether it be their sisters, mothers, friends or the little girl who comes around once a week to wash the floors. That is the way to protect the young girls; teach the men respect. Thanks to our educational system, very few of the younger generation need be reminded that a woman is a lady no matter what she does or is as far as he is concerned. There is a lot of truth in the old nursery rhyme, 'Girls are made of silk and laces and sweet pretty faces and boys of frogs and snails and puppy dogs' tails.' Till a boy is well out of his teens he might well remember that a girl is just to be admired, wondered at and worshipped. If he follows this well meant advice he will not go far wrong."

CORN RIPENS IN THE GROUND

Corn with stalks so short that the ears appear to grow directly out of the ground and maturing in 70 days is now being grown at experiment stations under the direction of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, we learn from the Science Daily Bulletin. In an effort to produce corn of short-growing season and high resistance to cold, this corn will be bred with varieties brought from the Andean highlands of South America by Fred D. Richey of the Bureau of Cereal Investigations, who has just returned to Washington. This South American corn matures in a climate 20 degrees colder than that of the "corn belt." We read:

"Corn with such short stalks is now being grown that the northern farmer may before long be harvesting his corn crop with a potato-digger," said Dr. E. D. Ball, director of scientific work of the Department of Agriculture to a reporter. "Last summer I saw at the experiment station at Akron, Colorado, corn with stalks less than two feet tall when mature. The ears were so close to the ground that after hilling up they were nearly completely buried and appeared as if they were sprouting up through the ground directly from the roots. This corn matured in about 70 days." These short-season corns are not the result of cross-breeding by Department experts, but are discoveries of varieties which have been grown in isolated sections in the northern part of the continent. One of them has a rather eventful history. It was brought to Manitoba by Ruthenian immigrants a number of years ago from their native country on the slopes of the Carpathian mountains, where the season is short. They have cultivated it in their colony 250 miles northwest of Winnipeg for years and have evolved a distinct variety. Others of even shorter season have been found in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and other northern sections. In Bolivia and Peru, Mr. Richey found corn maturing in spite of the fact that the average temperature for the year was 50 degrees F., while the average minimum temperature during the growing season was as low as 39 degrees. In our corn belt an average night minimum of 55 degrees is considered the limit for commercial production, and the average temperature during the growing season is about 72 degrees. Few varieties of corn raised commercially in this country mature in less than 120 days, although some can be grown in 90. In the South, 150 to 180 days is the rule. It is the hope of the Department through the crossing of these South American varieties with those from the far north to obtain a short-season corn, highly resistant to low temperatures. If the results are successful the product will probably be a dwarf variety, and the potato-digger may come in handy when harvest time comes."

There are no "overnight" entries for the presidential stakes. All the candidates are now officially in the field and ready to face the barrier on Nov. 4.

GIRLS! WHITEN YOUR SKIN WITH LEMON JUICE

Make a beauty lotion for a few cents to remove tan, freckles, sallowness.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply you with three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Squeeze the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle, then put in the orchard white and shake well. This makes a quarter pint of the very best lemon skin whitener and complexion beautifier known. Massage this fragrant, creamy lotion daily into the face, neck, arms and hands and just see how freckles, tan, sallowness, redness and roughness disappear and how smooth, soft and clear the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless, and the beautiful results will surprise you.

ATE WITH KNIFE OR STARVED

But 300 years ago a man either ate with a knife or starved. The authority for this statement is Joseph D. Little, manager of the sterling silver galleries of the International Silver Company of New York. "The first fork," Little says, "was introduced into England during the reign of the high and mighty Elizabeth, the maiden queen. The queen had several of the implements brought to her, but promptly cast them aside as too finicky and utterly unworthy of her attention. Scores of years passed before the fork finally came into its own, and those who purchased forks, like those who purchased the first automobiles were not considered violent enough for confinement in an institution, but would bear watching.

Little traces the evolution of the spoon from the clamshell picked up by the earliest ruman progenitors. He also shows a knife, apparently designed for nervous individuals, which was rounded at the business end and had the edges dulled.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

THERE are so many "weeks" being started that it looks as if the fifty-two weeks allotted us will hardly prove sufficient for the world's needs. Before the entire list is spoken for, we would advocate a Be-Fair-With-Your-Printer Week. We are sure it is badly needed in almost every community. In consideration of such a week, we would advocate the following principles:

Your printer—make him your partner, not your victim.

Don't get prices from one printer and then submit same to another, hoping for a cut in prices, unless you would like to have the printers do the same with you when they are in the market for some article of merchandise which you carry in stock.

In general, treat him with the same respect that characterizes your other business dealings and keep in mind the golden rule of business, to do unto others as you would be done by. Having properly observed this week, the spirit of it may stay with you during the remaining fifty-one. Such, we believe, is the big idea in all these special weeks.

WHAT a small world Old King Tut ruled! With all the wealth of the Pharoahs, even he was miserably chained to his own back yard by the meagre methods of transportation.

The automobile of today has made princes of us all. Once, only a few years ago, you read about William K. Vanderbilt's "White Ghost," bought in Europe. He was tearing up the highway at the terrific speed of 35 miles an hour—the last five imaginary.

Now you can go out and buy an automobile for the price of a second-hand horse and buggy—and you can, if foolish, go faster than Willie K. ever did in his "White Ghost."

Do you give yourself freedom to move where and when you will—or are you chained to circumstances? Liberty is your if you want it. When you buy a car—a new one or a good used one—you purchase freedom. It's worth it.

IF you want to get ahead in business make friends. Look back over the stretches of life behind you. Look back at the struggles of successful business men. The success you have had and the success of other men is nothing less than friendship. The influence of friends did the things you succeeded in. If you have the right kind of friends you are bound to succeed. Friends never look for flaws; they are the ones who recognize the good in you. Only friendship can bring you to the pinnacle of success.

ALIBIS are counterfeit coins. They are not legal tender. You cannot pass them in intelligent society. Alibis are sugar-coated falsehoods. They belittle and shrivel their author. They shame honesty and mock the truth. Alibis are boomerangs. They always react upon their inventor. They fail of their purpose to deceive and they make their author ridiculous. To alibi or explain is weakness. No courageous man ever alibis or explains.

THOSE who persist in ignoring the difference in the enormity of their offense now and what it would have been fifteen years ago, should be made to realize it by the imposition of penalties commensurate with the crime. In no other way can the driver under the influence of liquor be driven from the road, and until he is driven off and kept off there is no safety for the public. A fine means little or nothing to the average offender in this respect. The loss of license which follows with commendable promptness (frequently when no conviction has been secured in court) is a greater deterrent against a repetition of the offense than a fine, but not as efficacious as a jail sentence, followed by the deprivation, would be. It is time to make the roads safe for respectable people.

NEW CHARGES RE HOME BANK

Toronto, Aug. 25.—New details of charges which the crown will press against the directors and officials of the defunct Home Bank allege that loans were made on inadequate security, that assets were over-estimated, and that the handling of the bank's real estate was carried out in a fraudulent manner.

D. L. McCarthy, K.C., special crown prosecutor in the Home Bank case, today furnished further particulars to the defence, pursuant to the order of Judge Coatsworth.

The crown alleges that the following loans were improperly secured: H. M. Asling, H. M. Asling (personal), H. A. Colson, Canadian Property company, G. D. E. Lamont, Florence Mason, Osborne & Francis, Osborne & Francis, limited; J. P. Murray, T. G. Cutler and T. G. Goldman & Co.

The crown alleges that the following loans were not secured at all, and the amounts could not be recovered at the time the statement was rendered to the government: W. C. Brent, H. C. Osborne, D. M. Christian, F. A. Courtenay, T. Fraser, O. C. Jones, C. King, T. S. O'Conner, H. J. Dalyand A. Poole.

The crown says that the liability of the bank to the Guaranty Trust company, London, England, is included at approximately 5 per cent less than it should be and that the amount due by the bank to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Cooperative National bank, Cleveland, Ohio, was included at approximately 2½ per cent less than the figure at which it should have been included.

Under the heading of "assets" the crown alleges that the amounts due by the Bank of Liverpool and Martin's, limited, London, England, were included at approximately 5 per cent in excess of their value; that the amounts due by the National Bank of Scotland, London, England, were included at approximately 45 per cent in excess of their value; that the amounts due by the Guaranty Trust company of Paris, France, were included at approximately four times in excess of their value, and that the amounts due the German marks suspense account were included at approximately 2000 times in excess of their value.

The crown not only alleges that the returns filed by the directors and officials were "wilfully false and deceptive," but also that the accused were negligent in that they failed to inform themselves of the true condition of the affairs of the bank and its true financial position, or in that they did not take proper care to obtain or to provide proper means and methods to obtain proper and sufficient information regarding the affairs of the bank to enable them to prepare, sign, approve or concur in a true and correct statement.

Under the heading of "Particulars of fraudulent sale of bank premises to the Canadian Property Co., Ltd., for the purpose of fraudulently increasing the published or stated profits of the years," the crown says:

"The fraud consisted in the bank selling its premises to the Canadian Property Co., Ltd., a company owned and controlled by the bank, at more than the premises actually cost the bank, the Candian Property Co., Ltd., paying for the said property by overdrawing its account with the bank, and the carrying in the banks' books as a current loan the amount so advanced by the bank for the purchase of the said premises, and the carrying of the account of the excess of the alleged purchase price as profits, contrary to and for the purpose of evading the provisions of the Bank act and of improperly falsifying profits."

to Vancouver.

They are writing articles about their trip and these will be published through the Lincoln Highway Association in over 700 newspapers in the United States.

They are extremely pleased with the general good condition in which they have found the roads between Winnipeg and here, especially those of B.C. from Crow's Nest, and say that they are sure that thousands upon thousands of motorists from the United States would come up into these parts of Canada if they only knew more about it. They think that the publicity they will be able to give as a result of this trip will start them up here in droves.

They say that they saw some of the best scenery they had ever seen between Crow's Nest Lakes and here. I gave them some of my pictures of the scenery west of here, and they will publish them with their next articles.

They left here with the intention of putting in the night at Cranbrook and will take a look at Elko Canyon on their way. They leave Cranbrook for Nelson tomorrow after visiting some of the local beauty spots there. From Nelson they will go on to Spences Bridge by way of Keremeos and Princeton, and get to Vancouver without leaving the province on their wheels if it is at all possible.

Percy Gomery, the author of "A Motor Scamper 'Cross Canada," and a director of the British Columbia Automobile Association, was here last Saturday, the 23rd. He is being driven all through from Vancouver to Macleod for the purpose of writing a description of the Trans-Provincial Highway. He followed the route between Yale and Spences Bridge by railway, and the boards of trade all through have driven him through their districts. His reason for not driving his own car on this trip was because he needed real local color for his article and could only get the correctly by having with him someone who could describe the different sections from personal knowledge.

I drove him from here to Blairmore, and the board of trade there not being able to arrange to take him on to Pincher, he hired a car to take him there. Pincher Creek board of trade drove him down to Waterton Lakes Park and back by the other road to Macleod, from where he was driven by Macleod, Claresholm and High River boards of trade to Calgary.

He is very enthusiastic about the scenery along the new route which is to be built between Yale and Spences Bridge and the articles which he is writing about the Trans-Provincial Highway are bound to stimulate travel through here, as they are to be syndicated and will be published throughout Canada and the States. Incidentally, Mr. Gomery is a great admirer of scenery all through here, which he thinks is unsurpassed anywhere.

ASTHMA NEVER CAME BACK

Read this letter from Mrs. J. M. Pennington of New Rockland, P.Q. "In 1919, I was taken with Bronchial Asthma and no one knows what I suffered during the winter. I began having choking spells and would just gasp for breath and could not speak. The doctor said he could do nothing for me.

In the spring of 1920, I started taking "Fruit-a-tives" and soon the choking spells became easier and I have not had one since May 7th, 1920. It is such a relief to be able to go to bed and have no thought of having to get up in the night for an hour or more as I did all that winter, but never have to now, all because I take a "Fruit-a-tives" tablet every night.

COMMUNICATION

Fernie, B.C., Aug. 27, 1924.

Editor Fernie Free Press,
Fernie, B.C.

Dear Sir—I would appreciate it greatly if you would insert the following letter in your valuable paper:

I have been very ill for the past few months and went under a serious operation. I belong to various fraternal organizations in Fernie, but I wish to express the thanks of my wife and self to the officers and members of the Loyal Order of Moose, also to the Women of Mooseheart Legion for their efforts and kindness during my sickness. Of all the fraternal organizations that I belong none have shown the true fraternal spirit like the Loyal Order of Moose and the Women of Mooseheart Legion. I feel it is my duty to let this be known. Thanking this great order once more, I remain,

Franklin Bonnell left on Thursday for Vancouver.

Mrs. Thos. Oakley is holidaying at the coast.

An unconfirmed report from Portland states that J. R. Pollock, late of Fernie, B.C., is dead.

E. Large, for a number of years manager of the Fernie Motor Car Co., Ltd., has resigned and will go into the garage business in Blairmore.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Minton and family, of Trail, returned on Sunday morning after spending a vacation with Mr. Minton's parents in Fernie.

Principal Martin of the Public Schools, and Mrs. Martin, returned this week from Vancouver, where they spent the holidays.

A special mass meeting of Gladstone Local Union will be held in the Grand Theatre tomorrow (Saturday) at 1 p.m.

Don't forget the social and dance in the Catholic Hall tonight, Friday, Aug. 29. Cards from 9 to 10.30. Refreshments. Dancing from 11 to 1. Admission 50c.

After spending a few weeks' holidays with Miss Millie Caufield, Miss Agnes Walsh left on Thursday for Wyndel, B.C., where she will teach the coming term.

On Friday last death came to the home of Joseph George, when his beloved wife passed away after a lingering illness. The funeral took place on Monday.

Arthuh Ferguson, of Coleman, was in town today. He reports building operations in Coleman as very brisk. Over sixty houses have been erected there this summer.

Dr. Bonnell shipped his valuable Chesapeake dog to Creston on this morning's express, but the dog evidently objected as he was back home a few hours afterwards.

Mrs. Appleyard won Mrs. Watson's golf Cup on Aug. 19 in the medal competition. Mrs. Watson won the Trites cup, Mrs. Irvine being the runner-up.

Will all those who are participating in the parade on Monday kindly arrange to be on the school grounds before 11 a.m., thus enabling Chief Anderson to allocate places for them. A hearty invitation to all auto owners and other conveyances is extended.

Rev. Father Kennedy, for four years in charge of the Roman Catholic church here, has been transferred to Vancouver, where he will be in charge of the city missionary work. Previous to his departure on Thursday morning, he was the guest of honor of a large number of his parishioners at a social held in the parish hall on Wednesday evening, and was presented with a bountifully fitted club bag. During his stay in Fernie, Father Kennedy has been an indefatigable worker in the church cause and has built up a fine institution. His departure will be deeply regretted by a host of friends. Rev. Father McKennal of Edmonton, will take charge of the work in Fernie.

Dr. Hornaday, of New York, and M.J. Phillips, of Pittsburg, big game hunters, who for a number of years were wont to visit the Upper Elk River, have from time to time recommended this hunting ground to their friends. A short time ago two young men from across the line, on the advice of Mr. Phillips, came to Michel with a complete hunting and fishing outfit and decided to wait over until the season opened. One of the visiting hunters was called suddenly to Spokane owing to the illness of his wife, who was visiting there,and the young men decided to motor to that city. The provincial police got wind that the party was leaving the country and arrested them in Fernie, seizing their rifles, revolvers, etc. This province has spent thousands of dollars in advertising its hunting resources and the provincial police should use a little judgment in enforcing the Game Act against innocent offenders. A few bonehead arrests like the above would do more harm than all that a million dollars' worth of advertising could accomplish.

The G.W.V.A. band will meet for practice on Sunday evening at 7.30.

There will be no meeting of the Elks Lodge next Monday night.

The women of the Labor party will meet in the Labor rooms tonight at 7.30. Important business.

An ad. on the sign board reads "Lost, $5.00, between Klauer and Father Kennedy." Corbett thinks the chances of recovery are remote.

Miss Martha Reed has returned to Hillcrest, where she has been on the teaching staff for the past three years.

The big golf tournament starts tomorrow and all those interested are requested to pay particular attention to the time set for each event. The full program appears elsewhere in this issue.

The East Kootenay Power Co. have put on about 200 men at Elko in an endeavor to finish the work on the flume and at the dam. A large number of idle men from Fernie have been taken on.

A quiet wedding took place on August 27, when Hilda, the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Derbyshire, was united in marriage to Mr. Joseph London, both of Fernie. The young couple left on Thursday for a short honeymoon trip to Calgary.

The local lodge K. of P. and Pythian Sisters assembled at the I.O. O.F. Hall on Sunday last for the annual Memorial Day service, which was held in the hall, after which the assembly proceeded to the cemetery, where all graves of departed Knights were properly decorated with floral tributes.

Rev. Father Kennedy's baseball team went to Michel on Wednesday, where they met a team of boys from Coleman, whom they decisively defeated to the tune of 31-10. They then took on a team from Michel, whom they defeated 14-6. Father Kennedy has a real baseball team and it is to be hoped that some one else will take charge of the little fellows now that the Rev. Father has been called to other fields.

Over fifty users of electric light and water were cut off by the city this week owing to non-payment of dues. The failure of the Home Bank and the heavy loss sustained by the city has made it imperative that the city collect any monies due. However, the city's need will not save the authorities from severe criticism for taking drastic action at this time, as there are dozens of people who simply haven't got the money. The charge of $2 for re-connecting up the service seems to us at this time to be a heavy tax upon the poor of the city and should if possible be withdrawn.

ANCHOR OF THE SOUL

A spirit of cheerfulness and hope is one of the most desirable things in life. As a rule in healthy humanity, it is a feature of the morning hours. We awake from sleep with powers renewed to meet the occurrences of the day, whatever they may be. There is a touch of optimism in most people. They are willing to concede that though things may be adverse today they will probably be better tomorrow. Taken in the mass, it is under this general condition that the world's work goes on. That work would not be attempted unless it had some hope of success.

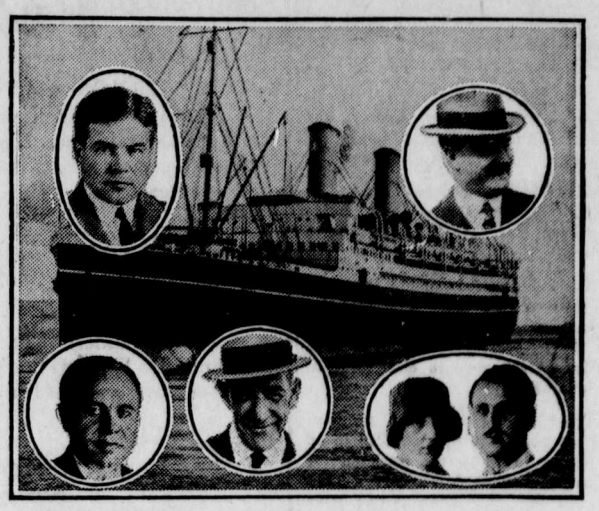
A spirit of optimism is not so important as a sense of duty, but it is a pleasant accompaniment. He who is a mere bundle of optimism and sanguine expectations may be of very little weight in the scheme of things. He may be but little better than a dog who wags his tail in the expectation of his dinner. Very different is he who puts backbone and sweat into his work fortified by the hope that his manly effort will be met by suitable reward. This man earns his hopefulness. The "providence that helps those who help themselves" gilds his work with the sunshine of anticipation.

A survey of those we are acquainted with shows that hopefulness is sometimes a minus quantity. Some are born with a despondent turn. Some there are "whom unmerciful disaster" follows fast and follows faster till their song one burden bears. There are those on sick beds who long first for the morning and then for the evening. If we are pious and thoughtful we remember these suffering ones in our prayers and we help them by practical sympathy. We call to mind that with regard to some of them their only hope is the hope of release from their sufferings by the touch of the Angel of Death. We can not shut our eyes to the mystery of these things nor forget that

Never morning wore
To evening but some heart did break.

To "see life steadily and see it whole" means that we must take account of the bitter as well as the sweet. We may say that life is one thing after another and utter banal commonplaces about it being all in the day's work, but such talk scarcely lifts the shadow that sometimes encompasses us.

So far we have been considering chiefly the material aspect of human life as distinguished from the spiritual. The experiences that have been noted; the cheerfulness of hope; the shadow of adverse conditions and of approaching death are such as might conceivably occur to an amiable pagan savage. We have not taken into account that hope which is "as an anchor of the soul both sure and steadfast and which entereth into that within the veil." In these memorable words the writer of the Epistle to the Hebrews brings us to the verge of human life, and suggests that to the eye of faith the whole of life is transfigured; has a meaning that it does not otherwise appear to have.



A hope founded on a religious basis connotes the idea of faith; of a consciousness which recognizes that our present human life is but a part of an immortal whole. But we are not to suppose that it abolishes, though it may modify those human characteristics which are innate. There are some religious people who are the most mournful creatures to be met with anywhere. The only thing we can say about them is that they would be very much worse if it were not for their faith. On the other hand a Christian who to a natural elasticity of temperament adds a firm hold on the anchor of faith, is a constant help and dispenser of radiance to those about him.

Following out the metaphor of hope as an anchor ,the question with regar dto all anchors is to what extent they will hold. There are hope-anchors that are quite satisfactory as far as they go, but they are small, and they relate to the inner happenings of life. There are times of crisis when we want something stronger; times when through business catastrophies or the falling away of friends the bottom seems to have fallen out of everything. And there is the sad drifting when those we dearly loved have been taken from us by the hand of death. At such periods mere resignation to the inevitable is not enough. We need the anchor that is firmly grounded "within the veil."

Prominent Passengers on Empress of France

The tide of steamship traffic is turning westward again, and the St. Lawrence route is still the favoured one. Beside large numbers of immigrants and returning Canadians, a great many European tourists are now turning toward Canada and these form no small percentage of steamship passenger lists. Perhaps the most distinguished list this season, was carried by the Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of France on her last westward voyage. Among those on board was Lord Beaverbrook, who with several members of his family will spend some time in this country. He was also accompanied by T. Marson Till, O.B.E., his secretary. Other prominent British passengers were Right Hon. Sir Evelyn Cecil, O.B.E.,P.C., M.P., and Col. Vaughan Morgan, O.B.E.,M.P., of London. E. W. Bok, the famous Philadelphia publisher of Peace Prize fame also made the voyage.

Two passengers in whom much interest centered were Prince and Princess Serge Obolensky whose recent marriage in Paris was one of the big social events of the year. The Princess was formerly Miss Astor. The Hon. Charles A. Dunning, premier of Saskatchewan, was also on the France. Other prominent passengers included Mr. R. Bosch, the inventor of the Bosch Magneto, and Mrs. W. H. Taft, who was met at the dock by her husband, W. H. Taft of the U.S. Supreme Court and ex-President of the United States.

E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, returned on the Empress of France from a short visit to the Company's agencies in England and Scandinavia. He was much impressed by the great possibilities of a furtherance of trade between these countries and Canada.

Asked whether he had seen the Canadian papers while abroad, and had noted the storm of comment and protest that had followed upon the putting into effect of the Crow's Nest Pass rates, Mr. Beatty replied that he had seen a good deal of this, and it was nothing more than had been expected by himself and other railway officers.

"At the time the proposed restoration of the Crow's Nest rates was under discussion," he said "it was made abundantly evident by the railroads that they could not afford in the face of existing costs of operation for labor, materials, equipment, etc., to extend the operation of the Crow's Nest rates beyond the limits orginally fixed. It was also fully explained that if restoration was forced upon the railways many inconsistencies would inevitably result, and some parts of the country would be unduly favored in comparison with others."

"One of the grave difficulties of the day in railway operation in Canada is that theorists in railroad management are preaching a doctrine that gives no thought to the cost of operation in relation to the price the railroad is permitted to get for the service it gives as a common carrier. In most other lines of business, cost to the consumer is based on the cost of production. I cannot see why it should be different in the selling of freight or passenger transportation. Somebody has got to pay wages and other operating costs, and if the shipper is not willing to do so, I do not know who will, unless the country will pay it as a whole and I imagine that even the strongest supporters of public ownership will agree that we have reached the limit in that direction.'

"It is axiomatic, too, that the continuous betterments and improvements to existing railway lines and the provision of capital for extensions and new constructions generally depends directly upon the earning power of the companies, especially in the case of the Canadian Pacific, whose funds must be secured in the money markets of the world and it would be in every respect unwise to borrow unless the general earnings of the company were satisfactory. One of the difficulties facing the railway companies in Canada is that there is not a sufficient margin between revenues and outlays to permit of surpluses for working capital and for the general purposes of the companies. Until this margin is re-established extensive borrowings are highly undesirable. Nothing is more conducive to satisfactory commercial conditions than a healthy transportation situation and this can only be accomplished if a proper relation exists between revenues and disbursements.

"I should like to point out," said Mr. Beatty, "that the Interstate Commerce Commission in the matter of rates and charges on grain and grain products in the western United States very recently decided that the general basis of rates then in effect did not appear to be unreasonable and dismissed the application for reduction. Here it should be remembered that rates on grain and grain products now in effect in western Canada are not less than 25 per cent. lower than those in the United States. The Inter-state Commerce Commission is comprised of highly qualified economists who approach the technical and allied questions of railway rates and costs in a thoroughly scientific manner. On the other hand, the rate situation in Canada which has been the subject of so much comment recently has been brought about by the restoration by act of Parliament of a scale of rates fixed nearly thirty years ago without regard at all to present day costs of the inevitable disruption of the relationship which otherwise existed between various commodities and various producing centres."

Mr. Beatty added that figures had been filed with the Government showing the approximate decreases in revenue to both the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific railways by the adoption of the Crow's Nest rates on grain. These, he said, reflected a very serious loss of earning powers to the roads which would be made still more serious by the recent restoration of the rates on the balance of the commodities enumerated in that act.

WEATHER AND HEALTH

Do you feel better on a sunshiny day than when it is rainy? Does a cool, bracing October day "set you up," while a damp, hot atmosphere in August pulls you down? These things can not be neglected by physicians, says a writer in the Journal of the American Medical Association. The benefits that repeatedly accrue to persons ordered to a "change of scene" are often too indisputably real to be gainsaid, he asserts. Change of climate may mean far more than transport to a place where altitude regimen, temperature, moisture and other atmospheric conditions are different; it may mean removal from smoke and dust and other noxious agencies in the air; it may bring about new associations and furnish a new personal environment. He continues:

"Climatology, from the human standpoint, has not yet reached the dignity of an exact science. It still banks on combinations of tradition, unverified beliefs and empiric deductions. For the North Temperate Zone it has been alleged more than once that limitations imposed by weather cause many persons to lead unhygienic lives in winter, some individuals almost entering a state of hibernation. For some of these spring brings a welcomed tonic change; others seek it by removing to a different locality. The meaning of sunshine has become apparent in recent years in connection with various diseases. Tuberculosis and rickets, for example, can testify amply to the health-giving virtues of the direct rays of the sun.

"Climate and the weather are indissolubly associated. Work and play are often necessarily adjusted to the forecasts of the weather man. Despite the jibes that are often leveled at him, his prognostications are carefully watched each day by thousands. The detailed studies of climatology by the Weather Bureau furnish the basis for considering the possible advantageous adjustment of many enterprises, including the location of sanatoriums or the migration of the sick and convalescent. Hundreds of official reporting stations and, literally, thousands of cooperative stations are today furnishing the records on which the multifarious work of the Weather Bureau is built."

THE BRAINY ONLY CHILD

The only child has more brains than children with many brothers and sisters, according to conclusions reached by Dr. Hornell Hart, as a result of a study of 600 families in a typical Iowa city. The results have been reported to the Iowa Child Welfare Research Station at the State University. Says Science Service's Daily Science News Bulletin:

"Children from large families are handicapped mentally, morally and socially. In a representative sample of children from practically completed families in Davenport, Iowa, the ability of the children as determined by mental tests was found generally to run higher the fewer the number of surviving children. Children with no living brothers or sisters tend to have mental test quotients about 15 points higher than children with eleven living brothers and sisters, and the average mental test ability decreases fairly steadily as the size of the families increases. Dr. Hart says, 'School progress, in excess or deficit of the amount to be expected from mental-test ability, is at a maximum in families of four or five living children, and at a minimum in families of ten children or over. The difference between the progress in school of these two groups is such that the average child in the very large family loses about one-third of a year through conditions other than mental-test ability associated with large families. The larger the family the greater the tendency is for children to leave school at the earliest possible age. Of families with seven or more living children, 14 per cent are chronically dependent, as compared with 3 per cent among families with six or less children. As far as can be ascertained from teachers' ratings, children in large families are less energetic, less kind, less sincere, and less honest than children from small families. This conclusion is fairly certain for energy, but not so decisive for the other characteristics. Contrary to general impression, children without brothers and sisters compare very favorably with children having brothers or sisters. Birth order, as far as it was studied in this inquiry, appears to have little significance.'"

TANLAC MEETS TEST FOR OVER 3 YEARS

"The more I know about Tanlac the more I feel like praising it," says Mrs. Samuel Shelly, 56 Wood St., Tononto, Ont., Canada. "I always take Tanlac when I begin to feel run down and it has met my health needs for the past three years.

"For years before I learned of Tanlac I was in such an awful run-down condition that at times I would get so weak and nervous I couldn't do my house work. I was down to almost a skeleton and still losing weight all the time. Headaches nearly drove me mad and I had a sickly, sallow complexion.

"Tanlac has increased my weight 14 pounds, and has given me a wonderful appetite. My nerves are steady. I sleep well and have health and strength that makes life a pleasure."

TEA IS A BETTER STIMULANT THAN BEER

The German Institute for Research in Human Food has reached the conclusion that beer is not nearly as effective a stimulant as tea, we are told by Science Service Daily Science News Bulletin:

"Results of a comparison of the two beverages were announced here recently. A half-liter of Munich beer containing about 15 grams of alcohol brought about an acceleration of mental action for about 20 minutes, followed by a period of noticeable depression lasting twice as long. A cup of tea, on the other hand, drove the mental capacity higher about ten per cent for three quarters of an hour, after which the subject of the experiment returned to normal without experiencing the ill effects that followed the alcoholic stimulant. The scientists warned, however, that the average amount of stimulating caffein in the ordinary cup of tea is about one-tenth of the maximum medical dose so that there may be real danger if large amounts are imbibed at one time. A small amount of tea has relatively a greater effect than a larger amount."

THE WORLD'S SHIPPING

Lloyd's Register of Shipping for 1924-25 has just been published and shops that there is at the present day over a million tons less shipping afloat in the world than was the case twelve months ago. Nevertheless the number of vessels of one hundred tons and over, concerning which information is given in the register, reaches the huge total of 32,956, their gross tonnage being 64,023,567, of which Great Britain owns 19,105,838 tons or considerably more than one-quarter. Though Britannia thus still largely rules the waves ,vessels under the British flag show a decline of 161,000 tons. The explanation of this decrease in shipping is to be found to a large extent in the growing keenness of competition in the ocean-carrying trade which has caused owners of old, and consequently less economical vessels to sell them to the shipbreakers.

Germany, which is exerting every effort to regain its former position on the seas, is the nation reporting the largest increase during the period under review. That country has made a gain of 363,598 tons and its mercantile marine now aggregates 2,856,000 tons. But Germany still has a long way to go before attaining its 1914 position when its merchant fleet totalled just over 5,000,000 tons.

Some striking contrasts are furnished by a comparison of pre-war and present day figures, especially in the case of the United States. In June, 1914, our neighboring republic owned only 1,827,000 tons of seagoing vessels, while today its total is 11,834,000 tons. This illustrates in a graphic fashion the mighty shipbuilding effort put forth when Germany was pinning its hopes of victory on the destructive power of its submarines. In 1914 nearly 44 1-2 per cent of the world's seagoing steel and iron steam tonnage was under the British flag; today the percentage is under 33, the United States being an easy second with a share of 20.5 per cent. But it should be borne in mind that these figures do not take into account the efficiency, that is, the size, type and speed of the various merchant navies. Were this done Great Britain would rank much higher, as she has scrapped or disposed of most obsolete or uneconomical vessels.

The statistical tables of the register reveals a somewhat regretful story in the diminution of the number of sailing vessels and show that the stately windjammer of the olden days is rapidly becoming a memory. Of the world's total shipping tonnage of vessels over 100 tons, only 4 per cent are sailing vessels, of which nearly one-half are flying the Stars and Stripes. Great Britain, whose clipper ships, like the Titania, Cutty Sark and Thermopylae were once the pride of every seafarer, no matter what his nationality, does not today possess more than 25 to 30 deep water sailors and the time is not far distant when they will be counted on both hands. And but 30 years ago Great Britain's sailing ship fleet totalled 2,664,000 tons.

Another interesting feature revealed by the statistical tables is the rapid progress being made by the latest devalopment in marine propulsion—the internal combustion engine. Whereas in 1914 the motorship tonnage of the whole world was only 220,000, at the present time it is 1,970,798. Furthermore, of the total shipping now under construction, consisting of 786 vessels of 2,516,879 tons, 154 ships of 810,665 tons, or nearly 45 1-2 per cent of the tonnage building are motor vessels.

TO REDUCE NUMBER OF AUTO ACCIDENTS

South Vancouver, Aug. 22.—"In view of the ever-increasing number of automobile accidents which happen on our highways I would respectfully ask this commission to petition the Attorney-General of B.C. to amend the Motor Vehicle Act and regulations so that the following points could be covered," remarked Chief Constable A. Grundy in a report to the police commissioners:

"It shall be unlawful for one vehicle to pass another vehicle on the left at any intersection, bridge, sharp curve or on steep hills.

"That when one vehicle intends to pass another vehicle on the left, the driver of the said vehicle shall make known his intention to do so by blowing his horn, etc.

"That the provincial government shall compel all owners of motor vehicles to take out personal liability insurance policy for same to be produced at the motor license office before license is issued for said motor vehicle for ensuing year.

"That all slow moving vehicles be compelled to keep close to the curb when travelling on any highway.

"That all drivers of motor vehicles be tested by a competent inspector as to ability to drive a car, that all drivers be given a license if found satisfactory, the licenses to be signed by the inspector, that the driver shall at all times, when in charge of a motor vehicle on a highway carry his license with him and must produce same for inspection when called on to do so by a police officer; that for infractions of the Motor Vehicle Act drivers shall produce their licenses in court, where, on convictions, shall be endorsed by the magistrate.

"That when operating at night and meeting an approaching motor vehicle the driver shall dim his headlights.

"That district municipalities be given same power as rural municipalities to declare certain sections as village areas."

The police commissioners endorsed the chief's suggestions and requested the clerk to forward them to the attorney general at Victoria for consideration.

MORE MILEAGE

An eminent motor engineer says that the day is not far distant when an automobile weighing less than 1000 lbs. and capable of running 50 miles on a gallon of gasoline will be in general service. He holds that the cars now in use are absurdly heavy and wasteful in operation. The efforts of modern designers have been in the direction of the ideas of this specialist. Less weight and more mileage is what the trade desires. The cheapness of gasoline in this country has been a detriment to progress along such ideas. European inventors and designers are working on lighter cars and striving to extend the mileage. The price of petrol averages much higher there than here and the saving is important. — Los Angeles Times.

SHOULD RAISE LIVE STOCK

That an opportunity exists in B.C. for hog raising and sheep breeding on an extensive scale is borne out by official figures.

Last year 40,171 head of sheep were imported into this province from other parts of Canada. Of these 39,590 came from Alberta. Hogs to the number of 68,497, of which 68,203 were from Alberta, were also brought in for local consumption.

Further figures show that the consumption of meat and dairy products by the people of Canada is as follows: Beef, 640,777,765 pounds; pork, 740,388,958 pounds or 80.95 pounds per capita; mutton and lamb, 78,611,102 lbs., or 8.59 per capita; butter, 251,033,733 lbs., or 27.45 per capita; cheese, 28,503,602 lbs., or 3.12 per capita; eggs 230,909,646 dozen or 26.25 dozen per capita; poultry, 67,678,068 lbs., or 7.40 lbs. per capita.

Applying these figures to the 530,000 people in British Columbia, we find that they consume annually the following amounts of these classes of foodstuffs.

Pork, 42,903,500 lbs.; mutton and lamb, 4,553,700 lbs.; butter 14,548,500 lbs.; cheese, 1,563,600 lbs.; eggs, 13,383,500 doz.; poultry, 3,922,000 lbs.

Pork, 1,406,161 lbs., or only 3 per cent of the quantity consumed.

It will thus be seen that there is plenty of room for the development of the above mentioned industries in this province, even if only to supply the local market. The possibilities of mixed and dairy farming in B.C. are unlimited, providing proper marketing methods are adopted. There seems to be no apparent reason why the thousands of acres of available land should not be put to this use and prove the means of attracting several thousands new settlers into the country.

Follows the number of livestock in B. C. which may prove interesting: Milch cows, 71,223, a great increase, 20,000 more than 1919. Other cattle 192,921, little change during the past five years. Sheep 53,336, an increase of 4000 over previous year; it compares with 238,914 in Alberta. Swine, 42,845, a decline in B.C. Other provinces show increases. Poultry 2,165,516, an enormous increase, being 100 per cent over four years ago.

While prices fell off somewhat during 1923, export trade was unusually brisk, and is showing signs of continuing so for the present year. Canada stands seventh among the sheep raising countries, and tenth in hog raising, and will probably rank much higher if reasonable encouragement is given to those desirous of entering into the business.

MIGRATORY BIRD ACT

A summary of the Migratory Birds Act is given below. This is the law which is based upon the treaty with the United States.

Open season, B.C., both dates inclusive:

Ducks, Geese, Brant or Rails — Northern and Eastern District, Sept. 15 to Dec. 30.

Ducks and Rails—Western District south of the 53rd parallel of latitude —Oct. 15 to Jan. 29.

Wilson or Jacksnipe, Black Bellied and Golden Plovers and the Greater and Lesser Yellowlegs — Northern and Eastern District—Sept. 15 to Dec. 30. Western District, north of to Dec. 26. Western District, south the 53rd parallel of latitude—Sept. 13 of the 53rd parallel of latitude—Oct. 1 to Jan. 15.

There is a closed season in B. C. on swans, wood duck, eider duck, cranes, curlew, willet, godwits, upland plover, avocets, dowitchers, knots, oyster catchers, phalaropes, stilts, surf-birds, turnstones, and all the shore birds not provided with an open season in above schedule.

There is a closed season throughout the year on the following non-game birds: Auks auklets, bitterns, fulmars, gannets, grebes, guillemots, gulls, herons, jaegers, loons, murres, petrels, puffins shearwaters and terns; and there is a closed season throughout the year on the following insectivorous birds: Bobolinks, catbirds, chickadees, cuckoos, flickers, flycatchers, grosbecks, hummingbirds, kinglets, martins, meadowlarks, night hawks or bull bats, nuthatches, orioles, robins, shrikes, swallows, swifts, tanagers, titmice, thrushes, vireos, warblers, waxings, whippoorwills, woodpeckers and wrens and all other perching birds which feed entirely or chiefly on insects.

No person shall kill capture, injure, take or molest migratory game birds. Sale of these birds is prohibited.

Every person who violates any provision of this Act or any regulation shall, for each offence, be liable upon summary conviction to a fine of not more than $300 and not less than $10, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or to both fine and imprisonment.

ANOTHER LINK IN RED TRAIL WILL BE BUILT

Construction of another link in the Trans-Canada Red Trail was announcin Vancouver by Hon. W. H. Sutherland, minister of public works in the B.C. government. The sum of $1,250,000 will be spent in a highway following the Fraser river, giving through connection between Vancouver and Cranbrook and Fernie, connecting up with the Red Trail in Alberta at Crow's Nest. It is understood that this is the Princeton-Hope gap in the Red Trail in B.C. Once it is completed it will be possible to motor direct from Lethbridge via the Red Trail all the way to Vancouver except the ferry jump from Kootenay Landing to Nelson.

A. G. Baalim, director of the Southern Alberta and Southeastern B.C. Tourist Association, received word some time ago that the construction of this gap of the Red Trail would be undertaken shortly. It will go from Princeton to Merritt to Spence's Bridge and thence to Hope, whence there is a good all-weather road all the way into Vancouver. The highest point in the new line will be 1200 feet, as against 700 feet by the alternative route which has been considered.

BEATTIE RESIGNS AS PORT SUPERINTENDENT

The biggest shakeup in official circles in the history of the Vancouver Harbor Board has taken place.

R. E. Beattie, harbor commissioner and port superintendent, is resigning the latter position and will be succeeded by K. J. Burns, general manager of the Candian Robert Dollar Company.

Mr. Burns has formally accepted an offer of a five year contract at $8000 per year.

That Mr. Beattie would retire from the active direction of the port has been prophesied for some time. His health has not been good. There was also a general demand that an experienced operating official should be placed in charge of actual administration. One of the features of Mr. Burns' appointment, it is said, will be that he will be free from political interference. Mr. Beattie remains a member of the harbor board.

MOOSE PICNIC AT HOSMER

Long before 10 a.m. on Sunday the vicinity of Victoria Hall took on an animated appearance, when the members of the local order Loyal Order of Moose, with their families, assembled on the occasion of their annual picnic. Motor trucks and cars were requisitioned to carry the large concourse to Hosmer school grounds, kindly loaned by the Hosmer school board, with the use of the school buildings, for the occasion. The participants took their own "eats" and crockery and the lodge provided tea and coffee, over which Bro. Harry Murray displayed his culinary abilities. The children were regaled with ice cream during the day. A series of sports took place, the winers of the various events being as follows:

Boys 4 to 6 years—1 Tom Bennett, 2 Jack Rutledge.

Boys 6 to 8 years—1 Tom Arbuckle, 2 Wm. McPherson.

Boys 8 to 10 years—1 Ralph Davidson, 2 Harold Rutledge.

Girls 4 to 6 years—1 Phyllis Mitchell, 2 Jean McCormick.

Girls 6 to 8 years—1 Katie Rutledge, 2 Annie Iannucci.

Girls 8 to 10 years—1 Mary Mitchell, 2 Catherine Sweeney.

Tug of War, Ladies—Mrs. Luke, captain, Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. R. Mitchell, Mrs. Bennett vs. Mrs. McCormack, captain, Mrs. T. Arbuckle, Mrs. A. Pugh, Mrs. Dewsbury, Mrs. Bell. Mrs. Luke's team was declared the winner.

The three-legged race was won by Mrs. Pugh and partner and Mrs. R. Mitchell and partner, 1st and 2nd respectively.

A well contested football game between the married and single ladies resulted in a win for the married ladies, 2 goals to 1. Bob Mitchell handled the difficult task of referee.

The return journey to Fernie commenced about 6 p.m. On leaving the grounds each child was given an orange. The committee in charge are to be complimented on the arrangements made. We are requested to take this opportunity of thanking all those who so kindly provided transportation facilities and contributed in any way towards a most enjoyable day.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Mark Hugall, for many years timekeeper up here, severed his connection with the Coal Co. and has gone to join his family at the coast.

The Home Bank depositors here held a meeting in the Club Hall on Monday evening to review the situation. It was unanimously decided to keep up the agitation and to carry on with their protests.

A large number of Moose families journeyed to Fernie on Sunday morning to participate in the Moose picnic at Hosmer. A large motor truck was chartered to convey them back to camp.

Owing to the great success attending the efforts of the Pythian Sisters and Knights up here in the grand social held in the Club Hall, arrangements are under way for a similar gathering.

For the convenience of all who desire to attend the Labor Day sports at Fernie on Monday next, a special train will leave Coal Creek at 10 a.m.

Coal Creek has entered a football team in the Labor Day sports at Fernie in expectation of carrying off the trophies.

This burg has added its quota of men to the number of workers employed at Elko.

Baseball made its debut in this camp on Sunday last as the result of a challenge issued by a team captained by the renowned Geo. Barker, whose abilities with the mitt received great appreciation by the spectators.

The school reopens up here on Wednesday next.

TABLET AT FORT TEJON

Standing in the heart of Tejon pass, one of the most beautiful vales of the San Joaquin valley, is picturesque old Fort Tejon, one of the earliest of California's forts. The fort was built in 1852, and the site was selected by Gen. Edward Fitzgerald Beale, then a young lieutenant, and governmental Indian agent. Tejon pass was a highly strategic position for defence, since it commanded the only approach from the coast to the upper end of the San Joaquin valley. At one time Fort Tejon was the barracks for a thousand soldiers, but it can not be actually determined that there ever was a real military engagement about its environs.

As set forth by an old history of California ,a detachment of soldiers from Fort Tejon in 1857 was sent in pursuit of a band of desperadoes who had been terrorizing Los Angeles and its environs. After Gen. Beale retired from active military service he bought great tracts of land from the Spanish and Mexican owners and in the heart of his holdings stood the old fort. The property is now held by a land company.

EAT LESS AND FIGHT BETTER

Take a tip from the lower animals, advises Dr. W. A. Evans, who is responsible for a good deal of newspaper and magazine advice on health. If you would use your muscles and brains to the best effect, don't eat before exertion. Athletes and athletic trainers follow this rule, and their opinion, says Dr. Evans, accords with that of all men who train animals for competition. He specifies, writing in Liberty:

Race horse trainers do not feed for several hours before a race. After the race the horse is sponged, cooled down, walked and then, after being quieted and cooled, is given a fair meal.

Soon after his pack jumps a fox an old fox hunter can tell whether the fox has fed or not by the way he runs. When a fox gets up in the late afternoon he satisfies his thirst and then starts out on his hunt for food. After killing, he eats and then lies down for a lazy spell, after which he may travel again before he lies up for the day. How he will run when jumped depends on whether he has eaten.

All wild animals have the same general habit. Lions, tigers, wolves —all hunt, kill, lie, and sleep. Grass-eating animals are still more torpid after they have eaten.

Prize fighters not only eat very little before they fight, but they go a step further. They drink almost no water for several days before a fight. This process they call "drying out." In some cases drying out is done as a means of making weight; that is, losing enough weight to come below the deadline when weighing in comes. Some dry out because they think it increases endurance.

The animals learned early in the course of their racial lives that they must be efficient else they would die from starvation or perish in combat. Therefore they have the instinctive habit of avoiding trouble when they have a bellyful.

There is basic difference between instinctive behavior and that which humans develop as the result of experience, memory and judgment. If this particular behavior reaction is almost universal among animals competing for food and athletes competing for prizes, it must be based on physiologic principles.

We have always seemed to know, instinctively, perhaps, that many things were crowded in the "pit of the stomach," and that when we loaded anything extra in there, it somehow caused a pressure which made us short-winded.

A few years ago Morgulis wrote a very scientific book on hunger and fasting. He gathered together facts from a great many sources. He proved that an animal is at its best when it is in the earlier stage of starvation. The period he had reference to is that in which all the nutrition elements in the blood on the way to tissue building have been used up and the stored excesses in the body have been moderately drawn on. The cells of the body have used up any stored excess within themselves, and have drawn on the reserves elsewhere until the sides of these warehouses are no longer bursting.

On the other hand, the point has not been reached where the stores have been completely exhausted, and certainly the unsatisfied hunger-point of the cells themselves is not at hand. The stage is one of what might be termed physiologic cleanness.

LIFE ON MARS

All this week the world's astronomers will be scanning the planet Mars from every available coign of vantage in the attempt to solve the question as to whether or not it is inhabited. If they fail now a further span of fifteen years must elapse before Mars is as near the earth as it is today; and then, unless in the meantime some new discovery in the sciences of optics has been made, multiplying the power of the telescope, they would probably fail again.

It is highly improbable that the astronomers will be able to prove this week that Mars is inhabited, but they may prove that it is habitable. Indeed, there is a fairly strong presumption already from the evidence of spectrum analysis that Mars has an atmosphere and that the latter mypothesis may be correct.

Under the old cosmogony, the earth was regarded as the centre of the universe, and the sun, moon, planets and fixed stars were deemed to have been created simply to give light to it. Some theologians supported this view with the result that such pioneers of the new astronomy as Bruno and Galileo suffered in the one case martyrdom and in the other social ostracism. Of course everybody knows now that the earth is but an infinitesmal speck in a creation so vast as to be capable of representation only by the algebraic sign for infinity; and this being so, there is no logical reason to assume that man and the brute creation of this world have the sole prerogative of life. If it could be so proven, then man would take on a new dignity; for his personal insignificance in point of size is no criterion of his innate or ultimate value in the Divine scheme of things. Man, in that he has learned to weigh the stars, to plot their periods and distances, to trace their paths through the illimitable spaces, to chart them and to record their reappearance, is greater than any star, and gives this evidence of his divine ancestry and destiny. If on the other hand it can be demonstrated that man has neighbors in other worlds, this knowledge without in any way detracting from his value as man should tend to make him humbler with respect to the valuation which at present he puts upon himself. It will be seen, therefore, that man stands to gain whatever may be the scientific verdict after the present Martian scrutiny is over. A new baptism of either dignity or humility would be good for us all; a baptism of both would be better.

LABOR DAY CELEBRATION

Punctually at 11 a.m., headed by the G.W.V.A. band, the street parade left the school grounds. The local K. of P., with a float representing a portion of their ritualistic work, were presented with the silver cup, being the only fraternal society in the parade.

The prize for the best comic float was again lifted by the Jazz Band, under the direction of Monsieur Joinson.

Best Comic Character—Master Lawrence.

Best National Character—Ole Bill in Fragments from France, ably portrayed by Ben Drew, assisted by Bert Sawyer as "Alf," with Lanky Jack as a German prisoner.

The Vets executive desire to thank Chief Anderson and his staff for the facilities provided, the Coal Co. for transportation of Coal Creek residents and all competitors in the parade.

Boys 7 to 9 years—1 F. Ingram, 2 R. Mills, 3 J. Corlett.

Boys 9 to 11 years—1 C. Berguamon, 2 J. Cassie, 3 C. Picco.

Boys 11 to 14 years—1 W. Brown, 2 J. Amantea, 3 H. Murray.

Girls 7 to 9 years—1 J. Cairns, 2, M. Corlett, 3 M. Bella.

Girls 9 to 11 years — 1 G. Lowe, 2 A. Beleski, 3 M. Smith.

Girls 11 to 14 years—1 M. Tully, 2 C. Lukas, 3 M. Corlett.

The baseball game between Fernie and an all-star team from Coleman, Blairmore and Hillcrest was interesting only for the first five innings, the score at the end of that frame being one to nothing in favor of Fernie. When the smoke cleared away in Fernie's sixth inning they had scored ten runs and for a time it looked as if they were never going to be retired. The final score was Fernie 13, All-Stars 3. Palcock pitched for the All-Stars. Hein did mound duty for Fernie and up to the 8th inning had struck out 15 batters and only allowed one hit.

A special medal was awarded to Gladys Arbuckle of Coal Creek, the six year old competitor.

The special cup for the contestant gaining the highest number of points was awarded to Tina Thompson with 94 points out of a possible 100.

The refreshment booths on the grounds were under the control of the Women's Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A.

The amusements and games were under the direction of Fred Shears.

The day was brought to a close by a big dance in Victoria Hall, which was filled to capacity. Commons orchestra occupied the orchestra platform. The duties of M.C. were ably carried out by George Davidson and Harold Wheeler. Refreshments, which were provided by the ladies of the Auxiliary, were of the usual high class order for which they are famed.

MEETING NOT HARMONIOUS

Calgary, Sept. 4.—No newspapermen are allowed anywhere near the hall in the labor temple where the miners' convention committee are in session, and each delegate is bound to secrecy. Loud voices were heard some distance from the hall on Thursday morning and it was pretty evident that the proceedings were not going along in any harmonious way.

No official statement will be handed out until the close of the convention, so W. Sherman, president of District 18, stated on Thursday morning. He merely stated that there would be another session during the afternoon and at night and that it was possible there would be further sessions on Friday. Although the delegates refuse in any way to discuss the situation outside of the convention hall, one of them went so far on Thursday as to say that there was every indication that the delegates would maintain a strong position against any suggestion of a cut in wages.

START WORK ON PIPE LINE

The first September meeting of the city council was held last evening. Mayor Henderson occupied the chair. Ald. Aiello was the only absentee.

The question of citizens in arrears for water and light came up for discussion. It was definitely stated that as yet none of those in arrears had been cut off from the service. A remarkable decrease in the number of names on the cut off list was noted and it was decided that the electric light be immediately cut off from those remaining on the list.

A resolution passed by the Oak Bay municipal council to be submitted to the Union of B.C. Municipalities at the Penticton convention, asking for legislation to abolish school boards and police commissioners in municipalities and their powers be transferred to the city council where the population was under 8000, and sent to the Fernie council for endorsation, was read by the city clerk. The local council voiced themselves as being very much in favor of this resolution but as the convention closed at Penticton yesterday it was too late for any action being taken.

A letter from the Children's Aid Society requesting financial assistance was ordered filed.

The city clerk was instructed to call for tenders on the winter hay supply for the city.

The Matron of the Fernie Hospital notified the council that Albert Dudys had been admitted to the hospital under the care of Dr. Corsan.

The city clerk advised the council that Dr. Weir, who is at present touring the province on an education survey, will be in Fernie shortly and will hold a meeting in the council chamber at which he would hear all suggestions regarding the education of the Fernie children.

The Inspector of Municipalities in a circular letter to all municipalities stated that it had been brought to his attention that several municipalities had been taking liberties with their sinking funds and pointed out that this was contrary to law and that such liberties must not be taken.

A number of accounts were passed for payment.

Mayor Henderson reported that he expected the work on the completion of the pipe line across the river would be commenced at once and that the new line would be in operation before winter sets in.

TO ABANDON THE UNION

Unionism was on the verge of complete collapse in the Western Kentucky coal fields Saturday.

Operators in the Huhlenberg district, the stronghold of the organized United Mine Workers of America in that section of the state, posted the 1917 Garfield wage scale and invited striking miners to return to work on an open shop basis.

The new scale represents a reduction of 20 per cent and when changes in working rules are computed in the cut it drops to approximately 40 per cent. It is believed to be practically the same as that now in effect in the adjoining Hopkins district.

Approximately 8000 members of the union who have been out since April 1 last, are expected to reenter the pits as free lances. They are reported to have become restless over the work-time enjoyed by the non-union miners in outlying fields, who recently deserted the union, and are anxious to return to work.

The district mines approximately 1,000,000 tons a month. If operation is resumed it means this additional tonnage will be thrown on the market at prices comparable to those existing today from the Hopkins field where the tonnage is about as large.

Determination to resume production was reached by the operators a week ago it was learned. A conference was held at Louisville at which it was decided to post the old Garfield 1917 scale immediately with the operators, hoping to start active mining.

An earlier conference contemplated an educational program among the miners before posting the reduced scale, but later it was agreed the time was ripe for immediate action, since hundreds of the miners were said to be anxious to resume employment.

Notices of the decision and the new scale were mailed to the miners a few days ago. Many of the men received these and are reported as getting ready to go back to work.

Murlenberg is the oldest and largest coal field in the state. All of its mines are large producers. The field has been union for many years and its abondonment of the organized policy is regarded as a distinct blow to the United Mine Workers of America. It is the third major break in the ranks of the union operators outside of the Central Competitive Field since April 1 last. The first was in the Hopkins district and the second in the Hanawha field of West Virginia.

In the Muhlenberg move the miners promise to refute the claim of John L. Lewis, international president of the U. M. W. of A., that union miners are born and not made. It is pointed out that the grandfathers of many of the present miners in the field were strong union members, yet today the fathers and sons are declared ready to give up the organized idea as dictated by the present union leaders.

Muhlenberg lies slightly south of the Hopkins district, where the West Kentucky Coal Corporation resumed operations on a non-union basis at a wage reduction slightly below the 1917 level two months ago. The agreement called for payment to the miners on a lump coal basis, it is understood, instead of mine run. By this is meant only coal going over an inch and a quarter screen is paid for. Previously they were paid on a mine run basis, or for all the coal as it was blasted and hauled out of the mines.

Payment on a lump basis means more lump coal will be produced and less of the fine coal or screenings which are not so readily sold. When considered in the aggregate it materially lowers the cost of production and is given as the explanation for some statisticians figuring the wage reduction at 40 per cent rather than 20.

It is expected that the Muhlenberg scale will also be on a lump coal basis. A benefit association similar to the one now in effect in the Hopkins district will also probably be organized wherein the miners are given a form of organization under the protection of the operators and the men themselves.

The action is of particular significance to Illinois and Indiana operators. It means intensified competition from the non-union operations that already are threatening the future of the mining industry in those two states where unionism has throttled business to such an extent by the war-time wages paid that more than 60,000 miners have been thrown out of employment since the first of the year. Besides, it has reduced employment to the remaining 75,000 to only two or three days a week.

TOURNAMENT THE BEST YET

One of the largest and most successful golf tournaments ever pulled off in the west took place in Fernie on Saturday, Sunday and Monday last, when 115 golfers met on the local links to compete for the large number of beautiful prizes offered by the local club and presented by residents of the city and others for the third annual meet of the Crow's Nest Pass Golf Association. There were 71 men and 44 ladies present from the different clubs throughout the district, viz.:

Blairmore—McKenzie, Wilson, Stevens, Rhynes, Kelly, Roberts, Green, Goddard, Small, Bird, Burns, Farmer, Scott, Emerson, Patterson, Mrs. Bird, Mrs. Farmer, Miss Lelland, Mrs. Farmer, Miss Marquis, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Rhynes, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Brehler, Mrs. Glilis, Mrs. J. H. Thomson, Mrs. Burns.

Pincher Creek—Alexander, Gregory, Dubuc and Mrs. Dubuc.

Fernie—Watson, Hayne, Herchmer, Mitchell, E. Stewart, Wallace, Kastner, S. Wilson, Sanford, Martin, Greenwood, Corbett, G. Johnson, Suddaby, Watmough, Lowell, Moses, Billings, Sanborn, Gates, F. Johnson, O'Neil, Appleyard, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. E. Stewart Mrs. Lawes, Mrs. Herchmer, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Appleyard, Miss J. Corsan, Miss F. McDonald, Mrs. Suddaby, Miss Bonnell, Mrs. Black, Mrs. Colton, Miss Cody, Miss Kelman, Mrs. Aune, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Moses, Mrs. J. R. Wallace, Mrs. Gates, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, and Mrs. Barber.

The competitions were all keenly contested. Fernie was well up among the prize winners. Sandy Watson succeeded in wresting the men's championship from McKenzie of Blairmore, late amateur champion of Scotland, and Mrs. Lawes, who won the ladies championship at Blairmore last year, successfully defended the title.

The tournament opened on Saturday morning with the qualifying round for the championship. Eighty-five was the highest score to get in the first eight and only two of the four 85s qualified, which shows a great improvement over the golf played at Cranbrook two years ago, when 93 qualified. CONTROLLING BANK AUDITORS

In a booklet published by the Canadian Bankers' Association, entitled "The Bank Act," new provisions for guarding against imprudent loans are outlined in the following excerpt:

"The Home Bank failure is one of the worst Canada has known, so utterly bad that the kind of mismanagement which brought it about is wholly beyond palliation. There were imprudent loans of amounts far in excess of any sum justified by the bank's resources, and the audit was no better than a farce insofar as it purported to show the true position of the institution. But the Home Bank collapse occurred under the old Bank Act. Had the failure taken place a year earlier, or while the revision of the Bank Act was under consideration of parliament, it is certain the incident would have engaged attention, produced investigation and led to the enactment of provisions to prevent a recurrence. It so happened that without this object lesson the Banking and Commerce Committee framed such amendments to the Act as will, so far as human ingenuity can avail, prevent a similar catastrophe in future. And that is all that can be asked of parliament. If parliament was called upon this session to revise the Bank Act, in the light of revelations relating to the Home Bank, what course would it pursue? Presumably it would seek to devise some means of detecting unsatisfactory conditions in a bank's loans before actual losses develop, and most certainly it would improve and strengthen the audit, but the opinion may be ventured with confidence that it would not devise safeguards different from those supplied in the present law. Under the former Bank Act, one auditor, and he not necessarily even a chartered accountant or member of any institute of accountants, could make the audit on behalf of the shareholders: and this occurred in the case of the Home Bank. Under the new Act now governing the banks—

(a) There must be two auditors, not members of the same firm;

(b) The auditors must be members in good standing of an institute or association of accountants, each one of whom must have practiced the profession of accountant in Canada for at least six years preceding his appointment;

(c) They are obliged to report in writing to each director individually any loans exceeding one per cent of the paid-up capital of the bank which in their judgment are inadequately secured, and also any transactions or conditions which are not satisfactory to them;

(d) An auditor of a bank cannot undertake any work or accept any retainer for services with outside corporations if such work or retainer comes through the bank or any of its officers;

THE POWER OF LIGHTNING

Scientists have a way of talking about things that gives the impression of calm indifference to all that scares and concerns the ordinary man.

A great big streak of lightning that hurtles through space, opens the sky up for a strip that looks like a yard and half wide, and seems to be satisfied only by taking the steeple off a church or knocking the chimney from the back kitchen—the scientist looks on quietly, takes a pencil and starts to figure on the back of an envelope.

He announces that it is forceful and impressive because of its high voltage. In a few more minutes he has it figured out that it was not worth 78 cents as far as electrical energy is concerned.

The late Dr. Steinmetz, before his death, claimed that the average bolt of lightning was no greater in power than the energy stored up in a pint of gasoline. At the rate paid for electric lights in cities with which he was familiar the average streak of lightning was not worth $1; on the basis of prices paid for power, not over 20 cents.

The same authority had it figured out that a person with a very small gas engine could make as much electricity for 80 cents worth of gas as was developed in an average thunderstrom.

It's very interesting to have it all worked out on that basis; it might even make a timid person resolve not to be afraid of any 60-cent electrical storm, yet there would be the mental reservation that it would be much nicer to make one's own supply of electricity rather than have it shot at him from the heavens.

Generations hence German parents in the Ruhr may be telling their children terrible tales of "the year when the French were here."

FALSE ECONOMY TO REDUCE SALARIES OF TEACHERS

The following from the Creston Review is of interest, tending as it does, to introduce the question of where the newly certified teachers, recently graduated from Vancouver and Victoria, are going to find positions.

"That the teaching profession is rapidly becoming away overcrowded is strikingly evidenced in this locality this year. Sirdar, Wynndel, Alice Siding, Canyan, Lister and Huscroft schools will have the same teaching staffs as last term. This is the first time ever that there have been so few changes in teachers. A year ago the situation was almost reversed, new teachers coming to all the schools mentioned with the possible exception of Canyon and Alice Siding. But at that the Review does not believe that the abundance of teachers in any way justifies salary cuts to teachers who show above average ability."—Creston Review.

In connection with the above, we consider the point well taken. With the services of such a large number of teachers available there will naturally be a desire on the part of school boards to obtain these services for less money than is now being paid. It is possibly well, however, to first analyze the situation carefully, before any action of this nature is taken. In so doing one would find that it was but a short time ago that there existed a great dearth of teachers, this being admittedly due to the fact that the remuneration for teachers was not in any way commensurate with the services given. This, and war conditions, caused a gradual raising of teachers' salaries, with the result that a better type of person was attracted to the profession, which in turn resulted in more efficient work being done, the teacher taking a great deal more interest in the work and the children. This interest inspired the child to work as he or she would not otherwise have done. The gaining of this interest is half the battle for successful work.

To the ratepayer or school trustee who sees only through the glasses of dollars and cents one needs but ask whether it is more economical to pay a decent salary and attract the better class, or reduce the salary ten per cent and cause a twenty per cent increase in the time taken to put a child through the grades. The same efficiency being retained in the high schools, much time would be saved for the pupil there as well.

Few people realize what the saving of three or four years means in the education of a child.

A thorough consideration of the subject would probably lead to the conclusion that it would be a better policy financially, for the various boards to be content with the better service obtainable through the greater competition for the positions available, and the greater desire on the part of the teacher to show such efficiency as will warrant their services being retained, rather than risk indifferent service through reduced salaries.—Cranbrook Herald.

Alluding to the pacts made by Britain's Labor government with Russia, and the implication that Britain is about to raise a loan for the Soviet Republics, the London Times says: "There are plenty of other applicants for loans whom the public do trust. They have only a limited amount to lend to anyone, and they have an invincible preference for safe investments. No government and no syndicate of capitalists can escape these economic facts. Until the Soviets acquire the confidence of the 'plain man' they will have to do without the 'plain man's' money—which, in fact, is all the money that either the state or the city has to lend."

Miss Emma Goldman, an American Socialist, one, indeed, sometimes called an anarchist, has been telling the Internationalist Anti-Militarist Congress at The Hague some things about Soviet Russia where she went to find her spiritual home. She says, after experience there, that the Bolsheviki have built up a state as capitalistic and militaristic as the Russia of the Romanoffs, and in doing so have permitted less individual freedom than prevailed under the Czar. Miss Goldman is disillusioned about Russia and possibly about many other of the Communistic doctrines she held in the past.

Victoria, Sept. 1.—While it is the intention of the government ot proceed wih the construction of the trans-provincial highway link from Hope to the interior, via the Fraser Canyon, no definite plans have been completed.

Hon. W. H. Sutherland, minister of public works, has informed your correspondent that he has not made any statement that tenders would be called for immediately. He was placing the matter before a special meeting of the executive council, but did not expect a decision.

However, it has been settled that the highway will traverse the historic canyon. It will cost about $1,250,000, or $250,000 more than the Hope-Princeton link.

The altitude of the chosen route does not exceed 1100 feet, some 3300 feet lower than that of the Hope-Princeton connection. Furthermore government engineers show that the canyon highway would be open practically all year, as against five to seven months of the year via Hope-Princeton.

Construction costs would be higher, but maintenance costs would be negligible in comparison with the higher route. A steel bridge will be erected over the Fraser river at the location of the old suspension bridge near Spuzzum.

It is expected that two years will be required to finish the job and that the work will be proceeded with this fall or at the latest next spring.

"TWELVE DANGER SIGNS"

Positive terms of warning to prospective investors are issued in a bulletin by the United States Government Savings System which Canadian financiers believe of unusual interest and reproduces:

"1. Mining stock. The best looking mine in the world may prove a 'white elephant.' Mining is a very expensive undertaking and the risks are unusually great. There is a saying that a mine 'is a hole where fools dump their money.' There are many good mining investments, of course, but this branch of the investment market is generally not for those who work for and depend upon a salary.

"2. Oil Stock. Drilling for oil is costly. Oil investments are speculative and in a class with mining investments.

"3. In the wake of every important discovery or invention there comes a host of schemes—'airplanes,' 'radio,' 'wireless.' The promoters of these may have not only the best intentions, but frequently their enthusiasm is about all they have to sell. Look before you leap.

"4. Investments in 'real estate' situated in some distant place are sometimes as dangerous as mining stock. Know what you are buying before you invest.

"5. 'Land Development schemes frequently do not pan out. At best it is a long time before any money comes in from sales. Investments in 'new companies' that are going to 'sell by mail' should be generally avoided.

"6. Patent rights and processes distribution. It is rarely the patentee who makes the money.

"7. 'New Manufacturing Methods' should always be closely checked and investigated.

"9. 'Special inducements' in cash discounts or stock bonuses urging you to be one of the first to invest are suspicious symptoms.

"10. 'Tips' alleged to land you 'on the ground floor' are rarely to be taken.

"11. 'Playing the stock market on margin' and all other forms of speculation are decidedly not for the small investor. Beware of the 'bucket shop.' If you buy stocks outright for investment do so through a member of a legitimate exchange.

"12. Stock in 'mail order companies' being organized with promises based on what others have done rarely turn out well."

WAR ONE LIKES

Farmers' Sun: The United States Shipping Board threatens a rate war on the Atlantic if British Atlantic lines refuse to increase their rates and allow American Atlantic lines 50 per cent of the ocean carrying trade. That is a sort of war Canadian farmers can view not only with equanimity, but joy. If the war does come it may mean a return to the 1913 rate on cattle shipments overseas; and that would be a real bonanza for farmers.

POLITICAL INDIFFERENCE

Simcoe Reformer: We are losing the democratic sense. This indifference to the importance of parliament is dwarfing our abilities to govern and rule, lessening our sense of natural responsibility, blinding us to the importance of international relations, creating conditions in which public political sham becomes easy, and, above all else, creating an atmosphere inimitable to the breeding of great politicians and statesmen.

Under the new dispensation in Turkey the principle of monogamy is recognized for the first time although it is not to be enforced. The Commission for Judicial Reform has made the following recommendation regarding the Family Rights Bill: "The principle of a single wife is essential in marriage. Consequently a man who wishes to contract a second marriage is not authorized to do so unless he is able to prove the necessity and also his capacity for being just towards two wives. Furthermore, he must obtain the prior permission of a judge." In Constantinople this new ruling is not regarded as seriously interfering with the old practice on account of the ease with which it can be evaded.

CREDIT MORAL AND MATERIAL

There is a school where it seems difficult for pupils to advance into higher grades, and that school is the school of credit. Though indispensible in modern commerce and fundamental to its development, credit in its various elements is little understood and for that reason is suffering constant abuses.

We pay large bills for our ignorance of credit principles. We go along merrily as though credit were governed by none of those hard and fast rules that prevail in all other matters with which mankind has to do. Some day the fallaciousness of endeavoring to create credit out of thin air will be generally understood.

In a recent editorial, a metropolitan newspaper made this statement: "Credit is not material; it is moral." This is but half true. Credit is both material and moral. Credit is bought just like commodities. This is the exchange principle of credit. He who has credit to sell buys commodities or money with it, and while credit is not a value of itself, it represents elements, which, taken together, constitute value and make a fair exchange.

The thing that is fundamental with credit is that the goods or money obtained through credit must be used in such manner that when the liquidating period arrives, he who gave real value in the first place will receive real value in return. When the liquidating capacity in credit fails, credit dies.

Credit cannot be legislated. Failure to appreciate this by governments has caused dire disaster in the years just passed. Credit is at the base of our complex commerce; with it we create capital and wealth. Yet with so much ignorance prevailing regarding the credit function, we contribute annually a sum in credit waste that could as well be saved and used for production.

It is easy for the legislator to say that a hard pressed agricultural or industrial people should be given more credit, yet if the elements of credit are lacking and the liquidating power absent, then to supply credit merely hinders and does not help in the final windup. Real values must be created by muscle and brain.

Although Alberta only became a province eighteen years ago, its population has increased fourfold, while the grain yield has increased twentyfold. The total agricultural products of Alberta in 1923 were worth $223,000,000.

The scheme for the settlement of British emigrants in Canada may assume a new aspect as a result of the presence in London, England, of the Hon. J. A. Robb, Canadian Minister of Immigration. Canada favors the movement of entire families to Canada from Great Britain, rather than that of single men.

Among the biggest muscalunges caught this year was one landed at the Canadian Pacific Railway's French River (Ont.) Bungalow Camp, by Samuel Franklin, Southern Sales Manager of Claflins, Inc., New York City. Mr. Franklin had a light tackle and had never hooked a lunge before. He had a hard fight to secure the fish, which tipped the scale at 38½ pounds.

A total of 13,743 Canadians, most of them native-born, has been repatriated from the United States during the months of April, May and June, according to figures announced by the Department of Immigration. During these three months 53,425 persons immigrated to Canada, which represented an increase of 12,292 over the same period of last year.

Marquis wheat, originated at the Dominion Experimental Farms and now world famous, has successfully invaded South America, being grown in the Argentine Republic last year with results that, according to authorities there, exceeded the expectations of the most optimistic advocates of the grain. Further shipments of seed are being made to the Argentine by the Canadian Seed Growers' Association.

One of the most diverse and interesting aggregations of passengers ever assembled in Canada left Montreal for Europe on August 20th aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Minnedosa. It included Majors S. de Beires and Brito Pais, who recently flew from Lisbon to Macao, China, a large party of scientists returning from the recent convention of the British Association for the Advancement of Science at Toronto, Colonel Geo. Ham, genial and internationally known "ambassador of the Canadian Pacific" and "Soldier" Jones, Canadian heavyweight boxer.

The first all-British direct cable service between Montreal and London was opened on August 18th by the Canadian Pacific Telegraphs. As business warrants, this service will be extended to embrace other Canadian cities with which it is now connected but which, as yet, cannot offer a reasonable return for a regular service. Messages were exchanged between the London Chamber of Commerce and the Montreal Board of Trade and between the Canadian and the English headquarters of the Bank of Montreal, conveying expressions of mutual goodwill and prophecying closer relations as a result of the improved cable facilities.

THE RESULT OF SEVERITY

Faddists will endeavor to explain this decline on several grounds.

They will say it is the result of propaganda against dope.

They will say it is the result of giving people liquor, so they do not need narcotic drugs for a stimulant.

They will say it is because religious campaigns have been carried on teaching the iniquity of drug-taking.

And all will be 1 per cent right and 99 per cent wrong.

For the real reason behind the decline in drug addiction in this province is the admirable work of the police and the severity with which dope agents have been dealt with in the courts.

Unrelenting persecution is the only weapon with which the illicit drug traffic can be fought. And that weapon seems to be getting results.

WHAT'S your boy worth? Deep down in your heart you feel that he is the finest sample of boyhood in this big, round world. There is nothing too good for him — no sacrifice too great to be made for him. Day in and day out, you work for him, plan for him, live for him. Always, he's first in your thoughts; nothing else matters so much. Is the manhood into which you wish him to grow worth the half hour or so that you might give him every night in the home—advising, sympathizing, correcting, stimulating, urging to better things? Give it a trial!

ANY man in business that depends upon public approval and patronage for its success has a perfectly reasonable method open to him to keep himself and his business before the buying and patronizing public. Advertising is a medium that offers the quickest route to success, and failure to use it consigns the whole proposition to an early failure If the public is misinformed or uninformed about a great deal that is offered for sale, the reason largely may be discovered in the lack of proper and sustained advertising. Success is not some mysterious element that chances to drop in here or there to enrich this or that person. It is a problem that has been solved, and you will find in nine cases out of ten advertising has been the stepping stone.

The Toronto Mail and Empire says that a nation that leaves its producers exposed to the untempered competition of foreigners is bound to suffer ill consequences. The newspaper goes on to say: "Free trade has undoubtedly helped some manufacturing and merchandising interests in Britain to make fortunes, but it has brought no blessings to he mass of British toilers. If it were not that emigration serves as a constantly open safety valve, Britain would long ago have been forced to renounce free trade. She has had her choice of giving that up or giving up a great part of the natural increase of her population, and she has preferred the latter. And, as to the working population that remains at home, its lot is by no means so fortunate as the lot of the working population in the United States, which goes on increasing and faring well. And where do such of the British traders and manufacturers as flourish under free trade invest their surplus capital? I sit not in the countries that have the benefit of a protective tariff?"

The big event of the tournament was of course the semi-final match between the great McKenzie and our own Sandy Watson. It was only a semi-final, as both were in the lower half of the draw, but interest was very keen and a large gallery followed the players around the entire distance. McKenzie, while outdriving Watson did not seem to be in as fine form as his opponent, who was deadly in his short game and played air-tight golf throughout the round. He made his first round in 35 to McKenzie's 38, being one up. Sandy won three more holes in the second round and the match finished four up and three to go. Following is the score by holes:

Watson.... ....444434453—35
McKenzie ....635434454—38

2nd Round—
McKenzie 445445

The weather throughout the tournament was beautiful and the visitors seemed to enjoy themselves to the limit. The course was in the best shape it has ever been. The ladies provided refreshments for the golfers throughout the tournament and a large amount of credit is due them for the success of the affair. Secretary A. J. Moffatt, who was director of the tournament, did his work well, and everything passed off without a hitch.

The success of the tournament was undoubtedly due to the enthusiactic co-operation of all who attended and willing help given wherever called for. Sherwood Herchmer, the President of the Association, was untiring in his efforts to make the affair a success.

LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

On Thursday, Sept. 4, the committee for Child Hygiene of the Fernie Local Council of Women set in the school nurse's office. Mrs. Cummings, convenor, was in the chair and there were present: Mrs. E. K. Stewart, President of the Council and ex-officio member of the Child Hygiene committee; Mesdames O'Neil, Podbielancik and Ingram. After discussion it was decided to hold the next Well Baby Clinic in the council chamber on Monday, Sept. 8 from 2 to 4 p.m. All Fernie mothers are invited to come and bring their babies and children under school age to be weighed and measured and to receive individual health advice. For part of the afternoon a physician will be present to examine the heart, lungs, etc., of any children present. Literature will be distributed to mothers who may be desirous of reading about modern ways of preventing sickness and promoting health. In the middle of the proceedings there will be a short general discussion on the "Value of Roughage" in the diets of both infants and adults. This subject will be of special interest as during the summer the London Daily Mail has taken it up in almost every issue always headed by the following couplet: "The whiter the bread the sooner you're dead." The committee on Child Hygiene extends a hearty welcome to all Fernie mothers next Monday afternoon and are looking forward to a pleasant and instructive afternoon.

MANY MINES ARE IDLE

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 3.—At a meeting of the mine owners at Herrin Hill last week it was stated that 35,000 Illinois mine workers were unemployed, while about 50,000 are working only a few days per month.

Altoona, Pa., Sept. 3.—It is said that when the Central Pennsylvania Coal Producers' Association meet on Sept. 5, the mine wage scales are to be taken up. It is reported that 652 mines in this district are idle, 72 are only working one day a week, 65 about two days per week, 74 three days per week, 64 four days, 44 five days; that the mines in this district have lost 27 per cent in output during 1924 when compared with 1923 production, while the West Virginia non-union fields have gained 11 per cent over 1923.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Thomas Caufield and Benny Brown motored in from Stockett, Mont., to spend Labor Day in camp.

Jonty Gaskell, John Corlett, Billy Fleming and a number of Kimberley people spent the holiday in camp.

A big dance was held in the Club Hall on Tuesday night. Jonty Gaskell and Mr. Price of Kimberley provided the music.

The school reopened here on Wednesday morning under the principalship of J. Glass. Miss Millie Caufield has been added to the teaching staff.

The residents of this burg appreciated the transportation facilities provided by the Coal Co. on the occasion of the Labor Day sports in Fernie.

Harry Sharpe was unsuccessful this year in carrying off a prize in the Vets parade, this being the first time in years that he has failed.

A further contingent of our male element left to seek employment at Elko on Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Emily Fawley and Miss Maud Arrowsmith of this camp are new additions at the Fernie High School this term.

Word has been received in camp from Ed. Shimmons, who is spending a vacation in the Old Country, that he spent an enjoyable four days at the Empire Exhibition. He reports mining conditions in England as very low.

Harry Cartmell has arrived back in camp after another of his periodical visits to Uncle Sam's land.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Alstead contemplate leaving camp and are offering their household effects for sale.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Trites are away on the Banff-Windermere trip.

Mr. and Mrs. George Appleyard are spending a few days in Spokane.

Miss Margaret Duncan, who has been on a vacation, returned to the city this morning.

Mrs. Winnett returned this week from Spokane, where she spent the past three weeks visiting with her daughters.

Dr. Bruce Rose, Dominion government geologist, of Ottawa, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. Cummings over the week end.

The dance given on Saturday evening for the purpose of entertaining the visiting golfers was a huge success and a delightful evening was spent by all who attended.

Don't forget the social and dance in the Catholic Parish Hall tonight, Friday, Sept. 5. Cards from 9 to 10.30. Dancing from 11 to 1. Admission 50c.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Wilson returned on Saturday from Toronto. Mr. Wilson took a keen interest in the golf tournament and watched most of the championship matches.

Man can always improve upon Nature. Lightning never strikes twice in the same place, but any Union that calls itself Union can keep on striking in the place until the place disappears.

Fernie Lodge of El will give another of their famous dances on Monday, Oct. 6, in the I.O.O.F. Hall. Everybody will be assured of a good time. The Elks have something up their sleeves. Just wait and see.

Mrs. A. Hilton has been called upon in her professional capacity as nurse to administer to the needs of Mrs. G. O'Brien and son, who are stricken down with sickness at the Schram ranch.

The regular monthly meeting of Mount Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. will be held on Monday evening, Sept. 8, at 8 o'clock in the council chamber, instead of Saturday, the 13th. Important business to be discussed. All members are particularly requested to attend.

Harry Douglas and family returned on Saturday from a two months motor trip to California. They went as far south as Mexico. Harry is very enthusiastic about the trip but says that part of the country has nothing on the Fernie scenery. The weather was very hot for part of the trip but they had a good time notwithstanding.

The Mounted Police raided Chinatown on Tuesday evening, seizing a quantity of dope and arresting an enterprising young Chinaman, who has lived in Fernie for a number of years. The case came up before Mayor Henderson on Thursday morning and was remanded for a week. The police think they have ample evidence for a conviction.

About twenty lady friends surprised Mrs. K. G. McTeer (nee Divina Small) with a miscellaneous shower on Thursday evening last, at the Nurses Home. The home was tastefully decorated for the occasion in pink and mauve. The bride, who wore a becoming frock of orchid charmeuse, made a very pretty picture as seated in a bower of harmonizing colors she opened her many useful and beautiful gifts which were presented in a daintily decorated bassinette. The first part of the evening was spent in games and a flower contest, Miss L. Colton, the lucky winner, receiving a painted vase, the consolation going to Mrs. A. Black. Upon the arrival of a number of gentlemen friends a buffet luncheon was partaken of, after which the jolly crowd danced on till the wee hours of the morning. The young people wish to thank the nurses, Misses Williams, Emmet and Jaques, for their warm hospitality, which was largely responsible for the success of the evening.

The fall assizes for Fernie will open Oct 21, and at Nelson on Oct. 7.

Miss Nina Waters has resigned her position with the Royal Bank and has accepted a position in Spokane.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Commons left on Wednesday on a motor tour on the American side of the line. They expect to be away about five weeks.

Mrs. Walter Hill returned to her home at Rossland on Saturday after spending a vacation here, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Good, Baker Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Hector Damon are spending a week's vacation in the Cranbrook district.

The dance given by the G.W.V.A. on Monday evening was the most successful event of Labor Day, Victoria Hall being packed for the occasion.

Mrs. Bonnell and family left for the coast on Monday. The Doctor went down on Saturday but is expected back in a few days.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society will be held at the home of Mrs. W. Dicken, next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Wm. Vanbuskirk and family returned on Tuesday morning after a three weeks holiday at Hillyard, Wash., visiting relatives.

The monthly meeting of the Past Noble Grands Club will be held in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Wednesday, Sept. 10, at 2.30 p.m. All members are requested to attend.

His Honor Judge Thompson left on Wednesday for London, Ont., where he will attend a meeting of the Synod of the Church of England.

Billy Hunter requests that the person who removed the lawn sprinkler from the front of his house last week to kindly call and take away the 50 feet of hose.

The regular monthly meeting of the Robert J. Black Chapter of the I.O.D.E. will be held at the home of Miss Jennie Strachan, McPherson Avenue, on Monday, Sept. 8 at 8 o'clock sharp. All members are urged to attend.

The local branch of the G.W.V.A. is well known for its kindness to the "down and outs," not one appeal ever being turned down. Yet in spite of this some mean sneak thief purloined 10 lbs. of sugar and some tea which were purchased for use at the refreshment booth in the park.

Norman McLeod, oldtimer, curler, and golfer and all round sport and good fellow, of Lethbridge, was the guest of the Rotary Club on Tuesday. He gave a very interesting talk on the cattle and sheep business of Southern Alberta, in which he is financially interested. Norman is strong for the sheep and says they are the only stock that can be raised to advantage in the Lethbridge country. He reports times very quiet in Southern Alberta.

Dr. G. M. Weir, one of the commissioners appointed by the government to hold a survey of the educational system of the province, will be in Fernie from 8.00 p.m., Monday, Sept. 15, until 10.45, Wednesday, Sept. 17. He will inspect the schools and will hold a public meeting at 7.30 p.m., on Tuesday, Sept. 16, in the council chamber, to meet the members of the school board and representatives of the city council, and other citizens to hear representations on educational problems.

MATERIALISM BANKRUPT

The effort to explain the universe in terms of mechanics is rapidly going out of fashion among the foremost scientists. Prof. William McDougall, the distinguished professor of psychology at Harvard, in a recent session of the British Association for the Advancement of Science at Toronto, made the very significant announcement. There has been a rapid change, said he, from the scientific materialism of Huxley and his contemporaries when the idea of Purpose was discarded. That was when the mechanistic psychologists, for instance, began to look on man "as a bundle of mechanical reflexes, a superior penny in the slot machine." Here is the way Professor McDougall, according to the New York Times, contrasted the situation then and now:

"Thirty to forty years ago, when I began to study science, considerable moral courage would have been required to insist upon the purpoisive nature of man. For at that time the great wave of scientific materialism was still but little past its climax. It was the day of Spencer and Huxley, of Clifford and Tyndal, of Lange and Weismann, of Verworm and Bain. The world and all the living things in it were presented to us with so much prestige and confidence, as one vast system of mechanistic determination, that one seemed to be placed before two acutely opposed alternatives:

"On the one hand, science and universal mechanism; on the other hand, humanism, religion, mysticism and supersition."

Today the whole situation has changed, said he. From the very beginning a few great psychists had warned us against regarding the principles of physical science as adequate to the interpretation of human life. And now, he continues:

"These few voices have swelled to a chorus which even the deafest biologist can hardly ignore. Einstein and Eddington and Soddy and a score of others, repeat the warnings of Maxwell and Kelvin and Poynting and Rayleigh. And the physical universe of eternal hard atoms and universal elastic ether, the realms of pure mechanics, has become a welter of entities and activities which change in development and disappear like the figures of the kaleidoscope. The atoms are gone; matter has resolved itself into energy; and what energy is no man can tell, beyond saying, it is the possibility of change, of further evolution.

"In psychology the mechanistic confidence of the 19th century is fading away, as the complexity of the living organism is more fully realized, as its powers of compensation, self-regulation, reproduction and repair are more fully explored.

"In general biology the mechanistic neo-Darwinism is bankrupt before the problems of evolution, the origin of variations and mutations, the predominance of mind in the later sages of the evolutionary process, the indications of purposive striving at even the lowest levels, the combination of marvelous persistency of type with indefinite plasticity which pervades the realm of life and which finds its only nalog in the steadfast purpoisive adaptive striving of a resolute personality."

GOLD THAT DISAPPEARS

It is said that gold to the annual value of $1,250,000 disappears through rubbing and handling. There are many other channels of disappearances. Figures show that more than half of the annual output is employed in the fine arts anld jewelry trade. Thousands of pounds also are used by dentists, one estimate being that over a ton is needed every year for the filling of teeth. Bank of England sovereigns are often tested and found to have lost much of their original weight. Of the immense quantities of the precious metal that have been buried away in the earth, it is believed comparatively little has ever been recovered. The priests of Peru are said to have buried approximately $100,000,000 worth of treasure to preserve it from the clutches of their persecutors. None of this has been found. The tombs of the old kings of Egypt were treasure houses, immense quantities of gold and jewels being interred with them. It has been estimated by historians that Alexander the Great became the master of great hoards of gold, all of which, so far as is known, has vanished.

According to a German statistician, Austria holds the world record for beer drinking, with 67 gallons per person a year. Holland is next with 54 1-2gallons per capita. Ten years ago the average in England was 31 1-2 gallons, but now amounts to 39 gallons. The French are the champion wine drinkers, with 26.3 gallons per capita.

ARMY DESERTERS FREE IN FRANCE

Paris, Sept. 1.—The amnesty bill just passed by the chamber of deputies is expected in some quarters to result in a general resurrection of French soldiers who had passed into history as killed on the field of battle.

Already, though the senate has still to pass on the measure, deserters are crossing the frontiers and breating the air of France for the first time in five or six years or more. One of them, a soldier named Robin, given up for dead after the battle of the Chemin des Dames in April, 1917, startled his brother, who keeps a wine shop in Paris, by suddenly appearing before him the other day.

"You don't know me," remarked the deserter, who had grown a beard during his exile.

"No, I don't know you," was the reply.

"I am your brother," replied the deserter.

"My brother was killed at the Chemin des Dames," was the rejoinder.

"No," insisted the deserter, "there were not so many butchered as was supposed. A lot of them deserted to the enemy and I was among them. Now that the chamber has passed the amnesty law I have come back and I need money to start me off."

The brother agreed to give him funds on condition that he never show his face in the neighborhood again.

The deserter walked off with the money to celebrate his return at a public hall in the Boulevard de Grenelle. There he picked a quarrel and within half an hour was carried out with a fatal stab in the abdomen.

Another deserter who was also among the "missing" of the Chemin des Dames battle turned up at his father's farm in the Marbihan department A neighbor who happened to be present remarked that he was not yet safe as the senate had not yet adopted the amnesty law. The deserter angered by this interference chied "You'd be capable of denouncing me," drew a knife and plunged it into the neighbor's breast. This deserter is now again a fugitive from justice.

More than 1200 French deserters living in Geneva, where they have formed a "Friendly Association of Deserters," are preparing to come back in a body. Other Swiss towns shelter as many if not more and there are supposed to be a great many still in Germany.

DISRAELI'S INVESTMENT

Mr. Snowden, in a written reply, says the estimated value of the Suez Canal shares held in this country on June 10, was £28,672,951. The sterling value of the interest and dividends received in the year ended March 31 last was £878,202, representing a return of about 21½ per cent on the original purchase price of the shares.—London Opinion.

THERE IS NO DEATH

There is no death—only a change. All religions agree on this. And millions believe that the "life spark" iself does not perish—that it merely passes into some other manifestation of life, the same as electric current flows through wires.

How long can the life germ, or whatver you care to call it survive? Wheat, found in the shrivelled hands of an ancient Egyptian mummy, has been planted in modern times and sproued into maturity after its thousands of years of sleep. And now, in Ottawa, they find a live clam that had been buried in solid masonry of a house foundation for 30 years. Dug out and placed in water, it "came to life."

There is no death—only a sleep, a change.

BLUE BLOOD FATAL

Orillia Packet: In Russia the courts take into consideration whether the prisoner's blood is red or blue. If it is blue the sooner the prisoner makes his will the better. Five officials of the North Caucasian State Railway were sentenced to death recently. They were convicted of the theft of 240 carloads of fueloil and 37 carloads of wood, which they recorded as having been consumed on the railway, when in reality they sold the fuel and appropriated the proceeds to their personal use. In view of the proletarian origin of the culprits, however, the court commuted the death sentence to imprisonment for ten years in strict isolation in Moscow.

A Montana pastor carried a monkey into his pulpit to illustrate his views on evolution. The monkey showed great restraint by refusing from passing the collection box at the close of the service.

QUEER LAW IN TAHITI

Here and there on the island of Tahiti may be seen fragments of houses with the ends cut away exposing bare rooms enclosed on three sides while the fourth remains open to the weather; houses with verandahs gone; houses cut in half, others with their iron roofs taken away. Inquiry brings to light the information that these forlorn exhibits represent the workings of the French inheritance laws as applied to Tahiti.

In former times when the head of the family died the title to the property was vested in the eldest child, who conserved it for the benefit of the family at large. But the French laws have done away with this. They decree that each heir shall come into full possession of his share of any property. In consequence the courts at Papeete are congested with land litigation. The usual battleground is the homestead which generally is a wooden building of many rooms crowned by a corrugated iron roof and surrounded by a broad verandah. The eldest son or daughter holds the fort there. But the others, after much litigation, establish their right to shares.

Armed with court orders, saws, chisels and other implements of destructive carpentry, they come and dismember the ancestral mansion, each taking his fragment to his own domain. What is left remains the rehitage of the eldest, and unil he can gather substance to repair the damage his domicile continues a melancholy monument to family disharmony, and he camps in one or two rooms still sheltered.

The demand for Canadian dairy cattle in Japan should interest British Columbia and Alberta breeders, who are exceptionally well situated for supplying the market.

Students Storm and Capture Rocky Heights

Below.—One of the peaks recently scaled for the first time in history.

Five peaks in the Canadian Rockies have just been conquered for the first time by three Harvard and Hotchkiss students who were accompanied by their Swiss guides. The students who climbed and named the new peaks in the famous Columbia ice field are Osgood Field, Frederick Field and Lemond Harris of Boston. They were led by the noted Canadian Pacific Railway guide Edward Fuez, the oldest guide in point of service in the Canadian rockies. Two of the newly conquered peaks have been named Mount Harvard and Mount Hotchkiss after the two American universities.

The party made five first ascents including the hitherto unconquered Mount Patterson, 10,400 feet, Mount Sir James Outram 10,700 feet, the South Twin, 10,60C feet and the unnamed peaks, Havard and Hotchkiss. Besides all this they discovered a new route to the top of the second highest peak in the Rockies, Mount Columbia, 12,000 feet, which was made in a return journey of twenty-three hours. The aim of the exploring party, to conquer the South Twin, was successfully attained.

The Field-Harris party left Lake Louise five weeks ago accompanied by two guides, five packers and nineteen horses, and travelled 200 miles into the Columbia ice field. Their progress was halted several times by the terrific winds from the ice fields and once they were forced to halt a day at Mistayah lake in order to make rafts with which to get their horses across. Here, at the foot of Mount Patterson, they put up a bivouac camp and accompanied by the weird howling of the wild ice winds of this district spent most of their night thrubbing a ukelele and singing warm southern songs.

Lemonde Harris had his own Swiss guide with him, Joseph Biner who has guided him for many years in the Swiss Alps. Edward Fuez who has been guiding in the Canadian Rockies since 1903 was the man who successfully manouvered this valuable expedition. The greatest novelty of the trip, he stated on his return, was the meeting of fourteen American girls on the lonely forks of the North Saskatchewan River, who were travelling alone with their packers. The girls insisted that the party stop off for dinner with them that night, following which a note of civilization was added to their wild northern environment by the sound of the Ukelele and the swish of dancing feet over pine needles dimly lighted by a blasing log camp fire.

Here and There

A rich strike of silver lead ore has been made on Galena Hill, Yukon Territory. One vein is eighteen feet in width and shows 70 per cent lead with 30 to 50 ounces of silver. Several big mining interests are reported as active in this area.

The manufacture of wooden boxes is an important industry in British Columbia. There are 25 box-making plants in the province, representing a capital of between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000, about 1,200 employees and an annual payroll of not less than $1,250,000.

So popular has the bungalow camp system established by the Canadian Pacific Railway become that it will be necessary to extend it greatly. This statement was made recently by C. B. Foster, Passenger Traffic Manager, after a visit to the hotels and camps in the Rockies.

That the farmers of Western Canada are now giving increasing attention to the improvement of their home surroundings is shown by the fact that they have not only planted 5,250,000 trees distributed by two government forestry stations this year but have also purchased large quantities from private nurseries.

Summer fishing commenced on Lesser Slave Lake on July 28th and will close September 30th. Operators have been limited to a catch of 1,500,000 pounds of whitefish but no limit has been placed on pickerel and jack fish, as the market for these varieties is restricted. Four fish companies are operating this summer and will ship to Chicago via Dominion Express.

Imports of Canadian produce and manufacture into Australia received during the year ended June 30th, 1924, amounted in value to £5,064,253, an expansion of £1,899,803 over the previous year. It is the largest volume of trade yet recorded between Canada and Australia. The greatest increase was in motor chassis though a good volume of trade was also done in rubber goods, boots and shoes.

What is claimed to be a world's record for relaying rails was established by a crew of men on the Canadian Pacific Railway, in the New Brunswick district recently. In two days the 220 men in the gang tore up 29.7 miles of old 85-lb. rails and replaced them with new. All available data states that the former Canadian record was 11.7 miles, which exceeds that established in the United States.

The "Empress of Scotland," one of the Canadian Pacific Railway's finest liners, docked at Quebec on August 8th with a passenger list crowded with important names. Among them were Lord Beaverbrook, the Canadian financier, Edward W. Bok, editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, whose offer of a fifty thousand dollar prize for the best plan tending to maintain world peace created so much interest recently, and E. W. Beatty, K.C., Chairman and President, Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. Beatty had just concluded a most successful tour of Europe with the object of attracting capital and immigrants to Canada. He spoke with great enthusiasm of the prospects of obtaining both and especially anticipated an influx of fine new Canadians from Denmark.

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

'HOOCH DE LUXE' BOOTLEGGING

A Wall Street broker had just received a consignment of liquors warranted to be fresh from the rum fleet, with immaculate labels, branded corks, and caps and seals unbroken, each bottle wrapped in tissue paper bearing the private imprint of the distiller or vinter. As he packed his contraband treasures away in his wine closet, "he chuckled at his cleverness in beating the United States government and the 18th Amendment." At least so records Samuel Wilson, the accuracy of whose information on the bootleg liquor question is vouched for by the Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York. Here, says Mr. Wilson, writing in the Outlook of the hypothetical broker's treasures, was Black and White Scotch whisky, with immaculate white labels from the distillery of James Buchanan & Co., Glasgow, proudly bearing the notice: "By appointment to H. M. the King, and H. R. H. the Prince of Wales"; and still another certificate it bore of the British and Foreign Select Committee, with white-sealed cap, and everything regular, to prove age and purity. Leaving aside, for the present, the question of the real age and purity of the product, Mr. Wilson proceeds with his enumeration:

Here, with swelling paunch, was Benedictine, just as it came from the monastery, vouched for by numerous labels and the insignia of the Cross, with a narrow ribbon of sheet lead about the neck with the title "Veritable Benedictine" pressed into the metal band, which also extended across the cork and down the neck to the shoulder, where it ended in a big splash of red sealing wax in which was impressed the private seal of the monastery.

Then for madame's private silver flask there was James Hennessy & Co. cognac, with elaborate glided label, and about the neck another label with facsimile signautre of Martini and Rossi in Italian script which translated reads, "A guaranty of our product. Bottled at our establishment at Passione (Torino)." Across the top is a revenue stamp of the Italian government.

An intimation to our Wall Street friend that the treasures over which he gloated had never crossed the ocean, and were merely a compound of redistilled denatured alcohol and Croton water, with artificial flavorings, mixed, bottled, labeled and sealed on Manhattan Island, would be regarded as a supreme insult; yet it would be true. When the Master said, "Ye are like unto whited sepulchers, which indeed appear beautiful outwardly, but within are full of dead men's bones, and all uncleanness," He might well have been describing the "hooch de luxe," such as is served along the Great White Way in New York City and by bellboys in many fashionable hotels in New York, Chicago, Washington and other cities.

Before me as I write are nearly a hundred labels of various brands of spirits, wines and cordials, from which I select at random the following titles: "King George IV Scotch Whisky. The Distillery Company, Ltd., Edinburgh"; "White Label. Finest Scotch Whisky of Great Age. John Dewar & Sons, Ltd., Perth, Scotland"; "White Horse Cellar. From the original Recipe, 1746"; "Old Highland Whisky. John Walker & Sons, Ltd.," in flaming red and gold, with small label reading "Johnnie Walker, Red Label."

A brown stone bottle carries a label inscribed in German text: "Schlichte von H. W. Schlichte, Steinhagen in Westfalen, Grundungjahr, 1766," with facsimile of numerous gold medals and marginal statement reading: "Hochster Preis, Weltausstellung, Chicago, 1893, and Weltausstellung, Brussels, 1910, Gold Medaille." An additional label certifies to the drinker that the contents are "Original Schlichte, 1776."

Purporting to contain original Holland gin is another stone bottle with the words "Halstkamp & Zoon & Molyn" stamped in the clay before baking, bearing a red label with picture of a bibulous Dutchman holding aloft a glass of gin. For the information of American tipplers a separate label gives the following warning printed in English: "When opening this bottle please examine whether our stamped capsule and cork with our brand are intact, and have not been tampered with, Sept. 1908."

From France we have Moet and Chandon's Dry Imperial, 1906, Champagne in all its gold-cap and red-seal glory; and "Cognac Vieux, Qualite Premiere, Selected Vintage," bearing fasimiles of medals; and liqueurs and cordials in variety.

There is also room for the satisfying of appetites and tastes for domestic whiskies in infinite variety, continues Mr. Wilson—"if labels can do the trick." For—

Italy tempts the connoisseur (of labels) with a brilliant display in shapes and rainbow hues; and Spain is represented by "Tarragona Sherry Wine, Very Old," bearing the motto, "In Vino Veritas," and other choice sherries and cognac.

Vino Vermouth, Martini and Rossi, Torino, is gorgeous and elaborate, and a strip label assures us that it has won the "Grand Prix—All Esposizione Mondiale, 1904, St. Louis, S. U. N. America." The S. U. N. is somewhat mystifying, but evidently is a transposition of U. S. North America.

The alcohilic epicure has wide range of flavors (in labels) from which to choose, such as "Gran Liquore la Stella," "Rosolio," "Cafe Sport," "Steghine Sport," "Maraschino Qualita Sopraffina," "Anesone Tridero," "Creme de Menthe Cordial," "Elixer Savoia," "Ferro China Qualita Superiore," "Curacoa," and "Scaccia Diavoli."

"These names are copied from counterfeit labels in my possession," asserts the writer. Also he declares:

I can refer any doubting Thomas to the vineyard in a Manhattan cellar where these old wines and cordials are produced; and for the spirits to the "hills of Kentucky," Pennsylvania and Maryland, the Scottish Highlands and the Dutch Lowlands—all in Manhattan, where his favorite tipple is made, labeled, and delivered while you wait.

Come with me. Note the signal a la Morse code that I hat-a-tat on the door, the eye at the peephole, then the entrance. Surely we are in the "hills of Kentucky" or among the Italian banditti or Spanish contrabandi, for confronting us is a man armed with a sawed-off shotgun, with cartridges in his belt.

As we ascend to the top floor other armed sentinels confront us, and never for a moment are we out of range of their eyes or their guns. On the top floor one might imagine himself in the Bureau of Printing and Engraving at Washington or the American Bank Note Company. Here are dies and plates galore, and presses printing counterfeit Internal Revenue stamps by the tens of thousands and counterfeit liquor labels, American and foreign, in all the hues of the rainbow by the millions. Big presses are printing tissue paper sheets with the insignia of foreign and domestic distillers and vinters in which to wrap the bottles. On other floors machines and workmen are busy washing bottles, filling, corking, sealing, labeling and packing in cases. Here corks are being branded on their sides in imitation of the corks of genuine liquors. Here packing cases are being made and branded so as to deceive any rum-runner. Here are stone bottles for gin with "Rotterdam" pressed into the clay before baking; and bottles in shapes and colors the exact counterfeit of Italian, Spanish, British, Dutch or American genuine containers.

So much, says Mr. Wilson, for the containers and embellishments. What about the contents? He replies:

We descend to the basement, and find it piled high with barrels of denatured alcohol, with pipes and hose communicating with the cellar, and there we find the very devil himself at work redistilling the denatured alcohol for beverage purposes, and with the addition of Croton water and flavoring extracts compounding a very hell's broth with which to fill the containers which later will masquerade in banquet halls, on private sideboards, in private flasks on the hips of swaggering young bucks, and, more's the pity, in solid silver and jeweled containers in milady's handbag.

On March 31, 1922, the last fiscal year of Conservative rule in the Dominion, the net debt of Canada was $2,385,000,000. Exactly two years later, two years during which a Liberal government has been in power, the net debt had risen to $2,417,000,000, or an increase of more than $32,000,000.

WHAT GETS INTO THE MOTOR OIL

Lubricating oil in a combustion motor is partly oil and partly fuel nowadays, with admixtures of carbon, dust and water, we are told by a writer in the Scientific American. The one really noticeable item of expense attached to the upkeep of a car, he informs us, is that of oil, including both lubricant and fuel. These two go together, and their consumption is interdependent more today than at any time in the history of the automobile. He discusses the lubricating oil principally and explains how gasoline has such an effect both on the friction loss in the engine and the money spent on oil to keep it properly lubricated. We read:

"What is known as crank-case dilution is one of the most important factors governing the economical operation of an automobile today. When we obtained light gasoline in the early days, there was no such thing thought of as dilution of the oil by the fuel. The fuel vaporized readily, and even if some of it did not do so in the carbureter or in the manifold, as soon as it reached the hot cylinder and piston it became gas and mixed with the air. Those times are past forever, because of the growth of the use of the automobile and the need for fuel. The refiner is now put to it to get all the fuel possible for automobile use, from each barrel of crude oil. Much of this lower grade fuel oil does not vaporize unless it is made very hot or draws through the manifold at a very great speed. But there are many conditions of working when the engine and fuel only seep through the manifold, causing the fuel to run down into the oil.

"Up to now nobody seems to offer a definite suggestion as to how much fuel can be allowed in oil. It is quite usual to find 25 to 30 per cent in the winter and 5 to 10 per cent in the summer. It is the writer's opinion that the nature of the oil has far more to do with the matter than any exact percentage of dilution.

"A badly worn engine relies on the body of the oil to do many things that properly belong to the pistons, cylinders or rings. With a good condition of surfaces it takes only a very little oil to keep down the friction. A condition may arise when there is a good deal of chatter from the working parts. This is caused by irregular contact and surfaces which are not uniformly oiled. There may also be some water in the oil, which has come down from the combustion chamber originally in the form of vapor. If water gets on a surface first it is very difficult for the oil to get there unless the oil contains matter which enables it to emulsify or form a froth."

The most serious result of water and gasoline getting into the oil is due, we are informed, to the amount of dirt which they carry with them. In addition the deposit of carbon and dirt which is always on the inside of the pistons is loosened and drops into the crank-case. All this acts as a grinding material. If the oil could be kept free from grit, it would last much longer than at present. No mater how bright or pale the oil is when put into the engine, it soon looks black, due to the very small particles of carbon which collect. This does no do any harm so long as it is not gritty. The writer continues:

"No kind of filter used in an automobile will hold up the grit entirely; the best material to use is a woven fabric or cloth. To make a job of cleaning the oil, it should be passed through several thicknesses together; it will go through more quickly if it is hot.

"Dilution can best be minimized by observing some care in driving, particularly at starting. More trouble can be caused by holding out the choker for a few minutes than can be remedied in a long time. In less than a minute half a pint of gasoline can be thrown into the crankcase by this means. Even the best piston rings can not be expected to stop it all. Idling the engine for long periods will also cause flooding and always a cold engine will be worse than a hot one.

"Carbon deposit is mostly road dust. If the oil which is used gets gummy when hot, the dust going through the carbureter is caught by this gummy oil and held on the pistons. Some oils, those which contain much cylinder stock, form hard cakes of deposit, other oils deposit in small pieces or grains, which are generally dry. As long as the heads of the pistons keep dry, with this kind of oil, there is not much deposit formed. In any case the adjustment of the carbureter on the lean side will help very much to reduce deposits forming."

LONDON ZOO RECEIVES REMARKABLE ANIMAL

Prince Ranjitsinhji has just presented to the Zoo a male lion-tiger. As a lion was the father this remarkable animal will be known as a "liger," and as it is a freak and very rare it ought to be of great interest to visitors. Owing to the natural distribution of the lion and tiger, hybrids are rarely bred outside of menageries, and it is extremely difficult to get lion and tigress—or a tiger and lioness—to agree together in captivity. The Zoo has never tried the experiment of putting lions and tigers in the same cage and there is so much natural sympathy and antipathy between individuals that it is often difficult to find suitable mates for the large cats even among their own kind.

This particular liger has come from Prince Ranjitsinhji's estate in India, where it was bred and reared, and where lions are preserved and often kept with tigers. These hybrids vary a great deal in appearance and temperament, some favoring one parent more, some the other. The Zoo's liger is a particularly fine specimen, being beautifully proportioned, and as tall, if not taller, than Rajah, the largest of the tigers at the Zoo.

At a glance he looks most like a tiger, for he inherits his walk and the shape of his body from his mother. But the color of his head and body is the sandy brown of the lion, with tiger stripes showing in parts. His head is an odd mixture of both parents. It is shaped like that of a tiger but the eyes are the amber eyes of the lion. On the head and round the neck are a few hairs that would like to be a mane, and very distinct on this sandy head are the black and white striped ears that so characterize the tiger. The tail is shaped like a tiger's, with the well known lion's tuft on the end. He is a young animal, and may not yet be fully grown, and, like all cats born in captivity or semi--captivity, he is a little spiteful. He has been given an outdoor cage at the Zoo, so that he will have every chance of keeping well and healthy. Unfortunately, he refuses to show himself at present, and sits in his box gazing at the crowds through the small hole.

The question of a new motto for London is attracting some discussion in the English press. One correspondent believes that a more modest motto than "Urbs Urbium" would be "Stet Fortuna Urbis." Aonther suggests "Augusta Britannorum," which is a modification of the ancient name for London which was "Augusta Trinobantum." A third correspondent says "Urbs Urbium" arrests attention but may sound boastful and he suggests "Britannorum Focus," the Briton's hearth. The addition of "omnium" he says would make the words tally with "all the Britons" in the King's title on British coins.

SAFETY ON THE ROAD

A valuable suggestion regarding safety on the road is advanced to the effect that all signs for the advice and direction of motorists and other vehicular traffic should be erected by one authority and uniformly arranged. At present this does not appear to be the practice. There are now in this vicinity dangerous corners and crossings where there are no notices. This whole question of looking after safety on the road should be one for the authortities. It is one that needs planning and concerted action and the notices erected should be official so that they may carry all the greater force. Governments seem to think that they have done their duty in providing for safety on the road by enacting speed laws and by providing punishments where there are infractions of the law generally. They have also a responsibilty in putting up safeguards against accident and it is one which they should assume in the light of the growing toll of such accidents on the highways.

"MONTMARTRE," STARRING POLA NEGRI, DUE SOON

"Montmartre," Pola Negri's latest Paramount production, directed by Ernest Lubitsch, the man who made the star famous in "Passion," is a colorful romance of France about 1860.

In the picture, which comes to the Orpheum theatre next Wednesday, Pola has the role of Yvette, an alluring dancer in the Cafe Flora in Montmartre. She has a chance meeting with a young composer, and he falls in love with her. But there is an older cousin who steps in and spoils everything by telling the musician's mother that Yvette is no kind of a woman for her son to be seen with—a cafe grisette and all that. Nevertheless they get married in secret.

The composer makes a great hit with his symphony. He is at the peak of his fame, and it goes to his head. He begins to pay less and less attention to his girl wife, and the one-time popular cafe dancer is now a broken woman.

With a novel twist in affairs, an altogether unexpected climax, all the composer's old love for Yvette comes rushing back, and—but why tell the story when it is so infinitely more entertaining on the screen! If you're looking for entertainment, you won't want to miss "Montmartre." It's the biggest thing Pola Negri ever done.

NATION JOINS IN THE OBERVANCE OF LABOR DAY

(Spokesman-Review)

Labor day has won its way to the approval of the American people. It is a national expression of the national regard for the blessing of work and the dignity of industry.

Demagogues are telling labor that it is "exploited by capital," wronged by "invisible government," injured by unjust laws and oppressed by courts of justice. That is ancient history, resurrected from the dark and distant past, and false and ridiculous in present day application.

If labor is exploited today, the exploiting is done by some professional leaders and demagogic politicians.

How could there be "invisible government" in this open republic, where every honest citizen is a part of the government and democracy has been brought to the highest fruition?

As for the laws and the courts the laws are the product of public desire and opinion, and the courts are of the people's choosing, directly or indirectly — local and state courts by direct voting of the people, and the federal courts by appointment and confirmation of public officials elected by the people for that duty.

Labor has more to fear from false friends and truckling camp followers, who fawn and flatter for their own profit and benefit, than from honest critics and sincere well-wishers.

THE COST OF LIVING

Following is a schedule of the cost of certain important articles that enter vitally into the cost of living. A careful analysis will show a big drop in living costs since 1920. Bill Sherman contends that the cost of living is as high now as it was three years ago.

To say that religion has nothing to do with politics is to assert that which is simply false. It were as wise to say that the atmosphere has nothing to do with the principles of architecture. Religion is the vital air of every question. Directly, it determines nothing; indirectly, it conditions every problem that can arise.—F. W. Robertson.

An observer who viewed the recent "close up" of Mars is convinced that the two moons that illuminate that planet are composed of iron. It is possible that the "man in the moon" in the earth's little luminary is a blacksmith.

The cry of "Ride 'em, cowboy" will soon resound over the length and breadth of S.P. ranch. In anticipation of the visit of the royal owner the bronchos are reported to be rehearsing their favorite contortion acts while stable hands are busy inspecting saddles, polishing bridles, burnishing spurs and renovating equestrian equipment in general.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Clara, beloved daughter of Mrs. J. Rauter, who died Sept. 3, 1922.

Two years have passed, our hearts still sore,
As time goes on we miss her more.
One of the dearest, one of the best,
We miss her most who loved her best.

No one knows how much we miss her,
Only those who have lost can tell
Of the grief that is borne in silence
For her we loved so well.

—Inserted by her loving Mother and Sister.

ARE MEN BEAUTIFUL?

Washington Post: Sir W. Orpen says that the human race is becoming more beautiful. Oh, flatterer! One half of it may be gaining in looks, though that half, that is, the fair one, had not far to go. But as for the males—well, a glance around and into the mirror is not reassuring. Range the art galleries; study the reproductions of the countenances of the past Spanish grandees and Dutch and British nobility; view the marbles of Greece with their wondrously beautiful chiseling of types then in being, and then rate the smudge mustachioed Adonises of the present, if you can.

When Canada pays her own way in the matter of naval defence, and in military defence generally, it will be time enough for the politicians of this country to talk about equal representation with Britain at diplomatic conferences. When we have grown to nationhood we will have the sense of adult responsibility and feel ashamed not to shoulder its burden.

A pleasing incident of the amenities of politics was demonstrated in two Ontario cities last week. Premier Mackenzie King was billed to speak at a political picnic in Woodstock and Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition at a similar gathering in Stratford on the same date but at different hours. By a "gentleman's agreement" between the two mayors the Conservative mayor of Stratford presided at the Premier's meeting while the Liberal mayor of Woodstock performed the same service at the Conservative rally in Stratford. The "friendly enemies" returned home in time to hear their own leaders.

WOULD SEEK SETTLEMENT

There are rumors around that some of the executive officers of District No. 18 of the United Mine Workers of America are now anxious to see the strike settled.

Rumor has it that they have invited different political influences to intercede, on their behalf, with the Operators.

It is hinted that the Miner's Leaders are now ready to agree to accept a reduction in wages, while the amount of reduction in wages which the Miners' Leaders are willing to acept is not mentioned in the rumors that are current around Calgary, it is reasonable to infer that some of the extremists have now come to a place where they realize that if the Coal Mining Industry of this District is to survive, a scale of wages will have to be accepted which will make it possible for the Mines in this region to continue in competition with the Mines in other districts that are working for less wages. This applies to Mines in Western Pennsylvania, in West Virginia, Mines on the Pacific Coast, and neighboring mines in Northern Alberta, and in Central British Columbia, in which districts anywhere from 25 per cent to 40 per cent less coal mining wages have for a long time been firmly established.

The failure of those responsible for the direction of the Coal Industry in District No. 18, to see and understand the competitive factors of the different localities, is to-day responsible for a great deal of suffering and distress in the district.

BAG LIMITS AND RESTRICTIONS

Next to the observations of the shooting seasons themselves the most important factor for giving all hunters an equal chance to take game, and for giving all game a fair chance, is the observation of the bag limit and of certain simple shooting restrictions. Following the Migratory Bird Treaty such restrictions have been provided throughout Canada and the United States, and thus the hunters of both countries are given equal privileges while the game stock fs conserved as well.

Bag Limits

Daily bag limits in British Columbia: Ducks 20 of all kinds in one day and not more than 150 of all kinds in a season; Geese 10 in one day and not more than 50 in a season; Rails 25; Black-bellied and Golden Plovers and Greater and Lesser Yellow-legs 15 in one day and not more than 150 in a season; Wilson Snipe or Jack-snipe 25 in one day and not more than 150 in a season; Brant 10 in one day and not more than 50 in a season.

Shooting Restrictions

The use of automatic, swivel or machine guns, or battery, or any gun larger than number 10 gauge is prohibited, and the use or any aeroplane, power-boat, sail-boat or night light, and shooting from any horse drawn or motor vehicle is forbidden.

The shooting of migratory birds in the Province of British Columbia earlier than one hour before sunrise or later than one hour after sunset is prohibited.

Many city and town council throughout British Columbia are endorsing a resolution to be submitted to the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, asking for legislation to abolish school boards and police commissioners in municipalities with a population of less than 8000 and that their powers be transferred to municipal councils. The city of Fernie has endorsed the resolution.—Blairmore Enterprise.

BANK TRIAL MAY TAKE NEAR YEAR

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—Nearly a hundred witnesses, nearly 80 of whom are from Western Canada, have been subpoenaed to attend the trial of the Home Bank directors which opens before Judge Coatsworth Tuesday afternoon next. Ocean G. Smith, former accountant, will, it is said, at once face trial on charge under the Bank Act. The eight defendants are to be tried separately on the Bank Act charges, and an imposing array of council will attend the proceedings.

D. L. McCarthy, K. C., the special prosecuting officer for the crown, will be assisted by MacGregor Young, K. C., and James McRuer.

It is expected that the trial will be long-drawn out, one of the counsel for the defense giving it as his opinion that it would take a month for each case.

The expenses of the witnesses will be extremely heavy, it being estimated that travelling expenses of each witness will average $400, and the cost of maintenance about $600 per day.

MEANS STRIKE WILL DRAG ON

CALGARY, Sept. 6.—That the U. M. W. A. would hold out steadfastly for no reduction in wages in District 18 was the official statement of President William Sherman at the conclusion of the district convention here on Saturday morning. He said the convention had endorsed the attitude and position taken by their conference committee in turning down any suggestion of a cut in the wage scale and would continue the fight until a satisfactory adjustment was made. A resolution, Sherman said, to that effect had been unanimously carried by the convention.

The convention has therefore ended in a fizzle so far as a possible reopening of negotiations with the union operators is concerned.

The latter, according to R. M. Young, Commissioner of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association, will stand firm. Union operators, he stated, cannot continue to meet lower priced production from American mines nor the competition of non-union mines in Alberta paying wages between $2 and $3 per day less than their wage scale. They feel that the public is justified in expecting a reduction in the price of coal, and that the finding of the Knowles board, which proposed a reduction of 27½ per cent., and the support given by the minister of labor to the general principle of reduction when recently in Calgary, warrants them in believing that their proposal was one which should be accepted. In the face of the present condition of matters, the strike will continue to drag on for an indefinite period.

COAL STRIKE AN ECONOMIC DISASTER

If the Alberta coal strike is not settled soon the mines of this province will lose the Manitoba market and a large part of the market of Saskatchewan.

Just how much of the requirements of the prairie provinces can be cared for by non-union mines is problematical.

Winnipeg will not wait to find out. American mines will recapture that market. Once the American coal operators get back control of the eastern prairie market they will in all probability hold it for a long time. Winnipeg buyers will prefer to deal with a surer source of supply than Alberta affords.

The equanimity of the Alberta government in the face of this prospect is puzzling. The provincial government has spent considerable sums of money advertising Alberta coal in Manitoba. Its campaign for this purpose was conducted with intelligence and was effective. All the results so secured promise to be swept away by the present strike, and the government has sat back watching nothing to end it.—Calgary Herald.

We sleep, but the loom of life never stops, and the pattern which was weaving when the sun went down is weaving when it comes up to-morrow. He, who is false to present duty, breaks a thread in the loom, and will find the flaw when he may have forgotten its cause.—H. W. Beecher.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS MAKE GOOD

Division 1 of the Fernie Public Schools has achieved a very notable success by winning the provincial high Honor Diploma awarded to the Class in the Eighth Grade attaining the highest penmanship standard in the Province. The credit for this success is due to the pupils and to Miss H. DeCew who took the particular writing lessons in the class and Miss L. M. Hogan, the teacher. The penmanship throughout the Province is forwarded to Mr. H. B. MacLean of the Normal School at Vancouver, who examines it in detail to arrive at the best Class in the Province which class is awarded the Diploma.

The following is a list of pupils who have been awarded Diplomas by Mr. MacLean this year:

Division 1—Audrey Mills, John Stropky, Mary Miscisco, Erma Scarpino, Wm. Brown, Jessie Starr. Roger Mermoz, Hilda Brown, Erwin Taylor, May Tully, Joe Kasmar, Harry Murray, Helen Polak, Katherine Chubra, Huberte Large, Jennie Derbyshire, John Heisie, Nettie Nicoletti, Ruth McIntyre, Nelson Wallace, Albert Aiello, Alec. WILLS GETS PAPER DECISION

A few of the more powerful radio set owners were in luck Thursday evening when they were able to pick up Station KDKA of the Westinghouse Electric Company at Pittsburgh, Pa. This station had an announcer at the ringside of the Wills-Firpo fight and broadcast the blows as they were struck.

In the opinion of this announcer the fight was a draw, he gave Wills the first, second, sixth and seventh rounds, Firpo, the eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh while he considered the third, fourth, fifth and twelfth were even.

Later radio announcements from States, however, seemed to be almost unanimous in giving Wills the benefit of the newspaper decision. As the fight went the entire twelve rounds, under New Jersey laws, the referee cannot give a decision.

THE GREAT FIRE OF LONDON, 1666

Two hundred and fifty-eight years ago, on the 2nd September, 1666, one of the greatest fires in the history of the world broke out in the ancient city of London, more than three quarters of which was totally destroyed within the next four days.

At this time the narrow winding streets of Old London were closely packed with houses, built mainly of wood and roofed with pitch and tar, and the upper floors overlapping the lower, while the great wooden signboards, which hung in front of practically every house and almost touched those on the opposite side of the street, made a line of communication in case of fire which was scarcely less effective than a train of gunpowder.

The fire started in the early hours of a Sunday morning, and originated in a baker's shop, the careless owner of which had gone to bed leaving a pile of kindling wood stacked around his oven. The flames fanned by a strong wind, spread with great rapidity, and before nightfall over 300 houses had been destroyed, while by the morning of the 4th of September, more than 10,000 buildings had either been consumed or were burning.

On the morning of the 5th, the wind dropped, and whole streets of houses in the path of flames having been blown up with gunpowder the further progress of the fire was stopped, but it was many days before the conflagration burnt itself out, and the ashes remained hot for several weeks.

Only 6 lives were lost, but St. Paul's Cathedral, the Guildhall, the Royal Exchange, the whole of the public buildings, 86 churches, 406 streets and 13,200 houses were destroyed, and the property loss was estimated at over $100,000,000. The fire made a clean sweep of 373 of the city's area of 448 acres and spread over 64 acres outside the city walls, leaving more than 100,000 people homeless.

Within a few days of the fire Sir Christopher Wren, the greatest of British architects, had prepared a plan for the rebuilding of the city, but owing to the narrow-mindedness of the landowners, incessant disputes about the value of property and a reluctance to alter the use of sites which had long been associated with some particular institution or trade, Wren's suggestions were not adopted, and the opportunity was lost of making the new London one of the handsomest and best designed cities in the world. In many ways the disaster proved a great blessing, as bricks and stone were largely used in the rebuilding of the city, and the widening of many streets and improved sanitary methods prevented a recurrence of the terrible plagues and epidemics which had so frequently devastated London in the past.

The fire was maliciously, but without the slightest foundation, attributed to a Roman Catholic plot to destroy the city, and an inscription to this effect originally appeared on the monument with Wren erected to commemorate the fire, but it was obliterated in 1830. The monument, a hollow stone column is 202 feet high, and stands exactly 202 feet from the spot where the fire started in Pudding Lane, and it was originally intended to use it as a vertical telescope, but the height of the column proved insufficient.

The popular saying that the fire started in Pudding Lane and ended at Pye Corner is not correct, as the conflagration spread to a considerable distance beyond the latter spot.

TEA USED CENTURIES AGO

The fourth centenary of the introduction of cocoa into Europe was celebrated in June, by a conference of Empire producers in London.

Of the three popular beverages, cocoa was introduced into Europe first. There is no reference to tea in European literature before 1588, and the appreciation of coffee as a beverage dates only from the seventeenth century. How long before the discovery of America by Europeans cocoa was used in its native country, it is hard to say. The soldiers of Cortez, who landed in Mexico in 1519, first encountered it there, and it was introduced into Spain about 1524.

Coffee was used in Abyssinia in the fifteenth century, and it was then stated that it had been used from time immemorial. Tea, according to Chinese legend, goes back to almost 3,000 years before Christ, and, if legend is a doubtful basis of history, it is at least certain that it was already a beverage as long ago as the Tang dynasty, which began in the seventh century.

It is predicted that broadcasting moving pictures will be accomplished at an early date. Home may then be a place where you can apply a radio receiver to your ear, and keep one eye on the pictures and the other on your favorite evening paper.

THE STETHOSCOPE

Sir William Hale White, President of the Royal Society of Medicine, recently expressed the opinion that "nothing that doctors do has seized the popular imagination more than their habit of tapping the chest and listening to it with a stethoscope." Medical men in their investigations have found that this tapping of the chest is a quite remote custom. A book written in Latin in 1761 recorded the fact that the chest of a healthy person when tapped yielded a note "like the stifled sound of a drum covered with a thick cloth."

A French physician, Laennec, is said to have made the first use of the stethoscope. For years he was the victim of ill-health and family troubles, but after the Battle of Waterloo he made public the discovery that it was possible to listen to a person's chest with a stethoscope. He also wrote a book telling of all the human ailments it was possible to detect by means of this instrument. Sir William Hale White says that from this book arose the physician's habit of asking patients to pronounce certain words like "ninety-nine" when examing the chest. These words are produced in the larynx, and are suitable sounds when carried through the chest to help the physician to obtain confirmatory evidence of his tapping.

BOREDOM'S CAUSE AND CURE

An English journalist of note recently wrote an essay showing how we may escape from "banality," a comparatively new word which is not as formidable as it looks, being apparently used in the sense of common-place. "Banality," he says, "is a word for sameness where it ought not to be, that is to say, in things of the mind." When people are bored it is their own fault. "When we are bored with our own sameness, we believe that something outside is boring us." People rush about trying to escape from an enemy who really dwells in their own hearts. Hence the energy and money spent on games, or prize-fights, or horse racing and all kinds of gambling, on moving pictures.

Men fall in love where they should not, they turn to drink or drugs or gambling to escape from their boredom and the banality that causes it. They gather together and lose their ideality in mobs, they cheer when war is declared; all because they hope by some violent means to escape from the sameness of their lives, which is really the sameness of their own crude, undifferentiated selves. But these violent means increase the ill they are meant to cure.

Certain observers in the United States deplore what they call standardization or uniformity of ideas. There is perhaps not much use in advising a man to be original, though he should be encouraged to think for himself. A good cure for boredom is some occupation or hobby which calls forth physical or mental energy. Much of our amusement comes to us too easily; the mind is passively receiving one impression after another, producing nothing and giving nothing. Many ride in automobiles instead of walking, listen to mechanical reproductions of music instead of learning to sing or play, watch games instead of talking exercise. Paradoxical as it may sound, pleasure depends largely on difficulty and restraint; and boredom may be the result of lack of exertion and of the too easy satisfacion of the desire for enjoyment. "Hunger is the best sauce" is a proverb which may have a wider application than the appetite for food.

A gathering of the "Rockfeller clan" was held in Chicago last week. Three volumes have been compiled of the genealogy of the tribe. The original name of the Rockfeller tribe was "Rocquefille" and runs back to Huguenot days. The coat of arms is quartered, and bears two horns of plenty and two gold rocks on fields of red. The early members of the family lived in Southeastern France, but migrated to Germany at the time of the Huguenot persecution, thence to England and to America on the boat following the Mayflower.

After subsisting for months on the varied diet of strange countries the American world flyers will enjoy a dish of baked beans when they arrive in Boston.

BACK TO THE STEWPOT

Five hundred people, mostly women, jammed the corridors of the Court House yesterday trying to get in to the Janet Smith inquest. Of the 50 who got in, 40 were women.

Vancouver women are able, determined and aggressive—say that much for them. But who looked after their children, polished up their silverware, cooked their families' meals and supervised their homes while they were down at the Court House milling around in a mob trying to get a lurid thrill?

Of course the men were looking for a thrill, too. But the proportion of men to women was one to four. Does this mean that Vancouver women are four times as neglectful of their business and four times as morbidly curious as Vancouver men?

The plain truth is that in spite of the increased number of women in business and the professions, the feminine part of this generation is falling into dangerous idleness.

It has become the habit today for newly-married couples to set up housekeeping in a two-by-four flat with a couple of dishes, a frying pan and a delicatessen store handy—and a firm resolve to have as few children as possible.

It is not the women's fault. Economic conditions have much to do with this way of living. But no matter whose fault it is, it is a fact that must be faced. Home-making has become a vexatious sideline instead of a profession or a life business.

There is an old proverb about Satan finding "mischief for idle hands to do." And Satan is working overtime among the idle women of this generation.

If women want to take a hand in running the world, there is no better way they can do it than by studying their business of home--making and casting intelligent votes.

But they must cut out the thrills, get back to the stewpot and leave the job of mucking around in the world's dirt to those whose business it is to do it.—The Vancouver Sun.

The new Legislature will be asked to grant money for the completion of the Trans-provincial Highway between Hope and Spence's Bridge. Tenders will be called for within a few weeks and the contract awarded before the House sits.

AMERICA PAYS A DEBT

The American Bar Association visitors to Brasenose College, Oxford, on Saturday, were apparently greatly surprised to find that there was an outstanding debt against no less a personage than Lawrence Washington, the great-great-grandfather of the first President of the Republic.

After lunching in the hall with the principal and fellows, the American lawyers were shown old records which disclose that Lawrence Washington was matriculated at Brasenose in 1621, became fellow in 1623 and "went down" in 1633. He left behind him, however, a personal debt of 17s 10d for "battels" (bread and beer.) Efforts were made by the college authorities to collect the amount, but for some reason not entered in the minutes, Mr. Washington did not pay the seventeen shillings and tenpence.

With the amused sanction of the principal, who said the debt was still held a meeting in the common room, and in recognition of the hospitality they were enjoying (and on the one condition that the question of interest be definitely waived) they unanimously voted to satisfy the ancient claim of Brasenose against the family of George Washington. The sum needed was forthwith subscribed and was then and there turned over to the principal, who gracefully accepted it on behalf of the college.—Manchester Guardian.

The history of the fountain pen is very like that of the telephone, the telegraph, the radio and a host of other present-day conveniences.

Fifty years ago no one thought a satisfactory fountain pen would ever be an accomplished fact. Scores of pens had been invented, but not one of them would write properly. They only worked at times; the ink flow could not be controlled.

But in 1883 came Waterman's Ideal—the perfect pen—one that would always work properly, one that would not leak, one that would meet the peculiar requirements of every man's hand.

From a beginning of 200 pens in a year—made by hand—Waterman's has developed into a great industry. To-day there are millions of Waterman's Ideals in service in all parts of the world.

LIFT YOUR CORNS OFF WITH FINGERS

Tells how to loosen a tender corn or callus so it lifts out without pain.

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn or callus the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, lifts off with the fingers.

Freezone dries the moment it is applied, and simply shrivels the corn or callus without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but will positively rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or hardened callus. If your druggist hasn't any freezone he can get it at any wholesale drug house for you.

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

BIRTH CONTROL

Scientists, and others, have been interesting themselves during late years on the subject of birth control. Dr. Marie Stopes is one of the others who is carrying on a propaganda in favor of limiting the scheme of human creation. Mr. H. Grindell-Matthews, who claims he is scientist, and who has attained a wide notoriety as the inventor of the "Ray of Death," is also advocating "sterilization" as a means of preventing future wars. Mr. Grindell-Matthews believes that war is the result of over population. He disregards the fact that there were wars in the world ever since the world began, and it cerainly was not over populated at the beginning of human time. Mr. Grindell-Matthews seems prone to the language of exaggeration. For instance, he says: "The economic and social condition of the world to-day renders life a gauntlet so fierce and biting that to run it is a terrible ordeal." He must have an imagination which terrifies himself. He is full of gloomy propnostications. If there is not birth control then there must be war, and yet for war he has his own "terrific remedy," namely, the "Ray of Death."

One of the few gleams of apparent common sense in what Mr. Grindell-Matthews writes on birth control, is as follows: "If science does not depopulate the world either by birth control or by war, Nature herself will restore human life to her own true average." This conception gives the lie to much else he enunicate for the corollary of what he has to say in this sentence is for mankind, scientists and others, in the premises, to mind its own business and leave the scheme of creation to the Creator. In commenting on Mr. Grindell-Matthews views on science and birth control, Mr. Thomson MacDougall, writing in The Scotsman, has this to say:

Science has done much for humanity. How much more it will do no one knows, but there is unlimited scope for its researches along benevolent lines; the scientist who aspires to true greatness will set his face in that direction and leave the malevolent side alone.

The first great human need is to learn that unselfishness pays. This is a scientific fact because it is a fundamental truth. Paradoxical though it may seem, it is none the less true that the most selfish people in the world are the unselfish, for only those people practise unselfishness who have realized that nothing else in all the world yields anything like such a great, such a lasting, such a self-satisfying return. When this big simple truth takes root in the human heart war and all our social evils will cure themselves, and not till then.

Let science stop monkeying with glands and get after the human heart. If the heart of man could be fertilized with the germ of unselfishness there would be no need to trouble about sterilization. The old earth would then hold all her children in perfect comfort, contentment, and happiness. —The Colonist.

Buy Your Milk With the Groceries

Many thousands of Canadian housewives have learned the convenience, economy and thorough satisfaction of using Carnation Milk for every milk requirement of their families.

They use Carnation Milk because it is twice as rich as ordinary milk, because it tastes so good in coffee, on cereals, on fruits and in cooking. It is always clean, sweet, pure, sealed in tir-tight tins and kept safe by sterilization.

These housewives buy Carnation with their groceries. They are never out of pure milk. No delays or disappointments. Your grocer has it!

You can dilute the double-rich contents of this tin until the quart bottle overflows with pure milk.

For true nourishment in delicious form FRY'S COCOA is supreme. Make it this way and you will find it most appetising and digestible. To 3 good teaspoonfuls of Fry's Cocoa add three spoonfuls of sugar, mix well. Then add one half cup of boiling water and mix thoroughly. Add two cups of boiling water and boil very slowly for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Then add milk or cream to taste. This will give you Cocoa at its best.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

THIS is a pretty good town, as towns go. We all admit it, and are proud of it.

But there is one fly in the community ointment that prevents us from advancing as rapidly as we should.

Everybody is willing to have things done, but wants to "let George do it," and when George reaches a certain point he balks. He gets tired of carrying the whole load.

What we need is a greater spirit of co-operation. a willingness on the part of each one to do his or her share in the advancement of our community interests.

In every community there are always a few who are willing to work for the public good. They are the Georges.

There are also a lot of others who are willing to let them do it. They are not Georges.

Once in a while we read of some town like Fernie that keeps booming and shoving right along regardless of conditions or handicaps.

Such a town is full of Georges, and because the Georges are so numerous none of them is overworked and there is no occasion for balking.

Why can't we all be Georges in this town?

There is room for improvement, and we have plenty of people with the brains of Georges.

THOUSANDS of tourists every day during summer and autumn months picnic under rural skies. Invariably they leave behind a great deal of refuse matter—paper bags, newspapers, and scraps of eatables.

All those who picnic out-doors, whether in city parks, boulevards, or along the country roadside, should resolve not to violate the hospitality of those who afford them pleasure spots for spreading their basket lunches. Motorists should co-operate to keep the roadsides clean. Those who leave smeared scraps of paper, greasy boxes, and other miscellany behind them after finishing their lunches are not only indulging in indifference to the rights of others but are helping to destroy their welcome afield and the pleasure to be derived from occasional visits to the country.

WATER NOTICE

Use and Storage

TAKE NOTICE that East Kootenay Power Company, Limited, whose address is P.O. Box 595, Fernie, B.C., will apply for a licence to take and use 100 c.f.s. and to store 15,000 acre feet of water out of Line Creek, which flows S.W. and drains into Elk River, about Opposite Lot 4144.

The storage-dam will be located at Outlet Grave Lake. The capacity of the reservoir to be created is about 15,000 acre feet, and it will flood about 100 acres of land. The water will be diverted from the stream at a point about 2 miles from Mouth Line Creek, and will be used for Power purpose upon the land described as Undertaking of East Kootenay Power Company, Ltd.,

This notice was posted on the ground on the 5th day of September, 1924. A copy of this notice and an application pursuant thereto and to the "Water Act, 1914," will be filed in the office of the Water Recorder at Fernie, B.C.

Objections to the application may be filed with the said Water Recorder or with the Comptroller of Water Rights, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., within thirty days after the first appearance of this notice in a local newspaper.

(Class "C" applicant will here insert description of the territory within which its powers in respect of the undertaking are to be exercised.) Power will be supplied within Kootenay District, British Columbia and if permitted by lawful authority within Alberta. The petition for approval of the undertaking will be heard in the office of the Board of Investigation, Victoria, B.C. at a date to be fixed by the Comptroller and any interested person may file an objection thereto in the office of the Comptroller or of the Water Recorders at Fernie, B.C. and at Cranbrook, B.C.

Fernie, B.C.

Dear Sir—I would appreciate it greatly if you would insert the following letter in your valuable paper:

I have been very ill for the past few months and went under a serious operation. I belong to various fraternal organizations in Fernie, but I wish to express the thanks of my wife and myself to the officers and members of the Loyal Order of Moose, also to the Women of Mooseheart Legion for their efforts and kindness during my sickness. Of all the fraternal organizations that I belong none have shown the true fraternal spirit like the Loyal Order of Moose and the Women of Mooseheart Legion. I feel it is my duty to let this be known. Thanking this great order once more, I remain,

Peter Chervenak.

Make a beauty lotion for a few cents to remove tan, freckles, sallowness.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply you with three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Squeeze the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle, then put in the orchard white and shake well. This makes a quarter pint of the very best lemon skin whitener and complexion beautifier known. Massage this fragrant, creamy lotion daily into the face, neck, arms and hands and just see how freckles, tan, sallowness, redness and roughness disappear and how smooth, soft and clear the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless, and the beautiful results will surprise you.

The dope case against a Fernie Chinaman came up yesterday for trial, but was remanded for another eight days, owing to S. Herchmer, who is acting for the defense, having to leave in a day or so for Vancouver.

The many friends of Mr. Charles Carter, learned with regret of the passing away of his beloved wife, whose decease took place about 4.30 on Monday afternoon. The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon. Many floral tributes were deposited on the casket. Presentatives of the L. O. O. M. and the Fernie Literary and Athletic Society of which Mr. Carteh is an Active member, attended.

Service was held in the House on Dalton Ave., and also at the graveside; conducted by the Bible Students. Mr. Haigh officiating.

Harry Howbrook, of Portland, Oregon, who recently visited Fernie writing about his trip, says: "We arrived home safely without mishap of any kind. Enjoyed our trip over the Banff - Windermere highway immensely—but for variety of scenery and the best spot of road, the 20 mile stretch between Fernie and Elko takes the concrete canteloupe. Would rather have missed it from Elko to Banff than to have missed that. Probably it is because I felt more at home on that stretch, but I have heard them all remark about the scenery between these two points. Take it ffrom me, whoever calls this piece of scenic beauty "disappointing" even in a degree, by that token confesses himself fed up on scenery and should stay at home and give his auto seat to some scenery-starved mortal who can use the highway to beer advantage."

Miss B. Nara, organizer of the Girl Guides, will be in Fernie and address a meeting in the City Hall at 8 p.m., on Sept. 19th. All mothers and other interested in the movement will please attend.

Second Vice-president Pattison, of the U. M. W. of A., addressed a meeting of the local miners on Tuesday. He gave a report of the recent Calgary convention, and intervitated that some move for a settlement might be expected shortly.

A quiet wedding took place at Albion, New York on Monday of this week, when Mr. Arthur Steeves and Miss Mary Dragon, both of Fernie, were united in marriage. The young couple who will reside here have a host of friends who wish them every happiness.

The city are making preparations to resume work in putting the water pipe under the Elk river. It is to be hoped that satisfactory progress will be made as this proposition has been a vast bill of expense to the city. Even at this late date it might be cheaper to put a couple of concree piers in the river and erect a steel bridge just to carry the pipe.

Owing to present financial conditions the unmarried residents of Fernie give little attention to matrimonial affairs these days. However persons from outside points occasionally make their way here to have the Nuptial knot tied. On Saturday evening at 9 o'clock Carl Ingham, son of Albert Ingram, and Weallha Johanna Winsor were joined in wedlock. A little later the same evening John Hawkins and Olive Elizabeth Meek were united in marriage. All these contracting parties are from Elko. Rev. W. F. Burns officiated.

Charles Lester, of Calgary, addressed a meeting in the Labor Committee Rooms, on Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Socialist Party of Canada. There was a fairly representative gathering. The speaker took for his subject "Co-operative Commonwealth." The oratorial and Thespian abilities coupled with a thorough grasp of the subject held the audience interested for a period of two hours. At the close of the address, questions were asked and satisfactorily answered.

Arrangements are under way for securing the services of Mr. Lester in the near future.

WHITE BREAD

Doctors nowadays have acquired a habit of advising their patients, for a number of specific and sometimes for unspecified complaints, to subtitute the use of brown, or whole wheat bread, for white bread. Because white bread is, as a rule, more palateable, it is the more popular and its harmfulness has yet to be proved any way conclusively. Statistics show that the health of the people is on the upgrade, but in conjunction with this fact there are those who maintain that white bread is the cause of a multitude of diseases which shorten life. Cancer is said to be one of these diseases. In connection with this alleged discovery, humanity is being treated more and more to a definition of the usefulness of vitamins as if they were some new discovery. Vitamins have existed, even if unusupected, since the dawn of human life, and perhaps before.

If white bread is harmful, and possibly it is, then the harmfulness has been caused by the intrusion of the chemist into its manufacture. The whiteness of flour is a matter of mechanical separation. Much of the flour now used is bleached to the dead white which the public taste demands. Yellow flour is subjected to electric treatment, and sometimes ponderable chemicals are used for purposes of bleaching. There are such things as flour improvers which are advertised in milling papers. The qualities of white bread should possibly be estimated according to its characteristics when made from fine wheat mechanically treated and when made from indifferent wheat fortified artificially. It is unboubted that the chemical treatment of many kinds of food, including bread, is harmful,, and it is the chemical treatment that ought to be the subject of governmental supervision. That is a question of importance to the public health. If doctors, as their recipes would suggest, believe that white bread has deleterious qualities then they ought to be among the first to explain publicly why this is the case and wherein lies the remedy in its manufacture. That is a duty which they owe to the public in any and every health campaign in which they engage.

It is now twenty years since the Agricultural Department of the American Government investigated the question of the qualities of white bread. A series of tests were carried out. These proved that while bread baked from mechanically prepared white flour is superior in nutritive properties to flour with the bran ground up in it, the bran nevertheless, acts as a mild laxative. Other tests showed that bran, when fed largely to cattle, produces an irritating and unhealthy condition of the intestines. In the old stone-milling process the bran being tough was flattened and the germ was ground up with the flour, but it was discovered that this pulverized germ greatly impaired the keeping qualities of the flour. By the roller process it is flattened and sifted out. Probably the disappearance of this germ is what has made white bread less nutritious than it was in the olden days. Perhaps, because of its disappearance, the vitamins it used to contain are now lacking.

The point to be made is that doctors are becoming more and more agreed that there are properties in white bread, as at present manufactured, that are harmful to the human system. Chemical treatments are entering more widely into the manufacture of foods, and of drinks as well. The supervision over these treatments leaves a good deal to be desired. White bread is, perhaps, the most common article of diet, yet there is hardly a doctor today who is not constantly advising his patients to dispense with that commodity. The doctors should tell the public as a whole what is their reason for such advice so that the methods of making white bread can be reformed. The medical antipathy to white bread is of very recent growth, so presumably it is due to some new discovery, or due to the introduction of modern chemical processes in the manufacture of bread. The subject is sufficiently serious to engage the attention of public opinion.—The Victoria Colonist.

Pulling Power of Magnet

To demonstrate the pulling power of an industrial type of electromagnet used for separating metallic substances from other materials, seven men, totalling 1,160 pounds in weight, were suspended from it and lifted clear of the ground. The magnet was hoisted in a rope sling about eight feet from the floor and a metal bar was placed in contact with it. When a current of 220 volts was applied, six men grasped the bar and were lifted clear of the ground. A seventh man, into whose shoes had been placed thin metal plates, was hoisted up and held head downward.—Popular Mechanics.

New York's Latest Idea

A home for aged people who have been rich and accustomed to the refinements of living, but who have been reduced to poverty, is soon to be opened in New York City. It is said to be as comfortable and as beautiful as the best hotels. The trustees make it plain that they cannot receive anyone who has been merely well-to-do at some time or other; they particular want old couples who have always been used to every luxury and for that reason find poverty in old age doubly harder to bear.

There now appears every likelihood that the scale of timber royalties will be reduced when the Legislature meets. The new schedule, due to come into effect in January, will probably no be enforced. Following the conference of sixty timbermen with the government, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, said he was in sympathy with the timber interests and agreed that the new schedule could hardly be made effecive. It is expected that a bill will be drawn up for the consideration of the Legislature and revisions will be made in the Royalty Act.

Here and There

It is anticipated that English orders for Canadian wool will exceed 1,000,000 pounds this year, which will be a considerable increase over the business of 1923, amounting to 700,000 pounds

Definite advice has been received at Victoria, B.C., that the Japanese training squadron, consisting of the "Kishima," "Asma" and "Azuma" will visit Victoria during the winter. The squadron will leave Japan early in December, following the annual fall manoeuvres.

Approximately 60 per cent, or 1,252,604 of the population of Western Canada live on occupied farms. Of the balance, 474,516 live in its 20 cities and towns of over 2,500 and 228,962 in 3,309 small towns and villages of 2,500 or under.

The work of re-ballasting the main line of the Canadian Pacific between Montreal and Toronto (the Lake Ontario shore line) has just been completed. Nearly 2,000,000 tons of crushed rock, or about 35,000 carloads, were used in this operation. Officials state that the roadbed is now as excellent as it can be made and second to none in the world.

Successful strawberry culture 300 miles north of the international boundary has been proven possible by R. A. Gordon, of Edmonton, Alta. One hundred plants brought from Ontario wintered well, blossomed heavily and produced a prolific crop of well-formed, fine-flavored fruit with rich color and flavor. Mr. Gordon has likewise had much success with cherries, wild plums and crab apples.

Steady progress has been made by the macaroni industry in Canada during the past decade. The Bureau of Statistics reports that, whereas the Dominion imported nearly 7,000,000 pounds in pre-war days, it imported only 1,096,000 pounds and exported 2,229,000 pounds in 1923. Nine factories, with a capitalization of $873,000, now operate in Canada, with an aggregate output approximating 11,500,000 pounds.

Whaling operations off the coast of British Columbia this season have been very successful. Four stations and six or seven whalers are working. Some of the vessels have secured 30 head so far this year. Whale oil is selling well in England, while whale meat, canned, is an established commodity in West Africa, the entire British Columbia whale meat pack of last year having been sold there.

The management of the Canadian National Exhibition is ambitious to rival the "million-a-week" attendance at Wembley. The result depends largely on the weather— and the crowd.

PUBLIC FLOGGINGS

Sheriff Fyfe, in passing sentence in Glasgow recently, expressed regret that Parliament had "squeamishly" introduced the word "privately" into the act prescribing flogging as a permissible punishment for certain types of offenses. The sherriff apparently desires that the offenders shall be whipped in the streets. Public hangings, floggings, the pillory and the stocks were common sights enough in the early Victorian era, so common, indeed, as to be regarded as the natural method of dealing with malefactors. It was mistakenly believed that such sights would instil fear of wrongdoing and a greater respect for the law into the minds of the common people. But they had no such effect; they merely served to brutalize the spectators and in no wise acted as a deterrent.

Coming in these more humane times the sherriff's suggestion is as foolish as it is barbarous, for public whippings would excite sympathy for the offender and a consequent condonation of the offense. While this is so, the enjoyment of the brutal is by no means dead. The report that an exhibition is cruel will always attract a certain class of spectators, and high-placed persons, eager for notoriety at any price, will advertise their enjoyment of what to the civilized majority is repellent and disgusting.

TEACHERS FEDERATION VISITS WINDERMERE BUNGALOW CAMP

Here are seen a group of Ontario teachers members of the Canadian Teachers Federation, who, with colleagues from every other province in the Dominion attended the annual convention of the Federation at Victoria, B.C. The Canadian Pacific provided special trains for their accommodation in both directions. Many of them returned via the Kettle Valley and the British Columbia Lake district, but this party preferred to pass through the Rockies again. They are seen at Windermere Bungalow Camp to which they made excursion. At Banff and Lake Louise they were entertained and local teachers organisations and Boards of Trade at many points along their west and east-bound routes turned out to greet the "Teachers Special" and to afford the delegates to the convention whatever entertainment time allowed. The next annual meeting of the Canadian Teachers Federation will be held in Toronto.

RADIO MESSAGES FROM MARS?

A message from Mars might actually be received during the period of that planet's near approach to the earth, according to Dr. David Todd, Emeritus Professor of Astronomy in Amherst College. Dr. Todd points out in an interview, secured and sent out as a press bulletin by Samuel Wesley Long, of West Chester, Pennsylvania, that on August 22, Mars came within 35 million miles of the earth, tho' the usual distance is from 100 to 200 million miles. According to Dr. Todd, if communication beween the earth and Mars can be established it will be by means of radio operated from a dirigible at a height of 10,000 feet or more. He says:

"While it is hardly probable that a message could be sent to Mars, it is entirely within the bounds of reason to assume that Mars could communicate with the earth.

"The matter of our sending a message would seem of less importance than establishing the fact that the inhabitants of Mars—if such there be—can, in some way, signal us in an understandable manner. Once that has been demonstrated it would likely be but a question of experimentation to devise a method of returning the signals.

"On the other hand, it is possible that the Martians have both 'tuned in' on terrestrial broadcasting stations and have made repeated attempts to communicate with us.

"There is the further possibility that Martians have developed means of broadcasting, or directing messages to a particular point in the universe, that are so far in advance of our apparatus that we have no facilities for picking up messages intended for us. For instance, if Martians possess the knowledge relative to radium that, eventually, we shall possess, i is conceivable that in comparison with a method of communication employing the potential energy of radium, our radio outfits are extremely crude.

"Further, the relation of light rays to radio communication is as yet only hinted; what research along this line will reveal is still a matter of mere conjecture. But is it not possible that Martian scientists have relatively complete understanding of the subject?

"Of course, the whole subject is entirely one of speculation predicated on the assumption that Mars is actually inhabited by intelligent beings.

"That life on Mars is possible is a virtual certainty in the opinion of some noted biologists, tho' deductions in support of the theory are entirely without the realm of astronomy. To the astronomer the question of the existence of life on Mars is simply speculation. However, it is within the province of astronomy to supply knowledge of physical conditions conductive to the origin and support of life. And this has been done.

"If Mars is really inhabited it is logical to assume that the people are far in advance of us in scientific knowledge by reason of the fact that intelligent life was possible on Mars long ages before it was on earth, because Mars, being about one-half the size of the earth, cooled sufficiently to permit the development of life many centuries before the earth did—that is, both our sphere and Mars had a common origin at approximately the same cosmic period.

"Assuming the possibility of Martians possessing means to communicate with us by radio, there seems little cause to fear—as some apparently do—that we shall not be able to understand. A fundamental reason is that intelligence is universal and this also applies to principles. Take, for instance, mathematics—two and two make four just as surely on Mars as on earth. Therefore, it would appear that there exists common ground for a basis of understanding.

"Now, for the sake of the point, let it be granted that Martians have been picking up our radio broadcasts, is it not probable that their men of science have been enabled to deduce many facts concerning terrestrial life and activities and thereby have evolved means of constructing messages that would be intelligible to us if we possess in radio the means to receive the messages?

"True, it may be that Martians can produce neither vocal nor instrumental sounds comparable with ours. But—if radio is understood and used by the dwellers on Mars—they could send dot-and-dash signals, for, as the veriest tyro knows, that system is simply the 'making' and 'breaking' of electric contact.

"Even granting that Martian 'listeners-in' have been unable to decipher the meaning of our Morst code messages, our celestial neighbors might easily have fallen upon the idea of repeating—tho' they did not understand—any one of our code messages; particularly one from a powerful sending station such as Arlington operators, if repeated from Mars."

"Would not," the question was asked, "the chances of success of receiving a message from Mars be greatly increased by making the attempt with the Shenandoah's radio-receiving outfit?" Dr. Todd answered:

"Most assuredly—in fact, that would offer greater promise of the desired results than any other known means. At an altitude of 10,000 feet static and other interference would be greatly reduced. An altitude of 35,000 feet would, of course, be decidedly better, but my understanding is that 10,000 feet is the maximum height to which the great dirigible may rise without sacrificing quantities of the precious helium gas with which the craft is inflated."—The Literary Digest.

ASIATIC RELIGIONS GETTING TOGETHER

The modern Robinson Crusoe is that astonishing young Polish explorer, Ferdinand Ossendowiski, who wrote the book, "Beasts, Men and Gods." As everybody knows, he has penetrated some of the most mysterious parts of Asia single-handled, first as an escaped war prisoner, and then as a very original sort of explorer. He has told Americans all about the Back of Beyond—the hidden recesses of Tibet, the terrible Gobi Desert of Mongolia, and the gigantic Kuen Lun Mountains where are the mysterious sources of the thousand-league Yang Tse and Hoang Ho rivers. Now he is in France, and they are asking him about the tremendous political awakening among the hordes of Asia.

Asia to-day, he told the editor of the Paris Matin, is as different from the Asia of before the war as if a new continent had risen on our planet. The war and the Russian revolution mark the end of white domination, according to the intrepid Pole. Asiatic solidarity is coming, and here is his significant reason for it, as quoted by the Paris editor:

"The new fact which seemed up to the present time a Utopian idea, is religious unity. The great religious leaders of the different cults—the Buddhists, Brahmans, Confucians, and Moslems are uniting and have mutually agreed to preach to their followers and to all Asiatic peoples that the time has come to end the religious dissensions which oppose one against another, the men of one race. It is practically and politically a new religion which they are going about the founding of out there is Asia."

What practical lesson there is in this fact for the many different Christian creeds which maintain missionaries in Asia, Mr. Ossendowski does not say. But he etches in very sharply indeed the picture he is trying to cut. This is how he puts it:

"It is several years since I heard people saying in Asia: 'That man is my enemy; he worships a false god.' To-day throughout all that Asiatic immensity, a new saying has gone forth. They are telling each other: 'Whatever be the gods whom you worship, you are, before everything else, brothers who ought to love and help one another;' believe me, here is a change of which the consequences may well be incalculable. Indeed, Asiatic unity may be said to exist from this moment, tho' for it to be clear to all men it must furnish itself with a leader.

"Do you see any thing in prospect?

"Well, Russia, might play a dominating role there. The Soviet propaganda is very cleverly exploiting this new spiritual state. Everywhere it keeps dwelling upon union and the emancipation of Asiatics, a rebellion against England, against France, against Japan. I must say, too, that in every region that has not been directly subjected to looting by the Reds, I have found sympathy for the Soviets."—The Literary Digest.

BROCKVILLE FARMER SUFFERED 20 YEARS

"Les" Booth Finally Got Relief Through Taking Tanlac

"Since taking Tanlac, I feel so fit it sometimes seems like a dream for there was hardly a day in 20 years that I did not suffer," is the striking statement of Geo. L. ("Les") Booth, 271 Perth St., Brockville, Ont., one of the best known farmers in Ontario.

"For 20 years, up to three years ago when I took Tanlac, I suffered from rheumatism in my arms, shoulders back and hips, so bad at times I could not lift my arms to put my coat on. I couldn't even write my name and I just limped about like a cripple. Many a night it looked like I would not live to see daybreak and once I was laid up six months unable to hit a lick of work.

"Money could not buy the good Tanlac has done me. It ended every sign of rheumatism and built up my weight 16 pounds, and since then I have not had a rheumatic ache or pain. If anybody wants to know about Tanlac, just let them see Les Booth."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 milion bottles sold.

FERNIE DEFEATS CRANBROOK

Playing in a return game here Sunday afternoon, the Fernie Intermediate baseball team easily defeated the Cranbrook Victorias by a score of eighteen runs to three.

The game was an extremely one sided contest, Sofka on the mound for the locals striking out thirteen batters and only allowing the visitors two hits during the entire nine innings. Errors gave the Vics their three tallies. The Fernie boys seemed to take kindly to the offerings of the three pitchers used by Cranbrook and gave their fielders all varieties of baseball chasing to do, hits coming frequently.

COMMUNICATION

Editor, Fernie Free Press.

Dear Mr. Editor:—Kindly allow me a little space for a few remarks respecting the article you had in last week's issue about the young Americans who were arrested for having firearms in their automobile, for which arrest and the subsequent fines and confiscation of their guns, the provincial police were accused of pulling off a bone-headed stunt. Also as it seems to be the general impression around town that I wrote the article, I want to take this opportunity of disclaiming any connection with it.

The facts in connection with the case were investigated by me and I found out that not only were these young fellows warned by one of the guides up the Elk that they would get into trouble if they failed to get permission from the chief of the provincial police, but they were also warned by Game warden, Ira Brown. They came into town ostensibly to see the chief, but though they remained in town for two days, they never went near him and when they returned to the Elk Valley, Ira Brown asked them if they had permission and they said, "No, to hell with it."

I happen to know that Chief Greenwood has endeavored to exercise as much leniency towards infractions of the Game Act by tourists as he possibly could, several cases this year have been brought to my attention by the tourists themselves.

Such articles as the one in question will only serve to make the police abide by the strict letter of the law and that will certainly not make this district any more popular with tourists. No one holding a public office can please everybody, and the Chief certainly has my sympathy. When anything happens and the offender gets away the police come in for all kinds of criticism, yet when they jack up a tourist for intentionally breaking the law they get called down for that. What are they to do?

Yours truly,
Fred Spalding.

Beatrice Joy in Dual Role In New Paramount Picture

Admirers of Leatrice Joy are promised a treat when "Changing Husbands," a Paramount picture, is flashed on the local screen at the Orpheum Theatre beginning next Wednesday. They will see her in a part that calls for every ounce of histrionic power that is in her. The acid test of a great actor or actress is the ability to portray a dual role with convincing skill, and that is exactly what the lovely Leatrice is called upon to do in this production.

"Changing Husbands" was adapted by Sada Cowan and Howard Higgin from the Saturday Evening Post story, "Roles," by Elizabeth Alexander. The theme of the story deals with the modern problem of home versus a career. Tired of her life of idle ease and luxury, a popular society matron decides to change places with a girl who bears a remarkable resemblance to her and who, at the time, is acting in a New York stage play. They both overlook purposely, to be sure—the important detail of notifying those most affected by the change, the wife, her husband and the actress, her fiance. The result? Complications galore, which the audience is bound to enjoy.

Miss Joy, of course, plays both parts—not an easy task when you stop to consider that the wo personalities are as far apart as the poles in temperament and disposition. Lest you think that all the acting honors fall to the lot of the versatile Leatrice, we hasten to point out that Victor Varconi, Raymond Griffith, Za-Su Pitts and Julia Faye are in the supporting cast.

EMPLOYEES RESIGN

Mayor Henderson occupied the chair at last evening's regular City Council meeting in the Council Chambers, all Aldermen with the exception of Ald. E. K. Stewart were present.

The City Clerk presented tenders on the city's hay requirements and a motion was passed authorizing the purchase of one car numbr one timothy from the Saunders Hay and Grain Company of Lethbridge at the price of $18.00 FOB Coaldale, Alta.

Jeff Commons, City Electrician, tendered his resignation to the council. In his letter he gave as his reasons that he was interferred with by the Mayor in his work, stating that Mr. Henderson had requested him to climb a pole which he considered unsafe.

Mayor Henderson stated that he had never mentioned climbing the pole, the only question that had come up was that when taking the pole down at the corner of the Home Bank, he had requested the City Electrician to save some of the material. Commons had replied that he was taking no orders from the Mayor.

A motion was passed accepting the resignation.

The City Clerk read a letter from Mr. Neil McCallum, City Engineer, in which he tendered his resignation to take effect on Oct. 9th. Mr. Mc Callum stated his reasons for hesigning were that he was sick and worried over the proposed completion of the pipe line across the river and that he did not want the worry of this work upon him.

Mr. Moffatt also reported that Mr. McCallum had been suspended by the Mayor at one o'clock, Wednesday, Sept. 17th,, for refusing to obey oders.

The Mayor requested the council to deal with the resignation first. After some discussion, during which Mr. McCallum confirmed his reasons for resigning, a motion was passed accepting his resignation.

Mayor Henderson reported that he had suspended Mr. McCallum the day previous when he had refused to commence work on the pipe line at the brow of the hill, after he had been told that unless the work was commenced at one p.m., the City was through with him.

Mr. McCallum stated that the Mayor had made no mention of suspension at that time but had told him he was fired and to get off the job, and that in doing so, the Mayor had exceeded his authority.

The Mayor quoted Section 25 of the Municipal Act which covered the powers held by the Mayor which gave him the right to suspend any employee working for the City.

He then requested the council to give their decision upon the suspension.

A motion was passed confirming the immediate suspension of City Engineer McCallum and granting him salary up to Oct. 11th, 1924.

The City Clerk reported that he had an enquiry as to the cost of the lot and building now being used as a city warehouse on Baker Avenue, from Mr. M. H. Baskin who had stated he intended opening a wholesale and retail business in the city.

A motion was passed placing this property on the salable property list at a price of $800.00.

An application from Messrs T. Adamson, C. Becker and P. Cervanak for credit to the amount of approximately thirty eight dollars on light accounts was made. The applicants had expended this amount of money in building a five pole light extension line so that they could secure electric light in their homes.

The application was granted, the extension to become the property of the City when the credit had been absorbed.

A number of accounts were passed for payment.

The river pipe line work again came up for discussion but definite action was deferred.

NEW CHAIRMAN APPOINTED

Ottawa, Sept. 17.—Chief Justice H. A. McKeowan of the supreme court of New Brunswick, has been appointed chairman of the Dominion railway commission. He succeds the late Hon. Frank B. Carvell. He was born at St. Stephen, N.B., in 1863, became a judge of the supreme court of his province in 1899, and chief justice in 1906. He was elected to the New Brunswick legislature in 1890, being subsequently solicitor-general and attorney-general in New Brunswick. He is a Liberal in politics.

Judge McKeown is a brother of Mrs. S. Bonnell, of Fernie.

OIL REFINERY IN CRANBROOK

CRANBROOK, B. C., Sept. 13.—Following a special meeting of the city council at which Mr. E. C. Gilbault laid his requests for some concessions before the aldermen he stated he had received every encouragement for the proposal to establish a small oil refinery plant here. Mr. Gilbault went very fully into the matter with the council and proffered his requests for some consideration, asking for the necessary water connections and light to the site, selected provisionally, on the lower end of Cranbrook street.The city has agreed to meet the requests granting free water for a four year period and free light for a year or so, as well as putting in the necessary water and sewer extensions. Mr. Gilbault has returned to Lethbridge for a few days and expects to return to Cranbrook next week when the organization of the company will be proceeded with. The promoters are convinced that a good market will be found in the Cranbrook district for all the gasoline, coal oil, distillate to be manufactured amounting to about three hundred barrels a day at capacity.

RYAN FACES COURT

CALGARY, Alta., Sept. 12.—William Ryan, vice-president of District 18 United Mine Workers of Alberta, was charged with vagrancy before Magistrate Walter Campbell at Nordegg on Wednesday and the hearing was remanded for one week. The complainant was C. H. Stanley, manager of the West Saunders mine, two miles west of Saunders Creek, and co-defendants with Ryan were John Campbell, George Campbell, E. Ercolane and several others. According to Mr. Stanley who was a visitor to Calgary on Friday, Ryan and his party went to Alexo, three miles west of Saunders Creek, on Monday and tried to induce the miners there to cease work but were unsuccessful. On their return they started to interfere with one of the employees of the Acorn mine. W. Passingham, until finally Mr. Stanley told them to get off the property. Then so Mr. Stanley alleged, they called him some very disagreeable names and he laid a charge of vagrancy against them.

Then on Wednesday, Mr. Stanley states, Ryan and his party went to Alexo again but were driven out by the workers assisted by the Alberta Provincial Police.

"A disgraceful condition of affairs exists in our district," Mr. Stanley stated here Friday. "Legimate miners are afraid to seek work. If they are liable to interference on the trains and they seem to get no protection from the railway or police authorities. What's more, the trouble is largely due to aliens—to men who cannot produce citizenship papers."

"For example, yesterday a case came to my attention of an English-speaking miner with a wife and family who did no have one cent and who had been deprived of work because of the threats of the agitators. He told me that he had come to a crisis and that henceforh he was going to fight for his family.

"The Alberta coal industry is stagnant today because of this condition and millions of dollars are being lost.

What's the remedy? For the thing we should run out of the country the alien agitators who are intimidating the honest workingmen.

"Personally I propose to go ahead and run our mine and if there is any attempt at interference I will fight and fight hard."

UNION CRITICIZED

160 Fat Organizers Get $369,332.45 While 350,000 Striking Men, Women and Children Get $41,800.00

PENNIES FOR STRIKERS AND HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS FOR ORGANIZERS—CANADIAN AUTONOMY? THE MINERS NEED IT SURELY!

By J. B. McLachlan

Seventy thousands struggling, striking miners of the United Mine Workers of America got less money, in the shape of strike aid, from that union for the six months period ending June 1st, 1924, than seven officials of that union, during the same period, drew in wages and expenses.

During that same six months, John L, Lewis and his associates were lying like pirates to give these hard-pressed strikers, telling them that they could not give them more aid, and the strikers had to send out appeals all over the country begging from other trade unionists and the very time this begging was taking place, there were one and a half million dollars lying in the funds of the U.M.W. of A.

Here are the names of the seven men who drew the money and the amounts that each of them pulled down while they asked strikers to continue on strike with not more strike relief for them and their dependents than would buy an ice cream cone per week for each of them.

Phillip Murray	5,053.42
William Green	5,194.02
Ellis Searles	13,197.76
O. L. Garrison	4,153.30
Van A. Bittner	4,076.71
Ed. Dobbins	4,066.61
Total	$43,230.15

No, that is not a year's wages that these men were drawing, they that for six months!

Here are the six districts which carried on strikes during that period, many of whom are still on strikes and the ratio of the wages of these seven men to the strikers and remains about the same.

Aid to District No. 15	$ 1,890.00
Aid to District No. 17	20,000.00
Aid to District No. 18	7,500.00
Aid to District No. 19	5,000.00
Aid to District No. 23	7,000.00
Aid to District No. 26
Total	$41,800.00

The figures in both cases are taken from the financial report of William Green, Secretary of the U.M.W. of A., and from the auditors' report of the same union, covering the six months ending June 1st, 1924.

Ten thousand miners in District No. 18 came out on strike on April 1st, 1924, to resist a reduction of $1.17 per day. Along in the month of June the president of District 18 went to Indianapolis to ask John L. Lewis and his executive board for more aid to carry on the strike. Sherman came back home empty-handed and sent out a letter addressed to all trade unionists in Canada, and in that letter he stated his:

"The International organization of the United Mine Workers of America have notified the officials of District No. 18 that due to the many thousands of strikers in the United States and also due to the large depression that exists in the coal industry as a resul of unemployment, that they are unable to come to our assistance at the present time to any marked degree. And in the absence of this support we find it necessary to appeal to you on behalf of the 10,000 members and their dependents WHO NEED YOUR ASSISTANCE TO CARRY ON THE STRIKE."

At the very time Lewis sent Sherman back empty-handed to the striking miners of District 18, and at the time Sherman sent the above appeal all over Canada, there was lying idle in the International funds, $1,630,557.00.

Today Lewis is giving aid to the 10,000 striking miners of District 18 to the amount of $5,000.00 per week, the officials of that district inform us. That amount divided amongst these 10,000 miners and 40,000 dependents works out at about 10 cents each per week.

A TOUGH PROPOSITION

Calgary, Alta.—The International representatives, Steel and Watkins, are in a hopeless position trying to defend the policy of the United Mine Workers' of America in making a three year agreement in the Central Competitive Field. Representative Steel drew a gloomy picture of the starving families in the United States who have signed the three year agreement and had no hope for the near future. This was in answer to a demand for further relief for this district. It started the attack on International President John L. Lewis on Wednesday afternoon and continued all day, also all day Thursday. The officials have no solution to offer in District 18 only, "Fight till you starve—then quit!" The International representative suggested a reduction to the policy committee some weeks ago, but the workers refused to listen to such advice.

JOHN COWARD'S MURDER

J. F. Gallagher, of Drumheller, convicted on his first trial of the murder of John Coward, at one time a citizen of Fernie, but acquitted on a second trial, was sentenced recently to life imprisonment on a charge of arson. He has appealed against the decision and his case was up in Calgary on Monday.

A letter which is alleged to have been written to John Francis Gallagher by Jesse Fuller on October 5, 1923, before the latter was murdered —a document which was excluded from the evidence by the trial judge when Gallagher was tried for arson —was read to the judges of the court of appeal by A. Macleod Sinclair on Monday afternoon.

In the course of his appeal in the interests of Gallagher, now serving a life term for arson, Mr. Sinclair constantly referred to the methods that had been adopted by the prosecution and the defense to get Gallagher out of the way. He claimed that the information obtained in the letter, which it was known Gallagher had received, was embrassing to certain people and that they had conspired to put him in jail.

The letter from Fuller to Gallagher referred entirely to the murder of John Coward at Carbon, a crime for which Gallagher was tried and sentenced to be hanged, only to be acquitted at a second trial. The letter stated that some five or six men were concerned in Coward's death, and named them. It further names two who are said to have fired the shots and spoke of the connection of certain named persons with Coward in a mining deal.

Mr. Sinclair inferred that the possession of this letter was what had prompted enemies to scheme to put Gallagher in jail.

James Short, K.C., for the crown, protested against the reading of the letter, but the judges finally decided after along discussion that they would hear it.

"If," said Mr. Sinclair, "your lordships knew as much about the Coward case as I do, you would perhaps be inclined to give more credence to this document."

Mr. Sinclair, replying to Mr. Short's statement that the police had investigated the letter, said, "Yes, they investigated it after I gave it to them, and all I ever heard from them was a report that a handwriting expert declared that it was Fuller's writing. As to the police investigations, they also looked for three men for three months and finally found them in their own jail—after I told them they were there."

In beginning his argument at the afternoon sitting, counsel for Gallagher carried on his argument that the trial judge had not given the jury a proper warning regarding the acceptance of uncorroborated evidence by an accomplice. His argument was thatO'Rourkewas an accomplice and that his evidence was not sufficiently corroborated.

THE FUEL SUPPLY OF CANADA

The more we see of Government administration, whether Dominion or Provincial, the more we realize its incompetence and inefficiency as compared with individual enterprise and inititive. Owing to government indifference we see Eastern Canada, its centres of population, industries, railway transportation, more dependent than ever on foreign supplies of fuel, when this country itself has enough and to spare. We see the splendid effort put forth by the Mines Dept. of Alberta, the mine operators of Southern British Columbia and Alberta, and the co-operation of the governments of Manitoba and Ontario, to supply the fuel requirements of Manitoba and Ontario from Western coal resources, baulked by the negligence of the Dominion Government to put into effect a policy espoused by the past session of Parliament.

Financial provisions was made to the extent of $200,000, but the Ottawa officials on whom devolves the duty of giving effect to the policy are too lazy or too indifferent to do so. It will be up to the western members at next session to see that those responsible for the fiasco never get another chance to set at naught the decisions of Parliament in the combined interest of the people of eastern and western Canada. The quicker these officials are eliminated from the national payroll the better for the country.

The object of the government grant was to compensate the railways for any loss they might make in experimental shipments of coal from Alberta and southeastern British Columbia to Manitoba and Ontario. It is a long haul of course, and the railways have expressed doubt as to the feasibility of such transportation, consistent with showing the necessary margin over operating expenses. No better opportunity could have been afforded to make the test than this fall. The grain crop is only half that of last year and railway traffic will be light in any case. What better means of supplementing the shortage of grain by hauling coal, to the extent at all events of making up return traffic for the cars engaged in hauling wheat to the coast?

It is a crying shame that the opportunity should be lost simply because of official laziness and incompetence at Ottawa in providing for the expenditure of the vote by Parliament for the purpose. The incident should arouse the indignation of the west against the wanton official indifference displayed at Ottawa. If the west cannot get better service from Ottawa, it is time it demanded the removal of the seat of government to a more central point, such as Winnipeg, where it will be more under control of, and in touch with the requirements and interests of the west.

In another column Mr. W. A. Rae discusses the matter. It is quite true that the miners' strike has reduced stocks, but the employees of some of the mines have been reasonable enough to accept the terms of the operators and return to work. Consumers of coal have been complaining bitterly about the high prices of coal since the war, and with good reason Ottawa administration is entirely to blame for the unfortunate labor situation that has prevailed. It butted in and created the conditions by which organized labor got control of the industry in the Crows Nest Pass and has throttled it ever since.

But for Ottawa any difficulties between the operators and the miners would have been settled long ago, and settled equitably and amicably. The mines would not have been idle as they have been. The mass of the miners realizes the desirability of a settlement both in their own interest and in the interest of the industry. They have put in months of idleness. Their organization is no longer able to finance the strike. It is probably not too much to say that the strike has meant a loss of $5,000,000 in wages to the miners, and a corresponding loss to operators in idle plants and unproductive capital investments.

The main bone of contention is the continuation of the war bonus. The war is over so long that there is not the slightest excuse for the continuation of the bonus. The operators realize that, and have endeavored to reason with the miners on the matter. With the exception of about 20 agitators of bolshevik ideas miners have admitted the justice of the attitude of the operators. These 20 agitators are, however, able to bully thousands of members of the organization into continuing the strike.

If the government did its duty it would find a means of preventing a handful of agitators from terrorizing the large majority of their fellows, and paralysing a great industry.

The operators are anxious to bring down the price of coal and coke. They realize it must be done, to enable them to obtain markets and to compete with American mines working under more favorable wage conditions. These repeated strikes have cost them the loss of markets for several thousand tons of coal a day, through railways and industries being forced to resort to the use of fuel oil to maintain their operations. This condition has meant short time at the mines, and the miners are themselves entirely to blame for he situation. During the summer many of them had to draft themselves into other industries, as lumbering and metal mining, where they could not earn more than $3 and upwards a day, as compared with the average return of something like $10 a day of average working time. They also complained of the much more severe character of these industries as compared with mining coal.

Hon. W. J. Murdock, Minister of Labor, met representatives of operators and employees at Calgary and did his best to effect a settlement so that the mines might resume work. He found the operators absolutely reasonable, and the representatives of the strikers just as unreasonable. His intervention failed, as has that of every other agency that has tried to effect a settlement. It is better the dispute should now be fought to a finish than that the industry be hampered as it has been during the past few years by repeated strikes for the most petty reasons.

The mines are well equipped, well managed, and every consideration is given to the safety and comfort of the employees. It would be better if no mine were re-opened till the present agitators have been forced to draft themselves into other industries over which they cannot get control, than that the coal mining industry should continue to be the plaything of unscrupluous men as it has been for the past ten years.

We know, of course, what lies at the root of the trouble. A few communists and revolutionary socialists hope by their tactics to force the government to nationalize the industry. Government operation of industry never has been, and never can be, a success till human nature itself is revolutionized. Government makes a mess of everything they attempt to handle for the reason that politics can never get down to business principles, and business has no place in politics. The sooner these agitators realize that individualism is too strongly entrenched in the economics of British peoples, and too successful to risk national attrition by experiments in socialism the better will it be for the miners themselves, for the industry, and for the country.

Eastern Canada is now importing coal mined by miners in Wales, paying the freight and customs duty, and landing it here at less cost than the home product. Industries are importing Welsh coke at much less cost than it can be produced here with the present cost of labor, and that impored coke has to stand, added to its cost of production, the ocean freight, wharfage, customs duties, and rail or inland water carriage to its point of destination.

All parts of the world are in competition wih each other and it is well that it should be so. Competition is the safeguard to the public against imposition of excessive prices for commodities and services. The miner in Canada has to realize that he has to meet the conditions under which the miner in Wales or the United States has to work. If he is not willing to do that he has no place in the service of society, and after all we are, every one of us, the servants of each other. We must render service of as much value in one field of labor as another. Coal mining is not, and never can be, an exception, any more than any other branch of industry. The success of the coal miner lies in his co-operation with the operator. The interest of each is mutual, and no adverse, according to the teachings of the communist or revolutionary socialist.

Unfortunately, the Crows Nest Pass is seething with I. W. W.-ism, the practices of which are inimical to organized society, and have no place in it. The troubles in the Crows Nes Pass are part of the price the ccountry is paying for its open door to foreign immigration. The sooner Canada follows the United States in the regulation of foreign immigration the better for the people and the country. There is too much toleration of the labor agitator and the anarchist. A more healthy and aggressive public opinion towards militarism in labor would be a big asset to this country.

A happy wife is one who hasn't yet discovered that she has more sense than her husband.

week is what this lying president of the United Mine Workers of America. who lives the same luxurious life as the plute class, has the unashamed face of brass to ask the miners to run a strike on.

During this same six month period, District 18 paid in tax to the International office, $20,309.35, as shown above the strikers received back only about one third of the amount they paid. The balance was not paid to strikers in the United States, but was used to pay the fat salaries of lying trade union officials or laid away in the bank with the million and a half balance on June 1st.

In the month of January and February of this year he miners of District 26 were on strike. John L. Lewis in the International Convention in Indianapolis said that his officials in that district had called the strike and the International Union was firmly behind the miners of Nova Scotia. Lewis' officials in Nova Scotia repeated this statement to both the striking miners and the merchants of the mining towns of Nova Scotia.

On the strength of these statements relief was given to strikers to the amount of $111,000.00.

The 13,000 striking miners were deliberately led to believe both by Lewis and his officials that the Internaional Union would pay for the relief. But what happened?

The Lewis officials drew up a contract and signed it without the knowledge of the men who were to work under it, and ended the strike. Part of that contract was that the cost companies would collect out of the pay envelopes of the miners 50 cents per week per man and hand this money over to the officials which Lewis had set up in the district, till the whole $111,000.00 of debit contracted during a strike which Lewis called, was paid.

District 26 paid into the International office during this six month period in tax $40,432.51 and when on strike did not receive one cent of aid. But both John L. Lewis and his appointees in District 26 gave the same lying reason for non-support that was given to the men of District 18. That the International Union was taxed to the utmost to support strikers in the United States, and while that lie is being handed out, men, women and children about the coal mines of Nova Scoia are going hungry.

There were six districts on strike; two in Canada, and four in the United States. Of the four districts in the United States, one received more in aid of its strike than it paid in tax, one received two-thirds of what it paid in; one received one half of what it paid in, and the other received one third of what it paid in tax. The figures for the two Canadian districts are given above, and speak for themselves. Had District 26 been treated like other districts, instead of receiving nothing, we would have received at least $25,000.00

While this tragedy of a starving drive of 70,000 strikers—struggling miners—against wage cuts was proceeding with only $41,800.00 among them all there were one hundred and sixty officials and organizers of the United Mine Workers of America pulled out of the union funds for six months, $369,332.45!

One hundred and sixty big organizers living in the best hotels far away from the front line occupied by the 70,000 strikers with their 280,000 dependents, get nearly nine times more to live on. See how it looks in cold print:

160 fat organizers receive $369,332.45; 350,000 striking men, women and children get $41,800.00

Big, impudent, lying John L. Lewis said he could not do beter for the strikers, but he could allow Searles, the editor of the Miners' Journal to spend $698.53 for carpets, while members of the Miners' Union. He carpeted and upholstered offices with Green and Murray, occupied in the Merchants' Bank building, luxurious, a daily service of fancy spring water and a fancy towel service, etc., at the monthly rental of $1,310.30, while the striking rank and file who foot his bills live in shacks and tents on the hillsides and struggle on and on, against the attacks of the coal operators on a few cents each per week.

Canadian autonomy? The miners need it, surely.

Even the kewpies weep when they sniff the onion odor from the hot dog and Hamburg steak stands.

MAP OF SOUTHERN BRITISH COLUMBIA

A very interesting map of Southern British Columbia covering from latitude 51 to the international boundary and including the Dominion Railway Belt has just been issued by the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the department of the interior at Ottawa. In the Railway Belt area the disposition of land is shown; also the Timber Berths and Grazing Leases granted, while Forest Reserves, National Parks and Indian Reserves are indicated clearly.

A further striking features of the map is the showing, by means of red colouring, of data regarding the natural resources of each locality, thus affording a bird's-eye view of the principal industries of each districts.

A copy may be obtained free of charge on application to the Director, Natural Resources Intelligence Service, Department of the Interior Ottawa.

HOME BANK MAN PUT ON GRILL

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—Without preliminary discussion of any kind, Gordon N. Shaver went straight into a vigorous cross-examination of Thomas Gibbs, former assistant accountant in the Home Bank at the trial of O. G. Smith, chief accountant of the Home Bank, on charges of making false returns to the finance department of the Dominion Government.

Mr. Shaver wanted to know if it was a fact, assuming the branch bank reports were correct and leaving out the matter of property of head office books, that the return to the government was correct. Witness said he would be obliged to qualify answer with remarks about the securities which he mentioned in his evidence on Wednesday.

"Well, with the exception you stated, was the statement not an exact copy of the books?" asked Mr. Shaver.

"I questioned the propriety of some figures, and I still do so," replied Witness.

"Did not the government return become an actual summary of office books and branch returns?"

"Yes."

In his evidence on Wednesday Mr. Gibbs stated that twice he had refused to make out statements for the bank as suggested and that he had told Mr. Smith that some of the securities held by the bank were "rotten." On his refusal, Mr. Smith or somebody else, had made out the statements which were the basis for the monthly reports to the government.

Two of the securities which the witness said were rotten were the Port McNeil Company and the Howe Sound Pulp & Paper Company bonds, of which the value marked in Home Bank books as assets was $1,975.000.

Witness was asked point blank if he regarded his entries all as correct. He replied that he did not think the item of $30,000 as a gift to M. J. Haney should have been marked as an asset as it was money going out. Mr. McCarthy also wanted to know how the $550,000 reserve fund item in the report to the government was arrived at and asked why it was not $650,000. "It might just as well have been, I suppose," said the witness. He had put it down as $550,000 because he had been instructed to do so.

HOMEMADE CANDY

(With apologies to James Whitcomb Riley)

And sometimes in the evening, when all the chores are done,
And still it's kind of early and we want to have some fun,

Vanilla, cocoa, walnuts, and pots and pans and plates,
Of course, we boys were useless when it came to make sweets,
But always stood around and watched and waited for the "eats."

The candy that is made today by modern factory ways,
Don't hit the spot like homemade sweets of bygone days,
And it may be only fancy yet they say the taste's the best,
But the taffy that they let US pull was better than the rest.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

WILD OATS FOR TAME

WE have been expecting, from day to day, announcement of the endowment of a Chair of Reform in some one of our universities. The time is ripe. The practice of militant morality has become an affair of the practical pocket-book rather than a matter of the ethical convictions. It needs only the confirming seal of a parchment scroll and a college degree to raise the business of minding other people's manners to the dignity of a professional career.

Something along this line ought to be done without delay, if for no better reason than a decent consideration of the public feelings. A man is naturally inclined to touchiness in respect to alien intrusion into such formerly private sanctuaries as his library, his humidor, and his cellar. It comes hard to be informed by the bumptious Mr. J. C. Smith, who never went beyond the eighth grade, that he is going to cause you to remove from your well-stocked shelves such and such dusty tomes, and to burn your pipes in the furnace, and to break your kegs in the gutter. But were the ultimatum to emanate from the urbane and personable J. Calthorpe Smythe, D. P. M.—Doctor of Public Morals—you would naturally feel quite differently about it. Naturally!

The occupation of the reformer, as a practical and hard-headed man of business, would appear to be both complicated and delicate Success here, as in all business, must depend at the last upon a nice balancing of supply and demand. If all imperfection is reformed out of existencce at a stroke there will be nothing left for the impetuous and short-sighted reformer to trade on. We must be reformed vigorously, but not too vigorously. New failings mus be let to grow, for future harvests, while the old are being mowed away. Even so the prudent woodsman who sees the healthy second growth well started ere he fells the virgin timber.

To achieve this delicate equilibrium between supply and demand will be no task for amateurs. There must be no killing of the goose of the golden eggs. The day of the earnest, but impractical, uplifter is no more. Reform must be handled by experts.

Everything points to the urgent necessity for higher education in the field of Reform. More thought must be given to the expansion of the field, the creation of new markets. For this work there is need of trained men. At present the scope of the reformer is too limited. When he has had his fling at alcohol, tobacco and literature he has pretty well exhausted the existing possibilities. There is imminent danger that with a market so restricted the profession will shortly become overcrowded. If the growing generation of potential reformers are not carefully schooled to inquire out new vices for suppression—much as physicians are taught to hunt up new germs for destruction—they are liable to find themselves jobless.

The situation, however, need give no alarm. A little forethought, energy, imagination, is all that is required in the development of a rich and practically limitless field. The average man has no idea how wicked he can be made to appear by a really capable expert. Almost anything can be immoral if you want to look at it that way. All that Reform needs to preserve it for the reformers is a body of college-trained professional skilled in the mysteries of converting tame oats into wild ones.

WHEN town people convince the residents of the district that they are interesting in their welfare, their confidence is won. It is not how many dollars' worth of business you do each day that counts most, but how many friends you have made, friends that have confidence in you as a merchant and feel that you will deal fairly with them.

IF you have found a "soft snap," don't count yourself lucky. You'll soon be as soft as the snap.

If you are looking for a soft snap, turn right about face and go the other way. "Hard lines" would be the making of you.

Feeling that you have a soft snap makes you take things easy, prevents your extending yourself and drawing on your powers, causes you to postpone effort, assures your failure.

It is better to be a good finisher than a strong starter.

PERU passed a law compelling every male to work at road building one to two weeks a year, depending on age, or to pay enough extra tax to hire somebody else to do the work. The law is working splendidly, the Peruvian government reports. A network of good roads is being developed. Many a man in our civilization who "stood for" the military draft during the war, would violently oppose being drafted for work in peace-time on behalf of the community. Why?

CONFLICT OVER COAL SUPPLY

Winnipeg, Sept. 16.—Concerning the scarcity of Alberta coal in Manitoba and the rush for orders to the American fuel agencies, the Tribune says editorally:

"Is Winnipeg facing a coal shortage this fall? Reports coming in respecting the available supply are conflicting. But some of the coal operators claim that owing to the lack of orders during the summer months they have sufficient stocks of coal on hand left over from last season to take care of immediate orders.

"During the summer little officials effort was made to bring the parties to an agreement. In August the labor department brought the miners and operators together in conference at Calgary but the deadlock remained unbroken. It is now reported that the operators are planning to reopen the mines under police protection. If this is done a dangerous situation will arise.

"Before the situation is forced in such a manner further outside efforts should be made to effect a settlement."

Neil McCallum, for the past nine years city engineer and a faithful and hard-working employee of the City for twelve years,, has resigned his position after a disagreement with the Mayor over the work on the river. Whatever the right or wrong of the argument may be Fernie loses a hard-working conscientious employee and our citizens will learn with regret of his resignation.

Rock-dust protection against coal mine fires is found by Dr. R. R. Sayres, of the U.S. Bureau of Mines, to offer no risk to miners. Cases of miners' consumption have been due to constant breathing of siliceous or other irritating dust raised in drilling, and the anti-fire dust not only settles quickly, but is of clay, silica-free limestone, or other non-irritating matrial.

Thos. Prentice, for many years manager and trusted employee of the Crow's Nest Trading Co. and the A. MacDonald Co., of Fernie, has resignd his positioen. Tom, who has been in poor health for some time will take a two months holiday at the Coast. It is not his intention to leave Fernie permanently and on his return he expects to embark on a business venture for himself. Mr. Prentice is one of our most respected citizens and in whatever line of endeavor which he may follow in the future he will have the best wishes of his many Fernie friends.

Miss Hilda Minton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Minton, of Fernie, who is at present in training at the Kootenay General Hospital, has been highly honored by the Nelson citizens. She was entered as a candidate for the Gyro Queen Contest in that city and a telegram received here states that she has been elected by an enormous majority, the final count giving her 18,675 votes more than her closest opponent. The victory carries with it a bautiful diamond ring valued at $200.00. The congratulations of Fernie citizens go to Miss Minton in her splendid victory.

Premier John Oliver passed thru Fernie on Saturday evening. Tom Uphill, M.P.P., came up from Cranbrook on the train with him and was very busy making Honest John acquainted with all his friends at the station.

Relief is being handed out today again at U.M.W. of A. headquarters here. It is to be hoped that these doles will be a little more regular in future as some of the families are very hard up. When some of our women folks are compelled to take work picking potatoes at fifteen cents a sack for the Chinaman gardener, it would almost seem that it was time for the men to get to work.

About a hundred members of the Spokane Merchants Association paid Fernie an early morning visit on Tuesday. Their special train was due to arrive at 5 a.m., but was a couple of hours late. The visitors rambled around looking for Fernie citizens, but the hour was evidently too early for prominent citizens to be abroad and they left by the G.N. after a short stay.

Harvey Smith, of Natal, who a couple of years ago started on the honey business, has put that town on the map as producing the finest product on the market. At the Vancouver Exhibition his honey won the gold medal and a cash prize of $$500. Mr. Smith has already shipped 1000 lbs this season and expects to market another thousand before winter sets in. Natal is evidently an ideal spot for the busy bee. At Hosmer, Frank DuBois, has also started in the honey business and expects to develop a big industry.

MARRIAGE IN RUSSIA

In the Union of Soviet Republics it is easier to be divorced than to be married. Mr. C. J. Ketchum, of The London Daily Express, who has recently rturned from Russia, gives a pen picture of the marriage situation there, in the course of which he says that the cost of a divorce in Moscow is about the same as securing a dog licence in London, ,and the former is less difficult to obtain than the latter Marriage in Russia has been "democratized"—that blessed word which like Mesoptamia, ,comes so trippingly from the tongue and means either anything or nothing. Religious ceremonies are not recognized by the Soviet. All that it is necessary to do is to go to the nearest Soviet registration of civil acts department and declare your intention of being married, and it is so. Here is the description given by Mr. Ketchum:

Entering a branch office in Moscow you announce to a girl of seventeen your desire to be married. Without troubling to put down her cigarette for a moment, she draws from a nearby pigeon hole a little brown form bearing, in addition to the usual questions of name and age, others more extraordinary, such as "How many times have you been married before?" "What will be the address of your wife in future—will you live together or apart?" "What name—the wife's or the husband's—will you assume in future?" This form is filled up in three minutes, a declaration added by two attending friends that all facts are correct, a fee of one rouble (presumably gold) paid over the counter, and you may walk away satisfied that henceforth you are residing in a lawful state of wedlock.

One advantage of this ceremony is that under the Soviet law if you become unemployed (and thre are 2,000,000 unemployed in Russia) your wife must support you if she can. If, after a week's trial of marriage, you find it is incompatible with what you hoped it would prove,, you simply return to the same girl with the cigarette and declare your mutual desire for a divorce. This time she produces a green form, fills in the same particulars as before, and adds,, for statistical purposes, "incompatibility of temperament." Then you pay three roubles, and hey presto! you are divorced. Even with divorce so easy it is sometimes evaded, probably through an oversight. There is an instance of a Red Soldier in White Russia who married nine different women in a month, but neglecting the detail of divorce he was sued by one of them for non-support and sent to prison for two months. No question appears to have been raised of his being bigamously inclined. Such a thing as illegitimacy does not exist in Russia. There are institutions for children whose unwedded fathers and mothers will not care for them.

Of course it may be assumed that the Soviet authorities have relaxed the marriage laws and made divorce preposterously easy in defiance of religious teaching. Whatever they can do to upset the traditions, usages, customs and teachings of the past is done with malice aforethought. They are a law unto themselves and experience counts for nothing with them. Their first idea was to promote a doctrine of free love in the country, but the people seemed to have rebelled against this, so marriage was made easy, so easy that Russia may almost be described under its present regim as a polygamous state, in which a man may have a dozen wives during the year, provided he does not live with more than one at a time. This is the country that wishes to b admitted into the comity of nations and which is carrying its propaganda to the ends of the earth so that all may do what the Soviet decrees. The more is known of Communism the certainties thicken around its ultimate failure. So far it has accomplished just this: it has brought a physical and moral blight on its people and has shown conclusively that those who wilfully ignore the teachings of the past lay themselves wide open to the retribu-

ALL THE NICE GIRLS

The Canadian Pacific liner "Montreal" recently brought 200 happy Canadian University Students home from a stay of several weeks in England and on the continent. A happy group of girls are here seen with Captain John Hall, commander of the ship. The steamer called at Cherbourg to pick up 250 returning Canadian teachers who had spent part of the summer abroad.

There can be no particular objection to the family skeleton, says Paddy Hughes, unless it is permitted to wear a bathing suit.

Anglers may now retire to the rear for a time while the duck hunters report the number of birds they have "bagged."

Canadian bonds are considered as "good as gold" on the New York money market and are in keen demand by shrewd investors.

The correct pronunciation of the name of Loeb, the young Chicago murderer, is said to be "Lob." For the rest of his life he may be known by his number.

It will be a relief to the Prince of Wales when he reaches the privacy of his prairie ranch to hear the crack of the cowboy's whip instead of the click of the camera.

Difficulty is experienced in establishing "fighting zones" in the vicinity of Peking. The combatants pay no attention to "No trespassing allowed" signs.

Here and There

More than one hundred and fifty traders from the Far North arrived in Edmonton, Alta., recently bringing with them fur sales to the value of approximately $500,000.

Tarzan Second, the largest wooden scow in the world, was launched recently at the Wallace shipyards, Vancouver, B.C. She is 1,000 tons burden and has 300,000 feet of British Columbia lumber in her make-up. The scow is to be used as a carrier for a great pile-driver for Sydney E. Junkins Company.

Two dinosaurs have been located in the Red Deer Valley, Alta., near the Canadian Pacific Railway line this summer, by the University of Toronto expedition, composed of four scientists who prospected for several weeks in the gorge and are packing up the prehistoric monsters for shipment to the Royal Ontario Museum. Another skeleton has been located by the Geological Survey of Canada.

One of the outstanding features of Canadian trade with the Orient during the past year or so has been the remarkable increase in wheat flour exports. Imports of Canadian wheat flour into Hong Kong in 1923 were the largest on record, showing an increase of 100 per cent in volume over those of 1922. The figures and values were: 1922, 79,585 barrels, valued at £126,060; 1923, 191,821 barrels, valued at £249,044.

Zane Grey, the famous novelist, recently caught a 758 pound tuna fish, constituting what is believed to be a world's record. The sea monster was successfully conquered after three hours and ten minutes of grilling endeavor off the Nova Scotia coast, and towed into Liverpool harbor. Mr. Grey's prize is a species of the blue fin family. The record before this catch was held by J. K. L. Ross, the well-known Montreal sportsman and financier, who caught a 710 pound tuna.

One of the most remarkable achievements in art printing yet produced in Canada and one which finally disposes of the idea that such work cannot be satisfactorily handled by Canadian firms is found in the new booklet issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway dealing with the forthcoming 1925 Round the World cruise of the company's steamship "Empress of France." The booklet contains 40 pages of text and color illustrations, the latter exquisitely combining many brilliant hues in a number of highly imaginative designs.

Canadian Pacific gross earnings for July totalled $14,883,677 as against $15,677,835 for the same month last year, a decrease of $794,159. But in order to meet this reduction, operating expenses were reduced by $1,963,686, those for the month being $12.544,115, as compared with $13,607,802 for July, 1923. Thus the net earnings for the month showed an increase of $269.527 over those of the same month a year ago. For the 7 months of the year to July 30 gross earnings showed an increase of $3,017, 265; operating expenses an increase of $1,924,013 and net earnings an increase of $1,093,251.

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

REAL MEN ON THE BENCH

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—A plea for "Real men on the bench, not weaklings," made by Rev. Father William J. McNamee, rector of St. Patrick's church, and a lifelong friend of Judge John Caverly, signalized a spirited ministerial attack by Chicago ministers, resulting from the sentences dealt to Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, for the murder of Bobby Franks. The Chicago divine did not mince words in discussing the effect of Judge Caverly's sentence on the two youthful slayers. Father McNamee declared personalities should not count in discussing a question of this nature.

"We hold that capital punishment is necessary," said Father McNamee, "and then we say that if it ever was to be used here is the case. After long deliberations, we discover all the ingredients that make it the premediated murder of an innocent boy. There were no mitigating circmstances. Yet these boys were given life sentences.

"We must condemn the false philosophy which Judge Caverly's decision advocates. We must have real men on the bench, not weaklings. It is a sorry setback for our reputed democracy. All the world is looking on and it is a dasardly example we set.

"Society needs not so much to fear the ultimate influence of murder, as it does to fear the clever brains of a group of lawyers whose reputation is established upon making it easy for the criminal," declared Rev. Dr. J. F. Williamson, former law enforcement commissioner.

"This is an age of blood," said Rev. R. M. Davis. "Our organized philanthropies and benevolences, our system of social ameliorations do not atone for the wanton exploitation of the bodies, minds and souls of our social life; our hands are covered with blood."

"The feeling has been almost unanimous," said Rev. Martin Luther Thomas, "that unless these two archfiends were handed, justice as heretofore dispensed was a thing of the past, and when the final break-up of organized society comes in this country, Clarence Darrow and his aides can turn back to the decision and feel they have made a contribution second to none toward the ultimate dissolution of American society."

"I still uphold capital punishment for murder in the first degree," was the confession made by Dr. Josiah Sibley. "I have such an abhorrence of murder that no penalty, even the taking of life itself, seems tobe too high a pricce to be paid. I believe, too, that the fear of possible execution is a deterrent among certain criminal classes."

BRITISH SCIENTISTS AT JASPER PARK

THE special Canadian National trains, carrying the members of the British Association for the Advancement of Science were halted at Jasper, Alta., long enough for the visiting scientists to see some of the beauties of Canada's largest national park. The visitors were entertained at Jasper Park Lodge and were also taken for drives to Maligne Canyon and Mt. Edith Cavell. Photograph shows three members of the party standing before the totem pole at Jasper Station. Left to right, they are: Senator Faure (of France); Sir Charles Parsons, inventor of the turbine engine, and Sir Robert Falconer, Chancellor of Toronto University.

Enterprising promoters seek to make Mt. Ararat a popular tourist resort. The plan is to erect a funicular railway up the slopes of Ararat, the mighty snow-clad summit of which at an altitude of 17,055 feet marks the dividing line between Armenia, Turkey and Persia. It is believed that an Oriental Pike's Peak, from which an excellent view of the entire Caucasus region can be had could be made a profitable investment by charging a small fee for the ascent. Ararat is entirely barren, producing neither water, minerals, timber nor any form of life. It is useless except as a scenic spectacle. Nevertheless it is held in sacred veneration by the peasants, who daily pray to it.

The warden of an Ontario jail claims that he can feed prisoners at a cost of three cents a meal Cost of living is a matter of courses.

MODERN SLAVES

Lounging in fashionable New York hotels, the "Emir of Kurdestan," now proved to be a fake and ordered to be deported, tells of the glories of his ancestors. He says his forefathers never had to turn a hand, and spent all their time cultivating their minds. Life was life in those days. The science of living is degenerating, he says.

Besides being a colossal liar, the "Emir" is wrong. Everybody who talks about "golden ages" of the past is wrong.

The average Greek freeman in the bright days of Pericles had five slaves to do his work. The civilization of Greece was founded on slave sweat. All the wonderful open-air theatres in which the great Greek plays were produced were the products of slave labor. The whole of Greek culture was founded on human beings in the object chains of slavery.

In 1924, power is so widely distributed in home and factory that each one of us has the equivalent of thirty slaves working tirelessly—electric motors,, steam engines, automatic devices that wash, weave, pump, fetch and carry.

The best flour mill of ancient Athens turned out about five barrels a day. A modern Canadian mill will produce the same amount of much better flour in a minute.

Modern automobile factories use gigantic forging presses—great steel fists that shape whole fenders at a stroke and which cost $100,000 each. On every hand, inventors are going ahead enriching us with mechanisms of ingenuity and power. These are our modern slaves. They are better than the old kind.

Modern society is founded on brain sweat, not brow sweat—on the activity of the mind, not on the degradation of human beings.

A restaurant owner in a western city who gave a straw hat with each meal ticket sold is charged with dealing in goods out of season.

Phonograph records of "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground" may now be shelved for another season.

A candidate for Congress in Indiana admits that he never played poker in life but challenges any man in the state to pitch horseshoes.

Canada has signed a trade agreement with Holland involving the most favored nation treatment. Dutch thrift and industry would be two valuable imports.

A PAINFUL REFLECTION

There is something wrong, and it is the duty of our citizenship to find out what it is, what it is considered that over 50,000 returned men had to go to the United States in search of work. Militia headquarters at Ottawa sends 11,000 monthly pay cheques to American addresses. Professor Macdonald, of Acadia University, says it is an easier matter to get up a parade of Canadian veterans in Detriot or Boston, and larger numbers will attend, than in either Toronto or Montreal. All these men fought for Canada, but they have been unable to find their postwar careers in life in this Dominion. What are the underlying causes? Is there apathy towards the fate of the returned man? Does the country want these men in war times, but disown them, as it were, in periods of peace? These thousands of returned men would undoubtedly prefer to be living in Canada right at this moment but stern economic necessity has forced them to migrate across the line. It is anything but a pleasing commentary on the conditions which have brought about this situation, and it is a severe reflection on lack of vision in governmental quarters. The loss of our best type of citizenship is a far more serious problem than scores of others that are engaging the attention of authorities. The government at Ottawa keeps harping on the necessity of an immigration policy, but it does nothing, and takes no interest whatever in the fact that our own citizenship is being subjected to a process of attrition which is clearly the result of its own neglect or deficiency in the art of governance.—The Colonist.

ALBERTA STRIKE PROVES TIRING FOR MINERS

(Financial Post)

Calgary.—Although William Sherman, president District 18 of the United Mine Workers of America, states that the men are standing pat against any cut in the old-wage and that the strike will be continued, there are developments which signify that many of the workers are becoming discontented with the siuation. There are somewhat frantic efforts being made by union officers to sustain the morale of the strikers.

The rank and file of the miners throughout Alberta and Northeast British Columbia are becoming heartily tired of the manner in which the strike situation has been handled by the district officers and this was no doubt the reason for the recent convention of delegates from all mining camps in District 18. When Hon. James Murdock, federal minister of labor, was here recently, he told William Sherman that when a settlement of the strike was made it would be negotiated without his aid. This remark is regarded as important in the light of recent developments.

The position facing the mine workers is the most serious that has ever arisen since the U.M.W. of A. entered the Alberta field. In previous strikes headquarters at Indianapolis have been able to afford considerable financial assistance. On the present occasion owing to the stress of circumstances that apply in the central competitive fields of the United States the support has been practically nil. The situation on the other side of the international boundary, as a matter of fact, is infinitely worse than it is in Alberta. It is, therefore, little to be wondered at if the rank and file of the miners has had enough of the struggle which has been going on since April 1 and are clamoring for some settlement.

The attitude of the mine owners is that it is impossible to market coal at the high peak of war-time wage costs and they are firm in their attitude that there must be a 15 per cent. reduction if operations are to be resumed. The miners themselves are anxious to take up their tools as they are now feeling keenly the pinch of five months of idleness. Coal dealers are getting anxious as winter nears. Providing a resumption of work takes place within the next 30 days orders from Manitoba and Saskatchewan will make it difficult for Alberta dealers to obtain coal in quantity. A severe cold snap early in the winter would result in actual suffering for it is certain that coal stocks will not be adequate to take care of all the needs of the public, particularly in the farming districts.

Business men here and in the Crow's Nest Pass as far west as Fernie, B.C., are anxious for a settlement as every day of idleness in the mines means a loss in money in this city of $20,000 approximately. The monthly mine pay-roll here runs around half a million dollars, while all the towns and cities of the Crows Nest Pass and Eastern British Columbia have pay-rolls in ratio. Altogether, the five-months' strike in District 18 U. M. W. of A. will mean a loss to this province of millions of dollars in new money, and signs are visible that all factions concerned in the coal war are beginning to realize that strikes at best are mighty expensive all round.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Mrs. Pilkington, of Calgary, arrived in Camp on Monday, on a visit to her sister, Mrs. A. Arrowsmith, Railway Terrace.

The United Church up here are holding their annual Harvest Festival on Sunday, Sept. 21st. Rev. Burns of Fernie will occupy the pulpit. The committee will be pleased to accept donations of fruit, vegetabls or flowers.

All local members of the G.W.V.A. and their wives, and all members of the Women's Auxilary G. W. V. A. are cordially invited to a Social evening to be held in the Vets rooms, on Tuesday evening, Sept. 23rd. Cards at 7.30 a.m. Come and have a good time.

Harry Dunlap was removd to Fernie Hospital during last week-end, suffering from fractured leg, sustained whilst following his employment in East mine. We learn that whilst drawing some timber, something started the horse, who ped on him. The sympathy of the knocked Mr. Dunlap down and step-whole camp is extended to him and his wife. It is only about three weeks since Mr. Dunlap started work again after an accident.

BIG ISSUE OF ALERTA STRIKE IS CHEAPER COAL

Winnipeg.—The Winnipeg Board of Trade has taken a very definite stand on the Alberta coal mining situation, as shown by the text of a resolution recently passed by that body, which reads as follows:

"Whereas the agreement between coal operators and miners in district 18 expired on April 1 of this year, and notwithstanding decreases in living costs, and also notwithstanding that the rate of wages in district 18 is purported to be higher than in any other coal mining area, nevertheless the miners are making demands equivalent to still higher wages and are insisting upon a three-year agreement, and a strike financed by labor interests outside Canada in the district has been called to enforce such demands;

"And whereas the people of the Canadian West are vitally interested in the cost of coal production, due to their own large requirements and also to the fact that next to wages themselves the cost of coal is the largest factor in railway transportation costs;

"Therefore be it resolved that the Winnipeg Board of Trade, having in mind the common interests of Western Canada, hereby expresses itself as opposed to the sanctioning of any wage or other agreement which may delay the general lowering of coal prices, and hereby respectfully urges the mine operators in district 18 to protect the public at large in the making of any new wage agreement.

"And be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to such operators and to the Boards of Trade in the three prairie provinces with a suggestion that they consider the passing of a similar resolution and that they be prepared to aid in the creation of a public opinion which will resist any wage agreement between operators and operatives prejudicial to the people at large."

WM. REYNOLDS CALLED

William Reynolds, a well known member of the Old Timers Association and a respected citizen of Fernie for the past twenty-five years, crossed the Great Divide on Saturday last at the age of sixty-three years. Deceased had been ailing for the past year and suffered considerable from heart trouble. A few weeks ago he went to the Vancouver Hospital for treatment and for a while seemed to improve in health but a reaction set in and he passed away suddenly on Saturday, before his wife who was called away from Fernie by wire, could arrive. He leaves a wife and family of two grown shildren to mourn his death. Deceased, who was born at Renfrew, Ont., was the eldest of a family of seven boys all of whom survive him. He was a man of sterling character and loved and respected by everyone who knew him. Fernie citizens and the Oldtimers particularly unite in extending their heartfelt sympathy to the relaives of the depared.

The remains were brought to Fernie and the funeral was held today at St. Margaret Cemetery, the large crowd attending testifying to the respect in what deceased was held.

The service was conducted by the Oddfellow Lodge, of which organization he was a member for many years. Rev. Oswald, at the Church, paid a wonderful tribute to the departed for the beautiful Christian life he had lived among his fellowmen.

ALL-CANADIAN CNCERT

On Monday, Oct. 6, an All-Canadian Concert will be given in the United Church, commencing at 8p.m.

The principal artiste will be Mrs. W. D. Todd, of Vicoria, B.C., and an exceptionally well-balanced program of musical, vocal and elocutionary numbers will be presented.

All-Canadian programs are the exception rather than the rule, and this effort should be supported by all who desire to further the advancement of Canadian music. Moreover a real treat is promised to all who attend.

The concert is being held under the auspices of the city public schools, the proceeds to be devoted to the Sports Fund.

CANADIAN BOYS ALLEGED ESSAY ON SCOTLAND

Scotland is a braw wee land on the north side of England. It has water nearly all round it. The population is about four and a half millions, including Harry Lauder. It has a peculiar language of its own, and if one can pronounce it coherently it is an infallible test of sobriety. Gold has at times been discovered in certain districts as well as in the pockets of certain natives but in each case it has been found difficult to work. The best known exports of Scotland are Oatmeal and Scotch Whisky, though sufficient of the latter is retained in the country to satisfy the demands of home consumption.

The chief import of recent years is Winston Churchill. The national dress of Scotland is the kilt which is a kind of short petticoat. In patterns it resembles a chess board, though in cold weather the wearer finds it more like a draught board. It is believed to be originally invented because of the aborigines who were unable to find trousers big enough to get their feet through. The Bagpipes provide the chief music of the country. It is a wind instrument and when blown is said to produce a tune. On many occasions in the history of the late war, Scotch Regiments have marched to certain death listening to the strains of the Bagpipes, though it is not known whether their willingness to meet the former was inspired by the desire to escape the latter. Scotland has produced many well known men, among them Robert Burns, believed to have been a poet. It is usually denied that he was born in Battersea. His most famous poems are Scots we have, and Stop your Tickling Jock. The chief characteristic of the natives is reckless expenditure.

INTERPROVINCIAL MATCH AT BLAIRMORE

A team of B.C. Golfers, seven from Fernie and two from Cranbrook, visited Blairmore on Sunday to take part in the Interprovincial Match and incidentally to take in the annual meeting.

The players were Messrs Watson, Hayne, Herchmer, Mitchell, Stewart, Suddaby and Sanborne, of Fernie, and Graham and Staples, of Cranbrook.

The annual meeting was called after the game when the election of officers for 1925 took place as follows:—President, Mr. Plunkett, of Pincher Creek; Vice-president, Mr. McLeod, Lethbridge; Secretary, Mr. Kelly, of Blairmore.

The next tournament will be held at Pincher Creek on the first Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in Sept. 1925.

SHOOTING ACCIDENT

Stewart Brown, of West Fernie, accidentally shot himself this morning through stumbling while carrying a loaded shotgun which discharged blowing off the thumb and first finger of his left hand while a number of pellets lodged in his face and chest. He was taken to the hospital where it was found that while he had received serious injuries he would recover.

HEALTH OF SCHOOL PUPILS

The school auhorities, ask it to be known that parents of the pupils are invited to come any Friday afternoon from 1 to 3 p.m. to get acquainted with the school nurse and if necessary to talk over with her the health of their children attending any of the Fernie schools.

We urge all parents to take advanage of any opportunity to learn of means to promote the heatlh of their children.

Shakespeare says that his good name is what man prizes most "he who filches from me my good name, etc.—Leaves me poor, indeed." Next to one's honour one prizes most highly one's mentality. What greater aspersion can be said of a man than to say he is mentally weak or of low intelligence. Modern pyschologists tell us that most of us have average intelligence while a few are idiots and a few are geniuses. Also, that whatever intellect we may be born with, that intellect can be developed to a certain extent by education. Of course, a person born with the brain of an idiot can never be developed into a person of average intelligence. Now these pyschologist say that poor health is the greatest factor in retarding the development of any intelligence, and that children, who are always ill, children, who have signs of malnutrition, children, who have several physical defects, such as of eyes, teeth, nose and throat, become retarded mentally. These children are backward in school and often resemble the feeble-minded, although they are not the feeble-minded. Thousands of years ago the Romans said the same thing 'Men's sana in corpore sano.' (A healthy mind in a healthy body.) So if any mother wishes her child to be as intelligent as possible, she should do all that is possible to make that child as healthy as possible. The mother should not wring her hands and say that the child inherites poor health but should rustle around and find out the best things to do to make her child healthy, and to stay healthy so that the child's mind and intelligence can be developed to its utmost and so that no one can say the child is feeble-minded.

Therefore, we urge all parents to take what advantages the school offers in promoting the health of the Fernie children.

JOINT CONFERENCE

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 25.—At the request of F. E. Harrison of the Federal Department of Labor, the joint conference beween the coal operators and the miners' officials, which was to have opened at 10 a.m. Thursday has been postponed until 2.30 p.m.

It was stated that some of the members of the miners' scale committee had not arrived but were expected about noon.

While some of the miners' delegates express the view that no settlement will be reached unless it be on the basis of no reduction in wages, it is learned from a reliable source that they will change their views somewhat during the joint conference. Several of the members of the miners' scale committee recognized the futility of entering the conference in such a manner. They are prepared to "talk business;" in other words, they are quite ready to compromise. In view of this the outlook is somewhat encouraging that a settlement will be reached.

MacDONALD DEFEATED

Vernon, B.C., Sept. 25.—Arthur O. Cochrane, of Vernon, defeated Hon. K. C. MacDonald, newly-appointed provincial treasurer, in the by-election in North Okanagan to-day.

As nearly as could be figured from telephone returns, Cochrane's majority is 210 with two small polls to hear from.

VETERANS AT HOE

The members of the G. W. V. A. were "At Home" to their ives and members of the omen's Auxilary on Wednsday vning. A larg crowd of the ladies accepted the invitation. A few hands of whist opened the evening's proceedings. Prizes being won by Mrs. H. Wheeler and Mr. J. W. Ferguson respectively, the consolation prizes were carried off by Mr. Mitchell and Mr. D. F. Markland. A special supper was served. The culinary abilities of the committee received great praise. Evidently the experience gained by batching and camping out were not wasted. Wm. Howarth & Co. furnished the music for the patrons of the Terpschicorean Art. The chimes of midnight closed a real honest-to-goodness good time.

Ernest Torrence Featured in "The Side Show of Life"

One of many highlights in "The Side Show of Life", Herbert Brenon's producion of William J. Locke's gripping story, "The Mountebank," coming to the Orpheum theatre on Wednesday, is Ernest Torrence's superb characterization of the chief character. The performance he gives in this picture lives. Only Torrence could make such a man stand out as a worthy successor of Bill Jackson—the role he played in "The Covered Wagon."

This picture has all the dash and color of circus life. Brenon has given the entire production a de luxe mounting and that means the last word in settings, backgrounds and costumes.

Anna Q. Nilsson is featured with Mr. Torrence. She is the titled Lady Auriol Dayne with whom the clown falls hopelessly in love; as usual Miss Nilsson gives a capital performance. Neil Hamilton who has the prominent juvenile role in D. W. Griffith's "America," heads the supporting cast which includes among others, Louise Lagrange, Maurice Cannon and Effie Shannon.

"The Side Show of Life" is more than a motion picture. It is a slice of life itself!

CONSIDER THE CAUSES

(Canadian Finance)

Two Chicago youths, following a trial that aroused the entire newspaper-reading world, are sentenced to spend the remainder of their natural lives in cells. In some quarters the judge who imposed the sentence is being criticized because he did not send them to the gallows.

It should be taken into consideration that the presiding judge took the harder course—followed his conscience—when to have imposed a death sentence would have been tantamount to sending the case to a court of appeal, leaving the final adjustment incumbent upon some other members of the judiciary. But Judge Caverly, taking youth into consideration, imposed the lesser sentence and it must be said for him that he had sufficient courage to follow the dictates of his judgment rather than pander to public opinion.

Of the two youths it is to be hoped that any atempt to awaken maudlin, misguided sentiment in their favor in a few years with a view to their liberation will be frowned upon promptly and effectively.

Rather would it be better to consider the social conditions which led up to the crime to the end that curative and preventive forces be brought to bear.

In "The Plastic Age," a novel published earlier in the year by Percy Marks, instructor in English, at Brown Universiy, a remarkable expose was made of the students in the American colleges, their immoralities their snobbish Greek letter societies and their general attitude of superconceited distaste for the old-fashioned morality of their fathers. Although the professor was promptly attacked, he was able to prove the truth of his assertions. From long association with students in dormitory and fraternity houses he drew an accurate picture of the manner in which moral sanctions and obligations are disregarded—despised, even.

That book taught a lesson that should be heeded by all educationists. The alpha and omega of that treatise is that intellectual eminence may exist in connection with a very rudimentary moral sense; and an education that is directed to mental and material acquirements does not necessarily produce the best class of students to undertake the work of the world—for without a high moral sense society is apt to go smash.

Realization and acceptance of responsibility by parents and intsructors during the formative age of youth is essential for the enhancement of the future of the race.

SAYS MAN MAY LIVE FOR HUNDREDS OF YEARS

Philadelphia, Sept. 22.—Men in the prime of life now will have a chance to live 1,000 years, according to Prof. Fritz Haber, eminent German scientist, who has been in this city attending the centenary celebration of the Franklin Institute.

Prof. Haber, who is director of the Prussian Academy of Phyical and Chemical Science, in an interview, expressed his positive opinion that the next great scientific achievement would produce such a result.

He declared that science would bring forth discoveries that would produce a race of supermen, who may expect to live as long as 1,000 years, through elimination of the causes of natural death.

Pointing his finger at the interviewer, who is under 20, he exclaimed, "You will see it."

Hardly less impressive, from the strictly scientific view was another opinion of Doctor Haber's that science will never be able to create life itself.

He is confident, however, that the achievement of prolonging life from the present expectation of "three score years and ten," to ten centuries will be accomplished by scientists now laboring over their research. Insulin, the epochal discovery which is at last helping the medical profession to fight diabetes, has been the first step, Haber said, and is the concrete example that the principle and formlae on which the scientists are working to prolong life, is fundamentally sound.

This prolongation of life, according to the professor, will come through a method of purifying all the various types of enzyms in the body. Insulin is the purification of one type of enzyme, the organic or chemical duty of which is to split the monosaccharides in the human system. An enzyme is an organized or chemical compound of vegetable or animal origin that causes chemical transformation as hydrolysis, oxidation, coagulation, synthesis or reduction.

PREMIER GOLD MINING CO. PAY DIVIDEND

A quarterly dividend of $400,000 was declared yesterday by the Premier Gold Mining Company, according to a New York report received by Lauzier, Wolcott & Co. This is at the rate of 8 cents a share on the issue of 5,000,000 shares. Payments will be made on October 30 to stockholders of record on September 25.

The forthcoming disbursement will increase the total of dividend payments to $6,088,000, all of which will have been paid since early in 1921 and $2,750,000, of which was paid in 1922 and $1738,000 in 1923. The beneficiaries includes R. K. Neill of Spokane and Messrs Trites, Wood and Wilson of Fernie, B.C.

The property is near the international line at Stewart, B.C., and yields ore containing silver and gold. —The Spokesman-Review.

UNEMPLOYMENT

Mr. Robb, the Acting Federal Minister of Finance, attributes unemployment to people crowding into the cities while farmers actually lack laborers. The theory is worthless unless there is a remedy, and Mr. Robb and the Government to which he belongs have none. The distribution of our citizenship as between rural and urban centres ought to be a matter of concern to any Government, yet we hear little or nothing on the subject save platitudes. Premier Oliver of this province has alluded before now to the attraction of the "white lights" of populated centres, yet he has so far failed to evolve any settlement policy which will redress the balance. If there was a proper distribution of our inhabitants there should be not unemployment problem in a country of such rich resources, but the trouble seems to be that the pioneering stock no longer exists and, therefore, if there is to be a remedy for present conditions, the Government must find ways and means for making the agricultural industry more attractive.

Mr. Robb formed his last budget particularly for the farmers and the dwellers in rural districts, but it does not seem to have functioned as he expected, or else he would not now have to complain that people are flocking to the cities and creating an unemployment problem. Mr. Robb must not forget that his budget, whatever its effects on the farming community, has created unemployment in the cities and what the Government directly causes that authority should directly cure. The Toronto Mail and Empire, in commenting on the recent unemployment conference at Ottawa, says:

Hard as Mr. Robb and his fellow Ministers have made the lot of the workers in the cities, it would appear from what he says that they have made still harder the lot of the workers in the rural districts, and have driven these in large numbers and in desperation to the cities in which are the hundrers of factories that have been obliged to close down because of the King Government's destructive tariff policy. The Robb remark is no less than a damning confession of the Government's great sin against the people, who are being driven from pillar to post in search of work, who are moving from the rural districts to the centres of unemployment in the cities, and who from there are being pushed on to the United States. Worse than the threatened red rust to the Western wheat crop is the actual blight the King Government is to this country. —The Colonist.

RELICS OF THE PAST

Dr. John C. Merriman, famous paleontologist and president of the Carnegie Institute, has pronounced curious markings in the natural cement floor of the state prison grounds at Carson City, to be footprints of the giant sloth, impressed there probably millions of years ago.

But they are not half so interesting relics of the past that every man carries around in his brain.

How would you explain the impluse that made young Leopold and Loeb chisel out a boy's life and then destroy his face with acid? How would you explain the young man in England who clubbed his sweetheart to death in a cottage, burned part of her body and packed the rest in a trunk? How can you explain all cruelty, all perversion, all superstition and all the hellishness that man indulges in?

They are all inherited relics of the time when man was still half beast. When Philip of Macedonia cut off the ears and lips of his enemy and chained him to his gates, he impressed a bestial footmark in the brains of his descendants, as indelible as that of the giant sloth in Carson City.

Every man is a walking museum of such ancient relics. And civiliz ation is the process of throwing them out of the racial strain forever.—Vancouver Sun.

Following the star of empire in its westward course the Pacific coast is to be honored shortly by visits from the Premier of the Dominion and colleagues, and possibly the leader of His Majesty's loyal opposition in the House of Commons. SCHOOL TEACHERS

Innate in the minds of some of those who control educational matters in this Dominion is the belief that experiences in the United States can be followed blindly with advantage to the youth of Canada. These educationists have succumbed to the influences of contiguiy, often because their horizon is bounded by what happens within their immediate purview. The United States publicists have a habit of telling the world that what is done in that country in every sphere of human effort is done best and the reiteration of this gratuitous statement unfortunately leaves its impression on the mentality of too many in Canada. The fact of the matter is that in educational matters the United States is lagging behind, and to an extent because we borrow too much from the methods in vogue in that country this Dominion also lags, through misdirected efforts and the weaknesses which often beset the copyist of others' endeavors

It is refreshing to find candor about any shortcomings of the people of America in any publication of that country. There is candor, however, on the subject of education in an editorial in the current issue of The Saturday Evening Post, a periodical which has a very wide circulation and which, on many occasions, takes a wide and sane view of events of public import. That publication says that, so far as it knows, educators are almost unanimously agreed that, age for age, French and English children are much further advanced in their studies than are the children of America. From this statement it goes on to estimate the reasons. An examination of conditions tends to furnish an explanation. Allusion is made to the methods whereby the teachers in France and England are prepared for their life work. There is difficulty in the advanced courses they must take, there is severity in the tests they must pass, their methods with their pupils are more rigorous than those employed in the United States.

The Post points out that in many of the States the school auhorities have been remiss in not profiting more largely by a careful study of French and British methods. It only casts blame in a limited degree on the ill-equipped teachers because it says they are part of a system which is older and stronger than themselves, and if their education is defective it is more likely to be their misfortune than their fault. Thousands of such teachers, it points out, are keenly aware of their own shortcomings and are making creditable sacrifices to remedy them by attendance at Summer schools and by voluntarily taking special courses that will be of value to them in their work. The Post infers from his that such courses should not be necessary if, in the first place, he teachers were turned out as finished products equipped in every way for the life duties they are called upon to perform. In summarising the point is wishes to make, after alluring to the superiority of French and English teachers to those in the United States, it says that America might get more for their outlay on education if less was spent on schoolhouses and more on teachers. The methods of training and selecting teachers all over this continent undoubtedly calls for reform if education is to be placed on the same plane here as it enjoys in some of the countries of Europe.—The Colonist.

OUR PRINCE

The Prince of Wales has completed his diplomatic and social mission to the United States. Whether his mission was intended to be diplomatic and social, we cannot say, but there is no doubt that it was both diplomatic and social. His Royal Highness has had an exceedingly good time. He has enjoyed himself to the uttermost bounds of his extraordinary vitality, and we have no doubt that he succeeded in providing an almost boundless amount of enjoyment for his hosts. He established a new code of fashions, and the young men of the republic should be grateful to him for that.

Some of the wise commentators of the American press cannot understand why the Prince should be so exceedingly popular, why he should be received everywhere with such boundless enthusiasm, while men who have achieved real success in life by their intellectual talents pass unnoticed in the crowd. They are inclined to make no allowance for the qualities that are purely personal Yet personality is a tremendous factor in the affairs of this world. Graces of manner, charm of person, an open countenance and a winning smile, appeal to the hearts of the people. They are an extraordinarily valuable equipment for any public man, and the Prince is a notable public man even if it is not necessary for him to seek the suffrages of his own people.

There is just one experiment we should like to see His Royal Highness undertake before he departs from Canada. We should be delighted if he were to meet Rt. Hon. Wm. Lyon Mackenzie King during that gentleman's political tour of the West. It would be interesting to watch and see whether he could cause the sphynx-like countenance of the Premier to relax its porentous dignity just for a single moment.—The Colonist.

PECULIARITIES OF THE LAW

"Although the law is not only not human, but is often inhuman, some of the judges who administer it have hearts and emotions under their bombazine gowns just like other people, so that the law's very inhumanity frequently arouses upon their part a rebellious ingenuity. Necessity is the mother of invention in the law as elsewhere, and the law has shown a creditable ingenuity in separating people who—really as a matter of common sense—ought to be separated. Indeed, a judge may be saying to one woman, 'What! You wish to be divorced because your husband hit you with an axe? What an unheard of suggestion! I will not entertain it!' and the next moment will in effect be saying to another, 'What, my dear? You say this miserable rascal, your father's coachman took you out a-riding and persuaded you to marry him? Outrageous! Of course, I shall annul this marriage.,"

EDITORIAL ECHOES

On Friday last we were unfortunate enough to publish a local item in The Free Press which has drawn down upon us the ire and vengeance of one, Mayor George Gerald Henderson.

The genial George waxed very wrath with us calling the editor over the phone in plain language all the different kinds of liars that he could think of and said that this dirty rag never missed an opportunity to slur or slander him For a little while we felt like paying George a little visit to chastise him for his insulting language, but our thoughts went back to the day that he came home crying after Harry Bentley had spanked him for a somewhat similar offence, and on second thoughts we relented, but to ease the mind of anyone who may be credulous enough to believe that we might have put something across on the mayor, which the Lord knows we would never think of doing, the following signed statement from the main party concerned should be sufficient:

"Sept. 24, 1924.

To the Editor of The Fernie Free Press,
Fernie, B.C.

The statements contained in an item appearing in your local column giving the reasons for my resignation to the City of Fernie are absolutely correct. The item was as follows:

"Neil McCallum for the past nine years city engineer and a faithful and hard-working employee of the city for twelve years, has resigned his position after a disagreement with the Mayor over the work on the river. Whatever the right or wrong of the argument may be Fernie loses a hard-working conscientious employee and our citizens will learn with regret of his resignation."

(Sgd.) NEIL McCALLUM."

From time to time, with tears in our eyes, we have pleaded with the mayor to allow a little bit of the milk of human kindness to percolate into that soured and churlish disposition of his and to treat his employees and the men under him with common decency, but it seems impossible. No self-respecting employee who comes directly under his command will stay with him very long.

We heard Mayor G. G. Henderson a few days ago give a little talk on the subject of the influence of our lives upon the boy. He told in eloquent language of the life of the late Lieutenant-Governor Walter Nichol, former owner of The Vancouver Province, whom no man ever worked for but loved and respected him. To the Mayor, Walter Nichol must have been, indeed, a superman; for no man ever worked for G. G. Henderson either as a printer, in the Customs Office or as Mayor of the City of Fernie, whose heart was not full of hatred and curses for him.

Mayor Henderson says The Free Press has never missed an opportunity to slur and slander him. True, it is that a guilty conscience needs no accuser. Why, that man ought to go home to his closet and get down on his knees and thank God for the things that we have not said about him. We have never said one word about his record with the Customs. We have never said a word about the pure bone-head inefficiency and gross ignorance which has cost the City of Fernie at least $20,000.00 in connection with the Elk River Crossing. We have never said very much about his despeptic disposition which renders it almost impossible for any man to sit on a magistrate's bench and render fair and impartial justice. We have, indeed, suppressed a thousand little things to give this man a chance, but what is the use. He is impossible and patience has ceased to be a virtue.

OF all cases of incapacitated drivers, aside from intoxication from alcoholic beverages, the "one arm" driver, so-called, is probably the most dangerous. No man can be expected to keep full possession of his car while he has one arm around a woman. We see a good deal of this kind of driving, and unless it ceases the day may come when such drivers will have to be dealt with as severely as those sufdrivers are not only endangering the lives of the persons in their own cars but the lives of pedestrians and the lives of people riding in other cars.

A man who drives on our highways with one arm around a woman is a real menace and should be deprived of his privilege to operate a car.

THE local paper is the small town's greatest asset. No town should fail to appreciate its local paper to the extend of a liberal patronage.—Henry Ford.

The influence of the small town newspaper upon the town and its business is often underestimated by business men themselves. The newspaper is going to represent the town to the outside world, fairly or unfairly. Nothing speaks better for a town than a newspaper that is well supported by the business men, and nothing speaks in louder terms against the town than a newspaper that is struggling for existence and which has little or no advertising patronage from its home business concerns.

If the business man has a good, live, newspaper published in his town he should never let that paper go to press without his name in its columns in an advertisement. We make this statement without any selfish motive. The Free Press has a fairly good advertising patronage for which we are indeed grateful, but if every business concern in this town would advertise with us regularly that fact would not make us rich by any means. There is no such thing on the globe as riches for the country newspaper man. He is a kind of a work horse for the community that doesn't get and doesn't expect as much remuneration for his labors as other men receive who do not do the town and community as much good as the newspaper is able to do, and as the newspaper does do gladly and willingly.

Lots of men and some business men do not appreciate their local paper as a thing of value except to the owner of the paper, and that is where their vision needs doctoring. The newspaper travels, and is the town's only representative that is always working at the job.

EVERYWHERE people are coming to realize more and more how inter-dependent we are upon each other. The only individual who is self-sufficient is a hermit.

The keynote—the foundation of civilization—is the family. We all concede that. And we're rapidly coming to realize that our own home town—is a home town family—simply the family unit a little bit extended through neighborly cordiality, friendship, and pleasant social intercourse.

Common good will and recognition of our human obligation is a deeper currency than any money system ever invened. But it is also to our advantage on the material side of life—it rebounds in better practices, living conditions, more generous impluses. It makes Fernie a better place to live.

Let's make our home town unit closer knit. Let's be generous with our good will—realizing that the prosperity of the individual is directly reflected in an added prosperity to our community.

WHAT this country needs more than anything else is men that can think straight—men that can reach conclusions based on intelligence and knowledge. Not on ignorance and prejudice. The nation is crying for men that can neither be caught by the glittering spider-web of Bolshevism nor blocked by the reactionary's wall of selfishness and stupid precedent.

E. P. Ranch Improving Western Stock

The way to approach the E.P. ranch is from Calgary to High River, 40 miles south, on the Canadian Pacific Railway. From High River one has to drive southwest a distance of 35 miles through one of the richest grain-growing and stock-raising countries in North America. In the distance the jagged peaks of the Rockies dip the clouds and below, well-wooded, are the foothills. The road cuts through the centre of the "Bar-U" ranch and about one mile and a half from the limits of the "Bar-U" the low rambling bungalow where the Prince is now living is seen through a pretty glen. It is a homelike looking place typical of many a rancher's home in "Sunny Alberta." Here his Royal Highness goes "back to the land."

The Prince of Wales has never ceased to exhibit a keen interest in his ranch, and fresh indications are periodically given of the importance he attaches to it and the work it is doing. After purchasing the ranch, and before returning to England, the Prince made arrangements for the shipment of some of the best stock in the British Isles to the Canadian West. Thoroughbred horses came from the Royal stall, Shorthorns from the King's farm, Shropshire sheep from the Duke of Westminster's estate, and hardy Dartmoor ponies from the Devon Moors, a type of animal previously unknown in Canada. From time to time since then fresh additions of the most excellent stock have been made. The work still continues.

In an area such as Western Canada, which has for years devoted itself to the elevation of the quality of livestock and has become internationally famous for the superior type of its horses and cattle, importations must be of an outstanding distinctiveness to be worthy of special note, but this the E.P. Ranch has effected. At Alberta provincial exhibitions the animals from High River are attractive features.

In its brief history, the E.P. Ranch has come to play an important part in the Western Canadian live-stock industry, and it has done not a little in the development of a more sympathetic understanding for Canadian agriculture in the British Isles. Its establishment was an indication of the importance attached to agriculture in the Dominions of the Empire its continuance and promotion an encouragement to the western live-stock industry, faith in the future, and a stimulus to the attainment of perfection in breeding.

A. Klauer, of the C.N.P. Coal Co., staff, has been ill for the past three days.

Mrs. George Mead returned on Saturday from Vancouver, where she spent a short holiday.

W. R. Wilson, who spent the early part of the week in Calgary, arrived home Wednesday morning.

Wm. Hunter left on Tuesday evening to attend a joint conference at Calgary.

Dr. George Kelman lef on the Eastbound train, Saturday, for Eastern points. He expects to be away about four or five weeks.

Thomas Prentice left on Thursday morning for Vancouver where he will spend a few weeks with his brother, Archie. Tom has been in rather poor health for some time.

Don't forget the social and dance in the Catholic Parish Hall tonight, Friday, Sept. 26. Cards from 9 to 10.30. Dancing from 11 to 1. Admission 50c.

The many friends of Dr. Kelman will be pleased to learn that he is able to be around a little each day, after his recent operation.

The women of the Mooseheart Legion invite the members of the brother lodge to a Social Evening on Thursday next. Brothers will be received at 9 p.m.

Jang Yee, the Fernie Chinaman, charged with peddling dope, came up before Magistrate Henderson on Tuesday. The Chink, although speaking excellent English himself, had an interpreter here all the way from Toronto to interpret his evidence. The case lasted two days, and the Magistrate reserved his decision. Sherwood Herchmer acted for the defence.

George Reynolds, of Winnipeg, is in the city to attend the funeral of his brother, William, who died in Vancouver, on Saturday last. Twenty years ago George was a resident of this city and a well known young man here. He was one of our fast lacrosse players a that time and a well known athlete. The past twenty years has dealt very lightly with George, who looks almost as young as he did when he left.

At a special meeting of the city council held Wednesday afternoon it was decided to let the contract for the finishing of the work on the Elk River Crossing to Messrs Bishop & Co., who are identified with the big construction work being done by the East Kootenay Power Co., at Elko. The work has been let on a cost plus basis and we understand will be rushed to completion. We believe the council have shown wisdom in employing this big concern to finish the work, although it would seem that a straight contract price would have been more satisfactory to the City.

Miss Hilda Minton, of Fernie, nurse in training at the Kootenay Lake General Hospital, was, on Friday last, crowned Gyro queen, on the midway at the Nelson Fair. She was crowned queen by Gyro President W. M. Myers, after she had been declared elected by W. Riley, manager of the contest, which had been progressing for some three weeks. Miss Minton was elected by a majority of 18,675 votes over Miss Gladys Jelfs, the second contestant. Miss Katherine Stark, who lead the contest, practically all through, finished in third place. William Junior with ticket 290 was the winner of the $50 prize which went with the contest, the newly crowned queen drawing the above ticket.

Sherwood Herchmer returned on Saturday from Vancouver, where he had been on legal business in connection with the Loeb case. Mr. Herchmer is acting for the Canadian National Railway in this case.

Three young lads will come up before Magistrate Henderson tomorrow charged with pilfering several business houses. One of them was caught in the very act. Chief Anderson is a great lover of boys and it grieves him sorely to take drastic action against these lads.

Edward Cole, well known old timer in Fernie, is enjoying a visit from a brother, whom he hasn' seen for some seventy-three years. Ed's parents died before he was a year old and he was adopted into a strange family and his brother who was then twelve or thirteen years, started out for himself and never saw his baby brother again until he arrived here a few days ago. Ed is seventy-three and his brother eighty-four.

At Cranbrook on Thursday night last it is stated that the provincial police of the district made a number of raids on some restaurants and pool rooms, resulting in charges being laid against some of the proprietors of these places. The raids were made as a result of information gathered by provincial government liquor board spotters who have opparently been working quietly in the district for some weeks past. Kimberley was the principal point visited, among the places raided there being the Glen Cafe and the Internaional Club. Establishments at Yahk and Wardner were also raided, and the hearing of the cases will shortly come up before the magistrate.

GOLDEN RULE SUPREME LAW

Voicing his unshaken idealism his faith in his native land, and his confidence in education of the right sort as a panacea for threatened ills, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, B.A., LL.D., K.C., Minister of Jusice for Canada, held a huge audience in rapt attention last night at assey Hall during the course of an address on "Canadian Citizenship" before representative Catholics of the Dominion, assembled for the convention of the Catholic Truth Society.

"Inspiring" is a strong word, which often slips out too easily. But it may be used with undisputed justice in describing Hon. Mr. Lapointe's address. When a man who has reached such a position in public life is able to reaffirm his belief that "the Golden Rule is still the supreme law of mankind," and to preserve unsullied a supreme confidence in the ultimate destiny of the Dominion as a united nation, the man or woman whose courage is faint may pluck up heart and follow this distinguished example. Into the shadows of doubt and the dark corners of pessimism the Minister of Justice last night unfalteringly bore the torch of friendliness and co-operation, tolerance and effort, revealing a dozen sure passages out of the darkness to better things and better times.

Fundamental importance was laid by the Minister in commencing his address upon the fact that the public wealth was in the popular conscience. "The worth and strength of any nation," he said, "is not in its vastness, the number of is soldiers, its beauty, nor the kindness of its climate; rather, the real strength of national power is in the quality of its citizenship." The most important factor in good citizenship, he continued, was intelligent self-control, combined with consciousness of duty. "Citizens must be able to subordinate their wills to the national will by voting, filling positions of trust, ,working for and with the community. If we cannot bear the burdens which democracy imposes we cannot call ourselves democrats. The secret desire to let some one else do thigs for us is a desertion. Nobody has the right to say, 'It's not my business.' The community's business is always ours; we can always help in some way."

"What is wanted," said Hon. Mr. Lapointe, turning to methods of bringing about good citizens, "is a sane and true education such as will make of our sons and daughters men and women who will be guided in life by the love of God, of country, and of their fellow-citizens." The educator of today, he pointed out, lived in a critical period. Many people saw the signs of a great nation. In view of such prospects the ruling classes should get together to solve the problems of the universe. Never more than today was there a need of public-spirited men to take an interest in these problems. The supreme line of defense, however, against threatened upheavals lay in the schools and colleges. "The real problem will be solved by the boys and girls in school today." Edcation was the foundation, the corner-stone and the structure of politics; education fought the spirit of individually which was so damage ing. And in this connection Hon. Mr. Lapointe expressed the earnest hope that "no professor or rector in Canada will ever teach the principle that a British educationist expressed in his rectorial address at Glasgow University when he said that idealism in national affairs was impossible and that self-interest 'is, will be, and should be' the controlling impluse." The Minister expressed absolute disagreement with with "Lord Birkenhead's precicious and abominable doctrine."

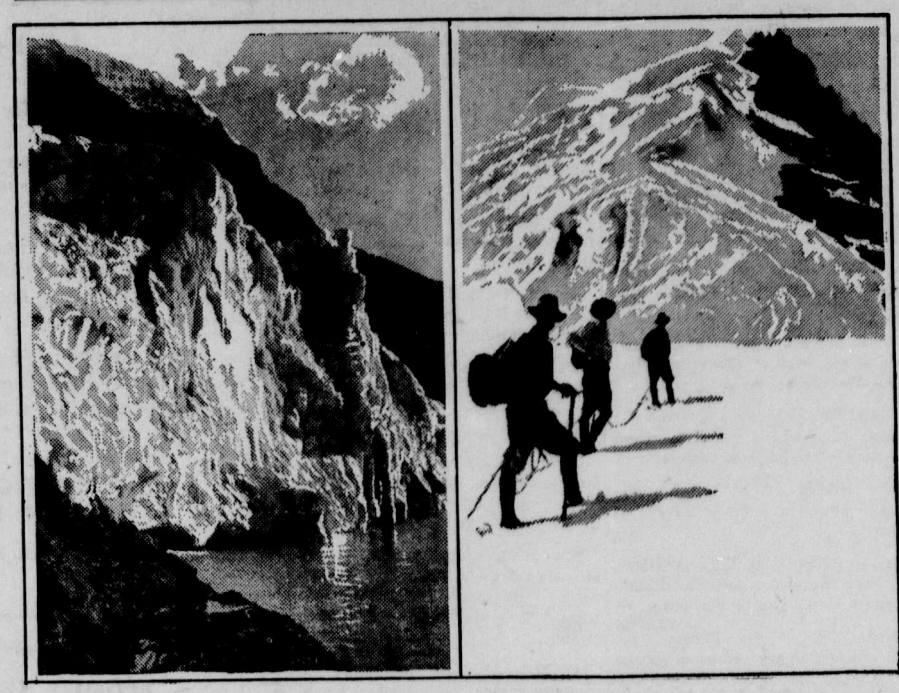
"The purest and most valuable things," he exclaimed, "are still the things that cannot be bought and sold. The Golden Rule is still the supreme law of mankind. Selfishness is man's great enemy. It narrows his existence by making him his own slave. The Golden Rule makes us practice the virtue of tolerance—which is often mistaken for neutrality. The weak man is not tolerant. When a man attempts to stifle you by argument or force he confesses his weakness. In our conventions let us never insult anybody, any race, any class, or any province. Let us all be true Christian gentlemen, remembering the sacred precept, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Truth does not need bitterness or invectives to be successful; whenever truth and error are given a fair field truth is bound to prevail."

The speaker went on to advocate greater frankness and sincerity in international affairs, following, as he said, the example of a British delegate at the Geneva meeting of the League of Nations.

Returning to more local problems, Hon. Mr. Lapointe advocated "equal justice to all" in the matter of public policies. Fortunately, in Canada there was practically no extreme poverty and no immense wealth. Class distinction was therefore not such a problem as in other countries. "This word class," he averred, "should be banished from our vocabulary. Class hatred is built on error. There is no greater mistake than to consider that the interests of Capital and Labor are antagonistic. Capital competes with capital. Labor with itself." The minister showed how each was vital to the other, and how workingmen benefitted by an access of capital. In this, as in other cases, co-operation was the great national need.

Confederation, acknowledged the speaker, had created a bond between unlike peoples. "But Canada must become the home of a big united people. I see the time when justice, union and peace shall enter all parts of Canada, and the true national spirit prevail which will make every Canadian love every foot of his country's soil. I trust the day will come when the trouble-makers and disturbers will be swept away by a wave of good-will. This day, however, can be achieved only by respect for the rights of all and each."

There was no more pernicious fallacy, Hon. Mr. Lapointe insisted, than the dream of building Canada monotonously uniform. Its constituents were different, but there should be one common bond—the love of country. "Yet I am not suggesting the sort of patriotism that dislikes and distrusts the foreigner," the minister added. "The people of that type usually have no better regard for their own countrymen." If children born on either side of a boundary line were doomed from birth to hate each other, as was the case in some European nations, there was something wrong. It was for its influence in abolishing such hatred that Hon. Mr. Lapointe was in favor of the League of Nations, which was formed in pursuit of great ideals.



"Our country is more interested in wheatfields than in battlefields," he said, "but to make the former sure we must help in eliminating the latter. I am as much against entangling alliances, with their 'love-me-love-my-dog' policies, as anybody, but I agree with the alliance of all peoples against injustice and wrong."

Concluding, the Minister of Justice suggested that Canadians of the East, West and Centre should meet more frequently and try to understand each other. Misunderstanding and hatred were due to ignorance. The speaker suggested that the Dominion should adopt as a motto the words of the Church: "In things necessary, unity; in things doubtful, liberty; in all things, charity."—The Globe.

BENEFIT FROM TANLAC LASTING, HE ASSERTS

Ontario Man Says It Put Him In Such Fine Condition Two Years Ago, He Hasn't Needed Any.

"Well, sir, it looked like I was going to have to give up my job, but Tanlac kept me on the payroll and of course, I'm strong for it," is the striking statement of Wm. Cranker, 84 Louis St., Brockville, Ont., who for 30 years past has been employed by the Canadian National Railroad.

"My stomach went wrong 10 years ago and then I gradually got out of fix in lots of ways. I couldn't eat or sleep to do any good for nervousness and indigestion and had got to where I simply had to drag myself to the railroad yards in the mornings.

"I could feel the good effects of my very first few doses of Tanlac clean to my finger-tips. This was two years ago and three bottles put me in such good shape that I have not had to spend a cent for medicine since. I eat and sleep fine, never miss a day's work any more and feel fine. You just can't beat Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

IT IS HARD TO PUT IT ACROSS

New York.—Anyone who tells you that he has smuggled in two or three quarts of liquor in his car coming through this way from Canada is dealing harshly with the truth. A veteran United States customs inspector was speaking. It was two o'clock in the morning, at Rouse's Point, the official portal for motorists driving between Canada and New York State. Most of Rouse's Point 1,700 inhabitants had gone to bed, and the night life of the village seemed to be confined within the bright light in front of the customs office and the dim lamp marking the gas station. Throughout the night dusty cars, with the red well up in the motor meter after a swift run over the King Edward Highway from Montreal, roll into Rouse's Point line up for inspection.

"Few persons carry booze past us," the inspector declared.

"In one recent week we confiscated enough rye and Scotch to fill six good-sized rooms. It ranged from four-ounce medicine bottles up to gallon demijohns. It came from four cylinder sedans. They all look alike to us.

"There is a tendency on the part of tourists of means and refinement to show injured dignity and to mutter threats about seeing somebody at Washington when we tap their pockets. They dispute out right to 'frisk' the persons of those coming across the border, yet the law gives us carte-blanche in our efforts to keep contraband out.

"When people walk with a clinking noise we make a thorough inspection of their attire. Our suspicions were aroused the other day by a musical tinkle eminating from beneath a beautiful silken opera cloak worn by a woman who stepped out of a limousine. We sent her upstairs and had her searched by a member of her own sex. Twelve bottles were found on her. We confiscated them, of course, and arrested the two men who had accompanied the woman. They, together with their automobile were held until they could give a bond of $1,000.

"It is possible that these people were no bootleggers. They would undoubtedly wince at being called that. They most likely wanted to come home and stage a big party in celebration of their success in flouting the country's laws.

"We are always suspicious when some person says, 'Don't you dare to put your hands on me!' Such warnings usually net us two or three bottles at least.

"We keep an eye peeled for the friendly conversationist who tells us that tough work like ours ought to be much better paid. He thinks that cultivating our good-will may cause us to be lenient, and he is more than disappointed when a close inspection reveals pint bottles nestling under the folded lap robe on the floor of the tonneau.

"The 'winkers' are another group that need extra attention. They aren't a bad lot and would gladly share their last quart with us. The wink aims to evoke an answering wink from us—a sort of understanding between those known as 'regular guys.'

'On most cars we find no liquor. On a few we discover an insignificant quantity, and on still fewer we disclose the cache of a rum runner. Word had been circulated through Montreal that our slogan is 'It shall not pass.' I bet there is a veritable field of broken bottles between here and Lacolle."

Lacolle is the official Canadian gateway, seven miles from Rouse's Point. The Canadian customs and immigration officials give good-natured warning that liquor cannot be poured through the American point of entry.

"Better check your hard drinks here," said a Canadian customs official to a late night traveler. "Those boys at Rouse's Point never sleep. Either do the remainder of your drinking here and now, or let some native of this place take care of it for you."

The inspector at Rouse's Point is not perfunctory. The authorites order suitcases to be opened, and tip them over much in the way in which the greengrocer exhibits a box of strawberries to show that those on the botom are as nice as those on top. They reach into the pockets inside the car. They turn an electric torch on the contents of the tool box and the spaces under the seats. They look even under the hood of the engine.

"Consumed liquor is all we let go through," the inspector said. "Some of the strongest breaths the world has known pass through here. I am often glad that we use an electric torch instead of an oil lamp in making our night searches, because there might be serious explosions if a naked flare ran afoul of the exhalations of some of the tourists."

SOCIALISM

Since a Socialist was defined as "one who has yearnings for equal division of equal earnings," the cloud of controversy which has settled down on the meaning of Socialism has hardly been penetrated by a ray of light. There are a thousand and one different definitions of what Socialism means. No one understands how it could be put into practice successfully, and the more experiments are tried in making the doctrine practical the more unrest prevails in the world. It would be dogmatic to say that some day a state of society may not exist in which there is greater equality of mental fitness and of opportunity than now exist, but there must always enter into this conception of an ulima Thule a realization of forces which are beyond human control or direction. Socialism to be practical must consider men and events in a practical way. It cannot be swayed by unreason and expect to achieve results. It has to face facts at every turnpike on its road of propaganda and wherein it does not face them it is attempting to create illusions that make for social unhappiness.

The London Times has been dealing editorially with the aims and purposes of the Independent abor Party, which has just been holding a convention of men and women whose regular occupation is speaking and lecturing on behalf of the party. They are the propagandists of the cause of Socialism, those who reiterate the old shibboleths of "expropriation," "nationalization," of "State control of marketing," without any practical suggestions regarding how these consummations should be achieved. They desire confiscation of capital without compensation. One delegate to the convention said "here would be no difficulty in a decree being issued to expropriate the banks." He did not enter at all into the question that such expropriation would mean the taking over by the state of moneys accumulated by the industry and thrift of the people, a proceeding which could hardly be termed anything else than legalized robbery. Socialist ideas on the subject of capital remain crude. It is at once their bugbear and the tocsin of their class; the word by which they arouse the antipathy of those who have not against those who have. Of their views in this particular The London Times has this to say:

Socialists continue to indulge the dream that there will always be abundant supplies of capital for them to confiscate, in whole or in part. It is not so, as they would at once find directly they began to apply their policy. Human nature is not so made, and will not adjust itself to fit Socialist theories. The process of saving, which is the only way of producing capital, is a process of self-denial; and most people will not deny themselves in this way unless they or their children are to enjoy the fruits of their self-denial. They will not save but spend whatever they earn, and the result will be that there will be less and less capital either for the development of indusry or for the service of the State. The whole economic history of the world shows that whatever, as so often in Asia, the ownership of property has been an incitement to confiscation, wherever, in fact, property, and the inheritance of property, are not reasonably secure, not only is there no wealth but all classes are very poor. It is this problem which will immediately face the Independent Labor Party and other Socialists if and when they obtain the control of the finance and industry of this country.—The Colonist.

BEWARE OF GRUMBLERS

English newspapers, a portion of whose space has been devoted to reproduction of letters written home from Canada, containing discouraging reports concerning the welfare of those who have migrated to Canada may be doing Canada, unwittingly, a great favor.

Publication of such items may prevent a class for which Canada has no welcome from transferring their presence to the Dominion.

Ridicule has been directed at the fact that flour bags have been converted into trousers. This was written from Revelstoke and purported to have general reference to the farmers of Alberta. Even though true, in isolated instances, this should be a much better medium of retaining pride and self-respect than accepting the homeland charity under the "dole" system. Even in the pursuit of happiness some are satisfied to sit down and expect it to overtake them.

As the Canadian High Commissioner pointed out, it is this "whining" type fortunately only small, that is heard the oftenest, while those who have succeeded rarely have time to write to the British press.

From a crippled, rheumatism-wrecked hunchback we once heard a remarkable lesson read to one of these grumblers.

The latter was in a cobbler shop awaiting some repairs by the afflicted proprietor. While the awl was busy, so was the client's tongue—maintaining a continuous monologue of disparaging comparison between Calgary, which happened to be the city, and his old home in the British Isles.

His experience, to judge from his talk, had been the result of a malign combination of Fate and Providence, to say nothing of the trio of Graces, to thwart him of the success he considered due him. His chief butt of rhetoric was "this blawsted country."

Nothing ever done in Canada could please this all too-particular man.

Finally, the cobbler, unable to tolerate the tirade any further, twisted his head around, glared over his deformed back and with the one query converted the monologue into dialogue and from that to immediate silence.

All he said was: "Why is it you don't go back?" Persons with whom grumbling is a habit should be taught as was the man mentioned in the foregoing—just how ridiculous they are when subjected to sober consideration. — Canadian Finance.

COAL CREEK NOTES

A good bag of prairie chicken was the outcome of the Atkinson hunting party around McEvoy last week.

The interior of the United church up here represented "Cerere's Horn of Plenty" on the occasion of the Annual Harvest Thanksgiving Service. Rev. Burns, of Fernie, preached an appropriate sermon. The fruits and vegetables were aferwards distributed amongst the needy of the camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gaskell returned to camp after an enjoyable trip around Spokane.

Owing to an acident occurring in the Dynamo room on Wednesday night the camp was suddenly thrown into darkness. An Auxilary was pressed ino service immediately. A large saff of men are making the necessary repairs.

The residents were entertained by a free social and dance in the Club Hall on Tuesday evening. The music was supplied by Messrs Kielty and Corlett.- Refreshments were sup plied.

Miss Gladys Arbuckle, our seven-year-old Highland dancer, reurned from Trail, bringing home two medals, won in he competition of Sword Dance, Highland Fling and Seann Truibhias. The performances of Miss Anbuckle were sure a surprise to all who witnessed the competition and reflects great credit upon her teacher, Miss Thompson, of West Fernie.

The resident members of the English Church are holding heir Annual Harvest Festival on Sunday next. Rev. H. U. Oswald will occupy the pulpit. Donations of fruit, flowers and vegetables will be thankfully received by the Church Committee.

This camp was fairly represented at the G. W. V. A. "At Home" held in Fernie on Wednesday evening and report an enjoyable evening spent.

Speeders! What is your hurry? is a sign that should be displayed in French and Welsh Camps.

The sharp advance in the price of eggs suggests that the hens are taking advantage of the fine weather to "lay off" production.

COMMUNICATION

Fernie, B.C., Sept. 24, 1924.
The Editor, Fernie Free Press.

Sir:—In your issue of Sept. 19th you have an article under the heading of "Union Criticized." I think this should have had another title viz:—Watered Stock. A few weeks ago Chris Pattison was in town and told the miners that the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. was carrying watered stock in their capitalisation of six million dollars. Surely he did not know that the Coal Co. had left over one million lying at Morrissey and another 350 thousand in coke ovens at Fernie doing nothing. The tipple at Coal Creek burnt down and a steel one erected in its place and all included in the six millions of the Coal Co. not much room left between here and Michel for watered stock for the miners to pay the 6 per cent. dividend on. Mr. Pattison did not tell us what Jim McLachlan told us in your article that President Lewis and a few officials had drawn forty-three thousand two hundred and thirty dollars for six months nor yet did he tell us how much it cost to keep the district officials for six months of course, we could not expect him to do that as we get no balance sheet to go by which would sure be information to some of the workers. Talking about watered stock at Fernie and we here for a long time have been paying a full time secretary 160 dollars per month with another member looking after the theatre when a part time secretary could have done both jobs and been well paid at fifty dollars per month. Since 1922 strike the saving on this watered stock alone would have given the Fernie miners two months rations. If a proper chartered accountant audited the books all this unnecessary expense and waste could be eliminated and the local fixed on a proper business basis not run wild. Where are the supporters of Jim McLachlan of 1919. MacLachlan had his choice to work for the men or have a nice soft U.M.W. of A. meal ticket. He decided to work for the men but if he comes to Alberta and B.C., he will find his old supporters hanging on to the U.M.W. of A. A poor union is better than none but the U.M.W of A. is an expensive luxury and the worker has to pay for it. Look over this last few years and see the wreck it leaves, nothing in its wake but strikes, poverty, debts, short time employment and destruction of trade in the district. To keep District 18 under the U.M.W. of A. Fernie must be sacrificed nothing in sight but another Hosmer. Fernie men, now is the time to shake off this rotten organisation and try and bring more prosperity to our families and the community, why should Fernie men have to leave home and look for work in other towns for the sake of upholding official positions of the U.M.W. of A. I am not writing this out of feeling against any member of the organisation but solely because I feel it is not a business organisation suitable to the times, or the welfare of the workers and citizens of the city in which we live. Let us get rid of this outfit which has filled Cranbrook, Trail and Grand Forks with a five months supply of Pennsylvania coal and if we got the old agreement the mines would be idle for want of trade. Stand together here and I am sure we could get a better agreement, more substantial local unions than we can under the United Mine Workers of America what was good for ninety per cent. of the men in 1919 should be good in 1924.

Yours Respectfully,
Charles F. Hesketh.

PROPOSALS BEFORE MINERS

CALGARY, Alta., Sept. 29.—To many close observers the present negotiations between the coal operators and miners' officials of District 18, lead to the belief that Wm. Sherman's bluff has been called. He is, at the present moment like the historical skipper, between the devil and the deep blue sea. He knows full well that he is not merely fighting in connection with an ever-recurring wage settlement, but he is threatened with the grave possibility that Indianapolis may wash its hands of District 18.

His "no wage" reduction all along was but bluff. He knew it, and so did every member of the scale committee. But it was regarded as "policy"—a policy, which, by the way, is wrecking the miners' organization in the central competitive fields of the United States itself.

All this is now recognized by Sherman, and the scale committee. Hence it was that no meeting took place on Monday between the subcommittee of the operators and miners. Officially F. E. Harrison, of the Department of Labor, announced during the afternoon that the meeting had been postponed "for a few hours." As a matter of fact no meeting took place at all. Possibly a meeting will be held on Tuesday, but this is by no means certain.

Sherman recognizes it would be futile to meet the operators unless he were prepared to agree to the $1.17 per day reduction. He knows also that many of the operators consider this cut altogether inadequate to meet the devastating competition of non-union mines, and that of American coal which is now actually being shipped into Alberta.

Hence it was that Sherman was not prepared to "negotiate" further on Monday afternoon. It is by no means plain sailing even among the members of the scale committee, from what one can understand. It is a question of such men as Alex. Susnar, with his Bolshevik proclivities, trying to ride rough-shod over the saner element of the committee. And here again Sherman is like the mariner of old, altogether he is not on a bed of roses.

Sherman, it is understood, notwithstanding his statement given out at the time of the recent district convention had a definite mandate to negotiate an agreement with the operators on the best terms possible. As a means to securing another conference with the operators he sought the intervention of F. E. Harrison, and although he had no definite proposal to make, Mr. Harrison, on behalf of the Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor, arranged the present joint conference.

The position arrived at is thin, Sherman knows the operators will not accept a fraction less than the $1.17, and so do the other members of the scale committee. Now they are in a real quandary. It is a question of heads we agree to the $1.17 reduction, or tails, all mines in District 18 will be operated on the open-shop principle.—Lethbridge Herald.

FISHING CONTEST CLOSES OCTOBER 15th

Keener interest than ever has been shown this season in Suddaby's fishing contest.

Many fine catches have been exhibited. In two classes the Cut Throat and the Eastern Brook Trout, larger fish have been caught than in previous years.

The largest Eastern Brook Trout was caught by C. Stowe. This was 14½ inches long and weighed 17 ounces cleaned.

In Char or Bull Trout, Kasmar Wodega leads with a fine fish measuring 23½ inches and weighing 4 lbs 15 ounces

FERNIE GOLF CLUB

Play for the Stewart Cup for men will start on Wednesday, October 8th, and will continue on the following Saturdays and Wednesdays. One week will be allowed for each round.

Those desiring to enter are requested to put in their names to the Secretary not later than Monday, October 6th.

CITY COUNCIL

Last evening's session of the city council was brief as there was very little business to be transacted. Mayor Henderson occupied the chair, all aldermen with the exception of Ald. Robichaud were present.

The minutes of regular meeting Sept. 17th and special meeting Sept. 22nd were adopted as read.

Arrangements having previously been made with J. Longdon to handle the City's electrical work, these applications were placed on file for future reference if required.

Mr. Moffatt reported that the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company had made urgent application to the City for the engine stationed at the power house to replace a broken engine at the Coal Creek mines, the Company stating they were willing to purchase if suitable price could be arranged or to take the engine upon a rental basis.

A motion was passed instructing the City Clerk to obtain an estimate of the present value of this engine from the manufacturers and authorizing the Mayor to sell engine at what he considered a satisfactory price.

The City Clerk reported that tax sale had been held Sept. 30th and that two properties had been sold and that eight had reverted to the city.

HARRISON'S STATEMENT

CALGARY, Oct. 2.—"Upon the expressed desire of James Murdock, Minister of Labor, conferences of the joint scale committee representing the Miners and Operators of District 18 were resumed on Thursday last. Progress towards an amicable adjustment has been made, and the outlook is satisfactory. At my request both the representatives of the Operators and the Miners have kindly consented to an adjournment for a few days. Negotiations will be resumed at the beginning of the week, and I have every hope that a settlement will be reached. I respectfully suggest to the press that no comments which are likely to affect the situation be offered until negotiations are concluded, when a further statement will be made."

PUBLICITY AND TOURIST TRAVEL

By J. Fred Spalding

The annual meeting of the Tourist Association of South Eastern British Columbia and Southern Alberta will be held in the near future. The Association is controlled by the towns of Cranbrook,, Fernie, Coleman, Blairmore Macleod High River Pincher Creek, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat by membership of either the Board of Trade or City Council in each of the towns. At this meeting full reports of the year's work will be presented and suggestions for enlarging the Association to more than double it's present membership will be made, but as this increase in size will hardly be feasable unless the present membership remains intact, it might be as well at this time to make public a few facts in connection with the tourist travel and the importance and necessity for increasing the extent of our advertising. With our present membership we cannot hope to obtain a larger yearly sum for advertising than we have had each year in the past, and although this money had been spent to the very best advantage, and the results obtained been very gratifying, our efforts have been very small and we have only been nibbling at our cake

There are fifteen million owners of pleasure cars in the United States and half a million in Canada Last year we distributed 50,000 maps and this year we have distributed 15,000 boolets and 15,000 maps, in all 80,000 pieces, approximately 65,000 of which went into the States It is like feeding a bag of pea nuts to an elephant

There are certain magazines and newspapers which reach the big majority of motorists, a single advertisement in one of these would reach more of them than all the literature we have distributed since the formation of the Association. This class of advertising runs into considerable money, but I believe would produce far better results if tried out for one year, than would the same amount of money spent in any other form of advertising over a period of three years.

As an instance of the effectiveness of this kind of advertising I read in a recent issue of one of the Vancouver papers a statement from Reg. Davison, the Publicity Commissioner, there. It was to the effect that they had carried advertisements in a few of the leading magazines and papers in which there was a coupon asking parties interested in Vancouver to fill out and send in for further particulars. These advertisements had only been run for a short time but up to the time he was speaking there had been a surprising response. I don't remember the exact figures he quoted but my recollection is that over 10,000 coupons had reached their offices, and they had come from every nook and corner of the American continent Great Britain and Europe.

Since the opening of the Banff-Windermere road a great deal too much importance has been attached to concentrating the Rocky Mountain advertising on that particular road as a feeder to Banff and Lake Louise, the greater part of which advertising has been distributed in the State of California. Certain interested parties in Calgary have been recommended this Association to discontinue issuing booklets which contain illustrations of our scenery through the Crow's Nest Pass for fear that it might detract from the attractions of Banff and Lake Louise. I have one such letter on file. To my way of thinking such a suggestion shows considerable ignorance of what the average tourist goes touring for. After ten years rather extensive association with tourists of every class, I am firmly convinced that the great majority of them choose trip by which their route will take them through the most interesting country, either historical or scenic. Of course, road conditions are taken into consideration, but nowhere near to the extent that the average person thinks. In these days of extensive touring no one expects to find good roads everywhere, and so far as the roads of western Canada are concerned, we have no need to fear comparison with those south of the International Border. This is the general concensus of opinion of every tourist I have met from the States, and also my own opinion.

Undoubtedly Banff and Lake Louise are the principal drawnig cards for tourists to western Canada, why? simply because of their scenic attractions which have been advertised of many millions of dollars. What is the proportion of motoring visitors? Let us take the official figures from report of the Commissioner of Canadian National Parks for 1923. The total number of licenses issued in Rocky Mountains park (and every car visiting Banff and Lake Louise or traveling over the Banff-Windermere road has to have one of these licenses) during 1923 was 4,213. These are tabulated as follows: From Calgary 2,731; other parts of Alberta 129; other parts of Canada 225; from the United States 1,198. Twenty-nine different States were represented among them.

The Banff-Windermere road was opened on June 30, of that year, and for several months previous to the opening a very intensive advertising campaign was carried on throughout the United States and especially in California. Lectures with moving pictures lectured in every important town in California the leading papers

PREMIER KING COMING

The Hon. Dr. King, our member-elect and Minister of Public Works for the Dominion, was a Fernie visitor on Wednesday.

During his stay here he had a meeting with a number of prominent Liberals and made arrangements for the visit of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Premier of Canada, which will take place on Tuesday, Oct. 28th. The Premier and his party will motor in from Cranbrook and will be here all day. In the morning he will receive delegates and will speak in the Grand Theatre at 4.30 in the afternoon.

In addition to the Premier, the party will consist of Hon. Chas. E. Stewart Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Hon. J. B. McGiverin, Vice-president of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., and our own member, Hon. Dr. King, of Cranbrook.

Arrangements will be made by the City for the reception of the party, which will be a citizens' affair, rather than a party one.

VERDICT IN ROGERS' CASE

How the fatal shot was discharged from the gun which caused the death of the late Mark C. Rogers remains an unsolved question in the face of the verdict rendered by the coroner's jury at the inquest which opened at four o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, with Coroner MsNicol presiding. Retiring at nine minutes after six and returning to the courtroom one minute past eight, a period of nearly two hours, the following verdict was read by Robert Barrowman, foreman:

"We the jury have agreed that Mark C Rogers came to his death on Sept., the 30th, 1924, about 2.15 a.m., at 413 Fourteenth St. S, Lethbridge, by being shot with a Wincheser pump gun.

"The jury further agree that death was caused by a gunshot wound by the gun held in his own hands, but from the evidence submitted we are not in a position to say as to whether accidental or otherwise'

ALL-CANADIAN CONCERT

On Monday, Oct. 6, an All-Canadian Concert will be given in the United Church, commencing at 8 p.m.

The principal artiste will be Mrs. W. D. Todd, of Victoria, B.C., and on exceptionally well-balanced program of musical, vocal and elocutionary numbers will be presented.

All-Canadian programs are the exception rather than the rule, and this effort should be supported by all who desiree to further the advancement of Canadian music. Moreover a real treat is promised to all who attend.

The concert is being held under the auspices of the city public schools, the proceeds to be devoted to the Sports Fund.

SHOOTING OF MARK C. ROGERS

Mark C. Rogers was found dead in his Fourteenth Street home at 2.30 Tuesday morning.

The evidence points to suicide by shooting with a Winchester shotgun

An inquest, ordered by Coroner McNicol, will be held at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The late Mr. Rogers, who was a man of wide and varied business interests, had packed his grip and was waiting to take a train to Calgary. He left a note which will be produced at the inquest today.

The Story of The Tragedy

Under circumstances which point to suicide, Mark C. Rogers was found fatally shot, in the sitting room of his residence 413 Fourteenth street south, on the right of the stairs in the hall used as a den, at 2.30 on Tuesday morning. The body when found was lying on its back with a Winchester repeating shotgun by the side. Tightly gripped in the right hand of the deceased was the cleaning rod of the gun, which had presumalby been pressed against the trigger of the gun when the shot was fired, penetrating the head blowing the top off and scattering the brains, causing death. The shot was No. 6, a small bird shot, and in the gun was found a live cartridge.

It would appear from what can be ascertained that Mr. Rogers had got out of bed to catch the early morning train for Calgary. He had his car ready to take him to the station, and in it he had deposited his bag. He had risen from the bedroom he occupied and had dressed for the journey. Shorly after he had left the bedroom to go downstairs his wife, coming down the stairs to get some milk, heard a shot fired. Without waiting to enter the room from which it proceeded, and little knowing what had taken place, she rushed across the street to the residence of Arthur Barnsley who lives opposite. Together with Chief Constable Harris and J. B. Turney, Mr. Barnsley went to the Rogers, residence where they saw the gruesome sight. Dr. Roy was summoned and pronounced life extinct. The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of Martin Bros.

In the room where the tragedy took place was found a note from the deceased, which was taken charge off by Coroner McNicol, who was at the residence when phoned for immediately he was apprised of what had taken place. This will be produced at the inquest which will be held at two o'clock this afternoon.

It has transpired that Mr. Rogers had made arrangements to go to Calgary on Sunday but had postponed his visit to Tuesday morning. He was seen by two or three people on the night of the tragedy when he seemed to be in good spirits and chatted freely. Along with his wife he was outside the Kings theatre about 8 o'clock, talking and joking with some friends.

Mark Rogers was a man known intimately by only a few but those who knew him best esteemed him most. In business he was shrewd, fair and daring. He possessed that faculty of seeing through a proposition in a moment and his decisions usually proved correct. He was courageous and had persevering qualities brought out in his dogged pursuit of oil in the border field.

He had the ability to make money and to handle men. He was a self-made man. He is said to have accumulated considerable wealth in the liquor business. If this is correct he did not hoard it, but rather invested in business enterprises, which created employment for many workmen and stimulated business in many lines. Mr. Rogers was born in Hingham, Mass., November 10, 1890. His mother, a brother and an uncle reside there. His father is dead. An insight into the real character of the man is shown in the thoughtflness he always displayed toward his mother. He wrote often to her. As recently as September 27 he wired her urging her to come to Alberta for the winter. He said he had arranged everything for her comfort and enjoyment. He also told of the plans he had made for Paul, 17 years old, a brother living on the Rogers' ranch and who has been a student of the Claresholm School of Agriculture

From his New England home Mr. Rogers came west. He first settled in Edmonton. In that city he married Miss Mae Dorothy Schultz, of Superior, Wisconsin. Mrs. Rogers and three children survive, Bud or Clifford, seven; Lillian, four, and baby Bobby. Len Schultz who managed the Colonial theatre for some time, was a brother-in-law.

Mr. Rogers was connected with a number of important business enterprises. He was president of Rogers and Company, operating the famous Rogers' stock farm, the Rogers garages in this city and Calgary, and the Majestic theatre. They formerly controlled the King and Colonial theatres. He was also president of the Canadian Oil and Refining Company, which put down the Rogers-Imprial gasser, the largest in Canada, and one of the largest in the world. He was also a trustee of the Elks lodge.

His ventures in the oil game were not confined to the operating end. He recently acquired for his company the Standard Refinery, which he had been steadily building up by the addition of new equipment and the reaching out for new markets.

carried display advertisements featurng the road and making an event of International importance of it's opening yet we find that during the entire year the total number of cars from the whole of the United States was just about one third of the number from Canadian points. Local Calgary cars accounted for considerably more than half of the cars entering that park last year. Up to the time of writing no official figures for this year have been issued, but judging from reports I have received from different sources, the percentage of cars from California this year is smaller than that of last year, but on the other hand there has been a very great increase in the number of Canadian cars this year. This being so, it only proves the correctness of my contention from the first, that we must look to our near by Provinces and States for the preponderence of motoring tourists to the Canadian Rockies. Much as we may desire to entice Califronians up here, we have got to consider the fact that even in a wealthy State like California the proportion of men with the time at their disposal to go on a tour of over 4000 miles, or with the inclination, is quite small compared with the numbers living closer who have three weeks or a month at the most. They want to go to places where they don't have to spend all their time indriving to get there and back. That is the class of tourist who is not rushing through the country to get to his objective, he loafs along stopping off here there and everywhere and the whole country gets a crack at his pocket book. He is out to see all there is to see and will route himself over the route which has the most to look at and that is why I am certain that the more we publish illustrations of the scenery along the lines of route leading to Banff and Lake Louise, the more tourists we shall attract, and these are the tourists who will be of much greater benefit to the country as a whole than a few of the wealthier class whose one object is to get to Banff just as quickly as he can. It is not the country which gets his money, it is the C. P. R.

We have just as beautiful scenery through the Crow's Nest Pass as there is anywhere in the Rockies and very little is known about it anywhere Calgary especially refrains from mention of it, but we are gradually getting it better known, and if we do manage to induce some of our visitors to spend a day or two along the Crow and curtail their stay at Banff, it won't hurt Banff because the increase in numbers brought in by our advertising will more than make up that difference. In taking this over with several of the leading business men in Banff this summer, they were entirely in accord with my contention that it is numbers that tell, and quite agreed with me that Banff would not lose by sharing some of the benefits from tourist travel with the towns of the Crow's Nest Pass.

There are some who think that too much money is spent in advertising, and that our tourist association can afford to let up a little now that tourists are coming this way. Well Mister General Public is very fickle and has a very poor memory. Let me give an instance which was given to me by the best of authority last week whilst I was at Waterton Lakes Park.

Glacier Park as we all know has been one of the most widely advertised of the National Parks of America and up to this year, one of the most popular resorts, the number of visitors to it last year being fifty per cent. greater than any former year. Perhaps it was because of this that it's avertising was greatly curtailed this year, whatever the reason however, the results have been disastrous and the season of 1924 has been a failure. Over 500 saddle horses which formerly have been in great demand there until the end of August, were turned out to pasture on August 1st, this year, and on August 15th, Many Glaciers hotel with a staff of 23, had only one family of three people as it's guests, and closed up several weeks earlier than usual. On the other hand the three big railroads serving the Pacific Coast and the Chambers of Commerce of Portland, Seattle and the Publicity Department of Vancouver have between them spent over a million dollars in advertising the resorts at the coast with the result that 1924 has beaten all records for tourist travel there I received an official report from Mt Rainer National Park which stated that up to Sept. 7th, the number of visitors there had shown an increase up to then of more than 35% over all of last year and it was expected that if it kept up at a corresponding rate until the end of their season, which is in November, this year figures would show an increase of more than 75% over last years. Similar reports come from every resort on the North Pacific Coast.

This is convincing proof if we want to increase the tourist travel to these parts that we must keep up our advertising. If an internationally famous place like Glacier Park suffers through lack of advertising, what earthly chance has the Crow's Nes Pass got of becoming popular if it quits.

With Calgary interests endeavoring to draw all the travel from the east to Calgary and Banff, by way of Medicine Hat, Brooks, and Gleichen and ditching the entire Crow's Nest Pass from Medicine Hat to Cranbrook, the situation is one of very serious moment to every town between those two points, and makes it more imperative than ever that we continue and increase our advertising.

It is my contention that the east to west travel over the Red Route is bound to become as extensive as the travel over the south to north (Blue Trail) and that the two terminal points on the latter trail, Macleod and Cranbrook, have everything to gain and nothing to lose, by staying with the Association and helping it to carry on an advertising campaign of greatly increased scope.

HOME BANK RAN SHOE BUSINESS IN TORONTO AT LOSS

TORONTO, Sept. 39.—The affairs of the Canadian Shoe Company, with which the Home Bank was connected, were gone into in considerable detail at the trial of Sidney H. Jones, Home Bank auditor, this morning. Sidney Stevens, who was with the bank in various capacities, was sent by the late Col. Cooper Mason in 1920 to make an audit of the affairs of the Canadian Shoe Company. Mr. Stevens, as a witness this morning, said he had found the assets of the company, which was located at Toronto, amounting to $366,823, and liabilities $180,944 in excess of that amount. That was the book value and on actual value as estimated by him the excess of liabilities over assets was $185,516 . Another audit the following year by him showed the excess to have increased to $376,230. After this audit of 1921, H. J. Daly sent him to operate the company, said witness, although he had protested against it as he knew nothing of the shoe business. The plant had five floors of the King building on King street and employed 1,200 hands capable of making 1,200 pairs of shoes a day. He then carried on a jobbing business in a small way. This continued until the suspension of the bank and was always run at a loss. Witness advised the discontinuance of the business entirely, but his advice was ignored. The capital to run the jobbing business came from the sale of the machinery and other equipment. He did not know the officers of the company and operated under instructions from the bank officials only. There was a big call loan of $250,000 carried on the books of the company on which interest was not paid, said witness, who knew nothing about the loan beyond the fact that it was on the books.

E. L. Middleton, who was solicitor for the Canadian Property Company, told about the affairs of that concern. A Dominion charter was secured in 1906 and the company organized in 1907. In 1909 it secured a Manitoba license. There was no further meeting of the company until 1918, and in May, 1921, the first purchase of bank property was made by the company, being the head office building of the bank in Toronto. The officers of the company in 1918 were Col. Mason, O. G. Smith, A. E. Calvert and A. E. Kemp, who were all officers in the Home Bank.

EFFECTIVENESS OF STRIKES

The collapse of the press telegraphers' strike, and the continued impasse in the Crow's Nest coal dispute, leads one to consider whether the strike, formerly considered labor's most powerful weapon, is quite as effective as it was formerly. The right to strike is a dictum that organized labor has held as sacred as Magna Charter. Capital and labor have locked horns on the point and though provision has been made for conciliation bodies and boards of arbitration, labor has never wavered in its demand for the right to strike.

But there is only one condition under which the strike can be one hundred per cent. effective from the point of the strikers, and that is when the industry is indispensable from a national standpoint. Industry is now developed to a point where it cannot be dislocated readily. If machinery breaks down there are spare parts on hand for replacement. If the human element fails, or becomes undependable, the inevitable result will be to replace it as much as possible with mechanical means of production. Few people, or groups of people, can in this age, call themselves indispensable, and this is the new condition hich labor must face. It broke the mail strike in the east recently, it broke the press telegraphers' strike this week, and it has reduced the strike in District 18 to a mere struggle of attrition whoever can last the longer wins irrespective of the merits of the case.

In the coal strike the weakness of it lies in the fact that other districts are not affected. Most of the mines in the district have ceased production, but have the markets that formerly took the product ceased using coal? The answer is obvious—they are using some other coal, or a substitute for it. Thus the Great Northern Railway is turning to the use of oil for fuel purposes, and coal from Pennsylvania, the Pacific Coast and elsewhere is being used instead of District 18 coal. The strikers in the Crow's Nest district are appealing for support from other districts, and it comes from sections where their own inactivity has made for better times, on account of the increased demand arising from a widened market. It presents an anomaly the absurdity of which must sooner or later be realized. The miners in other districts that are getting the work the strikers formerly had, are bonusing District 18 to continue the struggle—that is the situation put concisely.

This does not necessarily mean that the strikers are right or wrong in their contention that the war bonus of $1.17 should be allowed to remain. What it does mean is that the strike is not the effective weapon of aggression against capital it was once. When a way is found of settling industrial disputes without resorting to measures that savor of coercion—on whichever side it is shown—the public will be more inclined to take an impartial view of the questions at issue.

In the meantime, hopes are expressed that the second conference being held in Calgary this week will be able to break the deadlock in the coal strike, though there is little indication of either side weakening. The conference comes not at the request of either party, but at the instance of the minister of labor at Ottawa, who, however, is not to be present in person on this occasion.—Cranbrook Herald.

A New Orleans paper reports that the negro tenants on a planation in that vicinity while engaged in picking watermelons discovered an alligator, fourteen feet in length and weighing 800 pounds, devouring the melons. The reptile had left a swamp because of scarcity of water and was heading for a river. The intruder was promptly despatched for trespassing on ground devoted to a popular article of diet with the natives.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

REGARDING the controversy over the resignation of Neil McCallum, city engineer, certain aldermen of the city have drawn our attention to the fact that Neil McCallum stated to the City Council that he was resigning his position owing to ill-health. We willingly give this statement the same publicity that we gave Mr. N. McCallum's signed statement to this paper. These gentlemen also state that up to date only $10,000 has been spent on the Elk River Crossing, and not $20,000 as stated in our article. They estimate that the entire job will be finished for the latter amount.

THERE has recently sprung up throughout America a new industry. This is he modern Motor Bus. Those pioneering this great business are engaged in developing an enterprise which promises to be one of the most important and serviceable in the state—motor transportation. In a way there are pioneers; they are men of foresight, with ability to see opportunity and seize it. And they have already achieved much. Its development is not likely to come to a halt until the motor bus finds its way into every well populated and accessible section of the state.

Unquestionably this comparatively new method of travel has had a marked effect upon transportation problems, an effec which will be more and more widespread as the building of smooth roads progresses.

FERNIE LENDING LIBRARY

One of the most delightful institutions in Fernie is the Library here for a few cents a month one can borrow books of many different kinds. Books for children—books for those of the sentimental age. Books for those seeking for knowledge in philosophy, science, art, literature or history. Books about this world and books about the world to come. In the Fernie library one sees several books by the world—renounced Canadian humourist — Stephen Leacock. His little book, Sunshine Sketches is both a joy and an education. By reading it one is constantly getting a hearty laugh, and is also able to appreciate the fact that the author is a professor of economics in one of our leading universities. All school teachers and parents of growing boys should read "College Days," by Leacock. Not only will they experience a deep sense great kick from his humour.

Another book on the shelves is one called "Self Help for Nervous Women" by J. K. Mitchell, M.D. This Mitchell is the son of the famous Wier Mitchell, who instituted the world famous cure bearing his name. The book for Nervous women is not a doctor's book and is not meant for cases of nerves who should go to a doctor. The book is easy to read and gives some simple remedies for the prevention and cure for conditions, called Nerves. He says that most who have nerves so called are usually emotional and accustomed to irregular habits. He gives some good rules and tells when to call a doctor. The book is large print and soon read and I am sure, will be interesting to any thinking person who gets hold of it.

I.O.O.F. NOTES

On Saturday evening, Sept. 27th, Grand Patriarch Godfrey, of Vancouver, made his official visit to Kootenay Encampment No. 14, at a special meeting and gave a short speech on the work of the Encampment Branch of Odd Fellowship, which was listened to with great attention. After this a little community singing was indulged in, and those present certainly did it in style, making the echos rings with these favorites, "I know a little pussy, Ginger Ale, It ain't going to rain no more, etc. The singing of Home weet Home' brought a very enjoyable evening to a close.

On Monday evening the members of Mt. Fernie Lodge No 47 I. O. O. F. again started their monthly socials and judging from the crowd present and the talent furnished was a great credit to the Order. The Paper given by Bro. Green on "First Aid Work" was listened to with the greatest interes and was very highly appreciated Bro. Green had gone to a lot of work to prepare this paper, he outlined the work from the sixteenth centry, dwelling briefly on the work done by Florence Nightingale during the Franco-Russian War in 1870-72. Of the great services rendered by First Aid men and Red Cross Workers in the South African War, and of the great work done by thousands of First Aid Workers in the Great War, 1914-1918

The official life of a premier or member of a government is not all beer and skittles. They are beset on all sides with demands for favors here and there. If they grant one they offend half a dozen others. There are too many axes to grind for one grindstone. Regardless of its many trials and tribulations some like it and thrive on it. It is a great life if you don't weaken.

CONSULAR NOTES

American Consuls in Canada have recently been instructed to discontinue the practice of giving letters of introduction to persons about to visit the United States.

The regulations emphasize the inadvisability of persons coming from Europe to Canada, with the intention of proceeding at once from Canada to the United States. British subjects are not permited to migrate to the United States until they have resided one year in Canada. Persons from Continental Europe will not be admitted as immigrants until after a residence of two years in Canada.

INITIATION CEREMONY OF HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

The 'Boy Scout' Hall was the scene of frivolity on Friday evening last. When this year's students at the High School were initiated into the mysteries and the mystic shrine of High School pupils. The room was tastefully arranged. The duties of "High Office" being ably portrayed by Principal Pepper and Miss Sewell. The many burlesque stunts arranged for the edification of the new candidates proved a source of great merriment to the onlookers, light refreshments were served. After four hours of hilarious fun, the participators left for their respective homes to dream of a pleasant evening spent.

TELEPHONE CO. IMPROVEMENTS

The Kootenay Telephone lines are completing this week the work of insalling an additional telephone line between Cranbrook and Kimberley, which will give a greatly increased service between these two points, and will also enable the private automatic system of two dozen or so phones which the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. have in operation, to function to better advantage. A new pole line has been put in between Wycliffe and Marysville, both lines changed on to it, and the new extra line added between the other portions on the existing pole line. This will tend to relieve the congestion which has been making itself felt, and is an improvement that many business places in both towns will be able to appreciate.

The telephone company is also planning to run cable lines in the city to replace two of the most crowded pole lines. These will run from the exchange along Louis St. to Burwell, and along the entire length of Burwell from Kain to the curling rink. New pole lines will be put in on these streets, doing away with the present lines, which with their multitude of wires represent the growth in the system since the early years of installation. This is a change that will represent a considerable investment on the part of the telephone company, and is also a commendable step in the direction of the city beautiful, since the new line with its cable will be less of a disfigurement than the present heavily laden poles are in the eyes of those who consider the aesthetic before business.—Cranbrook Herald.

IT DEPENDS ON WHOSE OX IS GORED

Since the first of April the mines of the Coal River Collieries company, owned by officials and members, headed by President Warren S. Stone, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, have been idle along with others heretofore having wage contracts with the United Mine Workers in the Kanawha region. Within the period of the last scale year these properties were opened and, after an attempt at open-shop operation, entered an agreement with the miners' officials. There then had been considerable publicity about Brotherhood men attempting to run non-union mines.

Now comes President John L. Lewis of the Miners' International Union demanding that Mr. Stone, "dear sir and brother," sign up under the terms of the Jacksonville agreement, largely no doubt as in earnest of his unionism. Mr. Stone demurs, declaring in effect that his company has been ready to go along any time since April 1st on a provisional arrangement subject to modifications if the other Kanawha operators later secure better terms. Mr. Lewis indicates that this would not do, it must be three years or nothing. There is considerable pep in recent correspondence between the two, released at Indianapolis, the 9th of Sept., after it seemed to have reached an impasse. The head of the coal company and of the Brotherhood and the head of the coal miners are dear-sir-and-brother and fraternally-yours to each other throughout.

Someone said years ago, "it depends on whose ox is gored."

Fire Works By Post

Mr. Lewis opens the works on the 22nd of August by addressing Mr. Stone as chairman of the Board of the Coal River Collieries company. After a few lines reviewing the case, Mr. Lewis says "it is apparent that your corporation is following the same labor policy as the other coal operators in the Kanawha field who are demanding that the members of the United Mine Workers of America accept a reduction in wages." Continuing, the letter says:

"President Percy Tetlow of District No. 17 has upon several occasions sought conferences with the local representatives of your company. The most recent of these conferences was held at Charleston, W. Virginia on August 14th, when your representative advised Mr. Telow that no agreement would be made by your company unless the United Mine Workers representatives could get other coal operators in that district to agree to make similar settlement.

"It is of course well known that the Kanawha Coal Operators' Association is making an active fight against our organization and that evictions of our people are taking place, and our Union and its members are being attacked in the courts through every conceivable process The Coal River Collieries Company while not a member of the Kanawha Coal Operators' Association and while not utilizing the eviction instrument, is in all other respect apparently co-operating with the coal operators This is an intolerable position for a coal company whose stock is largely owned and whose affairs are directed by union men to occupy"

Mr. Lewis closes by asking Mr. Stone's "views" and they come back under date of August 25th in part as follows:

Same Old Accusation

"Prior to April 1st, 1924, the Coal River Collieries had an agreement with the United Mine Workers of America, covering wages and working conditions and operated its mines under union conditions. This agreemen had been in effect for more than a year, and during that time the United Mine Workers of America failed completely to carry out their written promises made at the time the contract was signed.

"On April 1st our mines were in operation, and we were anxious to continue operating, and did everything humanly possible to be allowed to continue making the offer that if they would be allowed to continue at the present wage scale until the agreement was finally worked out between your Committee and the mine operators, that if there was any increase in the rate we would gladly pay the difference, but nothing could be done. We were compelled to close the mines because we did not then, and do not now want to operate a non-union mine, and we closed the mines down, and lost a secure other valuable contracts that we could have secured because your organization demanded that no mines be operated pending the negotiations. For example, we lost one contract for supplying the Boston & Maine with their entire coal supply which we could have secured if you had allowed the men to remain at work.

"That we have always been in favor of a union operated mine, and that our sympathies are with the Miners' union, has certainly been proven by the record of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. When the miners of West Virginia were at the end of their resources, and were hungry, members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers contributed more than $100,000.00 to their support, and made it possible for them to live through the winter of the trade. I have the statements of your state officers to prove that his is correct.

Not a Strike A-tall

"If your miners are on strike, as you state since April 1st, it is news to us because there has not a day passed from April 1st up until now that every miner on the property, with the exception of three, would have gladly gone to work had we said the word. They have been allowed to live in the houses without rent, and in addition to that, when their funds were exhausted and some of the families were hungry, we have fed them from our supply store. That does not look very much like there was a strike there, Brother Lewis, not that we were trying to do anything to hurt your organization." Here Mr. Stone quotes the last two sentences, as quoted above, from Mr. Lewis' letter and comments:

"You either do not know the true facts of the case, or you are making a statement that is not in accordance with the facts, or else you are laboring under the impression that a coal mine is operated wholly and solely for the benefit of your organization. The members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who have invested over $3,000,000.00 in these properties, are entitled to some return on their investment, and I think you will concede this, and yet at the present price at which coal is selling, and the cost of mining under the Jacksonville agreement, it is impossible for the union mines to break even.

"Under the 1917 agreement, it cost us $1.12 per ton loaded on cars, the actual wages paid to miners without any charge for depreciation or overhead. Under the Jacksonville Agreement of 1924, it costs $1.63 per ton, without charging any overhead or any return on the investment. The average price at which coal is selling F.O.B. is $1.50 per ton—not much incentive to open a mine or work it under those conditions. We want to run a union mine, and expect to run one if we run it at all, but it is impossible to do so when the non-union fields around us can produce coal so much more cheaply, and a monoply on the entire market.

Not We But You, Brother

"You talk of the Coal River Collieries supporting the Coal Operators' Association. I know of no one who is doing more to support the Coal Operaors' Association of West Virginia in their fight against organized labor than you are by your present policy, for you are putting those who want to operate union mines in a position that make it impossible for a union mine to operate under the present price of coal, while our competitors are going right ahead and supplying the market.

"I shall be glad to meet you and your representatives at any place and talk this entire matter over with you, because the seventy years record of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the members, is proof enough that they are union men, first, last and all the time, and want to do what is absolutely fair."—The Coal Trade Bulletin.

Louis J. Hill, of Minneapolis, son of the famous railway builder of the northwest, has been named defendant in a suit charging wrongful conveyance and involving upwards of $1,000,000 of his father's estae. The plaintiffs are James N. Hill, Mrs. Ruth Hill Beard, Walter J. Hill and George T. Slade, who married the late Charlotte Hill, daughter of the railway millionaire. They allege that Louis Hill induced his mother to turn over to him land assessed at $231,850 in Ramsay county, Minnesota, and railway bonds with a face value of $730,000, which should have been included in the estate.

WILL BE HOME TOWN STRUGGLE

KELOWNA, Sept. 26.—The coming federal by-election in Yale will be unique in politicial annals in several ways. It is unusual in a riding, comprising a number of cities, to find both candidates chosen from one place, but it is particularly uncommon to find both closely associated in the welfare of that place by holding the positions of mayor and president of the Board of Trade, respectively.

Mayor Sutherland has proved a hardy annual as mayor, being elected eleven times by acclamation. Prior to this he was alderman for several years. He has spent nineteen in the city council out of his twenty years of residence, and only went into an election three times

In other words, his only election experience is that gained when he ran against the late J. A. McKelvie in the general election nearly four years ago. The knowledge thus gained and the fact that he represents the party in power will help him in his campaign. He can also point to things accomplished for the riding, he and Mr. Cossitt of Vernon having been instrumental in 1922 in obtaining a favorable amendment to the anti-dumping clause, and this year a dehydraing plant a Penticton and appraprations for precooling stations at various points.

Mr. Grote Stirling, Assoc. M.I.E., Conservative candidate, has but recently come to the front in a public way, and tha almost entirely thru Board of Trade channels, by his association as president of both the Kelowna Board and also the Associated Boards of Trade of the Okanagan. His work has been marked with a thoroughness and attentiin to detail. The opening of the Okan agan-Cariboo trail at Kelowna was very efficiency organized by him.

Though organization has not actively started yet, it is anticipated that thorough and complete arrangements will be made by both parties and no stone left unturned which might create victory.

With a majority of slender proportions, the winning of a by-election not only gives numerical strength, but the moral victory is a big consideration.

Col. Edgett, organizer for Mr. Sutherland, will open his headquarters at Penticton. Election day is November 6.—The Province.

PRESENT DISREGARD FOR GOLF ETIQUETTE BOUND TO HARM GAME

"Playing in a four-ball match last Sunday our party overtook the match ahead of us," said J. Martin Watson, County Club professional, yesterday. "The latter going at a more leisurely gait at once took in the situation and promptly asked us to go through. I take off my hat to Fred Grinnell who extended this courtesy because unfortunately there is a growing tendency to ignore the rules (for courtesies are incorporated in the rules) and the etiquette that goes with them—and unless we open our eyes to this condition and fight for the right to maintain the highest standards in the game it will fall from grace and cease to keep its place as the premier sport of the world.

"It may surprise Spokane golfers to learn that recently a U.S. senator and member of the Chevy Chase Club of Washington, D.C., was expelled from that club on account of a breach of etiquette of the game. I admire the spirit of any club that takes up the cudgels on behalf of the royal and ancient game to keep it clean. We can not afford to allow a national and world-wide pastime to be dragged down into the mire and trampled on by those who do not know its rules and care less for their violation.

"Ignorance of the rules is no excuse. It is every man's and women's duty to know the rules and enforce them when necessary. One can do most anything in this world if one goes about it in the right way. Rules are based on common sense—no personalities are taken into consideration—we are all under the same roof, and accorded the same treatment. Only those who disobey the mandates and abuse their privileges really suffer.

"It is our duty to help these erring ones see the folly of their ways. A grouch with an ingrowing disposition has no place in any sport. What he needs is a tombstone. We can be charitable and give him a fighting chance to be a man. What we do now we hand down as a precedent to posterity and this responsibility is worth every sacrifice we may make. It is of vital import the game be kept clean. Let us do our duty."

The Hungarian Government has recognized Soviet Russia, but Hungary can hardly recognize herself since the war.

Tea and Carnation

YOUR favorite cup of tea will be greatly improved when served with Carnation Milk. Use it diluted—one part Carnation, three parts water. Then you will always keep Carnation handy for "tea-time".

Carnation is just pure fresh milk, evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization. Not only safe but convenient and economical. Order several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans from your grocer. Write for a free copy of Carnation Recipe Book.

How to use Carnation Milk in Tea and Coffee

In Tea: To retain the full, fine flavour of the tea, dilute Carnation Milk with three parts water.

In Coffee: To give your cup of coffee an appetizing flavor with a golden brown color, use Carnation undiluted as it comes from the container. A teaspoonful is enough—use more if desired.

MOTOR TRIP THRU SOUTH. B.C.

By Howard L. Brownlee

Veteran residents of Spokane aware through motoring experience of a number of years of the scores of beautiful touring trips that may be enjoyed near the city even we did not realize until this year the charms of a tour to the north and through Southeastern British Columbia. At no time were we much farther than 200 miles from the city and the entire trip was barely 700 miles. And yet on this little journey of vacation vagabondage, mother and I enjoyed one night on a beautiful C.P. R. steamer on the Kootenay river and Kootenay lake, were for miles among some of the finest mountain scenery on the continent, passed through orchard districts that amaze by their beauty and scarcely ever were out of view of lake or turbulent mountain river.

At Nelson, the end of our first day's journey, 172 miles north of Spokane by motor road, chief interest for the residents seemed to be the by-election which resulted in the return of Premier Oliver to the provincial parliament; the Chicago murder case wherein the two boys were being tried for the murder of their playmate, and the Kid McCoy murder case in Los Angeles.

For the Oliver election noted politicians for and opposed to the premier came from various points throughout the province, and the opera-house seating 600 was crowded nightly at the meetings. As for the Chicago murder case, the Canadians seemed perplexed that the case should be so long drawn out and that there should be any question about a first degree verdict against the boys. Mystery seemed to arouse chief interest in the McCoy case.

Nelson Is Charming

Nelson is one of the most charmingly located small cities I have ever seen. Built on the side of the mountain, its streets rise one above another in a series of terraces. Each street commands a beautiful view of the Kootenay river and the mountains beyond.

Another surprise to us was the beauty of the homes and lawns. Each resident seems to vie with his neighbor in the attractiveness of his flower display, his fruit trees, his roses and the climbing vines about his home. I wondered at the greenness of the landscape, but in the local paper noticed they had an inch and a half of rain the first three days of the month and it rained each of the three days we were there.

However, I noticed sprinkling law curtailments for the residents such as Spokane used to have, the rules permitting different parts of the city to sprinkle at different hours. The town owns its power plant, its water plant and its street car system, two cars. The 6000 inhabitants are mostly along the lower part of town near the river, and the two cars seemed well patronized, hauling patrons from its two most distant suburbs to the business district.

One of our reasons for visiting Nelson was to enjoy some fishing. Forthwith a resident declared the fishing thereabouts the best in Canada, and remarked that the week before the governor general and wife, Lord and Lady Byng, on a tour of the provinces, had caused their private car to be parked at the "Pool," down the river, to enjoy the fishing. Between showers we visited the "Pool" and the falls of the Kootenay, where the municipal power plant is located. It is reached by an excellent mountain road and the 15-mile trip, scenically, was well worth the effort, although it was too rainy to enjoy the fishing.

Another attraction of Nelson to the stranger is the Doukhobor population. Doukhobor women conduct a vegetable market on Saturday near the business district and they were an interesting lot, their heads and shoulders enveloped in their many-colored shawls.

Steamer Trip Is Delight

For the river and lake trip we boarded the three-deck C. P. R. boat Saturday night, preliminary to be start at 6.30 Sunday morning. At one end of the lower deck are accommodations for 11 automobiles. Our stateroom accommodations on the upper deck were excellent. The dining room is large and the service good.

Again it was raining when the boat pulled out. But the upper deck is glass-inclosed and the chairs are large and roomy and, despite the rain, we admired the ever changing river and lake scenery. Orchards, farms and gardens at various points where the steamer stopped were landscaped and parked, recalling pictures of country scenes in England. The mountain landscape is attractive, although not of great height and not so precipitous and startling as along Lake Chelan or an Lake McDonald in Glacier Park.

Creston Is Land of Fruit

From the foot of the lake we motored through miles of the Creston fruit country near the northern Idaho border. The orchards are well kept and many of the trees were burdened ith apples and pears, although the crop there is short this year. Because of the continued rain the newly made road along the clay hills was slow going. Near Creston, however, the road is excellent.

From Yahk along the Moyie river and Moyie lakes to Cranbrook, the road is excellent and the beauty of the mountain country always has had a strong appeal for me.

In the 65 miles from Cranbrook to Fernie the highway is the best country road I have ever seen, and the last 21 miles from Elko to Fernie is a riot of mountain beauty. I have made this trip a number of times and remarked to J. Spalding, road and tourist booster at Fernie, that this scenery alone is well worth the trip.

At Fernie, the rain was still with us, thereby weakening the outlook for fishing, but Landlord Jack Gates of the King Edward hotel thought there might be some sport along the Elk river. He introduced me to Matthew Tully, braw Scotch, as the second best fisherman in Fernie, as cicerone and guide, Matthew promptly responded to the introduction, "second best fisherman" by saying, "Meaning yourself as the first best fisherman."

Only Fly Fishers True Sportsmen

Matthew has lived in Fernie many years and his chief delight is fly fishing. There is an expert bait trout fisherman in Fernie, Mathew admitted, but said he didn't count. because nobody but a fly fisherman could be a real expert and a true sportsman. While our luck was poor, the afternoon was pleasantly spent and Matthew's talks on fishing lore and his collection of flies, fastened to the inside of his hat, and all of them imported from Scotland, "where they know how to make flies that are flies" were well worth the effort.

Fernie with its estimated population of 5000 is one of the most attractive mountain towns I have ever seen, but now its business men are complaining of the coal strike that has been on since May, 800 men being on strike. To add to its troubles, one of the banks failed some time ago for $75,000, thereby working disaster to many of its working people. The coal mines are the town's chief support and the effect of the strike has been disastrous. But, as one of the residents remarked, there have been strikes in othr years and Fernie in the end has always successfully weathered the financial storm.

From Eastport to Bonners' Ferry the new road is excellent, and exceping for short stretches of new work near Sandpoint the road is good into Spokane. Outward bound, the worst stretches of road encountered were between Dalkena and Metaline Falls, where new construction is under way and for about five miles between Metaline Falls and the boundary. — The Spokesman-Review.

Dorothy Dalton and Jack Holt In "The Lone Wolf" At Orphem Next Monday

While the picturization of Louis Joseph Vance's "The Lone Wolf" called for more men than it did women, Director S. E. V. Taylor saw that the feminine acting contingent more than held up its end of the making of the big film. Co-starring with Jack Holt in the Vance story is Dorothy Dalton, one of Paramount's former stars and who has appeared in some of the biggest screen successes of recent years.

Miss Dalton plays Lucy Shannon, the trusted agent of "The Pack," which is on the trail of Michael Lanyard, the "Lone Wolf." Lanyard is played by Holt. Other prominent women are Charlotte Walker, one of the most prominent and popular of stage and screen players, and Lucy Fox, one of the prettiest and most shapely women in pictures, today.

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

HOME BANK HAD BIG OVERDRAFTS

TORONTO, Sept. 29.—In the trial of Sidney H. Jones, Home Bank auditor, this morning, Gordon L. Chapman, former assistant manager of the Toronto branch, explained various entries in the ledger of the branch and told the court the state of many accounts on May 31, 1923.

The Cooper Mason current account on that date showed an overdraft of $19,000; the Cooper Mason trust account as overhrown by $13,523.

The A. J. Pattison junior company was overdrawn $155,792; the Canadian Debenture Corporation, $15,852; Pelatt and Pelatt overdrawn $36,522; Canada Realty company $24,701; Port Credit Brick company with which M. J. Haney was connected, $18,456; British Dominion Holding and Investment company, $100,000; Canadian Property company, $1,461,494, and T. S. O'Connor, $5,024.

Witness said the Athletic Suit company, to which the bank had made loans, made an assignment The bank held certain securities in the case which had no market value.

A monthly statement was produced and there was a paragraph stating with names the amount of advances to the directors. Witness signed monthly statements and said he thought that they were proper and correct. Mr. Greer objected to the statements and book entries being allowed as evidence, until the crown showed what connection they had with the accused. The judge ruled that the entries and statements be put in. If they were not relevant they would not be considered.

Mr. Greer drew from Mr. Chapman the admission that the monthly statements made from the Toronto branch to the head office did not give details of loans and that the figures and balances contained in them were in actual accordance with the books. The monhtly statements did show the amount of loans made to directors.

COAL CREEK NOTES

The Anglican Church up here was tastefully decorated on Sunday last on the occasion of the Harvest Festival. Rev. H. U. Oswald, of Fernie, occupied the pulpit. Special appropriate music was rendered by the choir. The Chancellor Exchequor is wearing "the smile that won't come off" in consequence of the splendid offertory. The committee desire to thank all residents who donated fruits, etc.

Quite a large number of Fernie members of Christ Church attended the Harvest Festival Services here Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Lowe and Mrs. Billsborough visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Billsborough, French Camp, Sunday last.

The copy of the telegram from Mr. F. E. Harrison in connection with the strike situation, pasted on the bulletin board, has filled the residents with more hopeful expectation.

Miss Annie Billsborough of French Camp celebrated the anniversary of her Natal Day during the past week.

The local Pythian Sisters and Brother Knights are certainly boosting the Annual Masquerade Ball to be held in ictoria Hall on Oct. 31. Tickets $1.50 per couple are now on sale.

Mr. Brady visited several friends in camp prior to his return to Calgary.

Expectations of an early settlement in the strike situation has been responsible for the return of a large number of our male residents during the past week.

A Ladies' Auxilary G.WV..A. Badge has been found in Fernie. Owner can have same by applying to the Stewards at the G.W.V.A. Rooms.

We learn that the engine at the Fernie Power house is being dismantled preparatory to shipment up here, to replace the one damaged here last week.

Superintendent Caulfield returned from the conference on Thursday morning.

The local pupils of High School who underwent the initiatory ceremony in Fernie on Friday evening last, declare they will never forget the experience

The stopping of credit by the stores in Fernie to residents here is being keenly felt

The regular meeting of the G W. V. A. will be held on Tuesday in Vets Rooms, at 7.30 p.m.

AN EPIC OF WEST IS JAMES CRUZE'S FINE PRODUCTION

A magnificent epic of the early west is James Cruze's latest Paramount production, "The Covered Wagon," which will be the feature at the Orpheum theatre for two days beginning Wednesday next. This is a picturization of Emerson Hough's new novel of the same name, and it is said to be one of the greatest photoplays ever seen on the screen.

The features embraced in this story are many and varied and include among others, the start of 350 covered wagons from Westport Landing (now Kansas City), in 1848. The terrors of fording freshet rivers, prairie fires and the like are depicted with great realism. A buffalo hunt is one of the most exciting scenes. Old Fort Bridger with a night attack and fight by day with Indians, are shown. The dividing of the trails to Oregon and California at old Fort Hall, a touch of the gold fever in California, magnificent mountain shots and a culmination of the romance with the establishment of one of the first homesteads in Oregon—these are all incidents in a picture that bristles with big scenes.

Such historical characters as Kit Carson, Jim Briger and Bill Jackson, scouts and typical western characters, are portrayed in the Paramount screen version of the novel, which is conceded to be one of the most notable literary achievements of the present decade.

The various roles are in the hands of well known screen players. The leading man is J. Warren Kerrigan, and the leading woman is Lois Wilson. Alan Hale is the villain. Others in the cast include Tully Marshall, Ethel Wales, Charles Ogle and John Fox. Jack Cunningham adapted the novel to the screen.

Duty, be it in a small matter or a great, is duty still, the command of heaven, the eldest voice of God. And it is only they who are faithful in a few things, who will be faithful over many things.—Charles Kingsley.

It is the very spirit of Christianity that the biggest thing is to regulate the smallest duties of life. Men's lives are made up of two or three big things and a multitude of little ones, and the greater rule the lesser; and unless we have got a religion and a morality that can and will keep the trifles of our lives right there will be nothing right.—Dr. Maclaren.

COAL STRIKE IS NOW SETTLED

While listening to the World Series baseball game on the radiophone this afternoon, a local fan received the welcome news that the miners strike was at an end.

The announcement, made by the radiophone operator at CFAC, the Herald, at Calgary, was in effect as follows:

"The negotiations between the operators and miners officials of District 18, U. M. W. of A., have been successful in reaching a settlement. The new agreement is based on the following scale:

Day Wage Men—A reduction of $1.17 per day.

Contract Men — A reduction of one-eighth.

Term of Agreement—Three years, but may be terminated by either party upon six months notice.

(Calgary Herald, Wednesday, Oct. 8)

Hon. James Murdock, federal minister of labor, in formed the Herald at 2.15 p.m., that a joint meeting between the operators and the miners' officials would take place at 3 p.m., at which Premier Greenfield and himself would be present.

Premier Herbert Greenfield, who has come to Calgary to endeavor to be of service in settling the coal miners' strike, while declining to make any statement for publication, when seen by a representative of the Herald on Wednesday, appeared to take a somewhat cheerful view. "I have not had an opportunity yet of going fully ino the situation," he said. "This morning I met Hon. James Murdock, federal minister of labor but I am not yet in a position to express any opinion."

Asked if he would be remaining in Calgary long, the premier said that if some settlement was not reached by Wednesday night, he was leaving for Edmonton to meet Premier Mackenzie King, who was speaking in the northern city on Thursday. He proposed, in the event of no settlement being reached, to return to Calgary on Thursday night.

Hon. James Murdock, when seen, said he had no comment to make on the present position of negotiations. He declined to say whether the situation was better or worse than it was on Tuesday.

From what can be gathered from an unofficial source, however, matters are rapidly approaching a climax. The minister addressed a letter to the operators on Tuesday, to which they replied. He also addressed a communication to the miners' officials, and they in turn have also replied. The nature of the miners' letter, it is understood, is that they will not make any further concessions towards meeting the operators and if such is actually the case, the negotiations have resulted in a complete deadlock.

To what extent this may be overcome by the efforts of Premier Greenfield and the federal minister of labor, will remain to be seen. From what has been gathered from unofficial sources the prospects of a settlement of the strike at the time of writing are none too hopeful.

SENATORS WIN WORLD SERIES

The most spectacular World Series for the baseball championship of the world came to a close with a gigantic struggle for supremacy between the New York Gians and the Washington Senators, the latter winning the game and the series after a 12 innings battle by a score of four runs to three.

This game completes the series Washington winning by four games to three.

APPEAL FOR LIBRARY FUNDS

Dear Mr. Editor—May I refer through the medium of your paper to a matter of some importance to the people of Fernie.

A supply of good clean literature is almost as necessary as good clean food, for the mental life has its demands as well as the physical. To furnish such literature some public spirited citizens have for some years been supporting a Public Library, where for $2.00 it is possible to obtain the loan of $200 worth of books a year. Surely this is a deserving institution.

Now, sir, the Library has reached such a critical financial condition that it seems impossible to continue its work at all, unless some special sacrifice is made. There are a few subscriptions overdue, but these are all good, and only need a reminder to have the money promptly paid in. These however will not cover our indebtedness. We need a hundred new subscriptions right away.

A committee of the General Library Board has consented to put forth a special effort to help in this matter. These men, D. G. Harvie, A. C. Cummings, A. J. Moffatt, E. S. Martin, W. R. Pepper and myself, will be only too glad to receive subscriptions and donations for this worthy institution.

We would like, I know, to see a library here some day worthy of the city of Fernie. Of course we must wait until we receive substantial endowments for that purpose. In the meantime we would ask all those who are anxious to keep the candle alight, to give the committee all possible help and encouragement.

Yours very truly,
J. V. Rewers.

OLD PARTIES EJECT LABOR

London, Oct. 9.—The house of commons will be dissolved tonight and a general election will be held Oct. 29, it was announced this afternoon after King George held a private council at Buckingham Palace, at which he signed a proclamation dissolving parliament.

London, Oct. 8.—Great Britain's first Labor government virtually came to an end at 11 o'clock tonight, when by a combination of Conservative and Liberal votes, the house of commons carried a motion demanding that a select committee of the house investigate the action of the attorney general, Sir Patrick Hastings, in withdrawing prosecution in the case of the Communist, James R. Campbell, acting editor of the Workers' Weekly, charged with inciting his majesty's forces to sedition.

The government declined to accept the motion, and treated it as a vote of censure, which, if adopted by the commons, would involve an appeal to the country against parliament's verdict.

The debate was sharp and exciting and after it was closed, the opposition wanted to drop Sir Robert Horne's motion of censure and vote on Sir John A. Simon's amendment, calling for an investigation. On the government's refusal to accept the latter course, the house divided on the question as to which it should vote on.

By a vote of 359 to 198 it decided to vote on the Simon amendment.

This was equivalent to the defeat of the censure motion, and the Simon amendment became the substantive motion, and was carried 364 to 198.

Announcement of the figures was received with loud cheering and counter-cheering.

The prime minister, J. Ramsay McDonald, immediately arose and said:

"In view of what has happened, Mr. Speaker, I move that the house now adjourns."

This was agreed to unanimously.

The premier will see the king tomorrow and ask for dissolution of parliament.

It is understood however that the government has decided to carry on until the Irish boundary bill is safe and the boundary commission appointed.

Throughout the final scenes the excitement rose to the highest pitch; jibes and retorts were flung across the house and some of the members indulged in singing. Up to the end there were rumors of maneuvres to avoid defeating the government. But if, as appeared not improbable from the tone of some of the speeches, there was some disposition on the part of the opposition to reconsider their tactics they had seemingly committed themselves too far to recede.

There is little doubt that the labor party and the government welcomes an appeal to the country thus, as they contend, thrust upon them, and are convinced that they will return to the house of commons a much stronger party, even though they may not command a majority in the house over all other parties. They believe they have a good cause to present to the electors, in what they argue is the trivility of the question upon which they have been defeated, and on their record, especially in the realm of foreign affairs and finance.

FIRE IN MINE AT COAL CREEK

Fernie was startled on Saturday last by the report of a fire in No. 1 East Mine, the largest mine at Coal Creek. All the fire fighting appliances at the Rescue Station were sent up and a large force of men put to work.

The fire, which started in an old working about two miles in, had gained considerable headway. A pipe line was run into the place and a steady stream of water has been kept flowing in ever since. After a hard fight the fire was apparently stamped out and the place is being cleaned up.

HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

The first meeting of the Literary Society of the Fernie High School was held on Friday afternoon, Oct 3. The purpose of the Society is to teach the pupils to take part in public affairs. Helen Sewell was elected President for the ensuing year, and the committee chosen for arranging programs was Ruth McIntyre, Edna Charnock, Gladys Bean, Dorothy Corrie, Billie Duncan, Eddie Pennington and Osborne Kennedy.

These meetings are held every second Friday and every student is expected to take part.

The first meeting was opened with a recitation given by Connie White, and following this was a short play entitled "Mr. and Mrs," by May Maltman and Albert Markland.

Mr. Cummings then gave a very interesting address on "Democracy of the High School." The greater freedom of the High School should be looked upon as leading to greater responsibility. The world rightly expects more of a boy or girl who has graduated from High School. The High School also broadens ones interest in life and prepares for taking a greater part in the affairs of the community. His talk was greatly appreciated by the students.

The School Nurse has just finished the annual examination of the High School students and her report on their health is in the main favorable. Last Tuesday she gave a five minte talk in each room on the causes and prevention of typhoid.

The High School Athletic Association held their first meeting on Sept. 11. The officers of that club for the following year are: Howard Corrie, President; Dorothy Corrie, Vice-President; Gladys Bean, Secretary; Bill Duncan, Treasurer.

The annual initiation party of the High School was held on Friday, Sept. 26. Everything went off fine and the freshies declare they will never forget the experience.

THE PACTS WITH RUSSIA

Viscount Grey of Falloden has always been regarded as an authority detached from the animosities of party strife. He has just resigned his position as Liberal leader in the House of Lords, and in doing so has withdrawn from active participation in politics. He has taken occasion, however, to give his views on the matter of the pacts which have been signed between Britain and the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics. He finds no fault with the present government for having given official recognition to the government of Russia, but, he says, when you come to an agreement the truth about the character of the Russian government ought not to be concealed. He points out that that government was brought into existence by massacre, and is just as much a despotism as the government of the Czar which it destroyed.

Viscount Grey, who is fully informed on the situation, makes no secret of his belief that the practices, methods, and principles of the present Russian government have destroyed the productive capacity of Russia. He says that if Britain is going to guarantee a loan to such a government, unless it is done with ample security as to the use that is going to be made of such a loan, then it means pledging British credit to support the state of things in Russia at present. He foresees the possibility, under such conditions, of so impairing British credit that presently there will be no British credit to pledge. It is illuminative to quote Viscount Grey on the subject. He says:

I never knew an agreement between foreign nations start under such bad auspices. It is claimed in Russia as a forced capitulation by the British government. The British Prime Minister has replied that the treaty implies a Russian surrender to us. A treaty so variously described, you may take it, is not going to make for good feeling between the two countries. As to what ought to happen in the House of Commons, I would say this: I do not think it fair of the government to have brought before the House of Commons an agreement such as this, and I hope the House of Commons will say that it will have no responsibility whatever for a thing which is so vague and in many of its conditions so likely to lead to misunderstanding and future disagreement. I shall be very much surprised if the House of Commons is willing to pledge itself to the loan for an unknown amount. That really is not business. I think the government ought to be told this. When you have reached the point at which you can say what the amount will be, and that it will be spent for the British advantage, then you can bring it before the House of Commons; but as it is the agreement is neither good business nor good foreign policy.

AN IMPENDING ELECTION

Not so long ago, Britain could enjoy a respite of seven years between election and election. Nowadays, these disrupting political contests seem to come once a year, and when they come they settle nothing. The curious thing about the election now impending is that no one wants it, no one is ready for it and yet it is forcing itself upon the country.

The precipitating issue, it is generally conceded, will be the treaty with Russia, but the election may well be fought on something else. The Russian treaty, as the New Statesman has warned the government, is not a good battleground. It would be too easy to smother in folds of sentiment all the economic arguments in favor of subsidizing the Soviet government. While the Russian question can nt be set aside—the opposition will see to that—there will probably be an attempt to place more emphasis on domestic questions, housing, possibly, the nationalization and exploitation of coal mines, and some scheme for the government importation of foodstuffs.

As for the Conservatives, they have plans for Empire development as opposed to the development of Russia, and schemes for solving the unemployment problem by means of emigration on a large scale. Protection has gone by the board, but the preference planks still remain in the party's platform.

The Liberals are more negative in their plans and outlook than either of the other parties, and are in serious danger of being ground between the upper and nether millstones. Many believe that, as a party, they will not be able to survive another contest, and that the coming election will see the end of the three-party system.

Here and There

The Earl of Leitrim, Irish peer, who has been touring Canada, was much struck with the resemblance between north-west Ireland and the maritime provinces, with their wooded hills, sandy beaches and plentitude of fish and game, as playgrounds for the tourist.

What is believed to be the largest salmon ever caught by hook and line in waters adjacent to Vancouver, B.C., was landed at Horseshoe Bay, Howe Sound, recently by A. C. Cohen. The fish measured four feet, one inch in length and weighed 64 pounds. It took 35 minutes to land it.

Irwin S. Cobb, the famous American humorist, has been hunting in the St. Maurice valley, served by Canadian Pacific lines. This is by no means his first trip to Canadian hunting and fishing centres, as he is a keen sportsman and has visited the wilds in Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

Among the passengers landing at Quebec from the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Scotland," recently was: Miss Margaret Bondfield, M.P., a member of the Cabinet of the Macdonald Government of Great Britain. Miss Bondfield is in Canada to study conditions as they affect female immigrants.

Some interesting facts were made public by E. J. Belleisle, superintendent of the fish and game department of the Province of Quebec, when in Montreal recently. The province is now teeming with wild life, he says, mainly because of its conservation policy, whereby preserves are rented to fish and game clubs on the understanding that they appoint wardens. There are 500 such clubs employing a total of over 1,000 wardens.

The Trans-Canada Limited, crack transcontinental express of the Canadain Pacific Railway, completed its last run of the season on September 17th, and will not be operated again until next May. The train, which is the fastest long-distance express in North America, covered 758,748 miles in the season, or three times the distance between the earth and the moon, in its 238 runs, and carried the equivalent of 95,000 passengers for varying distances.

The new wing of the Chateau Lake Louise, the Canadian Pacific Railway's hotel at Lake Louise, one of the choicest beauty spots in the Rockies, is now under construction to replace that portion destroyed by fire some months ago. It will be a nine-storey, fire-proof, steel-frame structure of stucco, brick and stone, richly furnished in the best style of a mountain hotel, and will contain 280 bedrooms, bringing the total in the hotel up to 390.

The hunt for fur is extending northward each year, according to officials of the Hudson's Bay Company and Revillon Freres. They have already despatched their steamers on their annual tour of the northern posts which each season are being located farther and farther north as the field of the pelt hunters is extended into the Arctic. The Hudson's Bay Company now has a numerous chain of posts in Baffinland and other areas north of Hudson Strait.

MISS DANA IN "MERTON OF THE MOVIES"

And through a curious co-incidence Glenn Hunter, the "Merton" of the photoplay, made "Merton of the Movies" his first appearance in the West.

And a week later they had exchanged their first kiss. It happened, of course, on one of the stages at the famous Players-Lasky studio. James Cruze, who made "The Covered Wagon" and other successes and the director of "Merton," ordered them to do it. It was recorded on the film.

Cruze has selected an especially strong cast for this great story of youthful pathos and laughter. Besides Hunter and Miss Dana, the players include De Witt Jennings, Elliott Roth, Luke Cosgrave, Gale Henry, Charles Sellon, Charles Ogle, Ethel Wales, Frank Jonasson and Eleanor Lawson.

"Merton of the Movies" was originally a novel by Harry Leon Wilson and later became a stage play by Marc Connelly and George S. Kaufman. Hunter made his first great success in the stage play. Walter Woods wrote the film continuity Karl Brown is supervising photography.

The story revolves around the experiences—tragic, funny, and amorous—of a small town youth, who is movie-struck and goes to Hollywood to make his fortune in the pictures. Miss Dana has an especially strong part as the sophisticated little actress who "mothers" him and eventually forces him against his will to achieve his ambition.

"Merton" comes to the Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday.

Depend on Gin Pills to relieve Rheumatism

"Ten years ago, when a victim of rheumatism, I found great relief after taking Gin Pills. In fact, they put me on my feet. Ever since that time, when I have the slightest kidney trouble or an appearance of my rheumatism, I take Gin Pills and find they do the work."

R. K. Faulkner, Lower Economy, N.S.

Perkins and Jessup had been having heated words as to which was the braver man. The outcome was an agreement to fight a duel after the old-time style. According to the rules they were both to be put in a darkened room each with a revolver in his hand. The first one to find the other was to fire once. After that no more shots were to be fired.

About three seconds after the lights were out was enough for Perkins. Thinking to end the agony, he crept into the fireplace and fired up the chimney.

Jessup fell dead at his feet.

WORLD'S BIG PEAT SUPPLY

The quantity of peat available in all the peat bogs of the world is one of the items being investigated this month by the World Power Conference. This, we are told, is a congress of scientists gathered in London to consider what the world will do for a supply of fuel and power when the limited coal supplies now in sight have been exhausted. We read:

"According to G. K. Fletcher, a well known British engineer, the amount of peat available is enormous, quite comparable with the world's known supplies of coal. The difficulty is that the peat is wet and has to be dried before it will burn. Drying is costly. Furthermore, the dried peat crumbles and is difficult to ship and handle. A fortune awaits the genius who will find a way to dry and burn peat on a commercial scale."

EDITORIAL ECHOES

YOU may be a big man in the business world. Your properties may represent many good round, hard dollars. You may take an interest in politics to the extent of complaining about taxation, too much legislation, useless regulation of industry, etc., etc. You may send your boy to college and your daughter to a finishing school. You may be a "successful" business man.

But do you take an interest in the government which protects your property? Or are you merely one of the kickers who complain about the radicals? Do you go to the polls and vote for men and measures you believe sound or do you instead, go out and play golf on election day and let the fellow about whom you complain do all the voting?

No matter how "big" you are your vote is worth no more than the poorest bum in town.

The "bigger" you are, the more necessary it is for you to vote, teach your children to vote and your wife to vote.

Don't leave somebody else to do your voting for you and then kick at the results.

"Your" government will be just as good as you help to make it, and no better.

IF all motorists would observe the following "Ten Commandments" there would be a great reduction in the number of accidents on the highways:

1. Drive on the right side of the road; it's just as good as the left.
2. Slow down when approaching a cross road; it is nearly as dangerous as a railroad crossing.
3. Look out for the children. You can never tell what they will do, and you are always in the wrong when you hit one.
4. Try to help instead of hindering the traffic officer; he's there for your good, and he's got a tough job.
5. Be sure that your lights are not defective or glaring; it's no joke driving into a blinding glare, as you yourself know.
6. Read and obey the warning signs; they are not put up as ornaments.
7. If you've got to speed—do it where you won't kill anybody but yourself.
8. When making minor repairs get all the wheels off the pavement and stop where your car can be seen from both directions; otherwise you may stop longer than you anticipated.
9. Speeding around corners is a straight route to the hospital. Don't race past a stopped car. Some day the jury will call it manslaughter.
10. Use discretion. The fact that you had the right-of-way won't bring anybody back to life, least of all, yourself.

THE diaphragm beats a tatoo on the storach when you laugh. Every time you let go a hearty laugh this diaphragm pops up and down on your liver, and helps to drive away the very thing that gives you the blues—biliousness.

Laughter is the best brand of pills on earth. Laughter strikes in when it comes from without, and instantly comes to the surface when it sarts from within.

Laughter penetrates.

You may laugh because you are happy, and you may be happy because you laugh. It is one thing where the cause is the effect and the effect is the cause. Any man can be a millionaire of good cheer.

VALUE OF A NAME

A good name, we are told, is more precious than ointment. A good name spells reputation in its best sense. A good name is an asset in business. There is a spell in a good name. Do we recognize this as much as we should? Do we realize in the measure we should that "Good name in man and woman is the immediate jewel of their soul"? Is there not something in the meaning of "He that filches from me my good name, robs me of that which not enriches him, and makes me poor indeed"? If the truth of this was impressed on the individual there would not only be the greatest care taken to guard his and her name from reproach but to think twice before taking away the good name of man or woman by idle and thoughtless gossip which amount to slander.

A good name should be the individual's greatest possession. The individual who seeks to rob another of his or her good name is a greater offender than the individual who robs another of his worldly goods. We are told that the "greatest of these is charity." Charity does not consist merely in giving away material things to help others. There is more than this in what it conveys. To seek needlessly and for the mere sake of gossip to rob an individual of his good name is not a charitable act. There are occasions where we are bound to condemn. There are things to which we cannot shut our eyes. But this is a totally differnt thing to taking away lightly the reputation of man or woman. In this there is the necessity to realize thoroughly what is conveyed in one's duty to one's neighbor.

It is impossibl to measure the wrong that may be done by an idle tongue, the tongue that does not pause to think of the evil that it may possibly do. As we value our own reputations we should value the reputations of others. We should be slow to judge unless we have the tangible proof that there is room for judgment. There is such a thing as being done to death by slanderous tongues. There is the moral murder as much as there is the physical murder. There is the thinking of evil as much as the doing of evil. Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh, and if we impute evil to others without tangible cause we lay ourselves open to the evil that abideth in us. In this there is the truth of "Judge not, lest ye be judged."

If life is to go on as it should, if there is to be charitable feelings one toward the other, there must be the necessity of abstaining from evil report without sufficient grounds. There is often a thoughtlessness in slander. But we have to remember that "many a shaft at random sent finds mark the archer never meant."—Exchange.

What a glorious feeling it is to be well! What a relief to be free of cathartics, salts, laxatives and purgatives that merely aggravate constipation and are so unpleasant to take and so weakening in their effect!

What a satisfaction to know that the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes will absolutely and permanently relieve constipation. By a certain process, the juices of these fruits can be concentrated and combined with tonics—and it is these intensified fruit juices that correct constipation, relieve headaches and biliousness, and make you well and keep you well.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold everywhere at 25c. and 50c. a box—or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

"Characteristics of Alberta Coal," and "History of Early Coal Mining in Alberta" are two subjects of importance to be discussed during the first day. Various methods of mineing will be under discussion on the second day, to be followed by a banquet held in the Greenhill hotel in the evening. An excursion to visit the new milling plant of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., of Canada, Limited, at Kimberley, B.C., will be organized for the third day.

DR. BOAK GETS FOUR YEARS

Victoria, Oct. 8.—Four years' imprisonment was the sentence imposed late today by Mr. Justice Murphy upon Drr. E. W. Boak, who was found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the deaths of David Ballanyne and Alexander McLachlan, allegedly struck by an automobile in Saanich on Aug. 20.

The trial lasted 12 days and was remarkable for its volume of evidence, 57 witnesses being calld by the crown and 14 by the defence. Public interest was at fever heat during the hearing, crowds in which women predominated, assembling before the court house doors daily hours before the opening of the court and packing every inch of space available during the day.

M. B. Jackson, K.C., for the crown in his argument, scored strongly against the accused doctor. He said that Boak and his companions on the night of the accident killed Ballantyne and McLachlan and were aware of it.

He argued that the party had got together after the killing and had attempted to clean the Boak car with grass. He cited evidence that bits of grass were found on the car mingled with blood and brain matter.

He alleged that the whole defence story had been "cooked" immediately after the accident.

Counsel for Dr. Boak announced tonight that the conviction would be appealed at once.

Recently these seven members sent word to the head body at Reading, Penn., that owing to the strike here they would be unable to pay their dues. The seven ladies were very pleasantly surprised the other day when they each received a check for $50.

The Board of Trade meeting which is called for next Tuesday evening should be attended by all who can get there. The Prime Minister of Canada and his party will be the guests of Fernie for the whole day on the 28th. Other towns are entertaining them in a suitable manner and Fernie will want to do the same. Other matters in connection with the business interests of Fernie will come up.

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday, Oct. 4, at 4 p.m., when Miss Virginia Wolfe, of Cranbrook, was united in marriage to Arthur Percy Adlard, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Adlard of this city. Rev. H. U. Oswald was the officiating clergyman. W. C. Adlard acted as best man and Mrs. W. C. Adlard as matron of honor. Following the ceremony the wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Adlard. The room was daintily decorated in a white and pink scheme. The guests consisted of intimate friends and relations. Mr. and Mrs. James Adlard, of Creston, made the trip for the occasion. Gordon Austin rendered musical selections during the evening. The bride and groom left Fernie by car for Spokane and other points for a two weeks honeymoon trip., returning to Cranbrook, where they will reside in future.

Gordon McTeer, late catcher for the Fernie baseball team, is making a name for himself in Rugby in Calgary. He is captain of the Calgary team, who won a hard game on the 5th from Edmonton. The Calgary Albertan referring to the game says: Gordie McTeer won the game. He had capable assistants, but he ought to get the credit. He outgeneraled the opposition in almost every play. He did not kick as far as Robson, but he placed his kicks to make them count more. He hit the line hard. He passed the ball so his halves could get away well. There wasn't really very much more that he could have done than he did.

VALUE IS DISTORTED

What a crescendo of anguished protest there would be in the average community of an hundred thousand persons if the assessor were to add three to three hundred dollars to every tax bill! And this would be to reimburse the governing community for the necessities provided under the usages of modern civilization. Taxes, which are confronted with proverbial protests are the medium through which the citizen of the average community is provided with police protection, schools, roads, street lights, and such surrounding essentials which we are prone to receive and enjoy without giving a thought to their ource.

Within very recent history between 90,000 and 100,000 persons paid between three and three hundred dollars each to see a man who only recently had been a porter in an Argentine drug store tug and struggle around the ring with a retired stevedore. The first received $200,000, the second $150,000. In the words of a former champion: "It was the saddest looking heavyweight fight I have witnessed in my 40 years within the shadow of the prize ring. They fought just like men who had graduated directly from those jobs into ring harness without any training whatsoever."

Months before such an event is staged, the "smoke up," as it is technically called in the world of flattened noses and cauliflower ears, is started. Thousands upon thousands of columns of space are devoted to exploitation of the "battle of the century" or some other such misleading description. That is merely to arouse to use another technical and very descriptive term, "the sucker interest." It is aroused, the crowd gathers—more often than not to see a farcical, disappointing, generally illegal exhibition.

Another "smoke up" is in progress soon—and the same people, who would yodel long and loud at paying a tax account, are shorn again of their money.

And what of these "heroes" of the prize ring, or the wrestlers whom we have seen strain and hippodrome? Their declining days usually are mentioned once or twice to awaken public in terest in a "benefit" performance. One who was credited with being the cleverest of his time now languishes in a cell, charged with being the perpetrator of a sordid, disgusting murder, at the end of a career to which attaches no credit.

MOTOR ACCIDENTS

Civilization has to advance many stages before it eliminates the danger to life and property from reckless driving of motor cars. Instead of attempting out here to minimize the risk we pave a narrow portion of our roads for the use of motors and only rarely provide sidewalks in the country districts for our pedestrians. It is small wonder that accidents happen. Where there are footpaths in country districts, if these ran in the centre of the road it is fairly obvious that many accidents would be avoided, but the suggestion has never even been enterained. What is really wanted is broader roads and more lee way for motor traffic. We seek by paving provisions to have motor cars pass within a foot or two of each other and then marvel when accidents occur. We are an unsophisticated people in our discernment about cause and effect, and there can be no question whatever that, in the matter of protection of life and property, we are penny wise and pound foolish.

WORK FOR ALL BUT FATHER

(By Henry M. Tichenor)

"Everybody works but father" — God, what a ghastly lay; "Everybody works but father"—he wants too much pay! Mother and Ann and Maggie and Tiny Tim and Bill work like hell for a paltry wage in the sweatshop and the mill. "Everybody works but father"—he talks like a fool—he asks enough in wages to send the kids to school—he wants more for his daily toil than we pay the wife and brood — he says he ought to have enough to keep them all in food. "Everybody works but father"—for him we have no need—all we want of father is just to keep up the breed. The mother and the babies, that's all we require, the mother and the babies—those are the ones we hire. Just keep on breeding babies—that's the bull moose hunch — just keep on breeding babies, we can work the whole damn bunch!

Historic Site at Friendly Cove, B.C.

The historic past of the Nootka section of the West Coast was recalled recently when Lieutenant-Governor Walter C. Nichol, of British Columbia, unveiled and dedicated a monument commemorating the explorations of those great English navigators, Captain Cook and Captain Vancouver.

The monument was built under the auspices of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada which is placing similar memorials across the Dominion on sites hallowed by interesting chapters of Canadian history.

A large party travelled on the Canadian Pacific S.S. Princess Maquinna for the ceremony and left the steamer at the cannery wharf, boarding launches for the short run to Friendly Cove. The party included Lieut.-Governor Nichol, H. J. S. Muskett, his secretary, Judge Howay and Mr. Forsyth, Dr. C. S. Newcombe, the well-known historical authority who wrote the "Circumnavigation of Vancouver Island," Prof. W. N. Sage of the University of British Columbia, Mrs. R. B. McMicking, representing the I.O.D.E., Mrs. and Miss Howay, Thomas Deasy, late Indian agent for the Queen Charlotte agency and a pioneer of 1859, Dr. David Donald, Mrs. Cave-Browne-Cave, and Professor Macmillan Brown, chancellor of the University of New Zealand. Dr. Macmillan Brown is one of the leading ethnologists of the Pacific, and has been spending the summer on the coast investigating the Indians and their customs.

The new monument is seven feet broad by eleven feet high, with a standard size bronze tablet bearing the following inscription:

"Nootka Sound, discovered by Capt. Cook, in March, 1778. In June, 1789, Spain took possession and established and maintained a settlement until 1795. The capture of British vessels in 1789 almost led to war, which was avoided by the Nootka Convention, 1790. Vancouver and Quadra met here in August, 1792, to determine the land to be restored under the convention."

A feature of the entertainment provided those who took part in the unveiling ccremony was the Indian dancing, arranged by aborigines from Clayoquot Sound, the Wicaninish of the early navigators' journals.

Tentative plans are afoot for an elaborate pageant to be held at Friendly Cove, Nootka Island, in four years time to celebrate the 150th anniversary of events commemorated by the unveiling of the cairn.

THIS SEASON'S TRANS-CANADA MILEAGE EQUALLED THREE TRIPS TO THE MOON

Powerful locomotives are changed forty-eight times daily in the movement of the Trans-Canada trains and ten sets of equipment are in constant operation.

The Trans-Canada Limited, the crack transcontinental express of the Canadian Pacific Railway, operated from May to September, completed its 1924 schedule on September 13th, when its last trains started and on September 17th these trains steamed into the termini at Montreal and Vancouver, bringing to a close one of the service's most successful seasons. The train covers the 2,886 miles of its run between the two cities in 90 hours and its Toronto-Vancouver run of 2,707 miles in 86 hours.

Mr. C. B. Foster, Passenger Traffic Manager, summing up the season's performance, gave out some remarkably interesting figures which afford a partial insight into the magnitude of the task of maintaining such a service. The Trans-Canada Limited began its runs this year on May 18th, and before being discontinued made 119 trips in each direction, or 238 in all. The equipment of the train is limited to one baggage, one dining car, four standard sleepers, one 10-compartment car Vancouver to Montreal, and one 10-compartment car Toronto to Winnipeg, with a drawing room-3-compartment observation sleeper Montreal to Vancouver, plus a local sleeper on the west-bound movement only from Fort William to Winnipeg. Thus the maximum accommodation available in each direction between the East and Winnipeg is forty-eight sections, twenty-three compartments and five drawing rooms, while between Winnipeg and the Coast there are forty-eight sections, thirteen compartments and five drawing rooms. The average number of passengers on the train at night varies from seventy-five to 110 on different sections of the line, but for the 119 days the train was in service last season there was a one-night use of approximately 100,000 berths. The east-bound and west-bound trains together covered 6,292 miles every day, which includes the distance between Montreal and Vancouver, 2,886 miles, and between Toronto and Sudbury, 260 miles, covered by each train and its Toronto-Sudbury connection. Thus the season's mileage was 758,748 for the 238 trips, or three times the distance from the earth to the moon.

Each day four Trans-Canada trains were in motion over the Company's lines in each direction. At 8 A.M. each day, one was west-bound between Cartier and Chapleau, one between Kenora and Winnipeg, one between Medicine Hat and Calgary, and one between North Bend and Vancouver, while at that hour one east-bound was approaching Glacier, one approaching Regina, one east of Fort William and one between Chalk River and Ottawa. Ten complete sets of equipment, of which four were in motion each way every day and one was being cleaned, refitted and turned round at each end of the run, were required to maintain the service.

The year's schedule called for 22 changes of engine on every Trans-Canada run from Montreal to Vancouver and two engines for the Toronto-Sudbury connection made by each train. There were 48 engine runs daily for the service. Including these engine-stops, the trains made only 26 stops on their whole run. It is on this steady movement at a uniform speed over long distances and not on high speed that the trains maintained their fast schedules over the transcontinental journey and the elimination of all but essential stops resulted in the smooth running for which it is noted. Owing to the necessity of changing trains crews on such a long run, about 14 crews, or about 84 men, were required for one trip on each train, while 48 sleeping and dining-car employees were required for each trip on one train or nearly 400 men for this branch of the Trans-Canada service. None of the hundreds of employees whose duties also associate them with the Trans-Canada Limited, but who do not travel with it, is included in these figures.

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

B.C. WOMEN BOOTLEGGING

Judging from the nmber and variety of bootleggers who find their calling remunerative there, Northern British Columbia threatens to displace East of Suez as a country "where a man can raise a thirst' according to Mr. J. A. (Five Points) Shanks, who has returned to Victoria after spending the Summer at Prince Rupert and Stewart.

"Most people imagine that the bootlegger is a hidden, secretive individual, who plies his trade with muffled guns, so to speak," said Mr. Shanks last night. "That may be true in vicinities where the law is very active, or where the stool pigeons work on a commission basis, or where the citizens condemn rather than condone the traffic.

But in practically all the territory of the province which lies north and east of Prince Rupert, the bootlegger is supreme. He or she, whichever the case may be, and there are as many of one sex as the other, carry their heads mighty high and follow their illegal pursuit without fear of law or regard for public opinion. They put on the same airs and are received in the same society as any other merchant or banker. In fact, it is not infrequent to find the leading businessman and the most influential bootlegger one and the same person.

"Trade in liquor is generally a side issue, it is usually connected with some legitimate enterprise which in many cases would be a subject for bankruptcy proceedings if it were not for the uplift that rum peddling given it.

"Strange, too, in what unexpected places one can get a 'snort,'nor is the bootlegger always the smooth, slick individual which might be expected. It may be an old lady of the grandmother type, sweet, motherly and homelike; or a brisk, alert business-man who resembles a staunch pillar of some leading church; or it may be some crude bewhiskered character in overalls and jumper who doles out the 'dope.' In any vase the rubber-heeled, sneaky methods of peddling the stuff that were necessary during real prohibition days are no longer considered needful. The boldness of the business is really what phts it over.

"Nobody will squeal on what everybody seems to know; if it was done more slyly some inquistive bird would notice it and make a noise.

"But that is only one of the sidelights on our great north country, and possibly a necessary evil where conditions are more or less in the primitive state.

"The town of Stewart is wonderfully situate on a picturesque and really ideal site. With a sheltered gateway to the broad Pacific at its feet, it nestles snugly among the ore-bearing hills that rear snowcapped peaks on either side, while behind the town stretches the green and fertile valley of the Bear. No place in all British Columbia has better surroundings for great possibilities.

"In the hills are to be found the prospectors, the miners, the diamond drillers and all the great machinery that is used in bringing to the surface nature's hidden treasures. The many high-grade producing properties adjacent to the turbulent and swift-flowing Bear, noticeably the Dunwell, which has proven the great surprise of the mining world, shows conclusively that Stewart lies in the lap of a golden future.

"The citizens of Stewart are optimistic and energetic. They are there with the glad hand when newcomers arrive, and give an enthusiastic welcome to anyone who appears inclined to make a home among them. In a word, they are 'western' to the core. Their one united, supreme object appears to be the building of a permanent, prosperous mining town in the heart of a nature-endowed mineral zone.

"Stewart cannot fail to grow and develop as time goes on. It has stupendous rugged beauty; it possesses a wonderfully healthy athosphere; it has an over-abundance of mountain distilled water, and above all, it has hills upon hills of great wealth.'—The Colonist.

FERNIE ELKS DANCE

Fernie Elks again demonstrated their good fellowship in putting over their second public dance in the I.O. O.F. hall on Monday evening, Oct. 6th.

The dance, through the many friends of the Elks, was a huge success in every way. There were parties from Eureka and Rexford, Mont., Roosville, Waldo, Coleman, Michel Coal Creek and other places in attendance. Our friends from Eureka were especially well pleased, and on leaving said they had the time of their lives and that the Fernie Elks sure put it over big.

The hall was decorated with the Elks colors, purple and white streamers, branches of trees and special Elk head design balloons and was very well planned. Thanks to the decoration committee.

At 11 o'clock the hall was full up, so to say, and still they came. Automobiles lined both sides of the street and it looked like a big night and it sure was a big night. Boys, we sure need a larger hall.

The Elks orchestra put up an unusual liberal program, especially during the prize waltz. The prize waltz had between 50 and 60 entrants, and by so many good ones it was with considerable difficulty the best were picked out. However, they finally picked out about 15 couples to try again, then five or six couples for the finals. The two beautiful silver loving cups were finally won by Miss Georgina Emard of Eureka, Mont., and H. H. Hyde, of Roosville. They were congratulated by their many friends and Mr. Hyde called for three cheers and a tiger for Miss Emard, which was cheerfully and well responded to.

After this event the supper march was rendered and refreshments served in great style with Elk design servettes, Elks famous lunch and Klondyke Nuggets.

Following the refreshments Fernie's Jazz Orchestra rendered a number of selections which were appreciated by all. Some jazz.

During the next waltz all ladies were requested to take the centre of the hall, when hundreds of Elk head design balloons were set free as a surprise. This feature was well taken, and soon the popping of bursted balloons was heard in all directions. Good-bye balloons.

On went the music and all joined in the community songs. By request of our Scotch friends a Highland Schottische was put on and half a dozen couples put it over to the enjoyment of all.

It was now about 2 a.m., still nobody wanted to go home, so the dance committee agreed to extend the dance until 3 a.m., when all said they had a great time and won't forget to come again.

TOP GRADE BULL GOES TO MICHEL

One of the finest bulls at the Canadian Pacific demonstration farm at Strathmore has just been sold to Wm. Weaver, of Michel, B.C. This is Strathmore McKinley Wayne, which was first in its class at Brandon, Saskatoon, Regina and Calgary this year, and was considered by C. W. H. Glossop, secretary of the British Friesian Association, as the best young bull of its age on the continent. His dam has three yearly official records as a two year, three year and mature cow, its mature record being 20,571 pounds of milk and 763.5 pounds of butter in the year.

Mr. Weaver, it is said, has the largest herd of Holsteins in South Eastern Kootenay. He won the B.C. dairyman's cup for the best record cow in 1918, his two year old heifer producing 660 pounds of butter during the year on twice a day milking. He expects to do further record work and is endeavoring to build up a high producing strain of Holsteins of exceptionally good type.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Mark Branch has returned to camp after a three months visit to Whitehaven, Cumberland, Eng.

A very pleasant evening was spent in the Club Hall on Friday last, when the young folks staged a social dance. Kielty & Co. supplied the music. Refreshments were served during the evening.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. John Millar, a son.

The prompt action of the Coal Co. officials up here averted what might have been a great catastrophe. Shortly before noon on Saturday last it was found that a fire had broken out in No. 1 East mine. Fire fighting appliances were quickly requisitioned and danger averted.

It is an ill wind that blows nobody good. The fire in No. 1 East mine has been the means of creating employment for a number of the married residents up here.

Our old friend Bish Weir has been indulging in the Sport of Kings. Unfortunately he could not show much results of his prowess with firearms.

Mrs. Pilking has returned to her home in Toronto after a few weeks spent in the camp, the guest of her sister and brother.

Kielty & Co. are to be commended for the spirit shown in giving the residents of the camp a few hours of enjoyment. Another free dance for the residents will be given in the Club Hall tonight.

One of our local nimrods who has added trapping to his repertoire, on looking at his bear trap found a rabbit ensnared.

Walter Birkett, an old timer of this camp, paid a visit during the week. On realizing the existing conditions he entrained for other fields.

Tom Branch is reported as having secured a fine cub bear in the Rock Cut vicinity.

A notice has been posted on the bulletin board inviting all wives of Knights of Pythias and members of the Pythian Sisters to attend a social evening given by the Fernie Knights on Tuesday next at 9 p.m. Dancing and refreshments.

The "Covered Wagon" show at the Orpheum theatre drew a large number of residents to town on Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Jack Campbell has returned to camp after a four months visit to his home town.

To ascertain which of the presidential candidates they preferred, a straw vote of the convicts in a United States prison was recently taken. The vote was almost unanimously in favor of the candidate advocating the "open door" policy.

Political campaigners across the border are sidetracking the government ownership issue when they point to the Canadian National Railways as an example. The situation was such that the system was "wished" on the country without recourse.

TIMBER SALE X 5227

CITY COUNCIL IN SESSION

A full attendance was recorded at the regular meeting of the city council last evening.

The mayor reported that owing to the illness of Mr. Wilson, nothing definite had yet been done with regard to the sale of the power house engine to the C.N.P. Coal Co., but stated that he expected the deal to go through during the coming week.

A communication was read from the Workmen's Compensation Board regarding the case of Wm. Hartwell, who recently lost his eyesight. The Board stated that this case was not covered by the Act and therefore they could do nothing. Hartwell is now a charge upon the city. Discussing the case, it was decided by the council that if at all possible Hartwell should be sent to the Old Man's Home.

Messrs. Herchmer and Douglas waited on the council on behalf of the Fernie Board of Trade and requested the council to make a donation to that body so that they might be able to carry n their work in connection with the Tourist Association.

Messrs. McLeod and Phillips, on behalf of the Fernie Farmers Institute stated before the council that restrictions should be placed upon milk and cream being shipped into the city from Alberta or other outside points. They stated that local dairymen were unable to compete with this class of produce as the Alberta herds were not subjected to the same rigorous tests as those in B.C. Their request was that if milk is shipped into the city, it should carry a certificate of purity.

After considerable discussion upon this matter, the council laid it over until some data could be secured which would show what action the city could or could not take. Mayor Henderson stated he thought it was a provincial government question.

The work of laying the water main under the Elk River was discussed and in the opinion of some aldermen it is very probable that this work will be completed some time next week.

The request of the Board of Trade then came up for discussion and a motion was passed granting that body $250, the same amount as they were granted last year.

CANADIAN MINING INSTITUTE CONVENTION

The sixth annual western meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy opened in Blairmore on Thursday with about 150 delegates from various points of the Dominion, particularly the western provinces and States, being in attendance.

The sessions of the convention are being held at the Greenhill Grill Room, and many matters of interest to mining will be given consideration during the two days. On Thursday a grand banquet was given at the Cosmopolitan Hotel under the auspices of the Board of Trade and Town of Blairmore.

On Friday evening the party will be the guests of the Operators' Association to a smoker and banquet at the Greenhill Grill.

On Saturday morning a special train will be made up here for Kimberley, leaving Blairmore about 3 a.m. Sleepers will be available at 10 p.m. on Friday. Special return fare will be $7.10 plus berth rate. Return will be made per regular train.

At Kimberley the party will be the guests of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., Ltd., who will entertain them to a luncheon and a visit to their new works.

The second of a series of lectures held under the auspices of the Fernie Labor Party, was given in the Grand Theatre last evening by J .S. Woodsworth, M.P. for Winnipeg Centre. At the request of Tom Uphill, M.P.P., who occupied the chair, Mr. Woodsworth spoke on the Banking System of Canada.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, reports that the forest revenue for September was $308,000, a gain of $50,000 over the same month in 1923.

British Columbia and Alberta are contributing their quota to the British breakfast table. We've got the hens, we've got the eggs, we've got the bacon, too.

LUNCHEON FOR THE PREMIER

At a meeting of the Board of Trade held on Tuesday last, it was decided to have a luncheon on Tuesday, the 28th of this month, for the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and his party, consisting of Hon. Chas. E. Stewart, Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Hon. J. B. McGiverin, Vice President of the C.N.P. Coal Co., and Hon. Dr. J. H. King.

It is hoped that all citizens who can possibly take advantage of this opportunity of meeting the Prime Minister and his party will be present.

Tickets can be purchased up till Saturday, the 25th, from H. E. Douglas or Sherwood Herchmer.

ACCEPTED BY BIG MAJORITY

Voting on the new agreement throughout District 18 was held yesterday and the vote found acceptance by a very large majority. At Fernie out of a vote of some 550, a majority of over 475 was secured, and at Michel a majority of about 75.

It is expected that work will be resumed in a few days. At Michel the Company are signing on men today.

The full text of the agreement, which it will be noticed has been witnessed by the premier and Mr. Murdock, as well as F. E. Harrison, of the Deparement of Laboor, is as follows:

This agreement made this tenth day of October, 1924, between the Western Canada Coal Operators Association, hereinafter referred to as the operators of the one part, and the United Mine Workers of America, District 18, hereinafter referred to as the Union of the other part.

Witnesseth that it is mutually understood and agreed between the parties hereto as follows:

1. That subject to the changes expressed hereunder, the agreement which expired on March 31st, 1924, shall be continued to March 31, 1927, unless sooner terminated by six months' notice in writing from either party to the other; provided that such notice shall not be given in any event before March 31st, 1925.

2. That the wages paid to all contract men shall be reduced by the war bonus of $1.17 per man per day.

3. That the day wage rates paid to all datal employees shall be reduced by 12½ per cent per man per day.

4. That the rates provided in the general clauses under the captions "miners taken to do company work" and "minimum rate" shall be reduced by 12½ per cent.

5. This agreement shall be forthwith submitted by the Union for ratification by referendum vote to its membership in District 18, and upon being ratified by a majority voting upon such referendum, this agreement and all and every of the provisions hereof shall be deemed to have become and to have been binding upon each and every of its members in the said district, as and from the day of the date hereof.

In witness whereof the parties hereto have hereunto set the hands of their proper officers this tenth day of October, nineteen hundred and twenty-four.

BOARD TRADE MEETING

The first regular meeting of the Fernie Board of Trade this year took place on Tuesday evening last with 13 members present. Though the attendance was small it proved to be one of the best meetings the board has ever had and a considerable amount of real business was transacted.

After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting they were adopted, and the secretary was called upon for an outline of the financial condition. The year of 1923 closed with a small balance in hand and a budget calling for the expenditure of approximately $1000 to meet the requirements for 1924 was presented for consideration. The principal item of this budget was Fernie's membership in the Tourist Association of South Eastern B.C. and Southern Alberta, which is $600, the balance being for expenses in connection with the camp site and Information Bureau, and other incidentals.

The matter of raising this money was discussed and it was decided that a committee should wait upon the city council at its next meeting an dendeavor to have the city shoulder more of the expense than it has done in the past, and if they would it was considered that the balance could be raised easily by subscription as in former years. Messrs. Herchmer and Douglas were appointed a committee to interview the council.

It was moved and carried that Fernie retain its membership in the Tourist Association for next year, and Messrs. Cummings, Sanborn and Douglas were appointed delegates with full power to act to represent the Fernie Board of Trade at the forthcoming annual meeting of the Association.

After a lengthy debate as to the advisability of making the Fernie camp site grounds a pay camp in future, it was decided that it should be done and that the charge per car per day should be 50c. This decision will go into force at the commencement of next season subject to the approval of the Coal Co., who are the owners of the property. It was considered that judging by this year's figures that there will be at least two thousand cars in the camp next year. The funds derived from the charge of 50c each will pay a caretaker's wages and leave a considerable amount, which will be spent in imporvements and the beautification of the grounds.

The total number of cars registered in the grounds during 1924 was 569 and 1701 people, but the secretary pointed out that this represented only about 25% of those who actually did stop there, because it was only a very small proportion of them who could be induced to register. The secretary instanced two occasions when he checked this up personally this summer. He said that at 8.30 p.m. on July 12, he counted 21 cars in there and asked every one to register before leaving. The next morning he found that only four of them had done so. Again on Aug. 3 at 8 p.m., there were 18 cars in there and all were asked to register. Next morning he found that only six had done so. Many of the tourists said that very few of them went into the building at all, and Mrs. Junget, who was there for several weeks during the summer, said that she had noticed how few of them had the decency to register. There were very few nights during the summer when there were less than 18 or 20 cars in there, yet the secretary said that the largest number which had registered in any one day was nine. He said that it would be a conservative estimate to say that at least 1500 cars and over 5000 people used the Fernie camp grounds this year.

The matter of resolutions respecting roads and trails was discussed an dit was decided to appoint a committee consisting of A. I. Fisher, Mr. Sanborn, A. Cummings and J. Fred Spalding to go into the matter and draft up the required resolutions and see that they were sent to the proper authorities for consideration, and also to request our representative in the provincial house to press for their adoption.

This finishing the routine business the matter of a suitable entertainment for the Prime Minister and his party on Oct. 28, when they will be in Fernie for a whole day, was discussed, and it being considered that as this is the first occasion on which Fernie has ever had an opportunity of entertaining so many of the most prominent men in Canada, the best form of entertainment would be a public luncheon, to which all citizens of Fernie who desired to meet the Prime Minister could purchase tickets. It was decided to ask the Daughters of the Empire to cater for the spread and to have it in the I.O.O.F. hall at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 28. It was decided that apart from the address of the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and perhaps a short speech from our own federal representative, the Hon. Dr. J. H. King, minister of public works, the programme would consist of music and singing. Mayor Henderson will occupy the chair. It has been arranged also for the Prime Minister to give a short address to the pupils of all the schools at the Central School some time during the morning. The committees appointed to handle the arrangements consist of: Program: Dr. E. Gee and A. Watson; catering, E. K. Stewart and M. A. Kastner; sale of tickets, S. Herchmer and H. E. Douglas. The secretary was instructed to put a notice in the paper to the effect that all those desiring to attend should give in their names to either S. Herchmer or H. E. Douglas on or before Oct. 25.

W. W. TUTTLE PASSES AWAY

While hunting west of the city yesterday, W. W. Tuttle, age 62, of the Triangle Garage, W1216 Second Avenue, formerly custodian at the I.O.O.F. temple here, fell dead from heart trouble.

Mr. Tuttle had complained to his son that he had been feeling sharp pains in his shoulder for several days. He went hunting yesteday with D. J. Powell, a friend.

The two were strolling near Hazelwood when Mr. Tuttle told Mr. Powell that he felt a sharp pain in his chest. A short time after he remarked that he was feeling fine and that the walking appeared to be good for him. A moment later he fell forward and died in the arms of Mr. Powell, who picked him up where he fell.

Deputy Sheriff Hadley and Coroner Baker found that death was due to the heart attack. Turnbull's took charge of the body.

Mr. Tuttle was for many years the owner of the Royal Hotel at Fernie, B.C. He sold the property and came to Spokane about 16 years ago and engaged in the real estate business.

Mr. Tuttle is survived by his widow, Alice, at the home, 1629 Standard street. Two sons, Ernest of Spokane, and True, of Seattle, are the only children.—Spokesman, Oct. 11th.

Fernie Old Timers learned with a shock and grief of the death of William Tuttle, for many years a prominent resident of Fernie.

Bill was a real Westerner and a picturesque character of pioneer days. While the report of his death states he was 62 years old, Bill was, in reality nearly 70 and was as spry and active up to the day of his death as any young man of 20.

Raised in the Black Hills of South Dakota in the days when Wild Bill Hickock, Col. Wm. Cody (Buffalo Bill), and other Deadwood heroes of the early border days made that camp notorious in the annals of Western history, Bill was acquainted with them all. He later became a cowpuncher and it was while following this occupation he met Teddy Roosevelt, late President of the United States, who was roughing it in the west at that time in search of health, and became a life long friend of that famous man.

Early in life he married and settled down, but domestic differences arising he left in the seventies for Montana, where he worked as a teamster for quite a while and finally started running contraband whiskey into Canada in the early days when Alberta was supposed to be dry. Visiting Canada on several occasions he took a fancy to the country and located in Lethbridge first, but later moved to Old Fort Macleod, where he resided for many years. With the opening of the Crow's Nest Pass coal fields, he came to Fernie in 1898 and purchased the old Royal Hotel, then newly erected by the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. He made a first class hotel man and the Royal is still remembered by all

AUDITOR IS FOUND GUILTY

Toronto, Oct. 14.—Sidney H. Jones, former auditor of the Home Bank which failed in August, 1923, was found guilty today by Senior County Judge Coatsworth on the charge of negligence in regard to the statement of the bank's condition furnished to the federal minister of finance.

Sentence was deferred as in the case of O. G. Smith, former chief accountant of the bank, who was found guilty on a similar charge two weeks ago. It is noted that Jones is found guilty of negligence, but not of wilful making use of a false statement.

The maximum penalty under the "wilful" clause is five years, while under the ordinary negligence count it is three years. The judge was severe in his comments. He finds in his judgment that the auditor failed entirely to use the care, skill and caution which the shareholders' representative should have used.

"In fact," said his honor, "had he been employed by those in charge of the business transactions of the bank to protect them from the prying eys of shareholders, he could not have more effectively acted as their screen."

Judge Coatsworth said that if Jones had applied the test to the yearly statment of the bank, the most important document coming before him, he might have headed off the Home Bank disaster or at least ended the methods which led to its ruin.

He finds also that there was enough in the branch and liability returns Jones saw to warn him of the reckless manner in which the funds and the business of the bank were being handled.

His honor intends to hear some of the cases of the directors before he hands out the penalty on the convicted officials.

Judge Coatsworth read his decision when the court opened this morning in the case of Lt.-Col. Clarence F. Smith of Montreal, the first of the directors to be tried.

Dealing with an objection raised that the accused did not send the statement in question to the minister of finance and that because of that the crown's case failed, Judge Coatsworth said:

"I realize that the truth or falsity of the statement is the real issue and charge sheet is sufficient."

Commenting on Jones' position as auditor, his honor said: "The accused was in 1924 elected as shareholders' auditor for the Home Bank. The evidence before me did not disclose upon what grounds the Bankers' Association saw fit to recommend to the minister of finance as one 'deemed by them to be competent.' The accused, who was then about 50 years of age and according to his own testimony, had no previous training as an auditor, having been a bursar of a college.

"In my view he should not have been recommended for the position of bank auditor and ought not to have taken it, but when he did so assumed the full responsibility attached to a shareholders' auditor."

Toronto, Oct. 14.—Directors of the Home Bank very seldom saw the monthly statements, Thos. Gibbs, assistant to the chief accountant of the Home Bank testified at the trial of Clarence F. Smith, director, on charges of making false statements of the bank's affairs, here today.

Mr. Gibbs said the directors got what information they wanted from other sources. Few orders from the general manager were seen by Mr. Gibbs except debit slips when the general manager wanted money.

Speed is the essence of an election campaign in Great Britain. Under the American system weeks are consumed in nominating a President who does not take office until months after his election. The Imperial parliament has been dissolved and a new government may be in power in less than thirty days.

Midnight golf is the latest innovation in Hollywood. It seems incredible, but the devotees of the ancient game who have no time to play in daylight have resorted to a moonlight course. With balls, hole sticks and other paraphernalia of the links covered with a phosphorous paint, and electric lights taking the place of flags at the holes, some excellent scores have been made over a local course. The "stars" love a shining mark.

HON. DR. KING IN VANCOUVER

Hon. Dr. J. H. King, minister of public works, arrived in the city from Penticton Sunday night and will reamin at the coast until the arrival of Premier W. L. Mackenzie King. He will probably go to the Island early in the week and join the Premier's party when it arrives at Comox from Prince Rupert. Meantime he will complete arrangements for the premier's programme in Vancouver, making definite appointments for the many delegations which he will receive here.

Dr. King put in a busy week campaigning in Yale and addressing meetings at Vernon, Naramata, Keremeos and Penticton.

"The people of Yale are taking keen interest in the election, although polling day is not until November 6," Dr. King said. "Our meetings have been very well attended and I should say that the outlook for Mayor Sutherland is decidedly good. Great interest is being shown in the visit of Premier King and electors will come from all parts of Yale to hear him at Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton."

IS YOUNGEST OFFICIAL OF CANADIAN PACIFIC

LEO SOLLOWAY

Leo Solloway, recently appointed Asiatic Freight Agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway with office at Montreal and supervision over Oriental and Australasian traffic via Pacific Ports.

Born in Vancouver in 1895, Mr. Solloway has the distinction now of being the youngest official in Canadian Pacific service, a distinction which he has won through fourteen years' service in the freight department of the Company. He commenced work as stenographer in the steamship department of the General Freight office in Vancouver in 1910, and remained in that department until 1915 when he enlisted for active service with the 72nd Highlanders. He returned from overseas in the Fall of 1917 and was attached to the steamship export department in Vancouver until 1918 when he was loaned to the British Ministry of Shipping, acting as assistant to the agent of the Ministry at the Pacific port.

In June 1919, Mr. Solloway went to Montreal as chief clerk to the Asiatic Freight Agent. Two years later he was appointed chief clerk to the General Foreign Freight Agent, and last May appointed as Acting Asiatic Freight Agent which office has been confirmed by promulgation.

President Coolidge says no candidate ever lost votes by maintaining a discreet silence. The experiment may be worth trying.

MOTHER KAFOURY

The following is from the Vancouver Sun of Oct. 12, and refers to a former resident of Fernie:

Linvelli Kafoury, Syrian, is 104 years old.

Blind, nearly deaf, toothless, she lives at the home of her late son, Nassif Kafoury, who died late in September after a long illness.

She is never sick. She never takes medicine. She has never been in a hospital. Her head never aches. Her daughter-in-law describing her admirably as "strong as a man." When the family lived in Fernie, B.C., Grandmother Kafoury carried a 100-pound sack of coal on her shoulder, and that is not 10 years ago. Linvelli—"linvelli" means "carnation"—Kafoury was a water carrier in old Syria. For a few pence a day she delivered water from a well to customers. She likes work even now.

Grandmother Kafoury has lived 26 years in Canada but she will be a Syrian in custom and outlook until the end of her days. A thousand years of civilization lie between the comfortable downstairs floor of the Kafoury home, 1266 Sixth avenue west, and the bare room across the back of the house in the second story.

A leather davenport, oak table and chairs, a Victrola, pictures, linoleum—Mrs. Kafoury and her grown daughters have made their spotless living rooms thoroughly Canadian in character. These younger members of the family have adopted Canadian modes of dress, furniture, food and manner of housekeeping.

Upstairs the bent little figure of Grandmother Kafoury keeps to the room which is hers. The room is cared for by the old woman. Daily, according to her daughter-in-law, she shakes the covering of her bed out of the open window. Underneath the mattress she fumbles for her black rosary in its gaudy tobacco bag. An enamel dish on a plain wooden bench is there for her food.

Her musical voice is a surprise. At the graveside of her son, those who saw the ceremonies recall, Grandmother Kafoury recited verses in her native tongue, as is the custom in her old home near Beirut. Some of her hearers were in tears. The old woman recounted the goodness of her dead son when he had carried her to safety in a fire at Fernie several years ago.

Blind and nearly deaf she cannot see visitors. She stretches her fingers out and carries the hand of the stranger to her forehead, to her lips, to her forehead, a smile on her face. With grey head in peasant shawl and body clad in layer after layer of dark clothes she brings to mind the old woman of Southern Europe.

She points out with pride, however, her mother-in-law's ability to eat without teeth, crushing fruits and other solids between the strong gums. Grandmother will not eat bologna sausage nor much other meat. Oil, tea, bread, hard candy—"all time she like cand-ee" says her daughter in law—ice cream, molasses, pie and cake are favorites. A special failing of her is for vinegar. She drinks much cold water, arising as early as 4 a.m. to have a deep draught before the coal range in the kitchen warms the upstairs pipes.

Four Grandchildren live in the city: George Kafoury, 18, who sells papers; Mrs. Nicholas Neehy, whose husband has a confectioner's shop at 2204 Broadway west; Mrs. Jas. Haddad, wife of the proprietor of a Fairview shoe store, 2219 Granville street, and Mrs. Emmeline Haddad, who has her own confectionery on Victoria Drive. There are five great-grandchildren.

MOTHERS LIKE TO TREAT COLDS WITH VAPORS

It is no longer necessary constantly to dose the children in treating croup, bronchitis, sore throat, or deep chest colds. Many Canadian mothers now use the "outside" remedy, Vicks VapoRub, for the cold troubles of all the family, because it is just rubbed over throat and chest—there is nothing to take. When so applied Vicks gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled directly into the inflamed air passages, loosening the phlegm and making the breathing easier.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed and stimulates the skin like a liniment or plaster and thus aids the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

DEPOSITORS ASK DROP ONE TRIAL OR THE OTHER

Toronto, Oct. 13.—Home Bank directors slated to be tried this assizes on a carge of conspiracy will demand when their cases are called, that the crown drop either these conspiracy charges or the prosecution under the Bank Act which has been going on before Judge Coatsworth during the last five weeks.

When Hon. N. W. Rowell, K. C., representing the accused directors and officers of the defunct bank, appeared before Chief Justice R. M. Meredith today to ask for renewal of bail for his clients, he intimated to the court that the defence would take this stand. The defence has served notice of motion on crown counsel to this effect and the court will appoint a day on which argument will be heard.

"Our clients will be in jeopardy three times on the same set of facts," protested Mr. Rowell, in objecting to any trials being held in the supreme assizes.

D. L. McCarthy, K. C., for the crown, appeared to ask postponement of the trials. "These were traversed from the last assizes," he explained. "The crown is not ready to proceed because of certain trials now going on in the county judges' criminal court."

"You can't try them twice for the same offence," objected the chief justice.

Mr. McCarthy explained that the charges were different.

Finally counsel agreed to argue the point on the day to be set by his lordship, bail having been renewed "until called on," in the case of all the accused.

CHANCES OF LONG LIFE

The city industrial worker has one chance in eight of living to be 70 years old. The farmer has one chance in three. So reports a health committee that has made a study of the subject. There, in a nutshell, you have a graphic picture of what civilization is doing to us. Health is close to the soil. The time is not far off when cities will in large part break up, factories moving to the open country and taking workers with them. Either that or man heads for extinction.

Another link in British Columbia's highway system is to be forged. Tenders have been called for by Hon. W. H. Sutherland, minister of public works, for the completion of the Hope-Spence's Bridge section of the Transprovincial Highway, at a cost of approximately $1,000,000. An additional $250,000 will be required for the construction of a steel bridge across the Fraser River at Spuzzum. The bids are returnable within four weeks and the new Legislature will be asked to decide upon the granting of the necessary money. A contract has also been let for $60,000 to Fred Dawson, contractor, Vancouver, for highway work between Golden and Yoho Park. This will link up the circle route of the Banff-Windermere Highway.

Such success has been met with in the construction of the new buildings for the University of B.C. at Point Grey this year that the government has decided to provide a forestry building, to be used as a testing laboratory. The enrollment at the institution for the next term is larger than ever before, and the University of B.C. is fast taking its place in the front rank of such institutions all over the continent.

According to a San Francisco announcement sex equality has scored another point. After maintaining for fifteen years that barbering was a masculine profession, the Journeymen Barbers' International Union has admitted women barbers, it is stated. The bobbed hair vogue, with the consequent demand for women barbers, brought about the recognition of women.

MOTHERS LIKE TO TREAT COLDS WITH VAPORS

It is no longer necessary constantly to dose the children in treating croup, bronchitis, sore throat, or deep chest colds. Many Canadian mothers now use the "outside" remedy, Vicks VapoRub, for the cold troubles of all the family, because it is just rubbed over throat and chest—there is nothing to take. When so applied Vicks gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled directly into the inflamed air passages, loosening the phlegm and making the breathing easier.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed and stimulates the skin like a liniment or plaster and thus aids the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

At all drug stores 50c a jar. For free test size package, write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul St., W., Montreal, P.Q.

DEPOSITORS ASK DROP ONE TRIAL OR THE OTHER

Toronto, Oct. 13.—Home Bank directors slated to be tried this assizes on a carge of conspiracy will demand when their cases are called, that the crown drop either these conspiracy charges or the prosecution under the Bank Act which has been going on before Judge Coatsworth during the last five weeks.

When Hon. N. W. Rowell, K. C., representing the accused directors and officers of the defunct bank, appeared before Chief Justice R. M. Meredith today to ask for renewal of bail for his clients, he intimated to the court that the defence would take this stand. The defence has served notice of motion on crown counsel to this effect and the court will appoint a day on which argument will be heard.

"Our clients will be in jeopardy three times on the same set of facts," protested Mr. Rowell, in objecting to any trials being held in the supreme assizes.

D. L. McCarthy, K. C., for the crown, appeared to ask postponement of the trials. "These were traversed from the last assizes," he explained. "The crown is not ready to proceed because of certain trials now going on in the county judges' criminal court."

"You can't try them twice for the same offence," objected the chief justice.

Mr. McCarthy explained that the charges were different.

Finally counsel agreed to argue the point on the day to be set by his lordship, bail having been renewed "until called on," in the case of all the accused.

CHANCES OF LONG LIFE

The city industrial worker has one chance in eight of living to be 70 years old. The farmer has one chance in three. So reports a health committee that has made a study of the subject. There, in a nutshell, you have a graphic picture of what civilization is doing to us. Health is close to the soil. The time is not far off when cities will in large part break up, factories moving to the open country and taking workers with them. Either that or man heads for extinction.

Another link in British Columbia's highway system is to be forged. Tenders have been called for by Hon. W. H. Sutherland, minister of public works, for the completion of the Hope-Spence's Bridge section of the Transprovincial Highway, at a cost of approximately $1,000,000. An additional $250,000 will be required for the construction of a steel bridge across the Fraser River at Spuzzum. The bids are returnable within four weeks and the new Legislature will be asked to decide upon the granting of the necessary money. A contract has also been let for $60,000 to Fred Dawson, contractor, Vancouver, for highway work between Golden and Yoho Park. This will link up the circle route of the Banff-Windermere Highway.

Such success has been met with in the construction of the new buildings for the University of B.C. at Point Grey this year that the government has decided to provide a forestry building, to be used as a testing laboratory. The enrollment at the institution for the next term is larger than ever before, and the University of B.C. is fast taking its place in the front rank of such institutions all over the continent.

According to a San Francisco announcement sex equality has scored another point. After maintaining for fifteen years that barbering was a masculine profession, the Journeymen Barbers' International Union has admitted women barbers, it is stated. The bobbed hair vogue, with the consequent demand for women barbers, brought about the recognition of women.

FRY'S Cocoa contains nourishment in rich concentrated form, for every department of the human body—for muscle, tissue, flesh, nerve, brain and bone. It furnishes in rich abundance, energy for work and play—and materials to build the body with. And all this in such delicious form that every child takes FRY'S eagerly.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

WHAT is the matter with the business men of Fernie? Due notice of the special meeting of the Board of Trade for the arrangement for a suitable reception for the Prime Minister of Canada and his party, was given both in the paper and on the public notice board, yet at the meeting on Tuesday evening there were only six business men present, the balance being professional men. Six out of between 80 and 90 business men of the town is a disgrace. This is the first opportunity which the city of Fernie has ever had of entertaining for a whole day the Prime Minister and several of the most prominent men of Canada, and one would naturally have expected more interest to be shown. In the notice calling the meeting it was also stated that matters in connection with the tourist business would be discussed. There are five garages and auto dealers and four hotels in town which have a very particular interest in this subject, yet not one of them was represented at the meeting. One occasionally hears the remark that "the Board of Trade seems to be dead" made by some of them, but do they ever stop to think that if such is the case, they are to blame for it themselves through their lack of interest. However, such is not the case. There are a few who, in spite of so much discouragement, still carry on, and the Board of Trade is anything but a corpse. Fernie is pretty lively in some ways and there is usually something or other going on every night in the week, but as it happens, last Tuesday evening was free from other attractions which might have kept down the attendance at this meeting. There were no movies or other shows, no golf, baseball, curling or Mah Jongg, nor any other meeting which we know of. About the only alibi absentees had is sickness. There is altogether too much of the "Oh! let George do it" feeling in this town.

THE shop windows of Fernie have have never appeared to better advantage than now. The individual who has not walked down Victoria avenue recently, "window shopping," should do so tonight. Show windows are educational devices of real merit. They instruct as truly as the most carefully written text book. They aid us in our daily work by keeping us up to date, exhibiting the latest efforts of the designer, the manufacturer, the inventor, the chemist and all the tribe of men who move the world's cog wheels. These shop windows rank high in this pedagogical effort. They show that Fernie has the goods. No need for local residents to go away to larger towns to purchase needed articles, wearable or otherwise. The suit, the hat, the book, the new dining table, the bit of decoration, the gift—anything you want or need is on display in the show windows of your own city. Better take a look at them—tonight.

GO home and get happy. Drop all business for a while and rest your mind. Stop magnifying your little difficulties. Think of pleasant things and talk about them to the exclusion of the unpleasant and the disagreeable. When you go to work have a beautiful picture on your desk and whenever you may be foolish enough to worry about your affairs, look at it, study it, and fill your mind with it for a few minutes. Don't let pessimism park in your brain. If you do it will crush you. The people who succeed best and are happiest are those that give the least importance to the ills of life.

TWO per cent of the gross sales of a mercantile business is the accepted amount to be spent for advertising, though many firms go as high as 3 and 4 per cent. If every firm in Fernie would set aside even 1 per cent for advertising, the Free Press would be greatly enlarged, publish far more news and serve the community better than is now possible. And every firm, if it paid proper attention to its advertising, would greatly increase its business.

THE best advertising possible will not help a badly managed business, says the editor of Radio Mercandising. There is no substitute for intelligent and far-sighted executive effort in retail business. Advertising can not be used in place of hard work and well directed effort; but, when added to them, makes a combination irresistible. Some business houses lack many things that are material to success and advertising only turns the limelight on such shortcomings and hastens the end. Advertising should be used to turn attention to the modern, progressive, well-directed firm with an X-ray beam that illuminates its smooth inside workings and displays its qualities to advantage.

DRUMHELLER MINERS KICK

Drumheller, Oct. 13.—Drumheller presented an animated scene this afternoon when some 3000 members of subdistrict No. 5, United Mine Workers of America met to hear a report of the strike committee, James Conroy and Christopher Patterson.

The speakers met with considerable opposition and heckling by members opposed to the agreement signed by the operators and miners' representatives at Calgary last week.

Following a warning that no report would be given of the conference unless a courteous hearing was extended quiet was restored and for two or three hours the crowd listened to the offcials.

Messrs. Conroy and Patterson dealt with not only the operators' and the union representatives' efforts but told their hearers all about the part Minister of Labor Murdock and Premier Greenfield and Mr. Harrison played in the negotiations.

Oppositionists led an attack on the United Mine Workers of America and were strongly opposed to accepting the decision of the district, No. 18, officials and pleaded with their followers to vote against the agreement when the referendum vote is held Thursday. They opposed the three year period clause in the contract and advocated open shop and the elimination of district No. 18, United Mine Wrkers of America.

WELL BABY CLINIC

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, several mothers and babies attended the Well Baby Clinic on Monday last. The Provincial Board of Health had sent some new record cards from Victoria, which were made out by volunteer members from the I.O.D.E. and the Local Council of Women, who very loyally help this child hygiene project.

The children were weighed and measured and standardized, and had their hearts and chests examined by Dr. Asselstine, who was volunteer physician for the afternoon.

In the middle of the afternoon the School Nurse started a general discussion on Vitamines. The mothers were told that there were three distressing diseases caused by lack of vitamines, namely: Rickets, by lack of vitamines A, causing weak bones and muscles; Beri-beri or poly-neuritis, by lack of vitamine B, causing lameness and weak nerves; and scurvey, by lack of vitamine C, causing weak skin, nails and teeth. In Canada very few get these extreme dispart weaknesses through lack of vitamines in their food, or through too much canned milk as babies. Examples of these weaknesses are small jaw bones with overcrowding teeth; decayed first teeth; red eyelids; bow legs, humped shoulders and stunted growth. The mothers were told that fresh milk contained the three vitamines A. B & C., also that roots and green vegetables and fresh fruit contained the vitamines B. and C. The Nurse repeated the rhyme taught to school children, "A pint of milk, egg, orange and greens will give you your daily vitamines."

Some mothers told of their experience of noting how their children had improved after getting plenty of milk and vegetables and fruit, while others cited cases of children who were not well formed after being fed too much canned milk.

The next Well Baby Clinic will be held on the second Monday in November at 2 p.m.. All mothers and little children invited to attend.

The last day for getting on the city voters list for license holders and road tax payers is Oct. 31st. The last day for property owners is Nov. 30th.

The shooting of grouse in this district is now prohibited for another year, the season having come to a close yesterday afternoon at sundown. This year's season, although shorter than usual, has been a comparatively good one, huntsmen having secured some excellent bags.

ARMISTICE DAY

It seems to me that the nation as a whole should be the ones to commemorate Armistice Day. All those who did not go to fight, those who as good citizens worked for the nation's good at home and were protected by the brave soldiers abroad; all those who were too weak, too old, too young or too busy to join the army, but were protected by the army, should be glad and proud to start something to show their thankfulness and appreciation of the way they were kept in safety in days gone by.

It does not seem right that a handful of wounded soldiers should be the only ones to work to commemorate the Armistice and the death of the brave ones, who by their death saved those now alive and free from a terrible enemy. These wounded soldiers and others who although not wounded were good soldiers, are not always successful citizens, and should be the honored guests on Armistice Day of the protected citizens by whom they stood so faithfully during the sad days of the Great War.

Cigarette smoking has become so common that few parents realize how the habit has grown. By encouraging boys of seven and eight years of age to collect cards placed in cigarette packages the manufacturers have made children quite familiar with cigarettes before they know anything about the effect smoking has upon the growing boy. Now a cigarette maker offers to send a free sample package to all boys who haven't learned to smoke. There ought to be some way of protecting boys from such seductive temptations. Next thing we'll have similar offers of samples of other dopes under some misleading name. This summer the use of cigarettes, amongst boys of 12 and under has grown rapidly.—Orillia Packet.

He always took an active interest in public affairs and served as alderman and mayor of the city for several years. After the big fire he decided to again locate in the United States and with a fortune of some forty thousand dollars moved to Spokane, but Bill was not used to the cities and soon fell a prey to the real estate sharks, who practically cleaned him of every dollar he had. Compelled to go to work again, he went back to Macleod and managed the leading hotel there for a few years, but again returned to Spokane, where he became connected with a large moving picture outfit, having charge of several hundred Indians in a series of western pictures which were being produced. Tiring of this business he engaged with a son in a garage business.

LOCAL & GENERAL

Dr. Corsan arrived back in Fernie on Thursday.

Mrs. G. McTeer left yesterday for Calgary, where she will join her husband.

On account of repair work the city water will be turned off all day Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fenwick, of Fort Steele, are spending a few days in the city this week the guests of W. R. Wilson.

E. T. Cope, government agent at Penticton, has been appointed agent at Fernie and arrived in the city yesterday to assume his duties.

Mrs. A. Sanborn, who has been holidaying in Europe for the past three months, will arrive home tomorrow.

Don't forget the social and dance in the Catholic Hall tonight, Friday, Oct. 17. Cards from 9 p.m. (sharp). Dancing from 11 to 1. Admission 50c.

D. F. Markland, representing the local K. of P., and Mrs. J. Galloway, the Pythian Sisters, leave on Sunday to attend Grand Lodge sessions at Revelstoke.

The board of railway commisioners have issued an order disallowing the Crow's Nest Pass rates, requiring them to be withdrawn from operation within 15 days from Oct. 14.

Sunday and Monday's express from the east were delayed for five or six hours owing to an accident near Medicine Hat, where a freight train broke through a bridge.

The docket for the fall assize court at Fernie has shrunk to almost nothing and it is now doubtful if it will be necessary for Justice McDonald to visit this town.

Bishop & Co. are hard at work on the river crossing for the pipe line. A big steam clamshell scoop is being used to dig the trench for the pipe, which, we understand, will be laid and connected by an expert diver.

A sad event took place in West Fernie on Tuesday last, when John, the 18 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. White died from an attack of typhoid fever. The funeral took place on Thursday, with Rev. Burns officiating, and was largely attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Adlard, for a number of years residents of Fernie, and prominent in United Church circles, are leaving shortly for Vancouver, where they will reside in future.

Miss M. Ford and Miss H. Little, of Campbellford, Ont., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ingram.

Howdy, Howdy, P.A.P.—All Loyal Moose, their wives and families and the Women of Mooseheart Legion are invited to attend the annual Mooseheart night in Victoria Hall, on Friday evening, Oct. 24, commencing at 7.30 p.m. Games for the kiddies. Dancing and singing for young and old.

Before Magistrate Gresham, of Blairmore, Frank Nadon, of Fernie, was this week fined $700 on two counts, one under the Liquor Control Act of Alberta, the second under the Canada Temperance Act. In addition, the confiscation of 41 cases of good liquor and the car which carried same was ordered.

A very pretty surprise shower was given by some of the local girls in honor of Mrs. Roy Mahondro nee Miss Alice Corrigan, at the home of Mrs. Beaubier. The evening was spent in card games, music and singing. The card winners for the evening were Miss B. Graves, and Miss M. Duncan, booby. After a very delicious supper was served the girls left for home having spent a very pleasant evening.

A meeting was held on Wednesday night to discuss the possibility of organizing a Badminton Club and those present unanimously decided that a club be formed. This sport is becoming very popular throughout the Dominion, many towns smaller than Fernie having live organizations, and it was felt that this fair city should not be backward in its activity along this line. It is a game from which one can take a great deal of exercise and is therefore conducive to health. It is hoped that anyone interested will communicate with C. Hunsley, the secretary, as the committee are anxious that the club may be a success and benefit to all those desiring to play.

Mrs. T. Duncan, of Elko, who has been seriously ill at the Cranbrook hospital, returned to her home on Wednesday.

A marriage license was issued at the local office this week to John Fisher and Miss Elizabeth Popsworth.

The new power line from Elko to Kimberley has been completed. It is expected that the new line over the entire system will be in use by the time winter sets in.

A meeting of all those interested in hockey will be held in Ingram's Hall at 7.30 p.m. tonight (Friday). Organization for the season will take place.

Why are books my best friends? Because they are always at hand when wanted and never quarrel with me. Join the Fernie Library for $2 a year and have lots of friends.

Thos. Biggs, who has been in Seattle for the past four or five months, returned to Fernie on Monday upon receipt of the news that the strike was nearing a settlement.

A meeting of Mt. Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. will be held in the council chamber of the city hall on Saturday, Oct. 18, at 3 p.m. sharp. A full attendance is earnestly requested as special business is to be transacted.

All Rebekahs, Odd Fellows and their wives are cordially invited to be present at a social on Wednesday evening, Oct. 22, at 10 o'clock, in honor of the visit of Deputy Grand Master Fisher.

West Fernie from time to time develops an odd case of typhoid fever, and it is a shame that the government does not take some steps toward having the water system of Fernie extended to provide a decent water supply for that suburb.

Nelson is having a typhoid scare and it is attributed to the water supply. Fernie has the finest water in the world and its source of supply is so protected by natural barriers and by provincial law that it is absolutely free from an chance of pollution. We are lucky.

The local Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters spent a real honest to goodness social time on Tuesday evening. The "boys" provided the eats and attended to all duties. The culinary abilities of some of the members received great praise. The dance music was provided by Jimmy Robson and the String Trio, which was up to the usual high standard.

The Dominion government are making some alterations around the local postoffice. An unsightly high board fence has been erected along the alley, which has come in for a lot of adverse criticism. People wonder why the government are allowed to violate the fire limit bylaw. The matter has been taken up by the board of trade.

J. A. McLeod has been appointed mine superintendent for the International Coal and Coke Co. at Coleman. Mr. McLeod comes highly recommended and is at present in a similar position at Evansburg, Alta. There were quite a number of applications for the position. Mr. McLeod will take up his duties in the course of a few days.

Dr. Buckley, of Michel, met with an accident on his way home from visiting a patient in Fernie on Sunday morning at 2 o'clock. His Ford sedan got into a rut which threw the car off the road and it ran into a stump, smashing the radiator and a spring. The doctor was cut in several places on the face and received a badly bruised knee. Mr. Fawcett, of Michel, came along and took the doctor home. The accident happened four miles from Natal on the Fernie road.

MACDONALD'S MOTOR CAR

So incredibly foolish has Premier MacDonald shown himself by accepting an endowed motor car from a millionaire baker, whom he later made a baronet, we are told by the Prime Minister's adverse critics, that he loses a good deal of the confidence the British public had in his judgment as leader of the government. It is not to be supposed, of course, that Mr. MacDonald has sold his principles and a baronetcy for "a mess of biscuits," remarks the New Statesman, London, but it thinks that the first Labor Prime Minister of England should have been "scrupulous to the point of fastidiousness" in a matter of this sort. The Labor movement expected him to be so, we are told, and the prediction is made that the labor movement will be his severest critic. Nevertheless, it is stated that the fact that last March, Mr. MacDonald received a gift of thirty thousand 7½ per cent preference shares in the banking organization of which Alexander Grant is the head, and that in June the then Mr. Grant became Sir Alexander Grant, is simply "an unfortunate coincidence," and we read:

"The two men were close friends of old standing, and the consideration for the title was public munificence. Nor do we demand that our ministers should be paragons of penury like the Guardians in Plato's 'Republic,' or that they should do without motor cars. A car is a necessity to a man who is not sparing himself in the public service, however simple his habits may be, and no one need grudge Mr. MacDonald his Daimler and a generous allowance for its upkeep. But most of us would have been better pleased that the nation should foot the bill while he was in office. Out of office he can collect Daimlers and biscuit shares from whom he likes. The best defence for this transaction is the naivete with which it has been conducted and explained—a naivete almost incredible in two adult Scotsmen! But neither that nor the plea that Mr. MacDonald has been no worse than others in his place will quite remove the nasty taste that is left in the mouth."

The London Outlook is particularly sharp in its comment, and laments that the matter was kept a secret because, it says, secrecy gives it a suspicious air. This weekly adds:

"Now there is nothing disgraceful in a rich man befriending a poor man; nor assuredly anything despicable in a rich friend presenting a poor Prime Minister with a motor car. It was at once a natural and kindly act, and we think Mr. MacDonald could have made the fact known without detracting either from his own dignity or that of his friend. But had he published it the Prime Minister could hardly have conferred the baronetcy. We regret that we can not regard this as an adequate reason for concealment.

"In the second place, thirty thousand pounds, even in these days, is a considerable amount of money. As capital it is certainly not insignificant; many a man reputed well to do dies possessed of less. Even as income it represents presumably two thouand pounds a year; which again is not an insignificant addition to the admittedly inadequate salary of a Prime Minister. It is, at any rate, a munificent endowment for a motor car, which at the outside, and with chauffeur complete, can hardly cost more than five hundred a year. The Prime Minister is fortunate in his friends."

A stalwart defender of the Prime Minister is the London New Leader, which assures us that he is one of the few men in public life whose character for courage and honor is so clear for all to read, that it protects them against the least breath of suspicion. No one has ventured to hint that he did anything dishonest in accepting a most handsome gift from Sir Alexander Grant, although it is charged that his action broke a salutary tradition. To understand it, one must bear certain facts in mind, according to the Labor Weekly, which relates:

"Mr. MacDonald had declined to draw the double salary which he could have claimed as Foreign Secretary and Prime Minister. His salary, given his inevitably heavy official expenditure, will certainly leave him no surplus when he goes out of office. He has spent one year already as Leader of the Opposition, and had tested the strain which it involved. To earn one's living as a journalist, to do one's public work in the House, on the platform, and on committees, and to bear this double burden without the means which enable a wealthy man to economize time and strength—all this would have broken any physique less hardy than his. It was certainly right from one source or another, such aid as a motor car should be provided and endowed."

A personal statement on the subject was given by Mr. MacDonald to a representative of the London Times to whom he said: "I am sick at heart to have to talk of this, but I must protect my dear old friend in the enjoyment which the King so worthily bestowed upon him, and with which this act of personal kindness to myself had as much to do as the man in the moon."

When Mr. MacDonald became Prime Minister, we are told,, although he and Sir Alexander were at opposite poles in politics, the "proudest and happiest man in Scotland was Sir Alexander." Sir Alexander declared that his contribution to the Prime Minister's comforts will be a Daimler motor car, and Mr. MacDonald relates:

"I explained that I would have been content with hiring one, as when I left office I would probably be a poorer man than I had been. 'But I will endow it,' rejoined Sir Alexander. Still I was unwilling. I did not fancy myself as the owner of a motor car. It was against the simplicity of my habits. I took a long time to be persuaded, and letters are in existence which reveal the minds of us. In the end I agreed with this arrangement. A sum of money was to be invested in my name, and the income I am to enjoy during my lifetime so long as I keep a car, and at my death it is to revert to Sir Alexander Grant or his heirs. This is the full story of the incident."

Here and There

Tourist business throughout Canada has been remarkably productive this year and it is estimated that its total value for the Dominion will exceed $100,000,000. This places the tourist traffic high among Canada's industries.

The "Princess Kathleen", one of the two fine steamers under construction for the Canadian Pacific Railway's British Columbia coastal service, was launched at Glasgow, Scotland, on, September 27th. Lady Mount Stephen, widow of Lord Mount Stephen, former president of the company, performed the launching ceremony.

As an indication of how plentiful wild game has become of recent years in the Province of Quebec comes a report from Montreal, which records the recent appearance of a full-grown bull moose in Rosemount, a suburb of the city. It is thought to have strayed into the neighborhood from the forest to the north. The animal was quite tame and was easily captured.

The Duke of Alba, who, with other Spanish grandees, recently completed an extensive tour of Canada, purchased a number of very valuable furs for gifts to be presented to his friends, including the King and Queen of Spain. The furs were acquired while the Duke was sojourning at Banff, the popular mountain resort on the Canadian Pacific main line.

So greatly has the turkey industry grown in Saskatchewan that marketing pools have now been arranged by the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture and the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association for the marketing of both dressed and live turkeys this fall. Inspectors will be furnished for grading and giving killing and dressing demonstrations.

So heavy was the movement of grain from the lakes to the port of Montreal recently that serious congestion was feared. The storage capacity of the port is 10,100,000 bushels and the grain in sight was greatly in excess of this figure. But skilful handling quickly reduced the amount in hand to 7,956,442 bushels, relieving the situation completely. No further possibility of congestion is anticipated.

It is expected that before the season closes, the work of rock-ballasting the main lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway in the Quebec District between Montreal and Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto and Montreal and Quebec will be completed. The latter section requires only a few miles to be finished, while the other portions of line referred to have already been finished. As a result, the Canadian Pacific will have in these lines a road-bed which is not excelled by any other on this continent.

English is rapidly becoming the language of international intercourse. Trade follows the flag and English is the dominant language of the two great commercial nations.

NO MORE COPPER; NO MORE ELECTRICITY

"The age of electricity and of copper will be short," asserts Ira B. Joraleman recently in an address before the Commonweath Club of California. At the intense rate of production that must come, he says that the copper supply of the world will last hardly a score of years. Our civilization, based on electrical power, he believes, will dwindle and die. The editor of the Engineering and Mining Journal Press thinks this is drawing it a little too fine. He writes:

"We are rather surprised that a geologist of Mr. Joralemon's standing can not use his imagination a little more than this, but no doubt he was painting the picture as black as possible so that copper miners would wake up to the fact that they are rapidly wasting a valuable natural resource with little or no profit to themselves. Known deposits of copper ores of a present commercial grade are limited, as Mr. Joralemon says, and it might be possible that in twenty years electrical requirements will have milked most of them dry. But metallurgical methods will advance; likewise prices, we hope; so that it will pay to mine lower grade deposits of which there is a tremendous tonnage available, and also deeper deposits such as our friends in Michigan have. And we can hardly believe that all the copper resources of the world are known. Twenty years ago, for example, who would have classed such deposits as those at Chuquicamata and Bingham Canyon as important factors, even with the price of copper somewhat higher than it is now? As to the electrical industry, we can hardly believe that all our electricity will go back into the clouds where Franklin found it, just because copper is scarce. Maybe copper won't be required at all for transmission purposes; we may just use the ether."

UNCERTAINTY OF POLITICS

In politics you are never certain what you are going to hit when you begin shooting. There is the case of Mr. Meighen. A short time ago a couple of Quebec papers raised the question of his fitness for leadership of the Conservative party. That seems to be just what was needed to cause his friends to come to the front and declare that he was indispensable.—Stratford Beacon.

Your doctor advises internal cleanliness

HE will tell you that the first results of constipation—headache, sleepless nights, biliousness, backache, etc.—warn that the body is flooded with intestinal poisons. In time, these poisons may cause the breakdown of health and lead to serious disease. In constipation, say intestinal specialists, lies the primary cause of more than three-quarters of all illness including the gravest diseases of life.

Hence, doctors urge internal cleanliness—regular and thorough removal of food waste from the body.

Laxatives Aggravate Constipation

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favor Lubrication

Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Not a Medicine

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water it is harmless.

Get rid of constipation and avoid disease by adopting the habit of internal cleanliness. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

THE REAL BABE RUTH

The brutality of American athletics might well appall a visitor from the gentler lands of the Old World if he could see the mighty "Babe" Ruth staggering about a hotel room reeling under a rain of blows from his wife, in a boxing bout, and when the bout is over, then to behold him seized and thrown heavily to the floor by his three year old daughter. These tribulations of the baseball hero are now coming out in Collier's Weekly in an article by a friend, Arthur Robinson, who seems to feel that now it can be told. Apparently the picture of health, the truth is, however, that Ruth suffers so terribly from indigestion that he can eat only ten times a day. The rest of the time he chews tobacco and takes bicarbonate of soda. When his baseball days are over, he can sing bass in a quartet, play the ukulele, or come out as an after dinner speaker. But let Mr. Robinson tell it—

To the alternately idolatrous and jeering millions who have watched this modern Beowulf at bat driving out his great smashes, it may have appeared that he was just a thick-skinned ball-player, schooled to deafness on the field.

The skin of my friend Babe Ruth is not thick. I have seen hundreds of men, women and hero-worshipping boys get under it. Like me, they discovered that Ruth, in the raw, is as likable as a human being as he is interesting and fascinating as a ball-player and psychological study.

For ten years I have done widely diversified newspaper work in New York, meeting all kinds of characters in and out of sport, on and off Broadway, around and about the country, but never have I met one who has sustained my interest from day to day and year to year as has Babe Ruth.

He has very few secrets from me. And knowing all his faults I am genuinely helpless in my affection for him. In short, I like him and often apologize for him; at other times, it is impossible even to apologize. He is a human being apart from all others of the species. He is more than unique; he is really a phenomenon. And I like him.

Mrs. Ruth calls him George, and it is of George Ruth, mainly that I write—the Ruth that neither the public, nor the newspapermen, not even his fellow players know.

He has a gruff manner about him. He deals profusely in horse-play. He is something of a physical clown—a good natured personification of Brute Force. But he is ever so gentle and tender too. I have seen him in a boxing match with Mrs. Ruth in the room of a Boston hotel, at which only one other person and myself were spectators—a match in which he allowed himself to be decisively outpointed and slightly wounded. I have also seen him wrestled to the floor by his blond-haired three year old daughter Dorothy. I myself have tapped him on the head with a golf club without any serious aftermath.

But just as he is a success even when he fails on the baseball field—that is, a sensation and a source of dramatic interest even when he strikes out—so he is equally interesting in Pullman trains and in the hotels on the road.

Often he travels with a little portable phonograph and gives concerts in the baggage rooms of some wayside railroad station while waiting for a train. At such times he will sing bass in a quartet, and do quite well indeed with his favorite song, "My Darling Lou," and not so well with others. He has a special fondness for the ukulele, and likes to dance. He plays bridge, stud poker, and draw poker the way he hits a baseball—wildly. freely, forsefully; and more often than not he loses.

He eats as very few men can. He eats often—probably on an average of ten times a day. Railroad engines consume an enormous amount of fuel. So does he, and it is a wonder that he manages to survive the amount and sort of food he eats.

He is a little temperamental. He has a deep, abiding suspicion that he always suffers from stomach trouble. Before almost every game he complains to the club trainer about this and then devours huge quantities of bicarbonate of soda. I don't believe there is another human being alive in all the world who has actually eaten so much soda or chewed so much tobacco as Ruth.

HEAVIEST STUFF IN UNIVERSE

Matter so heavy that a teaspoonful weighs more than two ordinary men exists in some of the stars, according to Prof. A. S. Eddington, an English astronomer. Dr. E. E. Free, writing for the McClure Newspaper Syndicate (New York) regards this as probably the most revolutionary idea presented at the recent gathering of the world's scientific experts during the seesion of the British Association for the Advancement of Science at Toronto. He outlines the British astronomer's findings as follows:

"Prof. Eddington has found a star composed, he belives, of matter that is over 2000 times denser—or, as we would say, 2000 times heavier—than any substance that we possess here on earth.

"This new and remarkably heavy star is a faint companion of the dog star Sirius. It has long been known that this star, one of the most brilliant in the sky, is really double. It is two stars in one—a very bright star and a much less bright one revolving continually around their mutual centre of gravity like a dumb-bell that turns end over end.

"From the relation of these two stars to one another, as determined by the spectroscope and telescope, it is possible to calculate the total weight of the fainter star. Other figures now available to the astronomrs permit an estimate of its size. Thus Prof. Eddington was able to compute the ratio of weight to size, or, as we would say for terrestrial objects, the density of the star.

"The figure comes out, he reports, as the astonishing value 50,000 times the density of water.

It is hard to realize what this means, so here is where the teaspoon comes in:

"On earth a teaspoonful of water weighs only a small fraction of an ounce. If the teaspoon is filled with liquid quicksilver it will be heavier, one teaspoonful of quicksilver weighing about an ounce and a quarter. If you could have a teaspoonful of the heaviest substance ever discovered on earth, the rare metal named osmium, it would weigh only a little less than three ounces.

"But, supposing you could get it, a teaspoonful of Prof. Eddington's star would weigh the tremendous amount of 391 pounds. A teaspoonful of matter weighing more than two heavy men!

" In spit of its remarkable density this material of the star is believed to be gaseous. Conditions on the stars are very different from the conditions that we are familiar with on earth. It is probable, Professor Eddington thinks, that the atoms of matter are more or less completely disrupted so that nothing is left but the extremely heavy nuclei of the atoms and some loose electrons.

"This atomatic debris would be capable of fitting together much more closely than the same nuclei and electrons do when made up into atoms.

"It is somewhat the same as the difference in the space occupied by a lot of thin glass balls used for Christmas tree ornaments as compared with the space occupied by the same balls after they have been broken to small fragments.

"In the newly discovered dense star the atmos, Prof. Eddington believes, have been broken to fragments. They occupy much less space. That is why the matter of the star is so inconceivably dense according to earthly standards."

MT. EVEREST ONCE MORE

The victory of the world's highest mountain over human brawn and will-power is not to go unchallenged. The little group of English mountain climbers, beaten back last summer for the third time, with the loss of two of their comrades, when within a few hundred feet of triumph, are preparing to try again. Within 18 months, they predict, an English expedition will finally surmount the highest pyramid in the Roof of the World. Too many men have died in the recent attempts to scale the mountain to permit the acknowledgment of failure, explained General Bruce, one of the leaders of the last expedition, on his arrival the other day in Europe. An English reporter, who met him at Marseilles on his way back to England, quotes him in this sportsmanlike challenge:

"The attempted conquest of Everest has caused us so much trouble and suffering, and we have been too close to final success to abandon this project. We have left too many of our comrades on the heights, beginning with that gallant Dr. Kellah, who was the first victim, and ending with the four who died in the course of this attempt—Irvine, Mallory, and two non-commissioned officers, a a Gurkha and a Napalese — to abandon the road marked already by a dozen graves.

"The goal has almost been reached."

Recent photographs and diagrams most of them published in English or French papers, show how very near the climbers came to the attainment of their goal. There is some possibility, according to the reports of the survivors, that Mallory and Irvine reached the summit before they died. At any rate, they were within a few hundred feet of it, and higher than men had ever climbed before, when last seen. Lt.-Col. E. F. Norton and Mr. Odell, fellow members of the expedition, have a good deal to say of their fate in a final summing up, sent out under a New York Times-London Times copyright, by arrangement with the Mt. Everest Committee. This dispatch, written in the shadow of defeat, runs in part, as published in the New York Times:

The expedition leaves the base camp tomorrow bound for a short period of recuperation in the Rongshar Valley, under Gaurisankar, before starting on our homeward march. The fickle weather, which has played so many dirty tricks this year, continues to be brilliantly fine, and there are indications that the monsoon has ceased for the moment, but there is no question of a resumption of hostilities on the mountain. Every one of the surviving climbers has shot his bolt.

I have before me a medical report showing that each of us has a more or less dilated heart, besides various minor disabilities. The trouble will right itself at the lower altitudes, to which we are bound, but would probably be permanent if further high climbing were attempted. This the medico, Major Hingston, definitely forbids.

We leave here with heavy hearts. We have failed to establish success, for who will ever know whether the lost climbers reached the summit before the accident which, it may be assured, caused their death? The last point at which they were seen was determined by theodolite as 28,277 feet, less than 800 feet from the top. Together with the height reached by Dr. Somervell and myself, which, measured by theodolite was 28,128, these constitute the world's record for climbing with and without oxygen, respectively. But the price is out of all proportion to the results.

The ballot for the November election in the neighboring state of Washington should delight the cross words experts. It contains the names of candidates representing eleven parties.

Instead of exploring Arctic regions of staying aerial flights, an English scientist suggests sinking a twelve-mile shaft in the bowels of the earth. There is universal curiosity to know what underlies the surface of this wobbly old planet and the professor's proposal is respectfully submitted for the consideration of the committee in the hole.

PRINCE ALBERT

is the real tobacco for jimmy pipes and makin's cigarettes

For men who got away to a false start on a pipe or home-made cigarettes Prince Albert has a word or two for what ails their smokeappetites! Forget you ever tried to smoke, for Prince Albert is so different, has such a fine flavor, and is so cool and cheerful and friendly, you'll get a new idea of smoke joy! The patented process cuts out bite and parch! Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!

This little talk is also for men who think they're on the right track. All to be said is that the sooner you lay out the price for a supply of Prince Albert, the sooner you'll make a discovery that'll be worth a lot to your peace of mind and tongue! If your dealer cannot supply it, ask him to secure Prince Albert through his wholesaler. Get the idea of smoking all you want without a comeback—that's P. A.!

Prince Albert is sold throughout Canada, generally, in the ½-lb. tidy red tin, also in pound and half-pound humidors.

On the reverse side of this tidy red tin you will read: "Process Patented July 30th, 1907," which has made three men smoke pipes where one smoked before!

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

INTERESTING BOOKS IN THE FERNIE LIBRARY

In the Fernie Library may be found many books which may be said to belong to the better class of literature. Of this class is a delightful book called "The Crime of Sylvestre Bonnard," by Anatole France. It was translated into English by Lafcadio Hearn. The Crime of Sylvestre Bonnard is not exactly a novel, but it is a very interesting story of the adventures of an honorable French author from his 60th to his 80th birthday. The interest is kept up till the end, for one does not know till the very last what crime this highly respected member of the Institute committed. Apart from the fascinating story Anatole France has to tell, he gives his readers some jewel-like bits of philosophy, such as the following: "To become old is the only way that has yet been discovered of living a long time." And: "After all it is the ability to deceive one's self that is the greatest talent shown." And again, "People who have no weakness are terrible, there is no way of taking advantage of them." The book gives one a good picture of Paris and the Parisians of the 19th century. It is written in autobiographical form by the chief character, Sylvestre Bonnard, who says that he remembers his father talking about Louis 15th and Louis 16th, while he himself remembers Napoleon and the execution of Marshal Ney. The descriptions of Paris make one long to visit such a beautiful city. The characters are extremely well drawn so that one feels as if one knew them personally, and hated and loved them accordingly. In fact it is this intensely human touch that makes the book stand out from amongst all other books.

Anatole France's translator Lafcadio Hearn in the preface says that the author is both a realist and a romantisist. He calls him a dainty realist, with which one can but agree, on experiencing the sympathy one has with the characterization and the philosophy set forth in the book.

"The Crime of Sylvestre Bonnard" may be compared with some of the writings of J. M. Barrie, such as "My Lady Nictine," and "Peter Pan." Barrie's works are like that of Anatole France, very human and full of understandable philosophy and realism. On contrasting the two authors one would say that Barrie was more given to be fantastic and symbolic, while Anatole France went deeper into life itself and life's joys and sorrows. Any reader who wishes to get a change in his recreational reading is strongly recommended to read this book.

The Fernie Library is situated in the Liphardt block, upstairs, and is open Wednesday evenings from 7.30 till 9 p.m., and Saturday afternoons from 4 to 6 p.m. The subscription is $2 a year, which allows one to borrow two volumes at a time. In order that this institution may be kept up a minimum of 200 members is necessary. The Library committee therefore hope that many new members will enroll during the next few days.

COAL CREEK NOTES

A meeting of the Coal Creek Hockey and Skating Club will be held in the Club Hall on Sunday evening at 7.30.

Mrs. Dr. Christie (nee Miss Mabel Michell) of Vancouver Island, has been spending a few days of the past week, the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Workman.

The dance held on Friday last was a very enjoyable affair. Kielty and his four piece orchestra supplied the music. Another dance will be held tonight.

A special train conveyed the local members of Gladstone Local to Fernie on Saturday to hear the report of President Sherman on the proposed agreement.

Born—At Coal Creek during the week end, to Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilson, a son. Mrs. Webster is the attending nurse.

Since the settlement of the strike a large number of men have been employed in various capacities preparatory to the general resumption of work.

This camp now presents an old-time appearance, a large number of the male reidents having returned to camp.

The Fernie lodge Loyal Order of Moose will hold their annual Mooseheart Day on Friday next in Victoria Hall commencing at 7.30 p.m. As this is Children's Day all Moose are requested to bring all their children. Games, crowning of Mooseheart Queen, singing and refreshments. Come.

Supt. Caufield attended the mining conference in Blairmore on Thursday.

Our local nimrods never come back to camp empty handed. Skinney and Marrow arrived back from McEvoy with rocks in the bag.

The ballot on the agreement taken in Coal Creek and Fernie resulted as follows: For the agreement 495; against 65; 5 spoiled ballots.

The Coal Co. horses have been brought back to camp. The farriers are very busy preparing them for work.

FERNIE CITIZEN INTERESTED IN NEW ORE STRIKE

(Vancouver Province)

Having taken a bond on the latest mineral strike in the Portland Canal district, A. B. Trites, a director of the famous Premier mine, returned to Vancouver Thursday with samples of high-grade silver-lead ore that is attracting wide attention among mining men.

The strike was made two and a half miles from the head of Portland Canal, almost directly across from the town of Stewart and situated under probably the most favorable mining and shipping conditions which exist in that section.

The claims, known as the Gold Cliff group, add another chapter to the romance of mining in the district. Two weeks ago Bill Dann, hotelman, arrived from the north with a grip full of ore samples and induces Mr. Trites to investigate. Since 1918 Dann has been running restaurants and hotels in the camp and not making much money on account of feeding so many prospectors and keeping them in the hills. His profits from his business were used to keep others grubstaked.

Jim Douville and Frank Riva were two of the men Dann was interested with. Last fall he purchased the nucleus of the group, and during the summer, with Douville, purchased and staked other claims. It was Riva who made the sensational find in a gulch, at a place where in the early days of the camp men used to cut wood.

The discovery was first examined by A. St. Clair Brindle, mining engineer, of Vancouver, who supported the representations which Mr. Dann made to Mr. Trites. The latter, in company with the engineer, spent several days o nthe ground. The property lies immediately across the ridge from the Premier mine, and is on the Beaver River side. The discovery is a wide fissure vein, with five feet of high-grade ore. There are two groups and a total of 18 claims, extending from the river bank to an elevation of some 4000 feet at the international boundary. The main showing is traceable on the surface for 1200 feet. It strikes diagonally up the mountain and dips at an angle of about 65 degrees.

ACQUITTED OF MURDER

Cranbrook, Oct. 13.—"Not guilty" was the verdict returned this afternoon by the jury here in the case of Casimir Phillip, Indian, charged before the assizes with the murder of another Indian, Jacob Andrew, during a drunken quarrel last June, in which Andrew had threatened his wife.

The jury only deliberated for a short time after the judge had pointed out in summing up how justice might best be served and referred also to liquor being the origin of the case. Witnesses called during the day included the police, who had gone to the place indicated by the accused in his story the morning after the quarrel had taken place, and H. F. Helmsing, the Indian agent, to whom the accused went after realizing what had been done, and by whom the case was turned over to the police. The two counsel also addressed the court on their cases.

It seemed apparent that the accused had not realized what had been the result of the fight in the dark, that he had never intended to kill from the fact that all were good friends till the time of the occurrence and that he had not interfered till the deceased Indian had commenced to illtreat his wife. Accused was accordingly discharged.

WHAT LOCAL PATRONAGE MEANS

Ten thousand people moved across the line from British Columbia last year to settle there. Men, women and children on an average consume $700 worth of products a year.

So! $7,000,000 was lost to the province last year.

Building up local industry by local patronage is one of the ways, observers say, of stopping immigration and keeping money home.

HANEY ADDED TO COURT CASE LIST

Toronto, Oct. 23.—The grand jury in the assizes today returned true bills on the new indictments against the Home Bank directors. In the new indictment, M. J. Haney, former president, of the Home Bank, is also charged. There had been no charges against him previously. The names of Sidney Jones, Home Bank auditor, and Ocean G. Smith, chief accountant, are dropped in the new indictments. The charges are conspiracy.

A request for a bench warrant for the arrest of Mr. Haney was refused by Chief Justice Meredith, who said that Mr. Haney would appear with the other directors Monday morning.

Ocean G. Smith and Sidney Jones have already been convicted in the county criminal court on one count of negligence in making out statements of the affairs of the bank. Neither has yet been sentenced.

The new indictment is against M. J. Haney, R. P. Gougn, S. Casey Wood, J. F. M. Stewart, F. J. R. Russell, all of Toronto; C. A. Barnard and C. F. Smith, of Montreal.

DEPOSITORS HOLD MEETING

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Home Bank depositors was held in the council chamber on Tuesday evening to consider what representations were to be made to the Prime Minister on his visit here on the 28th. Mayor Henderson took the chair, and after hearing Mr. Caufield, James C. McLean, Wm. Savage, Mr. Rutledge, Mr. Draper, G. G. Moffatt, Mr. Hesketh and J. E. Smith, it was regularly moved and seconded that the following committee be appointed to meet the Hon. Mackenzie King and to place before him the different cases, etc.: W. R. Wilson, G. G. Henderson, J. E. Smith, T. Rutledge, Mrs. Wallace, West Fernie; Mrs. Forsythe, Coal Creek; Robt. Draper, Cokato; G. G. Moffatt and B. Caufield. W. R. Wilson was appointed as spokesman of the above committee, but in the event of his absence, Mr. Caufield to be the spokesman. It is understood that Blairmore will also send a delegation to Fernie to interview the Prime Minister. It was unanimously voted that G. G. Henderson again return to Ottawa when parliament meets to represent the district on the Home Bank question. A letter was read addressed to the Secretary here from I. C. Weldon, Toronto, advising the people of Fernie to send Mr. Henderson back to Ottawa to represent their different claims, stating that he had been of very great assistance and persistent and tireless in his efforts on behalf of the Home Bank depositors.

FATAL CAR ACCIDENT

A fatal accident occurred on the road about four miles the other side of Jaffray at 7 p.m. last evening, when an automobile containing four persons was overturned.

The front seat was occupied by two Greeks from down the Pass. One was instantly killed by having his neck broken and the other was badly injured. The two men in the back seat escaped injury. No further news of the accident has yet been received. The injured man was taken to the Cranbrook hospital.

HOCKEY CLUB ORGANIZE FOR THE SEASON

At a meeting of the Fernie Hockey Club held in Ingram's Hall on Oct. 17, the following officers were elected for this season:

Hon. President—W. R. Wilson.

President—W. Thomas.

Vice President—Dr. Workman.

Sec.-Treas.—H. McLachlan.

Executive—D. Alexander, J. Jerue, W. Thompson, Cy. Walker, and Geo. Auld.

COAL PRICES CUT AT LETHBRIDGE

Lethbridge, Oct. 22.—Following the strike settlement the price of coal in the city was reduced 50 cents per ton today.

All mines are now working, including the North American Collieries at Coalhurst, where the men returned to work this morning.

MANY MINERS OUT OF WORK

Drumheller, Oct. 21. — Although many of the miners got jobs on Monday, there are still several hundred who are out of work yet. It is possible, however, that as the mines get into full working order they may be found jobs. There is some dissatisfaction expressed among them that strangers in town have been given jobs which older residents held last year and they say they would like to see a system established by which older men would get the preference over newcomers.

MINERS THREATEN ANOTHER STRIKE

Drumheller, Oct. 22.—Miners in the Drumheller coal field, who returned to work on Monday after a strike lasting many months, will walk out again unless special provincial police who are declared to be acting in an arbitrary manner in ordering job seekers off the properties of the coal companies, are withdrawn at once. A resolution to this effect was agreed on by the miners' union in meeting at Drumheller on Tuesday night, and the attorney general of Alberta is to be asked at once to withdraw the policemen.

DR. BONNELL LEAVES FERNIE

Fernie lost one of its oldest and best citizens this week in the person of Dr. Bonnell, who left on Thursday morning for Vancouver, where he will practice in future. The doctor arrived in Fernie in 1897, along with the construction crews which built the Crow's Nest branch, and with the exception of the time he served overseas has resided here ever since.

In a public capacity he has served as mayor of the city and as member for East Kootenay in the House at Ottawa in the Union government. The doctor always took a keen interest in everything pertaining to the good and welfare of Fernie and his departure is a keen loss to the citizens of the town.

In his profession he was hard to beat, being known all over the west as one of the most competent surgeons. Of late years he specialized in the eye, ear, nose and throat, and it is sincerely hoped that in the wider field at Vancouver his talent will meet with the larger success it deserves.

SHEFFIELD LIFTS A QUEENS SCHOLARSHIP

Kingston, Ont., Oct. 20.—At the last meeting of the faculty of arts of Queens university, the Curtis memorial scholarship was awarded to W. J. Brown of Toronto and the Western Canada scholarship to P. H. Sheffield, of Fernie, B.C.

Mr. Sheffield is now inspector of public schools for West Kootenay district, residing at Nelson. He has taken ex-mural work at Queens, going east to Kingston for the last four summers. Three weeks ago he was notified he had been awarded his B.A. degree.

News of this scholarship was a pleasant surprise last night to Mrs. Sheffield.

MINING MEN AT KIMBERLEY

Blairmore, Oct. 19.—The Mining Institute set out on Saturday morning at 3 a.m. on a C.P.R. special train with three sleeping coaches, for Kimberley, B.C., where they were the guests of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. of Canada.

Fifty-seven delegates from here were joined at Kimberley by twelve others who left Blairmore by autos the previous day.

Arriving at Kimberley at 8.30 a.m. they were met by officials of the Consolidated, and after having breakfast the party left by special train for the mines 1 1-2 miles away; here they were conducted through a very large power house where the latest and most up to date machinery has been installed.

Then going to a well equipped wash house, the party were all provided with a new outfit of overalls, rubber boots, caps and lamps. Proceeding to the tunnel mouth, a mine train was in readiness to convey the party underground. This train consisted of a 10-ton electric locomotive and special cars for the handling of 100 passengers.

Previous to going into the tunnel, photographs were taken of the party. A signal was then given by E. J. Montgomery, the manager, to the locomotive driver to enter. After travelling a little over 5000 feet underground the trip was called to a halt at an underground electric station, where a motor-generator set is situated; also an electrically-driven fan.

From here the party again assembled on the train and were taken another 2500 feet underground. From this point the party were led by the officials to several working places, where the ore is being mined. One stope or working place was driven up a distance of 150 feet on a pitch of approximately 20 degrees; at the face of this stope it was over 100 feet wide and 30 feet high. Here a demonstration was given by the workmen in the operating of a drilling machine. Returning to the bottom of this stope to the loading station where a drag line is used for this purpose.

At the next place they were shown mechanical loaders at work, and it was surprising to a good many of the onlookers to see how easy it was to load the mine cars with this heavy ore; two different kinds of loaders were shown in action.

It was indeed spectacular to see a party of about 80 men in one working place, in their white rubber boots, brown overalls, brown caps and new carbide lamps.

The party was conducted to a vein of very rich ore containing a big percentage of lead, considered to be the richest vein on the American continent.

Going back to the main tunnel, where a special train was waiting, they were conveyed to the outside, a distance of 7500 feet (1 1-2 miles), at a speed of 10 miles an hour. The roadbed and track were in such condition that it was equal to riding on any first-class railway.

Installed in the tunnel in the upper right hand corner, carried by hangers, every 15 feet is a ten inch air line for a distance of 7000 feet which carries compressed air from the outside compressors to drilling machines and other machines underground.

On returning to the wash house, the party put off their mining garb and were conducted to the company's hall where they were entertained to a banquet. Nothing was overlooked at this banquet for the enjoyment of the guests.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., being moved by Dr. Wallace of Winnipeg and seconded by G. Kellock of McGillivray mines, Coleman. Allen B. Ritchie suitably responded.

After being thoroughly refreshed, the party were taken to the tipple, where there is located a steel bin which will hold 1000 tons of this ore; it was demonstrated how the mine cars were unloaded into this steel bin. The visitors were led through various branches of the tipple, where a good number of crushers of various sizes are installed. The first one crushes rock of a ton weight, then it passes through crushers of different sizes until finally it is about egg size.

By special train they were conveyed to the concentrator some three miles away, where they were met by the superintendent of this plant, who along with Mr. Montgomery, Mr. Ritchie and other officals, conducted them over this modern and up to date concentrator which cost over two million dollars to install. The party was bewildered at the amount of machinery in this concern, and the different processes and treatment the ore was put through before the lead and zinc was obtained.

Finally the visitors were conducted to the new townsite, for the workmen of the concentrator, and were shown through the new boarding houses erected by the company.

Mr. Johnson told briefly how the standard sleeping cars had been run right through to Kimberley, in charge of J. E. Proctor, District C. P.R. passenger agent. A vote of thanks to the C.P.R., specially mentioning Mr. Proctor, was moved and carried.

Mr. Johnson also outlined briefly the organization for the carrying through of the convention.

A LIBRARY A GREAT ASSET

Libraries truly contain in one respect the wealth of the ages. The mighty empires, civilizations of the past, their riches, pomp and power have passed away; the only wealth that has remained is their thought engraved on stone, stamped on clay or written on parchment. The immortal past lives in books today. The modern library has a very ancient ancestry; we may see in a museum what ancient libraries were like.

Books in all ages have been the handmaids of progress and civilization. The Renaissance could not have taken place but for the invention of the printing press. The printing press has kept pace with modern civilization and touches us closely in every walk of life. The symbol most used for books, and truly books have been mental beacons, vestal fires ever kept burning, guiding and directing to thought and knowledge.

In the life of every community a good public library is an essential to engender love of reading, increase knowledge, create healthy public opinion and thereby solve the world's problems. Great sums are spent on Social Welfare, and rightly too, but the great social disease and root of crime is ignorance. Here truly knowledge is power, knowledge is life; at the insignificant cost of a book.

We know to our sad experience in Fernie that our modern complex industrial system is badly out of gear. On the one hand we want knowledge of economics and the dignity of labor; on the other hand we want realization that men are not merely cogs in a great machine. It may be that when election comes round we shall find lack of appreciation of provincial or municipal affairs. Everyone to exercise the franchise rightly should be self-reliant and thoughtful, otherwise the power of the vote is a public menace. A healthy public opinion demands Books—Books—Books.

The only real wealth is life; the library stands for life, for it has power of inspiration and character building. A library means increased opportunities, especially for the young. A single book has often decided the course of future life. It is interesting to read of many who became eminent, who, perhaps had no great opportunities, but some interesting books led to a successful and congenial career. The genius of after years has often found the first inspiration in a book on mechanics; a successful business life may have begun under the halo of a romantic book.

A public library is a grat recreation ground. To enter into the spirit of a good novel, even if one does no more serious reading, takes one out of oneself and translates to new society and surroundings. Thus the business man can get away from his worries, the laborer from his toil, and the housekeeper becomes oblivious of daily duties.

Our opportunities for travel may belimited, but we in a manner can make amends by reading. Successful reading has power to make scenes, personalities, ideas and fancies of others our own. Moore's poem, Lalla Hookh, with its perfect oriental description of scenery, people and manners of India, has always been a

LESSONS OF COAL STRIKE

(From the Lethbridge Herald)

The coal strike is now happily settled, and a great industry, after an enforced idleness of over six months, has now resumed operation, not without a serious handicap in loss of markets forced on by the strike. This is unfortunately the case in strikes which concern such an important commodity as coal, and points to the shortsightedness of strikes in which however the settlement, neither party in the conflict really wins out when it comes to benefits gained. If what has been said in regard to the settlement arrived at by miners' leaders in the city is true, all that the miners have now obtained could have been obtained six months ago, which makes the strike appear all the more futile. With this in mind, it is regrettable that negotiations were unable to bring the two parties in the dispute together to the position on which they have at last met without a settlement delayed by a prolonged strike. This is a view which cannot escape the public, which is a party as much interested in the settlement of a coal dispute as the operators and the miners.

However distasteful industrial strikes are to all concerned, the right to strike cannot be denied individuals. The denial would be tantamount to interfering with the freedom of the subject. But this does not prevent anything in the way of placing a limitation to the right to strike. Here there is room for the perfecting of the conciliatory marhinery we now have for eliminating the risk of strikes as far as possible by means allowed which will permit a fair and prompt settlement of industrial disputes. To obtain this it will be found necessary in a particular dispute not only to take into consideration the particular industry affected but the state of industry generally throughout the country in counting the relation one industry bears to another. For in such an industry as coal there cannot be a doubt that anything which tends to keep up its cost must have its effect on other industries. This is particularly the case in regard to disputes concerning wages. It cannot be left for one particular industry to come to a settlement in regard to wages without taking into consideration other industries which might suffer through a raise in wages in that particular industry. Wage negotiations call for a consideration of the whole economic situation. It is a big problem when so viewed, and demands that view if we are to get anywhere in the settlement of wage disputes. This much must be conceded. In this day we cannot deny the fact that the trouble now experienced, as shown in the coal strike, is that wage-earners in industries are claiming higher remuneration after what they have been accustomed to earn, in pre-war days, while industries themselves find themselves not in the same position they were in during the war when it comes to making profits.

What is evidently needed as one of the lessons of the coal strike is the tabulation of facts concerning every industry. These facts when gathered will serve as a basis of negotiation when it comes to a dispute in any particular industry. It will be a case of exposing all the cards on the tables, with the earnings and the profits of each industry ascertained so as to determine why such and such wage cannot be paid. Facts such as these are bound to carry weight in bringing men to reason whenever there is a movement for a cut in wages on the part of employers and a move for increased wages in any particular industry. No reasonable person can insist on wages which the concern in which he works is unable to pay, and no reasonable person, on the other hand, will quietly consent to wages which are inadequate when earnings and profits are taken into the reckoning. Nor should the co-relation of one industry to another and the fact that workers in one industry might suffer through the boosting of wages in another industry, in the way it will affect what is in common use, be without its reckoning when it comes to wage negotiations. We have still much to do in the way of establishing industrial peace, and means such as those mentioned will go far towards bringing about what is an essential in the way of industrial peace becoming as permanent as possible.

After the economic trouble which has been caused by the strike we can only hope that, now that a settlement is arrived at, all parties will endeavor to live up to its spirit and that there will be nothing in the way of a reaction to cause a recurrence of trouble which everyone cannot but deplore in the great economic loss which it has caused. This is at least what the public is entitled to look to in the case of a commodity of such universal consumption as coal.

ELKS' RULER VISITS MOOSE CHILD CITY

New evidence of good will between two great fraternal organizations was the visit to Mooseheart on Sept. 2, of John G. Price, newly elected grand exalted ruler of the Elks. As soon as announcement of the election had been made, Secretary Davis invited Mr. Price, whose home is in Columbus, Ohio, to visit Mooseheart. It happened that Mr. Price chose Sept. 2, when national duties prevented Secretary Davis from being present. But Mr. Price, with Charles Witt of the grand secretary's office, was received on behalf of the Supreme Lodge of the World of the Loyal Order of Moose, by Supreme Secretary Rodney H. Brandon and Past Supreme Dictator Judge Pierson. Supt. Adams personally escorted the visitors about Mooseheart.

At 4 o'clock they attended Assembly and Mr. Price spoke briefly to the students, congratulating them on their homes and their school of high standard and bringing greetings from 900,000 Elks, many of whom are Moose. He said he had not seen all of Mooseheart but he hoped he would be able to come again. He added he was deeply impressed by the detail of work as he had seen it in his tour of the grounds.

Mr. Price later was entertained at dinner by Aurora Elks in their lodge rooms. Exalted Ruler Nelson Millard of Aurora was one of the party accompanying Mr. Price at Mooseheart.

"THREE CHEERS FOR KING GEORGE!"

In the October Blackwood's Magazine Major General Sir George MacMunn, under the title of "The King's Pawns," tells a story which he says could "touch strong men's hearts with glory till they weep."

The story was told to General MacMunn by James Breastead, Professor of History at Chicago, who had it from a Turkish officer. It tells of Havildar Muhammed Ismael and nine rank and file of a Mahammedan company of Indian troops guarding the Suez Canal who were lost among the sandhills and captured by enemy Bedouins and Turkish cavalry.

They were taken before a Prussian officer of the General Staff of the Turkish army. "How is it," he demanded, "that you Indian Mohammedans are engaged in fighting your co-religionists? Surely you are aware that a Holy War against the English and their allies has been declared from the mosques of Islaf?"

The havildar thought for a bit (the story proceeds) and then made answer: "This is a political war and not a religious war. Therefore we remain with our own units and observe our enlistment oath and our faith with the salt we eat."

"That may be," said the Prussian, with a scowl. "There are ten Turkish uniforms in the corner there. I will give you five minutes to put them on or be shot as deserters from Islaf, whose lives are forfeit."

At the havildar's request the Prussian gave him three minutes to speak alone with his comrades.

And then—fame has blazoned the answer, I hope, as jewels that on the forefinger of time sparkle for ever. The party, soldierlike, while in extremis, drew themselves up, and there rang forth as fine a challenge to a cruel tyrant as the world ever heard: "Three cheers for King George!"

The Prussian lifted his hand, and they were led out through the crowd of fierce, flushed faces thronging the door, and a volley wrote their simple village names on the great book of Fate.

KIMBERLEY TO BOOM

Kimberley, Oct. 18.—Kimberley is to have another big mining boom. The development of three new mining properties, the North Star, Stemwinder and the Ontario, is to be undertaken at once. Kimberley was built when the North Star mine was first opened. The mine was worked more or less for a number of years, but was closed down by the owners in 1910. It was reopened in 1918 by O. C. Thompson, who leased the property. Over 25,000 tons of ore was shipped during the following three years to Trail smelter, this being the second largest tonnage from any mine in the province, second only to its big neighbor, the Sullivan mine.

The mountain side on which the mine is situated was swept by forest fire in 1919, which destroyed the surface equipment and buildings. These were replaced by Mr. Thompson, who re-equipped the mine with buildings and tramline, and continued the shipping till 1921, when the price of lead dropped and the grade of the one being somewhat lowered did not permit profitable operation without concentration before shipment.

Mr. Thompson during the last few years has become interested in the Stemwinder and Ontario and other adjacent properties and has been having prospecting work done with a view to the establishment of a concentrator on the ground, suitable for the purpose. The plans were completed some time ago for the erection of a hundred ton mill, but as a result of exhaustive tests and the showing made, a much larger will is likely to result, the requisite capital having been secured, and as matters stand now, the capacity of the mill to be erected will depend on the showing made, a much larger mill is ment period of the next few months on the combined properties.

The North Star will be developed to a considerable depth this winter, while the Stemwinder, Ontario and other properties will be developed by a shaft, drift and crosscuts. The diamond drilling is being pushed with vigor by the International Diamond Drilling Co., a compressor of adequate size is being installed, together with all the necessary equipment, consisting of hoist, drills, drill sharpener, etc. A grade has already been constructed covering the half mile or so from the North Star siding to the Stemwinder. Connection is being made at the North Star siding with the Kimberley branch of the C.P.R. The mine machinery is being supplied by the Canadian Ingersoll Rand Co., while the East Kootenay Power Co. will supply the electrical energy.

Development work will be pushed immediately, with three shifts going continuously throughout the winter, and a large number of men will, it is expected, be employed. The ore is somewhat similar to that of the Sullivan mine, and as soon as the property has been properly blocked out, a concentrator will be built at a location now in view, to take care of the available tonnage, and for this a considerable amount of machinery has already been ordered. Amongst those assisting in the work is Mr. Starr, a well known United States geologist.

The Lowell Courier-Citizen says: "Unemployment grows in Canada, with the trend of all provinces reporting to Ottawa on employment distinctly downward. From the figures of workers out of work it might be supposed that there is little work to be done in a vast Dominion, the richness of whose soil has hardly been scratched, whose mineral resources are only beginning to be tapped and whose forests are already providing lumber and wood pulp for most of the rest of the world. Something's surely wrong in political management when such a country as Canada has to record scarcity of work and a plethora of workers."

"LILY OF THE DUST" IS POLA'S LATEST PARAMOUNT

Who was the beautiful woman who smiled bravely while her stern-looking husband, clad in the uniform of an officer of high rank, slowly closed his fingers in, vice-like grip over her bare arm?

Diners crowding the tables of a fashionable cafe in a European city who witnessed this little act of cruelty exhausted their imaginations in speculation concerning the identity of the pair. When the woman, superb in a gown of black velvet, rose from the table, all eyes followed her as she swept from the room.

The scene occure in "Lily of the Dust," Pola Negri's latest starring picture for Paramount produced by Dimitri Buchowetzki and coming to the Orpheum theatre next Wednesday.

Pola play the role of the wife, and Noah Beery that of the officer. The story which lies behind this little tragedy in the dining room is one of the most dramatic and fascinating which has ever been made into a motion picture film.

Heading the strong cast playing in support of the star are Ben Lyon, Beery and Raymond Griffith. Others are William J. Kelly and Jeanette Daudet. Paul Bern wrote the screen play.

Yet almost at the same time that the British navy is stripped of its old power of defending the British Empire, we know well that they would gladly hawk it round Europe to be the drudge of an international organization and fight in every quarrel but its own."

A DUCKING DUCK HUNT

After seven hours trip we landed safe at our destination, a little tired but still wanted to hunt the evening flight, when Fred Mitchell informed us that he had built a special punt for our use. Now a "pun" is a joke and this "punt" sure was a joke.

Fred, being a carpenter, felt that he could build a good punt or duck boat, and we, the victims, are sure he can not. After much angling about who should use the punt, Joe and George decided to take a chance. Tim Lawes, being wise, said he would walk. George decided to paddle, so off we went, but not very far when it became evident George was not much of a paddler, so Joe tried his luck, when the following conversation was indulged in:

Joe—You are a bum paddler George. Let me show you how to paddle.

George—You are worse than I am.

Joe—Help me along; pull on the rushes.

Joe—Easy now, we are shipping water.

George—Pulling on the rushes. All right.

Joe—Whoa! The boat is sinking.

George—Still sitting in the water three feet deep. What's the matter?

Joe—Get up, you will get your feet wet.

George—(Getting up). Well, she sunk, Joe.

Joe—She sure did. You are all wet. Get out and I'll push it to that muskrat house and dump her and pick you up.

George—But the water is cold. (Both still standing in boat with 3 feet of water over it.)

Joe—Get out, you sunk the punt.

George—Not me. Your bum paddling did it. Ha! ha!

George gets out in the slough, four feet of water and mud. Joe pushes boat to muskrat house to dump her. However, Mr. Muskrat built his house in deep water and Joe fell off upsetting the boat.

It finally ended up by pushing the boat to shore, some 300 yards, George in front and Joe behind. It was the end of a perfect duck hunt.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

THE miners of Fernie and others are now beginning to realize that it takes some time to build up a coal market. Seven months of idleness has sent our buyers into other markets where wages are lower and where coal is cheaper, and it will be a hard fight to get these buyers back, even though we have a superior coal. Inability or positive refusal to look at the situation in which the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. finds itself from a business standpoint, has placed our mines in the position in which they stand today—positively desperate to find a market. There are six or seven hundred men right in the city of Fernie who are idle today, and who can say for how long, just because they cannot see any further than the end of their nose. The management of the company offered them months ago a proposition which would give them, it was hoped, steady work at wages far higher than are paid in any of the metalliferous mines of the west and a proposition upon which the company could have mined coal, but they would not. Now they must wait until such time as a market can be secured. The real trouble with the men is that they are in the habit of letting a few others think for them and these men are usually governed by motives which are not altogether in accord with the good and welfare of the miner himself. Too much unionism and not enough good hard common sense threatens to bring a lot of distress upon our men.

* * * * *

ISN'T it about time for Clarence Darrow to begin to frame an insanity defense for the preacher who poisoned his wife and the hubby of the woman he was infatuated with?

IN 1811 a Rhode Island farmer dallied to release his pig from a fence and arrived at the polls too late to cast his vote. The Federalists lost that precinct by one vote; as a result, a representative who favored war with Great Britain was elected to the legislature, which in turn by a majority of one elected a United States senator who favored war. Then the Congress, by a majority of one, declared the war, generally known as the War of 1812.

The foregoing is quoted from the political observations of Richard T. Greener. It should be re-read and memorized by the man who says to himself: "Shucks! my vote doesn't make any difference. Guess I'll not go to the polls."

******

THE best way to deal with a drunken automobile driver is not only to put him in jail, but to deny him the right to drive a car for a long time after his release. The number of such drivers is large enough to constitute a grave menace to the public safety. It ought to be an established policy, applicable without exception in such cases, that the menace must be removed from the highways. The enforcement of such a policy might tend to make the prohibition laws better observed and that certainly would be a good thing. But the immediate main advantage would be the protection of the public. To insure the safety of life and limb so far as this is humanly possible, is the first duty of organized government.

LOYALTY is a creed, a duty and a sentiment.

Particularly is this true of civic loyalty.

It is a creed because the loyal person says:

I believe in my city, what it is, what it stands for, and what it does.

Loyalty is a duty because it implies allegiance. Every resident of a city, by the very fact of his citizenship, is bound to obey the laws of the city.

Loyalty is a sentiment because it implies affection, love and enthusiasm.

These three are not expressed merely in shouting or boosting.

Blairmore Enterprise: We understand that Messrs. Wilson and Naden, of Fernie, will carry their appeal against the judgment of Magistrate Gresham before the privy council, if necessary, to prove that the Alberta Liquor Act or Liquor Control Act is ultra vires. The judgment in question was that in which a fine of $700, together with confiscation of liquor and automobile, worth about $4000, was assessed.

LIBRARY A GREAT ASSET

marvel of genius to those who have lived in India, for Tom Moore never set foot in the East; he only had a book and a good imagination.

Books give us the best of the greatest intellects. We can make the thoughts of the past our own, the visions of the artist, and the design of the architect. We can live in all history. We can converse with the philosophers of 3000 years ago. We may look on the world with the eyes of a Caesar, a Pharoah, or a Norman. We may stand on the top of the Andes side by side with Darwin, the naturalist, and get the greatest view of the world over the wondrous country of Brazil, and trace the mighty Amazon with its many tributaries winding like silver threads among the huge forests for hundreds and hundreds of miles, almost to the Atlantic ocean. We may converse with the scientist, the botanist, the naturalist, and see a world in a drop of water, a flower, an insect.

Companions of childhood and old age are in books. Here are friends who entertain, whose equanimity cannot be disturbed.

There is another side to this great subject, and a no less important reason in the support of a public library. The influence of books is great; unfortunately immoral writers and unscrupulous publishers put into circulation exciting, vulgar and degrading books. These are mostly read by the young and uneducated. Parents should exercise the strictest control in what their children read, and not allow them to buy or borrow books promiscuously. The best way to do this is to support a good wholesome Public Library.

A library can only be equipped and up to date in proportion to public interest. All should support it according to their ability.

MONTREAL BANK BANDITS ESCAPE THE SCAFFOLD

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—Two of the Montreal bank bandits escape the scaffold. At an emergency meeting of the cabinet this afternoon the sentence of death passed on Mike Valentino and Leo Davis were commuted to life imprisonment.

In the case of the four other bandits condemned to death, it was decided that there would be no interference with the law. It was said at the conclusion of the meeting that the decision in regard to Valentino was that he had been a tool rather than a principal in the conspiracy and holdup. The actual holdup had been performed by Morel and Serafini, whereas Valentino was merely an assistant to the two others who were engaged in protective work.

The decision of the cabinet was made as a result of representations which have been received by the justice department since the case was considered last Friday.

The death sentences on Morel, Serafini and Frank and Gambino all stand. They will be executed at Bordeaux jail, Montreal, tomorrow. Valentino was to have been executed with them. The execution of Davis had been fixed for Nov. 6.

Friday, Oect. 24.—The four bandits were executed at an early hour this morning.

SMUGGLING OF ALIENS

The smuggling of aliens into the United States, we are informed by the Washington Post, has reached proportions that compare favorably with the rum-running industry. More aliens, we are told, are now smuggled in than are regularly admitted by law. They come across the Mexican and Canadian borders, from Cuba to the Florida coast, and are even carried as far northward as Baltimore, New York and New Jersey. Recently an audacious attempt was made to land 31 Italians on the Long Island shore. They were caught by Prohibition enforcement officers and the smugglers were swiftly convicted and sentenced to serve 16 months in prison.

According to Hiram K. Moderwell, Rome correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, the smuggling of aliens is an organized business in Europe. Now that the immigration law has made fraud more difficult, writes Mr. Moderwell, an elaborate smuggling organization offers, for a mere trifle of from $500 to 1000 to land an alien on these shores. They use three methods:

"The would-be emigrant may be slipped on board a trans-Atlantic steamer as a member of the crew and then 'desert' in an American harbor. Once actually on American soil he is relatively safe. The forging of seamen's papers is much simpler than the forging of official passports.

"Many of the clandestine emigrants cross as 'black passengers,' or stowaways. They are generally hustled on to the ship at the last minute. Their sufferings are sometimes atrocious.

"The third method generally used is indirect. Much has been written in America about immigration bootlegging over the 1000-mile Mexican border, but it is not so well known that part of this is organized in Europe. With comparative ease the would-be emigrant can obtain a passport for certain South or Central American countries, and the intermediate countries are obliged to grant him transit permission. Thus all may go with relative legality up to the Mexican border, which offers no very serious obstacle."

So profitable have Cuban smugglers of aliens found the business, says a writer in the New York Herald, that they are contemplating running a submarine back and forth between the island and the Florida coast. And along the Canadian border, says an Albany dispatch to the New York Evening Post:

"Most of them come over in taxicabs, and according to federal officials in Albany there is a syndicate of taxi men in Montreal openly advertising along the river front that they will take aliens into the United States without the formalities of complying with the immigration regulations.

"Professional violators of the law, it is said, have given up bootlegging for the more profitable smuggling of aliens across the border. They can get more for carrying a load of aliens across the border over some little-used and unguarded route than they can by bringing a load of liquor over. The danger of getting caught is also less."

There are some 4000 miles of this border, and there are many stretches that are inadequately guarded by our undermanned border police, maintains Edgar Mels in a Washington Star article. Continues this writer:

"The men who bootleg immigrants receive from $10 to $1000 a head. At the low average of $150 each, with an estimated total of only 50,000 a year, the alien smugglers obtain $7,500,00 annually. It is estimated, however, that the smugglers take in excess of $10,000,000 a year.

"The there is the other side of the ledger. It costs the United States more than $1,500,000 to watch its frontiers against smuggled aliens or attempts to smuggle them in. But this is not all. When such an alien is caught, there comes the hearings before immigration officials, which cost money, an dthen the cost of deportation."

It is largely because no vessels and men have been definitely assigned to guard the Atlantic and Gulf coasts that the smuggling of aliens has become such a vast industry, we read in the Springfield Republican. "No water craft are provided, particularly on the Gulf coast, where immigration smuggling, like rum and narcotic bootlegging, thrives practically unmolested," declares the Detroit Free Press. This paper believes there should be some form of cooperation between prohibition enforcement units and immigration officials, such as the chance raid along the Long Island shore which netted the 31 Italian aliens. However, admits the Free Press:

"Even if reform along lines of greater coordination should prove feasible, the alien smuggling situation must generally be tackled with a stronger organization and bigger funds than Mr. Davis now has at his disposal."

The New York Times and the Washington Post agree that larger forces, particularly along the Mexican and Canadian borders are necessary to stop the influx. Still another remedy is suggested by the Washington paper:

"The immigration service does not have the fleet and the finances that are granted so liberally to the prohibition enforcement authorities. Hence it is easier to smuggle human beings into the United States than it is to smuggle liquor.

"The ease with which aliens may be brought into the United States constitutes a strong reason why all aliens within the country should be registered. All other countries in the world keep a record of aliens within their borders. The United States must do so for its own protection. Persons unlawfully in the country could be quickly weeded out and deported. At present it is exceedingly difficult to trace smuggled aliens, once they have come across the border.

"The immigration law will be robbed of much of its virtue if the smuggling evil is permitted to increase. The pressure for entry into the United States is very great, and the opportunities for successful smuggling are only too numerous. The Secretary of Labor should have adequate funds at his disposal for maintaining a systematic patrol of the borders and the coasts. With this, however, he should have the alien registration system as an effective means of identifying and keeping track of aliens already in the country."

TO SALT DOWN POWER

A new suggestion of a way to store power so that it can be made where and when power is cheap and used, later on, under conditions where power is expensive, has been made by Dr. F. G. Donnan, Professor at University College, London, and famous for his valuable scientific contributions to the winning of the war, says Dr. E. E. Free, writing for the McClure Newspaper Syndicate, New York:

"What Dr. Donnan suggests is the use of common salt as a way of storing power. When a solution of common salt is treated with an electric current the salt is broken up into the two chemical elements that compose it; metallic sodium and chlorin gas. This might be done, it is suggested, at places where water power is cheap and abundant, for example, at Niagara Falls. Then the sodium and the chlorin gas can be transported to industrial centers where power is expensive. Here the sodium and the chlorin can be recombined to produce heat, or the sodium can be treated with water, which produces hydrogen gas, and this hydrogen can then be burned to produce heat. By a proper choice of the chemical operations carried out and of the apparatus used, it is said to be possible to recover a large part of the power originally used to split up the common salt into the sodium and and the chlorin."

THE RUSSIAN SCHOOLS

"Heartrending" is the word used by the Russian Commissariat of Education in describing the conditions into which the village schools of Russia have fallen. No effort is made to conceal, either from the Russians themselves or the outside world, the facts brought to light by a survey which was made between February and May of this year of villages in seven widely separated provinces. The New York Times, summarizing the revelations made by the Moscow Pravda, writes:

"Teachers' salaries have not been paid for a considerable time, and besides having to suffer financially, the teachers are treated with contempt and often forced to do all kinds of enforced labor, from taking unwilling part in the plays in the public theatre to acting as scribes to the local Soviet Executive Committee.

"The surprizing statement is made that not even Soviet school books have reached the village schools in any considerable number. Some typical instances are cited showing that hardly more than a third of the pupils had books, and that these were of a most variegated sort, some dating back from before the revolution. And as for school accessories and materials for writing, they are altogether wanting or most scanty and casual, copy books being made out of old taxation lists and parish registers. Wood is scarce for heating or repairs, and the children sit through the cold days wearing caps and coats in buildings, 40 per cent of which are crumbling down.

"It is little wonder that with all the Soviet paper plans for universal education so little headway is made in educational reform. A politiial system that does not rest upon widespread education is bound to go the way of these crumbling buildings. And until a sound economy prevails in that system, there will not be the means to maintain even the vestiges of the schools that now exist. An anti-property, anti-God, anti-individual policy is one of devolution. It does not look as if a revolution were imminent. Evolution is the only forward way, and that will be made possible only by liberating the minds of the hundred million."

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

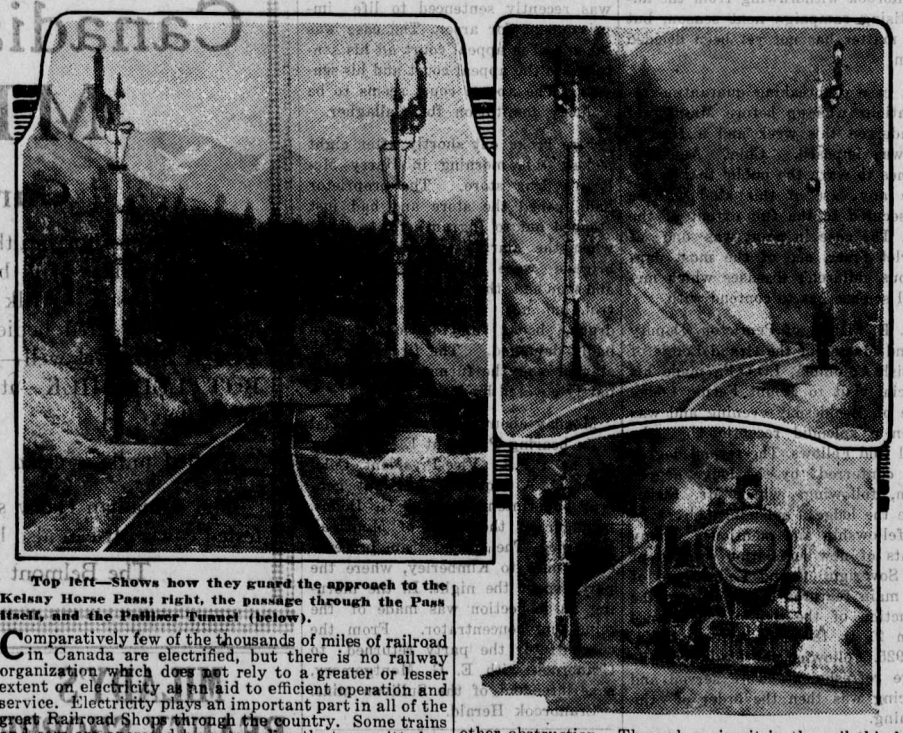
PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.



LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Comparatively few of the thousands of miles of railroad in Canada are electrified, but there is no railway organization which does not rely to a greater or lesser extent on electricity as an aid to efficient operation and service. Electricity plays an important part in all of the great Railroad Shops through the country. Some trains and cars are operated by power directly transmitted or stored in batteries. Bridges are operated, and a thousand and one electrical devices are in constant use which beside being labor saving do away with the human element which might make for inefficiency. Numbered among these are the automatic Block Signals which one finds distributed along the line of the Canadian Pacific, and notices particularly in the Rocky Mountain passes where they are more urgently required.

To the average layman an automatic signal is just a signal, and the general public is only interested in it because it gives added protection, or rather eliminates possible danger from the portion of track which it governs. To the railroad official it is more. It acts as watchman against broken rails, open switches, a fouled track or any other obstruction. Through a circuit in the rail this is accomplished, and if the circuit be broken, for the reason that another train is occupying the block, or that there is an open switch, a broken rail, washout or other obstruction, then the train approaching the signal may not pass. And while it awaits a through signal, trains following in the rear may not approach for the reason that they are also stopped by an automatic signal which will not release them until the preceding train has passed from that section of the track which they desire to enter. A perfect system. No electrical circuit — no through signal — no train may pass.

The value of this system in the Rockies can hardly be over-estimated. Not only is labor saved, but the company is able to ensure absolute protection.

Protect Your Children from Goitre

Everywhere—particularly in fresh water areas you see large, hideous cases of goitre, not only unsightly, but often disastrous to mental and physical health.

Now, through scientific research a practical preventive has been found. A preventive that permits you to safeguard your children easily, without medicine.

The Canadian Salt Company solved the situation for Canadians by introducing a minute particle of Iodine into the purest of salt—Windsor Table Salt. It has received the official sanction of hundreds of physicians and scientists as a practical goitre preventive.

Windsor Iodized Salt cannot be distinguished from pure Windsor Table Salt by taste and we recommend it to you for use on the table and in all your cooking.

CANADA'S GAME DYING OUT

Depletion of the larger game animals, even in the deepest Canadian wilds, is a disaster that hangs over the heads of the present generation. This was asserted by Dr. Rudolph Martin, chief of the division of biology of the Victoria Memorial Museum at Ottawa, before the British Association for the Advancement of Science at its recent Toronto meeting. Says the Daily Science News Bulletin, Washington:

"Not only have hunters and trappers nearly exterminated many furbearing species to supply the markets, but the breaking up of the prairies under the plow has deprived many hoofed and horned species, like the prong-horn antelope, the bison, and members of the deer family, of their pastures and is killing off the species by preventing natural increase. A last refuge of many animals, and one which Dr. Anderson believes should be theirs in perpetuity, is the Arctic.

"'A large area of Arctic and sub-Arctic lands beyond the range of possible cultivation are still occupied by large numbers of wild caribou and a few remnants of musk-oxen,' he said. 'The Arctic can never be agricultural, but there is a probability of developing a domestic reindeer industry in certain districts and attractive possibilities in attempted domestication of the musk-ox. The economic advisability of replacing a valuable, healthy and thoroughly adjusted wild stock by more expensively reared domestic stock in remote districts is questioned.

"'The proportion of the Canadian Arctic area which is actually suited for pasturage is largely problematical and needs investigation rather than speculation. Tundra is not prairie, but consists mostly of mossy swamps or comparatively barren upland. Many extensive areas are rocky or sterile and severe climatic conditions reduce materially the amount of vegetative growth on the limited fertile areas, so that a much greater acreage is required for the support of each animal than in more friendly regions. Population must necessarily be sparse outside of mining areas and enormous distances from markets will prevent profitable commercial exploitation under present methods of transportation.'

"Dr. Anderson's remarks concerning the Canadian Arctic regions apply with equal force to American possessions in interior Alaska, and to vast tracts in Northern Siberia, which can never be cultivated, but must remain as permanent grazing lands."

NO SPECIFIC FOR CANCER

While scientific medicine is bending every effort to devise some method of controlling cancer that will be even more certain than early diagnosis, complete removal and control by radium and X-ray announcements of new methods of treatment by individual physicians or investigators throughout the world continue to be made.

Recently it was announced that a certain physician had discovered a serum for cancer, that his work had been or would be reported to the that it promised to be the long sought specific method for this disease. At the time of this writing the headquarters of the American Medical Association have received no articles concerning this method; a search of scientific literature fails to reveal any scientific article concerning the method, and occasional rumors indicate that the physician is trying his serum out on persons with cancer in various parts of the country.

To use the scientific rubber-stamp remark for an opinion: "There is not at this time available the slightest scientific evidence that he has discovered a specific method of cure for cancer."

A recent announcement described a curative serum supposed to have been discovered by Dr. Fichrea of Italy. For more than ten years the scientific contributions of Dr. Fichera on the subject of cancer have been appearing in medical publications. The evidence has been considered of interest, but so far as we know, there is not yet any warrant for the belief that Dr. Fichera has been successful in elaborating a curative serum for cancer.

And thus hardly a week passes but what some new method of treating cancer is welcomed as the achievement of a long sought goal. Some day, perhaps, the world will be happily surprised by an announcement concerning a method as well substantiated as the insulin treatment for diabetes. But the method will have to be at least that well substantiated to receive the credence of scientists.

At this time the great hope of the patient with cancer lies in early diagnosis such as can be made only by a well trained physician thoroughly conversant with the symptoms of cancer in their earliest stages as they affect various parts of the body. Once the condition is diagnosed it is possible by the use of modern surgical and other scientific methods either to remove the growth entirely, including the glands into which it may have spread or to destroy it by radium and the X-ray and to seal up the gland chains leading from the affected region. But no honest, scientific physician will guarantee a rure, and if he is using a method that is not established and wholly experimental he will inform the patient or his family of the facts.

In no form of cancer is quick action so necessary or desirable as in cancer of the breast. In a recent discussion of the subject, Dr. Joseph C. Bloodgood points out that more than 75 per cent of women with lumps in their breast will find that they do not have cancer if they will consult their physicians immediately and if the lump does prove to be cancer, more than 70 per cent if given prompt attention, will have a chance for permanent cure.

If the doctor diagnosis the lump as a real tumor or growth within the breast he will consult a competent surgeon.

The Imperial Daughters of the Empire in an eastern province plan a campaign to encourage the purchase of Canadian-made products. It is pointed out that the demand for Christmas, Easter, Thanksgiving, birthday and tally cards, valentines, fancy paper seals, correspondence cards, fancy note paper, etc., is largely supplied by United States manufacturers. Nearly all te raw materials from which these various items are created are obtained in Canada, while a huge sum is annually expended in the United States for the finished product. As women are the largest purchasers of these commodities it is urged that they can assist materially in keeping the trade at home.

A cable from Hungary conveys the alarming announcement that Jackie Coogan is threatened with chickenpox. It is impossible to keep that youthful prodigy out of the sr ' light.

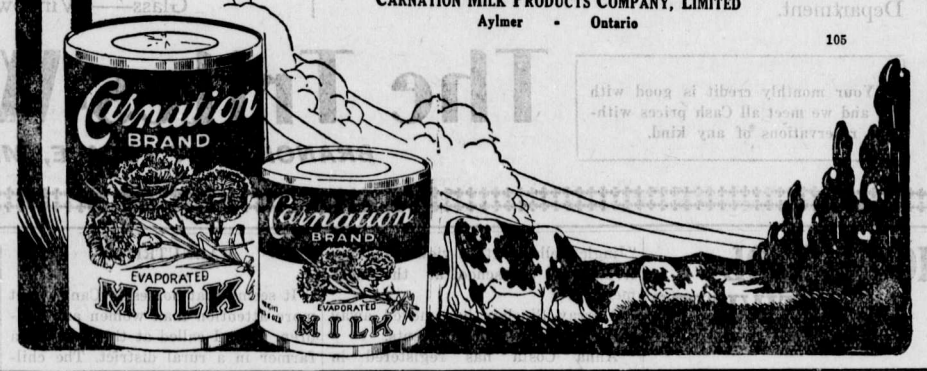
Carnation Milk
"From Contented Cows"

From Canada's Fine Dairy Farms

Comes the rich, creamy milk you get in the Carnation red and white labeled can. It is tested rigidly for purity and richness, evaporated to double richness and kept safe by sterilization.

Open a can when you need it—you will always find it fresh and sweet. You will enjoy it in place of cream on cereal or fruit, and in coffee. For tea, use it diluted, one part Carnation, three parts water.



Add to Carnation a little more than an equal part of water and you have milk of natural consistency, for all milk uses. Carnation Milk is convenient and economical. Order from your grocer several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans.

CREAM WHITE SAUCE (For Creaming Vegetables): 2 tablespoons flour, ⅛ cup Carnation Milk, 2 tablespoons butter or substitute, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅔ cup water. Melt butter or butter substitute, add flour and stir until thoroughly mixed. Add the milk, diluted with water, and cook about five minutes, or until the mixture thickens, then add seasonings. This recipe makes one cup of White Sauce. All vegetables may be creamed. The vegetables should be cooked by either boiling or steaming. After cooking with salt, drain and add Cream Sauce.

HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

For the past six weeks things have been rolling merrily on the school ball diamond. The High School and Entrance classes formed a four team league. There are two teams from the Entrance class, one from Grade 9 and the fourth represents Grade 10 and 11. The enthusiasm has steadily increased with the result that a good brand of ball is now being played.

The season ends on Monday and at present it would seem that the Grade 10 and 11 team was the pick of the league. They have won eight of their ten games. They are followed by Grade 9, who have won six and lost four. Grade 8A shows five wins and four losses, while the lone tally of Grade 8B by no means expresses their baseball ability.

"Lit" was held on Friday, Oct. 17. The meeting was opened with a recitation by Clarence Mangan entitled "Doing Nothin'." Following was a play entitled "Courtship Under Difficulties," by Helen Sewell, Jack McPhee and Ralph Whalley.

Sherwood Herchmer was the speaker at the meeting. He gave an excellent address on "The Essentials of Success." He pointed out that the world with all its openings and great possibilities was before the young people of today, and that it depended entirely on them and not on the world, what kind of career was ahead of each. No one would rush forward with honors and wealth to patronize any boy or girl, nor would anyone put hurdles on their path. If they were going to succeed or fail they would do so only by their own actions. The speaker stated that W. R. Wilson of the C.N.P. Coal Co., who was one of the world's greatest authorities on coal mining, began at the bottom of the ladder and by sheer application to study and work, became a very successful man. The eloquent address was received with great applause.

Matthew Flood, who has been out of school for a few days with blood poisoning in his hand, was back in school Thursday. He is still wearing his hand in a sling.

James Strachan, who had the misfortune to injure himself during a baseball game two weeks ago, is still unable to return.

The "Lit" is offering a prize for the best parody on the old song, "Jingle Bells," with a view to having it sung by the school at the next meeting.

Anna Costa has registered in Grade IX during the past week.

Tony Kobus is on the sick list.

The pupils have been busy looking up their certificates of vaccination following an order of the school board that every pupil be vaccinated or show a Declaration of Conscientious Objections.

DISTRICT POTATO DISPLAY

This class is open to any district in the Province of B.C. Each district display must consist of eight lots of potatoes. Each lot must have been grown by a different grower and must consist of 32 potatoes of the same size and variety to be judged for seed purposes. Each district may choose its own varieties, one or not more than two varieties to be included in the display of any one district. The management of the fair will put exhibits in place. No additional decorations will be allowed.

The variety of potato and name of grower must be neatly printed on a card and furnished with each sample. The name of the district should be printed on a separate larger card.

Any district sending more than one sample grown by the same person will be disqualified.

F. I. Advisory Board Cup—This cup will be held for one year by the district winning first honors.

In addition to this the following cash prizes will be given:

1st Prize—$40.
3rd Prize—$20.
4th Prize—$10.
5th Prize—$5.

Ontario sustained the Temperance Act in the vote yesterday by a majority of over 55,000. The prospects of government control do not seem to appeal to them. The cities went wet by a big majority, Toronto alone giving something like 50,000 in its favor, but the rural districts hardly with an exception, voted dry.

MALNUTRITION

It seems that horses in Canada get more attention than women and children. Once I called at the home of a farmer in a rural district. The children were underweight, had obvious defects, such as decayed teeth, difficulty of breathing through defective noses and throats, poor eyesight and humped shoulders. The wife was a semi-invalid through preventable causes, such as overwork and improper care at her confinements. On this farm there were some very handsome horses. The farmer was only too ready to talk about his horses and told me how carefully they had to be fed; how they could work, at certain seasons, not too much, but yet enough to be exercised, and how he knew a good horse by looking at it. This farmer, who evidently made a study of horses, would not dream of buying a horse which had such points that you could hang your hat on them; yet the shoulder blades of his children stuck out so one could almost hang ones hat on them. His children suffered from malnutrition. That is, they had not assimilated enough of the right food, therefore were poorly nourished. The farmer said his children had all they could eat (he never let his horses eat their heads off); that his children were growing too fast; were born so; were skinny; would not sit up straight. I will tell you what the children looked like: They were pale and thin looking; they had blue lines under their eyes; they stooped; the points of their shoulder blades stuck out almost through their clothes.

Although these children had all they could eat, for some reason or other they were not absorbing the food properly.

Next week I will tell further about the causes and prevention of malnutrition.—School Nurse.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of our dear Mother, who departed this life Oct. 22, 1923.

Saints departed even thus,
Hold communion still with us;
Still with us beyond the veil,
Praising, pleading without fail.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Rev. Burns of Fernie conducted divine service up here on Sunday last.

The dance held up here on Friday last speaks volumes for the committee in charge. Refreshments were served during the evening. Kielty & Co. supplied the music.

Walter Bleasdale returned to camp after an extended tour of the Dominion in discharge of his duties with the C.P.R.

The committee in charge of the masquerade dance to be held on Hallowe'en night have spared no expense to make it the best ever. Commons' orchestra has been secured. Excellent refreshments will be served and the dance will last for five hours. Patrons are assured of a good time. Tickets can be secured from A. Fleming and Harry Sharpe.

Watch the board for official notice of the G.W.V.A. annual Armistice Day parade and service on Nov. 11th.

Rev. H. U. Oswald of Fernie visited camp on two occasions during this week. On his visit on Tuesday he officiated at the baptismal ceremony of the new arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilson.

The International U.M.W.A. are receiving severe criticism up here for the dilatory methods in regard to relief. It is now over five weeks since the last issue.

Reports from the "fire zone" are that most of the danger is now past, which news comes as a welcome relief to the residents up here.

The young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arrowsmith is reported sick, having developed symptoms of flu.

The Moose children of the camp are much disappointed at not being able to participate in the annual Mooseheart frolic to be held this evening in Fernie. There are no train facilities for their return after the festivities.

Expectations of an early resumption of work fell to zero when the mine horses were shipped back to Fernie the early part of this week.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. M. Sorkie and family wish to thank all those who were so kind to them during their bereavement; also thank the young ladies, the pallbearers and those who sent flowers.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. James White, of West Fernie, wish to thank all who were so kind to them during the illness and at the time of the death of their son.

KEEPING OUR MONEY HOME

Men who are studying Canada say the way to stop people from leaving the country is to promote local industry by local patronage. It's up to British Columbia and the Dominion, too, for that matter, to keep its money circulating at home if we would save ourselves.

VISIT OF THE PREMIER

For the second time in the history of the city Fernie was honored by a visit from the Prime Minister of Canada, Tuesday afternoon, the previous occasion being a short call from the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier during his term of office.

The Premier and his party arrived in their private cars, attached to a freight train, shortly after noon, and were met and welcomed to the city by a number of citizens, who conducted the visitors to the I. O. O. F.

Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King
Premier of Canada

Hall, where a luncheon in their honor was served by the ladies of the I.O.D.E.

After luncheon the gathering was entertained with songs by Mesdames Watson and Suddaby, followed by a couple of snappy choruses. Mr. Wilson spoke briefly, stating that it gave him great pleasure to be present on such an auspicious occasion.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries, the Hon. Mr. Cardon, in his after dinner address expressed his heartfelt thanks to the people of the West for the splendid reception given himself, a French-Canadian of old Quebec, and stated that this in itself spoke highly of the spirit of unity which was rapidly growing up throughout the Dominion of Canada.

Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Premier of Canada, was then introduced by Chairman Sherwood Herchmer, as being no stranger in Fernie, having visited this city as the representative of the Department of Labor during industrial disputes on two previous occasions.

The Premier stated that it gave him great pleasure to be able to visit Fernie and renew many old acquaintances, and that it was extremely gratifying to him to be received so well by the citizens here. On this occasion he thought he would like to talk upon the Imperial Conference which took place in London some time ago. He went minutely into the description of Number 10 Downing Street, the official residence of the British Premier, and then told of how the representatives of the overseas self governing dominions and the mother country had gathered around the cabinet table and frankly discussed the points of vital importance to the various parts of the empire. No pledges had been made that the conclusions arrived at would be carried out at that conference; no resolutions were to be adopted so that business could not be transacted under a great spirit of unity. The parliaments of the different self governing dominions had the final voice on these conclusions reached and had in every case ratified the work of the Imperial Conference.

At 4 o'clock the school children assembled in the Grand Theatre and were given a very interesting fifteen minute talk on "Life" by the Premier. The children then rose and sang "God Save the King," a feature which the Premier declared was one of the most inspiring of his western tour, when he was advised that these Canadian children represented many different nationalities.

ELKS CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND DANCE

Fernie Elks will put on a Christmas Cheer Fund Dance on Dec. 1 in the I.O.O.F. Hall. Everyone knows the Elks are a fraternity that help to cheer up the unfortunate of their community by presenting them with a hamper of Christmas cheer. All profits of this dance will go to this fund, and the Elks aim at all times to give you something for your money and will not disappoint you this time. The refreshments will be served in the form of a banquet in the dining room of the Napanee hotel, which has been kindly donated by Max Belecky for the occasion. The Elks orchestra are donating the music for the evening and during the supper, which will be served without extra charge. Violin and piano soles will be given to entertain the guests. As Christmas will be with us before long the Elks are desirous of getting as large a representation as possible to help the good cause along, and have made special arrangements to take care of a large crowd. Special features will be put on. For those who cannot attend and wish to help, tickets will be issued shortly by the members and every ticket will entitle you to the dance and banquet at the regular price.

ENGLISH ELECTIONS

The people of Great Britain have put a crushing end to their first experiment with a Labor government by returning the Conservative party to power in parliament with one of the strongest majorities recorded during the last century.

In this sweeping political change the Liberal party has sunk to the weakest position it has experienced since the realignment of British political parties more than 90 years ago, at the time of the Reform bill.

Unlike the Labor government, which has just fallen, the Conservatives will be able to rule as well as govern.

Standing of the parties:

Conservatives	393
Labor	149
Liberals	40
Other parties	13

GOLF NOTES

The ladies had a closing day at the club on Saturday, Oct. 25.

A two ball foursome was played, Mrs. Martin and Mr. Mitchell making the best net score, 63.

Approach and putting competitions were played, Margaret Irvine winning the ladies prize and Mr. Watson the gentleman's prize.

Tea was served after which Miss M. Brown presented the cups as follows:

The Mrs. Wilson Cup won by Mrs. Appleyard.

The Trites Cup won by Mrs. Watson.

The Wood Cup won by Mrs. Aune.

The Mrs. Irvine Cup won by Miss F. McDonald; runner up, Mrs. Robertson, who was presented with a medal.

MOOSEHEART NIGHT AT MICHEL

The Michel Loyal Order of Moose held their first Mooseheart Day frolic on Monday evening. A contingent of Fernie members of the order with their wives, were present. Parlor games of every description marked the early part of the evening. After the usual ritualistic ceremony, Vice Distator R. Ball crowned Miss Olga Gurka as Queen of Mooseheart for the local lodge. Bro. R. Billsborough, of Fernie, spoke a few words appropriate to the occasion, after which supper was served. The Fernie Moose band rendered several selections which were well received. Bro. J. Altomare, mine host of the Kootenay hotel, placed the hall and kitchen at the disposal of the lodge. The thanks of the committee are hereby tendered. Dancing was indulged in until the early hours. The officers desire to thank the Fernie brothers and sisters for their support, the committee in charge of the refreshments and the orchestra for their valuable services.

APPEALS FOR DEPOSITORS

Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Hon. P. J. A. Cardin and Senator A. Haydon, at 3 p.m. on Tuesday received the delegations from Blairmore and Fernie on behalf of the Home Bank depositors.

Geo. E. Cote, M.P. for Macleod, spoke on behalf of the Blairmore deputation, and W. R. Wilson, B. Caufield and Robt. Draper made the appeal for the Fernie depositors. Mr. Wilson, who was the principal speaker, went into the question at some length as follows:

I have been asked by some of the Home Bank depositors to further explain the serious effect that the Home Bank failure ahs had, and is having, upon large numbers of this community.

Some of my friends in the East have written me complaining that some of my fellow townsmen in Fernie, through their vindictive ut terances, have done much to destroy the sympathy and interest of the Dominion government towards the claims of depositors in the Home Bank. I cannot for one moment believe or think that this representation is truth.

The representative heads of the Dominion government are largely composed of men who have been elected to their various responsible positions as ministers of the government because of their qualifications and fitness to properly fill such positions. They are men who in a large degree at least, have won their way through the various forms of political trials, the type of men that the people of the country have seen tested and tried in various forms of contention, and in dealing with great public questions. In this miscellaneous experience, men that grow to prove themselves worthy of public recognition must have found it necessary to study the wide variation in temperamental conditions of the thousands of citizens who help to compose the various people of the nation. They have learned to understand how and why men and women think differently, and express themselves differently even on the same subject. They know that without this form of experience and understanding, it will be difficult for them to understand what they can best do for the welfare of the people whom they are appointed to represent and govern. For example, if an artist does not posses a knowledge of shades and the effect of light upon shades, and the blending of colors, he will never make a success of his calling. So it is with the progressive and successful statesman. He will naturally try and learn the variety of tendencies of the human mind, the conditions that influence, weigh and direct human effort and endeavors. Let us draw in words a further illustration. The Elk river at this time is quietly winding its way southward and westward to the sea, rippling pleasantly over river bed houlders, helping to purify itself over the boulder masses each hour as the river rolls along, but in the passing of the autumn days snow and winter come along. The snow, with the chilling air, falls all over the landscape, covering the valleys, draping all the elevated ranges of land with a white winter covering, where this white mantle of purity rests until spring-time, waiting in ordained restfulness for the coming of spring and spring-time days. The snow that melts finds its way into the river drainage bed, and all goes well with this ordained process, until one day in the mid-summer heat, torrid rains begin to fall violently, melting the snow, which headlong flows into the river, forcing the river water to rise and overflow the river banks, thereby causing consternation and sometimes regional ruin.

So it has been with the Home Bank. The institution ran along smoothly in this little town during the long summers that have passed, the people going smoothly along in placid trust with the directing forces of the institution whom they innonocently presumed would or should be like the representatives of the Bank whom they had known here for years as trusted friends, and in the set belief that government supervision of the Bank gave them each that further sense of security that all was well. Then one day the torrid news came that the institution they had for long trying years been placing their trust in had closed its

Mrs. Alfred Cummings, convenor of the Child Hygiene Committee, announces that owing to the second Monday of November being Thanksgiving, the Well Baby Clinic will be held next Monday, Nov. 3, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the council chamber. At 3 o'clock there will be a short talk on the prevention of goitre, followed by a general discussion in which all present will be invited to take part and ask questions. All mothers who wish to have their babies weighed should come before 3 p.m. Any women interested in child welfare are invited to come and listen to the discussion on goitre, even if she does not bring babies and little children with her. A doctor will be present to examine the babies after they have been weighed and measured.

THE TOURIST REPORT

The third annual meeting of the South Eastern B.C. and Southern Alberta Tourist Association was held in Fernie on Monday of this week, with the following delegates present:

C. B. Browne, Dr. Fansett, N. W. Dilatush, E. Haug, Mr. Scott, H. Bossenberry, A. G. Balim, Mr. Gloyne, Mr. Morgan, H. Douglas, A. Cummings, C. Richardson, W. J. Burns, A. Morrison, D. A. Duff, W. Bird, J. F. Spalding.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted and Commissioner Spalding then submitted his annual report as follows, which on motion was adopted:

Report of Commisioner on 1923-24 activities:

To the Directors of the Association:

Gentlemen—Acting on instructions received at our last annual meeting my activities during this year have been confined to an endeavor to create more interest in our Association amongst our own members and to increasing our membership by the inclusion of other towns within the territory we already represent.

In October I drove around and visited each of our towns and all the others we wanted to join us and during that trip drove over 1500 miles and addressed 17 meetings. After the meetings at Okotoks, Nanton, Taber and Bow Island, I was assured by each that it was a certainty that they would join but that it would have to be finally decided at regular meetings of their councils. Later each wrote that it had not been ratified. Fairmont Hot Springs joined at a rate of $75. Throughout that trip our members appeared to be quite satisfied with their membership.

In June I again made the same trip and on this occasion was successful in inducing the business men of Waterton Lakes to join up at a rate of $150 for next year and $50 as a donation for what the Association had done for them in the past. Taber regretted not being able to join but expected they would in 1925. Bow Island did not think they would be able to join in 1925 owing to another crop failure this year over which they were very discouraged. I tried to get Cardston interested but had to confine my efforts to working on individuals owing to Mr. Card being away and it being impossible to hold a regular meeting of their board of trade. Some of those to whom I spoke were in favor of Cardston again joining and others were luke wram about it. I am doubtful about them coming in again. The citizens' coucil at Banff refused to have a meeting for me as they had previously taken the matter up in council and turned it down. When I was there in October, Mr. Harmon told me that Banff certainly would have to be in our booklet and that he expected that it would be up to him and Mr. Crosby to collect $250 around town as they had had to do for last year's assessment. We had a meeting which was attended by several of the business men who had subscribed and they all said that they would do so again, and on the strength of this and talks I had with several other of the business men who were not at the meeting, I included Banff in the booklet. Mr. Harmon has been away from Banff during this summer and we have not doors. They felt aghast; they could not understand how an institution like this, an authorized institution, by their government, could act like this. They were stunned; they saw their years of frugal saving taken away by forces they did not think existed.—by the actions of either dishonorable or dishonest men, or perhaps both. In their stupor, they wondered what government meant in matters of this kind. Their hopes became blighted; their dismay and anxiety increased, for they thought that their sense of security which they had yearly built up in little savings, had been rudely taken from them by hands they had trusted through their long years of service to industry. Yes; they were angry, and in their broken faith expressed themselves. Their language might have been crude and strangely expressed for the hearing of those who are accustomed to the finer forms of social intercourse. Their subject was a bitter one, springing from broken faith, from blighted hopes and from a dismal outlook. No; men of affairs and national understanding must not and will not take offence at the expressions that arose out of such trying circumstances. An unexpected wrong was done these depositors. which injustice gave rise to expressions that were not harbored in the minds of those that bluntly gave vent to their injured feelings, only after they thought a malicious injustice had been done to them. No, the wise man of public affairs will not take offence at crude human expressions that spring from an injured sense of propriety and apparent injustice to those whose mentality has been suddenly disturbed by the wrong doing of trusted citizens.

While the Fernie Home Bank depositors have no desire to unduly trouble the ministers of the government, who may possibly be doing all they consistently can do to restore to the many Home Bank depositors funds that rightfully belong to them, they do believe, and I think justly so, that the financial crash that came to the Home Bank on the 17th day of August, 1923, makes it consistent for them to present, either in supplement or in direct form, any facts or information they may have which will be likely to strengthen the hands of the government while the government is endeavoring to find a legal and just solution for restoring the savings of the depositors who had, in good faith, turned their savings over to this institution for safe keeping.

Recent government investigations have revealed to us all that the affairs of the Home Bank some years before the time of its collapse had drifted into a lamentable condition; that the financial department of the Dominion government were fully aware of this critical state of affairs in the institution, but for the sake of best caring for the current exigencies of the war, it was considered expedient by this responsible department of the government to allow this unsafe policy and condition of the demoralized institution to run along to its pending ruin and dissolution. The minister was acting within the bounds of his authority when this responsibility was taken for allowing the Bank to continue in business, to receive the money of hundreds of depositors.

He may have assumed this attitude in the belief that the threatening conditions of the country which prevailed at the time of his decision would justify the government in assuming the responsibility of the final consequences that were likely to arise from his action. At any rate, the Minister of Finance, under severe stress, decided that under the circumstances it was more expedient or prudent for him to allow the Home Bank to recklessly drift on, than it was to use his authority and close the delinquent organization down at a time when the nation's resources and prestige were severely tried.

From this critical decision of the Minister of Finance in war time, the term "Moral obligation" seems to have arisen. We must, therefore, hope and trust that the real meaning of this sentence "Moral obligation' will not in its application to the terms of our subject be misconstrued.

We may, for instance, infer that the Minister of Finance, the moment he knew that the Home Bank was in an unsound and precarious condition, might have used his authority and closed the Bank. He failed to do so. He hesitated to use this prerogative, I understand, because in his broader knowledge of things, he dreaded that such action might injure the financial prestige of the nation in one of the most trying periods of the war. We cannot blame the Minister of Finance severely for attaching more importance to the welfare and security of the nation as against the temporal welfare or protection of depositors who had placed their savings in a banking institution.

If the minister was justified in affording this special sense of security to the government in times of stress, the forces that were behind him in this decision should not hesitate about coming forward at this time with their moral support and seeing that justice is now done to those whose claims were suspended for the purpose of helping to uphold the integrity of the financial section of the country.

It has been stated that if the Minister of Finance had exercised his authority over the Home Bank at the time he first knew about the deplorable condition of the Bank, at least 75 per cent of the savings of the people who have deposits in the bank would have been saved. We cannot, in our limited position of understanding, deal with this question to a fuller extent. We therefore desire in drawing our observations to a close, to state that we will in good faith put the final adjustment of the subject in the hands of the Ministers of the Government, in our continued belief that they will see that deserving justice is finally done to the scores of depositors, who embrace all classes of worthy men and women, who have, through many years of struggling, held that faith in the financial institutions of the country that they felt they were justified in holding because of the fostering care of their government.

One of the chief aims of successful government may be stated to be that the financial institutions of the country are built on a sound foundation, and during their business energies so carefully watched and supervised that public trust and faith in such institutions will always be maintained in that high state of confidence that it is desirable to see exist.

No responsible government can maintain its prestige and hold the confidence of the people if they countenance or allow the integrity of their dependent financial institutions to become a reckless form of either private or public manipulation for it is bound to follow that as faith is lost in special or financial institutions so will confidence in the directing forces of government become impaired.

The Premier in reply, while not pledging himself, gave the deputation every reason for feeling hopeful that the depositors would be taken care of at the next session. He stated that the government would make a declaration of their policy in the matter at the opening of the House early in January.

SPECIAL EFFORT TO RELIEVE ORPHANS

Some fifty thousand Armenian orphans owe their lives to the generosity of the English speaking peoples. Great Britain, Canada, Australia and the United States have for some time past cooperated in the sending of money, food,, and clothing for the relief of the 200,000 orphan or destitute children which the war has left as a legacy to Armenia.

During the war nearly one million of our Armenian allies perished through war, deportation and massacre. After hostilities ceased the Armenians, relying upon the pledge of the allied governments that the future of Armenia should be decided upon the principle of self-determination,, returned to their homes in the interior of Turkey. Their hopes were disappointed, Armenia was handed back to Turkey and the massacre and deportation occurred again. Since the order has gone forth that all Christians must leave Turkey, refugees have been arriving by the thousands at the sea ports in a pitiable condition from exposure, hunger and disease.

It is estimated that there are 200,000 orphan or destitute children without home or country of their own. Fifty thousand are being properly cared for in the orphanages which the relief organizations have provided. The rest, herded in refugee camps, under indescribable conditions, are being given some measure of relief. In one instance the funds of the relief organizations were so limited that all that could be done for the refugees was to buy fields of grass for them and turn them in to graze like so many cattle.

During the next few months a special effort is to be made by the Canadian Armenian Near East Relief in order that the many children still uncared for may survive the winter. The British Columbia Committee has as its officers: Major C. C. Owen, chairman; Alex. Thompson, secretary; and W. H. Malkin, treasurer. Please make all cheques payable to the Canadian Armenian Near East Relief, 223 Winch Bldg., Vancouver.

Hon. Mr. Cardon, Minister of Marine and Fisheries. Both of these gentlemen from the East pleaded for a spirit of unity between the East and the West and that provincial lines be obliterated when in federal affairs. They both spoke very highly of their reception in the west and said they would carry the message of good-will from the west to the east on their return to their respective homes.

Mr. Fisher in introducing the Premier, jocularly remarked that when waiting at the station for the Premier's party to arrive, a local man had asked him how the Premier was coming to Fernie. The Chairman had replied that he was coming in on a freight. The man had replied, "Yes, that's good enough for him until he settles the freight rate problem." Freight rate equalization and Home Bank depositors' indemnity, the chairman advised the Premier in concluding his introdction, were points of vital interest to the Fernie people.

The Premier spoke at great length on his party's tour through B.C. and declared that with the development of the great natural resources of this province, he had no fear for the prosperity of the rest of the Dominion. He added that what he had been able to do for this province was in no small measure due to the assistance the people of B.C. had been to the government in giving them three members of the house. The late member, R. E. Beattie, deserved the thanks of the country for having made it possible by surrendering his seat to Dr. King to secure that gentleman's services for the government.

In forming his cabinet, the Prime Minister continued, he had been confronted with a very difficult situation. He desired representation from every province in the Dominion. Eastern Canada had supplied a generous number of Liberals from whom he could choose representatives, but when it came to Western Canada, there were only five Liberals returned west of the Great Lakes. It was only with persistent effort that he was able to secure men of cabinet timber to take up responsible duties in his cabinet, which now has four cabinet ministers from the Western provices although only five western seats are held, but for the first time in the history of Canada the federal cabinet contains a representative of every province in the Dominion.

Relating to the Home Bank depositors question, he predicted the possibility of some measure of relief in the next session of parliament but he made no promise nor did he seek to pledge the government. He stated that the Commissioner appointed by the government to investigate the Home Bank situation had given his report to parliament shortly before the closing of the session, so that they did not have time to fully consider the matter. The liquidators had not yet become fully informed as to the actual value of the bank's assets or what sum of money would be required. Parliament would probably commence next session early in January, he thought, and then carefully considered action would be taken. But that was for parliament to determine, and recalling what the Senate had done with some railway branch line legislation adopted by the house, it must not be forgotten that the Senate would have to approve whatever the house did in relief for the Home Bank depositors.

Touching briefly upon the industrial situation, he urged that unity be the main feature between all parties, Labor, Capital, Management and the Public were all absolutely necessary for the building up of any country, and declared that each had equal rights that must be considered for the benefit of the whole. He referred to the book he had written on the subject and invited those present to consult it as an evidence of his unalterable views on their relation.

In conclusion he thanked the people of Fernie for their splendid welcome tendered himself and his colleagues during this visit and for the attentive hearing they had given every speaker.

The Premier and his party left Fernie the same evening for Lethbridge and other prairie points, the Fernie meeting closing a three week stay in B.C.

ST. EUGENE MILL TO BE REBUILT

(Spokesman-Review)

Plans have been laid for the replacement of a mill on the St. Eugene mine at Moyie Lake, B.C., destroyed by fire, according to a Nelson report. It is understood that a capacity of 500 tons daily has been considered.

The source of ore is the dumps which are of great size and contain 1,000,000 tons by estimate. These figures are comparable with a statement that 1,020,936 tons were produced from the mine between 1904 and 1918 and that the length of the underground workings is more than 20 miles. Dividends aggregating $210,000 had been paid to James Cronin of Spokane and associates up to the time of the sale of the mine to the Consolidated Mining and Smelting company many years ago.

Much ore that contains 20 per cent lead is reported to be in the dumps. Samples taken have a heavy metallic content. The Consolidated company is reported to have convinced itself of the value of the deposit by the dressing of eight carloads of the ore at one of its Trail plants.

Much ore of the dumps was waste at the time it was diverted but the rapid advance in metallurgy and the rising prices of the metals, together with the efficiency of the Trail plants, have made it a valuable asset. The gross value of the lead in the mine dump is estimated at $10,000,000. Ten men are preparing the property for production.

SHE KNEW ALL ABOUT BABIES

A multiple mother in the train was carrying an obviously sick infant and ministering to it in a way that roused the professional instincts of a nurse sitting opposite who remonstrated with her and offered advice.

She glared at the intruder and asked if she were married and then if she ever had any children. On receiving two negatives in answer she scornfully said, "Well, then, you leave me alone. I know what I'm doing with babies, bless their little hearts. I've buried eight of my own."

ALCOHOLIC CONTENT

Defeat of the liquor plebiscite in Ontario would seem to indicate that the public sentiment that once pinned its faith on government control as the solution of the liquor problem has at last commenced to wane.

For after all, the attitude of the public on the liquor question, particularly when translated into action at the polls, as at present, has long since passed the stage of personal preference.

As a general thing the conscientious people of British Columbia, Alberta, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Quebec, and now Ontario, have voted, not on the basis of whether or not they wanted to be able to buy a bottle in a liquor store, but in a bewildered attempt to solve the greater problem—how to find something better than prohibition.

The fact that Ontario people have voted down government control does not mean that they have not realized the failure of prohibition, but that they do not believe government control is an improvement.

Prohibition is a failure because it doesn't work. The Demon Rum simply won't stay dead—yet.

And if the liquor problem is to be solved at all, all energies must be turned, not toward killing this hardy and irrepressible Demon, but towards pulling its fangs.

Prohibition may remain, if necessary, as an ideal. But not as a fetish.

The next big drive must be an honest nation-wide attempt to reduce alcoholic content. Encourage the native wine industries. Encourage the drinking of wines and light beers in place of distilled liquors.

The job of banning alcohol altogether is futile just yet. The next obvious task is to cut down alcoholic consumption to a minimum. — Vancouver Sun.

PRINCE ALBERT
the international joy smoke
is the real tobacco for jimmy pipes and makin's cigarettes
Copyright 1916 by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

For men who got away to a false start on a pipe or home-made cigarettes Prince Albert has a word or two for what ails their smokeappetites! Forget you ever tried to smoke, for Prince Albert is so different, has such a fine flavor, and is so cool and cheerful and friendly, you'll get a new idea of smoke joy! The patented process cuts out bite and parch! Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!
This little talk is also for men who think they're on the right track. All to be said is that the sooner you lay out the price for a supply of Prince Albert, the sooner you'll make a discovery that'll be worth a lot to your peace of mind and tongue! If your dealer cannot supply it, ask him to secure Prince Albert through his wholesaler. Get the idea of smoking all you want without a comeback—that's P. A.!

Prince Albert is sold throughout Canada, generally, in the 2-lb. tidy red tin, also in pound and half-pound humidors.
On the reverse side of this tidy red tin you will read: "Process Patented July 30th, 1907," which has made three men smoke pipes where one smoked before!

CHECK BOOZE RUNNING

If bordering states where the Volstead Act is responsible for a long drought in Uncle Sam's land, are getting their illicit liquor supply from Lethbridge and other Southern Alberta towns where liquor vendors' stores are located, their supply is likely to be cut off to a large extent as a result of efforts of Commissioner Dinning and the staff of the Liquor Control branch.

Commissioner Dinning was in Lethbridge Saturday. His department, he said, was not in business to supply liquor to those illegally running it into parts where liquor may be sold only illegally, and a drive to stop it as far as possible is now on.

Mr. Dinning said:

"We have found that certain parties living outside the province are attempting to use our stores as a source of supply for illicit trading in territory adjoining Alberta. These men adopt the tactics of buying under single purchase permits from one store and the next time buying from a store in another town, thus endeavoring to hide abnormal purchases.

"It is not now and never has been the policy of the board to facilitate in any way these operations and where it is apparent that attempts of this nature are being made, we are cancelling existing permits and withdrawing the right to purchase from temporary permit holders.

"We have purposely withheld the opening of stores in a large territory south of the Crow's Nest railway, and instructions have been issued to vendors to refuse any applications for the purchase of liquor where there is any reason to believe illicit trading is intended."

MINERS MAY STRIKE IN EDMONTON FIELD

Edmonton, Oct. 27.—With 85 per cent of the vote already received officials of the Edmonton and district miners' federation last night announced that the ballot was almost solidly against acceptance of the agreement offered by the operators and that a strike was now unavoidable unless the operators decided to accept the award of the conciliation board within a few days.

No precipitate action will be taken by the federation, however. On Tuesday night they will meet at Beverly, the centre of the mining field, at which the date for cessation of work will be decided. Officials state that a few days will be given the operators in which to amend their proposals.

DRY MAJORITY STAYS AT 40,000

Toronto, Oct. 27.—There is very little change in the provincial summary of returns for the liquor plebiscite last Thursday, unofficial returns now nearly complete, showing a majority in favor of the continuance of the Ontario Temperance Act of a little more than 40,000 votes.

A number of sub-divisions in various parts of the province are still to be heard from. Complete and definite figures of the majority will, it is expected, be announced this week by the chief returning officer. The final summary compiled by the Canadian Press is as follows:

MALNUTRITION

Malnutrition or poor nutrition means a condition where the body of a person has not absorbed or assimilated enough food to be built up properly, although in most cases, that person has been eating plenty of food.

Being under weight is not the only way a condition of poor nutrition is ascertained. Dr. W. R. Emerson gives the following physical signs of malnutrition:

Pallor or paleness.
Lines under eyes.
Muscles flabby.
Round shoulders.
Angel wings, or points of shoulders sticking out.
Stooping posture.
Spinal curvature.

Dr. Emerson also gives the following nervous signs of malnutrition. He says that if a child is restless, is irritable, cries easily, says "No" to everything, has night terrors, is forgetful, is inattentive, loses his temper over little things, worries himself and everyone else, he probably has, in some degree, malnutrition; even if he only has some of these nervous indications. A child in school may not have all these symptoms, but if he has any of them, I would advise that the parents take notice, so that the possible malnutrition can be prevented. The greatest kindness a mother can do for her child is to prevent him from suffering unnecessary pain and ignominy. Children who have suffered from malnutrition have been found in later years to be deformed, to appear feebleminded because they were backward in school, and to be in tuberculosis hospitals. If any mother can save her child from these three terrible things — tuberculosis, apparent feeblemindedness and deformity —she is expressing love for her child in a practical way.

Civilization brings work for its followers. A bird builds its nest by instinct; a human has to learn from collected knowledge of his ancestors how to build a house. In the same way a parent has to learn from accumulated knowledge how to keep his children healthy. Instinct is not enough, as any mother will tell you, for she knew more for the second baby than the first.—School Nurse.

"TO THE LAST MAN" COMING TO THE ORPHEUM

Not a motion picture based on a story, but a photodrama which actually breathes the spirit of the original tale and personality of the author, is Paramount's new picture "To the Last Man," a Zane Grey production coming to the Orpheum theatre Friday and Saturday. Mr. Grey spent several summers winning the confidence of the inhabitants of the Tonto Basin, Arizona, from whom he learned the story of the famous Pleasant Valley war, a feud of the late 80's, which was fought out literally to the last man.

This is the first of Mr. Grey's novels to be made into a picture under his new agreement with Paramount. Mr. Grey was present when the picture was being taken. As a result of his assistance, the photodrama breathes the love of the out-of-doors. It is a story of the lives of primitive men with primitive hates and a love of fighting. Lois Wilson, Richard Dix, Frank Campeau, Robert Edeson and Noah Beery are the principal players.

NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE that an action numbered 24283, has been commenced by Lillian May Jones, your wife, against you in the Trial Division of the Supreme Court of Alberta, Judicial District of Calgary, in which the plaintiff, the said Lillian May Jones alleges desertion, cruelty and adultery on your part, and claims,

(a) Dissolution of her marriage with you.

(b) The control and custody of the children of the said marriage.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that unless you deliver on or before the 1st day of December, A.D. 1924,

(a) Statement of Defence,

(b) Demand that notice of any application be given you,

the plaintiff may proceed and obtain judgment for the dissolution of the said marriage with you and for the custody of the said children without further notice to you.

Dated at Calgary, Alberta, this 28th day of October, A.D. 1924.

Approved:

LIFT YOUR CORNS OFF WITH FINGERS

Tells how to loosen a tender corn or callus so it lifts out without pain.

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn or callus the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, lifts off with the fingers.

Freezone dries the moment it is applied, and simply shrivels the corn or callus without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but will positively rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or hardened callus. If your druggist hasn't any freezone he can get it at any wholesale drug house for you.

Here and There

Immigration to Canada for the month of August, 1924, totalled 20,186, of whom 5,706 were from the British Isles, 1,784 from the United States, and 12,696 from other countries. Immigration for the first five months of the fiscal year totalled 76,719. In the same period 23,861 Canadians have returned to Canada from domicile in the United States.

As an indication that the tide of settlers has definitely set in the direction of Canada, it has been made known by the Department of Immigration and Colonization that 5,000 acres of land near Lethbridge has been sold to ten families of 75 persons from South Dakota. This, it is announced, is only the advance guard of a considerable northward movement from that region.

"We will have a good report to present when we reach the Hebrides", said Rev. Father Alex. MacDougall, a member of the Hebridean commission of inquiry which investigated conditions of Hebrideans in Canada. The members of the commission, after visiting Alberta, reported the new settlers perfectly satisfied with Canadian conditions.

Among the passengers sailing for Europe aboard the Canadian Pacific Steamship "Empress of France" on October 8th, was Geo. A. Walton, General Passenger Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal, who will represent the company on an extensive tour of Europe arranged for the American Association of Passenger Traffic Officers by the trans-Atlantic steamship companies and the railroads of Great Britain and the continent.

Charles J. Pernigotti, a native of Danbury, Conn., has received a commission from the Prince of Wales to paint some of his blooded stock on the E. P. ranch, near High River, on the Canadian Pacific lines in Alberta. Pernigotti, who has attained a reputation as a painter of animals, says the commission was awarded during the Prince's stay at Syosset He will commence work the latter part of October.

As a result of the survey conducted by the newly formed Graphic Arts Association, printing and allied trades are now shown to constitute the second largest industry in Winnipeg, Man., representing an investment of $10,054,318, and providing employment for 12,000 people. The report shows that during 1923 the sum of $3,619,322 was paid in salaries.

With the approaching close of the tourist season, plans are being laid for the continuation of construction work at the Chateau Frontenac, the Canadian Pacific Railway's palatial hotel in the city of Quebec. Some of the interior decorating and the completion of rooms of the main corridor in the Chateau had to be left unfinished when the present tourist season opened, but it is expected that work on these parts of the hotel will commence very shortly. The billiard room and other rooms in the basement will also be completed as soon as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Adlard leave on Monday for Vancouver, where Mr. Adlard has purchased a partnership in a grocery business in that city. Their many friends wish them every success. Mr. Adlard has been on the staff of the Western Canada Wholesale for the past 18 months.

The David Thompson Jr. Chapter I.O.D.E. have organized a company of Girl Guides in Fernie. Mrs. J. S. Irvine as captain and Mrs. N. E. Suddaby as lieutenant will have charge of the work. A weekly meeting will be held each Monday evening at 7 o'clock in the basement of the United Church.

Jimmy Carnwath is packing an eye in a sling the result of a fall while out mountain climbing on Sunday last. He was up about 3000 feet on one of the hills near Tunnel Creek, when he stumbled and fell and a piece of stick penetrated the eyeball, inflicting a most painful wound. It was nearly 24 hours later when he arrived in Fernie and received medical aid and his eye was in a terrible condition. It is hoped that he will not lose the sight of the injured eye.

Joe Longdon had a narrod escape from sudden death on Tuesday afternoon. He was climbing an electric light pole near the Royal corner when he got hold of a live wire. Joe immediately realized what he was up against and jumped, landing on his shoulder. Neil McCallum, who happened to be passing, rushed to his assistance, and with the aid of Harry Douglas, who just then came on the scene with his car, he was rushed to the hospital. Dr. Asselstine, who was there, looked him over and found only a dislocated shoulder, which he set at once. From the time of the accident until the shoulder was set and Joe made comfortable was not more than ten minutes and the next day he was back on the job as usual.

A coroner's jury at Cranbrook investigated the death of Geo. Hyt, of Lethbridge, who was killed in an automobile accident the other side of Jaffray last Thursday. It appears Mr. Hyt had been driving in a somewhat nervous fashion, his companions having remarked on this. According to evidence submitted, the spot where the accident occurred does not present any special danger, but when the car got off the road the driver seemed to have made too abrupt a turn in an endeavor to get back. Internal injuries were the cause of his death. Mr. Hyt was a comparatively young man about 33 or 34 years of age and since residing in Lethbridge for the past 10 or 12 years had acquired some fairly substantial interests there. He is survived by a widow and four young children.

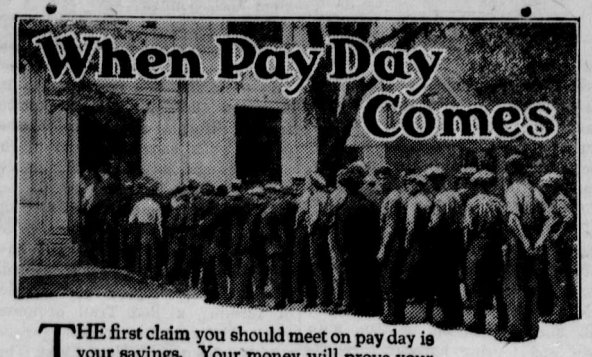
Fred Spalding has resigned his position as publicity commissioner with the Tourist Association and expects to give up business in Fernie and move to Vancouver about the end of December. Fred is going into business with a firm of big photographers in Vancouver. For the past 22 years he has been a prominent citizen in Fernie and in his work in connection with the tourist business has made himself known all over the west. He has been constantly on the job and his position will be hard to fill. The business men of Fernie are largely indebted to Fred for the big tourist business that has come our way in the past few years.



Local radio fans are bitterly complaining that with the advent of damp or windy weather a suspected leak in the Fernie lighting system completely destroys reception of concerts over the radio. This trouble during the past two or three days has been terrible. They say it gives off a machine gun beat in the head sets and completely kills the broadcast from every sending station. On clear nights concerts are being received here from every part of the United States and Canada. Some of the radio fans themselves cause considerable interference and annoyance to their neighbors by persisting in oscillating, or whistling, continually. A regenerative set in the hands of a novice will spoil reception for an entire city. A tip for learners: If you have to make your set whistle to find the station, as soon as you hear the carrier wave, reduce regeneration immediately to where the whistle disappears. If you cannot hear the music then, your set is not strong enough to pick up that station.

yet received their $250. Mr. Crosby recently wrote me to the effect that their council refuse to recognize our claim and that until Mr. Harmon returns nothing further can be done about it. I feel confident, however, that Mr. Harmon will see that this is forthcoming.

Fifteen thousand booklets, 15,000 maps and 10,000 envelopes were secured from Clarke & Stuart Co. of Vancouver at a price of $1300.

In stead of sending booklets in bulk for distribution to the auto clubs and touring bureaus throughout the country, I have used the maps for this purpose and the booklets have nearly all gone through the mails to individuals. During April and May approximately 11,000 were mailed out individually and about 1000 more during the year. About 14,000 maps have been sent out in lots of 20's, 50's, and 100's all over the United States and Canada to auto clubs, touring bureaus, railroads, etc.

We have in hand at present about 3000 of the booklets and 1000 of the maps. Each year I have kept several hundred booklets over and have found it a very good plan. We have never had our current year's literature ready early enough in the year owing to our funds not being forthcoming until the year is well advanced, and I have usually been able in that way to supply demands for them in bulk in the early part of the year whilst the new literature is being prepared. I have reserved more of last year's booklets than usual. These will lessen next year's expenses considerably. I have also about 5000 of last year's maps in hand as they are in perpetual demand and will always be comparatively up to date.

There has been a big increase in the tourist travel during the past summer. The customs reports are as follows:

Kingsgate—1923, cars 3602, passengers 11,568; 1924, cars, 4777, passengers 15,852. An increase in cars of 1172 and in passengers of 4284.

Newgate—1923 report only covered touring permits which were about 400. 1924 report covers all auto traffic, including long distance and local traffic. Cars coming into Canada 1394; cars going out of Canada 1307—2701 cars. This great increase at Newgate port of entry is accounted for by the organization last year of the Scenic International Parks Highway, which enters Canada at that port; also to the Roosevelt Highway, which connects at Rexford, close to Newgate.

The Supt. of the Rocky Mountain Park at Banff reports: Cars entered at Western gate, Sinclair Canyon, 3489; cars departed at Western gate 7268; entered at eastern gate 7952; departed at eastern gate 6774. These figures are from April 1 to Sept. 10.

From the above western entrance figures we find that 10757 cars passed through Sinclair Canyon entrance and if the odd 757 is allowed for the local Columbia valley people, it shows that Cranbrook must have had approximately 10,000 cars through there for the Bann-Windermere road alone.

On Oct. 17, I visited Cranbrook to meet their board of trade at their request. They were uncertain as to remaining with the Association unless their assessment was materially reduced and the overhead expenses cut down by a reduction in the remuneration paid to me and also unless my appointment was for six months in the year only.

There have been approximately 2000 letters received in my office during this year; 700 of these are on file with copies of 574 answers. The system I adopt in attending to correspondence is that when a letter or postcard simply requests literature or maps I send them and do not keep the letter. When a letter asks certain questions which I think are covered in our literature, I simply send that and keep the letter on file in case of further inquiry. When a letter requests specific details not included in our literature, I reply fully and my reply is attached to the letter and filed. There are 574 such letters this season. Many of these replies are quite long and necessitate a considerable amount of reference to guides and maps, taking up a great deal of time. I have tabulated some of the longer ones amongst them and have: 1 3-page; 1 2½ page; 31 2-page; 46 1½-page; 71 1-page; 160 3-4 page letters amongst them.

There has been less correspondence this year and I attribute the reason for this to be because very much more of our literature has been distributed in Western Canada than formerly. The great proportion of former years' correspondence has been from points in Western Canada and the distribution of more of our stuff there this year has evidently caused the dropping off, as this year's correspondence is chiefly from U.S. points.

The increase in cars from B. C., Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Washigton and Montana has been very noticeable this year, as also has been the decrease in the number from California and other farther points, which shows that our nearby provinces and states will be our best fields to draw from.

During this summer Mr. Duff and I have been working towards increasing our membership and have approached the towns between Medicine Hat and Winnipeg, with the idea of forming a Red Trail organization. The response to this suggestion has been enthusiastic and I believe there will be no doubt about the outcome if the step is ratified by this meeting after being discussed.

The Calgary Exhibition and Stampede issued a map this summer which is obviously unfair to the Crow's Nest Pass. I took the matter up with Mr. Tempest, the secretary of the Calgary Auto Club, in person, and he assured me that it originated through a printer's error and that no further copies of the map would be issued when these are disposed of.

I very much regret to announce that we were unsuccessful in obtaining a grant this year from either the Dominion government or the C. P.R., which reduced our revenue by $1250.

I was successful in increasing the revenue from the hotel and garage list from last year's amount of $715 to $1100, but have not yet been able to collect it all, there being still $185 owing. I believe that this is all good.

Whilst our financial statement this year is rather disappointing to us, it must be remembered that our accounts are all paid and if we get Banff's $250 and the $185 still owing on the hotel and garage lists, we shall make a good showing after all, as this will bring up our year end balance to $512.

J. F. Spalding, Com.

There was some discussion about the election of officers and it being the general opinion that officers should be selected from amongst the delegates who showed their interest by their presence, it was decided that that course should be adopted. The lection resulted as follows:

Hon. President—Col. J. S. Dennis, Montreal.

Hon. Vice Presidents: Hon. Dr. W. H. Sutherland, Victoria; Hon. Alex. Ross, Edmonton; the Minister of Public Works, Manitoba; the Minister of Public Works, Saskatchewan.

President: Dr. C. F. Fansett, Macleod.

Vice President: A. Morrison, of Coleman.

Sec.-Treas.: E. K. Stewart, Fernie.

Board of Directors: Cranbrook, J. P. Fink; Fernie, A. Cummings; Medicine Hat, C. B. Browne; Lethbridge, D. A. Duff; Pincher Creek, Mayor H. Bosseberry; Macleod, Mayor J. W. McDonald; Blairmore, W. Bird; Coleman, Mayor W. J. Burns; Watertown Lakes Park, E. Haug.

Mr. Duff, the retiring president, with a few appropriate remarks then relinquished the chair in favor of the new president, Dr. Fansett. In taking the chair he said that the commissionership for the year was the next matter for consideration, and he was very sorry to have to say that his first duty in taking over the chair was to him a very unfortunate one, as he had found a letter in front of him which he now had to read. It follows:

To the President and Directors of this association:

Gentlemen—I regret that for purely business reasons I am obliged to tender you my resignation, to take effect immediately.

I shall be leaving Fernie at the end of this year to enter into a partnership in Vancouver, which will be my future home.

It is with a great deal of pride that I look at this Association and see what it has grown to from such a small start. Carrying on the commissioner's duties has been the most interesting work of my life and it is with the sincerest regrets that I am now giving up the work. However, my interest in the Association will not cease. I shall watch its progress very closely and at any time shall be only too pleased to be of assistance in any way possible.

My new occupation will enable me to do some valuable advertising for this part of Western Canada, because I shall be driving all over the United States and Canada visiting all the tourist resorts, and you may be assured that I shall lose no opportunity of boosting.

It has only been my keen interest in the Association which has kept me here until now, as this offer came to me last March and it has been at a decided financial loss that I have remained here this summer, but I did not feel that I should be justified in resigning until my year's term of office was up.

Assuring the Association of my very best wishes. Yours very truly,

J. Fred Spalding.

Mr. Duff said he had been closely associated with Mr. Spalding during the two years he had been president and had found out that his work had been very hard and that he had carried out his duties very satisfactorily. Mr. Spalding had told him in September of his pending resignation and he would therefore move that Mr. Spalding's resignation be accepted with great regret. Seconded by Burns. Carried.

The delegates were then requested to signify whether or not they were empowered to pledge the committees they represented to membership for the ensuing year. The following membership was then pledged: Lethbridge, $600, Macleod $100 Medicine Hat $200, Waterton Lakes $150, Blairmore $200, Coleman $200, Pincher Creek $100, Fernie $600.

Com. Spalding said that Cranbrook might remain with the Association if their assessment was reduced. This led to a discussion in which some thought that the request was unreasonable in view of the greater amount of travel that Cranbrook gets, but as it was considered very important that Cranbrook should be part of the Association, it was agreed that their assessment should be reduced to $300 and the hope expressed that this further reduction would be satisfactory to Cranbrook.

It was decided to limit the advertising campaign for 1925 to the publication of 50,000 maps for general distribution as there were still 3000 of last year's booklets on hand.

Clarence Richardson, of Medicine Hat, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce in that city, was unanimously chosen commissioner to take Mr. Spalding's place. The salary was fixed at $1200, the commissioner to have fifty per cent of any revenue derived from advertising.

The meeting then adjourned.

THROTTLING THE WEST

Omineca Herald: Hon. Dr. King, federal minister of public works, is the first person in an official capacity who has had the nerve to publicly admit that the railway rates in Canada are obsolete, and that they must be redrafted before anything approaching fairness can be expected. The system now in force is an advance on the old idea of "charge all the traffic will bear." Today it is "charge all the consumer has, can borrow, beg, steal or earn." We do not profess to know about rail rate schedules, but we do know that practically every industry in the north has been choked to death by the freight and express rates. The market is down and lumber, poles, ore and farm prodce can not be sold. But go to the consumer and you find those articles are all in demand, but they cannot pay the price. Look up the cost of transportation and you get the answer.

ADVERTISING B.C.

Grand Forks Sun: British Columbia is the largest business in the province; it is the province, and the business of advertising it is of importance to all residents, shareholders in the company. In selling its goods, not to and for the sole benefit of all, publicity must take a foremost part. Publicity of the most effective kind, returning full value for every cent expended, is what is wanted; and to ensure the greatest possible results co-operation is imperative. The lesson of "buy bakers' bread" and "save the surface" should be taken as the base of operations; all publicity forces should be marshalled, and a concentrated plan of campaign mapped out. It is not necessary for any units to lose their individuality, but co-ordination of effort would increase the effectiveness of British Columbia's at present, unorganized publicity.

To See What Other Half Is Doing.

Above—The Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of France chosen to carry the Canadian flag round the world in 1925.
Right—The bedroom of one of the suites aboard the vessel.

One reads almost daily that so many automobiles have been shipped to foreign countries, that Canadian agricultural implements and other manufactured articles are finding foreign markets, and now one reads that there is an increasing demand in China and Japan for Canadian wheat and that thousands of bushels of grain are being shipped to Oriental Ports. Of vital importance is this news to the Canadian, because the growth of Canadian exports means that new industries are being created, that more employment is guaranteed, that more money is placed in general circulation, and that there are more opportunities for the workman, manufacturer and commercial man, and a larger home market for the farmer.

But it means more than all this. The increasing demand for Canadian, American and European goods, which is apparent, means that the other half of the world — the world itself—is changing. The automobile is gradually replacing the rickshaw and the one horse cabs in the gateway ports of the world, and is working its way inland, not so slowly as it is surely. Fields that once knew only the primitive agricultural implements are being tilled with up-to-date machinery, and on the busy streets where people thronged in picturesque and native garb, the occidental costume does not strike a strange note. Customs are changing even in respect to foodstuffs. Outside the little restaurants one sees "English Speak Here", and knows that inside it will be harder to procure a native dish than a European one. Everywhere there is change. The Turks abolish their caliphate and their harems. The Greeks proclaim a republic, education for women appears in India. The Chinese are erecting modern factories.

Yet the world of romance still exists. Foreign countries still hold an allurement, and always will, but as the occidental civilization spreads, the Oriental atmosphere which, after all, is what the tourist goes to find, disappears before it, and the man of today has opportunity which those who come later will never see. Opportunity to see and come in contact with old customs, costumes, crafts and civilizations which are entering or about to enter a transient stage. Opportunity to experience the picturesque life of the other half of the world and to absorb at will the colorful atmosphere of strange lands; for the traveller may still feast his eyes upon the barbaric splendors of Pekin and experience the thrill of shopping in the tumultuous market place at Cairo. The auto has not yet replaced the sledge which taxis through the steep and cobbled streets of Madeira.

January 14th next will see the palatial Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of France leave New York on a globe encircling tour which will extend over 130 days. It will be a cruise which will embrace twenty-seven "Gateway Ports", and give the passengers opportunity of coming into contact with more than half a hundred different races. Madeira, Monaco, Naples, Haifa Padang, Shanghai, Taku, Hilo, Balboa and Havana are but a few of the interesting ports of call, and inland excursions will be made to Jerusalem, Cairo, Agra for the Taj Mahal, Pekin, Nikko and other places. Last year another Canadian vessel, the Empress of Canada, made a similar trip — a very successful one—and the first to be operated under Canadian Pacific auspices throughout. A Mediterranean cruise is also planned this year by the Company, the Empress of Scotland being scheduled to leave New York, February 9th on a 62 day voyage, and, in addition, the Montroyal, formerly the Empress of Britain, will make two cruises between New York and the West Indies, one on January 20th and the other on February 21st. So it is seen that there is demand not only for Canadian foods, but for Canadian vessels, these last having won for themselves an enviable reputation on both the Atlantic and Pacific waters as seaworthy and comfortable ships.

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

THE LABOR POLICIES

Labor's programme in the present election campaign in Britain promises no relief whatever from the taxation imposts under which the country is suffering. On the contrary, the proposals put forth involve enormous capital expenditures to liquidate which the country would probably be paying for the next half century. There is nothing in that programme which does not involve new government expenditures, little of which does not mean experimental legislation. On the face of the programme it is evident to all that the prospect of decreased taxation is nil, and that, on the other hand, the outlook for new levies is so menacing as to give every taxpayer cause for grave consideration. The following are the six heads of the Labor Party programme adopted by the Labor Conference specially called for the purpose and approved by Premier MacDonald.

Mines — Nationalization of mines and the by-product industries.

Electricity — A comprehensive national system of electricity supply under public ownership. In the meantime no private electricity Bill to receive sanction or support.

Control of Supplies and Prices — Bulk purchase and government transport of the principal imported commodities, distribution by local authorities and consumers' co-operative societies of foodstuffs and other household supplies thus obtained; standardizing and marking of commodities with a view to the enforcement of uniform standard prices; more stringent measures against adulteration, etc.

Unemployment — Increased maintenance; speeding up of the development of the latent resources of the country and the establishment of additional public utilities; the way in which unemployment is practically dealt with "to be regarded as the acid test and the touchstone of each successive government from whatever party it may be formed." To this the Conference added nationalization of the Bank of England, "to insure that the control of credit is exercised in the public interest."

Taxation of Land Values.

Agriculture — Control of prices; elimination of middlemen and speculators; a stationary board of supply to undertake the purchase, importation and storage of the nation's overseas supplies of wheat and meat; organization of agriculture by the development of county agricultural committees armed with adequate powers — "these committees would prepare the way for a full policy of nationaliization" — State credits for co-operative enterprises; land courts to deal with rent and tenure; cheapening of transport and development of electricity; nationalization and municipalization of milk trade; abrogation of hiring statutes; elimination of the tied cottage.

RADIO AND PHONOGRAPH

Combination of the radio and phonograph industries, so that their apparatus may be marketed in one unit, is advocated by Charles C. Henry in the Radio Dealer, New York. "A natural tie-up" between the two is indicated, Mr. Henry thinks, by present conditions, and the progress of both is likely to be speeded up by it. Any idea of the radio dealer that his device will ultimately supercede the phonograph is a mistake, we are assured. We read:

"We must make no mistake about the phonograph being here to stay. We must frankly admit that in general radio does not compete with its tone quality and reliability; on the other hand, the fascination and action of radio programs never tire. Both instruments have a permanent place in the home. The combination radio and phonograph provides an entertainment and educational unit requiring a minimum of space. But most homes have already either a phonograph or radio. In answer, let us not forget the million and a half new prospects which each succeeding year places at the disposal of the phonograph dealer. The younger generation is marrying and establishing homes. Many of them will acquire a combination unit.

"The electrical store will continue to handle parts and, to some extent, complete sets, but is not so well equipped to market a musical instrument.

"It is not likely that the phonograph manufacturer will produce radio panels for years to come. His experience and facilities are not of the sort that makes it natural for him to manufacture electrical equipment.

"On the other hand, the radio manufacturer is not at home with cabinet design and production and would be just as unlikely to consider cabinet manufacture as the phonograph factory would consider radio production. These conditions will result in a natural tie-up between the two industries with a harmony and a naturally profitable relationship that will speed up the progress of radio. There is every evidence that a portion of the vast cabinet-making plants will be employed in the production of radio furniture. All this should not permit us to lose sight of the fact that the actual radio experience, or rather, the tability of the phonograph trade to install and service radio is about where the electrical dealer stood in the early months of 1922.

COMMUNITY AT DRUMHEAD

The dream of William Booth, its founder, for a 100 per cent Salvation Army community, has been realized at Samptown, New Jersey, where the entire population of 159 men and women have knelt at the drumhead, and, in the words of the Army, claimed salvation. This awakening, one of the most remarkable in the Army's history, we are told, came to pass within a month, largely through the efforts of Commandant and Mrs. Howard Magrath, former officers of the corps at Plainfield, N.J.; Captain and Mrs. Samuel Gill, the present officers, and George Harris, president of the Structural Steel Company of Samptown, whose father is said to have been the first minister in London to speak at street meetings held by William Booth.

Samptown centers around the steel mill of Mr. Harris, and all, we are told, was not spiritually well with the people, of whom the large majority are said to be Polish, Italians and Spanish, who live for the most part under Old World conditions. Mr. Harris, according to news reports, decided that religious influence was needed. He communicated with several denominational churches only to be informed that the village was too tiny for a chapel and that it could not be scheduled for visits even by itinerant ministers. Then Mr. Harris appealed to the Salvation Army, and Commandant Magrath responded with his coworkers.. Three meetings were held, and the whole town was converted. This, we are told, is the only case on record throughout the 81 countries in which the Salvation Army operates that the population of the community has been enrolled 100 per cent under the Army. "It was the greatest sight my eyes have ever seen," Mr. Harris later told a representative of The War Cry, we read in the official journal of the Salvation Army. "Bare-footed women, in calico dresses knelt with their men in the grass, oftener than not, prayed in a foreign tongue for the blessing of God." As for the change that has come upon the community, Mr. Harris says:

"Never have I seen a more complete turn for the better anywhere. It's nothing short of a revolution. Take Sunday afternoon, for example. Before the great salvation campaign began I used to walk through the town and see men fighting, the children playing cards and gambling for pennies. Now all is changed and you'll not find a more orderly community anywhere; in fact, it's gone far beyond my fondest expectations."

To the New York World, which observes that within the past few years religious proselytism has become so closely associated with intolerance and bigotry that many frankly look askance at at it, the Samptown method of dealing with racial antipathies is "more impressive than the philosophy which uses religion as a means of fostering recial hatreds."

MUSEUM OF CRIME

The police museum at Lyons, France, in charge of Dr. Edmund Locard, criminal expert, is described by a writer in La Victoire, Paris. Dr. Locard, he says, is widely known as an expert in handwriting, but graphology by no means sums up his field of knowledge; for in the extended and varied domain of judicial identification, the director of the Lyons Laboratory of Police Technique is properly what the French call an "ace." We read:

"Nothing is more curious than Dr. Locard's museum, and nothing more amusing than to visit it with the doctor himself for a guide. Imagine Sherlock Holmes, reduced to the age of 25, forgetting all those 'intuitions' to which he owes so great a success, and deciding to admit no evidence not validated by chemistry, physics or natural history.

"Here, for instance, is an escaped criminal who made the mistake of lying prone in the sand. He did not know that he was executing his own portrait, but that is just what he did. Dr. Locard poured into the print of his body in the sand a milk of lime that deposited, in drying, a layer sufficiently hard and fine to furnish a perfect mold. He filled this mold with plaster of Paris, and behold the man's image on the wall, the impression of his two hands, of his body, and of a waistcoat, the peculiar form of whose buttons brought about his prompt arrest. By its side hang a pair of velveteen breeches, whose left leg, shorter than the right, shows imperfect repair. A little farther away is the imprint of a set of teeth in a chestnut-cake. Every one's teeth are striated in a certain way, and no two in the same way. There is a thumb print on a drop of candle wax.

"Yes; the ridges are parallel, without angles or loops; the hand of an ape who committed robbery with assault and was 'promptly apprehended with his owner. It might have been also the hand of an epileptic of the second or third generation.'

"Does epilepsy throw us back to the monkey?"

"'We must conclude so. But among a million epileptics, there is only about one—or about 35 in all France—who have degenerated to this point.'

"Finger-prints and still finger-prints: one enlarged 16,000 times; the pores are as large as a five-franc piece; another recorded itself through a cloth glove; a third possesses 116 characteristics, distinguishing 116 times from the rest of humanity the brute who killed Cocola-Chere with 32 knife thrusts for the sum of two sous.

"Now graphology—an overcharge made apparent by photography—one signature registered on another almost exactly. Forgers should never trace; a man who signs his name 400 times a day never does it twice exactly alike.

"The implements of crime. I recommend for head-breaking this electric cord with a ball of lead at the end; it smashed a skull into ten fragments. Here is an 'anaesthetic'—so called by its inventor: twelve strokes on the head 'put a man to sleep' for three hours. And here is a masterpiece—this necklace of leaden olives, invention of a chauffeur from La Drome, who had once been a priest and who had noticed in striking his hand with his rosary that the multiplicty of slight impacts, equal and simultaneous, was oddly painful. With this he chastised gently the hands of persons who hesitated to betray the hiding places of their savings; no one, he assured me, held out after the third stroke. Don't try it, I had the curiosity to do so. The slightest tap is intolerable, for the effect lasts for hours."

MOOSEHEART NIGHT

The Loyal Order of Moose held Mooseheart Night for the children on Friday last. Bro. J. Sweeney, Dictator of the lodge, welcomed about 100 sisters and brothers and about 200 children. The program opened by the singing of the National Anthem, led by the Moose band. Sister Nora Hulbert and R. Marshall had charge of the children's games. Kathleen Sweeney was crowned as Queen for 1924-25, and Bro. R. Billsborough in a neat little speech performed the crowning ceremony, after which he presented the Queen with a string of pearls. Rev. Bro. Oswald gave a splendid address to the children on Mooseheart and Moosehaven. The Dictator then introduced Bro. Wiseman, Dictator of Michel lodge and a few of the other brothers and sisters who had come to take part in the evening's fun. Bro. Wiseman spoke for a few minutes and invited all the sisters and brothers to Michel on Monday night. Songs were given during the evening by Sister Minnie Wilson, senior regent, and Sister Nora Hulbert. Supper was served by the Women of Mooseheart Legion. The Moose band also gave a few selections during the evening. Mrs. Uphill gave a good recitation. Dancing was the order of the evening, the music being supplied by the Moose band and Sister Nora Hulbert, and the surprise of the evening was the dance music supplied by Miss Minnie Wilson at the piano and Master Harry Murray on the violin. All the children received a bag of candies, nuts and an apple as they departed for home, and wanted to know if they could not have Mooseheart Night every Friday. The evening's entertainment was brought to a close about 12.30 by the singing of the closing ode, "Till We Meet Again."

On Monday night twelve car loads of sisters and brothers and the Moose band went to Michel to participate in Mooseheart Night held by that lodge. The Moose band gave a few selections during the evening which were greatly appreciated by the sisters and brothers. The officers and members of Fernie lodge take the opportunity of thanking the brothers who kindly donated their cars for that evening.

KEEP SWIMMING POOLS CLEAN

One of the most dangerous sources of infection is the swimming-pool, according to V. M. Ehlers, State Sanitary Engineer, Austin, Texas. It is dangerous, however, only when neglected, and Mr. Ehlers tells us how to keep it clean and harmless. In an address before the League of Texas Municipalities, printed in The Municipal and County Engineer, Indianapolis, Mr. Ehlers characterizes his subject as "important and at the same time vital." "When we consider," he says, "the millions of persons who use daily during the summer every available swimming pool and shower in the country, the importance of these institutions becomes only too apparent." He goes on:

"These pools afford excellent opportunity for the possible infection of millions of bathers. As a source of infection for intestinal diseases, such as typhoid and dysentery; eye and ear infction; for venereal contagion; or for infections of the respiration system such as grippe, colds, pneumonia and sinus infections, the swimming pool provides one of the most dangerous sources. And for this reason it is most urgent and necessary that persons having any contagious disease be kept from entering or using these highly contaminable public places

"Swimming pools have so grown in number and popularity during the past decade that innumerable state laws have been enacted and passed regulating and controlling their operation. A great majority of the states have passed and have in operation regulations governing the use and care of swimming pools. These regulations deal with the allowable quality and purity of the water in the pool, with the amount of water necessary per bather, with pre-showers and other pre-washing regulations, sterilization of bathing suits and purification of water. These laws give the control of the swimming pools into the hands of the various state boards of health, and make compliance with the regulations mandatory and binding upon the various swimming pool operators.

"Laws regarding pools after construction are necessary in order to maintain and to insure their proper operation, but still more necessary are regulations governing the actual construction of these pools. Prevention is far safer than any later attempt at remedy."

The two most important factors in any pool, Mr. Ehlers tells us, are the pool or container itself, and the water in that pool. In building the pool care must be exercised in locating it in healthy surroundings and in making it impervious to a possibly polluted exterior water supply. He says:

"Waterproof cement pools with smooth interiors have proven very satisfactory in actual operation. These pools should be sloped toward one end and have in that lower end a discharge pipe conveniently operated and leading to either the sewer or purification plant. Just above the water level there should be provided a scum gutter and sputum trough to carry off objectionable matter that would otherwise pollute the pool. This trough should be so recessed into the side of the wall as to be inaccessible to the hands or fingers of bathers, and it must be sufficiently sloped to carry off the waste products into the sewer system. The cement walks surrounding the pools should be so constructed that any water draining from them would flow into a waste gutter and not back into the pool. Proper lighting and clear, visible bottom will aid materially in cleaning operations. Hand-rails, marked depths and recessed steps should be provided in the interest of safety.

"If the pool is to be operated on the fill and draw plan, no extra precautions need to be taken with regard to the water other than to be certain of a sufficiently pure supply, ample quantity for each bather, and sufficient regularity in changing the water in the pool. This plan is, of course expensive since it necessitates the constant waste of large quantities of water.

"If the pool is to be operated on the continuous flow-and-filtration plan, it is necessary to provide for the removal of the used water to a filter where its color and impurities will be removed. Subsequent purification of this clarified water can then be accomplished by either chlorination or ultra-violet ray. At least 800 gallons per person per bath is required. Hence in constructing the swimming pool provision must be made to provide adequate quantities of water of sufficient purity to meet these requirements.

"The details of operation of any swimming pool are essential and vital to the welfare of its patrons. Proper sterilization of bathing suits and towels by laundering after each use is very necessary. Cleaning and disinfection of lockers, halls and walks must no more be neglected than the provision of sanitary drinking water, or resuscitation machinery and first aid kits. Sanitary, private toilets, connected to a safe sewerage system is one of the prime essentials of a safe, clean pool. Wash room wastes from the showers must be disposed of in a sanitary way by connection to the sewers. Pre-showers, both foot and up-and-down showers, must be insisted upon if the pool is to be maintained in any degree of safety.

"Just as in every other public utility, a swimming pool is potentially dangerous in proportion to the number of persons to whom it caters. And since there can be no doubt of the popularity, and no limit set upon the patronage of these pools, it is only too evident that our cities should provide adequate means of protecting those whom it is their duty to protect."

CITY COUNCIL IN SESSION

Acting Mayor Irvine took the chair at last night's regular meeting of the city council. All aldermen were present.

Chief of Police Anderson, reporting upon the request of the Farmers Institute to prohibit milk and cream from being shipped in here from Alberta, stated before the council that under statute all herds supplying milk to the city must be tested for tuberculosis once a year. The civic bylaw also states that any person supplying milk in the city of Fernie must have a permit issued monthly by the Medical Health Officer. He also stated that the province of Alberta had no regular tuberculosis tests upon their dairy herds.

Oscar Okell, of the Canadian Dairy, was present at the meeting and stated that owing to a shortage of cream in Fernie, he was compelled to import cream only from the Crystal Dairy at Lethbridge or from Campbell & Griffin, of Calgary, both very reliable firms and who allowed no milk or cream to leave their premises without having been thoroughly pasteurized.

Asked by Ald. Stewart as to what effect pasteurizing had on milk or cream, Chief Anderson stated that the process completely destroyed any germs which may have been in the milk.

A motion was passed later in the evening authorizing the importation of cream only from Alberta when local supply was unavailable and upon presentation to the M. H. O. of a monthly certificate of pasteurization.

Chief Anderson also requested a ruling upon the providing of utensils for the fumigation of infected places. He pointed out that under the Act, the owner or occupier of any dwelling was required to fumigate at his own expense. Up to the present the city police had been doing this work free of charge.

He also recommended that a bylaw be enacted under Section 113 of the Municipal Act making all dance halls subject to police inspection. Under present conditions, he added, police had no authority to enter dance halls unless called.

Dealing with the former, the city clerk was instructed to notify the M.H.O. that all fumigation of infected premises was to be done at the owner's or occupier's expense.

Regarding the dance hall question, the city clerk was instructed to get in touch with several other municipalities and ascertain what bylaws they had covering this matter.

The fire chief requested that repairs be made to the fire hall, that storm windows be placed on all windows and that eight blankets be purchased.

The city clerk reported that he had called for tenders for the necessary repairs on the fire hall and had received a quotation of $105.50 from Mr. Todd, who will get the contract providing weather permits.

The council was not in a position this winter to put on storm windows but authorized the purchase of the blankets.

Application for relief was made by Alfred Dudks, a Polish citizen, indigent here. The city clerk advised that Chief Anderson had offered this man bed and board in the city jail if he would act as janitor in the city hall. The offer was refused. The council decided that they could do no more.

The regular accounts and a number of accounts in connection with the Elk River crossing were passed for payment.

THE COAL COMMISSION

Edmonton, Oct. 31. — Premier Greenfield has announced the personnel of the coal commission which is to investigate the coal industry in the province along the lines of a resolution passed in the legislature last seession. The members will be H. M. E. Evans, Edmonton, chairman; R. G. Drinnan, director of the Mountain Park Collieries and the Luscar Collieries, representing the operators; and Frank Wheatley, of Blairmore, representing the miners. Mr. Wheatley is president of the Alberta Federation of Labor. The commission will start work at once and will probe all phases of the coal industry in the province.

THE CURLERS ORGANIZE

The annual general meeting of the Fernie Curling Club was held in the council chamber on Tuesday evening, Nov. 4. A goodly turn out of those interested was present.

The financial statement of the past season was read and showed that the club just about broke even, although it was the poorest season for curling that the Fernie Club has experienced.

The following officers were then elected:

Hon. President—James Johnston.

President—Sherwood Herchmer.

1st Vice—A. C. Liphardt.

2nd Vice—Sandy Watson.

Chaplain—Rev. F. W. Burns.

Sec.-Treas.—Thos. Beck.

Executive Committee—W. Baldrey, M. A. Kastner, D. G. Harvie.

Membership Committee — M. A. Kastner and E. K. Stewart

It was decided that the same schedule of draws be adhered to which was in force last season.

The date of the District Bonspiel, which will be pulled off in Fernie, was fixed for Jan. 19. It is expected that this will be the best spiel that has taken place yet, as Fernie has a reputation for putting on a good time at these events, and as there are more curling clubs in the district than ever there is no doubt this will be a big affair.

The executive committee will shortly pick the skips and as soon as the membership committee report the rinks will be chosen.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

Latest figures on the presidential vote show that out of a total of approximately thirty million, Coolidge received about 18,000,000 with an electoral vote of 379 from 34 states. Davis received about 8,000,000 with an electoral vote of 139 from 13 states and La Follette about 4,000,000 with 13 electroral votes from his home state of Wisconsin.

Coolidge	379
Davis	139
La Follette	13
Total	531

It has been definitely established that Gov. Smith was the only Democrat official elected in New York state. He carried the state by a majority that may exceed 150,000, but his companions on the ticket all went down to defeat. This means that Smith, for his third term as governor, will not only have to face a heavily controlled Republican legislature but he will be the only Democrat in Albany during that time above the rank of assemblyman and state senator.

FATAL MISHAP NEAR ELKO

James Parker Fisher, a veteran of the Great War, was instantly killed, and Amil Nelson and Charles Hermanson were seriously injured in an automobile accident which occurred last Monday afternoon just west of Elko.

The three men left Fernie Monday morning in a Saxon runabout driven by Nelson. In going down the big hill just out of Elko the car evidently got beyond control and failed to make the turn at the bottom. The front wheels apparently hit a fallen tree and turned a summersalt, then righted itself and stood upright. When the car overturned Fisher must have been almost thrown out, as his body was lying half in and half out of the car, his head crushed, apparently caused by the side of the car pinning him to the ground when it overturned.

Hermanson, although injured about the back, was able to go to Elko for help. Nelson was still in the car when the provincial police reached the scene. He was injured about the head and back. Both these men are still in the Fernie hospital but it is expected both will recover.

Fisher's body was brought from Elko on Thursday and will be buried under the auspices of the G.W.V.A. on Sunday afternoon.

WHO DRINKS THE BOOZE?

Victoria, Nov. 3.—Annual report of the liquor control board tabled in the legislature today by Attorney-General Manson, shows that Nelson spent $130,798 in the government liquor store during the six months ending March 31, 1924, a monthly average of nearly $22,000.

Other interior cities spent during the same six months: Cranbrook $117,140; Fernie $145,352; Grand Forks $28,152; Greenwood $22,309; Kaslo $14,000; Rossland $35,562; Trail $58,167 and Yahk $40,549.

Vancouver's monthly liquor bill totals nearly $400,000, a per capita monthly expenditure of $3.57.

The report shows that 804 fewer prosecutions for infringements of the act were undertaken during the fiscal year ending March 31, than in the previous year, while fines decreased proportionately by $85,000.

During the six months' period from Oct. 31, 1923, to March 31, 1924, the latest period covered by the report, net liquor sales in Victoria liqoor stores amonnted to $557,049, or $89,508 a month. This is about $2.31 for every man, woman and child in the city proper monthly.

Net sales in the Vancouver city stores during the six months' period totalled $2,373,801, or $395,623 per month. This is just under $3.39 a month per capita.

Premier MacDonald, of Britain, says Russia must be brought into the comity of nations so that permanent peace can be insured in Europe. M. Trotzky, the Soviet War Minister, says on his part, that Russia needs a great army to prevent the country becoming enslaved. A great army and permanent peace are irreconcilable in the philosophy of Britain's Labor premier.

STERLING IS ELECTED

Grote Sterling, Conservative, was elected in Yale yesterday over D. W. Sutherland, Liberal, by a majority of 414, the vote standing: Sterling, 6600; Sutherland 6186. The seat was formerly held by the late J. A. McKelvie, Conservative, who was elected by a majority of 542.

One thing which the British electorate remembered in going to the polls last Wednesday was that it was the Soviet power which deserted the Allies at Brest Litovsk and thereby prolonged the Great War at the cost of thousands upon thousands of British lives. The British people are in no humor to lend that authority money for the further propogation of world disruption.

WELL BABY CLINIC

The Fernie Local Council of Women are to be congratulated on the very successful Well Baby Cinic held on Monday last. A large number of mothers, babies and little children attended. The babies were weighed and measured by the School Nurse. Dr. Kelman, Jr., was the volunteer physician for the afternoon and gave the mothers present an interesting lecture on "The Prevention of Goitre." He said that goitre had been present in the world for hundreds of years and that scientists had noticed that goitre was not present where people lived near the sea and ate kelp or seaweed, which contains iodine or iodides. The Japs, who eat seaweed, never have goitre, while the Swiss, who never see the sea, nearly all have goitre. He said that goitre could be prevented by giving to children from one year iodized salt at the table for a few years or giving them chocolates which had a very little iodides in them. He said that if a bigger child had signs of goitre people should not use iodine or iodides without consulting a doctor, for they might make the goitre worse. The lecture was followed by a general discussion in which Dr. Kelman answered the numerous questions asked him.

At the next clinic in December, Dr. Gee will give a talk on the prevention of decayed teeth and dental deformities. He will also examine the mouths of the babies and of the little children.

THE APPOINTMENT OF THE COAL COMMISSION

The appointment of the coal commission with a personnel named who will be able to devote much ability to the work they have been chosen for, is a move on the part of the Greenfield government which is much needed, and which has wisely not been delayed, following the legislation passed in the last session of the legislature. The scope of the commission is a large one in the various phases of the industry to be enquired into. Among these there is the important task of finding the cost of production, which will do much in clearing the air in the contentions which have led to the unfortunate strikes which have taken place in the province. Definite information of the workings of the coal industry will be all to the good in formulating some sort of a policy for furthering the well being of the natural resources with which the province abounds.

The problem in the coal industry of Alberta is one principally of steady markets and steady employment. Any findings of the commission which will lead to the solution of these two problems will be of much benefit to the industry and to the province. The work which the commission have in hand is a laborious one, but the men chosen are not only representative but able to arrive at what is needed. At least their experience and ability point this way. They will be engaged in what will be valuable research work for our coal industry is just as valuable to us as our agricultural industry.

We have the foundations of wealth in our wheat and in our coal. If the commission in their research will be able to find ways and means for placing the coal industry on a permanent basis and bringing about the expansion of an industry which sorely needs it the appointing of a commission will be more than worth while. At any rate, the result of the research will be highly valuable. — Lethbridge Herald.

THE BOOTLEGGING OF CANADIAN WHEAT

Last year Americans handled, to world markets, one half of Canada's wheat crop—or to be exact 177,000,000 bushels.

The United States has a high duty on Canadian wheat, but there seems to be no objection on the part of Buffalo and New York elevator interests to handle all the Canadian wheat they can get hold of, and, incidentally, in transit, to substitute large quantities of American soft wheat for that good Canadian hard wheat.

Canadian what is supposed to go through the United States in bond. And, naturally, it carries with it Candian grade certificates.

Evidence given before the Royal Grain Commission shows that when that weat arrives at American Atlantic ports it still has those Canadian grade certificates, but that the wheat itself has become Americanized—not "100 per cent Americanized," of course, but enough to lower the standard of Canadian wheat in the world markets.

The economic short haul in and out to the Pacific is going to change all that. And the sooner the economic all-Canadian western route is substituted for the uneconomic American route, the sooner Canadian railroads, Canadian steamships, Canadian business and Canadian farmers will prosper.

Why should good Canadian wheat, en route to Europe, be degraded and contaminated by American soft wheat?

PETER SMITH GETS IT AGAIN

Toronto, Nov. 4.—Three years in the penitentiary was the sentence imposed by Mr. Justice Mowat this morning on Peter Smith, former provincial treasurer of Ontario, who pleaded guilty of conspiracy in connection with certain transactions with the Home Bank. The proceedings were brief and no evidence was taken. Smith is already under sentence of three years on charges of conspiracy to defraud the province on bond sales. Both sentences will run concurrently.

T. H. Lennox, K.C., appeared for Smith. When the indictment was read Mr. Lennox stated that since the previous trial and conviction of Smith, he had given the matter close consideration and having in mind the great expense involved in a further trial on the new count, he had advised his client to plead guilty.

The indictment sets forth that Smith conspired with the late Brig.-General J. Cooper Mason, former general manager of the Home Bank, to "show certain favors" to Mason in return for commissions paid to him out of the proceeds of the sale of provincial bonds. The amounts said to have been paid Smith in this connection in 1920 and 1921 totalled $72,000.

The indictment was not discussed by counsel and no explicit explanation of the charges against Smith was made.

INCOME TAX IN CANADA HIGHER THAN IN STATES

Ottawa.—The sensation created in the United States through the publication of the amounts paid under the income tax might have been repeated in this country if certain efforts made during the last session of parliament had been successful.

Following the publication in certain papers of vague statements suggesting that possibly favoritism had been shown in the collection of the income tax in this country, the matter was referred by vote of the House to the Public Accounts Committee. To that body it went, but as there were more interesting subjects to engage the members, it was found impossible to get a quorum, and so the matter was dropped.

It is doubtful whether the committee would have taken action anyway. It might have questioned the Commissioner of Taxation, but it is very doubtful whether this would have been done, unless definite charges had been made. At the time it was generally thought an effort was being made to secure publicity for the business profits and income tax returns. To such action, Hon. J. A. Robb is understood to be opposed on the ground that while it would do very little good, on the other hand it would almost certainly do very great harm.

The United States income tax returns bing home the fact that wealthy people in Canada pay higher income taxes generally than do those across the line. The explanation is to be found in the circumstance that the wealthy American who has made his money is very largely escaping taxation through investing in tax-exempt securities. In Canada there are probably not more than $1,000,000,000 of tax-exempt war bonds out. Across the line, however, in addition to the immense volume of tax-free war bonds that exist, there is also an equally large volume of municipal and state bonds on which no federal income tax can be collected and this is being added to every year. These the wealthy Americans buy with avidity.

The Canadian, whose income is derived from salary, or professional fees, pays heavier than does the American. In this country no distinction is made between earned and unearned income, but in the United States earned income is taxed at a 25 per cent lower rate than it is in this country, all incomes up to $5000 being considered earned.

Given the theory that on a certain night the dead were able to pass the barriers between the worlds, there was no Gaelic person of any age or sex one thousand years ago (or today either for that matter) who did not believe that the Little People also pushed through the mystic door on the same night to curdle milk and take off farm gates, pinch people and harrass folk generally.

Take it or leave it, and if you have a drop of Irish blood in your veins you'll take it, long ago the hobgoblins made their appearance with the dead in November, and all of the popes for all of the centuries haven't been able to drive even the littlest of them, no bigger than a fly, back into Fairyland.

As it is admitted that we appropriated the Irish version of Hallowe'en, hook, line and sinker, and as we have either very few Little People here (or very few people who can see them), it becomes necessary for children and young men and women to impersonate them and to react faithfully their impish deeds.

VALENTINO RETURNS IN "MONSIEUR BEAUCAIRE"

"Monsieur Beaucaire," the new Paramount picture directed by Sidney Olcott, which marks the return of Rudolph Valentino to the screen, will begin a two day run at the Orpheum theatre starting next Wednesday. The world and his wife — particularly his wife—will see in this simple announcement visions of a film feast for which their movie appetites have been hungering these many months.

It isn't difficult to understand why this photoplay is awaited with such keen expectations. Aside from the tremendous personal popularity of Valentino to whom millions pay tribute as the greatest lover of the silver sheet, film fans who have read Booth Tarkington's immortal story, with its romantic, colorful and spectacular background of the court of King Louis XV of France, recognize its remarkable pictorial possibilities. It is a story that thrills the imagination, kindles the emotions, and satisfies that fundamental human desire for love, beauty, laughter and truth.

There is something vital and appealing about the character that Valentino portrays—the brave hearted, impetuous Duke who defies the King of France and goes to England disguised as a barber. It is a part that brings into play all those robust dramatic qualities that Valentino possesses and which have made him one of the most fascinating and compelling screen stars of today.

No effort, no expense was spared to make "Monsieur Beaucaire," from an artistic standpoint, "a thing of beauty and a joy forever." The gorgeous and historically correct costumes were designed and made in Paris. The glitter of gold and silver brocade, the sparkle of diamonds and sapphires, the flash of jewelled swords—all the beauty and splendor and brilliancy of the most magnificent court in the world's romantic period are pictured with amazing fidelity. It's history come to life in all its vividness and grandeur!

We realize the painstaking care that went into the making of this production when we consider the supporting cast with which Director Sidney Olcott has surrounded Mr. Valentino: Bebe Daniels, as the Princess de Bourbon-Conti; Lowell Sherman, as King Louis XV; Lois Wilson, as the queen; Doris Kenyon as Lady Mary; Paulette Duval as Mme. Pompadour; John Davidson as Richelieu; Ian Maclaren Oswald Yorke, Flora Finch and about fifty others equally well known.

And here's a parting word of suggestion, come early if you want to avoid the rush!

A "hot" retort often chills warm friendships.

Local Druggists Have Modern Remedy for Colds

A Vaporizing Salve which is Rubbed Over Throat and Chest for Colds.

When Vicks VapoRub, the "external" method of treating sore throat, bronchitis, deep chest colds, or croup, is applied over throat or chest, the ingredients are released as vapors by the body heat.

These vapors, inhaled with each breath carry the medication directly to the affected air passages, loosening the phlegm and relieving the congestion.

Colds are usually relieved over night.

BARNARD GOES ON HIS TRIAL AS A DIRECTOR

Toronto, Nov. 3.—The trial of C. A. Barnard, Montreal, Home Bank director, on charges of making, using, approving and concurring false statements of the bank's affairs, started today in the criminal court before Judge Coatsworth.

Mr. Barnard is the second director to face trial, the trial of C. F. Smith having been concluded last week. Although R. S. Robertson, K.C., counsel for the defence, today urged that Judge Coatsworth should not try the case, the request was not granted.

Ocean G. Smith, former chief accountant, who was recently convicted of negligence, was a crown witness, and gave evidence concerning the meetings attended by the accused and read from the minutes what was discussed at these meetings.

Ocean Smith said he knew nothing about the bank loans and in making up the annual statement had to depend upon the word of others. He said that unless they depended upon the work of others they could not make up the statement without personal inspection of every branch and every department.

A director would be in the same position and he had never heard of a director who did make a personal inspection of all branches. It might be possible, he said, but not practical.

CANADIAN APPLES KING OF THEM ALL

Canada has taken a foremost place in the apple growing world. Awards made at the Imperial Fruit Show in London, England, and at every other show at which exhibits have been made, prove this beyond a shadow of doubt. In flavor and palatability the Canadian grown apple has no superior. An interesting and attractively gotten up booklet published by the Fruit Branch at Ottawa, and obtainable at the Publications Branch, in establishing these facts, outlines the produce of what is termed "the King of fruits" in the country as a whole and in each of the apple growing provinces, gives details of the Fruit Act relative to the grading of apples, describes their food value, and supplies upwards of a hundred recipes for making sauces, butter, concoctions of various sorts, pies, puddings, relishes, salads, etc., in which the apple is the principal ingredient. Whether fresh, dried, evaporated or canned, or used in any way, the apple, the booklet points out, is a wholesome food, easily prepared, attractive and palatable at all times. It furnishes mineral salts and organic acids; it possesses important nutritive value, and has medicinal virtue also, especially if eaten at the beginning of the meal or between meals. It is not difficult to agree with the remark that "no housewife should be without a box or barrel of Canadian grown apples." To facilitate stocking up in this manner a statement is furnished in the booklet of the proper season or period during which various varieties should be used, extending over the nine months from September in one year to May in the next, both inclusive.

I'm the red-headed 'hen' next door to you, whose 'imps of boys' are always running across your garden. When you started to town this morning your wife said: "Now, Henry, if you want a dinner fit to eat this evening, you'll hae to leave me a little money."

Washington reports that during the first six months of the present year there has been a large decrease in the export of agricultural machinery and implements from the United States to Canada, as compared with the same period of 1923. The exports this year amounted in value to $3,769,502, which is about one-fourth of the value of those exported to the Dominion during 1923. The Prairie farmers do not seem to be availiing themselves with any particular avidity of Mr. Mackenzie King's tariff reductions.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

THE psychologists are talking now, hence we would like to have the class give strict attention because it is a very deep subject.

The psychologists tell us that man has a dual mind—the conscious and the sub-conscious. You have heard that before? Oh, very well, then we will pass it.

Without pasting any labels on ourselves or even hanging on to the other fellow's coat tails, you and I know that weare constantly making mental records and packing them away somewhere for future reference.

Every optimistic, hopeful, pleasant and courageous record you make will be of wonderful and powerful assistance to you when the grey days come, every time in fact when you are inclined to have the "dumps."

Every pessimistic, doleful, unpleasant and fearful record you make, your conscious mind will drag forth from its cubby hole to damn you every time an opportunity presents itself.

"Poppy-cock," perhaps you say, and you may also say that you do not take any stock in the two mind, conscious and sub-conscious business anyway.

All right brother, so be it, but if that is your position you are bucking up against an array of facts that some day will stun you.

During the past strenuous months you have observed some business men who have stood the gaff unusually well and some who did not. One man was bumped just as hard as the other; one man smiled and went on, the other bowed his head and sagged. Wherein lay the difference? Temperament, you say; possibly, indeed probably, heredity. All right, we will grant you 25% as the result of these causes, but the previous mental records made, must and do account for the balance, the 75%.

We either make or mar our own lives and that is just as sure as that green apples cause cramps.

WHILE advertising has helped millions to greater efficiency, it has also raised the standards of business. It is the word of the house to the cutomer. Manufacturers and distributors realize that readers must receive exactly what is promised in advertised products. No man of experience will put his name or brand on inferior articles because it is plain business suicide to advertise an unworthy product. Hundreds of successful businesses have grown from a good idea, nurtured with advertising. Advertising attracts new customers, broadens the market and quality brings repeat orders. That is why advertising flourishes.

ROUGHAGE

In all the papers today one reads a great deal about the effect of diet on the health and strength of the people. A new word has been coined. Roughage just means rough food. There are three chief reasons why we should eat rough food.

The first is because rough food gives more work to the food tract of our bodies; and, as in other parts of the body, such as the muscles used in baseball, more work or exercise makes the part stronger. The shoulders of a boxer often are stronger than other parts of his body; so if we eat rough food our teeth and gums, our stomachs and insides will become stronger. Also rough food acts as a toothbrush for our teeth and a natural sweeping brush for our insides.

The second reason is that in the roughest parts of the food most of the minerals necessary for our existence are found. Sulphur, iron, lime and phosphorous are found in the rough and colored parts of fruits and vegetables. Iron is particularly found in raisins and spinnach.

The third reason is that the rough food or roughage, always contains the much talked of vitamines. Vitamine A, which prevents rickets, Vitamine B, which prevents beri-beri, and Vitamine C, which prevents scurvy, the dreaded disease of sailors, explorers and prospectors. The vitamine which prevents scurvy is found chiefly in greens and fresh fruits, which also contain mineral matter. Milk, although not roughage, contains all the vitamines. The best way to eat is to eat a moderate amount of all kinds of food. By taking a well mixed diet one is sure to take in all the roughage, minerals and vitamines necessary. It seems that the more the scientist finds out the nearer we get to nature.

Russia is always pointed to as a country of immense resources. Those resources have been developed for centuries. Despite this the Soviet government does not appear to have any credit. It cannot float a loan in Russia with any prospects of success. It cannot give good security to private investors. Lord Haldane, one of Britain's Labor ministers, says that in order to give good security the foundations of a government must be sound. The Bolshevist government is not sound, for otherwise it would not be driven to seek a loan in Britain simply because it has no credit at home. To the businessman who looks at things in a business-like way there is no security whatever for a loan made to the Soviet government.

ASTHMA NEVER CAME BACK

Read this letter from Mrs. J. M. Pennington of New Rockland, P.Q.
"In 1919, I was taken with Bronchial Asthma and no one knows what I suffered during the winter. I began having choking spells and would just gasp for breath and could not speak. The doctor said he could do nothing for me.
In the spring of 1920, I started taking "Fruit-a-tives" and soon the choking spells became easier and I have not had one since May 7th, 1920. It is such a relief to be able to go to bed and have no thought of having to get up in the night for an hour or more as I did all that winter, but never have to now, all because I take a "Fruit-a-tives" tablet every night.

DID THE TIGER GET HIM?

People who are very busy are the ones who need most the recreation afforded by reading. They should read a story now and then, to beguile the tired mind from the cares of business. The narrative must be short, however, and absorbingly interesting. The amount of literature which can be covered in these brief moments is surprising. In a few years many treasures of memory can be stored up in this way.

Perhaps the most famous of all short stories ever written was "The Lady or the Tiger." It is based on the caprices of an Eastern monarch, who held all his criminal trials in an immense arena. The accused man was placed opposite two mystery doors. If he opened the one, there came out of it a ferocious tiger, which tore him to pieces. If the accused person opened the other door, there came forth from it a bewitching lady, to whom he was immediately married. Of course he did not known what was behind the door till he opened it, but if he opened the lady's door, he was considered innocent by the applauding spectators. He opened either one he pleased, not knowing whether he was to be married or devoured. If innocent he was rewarded whether he liked it or not.

Now it happened that a handsome young commoner feel in love with the King's daughter, and the King immediately gave orders for his arrest and trial in the arena. The Princess could not save him from the ordeal, but she knew which compartment held the savage beast and which one the lady. She could easily give him a signal which door to open. Would she rather that her lover married another woman or be torn in pieces by a blood- thirsty brute?

This story may be found in the Public Library. It raises a profound question of feminine psychology. Many reams of paper have been written by readers who have taken sides in the controversy.

But when I am searching among the well-filled shelves of the Library for a book of really brilliant stories, I take one of Henry's. Fortunately the whole set of his works is available to the citizens of Fernie. The book that I picked up yesterday, not by any means his best, was "The Gentle Grafter." Many a laugh rewarded this choice. Here are related the adventures of some "confidence" man who worked scheme after scheme to take away the superfluous dollars of farmer and financier alike. To our surprise, though, these villains had very tender consciences. Never would they take a single $1000 without leaving something for it, even though it be only a bogus cheque, or a bottle of eczema lotion. On one occasion, when they found that they had unwittingly robbed orphans and widows, they returned every cent. In the last two schemes other rogues out-rogued them. The original expressions are too funny for words. When I next visit the Public Library, between 4 and 6 o'clock on Saturday next, I should not be surprised if all O'Henry's works had been taken away.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Trites are spending a few days in the city.

Staff Wilson is in Spokane on business.

Mrs. D. Corsan and Miss Jean left on Tuesday for Vancouver, where they will make a short visit.

The regular meeting of the Past Noble Grands will be held in the I.O.O.F. hall on Wednesday at 3.30 p.m. All members are requested to attend.

Keep this date in mind—December 1st. Elks Christmas Cheer Fund and banquet. Something worth remembering.

Jim Corbett spent several days in Calgary this week, coming home on Thursday. Jim says Calgary is a wicked city and he was glad to escape from its temptations.

Mayor G. G. Henderson is able to be up again after his severe illness. He and Mrs. Henderson expect to take a trip east just as soon as his health will permit.

Don't forget the social and dance in the Catholic Parish Hall tonight, Friday, Nov. 7. Cards from 9 to 10.30. Dancing from 11 to 1. Admission 50c.

Mrs. Scott and Miss Scott, who are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Watson, have been the guests of honor at a number of bridge parties and teas during the past week.

A letter from Tom Prentice, who is spending some holidays in Vancouver, states that he went over to Victoria to help Tom Uphill open the House.

All members of the G.W.V.A. are invited to attend the funeral of Comrade J. P. Fisher on Sunday next at 2.30 p.m. Meet at the club rooms at 2 p.m.

The McGillivray Coal Co. has been raising a howl in the Calgary papers because the C.N.P. Coal Co. secured the contract for the coal supply for the schools. If they will take the trouble to look up the records they will find that in 1923 the city of Calgary saved over $5000 by using Michel coal.

Thomas Flett, Divisional Supt. of the Crow Branch, was a Fernie visitor on Wednesday. Lots of fellows think that Tom does not know anything about anythings but railroading, but if they heard him give his talk at the Rotary on Wednesday night they would have changed their minds.

Don't forget "The Old Maids' Convention" at the Grand Theatre, Nov. 18. Follow the crowd. Just think, thirteen more days and the big night. Unlucky? Well I should say not. You're going to get the biggest laugh you ever got in your life. Get going, folks, get going. Come on, fellows, boost your girls, who are working for the Public Library and need your support. Boost! Boost! Boost!

Frank McPherson, of Cranbrook, was a Fernie visitor on Wednesday evening. Frank is manager of the Hansen Garage in his home town and during the past season has sold some eighty cars; 39 McLaughlins and 41 Fords. Frank is an ardent Rotarian and all round good fellow and was prominently mentioned as a likely candidate for political honors in the last provincial election, but refused to allow his name to go before the convention.

Few people in Fernie are aware that Natal has a mushroom farm, but such is the case. Early last season Wm. Porter of that town, who purchased the old brewery property, started experimenting with mushrooms and it was not long before he had mastered the details of it and he is now producing them in large quantities and selling them for sixty cents a pound. They are all grown inside, so he has established an industry which produces all the year round. One Natal man has already put the town on the map by his production of fine honey, which carried off the prizes at Vancouver, and now Bill Porter has started something which may in time become quite an industry.

Monday is Thanksgiving.

A. McTeer, of Calgary, was a guest of M. A. Kastner yesterday.

Quite a number of the public school teaching staff are spending the holidays in Spokane.

There will be a whist drive and dance in the basement of Christ Church, Thursday, Nov. 13 at 8 p.m.

The mountains have been crowded with hunters during the past week, but few deer have been brought in.

Don't forget the Armistice Dance in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Armistice night. Refreshments provided. Commons orchestra.

All members of the G.W.V.A. are invited to attend a smoker social in the Vets Hall on Thanksgiving night, Monday, Nov. 10, to commence at 7.30 sharp.

The little flurry of winter during the past week has rushed the local coal order business. However, orders from outside are not coming in very fast and the mines at Coal Creek have been idle all week.

Harry Cox returned last Friday from England after an absence of four months. He visited his mother, who resides a few miles out of Liverpool.

The regular monthly meeting of Mount Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. will be held in the council chamber on Saturday, Nov. 8, at 3.30 p.m. A full attendance is earnestly requested.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society will be held on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Harry Snow, 132 Howland Ave.

Would Christmas buyers kindly remember that the Ladies Aid of the United Church are holding their annual bazaar on Saturday, Nov. 29, as already advertised, in the basement of the church.

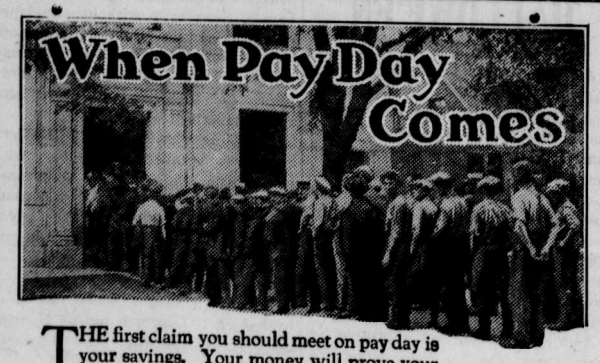
A special general meeting for the election of officers of the G.W.V.A. will be held on Sunday evening at 7.30. All nominations to be in the hands of the secretary on or before Saturday, Nov. 8.

Found after the K. of P. masquerade dance: A purse containing a sum of money; a pair of shoes and a lady's vanity case. Owner can have same on identification by applying to Chief Anderson.

Thanksgiving Day Dance, under the auspices of the Loyal Order of Moose, will be held in Victoria Hall, on Monday, Nov. 10. Dancing 10 to 2. Evans' orchestra. Refreshments. $1.50 per couple; single gents $1.00. Extra Lady 50c. O24-3

All members of the G.W.V.A. and other ex-service men, also the Women's Auxiliary, are requested to meet at the Vets rooms on Tuesday morning not later than 10.30 o'clock, to participate in the annual parade and service at the Orpheum theatre. Route, via Victoria avenue to Cox street; thence to Memorial on the government building lawn; placing of floral tribute and salute; thence to Orpheum theatre. Don't forget to wear a poppy.

Frank Rigg, of Portland, Ore., Governor of Rotary District No. 1, arrived in the city Wednesday evening and addressed a meeting of the local club. The Governor was accompanied from Cranbrook by Tom Flett, Div. Supt. of the Crow branch; Jake Fink, Dad Wasson and Frank McPherson, all of whom took part in the evening's program. The Governor is a Rotarian of 15 years standing and knows everything there is to know about Rotary. He is a grand speaker and delivered a fine address.



Donald Duff, at Lethbridge, speaking before the Board of Trade at its weekly luncheon at the White Lunch banquet room on Thursday, stated that the new program of the Tourist Association of Southern Alberta and Southeastern B.C. comprehended the organization of a western division of the Trans-Canada Highway Association with the object of advertising the All-Red Route across the Dominion with particular emphasis on the trail between Winnipeg and the coast. Mr. Duff, who is the director for Lethbridge on the executive of the association, is exceedingly hopeful of the success of this ambitious undertaking as there is a lively interest all along the line.

Don't forget the Vets annual Armistice Dance in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Nov. 11. Commons orchestra. Wear a poppy.

HALLOWE'EN

Along with several thousands of Canadian boys and girls Hallowe'en was celebrated by the Eskimos of the Lower Yukon River, the Letts, some Russians, some Bavarians, the Germans in Moravia, the Miztecs of Mexico, the Sea Dyaks of Borneo, the natives of Sumba, an East Indian island; the peasants of Brittany, and by other large numbers of peoples who never saw and probably never will see a black cat or a witch stamped on a paper napkin.

And not one out of a million of them knew what he was doing or why he was doing it. Here's why and how:

The path of research winds intricately, but one can find out why witches and goblins, why ghosts, why bonfires and feasts, and why divination, or the attempt to pry into the future through the use of apple peelings, mirrors and other devices.

Considerable uncertainty as to just when Hallowe'en should be celebrated has resulted from this very confusion of the sources of the holiday. Some have a very vague idea that it is really All Saints' Eve. Others claim that it is rightly All Saints' Day. Sometimes one will find an ardent supporter of the Gaelic tradition claiming that this most naive and delightful observance was the exclusive and brilliant invention of the ancient Iranians.

Without being untruthful, the researcher can say with perfect fairness, that all of these surmises are correct, at least, in part.

Hallowe'en, as we borrowed it from Ireland, isn't merely Hallowe'en, but is All Saints' Day and All Souls' Eve, and these two dates in the church calendar aren't themselves either, but are fairly modern interpretations of the great and ancient Festival of the Dead, which has been celebrated ever since the great god Osiris died in Egypt, and, historians claim, long before.

Going back to the very beginning of things we find the bonfire. Upon this subject, which is to be dismissed with a sentence here, many weighty volumes have been written. Suffice to say that earthly man, either to mimic on earth the great source of light and heat in the sky or to drive out devils and monsters, was wont to build great bonfires at certain set periods in the year, one of which fell at the beginning of Winter.

Then men came to gradually believe that before the cold winter set in the dead arose from theis graves and came to warm themselves at these fires. Food and drink were offered them by their loved ones in order that they might pass safely through the cold of the winter.

Thus came the bonfires, the ghosts and the feasts.

With the beginning of Egyptian history, so far as is known, come authentic versions of the celebration of this yearly return of spirits.

Ceremonies assumed a dignified aspect when they were presented as tributes to the dead gods. Herodotus tells that at the grave of the great god Osiris in lower Egypt, there was a lake on which the sufferings of the god were displayed as a mystery by night, in the month of Athyr, which corresponds to our November. Here a long ceremony was performed, and a feature of the festival was the illumination of the houses all night long. This, as Frazer, in "The Golden Bough," suggests, must have been a commemoration not merely of the dead Osiris, but of the dead in general—in other words, that it was a night of All Souls.

Throughout the ages this Festival of the dead was celebrated all over the world, in most cases at a time corresponding to our Hallowe'en. Intimation of what strange rites may have been performed can be found by studying the ceremonies gone through by some people to this day. But whether it is an Eskimo of the lower Yukon, offering seal blubber to his dead brother, or a Breton housewife setting out curds and whey for her departed, the original motive is the same.

Up to the time of the Christian era the custom was frankly termed, with slight variations, a festival of the dead, but after the church had been established the observance of a rite so unquestionably pagan gave the early popes and bishops no little concern. A clean sweep of false ideas was attempted.

In the eighth century, according to Bede, the historian, in Britain the Feast of All Saints was being celebrated on November 1. To counteract a heathen holiday, a Christian one was substituted.

Later, in 35 A.D., the Feast of All Saints was formally instituted in France and Germany by order of Emperor Lewis the Pious. The innovation was made by the advice of Pope Gregory IV.

But even these measures failed to ereadicate completely an idea or a tradition so deeply seated in the hearts and minds of good Christian people. Seemingly without any lapse of faith, and in addition to the observance of All Saints' Day, the dead were welcomed back, feasts were spread for them and all the ancient rites performed.

Unwilling that good Christians should so besmirch themselves with heathenism, the bishops, so Frazer claims, made a tactful arbitration. In 998 Odilo, abbot of the great Benedictine monastery of Clugny, ordered that in all of the monasteries over which he had authority, a solemn high mass should be celebrated on the second day of November, for all the dead who sleep in Christ.

So now we have accounted for All Souls' Day, not fully perhaps, but in so far as authority on folklore will allow and there remains the problem of ferreting out the witches and goblins, and the reason for seeking to read the future.

Now, the one indisputable, iron-bound fact upon which even the most violent bioliograhphical enemies agree is that Ireland was, and is now, the original home of all the witches and fairies and goblins.

Commenting on this age of credulity, the London Morning Post says: "Our own time, Mr. Shaw tells us, is more credulous than the Middle Ages. If we have no inquisitors, or pardoners, or witch hunters, we have a whole army of spiritual and intellectual quacks before whom our democracy falls entranced. Indeed, we have not to go to Darkest Africa or to the Middle Ages to find the countless victims of credulity. And men are not only credulous, but also greedy. The Rousseaus of every age had always something to dangle before their dupes; they were full of promises. But the noble spirits who have lighted our darkness have promised men nothing but hardship and ceaseless endeavor. And the result is that they have been cast aside at a price which, despite all our sufferings, has not yet been fully paid."

A MEXICAN LABOR APPEAL TO BRITAIN

Revelations of Mexican labor conditions made by Ricardo Trevino, Secretary of the Mexican Trade Union Federation, to some leaders of the British Labor party and the Trade Unions, impresses the London New Leader as being sufficiently grave to "move us to action." Mr. Trevino is recalled as having been Minister of Labor in Mexico and of speaking quietly and definitely to the effect that "in the mines of Mexico, which are chiefly of coal and of silver, no less than 52 per cent of the men are injured every year by accidents." He charged that the oil-fields, most of which are in "an unhealthy semi-tropical region," are without doctors, hospitals, or even chemists' shops, and "the life of the workers in this occupation is said to average three years." We read then:

"Dividends, on the other hand, range up to 60 per cent. When one adds that the progressive Mexican government (which is in all but name a Labor government) is struggling hard to impose humanity on the companies financed by British, American and Belgian capital which runs the mines and oil-wells, it is easy to understand the opposition to recognition. To our thinking, these facts ought to be officially investigated, and to that end recognition is the urgent first step. The Empire protects exported capital with all the resources of diplomacy. It shares in so doing the responsibility for the crimes of exploitation."

NATIONAL POLICY NEEDED

There is to some extent a cleavage in regard to the protective tariff; but we believe that this difficulty could be lessened by a frank and friendly discussion of the needs of all provinces and sections of Canada, and a recognition of their interdependence. The country needs a National Policy, not in the narrow sense of a protective policy only, as in 1879, but in regard to all the varied interests of the greater Canada of 1914. It is sometimes described as a hard country to govern; but the difficulties are no greater than were met and surmounted in their earlier periods of our history, and they are small indeed compared with those of the nations of the Old World.—Toronto Globe.

DID ANCIENTS HAVE NICKEL?

The question whether the ancients had a form of nickel has been raised by the discovery of this metal in Egyptian and Mesopotamian bronzes by a Norwegian professor, Dr. J. Seblien. We read:

"Nickel has been found there regularly in an impure state, although in the ores of an old mine in Kurdestan, the metal does not occur. Where did it come from, if not from the native mines? Mr. R. Dart, who discusses the problem in Nature, thinks that it was unconsciously brought in with foreign copper. Copper was greatly sought in prehistoric times for the manufacture of bronze, and it was brought from as far away as Spain and Cornwall—perhaps even in Africa, adds Mr. Dart, who belongs to the University of Johannesburg. And in South Africa, near the copper mine at Rooiberg, has been found bronze containing 80 per cent copper, 5 per cent iron and aluminum, 7 per cent tin and about 3 per cent nickel. Now no one from the Transvaal furnishes any such alloy. There is a circle of ancient mines surrounding the gold bearing center of Rhodesia. There were tin deposits also; and north west of Pretoria there must have been taken out two or three thousand tons. This region alone must have produced about 30,000 tons of bronze and certainly a good part of this must have been sent to a considerable distance. But in it all there was no nickel, we must then conclude that the latter must have come from still farther away, perhaps from the western part of Asia.

"Metallurgy was well advanced in antiquity; Rhodesia during this period must have furnished 75 to 200 million pounds sterling of the precious metal. A very important trade in metals must have taken place along the whole eastern coast of Africa; it must have been so, also, in more distant regions, and some of the copper brought in from afar may have contained nickel.

"It is important to identify these regions. The presence of nickel raises one more economic and commercial problem to be added to many others."

A NEW COSTUME

The Canadian parliament will consider before long—it is rumored — a plan for a Monroe doctrine of the Pacific. The idea is to link up Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and perhaps the United States in a joint statement of policy about immigration. We hope Canada invites the United States in on this plan. The white peoples have a common outlook and a common danger in the Pacific. When trouble comes they will stick together. But before trouble comes our enemies may not know that we will stick. If they did know they would be more careful about beginning war. When Canada, Australia and New Zealand finish that white Monroe doctrine for the Pacific, we hope they will ask the United States in. We might as well all be together on this Oriental immigration question, and tell the world about it.—Chicago Tribune.

NOTICE

WATER NOTICE

(Use and Storage)

TAKE NOTICE that The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. of Canada, Ltd., whose address is Kimberley, B.C., will apply for a licence to take and use 1,000 cubic feet per second and to store 14,000 acre feet of water out of the Elk River, which flows southerly and drains into Kootenay River about 3 miles south of Waldo, B.C. The storage dam will be located 2770 feet south of, and 70 feet east of the south west corner of 6677. The capacity of the reservoir to be created is about 14,000 acre feet, and it will flood about 300 acres of land. The water will be diverted from the stream at a point about 2770 feet south of and 70 feet east of the S. SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Prince Albert makes fine cigarettes!

Prince Albert tobacco is so cool and fragrant you will like it better every time you smoke it. The patented process removes bite and parch and just leaves it free for you to enjoy.

Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality! Ask your dealer for some at once. If he cannot supply you, ask him to secure it through his wholesaler.

PRINCE ALBERT

rolls up easily because it is crimp cut! It does not waste when you roll 'em!

Try Prince Albert and know for yourself how good it is. You'll realize then that you never smoked tobacco with such fine flavor. Prince Albert is free from bite and parch. And it's just as fine in a pipe as in a cigarette!

Prince Albert is sold throughout Canada, generally, in the ½-lb. tidy red tin, also in pound and half-pound humidors.

On the reverse side of this tidy red tin you will read: "Process Patented July 30th, 1907."

THE TRANSFER OF DISEASE

Much of our disease is imported. This applies not so much to the foreign immigrant as to the ceaseless to and fro motion of our own citizens, who will not stop moving even when they are ill. Michigan may thus infect Minnesota, and North Carolina, New Jersey. Dr. Walker M. Dickie, of the California Board of Health, says in a paper on "Interstate Traffic in Communicable Diseases, that geographical barriers in the United States have been almost completely broken down by improved methods of transportation. Interstate travel has been increased, he says, during recent years, beyond all expectations. On the Pacific coast alone automobile travel is continuous throughout the year, with greatly increased volume during the summer months. He proceeds:

"With the increased volume of traffic there has naturally come an increased transference of cases of communicable disease. Typhoid and malaria are more easily transported from country to city and there is an increased prevalence of both of these diseases of country origin in most of the larger cities of the coast.

"Smallpox, diphtheria, scarlet fever and other diseases of the respiratory system have recently been transported increasingly between States. Whole communities, in many cases, have been affected by this widespread dissemination of these infectious diseases.

"How extensive has been the spread of disease between States we have no definite means of knowing. For the most part this lack of information is due to the failure of the health officers to notify each other reciprocally of cases of communicable diseases that may have been brought into each other's jurisdiction from outside of the State.

"In California during 1923 there were at least 64 cases of typhoid infected outside of California. These cases came from as far east as Ohio, Tennessee and the Middle Western States. The Minnesota Board of Health has reported that from 1913 to 1921 there were 364 typhoid cases infected outside of Minnesota. The available statistical data upon interstate traffic in typhoid fever, meager as it is, indicates the need for the development of a thorough and continuous system of reciprocal notification between State Health officers. There is even less statistical data pertaining to interstate traffic in transmissible diseases other than typhoid. In fact, this lack of data hinders the establishment of adequate interestate quarantine regulations.

"To be sure, about half of the States have adopted the sanitary railway sanitation code approved by the U. S. Public Health Service. The most important features have been incorporated in the interstate quarantine regulations. This code provides for control of utensils such as towels and drinking cups, and of food and water on trains so as to protect them from contamination.

"It is certain, however, that interstate travel by automobile equals in volume interstate travel by railway. Since it is impossible to prevent the travel of infected persons, it becomes of first importance for State health officers to reciprocate in reporting cases of communicable disease.

"Persons in the early stages of measles, scarlet fever and other diseases may complete their journeys while in an infective stage, before any one, the patients themselves included, knows that they are ill. Absolute restriction of travel of sick persons is not to be desired; in fact, it often happens that persons suffering from communicable diseases should be permitted to travel in order that better control measures may be put into force. The travel of such persons should be under supervision, in order that the disease may be kept under control. Surreptitious travel of infected persons is often responsible for extensive spread of communicable diseases.

"It goes without saying that persons suffering from any of the five major quarantinable diseases—plague, cholera, yellow fever, typhus and smallpox—are absolutely forbidden to travel. There are enormous possibilities for the spread of these diseases, and the transportation of persons suffering from any of them is always denied.

"Traffic in smallpox is a constant menace because of the fact that many of our large communities are almost entirely unvaccinated. Furthermore, smallpox of a virulent type is more prevalent in the United States at the present time than for many years.

MADE IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

This advertisement is not published or displayed by the Liquor Control Board or by the Government of British Columbia.

MR. ASQUITH WILL NOT QUIT

Mr. Asquith, though beaten by a Labor candidate in Paisley, Scotland, refuses to quit. When the result was announced his daughter, Lady Bonham-Carter, stated that her father would retire from public life. Evidently she spoke unofficially, for Mr. Asquith himself told a Glasgow reported yesterday: "I will stand again."

More than 72 years of age and with a parliamentary experience reaching back to 1886, this noblest Roman of them all is ready for more. Mr. Asquith may not be a present-day successful party leader, and possibly history will impute to him a share of the responsibility for the disrupted position of the British Liberal party today, but his abilities, his undoubted honesty, and his political scholarship will continue to excite admiration from British people everywhere. In these turbulent times it would seem that Mr. Asquith is still needed in the Commons, if for no other reason that no man can equal him in summing up a political question so that all can understand.

He is the most prominent survivor of the Gladstone tradition in British political life. The mentor of his younger days was Premier at 85 years. Mr. Asquith may cherish the hope that he will again be seated in the chief place to Mr. Speaker's right. Most people will think such a hope a vain one, but they will applaud the fighting spirit of this veteran in his expressed determination "to stand again."

THE CONSEQUENCES

There is a disposition on the part of the great mass of the people to assume that punishment seldom fits the crime and that people who have enough money can snap their fingers at the law. The sentencing of Peter Smith, former provincial treasurer of Ontario, and Aemilius Jarvis, well known financier, to serve prison terms and pay a joint fine of $600,000 should go far to destroy this idea.

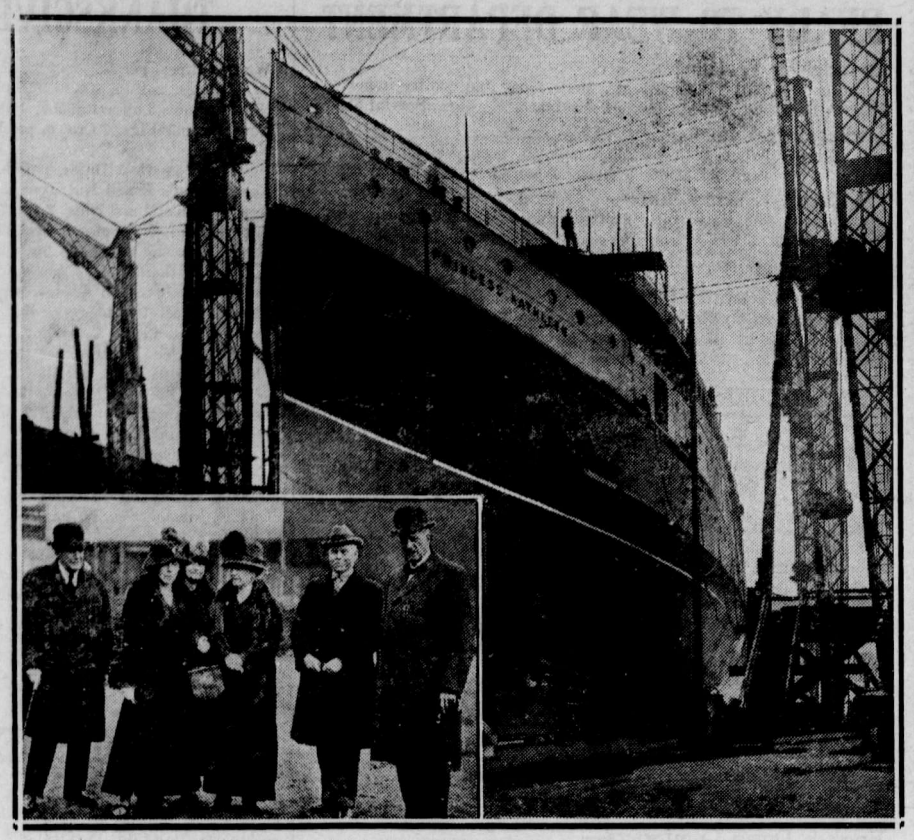
As a matter of simple fact the great majority of rich men, like the great majority of men with smaller incomes, are honest, and are playing their part in the upholding of law and order, and in helping to better the condition of their fellows, and big businesses, like small businesses, must be on a sound economic basis and conform to the inexorable economic laws if they are to continue. If it were not so our whole system of civiliation would disintegrate. And, despite the agitations of the Bolshevists, Communists and other trouble makers, we believe that system is serving the community better than anything which is being offered, particularly by propagandists who are obviously more interested in tearing down what is, than trying to build something better.

Is the lesson then, not that all rich men and big corporations are dishonest, and that some of them are found out, but that, because of the consequences which have followed the mishandling of Ontario's funds and such unsound financing as revealed in connection with the Home Bank, public men and financiers generally, must be honest and financial institutions must be soundly conducted if they are to avoid a similar fate?—Financial Post.

MUSTAPHA KEMAL AND THE KORAN

In defiance of the Koran, which forbids the making of any image of man or beast, enthusiastic Turks will provide money to build a 30-foot statue of Mustapha Kemal.

The prohibition against the making of "graven images" which occurs in the Koran was set down by Mohammed and Abu Bekr because they reasoned that the ordinary individual would have trouble keeping his mind on the worship of an invisible God with all sorts of visible heroes scattered around to worship.



And, happily or unhappily, the results of that reasoning has been to implant in the minds and hearts of true Moslems a fiercer and more intense devotion to their Deity than that which characterises devotees of any other religion.

That new statue, weakening the stern Moslem belief, and giving Moslems something else to think about besides the beautiful houris of Paradise that fall to their lot, provided they kill enough Christians, may be the means of keeping a few Armenian heads intact on Armenian shoulders in years to come.—Vancouver Sun.

New Oil Burners For Pacific Coast.

It is a long way from Alaska to the Clyde, but the recent launching of the Canadian Pacific Coastal S.S. "Princess Kathleen" from the Clydebank yards of John Brown and Company illustrates how the increasing business, traffic and industry of the one has affected the industry of the other. The launching of another vessel, the Princess Marguerite, will further illustrate this, shortly. During the past few years the thousand mile trip to the "land of the Midnight Sun" and return to Vancouver has attracted thousands of tourists from all parts of the world. Many of these, appreciating the industrial and commercial possibilities of this country of vast natural resources, as much as the scenic splendours, have established themselves there and have drawn others round them, each of whom plays a part in the further development of the land. The same thing applies to the Yukon, so that, especially in the Summer, and in the Fall when the big game and fish are fair sport, there is a constant coming and going on the Princess steamers that ply the "Inland Passage".

Next Year there will, it is expected, be a demand for a still more frequent service. In response the Canadian Pacific will recruit from its "Triangular" service, and the new steamers will take up the service thus relieved between Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle. This route is also becoming increasingly popular, the present call being for vessels which are able to transport the automobiles of those hundreds of tourists who are finding the glories of Vancouver Island well worth while.

The new vessels, twin screw and oil-burning, will be, when completed, the largest and fastest ships operating between the three ports, being capable of sustaining a speed of 22½ knots. Altogether there are five decks, four of which are given over to the use of the passengers, while a large space on the main deck has been provided for the transport of motor cars and other freight. Accommodation is arranged for 325 first-class night passengers in two and three berth cabins, and for over one thousand day passengers. A special feature of the accommodation is the provision of 17 large rooms on the promenade and upper decks, having private bathrooms attached and 22 two-berth cabins, on the boat deck, having private shower baths. The accommodation throughout has been arranged with the greatest care for the safety and comfort of the passengers and is of a uniform standard throughout, while the accommodation for the officers and crew is substantially better than is required by regulations.

Both vessels will be placed in service early in 1925.

Helps Solve the Menu Problem

CARNATION Milk costs about the same as ordinary milk. But think of its convenience, its purity and its richness! Serve just as it comes from the can in place of cream for coffee, fruits and cereals. For all milk purposes add a little more than an equal amount of water. Carnation keeps indefinitely in the can until opened and for several days after opening if properly stored, so there is no waste. It adds richness and flavor to any dish.

Carnation is just pure fresh milk, evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization. Order several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans from your grocer.

CHOCOLATE BLANC MANGE: ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 cups Carnation Milk, 2 oz. unsweetened chocolate, ¼ cup water, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2½ cups water, ½ cup cornstarch.

Thoroughly mix 2 cups of the water with the Carnation Milk; pour into the double boiler and bring to a boiling point. Mix the cornstarch, sugar and salt; dilute with the remaining ½ cup of water. Add to the first mixture, stirring constantly. Add the melted chocolate, stirring occasionally until mixture thickens. Cook fifteen minutes. Add flavoring; mould, chill and serve with whipped Carnation Milk.

COAL CREEK NOTES

The members of the girls sewing class in connection with the English church up here held their annual masquerade party in the church on Monday evening. The arrangements were in the capable hands of Mesdames J. Worthington, D. Smith, J. Haile and Miss Janet Marsden. Parlor games and goblin stories were the order of the evening. Prizes for the best characters were awarded to Miss Annie Forsyth and Miss Gladys Leyland. Refreshments and fruit were served.

The mines up here have been idle since Monday.

Bob Holland, an old timer of this camp, returned last week end.

Rev. H. U. Oswald paid a visit to this camp on Thursday.

Robt. Lee and Miss Larmont of this camp secured prizes for best representative lady and gent at the K. of P. masquerade dance on Friday last. Tom Branch and Miss Bella Branch received special prizes for their portrayal of South Sea Islanders.

After the K. of P. dance there was found a purse containing money, a pair of shoes and a lady's vanity case. Owners can have same by applying to Chief Anderson.

J. Ferguson and S. Proctor have taken a party out hunting in the Morrissey district.

All members of the C. C. L. & A. residing in Fernie are asked to give in the names and ages of their children under 13 years before Nov. 13, in order to participate in the annual Christmas tree. Names to be given in to the stewards.

Bob Fowler has been under the weather for the past few days but is reported to be making rapid recovery.

All local members of the G.W.V.A. are invited to attend a smoker social in the Vets Hall on Monday evening, Nov. 10, at 7.30 sharp.

The annual G.W.V.A. Armistice day parade and service will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 11. Parade leaves the Vets rooms at 10.30 a.m.; service in Orpheum theatre at 11 a.m. The Coal Co. have granted a special train to leave Coal Creek at 10 a.m. Don't forget to wear a poppy.

The annual Vets Armistice Dance will be held in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Tuesday evening, Nov. 11. Commons orchestra. Refreshments.

A special general meeting and election of officers of the Fernie G.W.V.A. will be held on Sunday evening, Nov. 9th. Nominations for president, vice-president and six executive members must be in the hands of the secretary on or before Saturday night, Nov. 8.

HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

"Lit" was held on Friday, Oct. 31. The program consisted of a debate between the girls of Grade 9A and the boys of Grade 9B; also a very interesting talk by Mr. Burns on his boyhood days in Minnesota.

The debate was, "Resolved, That summer sports are better than winter sports." The affirmative was taken by the boys, John Carlson, leader; Clarence Mangan and Nelson Wallace. The negative by the girls, Hilda Brown, leader; Dorothy Bean and Mary Tully. Both sides showed ability in speaking. The judges were Mabel Rogers, Billie Duncan and Edward Coughlin, who decided in favor of the negative.

The boys of the High School began their basketball practice on Thursday.

League games in the girls basketball started Thursday night.

Florence McDonald, of Grade X, has left for California.

Miss Laura Gregerich has gone to her home in Kaslo, where she will spend her Thanksgiving holiday.

All those who were unsuccessfully vaccinated during the last smallpox scare are required to be vaccinated during the week end.

MORRISSEY MINES SCHOOL REPORT FOR OCTOBER

Standing in order of marks obtained: Annie Dvorak 4001, Emma Chudik 3695, Frank Chudik 3628, Mary Chudik 3576, Bessie Chudik 3502, Lizzie Dvorak 3462, Gabriel Cortese 3097, Mary Doman 2747, Margaret Doman 2395.

A very jolly Hallowe'en party was held at the school on Friday. Lunch was served at noon, the table being prettily decorated with streamers, evergreens, wild buttercups and Hallowe'en souvenirs. After lunch games and contests occupied the next two hours. Some of the costumes were very original and pretty. Lizzie Dvorak as "Autumn Fairy" won the prize —a book.

K. OF P. ANNUAL MASQUERADE DANCE

In spite of the stringency of money and other adverse circumstances prevailing around town, the committee in charge of the masquerade dance held on Friday evening last, were well satisfied with the result. The door receipts far exceeded the expectations of the most optimistic. The hall was appropriately decorated, the color blending speaking volumes for the artistic tastes of those responsible. Commons orchestra supplied music of the usual high standard. Fred Shears filled the office of M.C. in a creditable manner. The many varied characters represented taxed the abilities of the judges, whose subsequent choice received the unanimous approval of all. The judges were: Mesdames C. Stubbs, F. Dunlap and H. Henderson, with J. Skilling, G. Sofko and S. McNally. The following were awarded the prizes:

Best representative gentleman — R. Lee, Coal Creek.

Best representative lady — Miss Larmont, Coal Creek.

Best dressed lady—Miss A. Cullerton.

Best dressed gentleman—C. Hunsley.

Best comic gentleman—E. Dicks.

Best comic lady—Miss Mangan.

Special award—T. Branch and Miss Bella Branch, Coal Creek.

Supper was served by the Pythian Sisters. Dancing was indulged in until 4 a.m.

ADVISES A MEETING

Editor Fernie Free Press:

Dear Sir—Coal Creek mines are to be closed for an indefinte period. The wording of the notice conveying this intelligence to all concerned merely states a fact that had been foreseen, since the beginning of the strike, by all those thoroughly acquainted with the coal mining industry: "The Company being unable to retrieve sufficient business to operate the Coal Creek mines, etc." Complex economic factors govern the conditions under which undertakings of such importance are operated, and an accurate opinion can be expressed only after they have all been [illegible] their appropriate place, in the [illegible] of reasoning through which [illegible] nal decision is reached. That t[illegible]e strike was a dismal failure, [illegible]east as far as Fernie is conce[illegible] no one can deny. That it was [illegible]nt business for some mining [illegible]ies outside the boundaries of [illegible]ct 18, is proved by the fact that [illegible]contracts that should keep the [illegible]t work here, are now held by f[illegible]rom which they cannot be "retrieved." To substantiate the statement that the men here were ill advised, one has only to recall the fact that the scale of wages, accepted on Oct. 10, was practically identical with that indignantly rejected on April 1, and that, during the past summer, the Hon. James Murdock proposed the very same scale, with the sole and only result that he drew upon his head the wrath of William Sherman and was grossly insulted for his offer of mediation. No one can but admire the spirit of solidarity and discipline displayed by the miners throughout the strike, notwithstanding the totally inadequate support received from the U.M.W.A., but their leaders cannot escape the responsibility of having brought disaster upon them, through their mischievous and blundering ignorance.

However, no amount of "I told you so," can remedy the very grave situation that has now arisen. There are many families in this town that must now face with dismay the prospects that the immediate future holds out for them, and some, possibly, feeling already the grip of these two grim spectres: Hunger and Cold. In all his war experience, the writer has seen no more distressing sight than that of the little pinched faces of half starved children. Their mute appeal struck him more forcibly than all the horrors of the ghastliest battlefield.

Work is not easily obtainable at the present time, and outside assitance, from whatever quarter it may be sought, partakes very much of the nature of the proverbial broken reed. That the pinch of want has already been felt in many homes is well known and, with the statement that the Coal Creek mines are to be closed for an indefinite period, the last remaining ray of hope vanishes for the many unfortunates that can neither go nor stay.

Every resident of the town is so vitally interested in this matter that, should there be an avenue of escape still left open in the midst of the wreckage, it should be sought immediately. The local Board of Trade has been singularly inactive throughout the period during which this city was being slowly strangled to death, and ought to make at least a determined effort towards resuscitation. Why could not this representative body take the initiative of calling a general meeting of the citizens, at which Mr. Wilson would be invited, in order that the situation be made clear to all? Whatever may be the nature of the road leading out of the present morrass, it should not be left untried.

Hiram Frieden.

MICHEL AND NATAL ORGANIZE CURLING CLUB

Michel, Nov. 8.—A general meeting of the Michel and Natal Curling Club was held in Michel on Wednesday, Nov. 5, when F. Warwick was re-elected president for the coming season; Jack Littler, vice-president, and H. J. Reed, sec.-treas. An executive of eight, consisting of four representatives of each place, was also chosen as follows: H. LeRoy, A. Frew, A. Huntley, J. Henny, G. Fisher, A. Smith, W. J. Thompson and E. Ross. It was also decided to hold a banquet in the near future with a view to boosting the membership and increasing the funds so as to make the coming season a prosperous one.

BURIAL SERVICE AT MICHEL

A burial service was held in St. Paul's English church on Thursday morning over the body of John Todhunter, late foreman of the coke ovens, or as he was generally called "The Coke Oven Boss."

Rev. Mr. Garlick, M.A., spoke of Mr. Todhunter as a friend, a father and as a man among men. Mr. Garlick spoke directly to a large audience, all of whom could have confirmed every word he said.

After the service the casket was taken to the station for shipment to Cranbrook, where burial takes place at 3 p.m. on Friday. The following were the pallbearers: Clem Stubbs, Tom Owen, Vi. James, James Watson, John Tupper, Harold White.

Mr. Todhunter was an old timer in the Kootenays. He came to Michel in 1898 from the Silver King mine, at Nelson, and worked for the C. N. P. Coal Co. for a long time. Then he transferred his services to the Imperial Coal Co. up the Elk Valley. Six years ago he came back to Michel. Mr. Todhunter was a singularly courteous man, sympathetic to all, a staunch churchman and never afraid to own his Master. His wife predeceased him last August, by whom he had three sons, Gibson, Stanley and Albert, residing at Elko; and two daughters, Mrs. Frank Worthington, Cranbrook, and Mrs. H. B. Crosby, Tacoma.

Two beautiful wreaths were placed on the casket, one from St. Paul's English church, and one from the officials of the mine.

ARMISTICE DAY SERVICE

The local G.W.V.A. held their annual Armistice day parade and service on Tuesday morning, leaving the Vets rooms at 10.30 a.m. The procession, numbering 100 strong, proceeded to the War Memorial on the government lawn, where a wreath of poppies was deposited; thence to the Orpheum theatre. Past President R. Billsborough occupied the chair and in a few well chosen and appropriate remarks introduced the speaker, Rev. Father McKenna, whose address was listened to attentively. Rev. H. U. Oswald delivered the invocation and benediction. The committee desire to thank Wm. Johnston for his kind donation of the theatre for the service, W. R. Wilson for thain facilities, C. Commons and J. Gaskill for musical services, members of the Women's Auxiliary who attended the parade, the reverend gentlemen for their services and all who assisted in any way.

POOR MAN'S UNIVERSITY

The library is the poor man's university.

A few public-spirited citizens are trying to keep this good institution afloat. They are not asking you for donations, but they are asking you to buy for $2 the best value for your money you ever got in your life—a year's subscription to the Public Library.

You may say, "Oh, there are no books over there that I care to read." If this is so then it is your own fault. The Fernie Library will obtain any book or books you wish to read. In glancing over magazines, in conversation, by your own quiet fireside, reams of names will occur to you, of books you would like to read; books you must and ought to read if you are going to keep up with other people. The newest fiction, education, the marvellous advance of science. As those titles come to mind make a list of them, hand it in to the librarian and the books will be here with the next shipment (or sooner if you like to pay the postage from Victoria).

Think of it! For the price of one book, of an evening's dancing, of one third-rate vaudeville show, you can have a year's solid reading, no matter how fast you read!

Can you afford to be without it? This is your library. Support it with your subscription.

VETERANS HAVE KICK

Great indignation was felt by the Local Branch of the G.W.V.A. owing to the Governor General's holiday being given to the school children Nov. 7, and as a result the following letter was addressed to the School Board of Trustees:

G.W.V.A. of Canada, Fernie Branch.
Fernie, B.C., Nov. 9, 1924.
A. J. Moffatt, Sec. School Board Trustees, City:

Dear Sir—At a special meeting of the above association held Sunday, Nov. 9, it was brought to the notice of the membership that the school children had been given the Governor General's holiday on Nov. 7. Furthermore, that the matter had been placed before Mr. Martin, Principal, by one of the trustees, suggesting that the said holiday would be more appropriate on Nov. 11.

Great indignation is felt by our members, that such action should be taken, it being considered that no day in the year could be more appropriate for the holiday than Nov. 11, the grant coming as it did from our distinguished Comrade, Governor General Lord Byng of Vimy, late commander of the Canadian forces in France during the Great War; also that this day is recognized in this city by the holding of Armistice service annually on Nov. 11, in spite of Thanksgiving day being proclaimed by our government on other than this date.

On Tuesday next, six short years ago, at 11 o'clock on the 11th day of the 11th month, the guns were silenced on the Western Front and four years' harvest of death and destruction was brought to a long hoped for close. Sixty thousand Canadians laid down their lives ere the "cease fire" sounded the note of hope and triumph unheard by them as they slept beneath the poppies that mark their graves, in countless rows. Because of their supreme sacrifice we, as a people, enjoy the privileges and blessings of undisturbed citizenship, untrammeled by foreign yoke. These must not be forgotten, their efforts must be recognized, their achievements retold, in order that their lofty example may be emulated by our children.

Because of these things the Great War Veterans' Association of Canada incorporated into its constitution a solemn pledge, which will be observed until the last survivor of the Canadian Expeditionary Force has answered the Last Roll Call, to preserve the memory and records of those who suffered and died for the nation, and the establishment of an annual Memorial Day. Armistice Day is Memorial Day, and we seek to bring home a proper spirit of national remembrance, and thus keep our faith.

In protest the Fernie Branch go on record that all ex-service men keep their children away from school Nov. 11th; also respectfully request an explanation as to why such action was taken. Yours respectfully,

D. F. Markland, Sec.-Treas.

HOME BANK DIRECTOR IS FOUND GUILTY

Toronto, Nov. 7.—Col. Clarence F. Smith, of Montreal, one of the directors of the Home Bank, was found guilty today by County Judge Coatsworth on the charge that he "negligently did sign or approve of a false return" to the government, in connection with the Home Bank, now in the hands of the receiver.

This is the first conviction against a director the bank, although officials are awaiting sentence. Judge Coatsworth intimated that he would sentence Col. Smith on Dec. 1.

Col. Smith was arraigned on three counts:

1. Making a wilfully false and deceptive statement.
2. Unlawfully using a false or deceptive statement.
3. Negligently signing, approving or concurring in an account containing false or deceptive statements.

Judge Coatsworth finds him not guilty on the first two counts but guilty on the third.

The judgment comments on the fact that directors and their friends and companies in which they were interester had secured loans to the amount of $800,000 from the bank. The director, says the judgment, cannot plead that he did not know what was going on. It was his duty to know. All the directors, not only those who were present, were responsible for the statement made to the government.

The personal dealing of the accused, says the judgment, after he became a director, seemed to indicate that he went on the board for his own purpose. He was present when all the large accounts and securities were discussed. There was no evidence of any activities on his part to discharge his duties as director. He was apparently trying to reconcile himself to a very formal fulfilment of his obligations.

The falsity of the statement, his honor said, may now be taken for granted. It remains only to fix the responsibility of those who are accused.

The maximum penalty, it is stated in legal circles here, is three years on the third charge on which Smith has been found guilty. On the first two, on which he was acquitted, the maximum penalty is five years.

VETS ELECT OFFICERS

At the general meeting of the G.W.V.A. on Sunday afternoon last, the following officers were elected to carry on the work for the year 1925:

President—Geo. Bowen, re-elected.
1st Vice—Hugh Brown, re-elected.
2nd Vice—Fred Shears.
Executive Committee—E. Baddeley, J. Rigg, T. Haigh, R. Smith, J. Davidson, J. Manning.

A vote of thanks was accorded the retiring officers.

FOR LEVELLING UP ALL RATES

Vancouver, Nov. 10.—Hon. H. A. McKeown, chairman of the Dominion railway commission, addressing the board of trade at a dinner in his honor, expressed himself strongly against any possible discrimination in the matter of freight rates as between different sections of Canada. If such discrimination existed, he asserted, it must be removed even if the work entailed the sweeping away of the whole existing freight rate structure and its rebuilding. Mr. McKeown also proclaimed himself devoted to the principle of securing Canadian business for Canadian ports, Atlantic as well as Pacific, rather than for United States ports.

Grain is now going to world markets through United States ports, he said, and declared that he would search diligently for a solution to turn that grain through Pacific ports and through Atlantic ports of Canada.

"There are problems," said the chief commissioner, "perplexed and intricate, lying at the foundations of conditions in transportation which, if they cannot be solved, leave no other alternative than to sweep the whole structure away. Unless certain remedies can be suggested and applied it will be necessary that drastic action be taken.

"When the conditions are the same as between cities, towns, localities and industries, there is something un-Canadian in having a discrimination in favor of one place and against another. Where that idea is imbedded in the rate structure of Canada, with me at least, it is on the defensive and it will have to justify its existence or it will have to go." It was impossible, said Mr. McKeown as one went from one part of the country to another as he did, to fail to be struck with the irregularities of the regulations which seem to fetter the even and equal flow of trade from one section of the country to another. Commercial and transportation life in Canada, he said, has got to be adjusted so that there will be a profit for the man and woman living on the broad plains that lie between here and the east, so that they will be contented and prosperous.

Important financial information regarding the affairs of the province is contained in information given the legislature by the new finance minister, Hon. J. D. MacLean. The gross debt of B.C. on Nov. 1, was $76,738,000, and after deducting the sinking funds, the value of P. G. E. Ry. stock and revenue-producing debt, the net debt was found to be only $41,622,000. The government still has power, under existing loan bills, to borrow $5,174,000.

GOLD AS A WAR VICTIM

Many countries found it impossible in war times to redeem their notes in gold, but this was said to be merely a temporary irregularity due to the conflict. Meanwhile the United States got what some financial authorities call "a temporary surplus" of gold, and they give credit to American financial leaders for preventing it from causing a heavy fall in the purchasing power of the gold and a corresponding violent rise in the general price-level. In all probability, it is said, the present gold surplus will be leveled out in the course of a decade, and thereafter an increasing scarcity in the gold of the world will make itself felt. A distinguished European economic authority, Prof. Gustave Cassel, recalls that in war years we were not even allowed to be doubtful as to whether the notes of a country would regain gold parity when normal conditions again prevailed. Criticism by economists of this very superficial and reckless teaching received little recognition at first, he declares, and adds that no land would admit that its exchange had been subject to internal depreciation, and still less that this depreciation was to be regarded as definite. Meanwhile—

"The world became a witness to the usual play acting. A teaching resting on a sound scientific basis is declared to be theoretical speculation of no importance for the practical business world. But economic science received a powerful ally in the continued inflation which at last went beyond all bounds and depressed the value of certain currencies to a small fraction of what they formerly had been. With such results confronting them the authorities could no longer deny that an internal depreciation had taken place, nor that it was due to an excessive issue of money. When the principle was finally understood and recognized, it was no longer possible to avoid its application all along the line, and the idea began to penetrate that all the currencies had been subject to an internal depreciation in value which was due to, and in the main could be measured by, the excess of means of payment. But it was then also evident that the depreciated currencies were, in general, no longer gold currencies, that the old gold standard had been abandoned, and that in reality a paper currency was being used, the value of which was for each country determined by that country's greater or lesser reserve in regard to supplying itself with means of payment."

Only in the United States, we are told, was a successful effort made to reestablish an effective gold-note redemption soon after the war. The United States thus had a gold standard, it is pointed out, and the other countries had paper currencies which varied to a considerable extent in relation to the dollar. The greatest shortcoming noted by Prof. Cassel in this system was the uncertainty in the international rates of exchange. The problem of keeping a rate constant in relation to New York, and thereby a gold parity, he tells us, was highly dependent on the American monetary policy, and so the world at large became much interested in seeing the internal purchasing power of the dollar held as stable as possible. But, he goes on to say—

"The great deflation which took place in America after the price-level there had reached its maximum in the beginning of 1920, meant an enormous rise in the internal purchasing power of the dollar and thereby of the value of the gold. The efforts of the European countries to maintain a firm gold parity were also made increasingly difficult hereby. Some countries attempted to keep pace with the violent deflation in America in an endeavor to remain at the gold parity. Among these countries was Sweden. But Sweden also had to learn that such a deflation means a frightful economic crisis.

"Since this period a certain stability in exchange conditions has begun to appear, at least in countries which have economic conditions which are, on the whole, sound. It has been seen that by a judicious policy on the part of the central bank, it is possible to maintain the paper currency at a value which is almost firm in relation to gold, and it has also been seen that in this way the world can approach conjectures which at least create tolerable conditions for international trade.

Theoretically speaking, Prof. Cassel observes, it is not impossible that the present system can gradually be perfected so that the exchange rates between various countries will become approximately as stable as they were in the days of the international gold standard. Yet he reminds us that there exists an ingrown mistrust of the paper currency standard, and that public opinion in most countries has explicitly demanded a return to the gold standard, which alone is considered able to create real guaranties for the stability of money values and exchange rates. A continued stabilization of the present paper currency in relation to the dollar will also make a final transition to the gold standard much easier, and he proceeds:

"England is, of course, the decisive factor in the reestablishment of the gold standard. It must be remembered that England was the country which first created the gold standard, and the country from which this monetary system spread over the world. London continued to retain its place as the money center of the world, and the way in which the value of the pound is maintained will always be of substantial importance for the monetary system of the rest of the world. The gold standard could, of course, be most easily reestablished in the world if England would write down the pound's gold parity to a point answering to the present dollar rate. It seems certain, however, that this will not take place. England intends to reestablish the old gold parity, that is, the old dollar parity. This can be done by a sinking of the English price level to bring it on a plane with the American. But for this, England is, nevertheless, reluctant to enter upon such a policy of deflation, especially in consideration of the present critical unemployment conditions. She has waited for years, and is still waiting, to see the surplus of gold force the United States to a rising of the price-level so that it would instead be brought on a height with the English price-level and the pound thus attain dollar parity without England having to undergo deflation."

It is possible, Prof. Cassel believes, that this will happen, but he assures us that in one way or another the price-levels of England and America must be brought into the same plane if the gold standard is to be reestablished in England.

WANTS A CLEAN-UP

There was a time in the history of Trail when she enjoyed a reputation for being a good clean town. Those were the days when the law was enforced and gambling and bootlegging were frowned upon. But it seems we have fallen into evil ways. Gambling is more or less wide open in Trail, and booze is being sold in places other than the government liquor store. These are facts which cannot be denied. The law is being flagrantly violated. Of the two evils, gambling is the worst, yet the easiest controlled. The citizens of Trail are generally not prone to criticize, but a lot of criticism is being directed against the police commissioners and those responsible for the operation of just one born if indolence and not of studied indifference, as a prominent business man told the writer yesterday.—Trail News.

VIGILANCE COMMITTEES

The news that a Vigilance Committee is to be formed in a Western Ontario city to help in the enforcement of the O.T.A. will be received with mixed feelings. To many people the word "vigilance" will be associated with spying and shadowing, though its true meaning implies watchfulness in guarding against danger or providing for safety. An unofficial organization whose prime motive is to investigate the private lives and homes and offices of citizens in all probability would soon attract to itself the displeasure, if not anger, of most of the whole community. On the other hand, if the committee intends to try to teach respect for the law as represented by the O.T.A., and desires to see that any infringements are thoroughly and impartially prosecuted, it is likely to gain the respect and admiration of the public.

There is no question that thousands of sincere and thoughtful men and women in Ontario voted last Thursday against the O.T.A. because they felt it could not be enforced; that wholesale disrespect for a statute was being encouraged; that hypocrisy was being bred among many otherwise estimable people who winked at the O.T.A. when safe opportunities to take a drink were provided. Perhaps some of them feared that under the O.T.A. bootlegging might assume the status of a respectable profession in the eyes of a portion of the public. If it is demonstrated that the O.T.A. can be enforced and the bootlegger and moonshiner put in the class with thugs and burglars, then the prohibition cause in Ontario will never be in danger.

It has been stated that the almost forgotten temperance societies were largely responsible for giving the province its dry majority on Thursday. The lessons learned and principles taught at these societies were reflected at the ballot boxes. If the proposed Vigilance Committee can do in behalf of respect for law what former organizations did for temperance, the positions held last Thursday will be well solidified. There is boundless opportunity in Ontario for such work, and results can be accomplished if temperance effort is not confined to casting a ballot.—Toronto Globe

HOOKWORM REMEDY

The conquest of the hookworm is one of the most astonishing of medical romances, we are told by Daily Science News Bulletin. Among the many brilliant triumphs over disease, such as the subjugation of diabetes, wound infection, yellow fever, malaria, and so on, made by investigators usually with large staffs and expensive equipment, the discovery of the latest and most effective weapon against the parasite plague stands out with startling uniqueness for the cheapness and simplicity of the means employed, and the casual, almost accidental, manner of its finding. The discoverer, Dr. Maurice C. Hall, of the Bureau of Animal Industry, U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, stands among his fellow conquerors, says the Bulletin, "like David with his stone and sling among the great captain's of Saul's army with their swords and shining armor." We read:

"The old injunction to "try it on the dog first" was observed, though unintentionally, by Dr. Hall when he began his experiments. For he was concerned at first with discovering remedies for parasites of animal rather than for those of man, and dogs were the animals he chose to experiment with.

"He tried out all kinds of things on dogs afflicted with all kinds of worms. He found that chloroform was reasonably successful in ridding dogs of hookworm, and decided, on a sudden 'hunch' to try carbon tetrachlorid, a substance chemically similar to chloroform, long familiar under various trade names as a fire extinguisher and insecticide, and also as a remover of spots and stains from clothing. He found that three cubic centimeters—about a spoonful — of this liquid would clear out the most obstinate case of canine hookworm. He tried it on rabbits next, but it killed the rabbits when given to them in doses which had never proven to be markedly poisonous to dogs. Dogs usually tolerate even 70 to 80 times the curative dose without lasting harm.

"Finally, with some trepidation, he swallowed three cubic centimeters himself. No ill effects followed. A few other hardy volunteers tried it. It seemed to be no more poisonous to man than it was to dogs. So it was, with some modesty, suggested as a possibility in the treatment of hookworm disease in human beings.

"From the start, from the very earliest experiments in widely scattered tropical countries, the success of the new treatment was sensational. Missionaries and physicians in tropical countries, who were able to get barely enough for a dozen doses, reported that in the great majority of cases one dose was completely effective, killing every worm at once and clearing up the case.

"The International Health Board of the Rockefeller Foundation was quick to seize upon the new weapon for its warfare against disease both at home and abroad, and its shipments of carbon tetrachlorid and Epsom salts (the two always go together in the treatment) run into tons, and travel not only to the southern United States but to such distant lands as Brazil, Caylon, China and the Fiji Islands."

SMUGGLERS EVADE NEW LUXURY TAX

The Japanese government has found it necessary to build speed boats to prevent the smuggling of luxuries into Japan, thus evading the new luxury tax, which went into effect there last July, much in the same manner as the United States has had to build speed boats to prevent rum-running, according to Mr. Yeizo Matsuyama, one of Kobe's most prominent general merchants, en route to New York on his annual buying trip.

"This year," he said, "my buying will not be so heavy owing to the new luxury tax."

In explaining the new luxury tariff Mr. Matsuyama said all vegetables, fruit and nuts preserved with sugar, molasses, syrup or honey are subject to the new rate, while citrons and lemons only come under the old rate temporarily. "The canned fruits and vegetables hit the United States particularly hard, while raisins, which are also imported from California, will be affected very much."

Unsugared cocoa, both in beans and powder, as well as other forms not sugared, are included under the new rate. This obstacle is easily overcome, Mr. Matsuyama pointed out, by manufacturing cocoa with the granulated sugar showing in it, much the same as is used by sailors aboard ship. In this manner cocoa is now being imported without having the luxury tax imposed. Honey, although not used to any great extent in Japan, has also fallen under the luxury tax hammer.

All confectioneries are not regarded as luxuries. Most of those that come from Europe and America, however, are decidedly luxurious, at least their receptacles. Jams, fruit jellies and other such sweetmeats are subject to the new rate.

Another commodity which affects the foreign section of Japan badly is cheese, which also comes under the luxury tax. Soft drinks and other beverages not containing alcohol are also likewise affected, so that there are very few luxuries, even to furs, that the foreign element is not made to pay for.

In all the world no food like Fry's for growing children

They're brighter at school,
They're stronger at play—
Red cheeked and happy
When fed the Fry way.

What a wonderful difference it makes in the home, when the children are brimming over with health and vigour! Yet, as any doctor will tell you, health is so largely a matter of feeding.

FRY'S Cocoa contains nourishment in rich concentrated form, for every department of the human body—for muscle, tissue, flesh, nerve, brain and bone. It furnishes in rich abundance, energy for work and play—and materials to build the body with. And all this in such delicious form that every child takes FRY'S eagerly.

Be sure you get FRY'S—made in Canada and famous the world over for purity and quality. Cheap, unknown cocoas haven't its purity and richness.

PROTECTION AND PREFERENCE

It is not going too far to say that we do not know of any protectionist in Canada who wants reduced tariffs against British goods, although protectionists are numerous enough here who want some of the existing preferences withdrawn and higher duties levied. The interests in Canada which sell to Britain might be predisposed in favor of reduced tariffs on British goods coming in here, but all the intersts which produce for the Canadian market would be against it and more actively influential in Canadian politics than any other interest. It is sheer dishonesty for Canadian protectionists to profess sympathy with proposed mutual preferences when there isn't a dime's worth of tariff advantages which they are willing to forego.—Toronto Star.

Mr. Leonard invented this drum to relieve himself of deafness and head noises, and it does it so successfully that no one can tell he is a deaf man. It is effective when deafness is caused by catarrh or by wholly destroyed natural drums. A request for information to A. O. EDITORIAL ECHOES

FIGURE as you will, you cannot get away from the idea of community interest. We who constitute the local community are intensely dependent on one another. When we buy our merchandise from out-of-town concerns, we take that much business away from local business firms. If enough business is withdrawn from them, they'll eventually have to quit. Then our town would shrivel up. Clerks and laborers and tradesmen would have to move away. That would directly affect the value of our homes. Then, who would pay the taxes that support our public institutions, build and maintain our streets and roads and pay the interest on public indebtedness already incurred? Our self-interest, the safety of our property investments demand that we trade at home and support our local business man. If anyone thinks he can refute this argument, we will give a year's subscription for a logical argument in favor of trading with mail order houses.

FOR your own sake—go to church. It pays.

I am the best friend you ever had.

I am hung about with sweet memories—memories of brides, memories of mothers, memories of boys and girls, memories of the aged as they grope their way down the shadows.

I am decked with loving tears—crowned by happy hands and hearts. In the midst of the great men of earth I find a constant dwelling place.

I safeguard man through all his paths.

I lift up the fallen. I strengthen the weak. I help the distressed. I show mercy, bestow kindness and offer a friendly hand.

I am good fellowship, friendliness and love.

Some time, some day, some hour in the near or far future, you will yearn for the friendly touch.

I am your comfort and your best friend.

I am calling you now!

I am the Church.

THE United States pays its crooks three billion dollars a year. Of these vast wages to dishonesty two-thirds is paid by the public voluntarily for worthless, "get-rich-quick" schemes. The remaining one billion is taken forcibly from the public by embezzlers, bandits and thieves and through credit frauds.

Statistics on the losses through credit frauds afford a tribute to the honesty of the borrowing public in the United States, the greatest credit nation in the world. The losses where borrowers fraudulently fail to repay thir loans approximate only $400,000,000. America's credit business extends into the billions annually. The relatively low credit loss-age accounts for the credit basis for the nation's business.

Premier Oliver has asked the legislature to endorse a resolution providing for a bill to give the government power to dispose of the P.G.E. railway if an advantageous offer is received. The bill will, if passed—and it seems certain to—provide that a land grant may be made. There is every likelihood that following the Federal railway conference early in the year, B.C. will be relieved of this railway burden.

When one looks at the prosperity of such towns as Trail, Kimberley, Wallace, Kellogg, etc., where wages are comparatively reasonable, that is from $4 to $6 a day, and where work is steady, and compare them with some of our coal towns, where wages are from $7 to $10 a day, and work is very occasional, we are led to believe that the high wage stuff is more or less of a snare and a delusion.

Three hoboes went into Joe Sing's restaurant on Wednesday night and ordered a meal and while the Chink was out rustling the meat they helped themselves to the cigarettes and cigars in the show case and made their escape. The matter was reported to the city police and the three culprits were rounded up in the basement of the Queens hotel, where they were hiding. Next morning they were sentenced to thirty days each in the city pen.

The committee in charge desire to thank the merchants who kindly contributed, the Carousas in embyro and all who assisted in any way in making an enjoyable evening.

It is now quite evident that while the officials were holding the men of District 18 on strike, the American producers were very busy using Western Canada as a dumping ground for their excess product. Obviously the demand for coal after a long strike would have been extraordinary, but this time the market seems glutted and nearly all the camps are on short time. The men were just held out long enough to ruin their prospects for steady work this winter. We wonder if it just happened that way?

Some folks with ambitions to purify politics could make a fine start by getting out of politics.—National Newspaper Service.

CAUSES OF MALNUTRITION

Except in rare cases, malnutrition is not inherited. Short stature may be inherited, but a badly nourished condition is not inherited. What is often the cause is that the expectant mother did not eat the correct food before he baby was born or while nursing the baby. The Provincial Board of Health, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., will, on request, send in a plain envelope a letter of instruction every month to any expectant mother who sends her name and address to the Provincial Board of Health. The instruction is free and is not instead of calling a doctor.

Wrong feeding during infancy is another cause of malnutrition. Some mothers wish for a silent, fat, white looking baby such as often take prizes after being fed on canned milk. Most canned milk babies, in later years, show signs of rickets, such as box brow, bow legs, pigeon breast, crooked back and irregular or overcrowded teeth. I often see children with one or more of the above signs, either well marked or only slightly, and on inquiring find that the child was fed on canned milk, or got a prize when a baby for being very fat.

As I said before, a man who keeps horses is very particular what the mare eats before getting a colt. Also most people know that cows give better milk when fed on fresh green grass. So from the very first a child should be fed on a properly mixed diet, either through its mother's milk or by artificial formula written by an expert. If a child has poor teeth through not taking in infancy the calciums, etc., to make teeth, it naturally follows that in later years through having bad teeth, he will not assimilate his food, even if that food is the correct food; and that he will probably become a case of malnutrition, with the terrors of tuberculosis, deformity and apparent feeblemindedness.

The cause of underweight may be due to some disease of the blood, heart, lungs or kidneys. Such cases should be under the constant supervision of a qualified physician, in order that every chance is taken to effect a cure.

Next week I will discuss some more causes not mentioned here and more of a "home" kind. At the Well Baby Clinic and at the Central School every Friday afternoon, mothers can procure free books about the feeding of children to prevent malnutrition.—School Nurse.

F. C. WADE HAD HONORABLE CAREER

Vancouver, Nov. 9.—By the death of Frederick Coate Wade, K.C., in London today, B.C. loses an able and faithful servant, who since 1918 has occupied the post of agent-general in the Empire's capital. His long and varied career at the bar, his newspaper experience, which he began in 1882 as one of the editorial writers of the Toronto Globe, and closed as president of the Vancouver Sun shortly before his appointment in London, added lustre to the office he adorned.

Mr. Wade, who came of Yorkshire stock, was in his 65th year. Born at Bowmanville, Ont., he spent his youth in Ottawa, where his father was manager of the Bank of Ontario. While a student at Toronto university he edited its journal, the Varsity. He served for the following two years on the Globe's editorial staff, studying law at the same time.

He was called to the bar in Winnipeg in 1886. In the following year he acted for the United States department of justice in the investigation of the claims of Jean Louis Legare for the surrender of the Sioux chief, Sitting Bull, to the United States authorities after the Custor massacre.

Until 1897 he continued the practice of law in Winnipeg and in that year was appointed by the Dominion cabinet to inquire into the management of the Manitoba penitentiary. As a result of his report, there was a considerable improvement in conditions.

In 1897 he was sent to the Yukon by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to represent the minister of justice, and as legal advisor to the Yukon council. The journey then entailed a mid-winter walk of 600 miles over the mountain passes and the frozen Yukon rivers to Dawson, an experience repeated in 1900.

During his four years' stay in the Yukon, with the assistance of the mounted police, speedy and effective justice was administered.

In 1901 he commenced the practice of law in Vancouver, and two years later was one of the British Columbia counsel who assisted in the preparation of the Canadian case in connection with the Alaskan boundary commission.

COAL OPERATOR DENIES COMBINE AT DRUMHELLER

William S. Henderson, coal mine operator of Drumheller and Wayne, in the course of an interview with the Calgary Herald on Tuesday, stated very emphatically that, so far as Drumheller operators were concerned, there certainly was no combine between them and dealers at Winnipeg. Mr. Hendeson said that he welcomed the investigation that was being made into the matter.

With regard to the charge that had been made that the alleged combine had been responsible for an increase of $2 a ton in the price of coal, Mr. Henderson said that as a matter of fact coal that last year was selling for $12.50 to $13 a ton was now selling at $11 to $11.50 a ton.

Jesse Gouge, another large Drumheller operator, who was also in the city on Saturday, stated he knew nothing of any alleged combine at Winnipeg.

Wilson, Manager of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., offered his employees a five year contract at fair wages, with every prospect of steady work, he was laughed and howled at in derision by Sherman and his band of faithful followers. Today, with little or no work in sight, the men are beginning to realize that he was not handing them a line of hot air. No one in this country is more interested in the welfare of his people than Mr. Wilson, but when men refuse to listen to reason and common sense, they must pay the penalty. There is a limit to the price that industry will pay for coal.

That the true Christian spirit permeates the activities of the local branch of the G.W.V.A. was fully exemplified during the week end, when the members took full charge of the remains of the late James R. Fisher, who was killed as the result of a car accident at Elko. Nothing was known about the deceased beyond the fact that he was a returned man, as no trace could be found of any relatives. The Vets took command and fifty of the members conveyed the remains to the Soldiers' Plot in St. Margaret's cemetery. President Geo. Bowen delivered the last charge due all Veterans and Rev. H. U. Oswald performed the Anglican church rites.

G. F. Johnson motored to Vancouver on Wednesday. He expects to be back about the first of the year.

Born—At Fernie, on Wednesday, 12, to Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Owen, a son.

The Executive Committee of Mt. Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. will be "At Home" to all members of the Chapter on Friday, Nov. 21, at 8 p.m., in the I.O.O.F. Hall.

Hon. E. D. Barrow, minister of agriculture, reports that agricultural production in B.C. in 1923 amounted to approximately $60,000,000, a gain of seven per cent, despite the lower value of farm products.

Following out the custom established at the inception of the G.W.V.A., the Veterans annual Christmas tree and distribution of Christmas cheer to Veterans' widows will be dispensed on Dec. 24.

Mrs. Scott and Miss Scott, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Watson, left on Thursday for Vancouver, where they will visit for a time before returning to their home in the east.

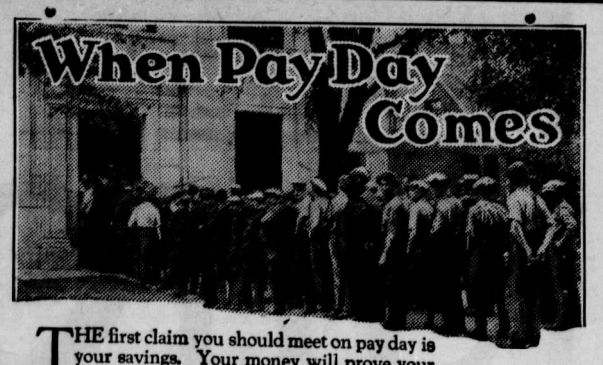
Our honorable Tom has burst into Latin in the Provincial House. We thought the power of tongues only extended to the apostles, but evidently the disciples of Labor also are among the elect.

Mayor Henderson and Mrs. Henderson left on Saturday evening for the east, where they will spend a few weeks. Mr. Henderson will attend a meeting of the representatives of the Home Bank depositors in Toronto on the 20th of this month.

The thermometer dropped to 7.05 below zero on Wednesday morning, which is going some for this season of the year. The committee rustling members for the Curling Club are meeting with encouragement. The prospects are bright for a long curling season. The District Bonspiel will be held here this winter.

Dr. Clarence MacKinnon, of Halifax, distinguished in the college life and church circles of Eastern Canada, and who is now Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, is to visit Fernie on Monday, 17th inst. He is expected to address the Rotary Club at their regular luncheon and is to give an address at the supper in the United Church at 6.30 p.m.

A quiet wedding took place at a registrar's office in New York on Nov. 6, when Eddie Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith, of Coal Creek, was united in marriage to Miss Rose Muriel Wittmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sigmund Wittmann, of 1037 North Ave., Elizabeth, N.J. He was supported by his brother, F. W. Smith, formerly of Coal Creek, but now with the Westinghouse people at Trenton, N.J. The young couple will reside at 678 Nicholas Avenue, New York.



John Todhunter, for 25 years a resident of East Kootenay, and for nearly that length of time coke oven boss for the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., dropped dead at Michel on Tuesday of this week. The family originally lived at Fernie but for the past few years have resided at Elko, where the body was taken for interment. His wife died at Cranbrook about a year ago. He is survived by several sons and daughters, who have the sympathy of all the old-timers of the district in their bereavement.

The patrons of the Vets Armistice Dance, held in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Tuesday night, are loud in their praises of the excellent and efficient arrangements of the dance committee. The room was tastefully decorated, poppies being very prominent. Paper caps and fans for the ladies lent a touch of novelty to the event. The music was supplied by Commons orchestra. The refreshments were of the usual high standard, the large attendance testifying to the good times the patrons of the Vets dances are always assured of.

In order to assist all municipalities and districts of the province in coping with highway difficulties, Hon. W. H. Sutherland, minister of public works, has had prepared and sent out a digest of regulations tending towards uniformity in the operation of trucks and other motor vehicles. The size, weight and capacity of the vehicles, together with other details governing the regulations, will be fully set out. The minister states that the municipalities may either reject or endorse the regulations, but indications are that widespread approval will be given them.

B.C. LEAD AND ZINC

British Columbia is rapidly assuming a dominant position in the world's distributing centres as a producer of zinc and lead, Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, told delegates to the annual meeting of the British Columbia Mining Association here last night.

"British Columbia's zinc output has jumped from 49,000,000 pounds in 1921 to 58,000,000 pounds in 1923, and the first half of the year witnessed the production of 29,500,000 pounds in this province," said Mr. Sloan. "We may expect a zinc output this year close to 60,000,000 pounds.

"When we look at our lead production our progreess is even more remarkable," said he. "The output of the province has risen from 41,000,000 in 1921 to 96,000,000 pounds in 1923. During the first half of the year Canada's production of lead was 79,000,000 pounds, of which British Columbia produced 75,000,000 pounds. If the same pace is maintained throughout the year our production will be 150,000,000 pounds.

Mr. Sloan stated that the province was competing favorably in the world's markets so far as lead and zinc were concerned. He expected that copper production would be about the same in B.C. as last year, or about 60,000,000 pounds, and he believed that this product would benefit from the stabilization of the metal markets as a result of the Coolidge victory in the U.S.

He noted with satisfaction a decline in fuel oil production throughout the world, which should help the coal mines.

NUDE LADIES AT $2.50 APIECE

Several Parisian show girls who took off their three and a half pounds of clothes and posed in the nude to advertise a movie film, have been fined $2.50 apiece by a Paris court.

The charge against them was "shocking public morals."

The feminine form's ability to "shock public morals" is probably very much exaggerated.

Of course, the average man has very little opportunity to judge. But what little knowledge of the "female form divine" an observing male can pick up, nonchalantly, around bathing beaches, would almost lead him to believe that these girls had been overcharged.

The artistic beauty of the nude is a myth. It may have existed thousands of years ago. But today one of the main reasons people wear clothes is to make themselves, artificially, more beautiful than they are naturally. If the average naked form really were beautiful, nothing short of the Devil himself could prevent nude parades, male and female, on the fashion boulevards.

If that is not true, why did women jump so enthusiastically at long skirts when they "came in" again a season or so ago?

It was just God that gave humanity bodies. But it was a merciful God that gave humanity clothes.—Vancouver Sun.

Edible snails are now arriving in England from France. Some people only eat them during months with a "z" in them.—Punch.

An ideal anaesthetic has been discovered by the Germans. It is said to make other people forget the war. —Philadelphia American.

CHLORINATING A COLD

How the whole city of Rochester is periodically dosed with iodin through its water system, to prevent goitre, has been told recently in these columns. The similar possibility of disseminating chlorin gas throughout the air of theatres, assemly halls and churches to cure colds, influenza, diphtheria, etc., when there is an epidemic, is noted by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Health Commissioner of Chicago, in the Weekly Bulletin of his department. A great deal of publicity has been given recently to this use of chlorin gas mixed with air in the treatment of respiratory diseases. It was reported to have been used successfully on President and Mrs. Coolidge, the Secretary of War, Senators, Congressmen and thousands of other citizens; while Boards of Health, Directors of Hospitals, and the medical fraternity in general are displaying interest in the possibility of adopting it at clinics, hospitals and the private offices of physicians. We read:

"To Drs. Edward B. Vedder and Harold P. Sawyer of the Medical Corps of the United States Army is credited the method evolved for easy, safe use of chlodin as a medicament in colds and other respiratory diseases where the disease producing germs are located on the lining membranes of the air passages. They state that chlorin has been used on several occasions to prevent certain infections, and that in 1915 inhalation of chlorin was used successfully to clear up diphtheria carriers. They also point out that during the recent influenza epidemic, chlorin was used and it is believed that students who took these treatments suffered less from 'flu' than others. It is also stated that employees in plants producing or using chlorin have believed themselves to be relatively free from respiratory diseases.

"The first convincing application of this remedial agency was made in the summer of 1922 in Camp Perry, where, at that time, there was an encampment of the Brigade of the National Guards. An epidemic of severe colds struck the camp with many cases of acute bronchitis. The medical officers of the brigade fixed up a gas chamber and in it sprayed some chlorin gas-air mixture. Fifty persons at a time were treated in the room. All that was necessary was that they should breathe. Inside of 24 hours it was reported that their colds were cleared up.

"Drs. Vedder and Sawyer in their further experiments devised a treating chamber, and in the publication of their results, they give the effects of the treatment of 931 cases. Of this number, they report that 71.4 were cured and 23.4 greatly improved.

"Most of these cases received a single treatment of one hour, a few received a second or even a third treatment on succeeding days. The diagnosis of cases treated included coryza, acute laryngitis, and pharngitis, acute bronchitis, chronic rhinitis, chronic bronchitis, chronic laryngitis, whooping-cough and influenza.

"Several methods have been devised for the administration of chlorin gas. Several types of apparatus are on the market for this purpose. The first is that devised for the purpose of treating an entire room and putting into this room a measured amount of chlorin, such that when distributed through the room, the concentration of the chlorin will be within the limits required for the treatment. The second type of apparatus is designed for direct administration to the patient by means of inhaler tubes.

"It would appear that much of the success in administering the chlorin gas treatment depends upon the manner in which it is given. In treatment in chambers, it is necessary to secure first of all an even distribution throughout the room, and secondly, the maintenance of a concentration within the therapeutic limit. In chamber treatments, provision must be made for the exit of foul air. The air must be agitated to maintain thorough mixture and circulation so that all parts of the chamber may have the same concentration. Again gas must be constantly added to the chamber so as to replace that which is breathed in by the occupants and absorbed by the clothing, skin and hair of the occupants and by the drapes, furniture and walls of the room.

"In chamber treatments the desirable capacity of the room is between 1000 and 5000 cubic feet. The maximum size room should be suitable for the treatment of thirty to forty patients at a time. The chamber treatment as outlined above is, of course, most desirable and practicable where a large number of patients are to be treated at one time, such as institutions, clinics, hospitals, etc."

SEGREGATE THE UNFIT

Some 488 men and women employed in Vancouver, between April 20 and October 15 of this year, as cooks, waiters, stewards, barbers, domestic and store clerks are registered on the books of the government clinic as suffering from venereal disease.

This is the official figure, representing those who have applied to the free clinic for treatment. The actual figure may be twice or even ten times 488.

It is not reasonable to suppose that cooks, waiters, barbers, etc., are any more susceptible to social diseases than any other class. The figures for these classifications are quoted entirely because these classes are the ones that come most closely in touch with the public and thus have greater opportunity to spread the infection.

But, if out of the comparatively small number of cooks, waiters, barbers and store clerks in Vancouver, 488 confessed cases are found, the chances are that out of the whole population of 250,000 people in Greater Vancouver there are at least 10,000 active cases of social disease spreading blight, misery, heartbreak and death as fast as they can be spread.

The problem of venereal disease has been philosophically discussed and played with long enough.

Venereal disease victims are unfit. They are a menace to society and to public health. Physiologically and eugenically they are unworthy to reproduce themselves.

The law of this country should, and must be, made to provide means of segregating them, along with other biologically inferior persons, and keeping them segregated where they cannot pollute the stream of civilization.—Vancouver Sun.

Another good way to eliminate unnecessary noises would be to eliminate the pronoun "I."—Baltimore Sun.

THE INDUSTRIAL WIZARD OF THE CENTURY

Editor Free Press, Fernie, B.C.:

Sir—If it is true that a man's real value is measured by the services rendered to humanity, who can displace Henry Ford in the industrial world? He has entered into the coal business and in view of the fact that our coal industry in B.C. is at a low ebb, something of value may be gained by a study of Mr. Ford's modus-operanda. Being in need of coal to produce the coke necessary to feed his blast furnaces, he purchased 160,000 acres of coal lands in Kentucky. Electric energy developed from water power is the great rival of coal at the present day, but Mr. Ford points out that when this has to be fortified by auxiliary steam plants it becomes very expensive. He declares it to be a waste and a shame to burn a pound of coal for the sole purpose of generating power, therefore he distills the coal in by-product ovens, receiving in return gas, tar, ammonia sulphate, creosote, oils and sufficent coke to feed his furnaces, with a surplus which he sells to his employees for fuel, thus securing for nothing the heat units formerly derived from the coal under the old system of consumption.

Mr. Ford asserts that it costs little to produce the coal at the mines, changing the high cost to the consumer to transportation. High tension methods make it possible to transport power at low cost, and this is the basis of his operations in Kentucky. He asserts that there is no need of dirty mining towns because the dirt is valuable and men cannot be expected to do their best except under clean living conditions.

The worker will remember that it was Mr. Ford who instituted $6.00 as the minimum wage in his shops on Jan. 1, 1919, and ex-service men should know that he has outstripped every allied government in the matter of re-establishment and this without one dollar of cost to the taxpayer.

The man on the street can see the tremendous waste under present methods of operating and it behooves our operators to attempt the recovery of these by-products, thereby increasing the wages of the employees and the returns on the capital invested.

It is interesting to note that he contemplates asking the interstate commerce commission to permit him to reduce transportation rates on his railway to the end that consumers of domestic coal may have cheaper fuel. This is some contrast to our position in Canada, where the people are fighting to secure what he is asking the government to permit him to give the public. H. T.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Rev. H. U. Oswald held divine service up here on Sunday last.

The Christmaslike weather prevailing has been responsible for sleighs and toboggans being brought forth from the storeroom, cycles and cars being stored up for the winter.

The skating and hockey committee have been very busy during the week, with the result that the rink is in A1 condition. The first practice match took place on Thursday and arrangements are being made for a match on Sunday.

George Monks and family have sold out and gone to California.

Mrs. Fyles and family have arrived back in camp after a few months spent on the homestead in Alberta.

Jack Lees returned to camp on Thursday after a visit to England. Jack says it seems he has jumped from the frying pan into the fire, conditions being bad in the old country and just as bad here.

Visions of prosperity in this camp have been completely annihilated by the bombshell dropped in the camp yesterday, when the Company posted the notice closing the mines indefinitely. Conditions are such that the means of getting out are lacking in most families.

Several of our local nimrods have gone out during the week to try and secure the Sunday roast.

All local G.W.V.A. members are notified that the Vets annual Christmas tree and distribution of widows Christmas cheer will take place on Dec. 24. Watch for particulars.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Hall and family arrived in camp today from South Wellington, having sold out their belongings in that camp with a view to making this camp their future home.

This camp added its quota of vocalists to the program at the G. W. V. A. smoker in Fernie.

The Coal Co. kindly placed a special train at the convenience of the residents on Armistice morning.

No. 3 mine worked on Wednesday, the rest of the mines being idle.

TURNING FROM COAL TO OIL

(Toronto Saturday Night)

A London journal, "Country Life," discussing a threatened coal strike involving some ten thousand miners, who think they are not paid sufficiently well, goes on to review briefly the general manufacturing situation in Great Britain. British manufacturers, it says, are in a fix. Steel products can be brought into that country and sold for less than the British cost of production. And that of itself should serve as a warning to all engaged in mining.

However, there is still another reason why coal production has slumped, and it applies to this continent as well as to the British Isles. Oil is ousting coal as a fuel, and will no doubt continue to do so more and more just so long as it is obtainable in quantities sufficient to meet the demands. The transforming of coal-burning steamships into oil-burners is now an every day practice, while war vessels of all up to date navies are burning oil. Add to this the amount now utilized in industries generally where coal was formerly consumed, and the grand total would reach a staggering figure, all of which means less work for the miners.

The practice of burning fuel oil in residences, office buildings and the like in our cities has become very general, it being cleaner, handier and more efficient. And this practice will no doubt continue to spread until such time as oil becomes too expensive to utilize in this manner.

Taking it all in all the general outlook for the coal trade is none too bright.

CARTER SMASHES RECORD IN "ARIZONA EXPRESS"

Probably there are few situations known to drama more thrilling than that in which an innocent person allows himself to be convicted of murder to save another. David Butler in "The Arizona Express" at the Orpheum next Wednesday and Thursday, does it even more dramatically than usual—probably because Lincoln J. Carter, that famous king of melodrama, wrote the play.

David is deeply in love with a dancer who is using him to get information about his uncle's bank in which he works. The uncle suspects the girl, follows her to her apartment and finds her drawing the plan of the bank for Johnson, her lover, who is at the head of a gang of thugs. He tries to get the drawings away from the girl and Johnson shoots him. Just then a knock is heard at the door and the girl pulls her hair over her face, rips open her waiste and tells David, who enters, that his uncle had assaulted her and she shot him. When the house detectives enter a minute later, David tells them that he did the shooting to protect the girl. It is a thrilling moment, and it is only a beginning. The whole picture is redolent with such tense situations.

There are the many adventures Katherine Keith, David's sister, has when she sets out to retrieve an incriminating letter written by the dancer which would prove her brother's innocence. There is a breath-taking moment when she crawls along a narrow ledge high up on a building and enters the window of Johnson's hotel room. Then, after getting the letter there is the wild chase in a taxi through crowded streets, when Johnson discovers its loss and pursues her.

Later is a train wreck in which a long line of cars and a locomotive plunge over a trestle and into a river, and a fight in the water when a mail clerk keeps the precious letter safe. The chase ends only after the clerk and Katherine have commondered a locomotive, narrowly escaped crashing into a train coming from the opposite direction and finally reach the Governor's house with the letter in time to secure David's pardon.

Excellent work by the entire cast lends thrilling realism to the picture which Mr. Carter has evolved from his fiction factory.

WHO IS THE GOAT OF GOAT HILL?

To get work, a group of union miners bought Goat Hill Mine in Ohio. To get out of the soup line, a second group of union miners accepted jobs therein. To get efficiency, the first group fired the second. To get even, the second had the first fired out of the union for disloyalty. Naturally, this shut down Goat Hill Mine. Both groups were jobless again. And now to get correct answers to the great cross-word puzzle: "Who in Sam Hill is the blankety-blank goat of Goat Hill?" We offer two tons of strictly fresh gob, a new pair of johns, six slightly used sticks of dynamite, and other valuable prizes. — Coal Age, Nov. 6, 1924.

INDUSTRIAL SITUATION

Editor Fernie Free Press:

On the street, in store, office and home there is only one subject to talk about these days. The industrial collapse has so vitally affected all phases of our complex life that nobody can forget it for any length of time. The recent telegram sent by union officials to Victoria calling for government assistance brings the whole question within the range of public discussion. Men are constantly asking two questions: 1. Why are we in this present dilemma when there is a fair measure of prosperity in other parts of the province? 2. Is there a way out?

In answer to the first the fact is certain that the U.M.W.A. is directly responsible. A workers' union is necessary, but it must be properly directed and democratically controlled. The U.M.W.A. has been found wanting so far as Fernie is concerned. This union is controlled from another country. The U.S. problem differs from ours and locally the worst possible condition prevails. Gradually through the lack of watchfulness on the part of the average miner, there has grown up a "machine" which is now in complete control. This "Tammany" outfit is made up of conscienceless parasites, who are morally bankrupt and devoid of altruism. A more autocratic form of government could not be devised than that which we have seen in operation in an organization which is supposed to be democratic. The majority of the miners are sane, quiet, law-abiding men. Our operators are sympathetic to labor and wish to pay the highest wage which the industry can stand. Between these two bodies, both of which are reasonable, stands this unreasonable, unscrupulous group of union officials — "the machine." Hence the present collapse.

False Remedial Proposals—

Many proposals are being made. 1. There are those who think that the government should render substantial assistance. Why should the government of this province extract taxes from men, many of whom receive less wages than our men refuse, and use that to prolong the period of idleness?

2. Others say that the funds of the city should be generously given for relief. In a city the size of Fernie, already financially embarrrassed through the Home Bank failure, such a suggestion does not even approach the bounds of reason. So far as relief is concerned the one body directly responsible, viz., the U. M. W.A. will surely provide for the victims of its policy, or retire from its domineering control.

There are those who suggest that a citizens' committee be formed. What possible service could such a committee render?

The Only Solution—

High wages are good when the industry can afford to pay them, but we must face the fact that in this small corner of this great province we cannot expect that wages are to remain from 25 to 50 per cent higher than in any other part of the province. There must be some just harmony in wages, not only in the same industry operating in different parts, but also between the various industries.

Accepting this fact, let the miners approach the Coal Co. and see if a reasonable solution cannot be arrived at. No doubt our coal can be sold at the right price. Having agreed upon a scale of wages, the next important step is to break away from the autocratic rule of Sherman, Hunter, Dickenson, Whitehouse, et al., and form a new union. This new union, if properly directed, should soon be a stronger force than the old. The real strength of a union lies in the assistance it can render in time of need. How much has the U. M.W.A. rendered during the past eight months?

If the men are willing to do this, the company should then enter into a close spirit of co-operation, which was utterly impossible under the present union regime.

It is along these lines that prosperity must come. It will take courage. Are the men willing to pay the price of industrial liberty? or will they continue to have their cause jeapordized by following blind leaders? The future will decide.

Citizen.

MURDOCK CANNOT RELIEVE THE MINERS

Victoria, Nov. 17. — Dissatisfied with the attitude of the federal government on B.C.'s unemployment problem, Premier Oliver made a second attempt today to secure assistance from Ottawa, in providing relief for 750 miners thrown out of work by the closing of the Coal Creek coal mines in the Crow's Nest pass.

In a telegram to the Premier, Jas. Murdock, federal minister of labor, indicates that his department could accept no responsibility for unemployment relief.

Mr. Oliver is not accepting this statement as final, however, and in a second wire to the federal minister asks for a clear-cut statement of policy.

HARRY DUNLAP PASSES OVER

Harry Dunlap, one of the first miners to land in Fernie, in March, 1898, died in the Fernie Hospital on Monday night after an operation.

The passing of Harry Dunlap removes a landmark and pioneer in this town, one whom every citizen loved and respected. He was a real man, with a kind and loving disposition, which endeared him to all with whom he came in contact, and the sympathy of all goes out to his beloved wife and family at this time.

Death was due to an operation to re-set a broken leg which he had received while following his employment in No. 1 East mine at Coal Creek, and which had not set properly. Deceased had been a continuous resident of this district for some 27 years, coming here from Nova Scotia. He was a fireboss of long experience and a trusted employee of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Wm. Broley, of North Battleford, Sask.; and five sons, Wm. and Neil, of Kellogg, Idaho; Frank, of Spokane; Roderick, of Chicago; and Archie, of Fernie.

The funeral will leave the Undertaking Parlors on Sunday at 1.45 p.m., and will proceed to the United Church, where service will be held.

MINERS ASK INVESTIGATION

(Calgary Albertan)

The mine workers are asking the federal government and provincial government to investigate the close down in the Fernie mines and probe conditions in that field, which are very serious. The district executive board of District 18 took such decision at a meeting held yesterday. President Sherman informed the Albertan that conditions in that district were deplorable and causing very great alarm.

The mines are all closed down in Fernie indefinitely, stated Mr. Sherman, and there is absolutely no work available for the miners in that region. There are about 750 men idle and it is expected that they will be idle all winter. There are no prospects of any work in sight for these miners.

The situation at Brule, said Mr. Sherman, is somewhat similar to that of Fernie and the board member, Mr. Thirwell, has been delegated to take the situation in Brule up with the provincial government.

Mr. Sherman stated that all the steam coal mines are working very poorly, and the mines at Nordegg, Mountain Park, Cadomin and Luscar have practically remained closed since the strike ended. With the exception of a few men who are doing development work, there are practically no men working in these fields. Conditions in the entire steam coal fields are extremely bad owing to the fact that the miners are not working due to no demand being made for steam coal.

The lignite mines are all working to full capacity, the mines at Drumheller being busy, but the steam coal mines are doing nothing, stated Mr. Sherman.

But, surely, urged Jones, seeing is believing.

Not necessarily, replied Brown. For instance, I see you every day.

ENTITLED TO EXPLANATION

Editor Fernie Free Press:

Dear Sir—In the letter that you so courteously published in the last number of the Free Press, the immediate responsibility for the very serious situation confronting Fernie was laid at the door of the last miners' strike, it being the straw that broke the camel's back, the ultimate link in a long chain of similar occurrences, each of which carried off a morsel of the prosperity that should be ours. Has anyone forgotten the insane attempts to disrupt the industrial organization of this district during the war years, or the nonsensical "red strike" of 1919? It was then that Braunstein-Trotsky and Qulianoff, alias Lenine, were held up to the veneration of the masses as sainted prophets, by a few disturbers of the peace who, when brought to realize the fact that all their expectations were mere pipe dreams, promptly doffed the red cloak and resumed their nefarious activities under different colors.

That, throughout the many months of idleness to which the miners of this district have been condemned during the last five years, their conduct gave no cause of complaint, shows them to be a remarkably reasonable and law-abiding body of men. How a few resounding, but hollow phrases, may suffice to draw them into a course of action ruinous to themselves, can well surprise anyone unfamiliar with the one-sided psychologic development resulting from the absorption of fallacious doctrines, such as those preached assiduously by the disciples of Karl Marx during the last 20 years or more.

For many years, those exposed to the insidious approaches of revolutionary propagandists have been constantly reminded of their real, or fancied, rights, but allowed to forget that to every right are attached corresponding duties. We have duties to perform towards our families, towards the city in which we live, towards our province, towards our country, and cannot afford to overlook any of them, if we expect our rights to be considered. A respectable and sensible working man, fed on various theories so glibly expounded by the apostles of bolshevism, listens enraptured to some worn out platitudes for a couple of hours, then decides to let his wife do all the worrying about the children's bread and shoes, and sacrifices enthusiastically family, city, province and country, on the altar of the revolution. A striking feature of this state of affairs is that the leaders of those movements never seem to share the misery that they bring down upon their followers. Sometimes they find a seat in the legislature like P. M. Christopher, or work their way into a good, fat, juicy presidency, like our own Bill Sherman; or again they fall heir to a slice of the I.W.W.'s campaign funds, which may simply prove that they are endowed with a highly practical turn of mind, that merely fails to manifest its presence when they are handling matters pertaining to the welfare of others.

Some two or three years ago we were asked to contribute to the relief of "Starving Soviet Russia." Many a charitable soul donated his or her mite, wondering the while if Russia would be starving if she were not "Soviet." We may be perilously near starvation, but we have been spared the soviet, for which great mercy may the Lord make us duly thankful.

As far as Fernie is concerned, the last strike extended over a period of 202 days, operations being resumed, in a desultory manner, only on Oct. 20. A small force of men was kept at work throughout that period and others found employment of some kind or other in the neighborhood. Let us make allowance for that, and permit ourselves two assumptions: First, that the scale of wages proposed on April 1 had been accepted; and, second, that owing to slackness of trade, the mines worked only 5 days in each fortnight. Taking all these facts into consideration, we find that, for the above mentioned period, the net loss to the men, in wages calculated on the lowest basis, amounts to something like $300,000. All further comments would be superfluous.

The writer suggested last week that all details of the situation be made clear at a meeting of the citizens. It might be argued against such a course that, in the past, the miners have always resented all efforts made by outside influences, towards the settlement of difficulties, that they considered as being essentially their own. Against this can be set the fact that the sane man never felt any compunction about soliciting legislative measures to regulate some of their relations with their employers. Both the present government and that of the late Sir Richard McBride, placed on the statute books legislation of an advanced nature that many other countries are still hesitating to adopt. Moreover, a request for assistance has been presented to the authorities at Victoria, and it must not be forgotten that "the government has nothing to give that does not belong to the public at large." How it may have come to pass that an industry, representing one of the greatest assets of the province and in which millions of dollars have been invested, has been brought to such a condition, is a matter of public concern. Fires, outrageous freight rates and fuel oil competition, without mentioning the American customs duties, seem trifles when compared to the overdose of strikes with which this town has been afflicted. The man who has silently suffered through it all is certainly entitled to an explanation, and some little influence, at the present time.

THE UNITED CHURCH DINNER

A dinner was held in the United Church basement on Monday evening in honor of Dr. Clarence McKinnon, Moderator of the General Ashembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. A large number sat down to tastefully decorated tables and partook of a plain but well ordered meal. The after dinner program consisted of addresses, solos and community singing. Dr. McKinnon in a masterly address emphasized the place of importance which the church holds in our national life. He reviewed the past and paid a fine tribute to the men of other days who had laid the foundations deep and strong. An appeal was made to the church of today to arise to present opportunities.

W. R. Wilson being called upon, in his own inimitable way amused and instructed those present. Rev. H. U. Oswald conveyed the greeetings of the Anglican church. Brief addresses were also given by A. I. Fisher, D. G. Harvie and D. McVannell. Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. McVannell, the former representing the Ladies Aid and the latter the W.M.S., also addressed the gathering. Chief Anderson and Wesley Owen sang to the delight of those present. The tables were served by the C.G.I.T., who did their work efficiently. All present seemed to agree that the occasion was both happy and profitable.

Dr. McKinnon in his address did not discuss church union, but at a similar meeting in Calgary held on Sunday he took up the subject. The Calgary Herald has the following report of the meeting:

"Basic Methodism and Presbyterianism have been found to be very much alike, and it is the consciousness of this similarity which has had much to do with the movement for church union. There is nothing of Presbyterianism from which a Presbyterian will be withdrawing if he votes in favor of church union."

This was the answer made by Rev. Dr. Clarence McKinnon, moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, to Dr. Robert Johnston, pastor of Grace Presbyterian church of this city, who had asked the question whether the small sect of Presbyterians who might stay out of church union could do better for Canada through their action than by joining the United church.

The question and reply followed a

ANOTHER WAGE FIGHT IN NOVA SCOTIA MINES

Sydney, N.S., Nov. 18.—That the British Empire Steel Corporation has intimated to the executive of the United Mine Workers of America, district 26, at a recent conference that the company would look for a reduction of the present wage scale in a new agreement, was the statement made by President MacLean in presenting his report to the special convention of the district. It is felt by union officials that no reduction would be countenanced.

short address by Rev. Dr. McKinnon on church union, and the congregation, which nearly filled Knox church at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, was given the opportunity to ask any questions of the moderator. None of the congregation took advantage of the invitation. Dr. Johnston was called upon by Rev. G. A. Dickson of Knox church, and stated that while he was in complete sympathy with the sincerity and kindliness of the address by Dr. McKinnon, he felt that the question before some Presbyterians was whether they could do a better work by maintaining the Presbyterian church rather than by combining with the United church.

Discovery of the great need for economy among the churches, the spiritual unity already existing between the Methodist and Presbyterian churches, the necessity for union in the rural districts and the greater good which could be accomplished in foreign mission fields, were the points stressed by Dr. McKinnon in his address on church union.

"The church must do its share toward economy," stated the moderator. "Instead of two little churches in shabby buildings in the small rural town, union means one bigger and better church. These two little churches are generally heated by stoves which keep your head in the tropical regions and your feet in the Arctic regions. By union, greater comfort as well as greater economy and better service could be effected.

"The discovery in the east that the combination of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches in the rural districts solves the problem of getting good preachers was another impelling reason for union. The farms are like the lungs of our population in Canada, and we must give the farmers a chance to hear good preachers.

"A third reason for union may be the spiritual unity existing between the two churches. The broad western mind probably had as much to do with this as anything else. We found that we were singing the same hymns, having the same community organizations and were meeting together on common ground in a great many ways.

"Also there exists between the Anglicans and Presbyterians a very warm feeling and I hope the day is not far distant when the relationship may be closer. Their mother church would not recognize certain features of unionism, but there is no barrier between the mother churches of Presbyterianism and Methodism.

"We felt that the Methodist church had a message for Canada that we could hardly ignore. We want the message of John Wesley to ring through all the pulpist of Canada.

"A fourth reason for union may be found in the foreign mission field. Why should we say that this portion of China shall be Presbyterian, this part shall be Congregational, and another portion shall be Methodist. A similar tentative political division aroused the Boxer rebellion.

"We must combine all forces as speedily as possible and save the world from the calamity of another war.

"We do not want anyone to say that church union has been put over by church leaders or by the pastors, or for sinister reasons, because it has been the result of discovery of the necessity for union. I want you to consider well before you cast your vote if you do not think that it would be a very unfortunate circumstance if the cities, which are not particularly benefitted by the union, should stay out and segregate themselves from the country districts who have found union a necessity.

"If you vote it out, what will it mean for Canada? Will it mean the establishment of small Presbyterian churches in the rural districts? That is impossible."

"We fight," says the Ottawa Journal, "over the necessary tariff to protect us from American competition; but how in the name of common sense is an overtaxed Canadian industry to compete with an industry over the line whose taxation grows lighter every year? If you live in Ottawa today and have an income of $4000 you pay the government $80 in taxes. Your competitor who lives in Ogdensburg and who gets the same income pays $22.50. If you live, say in Toronto and have an income of $5000 you pay the government $126. Your competitor who lives in Buffalo, and who gets the same income, pays $37. If you live in Windsor and have an income of $6000, you pay Mr. Robb $178. Your American competitor in Detroit, on the same salary, pays Uncle Sam $57. And the discrimination grows worse—for the Canadian—as incomes increase."

LABOR LEADER DIFFERS WITH LABOR SCALE

The United Mine Workers' national headquarters has issued a statement charging Warren S. Stone, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers with inconsistency in handling union labor at the Coal River Collieries, controlled by the brotherhood members. The statement said that Stone had refused to pay the Jacksonville agreement coal wage scale because he claimed the company could not afford it. It charged also that the Coal River Collieries had resorted to the practice of eviction and that the company lately imported strikebreakers to operate some of its mines.

Capitalists are always blamed for hostility to labor unions. It is the common thing for labor unions to treat every statement made by employers as biased, if not wholly without a basis of truth. Should a coal operator in Alberta say he was not making money and could not afford to pay the scale, he would be ridiculed.

Yet we have Warren Stone, great union leader, in conflict with the United Mine Workers because he says the mine, controlled by the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, cannot operate profitably under the agreement. Once labor gets into the business of employing men it finds that paying the union scale and adhering to the union scale of hours of labor are not as easy as might appear. What Warren Stone's attitude would be should the railways tell him that they could not afford to carry out the Brotherhood agreement, could only be ascertained by an actual difference between the two interests. It is likely Warren Stone, the Brotherhood head, might be found looking on things with different spectacles than Warren Stone, the operator of a coal mine. Once labor and capital get to understand and appreciate each others position more intimately there will be fewer strikes. Misunderstanding is the cause of most of our troubles, industrial, national and international. —Lethbridge Herald.

Both women and men with serpents' tongues are coming in for a good deal of criticism in these days. Here is an excerpt from the London Daily Chronicle on the subject: "When people show an eagerness to discover and dissect the faults of others, it is not because of envy and real hatred so much as because of cowardice; subconsciously, they want to fortify their own self-esteem, and in order to do so they will clutch at the circumstance which, by contrast, makes their own circumstances seem more fortunate or imposing. If the motive is cowardice, it follows that the remedy is courage; the bravest men can afford to be generous."

SHOW SURPLUS IN BUDGET

Victoria, Nov. 17.—No change in taxation, a surplus of revenue over expenditures, and a reduction in expenditures for the next fiscal year of $1,103,316 were the features of the budget speech delivered in the legislature this afternoon by Hon. J. D. MacLean, minister of finance. It was Mr. MacLean's first budget speech.

Estimated revenue is placed at $18,340,000 and estimated expenditure at $18,183,097.

The net debt of the province is $41,622,402, an increase during the fiscal year of $5,307,600.

Assets of the province over liabilities is stated to be $25,935,110. Revenue for the year ending March 31, 1924, exceeded the estimate by $858,632.

Cost of education in municipalities has increased 101 per cent since 1917. Provincial grants to municipalities which can be used for educational purposes have increased 1 per cent in the same period.

Victoria, Nov. 17.—A balanced budget, the first in more than a decade, was presented to the legislature today by Hon. J. D. MacLean, minister of finance. Not merely did current accounts show a surplus but the minister announced that by dint of economics here and there, a cut in the salary list of $142,477, coordination of services, elimination of others and doubling up of duties, he had so arranged the provincial finances for the year 1925 to 1926 as to assure a surplus of $156,902, after paying all current and capital expenditures, interest and sinking fund.

The surplus was shown in spite of the fact that the minister said he could not anticipate any increased revenue. In fact, he stated the revenue would be $19,346 less than that estimated for the current year.

Exepnditures, however, he announced would be reduced by $1,-103,316.

Dr. MacLean stated that he could not this year promise any reductions in taxation. In fact, no changes of any sort were foreshadowed.

But his review of the debt situation led him to conclude that the provision made in recent years for the establishment of new public institutions was adequate for many years to come, so that the public debt, he said, had just about reached its maximum, until large increases in population should necessitate new capital expenditures.

Maturity within the next three and a half years of seven million dollars of bond issues, for which complete sinking fund provision has already been made, a surplus in the sinking fund whereby the funding of 10 million dollars of stock will be complete four years before maturity, and continued economy in expenditure, would tend towards a reduction in taxation in the near future, he said.

ALL FOR THE BEST

In an issue with Japan, Great Britain must side with the American and Dominion view or lose. The Tories, we think, will build the Singapore base. It would be a great stabilizer of peace. What the Labor government could do for the peace of Europe has been done. What the Tories may yet do for the general peace of the Far East is yet to be done. For these reasons we think it has been a good thing to have Labor in and out. It was a new thing in British government, but it served a purpose and in general a good one. —Chicago Tribune.

POLITICAL GOSSIP ON PREMIER'S RETURN

Ottawa—The Prime Minister and his party are home after a trip West that extended over five weeks. It was quite strenuous, but they all seem to look the better for it. Of course, everybody is sizing up the net results. The members of the party are being asked eagerly for their opinion as to the state of the West, both from a political and a business standpoint. The general reply is that matters are improving very satisfactorily. They think that the West is warming up to the government, chiefly because of its attitude on the tariff. No opoinion is yet expressed of what the opinion of the West will be on the freight rates question, for the policy of the government has yet to be defined. The Prime Minister went out to view the prairie provinces, and those who went with him report progress.

The other day Robert Forke made a speech in which he indicated that the Progressives would not go out of business and to justify their continued existence he pointed to what they had done. He also served notice that they would expect the government to come through next session with another instalment of the tariff reduction.

The Conservatives appear to be doing nothing but sawing wood, tuning up their organization, and preparing for the parliamentary session, which is expected to be strenuous. They profess to be unaffected by reports that the Liberals are improving their position out West, or that the Progressives are trying to consolidate theirs. They say that would suit them better than to have three principals in the ring all taking a crack at one another.

HUMAN HAPPINESS

Human happiness does not consist of the quantity of goods acquired by a man, but of their correct use, even though they are few. By means of moderation and change of sensations man avoids satiety and obtains from his store of goods the greatest pleasure. The curse of happiness is monotony, and the rich man more quickly becomes satiated than his poorer neighbor.

In the same way, comparing egotism and altruism, we see that it is less advantageous to be an egotist, as his world is restricted to himself and he becomes bored. Whereas the world of pleasant sensations of the altruist can be widened without limit, as he rejoices in others joys. He can always renew his pleasure and relieve monotony, each time trying to do good to new people.—Revelstoke Review.

DANGEROUS ALIENS

London, Nov. 18 .— Dangerous aliens still succeed in effecting an entry into Great Britain, despite the vigilance of the authorities. An instance was described on Monday last, the case of Miss Ruth Fischer, a representative of the Third International, and recognized as one of the most efficient Communist agitators in the world. On that occasion this firebrand from Eastern Europe evaded detection by producing a forged passport — used in Germany by the Communist organization there —describing her as Anna Bosshardt, a Swiss teacher residing at Basle.

Having entered the country she attended the Communist conference at Salford, and later returned to the Communist headquarters in Berlin, where she submitted a report on the Communist party of Great Britain, with recommendations for its more efficient organization and suggestions regarding methods to ensure the more effective spread of the Communist doctrines in this country.

This experience should have been enough to put the authorities on their guard, but apparently Miss Fischer has again returned to this country, as she is reported to have been staying recently at one of the larger London hotels. On this occasion she claimed to have entered the country armed with a proper passport and a British visa. Possibly she obtained the visa abroad by false pretences from a British visa officer who was acting in good faith, but who was ignorant of the real character of the applicant.

But though she may have been passed for entry she should not have been allowed to remain here. The authorities must have been aware of her presence, and must have known her mission. But undesirable aliens need not forge passports to elude the immigration officials. They can come here via Ireland without serious hindrance. The passport regulations of the Free State are anything but stringent, and travellers from Ireland need no visa to enter Great Britain.

The central police authorities in Berlin recently came into possession of a wonderful collection of forged passports, official stamps, forms and certificates which the Communist organization there used to send agents all over Europe.

Among the multitude of India rubber stamps found were three such as are used by the British foreign office, the stamp of the British consulate in Munich, the stamp of the British consul at Basle, stamps to allow aliens to enter England, five different stamps used by the British authorities on the Rhine, and stamps to permit civilians to circulate in all parts of the occupied regions.

GOLD HOARDS ARE ROUNDED UP

Paris, Nov. 18.—For some time a determined effort has been made by gold hunters to obtain possession of the contents of the stocking-legs which are known to be numerous in Brittany. Many Breton peasants clung to their gold in spite of appeals made to them by the authorities to part with it. The fall of the franc was not without its influence on the Breton hoarders.

A band of gold buyers was organized, and its operations are just now occupying the attention of the police, who are inquiring into something like 60 charges against agents who, it seems, acted under the orders of a former non-commissioned officer, now in prison for abuse of confidence.

This man had as his agents all sorts of people, including itinerant bagmen, carriage proprietors and a list of people possessing gold hoards was drawn up and offers made to them. One client in Saint Pol sold louis amounting to 5000f, and the amount involved in the traffic is put at 2,000,000f. At first 25f per louis was offered but eventually the price reached 45f. The sellers, mostly farmers and cultivators, were content with their deals. Some bought land with the proceeds, others motor cars.

Proud of their new possessions, they naturally informed their neighbor, who had no gold, that they cost nothing. It was the candid confessions made by the gold sellers that put the police on the track of the buyer.

ABSENTEE POLLING

After all the criticism aroused by the counting of the absentee vote at the last provincial election, the suggestion that such a vote should be abolished ought to be taken into serious consideration by the government. The absentee vote, no matter what the safeguards may be, will continue to be the basis of charges made against the government in power. The suspicions engendered may be wholly false but they exist, and it is essential that any possibility of their arising should be removed. It is no more necessary here than anywhere else to have an absentee vote. In countries which have had systems of government far longer than British Columbia the absentee vote has never even been given consideration, and those governments are equally responsive to the public will; in many cases more responsive than in our provincial administration. Colonel F. Lister, the member for Creston, has raised the subject in the legislature. He suggests advance polls as an alternative. It is not clear that this suggestion would remove the liability of suspicion of tampering with the ballot boxes. The simplest and most appealing way to the people as a whole is to complete polling and counting of the ballots within a single day. Our election system is too cumbersome as it is and needs reform.—Colonist.

Figured in Historic Sod Turning

This antique looking wheelbarrow and spade do not appear capable of very hefty service now, but nearly half a century ago they carried the weight of a very important event — the ceremony marking the commencement of the construction of the Canada Central Railway through Pembroke, Ontario. Following the ceremony, the spade with which the first sod was turned and the wheel-barrow into which it was shovelled in the presence of a very enthusiastic crowd, were presented to Miss M. P. Moffat, daughter of the Reeve of the village, the lady who performed the ceremony of the naming of the road and christening it with a bottle of champagne. They recently passed into the hands of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which company took over the Canada Central lines in 1881, and will be added to a museum of relics connected with the early days of the railroad which is being formed in Montreal.

So much for the actual ceremony. The Pembroke "Observer" for September 3rd 1875 says: "The assembly then adjourned to a spacious booth that had been specially erected for the occasion, where champagne and beer had been provided for the purpose of drinking several toasts which had been previously agreed upon, by the committee; but a number of individuals apparently more intent on drinking champagne than doing honor to any toasts, took possession of the tables, and the regular order of the programme had to be abandoned. The Pembroke Brass Band was present and performed some popular airs."

NEGOTIATIONS for the sale of western horses to the Russian government have fallen through. THE unit of society is not the individual, but the family. As a very old writer says, "God sets the solitaire in the family." The family was the beginning of civilization. In it first began the exercise of authority and the lesson of obedience. It was from the family that the tribe came into being and in the patriarch at the head instead of the father. In time the tribe became a nation and civilization entered upon its final stages. The nonarchialy government first absolute and then conditioned, which is rapidly passing away in these days and giving place to democracy, was simply the system of family government applied to the state. It will, therefore, be seen that fundamentally and essentially the family is the unit of society and the beginning of civilization.

One of the chief elements entering into the greatness of our life is the strength and dignity of the Canadian home. The people, more than any other people in the world, are predisposed to "keep the home fires burning." The universality of the observance of Thanksgiving both evidences this fact and emphasizes it. We know of no other people who have a homecoming day which is observed not only by the people throughout the whole country, but by its sons and daughters who have gone abroad and who are domiciled in strange lands. Thanksgiving is the day of the apotheosis of the Canadian home. Today we canonize it, burn incense on its altars and worship it.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

"The true university of these days is a collection of good books."—Emerson.

A number of articles have recently appeared in the Free Press emphasizing the need of a library in every city and municipality. The note sounded has always been timely. The age is one of enlightenment and knowledge. All cannot attend a university, but the university of books should be open to all. The average person cannot purchase those books in sufficient quantity for himself and family, but the public library should supply this need. The question arises: What kind of library and equipment would be suitable for a town the size of Fernie?

The room and furnishings need not be elaborate. There should be capacity for say thirty or forty persons at a time. This room should be properly heated and open every afternoon and evening. It should contain a moderate supply of newspapers and magazines; a small section devoted to reference books, such as a standard encyclopaedia, dictionary, some sets of standard works on history, science, etc.; then the regular book section should contain fiction, poetry, sociology, science, juvenile books, etc. Something like the above should no doubt be the ideal to which to look forward. Is it feasible? Well, we are faced with the fact that thousands of smaller places are now enjoying such literary facilities. How far have we gone?

We have made a beginning. Our room in the Liphardt block is not large enough but it is conveniently situated and a well qualified librarian is on duty Wednesday evening and Saturday afternoon. Book cases have been installed and the Library Association by taking advantage of the Provincial government plan of travelling libraries has been able to secure the neucleus of a library. Some generous donations have been made, so that now the reference section contains a number of useful books. Some $200 was spent in fiction and juvenile books two years ago, so a real beginning has been made. Nothing has been done in the way of providing magazines and reading room equipment. This can only come after the library proper is on the way to success.

We have now come to a crisis in the history of this institution. For the past year no progress has been made. We must go forward or cease to exist. The library is supported from three sources: (1) Membership fees. These are placed at the low rate of $2 per annum for adults; children $1. A larger membership is essential. (2) Donations from individuals. This usually takes the form of books which have been read and are now passed on to the library. A call was made for such books last year and there was a good response. (3) City grant. In most other cities of which the Association has knowledge, this is the main source of support. That is, the library is looked upon as a necessary educational institution and is supported accordingly. Some will say that the city cannot afford to grant money for library purposes. Yes, and some will also say that we cannot afford to have well equipped schools. We do afford the latter and the question arises, can we really afford to neglect the former. In the year 1922 the city gave $100 but since that time no help has been received from its treasury.

To save the library which we already have and make progress, something like the following is necessary:

1. A membership of at least two hundred adults.

2. Plans made to make it convenient for persons to contribute books which they can conveniently spare.

3. A yearly grant from the city of at least $250.00. Compared with what other cities of a smaller size are doing, this amount seems ridiculously small; but even this, with increased membership fees and gifts, would allow the Association to carry on.

The B. C. Library Act provides that when a bylaw is passed demanding a library, the Library Association ceases to exist and the city council assumes all responsibility for establishing a city library. This latter course would make our library a much more ambitious project, but it would greatly add to responsibility and cost to the city council.

WHY not get the Supreme Court to settle this controversy about evolution? If five of the judges decide against evolution—as they probably would if the matter came before them—it would become unconstitutional to have any more misunderstandings about it.

Thomas Roe, who has been absent from Fernie for about a year at his old home in Wisconsin, is back in the city again.

The Ladies Aid of the United Church will hold their annual bazaar on Saturday, Nov. 29, in the basement of the church from 2 to 8.

The Executive Committee of Mt. Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. will be "At Home" to all members of the Chapter on Friday, Nov. 21, at 8 p.m. in the I.O.O.F. Hall.

Mrs. James Broley fell from a platform near her home on Monday last and fractured several ribs, besides being badly bruised. She is doing as well as can be expected.

Dan Alton says that if Tom Uphill had devoted as much time to keeping traffic going up the Coal Creek railroad as he is in trying to get the government to build the Corbin road, that the mines might still be running.

The appeal of Mrs. Henderson, of Jaffray, against a six months sentence for selling liquor, came up before Judge Thompson on Wednesday and the magistrate's decision was confirmed. The lady is at the present time ill in the hospital. As soon as she recovers she will be taken to Nelson jail.

A quiet wedding was celebrated on Monday, Nov. 17, at the home of T. Uphill, M.P.P., McPherson Ave., when Howard Thomas Uphill was united in wedlock to Delphine Wilma Bennett, of Cranbrook. Only intimate friends were present. Later on the happy pair left for Cranbrook, where they intend to reside.

All drivers of automobiles in British Columbia will be licensed next year, under legislation which will be introduced during the present session by Attorney General Manson. The legislation is expected to provide machinery by which all automobile drivers will be licensed, to that incompetent persons may be barred from the roads. Suspension of licenses for reckless driving, it is understood, will be provided for in the new law.

Fire broke out about 2.30 this morning at the home of Gabriel Spino, 26 Bethune Ave. The blaze evidently started from a defective chimney and burned around the roof for quite a time without doing much real damage. The local brigade did not cover themselves with glory in the run they made to the fire, as it was fully fifteen minutes before they got water on it. There was also quite a lot of bungling; the water was turned on before the hose was off the sleigh and one of the lengths burst, causing a lot of delay. The fire was finally extinguished with buckets.

Victoria Colonist: Brigadier General and Mrs. J. M. Ross, of Work Point Barracks, who attended the ball in Vancouver on Tuesday night given by the Military Institute and militia units of Vancouver, were among the guests at a smart dinner party before the ball, when their hosts were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Trites and Colonel Jack Leckie. Others present were: General and Mrs. J. A. Clark, Major and Mrs. T. V. Scudamore, Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Herchmer, Fernie; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Billings, Mrs. R. G. Leckie, Dr. B. D. Gillies, Mr. and Mrs. Cheshyre Janion, Mrs. R. W. Wood, Fernie; Mrs. Wallace Woode, Toronto; Major Gavin Davis, Mr. Faulding and Mrs. A. J. Hoskins.

GLORIA SWANSON— "HER LOVE STORY"

That's the title of Gloria's latest Paramount picture, an Allan Dwan production, which comes to the Orpheum theatre next Wednesday. The story is an adaptation by Frank Tuttle of Mary Roberts Rineheart's novel and magazine serial, "Her Majesty the Queen." Ian Keith has the leading man's role opposite the star and others in the strong supporting cast include George Fawcett, Echlin Gayer, Mario Majeroni, Sidney Herbert and other big names well known on both stage and screen.

To voice the opinion of the editor of the magazine in which the story appeared. "Mary Roberts Rhinehart is one of the most remarkable personalities in this country. If some man wrote all the novels, all the plays and all the perfectly wonderful stories that she's written, we—meaning we men—would all get up on our feet and say, "Here is one that can produce more fine work than any living human being."

ONE 50c BOX BROUGHT HEALTH

The Wonderful Fruit Medicine

Anyone who suffers with miserable health; who is tortured with Headaches; and who is unable to get any real pleasure out of life; will be interested in this letter of Mrs. Martha de Wolfe of East Ship Harbor, N.S.

Mrs. de Wolfe says, "For years I was a dreadful sufferer from Constipation and Headaches and I was miserable in every way. Nothing in the way of medicine seemed to help me. Then I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and the effect was splendid; and after taking only one box, I was completely relieved and now feel like a new person".

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

The address given to the High School Lit. reported in last week's paper should have been credited to N. F. Brand, the American Consul, whose early life was spent in Minnesota.

The following were the highest for the last two months in their respective divisions:

Div. 1—Alice Haigh, Clarice Woodhouse.

Div. 2 — Nelson Wallace, John Stropky.

Div. 3—May Tully, Audrey Mills.

Div. 4—Billy Duncan, Mabel Rogers.

Div. 5—Tony Kobus, Eddie Pennington.

On account of the present serious economic condition the idea of having a High School concert has been abandoned this year.

The heating and ventilating plant installed in the basement during the first week of October has proved very satisfactory. The High School students were very comfortable during the last severe cold spell.

About 80 pupils are taking advantage of the basketball practices in the Scouts Hall each week.

LICENSE DRIVERS IS B.C. PROPOSAL

Victoria, Nov. 18. — Proposed changes in the Motor Vehicle Act to provide for the licensing of drivers were introduced in the legislature yesterday afternoon by Attorney-General Manson. There will be no examination for the present, but everyone who drives a car must have a license and must always carry the document in his pocket, for which the fee is $1. Applications must be made in writing at the time car licenses are obtained. Speed limits are fixed as follows:

In cities, 20 miles; in open country 35, and on country roads where it is wooded or the view obstructed 20 miles an hour. Convictions may be punished up to a total of three months imprisonment. Each conviction is to be endorsed on the license. No longer will the gay young man be able to take his lady friend for a breezy drive, seated behind him on his motorcycle. This popular form of transport entertainment is officially prohibited in a new enactment introduced in the legislature by the atorney-general.

Side car, of course, may be used in connection with motorcycles, but the principle of "one cycle, one rider" will be rigorously enforced.

OIL PRODUCTION IN U.S. DECLINES

Bartlesville, Okla., Nov. 18.—During 1924, for the first time in 19 years, there was a decline in the production of petroleum in the United States, according to a review of the world petroleum production for 1914 by Valentine B. Garfias, manager of the foreign oil department of Henry L. Doherty & Co., made public here today.

This following the sharpest yearly increase recorded for this country, the reviewer said, turned the advance of 163,000,000 barrels of last year into an estimated decline of 7,000,000 barrels.

The influence of this diminution of production, the review continues, accounts for the world's production remaining practically stationary during the last two years, as the increase in some fields was counterbalanced by declines in others.

The production of 1923, the review said, was 1,004,000,000 barrels.

OPIUM CONTROL

The opium conferences were initiated by our government when at its invitation the first of the international series met at Shanghai in 1909. Two years later there was another at The Hague which prepared for ratification for the signatory nations a convention of 25 articles covering the control of production and restraint of the narcotic abuse. The Covenant of the League of Nations and the Geneva body is tacitly committed to the promotion of further conferences.

J. S. Irvine is in Spokane on business.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Herchmer returned on Saturday from a trip to Vancouver.

Mrs. H. Hayne and baby daughter returned Wednesday evening from Victoria, B.C.

Don't forget the dance in the Catholic Hall tonight. Come and have a real time.

William and Neil Dunlap, of Kellogg, Idaho, arrived in town yesterday, being called here owing to the death of their father.

His Honor Judge Thompson was in the city several days this week on court business, after an absence of several months in Ontario.

On Nov. 29 the Ladies Aid of the United Church are holding their annual bazaar in the basement of the church.

The Robt. J. Black Chapter of the I.O.D.E. wish to thank all those who helped make their play such a success.

Mrs. Wm. Broley, of North Battleford, Sask., arrived yesterday to attend the funeral of her father, the late Harry Dunlap.

Have you bought your Elks Christmas Cheer Fund dance ticket yet? If not, why not? For sale by all members.

Harry Woodhouse, who is in the employ of the C.P.R. at Yahk, sent his father in Fernie a fine 200 lb. buck this week. He says deer are very plentiful at Yahk.

Thos. Uphill, M.P.P., wired the local union officials yesterday from Victoria that the government would shortly commence some river protection work near Fernie in order to relieve the unemployment situation.

John Angus McDonald, of Blairmore, was in the city yesterday. Johnny, who was a resident of Fernie for many years, came up to pay his last respects to the late Harry Dunlap.

Christ Church Ladies Guild will hold their Annual Sale on Saturday, Dec. 6, instead of Nov. 29, as previously announced. The sale will be held in the church basement from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Robt. Fairclough, Sr., who has been a resident of Coal Creek for a number of years, expects to leave early in December for the south of England, where he will join his son Robert, who a number of years ago ran a boarding house at the Creek.

Relief was handed out lavishly by the Miners Union this morning, married men receiving $1.50 and single men $1. During the strike of nearly seven months the entire relief to married men reached something less than $50 and to single men less than $30, and still a lot of Harry Haighs in this town keep shouting for Bill Sherman.

It is costing about $1200 a day to try the Home Bank directors accused of conspiracy to defraud before Judge Coatsworth at the Toronto city hall. The trials of eight directors, the accountant and auditor of the ill-fated Home Bank will cost approximately $175,000 before they are finished, with a prospect of another $25,000 added to the cost by proceedings at the assizes afterwards.

It may be of interest to people who are not aware of the fact, to know that a will wholly in the handwriting of the person making it is no good in British Columbia, unless witnessed in the manner required by law. This was made clear yesterday by His Honor Judge Thompson in connection with the estate of the late Dave Black. Dave made a will in 1915, but shortly before his death wrote out another will, which was different in many respects to the 1915 one, and included in it bequests to the Swimming Pool Fund and the United Church of $500 each. Although it was admitted that the will was entirely in his handwriting and signed by him, the judge held that according to B.C. law it was ineffective on account of not having been witnessed. The result is that unless the beneficiaries under the 1915 will decide to carry out the wishes expressed in the handwritten will, the bequests to the Swimming Pool Fund and the United Church will not be made.

The steam coal mines at Coleman and Blairmore are working about half time.

Born—At Fernie, Friday, Nov. 21, to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Dudley, a son.

Don't forget the bazaar in the basement of the United Church on Saturday, Nov. 29, from 2 to 8.

The Elks held a social evening in the I.O.O.F. hall on Monday. A delightful evening was spent by the members and their wives.

There will be a whist drive and dance in the basement of Christ Church on Thursday, Nov. 27, at 8 o'clock. Admission 50c.

The total cost of the late provincial election in this district was $2314.50. The cost in the Cranbrook district was $2172.85. The cost for the entire province was $125,892.21.

An anniversary "At Home" will be given by the Executive Committee of Mount Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. to all members of the Chapter, on Friday, Nov. 21, at 8 p.m., in the I.O.O.F. Hall.

J. D. Sinclair, of Winnipeg, Sec.-Treas. of the Elk Lumber Co., is in the city today on business in connection with the company. Rumor has it that there is a deal on to dispose of the company's property.

Tourists are still going through Fernie on their way back to the United States. Some days there are as many as seven or eight cars. The roads after Elko is reached are comparitively good, but it is a tough grind through the Pass.

The monthly social evening of Mt. Fernie Lodge, I.O.O.F., will be held in the I.O.O.F. Hall, Wednesday, Nov. 26, at 8.30 p.m. Social entertainment, refreshments and dancing. All Rebekahs and Odd Fellows cordially invited to be present.

A special meeting of the Robt. J. Black Chapter of the I.O.D.E. will be held at the home of Miss Gladys Bean, Tuesday, at 7.30 p.m. sharp. Will all those who have money for tickets please hand it in at this meeting.

A resolution will be introduced into the B.C. legislature by Major Gus Lyons, Conservative, Victoria, asking the house to go on record as favoring the lash for peddling narcotics. If the resolution passes, the federal government will be urged to amend the criminal code so that every sentence imposed upon a seller of drugs will carry with it automatically a number of lashes.

The annual meeting of the Cranbrook Curling Club was held on Friday evening at the city hall and was quite well attended. The curlers now have their new rink ready for use, and are only awaiting favoroble weather conditions to go ahead and flood it so the games can begin. The new rink consists of five sheets of ice and is situated near the Arena rink. This gives the city ten sheets of covered ice for use at the time of a district bonspiel. It is now proposed to hold an official opening for the rink at which curlers from Fernie, Kimberley, Bull River and other near by places could be present for games, and also to make a supper part of the program. It is probable that this program will be carried out, the decision of the curlers on Friday evening favoring it.

Rotarians listened to a rare treat at their luncheon on Monday last, when they heard the Rev. Dr. Clarence McKinnon, Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, give a fifteen minute talk on "The British Empire." Rev. Wm. Burns, the chairman, in introducing the speaker, said Dr. McKinnon was a man of wide known experience and was what he would term a many-sided man. In the first place he was head of the Presbyterian Church in Canada; he was also principal of one of our leading Canadian colleges; he was a speaker of international reputation, and four years ago was invited to Atlantic City to address the International Rotary Convention. He was a man famous in the settlement of labor troubles in Nova Scotia, at one time being chairman of a conciliation board and on another occasion was appointed sole arbitrator in a coal mining dispute; and lastly, he was a real Rotarian. Dr. McKinnon's address was one of the most eloquent and interesting talks that a Fernie audience has ever been privileged to hear. He has a wonderful delivery and a dry humor which cannot fail to please his audience. His grasp of the subject "The British Empire," was a revelation to those present.

CRIME AND PUNISHMENT

Homocidal tendencies in the United States are evidently costing the insurance companies handsome sums of money. The matter is dealt with in The Statistical Bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which calls attention to there being 9000 homicidal attempts in the United States annually, or seventeen times the number which would have occurred if the percentage which occurs in England and Wales had prevailed in the United States. In 1922 alone the homicides which were committed in Chicago exceeded the number which occurred in all England and Wales in that year. It is further noted that the toll of homicides per 100,000 of the population in the United States is nearly six times that existing in Canada. Reasons hinted at to account for this are "inability to apprehend, indict and try assailants, and to make prompt and definite disposition of homicidal cases.

In 1923 the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. paid out in claims for this class of death alone the sum of $724,000. There were 446 homicidal cases which occurred among the policyholders during the last six months of the year. Some information was assembled about 146 of these coming under the head of manslaughter or murder. It was ascertained that 32 of these fell into the class of "justifiable killing," that is, death was inflicted in self defence in seven cases and by an officer of the law in the line of duty in 25 cases. There were definite indictments in 69 cases. The remaining 45 cases did not lead to indictments. In one-third of them the assailants are still at large, in 22 the assailants committed suicide, and in eight the evidence was insufficient to warrant indictment. Then the Statistical Bulletin goes on to point out that of the 69 who were indicted 11 escaped trial and 16 were discharged as not guilty. Of the 41 judged to be guilty 36 are serving time, with an appeal pending in six other cases. In summarizing the results it is noted that of the 146 homicidal cases under review, of which 114 were manslaughter or murder cases, 35 are serving time in the penitentiary, one is on parole, one was fined, and one has been executed. All the remainder are either unapprehended, have been set free or are awaiting trial.

The Canadian Medical Association Journal in commenting on these figures alludes to them as a strong indictment of the results of judicial procedure in the United States, and then goes on to point out that, judging from the records in the daily press, the number of homicidal assaults which have occurred in Canada during the past few years have greatly increased. The medical profession, it says, should take the statement of one of the most reputable insurance companies very seriously to heart. It should ask itself how far it is wise to deal leniently with crime, and especially with the crime of murder. The moral pointed to is as follows: "In every society, civilized or only partially civilized, punishment must be regarded not merely as punishment for crime committed, but also as a deterrent to prevent its repetition; and unless punishment follows promptly and surely its chief value in society is lost."

THE COST OF WET COAL

The U. S. Bureau of Mines tells us that wetting coal is expensive. The higher the cost per ton, the greater is the cost of wetting. O. P. Hood, chief mechanical engineer of the Bureau, writes regarding percentage of moisture:

The amount of water absorbed by coal depends upon its fineness. Water adheres to surfaces, and is not drawn into the body of the piece to any great extent. Bituminous coal in lumps the size of an egg, when drenched with water, will increase in weight only a fraction of 1 per cent. Fine sizes, however, or both bituminous coal and anthracite, will hold up to 20 per cent of moisture, depending upon the fineness.

The writer goes on:

When you purchase coal insist on its being dry, or at least be sure that an allowance for the moisture contained in it is made.

To make a test for moisture is not difficult. Simply take, say, ten or twenty pounds of the average wet coal and pulverize it. Then heat it gently as, for example, on the top of the boiler, so that only the moisture will be evaporated. Do not heat it to such a degree that any of its gases will be driven off. After drying weigh again and subtract the final weight from the original wet weight. Divide the difference by the original weight and the quotient is the percentage of moisture. A moisture of 12 per cent is not at all uncommon. One purchaser states that he had bought coal showing 35 per cent water when delivered. In other words, at $10 per ton he was paying $3.33 for the water. If water were combustible it would not be so bad, but instead of aiding combustion water retards it. Therefore water is the cause of a double loss.

Coal can have a perfectly dry appearance and still contain as much as 10 per cent water.

I have before me a letter from one of the country's foremost authorities on mining matters in which he says concerning moisture in and on coal:

"In general, lump coal carries less moisture than run-of-mine, while fine coal or slack or screenings carries more. I can not off hand state how many pounds per ton there will be in coal as it comes from a mine, because the moisture content varies greatly in different seams and in different districts."

Anybody can be a great executive if he can afford to hire able men to do the work.

11. Positively no birds will be allowed to be taken away until the close of the Show. Show closes at 10 p.m., Dec. 4th.

12. Pens will consist of one male and three females. Pens cannot compete in single class.

13. The Association does not hold itself responsible for loss or accidents, but reasonable care will be taken of all birds entered. All eggs laid during the show will have their fertility destroyed and shall be the property of the Association.

14. All exhibits will be carefully examined before being cooped, and any showing signs of disease will be immediately removed from the building. This rule will be strictly enforced.

15. All protests must be handed in to the Secretary in writing within 12 hours after the awards have been made, and accompanied by a deposit of $5.00. If after the matter has been thoroughly investigated by the protest committee and the protest not sustained, the said deposit shall be forfeited.

16. Owners of birds may offer for sale by making arrangements with the Secretary. A commission of 10 per cent will be charged by the Association on all sales made in the Show Room.

17. During the Show the Superintendent will have absolute charge of all exhibits entered and no bird must be handled or removed without his consent. Any party except the owner, infringing this rule will forfeit any prize awarded them.

18. In any class if in the Judge's opinion a bird is not worthy of 1st prize, it shall be placed accordingly.

19. In every show there is more or less complaint on the part of exhibitors over some awards. This is usually occasioned by some disgruntled exhibitor or would be judge, who hopes to gain prestige in the eyes of the loser by finding fault with the work of the Judge. It gains them nothing and becomes disgusting to all fair-minded exhibitors, and we propose to eliminate this worthless feature from the show. When we find exhibitors who insist on nonsensical kicking and fault-finding, where there is no cause for complaint, we shall list them, and refuse their entries at future exhibitions. We do not intend to take any rights away from our exhibitors, but we do intend to cut out once and for all the silly system of knocking that is sometimes indulged in.

20. All specimens for competition must be the bonafide property of the Exhibitor. The discovery of any false statement, whether of age or proprietorship, will exclude the entry from competition if discovered in time, and if not, the premium will be withheld.

21. Displays to consist of 8 birds—cock, hen, cockerel, pullet and pen.

THE DRY LAW

Baltimore Sun: Although the Ontario dry law is not comparable to ours either in the rigor of its provisions or in the complications of enforcement, it is akin in spirit. It breathes the same antagonism to the doctrine of personal liberty; it is based on the same theory of moral censorship; it exhibits the same fanaticism for forcible conversion. And in consequence a very few years of the practice of prohibition, as distinct from the theory, have cut the enormous majority in its favor eight years ago to almost nothing. Indeed, if the issue had not been complicated by a political feud between city and country, a result of the recent overthrow of Premier Drury's farmer government, it is probable that Ontario would have been won over to the sale of intoxicating beverages under government control at this plebiscite.

Jackie Coogan forgot to remark, "So this is Paris," when he arrived there and asked for a glass of milk instead, thus proving he's a regular boy anywhere and anytime.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

BOND STEALING BIG BUSINESS

It may not surprise readers of newspaper headlines to learn that bonds and stocks are now being stolen at the rate of about $5,000,000 a year, but, says a writer in the New York World, it must be a cause of general astonishment to hear "that millions of dollars' worth of securities stolen from brokers, from the mails, from banks, and from strong boxes of private individuals are floating about in the New York underworld and being boldly offered for sale." He adds that it will, in all likelihood, be even more of a shock to most of us to realize "that such stolen goods are being innocently bought by respectable, upright and responsible dealers and brokers, that some of the stolen securities have been hypothecated with the foremost banks as collaterel for loans, and that a good many thousands of negotiable bonds have found their way from the hands of the criminal into those of innocent private holders." This writer quotes President E. A. St. John of the National Surety Company, one of several concerns that insure against losses of securities by theft, a giving this interesting information:

Since 1919, when the messenger boys in Wall Street made off with several million dollars' worth of securities in one season, the total of stolen bonds and stocks in the United States has amounted to at least $25,000,000. Mail bandits, bank burglars, bank bandits, safe blowers, messenger boys, employees in banks, brokerage houses and other institutions, sneak thieves and many others have all contributed their bit to the swelling of this great fund of stolen valuables. It is apparent, of course, that the thieves must be able to market the stolen securities or they would not continue to steal them.

The fencing and marketing is done mainly in New York, though it is carried out in all the larger cities and many smaller places. In New York, where there are about $3,000,000 of stolen bonds constantly afloat there are a number of fences, well known throughout the underworld, who make their living by handling the securities taken from their honest owners by these various classes of financial criminals.

The fences, in turn, dispose of the stolen securities for cash in various ways. There are in New York, it is reported to me, a number of small storekeepers who make a practice of buying stolen stocks and bonds at reduced prices. They know, they must know, that these securities are stolen, else they could not be purchased for less than their current value. The mere fact that they are offered and taken at much less than the market price is of itself evidence of criminal conspiracy. Such dealers resort, in turn, to often u suspicious and respectable brokerage houses with which they have connections, and through these houses work the stolen stuff back into the regular market.

In other cases the thieves or fences go to the regular banks, open accounts, establish a credit and soon appear with handfuls of securities, asking loans. In some instances the banker fails to consult his list of stolen bonds. In others he does so, but can not find the offered securities listed, though they are, in fact, stolen. This fault is due to the circumstance that such huge numbers of securities have been taken from so many sources and in so many ways that a complete list does not exist. The Federal Reserve Bank, for instance, has probably the only fairly complete list of stolen Liberty bonds. It is not a list, but a stack of lists. But the government bank is interested only in the Liberty bonds, and consequently has no list of the outside securities.

When surety companies make losses good, they acquire the title to the missing securities, for the return of which they offer rewards. They are now sending out a warning that they will prosecute buyers of stolen securities on which they have paid losses. Mr. St. John explains that this is done partly to stop the regular traffic in stolen securities, and partly to warn innocent banks and brokers against innocently cooperating with the thieves and burglars. He goes on to say that securities stealing has not fallen off since 1919, but has been keeping up at the rate of about $5,000,000 a year. There has, however, been some change in the kind of stealing which predominates. "Today, neither the corrupted messenger boys nor the bandits are taking so many securities as formerly, but bank burglars, sneak thieves, safe blowers and particularly the employees of financial and other business houses are taking vast numbers." And banks and brokerage houses are warned that professional criminals are now "taking far fewer securities than are trusted employees."

CANADIAN DOOR TO U.S.

Between those who leave the country to go to the U.S. legally and those who travel thither along the bootleg trail, say some Canadian editors, Canda is suffering from a kind of torrent of emigration. What is more, they claim that the emigration from Canada to the U.S. can not be accurately estimated by the statistics from Washington, ominous as they seem, for there is "an almost equal number" of emigrants who successfully run the American immigration blockade. According to the Toronto Mail and Empire, the business of getting emigrants from Canada across the international border has become "as large and a more remunerative occupation than rum-running." Along the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers, on the Niagara and the Quebec-New York frontiers, it is alleged, many rum-runners have changed to trafficking in human contraband. This Conservative daily naturally blames the present Liberal government for the leakage, and goes on to say:

"In an effort to conceal from the people the loss in citizenship, the government is advertising the return of Canadians from the U.S. to Canada, but they do not make public the fact that even under the stringent American law now in effect that two Canadians are leaving for one returning. Nor do they publish that during the present year nearly 150,000 legally entered the United States from Canada. If the illegal entries were added to these, it would be found that Canada had lost in citizens to our rival at least 200,000 this year. Another loss is that of those who leave Canada for other countries than the U. S. American statistics in the government's possession show that as many as 10,000 in some months pass from Canada through the U.S. for other countries.

"The real facts if placed before the country would explain much of the business depression existing. It is a fact that in decreased immigration and increased emigration Canada has not today a single citizen more than she had in June, 1921, when the last census was taken."

But the loss is greater in economic effect than in numerical decrease, this journal charges, because the departure of half a million vigorous citizens from Canada means at home a reduction in purchasing power heavy enough to bring on business stagnation. It seems dire to this critic of the government that the native-born are fleeing from home while emigrants are paying large sums to be carried illegally from Canada to another country. Nevertheless, it is pointed out that the government is putting forth every effort to prevent this bootlegging in citizens and prospective citizens. But for all that, this question is asked rather peevishly:

"Could there be a more damaging admission of the government's failure than that strenuous watch must be kept along the border to prevent our people leaving the country?

"Is there no other method of keeping Canadians in Canada or making our new settlers contented than to guard the frontiers to prevent their escape? In this country of vast area and equally great resources, is it not possible to give effect to a policy that will make it attractive and prosperous?"

DEADLY GAME OF EUCHRE

From Toronto, the virtuous, comes the astounding dispatch that the old reliable game of euchre is to be severely frowned upon in future.

Out here in the West, where men are men, and young women are trying to be men, we had thought that this hoary pastime had long since gone into the ash can along with postoffice and chokinole.

Thus, it is with admiration that we salute the young cut-ups of Toronto who are able to get such an evil thrill out of this Victorian relic that the Toronto police are agitated about it.

But, be that as it may, the abolition of euchre or even that sterner devotional exercise called draw poker, will not even begin to end gambling.

The with-doctors of Africa cure their patients by driving the devils away with tom-toms and uncouth music. They never think of looking inside the patient himself for the trouble.

And so with those who would cure the gambling fever or any other vice. It comes from within, not from without. So long as man feels the urge to gamble he will find ways to gamble, even though the lawmakers abolish every known game even down to tiddley-winks.

WHERE PEOPLE RIDE TO CHURCH ON SLEDS

In Holland the country people go to church on sleds. The cold climate and the large water surface of the country is responsible for this unique method of traveling.

Of course, people in our country drive to church on sleds in the winter time or whenever there is snow on the ground. That we all know. In the summer they use the old family flivver or the horse and buggy. If they live in a large city they travel by street car, subway or automobile. In fact, any mode of travel is satisfactory to people of our country, provided it is safe and comfortable and there is no physical exertion attached to it. No one objects to being driven to church in any kind of vehicle, but how many people would go to church if they were compelled to propel themselves for miles and miles over rough and icy roads in order to assist at the service? Not very many you may be sure.

Nevertheless this is exactly the way the sturdy Hollanders travel to their houses of worship. The people of this quaint land are simple-living and religious and any Sunday morning in any village in Holland you will find the roads thronged with villagers on sleds, propelling themselves in this odd manner over broad frozen lakes and rough, icy roads on their way to church.

The sleds are small affairs, capable of holding only two persons at a time, and the rider holds in either hand a long pole, on the end of which is a long, thin point, with which he moves himself along at a fairly good rate of speed by thrusting the sharp points through the thick ice and at the same time bringing the whole strength of his arms to bear on the poles.

A child is given the position of honor at the front of the sled, while father or older brother, in the rear, does the steering.

FIRST IN PEACE

It must be remembered that to the initiative of this country is mainly due such progress as has been made towards reconstructing the economic life of Europe. It was a British inspiration, fortified with the assistance of British expert knowledge, that led to the rescue at the eleventh hour of Austria from economic ruin; it was the persistently hard work of the British that enabled Hungary to be placed on her feet; and it is largely due to the teaching of British experts that the reparation problem has at last been placed on as sound an economic basis as international political considerations will allow. Yet we have done these things not for the gain of our enemies, but for the benefit of Europe and the world generally.—London Times.

WATER NOTICE

(Use and Storage)

TAKE NOTICE that The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. of Canada, Ltd., whose address is Kimberley, B.C., will apply for a licence to take and use 1,000 cubic feet per second and to store 14,000 acre feet of water out of the Elk River, which flows southerly and drains into Kootenay River about 3 miles south of Waldo, B.C. The storage dam will be located 2770 feet south of, and 70 feet east of the south west corner of 6677. The capacity of the reservoir to be created is about 14,000 acre feet, and it will flood about 300 acres of land. The water will be diverted from the stream at a point about 2770 feet south of and 70 feet east of the S. W. corner of 6677, and will be used for power purpose upon the Sullivan Mine, described as Lot 2999 and Lot 6626. This notice was posted on the ground on the 28th day of October, 1924. A copy of this notice and an application pursuant thereto and to the "Water Act, 1914," will be filed in the office of the Water Recorders at Fernie and Cranbrook, B.C. Objections to the application may be filed with the said Water Recorder or with the Comptroller of Water Rights, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., within thirty days after the first appearance of this notice in a local newspaper. The date of the first publication of this notice is Nov. 7th, 1924.

Laxatives do not overcome constipation

LAXATIVES and cathartics provide temporary relief only. Their continued use leads to permanent injury. In time, says an eminent physician, an almost incalculable amount of harm is done by the use of pills, salts, mineral waters, castor oil and the like.

Physicians advise lubrication for Internal Cleanliness

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt the habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

THE OLD MAIDS' CONVENTION

The criticism that the justification of realism may have been responsible for the clever presentation of "The Old Maids' Convention" at the Grand Theatre on Tuesday, Nov. 18, is probably inaccurate and unwarranted, but there can be no question that the performance of this ever popular play, under the auspices of the Robt. J. Black Chapter, I.O.D.E., reached a standard of excellence seldom met on the amateur stage.

The supreme beauty of the caste, adorned in creations that would have roused jealousy among the elite at the Riviera, presented a spectacle that will long be remembered, while the histrionic art displayed by the Young Ladies Single Blessedness Debating Society lacked all the weaknesses so generally connected with amateurs, and would have done credit to stage professionals.

From the rise till the fall of the curtain, the audience was kept intensely interested and amused by the efforts of the "Old Maids."

While the work of the whole caste was highly commendable, special mention should be made of: Miss Dorothy Nelson, whose gestures and all-round acting marked her as a character actress far above the average; Miss Jennie Strachan, who, as President of the Society, handled the convention in a manner that was a lesson to many would-be chairwomen; Miss Helen Sewell, whose 'clinging' appeals brought tears to the eyes of many of the men in the audience; Miss Ada Harper, whose address on "Woman's Rights" reached the souls of both married and unmarried men; Miss Marion Westby, the Dress Reform Cnadidate, whose impersonation of the Reformer was so truly life-like; and Miss Rene Duncan as a very many-summered spinster, 'sans teeth, sans eyes, sans ears, sans everything.'

Some reference should be made to the singing of the Society. Surely never before have tonal shading and harmonious blending reached such a state of perfection,, much of the credit for the fullness of tone being due to the rich bass voice of Miss Evelyn Bean.

Mr. Hunsley, as Professor Makeover, was humorously responsible for some of the surprises of the evening, introducing several well-known artistes.

Miss Norma Douglas as the pianist played "Minuet" (Paderewski), and "Morning Serenade" (Eggeling) with freedom of technique and nicety of tone. Miss Josephine Charlebois gave an artistic rendition of "Vilanette' (Dell Acque), her singing of "Mignon" (D'Hardelot) in reply to demands for an encore being equally sweet and finished. Miss Martha Anderson's Polish dance was, as always, cleverly executed. W. J. Thomas' rich baritone voice was heard in "The Magic of Your Eyes" and "Plantation Lullaby," while Chief Anderson, ever popular, delighted with two foreign songs in praise of his native land.

A great deal of credit for the exceedingly good performance must be given to Mrs. J. C. Connick, who was responsible for the training and stage management, while the Robt. J. Black Chapter I.O.D.E. is to be heartily commended upon its effort in behalf of the Fernie Public Library.

STRIKE OIL IN FLATHEAD

(Lethbridge Herald)

Some time ago the Herald carried a story of the discovery of oil in the well of the Crow's Nest Pass Oil Company, a company financed by Vancouver and Fernie men. The well, located in the Flathead reserve south of Corbin, has been under way for a couple of years, progress being slow on account of the difficulty encountered in hauling in material.

The oil discovery is confirmed by E. C. Gilbault, who returned to the city from Cranbrook over the week-end. Mr. Guilbault brought with him a bottle of the crude which he secured from W. R. Ross, ex-M.L.A. Mr. Ross is heavily interested in the Flathead venture. The sample will be tested at the local oil refinery.

The first oil was found at 500 feet and the second oil at 900 feet. This was a light oil and not present in commercial quantities. At 2000 feet a heavy flow of oil, similar to the Kevin oil, was brought in. It is a dark green crude. Until the pump can be put on the well the production cannot be accurately determined. It looks like a good well, however, in the opinion of oil men.

COAL CREEK NOTES

The hockey match scheduled for Sunday last had to be postponed on account of the thaw which set in. However, the adhrents have nightly indulged in their pastime.

Billy Atherton returned from his hunting trip but failed to bring home the meat.

Rev. Burns of Fernie conducted divine service in the United Church up here on Sunday last.

Jack Caufield has returned home from Fernie Hospital, where he has been under the care of Dr. Kelman, and is now able to be around by the aid of a cane.

The M. F. & M. trains are placed back on strike schedule.

Mrs. Fawley and Mrs. A. Phillips attended the lecture given by Dr. Clarence McKinnon in the United Church, Fernie, representing the Ladies Aid of the local United church.

The many friends of Harry Dunlap were shocked when they heard of his passing away in Fernie hospital. The sympathy of all here is extended to the widow and family left to mourn.

A special train was requisitioned to convey colliery officials and witnesses to attend the inquest on the late Harry Dunlap on Wednesday.

Saturday last was pay day up here. Those employed in 1 East and No. 3 mines received their first pay for 8 months.

A number of the mine horses have been shipped to pasture during the past week.

Regret was expressed that Mr. McNiven, deputy minister of labor, did not include Coal Creek in his investigation into the hard times being experienced by the miners and their families.

Richard Fairclough, for many years a resident of this camp, is making preparations for returning to England. He sails from St. John on Dec. 16. Dick was always known as the kiddies friend.

SILVER FOXES FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA

Montreal, Nov. 15.—Five live silver foxes in transit between Nova Scotia and points in Manitoba and B.C. arriving here yesterday, were associates in confinement in the Dominion Express office with a party of 30 live black foxes which have been consigned from the Broestone Mountain fox ranch in Maine to Minneapolis for show purposes.

The black foxes were valued at $15,000, and while they did not comprise the most valuable shipment of their kind they formed the largest shipment to pass through Montreal for some time. The silver foxes each in its individual crate, are consigned one pair to Parksville, Vancouver Island; another to Ewing's Landing, Okanagan Lake, and the odd one to Killarney, Manitoba.

DISTRICT FORESTER LEAVING SERVICE SHORTLY

The announcement that Norman Moore, district forester here for a number of years past, is leaving the government service at the end of this month, comes as a surprise to many of his friends. Mr. Moore is taking a position with the B.C. Spruce Mills, at Lumberton, as bush foreman.

Succeeding him as district forester here, C. D. Orchard has already arrived from Victoria. Mr. Orchard has been in the central administration branch of the forestry department as one of the junior foresters.

Mr. Moore has devoted much energy to his position, making himing himself familiar with conditions in every part of his big district and gaining thorough information relative to the forest and timber conditions. In the fire season his position has not been an enviable one, permitting no limitations as to hours. Statistics during the past two or three years show that the Cranbrook district has become the third largest in the province measured by the extent of the lumbering operations carried on, and the value of its timber products, Vancouver being an easy first, and Prince Rupert second. —Cranbrook Herald.

THE I. O. D. E. AT HOME

The Executive of the Mount Fernie Chapter Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire entertained the members on Friday evening, Nov. 21, in the I.O.O.F. Hall to a social evening.

Bridge and Five Hundred were played. Mrs. Ewart Gee won the Bridge prize and Mrs. Roy Kirkpatrick the Five Hundred prize. The booby prizes were won by Mrs. Harrington and Miss Wade.

The Regent, Mrs. J. L. Gates, gave a sketch of the work of the organization before and after the war. Motto of the Order: "One Flag, One Throne, One Empire."

Its purposes and aspirations are to develop the spirit of patriotism, to furnish a bond of union amongst the women and children of the Empire, to strengthen the ties between the Dominions and the Motherland, to provide an organization ready for national emergencies, to care for the dependents of our soldiers and sailors, to keep alive the memory of brave and heroic deeds, to promote a higher citizenship amongst all our citizens, British and foreign born. To supplement, where possible, the patriotic efforts of the Provincial Departments of Education.

The Order is non-sectarian and non-political. The responsibility of a member is to realize the significance of membership, to understand the Order, to spread the interest and increase the membership, to remember our obligations as citizens of the Empire; to set an example of respect to our Flag and our National Anthem.

The children's branch of the Order, a very important part of the work, should be of interest to all, for with these children lies the future of the Order.

We have also I.O.D.E. Girl Guides companies. Their motto is: "Be Prepared."

During the Great War our Order equipped and furnished Daughters of the Empire Annexes to the King George and Queen Mary Maple Leaf Clubs, London, England; financed the I.O.D.E. Club for Canadian Nurses in London, England; presented X-ray apparatus and operating theatre to the I.O.D.E. Hospital, London; donated ambulances, motor trucks, machine guns, automobiles and field kitchens; endowed or equipped nearly one thousand cots in military hospitals; maintained nurses at the front; subscribed large sums for prisoners of war; sent in addition enormous quantities of comforts to soldiers, both in the field and in the hospitals. Over $5,500,000 was raised by the Order during the war for various purposes. The Order contributed to the British Red Cross, Serbian, Belgian and Armenian relief. After the war the activities were: Formation and development of the War Memorial of the Order; expansion of educational work, which includes secondary education for soldiers' children; Canadianization of the foreign born; distribution of pictures and libraries; publication of pamphlets; arrangement of essay and historical competitions; supplementary work in public schools; care of returned men in hospitals and elsewhere; public health, especially child welfare in all its branches; local war memorials.

The Order, in recognition of the sacrifices made in the Great War, pledged itself to raise $500,000 which, when accomplished, will provide establishment of bursaries in Canadian universities for children of deceased soldiers and annual post-graduate scholarships in British universities. Distribution of a collection of historial pictures has been made to 1000 public schools in which children are of foreign parentage.

This organization might be called a 20th century institution, formed as the Boer war was closing. February 13, 1925, will be our 25th anniversary. Mount Fernie Chapter has its 12th anniversary this month.

It was during the Great War that the value of this national organization was realized. In 1908 we had 118 Chapters in Canada. On Armistice Day, Nov. 11, 1918, we had four Provincials, 24 Municipals, 642 primaries and 80 Juniors. At the present we have in the neighborhood of 800 Chapters.

Not only is the gain of Chapters and members encouraging, but the importance of this organization to the Dominion in playing a supplementary part to the fighting men, who saved the Allies from the Hun, was of estimable assistance.

The I.O.D.E. formed a centre of inspiration in many communities and helped to keep up the courage of those who were disheartened and distressed.

The I.O.D.E. can still do greater service for Canada, and organized as we are in every province in the Dominion, we can exert a powerful influence for good, keeping ever before us the supreme ideals of the Order. We are aiding in the Empire when we work for Canadian progress. It is only with the supreme source of all strength that, in this world of unrest, we can hope to get the inspiration and guidance that will solve all our problems.

There is a responsibility for each of us. The role of women as guide and teacher is nothing new. It is more important than ever before that the youth of our country should know its story and the duties that devolve upon its citizens.

CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND

Now is your last chance to buy a Christmas Cheer Fund dance ticket. All net receipts will go to this worthy cause. Expenses will be kept down to the lowest possible level. The Fernie Elks orchestra have donated their services gratis. The ladies of the Elks are furnishing the refreshments for the banquet and you can depend on them to do their best for the cause. Brother Max Belecky has donated the use of the dining room of the Napanee Hotel and the Elks the I.O.O.F. hall and other services.

Practically one hundred per cent of the receipts will go to this relief fund, and besides helping to cheer up our unfortunates, you will have the time of your life, as the Elks always give you value for your money, and this will be the biggest and best affair put up by them so far. If you can see your way clear, buy a ticket for the sake of the women and children and help lighten their burden by bringing a little cheer to them at this time. Fernie Elks have a number of surprise features for this occasion.

An itemized statement of all receipts and expenses will be published next week in the Fernie Free Press.

GENERAL ELECTION IN JUNE?

Toronto, Nov. 27.—The Evening Telegram today says it is reported in political circles that there will be a Dominion election in June next as the result of the Liberal victory in the West Hastings by-election.

It is also rumored that Hon. Robt. Rogers will run as the Conservative candidate in South Toronto in place of Dr. Charles Sheard, M.P., who may retire on dissolution of the present house.

BEGINNING OF TECHNICAL EDUCATION IN FERNIE

One of the most interesting things at the Central School is the class in Infant Hygiene, given after school hours to the girls in the Entrance class and the 7th grade. At present this class is taken by the school nurse, who follows a course laid out by the Provincial Board of Health, working in conjunction with the Provincial Board of Education department of evening classes and technical education.

The class is both theoretical and practical, for the school nurse gives a little lecture on the most modern, practical and scientific ways for caring for a baby in the average Canadian home. This talk is followed by a general discussion, after which the nurse demonstrates, using a life sized celluloid baby doll which can be washed in real water and dressed in real clothes. After the demonstration each girl does something for the baby doll while the nurse-instructor watches and the other students criticize.

Mothers of the girls may come as visitors but will not take part in the practice.

In Vancouver, at present, this class in Infant Hygiene has become a regular part of the course in Domestic Science which the girls have, while the boys are taking manual training such as carpentry.

The classes in Infant Hygiene are held immediately after school on Wednesday and Friday afternoons.

SOLUTION IS CO-OPERATION

Editor Fernie Free Press:

Dear Sir—The letter published in the last issue of the Free Press mentioned certain subversive doctrines, and attributed to their pernicious influence the strange disregard for their own welfare occasionally displayed by the miners. One of these fallicies, and probably the most dangerous of them all, is the belief in the existence of a "class struggle," entailing the no less misleading proposition that the interests of employers and employees are diametrically opposed, from which it is easily postulated that anything prejudicial to the one is necessarily of some benefit to the other. The excerpts of the I.W.W.'s constitution, printed on the red cards carried by the members of this so-called labor organization, can be adduced as proof of the extent to which this aphorism is being spread, chiefly among those to whom it is liable to become detrimental.

Charlie O'Brien, that many old timers will still remember, described socialism as being "the Materialistic Conception of History," a beautiful expression, or rather one that might be so if it meant anything, which it does not; but even this statement of "Windy Charlie" was not as entirely devoid of meaning as the above mentioned "Class Struggle" phantasm.

Generally speaking, the leaders of the so-called "advanced" school of thought are opposed to the principles that we are wont to froup under the name of patriotism, ostensibly on the ground that national boundaries afford too restricted a field for the proper manifestation of their immense altruism. Their denunciation of patriotic sentiments of the militaristic variety is especially bitter, for, according to their mode of reasoning, they lead to war, and war is particularly hateful to the mind of those that entertain an exaggerated opinion of their own importance. International war takes its toll of misery only for a comparatively short time, then subsides for many years during which the fires of hate are subdued and friendly relations prevail. The Prussian general, Colmar von der Goltz, is credited with the statement that, "the immediate object of war is the re-establishment of peace in the shortest possible time." Dividing the citizens of the same country into "classes," claimed to have less in common than the religious castes of India, amounts simply to the introduction of a permanent state of internal hostilities, with the unavoidable ruin of all concerned as the ultimate result. Here one faces also another problem; for the very nature of these "classes" is as nebulous as are all the other theories pertaining to the same subject.

Who belongs and who does not belong to the working class is a question that no one can answer satisfactorily. Is the division to be based on a man's occupation, his intellectual training, his political opinions, or the size of his income? Should school teachers, engineers or physicians be considered as members of the working class? If not, on what grounds should they be disqualified? At what precise moment in their lives did the Premier of this Province and the General Manager of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. sever their connection with the working class? If any one can answer these conundrums, give him a seat in the senate, for he deserves it. We thus see a war carried on between forces whose exact nature is so uncertain that it is impossible to decide who is on one side and who should be on the other.

Coming back to our own case, we find that a great deal of the difficulties of which we have suffered in the past, and are still suffering severely at the present time, are due to the belligerent state of mind fostered among a large section of our fellow townsmen, by the machinations of those intent upon "boring from within." We are now confronting a situation against which all the nostrums of economic quacks are powerless, for it is no more a question of training a revolutionary army, but one of preserving women and children from starvation. The only way out of the difficulty lies in frank and honest co-operation between the miners and the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. The reopening of the Coal Creek mines does not depend upon the whims of the one or the other, but upon the success of their combined efforts to regain the trade lost during the last strike. A matter of such tremendous importance to all parties concerned must be treated in a businesslike manner. Only an insane man tries to batter down a brick wall by striking it with his head.

Hiram Frieden.

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE BOARD OF TRADE

A special meeting of the Board of Trade was held last evening with some fifteen members present. In the absence of the President, Vice-President Dr. Gee occupied the chair.

A committee consisting of Harry Douglas and Dr. Gee was appointed to take care of some financial affairs.

D. G. Harvie was elected secretary to take the place of Fred Spalding, resigned.

A vote of thanks to Fred Spalding was unanimously passed for his able work in connection with the tourist business.

The meeting then adjourned.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE HARRY DUNLAP

The remains of the late Harry Dunlap were laid to rest in St. Margaret's cemetery on Sunday last. The remains were accompanied from the undertaking parlors by a very large concourse of friends and sympathizers, consisting of Old Timers, Odd Fellows, officials of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., and fellow workmen. Rev. Wm. Burns held service in the United church, which was packed to capacity, after which the cortege proceeded to the cemetery. The last rites to the departed were conducted by the I.O.O.F., of which order the deceased was a member for many years.

MRS. R. W. WOOD HOSTESS AT SMART DINNER AFFAIR

The Vancouver Sun says: Mrs. R. W. Wood was a charming hostess last evening at a very smart dinner party arranged at one of the exclusive town clubs, when about thirty guests of the city smart set gathered around the daintily appointed dinner table. The affair was in compliment to Mrs. Wood's sister-in-law, Mrs. James Wallace Wood, of Toronto, who is visiting in town.

Throughout the dinner an orchestra was in attendance in the dining room, and the floral decorations were both unique and attractive. Clusters of lights were enclosed in a picturesque balloon-shaped shade of petaled pink and white, and further illumination was provided by rosy tapers behind miniature balloon-shaped pink shades in tall holders. Clusters of shaggy pink and whit chrysanthemums graced each end of the table, which was circular in shape, enclosing a grotto-like sunken garden, holding tall bullrushes, ferns and pink and and white chrysanthemums graced ing fountain enclosing twinkling colored light, made iridescent with the play of the water.

Tables of bridge and mah jongg were in play for the guests later in the evening.

The dinner guests were Mrs. James Wallace Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant Henshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Lay, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Trites, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Billings, Mr. Justice D. A. Macdonald and Mrs. Macdonald, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Macdonald, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Coyle, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Macaulay, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Macdonald, Dr. and Mrs. Bonnell, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Lane, Miss Agnes Campbell of New York, Mrs. Jean Matthews, Miss Helen Darling, Mrs. J. H. Lawson, Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald, Colonel Jack Leckie, Mr. John Pugh, Mr. Norman Berkinshaw, Mr. Stockton and Mr. William Davidson.

APPEAL ALLOWED IN THE CAVAN CASE

Calgary, Nov. 27.—The appeal of the C.P.R. against the judgment of Mr. Justice Walsh, in which he allowed the plaintiff, T. Cavan, a C. P.R. conductor, $10,000 damages for alleged wrongful dismissal, has been allowed by the appellate court of Alberta, with costs.

CRIME IN VANCOUVER

One of Vancouver's Police Commissioners is responsible for the statement that the police there are not effectually cleaning up crime in the city. The Police Commission itself is responsible to an extent and it is very natural to ask what it is doing. Vancouver is surfeited by a series of statements about what is going to be done to remedy conditions there, but apparently there is inefficiency somewhere. In proportion to its size and the size of its police force there is far too much crime in Vancouver. Not only is there too much perpetrated but there are too many cases in which the authors of crime remain unpunished. It looks as if there is sound reason to believe that the municipal police there, found wanting as they have been, are jealous about summoning to their aid the other police agencies in the province. It is not apparent that they co-operated in any way they should have with the provincial police in the efforts to solve the Janet Smith murder mystery. In this crime, which aroused so much public interest, neither of the police bodies concerned thought it worth while to invoke the assistance of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, a body which is the most efficient in Canada in running criminals to earth.

We do not know how much truth there is, if any, about the claims made in some quarters that Vancouver enjoys the unenviable reputation of having a record of crimes unexpiated as large, in proportion to its population, as that of any city in the Dominion. For the sake of the good name of British Columbia we hope this is wholly incorrect. It is clear, however, that there is something lacking in police administration there and it has become a subject of provincial concern. It has become a subject of such vital importance that it should engage the attention of the legislature while that body is now in session. For one thing there should be an understanding that in the future, where major crimes are concerned, the assistance of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police should be sought at once by both provincial and municipal authorities. Police administration is by far too serious a subject to allow of petty jealousies holding sway. If the machinery of purely provincial and municipal organization is ineffective, as it has proved so many times, then Dominion aid should be sought in tracking down criminals. Too many breaches are being effected in the barriers placed between society and evil-doers in the city of Vancouver. —Colonist.

DECREASING DEATH RATE

Sir George Newman has issued a report on "The State of the Public Health in Great Britain for 1923," which shows that the death rate for that year was the lowest in the history of the country; the general death rate being 11.6 per thousand of population and the rate of infant mortality 69 per thousand births. The general death rate has decreased one-half in fifty years, the figures for 1875 being 23.3 per thousand.

These figures prove what has been accomplished by a systematic and sustained campaign against disease and the unsanitary conditions favorable to its propagation.

There is one disturbing feature in an otherwise satisfactory report, and that is, 40 per cent of the total deaths occur before the age of 50. Public health laws will prevent disease to a large extent, but they have no control over individual appetite or personal habits of self-indulgence; these are matters to be regulated solely by the will of the individual.

That 40 per cent of the total deaths should occur before the prime of life has been reached, is not according to nature, and the tragedy lies in the fact that it might be greatly remedied. Personal habits of living are largely responsible for the excessive premature toll of life.

Temperance is a noble virtue — temperance in everything—and without it all other virtues can never prevent physical disaster.

"The healthy know not of their health, but only the sick," says Carlyle, and pity 'tis, 'tis true.

Three Rivers, Quebec, Has New Station

Citizens of Three Rivers, Quebec, regard the recent inauguration of the new Canadian Pacific Railway Station as marking a new epoch in the life of their city inasmuch as it affords proof of the status already attained by Trois-Rivieres as an industrial centre and of the greater prominence it is expected to occupy in the future. The new station building is the most up-to-date and magnificent of its kind in eastern Canada. Of its construction cost, not less than $200,000 represents the amount of money spent in Three Rivers.

Some idea as to the way Three Rivers has developed may be gathered from a few remarks made by E. J. Hebert, first assistant general passenger agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, in proposing a toast at the banquet that marked the official opening. "Until 1875 navigation was the only transportation facility" he said. "Then the Northern Railway was built between Quebec, Three Rivers and Montreal, but it was not until 1905 that industries began to appear. With the opening of the St. Maurice Valley Railway trade developed rapidly. The towns of Shawinigan Falls, Grand Mere, Cap-de-la-Madeleine, La Gabelle, small hamlets in 1905, have become important industrial centres, with populations respectively of 12,000, 7,500 and 3,000 people, while Three Rivers itself has over 30,000 population now and is still growing."

THE MORE—THE MERRIER

Baltimore Sun: Aliens are reported to be trying to enter the United States by airplane from Canada. This news may interest those who desire to stimulate airplane traffic in the United States. The number of foreigners who are willing and finally able to travel by air cannot be large, and the arrangement might well be made to admit all who, being otherwise acceptable, take passage in American machines. Certainly such immigrants could hardly be regarded as backward and unprogressive.

"SEEK AND YE SHALL FIND"

Many people make a mistake in believing that their education is finished when they leave school.

Only a small proportion of the population can afford advanced education, but those who are unable to take a university course need not be handicapped by the limitations of their knowledge.

Systematic daily reading on informative subjects will soon bridge the distance between high school and university graduates.

It is not an uncommon thing to hear young people say, that they have no time after business hours to take up any course of study.

Everything of real value in life must be paid for, and education acquired at the expense of a few simple amusements is the greatest bargain that can be obtained in life.

The special classes of the Y.M.C.A. and city night schools offer a splendid opportunity to all who are ambitious to train themselves for better service and higher positions.

To be of commercial value, a general education must be supplemented by technical training in the special branches associated with the chosen calling of the individual.

STOP THE EXODUS

Ashcroft Journal: The solution of the emigation problem for Canada is more development of our natural resources, more manufacture here and less importation from over the line. This, coupled with an equalization of costs of material and the price of commodities in Canada with those obtaining in the United States would go a great length towards the adjustment of the emigration problem. There seems no logical reason why one continent, two portions separated by no geographical barrier of any kind, should differ so radically in prices of foodstuffs and other material. There is no military wall dividing the two countries; why the necessity of a commercial one?

Here and There

During the past season the Canadian Pacific Railway used on all its lines approximately 6,500,000 ties, according to a report just issued. The woods used include British Columbia fir, hemlock, tamarac, jack pine, spruce, maple and birch.

Tourist traffic in New Brunswick during the past summer left nearly $3,000,000 in the province, an amount almost equal to the total provincial revenue, according to an estimate of the New Brunswick Tourist Association. Approximately 70,000 tourists visited the province.

One thousand British Columbia rose bushes are being shipped to Portland, Ore., "the Rose City." Portland, famous all over the continent for its roses, buys the varieties produced in British Columbia because they are the hardiest and best suited for growing in North America.

Silver production in Ontario for 1924 will not vary materially from that of 1923, judging by figures available for the first nine months of the year from the reports of several operating companies, though some increases will be shown. Production to date has amounted to about $19,500 a day.

Caribou have been seen in very large numbers this season in the northern part of Yukon territory. Old-timers say that the main herd must have numbered tens of thousands, while in some of the smaller herds that had broken temporarily from the main herd there were hundreds and sometimes thousands.

The very first aerial stowaway ever known was discovered recently aboard a plane in the Laurentide Air Service, Limited, operating on its Rouyn gold fields service in association with the Canadian Pacific Railway. The serious effect of the extra weight on the flying powers of the machine was so noticeable that it led to the man's discovery. As he had hidden himself with a desire to see his sick wife and child, he was not punished.

The enormous contribution to the wealth of Canada made by the Canadian Pacific Railway was alluded to by E. W. Beatty, K.C., Chairman and President of the Company, when, speaking at Welland, Ont., on November 7th, at the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the building of the first Welland Canal, he stated that the company in 1923 dispersed in the Dominion $202,000,000 in wages and materials, and $7,000,000 in taxes of all kinds.

November 7th was the 39th anniversary of the driving of the last spike in the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, an event which completed the Dominion's first transcontinental railroad, fulfilled the terms of Confederation and made Canada a nation. A stone monument now marks the spot at Craigellachie, in the Rocky Mountains, where Lord Strathcona (then Sir Donald A. Smith) wielded the hammer which united East and West.

AMERICA'S POPULAR SPORT

British Columbian: Homicide seems to be in a fair way towards recognition as a preferred occupation in the United States from the insurance standpoint. One large company has been making investigation as to the penalty paid by those responsible for the $724,000 paid out by this company for homicide claims during 1922. These claims covered 446 homicide cases, of which 146 taken at random were investigated for the purpose of ascertaining the penalty paid. Only one person of these 146 paid the death penalty. The homicide rate of the United States is six times as great as that of Canada.

ADVERTISED VIRGINIA COAL AS DOMESTIC FUEL SUPPLY

Winnipeg, Nov. 25. — Cross-examined by J. B. Hugg, K.C., representing the Alberta government, A. B. Hudson, local coal dealer, one of the complainants at whose instance the alleged Western Canada coal combine is being investigated, admitted that he was selling West Virginia splint coal as domestic coal, at last night's session of the Campbell commission. He had advertised it was a better buy at $12.50 a ton than Drumheller at $8.50.

Mr. Hudson admitted that the value of the coal depended on the plant in which the Virginia coal was used.

"I know there is some very poor coal from Alberta and a little good coal," Mr. Hudson said, when asked if he had any knowledge of the characteristics of Alberta coal. He had no knowledge of West Virginia coals as he had never handled them till quite recently.

Mr. Hudson refused to divulge the source from which he purchased the Virginia coal, and also declined to give the purchase price, but later, on the suggestion of Mr. Campbell, explained that for coal that he was now selling at $12.50 a ton to the consumer, he had paid about $10 including the costs and duty laid down at the yard. He paid $9.30 for what his company were selling at $10.

Commissioner Campbell stated that every dealer who came before him would have to state the price he was paying for coal and the prices he was selling at.

During the cross-examination the witness complained that Mr. Hugg was anxious to get information as to where he got his coal, because the Alberta government was anxious to shut off his supply of coal.

Mr. Hugg: "This witness is not answering questions. I suggest he is making a joke of the whole thing. It is absurd to say that the Alberta government is interested in where he gets his coal."

Carnation Milk
"From Contented Cows"

What the Red and White Label Means to the Modern Housewife

IT means real economy. Carnation keeps—none is wasted. It serves every need for milk. In place of cream for coffee, cereals or fruits, use it just as it comes from the can. For cooking, simply add water as desired. For tea use one part Carnation, three parts water.

It means wonderful convenience! Get it with your groceries. Store it in your pantry. It is always ready, always sweet and pure—always the same dependable quality.

Carnation is just pure fresh milk, evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization. It bears a label the housewife can trust.

Order several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans from your grocer. Test it, critically, yourself.

The Carnation Recipe Book is a splendid collection of 100 tested recipes. A copy of this Recipe Book is ready for you. Write for it today. It's FREE.

RICE PUDDING.—2½ cups water, 1½ cups Carnation Milk, ⅛ cup rice, ½ tsp. salt, 2 tbsp. sugar. Wash rice, mix ingredients, and pour into buttered baking dish. Bake two and one-half hours in a very slow oven, stirring every twenty minutes the first hour of baking to prevent rice from settling.

This Lassie Has Her Colds "Rubbed Away"

The mother of this attractive little girl, Mrs. E. E. Emmans, of 215 Seventh Ave., N. E., Portage La Prairie, Man., is one of the many Canadian mothers who are enthusiastic about the vaporizing salve, Vicks VapoRub, for treating children's colds. Mrs. Emmans writes: "My little girl had croup at night pretty badly and Vicks did her a lot of good. I have also used it with very satisfactory results for head and chest colds."

Vicks is just "rubbed on" for sore throat, tonsilitis, bronchitis, croup or deep chest colds. When so applied, Vicks has a double direct action: internally medicated vapors are inhaled while, at the same time, externally, it is absorbed through and stimulates the skin.

"Moose are plentiful in the Chapleau, Ont., district, and hunters can secure a good 'bag' of deer and bear," says J. W. McVey. Experienced guides can be obtained and hunters are assured they will get their limit.

"One of the things for which Canada is most to be congratulated is that she has established a system of education that compares favorably with any in the world. Canada is a nation of literates, she has a remarkably small proportion of illiterates," stated the Right Hon. H. A. L. Fisher, former Minister of Education in the British government, when disembarking at Montreal.

One of the many gifts offered by enthusiastic individuals to the Prince of Wales on his visit, the majority of which he could not for obvious reasons accept, was a package of French-Canadian tobacco grown on a farm at St. Roch l'Achigan, situated near the boundaries of Montcalm and Assomption counties. In a letter from the Alberta ranch the Prince through his secretary thanked the donor for the gift.

A cablegram from London, England, quotes an article in the "Financial News" dealing with the British Empire Exhibition. It stresses the exceptionally fine exhibit staged by Canada and the unquestionable benefit to trade relations it has effected. The article pays a high tribute to the Canadian Pacific Railway exhibit, describing the railway's gorgeously illuminated map of Canada, with its 5,000 incandescent lights as probably the most brilliant specimen of cartography ever seen at the exhibition or elsewhere.

It has been announced that H. J. Logan, M.P. for Cumberland, will accompany the Minister of Trade and Commerce to the West Indies to negotiate a new reciprocal treaty with those islands. The general purpose of the visit is to admit West Indian commodities free in return for Canadian manufacturers receiving similar treatment, the products of the two countries being entirely dissimilar. It is also hoped to build up a direct system of importations through Canadian ports instead of through the United States, by which route a great proportion of West Indian products now come to Canada.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has appointed P. A. Cox, general agent, to be assistant Oriental manager, at Shanghai, and E. F. L. Sturdee, acting general passenger agent for the Orient, to be general passenger agent for the Orient, with headquarters at Hongkong. Leo Solloway, recently appointed asiatic freight agent, with offices at Montreal, and supervision over Oriental and Australasian traffic via Pacific ports, has the distinction of being the youngest official in the Canadian Pacific Service. He was born in Vancouver, in 1895, and has been in the steamship freight service 14 years.

The winners of the Canadian Pacific Railway's Ontario bungalow camps fishing trophy competitions for 1924 were announced recently. The French River competition resulted in two competitors turning in fish almost identically alike. In this contest a tie was declared. The successful anglers were D. W. L. Hawkins, New York City, and H. H. Champ, Hamilton, Ontario, each entering a small mouth bass weighing exactly 4 pounds. The winning fish at Nipigon River Camp was a 6 pound, 10 ounce trout, caught by William Metzger, Detroit, Michigan. The Devil's Gap (Lake of the Woods) trophy was won by J. A. Furlong, Winnipeg, Manitoba, who entered a muscalunge weighing 20 pounds, 8 ounces.

A THOUGHTFUL ACT

A hamper of provisions which remained over from the recent Michel Football Club dance was received in Fernie last week and distributed. This was a thoughtful and charitable act on the part of the dance committee. Many thanks are due to those who kindly donated these things.

THE HOME BANK TRIALS

Toronto, Nov. 25.—C. A. Barnard, K.C., of Montreal, one of the directors of the defunct Home Bank, was this morning found guilty on three counts under the Canadian Banking Act arising out of the collapse of that institution.

The three charges are that he did count containing false or deceptive statements; unlawfully use a false or deceptive statement, and negligently sign, approve or concur in an account containing false or decptive statements." The statement referred to in each case is the annual report of the bank's affairs for its fiscal year ending May 31, 1923, to the minister of finance.

Another director, Lieut.-Col. C. F. Smith, of Montreal, was convicted on one count, as were also Ocean G. Smith, former chief accountant, and Sidney H. Jones, former auditor.

J. F. M. Stewart, a third director, is now being tried.

With those previously convicted Barnard will be sentenced on December 31. He is the first of those tried to be found guilty of all three charges made by the crown.

R. S. Robertson, K.C., counsel for Barnard, asked for a certificate for appeal. Judge Coatsworth will give his decision on the application on Friday. The crown contended that such application must be based on law only and not on fact, although Mr. Robertson stated that his case was one of mixed law and fact. Until his sentence Barnard is allowed the same bail as he had during his trial.

As in all other Home Bank cases the judge found that the annual statement for 1923 contained false statements. The judgment reviews Mr. Barnard's history as a director of the bank, pointing out that in his seven and a half years on the board he attended 29 meetings out of 250 held, and that he drew $2765 as director's fees. His individual payments amounted to $12,890.37 personal; to another in trust $34,890.37, and to his company, the Fidelity Trust, $79,885. These, says the judgment, were not paid out of realized profits. The judge finds that from 1916 to 1923 unpaid interest was capitalized to the amount of $2,860,651 and mostly carried into profit. The cash on hand to pay the dividends, he states, was obtained from the public deposits.

The judgment states that it was the duty of the accused to have been present at the annual meeting in 1923 and that his absence is not in his favor. The real offense was not in reading the statement but in preparing it.

Judge Coatsworth states that Barnard's conception of his duty was very narrow as he considered it performed when he relied upon the bank officials. He says that the accused first came under observation as a benefactor of the bank in 1916, when there is evidence that he expected to assist in putting the bank in a perfectly safe position. "This role did not continue very long because we find him next as a borrower, and this continues from year to year and seems to come to a climax in 1919 when we have the disastrous personal transactions of the Davis Co. cheques, which, deposited to his account, show a total loss to the bank of $165,000; and his own personal overdraft of $105,612, making a total of $622,612, and the unloading on the bank of the two steamers which were hung like millstones on the neck of the bank and must have greatly assisted in submerging that institution. So far from being security those ships actually cost the bank $375,969, and the liquidators have been able to realize only $39,000 on them.

"Though the accused neglected the directors' meetings, he was actively mixed up in the business of the bank and did not neglect any opportunity of using funds of the bank for his own purposes and those of his companies. Meantime he must have known what the enormous debts concerning which he interceded with the minister of finance had, instead of being paid for or reduced, piled up higher and higher until all control was lost. This knowledge made him more emphatic in his duty to look after the interests of the shareholders who elected him. The accused was deeply involved in all the wrecking transactions either by direct participation or actual knowledge and cannot now plead ignorance. His visit to the minister of finance in 1916 showed a knowledge of the large bad debts of the bank which never improved. He himself added another to them which may have been the last straw because on the 31st of May, 1923, his debts and the boat losses assumed by the British Dominion Holding and Investment Corporation amounted to $1,042,882.

"In conclusion, I find the accused guilty as charged on all three counts."

With reference to strikes, the Ottawa Journal makes the following comment editorially: "The strike method, instead of being the first resort of employees, should be the very last; but somehow there always seems to be enough hot heads in the community to wrongly persuade their fellows—invariably to their undoing. The strike method was always the wrong method; for workers to go out on strike at the present time, when industry is depressed, is both foolish and cruel. Under the stress of keen competition and lessened business, employers are often not able to do for their employees what they would like to do or what the employers think they are entitled to."

The Wonderful Fruit Medicine

Anyone who suffers with miserable health; who is tortured with Headaches; and who is unable to get any real pleasure out of life; will be interested in this letter of Mrs. Martha de Wolfe of East Ship Harbor, N.S.

Mrs. de Wolfe says, "For years I was a dreadful sufferer from Constipation and Headaches and I was miserable in every way. Nothing in the way of medicine seemed to help me. Then I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and the effect was splendid; and after taking only one box, I was completely relieved and now feel like a new person".

THE HIGH WAGE BUBBLE

The situation which has now arisen at Fernie from the temporary closing down of the mines at Coal Creek is a reminder that will serve to impress upon all observers the lesson that high wages do not always spell prosperity. The miners gradually forced the wages up. During the war years there was justification for it, and no opposition was met with when the increases were tacked on the price of coal, because everyone expected to pay more, in keeping with the general trend of things. But in later years there has been a feeling among the consuming public that the trend of things should be downward. This feeling was apparent in the markets where the Fernie coal was to be sold and gradually the product of the mines became more and more difficult to dispose of. Still the wages kept up, and work became less plentiful. Strike succeeded strike, finally disorganizing production so that the supply became undependable. That was the finishing touch. Industries that uses coal in large quantities cannot hazard anything on its fuel supply. Now the mines must close till different conditions permit them to re-open on the same stable basis.

It is worth noting that the company offered the men a five year contract at what seemed fair wages, though a little lower paid under the previous contract and there was then every prospect of steady work. Union leaders scorned the proposition, and preferred to wait a settlement for the entire district. But the men now find that there are other things to consider besides how much the miners are to get out of it. Which would have been preferable, continuous work at slightly lower wages, or little or no work at higher wages?

The people of Fernie have seen many vicissitudes during the existence of the city, and while it must be a serious blow to the business men and those with property interests it is safe to say there are men of courage and resource who will be able and willing to adapt themselves to the new and somewhat stringent conditions now presenting themselves, and so hold the situation in hand till better fortunes come their way. A city that can stand fires of the magnitude of those which have swept Fernie, and can also stand the rocking of a bank failure that annihilated nearly a million dollars of its cash resources, will probably meet this latest catastrophe with more stoicism than other places which have not been so severely tried. — Cranbrook Herald.

STEWART TRIAL CONCLUDED

Toronto, Nov. 26.—The trial of J. F. M. Stewart, director of the defunct Home Bank on charges of making, using, approving and concurring in false statements of the financial affairs of the bank, will be concluded this afternoon. D. L. McCarthy, crown prosecutor, finished his address to Judge Coatsworth this morning, and I. F. Hellmuth, defense counsel, got well started.

Mr. Hellmuth moved for a non-suit arguing that the crown had failed to establish a case. Judge Coatsworth refused the application.

Defence counsel declared that Mr. Stewart had been deliberately and successfully deceived as to the condition of the bank, and that not one of the big loans made by Daly or Mason had even come before the board of directors for approval or disapproval.

Mr. McCarthy contended that Mr. Stewart must have been in a position to have known much of what was going on and what wrecked the bank. If he did not know it was his duty as a director to have known.

Major Nash was the last witness in the case, as the defence did not put in any evidence. The auditor admitted to Mr. Hellmuth under cross-examination that Mr. Stewart at the time of the collapse of the bank had about $5000 in deposits in it and that Mrs. Stewart had about $1000 in a savings account. Mr. Stewart's account had received deposits between May 31, 1923, and August of that year, when the bank suspended. He also stated that Mr. Stewart as a shareholder had paid his double liability.

Mr. McCarthy said that the close connection of the accused with the Reynolds company, which was a lumbering concern in B.C., must have given him knowledge of the Pacific coast transactions of the bank. It was extraordinary to suggest, he stated, that anyone sitting on a board of directors could be ignorant of the big loans made by the bank.

Mr. McCarthy said that the crown did not suggest that Stewart got anything out of the Haney companies but he should have known that no interest was being paid on the loans made to them.

Mr. Hellmuth contended that Mr. Stewart had a right to assume that other directors of the bank in making loans were as well secured as he was himself. None of the loans were brought to his attention and therefore there had been a reception of which the accused could have known nothing.

J. S. Irvine returned Tuesday from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Trites arrived home from Vancouver on Wednesday.

Bishop Douall of Kootenay will be the speaker at the Rotary luncheon next Monday at the Fernie Hotel.

Rev. Wm. Burns spent several days in Nelson this week on church business.

George Moses, who was ill the early part of the week, is able to be around again.

Splendid selection of home cooking, also candy, at the United Church bazaar.

District Representative Ryan of the U.M.W. of A., was in town yesterday looking over the situation, but no meeting was called.

Don't forget the whist drive and dance in the Catholic Hall tonight. This is the last social of the season. Come and have a good time. Admission 50c.

Fernie Provincial Police district has been enlarged to include Cranbrook. Chief Greenwood, with headquarters here, will be in charge of the territory from Crow's Nest to Creston.

Mrs. Henderson, who was sentenced to six months in Nelson jail for bootlegging, was taken to that jail on Sunday. A woman from Wardner is also serving six months there on a similar charge.

A marriage license was issued at the local government office today to Edward R. Blake, of Saskatchewan, and Miss Helen Rudnicki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Rudnicki of Fernie.

W. R. Wilson has purchased a new seven passenger Studebaker Sedan. The car arrived from Calgary on Monday, and Stafford left with it for Vancouver on Wednesday. He went by way of Portland.

Sam Graham, late of Fernie, but now representing the Pacific Coast Iron Pipe and Foundry Co. of Los Angeles, is in the city this week on business. Sam is looking fine and the sunny south sure seems to agree with him.

The water was turned on Wednesday in the pipe under the river, but before a proper test could be made one of the big 18-inch pipes on the other side of the river burst. The pipe must have been very defective as very little pressure had been turned on when it gave way. It will be a day or two before it can be repaired.

A man was found dead near Crow's Nest on Tuesday morning, having committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor. The body was found a couple of hundred yards from the station and no one seems to have any knowledge of who he was. The provincial police brought the remains to Natal for interment. They art investigating the affair.

Do not forget the Poultry Show, which is to be held in the Union Hall on Dec. 3 and 4. All the best birds in the district will be on exhibition, as well as very rare varieties of pigeons, which have never been shown in the district before. Everybody is welcome. There will be no admission, so come along and spend a few hours. There is only one poultry show each year and we are sure that you will be interested. The improvement in the different breeds this year is a credit to the fanciers of Fernie.

Orders have been received from the Provincial government by Road Engineer Hayne to widen the road around the Crow's Nest hill and also to fill in the gully at the hairpin turn. About one hundred men will be required to do this work and it is estimated that $5000 will be spent. The work is provided by the government at this time in order to take care of some of the unemployed in Fernie. We understand that the men are being paid $3.75 per day. A lot of the men object to the work at Crow's Nest Lake because the weather is so cold and that point is one that is very much exposed to the elements. Some of them would prefer to work in the mines even if they only received five or six dollars a day.

Francis White has been on the sick list this week.

Remember the afternoon tea tomorrow, Nov. 29, in the basement of the United Church.

With school kids skating tickets at $1 per the rink should be well patronized this year by the children.

The Bank of Hamilton building is being thoroughly overhauled and replastered after the recent fire.

Special for Saturday—Hermits, 15c a dozen. They are good.—Crow's Nest Bakery.

District President Wm. Sherman was in town on Wednesday. He left on the G.N. for the south on Thursday morning on a holiday trip.

The Right Rev. Alexander J. Doull, D.D., Bishop of Kootenay, will hold Confirmation service on Monday, Dec. 1, at 7.30 p.m., in Christ Church.

Ice cream can be had at the bazaar being held in the basement of the United Church, Saturday afternoon, Nov. 29.

The Robert J. Black Chapter of the I.O.D.E. wish to thank Mr. Commons and his orchestra, who so kindly donated their services to "The Old Maids' Convention."

Miss M. M. Anderson has been granted leave of absence from the Fernie teaching staff until June 30 next. The Fernie Board of School Trustees is calling for applications for substitute teacher to take Miss Anderson's place.

A candy shower will be held on Thursday, Dec. 4, from 3 till 6 p.m., in the basement of Christ Church. Contributions will be received for the candy stall at Guild Sale on Dec. 6, where a novel treat is in store for the children. Afternoon tea will be served.

Thirty years ago, as the Saskatchewan Herald recalls, the price of beef was 2 cents to 3 cents a pound, mutton 5 cents to 5½ cents, chicken 5 cents to 8 cents, butter 20 cents to 25 cents. Housewives will now know what is meant by the "good old days."

Matt. Tully and son are working hard getting the curling ice in shape for the season. They have already a fine foundation and expect to have the ice in shape in a few days. The curling fee has been reduced to $10 and the membership committee are hard at work rustling new members.

The small boy during the past summer has caused a lot of trouble at the curling rink by smashing everything in sight and stealing electric light fixtures, etc. The chief of police is investigating and an example will be made of anyone found guilty.

P. T. MacCallum, Department of Immigration Inspector of Vancouver was in the city Tuesday evening and left for Vancouver again Wednesday morning, taking with him a Hindu named Bhagat Singh, who was arrested last week at Galloway for an alleged violation of the immigration law.

Drastic changes in the provincial police system have been effected by Attorney General Manson. In future Inspector Miller, of the Liquor Control Board, and his staff, will be full-fledged officials of the provincial police, reporting to Col. McMullen, superintendent of enforcement under the government Liquor Act. The attorney general expects this arrangement to aid materially in the enforcement of the liquor laws.

Very important changes in the Motor Vehicles Act are being put through the House by Attorney General Manson. In future all drivers of motor vehicles will be asked to pay a license fee of one dollar and must have their licenses on them at all times when in charge of an automobile. Automobile courts will be established for the handling of all offences against the Act, the attorney general urging the prevention of accidents through police intervention. A plan similar to that in use in the State of Washington will be inaugurated in this province. Motorists' licenses will be issued in the form of white cards. This is suspended after the first offence and a blue card substituted. Following a second offence a red card will be given the motorist. After six months, if the driver has shown care and an intention to live up to the law the original white card will be given back again, thus starting the driver off again with a clean sheet.

RUSSIAN TREATIES OFF

The prompt action of the new British government in notifying the Soviet Power that the treaties concluded by the MacDonald ministry with Russia will not be ratified is simply the outcome of the mandate which Mr. Baldwin secured from the British electorate. Those treaties, hastily conceived, and almost wholly lacking in safeguards, depending, indeed, chiefly on the good faith of the Soviet Power, were simply sops to the radical wing of the Labor party in Britain. They were never dictated by the good sense of the British people. The methods of their final negotiation, engineered by a handful of members of the House of Commons and approved hurriedly by the MacDonald ministry, were proof of their makeshift character. They could have done nothing more than is being done now to foster trade between Britain and Russia. The loan to Russia which they proposed would, in every probability, never have been implemented, inasmuch as the money would not have been subscribed. On top of the negotiating of these treaties, the Bolshevist propaganda in Britain was resumed, a notable instance of this being the notorious Zinovieff letter. That was sufficient indication to the British people that the word of the Moscow authorities is not to be trusted.

While the present government holds power in Britain it is safe to assume that there will be no overtures to Moscow from London, unless there is a complete change in the moral, political and economic outlook of Bolshevism. It is well these treaties should be forgotten. They were conceived in iniquity, because there is always iniquity in shaking hands with murder. The defence of their being negotiated maintained on the labor platform during the British election campaign was lamentably weak and unconvincing. From now on, for some years at least, the duty of the British government towards Russia will be to see that there is no organized spread in the British Empire of the pernicious doctrines which have filled the cup of Soviet aspirations with economic and moral ruin. Bolshevism must be taught to mind its own business and leave others to mind theirs.—Colonist.

BLACK AND WHITE MAGIC

Three months ago, Mrs. Mary Orant of Chicago had a vision in which she was told she would die before 1925.

She believed the warning so thoroughly that she picked out a coffin and paid for it.

Last Sunday she received slight injuries in an auto accident — so slight that they should not have even confined her to her bed.

But she thought of the vision and believed so firmly her end had come that she died yesterday morning.

A few hundred years ago they would have called that "black magic." Today, sensible people call it "black thinking."

If Mrs. Orant's thoughts were powerful enough to kill her, they would have been powerful enough to keep her alive—provided she had indulged in "white thinking" instead of "black thinking."

About 90 per cent of the misfortunes that occur to mankind are precipitated by "black thinking"—meeting trouble more than half way.

Consistent "white thinking" would make things different.

"White thinking" is just another way of describing what Jesus of Nazareth called "faith."

Just seems the American youth ain't been the same since the garage replaced the wood shed, remarked the Fernie man in the cigar store.

NOTE AND COMMENT

(By R. B. D.)

A well known judge of an Ontario county court once delivered a somewhat momentous decision. That judgment caused some surprise, a considerable amount of indignation, and a great deal of hilarity. An offender was haled before the somewhat eccentric judge on a charge of wife-beating. The charge was proved and the judgment of the court was that a husband had the legal right to, or at any rate was justified, in correcting his wife corporeally, provided the instrument of correction was not greater in circumference than the thumb of the officer of justice.

We wonder if that very important precedent has been recorded in any of the law books so frequently consulted in this province. The Premier admits with pride that he is learned in the law. Has he ever in the course of his studies stumbled upon that very important precedent and made a note of it for future reference?

******

The journalist or the newspaper man suffers many disabilities and enjoys few advantages in this vale of tears, but he is in the habit of making notes as he toils along through the melancholy valley, and sometimes the facts he notes can be used advantageously in his business. The judgment of that Ontario jurist of more or less repute, noted on the tablets of memory many years ago, was recalled to mind by a recent discusion in the legislature.

******

The hon. members were discussing the evils of the drug traffic and the measures necessary to effect suppression of those evils. Flogging was suggested as the measure most likely to prove effective. Public opinion as represented on the floor of the house seemed to be strongly in favor of flogging. Even the Lady Member was quite emphatic in her declaration that flogging was the only punishment that would fit the crime of the drug peddler; and she faltered in her position but little when the fact was pointed out that women are frequently charged with and convicted of the offence of drug peddling.

******

We also note that some mere men commentators appear to believe that no distinction should be made between male and femals offenders against the drug traffic law. They do not say that as women have claimed all the rights accorded men and have obtained them, that women should accept all the responsibilities imposed upon men and abide by the consequences of them. They argue that women have greater courage and more endurance than men, that women are even less sensitive than men and that therefore women would undergo the ordeal of flogging with greater fortitude than men and suffer less from it. There is said to be an inherited reason for this feminine indifference to humiliation and pain. All through the ages woman has been beaten and subjected by superior physical force to the will of her natural lord and master. Discipline sternly applied for millions of years has produced the complex creature known as woman.

******

We suspect that such things must have been written by young men—by very young men, in fact. One of the most extraordinary obessions of young men is a belief that all knowledge is a gift of God and that by special dispensation of divine Providence they are endowed with the accumulated knowledge of all the ages. There are some young men in the newspaper business who feel like that and act in accordance with their feelings. Older newspaper men look upon these consequential young fellows sometimes with amusement, frequently with amazement, but always with tolerance.

******

Poor young chaps! They are to be pitied—not blamed. There are days of tribulation in store for them. They will find out in course of time that after all they know very little, that knowledge is acquired only by long experience and much study. After women have twirled them around their little fingers a few times like threads of cotton yarn, they will realize how little they know about women. We have been in close association with women for more years than we care to tell, and confess that we know nothing whatever about them.

******

But as for whipping women under any circumstances, we utterly reprobate the idea of it. Women with all her follies, is not deserving of such desecration as that. A man of great wisdom once said that the hand of man should never be laid upon woman save in kindness. The wise man who said that of course was a poet, and his expression was a sentimental expression. We believe that the majority of men in this country endorse that sentiment. We do not believe that the honorable gentlemen in the B.C. legislature will dare to do violence to the general sentiment of the males of the community by passing any resolution suggesting corporal punishment for female offenders against the drug law or any other laws.

******

As for the lady member of liberal views, we leave her to be dealt with by her conscience and her constituents.

Appointed Director Canadian Pacific

Ross Huntington McMaster.

The recent election of Mr. Ross Huntington McMaster to be a director of the Canadian Pacific, filling the vacancy created on the board by the death of the late Lord Shaughnessy, is a recognition on the Company's part of his long-proved ability. Mr. McMaster is already vice-president and director of the Steel Company of Canada and director of the Northern Electric Company, as well as the Canadian Explosives Company. Born in Montreal in 1880, he has lived practically all his life in that city. He was educated at the Montreal High School and Collegiate Institute. His business career began with the Sherwin Williams Co., of which he became assistant to the vice-president and general manager in 1897, a post he held until 1903. In the latter year he was made assistant to the vice-president and general manager of the Montreal Rolling Mills Company. On the formation of the Steel Company of Canada he was appointed manager at Montreal.

A DINOSAUR CARAVAN

The unearthing of bones of dinosaurs twenty-five million years old, and their transportation to the University of Utah by caravan, has formed an interesting addition to the history of the West, we are told in a press bulletin issued by the university. The dinosaur quarry, near Jensen, Utah, in the Unitah Basin, is one of the largest quarries where remains of these huge animals are found. Last year the university obtained permission to unearth specimens from this quarry, and the Carnegie Institute, of Pittsburgh, allowed Dr. Earl Douglas to superintend the quarrying and boxing of the bones. Five excellent specimens of different species were obtained. One is a carnivorous dinosaur, and one of the largest specimens in existence, the head being practically complete, a thing very seldom found. It seems that—

"This particular section of the far West was, about twenty-five million years ago, a section of the sea. The dinosaurs lived in an old swampy land, along the edges of rivers or on the shores of lakes. They were what their name signifies, 'terrible lizards,' and varied in size from lizards not much larger than those now living, to something over one hundred feet long. The fact that so many dinosaurs are to be found at this particular spot is accounted for by an ancient sand-bar in an archaic stream. Through some great change in nature these dinosaurs were evidently exterminated at about the same time, and dead bodies floated down the stream and were standed on the sand-bar. Then they were covered with sediment, which eventually became 5000 feet thick and was changed from sand to solid rock. The uplifting of the earth's surface at that particular point came some time later and changed this ancient lake to the Rocky Mountains. Erosion began wearing the rock away and has now practically uncovered the bones of these animals.

"This particular quarry has been worked by the Carnegie Institute and the Smithsonian Institution, both of which obtained several specimens. The university was fortunate in obtaining five specimens that are still better.

"The dinosaur caravan was a real reminder of the West as it once was. Nineteen wagons were loaded with the bones at the quarry and trekked their way 220 miles from Jensen to Salt Lake. There is no railroad into Uintah Basin, and in some places the roads were impassable for automobile trucks, so the pioneer method of transportation was resorted to. The drivers were typical old-time Westerners, five of them never having see a railroad train or street car before and thus experiencing more than one thrill, while at the same time doing their bit to aid in the study of prehistoric times."

WATER NOTICE

(Use and Storage)

TAKE NOTICE that The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. of Canada, Ltd., whose address is Kimberley, B.C., will apply for a licence to take and use 1,000 cubic feet per second and to store 14,000 acre feet of water out of the Elk River, which flows southerly and drains into Kootenay River about 3 miles south of Waldo, B.C. The storage dam will be located 2770 feet south of, and 70 feet east of the south west corner of 6677. The capacity of the reservoir to be created is about 14,000 acre feet, and it will flood about 300 acres of land. The water will be diverted from the stream at a point about 2770 feet south of and 70 feet east of the S. W. corner of 6677, and will be used for power purpose upon the Sullivan Mine, described as Lot 2999 and Lot 6626. This notice was posted on the ground on the 28th day of October, 1924. A copy of this notice and an application pursuant thereto and to the "Water Act, 1914," will be filed in the office of the Water Recorders at Fernie and Cranbrook, B.C. Objections to the application may be filed with the said Water Recorder or with the Comptroller of Water Rights, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., within thirty days after the first appearance of this notice in a local newspaper. The date of the first publication of this notice is Nov. 7th, 1924.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Garden of Eden—An Apple—A Canadian Ship

An apple from the Garden of Eden arrived in Montreal this week aboard the Canadian Pacific steamship Melita. With it came the story of history repeated after six thousand years and a reprieve for sundry passengers who had been threatened with irons, trial in the admiralty courts and what not.

The apple came to Montreal with Robert J. Casey who was a passenger aboard the "Melita." Mr. Casey is a well-known member of the staff of the Chicago News and among the books of his authorship are "The Land of Haunted Castles" and "The Lost Kingdom of Burgaudy." He was on the way home from a trip through Syria to Damascus and Bagdad taken for the purpose of gathering material for another book.

Mr. Casey said that the apple was one of a pair brought from Quernah the traditional site of the Garden of Paradise at the junction of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers in Mesopotamia. It was placed in a stateroom with Babylonian bricks and other relics from the cradle of the human race and did not figure in the log of the "Melita" until the ship had been four days out of Cherbourg. Then it disappeared.

The owner complained to Commander Clews.

"I regret this unfortunate incident," said the Captain, "But of course you must have read the notice on the card given you as you came aboard: The company will not be responsible for apples and other valuables unless they are deposited with the purser. As it stands at present this looks like a matter for the appellate court. But of course we shall see what can be done about it."

Three women named Eve and a man named William Adamson from British Columbia were found on the passenger list and they fell under suspicion immediately. Attempts to establish alibis were as fruitless as they had been before Noah built the ark. Adamson admitted that he was the tenant of a cabin on the same deck as that occupied by the apple and he was summoned for an interview with the captain. He was a technical prisoner when the "Melita" reached Belle Isle and might have been landed in shackles at Quebec had it not been for an unexpected denouement. A room steward, penitent but brave appeared before the officers substituting for angels with flaming swords.

"If it's an apple you're looking for I think I can find it for you," he volunteered. "It looked like just an ordinary apple and what with the way the women passengers are always wanting things there was no way of telling about it — you know how it is. I had brought a dish of fruit into that cabin the morning all the fuss started and when I was taking out the dishes some time afterward it was only natural-like that I should have made a mistake. I picked up that apple....."

"And so it's lost," gasped the investigators.

"That's where you're wrong," declared the steward triumphantly, "It's found. As soon as I heard of the howl I traced that apple. I followed its trail back to the pantry and thence to the cold storage room. And this morning I discovered it. One of the chefs had been in just before me. But I was determined. I went right out after him..... And I found the apple..... It's in here...."

Another apple, later found concealed in a locked trunk, will be presented to the Field Museum of Chicago. The tree from which the fruit was picked has recently been designated as the "Tree of Knowledge" by the British Government substantiating an Arab legend of long standing. The document authenticating the claims of Quernah as the site of Eden is a record of court martial, a copy of which was brought back with the apples.

The case in point was that of Thomas Rogers, a sergeant in the British Flying corps stationed in Iraq since the armistice. Rogers, climbing the tree to have his picture taken, broke off one of the branches and was arrested by the Arab police.

The verdict finds him "guilty of having broken a limb from the tree of knowledge in the Garden of Eden" and fixes his fine at "one month's pay," a lighter sentence than that visited upon his remote ancestor for a similar offence.

WINKING AT CRIME

"No good citizen condones crime." We heard this principle laid down two decades ago by a judge, then one of the leading jurists in Canada. An Anglican clergyman declined to conduct a funeral service when he noticed an inaccuracy in the death certificate. He informed the police and, as a result, a most sordid crime was revealed. While a witness at the trial that resulted he was badgered by the defence counsel as a "tattle-tale" and "busybody." Promptly this line of cross-examination was halted by the court and the foregoing principle enunciated. And it has rung true ever since.

The perpetrators of arson and crime far too often escape because the average citizen is not alive to his responsibility in protecting the life, property and welfare of the community as a whole. Every ratepayer contributes to the cost of enforcing the law and from this essential to progress he should not detract by indifference.

Disregard of law-breaking and evasion usually works around in a circle to act the same as the proverbial roosting chicken. But there is one illuminating incident that came to our attention where it acted almost like a boomerang.

A tobacconist in a small centre was laughing at the exploits of certain reputed bootleggers who were alleged to be making big profits by running liquor across the border into the United States.

Quite probably he enjoyed mental observations of what he considered a clever feat—for a time.

But the bootlegger came to the conclusion that an empty trip one way was unprofitable—and started smuggling cigarettes northward, thereby militating against the profits of the tobacconist who had laughed at their exploits so long as they operated southward.

Slight infractions of the law, even though it may be an unpopular statute, should be frowned upon. The petty thief's next logical step is carrying a revolver with the hope of bigger profits as a highwayman, and is saved only from being a murderer by fortunate circumstances.

Arson, or "selling old stock to the insurance company," is a crime particularly hard to guard against and every good citizen owes every effort he can to help in stamping it out.—Canadian Finance.

ON THE GARDEN FENCE

Cumberland Islander: At this season of the year in nearly every garden hangs a scythe. Its long, sharp blade we pass by without notice or thought, yet there is no tool or instrument more eloquent or suggestive than the scythe. It speaks to us of decay, decay of manly vigor and womanly beauty, the termination of all schemes of pleasure, of business, of ambition. All are interrupted by the scythe's relentless sweep. Its motions are as per perpetual as the revolving hours; its presence is as universal as life itself; yet its lessons are not all sad, nor do they always announce a final decay. Over the undulating hills and through the broad valleys, the scythe takes its untiring way, and the grass and the flowers fall before its fatal strokes, but its victories are monetary. In another spring green grows the grass again on the smiling hills, and the lilies again embellish the valleys and thus is repeated the great story of life in death, the perpetual renewal of nature. The doctrine of the immortality of the soul is even written on the blade of the scythe that hangs unnoticed on the garden fence.

THE WORLD'S RICHEST NATION

The Montreal Star in a recent editorial alluded to Great Britain as the world's wealthiest nation and the statement has been called in question. There has been an atmosphere created during recent years which tends to the belief that this claim has passed to the United States. The question is examined in an interesting way by B. L. Gerow, of St. John, N.B., and in the argument he puts forward to show that Britain is still the wealthiest of nations he quotes as his authorities leading financial minds in the United States. In the first place he calls attention to an article published in 1914 in Commerce and Finance written by Thos. H. Price, which compares English and American business methods. The writer in this said:

"That the methods practised are in the long run successful is proved by the fact that the accumulated wealth England is the richest country in the world and constantly growing richer. The natural resources as of the United States gie us a national wealth that exceeds that of Great Britain; but it is not of our own making and, as a measure of money-getting ability, is not to be compared with the accumulation that has been amassed by the population of this little island, which, in both area and physical resources, is surpassed by many of our States."

Mr. Gerow admits that as a result of the Great War the British government is indebted to the United States government to the extent of four billion dollars, but he asks what about the billions of private British investments in the United States. He assumes that these private investments substantially balance the British government debt. He goes on to cite an article written by the late Henry Clews, a celebrated New York broker and banker, who, in 1918 said: "The war quickly changed this country from a debtor nation to next the chief creditor nation of the world." By that Mr. Clews meant that the United States had become the second greatest creditor nation in the world, Britain being the first. In 1920, Francis H. Sisson, Vice-President of the Guarantee Trust Company of New York, pointed out in an address in Toronto that London is still the financial centre of the world while the British remain the leading creditor nation. Later, in 1922, Frank A. Vanderlip, a leading American financial authority, said: "Financial strength had gone hand in hand with industrial supremacy. Great Britain became the great world reservoir of capital and by all odds the strongest world power in finance."

Dormant natural resources, no matter how great, do not constitute wealth unless they are developed. Wealth is created by the industry of a people and it is the industry of the British people which has placed them in the enviable position which they occupy. So far the accumulated wealth of the British is greater than that of any other country. Britain despite her debt to the United States remains the greatest of creator nations. She is, on these accounts, the world's richest country and London is the centre of finance. The Montreal Star is correct in its statement and that statement is valuable as drawing attention anew to what are the real sources of material wealth in any country.

An American viewpoint of the League of Nations is furnished by the Chicago Tribune, which says: "It is in Downing Street and the Quai d'Orsay that British and French policy is determined, not by the gentlemen who speak or seem to speak for Britain and France at Genoa. It is not the beautiful rhetoric with which the League of Nations was ushered in and was advertised to Americans that gives key to the doings of the League, but the very same motives and methods which expressed the clash of interests, fears, hates and ambitions of the governments in their relations before the League was born or conceived. No covenant hocus pocus can transform the realities of European politics. Setting the same men or the agents of the same men about a table and calling them a League of Nations does not transmute their substance from clay to alabaster. The proceedings within the League conform to the interests of the governments represented, as may be seen clearly in the alignment on the immigration issue."

HOW DYNAMITE EXPLODES

Big dynamite blasts are more and more frequent items of news, says Charles S. Hurber, writing in Municipal and Country Engineering (Indianapolis). Charges are buried deep in the face of a cliff, an electric switch is turned, there is a deafening roar, and thousands of tons of rock come crashing down. What, the inquiring observer asks, produces this explosion? What actually happens when dynamite explodes? He continues:

"To answer this question it is necessary to explain briefly what dynamite is. Reduced to its essentials, dynamite is a mixture of nitroglycerine with wood meal and nitrate of soda or nitrate of ammonia, or both. Nitroglycerin, in turn, is composed of several different elements—namely, carbon, hydrogen, nitrogen and oxygen, the molecules of which are grouped in such a way as to form a heavy, oily, yellow liquid. Now these same molecules are capable of arrangement in other groups to form several different substances instead of the one, and the bonds which hold them together in the particular arrangement which makes nitroglycerin are very weak.

"Consequently, when the electric current sets off the detonator imbedded in the dynamite and this imparts a sharp shock and very high temperature to the nitroglycerin, the bonds between the molecules which compose the nitroglycerin break down. The nitrogen and some of the oxygen remain free—both of them gases—while the other molecules instantly combine to form two compound gases, carbon dioxid and water vapor. The breaking down of the nitroglycerin and rearrangement of sit molecules generate a great deal of heat—enough to raise the temperature of the gases to 6300 degrees F. or thereabouts—and this high temperature causes the other ingredients of the dynamite to decompose into gases, or to burn, with the release of still more heat.

"All of this takes place in a single instant and the highly heated and rapidly expanding gases, which would normally occupy a much greater volume than the dynamite, exert a sudden tremendous pressure on the walls of the bore hole. The rock gives way and the escaping gases set the air into violent vibration. To the beholder, the explosion consists of the roaring noise and the rending of the rock, but in reality these are only the audible and visible results of the rearrangement of the molecules of the dynamite when subjected to a shock from the detonator, this conversion of the nitroglycerin and other ingredients of the dynamite into gases constituting the actual explosion."

Get rid of constipation by internal cleanliness

HEADACHES, biliousness, sleepless nights, heaviness, are Nature's warning that intestinal poisons are flooding your system. If this is allowed to continue, you may become a victim of serious organic disease.

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favour Lubrication

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

THE FERNIE LESSON

Fernie has suffered from many vicissitudes—fire, flood, bank failure and strikes—the staggering blow of all coming last week with the announcement that the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, the backbone of the town, had decided to close their mines indefinitely, owing to their being unable to retrieve lost orders due to the prolonged strike, which has been in progress for the past seven months. There is food for thought in the deplorable condition today that confronts Fernie. It is a lesson that must be taken to heart by Cranbrook and every town in East Kootenay. Through constant labor troubles Fernie has lost all its orders for coal for this winter. People could not wait the decision of William Sherman, head of the miners' union, to come to an amicable settlement. Today Fernie is placed in a most unenviable position with poverty and misery on all sides and the outlook for the next winter black. The city council are reported to have resigned and the announcement was made last week that the hospital will close Nov. 30th. This aspect of the case will seriously affect Cranbrook inasmuch as all the cases that require medical attention will be shipped to Cranbrook to tax our hospital, which is already taking care of its quota of patients outside this territory.

Citizens must be charitable, but the time for charity towards William Sherman is past. When the Dominion minister of labor proposed a settlement of the dispute at Fernie during the early stages of the strike, William Sherman openly insulted the minister, who incurred the displeasure of those in charge of the strike. The terms of the settlement are almost identical with those advanced by Mr. Murdock, but they came too late. Labor has been given a setback by having Sherman at the head of affairs in District 18, a shock from which that district will not recover for many years. Tom Uphill, member for Fernie in the provincial house, was prompt in requesting that relief be extended, but it is alleged that Tom was the right hand supporter of Sherman in his advice to the miners. Whoever is responsible Fernie is today in a deplorable condition, with a lot of innocent people paying for the sins of folly on the part of William Sherman who, in his selfishness and greed, is mainly responsible for the situation.—Cranbrook Courier.

COAL CREEK NOTES

The return of King Forst is hailed with delight by the skating fraternity up here. The work done by the committee has produced a top notch sheet of ice.

A large number of friends of the late Harry Dunlap took advantage of the specitl train given by the Coal Co. to attend the funeral. Many floral tributes were also sent.

The camp is almost depleted of its young fellows, many being out hunting and many seeking the elusive job elsewhere.

Rev. H. U. Oswald conducted divine service in the Anglican church here on Sunday last.

The Rev. Bishop Douall, Bishop of Kootenay, will conduct confirmation service in the Anglican church here on Tuesday evening at 7.30. Arrangements are being made for a little social gathering to be held after the service. All invited.

Rev. Oswald conducted confirmation class up here last Wednesday afternoon.

The witticisms and quaint sayings of Harry Sharpe, teamster for the T. W. store up here, are surely missed by the residents. The labor situation necessitated his being laid off.

Joe Milburn and Jas. Wilson represent this camp on the joint committee with the road work being started to relieve the existing depression.

Mrs. Brown of Fernie was visiting relatives up here on Wednesday.

Mrs. W. Branch is laid up with a dislocated ankle, caused by slipping down the steps of the school house.

All K. of P.'s please note — The final nominations and election of officers for the ensuing term will be held on Tuesday evening next.

The kiddies of the camp are taking advantage of the frosty spell, all the roads being used for sleigh riding.

Owing to business depression the local Trites-Wood store has had to reduce its staff.

Expenses are being cut down to a mininum in the upkeep of the colliery plant up here.

The annual distribution of presents to the children of Coal Creek by the Coal Creek Literary and Athletic Association is held in abeyance for a further meeting of the board of management. The stringency of money is being felt by the board.

ONE IS KILLED AND OTHERS INJURED

Nelson, Nov. 27.—Engineer John Crosby was fatally scalded, Conductor Joseph Gates was slightly injured, and an unknown trespasser, riding on the front of the engine, had both legs broken when the engine and several cars of the Kettle Valley train leaving Nelson Tuesday night, was derailed one mile east of Beaverdell and 41 miles west of Midway, at about 6.30 Wednesday morning. No passengers or other employees were injured. The cause of the accident was a broken rail.

DEPOSITORS OF HOME BANK VERY HOPEFUL

Toronto, Nov. 24.—There is every reason to hope that the federal government will take some step at the next session of parliament to reimburse Home Bank depositors, the national executive committee of the Depositors' Relief association informs the depositors in an optimistic statement issued today. The committee will meet the federal government in Ottawa next Thursday to press the case for reimbursement of the depositors.

The committee's statement, signed by the chairman and secretary, W. T. J. Lee and I. E. Weldon respectively, cites four reasons for hoping for government assistance. They are:

1—A favorable report from the royal commission conducted by Chief Justice McKeown substantiating the case made out by the depositors in their claim for reimbursement.

2—A report from the banking and commerce committee of parliament carried by 27 to 11, recognizing the moral claim in equity of the depositors for compensation by the country.

3—A unanimous vote by parliament adopting the report of the banking and commerce committee.

4—Statement by the premier of Canada on behalf of the government that announcement will be made at the opening of next session of parliament as to what action the government will take in view of the unanimous adoption by the house of the banking and commerce committee's report.

DRUMHELLER COAL OUTPUT BREAKS RECORD

Drumheller, Nov. 25.—When 322 cars of coal were shipped from local mines on Monday, a new day's record was set for the season's output. This followed closely on the establishment of a record on Saturday when the high mark up to that time was reached with 319 cars.

Not only did the district shatter daily records twice within the last few days, but the output for the last week has also set a record. The total shipments for the week ending Saturday, Nov. 22, numbered 1862 cars, as compared with a previous high total for a week of 1688 cars, which was set the previous week.

The output for each day last week was as follows:

Monday	310
Tuesday	316
Wednesday	296
Thursday	316
Friday	305
Saturday	319
Total	1862

Monday, this week—322.

GOLD STRIKE IN B.C. MINE

The British Columbia Silver mines, in which the Premier Gold owns a large interest, has entered a zone 60 feet wide containing high grade gold ore, according to a report received by Lauzier, Wolcott & Co., Spokane. The disclosure was made by diamond drill. The property is near Stewart, B.C.

IN DEFENCE OF THE U.M.W.A.

Dear Sir—Outsiders who know little of the U.M.W.A. are seeking by word and pen to cast slurs upon our great organization. It is time that some voice from within should find utterance. In thinking of this matter I have found myself asking two questions: 1. What have I done for the Union? 2. What has the Union done for me?

In answer to the first question all I can say is that for years I have been loyal to the Union, upheld it in season and out of season and willingly or unwillingly paid my monthly dues. I have been an obedient servant of this institution which is manned by leaders of genius and wisdom. In the olden days there was a doctrine in vogue known as the "divine right of Kings." The vulgar crowd turned its back on this time-honored custom, but we are thankful to say that we have substituted in its place "the divine right of union officials." With hundreds of others I have accepted this doctrine and we have all lived up to it. I have never taken any active part in the deliberations of the union for the reason that the last time I attempted to speak in a meeting I was told to "sit down and mind my own business." At first I felt humiliated but later realized that I was only a mortal and without divine functions or calling and that the rebuke was just. Since that time I have never presumed to question the super-intelligence of our great officials.

2. What has the Union done for me?

It has been my leader and guide. It has done my thinking for me and led me from a fair measure of success to utter poverty. But no doubt, as they say in the churches, it is good for my soul. So far as I can see the union has sought to violate the laws of production and distribution, and in fact to break all the laws of trade and economics. No doubt all these well established laws which are now bringing success to other places, are wrong, so I stand by the Union.

Our leaders have always sought to emphasize class distinction. This is no doubt beneficial for otherwise there might be peace and harmony and prosperity, which would not give full sweep for the jungle law of the "survival of the fittest."

Besides, our leaders who hold office by divine right are men of such irreproachable character that it is worth while to follow them even if they do lead us to the devil. What a shame that such men should ever be spoken of with anything but profound respect; and yet their conduct is some times questioned by those who have not yet grasped the ancient doctrine of divine rights. One hears, for example, that our exalted chief receives a large salary, lives a somewhat luxurious life, and has a tremendous expense account. It is rumored, for example, that he sometimes rides in the state room on the train, and possesses a grand automobile. We do not believe any of these charges, but if our president rides thus in luxury on the train it is for some high motive which only the C.P.R. and himself can understand. As to the automobile, all we can say is that he has never carried relief funds to Fernie in this conveyance, and if he is the owner of such a vehicle it may be to show to the world that the U.M.W.A. knows how to recognize and provide for true greatness.

It has been said on the street that one of our local officials has a good bank account, has houses to rent, and has better furniture in his home than is to be found in the home of the general manager. We do not believe this report either, but if true no doubt said official has practiced such economy in the use of Union funds, that in applying the same principles to his own finances he has been able to lay up stores, while others have merely made a living.

Moreover, we have heard it said that the books of our Union are not properly kept, and that there is no authentic yearly audit, or balance sheet presented such as is done in other organizations; in general, that the books are in a hopeless muddle. But all of this is but the idle ravings of the uninformed, for who, outside the inner circle, have ever even looked upon much less read those sacred pages. If the truth were really known no doubt some celestial system of accountancy is used which only the initiated can understand. Such books should be regarded with awe and reverence but not questioned.

As for relief. Of course the Union being a strong fraternity can look after this. In District 18 there are about 7000 men at work. These men are getting big pay because we stood by them during the strike when it was against our own interests to do so. A dollar a pay from each of these 7000 men would mean $20 per month to each Fernie miner. The unenlightened might reason that since we helped them to win the strike that our fellow members should now give us assistance. But all this is idle reasoning. Our gifted leaders know what is best for us and perhaps it would not be good for us to enjoy food and clothing for ourselves and our children. In any case we must not question the wisdom of our officials.

Let us then be loyal to the U.M.W.A. So far as our frail human wisdom can see this organization is leading us slowly but surely to poverty, starvation and want. But "stand firm," and when too weak to stand "sit tight," and when even sitting fails let us lie down having the joy and satisfaction of knowing that we have been loyal to the U.M.W.A. and upheld the doctrine of divine right, even to the bitter end.

Miner.

TO REGULATE DANCE HALLS

The feature of last evening's council meeting, at which Acting Mayor Irvine occupied the chair and all the aldermen were present, was the instructing of the city clerk to prepare a bylaw which will make all public dance halls in the city of Fernie subject to inspection and supervision by the city police. The bylaw will also contain clauses which will change considerably the holding of dances in the city. A brief outline of the chief points is as follows: All proprietors or owners of halls rented for public dances will be required to pay a license fee of $1 a year and shall notify the city police when any public dance is to be held in the hall. No person under the age of 18 years will be permitted to enter a public dance hall except when accompanied by parents or guardian. (The term guardian is construed as meaning any person of good repute over the age of 18 years). All public dances must be closed at or before 1 a.m.

A resolution from the G.W.V.A., Fernie Branch, requesting that the city council, in view of the present industrial situation, revoke the order cutting off electric light supply from those in arrears was placed before the council. The consumers' list was carefully gone over and it was found that only twelve consumers had been cut off from supply on account of non-payment. It was felt by the council that should they wave the cut-off order it would create a precedent and much revenue would be lost by the city. The city clerk pointed out that where sickness prevailed the lighting service had not been suspended. Ald. Markland was instructed to state the views of the council at the next meeting of the Veterans and state that should that body wish to send a delegation to the council to discuss the matter, they would receive every consideration.

A letter from the Fernie Hospital stated that that institution would be closed on Dec. 1, and that the city would be required to arrange the transfer of two indigent patients, Albert Dudios and Wm. Hartwell. It was decided to return Albert Dudios to Poland, his native land, railway transportation at city expense and boat transportation to be provided by the Polish consul at Montreal.

A motion was passed to make formal application to the Provincial Home to receive Wm. Hartwell, and also George Dorenbecker, who had expressed a desire to go to this home.

The city clerk notified the council that the new voters list would be posted on Friday and that the Court of Revision would sit on Wednesday, Dec. 10.

A motion was passed appointing Acting Mayor Irvine and Aldermen Markland and Lees members of the Court of Revision.

SUCCESSFUL POULTRY SHOW

The ninth annual Poultry Show of District No. 9 was held in Fernie on Wednesday and Thursday of this week and considering the present depression in mining, was a wonderful success. The different breeds were well represented and the judge spoke very highly of the outstanding birds in the different classes, saying they were the best he had seen this year.

White Leghorns were well represented; first cock outstanding; second cock only a few points behind the first; balance of the class all good birds.

Light Brahmas—A small class. Some pretty fair birds on exhibition.

Barred Rocks—A good class; hard to choose the winners.

Rose Comb Reds—An extra good class; hard to choose the winners.

Bantams were out strong and there were some extra good birds in their various classes.

Pigeons were out in great numbers, Poulters being the largest class with 1st cock and 1st hen easy winners. Dragons had some outstanding birds, this breed winning best pair of pigeons in show. There was a small class of Fantails, all good birds. Homers had a strong class and the winners were extra good. The Tumblers had a nice showing and had some outstanding birds.

ELKS CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND DANCE BIG SUCCESS

Last Monday evening the 1st annual Christmas Cheer Fund Dance went over with a bang. This success was due to the many friends of the Elks, the co-operation of the ladies and the full support of the entire community, for which the Elks desire to thank all. Your presence was appreciated and will help spread good cheer at Xmas time. The hall was properly decorated for the occasion with evergreen branches intermingled with bits of colored cotton, making a very pleasing appearance. The Elks orchestra were liberal with their selections and kept it up until 4 a.m., holding the crowd, who were having such a good time nobody wanted to go home.

At the banquet in the Napanee Hotel the tables were neatly arranged and tastefully decorated with flowers furnished by the ladies, who kindly took charge of the arrangements with the usual good results. The banquet was a surprise and all came away well pleased. Over three hundred guests were taken care of.

PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX

The Personal Property Tax, which for some years has caused a great deal of discussion, and which has been a source of controversy as between the interests affected and the government, not so much because of opposition to the tax, but because it does not apply uniformly or justly on all who may be affected, is again being brought before the government, and its abolition urged.

As was explained in a previous issue, the location of any business may affect it as to taxation out of all proportion to the profit on the operation thereof. Business houses in rural communities are severely handicapped in this respect, for they must pay for the much larger stock on hand; they must pay on the business transacted whether half of this remains unpaid on the books or not; if no profit has been made, then the tax applies on stock-in-trade. He gets it coming and going.

But in the case of business houses located in cities where wholesales are established, these are not confronted with this contingency. They may have operated at a small profit, or no profit at all, and are taxed on this basis. They need keep very little surplus stock, as they can get their requirements from day to day. Thus they do not have a large quantity of stock on hand which is subject to taxation.

The government at the session of parliament last year did reduce this tax by one-half, promising at the same time during the session which is now being held, to do away with it entirely. According to the pronouncement in the Budget, however, it has been decided not to make any changes in the matter of taxation, which would indicate that this will be allowed to stand as it was.

Indications point to an entire revision of taxation during the next year, and if this matter is taken hold of as it should, and if those most directly concerned in the matter are taken into the confidence of those in charge of taxation, it should be possible to evolve some plan which would provide adequate revenue for the purposes of the provincial government, and at the same time apply as equitably as it is possible on the people as a whole instead of so heavily on a certain section and not at all on others.

Governments can count as revenue only that which they themselves can secure. Therefore taxation should be direct on all, and not indirect through other parties. It may be true that property which is rented, and for which a fair revenue is secured, is well able to carry any tax which is placed against it. But on the other hand there is no rebate in the case of such property if it should remain idle for a period, or if the rent thereon must be reduced to a point where it pays no interest on the amount invested. Thus taxation on land values alone is not just, and indications point to the fact that this is being very forcibly impressed on those in charge of taxation.

It would therefore seem that both the Land Tax and the Personal Property Tax will be considerably changed during the next year, and if this is done, and the system of collection as between the Dominion and Provincial governments is consolidated and simplified, it will relieve taxpayers of a great deal of trouble and worry, and should result in the collection of the necessary revenue at a fraction of the cost of the present systems.—Vernon News.

BOLSHEVISM AND DISEASE

London Times: Last year, in spite of the depression in trade and of the fact that upwards of a million workers were unemployed, the health of the English people was better than it had ever been in any earlier year of the history of the nation. It is impossible not to compare this record of a "capitalistic" country with the state of the public health in the only land where Socialism has been put into active operation. Russia suffered terribly in the war, and her public health services before 1914 were far from satisfactory. Her new rulers, moreover, were faced with a host of difficulties on assuming office. But when all allowances have been made, the fact is incontestable that Russia today is the most disease-stricken and disease-ridden country in Europe. The epidemics which have raged in that land since the Bolshevists usurped power have been among the worst in the world's history. At the present moment they have abated to some extent for the reason which causes a great fire to die out. The human material of disease has been largely exhausted. Even so, the sanitary services are in sad disarray and are quite incompetent to handle the further outbreaks which are certain to occur.

NO NEED FOR TOURIST GRANT

Tourist business is good business for Canada. Every practical course should be taken to encourage it. But the Financial Post doubts if the desired results are to be obtained by making grants of money from the public treasury. There are times when mere spending will not bring the benefits that are to be obtained by work organization and a real effort to provide service—and this seems to be one of them.

There are already too many calls being made upon the public treasury by communities, classes or individuals who seek to obtain material benefits at the expense of the over-burdened taxpayers. So far as tourist traffic is concerned we believe that the communities or industries to benefit should go after it in a business-like way. If the transportation companies and local business interests will develop their attractions to the best advantage and on the basis of direct profits to be obtained there should be no need for calls upon the public purse.

There are undoubtedly benefits to be gained by organization for the purpose of co-ordinating the efforts of the various districts seeking to encourage tourist business. An organizing secretary could be employed at the cost of small contributions by the districts interested. Through such organization, efforts could be directed to a more important phase of the tourist business than spending money on publicity—to giving the visitors a cordial welcome on their arrival and making them comfortable during their stay. We are not yet in Canada as well versed in courtesy or equipped in hotel accommodation as we should be. This does not apply to all districts; there are some fine hotels and places of entertainment; but there is still much to be done before the thousands of visitors who come to the various resort districts can be induced to come back year after year.

If we are to make the most of our tourist opportunities the business must be built up on a sound basis—of natural attractions plus adequate accommodations, good service and satisfying entertainment; the desired results will not be obtained merely by spending public money.

BANKERS ARE WARNED ON RUSSIAN BUSINESS

New York—The American Bankers' Association has issued a warning to American bankers who may be approached to finance Russian business that the Soviet government "is in position to change the whole trade that they have undertaken from any country without notice." The warning is contained in a report on Russian conditions prepared by the Commerce and Marine Commission of the American Bankers' Association. The report says in part:

"Since the death of Lenin conditions in Russia have constantly been growing worse and progress toward more satisfactory conditions has been dissipated. The Russian army is largely made up of sons of peasants who have been well looked after with the hope that they will see in any change of government only a chance of faring worse than at present. One activity of the Soviet government which could not help but result in serious disaster is aimed toward breaking down all forms of religion. A systematic program has been undertaken to prevent the children from growing up with any idea of a God.

"While it is felt that the new reactionary attitude of the Soviet government toward capital and the return to the system of wholesale executions are going to result in further terrible conditions, this very fact may result in better conditions more quickly than otherwise might be the case provided the operation of the Dawes plan results in a real settlement between the Allies and Germany.

"In connection with foreign trade development by American exporters with Russian interests, it would be well for bankers to have in mind that the Soviet government is in position to change the whole trade that they have undertaken with any country without notice. Recently such action has been taken on two occasions—once, when the German government investigated one of the Soviet commissions in Berlin, the whole trade carried on with Germany was thrown over to Holland and Czecho-Slovakia; again, the trade with France was taken away because the Soviet government did not like a decision in the French Supreme Court which was considered against its interests. It is well for bankers to have this situation in mind should they be asked to finance Russian trade while conditions exist as at present.

IMPERIAL BANK ANNUAL MEET.

At the Annual Meeting of the shareholders of the Imperial Bank of Canada held in Toronto on Wednesday, Nov. 26, the 50th Annual Statement of the bank was presented. It is generally admitted that business conditions in the last twelve months have been seriously depressed and the excellent statement which the directors presented does credit to the management. In addition, it clearly demonstrates that a moderate sized bank can with profit give adequate banking facilities to Canadian business.

A comparison of the figures with those of a year ago will reveal several interesting particulars.

Deposits have been well maintained and now stand at over $88,000,000, of which over $70,000,000 are interest bearing.

It has been the policy of the Imperial Bank for many years past to maintain a considerable portion of its funds in highly liquid assets and the present statement is well in accord with this policy. Cash on hand and kindred assets are $27,000,000 or over 27% of the bank's liabilities to the public, while quickly realizable assets stand at $59,000,000 or 59% of public liabilities.

It is interesting to note the large sum represented by Dominion and Provincial government securities, which now stand at $13,487,000, or $1,400,000 over the figures reported a year ago.

The figures of Profit and Loss Statement are very satisfactory. The earnings for the year, after deducting charges of management and other items including full provision for bad and doubtful debts, stand at $1,107,869.99, which has allowed the directors to pay quarterly dividends at the rate of 12% per annum, and in addition a bonus of 1%, to make the usual contributions Guarantee and Pension funds and carry forward to next year an amount of $5000 in excess of a year ago, $1,039,223.19.

Current loans always reflect busines conditions and it is therefore not surprising to note that under this heading there has been a reduction of $6,000,000.

Non-current loans, which a year ago stood at $650,000, have been reduced to $323,000.

Bank premises account is slightly up over the figures of a year ago, the other items in the assets remaining practically the same as in the statement of Oct. 31, 1923.

His Hearing Restored

The invisible ear drum invented by A. O. Leonard, which is a miniature megaphone, fitting inside the ear entirely out of sight, is restoring the hearing of hundreds of people in New York city. Mr. Leonard invented this drum to relieve himself of deafness and head noises, and it does it so successfully that no one can tell he is a deaf man. It is effective when deafness is caused by catarrh or by wholly destroyed natural drums. A request for information to A. O. Leonard, Suite 436, 70 Fifth Ave., New York City, will be given a prompt reply. [Adv.

MOTHERS LIKE TO TREAT COLDS WITH VAPORS

It is no longer necessary constantly to dose the children in treating croup, bronchitis, sore throat, or deep chest colds. Many Canadian mothers now use the "outside" remedy, Vicks VapoRub, for the cold troubles of all the family, because it is just rubbed over throat and chest—there is nothing to take. When so applied Vicks gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled directly into the inflamed air passages, loosening the phlegm and making the breathing easier.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed and stimulates the skin like a liniment or plaster and thus aids the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

MILK TEST A FAILURE

Victoria, Dec. 1.—"The tuberculin test has been a failure," Hon. W. H. Sutherland informed the legislature today when the question of voting funds for fighting tuberculosis among cattle came before the house.

Hon. E. D. Barrow, minister of agriculture, announced that new methods of testing cattle for tuberculosis were to be adopted, and that a reduced appropriation was therefore possible.

J. W. Jones asked where the proposed new method had even proven a success and Dr. E. J. Rothwell, New Westminster, stated that it had been used in Australia, Holland, New York state, Denmark, and other dairying countries with great success.

Mr. Barrow stated the new method was to make a physical examination of the cow, instead of relying on the tuberculin test.

"We have been living in a false paradise," declared Dr. Sutherland.
