May Call Off Strike If Eight Hour Day Bill Passed by Saturday

Brotherhood Heads Say This, But Presidents Believe it Best to be Ready—Embargoes in Effect—New York Famine Now Not Feared

Washington, Aug. 31.—The eight hour day bill, on which most congressional leaders agree, is expected by Saturday night, will be sufficient justification, in the opinion of brotherhood leaders, for calling off the railway strike for next Monday.

This, today, was the main source of optimism that the great industrial tie-up would not occur.

The senate interstate commerce committee arranged its first public hearings on the measure today and allowed three hours each for argument by brotherhood and railroad. The plan was to present the finished draft to the senate on Saturday, ready for immediate action.

The house, however, was not disposed to wait so long. Its leaders set Friday afternoon as the time when they would take the initiative if the senate had not acted, and gave assurance that the house would pass the measure then, under special rules, making it effective on November 1.

While Congress got down to work today on President Wilson's legislative programme to prevent the strike, the president himself renewed his efforts to get the brotherhood leaders to recall the strike order and at the same time took steps to hurry congress along. He summoned the brotherhood leaders to the White House from two o'clock and made arrangements to go to the capitol to confer with administration leaders there.

the railroads will not become operative until tonight, the prospective railroad strike already is causing widespread inconvenience and anxiety throughout New York and New England.

At all the big railroad centers here, it was evident today that preparations are being made to keep as many trains as possible running, after the brotherhood men leave their posts. All the strike breaking companies have begun to recruit railroad workers. Day and night classes of instruction are in progress for men destined to take the places of the strikers.

Hallroad officers here expect to handle, during the next three days, the greatest volume of passenger traffic they ever had to deal with.

Roads which had planned excursions over Labor Day, have either abandoned them or warned prospective travelers that tickets were purchased subject to delay in case of a strike.

Do Not Fear Food Famine

After the first lull of apprehension, fears of food famine have somewhat abated. Railroad men and provision dealers say that if a strike is called, the residents of big cities in the east may have to go without some of their favorite dishes, but that no need is hungry.

Would Affect Newspapers.

New York, Aug. 31.—A very large number of daily newspapers of the United States will be forced to suspend publication on account of lack of paper if a nation-wide railroad strike continues for two weeks, says Lincoln B. Palmer, manager of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

ROGERS WARNS 'EM TO BE IN READINESS

Tells Eligible Men That Government Will Adopt Any Measures to Raise Half Million Troops

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 31.—(Toronto Globe.)—Hon. Robert Rogers, minister of public works, delivered the opening address at the annual fair of the Windsor and North Essex Agricultural Fair Association on Wednesday. He declared that the government was prepared to adopt any measures which might be necessary to provide the half million men which Premier Borden has promised should be raised by Canada to aid the motherland, and while he did not think conscription would be resorted to until every other means had failed, he warned eligible men to be ready.

BANANA CROP IS DESTROYED

Serious Damage is Done by Hurricane at Jamaica

Kingston, Ja., Aug. 31.—Information collected from all parts of the island respecting the damage done by the hurricane of Aug. 15, indicates that for all practical purposes this year's banana crop has been completely destroyed, the crop for 1917 reduced by fifty per cent, and, barring further blows, the full output from all plantations will not be in effect before the end of the season. The situation which has been brought about will be recognized when it is stated that bananas represent only sixty per cent of the island exports.

VOLUNTARY SYSTEM IN NEW ZEALAND HAS NOT FAILED

London, Aug. 31.—The colonial secretary has received a communication from the governor of New Zealand contradicting an article in the London press and cables abroad, which implied that the voluntary system had failed in New Zealand, and that it was therefore necessary to introduce conscription.

The New Zealand government points out that the voluntary system has not failed, but that it is necessary to maintain the country's obligation to the imperial government. Use of the powers of conscription has so far not been required.

News of Maritime Men In The War

Three German Spies

That three German spies were captured on the S. S. Olinde Rodin, a Canadian troop ship, is information contained in a letter received in Fredericton from Company Sergeant-Major Leslie G. Hatheway, of the 10th Battalion, now at Sandgate Camp, England.

Writing to his father, Fred. W. Hatheway, Sgt.-Major Hatheway says that one of the spies was an officer, another a member of the 11th Nova Scotia Battalion, and the third a member of the crew.

Six More for Killies

Six more recruits joined the 36th Battalion at Fredericton Wednesday. Four of these, Jas. Two others, Isaac Burden, 46, of Fredericton, and James Thompson, 22, of St. John, enlisted at the local recruiting office.

Major C. G. Geggie, medical officer of the New Brunswick Killies, has received word that no more recruits are to be enlisted for the Special Service Battalion who are not up to the standard required for overseas volunteers. Flemming Still Boss In Carleton County

B. Frank Smith Will Have to Eat His Words Spoken in Westmorland Campaign

Woodstock, N. B., Aug. 31.—The Fleming ring of the government party has triumphed again. The ex-premier is to take part in the Smith campaign and the new minister of public works will have to eat the words he uttered in Westmorland, that Fleming had done very wrong, but that the government had cleared his name. Smith and his friends, when they found his Borden class Fleming with the voters and the Garlands, grabbed the federal patronage and deprived the ex-premier of the fruit of his nomination as federal candidate.

But now, when Smith seeks re-election, it is all supporters of all party fights shall be headed off. Fleming's friends demanded his return to the leadership of the government, and his acceptance by Borden as a federal candidate, and the prospects of winning the election for Smith depended upon accepting his terms.

B. Frank Smith and his party conspiracy to become the party chief have been defeated, and J. K. Fleming, with Tremaine, Teed and other supporters, will support Smith. Public plunder is a great concern for party differences. It is said that W. S. Sutton, one of Fleming's warmest supporters, will be the colleague of Smith.

The reception of Andrew McCain and George Upham as opposition candidates has been most enthusiastic. Everywhere the telephone took the good news and all over the county the personal and political friends of the candidates and the supporters of better government are preparing to give them a bumper vote.

GERMANS TO WITHDRAW FROM N. VON SALIENT?

Hint of This in Official German Gazette -- Believed Von Hindenburg Plans to Shorten Lines Everywhere -- Change of Chiefs Deeply Significant

Paris, Aug. 31.—(By C. F. Bertelli, French military expert, in Toronto Mail and Empire.)—The Kaiser's dismissal of Von Falkenhayn and the appointment of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg to take his place as chief of the general staff is a sign that things are going wrong with the German army.

The official North German Gazette hinted this week that the Germans might withdraw from the great Noyon salient in France, which the Somme offensive is intended to challenge. It is pointed out that only if a popular hero like Hindenburg decreed such a retreat would it be accepted without trouble by the German people. The expectation is that it will be Hindenburg's strategy to begin shortening the German lines everywhere.

Lieut. Col. Housset said today: "Hindenburg's appointment is a complete surrender by the German court party, headed by the Kaiser, to popular opinion."

General Delacour said: "The incident shows the German army is badly rattled. Von Moltke was made scapegoat for the Marne; Falkenhayn pays for the Ypres defeat and the Russian offensive."

A Bitter Wrangle

A Rotterdam despatch says: "The military crisis in Germany is reported on excellent authority to have been the climax of a bitter conflict between Falkenhayn and Hindenburg over the Verdun offensive. Hindenburg was utterly opposed to any offensive in France but wanted to strike immediately a blow at Russia. For this he was prepared, not only with a plan of campaign, but with preparations actually being made for the general staff for additional forces to carry out the enterprise, but they were refused him by Falkenhayn and Hindenburg's plan was abandoned in favor of the strategic reserve plan."

General Falkenhayn in this despatch declared, was the German Crown Prince, who is held by well informed persons, to be really responsible for the colossal disaster before Verdun.

"The fall of Falkenhayn is regarded here as of the greatest significance, even impelling the Hohenzollern dynasty," London Opinion.

London, Aug. 31.—The morning newspapers today devote many columns to a discussion of the retirement of General Von Falkenhayn, and the appointment of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg as chief of the general staff, under such headlines as "A Crisis in Berlin," and "Welcome to the Wooden Man."

All the newspapers profess to see in the sudden change of leaders, a sign of Germany's weakness. Gen. Von Falkenhayn is generally paid the tribute of being the great strategist of a hopeless cause, while the opinion is expressed that Von Hindenburg is merely a popular hero, who is unlikely to prove even a temporary success, as a generalissimo.

The Times says: "In her deadly peril, Germany is unlikely to have chosen the new chief merely to placate public feeling. We shall do well to take Von Hindenburg seriously and to recognize that, though conditions are against him, he is no weakling. The glimpse of a popular hero suggests a man with big and simple ideas, which often make the success in war."

Shortening the Front.

The Times' military correspondent expects some immediate alterations of strategic ideas in the German conduct of the war, adding: "All this, however, Von Hindenburg has been saying his heart out on the Russian front, while the troops for whom he clamored have been flattered away at Verdun. His interests and predilections are believed to lie in the east. He belongs to the strategic school which would have struck in the east. The position probably the probable shortening of the front in France and Flanders, and he is perhaps the only man in Germany who could order the ruthless shortening of the western front without the collapse of public faith."

The Daily Chronicle says: "One interpretation is that the Germans are preparing a Riga-Petrograd offensive. Contrasted, as they are with the growing failure of Austria and the accession of new enemies, they may be expected to act on the strategic maxim that the right defensive is an offensive, and the time when to strike is not when the enemy chooses, but when we choose."

Bitter Strife

London, Aug. 31.—The displacement of General Von Falkenhayn as German chief of staff and the appointment of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg to that post, are said by Reuters' correspondent at Berlin to mark the end of long and bitter strife between these men.

London, Aug. 31.—The morning newspapers today devote many columns to a discussion of the retirement of General Von Falkenhayn, and the appointment of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg as

These Germans, Tired of War, Give up at British Air Assault to Charge Them

With the British army in France, Aug. 30.—Via London, Aug. 31.—An officer and ninety Germans surrendered in a body near Guillemont today. They were put out, as usual, with orders to strike under the British shell fire and against British infantry attacks to the last man. But when the British worked their way up on either side of the exposed trench, which they had run up a white flag without making any fight of it. They said that they had suffered enough hardships, and had had enough of war said preferred to be taken prisoners.

The heavy downpour of rain continued all day, making ponds of the shell craters and turning the trenches into mud-holes.

While the German press is saying that Roumania's entry will lengthen the war, prisoners taken say that it will shorten it, as it is evident now that Germany cannot win, and had better compromise than prolong the struggle.

"But we are not going to consider any compromise," the British soldiers tell them. The British who have seen the surrender of Germans, say that with characteristic organization they now have what the British call a "surrender drill" when they come out of their dugouts to give themselves up as in the case of the body today, they have all their letters, papers and valuables in their hands, ready as a peace offering to their captors.

FATALITY AT OAK POINT

DO NOT BELIEVE STORY THAT GREEK KING HAS FLED

OFFICER AND 90 SURRENDER TO MEN IN KHAKI

It Was Current in Saloniki; Also Report That Allies and Greeks Were Fighting

London, Aug. 31.—Ward Price, the British press representative at Saloniki, sends a report which is current there that King Constantine of Greece has fled to Larissa in Thessaly, to take refuge with a guard of 800 Uhlans. The text of the official message, which is dated Tuesday, reads:

"This evening's sensation is that King Constantine has fled from Athens to take refuge with a German escort of 800 Uhlans, who have been waiting for him several days at Larissa."

"Another report is that the allies have already landed a strong force at Piræus which force has been heavily engaged with the Greek army in battle around the king's country house at Tatou, where several Greek princes have already fallen. Perhaps tomorrow will bring more light upon the situation, which is extraordinarily involved even for the Balkans."

London, Aug. 31.—No confirmation of the reported flight of King Constantine has been received in official circles here, which considers it highly improbable.

Mrs. Vanderbilt In the Trenches

Under Heavy German Fire But Guardian Angel of American A. F. S. Cared Nought For Danger

Paris, Aug. 30.—Details have just been learned here of a trip made to the French front a few days ago by Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, through the special permission of the minister of war. She was accompanied by A. Platt Andrew, director of the field sections of the American ambulance. Mrs. Vanderbilt is called "The Guardian Angel of the American Ambulance Field Service," and although she has been active in Red Cross work since the beginning of the war, the trip was arranged to give her her first glimpse of the Americans, whose activities she has so generously aided financially.

The schedule of the trip called for visits to headquarters, where five field ambulance units are now working. It was filled with more danger and genuine thrills than are usually the lot of visitors at the front.

Leaving Paris, she told Mr. Andrew she hoped "to hear the cannon." He assured her her ears would ring before their return. They drove one night and passed at Pont a Mousson, where she declared she had the crowning experience of her rather inclusive career. There was a heavy German bombardment of the town, and she was quartered in a house where the American ambulance drivers were lodged. She was awakened by exploding shells and heard walls collapsing not far away as the shells loosened the foundations.

The din was terrific. All the Americans not on duty rushed for a reinforced cave, and Mrs. Vanderbilt was warned to seek the same refuge. With her hair down her back and a wrapper over her night robe, she ran down stairs, with a pair of flapping slippers over her bare feet.

"I was wondering whether anyone would call me," she said. "I heard those terrible explosions and buildings falling, but I was so glad that so long as I was not called I was safe."

Mr. Andrew said she was as cool as any of the crowd. Mrs. Vanderbilt returned to her room unafraid, when the bombardment was over. She visited a de scouts post, where ambulances carry the wounded, and where they are within a thousand yards of the German trenches. A soldier was shocked by the sight of a woman where no woman had been since the battle lines were established. He sprang to her side and made signs to her to get away. She laughed. Then the soldier found his voice and explained that only a few minutes previous a man had been killed five feet from where she was standing.

Convinced then of her danger, she sought shelter. Later in her automobile she traveled a short distance over a road covered by German batteries. One shell fell in the road a hundred yards behind. The last place she visited was Verdun, where she dined with the American ambulance drivers at their mess.

She was the first American woman to enter the city, the only other women being nurses. Mrs. Vanderbilt wore a white dress on the entire trip, white stockings, and white walking boots. The only marks of color were her blue veil and a Red Cross on her arm.

Seek To Multiply Homes In France

Plan Outlined to Encourage Marriage After the War; Cases of Involuntary Bigamy

Paris, Aug. 23.—Eugene Drioux, member of the Academy of France, with a view to encouraging marriage after the war for the purpose of multiplying French homes, urges today the establishment throughout France of official matrimonial bureaus under the direction of the mayors of towns and villages. He says:

"Many young men are willing to marry moneyless girls and many young girls are willing to marry poor or mutilated men, but the marriages do not occur because the men and girls do not meet. Special registers should be kept at all mayors' offices where eligible young people sign their name and give their age and profession, so that anyone desiring to marry can find a life companion without difficulty."

"Since we agree today that the preservation of the race is the greatest and most sacred duty, it is necessary to give all help to those inclined to build new homes."

Extend Legal Delays.

An extension of legal delays before re-marriage for widows of soldiers is being considered in order to avoid further cases of involuntary bigamy. Some level circles advocate an extension of the legal delays until after the war for wives of mobilized soldiers. Many soldiers who have been reported as "believed dead," because they had not been heard of for a long time, have since reported as returned from Germany.

A well-known provincial editor, M. Renaude, estimates that during 1915 there were 70,000 French soldiers who as prisoners in Germany have been unable to communicate with their families in France. He declares that it is Germany's fault if soldiers reported as "believed dead" return maimed to France and find their wives remarried.

Germany does not allow prisoners employed in fortifications, trenches or transports to communicate with their families because of the knowledge derived in the course of their work. Owing to this obligatory silence imposed on the prisoners it now happens that many officially reckoned as dead are claiming to be reinstated as living citizens. In the cases of bachelors such official errors are not of much consequence and as regards the married prisoners in most cases their wives remained unmarried, but some cases have occurred where wives have remarried and, suddenly, maimed, decorated, amputated or maimed husbands turned up.

Charles Legoffe, author of the well known account of the Dixmude fighting today calls attention to the case of a glorious French prisoner who returned maimed and utterly disfigured and who out of a sentiment of delicacy to avoid a meeting with his family, refused to disclose his identity and repeats "I am dead."

How to Have Dry Buildings

IRON doesn't wear out, it rusts out. Ready Roofings don't wear out, they dry out. Do you know how important this is? It means that there is a tremendous difference between ready roofings even though all have felt and waterproofing compound in them. It's the quality of that compound, plus the skill and care in saturating the felt, that counts. If it is the skill used in the saturation, plus the chemical composition of the saturating compound that makes Panamoid a wonderful roofing.

PANAMOID ROOFING

Panamoid is made of the best felt that can be obtained. It is tough, strong, elastic. This felt is uniformly saturated with a non-volatile compound which is waterproofing in itself. It holds this saturation indefinitely. If you want dry roofs at low cost, Very easily laid.

GRÉAT BRITAIN SAVED FRANCE
(Le Petit Journal, Paris.)

Let no Frenchman deceive himself on this matter. Events have proved that if the struggle had been localized between France and Russia on the one hand, and Germany and her allies on the other, a German victory would have been the consequence. It is useless to cherish phantasms. The facts are there. Without Great Britain our ports were practically at the mercy of the enemy. Our overseas communications practically cut off. Germany had made no mistake on that point, and if she now hates the British it is because she sees in them the principal cause of her approaching downfall. She declared war only because she counted upon the non-participation of Great Britain. She had worked for years to assure herself of this, had been prodigal of her advances to Great Britain, and when the moment came when she plunged Europe into the abyss in which it is now being raised and exhausted, she thought herself sure that she had succeeded.

One million old fifty-cent pieces have been expressed from the Federal Sub-Treasury at St. Louis, Mo., to the Denver Mint, where they will be recast into half dollars of a different design.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS at a meeting of the Common Council held at the City of St. John this day, a by-law was passed and ordained amending the daylight saving law, so as to provide that the time of the 42nd Meridian should be the time to be observed in the City of Saint John from 11 o'clock of the last Sunday in April until 11 o'clock of the first Sunday in September in each year instead of the last Sunday in September.

NOW THEREFORE, I do hereby PROCLAIM and DECLARE that from 11 o'clock in the evening of Sunday, the third day of September next until 11 o'clock in the evening of the last Sunday in April next the time of the sixteenth meridian of longitude will be observed in the City of Saint John and I do hereby request all citizens at eleven of the clock on Sunday the third day of September next to set back their clocks one hour.

Given under my hand at the Mayor's office in the City Hall the twenty-ninth day of August, A. D. 1916.

HE WAS INSURED
The public were very much interested in the raid made by sharks along the coast of New Jersey. W. Stanley Fisher of Mattawan, N.J., lost his life on July 12, 1916, while trying to rescue a boy from attacks of a shark. Mr. Fisher was evidently not only brave, but he did much to solve her old age. No money can ever make up the loss of life to this mother, but through the remainder of her life she will bless the unselfish thoughtfulness of her son in providing for her in the event of just such things happening.

Sees Shortening of War in Entrance of Roumania

One of Great Crises of Military and Political History-Widespread Effect of Decision

(New York Tribune) With the entrance of Roumania we have come to another great moment in a world war, a moment conceivably as significant as that in which Austria cast her lot with the other allies fighting a still victorious Napoleon in 1812. Then the whole world knew that Austria would be beaten; now the whole world will conclude that Roumanian statements, under no compulsion to enter the war, having long held back at other moments that seemed propitious, have concluded that the defeat of the Central Powers is inevitable. It is impossible, then, to exaggerate the moral effect of Roumania's decision. It is not that it will have an influence in Athens that may be decisive; Greece now becomes a minor detail, and aside from Greece there are no more nations that can conceivably be involved in the war. Rather it is the meaning that the incident will have in Berlin, in Vienna, in Budapest, in Sofia and in Constantinople. Nor can one fail to feel the immense lift that the Roumanian action, following the Italian declaration of war upon Germany, will have in allied capitals and among the nations which for nearly a year have fought on with only in recent weeks the faintest hope of brighter days. Go back a year, and the contrast is obvious. In August, 1915, Warsaw fell, the Russian armies were driven back from the Roumanian frontier to the Gulf of Riga, leaving hundreds of thousands of prisoners behind them; Bulgaria was preparing to enter the camp of the Central Powers; the Danubian campaign was falling dismally; the western deadlock was neither broken nor was there any promise of a change. It is not Bulgaria entering Germany, which would have a long her Serbian pledges; it is not a long series of German victories still without periods; it is not disaster and disorganization in allied camps; it is not a long eye. Instead we have Roumania at last inside the allied camp and Greece on the point of entering to save her territory. We have Italy at last a full partner in the anti-German alliance, and we have the faintest hope of brighter days. Success in which Austria has again been brought to the edge of ruin. So much the effect of Roumania's entrance. We perceive now an explanation for the Russian retreat from Russian activity on the Danube and the Zlota Lipa. Two weeks ago the Russian armies were in fact Balkan; Lemberg; then almost without notice the whole Gallician fell passed out of their hands; and we began to hear of Russian pressure in the Carpathians. Obviously it was at this time that the Roumanian decision was made; the drive at Lemberg ceased to have any more value, because it was primarily designed to move Bucharest and to bring the suggestion that Russia was collecting an army for use in the Balkans, and new Bulgarian activity about Saloniki suggested a final effort to convince Roumania that the allied army here was powerless. We know now that this failed. Unquestionably Bulgaria now has to face the combined Russo-Roumanian thrust from the Dobruja, where she has an open frontier. The Turkish troops that have been stationed here for many months are today fighting being Lemberg. The mass of the Bulgarian troops are in the south of Macedonia and in the Balkan Peninsula have been recalled to Galicia and Istra. Thus upon Bulgaria falls the burden of making the head against 750,000 allied troops in Salonika and not fewer than 200,000 on the north. This was the situation that Bulgaria faced in the second Balkan war. It brought ruin and the loss of most of her land won in the first Balkan war. Will she risk a second fight against such odds or will she now change sides? If she risks the fight, she is beaten, as seems inevitable, her territory will be occupied and the railroad line between Berlin and Constantinople will be cut. If she changes sides, the result will be the same. And the cutting of this line will isolate Turkey. The German success in the Balkans was the one great disaster to allied fortunes and the one shining Teutonic success. It gave Germany something that she could claim as a prize in a war that had otherwise reached a situation where the status quo ante seemed the best basis for peace attainable. It fulfilled the colossal German dream of an empire extending from Berlin to Bagdad and a place in the sea beyond the reach of jealous sea power. An invasion of Hungary by Roumania is quite comparable to the Teutonic front, and it may be possible for a few Hungarians to hold the passes of the Transylvanian Alps; but Roumania's decision opens a new front, it demands new armies and it demands them at the moment when the situation on two other fronts is critical and even the most dangerous. The recent Russian operations through the Carpathians may easily portend Roumanian operations along the same lines, and we may expect that Roumania will at once take over the Bukovina front and incorporate Bukovina in her dominions. A good deal of exaggeration is heard now about the numbers of Roumanian armies, but it is certain that Roumania can put at least 500,000 into the field at once, and that behind these she will have reserves of equal number. She has been getting ready for this moment for two years, and she has her foot on all the ammunition sent through her frontiers, both by Russia to Serbia a year ago and by Austria and Germany to Turkey and Bulgaria. In her brief

A. D. McCain and Geo. W. Upham Nominated By The Opposition in Carleton at Great Convention

Halifax, Carleton county, N. B., Aug. 30.—The nomination of two of the most popular business men in Carleton county this afternoon by the opposition places that party in a most favorable position in the present by-election campaign.

Upham showed his strength in the by-election in 1908, a few months after Hazen went into power, when he converted a majority of more than 600 for the government into a handsome majority for himself.

Andrew D. McCain is one of the brightest young business men in New Brunswick. He is the active head of the McCain Company, one of the largest firms dealing in general produce in the province.

Both candidates are the kind of men who have deservedly won popular favor. The convention was notable for its vivid enthusiasm, for the businesslike character, and splendid attendance.

H. Murray brought to the attention of General Sir Sam Hughes the project of forming a Nova Scotia Highland Brigade. It was a well thought out scheme which had the endorsement of the local military authorities and the Nova Scotia recruiting committee.

The Highland brigade was raised in spite of the dominion government, was not with its assistance, is the testimony of a leading Tory politician in this province.

But that is not the worst of it. When it was certain that Mr. Murray's plan of raising a brigade was to succeed, in spite of the hostility of the Nova Scotia Tory members, there was a rush to counter the Tory interests.

That brings a wonderful wax in touch with the corn, and protects it. This wax was invented by a chemist who has spent 25 years studying corns.

After they had been chosen the candidates sent the following letter to Hon. B. F. Smith:

Dear Sir,—The undersigned, having been chosen candidates for the opposition party in the approaching by-election, propose to you as minister of public works in the government seeking re-election and through you to your colleague, that a mutual agreement and arrangement shall be made between the two parties that the election shall be conducted without the use of money or liquor to influence the electors.

We sincerely hope that, particularly at this present time when men and women of this country are making supreme sacrifices for Canada and the empire, higher ideals may prevail in your political life, and that we can agree there shall be no corrupt practices in this election in Carleton county. If you are agreeable to our proposal, we will be glad to send you the names of a committee of three supporters of the opposition party by Monday, 4th, who will confer with your committee.

Maples Win From Thistles
Defeat League Champions by a Score of 4 to 2; Many Fans Witness Game
In St. Peter's League post series last evening the Maples defeated the Thistles by a score of 4 to 2. The game was called at the end of the first half of the 11th inning owing to darkness. At that time McGovern of the Maples drove out too dark to see, he called the game. Thus the runs did not count.
The Maples, since strengthening, have proven to be a fast team, and had they been together at the first of the season they would in all probability have finished better than in third place.
Hansen was on the mound for the winners and allowed only two hits in addition to having seven strike outs. Doyle pitched well for the Thistles, but was not quite free at times.

Catarrahal Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

RESTA LEADING AUTO DRIVERS
DePalma and Rickenbacher Follow in Season's Point Score
Cincinnati, Aug. 28.—Should Dario Resta, the diminutive auto racing driver, be the first international driver to win a race with which the new Cincinnati Speedway at Sharonville will be opened Saturday, Sept. 2, and the victor probably will net him $27,000, with an additional prospect of $18,000 if he follows the driving plans he usually assumes in big races.
This goodly sum will come to Resta from two sources. The certain reward of $12,000 comes from the Cincinnati Speedway management, that amount being set aside out of the $80,000 purse for the winner of the race. The additional $15,000 represents the prize money offered by various manufacturers of accessories for the driver winning the most points during 1916. At present Resta has 2,400 points to his credit—nearly 700 more than his nearest competitor—and winning the Cincinnati event will add from 900 to 1,000 more points to his score, according to the number of starters in the race.
A further reward of $1,500 is possible through three prizes of $500 each offered by the Speedway management for the drivers leading at 100, 200, and 250 miles, respectively. There also are several valuable trophies which Resta may annex, including the Bosch $1,000 Trophy, representing the 1916 championship, and several prizes offered by Cincinnati business men for special performances.
The following list shows how the contestants for the 1916 championship stand, and indicates that, while Resta is in the lead at present, there are other drivers who will have a chance to land the title and the big prize that goes with it.

How to Settle Disputes
Philadelphia Ledger—One alert scribe has hit upon an admirable idea for settling all umpire troubles. Let the manager and the club-owner umpire all home games. Nobody would kick then except the visiting club. As it is, everyone is kicking and the kicking will continue whether the umpiring is good, bad or only medium.

WINTER DIP IN SALT WATER PROBABILITY

Commissioner Russell Working on Plan That Will Please Swimmers

It will be of interest to people throughout the city who enjoy salt water swimming and bathing during the summer months, to learn that Commissioner Russell is considering the feasibility of establishing a pool near the water front where a duck in the salt water during the winter months could be had without any danger of the performer catching pneumonia.

He has been gathering data regarding swimming pools, and is of the opinion that a site might be secured where a large scow could be placed on a concrete pool placed. Salt water could be pumped into this pool daily, and by means of steam pipes, heated to a suitable degree. Whether or not the plan will materialize will not be known for some time, as Commissioner Russell intends to go through into the matter before bringing it before the common council. The interest manifested at the scows at West St. John during the summer has been so keen that the commissioner is endeavoring to give those interested a chance to continue enjoying the sport during the entire year.

SOON START AT WORK OF WIDENING STREET AT THE CORNER OF MAIN AND MILL

Commissioner Fisher, of the Public Works department, said this morning that so soon as Engineer Hatfield returned from his vacation work of widening the street at the corner of Main and Mill will be commenced. Traffic is congested at this junction and as street cars have a regular stop there, pedestrians are more or less in danger of being injured by moving vehicles. The street line at this point is to be set back nineteen and a half feet. Already foot passengers are using the short cut.

The concrete retaining wall in Chesley street has been completed and the work of filling in will commence in a few days as soon as the concrete has had a chance to set.

POLICE COURT

Two prisoners faced the police magistrate this morning. One was on an ordinary drunkenness charge. He was remanded into jail. The other was an individual who was arrested last evening by city detectives on charge of acting disgracefully in Queen Square. He gave his name as Charles V. Bonnie of Halifax. Articles that were found on him were exhibited before the officials, and it certainly looked as if a second hand store had been removed to the court. The entire "stock" would reach the value of $50. A diamond ring alone, the police say, would be worth $25, and a brooch that was also discovered on him would cost $15. Last night a woman accompanied by a little girl identified the man to the police. The magistrate told him he was liable under the Dominion act to a term of two years in Dorchester. He was remanded.

AGAIN IN THE HOSPITAL

Private W. H. Golden of the Fighting 20th, who was wounded on January 7 while fighting in Flanders, is again in the hospital. After receiving treatment for five months he was assigned to light duty in England but, before his three months period was up, blood poisoning threatened and he had to return to the hospital for further treatment. Private Golden enlisted in the first contingent, but was turned back at Valenciennes owing to an injury received there, and later enlisted in the 20th. Before enlisting he was a brick layer with P. J. Mooney & Sons. His wife and three children reside at 79 Brunel street.

WAR SOUVENIRS ON EXHIBITION

Part of Personal Collection Brought Home by Col. J. L. McAvity of the 26th

There is an exhibition in the window of T. McAvity & Sons, King street, one of the finest collections of war souvenirs that has yet been seen in St. John. The fact that it is part of the personal collection of the commanding officer of the "Fighting 26th," Col. J. L. McAvity, makes the various articles, direct from the battle fields of France, doubly interesting.

Not only does the collection contain war souvenirs of the Allies, but also pieces of ammunition and novelties from the country that is today the bitter enemy of nearly all the nations of Europe.

To the ordinary observer probably the three most interesting articles in the window include a bayonet from Dublin, Ireland; that was found by Lieutenant M. Colloch, of the 26th, who took part in quelling the small there some months ago, while on leave. Another is a crucifix that was found in Armentieres after its evacuation by the French and its destruction by the Hun. A third is a clip of cartridges with a German bullet embedded in it. It is a startling example of how near sometimes one can come to death and still live. The German bullet can be distinctly seen buried in the clip of cartridges that was carried in the belt of the soldier. It saved the life of Pte. Miller, a Campbellton boy.

There is seen a spoon from No. Man's Land; there are a German automatic pistol, pieces of shrapnel from St. Etol, Verdast and Hemmel districts, Mills bombs thrown by hand, German shot-noses 75 to 77 m.m., percussion of H. E. or time fuse types, rifle grenades, British smoke helmet used as a defence against chlorine gas, German helmets and covers, rifles and bayonets used exclusively by the British and Canadian troops, French officers' gloves and cap. There are despatch cases used by the 26th, and a British officer's electric light from France. This is carried on a belt or in the sling. There are numerous maps and other necessities of the army in war.

The collection is a novel one and naturally much prized by the owner. His thoughtfulness in exhibiting it to the public of St. John is highly appreciated and many already have spent minutes deeply interested in studying the war souvenirs.
