HARVESTERS' EXCURSION.

Advisers from the west indicate that the demand for labor is more urgent than it has been at any time since the harvest commenced.

This is consequent upon the fact that a greater number of men are required to assist in the work of gathering the immense crops which are the greatest in Canada's history.

It will be readily understood that the task of gathering the crops requires a greater amount of assistance than the mere work of cutting. At the present time there is work for 200,000 men to help in gathering.

The wages are higher than what was ever paid in the west. The extra help cannot be provided in the west, and for the purpose of meeting the requirements the C. P. R. will run a Harvesters' Excursion from St. John and Fredericton on the Atlantic Division October 14th. The rate will be $12.00 going to Winnipeg and $18.00 returning.

MEXICO'S SERIOUS FLIGHT

"The course of events during the last eighteen months has revealed the general insecurity of conditions in Mexico," says Forbes Lindsay, a well-known traveler and lecturer, in the October Lippincott's.

"The stream of capital which had been directed into the country for many years past was checked by the revolution which displaced Diaz. Lack of confidence in the ability of the Madero administration to maintain order prevented the resumption of the flow, and it is doubtful whether it may be expected to reappear in anything like its former volume after the present disturbance has been quelled.

"The prospective opening of the Panama Canal has turned the attention of European and American capitalists to the countries with which improved communication will be established within a year or two. As a result, investors are discovering that a number of comparatively neglected fields offer equally good opportunities for the employment of capital as does Mexico, with less chance of interference to enterprise by political disturbance. Panama, Costa Rica, Peru, and Ecuador have especially attracted favorable notice recently on these accounts.

"Strikes, a new feature in the industrial life of Mexico, have been frequent during the last few months. Hardly a year ago the first trade union in Mexico was formed under the direction of paid American organizers. Since then the movement has spread through almost all of the manufacturing industries, and has included a number of other wage-earners, such as street-car employees, dock-hands, and railroad servants. Walking delegates and emissaries from labor organizations in the United States have for months been busily engaged in creating discontent among the Mexican workers. The consequent disturbance of the manufacturing industries is causing the government serious concern. At a recent conference of manufacturers and officials held in Mexico City it was decided to appeal to congress for legal restraint of professional agitators. It is questionable whether this remedy will be effective now, since in every important mechanical industry germans, or labor unions, have already been organized and the members thoroughly drilled in the tactics prevalent in the United States. "To add to the difficulties which face the harassed country, claims for indemnity growing out of the insurrection have in course of preparation by the United States, Great Britain, Germany, and France. These will amount to a heavy sum, and prompt settlement will doubtless be demanded. The resultant attitude will be a serious one. Mexico's treasury has been depleted and her credit has waned since the reins of government were wrested from the hands of Diaz.

THE MYSTERIOUS HANDFUL. A troupe of wandering musicians were playing before a Swiss hotel. At the end of the performance one of the members left the group, approached the leader of the band and pulled out a little paper box, which he emptied into his left hand while the eyes of the leader followed every movement. He then took a plate in his right hand, passed it around, and a large sum was collected, everyone meanwhile wondering what he had in his left hand. "Why, it's very simple," said the leader when questioned. "We are all subject to temptation, and to be sure of the fidelity of our collector he has to hold five francs in his left hand, and we count these when he returns, to make sure of the money."

The kangaroo is said to have received its name in the following way: When first Australia was discovered a sailor pointed to a kangaroo and asked a native what he called that animal. The black man never met an Englishman before, and had no idea what the sailor was talking about and replied in his own language, kangaroo, this is, "I do not understand." The sailor supposed this was the name of the animal in the Australian tongue, and ever since we have called the animal kangaroo. "I do not understand."

LOYALTY AS A POLITICAL ASSET

Writing in the latest University Magazine, Mr. E. W. Thomson, discussing the political situation in Canada, speaks of a school of thought which is forever proclaiming its loyalty and "which must be esteemed hypocritical in that act since no man sure of his own fealty to the throne would ever descend to proclaiming it."

However, it is a fact that there is an increasing number of Canadians, both in the East and in the West, who are becoming weary of having their political opinions pruned continually of their loyalty, as if there could be any question concerning the loyalty of the Canadian people as a whole.

Discussion of this subject recalls a somewhat bitter retort made by a public man in Halifax recently in talking over public affairs with an Englishman who was in London during Mr. Borden's recent visit. The Englishman said that Mr. Borden's message to the people of the United Kingdom was, in effect, "that the meaning of the last federal election was that Canada had decided to remain British."

The Halifax man expressed sorrow that the people of the Old Country should have entertained any doubt as to the loyalty of Canada, and additional regret that Mr. Borden, by inference, should have placed a stigma upon the people he represented. "It was what Mr. Borden said about the federal elections," said the Halifax man, "it was exactly as if he had announced that some highly respected woman had decided to remain virtuous."

An Ottawa despatch to the Toronto Star indicates that the Borden government is being quietly approached with the idea of having the Liberal preference reduced in some particulars. Only a day or two ago the Canadian Manufacturers' Association went on record as being opposed to any increase in the preference. So it will be observed that the loyalty of the more conservative protectionists is not warm enough to interfere with their desire and determination to tax the Canadian people on behalf of those who enjoy special privileges.

The Canadian manufacturers, it appears, are quite free, as legal citizens, to place $100,000,000 worth of insurance in American companies, because it pays them to do so, as they say, but if the farmer desires to sell his grain, or his potatoes, or other natural products, in the American market, the flag-waving protectionists immediately denounce him as a traitor to his country.

The time is coming when the loyalty of the farmer and of the protectionist manufacturer will have to be measured by the same standard. If Parliament is to confer privileges upon one class, it cannot deny them to another. Flag-waving will not suffice to prevent the discussion of legal questions on their merits.

EARLY CLOSING. The Times has been asked by several business men, some of whom favor the early closing by-law, and some of whom are stoutly opposing it, to publish letters putting forward one side of the case or the other. Such letters have been published, if they were short and easily understood, on the ground that both sides are fairly entitled to a hearing.

But elections are not carried by writing letters to the newspapers, though a part of the campaign may very properly be carried on in that way. If the proposed by-law is to be beaten tomorrow, it is to be carried tomorrow, the result will be brought about by hard work on the part of those most interested on one side or the other. Under the present commission form of government it is possible to have almost any question submitted to the voters, and as their decision is likely to be final it is only fair to warn both sides to the controversy that the best way they can serve their cause is to vote and to persuade as many others as possible to vote their way.

Generally speaking, it is probable that the chief difficulty tomorrow will be in getting out a large enough vote to make the result fairly representative of public feeling on this subject; but, on the other hand, it must be clear enough that any one who is not sufficiently interested to go to the polls and cast his vote cannot be regarded as taking the question very seriously. So, if the total vote should be small, it would unflatteringly indicate that only a small portion of the population really cares about the matter. This should be kept in mind by those who really are deeply interested, and, judging by the letters published, some of our fellow-citizens regard the coming decision as a very important one.

One trouble about legislation of this general character, is that if we begin to regulate private business it might be difficult to draw the line.

If you do not vote tomorrow you will have no right to object to the result.

Presumably this is the weather we didn't get in July. The business men who are pushing the plan to reclaim ninety acres for industrial sites believe St. John will profit greatly if the scheme is carried out. A decision ought not to be deferred.

The championship baseball series appears to have the American presidential election distanced in the matter of popular interest. This morning's despatches indicate a really feverish attitude on the part of the "fans."

If the breakwater is to be moved southward the change must be decided upon at once. It is said $55,000 represents all that has been spent on the present site, and that the portion of the breakwater already built could be utilized in connection with a plan to reclaim land for the proposed steel industry.

New Brunswick needs this canal, though it is directed to the people of British Columbia, by the Victoria Colonist—"Urban and suburban property depends for its value upon quite a different set of circumstances than those which determine the value of farm land. The value of the latter is to be judged from what it can be made to yield in the way of saleable products. The more that can be made off an acre, the more the acre is worth to the man who owns it. Therefore, we suggest not only that more land should be got ready for farming, but that the owners of farm land, should demonstrate by experiment what can be accomplished by intensive cultivation. If these two things were done on anything like a general scale, not only would the owners of the land reap a handsome profit upon it and what they may expend upon it, but millions of dollars would be kept in the province which now are sent abroad for food-stuff."

The figures showing the totals of the votes cast in the recent provincial election in Saskatchewan tend to discredit Mr. Rogers' charge that the Liberal victory was the result of polling of large numbers of unauthorized votes. "The voting in the provincial election in July, 1912, was smaller than the voting in the federal election in Sept., 1911, by no less than 5,000 ballots; and this loss fell entirely upon the Liberals. The Liberal vote in Saskatchewan in Sept. 1911, was 33,000; in July, 1912, it dropped to 45,000. The Conservative vote in both contests stayed at 24,000. What the falling-off in the Liberal vote implies is a subject for speculation; but certainly it does not strengthen the theory that, in making the lists for the provincial contest, the Scott government stuffed them with the names of unqualified persons and then protected these parties in casting their votes on election day."

SERIOUS McADAM FIRE. A spectacular fire took place at McAdam at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, when the City Camp hotel and an adjoining building were destroyed and two nearby buildings badly scorched. Owing to the early hour, the fire had gained considerable headway before it was discovered, and many of the people in the burning buildings had to leave in their night clothes. Some of the occupants of rooms in the upper storey made their escape by tying sheets together and lowering themselves to the ground. One man was forced to leap from a window in the second story and fortunately landed safely. The progress of the flames was finally checked after a hard fight.

CLOSE OF MISSION. The mission in St. Peter's church was ended on Sunday night with a very large gathering. Rev. Francis Hogan was the preacher. The mission is declared the most successful yet held there. Father McCormick gave his first address since his appointment as pastor, and made a pleasing impression. The last mass of the mission, with special sermon was held this morning. Father Kelly is to leave for Montreal about the middle of the week. Fathers Sultz and Hogan, missionaries, will have tonight for Toronto to take a rest for a week, and will then go on mission work through Ontario.

FACING THE POWDER. They (of course they were girls) were talking of course in the nicest manner possible about a third girl—a mutual friend.

"Yes," remarked one of them, "she quarrelled with Jack, and returned all his presents."

"Oh, really? And I suppose he very naturally returned hers?"

"Every one of them," replied the other. "Why, he even went so far as to send her half-a-dozen boxes of face-powder, with a polite note explaining that since he must meet her he must have taken that much home on his coat."

Miss Welborn (gushingly)—Good morning, Lucy, dear. How strange I should meet you—and ought, birthday, dear. Lucy—Is it really your birthday, dear? Why, how old are you now?

Miss Welborn—Twenty-five, dear. Lucy (candidly)—Isn't it wonderful how slowly time passes?

Foreman of the locked-in jury (impatiently)—The rest of us are agreed, and you would see the case as we do if you had an ounce of brains. Obstinate Juror (reflectively)—Yes that's just the trouble. I've got more than an ounce.

"I believe honesty pays in the long run." "So do I; but I often wish it were not such a mighty long run."

NEW YORK GANG LEADER SLAIN

New York, Oct. 6.—Big Jack Zelig was shot and killed tonight. The East Side gang leader, who was said to have supplied the "gun men" for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, was on a Second Avenue open car when Philip Davidson, who says he is a Irish dealer, jumped on the running board and fired the fatal shot. Davidson is said by denizens of the underworld to be "Red Phil," a Boston pickpocket.

Davidson jumped from the car and ran away, but was caught, pistol in hand. He admitted the shooting. According to the prisoner, Zelig had held him up early in the day in an East Side hallway and robbed him of $400. District Attorney Whitman, as soon as he was notified of the murder, requested that the questioning of the prisoner be deferred until he arrived at headquarters. On Zelig's body several letters were found, including missives from Whitey Lewis, "Gyp the Blood," "Lefty" Lewis, and "Diago Frank," who are in the Tombs for the Rosenthal murder.

THE EARLY CLOSING MOVEMENT

To The Editor of the Times:

Sir—In answer to P. Steele's letter of Saturday, October 6th, would say that I do not hesitate to sign my name to a reply. Now, sir, having signed the petition for the early closing law, I am like hundreds of others who signed the said paper, as I took the trouble to interview between eight hundred and nine hundred people in regard to this by-law.

Now, sir, in my rounds I have met men who live in the North End and work in the South End and they now want to and from their work that they may have the ten cents a day to buy bread and other necessities for the family.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES: Sir—I see that the by-law that was killed last year and thrown out by the commissioners this year; after careful examination they found that it would not be right to give their consent to a by-law that would be so injurious to so many, especially the poor, who could not possibly find it convenient to do their shopping during the day.

TRAINING THEM FOR FARMS IN THE DOMINION

Lords Methuen and Roberts, Earl Grey and Others in Project to Provide For Time-Expired Soldiers

(Times Special Correspondence) London, Sept. 24.—What the British government has repeatedly been urged to do is now being taken in hand by private enterprise.

It was urged on the government that they should meet in an adequate way the really urgent problem of economic provision for soldiers.

Now well known agriculturists and military organizers have started in an undertaking to provide occupation for discharged soldiers.

Field Marshal Lord Methuen, Lord Roberts, Earl Grey, Lord Avebury, Sir Horace Plunkett and Colonel H. L. Pilkington are behind the scheme.

The plan takes the shape of establishing training farms to teach the soldier how to farm in the most thorough character which will be given by efficient instructors, and the soldiers will then be drafted to Canada and Australia.

COLLAPSE OF BOOM OF AUSTRALIA IN THE MOTHER LAND

British Financiers Stand Behind Canada and Her Position is Regained

(Times Special Correspondence) London, Sept. 24.—A few weeks ago one could scarcely pick up a newspaper without reading about the prosperity of Australia.

In one of the biggest publicity booms of recent years we were assured that Canada was to take a back seat and that the present position, occupied by the dominion now belonged to the southern continent.

The Australian wave of popularity was at its height. As quickly as it began, so it ceased, and another example of the strength and widespread influence of the connection between Canada and the old world was given.

As a matter of fact British capitalists who are heavily interested in the dominion found that the Australian boom was doing their interests a great deal of harm, and if continued would have played havoc with the profit of their investment.

Lord Joicey, one of the wealthiest of Liberal peers, who recently paid nearly half a million dollars for 20,000 acres in British Columbia, and Lord Charles Bessborough and the group associated with him, who have heavy holdings of land in four of the provinces, realized that the Australian wave would be disastrous to their interests; and the word was passed around that it had to stop.

The very effective measures that were taken are reflected by the comparative silence of the press as regards Australia and the resumption of the daily diet of Canadian prosperity.

ENGLAND'S DESERTED LAND

(Times Special Correspondence) London, Sept. 24.—Dealing with the exodus of people from this country to Canada, a London paper which is conducting an investigation into the causes speaks of the "desert land" and says: "The effects of this depopulation are writ large over the whole country side. One may drive for miles along the lanes and between the fields in the south country without seeing any sign of human life save a solitary road mender or a hedge cutter. The emptiness and silence at last become disquieting; it is as if some spell had been laid on the land rendering it mute, nor until the country towns come in sight does the sense that some evil magic is at work disappear."

CANADIAN RAILWAY PROBLEM

(Times Special Correspondence) London, Sept. 24.—While he was in Bristol, Major G. W. Stephens, chairman of the Montreal harbor committee, brought home in a really striking way the congestion of railway transportation in Canada, when he said: "It takes less time to get from Montreal to Bristol than it takes to get freight by rail from Montreal to Toronto. Yet Bristol is 2,800 miles away from Montreal and Toronto is only 480 miles. The reason is the congestion of traffic between the two cities."

PRINCIPAL LLOYD BELIEVER IN A GERMAN MENACE

(Times Special Correspondence) London, Sept. 24.—That some development of practical benefit to Canada militia has been here for some time in connection with the work of the Anglican church in Canada, recently returned after a holiday in Germany.

Those who remember how readily he took charge of the work of establishing the Emmanuel College in Saskatoon will be the first to appreciate the following story. Half in earnest he informed a friend that he did not know whether to go on with the work in which he is so interested or to take off his coat and teach the men of this country that their principal duty was to learn to shoot.

FOR BUTTER OR WORSE The diner thrust the tip of his knife into the yellow disc which the waiter had brought him. He held it up to the light and examined it, while the waiter stood by anxiously. Then the diner resolutely returned the yellow disc to his plate and scraped some of it upon his bread. "I take thee," he said, "for butter or worse."

THAT WAS ALL. A Kansas farmer, a Dane, applied for naturalization papers. The judge asked him: "Are you satisfied with the general conditions of the country?" "Yes," drawled the Dane. "Does the government suit you?" "I take thee," he said, "for butter or worse."

HAD TO LEAP INTO THE RIVER FROM HIS BURNING MOTOR BOAT

H. F. Rankine Has Experience at Pamelac—The Audrey Destroyed

H. F. Rankine, of the firm of T. Rankine & Sons, narrowly escaped serious injury at his summer home in Pamelac yesterday afternoon when his motor boat, the Audrey, caught fire and burned to the waters' edge. Mr. Rankine, who was in the boat at the time, was forced to jump into the river, and escaped with a ducking in the cold water. About twelve o'clock Mr. Rankine left for Millidgeville in his motor boat, having in tow a sail boat belonging to Doctor Barton, and a small tender. He was taking the boats across to Pamelac where they were to be stored for the winter. He reached Pamelac and after getting his tow ready to put ashore, jumped back into the motor boat. He had no sooner got into the boat than it caught fire, and he was forced to jump into the river to escape the flames. He had some difficulty getting out of the boat quickly, as the canopy top on the boat prevented his quick escape. The boat was soon enveloped in flames and burned rapidly. The sail boat and the small tender were moved to safety, and were not damaged. The Audrey was a 12 horse power boat and had been working very well until lately. In going across to Pamelac yesterday Mr. Rankine had some trouble with the engine, and he is of the opinion that it was a leak in the carburetor that caused the fire. The boat was insured with the St. Paul Fire & Marine Insurance Company, of which the William Thomson Co. are the agents here.

LAWYERS ARE TO SUBMIT A SCHEME TO COMMISSIONERS

Re-organization of the City Constable Service is Engaging Attention

The re-organization of the city constabulary service is engaging the attention of some of the lawyers of the city. For some time there has been dissatisfaction regarding the way in which the work is done by some of the constables, and those interested in the matter have been invited by Mayor Frink to submit their proposals for a remedy. In a recent petition addressed to the common council, signed by a score of lawyers, asking for the reinstatement of one constable, the need for some reforms in the service was mentioned. This case was disposed of by the official retirement, but in dealing with the other portion of the petition Mayor Frink, in a letter addressed to H. W. Robertson, says: "In regard to the other matter of arranging a better system for the service in connection with court practice, as far as constables are concerned, I think it would be desirable for the barristers, whose names appear on the petition, to submit a scheme of re-organization for the constabulary service, take the matter up thoroughly, and submit definite proposals for the consideration of the commissioners. If you will do this, I feel that the matter will receive serious consideration, as the question is one which occupies the attention of previous councils from time to time, and I believe the result of service given by these constables could be made much more efficient and satisfactory." In accordance with this communication a meeting of those interested will be held this evening in the offices of Messrs. Tait, McLean & Rives.

NEW POLICY IN THE TAXING OF INSURANCE COMPANIES HERE

Commissioners Will Seek Assessment Act Amendment—Pettingill Warehouse Platform

A new policy with regard to the payment of taxes by insurance companies was decided upon by the commissioners at their noon meeting today. In dealing with the petition of several companies, which have discontinued their agencies here, for the remission of their taxes, the commissioners decided that some of the companies must pay the full amount of $100 while others will be allowed to pay pro rata for the time they did business in the city. They also decided, however, to seek an amendment to the assessment act to place the insurance companies on the same footing with all other business interests and compel them to pay their taxes in advance. The proposal to lay a platform in front of the Pettigill warehouse for molasses shipments was laid over until a more exact estimate of the cost could be secured from the city engineer. Some time was devoted to the discussion of the amendments to the building and fire laws.

TOMORROW'S ELECTION

Polls Open Between 8 and 4—General Idea is Not For a Large Vote

The citizens will be given the opportunity tomorrow to elect whether or not they desire the early closing law to go into effect. When the former law was repealed the present law was framed by the supporters of the early closing movement and the commissioners were requested to pass it. On their refusal without further authority the Early Closing Association decided to proceed under the provisions of the clause of the new city charter which permit the citizens to take the initiative in securing legislation. This will be the first vote to be taken under the new system. The members of the association are very enthusiastic in behalf of their cause but there is a strong opposition from merchants and others. Apart from those opposed by the proposed legislation there has been but little display of interest in the matter and the vote is expected to be light. The polls will be open at eight o'clock this afternoon at four polling places. The results of the election will not be made until Wednesday morning. The polling places are: City—J. What Kind of Men Are The Boys of Saint John Going to Be? Somebody has observed that if you start a boy going through back streets to school, he will never grow up as a Front Street Man, but will keep to the alleys as long as he lives. There are a great many men who come here to buy good clothing when they were boys. They are well-dressed men, believing in sound, square-before-the-world way of doing things, because they started out that way. If, as boys, they had been clothed in cheap shops, it is not unlikely that they would be buying "hand-me-downs" to this day, and wondering why nobody ever seemed to respect them. The boy who wears Oak Hall Clothing will respect himself and will be respected by others—and it will be good for him. There could be no better time than now to select his New Winter Suit or Overcoat.
