

JOUGHINS WILL RETURN TO I.C.R.

Mechanical Superintendent Vindicated in Stand Against Policy of General Manager--Smallpox Outbreak in Kent.

Special to The Standard. Moncton, Nov. 11.—The investigation into matters arising from the resignation of Mechanical Superintendent Joughins, of the I. C. R., has been closed, and it is understood that Mr. Joughins has been completely vindicated.

It will be remembered that the mechanical superintendent resigned as a result of a resolution passed on him by the general management of the road who, it is said, took him to task for the inefficient condition of the I. C. R. rolling stock. Mr. Joughins disclaimed all responsibility for this, contending that the difficulty was due to the reduction of the force of the mechanical staff.

This is said to be one of the alleged reforms which have been put in force by the management of the I. C. R. recently in order to reduce expenses and provide the surplus which is referred to as evidence of the good management of the road.

Mr. Joughins' vindication is a setback for the general management. Mr. Joughins is likely to take a long leave of absence before resuming his duties as mechanical superintendent.

Smallpox in Kent. A rather serious smallpox situation is reported from Kent county. Two school teachers near Richibucto were found to have the disease and it is feared the disease may spread in this way to many families.

If the Whelpsey skate works do not come to Moncton they may go to Amherst, as residents of that town have expressed a willingness to provide the stock. It is likely however that the necessary stock will be subscribed here.

Fred Ramsay, a young man of twenty, shortly after eating a hearty meal this evening, was seized with a hemorrhage and died to death in about three minutes. Deceased was a son of John T. Ramsay, who is at present in Winthrop, Mass.

DIGBY PASTOR FOR WEST SIDE

Rev. A. J. Archibald Has Accepted Call to Charlotte St. United Baptist Church—Is Coming in December.

Special to The Standard. Digby, N. S., Nov. 11.—Rev. A. J. Archibald, pastor of the Digby Baptist church, has received an accepted call to the Charlotte street United Baptist church, St. John. Rev. Mr. Archibald graduated from Acadia in 1896 and received the master's degree from the same institution in 1907. He is also a graduate of Rochester theological seminary in the class of 1900. His first pastorate was Glace Bay, and from there he moved to Digby where he spent five years. Then a year was spent in the Canadian West, receiving a call he returned to Digby. The second pastorate began two years ago and will terminate early in December, when according to present arrangements, Rev. Mr. Archibald goes to St. John.

The people of the Digby church have been most insistent in their demand that their pastor resign and have offered a very tempting addition to his salary, but as the new field offers a larger opportunity for work he feels it his duty to respond.

STEAMER RESCUED CREW OF SCHOONER

Kingston, Jam., Nov. 11.—The German steamer Prinz Joachim arrived here today from New York and reported having fallen in on Wednesday with the British schooner Cornwall which was becalmed off the Bahama Islands.

The Cornwall was seven weeks out from Nassau and having suffered severely in the recent storm, was without food or water. The plight of the crew was desperate. The Prinz Joachim rescued the schooner with the necessities.

TO TEST NAVAL ARMOR. Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—The details of the high explosive tests to which the armor of the monitor Puritan will be subjected in Hampton Roads, on Nov. 15, were made public by Acting Secretary Winthrop, of the navy department today.

JERSEY CITY DRIVERS BALK SETTLEMENT

New York Strikers Will Be Kept From Work By Action Of Brother Workmen Across The River.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 11.—The striking express drivers and helpers of Jersey City nullified today the agreement reached early this morning between the New York strikers and the five transcontinental companies. That agreement was conditioned on the consent of the Jersey men to return to work and this they have refused. The situation now reverts to precisely the position it occupied before Mayor Gaynor took a hand in the negotiations—with this exception, that the mayor is angry and resolved to temporize no longer.

Some of the New York drivers and helpers who believed the Jersey men would also ratify the agreement were on their wagons today, but if the international brotherhood of teamsters makes good its word, they will all be called out again. The chauffeurs are fighting their own battle, and it promises to be a bitter one. Five hundred cab drivers went out to aid them today and they all vow that they will never go back until the union is recognized.

In the decision of the Jersey men became known to the brotherhood officials on this side of the Hudson, General Organizer Ashton called on Mayor Gaynor. At the end of the conference, which was brief, Mr. Ashton had nothing to say, but Mayor Gaynor expressed himself succinctly:

"They can reject the agreement if they want to," he said. "But I beg to say that a committee of their own selection came to me voluntarily with no request of mine, and made an honorable agreement. If the men reject that honorable agreement, I shall be glad to have the express wagons can be run without their help, even if we have to man every one of them with policemen."

In the present confused state of the strike, Judge Cox in the United States circuit court, decided today that all express wagons may be run in this city under the conditions that have hitherto obtained—that is, without municipal licenses—until the status of a driver in charge of interstate express matter with reference to a municipal ordinance has been fixed.

BRITISH CAMPAIGN BEGINS; W. M. AITKEN OFFERED SEAT

Former New Brunswick Man May Contest North Cumberland for Unionist Party.

Premier Asquith in Conference With King Makes No Announcement of date of Elections.

Special cable to The Standard. London, Nov. 11.—W. M. Aitken of Montreal and a native of New Brunswick has been offered the Unionist candidacy in North Cumberland and there are good reasons for believing that he will accept. Mr. Aitken is acting under the guidance of H. Bonar Law.

The North Cumberland constituency is now represented by the Hon. Geoffrey Howard, a Liberal, and the son of Earl Carlisle. His majority in 1908 was 237 in a vote of 8,700. In 1910 Mr. Howard's majority was 24. The only occasion since 1885, when the seat had been carried by a Unionist, was in 1900, when the Unionist candidate carried the seat by 700 majority. In all other elections the Liberals have won.

Joe Martin is again contesting East St. Pancras, and Donald McMaster the Chertsey division, both with every assurance of success.

In Conference With King. London, Nov. 11.—(By Associated Press)—Herbert Henry Asquith, prime minister, who must decide this question, thus far has kept his own counsel. He left town quietly this afternoon and not even the members of his cabinet knew his destination until the newspapers announced his arrival at Sandringham, where King George is in residence. The object of the visit is to acquaint his Majesty with the cabinet ministers, of the failure of the constitutional conference, and to advise him of the course the government intends to pursue.

It is believed that the cabinet has decided not to carry on any further work with the present Parliament until such guarantees as would insure success to the government's policy. Ordinary resolutions on the veto on the power of the House of Lords which passed the House of Commons last session would be discussed in the upper chamber, and the government would await their rejection before taking action.

Discussion Useless. The refusal of the constitutional conference to accept the government's compromise however, makes discussion of the veto resolution useless in the view of the radicals and the opinion prevails that the government either must resign or advise the dissolution of Parliament.

It is significant that the trend of feeling in Liberal circles distinctly favors an immediate election, and it is generally considered that this would be a wise course for the Liberals to take, as they would have a splendid chance of securing an increased majority in the House of Commons. Attacks on the social and other legislation favored by the government have lost much of their force since January, while the improvement in trade has helped to popularize the free trade party.

On the other hand the Conservatives are suffering from lack of cohesion and an influential section of the party is openly hostile to Mr. Balfour's leadership, his policy being not aggressive enough for them. The campaign practically began tonight with speeches in all parts of the country. Organizations of all kinds are getting on their feet. Not the least of these are the suffragettes whose cry will be "down with the veto and prime minister." The Unionists will fight their campaign on the Home Rule issue. This is clearly indicated by the newspapers, one of which votes practically the whole of the issue to the return of John Redmond, using such headlines as "The Dictator With Dollars; American Gold. Another newspaper advises candidates to rub into their constituents that "Redmond with $200,000 is about to reappear in this country for the work of tearing down the British constitution with American money."

MONTH OVERDUE SCHOONER ARRIVES

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 11.—Nearly a month overdue the schr. Inez N. Carver, badly battered arrived here today with a cargo of lumber from Mobile. The trip according to Captain Dow, was one of the most thrilling the crew ever made. The schooner was in the West India hurricane of a few weeks ago. The Carver sailed from Mobile for Baltimore on Sept. 30.

CHILD DIES FROM BURNS

Bangor, Maine, Nov. 11.—Robert, the three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Wallace Jackson of Stillwater, died at five o'clock this afternoon, from the effects of burns which she sustained while sitting at the kitchen stove this morning.

THE TORREY CAMPAIGN.

Some questions are being asked as to who is at the back of the Evangelistic Campaign now being conducted by Dr. Torrey in the Queens Rink. Ostensibly the campaign is under the auspices of a committee from certain of the city churches, but an impression prevails in some quarters that Dr. Torrey has been brought to St. John by a speculative element, more interested in the amount of the collections taken up at the meetings of this noted evangelist, than in the spiritual welfare of the community.

These rumors may be malicious fabrications, or mere idle speculation, but from statements made to The Standard, the time seems opportune for the committee, which is believed to be responsible for the Torrey meetings, to set all doubts at rest by placing the public in the full possession of the facts.

There must be in this community a strong feeling against making a business of religion. It seems only fair and reasonable that the hundreds, and possibly the thousands, who are daily contributing to the support of the campaign should know to what purpose, and in the event of there being a surplus, the funds will be devoted.

These unpleasant rumors may have been put in circulation under a misapprehension of the circumstances. There is no denying the fact that they exist. A full statement from the committee, by setting inquiring minds at rest, will tend to help, rather than hinder, the work.

HOLD THREE FOR POSTAL SERVICE GIRL'S MURDER SHOWS GROWTH

Chauffeur And Two Bar Tenders Who Took Cecile Michaud To Road House Indicted By Coronor's Jury.

Special to The Standard. Montreal, Que., Nov. 11.—The coronor's inquest into the death of Cecile Michaud, the thirteen-year-old girl, whose body was found in a vacant lot at Westmount some weeks ago, was concluded this afternoon, when the jury returned a verdict holding E. J. Perrault, Albert Chevrier, and Achille Desrosiers, criminally responsible for the death of the girl.

Perrault and Chevrier, were the two men who took the girl out in an auto to a road house, and Desrosiers was the chauffeur.

Coronor McMahon in charging the jury, pointed out that the evidence was purely circumstantial, but that all the circumstances pointed to the three men and the Michaud girl leaving the lot together in the auto.

AVOID TROUBLE OVER LYNCHING

Fifty-one Arrests For Acts Of Disorder In Mexico While Uncle Sam Aids To Find Guilty Parties.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—American citizens in Mexico have been cautioned by United States Ambassador H. L. Wilson to refrain from acts of violence because he is convinced that the Mexican government is exerting its best efforts to suppress the anti-American riots. Mr. Wilson telegraphed the state department today that he anticipated no further violence, and that the American embassy was being carefully protected. He reported the arrest of 51 men for acts of disorder.

Several interviews have been held between Secretary of State Knox and Senor De La Barra, the Mexican ambassador, in regard to the situation which has arisen from the lynching of the Mexican, Rodriguez at Rock Springs, Texas, Nov. 3. There is no doubt that both governments keenly regret the trouble.

Every effort is being made to protect Mexican citizens in Texas. Governor Campbell reported to the state department today. He said that he anticipated no further trouble and that the lynching of Rodriguez was being thoroughly investigated. All possible assistance is being given the Mexican consul at Eagle Pass, who is endeavoring to identify those responsible for the lynching.

FIRST WINTER STORM DOES MUCH DAMAGE

French Fishermen Caught Unawares And Thirty Drowned—Swollen Rhine Floods Cities—Heavy Rains.

Colais, France, Nov. 11.—The severe storm which raged in the English Channel and the Straits of Dover, today caught unawares the Calais fishing fleet. Several of the vessels were sunk and 30 fishermen were drowned.

Heavy Snowfall. Berlin, Nov. 11.—A heavy snow-storm which ushered in winter throughout northern Germany. Since snow has been falling here, but it was of a soft variety and has left the streets deep in slush. Telephone and telegraph wires are all down in the north and also those communicating with Bremen.

Direct telegraphic connection with England is interrupted and the Bourse today was able to communicate with London only by means of telephone by way of France.

Floods on the Rhine. The river Rhine here is 17 1/2 feet above its mean low level tonight and is still rising. Mannheim reports the river at 18 feet and at Moselle it has reached 22 1/2 feet. At Metz the river is the highest that it has been for years. The lower parts of that city are flooded as also are these of a number of towns below Metz. Up stream the Rhine is reported to be falling.

SHOT FOR DEER IN MAINE WOODS

Allen Decrow held At Dover Pending Inquiry Into Killing Of Daniel Crossman—Bushes Moved-Fired.

Bangor, Me., Nov. 11.—A special from Dover says: Daniel Crossman, of Foxcroft, about 45 years old, was shot and killed this afternoon in the woods at Bowerbank, about three miles from Willimantick, being mistaken for a deer by Alton W. Decrow, of Rockland, one of the party hunting in that region. Crossman was employed by William Pfister, of Foxcroft, who is conducting a logging operation, his wife and four children living in a camp. His wife has been the cook for the crew.

Crossman had been at camp sharpening a crosscut saw, and was walking along the logging road, when the shot was fired by Decrow, the slug going through the saw and striking Crossman in the shoulder, passing through his body. The injured man lived four or five hours. The body was brought here this afternoon. Decrow is held here pending an investigation which will be held tomorrow by County Attorney Burgess.

Decrow says that he did not know there was a logging road there, or any person in that vicinity. He saw the bushes move, thought it was a deer and fired.

WANT LYNN BANDITS ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Foreigners Who Murdered Two In Mass., Also Suspected Of McKees Rocks.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 11.—Two men in jail at Lynn, Mass., awaiting trial on the charge of killing a paymaster and a policeman there last June, are declared by the local police to be two of the three men wanted concerning the robbery of the Victor Bank in McKees Rocks, a suburb, last spring, when the president and cashier were murdered. The third man wanted is said to be Joseph Pachecenski, who was killed by the posse in pursuit of the bandits at Lynn, and who, from post mortem photographs has been positively identified as one of the leaders of the strike at the Pressed Steel Car Company at McKees Rocks, a year ago last summer, when several persons were killed in riots. Detectives have visited Lynn and a number of persons who saw the bandits in McKees Rocks on the night of the bank robbery have identified the photographs as those of the men wanted.

In view of the fact that they stand charged with a capital offense in Lynn it is said no action will be taken at present for their extradition to Pittsburg.

Evidence of Many Irregularities Heard at Session of Market Enquiry Last Evening--Forestalling Suggestions.

Last evening the investigating committee brought to light further evidence of irregularities in connection with the management of the market. Several witnesses testified that they had first paid F. L. Potts for the use of stands, while one witness said he had made his first payment in this connection to Mr. Akery. Several witnesses also testified that they had gone to F. L. Potts, since he became an alderman, to make arrangements for the use of stands.

All the members of the committee were present, with the mayor, Ald. Potts and quite a number of citizens. Recorder Baxter conducted the examination.

Percy Alley was recalled. He said he had agreed to pay Mr. Potts $50 for the use of his stand. He had paid $50 last year and $50 this year. He made the arrangements with Roy Potts this year. Mr. Williams made the arrangements last year. He never spoke to the director or Mr. Dunham about this arrangement.

Paid Money to Ald. Potts. W. W. Howe said he occupied a stand. He made his arrangement with Frank Potts. He paid $10 down and $1 per week. This payment did not cover the tolls. He entered the market in October last year. He paid $50 to Frank Potts then. He was in the market in Akery's time, but held a direct lease from the city.

About the 1st of May of this year he spoke to Mr. Wisely about securing a stand. Mr. Wisely told him he had given Mr. Potts the privilege of selling stands not sold by the city. There was no third party at that conversation. Mr. Wisely seemed quite capable of doing business at the time. Before the sale he spoke to Frank Potts about the stands. He asked Mr. Potts whether his position would be the same as the previous year. Mr. Potts told him he could not say anything about the stands till after the sale.

Witness said lots of people smoked in the market. He had seen much forestalling. Attempts had been made to stop these practices. He did not approve of the regulation requiring goods to be kept in the market for three hours.

To Ald. Hayes he said he had not taken much interest in the by-laws, and could not call to mind other violations.

To the recorder he said his payment of $10 down and $1 per week was to make up the $50 asked him.

To Ald. Potts he said he had stopped payments of $1 per week since the rumpus in the market. He made these payments to Roy Potts.

Had Paid Akery. W. N. Babkirk said he had been in the market about 8 years. He paid Mr. Akery $1 a week for his stand, when Akery was collector of tolls. He paid tolls as well. Before Akery came in he never paid to any party other than the city. The year before he paid $75, $20 down and 75 cents per week. Since May, 1910 he had been paying for the stand, sometimes to F. L. Potts and also to Roy Potts. The amount bargained for was about $50. This did not include tolls.

The previous year he paid F. L. Potts $22 and gave a note for $36—the balance. When he took the note out it was in Roy Potts' name. The amount he paid was $65.

The year before that he paid F. L. Potts.

Q.—Have you ever spoken to the director about this arrangement? A.—No.

Q.—Or to Mr. Dunham? A.—Not until he started to move me.

Q.—Why did you consent to pay Akery for the stand when you did not have to pay anything before his time? A.—Well, this other man Daley bought the stands so formerly occupied and we were moved down to the end of the market.

Q.—Yes. We know about that. Why didn't you kick when Mr. Akery wanted to take $50 out of you? A.—Well, I just paid it. Others were doing it.

Continuing witness said he had never mentioned this matter to the aldermen or city officials. Mr. Dunham assigned him the stand and Mr. Akery collected the rent from him in addition to tolls.

Archibald P. Belays said he had been in the market since June, 1909. He made arrangements with Ald. Potts to get a stall; he paid $50 besides tolls. This $50 was for the balance of the year from June. This year he paid $50 down and 25 cents a week.

Q.—You have no knowledge of the market previous to June, 1909? A.—No.

Told to Go to Father. Q.—With whom did you make the arrangement the year before last? A.—Ald. Potts. I asked Roy Potts what were the chances of getting in. He told me I would have to do business with his father.

Q.—When you went there in June, 1909, did you go to Ald. Potts in consequence of what anybody said? A.—Well, I gathered from what I heard that I could get a stand from Mr. Potts.

Q.—Did you speak to Mr. Dunham? A.—Yes. He told me the stands had been sold.

Irregularities in Market Exposed

Q.—Then you understood from what the market people said that you could get a stand from Ald. Potts?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Had you any understanding not to bid at the auction sales on the ground that you would be provided for?

A.—No.

At this point Ald. Potts asked—Has the chairman anything up his sleeve? If so I'd like to know where he got his information.

Ald. Jones—I'm here to do a certain duty—not to answer questions.

Charles Hamm, sworn, said he went in the market in 1905, Mr. Akery had the tolls. Witness only paid his tolls. He had been buying a shelf for about 3 years. The first year he paid $30 for half a shelf. Next year he paid $60. This year he paid $50. He paid Roy Potts on the orders of Ald. Potts.

Q.—Was there any understanding with you not to bid on a shelf—that you could get it this way?

A.—No.

A.—How did you come to go to Mr. Potts in any of these cases?

A.—I asked him if there was any chance to get a stand.

Q.—What gave you the idea that Mr. Potts could give you a chance?

A.—I supposed Mr. Potts had orders to sell these stands.

Q.—Doesn't it look strange to you that Mr. Potts should sell the stands when Mr. Akery wasn't doing so?

A.—I heard Mr. Potts was charging others.

Q.—Did Mr. Potts go to you, or did you go to Mr. Potts?

A.—I think I went to Mr. Potts.

Q.—Did you hear of Mr. Akery charging anybody for stands?

A.—No.

Q.—Did you speak to Mr. Dunham about this matter?

A.—No.

Q.—Did you speak to Mr. Wisley? He said he heard you were renting a stall from the lessee of the tolls.

A.—Not until I was moved, I went to him and complained then.

Paid $50.

Wm. T. Bell, witness said, was in the market since the middle of May. He was too late on the day of the sale. He went to Mr. Dunham to try to get a stand. Mr. Dunham told him to see Ald. Potts. Witness saw Ald. Potts, and paid him $50 down for a market stand.

Witness said he had been in the market 12 years. Prior to Mr. Akery having the tolls he never paid anybody for space in the market. He never paid Mr. Akery either. He paid Potts in 1909 $30; and in 1910 he paid $50 also, giving a note for 30 days payable to Roy Potts.

Q.—How did you come to make the arrangement with Ald. Potts?

A.—In 1909 I spoke to director Wisely, asking him if I could have the stand. He said I could. If Potts wouldn't let me have it he said he would. This talk was before the sales. Afterwards I went to Ald. Potts.

Q.—Why did you not bid at the sale?

A.—It was my understanding that the shelves weren't sold at auction.

Q.—Do you pay tolls in addition to rent?

A.—Yes.

Q.—You are occupying space that countrymen otherwise might occupy?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you use it for storage space?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Having spoken to Mr. Wisley, why didn't you ask to have the shelf put up for sale?

A.—The first year it was put up at an upset price of $60. That was more than I wanted to pay for it. I wanted to make arrangements to get the stall for less than $60.

Q.—Did you talk to Mr. Wisley about the price?

A.—I think offered him $30.

Q.—Are you sure?

A.—I am pretty sure. Mr. Wisley told me he couldn't sell it.

Q.—Did you try to make arrangements with Mr. Wisley this year?

A.—No.

Ald. Potts.—Why did you go to Mr. Potts to get the stall?

A.—I had reason to believe Mr. Potts had the right to sell them.

The Recorder.—What reason had you to believe this?

A.—Well, I judged this from the fact the director told me the previous year.

"An Easy Mark."

A. J. Fenwick had been in the market 6 years. He never paid for space prior to, or in Mr. Akery's time.

The year after Mr. Akery left Mr. Dunham assigned him a stall—one that he asked for. F. L. Potts came to him and he had bought the market very high, and asked him if he could give him something every week.

Witness asked how much Mr. Potts asked for $1 per week, and he gave it him.

Q.—Why did you give Mr. Potts $1 per week?

A.—Well, I suppose I was an easy mark.

Q.—What did you feel you were getting for the $1 per week?

A.—Nothing.

Q.—Come now. The general impression is that a trader in the market never lets go $1 unless he expects to get back $2. Did you feel you were getting something for this $1 per week?

Ald. Potts.—The collector did not collect tolls on some things in your stand?

Witness said the collector did not collect tolls on some small things.

The Recorder.—Did you consider that you were bumping the tolls?

A.—No—I paid tolls on most every thing, except a few small articles.

Q.—Did you feel you could be put out, or be interfered with?

A.—I don't think I did.

Q.—If I went up there and asked for $1 a week you would give it to me?

A.—Yes, if you were known about the market.

Q.—A business man does not part with $1 per week without some consideration. Surely you have some reason better than those you have given?

A.—I don't think I have.

Q.—Did you think Mr. Potts had power to throw you out?

A.—No, I didn't.

Cross examined, witness admitted that he thought F. L. Potts had the right to collect the rent from him, and that the amount he paid Mr. Potts was away in excess of any exemptions received on tolls.

Witness said he had paid Roy Potts since he became collector.

Ald. Vanwart's Evidence.

Ald. Vanwart was then sworn. He had been chairman of the Safety Board for five years, he said.

Q.—When was your attention first called to the fact that the lessee of the tolls was selling privileges in the market?

A.—Not until recently when this trouble began.

Q.—Has the director made any reports on the subject to you or the board?

A.—No.

Q.—Have you had any reports from the director or the clerk about forestalling in the market?

A.—That is a common thing every day. About three years ago Mr. Carter accused me personally of forestalling. No reports have been made for some years.

Q.—When was your attention called to the selling of space in the market by parties other than the city?

A.—About a month ago.

Q.—Had you any idea that the men holding the same stand from day to day had some arrangement to keep their places?

A.—No.

Q.—Are any reports on the market made to the Safety Board—that is about the administration of the market?

A.—No. About three years ago I got the Director and Clerk together with a view to revising the market by-laws. They seemed to think the by-laws were all right.

Q.—Is the market kept clean?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you think the sweepers were making money skinning carcasses in the market? What do you know about it?

A.—Perhaps they do that in their own time.

Q.—What do you think about the policy of the law against forestalling?

A.—Being in the business I may be biased.

Q.—Well, what would be your suggestion?

A.—I would allow selling to consumers any time, and have dealers kept from buying for about one hour. I have done forestalling myself; I consider myself as supple as anybody around there.

Q.—Do you think parties buying from the countrymen should be allowed to sell in the market?

A.—No. But I'd make an exception in case of the butchers occupying stalls there.

No Personal Animosity.

Q.—It is said this investigation has come about as the result of a personal animosity between you and another man. Do you care to make a statement?

A.—There is nothing in that story. Mr. Williams had more money than I did and got the corner.

Q.—What in your judgment has brought about this sudden interest in market affairs?

A.—The people have been pressing the matter upon me for the last six months. Some stallholders have been picking these goods were being sold in small quantities. This practice has been growing worse for the last six months. Then the order came from council to revise the by-laws, and Ald. Jones and I started to look into matters, and concluded we needed an investigation. The way the showcase came to be ordered out was this: I told the clerk to have such fixtures removed. Mr. Dunham went down and told Mr. Alley, but Mr. Potts stopped up and told Mr. Alley not to move it.

Mr. Hayes—Why were some stands sold by auction and others not disposed of in a regular way?

Trusting Pot Luck.

The recorder—In many years' experience of civic affairs, I've seldom been able to understand the workings of some of the departments under the safety board. Many things have apparently been left to themselves—a sort of trusting pot luck. Often the officials have not given any reason for their actions.

Ald. Vanwart—I remember Mr. Wisley told me that the reasons why these stalls were not put up at auction was that in previous years there had been no purchasers for them.

John E. Macaulay said he had been using the market for 20 years. In regard to forestalling he had no knowledge, but as to the regulation requiring that the goods should be held 3 hours he thought it was the most unnecessary thing that could be put up against the farmer. He did not know of any plan whereby the consumer could deal directly with the farmer. He had not shipped to the market since the investigation started, but had consigned his goods to city merchants.

Ald. Potts.—This is what I want to have brought out. The lessee of the tolls is losing money since this rum-puss started.

Witness thought the enforcement of the forestalling provision would restrict the business in the market by 50 per cent. He had paid no extras and had never seen any attempt to enforce the by-laws against forestalling until the last two weeks.

The committee held a short private session and adjourned till Monday at 7 p. m.

SAINT JOHN, SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 12, 1910

RECIPROCITY AT OTTAWA.

Appearances indicate that the government of Canada, under the guidance of that picturesque and wobbling opportunist, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, is hot foot on the chase for reciprocity with the United States.

Canadian industry and trade, compared with other countries, or considered nationally, are on a fairly firm and satisfactory footing, and we hear of no section of either calling for help in the direction being pursued so zealously at Ottawa.

The volume of inter-provincial trade is constantly increasing, and has already assumed large proportions in the furthering and development of this trade, producers east, west and centre, have been vigorously addressing themselves and adjusting thereto the mechanism of their business.

In the operation capital has been invested in hundreds of millions, labor employed in hundreds of thousands, and distributing machinery devised and perfected at immense cost.

On the contrary the very mention of it, and the recent negotiations at Ottawa convey menace and cause unrest and anxiety to all these interests from Sydney to Victoria. They ask to be let alone to work out the policy and trend of 40 years have combined to make of vital and supreme importance to Canada.

This has been accentuated by the vigorous exploitation of the free British market, by these very nations, and the unfairness to the home workers and capitalists, who are attacked at their own doors by the free goods of the nations, who bar fair or equal exchange in their markets.

To this compulsion from without has been added a still stronger impulse from within, in the direction of better treatment within the Empire for Empire products than is accorded to foreign products.

No intelligent observer can fail to see every day new instances of this helpful and stimulating spirit, or fail to regard with uneasiness anything that would tend to hamper or divert progress from continuing along this line.

Canadian Empire trade and development finds no ally in this movement; it meets therein an adverse force, an alien spirit. It is clear, therefore, that Canada has nothing to gain as regards either inter-provincial or Empire trade and development by dalliance with the fancies or facts of reciprocal relations with the United States.

Why, then, this hot pursuit by Sir Wilfrid Laurier of Mr. Taft and the powers in Washington, and the illusive 90,000,000 market? Does it arise from a mania for treaty making in order to exalt our commercial autonomy, and buttress the boast that he has wreathed an additional hair from the British Lion's tail to display to his compatriots?

Is it another of the altogether too many indications of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's inbred desire to thwart Empire development, and play the role of independence? Or is it the recurrent outbreak of the policy of 1889-91, which was so severely dealt with by the electors in the latter year—a policy of which Laurier was high priest: and prophet, which cost him and his party the services of Edward Blake, and brought down on him the strictures of Oliver Mowatt, both too good Canadians to sacrifice British connection to an alliance with the United States, professedly commercial, but intrinsically and inevitably political in the end.

We must not forget that he then declared his belief that the market of the United States was our natural market, of more worth to us than all others combined, without which Canada could never achieve success; nor that he also declared that to attain that market discrimination against the Empire was but a trivial price to pay. And we remember, too, that after 1891 he notified all and sundry that the party had written unrestricted reciprocity on its flag, had affixed this flag to the mast head, and that he would defend that flag until victory finally perched upon his banners.

Is it this old love which, suppressed for a while for sake of office, and for prudent motives, now flames anew and seeks in the leafless bowers of reciprocity to renew its amours?

DEAR BACON.

Bacon having kicked the beam at 40 cents in the markets of the Eastern States, the manager of a Chicago packing-house comes to the front with an explanation of this unprecedented price that for novelty and humor is hard to beat, and that rouses the Portland Telegram to rumination. This gentleman says that the cause of high-priced bacon is too much hog. In other words, hogs that the farmers are raising now are too fat. There is too much shrinkage in the curing, and the price must cover the loss occasioned thereby. Pound for pound, cured and alive, the bacon erstwhile was heavier than now, or words to that effect. The explanation is somewhat involved, but the chief point which any person who ever looked a hog in the face cannot possibly miss, is, that the packers think they need more money than they are getting, says the Telegram, and upon that point this particular Chicago packer makes good—there is too much hog.

The layman, or the fellow who has to pay the fancy price for bacon or go without it, is given to much curious and fruitless speculation as to who gets all the money. Between 8 and 10 cents on the hoof and 20 to 40 cents on the block, there is such wide disparity that he fancies some one is getting rich at his expense. The packer says he does not get it; but he rather thinks the railroad man is the fellow who fattens on the fancy price of pork. In his own defence the railroad man can point to the fact that his transportation charges are regulated by law, and upon that he will contend that if the law does not treat him more leniently his credit will be destroyed and his business go to smash. The farmer, of course, fares fairly well, but it is no use attempting to lay the burden of extortion upon his shoulders beyond that limit of 8 to 10 cents a pound on the hoof.

The only man left who can be charged with lighting the public pocket through the agency of high-priced hog meat, is the retailer. Dig into the transactions of the retail market a little and we will find that, as between the distributing agencies of the great packing-houses there is that sort of keen competition which is calculated to stimulate sales. The retailer watches the market like a hawk, and is ready to change his patronage from one packing concern to another upon a favorable difference of a fraction of a cent. This indicates that, in the matter of profits, the retailer is sailing close upon the wind. Talk with him in the larger cities of the East where meat prices are the highest, and he will tell you that his margin is so slight he can scarcely make any money at all if he sells his goods sixteen ounces to the pound. The retailer's defence seems to be as good as that of any man except the farmer.

To get at the truth of the matter would be to solve rather a complex problem so far as the consumer is concerned; but it may as well be set down now and here that the average consumer will not take any stock in that juicy story of the too-fat hog that comes from that Chicago man. That story simply signifies that the packer is not without wit and imagination. It does not affect the well-known fact responsible for the epigram that, at the great packing-houses, every bit of the hog is converted into marketable value except the squeal. We may agree that there is too much hog; but it is not of the corn-fed variety.

AERIAL NAVIGATION.

While a great deal of attention is directed on this side of the water to the results accomplished in aerial navigation, it must not be supposed that Great Britain is not keeping well abreast of the times, and disposed to hold her own as a mistress of the air as well as of the sea. On October 16th a dirigible balloon intended for the service of the British army made a trip from a point near Paris to London, a distance of 246 miles, in six hours, carrying a crew of seven men. At times the ship attained a speed of 53 miles an hour, and completed the journey without a stop. There was not a hitch or accident en route, and the big airship was manoeuvred without the slightest difficulty.

War Office experiments are to be made with this dirigible balloon during the next few weeks, and it will probably be made the model for a large fleet of similar craft. Never before has an airship crossed the Channel, and never before have men travelled as swiftly on the Paris-London route as did these seven passengers. The voyage marks a new step forward in human achievement, all the more valuable and important because of the number of passengers carried, and the success with which the dirigible was operated, pointing to wide possibilities for the utilization of this and similar aerial craft for purposes not merely experimental, but practical.

Current Comment

(Ottawa Citizen.)

The first case has been tried under the new automobile law, and an Orangeville jury awarded the victim's widow $2,000 because the automobilist was not able to successfully demonstrate that he used all precautions to prevent the accident. At this rate the close season for killing foot passengers will soon extend over the year.

New York, Nov. 11.—In comparison with yesterday's violent movement, today's stock market was comparatively quiet and comparatively strong although its course at best was highly irregular and final prices on the average below yesterday's closing level. The specific bear movement which had been under way for two days appeared to have reached culmination but the restoration of comparative equipoise brought no renewal of demand for stock.

CLOSING COTTON LETTER.

New York, Nov. 11.—Bullish cables and rumors of the Norden estimate to be published at noon opened the market from 7 to 11 points up this morning and during the mid-session prices showed a further hardening tendency. The Norden estimate of 11,675,000 bales was considered very bullish in view of the comparative correctness of former estimates issued by that firm, and in the light of many recent guesses at or above 12,000,000. On the advance, nevertheless, it developed that there was still considerable cotton for sale by people who bought prior to the census report. There seems still a considerable short interest to cover but except for this fact there is no immediate incentive to advance prices further. Left to itself, the market shows a tendency to advance.

Sermon by Charles T. Russell, Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle

GREAT WHITE THRONE AND ITS BLESSINGS

Immense Audience in World's Largest Auditorium

London, Eng., Nov. 6.—Pastor Russell of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, New York, preached here today. Royal Albert Hall held a vast audience of deeply interested hearers. The speaker chose his text from Revelation xx, 11—

"I saw a great White Throne, and him that sat on it, from whose face the earth and the heaven fled away; and there was found no place for them." He said:

Sin made moral cowards of our race. From early infancy fear and apprehension, especially in respect to things future, have been impressed upon us. We realize our imperfection, and that our God is perfect, and that perfection is the only standard which he could approve, and that some kind of punishment for sin must be expected. The adversary, taking advantage of our forefathers, misrepresented the Almighty and has used our fears to alienate us from him and to wrest and distort his message to us in the remotest of ages. He assures us that this is Satan's general procedure; that he puts light for darkness and darkness for light. This is the case with the majority of really one of the most beautiful and comforting in the whole Bible when rightly understood, has to many become a lash in the hands of their fears.

It is needless to say that our text is one of the symbolisms of a Book filled with symbols. God's people, guided by his holy Spirit, in due time will appreciate these symbols. For many of them the due time is already here. The Throne is Messiah's. It represents his Mediatorial Dominion of earth for a thousand years. His whiteness symbolizes the purity, the justice, of his Kingdom of righteousness under the whole heavens. The heavens and earth which will flee away from the presence of the great Emmanuel will not be the heavens of God's Throne, nor the earth which he has given to the children of men. The heavens and earth which will flee away, and for which no place will be found, are of course, the symbolical ones. In Bible symbolism, the sea represents the restless, dissatisfied masses of humanity. The mountains symbolize human governments, kingdoms, which constitute the backbone of present spiritual influences—Ecclesiastical, Churchianity. Thus interpreted, our text declares that when Messiah shall come to the throne of the world; when he shall sit upon his Throne; when he shall exercise rulership amongst men, the result will be the destruction of the present system of today, as well as the present day ecclesiasticalism, will flee away, will pass out of existence—no place will be found for them.

Satan Now the Prince.

Some men may be inclined to ask, Has not Christ been the great Ruler of the world for these past nineteen centuries? And whatever may be said of the four thousand years before the coming of Christ may it not be claimed that he has been reigning ever since his ascension to the right hand of the Father? (John xiv, 3.) If this be true; if the Redeemer of men has been reigning as the King of earth for these nineteen centuries, there should be no Messiah, in the Bible so to teach. But we find nothing. On the contrary, we hearken to the Master's own words telling us that Satan is the Prince of this world (John xvi, 30.) We hearken to him again telling us, "My Kingdom is not of this world" (John xviii, 36.) Again he says, "I will come again and receive you unto myself" (John xiv, 3.) Again he tells us that he went into a far country to receive the title to his Kingdom, then to return to take possession of it (Matthew xxi, 33; xxv, 14); and that at his second coming he will be the great King of glory. He tells us the same thing in Matthew xxv, 31, "When the Son of Man shall come in his glory and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory."

On the other hand, as we scan the pages of history during the last eighteen centuries, we are convinced that Messiah has not been the King of the world. To think of him as such, with the omnipotent power which we accord to him, would be to charge him with responsibility for bloody and atrocious persecutions and wars and famines and pestilences. Surely no right-minded person, after mature consideration, can rationally accept the theory that the glorious Messiah's reign of righteousness for the blessing of the whole race, the enlightenment of every creature, and the bringing of all possible into accord with God none of us could think that, that reign of the great Mediator between God and men is in the past. We must agree with our text that it is in the future, and that, when established, its effect upon the institutions of the present—political, social, financial, religious—will be such that they will flee away; no place ever more will be found for them. All from this standpoint there is hope; but from no other standpoint. We are living today at the very climax of civilization. Yet today we behold more clearly than ever before that the deeply ingrained selfishness of humanity is a blight upon all the blessings and conveniences and advantages of our day.

The Curse of Selfishness.

I need not do more than remind you that selfishness is to be found in every one of us, and that a semblance of righteousness is insisted upon by us all and adhered to, and followers of it are styled criminals. Nevertheless, it seems impossible to legislate equity, justice. The keen intellects of men find opportunities for circumventing the laws and for committing their attention from the grasping of power and money to the enlightenment and uplifting of the people they would be the rulers of the earth of the New Dispensation, which would be ushered in with rejoicing. But the Lord informs us that this will not be the case and that, as a result, Messiah's Kingdom will be ushered in by "a time of trouble such as was not since there was a nation" (Daniel xii, 1). The Psalmist tells us the same—God will have in derision the proud efforts of the worldly wise and great to establish autocracy. He will speak to them in His wrath the lesson which they refuse to hear by loving exhortation.

Small and Great to Be Judged.

God is no respecter of persons. Hence, before His Judgment Throne punishments will be meted out to the little, as well as to the great, when found to be vicious; and the principles of justice. Would that I could impress this upon many of the lower classes who are crying out against the injustices in high places while practicing similar injustices themselves. Let it be remembered also that the great White Throne speaks blessings, Divine favor and uplifting to all who love righteousness and hate iniquity—the little and the great.

If in the past a certain retributive justice has seemed to proceed along national lines, blessing the nations which take the more righteous course, and frowning upon those which take the more evil course, this will no longer be the case in the not distant future. The testing imposed by Messiah's Kingdom will be along individual lines. He that eats the sour grapes of sin will find his teeth on edge, and his alone. Justice will be laid to the line and righteousness to the plummet, and all the refuges of lies, by which mankind in high places have sought to fool themselves and others, will be swept away. The hidden things of darkness will be brought to light and the glorious things of light will be made manifest to all eyes. Ultimately every knee shall bow and every tongue confess to the enthroned Messiah.

"The Books Will Be Opened."

The Master said, "My Word shall judge you in the last day. Happy has it been for the comparatively few who have heard the Master's Word in this present life and having judged themselves thereby, have submitted themselves to His righteous precepts. These blessed ones will share with Messiah the glories of His spiritual empire, invisible to sight. But during the thousand year Judgment day of the world (II Peter iii, 7, 8) the same words—the "wonderful words of life"—to those who will obey, and the words of death to those who will refuse obedience—will be the standards of justice for all mankind. The books then to be opened to all will include, not only the words of the Master and of the Apostles of the New Testament, but also the Divine message through the prophets of old. They shall see the oneness and harmony of the Divine message of righteousness. According to those standards each who would have eternal life must conform his living and his thinking. The approved, at the end of Messiah's reign will be delivered over to the Father perfect as human beings. The disapproved will be destroyed in the second death—without hope (II Peter ii, 12; Jude 12; Acts iii, 23).

Another book of life will be opened, another besides the one that is now open, which is styled the Lamb's Book of Life, and in which is written the names of the faithful followers of the present time. The members of His Body—the Royal Priesthood—the Bride, the Lamb's Wife. The new book of life will be for those who will be on trial during Messiah's reign. By its close will be made of Adam's race found worthy of eternal life.

The judgment of the church in the present time is not according to works, the perfection of which under present conditions, would be impossible. Hence the church's judgment is according to faith, and the standard of faith possible. But the work's judgment will be according to works, for the knowledge then will be so great that men will no longer be at a premium. The great standard will accept of imperfect works according to the ability of the people; but, as they rise out of degradation, more and more will be required of them until in the end they will be perfect and absolute perfection of works will be required.

In reply to a question the Superintendent said that the Western Extension could not be put in servicable condition for less than $10,000 or $12,000, and that he would not recommend such an expenditure.

The Superintendent warmly defended the Ludlow. She was, he said, one of the best ferry boats on the Atlantic coast.
