observed and recorded for the benefit of the public.

To use a German phrase, a "breath of understanding" pervades the whole Schwarzenberg pavilion. Everything is admirably arranged and classified, with a view to affording accurate and valuable information, as well as to making an attractive show. At the entrance you see first the spoils and implements of fishing and the chase. All kinds of food-fishes found upon the Prince's estates are to be seen preserved in alcohol, and on the wall above, nets, rods, and fishing tackle are prettily grouped. Just in face of the entrance is a bit of mountain side with real trees, plants, and rocks, and stuffed animals and birds. A deer bounds thro' a thicket, a sly hare peeps from his covert, a fox scampers over the rocks, a badger peeps out of his hole, and in the trees and among the bushes are game birds of various species. Turning to the right from this picture of wild nature, the visitor enters the wing of the building devoted to the products of woods and mines, while in the wing to the left is the agricultural exhibition. The great merit of the latter lies in the amount of valuable information it affords to those who wish to study it with some thoroughness. In making the circuit of this wing one comes first upon samples of wool in the fleece and also arranged so as to show the length and fineness of the staple. The weight of every fleece is given, and the farm on which it was grown, and near by there are photographs of the animals from which the wool was shorn, and a book giving their genealogy for five or six generations. Photographs of fine cattle are also to be seen, with full records of their honorable ancestors. Then comes silk in cocoons and skeins, with another morocco-bound book of statistics for reference. Beyond is the tobacco department, and further on are hops of various kinds in big bags and little bags. On the walls are stalks of grain, and plants prettily arranged. At the end of the wing there are plates, photographs, and maps of the Prince's numerous esta Incorporated with powers of manufacturing Bolts, Screws, Nails, Spikes, Axes, Axe Iron, Rails and Railroad Iron; Ship Knees and Patent Tapered Iron, Nail Sheets, Boiler Place, Rivets, Tools Implements and M. chinery; of tolling Iron, and manufacturing, erecting, celling and leasing Lecomotive E-gines and Machinery, Rolling Stok, Stations, Storehouses, Elevators, etc., used and required by Railway Companies. mining, and improvements he has undertaken. Colored photograi h of rare plants and great herbariums comes next, followed by oil cakes and glass jars of oil, beet and cane sugar, and sirup, a pyramid of beer kegs, tubs of grain of all sorts (samples that would delight the eye of a Canadian farmer), with facts about their yield; glass jars of fiour and of meal—not only of maize, barley, and buckwheat, but many kinds unknown in America,—like meal of acorns, chestnuts, peas, vetches—all used for food for either man or beast, or both. A pyramid made of blocks of pressed hay, capped by sheaves of grass, is worth notice. Every block is labeled with the name of the grass and the yield per acre. Passing along a little further, rows of glass jars, containing black, brown and greenish substances, stimulate the curiosity. These prove to be fertilizers of all sorts—animal, vegetable, mineral and composite. A ORDERS SOLICITED. OFFICE, - - - 9 NORTH WHARF middels of timber rafts, fences, woodmen's cottages, and all sorts of wooden-ware. There is even a pile of boards and timber, which has passed through the Schwarzenberg mills. Passing these we come to an exhibition of marbles and other building stones from the Prince's quarries, iron from his furnaces and forges, tools from his work shops, and coal from his mines. There is no end to his riches. Here is a box of beautiful garnets, there a pile of charcoal, and beyond a display in blocks, bars and ingots of that rare mineral graphite, and a case of Faber's lead pencils, for which all the material comes from the Prince's domains. I have mentioned only the objects which caught my eye in a fifteen minutes' stroll through the Schwarzenberg pavilion. It is so admirably arranged, so complete and well-ordered, and so full of information about the advanced scientific agriculture of HARNESS! BARNESS! Dear Mahn.—For many years I have been sefficied with Indigestion, which hought on many other complaints. I could not keep anything on my stomach, suffering much from the sick headache and extreme weakness. Indeed I wasso very weak as to be unable to attend to the duties of my family, being obliged to go to bed frequently during the day. This all my neighbors can testify, for I was not able to walk to my nearest neighbor's, I applied to several whysicians, but received only temporary relief; but since I commenced making use of your excellent. A Bad Start. It looks very much as though the Vienna Exhibition would turn out a failure. Undoubtedly, out of the chaos which now prevails, order will be brought forth before the first of July, and a visit to the Exhibition will repay the time and money it costs, to those who have the knowledge that will enable them to profit by the study of the vast mass of contributions from all countries. Manufacturers, inventors and merchants will learn much that will be useful to themselves and to the world, and even the casual and unreflective sight-seer will find in the Exhibition the most interesting show to be seen anywhere in the world. But, unless all the information we now have be incorrect, the Vienna World's Fair will be a failure as compared with that of Paris, or even with the one held in Lonpon in

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD, nothing has ever been offered which can compare with this EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. It is found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the humors that rankle in the system at this season of the year. Many complaints have their origin in the spring, and in the causes above mentioned, for which no better remedy has ever been devised. By its use multitudes can spare themselves from the endurance of foul cruptions and ulcorous so es, through which the system strives to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alteral tive medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities burs'ing through the skin in pimples, cruptions, or sorres; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when you find its impurities burs'ing through the skin in pimples, cruptions, or sorres; cleanse it when you find its inductive to the natural channels of the body by an alteral tive medicine. BANKING HOUSE JAY COOKE & CO. No. 20 Wall Street.

NEW YORK, May 27, 1873. THE Northern Pacific Raifroad Company having determined to close its 7 30 First Mortrage Gold Loan at an aggregate not exceeding hirty million dollars, and thereafter to pay no higher rate of interest than 0 per cent. on furher issues of its bonds, the limited remainder of the 7 3-10 loan is now being disposed of through the want agencies. the 73-10 loan is now being disposed of through the usual agencies.

As the bonds of this issue are made receivable in payment for 'he Company's lands at 1-10 they are in constant and increasing demand for this purpose, and will continue to be after the loan is closed—a fact which much enhances their value and attractiveness as an investment.

The Company has more than 500 miles of its road built and in operation, has earned a title to nearly ten million acres of its land grant, and sales of lands have thus far averaged $5 66 per 2016.
