London, March 19 .- A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company, from Constantinople, says: "The Turkish Government has flatly refused the demand of the United States for the repayment of the sum of money ($72,500) paid to the brigands as a ransom for Miss Ellen M. Of the Canadian budget statement the Pall Mall Gazette (Ministerialist) says that Our Lady of the Snows, so shabbily misnamed, had better be rechristened Our Lady of Success. It hopes that if the arguments are equal, the chancellor of the exchequer will give Canada's view of the preferential tariff the benefit of the doubt. It adds to give a youngster a "leg-up" is always good advice for the colonies as well as for individuals. The St. James Gazette, also Ministerialist, asks: "Shall we abandon free trade?" It says that English officials and traders have every desire to give the fullest consideration to the colonial proposals, but it frankly confesses, in answer to its inquiry, that the only possible result is the maintenance of the status quo. RUSSIA'S DEMANDS MODIFIED. Cabling from Pekin the correspondent of the London Times says . that owing to the presentation of the American note and the Anglo-Japanese protests, Russia's negotiations with the Russe-Chinese bank have been suspended, but that negotiations for the evacuation of Manchuria continue under modified Russian demands, which point to an ultimate settlement. These include the withdrawal of Russia from between the great wall and the Liao River within six months, from the Province of Mukden within a year, and if the state of the counpermits, from Kirin and Heilung

Chiang within 18 months after the signing of the convention. The rebels in the southern provinces continue to defeat the imperial troops sent to subdue them, Gen. Ma and Marshal Su report that it is impossible to suppress the rebellion with the troops at their disposal, and the viceroy of Canton has requested Yuan Shi Kai, viceroy of Chi Li to send reinforcements from Chi Li. The Imperial troops have been defeated at Sak Shing and at Popak. In Yun Nan Province the rebels hold the town and district of Foo Chuen, 20 miles northwest of the prefectural town of Yun Nan. They have also captured the towns of Sin Chou and Fing King.

NO MENACE. London, March 20 .- The reply of Russia and France to the Angloas a menace. It implies no more than that the Franco-Russian alliance extends to the far east. The only newspaper that sees danger in it is the Daily Mail. The Morning Post, on the other hand says it is a declaration which all the world may note with equanimity. Not the least important point of the commuication is the emphatic manner in which France and Russia are spoken of as allied. The concluding paragraph of the note bears a strong resemblance to article one of the Anglo-Japanese treaty, which asserts that it will be admissible for either contracting party to take such Lake Huron Railway were passed. measures as may be indispensable in order to safeguard its interests if threatened by the aggressive action of any third power or by disturbances arising in China or Korea.

Assurance Company of Canada.

Fifth Annual Report.

The sixth annual meeting of the shareholders of the Northern Life Assurance Company of Canada was held on Monday, March 10, at their offices in the Temple Building, London, Ont. In the absence of the president, the Hon. Mr. Justice Mills, Mr.T. H. Purdom, K. C., first vice-president, occupied the chair, and Mr. Francis Love, Police Magistrate, of London, acted as secretary.

The directors presented their fifth annual report, as follows:

The directors are well satisfied with the results of the past year. The company has made substantial progress in every department, is constantly enlarging the volume of its business, and extending the area over which its operations are carried on. The company is constantly strengthening its agency department, and has now a splendid staff of agents, who are working loyally for the company, and to whose energy and capacity is due in a large measure the gratifying results of the past year.

The amount of insurance written during the year was $1,267,500, and the amount in force at the end of the year was $2,769,870 and the net increase

The total amount of death claims paid up to the 31st day of December last was $30,858 96, and the interest earned up to that time was $35,152 09. The amount of death claims being 55 per cent of the expectation. The assets of the company have increased by the sum of $70,521 05. These facts show the care with which the business is being conducted, the death claims being more than met by the interest earned. These death claims are less than the expectation are less than the expectatio the amount calculated according to the mortality tables upon which the premiums are based.

The assets of the company in cash or its equivalent now amount to the sum of $284,271 05. This is exclusive of subscribed and uncalled capital.

The steady progress being made by the company is due to a continuance of the policy of caution and progress which has from the commencement been the policy of the directors of the company. Much energy and care has been given to the conduct of the business of the company, and the directors believe a continuance of that policy will maintain the company in its present position among the safest and best life assurance companies of Canada, and produce profits and results satisfactory to the shareholders as soon as such can, consistently, with the absolute safety of the policyholders, be expected.

The results achieved are viewed with satisfaction, and the future is looked forward to with confidence.

To the managing director, officers and staff of agents most is due for the progress made in building up the business of the company.

All the directors retire annually and are eligible for re-election.

H. DeQ. Sewell dwelt upon the necessity of increased facilities in Manitoba and the Northwest, particularly for the purpose of dealing with the annual grain blockade. The Canadian Northern would do something to relieve this blockade, but much still remained to be done to avert the great annual loss to the farmers of the Territories. He wondered that more attention had not been paid to the outlet afforded by Hudson Bay. A line from a central point in Manitoba to Hudson Bay would give a more direct route to Liverpool than the shipments via Montreal or through Buffalo to other seaports. Romance Revealed by a Port Huron Elopement.

"Mrs. Hill's" Husband Turns Out To Be One of the Larkin Bandits.

Port Huron, Mich., March 19 .- A peculiar case came to the attention of the police within the last few days, which exposes a romance and a past

Mrs. Wm. Campbell, of South Dakota, arrived in the city last week with her two daughters, and conducted a quiet investigation as the whereabouts of her husband, who had deserted her. She traced him to William Casemore's saloon, and then to Fred Hill's shoemaker shop. Casemore is Campbell's cousin, and it appears that he introduced him to Mrs. Hill, who suddenly discovered that a relative of hers had died in Milwaukee, Campbell came to the rescue with two tickets to Chicago, one of which he tendered to Mrs. Hill, which she of course accepted. Hill accompanied his wife to the train, and on the same night Campbell disappeared.

Hill next received a telegram from his wife that she had been robbed in Chicago and to send her more money, which he refused to do. Mrs. Campbell secured an affidavit to the effect that Campbell had run away Hill's wife, and on this she will base divorce proceedings in South Dakota. Now comes the peculiar feature of the case.

Fred Hill has been known as a shoemaker for several years, but the disappearance of his wife brings up his He is one of the famous kin brothers, who years ago terrorized the whole country with their hold-ups. They defied the officeers with Winches-

CONFERENCE AT DAIRY SCHOOL

to Farmers. On Thursday, March 6 there was held in the Dairy School, Strathroy, a large meeting of farmers and dairymen of the district. The gentlemen and ladies were in separate rooms, with different speakers. Mr. J. B. Muir, of the Ingersoll Packing Company, was elected to the chair, and very satisfactorily performed the duties pertaining thereto.

Interesting and Practical Addresses on Subjects of Importance

SEED GRAIN SELECTION. The first speaker was Mr. John S. Pearce, of London, who spoke on "Seed Grain Selection." Farmers at the pres-Pearce, of London, who spoke on "Seed Grain Selection." Farmers at the present time are not careful enough in selecting, screening and exchanging seed. The first requisite is to obtain good, clear seed, although even then it may not be good, and should be tested before sowing, to see what percentage will germinate. Even in so-called clean seed there is often found from 5 to 15 per cent of dirt. Farmers are altogether too anxious to buy cheap seed, no matter what the quality. From a test made at the Pan-American, Mr. Pearce showed that those who bought seed for half the highest market price were in reality paying from two to eight times as much for pure germinating seed as if they had bought the best. A good fanning mill will keep out a great deal of the dirt. You should buy seed having a strong, vigorous type and good germinating power, which will produce a true type of its variety. In buying you cannot always judge by weight, size and color, although these are requisite to good seed. Good seeds cannot be sold cheaply, as the grower has to give patient and expensive labor for years of valuable time. The grower must endeavor to keep the strain uniform and place it on a higher level of purity, vigor and perfection. Farmers should must endeavor to keep the strain uniform and place it on a higher level of purity, vigor and perfection. Farmers should grow their own seeds for many crops, such as roots. By keeping some of the best turnips over winter and transplanting them, they could grow the very best seed. The seed gardens of the world are England, France and Germany, and these will supply any grade of seed the dealers call for. In some cases seeds are bought for less here than the wholesale dealers call for. In some cases seeds are bought for less here than the wholesale dealers pay for them in Europe. This kind is quite evidently not first-class. You can even buy seeds that are warranted not to grow. Farmers patronize local cheap men, among whom fair competition is almost impossible, since the appearance of commercial seed is a slight indication of their value. No. you can't tell turnip from rape seed by appear-Indication of their value. No. you can't tell turnip from rape seed by appearance. You must trust your dealer for that. If you flay your seed they will sow better, as there are sometimes three or four in a bunch which will clog. Changing seed from sandy soil to a loam or vice yers gives very satisfactory re-

CULTIVATION OF THE SOIL. The next speaker was Professor George E. Day, of the O. A. C., Guelph, who spoke on "Cultivation of the Sail." The subject was altogether too extensive and comprehensive for the limited time at his disposal. The reason for cultivation was to allow the free development of roots in all directions. All plant life must take up nourishment in liquid form. Pulverization admits air, which is necessary for growth. It also liberates plant food, very much of which is not availsary for growth. It also hoerates plant food, very much of which is not available. Again, cultivation aids bacterial growth and the conservation of energy. There are no hard and fast rules, but only general principles for cultivation. If we follow nature's method and keep the surface covered with a layer of mold or vegetable matter, it will greatly aid the conservation of moisture and prevent evaporation. Our aim should be the accumulation of moisture in the soil, and secondly, to enable the soil to retain it. Some crops, as clover and grasses, tend to increase the vegetable matter in the the conservation of moisture and prevent evaporation. Our aim should be the accumulation of moisture in the soil, and secondly, to enable the soil to retain it. Some crops, as clover and grasses, tend to increase the vegetable matter in the soil; others, as root and cereal crops, to decrease. It is the regular return of these increase and exhaust crops, which we call rotation. The least time it takes to make a perfect rotation, the better it is for the land and the crops, and the less danger there is of failure. We find it best to plow the land during the preceding summer and autumn. Winter manuring is just as satisfactory as summer, and more convenient. Deep plowing ws. shallow—In deep plowing the ground ceding summer and autumn. Winter manuring is just as satisfactory as summer, and more convenient. Deep plowing vs. shallow—In deep plowing the ground vs. shallow—In deep plowing the ground is loosened deeper, and there is a larger quantity of moisture laid up. In shallow plowing the vegetable matter is not turned down too deep, but tends to accumulate at the surface. Still, in shallow plowing, you may cramp the roots too much, except in sandy lands, where the soil is not really too loose. Plant roots need to go down deeper than the ordinary plowing. If you cannot manure heavily, it is advisable not to plow too deeply. Deep plowing is best for sugar heets as you want as much of the beet consumes 65 pounds of sugar per head. beets, as you want as much of the beet below ground as possible. A grubber is the very thing to tear up the lower soil and incorporate the manure.

FEEDING HOGS. Mr. H. White, of Stratford, then spoke on "Feeding and Finishing Hogs." The most suitable pen for both winter and summer is a double-boarded frame, with plenty of light. I prefer wooden floors also. The best breeds of hogs are the Yorkshires, Tamworths and Berkshires. I do not like a black hog. The points of a good hog are narrow shoulders, ribs well sprung, strong loin, tail fairly high on the body, and good length between shoulder and ham. The feed should always be sweet. Whey, when mixed with the washings, is not of much value, as it causes the hog to eat more, and may cause fever. Oats and bran ground fine will take the place of roots and clover. will take the place of roots and clover. For smaller hogs, running around, corn and peas scattered around helps their stomachs. When finishing hogs in a stomachs. When finishing nogs in a pen cut out the nose rings. You should take seven or seven and a half months to finish a hog. It does not cost so much to grow a bacon hog as a fat hog. Do not feed hogs just before weighing, and hold back any that are sick or not finished. The causes of soft meat are either ed. The causes of soft meat are either that the hog is not healthy when slaughtered, or, the market going down, the feed is stopped. New milk and sweet skim milk are very good for little pigs just after being weaned. The little pigs should be weaned gradually, so as not to stop the sow's milk suddenly. Wheat is too strong to feed alone to hogs but is too strong to feed alone to hogs, but peas will not hurt them. To Cure Worms.—First shut feed off, then give castor oil seed and male fern. CORN CULTURE. The chairman then called on Mr. John Clarkson, of Woodstock, to speak on "Corn Culture." Old sod is the best land for corn, as it is both fertile and porous. Fall plowing tends to destroy this porous condition. I manure in March and plow these before planting. Spread the manure condition. I manure in March and plow just before planting. Spread the manure when drawing, as it will retain the moisture better. Plow in May four or five inches deep, and then roll the same way as you plow. Our motto should be "The greatest quantity of the best quality at the least cost." I plant four or five grains to the hill in hills 3 feet 4 inches apart. Use the best seed, preferably of your own raising. Plant from one to two inches deep, and roll afterwards, as it presses the ground around the seed and prevents the ravages of birds. Continue to cultivate until the corn is three feet high, after which hoe out the weeds.

I like to plant corn between the 10th and 15th of May. AFTERNOON SESSION FOR LADIES. SECURE

AFTERNOON SESSION FOR LADIES.

Miss Foote, of the London School of Domestic Science, talked on "Foods, Their Value in Building Up and Maintaining the Body." Housekeeping is an art, as well as a science, and is an essential to beauty, as well as to health in the home. We should know how to prepare foods properly, and to do this it is necessary to know the nature and composition of foods and their uses in the body. Food is that which when taken yields energy and builds up tissue. All foods are not alike, and not suited to different people. Climate and season, and the age and condition of the individual, make a difference. Our food and diet must be regulated to keep pace with physiological changes. The growing schoolboy needs food to build up and repair the brain, as well as the body. Again, the diet depends upon the labor which a person has to do. Inside work and old age require lighter foods. The value of a food depends on the amount and proportion of nutritive material in its footing the most good from feed to the contraction. and proportion of nutritive material in it. Getting the most good from food is not so much a matter of what is digestnot so much a matter of what is digested as of making use of what is digested. Beef is more nutritious than fish because it contains less water. Vegetables as a whole are not so nutritive, but they supply the carbohydrates and minerals. Fats and cereals are excellent, but it is necessary to have a mixed diet. High-priced foods are not always the best but it is foods are not always the best, but it is their scarcity or flavor which causes them to be sought after. There is much them to be sought after. There is much waste of material thrown from the table, and also from over-eating. The latter is not only a waste, but it is injurious to health. The remedy is to understand the elementary facts of nutrition, and to believe that economy is not only respectable but honorable. To thoroughly understand the value and composition of food materials, their use in the body, and how to prepare them in the most nourishing and appetizing way to hest suit the deand appetizing way, to best suit the de-mands of the user, is what domestic science is trying to do. Miss Foote then outlined the work of the London School of Domestic Science, and explained the various branches of the following course: Principles of cooking, invalid cookery various branches of the conowing course.

Principles of cooking, invalid cookery, serving, laundry work, home sanitation, principles of housework, marketing and "75 Nassau street, New York."

MILK TESTING. Miss Millar, of the Dairy School, then gave a demonstration in milk testing, showing how the sample was taken and the test conducted. Miss M. V. Henderson, of Strathroy, then gave an address on the work of the school. Life is a school, in which we are placed to learn all that we can that may be of benefit to ourselves and others. It is best to turn our attention to some practical purpose. our attention to some practical purpose. The most important consideration should come first, and for women, housekeeping is the life-work of most of them. Technical education is coming to the front. Miss Henderson then went on to give an explanation of the work done in the home dairy department of the Dairy School. To fully appreciate the work one should enter as a student and judge for themselves. The best way to grow rich is to cultivate the talent of saving. This is especially so in the home. Cooking is as much an art as poetry and painting. We are beginning to study home economics systematically, but let us not sacrifice a liberal education, which is necessary for the enjoyment of life.

At this ladies' meeting a Women's Institute was also formed.

EVENING SESSION. His Worship Mayor Stewart of Strath-roy occupied the chair. The first speaker was Mr. C. W. Bowman of the Ingersoll Packing Company, Ingersoll, who spoke on "Hogs Required for Market" and "The Bacon Industry of Canada." The farmers of the present time are becoming well-educated, methodical, business-like and scientific. The old-time bacon hog of 330 pounds has given place to the long 180-pound hog. The bacon is sent to the old country in the shape of sides. The British market demands a side moderately long, ham well-filled, side deep, shoulder light, fat not over 1½ or 1½ inches thick quality first-class, fat firm and solid, and side free from bruises. Raising bacon for the English market is one of the best paying branches of Canto lean meat. Bruises on hogs deterior-consumes 65 pounds of sugar per near, and this is all imported. The difficulty rests with the farmer, because he does not see the profit to himself. The bugbear seems to be the question of labor, but they are paid for it. A factory is an extensive and largely a co-operativ affair, depending on the farmers for their supply of beets. Farmers should first prove that they can and will grow beets efore asking a company to locate among hem. A factory would require three to our million gallons of water daily, 8,000 to 9,000 tons of coal annually, limestone good drainage, railway facilities and especially farmers. The pulp is very valuable as a cattle feed, and is returned absolutely free of charge. Either clay or sandy loan that will work up easily the pulp of the control of the cont is suitable to grow beets. It requires deep plowing, as the part of the beet above ground is no good. The factory sells its own seed, because it can furnish a better standard. The seed is sown thick, in order that there may be a good stand. It is sown on the level, in rows 18 to 24 inches apart. Organized effort is required to obtain a factory. The gov-ernment is evidently satisfied as to its feasibility, as it is encouraging the in-

DIGESTIBILITY OF FOODS. Dr. J. P. Whitehead, V.S., of Strathroy, then gave an address on "The Digestibility of Foods." He first explained what fodders were, and the large part that water plays in the animal organism. Four-fifths of the body is water. ter. Dr. Whitehead then very lucidly explained how the raw material is con verted by the digestive organs into blood Pure air and proper ventilation are necessary to good health. Fodders being composed of different constituents, need to be fed as a balanced ration in order to supply the needs of all parts of the animal organism. Unnecessary Freight Imports. Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick, minister of justice, in his recent speech at Montreal, emphasized in a striking manner the undone that will make the Canadian route to the Atlantic all that it ought to be, in order that our producers may have what they have to sell, or what they must buy, carried at the lowest possible figure. He reviewed the calculations made some time ago by the president of the Western Dairymen's Convention with respect to rates for transportation. As these figures have not been combatted, they deserve reproduction. It is pointed out that ported to Great Britain are $1,000,000 more than what these charges would be if based on the standard prevailing on cheese, butter, bacon, apples and ed from Montreal the combined rail-$3 50 per ton more than United States | ways, Dominion lands, together with | which a member comes. What is the remedy? Mr. Fitzpatdate and safe from the great chain it can be done. We have in past years spent $80,000,000 on our canal system, and if we can greatly cheapen freight rates and keep Canadian trade in Canadian channels, it may pay us to spend a little more. West of Montreal, the ground is taken that conditions are fairly good, but they can be improved. The intention is, we believe, to light Welland Canal by electricity, so that vesselmen may go through the canal with safety night or day. Then Mr. Fitzpatrick would abolish the canal our way, and by this means he would so encourage freight carriage by water as to help to keep freight rates low on the railways. It is below Montreal that the most work has to be done, and whether it be dredging to make a better channel, lighting the buoys with electricity to make a safer passage, or in any other reasonable way, he would make it easy and safe for moderate-sized ocean vessels to reach the commercial metropolis. He recognizes that this question is not one of rivalry between ocean ports like Quebec or Montreal, but the national issue of how best to increase our ocean and lake ship- grade of horses. ping and to cheapen the freights that have to be paid by our producers and ronsumers. There will always be many ocean steamships that will make Montreal their destination; but it is now recognized that the larger type of ocean freighters will never get above Quebec; but the work of making navigation easy and safe is none the less vital to both ports and to the whole Dominion. When we are informed that at present shipowners are handicapped by insurance alone to the extent of $5,000 for every steamship that comes to Montreal, it is not difficult to realize why so little increase has taken place in our exports by the St. Lawrence route. We must make the St. Lawrence safe to such craft as it is expedient to have brought to Montreal, and

To concede that the difficulty could not be overcome would be to acknowledge that the people of Canada had reached a condition for public ownership of telegraph and of impotency. We refuse to believe speedily applied.

The majority of the western members of Parliament advocated raising the minimum rate at which horses might be imported. According to the report of the Commissioner of Agriculture for the Territories, 6,000 horses were imported last year at an average valuation of $20. The Demand of Labor.

Among the demands made by the large and representative delegation of labor men who recently waited on Sir Wilfrid Laurier, was that by Mr. Ralph Smith, M. According to the last census, the Chinese population in the Dominion was 17,299, of which number 14,869 were located in British Columbia. The total population of British Columbia is 178,657. This power of disinterestedness reaches its fullest state of development among the Government benches. It is one of the features of the House. A non-chalant manner among a certain class of members is a fixture of the House as much as the mace, the sergeant-atarms or Sir John Bourinot's monocle. While a debate that is holding the spectators' gallery in rapt attention is in rogress, these members are aggravatingly indifferent. They wear the most unconcerned air, sit in the most undignified attitudes, and are as often as not indulging in the statesmanlike pastime of chucking wads of paper at each other. Once in a while they show that beneath this general air of insouciance, a glimmer of interest still follows the oratorical pyrotechnics that are to illumine or one of the very new members. Then they pound their desks as though the safety of the constitution depended upon their efforts. When the Premier or Sir Richard Cartwright gets up to take part in a debate, the Government benches are punished with the most ncompassionate vigor. It is as if the followers of these leaders were pounding out a challenge to the Opposition to make anything like the same amount of noise. And the minute Mr. Borden rises, the challenge is accepted, but the volume of Opposition sound in comparison to that across the House, is only as 51 to 106. There is no such admiration, such affection for their leader among the Conservative ranks as exists among the Liberals. Mr. Borden has not the bonhomie of Sir Wilfrid, his magnetism, nor his power of making his followers, each one, believe that he is the Premier's personal friend. In the old days, when long debate was on, Sir John A. Macdonald would rarely be seen in his seat in the front row. The old members tell of him going back amongst them to sit with them and talk. He liked most of all to gather three or four members about him and tell stories in a way that has made his collection of yarns the anthology of many an old campaigner. And his followers worshiped him. Mr. Borden

Usually his arm rests on the many parts of which the Chinese have back of the member's chair, and one has only to note the expression upon the face of the member to whom speaking to understand that this little habit is not the least of the reasons followers in the House. His applause is reckoned by the younger men as worth more than that of any number of members, and Sir Wilfrid wisely doles it out judiciously, so that its value may not become less through too to make an explanation of some far western estimates, and he did it so well that the Premier, who had just risen to go for a while into Room 16, Liberals' lounging-room, waited until he was through, and then went over, and, whispering a few words to the British Columbian, patted him affectionately upon the shoulder. It was a little thing, but it brought a big blush to the manly countenance Galligher, who is six feet four in his stockings and not used to blushes.

It was noticed that Sir Wilfrid was one of the first to turn in his seat and applaud the popular member for London when Mr. Hyman made his first report as chairman of the most important committee in the House, that of railways, telegraphs and canals. Sir Wilfrid was almost the first to welcome him in his more onerous and more honorable position. And it may not be amiss to mention here that rumor has been very busy of late with the name of the member for London. Not long ago, a Londoner was in Ottawa talking with a number of parliamentarians in the rotunda of the Russell House. He said something which the others thought a trifle bombastic, and Hugh Guthrie, the member for Guelph, said that he had a right to be proud since London was to have a Cabinet Minister for a member. Such expressions are now heard frequently. It is significant that Mr. Hyman was given the committee chairman-ship from which the Hon. James Sutherland was graduated

In 30 Months 550,000 Horses and Mules Have Been Sent to South Africa-Canada to Furnish a Permanent Supply.

[London Daily Telegraph.] Mr. Brodrick, in introducing army estimates in the House of Commons, mentioned circumstances showing how immense has been the task of providing for the campaign in South Africa.

But the most important feature is the increased pay of the soldier. The recruit joining after the beginning of next month will receive 1s a day instead of 9d as at present. If, after two years' service, he elects to stay for eight years longer, he gets, being an efficient shot, 6d a day more, or if an inefficient shot, he gets 4d while he is improving.

During the last six years recruiting had gone up from 26,000 to 45,000 per annum, but that had been attained by a lowering of the standard, which had the effect of increasing the waste from 3,480 in 1899 to 8,322 in 1901. Mr. Brodrick believes we have reached limit of real recruiting, and we can-

The remedy that is most effectual "shoemaker's backache," as for for all kinds of backache and kidney trouble, is Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

INTENSE PAIN.

John Saunders, shoemaker, Whitby, Ont., gives the following evidence:—"I procured a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets at the drug store, and can say that they gave me great relief immediately. I was suffering with intense pain in the back and biliousness, with bad aste in the mouth, and loss of appetite. Under the influence of the medicine all his quickly disappeared and I feel well again. One thing I wish to say, while hey did the work finely, they were very gentle in action, no distress, no griping like other medicines, and I was able to work all the time. I can heartily recommend them to all who suffer from backache, kidney trouble or biliousness." Price 50c. a box, at all druggists or by

TOPOS POR LANGUAGE TO THE STATE OF THE STATE AIDS DIGESTION

Thousands of people are actually starving, not for want of food, but because they cannot digest and assimilate the food they eat, therefore, they derive no nourishment from it. Angier's Petroleum Emulsion helps digest and assimilate wholesome food, cleanses the stomach and bowels, and puts the digestive organs in a condition to perform their functions naturally. It tones up and invigorates the entire system, and a gain in weight, strength and color is a quick result.

COUGH CURED, DIGESTION HELPED: - I have had a bad cough for nearly two years, and everything I took did it no good until I tried your Petroleum Emulsion, which has almost cured me. It is very pleasant to take and I find it aids digestion. I feel much better in every way since taking your cele-brated Emulsion, F. FLETCHER, Humber Bay, Ont.

CHEAPEST OF ALL MEDICINES .-Considering the curative qualities of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, it is the cheapest medicine now offered to the public. The dose required in any ailment is small, and a bottle contains many doses. If it were valued at the benefit it confers it could not be purchased for many times the price asked for it, but increased consumption has simplified and cheapened its manufacture.

THE LIBERAL SENATE.

The senate this afternoon took up and passed the report of the striking committee fixing the several standing comwas an impression that Sir Mackenzie Bowell and his followers might chaltees, upon which the Liberals now have a majority, and force a division. In anticipation of such a contingency every available Ministerialist who could be got to the capital was in his place and had a division been called for there would have been no doubt as to the result. Sir Mackenzie Bowell, however, deemed discretion the better part of valor, and contented himself simply with the complaint that sundry Conservatives on the committees had been displaced to make way for newcomers. It is difficult to reconcile the ordinary Conservative to the role of playing second fiddle. eighteen years that party swayed mat-ters in the house, and for a longer period in the upper chamber. that the power has passed from their hands they are influenced by mixed feelings of surprise and resentment. The surprise springs from the fact that the electorate should have deem-ed Conservative usefulness to be at an end, while the resentment seems to have been aroused by the legitimate desire on the part of the Liberals to exercise the advantages within their reach. In regard to the appointment of committees in the senate the Conservatives refused to name the gentle- a men they wished to have appointed, but sea, threw the whole responsibility upon the Liberals. The latter therefore had to proceed in the best way they could and make a selection for both parties. Now Sir Mackenzie Bowell is dissatisfied because some of his friends have been left off. HOW TO ENLIGHTEN MR. CHAMBERLAIM

Mr. Fielding's Humorous Reply to Col.

Ottawa, March 20 .- The finance minister made a humorous reply to Col. Sam Hughes' inquiry yesterday as to what steps the government should take to disabuse the colonial secretary of his idea of the "terrible rigors" of the Canadian winter.

Col. Hughes suggested that either Mr. Sifton send Mr. Chamberlain a copy of his Atlas of Western Canada, or that the premier give him pointers during the coronation, or the lady teachers for South Africa stop over in bald summons, and after a somewhat London and enlighten Mr. Chamber-

FLOUR RATE CUT THREE CENTS. St. Paul, Minn., March 20 .- One of the most important freight meetings from a northwestern standpoint this season has just completed its session. At this meeting lake and rail rates on export and domestic flour and products incidental thereto were determined upon. The flour rate was cut 3 cents from the tariff in effect when the season of 1901 opened. This season the lake and rail route on domestic flour will be 25 cents to the seaboard and 19½ cents on export business. These rates are 3 cents under the agreed all-rail rate, the recognized differential allowed the lake carriers. These new tariffs will take effect on April 1.

The skull is of peculiar shape, with very high and receding forehead. Teeth found in the jawbone resemble those of a dog.

ENGLISH WOMEN AND THEIR WORK

Field Covered by National Union of Women Workers-Their Duties on Hospital Boards.

The annual meeting of the English National Union of Women Workers. just held in Manchester, gives a very good idea of their work. For one thing, they have a list of safe-servant registries, which they post in railway stations and other public places with good result; the different branches of the union, which include poor law guardians, workhouse nursing associations, educational board work, and other equally valuable employments, furnish good training ground for women who wish to enter on such service. One of the managers of the board of Edinburgh Royal Infirmary gave the union an address on "Women on Hospital Boards," in which she said that any woman who aspired to KOAL TROUBLES, At Voss, North Dakota, on Board a Train En be an effective hospital manager must learn business forms. She must learn that she was only one of a number on a board, and must learn to accept with cheerfulness adverse decisions to her opinions. If she felt her point was of five horses, in three cars, consigned to importance she could then set to work of thinking. It was of the utmost importance that the food provided in heat-producing, comfort-giving hospitals should be the best available, and women's experience in such a matter was valuable. Then there was the linen department, of which women knew more than men, and certainly in some hospitals the changing of bed sheets more often required attention. In going round the hospital women should notice whether the plants and flowers were in good condition. The first church was built in O'Reilly, of Oakville, representing the honor of St. Mary de Latinis, and the second, in honor of St. John the Baptist. The French monk Bernard, who

Why should Laura Pomeroy start and lose color as Max repeated this?
But she did, however, and so violently that the heavy steel crochet-hook with which she was working fell clattering to the floor.

Max sprang to recover it for her, and wondered to see how pale she had suddenly grown; though perhaps it was caused by the shadow of the green draperies behind her, he thought.

She thanked him with her brightest smile, while as she looked into his fine cause the color came surging back to her

"I never knew of any one so called,"
Mrs. Remington responded. "There may have been distant connections of whom I was in ignorance, and a 'Dexter' among them. That was my husband's middle name, though he never used it, always writing simply the initial 'D.' He had been so named after an uncle, whose property he inherited. Possibly this man may have known him," she this man may have known him," she concluded, with sudden thought. "Then, of course, the man could not have been my husband's uncle, for he, I have been told, was one of the most exemplary of men," Mrs. Remington said, decidedly.

"I then told him I would get out at the next crossing, and asked him to please give me his address."

"Oh, what a pity!" cried Mrs. Remington, a shiver of sympathetic pain running through her delicate nerves.

Laura, however, had not appeared to hear what Max had said about this accident. When he had told his companion's name she had given another violent start, and then fallen into a profound reverie.

"Archibald!—Joseph Archibald did you say his name was?" she now asked, turning toward the young man.

"I took it for granted that the Joe stood for Joseph, it may, however, stand for

"Oh, no; it is of no consequence,"
Laura returned, trying to speak indifferently; but, had her companions been more observant, they would have seen she was trembling violently, while there was a gleam in her dusky eyes which told that she had made some important discovery through the medium of that name, and also the name of Dexter, which had previously agitated her. "I am very sorry that the poor old gentleman was so badly hurt," Mrs. Remington feelingly remarked.

THE GRAND CIRCUIT. Detroit, Mich., March 20.-President Daniel J. Campau will soon issue a Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, but at first call for the meeting of the stewards of the Grand Circuit in New York. The meeting will be set for some day early in May, and at this meeting, war to the knife may be framed up with the National Trotting Association. President Campau said today: "The stewards of the Grand Circuit feel that the National Association is no longer fit to act as a governing body, and sooner or later the split will come. The National Association are to form a trust to control all racing in the United States. It recently adopted a rule known as No. 16, which will disqualify any owner, trainer or driver from performing on any track penalized by the National Association. That rule places that body in a position where it can oust any track that comes under its displeasure." Under the system of proxies the National Association has long held the whip hand of the situation, and has arbitrarily dictated to the stewards, men who own the greatest horses in the world and this dictation is by the proxies who have no interest in tracks, horses, or anything pertaining to the racing sport. Is more common than we may think, if we define gluttony as eating beyond the body's need of sustenance and beyond the stomach's capacity for digestion and assimilation of food. That is a fair definition, and it fastens the name glutton on many a person who would resent the term as an insult. The fact of this gluttony is marked by its consequences. The overloaded stomach becomes diseased. The popular term for the condition is "weak" stomach. The "weak" stomach fails in furnishing adequate nutrition for the body, and soon the "weakness" spreads from the stomach to other

A Strange Story-Son of a Wealthy Brooklyn Man, Mourned by His Family as Dead, Has Just Been Heard From.

New York, March 20 .- After twelve years' imprisonment among the bushmen in Australia, Joseph J. Gill, son of the late Thomas Gill, a well-known Brooklyn manufacturer, has been heard from by his family, who had mourned him as dead.

again. On Aug. 17, 1886, Joseph J. Gill sailed from New York for Australia, where he had extensive mining interests. The miles were situated about 500 miles from Sydney, and Gill expected to be gone two or three years. He left behind a wife and two children, boys of and 5 years, respectively.

For two years letters were received egularly. His mining interests were prospering and he hoped soon to return to the United States, he wrote in his

A period in which no tidings were received from Mr. Gill followed, and then came a letter from the American consul at Sydney, N. S. W., stating that Joseph Gill, a wealthy mine operator, and four companions, had been ambushed and killed by Australian bushmen, in Australia, not far from the mines which the Brooklyn man controlled.

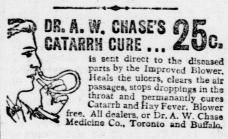

This was the last heard from Gill until the news of imprisonment, which has just been received. It came in the form of a letter to Inspector McLaughlin, of the Brooklyn police. The letter, dated Dagupan, Northern Luzon, Philippine Islands, was written in November, 1901, and addressed to the chief of police of Brooklyn. It was as fol-

I am now making my way back to Sydney, Australia, to my wife and children.

"I do not know if my dear mother is dead, but would be glad to know her address, if she is alive, or my brothers. I shall be in Sydney by the time you receive this letter. Please address me in care of the United States consul at Sydney.'

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Alberto Jonas, the Pianist, Delights Large Audience.

The engagement of Alberto Jonas, the Detroit pianist, at the Auditorium last night, proved a distinct treat for the music-loving and cultured audience in attendance. Jonas proved him-self possessed of rare technique and power of execution, together with an individuality which add a new charm to his playing. Few planists have visited the city who have left their audiences in a more satisfied mood than did Jonas last night. Mrs. Alice Calder Stock, of this city, was the assisting artist. Her beautiful soprano voice was heard to advantage in four numbers, two of them in response to enthusiastic recalls. Mr. A. D. or an, the new organist of the First Methodist Church, acted as accompanist to Mrs. Stock. The concert was under the patronage of the London Conservatory of Music and the Woman's Morning Music Club. Of the large audience present, about 100 came over by special train from St. Thomas. DISTILLERY SITE.

Property Favored for Proposed Sugar Beet Works. .

A meeting of the manufacturers committee of the city council was held vesterday afternoon to consider the newest proposition of the London Sugar Refinery Company. The company, after being told on Monday that no cash bonus would be given, modifled their proposition, and asked a free 25-acre site on the water front, preferably near the railways in the east end, and with tax exemption for 20 years.

At yesterday's meeting the property favored was the site of the old Moore distillery, south of the Hamilton road, comprising 22 acres, and it was stated that the land could be obtained for about $3,500. The property, however is outside the city limits. The purchase of it by the city, to be handed over to the company, would have to be approved by the vote of the people and this was a delay to which Mr Moody said the company could not be subjected. Mr. Moody was favorably impressed with the site, and he finally stated that if the company was guaranteed exemption in the event of land being taken into the city, it would buy the property.

A motion was passed to recommending that the council pass a bylaw guaranteeing the company that the Moore land would not be taken into the city in the course of 20 years, or exempting the plant if it should be; the council to secure the right of way for a spur from the G. T. R. to the fac-

The mayor and Ald. Douglass were appointed to obtain the solicitor's opinion as to the legality of the proposed action, and also to ascertain if the city has power to lease the land at the foot of Railway street for a long term of years. Six acres of the property is desired by an industry which proposes to locate in London, and which now pays $40,000 a year in wages in its American works.

CANADIAN CHEESE. Ottawa, March 20 .- A remarkable tribute has just been paid to the character of Canadian cheese by Major Henry E. Alvord, chief of the United States dairy division. In a departmental report to his government on the subject of dairy products at the recent Paris exposition, Major Alvord, who occupied a high position in the United States commission at Paris, says: "There were admirable displays of Canadian cheese in the permanent exhibit and also at the September show. At the latter the yearlings shown, both white and colored, could not be excelled, but the Canadian commission preferred to have these exhibits judged collectively; consequently the cheeses were not scored singly, but only a few samples were examined, and the collection awarded the grand prix, the same as the collective exhibit by the United States.
