Since the days of the harpsichord the piano has stood in innumerable homes, closed and mute, a silent witness to the lack of skilled hands to coax forth its melodies—a locked treasure chest to a multitude of music lovers. But at last a key to unlock its treasures has been found.

—a wondrous piano-player that, with fingers almost human, plays any plano perfectly. any plano perfectly.
This device, the Chase & Baker

Piano-Player, has a complete mas-tery over the piano, and plays any composition under the guiding hand of the operator with faultless accuracy. It is, in fact, a skilled musician without a soul, affording to anyone the power to render a piece with the precision of a prac-ticed planist. And the greater the operator's skill and taste, the more eautiful will be the interpretation.
The Chase & Baker Piano-Player is pre-eminently perfect in con-struction and in operation. It can-not play a false note, it never-slurs, but plays always with abso-lute precision and certainty of

The streets were filled with panicstricken people all afternoon. Reports from Santa Clara, near St. George, say that not a chimney was left standing.

The shocks seemed to travel from the southwest toward the northeast. In Pine Valley part of a large brick store building collapsed, while a brick dwelling was torn apart to such an extent that it is unsafe for occupation A spring near the center of the town which always furnished a steady supply of cold water sprouted up like a geyser. First it rose only a dozen feet in the air. Then came another shock and a hissing, steaming column of water rose to a height of fully 100 feet. After the shocks subsided the flow remained strong, although there was no more sprouting.

In Beaver County, where extensive copper, silver, gold and lead mines are situated, there was confusion in a number of mines. The miners underground left the shocks, and in several places loose rock began to fall. In Salt Lake the shocks were felt on the upper floors of the high buildings. Servant Girl Blew Out the Gas-Parallel Case to Nellie Corcoran's.

New York, Nov. 19.—Dila Milligan, who came from Ireland in October and secured work as a servant here, has lain in state of coma at the J. Wood Wright Hospital for the past 23 days. Her case is almost as puzzling and interesting to the doctors as that of Nellie Corcors Only twice in the whole period has the girl spoken, and then it was to mutter a few words, which showed that she was delirious. The girl was taken to the hospital suffering from partial asphyxiation, due to blowing out the gas. The usual means of resuscitation were used. The only effect was to restore the patient's appetite. Her pulse and temperature became normal. The state of coma has, however, resisted the doctors' best efforts, and they have given up hope of restoring

The object of the meeting was to discuse the changes that have been proposed by individual manufacturers in the fron and steel tariff, in response the circulars of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. The idea is, if possible, to reconcile the various suggestions that have been made, and agree upon a schedule that will meet the wishes of all the manufacturers. ## EVIDENCE OF TWO SIDES IS HEARD

Duplicity of a Bright Young Mr. Davis Again a Witness Before Tobacco Commission.

President of Concern Says Consignee Contracts Are Not Limited Provided Distribution Is Large Enough.

Montreal, Nov. 13 .- The greater portion of yesterday's sitting of the Tobacco Commission was occupied with the hearing of evidence adduced by the plaintiffs to show that since the coming into force of the consignee contracts of the American Tobacco Company of Canada and the Empire Tobacco Company, the business of inwho has lived in Philadelphia for eight dividual manufacturers had been injured, as such manufacturers had had difficulty in obtaining markets for their products. One witness testified that he had suffered a loss of threefourths of his trade, and another swore that he had been obliged to increase the number of his travelers in order to maintain the output of his factory; consequently, it was costing him more to distribute his goods than formerly. Dealers, who were not consignees of the tobacco companies named, had likewise experienced difficulty in obtaining such of these companies' goods as they required in connection with their business.

Mr. Mortimer B. Davis, president of the American Tobacco Company of Canada, and of the Empire Tobacco Company, who was on the stand when the court arose the previous evening, concluded his evidence, and deposed that consignee contracts, under which dealers received an extra commission for exclusively handling the goods of a particular firm, were known in many lines of business.

TESTIMONY OF MR. DAVIS. Mr. Davis was the first witness of the day, and being examined by Mr. Max Goldstein, for the plaintiffs, he produced a list of the consignees who had entered into the cigarette contract with the American Tobacco Company of Canada, and it showed that in 1895, the year in which it was first put out, it was signed by 96 persons; at the present time the sig-natures number 485. The document natures number 485. The document also contained a list of the firms who had signed the contract, and had afterwards withdrawn from it. Witness likewise produced a list of those who had signed the Empire Tobacco Company's agreement. It showed that 79 firms had signed it in 1900, 18 had signed in 1901, and 103 had signed during the present year, making a total of 200. It likewise showed the names of those who had withdrawn from the contract, as well as a list of those who had been notified by the company that it would not further consign goods to them.

Examined by Mr. Fleming, witness said that the cigarettes were made in Canada, but were wholly manufacturfrom foreign leaf. He did not know of any jobborg or dealers who handled the cigarettes on the 2 per Any person could them on that basis, provided he was a large enough distributor. After ceasing to be a consignee of the American Tobacco Company, he continued to sell its cigarettes, obtaining them from various people, as he could not get them from the factory. He requested to be supplied with them from the factory on the 2 per cent basis, but he could not get them. He had great difficulty in obtaining cigar-

He manufactured a brand of rouge and quesnel, and the tobacco company put a brand bearing the same name on the market, although his was already on. There was a good demand for the tobaccos of independent manufacturers, and he did not in the least regret having ceased to do business with the American Company. Examined by Senator Beique, K. C., witness stated that he manufactured Canadian tobacco only, his production of cut and roll being about 25,000 pounds a year. His trade was increasing each year. When he became a consignee of the American Tobacco Company, although he was not prohibited from selling his own and other cut tobaccos, he was only allowed to sell the company's cigarettes. His commission on the American Company's cigarettes, when he was consignee, was about $100 a month, which would represent a sale of about 40,000 cigarettes a week. He preferred not to say from whom he was now getting the American Company's cigarettes. which he sometimes got at a discount and sometimes did not. He sold the brands of tobacco manufactured by the Empire Company, and he sold more of them than of all the other brands put together. On reassembling after luncheon, Mr. Justice McTavish remarked that he had received by mail copies of resolutions passed by Wholesale Grocers' Guilds at London. Ont.: Toronto. Kingston and Hamilton. He intended to acknowledge receipt of them through Mr. Owens, secretary of the commission, and to state that the matters to which they referred would be mentioned in due course. He thought, however, that in the meantime, it would be well to postpone final action them until the investigation was actually over, but interested parties them. MR. LEGAULT'S STATEMENT. Mr. O. W. Legault, manager of the tobacco factory at St. Laurent, where Canadian and combination leaf is manufactured into plug smoking and chewing tobaccos, stated that the firm fused to sell him any. His contract began to lose accounts in Ontario as soon as the agreements with the Emforce. Up to that time the firm's sales had increased regularly each year from the starting of the business. The carefully, the company having several the starting of the business. The firm also lost accounts with wholesale grocers in Montreal who represented the cream of the trade in this province. Nearly one-half of the firm's business was done with these people, and it had to double its travelers in this province and in the Maritime Provinces to try to keep up the sales to what they were before. It consequently cost the firm more to sell its morning at 10:30 o'clock in the court goods than was formerly the case. Before the consignee agreements came force witness's business was a profitable one, and since then he had, perhaps, sold more tobacco, but he had to spend so much money to sell it, that the profit was swallowed up. If the contract system continued there would be no future for the manufacture of Canadian tobacco, and unless he could find some way of improving business, it would be perfectly useless to try and continue it at a SELLS AT WHOLESALE RATE. Examined by Mr. Campbell, witness stated that his firm did not now sell to wholesalers in the Province of Quebec, but it did sell to persons in the province at wholesale rates. It did not sell to any in Montreal at these rates, but it did to a few in the pro-vince. The firm formerly dealt direct with the retailer in Montreal, but i did not do any business in this city now. The firm could supply all the demand there was for its goods, but it cost more to do so than was formerly the case. Its total production was over 160,600 pounds a year, and of that output about 80 per cent was plus tobacco and the remainder was cut. Mr. Isale Tetrault, manufacturer of Canadian tobacco, Montreal, said that until a year or two ago he distributed his goods in Montreal to jobbers and other dealers, but since the Empire Tobacco Company's contract came into force, he could not sell to the jobbers any more. The effect of this contract had been to diminish his business about three-fourths. Up to the time of this contract coming into force some of the best firms in Montreal were his customers, but he lost them then. Mr. C. de Cazin, manufacturer cigarettes and tobacco, testified the American and Empire Companies contracts had not affected his bacco business much, but they had af-of Montreal, on account of the consignee system. SYSTEM NOT PROFITABLE. The system of dealing with the retailers was not a profitable one, on account of the cost of carriage and transfers, and the collecting of the accounts was an expensive matter. He had found that advertising his products did more harm than good, be-cause when the retailers tried to obtain them from the wholesalers they could not do so, and the supposition was that the articles were not good, and were not saleable. Mr. A. Roy, wholesale and retail dealer and tobacco jobber, stated that he was a consignee of the Empire Tobacco Company for plug tobacco. The American Tobacco Company of Canada had asked him to become signee for cigarettes, but he had re-fused. He had been waging war against this company for a long time in cigarettes, and he was of opinion that if he had been willing to come in on the contract, he might have got a horse and buggy to cease competition. He found it difficult to get the cigarettes that he needed in connection with his trade, consignees having apparently been forbidden to sell to him; in fact, a jobber told him so, and rewith the Empire Company called upon as the agreements with the Em-Tobacco Company came into tobacco, but he had no undertaking with regard to cut tobacco. Sloux Falls, S. D., Nov. 19. - Mrs. Roland B. Molineux's arrival here and her announcement that she is seeking a diverce from the man recently freed from prison after two sensational murder trials, have created a genuine sensation. Mrs. Molineux registered as work without distress. "Mrs. L. C. Johnson," but when her identity became known through a telegram she said she had no reason for keeping her identity or the object of her coming a secret

'Yes, I am Mrs. Molineux." she said to the reporters. "I have come here to remain six months. That's the time required for a divorce, isn't it?" She shrugged her shoulders deprewhen asked to say something of the differences with her husband. "Oh, I've been a martyr, that's all. or four years I have been waiting to see what they would do with that man. Now it's all over and I will

The hunters, who are trying to give the President a shot, are pretty badly discouraged, but they were hoping against hope for better luck today. The President himself seems less concerned over his ill-fortune than those instrumental in bringing him here. He is satisfied that there are bears in the swamps, and told his friends yesterday that he wanted to come down here again and have another hunt with Holt Collier. The party will break camp late this

A WOMAN'S STORY.

New York, Nov. 19. — Mrs. Lena Doxheimer, who says that until she became a member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church at Hoboken, two years ago, she was associated with an anarchistic society of that place, and whose sanity is questioned, is reported to have related it to the Mothers' Club and the pastor of her church a story of alleged anarchist plottings against the life of President

According to Mrs. Doxheimer, there have been in the last fourteen months three persons assigned to the task of "removing" the President. One of these, a Frenchman, named lov, she says, she persuaded to re-n to Paris, where he was killed by a street car. She professes to believe that he put himself in the way of death in order to spare his relatives the humiliation of regarding him as a suicide. Next, according to Mrs. Doxheimer, the assassin's task was assigned to a man named Mueller, living in this city, who a few days later died of poison, self-administered. The last of the three designated for the murderous work, Mrs. Doxheimer alleges, was a Mrs. Schroeder, of Har-

who also ended her life by poison. Mrs. Doxheimer asserts that among the plotters were several millonaires. Her conception of what constitutes a millionaire is indicated by her statement that these men "owned houses." Mrs. Doxheimer says that recently she has been under suspicion of her for-mer anarchist associates, and that they have followed her and her husband about from place to place, so that they have required the protection of detectives.

The Rev. Chas. L. Meade, Mrs. Doxheimer's pastor, will make no state-ment regarding the so-called confession.

Interesting Paper by One of the ronto man, now a resident of London "ity's Veteran Old Boys.

Recollections of a Time When Population Was Counted by the Dozen.

The meetings of the Historical Society, one of which was held last night at the Public Library building, continue to be extremely interesting. Dr. Cl. T. Campbell's paper, which was read at the previous meeting and dealt London. with the history of London before the building of the courthouse, was followed last night by another excellently prepared paper by Hon. Freeman Talbot, a Londoner of the very early days, who has lived for nearly the past half-century in Western Canada. His friends in London, of whom there are In the spring of 1880 Edward In the spring of Rolling In th paper an evidence of the unimpaired vigor of the remarkable intellectual strength and wonderful memory with with Mr. Talbot has been endowed. The paper, which he prepared last night, was effective read for him by Dr. English.

Mr. Talbot first said that the spot upon which London now stands attracted the attention of Gov. Simcoe and his secretary, Col. Talbot, who contemplated the locality of London as a proper site for the future capital of Ontario, its natural advantages his influence at the seat of Parlia-being its centrality between the lakes ment was irresistible, and that he did and its fortunate situation on River Thames, besides other advantages which would insure military and naval protection and easy facilities of communication. At that time the whole country between Lakes Erie and Huron was an unexplored wilderness. Subsequently Col. Talbot induced a number of followers to join his settle-

London was not surveyed until 1818, although a Mr. Applegarth erected a very comfortable log building as early as 1816, about three-quarters of a mile below the forks. In the autumn of 1818 London was entered by about 40 different families, most of them Irish, who came under the direction of the late Richard Talbot. For each of 60 men, whom he brought, he had to deposit £10 with Mr. Freeman Talbot's father as a guarantee that they would not become paupers. Mr. Talbot had obtained a free ship, the Brunswick, to convey himself, his family and party of settlers from the "Cove of Cork" (Queenstown) to Quebec.

Mr. Freeman Talbot's father re-ceived a grant of 1,400 acres of land in the township of London. At that time London township was thought to have many almost irresistible difficulties and many strong attractions. Its soil was first-class, water pure and abundant, mill sites plentiful, splendid caused to be built a plank and gravel timber of almost every variety, limeheavy to be subdued, there was an un- was he who had erected the piers at without the woman, and the following

The London district at that time extended from Burford in the west to following interesting information: The Zone in the east, and from Lake Erie late Thomas Cassick was the first man of a duel over a game in a saloon here, to Lake Huron. #### PUTTING IT STRONG

But Doesn't It Look Reasonable?

This may read as though we were putting it a little strong, because it is generally thought by the majority of people that Dyspepsia in its chronic form is incurable or practically so. But we have long since shown that Dyspepsia is curable, nor is it such a difficult matter as at first appears. The trouble with Dyspeptics is that they are continually dieting, starving themselves, or going to opposite extreme or else deluging the already overburdened stomach with "bitters," "after dinner pills," etc., which in-variably increase the difficulty even if in some cases they do give a slight temporary relief. Such treatment of the stomach simply makes matters worse. What the stomach wants is a rest. Now how can the stomach become rested, recuperated and at the same time the body nourished and sustained. This is a great secret and this is also the secret of the uniform success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. is a comparatively new remedy but its success and popularity leaves no doubt as to its merit.

The Tablets will digest the food anyway, regardless of condition of stomach

The sufferer from Dyspepsia according to directions; is to eat an abundance of good wholesome food and use the tablets before and after each meal, and the result will be that the food will be digested no matter how bad your Dyspepsia may be, because, as before stated, the tablets will digest the food even if the stomach is wholly inactive. To illustrate our meaning plainly, if you take 1,800 grains of meat, eggs or ordinary food and place it in a temperature of 98 degrees, and put with it one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets it will digest the meat or eggs almost as perfectly as if the meat was inclosed within the stomach.

The stomach may be ever so weak yet these tablets will perform the work of digestion and the body and work of digestion and the body and brain will be properly nourished and at the same time a radical, lasting cure of Dyspepsia will be made because the Mr. Bell informed the council that much-abused stomach will be given, to he some extent, a much-needed rest. Your druggist will tell you that of all the many remedies advertised to cure Dyspepsia none of them have given so complete and general satisfaction as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and not least in importance in these hard times is the fact that they are also the cheapest and give the most good for the least money.

Successively the hotelkeepers who came to London were Peter McGregor, Abraham Carrol, Joseph O'Dell, Boyle Trayerse, John O'Neil. Dennis O'Brien erected the first brick block in London in 1836, just opposite the courthouse. These buildings were used afterwards as barracks and then as a hotel, the Western.

From this happy reference to the demand for the McClary output, it will be seen that Mr. Talbot has all the patriotism of a true London Old Boy. Before the meeting closed, Mr. Frank Leonard made a brief but interesting reference to the fight between Americans and the British, which took place in 1814, about 22 miles west of Dela-ware. Mr. Leonard suggested as a fitting memento of this heroic struggle, that a monument be erected by the society on the spot where the battle was fought.

EXPRESS TRAIN DERAILED

Weil-Known Horseman Killed and Brakeman Badly Hurt.

Madison, Conn., Nov. 19 .- Samuel Crumenden, a well-known horseman, of New Haven, was killed, and Joseph Lockstrom, of Auburn, R. I., a brakeman, was injured by the derailment of an express freight train on the Shore Line division of the New York, New Haven This and Hartford Railroad, yesterday.

Crumenden was riding in a stock car on his way to Boston with a horse which he was to ship to England. The breaking of a coupling pin, followed by a collision of the two sections of the train, led to the accident. Three cars were derailed. Lockstrom suffered a broken leg.

The City Council is not to be cenbured for moving cautiously in the matter of the London and Southwestern Traction Company's application. Other radial railway companies will of July, 1905, there were 750,000 people be seeking entrance to the city sooner or later, and will expect to be admitted on the same conditions as the 1901, 254,947. The London and Southwestern should have made its application more than during the decade from at an earlier date, so that more time 1891 to 1901. And yet the tide of popuwould have been allowed in which to lation had only begun to rise. Speakelaborate an agreement, before the ing of the business aspect of the case, company had gone so far as to bring Mr. Siften said in part: Its rails to the outskirts of the city. It is now in an awkward position. The line from Lambeth to London is practically completed, but is almost useless until running rights over the city streets are obtained. The enterprise is one that should be encouraged. Radial railroads will bring business to Loncon; the more of them the better. Electric roads are spreading over the Province, and London, as the largest center of population in Western Ontario, is in a particularly favorable position to profit by the traffic which these roads will create. They will cover a territory not traversed by the steam roads, and will bring villages and towns into direct connection with this city, besides affording the farming community a convenient means of bringing produce to the local market. At the same time the city should not be hurried into granting a 25-year franchise to any electric railway company. It has had lessons that should make it careful. What the council should do is lay down a basis which shall be applicable to all radial railway lines. This should be gone about deliberately, and the experience of other cities should be consulted. In the meantime it would be great hardship if the London and Northwestern line

Chief Justice Strong, of the Supreme Court at Ottawa, has resigned, and the vacancy is filled by the appointment of Chief Justice Armour. There will be universal satisfaction with the change. The Insurance Press, published at the vast sums they are obligated to pay the people, as well as the rapidity with which their assets are accumuage. Not many years ago a company with $100,000,000 of assets was a giant. Now the $350,000,000 company is with us, and the $500,000,000 company is only a step beyond the horizon. The figures have already grown so large as to be staggering, and time only can tell whether those who succeed the present men at the heads of large insurance companies can discharge the duties that will fall to their lot. The men will change frequently. The companies must continue and be benefited or injured by the acts of those who for the time being control their destinies.

Work in the West. The Minister of the Interior unfolded an inspiring prospect in his address before the Methodist Home Missions rally at Toronto Monday night. The purpose of the meeting was to raise funds with which to push the work of the church in the Canadian Northwest. Mr. Sifton said he was not inclined to undue optimism, but having regard to the sources of information at his disposal, he should not be surprised if by the first day in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories-perhaps a million. In 1891 the population of Manitoba was 152,506; in 000. Mr. Sifton had no doubt that toincrease during the last year had been

"What then, have been the arguments by which I have persuaded my colleagues, hard-headed business men, to authorize the expenditure in cash and credit of millions of public money for the purpose of bringing about the very state of rapid develop-ment and progress which exists today, and hastening the time when instead of a great lone land, we should have a land teeming with a production which far outstrips the capa city of transportation agencies and commercial facilities? Sir, the statement of the question furnishes its own answer. They have agreed to this expenditure because every dollar that Canada wisely expends in the development and population of her great agricultural domain constitutes the best investment that it is possible to make. A year, two years, five years, and the national wealth will in one season be increased by more than the total amount that we have during long and laborious years expended to bring about this result. Knowing this, we attack the problem with vigor, we spend the money with confidence, knowing that in a very short time it will be returned many times over. Can you not in your church work rise as high as your representatives do in the discharge of their public duties? Can the statesmen and taxpayers of the church not pursue as enlightened and progressive a policy as those of the state? Is the vision of the church's parliament less prophetic than that of the Parliament of the nation? Is not a policy which is admittedly wise for the country just as wise for the church? And if the country at large will receive, as it will, a hundredfold in return for its investments, will the church not do

Contrary to the false statement of the Free Press as to our position, we see a great deal of impropriety in such an offer to Mr. Sutherland, if it had ever been made. Mr. Sutherland is very sensitive about being robbed of his seat, as he and his friends term it. But he does not seem so sensitive about robbing public men and political leaders of their reputations. Our belief is that Mr. Sutherland and his friends are dis-torting what may have been perfectly innocent conversations between some Liberals who voted for him, and who expected him to keep his word by taking an independent position in the House, into corrupt suggestions or offers-which they are seeking to fasten upon the Ross Government or responsible Liberal leaders. There can be nothing more pitiful than the struggle the consumptive makes against disease. The greatest help in this struggle is gained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures obstinate coughs, weak bleeding lungs, emaciation, and other ailments which if neglected or unskillfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption.

"In 1898 one of my daughters was suffering on account of a severe cough, hectic fever, wasting of flesh and other symptoms of diseased lungs," writes Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, of Barium Springs, Iredell Co., N. C. "I promptly gave her Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery with gratifying success, and she now enjoys excellent health. tion Charges Is Contemplated-

Companies have felt keenly the pressure of the demands of labor organizations for greater remuneration, and the continuous increase in the price of every kind of equipment and material, and the question of a general movement for advance in transportation rates is now receiving serious consider-

Mr. G. M. Bosworth, of the Canadian Pacific, lays great emphasis on the fact that while the gross earnings of the railways have gone up amazingly, there has been practically no increase in the net earnings. In other words the working expenses were steadily absorbing the whole of the fruits of managerial enterprise in opening up new avenues of traffic and in enlarging and increasing the old. The companies, Mr. Bosworth remarked, have to pay easily procurable, easily taken, act expeditiously, and they are surprisingly senger and freight cars, and all other kinds of rolling stock, more for rails and ties, more for the fuel they burn. and more, far more, for all kinds of labor. In these circumstances the companies must look somewhere to recoup themselves.

Those who invest their money in railways have a right to look for a fair return. Where were they to look but to those who used the services of the railways? GRAND TRUNK VIEWS COIN-CIDE. The views of the Grand Trunk management were in harmony with those expressed by Mr. Bosworth. The officials had just returned from their trip through Ontario, where they had in. spected the branch lines. Fresh from the gathering grounds of traffic, and having before them the need of great-er expenditure in increasing the facilities of transportation, the Grand Trunk officials point out that a very small inrease in the rates, a fraction per ton nile, would make all the difference between working the system at a fair profit and working it under unremunerative conditions. The impression clearly given was that these panies very shortly will have to consider jointly the question of falling back on the public to recoup them for the increased expenditures that they are obliged to incur to meet demands that they are unable to resist.

PROGRESS OF STRIKE INQUIRY

Advance in Wages Not Enough Without a Change in the Weighing System.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 19 .- The anthracite strike commission resumed its hearing today with the usual large crowd in the court room. Before W. W. Ross, counsel for the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western road, resumed his cross-examination of President Mitchell, Chairman Gray, for the commission, again asked counsel to assist in expediting the proceedings. He said the commission was loath to interfere, but they hoped that Mr. Mitchell would not be asked to give his opinion of matter of which he had no personal

MITCHELL TIRELESS.

Yesterday President Mitchell, for the fourth successive day, occupied the witness stand during the two sessions if the strike commission and was cross-examined by three attorneys for as many coal companies. He was still on the stand when the hearing adourned. The arbitrators are growing restless in consequence of the long cross-examination which apparently does not bring out the facts as quickly as the commission would like to have presented. Chairman Gray reminded the attorneys of the value of time and suggested cross-examination be limited to new features of those question that have already been gone over.

Five attorneys—C, S. Darrow, and David Wilcox, for the Delaware and Hudson; Wayne MacVeagh, for the Erie; Francis I. Gowen, for the Lehigh Valley, and W. W. Ross, for the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Company-have examined the miners'

Mr. MacVeagh's principal aim throughout his questioning of Mr. Mitchell was to show that the Mine Workers' Union, because of alleged acts of intimidation, violence, and the use of boycott by its members proved itself unfit to be a party to a contract. Mr. Mitchell would not admit, nor even assume, for the sake of illustrating points, that a reign of terror existed in the anthractic fields during the last six months. SPARRING FOR ADVANTAGE.

Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Ross had several tilts in which the lawyer generally got the worst of it. At one stage in the examination, Mr. Ross said: "Do any of these epithets and slurs you have made regarding the horrible condition of the miners apply to our company?" "Will you tell me particularly what slurs you refer to?" Mr. Mitchell asked. Getting no direct answer, he, with some spirit, repeated his query, say-'I would like you to refer specifically to what you mean by slurs. I do not recall having used language of Mr. Ross did not take any notice of Mr. Mitchell's remark, but, instead, took up the line of his examination In reply to another question by Mr. Ross, Mr. Mitchell declared that the rule of the local unions not to pre-pare coal when the breakers were idle did not have for its object the restricting of the output. If these miners had been permitted to work," asked Mr. Ross, "on these idle days, the output would have been greater, wouldn't it?" "I don't know whether your company wanted more coal than the miners produced or not." "We have wanted for several years all the coal we could get. We have was taken up, and Mr. Mitchell said he could not see any other reason in child labor than that the families require the money to live on, the excep-tion being where the parents may be inhuman. He then reiterated his former statement that the minimum wage should be $600 a year. "We might want to go to the seashore," said he. Speaking in sarcasm Mr. Mitchell said the company had some employes who had visited delphia once in 24 years, and that they thereby had an important event in their lives to relate to their grandchildren.

At this point Mr. Ross took occasion to call attention to the fact that his company owned 284 houses which were rented to the miners on an average of "So you see," remarked Mr. Ross, "we haven't very many houses for the number of employes, upward of 12,000." "You charge enough for the ones you do have," was Mr. Mitchell's dry response.

'What benefit is there," asked Mr. Ross, "to the miner by being paid by the ton instead of by the car? Mr. Mitchell said that there had been general discontent among the miners because of disagreements arising from the docking not only for impurities but on account of the "topping." "You don't know," said Mr. Ross, "that it is necessary to discipline men.

"Is that the reason," Mr. Mitchell asked, "for impurities or because their car did not have enough in it?" He insisted that he knew of instances where docking amounted to 3 or 4 per cent, although Mr. Ross had stated that it was eight-tenths per cent.

MITCHELL ON ANARCHY. Early in the day Mr. MacVeagh read statement regarding the right to strike as belonging to the personal freedom of workingmen. He also took the view that in exercising that freedom those who cease to work must not interfere with the liberty of others stitution. who wish to work. "We do not want anarchy," said Mr. Mitchell, "and that is anarchy, pure and simple—the right of every man to do absolutely as he pleases regardless of its effects on society.' "This is the language of a very carefully disguised anarchy," Mr. Mac-Veagh remarked, "because it is the language of Archbishop Ireland." "Archbishop Ireland never expected it to be used in that sense. I might say Archbishop Ireland is a member of a committee of which I am also a member which has declared for a trade union idea."

Answering another question, Mr. Mitchell declared that if Archbishop Ireland's statement meant that men have no right to picket he disagreed with him. Mr. Mitchell added that he did not know that the archbishop was regarded as a supreme court on trade union matters.

was taken. An agreement was made with the Metropolitan Concert Company, of New York, to conduct a Christmas carnival here similar to the successful carnivals which have been held in Toronto, Hamilton and other Canadian cities. The monument will be erected with the funds obtained through this series of entertainments in which it is proposed to have about 600 local people take part. Parts of well-known operas and pantomimes will be produced. It is probable that adaptations from "A Midsummer Night's Dream," the "Mikado," "Carmen," practically all of the "Bo-hemian Girl," "Alladin and the Wonderful Lamp" and other spectacles will form the programme for this city.

small lake in the district, in which we were shooting," he said, "and while there they saw what they thought to be a young fawn, push through the bushes and jump into the water. They immediately started their canoe after the deer, with the intention of lassoing it and bringing it home as a pet. They succeeded in their desire, and started to tow the animal towards the shore, when it suddenly assumed dimensions which showed it to be a large doe. She soon became frantic and started to charge on the cance. which would have had serious results had the animal been successful. After beating the doe back once, one of the hunters succeeded in getting hold of the animal's tail, while the other pressed a gun to her head and her, thus rescuing themselves from peril, and securing an addition

Further Hearing in Muncey Bridge Assault Charge.

The charge of assault laid by Samuel Pearson against George Ponsford, William Reid and Louis Nash was given a further hearing today before Judge William Elliot. Pearson was the inspector on the Muncey county bridge, Ponsford was the contractor and Reid and Nash were workmen. Pearson alleges that the assault occurred because he insisted on the work being carried out according specifications. The defense claim that Pearson was insolent and unreasonable, and that he was the aggressor in the fracas which occurred. Judge Hughes, of St. Thomas, occupied a seat on the bench with Judge Elliot.

The case is still in progress.

Two London Hunters' Adventure on Prominent Canadian Clergymen and the Premier Take Part.

> Toronto, Nov. 19.-The Canadian Union periodically invite eminent churchmen to meet them socially. Some time ago the union invited Monsignor Falconio, Apostolic Delegate to Canada, to attend a complimentary dinner in his honor last night. Owing to his excellency's transference to Washington, the dinner became a farewell demonstration in his honor, and prominent clergymen and members of the laity from all parts of the pro-

His excellency was received with great cordiality. He returned his best thanks for the demonstration of attachment to the Holy Father. It was a proof of their loyalty to the church, it was a satisfaction to know that the church was so strong in Toronto. He regretted to leave Canada. In his three years' residence here he had larned to love Canada above any other country. While he admired the extent of our land, its productiveness and its beauty, he admired above al! the spirit which animated the Canadians. Nonsense, auntie, I can walk as well pocke ms I ever could, only my clothes cling to me rather uncomfortably," Miss Belle said, with a light laugh, but rising as the spoke and submitting to be wrapped in an elegant white lap-cover which the coachman had been sent to get, and which had the letters "I. K. L." in the form of a monogram embroidered in gold she flatly refused to be carried, and walked to the coach without even being helped.

Kenneth accompanied them, and waited until they were comfortably seated.

Just as they were about to start Belle leaned out of the window and said impulsively, while her large blue eyes were fixed earnestly upon his face:

"Mr. Keith, I want you to remember that I shall always be your friend for what you have done today, and you will

"No. 85 — avenue," Kenneth repeated, without committing himself, as he saw a frown flit across Miss Kavanagh's patrician face, and knew that she did not approve of the invitation. "Thank himself away when the woman leaned toward him and said:

"Will you give me your address, Mr.
Keith? I think I may like to communicate with you by mail."
Kenneth mentioned his place of business of ness, sayin gthat a letter would reach him there. Then she nodded him a state-ly adieu. Belle tossed him a little kiss, the coachman touched his horses with his whip, and the carriage, with its interest-ing occupants, rolled away. Kenneth called another, and was driven directly to his boarding-house, where, after getting himself into a dry suit of after getting himself into a dry suit of clothes, he ate his supper, after which he paid a visit to his employer to get directions regarding his morrow's duties. A few days later, as Kenneth was siting at his desk, busily engaged upon an article entitled "Throgh Fire and Flood," in which he was giving a sketch of his own experiences during the last two weeks, a letter was laid before him. The superscription was in a beautiful hand; it was almost like engraving, it was of the and perfect while foo there was so fine and perfect, while, too, there was something familiar in its appearance. Opening it with some curiosity, he drew forth the inclosure, which consisted of two separate letters. Unfolding one of them, he read these words, written in the same hand as the address:

"Mr. Keith,—Money, I know, can never compensate for heroic deeds, such as you performed less: Wednesday; but I feel that I must make some expression of the gratitude which I and my niece owe you; therefore will you accept the inyou; therefore, will you accept the in-closed as a slight testimonial of the re-turn we would be glad to make you? Respectfully and gratefully yours, Katherine Kavanagh."

Kenneth's face was scarlet as he laid down this note and took up the other paper that had fallen upon his desk. It was a check made out in his name, for one thousand dollars.

With flashing eyes and sternly com-pressed lips, the young man seized his pen, drew forward a sheet of paper and wrote the following:
"Miss Kavanagh: Dear Madam,—Allow me to express my appreciation of the motives which prompted sending the inclosed check to my address. I am a poor man, and a thousand dollars is a large sum to my unaccustomed eyes; but could not accept it, either as a gift or as a return for service which I was only too glad to render your niece a few days ago. I simply performed my duty, and would have done the same for the humblest child in the land. Respectfully yours, Kenneth Keith."

He folded the note and inclosed it. together with the check, in an envelope, addressed and stamped it; then calling an errand-boy, he sent it down to the mail box, after which he resumed his interrupted duties as if nothing unusual had occurred, although there was a look of pain on his face, as if he had been wounded at a sensitive point.

CHAPTER XIII.

Later in the day, when Kenneth was gathering up some of his papers, he came across Miss Kavanagh's note again. He was about to toss it into the wastebasket, when some impulse prompted him to again examine the superscription, which he thought the most beautiful handwriting that he had ever seen.

"Smells Very Good."

Suddenly he started, and a strange pal-

He laid it down, drew forth a leather pocketbook from his coat, and taking from it a folded paper, which looked yellow and worn with time, he spread it out before him, and read it carefully through.

The writing upon this piece of paper was beautifully fine and clear, and these were the words it contained:

"Let the child who was left at this asylum on the night of November 20th, be called Kenneth Keith. Give him the best of core, be will be called for within best of care; he will be called for within two years."

He drew from its envelope the note which he had received from Miss Kava-nagh that morning, and compared it with these mysterious commands.

The writing of each seemed to be idenwith the other.

CRESCEUS' CAREER. Chicago, Nov. 8 .- A complete history of Cresceus, the champion trotter, is given out for the first time by George H. Ketcham, breeder and driver, and is as follows: "I was led to buy Mabel, Cresceus" dam, through seeing Nightingale as a 4-year-old step a mile in 2:27, which I then considered a very wonderful performance. Shortly after I purchaser Robert McGregor, and the following year Mabel was bred to him. Cresceus was the resulting foal.

"As a yearling Cresceus had a severe attack of epizootic and was blistered. In some manner he rubbed off the blister over the half-door of his stall and sawed his neck so that his windpipe was exposed. He presented such a horrible appearance that I ordered him destroyed, but, as luck, or, I should say, fate, would have it, Tim Mueren, my trainer, was too busy or careless, and it was put off until next morning, when he was found to be so much better that the trainer decided

"We worked him the winter he was two years old, and I drove him on the snow, beating the best horse in Toledo. He was started in two races as a 2year-old, and in the fall showed a very fast mile over the Erie, Mich., track. I again worked him the following winter on the snow, but he did not seem to improve very much, lacking a brush of speed, but when I entered and started him in two races in Tiffin, Ohio, I found in scoring for the first time that he seemed to learn the game quickly, and came to his speed rapidly. From that time on he learned to race and developed fast.

"As a 3-year-old Cresceus started in seven races, winning at Glens Falls, N. Y.; Reading, Mass.; New York City, where he won the stallion race from Charley Herr, Binger, Daredevil, etc. in 2:041/2, and Indianapolis. That year he lost to Eilorse, Tommy Britton, Captain Jack and The Abbott.

"As a 6-year-old he won every race in which he started, including the $20,-000 stallion stake, when he defeated Charley Herr, Gratton Boy, Arlan, Lord Vincent, Benton M. and Jupe. At Hartford, Conn., Sept. 5, he lowered the stallion record at 2:0514, then held by Directum, trotting in 2:0414. At Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 6, starting against his own stallion record, he trotted his mile in 2:04.

"In his first start at Detroit, Mich... Herr, trotting 2:06 and 2:05, thus trotting the fastest two heats in a race, and in his second mile reducing the VANDERBILT WINS $53,139. Paris, Nov. 18. — W. K. Vanderb'lt comes ninth on the list of winners on the French turf in 1902. His winnings amount to $53,139.

TOPICS OF THE TURF. Never before were there so many horses being prepared for the racing carnival on Richmond avenue, Buffalo, as at present.

Mr. A. E. Peren, of Buffalo, has been winning his share of the races down on the New York speedway the past week. His mare Rosalet, 2:124, is one of the covered to the cov is one of the queens of Harlem way. Wm. McGrady, proprietor of horse-men's headquarters on Massachusetts avenue, has purchased of F. B. Dean the pacer Mary B., 2:244, for speedway driving. Mr. McGrady has a stable full of good ones for the winter carnival on the snow. He can team to a close finish in great shape, too.

The once celebrated Tallyrand, of the turf, Mr. Orrin Hickok, is reported in the last stages of paresis in a Cleveland hospital. The knight of the sulky who piloted St. Julien to a world's trotting record is known from ocean to ocean. He is a member of the old school of drivers, of whom few remain.

Mr. C. J. Hamlin, the "grand old man" of the trotting kingdom, was out to Village Farm the other day looking over the stock. Mr. Hamlin does not go to East Aurora as often as formerly, but about once a month visits the breeding place in which he has so long been interested. Until a month ago he went to the farm regularly every Wednesday. He will spend the winter in Florida Ella Eddy, 2:12, owned in Buffalo for many years, was sold at the Belle Meade Farm dispersal the other day to G. R. Cook, of Trenton, N. J. for $360. This daughter of Jerome Eddy, 2:16½, was bred by Henry C. Jewett, but developed and driven to her record by "Cooney" Zimmer, of Buffalo. The Zimmer Bros. own a stock farm near Rochester, and still own a few good racing prospects.

Ed Geers will sample several Village Farm youngsters this winter to see about their prospects. Among them are two yearlings by The Beau Ideal. One is Prince Favorite, dam Princess Chimes, and the other Prince Ideal, dam Future Princess. These two colts are bred in the purple, Princess Chimes being the dam of Lady of the Manor, 2:0414, and Future Princess the dam of The Earl, 2:17.

Dash races will never become general, says a well-known turf writer, Radical changes are easier plan-ned than executed. The 2 in 3 system is all right for the fast classes on mile tracks, but will hardly do for the half-mile rings. The old way is good enough. It might be a good plan to rule

Meade running horse farm at Nashville. Tenn., was also sold at auction The sales occurred on the same day, but there was no connection between them, the harness horse farm being owned by W. C. Hendrickson, and the other place by Gen. W. H. Jackson.

IRWIN WILL SUCCEED DOOLEY. Montreal, Nov. 18. - Montreal will have baseball next year, and Charlie Dooley will have nothing to do with it. That is the result of the annual meeting of the Montreal baseball club on Saturday evening. When the members met the chief subject to discuss was the ownership of the franchise. Chas. F. Dooley, who had a big share in it, announced that he would be unable on account of his employment by the United States Government as an immigration officer, to be connected with the club. Then he made an offer to the club of his interest in it. The other members of the company very much appreciated what Dooley had done in giving them the first chance, and they considered his offer fair enough. Though the deal is not closed yet, it is sure to be in a few days. This leaves an opening for a manager, and it is altogether likely the new man will be Arthur Irwin. financial report showed just about an even break. It is understood that the company found economy a false principle, and next year will spend a good deal more money. They have already signed five or six new players, and as soon as the new manager is named will go right ahead.

FACTS FOR BUSINESS MEN.

As long as a merchant can keep his dusiness on the increase by the use of advertising, just so long he should be constantly willing to increase his advertising. When the business is at a standstill or in danger of going backward, it is time to stop to consider the whole scheme of business with a view to getting more and better returns, not alone from his advertising, but from his entire investment. There are times when a careful consideration of the deterioration of the business and a careful seeking for the cause will do much to put the bad features in the background and put the other features to the fore. The business man should consider carefully the advantages he could claim for his store, those advantages so persistently and mingle with the enthusiastic. A comparison of London's statistics with those of Hamilton, which exceeds the Forest City by about 15,000 population, is interesting as showing some differences which are curious in the light of the disproportion of population. For instance Hamilton only imports $44,000 worth of glass manufactures, as against London's $99,000. A temperance man might start out to explain this in his own way, but he would have his troubles, for while Hamilton's importation of ale and beer is only $537, or half that of London's, and the amount of spirits brought in is also less, the Ambitious City evens up by buying over onethird more of non-sparkling wines, or $3,917 worth, and fifteen times as much of the fizzy kind, or $2,294 worth. In wearing apparel and clothing material there is also a surprising discrepancy. Thus London buys $119,- tion. "The Show Giri" will bear out the 056 worth of silks, while Hamilton gets statement that it is just "a jolly bit only $61,920 worth. London spends $213,426 for cotton goods; Hamilton with the most enjoya only $207,984. London's headgear bill from start to finish. is $113,225; Hamilton's reaches only $44,177. In the matter of ribbons there is a still greater difference, London Central Railroads intend to increase getting $24,230 worth, while Hamilton's their wage scales at the beginning of cost only $5,119. My lady's furs in the year 1903. London cost $44,168; Hamilton girls

The 20th Century Success in The mountain maids evidently eschew the merely decorative in dress and go in for substantial worth, for Hamilton buys $370,801 worth of wool goods to London's $258,397.

In the matter of intellectuality, honors seem about even, for if Londoners buy more reading matter, the Hamiltonians do more writing. London's book bill foots up to $38,284, while Hamilton's is only $26,089. On the other hand, Hamilton spends $69,863 for paper, $5,765 for leadpencils, $5,386 fer ink and $2,740 for pens, penholders and rulers. London's outlay for these four items is but $49,798, $2,656, $5,528 and $828 respectively. Hamilton seems to score in the matter of musical culture, purchasing musical instruments worth $3 479, while London's were worth only keep tab on them. London's bells cost $6,900 during the year, and Hamilton's only $1,398. Of course this does not begin to represent the vast sum actually expended on London's belles, but whatever the total, the disbursers doubtless considered that they were worth it all. The proportion of expenditure to the number and worth of the belies of the two cities seems to he fairly ac-proving on every page of London's advantages over Hamilton as a place of residence. The weary housewife must turn with yearning eyes towards a city kept clean with $2,849 worth of brooms and brushes, while Hamilton required $10,299 worth. The purchase of $83 worth of carpet sweepers in London and not one in Hamilton would indicate that the husbands of the latter city deny their wives the benefits of labor-saving devices. The lonely bachelor's heart must go out to a locality whose atmospheric conditions are such that his trouser buttons stay on almost twice as long as they do down in the damp air off Burlington Bay, as evidenced by the fact that Hamilton laid out $5,412 for buttons, while London's bill for the same only came to $3 005. The fact that Londoners spent $1,021 for feather beds, while Hamiltonians' only outlay for the same class of merchandise was $90 for mattresses, makes it appear that most of the people of the Ambitious City take their nocturnal repose on the bare slats or the floor. The spending of $5,086 for fireworks and $22,491 for gunpowder in Hamilton, as against $753 and $6,214 for the same commodities in London, shows a prodigal and reprehensible tendency to burn good money. The purchase of $456 worth of "whips, thongs and lashes" seems to guarantee a warm time for the unruly small boy or the unwilling steed in Hamilton. The more merciful Londoners bought none of these instruments of castigation. It took $1,287 volume of business, the following figures are found: Imports, 1900, $3,-1915,180; 1901, $3,821,395; 1902, $4,192,735. explanation probably is that Hamiltonians feel so blue when they think of London's advantages that 1902, $719,705 31. In 1900 London ex-ported goods valued at $1,855,153, but and the necessary tinge, the figures for the two following years of indigo in the wash. Hamilton peoand therefore do not need the addition Turning to the table showing the doners (in a literal sense, of course) value of goods entered for consumption at the various ports, it is seen that included in London's total of $4,on this metal were $20,697 and $10,919.

The spending of $2,167 for salt for the Hamiltonians, while Londoners only needed $292 worth, carries the obvious moral that the former are too fresh, while the purchase of $18,638 worth of spirits of turpentine in Hamilton when London's share was only $4,151 worth, suggests no moral at all to the compiler of this record. When all these abstruse calculations and deductions have been laid aside. the fact remains that Londoners have no reason to be ashamed of the creditable showing made by the Forest City in its commerce with Canada, the empire and foreign nations.

A WOMAN'S BAD TUMBLE. Copenhagen, Nov. 18. - Mrs. Robert Lindsay, wife of the well-known auctioneer, at this place, met with an accident on Saturday evening last that nearly ended her life. She went to the house south of her own dwelling, which was recently vacated by her son Bruce, who has moved to Aylmer, and got a house plant left there for her. She remembers no more, but she evidently went to the barn and up into the hay mow, and gathered the hens' eggs and fell to the floor, a distance of eleven or twelve feet. How she managed to reach home, some 70 rods away, in an unconscious condi-tion, is a marvel. A doctor of Ayl-mer was summoned, and found the injuries were to the head and back. She recovered consciousness Sunday noon and the doctor hopes for final recovery, but says it was a close call.
