Frightful Work of a Cloudburst in Germany.

Dozens of People Drowned and Many Houses Wrecked.

Chinese Forts in Formosa Fired on by a German Gunboat.

Florentines Aroused from Their Beds by Another Earthquake.

THEY'LL "CORNER" THE SUN, NEXT.

Glasgow, June 6.-It was announced that the Scotch companies had effected as agreement with the Standard Oil Company to raise the price of candles and scale the price of oil.

CANTANKEROUS CUBANS. London, June 6.-The Post will tomorrow publish a Madrid dispatch saying that is is almost certain that some general commanding an army corps will go to Cuba to assist Capt.-Gen. Campos in quelling the insurrection. The Cuban war credit that the Government will ask the Chamber of Deputies to grant will be 15,000,000 pesetas. It san-nounced that Capt.-Gen. Campos has returned to Havana, and that the rebels have been defeated in several combats with Government troops.

THE TROUBLE IN FORMOSA. Hong Kong, June 6 .- Advices received here from Tai Peh Fu, Island of Formosa, indicate that the town is still in a chaotic state. The native quarter has been burned, and during the conflagra-tion a magazine exploded and killed 90 Chinese. The German gunboat Itlis fired upon the Chinese at Hobe, presumably because a merchant steamer with Tang, the former president of the so-called republic of Formosa, with a number of Chinese refugee soldiers on board, was not allowed to leave. The forts were silenced by the gunboats and the native gunners fled. Subsequently the merchant steamer proceeded.

SUCCESSFUL REVOLUTION IN ECUADOR.

News of the success of the revolutionists in Ecuador has been received by the United States steamer Ranger, now at Guayaquil. The insurgents have possession of the city. Gov.-Gen. Flores has resigned. Ignacio Robles (Lib.) has been proclaimed military and civil general. Everything is quiet at present. Communication with Quito by telegraph is interrupted. It is believed that Guayaquil and other principal coast cities have fallen into the hands of the revolutionists, and their complete success will be only a matter of a few days.

SUGGESTIONS FOR UNCLE SAM. London, June 6.-The Standard today contains an intimation to the effect that when the insurrection in Cuba is over, Spain will request the United States to pay part of the cost of suppressing it, saying there is small pretense of concealment upon the part of those going to Cuba from the United States, and the authorities must be ecgnizant of it. The country which claime and obtained damages from England on account of assistance given to the South by armed vessels which were allowed to leave this country, should be the last to allow men to leave her shores and insurrect against Spain.

ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE IN FLORENCE.

Florence, June 6.—There was a sharp earthquake shock at 1:36 this morning. It aroused everybody hastily from their beds, and when it was followed by a succession of other subterranean disturbances, shock following shock in rapid succession, the people became panicstricken, and rushed in terror to the streets, where they remained for hours greatly alarmed.

Although it is not believed that any serious damage was done, the inhabitants of this city, not having recovered from the panic which followed the big earthquake of Saturday, May 18, last, were with difficulty persuaded to return to their homes.

DELUGED BY A CLOUDBURST. Stuttgart, June 6.-The Black Forest district of Wurtemberg was deluged by a cloudburst last night, inundating a vast tract of country. A large number of persons were drowned, and almost incalculable damage was done to property. The volume of falling water caused the River Eyach to overflow, and 100 or more houses in the villages on the river were swept away. One house at Balingen with nine occupants was carried away, and as yet no trace of it has been found. Four houses were destroyed in Frommern, and fifteen persons who occupied them are missing. A dispatch received this evening says ten persons are known to be drowned in Balingen, seven in Frommern, fifteen in Lauff and several in other villages. Besides these many others are missing.

The Black Forest is a mountainous region of Southwestern Germany in the Grand Duchy of Baden and the west of Wurtemburg, separating the basins of the Rhine and the Neckar. In many places it is 3,700 feet above the sea, and the Feldberg, 4,675 feet high, is the loftiest mountain in Western Germany. The Danube, Neckar, Kinzig, Murg, Eltz and other rivers rise in this region. The inhabitants are mainly engaged in rearing live stock, trading in timber and manufacturing wooden clocks, toys and woolen fabrics.

CHINA'S LOAN. London, June 7.—It is learned that the Chinese 4 per cent loan of £16,000,000, which has just been concluded by Paris bankers, was guaranteed by Russia in consequence of China's concessions to Russia enabling her to extend the Siberian Railway into Manchuria.

A BEDOUIN REVOLT. Jeddah, June 7 .- It is thought probable here that the present troubles will culminate in a general Bedouin revolt, owing to the beginning of the pilgrimage season and the fanatic hostility of the Bedouns to the Giaours.

in the compartments of Tuscany to be demolished, as they were threatening to fall as the result of yesterday's earthquake shock. A large number spent the night in open fields, despite the severe storm which was raging.

THE INTERNATIONAL RACE. London, June 7.-The Pall Mall Gazette rejoices at the challenge of Oxford and Cambridge to Harvard and Yale, and says: "International competitions of this kind are altogether laudable, and are devoid of the taint of professionalism. These races are run for the glory, not for the prize. Every spectator of the Yale-Oxford sports was struck with the manly spirit in which the American under-graduates took the barest of bare defeats."

The Permanent Militia Corps To Be Cut Down-House in Supply.

(Specially telegraphed by our own Representative.)

Ottawa, June 6.—In committee of supply today on the supplementary militia items the Minister of Militia announced that it was his intention to reduce the permanent corps by 200; namely, to lower the strength from 1,000 to 800. Major Hughes approved of this step, and said that the Government had followed a wrong system in dealing with the militia. Col. Prior protested against the reduction. He also protested against the nen-drilling of the artillery service this year. Sir Richard Cartwright preferred a smaller force treated with greater lib-erality than a larger force inefficiently maintained. In the course of the discussion the Minister promised a full explanation, and invited full discussion or the militia policy on the main esti-

NOTES. An "in memoriam" wreath was placed on the desk of the late Sir John A. Macdonald in the House today, this being the fourth anniversary of his death. A large vase filled with roses adorned the table in the center of the House.

In the absence of Mr. Foster the duty of leading the House seemed to devolve upon Sir Hibbert Tupper.

Ottawa, June 7.—At the last state ball at Rideau Hall the quadrille of honor was led off by his Excellency and Lady Caron and her Excellency and Lieut .-Gov. Mackintosh. Her Excellency was attired in a superb costume of white sh poplin, trimmed with gold emidery of a pattern taken from the old eltic Book of Kells. She wore a tiara of diamonds and a number of beautiful emeralds and pearls, and rare gold ornaments of an old Celtic pattern. The ball concluded with a Scotch reel, led off by Mr. W. C. SHORTAGE IN WHEAT

In St. Louis-It May Go Out of Reach.

St. Louis. Mo., June 7.-The visible supply of wheat in this city continues to decline and the receipts are alarmingly light. The question is just what day the announcement will be made that there is no wheat to deliver. When this comes, with the outstanding contracts, wheat is expected to go out of reach. Meantime the affairs of the United Elevator Company are in a muddled condition. At a meeting of the directors yesterday it was discovered that there was a shortage of cash and wheat footing up $315,000. The company is solvent, and has been offered support by the Union Trust Company. It is supposed the brokers are getting impatient. One question that vexes them is whether the shortage is in No. 2 wheat, the great commercial commodity. If the shortage is in that grade, there are only 15,000 bushels of No. 2 wheat in St. Louis, and the brokers are wondering how July contracts can be filled. Even if this shortage is to be deducted from the total stock, which means Nos. 1, 3 and 4 wheat, there are only 189,000 bushels of wheat in St. Louis.

GONE UP IN SMOKE.

Burford, Ont., May 6.—Last night the tailor shop occupied by Mr. Slater and the bake shop and residence of W. Clement, in this village, were burned. The residents, by earnest work, succeeded in saving Mr. D. Hamilton's residence and the contents of Mr. Clement's house. Mr. Slater's stock and furniture was destroyed. Total loss $1,500.

CHARGED WITH MURDER. Toronto, June 6. - This afternoon Magistrate Denison sent Frank Smith and Wm. Broom for trial on the charge of murdering Mary Atkins. During the inquiry Policeman Umbach said that when he caught Smith the latter told him Broom was his companion. Smith said they thought the woman had a bottle of liquor, and they accosted her, but did not assault her. Sergt. Robinson positively identified Broom as the man who ran away. Medical evidence was taken as at the inquest.

The conference of ministerial and lay delegates began its sessions at 9 a.m. Rev. W. W. Shepherd conducted the usual conference prayer meeting, which continued one hour.

At 10 a.m. the chair was taken by Rev. Dr. Carman, general superintendent, who delivered an eloquent and inspiring address. The roll was called, when 134 ministers and 45 lay delegates answered to their names. The conference then proceeded to the election of its officers. The following is the result of the contest for the presidency:

After the usual devotional exercises, the minutes of the morning session were read and adopted. The election of secretary was then entered upon, resulting in the choice of Rev. R. J. Treleaven on the first ballot. The newly-elected secretary then briefly addressed the conference in a suitable manner. On the nomination of the secretary, Revs. C. Smith and G. H. Salton, Ph.B., were appointed assistant secretaries, and Rev. R. D. Hamilton journal sec-

Street Ralway Shareholders Ratify the Electric Agreement,

And President Everett Affixes His Signature-Increase in Capital Stock.

A meeting of the shareholders of the London Street Railway Company was held in the office of the company's solicitors in this city at half-past five o'clock yesterday afternoon. There were present Messrs. H. A. Everett, Cleveland (president): E. W. Moore, Cleveland (vice-president); S. R. Break, Detroit; T. H. Smallman, Wm. Bowman, C. B. Hunt and D. B. Dewar, city; Manager Charles E. A. Carr, and Charles Currie (cashier).

The meeting was called for the purpose of sanctioning or ratifying the agreement recently passed by the City Council as a basis for the construction of an electric road in London, and from London to Springbank. As was expected, there was no hitch, the agreement was satisfactory, and by a unanimous vote the president affix his signature to the bylaw. This was done, and the agreement is, therefore, binding on both parties.

The only other business was the proposal to increase the capital stock of the company by $250,000. This also was concurred in. The present stockholders will have the preferment in the minister, was also introduced and gave matter of purchasing the new stock until Aug. 1. Then, if there is any left. the shareholders may dispose of it to whom they think fit.

The fact that the company is prohibited by the agreement from using "T" rails in the city may be the cause of serious delay in the electrifying of the city streets. The agreement calls for groove girder rails in the city.

"And these cannot be had for love or money," Mr. S. R. Break told the "Advertiser" last night. "We cannot place our orders with the American mills, because they have more work to do now than they can possibly turn out. The rails will have to be ordered from England, and that will cause some delay. "Will you have any of the city elecrified by Fair time?" "We will try hard to have Dundas street finished by that time. It may be possible that we may find a supply of groove rails in stock somewhere in Canada. The line to Springbank will be commenced on Monday, as 'T' rails may be used there, and they are easy to get."

Mr. Break stated further that the Springbank line would probably be in operation by the first week in July; also that the work on the power house and car barns would be commenced at once. Messrs. Everett and Moore went to Toronto this morning, and Mr. Break went back to Detroit.

Made Money Handling Opium.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON. John Grant, the alleged purloiner of the $5,000 express package from the Parkhill office, went into the witness box this afternoon in his own defense. To his counsel, Mr. E. Meredith, he gave his version of how he came into possession of the money. Grant claimed that he was in the vicinity of the station the day the money arrived. He strolled down a few minutes afterwards and picked up the parcel, which was lying in the mud about eighteen inches from the end of the platform. He afterwards took it to his hotel and placed it in a closet. Two or three times he thought of going to the bank. but didn't. Grant admitted being on a protracted spree. He denied being at the station on the Thursday night when

The prisoner was given a most severe overhauling by the Crown Attorney, Mr. Magee. After questioning him about his discharge from the Grand Trunk in November—or October—last, Mr. Magee questioned Grant about the money he had at the time. Grant had a few dollars then, but afterwards received his superannuation money, from which was deducted $25 he owed the company. Then he made about $60.

Grant (to Mr. Meredith)-Have I got to answer that?
"Well," said Grant, hesitatingly, "I bought goods in Toronto for a man,

The next thing to transpire was the fact that Grant had once been a collector at Point Edward, and that his sureties were called upon to make up the shortage. During a portion of his idleness Grant had not been living with his wife, and had sent her about $20 from Toronto. This left Grant with some $90 to live on for several months, to pay board, buy drinks and square up an old board bill of $25. As to the package, Grant claimed to have found it lying on the ground about eighteen inches west of the station platform. He was within a block of the station, and saw the train pull out, and walked around to where he picked the money up. The address was obliterated by the mud and water in the minute or two it had lain there, as he supposed. Grant could package was sealed or not. It was not done up like an ordinary money parcel, and it felt as if it contained cloth. He returned to the hotel immediately after the find, and in the sitting room mentioned the occurrence to a man; he did not know who he was. It took Grant some time to make up his mind what to do with the money. He finally filled his pockets and then began to wonder who would be the proper person to hand it to. He resolved to take it to the Bank of Com-

box, and the addresses to the jury were

The grand jury returned a true bill against John Dykes, of Yarmouth, charged with false pretenses. FRIDAY MORNING. At 10 o'clock this morning Mr. Meredith began an hour and twenty minute address to the jury on behalf of John Grant, the alleged Parkhill thief. Mr. James Magee followed, and for the crown made an able review of all the facts adduced in the evidence. He paid attention to Grant's story, how he came into possession of the money. Judge Elliot's review was brief. After the jury retired the court adjourned for an hour.

Long-Kept-Secret Figures for This City-Almost Everybody in Sight Returned as a Manufacturer - Over 350 "Factories" in Which There Is Only a Solitary Person-Some Manufacturers Have No Names!-A Remarkable Revelation.

 From Our Representative at the Capital.)

Hon. David Mills moved in the House of of the 804 manufacturers of London, referred to in the census of 1891, the industries in which they are engaged, and the number of hands employed. Why it was thus kept back will be made self-evident to anyone who takes the trouble to analyze the statements made. It will be seen that in over 350 of the so-called factories, a solitary man, woman, boy or girl is the sole manufacturer, while industries are counted with "no name" placed opposite them. Headaches, Dizzy Spells and faintness have been my afflictions for 22 years. Often I would fall in a sudden faint and several times narrowly escaped being burnt on the stove. No medicine gave me more than a few days relief, and I laughed when a friend urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. But I took it and in six months I was free from all headache trouble, faintness or dizziness. I am new perfectly well. I cannot say too much in praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is worth its weight in gold to me. Mrs. R. H. Hanes, Paris, Ont.

THE EASTERN LEAGUE'S MONEY

IS UP. Buffalo N. Y., June 6 .- Regarding the payment to the National League, President Powers of the Eastern League telegraphs as follows: "The check was mailed to President Young Tuesday. I was waiting for the National board meeting, which was expected to have been held last Monday, and which is to be held in New York next Monday. Every club except Syracuse had mailed its check for protection before my going on the trip, and Syracuse's check was received on my return. President Young knew the situation perfectly, and I do not expect any trouble over the matter."

THE WHEEL. We must repeat it once more that the bicycler, man or woman, who doubles up the body while riding deforms the human shape, presents a most ungraceful appearance, invites spinal disease, and loses a great part of the benefit that would otherwise accrue from the exercise. We don't know why the doubling up habit is so widely prevalent, or why men make an exhibition of it more frequently than women. It is not necessary. Many a rider looks as though he were a hunchback or wheels. -New York Sun.

THE MANCHESTER CUP.

Manchester June 7 .- Great interest was manifested in the great handicap for the Manchester cup of 2,000 sove reigns today, and a large crowd was on the scene at an early hour this morning. The weather was bright and clear and the course was in perfect condition. Bushy Park was the favorite with the people of Manchester and vicinity, Mr. J. H. Houldsworth being a local land owner, and a very popular one, too. Florizelle won. The Prince of Wales' Greenlawn was second, and The Docker third.

The Prince of Wales owns the brown colt Florizel II., the winner. He is 4 years old, by St. Simon, out of Per-

THE PACING KING.

Robert J. is a neat, compactly built bay gelding, standing fifteen hands high and weighing 850 pounds. He has an exceedingly intelligent head, very broad between the eyes, and his eyes are the perfection of gentleness. John Eassley, his good-natured colored groom, a term which might be interpreted to mean a valet and waiter combined, is completely in love with him, and the horse is as fond of him as he is of the horse. He has his little cot in the stall and for the last three years has slept with him every night. Robert J. is an exceedingly hearty feeder. He is also an early riser, and is as fastidithat has been played on the military ous as to the regularity of his toilet and grounds took place last evening be- his breakfast as the biggest swell of tween E. Leonard & Son's and No. 1 clubdom. If, in the early morning, the groom does not awake, Robert J. bethe soldiers winning by a score of 11 to gins to "nose" around the cot in a very gentle manner. If no notice is taken he becomes more marked in his movements and finally, if the groom persists in sleeping, he gently but firmly seizes the coverlids of the cot with his teeth and pulls them off. Resistance is useless then, and the groom at once rises and attends to the duties of his office.

Ed. Geers, who drives Robert J., 16 also a unique character. He is known as the silent man from Tennessee. He is a man who bears an enviable record for honesty, ability and abstemiousness and his only vice is an exceedingly mild one, that of chewing gum. Strange to say, although he has a magnificent stable at his disposal, his favorite amusement when not attending to his horses, is to ride on a bicycle; in fact, he uses this mode of locomotion to keep down his weight; and a favorite joke on him a country road in the neighborhood of Buffalo and finds himself overtaken by one of the crack riders of that city, he softly clucks to himself as if he were addressing one of his favorite steeds and then unconsciously puts on an extra spurt and probably beats the crack who has just passed him. Geers receives a salary of $5,000 a year from the Village Farm for driving, and he is richly worthy of it .- "Trotting and Pacing Champions."-Outing for June. LAWN TENNIS.

R., last night was a very enjoyable and successful affair, and the attendance was large. The promenade concert tomorrow will be at 8 p. m., instead of three, as previously announced.

-The residence of Mr. Joseph Baker, of Littlewood, Westminster township, was the scene of a brilliant and pleasant gathering on Wednesday evening, when his second daughter, Mary, was united in holy matrimony to Mr. Lewis R. Mill, only son of Mr. John Mill, of Westminster. At 7:30 p.m. the bride entered the parlor, leaning on the arm of her father, being beautifully attired in a dress of cream cashmere and lace, and carrying cream roses. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. J. Garbutt in the presence of 75 invited guests, composed only of the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. Congratulations followed, after which all sat down to an excellent wedding dejeuner. The presents were numerous, handsome and costly, and testified to the high esteem in which the bride is held. Friends were present from Chicago, London, St. Thomas, Exeter, Fingal, Culloden, Talbotville, Lambeth and Norwich. The happy couple left on a trip east, and on their return will take up their residence on their farm near Lambeth. Their many friends join in wishing them bon voy-

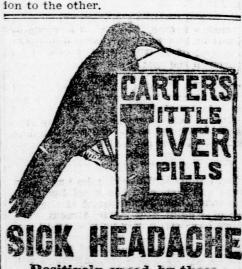

PIONEERING BY A LONDONER. The Winnipeg correspondent of the Christian Guardian thus refers to popular young Londoner: "Rev. C. B. Keenleyside, of London, Ont., spent a few days in Winnipeg recently on his way westward, and was greeted by numerous friends who knew him here some years ago. He was then engaged in newspaper work: but he vielded to a call into the Christian life, and subsequently into the ministry. Then he went to Ontario, and proceeded to the university degree of B. A. afterwards taking the B. D. course at Yale. During his absence from this city he also taught for some time in the Hamilton Ladies' College. His arrival at Edmonton has been reported; from there he goes to take charge of the Sturgeon River mission. His health having become somewhat impaired, he takes pioneer life in the Northwest for a time as a means of receiving physical benefit and at the same time doing some spiritual good."

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

Detroit Men Dumping Garbage in Canadian Water-The Crews Arrested.

Amherstburg, Ont., June 7.-Last midnight Capt. Dunn, of the Government steamer Petrel, manned the small yacht Ranger, and with ten of his men well armed, proceeded to look out for garbage boats. He was soon rewarded by seeing the tug Grace E. Ruelle and her dump scow steaming down and dumping in Canadian waters. Capt. Dunn kept his eye on his prey until they got behind Bois Blanc Island, in American waters, still dumping. The captain had no lights on his yacht, and consequently was able to get the tug with her scow before he was noticed. On seeing the little craft the dumpers made a desperate attempt to get through the Canadian channel and out into Lake Erie, but Capt. Dunn suspected they would make this attempt, and as soon as they got into the Canadian waters he made after them and demanded the captain of the tug to stop. He declined, whereupon Capt. Dunn or dered his men to fire, which they did. This had the desired effect.

Capt. Dunn got aboard of the tug Ruelle and placed his men in charge and brought the outfit and crew to Amherstburg. The crew of both boats were immediately locked up and their outfits placed in charge of the officers of the Petrel. The people here are greatly excited, and demand that the severest penalty be given the parties arrested, but would rather have the owners, who are residents of Detroit, than the unfortunate crews.

ITS VALUE PROVED. Op nions Expressed in Quebec With Regard to the New Specific.

Quebec, June 3.-There has been considerable discussion in this city, both among the members of the medical fraternity and private citizens, with regard to the numerous undisputed cures from various diseases of the kidnevs through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The matter has been not only discussed privately among the friends and acquaintances of those who have received benefits from the use of the remedy named, but has been chronicled in the public press. The general consensus of opinion is that the medicine has undergone a thorough test, and has proved itself fully deserving of the great praise which has been bestowed LAMBTON FISHERMEN DROWNED St. Clair, Mich., June 7.-William and Narose Countawauf, who live across the river from this place, left home Tuesday to ply their fishing avocation in Lake St. Clair. They have not been heard from since, and as a severe storm suddenly lashed the river that afternoon it is probable that both were drowned. William leaves a widow and three children.

Special to C. E. Turner, broker, Masonic Temple, from Kennett,

Hopkins Company. Chicago, June 6 .- The market has been one of the strongest of the year. It did not rush up suddenly, but fought its way against persistent attempts to break its back, and closed near the top with strong indications of going higher. No important news was received until near the close, the early impetus coming mainly from worried shorts. The daily trade bulletin received during the session a specal cable from the Liverpool Corn Trade News, reporting the prospect of a decrease of 200,000,000 bushels in the European rye crop, compared with last year. A little later the State weather crop report from California came in, saying that wheat had been badly hurt by hot winds, which were still blowing in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys. As the wheat is under-English country markets steady; corn off stood to be in the milk, hot winds will scon cook it. Reports from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, and Michigan were plentiful and bad. The condition of the crop is evidently growing worse daily. The Baltimore and New York report increased the inquiry for exports. Canadian millers are trying to buy wheat in Detroit, but that market has none to spare except as it is supplied from Chicago. Millers east, west, north and south come here for wheat because they cannot get it elsewhere, and with crop conditions growing werse their demands will naturally become more ur-

> Corn and Oats-The reported condition of 64 for oats in Ohio was a revolution to most people in the trade. They had not supposed the damage to have been nearly so much, and it indicates a shorter orop than the trade has been counting on. An Indiana farmer on change today said they would not raise half a crop in his State. The traveling man of a receiving house, who has been through Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri, wires that he does not look for mere than half a crop from ether of those States. The plant was hurt in Nebraska by drought, and it is said that rains since will not restore it to its early promising condition. The same is true in Kansas, and only in Iowa and the Northwest are the prospects fine. Corn is likewise suffering from drought, and both grains are feeling the ffect of these reports respectively. The outlook at present is for higher prices. Provisions took on a little strength frem other markets, but show no inherent strength, and there is little to encourage one to invest in them.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

FRIDAY MORNING. The Middlesex County Council spent almost the whole of this morning's session in discussing the report presented by a special committee on the street railway company's applications to cross Kensington and Oxford street bridges. It recommended that permission be granted to cross Rensington bridge, and stipulated the manner in which the addition was to be constructed. Other conditions were. 1. The company to remove the frame house east of the bridge at least 22 feet northerly and the sidewalk on the north side of Dundas street to be straighten-

2. The company to erect and maintain on the north side of Dundas street, north of the sidewalk, a strong railing as directed by the engineer, from the bridge easterly, as far as the commissiener deems it necessary. 6. The company to make the roadway incemdiately west of the bridge for 150 feet as wide as the roadway will per-

4. The company to become responsitle for any damage that may arise by reason of the changes or crossing of the bridge, and to save the county 5. The company not to run cars over the bridge at a greater speed than four miles an hour. 6. The company to stand all loss sustained by flood. With reference to the crossing of Oxford street bridge, the committee recommended that the application of the company be filed. The report was given a good airing, and Mr. Hellmuth, for the street railway company, made another offer, which he had no doubt would be favorably received. It was for the company to run their tracks on Dundas street proper to where Lancaster's boat house stands, and build an independent bridge from there, connecting with London West immediately south of the present structure. The offer will come before the special committee.

FASHIONABLE TAILORS,

384 Richmond St.

It was only about four in the afternoon when the two visitors arrived at the house which Mr. and Mrs. Hannington had occupied for the last two months. Mr. Hannington, they were told, was up and dressed; he was in the little drawing-room, which opened out of a large apartment. In the larger room Lady Val begged Charlie to stay, while she, with apparently undaunted courage, knocked at the inner door, opened it, and walked in, shutting it behind her. She would never have acknowledged how fast her heart beat, or how she felt for a moment or two as if she were walking straight into a lion's

The lamps were not lighted, but the red glow of the fire fell full upon the figure in the arm chair, which had been dragged forward on the hearth rug. John Hannington lay rather than sat in its capacious embrace; he was wrapped in a great fur overcoat as if he felt the cold, and he seemed to be half asleep. Lady Val's quick eye noted immediately that on a little table beside him stood a tray containing a halfemptied bottle of brandy, a glass, and one or two smaller bottles. For a minuute or two she stood looking at him while he slumbered, or seemed to slumber, unconscious of her presence. A harder expression came into her face as she gazed.

"Mr. Hannington," she said at length, in a peculiarly clear and penetrating voice; "I have come for a little talk with you, if you can give me a few

He stirred uneasily and opened his "Val!" he said, hoarsely, at last. He looked up at her for some seconds, with a dazed expression in his face. Then he suddenly uttered a groan and dropped his head upon his breast. The look, the action, made Lady Valencia turn very pale.

"Are you ill, Jack?" she asked, laying her hand on his arm. "I have been ill; yes, I am ill now." "Shall I go away?

There was a little silence. "Why have you come?" he muttered. "To see whether I could help you. You are ill and in trouble, and I am your friend, Jack, and want to help you if

The words seemed to rouse him. He raised himself into a sitting posture, rested his elbows on his knees, and began passing his hands up and down his forehead as if trying to banish some strange haziness of thought. Lady Val took away her hand and watched him keenly. What would he do next?

She was hardly prepared for the next action. He lifted his face again, looked towards the litle table, and stretched out his hand for the brandy. Quick as thought, her fingers alighted on the bottle first. "No, Jack," she said, keeping a firm hold upon it, "not that. You are killing yourself."

"And why should I not?" he asked, fiercely. The light had come back into his sullen eyes. "Are you ready to die?" she said. And then she removed the little table to some distance, and stood between it and his chair. There was again a short silence, during which it was evident that Hannington was endeavoring to recollect himself and to recover his scattered senses. It was only Lady Val's presence that could have caused him to make so great an effort over his inclinations. He roused himself more and more, and finally he uttered a short, vague laugh and staggered to his

"I have been dreaming, I think, he said. "I don't quite know what I'm doing. No, it is not brandy, as you think, Lady Valencia. And it is not 'What it it, then?"

"Opium. Give me a glass of cold water, if you have one there. I shall be better directly."

She did as she was requested. He drank it off, pressed his hands to his head once more, and then turned up-on her with a new look in his eyes. She saw at once that she was sullen, irritable, perhaps even ashamed; but he was perfectly sober, and he was sane.

"I do not know to what I am indebted for this visit," he said, in a hard and slightly sneering tone. slightly sneering tone. "My wife is not at home, as probably you are

since the night when you turned her gisth as none in stock, get him to proout of doors into the street.'

He turned aside as if stung. "You know well enough that I never meant her to go," he said, sullenly. "I called her back directly-I was mad with rage

"And drink," said Lady Val, in her clear, concise way. "Well," he said, doggedly, "if you like to have it so, you may. Drink. Who drove me to that, I should like to "No one drove you to it, she said," facing him courageously. "You drifted into these habits through your own folly and weakness; and now you have disgraced yourself—ruined yourself—broken your wife's heart, and made your friends-your best friends-despair "Then," said Hannington, with a short, hard laugh, "I had better put an end to it all as soon as possible. Will the brandy bottle do it quickly enough? Perhaps a pistol would suit you better? It will end in the one way or the other,

"No, it won,'t" said Lady Val. "You * have behaved disgracefully, Jack; there is no doubt about that. But you are not going to behave in that way any more. I defy you to look me in the face and tell me that you are going to make me ashamed of you for the rest of my life. I have a claim on you as well as Molly. And if Molly and I cannot plead sufficiently with you, there is another claimant, Jack—one that I think you

> "What do you mean?" he said, in a lowered voice. He had looked her full in the face at the beginning of her sentences, but towards their close his eyes fell. He half turned away as he asked the question. "Oh, Jack, don't you know?" said

Lady Valencia, softly.

"Not in the least." "Not that you have a little daughter? and that for her sake, as well as ours, you must be good?" It was the simplest possible appeal, and yet it was curiously effective. Hannington looked at her again for a mo-ment, and then suddenly sat down as if his strength had given way, and covered his face with his hands. In the silence that followed Lady Val heard

CHAPTER XXXII.

"I never knew," he said, without looking up, when the silence had lasted for

"I thought you did not," said Lady Valencia. "You always knew me best, Val," he murmured, with his face still hidden in his hands.

But to this she made no answer. Presently, however, he let his hands fall from his face, sat up and laughed aloud. The laughter made Lady Val stir uneasily, until she saw that in spite of his laughter, his face looked strained and pale, and that his eyes were duly with suffering.

"What difference does it make?" he said. "I have been proved a sort of brute to the whole world already; and this only makes matters worse. I shall never see the child-or its mother. Moncrieff will take care of that. I shall go on in the way in which I have begun.

"No, Jack, you won't." (To be Continued.)

See a woman once rosy and bright, fair and beautiful, light of heart, quick of step, dulcet in tones, the very light and life of the house, and you see a picture that might be called a bit of Paradise. Donnoha, Forsyth Co., N. C. Dr. R. V. Pierce: Dear Sir,-For some six or seven years my wife had been an invalid. Becoming convinced that it was her only hope, we bought six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and "Golden Medical Discovery." To the surprise of the community and joy of myself and family, in one week my wife commenced to improve, and long before she had taken the last bottle she was able to do her own work (she had not been able to do it before for seven years), and when she had taken the last of the medicine she was soundly cured.
