CANUCKS PLAYED PART OF HEROES IN STANDING

Single Figures Here and There Refused to East

| By Special Wire to the Courier. | London June 12 — A despatch to awaiting formal notification that he had been chosen to lead the Republican says:

| Washington, June 12—Charles E. Hughes after six years spent in seclusion from politics, to-day jumped into his presidential campaign. Without awaiting formal notification that he had been chosen to lead the Republican national ticket he arranged to go to to Obey the Order to Retire, but Got Over the Broken Parapets and Rushed Forward to Meet the Enemy.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

LONDON, June 12 .- (New York Times cable) .- The correspondent of the Daily Chronicle with the British armies in the field, describing the attack on the Canadian front of the Ypres salient on June 2, gives many instances of Canadian heroism under the terrific German onslaught. He says:

"Although the order for retirement had been given, single figures here and there were seen to get over the broken parapets and go forward to meet the enemy halfway. They died to a man

FOUGHT TO THE END

"The officer in command of one of the support companies brought several men out of a trench, but did not follow on. He turned again, facing the enemy, and was last seen as he fired a revolver and then flung it into a German's face.

"Near the place called Cumberland dugout was a small square between the trenches, and here Colonel Shaw, commanding a battalion of Canadian rfilemen, collected a small party of men and made a last stand against the enemy, who had worked round through a gap in the rear and advanced upon him. They fought it out there, each man with any weapon that remained to him-a bomb, bayoner, revolver, or trench spade. The Canadiana called to the Germans daring them to come on. There were fierce shouts, louder than the cries of the wounded and the last groans of the men who fell. The Germans were kept at bay some time, but flung their bombs into the square.

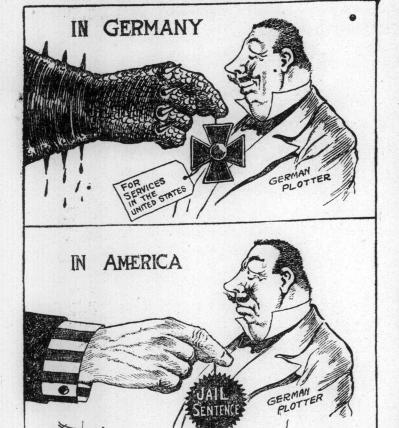

FIERCELY CONTEMPTUOUS OF ENEMY

"Very few remained alive, and when only eight were still fighting among the bodies of their comrades, these tattered and blood-splashed men, standing there fiercely contemptuous of the enemy and death, were ordered to retire by the last officer

"There were many acts of self-sacrifice done by the Canadian lads. I heard of one young private soldier from Kamsac, Saskatchewan. He had been crouching behind a shelter of some sandbags with one of his officers and an N.C.O. and the man who was his best friend. All three men were wounded, and this young soldier from Kamsac had bandaged them, but his comrade was most badly wounded, and when the shell fire lifted and there was a chance of escape it was utterly impossible to move him. The young soldier said, 'You go' to the other wounded men who were just able to walk, and then he sat down again by his comrade's side and said, 'I'm staying.' So he stayed with

Tried to Slip Loose Commerce Raiders in The Great Sea Fight

Proably Intention of the Germans in Venturing Out to Sea to Let Commerce Destroyers Slip Past British Grand Fleet During the Action.

London, June 12.—(New York Times cable)—A dispatch to The Times from Amsterdam says:

"The very interesting fact has just come to light as to the German admiralty's intentions in connection with the naval battle on May 31. A large number of very fast commerce destroyers were convoyed by the German battle fleet on the night preceding the battle, the intention being to evade the British grand fleet during the fighting, which was probably not intended to amount to a general engagement.

"The Germans wished to give the commerce raiders an opportunity to repeat the exploits of the Emden and the Moewe. In this there is every reason to believe that they badly failed, and that few if any of the ships destined for that purpose returned to port."

Bridgehead at Zalesczyky on the River Dneister, 30 Miles Northwest, Attacked - Austrians Reported Routed by Czar's Troops.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

PETROGRAD, June 12.—(via London, 4.27 p.m.).—Russian troops yesterday approached the outskirts of Czernowitz, the capital of Bukowina, the war office announced to-day.

The statement also says that Russian troops attacked the bridgehead Zalesczyky.

Czernowitz, the objective of the Russian drive on this part of the front, was in possession of the Russians for some time early in the war, but they were compelled to evacuate the city during the progress of the Austro-German offensive.

Zalesczyky is on the River Dneister, 30 miles northwest of Czernowitz. It was in this region that some of the heaviest fighting of the Russian offensive last spring occurred.

SMALL REVERSE, SAYS BERLIN

BERLIN, June 12 .- (via London) .- Russian troops attempted to advance northeast of Buczacz, Galicia, and were repulsed, the war office announced to-day. More than 1,300 Russians were captured. The statement follows:

"Eastern front: German and Austro-Hungarian troops belonging to the army of General Von Bothmer repulsed Russian detachments which were advancing northeast of Buczacz, on the Stripa. More than 1,300 Russians remained in our hands. Otherwise the situation of the German troops is unchanged."

AUSTRIANS ROUTED

NEW YORK, June 12.-A news agency despatch from London to-day says:

The complete rout of the Austrian armies near Czernowitz was announced here to-day by the Russian embassy.

Two entire divisions, with all their generals, artillery and ammunition, were captured. The Russians are in full pursuit, the Cossacks over-running the territory at the rear of the fleeing

The Situation.

The continued good news from the front with reference to the Russian invasion of Austria reads almost like the "Arabian Nights." The entire enemy front has been smashed to a very great depth, town after town has fallen, and the toll of prisoners has passed the one hundred thousand mark, not to mention a vast number of guns and stores of ammunition. The troops of the Czar are operating upon a great front of over two hundred and fifty miles, and they are evidently well equipped, even to the point of tremendous artillery. Their advance is manifestly proving to be irresistible, and the sustained operations are upon a promise all members of the party fair treatment and just consideration. No scale whose magnitude can be scarce-individual or group of individuals, and ly comprehended. Late reports show no private interests will be permitted that there does not seem to be any sign of a let-up in this wonderful offensive, which for scope and magnitude has hed no previous parallel in tude has had no previous parallel in matters reversed. This was because of the lack of equipment, for men they possess by the myriad. Now they are evidently "spurred and booted" to the most complete extent, and neither are evidently "spurred and booted" to the most complete extent, and neither Germany nor Austria can spare disqualification for public office. City Clerk Leonard Gets Outside Legal Opinion on Poll Tax Matter.

In connection with the debate over the payment of income tax and poll tax City Clerk H. F. Leonard wrote recently to a legal authority on the subject, as follows: In 1915, a number of residents of this city, who had not been otherwise accorded bad number of residents of this city, who had not been otherwise assessed, had their names placed upon the assessment roll for an income assessment of $400 each, and they made the declaration required by Section 8 of the assessment act. This was done to have their names placed on the voters' list to enable them to vote at the January municipal elections for 1916. It rendered them liable to pay in-January municipal elections for 1910. It rendered them liable to pay income tax of $400, which will be collected this year. But they decline to be assessed this year, and consequently their names are not on the assessment roll. They are assessed assessment roll. They are assessed this year, however, for a poll tax which the city by-law fixes at $5 each. They now object to paying the poll tax, because they are required to pay the income tax for last year's assessment. Is the objection valid?

Ans.—The persons who voluntarily requested the assessor in 1915 to have their names placed on the assessment roll for same leftect, every male inhabitant of a city has passed an amended by-law pursuant to the 1916 amendment of the Statute Labor Act, all the parties and not otherwise exempted by law from have apparently been legally taxed for to vote at municipal elections, and who severally made the affidavit required by section 8 of the Assessment Act, cannot object to paying the income tax on $400. Having in 1916 declined to repeat the process, consequently their names are not on the constant of the seven process. The constant of the same shall be collected in the same manner as ordinary municipal taxes. R. S. O., Chap. 195, Section 4, as amended by the Council, and the same shall be collected.

Among the fine examples of devotion to duty which are constantly being brought to light, appears the action of Thomas Johnston, a Belgian soldier. He fought with the actions of the soldier. alion, receiving nine wounds, eight of them from bullets and the other from a bayonet. He has now made application to Sergt. Chas. Pogue of the 173rd battalion at Hamilton for enlistment with that unit. He was requested to appear for examination and if found to be fit will be signed up with the 173rd battalion. Johnston is twenty-eight years of age and resides at 18 Britannia avenue. The "Mad Fourth" battalion contains a large number of local men and officers, and bears a most enviable reputation as one of the finest units which has ever reached the front.

Mr. W. G. Raymond Delivered Inspiring Address Last Night.

SERVICE HELD IN GRACE CHURCH

The Dead Soldier Leaves Behind Him Example for the Nation.

Of the most solemn and impressive nature was the memorial service conducted last evening in Grace Church, in memory of Lord Kitchener and of the honored dead of the empire. The honored dead of the empire. The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Mackenzie, who led the congregation in prayers for all concerned on our behalf in the war, assisted by Rev. C. Paterson-Smythe, while Mr. W. G. Raymond delivered an address of such power and eloquence as to thrill every listener with a realization of the class of First Baptist church Sunday school at her home on Dufferin Ave. loss sustained by the empire in the untimely death of Earl Kitchener, Besides members of the Philathea and perhaps in no less measure by class there were several members of the deaths of the gallant sailors and the deaths of the gallant sailors and soldiers who have made the supreme sacrifice during the past few days.
