Russian Army in North Marches on Petrograd

Maximalist Triumph May be But Temporary, The Hope Cherished in Britain

Petrograd, Nov. 9.—The Congress of Soldiers' and Workmen's Delegates to-day appealed to the Russian army and to protect the revolution against imperialist attempts until the new Government had obtained a democratic peace.

Amsterdam, Nov. 9.—The Rhenische Westfälische Zeitung of Essen, Germany, publishes a Stockholm telegram saying that Premier Kerensky has been arrested.

London, Nov. 9.—A telegram reaching Amsterdam from a German source and forwarded by the Central News says the Russian army on the northern front has joined the Maximalists and is marching on Petrograd.

Petrograd is under control of the Maximalists, while Premier Kerensky has fled the Russian capital. The downfall of the provisional government's authority in Petrograd at least seems suddenly and without

WILL IT PAY? YES!

By Courier Leased Wire.

Copenhagen, Nov. 9.—Captain Persius, naval expert of the Berliner Tageblatt, notes a growing impatience among Germans with the results of the submarine campaign registered in a swelling flood of letters demanding an answer to the question "When shall we have England beaten?" He throws cold water on the optimists and warns them against accepting as reliable figures on destroyed tonnage, including those apparently German, and other statistical material.

Captain Persius says that with the 1917 harvest and the imports of grain, the food problem can scarcely become a motive, for the next six months at least, to make Great Britain inclined to conclude peace. He holds that the submarine question for the British will be not "can we continue the war" but "will it pay."

great bloodshed and several ministers of Kerensky's cabinet are in prison.

Unofficial opinion in allied capitals seems to be that the Maximalist attempt to guide the destinies of trouble-torn Russia will be short lived. Civil war with the more conservative elements of Russia opposed to the extremists of Petrograd is not unlooked for, and in some quarters it is thought that even now Kerensky at the head of loyal troops may be marching against the Bolsheviki.

LENINE IN LEAD.

News despatches received from Petrograd are subject to the censorship of the Maximalists and probably portray only one side of the situation, but the present outbreak of the Rade's appears to have been more successful than the abortive effort of last July. Nikolai Lenine, who fled Petrograd after the July failure, is again leading the Maximalists, who were aided by most of the Petrograd garrison and sailors from the Baltic fleet.

The action of Maximalists has been endorsed by the All-Russian Congress of Workmen's and Soldiers' Councils. A proclamation has been issued by the revolutionary government, declaring that it purposes to negotiate "immediate democratic peace." It also plans to turn over all the land to the peasantry and to summon the Constituent Assembly.

Little serious fighting attended the revolt, the most important being the bombardment of the Winter Palace, the seat of the provisional government, by the Workshop Army, the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul. The palace held out

IN GERMANY, TOO.

By Courier Leased Wire.

Copenhagen, Nov. 9.—Admiral von Tirpitz, former minister of marine, has been asked by a committee of the Conservative party to stand for election to the Reichstag in the vacant Saxon district of Bautzen-Kamena. The Vorwaerts says that the parties of the Left will regard such a candidacy as a provocation. It says they undoubtedly will contest the election if von Tirpitz despite the political truce agreed upon at the outset of the war blinding the various parties not to oppose a candidate of the party in possession of the seat is vacated by death or otherwise during the war should run.

for four hours, answering the bigger guns of the warship and fortress with machine guns and rifles before its defenders surrendered and subsidized by Germany for the purpose of eliminating Russia from among her enemies, is the virtual unanimous opinion expressed in newspaper editorial comment. A despondent view of the outlook is taken by some commentators, while others claim that the triumph of the Maximalists is probably a passing phase and refuse to believe that they represent Russia or that Russia will agree to a separate peace. KERENSKY IMPOTENT.

The Times partly blames

Korniloff and his Supporters to be Tried Before Military Tribunal in Petrograd

Kerensky's Government for tolerating anarchy and says: "Premier Kerensky himself never showed himself really able to rule the storm and came to say the least, with diminished credit out of the Korniloff episode. For the moment the Allies can sit by and look on at this agony, getting what comfort they can from the reflection that the voice struggling up from it assuredly is not the authentic voice of Russia. That the real Russia will ever consent to a separate peace or acquiesce in all the extravagance of the soviet manifestos, it is impossible to believe."

MADE IN GERMANY.

The Morning Post, under the caption "Revolution made in Germany" says: "Whether the revolution will succeed remains to be seen. There is still a core of good faith and loyalty in Russia. The Russian people have a great tradition of national honor which, if they have the choice, they will never choose to break. Obviously they can never recognize a Russian Government whose first proposal is a separate peace and can have no dealings with it. It remains only for the allied nations

HUNS TRUST SUBS

By Courier Leased Wire.

Amsterdam, Nov. 9.—The German Admiralty has issued a lengthy statement in reply to the speech made recently in the House of Commons by Sir Eric Geddes, first lord of the Admiralty. In reference to the losses of British ships, the German statement asks why Sir Eric omitted sinkings in the Mediterranean and contends that allowing for this omission and for the assumable fact that Sir Eric gave net tonnage while Germany gives gross tonnage, the British and German figures correspond.

The statement says: "With occasional fluctuations which are inevitable in connection with this new method of warfare, the submarine war goes unwaveringly forward, and becomes more effective every day. Despite all British official attempts at denial, it assuredly will attain the goal aimed at."

tions to reach by some means the heart of the Russian people themselves and the elements of Russia which are true to the cause of the allies. This is a task in which the United States and Japan might exercise their new found power of friendly cooperation. France and England also might shape a new Russian policy out of the ruins of the old. The situation needs strength, energy and wisdom."

WE SHOULD WORRY.

The Daily Mail says:

Order For Kerensky's Arrest Issued--Premier Was Unable to Cope With Situation

"Russia's part in the war has been a small one during the last eight months, and it can hardly be said that this coup d'etat makes very much difference to the other allies. A passive defence accomplished nothing in this war.

"Social revolutions move in a fixed orbit and one of the stages through which they pass is that of chaos during which the Robespierres and Lenines hold power. The Robespierres were not French and the Lenines have no right to pose as representatives of Russia."

INSANE SCHEME.

The Daily Telegraph hopes that "as the authors of the coup d'etat are regarded by most of their compatriots as merely architects of ruin and as representing nothing but the worst weaknesses of the new Russia, the consequence of their proceedings will be to draw together the sane and patriotic elements of the nation and array for the purpose of ending the chaos."

It refers to the Maximalist

LAURIER TO LAUNCH HIS CAMPAIGN

Liberal Leader Will Speak in Quebec City Tonight

BIG DEMONSTRATION

Prominent Liberals From All Parts of Province To Attend

Quebec, Nov. 9.—The friends of Sir Wilfrid Laurier prepared to-day to give the Opposition leader one of the greatest demonstrations of sympathy and support of his political career at the great mass meeting which he will open his election campaign in the Martineau rink to-night. Last evening Sir Wilfrid was given a forerunner of the welcome waiting here when a huge crowd filled a railway station upon his arrival from Ottawa and the statesman had to be extricated almost by main force from the hands of his admirers, who gathered around him, cheering and anxious to grip his hand. The crowd was estimated at twenty thousand people and all traffic in the vicinity of the depot was blocked by the people and countless automobiles. Sir Wilfrid after vainly trying to make his way out of the main entrance of the sta-

FRANCO-BRITISH TROOPS ON WAY TO JOIN ITALIANS ON FIRING LINE

Government Representatives of Two Entente Nations Now at Rome, Visited Reinforcements Hurrying to Aid of Gen. Cadorna

Italian Military Zone, Thursday, Nov. 8.—Both British and French troops are going toward the front.

The French and British representatives who have come to Italy held a conference of two hours to-day with King Victor Emmanuel. The military measures called for by the present situation were discussed in active and cordial collaboration. On leaving the king, the party visited French and British troops going toward the front.

In the party are the British Premier David Lloyd George; the French premier, Paul Painleve; the Italian premier, Vittorio Orlando; Lieut.-General Sir William Robertson, chief of the Imperial staff at British army headquarters; Major-General Wilson, sub-chief of the British general staff; Gen. Smuts, formerly the British commander in South Africa; the Italian foreign minister, Baron Sonnino; the French minister of missions abroad; Henry Franklin Bouillon; General Foch, chief of staff of the French war ministry and their staffs.

The Situation.

In Northern Italy the Austro-Germans have forced a crossing of the Livenza River and the Italians are retiring toward the Piave, the last strong natural line before Venice. General Cadorna's troops are making a more spirited resistance to the forward movement of the invaders, especially on the Upper Tagliamento and the Upper Livenza.

The larger units of the Italian army are retiring without molestation from the Austro-Germans, but strong rearguards are giving the Teutons battle at several points. An Italian attempt to hold out on the middle Tagliamento resulted in the force being cut off and 17,000 Italians, including a general being taken by the Austro-Germans, increasing their captures, according to Berlin, to 250,000.

Along the Livenza General Cadorna's soldiers apparently were more successful. The invaders crossed the Livenza only after a vigorous attack and in the region of Vittorio the Italians were able to detain the advance. The Livenza is but a scant ten miles from the Piave, where General Cadorna probably will make a strong stand.

British troops in Asia Minor continue successful operations. In Palestine General Allenby's forces have made another advance towards Jerusalem. In Mesopotamia the British advancing up the Tigris have captured Tekrit, 90 miles northwest of Bagdad.

Foe Advances.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—(British Admiralty per Wireless Press)—The Austro-German forces in northern Italy, warding the resistance of the Italian rearguards, are advancing toward the Piave River, the war office announces.

The communication follows: "The Livenza River has been crossed. The allied (Austro-German) armies overcoming the resistance of the Italian rearguards, are advancing ceaselessly on mountain roads and on the plain in driving snow and pouring rain, toward the Piave."

LONDON LORD MAYOR IS INDUCTED TO-DAY

Procession and Other Ceremonies Followed Out—

London, Nov. 9.—The new lord mayor of London, Charles A. Hanson, was inaugurated to-day with the usual ceremonies which, like all those since the outbreak of the war, were purely military. The procession through the streets was made up of naval and military detachments, including representatives from the Dominions. Scattered throughout the parade were modern war machines, such as tanks and trophies captured from the Germans.

The banquet at Guild Hall this evening against the holding of which newspapers are protesting vigorously. Chancellor Bonar Law will represent the government in the absence of Premier Lloyd George, who has gone to Italy.

PAYER VICE CHANCELLOR

Progressive Leader Reported to Have Succeeded Helfferich

By Courier Leased Wire.

Amsterdam, Nov. 9.—Friedrich von Payer, a Progressive leader, has been designated a German vice-chancellor, according to semi-official word received here from Berlin. It adds that the appointment of Herr Helfferich, the leader of the National Liberals as vice president of the Prussian state ministry is considered probable.

There have been frequent reports during the last few days from London, Copenhagen and Amsterdam as to whether Herr von Payer and Helfferich would be appointed to the vice-chancellorship and vice president respectively. Reports from Amsterdam and Copenhagen Wednesday were to the effect that Herr Helfferich had refused the vice presidency. Earlier it had been reported that Chancellor von Helfferich would not designate anyone for vice-chancellorship, but would leave the office vacant.

GERMANY STRONGER TODAY THAN EVER; STILL HAS FRESH RESERVES

Can Put Into Field Army of Over Million Men Every Year—Successful Air Raids Executed by British

New York, Nov. 9.—America has sent an army of physicians and surgeons to the battlefields of Europe who are capable of leading and teaching in modern methods of war surgery, Sir Berkeley Moynihan, senior consulting surgeon of the British army, told 200 physicians at a dinner given in his honor here last night, by the New York State committee of the Council of National Defense. Sir Berkeley said the Allies look to America to bring the war to an end far more speedily than if they had been left to themselves.

A great duty rests upon American physicians and surgeons, Major

Charles Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., declared in recounting his experience in attending wounded. He urged the medical profession to give more time and thought to war problems.

"Germany is stronger to-day than ever before," Sir Berkeley said. "She says she can put in the field from 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 fresh men every year. She is ruthless and implacable and most efficiently organized. Germany is going strong. She will not be conquered from within, she must be conquered from without."

French Naval Forces Aid British in the Mediterranean

In Palestine the British operations around Gaza and Beersheba have resulted in the entire Turkish Palestine army beginning a retreat toward the north. It is being harassed by airplane bombardment in its retreat and its communications along the coast are under fire from French and British warships. Forty Turkish guns have been captured by the British, whose advance is rapidly bringing them nearer to Jerusalem.

London, Nov. 9.—The entire Turkish army in Palestine is retreating towards the north. British airplanes are following up the retreating Turks and bombing them.

Forty Turkish guns were captured says the British official statement announcing the Ottoman retreat.

British and French naval forces are co-operating against the Turkish communication along the Mediterranean coast.

(From Our Own Correspondent).
Simcoe, Nov. 8.—The event of the day was an unexpected visit from a bird man from Camp Borden, who set out for Toronto about 9 a.m., lost his way in a bank of cloud, and losing his bearings got down over Port Dover. The dock did not look good to him so he came north and alighted on the farm of Wm. Holloway, at Lynn Valley, at the rear of Harry Kent's home, about eleven o'clock. News of his presence spread rapidly and while the strapping big flight cadet was being entertained to dinner in the Kent home, scores came from the

RUSSIAN ARMY

(Continued from page one) program as "a program of a handful of anti-national political desperadoes, who have placed themselves outside the law as exists in Russia" and says: "It would be useless to describe it as a scheme making any appeal to the sane men."

FOES OF BRITAIN
The Telegraph concludes by denouncing the authors of "this insane crime, who as the British are aware, are their proclaimed bitter enemies" and declares its heartfelt hope in the salvation of Russia, "which is still our ally."

"The immediate outlook is for civil war," says the Daily Chronicle, "and it is difficult to believe that the patriotic and sensible majority of the Russian nation will sit down helplessly under the coup d'etat. We cannot believe that Germany's paid propagandists, have corrupted the Russian army as a whole, nor that the population as a whole is blind to all lessons of democracy, learned from Great Britain, France and the United States, as to suppose that the pseudo democracy preached by the Maximalists is the real thing."

MUST NOT DESPAIR.
The situation in Russia, The Daily News urges, should not be taken too tragically. It points out that Petrograd is not Russia and advises the outside world to await developments. It says, cannot fail to be swift and dramatic. "Nevertheless," The News adds, "this situation coupled with the continued advance of the enemy in Italy constitutes a sufficient black outlook. The Allies' position has suffered a shock which it would be futile to ignore and grave issues are hanging in the balance. We hope that the worst will not be realized, but we must prepare for it; and the best that can be looked for will leave us seriously affected."

"The burden of the war falls inevitably more than ever upon the shoulders of this country, France and the United States, and the duration of the war would seem to be prolonged indefinitely."
"Stem times are before us, but we shall survive the ordeal if we are faithful to our cause—a cause worth living and dying for. Our powers are not exhausted and our resources are those of the United States, which will be used without limit for the achievement of victory."

The Graphic anticipates a Russo-German peace with the probability that Germany eventually would get control of Russia's resources. It adds: "The western allies are now their words on an empty stomach and must, face the necessity of a greater effort than any yet made."

Try Korniloff.
By Courier Leased Wire. Petrograd, Nov. 9.—The military revolutionary committee has decided to bring General Korniloff, leader of the recent revolt, and his supporters to Petrograd and imprison them in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul. They will be brought to trial before a military revolutionary tribunal.

Lieutenant-General L. G. Korniloff was commander-in-chief of the Russian armies when early last September several detachments of troops, under his command, marched on Petrograd. He was removed from office. Some of his troops reached a point thirty miles from Petrograd when they deserted to the Provisional Government. The movement collapsed on September 13 and General Korniloff surrendered. A board of army officers in-quired into the revolt, but General Korniloff has never been brought to trial.

KERENSKY SPOKE.
Petrograd, Nov. 9.—At a meeting of the Congress of Soldiers' and Workers' Deputies last night a member of the revolutionary military committee said that on Wednesday Premier Kerensky at Gatchina, 35 versts (23 miles) from Petrograd, addressed 6,000 soldiers, who were on their way from the front to Petrograd. After a conference the soldiers decided not to proceed for the time being to Petrograd.

Petrograd, Wednesday, Nov. 7.—The preliminary parliament to-day adopted the following resolution in response to a request from Premier Kerensky for a vote of confidence: "First, the armed demonstrations which have been in preparation for several days and which aim at taking over all the power, threaten civil war, create advantageous conditions for the program of the revolution, including mobilization of the Black Hundred and the calling of the Constituent Assembly and will cause a military catastrophe, the result of which is the paralysis of economic life and the adequate destruction of the country."
"Second, the soil for the success of such agitation has been prepared by the postponement of the carrying out of absolutely necessary measures and, therefore, it is first of all necessary to publish statements regarding the handing over of the land to the land committee and to take an open stand on a foreign policy in order to fight the active signs of anarchy. THE SITUATION.
Matters for Great Britain and her allies are just now passing through troublous times. It was the hope and the expectation that probably either Turkey or Austria would crack under the fearful strain of the present war, and perhaps both, but the Central powers are still intact while Russia has defaulted beyond all seeming repair and affairs with regard to Italy are none too reassuring. As far as Germany is concerned the announcement is made that the last available man has now been summoned to the ranks and that it is hoped by a tremendous effort to bring matters to a head before the American weight can be felt in the field. That will not occur on their own basis. The period of stress and probable duration of the war have both become accentuated, but Great Britain and France and the United States will still see the thing through no matter what happens.

The full story of the new revolutionary movement in Russia has not yet been given, but it is very clear that the Workmen's and Soldiers' delegates have the upper hand and Kerensky is said to be a fugitive. They are holding a congress in Petrograd with a large attendance of delegates and it is announced that a committee has been named for opening peace negotiations. Even then it is said that the Cossacks may not agree and there is some talk of Korniloff coming to the front once more. The opinion was ventured in these columns some time back that an absolute dictatorship would be the only solution and it begins to look more and more as if some such thing will have to occur.

News from Palestine and Mesopotamia affords a more cheering contrast. Gen. Allenby reports a general Turkish retirement in the former country and in Mesopotamia troops have taken Tekrit, seventy miles northwest of Bagdad.

CHARACTERISTIC
The Expositor is shedding crocodile tears over what it is pleased to term the personal and "poison gas" campaign in this riding.

As a matter of fact the organ is past master in both respects and no one could even hope to equal its record no matter how hard they tried. In reality the personal aspect was inaugurated by the Expositor's friends. Anyone to hear them talk would think that the name of Cockshutt was anathema. "Too Much Cockshutt" has been the cry, but it is never that when any public or patriotic cause is to be aided. Such invectives simply re-echo upon those who make them and they are utterly unworthy of serious attention. The undoubted truth is that a dead end has been made upon Mr. W. F. Cockshutt for no valid reason whatever and that underhand tactics have prevailed in a most despicable way.

The attitude of the organ with regard to the Union conference is equally characteristic. It actually has the consummate gall to back up the Liberal delegates in the claim that they did not understand that the gathering was to name a candidate notwithstanding that this was the specific wording of the Liberal resolution and the organ itself in approval of the same said:

"All that is asked is that Liberals and other supporters of the Union Government, including Conservatives and Laborites should have a voice who the candidate of the Union Government is to be."

But then as a swallow artist the Expositor is not only unique but pre-eminent.

A PERFECTLY NEW ONE.
Necessity is the mother of invention. The Ontario Temperance Act is the Father of an innumerable list for the well known and erstwhile popular "Red Eye" and firewater. The latest revelation that had come to the notice of the police, is the use of Florida water by women imbibers who in the privacy of their homes secure the desired exhilarating sensation. Local police officials have not had the Florida water "jag" brought to their attention, but in other Western Ontario cities the practice has become surprisingly prevalent among women. Men have not tried the Florida Water, it is thought. Jamaica ginger has been used with great success by old-time booters who have been unable to procure the real thing. A few tried wood alcohol, but when two persons were laid to rest in a city cemetery this fluid was discarded as a drink. Medicinal wines and extracts of lemon have been used with varying success, but the Florida water drink, used only as the inspectors claim, by the women only, is the newest.

THOSE WHO CAN VOTE.

In Ontario those entitled to have their names on the voters' lists and to vote in the Dominion general elections, 1917, are as follows:

(1) All those (except in the cities) whose names are on the Ontario voters' lists as revised in 1916. In cities a special and entirely new list will be prepared.
(2) All women (except Indian women) who are the wives, widows, mothers, sisters and daughters of the Canadian forces overseas and naval forces in Canada or Britain, whether the members of such forces have been at any time resident in Canada or not.
(3) All electors or voters, male and female, must be 21 years of age, and British subjects by birth or naturalization, and according to the war-time elections act, 1917, section 32, the elector is to reside for one year in the province and have his residence and domicile in the electoral district for 30 days, both of said periods to be fixed by reference to the date of the writ of election, 1917.

(4) There are persons who are not entitled to vote. These are of alien enemy birth or other European birth within enemy jurisdiction and of alien enemy mother tongue or native language who have been naturalized in Canada since Mar. 31, 1902. In this class, however, persons who have sons, grandsons or brothers in the overseas forces, or who can produce certificates of service or applications to enlist, are entitled to vote.

(5) The sons of these men who have been naturalized since 1902 who were not of age when their fathers were naturalized are not disqualified. Neither are the sons born in Canada, whether the fathers were naturalized or not. All of the foregoing classes naturalized previous to 1902, with their sons, are not disqualified, nor are the female voters under section 33A of the war-time elections act.

(6) The Russian Mennonites who settled in Manitoba under order in council dated Aug. 13, 1873, as well as the Doukobors who settled in Canada under order in council dated Dec. 6, 1898, are disqualified, unless they have sons, grandsons or brothers in the overseas forces. All other Mennonites resident elsewhere in Canada are not disqualified as a class.

(7) All who apply for exemption from combatant naval or military service on conscientious grounds are disqualified, unless and until they are refused exemption.

(8) Those who apply for exemption for other reasons are not disqualified, whether refused or not, and clergymen, although not required to perform military services, are entitled to vote.

(9) Returned soldiers are entitled to vote whether they are on the voters' list or not.

(10) Armenians and Syrians known to be out of sympathy with Turkey are not disqualified. The enumerators take the list of 1916 and add to it the names of the female voters and strike off the names of those disqualified as above. There are not many in Ontario disqualified.

VANDALS AT WORK

A petty piece of vandalism came recently to the eyes of Parks Supt. J. C. Waller, and through him to the Parks Board. One of the drinking fountains at Tutela park had been uprooted from its foundation, and the lead piping leading into the ground torn out and carried away by mischief makers. "The value of the piping is only a trivial thing to whoever has taken it," observed Mr. Waller, "but the city will be put to a cost of probably forty or fifty dollars to replace it, and to repair the damage done. This is not the first instance of such destruction in the city, and we are going to take action to put a stop to any similar depredations in the future."

Rev. Wm. Parker, of Ononogah, Mich., has been appointed as the new pastor of the Grace Congregational church, Kitchener.

GERMANY STRONGER

"America must prepare herself for a war that is long. I will say for America that the war for her will have just begun when every man of military age will have offered his life to his country, when your souls and your honor have been offered, when you have mourned your honored dead by the hundreds of thousands."

Air Raids.
By Courier Leased Wire
London, Thursday, Nov. 8.—The War Office to-night issued the following statement:
"Wednesday morning low clouds with rain considerably hampered artillery work. In the afternoon, however, weather conditions improved and successful artillery and photographic work was carried out by our planes. Our low flying machines fired many rounds at hostile troops and transports and a number of bombs were dropped on enemy trenches and billets."
"During the night more than three tons of bombs were dropped on enemy positions at Grontrod and St. Denis, Westrem, and on air-dromes in the Lys Valley. Railway communications also were bombed and satisfactory results observed. Few hostile airplanes were encountered, but one was driven down out of control. An enemy observation balloon on the ground was destroyed by one of our low flying machines. One of our airplanes failed to return."

Successful Raid.
By Courier Leased Wire
London, Nov. 9.—An official statement issued to-day by the British War Office regarding military operations in France and Belgium says:
"We made a successful raid last night to the eastward of Hargicourt. There was nothing else of special interest to report."

French Gain.
By Courier Leased Wire
Paris, Nov. 9.—"We carried out with success last night surprise attacks in the Argonne and on the left bank of the Meuse in the region of Avocourt. Wood and brought back prisoners," says to-day's official communication. "The Germans made two attacks after violent bombardment, one of positions at Chame wood, Verdun front, the other in Lorraine, in the region of Arracourt. These assaults were repulsed. The enemy suffered serious losses and left prisoners in our hands."
"Upper Alsace, one of our detachments entered the German trenches northwest of Biesel, in the region of Seppois. After exploring the positions, destroying shelters and capturing material, all our men returned to their lines."

RETURNED SOLDIERS.
The fourteen returned soldiers who were expected to arrive in Uxbridge during the latter part of this week from Toronto, will not be here until Tuesday of next week. Further information to this effect reached the city this morning from the Toronto branch of the Military Hospitals Commission. No reason was given for the delay.

RIO JANEIRO CLOSED.
By Courier Leased Wire
Rio Janeiro, Nov. 9.—The government has issued a decree ordering the closing of the Port Rio Janeiro.

Other general and routine business was transacted. A donation of $25 was made to the J. Clarke fund.

SUPPLY OWN COAL.
Some enquiries have been made as to the fuel for heating the evangelistic tabernacle. While the committee feel satisfied that what coal may be needed for that purpose will be saved by the withdrawal of Sunday night and week-night services in a number of churches during the time this meeting, yet to make doubly sure that whatever fuel is required would in no way interfere with the people getting what they need for their homes, the committee got in touch with a coal shipper who was greatly interested in the "Bible Sunday" meetings in Buffalo last winter, and he is arranging to send an extra car of coal that will in no way interfere with his company's other shipments to Brantford, so that the tabernacle will help rather than otherwise the fuel situation of the city.

COAL REGULATIONS
New regulations regarding the importation and consumption of coal have been issued by the fuel controller and should be studied by dealers and consumers. Under these regulations retail dealers will not be permitted to make a profit or commission of more than 35 cents per net ton on any coal. This is subject to existing contracts. No broker or dealer shall deliver to a consumer any quantity of coal which, added to the quantity of coal the consumer may have on hand, would constitute more than an estimated supply sufficient for such consumer's needs for a period of two months. Any dealer may require from a purchaser a statement to the effect that the coal added to be supplied to him will not exceed the quantity he is permitted to have.

TODAY'S COURT.
Two Russians who were creating a disturbance on Buffalo street at 12.30 this morning were taken in charge by Constable Howting. They were hauled out this morning, when they will appear before the magistrate in the afternoon court. Ignat Halota, 17 Scarfe avenue, is charged with disorderly conduct, and Steve Srd, 27 Buffalo street, is charged with being drunk and disorderly.

FIREMAN DRAFTED.
One member of the local fire department will go overseas with the first draft, in the person of W. McMahon. Two members only of the department came within the provisions of the first call, and one was granted exemption. In other cities heads of the fire departments have filed claims for exemption on behalf of their men, but Chief Lewis does not consider such action necessary.

WANTS EXEMPTION.
On behalf of herself and her two sisters, the Misses Witly, Mrs. Fannie Munro has written the City Council requesting that she be granted a rebate and exemption from taxes on a store at 185 Market street, which is being used as a church.

CANADIAN CASUALTY LIST

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—The daily list to-day is small has been for days. One twenty-six Canadians in list, of whom twenty-six their lives.

TRIBUNALS IN SESSION

Larger Number of Applicants Before Exemption Boards To-day

The work of the exemption tribunals to-day was slightly heavier than yesterday as the number of applicants for a personal hearing was increased. Ten written applications for exemption have been allotted to each board, and the balance of the time is devoted to the hearing of personal appeals from service. The sittings commence at ten o'clock in the morning and continue until about five o'clock in the afternoon.

Judge Hardy, who is stationed on tribunal number 2, at the Court House, with Harvey Clement as a co-member, was unable through illness to attend to-day and his work on the board was taken over by Crown Attorney A. J. Wilkes. Many and varied are the claims that are brought forward for consideration, and in spite of the few men who appear before the boards, considerable time is consumed in questioning them and thoroughly investigating their cases before decision is given out.

It has been decided by his Honor Judge Hardy who is in charge of the tribunals in Brant County, that no names will be given out of those appearing for exemption. In Toronto and other cities this practice has not been followed and lists of names have been given to the press for publication. However, the tribunals here are open to the public, whereas in some of the smaller Western Ontario towns and cities claims have been heard behind closed doors.

The four tribunals located in the city of Brantford are: Number 22, Armouries, W. C. Livingstone and Edward Lavery; number 23, Court House, Judge Hardy and Harvey Clement; number 24, James Harley, K.C., and W. H. Whitaker; number 25, Frank Cibeck and W. A. Hollinrake. In every case a returned soldier is stationed at each tribunal to preserve order. The military authorities are also represented by Mr. J. S. Dowling, Lieut.-Col. F. P. Leonard, Lieut.-Col. F. A. Howard and Major Gordon Smith.

To The Editor of The Courier

To the Editor of The Courier, Brantford.

Sir,—On Monday last I was requested by Miss Laura Hughes, the first vice-president of the Independent Labor party of Ontario, to call the attention of the executive of the Brantford Independent Labor party to the following clause in the Provincial constitution:

26. Any motion to work, fuse, ally, or co-operate in any way with any political party, other than a bona fide labor party, shall not be entertained.

Miss Hughes also intimated that if the local party deliberately violated it, they would probably have their charter withdrawn. The Provincial president, Mr. Walter R. Rollo, of Hamilton, has been recognized by the Government as the leader of the party, in conformity with the provisions of the recently enacted Elections Act. Miss Hughes further informed me that the effect of this is no candidates of the Independent Labor party will be recognized by the Government on the soldiers' ballots who have not received the sanction of the Provincial organization, through the legal endorsement of its leader. It will, therefore, be seen that if the charter is withdrawn the nominee of the so-called Brantford Independent Labor party will not be recognized as such, and that the party will consequently sink to the status of a miscellaneous aggregation of political nondescripts. It ought to be remembered that individual names will not go on the soldiers' ballots, but of the parties they represent.

I was asked by the secretary of the local I.L.P. to meet members of the executive half an hour before the party met on Wednesday night. At that conference, the president suggested to me he should leave the question open to the meeting to decide I pointed out that the constitution prohibited his receiving a motion to fuse, co-operate or ally the I.L.P. with any party, except a labor party. The executive then appeared to regard this interpretation of the constitution as unquestionable. I was consequently surprised to find delegates were subsequently appointed to attend the joint meeting of Liberals and Conservatives.

Having resigned my connection with the local party, I could not attend its meeting, but I am informed by a member who was present that the clause in the constitution was evaded by authorizing the delegation to attend to speak and vote, but not to vote. Whether or not this is so, there seems no question the delegation endorsed the Union Government, and voted for a fusion candidate, thereby virtually reading themselves outside the Independent Labor party. It will probably be found, when the psychological moment arrives, that the Government will feel itself quite competent to recognize its own Union candidate, without any assistance from the I.L.P.

GEORGE KEEN.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN UNDER WAY

Canvassing of City Goes on With Most Satisfactory Results

Generous responses are being accorded the canvassers who are collecting on behalf of the British Red Cross fund. On every hand contributions are being received, and present indications are that the objective will be reached. No returns have yet been given out by Secretary H. T. Watt, but in conversation with the Courier this morning he intimated that the results to date were satisfactory.

The workmen in the factories are coming forward without hesitation with the exception of some of the foreign element, who are none too willing to assist in carrying on the work. One canvasser who is in charge of a team, reported that in one factory it would have been almost impossible to get contributions from the foreigners had not the superintendent accompanied the workers and personally asked each man to do his bit, however small. To-morrow a tag day will be held by the Women's Patriotic League in the business section of the city only and on the following day, war veterans and A. R. men will participate in the "Save a Soldier" Sunday when the envelopes distributed through the mails will be collected. During the past two days, seven thousand circulars explanatory of the British Red Cross, its works and its needs have been sent through the mails, and every house in the city has been reached. Enclosed in the letter is a small envelope in which the contribution is to be received, and these envelopes will be collected in the residential districts on Save a Soldier Sunday.

ESTABLISH OPEN DOOR.
By Courier Leased Wire.
St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 9.—The establishment of an open door financial policy between the United States and Japan is one of the chief objects of the visit of the Japanese imperial financial mission. That was revealed yesterday by the members of the mission at closed session with St. Louis bankers.

This movement it was explained would involve changes in the status of a majority of the states, the probable formulation of a new agreement between the United States and Japan and the establishment in many American cities of branches of the Bank of Japan.

QUEBEC TRIBUNALS.
By Courier Leased Wire.
Quebec, Nov. 9.—The nine exemption tribunals for the city of Quebec opened yesterday and hundreds of young men appeared to request exemption. Most of the cases were adjourned.

John Grist, a returned soldier, took two mercury tablets on the street at Hamilton, but will recover.

Nailing a Lie—Cold!

WE have read letters from Chalmers Distributors in which they have stated that competitors were saying to present owners of Chalmers cars and to prospective buyers, generally, that the manufacture of Chalmers cars would be discontinued.

There are thirty (30) automobile companies in the United States recognized by the general trade that manufacture and sell Touring Cars and Roadsters at retail prices in Canada between $1,500 and $2,000. We haven't heard that all of these companies, or any one of them, were going to discontinue production or quit business. Why, then, should the Chalmers, with a better car than many others in this class of 30 manufacturers, stop production?

WE MAKE A PROPHECY, and will authorize our Distributors to back it up with $200,000 of our money; that the Chalmers Company under the Maxwell Management, will stand ahead of 15 of these companies in production in 1918, and the Chalmers Company will stand ahead of 20 of these companies in production in 1919. This doesn't look as though we expected to discontinue making Chalmers Cars!

The reason some people are trying to disturb the present Chalmers owners is to scare them about service as to get a better "trade-in" on their Chalmers.

The reason for circulating such a story generally would be to prevent the prospective purchaser from inspecting a Chalmers car, because if a prospective buyer of an automobile will look at and ride in the present Chalmers models he will be very apt to buy one. It is the best car selling at $1785 in Canada that we know of.

This is one reason why Chalmers cars will continue to be made, not only in 1918, but in 1919, 1920 and other years.

Another reason is that the Maxwell organization has told the general Public that Chalmers cars would be produced in larger quantities than ever before and we have a way of making good with the public on sales and production.

these.

The following letter received by Inspector R. J. Eacret and signed by Chairman J. D. Paveille of the Ontario license board, is self-explanatory:

Dear Sir,—The board has had the following brands of medicated wines carefully examined and analyzed, and is of the opinion that these brands—as at present manufactured —are all being sold in contravention of the Ontario Temperance Act: Wilson's Invalid Port Wine,
Hall's Wine, Dr. Emerson's Invalid
Port, Peavoy's Port Wine, Milkess
Port Wine, Puritan Port Wine, Dr.
Kilborn's Invalid Port Wine, Dr.
Coventry's Invalid Port Wine, St.
Francis Invalid Port Wine, Vin St.
Michael.

The board desires that every druggist and other dealers in your license district who have been selling these brands of medicated wines be notified by you if they continue selling them after receiving your notice that their sale is regarded as illegal, that you are instructed by the board to procure samples, attach thereto the official seal and send same to the department. After this is done the board will advise you as to laying information and prosecuting same before the court.

In the opinion of the board the only way the druggists can sell these products legally would be under prescription from a duly qualified medical man, the quantity sold not to exceed 6 ounces at one time. In the case of dealers and persons other than druggists selling these brands,
they would not only be liable to prosecution, but confiscation of the wine
as well.

You may expect to receive in a few days a report from the board as to other brands on the market, which are not enumerated in this letter, as the board purposes examining and having these analyzed as soon as it is able to procure samples.

Referring to the following: Moni-kess, Puritan, Dr. Kilborn's, Dr.
Coventry's, St. Francis and Peavoy's
—the manufacturers of these brands have informed the board that they have discontinued selling entirely.

The manufacturers of Gordon's Health Wine inform us that they have stopped selling and have recalled what they had sold to dealers, and are now manufacturing only supposedly unfermented wine under a similar brand, viz: "Gordon's Health Wine." This, they claim, contains less than 2 1/2 per cent. proof spirits.

Yours very truly,
J. D. FLAVELLE,
Chairman.
P. S.—We shall be glad if you will, on receipt, send us a list of the different invalid wines that are sold in your district, other than those mentioned in the foregoing letter.
Please send us also a list of the malt
extracts sold in your district.—J.D.F.

WINS MILITARY CROSS.

By Courier Leased Wire
Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—Lieut. L. D.
McMurray, Winnipeg, has been awarded the Military Cross for distinguished service when engaged in laying railway lines under fire.
For violating the Ontario Temperance Act, four Chatham men were fined $1,000 in the city police court.
After a continuous residence in Clinton of 55 years, Mrs. Thos. Holloway is dead in her 84th year.

LOCAL NEWS

TOWNSHIP HYDRO

Another gang of men will be immediately placed at work in an endeavor to rush forward with the erection of the township hydro electric system. An engineer from the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission is expected here to-morrow when the gang will be started in Grand View.
Almost immediately after, work will be started in Echo Place.

INCORRECT

An item appeared in last night's Courier to the effect that it was intended that the Congregational Church at Brantford intended closing.
The statement is erroneous. Rev. Mr.
Sanders says that the matter has not even been discussed.

TICKETS ON SALE

Mr. E. W. Cameron, druggist, corner of Colborne St. and Park Ave., has received his first consignment of
B. and H. Radial tickets, and same are now on sale there (Hamilton tickets only). Mr. Jones stated today that he had not yet received a reply to the city's request to the Street Railway Commission that the tickets be handled at the city ticket office at Colborne and Market Sts.

ENTERTAINED LEADERS.

George Mosely, Y.M.C.A. physical director, entertained some thirty-five members of the leaders' corps at his home on Wednesday night, a banquet being served and the evening passed in games and music, the gathering dispersing after singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

NINE FREE FROM H. C. OF L.

Nine prisoners are at the present time enjoying the hospitality of the county in the commodious quarters
presided over by Governor Jones.
None of these men will be called to the colors by the Military Service Act as none are included in the first draft.

SURPRISE PARTY

A most enjoyable surprise party was held in honor of Mr. Fred Kent, of Guelph, on Thursday evening, on the occasion of his visit to the parental home, 172 Dalhousie St. About forty guests present, and a program of games, etc., proved most entertaining.

MANY REGISTER.

The proximity of November the 10th is apparently stirring up a number of eligibles to the nearness of the time limit for registering at the Post Office under the terms of the Military Service Act for yesterday 110 draftees reported a far larger number than on any previous day.
One hundred and five of these applied for exemption and five reported open until ten o'clock last night and will remain open until the same time to-night and to-morrow night. Nine hundred and seventy-one, a few more than fifty per cent of the men who are affected by the Act have reported at the Post Office to date and 21 of these are not filing exemption claims. The others will appear before the tribunals. Some of the men who have been before the tribunals boards however, have made personal application to the tribunals now in session.

POLICE COURT

A weird ghost story was related in the first session of the regular afternoon police court sittings that commenced yesterday afternoon, by James O'Donnell, who was arrested the previous night in an intoxicated condition at the Grand Trunk station. He faced two charges, one of being drunk and the other of having liquor in an unauthorized place.
When asked how he obtained the booze, he composed himself for a fairly story "like mother used to make," and forthwith told it without a tremor in the police court.
The ruse didn't work and the cad refused to be lulled to sleep by such a contortion of the truth, O'Donnell claimed that he had been in Hamilton, and was accosted at the corner of King and Jess Sts. by two men whom he had never seen before. The Arabian Nights' heroes had offered to produce some of the well known invigorator, and had conducted the dry wanderer to a house of refuge where they put two bottles into his system and a bottle into his pocket, borrowed five dollars and turned him out.

Goodness gracious boys! To borrow five simoleans on such brief acquaintance, and then, so ungratefully to eject the generous Shylock. But the story wouldn't go down as easily as the whiskey, and O'Donnell went down for a week to ruminate on his multi-colored fabrication.

Absolutely nothing could be proven against James Morrison, who appeared, charged by two women with disorderly conduct. The women claimed that Mr. Morrison had been following them along the market street.
It transpired that the accused man
was on the other side of the road,
and no evidence could be produced showing that he was molesting the plaintiffs. The case was dismissed.

TABERNACLE READY.

A misunderstanding has arisen regarding the neighborhood prayer meeting. The prayer meetings were said to be discontinued after the preaching service begins. This is most emphatically not the case. The neighborhood meetings will continue with the change that the meeting will be discontinued and all the meetings will be held during the day. More prayer, not less, will be the slogan when the tabernacle meetings commence. The final arrangements for the dedication of the big tabernacle on Brant avenue were about completed this morning. The choir gallery was finished and but a few seats remained to be made. Stoves were burning away at an early hour and flags and lunting are being used to relieve the bareness of the walls and timbers. The dedication ceremony will be the first of its kind in Brantford and is arousing great interest all over the city. The ushers will be on hand early to see that all are comfortably seated.

"IT'S A FINE THING"
SAYS WM. CAIRNS

"Tanlac Certainly Changed Things Around For Me," Declares Farmer

"Well, I have tried Tanlac and I just want to tell everybody it's a fine thing," said William Cairns,
while in Parke and Parke drug store, Hamilton, recently. Mr. Cairns is engaged in farming at Waterdown, R.R. No. 1, where he has lived all his life and is highly respected by all who know him.

"I have been in a bad fix for three years," continued Mr. Cairns, "and had become so run-down and played out that I never felt like work. My head ached early all the time and I could hardly sleep. Some nights I would stay awake nearly all night and feel so tired and stiff in the mornings I could hardly get out of bed. I always had a mean taste in my mouth, my tongue felt thick, was covered with a foul coating, and I suffered with gas on my stomach, something awful at times. Every two or three hours after eating I would have a vomiting spell and got so dizzy I could hardly stand up. At times I was so dizzy my head hurt so bad, I would stagger and hardly knew where I was going. I just seemed to be dazed and things looked faded and misty to me. I had no energy at all and for two years, that is, I felt like doing one thing.

"But, I just want to say, this Tanlac certainly has changed things about for me. I had taken so much medicine with no results that I was just about ready to give up, but now life and work is a pleasure. I bought five bottles of Tanlac, have already taken three of them, and it has helped me more than I believed it would. That mean taste is gone, my tongue has cleared off, I sleep hardly have a headache. Tanlac just seemed to soothe and settle my stomach and I haven't had a vomiting spell since I began taking it. I enjoy all my meals now. I sleep good every night and get up in the mornings ready for a big breakfast and go to work with a vim. I certainly can recommend Tanlac for the good it has done me and I'm glad to see this statement for what it may be worth to others who are suffering as I did."

Tanlac is sold in Brantford by Milton H. Robertson and Co. Ltd., in Paris by Apps Ltd., and in Middleton by William Peedie.

BAN POLICY HOLDERS

By Courier Leased Wire
Toronto, Nov. 9.—The London &

action at Osgoode Hall against the London Mutual Fire Insurance

STUDY AND EXERCISE

Overstudy and lack of exercise make thin bloodless children. Study does not usually hurt a child at school unless the studies encroach on time that should be spent in outdoor exercise. But lack of exercise and over-study is a combination that brings on St. Vitus dance. If your boy or girl at school is thin and pale, listless and inattentive, has a flicker appetite, is unable to stand still or sit still, you must remember that health is much more important than education, and more time should be given to exercise and recreation.

See to it at once that the child does not overstudy, gets plenty of out-of-door exercise, sleeps ten out of every twenty-four hours, and takes a safe, reliable tonic like Dr.
Williams Pink Pills until the color returns to the cheeks and lips and the appetite becomes normal. For growing children who become pale and thin Dr. Williams Pink Pills are not only safe but in most cases are the very best tonic that can be taken. These pills build up the blood, strengthen the nerves and assist nature in keeping pace with rapid growth.

You can get Dr. Williams Pink Pills
at any drug store.

CASUALTIES.

Three Brant County names are reported in this morning's casualty

The names mentioned are:
Serge. Tom Norris, Brantford.
Pte. W. Reilly, Grand Valley.
Pte. J. Corbett, Scotland.

AFTER ELIGIBLES.

Although it has been intimated in despatches issued from Ottawa, police departments in all parts of Canada are to be instructed to arrest all eligibles who have not reported under the Military Service Act by November 10th. Chief of Police Steinhilber has received no such word. However, as he interprets the Act, no further orders are necessary, and delinquents will be liable to arrest after November 10th. "I do not expect any trouble. I think our boys will come forward like men and offer themselves," he observed.
An official of the Chicago Police Department was in the city on a holiday trip yesterday and dropped in at the local station. He states that across the border vigorous measures are being enforced to round up eligibles. No kid gloves methods are being adopted, but every man within the military age is required to carry his papers on his person, and if he is without them and the fact becomes known he is immediately placed under arrest and taken to one of the military camps.

NEW TRUCK A BARGAIN

Far Better Than Hamilton Apparatus, If It Did Cost More

Ald. Dr. Wiley, chairman of the Fire and Light Committee, and Chief Lewis take exception to a statement of The Hamilton Convention to the effect that a delay of three months in ordering the motor pumper for the local fire department cost the city $50,000 more than that purchased in Hamilton. "It is true," said Chief Lewis this morning, "that we paid $900 more than Hamilton for our pumper, but it is a better bargain even at the advanced price, and when delivered will be a much more up-to-date piece of apparatus than the Hamilton pumper. We are having it equipped with cushion wheels, which the expert in charge declares adds a thousand dollars to the value of the truck, as they remove all jolting and jarring and vastly prolong the life of the apparatus. They are being adopted in all the large cities of the United States and Canada. Aside from this, our truck is equipped with a 35-gallon chemical tank, 200 feet of chemical hose, two Larkin play pipes and two Ditz lanterns, all these in addition to what the Hamilton truck boasts. A poor bargain? You can't tell me that."

WRECK IN ALBERTA.

By Courier Leased Wire. Stettler, Alb. Nov. 9.—A serious wreck occurred here yesterday afternoon when a heavily laden C. P. R. freight train was within a half mile of Stettler depot. Seven cars left the tracks and were badly damaged, four of them being overturned. The rails and ties for some distance were torn up and the roadbed suffered considerably. None of the train crew was injured.

ORATORIO SOCIETY

There was a good attendance of the Brantford Oratorio Society at their rehearsal last night, which gives great promise for the coming concert season. The work they have in hand, Handel's "Messiah," has been supplemented by Elgar's "Banner of St. George." This work of Elgar has attained a wide world popularity, and is one of his very best choral works. In no work has he revealed such a patriotic spirit as in this one, and it is full of beautiful choral effects. The work is laid out in three parts. The first scene pictures the dragon's lair and tells of the awful destruction which the dragon wrought amongst the people of Sylene in killing and devouring the beautiful maidens. Scene two contains music of a dramatic and moving spirit, the melodies haunt one with their weird rising and falling. In this scene is pictured the Princess of Sylene awaiting her death outside the dragon's lair. A knight unexpectedly comes upon the scene and rescues the princess from the dragon which he slays. The last movement is an epilogue of great choral beauties, which carry away both singers and audience with its massive martial effects. This whole work gives us a true representation of the attitude taken by the British Empire in this great war. This work of Elgar's is wonderfully true of the nations at war, if for the dragon is substituted the "Huns," and the allied nations as the Knight and the Princess of Sylene. The sentiment of the whole work is well adapted to the present war situation. "Great race whose empire of splendour Has dazzled a wondering world, May the flag that floats o'er thy wide domains. Be long to all winds unfurled! Three crosses in concord blended, The banner of Britain's might, But the central gem of the ensign fair, Is the cross for the dauntless knight. —Shapcott Wensley.

Careers of Some of M'Graw's Veterans Coming to End

Zimmy, Fletcher, Sallee, Herzog and Others May Outlive Their Usefulness Next Season—Changes Are Certain in Line-up of Giants for 1918.

Is there a jinx following John McGraw? Being the manager of the New York Giants and drawing an annual salary of $35,000 doesn't suggest that McGraw is unlucky, not by a jugful. But McGraw's friends say he is hoodooed because of the fact that his pennant winners since 1905 have been unable to land the world's championship.

There may be something to it and then again there may not be, but McGraw has certainly been out of luck in world's series, and to say the least his latest attempt to capture the big purple and gold championship was not smeared with horse shoes or four-leaf clovers. No one can take an ounce of credit away from the White Sox for the manner in which they galloped home with the world's title this year. Yet the deciding game of the series, and the game in which the Sox came from behind to overshadow a five-run score were tough games for New York to lose and it is only fair to say so.

COSTLY MISPLAYS.

Heine Zim and Dave Robertson sloughed away the deciding game with errors and Zim's mammoth bone play. The fifth game was sloughed off when McGraw left Sallee in the contest too long and then ordered him to put the winning tally on the bags.

Back in 1912 Ferd Snodgrass dropped a fly ball and went down in baseball history as perpetrator of who was probably the most costly error ever made. Frank Baker's home runs off Matty and Marquard were also responsible for Jew's heroes losing out and Merkle's famous lapse of memory in not touching second kept the Giants out of the hunt for world's series dough and honors.

Since the recent world's series ended not a few baseball men are inclined to believe that despite the easy captured the National league bunting

Sporting Comment

New York, Nov. 8.—Every once in a while a new drive is launched against Washington's membership in the American League and its possession of Walter Johnson. The assault on the capital usually is inaugurated at Baltimore, which is covetous of Washington's big league baseball and would commit anything short of municipal murder to usurp the capital's place. The drive on Johnson now seems to be confined to this city. The Yankees need some mighty powerful agent to help pull them out of the rut, and Johnson appeals to New York as the most likely to fill the bill.

Both Baltimore and New York are doomed to disappointment. Washington will stay in the American League, and Johnson will remain with the Senators. If Clark Griffith sold the pitcher, the Washington club would not have to move—it would be forced to shut its park by the fans of that city. Griffith is highly anxious to stay where he is.

There is no reason why Washington's franchise should be moved to Baltimore or any other city. The recent season was a poor one for the Senators, because government employees, an account of the rush of war work, could not get out in time to go to the ball games. When the war is over—and Washington believes it will not go beyond another year, anyhow—Washington, the normal population of which is something like 550,000 still will find itself with its present war work population of about 1,000,000. Many of these new residents will make the capital their permanent home.

At any rate it will take several years to clean up the after-effects of the war in the government office. Washington will be a real major league city, with thousands of prosperous fans with time for ball games available. The American League needs Washington—even if only for the dignity of having a club in the nation's capital—Washington needs the American League, and it needs Walter Johnson.

LAST RESERVES CALLED

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Nov. 9.—Germany called up her last reserves within the last few days, according to the Central News correspondent at Zurich, telegraphing under Wednesday's date. All men who previously had been rejected, are ordered to present themselves for re-examination, and within 24 hours all not utterly incapacitated, were on their way to the training quarters.

This action, says the correspondent, is attributed to the intention of the Central powers to make a final effort on the western front before America's help becomes effective.

London, Nov. 8.—Tekrit, on the Tigris River, in Mesopotamia, 90 miles north-west of Bagdad, was occupied by the British on November 6, the War Office announced to-day. The text of the statement reads: "Following the successful action fought near Dup on November 2, our troops advanced further up the Tigris and on November 5th attacked the Turks, who were holding a strongly-entrenched position covering Tekrit. Under the fire of our artillery our troops with great gallantry crossed 1,200 yards of open country and the Indian Sikh and rifle regiments, pressing home the attack, captured the first two lines of the enemy trenches, inflicting heavy casualties. These trenches were consolidated, and a Turkish counter-attack proved unsuccessful. "In the meantime the cavalry attacked the enemy's right flank, and our artillery on the left bank of the

Rippling Rhymes

It gives my soul a wrench that I can't join the boys and excavate a trench, and make a war-like noise. I stick to my abode and do my daily grind, because I'm pigeon toed, knock-kneed and color blind. For me no hero's wreath, no garlands or applause, because I've store made teeth, swayed back and lumpy jaws, because my waistline's large. Ah, well, a gent can do his little stunt at home if he can't pot a few beyond the raging foam. By humping all the day and buckling down like wax, methinks I can pay each added wartime tax. By helping liquidate our Uncle's grievous bills, I'll keep my record straight, though shy of martial thrills. I'll pay up like a guy who wants to do his share; so when the boys go by, I'll get no stony stare. YOUNG WOMEN MAY AVOID PAIN

Need Only Trust to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, says Mrs. Kurtzweg.

Buffalo, N.Y.—"My daughter, whose picture is herewith, was much troubled with pains in her back and sides every month and they would sometimes be so bad that it would seem like acute inflammation of some organ. She read your advertisement in the newspapers and tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She praiseth highly as she has been relieved of all these pains by its use. All mothers should know of this remedy, and all young girls who suffer should try it."

Young women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, headache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by this root and herb remedy.

If you know of any young woman who is sick and needs help, advise her to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Only women will receive her letters, and it will be held in strictest confidence.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN HOMES

WEST LAND REGULATIONS The sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, who was at the commencement of the present war, and has since continued to be a British subject or a subject of an allied or neutral country, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for District. Entry by proxy may be made on certain conditions. Duties—Six months residence and cultivation of land in each of three years.

In certain districts a homesteader may secure an adjoining quarter-section at pre-emption. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Reside six months in each of three years after earning homestead patent and cultivate 50 acres extra. May obtain pre-emption patent as soon as homestead patent on certain conditions. A settler after obtaining homestead patent, if he cannot secure a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Must reside six months in each of three years and cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.00. Holders of entries may count time of employment as farm labourers in Canada during 1917, as residence duties under certain conditions. When Dominion Lands are advertised or posted for entry, returned soldiers who have served overseas and have been honorably discharged, receive one day priority in applying for entry at local works office (but not Sub-Agency). Discharge papers must be presented to Agent. W. W. COLE, Deputy Minister of the Interior. N.B.—Unalienated public lands of this department will not be sold.

SATAN RESIGNS IN FAVOR OF KAISER

Wilhelm Has Out-Devised the Devil, Says U. S. Citizen

The following from the St. Paul Dispatch will prove interesting reading: Louis Syberkrop, of Creston, has acquired much fame in recent weeks as author of a satire on Kaiser Wilhelm. Requests have come to him from Family, Secretary Deputies and Roosevelt, and people in every state of the Union and in Canada have asked for copies of Mr. Syberkrop's article. It is:

"The Infernal Region. June 28, 1917. 'To Wilhelm von Hohenzollern, King of Prussia, Emperor of all Germany and Envoy Extraordinary of Almighty God. My Dear Wilhelm: 'I can call you by that familiar name for I have always been very close to you, much closer than you could ever know. 'From the time that you were yet an undeveloped being in your mother's womb I have shaped your destiny for my own purpose. 'In the days of Rome I created a roughneck known in history as Nero; he was a vulgar character and suited my purpose at that particular time. In these modern days a classic demon is needed, as I know the Hohenzollern blood I picked you as my special instrument to place on earth an annex of hell. I gave you abnormal ambition, likewise an over supply of egotism, that you might not discover your own failings; I twisted your mind to that of a mad man with certain normal tendencies to carry you by a most dangerous character placed in power; I gave you the power of a hypnotist and a certain magnetic force that you might sway your people. I am responsible for the deformed arm that hangs helpless on your left, for your crippled condition embitters your life and destroys all noble impulses that might otherwise cause me anxiety, but your strong sword arm is driven by your ambition that squelches all sentiment and pity; I placed in your soul a deep hatred for all things English, for of all nations on earth I hate England most; wherever England plants her flag she brings order out of chaos and the hated Cross follows the Union Jack; under her rule wild tribes become tillers of the soil and in due time practical citizens; she is the great civilizer of the globe and I HATE HER. I planted in your soul a cruel hatred for your mother because SHE was English and left my good friend Bismarck to fan the flame I kindled. Recent history proves how well our work was done. I broke your royal mother's heart, but I gained my purpose. 'The inherited disease of the Hohenzollerns killed your father, just as it will kill you, and you became the ruler of Germany and a tool of mine sooner than I expected. 'To assist you and further hasten my work I sent you three evil spirits Nietzsche, Treitschke and later Bernhardi, whose teachings inflamed the youths of Germany, who in good time would be willing and loyal subjects and eager to spill their blood and pull your chestnuts, yours and mine; the spell has been perfect—you cast your ambitious eyes toward the Mediterranean, Egypt, India and the Dardanelles and you began your great railway to Bagdad, but the ambitious archduke and his more ambitious wife stood in your way. It was then that I sowed the seed in your heart that blossomed into the assassination of the Duke and his wife, and all hell smiled when it was discovered that you had committed the crime on Serbia. I saw you set sails for the fjords of Norway and I knew you would prove an alibi. How cleverly done, so much like your noble grandfather, who also secured an assassin to remove old King Frederick of Denmark, and later robbed that country of two provinces that gave Germany an opportunity to become a naval power. Murder is dirty work, but it takes a Hohenzollern to make a way and get by. 'Your opportunity was at hand; you set the world on fire and bells of hell were ringing; your rape on Belgium caused much joy, it was the beginning of the foundation of a perfect hell on earth, the destruction of heroic cathedrals and other infinite works of art was hailed with joy in the infernal regions. You made war on friends and foe alike and the murder of civilians showed my teachings in every home. Your treachery toward neutral nations hastened a universal upheaval, the thing I most desired. Your undersea warfare is a master stroke, from the smallest masked boat to the great Lusitania, you show no favorites; as a war lord you stand supreme, for you have no mercy; you have no consideration for the baby clinging to its mother's breasts as they both go down into the deep together, only to be torn apart and leisurely devoured by sharks down among the corals. 'I have strolled over the battlefields of Belgium and France. I have seen your hand of destruction everywhere; it's all your work, superstitious that I made you, I have seen the fields of Poland; now a wilderness fit for prowling beasts only; no merry children in Poland now; they all succumbed to frost and starvation—I drifted down into Galicia where formerly Jews and Gentiles lived happily together; I found but ruins and ashes; I felt a curious pride in my pupil for it was all above my expectation. I was in Belgium when you drove the peaceful population before you like cattle into slavery; you separated man and wife and forced them to labor in the trenches. I have seen the most fiendish rape committed on young women and those who were forced into maternity were cursing the father of their offspring and I began to doubt if my own intention was really up to date. 'You have taken millions of dollars from innocent victims and called

WHAT'S THE DIGESTION? WHO CARES? LISTEN

Time it! in five minutes all stomach distress will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas, acid, or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest and most certain indigestion remedy in the whole world, and besides it is harmless. Millions of men and women now eat their favorite foods without fear—they know Pape's Diapepsin will save them from any stomach misery.

Please, for your sake, get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store and put your stomach right. Don't keep on being miserable—eat in peace and contentment here long, so make your stay agreeable. Eat what you like and digest it; enjoy it, without dread of rebellion in the stomach.

Pape's Diapepsin is in your home anyway. Should one of the family eat something which don't agree with them or in case of an attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis, or stomach derangement, during the night, it is handy to give the quickest surest relief known.

If indemnity, you have lived fat on the land you usurped and sent the real owners away to starvation. You have strayed away from all legalized war methods and introduced a code of your own. You have robbed the people of friendly nations and destroyed their property. You are a liar, a hypocrite and a bluffer of the highest magnitude. You are a part of mine and yet you pose as a personal friend of God. Ah, Wilhelm, you are a wonder. You want only to destroy all things in your path and leave nothing for coming generations.

I was amazed when I saw you form a partnership with the impossible Turk, the chronic killer of Christians, and you a devout worshipper in the line of warfare. I confess, Wilhelm, you are a puzzle at times. A Mohammedan army, commanded by German officers, assisting one another in massacring Christians is a new line of warfare. When a Prussian officer can witness a nude woman being disemboweled by a swarthy Turk, committing a double murder, with one cut of his sabre and the other with a bayonet, a house full of innocent Armenians locked up, the house saturated with oil and fired, then my teachings did not stop with you, but have been extended to the people of German nation. I confess my Satanic soul grew sick and there and then I knew the pupil had become the master. I am a back number, and my dear Wilhelm, I abdicate in your favor. The great key of hell will be turned over to you. The gavel that has struck the doom of damned souls since time began is yours. I am satisfied with what I have done; that my abdication in your favor is for the very best interests of hell—in the future I am at your majesty's service. Affectionately and sincerely, LUCIFER H. SATAN."

WESTERN VETERANS GREAT WORKMEN Men Trained in the M.H.C. Schools in Great Demand Among Employers

In "J" Unit of the Military Hospitals Commission Command out in British Columbia where fiction writers send all the black sheep to work out their salvation, the records of the vocational training school for returned soldiers, run under the direction of the Commissioners to fit the disabled men to return to profitable work, show that only 12 out of the 1,500 men who have passed through the schools in the United States failed to make good, and of these five failed because of the recurrence of their disabilities.

Employers who were dubious of employing the returned soldiers have asked for more, and the recommendations which they gave the veterans are glowing. Shop Slogan

The slogan of the schools posted in every shop is the best way to kill time is to work it to death," and it seems that every man goes out with it pasted in his hat.

The greatest victory over prejudice which has come to the notice of the vocational schools is the acceptance of a large number of men in the province who took fourteen returned soldiers into his shop with acknowledged misgiving, but willing for patriotic purposes to give them a trial. They made good to the man, so good that returned men are his first choice on all occasions now, and he even goes so far as to say that he might post up a notice "None but returned men need apply."

Province Will Profit Reports from Nanaimo, Prince Rupert, Victoria and all the smaller British Columbia cities and mining districts are in the same strain, and there is growing evidence in every section that the province which turned her wealth of brawn so generously to the service of the country will reap a great reward in the returning army of skilled artisans taking the place of a great number of unskilled laborers.

THE EDISON DIAMOND DISC. The most wonderful musical instrument of the age is on sale at H. J. Smith & Co.'s. It really recaptures the human voice in any test. Speaking of a tone test made there the St. Louis Times, Oct. 22 says: "The mechanical power of her voice, the audience found nothing lost in the way of mellifluous tones, sensibility or vocal technique. Miss Case heard herself sing and probably realized with the audience that Miss Case and the Disc was veritably Miss Case herself."

TO-MORROW The proclamation which issued on October 13th under the Military Service Act requires that each man who is a member of the First Class bachelors and widowers without children (not otherwise excepted) who were 20 years old on the 13th October, 1917, and whose 34th birthday did not occur before January 1st, 1917, shall on or before the 10th day of November, 1917 report himself for military service, unless application for his exemption shall then have been made by him or by any person entitled to apply in his behalf. What is Required Immediately Any man in Class One, if it has not already been done, must before the Post Office closes to-morrow night, obtain from the Postmaster a form for reporting for service or a form for claiming exemption, fill out the same, and hand it to the Postmaster for transmission to the proper quarters. Penalty Provided The Military Service Act provides that failure to fulfil the above obligation entails a penalty "on summary conviction to imprisonment for any term not exceeding five years with hard labour." Women's Institute

The November meeting of the Tutela Women's Institute was held on Tuesday, Nov. 6, at the home of Mrs. Littich, Cockshutt Road, with a good attendance.

The meeting opened by singing "Blest be the tie that binds," and repeating the Lord's prayer.

A splendid paper on character building was given by Mrs. R. Henry. Mrs. Farr gave two vocal selections, and instrumentals were given by Miss Baird. A paper on the "Respectful Woman" was given by Mrs. Morrison. Mrs. Farr gave a reading in her usual capable manner.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for a talent tea to be held soon. Arrangements were also made for packing boxes for boys overseas.

A tasty lunch was served by the hostess and the meeting brought to a close by singing God Save the King.

The Workers of the World with hand or brain, in doors or out doors, under all conditions and in all climates, will find in Shredded Wheat the food that supplies all the material for building healthy tissue and good brain—a food that nourishes every organ of the body and keeps the bowels healthy and active—the one universal cereal food that appears on the breakfast table of most Canadian homes every day in the year. WAR PRISONERS ARE TORTURED BY HEAT; REFUSED WATER

Terrible Story of Suffering and Brutality in Hun Prison Camp STARVING BELGIANS DEVOUR PIGS' FEED Escaped Britisher Relates How Attempt Was Made to Assassinate Kaiser

Private Patrick Hobin, of the Durham Light Infantry, who is writing for Thomson's Weekly News, the experiences of his imprisonment in Germany and subsequent escape, relates in recent instalments how he and his companion, Pte. Alderson, and the two Canadians, who were captured after their attempt to escape, were taken back to Oberhausen prison and placed in a dark and evil-smelling cellar, over which stood the boilers, which were scorching hot. The four of us were placed in this cellar, the door was banged, and we were left alone in our dark and badly ventilated prison. The heat was almost suffocating and I knew that we could not live a day in such a vile place.

"I was troubled for a considerable time with a very unpleasant, disfiguring rash, which covered my face and for which I used applications and remedies without relief. After using "Fruit-a-tives" for one week, the rash is completely gone. I am deeply thankful for the relief and in the future, I will not be without "Fruit-a-tives".

"We all want it." "Then you can wait for it, you swine," he retorted. He then lifted the ball to the door, and shaking his hand in the water, sent it splashing on the walls and over the floor. He then threw the remainder at the door, and went away.

"We then commenced to kick at the door with all our might, but it was not until nearly two hours had elapsed that we were given a drink of water. A pail was put before us, and the four of us finished it in a few minutes. After another hour had elapsed we were delighted to hear a number of guards approaching. They came to our cell, and we were hustled out and taken away.

A Canadian Attacked. Pte. Hobin tells how the prisoners at first refused to work in the mines at Oberhausen, but did so, to save their skins. Pte. Hobin continues: "Then one of the guards came forth and button-holing one of the Canadians, he told him that if he followed him further down the main gallery he would give him an easy job. The Canadian believed the story told by the guard, and followed him into the darkness. He had no sooner got out of sight than he was attacked by four of the guards. They knocked him down, and whilst three pinioned his arms, the other man beat him with a thick piece of timber.

The Colombian, who was a very strong fellow, managed to throw his three assailants off, but the other man with the weapon slashed at him continually. With one arm free he warded off the blows. After they had given him what they thought was sufficient punishment, he was allowed to return to the shaft, where he told us his story. His arm was a mass of bruises, and badly swollen. The poor fellow was in a terrible plight.

"On going to the top again, the Canadian called one of the official's attention to his injured arm, and also told him that he would not go down the mine again until his arm was healed. The official, however, told him that he would have to continue working whether his arm was right or not.

A German Amputation. Pte. Hobin had a finger injured while at work in the mine, but was forced to continue. "After spending two months in the mine," declares Pte. Hobin, "during which period my finger has showed no signs of healing, I was sent back to Munster, where I went into hospital. Here an operation was performed upon my finger. As in everything else, the German medical man at this hospital showed no respect for a prisoner of war. Without giving me anything to dull the pain the doctor merely clipped the best part of my finger off with an ordinary pair of scissors."

Pte. Hobin relates the following story: Belgians Devour Pig's Food. One day, while walking in the grounds, I saw a sight which made me quite miserable. On the road I saw about 200 half-starved looking Belgian men who were being forcibly deported into Germany to work. Because they had showed signs of defiance these men had been kept prisoners practically without food for nearly a week.

I could see that they were half-starved, but little did I think that their hunger was so intense until a wagon containing the leavings and refuse from the Munster camp came up the road on its way to the pig-gery. As soon as the Belgians caught sight of the slops they broke through the guards and threw themselves at the men who were pulling the wagon, whilst others scrambled on the wheels and on the shafts of the wagon.

The Belgians fought each other like wild beasts. The guards rushed upon them and beat them down with their rifles, but the men took no heed of this. They attacked the guards in turn; in fact they did everything that lay in their power to get the food, which was quite unfit for human consumption. The poor fellows were raving mad with hunger.

The following day six of these poor creatures died from poisoning through having devoured the refuse food. The other prisoners in the camp felt so sorry for the Belgians that a collection of food was made for them.

The Military Service Act, 1917

Notice to Employers

The attention of Employers is especially called to the following provisions of the Regulations passed under The Military Service Act, 1917, and The War Measures Act, 1914, which directly affects them.

EMPLOYER TAKING UNDUE ADVANTAGE OF EMPLOYEE. Every employer, and every person acting on behalf of any employer, who stipulates or attempts or offers to stipulate with any employee or other person for any reduction of an employee's salary or wages, or for the alteration of any other term or condition of his employment, in consideration of the employer exercising or refraining from exercising his right to claim exemption from military service on behalf of any employee, or who alters or attempts or offers or proposes to alter, adversely to any employee, any of the conditions of employment affecting such employee by exercising or refraining from exercising or by authorizing or suggesting the exercise or abstention from exercising of his right to claim exemption from military service on behalf of any employee, shall be guilty of an offence, punishable on summary conviction, by fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the convicting magistrate; the fine to be not less than one hundred dollars and not more than one thousand dollars, and the imprisonment not to exceed six months.

EMPLOYING MEN WHO ARE IN DEFAULT. Every person shall be guilty of an offence, and liable on summary conviction to a penalty of not less than fifty dollars, and of not more than five hundred dollars, who, after the expiry of the time within which a man is required to report in accordance with section 4 of the Act or to apply for exemption, employs or engages in his service, or continues in his service for a period of seven days, any man who belongs to any class or sub-class which has been called out, and who has not reported as required by section 4 of the Act, or in respect of whom an application for exemption has not been made.

EMPLOYEES TO ANSWER. (b) It shall be the duty of every employee to answer any questions that shall be put to him by his employer, and to give any information which his employer may require of him for the purpose of enabling the employer to comply with the duty imposed upon him by this section.

REPORT TO MINISTER. (c) Every employer shall, forthwith after the expiry of the time so limited by any such proclamation, report to the Minister (of Justice) according to the best of his knowledge, information and belief, the names and addresses and the whereabouts at the time of all employees in his service called out by any such proclamation who have failed to report to apply for exemption from service.

PENALTY. And any person who is an employer who refuses, neglects or fails to comply with any of the requirements imposed upon him by this section shall be guilty of an offence and liable, upon summary conviction, to a penalty not exceeding, as to each employee in respect of whom he has so refused, neglected or failed to comply, one hundred dollars and not less than fifty dollars, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the convicting magistrate.

EMPLOYING DESERTERS. Every person who employs or retains in his service any man who has deserted, or who is absent without leave, from the Canadian expeditionary force, shall be guilty of an offence, punishable on summary conviction by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or by a penalty of not less than one hundred dollars, and of not more than five hundred dollars, unless such person prove that he was not aware, and had no reasonable ground to suspect, that the man so employed or retained in his service was a deserter or absent from the force without leave.

wagon containing the leavings and refuse from the Munster camp came up the road on its way to the pig-gery. As soon as the Belgians caught sight of the slops they broke through the guards and threw themselves at the men who were pulling the wagon, whilst others scrambled on the wheels and on the shafts of the wagon. The Belgians fought each other like wild beasts. The guards rushed upon them and beat them down with their rifles, but the men took no heed of this. They attacked the guards in turn; in fact they did everything that lay in their power to get the food, which was quite unfit for human consumption. The poor fellows were raving mad with hunger. The following day six of these poor creatures died from poisoning through having devoured the refuse food. The other prisoners in the camp felt so sorry for the Belgians that a collection of food was made for them.

Use Feet on Women. Pte. Hobin stayed at Munster five months and was then moved to Dusseldorf, on the Rhine, where he was put to work unloading timber at a paper factory. "We were working with German women," writes Pte. Hobin, "who, however, were not allowed to speak to us, or even acknowledge us. I have seen women who have been caught talking to prisoners plucked out of the yard and man officials were very strict in this respect, and showed no mercy towards women who so much as asked a question. The officials were just as fond of using their feet to their own women as they were with the prisoners. I have known of these unfortunate victims returning to the yard for their pay, which had been left standing over, but they never got it. Instead they were threatened with prison and in some cases the threat was carried out. The Kaiser in Danger. The writer relates an attempt to kill the Kaiser: "The German Press, no doubt well under the thumb of the Censor, tried its best to keep dark the fact that an attempt had been made on the Kaiser's life. News, however, spreads quickly, and it came to my ears whilst working at this camp that an attempt had been really made to assassinate the Kaiser. "Whilst driving through one of the streets in some city, the name of which I forget, a man in the crowd fired a revolver at the Royal carriage. The bullet, however, missed the Kaiser, but killed a chauffeur. "Even workmen I have met, who at one time praised their Emperor up to the heavens, have now come to show an utter hatred for him, which one of these days may be turned into ect. At any rate, I wouldn't like to change positions with the Kaiser. No one seems to have a good word for him, and in my opinion there will be a terrible burst-up in Germany if the war does not end soon."

Falls in Attempt to Escape. It was at Dusseldorf that Pte. Hobin made his second attempt to escape. "The getting away from the yard where I was employed was quite an easy job," he writes. "One day at midday, instead of going to partake of dinner, which was comprised of a bowl of anemic-looking soup, I tucked my coat under my arm and quietly walked away without being observed. I made my way to the river, but could not find any sign of a boat for the purpose of crossing. I then made my way up the river, and strange to say, I never met a soul. Later on I came to a wharf, and to my joy I saw a number of boats lying alongside. I stealthily made my way forward, and in the act of unfastening the door when a guard appeared on the scene. I threw myself in the bottom of the boat, but I was too late. The fellow had spotted me. He called out to me in German to halt, and then coming to me he hauled me out of the boat, and I was forthwith conveyed back to the camp. For this attempt I was sentenced to fourteen days' solitary confinement, but this did not hurt my feelings. I was accustomed to anything now. Hard knocks were received with a smile, in fact, we received kicks as though they were mere taps of friendship. The punishment meted out in the cells at this camp was child's play compared with that of Oberhausen. I had a bunk to myself and slept on a mattress which was made of paper. To look at the mattress one would have thought it was made of good brown sack, but closer observation showed that it was paper. It, however, served the purpose just as well as a pre-war mattress made from cloth. Pte. Hobin, by this time, had become quite conversant with the German language and had also been the ring-leader in a strike against Sunday work the punishment for this being to stand at attention for two Sundays. Later he was sent to Burgsteinfurt, a camp near the frontier. Pte. Hobin, says that men who are regarded by the officers there as men who have remained unshaken by the discipline of the ordinary camp. So long as the German guard has his prisoner terrorized, then he has no need to be afraid, but when a prisoner, like myself for instance, refuses to be bullied into submission, he is looked upon as a danger in the camp. For this reason, he is sent to a camp near the frontier, which is a great temptation for a man to try and escape. The Germans know this, and they also know that it is a hundred to one chance of a man crossing the frontier a prisoner of war however, is tempted by the bait of the frontier, and driven to desperation, he tries to gain his freedom. This is what the guards want him to do, for then they have the chance of using their firearms and savage bloodhounds to end his existence. "I met a Russian there who told me that his chum, whose name was Tavansk, had on six occasions tried to get away, but had been captured every time. He had had to undergo the most brutal and inhuman punishment, but the fellow came out of the cells smiling every time. In the end he was sentenced to a long term of imprisonment, but whilst awaiting removal to prison he broke away for the seventh time, and succeeded in eluding capture."

SIDE TALKS

By RUTH CAMERON
THE DREAD OF NEW FRIENDS.

Do you rather dread to meet new people? The tenth may be a real event in one's friendship life.

Just Supposing I Hadn't Gone!

Last winter I met two new people. I had been invited half a dozen times to meet these people before. In the previous winter I promised several times in that pleasant way we promise such things to go and call on them some day. Finally, however, I was cornered and went. I remember how much I dreaded going that evening. I had been up very late the night before and had another engagement that had to be squeezed in ahead of that call. And behold that call opened one of the most congenial friendships I have ever had in my life.

They were such folksy people. In ten minutes we were really talking, not just making conversation. We stayed until midnight and went home in a fine glow of mental excitement.

Congential Incomes and Congential Tastes.

We have met these people again and again since then and found them that rare and delightful combination, congenial people with a voice of humor, congenial incomes, and congenial tastes.

And to think I missed a year of their company just because I let that fool dread of meeting new people, that mental inertia keep me from getting out and meeting them before!

After all, our human relationships, friendships, love, family ties are the most important things in life. Houses, possessions, pleasures are just the background for these relationships.

No one can afford to get in a friendship rut.

Have you made any new friends this past season?

Good Night Stories

A HALLOWEEN FAIRY TALE.

Mazie's grandma had been ill for some time, and the little pile of money grandma had saved was fast dwindling away.

Mazie ran errands and washed dishes for the neighbors to help grandma, and she was so little they all felt sorry for her and gave her nice things to eat. These Mazie would hide and take them home to grandma. She tried to get along with little for herself, so grandma could have the things she needed, for Mazie was the most unselfish little girl that ever lived.

One day grandma heard some little girls inviting Mazie to a Halloween party, and after they had gone she called Mazie in and handed her some money to buy a new dress.

"That one is too old and too faded to wear for a party," grandma said, "and I can spare the money."

Mazie's eyes fairly danced. "And can I buy just what I want?" she cried. When grandma nodded, Mazie ran all the way to town, returning with a nice, warm shawl for grandma.

"There, now, I've been wanting it this long time. It will keep you warm!" laughed Mazie, and grandma hadn't the heart to scold.

Halloween night came, and grandma and Mazie sat before the fireplace, grandma telling Mazie tales of ghosts and robbers, trying to make up for the lost party.

"Yes, they used to say, 'Snead molasses on your step and just at midnight you can catch a Halloween elfin. Before you let him loose make him promise to grant your wishes,'" said grandma.

"Let's try it," laughed Mazie, and she ran for the can and spread the molasses on the doorstep. Then she drew the stool up near grandma's feet to wait for the midnight hour.

The old clock on the shelf boomed out the hour of 12, and Mazie peeped out of the window. Sure enough, there on the step a tiny Halloween elfin was struggling to get out of the molasses.

"Help me out! Don't you see, I can't see loose!" cried Mazie, forgetting what grandma had said about making him promise to grant her wishes, ran out of the door and helped the elfin out of the molasses and pulled him into the house.

"Why didn't you ask me if I'd grant your wish before you helped me?" asked elfin.

"I never thought of it!" answered Mazie.

"Think real hard, only one wish, and hurry before the cock crows," elfin laughed.

There were so many things to wish for. Mazie needed money for

"I have not been there at all before I learn my father is now a rich, great man, and the king has put a star before him name. Then I am sure to see him.

"I do nothing to see him. I got a job. I get many jobs. I can take care of myself better in such a big city.

"One day in the street I hear a man say my father's name. 'That is he,' he said, and I look and I see my father. He is riding in a fine motor-car with his wife and his white children. My heart beat fast to see him.

"He is a handsome, proud man, not very old yet. He was just a boy when he was in our country; my mother tell me so. A boy with yellow hair, who laugh all the time and play jokes, she say. Still he likes to laugh I see by the lines in his face.

"After I see him in his fine motor-car I am more scare. 'What does he want with a poor girl like me, I think, and I do nothing to see him. But all the time I read the newspapers to find out about him.

"Then I see there is going to be a big, what you call, political meeting, and my father is going to speak. So I go to the skating-rink on that night, and all the people look at me because there is no other red girl go to that political meeting.

"But I do not care. I am crazy to hear my father's voice. When he stand up to speak my heart knock in my breast like the stick-kettle when they dance.

"He speaks. It is beautiful. I do not understand it all, but I am happy because my father is a good, kind man who wishes good to all the poor people. Always he is working for the people, he says. His voice was as sweet and strong as an organ in church. When I hear him speak I know for sure he is my father, because I feel the same inside as him, but I cannot speak it.

"After that I think much I go to see him. I am afraid and I am not afraid; he is kind, he feels for poor people. I think maybe I go as a poor girl, and not tell him I am his daughter. At last I go.

"When I see his house I am scare again. It is as big as a hill. It has a hundred windows. Long time I walk outside the place. 'You are a fool,' I say to me, 'you have done nothing against him; he will not be angry.'

"At last I go to the door. A man comes. He says my father is out and closes the door to me. As I am going down the steps my father comes in his motor-car. He ask me what I want. I say I want see him. He laugh and take me inside with him, into a room. It is like a dream, my legs are shaking.

"It is a beautiful room with high windows. All around the walls there are books with different-colored covers. There is a big desk, and he sit behind it, and lean back and pull off his gloves.

"He smile, showing his beautiful, white teeth, like my mother tell me, and he ask me again what I want. I am so scare I say the first thing I think. I ask him for a job.

"He is very kind. He say: 'Certainly we will find you work. What can you do?'

"I say I am a good laundress, or a cook, or a nurse. We talk some more. He is still kind. He ask me how long I been in Winnipeg, and where I work and sell. But always I am too scare to say in that fine room: 'I am your daughter.'

LADY'S WAIST.

By Anabel Worthington.

As far as the pattern goes this business-like tailored waist is severely simple, but when it is trimmed with dainty ruffles or platings it becomes quite a dressy affair. No. 8478 has two tucks at each side of the front and a box plait at centre front. The back is plain. The broad sailor collar is a new feature on shirt waists and in this case it joins the revers which are formed by rolling back the front edges. The long sleeves are gathered into rolled cuffs, two styles of the latter being given.

The lady's waist pattern, No. 8478, is cut in four sizes—36 to 42 inches bust measure. As on the figure the 36 inch size requires 2 yards 3/8 inch material with 4 1/2 yards of plaiting.

"To obtain this pattern send 15 cents to The Courier, Brantford. Any two patterns for 25 cents."

ITALIAN FORCES STILL RETREAT

Considerable Fighting Taking Place in the Hills of Vittoria

BIG ENEMY CLAIMS
Berlin Says Altogether 250,000 Men and 2,300 Guns Have Been Taken

New York, Nov. 8.—The Associated Press issued the following tonight: "There has been no cessation in the retreat of the Italians across the Venetian Plains towards the new line of defense, on which it is supposed to stand and face the invading Germans and Austro-Hungarians. The larger units of the Italians are falling back without molestation, according to the Rome official communication and very heavy fighting has taken place in the hills of Vittoria and at other points in the north."

The Berlin War Office says that on the middle Tagliamento River Italian troops who were still standing out against the invaders were captured. A General and 17,000 additional Italian troops are reported to have been captured, bringing the total prisoners since the retreat from the Isonzo began to more than 250,000, according to Berlin. It is also said that in excess of 2,300 guns have fallen into the hands of the Teutonic allies.

Along the line in France and Belgium only artillery duels and raiding operations by the French and British forces are taking place. Big Teuton Claims.
Berlin, Nov. 8.—The text of the German communication to-day follows:

"Our detachments, advancing on the mountain roads, have broken the resistance of the enemy rear guard. By an out-flanking movement our attacking columns cut off the retreat of the enemy troops still holding out on the middle Tagliamento between Tolmezzo and Gemona and on permanent fortified works of Monte S. Simeone."

"Up to the present 17,000 Italians, among them a General, with eighty guns, have had to surrender. In the plain, fighting has developed along the Livorno River. By a vigorous advance, German and Austro-Hungarian divisions, in spite of destroyed bridges, have forced the crossing and have thrown the enemy back westward."

"The total number of prisoners captured has now been increased to more than 250,000 and the booty in guns to more than 2,300."

What Rome Admits.
Rome, Nov. 8.—The text of the Italian statement to-day reads: "During yesterday we continued the withdrawal of our line. The larger units have retired without being molested by the enemy. Numerous detachments took place between the hills of Vittoria and the confluence of the Monticiana and the Livorno, in the course of which our brave covering troops succeeded in detaining the enemy's advance."

"In spite of strong resistance on the part of the hostile machines our aviators renewed their bombardments of enemy troops along the Tagliamento. Five enemy airplanes were brought down."

Front of 35 Miles.
Italian Army Headquarters, Nov. 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—The bulk of the Austro-German invading forces to-day presents a main frontage of about thirty-five miles back of and along the Tagliamento River, with reconnaissance parties thrust forward eight or ten miles west of the river for the purpose of feeling for the points of least resistance. This is producing large engagements, but no battle in force has yet occurred."

The Livorno River, to which the Italian withdrawal is now progressive, is only one of a series of successive defence parallels. The Italian army still has in reserve large bodies of troops, which, however, naturally feel the effects produced by the recent retirement of their main body. Large reinforcements at this moment, therefore, would render invaluable assistance in the opinion of the military authorities."

The enemy territorial occupation in eastern Friuli presents a sinister aspect far beyond its military purpose. The Alps heretofore have been the traditional boundary between the northern Teutonic and the southern Latin races. The Austro-Germans recognize the Alpine boundary, except for Trent and Trieste."

Now, for the first time, the Teutonic forces are occupying territory in the Friuli Plains, which are the easternmost part of Venetia and age-long possessions of the Latins."

Such an invasion strikes at the very heart of the principle of nationality, and also thrusts a Teutonic wedge along the Adriatic. This brings up the grave question of whether Germany will finally secure territorial lodgment with ports and naval bases on the Adriatic, thus realizing her aim to become a Mediterranean as well as a North Sea power, unless the allies curb them back from the Friulian Plains. This would seem to be a warning to the allies that no time is to be lost in reinforcing, concentrating and coordinating."

The Victory Loan Campaign

"Your credit is good." That is the feature of Canada's Victory Loan which is offered to the public to-day, that and the high rate of interest, 5 1/2 per cent. The bonds are in denominations of $50, $100, $500 or up, and all anybody has to "pay down," is 10 per cent on Dec. 1. But though a deposit of only $5 is required for a $50 bond (and a like per cent for the others), the full first half year's interest will be paid on June 1 of next year JUST AS THOUGH THE SUBSCRIBER HAD PAID THE FULL PRICE ON DEC. 1. That means that while the interest is nominally 5 1/2 per cent, it figures out to 5.51 per cent for buyers of 20 year bonds, 5.53 per cent for buyers of 10 year bonds, and 5.51 (over 5 3/4 per cent) for buyers of 5 year bonds.

How to invest? It's the simplest thing possible. The citizen simply goes to any branch of any bank and signs an undertaking to pay, on Dec. 1, ten per cent of the value of the bond for which he wishes to subscribe. If he has a bank account, he gives his check; if not, his promise is sufficient. Then on the date mentioned his check is cashed by the Government or his undertaking to pay is made good. Having thus paid his first 10 per cent, he continues to buy his bond on the instalment or "easy payment" plan as follows during the year 1918: Jan. 2, 10 per cent; Feb. 1, 20 per cent; Mar. 1, 20 per cent; April 1, 20 per cent; May 1, 20 per cent.

Put it another way. A man who can afford to pay $5 down on December 1 of this year can buy a Victory Bond by saving the following amounts per pay thereafter: During December a little over 16 cents; during January, February, March and April, about 33 cents. He will then have his bond fully paid up by May 1 of next year, and on June 1 he will receive his first interest at the rate of 5 1/2 per cent, per annum, not reckoned on the payments he has made then, but on the par value of his bond as though it had been paid for in cash on Dec. 1, 1917.

Where will he get his interest? At any branch of any bank in Canada by simply presenting a coupon. Everything has been done to make it easy for Canadians to subscribe for the Victory Loan. And everything has been done to simplify the process whereby they will get the very generous interest which the country is prepared to pay.

"Hun Phantom" Aviator Former Six-Day Grinder

"Fantomas," Daring German Birdman, Recently Killed, is Identified as Walter Rutt, Former New York Bike Rider and Champion of the World

New York, Nov. 8.—According to advices received here to-night the identity of the daring German aviator, nicknamed "Fantomas, the Ghost Airman," who was killed on the Western front a week ago, is known. He was Walter Rutt, world's champion bicycle rider—thousands of New Yorkers have cheered him in the past—the man who for months harassed the Poles and earned for himself the reputation of being one of the most fearless and brilliant of the Hun birdmen.

For years Rutt rode on the famous eastern tracks, and twice won the six-day race at Madison Square Garden, taking first honors paired with Johann Stoll of Holland, in 1907, and again with "Jackie" Clarke of Australia, as his riding partner, in 1909. Early in 1914, six months before he left this country to enlist in the German army, Rutt and Peter Drobach won the 100 kilometre race at the Newark Velodrome from a field of fast American and foreign riders.

Tales of the prowess of "Fantomas," the German airman, who seemed to bear a charmed life, first drifted across the seas several months ago, but at that time none knew the identity of the Hun raider. The ghost birdman seldom fought other planes or appeared to make military observations. He confined his attention to sweeping down on the French front lines and bombing everything he saw.

Repeatedly it was said "Fantomas" flew so close to the ground that he could have been hit with a hand grenade. Yet, despite many attempts, he was not brought down until his raiding activities had occupied more than a year.

Tales of the prowess of "Fantomas," the German airman, who seemed to bear a charmed life, first drifted across the seas several months ago, but at that time none knew the identity of the Hun raider. The ghost birdman seldom fought other planes or appeared to make military observations. He confined his attention to sweeping down on the French front lines and bombing everything he saw.

Repeatedly it was said "Fantomas" flew so close to the ground that he could have been hit with a hand grenade. Yet, despite many attempts, he was not brought down until his raiding activities had occupied more than a year.

He was killed on the Western front a week ago, is known.

He was Walter Rutt, world's champion bicycle rider—thousands of New Yorkers have cheered him in the past—the man who for months harassed the Poles and earned for himself the reputation of being one of the most fearless and brilliant of the Hun birdmen.

For years Rutt rode on the famous eastern tracks, and twice won the six-day race at Madison Square Garden, taking first honors paired with Johann Stoll of Holland, in 1907, and again with "Jackie" Clarke of Australia, as his riding partner, in 1909. Early in 1914, six months before he left this country to enlist

URIC ACID IN MEAT CLOGS THE KIDNEYS

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a table spoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

HAMILTON TRIBUNALS

By Courier Leased Wire
Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 9.—The local exemption tribunals began their sittings yesterday, but had very few applications to deal with. Until some ruling is given by the provincial registrar, the various tribunals declined to give out any information.

To date, 5,735 men have been examined and 2,749 declared fit for overseas. So far 451 have reported for service. 5,750 of all classes claiming exemption.

Unpleasant—If you were to see the uncounted volume of unmarketable test money in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, you would upbraid yourself for so long delay to take this effective medicine for that blood disease from which you are suffering.

Early Prejudice Against

Stoutest Fighting Men En-

Many Other Manly Profes-

(By James Henry Weidon, in the New York Sun)

With men who wear wrist watches take not too much for granted. They generally have something up their sleeves.

The trinket which now may be seen so often where the arms leave off and the hands begin was once the subject of prejudice. It was the symbol of pink teas, of tango lizards of counts who had crossed the seas intent on marrying the daughters of Porkopolis for their money.

Now times have changed and even the finest of the suggestion of Police Commissioner Woods has been accepted. It may be forced on a man by leather bracelets and tick boxes interested in the same.

They might do worse, for although a wrist watch has to shoot his cuffs as often as William Jennings Bryan and other orators do when in full delivery, he can generally shoot something else, such as the wild beasts of the jungle, when occasion demand it. The wrist-watcher is often the dead shot, and the dead-game sport (and I have known many such).

Once I was talking with one of those gentleman rankers of old England, who by this time is probably somewhere in France, for he was always looking for trouble where it was thickest. He had been away for about three years in the jungles of Africa at that time and was giving a little account of himself.

Among his frank admissions was the story of holding off a band of Ashantees for six days single handed while he kept busy with two rifles and a revolver. Also he had got away with a few tons of ivory in the African jungles and had slain six more bull elephants than the law allows. Incidentally he had shot a lion which was charging him, and had a hand to hand clinch with a gorilla.

He had done things like that before, this harum scarum offscouring of a high-born British family. There was nothing at which he ever stopped, being mostly composed of iron nerve and steel muscles. He had a soft, caressing way when he talked, and when he dropped back into civilization he continued to wear the wrist watch with its grimy leather band which he had taken with him through so many adventures in the equatorial wilds.

"Bally effeminate," he observed, "this tickbug, eh? Maybe wrong, old man, but deucedly convenient to squint down at and time the two-horned rhino that happens to be charging a chap, eh what?"

These days even the bad men, the cattle rustlers of the far west, are taking as naturally to wrist watches as they do to busting broncos or branding steers.

To realize how far the cult of the wrist watch is spreading, just take a walk through a cantonment or watch

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

If Cross, Feverish or Bilious give
"California Syrup of Figs."

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out of sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look. Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mother can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a fifty cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs"; then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

the soldiers foregathering in Broadway. Did you ever notice how many of the best marksmen, with their records on their collars in the form of special buttons showing their qualifications, are also cuff shooters. The country is full of warriors who are boldly wearing wrist watches, and (God save the mark:) some of them have handkerchiefs tucked up their sleeves as well.

The fashion of wearing wrist watches was well established in the armies of the allies early in the war. Nowadays a wrist watch is regarded as part of the necessary equipment of an officer either in the land or sea forces. If one observes war pictures closely one is likely to detect on the wrists of soldiers in the trenches, either while they are firing rifles or sending up bombs and hand grenades small, round ornaments. These show at a glance that spry Tommy Atkins and the bearded poilu alike are given to having their time handy under their sleeves. Often you will see the little round patch also on the wrists of the gun pointers as well as on the arms of soldiers of the sea.

Originally it is said, officers in the British service carried the horological devices in such convenient form so that they would never miss their 5-o'clock tea. Frequently gallant lieutenants playing dead in No Man's Land would note on their wrist watches that tiffin was nigh and with murmured apologies rise quickly and beat their way to the bomb-proof amid a rain of bullets, often only just on time for tea.

Despite all the denunciations which have been leveled at it, the wrist watch has come to stay, for it has been used in the parades of the National Guard, in the march of the Selected the other day, and no doubt it will be seen on the wrists of Sam-

BRIDGE COLLAPSE RECALLS ROMANCE OF NORTHWEST

Telegraph Wire Left by Overland Pioneers Was Used by Indians to Build This Remarkable Structure.

The suspension bridge constructed by the Hagwilget Indians across the Bulkley River in Central British Columbia has collapsed and now floats in the waters of Hagwilget Canyon, held by the cables on which it was suspended for more than twenty years. The news will be received with regret by engineers in all parts of the world. This frail structure was regarded as a remarkable example of Indian skill in bridge building and had been a subject of comment in many engineering magazines, while it was also regarded as one of the many features of interest seen from the trains of the Grand Trunk Pacific line. Conceived in the mind of a native and built by his fellow tribesmen, the true principles of the modern suspension bridge were carried into the construction work. The bridge was the third attempt to get a permanent crossing over the Bulkley River, the first two bridges having been swept away by high water. When the Indians built this bridge they had no modern tools, nor did they have nails, spikes or bolts, wooden splines and telegraph wire being used at joints. The bridge had a span of 146 feet and was 19 feet wide.

Interwoven with the story of the Indian bridge is a romance of the Northwest. The telegraph wire used in its construction was discovered by the Indians at a point some eight hundred miles west of Edmonton and 200 miles inland from the Pacific Coast, where it had been hidden for many years. This is how it happened: Between the date of the unsuccessful and the day of the successful attempts to lay a submarine cable which would connect New York and London, a man was put forth for an overland telegraph line from New York to St. Petersburg. The close of the Civil War found the country full of men of mettle. Some of the old campaigners were selected and sent to work.

In the meantime, while these heroic explorers were working away in the wilderness, London and New York were coupled up by the submarine cable. Instantly, all interest in the overland disappeared, as the need of the line no longer existed. Away out on the Northern corner of this continent there is a line of fifty-year-old telegraph poles. It is easy to understand and appreciate the disappointment of these brave fellows who had fought the good fight in sun and rain for over a year and a half, only to be told to quit. And that is how they happened to leave the telegraph wire used in the bridge in a cache on the river, along whose banks the Grand Trunk Pacific transcontinental trains are now travelling.

When this enthusiastic band of workers went home, the "silent places" fell asleep again, and the younger generation forgot. After forty years more of unbroken sleep, other telegraph builders blazed the trail, planting poles and stringing wires. What was regarded as a worthless wilderness was hailed as the new Empire of the North, teeming with natural riches. This time they succeeded, for the men were on the payroll of the Grand Trunk Pacific Telegraph Company, and the wires follow the right-of-way of Canada's new line. This modern successor of the overland has become an important factor in handling the telegraph business of a large section of the continent.

times for years to come. Nobody can gainsay that it is one of the most compact conveniences of modern times. For the soldier and the marine, the continual shooting of the cuff so that they may get a view of the timepieces is of the greatest value as a callisthenic exercise. It teaches a man the use of all his hands.

Prejudice and provincialism always die slowly however, for the other day when I was walking Broadway with a member of the Royal Flying Corps who plainly wore his wrist dial snickers were heard on every side.

"Pipe the guy with the wrist tick!" remarked one wastrel wretch. "Keeps tabs on his pulse so he won't get fussed."

Here was this daring aviator who had sped into the bluest empyrean, who knew no limit of his courage even in the sky, and yet to the graceless and ignorant he was merely the top, the aerial jack-a-dandy.

The Blue Devil who came to our shores recently after his brilliant exploits in the air also wore a wrist watch. Santo-Dumont was among those who started the fashion. The wrist watch goes high in the air with the Lafayette Escadrille, and the steady arms that it adorns bring down many a flying Boche. And yet there are folks who would make the aviator go digging down into a garb buckled and sealed about him in quest of a conventional watch because stupid custom has drained that watches should be stowed in the waistcoat pockets!

The wrist watch has been very slow in coming into its rightful place in the United States. It is about 15 years since it appeared. At first it was considered a piece of jewelry which could only be worn upon a feminine wrist. The bracelet in gold and the timepiece were often combined. There are, of course, some many individuals who wear bracelets even without the pretext that they need them as watch settings. The old Roman legionaries and the fierce Numidians wore the bracelets high on the upper arm so that they could flex their bulging biceps against them.

As a rule the foreigners who were in the habit of wearing their watches that way had either to wear them high up on the arms and furtively read the dials through flaps cut for the purpose in their upper sleeves or go without exact knowledge of the time. Sometimes unfortunate counts and princes narrowly escaped mobbing in the streets; and they returned to their native lands with the idea that it was a capital offense for a man to carry anything up his sleeve but a knife. Many escaped bodily injury by never shooting their cuffs until they were in the shadow.

The estimable wrist watch went through many tribulations in this country. When women wore it at first it was considered outre and masculine; then when men wore one wrist watches without being the targets of abuse. It is never safe anyway to judge the men of any age by the little vanities of the day. Some of the most daring officers of the British navy donned high silk hats when they were leading boarding parties after opposing craft had been grappled stern and bow. Many an exquisite of the reign of Charles I. proved the gallant soldier. Lace and frills and bright ornaments, chains of gold and necklaces of precious stones never really curbed the high courage of a man with fighting blood.

The Merovingian kings went into the thickest of the fray of yore wearing rich turks and with jeweled bosses at their breasts. If there had been such a device in his day I doubt not that Clovis would have worn a wrist watch, and also he would have shattered the brain case of any person taking exception thereto.

These are observations for the purpose of showing that even so hardy and sturdy a race as the Dutch, of New York is not likely to degenerate if hard necessity and new regulations compel them to take to wrist watches. A worse fate than this might befall them. Explorers both of the deep tropical jungles and of the Arctic wilds wear these so-called baubles and neither class would object to being found dead in the woods with them on. Aviators, steplejacks, cowboys, lumberjacks and men in all manner of hazardous callings are finding the simple and easily consulted watch just what they require.

I have even seen the wrist watch on the arms of puddlers and glass blowers, and once in a while a heavy checked longshoreman will be snaphotted throwing cases about with a bale hook guided by a wrist watch on which there is bound a German silver time recorder.

The policemen of the old regime, reaching much to the fore and given to waddling, would have not entered Corcoran's Roust or Poverty Hollow with wrist watches for fear of having the fight of their lives on their hands.

Such has been the spread of enlightenment, however, that in these days a cop might take a chance even there.

For the traffic squad the wrist watch would be essentially valuable in timing the all too swift movements of automobiles and also for determining offhand just when it was proper to let the stream of vehicles resume after they had been damaging it for a while. It is destined to be a permanent institution.

MILITARY HOSPITAL AT LONDON

Convalescent Home For 300 Soldiers To Be Erected There

Announcement is made by the Military Hospital Commission that work is to begin at once erecting a convalescent home for returned soldiers at London. Provision will be made at once for 300 beds with capacity for expansion to 600 or more as required.

The site has been contributed by the London City Council. The area of about 60 acres lies immediately west of the London and Port Stanley Railway on the north side of Commissioners Road, just South of the city limits. The railway is to construct a siding from which supplies will be delivered direct to the Stores Building at the rear of the dining pavilion.

The Ontario Government is bearing a substantial portion of the cost of construction, under an agreement with the Military Hospital Commission by which the plant, when abandoned by the Commission after the war, will revert to the province. The plan and structural style of the institution will conform to the standard types evolved by the Works Branch of the Military Hospitals Commission. There will be a central administration block containing the office space for the clerical staff and a group of rooms arranged to contain treatment facilities such as mechanical devices for re-education of disabled limbs, massage and electrical equipment and the numerous types of remedial baths. Standard types of all these classes of equipment have been adopted by the Commission for use in its hospitals throughout the country, the advice of one of the world's greatest experts having been sought when the decision to standardize was made.

The 300 bed institution will consist of two-story wings East and West of the administration blocks and connected thereto by corridors. Each wing will have 150 beds, about 75 in each story. There will be two wards to the story with one set of service rooms for both. This service consists of linen room, nurses' room, bath rooms, cloak room, diet kitchen and an observation ward of two or three beds for sick cases. Each ward has a sun room at the end where the patients may sit and read or play cards in bright cheerful surroundings.

The kitchen and dining room will be located to the East in close contact with the stores building, alongside the London and Port Stanley Railway siding. They will be connected to the wards by a long corridor.

As expansion becomes necessary additional wings of 150 beds each may be added without interruption of the life of the institution and the site has been laid out so that ultimate provision for 900 beds exists.

Vocational training and recreational activities of the patients have been provided in a separate building which contains the facilities for this important feature of the life of a Military Convalescent Hospital. The building will be practically fire proof and while permitting of speedy construction will also be standard and of high quality.

The equipment throughout will be standard and of high quality used in all the Commission's institutions. The kitchen and dining room plans have been laid out by an experienced dietitian in consultation with the architects and engineers of the institution so that the maximum of efficiency and speed in serving the patients' meals can be achieved.

Persons who are familiar with the Military Hospital at North Toronto, the Ontario Military Convalescent Hospital at Cobourg, the Manitoba at Winnipeg, the Camp Hill at Halifax, the Guelph or other Convalescent Hospitals will be familiar with the plan and style of construction used for this class of institution.

LIBERALS REJECT UNION.
By Courier Special Wire. The Central Liberal Association last night refused to take part in any further arrangements for a joint convention to nominate a candidate. The association decided to call a convention of its own next week at which a straight Laurier Liberal candidate would be nominated. A resolution was passed endorsing the principles of the Laurier manifesto, denouncing the Union Government, and, after debate, a clause was added favoring the conscription of men and money.

Although a number of the leading members of the association disapproved of the association's attitude and announced their intention of throwing in their lot with the Unionists, the great bulk of the party who are definite in their support of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and their determination not to join with the Conservatives under any consideration.

SCRUTINEERS.
Ottawa, Nov. 8.—Under the Military Voters' Act the Government will have to appoint three scrutineers, two overseas and one in Canada, to see that the soldiers' vote is fairly taken. It is understood that the Government's selections of scrutineers are as follows:
