UNITED FRUIT COMPANIES

Hold Annual Meeting at Kentville— Encouraging and Optimistic Re- ports Given

The twelfth annual meeting of the United Fruit Companies of Nova Scotia, Ltd., was held at Kentville on Tuesday. Three hundred delegates and members were present representing 42 subsidiary companies. That the company has had a very successful year was shown by the reports presented.

"We do not hesitate in expressing our belief that the United Fruit Companies have never been of greater value to their members than in the year just closed," said President F. W. Bishop in his annual address delivered at the morning session. "The prices obtained for both apples and potatoes are the result of careful attention to every detail in their distribution and movement."

"We have every promise now of another good apple crop which to date is one or two weeks earlier than last year, and we are glad to note special efforts being made to keep it clean and well fertilized. The grower of today fully recognizes that only the clean and well matured fruit is profitable so lets nothing interfere with the work of dusting and spraying as a little neglect at the time of fungus development means irreparable loss."

The president made reference with regret to the death of Dr. Balcom, for several years a member of the board of management, and to the resignation of Captain J. W. Salter, manager of the canning, vinegar and evaporating business.

He concluded with a plea for loyalty to the organization.

"Are we satisfied to control less than one-third of the apple crop in our Valley and only about four-fifths of the apples of our company?" he asked. "We can never obtain the best results until the fruit growers are working together. If the fault is with our organization, let us consider how it may be improved. It is easy to offer destructive criticism, and one meets it on the street and at many gatherings of fruit growers; constructive criticism is more difficult to obtain."

Encouraging and optimistic was the annual report of A. E. McMahon, general manager of the company.

"It is too early to accurately estimate prospects of the crop in the countries with whom we are competing," he said. "Regardless of what this may be, we have in this organization a protection which, if used properly should produce the best of results. The past season has been the first to our knowledge in which Nova Scotian fruit in competition with American fruit on the English markets produced more money."

Mr. McMahon made particular reference to the value of the home market, "which," he said, "has been retained from year to year at an exceptionally trifling expenditure." This was considered a very valuable connection as four years out of five more was received from sales on home markets than from the fruit which was exported.

In competition with all other Canadian fruit growers, Mr. McMahon said, the organization had exhibited twice in the Imperial Fruit show, first in London, and then in Manchester. On the first occasion they were awarded one gold medal, one silver medal and one bronze medal. At the second exhibit they were awarded a silver cup, and two gold medals in addition to a cash prize.

"This," he remarked, "should be proof positive of the quality of fruit grown in Nova Scotia as compared with other parts of Canada."

He emphasized the fact that in none of the different departments had money been lost during the year, all showing a fair working profit. "Our financial standing is the best in the history of the organization," he declared.

Other reports given were those of A. P. Rumsey, Apple Packing Inspector, and F. W. Bishop, Halifax Inspector. Mr. Rumsey said that the pack of the United Fruit Co. for the past season was, on the whole, better graded than usual. A majority of the Companies put forth a greater effort. Referring to the No. 3 grade, he said that they should be more carefully and better packed, by nearly all the companies; at present they contain too many culls. In the grading of fruit, a little leeway in size, corresponding to the season's growth, was in the speaker's opinion of little consequence, providing quality is strictly maintained. Mr. Rumsey declared against the rigid press and advocated discarding it, as he was convinced that where used, more apples are injured and more slacks result.

The afternoon session was marked by interesting addresses delivered by Dr. W. H. Brittain, of the Truro Agricultural College, whose subject was "Insect Pests"; and F. G. J. Comeau, General Passenger Agent, Dominion Atlantic Railway.

The railway was working with the one object of giving the best service possible in view, Mr. Comeau said. He considered that the Annapolis Valley was in better condition than any other fruit district in the Dominion. He spoke also of the problems of the railway, chiefly the increase in motor travel. The life of the railway depended upon the Valley, he said. Without it the railway could not operate a month.

The following officers were appointed for the ensuing year:

President—F. W. Bishop, Paradise.
Vice-President—E. H. Johnson, Wolfville.
Secretary—K. L. Pineo, Kentville.
Executive—V. B. Leonard, Clarence; C. E. Ellis, Canard; R. S. Harris, Annapolis.

A. E. McMahon was unanimously appointed General Manager for the 13th consecutive term.

Directors were appointed as follows: Annapolis, S. S. Selfridge; Banner, Max B. Newcombe; Bear River, Joseph L. Langely; Belle Isle, J. H. Willett; Berwick, J. N. Chute; Bridgetown, Wm. Stronach; Canard, R. Schafheitlin; Central, S. B. Marshall; Clare, Louise LeBlanc; Cold Brook, R. S. Newcombe;

Major-Gen. J. H. MacBrien, Ottawa, Chief of Staff of the Canadian Militia, who was at Belleville on the day of the military parade in connection with the United Empire Loyalists celebration. He made the journey by airplane and returned by the air route. The distance from Ottawa to Belleville is 170 miles and the return trip was made in two hours.

MRS. A. N. WHYNOTT

There passed peacefully to her eternal rest at Gaspereau, Kings Co., N. S., Mrs. Alex. N. Whynott, aged 69 years. Deceased was a Baptist, and for many years a consistent Christian. Later in life she became closely associated with the Salvation Army, from which she received much spiritual help, and to those loyal people she gave her influence and Christian cheer. She passed from earth with a firm hope in Jesus her Saviour. Capt. Smith, of Kentville, attended her in her ministrations of love through those days of severe suffering, a period of three months. Her maiden name was Olive Spenser, and she was born in Gaspereau. She married Mr. Whynott over forty years ago. Besides a sorrowing husband she leaves to mourn her departure, Saturday, June 2nd, two sons and four daughters, Harvey, of Montreal; Fred, of Lynn, Mass.; Mrs. Robt. Peck, of Kentville; Mrs. J. A. Tibbets (Nora) at home; Mrs. J. E. D'Arcy, of Woodside, Halifax; Mrs. Ernest Tribble, Renfrew, Ont. Two children predeceased her, one young child, and one young man, 22 years old. Her last request was granted, all her children got home to see her, and to receive comforting words. She called all to her bedside by name, even her little grandson, Robert D'Arcy, and as her husband supported her, assuring her they were all there, the children all in, she passed peacefully to her heavenly rest.

Funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Roop, basing his address on Ps. 90; and especially on the words, "So teach us to number our days."

He gave a very tender, yet thrilling and able address enforcing the necessity of being ready. The choir rendered her favorite hymns, "Some Day the Silver Chord will Break"; "Life's Railway to Heaven"; and "Some Time We'll Understand." Remains were taken by train to Windsor where the Salvation Army took charge with No. 2 Band from Halifax, and marched to the cemetery. Capt. Roling officiated, with the Army burial service. Capt. Smith from Kentville sang a beautiful solo, "I will follow Thee My Saviour." Thus all the family met again after many years of separation at the family lot, so to speak, three to await the great Resurrection; and those remaining to prepare to meet the loved ones gone before. The bereaved family have the sincere sympathy of the whole community. Many beautiful floral offerings were in evidence.

MIDDLETON DEFEATS WOLFVILLE

In Hard Fought Game Which Lasted Ten Innings—Score 3 to 2

In a closely contested game of baseball which took ten innings to decide the winner, Middleton won from Wolfville on the former's grounds on Tuesday. The game was witnessed by a good crowd who found the contest most interesting. The Wolfville boys put up their best game of the season and kept last year's provincial champions on their toes throughout the game.

Wolfville opened the scoring when Kenney circled the bases in the first inning. V. Reagh tied the score in the tenth and allowed two hits and struck out one. V. Reagh pitched for Middleton, allowing five hits and had 14 strikeouts.

The teams were as follows:
Wolfville—Barteaux, s.s.; Dick, c.f.; Kenney, 2b.; Phinney, c.; Eagles, 1b.; Murray, l.f.; Elderkin, r.f.; Munro, p.; Leighton, 3b.; Howatt, p.
Middleton—Boyne, c.; Phinney, 2b.; Goucher, s.s.; J. Reagh, c.f.; V. Reagh, p.; Richardson, 3b.; Fisher, r.f.; Wilson, l.f.; Dodge, 1b.

THE LATE SIR CHAS. TOWNSHEND

A memorial service to the late Sir Chas. Townshend was held in St. John's church last Sunday. Appropriate hymns were sung. The rector in his sermon spoke of the many sterling qualities of the departed. A man of great rectitude and integrity and much moral courage. Sir Charles, he said, consistently upheld and lived up to the best traditions of the British judiciary. He was an exemplary churchman, who made his religion part of the serious business of life.

Rev. Mr. Dixon spoke feelingly of the long personal friendship that had subsisted between the departed and himself, which had lasted for nearly thirty years, and which during the last twenty years had been very intimate. He had known four generations of his family, including his venerable father, Canon Townshend, of Amherst, and his grandchildren all of whom he has christened. His loss to St. John's, of which he was a very regular attendant, will be severely felt.

SHEIK'S SUCCESSOR IS ONE OF FINEST ORIENTAL FILMS

There are several types of stories which lend themselves admirably to motion pictures. One of these deals with the Orient, to witness the excellent William Fox screen version of "The Shadow of the East." E. M. Hull's latest novel, which will be shown for the first time at the Orpheum Wednesday and Thursday.

Filled with color, romance and thrilling incident, "The Shadow of the East" casts the spell of the Orient over the audience at the very outset and holds it entranced through its entirety. It concerns the East in all its most interesting phases, having to do with an adventurous English Earl, Barry Craven, who yields to the power of the Orient and, like many others forms a marital alliance with a native girl which nearly wrecks his life and that of another woman whom he really loves.

Frank Mayo as Barry Craven gives an excellent performance. He is the reckless, indifferent Englishman who might find in the very situation, Lolai, his Indian bride, played effectively by Evelyn Brent, commits suicide when she suspects that his love is waning. Her act reaches his conscience and casts over him the shadow of the East. It is not until this is lifted that Craven, though he married Gillian Locke, played by Mildred Harris, really accepts her as his wife.

Miss Harris, beautiful and convincing, plays a role interspersed with real dramatic moments, in a manner that reflects much credit upon her. Norman Kerry, as Said, the sheik, gives his characteristic excellent performance. The picture directed by George Archibald, is without a doubt one of the finest dealing with the mysterious Orient that has ever been screened.

ACADIAN WANT ADVS. ARE WORKERS

Announcement has been made by the M. F. B. A. A. U. We presume, therefore, that all Valley League games in which Richardson has taken part will have to be replayed.

WOLFVILLE FRUIT COMPANY

Holds Annual Meeting—Average of $2.32 per Barrel Received

The Wolfville Fruit Co. Ltd. held their annual meeting in the town hall on Thursday evening, June 19th. Their years work showed they had handled 35,650 barrels of apples, for which they received on an average $2.32 per barrel. By unanimous vote they adopted the new proposal whereby they will get their own returns for their 1924 fruit. This should give the shareholder more interest in his own fruit when he knows that if he takes extra care in growing and handling he gets the full benefit. He also knows that if he does not take proper care of his fruit the price will not be bolstered up by the good care taken by the members of the other Fruit companies. To grow and pack better fruit is their slogan.

Their store operating etc.

Their store operating showed a profit of $67.97 after providing for the dividend on paid up stock. While not a large profit on the turnover the members were well satisfied with the year's business.

The old board of directors were re-elected, viz. C. S. Fitch, W. J. Duncanson, F. B. Westcott, W. S. Eagles, H. D. Johnson, F. L. Gertridge and H. A. Peck.

CLOSING OF NORMAL SCHOOL

The closing exercises of the Provincial Normal College at Truro were held last Thursday morning. Dr. David Sloan, principal of the College, presided, and addresses were delivered by Dr. A. H. MacKay, superintendent of education; Dr. George J. Truman, president of Mount Allison University; and Dr. Melville Cumming, principal of the Nova Scotia College of Agriculture. The musical selections were a chorus of the Normal College, and a solo by Miss Amy Prescott, of Wolfville.

Among those who received diplomas of Superior First Rank were: Helen E. Archibald, B.A.; Amy K. Prescott, B.Sc.; Ella I. Warren, B.A.; Edgar L. DeWolfe, B.A.; Mansel L. McLean, B.A.; all of Wolfville. Allan T. Smith, B.A., of Wolfville; and Fay Perry, B.A., of Hantsport, will be awarded Superior First Rank diplomas on filling certain conditions, meanwhile holding First Rank.

GOODWIN-SMALLMAN

A very pretty wedding took place Tuesday night in the Baptist church, when Evelyn Enid, daughter of Mrs. Lillian J. Smallman of this town, became the bride of Ross Cameron Goodwin, of Moncton, son of Mrs. Miriam Goodwin, of Dartmouth. Dr. A. N. Marshall, of Wolfville, performed the ceremony. The church was prettily decorated with daisies and ferns, there being a large arch at the front of the church, under which the ceremony was performed, and smaller arches in the aisles. These were beautifully decorated and garlands of daisies were hung between them.

To the strains of the wedding march, played by B. C. Silver, the bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Dr. Ralph B. Smallman. She was tastefully gowned in ivory brocade, draped over satin and train with the conventional veil and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses. The bride was attended by Miss Betty Goodwin, youngest sister of the groom, wearing a frock of yellow Charmeuse and hat with streamers to match, and carrying pink carnations. Little Miss Geraldine Clark, wearing peach taffeta and carrying a basket of sweet peas, made a winsome flower-girl. The groom was supported by Ray Goodwin, of Dartmouth.

THE IMPERIAL CONSULATE-GENERAL OF JAPAN REVIEWS

On her return from a very successful lecture trip to Canada, recently, Miss Rosemund Archibald found awaiting her a letter from the Consul-General of Japan who graciously referred to meeting her at the Government House Skating Party at Ottawa in January and his promise to review her King's English Drill. He ends a most delightful endorsement with the words: "I have since tried the system set forth in your Drill and I believe that it will be very efficacious in the purpose for which I understand you intend it, namely, the memorizing of proper English forms by pupils attending schools."

"Thanking you most sincerely for your kindness and for the copy of your Drill which I shall retain among my most-used textbooks, with kind personal regards, I am,

Sincerely yours,
"N. Matsunaga,
"Consul General of Japan."

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Alex. Whynott, Gaspereau, and family wish to thank all the friends for their kind sympathy and help, and hereby extend their gratitude for all kindness and respect shown to them in their sad bereavement.

DR. CUTTEN'S CASE

His Attorney Secures Transfer to Grand Jury for Fair Trial

UTICA, N. Y., June 23.—As sequel to the recent arrest of Dr. George B. Cutten, President of Colgate University, for speeding in Utic, his attorney today secured an order from Supreme Court Justice Louis M. Martin transferring the case from the city court to the Grand Jury.

It was asserted that Dr. Cutten could not get a fair trial before a police magistrate. At the time of his arrest Dr. Cutten said he was hurrying to enable his companion, Raymond B. Fosdick, to catch a train. Dr. Cutten was formerly President of Acadia University and attended the closing exercises there this month.

CORRESPONDENCE

LAW AND ORDER

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN

Dear Mr. Editor,—Warm weather, we are led to believe, is conducive to grumps. However, this particular grump seems to be the annoyance of many people, and a liberal airing through your columns might at least reduce some of the ugliest angles.

I refer to a motor car, propelled thru our streets at any hour when the stars are on duty, with the cut out open, such noise being the proper solace to our tired souls. And why shouldn't we be tired?

This habit of mixing gasoline and "booze" seems to be the coming sport if we may be permitted to use street vernacular. Of course none of our worthy town people indulge in such antics. The outrunning motor cars surging thru our town at night with their accompaniments of shrieks and profuse profanity certainly could not be credited to our "law abiding" citizens. I said "law abiding!"

Re this motor car whose peevish state of well being demands that its cut out be open every night; I have heard of cities (and some day perhaps we shall assume those proportions) where a cut out used on a car driven within city limits is a fineable offence. Of course this is in a city where laws are made and enforced. May I be permitted to use the word "enforced" once again to just remind ourselves that such things "are done?"

We are rambling, but let us return to our subject with a query. Where is the source and supply of the liquid so plentifully profuse? According to "statistics" our recent Montreal detective could find no "source or supply". Of course we don't for a minute question the accuracy of his statement, and of our Mayor and Councilors, not we. But we really do not think the shirto-town is responsible for all of this, and its appalling effects.

To wit—a party of "fishermen" returning on a holiday night to town, demanding "that a fire be made and our fish be cooked and then we'll eat them raw" some day, some one of us may have sufficient courage to stand upon our feet when sufficient evidence has been collected (such as would keep a detective busy for several weeks) and enough sane people be found to demand that the evidence be published.

The recent law adopted in Quebec whereby the drunken driver of a car loses his license for all time seems to be the most effective step yet taken. If this were adopted in Wolfville there would be less motor cars menacing the wayfarer and our sleep less disturbed. "Figs might fly" Mr. Editor, but they are unlikely birds.

Yours for
"LAW AND ORDER"

A STREET SUGGESTION

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN

Dear Editor,—It is the plain duty of our municipal rulers to provide more convenient means of communication between Summer and Main streets than now exists. For those who reside in this vicinity and do business in the eastern part of the town a street running diagonally from Linden avenue to the junction of Gaspereau avenue and Main street would prove a real convenience. Summer street residents who have to make daily pilgrimages to the post-office should also give some consideration. To these the fence erected some years ago on the line of the government property proves a decided nuisance. At present some of the property owners on the south side of Summer street are making most unreasonable objections to the use of their lawns and gardens by busy people who have not time to proceed by prescribed thoroughfares. While our town fathers are considering the matter of additional streets it is to be hoped that the interests of this section may not be overlooked.

POIGNANT PARAGRAPHS

It is noticed that since the sidewalks in the residential section have been "fixed" that pedestrians display a decided preference for the roadway.

It seems scarcely necessary to announce that the new fire engine should be given the right-of-way over other traffic on our streets. Judging from recent exhibitions it would be a very rash sharer of the road who would be disposed to argue the point.

A more generous application of the town sprinkler would be greatly appreciated by townpeople. On Monday evening Main street was a veritable cloud of dust and the appearance of the water-wagon would have been a great comfort. No shortage in the water supply has been reported, but the economy displayed by those who dispense it is exceedingly noticeable.

United States Official

A leading patent attorney of Washington, Mr. Edward Holmes, presented the Bridge Box for copyright. He writes: "The Examiner in charge of the trade mark application was very much pleased with the idea of having a pack of cards enclosed in the box and asked me to ascertain what Moirs charge for the filled box."

He will be astonished when he discovers how low the charge is, cards, chocolates, score sheets and all, and how high the quality of the chocolate is.

That's where the Canadians have stolen a march on the Americans—they know this already.

HOW TO BUILD UP WOLFVILLE

Building a community is everybody's job. The home owner, the landlord, the merchant, the housewife, the minister, the doctor, the school principal, the school board, the civic authorities—in fact, everyone with a distinct home interest must play his part. The local newspaper is the point of contact through which these various elements must function and express themselves. The home town publication is a mirror of the life of the community, inspiring, suggesting, helping and usually sacrificing a great deal to the general work of upbuilding. It is the concentrated reflection of the home town interest, as opposed to activities in its midst, whose sole aim is to take the home town dollar out of town and attach it to the bank account of some foreign corporation.

The appeal of the foreign corporation for the home town dollar is usually an appeal to cupidity camouflaged as safe and economical buying. For the most part it is made in secret—direct by mail—the circular, the booklet, the disguised mimeographed letter systematically prepared by expert mail salesmen, with the usual "follow-ups" destined to extract and carry away to the distant bank account the money of the unthinking. The very secrecy of the appeal is its own condemnation.

It is amazing to note how slow is the average newspaper reader to appreciate the value of frank and open newspaper advertising. Not only in this way is the housewife enabled to learn what the market has to offer, but in the frank open advertisement lies an absolute security from exploitation. Newspaper advertising is the housewife's weekly insurance. The day has passed when the advertiser dare be dishonest. The statements in an advertisement are shouted from the housetops. They are too easily checked up. They become the guarantee of service and of honest dealing. The direct-by-mail appeal is like the secret whisper passed from ear to ear but without any general publicity that ensures complete honesty of statement. As a rule its underlying principle is sinister. To supplement and become a part of any well-organized campaign it has its value, but standing alone it should arouse suspicion rather than confidence.

COMMUNITY RESPONSIBILITY

A very lamentable lack of interest in the matter of community affairs is evident at the present time. This condition is not peculiar to any particular section but appears to be a product of present day living, which is common to every sphere of activity. THE ACADIAN is not disposed to deny that very substantial progress has been made along most lines since the "good old days" to which reference is sometimes made, but at the risk of being regarded as old-fashioned we venture the opinion that while we have gained much since then it has been at the sacrifice of much that might with profit have been retained. The rigid business economics of those days if applied to modern affairs, either public or private, would produce surprising results.

The field of athletics has undergone a transformation that is equally as significant as is business conditions. When our fathers attended school the games which they played were participated in by all, but today there is a "team" which monopolizes activities while their fellows watch and applaud or criticize. When it comes to community sport the same course is followed to the extent that in some cases the athletic reputation is sustained by paid representatives maintained at public expense and often at heavy cost.

The method of discharging our public duties by proxy is one not calculated to promote community interests to any great extent, and should be replaced by the desire on the part of every citizen to shoulder his full share of responsibility in all matters relating to the support of public institutions and the promotion of community prosperity.

HOME-MADE GOODS

Propos the discussion of the proposal in favor of a more general use of commodities of our own production in these Maritime Provinces it may be remarked that the tendency in the opposite direction is too much in evidence. This is true not only as it relates to the purchase of products of other lands by these provinces at large but of the inhabitants of sections within the provinces as well.

To make a local application it should not be necessary that in this fertile Annapolis Valley a simple article such as ice-cream should be supplied by Halifax, Truro and other makers. When properly made and not spoiled by harmful adulterations ice-cream provides a wholesome and nourishing food, the generous use of which might very properly be encouraged. In this Valley there should be ample provision to supply the demand of our people for the delicacy without resorting to a practice which often involves the unnecessary expense of shipping the cream to distant parts and paying excessive charges on the furnished product when shipped back to us. The modern taste for this toothsome article of diet is to a considerable extent perverted to a degree that demands a product far inferior to what might be profitably supplied at home. The same principle applies to bread and many other commodities, the supplying of which might be amply provided for by local institutions, thereby providing for the employment of additional workmen and as a result a greater prosperity to our own people.

It isn't difficult to discover greater sorrow than we experience ourselves.

But that doesn't mean that we should go around seeking it so that we may have something against which to loose our wrath. The difficulty with the most of us is that we never know how fortunate we are and further more don't wish to be told. If we were we'd have to find something else to complain about, for who is there that is entirely satisfied?

Many times our greatest regrets are of our own making. Usually we could keep most of the sadness out of our lives. But unfortunately we are inclined to go about seeking new causes for complaint, despite the smoothness of nearly all the pathways we tread. Happy, indeed, is the man who knows his own blessings. Yet how many there are who try as hard to find reasons for rejoicing as to discern new causes for complaint.

Let us learn to smile at the world if we wish it to smile back at us.

WOLFVILLE AS A CONVENTION TOWN

Wolfville is evidently becoming the convention town of Nova Scotia and is very likely to become more popular from that point of view as time progresses. This year perhaps the most important of these gatherings, aside from the Baptist Convention of the Maritime Provinces which meets some time at the end of August, will be the convention of the Maritime Odd Fellows, which takes place during the same month. Both these assemblies will be largely attended and will bring a great many visitors to Wolfville. In addition to these the Maritime Baptist Young People's Conference meets here from August 1-3 and the Nova Scotia Dental Association will be with us on July 15-16. There will also be the usual Missionary Conference and School of Methods and likely other gatherings of more or less importance.

The reputation which Wolfville has of being the prettiest town in the Maritimes makes a special inducement to summer visitors of all kinds that is hard to resist. This and the advantage which the town possesses for the accommodation of those who come to us are very convincing arguments in favor of Wolfville as a meeting place for organizations of various kinds. No effort should be spared by those in authority and citizens in general to maintain the popularity in this regard which our town now enjoys, as well as to add to its attractiveness by every means within their power.

ORGANIZATION

Individual effort could never have built the Panama Canal or won the World War. One person, no matter how strenuous, never put a town on the map, or won distinction for a cause. Corporations, communities and schools are made big, dominating, and effective only through the everlasting team-work of organization.

PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO LATE CHIEF JUSTICE

BRIDGETOWN, June 19.—When the Supreme Court opened at Bridgetown yesterday, Mr. Justice Ritchie made the following remarks:
"Sir Charles Townshend is to be buried today. Since his death he has been much in my mind and the day of his funeral is an appropriate time for me to pay my tribute to his memory. When I came to the Bench twelve years ago, it was my good fortune that Sir Charles was Chief Justice. I entertained for him feelings of sincere regard and respect and it was therefore a great pleasure to me to serve under him. Sir Charles was an ideal Chief Justice; his dignity and courtesy on the bench were unflinching; he was an able and sound lawyer, and a lasting tribute to his legal ability will be found in the reports of the Supreme Court of Canada, as his judgments were very seldom reversed.
For the past four years he was my near neighbour at Wolfville, and a friendship which had existed between us for years became closer. His death came to me as a personal loss. A great judge and a cultured Christian gentleman has gone to the reward of the just."

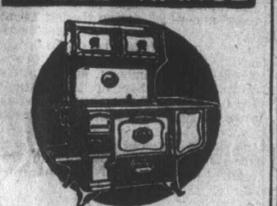

MIDDLETON DEFEATS WINDSOR

Vaughan Reagh Pitched Valley Champions to Third Straight Victory
WINDSOR, June 19.—Windsor entertained the Middleton baseball team this evening on the athletic grounds in a loosely played game which was won by the visitors by a score of 11-3. This is Windsor's third game in the Valley League and the first game they have shown anything on the score column, being blanked at Middleton and Wolfville.
The first few innings were very good ball, but in the closing inning the locals went in the air and allowed runs to come in on errors.
The teams lined up as follows:
Middleton—Boyer, c.; Phinney, s.s.; Goucher, 1b.; V. Reagh, p.; I. Reagh, c. l.; Parsons, 3b.; Bentley, 2b.; Richardson, l.f.; Wilson, r.f.
Windsor—Singer, 3b.; Fogarty, 1b.; Kuhn, l.f.; Baker, 2b.; Clark, r.f.; Smith, s.s.; Robertson, c.; Anthony, c.f.
Umpires—W. Smith and G. McElhiney.

Minard's Lihiment, the Athlete's Remedy

You cannot do anything at all unless you raise up in Britain today a crop of real moral and intellectual leaders, who shall compare at least favorably with the great Victorians—with the big figures of the last century, whom many of us remember, despite all their shortcomings. And if, perhaps, those new leaders that we need are to come to us from Overseas, from the far-flung gates of our wonderful Empire, then you have got to raise up here men big enough to meet these new men half way, to meet them as equals and as brothers—in the common cause.—Professor W. Caldwell.

MARK TWAIN AGAIN

A subscriber to a Missouri paper once edited by Mark Twain wrote him stating he had found a spider in his paper and wanted to know if it meant good or bad luck. Mark replied: "Old Subscriber: Finding a spider in your paper was neither good luck nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant is not advertising so that he can go to that store, spin his web across the door, and live a life of undisturbed peace after ward."

The whole purpose of advertising is to show you ways in which you can live better, more comfortably, and more happily. Read the advertisements, it will pay you.

It's easy to write to an out-of-town correspondent. It's not so easy to be sure your letter reaches him. The uncertainty on that point is one of life's irritating little worries—and sometimes not so very little at that. But, big or little, it's a worry easily dodged. Instead of writing, just step to your Telephone, call your man over the Long Distance Telephone Lines and give him your message by word of mouth. Then you'll know he has got your message—and got it right. The Telephone is the only means of communication that can give you that assurance right away.

THE INVERTED PYRAMID

BY
Bertrand W. Sinclair
Author of "North of Fifty-three"

Rod's eyes swept the table and came to rest on his grandfather. A lean old patriarch with a thatch of hair white as the table cover, a mustache waxed to spiky points, a thin, curved nose between deep-set, faded blue eyes. He was past eighty. He could still relish a glass of port, find pleasure in sitting beside a pretty woman, upon whom he would bestow a blend of compliment and reminiscence. For now the old man lived almost wholly in the past. When he walked slowly about the grounds leaning on his stick, he never spoke of what was to be, only of what had been. Rod looked at him and wondered if he would live as long and see so many changes. He was sitting beside Mrs. Wall, a plump well-groomed woman of forty-five. Above the murmur about the table Rod could hear him telling her of the gold rush to the Cariboo in '58. He had a crisp incisive manner of speech. He had been the first Norquay to attend McGill. He was an educated man, almost a scholar, one, in spite of an active life. He had builded well and widely on the fur-trading foundation.

"He was the last of the constructive period," Rod mused. "The governor has merely stood pat. Grove will likely go backward. We're a rum lot."

He had to give over these inturning reflections and be polite. He was seated between Isabel Wall and a Miss Sherburne, a darkly handsome creature whose fascinations were too precious to waste on a mere youth. Miss Sherburne's profile slanted eagerly to the left, toward Phil. But Isabel had no such reservations. Rod was nearest her own age. He was fair game. He proceeded casually to divulge to Isabel such information as she sought about running the rapids in a canoe, about Mary Thorn. She appeared to have a considerable curiosity about Mary. Presently Rod began to wish her deaf and dumb. Outwardly he remained patiently courteous. It was a relief when coffee and cigarettes ended the meal.

It took him some time to escape from Isabel. Normally he would not have minded her chatter, nor her appropriation of himself. But just now his mind held tenaciously to something which had been nagging him ever since that interview in the library. When he saw Phil give over a palpable attempt to segregate Laska and saunter off toward the boat landing, he excused himself and followed.

They walked down the slope together, out on the slip, seated themselves on a bench.

"Give me a cigarette," Rod demanded abruptly, as his first utterance.

Phil handed over his case. Rod took one.

"Getting real devilish," Phil bantered. "Was Grove aboard the Haida when you came through the rapids this afternoon? I didn't see him."

"Down below, I suppose," Phil replied. "I didn't notice. But he was with us. Why?"

"I thought so. What a skunk he is. Yes in this family he's the little tin god on wheels. He thinks everybody is as rotten as himself, too."

"You shouldn't talk like that," Phil remonstrated mildly.

"It's true. You know it is." For a second Phil said nothing to this. "One can't go about shouting unpleasant truths," he observed then.

"What's wrong anyhow?" "I'm to be packed off to McGill day after to-morrow."

"But the term doesn't begin for weeks yet."

"Oh, I'm to visit Aunt Maïda and explore the historic city which has justified its existence by containing the seat of learning where my forefathers absorbed the knowledge and culture which has enabled them to lead such eminently successful and praiseworthy lives," Rod drawled.

"Well, that's no great grief," Phil replied. "Nothing to get fussed up over."

"It was generally understood I was to begin next year. I'm being packed off as a punishment. It seems the family dignity is being compromised by my running rapids in a dugout with a girl."

"Well?" Phil waited patiently. "Grove put a bug in the governor's ear," Rod dropped allusion for plain facts. "The governor wouldn't have thought of disciplining me. Grove's a damned snob. He has his gang here. He thinks I ought to spend my time entertaining them. He imagines it is a reflection on him that I prefer to play with Mary Thorn. Out of his own messy mind he takes it for granted—the governor would never of his own accord have suggested that I was—that I might—oh, damn! I don't like Grove's filthy insinuations, Phil. And I couldn't talk back to the governor. If it weren't for all these people here, I'd beat Grove up for his pains."

"You're hardly up to that yet," Phil smiled indulgently.

"Don't you fool yourself," Rod declared hotly. "I weigh a hundred and fifty-five stripped. I'm as hard as a rock—and he's the mush. You know it, Phil. He's lapped up too much hard liquor, and dabbled too much with that woman he keeps in the Bute Street flat to—to stand the gaff very long."

"Good Lord; nothing gets by you," Phil grunted. "How do you know these things?"

"I have eyes and ears," Rod answered. "And I'm not asleep when I'm in town. He had a little blonde in his harem last year. The latest, I understand, is a voluptuous brunette. He has more light loves than some people have servants. By jove, he's the last one that ought to hint to the pater that I need looking after."

"Maybe it was old Spence," Phil observed thoughtfully. "The three of them were confabbing when the governor asked me to find you. Old Spence is rather strait-laced, and you're his especial charge, you know."

"No, Spence is only an echo," Rod said scornfully. "An echo of other men's thoughts, book history, languages. Old Spence is decent, and he considers me so. Besides, he wouldn't talk I'm-

"Run on. Vacation will end soon enough. I don't suppose your father will go," Mrs. Thorn said. "Better put up a lunch. The chances are Rod didn't think of it."

"I thought of it," Rod came back in time to overhear, "but there was no time. I had to make a get-away."

"Playing hooky?" Mrs. Thorn teased. "Yes. From our honored guests. They can't do anything without being personally conducted. And as it isn't my show, I'd rather let some one else do the conducting."

In ten minutes they were swinging uphill from the narrows, on a path that rose steeply through heavy timber, turning aside here and there for great trees. They moved silently, saving their breath for the climb. High overhead rifts of blue sky showed through interlocked branches. Dew still clung to the bordering thickets. They walked in cool shadow, on ground the sun never touched except in narrow shafts between the canopy of leaf and bough.

They bore on up until they came out on a height of land bare of timber, where only moss carpeted the granite ridge. On their right Little Dent and Big Dent and the twin Gillards lay like dusky green blobs in the shining race of the tide. The red roof of Hawk's Nest was a flaming dot against paler green. The channel below was a still paler shade. The mainland receded to height after height, mountain after mountain, the farther peaks faint blue cones on a ragged horizon.

"What a look. Air's clear as crystal this morning." They walked a hundred yards along the open back-bone. To the left blue-black water mirroring the shore trees, the distant hills, walled on three sides with bold, ravine-spilt cliffs, gleamed in a deep hollow. They plunged downward through dense thickets. The path discovered itself anew, panting a little with the speed of their descent, they stood on a rock shelf thrusting into the Granite Pool, a little lake hidden in the Valdez hills. There was neither inlet nor outlet. It was half a mile broad, mysteriously fed by hidden springs, fed by cool trout rarely disturbed in their aqueous heaven.

In the Granite Pool Rod Norquay and Mary Thorn had a special, proprietary interest, quite apart from the fact that one side of Oliver Thorn's land touched its shore, and elsewhere its cliff borders were fringed about by the Norquay holdings. Their interest was not one of physical ownership. They had discovered it for themselves. They were the first, so far as they knew, to cast a line in those deep, still waters. They had given it a fitting name. Even the trail, cleverly blinded, had been the work of their hands, assisted by Mary's father.

Except Indians and timber cruisers, a ubiquitous and taciturn clan, few people knew that such a lake nestled in the hills so close to the Euclataw. These two, who had haunted it through the summers of four years, kept their knowledge to themselves. The Granite Pool was their own; the way thereto and the angle's joy therein a secret they refused to share. Oliver Thorn humored them in this; it pleased him that two children should have such a sanctuary. Rod evaded divulging the source of the baskets of trout he carried home—justifying himself by the sure knowledge that if all Hawk's Nest knew, vandal parties under Grove's leadership would invade trail and lake, make fish hogs of themselves in the Granite Pool, profaning its beautiful solitude in the name of sport.

A raft was moored to the shelving rock. They got aboard and cast loose their rods as the raft drifted down on a patch of lily pads among which faint splashes sounded intermittently, followed by concentric ripples that spread away till they were lost on the surface of the dark water.

"They're still feeding, thank goodness," Rod observed. "Mary nodded, busy with her gear. She rose, flicked a Royal Coachman forty feet on her third cast and struck a twelve-inch trout. Whereupon they both became galvanized by that curious suppressed excitement which is a heritage from remote periods when man secured his daily food with his own hands, or went hungry."

At four in the afternoon they had taken their leave of the Pool, climbed to the ridge, and were sitting on a downed tree trunk, looking from that vantage at a stream tug far below with a great boom of logs trailing astern. She passed through the lower rapids in the brief slack. Rod's creel lay at his feet, heavy with their catch. He watched the raft of logs move slowly up the channel. Then his eyes turned to the girl, rested upon her with definite appraisal.

Rod had been looking at Mary Thorn more or less casually ever since he was a leggy boy in knickers and she a slim elf in abbreviated gingham dresses. But he had never been so conscious of her as now. So late as yesterday he had regarded her without personal awareness of sex. How was it, he wondered, that a few words from his father, a cryptic hint or two, could make everything different? Nothing had happened. Yet he knew that a different quality had entered their companionship. A boy and a girl could play together without thinking of themselves as male and female. A man and a woman couldn't. His father had warned him that he was a man and should comport himself accordingly. As if a man's natural instinct was to run amuck!—Perhaps that was the truth. Rod smiled uneasily at the notion. He was not precisely an unsophisticated youth, but he could scarcely comprehend that there is only a shadowy border between the frank, sexless affections of childhood and the uneasy glow of maturing passion. He had never nursed a libidinous thought about Mary Thorn. And yet—

His eyes rested on her with a new sort of gaug. She sat staring down Cardero Channel, her hands in her lap, not so much intent on some distant object as deep in one of those long, thoughtful silences into which she now and then retired—a characteristic that Rod liked because it was something he himself often did. Her hair was a brown smoothness about her head, tied back with a narrow ribbon. She was very pretty. Rod decided critically, prettier than any girl he knew. But something more than superficial prettiness attracted him. He didn't know what. It eluded him. She had a woman's bosom and neck. Her body was made up of harmonious contours. Her expression absent, reflective, gave him the feeling that he looked at maturity and wisdom. It surprised him to think that such an aspect of her had never struck him before.

Looking at her, he suddenly felt a queer, constricted feeling in his breast. He desired all at once to touch her, to rest his fingers lightly on that delicately tinted skin. She would laugh at him. He wondered if she would. He wondered what she thought about, locked up in herself like that. What went on in her mind that brought tiny puckers of concentration in her forehead? Was she as suddenly acutely conscious of him, as he was of her? And he wondered fruitfully why he should be troubled by such unaccustomed thoughts and sensations now, when so late as yesterday they two had sprawled together on the mossy benches of Little Dent, laughing and chattering like two boys bent on innocent adventure in the world of boyish action.

Now there was certainly a mischief working in his blood that was not innocent. He knew it. It made him quiver. There was a ferment in his mind as well as in his body. Was this what Spence meant when he discoursed solemnly on the arrival of youth at man's estate? The pitfalls of uncontrolled passion. The ineradicable animal in man. Spence always spoke of the most intimate relations between a man and a woman in guarded terms. He conveyed the idea that it should be a matter of rational choice, on the man's side. Spence never discussed the woman's part; he ignored the woman. The man, then, according to the Spencian ethic, carried on his sexual life according to his innate character. If he was inherently brutish he sought sexual satisfaction promiscuously. The ideal, sanctioned by society, therefore ethically sound, was love, matrimony, the ultimate family, achieved progressively with mature deliberation to bring emotion. Mr. Spence did not inform Rod that this ideal progression depended on a great many uncertain factors. Perhaps he did not know. But Rod had accepted his tutor for several years as an oracle on culture in general, as well as in its specific branches, and it was difficult for him to burn a deaf ear when the oracle spoke of ethics, in spite of the fact that Rod's own observation, the conclusions of a fairly acute if youthful mind stirred doubts. (To be continued)

APOLOGETIC ADVERTISING

A very genteel old lady who fell on evil days was compelled to hawk fish for a living. "I cry it very softly, my dear; I don't want people to hear me!" she apologized to a friend.

Crying it very softly is characteristic of a good deal of advertising which finds it impossible to strike a happy medium between saying nothing and shrieking like a fog-horn. Even in the case of fog-horns, it has been found that a low, insistent note repeated frequently at regular intervals produces better results than a prolonged cyclonic blast; but because the blast is still favored by some advertisers, the merchants and manufacturers who regard advertising as something not very genteel. They either ignore it altogether, so far as its expression in printer's ink is concerned, or use it in an emasculated form from which all life and vitality have been squeezed.

Probably of all forms of advertising, the apologetic, "very soft" type is the least valuable.—Marketing.

SEVENTH

of the series dealing with the establishment of the Bank of Montreal at representative points in CANADA and elsewhere

Completion in 1886 of the Canadian Pacific Railway, a project that had received the moral and financial support of the Bank of Montreal, cast a bright ray of promise across the then somewhat troubled economic life of Canada.

Canada at last was spanned by rail from coast to coast, opening up for profitable development the fertile territory lying between.

The Bank of Montreal signalled the completion of the line by establishing a Branch at Vancouver and later at Victoria, thus completing its transcontinental chain of Branches and bringing to the Pacific Coast banking facilities essential to the successful development of the great economic potentialities there.

Of its 567 Branches, 53 are situated in the Province of British Columbia.

WINS' PH. D. DEGREE AND FELLOWSHIP

R. H. Wetmore, of Yarmouth, to Join Acadia Staff Next Year.

Among those who secured the Ph. D. degree at the graduation exercises of Harvard University last Thursday was Ralph Hartley Wetmore, a graduate of Acadia University, in the class of 1921. Biology was the subject in which he took his degree. During his three years at Harvard Mr. Wetmore has consistently maintained a high first class standing.

Mr. Wetmore is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wetmore, of Yarmouth. After graduation from Yarmouth Academy he took a teacher's training course at the Provincial Normal College, Truro, and taught at Colchester County Academy, Truro; later, he was principal of Parrsboro High School. In his undergraduate work at Acadia he was assistant instructor in the department of Biology for two years, and upon graduation won the Governor-General's Gold Medal.

He entered upon graduate work at Harvard in the fall of 1921. Dr. Wetmore has been appointed to a research fellowship, in the biological sciences, by the National Research Council of Washington, D. C., the value of which is $2500. Under the terms of this fellowship, Dr. Wetmore will continue his research in the botanical laboratories of Harvard University during the coming year. At the expiration of that time he returns to Acadia University as a professor in the Biological Department.

Early strawberries are already being picked and marketed. It is said that the prospects for a large crop are now good, and if satisfactory prices prevail growers should receive a handsome return.

The 74th annual meeting of the Central Baptist Association of Nova Scotia session at Kentville this week, hope to have a full report in our week's issue.

The Methodist Conference last week, Rev. Wilfred A. Burbridge, B.A., of Canard, was appointed in charge of the church at Grand Pre, G. W. Whitman having been nominated.

E. Allen, Melanson, says it pays to advertise. He sold so much wood on account of the adv. which he had in the Acadian for a few weeks he has decided to let the adv. run a little longer.

Another refreshing rain last night very materially affected the prospects of growing crops, which on account of the dry and cool weather have progressed as favorably this spring as former seasons.

Wolfville is Head Quarters for English! Enrollment has been in Miss Rowan's Archery Summer Course. You cannot miss it. Telephone 159 if you have not received the prospectus.

Men connected with the robbing of the Hochelaga Bank collection car Montreal on April 1, when the driver was killed, were on Monday sentenced to be hanged on October 24. The jury was out only eleven minutes.

The provincial examinations are being held this week. One hundred students, of whom eighty are from Wolfville, are writing here. Thirty from Grade XI, 35 from Grade X, 15 from Grade IX, Dr. F. E. Wheeler is Examiner and he is assisted by Messrs. Beardsley, Trethewey and Welsh.

At the request of the Windsor Electric & Power Co., Ltd., the Board of Public Utilities has reduced the cost of electric energy for stoves and other household appliances in that town. The new rate varies from 4 cents to 10 cents per kilowatt hour, depending on the amount used. Why shouldn't Wolfville have as cheap a rate?

The Deanery of Avon, which comprises the Anglican clergy of Kings and Queens counties, convened in the parish Cornwallis yesterday and today. There was a public service at St. John's Church Street, last evening, the pastor being the Archdeacon of Nova Scotia. Beautiful memorials were dedicated to the memory of Mary Robinson, Alma Robinson, William Sutton, Harry Chase, the latter having been a hero of the Great War.

Another accident, the result of careless driving, occurred on Main street Tuesday evening. A Ford car passing a team going in the same direction at the residence of Mr. Charles Wright, collided with another team owned by Mr. Percy Baker, of Gaspeau. The horse was badly injured, the driver of the car forced his horse to climb the bank from the street where it was stopped by the horse steps and had the front wheels smashed. Fortunately the occupants all escaped injury.

On a short summer holiday, St. Michael, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, is a good place to go. The fish finds himself in a little bit of France among a most interesting and hospitable people. And one of the things that will surprise him down here is the small consumption of alcoholic beverages, considering the ease with which they are obtained. Instead of finding that there is a large consumption of good beer, in fact, a large consumption of MORSE'S TEA, which has been the favorite tea in St. Pierre, for over forty years.

WOLFVILLE DEFEATS WINDSOR
 The Windsor team did not arrive for the league game here yesterday until evening, and the game was called after four innings on account of the rain. It was an easy win for the home team, who scored three runs in the second and the same in the third, while the visiting team scored once in the fifth. The line ups were as follows:
 Windsor—Robinson, c.; Wickwire, p.; Gray, 1b.; Baker, ss.; Singer, 2b.; Mahony, cf.; Clarke, 2b.; McDonald, lf.; ...
 Wolfville—Murray, 2b.; Barteaux, ss.; ...; Leighton, 3b.; Phinney, c.; ...; Dick, cf.; Elderkin, lf.; Ritchie, p.

ACADIA SEMINARY GRADUATE WINS RECOGNITION

Miss Dorothy Giffin, of Goldboro, N. S., through her outstanding musical ability, has been appointed a junior teacher in the Sherwood Conservatory, of Chicago, one of the leading musical schools of the middle west.

It is not often that a musician excels both in vocal and instrumental music, but such is the experience of Miss Giffin. On May 26 she received her diploma in piano, and on May 27 gave a pleasing demonstration of her vocal ability before a large audience in the Conservatory. The Chicago Tribune, commenting on the latter recital, said: "A very enjoyable recital was given by pupils of Mme. Arendt (voice department), on Tuesday, May 27, in the 'Fine Arts Building'. One of the pupils taking part was Miss Dorothy Giffin, a Canadian girl, who made a most favorable impression. She possesses a voice of fresh and appealing beauty. Her group of songs included two charming selections, 'Aria from "Susanne" (Handel) and "Until" (Sanderson)."

Miss Giffin has been attending the Sherwood Conservatory during the last two years, studying voice and piano. She is a graduate of Acadia Seminary, and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald I. Giffin, of Goldboro.

Her many friends will congratulate her on her success and will welcome her back to Nova Scotia. She intends spending her vacation at the home of her parents, arriving the first week in August.

GIRL GUIDES ATTEND BAPTIST SERVICE

The Girl Guides, of which there are six patrols of eight members each, attended service in the Baptist church Sunday morning in uniform. Miss Marjorie Haley, as captain, was called to the platform and gave an interesting statement of the Guide movement, showing their relation to the church, and giving the ten laws of guidance. She also read a memorial statement relating to Lady Pellat, the founder of the movement.

Dr. Marshall, the pastor, then took his text from the last chapter of Job, which names the three daughters of Job, "and in all the land were no women found so fair as the daughters of Job". He emphasized the graces necessary to perfect womanhood.

Sunday afternoon a large number were present at the Sunday School exercises in the auditorium. Superintendent Shaw, Dr. Marshall and Mrs. Pulsifer were on the platform. Certificates for excellence in Bible memory work were presented to Viola Pinch, Reginald Pinch, Barbara Eaton, Arnold Tedford, Burpee Balcom, Alma Jackson, Leon Shaw, Margaret Everett, Shirley Elliott, Avis Koop, Charlotte Fullerton, Reg. Moir, Ted Parkard and Harold Roop.

The ordinance of baptism was then administered by Dr. Marshall to the following: Gertrude Phinney, Virginia MacLean, Helen Ingraham, Bernice Coihon, Harold Phinney, Hugh Perry, Verne Graham, Ronald Prescott, Ronald

UBLIC HEALTH SERIES NO. 8

Do you remember that in our third we called Public Clinics (or Extension Centres) "Outposts of Dein the war against sickness?
many of you, readers of this paper,
been able to have your children
one of these clinics and have them examined? Now that roads are ing up, and the haying season not t, we urge you to make a deter-ed effort to secure this valuable ser-at the very first opportunity. Notbe more foolish than the bread-people have of examination; not-ould be more wrong and selfish the neglect of your own or your y's health to the point where actual brings hardship and unhappiness, ally when it spoils the future of people "with all the world be-them."
we have reminded you, the treat-of the sick, even when life can be d, is far more expensive than prevention of sickness. If you have the ings or the threat of disease, it with a great deal to you to have it ered now. If you are perfectly d, it is surely worth while to know to learn how to keep the sun-nessing of good health. If you a disease, well developed, your dread should be lest you ignor-or carelessly spread it and cause
y and death among your dear or your neighbors.
any case, once more we urge you upon your heart that "Knowledge is Power". And the way to get some knowledge of your own body and how to use it is from a doctor's examination.

In a number of the counties of Nova Scotia there are now Public Health Nurses for the necessary work of bringing in cases to the clinics for examination, for following up these patients with guidance and instruction in their homes, examining the school children, and keeping an eye on the health of the county in general. Even the most skilled medical examiners cannot accomplish their work, and the clinics cannot get the best possible results for the people, without this follow-up work in connection. But we must do what we can with the means at our disposal and hope for the municipalities to wake up to ideas of "good business" in the health line before long, and to get wholeheartedly into co-operation with the Public Health work.
Where, however, there is a Clinic established, let the entire neighborhood around it, support the good work and see that no child is allowed to continue, handicapped by defective or diseased conditions that can be discovered and removed by early examination and treatment. In centres where clinics are not yet established, let every public spirited citizen use his influence to make sure that one will be established, and that every person may have a chance to safeguard his health. Your physician will inform you how to take advantage of this clinic service.

THE VETERAN ACTOR, H. PRICE WEBBER

The Daily Kennebec Journal of June 3rd says:
The members of James Fitzgerald Post, No. 2, American Legion, were especially well entertained on Monday evening at their meeting in Legion Hall, by H. Price Webber, the veteran actor, who regaled them for an hour and 15 minutes with reminiscences of his busy life on the stage. Mr. Webber possesses a wonderful fund of humorous and delightful stories of the days when he was treading the boards, and tells them in a way that brings them very vividly to the minds of his audience.
One of the especially fine numbers which brought much applause from the Legionnaires was the talking ballad,
"The Little Major", which is an actual war experience, very pathetic and touching. The manner in which Mr. Webber delivered this number showed to the boys of the Legion, many of whom had never seen him upon the stage when he made that his occupation exclusively, the wonderful talent that had made him popular for so many years wherever he went.

The most effective
beauty treatment known
—is this simple method. Millions now employ it to keep youthful loveliness

You will be amazed, reading this, to discover the perfect simplicity of a beauty secret millions of women use.
Yet it is the most effective known. It will help you, too, in keeping the radiant loveliness of youthful skin.
Regularly, do this Cleanse the skin regularly, authorities say, to keep your complexion lovely, radiant, youthful.

But beware of harsh cleansing methods. They injure skin.
Wash thoroughly with Palmolive Soap—each night before retiring. Rub the creamy, foamy lather well into the tiny pores. Rinse — and repeat the washing. Then rinse again.
Then—if skin is dry—apply a little cold cream. That is all. Skin so cared for is not injured by cosmetics, by wind and sun, or by dirt.

The simple, correct way
You cannot find a more effective beauty treatment. Because Palmolive Soap is blended of rare palm and olive oils—famous for mild but thorough cleansing qualities since the days of Cleopatra. And it is inexpensive.
Just be sure it is Palmolive that you get. Note name and wrapper—for Palmolive is never sold unwrapped. All dealers have it. In one week you will see most encouraging results!

The Port Williams Acadian

PORT WILLIAMS AND VICINITY

Miss Alice Lockwood, of Halifax, who spent last week with her mother Mrs. Margaret Lockwood, returned to her work on Monday.

Mrs. Arthur Jess visited at Scott's Bay last week, the guest of Mrs. William Irving.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McKenzie and son, with Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Gates, motored to Chester on Sunday for the day.

A large number went to Wolfville on Tuesday to the Goodwin-Smallman wedding. Little Miss Geraldine Clarke, of Port Williams, gracefully filled the role of flower girl as she did a year ago at the Smallman-Goodwin wedding.

Rev. O. N. Chipman and Harold, who spent two months in Boston, returned home on Friday. Their many friends will be glad to hear of the steady, if slow, improvement in Harold's health and welcome the resident pastor home. He will fill his appointments next Sabbath.

Mrs. Lila Chase has resigned her position at the Sanatorium and returned home.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday last. Interesting reports were given by the delegates Mrs. Bezanon, Jackson and Mrs. Woodworth. The "Home and School" Committee had the regular program in charge, at the close of which Miss Hiltz, who has been the very efficient secretary since coming to Port Williams last September, was presented with the emblematic pin of the order. She was much surprised and pleased, thanking the members in a few words.

Dr. Margaret Chase, of Halifax, spent the week end with her mother in Church Street.

Mrs. G. C. Ellis, Mrs. S. L. Gates, Mrs. G. Cogswell, Mrs. Bezanon and Miss Ellen Rand attended the Women's Missionary meeting on Wednesday in connection with the Baptist Association in Kentville.

Mr. Fred Balcom is again confined to the house with trouble in his knee. Mr. Reg. MacDow took a blood vessel while lifting the Cooperage and is confined to his bed.

The iron bridge is undergoing much needed repairs. It is being re-floored with heavy plank. Mr. Fred Vaughan has the work in charge. It is open between the hours of 4 p. m. and 7 a. m. The work could not have been done in a more inopportune time as the strawberry season has just begun.

Rev. J. W. Meisner and family, with Mrs. Meisner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Gates, motored to Amherst on Thursday to visit Mrs. Robt. Mahanney.

Rev. Ross Collins occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church on Sunday morning. This is the second time the congregation has had the pleasure of listening to him. He is a forceful speaker presenting his subject in a masterly way.

Seven from the public school went to Wolfville to write the Provincial examinations, five for grade VII, two for grade IX. Miss Coleman (primary) returns again in September for the fourth year's work here, while Mrs. Buckell takes the advanced department, vacated by Miss Rita Hiltz, who retires from the teaching profession. Miss Hiltz will be missed from the community as she has always been ready to help in any good work. If reports are true she has greatly changed her mind regarding her enthusiasm of the rules and regulations of the "Old Maids' Convention" of which she was one of the chief officers—but that was only a farce.

Mr. J. W. Harvey left this week for examination and treatment at the Victoria General Hospital, Halifax.

Mrs. Reuben O'Brien and daughter, of New York, are guests at the home of Mrs. O'Brien's aunt, Miss Ella Wood.

CHASÉ-BANCROFT

LAWRENCETOWN, Annapolis Co. June 19.—An unusually pretty and unique wedding took place at noon on Tuesday, June 17, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Hall, Lawrencetown, when Marguerite Alice Bancroft, eldest daughter of Mrs. Joseph Bancroft, became the wife of Donald Bedford Chase, of Port Williams. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. MacDonald, D.D., of Wolfville.

The wedding march, the beautiful bridal chorus from "Ruth", was played by Miss Miriam Bancroft, pianist, and Miss Kathleen Bancroft, violinist, both sisters of the bride. When the bride herself unattended took her place under an arch of ferns banked with pure white lilies, the guests knew that June in all her experience with brides had never seen a lovelier or more charming one.

Her gown was of white satin, beautifully and elaborately embroidered with opalescent pearls, and she carried a large bouquet of Ophelia roses. The bridal veil was unusually lovely, being the work of the native women of India and the gift of the bride's uncle, Dr. Willard Litch, of Vancouver. Her traveling dress was of sand stain crepe—with hat to match.

Just before the ceremony began two unexpected guests arrived. One, Levi Pictou of Lequille, Annapolis Co., chief of the Micmac Indians, and Daniel Francis, head councillor of the tribe. They brought beautiful gifts of Indian workmanship to the bride, and after telling how the grandfathers of both bride and groom had befriended the Redmen in times of great need, they stated that they themselves had come to express the gratitude of their people for the kindnesses done them so many years ago. It was a pretty and historical finishing touch to an altogether charming June wedding.

The out of town guests were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Bedford Chase, Port Williams; Mr. and Mrs. Hibbert and Mrs. Mosher, Halifax; Mr. and Mrs. George Chase and Mrs. J. W. Harvey, Port Williams; Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Lydiard, Kentville; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Donaldson, Bridgetown; Mr. and Mrs. G. B. McGill, Middleton; Miss Davis, Yarmouth, and Miss Inez MacCallum, Campbellton.

The gifts were numerous and costly, proving the popularity of both bride and groom. After a motor trip around the south shore of Nova Scotia, Mr. and Mrs. Chase will reside at Port Williams.

MRS. ROBERT NEWCOMB

The passing away quietly in her sleep on the morning of June 10 of Paulina, widow of the late Robert Newcomb of Church Street, was a natural and fitting ending of a life unobtrusive and given to the service of her family and friends. A devoted daughter and loved sister, faithful wife and mother, she was loyal to her friends, ever thoughtful of others and was beloved by a wide circle of relatives and friends who will miss her kindly presence and the inspiration of her life.

Mrs. Newcomb was the second daughter and fourth child of the late Captain William and Susan Starr Gillatt and was born in the home where she died. Her untiring and loving care of her aged mother in that home for many years was one of the many acts of loving service of which her life was filled. In her young womanhood she was married to Robert Newcomb, son of the late Hiram and Olive Newcomb, of Newcomb of Union Square, West Cornwallis, who passed away several years ago.

She is survived by four children, Dwight B., of Springvale, Maine; Mrs. Dayarr Morine, of Church Street; Ralph F., of Port Williams, and Mrs. Elbert Congdon, who lived with her and has given her most loving care in her declining years. One daughter, Eva died in 1921. There are also five grandchildren. She is also survived by one brother, Joseph S. Gillatt, of Portland, Maine, and by five sisters, Mrs. Henry S. Newcomb, of Wolfville; Mrs. John F. Hart, of Los Angeles, California; Mrs. C. F. Cogswell, of Winchester, Mass.; and Misses Almira and Fanny Gillatt, of Portland, Maine.

Funeral services were held at the home on Thursday, June 12, and interment was in the family lot in St. John's churchyard.

MRS. RACHEL SHAW BELCHER

"A friend is a person with whom I may be sincere, before whom I may think aloud."—Emerson.

More than 60 years ago Miss Rachel Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Shaw, Waterville, Kings Co., became the bride of Mr. W. H. Belcher, a prosperous young farmer in Upper Canada and there they established their home in the house originally built and owned by Mr. Belcher's maternal grandfather, Col. Sherman, a U. E. Loyalist, who came to this country near the close of the 18th century. This quaint old house, so well built, with its varied touches of historical romance, held strong fascination for its youthful oc-

COURTS UPHOLD HER CLAIM

Miss Constance Mary Lyon, an Aberdeen shop girl, who claimed to be a daughter of a nephew of the Earl of Strathmore and a second cousin of the Duchess of York. She took action in the Scottish Law Courts to prove the legitimacy of her birth and the courts upheld her claim. She claimed her father was Mr. H. E. Bowes Lyon and her mother Mary Agnes May Smeaton, and therefore she is a second cousin of the Duchess of York.

cupants, and while its age at that day necessitated some changes, its ancient prestige was strictly guarded. It may be stated here, that same structure still stands, in a state of excellent preservation, due to more recent repairs by its present owner, Mr. Wm. B. Eaton, a grandson of the Mr. and Mrs. Belcher. Without doubt it is one of the oldest houses in Cornwallis, if not in all of N. S.

In the death of Mrs. Belcher, Friday, June 6, the last survivor of that Shaw family, and also the oldest member of the Cornwallis U. Baptist church, passed to her reward, in her 87th year. In early youth she identified herself with God's children, and all through life first things always took their supreme place. Her love of nature enabled her to see God's handiwork in its perfection. Running brooks, flowers, birds—all nature appealed to her, and it goes without comment that her esthetic nature found its quest within her own environment.

Mrs. Belcher's artistic and intellectual gifts were of a high type. She was conversant with the leading literature of the day, and it can be truly said, had institutions of higher learning been open for women in her girlhood that her poetical gifts would have been recognized far beyond the borders of her own province.

She was a loyal Canadian and up to the last days of her beautiful eventide her interest in national affairs, ranging from Empire to rural community life, never waned.

But over and above all was the everyday home life of this good woman. Home was her kingdom, and by her gracious and kindly bearing she never failed so worthily holding the exalted position accorded to her by her household and her friends. To the poor and needy she was a friend indeed. Her patience, sincerity, nobility of Christian character have left their rich fragrance, which cannot be "weighed nor measured, but can be felt" by those who had the privilege of personal associations.

Mrs. Belcher was predeceased by an infant daughter—their first born; and by her husband, Lt.-Col. W. H. Belcher, who died in 1915. She is survived by Mrs. J. E. Eaton, Lower Canada; Mrs. C. S. Barrs, Wolfville; and Mrs. L. D. Payzant.

ROSES OF JUNE

(Mrs. Rachel Shaw Belcher.)
Roses of June, roses of June,
You come when nature is well in tune.
Like the ruby's heart your petals shine
On the crimson depths of rare old wine.
Rich as the tints of Sunset dyes,
Soft as Aurora's shaded skies,
Pure as cloudlets kissed by the sun,
Whit as the robe of a sinless one.

Queen of earth's most lovely flowers,
Fairest gems in Flora's bowers.
Roses of June, without compare—
Know you, sweet ones, you are so fair?

ABOUT BOOKS

(By The Acadian Bookman)
L. Adams Beck's "The Treasure of Ho" (handed in Canada by McClelland and Stewart) combines an unusual search for treasure, a highly romantic love story, and the account of a tottering dynasty, in a novel the oriental atmosphere of which alone would make it noteworthy. The plot interest never flags, and the vivid representation of Eastern occultism heightens curiosity in relation to the future not only of Western psychic research but also of the white and yellow races.

For a truly delightful vacation book of leisurely travel in central Canada the reader should choose T. Morris Longstreth's "The Lake Superior Country" (McClelland and Stewart). This writer has all his senses alert for beauty in nature and in human life, and what is even more rare, has the gift of making his readers share richly in his experiences, by means of vivid imagery and apt figures of speech. The book is a splendid illustration of the added charm of wise classical allusion in a popular style, of the reflection of a genial personality such as makes a successful familiar essayist, and of the beautiful result when picturesque Canadian material is presented in picturesque language.

THE B. C. ELECTIONS

The British Columbia election Friday resulted in the return of Liberal government, but without working majority. The latest returns give the Liberals 20 seats, Conservatives 17, Provincials 4, Labor 3, and Independent 3. Some of the contests were very close and when the absentee is counted some of the results may be changed. Premier Oliver was defeated as was W. J. Bowser, leader of Conservatives.

In connection with the election B. C. last Friday a vote was taken on the sale of beer by the glass under government control, but the vote against the measure, especially in cities and larger towns.

Prince Edward Island. All crops are in good condition.

CONDITIONS IN EUROPE

Unrest in Egypt, France is Prosperous and Much Unemployment in Britain.

ST. JOHN, N. B., June 16.—W. Shives Fisher, former President of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, returned today after an extensive trip to Europe, in the course of which he visited Italy, Egypt, Greece, Turkey, France, Belgium and Great Britain.

Despite the great freedom which the British have given the Egyptians, Mr. Fisher said any demanding even greater concessions which they will never be granted, but which is causing unrest in the country. Should they ever succeed in the demands, he said Egypt would immediately take a down grade, because of the incapacity of the people to direct their own destinies. The same he said was true of Constantinople. There was very little chance for a Christian to make a living in that city today, he said, because of the actions of the younger Turks, who are grabbing everything for themselves, and will not allow a Christian a chance.

France he said was prosperous. There was no unemployment and they were bringing people in from Belgium and Italy to meet the demand for labor.

Of England, Mr. Fisher was more or less reticent. London had charmed him he said as the longer a person stayed there the greater became the charm of the city. There was a lot of unemployment and the industrial conditions at the present time were anything but satisfactory.

The attitude of the Government in regard to trade with the Dominions and other possessions was not that of the general people, who believed that the only way the Empire was going to remain its position in the world of commerce was to develop the Empire through the Dominions and with the co-operation of all the Colonies of the Motherland.

TIDAL MOTOR BY BULGARIAN ENGINEER

VIENNA, Austria, June 17.—A motor for the utilization of the power of the waves and tides has been designed and put to the test by a Bulgarian engineer, M. Vodenitcharoff, who has been experimenting for ten years and has now produced a device sufficiently successful to enlist the support of the Bulgarian Government, according to reports received here from Sofia.

The principle of the machine, the fifth which the inventor has tried, is as follows: A stage, resting on piles, is run from the shore into the sea. From this a "receiver" or float, weighing about 20 tons, is hung by a system of chains run over reels of special construction which put into motion a series of cog wheels. The receiver is fastened to the stage in such a way as to move easily in every direction according to the movement of the waves. Every movement of the surface of the water produces a corresponding movement of the receiver.

These irregular and chopping movements are transmitted to the chains and wheels into a regular movement in one and the same direction. Trials of the machine have, so reports say, been remarkably successful and have secured the support not only of the Government of Bulgaria but the Chamber of Industry of the city of Burgas. Further experiments on a larger scale are to be made.

POPULATION OF UNITED STATES

NEW YORK, June 17.—The population of the United States increased 1,943,000 during 1923, according to estimates announced today by the National Bureau of Economic Research. On Jan. 1, 1924, the total population was 112,826,000, the bureau's figures show.

In the latter half of 1923, a net increase of 1,162,000 was recorded. This was the greatest growth for a six-month period in the nation's history, the bureau's report states.

The unusual increase is attributed to the heavy excess of immigration over emigration and the lowest death rate which ever prevailed during a similar period in this country.

JUNE 27 BE KINDLY AFFECTIONED one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another; recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men. Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good.—Romans 12:10, 17, 21.

JUNE 28 SEEK YE THE LORD while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near; let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon.—Isaiah 55:6, 7.

JUNE 29 IF I HAVE WITHHELD the poor from their desire, or have caused the eyes of the widow to fail; or have eaten my morsel myself alone, and the fatherless hath not eaten thereof; if I have seen any perish for want of clothing, or any poor without covering; the let mine arm fall from my shoulder blade and mine arm be broken from the bone.—Job 31:16, 17, 19, 21.

JUNE 30 BLESS THE LORD, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: who redeemeth thy life from destruction: who crowneth thee with lovingkindness and tender mercies.—Psalm 103:1, 4.

BIRD SONGS BY RADIO

Encouraged by the strains of a 'cello, a nightingale in a Surry thicket in England sang to the great wide world over the radio. For the time jazz bands were silenced throughout the country and all other broadcasting stations ceased operating, so that radio "fans" everywhere might "tune in" on the song of a bird. The nightingale's music was caught in a microphone and carried by land line to London, whence it was broadcast.

With the reading of such an item, how vast is the plane of possibilities that stretches before the imagination! A mocking bird in a Georgia orchard singing in springtime; bluebirds caroling in field and treetop; murmur of water under a bridge at midnight; cry and crunch-crunch of horses on corn in the stables—these broadcast by radio to listeners in the city! Photography by radio and by telephone is already accomplished. Combine the two—sound of the open spaces with pictures accompanying; this is indeed bringing the country to city dwellers. Men, woman and children who have never known the country are given a sense of undreamed freedom. A bird in the thicket becomes the star of a radio concert, singing for the natural joy of singing.

Some time ago players of jazz would have laughed if told that birds in the open threatened their business. Such a possibility even now is too remote to require attention. But when hundreds of stations remain silent while a nightingale sings to a world-wide audience, we have an incident to give us pause.

A TARIFF COMMISSION

During the recent budget discussion at Ottawa, Premier King made a brief reference to the possible appointment of a tariff board or commission to analyze problems of taxation and recommend policies. The inference was that such action might become a part of the Liberal tariff policy. Unfortunately, the subject has not yet, apparently, received further attention.

That policies of public finance, despite our progress in other directions, are still subject to political juggling, is one of the absurdities of the way we do national business. Taxation is among the most intricate problems that the country is faced with. To raise sufficient revenue to carry on the undertakings of the government, is itself complex, but to do it in such a way that business will not be impeded and will not be so handicapped that it is less able to pay taxes in the future, is a problem worthy of the most intensive study by experts. The incidence of taxation is a subject which few have been able to master. The effect of raising or lowering the tariff is also an extremely intricate matter.

The attempt of modern democratic countries to cope with these problems has been disappointing, to say the least. Our solution has been to let politics decide for us—to leave the matter to a majority in a political party, a policy much akin to the puerile method of "flipping a coin".

The science of medicine requires years of study. Every successful business career has been made possible by years of training and preparation, yet the vitally important matter of financing the undertakings of a country, we leave to the vagaries of politics. The result, naturally, and inevitably, has been a perpetual handicap to business and industry—a series of ups and downs, the consequence of political experimentation. The government which adopts the tariff board policy in attempting to cope with this difficult and serious problem, will have the hearty support of the country.—Financial Post.

Canadian Flag on Globe Encircling Tour

It would be hard to find a happier, healthier and more satisfied lot of people than the passengers aboard the palatial Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Canada" when she docked in Vancouver harbour on May 24th at the close of her epoch-making cruise around the world.

Since leaving New York on January 30th, these fortunate folk had sailed for four months in the wake of Drake, Magellan and Marco Polo, seeing all and more than all that those adventurers saw, with none of their discomforts. They had viewed the frowning, gun-tipped rock of Gibraltar, the hallowed ports of Greece and Rome, on the blue Mediterranean, had ridden camels in the shadow of the Sphinx, threaded the Suez Canal, crossed the sparkling Indian Ocean, walked the teeming streets of Indian cities, the gardens of the glorious Taj Mahal and the ramparts of the grim fort of Agra. Ceylon, the ravishingly beautiful, palm-crowned Manila, the boary antiquities of China, the dazzling loveliness of the Flowery Kingdom of Japan, the immensities of the Pacific—all these had passed before their eyes in a gorgeous pageant of eighteen countries and fifty races. They saw idols, monkeys, palanquins, palaces, mosques, temples, geishas, mandarins, fallahs, sheiks, troubadours, fakirs, pyramids. They had adventures with elephants in Kandy and a volcano in the Hawaiian Islands. They brought back with them a host of souvenirs and impressions to be treasured all their lives and they say to the world at large "Go thou and do likewise."

Every port called at was thrown open to the cruisers, and the reception afforded them at Victoria, B. C. on their return was no less cordial. Thousands lined the wharf on the arrival of the cruise ship, and Union Jacks mingled with Old Glory in the enthusiastic waving of flags which Victoria extended to the returning travellers. National airs and marches played by the Naval Brigade band were echoed on shipboard in the strains of the Philippine orchestra.

Interviewed in Vancouver as to the success of the cruise, President E. W. Beatty said, "I spoke to several passengers while crossing from Victoria, and without exception they all expressed their complete satisfaction with the ship, its officers, and the arrangements made and carried out since the day she left Vancouver almost five months ago. That is good enough for me. It is ample demonstration that the Canadian Pacific can successfully conduct cruises in competition with any organization in the world and maintain that Company's standing as a credit to Canada."

The "Empress of France" will carry the Canadian flag on a similar globe-encircling tour from New York on January 14th.
