POSTPONED.—The West Riding fall show, which takes place in Goderich, has been postponed until Wednesday and Thursday, 5th and 6th of October, so as not to conflict with the Toronto Industrial Exhibition. TREMENDOUS CROWD.—There was a tremendous crowd in town yesterday. The Mitchell excursion, the band tournament, and the presence of Sir H. L. Langevin were the causes. PASSED.—Messrs. R. Hayes and P. S. Carroll have passed their second intermediate examination before the Ontario Law Society. Mr. Carroll passed without an oral, and Mr. Hayes ranked second on the list with an oral. The Reformed Episcopal Service was held in the parlors of the Point Farm on Sunday by Rev. W. F. Woolgender of Detroit. The musical part under the direction of Miss Kathleen Trowbridge, of the same city, was very nicely rendered. THE HEATHER.—Mr. D. Frazer, Deputy-Register on Wednesday received from Dr. J. T. Duncan, who is now in the old country, a sprig of heather plucked from the famous island of Iona. The specimen is an exceedingly pretty one, and Mr. Frazer, who is an enthusiastic Highlander, glories in his prize. They were accompanied by the Plattville brass band, and the music of the aliens was much enjoyed by many of our citizens. Mrs. Hawley, wife of Hon. J. SERIOUS RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—On Saturday morning shortly after leaving Prescott Junction the express train west on the Grand Trunk encountered an obstruction in the shape of a cow lying between the rails. The engine was thrown from the track, the baggage, mail, express and two passenger cars being turned upside down. The sleepers, of which there were several, remained on the track. The engineer, John Howorth, of Montreal, was found dead under the engine. The fireman, Taylor, was found in a field near by, insensible, but not seriously hurt. The two express managers, Arthur King of Stratford, and Mr. Mackenzie of Hamilton, were seriously injured, indeed how they escaped instant death is miraculous. The baggage master was slightly hurt, as was also a Mr. Hartsburn of Michigan, and these were the only casualties of any account. As the train was crowded with Boston passengers returning to the west, that so few were injured is a wonder.

The London wheat buyers are out buying the country and arranging for farmers shipping their wheat by the car-load from the nearest stations, instead of driving in with teams. BAND TOURNAMENT.—The Band Tournament under the auspices of Fetzer's Brass Band held yesterday was patronized by four bands. The judges were Messrs. R. Carmichael and W. Troit, of Seaforth, and C. Fetzer, of Goderich. The bands paraded the square early in the afternoon, each contributing a march, and proceeded to the Agricultural Grounds, where a stand had been erected. The price of 25c admittance was looked upon as too high a figure; hundreds took free seats on the adjoining roof and verandas, while the number of paying spectators was small. Each band played a quickstep and a selection, and Messrs. Troit and Carmichael adjudged the points as follows: Mitchell 190, Clinton 152, Goderich (Armstrong's Band) 138, Benmiller 116. Fr. F. Fetzer, however, adjudged the merit at the following ratio: Mitchell 14, Goderich 12, Clinton 11, Benmiller 8. The prizes were awarded as follows: 1st prize $50, Mitchell, 13 pieces; 2nd $30, Clinton, 11 pieces; 3rd, $20, Goderich, 13 pieces; Benmiller 8 pieces, was commended for so small a band. Everything seemed to be conducted as fairly as possible.

THE APPLE BEE.

"Did I ever tell you about Rastus marrying Judge Randolph's daughter?" asked grandmother, as I munched an apple and she sat knitting in her high-backed rocker. "Why, no," said I, fancying I saw a story in her retrospective gaze, "you have told me about Thankful, and your mother, and your own courtship, grandmother, but of Rastus' never."

row," but mother didn't tell her about broadcloth suit bought in Falmouth. I took right hold with mother after Almira left, and we got along amazingly spry; mother was always a master hand at cooking. I cut up the pumpkins that afternoon and stewed them, and mother let the brick oven. Stoves! Why, there wasn't no stoves then; roasting and baking was done in the brick oven that was first let by making in it a rousing fire; then the fire was taken out and the baking put in—further in, you know, go the things that must take the longest. We had a long shovel to pull 'em out with. Yes, and the stewing and boiling was done in pots that hung on the crane in front of the fire-place; biscuits and Johnny cakes we baked in a tin baker before the blaze on the hearth. How was it made? Lor', child, I don't know as I can tell you so you'll understand. It was hoisted up on legs with a slanting roof, but open on the side next the fire. The pan was set in it, and the tin kinder drew the heat. When the side nearest the heat is baked, the pan was turned around.

"Alex. that was my husband your grandfather, dear, wrote me by stage that he would be home from General Court to spend Thanksgiving at father's so my mind was at ease, and I was just beginning to feel cold, and so thought I ought to go in, when Rastus came out and put my pelisse over me." "Cold, Rasha?" he asked. "I know he wanted to talk about something, and I spicioned it was about Mistress Randolph, so I said." "What is it Rastus? Do you want to tell me anything about the squire's niece? You ought to have heard Almira Bean run on."

"The squire's wife was right behind her, but she didn't know it. You ought to have seen how Mandy jumped when she spoke up." "Linsey-woolsey and silk doesn't make the difference, Mandy, between a lady and one that ain't. Portia wanted to wear one like mine, but we hadn't time to make one, and I told her it made no difference what she wore, since she wasn't vain of her apparel."

apple paring over their shoulders, when all at once she saw my name as plain as print. It seemed like witchcraft, and she was so startled that she cut her finger." "How did it happen? That's strange enough." "Yes, unless you happen to know the reason as I did," said Rastus. "Alex. told me how the college boys had a trick of cutting out names and pinning them on to an apple just when it was beginning to turn red, so I tried it and forgot all about it, and Portia got that apple, you see."

The following interesting correspondence came too late for insertion last week: Mr. Geo. Cooper has secured the Clerkship for the balance of the year, in place of Mr. D. Watson, resigned.

REMOVING.—Mr. A. R. Morris, tailor, who has disposed of his business to a Mr. Miller, of Cranbrook, left on Tuesday last and intends settling in Winnipeg.

We have two popular acquisitions to our town namely a shooting gallery and a canvass tent. The former teaches the young idea how to shoot, and the latter vividly displays the horrors of the London disaster.

The annual gathering in connection with the Caledonian Society, to be held in September 15th (the day following the Lucknow gathering) promises to eclipse anything of its kind ever held in the County.

Our lacrosse club played a friendly game with Clinton on the grounds of the latter last Tuesday. The Referee who did not understand correctly the rules of the game, decided in favor of Clinton; but according to the rules laid down the Brussels club claim the victory. The return match will be played sometime next week.

During the past month Mr. John Treleven of this village, purchased over $9,000 worth of butter, for which the highest cash price was paid.

Mr. Alex. Cameron of W. Wawanosh, brought to this office last week a root of oats which produced sixteen vines, all of which came to head, and were well filled.

NEW FIRM.—Mr. R. J. Whitely, the popular proprietor of the Whitely Hotel, has purchased Mr. Jas. Stewart's interest in the livery business of Miller & Stewart. The new firm will be Miller & Whitely.

NEW GALLERY.—Mr. E. L. Johnson, photographer, of Goderich, has come to reside amongst us. Mr. Johnson has leased the premises of Mr. Thos. Reid, which he is having fitted up to suit his purposes, and no doubt Mr. Johnson's reputation as a first class artist will soon secure him a large share of business.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday of last week, as Mr. John Jewitt, was engaged in carrying a bee hive across his garden, he slipped and fell to the ground with great force, breaking one of the small bones in his shoulder. He is now progressing favorably, and with the aid of a sling to support his arm, is able to be around again.

BACK AGAIN.—Mr. Geo. McHardy, after a two months trip through Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, returned on Monday last, much improved in health. Mr. McHardy is high in his praise of the Prairie Province, and thinks that at no distant day Manitoba will be the finest farming section in Canada. He invested heavily in lands, having purchased in the neighborhood of Crystal City, 640 acres, besides several smaller lots in different sections.

QUOTING.—Those present at the Gymnasium on Wednesday evening last, were rather more interested than usual, there being a friendly game of quoits between Mr. Chas. Walkinshaw, of Wingham, champion of Canada, and two of our local quoit pitchers. As Mr. Walkinshaw had not his own quoits, and never played by day, light before, the game resulted in favor of the latter. We understand that arrangements are being made for a match between the champion and Mr. W. Treleven of this place, to come off at an early date.

OUR VILLAGE.—Almost every village in the country has felt the draw on its population from the immense emigration to the States and Manitoba, and our own village has rendered a very large share in proportion to the number of inhabitants. But at the present time there is a larger number of families and fewer empty houses, than have been for years. Business is not booming, but every one has a fair share, and a course of steady prosperity has settled down with a feeling of contentment, that we are not like some of the unfortunate places that we read about. —[Sentinel.

Mr. Robert Collen, aged fifty-three, an old army pensioner, was found dead at his residence, St. Catharines, on Wednesday last (17th). He was subject to fits, and it is supposed he was stricken with one and died before assistance could reach him. Deceased served many years in the regular army.

Patrick Moore was arrested at St. Catharines on Wednesday night, charged with victimizing many Roman Catholics there and elsewhere by professing to sell a Douay Bible for one dollar, worth fifteen dollars. He alleged Bishop Lynch, of Toronto, had a large stock on hand which he wanted to get rid of, and had deputed Moore as his agent.

The foreman of a boiler manufactory in Montreal, named McKeil, was placed on board a foreign ship on Friday night, by "crimps," while drunk, as a sailor. When he came to his senses he demanded to be released, but was refused. He then deserted, but was subsequently arrested. The matter was finally compromised by McKeil providing a substitute.

Some time on Wednesday afternoon James Kennedy, a knitter by trade, died very suddenly at Galt. It appears he was picked up on Main street bridge in an unconscious condition and removed to his boarding house, where he died. It is said he had been drinking hard for several days, and sustained an injury by falling out of a buggy.

A banquet was given ex-Secretary Everts, at London, on Thursday night, at the Conservative Club, by Puleston, M. P. Many distinguished persons were present. Puleston spoke of the gloom the President's relapse caused throughout England, and expressed a fervent hope for his recovery. He thought after Garfield's convalescence the net results of Guiteau's crime would not be altogether unfortunate, as it has brought into strong relief the great sympathy of England for America, and strengthened the ties between the two countries.

A citizen of Mt. Clemens named Frank Moore went out crow hunting early one morning. His wife, who had just finished breakfast, was kneeling down saying her morning prayers when he returned, and Moore, entering the door, was dragging the loaded gun behind him. The door swung shut, striking the hammer of the gun and discharging the piece, the whole load taking effect in one of Mrs. Moore's legs. The wound is a very painful one, but not necessarily serious. Moore says he was more scared than his wife.

King Theebaw, of Burmah, had a narrow escape from death by poison. One of his royal consorts sent him some dainty confectionery, with a message that she had prepared the toothsome gift with her own fair hands. Two hours after doing so she was a corpse, and her daughter did not survive her long. For Theebaw, as soon as his mother-in-law's demise was made known to him, gave orders that her majesty's food should be removed from her shoulders without an instant's delay.

The elder Mrs. Garfield was greatly cheered and comforted by the letter which her wounded son sent to her last week. The letter which has appeared in the Cleveland Leader, runs thus:—"DEAR MOTHER:—Don't be disturbed by conflicting reports about my condition. A VILLANOUS DEED.—Willie Cartrell, aged thirteen, son of the Section Superintendent of the Indianapolis, Baltimore and Western Railway, was on Tuesday, tied by an unknown man to the rails, and struck by the train at Pekin, Ill. His ribs were broken, and foot mangled. As soon as the train passed the ruffian ran to the boy, evidently expecting to find him cut in two, but the lad had twisted himself to one side. The man cut the rope and escaped. The boy was found in a ditch moaning piteously. Several parties are hunting for the brute, with the intention of lynching him.

THE HURON SIGNAL
FRIDAY, AUGUST 26, 1881.

THE FALL TRADE.
Grain is already coming into the market, and money is beginning to move more freely. The merchant is rejoicing over the prospect of a brisk fall trade, and the handling of more cash. The way to increase trade is to advertise wisely. If you have bargains, tell the people about it. If you want public custom, invite it. Our large and rapidly increasing circulation renders THE SIGNAL the best medium for reaching the public in this vicinity. The merchant who neglects to advertise in a paper reaching so many readers is doing his business an injury. Try our rates for the next four months.

"BIG CRY AND LITTLE WOOL."
Our neighbor, the News, wants sympathy. It alleges that a scandalous piece of favoritism has been exhibited because it did not get the printing for the West Huron Fall Show. In an article, nearly half a column in length, it soundly berates the officials of the society for their action in the matter, and says, "It savors too much of Grit clique doings." The News then goes on to say: "It may be that our friend, Mr. A. McD. Allan has worked for THE SIGNAL, as he claims to have done other years." And so on runs the terrible indictment.

The quarrel is none of ours, but as our friend the editor of the News is a little rash in his statements, and as he throws out a number of uncalculated aspersions upon innocent people, we hasten to set him right in the matter. The printing for the West Riding of Huron Agricultural Society was let this year on exactly the same basis as last year, when Mr. Whiteley was manager of THE SIGNAL—the prize lists being given to THE SIGNAL, and the bills and tickets to the Star—which shows how partizan was the action of the "Grit clique." True, Mr. Whiteley has severed his connection with THE SIGNAL, and is now connected with another establishment, but that doesn't alter the facts of the case. Mr. Whiteley in 1880 found no fault with the arrangement for the distribution of the work between the Star and THE SIGNAL, notwithstanding the fact that a third office—and the same establishment—over which Mr. Whiteley now presides—was in running order, under the management of Messrs. Cathart & Aldrich. Then why, if the arrangement was right in 1880, is it wrong in 1881?

Again, the News would create the impression that the public will be the losers by not having the work given out differently. Well, we don't know what the Star will charge this year, but the estimate given by THE SIGNAL was from $8 to $10 lower than last year, when Mr. Whiteley was manager of THE SIGNAL, and it is to be presumed, fixed the rates.

With regard to Mr. Whiteley's gratuitous allusion to Mr. A. McD. Allan working for THE SIGNAL, "as he claimed to have done in former years," we have only to say that we know neither of his action in the matter this year, nor in the past. Mr. Whiteley was a partner in the "Huron Signal Printing Co.," in conjunction with Messrs Allan and Gissing, and it becomes him to make any exposures of the doings of the firm, rightly or wrongly, for it has been said, "It's a dirty bird that fouls its own nest." The work was unsolicited by us, in any shape or form. We did not even know who were the directors for 1881, and did not approach any of them on the subject. Furthermore, we believe the Directorate was not actuated by other than honorable motives when the precedents which had in past years been endorsed by Mr. Whiteley were followed out in 1881.

We have exhibited no antipathy towards Mr. Whiteley or his new journalistic venture. We believe this world owes everybody a living, if everybody only knows enough to make the world pay what it owes. It is a matter of no importance to us whether the News succeeds or fails, for its success will not interfere with the field occupied by THE SIGNAL. If two journals of Conservative leanings can grow rich in Goderich, there is ample room for one on the opposite political range. But if the News believes in exhibiting its wounds, bruises and putrifying sores every time it doesn't get all its editor wants, Goderich is likely to be blessed with a modern Jeremiah.

"Let me Sleep and Dream Again," is the anxious request of a poet named Lyle, in the Sarnia Observer. It's rather a nice way of putting it, Lyle, but we are afraid you're anxious to escape the morning chores. All the dreaming in the world won't start the fire, nor fill the yawning wood-box.

SIR HECTOR LANGEVIN.

Visit of the Minister of Public Works to Goderich.

Reception by the Mayor and Council.—The Address—Reply by Sir Hector—He Inspects the Harbor and Views the Points of Interest.

Hon. Sir Hector Langevin, Minister of Public Works for Canada arrived at Goderich at 4 o'clock p.m. on Thursday by carriage from Kincardine, accompanied by Mr. McKay, Secy., Mr. Perley, Chief Engineer of Public Works, Mr. Farrow, M. P. North Huron, Rightmeyer, of Kincardine, and Messrs F. W. Johnston and S. Platt of Goderich.

Shortly after his arrival the members of the Town Council met, and forthwith proceeded to the Court House Square, where His Worship, the Mayor, on behalf of the town, presented the Minister of Public Works with the following ADDRESS.

To the Hon. Sir Hector Langevin, K. C. M. G., Minister of Public Works:

It is with the greatest pleasure we today welcome you to the town of Goderich on this, your second official visit. Eleven years have elapsed since your previous visit, but the time intervening between the two occasions has served to show that your former coming was the means of conferring a boon upon our town for which you will be ever remembered most kindly by the residents of Goderich.

As far back as 1860, the question of the establishment of a harbor of refuge on the eastern shore of Lake Huron was under consideration by the Government of the day, but notwithstanding the fact that a recommendation in favor of Goderich harbor was made on May 14th, 1860, by the Committee of the Legislative Assembly appointed to investigate the matter, and again on May 15th, 1861, by a Parliamentary Committee, no grant was made by the Government for the prosecution of the work.

However, in 1870, on an official tour, similar to that which you are at present undertaking in the interest of the Department of which you are the head, and with the laudable intention of becoming better acquainted with the thorough working of that branch of the public service, by personal observation, you came to Goderich. While here, you were favorably impressed with the great natural advantages possessed by Goderich in its magnificent harbor, and after careful and minute examination, sustained the reports of the various engineers and the Parliamentary Committees of 1860 and 1861, by recommending that an appropriation be made by the Government for the construction of the necessary harbor works to make Goderich harbor a harbor of refuge on the eastern coast, such as had been long required by mariners and ship owners.

The result proved that your judgment was sound, and that the discernment which has characterized your management of the Department of Public Works was clearly exhibited when you made the selection.

An appropriation was made by the Government in accordance with your recommendation, but the opportunity for carrying out your original intention in full was not afforded you, owing to one of those political changes which at any time are liable to occur in a land of free institutions, where contending parties are anything like equally balanced. However, your successor in office, proceeded to carry on the work inaugurated by you, and so doing showed that he believed your action, in locating the harbor of refuge at Goderich, to be the outcome of wisdom.

But he, in his turn, was not permitted to finish the work, which you had inaugurated. Another turn of the political wheel, and we find you, Sir Hector, again occupying the position which you held when the work on the harbor of refuge at Goderich was initiated. From a knowledge of your past action in beginning the work on the Government harbor at this point, we look with confidence to your action in the future,—be it important or otherwise—in an unfinished condition.

You have everything to nerve you to complete the work. It was begun by you, after careful investigation; your successor in office, although opposed to you politically, endorsed your decision by his subsequent action in the matter; the natural location of the harbor is all that can be desired; and lastly, the amount of money already expended must be looked upon as wasted, comparatively speaking, if the work be left in an unfinished condition.

Since your last visit to Goderich you have been the recipient of a title of distinction at the hand of Her Majesty the Queen, through her Viceroys. Allow us, Sir Hector, to congratulate you upon having received this manifestation of Royal favor, for, although essentially a democratic people, we are nevertheless loyal to Britain and to Britain's Queen, and look upon a mark of respect tendered by Royalty to a Canadian statesman as not without significance.

In conclusion, Sir Hector we again tender you a most hearty welcome to Goderich on behalf of the people of the town, irrespective of political bias, and hope this expression of our sentiment will be received by you in the same spirit in which it is tendered.

On behalf of the people of Goderich,
HORACE HORTON, Mayor.

THE REPLY.

Sir Hector Langevin, on receiving the address from the Mayor, said:

MR. MAYOR AND GENTLEMEN.—Let me thank you for this kind address which you have to-day presented to me, on behalf of the people of your town. If it had been presented by my own party it would have been welcome, but coming from the members of both political parties, it is doubly welcome. It shows that we can honor those who have the confidence of the Parliament of the day, and who at present control the majority. The speaker then proceeded to thank them for the congratulation which had been offered him because of the distinction which had been conferred upon him by Her Majesty the Queen. It had been conferred upon him, doubtless, in recognition of past public services, and it was pleasing to know that our Sovereign recognized no nationality, no creed, no language, no hemisphere, in dispensing her favors to those whom she thought deserving. The conferring of the title upon him was a pleasing tribute to his Province, and was an honor to all those of his creed, language and extraction. But he would now talk of a matter which he was more to the taste of his hearers to-day—about the harbor, Goderich harbor of refuge. He was happy to say that he had been who had recommended the construction of a Government harbor at Goderich. And when he did so he had two objects in view: first, he wished to establish a harbor of refuge at Goderich, in the interest of mariners and ship owners; and in the second place, he was anxious to show that it was not a man bound up in one Province, but took interest in the Dominion as a whole. He belonged to the people at large, and worked for them without regard to any narrow limitations. Although of French extraction, he was a British subject and a Minister of the Crown, and was at all times determined to act in the interest of the whole, regardless of feelings of nationality or location. It was possible that many today listened to him who might be opposed to him politically, but it was possible to object to a man's politics and yet be friendly with him personally. He would like to have his taken refuge with them to-day, and trusted he could not give a definite answer to their address respecting the harbor, for the reason that he had not yet inspected it; but if he found, on the advice of his Chief Engineer, that the necessary repairs and improvements should be made, they would be once attended to, and an appropriation made with the sanction of the Governor-in-Council. The address was a lengthy one and gave reasons for the prosecution of the work, but one good reason had been omitted—the Government had this year a surplus of $3,500,000, and if on investigation an expenditure on the harbor was found to be necessary, the money would be forthcoming. (Hear, hear.) His previous visit to Goderich had been full of pleasant recollection, for on that occasion he was entertained by Mr. M. C. Cameron, a political opponent. He regretted to learn that gentleman had been suffering from illness of late, but was pleased to know that his condition was much improved. His present reception evinced good feeling from all quarters, and this was as it should be. We must all have the prosperity of the whole country at heart, and must not divide on small matters. Whether our friends are in power or not, if the country prospers we should not endeavor to put out the men who were contributing to the prosperity, simply to supplant them with others; but if the men in power did not their duty, then turn them out. He thanked them, in conclusion, for their kind address.

Cheers were then given for Mr. Langevin and the Mayor.

At the conclusion of Sir Hector's remarks the party entered the carriage prepared for the occasion by the Council, and endeavored to carry out the remainder of the programme, which consisted of an examination of the harbor, and an inspection of the plans and specifications prepared by the council, and submitted to Sir Hector by Capt. Dancy, the Harbor Master; a drive to the International Salt Works, owned by Mr. Joseph Kidd; to the North American Chemical Salt Works, superintended by Mr. Rice, and to other points of interest.

In the evening Sir Hector and his party were entertained at a dinner given by the Town Council at the "Park House." There was a large and select attendance, and Sir Hector expressed himself very favorably, with regard to the hospitality of the people of Goderich, through their representatives. The spread prepared by Capt. G. W. McGregor, the enterprising manager of the "Park House," was one of the best ever witnessed in Goderich, and did credit to Goderich's well known summer resort.

OUR MAILS.—There is being circulated in this neighborhood a present a petition addressed to the Postmaster General, signed by about 150 of the names of parties receiving mails at Auburn, post office, asking that the mail be brought to Auburn from Blyth, instead of Carlow, for the following reasons: 1st, the mail leaving Auburn lies over night at Carlow and does not leave Goderich till noon the day after it leaves Auburn; it sent by way of Blyth it would go north and east the same evening, and south at 7.30 the next morning. 2nd, The mail would be received at Auburn from an hour to an hour and a half earlier each day and in winter we could get our mails more regularly as it would only have to be carried 6 miles by stage from Blyth, instead of twelve by Carlow and Goderich.

Seventy thousand cartridge percussion caps exploded in the Winchester armory on Friday. Thousands of pieces of metal were driven into Maurice Reilly's flesh, half to three-quarters of an inch, many were buried in his eyes. There is no spot two inches square on the front of Reilly's person that did not show where the shells penetrated. His clothing was cut to pieces, teeth knocked out and his arm frightfully mangled. The bench was broken and one of the pieces seriously hurt Reilly. The side of the building was shattered and the windows broken. None of Reilly's companions were injured. Reilly died.

CANADIAN NEWS.
Mr. Jeremiah Dorman, of lot 30, concession 7, McGilivray, departed this life on Monday last. Deceased was one of the pioneers of the northern portion of Middlesex, and took an active part in advancing the educational and religious interests of the township and its surroundings.

Mr. Thos. Swinyard's name has been mentioned in connection with the management of the Northern railway, rendered vacant by the death of Mr. Cumberland. Mr. Swinyard was for many years manager of the Great Western, and is an able railway man, but he cannot "orate" like the late Northern manager, nor can he swear as vigorously as the present Great Western manager. Mr. Swinyard has been for some years manager of the Dominion Telegraph Co., and now that telegraph amalgamation is the order of the day he may be ready to go back to railroading.

An article in the September number of Harper's Magazine discusses the wheat-growing capabilities of the Northwest. The writer says that a harder and better variety of wheat is grown in Manitoba than in Minnesota, and that it is largely in demand by the manufacturers of first quality flour. In Minnesota, but especially in states farther south the wheat softens and runs out in the course of a few years, and fresh seed has to be imported. The writer expresses the opinion that a still better quality of wheat can be grown on the prairies beyond Manitoba, and that this region is destined to be the great wheat-producing center of America. Our Northwest unquestionably has a great future before it.

Mr. Wm. Gooderham, sen., died at Toronto on Saturday morning, aged 93 years. Deceased was in the British service in Martinique in early years. He came here from England in 1833, and grew with the country, engaging in mercantile business. He was successful in all his ventures, and amassed an immense fortune. He was interested in many insurance and monetary corporations, and he and his partner, Mr. J. G. Worts, virtually owned the Bank of Toronto. His name is known throughout the continent in connection with his distillery. He leaves seven sons and five daughters.

Mr. Henry Ware, late Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, London, Ont., and for some years evangelist and city missionary in the east of London, England, has accepted a unanimous call to the pastorate of the Baptist church at Kincardine. It is proposed that the ordination of Mr. Ware as a regular Baptist minister will take place in the Baptist church, on Wednesday, Aug. 31st. Mr. Ware is not unknown in the eastern part of the county. He labored as an evangelist in Walkerton and Dunkeld during last summer. We bespeak for him a successful pastorate in Kincardine.

THE WORLD OVER.

The Conservatives of Dumfries, Scotland, have refused to have anything to do with the proposed monument to Robert Burns, on the ground that he "was too democratic in his political ideas." Whoever cannot subscribe to what politics there may be in "A man's a man for a' that" is behind his age, as Burns was somewhat ahead of his own. The poetry of Burns is of the immortal class, while his political errors, if he cherished any, are harmless now, and his best political opinions of almost universal acceptance. Burns will be remembered when the narrow-minded Tories of Dumfries are deservedly forgotten.

The proper thing to do with a sum of money, or a parcel, or anything else of value, when you find it, is to advertise it. If this had been done in the recent case of a Torontonian who found a lady's dress at Burlington Beach he probably would not have got into trouble, and would have escaped the gross injustice done him by the Hamilton police. By advertising an article of value you may have found, you give proof of your honesty, and your desire to restore the article to its rightful owner. If the owner does not come, the law allows you to convert the articles to your own use. In the case of a cow or horse you can sell it, after due notice being given through the newspapers, in order to realize the expenditure to which you may have been put in keeping it. The honest man who finds a sum of money announces the fact through the newspapers; the dishonest man puts it in his pocket and says nothing about it. (Toronto Telegram.)

EMERSON'S FALLING POWERS.—A visitor to Concord, who met Mr. Emerson, writes the following about him: "A vein of sadness ran through his words as we conversed, which now and then deepened into indescribable pathos as he spoke of himself. 'I am visiting the summer school, and called to pay my respects to you. I said, 'I thank you,' he replied, and a slight difficulty in articulation was noticeable as he spoke. 'I am glad to see you; yet I fear I can do little. I can only disappoint those who come to see me. I find that I am losing myself, and I wander away from the matter that I have in mind.' There was little to be said, but I made some remark, and he continued: 'I can say much. When I begin I lose myself. And so when my friends come to see me I run away, instead of going to meet them, that I may not make them suffer.' I spoke of an examining committee on which he had served at Cambridge, and his face lightened for an instant. 'Yes, yes,' he said, and made some personal inquiry of me. 'But I see no one now,' he added. 'Your general health is good, I trust?' I asked. 'Yes, my health is good enough,' he replied differently. Then he said slowly, with a wonderful pathos in his voice: 'But when one's wits begin to fail it is time for the heavens to open and take him away.' He turned sadly aside, and I left him. More keenly than any one else, can does the philosopher realize that age is casting a shadow upon his memory and slowly chilling his faculties.

In his Inverness, e. c., Mr. Mackenzie pointed out the advantage of Canada being represented in international discussions by men who belong to the country rather than by Englishmen who have no knowledge of it. Mr. Mackenzie took the Canadian view of the question, and showed that although he is a Scotchman and loves his native land dearly, he does not put Canada in the second place when Canadian interests are at stake. He reminds us that Lord Carnarvon, at that time Secretary for the Colonies, had named an Englishman to represent Canada in the fisheries dispute, but that the Englishman was displaced for a Canadian on the ground that in all matters of diplomacy Englishmen had been outwitted by the United States. As we all know, the Canadian was Sir A. T. Galt, and the award in favor of Canada was five and a half millions of dollars. As Mr. Mackenzie says, the chances are that if an Englishman had managed the business Canada would have a million more. He is quite right in taking the position that it is far better to have Canadian affairs managed by those who understand them than by those who know nothing whatever of them. That is a sound principle to go upon. Trickett, who has been unable to beat Canadian tarsmen, feels himself quite competent to measure sculls with the Americans. He has challenged any man in the United States to row him for $10,000 a side.

Mr. W. McKay, son of Dr. McKay, of this village, succeeded in obtaining a Second B. Certificate at the July examinations. He wrote at Collingwood, the High School at which place he had been attending.

Not long since three of our young men started on a shooting expedition, but upon reaching the field of sport, one of them found to his dismay that his gun would not go off, consequently very much disheartened, he shouldered his useless weapon, and started for home, where he had no sooner arrived than he discovered that his ram rod was missing, so back he had to travel in search of the lost article. In the meantime the others not finding any game of note, poured forth their vengeance on two innocent squirrels, and with this "heavy game" they arrived home late in the day, weary and foot sore, but let us hope adequately satisfied with shooting as an amusement, for the present at least.

Public school commenced here last Thursday, and I don't think the community at large are sorry the vacation is over, for the boys are not only out of the way, but also out of mischief when at school. Every one knows it to be a melancholy fact, that juvenile mischief is at its premium from the 7th of July until the 18th of August. In the first week of their holidays, they generally open the first scene in the comedy, by hitching old and worm-eaten tin ware to the farther end of a vagrant canine, and losing sight of the poor animal for just as he flees along the street to the music of his own yells of terror. The above is only one of the many tricks, which are the fruit of the summer holidays. A writer on the education of youth, affirms that the well laying and carrying on of a design to rob an orchard, or other wild prank, in general, trains up a youth insensibly to caution, secrecy and circumspection, and fits him for matters of greater importance. In short, a boy who forms parties and makes himself popular in a school or college, makes a good business man, or an eminent member of a community over-run with artifice and corruption.

Any person going by one of our stores here last Wednesday night, would have beheld a lively time going on inside. The place literally swarmed with our village youths, and all as busy as bees, removing the entire stock from the front shop into other parts of the building—in fact into any available place from garret down to cellar. The proprietor, getting annoyed at pieces of plaster falling down occasionally, concluded to have the whole torn down and replaced by a wooden ceiling. Although the boys worked hard, it was somewhere between the late and early before they were done, viz: stock all removed, plaster and laths torn down, and the whole shovelled out. In the morning the store presented a very foreboding and forbidding appearance, and altogether had a very discouraging look. The gettice and industrious young member of the establishment thought so at any rate for:

There he stood in that empty place.
Desperation written on his face.
Anger brewing in his head.
For the goods, oh where were they?
Go ask him if you dare.
Plunging his arms he'll surely say—
Tumbled in confusion every where.

Mr. W. J. Armstrong, teacher in S. S. No. 10, has resigned his position and is going to teach in Varna.
Mr. E. Kwikke, of the 3rd con. has given up farming, and intends going into business. Mr. McMurray, of Clinton, from whom he had the farm rented, intends going back to it.

A colt valued at $100, belonging to Mr. Robert Taylor, got scared by a train coming along and leaped over a fence into Mr. Robert Hodze's field, fell into a well with 27 feet of water in it, and was drowned.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Council met at Holmesville on Monday, Aug. 22, 1881, pursuant to adjournment. Members all present. Minutes of last meeting read and passed. Moved by John Beacom, seconded by J. Whitley, that two mills on the dollar be levied on all the real rateable and personal property in the township for county purposes, also a further sum of one and a half mills on the dollar for township purposes, and that the amount required by the several school trustees be also levied and a by-law drafted for same—Carried. Clerk read a letter from trustees of S. S. No. 6, refusing to receive Messrs. Cox and Edwards into their section. Moved by J. Cox, seconded by J. Whitley, that $21 be granted to No. 7 volunteer company, Porter's Hill, being fifty cents for each effective volunteer for returning arms and accoutrements into the armory—Carried. The above motion resulted from a personal application by Capt. McDonald, who takes a lively interest in the corps. Letter from F. W.

Johnston, Esq., asking a weekly allowance for one John O'Grady, indigent, formerly of Goderich township, as the latter resides in Goderich the Council took no action in the matter. Letter of advice from Messrs. Davidson & Johnston, barristers, was read relating to the side line 3rd and 4th con. A long discussion as usual ensued. Moved by J. Cox, seconded by J. Whitley, that Mr. Bay be instructed to go to the side road between 3rd and 4th con., opposite lots 30 and 31, and take all the evidence he can get with regard to said side road. Moved in amendment by J. Beacom, seconded by Mr. Peacock, that Mr. Bay and Mr. Wetherald, surveyors, be got to take evidence upon side line between lots 30 and 31 between 7th con. and lake shore, and to ascertain if the late survey be correct the Reeve to be present to see evidence taken. The Reeve declared the amendment carried. Moved by J. Cox, seconded by J. Whitley, that the accounts of Davidson & Johnston, for letter of advice, also Reeve going to Goderich on township business be paid $7. Wm. Hart was paid $20 for graveling on mill road near Goderich. The Council adjourned to meet again on the first Monday in October.—J. PATTON, Clerk.

OFFICIAL VISIT.—F. Broughton, Esq., general manager of the G. W. Railway and Mr. Holson, chief engineer, paid our town a visit on Saturday, 13th inst., and were met by Messrs. Clegg, Kelly, McKinnon, Hamilton, Wilson and Thorn who urged the necessity of having more room in connection with the station grounds. It was finally decided to extend the switch 1100 feet to the south, and to widen the grounds along the new switch 100 feet. There is to be an entrance on the west side of Enigh's hotel, two lots there having been purchased from P. Kelly for that object. The Council agree to open Wellington street to the new switch. This will prove a great convenience to parties shipping wood, lumber, tan bark etc. The improvements that the Company propose will cost between five and six thousand dollars.
