CHAPTER V.
(Concluded.)

"Ay, ay, sir!" responded Vane cheerily; but she did not smile at this pleasantry. Evidently the race which he was enjoying was a serious business to her. What could it mean? Who were those men, and why was she flying from them as if her life depended on it?"

But although he was thus speculating, he was keeping a sharp lookout, and when, suddenly, her clear "Now!" rang out, he dropped the sail. It fell with a flop, she sprang to the bow, and thence like a bird to the shore.

"Quick, quick!" she cried, and began to run up the beach. Vane stopped to fling out the anchor, then followed her.

Suddenly he saw her stop, averted aside, and heard her utter a low, sharp cry; the next moment a man sprang from behind a rock and seized her by the arm.

She struggled like a wild animal, her lithe, graceful form swaying like a sapling, and she raised her hand and struck at him. The man laughed and gripped her still more tightly; but the next instant he heard Vane behind him, and swung round.

Vane did not wait to ask questions, but dealt him a good, honest blow between the eyes, and the man went down like a lump of lead.

Nora shook her arm in the air, as if to shake off the contamination of the man's touch, then turned to Vane. Her eyes were burning, flashing; her lips quivering.

"That was good—good!" she panted. "Oh! that was beautiful!" A swift shudder ran through her; she seized Vane's hand and touched it with her lips. Then she sprang away from him like a wild thing.

"Come—quick!"

But it was too late for flight; the other boat had touched the shore, another had dashed up the beach, and stood beside Vane and Nora.

"Stop!" shouted the leader. "Stop in the Queen's name!"

"Too late!" murmured Nora; then suddenly she opened her lips, and up rose the strange cry Vane had heard her give in the Calderon.

The man with the gold band looked sternly at Vane.

"Caught at last!" he said; then he hesitated, and an expression of surprise came into his face.

"Who are you, sir?" he demanded, Vane, standing in front of Nora, confronted the man squarely.

"What the deuce business is that of yours, my good fellow?" he retorted.

The man bit his lip, and looked from Nora to Vane and back again.

"Come, sir," he said; "it is of no use to pretend innocence. You know who we are well enough. It isn't the first time you have seen a revenue officer and his men."

"If you are a revenue officer, you must be an idiot, also," said Vane. "For you wouldn't permit your men to behave to a young lady—in the manner that fellow behaved;" and he pointed to the man he had knocked down.

The officer stared at him, and seemed in too great a rage to be able to reply for a moment.

"Look here, sir," he blurted out at last; "I don't know who you are, or whether you are what you pretend to be—a gentleman, and ignorant of what's going on in this place—but I know that that young woman there,"—he pointed to Nora—"is connected with a gang of smugglers."

Vane opened his eyes, then he laughed.

"Smugglers? Oh, nonsense!" he said. "Smugglers! Why, there isn't such a thing! Smuggling has gone out long ago."

The officer stared and sneered.

"Oh, has it?" he retorted. He turned to his men. "Have you searched the boat?"

"Ay, ay, sir," said one of them. "There's nothing there."

The officer looked rather crestfallen.

"Do you mean to say that you thought we had been out smuggling—that we had got spoils, tobacco—whatever it is they used to smuggle on board that boat?" Vane asked.

His surprise was so evidently genuine that the officer could not but accept it.

"I certainly did," he said, shortly. "You appear to be a stranger in these parts?"

Vane nodded.

"And you don't know that half the people here get their living, or a greater part of it, by carrying tobacco and spirits from the foreign craft that lie in the bay?"

"I don't know it, and I don't believe it," said Vane.

The officer shrugged his shoulders.

"I'll trouble you for your name and address, sir," he said.

"And I refuse to give it," said Vane, quietly.

The officer eyed him.

"I could arrest you. You have obstructed an officer in the execution of his duty. You have committed an assault."

"Arrest away," said Vane, more cheerfully. "I don't know much about the law of this business, but I do know that this fellow assaulted this young lady, and only got what he deserved."

The officer bit his lip, and turning aside, conferred with one of the men; then he addressed Vane, who had taken out his pipe and lighted it, and was smoking with cheerful composure.

"Look here, sir; my man tells me that he does not know you, and that you are evidently a stranger here."

Vane nodded.

"I, too, am new to the place; but I know from my instructions that contraband articles are landed at this spot from vessels bringing them from the Continent. The game has been going on for some time. My predecessor either shared in the plunder or winked at the business, and that's why he was removed. Now, I'm a different kind of man, and I'm determined to do my duty, and burst up the gang and stop their little game. No smuggling! Why, it's just because everybody thinks it isn't possible that it's been thriving so well."

Vane was silent. He remembered Nora's words: "Aren't you the excise man?" her strange prayer that he would ask no questions, the faint, peculiar smell in the cottage. He was also amazed—as amazed as if some one had told him that a highwayman had been seen at work on the Queen's highway. He managed however, to keep his face blank and expressionless.

"Now, what do you say?" demanded the officer.

Vane shrugged his shoulders.

"I know nothing of the matter," he said.

The officer smiled.

"You see, you don't know everything up in London that goes on in these parts," he said. "Search the

An Operation For Appendicitis

Was Ordered by His Doctor, But Complete Cure Was Effected by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Almost anyone who has suffered from appendicitis will assure you that this trouble developed only after months of years of derangements of the liver and bowels.

Appendicitis can almost invariably be prevented, and very frequently cured, by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. In the case described in this letter the doctor had ordered an operation, but a thorough cure was brought about by this great medicine.

Mrs. J. A. Ballantyne, Sturgeon Falls, Ont., writes: "My husband was treated for appendicitis, and the doctor ordered an operation. But he would not consent to an operation and began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Since doing so he has had no need of an operation, or even of a doctor, as the trouble has completely left him. I cannot find words to speak our gratitude for his cure."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

She turned upon him with a sudden blaze in her gray eyes.

"Keep your warnings for those as want them, and if your business is done, leave my house!"

He bowed and went to the door. Then he paused and looked at Vane.

"You refuse me your name, sir?"

"No," said Vane, and he gave it.

The officer took it down in his note book, touched his hat, and went out, closing the door after him.

"Well," began Vane; but instantly Nora placed her hand over his lips.

"Hush!" she said; "they are listening outside."

Vane fell into a chair, and stared from one woman to the other in silent bewilderment. But the strange rama had not yet finished; he was to find still further cause for wonder.

THE IMPERIAL OIL CO., LTD.
Gentlemen,—With reference to POLARINE OIL, we desire to say that we operated six Winton Six-Cylinder Cars on the Cariboo Road in 1912, and these Cars travelled 32,430 miles during the season. We used POLARINE exclusively, and found it superior to any other oil which we had previously tested, and while the cars were operated under all sorts of climatic conditions, we were so well pleased with the results obtainable from the use of POLARINE OIL that we propose to use nothing else on the eight Winton Cars which we will operate this year.

Eight men were killed and six injured when the boilers of a tow boat boiler exploded on the Ohio River near here. The dead and injured were members of the crew.

PARIS, August 31.
Aviator Levasseur is amusing himself at the Dieppe waterplane meet by fishing from his flying machine. He says that William Lotham, who was killed while hunting big game, used his aeroplane for shooting purposes and he has now extended its sporting use to fishing. He had some fine catches.

TOKIO, August 31.
The typhoon in Japan proved more disastrous than at first reported; fatalities aggregated 1,000. One tide wave at Miyako killed 30. Hundreds of homes were swept out to sea. Two thousand are reported unaccounted for. Great damage was done at Hakko. Scores of fishermen were drowned. One train was hurled into the river. Monetary loss is very heavy.

OTTAWA, August 31.
General Calmady, of New York, has petitioned the Canadian Government to return Thaw to Mattawan. He cites the deportation of a dozen or more insane persons from Canada under the Immigration Act as to which no question has been raised and these he considers should be taken as a precedent. Thaw remains at Sherbrooke Jail under a commitment which will not bring him into court until the King's Bench is convened in October. Roger Thompson, the chauffeur, has been released on $500 bail on the double charge of having entered Canada by stealth, and having aided an undesirable to cross the border. He will be tried on Wednesday.

LONDON, Aug. 31.
Winston Churchill is inspecting the naval stations with his customary thoroughness. Yesterday he expressed a desire to visit the naval station depot at Catoch, by waterplane. An aviator got his machine and took him over the Solent to Spithead. Then the machine was turned up Southampton Water and alighted on the sea off Catoch. It was then towed ashore. Churchill, on landing said to the Secretary of War, who was watching the Army and Navy aviators, "I cannot manage this job myself, take hold." The two ministers seized the ropes and helped to hoist the waterplane. Churchill showed a boy-like delight over the trip on the machine which travelled at the height of 4,000 feet, and passed over several warships. Later on War Secretary Seeley made a flight.

EL PASO, August 31.
With flags posted in conspicuous places along the coaches the first train load of American refugees to reach the border since President Wilson's warning to them to leave Mexico, reached here yesterday. There were 55 Americans. Border points west report refugees crossing the border daily, coming out of Mexico overland. The majority of the men, women and children of the party were from Madras, from the colony of the Pearson Lumber Company, others from mining camps in the same district. They report preparations being made by Americans at every camp to leave Mexico as soon as they can secure transportation. Those needing assistance will be given it by American Consuls, Edwards. At the station at Laredo, refugees reported the amputation of a Federal command of 1,200 by rebels on August 26th. All but General Felix Terrazas and 30 men are reported to have been slaughtered. The trains were seized by the rebels.

Please send me by mail 1 large bottle of Stafford's Prescription "A". Enclosed you will find 50 cents, also 10 cents for postage. You sent me a trial size a few days ago and it almost cured my wife. Another 50 cent bottle will make a cure. I have tried doctors and all kinds of medicine, but I don't believe that there's any medicine that can cure a bad stomach like STAFFORD'S PRESCRIPTION "A". I am more than thankful that ever you advertised that medicine. Please forward as soon as possible, as I am waiting anxiously for it.

The Power of Virol.

Dear Sirs,—
Virol has been the salvation of my little son, Sam after birth he was found to be weak and alling, and was far below the normal weight, but after a short course of Virol a marked improvement was seen, and on the nurse being continued he soon began to put on flesh; and at the present time, thanks mainly to Virol, he has grown to be a strong, healthy and sturdy boy.

I cannot speak too highly of Virol and its influence in a common ailment to children as a remarkable body-building food.

Grasshoppers

Two dozen grasshoppers hunted upon a western farm; they played among the garden peas, but did little harm. On a little boy each hopped around, whisked the other eye, and by the farmer they were found, as he went creaking by. The farmer went to town that day, and said to Grocer Ware: "Grasshoppers are among my hay. I saw ten thousand there." The grocer quickly spread the news: "The hoppers are on deck! They even eat the farmer's shoes and window blinds by heck." The printer of the Weekly Dink did justice to the tale; he let his huddling fancy work, and shocked the country people. All over the country went the yarn about the farmer's woe; of how the hoppers ate his barn, and laid his cornfields low. They swarmed around in such a cloud that they obscured the sun, and eastern readers swore aloud. "That country takes the bun!" Two dozen hoppers on a beam surveyed the country wide, and 1,216 did these hoppers dream how they had multiplied! A few brief hours they frisked round, and sported in the hay, and filled the air with joyous sound, and then they flew away; and still that husky lie lived on, and traveled far and near, and people said, "So help me John, that country's mighty queer!"

MRS. CARL OHMAN.

The many friends of Mrs. Carl F. Ohman, will be sorry to learn of her death at Hyde Park, Mass., August 20th, at 9:35 p.m. Mrs. Ohman, before leaving for the United States, was Miss Annie M. Martin, sister of Mr. E. P. Martin, whose death was published about 3 years ago, and only daughter of the late Capt. Edward Martin, of Carter's Hill. The funeral took place from her late residence (Rackemann's Estate), Brush Hill Road, Hyde Park, on the 22nd. The Rev. Father Chittick delivered a powerful sermon at the church of the Precious Blood. Then it turned towards Fairview Cemetery where Pastor Jacobson read the burial service at the grave. A husband, three children and brother survive her in Massachusetts, and one brother, Mr. John Martin, of this city. To her relatives and friends the Telegram tenders its sincerest sympathy.

The Union Strength.

To-day, Mr. Morison, apparently, was out in the News, attempting to belittle the strength of the F.P.U., and claims that it contains about 6,000 voters. The facts are that Twillingate District has enrolled 3,500 members, 500 of which are under 21 years of age; Fogo District has enrolled about 1,700, of whom about 250 are under 21 years of age; Bonaville District has enrolled 2,000 members, of which about 600 are under 21 years of age; Trinity District has enrolled about 3,500 members, of whom about 500 are under 21 years of age; Bay de Verde has enrolled about 1,600 members, of whom 300 are under 21 years of age. Therefore in these districts the Union strength is absolutely sufficient to return the candidates by big majorities. These districts alone contain 12,000 Union voters. Even if he were a politician. An attempt is also made to show that Bonaville town is not strong for the Union. The facts are the F.P.U. Council there contains 400 voters, and about 100 under 21 years of age. There has been no withdrawal as stated by the News, and when the votes are cast fully fifty per cent. of the non-Union vote at Bonaville, will be added to the votes of the 400 Union electors. Union candidates will sweep their districts by bigger majorities than ever before recorded. The uttering of such falsehoods concerning the Union strength by the Graball papers, is done in the hope of influencing the Western Districts or Districts where the Union is not organized. No such stuff would be evaluated in Union districts for almost everyone admits that the Union is sure to have an easy walk over, therefore the sole intention of the Graballs in making such false statements is to make out a case against the Union in order to send it wide cast into districts where the Union has not been established, but such tactics will fail, for the West will follow the North and both will drive the Graballs from power next November. The Opposition Can't Lose, and the Graballs Must Go!

The Grab Ails' Wail!

The News-to-day utters its shriek of woe over the announcement of Saturday. Mr. Robinson essays his heart by uttering the falsehood that Coaker has sold out the Union lock, stock and barrel, and bound the Union hand and foot, having, he says, received nothing because Sir Robert Bond does not enumerate in his letter the lines of policy which he set before Mr. Coaker. Let the News and other Graballs wait and see. Mr. Coaker has sacrificed nothing. The F.P.U. is recognized as its power and influence which is undeniable warrants. The fact that the decision of Sir Robert was not arrived at until Thursday last, is proof that it was no easy matter to bring about an understanding with the F.P.U. As for selling out the Union, Mr. Coaker will easily convince the country that there has been no sale, or giving away of the Union's power or strength. His action is a master stroke for the Followers of the Deep, and the policy that will be advocated by the Opposition forces will prove what a blessing the F.P.U. has conferred on the Sons of Toil. Never did a general contest his ground with more courage and determination than did Mr. Coaker in his negotiations with the Liberal Party. He had full authority to arrange on behalf of the F.P.U., proof of which was published in the Advocate last December, as a part of the Journal of Proceedings of Bonaville Convention which every reader of the Advocate including Editor Robinson, have long ago digested. The authority is full, definite and clear. Graballism was dealt the greatest blow on Saturday, and the terror of the realization of the fact that Bond and Coaker had united to oust Graballism, was sufficiently great to cause the political wreckers to lose all hope and confidence in their power to fool the electorate, and in every line of the political stuff in the News-to-day this picture is visible. They have outwitted themselves. They cried loud and long saying Bond would never unite with Coaker, and thinking they were right, blessed Bond as the one great man the Colony has produced. We told them to wait and see. They waited and they saw, but the slight shattered their senses and sent a thrill of terror through their hearts that will be remembered while life lasts. We invite them again to wait and see, on the Mountains of the Liberal Leader will bring joy to the heart of every Follower, especially the brave, faithful and plucky men who have established and maintained the Fishermen's Protective Union.

ST. JOHN'S, NFLD., MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1913.

The Insolent Reply Of the Government to the People.

On Saturday we just touched on the Government's reply to the petitions of the Fishermen's Union, presented to the House of Assembly in the session of 1912 by Sir Robert Bond. Those who attended the House on that occasion will remember the loud, violent and bumptious manner in which Premier Morris addressed the House, who are the Councils of the Fishermen's Union? Who are the members of the Fishermen's Union that they should presume to talk to him about extravagant expenditure? They are only the dupes of some designing person for whom there will be a rude awakening. And this is the man who has proclaimed himself and his associates the People's Party. The People's Party, forsooth! The PEOPLE'S SCOURGE is their proper title, for they are the most incompetent set of political reprobates that an angry Heaven ever sent to curse a people.

Has it not been shown that the Hon. Donald Morison has also obtained thousands of dollars on account? And was it not proven from public records the large interests he held in a company which obtained timber areas on the Labrador, equal in area to A THIRD OF NEWFOUNDLAND! Do not the public accounts prove that Croble and Morison's company obtained thousands for coastal contracts and old spars; that Devereaux, Downey, Bennett, Goodison, Emerson, Howley and others are drawing thousands from the Treasury, the two first, namely Devereaux and Downey, in the shape of annual salaries as Agricultural Commissioners, the others in the shape of solicitors or arbitrators, under Morris's railway scheme.

Why was not the Fishermen's Petition accepted? Why was not the General Election held last fall or this spring, as it should have been, the constitutional life of the Government having then expired? Why have the Government held on to office in defiance of the law and of the people's protest? Why, because the public chest and the public lands are at their disposal. Lest we forget—Has it not been shown that Sir Edward Morris obtained thousands of dollars from the Treasury in the shape of "payments on account," and was not his holding of forty thousand shares in a company, holding timber lands shown up after he had denied ever holding any such interest?

Do not the Public Accounts show that the Daily News, the Evening Herald and Evening Chronicle have received tens of thousands of dollars for printing, etc., and are not Morris, Morison, Watson and Cashin Shareholders in one or other of these newspapers? Have we not published extracts from the public accounts showing that Whiteway, Bishop, Moore and Kennedy have been receiving thousands of dollars in connection with the public institutions? There is not a member of the Government or one of its supporters who have not been receiving either money directly or indirectly from the Treasury, or lands from the Crown Lands Department during the past four years. These political highwaymen deceived the people in 1908 and obtained the power to do as they have been doing, and they will hold on to power until an enraged people kick them out in November.

RIGHT, HON. SIR ROBERT BOND.

To Right Hon. Sir Robert Bond.

BY A NATIVE.

Caed mille faltha and Heaven's best blessings
Attend you, Sir Robert, our son true and brave:
Accept from your country her choicest caressings,
Dear land, that from ruin you often did save.

Who won her the gift which to-day she possesses—
The boon which all freemen doth use on their side:
The Ballot Act system, which heals and redresses,
And baffles and wounds the vain autocrat's pride?

Though oft shafts of derision and envy were blended
To weave a false web in the year ninety-four,
All hail to the hero who nobly defended
The honor and fame of his sea-girted shore.

When pervers and traitors disowned her for lure,
And sold her to strangers to do as they please,
Your love for a moment had never forsook her,
But it scorned all the wifal intrigues of these.

Caed mille faltha! a true son we're greeting!
May Heaven protect you on land or on sea,
And may you forever your foes keep defeating!
Is the prayer TERRA NOVA bequeaths unto thee.

Though you have been feted and honoured where glory
Doth reign more supreme than the land of your birth,
Yet dearer to her is your unsmiled story,
She boasts of your honour, your manhood and worth.

The exile from dear Terra Nova doth cherish
A heartfelt regard for her Patriot Son,
And his love for your manhood shall never perish,
Nor the many bright deeds of the past which you've won.

Then hail to you, Chief, whom we all love to honour!
Long live and good fortune attend you, we pray;
And dear Terra Nova, God's blessing upon her!
Is the wish and the prayer of true natives to-day.

How News Was Received.

Liberals Jubilant. Tories All In. What's the Matter With Bond? He's All Right! Coaker's Name Received With Applause

Saturday evening in almost all the mercantile establishments and in most places where men are employed, very little work was done until the Telegram was published, and when it was known that Sir Robert Bond and Mr. Coaker were coalitionists the people could not be restrained from showing their pleasure. Such exclamations as "Bond and Coaker for ever," "Our popular Premier is with us again," and "Bond's our man" could be heard on all sides. In several places men threw aside all restraint and ran out on the sidewalks to get copies of the Telegram. Later when they saw the good news confirmed in Mr. Coaker's paper, the Advocate, enthusiasm reached its highest pitch. They now say that the man who could do this Tory graft had come back to his own. During working hours men had to suppress their feelings, but about 9.30, when the people began to get about, the feeling was evident. If the sentiment in St. John's East and West is a criterion, then certainly the Plenic Party is "up for sale." It was hard to find Tories Saturday night, they seemed to have all gone to cover! They had to get in out of the wet, and they are getting in so quickly that Morris is looking around for sympathizers and can't get them. Perhaps the Hon. P. T. McGrath will soothe him. He can soothe him too, and it may soothe him to know that the men who formed up committees for him last election in the West End have formed them since Saturday night for SIR ROBERT BOND'S NOMINEES. The surprise of this election will be St. John's West. The young voters are all arrayed against Morris. The older voters who have heard his palaver, who have received his insults and who have heard him "codding" the whole electorate, are only awaiting the chance to mark adverse ballots for him. Sir Edward, you see how the people of the West End regard you. This is your Waterloo. All along the line "Victory" can be read on the banners of the Liberals. Sir Robert Bond and Mr. Coaker can't hold. Sentiment is too strong in their favor and the whole country is with them. Anyhow, graft, boodle and bribery must be stopped. Newfoundland must get a Liberal Government and there will be no "eighteens." Sir Robert Bond will sweep the country.

Uncle Tim's Message.

My fellow men of Newfoundland,
Tis time to look around,
To see how in the world we stand,
And whether we are bound.
Two hundred thousand tolling men
Must labour day by day,
Are all we have to trust to, when
The time is come to pay.
For all the mad expenditure,
The waste, the lack of skill
In managing our business affairs,
There's neither fact nor will
In any of the "Morris" crowd.

But borrow, boys, and spend
For all your worth; then get your shroud
For you are near your end.
Why should they longer rule us men
Of black and strength and wit,
I've said before, I'll say again,
"The you alone are fit."
To take the helm of the state,
When danger is in sight,
To save us from a woe-fall fate,
To turn the wrong to right,
To do this, all you fishermen,
And labourers likewise
And every working man ye ken,
Who have to live honest tries,
Must join together hand in hand
To fight your country's cause
To wrest her from this guilty band,
From out their boodling paw.

Three cheers for Sir Robert Bond. The Hiccups feast is over. Morris has the scowl on. Gibbs is kicking for more pie. Morris's heels in the West End are now in sixes and sevens. Frank Morris wears a far-off look and wonders what will happen next. Morris bows to all he meets including Cash's Indian. Morris ought to send Downey and Gibbs to the West Coast, no trouble to lick both at the one time. The Liberals are wearing the smile that won't come off. Watch the old Liberal guard of the West End making things hum. Great will be the fall of the three Tory straws in the East End. Kent, Shea and Dwyer are more popular than ever. The Tory secrets praised Bond for the last two months in the hope that he would not enter the political arena. Watch their time change now. Oh won't we have a jolly time bowling the Tories over. 'Twill be hard on them to leave the feast for they like to feed on clover. The Pfanddealer is rough on rats and says the less we hear from Patsy in the present campaign the better 'twill be for the Government. Oh, how those Tories love each other, and still Patsy will tell us they are a happy family. Be off, Patsy, and tell it to the Marines.

The Tory Loaf.

Mary Gives a Little Explanation.
Editor The Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—I sent Tom down town this morning to get my boots from the cobbler, as I wanted to go to the South Side this afternoon to gather certain information I am after concerning the need of a motor ferry on the harbour ("what impudence!" I hear some one say, but impudence is one of the essentials so it seems to present day manhood) and he brought them home wrapped up in a piece of yesterday's Daily News. In it I noticed a picture of a very fine-looking young woman bearing in each hand a loaf of bread. The loaf she held in the right hand was supposed to be the regulation one under the Bond Government, it seemed to be good and solid, and perhaps a little smaller than the other. It was no doubt a better loaf, and not puffed up by its own conceit as the Tory loaf which she held in her left hand apparently was.

THE RIGHT HOUSE

Letter From East End Liberal.

Editor The Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—I was more than pleased when I read a letter in your journal of Friday's date, August 29th, in praise of Mr. Kent and his colleagues for St. John's East. Mr. Kent is popular, and no sane person will attempt to deny this. Mr. Kent is an honourable man, one whose word is his bond. Mr. Shea is also an honourable man, and so is my old friend, Mr. John Dwyer. I assume then that the largest vote ever rolled up in their favour will be the vote which will be recorded in November. We are not yet in the limelight stage, so Higgins, Howley and Bartlett may go whistle jigs to a mile stone, for they'll never sit inside the four walls of the Assembly. The reputation of our three loyal and true representatives are unsullied, they have been always to the fore in our behalf. We don't want Higgins. 'Tis not so very long ago when this man was preaching against Morris and his Tory followers. Now he's opposed to the sentiments which were instilled into him since boyhood. Higgins won't be elected. He may do all the nice talking which he knows how, he may help in getting the money from the Board of Works Office to have it handed over to Tory heelsers for their wage for employment on the roads. He may try and get over those who are opposed to him and to Morris, but he'll find it all lost like water on a duck's back, he'll get left in November as he deserves to be. Howley has the greatest cheek and impudence of the whole bunch. Howley ran away after the elections of 1900, and left the honest voters of Bay St. George who had elected him in the lurch. After he came back he was told to leave the ranks of the Liberal Party. Sir Robert Bond didn't want nor don't want any of his kidney. As for Bartlett, I am told that he is coming with Higgins and Howley, he'll get a surprise that he'll remember should he live to be a hundred. It's an insult pure and simple to ask the electors of St. John's East, the men who never went back on their principles, to vote for such a trio. It won't be done. They won't go back on Kent, Shea and Dwyer as I mentioned in the beginning of my letter these three gentlemen never got such a big vote as they're going to get this time. I remain yours sincerely,
EAST END LIBERAL.
August 30th, 1913.

The idea of the picture and the printed reference to it was to show that under the Bond Government our people got $1.00, and under the Morris Government $1.50. Well, my sake's alive, if it is the railway work they are referring to, they ought to be well ashamed of themselves. Railway work around here is simply slavery, and $1.50 a day is not half enough for the way men are driven.
I would like to ask the Daily News man if he could tell me how many men got $1.50 a day in this town or neighbourhood. I am sure they are very few, except a few Government officials, who work three or four hours a day. Take the whole island, Mr. Editor, and give Morris and the News all the men who receive the annual rate of $1.50 a day, and give Sir Robert Bond all who receive under that amount, and the tables will be turned pretty quick I think.
Oh, yes, sir, the very large spongy loaf generally gets sour before it can be used, and will be thrown away by the family. In the same way the Morris Government has become sour to the people and will be thrown out this fall.
Yours, etc.,
MARY.

I. G. Sullivan Returns.

By the Bruce express which arrived here at noon yesterday, Inspector General Sullivan returned from a very pleasurable trip which he had to the United States. Speaking to a Telegram reporter Mr. Sullivan said that he was cordially and courteously received by the police chiefs of the cities in the State of Massachusetts which he visited and the police officials of Boston and Cambridge, old friends of his gave him a cordial welcome. At Beverly, Mr. Sullivan was the guest of his son Capt. Thos. Sullivan, of the s.s. Ligonier, was entertained on board and the Inspector General and the captain later saw the sights of the city and its environs. While in Boston a man named Jas. McGuire met Mr. Sullivan and knew him on sight. Mr. McGuire belongs to Riverhead, and though forty years out of the country, well remembered Mr. Sullivan, who was a youth when both were acquainted. Needless to say the greetings exchanged were of the warmest character. Mr. Sullivan thoroughly enjoyed his trip, and his health judging by his appearance, is greatly improved.

The Norris Benefit.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—I would like if you can grant me the space, in your valuable paper, to thank all who took part in the benefit concert for Mr. Norris who has been for many months unable to follow his employment. We can never thank Jack Rossley and his clever wife, for their kindness. They turned over their theatre to us without fee or charge and did all that lay in their power to help the sick man. Mrs. Rossley turned to and taught her little pupils a new song and dance, and hustled around to make the concert the success it was and through their kindness I will be able to hand over to Mr. Norris over $120, and that's the second big sum realized in a short time through the kindness of the Rossleys, and I am sure the public will feel grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Rossley for their many kindnesses to help a good cause. Again I thank all on behalf of Mr. Norris.

Famous Ship Terra Nova Here.

The familiar form of the s.s. Terra Nova, was once again seen in our port yesterday forenoon when she dropped anchor off Bowring's premises, Southside. This ship is famous in more respects than one. She is famed for having brought to the South Pole the heroic Scott and his devoted followers, who with the heroism always to be found in the three kingdoms gave up their lives in the interests of science. The sad story of the travel of those heroes is of too recent occurrence to need repetition. The ship is also famed as being the vessel in which Capt. Arthur Jackman, the old Viking, made many of his most successful voyages. She has been re-purchased by Bowring Bros. and will engage in this season's seal fishery. She is from Cardiff and came out in 15 days with Capt. Chas. Paton in command. The ship has been altered somewhat and is greatly strengthened and improved since leaving here.

Desperate Attempt At Burglary.

P. J. FORTUNE'S PLACE ENTERED—BLOCKED AT DOORWAY. When Mr. P. J. Fortune, the well-known dry goods man, opened his store this morning he was greatly surprised. Some vandal had attacked the place and he found the rear window opened, but fortunately he had stout bars behind this or it would have been forced. The would-be thief or thieves turned their attention to a door on the western side of the building, and to show their determination to enter, they put in the sash and glass of a large window and tried to force the door, but it was too stout for them. Mr. Fortune had a good deal of money in his safe after Saturday's sales. Had the thieves gained access they could have done a good deal of damage. It is a combination safe. This would go to prove that nocturnal thieves are proving about, but the police are after them.

Ascent of Mt. Robson.

Calgary, Alberta, August.—To cut sixteen hundred steps in snow and ice of which six hundred were in hard ice, was the stupendous and nerve racking task which had to be done by Conrad Kain a Swiss guide employed by the Alpine Club of Canada, to assist in the ascent of Mount Robson, highest peak of the Canadian Rockies, according to the official account of the climb as given by A. O. Wheeler, director of the club. "The three ascents of Mount Robson with the object in view of reaching its summit were confined to six men," says Director Wheeler, "of whom two were professional guides. Of the other four, W. W. Foster, deputy minister of public works, of British Columbia, and A. H. McCarthy, of Wilmer, B. C. were the only two who succeeded in making a complete ascent led by the club's professional guide Conrad Kain. The two who failed to make the complete ascent were E. S. Darling, of Vancouver, and H. Prouty, of Niagara. Mountaineering Club of Portland, Oregon. "The first attempt under Kain was successful, the party of three making the first absolutely complete ascent of the mountain that has yet been made. The ascent was made on the one side and the descent on the other so that a complete traverse was accomplished. On this occasion one night was spent on the mountain at an elevation of 9,000 feet without food or covering. "The second attempt by Darling and Prouty in charge of a Swiss guide, Walter Schaffelberger, failed, when within four hundred feet of the summit owing to the lateness of the hour and the fact that a storm was about to burst. To have been caught in it on the bare ice slopes would, in all likelihood, have meant death to one or more of the party and it was forced to retreat with victory in sight. On this occasion two nights were spent on the mountain at high altitude. "The third and last attempt was made by the two guides accompanied by Darling and McCarthy for the second time. The object was to ascertain a feasible route up the south face. Again storms interfered, and when ascending a steep ice ridge five hundred feet from the summit a fierce snow blizzard threatened to blow the climbers out of the steps in the ice by which they were ascending. So bad was the storm that it was impossible to see ten paces ahead and the flying particles blinded the men. Conrad, who can do anything possible in mountain climbing and often what seems impossible, declined to go any further saying it meant death. With great difficulty and danger a retreat was made in safety. Notwithstanding, the object of the climb was attained for the party joined on this route with that previously made from the east, and so established the feasibility of an ascent from the east and south. "The mountain is a difficult and dangerous one to climb. Rising 40,000 feet above sea level. It is subject to very frequent and wild storms which come on at a moment's notice. The entire crest is covered by ice and snow blown by fierce winds into grotesque shapes and making it extremely difficult to find a path through them. "When it is known that to reach the summit on the first ascent, Conrad Kain had to cut no less than sixteen hundred steps in snow and ice and six hundred of these were in hard ice necessitating hours of patient waiting while this labor was being performed, the difficulties will be partly understood. During this weary waiting the frozen debris from the steep cutting was blown for hours into the faces of the climbers and this fact alone exemplifies the great courage and determination necessary to attain success. That first climb took thirteen hours of incessant labor from the Robson Glacier when a start was made to the summit.

KILLARNEY, To-day.—Earl Kenmare's fine seat, Killarney House, Killarney, County Kerry, was destroyed by fire last night. The cost is a million dollars. HALIFAX, To-day.—The steamship Uranium berthed at the Furness pier yesterday morning when a fire broke out between decks. She left New York on Thursday for Rotterdam with four hundred passengers and general cargo. The fire was first discovered on Friday but when 300 miles from that port, and the ship's head was turned for Halifax. The passengers on the Uranium first knew of the fire raging in the vitals of the ship when Halifax Harbor was reached, water and steam being poured in changes to disperse the fire, which was confined in No. 1 hold in overlap deck but spread to lower hold and up between decks. It is expected the flames will be extinguished to-day. DUBLIN, To-day.—The fierce rioting in connection with the tramway strike was renewed on Sunday. A hundred persons including city constables, were injured. The riotous persons were confined to their homes for treatment. The strike committee in the interest of peace had resided in the early morning a proposed mass meeting on O'Connell Street and substituted a parade from Bedford Place, Croydon Park and Fairview, a suburb on the north side. The city authorities, meanwhile, had prohibited a mass meeting at Croydon Park of the Transport Workers Union. On the return march the attempts of police by baton charges to disperse the constantly growing crowd led to rioting. The mob was further incensed by the arrest of one of the strike leaders, John Larkin, against whom a warrant had been out for twenty-four hours. Larkin was on the balcony of a job on Sackville Street. He was wearing a disguise for the purpose of eluding arrest, but his admirer raised the cry "Three cheers for Larkin." The police then fell upon him and violent scenes occurred, and rioting became general in various parts of the city. The police charged repeatedly with sticks. This led to a pitched battle, stones, bricks, bottles, etc., were hurled by the rioters. The arrests were soon covered with protestant forms. More than fifty arrests were made. The tram service was completely suspended. The number of injured is not known, but including Saturday's victims, is believed to reach nearly 400. The Lord Mayor announces his intention to demand a public inquiry into the conduct of the police during the strike riots and will send the law officers of the corporation to attend the inquests over two who had died from the result of injuries. BASEBALL.—The representatives of the four League Clubs, together with the City Team, will meet to-night at the office of the Imperial Tobacco Co., at eight o'clock, to discuss the proposed trip to Grand Falls on September 4th. All those that are contemplating making the trip with the team are requested to get in communication with P. J. Grace, Secretary of the League, so that he can get an idea of the accommodation required.—sept 1

We Can't Lose.

Editor The Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—Since your announcement on Saturday of the union of the Liberal and F. P. U. forces to fight the campaign this Fall, Opposition stock has soared away up while Morris scrip has declined until it is regarded as utterly worthless. There is no doubt at all that a wave of popular feeling against the present Government is sweeping every District of this Island. It will sweep Morris from office and Bond and his following will ride into power on its crest. We Can't Lose as an united party. Fusion of the various elements of the Opposition was all that was necessary to ensure success. This has happily taken place and victory is bound to perch on our banner. St. John's East is more enthusiastically Liberal than ever and all the political weather prophets predict a stormy time for Morris in the West. End this fall.

The Public Expects the Auditor-General to Do His Duty.

"The public accounts shall include the period from the 30th of June in one year to the 30th of June in the next year which period shall constitute the financial year. All estimates submitted to the Legislature shall be for the services coming in the course of payment during the financial year."

It is by this provision of the Audit Act that the Legislature sought to control the expenditure of public moneys by the Executive Government by means of an annual account dealing only with receipts and expenditures coming within the financial year. It thus provided for an annual stock-taking and review of the financial standing and obligations of the Colony. It provides for the appointment of an Auditor General, directed him to report to the House of Assembly annually upon public receipts and expenditures and during the year to control all payments and to enforce the provisions of the Audit Act. One of the duties of the Auditor General is to see that every transaction which properly belongs to a financial year is included in the accounts of that year and in no other year. If an amount that should be paid in one year is held back until the next year or if money received after July the 1st in any given year is credited to the accounts of the previous year it is quite evident to the casual observer that a surplus thus created is fictitious and obtained by illegal and improper means. In fact it does not exist at all. The public are justified in looking to the Auditor General to protect them from such conduct on the part of the Government and every Department of it. At no time is the public more dependent upon the sense of justice and impartiality of the Auditor General than during the period of time that elapses between the closing of the last session of the Legislature and a general election. This is a period in which a reckless Government or a reckless Minister is tempted to indulge the passion for expenditure and at the same time improperly create a surplus. It is therefore a period requiring special vigilance on the part of the Auditor General in his audit of the accounts and his control of public money. We have direct evidence of the propensities of the Morrison-Morrison Combine in this direction. Last session of the House the Auditor General reported that a large sum which should have been charged to 1911-12 had been held over and charged to the following year, a fact which made the surplus for that year appear larger than it really was. There is no reason why this kind of thing should be repeated. The Legislature will have no opportunity to examine the public accounts before the election. It is the Auditor General's duty to examine and control them. The public look to him to prevent the present Combine taking advantage of the improper suppression of accounts as was done last year. The public will insist that there be no juggling with the public accounts and will see responsibility brought home to the proper parties for all such irregularities. Let each year include, and include only, those transactions which belong to it. Let there be no deferred payments or deferred charges to manufacture a surplus for political purposes. Above all let the Auditor General do his duty.

Belvedere Orphans' Collection.

The Orphans' Cause was eloquently pleaded last night by the Rt. Rev. Mr. Roche, V.G. who occupied the Cathedral pulpit. We quote in full the Rev. Gentleman's forcible words. In accordance with the announcement made at all the Masses this morning or next Sunday you will be asked to respond to an appeal to your generosity on behalf of St. Michael's Orphanage, Belvedere. Every year at this time, the first Sunday of September, this appeal is made to the Catholic people of St. John's and every year the appeal meets with a generous and a liberal response. This demand upon our generosity is one that always awakes the sympathy of every Catholic heart. There can surely be no work nearer or dearer to our Lord's heart, there can be no work more in harmony with the spirit of our holy Church all through her history than the work of providing for the fatherless and the orphan, of providing and caring for those, who in their tender years are deprived by the mysterious decrees of Providence of their natural protectors and breadwinners. This noble work has been blessed ever since our divine Lord said "Whoever you do to the least of My brethren you do it unto Me" and "Whoever shall receive one such little child in My name receiveth Me." This work has been always an important part of the Church's mission. The cry of the young, the fatherless, and the unprotected has never been addressed in vain to the warm heart of our holy Mother the Church. She has always been a kind and tender Mother to those little ones who have no one to care for them, no one to provide for them. She has always received them into her arms with more than a earthly mother's tender care. Wherever the Catholic Church spreads its branches immediately after the building of churches for the people and schools for the children, comes the effort to provide homes for the Fatherless and the Orphan. We have in Newfoundland, institutions in which there is provision made for the reception of every fatherless Catholic child in the Colony who needs it. No application is ever disregarded, the only condition of admission is that the child be fatherless and unprotected. That these institutions are able to keep on their noble work is due almost entirely to the unflinching generosity and sympathy and support of the Catholic people of St. John's. These institutions, it must be remembered, receive children from all parts of the Island; their doors are open to all no matter where they come from, but at the same time the burden of their upkeep and maintenance is borne, and cheerfully borne, in the main by the generous Catholic people of St. John's. At the present time in the Orphanage at Belvedere there are more than 100 children, and under the charge of the Sisters they are receiving all the care they could receive in the best Catholic homes. Their material wants are looked after, their education is seen to and their moral training is such as could only be given by a community of devoted Sisters. It is therefore a privilege to be allowed to share in this great work. It is a privilege for us to be allowed a share in the reward hereafter given to those who devote their lives to caring for the little ones of Christ's flock. This appeal is one that comes to us more in the nature of a duty than of a favor, because the work being done by these institutions is the work of God, the Church, of the Catholic people of the Colony and our own work as Catholics, the community are only the trustees in carrying out our wishes; therefore we are all bound to contribute to the work according to our means and circumstances. Every year the collection has been increasing in recent years, and I have no doubt this year will prove no exception to the rule. Let us then endeavor to give generously and freely according to our means, and no matter what we give whether it be much or little, we can rest assured it will all come back to us a hundredfold in temporal blessings in this world and eternal blessings in the world to come.

Placencia and St. Mary's Greet the Incorruptible Commoner.

Special to The Evening Telegram.
PLACENCIA, To-day.
Placencia and St. Mary's sends hail to the chief who has led his country out of many difficulties. Send along your men, Sir Robert, and depend on our votes this time. With Sir Robert at the helm, Mr. Kent, chief officer, a staunch crew under a united Liberal banner, the ship of state will soon leave the present turbulent waters and shoals of bankruptcy on to which she has been drifting after being looted by a gang of political pirates who had charge of her. Under Sir Robert's practical guidance she will again be made seaworthy and take her place not as a bankrupt or mortgaged chattel of Reid's but free and untrammelled to sail her own course. Great rejoicing prevailed here Saturday night on receipt of Sir Robert Bond's pronouncement to lead a United Liberal Party. Long live the great incorruptible Commoner to guard the destinies of our Island home.

Greetings From S. E. Arm, Placencia.

Sham Democracy.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

"If there is one thing in this world I thoroughly hate," snobbishness. I heard a young woman declare the other day: "I don't see why one person should be better than another. She's so much better than another just because she has a little more money or comes from a more aristocratic family. After all it's what you are yourself, not what you have or who your parents are that counts."

I wondered what had caused this sudden burst of democratic feeling. I was soon enlightened.

It seems that its author had just received a painful snub from a woman somewhat above her in a social position. She had met this woman at a small summer place where distractions were few and social distinctions somewhat lax, and the latter had sought her out and seemed to enjoy her company very much. Some weeks later my young friend met her summer acquaintance in the city and at once started to greet her with the intimacy and cordiality their former friendship warranted. Enter the snub. Not an out and out cut; they don't do it quite that way. But with a formal politeness as cold and keen as a knife she cut their friendship in two; and while she was verbally expressing her pleasure at meeting her summer friend she was making it perfectly evident by her manner that she hoped never to meet her again.

Naturally the object of this polite rudeness was somewhat wrought up. And yet I confess that I don't feel one particle of sympathy for her. You think that's queer. Well, I'll tell you why. Because I know that her outraged democracy is only skin deep.

It is the kind of democracy that wants to level down but not up. When she says she doesn't see why one person should be better than another, she means she doesn't see why anyone who has more money or a more aristocratic family than she should set themselves above her. She doesn't mean that she has no reason to set herself above those who are below her in the social scale. In fact I happen to know that she is quite as cruel to those she considers beneath her as the other woman was to her.

A great many people have just this kind of democratic feeling. Unless you are on the top or the bottom round of the social ladder there are always some people above you and some below, and the natural human instinct is to resent the former fact as unjust and acquiesce in the latter as right and unavoidable.

I know a girl who stands behind a counter. She resents it bitterly because a former friend of hers who has become a stenographer looks down upon her. And yet I know that she looks down just as haughtily upon another girl who is a domestic worker.

Heart democracy, the golden spirit which counts all men as brothers, is very, very beautiful, and in the last analysis, I believe it is the only force that will ever make this old world of ours right. But sham democracy, the kind that levels down but not up, is as ugly as the real thing is beautiful.

Railway Stations

A railway station is a disturbing center for spare time which is visited by people who have a vague idea of getting somewhere before the week is out. It is erected for the accommodation of passengers who otherwise would have to come equipped with a spring coil, an army tent and a full complement of cold victuals.

Railway stations are inhabited by three individuals who do not intend to go anywhere and therefore are never in a hurry. These are the ticket agent, the baggage agent and the telegraph operator. The ticket agent can never understand why a passenger can't take the afternoon train as well as the one that leaves at 6.15 a. m., and sometimes arranges the matter so that everybody is perfectly satisfied but the man who wants the ticket. Nothing is more offensive to a ticket agent than to request him to hurry for he knows how many trains there are a day and is willing to put his time against yours.

The baggage agent is a banal person who is forbidden by the rules and regulations from moving off a walk for fear of heart failure. The train may be pulling into a station and fifteen people be lined up with sixty-four pieces of luggage, but this will not prevent the baggage agent from standing on one leg and sharpening a lead pencil. Incidentally breaking off the lead three or four times, meanwhile conversing upon some irrelevant topic with the hack driver. If any travelling salesman suggests that he would like to have his trunks checked in time to connect with the fall business, the baggage agent will make it a point to ket around to him inside of fifteen minutes after the train has left.

The telegraph operator is hired for the special purpose of answering telephone calls whenever he can do so without having to get up out of his chair. He is also required to post the arrival and departure of trains on a blackboard in the waiting room, which is lucky to arrive within two hours and a half of the actual leaving time. Every once in a while the telegraph operator will happen to think of a telegram which came in yesterday before yesterday, and will dispatch the same with the utmost promptness.

A railway station at night is a scene of great animation especially when the train is in and the ticket window is closed on account of the agent being invited out to dinner. It is a pleasant place to spend three or four hours of leisure time, and is used for that purpose by people who have not heard of the last wash-out.

Household Notes

Always use the best white vinegar for pickles.

All vegetables for canning should be absolutely sound and fresh.

Potato water is good to take mud staining from cloth.

Sunflower seed will make a better bait for the mousetrap than cheese.

Fresh fruit, if coated with paraffine, will keep almost indefinitely.

Starch, with a few drops of paraffine in it, will not stick.

To clean wings and quills, put them in a box with corn meal and shake them gently.

In preparing pickles, always use a wooden spoon or fork, never metal ones.

A little dissolved gelatine added to cream while whipping it will often help in making it stiff.

A teaspoonful of alcohol on the tissue paper cover will help to save jars or jelly.

To make good bread, the liquid should be lukewarm when added to the yeast cake.

A piece of blotting paper under the bureau cover will keep the bureau top in good condition.

A little olive oil put around a glass stopper which sticks will sometimes loosen it.

A sweet green pepper, boiled and chopped fine, is a delicate addition to a dish of scalloped potatoes.

Dip your fruit jars in paraffine wax. It makes them perfectly airtight, and the contents will not spoil.

Brown bread and butter, spread with honey and then with chopped walnuts, makes a delicious sandwich.

To glaze linen, add a teaspoonful of salt and one of finely scraped soap to each pint of starch in which it is dipped.

Ice cream is not so apt to go buttery if allowed to chill before the freezer is turned.

To keep the teeth in good order, always brush them front and back, and up and down, then use dental floss faithfully.

If mixed with milk instead of water, mustard will not get dry, but will keep nice and fresh until it is all used up.

Safety matches can be struck just as easily on a piece of smooth cloth as they can on the safety match box case.

A spoonful of sugar added to the water for hastening meat will give it a rich brown color, and the flavor will be improved.

If the soupels too salty, add a few slices of raw potatoes and cook a little longer. The potato will absorb the surplus salt.

When making apple jelly, put a rose geranium leaf in the bottom of each glass before pouring in the jelly. It will impart a delicious flavor.

When running dates, figs or raisins through the chopper, add a few drops of lemon juice to prevent the fruit from clogging the chopper.

It is a good idea when cleaning milk utensils, to add a pinch of borax to the water. This keeps them sweet and clean.

To make salmon sandwiches, squeeze a little lemon over the fish, add salt and pepper, a well beaten egg and melted butter, then stir the mixture well together.

Satin washes very well if properly done. Make a suds of warm water and soap. Wash the article in this, then rinse in clear cold water and iron when dry on the wrong side.

Before washing soiled handkerchiefs, allow them to soak in cold water into which has been put a handful or so of salt. This makes them much easier to wash.

To remove paint from windows, try moistening the edge of a silver coin and rubbing the spot of paint. You will find the paint will disappear like magic.

If you would have your gums have nicely, leave one of the cups empty and fill it with water. The gums will not scorch when this method is followed, but will brown nicely.

Wax candles which have become dusty or soiled can be made perfectly white by rubbing them with a clean piece of flannel dipped in spirits of wine.

Stafford's Drug Store, Theatre Hill, does NOT close at 7 o'clock every night. - aug 29, 13

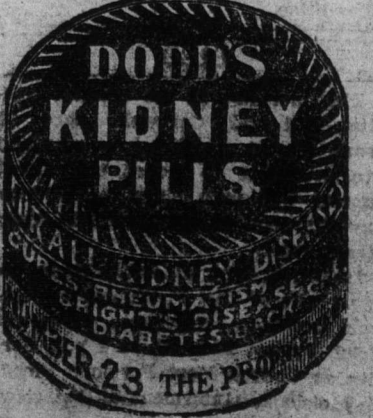

No Absolution.

Penalty for Dancers of the Turkey Trot.

New York - Acting on information supplied by the Knights of Columbus, the Bishop of Nashville, in Tennessee (Dr. Byrne), has blessed a ban in the Roman Catholic Church on the "Turkey Trot," the "Tango" and all other "vice dances."

In a statement issued yesterday the bishop says: "Should any priest attempt to absolve a penitent who indulges in infamous dances the absolution would be worthless and the confession would be a curse rather than a blessing."

In obedience to the bishop's order all priests in the diocese will call the attention of their flocks to the "heinous" character of the prescribed dances.

Bell Island Field Sports 1913.

DOMINIONS AGAIN CARRY OFF THE HONOURS.
The annual athletic competitions on Bell Island, under the auspices of the Bell Island Regatta Committee, took place on Power's field on the noon, August 30th, and proved to be a great success. The weather was ideal, and with a nice breeze blowing a better afternoon for athletic contests could not be desired. Precisely at 2.30 the programme began, and from then until 6.30 a most enjoyable and varied number of events were gone through. The programme was similar to last year's, and all the contests were very exciting, being closely contested. The two Club events, Relay Race and Football Fives, were won this year by the Dominion Athletic Association, who also won seven events out of a possible ten, thus upholding the splendid record of last year. The Scotia and Wabana representatives, while not the victors, deserve praise for their good sportsmanship. The following is a summary of the events in their official order:—

(1) Long Distance Race—Four competitors entered, viz.: W. Roberts (Scotia), P. Manning, M. Cahill and R. Jackman (Dominions). Manning led nearly three quarters of the race, which was over a rough road, about five miles altogether. Cahill, who was running well, came to the front about the third mile and the finish was an easy win for him. Winners—1st, Cahill (Dominions); 2nd, W. Roberts (Scotia). Time 37 mins., 18 secs. Winner last year, M. Cahill.

(2) Half Mile Race—In this event four entered: L. Eagan (Scotia); R. Jackman (Wabana), R. Callahan and J. M. Green (Dominion). At the start Callahan set a rapid pace, closely followed by Jackman, with Eagan and Greene in the rear. The latter tripped and fell in the third round, but was on his feet quickly and on the home run passed all competitors and finished first for the third year in succession, with Eagan (Scotia) a good second. Winners—1st, J. M. Green (Dominion); 2nd, L. Eagan (Scotia). Time 2.30-2.5. Winner last year, J. M. Green. Time 2.33.

(3) 100 Yards Dash—Only two competed, W. Thomas (Scotia), R. Burnham (Dominion). Both being well known sprinters, Burnham led from the start and finished first for the third successive year. Time 11.1-5. Winner last year, R. Burnham. Time 11.1-5.

(4) High Jump—This was a close contest between Pearce (Dominion) and Ryan (Scotia). Both jumped 5 ft. 4 1/2 in., and in a second try Pearce won out. Winner last year, S. Pearce. 4 ft. 9 in.

(5) Inter-Club Relay Race—This was a pretty race and was competed for by teams from the Dominion Athletic and Scotia Athletic Associations. Dominion Representatives, H. C. Noonan, J. M. Greene and R. Burnham; Scotia Representatives, G. Burrows, L. Eagan and W. Thomas. After a good interesting run of 220 yards the Dominions won in 1.15. Noonan leading at start and Burnham and Greene maintaining it with a slight increase.

Winners last year, Scotia A. A., 1.48.

(6) Putting Shot—G. George (Scotia) was declared the winner of the event with a throw of the 16 lb. shot 28 ft. 6 in. G. Lahey (Scotia) being second. Winner last year, John Fraser, 29 ft. 6 1/2 in.

(7) Football Fives—The Scotia and Dominions—the old rivals—competed for honours in this contest. Mr. W. J. Higgins being referee. After twenty minutes' play the Dominions won by a corner, though for several minutes they were playing with only four. Burnham having sustained injuries, being unable to continue. Winners (Dominion), Noonan, Burnham, Ross, Pearce Walsh; 1 corner to 0. Winners last year, Scotia, 2 goals to 0.

(8) Running Broad Jump—J. Ryan, E. Ryan, G. George (Scotia), and S. Pearce (Dominion) entered. J. Ryan (Scotia) won with a throw of 16 feet, E. Ryan being second, 15.7. Winner last year, J. Fraser, 15 ft. 10 in.

(9) One Mile Race—This proved one of the prettiest events of the day. The following competed: E. Eagan, E. Spencer, P. Manning, M. Cahill, J. Humber, E. Wyatt, W. Jackman, P. Doolan and W. Roberts. At the start a heavy pace was set by Manning and Jackman, but towards the fifth round Wyatt came to the front. He maintained this till the last lap when Spencer started and came home first. Winners—1st, E. Spencer (Scotia); 2nd, E. Wyatt (Scotia). Time 6.50. Winner last year, J. M. Green, 5.45.

(10) Quarter Mile Race—About five took part in this race, but from the start it could be seen it was between R. Jackman, R. Callahan and W. Thomas. Callahan kept the lead till near home, when Jackman passed him. Winners—1st, R. Jackman (Wabana); 2nd, R. Callahan (Dominion).

A half hour was now devoted to the children, and races, scrambles, etc., were in order. Messrs. R. J. Costigan, D. J. Jackman, Leo. Murphy and Ed. Bennett looked after this part of the programme in a manner that deserves special mention.

The sports were a great success and the committee in charge are to be complimented, viz.: Mr. J. Hughes (Chairman), J. M. Green (Secretary), R. J. Costigan, D. J. Jackman, R. Proudfoot, Leo. Murphy, N. Sheppard, J. Kavanagh, C. Archibald, R. T. Pine, and Messrs. C. F. Taylor and C. Malone, Pres. and Vice-Pres. of the General Committee. The following were the officials:—

Starter—Mr. R. T. Pine.
Judge—Mr. R. Proudfoot, Mr. R. J. Costigan, Mr. Leo. Murphy.

Your Duty.

Nothing to do with the Custom House, good friend. Its only reference just now is to yourself. Let us suppose that you are a man of family with sufficient of the world's goods to keep them in comfort. Very well. You did not reach this satisfactory state of affairs without care and labour—few men do. Suppose you are awakened some night with shouts of alarm ringing in your ears. Too late then to talk of prudence; too late then to say: "If I had only, etc., etc." That "If" means too much to many forgetful people. Is it not always the duty of a self-respecting citizen to protect his home and thus provide for those within it. Is it any more, then his duty to those depending on him to protect them as far as possible? Can you call your property your own when it is not insured? The answer to this argument is to carry insurance with Perie Johnson's agency, the most popular office in Newfoundland and the least expensive.

Time Soul's Philosophy

All before us lies the way;
Give the past unto the wind;
All before us is the day,
Night and darkness are behind.
Eaten with its angels' food,
Love and flowers and coolest sea,
Is less an ancient story told
Than a glowing prophecy.
In the spirit's perfect air,
In the passions' flame and kind,
Innocence from selfish care,
The real Eden we shall find.

Personal.

Mr. G. Roberts, accompanied by his wife and daughter, arrived from Twillingate by Sunday's express. Mrs. Roberts, who received injuries by being thrown from a carriage a few weeks ago, is feeling much better. They are staying at the Osborne House.

Rev. P. J. O'Brien, of Tor's Cove, is in town and will attend to matters in connection with his Garden Party during his stay.

Mr. John Doyle, of the Nfld. Boot and Shoe Factory, arrived by the express yesterday from St. George's where he had been visiting his daughter, Sister Mary Agnes, of the Convent of Mercy, Bay St. George.

Miss Julia Carroll, of Livingstone Street, who was at Gloucester, Mass., visiting her sister Mrs. Capt. Ross, assisted by the Florizel, after a most enjoyable trip.

Mr. Ralph Lewis, son of Mr. Wm. Lewis, the veteran pilot, of the East End, arrived here a couple of days ago. Mr. Lewis is quarter master on one of the White Star Line boats, and is a young Newfoundland who is making good. He has been away several years and has been all over the world. He has been in Australia, South Africa and practically all over the American continent. An affecting scene occurred when Mr. Lewis arrived home and met his parents and little sister Hazel. The welcome he received will not soon be forgotten.

Minimise The Loss.

Practically farmers may easily minimise the loss, due to a backward and cold season, by the judicious use of Sulphate of Ammonia as a fertilizer. Sulphate of Ammonia contains over 20 per cent of nitrogen, as against 15 per cent in Nitrate of Soda, and is therefore more than 25 per cent better than nitrate of soda as a means of quickening and increasing the growth of crops.

The use of Sulphate of Ammonia has increased enormously of late years and it is recognized to be the most valuable fertilizer obtainable. By its judicious use the production of root crops per acre may be doubled, and the growth of late crops stimulated. We invite the attention of Farmers to our special pamphlet on the best methods of using Sulphate, copies of which will be forwarded free to any address on application.

The price of Sulphate is moderate, and our terms are accommodating.

That the French are a beribboned nation is well known, but the revelation that there are no less than 1,700,000 decors of one sort or another among the citizens of the French republic comes as a bit of a shock. It means that about one in every twenty citizens has the right to display a coloured ribbon or button. What is curious is the way in which this profuse decoration has been made possible. When the third republic started, the available orders had fallen in number to fourteen. A regime of democratic equality has brought them up to sixty-five.—New York Sun.

Death of Mr. Escott.

Mr. George Escott, well and favorably known in St. John's, died very suddenly at his home in Placentia, Saturday, as the result of heart failure. Mr. Escott lived on Hamilton Street, this city, and only a few weeks ago went to Placentia to look after the fishery business of Mr. G. C. Fearn. He leaves a widow, two daughters and several brothers, one of whom is Mr. Thor. Escott, of the firm of Goodridge & Sons. To the bereaved family The Evening Telegram extends its condolence.

A Brilliant Preacher.

A distinguished Newfoundland occupied the pulpit at Gower Street Church last night. This was Rev. C. K. Hudson, of Prince Edward Island. His theme: "Render and he took as his theme: 'Render unto Caesar and unto God the things that are God's.' Seldom has such an edifying and highly eloquent sermon been heard at Gower Street. The gentleman is a brother of Mr. Fenwick the respected wife of the Rev. Dr. Fenwick who assisted. Rev. Mr. Hudson while officiating.

A Booklet Which Every Man or Woman Who Saves Should Have

This booklet thoroughly explains the Partial Payment Plan that we have lately devised in order to extend our investment service to people of moderate means.

In this plan we have combined a system of "investing while saving"—the advantages of which will immediately become apparent upon the most cursory examination.

Through its terms you can purchase any of the high-grade securities on our list with an initial deposit of as low as $20 and monthly payments of as little as $10. Since bond interest accrued and stock dividends declared are credited to your account, your monthly payments will carry your securities and give you an income return considerably greater than possible through the usual method of accumulating savings.

We are confident that the plan will become very popular with the man who "earns a little and spends a little less." Therefore we invite all such thrifty people to clip and mail this coupon for a copy of the booklet which fully explains how the plan works out. TO-DAY is the best day to send it—to-morrow you may forget.
