I continued with the Zam-Buk treatment and the relief was extended into a permanent cure."

Shoulder Beauty Greatly to be Desired

I AM afraid the shoulder that requires no beautifying exists only in story books, as I have yet to find the woman who, if she spoke the whole truth and nothing but the truth, would not confess to some shoulder defect.

"Why is this?" asks a soft voice. Since you urge me to open conversation, I feel obliged to say that the average woman puts her hair and skin and hair, but totally forgets to cosset her shoulders.

This is a great beauty error, as dresses are being cut lower and lower for evening wear, and even in the prosaic day-time, the popular Dutch neck gives more than a floating glimpse to the shoulders. If they are pretty to look upon we have nothing to wish to curl, but when they are yellow or rough, we have just cause of complaint.

There is not the slightest shadow of an excuse for rough-skinned shoulders, as it is quite a simple matter to so treat them that they will grow smooth and soft. It will gladden your heart to know that your shoulders will become smooth as the petals of a rose.

If you treat them to a thorough scrubbing, night and morning, with a rough cloth, rubbing with hot water and soap suds.

When you have scored away at your shoulders until you know they are clean as a clean can be, rinse them off well with hot perfumed water, then run a piece of ice over the surface of the skin until it is as red as a winter sunset.

This beautifying treatment cannot be considered as complete until you have a towel has been vigorously sawed across the back and chest, dispatching into oblivion every bit of rough skin.

Yellow shoulders are just as abnormal as rough-skinned shoulders, so if you want to be the beauty queen, you must contrive in some way to banish the objectionable yellow. It is just the following simple bleach: It is harmless, easily applied, inexpensive and does the work demanded of it.

Are you ready to take this shoulder treatment? Yes? Then after sprinkling it that the orange juice is left on the skin to work its will until morning.

If you will follow this treatment up for a week or two, the orange juice will be the means of giving you that much coveted point of beauty--milk-white shoulders!

THE WOOD BOX

By GOUVERNEUR MORRIS

Copyright 1908 by Benjamin R. Hampton

My Great-aunt Paulina had a miniature portrait of an ostrich, and I can well imagine the ostrich, a Geneva watch, the tortoise-shell stick, a Genera watch, the secret of longevity, and all the virtues that go with these precious things. And though she had also a box of olive wood with a reverent signature of our forefathers painted thereon by a Polish prince with whom she had been a boon friend, that which she treasured most to the very day of her death was, kind, enviable, cynical life was a chestnut wood-box tucked away with a faded ching, into a safe.

You may see handy to the open fire in many a modern living room; a common thing made of white pine. Yet it differed from other wood-boxes in two ways. It had been pierced here and there by a narrow sliver, and had figured in a romance.

When asked what the holes were for, Aunt Paulina used to turn in her bed (she was bed-ridden when I knew her), smile cynically, and say, "To let the spirit out." And it was not until I had done all things possible within the confines of good breeding, to keep that woman's racy days, that I learned the truth about the sliver holes became known to any one in the world outside of Aunt Paulina.

"Go on to write, are you?" she said. "Romance?"

"The Lord is good to me."

"She made a great pretense of being offended with the speech of being of the 'Lord' she said, 'I was possibly worm that you'll be rich--I've got enough grandchilden to last my money to with--being bothered with grand-nephews and nieces and what-you-may-call--but you won't amount to much. That's certain. Your great-uncle Peter, of blessed memory and general incompetence, used to make everything to me. I wanted him to go to the governor's chair and the United States Senate, and the lots on Seneca street and the lake front."

Her old jaw worked a little as if she were chewing. It was her way of showing that she was a fine show of beauty and fashion. He talked about his career. But nothing came of that.

"The parents had three daughters, Sarah, your grandmother that was; Paulina, that's your humble great-aunt; and the eldest of the three, and Mary, who was the last of us to visit this planet and the first of us to quit it. Our family was never a book-keeping family; we always had money, and plate and portraits. We girls had the best education to be obtained in Europe, and the prettiest clothes. When we went riding on our black horses, with white crested plumes in our hats, we made a fine show of beauty and fashion. I can tell you. My sisters shared the family beauty--your great-grandmother--my mamma--was a ravishing creature; and my papa was handsome, though guileless--but most of the same came to me. For instance, when we were presented to the Emperor of the French he asked us what he could do to make his memory pleasant to the three belles Americaines. Sarah, who was a mischief, cried and fainted with her eyes, which were black as coals, and said: 'Promise to remember me, sire, and I shall be happy.' Mary, who was something of a toady, but who really did love her France, said, 'Continue to make France happy, sire' (he was bestowing it with taxes and sudden death) and I will remember you in my prayers."

"The devil!" said he, and he gave me the one with the biggest diamond, and he laughed at himself, which he seldom did like a schoolboy--then he shot a look at his wife, and back at me and winked. 'I wish to God,' said he, 'that I had been born with the nationality of a Turk, instead of merely with the inclinations.' 'Sire,' said I, 'as head we would lead me a dog's life; as next best wife I

Daily Hints For the Cook

PLAIN CAKE

Cream 1 heaping tablespoon butter with 1 cup sugar, break in 1 egg and stir until no trace of egg shows. Pour in slowly, stirring at same time, 1 cup milk, and sift in 1 cup flour, 2 level teaspoons cream of tartar, 1 level teaspoon soda and 1 of salt. Beat until tired and bake about 40 minutes. When blueberries are in season try this same cake, leaving out half the sugar and adding 1 cup of well floured berries.

CABBAGE ROLLS

Mix well 1 cup cooked meat, any kind, 1 cup cold cooked rice. Season with pepper and salt. Now with a few outside leaves of a cabbage by dropping them into boiling salted water for a few moments. Place a spoonful of the meat mixture on a cabbage leaf. Fold, tie well and boil about ten minutes. I make six rolls. I sometimes boil an onion in the water and after removing the rolls add a gill of cream, thicken a little with flour and pour over steamed bread to serve with the rolls.

ATROCIOUS MURDER; NAILS DRIVEN INTO WOMAN'S HEAD

New York, Nov. 18--Detectives under the direction of Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty, have taken possession of an apartment in a house in East 40th street, in this city, where they have established that some time recently the woman whose body was found in a millpond at Coney Island, was murdered by her husband. It is declared, although not officially, that the victim instead of being Grace Carbone has been identified by her house-keeper of the house in East 40th street, as Carmelina Geraci, a woman of about forty years, who had been in this country less than five months.

Discoveries in the house in question indicate that the woman was murdered by nails being driven into her head.

ICE IN COVER

It is believed that it will not be long before navigation on the river is brought to a close. All the steamers are still running, but some of them will probably make their last trips this week. The May Queen will find it difficult, it is thought, to run her regular distance and already has had to stop this side of her regular call. Ice has formed already in the coves along the river.

It is interesting to note the gradual change in the views of the Canadian people with regard to the question of taxation.

The western people were the first to adopt what many still consider a very radical line of action—that of reducing the tax on improvements and gradually placing its all upon the land.

The movement has been from the west toward the east, and today we find so influential a journal as the Ottawa Citizen declaring itself in favor of taxation on land values alone.

The Ottawa Free Press had denounced the Ottawa business tax as "intiquitous and the City business tax as a tax on the poor."

It is worthy of note in this connection that the question of tax reform is likely to be brought to the attention of the people of the maritime provinces during the next few months by speakers from Ontario.

There is a very active Tax Reform League in that province, which is now striving very hard to secure for Ontario municipalities the right, if they desire, to exempt improvements from taxation.

A similar effort has been made in New Brunswick, but without success. Perhaps a greater measure of success will be gained in both provinces within the next year or two.

The people of the lower provinces will be glad to hear what the tax reformers of Ontario have to say upon the whole subject.

THIS IS THE LINE

The Montreal Witness makes some quotations from a text-book authorized for use in the French Catholic schools of Quebec, which show it to be one of the most remarkable text-books ever used in any school.

Under the head "Geographic Description of the English in America," we read:—"The English possess all the north of America under the name of New Britain. That immense country is divided into seven parts: Labrador, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, the maritime Canada, the centre, New Wales to the west of the Hudson Bay, the region of the lakes to the west of New Wales and Canada, and finally New Caledonia west of the region of the lakes. The coast of Nova Scotia has received the name of New Cornwall and New Hanover. Labrador is a very cold country inhabited by Esquimaux, who live on fish. Nova Scotia is an important peninsula to the south of the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Halifax is the southeast of its capital and does a large trade in furs. New Brunswick situated northwest of Nova Scotia has Fredericktown as its capital. St. John is its most important city. Canada north of the United States is divided into two parts, Upper Canada and Lower Canada. The principal cities of the first are York on Lake Ontario and Kingston on the River St. Lawrence; the second includes Montreal on the island formed by the same river, and Quebec capital of all Canada and the residence of the Governor of Canada. New Wales and New Caledonia are two regions of which little is yet known. They have no importance except for the furs that are taken there."

This book, the Witness says, bears a stamp which shows that it was approved by the Council of Public Instruction in May of this year. The book is equally illuminating in what it has to say about Australia and New Zealand and says that the city of London has a population of about 2,000,000.

Mr. Langlois, an editor and a member of the Quebec legislature, has brought this book to the attention of the members of the House, to enforce his plea that the government should appoint a responsible minister of education and pass a compulsory school attendance act. If anybody gets in the way of the movement which Mr. Langlois has started, that person's mental processes should at once be made the subject of expert examination. One can hardly believe that there is not another side to this story. It seems incredible that any system of education should for a moment tolerate such a text-book.

The reclamation of land at the south end as a site for industries should prove in the end a very profitable undertaking.

The fall of Monastir, and the capture of 50,000 Turks, is described as the greatest single success of the war. The position of Turkey grows more hopeless day by day.

Dr. George R. Parkin is very severe in his criticism of some American Rhodes scholars, and he went before the National Association of State Universities to deliver a paper and outline his plans to pay postage.

DECADENT DAYS. In days gone by, it used to be, when dad was 'bout as big as men, and ran away from home, that he had lots of things to shoes; For he could be a pirate bold, or go to hunt for hidden gold, or find the North Pole, where it's cold, Or fight wild Kiaspoo.

But all the pirate bands have quit, and it just seems that every bit of hidden gold's dug up, and Can't tempt no one no more; And all the wild Indians have been slain; I wish the world was young again, And I could eh! some gear!

I would guide men across the plain, or I would sail the rolling main, or I would lead some captive's chain, Or find some robber's den. I never get no chance to shoot no bandit loaded down with loot, or ride with gold spur on my foot, And lead a million men.

Ma tells me if I study I can be real famous by and by, and I suppose I'll have to try. There's nothing else to do. But what will my kids think of me when I take them to my knee and tell them 'shamed as I can be, I never shot no Sioux.

I've got to sit the times I'm in, so I can't do a thing but sit the other kids in school and win. An honor medal, but I wish I could load up old Ben and save some distant wilderness. Eat bear meat in a hut!

MORMONS CARRY ON THEIR WORK FROM SWISS HEADQUARTERS

Geneva, Nov. 18.—Expelled from nearly every European country, the Mormons have recently made Switzerland, with headquarters at Zurich, their working centre on the continent. The Mormons who were condemned to prison won a test case some years ago before the federal tribunal at Lausanne on the grounds that they were allowed the same privileges as other religious bodies in Switzerland, and that they could be expelled only for moral reasons.

as, for instance, if they preached polygamy, a subject they are careful to avoid in public. A hundred Swiss girls and 1,000 European girls of all nationalities, under golden promises, are sent across the Atlantic to Utah every year. England and Switzerland are the only European countries in which the Mormons are tolerated.

THE FUR COAT THAT COST BUT $35,000

Mrs. Drouillard's Sable Garment That Has Excited New York Society

YEAR'S WORK ON IT

Special Agent Spent Months in Europe Selecting the Skins—$20,000 Garment it Outrivalled Stolen at Opera

The Times a few days ago printed a despatch about the $35,000 fur coat, owned by Mrs. Ada Drouillard of Fifth avenue, New York, wife of Captain J. Pierre Drouillard. The New York Herald says of the matter—

"No article for personal comfort and adornment has aroused keener interest of the women of society than this delicately blended coat of sable, for while every maid and matron in New York who prides herself on owning sets, well shown furs has been aware that this gem of the sable world was in the making none knew for whom it was intended. The furs of themselves have kept the identity of the owner carefully hidden.

"The order for the coat was given by Mrs. Drouillard more than a year ago. She is the daughter of the late Paul A. Sorg, who years ago established the largest tobacco plant in the country in Ohio and made millions out of it. On his death Mrs. Drouillard came into $100,000, while her father Paul A. Sorg, owner and exhibitor of one of the finest stables of show horses in America, came into a like amount. He is a director in the American Tobacco Company, and his wife who was Miss Grayson, of Pittsburgh, developed a wonderful fondness for furs of exquisite selection and texture.

"Each woman took the utmost feminine pride in obtaining a fur wrap that was better than the last purchased by her sister-in-law, and friendly rivalry existed for several years. Last January Mrs. Sorg attracted unusual attention and the envy of the other women by appearing at the opera and theatre in a coat of Russian sable that was said to be worth $20,000. It had been the fruit of many months of careful work in the tailoring shop, and no sooner had its existence become known to Mrs. Drouillard than she placed an order with a New York house to make her the best sable coat in America, or even in the world.

"With a commission to pick out the very best sable pelts to be found in the very best skins abroad had spent two and a half months in the markets there.

"With the skins well chosen, six furriers were put to work on the garment, matching, selecting, cutting and piecing. For almost one year they labored with the one coat, and it is said that the results might well arouse the envy of the Tartans. The garment is fifty-eight inches long and weighs slightly more than seven pounds. The skins, of rich brown, with a sprinkling of white and black hairs, are so matched that they seem to form one piece.

"The friendly spirit of rivalry to outdo her sister-in-law won a victory in a way in which she had not counted, for Mrs. Sorg's $20,000 coat was stolen from under her very eyes while she was at a box party in a theatre.

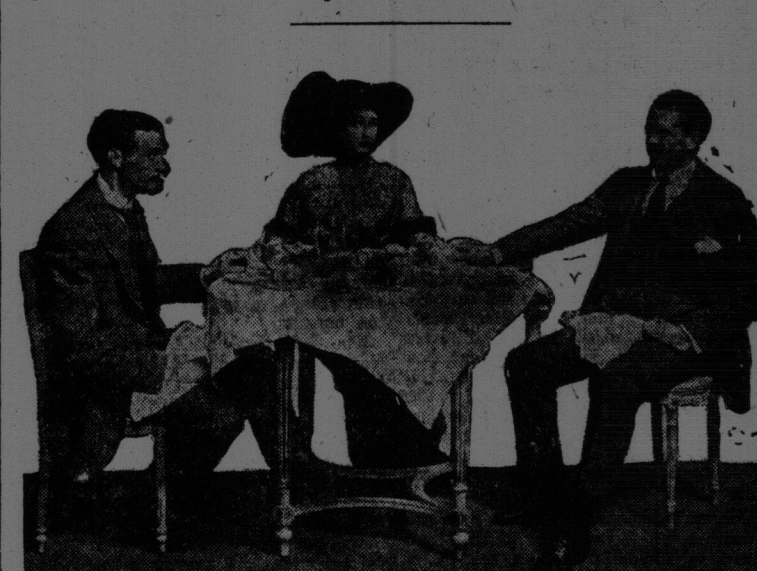

"With her husband and several others, Mrs. Sorg was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Clifton Tower, of the Plaza hotel, at a theatre party on the evening of Jan. 25 of this year. Aside from the Sorgs there were present Mrs. Drouillard, Mrs. Crystal Martinez and Earl Tower, Jr. When they entered the box Mrs. Sorg removed her sable fortune and placed it on a chair beside her own. She was not out of the box during the evening and no others left, except numerous friends who came for a few moments to chat between the acts.

"When Mrs. Sorg arose to go the coat could not be found. No one had seen it carried from the box, but it disappeared as mysteriously as if it had dropped through the floor. Every effort was made to trace it, through detectives and widespread advertising, but not a word of its whereabouts was obtained. With this unfortunate loss to Mrs. Sorg, Mrs. Drouillard's coat now holds the reputation of being the finest in America.

"For many years Mrs. Drouillard and her sister-in-law have had a wide reputation for their lavish entertainments. Aside from their furs each has a remarkable collection of jewelry and Mrs. Sorg is said to devote as much time to gems almost as her husband does to horses. Mrs. Drouillard's home and that of her brother, Mr. Sorg, at 12 East 87th street, have been the scene of many sumptuous entertainments.

SERVIANS CAPTURE MONASTIR

Fifty Thousand Turks And 47 Guns Fall Into Hands ONE OF THE WORST BLOWS YET Makes Situation More Complicated in Relation to Austria--Adriatic Siege Has Cost Bulgarians Enormous Sacrifices--Atrocities by Servians Reported

London, Nov. 18--Any idea that the Turkish government may have had been shattered by today's news of the fall of Monastir, in the capture of that important town the Servians took three Pashas, including the commander-in-chief Zeki Pasha, 50,000 men and 47 guns, thus achieving the greatest individual success of the war.

Monastir was the second city of importance in European Turkey. It was Turkey's stronghold in Macedonia and by its downfall Macedonia passes completely out of Turkish hands. What the Greeks played in the capture has not yet been ascertained. It is known that the Greek army was marching to the assistance of the Servians, and it is supposed that the Greeks were able to cut off the Turkish retreat to the south.

The Servians naturally will be elated at this victory, which outshines the capture of Saloniki and must have a great moral effect on the course of the war.

As the effect of the victory at Monastir, will be to stiffen the Servian government in resisting Austrian pretensions, the consular troubles at Prizrend and Mitrovica are breathing a dangerous spirit of ill-feeling between Austria and Servia, which is little calculated to favor diplomatic negotiations. The newspapers of both capitals reflect this feeling.

Except for an unconfirmed report of the fall of Scutari, no military news of importance has been received.

Austria Incensed at Servia. Vienna, Austria, Nov. 18--The Austro-Servian situation has been rendered much more serious by the news of the Servian Press in its denunciation of Austria. This has been added to by the report that treatment meted out by the Servians to the Austro consuls in Albanian towns who assert that they were prevented from leaving their posts for fear they might disclose the ill-treatment of the Albanian inhabitants by the Servian conquerors.

Public opinion here tends more and more to demand that the situation shall be definitely cleared up.

Murderous Fighting. London, Nov. 18--The siege of Adrianople has cost Bulgaria enormous sacrifices, according to a special despatch from Sofia. It appears that the fighting which followed last Sunday's sortie by the Turkish garrison was of a most murderous character. Several thousands of soldiers of both armies were killed or wounded.

David Pasha, the commander of the Turkish troops at Monastir, indicated a defeat on the Greek troops who were advancing yesterday through the defile of Killider, about twenty miles from Sofia, according to a special despatch received here. The Turkish troops captured six machine guns, five machine guns, and a large quantity of ammunition from the Greek column.

The Turkish garrison of Adrianople lost six field guns and several thousand of their men were killed or wounded during a sortie from the fortress on Saturday, according to another special despatch.

Servian Atrocities. Vienna, Nov. 18--The Reichspost publishes a despatch from its war correspondent, who says he is informed by the fugitive Albanian leader Kollibra that the Servian troops after occupying Prizrend turned their machine guns on the inhabitants killing 111 men, 23 women and ten children. Kollibra also declared that the charge that the Servians were fired on during their occupation of the town, was false.

Sultan Appeals to Powers. Constantinople, Nov. 18--The Sultan has addressed an appeal to the sovereignty of the great powers, it is stated on good authority, requesting intervention to end the war. A more optimistic tone prevailed in official circles today, due to confidence that the troops will be able to hold the lines at Tchatalja.

It is reported that cholera and typhus are causing fearful ravages in the Bulgarian ranks.

Household Economy How to Have the Best Cough Syrup and Save $2, by Making It at Home.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain large quantities of plain syrup. If you take two cups of granulated sugar, add one cup of warm water and stir about 2 minutes, you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (10 cents worth) in a 16-ounce bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly. Any household can easily prepare it in five minutes.

And you will find it the best cough syrup you ever used--even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold--usually, it stops the most severe cough in an hour. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect, and taste is pleasant. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

WAS MUCH ENJOYED

Rev. Mr. Muir's Recital and Other Good Features in St. Andrew's Church

Last night in the hall of St. Andrew's church, Rev. Bruce Muir, of Annapolis Royal, gave an eloquent recital to a fairly large audience. Mr. Muir is well known in St. John, and at the different times that he has been here his program has been heard with much enjoyment by Scotch people, and also by others who pleased with his dramatic rendering of classical verses and his readings, which complete his program.

At the recital last night Joseph Murdoch presided. In the course of the evening's entertainment Mrs. C. S. Robertson and Fred Macneil contributed songs, which were in harmony with the lecture, and were heartily enjoyed, and Mrs. Kent Scott accompanied with great skill. The program was as follows: Our Guide in Rome, Mark Twain; Cottar's Saturday Night, Burns; The Mountain Side, Burns; The Mountain Side, Burns; Jerome K. Jerome; selection from Hamlet, Shakespeare; The Mountain Side, Burns. At the close of the recital, Alexander Law moved a cordial vote of thanks to the recital, which was seconded by William Murdoch, both of whom referred appropriately to the selections of the evening.

It is understood that the St. Andrew's Society has secured Rev. Mr. Muir for their orator on St. Andrew's "night."

MORE STARTLING STORIES IN THE DYNAMITING CASE

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 18--How Eugene C. Pendergalt, a labor union official of San Francisco, fainted and remained unconscious when after making admissions in the district attorney's office in Los Angeles, he looked through the crack of the door and saw standing in another room Orrie E. McManama, the confessed dynamiter, was related at the "dynamiting conspiracy" trial today.

Oscar Lawler, special assistant to the attorney-general, and Arthur L. Veitch, who gathered evidence in the dynamiting case in California, said Coney collapsed in December, 1911, after admitting in their presence that he knew James B. McNamara was on the coast to blow up non-union jobs.

Lawler and Veitch also named Olaf A. Trevimoe and Anton Johannsen, of San Francisco; W. H. Pohlman, of Seattle, and J. E. Munsey, of Salt Lake City, as being aware of McNamara's dynamiting mission. Pohlman and Johannsen are not among the forty-five defendants here, but when the defence objected to quoting what Johannsen might have said, the court ruled the evidence was competent "because it had been shown that Johannsen was a co-conspirator."

That Miss Mary Dye, former bookkeeper for the ironworkers, was in imminent danger of assassination after she left her position, "because she knew too much," and that a plot was laid to dynamite a train on which she would be a passenger, was one of the sensational developments in the evidence Saturday, and there was also told the story of bringing back to Indiana James B. McNamara after he had dynamited the Los Angeles Times Building, and he and his brother were in mortal dread of discovery and arrest.

SHOULD BE NO DELAY IN THE SITE MATTER

Mayor Urges Necessity of Providing For McAvity Expansion

HOPES FOR PROMPT ACTION

Sees Place South of Sydney Street For 27 or 28 Acres--Another Industry in Sight--City Bond Issue

Besides speaking strongly about new industries for the city, Mayor Drink yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the city commissioners emphasized the need of keeping the industries already established here.

"I may say," his worship added, "that I referred several days ago to the idea of the city acquiring the military property owned by the Ballant 'wharf' and wharves. I have not yet received any word from the militia department in regard to it, still in looking over papers I have seen a 71 acre tract across letters from the department officials which indicated that they were willing to sell to the city. The price is $100,000. The Barrack square was not wanted for military purposes. I hope to hear from Colonel S. H. H. soon."

"We talk about new industries, but it seems to me imperative that we look after the factories already here. One of the oldest industries which we have in the city wishes to quadruple its plant. In this it is not seeking outside the city, neither is it asking exemptions from taxes of any kind, nor for other assistance. I refer to T. McAvity & Sons, Ltd."

"This concern rejected last year as much business as it handled and only the other day I saw a large order for machinery from a western city was rejected on account of lack of factory room in which to manufacture the products. The city should provide some suitable place for the extension of this factory."

His worship believed that there could be 27 or 28 acres reclaimed at the south of Sydney street and near the property at the corner of the I. C. R. This would cost quite a large amount of money, but it was necessary to have more land available for industries, and the 27 acres would give ample room for the foundry of T. McAvity & Sons, Ltd., as well as room for another large industry.

"I hope," said his worship, "that we will get both the steps of talk in this scheme, and arrange something definite. I have seen the Harris car works have this city, but I don't know if I can prevent it. The reconstruction of this car works would be a masterpiece and carried out."

Those present at the meeting were Mayor Drink, Messrs. Agre, McCallan, Wignome and Schofield, with the council clerk. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The reports of the commissioners of harbors, ferries and public lands, public safety and markets, and the report of the city clerk, as given in the Times yesterday were adopted by the council without change.

The Dominion Tax & Chemical Co. of Montreal sent in a communication asking for a site covering an acre for the establishment of a factory for the manufacture of coal tar, cresote and other products. This is on condition that the site will be established here. The letter was signed by Harold Bolton, as manager of the company. The commissioners of finances and public affairs will consider the matter.

To cover a balance of $7,000 for work in German street, seven certificates are to be issued. These will pay interest at 4 1/2 per cent, and one will be taken up on Nov. 1, during the next seven years. The work will be chargeable against the assessment in each year.

The days from yesterday Commissioner Agre will move that bonds to the amount of $29,500 be issued. The items these will cover are:

Paving in Charlotte street, $14,000; King street, $10,250; Marsh bridge abutment, $5,000; South Rodney wharf (extension), $3,150; Gordon lot award, $5,000; Sleeth & Quinn, $4,500; sewerage in the following: Clarendon street, $3,000; St. John street, $600; Main street, $5,000; Hazen alley, $1,500.

These amounts will be covered by bond of $900 each paying 4 1/2 per cent. half yearly. The bonds will run for twenty years.

The bonded indebtedness this year will show a slight increase but the greater part of it is a legacy from other years.

Before the meeting adjourned, Mayor Drink referred to the death of William C. Dunham, clerk of the market.

JULIA SANDERSON SECURES A DIVORCE FROM TOD SLOAN

New York, Nov. 18--Mrs. Julia Sanderson has secured an interlocutory decree of divorce, becoming absolute in three months, from James T. Sloan, better known as "Tod" Sloan, a jockey.

The Sloans were married in 1907, and lived together a part of one year. Mrs. Sanderson continued to reside in New York, but her husband went abroad to live. Mrs. Sanderson charged her husband with misconduct. Sloan denied her charge and engaged an attorney. He filed an answer, but Mrs. Sanderson denied there was any basis in fact for his charge.

"Does a woman have to tell her husband she is a jockey?" she asked, but a woman expects a man to talk business when he is courting her."

SEVEN NOTED MEN HOME RULE CONVERTS

Sign Declaration to This Effect--One of Balfour's Officials Among Them

Dublin, Nov. 18--An important manifesto in favor of home rule has been signed by seven noted gentlemen. The signatories are converts to home rule; and the case of home rule is the only feasible method of special importance inasmuch as he was a member of the cabinet of the late premier.

The manifesto is as follows:-- "We, the undersigned, who were unable to support Mr. Gladstone's home rule bills, are now convinced that some form of home rule is the only feasible method of removing the chronic trouble and standing danger to the empire which arise from the anomalous relations between Great Britain and Ireland. Procrustean, and practically irresponsible system of Irish government cannot be remedied as long as Irish administration is entangled in British party politics. We believe that the present home rule bill, though in the opinion of some of us an important modification is necessary, is an honest endeavor to grapple with the problem, and should be passed into law.

The signatories are:-- Lord Arthur Conan Doyle, novelist, who was once a Unionist candidate. Joseph Hocking, novelist. Edward Jenks, principal and director of legal studies of the Law Society, and author of many legal works. Thomas Mooney, a barrister, who, in 1885, was a Tory candidate. Lord Pirrie, chairman of Harland & Wolff's famous shipbuilders, formerly a Unionist and now a Liberal. Sir Frederick Pollock, famous professor of law and legal, historical, and philosophical writer. Sir West Ridgeway, who was under-secretary for Ireland to A. J. Balfour during the latter's regime.

NO GROUNDS FOR COMPLAINT AGAINST THE MONTON CHIEF

Moncton, N. B., Nov. 18--The police commission this afternoon dismissed the complaint of the provincial and county constables against Chief of Police Rideout. The complaint of the constables was that Chief Rideout was going outside the city to do work which should be done by constables.

When the matter came before the commission this afternoon, J. C. Sherrin appeared for the petitioners and alleged Chief Rideout had gone into Kent county and other outside points to do police work. Chief Rideout, in reply, stated he had been instructed by the attorney-general to do the work complained of.

Mr. Sherrin didn't offer any evidence and the commissioners passed a motion to the effect that having heard the statements of a representative of the petitioners and the chief of police, they found no grounds for the complaint and believed the work done by him outside of the city was no more than a police officer of Moncton should do.

EASY CONSCIENCE OF THE TORY HEADSMAN

Liberal Loses Job on Ground That He Asked Man at Meeting Why He Did Not Cheer. (Sydney Record). Captain Charles E. Ormiston, sub-collector of customs at Gabarus, was dismissed a few weeks ago and his position given to Ephraim McGilguy.

At the time of the Mount A. U. N. B. game at Sackville this fall, the Mount Allison boys were anxious to have a hockey league formed, and when the Acadia football team was here the Acadia players were unanimous in their statements that Acadia would enter a team in the hockey league if one was formed.

Another question is with regard to the schedule. U. N. B. is anxious to have a double schedule, that is home and home games with each team. This would mean three home games for each team and not only would it add interest to the league but it would also be better financially for all the colleges.

The Intercollegiate Hockey League is to be re-organized this winter and the Fredericton High School team will make another bid for the championship honors and hope to retain the title they won last winter.

The Segregation of Backward Children. (Victoria Colonist). The suggestion has been advanced in several of the newspapers of British Columbia of late that conditions are actually found of more than one type—willers, while necessitate the establishment and maintenance in this province, either by the government or through a company of a cooperative character to be entered into by the various city schools.

U. N. B. suggested that in such a school the pupils may be trained in useful arts and crafts by skilled instructors, while through the supervision of good disciplinarians many erring children might be converted into good citizens.

Hon. Dr. Young, the provincial minister of education, cannot in the light of present information on the subject, regard the proposal as especially practical. It is in effect, he points out, similar to the principle of the parental school advocated by Vancouver shortly after the visit of Judge Ben Lindsey of Denver to this province.

President Kirby regretted the wide spread of professionalism among amateur athletes. He said it was the duty of every honest loving person who knows of a violation of any rule of the A. A. U. to report to the officers so that they might have information instead of gossip to work on.

He declared that the United States was now the object lesson of the world for athletic supremacy and that the Olympic competitions were doing more to promote world peace than even the Hague conference.

Electrified Water. Electrifying water for use in irrigating plants has brought promising results in a crop test by the inventor this past summer, excellent yields of vegetables being obtained in very poor soil on Long Island.

The discovery is an evolution from efforts to kill locusts by spraying. The original apparatus was erected in Argentina, the inventor being spurred to success not only by the rewards offered by the government, but by the suffering of the people through the destruction of their crops by huge swarms of locusts.

When the locusts had been effectively disposed of, there was suggested the utilization of the apparatus for spraying the plants with water, and when success followed this work the inventor found that much greater crops could be obtained by electrifying the water, and this he proceeded to do with remarkable results.
