OUR CHRISTMAS ADVERTISERS

In spite of the War Canadian People Buy and Make Merry

While the nations "snarl at one another's heels" Canadians keep Christmas as usual. Bullets are flying in Europe, but, if a crude paraphrase is allowable, "We'll let them whistle as they will, we'll keep our merry Christmas still."

Noticeable among local holiday advertisers is the firm of Estey & Curtis Co., Ltd., who for 20 years have led the van in Santa Claus supplies and high-class goods for Christmas giving. Their stock this year is finely assorted as usual, but there is a marked absence of European goods, German toys being altogether tabooed. There are Canadian dolls, lovable creatures of quaint individuality, hardy and long-lived; Canadian cards and calendars more beautiful than any imported ones; and Canadian stationery, leather goods and books. Japanese wares figure largely and are varied and rich in appearance.

"Toyland"—Estey & Curtis' second floor—opens to the public tomorrow and is bound to be crowded during the remaining selling days. This firm has a greater than usual assortment of silver and cut glass that attracts much attention.

Besides everything in jewelry, ranging in values from plated goods to solid gold set with real diamonds, sapphires, pearls and other gems; C. R. Violette is displaying beautiful Nippon china, the ware that is artistically richer than Limoges or Wedgwood, and is so popular with those who appreciate real elegance in fancy delft. Mr. Violette also shows very attractive cut glass, silverware, etc., while one large case is devoted to the most handsome things in richly cased toilet sets. The person who has several dollars, or many dollars, to spend for a single gift should call on Violette. He thinks he stock too heavily and says he is giving to make sure of selling everything and has put prices away down.

J. T. G. Carr and A. L. Baird are likely to get the trade the next few days in Christmas groceries. Their appeal to practical going is timely.

Frank Hagerman and R. L. Phillips can supply the making of a gift that is a gift—What better than an automobile?

S. W. Smith at East Florenceville, H. M. Foster at Mount Pleasant, G. E. Wilson at Centreville, Bath Drug store and Wiley Drug Store at Grand Falls are plainly leaders in Christmas goods in their respective localities. A. W. Phillips at Bristol has been turning things over very lively for two or three months. The fact that a Carleton county merchant buys a full newspaper page for 12 consecutive weeks marks that man as one who appreciates printers ink, and knows what is the best business-getter in the world. Phillips is selling whacks of Christmas goods, we are told.

John Barnett, jr., with Captain's Commission Visits His Parents

Capt. John Barnett of the 187th Alberta Battalion made a brief visit to his parents this week, arriving on Tuesday and departing on Wednesday. He is the second son of Postmaster Barnett and after graduating from Dalhousie Law School was several years ago admitted to the bar in Alberta. He worked up a successful practice at Innisfail. The Empire's distress led him to sacrifice his professional work and he expects to soon cross the sea to do his bit. Capt. Barnett married a New Brunswick girl and has several children.

EARL KIMBALL KILLED IN MILL

Meets Tragic Fate at Carlisle on Friday—Leaves Family

Earl Kimball was instantly killed on Friday while at work about his steam saw-mill at Carlisle. The tragedy occurred at noon. The men employed in the mill state that just before the twelve o'clock whistle blew Mr. Kimball went underneath the mill for the purpose of putting resin on a slipping belt. He did not show up for dinner and a messenger was despatched to the mill to see what was detaining him. His body was found with life extinct. One arm and his neck was broken and he was horribly bruised. It is believed he was caught by the belt and whirled violently around.

Mr. Kimball was an industrious and enterprising man and was doing a good business cutting lumber for Fred Smith. He leaves a wife, who was Miss Myrtle Fowler, and four young children, besides an aged mother, a brother, Orrin of Pittsfield, Me., and two sisters, Mrs. Grace Avery and Mrs. Alexander Orser, in the west.

The funeral was held on Sunday and was most largely attended funeral ever held at Carlisle church, which showed the sympathy of the surrounding communities. Rev. J. D. Wetmore preached the sermon.

New Bridge Across St. John River at Ortonville

The local government will build a bridge across the St. John river at Ortonville during the summer of 1917. Borings for the foundation will be made this winter just as soon as the ice forms. Plans for the cement piers will also be made this winter, and tenders will be called for in the early spring.

When the bridge is completed it will certainly be a great accommodation to the residents along the St. John River between Four Falls and Grand Falls.—Vict. C. News.

TROUBLED TIMES

The Observer staff held its breath for several days during the past week. For a time it looked like "no paper" in the most literal sense. For several years a Montreal firm has shipped us news print paper the first of each month; unfailingly, until this month. Last week a hurried message of enquiry elicited the disquieting information that the mills could not fill their orders or guarantee future deliveries or prices. This week's supply was shipped by express, the transportation costing as much as the paper. It was a close shave for the week's issue, but readers may feel reassured that there is no further danger of delay. A new contract—at almost double the old price—has been made with deliveries guaranteed.

Paper shortage is not our only trouble this week. Readers will note the congested state of advertising. It spells good times in the printing office even if the news columns are crowded unduly. But such good times, like—and concurrent with—Christmas come but once a year and we ask the reader's forbearance. The ads are interesting in themselves.

Many do not understand that ad-composition is a branch of the printing trade by itself and requires infinitely more skill and time than equal space filled with news matter. It will interest printers and newspaper men more than others to know that the half-page ad, seven quarter-page ads, and numerous smaller ones were all set in less than three days by one girl still in her early 'teens' the "copy" being first "laid out" by the manager. It was some "stunt" for a mere slip of a girl—and some smart girl, too.

In this issue some tens of thousands of bits of metal have been pieced together, each bit receiving its own individual care, one at a time. If a few are misplaced, is it to be wondered at? True some offices produce a paper many times as large as The Observer in as many hours as we days. But they command a force of scores of trained men and not one of whom has the care of so many details as the three toilers at The Observer office.

The community was shocked to hear on Monday of the death of J. Fraser Richardson, son of R. B. Richardson of Lower Brighton. He was crushed to death between a freight car and a shed while engaged in his work as brakeman at West St. John. The unfortunate young man was married a few months ago to Miss Annie Davis of St. John and had just settled down to house keeping. He was an industrious young fellow, full of youthful hope and ambition. His stricken relatives have the sympathy of many friends. There are among the bereaved ones, besides the young widow, his parents, at Lower Brighton, three brothers and a sister. Arthur Richardson, a former employe in Allen's barber shop is a brother.

The remains were brought to Lower Brighton yesterday and the funeral is held there today.

Men Got Own Chaplain
If the 99th Essex Battalion is fortunate in the type of men in its ranks, it is also especially favored in its officers. The chaplain Capt. G. W. News, is an Englishman and a graduate of English universities, but who after preaching in Methodist parishes in the State of Michigan for some time, enlisted as a private in the Essex Battalion, and so endeared himself to the men that they insisted upon him being their chaplain.

Yale Graduate a Hero
Second Lieut. Arnold Whitridge, Yale 1914, son of F. W. Whitridge, of New York, was among those receiving the Military Cross for gallantry in continuing to direct the fire of his battery in the face of some of the hottest fighting experienced, and with the enemy trenches but a few hundred yards away. Whitridge is one of a group of young American college men who joined the British artillery early in the war.

10-CENT CASCARETS
FOR BILIOUS OR COSTIVE

Back Headache, Sour Stomach, Stagnant Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul-gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascareseto-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

A ROYAL SOLDIER

Among the most popular of the Royal soldiers of Great Britain is His Serene Highness Prince Alexander Augustus Frederick William Alfred George of Teck, who was born in Kensington Palace, the third son of the late Duke of Teck and the late Princess Mary Adelaide. Prince Alexander is the brother of Queen Mary, who has always been devoted to him. He has spent more than twenty years in the army, and saw his first active service in the Matabeleland campaign in 1896. Three years later he went to South Africa to engage in the Boer war. He was present at the relief of Kimberley and took part in Lord Roberts' advance on Pretoria. In both campaigns he won mention in the dispatches, and earned the Distinguished Service Order and promotion to the rank of captain in the Seventh Hussars. Four years after the war he was transferred to the Royal Horse Guards and promoted to the rank of major. In his South African experience he had the ill fortune to arouse the animosity of some war office officials because of his rather free criticism of the food supplied to the soldiers. On one occasion it was said, the Prince and the men under him were without food for two days, and were then supplied with meat which made him violently ill. His greatest popularity is among the rank and file of soldiers and the hospital patients, and the boy scouts have exalted him to the position of a hero.

LIMBLESS SOLDIERS

Clever Feats Done With New Scientific Devices

British soldiers who have lost an arm in the war are doing some amazing feats. Indeed, with the artificial limbs now offered, it is possible for a persevering man to almost equal nature. Queen Mary Auxiliary Hospital at Roehampton is exclusively for disabled soldiers and sailors. The King and Queen visited this institution founded by Mrs. Gwynne Holdord, and were deeply impressed. At one of the branches the King saw a Tommy working and found that though he had lost an arm and leg at Armentieres he is now able to do useful work. With a special clip taking the place of a dummy right hand he used a variety of tools under the King's inspection, and afterward took a match from a box and lighted it with dexterity and ease.

"Can you shake hands?" asked the Queen of an armless private of the First West Ontario Regiment. "Try me, your majesty," promptly replied the Canadian. The Queen shook hands with him, laughing merrily at the convincing grip of the artificial hand.

Professor Laverau showed the French Academy of Science a remarkable substitute for a missing arm invented by Professor Auar. The arm hand and fingers are of aluminum and very light. With a glove on it is almost impossible to perceive the limb is artificial. Certain movements of the thorax acting on fine steel wires give to the hand and arm almost all the movements of the natural limb.

mutilated soldiers equipped with the device played the violin, made cigarettes and gave out change for a bank note before the Academy.

A pupil of the London School of Art went out to the front early in the war and lost the use of his right hand. He has now taught himself to draw with his left hand, and is now considered a first class draughtsman with his right hand.

FOR FURTHER STUDY

Nova Scotia Technical College

The Marry Government of Nova Scotia announced that the special training will be given directed's officers at the Nova Scotia Technical College, and expert training in farming to physically fit soldiers at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College. When the soldier is ready to purchase a farm eighty per cent of the value of the farm may be loaned him, if necessary, for the purchase of property, stock, and implements. The soldier will have the expert guidance of a skilled farm inspector in purchasing, surveying, and cultivating his farm. Farmers' co-operative societies will be developed. These organizations will enable all farmers to purchase their seeds, fertilizer, implements, and feeds at the lowest wholesale prices; also to transport and sell their products co-operatively without recourse to middlemen.

Rugby Player-officers

Jack Maynard, twice captain of Toronto University rugby teams; Jack Lash and Alex. Snively, who also figured on champion rugby teams at "Varsity," were officers in the 52nd Battalion (Highlanders), who left Toronto. On the final medical inspection of their battalion only two were declared unfit for overseas.

Seven-Million-Ton Monument

The greatest monument in the world is the Great Pyramid of Egypt, which was built nearly 6,000 years ago. It was built by Cheops, King of Egypt, who, following the example of previous kings, wished to have a magnificent tombstone, so that he would be remembered. It is certain that the thousands of men who were engaged in building it worked under the lash. The result, says Cheops is always put down as a tyrant. According to Herodotus, the ancient Greek historian, 100,000 men were at work on it for twenty years. It covers an area of thirteen and a half acres, and contains 7,000,000 tons of masonry. It was built in layers, over 200 in number, and the sides were smoothed to make the sides smooth. The stone used varied in weight from two tons to sixty tons. When it was built it was about 480 feet high, and the sides were each 775 feet long.

This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life. If not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots fash, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

MOTHER FINDS WHERE DOLLAR GOES FURTHEST

Rubbers and Overshoes Save the Shoes the Tots Wear From the Wear They Would Get in the Severe Weather of Winter

The thrifty housewife has been kept jumping these last two or three years to make the dollar her hard-working husband gives her go as far as it did. Prices have risen here and there, and the fact that, even with the rise in the price of the fabrics and chemicals used in manufacturing, the rubbers which she buys to keep the youngsters' feet dry are still costing her about the same.

She must thank the British Government for this, for it is through Great Britain's control of the rubber market and the forcing down of the price of crude rubber from three dollars to 67 cents a pound that she can do it. But, leaving all sentiment aside, the fact remains that rubber to-day provides the solution for the mother in the question of the foot togs for the tots this winter.

The dollar will not buy the shoes it did formerly, but it will buy the rubbers, and, after all, winter weather is rubber weather and rubbers save the shoes.

The Three Functions of the Liver

1. It manufactures the bile essential in the process of digestion.
2. The starch and sugars derived from the food are stored in the liver and sent to the tissues as needed.
3. It detects and destroys poisons.

Dire Results of Overeating

From the standpoint of health man's cardinal sin is overeating. The digestive system can look after a certain amount of food, but when continually crowded the food mass is delayed in the alimentary canal and what is not digested ferments. In other words, this food spoils or rots, and poisonous bacteria are given off.

It is the duty of the liver to destroy these poisons. It usually succeeds, but after a time it tires, increases in size from overwork, and finally fails.

What Failure of the Liver Means

The poisons then hurry through the liver and into other organs or tissues. Then you have torpid liver, indigestion, headaches, bad breath, bilious spells and irregular action of the bowels.

This condition is described as auto-intoxication, or self-poisoning by food.

Cirrhosis of the liver follows. Complications set in. Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries, apoplexy are natural developments.

But these conditions do not come on you suddenly. You have months or years of warning.

How to Get the Liver Right

FOR FEELING SICK

Novo Scotia...
Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Casocret bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

A ROYAL SOLDIER

Among the most popular of the Royal soldiers of Great Britain is His Serene Highness Prince Alexander Augustus Frederick William Alfred George of Teck, who was born in Kensington Palace, the third son of the late Duke of Teck and the late Princess Mary Adelaide. Prince Alexander is the brother of Queen Mary, who has always been devoted to him. He has spent more than twenty years in the army, and saw his first active service in the Matabeleland campaign in 1896. Three years later he went to South Africa to engage in the Boer war. He was present at the relief of Kimberley and took part in Lord Roberts' advance on Pretoria. In both campaigns he won mention in the dispatches, and earned the Distinguished Service Order and promotion to the rank of captain in the Seventh Hussars. Four years after the war he was transferred to the Royal Horse Guards and promoted to the rank of major. In his South African experience he had the ill fortune to arouse the animosity of some war office officials because of his rather free criticism of the food supplied to the soldiers. On one occasion it was said, the Prince and the men under him were without food for two days, and were then supplied with meat which made him violently ill. His greatest popularity is among the rank and file of soldiers and the hospital patients, and the boy scouts have exalted him to the position of a hero.

LIMBLESS SOLDIERS

Clever Feats Done With New Scientific Devices

British soldiers who have lost an arm in the war are doing some amazing feats. Indeed, with the artificial limbs now offered, it is possible for a persevering man to almost equal nature. Queen Mary Auxiliary Hospital at Roehampton is exclusively for disabled soldiers and sailors. The King and Queen visited this institution founded by Mrs. Gwynne Holdard, and were deeply impressed. At one of the branches the King saw a Tommy working and found that though he had lost an arm and leg at Armentieres he is now able to do useful work. With a special clip taking the place of a dummy right hand he used a variety of tools under the King's inspection, and afterward took a match from a box and lighted it with dexterity and ease.

"Can you shake hands?" asked the Queen of an armless private of the First West Ontario Regiment. "Try me, your majesty," promptly replied the Canadian. The Queen shook hands with him, laughing merrily at the convincing grip of the artificial hand. Professor Laverau showed the French Academy of Science a remarkable substitute for a missing arm invented by Professor Auar. The arm hand and fingers are of aluminum and very light. With a glove on it is almost impossible to perceive the limb is artificial. Certain movements of the thorax acting on fine steel wires give to the hand and arm almost all the movements of the natural limb.

mutilated soldiers equipped with this device played the violin, made cigarettes and gave out change for a bank note before the Academy. A pupil of the London School of Art went out to the front early in the war and lost the use of his right hand. He has now taught himself to play with his left hand and is now considered a first-class musician with his right hand.

The Murray Government of Nova Scotia announced that the regular training will be given to the soldiers at the Nova Scotia Technical College, and expert training in farming to physically fit soldiers at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College. When the soldier is ready to purchase a farm eighty per cent of the value of the farm may be loaned him. If necessary, for the purchase of property, stock, and implements. The soldier will have the expert guidance of a skilled farm inspector in purchasing, surveying, and cultivating his farm. Farmers' co-operative societies will be developed. These organizations will enable all farmers to purchase their seeds, fertilizer, implements, and feeds at the lowest wholesale prices; also to transport and sell their products co-operatively without recourse to middlemen.

Seven-Million-Ton Monument

The greatest monument in the world is the Great Pyramid of Egypt, which was built nearly 6,000 years ago. It was built by Cheops, King of Egypt, who, following the example of previous kings, wished to have a magnificent tombstone, so that he would be remembered. It is certain that the thousands of men who were engaged in building it worked under the lash. The result is, Cheops is always put down as a tyrant. According to Herodotus, the ancient Greek historian, 100,000 men were at work on it for twenty years. It covers an area of thirteen and a half acres, and contains 7,000,000 tons of masonry. It was built in layers, over 200 in number, and then the sides were smoothed in to make the sides smooth. The stones used varied in weight from two tons to sixty tons. When it was built it was about 480 feet high, and the sides were each 775 feet long.

MOTHER FINDS WHERE DOLLAR GOES FURTHEST

Rubbers and Overshoes Save the Shoes the Tots Wear From the Wear They Would Get in the Severe Weather of Winter

The thrifty housewife has been kept jumping these last two or three years to make the dollar her hard-working husband gives her go as far as it did. Prices have risen here and there, and the fact that, even with the rise in the price of the fabrics and chemicals used in manufacturing, the rubbers which she buys to keep the youngsters' feet dry are still costing her about the same. She must thank the British Government for this, for it is through Great Britain's control of the rubber market and the forcing down of the price of crude rubber from three dollars to 67 cents a pound that she can do it. But, leaving all sentiment aside, the fact remains that rubber today provides the solution for the mother in the question of the foot togs for the tots this winter. It did formerly, but it will buy the rubbers, and, after all, winter weather is the rubber weather and rubbers save the shoes.

The Three Functions of the Liver

1. It manufactures the bile essential in the process of digestion.
2. The starch and sugars derived from the food are stored in the liver and sent to the tissues as needed.
3. It detects and destroys poisons.

Dire Results of Overeating

From the standpoint of health man's cardinal sin is overeating. The digestive system can look after a certain amount of food, but when continually crowded the food mass is delayed in the alimentary canal and what is not digested ferments. In other words, this food spoils or rots, and poisonous bacteria are given off.

It is the duty of the liver to destroy these poisons. It usually succeeds, but after a time it tires, increases in size from overwork, and finally fails.

What Failure of the Liver Means

The poisons then hurry through the liver and into other organs or tissues. Then you have torpid liver, indigestion, headaches, bad breath, bilious spells and irregular action of the bowels.

This condition is described as auto-intoxication or self-poisoning by food. Cirrhosis of the liver follows. Complications set in. Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries, apoplexy are natural developments.

But these conditions do not come on you suddenly. You have months or years of warning.

One of the most common cases of accidental poisoning is by mistaking carbolic acid for something else. Carbolic is useful but it is deadly. Almost every household contains a bottle of it but it should always be kept in a bottle with a string tied around the neck of it and hung high from the reach of children. As an extra safeguard some druggists put it up in a blue bottle that has a rough exterior. By this means Sight tells you it is poison, Touch and Smell tell you the same. Hon. B. F. Smith has sent out letters to automobile dealers requesting that a list of those who have purchased cars during the season be sent to the Public Works Department. The letters intimated that a number of cars have not been registered as required by law. A small car has been noticed running about the city during the past few days without a tag of any kind displayed thereon. It is generally supposed to be the property of a gentleman named Smith, late of Carleton county, and it is to be hoped that the Minister sees to it that the owner is rounded up and compelled to take out a license. —Fredericton Mail.

The Methodist missionary So-

Influenza

Nothing I know of will give such prompt relief from this disease as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The pain in the chest disappears, the fever goes down, and the whole body feels better. After effects of the disease can also be avoided by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

I have never known a single case of influenza to result in pneumonia when Chamberlain's was freely given, and the cough following influenza speedily yields to this splendid remedy.
