MAYOR OFF ON VACATION

Transportation Committee Members Profess Entire Ignorance of Situation.

"Still no word from Toronto, and the mayor has gone for a week's hunting."

This sums up the local situation with respect to the proposed purchase of the London Street Railway, and opponents of this suggestion have practically concluded, they said Friday, that "the deal is all off this year."

Profess Ignorance.

Before he left, Mayor Wilson reiterated his belief that the Punnell report would be forthcoming by Saturday of this week, at the latest.
Other members of the civic transportation commission profess entire ignorance of the situation, and disclaim complete knowledge of the affair. They are, moreover, obviously reluctant to even discuss the proposal, except at private sessions, and when
"$1,000,000" is suggested as a prospective purchase price, all tongues are silenced.

In the meanwhile there are members of the city council who protest that this proposition has been allowed to "dilly dally" until it would seem almost too late to permit an intelligent consideration of the same by the aldermen. They claim that the report should have been made available to the council at an earlier date.

Should the report arrive, as anticipated by the opponents of the project, by Saturday, a special session of the transportation committee would have to be held on Monday, irrespective of the holiday, if it is to be desired that the question go to the councilors at their regular meeting Tuesday night.

If the latter object upon the grounds that the entire report should first receive the consideration of the finance committee, it will mean that city hall authorities point out, that a special session of the council will be imperative before Friday noon, to receive their recommendation.

Cannot Be Submitted.

If the case is not presented by that date, after a majority of the members of the council have approved of the same, the question will meanwhile be referred to the ratifiers at the coming election.

All bylaws must be advertised at least three weeks before the date of the referendum. This allows Nov. 10 as the last day.

"Will this be sufficient time for a thorough consideration of the report, if such is forthcoming," question those members of the council who are inclined to believe that the time is inopportune for a consideration of the problem.

WILL CELEBRATE ITALY'S VICTORY IN WORLD WAR

King Victor and State Officials to Participate in Commemorative Services.

Rome, Nov. 3.—The anniversary of the Italian victory in the world war,
Nov. 4, will be celebrated with especial significance this year at the request of the new premier, who wishes to give the celebration a symbolic and religious character.

To this end the premier will address a message to the nation, emphasizing the meaning of the war and the victory achieved. King Victor Emmanuel, the members of his court, and of the government, and all the great officials of state will participate in a solemn Te Deum, celebrated for the occasion in the Church of Santa Maria degli Angeli, which was built by Michael Angelo.
It was in this church that the young king and queen were married.

GIVES LIE TO RUMOR OF BODY SNATCHING, LEEDS

Lieut.-Col. A. Gray, M.P.P., Shows
How Story of Ancient Custom Causes Anxiety.

Special to The Advertiser.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 3.—The story has come to light as to how a Toronto morning newspaper this week printed a report about body-snatchers operating at graveyards in the County of Leeds.

Lieut.-Col. Andrew Gray, M.P.P., who is in Kingston, throws light upon the matter.

It appears that prominent Toronto members of the Masonic order were attending the burial of a high official at Westport on Monday last, and at the vault it was told that years ago body-snatching in Leeds was very common and that the people of the rural districts began to build vaults for protection against ghasts. This was the basis of the story told in Toronto.

WOMAN GETS 20 YEARS FOR SLAYING SHOWMAN

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 3.—Mrs. Mabel Champion, charged with first degree murder of Thomas A. O'Connell, carnival promoter of New Haven, Conn., in a restaurant here last July, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury composed of seven women and five men here last night.

Judge Barton immediately imposed the maximum sentence of twenty years in the Mayville reformatory.

FORMER CROWN PRINCE.

DOORN, Holland, Nov. 3.—Former crown prince, Prince Frederick William arrived in Doorn yesterday to attend the wedding next Sunday of ex-emperor William and Princess Hermine of Russia.
Frederick William brought with him a truckful of baggage, most of which was presumed to be the forms for the various functions.
He avoided attention by slipping into the castle through a small, secluded garden gate. The measures for maintaining secrecy as to the nuptials in their entirety are increasing as the wedding date approaches. The park is being patrolled now by men assigned to this duty from the ex-emperor's household staff, the visitors being accompanied by mas-tiffs of forbidding mien.

WANTS CHANGE IN IMMIGRATION

Ottawa Expects Conference With Minister Will Lead to Modifications.

Special to The Advertiser.

Ottawa, Nov. 3.—As a result of conferences between Hon. Chas. Stewart, minister of interior and immigration, and officials of the latter department, including J. Obed Smith, certain modifications in the regulations regarding the inspection of intending immigrants on the continent of Europe are anticipated.

Transportation companies, whose representatives met the minister here some time ago, have claimed that the inspection and visiting system in vogue at European points had resulted in the turning back of thousands of desirable immigrants, and demand that either the overseas inspection system be abandoned and the inspection done at ports of entry, or that staffs overseas be heavily increased.

Inspection headquarters are at Antwerp and in addition inspection is carried on at the Baltic ports of Lithuania, Riga, Danzig and Warsaw.
Most of the intending immigrants being from Russia and Poland. The chief desire of the government is to prevent undesirable immigrants from entering, and otherwise, which might be occasioned to immigrants who leave their homes and take a long voyage only to find that they are "undesirable," and must go back after reaching Canada.

The law provides that where deportation is necessary the transportation companies shall bear the cost, but the department desires not only to prevent the entry of undesirable immigrants, but to save such undesirable immigrants the expense of return.

It is contended that the claim that thousands have been turned back is utterly unfounded. Since the regulation of Swiss law in 1909, the regulations of the department have been applied at the ports in question, and approximately only 200 were rejected.

WOULD PUT END TO EXECUTIONS IN ALL COUNTY JAILS

HON. J. B. BYRNE SPEAKS.

FREDERICTON, N. B., Nov. 2.—"I am convinced that the time has passed when the people of this country want persons convicted of murder executed by hanging at the county jails," declared Hon. James P. Byrne, attorney-general of New Brunswick, this evening.

He was discussing the execution of Bennie Swin at Woodstock on October 6, which was attended by so much bungling that an official investigation should be held. The execution was ordered by the provincial government, and was commenced at Woodstock today by J. Bacon Dixon, attorney-general of the province.

"I have been absolutely bombarded with communications from various people throughout New Brunswick, and from outside the province, asking that various phases of the execution of Swin be inquired into. I have forwarded all these communications to the commissioner, and have instructed Mr. Dixon to have the complete information brought out," said the attorney-general.

"I am convinced that criminals when convicted of murder and sentenced to hang should be sent to the provincial penitentiary for the district in which they have committed their crime, instead of being kept in the county jails, and that the execution should be carried out at the penitentiary by qualified officials in a proper manner."

"My own opinion is that it is time that electrocution superseded hanging, as the means of execution of criminals in New Brunswick, but even if that change is not made I feel confident the time is about here when the execution of murderers will take place in the federal penitentiary, instead of the county jails. The sheriffs of the province are demanding that they be relieved of the responsibility of executions."

CONVICT YOUTH FOR BIGAMY IN LONDON COURT

Magistrate Refuses to Believe Marriage Story of Fred Moore.

GIRL TELLS SORDID STORY

Prisoner Remanded, While Husband in Hamilton Forgives Wife All.

Fred D. Moore, 22, self-styled former juvenile leader in the Lafayette Stock Company of New York, was convicted of bigamy in police court this morning, when proof that he had married Ethel Marie Rymal, 28 years old, of Hamilton, in Port Huron, knowing her to have been previously married, was produced.

Moore underwent an hour's hard grilling at the hands of Crown Attorney J. C. Elliott, and after the case had been concluded, Magistrate Graydon told Moore: "I think your story is an absolute tissue of lies.
You appear to be an utterly low, degraded man. I will remand you until next Tuesday for sentence."

Mrs. Rymal's husband is willing to take her back with him and does not wish to prefer a charge against her, he stated. He believes her action in running away with Moore to be due to her weakness of mind.
Moore pleaded his innocence when the case opened, declaring he went through the form of marriage with the woman, but did not know she had been previously married.

Charles Edward Rymal, 27, husband of the woman, stated he was married to her on March 27, 1918, by Rev. T. H. Davies. He had known Moore about two months in Hamilton. Moore had visited him and his wife at their home three or four times. Until last Friday, the Rymals had lived in apparent happiness. On Friday night Mrs.
Rymal disappeared.

At 6:30 o'clock last night, Rymal met his wife and Moore in Ridgway station. They were standing at the railroad station. There was no conversation, Moore stated in answer to a question from the bench. "I just went up and sat down."

Mrs. Rymal's evidence sounded like a page from sordid fiction.
She was married to Mr. Rymal in Toronto on March 27, 1918. She declared, "I met the prisoner at a dance. He was introduced to me by a friend named 'Dolly.' I don't know what her last name is—and she introduced him as Fred Moore, and as Mrs. Rymal."

"Later he asked me if I was married, and I showed him my certificate of marriage. He said, 'I know you are married, but I don't care.'
He went out and came back with a club bag and put it on the floor.
It was 12 o'clock at night, and he told me I was going away with him."

"He told me that he had lived in New York and that I would never want for anything."

"He carried me out and hat to the door," she continued. "I was wearing an apron."

"We left the house, and he hid me in an alley and called a taxi. I went to the taxi and he changed my dress in the taxi."

"Later we went to Port Huron.
There he bought a certificate and we went to a street car to the minister's house. His name was Rev. G. T.
Charlton. Mr. Moore asked me to take the wedding ring off my finger before we entered the minister's house. I gave it to him and he used it."

Asks for Ring.
"Why would he ask you for your ring?" asked the court.

"I guess he didn't have enough

HOP-OFF FOR CROSS-CONTINENT FLIGHT.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 3.—Lieutenants John A. MacReady (right)
and Oakley Kelly (left), United States army aviators, took off at Rockwell Field at 5:59 a.m. today in an attempt to cross the continent from San Diego to New York without a stop in the great monoplane T-2. The plane, thought to be the largest in the world, has a wing spread of more than 81 feet and breadth of 15 feet. Its fuselage is 50 feet long. The birdmen expect to make the trip in 30 hours.

THREE LOOK TO MAYOR'S CHAIR

Field Narrows in Civic Race, With Only One at Post.

With the exception of ex-Alderman George Wenige, mayoralty candidates and other municipal "dapple grays" are just a trifle "backward in coming forward."

Since his public announcement three weeks ago that his hat was in the ring for the mayor's chair, Ald.
F. R. Watkinson has held himself aloof from the arena, to watch perhaps, what effect his declaration may have on the field.

E. R. Dennis, T. W. McFarland, John Colbert, James Gray and a host of others suggested for the "big time" show, the mayoralty race, have asserted positively that "all birds are off." They just refuse to be it, it that's all.

As Mayor Dr. Wilson is, to all intents and purposes, out of the running, the field narrows down to the post; Ald. Watkinson, in the lead, with one leg over the fence, and Ald. H. J.
Childs, quietly under cover in the stand.

It is obvious that the situation is a puzzle. No one knows just what to do, it seems, and there is an overzealous effort in civic circles to exclude the great care not to step in one another's way, in the grand rush for the chief magistracy's position on the raised platform.

LIBERALS PREPARE TO STORM LANARK

Hon. W. R. Motherwell to Speak at Nomination Meeting in Home County.

Special to The Advertiser.

Ottawa, Nov. 3.—The Liberal Association of Lanark has specially invited Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, to attend the convention to be held at Perth on the 18th for the purpose of nominating a Liberal candidate to contest the federal by-election in Lanark.

"I am likely to go," says the minister. "It is my home county and I want to school at Perth and remain in the district till I was 20."

Mr. Motherwell believes that the seat can be won for the Liberals, and has no patience with that all too common attitude of mind which regards a contest as hopeless for the sole and only reason that for many years the county has been won by a man or men of one particular stripe.

As a matter of fact, there are many Liberal members who frankly admit that but for this attitude of mind in the past federal general election they would have won the seat. It is expected that in the pending fight in Lanark the government will be heavily represented.

YOUTH PLEADS GUILTY OF STEALING MOTOR TRUCK

Albert Blundell Remanded to Jail
—One Week for Sentence.

Albert Blundell, 17 years old, who claims to be alone in the world, and who came from Toronto to London a week ago, pleaded guilty in police court this morning to stealing a speed truck valued at $1,000 from Edward Saddy, and was remanded to jail for a week for sentence.

Chief Robert Rivett asked for the remand, stating that another charge just as serious as the one preferred today would probably be laid against Blundell.

Blundell has a watch in his possession which the police do not think is his own. They will probe this matter while the youth is in jail.

PICKFORD BRIDE ILL AT NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 3.—Marjorie Miller, Ziegfeld star, and bride of Jack Pickford, was stricken with appendicitis in Boston, and rushed to the Ritz-Carton here for an operation if necessary.
Physicians today reported Miss Miller's condition so much improved that "Sally" will be able to set back to the "Alley"
by Monday next.

HOP-OFF FOR CROSS-CONTINENT FLIGHT.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 3.—Lieutenants John A. MacReady (right)

PLAN ARREST IN N. B. SLAYINGS

Police Prepare Warrants For Two Persons for Hall-Mills Murder.

Special to The Advertiser.

New Brunswick, N.J., Nov. 3.—Warrants charging two persons with the murder of Rev. Edward Hall and Mrs.
James Mills have been drawn, it was learned authoritatively today.

Final signature and service of the complaints await only closing up of minor loopholes in evidence in the hands of Prosecutor Mott, it was declared. Simultaneously, however, it was denied from Mott's office that the arrests are "probable before the first of the week."

James Mills, meek husband of the murdered choir singer, stood on the scene of the Hall-Mills crime today and declared he believes there is "a great deal of truth" in Mrs. Jane Gibson's eyewitness story.

"My wife and the Rev. Hall were murdered by someone very close to one of them," said Mills, who has thrown aside his meek, indolent demeanor, and is demanding "justice" in the case.

His form straightened and his eyes flashed a spark of fire as for the first time he went to the Phillips farm, and without emotion coolly discussed various phases of the murders.

"The murderer could never have been committed by a stranger," he deduced.
"The person who killed my wife and Hall evidently wanted their bodies to be found and identified immediately, otherwise they would have been thrown in the thicket of locust bushes there," he pointed.

"The murderer, in my opinion, was related to one of them."

Mills, for the first time, went to the Phillips place, and coolly and without emotion examined the spot where the bodies were found.

"I suppose this is where they dug up the ground with the blood on it," he said, pointing to the earth under the crab apple tree.

"I wonder how she ever got out here," he exclaimed, surveying the lonely place.

"My wife was always afraid of such places after dark."

DISCOVER NEW WITNESS.
New Brunswick, N.J., Nov. 3.—(Canadian Press.)—Detective Attorney General Wilbur A. Mott has discovered another woman eyewitness of the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt.
Mott, according to reports here today, has identified the woman as
Mrs. Mott and Detective James F.
Mason, chief investigator. Neither would say whether the woman actually saw the commission of the crime, or merely saw the principals on the night of the murder.

Working from a secret headquarters,
Mott is credited with having about completed his investigation, and is presented the case to the grand jury tomorrow, and that any further delay would be only for the purpose of strengthening his case for the trial.

tion, which will be held at the market headed by the fire and drum bands liver the sermon.

Members of Abingdon Lodge will

AMERICAN BODY WANTS BAN ON CANADIAN GRAIN

United States Farm Bureau Wants Embargo On Wheat.

BLOW TO CANADIANS

Claim Action Would Release
Boats of 20,000,000 Bushels Capacity.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 3.—The American Farm Bureau Federation has demanded an immediate embargo on Canadian wheat. A telegram to the Interstate Commerce Commission makes this demand, it was learned today.

Losses amounting to millions have been sustained by United States grain growers, and the losses will be doubled unless a ban on Canadian wheat, now monopolizing lake boats and eastern elevators and railroads, is placed at once, farm bureau officials declared.

The farm bureau claimed that the embargo would release enough boats to move more than 20,000,000 bushels of United States wheat in the remaining five or six weeks of navigation, and would release 21,000 grain cars from carrying Canadian grain between Buffalo and the seaboard, thus solving the car shortage problem in the grain belt.

Officials of the agriculture department expressed surprise when informed of the application for an embargo against Canadian wheat by the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The press dispatches were the first intimation reaching them, they stated, that Canadian wheat was monopolizing lake boats and transportation facilities on the American side as well as in Canada.

Should such an embargo be made effective it would be a serious blow to Canadian farmers of the prairie provinces, who are utilizing every means of marketing their grain, and who are endeavoring to take advantage of the higher prices which obtain because of the lower shipping charges over the lake and rail route.

There was much speculation in New York today over the reported announcement in London yesterday by Major The Hon. John Jacob Astor, that he was transferring his wealth from the United States to England.

The reality and personal holdings of the late Baron (William Waldorf) Astor in the United States totaled more than $80,000,000, according to a referee's report, filed last March in supreme court.

Of this vast fortune, in which Major Astor participates with Viscount Astor, his older brother, $50, 000,000 is represented in realty.
The property was conveyed to the two sons in trust in 1919, and the income from that source is placed at $2,500,000 in addition, Major Astor was given outright by his father Manhattan realty valued at more than $1-600,000.

Several pieces of New York property have been sold by Major Astor in the past few years, but it is considered unlikely he will dispose of all his real estate in this country, but rather will transfer his income, or personal property, to England.

Major Astor, in conjunction with John A. Walter, recently purchased the late Lord Northcliffe's London Times, at a price stated at $6,075,000.

FIRE LOSSES DECREASE.
Toronto, Nov. 3.—Fire losses in Can-estimated by the Fire Monetary Times at previous week.

EX-KAISER GROWS PEEVISH AS WEDDING DAY NEARS

ANGERS DUTCH WITH ORDERS.

Special Cable to The Advertiser.

DOORN, Holland, Nov. 3.—An intricate system of burglar alarms, barbed wire defenses, heavy chains and protective moats has been installed about the castle where on Sunday former Kaiser Wilhelm of Hohenzollern will take as his bride the Princess Hermine.

Imperious as ever, Wilhelm today had succeeded in angering the hospitable Dutch to a point where sharp protest was made to the burgomaster of Doorn against the ex-kaiser's extraordinary orders, which he issued warning of the most serious nature and increasing nervous as the hour for the ceremony draws near. Fearing the plane portends some journalistic enterprise, the former usage that reserved Count Moltke to summon all the staff of the castle, at which he is a guest.

To the servants, Moltke addressed a warning of the ex-imperial wrath, who will perform the religious ceremony. He went to the boudoir of his dearest wife, and with his own hand to last minute touches on the draperies.

Although the castle has been rendered practically inaccessible by additional guards of Dutch police, and despite the ex-kaiser's orders to everyone, word leaks out of his every movement.

Correspondents learned how Wilhelm ran anxiously to a window, peering out when the airplane circled overhead. He is constantly on the alert for an alarm, it is said. The price of former pomp is weighing heavily upon him, according to his friends.

The former crown prince, "Wilhelm," with his father, and is helping Wilhelm bear the brunt of his fears.

ASTOR WEALTH FOR ENGLAND

Major John Jacob Declares
He Will Make Transfer
From U. S.

London, England, Nov. 3.—The remark made yesterday by Major John Jacob Astor, who is transferring his wealth from the United States to this country, was treated as a big item in this morning's papers. One headline read: "Astor millions coming here." By some it was assumed that the major, who is a brother of Viscount Astor, merely referred to his recent investment in Lord Northcliffe's share of the London Times stock, which he and J.
A. Walter purchased for more than $6,000,000, but others gave the remark a more sensational turn.

Major Astor, who is contesting for a seat from Dover in the coming elections, made the statement in replying to a heckler, who inquired whether he was going to expose his own wealth to British taxation.

C. OF C. GAINS 44 NEW MEMBERS

Team Captains Report Success of Outcome of City Campaign.

Forty-four new members of the Chamber of Commerce were reported by team captains at the dinner meeting of that body at the Tenthon House Thursday night. Returns were not by any means complete, however, and in view of the fact that roughly 70 per cent of the prospect cards had not been reported, it was decided to set the total objective at 100 new members.

President E. S. Little congratulated the members of the teams on the excellent results so far attained, and urged that continued efforts be made to increase the number of members from the names of those on the cards still out.

Was an Inspiration. Meigs B. Russell of the Canadian City Bureau, and the American City Bureau, said that it was an inspiration, and a source of pride to see the spirit shown by the workers in so short a time.

"It's a splendid example of what you can do," said Mr. Russell, "Forty-four new members—think you can easily set your goal at 100—there are still three-quarters of the cards out, and in a few days you can bring the total up to that number."

Mr. Russell emphasized that the Chamber of Commerce should aim to be bigger, and more powerful each year. Some were just dropping out, moving away, or not taking the active interest they formerly did. New men should take their places, and should be encouraged to join.

"You can make London's Chamber of Commerce the best in Ontario," said Mr. Russell. "But you will have to work. You must have a feeling of the results announced tonight. They speak a live and active organization."

But results, he said, were not always visible in numbers of members. In analyzing the citizens in one city, fifteen per cent were always sure to support the Chamber of Commerce with their money. Two per cent gave their efforts, and were always willing to work. Twenty-five per cent stood by to help criticize, and the remaining fifty-eight per cent did not care, and could not be counted on for anything.

Criticism Good. "It is a rather good thing to have these men who criticize, in our midst," said the speaker. "They may be knockers, but they at least have the energy to protest over something they think is wrong. In many cases they have the vision to see ahead that a damaging influence is at work in the community. But when he is wrong, it is up to the Chamber of Commerce to change his view—to change his criticism from destructive fault-finding to constructive suggestions."

Mr. Russell cited a case, that of a Rhode Island City, where conditions were about as poor as they could be. There were no industries, the population was a mixed one. The whole situation was out of economic balance.

It was not long until a Chamber of Commerce was organized in the city, and results began to show. Shortly after the establishment of the chamber, the members began to do their constructive work among the men on the street.

Pointed Out Advantages. "Within 30 days after the organization of the Chamber of Commerce," said Mr. Russell, "a jewelry manufacturer visited the city looking for a site. Officials pointed out to him all the advantages their city could offer, but that would not suffice. He wanted to go out and investigate for himself."

"It was not long before he came back, pleased with the location offered him, and still more pleased with the spirit of the people he had met. Every man he had been introduced to had a good word to say about the city and the people in it. And it was that, and nothing else, that induced that manufacturer to locate where he did. And it was all brought about by the Chamber of Commerce—not by inducements to the manufacturer, but by changing the viewpoint of the community."

"Self-satisfaction," Mr. Russell continued, "it takes dissatisfaction, and united effort in the eradication of the cause of dissatisfaction to bring about a well-developed community. Change the knockers into boosters, and results will show themselves."

Spirit Made City. Mr. Russell gave other examples to illustrate his point, namely: that it was the spirit of the men in a city that made that city great or otherwise. It was not its geographical location, nor was it the industries, nor the size of the population. It was the spirit of the men who were either knockers, or boosters.

"God gives you your location. You must do the rest. Somebody must carry the burden of progress, somebody must put his shoulder to the wheel, and push, and push, and push. It's up to you. That two per cent, the thin red line, is the organization you are in. Hold the line, and call for recruits. Force your example everywhere among the citizen body. And you will make for community progress."

Dismiss Charge Against Husband of Trying To Hang Wife.

Special to The Advertiser.

KITCHENER, Nov. 2.—Katy Decker, who caused a sensation in police court two weeks ago when she rushed to the magistrate and accused her husband of trying to hang her, so revised her story in giving evidence in the case this morning that Magistrate Weir was forced to dismiss the charge against Adolph Derfert, her husband.

She produced in evidence the rope, which she says her husband tied around her neck, but it proved to be a very weak piece of binder twine not capable of hanging a person. A revolver was produced, but she refused to identify it as her husband's. In dismissing the case, Magistrate Weir ordered Derfert to dispose of 140 gallons of hard cider, which the magistrate claims was the source of the trouble between the couple.

sider tell us that London is worth while working for," said E. S. Little, a smile, in thanking Mr. Russell for the splendid talk, and I hope that you on a number of occasions. But Mr. Russell has given us an entirely new viewpoint, and I hope that we may be able to show, by results in the future, that we have carried out to the utmost, his valuable suggestions."

CONVICT YOUTH FOR BIGAMY

money to buy a new one," witness replied.

She volunteered the information that she had given her name as Ethel Marie Dines of London, to the clerk of St. Clair County in Port Huron, when she and Moore applied for the certificate.

"I didn't know his name," Moore stated, referring to Charles Rymal, "And I knew her only by the name of 'Skippy Ethel.' I thought she was only a common law wife. I went in a taxi almost to Toronto one night with her and some of her friends from Montreal. I never saw any certificate of her marriage to Rymal."

"Why did you go to Port Huron to get married?" asked the court.

"Because it was cheaper," replied the prisoner.

"And you paid two railway fares to Port Huron, a matter of about $14 to save $2," remarked Magistrate Graydon.

Was Sign Painter. Moore stated he had been a sign painter in Hamilton, and had been juvenile led with the Lafayette Stock Company when he lived in New York. He gave 435 Riverside Drive, New York, as his home address, and stated his mother, Alma Elizabeth Moore, lived there.

"Why did you think she was not married?" pursued the crown.

"Because of the attention she paid me," replied Moore.

"I suppose she wouldn't get the opportunity to see a nice-looking fellow like you every day," Mr. Elliott remarked. "Didn't you know you were breaking up a home?"

"I didn't think I was breaking up a home."

"What did you think Rymal thought?"

"I don't know."

"And you didn't care?"

"No."

Stop With Friend. Moore stated that in Brantford they stopped at the home of a chance acquaintance, a woman he had met. "Why didn't you get married there?" asked the crown.

"I wasn't thinking of it at the time."

He admitted they proceeded to St. Thomas and stayed with a Mrs. Williamson, who was also his friend, and then came to London and boarded a train for Sarnia.

"I intended going home to New York, so I told her we would get married. I said: 'I want to take you home right.' Moore declared.

"Yes, you're the kind of man who does things 'right,' interjected the crown. "How much did you have when you were married?"

"About $14," Moore confessed.

Visits Chatham. "You went to Chatham," the crown persisted.

"Yes."

"Where did you stay there?"

"Well, I met a friend named Bud Gibson, and he was coming to his place, so he put us up at another place."

"Did you go to Joe Green's?"

"Yes."

"What kind of a man is he?"

"A colored man."

"Why did you go there?"

"Well, it's a kind of a lunch place. They serve soft drinks."

"A disorderly house?" queried Mr. Elliott.

"No," Moore declared emphatically.

"Did your wife go out with other men?"

"No."

"When you were in London, did you meet a man named Charlie Cox, or 'Spot' Cox?" asked Mr. Elliott.

Moore denied he had.

Goes to House. Mrs. Rymal, when recalled to the stand in rebuttal, stated that in London they went to the home of a man called "Spot."

"There was a little white girl, with bobbed hair, there," she stated.

"Why do you say 'white'?" Mr. Elliott wanted to know.

"Well, 'Spot' was colored," Mrs. Rymal explained.

"This girl asked me if I would have dinner. I thanked her, and said: 'No.' We went up the street. Then she wanted me to go out with a taxi driver and another man. 'Spot' was to get half the money and the taxi driver half. I did not go."

"In Chatham, this Bud Gibson paid our room and board. Mr. Moore told him I expected a check from somewhere. I was sent out with a man. Mr. Moore called for me in the morning. I earned $10.50, and gave it to him. He told the boarding house lady I had stayed with friends, as I did not want her to know I was out all night."

"When I left Hamilton I had $21, and he spent it."

"In Port Huron, it cost $7 to get married. The certificate cost $2. Mr. Moore asked the minister what the 'damages' were, and he replied: 'I usually get five dollars,' so Mr. Moore gave him $5."

With Mrs. D. C. MacGregor presiding, Mrs. John Gemmel and Mrs. W. A. Martin were elected president and secretary, respectively.

Mrs. Gemmel, in a brief inaugural address, outlined the work, which was expected of the new association, and spoke of the mother's great influence on the lives of the children, and the importance of the home as a center of their activities.

A unique jazz orchestra gave a number of selections, while a story of the "Search for the Golden Arm," told by Miss Winnifred Stewart, who appeared in spectral form, was most entertaining.

FORM CLASSES AT WESTERN 'U'

Economics and Advertising To Be Taught in Extension Course.

In addition to the course in commercial law established last year at Western University, a course in the principles of economics has this year been added, and both began last week under the direction of F. H. Curran. The university authorities stated that the enrollment this year showed a gratifying increase over last year, and that the course in commercial law last year at Western was the year following up their studies in the new class in economics.

Professor Morrow this week made it known that it has been decided to add a class in advertising to the course, as there is a decided demand for education of this nature on the part of the business community. The instruction in this course will be given by C. J. Bell of the McConnell & Ferguson Advertising Agency. Authorities stated that it is in keeping with the policy of Western University that Mr. Bell, who has the practical, as well as the theoretical knowledge of the subject, should be asked to give this instruction.

Mr. Bell is also a member of the arts faculty, and conducts a class in advertising for the regular students of the university. The course in advertising, which will open at 8 p.m. on Nov. 15 at the college of arts, will be a course of an advanced character. The general principles of advertising will be considered in their relation to the various sales policies of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers, and the more technical phases of the preparation of copy for different types of advertising media will be covered. The course will be conducted for one hour each week.

CITY CLUBS TO PAY FOR WATER FOR SKATING RINKS

UTILITIES WITHDRAW PRIVILEGES.

NO MORE will London's citizenry disport themselves on glass-like ice, of club or church rinks, at least on ice made from free water. City schools will still be accorded the use of all the water they need to furnish themselves a sheet of ice, and public rinks in the parks and playgrounds will be maintained.

The Public Utilities Commission, which has year by year extended the privilege to one or more additional churches and clubs, now is becoming alarmed lest they find themselves paying so much for free competition that they run their paying customers, who are proprietors of skating rinks, out of business, and consequently themselves are accused of offering undue competition.

The subject was raised when E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities, read a communication from a club asking that the service be extended to them gratis, because of financial weakness. What will happen? After some discussion it was decided to extend the privileges of free water to the schools, and to charge all other institutions for the use of water and light.

ASK BUREAU TO AID RAILWAY BOARD

London Town Planning Commission Urges Advisory Board to Prevent Errors.

When the London town planning commission sends its amendments to the "Proposed Town Planning Legislation," as printed in the Canadian Engineer recently, it will stress the value of the establishment of a bureau to advise the Ontario Railway Board, it being contended that that body is unable to begin to keep track of the work thrown upon it, and that as a result it has made many grievous mistakes. The Ontario government will be asked to establish the bureau. This was decided at a meeting of the commission in the city hall Thursday.

When the town planning area extends beyond a city's limits, those districts outside will have the right to appoint representatives to the commission.

All the amendments to the 59 clauses of the proposed legislation are aimed to, and will, if passed, keep the control of the work under the management of the municipal councils, instead of the commission. The members of the commission believe that town planning is necessary. Ald. L. S. Holmes, chairman of the committee, stated.

The proposed legislation submitted to the commission for approval, gives a fuller foundation for the work than the members of the commission expect they will have. The amendments and the proposed legislation will have to pass No. 1 committee and the city council before being forwarded to Toronto. The town planners decided that the matter should be submitted to both No. 1 committee and No. 2 committee. The members of the commission will attend these meetings.

Members of the commission present were Ald. L. S. Holmes, chairman; Major T. E. Murphy, George Reiton and Ald. H. J. Childs.

SEES RAW DEAL ON CITY HALL SITE

Ex-Ald. Wenige Shows Federal Square Property Is Already Sanctioned.

The ratepayers will not be receiving a square deal if the city hall bylaw is not given a fair chance, by the city council, reasons ex-Ald. George Wenige, majority candidate.

"The people have already voted twice on the subject," he said on Friday, "and if the present bylaw goes to them they will not be afforded an opportunity to state where they might prefer it. If they do not desire the Spencer Block, there is no alternative."

"It should not be a difficult problem for the council to solve. Let the statement be made on the ballot paper: 'We have $300,000 (or whatever the amount may be) for city hall purposes.' Then below this put the two alternatives: 'Do you want the hall on the Federal Square, or do you want it on the Spencer Block?'

"If the people want the new building on the Spencer Block, fair enough. It is for them to say. But the people should be given a fair chance. There are many who favor the sale of the Federal Square, but do not favor the Spencer Block. What will happen? Why, they'll vote against the entire project, and the issue will be dead for another year, or for many years, perhaps."

Until 1920 there were only two stars with know diameters. The Hawaiian Islands, number 20, though some of them are very small.

Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities, read a communication from a club asking that the service be extended to them gratis, because of financial weakness. What will happen? After some discussion it was decided to extend the privileges of free water to the schools, and to charge all other institutions for the use of water and light.

Some of the commissioners pointed out that the utilities had given these services free to such organizations in previous years, provided that they paid for the necessary installation, and that they could continue, but if it was found that these rinks were charging admission, the gratis privileges should be withdrawn.

"We do not know where we are going to stop," said Chairman Jared Vining. "If we don't settle this thing now, there is no telling what proportions it is going to assume."

SEEK SPYING

EVERYBODY'S "spying." Why not you, too? Keep your eyes open for news and—

WIN TWO TICKETS FOR THE GRAND THEATRE.

Remember, however, that "spying" isn't dressing up some well-worn joke for the occasion. Hundreds of such entries have been discarded to the waste paper basket. It's news that is wanted; something you see, not a funny conversation or an old joke.

If "J. P." in Thursday's "I Spied" column, will call at the Advertiser office today or Saturday, he will be given two tickets for the Grand Theatre, Saturday.

A MOTOR TRUCK, coming down the street, it stopped just behind a big car, and the driver, who was suddenly realizing that she was about to be carried beyond her getting-off place, pulled frantically at the bell cord, which failed to respond to her efforts. She then shouted a still more frantic S. O. S. call to the driver, with such good effect that he made a record stop, and an instant it seemed as if the passengers were going to continue the journey and leave the "bus behind."

"What's the matter?" inquired the driver. "Oh, I wanted to get off at Waterloo street, and the bell wouldn't work," said the lady. "Is that all? I thought I had killed someone or something," remarked the knight of the throttle. "Then, as the bus started on its way once more, one of the other passengers was heard to say: 'Please let me get out at Queen's Avenue—I don't want to scare you when we reach there.'—R. V.

J. Calvert Elected President of City Teachers' Institute

Members of Profession Hold Annual Session in Normal School and Choose Officers—Hear Several Instructive Lectures, Then Hold Successful Banquet in Masonic Hall—In Windsor Friday.

J. F. Calvert of the staff of the Central Collegiate, was elected president of the London Teachers' Institute at a session held at the Normal School, Thursday afternoon.

Other officers elected are: Past president, E. J. Newhouse; vice-president, Miss C. Brenton, and secretary-treasurer, Miss Knott. Executive committee members: W. K. Greer, G. A. Sullivan, C. J. Vining, Brother Gregory, H. H. Horne and Miss K. Hisslop; librarians, Miss M. Dowell and another yet to be chosen; auditors, Dr. F. Bryant and Mr. F. Golpin.

T. E. Clark gave an address on "Spelling" during the afternoon. Briefly he recapitulated the history of the teaching of spelling and told how it changed from one of the really important subjects in school to one of the least important.

Subject Deteriorates. Quoting from various authorities, he showed how the tendency of modern teaching is to grade the child words that in the ordinary way he had no use for. The child of today was being offered a larger vocabulary than he could well use, he said, and he recommended a more simple list of words and greater care in the method of teaching. Where other subjects have been graded to suit the various ages of the pupil, spelling still remained as a general subject with no definite divisions.

Among the subjects discussed the speaker had noticed in children's spelling were the silent letter and the confusion of vowels.

Dr. Jones of South Dakota, in an experiment covering the efforts of over 1,000 children, had discovered that their vocabulary extended to about 4,500 words, which the speaker contended was too large.

At the conclusion of his address, Mr. Clark was accorded a very hearty round of applause.

Mr. Wendall Speaks. Mr. Wendall, who spoke on "Education From the Standpoint of a Businessman," said that he had collected the opinions of several businessmen in the city, and that he was going to offer a resume of these to his hearers.

The general consensus of opinion was to the effect that the adolescent act, at its most stupid, is a grave mistake, that the death service of men are going into the practical end of business, and that the trend of modern education was about 180 degrees out of the academic.

Lack Politeness. Businessmen also found a great lack of politeness in the young men of today, though they did not lay the blame for this particularly on the schools.

The speaker urged a broader form of education for young boys in which more attention might be given to the formation of character and the guiding of ambition. Brains and ability, he said, were of little avail without push and energy and the will to win. He spoke with earnestness and force and his speech was the subject of a generous mead of applause.

Gives Report. Miss Evans made a short report on "Auxiliary Classes," and spoke of the rather severe isolation of Byron in spite of its proximity to London.

Dr. J. T. Phair, provincial officer of health, spoke briefly on "Preventive Medicine," stressing the need for a closer co-operation between the provincial health authorities and all educational institutions.

Hygiene must begin with the child, and the local place to inculcate cleanliness in the child was in school. He evoked the smiles of his audience by stating that "the school teacher is really the best person to train the child in good habits of health."

Talk On Teeth. Dr. Fuller addressed the meeting on the use of preventive dentistry. He emphasized the service of his branch of health. They have no wish to extract teeth, the whole idea is to enable the child to keep a mouthful of good sound teeth.

He wanted children to be taught to come to the dental department of their own accord, and not to have any fear of the dentist's chair.

He referred to the inadequacy of the present equipment for the work. The clinic in Aberdeen and Riverview is able to handle about 1,500 children a year, whereas there are in the city some 9,000 children. Last year one man performed 4,800 operations on children, and this year with added facilities, he hoped to accomplish

MONEY AHEAD FROM EFFECT OF BYLAW

Treatment of the Indigent Patients Not Such Serious Matter as It Used To Be.

London has saved roughly $5,000 if not more since the city council passed the "Indigent patients bylaw," announced Dr. W. S. Downham, civic medical officer of health. Legislation became effective last summer, directing that all prospective indigent patients for admission to the hospitals must be first attended by Dr. Downham. In this way it was found possible to care for certain patients by other means than removal to the institutions.

Dr. Downham reports that from July 10 last, until Oct. 31, 96 patients were referred to the medical officer of health, 66 of whom were finally transferred from their places of abode to either of three institutions, Victoria or St. Joseph's Hospitals or the Byron Sanatorium. The remaining 30, the authorities point out, have been cared for otherwise, but would probably have been sent to the hospitals if the bylaw had not been in force.

The saving in this respect, although it can only be roughly computed, is considered quite substantial by the city councilors, evidently, they say, of the usefulness of the bylaw.

LABOR TO FIGHT IN ALL CITY WARDS

Party Sees Necessity For Thorough Representation in Coming Elections.

Labour must fight in every ward at the coming election, according to the members of No. 1 branch of the London Labour party, in regular session at a quarter of eight Thursday night. Civic affairs were treated to a thorough consideration and there is every evidence, the delegates report, that interest in the leading issues has deepened considerably throughout the city, more particularly in wards three and four.

It was the unanimous feeling on Thursday night that candidates should enter the field in every ward and for every municipal office, and while the final decision rests upon the pleasure of the Labor convention, November 10, it is the belief of a goodly portion of the Labor element that a fight should be staged for the mayor's chair.

There are three likely possibilities as the party's choice in this respect, and all names will be submitted on the floor of the convention. Several new candidates will be in the race for the board of education, including representatives from ward three, where, it is reported, there is certain dissatisfaction expressed by reason of the delay in connection with the new public school, contemplated for Southeast London.

A brand new aldermanic slate for this district is also promised.

RELATES STORY OF MANY WARS

The Advertiser recently carried a story about a Halloween party of the Boys' Naval Brigade, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Axtell on Cheapside street, from which an important item of the program was unwittingly omitted.

This omission was the toast to "The Army," given by Sergt.-Major Nanfan. He told the boys how he had joined the Grenadier Guards in 1874, and saw service in Egypt after the bombardment of Alexandria in 1882. The recounting of his experiences in the fighting throughout Egypt and his part in the expedition under Sir Herbert Stewart to rescue Gordon in the Sudan, was indeed interesting.

Sergt.-Major Nanfan is an old soldier of many campaigns, having served in the Boer war, as well as in the Nile country. He volunteered in the European war, but his age made him ineligible.

The speaker pointed out that protoplasm, which is the ingredient of a cell, is really the greatest single material in life.

Describes Cells. Professor Robertson described how every human characteristic is attributable to the cell structure of each individual's body, and how impossible it is for education to alter in any way these fundamental facts. The best that we could do was to supply an environment that should be the most suitable for each individual cell.

He asked the teachers to remember the limitations imposed by heredity biology and to "temper the wind to the shorn lamb." At the close of his address, the speaker received a very hearty vote of thanks.

Miss Grace Blackburn, who spoke for a few minutes, asked her hearers to co-operate with the Canadian Club in an effort which the club is making to erect a memorial in honor of the men who fell in the war.

The memorial is to take the form of a tower to be erected in Springbank.

Lauds Teachers. She described the assembled teachers as being the finest body of citizens in London, remarking that from an educational standpoint, they were the fathers and mothers of the children committed to their care.

Edwin Smith, chairman of the board of education, in a short speech, thanked the teachers for the hospitality of their sumptuous repast, and assured them that though his term of office was short, he hoped some time this winter to return their hospitality on behalf of the board of education.

He believed that it would be beneficial if the members of the board and the teaching profession could get to know each other better, and thought that some form of social evening would be the best means of accomplishing this.

The teachers agreed to return from the meeting in Windsor on Friday by the 7 o'clock train.

SHOWS CITY HOW TO COLLECT TAXES

Inspector George Tambling Claims Government Makes Better Record in District.

George R. Tambling, inspector of taxation for London district, stated Friday morning, that out of the million people in this district, comparatively few had not complied with the income tax act. The situation was very satisfactory.

The majority of cases of non-compliance were attributed to misunderstanding, he said, and were gradually being cleared up. Some sent in incomplete papers, and others made mistakes, which were being investigated before any action would be taken.

"As long as there is any semblance of cause for dispute, we do not prosecute," said Mr. Tambling. "A thorough investigation is made in every case before we taken the matter into the courts, and the fact that we have not lost a single case, after taking them to the courts, shows that we generally are in the right before proceeding."

Mr. Tambling declared that if actual figures were to be obtained for comparison, it would be found that the taxation department had a smaller percentage of non-compliance than the city of London had in the collection of its municipal taxes, and that in the face of the fact that the department had over 1,000,000 people to deal with, while the city had only 60,000 actual inhabitants.

WATER WASTE GROWS SERIOUS

Public Utilities Decide On Inspection of All Taps in City.

So critical has the situation become as a result of water wastage, traceable to unmetered taps, that the public utilities commission has decided to inspect the taps in city homes, and place meters in houses where leaky taps are found. Other homes will be metered later.

This course was decided upon at the meeting of the public utilities commission Thursday afternoon. Mr. Buchanan presented figures to show that unmetered houses on the average were using over five times the quantity of water that metered houses were using. He said that in order to arrive at an accurate result he took the total quantity used, as shown by meter readings for a given time, and averaged that among the total number of meters. Then he averaged the remainder used among the unmetered users, and the amazing result showed that over five times the quantity of water was flowing through the taps that were not metered.

British Hard Hitters.

WHAT has become of all the niceties that are supposed to be linked up with the conduct of British political affairs? In Canada men get a bit rough around election times, but it can never be urged that we should cast an eye over the ocean to see how a peaceful election should be carried on and what personalities should be avoided.

WINSTON CHURCHILL has been a sick man, undergoing an operation for appendicitis, and it might be supposed that he would be given some little consideration until such time as he was able to get around and take care of himself once more.

But here we have a very prominent Britisher replying to some of Churchill's statements, adding that as far as his memory is concerned some of it must have been removed at the time the surgeons opened him up and took away his appendix.

Of course there is a sort of British wit capable of turning out a very nice phrase that has a good-natured satire attached to it. For instance, one cabinet minister refers to the Coalition government as having departed "unwept, unbidden and unloving."

IT is increasingly certain that old party lines have been rather thoroughly broken down. One English writer, referring to the attempt at making capital out of old party slogans as a battle with bladders, where every person makes a great deal of noise, but no person gets hurt. The fact that old party lines have lost their strength may be accounted for on the ground that the men heading them are not as forceful as they were in the past. DISRAELI was a great force and a great fact, so was GLADSTONE, and it did make a difference which of these facts and forces guided the affairs of the empire. It is harder today to get back to the old party lines because there are no old parties to get back to in the strict sense of the word.

The Liberal party is showing evidence of strength, but it is split. AQUITIN brings to the followers who recognize him a prestige and an oratorical ability, but it is a fact that the party's strength has been sapped by followers who have gone over to the Labor group. It is somewhat parallel to the situation that has developed in Canadian politics, where the Liberal party has been drawn from more than the Conservative to make up the group that now sits in the House under the leadership of the U. F. O. chief.

There was a time when it was Conservative in its attitude that it became to a great extent dominated by the Tories. It stood in the first place, and stood stubbornly, for the union of Ireland and Britain, and against inroads of the teaching that called for the separation of church and state. The Unionists fought home rule for Ireland for years, even to the point of imperial embarrassment. Then when they came into the Coalition they supported things that gave Ireland for greater scope than measures they had formerly opposed. They had proved to their own satisfaction that Gladstonian home rule would be disastrous to England and worse than that for Ireland, and yet finally supported Dominion home rule, which is much nearer the line of complete separation than anything Gladstone ever proposed. And in this same connection, when cleaning up the Irish trouble, they voted to pardon men who were guilty of worse offences than had ever been committed at the time of the Land League in the eighties. Then the church has been disestablished in Wales, so a big point has been lost there. In fact it looks as though their thunder had departed.

HAS there been a set-back for Labor in the municipal elections in England that will be further reflected in the voting on November 15? That is the problem that will be uppermost in the minds of the Labor leaders, and of their opponents as well. There can be no doubt that the returns, showing as they do a series of decided set-backs for Labor, will have to be considered serious, as they must, to some extent reflect the attitude of the voters who will again go to the polls on the 15th.

Labor can at least claim that although driven back to some extent, it has at least kept the ground it gained in the elections of 1919. On the face of it, Labor has suffered a set-back, and it will be a surprise if there can be enough new ground turned between now and November 15 to offset the feeling of antagonism that undoubtedly exists in the minds of many of the electors of England.

Returning Thanks.

HE was a young man standing on the street corner waiting for the street car in the evening. He was talking to another young man about his own age, and conversation turned, as it readily will, to matters of dress and clothing and new styles.

The first young man was remarking about the way in which the cuffs on his friend's shirts were standing up against a couple of days' wear, and apologized for his own, which were a little softer, by saying "the old woman has been doing my shirts lately because she thinks she can do them better than the laundry."

Now, he may not have meant a very great deal, and it may have been carelessness or lack of thought on his part, but the sting was there just the same.

The "old woman," his mother, had been doing the best she could for the boy, probably trying to save him a little money, and at the same time entertaining the perfectly good idea that as a laundress she was just about the last word in that business.

She had probably laundered his clothes from the year one of his young life—bought them, patched them, washed them.

And today he stands on the street corner and refers to the poor quality of the work turned out by the "old woman."

Making Them Loyal.

SOVIET Russia is going to stage a national celebration on Tuesday of next week.

Five years ago on that date the Reds got KENNEDY in a corner and took matters in their own hands.

And he it noted that when the Reds of Russia order a celebration for such an event they make sure that it shall be a nation-wide, house-to-house affair.

Every house must hang out a red flag at least a yard in length.

If they do not they will get a fine or a jail sentence, either of which is liable to be several yards in length.

Thus is loyalty and its outward expression being placed on a new and a mighty poor basis.

Symbols of loyalty that spring from fear of fine or punishment will disappear when the bayonet is taken from under their chin and the hand of the law from their neck.

Campaign fund management has not advanced very far in Britain, and it is freely admitted that the size of funds and where they come from is known only to a very few people. The charge is freely made that titles and preferences are sold at a well-defined schedule, and the amount paid over to the whip of the party in power. It is a condition that lends nothing at all to the dignity that is supposed to surround the conduct of the nation's business in London.

A Real Man's Job

By A. R. K.

JOHN W. DAVIS, former United States ambassador to Britain, has no doubt in his own mind regarding the feeling that should and must exist between these two nations. He is no student of or apologist for the doctrine of splendid isolation that is taught so freely in the republic.

The appreciation of the British Empire expressed by Mr. Davis is a sincere compliment, and written with a knowledge of facts and an acquaintance with recently-made history.

"One-fourth of the human race," he writes, "is under its allegiance; no doubt the greatest number assembled under a common flag in all the history of mankind. The very size of such an aggregation is impressive; and the great war proved that the ties which bind this heterogeneous mass together are something more than ropes of sand. What nation in all the world can afford to be ignorant of its true relation to so great a factor in the affairs of mankind?"

"Least of all can America, for many urgent reasons. In the first place, the British Empire is—Mexico alone excepted—our nearest neighbor. Look at the map. To the north lies Canada with a common boundary of 4,300 miles, open and undefended. Off our Atlantic seaboard are the Bermudas and the Bahamas, while in the Caribbean our outposts are ringed about by British Honduras, Jamaica, Barbadoes and Trinidad. In the Pacific the nearest islands to the Hawaiian group are the Philippines, under the flag of Great Britain, and the British Hong Kong, look out upon the south to British North Borneo, with Australia and New Zealand standing guard lower down. Turn away from the map, and wherever fly the Stars and Stripes, hard by is the Union Jack.

Lay down the map and take up the commercial reports. You will see there record of the fact that the British Empire is incomparably our best foreign customer. In the year 1921, for instance, it took more than one-third of all that we sent abroad, and in our turn took from that source from one-fourth to one-third of our imports. During the first six months of 1922, more than 20 per cent of our exports went to the same great purchaser; Great Britain alone taking as much as all the rest of Europe outside Germany, combined, and Canada, an amount equal to a half times that of Germany.

The American farmer sends his tobacco and cotton and foodstuffs to the British Isles, the manufacturer his goods to the dominions and to India. Our foreign trade and domestic prosperity would be in bitter straits if markets such as these were ever closed.

Put to one side strategic and commercial questions, and there remains the indisputable fact that the people of the British Empire, at least those who speak the English tongue, are our next of kin. Many races have given their blood to nourish the mighty tree that has grown upon the North American continent; but the root stock still remains English or Scotch or Welsh or Irish in its derivation.

"What, therefore, is the conclusion? A patriotic American, in exact proportion to his concern for the present welfare and future peace of his country, will recognize that the power which rules the destiny of men has decreed that the British Empire and its people shall touch the life of America and Americans at more vital points than any other nation does or can do. He will concern himself to see that this inevitable contact is made a source of blessing and not of ban to both peoples and to mankind."

There are enough men seeking to plant barbed wire, and in the path of Anglo-American relations. When a man arises who can intelligently sow goodwill, let him have room to work and good soil in which to plant.

The BOOKSHELF

THE WOODCARVER'S WIFE AND OTHER POEMS: By Marjorie Pickthall; McClelland & Stewart, Toronto. Price, $1.50.

Coming as it does, a posthumous edition of Marjorie Pickthall's poetic work, the recent McClelland and Stewart collection of the loved author's poetry has a peculiar message of its own.

Isabel Ecclestone MacKay writes a beautiful preface. She says in part:

"It is inevitable that a note of sadness should attach itself to a book whose author has not lived to see its publication. The last poem written in her own hand in the manuscript book is 'The Vision' and however we may interpret it, it rings most gladly comfort. There is no hint here of wear, of unfulfilled promise, or of a life and content that 'life and death are one.'"

"Can anyone reading 'The Woodcarver's Wife' doubt that its writer knew its passions and despair, its exaltations and strange cruelties? To ask whence comes this sure and subtle knowledge is to ask the unanswerable. It is the poet's brightness—one can say no more than that."

The title poem is a quaintly simple, but powerfully tragic domestic drama of early French Canada. The remaining portion of the volume is made up of a variety of lyrics, showing the author's wide range of theme and wonderful technical skill.

sound "fang" meant not only "boat," but "a place," "spinning," "fragrant," "inquire," and several other meanings according to the context. But while a boat is easy to draw, most of the other meanings are unobtainable. How can one draw "fragrant" or "inquire"? The Chinese, therefore, took the same sign for all their meanings of "fang," but added to each of them another distinctive sign, the determinative, to show what sort of fang was intended. A "place" was indicated by the same sign as for "boat" (fang) and the determinative sign for "earth," "spinning" by the sign for fang and the sign for "silk," "inquire" by the sign for fang and the sign for "words," and so on.

One may perhaps make this development of pictographs, ideographs, and phonograms a little clearer by taking an analogous case in English.

How To Make a "Phonogram." Suppose we were making up a sort of picture-writing in English, then it would be very natural to use a square with a slanting line to suggest a lid, for the word and thing "box." That would be a pictograph. But now suppose we had a round sign for money, and suppose we put this sign inside the box sign, that would do for "cash-box" or "treasury." That would be an ideogram. But the word "box" is used for other things than boxes. There is the box shrub which gives us boxwood. It would be hard to draw a recognizable box-tree distinct from other trees, but it is quite easy to put our sign for shrubs as a determinative to determine that it is that sort of box and not a common box that we want to express. And then there is "box," the verb, meaning to fight with fists. Here, again, we need a determinative; we might add the two crossed swords, a sight which is used very often upon signs to denote a battle. A box at a theatre needs yet another determinative, and so we go on, through a long series of phonograms.

Now it is manifest that here in the Chinese writing is a very peculiar and complex system of sign-writing. A very great number of characters have to be learned and the mind habituated to their use. The power it possesses to carry ideas and discussion is still unguaged by western standards, but we may doubt whether with this instrument it will ever be possible to establish such a wide, common mentality as the simpler and swifter alphabets of the western civilizations permit.

In China it created a special reading-class, the ch'ien-shan, who were also the ruling and official class. Their necessary concentration upon words and classical forms, rather than upon ideas and realities, seems, in spite of her comparative peacefulness and the very high individual intellectual quality of her people, to have greatly hampered the social and economic development of China.

Probably it is the complexity of her speech and writing, more than any other imaginable cause, that has made China today politically, socially, and individually a vast pool of backward people rather than the foremost power in the world.

But while the Chinese mind thus made for itself an instrument which is probably too elaborate in structure, too laborious in use, and too inflexible in its form to meet the modern need for simple, swift, exact, and lucid communications, the growing civilizations of the west were working out the problem of a written record upon rather different and, on the whole, more advantageous lines. They did not seek to improve their script to make it swift and easy, but circumstances conspired to make it so.

and to this writing became entirely a sign-for-a-sound writing. It was so used by the Assyrians and by the Chaldeans. But it was not a letter-writing, it was a syllable-writing. This cuneiform script prevailed for long ages over Assyria, Babylonia and the near East generally; there are vestiges of it in some of the letters of our alphabet today.

No. 1, painted on a rock on the shore of Lake Superior, records an expedition across the lake, in which five canoes took part. The upright strokes in each indicate the number of the crew, and the bird represents a chief. "The Kingfisher." The three circles (suns) under the arch (of heaven) indicate that the voyage lasted three days, and the tortoise, a symbol of land, denotes a safe arrival.

No. 2 is a petition sent to the United States Congress by a group of Indian tribes, asking for fishing rights in certain small lakes. The catfish, led by the crane. Lines running from the heart and eye of each animal to the heart and eye of the crane denote that they are all of one mind; and a line runs from the eye of the crane to the lakes, shown in the crude little "map" in the lower left-hand corner.

BIGGS TO OPEN NEW HIGHWAY

Minister of Public Works Will Conduct Hamilton Road Ceremonies At Galt.

Special to The Advertiser.
GALT, Nov. 2.—It is expected that the official opening of the Galt-Hamilton highway will take place on Wednesday next, that date being satisfactory to Hon. P. C. Biggs. It was announced today by the superintendent of the paving company doing the work that they expected to finish the job on Saturday, as they wished to have the highway open for heavy traffic there is bound to be over the holiday. It is hoped to have Premier E. C. Drury here for the official opening.

It was announced at the city hall that 6,470 appeals have been received against assessments, 555 entered by individuals, the balance by Ald. A. E. Willard. Naturally there is a number of duplications, a number of ratepayers deciding to fight their own cases. The court of revision will launch upon its work on Nov. 20, and there is much speculation as to the time it will be in session.

YOUNG FARMERS JUDGE ANIMALS

Government Agricultural Bureau Conducts Contest Under Direction of R. A. Finn.

The government agricultural bureau, under the direction of R. A. Finn, Middlesex representative, yesterday held a livestock-judging contest, open to young farmers of the district under 26 years old, and silver cups were presented to the winners in the different classes at the local agricultural bureau on Thursday night.

The judging of sheep and beef cattle took place at Col. R. McEwen's farm at Byron in the morning. Heavy horses were judged at the Lafayette Stock Farm, and dairy cattle and swine at the Ontario Hospital grounds.
Over 50 men entered the contest, and the winners were as follows:
Murray Allen of Appin, winner of the silver cup donated by Col. McEwen for the best judging of sheep; Harvey Owens of Clandeboy won the cup presented by the Home Bank for being the best judge of beef cattle; J. A. McNeil of Strathroy took first honors in the judging of heavy horses, winning the cup given by the London Chamber of Commerce; George Pack won the cup donated by G. E. Pearson, manager of the Bank of Montreal for the best judging of swine; Dermid McTaggart of Appin took the cup presented by Ray Lawson for being the best judge of dairy cattle.

Present Cups.

The judges of the contests were: Beef cattle, M. C. McPhail; sheep, D. McEwen and R. H. Harding; heavy horses, R. S. Duncan; swine, R. H. Harding; dairy cattle, Howard Truman.

At the presentation of the cups to the various winners last night the above-mentioned judges gave short addresses, and explained the qualifications to be considered in the judging of the various kinds of livestock.

A team of five men will be chosen from those who contested yesterday, and this team will represent the county of Middlesex at the Royal Winter Fair, to be held in Toronto on Nov. 21. Another team of three

FINE BILL DELIGHTS PATRONS AT GRAND

"Love Is An Awful Thing" Features Outstanding Program.

Owen Moore, in a fine feature comedy, "Love Is An Awful Thing," and five acts of exceptional vaudeville form an outstanding bill at the Grand Theatre for the remainder of the week.

The story of "Love Is An Awful Thing" is pure farce, full of absolutely legitimate laughs, and Mr. Moore and his clever Selznick associates handle it in faultless fashion. The star proves that "love is an awful thing" by trying to work his way out of a whole pack of trouble which has been brought upon him by several affairs of the heart, some of them genuine and others only make-believe, all of which become distressingly active about the time he is on the eve of a big church wedding. A breach of promise suit is but one thing he has on hand for a wedding present.

Owen Moore's pictures are always worth seeing, and "Love Is An Awful Thing" is in a class by itself.

Marjorie Daw, widely-known film comedienne, appears in leading support of the star, Kathryn Perry, who in private life is Mrs. Owen Moore, is also a very lovely member of the cast.

"Revolving Collins" exhibits real dexterity and cleverness in his roller skating act, finishing with a marvelous feat, "the human roulette wheel."

Clinton Duo presents clever comedy act, in which one member discusses a resolution asking the provincial government to take up the matter of building a new railway line control in horizontal bar work. His feats are eccentric and worth while seeing, since they are both skillful and uncommon.

Starr and Starr have a comical act, with some clever impromptu rhyming as a feature.

Harry Fisher and Company conclude the vaudeville with a comedy cycling turn, in which amazingly difficult feats are performed in a genuinely funny setting, drawing unstinted applause.

A Pathe Review and a riotously funny comic Paul Parrot, in "A Bed of Roses," are included also in this popular bill.

WANT MONTREAL LINKED WITH TRANSCONTINENTAL

MONTREAL, Nov. 2.—Without discussion, a resolution asking the provincial government to take up the matter of building a new railway line linking Montreal with the National Transcontinental Railway was passed here this afternoon at the meeting of the chamber of commerce.

It was argued that Montreal would greatly benefit by such a railway line and that such a line could not fail to pay.

WOLCOTTVILLE, Nov. 2.—When Mrs. William Swank of Montpelier, Ohio, arrived at the home of her aged mother, Mrs. Emalina Law, near here, there was no one to greet her. Mrs. Swank made an investigation and found the lifeless form of her mother in bed. She had been dead for several hours, presumably from apoplexy. Mrs. Law, 76, was a widow and lived alone.

SAYS STORY NOT SEDITIOUS LIBEL

Counsel For Editor Declares Duty of Press To Publish Article.

QUEBEC, Nov. 2.—(By Canadian Press.)—On an order of the Quebec Legislative Assembly, John H. Roberts, editor of the Montreal weekly The Axe, was this afternoon handed over to the custody of the sergeant-at-arms of the House, J. O. Delisle, who will produce him either in the House or in any law court where his presence might be required.

QUEBEC, Nov. 2.—At the afternoon session in the case of John H. Roberts, editor of the Axe, a weekly publication of Montreal, who is charged with seditious libel, Armand Lavergne, K.C., counsel for Roberts, declared that the article complained of was not seditious and contended that it was a duty as a newspaperman to have done so. It is about a rumor that the article was written, he claims, and there was no direct attack against the administration of justice.

Judge Choquette reserved his decision for tomorrow. In the meantime Roberts will remain under the guard of the high constable and if bail for $5,000—or even less, said the judge, is produced, "as I understand he is a stranger in town, he will be granted his liberty." Judge Choquette also decided that a warrant issued by a magistrate can be executed in any part of the province. Mr. Lavergne had contended that the warrant was illegal because not endorsed by a judge of the Montreal district.

Five cash prizes to the amount of $50 will be given for the best fancy costumes.

Claims Men Pastors Are Jealous of Women in Pulpit.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Reverend men by men preachers against the ever-increasing invasion of the pulpit by women is based purely on jealousy, says the Rev. Martha M. Rogers, acting pastor of the Hanson Place Methodist-Episcopal Church, Brooklyn. She flung the challenge at male divines who are inclined to disparage woman's place in the ministry, and demands that women be recognized as their equals in the pulpit.
"The truth of the matter is that the minister on his pedestal does not like it when women try to enter the ministry. They feel that women in church work are all right to fill in the gaps. But when a woman begins to fill in the gaps too well their manner becomes cold and constrained," she said.

LLOYD GEORGE RECOVERS

And Will Be Able to Keep His Engagement to Speak in London Saturday.

London, Nov. 3.—By The Associated Press.—The report that Lloyd George is recovering so well from his cold and throat trouble that he will be able to fill his engagement to address a meeting in London tomorrow morning shares the chief interest of the voters of England today with the prospect of Labor in the coming elections.

The time limit for making nominations for parliament expires tomorrow, so there is a keen curiosity over what Lloyd George is going to do about his threat to spread the war against the Conservatives. Up to now he has not said anything definite as to his intentions in this matter, and his silence has spawned a mass of rumors. There is even a hint that he might be willing to weld his National Liberals to the Free Liberals headed by former Premier Asquith, but the proportion of the electorate which takes this seriously is not large.

They Are Puzzled.

The sound thrashing Labor received in the municipal elections throughout the country Wednesday has caused the opponents of Labor just about as much worry as the Laborists themselves. The leaders are not without a fear that the party workers may too readily assume that the local results are prophetic of what will happen in the preliminary elections. Warnings have been sent forth from both the Liberal and Conservative camps urging the workers not to abate their energies to prevent a Labor victory on November 15. These warnings amount to the issue for the purpose of showing what a gulf exists between municipal questions and issues of parliamentary concern. Everyone is reminded that oftentimes in the past defeat in the municipal fights has been followed by victory in the general elections.

Putting Up New Fences.

In order to patch up some of its broken-down fences, Labor seems to be hedging a bit from its first booming cry for a heavy levy on capital. The Times says that this plank in the platform is not rallying satisfactory support in the constituencies, and that even the Glasgow Herald, which is the voice of the extreme Socialists, the Labor speakers have been instructed to make it clear that the levy is "only a suggestion—not a definite proposal."

One of the constant contentions of the opponents of the Labor party is that the latter have taken its policy, not from bona fide workers, but from theorists and doctrinaires, many of whom have never done a day's work for a living. The view of these anti-Labor elements that the capital levy is a part theory of the doctrinaires which does not appeal to the workers, is on the other hand, however, such unquestioned tollers as John Robert Clynes, chairman of the parliamentary Labor party, and Albert Thomas, director-general of the international labor organization, strongly urge the justice and practicability of the proposed capital levy.

Bonar Law Favored Levy.

Writing to The Times, Mr. Clynes recalls that Prime Minister Bonar Law favored such a levy when he was chancellor of the exchequer during the war. The Labor leader says, however, that his own party is not wedded to the levy, which it recognizes as unpopular, and likely to cause Labor to lose many votes. He intimates that Labor is willing to consider alternative proposals for reducing the debt.

The fact of the matter is, according to The Times, that the Laborists have already sought an alternative, less objectionable to the electorate, and have failed to find one. The Daily Herald denounces "schoolboy objections" to the levy, charging its opponents with engineering a panic over the matter, hoping to blame Labor for the disturbance once it gets under way.

Italian at Windsor, Guilty, But Not Able to Hear the Verdict of the Jury.

Windsor, Nov. 3.—It is not probable that sentence will be passed on Frank Bianchi, convicted of the murder of William Fraser, on Oct. 1, until some day next week. The delay is due to the condition of Bianchi, who is still suffering from the effects of his suicidal attempt.

The prisoner did not hear the verdict of the jury, having fainted while being carried to the courtroom, due to nervous strain and his weakness resulting from loss of blood. When informed of the verdict later in his cell, he took the news stoically.

Mr. Justice Lennox announced after the delivery of the verdict that he would not pass sentence until Bianchi had more fully recovered from his self-inflicted wound, stating that there was no rush, as he would be in Sandwich for some days yet.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 3.—The Sultan of Turkey has been given a chance to hand in his resignation. People are today celebrating the downfall of his regime.

TRYING TO AVOID CLASH OVER LEADER

So an Attempt Is Made to Get Liberals to Leave That Over For Present.

Special Cable to The Advertiser.
(BY ROSS SOMERVILLE.
COPYRIGHT.)

London, Nov. 3.—Complete returns shows that Labor defeats in the municipal elections were even heavier than first seemed. In London two out of three were defeated. All over the country Labor has a small minority on the councils, which it previously controlled. The general belief is that the women's vote has gone against Labor. Seven out of every nine Conservative candidates were elected throughout the country, while the Liberals elected three out of five.

Lloyd George looks like being left high and dry, with no company, except a handful of Coalition Liberals and Conservative wanderers in the wilderness, like Birkenhead. Whist Lloyd George has been striving to establish his Coalition Liberals under the name of National Liberals as a compact party able to exert terms from the Conservatives as the price of co-operation, the Coalition Liberals throughout the country have quietly been joining forces with the Independent Liberals.

Many of the Manchester Liberals, who were rapturously applauding Lloyd George at the Reform Club luncheon three weeks ago, have now joined the Asquithians. One example is Sir William Milligan, a Georgian three weeks ago, but an Asquithian candidate today for West Salford.

Viscount Grey speaks at a demonstration in Manchester tomorrow, when Milligan seconds a resolution calling for the resignation of Lloyd George, or a declaration of allegiance to Asquith. There is a suggestion that the same thing has happened in Leeds, where Independent and National Liberals have joined forces.

A Mix-Up Here.

In this reunion there has been no formal renunciation of the leadership of Lloyd George, but a declaration of allegiance to Asquith. There is a suggestion that the same thing has happened in Leeds, where Independent and National Liberals have joined forces.

Thus, if the Georgians take reprisals against Conservatives for opposing 34 of their candidates, they will invite Conservative opposition to all their other candidates. Younger, even more than Lloyd George, is in a position to spread the war.

SOCIALISTS WOULD STOP
KAISER'S GIFT TO BRIDE

Special to The Advertiser.
Berlin, Nov. 3.—Socialists moved in the Reichstag today to block the plans of the ex-kaiser for presenting his bride, the Princess Hermine, with a diadem worth 800,000,000 marks.

Deputies Braun and Weiss asked questions when the chamber assembled demanding whether Wilhelm had applied for an export license for the diadem and whether he had made the proper deposit, which would run into hundreds of millions of marks. They also asked what the government intended to do in the event that the diadem was smuggled into Holland.

Events in Turkish World Take

Last Vote.

TELL SULTAN TO LEAVE

But He Seems To Be Inclined To Hang Around and Argue the Point.

Special Cable to The Advertiser.

Constantinople, Nov. 3.—New Turkey has abolished the sultan. The National Assembly at Ankara passed yesterday a law suppressing the Turkish sultanate and the law of succession to the throne.

The present sultan, descendant of a thousand absolute monarchs, is to be the last of his line.

A khatif, who will take over the holy duties hitherto exercised by the sultan as prophet of the Moslem world, is to be elected periodically. His office is to be of the church, not the state.

The National Assembly will hold all the power in Constantinople and throughout Turkey, according to the new law.

A salute of 101 guns roared out in celebration of the law's passage.

Kasim Kairbekir Pasha was immediately dispatched from Ankara to Constantinople to give the sultan an opportunity to resign and to take over the city administration in the name of Mustafa Kemal's Nationalists.

WILD SCENES FOLLOW.

Constantinople, Nov. 3.—(Canadian Press).—Violent scenes marked the proceedings of the first Ankara assembly during the discussion yesterday of the status of the sultan. A number of the opposition deputies left the hall; others favored postponement of the question until after the conclusion of peace.

Dr. Rizu Nur Bey, member of the Nationalist delegation to Lausanne, the day before presented a motion, endorsed by 76 deputies, declaring that a new Turkey had sprung from the ruins of the Ottoman Empire, and proclaiming the sultan non-existent. This motion was amended yesterday by the addition of the words: "The great national assembly of Turkey will liberate the caliphate from captivity."

After a lively discussion, the motion was referred to a commission of judicial experts.

AS LONDON SEES IT.

London, Nov. 3.—A report that the Turkish Nationalist Assembly at Ankara has passed a law suppressing the sultanate of Turkey, and the law of succession to the throne, is contained in a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from its Constantinople correspondent, who quotes dispatches from Ankara.

Such action by the National Assembly would mean, of course, that the sultan is deposed. In the future, according to the dispatch, the only caliph in Turkey will be periodically elected without government prerogative, all power being in the hands of the National Assembly.

IN BLAZING HEADLINES.

Constantinople, Nov. 3.—The Ankara Assembly last night decided unanimously that it is invested with sovereign rights, and that the Turkish Nationalist government has the key to the caliphate, and today the newspapers carry these headlines: "Ottoman Empire Collapsed. In Its Place There Has Arisen a New Nationalist Turkish State. Sultanate Abolished."

The decision of the assembly was announced by a salute of 101 guns. Immediately the soldiers and civilians began to celebrate the occasion to the blast of military bands and the bright flares of torch-bearers.

'WEALTHY PATRICIA O'CONNELL' LEADS EVENTFUL LIFE

BAYFIELD MAN BARES HISTORY.

(By Staff Reporter.)

BAYFIELD, Nov. 3.—Interesting information concerning Mrs. James O'Connell, the Bayfield woman who has been masquerading in Montreal as "Wealthy Patricia O'Connell," and who was arrested in Cornwall on a charge of fraud, was brought to light this morning in an interview with James Rouatt of this village, who although he has not seen his wife for two years, is quite certain that Patricia O'Connell is the same woman he married in England while serving with the overseas forces just a week previous to his return to Canada.

According to Mr. Rouatt's story, his wife (from whom he is to seek a divorce) has an eventful career behind her. At the time he married her, in England, it was under the supposition that she was an heiress, with a fortune of $60,000, he says. Immediately on their return to Canada, they went to Bayfield, where Mr. Rouatt's mother, and Mrs. Rouatt, pledged herself to the sum of $1,350 in payment of a motor car which Rouatt bought.

When time for payment arrived, however, the money was not forthcoming, and Mr. Rouatt's suspicions were aroused to such an extent that he commenced investigations in an effort to locate his wife's people. Incensed at this investigation, she demanded passage for England, and Mr. Rouatt bought her a first-class ticket to England, and gave her in addition $186, traveling with her as far as Quebec.

At the dock, however, Mrs. Rouatt accused her husband of wanting to get rid of her, and persuaded him to bring her back to London, where they lived for some time together.

The couple separated, he says, when Mr. Rouatt accused her of receiving attentions from other men. In Detroit, Mr. Rouatt said, he met a Miss Kelly and, on telling her a hard luck story, secured a loan of $117.50, which was, however, never paid.

On leaving Detroit she went to Hamilton, going from there to Toronto, where she was placed under the supervision of the immigration authorities.

At that time, Mr. Rouatt was questioned concerning her, and went to Toronto to give what assistance was in his power, but since May 24, 1921, when she deserted him, although in touch with his wife's movements, he has never seen her.

With impressive services, conducted by a number of the Anglican clergy of the city, Rev. T. J. Charlton, rector of St. Matthew's Church, was inducted into his new charge on Thursday night.

Although weather conditions were far from agreeable, the choir in full force and a large congregation were present to take part in the services.

Ven. Archdeacon Doherty, L.Th., B.A., performed the ceremony of induction, following which the keys of the church were handed to the rector by Canon H. H. Sage, Rev. R. D. Mess, Rev. A. H. Cree, and other clergy present were Canon Sage, Rev. J. Edmonds and J. Hale.

Choral services were sung in splendid style by St. Matthew's choir, under the leadership of Mr. Whitlow.

PREMIER OF ALBERTA

Special to The Advertiser.

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 3.—Premier Greenfield and Hon. J. E. Brownlee, attorney-general, expect to leave next Tuesday or Wednesday for the natural resources conference at Ottawa. Mr. Brownlee plans to spend a day each in Regina and Winnipeg, while he and the premier expect to stop off in Toronto and Montreal to interview financiers there in regard to their attitude toward western indebtedness this year.

Alberta officials do not expect any uniform bargain with Ottawa on the part of the three prairie provinces.

Not Provided For.

When the ratepayers direct a persistent barrage of criticism in the general direction of the board of works and the city engineer's department, they do so generally without having at their disposal the true facts of the case, city hall authorities maintained Friday.

Although the people criticize and say "why have we not got this or that" or "why is not this pavement replaced, or that one repaired again," they do not know perhaps, the facts of the case, city hall authorities maintained Friday.

The people through their "largeness of heart," it is pointed out, spend money in all directions—education for their children, charity, etc., while another sum must be devoted to their own health and protection, as for police and fire protection.

How many of the taxpayers understand, for instance, that they stand 36 cents out of every dollar for educational purposes, questioned the officials, who added that 28 cents of the remaining portion of the dollar is devoted toward the debt service of the city's other departments.

These figures will be revealed in the city's list of activities, as submitted to the ratepayers just before the election each year in booklet form. They cannot be disputed, the city authorities declare, who point out further that but 4 per cent is set aside for the city's department, which includes paving, etc.

FEW SCOTS FIND PLACE IN CABINET

Special to The Advertiser.

OTTAWA, Nov. 2.—Mr. Bonar Law has now filled up the complement of his ministry, but it can scarcely be said that the latest addition will do any thing to remove the sting of Lord Birkenhead's gibe. He has made the hit of the campaign with his apt quotation from the Duke of Wellington, and it will make votes against the government, but the jest will neither be forgotten nor reasonably entertained by the late chancellor's career as a Conservative.

The two new cabinet ministers, Sir Montague Barlow and Capt. C. C. Tryon, are both respectable Tories, who have been in the House of Commons since 1910, and have won their promotion by steady party service, rather than political ability. Both are now made head of the ministries in which up till last week they were serving as parliamentary secretaries, and they would therefore come under the class of those whom Lloyd George described as the "captains who want to become colonels, or the colonels who want to be made generals."

Sir Montague Barlow has been a frequent visitor to Canada, and is a director of a large English mortgage company which operates from Winnipeg. Capt. Tryon is a relative of the ill-fated admiral of the Mediterranean fleet, who went down off the coast of Tunis with his ship, the Victoria. He has evidently had a sudden change of mind, for only a few weeks ago he was hoisted by his constituents at Brighton, for praising Lord George and urging the continuance of the coalition.

Clings to Great Name.

THE new postmaster-general, Neville Chamberlain, who is outside the cabinet, has lately been with us, and left some impression of his qualities. He was a failure as minister of national service during the war, but Mr. Law probably thought it a good move to balance the defection of Austen by including another of the second rank, which is so potent in the English Midlands. Sir Samuel Hoare, the air minister, is a member of the well-known banking family, and has long been regarded as one of the more promising of the young Tories.

He has very liberal views on social and other questions, and was a very severe critic of the late Coalition Irish policy when the Black and Tans were at their worst. He has been in the House since 1910, but he is much more fitted to be a cabinet rank than most of his colleagues. Sir William Joynson-Hicks, who has been made secretary for overseas trade, has a very deeply disgusted look, but he is outside the cabinet ring.

He has always rated himself first in high office, which, as a result, he has always denied him, and as he was one of the leaders of the die-hard mutiny, he will consider his reward for his talent and services. Sir John Baird, the commissioner of works, is a member of a rich family of Scots from masters, and it was expected that he would be given cabinet rank.

Rich Men and Cricketers.

LIEUT.-COL. WILFRID ASHLEY has the double distinction of being a brother-in-law of Sir Hamar, and a cricketer.

Advocates of the lake-to-lake scheme, as a solution of the plan to assure a supply of water to the city of Winnipeg, are not at all satisfied with the fair idea of this cost, suggests Mr. Manager E. V. Buchanan of the city of Winnipeg, who has been sent to bring water into the city. Water was diverted into that he explains, from the Lake of the 200, and an initial cost of $20,000, and the task even then was deemed less difficult by the fact that it flowed downward toward Winnipeg, should it ever be deemed expedient to bring water into the city. Lake Erie, the general manager, whether the cost would be the undertaking, and points out in this instance it would be necessary to pump the water to a hundred feet to the level.

Street Railwaymen's Union to Have Co-operation of Labor Council.

The question of one-man cars has proposed for auxiliary service here is still an issue of the utmost interest naturally to the members of the London Street Railwaymen's Union.

John Colbert, president of that body, reports that a mass of information respecting the operation of this type of car in other communities has been secured and considered by the union.

A special meeting of the Trades and Labor Council will co-operate with the union committee in an effort to convince the members of the city council that they should reconsider their decision to grant the street railway company permission to introduce such cars in London.

Although the council sanctioned this move last summer, it is now understood that the cars have not even been ordered, despite the alarm expressed by the opponents.

SENTENCE AUTO DRIVER TO PRISON FOR KILLING

Port Arthur, Nov. 3.—Declaring the time had come when the killing of innocent victims by careless or inexperienced motorists must be stopped, Mr. Justice Mowat, presiding at the supreme court of Ontario, sentenced yesterday, sentenced Waukei Koski, a young Finnlander, to one year in prison, after he had been found guilty by a jury of manslaughter.

Koski, in May last, ran over and killed a year-old child, Clifford McDonald. In his address to the jury, Mr. Justice Mowat described Koski as "a fool with a new toy."

Thanksgiving, Its Meaning and Origin

(BY JAMES C. RAIT.)

Come ye thankful people, come,
Raise the song of Harvest Home!
All is safely gathered in,
Ere the winter storms begin.
God, our maker, doth provide,
For our wants to be supplied,
Come to God's own temple, come,
Raise the song of Harvest Home.
—Henry Alford.

Of all the religious festivals Thanksgiving is the only one that embraces all the peoples of the earth. We have Christmas and Easter, and a whole series of church festivals, but they are celebrated only by the Christians. The Jews have their Rosh Hashana and the Passover. The Mohammedans have their Ramadan, and the Chinese have their particular feast days, but no matter whether a nation worships God through the teachings of Jesus, Moses, Mohammed or Buddha, Thanksgiving appeals to all without distinction.

Next to its religious aspect, its best essence has always been its hospitality. It is the home rallying point of disintegrated families. How often we hear the question asked: "Going home for Thanksgiving?" and it has to be something of tremendous importance to keep us from answering in the affirmative.

HOW IT ALL BEGAN.
About 325 years ago the people of England did not have the freedom of religious worship they possess today. The king proclaimed that unless the people prayed as he prayed and worshipped as he worshipped, they would be their lot. A number of those who desired only the liberty to worship as they pleased left the shores of England for Holland, and ten years later we find them landing at Plymouth Rock, on November 20, 1620, from the "Mayflower."

After a winter of hardship, in which this enterprising band were reduced by death to half their original number, and of which it is said only two or three escaped sickness, they set about cultivating the land.

The harvest was a wonderful one, and Governor Bradford, who headed them, ordered a three days' feast in commemoration. Edwards Winslow, whose name stands third in the signing of the original compact, which was drawn up in the cabin of the Mayflower, writes this about this first Thanksgiving: "Our harvest being gotten in, our governor sent four men on fowling, that so we might, after a special manner, rejoice after we had gathered the fruits of our labor."

The Pilgrims' reasons for this Thanksgiving have remained to this day, and to them has been added so many others that "Our whole life should speak forth our thankfulness; every condition and place we are in should be a witness to our thankfulness. This will make the life and the places we live in better for us. When we are ourselves monuments of God's mercy it is fit we should be patterns of His praise and leave monuments to others. We should think it given to us to do something better than to live in. We live not to live; our life is not the end of itself, but the praise of the Giver." (R. Libbey.)

A THANKSGIVING DINNER.
The dinner was all ready—there was a stamper by the younger members of the family toward the dining-room. Everything looked just as I remembered it when I was still in short pants. There was a table at the head of the room, a little higher, but still the same vigorous dad; mother was in her accustomed place at the opposite end, her smile beaming over us all like a ray of golden sunshine, and the children seated around in patiently wondering if father will ever finish carving. Oh! that turkey—once a proud, strutting hero of the barnyard, stuffed with that which could not be digested. At school I was always taught that Greece lay to the south of Turkey, but here Turkey was surrounded by grease.

There was never any mixup in the carving—the right portion went to its proper owner. Sentimental "Sis" was given the heart. The musician of the family received the "drumstick" and our theologian the "parson's nose."

After we had eaten our fill of turkey there was the mince pies—not the kind whose interiors remain a dark mystery, but the kind that to the present generation is fast becoming a lost art. They never could be delivered by the manufacturer of indigestible pastries. These pies never gave any after-trouble. They were made by mother.

As the turkey occupies the place of honor in our Thanksgiving dinner, it must be selected with the greatest care. The turkey should be plump, white-fleshed, young; the legs plump and firm, black and smooth; the feet soft and supple. The eyes should be full and clear, the neck long and the wattles of a bright color. It should hang for at least a week, though they must never be "high" or "gamey."

feathers from the under part of the leg, and if the skin is not discolored you may be sure the bird is fresh. Its age may be known by placing the thumb into the beak, holding up the bird with the jaws apart. If it breaks the bird is young, if not it is old and requires longer cooking before it is eatable.

The stuffing is next in importance and here is one that comes highly recommended: 1 quart fine breadcrumbs, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 1/2 teaspoonfuls salt, 2 tablespoonfuls chopped onion, 1 lemon, 1 tablespoonful chopped parsley, 1/4 teaspoonful powdered thyme, 1/4 teaspoonful white pepper, A little warm water.

Mix sausage meat with the breadcrumbs, add an egg well beaten, butter, and the seasonings, also grated rind and juice of lemon, and moisten with a little water. Care must be taken not to make stuffing too moist. Next in importance comes the carving, and a word about this might not be amiss.

First of all the carver must have a good sharp knife, a large platter and sufficient room to move his arms.

How To Carve.

Place the bird on a platter with the head to the left and the side toward the carver. Insert the fork across the center of the breastbone. Remove the wing, then the leg, then the sidebone between the leg and body. Cut slices from the breastbone to place from which wing was removed. Remove wishbone by cutting from end of breast to the left of the wing joint. Make an incision to the right of breastbone for removing stuffing.

Remove fork from breastbone and cut leg in small portions. Serve slice or light and dark meat to each person. Serve one side of the bird before carving the other.

MINCE PIE AS MOTHER MADE IT. Mince-meat—One pound chopped raisins, 1 pound currants, 1 pound chopped suet, 1-2 pound chopped mixed veal, 1 tablespoonful mixed spice, 1-2 pound chopped apples, 1 pound sugar, juice and rind of two lemons.

PIE CRUST—Two and a half cups of sifted flour, pinch of salt, one heaping teaspoonful of baking powder, one cup of shortening (cold); sift flour, salt and baking powder together, rub in the shortening, and wet with half cup cold water or enough to make a paste.

THANKSGIVING CANDY. Thanksgiving would not be considered complete without its customary quota of homemade candy. Possibly failures may have discouraged some, but the failures in this art are in not bringing the syrup to the right temperature.

If there is no thermometer handy, it is better to make a list of the various stages in sugar boiling and learn how to test sugar. The following gives these tests:

First stage is known as the "thread," equal to 216 degrees F. to 218 degrees F. The stage is reached when on dipping the finger and thumb into cold water, and then into the syrup, you can draw the finger and thumb apart, leaving an unbroken thread.

Second stage—"The 'pearl'." 220 degrees F. After the sugar has dissolved let it boil from eight to ten minutes, then dip a wooden skewer into the syrup to obtain a drop of it. Dip the finger and thumb into cold water, then rub the drop between them. If it feels smooth then this stage has been reached.

Third stage—"The 'blow'." 230 degrees F. Dip a spoon into the syrup and shake it from side to side, blow through the hole so formed. If sparks of light or bubbles be seen you may be certain you have reached this stage.

This is followed by the "Feather." 235 deg. Fah. Dip a spoon into the syrup, and when it may be blown easily from the spoon in long shreds it has reached the right degree.

Next comes the "Ball." 240 to 250 deg. Fah. Dip finger and thumb first into cold water, then into the syrup; the latter can then be rolled into a soft ball between finger and thumb. A little longer boiling gives us the "hard ball." This in turn is succeeded by the "Crack." 290 to 300 deg. Fah. To test this stage the pan should be removed from the fire, a little lemon juice and water added, and the whole can then be re-boiled until it comes to the proper color.

Chocolate Fudge.

1 cup milk, 2 cups sugar, Pinch salt, 1 tablespoonful butter, 2 ounces chocolate, 1 teaspoonful vanilla extract. Put butter, milk sugar, salt and chocolate into saucepan, stir and boil until it forms into a soft ball. When tested in cold water, or 240 deg. Fah., remove from the fire, add extract, allow to stand a minute, and beat until creamy. Put into buttered tin and mark off into squares.

Clear Almond Taffy.

4 cups sugar, 1 cup water, 1 cup butter.

2 cups almonds, Pinch of cream of tartar, 1/2 teaspoonful almond extract, 1/4 teaspoonful salt. Blanch, split and bake almonds to a golden brown, butter a tin and sprinkle almonds on it, split side down. Dissolve sugar in the water and put in saucepan, add butter, salt and cream of tartar, boil to 300 deg. Fah., add almond extract, and pour over nuts. When firm cut in squares.

QUANTITY OF FOOD NEEDED.

If entertaining a number of guests the hostess is sometimes puzzled as to the amount of food necessary. She does not want a huge quantity of food left over for the family to consume at their leisure, nor does she want to run short. The following table will be found handy in determining the necessary quantity of each course for 25 persons:

Coffee, 1 1/4 lbs. Tea, 1/2 lb. Butter, 1 lb. 50 rolls, 2 to each person. Peas, beans or corn, 4 cans. Beef, lamb, veal or pork, 3 1/2 lbs. Chicken, turkey or duck, roasted, 14 lbs.

Chicken for pie or fricasee, 6 1/2 lbs. Fish (raw), 6 1/2 lbs.

Ham, sliced, 10 lbs. Ice cream, 3/4 quart.

In concluding this article on Thanksgiving permit me to quote from Ralph Waldo Emerson:

We Thank Thee.

For flowers that bloom about our feet,

For tender grass, so fresh, so sweet,

For song of bird, and hum of bee,

For all things that we hear or see,

Father in heaven, we thank Thee!

For blue of stream and blue of sky,

For pleasant shade of branches high,

For fragrant air and cooling breeze,

For beauty of the blooming trees,

Father in heaven, we thank Thee!

DECLARES SERUM WILL EXTEND LIFE

Chicago Physician States People Have Too Much Choline in System.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—What he declares to be a "life-prolonging serum" has been discovered by Dr. William Held, noted Chicago physician, originator of the glandular cure for epilepsy, he revealed at an interview today.

People die too young chiefly because they have too much choline in their systems, the doctor said. Eliminate the choline and the barrier to long life has been removed.

The age of 100 even 150, would not be extraordinary in the present zippy twentieth century era if the doctor's experiments are carried out to any great extent in the future. Occasional cases of people living to the age of Methuselah—900 odd years—would not startle the doctor.

One Chicago man already is a living testimony to the efficacy of the life-giving serum, according to Dr. Held. A few months ago he was almost decrepit because of arterio-sclerosis. Today, at 65, he is as "spry" as ever and regularly at his desk in a downtown office. An aged New York woman was treated recently and the physician in attendance reports remarkable renewed vitality.

The discovery was made accidentally by Dr. Held about a year ago while he was in Germany experimenting on his epilepsy cure.

SAYS RUM TRAFFIC BEING PROTECTED

Christian Science Monitor Makes Charges Against Government Officials.

TORONTO, Nov. 2.—That whiskey, made in the United States, now being bottled in Halifax under the protection of the Dominion government, in direct defiance to the will of the people of Nova Scotia, and figures largely in the rum-running activities on the Atlantic coast, is the charge made in a recent issue of the Christian Science Monitor, Boston.

Regarding these smuggling activities, the Monitor says:

"That smuggling to an extent never dreamed of before is being planned by the international rum-runners now for the coming year is indicated by the statement that deals have just been completed in St. Pierre for the importation there of not less than 30,000 cases of American whiskey to be delivered as soon as possible."

"Temperance advocates in Halifax point out how the will of the people of New Brunswick has been flouted by the provincial political leaders. They declare that the Scotia Import and Export Company, Ltd., would never have been in operation today bottling whiskey for export in a big warehouse on the Halifax front had not the political high command of the Dominion itself stretched out its powerful arm at Ottawa to protect it."

The article claims that although local prohibition enforcement is effective, these legalized export bottling operations make it possible for the fishing craft to smuggle booze both in and out of Halifax. This smuggled booze, it explains later, finds its way into the United States ports.

A favorite trick of the fisherman rum-runners is to hide rum barrels taken on at St. Pierre, beneath cargoes of second-hand salt, which with a little sea water, forms a hard crust, as hard as concrete. Thus clad in armor the fishermen pass to sea and the long prohibition officer at Lunenburg finds it impossible to watch any considerable number of incoming craft laden with booze en route to the Halifax bottling plant.

JURY DECLARES BIANCHI GUILTY

Finds Sandwich Italian Killed William Fraser On October 1.

Special to The Advertiser.

SANDWICH, Nov. 2.—Conscious only part of the time owing to weakness due to loss of blood following his attempt at self-destruction in his cell in Sandwich county jail yesterday, Frank Bianchi, 33, member of the local Italian colony, late today heard the jury return a verdict declaring him guilty of murder. Sentence will be passed by Mr. Justice Lennox tomorrow.

Testimony upon which Bianchi was convicted was of most damaging character, two of his own countrymen taking the stand and swearing that they saw the prisoner fire the shots that killed William Fraser, a young Scotman, on Mercer street here, on the morning of Oct. 1 last.

The jury took but a short time to decide upon its verdict. They retired at 2:45 p.m. following the judge's charge and returned at 4:20.

WILL ASSESS CEMENT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Collectors of customs were instructed today by the treasury department to assess duty on cement imported from Canada at the rate of 8 cents per 100 pounds under the provisions of the new tariff act.

BOILED RAISIN CAKE.

Dear Miss Grey,—Have received the S. F. P. Many thanks for sending it. In return I have cut out three more patterns, which I am forwarding you, along with the one I got from you. You must be very busy by the looks of your page. I do so enjoy the letters that appear each day in your column, also the recipes. I am here sending you a recipe for boiled raisin cake, and the method: 1½ cups flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon cloves, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 cup butter, 1 cup brown sugar 1 egg, ¾ cup raisins, ½ cup cooled water drained from the boiled raisins, 1 teaspoon soda. Sift flour, soda, salt, cinnamon and cloves. Cream butter and sugar together, add well-beaten egg, then beat in alternately the sifted dry ingredients and the liquid from the raisins which have been soaked for fifteen minutes in just enough water to cover them. Don't forget to add raisins also. May I come again? With more helpful hints, perhaps,

BERGERE.

Thank you for the extra stockings-foot patterns, and the enclosed mite, also for the recipe, which I have never seen before. Certainly you may come again and as often as you want to, Berge.

Mrs. J. M. W.—Will you kindly

ALL THE FAMILY HAD BAD COLDS

"Did you ever notice that if one of the family contracts a cold it generally runs to all the other members?" Many people when they contract a cold do not pay any attention to it, thinking perhaps it will pass away of itself in a day or two. This is a great mistake, for before they know it, it has become settled on the lungs. Never neglect the first symptoms; get a bottle of

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

and see how quickly your cold will disappear. Mrs. A. Coghlan, Magnolia, Alta., writes: "Last winter we all had bad colds in our family, and I didn't know what to do. Some friends told me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, so I went and got a couple of bottles, and in a short while our colds were all gone. Now we always keep a bottle on hand in case one of us might catch a cold."

"Dr. Wood's" is 25c and 60c a bottle; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Adv.

PAPER MILL EMPLOYEE ASPHYXIATED AT WORK

Toronto Man Seeks Arrest To Enable Him To Be Returned To His Native City

MONTREAL, Nov. 2.—Fred Banks, 31 years old, of Toronto, is determined to be arrested and returned to his native city. He is at present being detained at detective headquarters, although no charge has been laid against him because he insisted that he committed two crimes against a Toronto woman.

Some days ago Banks was arrested on suspicion by Detectives O'Donnell and Savard. After his arrest he admitted that a suitcase which was in his possession was stolen by him while he was in Toronto. The police here immediately communicated with the detective headquarters in Toronto, so that the case could be investigated there. It was then found that the woman who had originally owned the suitcase, claimed that she had given it to Banks, and that it had not been stolen. When this report came from Toronto the man was released.

Last night he again appeared at detective headquarters, and stated that he wished to be placed under arrest, as he had forged a check on the account of the same woman from whom he was supposed to have stolen the suitcase. He was again put in the cells. He is now being held while his second claim is being investigated in Toronto.

TO PROBE CHARGE AGAINST OFFICER

St. Thomas Police Commission Adjourns Hearing Due To Absence Of Counsel.

Special To The Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 2.—Complaints against Detective Joseph McCully by J. A. Stafford, local merchant, alleging that he was forcibly restrained from attending and giving evidence at a police court hearing some time ago, was brought up at a meeting of the police commission here Thursday, but was adjourned owing to inability of J. M. McEvoy, the complainant's counsel, to attend the sittings. Judge Duncan C. Ross, chairman of the commission, expressed himself as anxious that the matter should be cleared up, and declared that nothing would be concealed.

The appointment of Harry McCart as police constable to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W. J. Small was ratified by the commission. In reference to the protest from the Elgin branch of the G. A. U. V. in connection with the objection to the position being filled without being advertised, Chief Armstrong explained that Judge Ross was out of the city at the time, but he had consulted Magistrate Maxwell and Mayor Raven before appointing Mr. McCart. Judge Ross suggested in future all such matters be taken to the commission to avoid trouble.

A conference among the police commissioners will be held in the near future in reference to the framing of a bylaw revising the fees of taxi drivers in the city, and also in reference to increasing the licenses for junk dealers of the city as recommended by the city council. It is proposed to decrease the rates of taxi drivers and fix a scale of prices according to distance.

The contract for nine pairs of trousers for the police officers was awarded to A. McPherson at $9.50 a pair, and Beal & Martin were given a contract for three overcoats at $39 each. Chief Armstrong was authorized to select raincoats and caps for the officers.

ADVANCES PRICES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The American Smelting & Refining Company today advanced the price of lead from 6.75c to 7.00c per pound.

ARRAIGN PROVINCIAL OFFICERS AT TORONTO

TORONTO, Nov. 2.—An echo of the Birchcliff incident, in which five provincial officers figured, and their subsequent dismissal from G. Williams' force, was heard in a police court today, when three of them, Matthew McLaughlin, George A. Wright and W. E. Partridge, were arraigned before Magistrate Jones B. O. T. A. charges. All three were remanded till the 7th. The special charge in the case of each man that "as a provincial officer appointed to enforce the O. T. A., and who duty it is to enforce provisions said act, did drink liquor in a public place, to wit, in the Royal Edward Hotel, situated at 375 and 377 Queen street west," contrary to the provisions of section 4 of the Ontario temperance amendment act, 1919. The information was laid by Provincial Officer John Charlton.

PASTOR BEGINS SENTENCE STATESBORO, Ga., Nov. 2.—R. Elliott Partridge, confessed slayer of his mother-in-law, Mrs. M. B. Dix and his youthful wife, Willie M. Padrick, today began a sentence of life imprisonment.

H-Back Line Will Present New Faces and Johns Will Play Quarter-Saturday Is U's Last Appearance.

HE fact that there aren't any championships in the offing as far as London rugby teams are concerned makes their full turnouts every night over at Tecumseh Park all the more impressive, and shows what strides the pastime has really made this year.

Central Collegiate Pirates are the only team still in the running, as they are awaiting a sudden-death game with the winners of the St. Thomas and Sarnia C. I. home-and-home series in the O. R. F. U. inter-scholastic.

However, there is still some earnest work for the teams to do, even if it doesn't mean anything more than frayed feelings.

Western comes first with an ancient grudge against Varsity, which they'll be able to display on Saturday over at Tecumseh Park in their closing game of the season. It was Varsity that thrashed Western off with a defeat, and on the wing foot as well, which is only an addition to the sting of the loss.

SARNIA DEFEATS "BURG" TEAM 24-0

Blue and White Anticipate Win Over London Monday.

SARNIA, Nov. 2.—Sarnia Intermediates easily took Wallaceburg into camp this afternoon in the O. R. F. U. series, the score being 24 to 0 in favor of the Blue and Whites. Owing to the late arrival of the Wallaceburg team, the game was concluded in darkness. Wallaceburg threatened the Sarnians very little, and they outplayed the visitors in every department. Karn and Gray were the stars of the Sarnia team.

This practically clinches the group title for Sarnia with three wins, as the locals expect to trim London here on Monday, and anticipate another win over Peoria into the bargain.

Willard Finds Golf Harder To Learn Than Dempsey Did

JESS WILLARD AND JIM SIMPSON.

JESS WILLARD, who threatens to do a come-back in the fight game, and prove that he is the master of a day passes without him playing at Jack Dempsey, has taken up golf as part of his training routine.

Willard has been doing his training in Southern California. Recently he visited the Chula Vista Country Club near San Diego to take a whirl at golf. Now he is a confirmed bug, and rarely a day passes without him playing at Jack Dempsey.

Jim Simpson, golf professional, is instructing Willard in the mysteries of the game. Big Jess says it's tougher than Jack Dempsey.

GUELPH TO GET $25,000 STAND

Will Be Erected in Exhibition Park by Next Summer.

GUELPH, Nov. 2.—The first direct move to provide Guelph with an up-to-date athletic grounds was made by the parks and building committee of the city council, when they decided to recommend to the council that a bylaw be submitted to the electors in December, providing for the building of a $25,000 grandstand at Exhibition Park, to replace the old wooden structure that has been an eyesore to the sporting public for so many years.

The committee are recommending that the money be raised by issuing 15-year debentures at 5 1/2 per cent. A strong agitation has been on in this city for some time for a new grandstand at the baseball park, and the need for the old wooden structure was clearly shown recently when 8,000 fans attended the final O. R. F. A. senior championship play-off between the Galt Terriers and Belleville.

The organization of garrison athletic clubs in every center in Military District No. 1 and inter-garrison meets was an objective General King, C.M.G., D.S.O., said he aimed at in an address before the London Garrison A. A. at its annual meeting and election of officers last night.

Boxing, indoor track meets, indoor baseball, hockey and basketball were the sports included in the big program mapped out by the local Garrison A. A., and which it intends to foster this season. In order to carry out this big program, committees in charge of each sport will be appointed, the chairman of which will be added to the general executive. In this way it is calculated to concentrate on every sport, and at the same time spread the responsibility of direction over all the units in the garrison.

Limit Leagues. The leagues and tournaments, it was decided, would be confined to the men and officers of the various militia units and members of veteran organizations. General King repeated his encouraging remarks of the first meeting and his reference to what had been done in the Kingston district, where the various athletic associations are a big factor in athletics of all kinds, dominating boxing in Ottawa.

Major Lawrence, re-elected president this year, outlined the aims of the organization. "We hope," he said, "to bring back the spirit of the old militia, and in promoting athletics and giving the youth of the city the chance of taking part in good clean sport under the best of conditions, we believe we are laying a good foundation for military training and developing young men who will be a credit to the nation."

Start Business. No time will be lost in getting the various committees at work, and by next Tuesday night the officers are mandating each unit are expected to have detailed delegates to each sport, who will meet and start the work of organization.

Col. Reason, O.B.E., of the 1st Hussars, made a motion to the effect that composite garrison teams be entered in other leagues.

Ontario Boxing Commission Throws Blanket On Proposed Bout At Windsor

DEMPSEY-WILLS MIX NOT WANTED

Secretary Fitzgerald of O. A. C. Says Decision Final.

TORONTO, Nov. 2.—There will be no Jack Dempsey-Harry Wills championship fight in Windsor or any other part of Ontario, neither now or at any other time as long as the present Ontario athletic commission is in charge of professional boxing in this province, announced James J. Fitzgerald, secretary of the O. A. C. this morning. "The commission is unanimously and unalterably opposed to a match of this sort. It looks like a fake or a set-up on the face of it, and anyway the commission is opposed to the match or any other match of the same description and caliber."

"Do they draw the line at mixed bouts, or do they object because it is a championship affair?" Mr. Fitzgerald was asked.

"The commission's object because the match is undesirable from every point of view," was the reply. "The people of Ontario do not want such a match in Ontario, and it is not going to take place at Windsor or any other place. That is definite and final."

Mr. Fitzgerald's remarks are provoked by a wire from Windsor which says that Floyd Fitzsimmons, the Benton Harbor boxing promoter, is to take over the Windsor Athletic Club of Windsor and promote big fight there.

Fitzsimmons is talking through his hat. He evidently thinks that all he has to do is buy up or secure a controlling interest in an Ontario club and then go ahead and do as he pleases, but he will find that he is up against just as stiff a proposition as he was in Michigan, where the governor put the kibosh on some of his proposed bouts. The Ontario athletic commission does not propose to have foreign matchmakers and promoters come into Ontario and run fight clubs and promote matches. The motto is "Ontario for Ontario People." Any way heavyweight matches so odoriferous that the United States will not have them are certainly not wanted in Ontario.

THISTLE EUCHRES DRAW CROWDS EACH FRIDAY

For the past three Friday evenings the Thistle euchre has been the center of attraction for many bowlers and curlers. The fall euchre tournaments have drawn capacity crowds and it is necessary to get there early to get a place. The committee desires to remind players that the games start at 8 p.m.

Mickey Walker Had No Respect For Old Age, Wisdom and Cunning

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—A grinning, tow-headed young fellow from Elizabeth, N. J., is welterweight boxing champion of the world today because he had absolutely no respect for old age, wisdom and cunning when he ran athwart them at Madison Square Garden last night. He signs his check Michael Edward Walker, but the boys all call him Mickey, and his appearance doesn't belie the aptly chosen moniker.

Mickey Walker is the new champion, and Jack Britton, the safe of the ring, is now an ex-champion. It is not exactly a new role for Britton, but it appears likely to be a permanent one now. Jack held the title for nearly a decade, first losing it to Ted Lewis and later regaining it from the same man.

The battle last night will stand out in the annals of boxing and in the memories of those who saw it as one of the most curious in a sport noted for its ups and downs and ins and outs. Almost unprecedented before in even minor battles and extremely rare among titular contests was the action of the state boxing commission in announcing before the contest started that all bets were off.

Bets illegal. New York law and the boxing commission by regulation prohibits betting on bouts. At any rate, Chairman Muldoon of the commission became worried when he learned before the bout started that the odds had changed within a few hours from 6 to 5 on Britton to 5 to 1 on Walker, and he had the annals of the commission for explanation. The fight was a rattling affair from the first gong, and when the fifteenth round ended and the battered champion was still on his feet, the crowd rallied to the cry of Joe Humphreys, the veteran announcer, and gave three cheers to what Joe called "the best champion who ever lost his title in this arena."

Walker, although somewhat wild, penetrated the mastery of defense of Britton on numerous occasions, landing blows and putting the champion on the defensive. Britton went to the floor nearly half a dozen times, once from the combination of a light tap and a stumble and again apparently to rest himself and again when the gong saved him, because his aching stomach couldn't stand another drive.

Britton's chief stock last night was courage and craftiness. Both enabled him to escape a knockout. Walker, too, had cunning, but the effort of continually beating the canny Britton, who forced his maximum expenditure of energy for the smallest return and occasionally shot a staggering blow himself, wore down the champion and he was weak when the battle ended.

BENTLEY COST $65,000 AND 3 PLAYERS—LANDIS

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Jack Bentley, Baltimore pitcher, cost the New York Giants $65,000 in cash and three players, to be delivered on or before March 20 next, according to Commissioner K. M. Landis. In the event the players are not satisfactory they are to be returned by the Baltimore club. Bentley, 24, and in lieu of them the minor league club is to receive $2,000 for each man, making the total amount of money involved $72,500.

Bothwell Dance Is Enjoyable Affair

Special to The Advertiser. BOTHWELL, Nov. 1.—A jolly affair was the Halloween dance given by the Eastern Star Lodge on Tuesday night. The hall was appropriately decorated, and the masked guests in weird costumes added to the mirth of the evening.

A program of music and readings was first given for the benefit of the non-dancers. After lunch the dance was opened by a promenade. The worthy matron, Mrs. W. R. Hickey, garbed as a small girl, and the worthy patron, Ronald McRae, dressed as a clown, led the dancers before the judges. Miss Blanche Brewer as Halloween won first prize, M. Seiver as Uncle Sam second, and Miss Marjorie Willis as Pierrette third.

The Bothwell orchestra furnished the dance music. This was the initial dance of the lodge since organization. Halloween passed very quietly in this town this year. The culprits were so severely dealt with two years ago for the pranks that they only indulged in harmless tricks.

CALEDONIA MAN MISSING FOR 30 YEARS RETURNS

Charles Forbes of Chicago Shows Up To Claim Part of Estate.

WAS PRESUMED DEAD

Mr. Justice Middleton Enlarges Case Heard At Osgoode Hall.

TORONTO, Nov. 2.—How does a man feel when he has been missing for thirty-odd years, presumed to be dead in a court order, and then comes to life, reporting in the flesh at his old home in Caledonia, Haldimand County?

Charles Forbes alone can answer, for he's the man, as told in Mr. Justice Middleton's single court at Osgoode Hall today.

William Forbes of Hamilton died on January 26, 1918, intestate, and without issue, but leaving a widow, three brothers and a sister.

On January 7, 1919, on an affidavit by a brother, Dr. J. M. Forbes, of Caledonia, Charles Forbes was presumed to be dead; and under Mr. Justice Middleton's order, Charles' share of $1,800 was divided among his two brothers, Dr. J. M. Forbes and Alexander Forbes, and the sister, Mrs. Margaret Munroe of Plumas, Manitoba. Charles, presumably, had not been heard of in 30 years, and when heard from last was leaving St. Louis for the Yukon.

A few months ago Charles Forbes wrote from Chicago, and, a little later, arrived at Caledonia.

Harrison Arrell, K.C., of Caledonia, today asked Mr. Justice Middleton to reverse or amend his original order, enabling the long lost Charles to recover his part of William's estate. Alexander Forbes had returned the $600 he had received, and Mrs. Munroe had written that she was willing to do the same. But, according to Mr. Arrell, Dr. Forbes had refused.

Mr. Justice Middleton—the order issued is not the order granted by me.

H. S. White, K.C., for Dr. Forbes and Mrs. Munroe, did not deny that the money must be refunded, but he wasn't certain of Mr. Justice Middleton's jurisdiction. Mr. Arrell, for last evening at the age of 77 years.

KING FERDINAND is shown here placing the royal crown of Rumania on the head of his royal consort in the recent coronation ceremonies. The ceremony was attended by representatives of all the governments of Europe, and was one of the most brilliant functions of its kind since the war.

example, already had issued a writ against Dr. Forbes in the county court.

Wishing to facilitate an adjustment to keep down costs, his lordship enlarged the motion to let Mr. White consult his clients.

Mr. Arrell was asked by the judge if his client would be content with the money paid to each and not press for interest.

"I have claimed interest, but, in deference to your lordship, I shall not press it."

When today's proceedings are reported to Charles Forbes, he will be gratified to know that the judge before whom he was represented as dead now knows that the report of death was greatly exaggerated.

Mrs. M. Menzies accompanied her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Walsh, to Oliphant. After Mrs. Walsh has completed some business settlements they will return to Ailsa Craig.

John Keown died at his home here today at the age of 77 years.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at Nairn Cemetery. Mr. Keown had been ailing for some weeks, and death was not unexpected. He is survived by a widow, Mr. Keown moved here from McMillan several years ago, and was highly esteemed by the residents.

Mrs. Helen Tweddle and Miss McPherson, who have been visiting in the West, returned home yesterday looking hale and hearty after a very enjoyable trip.

INSURGENTS DRIVE OUT ALBANIAN GOVERNMENT

ATHENS, Nov. 2.—A revolution has broken out in Albania, and the government has fled from Tirana and taken refuge in Valona, according to reports from Florida today. Troops of the Albanian government are reported to be retreating before the insurgents.

The reported revolt in Albania was believed connected with the accession of Benito Mussolini to power in Italy. Trouble between Italy and Albania, which has been the subject of diplomatic negotiations for several years, may be further aggravated, it was believed, by the strong nationalistic attitude of the Fascists.

GUELPH MAN TO HEAD CATTLE DEPARTMENT

Special to The Advertiser.

GUELPH, Nov. 2.—W. J. Fairweather of Guelph, the well-known official of the Winter Fair, has received the appointment of a superintendent of the cattle department at the Royal Agricultural Show in Toronto, November 22 to 29. Mr. Fairweather acted in a similar capacity at the recent Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, and will again have charge of stabling at the Winter Fair in Guelph in December.

DECLINE CHIEF JUSTICE POST

Two Prominent Montreal Lawyers Refuse To Accept Position.

OTTAWA, Nov. 2.—The selection of a successor to Chief Justice Archibald in the headship of the superior court of Montreal is providing Sir Lomer Gouin, who has the appointment in his gift, for a double reason with a very thorny problem. It was offered first to Montreal's most eminent lawyer, Mr. Eugene Lafleur, K.C., but he declined it. He would be willing to accept the chief justiceship of the whole province of Quebec if Chief Justice Lamothe were to retire, but he will not consider the lower office. It was then proffered to Mr. A. R. McMaster, K.C., who has the necessary legal qualifications, and high hopes were entertained in the more reactionary circles of Liberalism that this fearless radical would accept it and be safely silenced on the bench for ever. But Mr. McMaster feels his political work is not finished and realizes that acceptance of a judgeship would expose him to the taunt that he had been bought off with it. So he prefers to maintain his reputation as an honest politician and forgo a judicial plum which most members would jump at. The appointment is always filled by an English-speaking Protestant, but unfortunately this class has in recent years produced in the province of Quebec a very small crop of good lawyers who had the sense to attach themselves to the Liberal party.

Mr. S. W. Jacobs would be eligible and has good claim, but he declines to allow his name to be considered.

FINDS RESIDENT OF WARWICK LIFELESS

D. D. Brody, Prominent Mason, Discovered Dead in Bed by Sister.

Special to The Advertiser.

FOREST, Nov. 2.—D. D. Brody, one of Warwick's most prominent residents, was found dead in his bed this morning, when a sister, residing at his home, went to call him. He was about 55 years of age and unmarried.

Last May Mr. Brody underwent an operation in Sarnia Hospital for mastoid, and was in hospital some weeks, but came home apparently fully recovered, and he had been quite active all summer. Yesterday he attended the funeral of a friend in Forest, and went to an auction sale, driving in after supper to attend a Masonic meeting, where he put on the work in the third degree.

He had been a prominent Mason, and two years ago was D. D. G. M. of St. Clair District No. 2. He was also active in the work of the Congregational Church, where he was Bible class teacher and one of the deacons. This year he was president of the Forest Agricultural Society, and active at the fall fair and throughout the year. In past years he had been reeve of Warwick several times, and served in the council a number of years.

The late Mr. Brody is survived by one brother and four sisters: John L., druggist, at Ridgeway; Mrs. Crookard, a widow, who is a teacher in Forest public school; Mrs. John Campbell, also a widow, in Winnipeg; and Miss Ella and Miss Lizzie at home.

The funeral will be held under Masonic auspices at 2 p.m. on Sunday, in order to allow time for the arrival of Mrs. Campbell from Winnipeg.

No winds have been found in the upper air by the United States Weather Bureau, in many years of observation, that much exceed 100 miles an hour.

DENIES SWINDLING NEW HAMBURG MEN

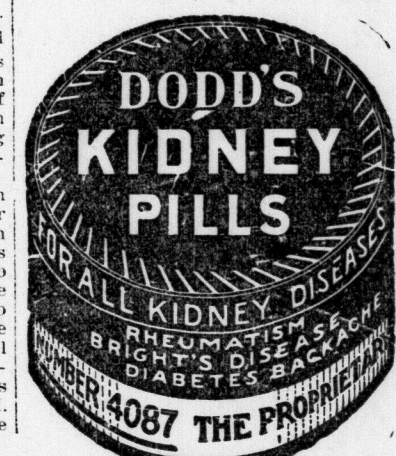

F. S. L. Patterson On Trial At Kitchener Pleads Not Guilty To Theft.

Special to The Advertiser.

KITCHENER, Nov. 2.—F. S. L. Patterson, alias C. W. Young, pleaded not guilty in police court here this morning when charged with theft in connection with the alleged sale of industrial bonds to certain people in New Hamburg and later converting the money collected to his own private uses.

Patterson, who was arrested in Windsor and brought to this city for trial, stated that he was never in New Hamburg in his life, and was prepared to produce witnesses to prove his statement. The police maintain that three of the men to whom Patterson is alleged to have sold stocks identified him. The total amount of money in the three informations laid against Patterson is $105. A. H. McCoombe, W. H. Schweitzer and L. Hostettler are the complainants in the case.

Educational classes to serve vocational purposes may be started at the local Y. M. C. A., according to an announcement made today by General Secretary McKellar, who stated that the courses planned would in no way overlap the courses at present being pursued in the schools in the city. Mr. McKellar stated that the plan to start these classes is the outcome of a conference between J. H. Mayer, representative of the United Y. M. C. A. Schools of New York and local organization. The committee will meet next Tuesday night to decide the inauguration of the classes.

URGES FAIR PLAY TO LLOYD GEORGE

LONDON, Nov. 2. — (Canadian Press cable.)—The Daily Mail, which since the election started has been chiefly occupied in belaboring the Laborites, came out today strongly urging fair play for Lloyd George, an attitude indeed which Lord Rothermere has adopted in signed articles in other papers owned by him.

"Many men who fawned up Lloyd George in the days of his great power," says the Mail, "who sat on his doorstep begging for office or favors, who found through him the way to high authority in the state, are not content in deposing the man through whom they gained name and fame. Some of them appear to want to hound him out of public life altogether or reduce him to a party of one. Collectively, the Conservative party makes rather an unpleasant spectacle. Politicians may deride him, but the people have warm hearts, and personal popularity is still to be reckoned with."

The Daily Mail advises the Conservatives to leave the Georgian candidates unopposed wherever this is possible.

U. F. A. MEMBERSHIP DROPS.

CALGARY, Nov. 2.—United Farmers of Alberta membership has decreased from 38,000 in September 30, 1921, to 15,000 in September 30, 1922, according to official figures contained in the U. F. A. official journal of that organization.

The FLAMING JEWEL

by ROBERT W. CHAMBERS

ABOUT that time, a mile and a half to the southward, James Darragh came out on the rocky and rushing outlet of Star Pond. Over his shoulder was a rifle, and all around him ran dogs—big, powerful dogs, built like foxhounds but with the rough, wiry coats of Alredies, even rougher of ear and features.

He had been seated there for ten minutes, possibly, with his tired dogs lying around him, when just above him he saw a state trooper emerge from the woods on foot, carrying a rifle over one shoulder.

"Jack!" he called in a guarded voice. Trooper Stormont turned, caught sight of Darragh, made a signal of recognition, and came toward him. Darragh said: "Your mate, Trooper Lannis, is down stream. I've two of my own game wardens at the crossroads, two more on the Ghost Lake Road, and two foresters and an inspector out toward Owl March."

Stormont nodded, looking down at the dogs.

"What are they, Jim?"

"Otter hounds," said Darragh. "—a breed of my own. . . but that's all they are capable of hunting, I guess," he added grimly.

Stormont's gaze questioned him.

"Well," said Darragh, "I left my two guests at Harrod Place to amuse each other, got out three couple of my otter-hounds and started them—as I hoped and supposed—on Quintana's trail."

"What happened?" inquired Stormont curiously.

"Well—I don't know. I think they were following some of Quintana's gang—for a while, anyway. After that, God knows—deer, hare, cotton-tail—I don't know. They yelled their halloo heads off—I on the run—the slow dogs, you know—and whatever they were after either fooled them or there were too many trails. I made a mistake, that's all. These poor beasts don't know anything except an otter. I just hoped they might take Quintana's trail if I put them on it."

They had been walking for twenty minutes, possibly, exchanging scarcely a word, and they were now nearing the hilly basin where Star Pond lay, when Darragh said abruptly:

"I'm going to tell you about things, Jack. You've taken my word so far that it's all right—"

"Naturally," said Stormont simply. The two men, who had been brother officers in the great war, glanced at each other, slightly smiling.

"Here it is, then," said Darragh. "When I was on duty in Riga for the intelligence department, I met two ladies in dire distress, whose mansion had been burned and looted, supposedly by the Bolsheviks."

"They were actually hungry and penniless; the only clothing they possessed they were wearing. These ladies were the Countess Orloff-Strelwitz, and a young girl, Theodora, grand duchess of Estonia."

"I did what I could for them. After a while, I found out that the crime had been perpetrated by Jose Quintana's gang of international crooks masquerading as Bolsheviks."

Stormont nodded. "I also came across similar cases," he remarked.

"Well, this was a flagrant example. Quintana had burnt the chateau and had made off with over two million dollars worth of the little grand duchess's jewels—among them the famous Emerald gem known as The Flaming Jewel."

"I've heard of it."

"I've been after him ever since," said Darragh. "But Jack, until this morning Quintana did not possess these stolen jewels. Clinch did."

"What?"

"Clinch served overseas in a forestry regiment. In Paris he robbed Quintana of those jewels. That's why I've been hanging around Clinch."

Stormont's face was flushed and incredulous. Then it lost color as he thought of the jewels that Eve had concealed—the gems for which she had risked her life.

He said: "But you tell me, Quintana robbed you this morning."

"He did. The little Grand Duchess and the Countess Strelwitz are my guests at Harrod Place."

"Last night I snatched the case containing these gems from Quintana's fingers. This morning, as I offered them to the Grand Duchess, Quintana coolly stepped between us."

His voice became bitter and his features reddened with rage poorly controlled.

"By God, Jack, I should have shot him!"

IT was not long before newcomers had dug holes all around where Jack was working. Jack was digging as fast as he could. He felt sure he was in the right spot. Shortly he couldn't see over the top of the trench.

Quintana when the opportunity offered. Twice I've had the chance. The next time I shall kill him any way I can. Legitimately."

"Of course," said Stormont gravely. But his mind was full of the jewels which Eve had. What and where were they? If Quintana again had the Estonian gems in his possession?

A few minutes later, as they came out among the willows and alders on the northeast side of Star Pond, Stormont touched his comrade's arm.

"Look at that enormous dog-otter out there in the lake,"

And now the hounds, unleashed, lifted frantic voices. The very sky seemed full of the discordant tumult; wood and rocks reverberated with the volume of convulsive and dissonant baying.

Darragh said, disgusted, "—that's what they've been tailing all the while across-woods—that devilish dog-otter yonder. . . And I had hoped they were on Quintana's trail—"

A mass rush and scurry of crazed dogs nearly swept him off his feet, and both men caught a glimpse of a large bitch-otter taking to the lake from a ledge of rock just beyond.

"Well, I'm in for it now," muttered Darragh, starting along the bank to ward Clinch's Dump, to keep an eye on his dogs.

CHAPTER IV. A FEW minutes before Darragh and Stormont had come out on the farther edge of Star Pond, Sard, who had heard from Quintana about the big drain pipe which led from Clinch's pantry into the lake, decided to go in and take a look at it.

He had been told all about its uses—now Clinch—in the event of a raid by state troopers or government enforcement agents—could empty his contraband hootch into the lake if necessary—and even could slide a barrel of ale or a keg of rum, intact, into the great tunnel and recover the liquor at his leisure.

Also, and grimly, Quintana had admitted that through this drain Eve Strayer and the state trooper, Stormont, had escaped from Clinch's Dump.

So now Sard, full of curiosity, went back into the pantry to look at it for himself. Almost instantly the idea occurred to him to make use of the drain for his own safety and comfort.

Why shouldn't he sleep in the pantry, lock the door, and, in case of intrusion—other exits being unavailable—why shouldn't he feel entirely safe with such an avenue of escape open?

For swimming was Sard's single accomplishment. He wasn't afraid of the water; he simply couldn't sink. Swimming was the only sport he ever had indulged in. He adored it.

And at that instant the very heavens echoed with that awful tumult which had first paralyzed, then razed him in the woods.

In the bushes on the lake shore he saw animals leaping and racing, but, in his terror, he did not recognize them for dogs.

Then suddenly, he saw a man, close to the house, running; and another man not far behind. That he understood, and it electrified him into action.

It was too late to escape from the house now. He understood that instantly.

He ran back through the dance hall and dining-room to the pantry, but he dared not let these intruders hear the noise of hammering.

Unconquerable terror seized Sard. Scarcely aware what he was about, he seized the edges of the big drain pipe and crowded his obese body into it head first. He was so fat and heavy that he filled the tile. To start himself down he pulled with both hands and kicked himself forward, tortoise-like, down the slanting tunnel, sticking now and then, dragging himself on and downward.

There came a hitch somewhere; his heavy body stuck on the steep incline.

Then, as he lifted his bewildered head and strove to peer into the blackness in front, he saw four balls of green fire close to him in darkness.

He began to slide at the same instant, and flung out both hands to check himself. But his palms slid in the slime and his body slid after.

He shrieked once as his face struck a furry obstruction where four balls of green fire flamed horribly and a fury of murderous teeth

Fine for Chest Colds Too and Is Cheaply Made at Home.

When you can make, in two minutes, a world beating remedy that acts directly on the membrane and often overhauls causes stubborn coughs and even hard chest colds to disappear, why trade with druggists that will probably disappoint?

Hawking and snuffling and also soreness of the mucous membrane go and you will feel free in almost no time. Just get one ounce of Eucalypti (double strength) add to it a little sugar and enough hot water to make a half pint and you've got an inexpensive remedy better than you can buy ready mixed.

Its soothing, healing action on the membrane is the reason so many people use it for Catarrh and acute nasal colds.—Adv.

Radio Radiations

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 2.—America, the radio hub of the world!

Increased activity in the construction of radio stations throughout the world, for the reception of messages from the United States, promises to add this distinction to the many now held by this country.

This conclusion is made from an account of the world-wide operations undertaken by American radio firms, presented by P. E. Nagle, communications expert of the U. S. department of commerce in "Commerce Reports."

"Every American communication company," writes Nagle, "is now actively engaged in the construction of additional facilities and in plans for new routes and methods for the improvement of operation conditions."

Before this expansion can be undertaken, however, corresponding stations must be erected abroad. This, says Nagle, is dependent on the development of the radio industry in each foreign country concerned. The fact that radio across the sea is either a government or private monopoly is considered a hindrance to American expansion there.

But most of the Latin-American countries permit the erection of foreign owned radio stations in their territories. Direct communication between Europe and both Americas, therefore, will be possible with the completion of the Buenos Ayres station in about a year, and of a Rio de Janeiro station within two years.

Until these and other high-powered stations are completed, radio business will depend on co-operative efforts of the navy department and various commercial companies.

Lines Out. "Regular radio service," reports Nagle, "is now maintained by commercial companies between the United States and the Hawaiian Islands, Japan, Norway, the United Kingdom, Germany and France, and by land wire distribution from many of these countries to points beyond."

In addition the United States naval communication service is handling commercial traffic to the Philippine Islands, China, Siberia, Siam, Dutch East Indies, portions of Australasia, Italy and Belgium.

"American radio companies are also developing systems of radio communication with Central America, with New Orleans as the center."

"A new high-power station is in course of construction in Poland, another is nearing completion near Christiania, and various others are projected in the smaller European countries. A new high-power station has just been completed at St. Assise, France, which is designed to communicate chiefly with the United States, replacing the Lafayette station at Bordeaux. With this station and with those at Christiania and Warsaw, communication will be direct with the United States."

DARRAGH CAME OUT ON THE ROCKY AND RUSHING OUTLET OF STAR POND.

APPROVE ACTION OF GOVERNMENT

Witnesses Declare Fire Rangers Not Needed in Organized Townships.

NEW LISKEARD, Nov. 2.—Approval of the provincial government's action in withdrawing fire rangers from the organized township of this district was expressed by a number of witnesses, including Reeve Hooper of Hudson, testifying here at the inquiry being conducted by the fire marshal into the recent disaster in Temiskaming. Incidentally, it was disclosed by E. Sackrider, clerk of the same municipality, that the suggestion to remove the rangers came from the U. E. O. county board of Charlton, the idea being embodied in a resolution passed at a meeting of that body held here in September of last year.

Reeve Hooper declared he spoke in a dual capacity, both by virtue of his office and as a farmer in the district. He claimed that the municipalities, being organized, were capable of handling the situation themselves, and it was pointed out that the original proposal provided for the appointment in each township of an officer whose duties would be similar to those formerly undertaken by the rangers. The whole trend of the evidence submitted showed that the menace to New Liskeard came from fires burning on the Wickett and Chester farms, northwest of the town.

E. M. Goodman, who had charge of the relief work during the Matheson fire in 1916, told the fire marshal that he believed settlers should not be permitted to set out fires at any time without permission, and that neighbors on adjoining farms should be notified of the intention to clear lands by burning.

Mr. Goodman contended also that no man should be allowed to take his family onto a bush farm and erect a house until the land had been cleared for at least 150 feet around the site of the dwelling. There was, he said, a want of appreciation on the part of the settler of the dangers liable to arise during one of his frequent absences from his farm.

RAISE $600 AT BAZAAR FOR NURSES' MEMORIAL

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 2.—The Alumnae Association of the Woodstock General Hospital held a bazaar on Wednesday afternoon and night, the funds to be used to swell the funds of the Nurses' War Memorial. The affair was a complete success and over $600 was raised.

The boys' work board of this city has announced that an election will be held on December 9, when a member will be elected to represent Woodstock when the Boys' Parliament of Ontario assemblies in Toronto on December 27. Candidates will be selected from the Tuxis square of the local churches, and a keen election is expected.

U. S. POLITICIAN RIDICULES KLAN

Senator James Reed Calls Ku Klux Klan Serpent of Dark Ages.

New York, Nov. 2.—Prohibition and the Ku Klux Klan, the women's votes and the excess profits tax, the tariff and the "living wage," are among a host of subjects of which voters all over the United States were exhorted last night.

With the election campaign fast coming to an end, John T. Adams, chairman of the Republican national committee, buoyantly announced last night in Washington that the Democrats were "whistling in the dark to keep up their courage," replying to statements, which he said, the Democrats had circulated, declaring that there was a drift away from the Republican candidates. "A Republican victory that will be a real victory is certain next Tuesday," he said.

Mrs. Emily Newell Blaine, vice-chairman of the Democratic national convention, predicted that the women next Tuesday would vote far more intelligently than they had done hitherto. She said that women had by this time accumulated themselves to the idea of using the franchise, and had had time to chart a course and select party alignments.

In Kansas City, Senator James Reed, Democratic candidate, ridiculed the Ku Klux Klan.

"After fifteen years of national life," Senator Reed asserted, "the serpent of proserpion has crawled down from the dark ages, wound itself around the temple of liberty, and thrust its tongue against the goddess of liberty."

"I wonder if its members have read the constitution?" Reed asked in his attack on the Klan. "They evidently have not, for they foster racial and religious prejudice."

SENTENCES FIEND TO FORTY YEARS

Confessed Abductor of 12-Year-Old Muskegon Girl Taken To Prison.

Special to The Advertiser.

MUSKEGON, Nov. 2.—Twenty-four hours after his arrest in Grand Rapids, Ray Eugene Wilson, confessed abductor of pretty 12-year-old Rosalie Shanty, was sentenced to serve from 34 to 40 years in state prison at Marquette by Judge Vandewert in circuit court this afternoon. The court recommended 40 years.

Judge Vandewert was tense with emotion as he spoke briefly of the crime.

"This is one of the most heinous offenses I have ever heard of," he said. "The sanctity of law has been violated. I do not trust myself to speak at length. This man is a terrible menace to the country at large, and especially to its women and children. When I consider the mental and bodily anguish endured by this girl, and that of her relatives, it is necessary for me to hold myself in check."

Approves Crowd.

Applause resounded in the courtroom before the judge had finished. He leaped to his feet and reproved the crowd. The man who started the applause was ordered out of the courtroom.

While court proceedings were in progress, nervous and apprehensive of some demonstration from the excited populace, entered the courtroom without an attorney. In a few words he entered his plea. He assured the judge he knew the seriousness of the crime and intimidated by his demeanor that he wanted to get away, anywhere, even to prison for life. There had been vague mutterings of summary justice among the spectators.

While court hearings were brought on the parents of the little girl were preparing to catch a train for Dublin, Mich., where Rosalie, half nude, bruised and her mind deranged, was found. They expect to bring her back tomorrow. The judge has assured her will live, but physicians say she can never be the same. Wilson was arrested in Kalamazoo three years ago charged with attacking a 13-year-old school girl. Pleading guilt, he was sentenced to serve 18 months to 10 years in Jackson prison.

Admitted Offense.

After serving a year more than the minimum he was paroled August 13, 1921. Records show he went from Jackson to Arkdale, Wis., with his wife. There, under an agreement with state parole board, he made one report on his arrival in Wisconsin and was discharged from parole.

While being brought here from Grand Rapids, Wilson, the prosecutor said, admitted luring the girl away from Muskegon in an automobile as she left the Bible class Sunday. Grilled on his arrival here, he admitted he attacked the child. At 7 o'clock tonight Wilson, heavily guarded, was started for Marquette. Officers had to literally fight their way through the crowd with the prisoner, in much the same way as in a football scrimmage.

CARGO OF RUM WORTH $20,000 SEIZED AT SYDNEY

SYDNEY, N.S., Nov. 2.—Liquor valued at $20,000 was seized by the revenue cutter Sagamore last night when the schooner Edna H. was taken into custody as a suspected rum-runner.

This is said to be the largest seizure of the kind in the vicinity.

The Sagamore last night came upon the suspected schooner off Low Point when the latter was thought to be attempting to land her cargo, which consisted of 269 cases of whiskey and 31 kegs of rum.

It is believed the liquor was purchased at St. Pierre and was intended for Glace Bay and New Waterford ports.

BOSANQUET RESIDENT PASSES IN 89TH YEAR

George Lockrey, Veteran of Fenian Raid, Expires After Extended Illness.

THEDFORD, Nov. 1.—The funeral of the late George Lockrey, who died Saturday, was held Monday from the residence of his son-in-law, Capt. W. Bryant, Thedford, to Beechwood Cemetery, Forest.

Mr. Lockrey was born near Whitby and was in his 89th year. When he was 14 years old he came with his parents to Nissouri Township. Sixty years ago his parents came to Bosanquet and settled on the 8th concession. In 1868 Mr. Lockrey married Mrs. Martin of St. Marys, and after the death of his wife in 1875 he moved to Bosanquet with his three small children. For the past 22 years he had made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Bryant.

He served in the Fenian Raid of 1870 with the Lakeside Company of the 22nd Oxford Rifles, under Capt. James Monroe of Woodstock. For this service he received a medal and land grant of 160 acres in New Ontario. Mr. Lockrey had been in failing health for several years, and for the past four months had been confined to his bed.

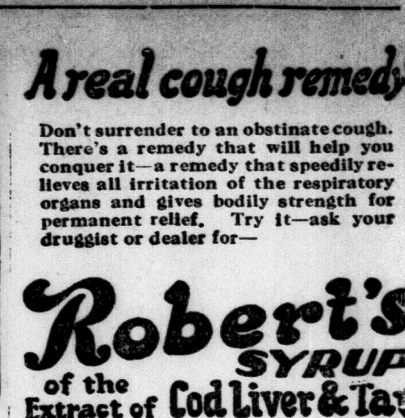

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. H. Wheaton of the Anglican Church. The bearers were: W. N. Ironside, F. Jennings, A. M. Crawford, J. H. Crawford, J. Blake and A. Plumb. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. (Capt.) Bryant of Thedford, Mrs. W. Burdick of London, and James B. Martin a stepson, of London; also three brothers: one sister, Barnabus, Bosanquet; William, Thedford, and Henry of London, and Mrs. E. Seaton, of Chatham.

TO FEED GARBAGE OF CITY TO PIGS

St. Thomas Council Indorse Disposal of Offal To Piggery, Limited.

Special to The Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 2.—A novel disposal of the city's garbage was indorsed at the monthly meeting of the board of works committee of the city council this evening. A resolution to dispose of city garbage to the St. Thomas Piggery, Limited, a recently-formed company of local businessmen, to raise hogs at a modern piggery situated near this city was passed by the committee. City Solicitor W. B. Doherty has been instructed to draw up an agreement with the company, and the delivery of refuse will commence December 1.
The new means of disposal of the garbage was generally favored by the committee as it means a saving of $500 a year. Up till this time the city has been paying $500 a year for the disposal of the offal. The proposal of the St. Thomas Piggery, Limited, was taken up by the council.
Alderman John Jagoe was of opinion that the contract with the new company should be for a period of years, for if the company should go out of business the city might not be able to return to the present system.

Preparations for next year's paving program were discussed, but no definite action was taken. Among the streets suggested for paving next year are Chestnut, Manitoba, Balclava, Drake, Metcalfe and Gladstone avenue. It is expected that petitions for new pavement will be circulated and presented this year so that the underground work in connection with the paving may be started as early next year as possible. This policy would provide work for a number of men during the winter months and the bulk of the extra cost could be assumed by the Dominion and Provincial governments under the unemployment assistance scheme.

Ald. W. Stokes stated that he had registered a number of complaints regarding sidewalk repairing in different sections of the city and in many of these cases no action had been taken by the committee. He drew attention to the fact that $1,000 had been appropriated for sidewalks this year and he wanted to know what portion of that sum had been spent. On some streets he stated on rainy days six inches of water collected on the sidewalks because of high curbs. He thought such conditions should not be allowed to continue, and added that he didn't like to face the ratepayers at the coming election without putting forward some reasonable effort to have these nuisances remedied. It was finally decided to repair the sidewalk in front of properties Nos. 229 and 233
on north Talbot street.

The Bell Telephone Company were granted permission to erect poles on various streets in the city under the supervision of the city engineer.

Crowding of garbage wagons in the civic yard, which has been considered, The crowding has been caused by the purchase of 400 cords of wood by the city which is being stored in the yard. A suggestion was made that the wagons be stored in the gas plant yard. The objection was raised that they were too close to the gas plant, but the objection was overruled by one of the aldermen, who declared

WAGE BITTER CONTEST IN N. Y.

Campaign Interest Narrows to Miller or Smith for Governorship.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—(By Canadian Press.)—Interest in the firm stage of the United States political campaign appears to be very largely centered in the fight between Nathan L. Miller and Alfred E. Smith for the New York governorship.

Dispatches received today from various points report keen campaigning in many districts over senatorial and state contests, but the possibilities which are supposed to lie behind the big fight in this state have made it particularly large in public interest.

If Governor Miller is re-elected next Tuesday it is generally believed he will have a splendid chance of being the Republican nominee for president two years hence. At any rate there seems to be no doubt that it will mean the starting of a big Miller presidential boom.

There are other presidential possibilities involved in the New York gubernatorial fight. William R. Hearst has a great ambition, it is pretended, to be president. His effort to secure the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in this election was defeated by A. L. Smith, who is frankly his enemy.

Smith, if he wins the governor-ship, will control the Democratic machine of the state, and can prevent Hearst getting the New York delegates to the next Democratic national convention. On the other hand, if Smith is defeated, Hearst will be in position to say he predicted it, and will undoubtedly make a new effort to dominate the Democratic party of the state, and win its support for himself. Smith, who supposedly hoping fervently Smith's defeat, has been unable to oppose him openly, and by doing so he would have alienated for all time whatever friendship he has in the party. Moreover the state convention stole his thunder by putting just about everything that the Hearst papers have been advocating in the state platform.

He could not attack the man who stands for these things without repudiating his own policies. Therefore Hearst has been giving mild support to Smith.

VICTORIAN STYLES.

Quaint draperies with puffs over the hips and sashes that tie in huge bows are reminiscent of the Victorian days. Dishop sleeves also are being revived.

BRONZE SLIPPERS.

Bronze slippers are seen in a number of attractive shapes, adorned with the new tongue and buckle effects. The most elaborate ones are beaded on the toe and some are beaded about the heel.

If people could endure the odor from the gas plant they would be bothered by the garbage wagons.
The wagons are not to be moved.

WANT SCHOOL SITE DISCUSSION

Trustee To Ask East London Location Be Reconsidered.

Members of the board of education asserted Friday noon that at their next regular session they will move that the entire question, involving the Dakin street, Oliver street, and other school sites be reconsidered. The likely development to halt this contemplated procedure would be, they say, definite assurance that the latter property can be secured without further legal parley, and that actual construction will be commenced forthwith.

Arrange Mass Meeting.

Coming events hinge largely, it was also intimated, upon what action, if any, shall be determined, by those ratepayers of southeast London, the district to be affected by the proposed school, who are arranging for a general public mass meeting next week to consider this question of schoolroom accommodation, now before the public for many months.

While it is reported that these taxpayers have long ago grown restless over what they term as "unnecessary and continued delay," there are still members of the board of education who have never reconciled Dakin and Oliver street, located to the one now suggested, at the corner of Trafalgar and Oliver streets.

As a matter of fact, the school inspectors, who to all intents and purposes represent the provincial department of education, disapproved vigorously when the change was made, but rather than retard the building program reluctantly gave consent.

The school trustees still own the land at the corner of Dakin and Oliver streets, and there are those among them who still maintain that it is a more economical and suitable purchase than the Oliver street deal.

The Ward From California.

In the meanwhile no word is forthcoming from California from those who are believed to hold a claim of some nature upon a portion of the land, and all negotiations are halted.

School trustees acknowledged quite freely Friday, however, that everything indicated a complete "set-back" at the next general session.

Know Identity of Youth Who Attacked Woman On Halloween

POLICE say the identity of the man, who, attired in Halloween costume, assaulted Mrs. J. Loney, 603 Colborne street, when she answered her ring at her front door Tuesday night, and who entered her home and stole a purse containing $18, which was lying on the table, is known.

The authorities intend to follow up their information, and expect that their efforts will culminate in an arrest.

Mrs. Loney is still confined to bed, suffering from the injuries and the shock which she received when the disguised raider struck her and knocked her to the floor, when she answered the door.

"MARKING TIME" ON MILK TESTING

City Council Withholds Action Pending Legal Advice On Problem.

The city councillors are still "marking time" with respect to the tubercular milk test, it was announced on Friday, when further legal advice upon the problem.

In the meanwhile there will be no interference with the sale of milk, they say. Testing of cows is still in progress, reports the medical officer of health, explaining incidentally that many dealers have subjected their cattle to the regulations with little or no protest.

City Solicitor T. G. Meredith is seeking further knowledge, aldermen say, with respect to the enforcement of the recent tubercular milk bylaw just passed by the city council. There is a question at this moment, whether it is imperative, according to the statutes, to seek the sanction of the federal minister of agriculture before the bylaw is actually effective.

Members of the council, who have since interested themselves in the matter were strenuous in their declaration that there would be no complaint on their part other than the manner in which the test is being conducted. Certain of them are inclined to unite with Mayor Dr. Wilson in his contention that the test is "highly unscientific."

7,460,201 PEOPLE MAKE OLD LONDON

City Reaches Highest Record in History—Females in Preponderance.

London, Nov. 3.—Some interesting figures on the population of Greater London are disclosed by the latest census, which gives the total number of inhabitants as 7,460,201, the highest on record.

In the County of London alone the numbers have increased from 859,316 in 1891 to 4,184,822 in 1921, the latter figures being made up of 2,071,579 males and 2,413,044 females.

The males have decreased in the last ten years by 54,042, and the females increased by 17,500. The proportion of females to 1,000 males has risen from 1,127 in 1911 and 1,165 in 1921, and there has been an increase of 25,322 in widows during that period, attributable largely to the war.

The ratio of unmarried females to 1,000 unmarried males has increased from 1,128 to 1,257 in the age group of 20 to 29, and from 1,412 to 1,886 in the age group of 30 to 39.

In the County of London, of 1,126,897 private families, approximately 58 per cent, or 654,694 are in single occupation of separate dwellings; 32 per cent, or 366,785, are living two to a dwelling, and 10 per cent are housed in dwellings containing three or more families each.

BOARD OFFERS NO HOPE TO PALMER

Trustees Treat the Offer of School Site With Little Sympathy.

The board of education will be able to extend but scant sympathy to ex-Ald. Adam Palmer if he still proposes to sell the trustees the same tract of land as previously, advises Trustee Edwin Smith, chairman of the board of education.

Mr. Palmer has dispatched a letter to the trustees, offering to sell property in Southeast London, suitable for public school purposes, at a figure considerably less than is being asked for property selected at the corner of Oliver and Trafalgar streets.

Secretary W. A. Tanner, of the school board, points out that as the former councillor desires an immediate reply, it will be impossible for the trustees to consider the question, unless a special session is staged.

Chairman Smith was emphatic in his declaration Friday that if Mr. Palmer has no new offer, nothing can be accomplished in this direction. The city solicitor has already advised against the purchase of land, already advanced, he says.

As Mr. Palmer did not state definitely just what property he may have to offer, the secretary has written to him seeking this information.

Battles Enraged Wolf To Death With Bare Hands in Northern Wood

Special to The Advertiser.

Fort William, Ont., Nov. 3.—With his bare hands J. W. Tripp, farmer, killed a big wolf at Cloud Bay and his pet was today presented to Geo. Coo, clerk of the court here for government bounty.

When Mr. Tripp visited his trap he found White Fang snipped by one leg, but in fighting mood. Dared by companions to engage the forest marauder in close combat, Mr. Tripp laughingly accepted the challenge.

On the Cloud Bay farm there then commenced an hour's engagement which might have delighted habitués of the Roman amphitheatre, circling

WANTS CITY OFFICIALS TO BEAR PART EXPENSE

Ald. Douglass to Move That Traveling Expenses Be shared.

Should civic officials shoulder one-half the cost of travel on trips of investigation and the like to other cities?

Ald. (Dr.) Douglass claims that they should, and will introduce this subject for consideration at the city council Tuesday.

"Civic officials are but temporary employees of the city," explained Ald. Douglass Friday. "They are hired from year to year, and any knowledge that they may gain while on these trips from time to time, is as much for their own private interest as for the city."

The councillor from Ward 2 will ask also that his colleagues approve of a motion that the heads of all city departments at the city hall remain in their offices from 12 o'clock noon until 1 p.m., in order that any citizen who chooses may gain any special information that he may desire.

Ald. Douglass points out that there are many people who frequently have occasion to visit the city hall on business that would necessitate an audience with certain of the officials, and the noon hour is practically the only period during the day they have at their disposal, by reason of their hours of employment.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills The Great Liver Regulators

The duty of the liver is to prepare and secrete bile and serve as a filter to the blood, cleansing it of all impurities and poisons.

Therefore, when the liver is inactive and fails to secrete bile in sufficient quantity constipation and other liver troubles soon follow.

Mrs. H. D. Hutchinson, Peterborough, Ont., writes: "I have been using your Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and they have done me a lot of good."

My liver bothered me a great deal. I was drowsy and tired all the time and didn't feel like doing anything, let alone my housework. I tried everything, but your Pills seemed to do the work far better than anything I had ever taken."

SAY EMBARGO ON STEERS EFFECTED

London Times Claims Lifting of Ban Limited—Fascisti Celebrate.

By Henry Somerville.

Special to The Advertiser.

London, Nov. 3.—The Times states today that the embargo on steers imposed only for admitting steers without quarantine.

There must be veterinary supervision several days before shipment and during transit, also inspection at British ports. Breeding animals will be under the same regulations as Canada has imposed on British and Canadian ports of entry.

Tomorrow being Italian armistice day, Fascisti will march in black shirts. Westminster Abbey will be laid a wreath on the tomb of the unknown warrior. They will also march past Contaphin, Whitehall, saluting the Roman military fashion.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. When her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everyone uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it is so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.—Advt.

Any breaking out or skin irritation on face, neck or body is overcome quickest by applying Menthosulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation that instantly brings ease from the itching, burning and irritation.

Menthosulphur heals eczema right up, leaving the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment of disfigurement. A little jar of Menthosulphur may be obtained at any drug store. It is used like cold cream—Advt.

FASCISTI RULE AROUSES ROME

Mussolini Makes Deep Impression in Italy by Firmness in Rule.

Rome, Nov. 2.—The authority, the energy and the earnestness with which Mussolini has taken hold of Italian affairs, both internal and external, has created a deep impression in Rome.

His imperative instructions to Count Sforza to remain at his post in Paris until he had reached a decision in the cases of ambassadors who offered to resign, and his circular to the prefects "exacting" their utmost endeavors, and collaboration were regarded as a strong indication of the method the new government is going to use in dealing with the business at home and abroad.

In like manner a hint as to the manner of running the government, Mussolini will pursue was given by his message yesterday to the press associations, in which he said he intended to safeguard the liberty of the press on condition that the press proves worthy of liberty.

Postponement of the opening of the chamber of deputies from Nov. 7 to Nov. 15, has caused some disappointment. The entire population was anxious to see what sort of a welcome the parliament would give the Fascist leader. Mussolini is reported to desire a little more time to prepare the speech outlining his program, and to consult leaders of the various groups and parties in the chamber.

Since the policies of some of them are not far removed from the Fascist aspirations it is thought possible that the collaboration that Mussolini desires may be found in the present parliamentary lineup. The strengthening of the line on foreign exchange market, following the change in government at Rome, has favorably impressed everyone in financial circles. The dollar has dropped from three to four points, while the French franc has receded eight points since last Friday.

Rome has resumed a normal appearance. To those who saw the monster demonstrations that followed the Fascist entry into the city, the streets today seemed deserted by contrast.

WILD RUSSIAN USED HIS KNIFE FREELY

And May Face Charge of Murder If One of His Victim's Wounds Proves Fatal.

QUEBEC, Nov. 2.—A Russian who gave his name as Mikey—all that the officers could ascertain—is behind the bars at Riviere du Loup jail, charged with the attempted murder of Fred Roe and his nephew, Charles Roe, both from Indiana. The two Americans were returning from a hunting trip, and had been led the train at Mount Pellet between Riviere du Loup and the Russian entered, and sat facing them. Not a word had passed between them when "Mikey" with a knife in his hand leaped upon Fred Roe and his nephew, and slashed them repeatedly on the head and back, according to the victims.

At Riviere du Loup the Russian was arrested after a struggle, and appeared before a justice of the peace this morning. He was remanded, as the charge against him will be changed if Charles Roe's injuries prove fatal, as the doctors fear.

PICKING UP WASTE DOES NOT MEAN QUITTING LINE

OTTAWA, Nov. 2.—(Canadian Press).—The picking up of unused material lying along the Hudson Bay line of the Canadian National Railways is looked upon here as a matter of economical management, rather than evidence of any decision to proceed or not to proceed with the construction of the line in question.

Criticism of car shortage on the Canadian National Lines will, it is expected, be taken up at the next meeting of the board of directors.

Birkenhead Hopes To See Washington Pact Extended

BRISTOL, England, Nov. 2.—Lord Birkenhead, former lord chancellor under Lloyd George, declared in a speech today that he has not despaired of seeing the Washington disarmament conference agreements extended to the field of later armaments and aerial preparations.

REFUSE EDITOR CLAIM FOR BAIL

Quebec Authorities Force the Publisher of "Axe" to Remain in Jail.

Special to The Advertiser.

Montreal, Nov. 2.—John H. Roberts, editor of The Axe, a weekly publication in Montreal, knows what it is to spend 24 hours in jail, for, upon his arrival in Quebec yesterday he was immediately incarcerated and bail was refused.

He was due to appear in court there during the morning on a charge of sedition, but, when application for bail will again be made. It was opposed by lawyers acting for the attorney-general on the ground that he should not be given his freedom until he appears before the bar of the house to explain his articles in The Axe in the Blanche Garneau murder case and the insinuations cast upon unnamed members of the house.

Armand Lavergne, K.C., acting for Roberts, endeavored to get him bail yesterday, and in explanation of the refusal, Premier and Attorney-General Taschereau made the following statement last evening:

"Mr. Roberts has not been the victim of any unfair treatment on the part of the authorities. Mr. Lavergne saw his client at the station on arrival. At about 11:30 o'clock, he called Mr. Lancelotti, assistant attorney-general, and myself at the legislature building and requested permission to see the prisoner immediately. We did not think that there was any special reason to grant permission of the kind, but informed Mr. Lavergne that he would see his client as early as he wished and as many times as he wanted. I understood he had several interviews with him at the jail today, and he will surely be given all liberty to confer or act as he pleases within the privileges granted to attorneys."

Held Prisoner.

Roberts is not yet held as a prisoner of the legislature, but on a criminal charge, that of sedition, which was laid against him by Detective Oneisme Cote of the provincial police, and signed by Judge Lachance of the court of sessions in Quebec.

The warrant provided for the arrest of Roberts on one of the most serious accusations, which includes an attempt to affect the authority of any governing power. The issue is joined, let justice be done. So stated John H. Roberts in this week's issue of The Axe. He is evidently not perturbed about having to appear at the bar of the house at Quebec this afternoon, for today's issue is just as bitter as the one which aroused the ire of Premier Taschereau. Incidentally the action taken against him has proved a big boost for the paper, as the newsboys this morning sold thousands of copies in the financial district. Part of what the paper says under different headings follows:

"The Taschereau government appears anxious to protect the dignity of the Legislature than it is to satisfy the public demand, voiced not only by the Axe, but by members of the Legislature itself, by many liberal speakers, and by many individual citizens of the province of Quebec, that the search for Blanche Garneau's murderer? or murderers be pursued with diligence, earnestness and efficiency."

Issue Warrant.

"In issuing a warrant to the sergeant-at-arms to arrest John H. Roberts, the editor of this paper, and bring him to the bar of the house, the Provincial Legislature, while thinking only of its own 'dignity' has unwittingly opened the door to an investigation of the entire facts surrounding Blanche Garneau's murder, which is what the Axe wants, and what the people of the province of Quebec ardently desire."

"John H. Roberts did not take up the cause of this poor child of the people, Blanche Garneau, who was foully outraged and slain, without counting the cost. The vindication of justice, the supremacy of law, the safety of the daughters of the citizens of the province of Quebec are of far greater consequence to him than loss of liberty or imprisonment for demanding that the murderer or murderers of this French-Canadian girl be unearthed, no matter how high their social standing, public position or family connections may be."

BRITISH LABOR LOSES HEAVILY

Suffers Reverses in Municipal Contests, While Conservatives Gain 101 Seats.

Special Cable to The Advertiser.

London, Nov. 2.—David Lloyd George, ill with a cold and sore throat, will be back campaigning by Saturday, his physicians declared today. The former premier was said to be much improved.

Conservatives today predicted overwhelming victory at the general elections as the result of yesterday's municipal elections. In 80 provincial boroughs the Laborites lost 163 seats and the Conservatives gained 101.

Labor representative councils were completely wiped out in many places. Of eight London districts which labor formerly controlled, five were lost and majorities in three were reduced.

Parliamentary Laborites, however, pointed out that in many cases municipal parties combined against labor, and on the basis that this will not occur in the general elections, claimed to be undismayed. Heavy local taxation and alarm over labor's capital levy policy were declared responsible for complete rejection of the labor ticket in Fulham and Stoke Newington.
