Paul's Wild Welcome.

HE IS RECEIVED BY PRESIDENT LOUBET -- AN II-BRITISH CRIES RIGIDLY SUPPRESSED.

Paris, Nov. 26 .- The City of Paris relcomed Mr. Kruger on Saturday in whole-hearted manner, according him a sincere reception at the railroad station, and showing by the cheering of the crowds along the route that he was cordially welcome, and had the sympathy of the populace.

Paris, while giving full vent to her pent-up feelings of sympathy with and admiration for the Boers in its reception of Mr. Kruger, comported herself with wisdom and prudence. While a few isolated instances of anti-British shouting were unavoidable, never once throughout the day able, never once throughout the day was there any semblance of an organized demonstration against Great Britain to mar the unrestrainedly enthusiastic, but essentially reassuring character of the reception; and it was with a feeling of relief that the authorities went to be after the gloomy forebodings inspired by the unfortunate incidents which had marked previous welcomes given to Mr. Kruger vious welcomes given to Mr. Kruger an route to the French capital. Kruger's secretary announces that his chief will remain in France only a short time, going thence to Holland, where he will make an equally brief stay, after which he will return to the Mediterranean for the benefit of his health.

VISIT TO THE ELYSEE. VISIT TO THE ELYSEE.

Just before 4 o'clock a gala landau from the Elysee Palace was driven to the Hotel Scrabe, and Mr. Kruger, his interpreter, and M. Crozier proceeded to the Elysee, escorted by a strong detachment of cuirassiers. The scenes of enthusiasm of the morning were repeated. Mr. Kruger was received at the Elysee with semi-official ceremonies, such as were accorded to the sovereigns who visited the exhibition. A battation of infantry, with its standard and band, drawn up in the courtyard, rendered the honors. President Loubet received Mr. Kruger in the half of the ambassadors, where in the hall of the ambassadors, where M. Delcasse, the minister of foreign affairs, was also awaiting him. The interview lasted five minutes. The Kruger then returned to his hotel with the same ceremonial. The Boer statesman wore across the breast of his frock coat a green scarf with a red border, the insignia of his late office as president of the South Afri-can republic. He also were the cross of the Legion of Honor.

M. Loubet returned Mr. Kruger's visit at 4.30 p. m. The French president of during dent was werely acclaimed during his drive to the Hotel Scribe, and during his stay at the hotel the crowds raised the shouts of "Vive Kruger!" and "Vive Loubet!" After President Loubet's departure, Mr. Kruger withdrew to his own room and declined to see further visitors, even the officials of the municipal council, who were desirous of ascertaining the day on which he would very discontented frame of mind. NO INTERVENTION.

No Intervention.

New York, Nov. 26. — The British press is entirely satisfied with the expressions of the Paris journals respecting the reception to Kruger, according to the Tribune's London correspondent. The enthusiasm of the crowds at Marseilles and elsewhere counts for little in comparison with the clear and emphatic declaration of the Paris press that nothing can be done for the Boers, and that Kruger's sincerest and most useful friends are those who tell him the simple truth. Kruger has been grateful for sympathy, but has also demanded overtacts on the part of the French Government. There is no chance that any European Government will intervene in South Africa, and never has been since the failure of the American offer. can offer.

KEPT THE SARBATH. Paris, November 28. — Mr. Kruger passed Sunday with his family at the Hotel Scribe, observing the Sabbath in accordance with the customs of his fatherland. Although the boulevards were alive to a late hour with meritymakers singing songs, the Hotel Scribe was not disturbed by the revelers.

The morning found him quite recovered from the fatigue. After an early breakfast he conferred with Dr. Leyds. There being no church of his own in Paris, he held a private service in his apartments, surrounded by his entourage. Mr. Kruger read a portion of scripture and a member of his suite read a serumon prepared in advance. The Boer statesman ex-

H. MACAULA Y

S. STEPHENSON Proprietor. PROVINCIAL CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION.

It has been practically decided, says The Mail, that a convention of the Conservatives of Ontario will shortly be called together by Mir. Whitney, lender of the party in Ontario, for the provincial campaign of 1902. On Mr. Whitney's recent visit to Toronto, the matter was fully discussed, and he will return to that city this week, when the date of the convention will pro bably be fixed it is it

The convention will be on the lines of the Ottawa convention of Liberals, which met in 1893, and laid down a platform for Dominion affairs. The coming Conservative convention, however, with be of a purely, provincial char , and no Federal issues will be touched upon. The question of the Federal leadership will be in no way broached. Conservative members of the Legislature and defeated Conservative candidates in the elections of 1898, together with representatives chosen by the various Conservative or ganizations of the province, will constitute the convention. A plan of campaign to drive the Ross Administration out of existence will be discussed and drawn up.

The fight for Conservative rule in Ontario in 1902 or previously is going to be the hottest in the history of the province. Several bye-elections will take place before the general elections, and these will be hotly contested. The first of these will be that in Welland, to fill the seat vacated by Mr. Ger man. The election will take place on December 13th, with nominations on December 6th. The full fighting strength of both parties will be thrown into the contest and there is every chance of the Conservatives redeeming the riding.

MORE ABOUT CONSUMPTION.

It is well that the white plague, consumption is euphoniously termed, should receive the most careful attention of medical experts and that information respecting the cause and cure of this disease should be as widely spread as possible. It has been popularly believed that much depended upon climatic conditions; that a dry, grare air is unfavorable to the propagation of the consumptive germs. At the late meeting of the American Electro-Therapeutic Association, New York, Dr. M. J. Brooks, of Connecticut, disputed this view and asserted that climate has nothing to do with consumption, and cited the fact that even in the Adirondacks, the consump tives' resort, the disease is increasing. This conclusion is a non sequitur. The spread of the disease there would go rather to show that the retreat of consumptives to that section has brought along the fatal germs and that the contagion is spreading even under conditions most adverse for the bacilli. The germ is in the sputa, and when that is dried it floats in the atmosphere and, when inhaled, lodges and is propagated in the lungs of erstwhile healthy parties.

But that the disease can be controlled, if not stamped out, would appear to be abundantly established. In England and Wales the death rate from this disease has been reduced from 38 per 10,000 of the population in 1838 to about 13 per 10,000 in 1900.

In an article dealing with this subject, the Philadelphia Record, summarizing the conclusions of German and English congresses on the question, says: "Both German and English medical congresses have agreed that the disease is contagious; that the contagion is in the form of a living germ; that this germ can grow and propagate only in the body of man or of some of the lower animals; that the main sources of infection are the inhalation of particles of dried sputa from the lungs of persons already suffering from the disorder and the eating of the flesh and the drinking of the milk of tuberculosis cattle; that the disease is never inherited from birth, and that in order to avoid the malady it is only necessary to avoid the infection. It is evident from these findings that if all tuberculous cattle should be killed (it being practicable to detect the disease in cattle by the use of tuberculin) and all tuberculous patients could be induced to take the necessary sanitary precautions the weerms would be destroyed and this most fatal of all diseases would be stamped out. In about twenty States of the Union there are bovine regulation s, but only in New, York and Massacht wetts are such laws rigidly enforced. In those two States many. thousand head of tuberculous cattle have been killed and paid for at the rate of $ 6 each by the State, and the result has been a steady decrease in the numbe, tof human consumptives. It is necessar Y, however, that Congress should adopt a measure to prevent the shipment of diseased cattle from one State to a nother. Also, there should be a law to require every dairy to be inspected by a competent veter-inarian. Consumpt, ives should be in-duced to burn the w sputa, though those who are ignor. headless of all crowded tenements are heedless of all advice and must be placed under the authority of health office.

PECULIAR LIBEL CASE. By a recent decision of the Court of Appeal in England the proprietors of a circulating library were held liable in an action for a libel unknown to them contained in one of the volumes. The plaintiff, one Vizetelly, had been employed by Gordon Bennett, of The New York Herald, to proceed at the head of an expedition to Africa to search for Sir Henry Stanley, who was then engaged in an expedition for the rescue of Emin Pasha, and subsequenty sent off letters to Gordon Bennett. An English publishing house issued a book, called "Emin Pasha: His Life and Work," purporting to be compiled from journals, letters and scientific notes of Emin Pasha, and from official documents. It contained the following passage purporting to be an extract from Emin Pasha's diary:-Vizetelly sent off three messengers to-day to the coast, each with a bulky letter. However, as he is not yet sober he cannot surely have written them himself, and the solution of the problem is, as Dr. Parke tells us, simply that Stanley had the correspondence ready and knocked it down to the about the inside workings of the lihighest bidder, Vizetelly, that is, Gordon Bennett, and quite right, too.' This was the alleged libel, and it was not suggested at the trial that the statements contained were true. The plaintiff had first brought action tled by their paying him £100 damages, apologizing and undertaking to or both; it gives the court power in two well-known publishers' journals, but the defendants, although they were subscribers for and received the journals, had not seen the notice. The jury gave the plaintiff in this case a like sum of £100 damages, and the Court of Appeal held that the jury were justified in the verdict.

The first was Ben Parrott, convicted of the murder of his mother.

The superintendent of the industrial school at Mimico says 75 per cent of the boys admitted were addicted to cigarettes and that their physical development has been stunted by the practice. James Massie, formerly warden of the Central Prison, declares it will soon be necessary for business men to follow the example of the large manufacturers of New York, who recently adopted a resolution, pledging themselves not to employ boys who used cigarettes. The Government will be asked to enforce the anti-cigarette jaw to better effect.

Word comes from Toronto that the government intends to behead a number of license inspectors with the view of appointing new men to more vigorously enforce the law. This, of course, is all humbug, but whatever the object of the announcement the scheme has not developted sufficiently yet for the public to guess what the bluff means, But this we may be tolerably sure of, there is not a license inspector in the Province that the Ontario government dare dismiss without his consent. They all know too much cense machine.

In England there came into force the other day the New Money Lenders' Act, which makes money lenders who fraudulently induce their clients against the publishers, which was set- to borrow hable to two years' imprisonment or a fine not exceeding £500, withdraw the libel from circulation. to reopen any transaction which may the person sued, and it renders any money lender who does not register imself under his own name liable to penalty not exceeding £100, and, in he event of a subsequent conviction, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months.

DR. NORTH AND HIS FRIENDS. The Copp Clarke Co., limited, 64 and 66 Front street, West Toronto, have just placed on sale an exceedingly well written and interesting book entitled, "Dr. North and his friends." WHO SHALL BE THE LAST GREAT SEER:

A Hymn for St. John the Baptist's Day. Who shall be the last great Seer. That the world goes forth to hear? What shall be his warning cry. When the day of doom draws nigh? Wheree shall come the magic power. That in man's supremest hour. Smooths the rough and rugged road. For the highway of our God?

Few and short the words he speaks; Plain and straight the goal he seeeks; Round his path shall never shine Festal pomp nor wondrous sign; Lonely course and hopeless fight, Rising doubt and dwindling light,—Such the name of him whose name Burns with more than prophet's flame. "Change the heart and soul and mind, People, soldier, scribe and priest. People, soldier, scribe and priest, Each from thrall of self released, Live a life sincere and true, For your King is close in view."

Thus appeared the Heaven-sent man Foremost in the battle's van, Herald of an unseen light, Martyr for the simple right.
May we learn on this his day.
That in duty's homely way,
Bravely, firmly, humbly trod,
Dark for bright and hard for kind;
Wash you clean from stains of earth. Dark for bright and hard for wash, you clean from stains of earth, Leap into a second birth;
Man can best prepare for God.

Its Sale Revives Stories of the Sacre Calumet and Former Indian Customs.

Washington Times. Washington Times.

The Pipestone quarry at Pipestone, Minn., which has been the property of the Yorktown Sioux Indians since 1858, has been purchased from that tribe by the government for the sum of $75,000. The Indians are permitted, under the terrors of the agreement, to stake the terms of the agreement, to stake off a portion of the quarry sufficient for the manufacture of their pipes, and this will be retained for their use and will be virtually in their posses-

The redstone yielded by this quarry is a unique product, being a variety of steatite, if indeed it be steatite, different from that of any known European locality as well as from any other place in America.

As late as 1840 the site of the quarry was unknown except to the Indians themselves, who described it as a spot of great importance to the red man, as given them by the great spirit for their pipes, and strictly forbidden to be used for anything else.

The Indians were accustomed to shape out the bowls of their pipes from the solid stone, which is little softer than marble, with but a knife. The than marble, with but a knife. The stone, which is of a cherry red, admits of a beautiful polish, and the Indians made the hole in the bowl of the pipe by drilling into it a hard stick, shaped to the desired size, with a quantity of sharp sand and water kept constantly

These stems were carved in many ingenious forms, and the manner in which they were perforated through the centre for a long time puzzled the white purchaser, unated through the centre for a long time puzzled the white purchaser, un-til he learned that they were invari-ably made of the stalk of the young ash, which generally grows straight and has a small pith through the cen-tre, which is easily burned out with a hot wire or a piece of hard wood, by a much slower process.

hot wire or a piece of hard wood, by a much slower process.

There were two kinds of pipes in vogue with the Indians, the ordinary pattern made and used for the luxury of smoking only. This kind every Indian was permitted to own and smoke when he pleased. Then there was the calumet, or pipe of peace, ornamented with the war eagle's quills. This was a sacred pipe, and never allowed to be used on any other occasion than that of peacemaking, when the chief brought it into treaty, unfolding the many bandages which were carefully brought it into treaty, unfolding the many bandages which were carefully kept around it, kept it ready to be mutually smoked by the chiefs after the terms of the treaty were agreed upon, as the means of solemnizing or signing by an illiterate people, who could not draw up an instrument and sign not draw up an instrument and sign their names to it as is done in the civilized world.

The mode of solemnizing was by passing the sacred stem to each chief passing the sacred stem to each chief, who drew one breath of smoke only through it, thereby passing the most inviolate pledge that they could possi-bly give for the keeping of the terms agreed upon.

The sacred pipe was then carefully folded up and stowed away in the chief's lodge until a similar occasion called it out to be used in a similar manner.

The luxury of smoking was known The luxury of smoking was known to all the North American Indians in their primitive state, and that before they had any knowledge of tobacco, for which was substituted various weeds, leaves and barks of trees, which, though narcotic in character, were much less injurious than modern tobacco. These barks, etc., the Indians pulverized and called k'nick k'neck.

—Duffield Osborne in Criterios. THE GUILELESS JAILER.

He Reposed Too Much Confidence In

His Prisoner. "We have some very queer officials in the country occasions ly," said a south-ern editor, "and row and then a man with any sort of discernment wonders how they can ever be elected. Still, they are, and what is stranger, they some times hold their offices for years. I remember an old jailer we once had whose name was Butler. He was a good natured old fellow, guileless as a gilly, and such an incessant tobacco chewer that he tually chewed up his language when he

"On one occasion a notorious crimina from an adjacent county was captured in ours, and he was left at the jail for safe keeping over night, His captors brought him to the jail about midnight, and the jailer took him in, agreeing to he ve him ready to go when they should call for him in the morning. When morning came, the prisoner had disc ppeared, and later in the day I called on the old man to get his version of the escape for my paper. "'Well, you see,' he said, chewing his language out in s. drawling fashion, it was this a-way: When they went away after givin me in structions and I started to lock him up in a cell, he said he hadn't never been in a prison cell afore in all his life, and he jis couldn't bear the idee uv it now, and he would be willin to pay $5 fer somebody to set up and watch him ef I would jis let him set out in the office. He wuz a mighty nice appearin men, and I was kinder learnin his way, but I told him I didn't see ez how I could let him set out in the office, and, besider, there wuzn't nobody at that time uv night to set up with him. He said he wuz willin to pay $10 ruther than be shet up in a cell and break his pore old mother's heart. I said $10 wuz too much and that $5 wur a-plenty of we could find some body to set up, but we couldn't. Then I thought I might ez well earn $5 ez not myself and ketch a nap next day, and I agreed to set up with him.

"'Well, he wuz the most gratefulest man you ever saw, and we sot down and got to talkin, fer he wuz ez smart ez he were nice appearin. He said he would pay me in the mornin, and I said it would be all right, and we kep' on talkin. About 2 o'clock he said he wuz powerful dry and did I have anything about in the hole, the process subjecting the operator to very great labor and the necessity of much patience. Yet not only has this primitive labor yielded thousands of beautifully made pipe bowls, but they have been carved in a most artistic and wonderful manner. The shafts or stems of these pipes were made from two to four feet in length, sometimes round, but most generally flat, of an inch or two in changed at that time us night and would not violate the confidence I had in him by goin away durin my absence. He tuck out a $10 biff and told me to pay fer the liquor out of that, and I told him I couldn't git it changed at that time us night and would hanged at that time uv night and would pay fer it myself, and he could give me back the quarter in the mornin when he gave me the $5. He said that wus agreeable to him of it wuz to me, and so I went out and got a quarter's worth uv liquor, and dad blame my cats of he wuzn't gone when I came back."—Ex-

Costly Rudeness

Not many years ago one of the most popular and expensive shops on upper Broadway was owned by a man of such skill in his particular line of work that his eccentricities of manner were tolerated for the sake of the excellence of his wares. He was ill natured and cross grained to a degree that made it difficult for customers to deal with him. Advancing age did not make his disposition any more agreeable, and finally his patronage dwindled away. Nowadays he occupies a cellar, and his business has come to be of an entirely different character from that he controlled only a few years ago. A florist who was at one time the own er of a prosperous establishment acquired the same reputation among his clients, and he is now in charge of a basket of flowers near a department store. Both of these men are known to have ruined themselves commercially only through their manner of dealing with customers and are striking instances of the value of politeness in retail business.—New York

How a Butterfly Sleeps. The butterfly invariably goes to sleep head downward. It folds and contracts its wings to the utmost. The effect is to reduce its size and shape to a narrow ridge, hardly distinguishable in shape and color from the seed heads on thousands of other stems around. The butterfly also sleeps on the top of the stem. In the morning, when the sunbeams warm them, all these gray pied sleepers on the grass tops open their wings, and the colorless bennets are starred with a thousand liv ing flowers of purest azure.-Spectator.

HERRESHOFF IS READY.

Interest Manifested In Sir Thoma Lipton's Cup Challenge. The report that Sir Thomas Lipton has again decided to come over to "lift the cup," as he naively expressed it last year, was received with general satisfaction in the yachting town of Bristol, as nothing would be more pleasing to the average Bristol yachting sharp-and all of the male inhabitants seem to have working knowledge of the sport-than to see another first class contest for the cup with a Bristol built 90 footer the winner, says the New York. World. The Herreshoffs are prepared to build another cup defender, better in many points than Columbia, by next July, and only await the word to set in motion the machinery essential to such work. It is understood that Captain Nathaniel Greene Herreshoff, the famous designer, has noted a number of important points in which improvements could be made in the Columbia, but has advised the 70 footer syndicate, to whom he gave an option on his services a year ago, that it would be far better to build a 1900 model for the contest to be held in the new century. While he will not give an estimate in figures, he has assured at least one member of the millionaire triolessrs. Whitney, Duryea and Vanderbilt-that he can build a cup defender that will almost as easily show her heels to Columbia over the Sandy Hook course as the 1899 yacht did to the improved Defender in the trial races off Newport.

Neither expense nor trouble will be allowed to imperil a successful defense of the cup. The millionaire syndicate will have Columbia for a trial horse and, with an advantage of the margin by which she defeated the Shamrock in addition to the time to be gained through an improved model, it is be lieved the next cup defender can be made more markedly superior to Shamrock II than Columbia was to Sir Thomas' first challenger.

The keel of the next cup defender could be laid in two months if one is desired, and it is believed the New York Yacht club would insist upon new boat, unless one is tried and beaten by Columbia.

tho e citizens, whose over-zeal in Glencoe's interests led to such injudicious and disgraceful conduct, have, with the cooling down of their passions, heartily regretted the whole affair.

J. C. Stuart, of Windsor, who was officially appointed to referee the contest, was unable to be on hand, and sent on E. H. Kidd, of Detroit, to officiate in his atead. Mr. Kidd refereed the opening of the contest and proved himself a capable officer. He was, however, very firm in the matter of the transgressions of the crowd and severely penalized all ruffianly conduct. Chatham scored the opening goal on a clever shot by Bowers and were proving strongly the aggressors. Then Manager Scott, of the Glencoe club, made his appearance on the field with a telephonic despatch from League Secretary McDonald, of Detroit, appointing Dr. Geo. A. Dewar, of Glencoe, as referee. Mr. Kidd promptly retired, expressing his gratitude in being freed from a thankless task. Manager Laurie formally pretested against a Glencoe man officiating, but Dr. Dewar made his appearance and insisted on acting. Dewar was for some years captain of the Seaforth Hurons, should know the game and always enjoyed in these parts a generous reputation as a sportsman. Beyond the formal protest, therefore, no strenuous objections were made by the Chatham club. But the Chathams now claim Dr. Dewar was carried away by the prevailing spirit of hostility and prejudice against the Chathams, and he pracfrom what I saw that no visiting team could have won this game in Glencoe. Referee Dewar, of Glencoe, said: a case of sore head with Chatham. Of course I wasn't going to referee the contest just the way they wanted it. They wanted everything their own way, as usual. Any man who says I was partial in allowing either of Glencoe's goals is a liar." Hon. President Robt. Gray, of the Chathams, said: "I think the club made the mistake in going to Glencoe at all for the deciding match, and at all for the deciding match, and should have demanded neutral grounds. I regret the trouble very much, but am glad the Chatham elub was not guilty of any such conduct as reported."

The action of the heart and stomach are both controlled by the same great nerves, the sympathetic and pneum-gastric and when the stomach fails to properly digest the food and it lies in in the stomach fermenting, gases are formed, which distend the organ causing pressure on the heart and lungs, causing palpitation, irregularity and shortness of breath.

The danger from this condition is that the continued disturbance of the heart sooner or later may cause real field and declined to play further. Manager Laurie, however called the Maple City boys back and urged them to continue the contest, stating that he would report the remarkable decisions to the League. Dewar saw he had gone too far and no penalty kick was given, Cook kicking the ball out amid field. By this time the crowd was in possession of the field and to the end of the game pelted and jostled the Chatham players, who were given no opportunity to play. The score, according to Referee Dewar's catculation, stands 2 to 1 in favor of Glencoe. From the field to the hotel, returning, the Chathamates were deluged with mud and ugly epithets.

Of the game itself little can be said. At the opening the visitors were strongly on the aggressive, but after half-time the interference of the crowd and erratic rulings of the referee caused frequent and unpleasant to terrustions, and comparatively lit-

I guess they've found out now whether Glencoe is loyal to her team or not and they're lucky to get off as well as they did. Their roughness when the Glencoes were in Chatham was the cause of all the trouble. Another thing, if Dewar was one-sided as referee it wasn't our fault. And you can't blame us if the League appointed him. We'd just as soon have had Wm. Govenlock, of London."

Manager Laurie, of the Chatham team, said: "I'm indeed sorry to say it, but the game was a straight steal and I told Referee Dewar so while the struggle was in progress. The Lord's Day Alliance and its The Forces Which are Working

Rev. Mr. Shearer Says it has Been Mis represented-Wishes Only to Pre-

Rev. J. G. Shearer, of Toronto, or ganizer for the Lord's Day Alliance, has been in Chatham the past two or three days and occupied the pulpit of St. Andrew's yesterday morning and of Park street Methodist church last evening. A few days ago an article appeared in Saturday Night, part of which article was copied into The Planet. To this article Mr. Shearer takes strong exception. The gist of it was that the Lord's Day Alliance started out with the laudable inten-tion of securing for every man one day of rest in seven. But not satis-fied with that it now wanted to dic-tate to the people how they were to spend that day.

"I do not agree with that statement of the Ailiance platform at all," said Mr. Shearer to The Planet. "Saturda Night assumed things which were not correct, and then proceeded to comment upon them.

The Alliance believed that the Lord's Day is a Divine institution, and that he only sure foundation upon which he enjoyment of its benefits can rest, the enjoyment of its benefits can rest, is a strong conviction on the part of the people of its sacred character. Inroads on Our Day of

Sermon and Address by Rev. J. C. Shearer on Lord's Day Alliance Subjects. -

Rev. J. G. Shearer preached yesterday morning in St. Andrew's Church Rev. Dr. Battisby conducting the service. Mr. Shearer's subject was, "Our Imperilled Canadian Sabbath." The forces that are making inroads on our rest day enumerate

1. Irreligion, which in Canada to-day as truly as in France in the Hays of Voltaire and the revolution hates everything founded on the Bible and associated with the name of Christ and hates therefore the Lord's day because it is His day. The irreligious, the immoral—all the lowest elements in society are ever thus ready to break down the defences of the Sabbath.

The greed of gain, which is ready to break down the defences of the Sabbath.

2. The greed of gain, which is ready to sacrifice alike the national well-being, the Christian life of the family, the industrial liberty of the toiling masses and the success and prosperity of the Church of Christ in order to make money. Hence it is ever seeking the right to encroach on the sacred hours of the Lord's day in business labor, etc.

hours of the Lord's day in businesses.

3. The lust of pleasure on the part of the masses which is just as selfish as the greed of grain and influences a much larger number of people.

He showed how these things defend their inroads on the Sabbath hours by claiming that anything that is a public convenience or commercially necessary ought to be allowed as well as works of necessity and mercy even though they involve the doing of much unnecessary work, the robbing of workingmen of their rest day and the breaking of the law of God, Enumerated among the forms of business and labor that to his personal knowledge had in Ontario been already introduced on these excuses were as follows:

Local passenger and freight traffic. Often butcher and grocery stores.

Ice cream parlors Soda water fountains. Tobacco stores.

Barber shops. General dentistries Photographhy. Sunday excursions. Theatres and sports.

The Sunday newspaper.
The bar-room with the back door ajar.
A calcuim-carbide factories. Paper mills.
A glucosefactory. Coopering.

Blacksmith shops.

Many other industries. Mr. Shearer pointed out with telling sarcasm that if these plausible but mischievous and insidious these plausible but mischievous and commercial necespointed out with tending pleas of convenience and commercial necessity which is simply the desire to make more money than can be made in six days of the week are admitted in anyone thing logic will compel us to admit all such things as he had enumerated as existing now on the Sabbath. He spoke also of the defective state of the law for the protection of the rest day which has been interpreted by the courts as not applying to corporationand only to certain classes of persons and closed with a strong appeal to all Christian people to stand together in defence of the Lord's day thus so sorely threatened.

THE MASS MEETING.

THE MASS MEETING.

There was a large and interested There was a large and interested audience in the evening in the Park Street Church to hear Mr. Shearer's address on "What we have we'll hold," which he said might fairly be said to represent the attitude of the Lord's Day a liance regarding the Lord's Day a liance regarding the Lord's Day are not on the aggressive, but on Day A hance regarding the Lord's Day. We are not on the aggressive, but on the defensive, We are sometimes accused of being unscrupulous opponents, of desiring to re-enact the blue laws of New England, but have no such purpose or desire. We do, however, desire to keep our hold on what we have of Lord's Day, rest and quiet. we have of Lord's Day, rest and quiet. We do not dysire to invade the sacred sphere of personal liberty by legal restraint, or to coerce to religious observance and will try by example and precept and other persuasive influence to induce all to so observe it but by law we desire only to secure to all the liberty to rest and the opportunity to worship God as conscience may direct. He instanced the application of some 80 employees of the Mines Copper Co., of Algoma, for protection against the tyranny of their employers, who are seeking to force them to work against their conscientious convictions. The Aliance is now taking action to stand by these men in the empoyment of their rights and liberties.

He spoke of the exceedingly encoun liberties.

He spoke of the exceedingly encouraging outlook of the Alliance at the present time, saying there was a manifest turning of public opinion in favor of its objects and work, that large numbers of prominent men in all walks of life, were identifying them selves with it, that the press, excepting a very small minority, was lending its powerful influence to forward the work. Of course there were a few such papers as the Toronto World and Saturday Night, and the Flaneur column in the Mail, which never let an opportunity slap of opposing, critical states of the Alliance, and an opportunity slip of opposing, criti-cising and maligning the Alliance, and an opportunity said of opposing, cising and maligning the Alliance, and most other good causes; but this was rather a cause for encouragement than otherwise. To receive aught else but opposition from such a source would be the severest kind of condemnation. The Flaneur had lately accusing the Alliance of maintaining secrecy regarding its finances and sought thus to stab it in the dark, whereas the facts were that it submitted a full detailed statement of receipts and expenditures, printed this and its annual report and freely circulated. This is nevertheless a specused of the false and unfair criticism to which such writers subject the alliance.

He was glad to say that the laboring He was glad to say that the laboring men were recognizing that the Alliance was their best friend, and were rallying to its support, sometimes, as in Kingston, attending its meetings in a body, and in every way seeking to advance its interests. So also in St. Catharines and other centres in Ontario and in British Columbia they are recognizing the importance of the Lord's Day to their interests as laboring men. He went on to speak of the rapid growth of the Alliance. Its branches have grown from 67 to 110 during last year and its membership has reached 5,000, which would soon be doubted. It was now out of debt,

A Revolutionary Spy.

Enoch Crosby, who is generally believed to be the original of Harvey Birch, the hero of Cooper's famous novel, was born at Harwich, Mass., Jan. 4, 1750,

When the Revolution was fairly begun, the colony of New York organized a "provincial congress," which was the cognized government. A committee of safety was appointed, consisting of John Jay, Zethaniah Platt, William Duer and John Sackett, whose daty it was to ounteract the plans and intrigues of the Tories, who abounded and embraced many men of high standing and influence. Resolving to enter again the service of his country, Crosby shouldered his knap-sack and took his way to the beadquarters of the American army.

While on his lonely walk through Westchester county he fell in with a Tory, who supposed Crosby to be one also, on his way to join the British, and the stranger cautioned him as to the dangers of the way, "as rebels were on the alert." Crosby, with affected concern. inquired what course would be best to ursue and was advised to go with him to his home and go down to the British with a company then forming. Seeing in this a very favorable opportunity to strike a blow for his country, he accepted the invitation and was soon introduced to a number of men who were bitterly hostile to the friends of liberty.

In three days he had made himself master of all the information they could communicate, and pretending to be impatient to join the enemy and despite many warnings he took his leave and was soon out of sight on the road to New York. Hastening as quickly as possible to the house of a Mr. Young, a well known patriot, they went together to White Plains, where the committee of safety was then sitting, and were soon in the presence of Judge John Jay and his associates. Crosby was instructed to go as guide to a company of rangers, and the result was that the whole of the Tory gang were arrested.

Judge Jay, seeing his peculiar ability, urged him to serve his country as a secret agent, and to this he agreed, only stipulating that in case of his death they should do justice to his memory. He received a pass, which he was instructed never to show except in a case of dire necessity. In any battle or skirmish he was to run the risk of being killed or wounded, but it was expressly understood that if he was taken prisoner the committee would furnish means for his escape. His real adventures would make volume far larger than the famous novel that purports to relate them.

Equipped with a peddler's pack containing a complete set of shoemaker's tools he sallied out on his dangerous mistools have been sallied out on his dangerous mis tools he sallied out on his dangerous mis-sion and soon found a company of Tories about to join the British and resolved to be one of them. Gaining the confidence of the leader, he was conducted to the hiding place of the company, which was in the interior of an improved havetach in the interior of an immense haystack. While the rest were asleep Crosby has-tened to White Plains and, informing the committee, returned immediately be fore his comrades had learned of his absence. The result was the capture of the sence. The result was the capture of the estire company, Crosby among the rest. After examination the prisoners were returned to the church in Fishkill, which was their temporary prison, but Crosby was secretly informed that a certain window was left unfactored. dow was left unfastened. As soon as darkness came he availed himself of his information, leaped from the window, and, although fired upon by the sentinels, he was again at large in a region where he knew the roads perfectly.

Captain Townsend, who commanded pany that captured him, was much chagrined at his escape, as he was considered by all except the committee a considered by all except the committee a very dangerous Tory. His next explois was the discovery of another company, which was recruited by a British officer and had their rendezvous in the high-lands on the west of the Hudson river. He seen found means to send word to the lands on the west of the Hudson fvel. He soon found means to send word to the committee, who quickly dispatched Captain Townsend with his company of rangers. In the skirmish that ensued the whole band was captured, and Captain whole band was captured, and Captain Townsend was overjoyed to find among them the prisoner who had escaped him at Fishkill. "Well met, old comrade," at Fishkill. "Well met, old comrade," said Townsend, with a smile of triumph. "You showed us a light pair of heels at Fishkill, but if I do not see them made heavy this time may I never be a major."

Mr. Duer, one of the committee, who was present, inquired innocently, "Who is he?" "Enoch, the patriarch," returned Townsend, "who disappeared from ed Townsend, "who disappeared from the church at Fishkill almost as myste-riously as his ancient namesake did from

Crosby and all the rest were taken to Fishkill, but while the others were confined in the church Crosby was taken to fined in the church Crosby was taken to a house where Captain Townsend had his quarters and who was fully determin-ed that he should not escape again and, to make sure, had him confined in a room strongly fastened, with a guard at the door. The committee were at first in doubt how to effect his except but finelly doubt how to effect his escape, but finally doubt how to effect his escape, but finally they procured a quantity of laudanum, and this having been mixed with a suitable quantity of New England rum and molasses the guard was liberally treated with the mixture. Its effect was soon apparent, the door was carefully unlocked, and Enoch Crosby was soon at large with fresh instructions.

When morning came, and Captain Townsend came early, eager to conduct his prisoner to condign plunishment, what was his amazement to find the room empty and the prisoner flown! The guard was questioned; but, like the soldiers who guarded St. Peter, they "could tell nothing," and finally, after long debate, it was concluded that he must have erawled up the chimney. His numerous escapes finally made the Tories suspicious, and an attempt was made to aspicious, and an attempt was made to assassinate him, which came near being successful-Exchange#

SOME LONDON VINEYARDS.

ellars in Which Wine Pakirs Predu

To-day is the day of the wine fakir, says the London Lally Mail. and his concoctions so vinainhever before, too, have his prouts been | more satisfactory. ong as there is a demand for full-bodied "Burgundies" and "clarets" say, bs a dozen, that demand will be supplied.

There is a vast difference between fabricated and adulterated wine. The latter is generally pretty easy to deal with. Fabricated wine far more dimcult of detection.

Here we have a concoction of more or less chemical nature, which is designed with the express idea of closely imitating the genuine wine in color, "bouquet" and taste. favorite fabrication consists of 90 per cent. of water, 51/2 per cent. of alcohol and 41/2 per cent. of tannin The two latter ingredients are obtained from the cheapest form of im ported raisins.

Very frequently these "raisins" consist of squeezed grape husks which have already done genuine ser-vice in some French wine press. They cost next to nothing to import, are refermented here in England, and their "juice" is eked out with the aid of tartaric acid and molasses. Consequently their maker is enabled to sell his concoction at the ridiculously low price of about 1s 2d. per gallon and at the same time to make an excellent profit upon the transac-tion. Much of his beverage first. the light in or near Lon-

The retailer sells it again at about 2s 6d per gallon; or, if bottled and beautifully sealed and cobwebbed, at the considerably enhanced price of, say, sixpence per pint bottle-"Our famous 6s claret." A particularly pungent revelation of the beauties of certain British "light wines" was afforded the Food Preservatives Committee by Professor W. H. Corfield. This scientist, who is consulting sanitary adviser to H. M. Office of Works, stated that he commonly found salicylic acid in these "vintages," Salicylic acid, added he, for the benefit of his non-scientific hearers, was a slightly acrid, irritating substance which was much in demand among afflicted people as a .corn solvent. A fabricated sherry, which can be sold at a good prout for 1s a bottle, is prepared from eider—and more obnoxious things. 'Cham-pagne,' which is also better left untouched, is prepared by the wily fab-ricator Whatever the shortcomings of the British wine fakir, and they are many, it is certain , that for sheer audacity he must yield the palm to his Teutonic compositors. In the city of Hamburg alone it is possible to purchase imitations of practically every wine and spirit under the sun at prices before which the British wine fakir must stand aghast.

With spirits, however, the palate is a better guide. A British East Indian house was recently offered by Hamburg exporters whisky at 2s 1.14d per dozen case, and brandy at 3s 10d. This is the sort of poison of which Germany annually supplies upward of a million's worth to the Niger Coast Protectorate. liquer is the most villainous potato spirit, carefully disguised by strong essences and sham labels. France is not less culpable. only produces about 40,000 hectolitres of genuine French Brandy, yet she exports about 280,000 hectolitres in / addition to the 2,000,000 consumed in her own land. During the past few months, however, the consumer of alcohol has been brought face to face with yet another fearful source for his favor-ite beverage. Thanks to the energe-tic researches of Dr. Simonsen, of Christiania, it is now possible to produce alcohol from both paper and sawdust.

Colors for Medicine Bottles.

The use of colored glass for bot tles has recently been investigated by H. J. Moller, of Copenhagen, and in an article lately published by the German Pharmaceutical Society he describes the proper colors for bot-tles which are to contain medicines, liquors and other substances. In order to secure protection for the cor tents from the chemical action of the light a glass of dark color is used, and the best for this purpose are black (opaque), red, orange and dark yellowish brown. in the matter of protection stand light brownish yellow, dark green that is without a bluish tint and dark brownish green, while bliefsh green, violet, milky, bligsh and colorless glass offer but little protection from the actinic rays of sunlight. For preserving beer and liquors a glass of dark yel lowish brown or dark brownish yelow is the best.

The Fashionable Colors.

Green is undoubted one of the most fashionable colors in millinery, particularly in medium and dark shades, with a touch of gray in brown in all shades, and deep-toned gray is popular with young and old dike. Castor is among the novelties, trimming, and occasionally for making toques, which are tastefully drap-ed with lace.

Too Large a Bite.

Manchuria being about 800 mfles one way and 500 the other, it is no wonder the Russian bear denies having swallowed it at the first gulp. At least two bites at a cherry of that magnitude are to be looked for, and perhaps several more, but there is little doubt that the robust animal will worry it down sooner or later,

Mrs. T. Johnson One of the Perils of Hunting In Out in Colorado there are a great many rich ores that present the gold in certain chemical combinations which nothing but cyanide will break down and liberate the elemental gold. Under such conditions the prospector has to be somewhat more of a mineralogist than when his search is confined to placer, quartz and gravel gold. In at the back of Pike's peak there was a camp of half a dozen prospectors, for they had found a good line of country rock and were working out in all directions. I regret to say that very many of these adventurous miners are heavy ge to work. The only remedy the dome is Dr. Coderre's Red Pill cannot praise too highly." Mrs. T. Well, he brought back a deer that day, and they cooked it and had it reads for dinner when the others got it reats for dinner when the others got back. That venison went just to the right spot, and the camp unanimously agreed to this man's being authorized to keep them supplied with fresh meat. Powley's Liquified Ozone Makes Astounding Cures. Germs of Disease.

THE STORY OF ROBT. E. FLEMING, ESQ.

Powley's Liquified Ozone kills disease germs. This is the only natural way to treat sickness, because all sickness is caused by germs. Now this seems very simple, yet it is absolutely to be relied upon. Powley's LIQUIFIED OZONE is liquified oxygen, a standard preparation. It is not a patent medicine. The most responsible people in Canada have endorsed it and are recommending it. You can verify every testimonial published for Powley's Liquified Ozone.

Isn't that a satisfactory guarantee?

Mr. ROBERT E. FLEMING, 227 George Street, Toronto, formerly connected with the S. H. Ewing & Sons Co., of Montreal, cork dealers, has this to say: "Some fifteen months ago a friend spoke to me about Ozone and I have truly thanked him for it ever since. I have suffered all my life from indigestion, weak stomach, bilious headaches and poor, thirr, watery blood. Some years ago, in fact when a young boy, I had bilious headaches once and twice a week, and later on in life always had two severe attacks twice a month. I despaired of ever getting any relief or permanent cure. Fifteen months ago I had a severe attack of Kidney Trouble, suffering with pains in my back, my blood being in a miserable condition. I was weak, had a poor appetite and found it hard to get a good night's rest, had no pleasure in attending to my daily business, in fact, getting up in the morning was no pleasure; always wanted to lie in bed. So I began taking Ozone four times a day, and after using a few bottles I found a decided improvement, but always thought that I would suffer with bilious headaches and weak stomach for the rest of my natural life. After using four bottles I found I was entirely cured of kidney troubles, and after using a few more bottles I found that my stomach was strong and that my bilious headaches were leaving me, and my blood was pure. I can faithfully say that the present moment I am permanently cured and gaining solid flesh and muscle rapidly. I take the liberty of presenting to you this, my testimonial, that others may see and profit thereby, if suffering as I was. Believe me, very truly yours. (Signed) the meat jammed full of gold chlorides. That made everything plain. Instead of
