MONEY TO MARRY

Groom Kept Marriage License for Five Years and then Wedded Woman of his Choice.

Windsor, Aug. 5.—William Williams, of Chatham, took out a license at Detroit five years ago to marry his sweetheart, Diva Wilson, of Chatham. After securing the license the youthful candidate for matrimony discovered that a little money was needed in order to go to home-keeping, so it was finally decided to postpone the wedding. The young couple, however, remained constant and on Saturday came to Detroit and had the nuptial knot tied by Justice Lempus at the city hall. The groom gave his age as 24, while the bride is four years his senior.

Band concert at Bond Eau, every Tuesday and Friday night, leaving Chatham at 7.15 p. m. Fare 25¢. 24th Regt. Band.

AERIAL TRIP SURE THING

Successful Experiments of the Inventor, M. Santos-Dumont.

Can Guide his Balloon Where he Pleases and can Outdo the Birds in his Flight Through the air.

New York, Aug. 5.—The Herald publishes a dispatch from Paris to the effect that if any doubt still lingered as to the perfect "steerability" of M. Santos-Dumont's balloon it must have been dispelled by the latest ascension.

When about 150 metres up in the air Dumont discovered that a too zealous workman had secured the knot which governs the plane of direction of his airship. Before he could liberate this cord, as the guide-rope was catching in the trees of the Bois de Boulogne, he had to sacrifice all his ballast to get clear of the tree tops. Under such conditions he did not care to venture over Paris, where a descent might have become unavoidable, owing to the lack of ballast. These little drawbacks, however, are of minor importance, and simply delayed the official attempt to win Deutsche's prize.

What M. Santos-Dumont has achieved is in itself quite sufficient to convince the most skeptical that he is absolutely master of his direction while in the air.

Starting at the Parc d'Aeronautique in Saint Cloud at 12 minutes after 4 in the afternoon the balloon, after a journey above the Bois de Boulogne in the direction of the Eiffel tower, turned as obediently as a yacht answering its helm, and came back to the Parc at a fair speed, following an undulating course as though it was marked by a visible straight line.

There was only the faintest of breezes, it is true, but it was blowing against the balloon. It was so unimpairedly independent of any air current, favorable or unfavorable, that the spectators seemed to awake to a full appreciation of M. Santos-Dumont's triumphant solution of the problem of aerial navigation and greeted him on his return with a hearty burst of applause.

No public announcement was made of the ascension, so the crowd was not great. Among the onlookers were: Prince Roland Bonaparte, Marquis de Dion, Comte Henry de la Vaulx, Vicomte de Casseloup-Loubat, Comte d'Antichamp, M. Georges Besancon, M. Emmanuel Arne, M. Wilfred de Fonvielle, M. Callect and Mme. Deucelle and children.

Paris, Aug. 5.—Another attempt was to have been made to-day by Santos-Dumont to win the prize of 100,000 francs offered by Deutsche for the aeronaut who should sail his flying machine from the Aero club grounds at Surmes, around the Eiffel tower and back within a half hour, but the journey was prevented by a strong wind.

DOWAGER EMPRESS OF GERMANY CALLED TO HER REST

The End was Unexpectedly Sudden—King Edward Hears the News of his Sister's Death and Will Start for Berlin To-Morrow.

Cronberg, Aug. 5.—Dowager Empress Frederick died at 6.15 p. m. The death of the Dowager Empress was somewhat unexpectedly sudden. At 4 o'clock her physicians reported no change in her condition. Emperor William and Her Majesty's other children were in the sick room most of the day. They were all round the bedside when the Dowager Empress passed away quietly. Professors Reubens and Spielhagen were also in the room. The flag on the castle was immediately half-masted.

Closely following the announcement of the death from the castle, the church bells were tolled and the flags half-masted. Visitors to the castle began inscribing their names in a book placed for the purpose in the hall. It is said that the immediate cause of death was dropsy, accompanying the cancer. The remarkable vitality of the Dowager Empress astonished her physicians. She retained consciousness to the end. The castle grounds are now surrounded by soldiers and patrolled by Hussars and mounted police.

Emperor William arrived at Homburg at a quarter after three o'clock this morning, and drove to the Homburg Castle. Thence, accompanied by the Empress and Crown Prince Frederick William, he proceeded to Friedrichshof, which he reached at 5.30 o'clock. At 8 o'clock this evening, Emperor William conducted the members of the Dowager Empress' household into the death chamber and led them one by one past the bedside to make a last farewell of their mistress.

The bulletin concerning the condition of the Dowager Empress, issued at 6.30 this morning, said: "The weakness of Empress Frederick is hourly increasing. The strength of the heart is still slight." The relatives of the dying Empress have been continually arriving here throughout the day, and a detachment of the One Hundred and Fifteenth Infantry has come from Homburg to do sentinel and patrol duty around the castle. By special decree of Dowager Empress Frederick, Dr. Waller, the English Chaplain of Homburg, has been summoned.

At 11.30 a. m., it was said there was She was fully conscious, and all her no change in the Empress' condition.

children, with the exception of Prince Henry, who is in Cadix, were assembled in the sick room. The eleventh company of the 80th Regiment of infantry, of which the Dowager Empress Frederick was honorary colonel, has been ordered here to do duty at the castle.

KING EDWARD HEARS THE SAD NEWS.

Cowes, Aug. 5.—King Edward received the official news of the death of the Dowager Empress Frederick on board the royal yacht. The yacht's flag was immediately half-masted. King Edward and Queen Alexandra will leave here for Marlborough House to-morrow. It is not likely they will start for Berlin until Wednesday, when they will sail on the royal yacht Osborne, Tuesday morning. The new royal yacht Victoria and Albert will accompany the Osborne. The usual regatta of Cowes' regatta week, which began to-day, are almost entirely absent. The projected dances have been effectually stopped. By royal order, no dancing of any kind will take place during the week. All the entertaining will consist in impromptu invitations to small concerts and dinners, issued an hour or two beforehand, owing to the hourly news expected from Cronberg.

THE NEWS IN LONDON.

London, Aug. 5.—The news of the death of the Dowager Empress Frederick spread slowly in London. The press gave Buckingham Palace, Marlborough House and the Mansion House the first information that Her Majesty was passing away, at all members of the royal family and many of the officials were out of town for the holidays.

Her Imperial Majesty Victoria Adelaide Marie Louise, Princess Royal of England, Empress Frederick of Germany, was born Nov. 21, 1840, and was married Jan. 25, 1858, to Frederick, Crown Prince of Prussia, afterwards (March 10, 1888) second German Emperor, who died June 15, 1888, and has issue four sons (two deceased), the eldest, William, the present German Emperor, and four daughters.

FLAGS AT HALF-MAST.

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—The following was given out by Secretary of State to-night:—"His Excellency the Governor-General has heard with the deepest regret of the death of Her Imperial Majesty the Empress Frederick, Princess Royal of Great Britain and Ireland. Officials in charge of Government buildings are directed to half-mast all flags on them, and it is expected that a similar mark of respect will be paid to her memory by half-masting the flags on all public buildings. (Signed) R. W. Scott, Secretary of State."

FEARFUL EXPLOSION KILLS MANY AT PHILADELPHIA

Five Large Buildings Completely Wrecked—Fire Adds to the Horror—Many Injured Taken From the Ruins—Search
Among the Debris.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 5.—A terrible explosion in a block of six buildings on Locust street, above Tenth, to-night completely wrecked five of the structures and caused the death of from 10 or 20 or more persons. Over two score of others were more or less seriously injured. Some of those taken to the hospital will die. It is estimated that at least 35 persons were in the five buildings when the explosion occurred, and the exact number will probably not be known for 24 hours.

The buildings were occupied as follows: Locust street—No. 1,008, Houseman's pool and billiard rooms; 1,010, Morris Rosenthal's second-hand clothing store, occupied by Rosenthal, his wife and five children; No. 1,002, Wm. Jones (colored), restaurant, occupied by Jones and about ten boarders; No. 1,004, Geo. McLemmy's grocery store, occupied by McLemmy, clerk and servant girl; No. 1,006, Patrick Quigley's grocery store, occupied by Quigley, his wife, three children and his uncle; No. 1,008, Albert Mountain's grocery and meat store, occupied by Mountain, his mother, sister and clerk.

The explosion occurred about 9.30 o'clock. What exploded and how it happened is not known at this time, but it is believed to have been a barrel of gasoline in one of the grocery stores. With the exception of 1,008, the iron walls of the buildings were blown outward to the street, while the floors and roofs upwards were blown upward and fell straight to the ground. Almost every building within a radius of two blocks about the scene of the explosion had windows shattered and were otherwise damaged. Every building on the opposite side of Locust street was more or less wrecked, but none of them fell. A terrible cry went up from the ruins the moment the explosion occurred. Women, children and men could be seen crawling from the debris, while the agonizing cries of others were heard in the wreckage. From all the surrounding buildings people came rushing and fell unconscious. To add to the horror, fire broke out in the debris the moment it settled to the ground, and in less than five minutes the great pile was burning fiercely from end to end. A general alarm was turned in for fire apparatus and ambulances, and in the meantime work of rescue was voluntarily begun by people in the neighborhood that were not injured.

The work of digging away the ruins was then begun in earnest. Near the edge of the debris several colored men were taken out and sent to the hospitals. While the firemen and policemen were digging into the debris and hauling away heavy timbers in several sections of the wreckage, cries were heard coming from the cellar of Mountain's grocery store. Fifty men, with rope and tackle, were immediately put to work at that point and pulled away the roof and flooring which had fallen into a massed heap. From the bottom of the pile, doubled up, were taken a man and woman. The man was able to speak, but the woman was apparently dead.

While the work of rescue was going on in the exploded block hospital attendants and others made a search of all the damaged houses on the opposite side, and almost a score of persons were taken to various hospitals from these places. The Jefferson and the Pennsylvania hospitals were soon crowded with the injured. None of those taken to the hospitals have died up to midnight. Two hundred men are now at work clearing away the wreckage. The buildings containing the pool rooms, clothing store and the restaurant were three-story brick structures, while the other three buildings were two and a-half stories.

Philadelphia, Aug. 5.—At 1.30 a. m. the only known deaths are those at the hospitals that of an unknown-colored woman and a two-year-old colored child. At the Pennsylvania five of the patients will, it is thought, die before daylight. These are two colored women, one colored man and two colored children. These unfortunate are so badly injured and undergoing such severe suffering that their names could not be obtained. Others at the various hospitals will also die. Among these is Samuel Gale, aged 40, white, and his daughter, Florence Gale, aged 20. Both are badly burned in addition to other injuries. Of the Rosenthal family, Minnie, aged 12, was taken from the ruins seriously injured, and will die.

CONVOY CAPTURED

Seventy Boer Wagons Fall Into British
Hands Near Boshoff, O. R. C.

Blomfontein, Orange River Colony, Aug. 4.—Commandant Froese, son of the Commandant Froese, who, it is alleged, shot a peace envoy named Morendel, has been killed near Winburg after an exciting chase. Most important papers were found in his pockets.

The British have captured a Boer convoy of seventy wagons near Boshoff, Orange River Colony.

Cape Town, Aug. 5.—The authorities are enforcing stringent regulations regarding travelling. The latest order is that passengers will not be allowed to travel beyond Durban road without permits.

SOME HOPE FOR PEACE

There is a Slight Chance of Big
Steel Strike Being Soon Ended.

But President Shaffer Does Not Expect that This Will Happen—General Strike to Follow.

Martins Ferry, O., Aug. 5.—Walter Larkins, vice-president of the Amalgamated Association, says:—

"President Shaffer dominates everything in the United States Steel Corporation. He told Mr. Morgan at arm's length throughout the conference, interrupted him when he attempted to make suggestions and overruled his proposals. As Mr. Larkins believes the fight will be long and hard.

Pittsburg, Pa., August 5.—Just a glimmer of hope that the great steel worker's strike will be settled was embodied in a statement given out by President Shaffer, of the Amalgamated Association, to-night. When asked if he would pursue the same policy in ordering a strike in the mills of the Federal Steel, the National Steel, and the National Tube Companies as he did in calling out the men of the mills of the American Tin Plate Co., he replied:—

"If it had not been for this determination on my part, the general strike would have been ordered on Saturday night."

Before calling out the tinworkers, and after failing to get any satisfaction from the officials of the American Sheet Steel and American Steel Hoop Co.'s, President Shaffer sent a telegram to Vice-President Warner Arms, of the American Tin Plate Co., notifying him that under the constitution of the Amalgamated Association he would be obliged to call out the tinworkers in all of the mills owned by the United States Steel corporation unless the difficulty was settled within a period of ten days. As a result of this notice Mr. Arms succeeded in getting together another conference and a vain attempt was made to settle the dispute and prevent a strike, which would involve the tin mills. That conference was the one that broke up in the Hotel Lincoln three weeks ago last Saturday.

ORDER MAY BE DELAYED

In order to be equally fair to the other constituent companies of the United States Steel corporation, President Shaffer has sent a similar notice to the officers of the Federal Steel Co., giving them the same time in which to make any effort they may desire to bring about a settlement or he will put in force this same clause in the Amalgamated Association constitution. It is presumed that the delay in issuing the general order will be at least until the end of the present week. Possibly it will not be issued until early next week. In the meantime the men in the mills of these three companies will be prepared to come out when the strike order is issued.

The possibility of a settlement of the strike is based on the bare hope that the officials of the three additional companies will bring to bear sufficient influence to urge an adjustment of the difficulties before the strike order is issued. President Shaffer did not express any hope that this would be done, nor even discuss the matter, but the inference was quickly seen that there was such a probability in sight. It is a faint one, though, and but little interest was taken in it in the general offices of the association to-day.

MUST HAVE GATES.

The accident which befell young Mr. Harry Massey yesterday, will surely be the means of stirring up the authorities sufficiently to secure the long needed gates at the railroad crossings throughout our city.

Repeatedly these unprotected crossings have proved the scene of fatality and injury. Repeatedly the immediate putting in of gates has been discussed. Repeatedly has nothing been done.

It is time for action in this matter. There is no necessity for more talking about it. There has been plenty of that already. And the City Council should take the initiative.

Let us secure proper protection at once—ere other, and, perhaps, far more serious, accidents are chronicled.

CARRY IT THROUGH.

Yesterday the local cricket club sustained their first defeat, and at the hands of a team they had previously easily vanquished this season.

The defeat should in no way prevent the proposed tour. It will be only an incentive to more diligent practice and preparation. It will do good.

The meeting last evening was very encouraging, and plans assumed definite shape. There should be no hanging back. There will be none. The cricketers have earned their right to tour. Give it to them enthusiastically and liberally.

And to the team it must be a case of earnest and systematic practice. Success can only be attained by faithful preparatory effort.

Our team can do it. And they will.

THE TELEPHONE A CIVILIZER.

By a strange paradox the great civilizing agency of the early ages was war, remarks the St. Thomas Times. This was because of the opportunities it gave and made for communication with other countries, and the broadening information gained through the incursions of large bodies of men into foreign territory—both giving and receiving much needed knowledge. This was especially true of the crusades, which were a long series of the most tragic and disastrous calamities that ever befell the world, and yet from them dates the advancement of the civilization of the western world.

When war has broken the bonds of barbarism, travel and commerce begin, human relationships are established and humanity commences its beneficent influence breaking the hardened soil that the seeds of Christianity may be sown. In the wake of armies by land and sea come the caravan, the pack train, the stage coach, and the merchant ship, then follow the railroad, the mail service, the telegraph, and the telephone. Each is a factor of increasing value and importance.

Civilization's latest acquired territory will be the home of its most rapid conquests. China is already possessed of a dominant civilization, peculiar to itself, which has stamped upon the ruling classes a remarkable and powerful intellectuality, and now when the latest development of the world-propelling forces, the telephone, the telegraph and the railroad are placed in its hands it will advance by a stride in a year, to the height toward which the world has crept for a hundred years.

The Chinese voice and speech is said to be wonderfully adapted to the telephone. Chinatown in San Francisco has its own telephone system with two hundred and seventy subscribers and the prospect of doubling its list soon. In fact the telephone has become popular with John Chinaman of San Francisco, and, as soon as peace is assured in China, he will himself introduce it at home. There is nothing so potent to compel attention as the human voice, and when Wu Ting Fang and his fellows can let their voices be heard from city to city and province to province, from the sea to the Great Wall, China will have yielded to modern civilization and the telephone will have been the conqueror.

DAN SPEAKS OUT.

Under the heading "How the Reform party is Queered," the Goderich Signal, Liberal, says:—"How in the name of common sense is the rank and file of the Liberal party in Ontario to keep its feet if alleged leaders of the party will insist upon doing foolish things which are bound to act to its detriment. It is difficult enough for the rural constituencies to keep the party in power without having Cabinet Ministers furnishing powder and ball to the enemy; and yet it would seem that some of our Cabinet Ministers think they can do as they please, and that none of their doings should be questioned. And right here we may inform these gentlemen that if they expect support from the Reform party they will need to be a little more circumspect in their doings. There are any number of Reform newspapers and thousands of Liberals who are not prepared to swallow the words and actions of some of the Ontario Cabinet Ministers and the sooner these gentlemen realize this fact and quit acting as if they were in a bed of roses the better. It will require all the grit and gumption of the Provincial Liberals to hold their own at the next election, and this is no time for Hon. John Dryden to go into Dakota ranching speculations, or for any of his associates in the cabinet to engage in other deals that may come up in judgment against the party at election time. The Signal wants the party to win at the next election, and there is no possibility of winning if the men who are looked upon as leaders are going to queer the party by actions which cannot be defended in the press or on the platform."

AMERICAN "PIPE" YARNS.

A week or so ago a sensational despatch appeared in the newspapers, stating that Great Britain was about to be confronted by a new peril, compared to which the South African war was but child's play, comments the Toronto News. To the experienced journalist the delightful vagueness of the report simply indicated that some correspondent was short of matter and had fallen back on a theme which has been worn threadbare in American journals, but which never seems to lose freshness for their readers. Many loyal Canadians, however, no doubt cast anxious glances round the political horizon to endeavor to see where the clouds of danger were gathering, and some of them have perhaps been nervously waiting for the danger to show itself. The sequel to the despatch appears, however, in this morning's papers, and effectually disposes of any cause for uneasiness.

The correspondent's gloomy foreboding rested altogether on the rumor that 70,000 troops were to be withdrawn from South Africa, and although this rumor had been denied by Mr. Brodie in the House of Commons, the ingenious newspaper man insisted on taking it for authentic news, and proceeded to weave about it one of those indefinite forecasts of disaster to England which are so eagerly swallowed by the public of New York. In his sequel the correspondent has no more to say than that there is danger of an attack by the Afghan monarch. We are surprised that he did not say by Russia.

The Indian peril is a periodical topic of the newspapers, but to make Afghanistan the aggressor is something new, and in the face of the statement of those who know the Asiatic situation, that the Afghans are aware that England only saves them from being overrun by Russia, is most absurd. It is useless, we suppose, to hope that American correspondents will ever cease to send these imaginary reports.

The Planet's new serial story, "The Undoing of a Double," is well worth reading. Begin with the opening chapters on Saturday.

August 20, the day of the Scotchmen's picnic, has been chosen as the day for the Rond Eau regatta. It should be a splendid one.

Mr. Dryden's Dakota enterprise is filling the Government papers with alarm. But none of these journals were at all startled when the ballot-stuffing frauds were revealed.—Mail and Empire.

The mystery which apparently surrounds the death of the unfortunate McLean should be carefully investigated by the authorities. If there is any ground for the theory of foul play a thorough examination should follow. If not, the suspicions should be definitely set at rest.

While a few places in Canada are talking of squandering a lot of money over York receptions, the general expression of the press is fairly sensible, and all poppycock tinsel trimmings are being discouraged. If York and his wife want to see a town let the mayor meet them with his carriage, and quietly show them the town. That is all there need be to it. If they like to take pot luck with the mayor for two or three days, all well and good, but there is no necessity for the citizens being put to 10 cents' expense.

THE GOAT AND CHEESE.

The Reason Riley Turns His Head When Pressing Hop's Door.

"Mr. Hop," said the young policeman, "I notice when Riley passes your door he turns his head toward the street."

"Well, I tell you," responded Herr Hop, "I think myself dot Riley was mad mit me."

"Why, I thought that your political feud was settled, and that he rode in your bus to the brewery picnic last year."

"Dis was alldoggedder something else, vonce! Because Riley rode mit me to le picnic is no excuse of he vud come and hit me mit a brick. By chimney, no! Last week der frau bought a cheese dot turned out not good. It was soft us molasses inside and a hard crust outside. I doid der frau to sit der cheese on der fence and mabe dot der air vud make ut hard vonce again."

"Well, adder der cheese had been up der for some time I saw dot goat of Riley's examine ut from der distance. Den he charge like der Kaiser's guard and went droun der cheese mit his head. Und den he vent back ofer der lots mit der cheese hanging like a grinding stone around his neck."

"Well, after supper I vent ofer to Riley's and doid him mit my blain English dot I wanted him to zettle der cheese, and I wanted him to zettle in a haste. Riley said I was a loafer, and ut I doidn't pay for der antiseptic soap and disinfective bowders dot he used to clean der goat he vud punch mien head. I doid him dot his goat was so stronk dot ut spoiled der cheese, und den I vent home. I hafn't met Riley since, but ven I do I vill drabble his face und bull mien fids out of his eyes after I hit him vone or two dimes."

"But what became of the goat, Mr. Hop?" inquired the young policeman.

"Der goat vas out on der lot," concluded Herr Hop, "und Riley feeds him mit a dwendy foot boke."

HE DIDN'T SUIT.

She was a vision fair to see,
And nothing could be cuter;
I felt she was impressed with me,
This pretty miss of high degree,
And quickly set about to be
Her earnest, ardent suitor.

But her response was firm and cold,
Yet I dared not dispute her;
And when my graces I extolled,
She said she thought me rude and bold,
And with much emphasis she told Me that I couldn't suit her.

One Useful Fly.

Flies are so seldom heroic that the story of how one of the "pesky things" saved for a Cincinnati business man his wallet and diamond stud is a many ways remarkable.

The time was early Thursday morning and the place was a smoking car of a Louisville and Nashville train which stood at the Tenth street station ready for the run to Cincinnati. The fly was dozing on the bald spot of the Cincinnati merchant's head. The man, who had been attending the races, was also tired and sound asleep. In his inside coat pocket was his wallet, containing all of his money. On his shirt-front a diamond glinted.

Suddenly the fly was aroused. He saw a man's hand working at the shirt stud. Not a moment was to be lost, he flew danced over the sleeping man's cheek in a vain endeavor to arouse him. The merchant only turned. The fly galloped over his chin and did a "stunt" in his ear. No response. In desperation he began a slow march up and down the nose of the man asleep. The merchant clutched wildly, struck the wrist of the pick-pocket and the next instant was awake. The burglar ran from the smoker and disappeared in the darkness.

The fly, like all true heroes, did not wait to receive the thanks of the man whom he had befriended, but flew away.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Tasmania's Jokes.

It's a real accomplishment to be able to take jokes jokingly. There's Tasmania, the island possession of England, which is regarded by the mother country much as New Yorkers, according to the comic papers, regard Philadelphia—that is, as slow, sedate, and possibly just a little bit behind the times. In the British Isles Tasmania is referred to usually as "the land of lots of time" and "the land of sleep a lot." The inhabitants are called "Tassies" and sometimes "jam-eaters," the latter being an allusion to the great fruit production of the island and the conversion of this fruit into jam. Tasmania pleasantly accepts all these good-natured jokes, and with a keen sense of humor she has just put out a series of postage stamps which are as big as the island is little. In fact, one man has said that these stamps take one man to hold and another man to look at.

GLUTTONY

Is more common than we may think, if we define gluttony as eating beyond the body's need of sustenance and beyond the stomach's capacity for digestion and assimilation of food. That is a fair definition, and it fastens the name gluttony on many a person who would resent the term as an insult. The fact of this gluttony is marked by its consequences. The overloaded stomach becomes diseased. The popular term for the condition is "weak" stomach. The "weak" stomach fails in furnishing adequate nutrition for the body, and soon the "weakness" spreads from the stomach to other organs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect assimilation of food, by which alone the health and strength of the body is maintained.

"Your medicine helped me so much that I cannot praise it too highly," writes Mrs. C. L. Brooks of Toledo, Mo. "The first dose I took helped me. I cannot forget how I felt when I took it; I was suffering every thing with indigestion, and my stomach was so bloated that it seemed as though it must burst. My husband said he was going for the doctor, but I said if he would get me a bottle of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' I would try that. I had not taken it long when I felt relieved, and have not had a touch of indigestion or stomach trouble since. I had been sick for four years and less than four bottles cured me. Some people that knew me before I began to take the 'Golden Medical Discovery' tell me that they never saw such a change in any one, and they also say they don't see how I can do such large washings as I do now, when I had not done a washing for so long."

HIS SCORED SUMMER DRESS

Pastor of a Grand Rapids Church Made his Swell Parishioners Feel Very Much Embarrassed.

Women Were Very Uncomfortable While Naughty Men only Smiled.

Grand Rapids, Aug. 5.—It was a hard fall which Rev. Fr. Schmitt, of St. Andrew's cathedral took out of the present style of summer dress for women at high mass Sunday morning, and his remarks are the talk of the big congregation. St. Andrew's is the swell parish of the city and ranks well up with the other churches of the city in the number of well-dressed people it contains and there are by no means different from their Protestant neighbors in dress. Consequently there were scores of women in the church yesterday morning who wore the dainty and cool garments which were so vigorously denounced from the pulpit.

Fr. Schmitt's talk was upon "Purity," and after dwelling at length upon the necessity of purity in the home, he said: "One way as well as others in which we should be pure is in our dress, and there is room for a great measure of reform in our present customs. It is natural in warm weather for people to don light clothing, but there is a fad just now for women to put just a piece of mosquito bar around certain parts of the body, and consider themselves dressed. It is a shame. When women dress this way they cause impure thoughts in the minds of men and are themselves to blame for it. I trust that the women of this parish will not allow themselves to be possessed of this fad."

As the priest started, women began to look at each other, and men smiled. There was much embarrassment, particularly for those who wore the fashionable light yokes.

MASHER AND THE LADY.

Amusing Bit of Diplomacy in Turning Gallantry to Practical Account.

Like all cities, Edinburgh has its mashears. They annoy the ladies often enough, but, as a rule, they are harmless fools, after all. Here is the latest little story of a masheer and a beautiful lady, told by the Scottish American.

A the Waverley Market one day a beauty arrived on foot. So did a masheer. He fixed his loving eyes upon her. She paid no attention to him. He persisted and vainly endeavored to engage her in conversation. Finally she purchased two big geraniums.

"Do you live far from here?" asked the dude.

The lady made no answer at first; but after an instant's reflection, prompted by the size of the geraniums and plants, and the necessity of employing a porter, she replied sweetly, "Great King street."

"Oh," exclaimed the masheer, "you can't carry such a burden so far! Allow me to help you."

She smiled, but in the language of the ducellists, instead of "abandoning him the choice" of pots, she pointed to both and smiled again. The masheer put a pot under each arm, and, equipped in this way, went off with the lady. When they came to Great King street she stopped, thanked the dude, and stretched out her beautiful little hands for the flower pots.

But the masheer politely insisted upon carrying them up to her house.

"The trouble is," said the lady, "I live on the top floor and there is no elevator."

"I would not be surprised if you told me that you lived away up in heaven. Angels live there," said the enthusiastic masheer.

"Well, come, then," said the lady, in the golden tones in which the divine Sarah in "Cleopatra" addressed her Tony.

So up they went until they came to the abode of the sorceresses. She rang the bell. Heavy footsteps were heard inside. The door was opened and a fine-looking man appeared.

"Allow me to introduce you to my husband, sir," said the lady. "My dear," she added, addressing her inferior portion, "this gentleman has been kind enough to carry these plants for me all the way from Waverley Market and up the stairs, too, as you see."

"Good enough," said the big fellow. Here, my man, her is a shilling. Go and get a drink."

The dude started down the stairs at a lively rate, and, as he was going down he could hear the ringing laugh of the lady and the hoarse "ha, ha!" of the happy husband.

The Deacon's Hope and Pride.

"Papa," remarked the boy thoughtfully, "the plate the minister holds when the collection is taken up in church is a gold plate, isn't it?"

The deacon absent-mindedly nodded his head.

"And the plate they give you to pass is nothing but wood?"

Again the deacon nodded.

"I guess they must know you, don't they?" asked the boy.

Here there was an interesting and exciting diversion, for it is not well to have a boy's bump of humor developed so rapidly.—Chicago Post.

NEW FACTORY

Like Hood that the Maple City will shortly be the Possessor of Large Sugar Beet Industry.

To-day representatives of large sugar beet manufacturing interests are in the city.

It is understood that the visit is made with a view to establishing a large factory in the Maple City, although nothing definite has yet been made public in view of the keen competition existing over the location of the works.

This afternoon, in company with Geo. Stephens, M. P., Wm. Ball, John Pigott, president of the city Board of Trade, and other prominent citizens a representative of the company is visiting various parts of the adjoining district to ascertain the possibilities of this soil for the growing of sugar beets.

If the decision be favorable it is likely that President Pigott will immediately call a meeting of the Board of Trade to enter into formal negotiations with the company.

A factory such as is mentioned would be a big acquisition to the Maple City.

Mr. Shaffer has not yet ordered a general strike of the Steel Trust employees, although he has served notice on the companies of his intention to do so.

Bills from A. Harbert, scavenger, and $229 from Blonde Bros. were ordered to be paid.

The Finance committee were authorized to advertise for tenders for sale of debentures.

Chairman King, of the Building committee, reports satisfactory progress in the building of new school house.

POTATO BUGS

The Sugar Beet Pests the same species that haunt the Vegetable.

This morning R. C. Burt received the following letter in response to enquiry concerning the sugar beet bug and specimens which he forwarded:—

Guelph, Aug. 2nd 1901.
R. C. Burt, Esq.,
Chatham, Ont.

Dear Sir:—Your letter and specimen of 20th ult. addressed to Dr. Mills have been handed to me. In the absence of Prof. Lechhead, I may say that the pest on your sugar beets is known as "the old-fashioned potato bug" (Epidemia vitæ). The insect preys upon many kinds of plants, but the potato and the beet are the chief sufferers. The beetles appear quite suddenly in large numbers and some species of insects are suddenly.

The eggs of this insect are laid on a plant or on the ground, from which hatch active little creatures with very long legs, prominent jaws and large heads. These are the larvae, which have power of existing without food for several days while hunting for grasshopper egg pods.

When such pods are found, their warblings are over, and the insects begin feeding at once. In this stage they are beneficial in so far as they feed upon the eggs of grasshoppers; but it is questionable whether this benefit outweighs the injury done as adults.

They remain over winter in the resting stage, and in spring or early summer, when suitable conditions occur, they assume the beetle stage.

As regards treatment, I would recommend adding a little lime to your Paris green solution, which will make the poison sticky, better, and also prevent any injury to the leaves.

Trusting this information may be satisfactory, I am
Very truly yours,
T. G. JARVIS, Ass't.

MUSIC IN THE PARK.

The second band concert of the season will be given by the Excelsior Band to-night in Tecumseh Park. The band has an excellent program in store for the citizens.

To-morrow the band runs an excursion to Port Stanley over the L. E. & D. R. R., the proceeds of which will be in aid of new instruments. ## SPED HOME

Frightened Horse Left Driver and Buggy on Victoria Ave., En Route

A very exciting runaway occurred on Victoria avenue yesterday afternoon.

A horse attached to a light buggy and owned by a young farmer in Chatham Township became frightened when passing McKernall's laundry and bolted down the avenue. When they reached the residence of William Wells the buggy struck a post and stopped, but the horse continued its journey down the street and out into the country.

The man who was in the rig at the time was thrown out but was not in the least the worse of his adventure. The buggy, however, was badly smashed.

When the farmer reached home that evening he found his horse waiting for him at the gate.

TOUR IS A GO

Cricketers Decide to Solicit Assistance for their trip—Will visit Toronto and Hamilton.

A meeting of the cricketers and cricket enthusiasts was held last evening in the drawing room of the Garner House with St. Perrin in the chair.

The names of the subscribers to the cricket tour fund were read and it was found that about $100 had been subscribed. It was discussed whether it would be advisable or not to have a couple of outsiders put on the team, such as Stuart, of Detroit, and Horstead.

It was decided that the secretary write to several outsiders to see if they could come on the trip, as a change of bowlers was needed. It was also decided that a thorough canvass of the King street merchants be made. The meeting was then adjourned till Saturday evening.

ST. THOMAS Business COLLEGE

The growth of this institution during the last two years has been wonderful. The attendance has been doubled on account of the thorough course of training which we give. One of our young men is now drawing a salary of $1,800 a year; another $1,000; others from $400 to $800. Within the last month two of our students have gone direct from the college to positions paying $500 a year. WE QUALIFY OUR STUDENTS TO FILL THE BEST POSITIONS.

Young people are foolish to spend the best part of their lives learning Latin, French and the dead languages, when a few months spent in our Commercial or Short-hand Department will fit them to earn salaries like the above.

Eighty-seven per cent. of all our students who have written on the examinations of the Business Education Association of Canada this year have been successful.

ROMANCE OF CHURCH CHOIR

Woes of an Elopement Couple in Chicago who Fled to Michigan.

Newspaper Man and Lady Organist Fall Victims to Cupid and Incidentally to Swindle too.

Chicago, Aug. 5. — A church choir romance in Chillicothe, O., an elopement to Chicago, and an encounter with swindlers, who got their money and left them stranded, are three chapters in the life story of John P. Brand, of Bellefontaine, O., and Miss Carrie V. Sleret, of Chillicothe.

Brand is the son of J. G. Brand, cashier of the Bellefontaine National Bank in Bellefontaine, O., and Miss Sleret is the daughter of a jeweler and optician in Chillicothe.

The swindlers into whose hands they fell and who swindled them by means of a "fake" divorce suit are Herman Ewald, now in the county jail, and a man who gave the name of Stacer.

The flight of Brand and Miss Sleret from Chillicothe has not been followed by detectives.

Brand's wife is Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand, state organizer for Indiana of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. She has not lived with Brand for several years and was not interested in his disappearance.

Miss Sleret's parents have been anxious to keep the elopement a secret, and have not followed their recalcitrant daughter.

Brand is employed as a proofreader on a Chicago paper, and had it not been for the trouble with the swindlers they might have remained hidden while Brand quietly obtained the divorce he wishes from his wife, when the pair could marry.

ROMANCE BEGAN IN CHURCH.
The romance began a year ago when Brand went to Chillicothe to edit a newspaper. There he joined the choir of the Congregational church. Miss Sleret was the organist. She is about 27.

The romance developed under the influence of choir rehearsals. The parents of Miss Sleret investigated. They learned that Brand was already married. They opposed the intimacy. Apparently the opposition of the parents had the usual effect, for Miss Sleret did not abandon Brand.

Her parents sent her to Chicago on June 1 in the hope of separating her from Brand. Brand boarded the same train as Miss Sleret and came to Chicago together.

One night Brand met a man, who gave the name of James H. Ewald, in a saloon. Under the mellowing influence of a few drinks, Brand told his troubles. Ewald saw an opportunity and, representing himself to be a lawyer, offered to get a divorce for Brand. The latter eagerly fell in, and advanced $200 to pay for the divorce. Ewald pretended to file a bill in the Superior Court, and kept Brand in hopes of a divorce until his money gave out. Then Ewald planned to secure Miss Sleret's jewelry.

SWINDLERS USED COURTS.
At this juncture Stacer, the confederate of Ewald, appeared. He swore out warrants for the arrest of Brand and Miss Sleret before Justice Davidson, of Melrose Park.

The warrants charged both with a statutory offense, and charged Brand in addition, with perjury in making affidavit to the effect that he had resided in the state a year.

The warrants were placed in the hands of Constable Peter Lager. The constable was not aware of the plot to obtain Miss Sleret's jewelry. Brand appealed to Lawyer Joseph R. Burres, who went on their bonds.

Stacer was beside himself with anger, and told the constable that he had missed a good thing because they had fixed it up with the justice that no one should be accepted on the prisoners' bonds but Stacer, who was to demand Miss Sleret's jewelry as security, and if it was secured, Ewald would advise his clients to leave the state, in which case the bonds would be forfeited.

PUT ON JUSTICE'S SHOES.
When Lawyer Burres and his clients reached Melrose Park on the day set for the trial, Justice Davidson's office was locked. His residence was found and his wife admitted he was at home. Mr. Burres insisted on seeing him, and was admitted to a back room where the justice was stretched out on a couch. He was without coat, vest and shoes, and when he asked Burres to consent to a continuance of the case, the lawyer was not to be put off, however. He took the justice's shoes and put them on his feet. He gave him his coat and vest, and helped him down to his office. There was nothing for the justice to do but dismiss the charge.

Ewald has been arrested, and is in the county jail. Brand and Miss Sleret went to South Haven, Mich., immediately after their discharge by Justice Davidson.

The Correct Population of Cities and Towns in the Northwest, located along the line of the Chicago & North-Western Railway, is shown in booklet just issued by that company. Copy may be obtained by sending stamp to W. B. Kalkern, 22 Fifth Ave., Chicago.

WONDERS OF THE NERVES.

Unmistakable Proof That Many Serious Nerve Disorders Result from the Nervous System—The Astonishing Success of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It is only in recent years that physicians have come to understand the nervous system, and to recognize that many diseases which affect the head, heart, lungs, stomach and other organs are due to an impoverished and exhausted condition of the nerves.

Over-work, worry, care, anxiety and severe mental strain are sure to be followed by headache, neuralgia, dizziness, sleeplessness, heart-trouble, indigestion, and serious functional disorders. Gradually the symptoms grow worse; pains and aches increase, and one organ after another gives evidence of derangement, until finally there comes collapse of the nerves and prostration or paralysis.

The family physician seldom gets at the cause of these ailments. He gives a powder for headache, some form of opium to cause sleep, or a stimulant to whip up the debilitated system. Such treatment is only of temporary benefit, and the trouble soon returns in an aggravated form. The tired brain, the worn-out nerves, the debilitated system must be nourished and built up before nature can have power to drive out disease. No prescription was ever filled that has done this so thoroughly as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. D. W. Crossberry, 168 Richmond street west, Toronto, Ont., states:

"My daughter, who sews in a white goods manufactory, got completely run down by the steady confinement and close attention required at her work. Her nerves were so exhausted, and she was so weak and debilitated that she had to give up work entirely, and was almost a victim of nervous prostration."

"Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, she began to use it, and was benefited from the very first. It proved an excellent remedy in restoring her to health and strength. After having used four boxes she is now at work again, healthy and happy, and attributes her recovery to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

It is only a few years since Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and now it is universally acknowledged by doctors, as well as others, to be of unsurpassed value as a thorough restorative for weakened and run-down systems and nerve-shattered bodies. It is possible that you have erred, as have many others, and used a wrong treatment. If you would be healthy and strong, use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food regularly and persistently, and it will make you so; 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Company, Toronto.

You can't prevent the sun from setting by stopping your clock.

"More haste, less speed," "hasen'ten slowly," are proverbs born of experience. Under the mellowing influence of a few drinks, Brand told his troubles. Ewald saw an opportunity and, representing himself to be a lawyer, offered to get a divorce for Brand. The latter eagerly fell in, and advanced $200 to pay for the divorce. Ewald pretended to file a bill in the Superior Court, and kept Brand in hopes of a divorce until his money gave out. Then Ewald planned to secure Miss Sleret's jewelry.

HUBBY'S TYPEWRITER

When Mrs. Tapes Was Introduced All Suspicion Vanished.

Mr. Arthur Tapes was showing Mrs. Arthur Tapes the wonders of mammoth's zoology in Wall street at the close of business on the day following the end of their wedding tour.

"Who are all these young ladies I see on the street?" asked Mrs. Tapes. "They are typewriters from the hundreds of offices around here," answered her husband.

That was all that was said on that phase of life in the "street" until Mr. Tapes and his bride were enjoying dinner in their cozy Harlem flat.

"Have you a typewriter?" she asked. "Yes, ma'am. He is busy with his typewriter in the next room," he answered, as he pointed with his left elbow to a partially open door. "Shall I call him?"

"No! I will wait," replied Mrs. Tapes, as she took a seat that gave the best possible view of the open door.

It was a most provoking view, for it gave Mrs. Tapes a glimpse of Mr. Tapes' side elevation as he straightened in his chair from a frequent leaning position, apparently toward the typewriter. Then the distance was such that she could hear the sound of his low voice without catching the words.

In a few minutes she moved her chair nearer, which did not help her view, but made the voice more distinct. Mr. Tapes leaned so far forward that he was entirely out of sight, and Mrs. Tapes showed agitation by rapidly tapping the floor with her right foot.

Then she arose and approached the busy smooth pated clerk.

"What is the name of Mr. Tapes' typewriter?" she asked.

"Hannah," he returned, and drew it a little nearer the door as she sat down. She saw her husband standing, and then disappear as he stepped behind the typewriter. She heard him laugh, a low laugh that she had delighted in. Then she heard him speak, with some emphasis.

"I have had my vacation," he said, "and now you must have yours. I hope you will have as fine a time as we had when we took our vacation together last summer."

Mrs. Tapes sprang from her seat, thrust the door wide open, and entered. Mr. Tapes stood with both hands affectionately on his typewriter's shoulders, and the two turned quickly toward her as she entered.

"Why, Mary, how you startled me," he said. "I didn't expect to see you here. What a pleasant surprise. Allow me to introduce my typewriter to you. Mr. Hannah, this is Mrs. Tapes. You see, my dear, Mr. Hannah has grown gray in Wall street. I had my initiation in his office, and though he taught me well, like many others he has met with disappointment."

Mrs. Tapes grasped the old man's extended hand, and sunshine of relief dispelled clouds of suspicion from her pretty face.

Self-Extinguished Obligation.
Joseph Rend tells a funny story recently narrated to him by Gov. McKillop, of West Virginia. A colored man was telling a white friend about another negro who owed him $2 and absolutely refused to pay the debt. The creditor dunned and dunned him, but all to no purpose. Finally the creditor went to his white friend, who is a lawyer, and poured his tale of woe into his ear.

"Well," said the lawyer, "if he positively refused to pay you, what reason did he give?"

"Well, boss," said the colored man, "he said he had owed me that money for so long that he didn't owe me a cent."—Columbus Dispatch.

Was Here in Boston.
A young man who for business reasons had wandered far from his native city, materially but not spiritually, once attended a revival service in a small town where he had taken up his abode. At the service an urgent invitation was extended to all sinners to come forward to the anxious seat to be prayed for by the brothers and sisters of the church. As the young man did not accept the invitation, the revivalist walked down the aisle and placed his hand on his shoulder, inquiring: "Have you never felt any desire to be born again?" his answer was given at once: "No, I was born in Boston."—Short Stories.

DECLARATION OF THE KING

It is To Be Allowed To Stand in its Present Form.

Catholic Peers Desired Withdrawal of Statement Concerning Security of Protestant Succession.

London, Ont., August 5.—There is a lion was challenged at the third reading of the King's declaration this evening in the House of Lords, it is generally believed that no further attempt will be made to pass it, either this session or the next. Lord Salisbury, the Premier, referring to the statement of Catholic Peers, said the government now realized that the Catholics did not wish the offensive words of the original declaration to be withdrawn unless the government at the same time withdrew the declaration regarding the security of the Protestant succession. The government never had the slightest intention of withdrawing that. The Catholics regretted that they must be prepared to see the declaration stand in its present form.

TRADES UNIONS.

The House of Lords to-day rendered an important judgment affecting trades unions. The case was brought up on appeal from the judgment of the Irish courts, awarding a whole-sale butcher damages against the Butchers' Assistants' Association, which brought pressure to bear on retailers to boycott the plaintiff until he dismissed a certain non-union employee, threatening otherwise to call out the union employees of the firms concerned, and finally it induced the non-unionist to leave the plaintiff. The Lords dismissed the appeal, on the ground that the acts of wrongful and malicious conspiracy were not undertaken to advance the interests of the workmen themselves, but solely to injure the plaintiff.

SHOT HER SISTER.

York, Pa., Aug. 5.—Mrs. Sarah Knaub, of this city, aged about 18 years, was shot and killed by her sister, Mrs. Henry Reilly, at Pleasantville, a suburb of York, early yesterday morning. Mrs. Knaub who was visiting her sister, was aroused by chicken thieves. She awoke her sister, and the two discovered two men prowling about the premises. Mrs. Knaub pointed out the thieves to Mrs. Reilly, and Mrs. Reilly fired. The shot took effect in Mrs. Knaub's back. Mrs. Knaub did not know she was shot, and for a period of ten minutes kept a lookout for the thieves. She was then seen to fall over and died in ten minutes. Her death was attributed to heart disease induced by excitement. But the real cause of her death was revealed by the coroner's investigation, which showed that death was the result of a pistol shot wound inflicted accidentally.

Walter Harland Smith, of Toronto, will be at Wm. Gray & Sons' factory on Saturday, August 10th, to buy all classes of horses. ta 10.

SUCCESSFUL STUDENTS

Results of the Part One Junior Leaving Examinations.

Splendid Showing by Kent's Representatives—Other Results to Follow in ten days.

The report of the Board of Examiners for the Part One Junior Leaving or Public School Leaving examination is given below. The results of the examinations at all the examination centres in any county will be found under that county. The figure 5 indicates that the candidate has passed in the five subjects of the examination; the figure 3 indicates that the candidate, who are exempted from the composition and geography, have passed in the remaining three subjects of the examination. The certificates of successful candidates will be forwarded within three weeks to the High School Principals, and, in the case of centres other than High Schools, to the Public School Inspectors concerned. Under no conditions will candidates obtain certificates or copies of marks at the Education Department. In order to avoid unnecessary trouble and expense, unsuccessful candidates are recommended to obtain the advice of the Principal, after receiving their marks, before making an appeal. The results of the other July examinations will be issued in about ten days.

GOLD STRIKE ON THE RAND.

Johannesburg, Aug. 5.—The Turf Club bore hole struck a gold reef at a depth of 4,800 feet. This is the most important mining event in years, and goes far to prove the reliability of the new South African estimates as to the value of the Rand reefs.

It establishes a permanent gold industry for seventy years and practically proves that there are additional deep levels equivalent to the whole line of outcrop mines.
