Only the back of the head and the shoulders were put of the water. Not wishing to disturb the body, Mr. Brown called to he companion, Raleigh Carlowatch the body lest it float away while he telephone the Coroner.

Long before the arrival of Dr. Bray the news had spread from mouth to mouth find a large crowd had collected on the dock. With pike polethe hody was taken from the water when it was found to be that of a man between 55 and 60 years of age, all dressed with the exception of a cost, and only slightly decomposed. Several of the bystanders were able to identify the body as that of Peter Clapperton, a well known character of Dover Townsh.p.

The unfortunate man was employed on the farm of Kenneth Urquhart on the Sth concession, of Dover, Mrs. Urquhart being his niece. He was a veteran of the American civil war and receiving a quinterly pension of $16. When this came due he would come to the city and go on a curouse. He was in the city drawing his stipend last Friday and was seen Friday night at the Courtney House over the river. At that time he was empty and he was unconscious, it is thought that, after leaving the Courtney House, he went to some secluded spot, tipple until the flask was empty and he was unconscious, it is thought that, after leaving the Courtney House, he went for his secret carouse. This is borne out by the fact that Miss Aylesworth and Uname Brackin were accosted on the Fifth street bridge last night by a man atrongly resembliant the direction he was directed the man went down through the Hadley lumber yards. In all probability the drink-crazed man has gone from the hotel dawn to the river looking for a scow or punt to sleep in, as was his custom, and has fallen in. Apparently he made no struggle for, when found, his body was in just the attitude, in which an intericated person would fall—legs slightly drawn up, shoulders forward and the body limp.

The body had not been in the water more than two days, as very little putrefaction was present. It is thought it was brought to the surface either by the electrical storm of fast night or by the suction of Continued on Page Four.

A RUSSIAN VICTORY.

A recent cable despatch from St Petersburg announces that interest in the war is overshadowed by the prospects of an important victory at The promise of the Czar to redeem his pledge to call a National Assembly is regarded as of more importance than the negotiations for see or the reports of another great battle in Manchurta. Some time aga a Zemstvo congress of Moscow district appointed a delegation to arge on the Czar the summoning of a National Assembly representative of the people. Emperor Nicholas not merely received the delegations in person, but gave ample assurance that his pledge to call a National Assembly would be re-deemed in good faith. He went further, and expressed the belief that Russia will emerge strengthened from the trials she is now enduring; that there will be established soon as formerly, a union between the Emperor and all Russia, a communion between himself and the men of the Russian soil; and that this union and communion must serve as a basis for the original principles of

These words, we are told, are received with joyous acclaim, and in the prospects of representative government the disasters and humiliations abroad are forgotten. The time seems to be opportune for a peaceful revolution. The Czar appears to be well disposed towards the people of the mighty empire over which he is supposed to rule, but he is lacking in strength and steadfastness of purpose. He reminded the delegation, however, that he still had the power and the will to keep his promise to the uttermost. No doubt the disasters in the Far East will help to free him from the evil influences at home which have surrounded him for so long and with such unhappy consequences. It may be that after the darkness and the gloom will come the dawn of a brighten

A good illustration of the quick wit of a woman appears in the following incident of the old coaching days of the incident of the old coaching days of the far west. Condemns Gothenburg System and Is Opposed to Compensation to These Who Have Lost Their Licenses.

Toronto, June 2.5.—The annual meeting of the Dominion Alliance Council was held yesterday at the Labor Temwas held yesterday at the Labor Temple, and attended by about one hundred delegates. In his presidential address J. R. Dougall of Montreal condemned the Gothenburg system of controlling the liquor traffic. Under this system, of which Lord Grey is an advocate, the traffic would be directed by private trusts. Regarding Government control, which now exists by proxy, some thorough metheod of controlling it should be found. He pleaded for less antagonism and more pursuative methods.

with active charitable work than any other society woman in chicago. Her labors in this direction cover a wide field, and a great deal of her time is given to earnest humanitarian effort. As chairman of the juvenile court committee Mrs. Bowen is doing much to make the value of this institution better known among all classes of people of her city. She is vice president of the Hull House Woman's club, but is not in any sense a club woman. Mrs. Bowen was Miss Louise De Koven, a sister of Reginald De Koven. If a young girl is round shouldered she is hardly aware of her defect in the ordinary course of life, but if she lived in a house lined with mirrors she would see all the time the ugly; slovenly curve of her back, and, mortified and grieved, she would at once set to work with suitable exercises to become stratch.

All sorts of ugly habits-ugly ways of sitting, of standing, of smiling, of ges-turing-are pictured in a true and unturing—are pictured in a true and undattering way by mirrors. The average man or woman, perceiving these uglinesses, would set to work to remove them. The trouble is, according to the rich man, that the average person does not perceive his several uglinesses, and no one is frank enough to point them out to him.

This innovator, opposing hotly the contention that mirrors foster vanity, looks at himself at home nearly all the time, and continually he urges his children to look at themselves, to study themselves and to strive daily to improve in grace.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

"It struck me as so funny. Why in the world should the girl or woman who blushes consider herself a 'sufferer?" Blushing is one of the prettiest things a girl can do. The man doesn't live who doesn't like to see a girl blush. It adds charm to nearly every one,

"And, too, the power to blush is distinctly a youthful power. The old woman does not blush. Her skin has been hardened and thickened until it refuses to blush. As a girl grows into hardened and thickened until if re-fuses to blush. As a girl grows into womanhood she blushes seidomer, as a rule, and as she nears the meridian of life the power to blush generally leaves her altogether. 'Sufferers' from blush-tag? From a new cookbook this recipe for old fashioned white cake or delicate cake is taken; Cream together a cupful of butter and two of sugar; then ful of butter and two of sugar; then add slowly a cupful of sweet milk and the whifes of eight eggs beaten to a stiff froth. Finally mix in three cupfuls of sifted fiour in which have been mixed three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Stir as little as possible. Flavor, with a teaspoonful of almond extract. Old Lord Norion, who died the other day at the age of '90, and whom the late Mrs. Gladstone was wont to describe as "the kindest of all dear William's enemies (political, of course), was one of the many descendants of Oliver Cromwell, his mother being a Miss Hartopp and a descendant of that Sir John Hartopp who married a grand-daughter of the lord protector. There are at least a thousand prominent people who can establish their descent from Cromwell, and who are proud to do so. Athons them are the Marquis of Ripon, Lords Chichester, Clarendon, Rosslyn, Cowper, Devon, Morley, Lytton, Walsingham, Ampthill, the Countess of Derby, as well as the late Lady Lathon, the Earl of Darnley, Lord Avebury, and last, but not least, the late Charles Stewart Parnell, the great Irish leader.

Baby's Finger Prints.

The possibilities in finger print iden-tification recently led to a curious question being put to Dr Francis Gal-ton, the great finger print expert, by the police authorities of a foreign state.

They had received information, they said, that a baby who was heir to a great title and estate was in danger of being kidnapped and held to ransom. Supposing this should happen and the baby eventually be restored, would finger prints taken before the abduction be sufficient to identify the baby and prove that he was not a changeling?

ling?

Dr. Galton's answer was that it is exceedingly difficult to print from the fingers of young infants. From about six years of age and upward, however, there is no difficulty and the prints would be sufficient for identification purposes.—London Express.

The Earl of Darnley.

The Earl of Darnley has been elected a representative peer for Ireland, in the place of the late Viscount Hawarden, who had, however, been a peer of the United Kingdom from 1886, with the title of the Earl de Montait, until his death last January, says The London Star. Lord Darnley is the eighth of the title, is in his forty-sixth year, and succeeded his brother in 1900. In 1884 he married Florence, daughter of the late Mr. J. S. Morphy, of Beechworth, Victoria. He is better known, especially in the world of cricket, by his name of Ivo Bligh. His son and heir, who was born in 1886, bears the courtesy title of Lord Clifton, though the barony of that name is now held, in her own right, by the little Baroness Clifton, the only daughter of the late Lord Darnley, who was born in 1900, and is our youngest peeress.

Quebec's Enormous Birth Rate.

Dr. Osler says you can't diminish the birth rate of Quebec. In the year 1890 the late Hon. H. Mercler, then Prime Minister of the Province, had a law passed by the Frovincial Legislature granting 100 acres of the public lands to each father and mother of twelve living children, and last year a return was made to the House of those who had taken advantage of this act. This return shows that there were more than 3,400 families of twelve living children in the Frovince, while some were boasted of seventeen, eighteen, nine-teen, and one even ran up to twenty-three. According to the last report of the Provincial Compiler of vital statistics—that is to say, for 1903—60,419 births were registered, which gives a birth rate of 36.75 per 1,000 of the population. We deplore the salvent of war, and in the great cause of Christianity and civilization was are ready to record our votes for the arbitrative principle as a means of settling disputes between nations, but we cannot ignore the results which have accrued to ourselves from the swards of arbiters in the past.

In the year 1822 a difference of opinion affose between Great Britain and the United States as to the interpretation to be placed upon certain clauses in the Treaty of Ghent, signed in the year 1814. The arbiter was the then reigning Emperor of Russia, and his award was in favor of the United States. In 1863 a dispute arose between Great Britain and Brazil over the question of compensation claimed by the former for the unwarrantable seizure of the persons of three officers belonging to her late Majesty's ship Forte. The arbiter was then the King of Belgium, and his decision was in favor of Bragil. Within six years of the last mentioned isse-in 1869—a dispute arose between Great Britain and Portugal as to their priority of claim to the Island of Bulama, lying off the West Coast of Africa. The arbiter agreed upon was the President of the United States, Ulysses S. Grant, and his award handed the possession of the island over to Portugal.

One year later—in 1870—Great Britain elaimed compensation from the Argentine Republic on behalf of certain of her subjects who had suffered loss during the war between the latter and the Republic of Unuguay. The Argentine Republic during as ward in favor of Argentine.

MAD DOUS

Judge Houston Offers a Valuable Suggestion to the Council Re Dogs Running at Large.

"The City Council should act promptly in the matter of dogs running at large," remarked Judge Houston th's morning. "As far as we know there are no mad dogs in Chatham naw, but we should not wait until we have them before we take steps to protect our citizens. Now is 'the time to set, and it would be a good move if the Council at their meeting to-night would provide for some by-law, working under which the police would be able to prevent dogs running our streets. "London has learned from experience and now they have passed a law to regulate this evil. Some years ago we had a dog pound here, but the pound-keeper was not paid enough money to take an interest in his work and the pound was dropped. This, however, is a good idea to impound all dogs found running at large and have them shot in 48 hours if the swiner does not claim it. Now that the hot weather is coming on something should be done right away."

JUSTICE FOR ALL

Chief Holmes Explains a Few Things in Connection with a Case That is Interesting Many.

"If the man who wrote the letter to The Planet on Satarday—saying that he did not think the Police gave that half-witted woman justice—were acquainted with all of the particulars of the case, I do not think he would be so anxious to rush sinto print," remarked Chief Holmea this morning.

"As a matter of fact we investigated the case fully and could find no evidence against the people on Lacroix St. who employed this woman, except what is said by the woman herself, and her mind is plainly unbalanced. The man on Lacroix St. says he made a bargain to give her $1 a week for the first week, a reduction after that, and he has lived up to his agreement. When the woman went back later she started screaming around for her money, and the man merely pushed her away and closed the door. There was no violence used whatever, ind we can find no one who will say that the half-witted creature was badly used, If anyone who knew of any agreed ment, will come and give us grounds for laying an information we will be only too well pleased to help the woman get, her money, if there is any coming to her."

CHINA HAS WHIPHAND.

Washington, June 28.—That the threats of the Commercial Guilds of China to boycott American made goods has raised a serious question in the minds of the United States business, mer and manufacturers is indicated by a telegram received Saturday by President Roosevelt from the Portland, Ore., Chamber of Commerce, urging "immediate action on your part with Ore. Chamber of Commerce, urging "immediate action on your para with respect to this country's relations with China, the first consideration being a regard for the nation's honor, which demands faithful and fair performance of its treaty obligations. A MONSIROSITY

A chicken with four legs, all perfectly developed, and four wings, is something of a novelty, yet such a monstrosity was possessed by Charles Ratley. Think what an awful task it would be to find places for four leet on the sidewalks when coming home after a night at the club, Most men find the sidewalks too small for two feet. The chicken, discouraged by this gloomy prospect, died.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries laid on the table of the House the other day the report on Canadian shipping for the year 1904.

It shows that the total number of vessels of all kinds old and new, sail, uteam and barges, remaining on the register books of the Dominion December 31 was 7.152, measuring 572.838 register or net tons, an increase of 132 yeasels, and a decrease of 19.309 tons, as compared with 1902. The number of steamers was 2.543, with a gross tonnage of 355.514. Assuming the average value to be $39 per ton, the value of resistered tonnage of Canada would be $20.185,140. The number of new vessels built and registered in the Dominion last year was 308, measuring 18.554 tons, which at $45 per ton would give 3334,930, as the value of new vessels added during the year.

As a ship-owning Province, Nova Scotia leads with 2.056 sailing ships and steamers of 211,932 tons. Ontario comes next with 1.836 vessels of 175.000 tons. The others in order are: Quebec, 1.885 vessels, of 130,000 tons; British Columbia, 666 vessels, of 77.105 tons; New Brunswick, 932 vessels, of 54,855 tons; Prince Edward Island, 161 vessels, of 12.200 tons; Manitoba, 141 vessels, of 17.765 tons; new Brunswick, 932 vessels, of 78,855 tons; Prince Edward Island, 161 vessels, of 7.765 tons, and the Yukon with 12 vessels of 2.171 tons. The registered tonnage of the Dominion in 1878 was about double what it is to-day, namely, 1.333,000 tons, Great Britain and her Colonies own 11.225.421 tons. The steamer tonnage of the world is 17,183,661, of which 9.135,228 tons are owned in Great Britain and her Colonies.

Pain Across the Kidneys For Three Years.

Suffered Great Agony. Could Not Stoop or Bend.

No disease is so quiet and stealthy in the approach as kidney disease. That is why it is so dangerous. It may become seep-seated before you realize the danger. It is therefore of great importance to recognize the early warning symptoms, because in its early stage kidney disease is easily curable. Pain or dull ache in the back is one of the first signs. So see bladder pains, bearing-down pains, amarting sensation when urinating, frequent or suppressed urination, and gravel or sediment in the urine, etc. You cannot se well if your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. In all ridinary cases of any derangement of the kidneys, a few doses of DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS will put the patient right; in old or

Mr. Michael A. McInnis, Woodbine,

With a final squeal from the first folin, that apparently tuned hard, the orchestra broke into a rippling overture and the asbestus curtain rese upon the painted one beneath.

An usher slammed down the seat beside Elizabeth and laid a programme on it; then he handed the seat check to its owner and slid away.

When you have broken your engagement with a man the night before, after a stormy discussion, it is not the happiest surprise in the world to find him seated beside you at the matinee, where you have gone to kill time and forget yourself.

Elizabeth bowed stiffly. The map responded with equal

She read her programme with absorbing interest. It was continuous

"I had no idea," said the man at last, "that you would be here or I"— "My movements need not interfere with yours, Mr. Gayden," said Elizabeth icily.

She grew still more absorbed in her programme A dear old lady, with water waves and gold rimmed glasses, sat down with a thud in the seat on Elizabeth's left and turned a delighted smile on the girl.

"Well, I declare," she cried, "if it

"Well, I declare," she cried, "if it ain't Bessie McIntyre! Law me—the very last person on earth I was thinkin' of seein'. How are you, dear? And how's your mother? My son brought me up to town yesterday for a little visit. He got seats for the show here today, and he's comin' for me soon's his office hours are over. Ain't that Nick Gayden beside you? Howdy, Nick? You haven't changed a mite since you left Girton. I'm real mite since you left Girton. I'm real glad to see you."

She stretched a black gloved hand across Elizabeth, and Nick was forced to shake it smillingly.

"Well—well—well." said the old lady "to think or merchants."

"Well-well-well," said the old lady, "to think of my meetin' you all here. And we were just talkin' about you both last night. See her blush," she chuckled to Nick, as the quick crimson spread over Elizabeth's face.
"I hear you're to be married. Yes, indeed-we hear things in country, too, indeed—we near things in country, too, and, of course, since you all's families used to live in Girton, everybody's interested in you. Well, well! I wish you all the happiness in the world, my dear—and you'll need it. Marriage is dear—and you'll need it. Marriage is a mighty risky thing. And the weddin' is to be in the spring, I hear. That's good. June and brides and roses sorter belong together." She stopped for breath.

"We are not"— began Elizabeth. She bit her lips and began again. "We have"—

"We have decided nothing definite-

"We have decided nothing definiteity." Nick interrupted easily.
"That right," the old lady agreed;
"hold on to your sweethearth' as long as you can. It's mighty nice playin', and it only comes once in a lifetime."
Elizabeth smiled in spite of herself;
"Some girls are engaged three or four times, Mrs. Barton," she suggested.
"Oh. tus' fiy-up-the-creeks," said Mrs.

"Oh, jus' fly-up-the-creeks," said Mrs. Barton comfortably, "not nice, sincere, bonest girls like you that know the right man and stick to him when they and him. I said the minute I heard of your engagement: Now, there's a proper match. Both of 'em young, both of 'em handsome, well off, good tempered, sensible and steady. Show me a better, Jesiah, says I."

"I ought to tell you, Mrs. Barton," said Elizabeth, with a rush. "You're-mistaken. I'm not"— The curtain went up noisily. "Shucks honey." Mrs. Barton whispered, "you're too modest—now don't talk to me. I haven't seen a show in three years."

Elizabeth turned to Nick with a furious whisper.

"This can't go on."

"What are you going to do?" he asked stiffly. "Tell her""I won't."

"It's perfectly absurd."

Nick shrugged his shoulders.
"S-s-s-h." Mrs. Barton cried in a Jocular whisper. "You'll have time enough to talk te each other all your lives.

Keep guist naw."

Keep quiet now."

After an unhappy half hour the white curtain of the vitograph rolled down, and Mrs. Barton turned to the girl again.

"I can't look at those things," she said; "hurts my eyes. Now tell me some more about yourselves—makes me feel right old to think of your two children goin' to get married. Law me! I remember the time you wan't no higher than my knee. You were the worst youngster in the county, Nick, and Bessie wan't far behind you. And, law, how you used to hate each other! Many's the time I've seen her pull that tow hair of yours."

"It isn't"— began Elizabeth impetuously.

"It isn't"— began Elizabeth impetuously.

"Oh, yes," Mrs. Barton laughed, "It always was tow, and it still is."

Nick grinned cheerfully.

"And then you'd take her by her little skinny wrists and hold her off." went on the old lady, "till she was jus like a ragin' little cat, clawin' and furrin'."

"She's still that way sometimes," said Nick, smilingly.

Nick, smilingly.

Blizabeth gasped furiously.

Elizabeth sat in comparative peac through the rest of the programma Then the last performer came to the front of the stage-a boyish looking man in the conventional evening dress of the vaudevills songster. The beautiful voice sobbed and sank and rose again with the plaintive cry of the song and the last wailing chord: "I am waiting for thee, asthore," died away into a perfect silence. There was a thunder of applause.

"You used to sing that," Mrs. Barton whispered to Nick, "the year after you finished college. I guess Bessie remembers it. You sang it at my house one night—don't you know, Bessie?"

"I-I-yes, I think I do," said a wretched and uncertain Elizabeth. The man on the stage sang the last bars of the song again.
"Elizabeth," said Nick, very low.

Elizabeth turned, startled at the sudden call, and the eyes she lifted were heavy with tears. "Asthore," said Nick, lower still. Then he helped her into her coat

When after about fifteen years labor he completed this valuable book he submitted it to a number of publishers and no new world of the complete the submitted of the publishers, and no one would offer him more than $2,500 for it. He was about to accept these terms when his wife

"Let me publish this work for you, Richard. To print and bind and p the market a set of books surely can unit be a superhuman undertaking. Let me try it. The publishers don't offer you a fair price. Let us, then, balk them, and if any profit is to be made

S.r Richard consented. His wife set to work. She got estimates from paper dealers, from printers, from binders. She found that to publish her husband's She found that to publish her husband's translation sumptuously would require $30,000. At first she was appalled. But she managed somehow to get sufficient capital together, and ultimately the "Arabian Nights" came out. The Burtons made $50,000.

The Sea Treat.

The gamest of sait water fish after the striped bass is the weakfish, or sea trout. The sport of angling for them is generally enhanced because, feeding, as they generally do, near the surface, if is possible to fish for them with light fackle. White they have been caught, weighing upward of twenty pounds, a six or ten pounder is a good size, and the average will only run from one to two and a half. There is never any doubt when a weakfish bites. He does two and a half. There is never any doubt when a weakfish bites. He does not nibble around the hook, but takes the bait at one fair swoop and then starts of, with it like a limited express with time to make up. He is a shy fish, and the man who uses a small line, light leaders and shells to his hook and keeps quiet while fishing is the one who is apt to have the best luck.

Speed of Lightning.

Modern ingenuity has done a great deal in photography and by the aid of wonderfully rapid shutters has given from time to time very good photographs of a lightning flash. But the man is not yet born who can make a shutter fast enough to catch the real, full thing. Seen at night, a feeling thing, seen at night, a feeling thing. chutter fast enough to catch the real, full thing. Seen at night, a flash of lightning appears little more powerful as an illuminant than moonlight. As a matter of fact the duration of one of hear flashes is so brief that a million of them in succession could be crowden to the space of a single second. If he flash could last but a tenth of a wound it would give near objects an lumination 100,000 times more brilliant than that of moonlight. The more appear absolutely stationary whe litt up by it.

As Odd Syliaming Contest.

Sir John Pakington, a courtier of Queen Elizabeth, was a recites layer of wagers. He once bet £3,000 that he would swim the Thames from the bridge at Westminster to the bridge at Greenwich faster than three relays of young noblemen. Sir John won this bet. The relays of noblemen, though they swam bard, were badly beaten. The queen was present at the race, and to the losers she gave, by way of a convolation rize, a butt of sack.

For cramps, colic, and internal pain it's a perfect marvel. In the good racing stables Nerviline is always used,—because it makes better horses and smaller veterinary bills. Twenty-five cents buys a large bottle of Nerviline. Try it.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deatness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness 's caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed. Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Gatarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

West Indies For Canada.

The Canadian Grocer says on this subject: If one is to judge from frequent expressions of opinion on the subject, sentiment in the West Indies is becoming more and more favorable to Canada. Only a few months ago a representative of The Grocer visited the islands; he found the trade there thight disposed as a whole to their the islands; he found the trade there thindly disposed as a whole to their fellow-colonists away to the north, so much so that they prefered to trade with Canada, rather than with the United States, other things being equal. Prominent citizens went so far as to propose confederation with the Dominion as the most satisfactory solution of the future of the islands.

of the future of the Islands.

Such a move would hardly be looked at eskance by the motherland. Only a week ago a speaker in the British House of Commons made the remark that he would "like to see the West Indian Government enter into negotiations with Canada, to find out whether at least some of the Islands could not be better administered by the Dominion. If they were attached to Canada they would form something like a southern zone for the Dominion. The worganization and revitalizing of the West Indiae would result in an alteration which would add enormously to Great Britain's Imperial strength on the strategic highway of the world and in the commercial centre of the West Great Britain's Imperial strength on the strategic highway of the world and in the commercial centre of the West ern Ontario." What is more the British treasury has just refused to continue the grant of $50,000 a year to the Agricultural Department of the West Indies, and the islanders are beginning to fear that Great Britain is losing interest in their welfare and progress.

Canada recently extended a substantial preference to all importations from the West Indies, with the result that a substantial and rapidly increasing trade has grown up between the two countries. From a commercial standpoint, it is in the interests of Canada to cultivate the islands, and it is to be hoped that the Federal Government will not be so forgetful of this fact as to withdraw or even curtail the financial support to the direct steamship service between Canada and the West Indies, which it has extended for the past twelve years.

The Archives Enriched, Mr. L. W. Dorling, of Toronto, has donated to the archives of the Province, a set of the Baptist Year Book from 1877 to 1800, copies of the Canadian Almanac for the years 1885 to 1896, a bound volume of The Globe for the years 1876-7-8-8, old maps of Hamilton and Ottawa, and one of the C. P. R. showing the original proposed route between Montreal and Winnipeg.

Fish Scale Jewelry.

The scales of the sea drum are extensively used in the manufacture of the sprays of flowers and other article of fancy work which are sold at sea side resorts under the name of "fish scale jewelry." They are large and silvery and so hard that it is neces-sary to remove them from the fish with an axe or batcht. The scales of sheepshead, tarpon, channel bass, etc., are also used for this purpose at times,

Nature has just one pigment on her pallette with which she produces all the marvellous tints of beauty, and that one pigment is the blood. The shell-like pink beneath the finger nails, the delicate nose of the cheek, the aherry ripeness of the lips, the irridescent brilliance of the eyes are all produced by the blood. Just as the permanence of a beautiful painting will depend upon the purity of the colors with which it is painted, so the permanence of beauty depends on the purity of the blood. Paint, powder and cosmetics won't avail to preserve beauty. Beauty begins in the blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a true beautifier, becal Discovery is a true heautifier, be-cause it provides for nature that pure blood with which alone she can paint. The use of this medicine will cleanse the skin, heighten the complex-ion, brighten the eyes, and give to face and form that radiance of health which is the greatest charm of health race and form that radiance of health which is the greatest charm of beauty. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are very affective in ridding the system of elegging residum, which accumulates with constipated habit.

The Carve of Health.

The expression "the curve of health," which was first used by Oliver Wendell Holmes, himself a physician, indicates in modern mathematical fashion the fluctuating changes in bodily health, of which all are at times aware and which may be expressed by varying curves outlined on paner.

and which may be expressed by varying curves outlined on paper.

Many imagine that the normal state of health is best represented by a straight line. This is by no means the case. There is a rhythmic undulation in the flow of our vital force. The dynamo which furnishes the working powers of consciousness and action has its annual, monthly, daily waves, even its momentary ripples. We have our bad times and good times. Some by careful observation of the rise and fall of this curve, have so adjusted their holidays and times of rest and activity as to conserve their energies and avoid the snares of disease. It is from his knowledge of this curve that the family physician can act successfully.

Asked For Protection Against Them.

Lodz, Russia Poland, June 26.—
"Black Friday" in Lodz, surpassed all the horrors of "Red Sunday" in St. Petersburg. While it is not yet pessible to ascertain the exact number of victims estimates place the killed at ever 106, possibly 200, and the wounded 2ve times that number. The trouble here was initiated by the Social Democrats and Jewish Bund, who determined to avenue their comrades killed in the rioting on Wednesday. Thrusday, the feast Corpus Christi, passed off quietly, but during the night workmen attacked the patrois. In this fighting two officers and seven Cossacks were killed. One of the latter was shot by a girl of 13 years.

The city resembles a shambles and the terrible scenes of the last two days will never be wiped from the memory of the Polish people.

The most asrlous phase of the fighting between the military and strikers is at an end, but there are still isolated attacks in the suburbs. At Baluty yesterday morning Cossacks attacked a Jewish family of five persons who were driving in a cab to the railway station and shot and killed all, including the cabman: At Pabjanice, near Lodz, workmen attacked two police men and shot and killed one and wounded the other.

There is general exodus from Lodz. Twelve thousand persons have already left and all trains are crowded. During the disturbances 35 Government ilquor stores were destroyed by the mob, who appropriated all the cash and stamps found on the premises which they added to the funds of the Socialist party. The workmen in all the factories will strike to day.

protection against the brutality of the soldiers, especially the Cossacks, who in one instance killed and robbed the servant of a millionaire named Rosenblatt, who was carrying $5,000 to the bank. The general promised to punish the offenders, but said he required witnesses of the occurrence to testify against the Cossacks.

Altogether there are 10 regiments encamped in Lodz. The fighting spirit of the people is fully aroused. They have tasted blood and want more. Certainly the revolutionary spirit is abroad, and it remains to be seen whether military measures will have the same effect as they previously did. Yesterday at Bainty, a suburb of Lodz, four Cossacks were killed and 18 wounded by a bomb which was threat volleys are still fired by police or gendarmes in response to shots from houses. The soldiers are showing what appears to be wanton truelty. Late yesterday afternoon they shot and killed two women a mother and her daughter.

The funerals of the victims of the suburbs outlying villages.

An official report says that the number of casualties was largely increased by the neglect of persons to remain indoors and who insisted on looking out of doors and windows when volleys were being fired by soldiers or rioters. Residents of the city say they received no orders to remain indoors. Shooting was renewed last evening. Cossacks are robbling the dead of lewels and money. A factory owner named Neumann has been shot by strikers.

LLOYD MURDER CASE.

Evidence Concluded and Magistrate Takes a Week to Consider.

Takes a Week to Consider.

Belleville, June 28.—The investigation into the case of Adam Lloyd, the old farmer charged with the murder of his wife, went on again before Magistrate Fint Saturday. Physiolans and neighbors gave the testimony, and then the defence and the Crown Atterney made their addresses.

Mr. Porter, for the defence, claimed that there was only ill-defined suspicion against the prisoner, and he claimed that no man could be committed on suspicion. The Crown had proyed no desire on the part of Lloyd for his wife's death and no motive for his killing her.

wife's death and no motive for his killing her.

The Crown Attorney said the most likely theory was that Lloyd had killed his wife and then poured coal oil over her to try to burn her up and cover evidences of the crime. It could not have been accident, the Crown Attorney said. It was not suicide, for the doctors agreed that the woman was unconscious when the burns were made. There was no not theory left, murder. Who could have done that? There was no one there, according to Adam Lloyd, but his wife and himself.

Adjeurned a Week.

The magistrate said the case was one of much gravity, and he must have time to carefully review the evidence before giving a decision. He would remand the prisoner till next Satur-day, which he did.

National Party Calls on the People to Fellow Lead.

Buda-Pesth, June 26.—The most radical faction of the National party of Hungary is circulating literature calling upon the people to demand that Parliament follow the example of Norway and decree the dissolution of the Austro-Hungarian union. It is pointed out that the cases are exactly bargliel austro-Hungarian union. It is pointed out that the cases are exactly parallel and that the question of military inde-pendence, claimed as a birthright by Hungary, was the counterpart of Nor-way's demand for a separate consular service.

France Begins to Feel it Keenly Along the Border.

Paris, June 28.—La Libertie last night began the publication of a series of articles from the frontier, showing the excited state of public feeling and the activity of the military forces, which are alleged to be constantly drilling and undergoing inspection.

inspection.

The diplomatic situation remains unchanged, as Germany has not yet presented her answer to the French note. Officials say the negotiations are taking the usual normal course without at present any indications of a marked change. It is definitely known that the French Ambassador to Germany was cerdially received by Chancellor Von Buelow on Friday. This is considered to be a most reassuring symptom of Germany's conciliatory intentions.
