Tells The Story Of How He Met The Woman

"Help, Help!"—kerplash.
There was a scuffle of feet on Sixth St., at about 8.15 last evening, as the curious ran to see who had fallen in the creek. For there was no mistaking the signs—someone had thrown himself in the water and was having quite a struggle for life down in the peaceful but highly unsanitary waters of the creek near the foot bridge. Sure enough, those who arrived in time to witness the rather unusual scene, saw a man swim across the creek and attempt to make the bank at the other side. But when the man in the water did reach the shore a dark figure with arms akimbo, and an air of general aggressiveness, was there to meet him.

"I'll teach you to meddle with my wife!" roared the man on the bank. The man in the water apparently did not think it a good idea in the interests of his health to land, for he started to swim back the way he came.

Swimming midway back, he grasped one of the piers of the bridge, and yelled with might and main for help. Someone ran and notified the fire department. Driver Sandy Holmes and Fire Chief Pritchard were down in a moment's time with the ladder truck, ready to render assistance to the unfortunate.

The pugilistic figure on the further bank noted the large crowd which had gathered, and for reasons of his own probably thought it was best to take his departure. He skidded.

The man in the river then swam to shore, and was helped up on terra firma by Fire Chief Pritchard and his men. Dripping with water and thoroughly frightened, he indeed was a ludicrous sight. He was out of breath from exertion. Rolling his eyes wildly he managed to gasp:

"For God's sake, don't let him at me."

"We won't let anyone touch you," he was assured by Chief Pritchard. The man was so frightened and excited he could scarcely talk. The people about him made him even more flustered. Fire Chief Pritchard led him away from the curious crowd. The Chief had to accompany him part of the way home, so terrified was he that the other man would come after him again.

The man was about five feet in height, rather stout and wore a dark blue serge suit. His face was rather plump, and was clean-shaven save for a heavy black moustache. He looked big enough to tackle any ordinary man, but he was as frightened as any school-boy might have been.

MAY BE OUT FOR ALDERMAN

E. A. Mounteer Is Said To Have Aspirations For Civic Honors

HAS A BRIGHT RECORD

Ex-Ald. E. A. Mounteer, the genial King St. baker and confectioner, may be a candidate for honors at the next municipal election.

Ex-Ald. Mounteer hasn't exactly said that he will run, but there are strong indications that he will be seen in the field when the candidates line up.

A number of ardent admirers of the ex-alderman spoke to The Planet at some days ago, and intimated that it was their intention to try and get him to come out for aldermanic honors.

Mr. Mounteer was afterwards seen by a Planet reporter, whom he informed that it was a little too early for him to make any definite statement as yet. He said there might be a possibility later on.

Mr. Mounteer has served many years at the Council Board. He was forced to retire from public life two years ago on account of ill-health. Since that time he has recovered considerably, and he is now feeling like his old self again. During his term as alderman he served the people ably and well, and something unusual for an alderman, he has distinction of never having come in for any adverse criticism from the press or public.

Bad habits breed bad luck.

The best way to please a woman is to allow her to have the whip-handle in the conversation.

The facts of the case, as far as can be ascertained, are, that the man who was pulled out of the creek, was out walking in the park with another man's wife, when the other man caught him. The trouble began over near the armory, where the husband stepped out from behind the shade of a tree, and commenced to make a scene. One man who was in the vicinity, says that the angry husband demanded money of the man who was walking with his wife. Anyway, the guy who caught him took to his heels with the revengeful husband following closely behind him.

Both apparently were good runners. They tore across the park, over the foot-bridge and up to the Merchants' Bank corner on King St., where the pursued doubled on his pursuer and ran back towards the bridge. This time, however, he did not attempt to cross over on dry land. He thought possibly that his pursuer would not be able to fight him, he spoke to the water.

CONSERVATIVE IS ELECTED

Gerald White Wins Out By An Enormous
Majority

NORTH RENFREW SPEAKS

Ottawa, Oct. 10.—In North Renfrew yesterday Gerald White, Conservative, was elected by 1,052 majority. It is thought McKay will lose his deposit.

White, who is a son of the late Hon. Peter White, had a large majority over both the Liberal candidates, Thomas Murray and Dr. McKay, combined.

North Renfrew has always been regarded as a close constituency. Since confederation the riding has been carried by both parties by small majorities.

A GROCER ELOPES

Takes $2,000 With Him, Leaving His Wife Practically Penniless.

St. Catharines, Oct. 10.—Edward Moore, retired grocer of this city, left town rather unexpectedly last Friday, and yesterday his wife claimed that he has deserted her and had taken with him almost $2,000, while she is practically penniless.

Mrs. Moore tells a long story of her husband's unfaithfulness, and claims he was intimate for some time with a young woman well known about the city, who has also recently left for unknown parts.

She has already taken action to prosecute her husband.

Daring Attempt is Made At Highway Robbery On the Baldoon Road

Two Unknown Men Stop Messrs. Gore and Legree of Pain Court at Second Concession and Demand Their Money—Gore Cut and Slashed by One of Assaultants Whom he Boldly Attacked—Legree Uses Butt of Whip to Advantage—Suspicious Centre On Two Chatham Men

An attempt at daring highway robbery was made on the Baldoon Road near the 2nd concession, Dover Township, last night, in which one of the men attacked was seriously stabbed in several places by one of the two assailants.

Jos. Gore and Jos. Legree, who live near Pain Court, were driving along the Baldoon Road last night, and were nearing the bridge, when they were called to a halt and ordered to throw up their hands by two unknown men who sprang from the roadside. The men in the carriage were told to turn over their money at once.

Mr. Gore had about twenty dollars in his pocket, and Mr. Legree had about fifty. They refused to turn over their money and put up a plucky fight with the highway men.

Mr. Legree put the whip to the horses, but one of the men jumped and grabbed the animal by the bridle, while the other threatened the occupants of the rig with their lives if they did not hand over the cash.

Mr. Gore quickly jumped from the buggy and tackled the man nearest him. The unknown drew a long knife and started to slash Gore with it. Mr. Legree came to his assistance, and endeavored the would-be robber over the head with the butt of the horse-whip. Legree and Gore apparently proved too much for their assailants, and finally succeeded in driving them off.

Mr. Gore was immediately driven to the city, where his wounds were attended to by a surgeon. It was found that he had been stabbed three times—once in the hand, in the side and in the calf of one of his legs.

It is thought that the assailants of Gore and Legree are two Chatham men, who were seen following them around in the city earlier in the evening. These two men knew that the Pain Court men had quite an amount of money in their possession, and the suspicion is that they drove out ahead of Gore and Legree with the intention of waylaying them.

Gore was in a hotel early in the evening, when he had occasion to pull out his roll of money. He noticed at the time that two men who were standing nearby eyed the money sharply. Gore and Legree feel confident that they were assaulted by the same two individuals.

It is rather unusual to hear of a highway robbery nowadays in this vicinity, but Mr. Gore and Legree are not the kind of men who would tamper with the truth in relating such an incident.

Messrs. Gore and Legree stated this morning that it was their intention to have their assailants hunted down no matter what it cost. The penalty for highway robbery is a very heavy one, and it is likely should the men be caught they will be severely dealt with.

KOVINSKI IS A FREE MAN

Justice McMahon Decides
That No Case Was Proven
Against Him

TAKEN FROM THE JURY

Sam Kovinski is free!

And thus another feature of the famous New York fur stealing case is cleared up. At the assizes this afternoon the case against Kovinski was finished, and after the hearing of all the evidence, His Lordship decided that the Crown had failed to prove a case, and taking the matter out of the hands of the jury, he proclaimed a verdict of "Not Guilty."

This case was brought up for trial yesterday afternoon, and the witnesses for the prosecution were many, much of the evidence being the same as that given in the Gibritski trial, and with which readers of The Planet are all familiar. Kovinski was charged with receiving the stolen goods, knowing them to be stolen.

Kovinski went into the box shortly before noon, and his examination lasted for some time, being concluded when the court adjourned at two o'clock. To his lawyer, T. C. Robinson, of Toronto, he told a very straight story, and accounted in a clear way for all of his actions in connection with the case. According to him the acquaintance with the Gibritskies was practically forced upon him, and he had no suspicion that they were concerned with the stealing of the goods. He worked for them and received his pay for all that he did—at least, all he could collect.

In the cross-examination Mr. Elliott was unable to destroy the story told by the witness, and the evidence given previously did not connect him criminally with the stolen goods.

In summing up the evidence, before he took the case away from the jury, His Lordship said that no case had been proven. It was shown that at no time was Kovinski in charge of the stolen goods, and at no time did he have any power or control over the parties in possession. Some suspicious circumstances had been brought out by the Crown, but these had all been explained away satisfactorily.

Mr. Elliott thought that it had been shown that Kovinski had a joint control over the goods, but the judge ruled otherwise.

As Kovinski retired from the court room, he was surrounded by friends who all wanted to shake him by the hand, and for a time Sammy was a busy man accepting all of the kind things said to him. The general feeling has been that Kovinski was used by the other men—that he was a dupe—and no one particularly thought that he was intentionally mixed up in the stealing of the goods or of receiving them, knowing they were stolen. The circumstances were such, however, that the Crown deemed that there were grounds for a case.

Silence is always safe, and is frequently the smartest thing we can say.

THE OBJECT OF EDUCATION.

Dr. J. A. McLellan, principal of the Ontario Normal School, in his reference to the provision recently made for manual training in that institution, made use of the following forcible words: "That the educational systems of this country have not produced the best results, have not come up to the earnest expectations of their founders, and administrators is due partially to the fact that in the organization of school curricula the whole man has not been taken into account. The constructive activity of the human being, and their relation to mental action have not received anything like adequate recognition. Manual training in its true sense should form a real part in every curriculum of liberal education. Heretofore there has been a mischievous divorce between brain and hand, arising, no doubt, from an unphilosophical dualism, not to say antagonism, between nature and man, things which cannot be put asunder in sound thinking."

"The idea of manual training is a most popular innovation. Its introduction into our school system marks a new interest in the technical side of a boy's education."

"A great deal of the knowledge acquired by the boys and girls of Canada during school days is too academic. It is not linked in the pupil's mind with the concrete facts in the outer world for which it stands. The system makes no provision for the application of the lessons to the scenes and the activities and the persons of which it is the representation. The college boy, who learns geometry, rarely knows its value or its application. Trigonometry is a necessary part of the college curriculum, but few who study it recognize the important purpose it must serve in the ordinary conditions of every-day life. The development of the student goes on in the seclusion and privacy of an educational monastery, and when the developed man steps forth into the matter-of-fact details of the world he is, like Plato's philosopher, bewildered and confused."

"This need not be altogether an occasion for regret. There are advantages in a system of education which isolates the man from his environment and the profession for which his training is a preparation."

"Technical education exaggerated to suit the unnatural cravings of a commercial age would rob men of their individuality, take the poetry and the sentiment from the life of the people, and make a nation of degenerates."

"The promoters of technical education ridicule all academic training where the curriculum has not a direct point of contact with the business life for which it is furnishing the basis. Education does not produce men. If it is to 'make good' it must first of all produce store-keepers, carpenters, machinists and engineers."

"Once thoroughly wrought into the educational ideals of this country, it would abbreviate the intelligence of the boys and girls in our public schools."

"The college student may be bewildered as he steps on the stage of business life. But many a business man envies him his broader vision and his enlarged powers of thought. The student has a lifetime in which to link his knowledge to the world of facts in which he moves. But he whose mind has been disciplined in the mastery of books and inured to hard and painful effort in the study will not long live in the maze or wait in vain for recognition."

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Dr. Francis J. W. Maguire, of Detroit, who has been touring Europe, comes back with the belief that appendicitis is caused by bread eating. The disease is very rare on the continent, but very common in the British Isles. "I found," said Dr. Maguire, "that in countries where ordinary white bread was used, as in America, appendicitis, with its complications was very common. On the continent bread is not used, but is substituted by rolls, thoroughly cooked, and the crusty French bread, which contains none of the indigestible dough

Twenty Minutes Time Enough?

To Cure the Worst Headache From Any Cause—New Reduction Method.

Most headaches and pains yield instantly to the new Reduction Method—Dr. Shoop's Twenty Minute Headache Cure. The cause for these pains is congestion—a rushing of blood to the nerve centers—which distends the veins to nearly the bursting point. Swollen and enlarged, these veins and capillaries exert an irritating pressure on the myriads of nerve branches and fibres. Then, there's a pain, and finally that excruciating, ceaseless ache. This new Reduction Method disperses the blood, distributes the pressure evenly, and relieves the nerve centers from all irritation—their cause has been removed. You may try this new Reduction Method—drugs and stimulants only intensify the pain, which brings prompt relief and because it removes the congestion—it must embody the Reduction Method. Medicine has thus found a way—simple and sure, yet the only way—to thoroughly overcome these attacks of Headache and Neuralgia. The effect of Dr. Shoop's Twenty Minute Headache Cure is prompt—perfectly suited to all forms of Headache and absolutely positive in every temperament. For sale and recommended by

The hangman of Odessa has struck, now demanding that his yearly salary of $50 be doubled. His demands will probably be acceded to, as he is not exactly the kind of man to keep in suspense himself.

Austria is the only empire in the world which has never had colonies, or even transmarine possessions, in any quarter of the earth. Her ambition has hitherto been continental.

The Empress of Germany has contributed a large sum of money to aid in the formation of an institution to be devoted to the saving of infant life, the mortality of infants in Germany being surpassed in Europe only by that of Austria and Russia.

The St. Thomas Times advocates a professional Hockey team to represent their city in the O. H. A. series. It is quite likely that the suggestion will be acted upon. There are a lot of real live sports in St. Thomas.

The school trustees in Hamilton have ordered that every pupil be furnished with a copy book in the Spencerian system, and that each teacher shall teach, or try to teach, writing according to the book. Hamilton trustees are on the right line. In this age of fancy school subjects there is very apt to be a danger of neglecting the important and fundamental subjects of the three "R's."

With one hundred and sixty-eight women and only five men in attendance, the Normal School offers a startling example of abnormal distribution.—Toronto Star.

A less abnormal distribution obtains in the Ottawa Normal School. Here we have ninety-one women and three men. Yet how lonely must these mere men feel!—Ottawa Citizen.

The lack of male teachers is a serious problem. In Chatham, however, the situation is not quite so disparaging, nineteen men being in attendance in a Model class of 76.

JUST A LITTLE BIT OFF THE TOP

The Council to the oil fields went on a gas investigation. "Our final trip," thus Scullard said, "No more procrastination."

And all enjoyed the trip immensely. From Marshall down to Massey; Forsyth with joy untold, they found—

That natural gas is gassy.

That long, broad smile is fast becoming the coal man's private property once more.

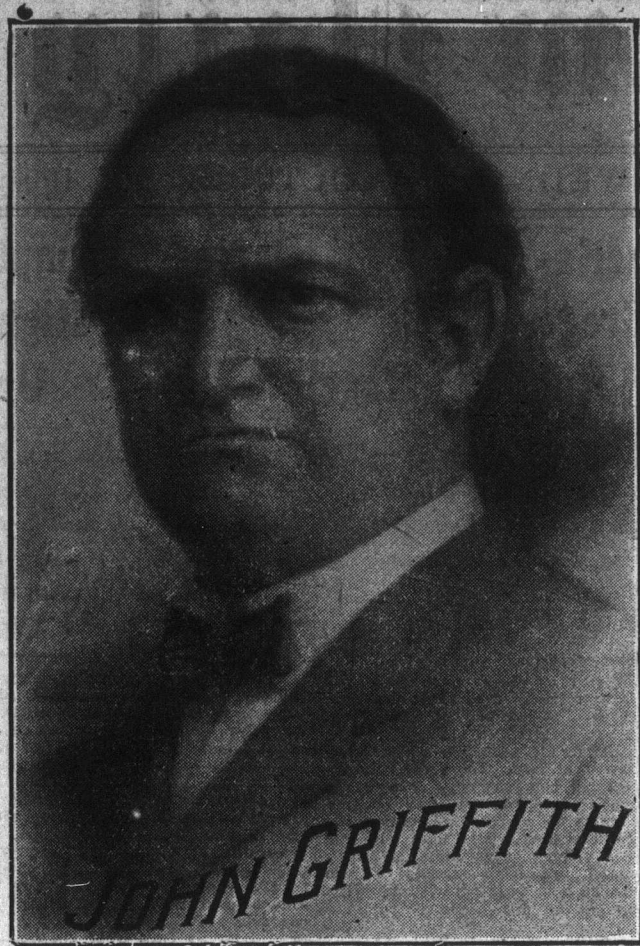

We desire to contradict in the most emphatic manner the rumor that the operators stretched all the older men's pockets before they left for home yesterday, to see that they didn't pinch any natural gas.

At the fall session the other day a young woman was allowed $1,750 in a breath of promise case. This has got endowment policies skinned to death.

Tom Lewis now says that he is going to Toronto to tell the whole truth about the Hyman bribery charges. It behooves Tom to look up his bad memory and fertile imagination some place in London before he starts out.

The people of Heligoland are said to be very fond of fancy soups. The nature of any place with such a free and easy, reckless name should be contented with hash and prunes now and then.

Magistrate Hunt, of St. Thomas, was reported to have said some rather spicy things about unlicensed hotels, which he has since found it necessary to contradict. Now he wishes he had been a still Hunt.

They're going to kick the Hindus out—Brown men arrived quite recent. We feel quite sure the Hindus think such conduct's hardly decent.

Magistrate Denison said that "Tom" Lewis was so stupid he could not talk intelligently. However, when Tom was doing the election stunt for Hyman it appears that he was always accompanied by a comfortable amount of the long green. Therefore on these occasions, Tom most wisely left the "talking" to the good Grif money.

AMPUTATION AVOIDED

ZAM-BUK CURES EXTRAORDINARY CASE OF CHRONIC ULCER.

KINGSTON LADY CURED AFTER HAVING BAD LEG FOR FIVE YEARS.

A powerful example of the healing virtue of Zam-Buk is provided by the case of Mrs. Lizzie Gilmour, who resides with Mrs. Walther in Princess Street, Kingston, Ont. "Five years ago," she says, "I bruised my left leg just above the ankle, causing an ulcer which developed into a very serious wound. There was soon an ulcerated sore around my limb like a bracelet. The foot and ankle were swollen to nearly three times the normal size, and I had to give up wearing a shoe. The pain was terrible. I had medical attendance and was also treated by a New York doctor, but I got no ease. Then I went into a hospital and was there for a long time. While there it was at one time thought advisable to amputate the limb, but this was not done, and at the end of nine months I left the hospital. Soon afterwards the ulcer was as bad as ever, and as I thought of all the pain and suffering I had gone through I felt absolutely discouraged."

At this stage I read in the newspaper about Zam-Buk. I determined to make one more attempt to get a cure. The first few applications brought me the only relief from agony I had had for a long time. The swelling went down as I persevered with the Zam-Buk treatment and the ulcer took on a clearer and more healthy appearance. All the poisonous matter was cleaned out by the balm, and the ulcer then began to heal. New pink flesh has now grown where before was a raw and inflamed sore. Eight boxes of Zam-Buk have done the work! I can now walk about and go up and down stairs, and I cannot feel too grateful for what Zam-Buk has done for me. I deem it my duty to let others who suffer as I have suffered know of this excellent preparation."

Zam-Buk cures eczema, abscesses, ringworm, scalp sores, and all skin diseases by a process of clearing out the poisonous secretions and building up new healthy tissue. It is also a cure for cuts, burns, bruises, sore feet, chafing sores, chapped hands, etc. It stops bleeding, cases of itching and smarting of piles, and in a hundred ways is the handiest and best household balm. All druggists sell at 50 cents a box or direct from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, on receipt of price, six boxes for $2.50. Send one-cent stamp and full name and address and a free sample box will be mailed to you.

Evening School and the Opportunities It Affords

To the Editor of The Planet:

It is so long since an evening school has been held in the city that I almost feel as if we should offer a reason for opening our classes in the evening again.

Many years ago we conducted an evening class regularly every winter, but the School Board of those days got the notion that they should do something of the same kind, and offered instruction that was practically free. I presume they were not as well patronized as the Board expected, and were soon abandoned, and as there was not very much in it for us at any time, we thought it was a good excuse for dropping it, and have held no evening classes for about six years.

However, of late there has been quite a number of inquiries from young fellows holding business positions in the city and in the banks together with numerous others, who want to improve their penmanship, and to get a better knowledge of business subjects, and as we are now better equipped than we ever were before for handling evening classes, we have decided to open one this year, and would thank you to give this notice due publicity in your paper.

To the young men or women who will come to us and make good use of their time, we feel confident that we could make it the best investment of time and money which could possibly be made in their interests."

The next ten or twenty years will see wonderful advancements in Canada. I believe, Canadians have the greatest heritage of any people on the face of the earth, and if we are only true to our trust great things lie before us.

The nineteenth century saw wonderful changes across the line. The twentieth century will, I believe, see as great or greater changes in Canada.

Those of our young people who are at all ambitious, and will give themselves the preparation necessary to qualify for the many choice positions that are continually opening, have possibilities before them that it is impossible to estimate just now.

We will hold these classes on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings of each week for the winter months on and after Monday, Oct. 22nd, and trust that many of the readers of The Planet may see fit to take advantage of them.

Yours sincerely,
D. McLAUCHLIN.

HUNTERS EXCURSIONS VIA CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

The fact that the C. P. R. line runs for so many miles through ideal hunting lands, where moose and deer and smaller game galore wax fat, and await the advent of fall, and the accompanying guns and dogs, is of course, the principal reason why about this time of year the enthusiastic sportsman turns to the well known yellow covered folder, and studies time-tables and maps so industriously. Hunters excursions are round trips, and single fare will soon be the order of the day. The C. P. R. announces that from Oct. 8th to Nov. 6th return tickets to all stations on their main line, Mattawa to Port Arthur, and Mattawa to Temiskaming and Kipawa, will be on sale at single fare, and from Oct. 25th to Nov. 6th tickets at the same low rate to stations on the Lindsay Branch, stations between Sudbury and the Soo and Havelock and Sherbrook Lake. All tickets will be good to return until Dec. 8th with stop-overs allowed anywhere. Special steamship rates to the Soo and Port Arthur will also be in effect. Intending hunters should make a point of calling at the nearest C. P. R. ticket office for further information and for copies of "Fishing and Shooting," "Sportsman's Map," and "Open Seasons and Game Laws," all of which are of particular interest and use to sportsmen, and are free for the asking. A Few Points About Rugs

In every well appointed home as carpets are taken up—worn out, they are never replaced with carpets. Rugs take their place, and most gracefully too, they are far more convenient than carpets, easier to clean, easier to handle no tacks to drive and better, none to pull.

Does not a rich Art Square look better, neater, more refined than a carpet? And its cheaper.

It is needless to say that our rugger is the best and largest in the city. Your friends who have recently visited it, have no doubt, already told you that.

Before you buy a carpet see our rugs. The next time you are in our store stroll around our rugger—it will even pay you to come purposely.

Increased Subsidies Should

PREMIERS' CONVENTION

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—The Provincial Premiers began their conference with a busy day yesterday. The Premiers present were: Ontario, Whitney; Quebec, Gouin; Nova Scotia, Murray; New Brunswick, Tweedie; Prince Edward Island, Peters; Manitoba, Roblin; Saskatchewan, Scott; Alberta, Rutherford; British Columbia, McBride.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in the morning, opened the proceedings with an address of welcome, to which each of the nine Provincial Premiers replied briefly. The federal representatives, then spoke, and Premier Gouin of Quebec was made chairman of the provincial representatives' meeting, and Deputy Attorney-General Landot of Quebec was made secretary.

After an hour's discussion in the morning the meeting was adjourned to give the representatives of the new provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan an opportunity to decide whether the resolutions of the Quebec conference of 1902 would meet their views.

The Quebec resolutions provided for increasing the allowances for legislation made to the provinces at Confederation, to about a quarter of a million dollars each. The allowance is now from $50,000 to $30,000.

The Quebec resolutions also proposed to increase the 80 cents capitation allowance from the population returns of 1860 to those of the census of 1901. They also proposed an allowance of 20 cents a head, for the administration of criminal justice.

At the conference of the provincial representatives yesterday afternoon there was a discussion of the Quebec resolutions. However, some of the representatives do not subscribe to all the details.

Some Opposition.

Premier Whitney, when leader of the Opposition in Ontario, criticized the resolutions when Premier Koss laid them before the Ontario House. While he now wants an increase in the provincial subsidy he is unwilling to subscribe to the exact terms of the resolution he criticized.

Premier Peters of Prince Edward Island, in the case of his province, does not want the capitation allowance based on the last census return, as the population of the island has declined. He wants a minimum fixed for the allowance, which a decrease in population will not affect.

The Premiers of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, while agreeing to the principle of the Quebec resolutions have just had a census taken of their provinces which shows a tremendous growth over 1901. They want the capitation allowance given on the basis of population shown by the 1906 and of any future census.

A sub-committee consisting of Messrs. Gouin, Weir, Murray, McBride, Pugsley, Foy, Campbell and Secretary Landot was appointed to revise the Quebec resolutions. They will report to a meeting of the provincial representatives at 10 o'clock this morning.

If the new draft of resolutions is adopted it will be presented to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the other federal Ministers to-day at 11 a.m.

In addition to the plea for increased subsidies from the federal treasury, the conference will probably consider the question of railway, waterpower, and fisheries jurisdiction as between the federal and local authorities, the alleged encroachments of some of the provincial legislatures on the federal jurisdiction in the taxing of commercial travelers, and of companies trading under federal charter.

Boundary Extensions.

Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Ontario and Quebec will also in all probability consider this occasion to urge their desire for such extension of their northern boundaries as will afford them access to Hudson Bay. The maritime provinces want such an amendment of the B.N.A. Act as will save them from any further reduction of their Parliamentary representation.

Last evening the delegates attended a reception given by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. To-day at 1 o'clock they will be the guests of R. L. Borden at luncheon.

BAD COLLISION IN N. S.

Gloucester, N. S., Oct. 9.—The worst collision in the history of the Sydney & Louisburg Railway took place about four miles from this town yesterday afternoon, and as a result one man, Norman McLellan, is dead. His brother, Daniel, is dying and nine were injured.

The accident was caused by a collision between No. 6 and No. 45, construction trains coming from Louisburg. It appears both trains thought they had a clear track.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse because of the uncertainty as to their harmless character, but a medicine of known composition, a full list of all its ingredients being printed in plain English, on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. It is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, sold through druggists, that does not contain alcohol and that too in large quantities. Furthermore, it is the only medicine for woman's special diseases, the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of some of these endorsements will be sent to you free if you request same by postal card or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't forget that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for woman's weaknesses and ailments, is not a patent or secret medicine, being the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated and graduated physician, engaged in the practice of his chosen specialty—that of diseases of women—that is, the "Favorite Prescription" is not a secret or patent medicine, but a medicine of known composition, a full list of all its ingredients being printed in plain English on every bottle wrapper.

It is the only medicine especially designed for the cure of woman's diseases that contains no alcohol, and the only one that has a professional endorsement worth more than all the so-called "testimonials" ever published for other medicines. Send for these endorsements at once. They are free for the asking.

If you suffer from periodical headache, backache, dizziness, pain or dragging down sensation low down in the abdomen, weak back, have disagreeable and weak, catarrhal, pelvic drain, or are in distress from being long on your feet, then you may be sure of benefit from taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

DEADLY MUSHROOMS.

THE BEAUTIFUL BUT VENOMOUS AMANITA FAMILY.

Beneath the Pleasing Exterior of This Brilliant Fungus Lurks a Vicious Poison That Is Fatal to the Lives of Men and Cattle.

In the dark shade of lofty pine trees and under spreading oaks in more open woods a mushroom is found so remarkable in color and graceful in form that its beauty has excited admiration for hundreds of years. The color of its bright orange cap and its chalk white stem and gills is heightened by the surrounding darkness of the woods and presents a contrast as singular as it is beautiful.

Beneath the pleasing exterior of this brilliant fungus a poison lurks so fatal to the lives of men and cattle that it is called the deadly amanita, and in different countries mothers caution their children to beware of its charms.

Amanita muscaria, the deadly, or fly, amanita, is completely incased in a deco-like covering during the early stages of its growth, which makes it decidedly egg-shaped in form. As the stem lengthens this covering either adheres in loose patches to the top of the cap or it slips away and forms a sheathing to the cup at the base of the stem.

Another inner covering breaks away in its turn from the cap as the mushroom expands and forms a conspicuous collar about the upper part of the stem. The bulbous base of the stem and these ruptured, fleshy coverings are pronounced characteristics which are most helpful in distinguishing this dangerous fungus from the other varieties of mushrooms.

It is strong, free from pests and grows to a height from four to sixteen inches. In color the cap is sometimes bright scarlet, again orange or yellow or reddish in the center and like yellow toward the edges, and it has noticeable wartlike patches spread over the top. On old plants the color fades out, and late in the season particularly forms of the deadly amanita are found which are almost white. The stem is easily separated from the cup at its base.

This mushroom is more generally known than any of the other poisonous species. It has long been used as a fly poison in Europe, and it takes its name, muscaria, from the Latin word for a fly. Its poisonous effect upon human beings begins a few hours after it has been eaten. The symptoms are nausea and faintness, with cold perspiration and stupor, followed in severe cases by death from a gradual weakening of the heart.

A strong emetic should be given at once, and in all cases a physician should be called. Sulphate of atropin is the only known chemical antidote for this poison, and to save the patient it must be promptly administered by hypodermic injections.

The poison may also be absorbed through the pores of the skin, and bad cases of poisoning have been produced by simply holding an amanita in the closed hand or breathing its exhalations in a warm room.

If poisonous mushrooms are packed in the same box with edible ones the virus from the poisonous fungi is absorbed by the harmless mushrooms, and they become as dangerous to eat as the original offenders.

In certain countries the deadly amanita seems to lose some of its virulence, and in the north of Russia and parts of northeastern Asia it is used in the same manner as wine for its intoxicating effects. The mushrooms are gathered in hot weather and are hung up in the air to dry or they are sometimes picked fresh and put into soup or sauces. A small amount swallowed is enough to produce a day's intoxication.

Another fatally dangerous member of the amanita family is the death cup (Amanita phalloides), a beautiful mushroom which also grows in the woods, especially in pine forests. It is not so highly colored as the deadly amanita, and, unlike that mushroom, it has a smooth, satiny cap. It is usually white or straw colored, but specimens are found which are light brown, green, yellow and spotted. The stem is white and nearly smooth, and the cup at the base of the stem is invariably present.

The death cup is even more poisonous than the deadly amanita and stands first among all noxious fungi for its poisonous qualities. It grows in the eastern and middle states and in particularly large quantities near the city of Washington.

Another amanita (Amanita verna), found in the woods in spring, is also very poisonous and may be told by its color, which is a creamy white throughout.

Although it is said that the amanitas are the only mushrooms which have proved fatal to human life, there are other varieties which cause such acute distress that it is well to guard against eating them.

The boleti, for instance, have several varieties which are nonedible, although many kinds, on the other hand, make delicious food. The boleti are distinguished by a sponge-like surface of pores instead of gills beneath the cap. The harmful varieties are bitter, as a rule, and change color to blue or red when cut or broken. The edible varieties remain white.—Annie Oakes Huntington in Youth's Companion.

R. MATHISON RESIGNS.

Leaves Deaf and Dumb Institute at Belleville to Become Supreme Secretary of the I. O. F.—His Letter.

Toronto, Oct. 9.—Mr. R. Mathison, superintendent and principal of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Belleville, personally handed in his resignation to Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education and acting Premier, whom he called upon at the Education Department yesterday morning.

He leaves the Government service to become Supreme Secretary of the Independent Order of Foresters, in succession to Lieut.-Col. J. A. McGilivray, who is resigning on account of ill-health, not having been able to attend his duties during the last three or four months. The appointment was made at a meeting of the executive of the Foresters held at the Foresters' Island on Saturday. Mr. Mathison has been a Forester for 20 years, for 14 of which he was Supreme Journal Secretary.

"Praise For Present Government."

In speaking to a reporter of his resignation, Mr. Mathison said that while he was a Liberal and had been appointed by a Liberal Government, he was glad to say that since the change in Government he had received from the present administration the most courteous treatment in every way. There was, therefore, nothing political in the change. He was simply resigning because he had a better position awaiting him.

The Letter of Resignation.

Mr. Mathison's letter to Hon. Dr. Pyne formally conveying his resignation was as follows:

"Dear Sir.—After a service of thirty-four and one-half years, six years as Bursar of the Asylum at London, one and a half as Manager of Industries and Bursar of the Central Prison, Toronto, and 27 in my present position, I tender herewith my resignation as Superintendent and Principal of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Belleville, to take effect on Nov. 15, if convenient to you. Before leaving I wish to present the annual report to Sept. 30, and close up all matters of accounts, etc. I shall remain any longer period that you may think necessary in order to give my successor such information as he may wish, and if at any time my experience is desired in furthering the interests of the deaf and dumb of this province it will be at your command."

"During my whole tenure of office I have been content to perform the various duties assigned me to the very best of my ability, and it is a pleasing recollection at the present time that I enjoyed the confidence of the Ministers and the various Governments under whom I served."

"I notice by the newspapers that Mr. Snow of Toronto has been appointed by Royal Commission to enquire into matters connected with this institution. Would you kindly arrange for Mr. Snow to commence his enquiries here in the near future, in order that his findings may be arrived at before I leave the service."

"Allow me to thank you personally for many courtesies since you have been head of this institution. I have received every consideration that you could possibly extend."

Is Well Known.

Mr. Mathison, who is an M. A. and an old newspaper man, was born in 1843, and has been an authority on the education of the deaf and dumb for a number of years, and is well-known across the border in this capacity. The inspectors of the Education Department have repeatedly complimented the management of the Belleville institution under Mr. Mathison's care.

T. & N. O. SPUR LINES.

Contracts Have Been Let—Cost Will Be About $250,000.

Toronto, Oct. 9.—Contracts for the new spur lines on the T. and N. O. Railway system have been let in connection with the clearing and grading of the proposed branches. The rails will be laid by the staff of the commission, and the total cost of the several new lines will be about $250,000 for almost 14 miles.

The Canadian Constructing Co., Montreal, has been awarded the eight miles of the Charlton branch, from Englehart to Long Lake.

McQuigg & Hunt, Amprior, got the Halleybury spur, a mile and three-quarters, connecting the main line with Halleybury Wharf.

A Spencer, Niagara Falls, obtained a four-mile contract from the main line at Cobalt into the Kerr Lake region, part of which will traverse the mineral section of the Gills limit, and be of much convenience to the Government exploitation works.

NO PRIEST AT FUNERAL.

Ex-Mayor Beauregard Neglected to Revoke Portion of Will.

Montreal, Oct. 9.—A strange situation has been created by the death of ex-Mayor Beauregard, who, although dying in the Catholic faith, cannot receive Catholic burial, and will be cremated this morning at 10 o'clock.

In May last Mr. Beauregard made a will stipulating that there must be no ceremony, religious or otherwise, at his funeral, no flowers, no pall-bearers, and his body must be cremated. When Beauregard retired last month he told the archbishop he would strike out those clauses of the will, but this he failed to do, so the executors will give it effect to-day in its entirety.

The estate of the late mayor will foot up to nearly $200,000, all of which will go to his daughter, Mrs. Vallancourt. Madame Beauregard having the use of it during her lifetime.

Bishop Arnett Dead.

Xenia, Ohio, Oct. 9.—Bishop William Benjamin Arnett of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, died of pneumonia Sunday night at the Wilberforce University. Bishop Arnett presided over the parliament of religions in Chicago, Sept. 18, 1892, and at the ecumenical conference of Methodists in London, Sept. 7, 1901.

Experience count anything with you? Then what do you think of 60 years' experience with Ayer's Sarsaparilla! Sixty years of curing thin blood, weak this. Ask him to tell you honestly what he thinks it will do for your case. Then do precisely as he says.

In speaking to a reporter of his resignation, Mr. Mathison said that while he was a Liberal and had been appointed by a Liberal Government, he was glad to say that since the change in Government he had received from the present administration the most courteous treatment in every way. There was, therefore, nothing political in the change. He was simply resigning because he had a better position awaiting him.

The Letter of Resignation.

Mr. Mathison's letter to Hon. Dr. Pyne formally conveying his resignation was as follows:

"Dear Sir.—After a service of thirty-four and one-half years, six years as Bursar of the Asylum at London, one and a half as Manager of Industries and Bursar of the Central Prison, Toronto, and 27 in my present position, I tender herewith my resignation as Superintendent and Principal of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Belleville, to take effect on Nov. 15, if convenient to you. Before leaving I wish to present the annual report to Sept. 30, and close up all matters of accounts, etc. I shall remain any longer period that you may think necessary in order to give my successor such information as he may wish, and if at any time my experience is desired in furthering the interests of the deaf and dumb of this province it will be at your command."

"During my whole tenure of office I have been content to perform the various duties assigned me to the very best of my ability, and it is a pleasing recollection at the present time that I enjoyed the confidence of the Ministers and the various Governments under whom I served."

"I notice by the newspapers that Mr. Snow of Toronto has been appointed by Royal Commission to enquire into matters connected with this institution. Would you kindly arrange for Mr. Snow to commence his enquiries here in the near future, in order that his findings may be arrived at before I leave the service."

"Allow me to thank you personally for many courtesies since you have been head of this institution. I have received every consideration that you could possibly extend."

Is Well Known.

Mr. Mathison, who is an M. A. and an old newspaper man, was born in 1843, and has been an authority on the education of the deaf and dumb for a number of years, and is well-known across the border in this capacity. The inspectors of the Education Department have repeatedly complimented the management of the Belleville institution under Mr. Mathison's care.

T. & N. O. SPUR LINES.

Contracts Have Been Let—Cost Will Be About $250,000.

Toronto, Oct. 9.—Contracts for the new spur lines on the T. and N. O. Railway system have been let in connection with the clearing and grading of the proposed branches. The rails will be laid by the staff of the commission, and the total cost of the several new lines will be about $250,000 for almost 14 miles.

The Canadian Constructing Co., Montreal, has been awarded the eight miles of the Charlton branch, from Englehart to Long Lake.

McQuigg & Hunt, Amprior, got the Halleybury spur, a mile and three-quarters, connecting the main line with Halleybury Wharf.

A Spencer, Niagara Falls, obtained a four-mile contract from the main line at Cobalt into the Kerr Lake region, part of which will traverse the mineral section of the Gills limit, and be of much convenience to the Government exploitation works.

NO PRIEST AT FUNERAL.

Ex-Mayor Beauregard Neglected to Revoke Portion of Will.

Montreal, Oct. 9.—A strange situation has been created by the death of ex-Mayor Beauregard, who, although dying in the Catholic faith, cannot receive Catholic burial, and will be cremated this morning at 10 o'clock.

In May last Mr. Beauregard made a will stipulating that there must be no ceremony, religious or otherwise, at his funeral, no flowers, no pall-bearers, and his body must be cremated. When Beauregard retired last month he told the archbishop he would strike out those clauses of the will, but this he failed to do, so the executors will give it effect to-day in its entirety.

The estate of the late mayor will foot up to nearly $200,000, all of which will go to his daughter, Mrs. Vallancourt. Madame Beauregard having the use of it during her lifetime.

Owing to a typographical error, Wm. Foreman & Co.'s advertisement read in yesterday's issue "Clan Tartans" per yard 10 cents, instead of $1.00. Any one who looks at these beautiful goods will readily agree they are well worth $1.00 per yard.

Preventives, as the name implies, prevent all Colds and Grippe when taken at the sneeze stage. Preventives are toothsome candy tablets. Preventives dissipate all colds quickly, and taken early, when you first feel that a cold is coming, they check and prevent them. SALADA TEA

In this age of agitation for pure, clean foods, it is refreshing to know that "SALADA" Ceylon Tea is sold to the public in all of its native freshness and fragrance, preserved in sealed air-tight packets direct from the gardens to the consumer, insuring a cup of tea "in perfection" hitherto unknown.

This fact is alone accountable for its enormous and ever-growing popularity. But as in the case of many other successful articles, many worthless imitations abound, therefore, it is necessary to demand "SALADA" and steadfastly refuse substitutes.

Adjutant Fred. Stone Provides Spread At Mounteer's

AN UNIQUE TOAST LIST

After drill last evening the members of "C" Company of the 24th Regiment were invited over to Mounteer's restaurant by their retiring captain, Adjutant Fred. Stone. At Mounteer's Adjutant Stone had a banquet waiting for the boys.

The restaurant was appropriately decorated for the occasion with emblems and flags, while each of the napkins used bore the colors and design of the Union Jack. After the wants of the inner man had been thoroughly attended to, the cigars were passed, and the genial Adjutant presided as toast-master over the following list:

"The King"—Responded to by the entire Company.

"C" Company—Responded to by Color Sergeant Morley and Sergeant Guttridge.

"D" Company—Responded to by Major Massey.

The Staff—Responded to by Sgt. Major Clements.

Our Host—Responded to by Quartermaster Sergeant Mounteer.

In responding to the toast to the Regiment, Major Massey made the interesting announcement that "C" Company would shortly be given another banquet by their new captain, Capt. O. L. Lewis, who was unable to be present at last night's spread.

A very enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

"C" Company was the first formed in the 24th Regiment, and dates back six years. It was first under Capt. Mowbray, and since that time has always been looked upon as the banner Company of the Regiment.

Mr. R. E. Gosnell, A Former Chatham Boy Retires From Editorship Of Victoria Colonist

Many readers of the Colonist will regret to learn that Mr. R. E. Gosnell has resigned his position on the Colonist as editor and manager. By request of the Premier he will accompany him this morning to Ottawa on his mission in connection with "Better Terms" and will remain with him during the conference of provincial premiers. Upon his return Mr. Gosnell will complete his "Life of Sir James Douglas" for the Makers of Canada series and will then devote himself to his land enterprises on Vancouver Island. Mr. Gosnell has the best wishes of the Colonist for his success.—Victoria, B. C., Colonist.

Mr. Gosnell will be remembered by many Chathamites as having at one time been the editor of this journal. He has been the editor of the Colonist for a number of years, and under his guiding hand the newspaper has been a newsy journal and an influence in the community where it flourishes. It is now one of the first journals in the Dominion. Mr. Gosnell was one of the first members of the Macaulay Club, which was organized in this city when Mr. Gosnell lived here. His many friends and admirers in Chatham will be pleased to hear of his wonderful success, and will join in congratulations.

THE COUNCIL IN TILBURY

Visit the Gas Wells on a Trip of Investigation.

THE GAS IN ABUNDANCE

The members of the City Council, in company with a number of the oil and gas magnates paid a visit of inspection to the Tilbury fields yesterday. The party left Harrison Hall yesterday morning at 10.30. They were taken out to the fields in about a dozen conveyances.

The deputation consisted of Mayor W. S. Marshall and Aldermen Austin, Scullard, Stone, Benson, Radley, Potter and Massey, City Clerk Merritt, City Engineer Jones, and Messrs. Owen Sawyer, Stevens, Cowan, Aitkin, Enggan, Symms and the Cost brothers.

The day was cold, and there was a rather bleak wind blowing, but all were in good spirits, and the trip proved enjoyable as well as instructive to the aldermen, who were desirous of obtaining practical information with regard to the gas fields.

The ground was covered quite thoroughly, and every gas well in the vicinity was visited. At the Halliday well, which is blocked in, and is said to have a tremendous gas pressure, a test was given. Gas was turned on through three of the vent pipes and ignited. The flames came out with a terrific roar, followed by a miniature explosion when they were lighted. The flames shot out several rods in length. The visitors were satisfied that there is indeed a strong pressure in this well.

Lunch was served at Mr. Halliday's home, and Mr. Halliday and family were more than hospitable.

The aldermen returned late in the evening, all thoroughly tired out with their day's exertion, ready to enjoy a solid night's sleep.

On the Bridge at Midnight—Oct. 13.

No play has a stronger appeal to human sympathy than "On the Bridge at Midnight," with its slightless mother looking for her stolen child while the tide of events flows all against her as she gropes about in the heart of a great city. But even the sad side of city life has its humor and this is very ingeniously introduced in "On the Bridge at Midnight," with two characters, among others, that have become popular as the famous drawbridge scene, Germany the professor, and Reddy the bootblack. The management has not made the mistake of to be noted in some flamingly advertised plays, on relying on a bit of scenery to get the attention and patronage of the public. They offer a full and excellent drama, with even such a masterpiece as the bridge scene taking its proper place as an aid to the story.

The company presenting "On the Bridge at Midnight" this season includes two widely known comedians for the leading comedy characters and other metropolitan actors. At Chatham, Saturday, Oct. 13. Prices—Lower floor, 35c, 50c and a few at 75c; second floor, 25c and 50c; gallery, 15c; matinee prices, 15c and 25c.

The following is taken from the Ottawa Citizen of September 20th, 1905:

Shakespeare's immortal tragedy, King Richard the Third, was presented yesterday afternoon and evening at the Russell theatre, before audiences that filled the playhouse at both the matinee and evening performances. John Griffith, the Canadian tragic actor, who was seen here last year in Macbeth, held the title role, and acted his part with his usual ability.

The character is a heavy strain on the physical and mental capabilities of any actor taking it, and Mr. Griffith more than fulfilled the requirements of the role. The development of Richard's character was a rare revelation of dramatic genius, and in Mr. Griffith's hands it did not suffer. He had his audience on the pin points of interest and expectation from the assassination scene in the Tower till the death throes of the Plantagenet dynasty on Bosworth field.

Charles Sutton as King Henry VI. and William Lloyd as Richmond and Buckingham, were capable supporters. Leo Kennedy had the role of Lord Stanley, and was well seconded by Jas. B. Linhart as Duke of Norfolk. Misses Mabel Standish and Katherine Roth adequately portrayed Lady Anne and Edward IV's queen, Edward, Prince of Wales, and the youthful Duke of York were personated by two young ladies, Misses Ethel and Emily Clifton.

The costumes were gorgeous. From beginning to end there was a shimmer of armor and a lavish display of the silks and ermines wherein the dignitaries of these far-off times arrayed themselves when they wished to create an impression. The action of the play gave occasion to a blood-curdling ghost-scene in Richard's tent on the eve of the decisive battle, and a consequent vivid physical and mental display of the pangs of conscience. The battle of Bosworth was also introduced with attendant sword play.

"Grand Peninsular"

Is an Ornament to the Home.

Popular taste no longer clings to deeply carved, highly ornamental ranges. People now want rich, yet simple, elegance. That is the way I make my new Grand Peninsular Range. The "Grand Peninsular" is easy to keep clean, because there are no deep carvings to collect the dust and dirt. The design is simple but very effective. No fuss or frills. Just smooth surfaces which take a beautiful bright polish. The nickelled castings are detachable, and can be lifted off without loosening a bolt, when the range is to be brushed or cleaned.

Then there is the ALL-STEEL OVEN—the THERMOMETER on the oven door—extra large GRATE BARS—and a dozen other time-and-labor-saving conveniences—that are exclusive with my GRAND PENINSULAR. Have your dealer show you all these points.

ON WILLIE'S ACCOUNT

By BEATRICE STURGES

Copyright, 1906, by C. H. Sutcliffe

Willie sat on the steps in a distinctly unhappy mood. It was the first of July, bright and beautiful. The garden was ablaze with flowers and he could pick as many as he wanted. His ball and books and little fire engine lay on the porch beside him, and his collie pup was begging him to come and play, but Willie had no heart for any of these attractions.

He was grieved. What was the use, he reflected, of being the only child if your father and mother go away for two weeks and leave you at home? What was the use of having a young aunt stay at your house if she shut herself up in her room and wouldn't come downstairs? And what was the use of being alive at all when the circus was coming to town in three days and nobody had invited you to go? Life was full of terrible problems. He was just wondering if he hadn't better cry about it when he saw a friend coming down the street and hastily changed his mind.

This friend was no less a person than Max Harwood, chief of the volunteer fire department of Norwood, commodore of the local yachting club and a hero in Willie's eyes. By some mysterious coincidence Commodore Max appeared on the scene with great promptness and frequency whenever Willie's aunt, Miss Marjorie Dean, came for a visit, and as these visits had been rather numerous during the year just passed Willie knew him well enough to rummage through his pockets and to boast about their intimacy whenever any of the other boys needed a little wind taken out of their sails.

To Willie's surprise Max was passing with merely a wave of the hand, so the little boy jumped up and ran after him.

"Hello, Napoleon!" cheerily called his hero. It was his fancy to call Willie by the names of the world's great generals, one after another.

"Good morning, commodore; aren't you coming in to see us?"

"Guess not, Hannibal; it's pretty early for company."

"You have been earlier than this," said the child reproachfully.

"Well—I'm kind of busy this morning."

Willie was turning away to hide the hurt look in his eyes. Nobody wanted to bother him. Max saw this and hastily added:

"But get your cap and come along. I'm going down to fix up the boat. You can help me."

The delighted child raced back to the house for his cap and then was off hand in hand with the commodore, happy as a lark.

They worked all the morning on the boat and then the commodore took Willie up the river for a sail.

"Are you going to the circus, Agamemnon?" inquired Max, by way of conversation.

With a recurrent touch of gloom Willie was forced to admit that he didn't think he was.

"Well, I'd like to take somebody of just about your size," went on his host, "and I think that somebody is you. What do you say, my hearty?"

"Fine! Fine!" shouted Willie.

"Well, heave ho, there, and we'll splice the main brace. Keep out of the lee scuppers while I hoist the mainsail. Ha! Ulysses, what do you think of that?" And Max, who loved to mix up nautical terms with Willie's excitement, made the cleanest kind of a landing at his own pier.

"Did you ever shiver your timbers, commodore?" asked Willie.

"Lots of times, Wellington, and still live to tell the tale. Don't forget about the Fourth-side show, fat lady, peanuts, elephants, pink lemonade—we'll see it all."

"Indeed I won't!" cried the child, wild with delight as he raced into the house to tell his aunt.

She was watching for him anxiously.

"Oh, Willie boy, where have you been all the morning?" she exclaimed, kissing him.

He told her breathlessly, and she listened to his admiration of the commodore with rising color.

"Isn't he perfectly splendid, Aunt Marjorie? They say there are ten elephants and the lions growl something awful! But I won't be afraid with the commodore. Only I wish you were coming too. Wouldn't you like it? I'm sure he'd take you, too, if you asked him."

"No, honey, I—I don't think so. I don't expect to see the commodore again; we—we aren't friends any more."

"Oh, auntie!" exclaimed Willie, in genuine dismay. "And he's so good too!"

Willie thought for a minute that his Aunt Marjorie was going to cry, and then he was surprised to hear her say in a manner singularly unlike her usual gentleness. "Maybe some people think he is good, but I know his true character, and I don't think you ought to go around alone with him."

This speech was rendered with all the dignity that a woman of the world, aged nineteen, could muster.

"You went with him alone to lots of places," complained Willie. "You went last night."

"Yes, and that's just the reason I'm not going again. If a man takes a girl to a dance and forgets her he will certainly forget her when he takes her to the circus, and then what would happen to you?"

Really this was awful. Willie had never seen his dear little aunt in such a state, but she was very sweet to him and took him out driving that afternoon, stopping in the village to buy him candy and lots of fireworks for the Fourth. He didn't know what to think about his beloved commodore, but saw him the next day and promptly repeated the whole conversation. It seemed to him the simplest way out of the difficulty.

"Did you forget, commodore?" he inquired.

"Great Scott, Willie, wasn't I did: she says so; but she may be lonesome," he said grimly. "Girls are queer creatures, Wellington; you'll find that out some day. But don't say another word about the circus. I'll fix it some way. You're going to see it as sure as your name is Vinegar."

So Willie kept his counsel and was petted much by his auntie for the next two days. On the morning of the Fourth he was firing off his crackers from the open window in his little nightclothes at 4 o'clock, and Marjorie said never a word of complaint. She had made up her mind to take him to the circus herself and to get away early to avoid any possible conflict with her former great friend, the commodore—now a stranger forever.

Before lunch was over, however, the commodore's touring car stopped at the door and the commodore was standing on the porch, cap in hand, announcing that he had come.

"Yes, I see," returned Marjorie coolly, but deliberately avoiding his gaze. Max had such a way of looking at one. "But what for?"

"Why, to take my friend Julius Caesar to the circus."

Willie looked anxiously from one to the other in an ecstasy of hope and suspense.

"I told Willie," he interrupted, "but if you come, too, it will be all right."

"Oh, yes, auntie!" cried Willie, jumping with joyful anticipation.

Marjorie tried hard to look cool and dignified.

"Would you spoil that child's day?" asked the commodore, coming closer. "Marjorie, please!" His eyes urged her as well as his voice.

She looked at him. "All right, I'll go. But it's just on Willie's account."

"Any reason will do," responded Max as he helped her into the car. "But maybe you can find a better one before we get home. I'm going to ride back here with you and William."

He lifted the delighted child, gave him a hug, and put him in the front seat with the chauffeur. "William the Conqueror is going to have the time of his life."

The Turquoise Land.

Sinal was known as the "turquoise land" in very ancient times, and Dr. Flinders Petrie believes that it was the first mining center in the world. In his book on the subject Dr. Petrie tells of the various expeditions sent to Sinal by the Egyptian government. At the head of the party was the "com-mander," or "bearer of the seal of the god," the pharaoh. The official staff consisted of "masters of the house of metals," or assayers, scribes and secretaries, to make inventories of the output of the mines. Even more modern were the "divers of metals," or prospectors.

The working staff consisted of miners and their assistants. The commissariat had cooks, bread bakers, water carriers and even a doctor attached. The mines could only be worked for a certain period, from January to May, which is exactly the best period for archaeological work in Sinal today. The miners lived in camps, and the so-called forts and camps were really miners' villages.

England and the Sea.

Yorkshire alone has a record of no fewer than twelve drowned towns and villages. There was Ravenspur, for instance, which was constituted a free borough by Edward I. at a cost of £300 and became a seaport of almost national importance. There it was that Edward Balliol embarked with a force of 2,500 strong in order to win the crown of Scotland. The town, bigger and more important than Hull, had five churches, a capacious harbor and a number of buildings befitting its rank and importance. Where are they now?—London Pall Mall Gazette.

CHAIN OF COLD STORAGE

WOULD PUT ONTARIO'S FRUIT BUSINESS ON SCIENTIFIC BASIS.

Happy-Go-Lucky Condition and Tremendous Waste Would Be Ended Thereby—Plan That Would Benefit Growers and Consumers as Well—Fruit Side-Line Would Then Take on Added Dignity and Profit.

Slowly but surely the idea of cold storage has been gaining ground among the farmers of Ontario for some years past, and signs are not wanting that in the future it is to advance much more rapidly but none the less surely. The time seems almost ripe for the adoption of some comprehensive scheme of cold storage that shall be available to the farmers and fruit-growers of the country, and not confined to the middlemen, whose present profits are out of all proportion to the services they render. By a chain of cold storage warehouses throughout the province the fruit trade of Ontario could be put on the same scientific, business-like basis as the cheese industry, says The Mail and Empire. At present it is wallowing in the happy-go-lucky condition that dairying was in before the advent of the creamery.

Our Apple Production.

Roughly speaking, the Dominion of Canada produces about 17,000,000 barrels of apples a year, Ontario furnishing more than 15,000,000 barrels. Of the 17,000,000 barrels, 1,500,000 barrels are exported, and that 750,000 barrels of these exported reach the British market in a loose or sloppy condition is a matter of official record. That is to say, of 17,000,000 barrels produced, only 150,000 barrels are placed on the British market in good condition, a profit to the exporters and a credit to the country. What, then, becomes of the 15,500,000 or 16,000,000 barrels that are not exported? Suppose every man, woman and child in Canada eats a barrel of them, nearly 10,000,000 barrels are left to be accounted for.

Tremendous Waste.

The answer is simple, the great bulk of the apples produced in Ontario either rot on the trees, fall to the ground and are fed to the hogs, or rot before they can be placed on the market. In any event they are no profit to the growers. They are wasted. It hardly needs to be said that any plan devised to eliminate this enormous and ruinous waste is worthy of a Government's consideration. That cold storage warehouses erected all over the country like creameries, will save these 10,000,000 barrels of apples to the fruit-growers of the country is asserted. It is claimed, moreover, that the adoption of this plan will give the farmer far better prices for his apples and practically eliminate the middleman, who alone makes any money out of the existing conditions.

Middleman's Big Profits.

It is not uncommon to hear apple-buyers boast of having bought apples for 25c a barrel on the trees. The same apples are sold for from ten to twenty times the price, thus allowing the middleman a tremendous margin for profit that spoils on him, and the occasional fines for violating the Fruit Marks' Act, and leaving a great, big profit besides. With a well-organized cold storage plant in the neighborhood, the farmer would be obliged to sell his crop for whatever the buyer would give him. For 25c a barrel he could store his apples until the market was ready to receive them. Then he could produce his fruit, and sell it for half the price charged by the middleman at present and yet make twice the profit.

The Farmer's Predicament.

General cold storage would necessarily reduce the price of apples to the consumer in the home market, for the great bulk of the crop would be marketed instead of going to waste. At present the middleman has to make allowance for a big percentage of waste, and that is one of the reasons why the price of apples is high. In the summer the farmer can hardly give away his early apples, and in the winter he has to be ready to receive them. Then he could produce his fruit, and sell it for half the price charged by the middleman at present and yet make twice the profit.

Fruit is a Side Line.

Speaking of farmers generally, and excepting those whose fathers had the patience and courage to plant North-Spice, Baldwins, and other hardy winter apples, their fruit crop is an incident, and is to be reckoned with the few odd dollars the mother of the family makes out of her chickens. Now, with the strong western competition in wheat and rough cattle, the Ontario farmer must fall back upon the side line of farming if he is to hold his own. There is more money in them after all, and this important lesson is being slowly learned.

The Profitable Farm.

The Ontario farmer who has a good orchard, a few acres of grain, roots and garden truck, a good herd of dairy cattle, a score or so of hogs, and some good poultry and a few well-bred horses to sell every year need not envy the westerner with a quarter section in wheat. The creameries were necessary to make the cows pay, and with cold storage the apple trees of Ontario will lift a mortgage.

Tragic Sequel of Dream.

A curious coincidence in connection with the death of young Gould, the English lad who was accidentally shot by A. E. Wilde on Labor Day at Strattona, and who was a nephew of Lord Kinnaird of Scotland, has come to light. On the morning of the accident Gould told at the breakfast table how he had dreamed during the night that a man was chasing him with a gun. The members of the family joked him about the dream and after supper while Wilde was cleaning his guns he picked up one and pointing it at the boy, said, "I suppose this is the way the man was chasing you in your dream."

To his horror the gun exploded while in his hands, the bullet striking the boy's heart, causing instant death.

MIDDLE LIFE

A Time When Women Are Susceptible to Many Dread Diseases—Intelligent Women Prepare for It. Two Relate Their Experiences.

The "change of life" is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and the anxiety felt by women as it draws near is not without reason.

Every woman who neglects the care of her health at this time invites disease and pain.

When her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy, or congestion of any organ, the tendency is at this period likely to become active—and with a host of nervous irritations, make life a burden. At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, back-aches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness, inquietude, and dizziness are promptly aided by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life. It invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system.

For special advice regarding this important period women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and it will be furnished absolutely free of charge. The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant before her decease, and for twenty-five years since her advice has been freely given to sick women.

Read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound did for Mrs. Powless and Mrs. Mann:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

"In my opinion there is no medicine made for women which can compare with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and you have no firmer friend in the Dominion than I am. At the time of change of life I suffered until I was nearly crazy, and was not fit to live with. I was so irritable, nervous, and restless that I was a torment to myself and others. I surely thought that I would lose my reason before I got through, when fortunately an old friend recommended your Vegetable Compound."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

Mrs. E. Powless

I took it for five months and then off and on until the critical period had passed and it restored me to perfect health. My nerves to suffering women is to try your Vegetable Compound, and they will not be disappointed."—Mrs. E. Powless, Deseronto, Ont.

Another Woman's Case.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

"As I owe my splendid health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I am very pleased to write and tell you my experience with it. I am the mother of three children grown to womanhood, and have safely passed the change of life, and feel as young and as strong as I did twenty years ago, and I know that this is all due to your woman's friend, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I used it before my children were born, and it greatly assisted nature and saved me much pain during the change of life. I took it off and on, for four years, and had but little trouble and sickness that most women have to endure."

—Mrs. James K. Mann, 805 Bathurst St., Toronto, Canada.

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Powless and Mrs. Mann, it will do for other women at this time of life.

It has conquered pain, restored health, and prolonged life in cases that utterly baffled physicians.

THE EARTH'S MOTION.

Easy to Demonstrate It by a Simple Experiment.

It is quite possible to prove that the earth revolves on its axis by a simple experiment and without having recourse to mathematics. Take a good sized bowl, fill it nearly full of water and place it upon the floor of a room which is not exposed to shaking or jarring from the street.

Sprinkle over the surface of the water a coating of lycopodium powder, a white substance which is sometimes used for the toilet and can be bought at almost any drug store. Then upon the surface of this coating of powder make with powdered charcoal a straight black line, say, an inch or two inches in length and lying north and south.

Having made this little black mark with the charcoal powder on the surface of the contents of the bowl, lay down upon the floor a stick or other exactly parallel with the mark. If the line happens to be parallel with a crack in the floor or with any stationary object in the room this will serve as well.

Leave the bowl undisturbed for a few hours and then notice the position of the black mark with reference to the object that it was parallel with. It will be found to have shifted its direction and to have moved from east to west—that is to say, in a direction opposite to that of the movement of the earth on its axis.

ROSS HAS BAD MEMORY

Hon. Geo. E. Foster Unshaken By The Evidence Of Others

HE STANDS BY MINUTES

Toronto, Oct. 10.—The echo of the court room was the only response when the name of Mr. George W. Foster, M. P., was called by Mr. Shepley at the session of the Insurance Commission yesterday morning. The time was spent in supplying missing links in the chain of testimony.

Hon. G. W. Ross.
Hon. G. W. Ross was the first to give evidence. He had been a director of the Union Trust for some three years and held $1,000 of stock, but the transaction with the Great West Land Co. had originated before he came in and he had not become familiar with it nor taken much interest in that matter. He could not recall particular discussions regarding the unloading of lands by the Trust Co., except the agreement by which Dr. Montague was to dispose of 100,000 acres for the Trust Co. He could not recall any discussion of releasing the 237 shares of bonus stock from the moving of the adoption of the mortgage agreement which was attributed to him in the minutes. He said he thought he would remember it there had been any discussion of surrendering stock.

Clerks Who Copied Minutes.
Two clerks in the employ of the Trust Co. who copied the minutes of the meetings of Nov. 7 and 13 in the minute book testified that the draft was prepared by Mr. Foster.

Hon. George E. Foster.
Hon. G. E. Foster told of the borrowing which the Union Trust Co. had done. A bylaw in February, 1902, gave authority to borrow $200,000. This was afterwards increased to $400,000. The borrowing was for investment in stocks and Mr. Foster admitted that they had anticipated their possession of money for investment by borrowing money. The company had loaned money on Crow's Nest Pass shares, and the property of the loan had been fully discussed. The $400,000 was borrowed in New York through the local Standard Bank. The company bought stock outright in New York. The balance of 50 per cent. unpaid stock was called in to increase the working power of the company. Then the capital stock was increased $500,000 to meet maturing obligations and to get clear title to Western lands and avoid paying interest.

Stand By His Side.
Mr. Foster also said that, notwithstanding the testimony of Lieut.-Col. Davidson and Hon. George W. Ross, he still held that the minutes were correct and in accordance with his recollection of the facts.

The examination of Mr. Foster was continued in the afternoon. The compilation of securities and stocks held by the Union Trust at the end of the year 1905 was produced by Mr. Shepley. This showed a total amount of stocks on Dec. 31 of market value held by the company to be $347,500, against a book value of $449,109.68.

A Question of Borrowing.
"You had to pay Pope and Fowler the extra dollar per acre by way of getting an interest in the company if you had not financed the game yourself?"

Mr. Foster said "yes."
"Did it occur to you that you were practically borrowing money to pay on the lands you had bought?"

Witness said the syndicate did not borrow a single dollar from the Trust Co. to get the stock, but admitted that the syndicate had borrowed from the Union Trust Co. to pay Pope and Fowler for the delivered option.

The Montague deal, as given by Dr. Oronchatekha, was asserted by the witness as being accurate in every detail.
At the time of the turning over of the lands of the Montague syndicate to the Union Trust Co. Mr. Foster gave his unwilling assent to the deal, claiming he had some equity that should have been settled.

A transaction with the Manitoba & Northwestern Road Co. was explained by the witness. When the syndicate wanted to buy these lands the price was too high and the manager of that company said that he was getting a commission of 25 per cent., he would half it with the syndicate. Hence Mr. Foster got $5,000 rebate or commission, which he divided up with the other directors, each taking one-quarter. These accounts passed the auditors and there was no trouble whatever about them.

QUEEN OF TRAGEDY.
Adelaide Ristori, Italy's Famous Actress, Is Dead.

Rome, Oct. 10.—The Marchioness Del Grillo, better known as Adelaide Ristori, the celebrated Italian actress, died early yesterday morning of pneumonia. Adelaide Ristori was born in 1821. In 1855 she took Paris by storm. The French Government made her brilliant offers, with the idea of persuading her to join the Comedie Francaise, but she preferred to remain Italian. For years afterwards she traveled throughout Europe. In 1868 Ristori was warmly welcomed in America. Subsequently she visited South America. She retired from the stage in 1885.

The 80th birthday of Ristori was celebrated in Rome on Jan. 29, 1902, and was made the occasion for many festivities throughout Italy. King Emmanuel, accompanied by a large suite, visited and felicitated her. Queen Elena sent her a present, and she received very many congratulatory telegrams from monarchs and other distinguished personages of various countries.

A BASE BETRAYAL

People of Newfoundland Wax Wrathful, Feeling That Britain Sacrificed the Colony's Interests.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 10.—Popular anger against the modus vivendi arranged by the United States and British Governments relating to the Newfoundland herring fishery is growing. There is a general feeling that the compromise arrived at was a back-down on the part of the British ministry.

Archbishop Howley, the Roman Catholic primate, speaking on Sunday at a parochial festival, declared the modus vivendi a shameful betrayal of the colony's interests, and advocated agitation throughout the colony against it. He urged an immediate calling of the Legislature, spirited protests to the throne, the despatch of delegates to England and Canada, and an appeal to all autonomous British colonies to join in resisting what he termed an unbridled invasion of colonial rights.

The Telegram, the Premier's organ, ascribed the modus vivendi yesterday to the craven policy of timid Downing street bureaucrats, and expressed the hope that the Newfoundland Government will show the same resentment and spirit of determination and teach Little Englanders like Lord Elgin and Winston Churchill the same lesson that the colonists of Natal taught them when they tried to ride roughshod over the colony a few months ago.

Billingsgate.
London, Oct. 10.—(C.A.P.)—The Leader describes the Archbishop of St. John's declaration, that the modus vivendi is a shameful betrayal of the interests of Newfoundland as Billingsgate.

The Daily Graphic declares the fisheries arrangement to have fully justified the intense indignation with which it is regarded in Newfoundland. The Morning Post again insists on the necessity of the colonies being equipped with armaments sufficient to give their diplomatic requirements the necessary backing.

The Standard declares the present Government has deserted the sound precedent established by the Newfoundland treaty of 1904, and has granted totally unreasonable claims.

Taft Proclaims Amnesty.
Havana, Oct. 10.—Charles E. Ma- goon, the newly-appointed provisional Governor of Cuba arrived in Havana yesterday. Coincident with his coming Governor Taft gave out a general decree proclaiming amnesty not only to the rebels, but to all persons charged with political offences or crimes in any way connected with the revolution.
