PROBABLE U.S. PRES. TO ADDRESS STUDENTS

FREDERICTON—Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts will receive an Honorary Doctor of Laws degree at the University of New Brunswick's annual fall convocation here Tuesday, October 8. This is the first such honour he will receive outside the United States.

Senator Kennedy who was one of the leading contenders for the Democratic vice-presidential nomination last year, will deliver the convocation address in the Lady Beaverbrook Rink. The ceremonies will get under way at 3 P.M.

Lord Beaverbrook, the university's chancellor, will confer this degree on the youthful United States senator, who is the son of Joseph P. Kennedy, distinguished financier, philanthropist and a former Ambassador to the Court of St. James.

Born at Brookline, Mass., in 1917, Senator Kennedy studied at the London School of Economics, 1935-36. He received his B.S. degree cum laude from Harvard University in 1940.

Since establishing himself as one of his country's leading senators, he has been honoured by three universities: Notre Dame in 1950; Tufts College in 1954; and more recently, at Syracuse, last June. At the latter institution, the citation accompanying his award read, in part "If there were a graduate program for Training senators, its object would be to instil those same qualities you bring to the nation's service."

During the Second World War, Senator Kennedy served with the United States Navy from 1941-1945, and he was awarded the Navy and Marine Corps Medal and the Purple Heart for distinguished service.

Following the war, he was a correspondent with International News Service, and he covered such significant events as the San Francisco Conference, The British election of 1945 and the Potsdam meeting in the same year.

Senator Kennedy entered political life in 1947, when he was elected a member of the 80th congress. He has been a Senator since 1953.

In 1946, he was chosen one of the 10 outstanding young men by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

HON. ALFRED J. BROOKS

in 1927. In September, 1930, he was made a colonel and given command of the 16th Infantry Brigade with headquarters at Saint John N.B. In September, 1934, he retired to the reserve.

During the Second World War, he served with various units in Canada and the United Kingdom from 1940-1945.

Col. Brook established himself in the legal profession after the First World War. He set up his practice in Sussex, N.B. where his name is still associated with the law firm he established. He retained his connection with education, being director of the NB Vocational Board from 1925-35 and a member of the Sussex School Board for five years.

Col. Brooks' first effort in the political field was an unsuccessful attempt to win a by-election for the N.B. Legislature in 1922. He tried again at the Provincial General Election in 1925 and was elected M.L.A. for Kings County. He was re-elected in 1930 and served as Deputy Speaker for the N.B. Assembly until 1935. He first contested the Federal constituency of Royal in 1935 and was elected to the House of Commons at Ottawa. He has represented that constituency ever since.

Hon. Alfred J. Brooks To Be Honoured on October 8

FREDERICTON—Canada's Minister of Veterans' Affairs, the Honourable Alfred J. Brooks, V.D., Q.C., M.P., will receive an honorary Doctor of Laws Degree at the University of New Brunswick's fall convocation here Tuesday, October 8, UNB President Dr. Colin B. Mackay announced.

New Brunswick's cabinet minister, a native of Gagetown, graduated from the provincial university in 1910, when he received his Bachelor of Arts degree. He has been a member of the House of Commons for the federal constituency of Royal since 1935.

The Honourable Mr. Brooks, a veteran parliamentarian, was educated at Gagetown Grammar School, the University of New Brunswick and Kings College Law School, where he received his Bachelor of Civil Law degree.

He spent some time in the teaching profession until 1923, with four years off to serve in the Canadian Expeditionary Force. Major and he rose to the command of the New Brunswick Rangers as a lieutenant-colonel.

He returned from the First World War with the rank of (See also Col. 3)

YOUR SUNDAY ENTERTAINMENT

October the 13th will be the opening of the fifth season of the UNB film society. This society will, as in the past, seek to give you good entertainment on the otherwise so deadly Sunday evenings. For those new here this year a few words of introduction. It is the Society's aim to create interest in film art by presenting its members a number of excellent films both modern and vintage.

This year in contrast to former years the Society will use the excellent facilities of the new Chemistry building. A small theatre with extremely good acoustics has been made available there. This is an enormous improvement over former years when the society's members were subjected to the rather primitive surroundings of the old Memorial Hall.

The season will get under way with an excellent film called "Kind Hearts and Coronets", presenting Alec Guinness. A glance at the notice boards will provide all further information required.

ATTENTION SENIORS

Senior students are to take part in the academic procession at convocation, Tuesday, October 8.

Academic Gowns may be picked up at the following times:—

Monday, Oct 7.
10-11:30 A.M.
3-4 P.M.

Tuesday, Oct 8.
10-12 A.M.

Robes are in the Frog Pond Room, Arts building basement.

Seniors will meet in front of Arts building at 2:30, Tuesday.

SCROLL TO BE UNVEILED

FREDERICTON—A hand-inscribed scroll, upon which is related the background to the establishment of the Maggie Jean Chestnut Residence for Women at the University of New Brunswick, will be unveiled here Tuesday, October 8.

The scroll will be unveiled in the women's residence on Charlotte street, in a ceremony sponsored by the university's Associated Alumnae at 10:30 A.M. This was announced here by Mrs. Lawrence Hashey, president of the organization.

Lord Beaverbrook, the university's chancellor, has agreed to speak after the unveiling. Lord Beaverbrook presented the building to the associated alumnae in 1949, on the condition that they furnish it for a women's residence.

The residence was officially opened in October, 1949, and it was presented to the university in 1952, after being operated by the alumnae. Mrs. R. D. Baird, who was president of the associated alumnae during this period, will perform the unveiling.

UNB president Dr. Colin B. Mackay, will speak briefly at the event. A coffee party will be held in the residence following the ceremony.

Beaver To Confer Degrees

UNB Chancellor Lord Beaverbrook will confer the honorary degrees during the convocation ceremony, which commences at 3 P.M. in the Lady Beaverbrook Rink. Some fifteen degrees in course will also be conferred during the ceremony.

Convocation will be preceded by an academic procession from the Arts Building to the Rink.

A feature of this year's convocation will be a ceremony marking the official dedication of the new MacLaren Gates, which stand at the University Avenue entrance of the campus.

Completed this summer, the gates are the gift of the late Hon. Murray MacLaren, former Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick, and his son Ian MacLaren, Toronto. The ceremony will take place at the gates immediately following convocation. Mr. MacLaren will come to Fredericton from Toronto to play the principal part in the dedication ceremony. Following the ceremony at the gates, a reception will be held in the Great Hall of the Arts Building.

Beth Cattley Recipient of Exchange Scholarship

Attractive Beth Cattley, an Honours graduate in German and the only person to receive first class honours in Arts at the May convocation, has been awarded a German Exchange scholarship for 1957/58, tenable at any university in the Federal Republic of Germany. Inherent in the awarding of this scholarship lies a great honour for UNB, for not only is it the first time that this scholarship has been given to a student of this university, but it is also one of the few awarded to Canadian Universities this year.

Beth entered UNB in the fall of 1953 and has since that time distinguished herself in many fields. She proved to be an excellent student in the German department; was awarded the Dr.

Berton C. Foster Memorial Scholarship in her sophomore and the Eunice White Robertson History prize in her junior year; received the Norman S. Fraser prize for highest standing in the third and fourth years of Honours Arts upon graduation; wrote the one-act play "Down to the Sea" that was published in "New Voices 1956"; gave her support to the Drama Society where she won a best actress award in 1956 and was chairman of the local committee of WUSC for a year. She spent her summers with the RCAF where she received her commission in 1956. During her first and last year at UNB she was a popular and appreciated member of The Barn. During the years in-between she lived at home where she received a never ending line of "droppers-in".

Beth left for Germany last Saturday where she will continue her studies in German literature at Bonn University.

OUR CELEBRATION

Next Tuesday is Fall convocation. Students, Faculty, the Senate and special guests, together with citizens of Fredericton will gather together for a celebration — the granting of degrees. For this is really what Convocation is, a celebration. But more important, it is our celebration. It is not a national holiday which the country celebrates, nor a municipal event shared by an entire city but it is a university celebration — dedicated to and immersed in, the learning and tradition that we share as members of a college. Present at Convocation will be university faculty and administration. The University Senate, governing body of UNB will fulfill its most important task of the granting of degrees. Special guests honored by our college will address the audience. But most important are the students. Decked out in academic robes, they will receive the signature of the university which their degree, and the congratulations of the faculty, who have been their friends. That is why Convocation is an important event in our college life. For the student, it is the culmination of a few years of earnest effort and fun. For the University a brief moment of pride in the never-ending but rewarding task of teaching.

Kennedy's Coming Occasion for Students

U.S. Senator John F. Kennedy will give the Convocation address next Tuesday. The widely known American politician is the foremost nominee for the Democratic presidential nomination and has been campaigning strenuously for some months. This will mark the first occasion that a probable U.S. presidential candidate addresses the university.

Fall convocation, the occasion for the granting of graduate degrees, has been host to a number of celebrated personages. In Senator Kennedy's case, we can safely say that at no time has a more interesting and topical celebrity been invited to address the college. An extremely busy man, Mr. Kennedy gives up valuable time to come to UNB.

Senator Kennedy has enjoyed a practically unparalleled meteoric rise in Politics. First elected in 1953, the young democrat has become one of the most popular and widely known senators. The 40 year old politician is now one of the most promising candidates for the democratic presidential nomination. Indulging in the highly speculative and vulnerable pastime of political prognostication, we might even welcome Senator Kennedy as the next president of the United States.

We know that UNB students will be interested in hearing this man. Convocation is open to everyone and students will be especially interested in attending. Presiding over the ceremonies will be the Rt. Hon Lord Beaverbrook, UNB Chancellor. We of the Brunswickan join UNB's students in eager and interested anticipation of Senator Kennedy's address.

TALENT REVUE TOPS

The men's residence has shown us what we can do if we try. Friday night last, an extremely interesting and gratifying Talent Revue was staged in Memorial Hall. In attendance were members of both residences, Faculty and students. To this observer and everyone else, it was a pleasing and hilarious evening.

Backbone of the Revue was Bill Byrne, fourth year electrical engineer and Chairman of the Residence Social committee. Bill got the revue ready, staged and written in less than a week. He did a tremendous job. Incidentally, we were not aware of his talents as an MC.

Jan Hunter and Des Auger each made major contributions to the show. Polished and sparkling performances by the Collegians backed up the revue.

With this talent, enthusiasm and humor, the Red n' Black ought to be "the best ever". (to quote their enthusiastic advertising).

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Editor

Dear Sir;

Yesterday at registration I was given a card by an organization called NFCUS. I understand that the students of this University are paying 50 cents a head to belong to this organization. This being the case, I wonder if through you, I might obtain some information.

The card has a space on it for "Student Number" I would like to know what my number is. Further the card has a space entitled "Issuing Student Organization" I gather that to be valid there should be some sort of official stamp in this space. Why is there none? It has a space for a "Photo" I gather this is for the photo of the student carrying the card. As it stands now anyone's photo might go in this place, and hence a person other than a student at this University might use this card, although he has not paid his 50 cents.

The card claims "The bearer of this card is entitled to all rights and privileges available to members of the above representative local students organization" Just what are these rights and privileges, and as the space is blank, which student organization.

Further, on the back of this card it claims that I might obtain from the national office a card entitling me to "all international rights and privileges as a member of the International Student Community" Again what are these rights etc.

I would appreciate it if you Sir, could find this information for me and tell me what I am getting for my 50 cents other than a worthless card.

QUAINT TALES SIMPLY TOLD

George Frederick MacKay MacGregor was born many many years ago in the large brownstone house on the corner of Elm and Relay Streets. His family, a father, Peter Frederick MacKay MacGregor, who was a station attendant, and a mother, Mary Frederick MacKay MacGregor lived there also. At one time, Peter F. M. MacGregor's father, G. F. M. MacGregor and Mary F. M. MacGregor's father P. F. M. MacGregor had lived there too. Of their mothers, no trace could be found and it was said that not even the oldest inhabitants could remember them. No one had ever asked either P. F. M. or G. F. M. about their wives, but most people assumed there had been such people.

George Frederick MacKay MacGregor grew up quietly in the brownstone house. When he was the age of fourteen, his father, Peter, urged him to think about a career, or a job, as it was called in those days. George was fourteen at a time when boys went to work early and going to work generally meant entering your father's profession. Peter Frederick MacKay MacGregor, however, was somewhat of an enigma among fathers. He advised his son to become something other than station attendant. In itself, this was startling enough, but Peter went further -- he told his son, George Frederick MacKay MacGregor, to stay in school and get some further education.

George, like his father, was an enigma too (among sons) and being up to date in his opinion, thought it incorrect and even wrong, to do what his father told him. He didn't stay in school, as Peter Frederick MacKay MacGregor had advised him, but did precisely what his father had told him not to do, and thus anticipated modern youth by many many years. George became a station attendant.

Now, in the town where George and his father, Peter F.

M. MacGregor and his mother, Mary F. M. MacGregor lived, there was only one station. This was not at all surprising as there was only one train. The citizens of the town were satisfied with only one station and one train, and would have been shocked, and even adverse to, the coming of another train, or station. This one station was too small, as was the train and the town, and had room for only one attendant. George knew this, and so did his father, Peter (Frederick MacKay) MacGregor and might have had a lot to do with Peter's advice not to become a station attendant. Being a practical young man, George concluded that there was no future in being a station attendant while his father was one. He therefore set out along the railway track to find another station, at which he could attend. As he was walking along the rails, the train came along and ran him down.

UNB Bombers To Tangle With Saint Thomas Saturday, Oct. 5

College Field will be crowded with anxious spectators tomorrow when the Red Bombers will meet their second opponents of this year, the Saint Thomas Tommies. Last Saturday the Bombers defeated the Moncton Hubs by a score of 30-0. This week a better game is anticipated and it is hoped that all University students will give their support.

No Books Says Library

THE JURY — Observers at the first fall meeting of the SRC in the Student Centre, Wednesday evening.

Library stacks are closed to students in the evening. This was disclosed at the first Student Council meeting held Wednesday evening in the Student Centre. A motion was passed authorizing SRC Vice-president Bill Ray to approach the President on the matter. Several members expressed disapproval of the move which allegedly came from top university authority.

Student passes prepared by Hans Foerstel, council member, and distributed during registration were inadequate. This charge was laid by Vice-president Ray, who chaired the meeting in the absence of President McAllister. Mr. Foerstel explained that "the job was too big for him". A motion was passed to have the situation remedied.

The Business Admin. Club received authority to make preparations for the Mount A. Train, scheduled to leave Saturday, Oct. 13. Fare at $5.50 will be the same as last year. The Forestry Association has agreed to operate a canteen, Mr. Bruce Committee announced.

Gates, Chairman of the Train Committee announced.

The annual NFCUS Convention will be attended this year by the campus NFCUS chairman and Vice-president of the SRC. The latter will attend the Laval meeting in place of the SRC President, who is unable to go.

A motion was unanimously passed thanking Summer School students for the gift of a television set in the Student Centre.

Notice was given to the council concerning the dangerous intersection of Albert street and University Hill. A motion was passed authorizing the SRC to approach the university administration to seek a solution to this problem.

Herb Filmore, former chairman of the Blood Donor Drive Committee asked the council to

SEARS TOPS IN GOLF

Last week-end the Men's Intramural Golf Tournament was held at the Fredericton Golf Club. John Sears, a third year engineering student, won the tournament with a score of 73 from a total of twenty-eight participants. Ben Gray came in second with 83; Dave Petrie, third with 86; and Gary Hatchard fourth with 87.

Sears, a well known golfer on New Brunswick courses, played on the N.B. - P.E.I. team for the Canadian Championship at Winnipeg this summer.

In the Ladies' Tournament, Margot Pond led her class with a nine hole total of 46. Runner-up was Charlotte Hattell, with a score of 53.

On Sunday, September 29 the annual Faculty - Student golf tournament was held. The tourney has a thirty-one year old history. The Faculty beat the students 44½ to 30½. Faculty men led the boys 44-26 but the co-eds defeated the ladies of the faculty 4½ to ½.

PEP RALLY

Tonight another Pep Rally will be held. Due to the small attendance, the rally held during Freshman Week was not too successful. We must all support our College Team by attending this game and cheer them on to victory. One way to do this is to join in with the Cheerleaders and let the players know we are behind them. The only way to do this well is to learn the yells and the fastest way to do this is to go to this Pep Rally.

Bassett New Tennis Champ

The Men's Intramural Tennis Tournament was held on Saturday September 28. Winners of the quarter finals were John Bassett, Dez Auger, Carl Christenson and Lloyd Higgs.

Bassett, defeated Tom Decereux in two sets 6-4 and 6-0. Auger topped Graham Gorrie with 6-4 and 6-2. Christenson led Ron Bellfoi 6-3 and 6-3 and Higgs downed Adrien Grant Duff with 6-1 and 6-2.

In the semi-finals Auger and Bassett were winners over Christenson and Higgs. The results of the Auger-Christenson matches were 4-6, 6-3 and 6-3. Bassett led Higgs by 6-2 and 6-2.

The finals saw Bassett defeat Auger in both matches 6-1 and 6-1.

This week-end Saturday, October 5 the Ladies Intramural Tennis Tournament will be held.

The Pep Rally will feature the Red Bombers in a demonstration of the Split T formation. Many newcomers to the football world will wonder just what this means: To find out GO to the Pep Rally. The University band under the direction of Mr. Trythall and the Cheerleaders will be in attendance.

This year promises to be a great one for the students of UNB. Don Nelson is back coaching the team this year and the team looks great. Let's give the team all out support by being at the Pep Rally and also at the game tomorrow. The Red Bombers are planning on you, the students, to be behind them. Support your team and your college.

FOR A RIP ROARING DAY TAKE THE TRAIN TO MT. A.

This theme is again reverberating through the campus. The over 300 persons who took the train last year can certainly vouch for the veracity of this rhyme. This year the Mount A train has the making of a similarly enjoyable social event. In fact this train will have the friendliest atmosphere that you'll ever encounter. A catalyst to this atmosphere will be the "Friendly Foresters" who intend to operate the lunch car as they did last year. The assorted soft drinks and coffee certainly did come in handy.

As they did last year, the Business Administration boys will again undertake the venture. The Busy Adders deserve a great deal of credit for undertaking the venture. The Busy Adders deserve a great deal of credit for undertaking such a sizeable task and they predict that this year's Mount "A" train will again be a whooping success. This year they are placing a limited number of tickets on sale. They advise all enthusiasts to buy early or take a chance on walking to Sackville.

The train will be leaving York Street station early Saturday morning, October 12. It will return from Sackville early Sunday morning, leaving the thriving metropolis of Sackville shortly after midnight. Tickets will be on sale at the S.R.C. office every day except Sunday from 12:30 to 1:30 P.M.

A suggestion was made that SRC be the first to donate money for the new Residence fund. Difficulty with the budget made it impossible to take any definite action now, but a motion to take this matter up as soon as possible was unanimously passed.

UNB vs MONCTON

This Saturday will see the opening of Varsity soccer play when our UNB team meets the Moncton Rovers. Other teams competing in this year's series include Mount A., Saint John, Minto and the Moncton Albions.
