ORGAN RECITAL IN ST. JAMES' CHURCH

St. James' Church was well filled on Good Friday evening to hear the Organ Recital and Musical Evening, given by Professor Isaac Newton, Organist and Choir Master of St. James' Church. This was Prof. Newton's first recital given on the Lord Beaverbrook Memorial Organ, which Newcastle's illustrious son donated to St. James' Church in memory of his father the late Rev. Wm. Aitken who was Pastor of the Church for twenty three years.

In this his first recital since coming to Newcastle, Professor Newton has demonstrated his ability in music and his coming to Newcastle has filled a long-felt want, and his talent and accomplishments were the subject of much favorable comment.

Mr. Newton was ably assisted by his choir in two choruses, which were delightfully rendered and highly appreciated.

The Choir, which has, for only a short period, been under the direction of Mr. Newton excelled themselves and showed to a marked degree, the great possibilities that can be accomplished by local talent, when placed under the direction and tutelage of a capable instructor.

Miss Bertha Ferguson, the soprano soloist of the evening fully met the requirements of the occasion. Her voice is of considerable range and resonant, of a most pleasing quality and showing excellent training. Everything she interpreted bore evidence of a distinct artistic individuality, and she had such full command of her voice that every effect of light and shade and every variation of tone were faithfully reflected in her singing.

Mr. R. B. Metzler, Baritone, of Moncton N. B. was enthusiastically received by the audience. Mr. Metzler possesses a clear and sympathetic voice with remarkable range and power. He was accorded the heartiest of receptions and it is to be hoped that he will soon again give Newcastle the privilege of listening to his pleasing voice.

His vocal selections were delightful and his rich voice did full justice to the numbers he had chosen.

Miss Ferguson and Mr. Metzler were both principals in "The Chimes of Normandy," which was recently presented in St. John, Sussex and Moncton. In their duet, the blending of their voices was particularly pleasing, at all times showing delicacy and precision.

Prof. Newton is to be congratulated on the assistance of two artists of such high order, and it is to be hoped that his undertaking will do much to develop the musical appreciation of this town. Newcastle has good cause to glory in possessing such musical talent as was displayed on Good Friday evening.

EXCITING GAME OF BASKET BALL

A game of Basket Ball was played last night in the Temperance Hall between the Campbellton Basket Ball Team and the Newcastle C. G. I. T. team. The visiting team was entertained at several homes throughout the town during their visit, and after the game were banquetted in St. James' Hall, by the girls of the C. G. I. T.

The game was fast and interesting all the way through, and the audience present enjoyed the many exciting incidents which arose during the game.

The score was 16 to 40 in favor of the Newcastle C. G. I. T. team.

The audience was a large and appreciative one, and took a keen interest in each and every play that was made. Both teams were evenly matched, and considering the short period of time that the local team have been practising, they are deserving of congratulations in the manner in which they acquitted themselves in their first game. It is expected that a return game will in the near future be arranged.

Mr. F. E. Locke, refereed the game in a most impartial manner, and to the delight and satisfaction of both players and audience.

The line up was as follows:

|                  |                  |
|------------------|------------------|
| Newcastle        | Campbellton      |
| Centre           | Jean Harding     |
| Margaret McCurdy | Forwards         |
| Jean Jardine     | Nora Rosborough  |
| Katie Cassidy    | Francis Yorston  |
| Defence          |                  |
| Florence Cassidy | Elizabeth Anslow |

ICE UNSAFE

Several teams have broken through the ice, but in each case were safely taken out. The ice is now considered unsafe and the spring break up is expected at any time.

EXTENDED CALL

The local Baptist Congregation have extended a call to Rev. F. E. Bishop of East Florenceville and the reverend gentleman will take up his work about May 1st.

also in possessing such a capable instructor as Prof. Newton, who has had a life-long experience in musical circles both in Europe and in Upper Canada.

The audience was a large and most appreciative one, and one which enjoyed a splendid programme, beautifully rendered. The large gathering filled the Church and from its rapt attention gave ample evidence of its delight and appreciation.

The church was beautifully decorated with potted plants and cut flowers for the occasion. The following was the programme rendered.

VERDICT OF GUILTY IN THE DREW CASE

At the conclusion of the crown evidence on Thursday morning in the case against George Drew who was charged with an offence against two little girls, several witnesses for the defence were called and testified that the accused was not near the place where the crime was committed at the time alleged. Detective Power and George A. Henderson, police court clerk, were the crown witnesses examined in the morning. The accused's father and mother made statements to the effect that the accused was in the house from time to time during the afternoon in question. John Hayes, Leo Hayes, Robert Shortt and Edward O'Brien said the accused was in Knox's pool room in Brunsels street all the afternoon. Mrs. Mary Halliday also gave evidence and the accused went on the stand and denied all the evidence the crown had produced against him. He said he was not in City road and that he never met any witnesses who testified to seeing him.

In the afternoon after having been out an hour and ten minutes, the jury found Drew guilty on the first count in the indictment, namely rape. The prisoner was remanded for sentence. The court adjourned until 10.30 a. m. on Tuesday when the case against William Nearn, on a similar charge to the Drew case will be heard.

BIG ILLICIT STILL SEIZED ON FRIDAY

An illicit still was found at a lumber camp, just within the Gloucester Co. boundary line on Friday morning at the early hour of 5 o'clock. The seizure was made by Inspectors Quartermain, Gammon and Stewart, the information having being got by the first named. The three officers started from Newcastle with two teams and drove all night with hired guides, John Allison and son, arriving there at the above hour. When the Inspectors arrived they found four men in the camp and immediately placed Grossman, the main man in the business, under arrest. The others were placed under arrest for a time but were later released as it was considered they had nothing to do with profits of the business, being only employees. The men helped in the loading of the find and the dumping of the brew, which consisted of thirteen barrels and gallons of real whiskey was taken to Newcastle, together with the still. Grossman was taken before Judge Lawlor Friday night, pleaded guilty, and paid a fine of $498.50. The still is believed to be the largest ever found in New Brunswick, and with goods destroyed and seized will probably represent a loss of $2,000.

L. O. D. E. SALE IN LOUNSBURY BLD'G

The Lord Beaverbrook Chapter I. O. D. E. held a Pantry Sale and Sale of Fancy Articles last Saturday afternoon in the Lounsbury Building. The sale was conducted in aid of the Miramichi Hospital Nurses' Home and a substantial sum was realized for this most worthy object. It was the first time that the Lounsbury Building had figured as the scene of a public gathering, and the members of the L. O. D. E. used to excellent advantage its admirably arranged and spacious rooms. The Sale was a delightful affair and received a large patronage. The articles for sale were readily disposed of, and enabled the patrons to procure their Easter requisites at a reasonable figure, while at the same time assisting the Nurses' Home project.

"Of all the people who have taken Taniac I don't believe there is anyone who feels any more grateful to it than I do," said Mrs. J. M. Craig, of 674 1/2 E. 40th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

"I suffered from nervous prostration and was so weak that I could not even sweep the floor and during the day I would have to lay down four or five times. I tried to walk, but found out that half a block was all I could stand before I would give out. Nervous spells came on me often. Finally my husband urged me to try Taniac and I am indeed glad he did, for it proved to be just what I needed.

"The first two bottles did not seem to help me. I guess it was because I was so bad off, but on the third bottle I could tell I was improving and that gave me more hope than ever of getting well. My improvement from them on was rapid and by the time I had taken five bottles I was better and stronger than I had been in years.

"It enabled me to sleep soundly at night and I have gained twelve pounds. That was several months ago and from then until now I have been in as good health as I ever was in my life. I have told all of my friends and relatives what a wonderful medicine Taniac is."

Taniac is sold in Newcastle by E. J. Morris in Redbank by Wm. M. Sullivan, in Doaktown by G. Hubbard and in Nelson by Mrs. J. M. Craig.

Rod and Gun

Turn some pigs loose in a swamp infested with rattle snakes and watch the fun. F. V. Williams did not do exactly that but he tells in April Rod and Gun in Canada what happens when swine meet serpents. Mr. Williams tells of the snakes found in the vicinity of Tobermory on the Bruce Peninsula in Ontario, and what happened to them when some pigs were turned loose to slay and slaughter. "A Happy Hunting Ground" is the title of the leading story in this month's issue of Canada's national sportsmen's monthly. This article tells of the thrilling experience in hunting bears in British Columbia. Nova Scotians will read with especial interest the story of hunting shore birds by Bonnycastle Dale. It tells of the difficulties to be experienced under the terms of the Migratory Birds Convention Act. In addition to these stories and articles there are nine others that will delight the heart of the nature lover. The Guns and Ammunition department and the editorial comment on the gun permit law will take the attention of the gun "crank" while Robert Page Lincoln and Gorge Goodwin take care of the anglers and dog men, respectively. Rod and Gun in Canada is published monthly at Woodstock, Ont. by W. J. Taylor, Limited.

All Life Insurance Records Broken

The annual report of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company on the business of 1920 shows that the new business placed on the books broke all previous in the world. Neither the great amount of new insurance taken out, nor the percentage of lapses indicate depression in the business or industrial world. The amount placed in the United States and Canada was $1,651,950,151, which is a gain of more than two hundred and fifty million dollars, as compared with the previous year.

The income and assets increased proportionately, the income for the year being $236,519,779, and the assets making a gain of $116,019,262 for a total of $980,913,087. Dividends have been declared, payable to policyholders in 1921, amounting to $10,519,369, of which $6,961,261 is to holders of industrial policies.

The number of policies outstanding at the end of the year was 23,899,997. The number increased in 1920 by 2,129,326.

Claims were paid on 312,689 policies, an average of one every twenty-eight seconds for each business day of eight hours. The amount paid to policyholders in claims, matured endowments, dividends, etc., was $81,257,393, or an average of $55.86 a minute for every business day of eight hours. Group insurance to $214,547,572.

The company placed new business in Canada during 1920 amounting to $123,016,745, of which $43,494,114 was industrial. This is the largest amount ever placed in Canada by any company in any one year. The company closed the year 1920 with a total of $407,957,217 in force in Canada.

In 1920 the Metropolitan paid Canadian policyholders $4,309,548.12. The work for improved health among Canadians was continued. Metropolitan nurses, in co-operation with the Victorian Order of Nurses, made 187,545 free visits to sick industrial policyholders in Canada during the year and distributed 2,650,000 pieces of health literature. The confidence of the people of the dominion in the financial strength of the company and in the desirability of its policies in force in the dominion is 1,587,479. The company's investments in Canada are over $62,000,000.

 Do you solicit orders for automobiles?

Brooding And Feeding The Baby Chicks

The brooding and feeding of baby chickens, whether by hen or by artificial method, is the crucial part of raising poultry.

It is impossible to over-feed a growing chicken, once the feather stage is reached. The more good food they can be induced to eat, the better the growth, and the better the growth the earlier maturity and egg yield.

Natural Incubation

If the chicks are to be brooded by the natural method they should be allowed to remain in the setting nest with the hen until they are lively and seem inclined to get out themselves.

The hen should then be treated with a little blue (mercurial) ointment smeared on the feathers of the abdomen and under the wings. It is advisable to use ointment at this stage; powder is likely to get in the little chick's eyes.

An A-shaped coop with removable bottom is to be recommended on account of its simple and cheap construction. It should be used with the bottom in place and slightly raised from the ground in the early spring months.

When the weather becomes warmer and the ground thawed out, they are better used without bottoms, but the coop must be moved to fresh ground daily.

Artificial Method

The most successful and economical artificial system of brooding is the colony stove.

It can be quickly set up in a colony house or in an idle pen of the laying house. A space 10' by 10' by 12" will be found most suitable and will accommodate any number of chicks desired up to 500.

When To Remove From Brooder

In April and early May, artificial heat will probably be required for 5 or 6 weeks, later it can often be dispensed with in three weeks. It entirely depends on the weather and temperature.

If your chickens are without heat and you get a sudden drop in temperature with cold rain, it will be advisable to start up the stove again and dry off the chicks. It is at a time like this that the chicks crowd and smother, chill and catch cold.

Always tack a short piece of inch-mesh wire across the corners of the room to prevent jamming and tramping of the weakest.

The First Feed

Allow the chicks to remain in the incubator for 24 hours after the hatch is completed. A chick so hardened off will have a great deal more "brooder intelligence" than one removed too soon and will learn more quickly where to go for warmth and comfort.

Supply coarse sand or small chick grit and water and leave them until they show positive signs of hunger. They may then be given some dry bread crumbs, slightly moistened with skimmed milk and mixed with liberal supply of some succulent chopped green feed. Lettuce, dandelion or plantain leaf is excellent; a hard boiled egg or two, chopped and a little ground charcoal and sand sprinkled over the whole, is just what they want for the first 4 or 5 days. This should be given at least five times daily and then two feeds of this ration may be changed for a little mixed cracked grain to induce scratching and exercise.

A little rolled oats at this stage is a great help to growth and stamina. At one month they may be hopped fed dry mash and grain and allowed all they will eat. If induced to take the mash more readily by moistening with thick, sour, skimmed milk it will prove of great advantage and well worth while.

Leave fresh water and sour skimmed milk before them all the time.

Proposed New Federal Tax

The questionnaire and circular on the proposed Federal general turnover taxation, which the council of the Montreal Board of Trade decided to send to its members has now been issued. By request copies of the questionnaire and circular have been forwarded to the St. John board of Trade. Members are asked if they favor continuation of the present business tax, sales tax, and the remaining luxury taxes, or a general turn-over tax; and if one of these, what other form of taxation is preferable.

The circular points out that the council considers, after much study of the matter, that changes in the present system of taxation are desirable and inevitable, and desires the views of members of the board to be considered by the Minister of Finance before the taxation policy is decided on. After explaining shortly the sales and luxury taxes still in force, it goes on to outline the general turnover tax as including in general the following points:

(1) A uniform tax of whatever percentage may be found necessary and desirable on the whole turnover or gross sales of all goods, wares and merchandise, by manufacturers, wholesale sellers, retailers or individuals; on sales of real estate; on gross receipts for personal or professional services, such as rendered by brokers, doctors, lawyers, bankers, architects, etc., but not on wages or salaries; on gross incomes of railways and public utility companies.

Newcastle, N. B.
Mar. 28, 1921

To the Editor of the Advocate,
Newcastle, N. B.

Dear Sir:
Would you kindly allow me a small space in your valuable paper to inform the rate-payers of the Town of Newcastle, regarding our Police Force between the hours of 12 and 4 o'clock on Saturday mornings.

Policeman Edward Walsh on this particular morning met two men and ordered them home, when they turned on him and abused and told him to go his way or they would beat him up. He walked off and as I would say, appeared very much afraid.
On the night of March 26th, our other officer was met by three men from Nelson whom they called everything but a man, and on account of his age and being only in the way, he called another officer who stripped himself and beat up one of the men from Nelson.

Now I am a man who has always tried to conduct myself as a worthy citizen of the town, and have never caused any offence, yet I was arrested on Sunday night by Edward Walsh for drunkenness, for which offence this officer some time ago was discharged from our Police Force, but our Council, nevertheless, have since seen fit to re-instate him.

The time is not far distant when the rate payers will have an opportunity of electing capable men to the Council Board, who can readily understand the difference in placing a drunkard or a sober man to look after the welfare of our town.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for the space used, I am
Respectfully yours
CITIZEN

To the Editor of the Union Advocate
Dear Sir:

I notice by an issue of your paper of recent date an article copied from "The Northern Light" of Bathurst, in which certain allegations were made against the local Tuxis Boy's conduct during a recent game of Hockey played in Bathurst, between the Tuxis Boys of Newcastle and Bathurst.

As one interested in the work of the Tuxis Boy's Organization I have been making some inquiries regarding the complaints set forth in the article, and as yet have been unable to secure any official light on the matter.

This is a matter, which I consider to be one that should be immediately looked into by the responsible parties and if the complaints are justified a Public Apology should be made at once to the Bathurst Tuxis Boys, by our local organization.

I sincerely trust that no further time, will be lost in clearing up this most important matter and that in future a similar complaint will be unheard of about the boys of such a noble organization.

Thanking you for the courtesy of bringing this matter before the attention of all those interested in Tuxis Boy work

I am yours very truly

WARREN KERRIGAN AT THE HAPPY HOUR THURSDAY

J. Warren Kerrigan has just finished his first screen offering under the supervision of Jesse D. Hampton. It is a picturization of Kenneth B. Clarke's story "Prisoners of the Pines," a tale of the great northwest country and Kerrigan has the role of Hillaire Latour, a young French Canadian trapper who gives up his rifles and his traps in favor of the axe of the lumberman.

"Prisoners of the Pines" will be seen Thursday at the Happy Hour. It comes with the announcement that it reflects Kerrigan in his happiest and most artistic moments, that it reveals a series of photographic achievements—rare pictorial beauty and worth and that it provides an evening's entertainment of more than ordinary interests.

Kerrigan has a wide and constantly increasing screen following and his admirers will doubtless be glad to see him in new surroundings and, in the garb of Hillaire Latour, doing things in true redblood fashion.

EASTER EGGS FOR THE MIRAMICHI HOSPITAL

As usual the only mud that is found on our sidewalks is on the crossings. Would it not be well to have them cleaned off occasionally?

Rheumatic Pains

Are relieved in a few days by taking 30 drops of Mother Seigel's Syrup after meals and on retiring. It dissolves the lime and acid accumulation in the muscles and joints so these deposits can be expelled, thus relieving pain and soreness. Seigel's Syrup, also known as "Extract of Roots," contains no opium or other strong drugs to kill or mask the pain of rheumatism or lumbago, it removes the cause. 50c a bottle at drugists.

STUDENTS' RESIDENCES

(By Stephen Leacock.)

When I was a student at the University of Toronto thirty years ago, I lived, from start to finish,—in seventeen different boarding houses. As far as I am aware these houses have not, or not yet, been marked with tablets. But they are all still to be found in the vicinity of McCaul and Darcy, and St. Patrick Streets. Anyone who doubts the truth of what I have to say may go and look at them.

STEPHEN LEACOCK, Canada's Great Humorist, Professor of Political Economy at McGill University.

I was not alone in the nomadic life that I led. There were hundreds of us drifting about in this fashion from one melancholy habitation to another. We lived as a rule two or three in a house, sometimes alone. We dined in the basement. We always had beef.

They used to have a brand of soda biscuits in those days in Toronto boarding houses that I have not seen since. They were better than dog biscuits but with not so much snap. My contemporaries will all remember them. A great many of the leading barristers and professional men of Toronto were fed on them.

In the life we led we had practically no opportunities for association on a large scale, no common rooms, no reading rooms, nothing. We never saw the magazines,—personally I didn't even know the names of them. The only interchange of ideas we ever got was by going over to the Caer Howell Hotel on University Avenue and interchanging them there.

I mention these melancholy details not for their own sake but merely to emphasize the point that when I speak of students' dormitories, and the larger life they offer, I speak of what I know.

If we had had at Toronto, when I was a student, the kind of dormitories and dormitory life that they have at Harvard, I don't think I would ever have graduated. I'd have been there still.

The trouble is that the Universities on our Continent are only just waking up to the idea of what a University should mean. They were, very largely, instituted and organized with the idea that a university was a place where young men were sent to absorb the contents of books and to listen to lectures in the classrooms. The student was pictured as a pallid creature, hunched over his desk, with a "midnight oil" sign on his face bent over his desk. If you wanted to do something for him you gave him a book; if you wanted to do something really large on his behalf you gave him a whole basketful of them. If you wanted to go still further and be a real benefactor to the College at large, you endowed a competitive scholarship and set two or more pallid students working themselves to death to get it.

That, as I see it, was about the idea and theory of the Canadian Universities as they used to be. In the course of time and through the plain teaching of circumstances, we have been getting away from that idea. We are beginning to see that the text book and the class room are but a part of the student's life. If they are taken by themselves, in undiluted doses, they probably do more harm than good. They not only injure the student's health but they injure his mind. True education cannot be achieved after this fashion, by shovelling in information. The most that this can ever give is erudition and pedantry, never capacity and genuine acquirement.

The typical product of it is the college pedant possessed of a stomach-full of fact but with a mind the size of a peanut and the outlook of a child.

The real process of education consists (as the derivation of the word implies) in bringing out of the mind the inborn capacity that is in it. I think that Horace said something of this sort before. But there is no harm in saying it over again.

Since the melancholy days of which I speak, I have had the experience of nearly a quarter of a century of post-graduate work and university teaching. It is a noble profession, and with the continued aid of the Governors of McGill University, I hope to have another quarter of a century of it at least before I hang up my mortar board and sink into the arms of the trustees of the Carnegie Pension Fund. But as a college teacher I have long since realized that the most that the teacher, as such, can do for the student is a very limited matter. The real thing for the student is the life and environment that surrounds him. All that he really learns, he learns, in a sense, by the active operation of his own intellect and not as the passive recipient of lectures. And for this active operation what he needs most is the continued and intimate contact with his fellows. Students must live together and eat together, talk and smoke together. Experience shows that that is how their minds really grow. And they must live together in a rational and comfortable way. They must eat in a big dining room or hall, with oak beams across the ceiling, and the stained glass in the windows and with a shield or tablet here and there upon the wall, to remind them between times of the men who went before them and left a name worthy of the memory of the college. If a student is to get from his College what it ought to give him, a college dormitory with the life in common that it brings, is his absolute right. A university that fails to give it to him is cheating him.

If I were founding a University,—and I say it with all the seriousness of which I am capable (that is, of none), I would found first a smoking room; then when I had a little more money in hand I would found a dormitory; then after that, or more properly with that, a decent reading room and a library. After that, if I still had money over that I couldn't use, I would hire a professor and get some text books.

We are conducting a campaign,—just now to raise, or lift five million dollars for McGill University. I have a notion that we are going to get it. And it is the duty of those of us who are in the University to show to our generous friends outside what it is that we mean to do with the money we have it.

To my mind the greatest of all our needs is the building of college dormitories to supply to our students a wider college life than we can give them now. There is no nobler object of benefaction than this. There is no better way to perpetuate an honored name or to cherish the memory of one who is lost, than that the name and memory should be made real, set down in stone, over the gate-way of a College Dormitory at McGill.

NEW CITIZENS FOR CANADA

With a population of less than two persons to the square mile compared to England's six hundred, with only five per cent. of her rich agricultural land in the West under cultivation, with a heavy national indebtedness and only a few people to pay the interest in the form of taxes, the reason why Canada is hungry for immigrants can readily be understood. Immigration is the human rain without which Canada must parch and wither up.

If Great Britain had a large surplus of farmers and farm hands, Canada might not have to invite immigrants from any other source. But Great Britain is not so much an agricultural as a merchant and manufacturing centre, and every year grudges more and more the farmers of farm hands who leave her shores for the Dominions. She is quite willing to send out countless city folk in the hope that they may be transformed into farmers in their new environment, but she has fewer farmers to spare than many other countries from which Canada in the past has drawn excellent settlers. This is illustrated by the homestead entries. From 1897 to 1919, only eighteen per cent. of the British immigrants made entry for homesteads in Western Canada as compared to twenty-seven per cent. of the American immigrants and twenty-nine per cent. of the foreign born from Continental Europe.

In certain parts of Europe where there is a genuine land hunger, there is not enough land to go round. Five or six acres per family is all the land available in certain parts of Belgium, and even on that the thrifty Belgian frequently brings up a family of ten. The great immigration of Ukrainians from Central Europe which has given Canada nearly 300,000 of her Western farm population was due to the constant subdivision of farms which were only fifteen acres to start with. These Ukrainians have become a great asset to Canada, and have at their own expense erected four large colleges for higher education. Then again we owe our fine stock of seventy thousand Scandinavian settlers to the lack of sufficient land in Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Iceland.

Have these foreign born made good Canadian citizens? Read "The Education of the New Canadian," by Dr. J. M. Anderson, of Saskatchewan, and you will say "Yes!" In one of two groups at first there was opposition to the learning of English, particularly among the older people, but now it is difficult to find sufficient teachers to meet the demands of the schools. And it is not only in the schools where you find the foreign born. More than half the students at the University of Manitoba are of foreign parentage. You find children of the foreign born as leaders in the professions and in the Cabinet of at least one Provincial Government.

The bride was dressed in cream satin and tricolette and wore a diamond and pearl pendant, the gift of the groom.

After a dainty luncheon was served by Mrs. Champion with whom the bride had been spending a few weeks, the happy couple left on the evening train for Fredericton.

He was well known in lumbering circles on the Miramichi River, as he was master of the J. C. Miller, one of the largest tug boats on the river, for twenty years. Previous to that time he had been a marine engineer. He leaves besides his wife, three sons and two daughters. The sons are Ernest, Clyde and Arthur, all at home, and the daughters are Mrs. George Henderson of Derby and Miss Audrey in training at the Cambridge Hospital, Cambridge (Mass.) He also leaves the following brothers: James and Robert of Tabusintac; Alfred and Arnold of Neguac; Leonard of Lower Newcastle and Stanley of Blackville. The sisters who survive him are Mrs. Robert Murray of Chatham; Mrs. Jams Heymilt of Maine; Mrs. Erquack of Germany and Mrs. William Golden of Sussex. His mother also survives him, living at present in Chatham. Mr. Matthews.

MRS. ERNEST HUTCHISON

The Miramichi loses one of its most highly respected and best known residents in the death of Mrs. Ernest Hutchison, which occurred in Boston on Wednesday, at the Massachusetts General Hospital, after an illness of three weeks. Deceased was the widow of Ernest Hutchison, the well-known lumberman of Douglastown, Northumberland county, who died in Columbia, South Carolina on Dec. 5th, 1918. The deceased lady left Douglastown last November to spend the winter in Boston with relatives and enjoyed good health until recently, when she became unwell and had to undergo an operation, from which she received material benefit. Her heart, however, became affected, which was the immediate cause of her death. She was a daughter of the late Robert Johnston, of Chatham, and is survived by a son—Richard Hutchison of Boston and a daughter—Mrs. Moncrieff of Winnipeg. Mr. Wm. Johnson of Vancouver is the last surviving brother. The remains arrived on Friday, accompanied by Mrs. Moncrieff, Mrs. Hutchison and Mrs. Tapper.

The funeral, which was largely attended was held from the late residence in Douglastown to the family lot in St. James' Cemetery, Newcastle, N. B. Rev. Alex. Frith of Douglastown, and Rev. L. H. MacLean of Newcastle, conducted the services at the home and grave.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. F. M. Tweedie, and R. A. Snowball, of Chatham, N. B. and Messrs. A. A. Davidson, Allan J. Ritchie, R. C. Clark and Dr. R. Nicholson of Newcastle. The funeral was under the direction of Mr. H. B. MacDonald, of Chatham, N. B.

CANOEING IN CANADA

Canoes and fishing-rods: these fragile men; they sit up and beam at mention of them—not only men who live with them and by aid of them exist, but men who travel up to the office every morning and to whom the word "fish" means only the course before the entire. Many a happy evening have I spent in reading of such things—reading in some traveler's book of canoes and fishing-rods, of rivers and the cracks of the camp-fire. And now the fate permits me to write, if not a book, an article on these, as I have of late had many days in their company. For their friends and acquaintances I write this, especially for those who can't, just at the moment, arrange their affairs so as to get away from the desk to be among them.

I do not suppose it would be gross free advertisement to give the name of the canoe in which I set out, for it is mentioned in most account of Canadian travel; but I will not run the risk of being suspected as a shareholder in the company that makes it, or subsidised it. Suffice it, then, to say that the beautiful craft was of the size that caused it to be stamped, on the little bit of decking at the bow, not merely "Canoe," but "The So-and-So Canoe Boat." It can be rowed, if necessary, by two pairs of oars and has a place (in that foot of deck at the bow) for a short mast that carries a long, low triangular sail. It is—I was on the point of saying "light as a feather," at any rate, it can be pulled up on the beach, or set afloat, with one hand. It is certainly amazingly light and buoyant.

I chose to row it; and the one pair of oars in an easy swing sent it gliding rapidly through the waters with its load of tent, tent-poles, and blankets; kettles, billy, and frying-pan; flour, rice, and seedless raisins; "tin cow," "canned corn," tea, coffee, salt and sugar; three fishing-rods (one for flies, one for spoon, and one for spinner); a heavy six-shooter; and Squaw in stern. Bush fires were shimmering away in the ranges, so that we had to take the further peaks for granted. The nearer mountains stood solemnly up with their green fronts and fringe of summit-poles and timber against a grey-blue background, the drifting smoke of the fires.

After all, though the sun was hidden (very much as in a London November haze) its light sifted through somehow, and lit very impressively the slopes of air and the outstanding chunks of rock on the slopes. Weird, hazy reflections, ran down into the deep water, a water smoky-blue and jade-green.

As for the canoe, it seemed a living thing. Soon it and I were in touch with each other, had an understanding. It is sensitive, polished, exquisite thing. It is full of response and yet it is not easy to wreck. Of the way in which it holds its own, I can say little. At the narrow (we were making out into the main Kootenay Lake in British Columbia) it behaved as though eager to show it was in partnership with me. It leapt to the ripple, it dipped to them. It told the almost imperceptible fashion, without speech: "Well, friends, see 'll go the rest."

This may sound wild writing to those who have not advanced on eddy or current in league with such canoes: but it is not really so wild as it seems. I rowed in towards shore and collared the eddy. When I had the lake spread out before me, and the sun was shining, I was amazed against its lightness. And when camp was made—and I sat on a fallen tree while the billy boiled and the fire crackled, and the sun, a disc of old gold, went slipping down in dun-gey behind a hump or "hog-back," (to use the local phrase)—just to look at that canoe-boat was a delight. Even to that dulled sun it responded with a sheen of gold along its hull.

Without canoe I would have been there, like a man on the plains with out horse. In the wilds these both seem alive. It was a three-some party: Squaw, self, canoe. The fishing-rod is different. The trolling-rod (or even the spinner) is definitely dead. One just lets the line run out astern, and then paddles round and to and fro and the fish catch themselves, immolate themselves upon the hooks while trying to fight the spoon, or to allay their curiosity regarding the spinner; and when enough have done so they are brought ashore to the frying-pan. The fly-fishing rod is nearest toward having entity. In the dancing water where Coffee Creek empties into Kootenay Lake I did once or twice mistake my own sham flies for real flies coasting the little wave-tops. But, frankly, I am not a sportsman in the sense of liking to kill. When I have fished my supper, like an Indian, I desist. He only goes on fishing beyond the requirements of one meal when he wants to smoke fish for future ones.

The heavy six-shooter I had brought merely as a defensive weapon; as it was our ticket up we wander up in the surrounding mountains, both for their majestic presence and for huckleberries; and although bear generally run from human beings, ever and again they don't. Bears are fond of huckleberries, and sometimes they think they own a whole patch. If they see a human being picking berries, they come with a "woof" to drive him away, not often—but still they do so now and then. The shooting practice had to be kept up, and every here and there, where there was some wild natural wall, I would stick up an empty tin (canned corn was, as I mentioned, part of our supply), and have the pleasure of seeing it fly as the six-gun kicked, and, considering (since more in the language of the country) as I culled the battered can and set it up again: "If that was Mory's berry patch, it would be beautiful!" But even rifle of six-gun is only an instrument, a beautiful, callous, perfect instrument. There is a certain pleasure in sitting, by the fire in the evening, with a little bottle of oil and a pull-through, attending to its tides, and looking

Baby's Health In The Spring

The Spring is a time of anxiety to mothers who have little ones in the home. Conditions make it necessary to keep the baby indoors. He is often confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms and catches colds which rack his whole system. To guard against this a box of Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the house and an occasional dose given the baby to keep his stomach and bowels working regularly. This will prevent colds, constipation or colic and keep baby well. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

German Guns Reach Bathurst

Word has been recently received of the despatch and arrival of four German machine guns and eight gun cases, as Bathurst's share of the war memorials. At the last meeting of the Council it was decided to accept them formally and to arrange for storing them in the Robertson barn until suitable action could be taken in regard to turning them over to the G. W. V. A. and having them set up somewhere in town. It was also stated that the German field piece which arrived many months ago was still in the freight shed.

Tale Of A Pound of Silk

Silk that comes from abroad sometimes has a surprising way of changing weight. It is interesting to consider one consignment that came from Japan. A leading chemical journal of the country vouches for the truth of figures and, for the sake of simplicity, takes one pound as the standard in describing the change. It must be remembered that what was true of the one pound was true of the whole consignment.

The raw silk weighed sixteen ounces to the pound when it arrived. After it was washed and dried it weighed twelve ounces. The wily Japanese! we say. Yes; but wait. The twelve-ounce pound was passed through a bath of sodium phosphate. Those baths were repeated alternately a number of times, and then the silk was placed in a bath of aluminium sulphate. Back it went to the tin and phosphate baths, and the swollen fibres were charged with more "loading". Then it was treated to a bath of silicate of sodium. After that it was dyed a rich black with logwood, which added a little more weight. Finally it was oiled in order to give it lustre. The result was ninety-six ounces of beautiful black "silk" of which twelve ounces were real silk and eighty-four ounces were loading.

Northumberland Men are Divided

Two Did Not Attend Govt. Caucus

FREDERICTON, March 23—The address in reply to the speech from the throne, which was passed in the legislature yesterday, was formally presented to Lieut. Governor Pugsley this afternoon by the special committee named by Hon. A. A. Dysart, the Speaker.

The committee consisted of Hon. C. W. Robinson, Dr. Curren, St. John and Mr. Bordage, Kent. While all four of the members for Northumberland who were elected as independents at the last general elections were invited to attend the government party's first caucus last night only two of them appear to have been there. Mr. Martin and Mr. Vanderbeck are the two who attended, while Mr. Morrissey and Mr. Fowle are the two who did not, thus making a fifty-fifty split.

No Definite Action Arrived At Har- ness Meeting

A meeting of the Maritime and Maine horse racing circuit was held here Tuesday afternoon and evening. P. A. Belliveau, the local horseman, presided. Others present were P. S. Watson, of the Fredericton Park Association, who not only represented the Fredericton interests but likewise St. Stephen, Woodstock and Houlton, by proxy and S. D. Heckbert, President of the Circuit, as well as Fred H. Tweedie, Secretary, the latter two from Chatham. No definite action was arrived at, the meeting resolving that a further meeting be held in St. John in the week, beginning on April 10th, at which it is expected definite action will be taken as to the formation of a new track, taking in Moncton, Sussex, St. John, Chatham—then back to Moncton, to Sackville, and Truro or New Glasgow.

It was the opinion of the meeting that the former circuit organization be dissolved, providing the contemplated new circuit can be formed as proposed at Tuesday's meeting here. Mr. Watson returned to his home in the capital early this morning. Mr. Heckbert and Mr. Tweedie returned to Chatham last night on the Maritime express. It is pointed out that Chatham, Fredericton, Woodstock, St. Stephen and Houlton have all become members of the new: Maine and New Brunswick circuit that was recently formed. Moncton and Springhill, N. S., being the only active members of last year's circuit that are not included in the new circuit.

Consignment Of Freaks Arrive

New York, March 20—In the second cabin of the liner Olympic which arrived at New York from Europe, were twelve "freaks" for Barnum's circus. There were the three Hohne brothers, "chunks of humanity." Emil is twenty-two years old and weighs 650 pounds; Ernest is twenty-one and weighs 575, and Walter, seventeen, weighs 450. Nicholas Sally, who brought them over, said he would have brought the rest of the Hohne family, but they refused to leave the Fatherland. He denied the ship would not carry them.

Paul Herold, thirty-one, looked down on the other circus folk. He is 7 feet 7 inches tall. Ludwig Schuten, twenty-two, wears his hat only three inches lower, and Lau Wagner, who comes from Dusseldorf, measures 7 feet 3 inches, but she has not become a suffragette.

Special bunks had to be installed for the tall ones, but four midgets could have slept in half a bed with room to spare. Miss Jennie Linsav Phillips, a Scotch lassie from Edinburgh, who measures but thirty-six inches from her scalp to the soles of her tiny feet, sat holding hands with tall Ludwig Schuten during the examination by immigration officials.

Martin Emerling, who is known as "Laurello," has a "rubber" neck which enables him to turn his head around so it is difficult to determine whether he is going or approaching.

Carl Koller holds a weight of 150 pounds with his tongue. He had a hook in his pocket to prove it.

How Agriculture Is Benefited

The Dominion Department of Agriculture is divided into eleven branches, including Administrative, Experimental Farms, Health of Animals, Live Stock, Dairy and Cold Storage, Seed, Entomological, Fruit International Institute, and Publications. An outline of the work undertaken by each of these branches is given in the Agricultural Gazette of Canada for January, February. The Gazette, which is the official organ of the department, is now published every second month instead of monthly, as has been the case for the Experimental Farm system there are, in addition, to the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa, twenty branch farms and stations, five sub-stations, two tobacco stations and eighty illustration or demonstration stations, making in all 108 centres throughout Canada at which experimental, research and demonstration work is carried on for the advancement of agriculture generally. Each of the branches is sub-divided, and each division is entrusted with the care of some particular and well-defined department of work. The Health of Animals branch has contagious diseases, meat and canned foods, and pathological divisions, and the Live Stock branch has horse, cattle, sheep and goat, poultry and markets divisions. The Dairy and Cold Storage branch has divisions devoted to dairying, cold storage, and markets. The Seed branch has seed-testing, seed inspection, seed marketing and seed production divisions. The Entomological branch has divisions that deal respectively with field crop and garden insects, forest insects, foreign pest suppression and systematic entomology. In connection with this branch, there are conducted ten entomological field laboratories. The Fruit branch administers the Inspection and Sales Act as it affects fruit, fruit packages and potatoes. The Publications of the Department. The International Institute of Agriculture at Rome, furnishing information regarding foreign agriculture to Canada and of Canadian Agriculture to other countries. An extensive agricultural library is also conducted in connection with this branch. The Agricultural Instruction Act branch administers the Act under which $1,000,000 is distributed annually among the different provinces for the purpose of encouraging agricultural instruction by extension and demonstration, and by the teaching of agriculture in colleges and schools.

It will cost you less for coal to heat your whole house with this furnace than it will to try and heat it with stoves.
- It will cost you less for coal with a "Hecla" Pipeless than with any other heating system!
The "Hecla" Firepot has three times the heat radiating surface of any other furnace because it is ribbed with flanges of steel. For that reason it gives quicker heat—and more heat.
Owners say that this exclusive "Hecla" feature applied to pipeless heating means wonderful fuel economy.
At today's price of coal you do not need to save many tons to pay for a "Hecla" Pipeless.
Patented Fused Joints are another superiority of the "Hecla" Pipeless. They are proof against leaks of gas and dust.
And in the "Hecla" Pipeless you get an extra big water-pan—that runs all around the furnace. Thus, every room in the house is supplied with air that contains a healthful degree of moisture.
It takes but a day to install a "Hecla" Pipeless. ### Extreme Misery Day And Night

Follows a Breakdown of the Nervous System.

Misery day and night is the lot of hosts of men and women who are today the victims of weak nerves. Thin, pale, drawn faces and dejected attitude tell a sad tale, for nervous weakness means being tortured by morbid thoughts and unaccountable fits of depression. These sufferers are painfully sensitive and easily agitated by some chance remark. Sleeplessness robs them of energy and strength; their eyes are sunken and their limbs tremble; appetite is poor and memory often fails. This nervous exhaustion is one of the most serious evils affecting men and women of today. The only way to bring back sound vigorous health is to feed the starved nerves, which are clamoring for better blood. This new blood can be had through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which have a direct action on the blood, and through the blood on the nervous system. That a fair use of this medicine will bring satisfactory results is shown by the experience of Mrs. Marsh, Bass River, N. S., who says: "Following a run down condition, I became practically a nervous wreck. The doctor who was called in said the trouble was inflammation of the nerves. It grew so bad that practically I had no control of my lower limbs, and had to go about with crutches. Quite aside from my suffering I had a small family and a job in arms to care for and I became much discouraged, as I did not appear to be growing better. One evening my husband met an aged doctor on the street and told him of my condition. He asked my husband who was attending me, and when told said: "I don't want to interfere, but why not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills." My husband got me a supply of these pills and after taking a few boxes I was able to go about with the use of one crutch. Continuing the use of the pills I was able to discard the other crutch as well, and was as active as ever I had been. There are many in this neighborhood who know what my condition was when I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and who know what this medicine did for me, and I hope my experience may help some other sufferer."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Chatham has expressed its willingness to play there and the decision of the Sussex team in the matter is being awaited.

Preferable Root Varieties

Ever since the Experimental Farms System was inaugurated, experiments with field root varieties have been conducted on a large scale. An analysis of the results of the experiments during a large number of years is rather interesting. In the first place, it shows that it is impossible to draw any reliable conclusions from a few years' results only, a practice which unfortunately is often followed. If applied to field roots, it will lead to unreliable deductions which may cause either booming of mediocre varieties or misjudgment of desirable ones. Secondly, they show that, it does not necessarily follow that the varieties yielding the heaviest tonnage per acre are really producing the largest amount of food constituents per acre. Thus, there are varieties yielding the heaviest tonnage per acre are really producing the largest amount of food constituents per acre. Thus, there are varieties which regularly may be found to be heavy yielders but which, on account of a comparatively low dry matter content, may produce less actual food per acre than varieties which are yielding smaller tonnage but are richer in dry matter. Finally, the results of the experiments have demonstrated that although a variety may be found normally to be excellent in a certain part of the Dominion, it does not follow that it is equally as good, or even desirable at all, in other parts where the climatic conditions are different. This is especially noticeable in certain mangel and swede turnip varieties characterized by a small top, as are a large number of the varieties developed on the European continent. These varieties may produce heavy returns under conditions permitting of planting the rows close together, say 18 to 20 inches, and they may also give heavy yields in districts where the moisture supply is abundant and the summer moderately hot. With wider planting between the rows and in districts where hot and somewhat prolonged dry periods generally occur, small-top varieties are somewhat unreliable for the reason that the small foliage leaves the ground between the rows exposed to the drying out and heating action of the sun. This condition of the soil may cause the leaves to be burned off which in turn may prevent the rotten crop from growing normally. Under these circumstances, large-topped varieties are to be preferred, especially in the interior sections of Canada; in the Maritime Provinces and on the Pacific Coast, the small-topped varieties so common on the European continent and sold to some extent in this country may be grown to advantage.

Concerning the shape of the varieties, our experience has been that roots of medium length or even short ones generally give the best satisfaction. They are easier and therefore cheaper to pull and can be brought into storage in a physically better condition than very long and deep varieties. According to our experience we would particularly recommend for Canada in general:—
Of Mangels: Yellow Oval varieties and Sugar Mangels.
Of Swede Turnips: Round and Oval Purple Top Varieties.
Of Carrots: Medium Long White and Yellow Varieties.

Ventilated Rooms

In an interview today on the subject of ventilation of bedrooms, Dr. B. Franklin Royer, Executive Officer of the Massachusetts Halifax Health Commission, said "If one were to advocate the smashing of every storm sash in the sleeping rooms of this province he would be considered an extremist, and yet every public health worker will tell you that smashing of storm sashes on bedroom windows would be a great boon to the health of Nova Scotians."

"Buy extra blankets for bedroom use, never invest in storm sash for sleeping rooms. "Throw up your bedroom windows, make health while the moon shines. Utilize night air in fair weather and foul weather; in fog and in storm. Such air is always to be preferred rather than the re-breathed poisonous bedroom air, especially air in the bedroom with closed windows and sealed with storm sash."

"Bad ventilation of bedrooms means high death rates from lung diseases. Sick rates and death rates from pneumonia, tuberculosis and like affections reach their highest peaks in March and April. Housewives may greatly reduce these sick rates and

Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. THE ART OF LIVING
The art of life consists in taking each event which befalls us with a contented mind, confident of good. This makes us grow younger and as we grow older, for youth and joy come from the soul to the body more than from the body to the soul. With this method and temper of life, we live, though we may be dying. We rejoice always, though in the midst of sorrows, and possess all things, though destitute of everything.
James Freeman Clarke.
