NOTICE! PUBLIC WAR MEMORIAL!

It has been pointed out to me that the Great War Veterans' Association and very many of the public are extremely desirous that some immediate action should be taken in connection with a public War Memorial. I am further informed that the G. W. V. A. are of the opinion that it is the duty of some private citizen to start things moving without further delay.

It is fully appreciated that the time may be inopportune to raise funds to put up an elaborate Memorial as all would desire, but it is believed by many that IT IS POSSIBLE TO ERECT A SIMPLE BUT DIGNIFIED MEMORIAL IMMEDIATELY. The design and location of such Memorial to be decided upon.

Provided enough of the public are anxious to see something done right away, I am prepared to take it upon myself to ask His Excellency the Governor and the Memorial Committee for permission to convene a Public Meeting within ten days, the object of such meeting to be to organize immediate action in connection with the erection of a War Memorial. I am authorized to say that such meeting, if called, will have the unqualified approval of the Executive of the G. W. V. A.

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED, SIGN AND MAIL THE FORM BELOW. (It entails no financial obligation.)

CHAPTER XIII.
 LONAWAY.

"Do you like to see pretty things, Cyril? Come and look at them. Not that you'll care about them as a girl would; boys don't appreciate diamonds."

She tumbled the contents of the box upon the table, and smiled at Nora's exclamation of surprise and admiration.

"Oh, yes, they are very beautiful," said Miss Deborah, taking up a necklace and running it through her fingers. "I used to wear these. But that's a long time ago, a very long time ago. Yes, you can take them up and look at them if you like; but don't mislay any; they are worth a great deal of money."

Nora examined the trinkets with all a girl's interest in precious stones. Presently she came upon a small miniature set in diamonds. The face was that of the portrait on the stairs, and, like it, bore an extraordinary resemblance to Eliot Graham. Miss Deborah was collecting the jewels, and, taking the miniature from Nora's hand, gazed at the portrait with an expression so sad, so wistful, that Nora was startled.

"There is another portrait of that gentleman; the one on the stairs," she ventured.

Miss Deborah came back slowly from the land of dreams and nodded. "It is a very handsome face," said Nora.

"The handsomest face in all the world," murmured Miss Deborah. "The best and noblest of men; the most unhappy."

"What was his name?" asked Nora fearfully. Deborah looked at her almost sharply, and said drily, with a sigh— "You are almost as curious as a girl, Cyril. Boys should learn not to ask questions. Take the box up to my room, and then go about your work."

The following day Nora was weeding the garden, when she saw Mr. Trunton, the Nelsworthby lawyer, driving up the avenue. She dropped her tools and fled, quaking, to her room; from the window of which she saw him drive away again an hour or so later.

"That evening Miss Deborah looked up from her mechanical meal and said— "You will have to go over to Lonaway to-morrow, Jacob. Mr. Trunton wants some papers taken over."

checks? He will charge for it all the same."

"Is it Lonaway Island?" asked Nora. She had heard of the place, and from the top of the cliffs had caught glimpses of it, as it lay against the sky line.

"That's it," replied Jacob disgustedly, "and it's well called, for if ever there was a lonely, God-forsaken place, it's Lonaway. I wish it was sunk in the middle of the sea. I reckon Miss Deborah wouldn't be much the poorer."

"Then it belongs to Miss Deborah?" asked Nora.

Jacob nodded grumpily. "Yes, and I wish it didn't, with all my heart. A miserable place; mostly stone and rocks, with nothing but gulls skimming over it."

"There must be people there, or Miss Deborah would not want you to take these papers," remarked Nora.

"There's what you might call a farm, and a granite quarry," said Jacob, "but there's precious little profit from either of them. And most like, when I get there, I'll be kept in the desolate place for goodness knows how long. It'll be the death of me, shouldn't wonder. There's the v'rage scribble that dretful boat and a hard bed to roller, damp, most like."

He groaned again, and shook his head dolefully.

"Nora looked up with a sudden flush. The description which Jacob had given of the island had fascinated her, and aroused the spirit of adventure which was so easily excited.

"Why couldn't I go, Jacob?" she said.

He sat down his knife and fork and stared at her with an expression of relief spreading over his face.

them in my pocket. There they are, Cyril."

Jacob examined the papers when he and Nora were alone, and shrugged his shoulders.

"The usual thing," he remarked; "notices to quit. Hodges and the other man never pay their rent until they're served with one of them, but they always pays in the end, though they hangs back so long as they can. You'll have a nice time on Lonaway, my lad, a nice lazy time. You can collect gull's eggs, and—amuse yourself in other ways. You must be down at Porlash quay at nine o'clock, by when the tide 'ull suit for Cap'n Marks to set sail. You can take some extra clothes in a bundle—"

"I haven't any," said Nora, colouring.

"Well, I'll see if I can find 'ee a coat or some'ut," said Jacob, who was resolved that no obstacle should stand in the way of his substitute. "It's a comfortable place; the farm, I mean, and they'll do 'ee well. So now go and enjoy yourself."

Nora was down at Porlash quay at nine the next morning, and found Captain Marks' boat nearly ready to start. It was something between a yawl and a small yacht, and it had crossed to Lonaway so often that its owner was wont to declare that, set its nose in the direction of the island, and it would make it without a hand on the helm. It was taking in provisions and goods for the sparse inhabitants of Lonaway, and Captain Marks greeted his only passenger with hearty warmth.

"How long shall we be making the v'rage?" he replied in answer to Nora's inquiry. "That depends on the wind and the tide, shipmate. Is so be as the wind keeps so far as it be now, the Happy Lucy will run into Lonaway Cove afore you can say Jack Robinson."

Nora could have pronounced these mystic words many thousands of times before the Happy Lucy ran with a bounce over the island surf and brought to at the rough line of huge granite blocks which served as a landing-place. Fortunately for her, the sea had been fairly calm, and though she had suffered a few qualms on starting, she had resolutely fought them down, and in so doing had earned the admiration of the skipper; an admiration which became still more marked and emphatic when Nora, having conquered the sea-sickness, displayed a great desire to learn something of the sailing of a boat, and to assist in the management of the Happy Lucy.

"Why, bless my soul!" exclaimed Captain Marks, with enthusiasm, "you be regular cut out for a sailor-man. If I 'ad you board the Happy Lucy for a week or two I'd make a first-class A.B. of you. There's a power of seamanship in that curly head of yours, and you're as quick and spry as a monkey. Come of sea-faring folks, my lad."

"No," said Nora.

"Folks live ashore?" asked the Captain, jerking his mahogany-coloured face in the direction of the land. Nora nodded, and the Captain, noticing a sudden sadness in the young face, hastily averted his eyes, and bestowed a fixed attention on some mysterious rope.

shared her regret, for he gripped her small hand in one of his huge hairy paws and smote her on the back with the other, till Nora, breathless, and choking laughingly, had said good-bye at least a dozen times. She looked back as she ascended the steep road, and waved her hand, and the Captain, as he waved his in response, observed to the Happy Luck, to whom he was in the habit of addressing his remarks when he was alone on board—

"That's the likeliest and spryest youngster of a boy as ever I clapped eyes on!"

Nora climbed up to the top of the cliff, and saw a very small farmhouse nestling in one of the combs or valleys which ran through the island. She went towards it, and as she reached the gate of the cottage, for it was little better, a girl came out with a milk-can on her arm. She was rather a pretty girl, with fair tumbled hair under a sun-bonnet. She stopped short at sight of Nora, and stared at this new-comer, her sunburnt face glowing with a blush of shy surprise. Nora raised her cap—it was wonderful how easily she had acquired not only the gait and bearing, but the manners which belonged to the other sex—and asked—

"Is this Mr. Hodges'?"

The girl nodded; she seemed too shy to reply in words.

"Yes? Is he at home? Can I see him?"

The girl shaded her eyes with her hand and looked across the hills.

"Father's coming now," she said. "Will you please come in, sir?"

Nora followed her into the common living room of the cottage, and the girl signed to her to take a seat by the fire, for it is never very warm on Lonaway, and even in July the evenings are so cool that an invitation to the fire is the first duty of hospitality; then, without a word, she laid a cloth over the end of the long table and began to set out some tea-things. The silence grew irksome to Nora, but presently it was broken by the entrance of the girl's father, a short, thick-set man, with the most placid and untroubled countenance Nora had ever seen. She introduced herself and Hodges shook hands, accepting the paper laughingly, as if it were not of the least consequence.

"That be all right, young man," he said, as if the notice to quit were a compliment. "I've been expecting it this quarter; but there, I dessey Mr. Trunton, not to speak of Miss Deborah, have had more mighty matters to think of. Let's see; it gie's me to the 25th. I don't know exactly when that is, but it ain't no matter just now. You'll stop on the island, Mr.?"

"Cyril," supplied Nora.

"Mr. Cyril, and us'll be main glad to have 'ee. We don't have many visitors, and we'm glad to see 'em and hear the news; for this be a terrible out-o'-the-way place, bean't it, Margery?"

The girl coloured and turned speechlessly to the fire.

"And how be Miss Deborah? Well and hearty, I'm hoping. Lor', I remember her a slim and heartsome gal—how the time do fly! Margery, do 'ee get the tea on; the young gentleman will be wanting bit and sup after his v'rage."

BABY SMITH.

"Virol put new life into him."

16, Road Place, Cranham Road, Bradford, Yorkshire.

Gentlemen, Enclosed you will find photo of our baby boy. When 2 1/2 months old he had a very severe illness which left him nothing but skin and bone. My friends said I should never rear him; then someone advised me to try Virol, so I got a jar, and it seemed to put new life into him. He is now 1 1/2 months old, and a bright healthy boy he is too, which is entirely due to Virol. It is a wonderful food, and I shall always recommend it.

Yours sincerely,
 (Sg.) Mrs. C. SMITH.

Virol is used in large quantities in more than 200 Hospitals and Infant Clinics. It is invaluable for the expending and nursing mother herself, whilst for children it supplies these vital principles that are destroyed in the sterilizing of milk. It is also a bone and tissue-building food of immense value, and contains the firm flesh, strong bones and good colour.

ON WANTING.

"Wouldst not play false and yet wouldst wrongly win? Thou'lt have great Gaius, that which cries 'This thou must do, if thou have it!'"

In the middle of a discussion of a certain neighbor's matrimonial difficulties, the above quotation flashed into my mind. Maybe you think it is a queer quotation to have any connection with matrimonial difficulties, so let me tell you what the connection was.

Two young people who have been married about eight years have recently gotten into a state of dissatisfaction and disgruntlement with each other. Of this state the neighborhood has been made cognizant through confidences and complaints on the part of each.

What He Says vs. What She Says.

The bills of attainer are, as is usual in such cases, long and various, but the complaint which interested me particularly was this: "She complains that when he comes home at night he buries himself in his newspaper or magazine and never wants to talk with her. He complains that all she ever wants to talk about is trivial gossip, or complaints about her maid, or things of that sort," he says she has no interest in the news of the day and reads nothing but the lightest and silliest of fiction; he says she used to have a good mind but she let it go to seed through neglect. "And yet, when her cousin, who is a well informed woman, interested in all things I am interested in, comes in and I talk with her, my wife gets jealous and says I never talk to her like that. Aren't women the darndest! They want you to admire them not for the qualities that they have, but for those they don't have."

I trust that last line makes plain why that quotation popped into my head.

She Didn't Want to be Interesting.

But to be Thought So.

"That woman didn't want to make any effort to be an interesting person to talk to, but she wanted her husband to find her so and felt she had right to be aggrieved because he didn't."

She wanted that which says, thou must take an interest in the issues of the day, thou must read something besides light fiction, thou must keep thy mind alive, if thou hast it, but she didn't want to make the effort involved.

Mind you, this is not a plea for justification for the husband in the case. There is doubtless plenty to be said on the wife's side. But I know that this particular accusation of his is true, and it seems to me an excellent example of the way many of us do want things without being willing to pay the price.

A Wishbone Instead of a Backbone.

To get into the habit of constantly wanting things that way is to substitute a wishbone for a backbone.

No one who does that will ever be able to deal competently with life.

To know what you want is the first step toward successful living—the second is to know the price—the third is to make up your mind either to pay the price or to go without. No one who simply wants things vaguely and blames other people when this wanting does not bring them, will ever find or give real happiness in life.

THE UNKNOWN DEAD.

They were not nameless on the day
 When duty summoned them away;
 In that despairing, fateful hour
 When tyranny let loose its power
 And hurled its blows at free-born men,
 Not one of these was "unknown" then.

We knew them when they volunteered,
 We knew them on the day we cheered
 And hailed them as they marched away
 To keep the faith and save the day;
 They were not unidentified
 When the gray transport took the tide.

Along the battle lines of France,
 In many a red, grim circumstance
 When Flanders' sky was lit with flames,
 Top-sergeants read aloud their names,
 And they responded to the call—
 But that was when we knew them all.

They were not sent as men unknown
 Into the shell-swept battle zone,
 And when they made their final stand
 And heard their leader's last command,
 'Twas not as nameless men they died—
 That truth should not be swept aside.

Honor these glorious unknown!
 Let Freedom keep them as her own.
 Death left them nameless, but we live
 In peace by all they dared to give.
 What though their names from us are hid,
 Shall we forget the deeds they did?

Not Enough.

A certain temperance lecturer was very proud of his methods of dealing with those who were fond of drinking. He was returning home one day after a particularly successful meeting when he perceived a man standing in the door of a public-house with a glass of beer in his hand. "My good man," he said, "don't you know that one thing leads to another, and do you believe for one moment that a single glass of beer is going to quench your thirst?" "Heaven forbid!" came the fervent reply.

Pretty Girl Shot.

Thousands of Parisians at the dinner hour watched an exciting but fruitless hunt over the roofs for the assassin who a few minutes previously shot and killed a pretty young cyclist, Mlle. Ljlia Bausse, outside a cafe, and when Mlle. Bausse walked out of a shop opposite he crossed the road and stretched her dead at his feet. Still holding the revolver, he dashed through the crowd and disappeared into a railway subway. For the moment all trace of him was lost, but it was subsequently found that he had run down several streets and disappeared into a doorway. The police dashed into the house. They searched it from cellar to roof, but with no success. It appeared that the fugitive had climbed to the fifth floor office, and when a girl opened his fire at the bell he threatened her with the revolver. The terrified girl ran downstairs, while the man rushed into the office. His mackintosh and the leather holster of the revolver were found in one of the rooms, but he had again dis-

FALSE TEETH.

My new false teeth are now in place, and they fill out the sunken face that lately I have worn; as substitutes they're a success, and yet I wearily confess that man was made to mourn. There is no perfect bliss below; behind that joy there is a woe, behind each smile a tear; my teeth are always set, by jing, and I will have to get string and tie them to my ear. I take them from their dread abode while I compose a stirring ode, to pain the poet's wretch; and then the banner horn is blown, and I exclaim, with throbbing moan, "Where are those dad-blamed teeth?" An absent-minded gent I am; I can't remember worth a yam the things I should recall. I'm always losing fountain pens, and pins and pupes and settings, and my watch and tennis ball. But somehow I could plug away when all these things were gone astray, and many more beside: I'd get me other pens and pupes and fountain pens and mustache cups, and let the lost ones slide. But I put up some fierce harpoons when I have lost my priceless rings, all shiny, white and new; until they're found I cannot eat or sleep and luscious joint of meat or anything but stew. Alas, there is no perfect bliss in such a linnhorn world as this, on such a mist sphere; my ding-donged teeth are lost again; and when they're found I'll get a chain and chain them to my ear.

The Reformer's 1921 Budget.

In the personnel of the present administration there is much to create wonder. The Minister of Marine and Fisheries undertakes jobs his fitness for which is open to question, but the Prime Minister, that possessor of all the talents, can give the Honorable Mr. Coaker cards and spades and beat him ultimately at his own game. Not content with being Premier and Colonial Secretary, he—as he styles himself—senior member for St. John's West, also takes over the duties of the Minister of Finance and Customs, and as such, presents a budget to the House of which any fourth form schoolboy might well be ashamed. There is an old saying "that figures do not lie"; that may well be, but figures are often distorted to suit exigencies. Two and two may make four at times, but in a certain combination the same numerals make twenty-two. That is just what has happened in the Budget of the Liberal-Reform Leader, Richard Anderson Squires. One only needs to read that precious document to comprehend this.

In presenting this wonderful budget the political aspect was not omitted. Mr. Squires could not refrain from indulging in a dig at the expense of those who oppose him and his political principles. That alone is proof of the character of the man, who is a politician of the meanest type, and who never lets an opportunity of having a whack at his opponents go by. Some few days ago the indignation of the honorable gentleman was keyed to the highest pitch because of a press despatch sent abroad by one whom he stigmatized as a common enemy of his country, but the language used in the compilation of the budget is simply corroborative of every word written in that cable to the New York Tribune, the author of which in the extensive vocabulary at the command of the Prime Minister, was styled a wrecker and worse. "Depression" is a word which appears very frequently in the budget speech of the Prime Minister. Whether he alone is entitled to utter that word is a moot point. Anyway he does not make any apologies for its recurrence, and as his budget will be sent broadcast, he must accept whatever share of the responsibility accrues from his own expressions.

In the manifesto of 1919, this same R. A. Squires promised a reduction in taxation. His only desire was to see to it that the high cost of living was made proportionate to the wages earned by the people. His first act was to increase the stipends of his party followers, and the budget of last year was notable only for a decrease in the duty of that well known article of food for the fishermen "Bologna Sausage." The 1920 budget was satirically known as the "Bologna Budget." The 1921 budget will go down to posterity as the "Surtax Budget." No attempt whatever has been made to revise the tariff. In school-boy fashion the self-appointed Minister of Finance calculates that he needs so much revenue to meet expenditure, and simply makes it up by clapping an extra surtax of twenty-five per cent on all imports of dutiable value, which he styles a "War Surtax," though what the war has to do with present conditions does not appear at a glance. The War might have been responsible for a certain amount of the prevailing depression, but sane men will readily agree that it was the mismanagement and bungling of the Government that brought about the situation as it is in Newfoundland to-day. But the point is that instead of reducing taxation, that notable Liberal-Reformer, R. A. Squires, has added considerably to the burdens of life. Without further discussing this Reformer's Budget to-day, it is asked in conclusion that readers of the Star take particular notice of an article in that paper on Saturday, captioned "The Truth is not in 'em," referring to mention in the Daily News and Telegram that "the Governor Judges of the Supreme and Central District Courts and all Clergymen are to be relieved of income tax." The Star suggests that this is not the truth, and charges both the News and Telegram with publishing a falsehood. Let the university-trained editor of the Star read over the budget speech of his proprietor, and ask himself the meaning of the following resolution, numbered five in the schedule:

"RESOLVED, — That subsection (a) of Section 5 of the Income War Tax Act of 1918 be stricken out, and the following substituted therefor:— (a) The income of the Governor, the Judges of the Supreme Court of Newfoundland, the Judge of the Central District Court, and Clergymen of all religious denominations."

The Star is quite welcome to believe that which it has already written, but the public will notwithstanding accept the statement of the Prime Minister, and hold that both the News and Telegram were correct in their assertions, and did not perpetuate any injustice, nor make any misleading interpretations. The Star, as the one and only exponent of the truth, should have stuck more closely to the text of the Budget, and not have represented the Prime Minister as lying deliberately to the House of Assembly on this matter. But then the Star often shoots at random.

After careful consideration of the various essays on "Why we should patronize Home Industries," the prize of $25, offered by the Manufacturers' Association for the best essay on the subject, has been awarded to Mr. A. G. Gibb, of Messrs. Ayre & Sons, for a brilliant article headed "Seeking Employment Elsewhere," which is given in full in another column of this issue.

A Good Move.
Three or four loads of furniture, amongst which were beds, chairs and tables, were noticed yesterday being moved countrywards in motor cars. Many who witnessed the removal thought it was a case of getting away from the rent, but enquiries proved it was a very prominent public man of Rennie's Mill Road available to see it in the making could not but praise the work of the Engineer in his endeavor to grade the road level, by filling up and cutting down where necessary.

Good Road Grading.
Quite a lot of work has been done on the new road along the water line. On one portion of the road near Cook's Farm, there is a heavy clay cut, and quite a lot of labor will get have to be expended before the proper grade is reached. Opinions may differ as to the usefulness of this new road, but any person who would take the trouble to see it in the making could not but praise the work of the Engineer in his endeavor to grade the road level, by filling up and cutting down where necessary.

Petition Anent Lotteries.

The following petition was tabled in the Legislative Council on Wednesday last by Hon. S. Milley. While the Bill to amend the Law relating to Lotteries was in Committee, the matter being taken up at this evening's session.

St. John's, May 21, 1921. Believing that the principles of Lotteries is unsound, we the undersigned, desire that our votes may be heard when the Bill to amend Chapter 18 "Of Lotteries" is again before the Upper House.

We are confident that members in both Upper and Lower Houses would have spoken and will vote against this measure when they know that so large a body of citizens as we claim in our several denominations are opposed to any such measure being placed upon the Statute Book.

The proposal to legalize Lotteries for Government loans was dropped in Great Britain and we trust that Newfoundland will do the same. W. B. George Bond, J. Britton, W. B. Ebdon, A. During yesterday's session of the Adult Bible Class of Wesley Church, a very pleasing presentation was made, when Mr. Alex. Rooney, Hon. President of the Young Men's Literary Class was presented with a beautiful sports watch, one of the slight recognition of his continued interest in the class since its inception. Mr. Harry Chaplin, who was present, presented the President to make the presentation, did so on behalf of the Class, in a very able manner. The recipient registered, and thanked the presenter for his kindness shown. St. Bon's Celebration.

At the meeting of the St. Bonaventure's Alumni Association, held yesterday at noon, President, Sir M. F. Cashin occupied the chair. The meeting was called to receive the report of a sub-committee appointed last year to consider the feasibility of an evening programme for St. Bonaventure's Day, July 14th next. Judge Morris, convener of the sub-committee, reported as follows:—"That the morning programme be observed as usual, and that in addition a band concert would be given on the Campus from 7.30 to 10 p.m., which would be open to the public; also that the Ladies' Association of the Presentation Convent be offered the privilege of selling refreshments for the benefit of the Convent Building Fund." The grounds for the occasion will be specially decorated with electric lights and Chinese lanterns. The Association is expecting a large attendance of ex-pupils from the outports to come in for the celebration.

Committed to Supreme Court.
The girl who was recently arrested on a serious charge, came before Judge Morris for a preliminary enquiry in the Central District Court, and was committed by him to the Supreme Court. The girl, who was released on bonds will stand her trial at the Fall Session of the Supreme Court.

Exciting Experience of Crew of Digby.

From this morning's News we clip the following interesting account of the experience of the crew when the S.S. Digby while the ship was undergoing alterations at Cork:—

Since her last trip to this port, the S.S. Digby had had considerable improvements made in connection with her old storage compartments, which have been enlarged to carry 500 tons. The work as well as other minor alterations, was done at Cork, by the Queenstown Dry Docks and Engineering Works, and occupied nearly 3 months. During that time the crew had quite an experience as with the present unsettled state of affairs in Ireland, and practically all the ship's crew were held up and searched at one period or another. The whole populace of Cork were out to carry goods, whilst everywhere armoured cars, and all the appliances of warfare were in evidence. Raids were continually being carried out by the British military, whilst destruction in the shape of burning buildings was a common sight. The ship's crew, who were in Cork have all been destroyed. Even the Digby came in for a share of what seemed to be a general scheme of pillage and destruction. Late one night a party of masked men, armed to the teeth, boarded the ship, and after locking the officers in their rooms, dismantled the wireless apparatus and took it away with them. The men threatened to shoot all and sundry who might interfere with them in their work, one of the principal officers of the ship being held in his room with a loaded revolver pointed at his head. The wireless apparatus was taken to the ship's deck, and the men, who were in the shape of a party of soldiers, were on the deck, and the ship's crew were in a state of alarm. One of the ship's officers had a narrow escape, while on a holiday to his home town. The man on whom he was travelling was ambushed by a party of Sinn Feiners who immediately began a fusillade of indiscriminate shooting. On hearing the firing he opened the carriage window, when a bullet whizzed by, and struck a clergyman sitting in the same carriage with the officer very seriously wounding him. A party of soldiers were on the train as protection, and replying to the fire of the rebels, the soldiers were put to rout, with several casualties on both sides. At Cork the Digby, signed on a new crew, except the wireless apparatus, which was taken to the ship's deck. The alterations had been completed, the liner, started for the port of Liverpool to resume her regular service. The wireless apparatus was not at an end. Shortly after leaving Queenstown it was discovered that the Sinn Fein flag was flying above the Union Jack on the state of affairs of course on board of an English ship was out of the question, and on being detected, the ship's officers were immediately hauled down and the Old Jack given its proper and rightful position. Further down the river, the Queenstown pilot on board, the prompt action of Capt. Chambers, saved a serious collision, with three Naval vessels, which were moored near each other. As it was the Digby lost an anchor but all were pleased, that the affair turned out as well as it did, and they were more delighted when they got back to "Blighty" once again.

Steel Plant at Sydney Resumes Operations.

The Sydney steel plant, which had been closed since last Thursday, resumed operations this morning, on a limited scale. The 16 inch mill and one or two other departments are operating in the government. The blast furnaces are still idle. Press despatches indicate that the Steel Company has secured a definite order from the government for 40,000 tons of rails. There is said to be an order for 20,000 tons of 100 pound to the yard rails, and 20,000 tons of 85 pound to the yard. Before the Company can commence the rolling of the heavier order, it will be necessary to send to Pittsburg for the required rolls, and it will be at least six weeks or more before the Company would be in a position to commence rolling to-day. The open hearth and two other departments are operating in the government. The blast furnaces are still idle. Sports and Reporting.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—As one of the audience at the Big Sports meeting at the Casino on Friday night last, I take this opportunity with your permission of congratulating my sporting friend George Ayre on the very successful issue of his worthy undertaking, taking the initial steps for the formation of a Newfoundland Amateur Athletic Association.
That we should have such an association, none can gainsay, as we have, unfortunately, an abundance of latent talent, amongst our people, but it is not until we compare our lot favorably with that of any country in the world of sport, if only given the opportunity to expand.
Friday night's gathering, including the representatives, "active" as "bees," and "on-lookers" in all branches of sports and pastimes, present and future, is a strong proof of the fact that our mutual friend Ayre has succeeded in stirring up that inherent love for that characteristic of the entire Anglo-Saxon race, and which has been, as history shows, a notable factor in the development of the British Empire, as well as that of the great neighboring Republic of the United States.
It must, therefore, be most gratifying to G.W.B.A. to know that his persistent efforts to devise ways and means for the promotion of clean, healthy sports, or mode of playing the many sports, are going to prove fruitful of success—eventually culminating in the gathering together of all that is best for many athletes in a strong and united combination.
It is worthy of note, Mr. Editor, that this junction of all our athletic forces should be effected in this, the Silver Jubilee year of the Newfoundland Football League, which was instituted in 1896—just 25 years ago. This fact Mr. Ayre alluded to in the course of his somewhat lengthy speech on Friday night, descriptive of sport, past and present, and in connection with football and other forms of sport he paid a high tribute of respect to the late T. M. McNeil, whose sad loss in the Florida disaster, the entire community deeply deplores, for Tom McNeil was, without doubt, a manly man in every sense of the word.
Mr. Ayre, however, made a statement in connection with the matches played at that time, which is slightly incorrect and misleading, viz., "at that time, said George, when we played a match used to have about 20 operators, and the newspaper reports consisted of about three lines."
Now, sir, having been a soccer player previous to the inception of the League, and since its inception an on-looker at most of the principal games played, the writer humbly begs permission through your columns, to correct brother George, and possibly give some new information to a larger number of the present day younger playing enthusiasts, who have only one thing come into being during the last decade.
Am therefore forwarding you (enclosed) copy extracts from the Evening Herald of Oct. 16, 1896, re the first season's work of the Football League, and also copies of "Tables of Points" (reasons 1896-7) taken from "Onlookers" Guide as published by the writer for season 1896) and will feel obliged by your publication of same to an early issue of your esteemed paper.
In addition to the foregoing, Mr. Editor, and as proof of what newspaper reports were like in those days of the League, I will simply refer my friend George to report of a match between "Saint Andrews" Club and the "Terra Nova" as contained in Evening Herald of August 6, 1897, and I feel sure—if he can secure a copy of that report—that it will prove interesting reading matter to those who at that time, a prominent playing member of the Terra Nova team, and in the following year (89) he captained the C.E.I. to victory and the Championship of the League.
Thanking you in anticipation for publication of the foregoing, and wishing the new formed Amateur Athletic Association every success, I remain,
Yours faithfully,
JAMES A. CARMICHAEL.

Obituary.

MRS. MARY ODWYER, Kellgrews.
On Wednesday, May 25th, surrounded by her dear family, the final spirit of Mrs. Mary Odwyer, an old and respected resident of Kellgrews, passed to her eternal reward. Though confined to her bed for over a year, she displayed a wonderful fortitude and contentment, always hoping to alleviate in some way the sorrow which her children were enduring in her illness. She was privileged some time before her demise in seeing her great grandchildren, and expressed great joy in having the privilege accorded her. Her funeral took place on Thursday and was attended by a large concourse of citizens, testifying to the esteem in which she was held. Left to mourn the passing of a good mother are Mr. John Dwyer and Mrs. James Nugent of Kellgrews, Mrs. John Whitty, St. John's, and Miss Annie Odwyer, Truro, to whom sincere sympathy is offered in their sad bereavement and great sorrow.

Mental Arithmetic.

(From the New York Sun.)
"Now, then, Johnny," said his teacher, "if your father gave you seven cents and your mother gave you four more, what would you have?"
Johnny wrinkled up his forehead and went into the silence for the space of several minutes.
"Come, come," said the teacher impatiently. "Surely you can solve a simple little problem like that."
"It ain't a simple problem at all," replied the boy. "I can't make up my mind whether I'd have an ice cream soda or go to the movies."

"Laugh and grow fat" is an old axiom. We advise the use of a good tonic, named "Brick's Tasteless". Price $1.00; postage 20c. extra.—apr26:1r

4 Unusual Economy Events for This Week Come Early in the Morning

Costs and Former Selling Prices are utterly disregarded. Every Customer will be more than satisfied. The wise and shrewd money-savers are coming here Monday and throughout next week from all directions—and no wonder—for these goods are offered, in a good many cases, at less than Pre-War Prices.

If they seem unusual bargains, remember that this is an unusual store. Our Policy is to attract Customers with Real Offerings rather than pursue them.

DON'T DELAY—COME AT YOUR EARLIEST.

C. L. B. CADETS.

Yesterday, at 10 a.m., the 1st Nfld. Regt. C.L.B. Cadets paraded at their Armory 386 strong under command of Lieut.-Col. R. F. Goodridge, and Capt. Norman Henry, as Adjutant. Corps of Girl Guides, under their Commanding Officer, Chief Guide Miss A. M. Richards, B.A., to the number of about 80 strong, also paraded with their brother organization for the first time, thus adding a happy combination, as in the history of the present, the women of the world are proving themselves to be more worthy of taking their parts in broader spheres of every day life. The fact has been proved in the great war, there was work for everybody. The "Girl Guides" are attached to Bishop Spencer College, and were inaugurated about six months ago by the Lady Principal, Miss Richards. The girls are taught physical drill, cooking, handicraft and nature study. The wearing of uniform we hear is optional at the school, but the Guides on parade yesterday were all uniformed and stockings with black hats, white collars and cuffs, and were wearing the Spencer College ribbons of light and dark blue. The hat with the different Guide patrol ribbons, suspended from the shoulder. Their marching was most creditable and their appearance smart, neat and snappy, and the unit was quite an attractive feature to the C.L.B. Cadet parade, and we hope to see them march with the Battalion at all their future parades—rain or shine, as we know the girls are not fine weather Guides only! The Battalion including Old Comrades, under Regt. Sergt. Major Peckham, Band under Capt. "Sandy," with A and F Co., and K Co., and the Girl Guides proceeded to St. Thomas's Church for 11 a.m. service. The Rev. Capt. Clayton gave the Battalion with the new Sister organization, and said welcome to the service, and spoke encouragingly to the newcomers. The sermon was preached by the Rev. A. Moulton on the text "Who will I do with Jesus," and who gave a heart to heart talk to the young people as to their responsibilities for their own souls, and they commenced to say their prayers, after the time comes to cease repeating them at their mother's knee. After the service, which was presided by His Excellency the Governor and suite, the Battalion marched through the private grounds of his residence and His Excellency said that he was glad to see the Cadets and Guides "marched past." We were glad to see so many officers on duty yesterday which is a healthy sign. The Cadet Party was in charge of Lieut. Thornley, of Field College Companies. It seems too bad we are losing the services of Major Raley, since the war has longed to get "back into the Army," and has now decided to make it his profession. The British Government has granted his commission and he will leave very soon to join his regiment, which we understand proceeds in about six months to India. We congratulate Major Raley, M.C. on his honorable profession and wish him every good luck in the army of the King—Q.

A Warning.
Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—Through the Committee I was asked to advise the unemployed workers. This I have done to the best of my ability, and without fear. Some things have been done against my advice, others without my knowledge. It was proposed to intercept the Premier on Thursday, the day the House was to be opened, and to forcibly compel him to do certain things. Had this been done the Premier would certainly have fared badly. I now give warning that if, in the future there is any person or violence offered either to me or to the Premier or to any other person, or if there is any destruction of property, I have made perfect arrangements for giving to Inspector General Hutchings the names of all connected with Thursday's proposed outrage. In the Telegram the editor of the libelled Mr. Whitty, the Chairman of the Workmen's Committee. Unless a retraction and apology is published in to-night's paper, I shall institute libel proceedings and that will make a most interesting case.
Last week Mr. Whitty, the highest paid of the unemployed, received for his week's work the sum of fourteen dollars, so the public can see that no princely fortunes are being piled up. Fourteen dollars a week will not these days go far in providing everything for a man, his wife and say five children. Now that I am in this game I intend to see it through.
Yours sincerely,
GEO. W. B. AYRE.

(Note.—The above communication was handed in by Mr. Ayre personally this morning. The reference to the Telegram's libel on Mr. E. J. Whitty, complained of by Mr. Ayre, was not committed with serious intent or in any way to cast a reflection on Mr. Whitty, or to suppress his endeavours in connection with the unemployed problem, and we very much regret if Mr. Whitty has considered himself injured by our comment, the kernel of which we have investigated and now find there was not a scintilla of truth in it as communicated—Editor Telegram.)

A Tarkington Reply.
A story is told regarding Mr. Booth Tarkington, the author. He happened to be in Naples during an Italian strike in America, having you know like that in America, have you? said an Italian friend of his with obvious pride. "No," replied Mr. Tarkington, "we haven't, but we've got Niagara Falls, and they'd put the thing out in five minutes."

Foreign Titles for Englishmen.
The title of the Duke of Wellington is regarded by most people as a symbol of all that is British. But the Duke is also the most cosmopolitan of peers and inherits no fewer than four foreign patents of nobility. In Spain he is Duque de Ciudad Rodrigo; in Portugal, Marquis de Ferreira Vedras and Dourado, and in Belgium he is Prince of Waterloo. He has also a German title. There are about a score of British peers who hold foreign titles and what is more curious, a large number of others who although they have no titled rank in England yet in other countries are dukes, marquises or counts. The Duke of Richmond and Gordon is Duc D'Anguine in France, the Duke of Marlborough is a prince of the Holy Roman Empire, the Earl of Clancarty is Marquis of Housden in Holland while Lord Bridport is the Duc di Mondragone. The late Baron Rothschild was an Austrian baron years before he was raised in the British peerage. Lord Dundonald is in Brazil Marquess di Maranhã, while there is a Russian peerage in the possession of the English family of Dimsdale, a barony having been conferred upon a surgeon of that name by the famous Empress Catherine in 1712.

The composer appeared in the office of his publisher one morning, and with calm assurance returned a cheque for $200.
"You can destroy that," he told the publisher, "and make out one to my credit for $500."
"Nonsense," came the reply. "That's your royalty to date for your last song."
"Oh, no, it isn't," said the composer. "Do you mean to instruct that the firm is—"
"I insinuate nothing. I make the simple statement that I want $500 in royalties. For the first time in my life I can be positive as to the amount I married your bookkeeper yesterday."

AIRPLANE DISASTER.
WASHINGTON, May 29. In what is described as the worst accident in the annals of the army air service, seven men, five of the army and two civilians, lost their lives in the wreck of an army Curtiss eagle ambulance airplane, near Indian Head, Maryland, forty miles southeast of Washington, yesterday, in a terrific wind and electric storm. The dead are Amos D. Thatchelder, Chairman of the Executive of the American Automobile Association, Morris Conolly, Army Reserve Corps, Lieutenant Colonel Archer Miller and four air-men.

School Girls' Nerves

"I give my children Nerve Food during examinations, and am sure it helps them," writes a Vancouver lady.

AFTER the long school term the children's nerves are keyed up to the highest pitch. The fear and worry of examinations are often the last straw which brings the nervous breakdown.

It is usually the naturally nervous child who has the greatest ambition, and by denying his or herself the requisite amount of outdoor exercise comes up to the examinations with too little energy and vitality left.

Fortunately the child's system quickly responds to such restorative treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The blood is enriched, the nerve cells are replenished except Ulster. It was officially stated today that the reinforcements to be sent will be considerably less than fifty thousand, as not that many troops are available.

PARIS, May 28. Division of Silesia into three zones, one under Polish authority, another under the jurisdiction of Germany, and the third to be governed temporarily by the Allies was discussed by the Council of Ambassadors here today. British troops have arrived at Oppeln from Cologne. Bridgeheads and Oppeln despatches indicate that the soldiers will be sent to Kreuzburg for the purpose of suppressing the Polish insurgents there.

FOR PROPAGANDA.
RIGA, May 28. A despatch received from Moscow says that the Russian Soviet Trades Union Congress has passed a resolution to send twenty thousand pounds to aid striking British coal miners.

Produce and Provisions.

(From Saturday's Trade Review)
Coffee.—The exports of dry coffee this week amounted to the following: From St. John's—By Little Princess from Job Bros. Co. 12 Barbados, 3,880 qts.; to Oporto "Smuggler" from Bowring Bros. 7,720 qts.; by S.S. Rosalind, 4,204 qts.
From Oporto—By 502 qts. in "General Maude" from Marytown Trading Co. for Oporto and 1,809 qts. by the Frank H. Adams from P. Templeman, Catalina to Barbados.

Oil.—The S.S. Lady of Gaspe took out 6,316 gallons to Boston this week from Job Bros. Ltd. The S.S. Rosalind took 67,455 gallons to New York from Franklin's Agencies, Job Bros. Ltd., F.P.U. Trading Co., Ltd., and A. H. Murray, making a grand total for the week of 63,270 gallons. The price is still low and the demand very slack. Holders, however, are anxious to get clear of their stocks even at the low price ruling, before the new oil comes on the local market.

Cod Liver Oil.—The New York Drug Journal says that the relation to Cod Liver Oil there: "Still very weak, but the low prices ruling on the spot have brought out some enquiries from large customers."

Pork.—The Rosalind and Sable I. brought in a total of 865 barrels of Pork this week. Prices in the local market are as follows:—Short Cut $29.50; Fat Back $30.00; Morris Family $35.00; Ham $45.00; Family Mince $45.00. The total imports are still short of last year at this date for St. John's about 1,000 barrels but it is possible to buy barrels (25 gallons) at $15.00 to $16.00 here, for St. John's. Norwegian goods are above this level. In small lots, prices for ship's stores run to way $3.25 to $1.25 for Druggists Oil still rules.

Beef.—By the Sable I. and Rosalind 650 barrels of beef were imported this week. The market is very difficult, there is sufficient in hand to supply the fishermen's requirements. The foreign market continues weak but it is not expected that prices will go much lower.

Wheat.—The market advanced four cents a bushel this week in Canada. The local prices so far are unchanged and range from $3.50 to $3.80. The market is strong and the tide of lowered prices the past six months seems to have reached its lowest ebb in the middle of the week. The market for the bottom has been reached and that considerably higher prices will prevail here for the new crop comes in.

Flour.—Wheat continued to make small advances this week so that the total advance since the middle of May in the Canadian market is about $1.20 a barrel on four of the first grades. The local advance is gradually meeting this and this week the increase is 60 to 70 cents a barrel. The opinion of some of the experienced importers here is that the advance is only temporary and that by July flour will swing back again to at least $11.50 a barrel. The prices here to-day are:—No. 1, $12.00; No. 2, $11.50; No. 3, $11.00; No. 4, $10.50; No. 5, $10.00; No. 6, $9.50; No. 7, $9.00; No. 8, $8.50; No. 9, $8.00; No. 10, $7.50; No. 11, $7.00; No. 12, $6.50; No. 13, $6.00; No. 14, $5.50; No. 15, $5.00; No. 16, $4.50; No. 17, $4.00; No. 18, $3.50; No. 19, $3.00; No. 20, $2.50; No. 21, $2.00; No. 22, $1.50; No. 23, $1.00; No. 24, $0.50; No. 25, $0.00.

Liberal For Yamaska.
PIERREVILLE, Yamaska Co., Que., With figures subject to revision, the Liberal candidate, Aime Bouches, took the Federal seat of Yamaska, vacated through the death of Oscar Gluch, by a majority of 1600 votes over A. A. Mondu, the Liberal Conservative candidate, in Saturday's by-election.

SMUTS LEAVES FOR ENGLAND.
CAPE TOWN, May 29. General Smuts, Premier of the Union of South Africa, sailed yesterday for London to attend the Dominions Conference. He was accorded a great ovation on departure.

THE DAWN OF RETURNING SANITY.
RIGA, May 29. Premier Lenine of Soviet Russia, won complete approval for his new policies at final session yesterday of the all-Russian Trade Union Congress, before which he spoke, outlining his plans to pull Russia through the present chaos by reforms, all of which are to be so controlled as to avoid a complete return to capitalism. According to limited extracts the reforms provide for the application of new capitalistic forms in the Soviet, and deal among other things with the management of problems relating to the exchange of goods and the independence of peasants.

PERMANENT SETTLEMENT ESTABLISHED.
LONDON, May 29. Suggestions from the British Mine Owners and Miners' Federation of Great Britain, by which a real settlement of the miners' strike may be achieved, were in the hands of Premier Lloyd George to-day. The Premier made the statement yesterday that an agreement, merely to end the present strike, was not his primary object, declaring that the mining industry must be free from political crises.

TROOPS FOR IRELAND.
LONDON, May 29. The Government's policy for "stronger repression of the criminal element in Ireland," involves strengthening of the Crown forces with military reinforcements, which will be drawn from units now in foreign service. No increase auxiliary police or "Black and Tans" or on Constabulary is contemplated, it is declared. There is some likelihood of extension of martial law to the whole of Ireland.

Old Time Engineer At the Age of 76 Goes Back on Job

Had Given Up Hope of Ever Pulling Another Throttle, Says Skinnick.

"Although I am now past seventy-six years of age I am working every day for Tanlac and put me back on the job after I had given up all work and didn't think I could ever get well," said C. L. Skinnick, 529 Marlborough St., Winnipeg, the recently. Mr. Skinnick has spent the greater portion of his life on the sea, being Chief Engineer on several of the largest ocean liners plying the Atlantic. Twenty years ago he gave up the sea and is now employed as stationary engineer by the Canadian National Railway.

"There is one thing I hope I never have again," he went on, "and that is rheumatism. It simply had the best of me and I was practically helpless. It had started four years before and I was so crippled up I couldn't do a lick of work. My knees were actually aching at home and morning I had an awful time trying to get clothes on, why, the pains nearly killed me. My appetite went back on me and I began to eat again. It was a thing. I didn't know what a good night's rest meant and I was so weak as a baby.

"But it's all over with me now, thank goodness. Tanlac has simply made a clean sweep of all my troubles and I feel like a man made all over again. Those pains have all disappeared and so has that stiffness and I am eating hearty and sleeping fine like I used to years ago. I take pleasure in speaking a good word for Tanlac. It has certainly done great work for me."

Harvey & Co., besides 500 additional packages to other orders. The American granulated is selling at 11 1/2 cents. This lot is the best of the F.C.E. sugar, 3,500 barrels, keeps the market well supplied.

Potatoes.—There is nothing new to report this week in the potato market. P.E.I. are selling here now for $3.20 per sack of 150 lbs. and $1.60 for the half sack. Very few local are offering pre-war figures but some from Bonavista Bay. The price for home-grown is $2.00 to $2.50 for good selected potatoes and $1.50 to $2.00 for the general run in the market.

Hay.—The market is unchanged. The local stocks imported this spring are selling at $42.00 for the ton and at the rate of $4.20 for the hundred weight. There is a fair supply in and the consumption has fallen off lately owing to the fact that there is good grazing for live stock. The Canadian market is weaker this week but not notably lower. By the S.S. Maple Dawn on the 23rd, 10,000 tons.

Feildians Defeat "Cambrian."

The Feildians defeated the team of H.M.S. Cambrian in a soccer game played on the B.S. Ground Saturday afternoon, by 2 goals. The ship's team failed to score. It can scarcely be said that the game was a good exhibition of football but considering the circumstances under which it was played, it might easily have been a great deal worse. The ship's team had never played together before and this was a very serious drawback at the outset. The ground was not in very good condition and made really good football almost an impossibility. The Feildians forwards were very weak in the first half of the game and could rarely keep the ball under control. They were very much better during the second half. They have a splendid centre half in R. H. Tait, who last year, played full back for the Saints. A feature of the game was the splendid goal tending of Rev. E. H. Fletcher. It is probable that a return game will be played shortly.

Prospero From Northward.

S.S. Prospero arrived yesterday from the Northward bringing a small freight and the following passengers:—Messrs. Richards, Maitland, Dave, Breth, Clarke, Matthews, Coyll, White, Temple, Newman, Roberts, Goss, White, Rev. Marks, Lockyer, Capt. Carpentier Makes Boast.

WILL KNOCK OUT DEMPSEY BEFORE SIXTH ROUND.

"I don't talk for my living; I fight for it."

These were Georges Carpentier's words to me as the heavyweight champion of Europe stepped out of the ring in which he had been refereeing a match.

He was wearing flannel trousers and a white silk shirt wide open at the neck, displaying wonderful muscular development.

"Just come to the dressing room with me," he invited. "I must change my clothes, for my wife and a party of friends are waiting to be my guests at a club. You'll pardon me?"

So while he changed to a Tuxedo, I listened and he delivered himself concerning his coming voyage to America, where on July 2 he will meet Jack Dempsey for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Carpentier looks out of condition, but he has not been in training since he fought Joe Beckett in London.

"I'll soon get back into shape," he said quickly, noticing my physical appraisal. "I will start serious training on Long Island about the middle of June. We've bought a farm there."

"I am not taking my wife and little daughter, Jacqueline, with me. I am afraid the sea trip might upset the baby and my wife will not leave her even for a day."

"Of course Deschamps is going with me and we are taking over Journee, the wonderful new French heavyweight, as a sparring partner. But I am going to rely on Joe Jeannette to help me train."

"The only thing I'm nervous about is that I must take a new cook with me."

He then explained why he is making a sacrifice that involves his chance of the world's title.

"You know Deschamps' mother always has cooked my training meals for me. But now she is going to stay home and look after my child."

With Carpentier, as well as his wife, the child seems to be the first thought. The Frenchman doesn't underrate Dempsey.

"I fully realize," he said, "that Dempsey is the toughest adversary I ever had to encounter. He is far more aggressive than any European boxer."

"On paper he appears superior to myself. But I do not think he is my superior in science and ringcraft. I am sure he is not my superior in speed."

"I do not admit Dempsey's punch is deadlier than mine. I began to study Dempsey the day I played golf with him. That was the last time I was in the States."

"He's a fine fellow and I'm certain a clean fighter. It appeared to me when golfing that he easily gets rattled. That, of course, can happen to anybody at golf but it mustn't happen inside the ropes. If it does"—and Georges made a significant gesture with his right fist.

"Up at the house," Georges continued, "I have every photograph of Dempsey that Deschamps and myself could collect. I've got him in every one of his fighting attitudes, and even when I am travelling I take some of these photographs with me and study him—and my study of him will end only when one of the other of us gets a knockout."

I inquired whether he thought the summer heat on the Jersey coast would handicap him.

"No," he replied. "They tell me Dempsey isn't so fond of fighting in the open air either."

"As to a decision—I understand this fight is limited to 12 rounds and that no decision other than that gained by a knockout is permitted. But heavyweight matches of the last few years have rarely gone more than 12 rounds and frequently the knockout blow has been delivered before the sixth round."

"And so I predict a knockout before the sixth round in my fight with Dempsey. And, of course, I think I will be the man to deliver it. That's what I am crossing the Atlantic for."

"If I do win, I shall fight once more to show the world that I did not win on a fluke. If, after winning the title, I successfully defend it, I shall retire from the ring and devote myself to my family and my business."

"I may occasionally make appearances before the movie cameras, as I am receiving big offers from screen interests."

I have some business enterprises on hand. My aluminum stencil factory is the most successful. I have been asked to lend my name to some enterprises in America and in France, but I do not intend to let anybody exploit my name."

Carpentier was now dressed as a Parisian dandy. He fixed a gardenia in his coat lapel, gripped my hand with a grip which made me wince, and rushed to join his party.—Ex.

Grave Indictment of U. S. Army in Haiti.

More than 3,000 Haitian citizens died in American prison camps, 1918-20, according to a report of three representatives of the Patriotic Union of Haiti, which the United States Government had before it recently. The charges were filed at the State Department and the White House. The report describes American occupation of the island republic, which began July 28, 1915, as the "most terrible regime of military autocracy of the great American democracy." In addition to those dying in prison camps, the report alleges that hundreds of persons, including women and invalids, were killed, mutilated and tortured by American marines or native gendarmes, the latter recruited and officered by Americans. The report contains a long, detailed list of alleged murder, torture, mutilation, arson and criminal assaults, giving names, dates and places. It is even charged that the notorious "water-cure" of the early days of American occupation of the Philippines was revived. The report asks the following: Congressional investigation of Haitian affairs; abolition of martial law and withdrawal of American forces; abrogation of the treaty of 1914, alleged to have been signed by Haiti under compulsion; convocation of the Haitian constituent assembly, with all guarantees of electoral liberty. The recent naval investigation, which resulted in virtual denial of all alleged offences, was described as a "ghastly joke."

A Machine That Is Always Useful

The makers of the Free Westinghouse Electric Sewing Machine have done more than build the best sewing machine that could be made. They have designed their machine so that it is an artistic piece of furniture. A simple adjustment transforms it into an attractive writing table, which would add to the charm of a beautiful room. No longer is the sewing machine an eye-sore to be concealed whenever possible.

This unusual feature of the Free Westinghouse Electric Sewing Machine is only one of many. It is operated by a Westinghouse motor built into the machine. It can be operated slowly or very fast; at any speed the stitches are strong and even. The convenient knee-control makes easy perfect work. There are special attachments for handling delicate materials or doing fancy stitches. It is a machine that any woman would be proud to own and it will last a lifetime.

"I have Went."

(From the Boston Transcript)

Several correspondents of The London Morning Post have written protesting against the incompleteness of the story told by Mr. Nell of the boy who wrote "I have went." According to W.H.M., the full story runs as follows: Tommy would persist in saying and writing "I have wrote." To cure him of this his teacher set him the task of writing 100 times the words, "I have written," after school hours. The teacher went home, and forgot the boy for a time. On hurrying back she found he had left this note on her desk: "Dear teacher—I have wrote 'I have written' a hundred times, and I have went home."

The Watch.

Quaint Facts About Its History.

One of the many interesting things, full of history and romance, which we carry about with us in our daily lives, which we are constantly seeing and using, and yet of which we know little, is the watch.

The watch is the last step along the road which started with the sundial, the water-clock, the hour-glass, and so on.

The first mention that can be found about the manufacture of watches, as distinct from clocks, is at the end of the fifteenth century, when a Nuremberg clockmaker, Peter Hele, gained fame through the manufacture of pocket clocks.

Mary's Skull Watch.

Some of the most interesting of the old watches are those that were in the possession of Mary Queen of Scots. Among her collection she had one watch in the shape of a skull, made of silver-gilt. The skull was covered with various religious representations, and also with figures of Time. To open the watch the skull was reversed and the under-jaw rose on a hinge. The works were where the brains would be, and the dial-plate formed the roof of the mouth.

Watches did not become popular in England until the reign of Queen Elizabeth. They were then made without glasses, having a cover on each side. Another curious watch, dating from the time of James I., is of oval form, and strikes the hours, has an alarm, and indicates the days of the week, age and phases of the moon the days and months of the year, and the zodiac.

Singing Watches.

In 1764 a watch was made for the King of France which, for the first time, had a simple spring to work it; and which only required a push to set it going for twenty-four hours.

Manufacturers were often trying to invent watches which would give forth tunes. In the reign of Catherine II. of Russia a peasant named Kalabin made a repeating watch with a chant. It was the size of an egg, and had a representation of the tomb of Christ, with Roman sentinels on watch engraved on it. On pressing a spring the stone would roll away, the sentinels fall, and angels and holy women appear, singing a chant.

Napoleon had a watch which was wound by a heavy lever which rose and fell at every step he took, and thus, by an action in the works, wound the watch.

Among other interesting watches that are still in existence is a watch in the Swiss collections at Geneva, which is only three-sixteenths of an inch in diameter. This is inserted in the top of a pencil-case, and indicates hours, minutes, seconds, and also the days of the month.

In 1676 a London clockmaker invented a watch which would indicate the time in the dark if a certain part of it were pulled. This was the original "repeater" watch.

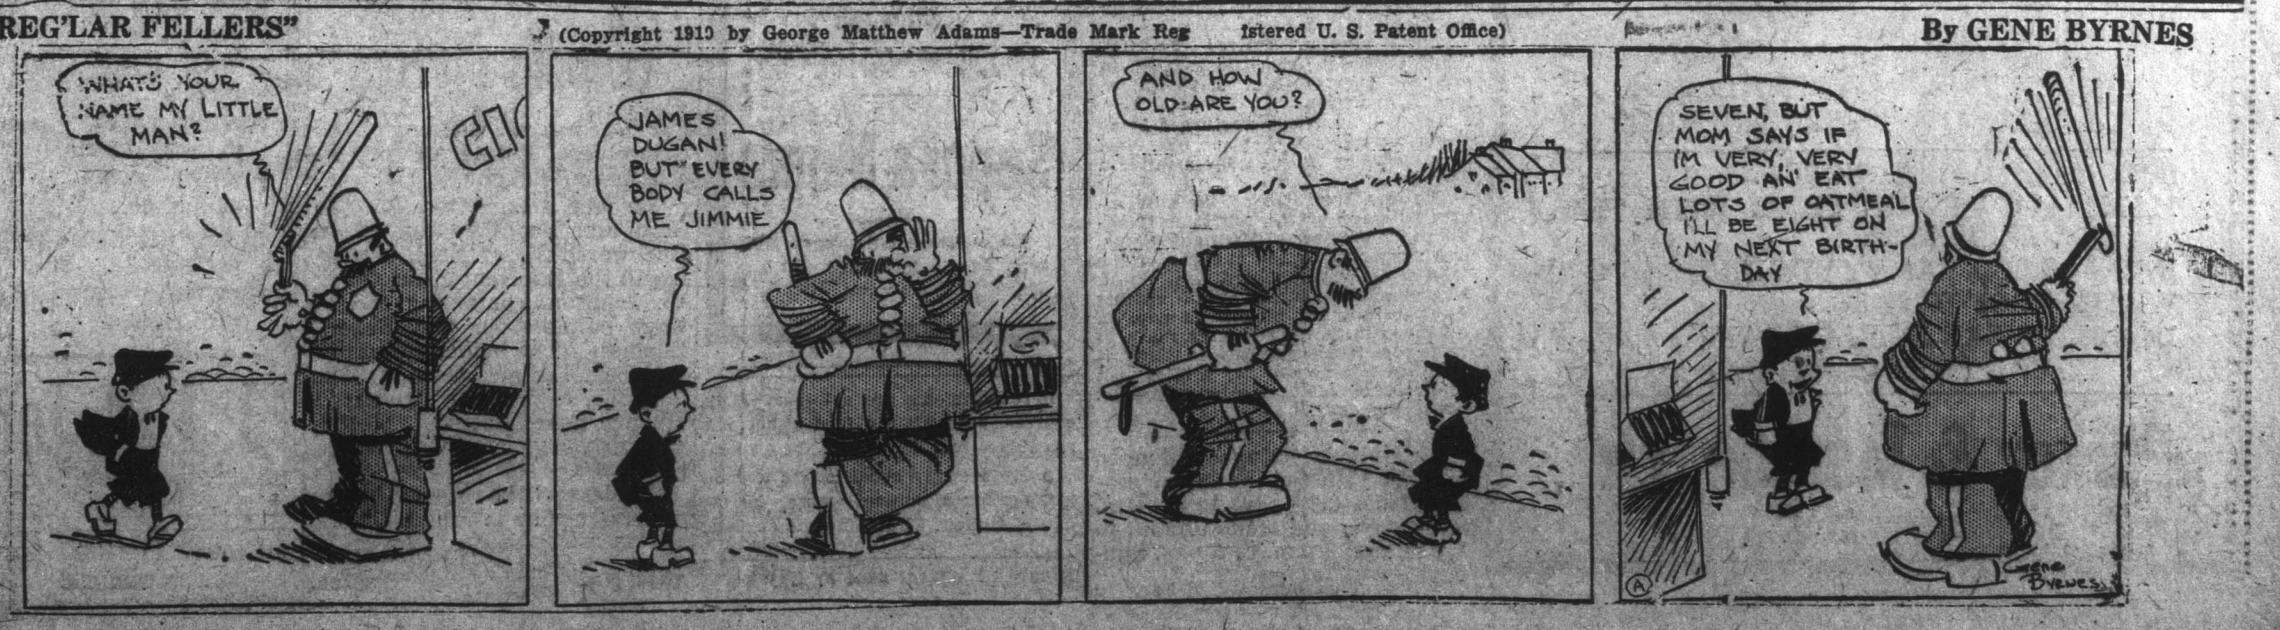

The Newspaper of To-Morrow.

(Victor F. Lawson, at the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.)

It isn't what the newspaper was yesterday—that's history. It isn't so much what the newspaper is to-day—we all know that. But it is what the newspaper is going to be to-morrow that vitally concerns every one of us, for that means the future conditions of the whole world. You may advocate—if you will—that you may be pleased to term "the waning power of the press;" you may say that the newspapers influence only a few people, but when all the evidence is in the fact remains apparent in the early morning and your authority in the late afternoon and evening for everything that has taken place on this earth from one end to the other in the previous twenty-four hours.

At the Yarmouth Y.M.C.A. Boys' Camp, held at Tusket Falls in August, I found MINARD'S LINIMENT most beneficial for sunburn, an immediate relief for colic and toothache.

Taxes and Surtaxes.

Dear Sir—I understand the Budget of the Prime Minister contains a ten per cent tax on all codfish exported in other than local vessels. At first sight this may not appear serious in the eyes of the average citizen, but if put in force it will affect very seriously everyone connected with the fisheries of the country and the fishermen in particular, who directly or indirectly will have to pay the tax in the end. When will the present Government see that the sooner they give up experimenting with the principal industry of the country the better it will be for all concerned and the sooner will this unfortunate country get on its feet again.

As everyone knows, a great deal of our codfish is exported to the U.S.A. and Great Britain in casks by such steamers as the Rosalind, Lady of Gaspe, Digby, Sachem and others. If this tax is imposed it will not only mean that the merchant who ships fish by these steamers will have to pay the tax of ten per cent, but it may mean the taking of these steamers off the route altogether.

Then again, it is directly giving a monopoly to local ship owners and keeping up freight rates. It will force out of the business all British, Norwegian, Danish and other vessels.

There is no civilized country in the world to-day that places a shipping tax upon its exports.

The direct tax of thirty cents per quintal upon Codfish, five dollars and twelve cents per ton upon Cod, Oil and Cod Liver Oil, fifty cents per case upon Canned Salmon and Lobsters are indirectly borne by the fishermen and should never have been imposed.

Whilst writing on the matter of taxes, Mr. Editor, might I ask on behalf of myself and hundreds of others like me, what is the meaning of the surtax of 25 per cent on Imports, and the Sales Tax. Does the former take the place of the 10 per cent Surtax or is it a separate Tax? Let me illustrate—Under the present tariff a man imports a suit of Ready-made Clothing at say a cost of $50.00, on which he pays a duty of 45 per cent, ad val. or $22.50. Surtax 10 per cent. 2.25

Total Duty $24.75

If the 25 per cent Surtax is an additional tax the entry will be as follows:—

Ready-made $50 at 45 per cent $22.50

Surtax 10 per cent. 2.25

24.75

Additional Surtax 25 per cent. 6.19

Total Duty $30.94

The cost of the suit of clothes will, therefore, be $80.94, plus the freight and other charges. In short ready-made clothing of all kinds will be subject to a tax of over sixty per cent. of its original value.

This is taxation with a vengeance, and if enforced God help Newfoundland in the future. What is the meaning of the Sales Tax? Will some competent person please explain this to an anxious public?

Yours very truly,
ENQUIRER.

Ocean Race Now On.

Well-Known Mariners Put Up Wager of $500.

With a rippling breeze from northwest, the two tern schooners Cape Pine, in command of Capt. Edgar Burke, and the Marion H., with Capt. W. W. Doyle at the helm, two hardy sons of Terra Nova who sailed early many seas, got away shortly after noon today on their race of 500 miles to St. John's, Newfoundland. The race which is for a side bet of $500, was the outcome of some talk over a former race between the two above named skippers from St. John's to Pernambuco, when the doughty Capt. Burke won by the small margin of two hours.

The schooner, both terns, have cargoes of coal on board, and presented a pretty sight as they careened over with all sails set on their way down along the waterfront and out to sea. The Marion H. was the first to weigh anchor and scudded away about twenty-five minutes in advance of skipper Burke. A large number of interested spectators lined along the various wharves watching the two swift sailers as they quickly vanished from view. So interested, in fact, was the crowd that several wagers were made on the result.

Before going on board their respective crafts for the race to St. John's the two skippers with a number of friends met in Person's store, where they talked over the race. "If I don't wipe out that Pernambuco defeat of a year ago," said skipper Doyle, "then I will indulge in no more stunts of the kind."

"You can take it from me," replied the good-natured Burke, "that you are in for a good drubbing this time. If I don't win this $400 pot, then I will walk the deck of the Pine backwards for two hours a day for a week."

At this the two skippers shook hands with their friends and walked down to the wharf to go on board, both shouting a fond adieu as they rowed out to their vessels. Twenty minutes later the race began.—North Sydney Herald, May 26.

Not a Popular Move.

The Government's action in levying an extra 25 per cent. Surtax on all duties payable on all importations may be necessary to meet the increased cost of running the business of the country says the Harbor Grace Standard of Friday last, editorially. Nevertheless it is not by any means a popular move at this time. "Tax all the luxuries as much as you will, but leave the necessities of life severely alone," seems to be the general opinion. This means an additional surtax of 25 per cent. over and above the previously imposed one of 10 per cent.

The Wanderers Return.

After a weary term of waiting, the poor, downtrodden tax-payer has at last the satisfaction of knowing that his burden has to some degree been lightened and will be even more so in a short while as two of our wondrous trade commissioners have at last returned and more are coming.

Obituary.

JAMES RICKETTS.

There passed away at the residence of his son at Knight's Cove on May 11th, one of our oldest citizens in the person of Mr. James Ricketts, a man, highly honoured by all who knew him. The deceased who was in his 87th year, was born at King's Cove in 1835. He left, to mourn their sad loss, a son, a grandson, a sister, five nephews and three nieces besides a large circle of friends. The Telegram extends its sympathy.

Wedding Bells.

KELLEY-PIKE.

A very pretty wedding took place at Mr. Abraham Kelley's home at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, May 24th, when Mr. William Pike, of the R.N.Co. Despatching Department at Bishop's Falls, was united in marriage to Miss Alice M. Kelley, a very popular young lady of this little town. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. M. Gardner in the presence of the relatives and friends of the newly wedded couple. The bride's dress was of white satin and georgette, trimmed with pearls, and she carried a bouquet of orange blossoms, roses and maiden fern. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. Abraham Kelley. The bridesmaid was the bride's sister, Miss Nellie J. Kelley, who was prettily dressed in cream satin and georgette and carried a bouquet of asters, whilst Mr. Frank Murphy of the R.N.Co. Bishop's Falls, was the chief attendant on the groom. The groom's present to the bride was a gold brooch set with pearls, and to the bridesmaid a cameo ring set with pearls. The happy couple received very many valuable gifts, including cheques from both her parents. After the ceremony a wedding reception was given, then, by the morning's express, the happy couple left enroute for Winnipeg to spend their honeymoon. Their very many friends wish them a very successful trip and a happy future.

TO THE CLERKS Behind the Counter.

We desire to draw your attention to a matter of VITAL importance to yourselves and your employers.

It has been proven on several occasions lately that when a customer deliberately asked to see a certain local-made article, the foreign article was first shown in defiance of the customer's request.

Mr. SALESMAN, what is your object in so doing, when--if you consider for five minutes--your constant employment with the firm you are working for depends largely on your continually pushing the local-made article?

When all the factories are closed down, shutting out thousands of workers, where's the money coming from to buy the imported goods? and how long do you think your services will be required when customers are unable to come in and buy.

In many instances your employers are shareholders in local factories, and while importation of goods NOT manufactured in this country is an acknowledged necessity, it is to your employers' and your own best interests to at least show local-made goods first, whether requested or otherwise.

TODAY'S MESSAGES.

THE FIRST ESSENTIAL.
PARIS, May 29.
The French Government in its note to Great Britain on the Silesian question indicated that it considered the thing necessary was to restore the authority of the Inter-Allied Commission in Upper Silesia, it officially stated here to-day. The note set forth that while these things were undone, and German and Polish hands were allowed to face each other, no decision that would be reached by the proposed Council meeting at Boulogne, would be likely to be accepted. Poles were now showing a disposition to submit to Allied control, the note continued, and it was hoped that the arrival of British battalions now in the region would have the effect of improving the situation. In the opinion of the French Government, and it considered the work of the Supreme Council, ought in the meantime, to be an examination in the field of the situation by a commission of experts who would present a report to the Council on the problem. A meeting of the Council in view of the French Government, it was added, should be held when order was restored, in accordance with the treaty and a report of experts had been handed in.

UNIONIST VICTORY.
BELFAST, May 29.
The final composition of the Inter-Allied Commission will not be known until Monday. As the count now stands, Unionists have elected 38 members, Nationalists 6 and Nationalists 3. Three seats still to be filled. The University returned four Unionists.

RIOTS IN NORWAY.
LONDON, May 29.
Serious riots occurred last night in Christiania and throughout Norway, according to the Times. A mob tried to force entrance to a public meeting house, which was barricaded. Through the timely arrival of police, the mob was dispersed, but not without a serious engagement was fought. Several policemen were wounded and numerous rioters, including ringleaders, were arrested. At least one man has been killed. Several persons have been suspended, except Socialist organs, which announce that the situation everywhere is in conformity with their views.

SCIENTIST DEAD.
DUBLIN, May 29.
Abbott Henderson Thayer, artist and discoverer of the Law of Perspective coloration in the animal kingdom, died here to-day at the age of 71.

CONSERVATIVE WINS.
FREDERICTON, N.B., May 29.
Richard B. Hanson, candidate of the Conservative Party, carried the constituency of York-Sunbury, in yesterday's bye-election, by a majority of approximately one thousand over the Farmer candidate Stares.

MESIA THE STORM CENTRE.
LONDON, May 29.
Mr. Briand has presented a Note to the British Foreign Office, pointing out that Germans are continuing their operations in Upper Silesia, and suggesting that the plebiscite question with the restoration of order with the arrival of British effectives. The French Premier is further of opinion that since reports of the Allied High Commissioners are not unanimous, it is not desirable that the question be submitted to a special commission, including lawyers and diplomats, who would communicate their findings to the Supreme Council.

DEATH OFFICER TO BE SENTENCED.
LEIPZIG, Germany, May 29.
A sentence of fifteen months ordinary imprisonment was demanded by the Crown Prosecutor for Capt. Mueller, tried here to-day on charges of executing prisoners of war. The Prosecutor said Mueller struck and killed prisoners, led one of them to take and compelled sick prisoners to work. Sentence will be pronounced to-morrow.

SEISMIC SHOCK.
WASHINGTON, May 29.
An earthquake of moderate intensity, estimated to be one thousand four hundred miles from Washington, was registered on the seismograph at Georgetown University, yesterday, at 11 p.m.

The Problem.
Apparently some hitch has occurred in the supplying of the Placentia & Mary's fishermen, as this morning a crowd of the men were at the manager's Office, awaiting a settlement, which the members of the District were trying to arrange. It is said that the merchants who had been given a Government guarantee are not anxious to give out more supplies until the necessary funds have been deposited in the Bank. To find the money seems to be the problem.

Making a Long Passage.
The schr. Douglas Adams, belonging to the Ashbourne, of Twillingate, is now days out from Lisbon with a load of salt. There is much anxiety felt for the safety of the crew. The schr. has been gone from here since September, 1919, and this is her third attempt to reach home from the other side. On two occasions she was forced to put back and have repairs made. It is hoped that Capt. Gosse and his men will turn up safely.

Thieves Enter Store.
Late Saturday night, some thief or thieves broken a window in the shop of Mrs. Joy, New Gower St., and made off with a large quantity of tobacco and cigarettes. The night police discovered the robbery at 4 a.m. Sunday. The matter is now being investigated by the police authorities.

Grand Dance, June 1st.

All lovers of the delightful pastime of tripping the fantastic will have an opportunity of enjoying a dance De-Luxe in the C.C.C. Hall on Wednesday June 1st. The full Cadet brass band will render the latest hits in dance music, as same was obtained specially for this dance. The floor is being looked after by the C.C.C. Boat Club. The object of this dance is to provide funds for the preliminary expenses in connection with Mount Cashel Garden Party and no worthier cause than the helping of the orphans could the public support be asked for. Went you help in the good work by purchasing your tickets as soon as possible? Same can be purchased from Mr. D. J. French, the Beach, Geo. Trainor's and the Committee in charge.

NEW WATER SERVICE.—A number of men started work this morning on the new water service which will be laid on Bond Street, Victoria Street and the New Road. It is hoped to have the work in full swing by Wednesday next.

GLENCOE GOING NORTH.—S.S. Glencoe is still taking fishing crews to the Straits of Belle Isle. A number of men will be leaving by Thursday's express to connect with the ship at Humbermouth.

NECESSITIES.—A large shipment of Whisky—"Royal Household"—came by S.S. Digby to the order of the Controller. A shipment of butter from New Zealand also arrived by the same ship.

BRINGS COAL CARGO.—S.S. Sagona which arrived here yesterday, brought a load of coal from North Sydney direct. She will remain here until the inauguration of the Labrador Service.

THE BURIN FISHERY.—According to the junior member for Burin about 90 per cent of the men of that district are now either preparing for, or actually fishing. There seems every sign at present of an excellent fishery.
