NEW YORK, Aug. 17. - There is a regular rush of strikers back to the Western Union office, seeking their old places.

The executive committee of the brother-head this afternoon mailed to all the assemblies activate, giving their reasons for abandoning the strike. It was said that the knowledge that the W. U. would never concede to the demands of the strikers and that constant defections from their ranks weakened them, so further resistance was seen to be useless and the chances of those who remained out of the chances of those who remained out of regaining their positions were daily becoming less, induced the executive committee to take action, it did. The order was a signal for a general break up of the strikers and shortly after 3 o'clock they began to pour into the Western Union office. A large number ware rejected.

Of the certificates too the gold had gone into active circulation

This vast addition to the circulating medium must have produced an inflation in prices and a carnival of speculation. But now distrust comes, partly because it is seen that speculation has been striving to maintain artificial prices, and partly because the ability of the treasury to pay otherwise than in silver is steadily decreasing.

It is true, there are some strikes and other botherations here and there, but the interests they affect, though large to those within the circle of their influence, are very small indeed compared with the enormous volume of the resources and activities of the whole country.

The general tone of trade, while not active, is healthy, except in one or two branches in which evident over-production has brought embarrassment and disaster. A period of financial distress, should it come now, would find the country very well prepared to stand it and to make a quick recovery. But the "panic," if there is any, will probably be confined mainly to speculators who have had the misfortune to over-estimate their strength.

The Sagueuay river I should imagine be. I know it is, a most luxuriant pabulum for the poet. He is the only living creature that can thrive within sight of its grim Plutonic banks; and gloriously does he thrive where all else perishes. Joaquin States bank notes did not greatly change, Miller no sooner entered the gulch than he began to be sensibly agitated by the brute and desolate masses which nature everywhere around him had uphcaved. Another young bard who accompanied the Poet of $69,500,000 of the silver and $27,000,000 of last him in silent meditation for the rest of the Sierras, saw in a single day what would his life. On the boat that conveyed the press excursion party up the river was a gentleman who was at the same time reverend and poetical. He, too, was moved. He beheld the huge mountains of brute lifeless rock threatening o'er head,

> "My God!" he religiously exclaimed, closing his eyes and clasping hands with emotion. We who were prepared to view the sight philosophically, not being poetic, soon guaged the size of the mass; and if we did reflect at all, we reflected not on the senseless rock itself, but on ourselves, who were capable of so many different feelings and emotions. That I, possessing a certain individuality, was there, that I was looking upon the scene, this gave me more concern than the scene itself. I was not at all frightened or nervous at the grim, silent monolith, but I felt a sense of awe regarding myself. Trade and general business appear to be sound enough, and it is the stock market alone that feels the pressure. For this reason we do not see any cause for apprehension, and if railroad securities are placed on a firmer foundation the public will have reason to welcome this flurry.

BARR ROBERTSON FINED $500 FOR COUNTERPEITING AYER'S

All the Cuts, Labels, Boxes and Other Rogus Property Destroyed—How the Forger Worked the Business.

Detective Burrows was in high office yes terday. Assisted by Mr. C. C. Dawson secretary of the J. C. Ayer company of Lowell, Mass., and Mr. Bigelow and Mr. Williams, representatives of the same house, they burned and destroyed all the cuts, labels, electrotypes, printing, boxes and other paraphenalis employed by J. Barr Rober's on in forging and selling bogus Ayer's pills. It took from three till nearly six o'clock to destroy the seizures, which included 25 gross of pills ready for market, printing sufficient to put up 10,000 dozen of pills, 10,000 splint boxes, empty but lapills, 10,000 splint boxes, empty but labelled ready for filling, electrotypes of the directions, of the labels and of the wrappers. Some of the forged labels were well executed; others of them very poorly. Robertson was out of pocket $1200 for boxing and printing, and had a good winter's work cut out for himself. But the decision of the magistrate, 60 days in jail or a fine of $500 and an order to destroy all his counterfeit property, cut short his nefarious occupation. How he went into the business he confessed as follows: He met a friend of whom he asked what he should do to make some money. Go into the patent confessed as follows: He met a friend of whom he asked what he should do to make some money. Go into the patent medicine business, said he. But Robertson replied that he had neither a reliable medicine nor the money to advertise one if he had it. But that's easy got over said his friend: get one that is reliable and is well advertised and counterfeit it; that's your chance. He fixed upon Ayer's pills and set to work with the result that the police court developed yesterday.

The defence of the prisoner was at first not guilty, but when Mr. Dawson came over from Lowell prepared to prove the trade mark and all its interests from old Dr. J. C. Ayer to his brother, sons and heirs, and from these to the J. C. Ayer Co. and to establish forgery and sale of forged goods, he changed his line, and his counsel, Mr. Murphy, announced that Robertson would plead guilty. Accordingly the only evidence taken was what Mr. Murphy offered to show that the prisoner hitherto had borne a good character. His counsel appealed for a light sentence. The magistrate said it was a serious matter and could not be overtooked, and fined Robertson $500 or 60 days in jail.

Bradstreet's Weekly Report.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Special advices to Bradstreet's from the west show that at the more prominent cities lines of discount have been curtailed and reduced at most points in that section. The outlook is for a good fall trade. New wheat has begun to move, and Chicago and other western banks report demands upon them for currency for the interior. Wheat advanced during the week, but foil off again owing to the heavy gain in stocks at all points, and a dearth of buying orders. Indian corn has followed a like course. Provisions have been much lower, though a partial revoletyn has taken place. The statistical position of these products is against any material improvement in prices. Petraleum had advanced on the week. Ocean freights have gone off during the past few days. The anthracite coal trade continues its full and steedy movement. The consumptive demand for wool has been moderately active, and the general market has ruled steady. There were 174 faitures in the United States reported to Bradstreet's during the past week, eight more than the curresponding week of 1808 and 1800.

Brave words these: but what does the convention mean? Is it that every public school teacher shall read a chapter or two daily, without note or comment, for the edification of his pupils? If that be all the demand, it is innocent, indeed; but why abuse language by calling it "systematic moral training on the basis of the christian religion," as set forth anywhere? The c'ergy know better the meaning of words, and we think will agree with us that the

The question is not whether a religious education should be given to children-ail are agreed that it should-but whether it should be given in the public school rather than in the church, the Sunday school and the family; whether it shall be given by persons properly qualified, or by every Tom, Dick and Harry that happens to hold a teacher's certificate? Toronto, Aug. 17, 1883. Would it not be better, instead of increasng, to lessen the number of subjects taught oth in high and public schools? Our best educationalists think it would be better for all concerned, teachers, children and parents. The public of Toronto are beginning to think so. Suppose our teachers had time, opportunity and qualification for the religious training of the Ontario youth, why should they do the work? Are the clergy incapable of performing the duty they were ordained to? Have they abdicated in favor of the school teachers? Or are they so engrossed with Jews, Turks, Hinloos, South Sea and other niggers that they have no time to waste on this section of the vineyard? If so, the remedy is

THE GRIMSBY CAMP GROUNDS.

SIR: As your columns always speak add a few words to what J. L. F. said in to-day's issue in regard to the Lynch law at the Grimsby camp grounds last Sunday. Tuesday's Mail gave a very inaccurate account of it. The Hastings was not advertised unknown to the manager of the grounds to leave Sunday afternoon. The common sentiment of the people was not in favor of the Lynch lrw practiced by the manager, but, on the other hand, they re-garded it as the height of hypocrisy for the manager to allow the boths to sell as on manager to allow the boths to sell as on week days—to allow the grocery and vegetable store to be open and to allow teamsters to convey passengers to and from the grounds and not to allow the boat to go out. The people wished to see the Sabbath observed properly, but they denounced the inconsistency of the 'mayor of the grounds.'

The manager knew about 7 o'clock that the Hastings would leave about 9, to which he gave his consent. We have such bold-faced acts of tyranny practiced in our midst and yet we wonder when the eppressed dare to assert their rights.

To combine to raise the price of the ne cessaries of life, beyond a legitimate profit to the seller, is an old iniquity—and worthy the attention of religious teachers, seeing it is denounced in the scriptures: "He that withholdeth corn from the poor text—substituting coal for corn—for Dr. Wild, and if the doctor would take a Sunday evening to dilate on the history of coal and show its cost of production at the mine, then adding freight to Toronto and duty and a fair profit for invested capital, make a calculation of what price the poor make a calculation of what price the poor of Toronto should be charged for their coal, he may be the means of doing more good, in showing up the financial Judaism of monopolits, than in proving that Jeremiah visited Ireland. An English contemporary thus summar izes the average cost of grouse shooting on the moors. The general charge for a gun on the moor would be £150 for four weeks, including all expenses, dogs, &c. Shooting five days in the week would be just twenty days, equal to £7 10s each day. The gun would probably kill £20 worth of game. This would reduce the charge to £6 10s each day. If the gun did not reside at the lodge the charge would be further reduced £20 or to £5 10 per diem. This charge might be less in the remote parts of Scotland or the Western Highlands—the braes of Lochlaber, for instance.

Perhaps the most extraordinary success that has been achieved in modern medicine has been attained To the Battor of the World.

Sir: In your issue of yesterday you gave an account of the Toronto swimming club races which took place on Wednesday the 15th inst. which speaks rather disraragingly of the swimming powers of a certain member of the Dolplin swimming club, namely George Fox, and I, as a member of the last named club wish to correct the errors of this account and give an exact account of the races in which members of the Dolplin swimming club were competitors.

In the account in your paper nothing is mentioned with regard to the first race on the program, v.z., 100 yards dash without clothes (preceding the race for the same distance with clothes). In this race, I believe, there were originally two entries from the Toronto swimming club, viz, Messrs.

awarding Coriett the medial in the loop with race was that there was no one to swim against him, but in this race although no one swam against M. F. Smith still the medal was awarded him. Bronchitis is an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the bronchial tubes, and is one of the most common of the pulmonary affections. Chronic bronchitis more often occurs later in life. When a cold settles on the lungs, the disease either en's in bronchitis or pneumonia. If it ends in bronchitis, it usually passes off as a cold in the chest, and still the patient does not feel entirely well. He feels tired and languid, and is incupable of taking his usual amount of exercise, and experiences a shortnass of breath, with more or less warmth in the palms of his hands. Soon after this a cough appears, accompanied by an expectoration of thick mucus, followed by a hectic flush, loss of flesh and strength and night sweats continue, when the ratient assumes all the appearance of having a genuine case of consumption. But this is simply catarrh of the lungs or chronic bronchitis.

In the latter stage of the disease, the mucous membrane of the larger bronchial tube softens, while in the smaller tubes and air cells of the lungs the mucous membrane becomes congested and nfamed. There are no cavities or tubercles in CHRONIC BRONCHITIS.

the nucous membrane becomes congested and nflamed. There are no cavities or tubercles in the lungs, but merely a wasting away of the larger bronchial tubes, and death takes place from the obstruction of the bronchial tubes and air cells of the lungs. The patient dies from exhaustion and suffocation, being unable to expectorate the mucous which accumulates in the passage leading to the lungs, which in some cases is sticky and small in quantity, but more commonly copious, of a light straw or yellowish green. Oftentimes streaks of blood make their appearance in the mucous, and alt-timesthere is a disagreeable smell. Persons thus afficated are very liable to take a cold, at which time the mucus becomes clear and frothy, and it is not uncommonly the case that the patient dies in one of those attacks.
