The Prince Invests in War Saving

Not the least amongst the many gracious acts performed by the Prince of Wales during his brief stay in Ottawa was to invest in a complete certificate of War-Savings Stamps. His Royal Highness was delighted to find that in Canada, War Savings Stamps are on sale similar those that are so popular in England. It was his intention to call at the stamps in the regular manner, during his stroll around Ottawa incognito, but pressure of other engagements prevented this being done. The Stamps were therethis being done. The Stamps were therefore sent to him at Government House and the sale, duly made, in cash, by the Secretary of the National War Savings Committee. The Prince was quite willing that his investment should be made known and kindly sent the following letter, with permission to publish it, to Sir Herbert B. Augs. Chairman of the Sir Herbert B. PFAN ENORMOUS DAM.

Ingenious Scheme to Heat Maritime Provinces

Modern ingenuity has discovered a most efficient mode of heating houses in winter—that of hot water. Furnace and caldron are sometimes, in the case of hospitals or other large buildings, placed at a distance from the apartments to be warmed. In such cases pines conduct heated In such cases pipes conduct heated water into the radiators and back again when cooled. Thus, cool water is continually entering the bottom of the caldron while heated water flows from the top. It is now proposed to apply the warm waters of the Gulf Stream to the eastern portions of Canada and the United States, that such regions might enjoy a more even temperature through out the year and permit a more luxout the year and permit a more luxurious vegetation.

The closing of the Straits of Belle Isle, which are about 11 miles wide at the narrowest point, thereby shut-ting out the Labrador current, the harbinger of Arctic blasts and the harbinger of Arctic blasts and the reason why St. Lawrence ports are closed during the winter months, would divert the "Cold Wall" to the Atlantic and allow the warm waters of the Torrid Zone to circulate freely around eastern shores. Such a change, it is thought, would increase the value of lands and natural resources by billions of dollars; would greatly improve living and public health conditions; would release health conditions; would release vast quantities of fuel, now neces-sary for heating purposes, to be used in industry; would be the means of augmenting the population, com-merce and revenues of Canada.

The project has been pronounced possible by engineers. The cost would be great, but nothing in comparison to the results to be gained.

parison to the results to be gained. The saving in fuel alone to the benefited areas, it is thought, would repay the entire expenditure.

The Labrador current sends a large volume of water through the Straits of Belle Isle; thence southwesterly along the coast of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and the United States, creating a cold current, technically known as the "Cold Wall" between the Gulf Stream and Wall" between the Gulf Stream and the North American coast. The climatic effect of this Labrador current on Canada covers a wide extent of territory. It brings winter earlier; makes spring later, and maearlier; makes spring later, and materially lowers the temperature. In the Province of Prince Edward Island, having an area of 2,184 square miles, and a population of about 100,000, the only disadvantage this fertile islands labors under is its long winter, owing to the pilling up of ice in the Gulf of St. Lawrence under the low temperatures caused by the Labrador current.

In explanation of the certainty which is stated of benefits resulting from the bringing inshore of the Gulf Stream current, one may, as a particular instance, refer to the case of Atlantic City, New Jersey, which owes its world-wide fame as a winter resort entirely to the local effect of the Gulf Stream of the Gulf Stream.

The stream may, by way of average, be stated to pass 20 miles off-shore at Cape Hatteras; 60 miles off-shore at Cape Hatteras; 60 miles off-shore at Cape Hatteras; 60 miles of Nantucket Shoals, and 120 miles southward of Nova Scotia; the warm waters of the Gulf Stream being there shut off from the Capadian coast by shut off from the Canadian coast by the "Cold Wall" of the Labrador cur-rent, through which no heat can pass.

War Saving Stamps.

A handbook issued by the Cana-dian Government in furtherance of the campaign for the sale of war savings stamps, contains a concise statement of this plan of investment, its attractive features, the methods of conducting the campaign and feasons why the money is needed. The attractive features of this form of investment are its absolute security, backed by the collective wealth of Canada, easy payments by means of small savings made at the investor's convenience projection easin less by convenience, protection again loss by registration if desired, power of re-demption with interest before maturdemption with interest before maturity, and a fair rate of interest of five per cent. on the investment. The Government has authorized the issue of $50,000,000 of war savings stamps during 1919, and it is expected that they will all be absorbed. This money, says the handbook, is required in order to meet the interest charges on the war debt and the same control of the control of charges on the war debt and to fur-nish funds for needed development in Canada, as it is probable that Can-ada will be thrown on her own financial resources for a considerable time to come. "Overseas in the devastated countries there is an immense de-mand for commodities such as we produce, but those lands devastated by war have not at the moment the cash with which to purchase. If we must do so on credit and the banker of the situation is the Canadian Government.

Time Lost In Disputes.

The time lost on account of in-dustrial disputes in Canada during April was much greater than during April was much greater than during either March, 1919, or April, 1918. There were in existence during the month 37 strikes, involving 12,415 workpeople and resulting in a time loss of 111,083. Twenty-seven strikes were reported as having commenced during April. At the end of the month 14 strikes affecting approximately 1812 workpeople remained unterminated.

TO THE REFERENDUM COMMITTEE

The Ontario Brewers' Association can no longer disregard the attempts of the Ontario Referendum Committee to mislead the people of this Province in the forthcoming Referendum.

In its campaign literature the Referendum Committee has corrupted the statutory ballot as set out below, and its advertising positively asserts that the light beer to be voted on is intoxicating.

The Referendum Committee is either misinformed or is deliberately misguiding the people for a purpose.

The purpose is to make the voters believe that they are voting for or against intoxicating beer.

Examine carefully the two ballots reproduced below.

4. ARE you in favor o (the sale of all kinds of spirituous and malt liquor in Government Agencies?

The Government Ballot clearly shows that the public is only to vote for or against the sale of beer containing not more than 2.51 per cent. alcohol by weight.

BEER CONTAINING 2.51 PER CENT. ALCOHOL BY WEIGHT IS NON-INTOXICATING

To establish that the 2.51 per cent. beer to be voted on is not intoxicating, the Ontario Brewers' Association have deposited $5,000 with the Canada Permanent Trust Company, and they hereby challenge the Ontario Referendum Committee to deposit an equal amount with the same Trust Company to prove that beer containing 2.51 per cent. alcohol by weight is intoxicating, or admit that their literature is deceiving the electorate.

Upon the investigation, the losers are to forfeit their deposit to a charity or charities to be named by the Investigating Board. The investigation is to take place before a nominee of the Ontario Referendum Committee, a nominee of the Ontario Brewers' Association, and the third nominee to be agreed on by the two persons so chosen—and if they fail to agree, to be named by the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.

REPAIR FARM BUILDINGS

How and When to Paint Them Efficiently.

In the Fall the Buildings, Like Machinery, Should Be as Thoroughly Overhauled as Labor Conditions Permit-Broken Windows Should Be Repaired, Dust and Cobwebs Cleaned Away and the Premises Brightened by Cleaning and Whitewash.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

VERY farmer should care for his farm buildings in such a way as to maintain them in good serviceable condition and so conserve his resources generally. On most farms there are many details in themselves of minor importance, but in the aggregate of tremendous influence. Carelessness of the exterior of buildings is an indication, generally, of the conditions existing in their interior. Slovenly surroundings and general run-down conditions are the hall-marks of ineptitude and mismanagement.

The farmer may not be able to change the location of his farm, but to a great extent he can control its appearance and general conditions by seeing that the roofs are in good repair and weather tight. the fences in place, gates in order and painted, on hinges, not sagging or dragging on the ground, the latches and hinges of all doors and gates greased and operating freely, no broken lights in the window sashes of the various buildings; the stable fixtures in order, the stanchions and partitions in place, and the mangers and floor in good repair. mangers and floor in good repair, giving to the whole place the impression that it receives prudent care and regular attention.

Investigations have disclosed the fact that concrete is an ideal material for repairing and making in the hands of a resourceful person on the farm. Publications issued by cement manufacturers as to tools and ma-manufacturers as to tools and materials used, aggregates, proportioning the mixture, how to mix, how to plan forms, reinforcement, etc., may be obtained for the asking.

18 inches long—five butts together to equal 21/4 inches — are superior in several ways to the present method of cutting them to 16 inches long, six butts of two inches. Much depends on the way the shingle is manufactured. A roughly cut shingle will not give good service because of its tendency to draw the water up under the weather line by capillary attraction, and the "fuzz" harbors dust, making good hold for moss to start growing. The edging should be smooth and carefully done so that the butts are slightly reversed them. the butts are slightly narrower than the points so as to allow any debris to pass through the joints and not

The swivel of the chain cow-tie should be examined to see if it works freely. In any case apply a little grease to it. Any weak or broken links may be neatly and effectually secured by using a slit-link or a wire link made out of two or three turns of fence wire through the links, allowing the ends long enough to be crossed and wound round the strands in opposite direction after the manner of the lineman's splice. The stanchions, links and swivels should be attended to in similar way. -Prof. John Evans, O. A. College,

An overseas padre speaking on books for soldiers, says: "Men are now reading who never read before in their lives." That is quite true. Others are reading books they never consider again. The supply of titles in the C. E. F. libraries has doubtless grown in the last two years, but in the early months of their organization the selection was not large.

Another writer says: "I remember finding in one company library in the little town of Ablainville: "The Family Life of Heinrich Heine," Fourteen Weeks In Astronomy," Recollections and Letters of Renan, 'Education and the Higher Life,' Bible Stories for the Young,' and 'Henry the Eighth and His Six Wives.' COUNTING HEADS.

The First Census Was Taken by Moses In the Wilderness.

There is a record of a census in China as far back as the year 2042 B. C. and of one in Japan in the last century before Christ. Under the constitution of Solon the citizens of Athens were divided and registered in four classes, according to the amount of their taxable property or income. The Roman census was burdened with more statistics than any of these, however. It had its origin under Servius Tullius, sixth king of Rome, and was an affair of much solemnity. Every citizen had to appear upon the Campus Martius and declare upon oath his name and dwelling and the value of his property under penalty of having his cated. The most ancient statistical record of a census is found in the Bible. The census was taken by Moses in the wilderness, and, as shown by the first chapter of Numbers, the enumeration must have been very simple. "Take ye," said this account, "the sum of all the congregations of the children of Israel, after their families, by the house of their fathers, with the num-ber of their names, every male by their polls; from twenty years old and upward, all that are able to go forth to war in Israel; thou and Aaron shall number them by their armies." This census was an affair that must have been soon over, lasting no longer than a day, being merely a counting of the heads of the fighting men. The women and children and cripples and the old men were not included; "neither were the Levites numbered among them." Those who did stand up to be numbered totaled 603,550.

The perfume of commerce known as "cassie," manufactured for the most part in France, is found in abundance in the Philippine islands in the Acacia farnesiana, a shrub which grows on hundreds of acres of land near Manila and throughout the dry parts of the entire islands. This shrub has small spiny leaves and produces a short black pod. The flower from which the essence is obtained is golden yellow.

WALKER—SKILLEN

A pretty wedding took place at the the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Skillen, 2nd line, S. E. R., Warwick, on Wednesday, Sept. 24th, at high noon, when their second daughter Clara Belle was united in marriage to Archibald C. Walker, a prosperous young farmer of Brooke by Rev. J. C. Forster of Watford Presbyterian Church.

The bride, gowned in cream georgette over white taffeta with pearl trimmings, and leaning on the arm of her father, entered the parlor to the strains of the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus played by Miss Reta Bryce, cousin of the bride, and took her place beside the groom in front of an arch of maple leaves and ferms. She carried a boquet of Ophelia roses and orchids. They were unattended.

Little Marjory Jean Parker, niece of the bride, made a charming little ringbearer carrying the ring in a basket of sweet peas and maiden hair fern while Master Melvyn Parker acted as page.

After the usual congratulations the guests numbering about thirty repaired to the dining room, which was tastefully becorated in pink and white, where the wedding dinner was served.

ARKONA SCHOOL FAIR A BIG SUCCESS

Held on Monday, Sept. 22, at Arkona

The praiseworthy efforts of the Public teachers of the district, the Inspector and others rewarded by a splendid exhibit of the children's handiwork and their persistent labours throughout the summer season. The list of prizes in all Departments given below Departments given below.

Notwithstanding that the weather was a little threatening on Monday, there was a large attendance at the first School Pair, held at Arkona, while the Exhibition itself was above criticism. The exhibits were displayed in the Arkona School. The showing of home-made cooking was remarkably good. In writing, art, manual work, in the root exhibit and the outdoor exhibit there were large numbers of entries and good displays. The painstaking work of the teachers was in evidence in the school exhibits which were admired by everybody.

Wash The Kidneys!

After Bad Colds or Influenza Look to Kidneys and Bladder!

Owing to bad colds, over-eat-ing or intemper-ance, or to the after effects of (poisons) are stored up in the body and cause backache, lumbago, rheumati pains and still joints.

It is most es-prompt casting out of the poisons from the body which cause these pains and aches. This means that the exerctory organs—(the bowels, skin and kidneys)— should be excited to their best efforts. Every one should clean house—internally—and thus protect one's self from many germ diseases, by taking castor oil or a pleasant laxative such as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, which are made of May-Pleasant Pellets, which are made of Mayapple, aloes and jalap. Take these every other day. This will excite efficient bowel action. If you suffer from backache, irritation of the bladder and the kidneys, shown by the frequent calls to get out of bed at night, considerable sediment in the water, brick-dust deposit, perhaps headache in the morning, you should obtain at the drug store "Anuric" (anti-uric acid), first put up by Dr. Pierce.

Reconstruct the Old Home For Longer Usefulness

Reconstruction begins at home. If the old house isn't all you desire, and you can't build a new one, a little of the right kind of repairing and remodeling will readily restore it to present day standards.

Perhaps it's a new porch, a summer tchen, a side entrance, a new roof, extra ro in the attic or a renewing of old, cracked walls and ceilings that is needed.

The right kind of lumber used in the right way will make the change and we have all the material you will require including that knot-less and crackless manufactured lumber Beaver Board, for better walls and ceilings

Suppose you ask us about it?

Comradeship

DMIRAL Sir David Beatty, when speaking at Leicester a few days ago, said:

"We have been through four and a half years of a great struggle. We have all learned something - the true value of comradeship. Comradeship has enabled us to win the war."

Realizing the significance and truth of this statement the Citizens' Liberty League appeals to the people of this Province to develop the spirit of comradeship, mutual forbearance, toleration and sympathy. Let us be fair-Admiral Sir David Beatty minded, less rigid, more reasonable, and more willing to give and take.

The workingmen of Ontario appeal for better beer—non-intoxicating beer—beer containing 2.51% alcohol by weight — THE BEER OF THE BALLOT.

Samuel Gompers, the world's greatest labor leader, stated the workingman's position clearly when he said:

"The normal men, the men of Labor who work eight hours a day and no more, the workmen who earn decent pay, the workworkmen who earn decent pay, the workmen who have comparatively comfortable homes, they do not want the artificial spirit. The man of normal spirit finds comfort in pleasant surroundings; he does not need, and, as a rule, does not partake of intoxicating/drinks; he shuns the effects of intoxicants. What we now ask is that the men of Labor, the masses of our people, shall have the opportunity to drink a glass of beer of not more than 234% by weight of alcohol in that beer, and I am told you cannot drink enough of that character of beer to get drunk even if you tried."

Scientific tests, practical experiments and thorough research prove that beer of even greater strength than 2.51% of alcohol by weight, is absolutely non-intoxicating. (The results of these tests have been filed with the United States Circuit Court of Appeals).

As no harmful results can possibly come from drinking beer of this quality—is there any fair or logical reason why the working men should not have the more palatable beer for which they are asking—THB BEER OF THE BALLOT?

Support the working men and the Citizens' Liberty League in the endeavor to obtain a fair, just and reasonable compromise on the present too drastic prohibitory legisla-

This is just as much a war year as last year was, as far as the money is coricerned. Pressing liabibities incurred by the war and involving vast sums of money have to be cared for. The simplest and most profitable manner in which this can be done is for the people to provide the money themselves.

The Victory loan 1919 is entitled to just as much consideration as was given to its predecessors. It is up to every loval Canadian to do his utmost to make the new loan an overwhelming success. The continuance of the prosperity of the nation is wholly dependent upon it.

Next year will be well advanced before Canada's main expenditures for war, can be completed. Every dollar that can be raised for the Victory loan 1919 will be required.

Even the drills employed on the rock deposits of the canal right of way are operated by air, electrically compressed. A mile or two inland a huge clamshell swung from an aerial cableway, drops into the river and then emerges, bringing with it generous bites from the river bot-tom, which are deposited on the river bank at the foot of the tower from where the operator directs the activities of the clamshell. Deposits of earth and clay along the north bank of the river reveal the effectiveness of the clamshell in this par-ticular portion of the development.

Connecting with the Welland River is a power canal, stretching from Queenston and encircling the city of Niagara Falls, Ont., which will be eight and a quarter miles long when completed.

The original survey for the Niagara development was made in 1914, and the construction work begun in May, 1917. The commission expects to have the new plant in working order in 1922. War conditions handicapped the engineers, but this year's operations were begun on a gigantic scale. A trip over the right of way will impress the observer with the vast scope of the undertaking which, in its completed state, will cost approximately $27,000,000.00.

Two miles above the brink of Niagara Falls a steam dredge is gnawing away at the channel of the Welland River, removing in generous chunks the river bottom and a porof accident. The adoption of the newest safety devices has minimized the danger of accident on the development, and the commission has veropment, and the commission has devoted a great deal of time to safety first propaganda in order to safeguard the men in its employ. About 2,500 acres, or 50 per cent. of the lands acquired by the commission for its right of way, have been converted into farms, and the produce from the farms is sold to the from the farms is sold to the em-ployees of the commission. ATTENTION! Sick Women

To do your duty during these trying times your health should be your first consideration. These two women tell how they found health.

Hellam, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles and a displacement. I felt all rundown and was very weak. I had been treated by a physician without results, so decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and felt better right away. 4	Are you in favour of the sale of spirituous and malt fiquers through Government agencies and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?	YES	X

Above is an exact reproduction of the Referendum ballot, showing the correct way to Vote in order to sustain the Ontario Temperance Act as it stands.

Everybody should study the four questions and realize exactly what they mean. Do not be misled by the insidious demand for "light" beer.

The beer of the ballot is 118% stronger than the Ontario Temperance Act now allows, and over five times as strong as the limit allowed for beer defined as non-intoxicating in Great Britain and the United States.

Answer Each Question

1. Unless you vote on every question your ballot is spoiled.

2. You must mark your answer to each question with an "X" only. Anything else would spoil your ballot.

3. Unless a majority vote "No" on question 1 the bars will be restored and the sale of all kinds of intoxicants permitted. 4. Unless a majority vote "No" on questions 2, 3 and 4 the Ontario Temperance Act will become almost worthless.

No!"—Four Times—"No!"

No repeal; No government beer shops; No beer saloons; No government whiskey shops.—Four X's, each under the word "No."

DREADED INFLUENZA

Medical Men Believe It Will Again Visit Canada This Autumn and Winter.

There is a widespread belief among medical men that the epidemic of la grippe, or influenza, which swept over the world last year, will again appear in Canada this autumn and coming winter. This dangerous trouble spares neither age nor sex, but it naturally finds its easiest victims among those who are run down in health, or those whose blood is weak and watery, and it is among the latter class in which the greatest number of fatalities occur. The surest way to prevent an attack of this dreaded trouble is to keep the blood rich and pure, and the safest and best way to do this is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Pink Pills.

Pink Pills.

No reasonable precaution to avert an attack of influenza or la grippe should be spared. The disease itself is deadly, but its after-effects, among those who are spared, make the life of the victim one of constant misery. Ask almost any of those who have been attacked by influenza what their present condition of health is and most of them will answer: "Since I had the influenza I have never been fully well." This trouble leaves behind it a persistent weakness of the limbs, shortness of breath, bad digestion, palpitation of the heart, and a tired feeling after even slight exertion. This is minos, shortness of oreath, bad digestion, palpitation of the heart, and a tired feeling after even slight exertion. This is due to the thin-blooded condition in which la grippe almost always leaves its victims after the fever and influenza have subsided. They are at the mercy of relapses and complications, often very serious. This condition will continue until the blood is built up again, and for the purpose of building up the blood and strengthening the nerves nothing can equal a fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. From first to last dose these pills make new, rich blood, which reaches every organ and nerve in the body. Thus the lingering germs are driven out, and the weak, despondent victims of influenza are transformed into cheerful, healthy, happy men and cheerful, healthy, happy men and

She will have a special parting message for the church at the ll a. m. service which will be followed by the Lord's Supper. It is earnestly hoped that every member will be present, if possible, and help to make this farewell a real church home family gathering. Miss real church home family gathering. Miss Murray will also have a special farewell message for the young people at the 7 p. m. service. Epworth League Convention

The 25th annual convention of the Epworth Leagues of the Strathroy District was held in the Methodist church, Watford, on Friday, Sept. 26th, and was Watford, on Friday, Sept. 26th, and was well attended. The chair was occupied by the president, Rev. S. J. T. Fortner, and the morning session consisted chiefly of business matters. In the afternoon roll was called and was answered by a report from each league. Then followed the report of the district officers which was encouraging. Especially encouraging was the report from the missionary department that $966 had been raised on the District toward the Forward Movement, an increase of fifty per cent. over last year. This money goes to the sup-ment, an increase of hity per cent. over last year. This money goes to the support of Miss Morgan in West China.

The address on "Community Life" by Rev. McKelvey of Oil Springs, was appreciated by all. He spoke strongly of the necessity for the co-operative system in the community. Miss Mansfield's address on the "Missionary Life of the League" emphasized the correing out to address on the "Missionary Life of the League" emphasized the carrying out to the greatest extent the Forward Movement motto "Pray, Study, Give." Then followed an interesting address by Rev. Bridgeman of West China. The afternoon session closed with an address by Rev. J. C. Reid, of Strathroy, in which he showed the importance of a cultivated mind.

me snowed the importance of a cultivated mind.

Tea was served in the basement and the social hour was enjoyed by all.

The evening session opened with a hearty song service conducted by Rev. Dewey of London. An important feature of the evening was the presentation of the banner to the Strathroy League. The choir also rendered two selections. Rev. Bridgman spoke again upon the great work and great need of West China and Miss Ellwood, also of W. China, made a plea for workers for that great country. Rev. Dewey then gave a stirring address on "Personal Evangelism in the League." He laid great stress on prayer as a factor in personal evangelism. The session closed with an appeal for more consecrated service and the singing of "Abida with Ma"."

The Why? of Another Victory Loan

HEN, on the morning of November 11th, 1918, the guns were hushed and glad tidings flashed across the world, there followed with the Nation's Prayer of Thanksgiving, one yearning query, which found echo in the faster beating hearts of wives, mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters and sweethearts. That query was, "How soon will our boy be home?" And, from France and Flanders, from Italy and Egypt, from Palestine and from far-off Siberia, there came an answering echo, "How soon, how soon, may we go home?"

CANADA caught the spirit of these longings, and at once resolved to satisfy them. It was an appalling task. Shipping was tragically scarce. The composition of the Army of Occupation had not then been settled. And other parts of the Empire as well as Canada were looking for the speedy return of their men.

THE problem was this. The half-million men that Canada had overseas had taken more than four years to transport to the field of battle. To bring them home in a few months was a gigantic undertaking—one to tax all Canada's ingenuity and resources. Canada solved the problem, but it meant crowding into a few short months, an expense for demobilization which it was impossible to foresee.

HEN, too, besides the sentimental aspect of the necessity for bringing the men home quickly the economic side could not be overlooked. That was, to transform efficiently and speedily the nation's army of fighters into a national army of workers.

Need Divides Itself in Two Parts

The answer to the question "Why does Canada need another Victory Loan?" divides itself into two parts. (a) To finish paying the expenses of demobilization, and the obligations we still owe to our soldiers. (b) To provide national working capital.

Obligations The obligations to soldiers into Soldiers That already incurred cost of bringing home troops from overseas. The payment of all soldiers still undemobilized. This includes more than 20,000 sick and wounded who are still in hospital, and who of course remain on the Army payroll till discharged.

The upkeep of hospitals, and their medical and nursing staffs, until the need for them is ended. These three items alone will use up at least $200,000,000 of the Victory Loan 1919.

There is also the gratuity which Gratuities has been authorized, and has been and is being paid to assist soldiers to tide over the period between discharge and their re-adjustment to civi life. For this purpose alone, $61,000,000 must be provided out of the Victory Loan 1919, in addition to the $59,000,000 already paid out of the proceeds of the Victory Loan 1918.

Furthermore, soldiers who desire Land to become farmers may, under the Soldiers' Land Settlement Settlement Act, be loaned money by Canada with which to purchase land, stock and implements. The money so advanced will be paid back; meantime each loan is secured by a first mortgage. Up to August 15th, 29,495 soldiers had applied for land under the terms of this Act; and 22,281 applications had been investigated, and the qualifications of the applicant approved. For this purpose Canada this year requires $24,000,000.

For this work which, with the Vocational Training and Soldiers' Vocational Training Training Service Departments, embraces the major activities of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, an appropriation of $57,000,000 is necessary.

These national expenditures are war expenses. They will be accepted readily by every citizen who gives thought to the task which Canada faced following the Armistice, and to the success with which she has met it.

National Working Capital

Canada needs national working capital, so that she may be able to sell on credit to Great Britain and our Allies the products of fisheries, our farms, forests, mines and factories. You may ask "Why sell to them if they can't pay cash?" The answer is, "Their orders are absolutely essential to the continuance of our agricultural and industrial prosperity."

The magnitude of these orders and the amount of employment thus created, will depend upon the success of the Victory Loan 1919.

of Credit Loans

The "Why" Farmers and manufacturers (and that includes the workers on these orders) must be paid cash for their products. Therefore, Canada must borrow money from her citizens to give credit, temporarily, to Great Britain and our Allies. Actually, no money will pass out of Canada. If Canada does not give credit, other countries will; and they will get the trade, and have the employment that should be ours, to distribute amongst their workers. And remember, we absolutely need these orders to maintain employment. If we don't finance them business will feel the depression, employment will not be as plentiful, and conditions everywhere will be adversely

Money must also be available to For Transcarry on the nation's shipbuilding portation programme, and other transportation development work. For loans to Provincial Housing Commissions who are building moderate priced houses.

These, then, are some of the things for which Canada needs national working capital. She is in the position of a great trading company, and her citizens who buy Victory Bonds are the shareholders.

Those who give thought to our outstanding obligations to soldiers, and to our need for national working capital, cannot fail to be impressed with the absolute necessity for the

CHAPTER XV.

Between Flood and Flames. OR the safety of our entrance upon Omean we depended largely upon the very boldness of it, believing that it would be some little time before the Black Pirates on guard there would realize that it was an enemy and not their own returning fleet that was entering the vault of the buried sea.

'And such proved to be the case. In fact, 400 of my fleet of 500 rested safe ly upon the bosom of Omean before a shot was fired.

The battle was short and hot, but there could have been but one outcome, for the Black Pirates in the carelessness of fancied security had left but a handful of ancient and obsolete hulks to guard their mighty har-

It was at Carthoris' suggestion that we landed our prisoners under guard upon a couple of the larger islands and then towed the ships of the Black Pirates to the shaft, where we managed to wedge a number of them securely in the interior of the great well.

Then we turned on the buoyancy rays in the balance of them and let them rise by themselves further to block the passage to Omean as they came in contact with the vessels already lodged there.

We now felt that it would be some time at least before the returning Black Pirates could reach the surface of Omean and that we would have ample opportunity to make for the subterranean passages which led to

As Carthoris alone knew the hidden ways of the tunnels we could not divide the party and attack the temple at several points at once, as would have been most desirable, and so it was decided that he lead us all as quickly as he could to a point as near the temple's center as possible. As we were about to leave the pool and enter the corridors an officer called my attention to the waters upon which the submarine floated. At first they seemed to be merely agitated as from the movement of some great body beneath the surface, and I at once conectured that another submarine was rising to the surface in pursuit of us. But presently it became apparent that level of the waters was rising not with extreme rapidity, but very surely, and that soon they would overflow the sides of the pool and submerge the floor of the chamber.

For a moment I did not fully grasp the terrible import of the slowly rising It was Carthoris who realized the full meaning of the thing-its cause and the reason for it.

"Haste!" he cried. "If we delay we all are lost. The pumps of Omean have been stopped. They would drown us like rats in a trap. We must reach the upper levels of the pits in advance of the flood or we shall never reach them. Come."

"Lead the way, Carthoris," I cried. "We shall follow."

At my command the youth leaped into one of the corridors, and in columns of twos, and in good order, the soldiers followed him, each company entering the corridor only at the command of its dwar, or captain. I was the last to leave the chamber of the submarine, and as I followed the rear of the column toward the corridor I moved through water to my knees.

The corridor, too, was flooded to the same depth, for its floor was on a level with the floor of the chamber from which it led, nor was there any perceptible rise for many yards.

The march of the troops through the corridor was as rapid as was con-sistent with the number of men that moved through so narrow a passage, but it was not ample to permit us to gain appreciably on the pursuing tide.

Long ere the last of the column could hope to reach the upper pits which lay above the danger point, I was con-vinced that the waters would surge after us in overwhelming volume and that fully half the expedition would be snuffed out.

As I cast about for some means of saving as many as possible of the doomed men I saw a diverging corridor which seemed to rise at a steep angle at my right. Raising my voice to its utmost, I shouted my commands to the dwars

"Can back the last twenty-five utans," I shouted. "Here seems a way Turn back and follow me.

"Help, John Carter! We are suffo-

My orders were obeyed by nearer thirty utans, so that some 3,000 men came about and hastened into the teeth of the flood to reach the corridor up which I directed them

As the first dwar passed in with his utan I cautioned him to listen closely for my commands and under no circumstances to venture into the open or leave the pits for the temple proper until I should have come up with him "or you know that I died before I could reach you."

The officer saluted and left me. The men filed rapidly past me and entered the diverging corridor which I hoped would lead to safety.

The water rose breast high. Men stumbled, floundered and went down. Many I grasped and set upon their feet again, but alone the work was greater than I could cope with. Soldiers were being swept beneath the boiling torrent never to rise. At length the dwar of the tenth utan took a stand beside me. He was a valorous soldier, Gur Tus by name, and together we kept the now thoroughly frightened troops in the sem-blance of order and rescued many that would have drowned otherwise.

Djor Kantos, son of Kantos Kan, and a padwar of the fifth utan, joined us when his utan reached the opening through which the men were fleeing. Thereafter not a man was lost of all the hundreds that remained to pass from the main corridor to the branch.

As the last utan was filing past us the waters had risen until they surged about our necks, but we clasped hands and stood our ground until the last man had passed to the comparative safety of the new passageway. Here we found an immediate and steep ascent, so that within a hundred yards we had reached a point above the

For a few minutes we continued rapidly up the steep grade, which I hoped would soon bring us quickly to the upper pits that led into the temple Issus. But I was to meet with a cruel disappointment.

Suddenly I heard a cry of "Fire!" far ahead, followed almost at once by cries of terror and the loud commands of dwars and padwars, who were evidently attempting to direct their men away from some grave danger. At last the report came back to us:

"They have fired the pits ahead!" "We are hemmed in by flames in front and flood behind!" "Help, John Carter! We are suffocating!" Back upon us at the rear swept a wave of dense smoke that sent us stumbling and blinded into a choking retreat. There was naught to do other than seek a new avenue of escape. The fire and smoke were to be feared a thousand times over the water, and so I seized upon the first gallery which led out of and up from the suffocating smoke that was engulfing us. Again I stood to one side while the soldiers hastened through on the new way. Some 2,000 must have passed at a rapid run when the stream ceased, but I was not sure that all had been rescued who had not passed the point of origin of the flames, and so to assure myself that no poor devil was left behind to die a horrible death unsuccored I ran quickly up the gallery in the direction of the flames, which I could now see burning with a dull glow far ahead. It was hot and stifling work, but at last I reached a point where the fire lit up the corridor sufficiently for me to see that no soldier of Helium lay between me and the conflagration. What was in it or upon the far side I could not know, nor could any man have passed through that seething hell of chemicals and lived to learn. Having satisfied my sense-of duty, I turned and ran rapidly back to the corridor through which my men had passed. To my horror, however, I found that my retreat in this direction had been blocked. Across the mouth of the corridor stood a massive steel grating that had evidently been lowered from its resting place above for the purpose of effectually cutting off my escape. A thousand times I berated me for being drawn into such a trap as I might have known these pits easily could be. Now I saw that it would have been much better to have kept our force intact and made a concerted attack upon the temple from the valey side, trusting to chance and our reat fighting ability to have overwhelmed the Black Pirates and compelled the safe delivery of Dejah Tho-

The smoke from the fire was forcing me farther and farther back down the corridor toward the waters which I could hear surging through the dark-

With my men had gone the last torch. Nor was this corridor lighted by the radiance of phosphorescent rock as were those of the lower levels. It was this fact that assured me that I was not far from the upper pits which lie directly beneath the temple. Finally I felt the lapping waters about my feet. The smoke was thick behind me. My suffering was intense There seemed but one thing to do and that to choose the easier death which confronted me, and so I moved on down the corridor until the cold waters of Omean closed about me and I swam on through utter blackness toward-what?

The instinct of self preservation is strong even when one, unafraid and in the possession of his highest reasoning faculties, knows that death-positive and unalterable-lies just ahead.

So I swam slowly on, waiting for my head to touch the top of the corridor, which would mean that I had reached the limit of my flight and the point where I must sink forever to an unmarked grave.

To my surprise I ran against a blank wall before I reached a point where the waters came to the roof of the corridor. Could I be mistaken? I felt round. No; I had come to the main corridor, and still there was a breath ing space between the surface of the water and the rocky ceiling above.

Then I turned up the main corridor in the direction that Carthoris and the head of the column had passed a half hour before. On and on I swam, my heart growing lighter at every stroke, for I knew that I was approaching the point where there would be no chance that the waters ahead could be deeper than they were about me.

A few more strokes brought me to a point where my feet touched the floor, and soon thereafter I was above the water level entirely and racing like mad along the corridor, searching for the first doorway that would lead me to Issus.

If I could not have Dejah Thoris again I was at least determined to avenge her death, nor would any life satisfy me other than that of the fiend incarnate who was the cause of such immeasurable suffering upon Barsoom.

Sooner than I had expected I came to what appeared to me to be a sudden exit into the temple above. It was at the right side of the which ran on probably to other entrances to the pile above. Without waiting to be again discovered and thwarted, I ran quickly up the short, steep incline and pushed open the doorway at its end.

The portal swung slowly in, and before it could be slammed against me I sprang into the chamber beyond. Though not yet dawn, the room was brilliantly lighted. Its sole occupant lay prone upon a low couch at the farther side, apparently in sleep.

Cautiously I approached the recum-bent figure on noiseless feet. Closer and closer I came to it, but I had crossed but little more than half the chamber when the figure stirred and, as I sprang, rose and faced me.

At first an expression of terror over-spread the features of the woman who confronted me, then startled incredul-ity, hope, thanksgiving.

My heart pounded within my breast as I advanced toward her. Tears came to my eyes.

The words that would have poured forth in a perfect torrent choked in my throat as I opened my arms and took into them once more the woman I loved-Dejah Thoris, princess of Heli-

When the girl, Thuvia, told me that you had returned to Barsoom I listened, but I could not understand, for it seemed that such happiness would be impossible for one who had suffered so in silent loneliness for all these long years! At last, when I realized that it was truth and then came to know the. awful place in which I was held prisoner, I learned to doubt that even you could reach me here.

The sounds of conflict, the clash of arms, the shouting and the hurrying of many feet came to us from various parts of the temple. I knew that I was needed there, but I dared not leave Dejah Thoris, nor dared I take her with me into the turmoil and danger of battle.

At last I bethought me of the pits from which I had just emerged. Why not secrete her there until I could return and fetch her away in safety and forever from this awful place? I explained my plan to her. For a moment she clung to me.

"I cannot bear to be parted from you now even for a moment, John Carter," she said. "I shudder at the thought of being alone again where that terrible creature might discover You do not know her.

all their right to live in accordance with the law of the survival of the fittest. I think we all knew that upon the outcome of this battle would hinge for ever the relative positions of these two races upon Barsoom. It was a battle between the old and the new, but not for once did I question the outcome of it.

With Carthoris at .my side I fought for the red men of Barsoom and from their total emancipation from the throttling bondage of a hideous superstition. Suddenly a sight met my gaze which sent a wave of exultation over

"Look!" I cried. "Men of the Black Pirates, look!"

For an instant the fighting ceased nd with one accord every eye turned In the direction I had indicated, and the sight they saw was one no man of the Black Pirates had ever imagined

Across the gardens, from side to side. stood a wavering line of black warriors, while beyond them and forcing them ever back was a great horde of green warriors astride their mighty thoats. And as we watched one fiercer and more grimly terrible than his fel lows rode forward from the rear, and as he came he shouted some fierce command to his terrible legion. It was Tars Tarkas, jeddak of Thark, and as he couched his great forty foot metal shod lance we saw his warriors do likewise. Then it was that we interpreted his command.

Twenty vards now separated the green men from the black line. Another word from the great Thark, and with a wild and terrifying battlecry the green warriors charged.

For a moment the black line held but only for a moment; then the fearsome beasts that bore equally terrible riders passed completely through it. After them came utan upon utan of red men. The green horde broke to surround the temple. The red men charged for the interior, and then we turned to continue our interrupted battle, but our foes had vanished.

My first thought was of Dejah Thoris. Calling to Carthoris that I had found his mother, I started on a run toward the chamber where I had left her, with my boy close beside me. After us came those of our little force who had survived the bloody conflict,

The moment I entered the room I saw that some one had been there since I had left. A silk lay upon the floor. It had not been there before.

There were also a dagger and several metal ornaments strewn about, as though torn from their wearer in a struggle; but, worst of all, the doorway leading to the pits where I had hidden my princess was ajar. With a bound I was before it and, thrusting it open, rushed within. Deiah Thoris had vanished! I called her name aloud again and again, but there was no response. I think in that instant I hovered upon the verge of insanity. I do not recall what I said or did, but I know that for an instant I was seized with the rage of a maniac. "Issus!" I cried. "Issus! Where is of Issus? "This way!" cried the boy, and with out waiting to know that I had heard him he dashed off at breakneck speed farther into the bowels of the temple. As fast as he went, however, I was still beside him, urging him on to greater speed. At last we came to a great carved door, and through this Carthoris Gashed a foot ahead of me. Within we came upon such a scene as I had witnessed within the temple once before -the throne of Issus, surrounded by reclining slaves and about it the ranks of soldiery.

We did not even give the men a chance to draw, so quickly were we upon them. With a single cut I struck down two in the front rank. And then by the mere weight and momentum of my body I rushed through the two remaining ranks and sprang upon the dais beside the carved sorapus throne.

Issus, a black, repulsive creature. with nothing godlike about her, squatting there in terror, attempted to escape me and leaped into a trap behind her. But I was not to be outwitted by any such paltry subterfuge.

Before she had half risen I had grasped her by the arm, and then as I saw the guard starting to make a concerted rush upon me from all sides I whipped out my dagger and, holding it close to that vile breast, ordered them to balt.

"Back!" I cried to them. "Back! The first black foot that is planted upon this platform sends my dagger into Issus' heart."

For an instant they hesitated. Then an officer ordered them back, while from the outer corridor there swept into the throne room at the heels of my little party of survivors a full thousand red men under Kantos Kan and Hor Vastus. "Where is Dejah Thoris?" I cried to the thing within my hands. For a moment her eyes roved wildly about the scene beneath her. I think that it rook a moment for the true condition to make any impression upon her-she could not at first realize that the temple had fallen before the assault of men of the outer world.

When she did there must have come, too, a terrible realization of what it meant to her-the loss of power, humiliation, the exposure of the fraud and imposture which she had for so long played upon her own people.

There was just one thing needed to complete the reality of the picture she was seeing, and that was added by the highest noble of her realm-the high priest of her religion-the prime minister of her government.

"Issus, goddess of death and of life eternal," he cried, "rise in the might of they righteous wrath and with one single wave of thy omnipotent hand strike dead the blasphemers! Let not one escape.

"Issus, thy people depend upon thee. Daughter of the lesser moon, thou only art all powerful. Thou only canst save thy people. I am done. We await thy will. Strike!"

And then it was that she went mad. screaming, gibbering maniac writhed in my grasp. It bit and clawed and scratched in impotent fury. And then it laughed a weird and terrible laughter that froze the blood.

CHAPTER XVI. The Burning Temple.

HE slave girls upon the dais shricked and cowered away. And the thing jumped at them and gnashed its teeth. Finally I shook the thing, hoping to recall it for a moment to rationality.

"Where is Dejah Thoris?" I cried. The awful creature in my grasp mumbled inarticulately for a moment, then a sudden gleam of cunning shot into those hideous, close set eyes.

"Dejah Thoris? Dejah Thoris?" and then that shrill, unearthly laugh pierced our ears once more. iah Thoris, I know, And Thuvia also, They each love John Carter. Ha-ahbut it is droll.

"Together for a year they will meditate within the temple of the Sun, but ere the year is quite gone there will be no more food for them. Ha-ah! What divine entertainment!" and she licked the froth from her cruel lips. "There will be no more food-except each other. Ha-ah! Ha-ah!"

The horror of the suggestion nearly paralyzed me. To this awful fate the creature within my power had condemned my princess. I trembled in the ferocity of my rage.

As a terrier shakes a rat I shook Issus, Goddess of Life Eternal.
"Countermand your orders!" I cried. Recall the condemned. Haste or you

"It is too late. Ha-ah! Ha-ah!" She again commenced her gibbering and shricking. Almost of its own volition my dagger flew up above that wicked heart. But something stayed my hand, and I am glad now that it did. It is a terrible thing to have struck down a woman with one's own hand. But a fitter fate occurred to me for this false deity.

"Black Pirates," I cried, turning to those who stood within the chamber, 'you have seen today the impotency of Issus-the gods are omnipotent. Issus is no god. She is a cruel and wicked woman, who has deceived and played upon you for ages. Take her.

"Where Is Dejah Thoris?"

John Carter, prince of Helium, would not contaminate his hand with her blood."

With that I pushed the raving beast, whom a short half hour before a whole world had worshiped as divine, from the platform of her throne into the waiting clutches of her betrayed and vengeful people.

Spying Carthoris among the officers of the red men, I called to him to lead me quickly to the temple of the Sun. and without waiting to learn what fate the Black Pirates would wreak upon their goddess I rushed from the cham-

WITH Carthoris, Hor Vustus, Tantos Kan and a score of other red

Carthoris led us rapidly through the inner chambers of the temple until we stood within the central court, a great circular space paved with a transparent marble of exquisite whiteness. Before us rose a golden temple wrought in the most wondrous and fanciful designs, inlaid with diamond, ruby, sapphire, turquoise, emerald and the thousand nameless gems of Mars, which far transcend in loveliness and purity of ray the most priceless stones of earth.

"This way," cried Carthoris, leading us toward the entrance to a tunnel, which opened in the courtyard beside the temple.

As we were on the point of descending we heard a deep toned roar burst from the temple of Issus, which we had but just quitted, and then a red man, Djor Kantas, padwar of the fifth utan, broke from a nearby gate, crying to us to return.

"The blacks have fired the temple," he cried. "In a thousand places it is burning now. Haste to the outer garden or you are lost." As he spoke we saw smoke pouring from a dozen windows looking out upon the courtyard of the temple of the Sun, and far above the highest minaret of Issus hung an ever growing pall of smoke.

at our feet. At his heels I ran down through a half dozen tiers of galleries until at last he led me along a level floor at the end of which I discerned a lighted chamber. Massive bars blocked our further progress, but beyond I saw her-my incomparable princess, and with her was Thuvia. When she saw me she rushed toward the bars that separated us. Already the chamber had turned upon its slow way so far that but a portion of the opening in the temple wall was opposite the barred end of the corridor. Slowly the interval was closing. In a short time there would be but a tiny crack, and then that even would be closed, and for a long Barsoomian year

But in the meantime what horrible things would go on within that chamber! I stood and talked with Dejah Thoris, and she stretched her dear hand through those cruel bars, that I might hold it until the last moment. Thuvia came close also, but when she saw that we would be alone she withdrew to the farther side of the cham-

For a few minutes we stood thus talking in low tones. Ever smaller and smaller grew the opening. In a short time now it would be too small even to permit me to see the slender form of of smoke to our nostrils. Presently we heard shouting at the far end of the corridor and hurrying

"Come back, John Carter; come back!" cried a voice. "Even the pits are burning."

In a moment a dozen men broke through the now blinding smoke to my side. There were Carthoris and Kantos Kan and Hor Vastus, with a few more who had followed me to the temple court.

"I shall remain here beside my princess until a merciful death releases me from my anguish," I declared. "I care not to live.'

Deiah Thoris stood as closely to the rack as she could, whispering words of hope and courage to me and urging through the burning temple." "Go," I urged them. "Let me die here beside my princess. There is no hope or happiness elsewhere for me. When they carry her dead body from that terrible place a year hence let them find the body of her lord awaiting her." Of what happened after that I have only a confused recollection. It seems as though I struggled with many men and then that I was picked bodily from the ground and borne away.

I do not know.

THE END.

Genius and Insanity. Many of the men whose names we revere today in science, art, literature and poetry suffered from emotional disturbances, resulting in nerve storms or outbursts of mental violence which can only be described as superacute mania. The poet Cowper had strong suicidal tendencies, yet he wrote "John Gilpin" when suffering from intense melancholia. Shelley had an insane ancestry, and at Eton he was called "Mad Shelley:" Charles Lamb had to be placed in an asylum, and his sister Mary stabbed her mother to the heart while insane. Wordsworth and his sister Dorothy are almost a parallel to Charles and Mary Lamb. At the age of thirty Coleridge was broken down, and he died a wreck at sixty-two. Southey came of an insane stock. The mother of Richard Brinsley Sheridan, the dramatist, died demented at forty-Pope was deformed and rickety. and Keats was neuropathic to his finger tips. Byron's mother was unbaianced, and so was his maternal grandfather .- London Globe.
